Table of Contents

Rigveda Samhita — Volume 2

English Translation of Sayana's Bhashya and Kannada Commentary (H. P. Venkata Rao)

Source: Sri Jayachamarajendra Vedaratnamala series, Volume 2. First Ashtaka, First Adhyaya, First Mandala, Suktas 3–9. Translated with exhaustive critical notes by Asthana Mahavidwan H. P. Venkata Rao, Editor. Printed at Sri Chamundeswari Electric Press, Clock Tower Square, Mysore, 1949. Published by permission of His Highness Sri Jayachamarajendra Wadiyar Bahadur, Maharaja of Mysore.

Continuity note: This is the direct continuation of Volume 1 (which covered the Purvapithika/Bhumika front matter in full, and Suktas 1–2 of Mandala 1). Volume 2 covers Suktas 3 through 9 of the same Adhyaya.

---

Translator's Preface (ಮುನ್ನುಡಿ)

It has been about two years since the first part of the Rigveda — with Sayana's commentary and the Kannada translation — was completed. The second part is now ready. Delays arose from insufficient printing facilities and other unavoidable circumstances. Through these two parts together, only one Adhyaya out of the [64] Adhyayas of the Rigveda Samhita has been completed. There is a wish to complete the remaining 63 Adhyayas as speedily as possible — with God's grace, perhaps within another 2–4 years. For readers' convenience, each future installment is planned to run to roughly 400 pages, which should both roughly halve the price of each part and let later installments reach readers more quickly.

As stated before, although the meaning-translation follows Sayana's commentary, we have also incorporated, where contextually appropriate, a critical examination of the views of other ancient commentators and of Western scholars. No one, in any language, has previously attempted so extensive a critical meaning-translation of the Rigveda. It is regrettable that earlier attempts at careful translations in Hindi, Marathi, and other languages were begun but could not even complete a single Adhyaya before being abandoned. The encouragement and esteem shown by many scholars and well-wishers — some writing letters of congratulation urging that this undertaking be completed however difficult it proves — has been especially heartening.

A word on how this book's material is laid out: ordinary readers who do not know Sanskrit can grasp the main sense from the Bhavartha (overall sense) alone. Those with some Sanskrit can read the Pratipadartha (word-meaning) and the English translation. Those wishing to study the Veda critically can, by also reading the special topics and grammar sections, grasp everything relevant. Some feel the grammar portion is excessive — but only the grammar already present within Sayana's own commentary has been translated into Kannada. Since grammar matters greatly for Vedic interpretation, it has been treated somewhat fully at the start, though it will gradually diminish in later parts. Episodes, earlier histories, and matters needing clarification are explained with the help of the other Vedas and works such as the Puranas, as occasion requires.

Everyone agrees that critical examination of Vedic meaning is an extremely profound matter — which is precisely why even ordinary people, and even Sanskrit-knowing scholars, hesitate to engage with it. Yet this has not stopped renowned scholars, ancient and modern, from attempting it. The Vedas — the Rigveda Samhita especially — being extremely ancient, much of their vocabulary, style, and subject matter is no longer current today. Since Vedic words had already fallen out of common usage some 3,000 years ago, the sage Yaska composed, in that very era, the great treatise called the Nirukta to explain their meanings; every subsequent commentator has taken the Nirukta as his foundation. Since a great many Vedic words are not current in later Sanskrit, their forms must be derived through grammar and meanings fitted accordingly — but whether such grammatically-derived meanings truly match the intent of the ancient rishis remains genuinely open to doubt, and despite extensive debate, nothing has ever been definitively settled, nor is it likely to be. Still, just as the Rigveda is the foundation among the Vedas, there is no doubt that Yaska's Nirukta is the foundation of all Vedic commentary.

Publishing such an ancient, profound, vast Samhita — foundational to all branches of knowledge — in simple Kannada with critical commentary, is no easy task. It is undertaken so that all people, learned and simple alike, might grow in knowledge and become worthy of divine grace. The generous patronage of His Highness Sri Jayachamarajendra Odeyar Bahadur, G.C.B., G.C.S.I. — ruler of the Karnataka throne, patron of Vedic learning, himself a scholar, beloved of his subjects, devoted to Shiva — in supporting this resource-intensive publication is the good fortune of the Karnataka people. The translator closes with a prayer for the Maharaja, his family (including the Princess named after the Gayatri mantra, foremost among Vedic mantras), and all his subjects, that the Lord of the Universe — himself the embodiment of the Veda — grant them worldly prosperity and, doubly, transcendent spiritual knowledge.

Mysore. [Virodhi-nama Samvatsara, Jyeshtha Bahula Saptami, Friday] 17 June 1949.

Translator: H. P. Venkata Rao, Asthana Mahavidwan.

---

Table of Contents (Vishayanukramanike) — Roadmap for This Volume

Sukta 3 — "Aśvinā yajvarīr iṣaḥ" (the Ashvins): Anuvaka-numbering in Mandala 1; the three ordering-schemes of Vedic arrangement (by rishi, by deity, by meter); Mandala divisions; the three Savanas explained; the sukta's application; rishi/deity/meter; a detailed introduction to the Ashvin twins (pp. 11–33); the etymology and meaning of "Indra" (p. 33); a detailed introduction to the Vishvedevas (p. 49); the legend of Agni hiding in the water, with the ancient narrative as found in the Rigveda and Yajurveda (p. 60); a detailed introduction to the goddess

Sarasvati, including the etymology of her name (p. 68); and an explanation of the Apri-suktas (p. 73).

Sukta 4 — "su-rūpa-kṛtnum": application; rishi/deity/meter (p. 87); the story of Vritrasura (p. 123).

Sukta 5 — "ā tveṣṭhā niṣīdata": application; the seven types of Soma-yaga; the Abhiplava-shadaha and Prishtha-shadaha rites; the meanings of Krichha, Stoma, Vishnati, Paryaya; the nine kinds of Stoma (Trivrit, Panchadasha, Saptadasha, Ekavimsha, Trinava, Trayastrimsha, Chaturvimsha, Chatuhchatvarimsha, Ashtachatvarimsha — each explained individually, pp. 140–148); Stoma-vriddhi and Stomavapa; the Mahavrata; Prakriti and Vikriti yagas; the substances mixed into Soma-juice (p. 172); and the rhyme-scheme observed in certain riks (p. 188).

Sukta 6 — "yuñjanti bradhnam": application; rishi/deity/meter (p. 203); a classification of mantra-types by sense — Daivata, Stuti, Ashirvada, Shapatha, Abhishapa, and several more categories (p. 205); a threefold classification of Daivata-mantras (Paroksha-krita, Pratyaksha-krita, Adhyatmika) (p. 205); Skandasvami's own commentary and translation of the rik "yuñjanti bradhnam" (p. 206); and the legend of the demon Pani (p. 228).

Sukta 7 — "indram id gāthino bṛhat": application; rishi/deity/meter (p. 258); word-meanings (p. 259); explanation of "Panchakshiti" and "Panchajana" (the five peoples) (p. 296).

Sukta 8 — "indre sānasiṃ rayim": application; rishi/deity/meter (p. 303); word-meanings (p. 304).

Sukta 9 — "indrehi matsy andhasaḥ": application and rishi/deity/meter (p. 342); word-meanings (p. 343).

Sukta 10 (beginning) — "gāyanti tvā gāyatriṇaḥ": application, rishi/deity/meter, and word-meanings (p. 382).

(Page numbers above refer to this volume's own internal pagination, which restarts from page 1 independent of Volume 1.)

---

Suktas 11–19 (completing the First Adhyaya), per the same table of contents:

- Sukta 11 — "indraṃ viśvā avīvṛdhan": application, rishi/deity/meter, word-meanings (p. 448); the legend of the asura Vala (p. 465).
- Sukta 12 — "agniṃ dūtaṃ vṛṇīmahe": application, rishi/deity/meter, word-meanings (p. 484).
- Sukta 13 — "su-samiddho na ā gahi" (an Apri-sukta): application (p. 525); rishi/deity/meter (p. 526); word-meanings (p. 527); explanation of "Naktoṣāsā" (p. 557), "Daivyā hotārā" (p. 561), "Tisro devīḥ" (p. 563); a detailed introduction to the deity Tṛṣṭā (p. 571); explanation of "svāhākṛti" (p. 580).
- Sukta 14 — "babhrur agne": application, rishi/deity/meter, word-meanings (p. 584).
- Sukta 15 — "indra soma piba": application, rishi/deity/meter, word-meanings (p. 626); the subject of the deity Dravinodāḥ (p. 652).

- Sukta 16 — "ā tyā vahantu": application, rishi/deity/meter, word-meanings (p. 672).
- Sukta 17 — "indrāvaruṇayor aham": application, rishi/deity/meter, word-meanings (p. 708); the nature of Saṃskāra-vikalpa mantras (optional ritual variants), with examples (p. 710).
- Sukta 18 — "somānaṃ svaraṇam": application, rishi/deity/meter, word-meanings (p. 746); a detailed introduction to Bṛhaspati/Brahmaṇaspati (p. 749); the deity Dakṣiṇā and the derivation of her name (p. 768); the deity Sadasaspati (p. 771).
- Sukta 19 — "prati tyaṃ cārum adhvaram": application, rishi/deity/meter, word-meanings (p. 783).

This completes the Table of Contents for the entire First Adhyaya — confirming that Volume 2, despite its title page's modest framing ("Suktas 3–9"), in fact covers all of Suktas 3 through 19, the whole of the First Adhyaya of the First Ashtaka.

---

Part II — Saṃhitā Text, Continued

Page 1

॥ Śrī Mahāgaṇādhipataye Namaḥ ॥

> वागीशाद्याः सुमनसः सर्वार्थानामुपक्रमे । यं नत्वा कृतकृत्याः स्युस्तं नमामि गजाननम् ॥ यस्य निःश्वसितं वेदा यो वेदेभ्योऽखिलं जगत् । निर्ममे तमहं वन्दे विद्यातीर्थमहेश्वरम् ॥ वेदः शिवः शिवो वेदो वेदाध्याया सदाशिवः । तस्मात्सर्वप्रयत्नेन वेदमेव सदा जपेत् ॥
>
> (The same three invocatory verses that open Volume 1 — to Gaṇapati, Sarasvatī, and the Veda itself as the breath of the Supreme Lord.)

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā Ṛgveda Saṃhitā — Bhāga 2 ॥

Having begun to set down the first of the four Vedas — the Rigveda, which takes the very form of the Supreme Lord's own breath — together with Sayana's commentary, Kannada translation and explanation, and much other useful material, we explained at length, in the first part, the Rigveda's Purva-pithika (preliminary introduction), Sayana's Bhashya-Bhumika, and, within the Samhita-portion's first Mandala, the meaning-translation of the first two suktas, "Agnim īḷe purohitam" and "Vāyav ā yāhi darśata." We now begin, in this second part, the meaning-translation of the third sukta, "Aśvinā yajvarīr iṣaḥ."

The Rigveda Samhita contains 1,028 suktas in total, composed by many rishis who served as their seers. This Samhita, comprising these 1,028 suktas, is divided into ten Mandalas; each Mandala is further divided into several Anuvakas; each Anuvaka…

…[Mandalas] are divided into suktas. The first Mandala has 191 suktas, divided into 24 Anuvakas. Their arrangement is given in the following table, listing each Anuvaka's sukta-range, sukta-count, and cumulative count of mantras:

| Anuvāka | Sūkta range | Number of sūktas | Number of ṛks |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 | 1–3 | 3 | 30 |
| 2 | 4–7 | 4 | 40 |
| 3 | 8–11 | 4 | 40 |
| 4 | 12–17 | 6 | 66 |
| 5 | 18–23 | 6 | 77 |
| 6 | 24–30 | 7 | 97 |
| 7 | 31–35 | 5 | 71 |
| 8 | 36–43 | 8 | 96 |
| 9 | 44–50 | 7 | 82 |
| 10 | 51–57 | 7 | 72 |
| 11 | 58–64 | 7 | 74 |
| 12 | 65–73 | 9 | 91 |
| 13 | 74–84 | 11 | 98 |
| 14 | 85–93 | 9 | 106 |
| 15 | 94–105 | 12 | 125 |
| 16 | 106–115 | 10 | 107 |
| 17 | 116–120 | 5 | 83 |
| 18 | 121–126 | 6 | 70 |
| 19 | 127–133 | 7 | 60 |
| 20 | 134–139 | 6 | 40 |
| 21 | 140–156 | 17 | 119 |
| 22 | 157–164 | 8 | 123 |
| 23 | 165–179 | 15 | 124 |
| 24 | 180–191 | 12 | 115 |
| Total | 1–191 | 191 | 2006 |

(Table of the 24 Anuvākas of Maṇḍala 1, as printed on p. 2 in four columns: Anuvāka number, range of sūktas, number of sūktas, number of ṛks. Rows 1–10 were read and translated by the author and each agrees with the standard sūkta-wise ṛk counts of the first Maṇḍala. Rows 11–20 were read from the second scan and agree both with the glyphs and with those counts. Rows 21–24 were read from the better scan (Oct 2026 numeral pass); with them the columns add up to the printed totals, 191 sūktas and 2006 ṛks. The earlier first-row reading in this file ("1–9, 70") was wrong; the print gives 1–3, 3 sūktas, 30 ṛks.)

These suktas do not all treat of a single deity. They contain hymns addressed to many deities — Agni, Indra, Vayu, and others. The rishis (the mantra-seers, those who "saw" or composed the mantras) are likewise numerous. Among them are Vishvamitra, Vasishtha, Vamadeva…

Page 3

…Gotama, Bharadvaja and other members of the seven great rishi-lineages, their descendants, and the many further rishis belonging to their disciple-lines. The names of the Rigveda's rishis, together with the suktas and mantra-counts each composed, have already been given in Volume 1 (pages 191–205). Among meters too, there are many varieties and sub-varieties — Gayatri, Trishtubh, Jagati, and others. The Rigveda's 1,028 suktas, composed in all these varied meters, may be organized in three different ways:

1. Ṛṣi-krama (ordering by rishi) — grouping the suktas composed by a given principal rishi and his descendants into a single section or Mandala. Mandalas 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8 of the Rigveda (seven Mandalas in total) are arranged this way.

2. Devatā-krama (ordering by deity) — grouping together the mantras or suktas that praise a given deity. That is: one group for Agni-related suktas, another for Indra-related suktas, and so on. This ordering is followed in the Rigveda's ninth Mandala, where every single sukta shares the same deity — Soma — with no other deity appearing at all; only the rishis and meters differ from sukta to sukta.

3. Chandaḥ-krama (ordering by meter) — grouping together mantras (or suktas) that share a single meter: all Gayatri-meter mantras in one group, all Trishtubh-meter mantras in another, and so on for every meter. This third ordering is not found to be followed consistently anywhere, and so is not actually used in the Rigveda.

Beyond these, since the suktas grouped under the first scheme (Rishi-krama) include many quite short ones, gathering all these together into a single Mandala forms yet another arrangement — found in Mandalas 1 and 10.

In Mandala 1, there is, broadly speaking, one rishi for roughly every hundred mantras (the exact count varies somewhat). For example: in the first Mandala, mantras 1 through 102 belong to Madhucchandas Vaishvamitra; mantras 111 through 253 to Medhatithi Kanva; and mantras 254 through 350 to Ajigarti Shunahshepa. This is likely why the rishis of this first Mandala are called "Śatarcinaḥ" ("those who composed a hundred riks each").

Mandala 10 does not follow this scheme either. This Mandala contains many quite short suktas (kṣudra-suktas) composed both by members of the seven rishi-lineages and by rishis outside them…

Page 4

…The "deities" here include not only principal ones like Agni and Indra, but also lesser deities, and even hymns of praise to inanimate things such as Night (Rātrī) and Faith (Śraddhā). Such a wide variety of suktas is found in the tenth Mandala.

A given sukta may contain anywhere from one mantra to any number. Generally, mantras addressed to a single deity are counted as one sukta. Before reciting any Vedic mantra, one must first state its rishi, deity, and meter — only then the mantra itself. A single mantra may have its own rishi, or many suktas may share one rishi. Apart from Mandalas 1, 9, and 10, each of the remaining Mandalas belongs to a single group of rishis.

A definite sequence governs how the suktas are arranged. Within a Mandala, among the suktas belonging to a given rishi, those connected with Agni come first. Among these, Gayatri-meter suktas come first, followed by Trishtubh, Jagati, and other meters. Within each such group, the shortest suktas (3, 4, 5, 6 mantras) come first, with progressively longer ones following. Once the Agni-deity suktas are exhausted, the Indra-deity suktas begin, arranged the same way; after these come suktas for other deities — the Vishvadevas, Ushas, and so on. Many suktas have multiple rishis, deities, or meters within themselves; such suktas occur here and there throughout. After all of a given rishi's suktas are exhausted, the suktas of the next rishi connected with that Mandala begin, following this same sequence. Only in the ninth Mandala — where every sukta shares the single deity Soma — is the meter-sequence (Gayatri first, etc.) governed instead by sukta-length.

Suktas generally address a single deity, but a sukta may sometimes have multiple deities: each mantra within it may have its own separate deity, or even a single mantra may have two deities together. For example: the second sukta of Mandala 1 has 9 mantras, with Vāyu, then Indra-Vāyu, then Mitrā-Varuṇā as deities in groups of three. In the same Mandala, the sixth sukta's ten mantras have Indra as deity for the first three; of the rest, the eighth and ninth have the Maruts, and the remaining mantras have, one each in sequence, Marut, Indra-Marut, Marut, and Indra-Marut as deities. The fourteenth sukta's twelve mantras (a special case — "this sukta is addressed to the Vishve…")

…["devaiḥ sahito agni-devatā"] — Agni accompanied by the Vishvadevas is the deity here. In the ninth mantra of the thirteenth sukta, there are three deities together: Sarasvati, Ila, and Bharati. Many such examples exist, but generally a sukta has a single deity.

The deities appearing with special prominence in the Rigveda are Agni, Indra, the Maruts, the Vishvadevas, the Ashvins, and Pavamana-Soma. Among these, the greatest number of mantras concern Agni and Indra. Taken as a whole, roughly a quarter of the entire Rigveda concerns Indra; after Indra, the next-greatest share concerns Agni; then the other deities follow.

A further distinctive feature appears across the Mandalas: apart from the eighth and ninth, each of the remaining eight Mandalas opens its first sukta with Agni. The eighth Mandala instead opens with a mantra devoted to Indra. The ninth Mandala alone is devoted throughout to a single deity — Pavamana-Soma — and, unlike the other Mandalas, its rishis do not belong to one single group; rishis from other Mandalas appear here too. The tenth Mandala's rishis likewise belong to many different groups, and its deities are correspondingly numerous.

Turning to our present topic: since Suktas 1 and 2 of the first Anuvaka have already been explained in Volume 1, we now begin the third sukta, "Aśvinā yajvarīr iṣaḥ," which closes this Anuvaka.

Before the meaning-translation, we first state this sukta's application (viniyoga):

> अश्विनेति द्वादशर्चं तृतीयं सूक्तम् । तत्राश्विनस्तृचः प्रातरनुवाकस्याश्विने कृतौ विनियुक्तः । तथा च सूत्रितम् । अथाश्विन एषो उषाः प्रातर्युजेति चतस्रोऽश्विना यज्वरीरिषः ॥ आ. ४-१५ ॥ इति ॥ aśvineti dvādaśarcaṃ tṛtīyaṃ sūktam | tatrāśvinastṛcaḥ prātaranuvākasyāśvine kṛtau viniyuktaḥ | tathā ca sūtritam | athāśvina eṣo uṣāḥ prātaryujeti catasro 'śvinā yajvarīriṣaḥ ‖ ā. 4-15 ‖ iti ‖ "'Aśvinā…' is the third sukta, comprising twelve riks. Of these, the Ashvin tṛca is applied in the Ashvin-portion of the Pratar-anuvaka. And thus it is stated in the Sutra: 'athāśvina eṣo uṣāḥ prātaryujeti' — four [sūktas], [the fourth being] 'aśvinā yajvarīr iṣaḥ.'" (Āśvalāyana Sūtra 4-15)

This sukta has 12 mantras, or 4 Ṭṛcas — a "Ṛca" here meaning a group of three mantras. The first Ṛca (mantras 1–3) has the Ashvin deities; the second Ṛca (mantras 4–6) has Indra; the third Ṛca (mantras 7–9) has the Vishvadevas; and the fourth Ṛca (mantras 10–12) has Sarasvati as deity.

We have already given, in Volume 1 (pages 667–669), a concise account of the Agnishtoma-yaga. In the Agnishtoma, the day on which Soma-juice is pressed is called "Sutya-dina"; since suktas recited as Stotra and Shastra are also rehearsed at the time of pressing, this day is also called "Stutya-dina." On that day, in the early morning — that is…

…before sunrise, after the previous night's midnight has passed, and before the birds' morning calls begin, the Hotṛ must finish reciting the mantras called the Prātar-anuvāka. This Prātar-anuvāka comprises three portions: the Āgneya-kratu (Riks connected with Agni), the Auṣasya-kratu, and the Āśvina-kratu. Each portion must contain numerous mantras spanning the seven meters — Gāyatrī, Anuṣṭubh, Triṣṭubh, Bṛhatī, Uṣṇik, Jagatī, and Paṅkti.

After the Prātar-anuvāka is recited, the rite called "Prātaḥ-savana" takes place. "Savana" means crushing the Soma creeper with stones (grāvāṇa) and extracting its juice. This occurs at three times: morning extraction is "Prātaḥ-savana"; midday extraction, "Mādhyandina-savana"; evening extraction, "Tṛtīya-savana."

Across these three Savanas, twelve Stotras and twelve Shastra-mantras must be recited in total. "Stotra" means Riks fit for chanting (sāmagāna), sung by the Udgātṛ; as soon as he finishes each Stotra, the Hotṛ, in response, recites the corresponding Shastra-mantras (Rigveda Riks). "Shastra" means a Rigveda mantra recited melodiously but without being sung. These Shastra-mantras are recited by the Hotṛ and his assistant priests — the Maitrāvaruṇa, Brāhmaṇācchaṃsī, and Acchāvāka. The full arrangement of these mantras across the three Savanas in the Agnishtoma's Prātar-anuvāka is given below:

1. Prātaḥ-savana

| Stotra-mantras | Shastra-mantras |
|---|---|
| 1. Bahiṣpavamāna-stotra | 1. Ājya-śastra |
| 2. Ājya-stotras | 2. Praüga-śastra |
| (these recited by the Hotṛ) | |
| 3. ” | 3. Ājya-śastras |
| 4. ” | 4. ” |
| 5. ” | 5. ” |

(The first two Stotras are sung by the Udgātṛ; the latter three Shastras are recited by the Hotṛ’s assistant priests — Maitrāvaruṇa, Brāhmaṇācchaṃsī, and Acchāvāka.)

---

Progress: Through PDF page 21 of Rig_Vol2.pdf (printed page 6) — covering the Preface, full Table of Contents, and pages 1–6 of the actual content. This establishes Sukta 3’s formal introduction: its application (viniyoga) as the closing sukta of Anuvaka 1, its structure (13 mantras in 4 Ṛcas, with Ashvins/Indra/Vishvadevas/Sarasvati as deities across the four groups), and the three foundational ordering-schemes of the Rigveda (Rishi-krama, Devata-krama, Chandah-krama) with concrete statistics (roughly a quarter of the Rigveda concerns Indra; each Mandala except 8 and 9 opens with Agni). Page 6 cross-references the Savana/Stotra-Shastra structure already detailed in Volume 1. Target for next session: continue from PDF page 22 (printed page 7) — the rest of the Savana table and the sukta’s own Sayana-bhashya should begin shortly after.

2. Mādhyandina-savana

| Stotra-mantras | Shastra-mantras |
|---|---|
| 6. Mādhyandina-pavamāna-stotra | 6. Marutvatīya-śastra |
| 7. Pṛṣṭha-stotra | 7. Niṣkevalya-śastra |
| (these two recited by the Hotṛ) | |
| 8. ” | 8. Niṣkevalya-śastra |
| 9. ” | 9. ” |
| 10. ” | 10. ” |

(The first five are sung by the Udgātṛ; the latter three are recited by the Hotṛ’s assistants, Maitrāvaruṇa and others.)

3. Tṛtīya-savana

| Stotra-mantras | Shastra-mantras |
|---|---|
| 11. Āgneya or Tṛtīya-savana | 11. Vaiśvadeva-śastra |
| 12. Agniṣṭoma-sāma (Yajñāyajñīya) | 12. Agnimāruta-śastra |
| (these two sung by the Udgātṛ) | (these two recited by the Hotṛ) |

The Bhashyakara's own glosses confirm this: "Ājyaiḥ stuvate" — the Udgātṛ chants the Ajya-stotra mantras (in the morning pressing); "Pṛṣṭhaiḥ stuvate" — the Udgātṛ chants the Prishtha-stotra mantras (in the midday pressing); "pralugaṃ śaṃsati" — the Hotṛ recites the Pralugat-shastra mantras (in the morning pressing); "niṣkevalyaṃ śaṃsati" — the Hotṛ recites the Nishkevalya-shastra mantras (in the midday pressing). That is: as soon as the Udgātṛ finishes the Ajya-stotras in the morning pressing, the Hotṛ, in response, recites the Pralugat-shastra mantras; likewise for Prishtha-stotra and Nishkevalya-shastra in the midday pressing, and so on.

During the recitation of the Prātar-anuvāka, the sukta "Agnimīḷe" is recited — its application was already stated earlier (Volume 1), as was the application of the second sukta "Vāyav ā yāhi," a nine-mantra sukta. We now come to the third sukta, "Aśvinā yajvarīr iṣaḥ," a twelve-mantra sukta, which the Hotṛ must recite during the Pralugat-shastra portion. The sequence of the Pralugat-shastra mantras runs as follows: Vāyu, Indra-Vāyu, Mitrā-Varuṇā, Aśvin, Indra, Viśvedevāḥ, Sarasvatī — mantras praising these seven deities in turn, each deity addressed by three mantras (called a "Ṛca"). Within the sukta "Vāyav ā yāhi"…

Page 8

…of the nine mantras [in "Vāyav ā yāhi"]: the first three concern Vāyu; four through six concern Indra-Vāyu; seven through nine concern Mitrā-Varuṇā. In the sukta "Aśvinā yajvarīr iṣaḥ" that follows: mantras one through three concern the Ashvins; four through six, Indra; seven through nine, the Vishvadevas; and nine through twelve, Sarasvatī. Together, these two suktas thus form seven groups of three mantras (21 mantras total), addressed to seven deities' Shastra-mantras. The Hotṛ must recite these during the second [sukta's] Pralugat-shastra recitation in the morning pressing, immediately after the Udgātṛ sings the Ajya-stotras. This is the application of both the second and third suktas.

This sequence is confirmed in the Aitareya Brahmana, in the section beginning "gṛho'laṃ" (Aitareya Brahmana 3.1), and by Ashvalayana in his own Shrauta-sutra, in the section "stotram agre śastrāt" (Ashvalayana Sutra 5.10). The Anukramanika states it thus:

> वायो वायव्यमिन्द्रवायवमित्रावरुणाऋचा अश्विना द्वादशाश्चैन्द्रैश्चदेवसारस्वासृचा सप्तृचा प्रलुगदेवता ।
> (this compressed index-entry, confirming the seven-deity structure just described, remains a genuinely dense best-effort reading)

That is: in "Vāyav ā yāhi," each group of three mantras addresses one deity — Vāyu, Indra-Vāyu, Mitrā-Varuṇā — three deities in all; and in "Aśvinā yajvarīr iṣaḥ," similarly, each group of three addresses Aśvinā, Indra, Viśvedevāḥ, Sarasvatī — four further deities. Together, these seven deities bear the name "Pralugat-devatāḥ." This is this sukta's full application-sequence.

Page 9 — Sūkta 3, The First Mantra

॥ Om ॥

॥ Sūkta — 3 ॥ ॥ Maṇḍala — 1 ॥ Anuvāka — 1 ॥ Sūkta — 3 ॥ ॥ Aṣṭaka — 1 ॥ Adhyāya — 1 ॥ Varga — 5, 6 ॥

॥ Mantra-numbers contained in this sukta: 1–12 (the source's own printed figure reads "1–13," but the deity-breakdown below accounts for only 12 mantras in four groups of three, matching the "twelve-mantra sukta" already confirmed by the Sutra citation on page 5 — the "13" is treated here as a likely scanning artifact for "12") **॥

Ṛṣi — Madhucchandā Vaiśvāmitraḥ (the same rishi who composed Suktas 1 and 2) Devatā — Mantras 1–3: Aśvin; 4–6: Indraḥ; 7–9: Viśvedevāḥ; 10–12: Sarasvatī Chandaḥ — Gāyatrī

---

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

अश्वि॑ना॒ यज्व॑रीरिषो॒ द्रव॑त्पाणी॒ शुभ॑स्पती । पुरु॑भुजा च॒नस्यत॑म् ॥१॥ áśvinā ɣájvarīríṣo drávatpāṇī śúbhaspatī | púrubhujā canasyátaṃ ||1||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

अश्विना । यज्वरीः । इषः । द्रवत्पाणी इति द्रवत्पाणी । शुभः । पती इति । पुरुभुजा । चनस्यतम् ॥१॥

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे अश्विना युवामिमे शनिर्लक्षणान्नानि चनस्यतम् । इच्छतम् । भुंजाथामित्यर्थः । यद्वापि चनिशब्दोऽन्नवाचे तथापीषेत्यनेन सह नास्ति पुनरुक्तिदोषः । इच्छामुपलक्षयितुं प्रयुक्तत्वात् । वक्तव्यमुच्यते । समूलकाशं कृषतीत्यादौ यथा पुनरुक्तभावस्तत् । कीदृशीरिषः । यज्वरीः । यागनिष्पादिकाः । कीदृशावश्विना । द्रवत्पाणी । शीघ्रग्रहणाय प्रवद्भ्यां धावद्भ्यां पाणिभ्यामुपेतौ । शुभस्पती । शोभनस्य कर्मणः पालकौ । पुरुभुजा । विस्तीर्णभुजौ बहुभोजौ । he aśvinā ɣuvām ime śanir-lakṣaṇānnāni canasyatam | icchatam | bhuñjāthām ity arthaḥ | ɣadvāpi cani-śabdo'nna-vāce tathāpīṣety anena saha nāsti punarukti-doṣaḥ | icchām upalakṣayituṃ prayuktatvāt | vaktavyam ucyate | samūla-kāśaṃ kṛṣatīty ādau ɣathā punarukta-bhāvas tat | kīdṛśīr iṣaḥ | ɣajvarīḥ | ɣāga-niṣpādikāḥ | kīdṛśāv aśvinā | dravat-pāṇī | śīghra-grahaṇāya pravadbhyāṃ dhāvadbhyāṃ pāṇibhyām upetau | śubhas patī | śobhanasya karmaṇaḥ pālakau | purubhujā | vistīrṇa-bhujau bahu-bhojau |

Translation: "O Ashvins! You two desire ('canasyatam') these foods marked by swiftness — the sense being, 'may you two partake.' Even though the word 'cani' itself means 'food,' joining it with 'iṣa' (also 'food') is not a fault of redundancy, since here it is used specifically to convey the sense of 'desiring'; this needs to be stated, [just as there is no redundancy] in expressions like 'samūla-kāśaṃ kṛṣati' [a comparable grammatical construction]. What kind of foods? 'Yajvarīḥ' — those that bring the sacrifice to completion. What kind of pair are the Ashvins? 'Dravat-pāṇī' — possessing hands that move quick and swift, for grasping things rapidly. 'Śubhas-patī' — protectors of auspicious action. 'Purubhujā' — broad-armed, enjoying much…"

Page 10

(This page continues and closes the Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya's grammatical derivation of "aśvinā," "āmantritasya," "yajvarī," "dravat-pāṇī," "śubhas-patī," and "purubhujā" in the established dense sutra-citation register — including specific accent-rules and a cross-reference to the word "khādāte" discussed elsewhere. Given the density, this portion is characterized rather than transcribed line-by-line, consistent with standing practice for this register throughout the project.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

(हे) अश्विना ((he) aśvinā) — O Ashvin deities! (you two) | शुभस्पती (śubhaspatī) — protectors of good deeds (yajnas and similar rites) | पुरुभुजा (purubhujā) — your arms are long and expansive, or: you are great eaters | द्रवत्पाणी (dravatpāṇī) — those who come running, hands outstretched, to receive the oblation | (such as you, being) यज्वरी (yajvarī) — connected with the sacrifice | इषः (iṣaḥ) — the food that takes the form of the oblation | चनस्यतम् (canasyatam) — may you desire to eat. (Bhaṭṭasi's gloss.)

(Printed references in the grammatical tail on this page, in order: Pā. 3-2-103; Pā. 4-1-7; Ṛ. 1-2-8; Pā. 8-3-34; U. 4-199; U. 4-196; Pā. 6-1-66; Pā. 3-1-8; Pā. 3-1-32; Pā. 8-2-5 (Oct 2026 numeral pass).)

Page 11

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Ashvin deities! You are protectors who ensure that auspicious undertakings proceed without obstacle. Your arms reach to your knees, your shoulders are exceedingly broad — or, you are those who eat abundantly. Therefore, come now quickly, hands outstretched, to partake of the oblation we have prepared in this yajna, and eat this food.

॥ English Translation ॥

> O Asvins, you are cherishers of good deeds, your arms are long (or you are great eaters). You desire the sacrificial food with outstretched hands.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

The Ashvin deities are two in number. One is customarily called "Dasra" and the other "Nāsatya," though these words are often found used to address both together. Regarding their origin, the Puranas preserve a legend: Sañjñā-devī, wife of Sūrya the Sun, having grown dissatisfied with him for some reason, went into the forest and took the form of a mare to perform austerities there. When Sūrya learned of this, he too took the form of a horse and joined her there for a time; from this union, it is said, the Ashvin deities were born. The Rigveda contains many suktas concerning them, deeply dignified in tone and full of praise for their other qualities and heroic deeds. The Yajurveda states, "aśvinau vai devānāṃ bhiṣajau" — that these two are the physicians of the gods.

In connection with a rishi named Ṛjrāśva: while grazing his father's goats in a forest, the Ashvin deities came to him in the form of wolves (vṛka), and he gave them a hundred goats as food. When his father learned of this, in great anger he put out his son's eyes and blinded him. Rjrashva then prayed to the Ashvins; pleased by his hymn, they restored his sight and blessed him — this is related in the 116th sukta of this Mandala. Many further legends and heroic deeds of these deities are recounted in Suktas 116–120 and elsewhere.

In the Rigveda, certain fixed words are consistently used when praising particular deities. In praising Agni: words such as "kavi" (the wise one), "hotṛ" (priest), "gṛhapati" (householder), and others. Concerning Indra: "śatakratu" (of a hundred powers), "vṛtraghna" (slayer of Vritra), "puruhūta" (much-invoked), "citrabhānu" (of brilliant radiance), and others. For the Ashvins…

…concerning these deities, words such as "Nāsatyā," "Śubhaspatī," "Narā," "Purubhujā," and "Rathe-vantau" are used. Since all the rishis use many such words in connection with these very deities, it is clear these words must carry some specific, fixed sense beyond what now merely occurs to us or has become conventional. It is genuinely difficult now to say precisely in what sense the rishis originally intended them. Even where we construct a plausible sense — through grammar or component-meaning analysis — whether that sense truly matches the ancient rishis' own intent remains open to doubt, since this textual tradition is so ancient that these words no longer carry their original meanings; their senses differ in modern Sanskrit, so our commentarial meanings cannot be asserted as certainly correct.

The word "Aśvinā" (or "Aśvinau") appears in the Rigveda in three distinct accentual forms — aśvínā, áśvinā, aśvinā̆; aśvínau, áśvinau, aśvinaú — used in many different places. The first takes initial-udātta accent, the second is fully unaccented; both are customarily used when addressing the Ashvins directly (vocative). The third, with middle-syllable udātta, is used when expressing "of the Ashvins" or "the Ashvins" as object.

Since "Aśvinā" functions as a proper name — denoting specific, fixed individuals — constructing an etymological (component) meaning for it is not strictly correct. Still, the authors of the Vedārtha-yatna explain it as: "aśvaḥ asya āpta iti aśvī, tau aśvinā" — "those who possess a horse" or "those who ride a horse." But this sense finds no real support in the Rigveda — in many mantras the Ashvins are addressed as seated upon a chariot, never as riding horseback; their view therefore does not seem fitting. It seems more reasonable to suppose that the Ashvins came to be called "Aśvinā" because they were born from Sūrya and Sañjñā-devī while both were in horse-form — connecting the name directly to the origin-legend already given. Both "Aśvinā" and "Aśvinau" are dual forms, used in the nominative and accusative according to context.

"Yajvarī" — this word occurs in only two mantras of the entire Rigveda Samhita. In this mantra too…

> प्रातर्युजं नासत्याधि तिष्ठथः प्रातर्यावाणं मधुवाहनं रथं । विशो येन गच्छथो यज्वरीर्नरा कीरेश्चिद्यज्ञं होतृमन्तमश्विना ॥ (ऋ. सं. १०-४१-२) prātaryujaṃ nāsatyādhi tiṣṭhathaḥ

prātaryāvāṇaṃ madhuvāhanaṃ rathaṃ | viśo yena gacchatho yajvarīrnarā kīreścidyajñaṃ hotṛmantamaśvinā ‖ (ṛ. saṃ. 10-41-2)

This word is found in only this one other mantra. In both places it carries the same meaning — there is nothing further special to note.

"Iṣaḥ" — the word "iṣa" means food, nourishment. This word's form occurs both as initial-udātta ("íṣaḥ") and final-udātta ("iṣáḥ").

"Dravat-pāṇī" — this word occurs only in this one mantra within the entire Rigveda Samhita. Its fourth-case plural form, "dravat-pāṇibhyaḥ," occurs only in:

हिरण्ययेन रथेन द्रवत्पाणिभिरश्वैः । धीजवना नासत्या ॥ (ऋ. सं. ८-५-३५) hiraṇyayena rathena dravatpāṇibhiraśvaiḥ | dhījavanā nāsatyā ‖ (ṛ. saṃ. 8-5-35)

— nowhere else does this word appear. Its meaning, per Sayana, is "those who have loosened or outstretched their hands." For this sense to fit both mantras consistently, in this second citation — where "dravat-pāṇibhiḥ" qualifies the chariot-horses — the word must instead be read as "with swiftly-moving feet/hooves," i.e., "by horse." The word "pāṇi" must therefore be understood as capable of indicating two senses here: hands, and feet (hooves).

"Śubhas-patī" — the Bhashya explains "śubhaḥ" and "patī" together as "those who bring about auspicious deeds." Skandasvāmī and Veṅkaṭanātha explain these words as "udakeśvarau" — "lords of water" — taking "śubha" to mean "waters" in their view. The Vedārtha-yatna authors render it "Lords of prosperity." Western scholars — Grassmann, Ludwig, Geldner, Monier Williams, Griffith — endorse "Lords of Splendour," following the root "śubh/śumbh" (to shine). This dual-form word occurs in the Rigveda at: 1-3-1; 1-34-6; 1-47-5; 1-120-6; 5-75-8; 8-5-11; 8-22-4; 8-87-5; 10-40-4; 10-40-12; 10-40-13; 10-85-15; 10-131-4; 8-59-3; 8-59-5. In the last two of these it concerns Indra-Varuna; in every other instance it concerns the Ashvins. Similarly, words such as "Śavasas-patī" and "Danus-patī" are used of other deities, but never of the Ashvins. Sāyaṇācārya, on the word "Śubhaspatī"…

…glosses the word differently in different places — in one or two instances, "śubha" is glossed as "splendor, radiance" instead. The precise meaning of this word therefore remains genuinely unsettled.

Furthermore, in the Rigveda, the word "patī" serves as the latter member of several compounds:

- Sadas-patī (Rigveda Samhita 1-21-5)
- Go-patī (Rigveda Samhita 9-19-2)
- Dam-patī (Rigveda Samhita 5-3-2; 8-31-5; 10-10-5; 10-68-2; 10-85-32; 10-95-12; 10-162-4)
- Nṛ-patī (Rigveda Samhita 7-67-1; 7-71-4)
- Mada-patī (Rigveda Samhita 6-69-3)
- Vanas-patī (Rigveda Samhita 1-28-8)

- Śacī-patī (Rigveda Samhita 7-67-5)
- Sat-patī (Rigveda Samhita 5-65-2; 6-60-6; 10-65-2)
- Sindhu-patī (Rigveda Samhita 7-64-2)
- Svaḥ-patī (Rigveda Samhita 9-19-2)

"Purubhujā" — a dual-ending word, occurring in ten mantras (Rigveda Samhita 1-3-1; 1-116-13; 1-116-14; 5-49-1; 5-73-1; 6-63-5; 6-63-8; 8-8-17; 8-10-6; 8-86-3). In this mantra it takes initial-udātta accent; elsewhere it is fully unaccented — fitting, since fully-unaccented proper-name words generally indicate the vocative. Its meaning varies across occurrences:

> अजोहवीन्नासत्या करा वां महे यामन्पुरुभुजा पुरंधिः । (ऋ. सं. १-११६-१३) ajohavīnnāsatyā karā vāṃ mahe yāmanpurubhujā puraṃdhiḥ | (ṛ. saṃ. 1-116-13)

Here "purubhujā" means "bahūnāṃ pālakau" — protectors of many people.

> उतो कविं पुरुभुजा युवं ह कृपमाणमकृणुतं विचक्षे । (ऋ. सं. १-११६-१४) uto kaviṃ purubhujā yuvaṃ ha kṛpamāṇamakṛṇutaṃ vicakṣe | (ṛ. saṃ. 1-116-14)

Here "Purubhujā" means "great-armed," "possessing abundant arms/hands."

> आ वां नरा पुरुभुजा ववृत्यां दिवे दिवे चिदश्विना सखीयन् । (ऋ. सं. ५-४९-१) ā vāṃ narā purubhujā vavṛtyāṃ dive dive cidaśvinā sakhīyan | (ṛ. saṃ. 5-49-1)

Here "puru bhuñjātā" means "those who eat abundantly."

> यद्वा पुरू पुरुभुजा यदन्तरिक्ष आ गतं । (ऋ. सं. ५-७३-१) yadvā purū purubhujā yadantarikṣa ā gataṃ | (ṛ. saṃ. 5-73-1)

Here "bahuṣu yajñeṣu bhoktārau" means "those who partake in many sacrifices."

> अधि श्रिये दुहिता सूर्यस्य रथं तस्थौ पुरुभुजा शतोतिं । (ऋ. सं. ६-६३-५) adhi śriye duhitā sūryasya rathaṃ tasthau purubhujā śatotiṃ | (ṛ. saṃ. 6-63-5)
>
> पुरु हि वां पुरुभुजा देष्णं धेनुं न इषं पिन्वतमसक्रां । (ऋ. सं. ६-६३-८) puru hi vāṃ purubhujā deṣṇaṃ dhenuṃ na iṣaṃ pinvatamasakrāṃ | (ṛ. saṃ. 6-63-8)

Here too, glossed as "bahu-pālakau" — "protectors of many."

> आ नो गन्तं रिशादसेमं स्तोमं पुरुभुजा । (ऋ. सं. ८-८-१७) ā no gantaṃ riśādasemaṃ stomaṃ purubhujā | (ṛ. saṃ. 8-8-17)

Here "bahulasya haviṣo bhoktārau" means "those who partake abundantly of the oblation."

> यदन्तरिक्षे पतथः पुरुभुजा यद्वेमे रोदसे अनु । (ऋ. सं. ८-१०-६) yadantarikṣe patathaḥ purubhujā yadveme rodase anu | (ṛ. saṃ. 8-10-6)

Here glossed simply as "bahunāṃ pālakau" — "protectors of many."

युवं हि ष्मा पुरुभुजेममेधतुं [?] विष्णाप्वे ददथुर्वस्य इष्टये । (ऋ. सं. ८-८६-३) yuvaṃ hi ṣmā purubhujemamedhatuṃ [?] viṣṇāpve dadathurvasya iṣṭaye | (ṛ. saṃ. 8-86-3)

Glossed two ways here: "bahunāṃ dhanādi-dānena bhojayitārau" (those who, by giving wealth and the like to many, enable them to feast) and "bahunāṃ stoṭṛ-janaṃ pālayitārau" (those who protect the many who praise them).

---

"Canasyatam" — raises a genuine question: since this dual-verb itself means "partake of food," and it governs "iṣaḥ" (food, in the form of oblation), doesn't stating "food" twice create a redundancy fault? The commentator answers that such apparently-redundant pairings are a well-established convention occurring in many contexts, citing as an illustrative (non-Vedic) parallel the phrase "samūla-kāśaṃ kṛṣati." Such redundancy-adjacent word-pairs do occur here and there within the Veda itself; a few are given below as examples —

यो अश्वानां यो गवां गोपतिर्वशी य आरितः कर्मणिकर्मणि स्थिरः । (ऋ. सं. १-१०१-४) yo aśvānāṃ yo gavāṃ gopatirvaśī ya āritaḥ karmaṇikarmaṇi sthiraḥ | (ṛ. saṃ. 1-101-4)

इहेन्द्राग्नी उपह्वये तयोरित्स्तोममुश्मसि । ता सोमं सोमपातमा ॥ (ऋ. सं. १-२१-४) ihendrāgnī upahvaye tayoritstomamuśmasi | tā somaṃ somapātamā ‖ (ṛ. saṃ. 1-21-4)

द्रविणोदा द्रविणसस्तुरस्य द्रविणोदाः सनरस्य प्र यंसत् । (ऋ. सं. १-९६-८) draviṇodā draviṇasasturasya draviṇodāḥ sanarasya pra yaṃsat | (ṛ. saṃ. 1-96-8)

These mantras, with phrases like "gavāṃ go-patiḥ" (the cow-protector of cows), "somaṃ soma-pātamā" (the soma-drinkers of soma), and "draviṇodā draviṇasaḥ," confirm that this kind of apparent redundancy is a genuine, established feature of Vedic diction.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥

(The grammatical derivation for this sukta's opening verse — covering "aśvinā" as a vocative-adjacent form (per Pā. 6-1-198, "āmantritasya ca"), "yajvarī" analyzed via the root meaning "to accomplish the sacrifice," "iṣaḥ" and its accent-variants, "dravat-pāṇī" as a compound of "dravat" (running/swift) and "pāṇi" (hand/foot), "śubhas-patī" with its accent-retention rule, and "canasyatam" as a denominative verb formed from "canas" — proceeds here in the same dense sutra-citation register used throughout this work. Given its density, it is characterized here rather than transcribed line by line, consistent with standing practice; none of it alters the senses already established above in the Bhāṣya, Pratipadārtha, and Viśeṣārtha sections for this verse.)

---

Progress: Through PDF page 31 of Rig_Vol2.pdf (printed page 16) — a larger batch covering printed pages 7–16. This batch completed the structural setup (full Savana/Stotra-Shastra tables, cross-referenced to Volume 1) and then the complete apparatus for Rik 3.1 ("aśvinā yajvarīr iṣo dravat-pāṇī śubhas patī | purubhujā canasyatam") — Sayana's commentary, Pratipadartha, Bhavartha, English translation, and an unusually rich Viśeṣārtha section featuring: the Ashvins' origin-legend (born of Surya and Sanjna in horse-form) and the Rjrashva story; a careful, honest philological discussion of "Aśvinā" itself weighing the Vedartha-yatna's "horse-riders" reading against the birth-legend explanation; and extensive citation-chains for "yajvarī," "dravat-pāṇī," "śubhaspatī" (comparing Sayana, Skandasvami, Venkatanatha, the Vedartha-yatna authors, and five Western scholars — Grassmann, Ludwig, Geldner, Monier Williams, Griffith), and "purubhujā" (nine separate citations showing its varied senses). The batch closes with real Vedic examples of deliberate "redundant" phrasing (gavāṃ gopatiḥ, somaṃ somapātamā) and opens the grammar section for this verse. Target for next session: continue from PDF page 32 (printed page 17) — likely Rik 3.2 (the second verse, still within the Ashvin group).

(Printed references in the grammar on this page, in order: Pā. 6-1-198; Pā. 3-2-103; Pā. 4-1-7; Pā. 3-1-4; Pā. 2-1-2 (Oct 2026 numeral pass).)

Page 17

(This entire page continues the Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā for Rik 3.1 in the same dense register — working through "śubhaspatī" (accent-retention and compound-analysis), "aśvinā" (vocative/accusative accent variants), "purubhujā" (bahuvrīhi-compound derivation), and "canasyatam" (a denominative formation from "canas," with its affix and accent rules, including cross-reference to the Nirukta 5-16 gloss of "canaḥ" as "food"). Characterized here rather than transcribed line-by-line, consistent with standing practice for this register; none of it changes the senses already established above.)

(Printed references on this page, in order: Pā. 3-3-108; Vā. 9; Pā. 8-3-53; Pā. 6-1-198; Pā. 8-1-72; Pā. 8-1-73; Pā. 7-1-39; Pā. 8-639 [as printed]; Pā. 6-1-66; Nir. 5-16; Pā. 3-1-8 … (Oct 2026 numeral pass; list continues in the boxes of the review page).)

Page 18 — Sūkta 3, The Second Mantra

(This page opens with the closing lines of Rik 3.1's grammar discussion — covering the accent-behavior of "canasyatam" as a denominative verb, and the word "dhiṣṇyā" cross-referenced ahead — in the established dense register; not reproduced in detail.)

---

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

अश्वि॑ना॒ पुरु॑दꣳससा॒ नरा॒ शवी॑रया धि॒या ॥ धिष्ण्या॒ वन॑तं॒ गिरः॑ ॥२॥ áśvinā púrudaṃsasā nárā śávīrayā dhiyā́ || dhiṣṇyā́ vánataṃ gíraḥ ||2||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

अश्विना । पुरुदꣳससा । नरा । शवीरया । धिया । धिष्ण्या । वनतम् । गिरः ॥२॥

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

अश्विना हे अश्विनौ युवां गिरोऽस्मदीयाः स्तुतीर्यथार्थयुक्तया बुद्ध्या वनतम् । संभजतम् । स्वीकुरुतम् । कीदृशावश्विनौ । पुरुदंससा । बहुकर्माणौ । ... नरा । नेतारौ । धिष्ण्या । धार्ष्ट्ययुक्तौ बुद्धिमन्तौ वा । कीदृश्या धिया । शवीरया । गतियुक्तया । अप्रतिहतशक्त्या इत्यर्थः । aśvinā he aśvinau yuvāṃ giro'smadīyāḥ stutīr yathārtha-yuktayā buddhyā vanatam | sambhajatam | svīkurutam | kīdṛśāv aśvinau | purudaṃsasā | bahu-karmāṇau | ... narā | netārau | dhiṣṇyā | dhārṣṭrya-yuktau buddhimantau vā | kīdṛśyā dhiyā | śavīrayā | gati-yuktayā | apratihata-śaktyā ity arthaḥ |

Translation: "O Ashvins! Accept and embrace our hymns of praise ('giraḥ'), with understanding fit to their true purpose. What kind of pair are the Ashvins? 'Purudaṃsasā' — doers of many deeds (the word "daṃsa" is listed among the Nighaṇṭu's words for "karma"). 'Narā' — leaders. 'Dhiṣṇyā' — bold, or wise. With what kind of understanding? 'Śavīrayā' — endowed with motion; the sense being, of unimpeded power."

(Note: the scan at this point is somewhat worn, and a few words in the Sanskrit above are reconstructed with reasonable but not full confidence from context.)

(Printed references at the head of this page (close of the Rk 3.1 grammar), in order: Pā. 3-1-32; Pā. 8-28 [as printed]; Pā. 6-1-186; Pā. 8-1-28 (Oct 2026 numeral pass).)

Page 19

(The bulk of this page continues the Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya's grammatical analysis of "purudaṃsasā," "dhiṣṇyā," "vanatam," and "giraḥ" in the established dense register — covering compound-formation, accent-retention rules, and cross-references to related forms elsewhere in the Rigveda. Characterized here rather than transcribed line-by-line, consistent with standing practice.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

पुरुदंससा (purudaṃsasā) — endowed with many deeds, that is, performers of many works | नरा (narā) — leaders of people, or guides | धिष्ण्या (dhiṣṇyā) — wise | अश्विना (aśvinā) — O Ashvin deities! (you two) | शवीरया (śavīrayā) — unimpeded, unobstructed | धिया (dhiyā) — with that understanding | गिरः (giraḥ) — the words of praise we offer | वनतम् (vanatam) — accept.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Ashvin deities! You are those who perform many deeds — heroic undertakings; you are guides for people, exceedingly wise, and full of courage. Being such, with your unimpeded understanding, graciously and attentively accept the hymns of praise we now offer in these words.

(Printed references in the grammar on this page: Saṃ. 7-1-6-8; U. 4-30 (Oct 2026 numeral pass).)

Page 20

॥ English Translation ॥

O Aswins, performers of mighty deeds, leaders of men, endowed with fortitude, accept our praises with unaverted (loving) mind.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

The three mantras in this sukta expounding the Ashvin deities are all genuinely difficult. Many commentators, following grammatical derivation, have constructed component-based meanings for these words and presented them as though settled by ordinary reasoning. But for many Rigveda words, such component-based construction simply does not yield a fitting sense. There is good reason to think that the meanings now conventional for these words in present-day Sanskrit were not current in the Vedic period, and that these words once carried their own distinct senses. At that time, grammar itself had not yet been composed. There is no doubt that the great sage Pāṇini composed his grammar taking Vedic vocabulary itself as his foundational basis, nor that Pāṇini's grammar is authoritative for explaining the derivation of words now current in Sanskrit — but many Vedic words simply do not fall under these later grammatical rules. For example, a single word is sometimes expressed in different forms while keeping the same meaning. Language came first; grammar was composed afterward, by following the patterns already present in language — never the reverse. Therefore, even where we construct, through component-meaning analysis, some fitting sense for a Vedic word, to claim that the ancient rishis actually used that word in precisely that derived sense would be a genuine act of overreach.

---

"Purudaṃsasā" — this word occurs in four mantras of the Rigveda. In this mantra it is initial-udātta; in Rigveda Samhita 6-63-10 and 7-9-5 it is fully unaccented (confirming, as already noted, that fully-unaccented nominative forms serve the vocative); in 7-73-1 it is middle-udātta. Further forms of this word — "purudaṃsam" and "purudaṃsā" — occur in Rigveda Samhita 3-1-23 and 7-73-1; nowhere else. The word comprises two separate elements, "puru" and "daṃsa." "Puru" means "much, abundant" — the same element already discussed in "purubhujā" above. "Daṃsa" is listed among the words meaning "karma" (action, deed); hence the compound means "deed" or "work." The Bhashyakara accordingly explains "purudaṃsā" as "bahu-karmāṇau" — "those possessing the capacity for many deeds."

Veṅkaṭamādhava glosses this as "āścarya-bhūta-vividha-karmāṇau" — those whose various deeds are a source of wonder. Wilson explains it as "performers of marvelous or heroic deeds"; Grassmann and Ludwig, following Veṅkaṭamādhava's own reading, state "those who perform wondrous deeds." Since Suktas 112, 116, 117, and 118 of this Mandala describe many heroic deeds of these deities, Veṅkaṭamādhava's view appears correct.

"Narā" — Sayana and Veṅkaṭamādhava explain this as "netārau" — leaders, guides; Skandasvāmī, as "those possessing human form." Wilson expresses Sayana's meaning by "guides." Whitney renders "narah" with "manly," and Stevenson with "who assumes the human form"; Geldner, in his Der Rigveda, gives several meanings of this word.

Among these, Sayana's view seems most sound. Still, since "narā" is used specifically in contexts praising the Ashvin deities, it can confidently be said that the word carried some specific, fixed sense in its own time.

"Śavīrayā" — this word occurs in the Rigveda only here and in:

> अश्विनावश्वावत्येषा यातं शवीरया । (ऋ. सं. १-३०-१७) aśvināvaśvāvatyeṣā yātaṃ śavīrayā | (ṛ. saṃ. 1-30-17)

— nowhere else. The Bhashyakara derives it from the root "śū" (to go) with the affix "vīra," giving "endowed with motion," that is, "possessing unimpeded power." As a feminine noun in the fourth-case singular, it is treated as qualifying "dhiyā" (understanding). Veṅkaṭamādhava explains it differently: "śu" means "swift," "īra" means "to go," hence "śavīra" means "swift-moving." Alternatively, he connects it to "śava" (strength, listed among the twenty-eight strength-words of the Nighaṇṭu, 2-9; "śu" is among the twenty-six words for "swift", Nighaṇṭu 2-15), giving the sense "those who go swiftly to destroy the enemy's strength" or "those who hasten to the sacrificial altar to receive their share of the oblation" — on this reading, "śavīrayā" becomes instead a nominative dual form qualifying "Aśvinā" itself…

Page 22

…as stated. The Vedārtha-yatna authors and Western scholars explain "śavīra" as "Strong, Mighty, Powerful."

"Dhiyā" — Sayana and Skandasvāmī explain this as "ādara-yuktayā buddhyā" — "with reverent understanding," reading it as an instrumental. Some Western scholars gloss "dhiyā" as "mind, thought, aim," connecting it to the verb "vanatam"; the Bhashyakara harmonizes it the same way. But Veṅkaṭamādhava treats "dhiyā" instead as a qualifier of "dhiṣṇyā." In many contexts "dhiyā" is used in the nominative, meaning "possessing intelligence."

"Dhiṣṇyā" — the Bhashyakara explains this as "dhārṣṭrya-yuktau" (possessing boldness) or "buddhimantau" (wise). Skandasvāmī derives it: "Dhiṣaṇā" means speech; her offspring, or the word "dhī" (insight) in its own feminine form, yields "dhiṣṇyā" — "those exceedingly wise, capable of grasping every matter." Sayana's gloss — "courageous, wise" — is endorsed by Wilson. Grassmann renders it "free giving, willingly giving, willingly helping"; Geldner, "wise"; Ludwig, "praiseworthy." By a different word-family connection (from the root "dhī," to think), other commentators explain "Dhiṣṇyā" as "those that kindle the thoughts" — those who inspire the mind or speech. This word is initial-udātta at Rigveda Samhita 1-3-2; 1-182-1 and 2; 2-41-9; and fully unaccented at 1-89-4; 1-117-19; 1-181-3; 4-63-6 [as printed]; 7-5-14; 7-26-12.

"Vanatam" — initial-udātta at Rigveda Samhita 1-3-2; 7-94-2; fully unaccented at 1-93-9.

"Giraḥ" — this word occurs in some 150 mantras of the Rigveda, meaning "words" or "hymns of praise." It appears in the nominative and accusative plural and the locative singular, always as an initial-udātta word. No further explanation of its meaning is needed.

Page 23

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥

(This page and those following work through the grammatical analysis of "aśvinā," "purudaṃsasā," "narā," and "dhiṣṇyā" together as a set of co-referential vocative/nominative forms, in the established dense sutra-citation register — covering accent-retention rules for words in grammatical apposition (sāmānādhikaraṇya), and a careful technical argument about why "nāmantrite" (a word not in the vocative) can still take sarvānudātta accent when standing in apposition with a genuine vocative. Characterized here rather than transcribed line-by-line, consistent with standing practice for this register; the overall sense already established in the Bhāṣya and Pratipadārtha above is unaffected.)

(Printed references in the grammar on this page: Pā. 8-1-72; Pā. 8-1-73 (Oct 2026 numeral pass).)

Page 24 — Sūkta 3, The Third Mantra

(The opening lines close out Rik 3.2's grammar discussion, including a supporting citation from the Taittiriya Samhita — "ete te aśvinā nāmāni" — on the many names used for the Ashvins in praise, and detailed accent-derivations for "śavīrayā," "dhiyā," "vanatam," and "giraḥ," in the established dense register; not reproduced in full. This closes the apparatus for Rik 3.2.)

॥२॥

---

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

दस्रा॑ यु॒वाक॑वः सु॒ता नास॑त्या वृ॒क्तब॑र्हिषः । [accent ?] आ या॑तं रुद्रवर्तनी ॥३॥

dásrā yuvā́kavaḥ sutā́ nā́satyā vṛ́ktábarhiṣaḥ | [accent ?] ā́ yātaṃ rudravartanī ||3||

(Accents read from the better scan. [accent ?]: the print has the svarita stroke over स्रा of दस्रा with a dot beside it, and no anudātta line under द; recorded as seen.)

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

दस्रा । युवाकवः । सुताः । नासत्या । वृक्तऽबर्हिषः । आ । यातम् । रुद्रवर्तनी इति रुद्रऽवर्तनी ॥३॥

(Sayana's commentary, Pratipadartha, Bhavartha, and English translation for this third and closing Ashvin-verse follow on the next page.)

---

Progress: Through printed page 24 — a larger batch covering pages 17–24. This batch completed the full apparatus for Rik 3.2 ("aśvinā purudaṃsasā narā śavīrayā dhiyā | dhiṣṇyā vanataṃ giraḥ" — "O Aswins, performers of mighty deeds, leaders of men, endowed with fortitude, accept our praises with unaverted mind"), with a particularly rich Viśeṣārtha featuring: an important methodological passage on the genuine limits of grammatically-derived Vedic etymology (language preceding grammar, not the reverse); and extensive multi-scholar comparisons for "purudaṃsasā," "narā," "śavīrayā," "dhiyā," and "dhiṣṇyā" — weighing Sayana against Skandasvami, Venkatamadhava, and Western scholars (Wilson, Grassmann, Ludwig, Whitney, Stevenson, Geldner). The batch closes with the Saṃhitā and Pada texts of Rik 3.3 ("dasrā yuvākavaḥ sutā nāsatyā vṛkta-barhiṣaḥ | ā yātaṃ rudravartanī"), the third and final verse of the Ashvin group within this sukta. Target for next session: continue from printed page 25 — Sayana's commentary on Rik 3.3.

(Printed references at the head of this page (close of the Rk 3.2 grammar): Saṃ. 7-1-6-8; U. 4-30; Pā. 6-1-168 (Oct 2026 numeral pass).)

Page 25

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

> अत्राश्विनेत्यस्यार्थे । हे अश्विनौ यातम् । अस्मिन्मर्याक्या गच्छतम् । किमर्थमिति चेदुच्यते । सुता युष्मदर्थं सोमा अभिपातुम् । तान् स्वीकर्तुमिति शेषः । कीदृशावश्विनौ । दस्रा शत्रूणामुपक्षपयितारौ । यद्वा । देव-वैद्येन रोगाणामुपक्षपयितारौ । अश्विनौ वै देवानां भिषजौ (ऐ. ब्रा. १-१८) इति श्रुतेः । नासत्या । असत्यमनृत-भाषणम् । कदर्था । अत्र यास्कः — सत्यस्यैव नासत्या आदित्यगायन (नि. ६-१३) इति । रुद्रवर्तनी । ... शूरभटूनां वर्तनि-मार्गो धाटी-रूपो ययoस्ते । रुद्र-वर्तनी । यद्वा । "भरता" इत्यादिऋक्प्रतीतिजामुस वृक्तबर्हिष इति । atrāśvinety asyārthe | he aśvinau yātam | asmin maryākyā gacchatam | kimartham iti ced ucyate | sutā yuṣmad-arthaṃ somā abhipātum | tān svīkartum iti śeṣaḥ | kīdṛśāv aśvinau | dasrā śatrūṇām upakṣapayitārau | yadvā | deva-vaidyena rogāṇām upakṣapayitārau | aśvinau vai devānāṃ bhiṣajau (Aitareya Brahmana 1.18) iti śruteḥ | nāsatyā | asatyam anṛta-bhāṣaṇam | kadarthā | atra yāskaḥ — satyasyaiva nāsatyā ādityagāyana (Nirukta 6-13) iti | rudravartanī | ... śūra-bhaṭūnāṃ vartani-mārgo dhāṭī-rūpo yayos te | rudra-vartanī | yadvā | "bharatā" ity ādi-ṛk-pratītijām usa vṛkta-barhiṣa iti |

Translation: "Here, continuing the sense of 'Aśvinā': O Ashvins, come — come to this gathering. For what purpose? In answer: Soma-juices have been pressed for your sake, to be drunk — the implied completion being 'in order to accept them.' What kind of pair are the Ashvins? 'Dasrā' — destroyers of enemies; or, as physicians of the gods, destroyers of disease, per the scriptural statement 'the Ashvins are indeed the physicians of the gods' (Aitareya Brahmana 1.18). 'Nāsatyā' — never given to false speech ('asatya'); Yāska himself states in the Nirukta, 'nāsatyā, [those devoted] to truth alone' (Nirukta 6-13). 'Rudravartanī' — whose course resembles the swift charging-path of valiant warriors; or, per a Rigveda citation beginning 'bharatā,' connected with 'vṛkta-barhiṣaḥ' [below]."

(The grammatical derivation of "dasrā," "yuvākavaḥ," and the accent-rules governing this verse's vocative forms continues in the established dense register; not reproduced in full, consistent with standing practice.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

दस्रा (dasrā) — destroying enemies, or diseases | नासत्या (nāsatyā) — those free of false speech (true to their word) | रुद्रवर्तनी (rudravartanī) — those who follow the swift course of valiant warriors (O Ashvin deities!) | वृक्तबर्हिषः (vṛktabarhiṣaḥ) — upon the kuśa-grass (barhis), its root cut and laid out | युवाकवः (yuvākavaḥ) — mixed with admixtures, or: that which you desire | सुताः (sutāḥ) — the Soma, prepared by crushing the creeper, for you to accept | आ यातम् (ā yātam) — come here (that is, to the place where we perform this yajna).

(Printed references on this page, in order: Ai. Brā. 1-18; Ni. 6-13; U. 3-77; Pā. 6-3-75 (Oct 2026 numeral pass).)

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Ashvin deities! You are destroyers of enemies, or, being physicians of the gods, destroyers of disease. You never speak falsely; you always follow the path of heroes. Being such, come to this, our sacrificial ground, to drink the Soma-juice we have prepared and placed upon the kuśa-grass, the grass fit for the yajna.

॥ English Translation ॥

> O Aswins, destroyers of enemies (or of deseases) shorn of untruth, who wander on the path of heroes, come to the mixed libations of Soma juice pressed and placed on lopped Kusa-grass.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

"Dasrā" — one of the Ashvin deities is named "Dasra" and the other "Nāsatya"; yet since this word is dual-ending, it designates both together — here, since each name is stated separately, both are correspondingly indicated. If one holds that these two words function merely as proper names, no further meaning need be constructed for them. But if one instead regards them as qualifying epithets describing the Ashvins' own qualities, a component-based meaning must be constructed — and this is the course the Bhashyakara himself takes.

The Bhashyakara explains this word as "śatrūṇām upakṣapayitārau; yadvā deva-vaidyena rogāṇām upakṣapayitārau" — "destroyers of enemies; or, as physicians of the gods, destroyers of diseases." Skandasvāmī gives "destroyer of enemies" and also "of beautiful form to behold." Veṅkaṭamādhava gives "of beautiful form." Uvvaṭa and Mahīdhara, the commentators on the Vājasaneya Samhita (Shukla Yajurveda), both affirm this same sense for the corresponding word at Vājasaneya Saṃhitā 33-58. Grassmann renders it "Wonder-workers"; Ludwig, "Wonderful"; Monier Williams, "accomplishing wonderful deeds." All of these scholars, while agreeing broadly on the sense in this particular mantra, render the same word differently in its other occurrences. Ludwig, for this word in Rigveda Samhita 1-3-3; 1-139-3; 6-9-7, and similar mantras, gives "wonderful"…

…at Rigveda Samhita 1-30-17; 8-5-2; 8-5-11; 8-8-1; 8-22-17 and similar, "wonder-workers," those who perform wonderful deeds;

at 1-46-2; 1-47-3; 1-47-6; 1-112-24; 1-116-10; 1-117-5; 1-117-21; 1-118-3 and similar, "beneficent," generous or helpful;

at 1-116-16; 1-117-20 and similar, "good-looking," beautiful to behold;

at 7-69-3; 8-87-5 and similar, "destroyers" of enemies or disease — various senses given by Ludwig himself across different mantras. Geldner similarly offers "master worker, able, dexterous, possessing supernatural strength"; Langlois and Griffith likewise construct differing senses. But many hold that, since "dasrā" derives from the root "dṛś" (to see), the sense "worth seeing" or "of beautiful form" is the most fitting one.

---

"Yuvākavaḥ" — Sayanacharya derives this from the root "yu" (to mix), glossing it "mixed." The "mixture-substances" referred to are cow's milk, curds, barley, and similar admixtures — a topic already treated at length in Volume 1 (pages 674–676). Skandasvāmī gives: "yuvāṃ kāmayante iti yuvākavaḥ" — "those who desire to drink you" — meaning "dear to you." Veṅkaṭamādhava endorses this same sense; Uvvaṭa and Mahīdhara, commentators on the Vajasaneya Samhita, explain the corresponding word at Vājasaneya Saṃhitā 33-58 the same way. Western scholars broadly agree. Sayanacharya himself, in other mantras — 1-120-3; 1-120-9; 3-58-9; 3-60-3; 7-67-4; 7-68-1; 7-68-7 — glosses this same word as "yuvāṃ kāmayamāna," "that which you desire."

The word "yuvāku" is used in seven places in the Rigveda, but "yuvākavaḥ" occurs only in this one mantra, nowhere else. A few further examples where "yuvāka" combines with other words in the sense "your" are given below:

- yuvānītasya (Rigveda Samhita 8-26-12) — yuvādattasya (Rigveda Samhita 8-26-12)
- yuvāyavaḥ (Rigveda Samhita 1-135-6) — yuvāyujaṃ (Rigveda Samhita 1-119-5)
- yuvāvate (Rigveda Samhita 3-62-1)

In the first two words of this list, the usage carries the same sense as "yuṣmān-ītaḥ"…

…at Rigveda Samhita 2-27-11; "yuṣmādattasya" at 5-54-13; 8-47-6 — these related forms are also well established.

"Sutāḥ" — this word means "pressed out, extracted." When the Soma creeper is crushed with stones (grāvāṇa) and its juice extracted, the Rigveda customarily calls that extracted juice "suta." (In modern Sanskrit, "suta" instead means "son.")

"Nāsatyā" — a word naming the Ashvin deities; strictly it needs no component-meaning. Still, the Bhashyakara explains it: "asatyam anṛta-bhāṣaṇaṃ tad-rahitau" ("free of false speech"), citing two authoritative passages from Yāska: "satyā eva nāsatyāv ity aurṇavābhaḥ | satyasya praṇetārāv ity āgrāyaṇaḥ" (the first is Aurṇavābha's view, the second Āgrāyaṇa's) Though different scholars follow different derivational paths for this word, there is unanimity on its meaning.

"Vṛktabarhiṣaḥ" — this word is middle-udātta at Rigveda Samhita 1-3-3; 1-14-5 and others, 19 places in all; fully unaccented in three places, 1-38-1; 8-7-20; 8-7-21. Related forms — "vṛktabarhiṣam" at 1-40-7, and "vṛktabarhiṣe" at 1-12-3; 3-59-9; 10-61-15 — also occur. Sayana gives two readings: "vṛktāni mūlyārjitāni barhīṃṣy āstaraṇa-rūpāṇi yeṣāṃ somānāṃ te vṛktabarhiṣaḥ” — “those Soma-portions whose kuśa-spreads have had their roots cut”; or, following a Rigveda citation beginning “bharatā,” read as a nominative in place of an instrumental, meaning “the ritvij who approaches.” That is: on one reading, the kuśa-grass with its root cut, spread out, with the Soma-vessel placed upon it; on the other, “Vṛktabarhiṣa” is one of the eight ritvij-names, and the phrase means “the Soma-juice pressed and prepared by the ritvij of that name.” On the first reading, “Vṛktabarhiṣaḥ” qualifies “Sutāḥ” (the Soma); on the second, it qualifies the ritvij. Sayana further explains that this kuśa-spread serves to hold the Soma-juice; Skandasvāmī instead explains the kuśa-spread as being for the Ashvins to sit upon when they arrive. Since, in actual ritual practice, the spreading of barhis is stated in many places as being specifically for holding the oblation-materials or the Soma-juice, Sayana’s view appears the better-supported one. Though this mantra admits of two readings, Sayana elsewhere consistently glosses this word as “vṛktabarhiṣa āstaraṇārthaṃ bhinna-darbhāḥ” — a single, consistent sense, which seems the fitting one. Among Western scholars: Wilson gives “placed on lopped grass”; Ludwig, “having the barhis cut”; Geldner, “having the Barhis placed around.” In explaining this sense, the words…

…vary somewhat in exact phrasing but little in overall sense. Grassmann: “of one who has spread the Sacrificial grass”; Monier Williams: “one who has gathered and spread the Sacrificial grass” — both take this as describing the ritvij who spreads the kusha-grass. Sayanacharya himself, in other mantras (6-68-1; 8-36-1), confirms this same ritvij-sense for “vṛktabarhiṣaḥ.”

---

“Rudravartanī” — this word is fully unaccented at Rigveda Samhita 1-3-3; 8-22-1; 10-39-11, and middle-udātta at 8-22-14:

> आयातं रुद्रवर्तनी । (ऋ. सं. १-३-३) āyātaṃ rudravartanī | (ṛ. saṃ. 1-3-3)
>
> युवमश्विना सुहवा रुद्रवर्तनी आ सूर्यायै तस्थतुः । (ऋ. सं. ८-२२-१) yuvamaśvinā suhavā rudravartanī ā sūryāyai tasthatuḥ | (ṛ. saṃ. 8-22-1)
>
> युवमश्विना सुहवा रुद्रवर्तनी पुरोरथं कृणुथः पत्न्या सह । (ऋ. सं. १०-३९-११) yuvamaśvinā suhavā rudravartanī puroratha kṛṇuthaḥ patnyā saha | (ṛ. saṃ. 10-39-11)
>
> ताविद्दोषा ता उषसि शुभस्पती ता यामन्रुद्रवर्तनी । (ऋ. सं. ८-२२-१४) tāviddoṣā tā uṣasi śubhaspatī tā yāmanrudravartanī | (ṛ. saṃ. 8-22-14)

This word occurs only in these four mantras and nowhere else, always as a qualifier of the Ashvins — never of any other deity. Since it applies only to the Ashvins, whether the Bhashyakara’s offered sense truly captures its original meaning remains genuinely uncertain — but since no better-supported alternative is available, his reading must be accepted.

The Bhashyakara, explaining the word “rudra” itself, gives this derivation: “so ’rodīd yad arodīt tad rudrasya rudratvam” (Taittirīya Saṃhitā 1-5-1) — “he wept/roared, and hence came the name Rudra” — that is, warriors who make the enemy weep may themselves be called “Rudra.” “Rudravartanī” thus means “those who walk the path of heroes" or "followers of the heroes' path." Grassmann, following the root "rud" (to shine), glosses "Rudra" as "Brilliant" — radiant; on this reading, "Rudravartanī" would mean "those who travel on a brilliant, that is, excellent, path." Alternatively, the Rigveda also knows Rudra as a specific, distinct deity, whose nature — wrathful, slaying and harming enemies — is described in many Rudra-suktas. This raises the natural question of whether "Rudravartanī" instead means "following the path of that deity Rudra," that is, "destroyers of enemies." It is therefore not possible to state with certainty which sense this word actually carried at the time.

Page 30 — Sūkta 3, The Fourth Mantra (Opening the Indra Group)

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥

(This section works through the grammatical derivation of "dasrā" as a vocative-adjacent form, "yuvāku" and "mitra-bhavati" relationships, "upasargāc chandasi" accent rules, and the derivation of "Rudra" itself from the root meaning "to roar/weep" (Taittirīya Saṃhitā 1-5-1) versus alternate readings, in the established dense sutra-citation register. Characterized here rather than transcribed line-by-line, consistent with standing practice. This closes the full apparatus for Rik 3.3, completing the three-verse Ashvin group that opens this sukta.)

॥३॥

---

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

इन्द्रा याहि चित्रभानो सुता इमे त्वायवः । अण्वीभिस्तना पूतासः ॥४॥

indrā́ yāhi citrabhāno sutā́ imé tvāyávaḥ | áṇvībhistánā pūtā́saḥ ||4||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

इन्द्र । आ । याहि । चित्रभानो इति चित्रऽभानो । सुताः । इमे । त्वायवः ॥ अण्वीभिः । तना । पूतासः ॥४॥

(This opens the second group of three Riks within this sukta — mantras 4–6, addressed to Indra. Sayana's commentary and full apparatus follow on the next page.)

(Printed references in the grammar at the head of this page (close of Rk 3.3), in order: Pā. 6-1-198; Pā. 3-3-57; Pā. 6-3-73; Pā. 6-3-75; Pā. 6-2-1; Pā. 81 [as printed]; Pā. 8-1-19 (Oct 2026 numeral pass).)

Page 31 — Sūkta 3, Fourth Mantra: Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya

(Source note: in this scan the Sanskrit bhāṣya is printed in Kannada script. It is rendered below into Devanagari and IAST letter by letter from the page image. Where the print is blurred or looks irregular, the reading is bracketed with [?] rather than corrected from memory.)

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

चित्रभानो चित्रदीप्ते हे इन्द्र अस्मिन्कर्मण्या याहि । आगच्छ । सुता अभिषुता इमे सोमास्त्वायवस्त्वां कामयमाना वर्तन्ते । अण्वीभिः । अग्रुव इत्यादिषु द्वाविंशतिसंख्याकेष्वङ्गुलिनामसु अण्व्य इति पठितम् । ऋत्विजामङ्गुलिभिः सुता इत्यन्वयः । किंच । एते सोमास्तना नित्यं पूतासः पूता शुद्धा दशापवित्रेण बहुधा शोधितत्वात् । citrabhāno citradīpte he indra asmin karmaṇy ā yāhi | āgaccha | sutā abhiṣutā ime somās tvāyavas tvāṃ kāmayamānā vartante | aṇvībhiḥ | agruva ity ādiṣu dvāviṃśati-saṃkhyākeṣv aṅguli-nāmasu aṇvya iti paṭhitam | ṛtvijām aṅgulibhiḥ sutā ity anvayaḥ | kiṃca | ete somās tanā nityaṃ pūtāsaḥ pūtā śuddhā daśā-pavitreṇa bahudhā śodhitatvāt |

Translation: "'Citrabhāno' — O one of wondrous radiance, O Indra! Come ('yāhi' = 'āgaccha') to this rite. These Soma-juices that are 'sutāḥ' (pressed out) stand here 'tvāyavaḥ' — desiring you. 'Aṇvībhiḥ' — in the list of twenty-two finger-names beginning 'agruvaḥ' (the Nighaṇṭu list), 'aṇvyaḥ' is also read; the construction is 'pressed by the fingers of the priests.' Further, these Soma-juices are 'tanā' (continually) 'pūtāsaḥ' — purified, cleansed, since they have been filtered many times through the 'daśā-pavitra' (the woollen cloth with its fringe of threads)."

(Note: the second "tanā" is taken by the Bhāṣya as "nityam," "constantly"; the sentence "tanā nityaṃ pūtāsaḥ" is read in the print as shown.)

The Nirukta's etymologies of "Indra." The Bhāṣya now cites Yāska (Nirukta 10-8):

इन्द्रशब्दं यास्को बहुधा निर्वक्ति । इन्द्र इरां दृणातीति वेरां ददातीति वेरां दधातीति वेरां दारयतीति वेरां धारयतीति वेन्दवे द्रवतीति वेन्दौ रमत इति वेन्द्धे भूतानीति वा तद्यदेनं प्राणैः समैन्धंस्तदिन्द्रस्येन्द्रत्वमिति विज्ञायत इदंकरणादित्याग्रायण इदं दर्शनादित्यौपमन्यव इदन्तेर्वैश्वर्यकर्मण इञ्छत्रूणां दारयिता वा द्रावयिता वादरयिता च यज्वनाम् । नि. १०-८ । indra-śabdaṃ yāsko bahudhā nirvakti | indra irāṃ dṛṇātīti verāṃ dadātīti verāṃ dadhātīti verāṃ dārayatīti verāṃ dhārayatīti vendave dravatīti vendauramata iti vendhe bhūtānīti vā tad yad enaṃ prāṇaiḥ samaindhaṃs tad indrasyendratvam iti vijñāyata idaṃ-karaṇād ity āgrāyaṇa idaṃ darśanād ity aupamanyava idanter vaiśvarya-karmaṇa iñ chatrūṇāṃ dārayitā vā drāvayitā vādarayitā ca yajvanām | ni. 10-8 |

*(Reading note: the clause after "karmaṇa" is printed "ᵢₙ̃ᵢ̃ᵢ̃ᵢ

इति । अस्यायमर्थः । दृ विदारण इति धातुः । इरामन्नमुद्दिश्य तन्निष्पादकजलसिद्ध्यर्थं दृणाति मेघं विदीर्णं करोतीतीन्द्रः । डुदाञ् दान इति धातुः । इरामन्नं वृष्टिनिष्पादनेन ददातीतीन्द्रः । धाञ् पोषणार्थः । इरामन्नं तृप्तिकारणं सस्यं दधाति जलप्रदानेन पुष्णातीतीन्द्रः । इरामुत्पादयितुं कर्षकमुखेन भूमिं विदारयतीतीन्द्रः । पूर्वोक्तपोषणमुखेनेरां धारयति विनाशराहित्येन स्थापयतीतीन्द्रः । इन्दुः सोमो वल्लीरसः । तदर्थं यागभूमौ द्रवति धावतीतीन्द्रः । इन्दौ यथोक्ते सोमे रमते क्रीडतीतीन्द्रः । ञिइन्धी दीप्ताविति धातुः । भूतानि प्राणिदेहानिन्द्धे जीवचैतन्यरूपेणान्तः प्रविश्य दीपयतीतीन्द्रः । iti | asyāyam arthaḥ | dṛ vidāraṇa iti dhātuḥ | irām annam uddiśya tan-niṣpādaka-jala-siddhy-arthaṃ dṛṇāti megham vidīrṇaṃ karotīti indraḥ | ḍudāñ dāna iti dhātuḥ | irām annaṃ vṛṣṭi-niṣpādanena dadātīti indraḥ | dhāñ poṣaṇārthaḥ | irām annaṃ tṛpti-kāraṇaṃ sasyaṃ dadhāti jala-pradānena puṣṇātīti indraḥ | irām utpādayituṃ karṣaka-mukhena bhūmiṃ vidārayatīti indraḥ | pūrvokta-poṣaṇa-mukhenerāṃ dhārayati vināśa-rāhityena sthāpayatīti indraḥ | induḥ somo vallī-rasaḥ | tad-arthaṃ yāga-bhūmau dravati dhāvatīti indraḥ | indau yathokte some ramate krīḍatīti indraḥ | ñi-indhī dīptāv iti dhātuḥ | bhūtāni prāṇi-dehān indhe jīva-caitanya-rūpeṇāntaḥ praviśya dīpayatīti indraḥ |

Translation: "The sense of this is as follows. (1) The root is 'dṛ,' in the sense of splitting: aiming at irā (food), and for the sake of producing the water that produces it, he splits the cloud open — hence Indra. (2) The root is 'ḍudāñ,' to give: he gives irā, food, by bringing rain about — hence Indra. (3) The root is 'dhāñ,' for nourishing: he supports irā, food — the grain that is the cause of satiety — nourishing it by the gift of water — hence Indra. (4) To bring forth irā he splits the earth, by means of the ploughman — hence Indra. (5) By means of the nourishment mentioned above he sustains irā, he establishes it free from destruction — hence Indra. (6) 'Indu' is the Soma, the juice of the creeper: for its sake he runs, he hastens, to the ground of the sacrifice — hence Indra. (7) He delights, he plays, in the Soma, the 'indu' as described — hence Indra. (8) The root is 'ñi-indhī,' in the sense of kindling: he kindles living beings — the bodies of creatures — by entering within them in the form of life-consciousness — hence Indra."

एतदेवाभिप्रेत्य वाजसनेयिन आमनन्ति । इन्धो ह वै नाम्येष योऽयं दक्षिणेऽक्षन्पुरुषः । तं वा एतमिन्धं सन्तमिन्द्र इत्याचक्षते । परोक्षेण परोक्षप्रिया इव हि देवाः प्रत्यक्षद्विषः शत. ब्रा. १४-६-१०-२ । इति । तद्यदित्यादिकं ब्राह्मणान्तरवाक्यम् । तत्रेन्द्रविषये निर्वचनमुच्यत इति शेषः । etad evābhipretya vājasaneyina āmananti | indho ha vai nāmy eṣa yo'yaṃ dakṣiṇe'kṣan puruṣaḥ | taṃ vā etam indhaṃ santam indra ity ācakṣate | parokṣeṇa parokṣa-priyā iva hi devāḥ pratyakṣa-dviṣaḥ | śata. brā. 14-6-10-2 | iti | tad yad ity ādikaṃ brāhmaṇāntara-vākyam | tatra indra-viṣaye nirvacanam ucyata iti śeṣaḥ |

Translation: "With just this in view the Vājasaneyins (the White-Yajurveda school) declare: '"Indha" indeed is the name of this person who is here in the right eye; and him, though he is "Indha," they call "Indra" — by way of indirect speech; for the gods love the indirect, and are averse to the direct.' (Śatapatha Brāhmaṇa 14.6.10.2 [as read in the print]). The sentence beginning 'tad yad…' ('that which…') is from another Brāhmaṇa; the supplied sense is 'in it, an etymology concerning Indra is given.'"

(Note: "nāmy eṣa" is the print's reading as I could make it out; the sense, 'is the name — this one,' is not affected.)

यद्यस्मात्कारणादेनं परमात्मरूपमिन्द्रं देवं प्राणैर्वाक्चक्षुरादीन्द्रियैः प्राणापानादिवायुभिश्च सहितं समैन्धन्नुपासका ध्यानेन सम्यक् प्रकाशितवन्तस्तस्मात्कारणादिन्द्रनाम संपन्नम् — अस्मिन्पक्ष इध्यते दीप्यत इति कर्मणि व्युत्पत्तिः । आग्रायणनामको मुनिरिदंकरणादिन्द्र इति निर्वचनं मन्यते । इन्द्रो हि परमात्मरूपेणेदं जगत्करोति । औपमन्यवनामको मुनिरिदंदर्शनादिन्द्र इति निर्वचनमाह । इदमित्यापरोक्ष्यमुच्यते । विवेकेन हि परमात्मानमापरोक्ष्येण पश्यति । एतदेवाभिप्रेत्यारण्यककाण्डे समाम्नायते स एतमेव पुरुषं ब्रह्म ततमम् अपश्यदिदमदर्शमिती३ । तस्मादिदन्द्रो नामेदन्द्रो ह वै नाम तमिदन्द्रं सन्तमिन्द्र इत्याचक्षते परोक्षेण परोक्षप्रिया इव हि देवाः ऐ. आ. २-४-३ । इति । इदि परमैश्वर्य इति धातुः । स्वमायया जगद्रूपत्वं परमैश्वर्यम् । तद्योगादिन्द्रः । अनेनाभिप्रायेण श्रूयते । इन्द्रो... yad yasmāt kāraṇād enaṃ paramātma-rūpam indraṃ devaṃ prāṇair vāk-cakṣur-ādīndriyaiḥ prāṇāpānādi-vāyubhiś ca sahitaṃ samaindhann upāsakā dhyānena samyak prakāśitavantas tasmāt kāraṇād indra-nāma sampannam — asmin pakṣa idhyate dīpyata iti karmaṇi vyutpattiḥ | āgrāyaṇa-nāmako munir idaṃ-karaṇād indra iti nirvacanaṃ manyate | indro hi paramātma-rūpeṇedaṃ jagat karoti | aupamanyava-nāmako munir idaṃ-darśanād indra iti nirvacanam āha | idam ity āparokṣyam ucyate | vivekena hi paramātmānam āparokṣyeṇa paśyati | etad evābhipretyāraṇyaka-kāṇḍe samāmnāyate sa etam eva puruṣaṃ brahma tatamam apaśyad idam adarśam itī3 | tasmād idandro nāmedandro ha vai nāma tam idandraṃ santam indra ity ācakṣate parokṣeṇa parokṣa-priyā iva hi devāḥ | ai. ā. 2-4-3 | iti | idi paramaiśvarya iti dhātuḥ | sva-māyayā jagad-rūpatvaṃ paramaiśvaryam | tad-yogād indraḥ | anenābhiprāyeṇa śrūyate | indro...

Translation: "'Because the worshippers, by meditation, fully kindled this god Indra — whose form is the Supreme Self — together with the senses (vital breaths, speech, sight and the rest) and the vital airs (prāṇa, apāna and the rest), therefore the name "Indra" arose' — in this view ('asmin pakṣe') the derivation is in the passive: 'he is kindled, shines.' The sage named Āgrāyaṇa holds the etymology 'Indra, from idaṃ-karaṇa (making this)'; for Indra, in the form of the Supreme Self, makes this world. The sage named Aupamanyava gives the etymology 'Indra, from idaṃ-darśana (seeing this)'; 'idam' (this) here denotes direct, immediate vision — for through discrimination one sees the Supreme Self directly. With exactly this in view it is recited in the Āraṇyaka section: 'He beheld this very Person, Brahman, the all-pervading [?]: "I have seen this!" (— and so on). Therefore he is "Idandra" by name; "Idandra" indeed is his name; and him, though he is "Idandra," they call "Indra" — by indirect speech; for the gods love the indirect' (Aitareya Āraṇyaka 2.4.3 [as read in the print]). The root 'idi' means 'supreme lordship'; the supreme lordship is the becoming-the-world of him by his own māyā; by connection with this he is Indra. With this intention it is heard: 'Indra...'" (continues on the next page)

Page 32 — Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya concluded; Pada-meanings; Bhāvārtha; English rendering

(Page header: "Mandala 1, Anuvāka 1, Sūkta 3." Continuing from the previous page, where the Bhāṣya was quoting "indro...".)

इन्द्रो मायाभिः पुरुरूप ईयते ऋग्वे. ६-४७-१८ । इति इनशब्दस्येश्वरवाचकस्याकारलोपे सति नकारान्तमिन्निति पदं भवति । द्वा [sic: दृ ?] भये इति धातुः । स च परमेश्वरः शत्रूणां दारयित्वा भीषयितेतीन्द्रः । द्रु गताविति धातुः । शत्रूणां द्रावयित्वा पलायनं प्रापयितेतीन्द्रः । यज्वनां योगानुष्ठायिनामादरयिता भयस्य परिहर्ता । एवमेतानि निर्वचनानि द्रष्टव्यानीति । indro māyābhiḥ

pururūpa īyate | ṛgve. 6-47-18 | iti ina-śabdasyeśvara-vācakasyākāra-lope sati nakārāntam in iti padaṃ bhavati | dvā [sic: dṛ ?] bhaye iti dhātuḥ | sa ca parameśvaraḥ śatrūṇāṃ dārayitvā bhīṣayitety indraḥ | dru gatāv iti dhātuḥ | śatrūṇāṃ drāvayitvā palāyanaṃ prāpayitety indraḥ | yajvanāṃ yogānuṣṭhāyinām ādarayitā bhayasya parihartā | evam etāni nirvacanāni draṣṭavyānīti |

Translation: "'Indra goes forth in many forms by his māyās' (Ṛgveda 6.47.18). Here the word 'ina,' denoting the Lord, on losing its 'a' becomes the word 'in,' ending in n. (9) The root is 'dvā [sic; the root meant is probably dṛ]' in the sense of fear: that Supreme Lord, tearing the enemies apart, frightens them — hence Indra. (10) The root is 'dru,' in the sense of going: he makes the enemies run, brings them to flight — hence Indra. (11) He is the honourer of the sacrificers who practise yoga, and the one who carries them across fear. In this way these etymologies are to be understood."

(Reading notes: the Ṛgveda reference is read from the print as "6-47-18"; the print's root-name before "bhaye" is unclear — "dṛ" is my best reading, and the sense is not affected.)

॥ Vyākaraṇa notes within the Bhāṣya ॥ (short; transcribed in full)

इन्द्रेत्यत्रामन्त्रिताद्युदात्तत्वम् । आ इत्यत्र निपातत्वेनाद्युदात्तः । चित्रभानो । पदात्परत्वादामन्त्रितनिघातः । त्वामिच्छन्तीत्यर्थे युष्मच्छब्दात्सुप आत्मनः क्यच् । पा. सू. ३-१-८ । प्रत्ययोत्तरपदयोश्च । पा. ७-२-९८ । इति मपर्यन्तस्य त्वादेशः । क्याच्छन्दसि । पा. ३-२-१७० । इति क्यजन्तादुप्रत्ययः । त्वत्य इति प्राप्ते युष्मदस्मदोरनादेशे पा. ७-२-८६ । इत्यविभक्तावपि हलादौ व्यत्ययेनात्त्वम् । उकारः प्रत्ययस्वरेणाद्युदात्तः । अणुशब्दः सौक्ष्म्यवाचकस्तद्योगात्प्रकृतेऽङ्गुलीषु वर्तते । वोतो गुणवचनात् । पा. ४-१-४४ । इति ङीषि प्राप्ते व्यत्ययेन ङीन् । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । तना इत्ययं निपातो नित्यमित्यर्थे निपातत्वादाद्युदात्तः । पूतासः । आज्ञसेरसुक् । पा. ७-१-५० । इत्यसुक् ।
indretyatrāmantritādyudāttatvam | ā ity atra nipātatvenādyudāttaḥ | citrabhāno | padāt paratvād āmantrita-nighātaḥ | tvām icchantīty arthe yuṣmac-chabdāt sup ātmanaḥ kyac | pā. sū. 3-1-8 | pratyayottarapadayoś ca | pā. 7-2-98 | iti ma-paryantasya tvādeśaḥ | kyāc chandasi | pā. 3-2-170 | iti kyajantād u-pratyayaḥ | tvatya iti prāpte yuṣmadasmador anādeśe pā. 7-2-86 | ity avibhaktāv api halādau vyatyayenātvam | ukāraḥ pratyaya-svareṇādyudāttaḥ | aṇu-śabdaḥ saukṣmya-vācakas tad-yogāt prakṛte 'ṅgulīṣu vartate | voto guṇavacanāt | pā. 4-1-44 | iti ṅīṣi prāpte vyatyayena ṅīn | nittvād ādyudāttaḥ | tanā ity ayaṃ nipāto nityam ity arthe nipātatvād ādyudāttaḥ | pūtāsaḥ | āj-jaser asuk | pā. 7-1-50 | ity asuk |

Translation: "In 'indra' (here a vocative) the first syllable is acute by the vocative rule. 'Ā' is a particle (nipāta), hence acute on its first syllable. 'Citrabhāno' — because it follows another word, the vocative loses its accent (nighāta). 'Tvāyavaḥ' — in the sense 'those who desire you': from the word 'yuṣmad,' the affix 'kyac' after a 'sup'-ending word in the sense of 'one's own wish' (Pāṇini 3.1.8); the substitute 'tva' replaces the stem up to its 'm' (Pāṇini 7.2.98 'pratyayottarapadayoś ca'); then, by 'kyāc chandasi' (Pāṇini 3.2.170), the affix 'u' after a word ending in 'kyac'; where 'tvatya…' would be obtained, the 'a'-substitution takes place by vyatyaya (Vedic licence) even before a non-case-affix beginning with a consonant, per Pā. 7.2.86. The 'u' is acute by the accent of the affix. — 'Aṇvī': the word 'aṇu' denotes fineness; through that association it is applied to the fingers in the present context. Where, by Pā. 4.1.44 ("vāto guṇavacanāt"), the feminine affix ṅīṣ would be expected, 'ṅīn' appears by vyatyaya; since it carries the mark ‘n,’ the first syllable is acute. ‘Tanā’ is a particle with the sense ‘constantly’; being a particle, first-syllable acute. ‘Pūtāsaḥ’ — the augment ‘asuk’ after the ‘jas’ ending, by Pā. 7.1.50 (‘ājjaser asuk’).”

(Reading note, revised at p. 38: at first I read the opening of this sūtra as “voko”; the clearer larger print on p. 38 reads “voto guṇavacanāt” (Pā. 4-1-44), and the text above has been changed to that.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

चित्रभानो (citrabhāno) — O Indra, who shine with a wonderful, marvellous radiance | आ याहि (ā yāhi) — come (to this sacrificial altar which we are performing) | त्वायवः (tvāyavaḥ) — that which you desire (or: which is dear to you) | इमे सुताः (ime sutāḥ) — these Soma-juices (those extracted by crushing the Soma creeper) | अण्वीभिः (aṇvībhiḥ) — by the fingers (of the priests) (or: by the cloth called the “daśā-pavitra,” with which Soma-juice is filtered) | तना (tanā) — always | पूतासः (pūtāsaḥ) — having been purified, are fit to be drunk.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

O Indra, who shine with wondrous splendour! The priests have prepared the Soma-juice that is dear to you (or, “for your sake”) — filtering it well with their fingers (or with a cloth like a fine net), so that it is fit for drinking. To drink that Soma-juice, may you come to this sacrificial altar of ours.

English Translation (printed in English in the source itself):

“Come hither, O Indra, of wonderful splendour; these libations of soma juice, ever pure, expressed by the fingers of the priests are deserious [sic — the source’s own misprint, evidently for ‘desirous’] of you.”

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

This Rik and the following two are an “aindra-stṛcaḥ” — that is, a tṛca (triplet) related to Indra: three mantras that praise Indra.

Page 33 — Kannada commentary: the etymologies of “Indra” (opening)

(Page header: “Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 5 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā.” From here the page is the Kannada commentary, which re-lists Yāska’s and Sāyaṇa’s etymologies one by one. The Sanskrit lemmas it quotes repeat what was already transcribed on pp. 31–32 and are given here in short form, in all three layers.)

इन्द्र (indra) — The Bhāṣyakāra, when explaining the derivation of the word “Indra,” cites Yāska’s Nirukta: “इन्द्र इरां दृणातीति वेरां ददातीति वेरां दधातीति वेरां दारयतीति वेरां धारयतीति वेन्दवे द्रवतीति वेन्दौ रमत इति वेन्द्धे भूतानीति वा तद्यदेनं प्राणैः समैन्धंस्तदिन्द्रस्येन्द्रत्वमिति विज्ञायत इदंकरणादित्याग्रायण इदं दर्शनादित्यौपमन्यव इन्दर्वैश्वर्यकर्मण इभ्रूणां [?] दारयिता वा द्रावयिता वादरयिता च यज्वनाम् । इति ॥ नि. १०-८ ॥” (indra irāṃ dṛṇātīti verāṃ dadātīti verāṃ dadhātīti verāṃ dārayatīti verāṃ dhārayatīti vendave dravatīti vendau ramata iti vendhe bhūtānīti vā tad yad

enaṃ prāṇaiḥ samaindhaṃs tad indrasyendratvam iti vijñāyata idaṃ-karaṇād ity āgrāyaṇa idaṃ darśanād ity aupamanyava inder vaiśvarya-karmaṇa ibhrūtrūṇāṃ [?] dārayitā vā drāvayitā vādarayitā ca yajvanām | iti || ni. 10-8 ||) — The commentator himself then gives the sense of this, as follows.

(Reading note: the same unclear stretch — "…karmaṇa ibhrū-trūṇāṃ…" — appears here as on p. 31, in slightly different letter-forms. Since it recurs in both places, it looks like a printing/ligature problem in the source rather than a one-off blur; I leave it flagged and unrestored.)

(1) "dṛ vidāraṇe iti dhātuḥ | irām annam uddiśya tan-niṣpādaka-jala-siddhy-arthaṃ dṛṇāti megham vidīrṇaṃ karotīti indraḥ" (दृ विदारण इति धातुः । इरामन्नमुद्दिश्य तन्निष्पादकजलसिद्ध्यर्थं दृणाति मेघं विदीर्णं करोतीतीन्द्रः) — The root "dṛ" means to tear, to cut. "Irā" means food (āhāra); we obtain it from plants and trees — that is, from the plant kingdom. For that plant kingdom to grow, water is necessary. For the sake of that water — that is, for rain to fall — he cuts open the cloud (with lightning, the thunderbolt-weapon). Because he does so, the name "Indra" arose.

(2) "ḍudāñ dāna iti dhātuḥ | irām annaṃ vṛṣṭi-niṣpādanena dadātīti indraḥ" (डुदाञ् दान इति धातुः । इरामन्नं वृष्टिनिष्पादनेन ददातीतीन्द्रः) — The root "dā" means to give. "Irā" means food. Because he gives food by means of rain, he is called Indra.

(3) "dhāñ poṣaṇārthaḥ | irām annaṃ tṛpti-kāraṇaṃ sasyaṃ dadhāti jala-pradānena puṣṇātīti indraḥ" (धाञ् पोषणार्थः । इरामन्नं तृप्तिकारणं सस्यं दधाति जलप्रदानेन पुष्णातीतीन्द्रः) — The root "dhā" means to nourish. Because he nourishes the crops and the like that yield food, by the gift of water (rain), he is called Indra.

(4) "irām utpādayituṃ karṣaka-mukhena bhūmiṃ vidārayatīti indraḥ" (इरामुत्पादयितुं कर्षकमुखेन भूमिं विदारयतीतीन्द्रः) — For food to be produced, the land must be ploughed. While the land is being ploughed, he makes it split open by the plough and makes it favourable to the crop. Because he does this, he is called Indra.

(5) "pūrvokta-poṣaṇa-mukhenerāṃ dhārayati vināśa-rāhityena sthāpayatīti indraḥ" (पूर्वोक्तपोषणमुखेनेरां धारयति विनाशराहित्येन स्थापयतीतीन्द्रः) — As said before, having nourished the crops and the like, he becomes their protector, so that they do not perish. Because of this, he is called Indra.

(6) "induḥ somo vallī-rasaḥ | tad-arthaṃ yāga-bhūmau dravati dhāvatīti indraḥ" (इन्दुः सोमो वल्लीरसः । तदर्थं यागभूमौ द्रवति धावतीतीन्द्रः) — "Indu" means the Soma-juice prepared from the Soma creeper. (The sentence continues on the next page: for the sake of that Soma, he runs to the sacrificial ground.)

Page 34 — Kannada commentary: etymologies of "Indra" (continued)

(Page header: "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Mandala 1, Anuvāka 1, Sūkta 3." Correction note: this page prints the clause "prāṇair vāk-cakṣur-ādīndriyaiḥ" legibly; on p. 31 the first word of that clause was blurred and was provisionally read "pāṇyaiḥ [?]". The p. 31 text has been corrected in place to "prāṇaiḥ," as it is the one reading the clearer print supports.)

(Continuation of (6):) … "Having come, hastening — running swiftly — to such a place, for the sake of drinking the Soma, he is called Indra."

(7) "indau yathokte some ramate krīḍatīti indraḥ" (इन्दौ यथोक्ते सोमे रमते क्रीडतीतीन्द्रः) — Because he, satisfied by the Soma-juice just described, disports himself in delight, he is called Indra.

(8) "ñi-indhī dīptāv iti dhātuḥ | bhūtāni prāṇi-dehān indhe jīva-caitanya-rūpeṇāntaḥ praviśya dīpayatīti indraḥ" (ञिइन्धी दीप्ताविति धातुः । भूतानि प्राणिदेहानिन्द्धे जीवचैतन्यरूपेणान्तः प्रविश्य दीपयतीतीन्द्रः) — The root "indh" means to shine, to illumine. Entering the bodies of living beings in the form of consciousness (caitanya), and impelling them to do each of their own deeds, he shines within them; hence he is called Indra.

(9) "yad yasmāt kāraṇād enaṃ paramātma-rūpam indraṃ devaṃ prāṇair vāk-cakṣur-ādīndriyaiḥ prāṇāpānādi-vāyubhiś ca sahitaṃ samaindhann upāsakā dhyānena samyak prakāśitavantas tasmāt kāraṇād indra-nāma sampannam" (यद्यस्मात्कारणादेनं परमात्मरूपमिन्द्रं देवं प्राणैर्वाक्चक्षुरादीन्द्रियैः प्राणापानादिवायुभिश्च सहितं समैन्धन्नुपासका ध्यानेन सम्यक्प्रकाशितवन्तस्तस्मात्कारणादिन्द्रनाम संपन्नम्) — Because worshippers, in meditation, bring this god — whose form is the Supreme Self — to shine forth well, as joined with the vital breaths, with the senses of speech, sight and the rest, and with the vital airs prāṇa, apāna and the rest, the name "Indra" came about.

(10) "āgrāyaṇa-nāmako munir idaṃ-karaṇād indra iti nirvacanaṃ manyate | indro hi paramātma-rūpeṇedaṃ jagat karoti" (आग्रायणनामको मुनिरिदंकरणादिन्द्र इति निर्वचनं मन्यते । इन्द्रो हि परमात्मरूपेणेदं जगत्करोति) — "Idaṃ-karaṇa" ("making this") means: in the form of the Supreme Self, Indra creates (brings forth) this world; and so, says the sage named Āgrāyaṇa, this god received the name Indra.

(11) "aupamanyava-nāmako munir idaṃ-darśanād indra iti nirvacanam āha | idam ity āparokṣyam ucyate" (औपमन्यवनामको मुनिरिदंदर्शनादिन्द्र इति निर्वचनमाह । इदमित्यापरोक्ष्यमुच्यते) — The sage named Aupamanyava says that, because he sees "idam" — that is, everything — the name Indra came about. Here "idam" means "āparokṣya": what is directly present, plain before the eyes (pratyakṣa), as opposed to hidden. (The commentary adds:) it is precisely for this reason that the Śruti says "parokṣa-priyā iva hi devāḥ" (परोक्षप्रिया इव हि देवाः — "the gods are fond of the indirect, as it were").

(12) "idi paramaiśvarya iti dhātuḥ | sva-māyayā jagad-rūpatvaṃ paramaiśvaryam | tad-yogād indraḥ" (इदि परमैश्वर्य इति धातुः । स्वमायया जगद्रूपत्वं परमैश्वर्यं । तद्योगादिन्द्रः) — The root "idi" carries the sense "supreme lordship." This god, through his own māyā, has the supreme lordship of taking the form of the world… (continues on the next page)

Page 35 — Etymologies of "Indra" concluded; the word "citrabhānu" begins

(Correction note: on p. 32 the last etymology's closing word was provisionally read "paripartā"; this page prints it plainly as "parihartā" ("remover of fear"), and p. 32 has been corrected in place.)

(Continuation of (12):) … "…which is the supreme lordship; hence this god is named Indra. This sense is supported by the Vedic sentence 'indro māyābhiḥ pururūpa īyate' (इन्द्रो मायाभिः पुरुरूप ईयते — 'Indra goes about in many forms by his māyās,' Ṛg. Saṃ. 6-47-18)."

(13) "ina-śabdasyeśvara-vācakasyākāra-lope sati nakārāntam in iti padaṃ bhavati | dṛ bhaye iti dhātuḥ | sa ca parameśvaraḥ śatrūṇāṃ dārayitā bhīṣayitety indraḥ" (इनशब्दस्येश्वरवाचकस्याकारलोपे सति नकारान्तमिन्निति पदं भवति । दृ भये इति धातुः । स च परमेश्वरः शत्रूणां दारयिता भीषयितेतीन्द्रः) — The word "ina" denotes the Lord. When the "a" following the "n" of this word "ina" is dropped, the form "in" remains. The root (read here as "dṛ") means fear. That god, being the Supreme Lord, frightens the enemies; hence his name Indra.

(14) "dru gatāv iti dhātuḥ | śatrūṇāṃ drāvayitā palāyanaṃ prāpayitety indraḥ" (द्रु गताविति धातुः । शत्रूणां द्रावयिता पलायनं प्रापयितेतीन्द्रः) — The root "dru" means going — that is, to go, to run away. This god makes enemies flee; hence he is named Indra.

(15) "yajvanāṃ yogānuṣṭhāyināṃ ādarayitā bhayasya parihartā" (यज्वनां योगानुष्ठायिनामादरयिता भयस्य परिहर्ता) — Because he honours those who worship him with sacrifices and the like (and who practise yoga), and removes their fear, this god is named Indra.

In just this fashion many more etymologies of the word "Indra" may be devised.

चित्रभानो (citrabhāno) — The Bhāṣyakāra, Skandasvāmī, Veṅkaṭamādhava and the Western scholars as well all explain this word as "one who shines with a wondrous (vicitra) or astonishing radiance." There is no notable difference of opinion among them. The word "citrabhānu" is used with reference to the deities Agni, Indra, Savitṛ and the Maruts. The Ṛks containing the word are given below.

(The source prints these citations without translation. The short English glosses are mine, based on the Devanagari read from the page; where a letter or a reference-number was not clear in the print it is marked [?].)

> विभक्तासि चित्रभानो सिन्धोरूर्मा उ पाके आ । (ऋ. सं. १-२७-६) vibhaktāsi citrabhāno sindhor ūrmā u pāke ā | (ṛ. saṃ. 1-27-6) Gloss: "O wondrously radiant one, you are the apportioner (distributor) … like the wave of the river, near at hand." [tentative]
>
> तं त्वा घृतस्नवीमहे चित्रभानो स्वर्दृशम् । (ऋ. सं. ५-२६-२) taṃ tvā ghṛtasnavīmahe citrabhāno svar-dṛśam | (ṛ. saṃ. 5-26-2) Gloss: "Thee, O wondrously radiant one, who seest the heaven (or: art seen in heaven), we, with ghee-streams, entreat." [tentative]
>
> तं त्वा यमो अचिकेच्चित्रभानो दशान्तरुष्यादतिरोचमानम् । (ऋ. सं. १०-५१-३) taṃ tvā yamo acikec citrabhāno daśāntar uṣyād atirocamānam | (ṛ. saṃ. 10-51-3) Gloss: "Thee, O wondrously radiant one — Yama made known (to the gods) … thee who shinest forth exceedingly." [tentative; the middle phrase "daśāntar uṣyāt" is not rendered with confidence]
>
> समनं चिददहश्चित्रभानोऽव व्राधन्तमभिनद्वृधश्चित् । (ऋ. सं. १०-६९-११) samanaṃ cid adahaś citrabhāno 'va vrādhantam abhinad vṛdhaś cit | (ṛ. saṃ. 10-69-11) Gloss: not attempted with confidence — the printed words, as I read them, do not yield a sure sense; I give the text only. [?]

श्रूया अग्निश्चित्रभानुर्हवं मे विश्वाभिर्गीर्भिरमृतो विचेताः । (ऋ. सं. २-१०-२) śrūyā agniś citrabhānur havaṃ me viśvābhir gīrbhir amṛto vicetāḥ | (ṛ. saṃ. 2-10-2) Gloss: "…Agni, the wondrously radiant, immortal, all-discerning, [hearken] to my call, with all my songs." [tentative; the opening word, re-read from the better scan, is śrūyā (श्रूया), "may (Agni) hear"]

चित्रभानुरुषसां भात्यग्रेऽपां गर्भः प्रस्व१ आ विवेश । (ऋ. सं. ७-९-३) citrabhānur uṣasāṃ bhāty agre 'pāṃ garbhaḥ prasva ā viveśa | (ṛ. saṃ. 7-9-3) Gloss: "The wondrously radiant one shines at the head of the dawns; the embryo of the waters, he has entered into the child-bearing [creatures/plants?]." [tentative]

Page 36 — "citrabhānu" citations concluded; word-notes on "sutāḥ," "tvāyavaḥ," "aṇvībhiḥ," "tanā" (opening)

(Page header: "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā · Mandala 1, Anuvāka 1, Sūkta 3." The glosses below are mine; the source prints these citations without translation. [?] marks a letter or reference-number not clearly legible.)

चित्रभानुं रोदसी अन्तरुर्वी स्वाहुतं विश्वतः प्रत्यञ्चम् । (ऋ. सं. ७-१२-१) citrabhānuṃ rodasī antar urvī svāhutaṃ viśvataḥ pratyañcam | (ṛ. saṃ. 7-12-1) Gloss: "Agni, the wondrously radiant, within the two wide worlds (heaven and earth), well-oblated, facing in every direction." [tentative]

मन्द्रं होतारमृत्विजं चित्रभानुं विभावसुम् । (ऋ. सं. ८-४४-६) mandraṃ hotāram ṛtvijaṃ citrabhānuṃ vibhāvasum | (ṛ. saṃ. 8-44-6) Gloss: "The gladdening Hotṛ, the priest, the wondrously radiant, the shining-wealthy one." [tentative]

In these Ṛks the word "citrabhānu" praises Agni.

आस्थाद्रथं सविता चित्रभानुः कृष्णा रजांसि तविषीं दधानः । (ऋ. सं. १-३५-४) āsthād rathaṃ savitā citrabhānuḥ kṛṣṇā rajāṃsi taviṣīṃ dadhānaḥ | (ṛ. saṃ. 1-35-4) Gloss: "Savitṛ, wondrously radiant, has mounted his chariot, bearing power over the dark realms."

Here the word is an adjective of the deity Savitṛ.

महिषासो मायिनश्चित्रभानवो गिरयो न स्वतवसो रघुष्यदः । (ऋ. सं. १-६४-२) mahiṣāso māyinaś citrabhānavo girayo na svatavaso raghuṣyadaḥ | (ṛ. saṃ. 1-64-2) Gloss: "Mighty, possessed of māyā, wondrously radiant, like mountains self-strong, swift-gliding."

आ गच्छन्तीमवसा चित्रभानवः कामं विप्रस्य तर्पयन्त धामभिः । (ऋ. सं. १-८५-११) ā gacchantīm avasā citrabhānavaḥ kāmaṃ viprasya tarpayanta dhāmabhiḥ | (ṛ. saṃ. 1-85-11) Gloss: "The wondrously radiant ones, coming with their aid, satisfy the sage's desire with their powers."

Here the word "citrabhānavaḥ" refers to the Marut deities.

सुताः (sutāḥ) — The word "sutāḥ" means "pressed out, extracted." सोमाः (somāḥ) — the words "Soma-juices" must be supplied (adhyāhāra).

त्वायवः (tvāyavaḥ) — This word is the nominative plural and is an adjective of "sutāḥ." Here "tvā" means "yuṣmat" ("your / belonging to you").

अण्वीभिः (aṇvībhiḥ) — This word, which ends in the instrumental plural, is used only in this Ṛk. (The print says "caturthī-bahuvacana-anta"— "ending in the dative plural" — but "-bhiḥ" is the instrumental plural; this is evidently a slip in the source and is recorded here, not corrected silently.) Among the twenty-two words that denote "aṅguli" (finger), the word "aṇvī" is read (Nighaṇṭu 2-5 [print: "ni. 2-5"]). The Bhāṣyakāra and the others also all explain this word as "fingers." Because the word is derived from "aṇu" (very small, fine), some think that the word means "a cloth with many fine openings — a net — used to strain the Soma." But when the Soma creeper is crushed with the stones (grāvāṇa), fingers must be used in straining it; so to say "aṇvībhiḥ sutāḥ" — "the juice extracted with the fingers" — is right. Moreover, since "pūtāsaḥ" already carries the sense "purified," "purified with fingers" and "purified with a net-like cloth" are equally fitting. This is why some accept the sense "with a net-like cloth" for "aṇvībhiḥ." But because the Nirukta states plainly that "aṇvī" is a word for the fingers, this sense in particular is to be accepted.

तना (tanā) — The Bhāṣyakāra calls this word an indeclinable (avyaya) and gives it the sense "always" (yāvāgalū). Apart from that sense, different senses are given in different places. Skanda[svāmī]… (continues on the next page)

Page 37 — "tanā" (Skandasvāmī and Soma-passages); "pūtāsaḥ"; Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā begins

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 5 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." Reference-numbers in the verse citations below were printed in small Kannada numerals; where I could not be sure of a digit, the reference is marked [?]. The English glosses are mine; the source gives none for these.)

(Continuing the note on "tanā" from p. 36:) … Skandasvāmī, when giving the meaning of this word, says:

> तनाशब्दो दशापवित्रवचनः । अण्वीभिर्दशापवित्रेण च पूताः । हस्तेन दशापवित्रमादाय पूता इत्यर्थः ॥
> tanā-śabdo daśā-pavitra-vacanaḥ | aṇvībhir daśā-pavitreṇa ca pūtāḥ | hastena daśā-pavitram ādāya pūtā ity arthaḥ ||

Translation: "The word 'tanā' denotes the daśā-pavitra (the fringed straining-cloth). (The Soma-juices are) purified both by the fingers and by the daśā-pavitra; the meaning is 'purified by taking the daśā-pavitra in the hand.'"

That is, the word "tanā" has the name "daśā-pavitra" (a cloth like a net, used for straining the Soma). Hence the sentence "aṇvībhis tanā pūtāsaḥ" is said to mean "purified by the fingers taking up the cloth and cleansing [the juice]." This sense alone is apt. Although "tanā" has many possible senses, it is most fitting to take "daśā-pavitra" when the word is used in connection with Soma-juice. On this point we give some examples from the Ninth Maṇḍala, where the usages concern Soma:

> वारेण शश्वता तना । (ऋ. सं. ९-१-६) vāreṇa śaśvatā tanā | (ṛ. saṃ. 9-1-6) Gloss: "through the ever-[lasting] sieve (of wool), the 'tanā'."

त्वं सोम विपश्चितं तना पुनान आयुषु । (ऋ. सं. ९-१६-८) tvaṃ soma vipaścitaṃ tanā punāna āyuṣu | (ṛ. saṃ. 9-16-8) Gloss: “You, O Soma, being purified through the ‘tanā,’ among the (human) tribes, [make] the wise one…” [tentative; the middle of the line is not rendered with confidence]

प्र सुवानो धारया तनेन्दुर्हिन्वानो अर्षति । (ऋ. सं. ९-३४-१) pra suvāno dhārayā tanendur hinvāno arṣati | (ṛ. saṃ. 9-34-1) Gloss: “Pressed, the Soma-drop, being impelled, flows forth in a stream through the ‘tanā.’”

सहस्रधारो योत् तना । (ऋ. सं. ९-५२-२) sahasra-dhāro yot tanā | (ṛ. saṃ. 9-52-2) Gloss: not attempted — the word “yot” is doubtful as printed.

आययोस्त्रिंशतं तना सहस्राणि च दद्महे । (ऋ. सं. ९-५८-४) āyayos triṃśataṃ tanā sahasrāṇi ca dadmahe | (ṛ. saṃ. 9-58-4) Gloss: “…thirty… through the ‘tanā,’ and thousands we give.” [tentative; the first word is doubtful]

तना कृण्वन्तो अर्वते । (ऋ. सं. ९-६२-२) tanā kṛṇvanto arvate | (ṛ. saṃ. 9-62-2) Gloss: “making [the juice] by means of the ‘tanā’ for the swift horse (i.e., Indra’s).” [tentative]

जहाति वव्रिं पितुरेति निष्कृतमुपप्रुतं कृणुते निर्णिजं तना । (ऋ. सं. ९-७१-२) jahāti vavriṃ pitur eti niṣkṛtam upaprutaṃ kṛṇute nirṇijaṃ tanā | (ṛ. saṃ. 9-71-2) Gloss: “He leaves his covering, goes to his father’s appointed place; having flowed, he makes his (bright) garment through the ‘tanā.’” [tentative]

पिबन्ति मित्रो अर्यमा तना पूतस्य वरुणः । (ऋ. सं. ८-९४-३) pibanti mitro aryamā tanā pūtasya varuṇaḥ | (ṛ. saṃ. 8-94-3) Gloss: “Mitra, Aryaman and Varuṇa drink the juice purified through the ‘tanā.’”

(The reference “8-94-3” is as best I could read it; the verse is cited among the Soma-passages although the number begins with “8,” which I flag rather than alter.)

In all of these places it is apt to take the word “tanā” as “daśā-pavitra” — in the source’s own English parenthesis, “(a fringed filtering cloth).”

पूतासः (pūtāsaḥ) — “Pūtāsaḥ” is an archaic (prācīna) usage of the nominative plural. This form is found only in this Ṛk, nowhere else. The form “pūtāḥ” (without the “-asaḥ”) occurs in these Ṛks: Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-29-10; 9-22-3; 9-101-12; 10-19-2 (digits of these four references are not clearly legible). In meaning, there is no difference whatever between the two forms.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥

In “indra” the vocative accent — acute on the first syllable — occurs. “Ā” is a nipāta (particle); therefore, by “nipātā ādyudāttāḥ” (Phiṭ-sūtra 80 as printed), it takes acute on its first syllable. “Citrabhāno” being a vocative that stands after another word, takes the eighth-chapter vocative-anudātta (aṣṭamika āmantritānudātta). When one wishes to express “tvām icchati” (“he wants you”), by the rule “supa ātmanaḥ kyac” (Pā. Sū. 3-1-8) … (continues on the next page; this is the Kannada rendering of the grammar already transcribed in Sanskrit on p. 32)

Page 38 — Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā for Rik 3.4 concluded; Saṃhitā and Pada text of Rik 3.5

(Page header: "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Mandala 1, Anuvāka 1, Sūkta 3." This is the Kannada rendering of the grammar already given in Sanskrit on p. 32; translated here in full, since it is short.)

(Continuing from p. 37:) …the "kyac" affix is added to the word "yuṣmad." By "pratyayottarapadayoś ca" (Pā. Sū. 7-2-98) — when an affix, or a following second member of a compound, that conveys unity of sense (ekārtha) follows, then for the stems "yuṣmad" and "asmad," the portion up to "m" (that is, "yuṣm" and "asm") is replaced respectively by "tva" and "ma." So when the "tva" substitution applies, we have "tva + ad + ya"; by "ato guṇe" (Pā. 6-1-97) the latter form ("pararūpa") results, giving "tvadya." Next, by "kyāc chandasi" (Pā. Sū. 3-2-170) — in the Veda, the affix "u" is added after a root that ends in the "kya" affix; when "u" is added the "a" of the "kya" affix is elided, and in the plural one would expect "tvadyavaḥ." But by "yuṣmadasmador anādeśe" (Pā. Sū. 7-2-86), the stems "yuṣmad" and "asmad" that have not undergone substitution take the substitute "ā" when a consonant-beginning affix that is not a case-ending follows; by vyatyaya (Vedic licence), the "ā" substitute comes even where the following affix is not a case-affix, so that one gets "tva + ā + yu," and by lengthening of the homogeneous vowels (savarṇa-dīrgha) and the nominative-plural ending, "tvāyavaḥ." The "u" affix has the first-syllable acute by the affix-accent.

The word "aṇu" conveys "sūkṣma" (fine, subtle). With the sense of fineness in mind, it conveys in this context the sense "finger." Since it is a guṇavācaka (a word of quality), by "vāto guṇavacanāt" (Pā. Sū. 4-1-44) the feminine affix "ṅīṣ" comes optionally after a quality-word ending in "u"; where "ṅīṣ" was due, here by vyatyaya the affix "ṅīn" comes. Since it is "n"-marked, the accent is on the first syllable.

"Tanā": this is a particle (nipāta) in the sense "nitya" (always); being a nipāta, its first syllable is acute.

In "pūtāsaḥ," by "ājjaser asuk" (Pā. Sū. 7-1-50), the "jas" ending that comes after a stem ending in "a" takes the augment "asuk"; with the "asuk" augment we get "pūtāsas," and with "ru"-substitution and visarga, "pūtāsaḥ." ॥४॥

---

Sūkta 3, The Fifth Mantra

(Accent-notation note: in the Kannada print the Saṃhitā and Pada texts carry accent-marks — short vertical strokes above the syllable (svarita, ʃ) and short lines beneath it (anudātta, ˍ); the udātta is unmarked. In the Oct 2026 pass the Saṃhitā-pāṭha of every Ṛk is given with these marks as read from the better scan (the IAST line puts an acute on the udātta, derived from the marks); the Pada-pāṭha is given without accents. Earlier notes in this volume that say the accent-marks are not reproduced refer to the Pada text.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

इन्द्रा या॑हि धि॒येषि॒तो विप्र॑जूतः सु॒तावं॑तः । [accent ?] उप॒ ब्रह्मा॑णि वा॒घतः॑ ॥५॥

indrā́ yā́hi dhiyéṣitó víprajūtaḥ sutā́vataḥ | [accent ?] upa bráhmāṇi vāghátaḥ ||5||

(Accents read from the better scan. [accent ?]: the print has a further small mark above व of सुतावंतः; not identified.)

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

इन्द्र । आ । याहि । धिया । इषितः । विप्रजूतः । सुतावतः । उप । ब्रह्माणि । वाघतः ॥५॥

(Reading note: in the Pada text the print shows "viprajūtaḥ" with a faint mark between "vipra" and "jūtaḥ" — probably the avagraha-division of the compound ("vipra-jūtaḥ") — and "sutāvataḥ" with a similar faint division; I give the words undivided, as I cannot make out the dividing signs. The Pada text of the printed page also reads "dhiyā iṣitaḥ" for the Saṃhitā's "dhiyeṣito.")

Page 39 — Sūkta 3, Fifth Mantra: Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya, Pada-meanings, Bhāvārtha, English rendering

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 5 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." The Sanskrit is printed in Kannada script; it is rendered letter by letter into Devanagari/IAST. [?] marks places where the print is garbled or the reading uncertain.)

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे इन्द्र त्वमा याहि । अस्मिन्कर्मण्यागच्छ । किमर्थम् । वाघत ऋत्विजो ब्रह्माणि वेदरूपाणि स्तोत्राण्युपैतुम् । कीदृशस्त्वम् । धियोऽस्मदीयया प्रज्ञयेषितः प्राप्तः । अस्मद्भक्त्या प्रेरित इत्यर्थः । विप्रजूतः । यथा यजमानभक्त्या प्रेरितस्तथान्यैरपि विप्रैर्मेधाविभिरृत्विग्भिः प्रेरितः । कीदृशस्य वाघतः । सुतावतः अभिषुतसोमयुक्तस्य ॥ he indra tvam ā yāhi | asmin karmaṇy āgaccha | kim artham | vāghata ṛtvijo brahmāṇi veda-rūpāṇi stotrāṇy upaitum | kīdṛśas tvam | dhiyo 'smadīyayā prajñayeṣitaḥ prāptaḥ | asmad-bhaktyā prerita ity arthaḥ | viprajūtaḥ | yathā yajamāna-bhaktyā preritas tathānyair api viprair medhāvibhir ṛtvigbhiḥ preritaḥ | kīdṛśasya vāghataḥ | sutāvataḥ abhiṣuta-soma-yuktasya ||

Translation: "O Indra, come here. Come to this rite. For what purpose? To approach the 'brahmāṇi' — the Veda-form praise-hymns — of the Vāghata, the priests. What kind are you? 'Dhiyā iṣitaḥ' — reached (prāptaḥ), moved, by our understanding; that is, impelled by our devotion. 'Viprajūtaḥ' — as you are impelled by the sacrificer's devotion, so you are also impelled by other 'vipras' — wise priests (ṛtvijaḥ). Of what sort of Vāghata? 'Sutāvataḥ' — of one who has Soma pressed out and ready."

(Reading note: the print before "prajñayā" reads "dhiyo 'smadīyayā" (clear in the second scan; the first reading had an extra syllable). The sense — "by our (priestly) understanding" — agrees with the Kannada Pada-meaning below.)

केत इत्यादिष्वेकादशसु प्रज्ञानामसु धीरिति पठितम् । चतुर्विंशतिसंख्याकेषु मेधाविनामसु विप्रो धीर इति पठितम् । भरता इत्यादिष्वष्टस्वृत्विङ्नामसु वाघत इति पठितम् । keta ity ādiṣv ekādaśasu prajñā-nāmasu dhīr iti paṭhitam | catur-viṃśati-saṃkhyākeṣu medhāvi-nāmasu vipro dhīra iti paṭhitam | bharatā ity ādiṣv aṣṭasv ṛtvik-nāmasu vāghata iti paṭhitam |

Translation: "Among the eleven names for 'understanding' beginning with 'keta' (in the Nighaṇṭu), 'dhī' is read. Among the twenty-four names for 'the wise,' 'vipra' and 'dhīra' are read. Among the names of the ṛtvij (priest) beginning with 'bharatāḥ,' 'vāghataḥ' is read."

(Reading note: the count of the ṛtvij-names after "ādiṣu" is clear in the second scan: "aṣṭasv ṛtvijñāmasu" (the print has "-sv" across the line-break); it is read "aṣṭasu ṛtvik-nāmasu," in the eight names of priests.)

॥ Grammar within the Bhāṣya ॥ (short; given in full)

> इषित इत्यत्रैष गताविल्यस्मान्निष्ठायामिडागमः । आगमा अनुदात्ताः । म. ३-१-३-७ । इतीटोऽनुदात्तत्वात्कस्वरः शिष्यते । विप्रजूतः । ड्डवप् बीजतन्तुसंताने इति धातोर्ऋज्रेन्द्राग्रवज्रविप्रेत्यादिना । उ. २-२८ । रन्प्रत्ययान्तो विप्रशब्दो निपातितः । निपातनादुपधाया इकारो लघूपधगुणाभावश्च । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । तैर्जूतः । प्राप्तः । जू इति सौत्रो धातुर्गत्यर्थः । श्र्युकः किति । पा. ७-२-११ । इतीट्प्रतिषेधः । तृतीया कर्मणि । पा. ६-२-४८ । इति पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् । सुतावतः । छान्दसं दीर्घत्वम् । मतुपोऽनुदात्तत्वात्कप्रत्ययस्वर एव शिष्यते । ब्रह्माणि । नब्विषयस्यानिसन्तस्येत्याद्युदात्तः । वाघच्छब्द ऋत्विङ्नामसु पठितः प्रातिपदिकस्वरः ॥ iṣita ity atra iṣa gatāv ity asmān niṣṭhāyām iḍ-āgamaḥ | āgamā anudāttāḥ | ma. 3-1-3-7 | itīṭo 'nudāttatvāt kta-svaraḥ śiṣyate | viprajūtaḥ | ḍuvap bīja-tantu-saṃtāne iti dhātor ṛjrendrāgra-vajra-vipraty ādinā | u. 2-28 | ran-pratyayānto vipra-śabdo nipātitaḥ | nipātanād upadhāyā ikāro laghūpadha-guṇābhāvaś ca | nittvād ādyudāttaḥ | tair jūtaḥ | prāptaḥ | jū iti sautro dhātur gaty-arthaḥ | śryukaḥ kiti | pā. 7-2-11 | itīṭ-pratiṣedhaḥ | tṛtīyā karmaṇi | pā. 6-2-48 | iti pūrva-pada-prakṛti-svaratvam | sutāvataḥ | chāndasaṃ dīrghatvam | matupo 'nudāttatvāt kta-pratyaya-svara eva śiṣyate | brahmāṇi | nab-viṣayasyānisantasyety ādyudāttaḥ | vāghac-chabda ṛtvik-nāmasu paṭhitaḥ prātipadika-svaraḥ ||

Translation: "In 'iṣita,' the root is 'iṣ' (to go): in the niṣṭhā (the 'kta' affix) the augment 'iṭ' comes. Augments are anudātta (unaccented) ('āgamā anudāttāḥ'; the source reference as printed is 'ma. 3-1-3-7'); since the 'iṭ' is thus unaccented, the accent of the 'kta' affix remains. — 'Viprajūtaḥ': from the root 'ḍuvap' (to sow, to spread out threads), by 'ṛjrendrāgra-vajra-vipra-…' (Uṇādi-sūtra 2-28) the word 'vipra' is formed with the affix 'ran' by nipātana (irregular formation); by nipātana the penultimate becomes 'i' and the guṇa of a light penultimate does not occur; because it carries the mark 'n,' the first syllable is acute. 'Jūtaḥ' = 'tair jūtaḥ' — gone to / reached by them. 'Jū' is a sautra root (one drawn from the sūtras), in the sense of 'going'; by 'śryukaḥ kiti' (Pāṇini 7-2-11) the augment 'iṭ' is barred. With the rule 'tṛtīyā karmaṇi' (Pāṇini 6-2-48), the accent of the first member of the compound is retained. — 'Sutāvataḥ': the lengthening is Vedic (chāndasa). As the 'matup' affix is unaccented, only the accent of the 'kta' affix remains. — 'Brahmāṇi': by 'nab-viṣayasyānisantasya' (a Phiṭ-sūtra, the number of which is given on p. 42), acute on the first syllable. — 'Vāghata' is a word read among the priest-names; its accent is that of the bare stem (prātipadika-svara)."

(Reading notes: (i) the print of the 'ṛjrendrāgra…' Uṇādi list is plain and read as given; (ii) the rule "nab-viṣayasyānisantasya" is hard to read here, but is printed plainly on p. 42, where it is attributed to the Phiṭ-sūtras, not to Pāṇini; I had first written "Pā. 6-1-223" from memory, and that attribution has been withdrawn above; (iii) "vāghata-śabda" is printed "vāghac-chabda"; I read the word as "vāghata.")

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

(हे) इन्द्र (he indra) — O Indra, (you) | धिया (dhiyā) — by our understanding (devotion) | इषितः (iṣitaḥ) — impelled, and | विप्रजूतः (viprajūtaḥ) — impelled also by the wise, intelligent priests | सुतावतः (sutāvataḥ) — of him who has made ready and set by the Soma-juice | वाघतः (vāghataḥ) — of the priest | ब्रह्माणि (brahmāṇi) — the praise-hymns that have the form of the Veda | उप (upa) — in order to approach | आ याहि (ā yāhi) — come (to this rite-of-sacrifice that we are performing).

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

O Indra! We, and the priests too, praise you with devotion. And the priest has prepared the Soma-juice. Impelled by our devotion, to drink it, and also to accept the Veda-form praise-hymns that we chant, may you come to this sacrificial rite that we are performing.

English Translation (printed in English in the source itself):

"O Indra, you are moved by our devoted prayers and that of learned men. Come hither to receive our prayers and the soma juice pressed and prepared for your sake."

Page 40 — Special topics on Rik 3.5: "dhiyā," "iṣitaḥ," "viprajūtaḥ"

(Page header: "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Mandala 1, Anuvāka 1, Sūkta 3." The English glosses on the verses are mine; the source gives none. [?] marks an uncertain letter or number.)

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

धिया (dhiyā) — This is the instrumental singular of the word "dhī." The word is read among the eleven names that denote "prajñā" (understanding), beginning with "keta" (in the Nighaṇṭu). Its sense here is "by understanding, by discrimination, by a devotion that is attended by the mind (manaḥ-pūrvaka)." Scholars ancient and modern (Indian and Western) have given this word a variety of senses according to the context; those senses will be discussed in the respective places.

इषितः (iṣitaḥ) — This word is derived from the root "iṣ" (to go). Its sense here is "called, impelled, entreated."

विप्रजूतः (viprajūtaḥ) — A compound made of the two words "vipra" and "jūta." The word "vipra" is read among the twenty-four words that denote "the intelligent." Hence for this word the sense is "the wise, those possessed of understanding, those who have the power of discrimination." "Jūtaḥ" means "prāptaḥ, abhiṣṭutaḥ, preritaḥ" — that is, attained; praised; impelled (corrected from the second scan, which prints "abhiṣṭutaḥ", agreeing with the Kannada gloss "praised"). Although in later (modern) Sanskrit the sense "Brāhmaṇa" is established for "vipra," in Vedic literature — and in the Rigveda in particular — the word is not used in this sense. The word "vipra" is used in many Ṛks of the Rigveda, but "viprajūtaḥ" occurs in this Ṛk alone, nowhere else. For the word "jūtaḥ" the Bhāṣyakāra in many places gives the sense "prāpta" (attained) and "preraṇa" (impelling). For example:

शोचिष्केशं वृषणं यमिमा विशः प्रावन्तु जूतये विशः ॥ (ऋ. सं. १-१२७-२) śociṣkeśaṃ vṛṣaṇaṃ yam imā viśaḥ prāvantu jūtaye viśaḥ || (ṛ. saṃ. 1-127-2) Gloss: “The flame-haired bull, whom these clans, these clans, would favour for [his] speed/impulse.”

In this Ṛk, “jūtaye” is also taken to mean “prāptaye” (“for the attaining”).

वीळुपत्मभिराशुहेमभिर्वा देवानां वा जूतिभिः शाशदानाः ॥ (ऋ. सं. १-११६-२) vīḷupatmabhir āśuhemabhir vā devānāṃ vā jūtibhiḥ śāśadānāḥ || (ṛ. saṃ. 1-116-2) Gloss: “With (steeds) of firm wings, swift-impelling, or with the impulses of the gods, [you two] being foremost…” [tentative]

In this Ṛk, “jūtibhiḥ” is taken to mean also “preraṇaiḥ” (“by impellings”). Some examples that indicate this sense when “jūta” stands as the latter member of a compound are given below:

अद्रिजूतः — रथो ह वामृतेजा [print: “vāmṛtejā”] अद्रिजूतः परि द्यावापृथिवी याति सद्यः । (ऋ. सं. ३-५८-८) adrijūtaḥ — ratho ha vāmṛtejā [sic] adrijūtaḥ pari dyāvāpṛthivī yāti sadyaḥ | (ṛ. saṃ. 3-58-8) Gloss: “Your chariot, speeded by the (pressing-)stones [adri-jūtaḥ], circles heaven and earth at once.”

आदित्यजूतः — दधानो गोमदश्ववत्सुवीर्यमादित्यजूत एधते । (ऋ. सं. ८-४६-५) ādityajūtaḥ — dadhāno gomad aśvavat suvīryam ādityajūta edhate | (ṛ. saṃ. 8-46-5) Gloss: “Bearing wealth in cattle and horses and brave progeny, he who is impelled by the Ādityas prospers.”

इन्द्रजूतः — यदङ्ग त्वा भरताः सन्तरेयुर्गव्यन् ग्राम इषित इन्द्रजूतः । (ऋ. सं. ३-३३-११) indrajūtaḥ — yad aṅga tvā bharatāḥ santareyur gavyan grāma iṣita indrajūtaḥ | (ṛ. saṃ. 3-33-11) Gloss: “When, O (river), the Bharatas would cross you, seeking cattle, the host sent forth, impelled by Indra.”

Page 41 — Special topics on Rik 3.5 (continued): further “-jūta” compounds; “vipra,” “sutāvataḥ,” “upa,” “brahmāṇi,” “vāghataḥ”

(Page header: “Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 5 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā.” The Ṛg-vedic reference-numbers are printed in small Kannada numerals and a number of them are hard to read; every reference I am not sure of is marked [?]. Glosses are mine; the source gives none. The page also contains a block of English printed in the source itself, reproduced as printed.)

देवजूतः — महा ऋषिर्देवजा देवजूतोऽस्तभ्नात्सिन्धुमर्णवं नृचक्षाः । (ऋ. सं. ३-५३-९ तथा ४-११-४; ७-८४-३; ८-३१-३) devajūtaḥ — mahā ṛṣir devajā devajūto ’stabhnāt sindhum arṇavaṃ nṛcakṣāḥ | (ṛ. saṃ. 3-53-9 and 4-11-4; 7-84-3; 8-31-3) Gloss: “The great seer, born of the gods, impelled by the gods, a watcher of men, held up the river, the flood.”

बाहुजूतः — युष्मादेति मुष्टिहा बाहुजूतो युष्मत्सदश्वो मरुत सुवीरः । (ऋ. सं. ५-५८-४) bāhujūtaḥ — yuṣmād eti muṣṭihā bāhujūto yuṣmatsadaśvo maruta suvīraḥ | (ṛ. saṃ. 5-58-4) Gloss: “From you, O Maruts, goes the fist-striker, impelled by his arm, the hero blessed with horses, rich in heroes through you.”

वातजूतः — वि वातजूतो अतसेषु तिष्ठते वृथा जुहूभिः सृण्या तुविष्वणिः । (ऋ. सं. १-५८-४ तथा १-६५-४; १०-१७-१) vātajūtaḥ — vi vātajūto atasesu tiṣṭhate vṛthā juhūbhiḥ sṛṇyā

tuviṣvaṇiḥ | (ṛ. saṃ. 1-58-4 and 1-65-4; 10-17-1) Gloss: "Impelled by the wind, he stands out amid the brush, in vain with tongues, with his sickle-like (flame), loud-sounding."

श्येनजूतः — अप्सु द्रप्सो वावृधे श्येनजूतो दुह ईं पिता दुह ईं पितुर्जाम् । (ऋ. सं. ९-८९-२) śyenajūtaḥ — apsu drapso vāvṛdhe śyenajūto duha īṃ pitā duha īṃ pitur jām | (ṛ. saṃ. 9-89-2) Gloss: "The drop has grown in the waters, impelled by the falcon; the father milks him, he milks the father's kinswoman." [tentative]

On "vipra" (Western renderings). Ludwig, Williams, Griffith and other Western scholars have given the word "vipra," in different Ṛks, such meanings as — (the source here prints the list in English) — "Sage, wise, skilled in work or rite, skilled in speech, singer, Priest, Worshipper, Sacrificer [print: 'Sacrificier'], Fulfiller, Giver of delight, courageous, Sagacious, Pious, Brahmana," and the like; but they say that for this word in this Ṛk the sense "Prudent or intelligent" (that is, discerning, intelligent) fits.

सुतावतः (sutāvataḥ), or "sutavataḥ" — The word "suta" is a word formed from a root meaning "to press out (the juice)" ("su"). The derivation of "sutāvataḥ" is: "sutaḥ somaḥ asyāsti iti sutāvān, tasya sutāvataḥ" — "he who has the pressed Soma is 'sutāvān'; of him, 'sutāvataḥ'." This word is an adjective of the word "vāghataḥ." The word is commonly used in contexts where the Soma-juice is crushed and extracted.

उप (upa) — near, close; or, going near; attaining proximity, and the like.

ब्रह्माणि (brahmāṇi) — The Bhāṣyakāra explains this word as "stotra" (a hymn of praise). Skandasvāmī — in accordance with the sūtra of the Nighaṇṭu (2-7) — gives for the word "brahma" two senses: "anna" (food) and "stotra." Western scholars — Ludwig, Williams, Griffith and others — give for the word, according to context, (the source's English list): "Sacred Word, Prayer [print: 'Preyer'], Stotra [print: 'Strotra'], Homage, honour, song, libation, oblation, Praise, adoration, Devotion, Offering, Sacred rite, Food." Although they use different words, there is no great difference from the senses used by Sāyaṇa and Skandasvāmī.

वाघतः (vāghataḥ) — Because the Nighaṇṭu itself plainly states that this word means "ṛtvik" (priest), the Bhāṣyakāra, Skandasvāmī and the others have approved this sense. The view of the Western scholars is not at odds with this sense either; only the words they use are different. This word is used in the Rigveda in only the following eleven Ṛks: 1-3-5; 1-58-7; 1-88-6; 1-110-4; 3-2-1; 3-37-2; 6-16-13; 7-32-1; 8-78-4; 10-62-7; 3-60-4. (All eleven re-read from the better scan, Oct 2026 numeral pass.)

Page 42 — Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā for Rik 3.5 (Kannada); Saṃhitā and Pada text of Rik 3.6

(Page header: "Mandala 1, Anuvāka 1, Sūkta 3." This is the Kannada rendering of the grammar already given in Sanskrit on p. 39, translated in full. Sūtra-numbers in small Kannada numerals are marked [?] where I am not sure of a digit.)

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥

After the root "iṣ gatau" (iṣa gatau), when the affix "kta" is added, by "ārdhadhātukasyeḍ valādeḥ" (Pā. Sū. 7-2-35) — the augment "iṭ" comes to "ta" — and "iṣitaḥ" results. Here, by “āgamā anudāttāḥ” (Pā. Sū. 3-1-3, vārttika 7) — “augments are unaccented” — the “i” becomes unaccented; hence the accent of the “kta” affix remains.

The root “ḍu vap bīja-saṃtāne”: by “ṛjrendrāgra-vajra-vipra-…” (Uṇ. Sū. 2-186 [as printed; on p. 39 the same sūtra is cited as 2-28]), these nineteen words are formed with the affix “ran” by nipātana (irregular formation). The list as printed:

> ऋज्रेन्द्राग्रवज्रविप्रकुब्रचुब्रक्षुरखुरभद्रोग्रभेरभेलशुक्रशक्लगौरवन्वेरमालाः ṛjrendrāgra-vajra-vipra-kubra-cubra-kṣura-khura-bhadrogra-bhera-bhela-śukra-śakla-gaurava-nvera-mālāḥ

(The division of this list into words is my best reading; “kubra,” “cubra,” and the last few members are not certain to me.) By the very nipātana, the “a” of the root “vap” becomes “i”, and the guṇa of the light penultimate “i” does not occur. Since it is n-marked, the first syllable is acute: “viprajūtaḥ.” “Jū” is a sautra root (one given in the sūtras), meaning “gati” (going). To the “kta” affix that follows the root “jū,” “iṭ” would come by “ārdhadhātukasyeḍ valādeḥ”; but by “śryukaḥ kiti” (Pā. Sū. 7-2-10 [as printed]) — the root “śri,” and the one-syllable roots ending in the vowels “u,” “ṛ,” [and others (the print’s list is unclear)] — no “iṭ” comes before affixes marked “g,” “k” (“git,” “kit”); so the “iṭ” is prohibited. Then, by “tṛtīyā karmaṇi” (Pā. Sū. 6-2-48) — when a word ending in the “kta” affix, with the sense of the object (karman), follows, a word in the instrumental case retains its natural accent (prakṛti-svara); hence the accent of the first member remains. From the root “su,” adding “kta,” one gets “suta.” Adding “matup” to it gives “sutavataḥ.” By Vedic usage, if the previous member is lengthened it becomes “sutāvataḥ.” As “matup” is unaccented, the accent of the “kta” affix remains. “Brahmāṇi” — by “nab-viṣayasyānisantasya” (Phiṭ-sūtra 26) it is acute on the first syllable. As for “vāghat” — since Yāska has read it among the “names of priests” (ṛtvij-nāmadheya) (in the Nighaṇṭu), it is a bare stem (prātipadika); hence the prātipadika-accent results. ॥५॥

---

Sūkta 3, The Sixth Mantra

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented — see the note at Rik 3.5.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

> इन्द्रा या॑हि तूतु॑जान॒ उप॒ ब्रह्मा॑णि हरिवः । सु॒ते द॑धिष्व न॒श्चनः॑ ॥६॥
>
> indrā́ yāhi tū́tujāna úpa bráhmāṇi harivaḥ | suté dadhiṣva naścánaḥ ||6||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

> इन्द्र । आ । याहि । तूतुजानः । उप । ब्रह्माणि । हरिवः । सुते । दधिष्व । नः । चनः ॥६॥

Page 43 — Sūkta 3, Sixth Mantra: Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya, grammar, Pada-meanings, Bhāvārtha

(Page header: “Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 5 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā.” Sanskrit is printed in Kannada script and rendered here into Devanagari/IAST.)

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हरिशब्द इन्द्रसंबन्धिनोरश्वयोर्नामधेयम् । हरी इन्द्रस्य रोहितोऽग्नेरिति तदीयाश्वनामत्वेन पठितत्वात् । हे हरिवः अश्वयुक्तेन्द्र त्वं ब्रह्माण्युपैतुमा याहि । कीदृशस्त्वम् । तूतुजानः त्वरमाणः । आगत्य चास्मिन्सुते सोमाभिषवयुक्ते कर्मणि नोऽस्मदीयं चनोऽन्नं हविर्लक्षणं दधिष्व धारय । स्वीकुर्वित्यर्थः । hari-śabda indra-sambandhinor aśvayor nāmadheyam | harī indrasya rohito 'gner iti tadīyāśva-nāmatvena paṭhitatvāt | he harivaḥ aśvayuktendra tvaṃ brahmāṇy upaitum ā yāhi | kīdṛśas tvam | tūtujānaḥ tvaramāṇaḥ | āgatya cāsmin sute somābhiṣava-yukte karmaṇi no 'smadīyaṃ cano 'nnaṃ havir-lakṣaṇaṃ dadhiṣva dhāraya | svīkurv ity arthaḥ |

Translation: "The word 'hari' is the name of the two horses connected with Indra, since it is read as the name of his (Indra's) horses in 'harī indrasya, rohita agneḥ' ('the two Haris are Indra's, the Rohita is Agni's' — the Nighaṇṭu's list of horse-names). O 'harivaḥ' — O Indra, yoked with horses — come to approach our 'brahmāṇi.' What kind of one are you? 'Tūtujānaḥ' — hastening. And having come, in this 'sute' (this rite attended with the pressing of Soma), hold ('dadhiṣva') — that is, accept ('svīkuru') — our 'canaḥ,' our food, of the nature of the oblation."

(Reading note: the first letter of "tadīya" is clear in the second scan as "ta": "tadīyāśva-nāmatvena" ("because they are read as horse-names belonging to him").)

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā within the Bhāṣya ॥ — characterized, not transcribed line-by-line, per the standing convention for dense grammatical derivations; the sūtras it cites are listed in full below.

The Bhāṣya's grammar on this page derives: (a) "tūtujānaḥ" (root "tuj"), (b) "harivaḥ" (vocative of "hari-vat"), (c) "dadhiṣva" (root "dhā," imperative, middle), and (d) "canaḥ" (from "cāy"), and discusses the accent of "brahmāṇi" and its effect on the preceding "upa." One sentence in the middle of this block (the one beginning "brahmāṇīty asya harivaḥ…" and running through "…upety ekārasya sannataraḥ") is too garbled in the print for me to give a reliable reading, so I do not transcribe or translate it; what is plain from it is that it is about why the vocative "harivaḥ" and the following word are accented as they are, and about the "sannatara" (lowered-pitch) accent on the syllable of "upa." The sūtras cited are as follows (numbers as printed; the Sanskrit lines are in the print's own wording):

- "tuj-er liṭi liṭaḥ kānaj vā" — तुजेर्लिटि लिटः कानज्वा (पा. ३-२-१०६) — "the substitute 'kānac' for 'liṭ'" → "tūtujānaḥ." (The print has "pujer" for "tujer"; I read "tuj" as the root.)
- "tujādīnāṃ dīrgho 'bhyāsasya" — तुजादीनां दीर्घोऽभ्यासस्य (पा. ६-१-७) — the reduplicative syllable is lengthened.
- "abhyastānām ādiḥ" — अभ्यस्तानामादिः (पा. ६-१-१८९) — first syllable acute.
- "chandasīraḥ" — छन्दसीरः (पा. ८-२-१५) — "m" of "matup" becomes "v" after a stem ending in "i" ("hari-vat" for "hari-mat").
- "sambuddhau … ugidacām" — संबुद्धौ … उगिदचाम् (पा. ७-१-७०) — the augment "num" in the vocative; then संयोगान्तलोपे (पा. ८-२-२३) the loss of the final consonant of the cluster, and नकारस्य मतुवसो रुः संबुद्धौ छन्दसि (पा. ८-३-१) — "ru" for the "n" of "matup" in the vocative → "harivaḥ"; the vocative then takes the eighth-chapter "nighāta."

- "thāsaḥ se" — थासः से (पा. ३-४-८०) — "se" for "thās" in the imperative; सवाभ्यां वामौ (पा. ३-४-९१) — "va" for the "e" → "dadhiṣva"; छन्दस्युभयथा (पा. ३-४-११७) — in the Veda the ending counts both as "sārvadhātuka" and "ārdhadhātuka," so both "śap" (पा. ३-१-६८) with doubling (श्लौ च द्विर्भावः पा. ६-१-१०) and the "iṭ" augment (पा. ७-२-३५) arise; आतो लोप इटि च (पा. ६-४-६४) — the final "ā" of the root is elided.
- For "canaḥ": "cāyater anne hrasvaś ca" (from "cāy," with shortening, in the sense "food") with an "asun" ending (Uṇādi 4-199, as printed), the "n" augment from the "ca," and the loss of "y."

(A transliteration of each cited sūtra is: "tujer liṭi liṭaḥ kānaj vā" (pā. 3-2-106) | "tujādīnāṃ dīrgho 'bhyāsasya" (pā. 6-1-7) | "abhyastānām ādiḥ" (pā. 6-1-189) | "chandasīraḥ" (pā. 8-2-15) | "sambuddhau vugid-acām" (pā. 7-1-70, as printed) | "saṃyogānta-lope" (pā. 8-2-23) | "nakārasya matuvaso ruḥ sambuddhau chandasi" (pā. 8-3-1) | "thāsaḥ se" (pā. 3-4-80) | "savābhyāṃ vāmau" (pā. 3-4-91) | "chandasy ubhayathā" (pā. 3-4-117) | "śloś ca dvirbhāvaḥ" (pā. 6-1-10) | "āto lopa iṭi ca" (pā. 6-4-64).)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

हरिवः (harivaḥ) — O you who are accompanied by horses (who sit in a chariot yoked to horses) | इन्द्र (indra) — O Indra, (you) | तूतुजानः (tūtujānaḥ) — being swift, being vigilant | ब्रह्माणि (brahmāṇi) — (the) praise-hymns (that we make) | उप (upa) — in order to accept | आ याहि (ā yāhi) — be one who comes | (and having come) सुते (sute) — in this rite, accompanied by the pressing of the Soma — that is, in this Soma-sacrifice that we are performing | नः (naḥ) — our | चनः (canaḥ) — food of the kind that belongs to the oblation | दधिष्व (dadhiṣva) — "hold" — that is, accept.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

O Indra! Seated in the chariot to which the horses are yoked, come quickly and with vigilance, to accept the praise-hymns that we make, and the food that we offer in this sacrificial rite, in which we are now drawing out the Soma-juice for you.

Page 44 — English rendering of Rik 3.6; Special topics: "tūtujānaḥ," "brahmāṇi," "harivaḥ," "dadhiṣva"; Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā begins

(Page header: "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Mandala 1, Anuvāka 1, Sūkta 3." The English passages are printed in English in the source and are reproduced exactly as printed, including its misprints, marked [sic]. Reference-numbers printed in small Kannada numerals are marked [?] where uncertain.)

English Translation (printed in English in the source itself):

"O Indra, come hither quickly with the tawny horses to our prayers and accept our food in this libation."

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

तूतुजानः (tūtujānaḥ) — For this word the Bhāṣyakāra gives “tvaramāṇaḥ” (“hastening”) and Skandasvāmī gives “kṣipram” (“quickly, swiftly”). Among Western scholars, in their treatment of the sense of this word in this Ṛk: Ludwig gives “hasty, speedy, exerting”; Williams, “fleet”; Benfey, “exerted”; Rosen, “hastened.” Besides this, Ludwig, in the places where this word is used — the references printed are Ṛ. Saṃ. 6-29-5; 10-44-1 — gives “exerting”; (at 7-84-5) “Urging”; (at 4-32-2) “Pushing”; (at 10-44-1; 1-129-1) “Prompt”; and (in the Ṛks 4-32-2; 1-61-12; 7-67-6; 7-84-5) “Active, strong,” as meanings of this word. (The reference-numbers in this list are hard to read in the print and the assignment of numbers to meanings may be off; the same number appears under more than one meaning as I have read it. Please re-check before relying on them.)

ब्रह्माणि (brahmāṇi) — The matter of this word was set out in the preceding Ṛk.

हरिवः (harivaḥ) — For this the Bhāṣyakāra gives “harayo ’sya santi” (“harayo ’sya santīti”; हरयोऽस्य सन्तीति — “he who has Haris [horses]”), that is, “one possessed of horses.” The sense given by the other commentators is the same. “One possessed of horses” means “one seated in a chariot to which horses are yoked.” “Harī” means Indra’s horses. This sense is supported by the mantra:

> तिष्ठा हरी रथ आयुज्यमाना याहि वायुर्न नियुतो नो अच्छ । (ऋ. सं. ३-३५-१) tiṣṭhā harī ratha āyujyamānā yāhi vāyur na niyuto no accha | (ṛ. saṃ. 3-35-1) Gloss: “Mount, with the two bay horses being yoked to the chariot; come to us, like Vāyu with his team.”

Among Western scholars: Griffith gives “Having a gold colour horse”; Williams, “provided with the horse named Hari”; Ludwig, Rosen, Benfey, “Possessed of bey [sic] or towny [sic] horses” — thus they have explained the meaning of this word.

दधिष्व (dadhiṣva) — This word is the “loṭ” (imperative) form of the root “dhā.” Its sense here may be given as “accept.”

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥

“Tūtujānaḥ”: when the affix “liṭ” is placed after the root “tuj,” then by “liṭi dhātor anabhyāsasya” (Pā. Sū. 6-1-8) — when “liṭ” follows, the first part of the root that is not already a reduplicative syllable and contains a single vowel is doubled. In the case where the root begins with a vowel (ajādi), the second … (continues on the next page; this is the Kannada rendering of the grammar characterized on p. 43)

Page 45 — Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā for Rik 3.6 (Kannada) — characterized

(Page header: “Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 5 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā.” This page is pure Pāṇinian derivation in Kannada prose, setting out for “tūtujānaḥ,” “harivaḥ,” “brahmāṇi/upa” and “dadhiṣva” the same steps already given in Sanskrit on p. 43. Per the standing convention for dense Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā with no bearing on the sense already given, it is translated in compressed form rather than line by line; every sūtra the page cites is kept, in all three layers, so that nothing is silently dropped. Sūtra-numbers are as printed in Kannada numerals.)

(1) “Tūtujānaḥ.” (continuing from p. 44) In the case where the root begins with a vowel, the second one-vowel part is the one doubled. Here, after doubling “tuj” (giving “tuj-tuj + liṭ”), the rule हलादिः शेषः (halādiḥ śeṣaḥ, पा. ७-४-६०) leaves only the first consonant of the reduplicative syllable and drops its other consonants — so the first "tuj" is reduced to "tu." By लिटः कानज्वा (liṭaḥ kānaj vā, पा. ३-२-१०६) — in the Veda the substitute "kānac" for "liṭ" is optional, and it is chosen here; in "kānac" the letter "c" is a marker and "āna" remains: "tu-tuj + āna." Then तुजादीनां दीर्घोऽभ्यासस्य (tujādīnāṃ dīrgho 'bhyāsasya, पा. ६-१-७) — the reduplicative syllable of the roots of the "tuj" group is lengthened — gives "tū-tujāna." Finally अभ्यस्तानामादिः (abhyastānām ādiḥ, पा. ६-१-१८९) — when a "lasārvadhātuka" affix beginning with the accented vowel (including the "iṭ"-position) follows, the first syllable of the reduplicated stem becomes acute; hence the first syllable of "tūtujānaḥ" is acute.

(2) "Harivaḥ." "Harayo 'sya santi" ("he has horses") — the affix "matup" by तदस्यास्त्यस्मिन्निति मतुप् (tad asyāsty asminn iti matup, पा. ५-२-९४). By छन्दसीरः (chandasīraḥ, पा. ८-२-१५) the "m" of "matup," after a word ending in "i" or "r"-type letter, becomes "v" (so "hari-vat"). For the vocative singular ending, "matup" being "u"-marked (ugit), by उगिदचां सर्वनामस्थानेऽधातोः (ugid-acāṃ sarvanāmasthāne 'dhātoḥ, पा. ७-१-७०) the augment "num" comes (even to a non-root stem), giving "harivan-t + (su)"; then संयोगान्तस्य लोपः (saṃyogāntasya lopaḥ, पा. ८-२-२३) — loss of the final of a conjunct — and, by "hal-ṅyābbhyo…" (हल्ङ्याब्भ्यो दीर्घात्सुतिस्यपृक्तं हल् — hal-ṅyābbhyo dīrghāt su-ti-sy-apṛktaṃ hal, पा. ६-१-६८ [number as read]) the loss of the ending, leave "harivan." Then मतुवसोरु संबुद्धौ छन्दसि (matuvasor ru sambuddhau chandasi, पा. ८-३-१) — in the Veda, in the vocative, "ru" replaces the last letter of "matup" and "vasu" stems — and, by the paribhāṣā अलोऽन्त्यस्य (alo 'ntyasya, पा. १-१-५२) the substitute goes to the final letter "n"; the "r" then becomes visarga: "harivaḥ." Here the vocative-accent of the eighth chapter (aṣṭamika anudātta) arises.

(3) "Brahmāṇi" and the "a" of "upa." By सुबामन्त्रिते पराङ्गवत्स्वरे (subāmantrite parāṅgavat svare, पा. २-१-२) a vocative is treated, for accent, as part of the following word. But this operates only where there is mutual connection of sense, by the governing paribhāṣā समर्थः पदविधिः (samarthaḥ pada-vidhiḥ, पा. २-१-१). Here "brahmāṇi" and "harivaḥ" have no mutual syntactic connection, hence no such connection of sense, and no "parāṅgavad-bhāva" arises. Consequently "brahmāṇi" does not receive the aṣṭamika vocative-anudātta; it stays acute on its first syllable. Then the unaccented "a" of the preceding "upa," standing before this acute syllable, becomes "sannatara" (lowered still further) by उदात्तस्वरितपरस्य सन्नतरः (udātta-svarita-parasya sannataraḥ, पा. १-२-४०).

(4) "Dadhiṣva." After the root "ḍudhāñ" (dhāraṇa-poṣaṇayoḥ — "to hold, to nourish"), in the "loṭ," ātmanepada, madhyama-puruṣa, ekavacana, the ending "thās" is taken; then थासः से (thāsaḥ se, पा. ३-४-८०), the "ṭ"-marker (ṭakāra-it)… (continues on the next page)

Page 46 — Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā for Rik 3.6 concluded; end of the Fifth Varga; Saṃhitā and Pada text of Rik 3.7

(Page header: "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Mandala 1, Anuvāka 1, Sūkta 3." As on p. 45, the grammar is characterized (compressed translation, every cited sūtra kept in three layers).)

(4) “Dadhiṣva” (continued from p. 45) In place of the “la”-ending (“loṭ”) the ending “thās” is replaced by “se” by थासः से (thāsaḥ se, पा. ३-४-८०). Then by सवाभ्यां वामौ (savābhyāṃ vāmau, पा. ३-४-९१) — the “e” of the loṭ-ending, after “s” and “v,” is replaced respectively by “va” and “am” — the “e” becomes “va”: “dhā + sva.” By छन्दस्युभयथा (chandasy ubhayathā, पा. ३-४-११७) — the affixes prescribed in the root-section carry, in the Veda, both labels, “sārvadhātuka” and “ārdhadhātuka” — both labels apply; taking first the “sārvadhātuka” label, by कर्तरि शप् (kartari śap, पा. ३-१-६८) the “śap” comes when a “sārvadhātuka” affix with agent-sense follows. Then जुहोत्यादिभ्यः श्लुः (juhotyādibhyaḥ śluḥ, पा. २-४-७५) — after the roots of the “juhotyādi” group “śap” is elided (luk-like “ślu”). With “ślu,” by श्लौ (ślau, पा. ६-१-१०) the root is doubled: “dhā-dhā + sva”; by ह्रस्वः (hrasvaḥ, पा. ७-४-५९) and अभ्यासे चर्च (abhyāse car ca, पा. ८-४-५४) the reduplicative syllable is shortened and its aspirate unaspirated (“da”): “da-dhā + sva.” Now taking the “ārdhadhātuka” label, by आर्धधातुकस्येड्वलादेः (ārdhadhātukasyeḍ valādeḥ, पा. ७-२-३५) the augment “iṭ” is given to “sva”: “dadhā + iṣva”; by आतो लोप इटि च (āto lopa iṭi ca, पा. ६-४-६४) — the “ā” is elided before an “ajādi” ārdhadhātuka or before “iṭ” — the “ā” drops; and by आदेशप्रत्यययोः (ādeśa-pratyayayoḥ, पा. ८-३-५९) the “s” becomes “ṣ”: “dadhiṣva.”

(5) “Canaḥ.” “cāyater anne hrasvaś ca” — चायतेरन्ने ह्रस्वश्च (उ. सू. ४-६-३९ [as I read the print; see the note below]) — when the sense “anna” (food) is intended, the root “cāy” takes the affix “asun,” the affix also takes the augment “nuṭ,” and the “cā” is shortened. So with “asun,” “nuṭ” and the shortening one gets “cay-an-”; and by लोपो व्योर्वलि (lopo vyor vali, पा. ६-१-६६) the “y” is elided, giving “canaḥ.” ॥६॥

(Reference note: the Uṇādi-sūtra number for “cāyater anne hrasvaś ca” is printed here as “4-6-39” (adhyāya-pāda-sūtra form), and on p. 43 as “4-199” (a running number): both are clear in the second scan; the print gives the sūtra in two numbering styles.)

इल्लिगे ऐदनेय वर्गवु मुगिदुदु — illige aidaneya vargavu mugidudu — “Here the fifth varga is finished.”

---

Sūkta 3, The Seventh Mantra

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented — see the note at Rik 3.5.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

ओमा॑सश्चर्षणीधृतो॒ विश्वे॑ देवास॒ आ ग॑त । दा॒श्वांसो॑ दा॒शुषः॑ सु॒तं ॥७॥

ómāsaścarṣaṇīdhṛto víśve devāsa ā́ gata | dāśvā́ṃso dāśúṣaḥ sutáṃ ||7||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

ओमासः । चर्षणीधृतः । विश्वे । देवासः । आ । गत । दाश्वांसः । दाशुषः । सुतम् ॥७॥

(Reading note: in the Pada text, "carṣaṇīdhṛtaḥ" is a compound; the print shows a small sign between "carṣaṇī" and "dhṛtaḥ" that I read as the avagraha-division, "carṣaṇī-dhṛtaḥ," but cannot make out with certainty, so I give the word undivided.)

Page 47 — Sūkta 3, Seventh Mantra: Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (opening)

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 6 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā" — the sixth varga begins here, the previous page having closed the fifth. This is a very dense Bhāṣya page, read in enlarged slices. The sense-portion at the top is transcribed in full in three layers; the long technical accent-debate that follows is characterized, not transcribed line by line, per the standing convention for dense Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā, and I say so again at that point.)

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

> हे विश्वे देवास एतन्नामका देवविशेषा दाशुषो हविर्दत्तवतो यजमानस्य सुतमभिषुतं सोमं प्रत्या गत । आगच्छत । ते च देवा ओमासो रक्षकाः चर्षणीधृतो मनुष्याणां धारका दाश्वांसः फलस्य दातारः । मनुष्या इत्यादिषु पञ्चविंशतिसंख्याकेषु मनुष्यनामसु चर्षणिशब्दः पठितः । अश्विनावित्यादिष्वेकत्रिंशत्संख्याकेषु देवविशेषनामसु विश्वे देवाः साध्या इति पठितम् । he viśve devāsa etan-nāmakā deva-viśeṣā dāśuṣo havir-dattavato yajamānasya sutam abhiṣutaṃ somaṃ pratyā gata | āgacchata | te ca devā omāso rakṣakāḥ carṣaṇīdhṛto manuṣyāṇāṃ dhārakā dāśvāṃsaḥ phalasya dātāraḥ | manuṣyā ity ādiṣu pañcaviṃśati-saṃkhyākeṣu manuṣya-nāmasu carṣaṇi-śabdaḥ paṭhitaḥ | aśvināv ity ādiṣv ekatriṃśat-saṃkhyākeṣu deva-viśeṣa-nāmasu viśve devāḥ sādhyā iti paṭhitam |

Translation: "O 'viśve devāsaḥ' — gods of this name, a special class of gods! Come ('pratyā gata' = 'āgacchata') to the Soma that has been pressed ('sutam' = 'abhiṣutam') of the sacrificer ('dāśuṣaḥ') who has given the oblation. And those gods are 'omāsaḥ' — protectors; 'carṣaṇīdhṛtaḥ' — upholders of men; 'dāśvāṃsaḥ' — givers of the fruit. Among the twenty-five names of human beings beginning with 'manuṣyāḥ' (in the Nighaṇṭu), the word 'carṣaṇi' is read. Among the thirty-one names of particular classes of gods beginning with 'aśvinau,' 'viśve devāḥ' and 'sādhyāḥ' are read."

> एतामृचं यास्क एवं व्याख्यातवान् । अवितारो वावनीया वा मनुष्यधृतः सर्वे च देवा इहागच्छत दत्तवन्तो दत्तवतः सुतमिति तदेतदेकमेव वैश्वदेवं गायत्रं तृचं दशतयीषु विद्यते यत्तु किञ्चिद्बहुदैवतं तद्वैश्वदेवानां स्थाने युज्यते यदेव विश्वलिङ्गमिति शाकपूणिः । नि. १२-४० । इति । अत्र विश्वशब्दः सर्वशब्दपर्याय इति यास्कस्य मतम् । देवविशेषस्यैवासाधारणं लिङ्गमिति शाकपूणेर्मतम् । etām ṛcaṃ yāska evaṃ vyākhyātavān | avitāro vāvanīyā vā manuṣyadhṛtaḥ sarve ca devā ihāgacchata dattavanto dattavataḥ sutam iti tad etad ekam eva vaiśvadevaṃ gāyatraṃ tṛcaṃ daśatayīṣu vidyate yat tu kiñcid bahudaivataṃ tad vaiśvadevānāṃ sthāne yujyate yad eva viśva-liṅgam iti śākapūṇiḥ | ni. 12-40 | iti | atra viśva-śabdaḥ sarva-śabda-paryāya iti yāskasya matam | deva-viśeṣasyaivāsādhāraṇaṃ liṅgam iti śākapūṇer matam |

Translation: "Yāska has explained this Ṛk thus: 'Protectors, or those to be desired, upholders of men; and all the gods, come here — having given, to the one who has given — the pressed (Soma). This is the one Vaiśvadeva Gāyatra tṛca found in the "daśatayī" (the ten-book arrangement of the Saṃhitā). Whatever hymn has many deities is fitted into the place of the Vaiśvadevas; indeed, “whatever bears the mark of viśva,” says Śākapūṇi.’ (Nirukta 12.40). Here, that the word ‘viśva’ is a synonym of ‘sarva’ (all) is Yāska’s view; that it is the particular, uncommon mark of one class of gods is Śākapūṇi’s view.”

> अवन्तीत्योमासो देवाः । मन्निित्यनुवृत्त्या अविसिविसिशुषिभ्यः कित् । उ. १-१४३ । इति मन्प्रत्ययः । ज्वरत्वरस्रिव्यविमवामुपधायाश्च । पा. ६-४-२० । इत्यूट् । मनः कित्त्वेऽपि बाहुलकत्वाद्गुणः । आज्ञसेरसुक् । पा. ७-१-५० । इति जसेरसुगागमः । आमन्त्रिताद्युदात्तत्वम् । चर्षणयो मनुष्याः । तान्सृष्टि दानादिना धारयन्तीति चर्षणीधृतो देवाः । avantyitymāso devāḥ | man ityanuvṛttyā avi-sivi-si-śuṣibhyaḥ kit | u. 1-143 | iti man-pratyayaḥ | jvara-tvara-srivyavi-mavām upadhāyāś ca | pā. 6-4-20 | ityūṭ | manaḥ kittve ’pi bāhulakatvād guṇaḥ | āj-jaser asuk | pā. 7-1-50 | iti jaser asug-āgamaḥ | āmantritādyudāttatvam | carṣaṇayo manuṣyāḥ | tān sṛṣṭi dānādinā dhārayantīti carṣaṇīdhṛto devāḥ |

Translation: “‘Omāsaḥ’ — the gods, because they ‘protect’ (‘avanti’): by the continuing sense of ‘man’ (the Uṇādi-sūtra ‘avi-sivi-si-śuṣibhyaḥ kit,’ as read on p. 51; numbered in the print, Uṇ. 1-143) the affix ‘man’ is added; by ‘jvara-tvara-srivi-avi-mavām upadhāyāś ca’ (Pāṇini 6-4-20) the ‘ūṭ’ substitution comes; although ‘man’ is marked ‘k’ (which would normally bar guṇa), guṇa occurs, because of the Vedic variability (‘bāhulaka’). By ‘āj-jaser asuk’ (Pāṇini 7-1-50) the augment ‘asuk’ comes to ‘jas’; the first syllable is acute by the vocative rule. ‘Carṣaṇayaḥ’ means human beings; those (gods) who sustain them by creating, by giving and the like, are ‘carṣaṇīdhṛtaḥ.’”

(Reading notes: (i) the Uṇādi-number “1-143” is clear in the second scan; (ii) the word before “dānādinā” is printed “sṛṣṭi” (clear in the second scan), and the sense “by creating, by giving, etc.” fits; (iii) the Uṇādi-sūtra’s wording was first read here as “avi-si-vasi-śuṣibhyaḥ”; p. 51, which quotes it again, prints “avi sivi si śuṣibhyaḥ kit” and lists the roots as “av (rakṣaṇa), …, ṣiñ (bandhane), śuṣ (śoṣaṇe),” so the reading here has been adjusted to that.)

॥ The technical accent-debate (characterized, not transcribed) ॥

The remainder of the page (about the last two-thirds) is a scholastic argument on the accent of the vocative words in this verse. I have read it through, but it is pure technical argument whose result does not alter the sense already given above, so, per convention, I summarize it rather than transcribing it line by line. Its course, in outline:

1. The rule and the objection. By the Pāṇinian rule “vibhāṣitaṃ viśeṣavacane bahuvacanam” (विभाषितं विशेषवचने बहुवचनम् — vibhāṣitaṃ viśeṣa-vacane bahuvacanam, पा. ८-१-७४): when an earlier vocative that is a general term is followed by a plural vocative that is a specific term, the earlier one is optionally not treated as “non-existent” (avidyamāna-vat), and so does not lose its accent — hence the preceding vocative here keeps its accent, as being “not a pāda-beginning” (apādādi) it would otherwise take nighāta. An objector asks how the nighāta can still occur (since the “subāmantrite parāṅgavat” rule would make the two words one unit, which would make the later word non-initial in the pāda); the answer given cites the Mahābhāṣya-line “vatkaraṇaṃ svāśrayam api yathā syāt” (वत्करणं स्वाश्रयमपि यथा स्यात् — vatkaraṇaṃ svāśrayam api yathā syāt, म. ८-१-७२ [as printed]), which lets nighāta apply even in a pada-division case, and the rule "anudāttaṃ padam ekavarjam" (अनुदात्तं पदमेकवर्जम् — anudāttaṃ padam ekavarjam) which ensures nighāta all the more.

2. A parallel case. A second objection, "dravatpāṇī śubhaspatī" (द्रवत्पाणी शुभस्पती — a Ṛgvedic phrase used as an example of an unaccented second word), is answered by saying that there the "parāṅgavad-bhāva" is blocked by the rule that says an earlier word, when a vocative follows, is treated as non-existent ("āmantritaṃ pūrvam avidyamānavat"); here, by contrast, the rule 8-1-74 forbids treating the earlier vocative as non-existent, so the earlier vocative "has existence" and "parāṅgavattva" is accepted.
3. "Viśve" and "devāsaḥ." "Viśve" has the first-syllable acute because it stands at the beginning of the pāda. Here "viśva" is the name of a gaṇa-devatā (a particular class of deities, the Viśvedevāḥ), not a synonym of "sarva"; being a qualifier that points to a specific noun (viśeṣya), it is a general term in the sense of the rule, and so it does not stand in apposition (sāmānādhikaraṇya) with "omāsaḥ." (If it did, then, the earlier pāda being treated as part of the following word, "mitrāvaruṇau ṛtāvṛdhau"-type examples show the vocative-acute would not occur.) "Devāsaḥ" is the word qualified by "viśve."
4. "Devāḥ" as a conventional vs. etymological word. "Devāḥ" means "those who shine" (from "div," to shine). An objector cites the Paribhāṣā "nanv avayava-prasiddheḥ samudāya-prasiddhir balīyasī" (नन्ववयवप्रसिद्धेः समुदायप्रसिद्धिर्बलीयसी — nanv avayava-prasiddheḥ samudāya-prasiddhir balīyasī, परि. ९८): "the established whole-word sense is stronger than the sense of its parts," so that the conventional (rūḍha) sense of "deva," not the etymological (yaugika) one, is to be taken; for if the etymological sense were taken, understanding would be delayed by the effort of tracing the parts. The reply begins "samudāya-prasiddhau tu na vikṣepa iti cet na — samudāya-…" (and continues on the next page).

Page 48 — Rik 3.7: close of the Bhāṣya's accent-debate and grammar; Pada-meanings; Bhāvārtha; English rendering; Special topic

(Page header: "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā · Mandala 1, Anuvāka 1, Sūkta 3." The grammar at the top is characterized, not transcribed line by line, per the standing convention for dense Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā; every sūtra cited is kept in all three layers. Numbers in small Kannada numerals are as I read them; [?] marks doubt.)

The accent-debate concluded (continuing from p. 47, where the objector argued that the conventional (rūḍha) sense of "deva" should be taken, not the etymological "shining one"). The reply begins: "when the conventional whole-word sense is the established one, the word 'deva' is a general term and not a specific one, so the condition 'viśeṣa-vacane' is not met; and since the optional rule 'vibhāṣitaṃ viśeṣa-vacane bahuvacanam' (8-1-74) does not prohibit it, 'viśve' would be treated as non-existent (avidyamāna-vat), and, like the pair of words 'śubhaspatī,' 'devāsaḥ' would also have first-syllable acute. By the evidence of the accent, then, taking the etymological sense of 'deva,' even at the cost of dropping the conventional one, is perfectly proper." (That is the end of the debate; the Bhāṣya's conclusion is that the etymological sense, "those who shine," is the one to be taken.)

Remaining word-grammar of the Bhāṣya for Rik 3.7 (characterized):

- “Ā gata” (= “āgacchata”): by “bahulaṃ chandasi” (बहुलं छन्दसि — bahulaṃ chandasi) the “śap” is elided (luk); and the “m” of the root “gam” is dropped under the rule that begins “anudāttopadeśa-…” (अनुदात्तोपदेश… — anudāttopadeśa-…); the word, standing after another word, takes nighāta (loss of accent) — the print here reads “ājaḥ padāt-paratvān nighātaḥ” (clear in the second scan; “ājaḥ” is as printed).
- “Dāśvāṃsaḥ” (root “dāś” to give): the participial affix “kvasu” is added; by दाश्वान् साह्वान् मीढ्वांश्च (dāśvān sāhvān mīḍhvāṃś ca, पा. ६-१-१२) the form is a nipātana (irregular formation), so the “iṭ” augment and the doubling that the “kādi-niyama” rule (the rule that restricts “iṭ” to the roots “kṛ, sṛ, bhṛ, vṛ, stu, dru, śru” — पा. ७-२-१३) would otherwise bring do not occur. By the affix-accent, “kvasu” is acute.
- “Dāśuṣaḥ”: वसोः संप्रसारणम् (vasoḥ samprasāraṇam, पा. ६-४-१३१) — “samprasāraṇa” (the semivowel is replaced by its vowel) for “vasu”; then संप्रसारणाच्च (samprasāraṇāc ca, पा. ६-१-१०८) — the former form (pūrvarūpa) results; and आदेशप्रत्यययोः (ādeśa-pratyayayoḥ, पा. ८-३-५९) — “s” becomes “ṣ.” ॥७॥

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

ओमासः (omāsaḥ) — protectors | चर्षणीधृतः (carṣaṇīdhṛtaḥ) — those who bear (or nourish) human beings | दाश्वांसः (dāśvāṃsaḥ) — (O you) who give the fruit of the sacrifice | (हे) विश्वे देवासः (he viśve devāsaḥ) — O you who are called the Viśvedevas | दाशुषः (dāśuṣaḥ) — of the sacrificer who gives the oblation | सुतम् (sutam) — the Soma pressed out and made ready (in order to drink it) | आ गत (ā gata) — come.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

O Viśvedevas! You are the protectors of men (or of those who are fit to perform sacrifice), and the givers of fruit to the sacrificial rites, the nourishers of men. Such as you are, come here, in order to drink the Soma-juice that the sacrificer has prepared for you.

English Translation (printed in English in the source itself):

“O Viswe devas, protectors and supporters of men, bestowers of rewards come to (drink) the libation of Soma juice of the worshipper.”

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

From here on, the next three Ṛks are named the “Vaiśvadeva-tṛca” (the triplet addressed to the Viśvedevas). These Ṛks are recited in the Abhijit-savana. And in the sacrifice called Cāturmāsya, on the day on which the Soma-juice is drawn out, the Adhvaryu recites these mantras while he draws out the Soma, with a large wooden vessel called the droṇa-kalaśa.

Page 49 — Special topics on Rik 3.7: “omāsaḥ,” “carṣaṇīdhṛtaḥ,” “viśve devāsaḥ” (opening)

(Page header: “Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 6 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā.” The English glosses on the verses are mine; the source gives none. Reference-numbers are in small Kannada numerals and read with [?] where uncertain.)

ओमासः (omāsaḥ) — Vocative plural. The word means “protectors, helpers.” The word is not used anywhere else in the Ṛgveda.

चर्षणीधृतः (carṣaṇīdhṛtaḥ) — The word “carṣaṇī” is read among the twenty-five words that denote “human being” (Nighaṇṭu 2-3). Examples:

> य एकश्चर्षणीनां वसूनामिरज्यसि । (ऋ. सं. १-७-९) ya ekaś carṣaṇīnāṃ vasūnām irajyasi | (ṛ. saṃ. 1-7-9) Gloss: “Who alone, of the peoples, of the goods, rules.” (The print has “irajyasi,” as I read it.)
>
> धर्त्तारा चर्षणीनाम् । (ऋ. सं. १-१७-२) dhartārā carṣaṇīnām | (ṛ. saṃ. 1-17-2) Gloss: “The two upholders of the peoples.”
>
> सेदु राजा क्षयति चर्षणीनामरान्न नेमिः परि ता बभूव ॥ (ऋ. सं. १-३२-१५) sedu rājā kṣayati carṣaṇīnām arān na nemiḥ pari tā babhūva || (ṛ. saṃ. 1-32-15) Gloss: “He alone rules as king over the peoples; as the felly encloses the spokes, he has encompassed them all.”

In these Ṛks and others the Bhāṣyakāra and the other commentators have explained “carṣaṇīnām” as “men.” Monier Williams holds that “carṣaṇī” derives from the root “kṛṣ” (to plough, to practise agriculture), so that “carṣaṇī” means “those who plough, people who practise agriculture”; this sense, too, seems well-formed. Other Western scholars, in rendering it, use the words “Man, people, race, stock, tribe.” In contexts where the word is used as an adjective, they say it has the sense “hastening, brisk, active.” Griffith says that since the word comes from the root “car” (to move about), the word “carṣaṇī” signifies “Living beings” (prāṇigaḷu). Many hold the view that, since the Āryas of the Ṛgvedic age were occupied in agriculture, the sense “Cultivating people” is the fitting one. Since the root “dhṛ” has the senses “to hold, to support, to nourish,” there is no need for doubt in explaining “carṣaṇīdhṛtaḥ” as “those worthy to nourish men, worthy to protect them.”

विश्वे देवासः (viśve devāsaḥ) — Among the thirty-one names of the particular classes of deities, beginning with “aśvinau,” the name of these deities is read. The Bhāṣyakāra says that they are a distinct, particular class of gods. Some say that they are all the gods. But that the sages worshipped distinct deities named “Viśvedevas” can be stated clearly from what is found in other sūktas. On this question Yāska has written an explanation of this Ṛk:

> अवितारो वावनीया वा मनुष्यधृतः सर्वे देवा इहागच्छत दत्तवन्तो दत्तवतः सुतमिति, तदेतदेकमेव वैश्वदेवं गायत्रं तृचं दशतयीषु विद्यते यत्तु किञ्चिद्बहुदैवतं तद्वैश्वदेवानां स्थाने युज्यते यदेव विश्वलिङ्गमिति शाकपूणिः । (नि. १२-४०) avitāro vāvanīyā vā manuṣyadhṛtaḥ sarve devā ihāgacchata dattavanto dattavataḥ sutam iti, tad etad ekam eva vaiśvadevaṃ gāyatraṃ tṛcaṃ daśatayīṣu vidyate yat tu kiñcid bahudaivataṃ tad vaiśvadevānāṃ sthāne yujyate yad eva viśva-liṅgam iti śākapūṇiḥ | (ni. 12-40) (Translated on p. 47 above: “Protectors or those to be desired, upholders of men; all the gods, come here … this one Vaiśvadeva Gāyatra tṛca in the daśatayī; whatever many-deitied hymn is fitted into the Vaiśvadevas’ place, whatever bears the mark of ‘viśva’ — so says Śākapūṇi.”)

In the discussion of the sense of this Ṛk there is no difference between the sense we have given and Yāska's. But according to Yāska's view "viśve devāḥ" means "all the gods," and "Viśvedevas" — gods called by that name — is, he says, the view of Śākapūṇi… (continues on the next page)

Page 50 — Special topics on Rik 3.7 (continued): the Viśvedevas; "ā gata," "dāśvāṃsaḥ," "dāśuṣaḥ"

(Page header: "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā · Mandala 1, Anuvāka 1, Sūkta 3." This page of the Kannada commentary is full of counts and reference-numbers printed in small Kannada numerals. Many of them are hard to read; the numbers below were re-read in the second scan (one, the Vājasaneyi-saṃhitā range 33-4? to 4?, is still doubtful); they should still be checked against the page before being relied on. The English phrases within the Kannada are printed in English in the source, and are reproduced as printed, with misprints marked [sic].)

(Continuing from p. 49:) …"…the view of Śākapūṇi," Yāska himself says. Hence it can be said with confidence that, even in his own time, there was a difference of opinion on this question. Now, if it is said that the Viśvedevas are (as is established practice in the domestic and other rites) not part of the group of ordinary deities, and are a special group of thirteen persons of their own, that too can be understood. Be that as it may, it seems proper to say that the Viśvedevas who are described in the Ṛgveda belong to a group of distinct, particular deities.

आ गत (ā gata) — Second person plural. In present-day Sanskrit this would be "āgacchata."

दाश्वांसः (dāśvāṃsaḥ) — This word, formed from the root "dāś" ("dāśṛ dāne," to give), means "those who give," that is, "those who give the fruit to the men who praise them." Western scholars explain the word with: "Donors, distributors, bestowers of riches," and the like.

दाशुषः (dāśuṣaḥ) — This word is genitive singular: "of one who gives (the oblation to the gods)," or "who is giving." It is formed like the word "dāśvāṃsaḥ." The sense given for it by Western scholars is: "Of the distributors (Ludwig, Benfey), of the worshipper (Rosen, Griffith, Williams), of the offerers" and the like (the source's English: "of tne [sic] worshipper").

On the Viśvedevas. Here it is necessary to state a few main points about the Viśvedevas.

- In the Ṛgveda there are 63 sūktas that praise the Viśvedevas alone.
- In addition, the first 41 Ṛks of the sūkta Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-164 (second scan; the digits are small, but 1-164 with its first 41 Ṛks is the Viśvedeva portion of the Dīrghatamas hymn) are devoted to the Viśvedevas.
- In all these — apart from the sūkta Ṛ. Saṃ. 10-125 — in all the other sūktas, many deities are praised; that is, just as in other sūktas, Agni, Indra and the others are praised, and further, trees, rivers, mountains, cows, horses and the like are also celebrated.
- Besides these, in sūktas devoted to other deities, there are altogether about 17 Ṛks here and there that are devoted to the Viśvedevas. In all these places the Viśvedevas themselves are stated to be the deities of those Ṛks.
- And in Ṛ. Saṃ. 10-125-1, the Vasus, Rudras and Ādityas are joined with the Viśvedevas.
- In Vājasaneyi-saṃhitā (Śukla Yajurveda) 2-22, Indra is prayed to come together with the Ādityas, the Vasus, the Maruts and the Viśvedevas. In the same Saṃhitā, in the mantras 33-45 to 47, Indra, Vāyu and other gods are praised along with the Viśvedevas.

- In the Atharvaveda 20-62-6 the Viśvedevas are referred to in the singular; and many sūktas devoted to the Viśvedevas are found in the Atharvaveda.
- In the Brāhmaṇas also the name of the Viśvedevas is mentioned in places. In the Kauṣītaki Brāhmaṇa (8-14) and in the mantras 1-20 of the Gopatha Brāhmaṇa, all the deities are given the name "Viśvedevas"… (continues on the next page)

Page 51 — The Viśvedevas (concluded); Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā for Rik 3.7 begins

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 6 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." As on p. 50, the references and counts in small Kannada numerals were re-read in the second scan; the Śatapatha, Nirukta and Bṛhaddevatā numbers are still marked [?] because the Kannada digits 2/3/7 are hard to tell apart; they must be re-checked against the page before being relied on.)

(Continuing from p. 50:) …"…and from that very word they are addressed (in the vocative)." In the Śatapatha Brāhmaṇa (3-9-2-6) the Viśvedevas are called the rays of the Sun; in the Śatapatha Brāhmaṇa (14-2-2-37) they are called the vital airs and the like; in the Śatapatha Brāhmaṇa (7-1-1-42) they are called the sacrificial rites; in the Śatapatha Brāhmaṇa (2-4-4-13) they are called Indra and Agni. In the Taittirīya Āraṇyaka (Tai. Ā. 5-1-6), Indra and Agni are praised together with the Viśvedevas.

In some of the Purāṇas the Viśvedevas are said to be the presiding deities of the directions. In the Nirukta (Ni. 12-39) "Viśvedevas" is said to mean all the gods. Durgācārya, the commentator of the Nirukta, explains "Viśvedevas" as the rays of the Sun. Besides stating his own view that "Viśvedevas" means all the deities, Yāska also reports the view of Śākapūṇi. Śaunaka, speaking of the Viśvedevas in his work Bṛhaddevatā (Bṛ. De. 2-128 to 134), says that Yāska and Śāṇḍilya hold that "Viśvedevāḥ" means all the deities; Śaunaka's own view is the same.

Sāyaṇācārya, in explaining this Ṛk, has stated his own view that the Viśvedevas are the thirty-one groups of gods, beginning with the Aśvins, who, taken together, are called "Viśvedevas."

Among Western scholars, Langlois, Kaegi and Hopkins hold that "Viśvedevas" means all the deities; Wilson, Griffith and Macdonell accept both senses: "all the deities," and "a distinct group of deities named Viśvedevas."

The main conclusion. In earlier times — that is, in very ancient times — the sense "all the deities" was the established sense of "Viśvedevas"; in the course of time it came into use to understand "Viśvedevas" as the name of a distinct group of deities. In many Brāhmaṇas and in the Purāṇas the Viśvedevas are indicated as one distinct group of deities. But from Yāska's own Nirukta it is evident that there was a difference of opinion on this matter even in Yāska's time.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥

"Avanti iti omāsaḥ" — because they protect, the gods are called "omāsaḥ." By the Uṇādi-sūtra "अवि सिवि सि शुषिभ्यः कित्" (avi sivi si śuṣibhyaḥ kit, उ. सू. १-१४१), after the roots "av" (to protect, etc.), "sivu" [print: "pivu"] (to sew, to weave together), "ṣiñ" (to bind) and "śuṣ" (to dry up) — roots which the print lists as "pivu tantu saṃtāne," "ṣiñ bandhane," "śuṣa śoṣaṇe" — the affix "man" comes, and it is "k"-marked (kit); so after the root "av," the affix "man"… (continues on the next page)

Pages 52–54 — Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā for Rik 3.7 (Kannada), concluded; Saṃhitā and Pada text of Rik 3.8

(Source pages 52 (even: "Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 1, Sūkta 3"), 53 (odd: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 6") and 54 (even). These three pages are pure Pāṇinian grammar in Kannada prose*: the Kannada rendering of the derivations and the accent-debate that Sāyaṇa gave in Sanskrit on pp. 47–48. Per the standing convention they are* characterized in order rather than translated line by line*; every sūtra cited is kept in three layers, with its number as printed (small Kannada numerals, read with care but not independently re-verified). Nothing in them alters the sense of the Rik given on p. 48.)*

p. 52 — "omāsaḥ," "carṣaṇīdhṛtaḥ," and the first stage of the accent-debate. - "Omāsaḥ" (from "av," to protect): the affix "man" comes, and though "man" is "k"-marked (which would bar guṇa), guṇa and "ūṭ" apply — by ज्वरत्वरस्रिव्यविमवामुपधायाश्च (jvara-tvara-srivyavi-mavām upadhāyāś ca, पा. ६-४-२०) the penultimate of the roots "jvar," "tvar," "sriv," "av," "mav" is replaced by "ūṭ" (also "kvi," "jhal" affixes), and the guṇa follows by सार्वधातुकार्धधातुकयोः (sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ, पा. ७-१-८४ [as printed]). Then आज्जसेरसुक् (āj-jaser asuk, पा. ७-१-५०) gives "omāsas"; the vocative is acute on its first syllable; hence "omāsaḥ." - "Carṣaṇayaḥ" = human beings; the gods "support them (by giving rain and the like)," hence "carṣaṇīdhṛtaḥ." - The accent-debate (Kannada rendering of Sanskrit pp. 47–48). "Omāsaḥ" is an earlier vocative, a general term; by विभाषितं विशेषवचने बहुवचनम् (vibhāṣitaṃ viśeṣa-vacane bahuvacanam, पा. ८-१-७४) it optionally escapes being treated as non-existent. If it is not treated as non-existent, "omāsaḥ" is not accented as a pāda-initial and takes the eighth-chapter vocative-grave (aṣṭamika anudātta); the discussion then compares सुबामन्त्रिते पराङ्गवत्स्वरे (subāmantrite parāṅgavat svare, पा. २-१-२), the Mahābhāṣya rule "vatkaraṇaṃ svāśrayam api yathā syāt" (वत्करणं स्वाश्रयमपि यथा स्यात् — पा. म. ८-१-७२ [as printed]), अनुदात्तं पदमेकवर्जम् (anudāttaṃ padam ekavarjam, पा. ६-१-१५८) and the parallel example "dravatpāṇī śubhaspatī" (द्रवत्पाणी शुभस्पती), exactly as in the Sanskrit on p. 47. Each time the point is that "parāṅgavad-bhāva" (treating the earlier vocative as part of the following word) applies only where the two words are semantically connected (समर्थः पदविधिः, samarthaḥ pada-vidhiḥ, पा. २-१-१). - The page ends in the middle of the argument over "viśve" and "devāsaḥ" ("…in the case of apposition, how would the second pāda-initial 'ṛtāvṛdhau' (in the"mitrāvaruṇau ṛtāvṛdhau" kind of example) get the acute…").

p. 53 — the argument concluded; "devāsaḥ," "ā gata," "dāśvāṃsaḥ." - If there is no apposition (sāmānādhikaraṇya), the prohibition in नामन्त्रिते समानाधिकरणे सामान्यवचनम् (nāmantrite samānādhikaraṇe sāmānya-vacanam, पा. ८-१-७३) does not apply, so by आमन्त्रितं पूर्वमविद्यमानवत् (āmantritaṃ pūrvam avidyamānavat, पा. ८-१-७२) the earlier vocative is treated as non-existent, and "subāmantrite parāṅgavat svare" does not apply; hence "viśve" keeps its pāda-initial accent and is acute, with no aṣṭamika-anudātta. "Devāsaḥ" is the qualifier of "viśve," from "divyanti iti devāḥ" ("those who shine"). The earlier objection — that, by the Paribhāṣā "avayava-śakteḥ samudāya-śaktir balīyasī" (परि. ९८), the conventional sense of "deva" should override the etymological one — is answered by saying that if the conventional sense were taken, "deva" would be a general term, and "viśve" could not be given its distinct-class sense; the paribhāṣā rests, the print says, on a maxim about the "delayed understanding"

(viḷambita-dhī) that the etymological sense would cause [the maxim's wording is unclear in the print, so I do not quote it]. The conclusion stated: the etymological sense ("shining ones") is to be taken here. "Devāsaḥ" gets its "-asaḥ" by आज्ञसेरसुक् (āj-jaser asuk, पा. ७-१-५०). - "Ā gata" (= "āgacchata"): from "ā" + "gam"; the imperative second-person-plural ending "tha" is replaced by "ta" by तस्थस्थमिपां तां तं तामः (tasthasthamipāṃ tāṃtaṃtāmaḥ, पा. ४-१-१ [as printed]); "śap" by कर्तरि शप् (kartari śap, पा. ६-१-६८ [as printed]) is elided by बहुलं छन्दसि (bahulaṃ chandasi, पा. २-४-७३); the "m" of "gam" is dropped by अनुदात्तोपदेशवनतितनोत्यादीनामनुनासिकलोपो झलि क्ङिति (anudāttopadeśa-vanati-tanotyādīnām anunāsika-lopo jhali ṅiti, पा. ६-४-३७) → "gata"; since "ā" is a particle placed before it, "gata" takes nighāta (loss of accent) as a word following another. - "Dāśvāṃsaḥ": root "dāś" (to give); the participle-affix "kvasu"; by आर्धधातुकस्येड्वलादेः (ārdhadhātukasyeḍ valādeḥ, पा. ७-२-३५) the "iṭ" would come to the "vasu" (a "val"-initial affix), but the "kṛ-sṛ-bhṛ-vṛ-stu-dru-śru" group-rule कृसृभृवृस्तुद्रुश्रुवो लिटि (kṛ-sṛ-bhṛ-vṛ-stu-dru-śru-vo liṭi, पा. ७-२-१३) restricts "iṭ" in the "liṭ" to those roots, and "dāś" is not among them… (continues p. 54)

(Printed references on this page, in order (Oct 2026 numeral pass): Pā. 8-1-73; 8-1-72; 8-1-74; 7-1-50; 4-1-1 [as printed]; 6-1-68 [as printed]; 2-4-73; 6-4-37; 0-2-107 [as printed] (kvasuś ca); 7-2-35; 7-2-8 (neḍ vaśi kṛti); 7-2-13.)

p. 54 — "dāśvāṃsaḥ" concluded; "dāśuṣe." (continuing) …so "iṭ" does not occur; but since Pāṇini's own दाश्वान्साह्वान्मीढ्वांश्च (dāśvān sāhvān mīḍhvāṃś ca, पा. ६-१-१२) states these forms irregularly (nipātana), "iṭ" does not arise; and from the same statement the doubling prescribed by लिटि धातोरनभ्यासस्य (liṭi dhātor anabhyāsasya, पा. ६-१-८) is also not made (the sūtra is "irregular" with "dāś" described as a root with two syllables…). By the affix-accent "kvasu" is acute. Then the form "dāśuṣe" is derived [the print continues with "dāśuṣe" here, as the dative of "dāśvas"; the Rik has "dāśuṣaḥ," but the derivation is the same]: after "kvasu," the dative singular affix "e" gives "dāśvas + e"; वसोः संप्रसारणम् (vasoḥ samprasāraṇam, पा. ६-४-१३१) — "samprasāraṇa" for "vasu," since it ends in "vas" and is in "bha" (the stem-class before affixes that begin with a vowel, by यचि भम् yaci bham, पा. १-४-१८): the vowels "i, u, ṛ, ḷ" replacing "y, v, r, l" are named "samprasāraṇa" (इग्यणः संप्रसारणम्, ig-yaṇaḥ samprasāraṇam, पा. १-१-४५); then संप्रसारणाच्च (samprasāraṇāc ca, पा. ६-१-१०८) gives the single former form ("pūrvarūpa"): "dāś + us + e"; and आदेशप्रत्यययोः (ādeśa-pratyayayoḥ, पा. ८-३-५९) turns the "s" into "ṣ": "dāśuṣe." ॥७॥

---

Sūkta 3, The Eighth Mantra

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented — see the note at Rik 3.5.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

विश्वे॑ दे॒वासो॑ अ॒पुरः॑ सु॒तमा ग॑न्त॒ तूर्ण॑यः । उ॒स्रा इ॑व स्वस॒राणि॑ ॥८॥

víśve devāso aptúraḥ sutámā gaṃta tūrṇayaḥ | usrā́ iva svásarāṇi ||8||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

विश्वे । देवासः । अप्तुरः । सुतम् । आ । गन्त । तूर्णयः । उस्रा इव । स्वसराणि ॥८॥

(Reading note: in the Pada text the print shows a small dividing sign inside "apturaḥ" (read as "ap-turaḥ") and between "usrā" and "iva"; I give the words undivided.)

Page 55 — Sūkta 3, Eighth Mantra: Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya, Pada-meanings, Bhāvārtha

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 6 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." Sanskrit printed in Kannada script, rendered into Devanagari/IAST; where the print is unclear. The sense-portion is given in all three layers; the grammatical derivations at the end are characterized, with their sūtras kept*, per convention.)*

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

विश्वे देवास एतन्नामकगणरूपा देवविशेषाः सुतं सोममा गन्त । आगच्छन्तु । कीदृशाः । अप्तुरः । तत्तत्काले वृष्टिप्रदा इत्यर्थः । तूर्णयः त्वरायुक्ताः । यजमानमनुग्रहीतुमालस्यरहिता इत्यर्थः । विश्वेषां देवानां सोमं प्रत्यागमने उस्रा इत्यादि दृष्टान्तः । उस्राः सूर्यरश्मयः स्वसराण्यहानि प्रत्यालस्यरहिता यथा समागच्छन्ति तद्वत् । viśve devāsa etan-nāmaka-gaṇa-rūpā deva-viśeṣāḥ sutaṃ somam ā gantā | āgacchantu | kīdṛśāḥ | aptuaḥ [sic: apturaḥ] | tat-tat-kāle vṛṣṭi-pradā ity arthaḥ | tūrṇayaḥ tvarā-yuktāḥ | yajamānam anugrahītum ālasya-rahitā ity arthaḥ | viśveṣāṃ devānāṃ somaṃ pratyāgamane usrā ity ādi dṛṣṭāntaḥ | usrāḥ sūrya-raśmayaḥ svasarāṇy ahāni pratyālasya-rahitā yathā samāgacchanti tad-vat |

Translation: "'Viśve devāsaḥ' — the particular class of gods, in the form of a group of that name — come to the pressed Soma. Let them come ('āgacchantu'). What kind are they? 'Apturaḥ' — givers of rain at the proper times. 'Tūrṇayaḥ' — full of haste, that is, free from sloth in order to favour the sacrificer. The words beginning 'usrā iva' give an illustration for the coming of all the gods to the Soma: just as 'usrāḥ' — the rays of the Sun — come each day without sloth to 'svasarāṇi,' the days, so (the gods come)."

(Correction to my own IAST above: the Rik's word is "apturaḥ" — the stray "aptuaḥ" in the line is a slip in my transliteration, not a variant reading.)

खेदये इत्यादिषु पञ्चदशसु रश्मिनामसु उस्रा वसव इति पठितम् । वस्तोरित्यादिषु द्वादशसु अहर्नामसु स्वसराणि घ्रंसो घर्म इति पठितम् । तच्छब्दं पदं यास्केन व्याख्यातम् । स्वसराण्यहानि भवन्ति स्वयंसारीण्यपि वा स्वरादित्यो भवति स एतानि सारयति । उस्रा इव स्वसराणीत्यपि निगमो भवति । नि. ५-४ । इति ॥ khedaye ity ādiṣu pañcadaśasu raśmi-nāmasu usrā vasava iti paṭhitam | vastor ity ādiṣu dvādaśasu ahar-nāmasu svasarāṇi ghraṃso gharma iti paṭhitam | tac-chabdaṃ padaṃ yāskena vyākhyātam | svasarāṇy ahāni bhavanti svayaṃ-sārīṇy api vā svar āditya bhavati sa etāni sārayati | usrā iva svasarāṇīty api nigamo bhavati | ni. 5-4 | iti ||

Translation: "Among the fifteen names for 'rays,' beginning with 'khedaye', 'usrāḥ' and 'vasavaḥ' are read; among the twelve names for 'day,' beginning with 'vastoḥ,' 'svasarāṇi,' 'ghraṃsaḥ' and 'gharma' are read. Yāska has explained that word: 'Svasarāṇi are the days — or those that move of themselves; or the Sun is "svar," and he makes these go.' And 'usrā iva svasarāṇi' is also a Vedic quotation (Nirukta [numbers read 5-4 ?])."

॥ Grammar within the Bhāṣya ॥ (characterized) “Devāsaḥ”: formed with the “ac” affix of the “pacādi” class, which is “c”-marked, so the last syllable is acute (पचाद्यच्, pacādy ac; पा. ३-१-१३४). “Apturaḥ”: from the root “tur” (to hasten) with the “śluu” (reduplicating) stem, with “kvip” in the sense “those who speed [the rain],” and the preceding word’s own accent retained as it is a “gati/kāraka/upapada”-first compound. “Ā ganta”: the second-person-plural form used for the third (by vyatyaya), “śap” elided by बहुलं छन्दसि (bahulaṃ chandasi), the ending replaced by “ta” by तस्य तप्तनप्तनथनाश्च (tasya tap-tanap-tanathanāś ca, पा. ७-१-४५), the “p”-marked “tap” being non-“ṅit” so that the loss of the nasal does not occur, and nighāta by “tiṅ atiṅaḥ.” “Tūrṇayaḥ”: root “tvar” (to be agitated), Uṇādi affix “ni[t]” in the list “vahi-śri-śru-yu-dru-glāhā-tvaribhyo ni(t)” (उ. ४-५१); “n”-marked, so first-syllable acute. “Usrā iva”: with “iva” the case-ending is not dropped (the compound-rule with its vārttika, पा. २-१-४, with the vārttika as printed “२-१-४-२″), the preceding word keeps its natural accent (पा. ६-२-१, “bahuvrīhau prakṛtyā pūrvapadam”). “Svasarāṇi”: “saratīti saraḥ sūryaḥ” — “sara” is the Sun (root “sṛ,” with “ac”); “svaḥ saro yeṣām tāni svasarāṇi ahāni” — the days of which the Sun is the mover — a bahuvrīhi, with the first member “svar” acute by “bahuvrīhau prakṛtyā pūrvapadam” (पा. ६-२-१).

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

अप्तुरः (apturaḥ) — givers of rain (those who give rain) | (हे) विश्वे देवासः (he viśve devāsaḥ) — O Viśvedevas | उस्रा इव स्वसराणि (usrā iva svasarāṇi) — as the rays of the Sun reach (us) in the daytime | सुतम् (sutam) — the Soma-juice that has been prepared (for you to drink) | तूर्णयः (tūrṇayaḥ) — those who are speedy (swiftly, quickly) | आ गन्त (ā ganta) — come.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

O Viśvedevas! You are the givers of rain — that is, you cause the rain to fall. The Soma-juice has been prepared for you. To drink it, come quickly, as the rays of the Sun, at daytime (as soon as the sun has risen), come and reach us.

Page 56 — English rendering of Rik 3.8; Special topics: “apturaḥ,” “sutam,” “tūrṇayaḥ”

(Page header: “Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 1, Sūkta 3.” English passages are as printed in the source. Reference-numbers are in small Kannada numerals; where uncertain. Glosses on the verses are mine.)

English Translation (printed in English in the source itself):

“May Visvedevas, givers of rain, swift in action, come to the libation (of soma juice) as the (sun’s) rays (come) to the days.”

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

अप्तुरः (apturaḥ) — The Bhāṣyakāra and Skandasvāmī both explain this as “vṛṣṭi-pradāḥ” — that is, “those who give rain.” Among Western scholars, for this word: “Gloss” [as printed; I take it to be a scholar’s name rendered thus] — “Stepping over an expanse of water, commanding over water, overcoming all difficulty”; Griffith — “active, pushing, hardworking”;

Ludwig — “Securer of rains, Active, quick, swift”; Williams — “shedder of rains”; Rosen — “rich in rains”; Benfey — “worthy, active, diligent.” This word “apturaḥ” is used not only of the Viśvedevas but also of other deities — the Aśvins, Indra, Agni, Pavamāna-Soma and others:

> For the Aśvins: ये अपुरो दिव्यासो न गृध्रा अभि प्रयो नासत्या वहन्ति ॥ (ऋ. सं. १-११८-४) ye apturo divyāso na gṛdhrā abhi prayo nāsatyā vahanti || (ṛ. saṃ. 1-118-4) Gloss: “Those (horses) that are rain-bringers, like heavenly vultures, carry the Nāsatyas to the offering.”
>
> For Indra: यज्ञेन गातुमपुरो विविद्रिरे धियो हिन्वाना उशिजो मनीषिणः ॥ (ऋ. सं. २-२१-५ तथा ३-५१-२) yajñena gātum apturo vividrire dhiyo hinvānā uśijo manīṣiṇaḥ || (ṛ. saṃ. 2-21-5 and 3-51-2) Gloss: “By sacrifice the active, wise, eager singers found the path, stirring their thoughts.”
>
> For Pavamāna-Soma: इन्द्रं वर्धन्तो अपुरः कृण्वन्तो विश्वमार्यम् ॥ (ऋ. सं. ९-६३-५; ९-६१-१३; ९-६३-२१; ९-१०८-७) indraṃ vardhanto apturaḥ kṛṇvanto viśvam āryam || (ṛ. saṃ. 9-63-5; 9-61-13; 9-63-21; 9-108-7) Gloss: “Strengthening Indra, the swift ones, making the whole world noble (Āryan).”
>
> For Agni: अग्निं यन्तुरमपुरमृतस्य योगे वनुषः ॥ (ऋ. सं. ३-२७-११) इत्यादि agniṃ yanturam apturam ṛtasya yoge vanuṣaḥ || (ṛ. saṃ. 3-27-11) ity ādi Gloss: “Agni, the controller, the rain-giver, at the yoking of the Order, to the one who honours.” [tentative]

सुतम् (sutam) — “Pressed with stones, crushed, the juice squeezed out and filtered so as to be fit for drinking.” Along with it the word “somam” sometimes occurs and sometimes does not; in both cases the sense is the Soma-juice.

तूर्णयः (tūrṇayaḥ) — “Tvaramāṇāḥ” — hastening, vigilant, quick: the Bhāṣyakāra explains it as “those who come quickly, without sloth, to give the fruit of the sacrifice to the sacrificer.” Western scholars too, in various words — “speedy, diligently, hastily, quickly, swift, quick in work” — accept the Bhāṣyakāra’s sense.

---

Page 57 — Special topics: “usrā iva,” “svasarāṇi”; Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā for Rik 3.8 begins

(Page header: “Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 6 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā.”)

उस्रा इव (usrā iva) and स्वसराणि (svasarāṇi) — The word “usrā” is read among the fifteen words that denote rays (Nighaṇṭu 2-15), and, in the sense “cows,” among the nine words (Nighaṇṭu 3-9); and the word “svasarāṇi” is read among the twelve words that denote “day,” and also among the twenty-two names that denote “house.” Hence, for the illustrative sentence “usrā iva svasarāṇi,” besides the sense the Bhāṣyakāra gives, one may also render it “as cows go to their own homes.” Both Skandasvāmī and Veṅkaṭamādhava give both kinds of meaning. Western scholars too explain “svasarāṇi” by “day, cowshed, stall, abode, grazing” and similar words (English as printed in the source). The word “svasarāṇi” is used in the Ṛks 1-34-8; 2-19-2; 2-34-5; 3-60-6.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (Kannada; characterized, sūtras kept) “Devāsaḥ”: by नन्दिग्रहिपचादिभ्यो ल्युणिन्यचः (nandi-grahi-pacādibhyo lyu-ṇiny-acaḥ, पा. ३-१-१३४) the affix “ac” comes after the “pacādi” root “div”; in the nominative plural “āj-jaser asuk” (पा. ७-१-५०) gives the augment “asuk”; the “ac” affix being “c”-marked, the last syllable is acute by चितः (citaḥ, पा. ६-१-१६३). “Apturaḥ”: the root “tur” (to hasten) is in the “juhotyādi” group, taking “ślu”; “apaḥ tuturti” — “they make the waters hasten,” i.e., cause rain at the proper times; with this intended sense, “kvip” is added after “tur” by क्विप् च (kvip ca, पा. ३-२-७६), all of whose letters are then elided; with “jas” the form “apturaḥ” results; the accent of the second member of the kṛt-compound is retained by गतिकारकोपपदात्कृत् (gati-kāraka-upapadāt kṛt, पा. ६-२-१३९). “Ā ganta” (= “āgacchantu”): the second-person-plural “tha” stands for the third (vyatyaya); “tha” becomes “ta” by तस्थस्थमिपां तान्तन्तामः (tasthasthamipāṃ tāntantāmaḥ, पा. ३-४-१०१); the “śap” is elided by बहुलं छन्दसि (bahulaṃ chandasi); “ta” becomes “tap” (तस्य तप्तनप्तनथनाश्च, tasya tap-tanap-tanathanāś ca, पा. ७-१-४५); since “tap” is “p”-marked, the “sārvadhātuka” is not “ṅit” (सार्वधातुकमपित्, sārvadhātukam apit, पा. १-२-४), so the nasal “m” of “gam” is not elided (अनुदात्तोपदेशवनतितनोत्यादीनामनुनासिकलोपो झलि क्ङिति, पा. ६-४-३७), and by नश्चापदान्तस्य झलि (naś cāpadāntasya jhali, पा. ८-३-२४) the “n/m” not at the end of a word before a “jhal” becomes anusvāra, which by अनुस्वारस्य ययि परसवर्णः (anusvārasya yayi parasavarṇaḥ, पा. ८-४-५८) takes the nasal of the following consonant’s class… (continues on the next page)

Page 58 — Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā for Rik 3.8 concluded; Sūkta 3, Ninth Mantra: Saṃhitā, Pada, and the opening of the Bhāṣya

(Page header: “Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 1, Sūkta 3.” The grammar at the top is the Kannada rendering of what Sanskrit p. 55 already gave; characterized, sūtras kept.)

The grammar of Rik 3.8 concluded (continuing from p. 57): “…by अनुस्वारस्य ययि परसवर्णः (anusvārasya yayi parasavarṇaḥ, पा. ८-४-५८) the anusvāra takes the nasal of the class of the following letter — ‘n’ — giving ‘ā gan-ta’; here तिङ्ङतिङः (tiṅ atiṅaḥ, पा. ८-१-२८; the print has १८-१-२८) gives the unaccented form.” “Tūrṇayaḥ” (from “tvar”): by the Uṇādi-sūtra वहिश्रिश्रुयुद्रुग्लाहात्वरिभ्यो णित् (vahi-śri-śru-yu-dru-glā-hā-tvaribhyo ṇit, उ. सू. ४-४-९१ [as printed]) — roots “vah” (to carry), “śriñ” (to serve), “śru” (to hear), “yu” (to mix), “dru” (to go), “glai” (to wither), “ohāk” (to go), “tvarā” (to be agitated) — the affix “ṇi” is added, and it is “nitya”; from “tvarā saṃbhrame” we get “tvar + ṇi”; by ज्वरत्वरस्रिव्यविमवामुपधायाश्च (jvara-tvara-srivyavi-mavām upadhāyāś ca, पा. ६-४-२०) “ūṭ” appears and the affix’s “n” becomes “ṇ” by रषाभ्यां नो णः समानपदे (raṣābhyāṃ no ṇaḥ samāna-pade, पा. ८-४-१) → “tūrṇi”; being “ṇ”-marked the first syllable is acute; the nominative plural gives “tūrṇayaḥ.” “Usrā iva”: by “ivena saha nitya-samāso vibhakty-alopaḥ pūrva-pada-prakṛti-svaratvaṃ ca” (इवेन सह नित्यसमासो विभक्त्यलोपः पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं च — पा. २-१-४ वा. २ [as printed]) the compound is obligatory, the case-ending is not dropped, and the first member keeps its natural accent. “Svasarāṇi”: “saratīti saraḥ sūryaḥ” — “sara” is the Sun (‘sṛ,’ to go, with “ac” of the pacādi class); “svaḥ saro yeṣāṃ tāni svasarāṇy ahāni” — days of which the Sun is the mover; in this bahuvrīhi, by बहुव्रीहौ प्रकृत्या पूर्वपदम् (bahuvrīhau prakṛtyā pūrvapadam, पा. ६-२-१) the first member keeps its accent; hence “sva” is acute on its first syllable. ॥८॥

Sūkta 3, The Ninth Mantra

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented — see the note at Rik 3.5.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

विश्वे॑ दे॒वासो॑ अ॒स्रिध॒ एहि॑मायासो अ॒द्रुहः॑ । मेध॑ं जुषंत॒ वह्न॑यः ॥९॥

víśve devāso asrídha éhimāyāso adrúhaḥ | médhaṃ juṣaṃta váhnayaḥ ||9||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

विश्वे । देवासः । अस्रिधः । एहिमायासः । अद्रुहः । मेधम् । जुषन्त । वह्नयः ॥९॥

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥ (opening)

विश्वेदेवास एतन्नामका देवविशेषा मेधं हविर्यज्ञसंबद्धं जुषन्ते । सेवन्ताम् । कीदृशाः । अस्रिधः क्षयरहिताः शोषरहिता वा एहिमायासः सर्वतो व्याप्तप्रज्ञाः । यद्वा । सौचीकमग्निमप्सु प्रविष्टमेहि मा यासीरिति यदवोचन् तदनुकरणहेतुकोऽयं विश्वेषां देवानां व्यपदेश एहिमायास इति । अद्रोहः ...
viśvedevāsa etan-nāmakā deva-viśeṣā medhaṃ havir-yajña-sambaddhaṃ juṣante | sevantām | kīdṛśāḥ | asridhaḥ kṣaya-rahitāḥ śoṣa-rahitā vā ehimāyāsaḥ sarvato vyāpta-prajñāḥ | yad vā | saucīkam agnim apsu praviṣṭam ehi mā yāsīr iti yad avocan tad-anukaraṇa-hetuko 'yaṃ viśveṣāṃ devānāṃ vyapadeśa ehimāyāsa iti | adroho ...

Translation: "The Viśvedevas — a particular class of gods of that name — let them enjoy ('juṣantām' = 'sevantām') the 'medha,' the oblation connected with the sacrifice. What kind are they? 'Asridhaḥ' — free from decay, or free from drying-up; 'ehimāyāsaḥ' — those whose wisdom (prajñā) pervades everywhere. Or else: because they said, to Agni the Saucīka who had entered the waters, 'Come! do not go!' ("ehi mā yāsīḥ" — the print on this page shows the second word ambiguously, but the Bhāṣya's own next lines, and the Kannada commentary on p. 60, give "mā"), this designation 'ehimāyāsaḥ' for the Viśvedevas arose from that imitation (of their speech). 'Adrohaḥ' ..." (continues on the next page)

Page 59 — Rik 3.9: Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (concluded), grammar, Pada-meanings, Bhāvārtha, English rendering

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 6 ·Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." Sanskrit printed in Kannada script; where the print is unclear. The grammar is characterized, sūtras kept; the sense is transcribed in full.)

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥ (continuing from p. 58, at "adrohaḥ")

...द्रोहरहिताः । वह्नयो वोढारो धनानां प्रापयितारः ॥ ... droha-rahitāḥ | vahnayo voḍhāro dhanānāṃ prāpayitāraḥ ||

Translation: "'Adruhaḥ' — free from malice (droha). 'Vahnayaḥ' — bearers; those who bring about the attaining of riches."

Grammar of Rik 3.9 (characterized): - “Asridhaḥ” — from “sridh,” in the sense of decay (or of drying up), “kvip” in the abstract sense after the “sampadādi” class (पा. ३-३-१०८ with its vārttika, printed ३-३-१०८-९); a negative bahuvrīhi; setting aside the first-member’s accent, नञ्सुभ्याम् (nañ-subhyām) gives acute on the last syllable of the second member. - “Ehimāyāsaḥ” — “īh” (to strive); “ā samantād īhate” — “he who strives on all sides” = “ehiḥ”; the affix “in” (उ. ४-११२) comes to roots generally, and, being “n”-marked, the first syllable is acute; “ehir māyā prajñā yeṣām” — a bahuvrīhi in which the first member keeps its accent. Alternatively: the word “ehi” is the imperative second-person-singular after the “ā” accented (loṇ-madhyama-ekavacana) with the unaccented ending lost by “tiṅ atiṅaḥ” nighāta, with the fusing vowel “e” acute — and then “ehi” + “mā” of “mā yāsīḥ”: “those who have the two syllables ‘māyā’ in the phrase ‘ehi mā yāsīḥ’” = “ehimāyāsaḥ”; the first member keeps its accent. - “Adruhaḥ” — “druh” (to wish to injure), “kvip” by “sampadādi” in the abstract; negative bahuvrīhi; last syllable of the second member acute by “nañ-subhyām.” - “Medham” — “medhṛ” (to unite): “that which is united with, approached by the gods” = “medham,” oblation; “ghañ” in the object-sense; “ñ”-marked, so first syllable acute. - “Juṣanta” — in the sense “sevantām” (“let them enjoy”), in the Veda the “luṅ, laṅ, liṭ” may stand for the imperative (छन्दसि लुङ्लङ्लिटः, chandasi luṅ-laṅ-liṭaḥ, पा. ३-४-६); since the sense is joined to the root meanings of “druh” etc., “laṅ” is chosen; by बहुलं छन्दस्यमाङ्योगेऽपि (bahulaṃ chandasy amāṅ-yoge ’pi, पा. ६-४-७५) the augment “aṭ” does not occur. - “Vahnayaḥ” — from “vah” with the Uṇādi “ṇi/ni” (वहिश्री... , vahi-śri-...); “n”-marked, so first-syllable acute. ॥९॥

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

विश्वे देवासः (viśve devāsaḥ) — O Viśvedevas, (you) | अस्रिधः (asridhaḥ) — free from decay, free from destruction | एहिमायासः (ehimāyāsaḥ) — those who have wisdom (knowledge) in all directions and in all matters | अद्रुहः (adruhaḥ) — those who are free from malice (hostility) | वह्नयः (vahnayaḥ) — those who bring (to those who praise you, wealth and lordship), who carry | (such you) मेधम् (medham) — the oblation that belongs to the sacrifice | जुषन्त (juṣanta) — enjoy (eat).

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

O Viśvedevas! You are free from destruction, complete in wisdom about all matters — that is, all-knowing. You are not those who harbour hostility to another. You are those who bring to the ones who praise you wealth and lordship. Such as you are, partake of the oblation connected with the sacrifice that we offer.

English Translation (printed in English in the source itself):

“May the Visve devas, who are immortal, Omniscient, devoid of malice and bearers (of riches), accept the Sacrificial food.”

Page 60 — Special topics on Rik 3.9: “asridhaḥ,” “ehimāyāsaḥ,” and the legend of Agni in the waters (opening)

(Page header: “Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 1, Sūkta 3.”)

अस्रिधः (asridhaḥ) — The Bhāṣyakāra explains this as “one free of decay, or free of drying-up” — in the source’s own English, “not causing drought, or dryness.” Western scholars have used the words (English as printed): “Unfailing, undecaying, undrying, undaunted, fearless, friendly, harmless,” and the like.

एहिमायासः (ehimāyāsaḥ) — This word occurs in the Ṛgveda in this Ṛk alone, nowhere else. The Bhāṣyakāra explains it as “sarvato vyāpta-prajñāḥ” (“those whose understanding pervades everywhere”). Skandasvāmī gives “ahīna-māyāḥ, anyūna-prajñānāḥ” (अहीनमायाः अन्यूनप्रज्ञानाः — “those of undiminished wisdom, of unlessened understanding”). Both of them, and also Veṅkaṭamādhava, in considering the origin of this word, or how it came to be a fixed term, quote a sentence of the Kauṣītaki Brāhmaṇa:

> सौचीकमग्निमप्सु प्रविष्टमेहि मा यासीरिति यदवोचन् तदनुकरणहेतुकोऽयं विश्वेषां देवानां व्यपदेश एहिमायास इति । saucīkam agnim apsu praviṣṭam ehi mā yāsīr iti yad avocan tad-anukaraṇa-hetuko ’yaṃ viśveṣāṃ devānāṃ vyapadeśa ehimāyāsa iti |

Translation: “Because they said to Agni Saucīka, who had entered the waters, ‘Come! do not go!’ — this designation of the Viśvedevas, ‘ehimāyāsaḥ,’ arises from the imitation of that speech.”

That is: seeing the Agni named Saucīka entering the waters, the gods said “ehi mā yāsīḥ” — “come, do not go” — and the word “ehimāyāsaḥ” is thought to have become the fixed word through imitation of those words. This matter is described in detail in the tenth Maṇḍala, sūkta 51 of the Ṛgveda (Ṛ. Saṃ. 10-51-6 [print]):

> अग्नेः पूर्वे भ्रातरो अर्थमेतं रथीवाध्वानमन्वावरीवुः । तस्माद्भिया वरुण दूरमायं गौरो न क्षेप्नोरविजे ज्यायाः ॥ कुर्मस्त आयुरजरं यदग्ने यथा युक्तो जातवेदो न रिष्याः । अथा वहासि सुमनस्यमानो भागं देवेभ्यो हविषः सुजात ॥ प्रयाजान्मे अनुयाजांश्च केवलानूर्जस्वन्तं हविषो दत्त भागम् । घृतं चापां पुरुषं चौषधीनामग्नेश्च दीर्घमायुरस्तु देवाः ॥ तव प्रयाजा अनुयाजाश्च केवल ऊर्जस्वन्तो हविषः सन्तु भागाः । तवाग्ने यज्ञोऽयमस्तु सर्वस्तुभ्यं नमन्तां प्रदिशश्चतस्रः ॥ (ऋ. सं. १०-५१-६ से ९)
>
> agneḥ pūrve bhrātaro artham etaṃ rathīvādhvānam anvāvarīvuḥ | tasmād bhiyā varuṇa dūram āyaṃ gauro na kṣepnor avije jyāyāḥ || kurmas ta āyur ajaraṃ yad agne yathā yukto jātavedo na riṣyāḥ | athā vahāsi sumanasyamāno bhāgaṃ devebhyo haviṣaḥ sujāta || prayājān me anuyājāṃś ca kevalān ūrjasvantaṃ haviṣo datta bhāgam | ghṛtaṃ cāpāṃ puruṣaṃ cauṣadhīnām agneś ca dīrgham āyur astu devāḥ || tava prayājā anuyājāś ca kevala ūrjasvanto haviṣaḥ santu bhāgāḥ | tavāgne yajño ’yam astu sarvas tubhyaṃ namantāṃ pradiśaś catasraḥ || (ṛ. saṃ. 10-51-6 to 9)
>
> Gloss (mine; the source gives no translation of these four verses on this page): “(Agni:) ‘Agni’s elder brothers went this way, like a charioteer along his road; from fear of that, O Varuṇa, I have come far away, like a buffalo from the archer’s shot.’ (The gods:) ‘We shall make your life unageing, O Agni, so that you, Jātavedas, bound to us, shall not come to harm; and then, well-disposed, you will carry the portion of the oblation to the gods, O well-born one.’ (Agni:) ‘Give me the fore-offerings and after-offerings, whole, and a strong portion of the oblation; and may ghee (the essence of the waters) and the “puruṣa” of the plants and Agni’s long life be [mine], O gods.’ (The gods:) ‘Yours are the fore-offerings and after-offerings, whole; may the portions of the oblation be full of strength; yours, O Agni, be this whole sacrifice; may the four quarters bow to you.'" [tentative; for orientation only]

This sūkta is a conversation between the gods and Agni. The main point: Agni had three elder brothers, named Bhūpati, Bhuvanapati and Bhūtānāṃpati, who, like Agni, used to carry the oblations to the gods in the sacrifice. When, in the sacrifice, the oblation was made with the thunderbolt-like cry "vaṣaṭ," these three brothers died. Seeing that, the youngest, Agni, frightened, went into the waters and hid. While the gods were searching for Agni, the fish in the water [told] the gods that Agni was in the water… (continues on the next page)

Page 61 — The legend of Agni in the waters (concluded); the Taittirīya Saṃhitā version

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 6 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." The Taittirīya text below is transcribed from the Kannada print letter by letter; I have not corrected it from outside knowledge, and a few of its spellings look irregular, which I leave as printed.)

(Continuing from p. 60: "…the fish in the water told the gods that Agni was in the water.") Then the gods came and addressed Agni; that very conversation is what is described in this sūkta. The gods asked Agni to come up out of the water and, as before, to carry the oblations for them; but Agni, because his brothers had died, said that the same fate awaited him too, and that therefore he would not come. The gods said, "Do not fear death; we shall so arrange it that you do not have the fear of death." Agni then said: "Very well; but besides keeping the fear of death from me, in the sacrifices the prayāja, anuyāja, ūrjasvat, sviṣṭakṛt, ājyabhāga and other special oblations must be given to me." The gods agreed, gave him the portions of the oblation, and appointed him again as before to the work of oblation-bearing, so that he would carry the chief role in the sacrifice, be worshipped by all, and have long life. This is the main sense of this sūkta.

In the Taittirīya Saṃhitā of the Yajurveda the matter stands thus:

> अग्नेस्त्रयो ज्याया꣣सो भ्रातर आसन्ते देवेभ्यो हव्यं वहन्तः प्रामीयन्त सोऽग्निरबिभेदित्थं वाव स्य आर्तिमार्ष्यतीति स निलायत सोऽपः प्राविशत्तं देवताः प्रैषमैच्छंस्तं मत्स्यः प्राब्रवीत्तमशपद्धियोधियो त्वा वध्यासुर्यो मा प्रावोचे इति तस्मान्मत्स्यं धियोधियो घ्नन्ति शप्तो हि तमन्वविन्दन्तमब्रुवन्नुप न आ वर्तस्व हव्यं नो वहेति सोऽब्रवीद्वरं वृणै यदेव गृहीतस्याहुतस्य बर्हिः परिधिस्कन्दात्तन्मे भ्रातृणां भागधेयमसदिति तस्माद्यद्गृहीतस्याहुतस्य बर्हिः परिधि स्कन्दति तेषां तद्भागधेयं तानेव तेन प्रीणाति परिधीन्परि दधाति रक्षसामपहत्यै ॥ (तै. सं. २-६-६) agnes trayo jyāyāṃso bhrātara āsante devebhyo havyaṃ vahantaḥ prāmīyanta so 'gnir abibhed itthaṃ vāva sya ārtim ārṣyatīti sa nilāyata so 'paḥ prāviśat taṃ devatāḥ praiṣam aicchaṃs taṃ matsyaḥ prābravīt tam aśapad dhiyodhiyo tvā vadhyāsur yo mā prāvoce iti tasmān matsyaṃ dhiyodhiyo ghnanti śapto hi tam anvavindan tam abruvann upa na ā vartasva havyaṃ no vaheti so 'bravīd varaṃ vṛṇai yad eva gṛhītasyāhutasya barhiḥ paridhiskandāt tan me bhrātṛṇāṃ bhāgadheyam asad iti tasmād yad gṛhītasyāhutasya barhiḥ paridhi skandati teṣāṃ tad bhāgadheyaṃ tān eva tena prīṇāti paridhīn pari dadhāti rakṣasām apahatyai || (tai. saṃ. 2-6-6)

> Translation (mine, following the Kannada account below; where the Sanskrit is irregular I give the sense of the Kannada): "Agni had three elder brothers, who carried the oblation to the gods; they perished. Agni feared, 'this very distress will > reach me,' and hid; he entered the waters. The gods sought him out; a fish told them, and he cursed it — 'may those who kill you (fish), kill you with cleverness (dhiyodhiyo)' — and therefore people kill fish by their wits, for it was cursed. The gods found him and said, 'Come back to us, carry the oblation for us.' He said, 'Let me choose a boon: whatever of the offered oblation, of the barhis, falls (outside) beyond the fire-sticks (paridhi), let that be the share of my brothers.' Therefore whatever of the offered oblation falls beyond the paridhi is their share; with that he satisfies them; he lays the paridhis around, for the driving away of the rākṣasas." (Taittirīya Saṃhitā 2-6-6, as printed)

The Kannada account (translated): Formerly Agni had three elder brothers; they used to carry to the gods the oblations that the sacrificer gave in the sacrifices. When they died, Agni, fearing that the same fate might reach him too, ran off, entered the water and hid, seen by no one. While the gods were searching for where Agni had gone, a fish in the water told the gods that Agni was hiding in the water. Hearing this tale-bearing of the fish, Agni was angry and cursed it: "From now on, people shall catch the fish that are in the water, by nets and other means, and kill them." So even now people catch fish and eat them. Afterwards the gods said to Agni, "O Agni, come back and be diligent in the work of bearing the oblation for us." To this Agni said — (he asked that) the paridhis used in the sacrifice when oblations are made (special bundles of darbha-grass laid on the four sides around the fire, so that rākṣasas do not come and obstruct the sacrifice), that the share of the ājya and other oblations that falls outside (on the near side) be the oblation-share of his brothers; if this boon were granted, he would come out of the water and carry the oblation to the gods as before. The gods agreed and gave him that boon. Thus the story runs.

Page 62 — Special topics on Rik 3.9 (continued): "ehimāyāsaḥ" and "māyā"

(Page header: "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 1, Sūkta 3." Reference-numbers in small Kannada numerals are read as best I can and all marked [?]; English in the source is reproduced as printed, misprints marked [sic].)

Therefore, according to the opinion of some, the word "ehimāyāsaḥ" became a fixed word through imitation of the sentence "ehi mā yāsīḥ" ("Do not go — come!") which the gods addressed to Agni when he was entering the water.

Some hold that "ehimāyāsaḥ" is merely a variant form of the word "ahimāyāḥ." This word, in its different case-forms, ahimāyān (Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-190-4), ahimāyāḥ (Ṛ. Saṃ. 6-52-15; 10-63-4) and ahimāyasya (Ṛ. Saṃ. 6-20-7), is used only in the four Ṛks of which these are the references. For this word Western scholars give, (English as printed):

- Roth — "Of many shapes or agile like a serpent, tricky as a serpent."
- Williams — "Having unsurpassable wisdom."
- Griffith — "Having Superhuman Power."
- Ludwig — "Having the wiles of serpants [sic]."

— thus various senses are given. For the word "māyā" the following senses can be given in the Ṛgveda (English as printed):

1. Creative power.

2. Miraculous power (Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-160-3; 2-17-5 &c.)
3. Power of assuming various shapes (Ṛ. Saṃ. 3-53-8; 5-63-6; 6-22-6 &c.)
4. Wiles, tactics, tricks (Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-80-7; 6-18-9 &c.)
5. Sorcery, witchcraft, magic (Ṛ. Saṃ. 2-27-16; 8-23-15; 6-45-9 &c.)
6. Illusion (Ṛ. Saṃ. 10-54-2)

Formerly this word may have carried the senses "wisdom, intelligence (buddhi), skill (kuśalate)." In the course of time it appears that its use in other senses became established. In the Purāṇas and the Vedānta as well, senses such as "prakṛti, divine power, creative power, supernatural power" are the established ones for "māyā." In the Ṛgveda, forms of this word — māyā, māyayā, māyāḥ, māyābhiḥ, māyām, māyāvān, māyāvinaḥ, māyāvinam, māyinaḥ, māyinam, māyinā, māyinām, māyā and others — are used in many Ṛks in different senses; their senses will be explained in the places concerned.

Page 63 — "adruhaḥ"; Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā for Rik 3.9 (Kannada) — characterized (Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 6 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." The grammar is the Kannada rendering of Sanskrit p. 59, characterized in order, with the sūtras kept; I note where the numbers differ from the Sanskrit page.)

अद्रुहः (adruhaḥ) — This word is derived from the root "druh" ("druha jighāṃsāyām," to wish to injure). The sense of this word is "free from malice"; in the source's English: "not injuring, kindly disposed, without evil, without ill-will, without hostility, Guileless, not deceiving, devoid of malignity." Though different words are used to explain the sense, the chief intention is one.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ - "Asridhaḥ": the root "sridh" (denoting decay, or drying); by संपदादिभ्यः क्विप् (sampadādibhyaḥ kvip, पा. ३-३-१०८, वा. ९) "kvip" in the abstract sense; the negative "nañ" compounded with "sridh" as a bahuvrīhi ("na sridh yeṣām te"); setting aside the first-member accent of बहुव्रीहौ प्रकृत्या पूर्वपदम् (bahuvrīhau prakṛtyā pūrvapadam, पा. ६-२-१), by नञ्सुभ्याम् (nañ-subhyām, पा. ६-२-१७२) the last syllable of the second member is acute — "asridh" is end-acute. - "Ehimāyāsaḥ": "ā" + root "īh ceṣṭāyām" (to strive): "he who strives on all sides" = "ehi"; an Uṇādi affix "in" comes to roots generally (Uṇ. Sū. 2-557 [as printed]; p. 59 cites it as 4-112), and, being "n"-marked, the first syllable is acute; "ehir māyā prajñā yeṣām te ehimāyāsaḥ" — a bahuvrīhi with first-member accent (पा. ६-२-१). Alternatively — as a particle-like first member it is first-syllable acute; behind it the root "iṇ gatau" in the imperative second-person-singular "ihi" (loṇ madhyama-ekavacana), which loses its accent by तिङ्ङतिङः (tiṅ atiṅaḥ, पा. ८-१-२८); with "ā" + "ihi," the guṇa-substitution gives a single "e," which, by एकादेश उदात्तेनोदात्तः (ekādeśa udāttenodāttaḥ, पा. ८-२-५), is acute. In that analysis the word is "ehi" together with the two syllables "māyā" of the phrase "ehi mā yāsīḥ": "those who have the two letters 'māyā' with the word 'ehi'" = "ehimāyāsaḥ," a bahuvrīhi keeping its first-member accent. - "Adruhaḥ": the root "druh jighāṃsāyām" is in the "sampadādi" group, so "kvip" comes; with "nañ" as a bahuvrīhi, by नञ्सुभ्याम् the second member is end-acute. - "Medham": from the root "medhṛ saṅgame" (to unite): "medhyate saṅgamyate devaiḥ iti medham" — the oblation, because it is united with the gods; the affix "ghañ" in the object-sense; "ñ"-marked, hence first-syllable acute. - "Juṣanta": since the sense of the root is joined with those of "druh" and the like, छन्दसि लुङ्लङ्लिटः (chandasi luṅ-laṅ-liṭaḥ, पा. ३-४-६) gives

"laṅ" in the sense "sevatām" ("let them enjoy"); and by बहुलं छन्दस्यमाङ्योगेऽपि (bahulaṃ chandasy amāṅ-yoge 'pi, पा. ६-४-७५ [as printed "...-4-75"]) — the augments "aṭ" and "āṭ" come variably, even when there is no "māṅ"; in some places, even where "māṅ" is present, they come; hence here no "āṭ" augment arises. (continues on p. 64)

Page 64 — Rik 3.9 grammar concluded; Sūkta 3, Tenth Mantra (the Sarasvatī ṭṛca): Saṃhitā, Pada, and the opening of the Bhāṣya

(Page header: "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 1, Sūkta 3." Accent-marks are not reproduced in the Saṃhitā/Pada text; see the note at Rik 3.5.)

(Continuing:) ..."vahnayaḥ": here the affix "ni" comes by the Uṇādi-sūtra "vahi-śri-..." (as at p. 58); "n"-marked, so first-syllable acute. ॥९॥

---

Sūkta 3, The Tenth Mantra

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

पा॒वका न॒: सर॑स्वती वाजे॑भिर्वा॒जिनी॑वती । य॒ज्ञं व॑ष्टु धि॒याव॑सुः ॥१०॥

pāvakā́ naḥ sárasvatī vā́jebhirvājínīvatī | yajñáṃ vaṣṭu dhiyā́vasuḥ ||10||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

पावका । नः । सरस्वती । वाजेभिः । वाजिनीवती । यज्ञम् । वष्टु । धियावसुः ॥१०॥

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

सारस्वते तृचे या प्रथमा सान्वारम्भणीयेष्ट्या सरस्वत्याः पुरोनुवाक्या । तथा दर्शपूर्णमासारप्स्यमान इत्यस्मिन्कण्डे पावका नः सरस्वती पावीरवी कन्या चित्रायुः । आ. २-८ । इति सूत्रितम् ॥ sārasvate ṭṛce yā prathamā sānvārambhaṇīyeṣṭyā sarasvatyāḥ puronuvākyā | tathā darśa-pūrṇamāsārapsyamāna ity asmin kaṇḍe pāvakā naḥ sarasvatī pāvīravī kanyā citrāyuḥ | ā. 2-8 | iti sūtritam ||

Translation: "In the Sārasvata ṭṛca (the triplet addressed to Sarasvatī), the first Ṛk is the invitatory verse (puronuvākyā) of Sarasvatī in the"sānvārambhaṇīya" sacrificial offering; and likewise, in the section beginning "darśa-pūrṇamāsārapsyamāna" (one about to begin the new- and full-moon sacrifices), the Ṛks "pāvakā naḥ sarasvatī" and "pāvīravī kanyā citrāyuḥ" are laid down in the sūtra (the source reference as printed is "ā. 2-8")."

सरस्वती देवी वाजेभिर्हविर्लक्षणैरन्नैर्निमित्तभूतैः । यद्वा । यजमानेभ्यो दातव्यैरन्नैर्निमित्तभूतैः । नोऽस्मदीयं यज्ञं वष्टु । कामयताम् । कामयित्वा च निर्वहत्वित्यर्थः । तथा चारण्यककाण्डे श्रुत्यैव व्याख्यातम् । यज्ञं वष्टिवति यदाह यज्ञं वहत्विति तदाह । ऐ. आ. १-१-४ । इति । कीदृशी सरस्वती । पावका शोधयित्री वाजिनीवत्यन्नवत्क्रियावती धियावसुः कर्मप्राप्त्यधननिमित्तभूता । वाग्देवतायास्तथाविधं धननिमित्तत्वमारण्यककाण्डे श्रुत्या व्याख्यातम् । यज्ञं वष्टु धियावसुरिति वाग्वै धियावसुः । ऐ. आ. १-१-४ । इति । श्येनः सोम इत्यादिषु पञ्चत्रिंशत्संख्याकेषु देवताविशेषवाचिषु पदेषु सरमा सरस्वतीति पठितम् । एतामृचं यास्क एवं व्याचष्टे । पावका नः सरस्वत्यन्नैरन्नवती यज्ञं वष्टु

धियावसुः कर्मवसुः । नि. ११- … sarasvatī devī vājebhir havir-lakṣaṇair annair nimitta-bhūtaiḥ | yad vā | yajamānebhyo dātavyair annair nimitta-bhūtaiḥ | no 'smadīyaṃ yajñaṃ vaṣṭu | kāmayatām | kāmayitvā ca nirvahatv ity arthaḥ | tathā cāraṇyaka-kāṇḍe śrutyaiva vyākhyātam | yajñaṃ vaṣṭīvati yad āha yajñaṃ vahatv iti tad āha | ai. ā. 1-1-4 | iti | kīdṛśī sarasvatī | pāvakā śodhayitrī vājinīvaty annavat-kriyāvatī dhiyāvasuḥ karma-prāpty-adhana-nimitta-bhūtā | vāg-devatāyās tathāvidhaṃ dhana-nimittatvam āraṇyaka-kāṇḍe śrutyā vyākhyātam | yajñaṃ vaṣṭu dhiyāvasur iti vāg vai dhiyāvasuḥ | ai. ā. 1-1-4 | iti | śyenaḥ soma ity ādiṣu pañcatriṃśat-saṃkhyākeṣu devatā-viśeṣa-vācişu padeṣu saramā sarasvatīti paṭhitam | etām ṛcaṃ yāska evaṃ vyācaṣṭe | pāvakā naḥ sarasvaty annair annavatī yajñaṃ vaṣṭu dhiyāvasuḥ karma-vasuḥ | ni. 11- …

Translation: "'Sarasvatī' — the goddess — 'vājebhiḥ': by the oblation-nature foods that are the occasion (nimitta-bhūta) — or, by the foods to be given to the sacrificers, which are the occasion — 'may she desire our sacrifice ('vaṣṭu': let her desire it); and having desired it, let her carry it through' — such is the sense. And so the Āraṇyaka section itself explains this by Śruti: 'When it says "may she desire the sacrifice" ("yajñaṃ vaṣṭu"), it says "let her carry the sacrifice."'" (Aitareya Āraṇyaka 1-1-4). What kind of Sarasvatī? 'Pāvakā' — the purifier; 'vājinīvatī' — one possessing food, possessing activity; 'dhiyāvasuḥ' — one who is the occasion for the attaining of wealth through ritual action. That the goddess of speech is, in this way, the occasion of wealth, is explained by the Śruti in the Āraṇyaka section: '"yajñaṃ vaṣṭu dhiyāvasuḥ" — Speech indeed is "dhiyāvasuḥ."' (Aitareya Āraṇyaka 1-1-4). Among the thirty-five words denoting particular deities, beginning with 'śyenaḥ soma,' 'saramā' and 'sarasvatī' are read. Yāska explains this Ṛk thus: '"Pāvakā naḥ sarasvatī": Sarasvatī, rich in foods; "yajñaṃ vaṣṭu dhiyāvasuḥ": let her desire the sacrifice, she whose wealth is ritual action.' (Nirukta 11-…)" (continues on the next page)

Page 65 — Rik 3.10: close of the Bhāṣya (Nirukta quotation), grammar, Pada-meanings, Bhāvārtha, English rendering

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 6 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." Sanskrit printed in Kannada script; [?] where unclear. The sense lines are in three layers; the grammar is characterized with its sūtras kept.)

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥ (concluding the Nirukta quotation begun on p. 64)

…३६ । इति ॥ … 36 | iti ||

Translation: "(Nirukta 11-)36. — So much (of Yāska)." (The number "36" is the continuation of the reference left open at the foot of p. 64.)

Grammar of Rik 3.10 (characterized, with sūtras): - "Pāvakā": "pavanaṃ pāvaḥ śuddhiḥ; pāvaṃ kāyatīti pāvakā" — one who "sings/makes" purity ("kai gai rai śabde"); by आतोऽनुपसर्गे कः (āto 'nupasarge kaḥ, पा. ३-२-३) the affix "ka"; the accent of a kṛt-ending as second member gives an end-acute. Alternatively, in the sense "she purifies," with "ṇvul," the vowel "a" before the affix's "k" would normally become "i" (इदाप्यसुपः, id āpy asupaḥ, पा. ७-३-४४ [as printed "7-3-44"]), but that does not occur here, and the "aṃśa-udātta" accent is to be regarded as Vedic. - "Sarasvatī": "saras" from "sṛ" with the "asun" affix, hence first-syllable acute; "matup" and “ṅīp,” being “p”-marked, are unaccented. - “Vājebhiḥ”: “vāja” is first-syllable acute as belonging to the “vṛṣādi” class (an “ākṛti-gaṇa,” an open-ended list). - “Vājinīvatī”: “vājo ’nnam asty āsām” — “those [ritual] actions which possess food” = “vājinyaḥ kriyāḥ” [reading of the print: “vājo ’nnam āstīti vājinyaḥ kriyāḥ” ?]; by अत इनिठनौ (ata iniṭhanau, पा. ५-२-११५) the affix “ini”; “she who has those actions” = “vājinīvatī”; by छन्दसीरः (chandasīraḥ) “matup” gets “va”; since “matup” and “ṅīp” are “p”-marked and unaccented, only the “ini” affix’s first-syllable acute remains. - “Yajñam”: by यजयाचयतविच्छप्रच्छरक्षो नङ् (yaja-yāca-yata-vicchaprachcha-rakṣo naṅ, पा. ३-३-९०) the affix “naṅ”; end-acute by the affix. - “Vaṣṭu”: root “vaś kāntau” (to desire; “kānti” = wish); by आदिप्रभृतिभ्यः शपः (ādi-prabhṛtibhyaḥ śapaḥ) “śap” is elided (luk); nighāta. - “Dhiyāvasuḥ”: “dhiyā karmaṇā vasu yasyāḥ sakāśād bhavati sā dhiyāvasuḥ” — she from whom wealth comes by ritual action; the case-ending is acute by सावेकाचः (sāv ekācaḥ); in a bahuvrīhi, by बहुव्रीहौ प्रकृत्या पूर्वपदम् (bahuvrīhau prakṛtyā pūrvapadam), the case-accent alone remains; the retention of the instrumental ending (a-luk) is Vedic.

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

पावका (pāvakā) — one who purifies (people), or who cleanses | वाजिनीवती (vājinīvatī) — (to the people who praise) one who has food and sustenance and gives them | धियावसुः (dhiyāvasuḥ) — she who is the cause of wealth and the like, the fruit of sacrifice and the other rites | सरस्वती (sarasvatī) — the goddess Sarasvatī (the goddess of speech, or the river named Sarasvatī) | नः (naḥ) — our | यज्ञम् (yajñam) — the sacrifice | वाजेभिः (vājebhiḥ) — through the foods that take the form of the oblation | वष्टु (vaṣṭu) — let her desire (let her bring the sacrifice to completion, with all its parts).

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

The goddess Sarasvatī is the purifier of people; she gives food and the like to the people who worship her by sacrifice and the like; and she is the cause of the attainment of lordship in the form of wealth. May such a Sarasvatī, satisfied with the foods and the like, in the form of the oblation that we give, bring our sacrifice to its full completion.

English Translation (printed in English in the source itself):

“May Saraswati, the purifier, the bestower of food, recompenser of worships with wealth, be attracted to our rite by our offer of sacrificial food.”

Page 66 — Special topics on Rik 3.10: the Sārasvata tṛca; the Anvārambhaṇīyā sacrifice

(Page header: “Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 1, Sūkta 3.” Reference-numbers in small Kannada numerals read as best I can; [?] where uncertain.)

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

This Ṛk, “pāvakā naḥ,” together with the following two Ṛks, form the “sārasvata-tṛcaḥ,” that is, three Ṛks that relate to Sarasvatī. Of these three Ṛks, the first, “pāvakā naḥ,” is the “puronuvākyā” mantra for invoking Sarasvatī in the special sacrificial offering called the Anvārambhaṇīyeṣṭi. In a sacrifice, when oblation is made to any god, two Ṛks are used; both must relate to that deity. With the first Ṛk — recited aloud — the deity is invoked; this Ṛk is called "puronuvākyā." With another Ṛk the oblation is made to that deity; this mantra is called "yājyā." Likewise, in the Anvārambhaṇīyeṣṭi both Ṛks, "puronuvākyā" and "yājyā," are used. This matter the great sage Āśvalāyana has stated thus in his Śrauta-sūtra (Āśv. Śrau. Sū. 2-8), in the section beginning "darśapūrṇamāsārapsyamāna":

> पावका नः सरस्वती पावीरवी कन्या चित्रायुः । (आश्व. २-८) pāvakā naḥ sarasvatī pāvīravī kanyā citrāyuḥ | (āśv. 2-8) Gloss: "'Pāvakā naḥ sarasvatī' and 'pāvīravī kanyā citrāyuḥ'." (The sūtra simply names the two Ṛks to be used.)

Before performing this Anvārambhaṇīyeṣṭi and the Darśapūrṇamāsa sacrifice, the sacrificer must first perform the rites called puṇyāhavācana, nāndīśrāddha and udakaśānti, tie a thread called pratisara on his wife's hand, and then, on the day following, after performing the daily rites such as bathing, he must make the resolution: "yāvajjīvaṃ darśapūrṇamāsābhyāṃ yakṣye" (यावज्जीवं दर्शपूर्णमासाभ्यां यक्ष्ये — yāvaj-jīvaṃ darśa-pūrṇamāsābhyāṃ yakṣye — "as long as I live I shall sacrifice with the new-moon and full-moon sacrifices"). Next he makes the resolution "anvārambhaṇīyayā yakṣye" (अन्वारम्भणीयया यक्ष्ये — "I shall sacrifice with the anvārambhaṇīyā") and must perform the rite called agnyanayana — bringing in the fire from the Gārhapatya fire by the "agni-viharaṇa." Then, in speaking of the "anvādhāna," the chief ("pradhāna") oblation is made to the principal deities Agnāviṣṇū, Sarasvatī, Sarasvān, and Agnir-bhagī (the last name as printed; I am not sure of it). The offering-materials are: for Agnāviṣṇū, "ekādaśa-kapāla puroḍāśa" (a cake on eleven potsherds); for the deity Sarasvatī, a "caru" (cooked rice-offering); for Sarasvān, a "dvādaśa-kapāla puroḍāśa" (twelve potsherds); and for the deity "Agnir-bhagī," an "aṣṭādaśa-kapāla puroḍāśa" (eighteen potsherds). The "puronuvākyā" and "yājyā" mantras used when making oblation to these deities are these:

> अग्नाविष्णू — अग्नाविष्णू सजोषसा (पुरोनुवाक्या) · अग्नाविष्णू महि धाम (याज्या) agnāviṣṇū — agnāviṣṇū sajoṣasā (puronuvākyā) · agnāviṣṇū mahi dhāma (yājyā) सरस्वती — पावकानः सरस्वती (पुरोनुवाक्या) ऋ. सं. १-३-१० · पावीरवीकन्या (याज्या) ऋ. सं. ६-४९-७ sarasvatī — pāvakā naḥ sarasvatī (puronuvākyā) ṛ. saṃ. 1-3-10 · pāvīravī kanyā (yājyā) ṛ. saṃ. 6-49-7 सरस्वान् — पीपिवांसं सरस्वतः (पुरोनुवाक्या) ऋ. सं. ७-९६-६ · दिव्यं सुपर्णं वायसम् (याज्या) ऋ. सं. १-१५४-२ sarasvān — pīpivāṃsaṃ sarasvataḥ (puronuvākyā) ṛ. saṃ. 7-96-6 · divyaṃ suparṇaṃ vāyasam (yājyā) ṛ. saṃ. 1-154-2 Gloss (mine): "Agnā-Viṣṇū: 'Agni and Viṣṇu, of one mind…' / 'Agni and Viṣṇu, the great abode…'; Sarasvatī: 'Our purifier Sarasvatī…' / 'The purifier, the maiden…'; Sarasvān: 'Sarasvān who is full of [waters]…' / 'The divine, fair-winged bird…'." [tentative; the print gives only the opening words]

(The page continues on p. 67 with the remaining oblations.)

Page 67 — The Anvārambhaṇīyā mantras (concluded); "pāvakā" and its use for different deities

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 6 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." Reference-numbers in small Kannada numerals; [?] where I am unsure of a digit. Glosses are mine and tentative.)

(Continuing the list of puronuvākyā/yājyā mantras from p. 66:)

> अग्निर्भगी — आसवं सवितुः (पुरोनुवाक्या) ऋ. सं. ८-१०२-६ ·स नो राधांस्या भर (याज्या) ऋ. सं. ७-१५-११ agnir-bhagī — āsavaṃ savituḥ (puronuvākyā) ṛ. saṃ. 8-102-6 ·sa no rādhāṃsyā bhara (yājyā) ṛ. saṃ. 7-15-11 Gloss: "(Of Savitṛ) the impulsion of Savitṛ…" / "Bring us, then, bounties…" [tentative; only opening words are given]

That is: in this Anvārambhaṇīyeṣṭi, when the goddess Sarasvatī is invoked, the Ṛk

> पावकानः सरस्वती वाजेभिर्वाजिनीवती । यज्ञं वष्टु धियावसुः ॥ (ऋ. सं. १-३-१०) pāvakā naḥ sarasvatī vājebhir vājinīvatī | yajñaṃ vaṣṭu dhiyāvasuḥ || (ṛ. saṃ. 1-3-10) (= the present Rik 3.10; translated above.)

is to be used as the puronuvākyā mantra, and the Ṛk

> पावीरवी कन्या चित्रायुः सरस्वती वीरपत्नी धियं धात् । ग्नाभिरच्छिद्रं शरणं सजोषा दुराधर्षं गृणते शर्म यंसत् ॥ (ऋ. सं. ६-४९-७) pāvīravī kanyā citrāyuḥ sarasvatī vīrapatnī dhiyaṃ dhāt | gnābhir acchidraṃ śaraṇaṃ sajoṣā durādharṣaṃ gṛṇate śarma yaṃsat || (ṛ. saṃ. 6-49-7) Gloss (mine): "May Sarasvatī, the maiden, of wondrous life, the hero's consort, grant insight; may she, in concert with the goddess-wives, grant to the singer a shelter without a gap, hard to assail." [tentative]

is to be used as the yājyā mantra — so it is said.

पावका (pāvakā) — This word is derived from the root "pūñ" ("to purify, to cleanse"). The Bhāṣyakāra gives its derivation as "pavanaṃ pāvaḥ śuddhiḥ, taṃ kāyatīti pāvakā" (पवनं पावः शुद्धिस्तं कायतीति पावका — "'pāva' is purification; she who 'makes' that is 'pāvakā'"), i.e., one who purifies; one who cleanses, removing sins. Though the word "pāvaka" is used in many places of deities such as Agni, the Maruts and Soma, it is used especially of Agni:

> Agni — अग्ने पावक रोचिषा मन्द्रया देव जिह्वया । (ऋ. सं. ५-२६-१) agne pāvaka rociṣā mandrayā deva jihvayā | (ṛ. saṃ. 5-26-1) Gloss: "O purifying Agni, with your light, with your joyful tongue, O god."
>
> स नः पावक दीदिवोऽग्ने देवाँ इहावह । (ऋ. सं. १-१२-१०) sa naḥ pāvaka dīdivo 'gne devām̐ ihāvaha | (ṛ. saṃ. 1-12-10) Gloss: "O shining purifier, bring the gods here."
>
> अस्या जरासो दमा मरित्रा अर्चद्धूमासो अग्नयः पावकाः ॥ (ऋ. सं. १०-४६-७) asyā jarāso damā maritrā arcaddhūmāso agnayaḥ pāvakāḥ || (ṛ. saṃ. 10-46-7) Gloss: "…the purifying fires, with smoke…" [tentative; the first half is not clear to me]
>
> Indra — मिहः पावकाः प्रतता अभूवन्त्स्वस्ति नः पिपृहि पारमासाम् । (ऋ. सं. ३-३१-२०) mihaḥ pāvakāḥ pratatā abhūvan svasti naḥ pipṛhi pāram āsām | (ṛ. saṃ. 3-31-20) Gloss: "The purifying showers have spread out; carry us safely across them."
>
> Uṣas — व्यू व्रजस्य तमसो द्वारोच्छन्तीरव्रञ्छुचयः पावकाः ॥ (ऋ. सं. ४-५१-२) vy ū vrajasya tamaso dvāroc chantīr avran śucayaḥ pāvakāḥ || (ṛ. saṃ. 4-51-2) Gloss: "Shining, they have opened the doors of the dark pen — the bright, purifying (dawns)." [tentative]

Āpaḥ (the Waters) — समुद्रार्था याः शुचयः पावकास्ता आपो देवीरिह मामवन्तु ॥ (ऋ. सं. ७-४९-३) samudrārthā yāḥ śucayaḥ pāvakās tā āpo devīr iha mām avantu || (ṛ. saṃ. 7-49-3) Gloss: "Those pure, purifying waters that go to the sea — may those divine waters protect me here."

Maruts — ऋतेन सत्यमृतसाप आयञ्छुचिजन्मानः शुचयः पावकाः । (ऋ. सं. ७-५६-१२) ṛtena satyam ṛtasāpa āyañ chucijanmānaḥ śucayaḥ pāvakāḥ | (ṛ. saṃ. 7-56-12) Gloss: "By the Order, they came to the truth, followers of the Order, bright-born, pure, purifying." [tentative]

Page 68 — "pāvakā" (concluded); "sarasvatī" — the five senses of the word (opening)

(Page header: "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 1, Sūkta 3." Reference-numbers in the five lists below re-read from the better scan, Oct 2026 numeral pass. English words are as printed in the source.)

In these and other mantras, the word "pāvaka" is used of different deities. Western scholars have explained this word with such words as (English as printed): "Purifier, purifying, bright, glittering, pure, sacred, blazing, flaming." In the sense relating to Agni, both senses — "that which purifies" and "that which shines" — may be said.

सरस्वती (sarasvatī) — Sāyaṇācārya has given a five-fold account of the sense of the word "sarasvatī" as used in the Ṛgveda mantras:

1. Nadī (a river) — Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-142-9; 1-164-52; 2-30-8.
2. The name of a river — Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-3-12; 2-41-16; 3-23-4; 6-61 (the 4th, 7th, 10th, 11th and 13th Ṛks of it); 6-52-6; 6-61-2; 7-36-6; 7-95-1 and 2; 7-96-1; 8-21-17 and 18; 10-64-9; 10-65-13.
3. The name of a deity — Ṛ. Saṃ. 5-43-11; 5-46-2; 6-49-7; 5-50-12; 10-17-7; 10-30-12.
4. An ākāśābhimāni-devatā (a deity presiding over the sky-region) — "(one of the three goddesses Iḷā, Bhāratī and Sarasvatī)" — Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-188-8.
5. Vāgdevī (the goddess of Speech) — Ṛ. Saṃ. 2-1-11; 3-4-8; 3-54-13; 5-42-12; 7-39-5; 7-40-3; 9-67-32.

In the Ṛgveda there are many mantras praising the goddess Sarasvatī. But on the question "who is this goddess Sarasvatī, and what is her nature?" the author of the Nirukta (Yāska) has said nothing; he has said only: "nadīvad devatāvac ca nigamā bhavanti" (नदीवद्देवतावच्च निगमा भवन्ति — nadīvad devatāvac ca nigamā bhavanti — "there are Vedic passages (that treat her) as a river and as a deity"). That is: in some mantras that have the deity Sarasvatī as their subject she is described as a river, and in some as a deity. But it is not clear whether the river named Sarasvatī is regarded as a goddess and praised, or the goddess is regarded as a river and praised. Therefore it must be said that "Sarasvatī" points to both river and deity. In the view that Sarasvatī is a deity, the questions — who is that deity? what is her nature? what are her station and abodes? — cannot easily be answered with a fitting reply. In the view that Sarasvatī is a river, it may be said that a river of that famous name existed in ancient times (the source adds in English: "the modern Sarsuti") and that this very river is praised in the Ṛgveda. When it is said so, a doubt arises: in the sacrifices and the like performed for the sake of particular deities, would not the praise of inanimate things such as rivers be forbidden? … (continues on the next page)

Page 69 — Sarasvatī as river and as deity: the Mīmāṃsā question; five views of the goddess

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 6 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." Reference-numbers in small Kannada numerals marked [?] where uncertain.)

(Continuing from p. 68, at the doubt whether praise of inanimate things like rivers would be forbidden in sacrifices:) …"That doubt can be answered. On this point the sage Jaimini, in his Mīmāṃsā-sūtra, raised the objection ("pūrvapakṣa") on the basis of "acetane 'rtha-bandhanāt" (अचेतनेऽर्थबन्धनात् — acetane 'rtha-bandhanāt, जै. सू. १-२-३५) — that is, that where mantras address inanimate things, the connection of sense is [impossible]. To this the Bhāṣyakāra (the Vedāntic commentator) has given the answer by citing the Vedānta-sūtra "abhimāni-vyapadeśaḥ" (अभिमानिव्यपदेशः — abhimāni-vyapadeśaḥ, वे. सू. २-१-५): that is, wherever, in Veda-mantras, inanimate things are addressed, it is to be understood that what is said is addressed to the presiding deities ("abhimāni-devatā") of those inanimate things. (See Part 1, pp. 380–381.) Hence, where a river is praised, it is to be understood that its presiding deity is praised. Concerning this goddess Sarasvatī many persons hold many different views:

1. In the Purāṇas and elsewhere, "Sarasvatī" means "vāg-adhiṣṭhātrī, śāradā, vidyā-svarūpiṇī, haṃsa-vāhinī" (वागधिष्ठात्री शारदा विद्यास्वरूपिणी हंसवाहिनी) — a particular deity: the presiding deity of speech, famous by the name Śāradā, embodying learning, seated on a swan.
2. Or: this goddess Sarasvatī is the Āditya (the Sun) specially qualified by a limiting condition ("upādhi"); "upādhi" here means the twilight. So some hold that the Sun, shining at twilight, is here praised in the form of Sarasvatī.
3. The word "saras" comes from the root "sṛ" (to move, to flow): "saro 'syā asti" or "sarastejo yasyā vidyate sā sarasvatī" — she who has "saras" (radiance, fluid motion) — she who shines in the form of radiance is therefore called "Sarasvatī."
4. Or (the source quotes Sanskrit here):

   अथवा — प्रातर्वाचां प्रवर्तिका, प्राणिनां स्वापपरित्यागेन स्वोचितव्यवहारेषु प्रवृत्तौ शब्दायमानतायाः प्रवृत्तेः, रात्रौ च वाचां निरोधिका रात्रौ प्राणिनां निलायनिलीनत्वेन सुप्यमानतया शब्दविरामात् । एवं च शब्दस्य प्रवर्तिका निवर्तिका एषैव लोके सरस्वतीत्वेन व्यपदिश्यते नान्या ॥ athavā — prātar vācāṃ pravartikā, prāṇināṃ svāpa-parityāgena svocita-vyavahāreṣu pravṛttau śabdāyamānatāyāḥ pravṛtteḥ, rātrau ca vācāṃ nirodhikā rātrau prāṇināṃ nilāya-nilīnatvena supyamānatayā śabda-virāmāt | evaṃ ca śabdasya pravartikā nivartikā eṣaiva loke sarasvatītvena vyapadiśyate nānyā ||

   (Reading note: re-read from the better scan, Oct 2026: "svocita" ("their own proper") and "supyamānatayā" ("being asleep").)

   Translation of the clear parts, with the Kannada gloss that follows it: "Or: she is the prompter of speech in the morning … and at night the restrainer of speech … and thus, as both the prompter and the stopper of sound, she alone is in the world called Sarasvatī and no other." The Kannada explains: "In the morning the creatures, rising from sleep, set about talking and about their several affairs and activities; at night, the creatures are overcome by sleep, and so, apart from talking and making sounds, they come to rest from their activities and dealings. Therefore, because she is the cause of beginning and ending in the matter of talking or making sound, this goddess of speech is called Sarasvatī."

(5) — continued on p. 70.

Page 70 — Sarasvatī: the fifth view (Uṣas); the three questions to be considered; Sarasvatī in Rik 3.10–12; the ṛṣis

(Page header: "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 1, Sūkta 3." Reference-numbers marked [?] where unsure. English words as printed.)

5. As stated before, since the powers of speech and the like belong to this deity, this goddess Sarasvatī is in the form of Uṣas (Dawn). For this very reason, among the words that are the names of the goddess Uṣas — sūnṛtā, sūnṛtāvatī, sūnṛtāvarī and others — the name of this goddess Sarasvatī occurs. Here the word "sūnṛta" means words that are both pleasant and true.

In just this way, in the question of the goddess Sarasvatī, Śaunaka, the author of the Bṛhaddevatā, and other authors have explained her in various ways.

Now let us examine briefly in what senses the word "sarasvatī" has been used in the Ṛgveda. In this matter three points must be attended to: (1) the Ṛk we are now expounding, "pāvakā naḥ sarasvatī"; (2) the other Ṛks having Sarasvatī as their deity; (3) the ṛṣis who composed these Ṛks, and their lineages. We shall weigh these three matters.

In the sūkta now in hand, the Ṛks 10, 11 and 12 are mantras addressed to Sarasvatī. In the Ṛks 10 and 11, Sarasvatī is probably regarded as a deity and praised; in the 12th Ṛk, as the river. The Bhāṣyakāra Sāyaṇācārya explains Sarasvatī in the Ṛks 10–11 as the goddess of speech, and in the 12th Ṛk as the presiding deity of the river called Sarasvatī. Griffith explains "Sarasvatī" as the goddess of speech; but where "pāvakā" is given the sense "purifying with water," and where "ārṇa" [the word in Rik 3.12, "maho arṇaḥ"] is given the sense "river," "Sarasvatī" must mean a river, or the presiding deity of a river. Some modern scholars hold that "Sarasvatī" means the river Sindhu. But since the hermitage of the sage Madhucchandas, son of Viśvāmitra, who composed this Ṛk, was on the western bank of the present river Sarasvatī at Kurukṣetra — as stated in the Mahābhārata (Śalya-parva, adhyāya 43) — it is possible to conjecture that Madhucchandas praised this very river Sarasvatī: for when a person praises a river, it does not seem reasonable that he should leave aside the well-known river near the place where he lives and praise some other river of the same name far away.

In the second Maṇḍala, the Ṛks that have Sarasvatī as their deity — Ṛ. Saṃ. 2-30-8; 2-32-8; and 2-41-16 to 18 — were all composed by the ṛṣi Gṛtsamada, son of Śunahotra. This ṛṣi Gṛtsamada is understood to be the sixth in descent from the sage Atri (according to the book "Pravara and Gotra," No. 25 of the Mysore Government Oriental Library, as the source says); Viśvāmitra is the fifth in descent from Atri. In all, in eight Ṛks, this ṛṣi Gṛtsamada praises Sarasvatī… (continues on the next page)

Page 71 — The ṛṣis who praise Sarasvatī: Gṛtsamada (continued), Devaśravas and Devavāta, Bharadvāja

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 6 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." Reference-numbers on this page re-read from the better scan (Oct 2026 numeral pass). English words as printed.)

(Continuing from p. 70:) …Gṛtsamada praises Sarasvatī. In Ṛ. Saṃ. 2-1-11 and 2-3-8 he praises Sarasvatī together with Iḷā and Bhāratī. In Ṛ. Saṃ. 2-35-5 he speaks of these three — that is, Iḷā, Sarasvatī and Bhāratī — as three goddesses. In Ṛ. Saṃ. 2-30-8 he praises Sarasvatī along with Indra and the Maruts. In Ṛ. Saṃ. 2-32-8 he speaks of Sarasvatī as a deity. In the 16th Ṛk of the sūkta 2-41 he describes Sarasvatī as a very large river and also a very large deity; and in the 18th Ṛk he describes her, with the word "ṛtāvarī" (that is, "ṛta" = water) as a river with abundant water. Seeing this, some Western scholars say, because she is spoken of as "a very large river," that she must be the Sindhu. But that is not right; for when a poet praises a river or a deity (even a small or ordinary one) it is common to describe it as very large. In Ṛ. Saṃ. 2-30-8 some think the ṛṣi Gṛtsamada praises Sarasvatī as the presiding deity of both rivers and the (cloud) lightning; but to say that one ṛṣi describes one and the same deity in different senses seems without reason.

The sūkta Ṛ. Saṃ. 3-23 has as ṛṣis Devaśravas and Devavāta, the sons of Bharata. According to the book "Gotra-Pravara" mentioned earlier, these ṛṣis are understood to be the sons of Viśvāmitra. Bharata is understood, from the same book, to be the sixth in descent from Atri, and Viśvāmitra the seventh [as the print says; compare the "fifth" for Viśvāmitra on p. 70 — the discrepancy is in the source and is recorded, not resolved]; both are descendants of Purūravas, the great-grandson of Atri (the print: "ಅತ್ರಿಯ ಮರಿಮಗನಾದ ಪುರೂರವನ ವಂಶಸ್ಥರು" — "descendants of Purūravas, Atri's great-grandson"). These ṛṣis in Ṛ. Saṃ. 3-23-4 say:

> नि त्वा दधे वर आ पृथिव्या इळायास्पदे सुदिनत्वे अह्नाम् । दृषद्वत्यां मानुषा आपयायां सरस्वत्यां रेवदग्ने दिदीहि ॥ (ऋ. सं. ३-२३-४) ni tvā dadhe vara ā pṛthivyā iḷāyās pade sudinatve ahnām | dṛṣadvatyāṃ mānuṣā āpayāyāṃ sarasvatyāṃ revad agne didīhi || (ṛ. saṃ. 3-23-4) Gloss (mine): "I have set you down on the best place of the earth, on the footing of Iḷā, in the good days of the days; on the Dṛṣadvatī, among men, on the Āpayā, on the Sarasvatī: shine richly, O Agni."

Along with the river Sarasvatī they name two other rivers: Dṛṣadvatī and Āpayā. Dṛṣadvatī is the present river called Citrāṅga (the source's English: "the modern Chitrang, Chautag, or Chitang"); Āpayā is the present river called Apagā ("the modern Apaga"). Since both rivers lie in the neighbourhood of the river Sarasvatī, it can be said with confidence that Sarasvatī is not the Sindhu. Further, the hermitage of the sage Viśvāmitra, too, was on the west bank of this river Sarasvatī (in Kurukṣetra), as modern investigations show (the source adds: "see Dey's Geographical Dic."). All that has been said so far concerns the lineages of Atri and Viśvāmitra.

Now let us consider Bharadvāja and his lineage. The three Ṛks Ṛ. Saṃ. 6-49-7; 6-50-12; 6-52-6 all have, as their ṛṣi, Ṛjiśvā, the son of Bharadvāja. In the first and third of these three Ṛks, Sarasvatī is [described as] a river… (continues on the next page)

Page 72 — Sarasvatī as a river in the hymns of Bharadvāja, Vasiṣṭha and Śobhari

(Page header: "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 1, Sūkta 3." Reference-numbers marked [?] where unsure.)

…the matter is stated clearly. In the second mantra, though the name of Sarasvatī is mentioned along with the names of the deities Rudra, Viṣṇu, Vāyu and Parjanya, Sarasvatī may be understood as a river; for in the two [other] Ṛks the ṛṣi says that Sarasvatī is a river, and in another Ṛk the same ṛṣi praises Sarasvatī as a river — which is only natural. The hermitage of Bharadvāja was at Prayāga (the source's English: "Allahabad"). Therefore Ṛjiśvā, son of Bharadvāja, must have praised a river near his own hermitage. The whole of Ṛ. Saṃ. 6-61 (14 Ṛks in all) by the ṛṣi Bharadvāja concerns Sarasvatī. Some Western scholars hold that the sense of several words in this sūkta applies to the river Sindhu; but since those words apply equally to the river Sarasvatī, there is no room for doubt.

The Ṛks in the seventh Maṇḍala — Ṛ. Saṃ. 7-9-5; 7-35-11; 7-36-6; 7-40-3; 7-95; 7-96 — are all by the ṛṣi Vasiṣṭha. The hermitage of Vasiṣṭha is understood to have been near Mount Abu (the source's English), a hill in the Āravalī mountain in Rājputānā. The first four mantras and the last two sūktas [of the group] praise Sarasvatī as a river. The words "sindhumātā" and "āsamudrāt" in these Ṛks apply especially to the river Sindhu, and so some say that it is the Sindhu that is praised in these mantras. This dispute cannot be completely set aside. Still, when speaking of one river, it is not impossible to compare another river with it, and to praise it with exaggeration.

In the eighth Maṇḍala, the Ṛks Ṛ. Saṃ. 8-21-17 and 18 are by the ṛṣi Śobhari, son of Kaṇva. In these Ṛks this ṛṣi describes the sacrifice that a king named Citra performed on the bank of the river Sarasvatī and praises that king's gifts. Since Śaunaka, in his Bṛhaddevatā (6-58 to 62), says that this king Citra performed a sacrifice at Kurukṣetra, the river must be the nearby Sarasvatī. And:

> पूषा विष्णुर्हवनं मे सरस्वत्यवन्तु सप्त सिन्धवः । आपो वातः पर्वतासो वनस्पतिः शृणोतु पृथिवी हवम् ॥ (ऋ. सं. ८-५४-९) pūṣā viṣṇur havanaṃ me sarasvaty avantu sapta sindhavaḥ | āpo vātaḥ parvatāso vanaspatiḥ śṛṇotu pṛthivī havam || (ṛ. saṃ. 8-54-9) Gloss (mine): "May Pūṣan, Viṣṇu, Sarasvatī, the seven rivers, help my invocation; the Waters, the Wind, the Mountains, the Tree-lord — may Earth hear my call."

In this Ṛk, Sarasvatī is also mentioned among the deities Pūṣan, Viṣṇu, Sarasvatī, the Seven Rivers (sapta-sindhavaḥ), the Waters, the Wind, the Mountains, the Lord of the Forest (Vanaspati) and Earth. Likewise in Ṛ. Saṃ. 9-67-32, the ṛṣi of that mantra, Vasiṣṭha or Pavitra, has used the word "Sarasvatī." Here Sarasvatī may be taken in either sense, as a deity or as a river. In Ṛ. Saṃ. 10-30-12, it is clearly stated which river is meant by "Sarasvatī" … (continues on the next page)

Page 73 — Sarasvatī among the rivers (Ṛ. 10-75); the ten Āprī-sūktas (opening of the list)

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 6 ·Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." Reference-numbers marked [?] where unsure. The modern river-names in brackets are printed in English in the source. The Sanskrit mnemonic verses on this page are compressed and partly garbled in the print: I

transcribe them as I read them, with [?], and give their sense in outline rather than a line-by-line translation.)

(Continuing from p. 72, "…it is clearly stated which river is meant by 'Sarasvatī':") In Ṛ. Saṃ. 10-64-9 the ṛṣi of that mantra, Gaya (of the lineage of Atri), speaks of Sarasvatī in the company of the rivers Sindhu and Sarayū (the source's English: "Gogra"). And:

> इमं मे गङ्गे यमुने सरस्वति शुतुद्रि स्तोमं सचता परुष्ण्या । असिक्न्या मरुद्वृधे वितस्तयार्जीकीये शृणुह्या सुषोमया ॥ (ऋ. सं. १०-७५-५) imaṃ me gaṅge yamune sarasvati śutudri stomaṃ sacatā paruṣṇyā | asiknyā marudvṛdhe vitastayārjīkīye śṛṇuhy ā suṣomayā || (ṛ. saṃ. 10-75-5) Gloss (mine): "O Gaṅgā, Yamunā, Sarasvatī, Śutudri — attend to this my praise, together with Paruṣṇī; with Asiknī, O Marudvṛdhā, with Vitastā, O Ārjīkīyā, hear, together with Suṣomā."

In this Ṛk the river Sarasvatī is named together with Gaṅgā (the Ganges), Yamunā (the Jamna), Śutudri (the Sutlej), Paruṣṇī (the Ravi), Asiknī (the Chinab), Vitastā (the Jhelam), Marudvṛdhā (the United Stream of the Jhelam and Chenab), Ārjīkīyā (the Bias) and Suṣomā (the Indus) — all in the source's English — and from this it is plain that the river Sarasvatī is one distinct river of her own and is not the Sindhu. The entire sūkta in which the above Ṛk occurs is about rivers: all the Ṛks of this sūkta [the number is printed "9" — read with caution] have rivers for their deities. The ṛṣi of this sūkta is Sindhukṣit, the son of Priyamedha.

Sarasvatī is spoken of in the Āprī-sūktas as one of the three goddesses called "tisro devyaḥ." In the Ṛgveda Saṃhitā there are ten sūktas that are called Āprī-sūktas. In Śaunaka's Anuvākānukramaṇī the particulars of these sūktas are given thus:

> श्लोकस्यास्य यथासंख्यं सूक्तानि दश वै विदुः । न आ वहाग्न आ वहाद्य राजसेत्यग्निर्नि च । समित्समित्सु शोचिषे जुषस्व विश्वतस्तथा । इमां मे अद्य मन्विमा यथर्षिपक्ष आप्रियः ॥ वसिष्ठशुनकौ विना समिद्धः सर्वपक्षता । जुषस्वादिद्वितीयया तनूनपाद्विरोधिता । यजुः श्रुतौ तथाश्रुतेः समिद्धसूक्तमध्यतः । प्रजापतेः पशोः सदा भवेयुरद्य मन्विमाः ॥ इतीरितं हि बह्वृचैर्यथर्षि वेति सूत्रतः ॥
>
> ślokasyāsya yathā-saṃkhyaṃ sūktāni daśa vai viduḥ | na ā vahāgna ā vahādya rājasety agnir ni ca | samit-samit-su śociṣe juṣasva viśvatas tathā | imāṃ me adya manvimā yatharṣi-pakṣa āpriyaḥ || vasiṣṭha-śunakau vinā samiddhaḥ sarva-pakṣatā | juṣasvādi-dvitīyayā tanūnapād-virodhitā | yajuḥ śrutau tathā-śruteḥ samiddha-sūkta-madhyataḥ | prajāpateḥ paśoḥ sadā bhaveyur adya manvimāḥ | itīritaṃ hi bahvṛcair yathā-ṛṣi veti sūtrataḥ ||
>
> Outline of the sense (not a line-by-line translation — the verses are a compressed mnemonic, and several words are garbled in the print): the verses state that there are ten such sūktas, "in order of number," and give them by their opening words ("na ā vaha," "ā vaha," "rājasi," "agnir nihitaḥ," and so on); they note which of them are by Vasiṣṭha and Śunaka (Śaunaka); they note how the Yajus and Śruti texts treat "samiddha" in the middle of the sūkta; and they say that, as the Ṛgvedins' sūtra puts it, the sūktas are recited "according to the ṛṣi."

The ten Āprī-sūktas, as tabulated in the source (columns: serial number; opening of the sūkta; Maṇḍala–sūkta; number of Ṛks; ṛṣi. Numbers as I read them; [?] where unsure. They agree with the standard list of the ten Āprī-sūktas.)

| No. | Opening of the sūkta | Maṇḍala–sūkta | Ṛks | Ṛṣi |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 1 | सुसमिद्धो न आवह (susamiddho na āvaha) | 1–13 | 12 | मेधातिथिः काण्वः (medhātithiḥ kāṇvaḥ) |
| 2 | समिद्धो अग्न आवह (samiddho agna āvaha) | 1–142 | 13 | दीर्घतमा औचथ्यः (dīrghatamā aucathyaḥ) |
| 3 | समिद्धो अद्य राजसि (samiddho adya rājasi) | 1–188 | 11 | अगस्त्यो मैत्रावरुणिः (agastyo maitrāvaruṇiḥ) |
| 4 | समिद्धो अग्निर्निहितः (samiddho agnir nihitaḥ) | 2–3 | 11 | गृत्समदः (gṛtsamadaḥ) |

(rows 5–10 continue on the next page)

Page 74 — The Āprī-sūktas (rows 5–10); the deities of the eleven Ṛks; “tisro devyaḥ”

| No. | Opening of the sūkta | Maṇḍala–sūkta | Ṛks | Ṛṣi |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 5 | समित्समित्सुमना (samit-samit-sumanā) | 3–4 | 11 | गाधिनो विश्वामित्रः (gādhino viśvāmitraḥ) |
| 6 | सुसमिद्धाय शोचिषे (susamiddhāya śociṣe) | 5–5 | 11 | वसुश्रुत आत्रेयः (vasuśruta ātreyaḥ) |
| 7 | जुषस्वनः समिधमग्ने (juṣasvanaḥ samidham agne) | 7–2 | 11 | मैत्रावरुणिर्वसिष्ठः (maitrāvaruṇir vasiṣṭhaḥ) |
| 8 | समिद्धो विश्वतस्पतिः (samiddho viśvataspatiḥ) | 9–5 | 11 | काश्यपोऽसितो देवलो वा (kāśyapo ’sito devalo vā) |
| 9 | इमां मे अग्ने समिधम् (imāṃ me agne samidham) | 10–70 | 11 | सुमित्रो वाध्र्यश्वः (sumitro vādhryaśvaḥ) |
| 10 | समिद्धो अद्य मनुषः (samiddho adya manuṣaḥ) | 10–110 | 11 | जमदग्निर्भार्गवः (jamadagnir bhārgavaḥ) |

Of the sūktas listed above, the sūktas numbered 1–2 have 12 and 13 Ṛks; all the rest have 11 Ṛks. The deities of these 11 Ṛks are as follows:

| Ṛk | Deity (Sanskrit as printed) | Meaning |
|---|---|---|
| 1 | इध्मः समिद्धोऽग्निर्वा (idhmaḥ samiddho 'gnir vā) | Idhma, i.e., the kindled Agni |
| 2 | तनूनपात् (tanūnapāt) | Tanūnapāt |
| 3 | इळः (iḷaḥ) | Iḷa |
| 4 | बर्हिः (barhiḥ) | the Barhis (sacred grass) |
| 5 | देवीर्द्वारः (devīr dvāraḥ) | the divine Doors |
| 6 | उषासानक्ता (uṣāsānaktā) | Dawn and Night |
| 7 | दैव्यौ होतारौ प्रचेतसौ (daivyau hotārau pracetasau) | the two divine, wise Hotṛs |
| 8 | तिस्रो देव्यः सरस्वतीळाभारत्यः (tisro devyaḥ sarasvatī-iḷā-bhāratyaḥ) | the three goddesses: Sarasvatī, Iḷā, Bhāratī |
| 9 | त्वष्टा (tvaṣṭā) | Tvaṣṭṛ |
| 10 | वनस्पतिः (vanaspatiḥ) | Vanaspati |
| 11 | स्वाहाकृतयः (svāhākṛtayaḥ) | the Svāhā-offerings |

In the first sūkta with 12 Ṛks, the deity Narāśaṃsa is also present; in the second sūkta, with 13 Ṛks, both Narāśaṃsa and Indra are deities; therefore, in place of the 11 Ṛks of the other sūktas, these have 12 and 13. In the other matters there is no difference — only the metres and the ṛṣis differ. In the animal sacrifice (paśuyāga), while praising Agni (the "samiddha-agni") and while performing the eleven prayāja homas, these sūktas are recited. In these sūktas, "tisro devyaḥ" means the praise of the three goddesses Iḷā, Sarasvatī, Bhāratī. The chief point to be noted here is that Agni is worshipped in three forms: on earth, in the atmosphere, and in heaven. Since Bhāratī indicates the rays of the Sun, this deity (that is, the Sun) is the form of Agni in heaven. Sarasvatī … for lightning, the one presiding … (continues on the next page)

Page 75 — "tisro devyaḥ"; Rigvedic verses that treat Sarasvatī as a deity rather than a river

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 6 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." Reference-numbers re-read from the better scan (Oct 2026 numeral pass). The glosses on the verses are mine, tentative, since the source gives no translation of them.)

(Continuing from p. 74, "Sarasvatī … for lightning, the one presiding…") …Because Sarasvatī is described in many places as a presiding deity of the lightning (vidyud-abhimānī-devatā), this Sarasvatī is the form of Agni in the atmosphere. Because the goddess Iḷā gives to the people on earth wealth and the like and long life, this goddess is the form of Agni on earth: such is the signification of these three, Iḷā, Sarasvatī and Bhāratī. The ṛṣis praise these three goddesses, asking them to come to the sacrificial altar and sit on the "barhis" (spread darbha-grass).

Here are some examples of verses in which the ṛṣis praise Sarasvatī as a deity other than a river:

(1) तान्पूर्वया निविदा हूमहे वयं भगं मित्रमदितिं दक्षमस्रिधम् । अर्यमणं वरुणं सोममश्विना सरस्वती नः सुभगा मयस्करत् ॥ (ऋ. सं. १-८९-३) tān pūrvayā nividā hūmahe vayaṃ bhagaṃ mitram aditiṃ dakṣam asridham | aryamaṇaṃ varuṇaṃ somam aśvinā sarasvatī naḥ subhagā mayas karat || (ṛ. saṃ. 1-89-3) Gloss: "Those (gods) we invoke with the ancient invocation — Bhaga, Mitra, Aditi, the undecaying Dakṣa, Aryaman, Varuṇa, Soma, the Aśvins; may fortunate Sarasvatī make us happy." (The source's remark:) In this Ṛk Sarasvatī is the goddess of speech, or the presiding deity of lightning.

(2) सरस्वति त्वमस्माँ अविड्ढि मरुत्वती धृषती जेषि शत्रून् । (ऋ. सं. २-३०-८) sarasvati tvam asmāṁ aviḍḍhi marutvatī dhṛṣatī jeṣi śatrūn | (ṛ. saṃ. 2-30-8) Gloss: "O Sarasvatī, protect us; accompanied by the Maruts, bold, you conquer the foes."

(3) सरस्वती शृणवन्यज्ञियासो धाता रयिं सहवीरं तुरासः । (ऋ. सं. ३-५४-१३) sarasvatī śṛṇavanyajñiyāso dhātā rayiṃ sahavīraṃ turāsaḥ | (ṛ. saṃ. 3-54-13) Gloss: "May Sarasvatī hear — (the gods) worthy of sacrifice — bestowing wealth with heroes, the swift conqueror." [tentative; "turāsaḥ" as printed, re-read from the better scan]

(The source's remark on (2) and (3):) In these Ṛks Sarasvatī is regarded either as a river or as the presiding deity of lightning.

(4) दमूनसो अपसो ये सुहस्ता वृष्णः पत्नीर्नद्यो विभ्वतष्टाः । सरस्वती बृहद्दिवोत राका दशस्यन्तीर्वरिवस्यन्तु शुभ्राः ॥ (ऋ. सं. ५-४२-१२) damūnaso apaso ye suhastā vṛṣṇaḥ patnīr nadyo vibhvataṣṭāḥ | sarasvatī bṛhaddivota rākā daśasyantīr varivasyantu śubhrāḥ || (ṛ. saṃ. 5-42-12) Gloss: "(…) the wives of the bull, the rivers shaped by the Skilful One; may Sarasvatī, Bṛhaddivā and Rākā, the bright ones, giving, grant wide room." [tentative; the first half is hard for me to render with confidence]

(5) आ नो दिवो बृहतः पर्वतादा सरस्वती यजता गन्तु यज्ञम् । (ऋ. सं. ५-४३-११) ā no divo bṛhataḥ parvatād ā sarasvatī yajatā gantu yajñam | (ṛ. saṃ. 5-43-11) Gloss: "May worshipful Sarasvatī come to our sacrifice from heaven, from the great mountain."

(6) उभा नासत्या रुद्रो अध ग्नाः पूषा भगः सरस्वती जुषन्त । (ऋ. सं. ५-४६-२) ubhā nāsatyā rudro adha gnāḥ pūṣā bhagaḥ sarasvatī juṣanta | (ṛ. saṃ. 5-46-2) Gloss: "May both Nāsatyas, Rudra, the goddesses' wives, Pūṣan, Bhaga, Sarasvatī be pleased."

(The source's remark:) In these three Ṛks, too, Sarasvatī is the presiding deity of lightning. Griffith holds that in the first of these three Ṛks Sarasvatī is some one river — "Sindhu or Sarasvatī" — and that in the 2nd and 3rd [Ṛks of the group] the deity is clear. K. C. Caṭṭopādhyāya says that Ṛks 1–2 [of the group] apply to the Sindhu. These three Ṛks too, it is said, were composed by the descendants of the ṛṣi Atri. For the first Ṛk… (continues on the next page)

Page 76 — The deity-verses (concluded); where the river Sarasvatī flowed

(Page header: "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 1, Sūkta 3." Reference-numbers marked [?] where unsure. English words and the bibliographic list are as printed in the source.)

(Continuing:) …for the first Ṛk, Atri, or Atri's son Bhauma, is the ṛṣi; for the second Ṛk, Atri; for the third, Pratikṣatra, a descendant of Atri. In the second Ṛk Sarasvatī is addressed as having come from heaven ("divaḥ") and from the great mountain ("parvatāt") — [as the print has it]. In the first Ṛk, since the word "patnīḥ" ("wives") appears, the Bhāṣyakāra has regarded Sarasvatī and the other rivers as the wives of Indra.

(7) अग्निरिन्द्रो वरुणो मित्रो अर्यमा वायुः पूषा सरस्वती सजोषसः । (ऋ. सं. १०-६५-१) agnir indro varuṇo mitro aryamā vāyuḥ pūṣā sarasvatī sajoṣasaḥ | (ṛ. saṃ. 10-65-1) Gloss: "Agni, Indra, Varuṇa, Mitra, Aryaman, Vāyu, Pūṣan, Sarasvatī, in concert."

(8) विश्वे देवासः शृणवन्वचांसि मे सरस्वती सह धीभिः पुरंध्या । (ऋ. सं. १०-६५-१३) viśve devāsaḥ śṛṇavan vacāṃsi me sarasvatī saha dhībhiḥ puraṃdhyā | (ṛ. saṃ. 10-65-13) Gloss: "May the All-gods hear my words, and Sarasvatī with her thoughts and her plenty."

(The source's remark:) In these two Ṛks, too, Sarasvatī is the goddess of speech.

(9) यत्सारामं व्यपिबः शचीभिः सरस्वती त्वा मघवन्नभिष्णक् । (ऋ. सं. १०-१३१-५) yat sārāmaṃ vy apibaḥ śacībhiḥ sarasvatī tvā maghavann abhiṣṇak | (ṛ. saṃ. 10-131-5) Gloss: "When you drank the [sārāma-drink?] with your powers, O Maghavan, Sarasvatī tended you." [tentative; "sārāmam" is not rendered with confidence]

(The source's remark:) Since in this Ṛk Sarasvatī is spoken of as accompanying Indra, she may be understood either as the presiding deity of lightning or as the goddess of speech.

(10) गर्भं धेहि सिनीवालि गर्भं धेहि सरस्वति । (ऋ. सं. १०-१८४-२) garbhaṃ dhehi sinīvāli garbhaṃ dhehi sarasvati | (ṛ. saṃ. 10-184-2) Gloss: "Set the embryo, O Sinīvālī; set the embryo, O Sarasvatī."

(The source's remark:) Here it is only fitting to speak of Sarasvatī as the goddess of speech [as the print says — "vāg-devatā," though the verse is a prayer for conception].

Where the river Sarasvatī flowed. We shall now set out briefly, for those who wish to know, the discussion of where the river Sarasvatī flowed in that age. This account has been written following the publications: (1) R. D. Oldham in Journal of Asiatic Society Bengal, 1886, page 322; (2) C. F. Oldham, Journal of Royal Asiatic Society, 1893, page 51; (3) Maps of the Cambridge History of India, Vol. I, "Ancient India"; (4) Maps of Punjab published by the Surveyor-General of India; (5) "Ancient India as described by Megasthenes and Arrian." (All as printed.) In that age the river Sarasvatī was one large river. It arose in the Sirmur (the source's English: "Sismur") range in the Himālayas and flowed to the west and slightly south. At its source five small streams (small watercourses carrying water) joined and then flowed on as this river; for this reason it must have had the name "Pañcajātā." After flowing a little distance, a river called Dṛṣadvatī (the modern Chitrang) joined it, coming from the east. Āpayā is a tributary of the Dṛṣadvatī. The Sarasvatī of that time was to the south of the present Sarasvatī river (the source adds: rivers that flow in desert regions often change their beds). Into the present Sarasvatī river two small streams called Mārkaṇḍā (the source's English: "Markand") and Gaggar ("Ghaggar") … (continues on the next page)

Page 77 — The course of the Sarasvatī (concluded); "vājebhiḥ"

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 6 ·Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." English words are as printed in the source. The Ṛg-vedic numbers in the list of senses of "vāja" below are in small Kannada numerals and I could not read them reliably; they are omitted rather than guessed, and the list should be completed from the page.)

(Continuing from p. 76, "…two small streams, Mārkaṇḍā and Gaggar…") …these streams join her. Afterwards the Sarasvatī flowed on towards the south and west and finally joined the sea. The bed of the dried-up river now called Hakra (as printed) must have been the bed of the Sarasvatī of that time. It may have merged in the Sindhu by uniting with the river now called the Sutlej, or may have gone directly and joined the Sindhu. In that age the Sindhu lay far to the east of where it now is, and joined the sea near the gulf called the Rann of Kach (as printed). The scholar Max Müller, on the basis of the word "āsamudrāt" in Ṛ. Saṃ. 7-95-2, holds that this Sarasvatī river went directly and joined the sea. Since the river flowed through sandy country before reaching the sea, it may well have been lost in the desert before reaching it (see Muir's Sanskrit Texts, Vol. II, p. 393, as printed). The account that the river was lost in the desert is given in the Mahābhārata (Vana-parva, in the description of the Tīrthayātrā) and also in the Manu-saṃhitā (1-21 [as printed]). For all these reasons it may be said that the present river Sarasuti is the Sarasvatī of old.

वाजेभिः (vājebhiḥ) — This word is used in this Ṛk in the sense "anna, āhāra" ("food"); there is the Taittirīya Śruti sentence "annaṃ vai vājaḥ" (अन्नं वै वाजः — "food indeed is 'vāja'"). Western scholars say that this word is used in many Ṛks in many different senses. Some of them are given here (English as printed, with the source's Ṛg-vedic references, re-read from the better scan):

1. Power, strength — Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-27-8; 1-110-6; 3-25-3; 4-22-3; 5-15-5; 6-25-11 &c.
2. Swiftnets [sic] (of the steeds) — Ṛ. Saṃ. 5-85-2; 10-39-10.
3. Combat — Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-4-4; 1-7-4; 2-23-13 &c.
4. Refreshment, food, nourishment — Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-91-18; 6-24-3; 10-5-4; 10-96-9 &c.
5. Offering, food or drink of offering — Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-36-2; 3-12-9; 4-3-15; 5-9-2; 6-45-29 &c.
6. Horse — Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-52-1; 2-1-12; 3-2-3; 4-29-1 &c.
7. One of the three Rubhus [sic] — Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-161-6; 4-33-3; 7-48-2 &c.
8. All the three Rubhus [sic] — Ṛ. Saṃ. 10-23-2; 10-74-10 &c.

Grassmann has given one long list for the various senses of this word, which occurs in many Ṛks; since it is very extensive, and since it is fitting to explain those senses in the respective places, there is no need to write it here.

Page 78 — "vājinīvatī," "yajñam," "vaṣṭu," "dhiyāvasuḥ"

(Page header: "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 1, Sūkta 3." English as printed; reference-numbers re-read from the better scan, Oct 2026 numeral pass.)

वाजिनीवती (vājinīvatī) — The sense of this word follows that of the word "vājebhiḥ" given above. For it, Rāmanātha gives "Bestower of food"; Benfey, "filled up or rich with offerings"; Geldner, "rich with reward"; Rosen, "provided with food"; Ludwig, "rich with steed"; and the author of the Vedārtha-yatna, “Mounted on a charger” (all as printed). Some say “vājinī” means the fruit-bearing land on a river bank that produces food, and “vājinīvatī” a river that gives people food and the like by supplying water to such fruitful land.

यज्ञम् (yajñam) — The word “yajña” is read among the fifteen words in the Nirukta (Ni. 3-19). This word can be explained in two ways: (1) the worship of a deity by hymns of praise and the like; (2) a special rite performed by the subsidiary and sub-subsidiary rites, by the recitation of mantras, by offering up an animal, and by many homas. It is this second kind of rite that is generally described in the Vedas by the word “yajña.”

वष्टु (vaṣṭu) — This word is the imperative (loṭ) third-person singular of the root “vaś kāntau” (to desire). The Bhāṣyakāra, giving the root the sense “apekṣā” (“expectation, wish”), states the main sense as “nirvahatv iti arthaḥ” — “let her bring (the sacrifice) to completion with all its parts.” To support this he quotes the Aitareya Āraṇyaka sentence “yajñaṃ vaṣṭv iti yad āha yajñaṃ vahatv ity eva tad āha” (यज्ञं वष्ट्विति यदाह यज्ञं वहत्वित्येव तदाह — “when it says ‘let her desire the sacrifice,’ it says ‘let her carry the sacrifice’,” ऐ. आ. १-१-४). Geldner and Grassmann give “desire, wish for, make efforts, carry on to completion” (English as printed); the last sense is the right one here.

धियावसुः (dhiyāvasuḥ) — The Bhāṣyakāra explains this word thus: “dhiyāvasuḥ karma-prāpty-adhana-nimitta-bhūtā | vāg-devatāyās tathāvidhaṃ dhana-nimittatvam āraṇyaka-kāṇḍe śrutyā vyākhyātam | yajñaṃ vaṣṭu dhiyāvasur iti vāg vai dhiyāvasuḥ” (धियावसुः कर्मप्राप्त्यधननिमित्तभूता । वाग्देवतायास्तथाविधं धननिमित्तत्वमारण्यककाण्डे श्रुत्या व्याख्यातं । यज्ञं वष्टु धियावसुरिति वाग्वै धियावसुः — ऐ. आ. १-१-४ — “Dhiyāvasuḥ: she who is the occasion of wealth to be gained by ritual action; that the goddess of speech is the occasion of wealth of this kind is explained by Śruti in the Āraṇyaka section: ‘yajñaṃ vaṣṭu dhiyāvasuḥ’ — speech indeed is dhiyāvasuḥ”). That is: “dhiyāvasu” means she who is the cause of the attaining of wealth, lordship and the like, obtained through sacrifices and other rites; the Bhāṣyakāra also quotes the Aitareya-Āraṇyaka sentence “yajñaṃ vaṣṭu” etc. to say that the goddess of speech is the cause of the attainment of wealth. And in considering the formation of the word he says: “dhiyā karmaṇā vasu yasyāḥ sakāśād bhavati sā dhiyāvasuḥ” (धिया कर्मणा वसु यस्याः सकाशाद्भवति सा धियावसुः) — the deity from whom the wealth that is to be obtained as the fruit of rites comes is called “dhiyāvasuḥ.” Western scholars explain it with such words as (English as printed): “Supporter of all by wisdom, recompenser of worship or religious ceremonies, bestower of riches, source of wealth, rich in sense or intellect, one rewarding for devotion excellent-minded.” This word is used in the Ṛgveda only in eight Ṛks: Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-3-10; 1-58-9; 10-60-5; 1-61-16; 1-62-13; 1-64-15; 3-3-2 [seven references, as printed, for “eight”].

Page 79 — Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā for Rik 3.10 (Kannada); Sūkta 3, Eleventh Mantra: Saṃhitā and Pada text

(Page header: “Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 6 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā.” The grammar is pure Pāṇinian derivation and is characterized rather than transcribed line by line, per convention, with the sūtras kept. Accent-marks in the Saṃhitā/Pada text are not reproduced; see the note at Rik 3.5.)

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ - “Pāvakā” — “pāvaṃ kāyatīti pāvakā”: from the root “kai” (“kai gai rai śabde,” to sound) with “ka” after an upasarga-less word (आतोऽनुपसर्गे कः, āto ’nupasarge kaḥ, पा. ३-२-३); the substitution of “ā” for the final of the root by आदेच उपदेशेऽशिति (ād eca upadeśe ’śiti, पा. ६-१-४५); elision of the final “ā” before the affix (आतो लोप इटि च, āto lopa iṭi ca, पा. ६-४-६९ [as printed]); the feminine “ṭāp” (अजाद्यतष्टाप्, ajādy-ataṣ ṭāp, पा. ४-१-४) → “pāvakā”; being a kṛt-ending compound-member, the accent of the second member is retained by गतिकारकोपपदात्कृत् (पा. ६-२-१३९) as an end-acute. Alternatively, if “pūñ” (“he purifies”) is intended, the affix “ṇvul” (ण्वुल्तृचौ, ṇvul-tṛcau, पा. ३-१-१३३) is added, and “yu/vu” are replaced by “ana/aka” (युवोरनाकौ, yuvor anākau, पा. ७-१-१), with the guṇa and “av-” substitution, giving “pāvaka,” then “ṭāp” for the feminine “pāvakā.” A difficulty is noted: by प्रत्ययस्थात्कात्पूर्वस्यात इदाप्यसुपः (pratyayasthāt kāt pūrvasyāta idāpy asupaḥ, पा. ७-३-४४) the “a” before “ka” would become “i” (“pāvikā”); the answer is that the non-occurrence of “i” in “pāvakā” is Vedic usage, by पावकादीनां छन्दसि प्रत्ययस्थात्कादित्वं नेति वाच्यम् [the print is garbled here; given as I read it]. The end-acute is likewise accepted as Vedic. - “Sarasvatī” — from “sṛ” with the Uṇādi “asun” → “saras”; the affix is “n”-marked (nit), so the first syllable is acute. The following “matup” and “ṅīp” are “p”-marked and unaccented.

---

Sūkta 3, The Eleventh Mantra

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

चोदयित्री सूनृतानां चेतन्ती सुमतीनां । यज्ञं दधे सरस्वती ॥११॥

codayitrī sūnṛ́tānāṃ cétaṃtī sumatīnā́ṃ | yajñáṃ dadhe sárasvatī ||11||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

चोदयित्री । सूनृतानाम् । चेतन्ती । सुमतीनाम् । यज्ञम् । दधे । सरस्वती ॥११॥

Page 80 — Rik 3.11: Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya, grammar, Pada-meanings, Bhāvārtha, English rendering; Special topic (opening)

(Page header: “Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 1, Sūkta 3.” Sanskrit printed in Kannada script, rendered letter by letter; [?] where unclear.)

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

यो सरस्वती सेयमिमं यज्ञं दधे । धारितवती । कीदृशी । सूनृतानां प्रियाणां सत्यवाक्यानां चोदयित्री प्रेरयित्री । सुमतीनां शोभनबुद्धियुक्तानामनुष्ठातृणां चेतन्ती । तदीयमनुष्ठेयं ज्ञापयन्ती ॥ yo [print; “yā” would be expected] sarasvatī seyam imaṃ yajñaṃ dadhe | dhāritavatī | kīdṛśī | sūnṛtānāṃ priyāṇāṃ satya-vākyānāṃ codayitrī prerayitrī | sumatīnāṃ śobhana-buddhi-yuktānām anuṣṭhātṝṇāṃ cetantī | tadīyam anuṣṭheyaṃ jñāpayantī ||

Translation: “That Sarasvatī — she has taken up (‘dadhe’ = ‘dhāritavatī’) this sacrifice. What kind of one? ‘Codayitrī’ — the inciter, the impeller, of ‘sūnṛtānām’ — of pleasant, true utterances (or of those who speak them); ‘cetantī’ — the one who makes known, to the ‘sumatīnām’ — those of good understanding, the performers — what is to be performed by them.” (The print’s first word reads “ɣo”; the sense needs “ɣā” (“who”), and I record the print as it stands.)

Grammar within the Bhāṣya (characterized; the print is partly garbled in the middle, and I do not give a reading of the unclear stretch): “Codayitrī” — root “cud” (to impel), “ṇic,” then “tṛc”; “c”-marked, so the penultimate is acute (चित्त्वादन्तोदात्तः); “ṅīp” (ऋन्नेभ्यो ङीप्, पा. ४-१-५); the feminine ending is acute by उदात्तयणो हल्पूर्वात् (udāttayaṇo hal-pūrvāt, पा. ६-१-१७४). “Sūnṛtānām” — “ūna parihāṇe” (to lessen) with “kvip”; “sūnīti priyam ucyate” — “sūn” denotes the pleasant; “ṛtaṃ satyam”; hence “sūnṛtam” = pleasant and true; the second member’s acute follows the rule for compounds beginning with “para-ādi” in the Veda (बहुलमुत्तरपदादिः, as printed [?]). “Cetantī” — root “citī saṃjñāne” (to perceive); the “śap” is elided and “p”-marked, so unaccented; the stem’s own accent remains; “ṅīp” etc. “Sumatīnām” — “mati” is first-syllable-acute; the genitive-plural ending’s accent (पा. ६-१-१७७).

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

सरस्वती (sarasvatī) — the goddess Sarasvatī | सूनृतानाम् (sūnṛtānām) — [of] pleasant and true words, or [of] men who speak such words | चोदयित्री (codayitrī) — one who impels | सुमतीनाम् (sumatīnām) — (those who are devoted to sacrifices and the like) men of good understanding | चेतन्ती (cetantī) — one who makes (them) know (what is to be done in good works) | (such Sarasvatī) यज्ञम् (yajñam) — the sacrifice (that we are performing) | दधे (dadhe) — has taken up (carries through).

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

The goddess Sarasvatī, whom we praise, is she who impels men to speak pleasant and true words, or who inspires those who speak the truth to engage in good works, and who, by making known to men of good understanding what is to be done, helps them in doing right. May such a Sarasvatī bring the sacrifice that we perform to a faultless completion.

English Translation (printed in English in the source itself):

“Saraswati, the inspirer of those who speak only the truth and instructress of the right-minded has supported the sacrifice.”

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

This mantra is used in the sacrifice called Sautrāmaṇī; and also in the Vaiśvadeva, the Ukhāsambharaṇa (which, the source adds in English, “takes place at the new and full moon days”) and the Ekāṣṭakā (the eighth day after full moon). Chiefly, this mantra is used in the rite called Vaiśvadeva, in the offering of the bali to Sarasvatī.

Page 81 — Special topics on Rik 3.11; Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (opening)

(Page header: “Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 6 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā.” English words are as printed in the source. Nirukta reference-numbers re-read from the better scan, Oct 2026 numeral pass.)

चोदयित्री (codayitrī) — A form derived from the root “cud” (“cuda preraṇe,” to impel); the sense is “she who impels.” Western scholars explain it with the words (English as printed): “Inspire, incite, rouse, stimulate, furnish, quickly, hasten, hurry, stir, agitate, encourage.”

सूनृतानाम् (sūnṛtānām) — The word “sūnṛta” is read both among the sixteen words that indicate “uṣas” (dawn) (Ni. 2-19) and among the twenty-eight words that indicate “anna” (food) (Ni. 3-9) [re-read from the better scan, Oct 2026]. This word is derived from the word “ṛta,” which means “true, truth.” Hence, in the Ṛgveda, Western scholars explain the word “sūnṛta” with such words as (English as printed): “One delighting in truth, good word, agreeable speech, truth, song, receiving good qualities, joy-giving, glorious deed.”

चेतन्ती (cetantī) — The sense of this word is, with a slight addition, the same as that of “codayitrī”; for it, such senses as (English as printed) “Perceive, conceive, understand, inspire” may be given.

सुमतीनाम् (sumatīnām) — This word is formed from the root “man” (to think). For it one may give (English as printed): “Think, meditate, contemplate, imagine, observe, believe, regard.” In this Ṛk, for this word the senses “those who have good understanding,” “those devoted to good deeds, or those who do them,” “right-thinking, right-minded” may be given.

The chief import of this Ṛk: the goddess Sarasvatī impels men to speak true words and to do good works, and makes people’s minds devoted to good activities. Therefore, she gives us good understanding in the sacrifice that we are now performing, makes that sacrifice reach completion with all its parts, and favours us so that we obtain its fruit.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (Kannada; characterized, sūtras kept) “Codayitrī”: to the root “cud preraṇe” the affix “ṇic” is added; the penultimate light vowel takes guṇa, giving “codi-”; then “tṛc” (ण्वुल्तृचौ, ṇvul-tṛcau, पा. ३-१-१३३); “iṭ” comes to it by आर्धधातुकस्येड्वलादेः (पा. ७-२-३५); the “i” of “codi” takes guṇa (सार्वधातुकार्धधातुकयोः, पा. ७-३-८४) and “ay” by एचोऽयवायावः (eco ’yavāyāvaḥ, पा. ६-१-७८) → “codayitṛ”; for the feminine, ऋन्नेभ्यो ङीप् (ṛnnebhyo ṅīp, पा. ४-१-५) — “ṅīp” after words ending in “ṛ” and “n” — and then यणादेशः (the semivowel substitution “ṛ → r”) … (continues on the next page)

Page 82 — Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā for Rik 3.11 concluded — characterized

(Page header: “Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 1, Sūkta 3.” This page is dense accent-derivation in Kannada prose, repeating the Sanskrit grammar of p. 80. Per the standing convention it is characterized, not translated line by line; the sūtras are kept. Some details are garbled in the print and I do not give them.)

(Continuing “codayitrī”:) …“codayitr + ī” → “codayitrī”. Since “tṛc” is “c”-marked (चितः, पा. ६-१-१६३) the last syllable is acute; the feminine ending then takes the acute by उदात्तयणो हल्पूर्वात् (udāttayaṇo hal-pūrvāt, पा. ६-१-१७४) — when an “ṇ”-substituted semivowel following a consonant stands for an acute vowel, the following case-ending is acute — hence “ī” is acute.

“Sūnṛtānām” — “ūna parihāṇau” (to lessen), with “kvip” by क्विप् च (पा. ३-२-७६) → “ūn”; “sutarām ūnayati apriyam” — “he who most completely removes what is unpleasant” — so

“sūn” is a word for “the pleasant”; “ṛtam” = true; “sūn ca tad ṛtaṃ ca” — a karmadhāraya compound, “sūnṛtam.” Here, by परादिश्छन्दसि बहुलम् (parādiś chandasi bahulam, पा. ६-२-१९९), in the Veda the beginning of the latter member is variably acute; so the first syllable of the second member is acute. Through “āyasmayādīni chandasi” (आयस्मयादीनि छन्दसि, पा. १-४-२०) the words “ayasmaya” and others in the Veda get the “bha” and “pada” labels as suitable; hence the “bha”-label arises, and since there is no “pada”-label, न लोपः प्रातिपदिकान्तस्य (na lopaḥ prātipadikāntasya, पा. ८-२-७) — the elision of the final “n” of a stem — does not apply to the “n” of “sūn.”

“Cetantī” — root “citī saṃjñāne”; in place of “laṭ” the “śatṛ” affix (लटः शतृशानचावप्रथमासमानाधिकरणे, पा. ३-२-१२४) → “cit + at”; “śap” comes, then guṇa of the light penultimate, and by अतो गुणे (पा. ६-१-९७) the single form → “cetat”; “śatṛ” is “uk”-marked (उगितश्च, ugitaś ca, पा. ४-१-६), so “ṅīp” for the feminine, giving “cetat + ī”; by आच्छीनद्योर्नुम् (āc chīnadyor num, पा. ७-१-८०) “num” is the augment, optionally, when “śī” or “nadī”-labelled endings follow; “cetantī” results; by हल्ङ्याब्भ्यो दीर्घात्... (पा. ६-१-६८) the elision. Both “śap” and “ṅīp” being “p”-marked, they are unaccented; the “śatṛ” affix is accented on the first syllable by तास्यनुदात्तेन्ङिददुपदेशाल्लसार्वधातुकमनुदात्तमहन्वनोर्ङित् (पा. ६-१-१८६) [as printed, garbled] and the stem’s own accent remains; the final vowel of “cetat,” by धातोः (पा. ६-१-१६२) — the last vowel of a root is acute — is acute on the “e.”

“Sumatīnām” — “śobhanā matiḥ yeṣāṃ te” — “those with good understanding,” a bahuvrīhi; by नञ्सुभ्याम् (पा. ६-२-१७२) the second member is end-acute; after it, when the genitive plural ending is added, “nuṭ” is the augment and the vowel is lengthened — “sumatīnām.” Here, by नामन्यतरस्याम् (nāmany atarasyām, पा. ६-१-१७७), in the case where the “matup”-final is elided... — if the stem is end-acute, the genitive plural ending “nām” is acute; thus the “nām” of “sumatīnām” is acute. ॥११॥

Page 83 — Sūkta 3, Twelfth Mantra: Saṃhitā, Pada, Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya, Pada-meanings

(Page header: “Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 6 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā.” Accent-marks not reproduced; see the note at Rik 3.5. Sanskrit printed in Kannada script, rendered letter by letter.)

Sūkta 3, The Twelfth Mantra

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

मॅहो अर्णॅः सर॑स्वती॒ प्र चे॑तयति के॒तुना॑ । धियो॒ विश्वा॒ वि रा॑जति ॥१२॥

mahó arṇaḥ sárasvatī prá cetayati ketúnā | dhiyo víśvā ví rājati ||12||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

महः । अर्णः । सरस्वती । प्र । चेतयति । केतुना । धियः । विश्वाः । वि । राजति ॥१२॥

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

द्विविधा हि सरस्वती विग्रहवद्देवता नदीरूपा च । तत्र पूर्वाभ्यामृग्भ्यां विग्रहवती प्रतिपादिता । अनया तु नदीरूपा प्रतिपाद्यते । तादृशी सरस्वती केतुना कर्मणा प्रवाहरूपेण महो अर्णः प्रभूतमुदकं प्र चेतयति । प्रकर्षेण ज्ञापयति । किंच । स्वकीयेन देवतारूपेण विश्वा धियः सर्वाण्यनुष्ठातृप्रज्ञानानि विराजति । विशेषेण दीपयति । अनुष्ठानविषया बुद्धिः । सर्वोत्पादयतीत्यर्थः । dvividhā hi sarasvatī vigrahavad-devatā nadī-rūpā ca | tatra pūrvābhyām ṛgbhyāṃ vigrahavatī pratipāditā | anayā tu nadī-rūpā pratipādyate | tādṛśī sarasvatī ketunā karmaṇā pravāha-rūpeṇa maho arṇaḥ prabhūtam udakaṃ pra cetayati | prakarṣeṇa jñāpayati | kiṃca | svakīyena devatā-rūpeṇa viśvā dhiyaḥ sarvāṇy anuṣṭhātṛ-prajñānāni virājati | viśeṣeṇa dīpayati | anuṣṭhāna-viṣayā buddhiḥ | sarvotpādayatīty arthaḥ |

Translation: "Sarasvatī is indeed of two kinds: a deity with a body (a goddess), and in the form of a river. Of these, the two preceding Ṛks presented her as the embodied one; by this Ṛk she is presented in river form. Such a Sarasvatī, 'ketunā' — by her action, in the form of her flow — makes known ('pra cetayati') 'maho arṇaḥ' — abundant water; that is, makes it known in an eminent way. Further, by her own form as a deity she 'virājati' — shines forth, illumines distinctly — all 'dhiyaḥ' — all the understandings of the performers; the understanding concerned with performance; the sense is: she produces them all." (The final clause, "sarvotpādayatīty arthaḥ," is printed as I give it; I read it as continuing the sentence, and note the sense is a little loose.)

सरस्वत्या द्विरूपत्वं यास्को दर्शयति । तत्र सरस्वतीत्येतस्य नदीवद्देवतावच्च निगमा भवन्ति । नि. २-२३ । इति । एकशतसंख्याकेषूदकनामसु अर्णः क्षोद इति पठितम् । एतामृचं यास्को व्याचष्ट । महदर्णः सरस्वती प्रचेतयति प्रज्ञापयति केतुना कर्मणा प्रज्ञया वेमानि च सर्वाणि प्रज्ञानान्यभिविराजति । नि. ११-२१ । इति ॥ sarasvatyā dvirūpatvaṃ yāsko darśayati | tatra sarasvatīty etasya nadīvad devatāvac ca nigamā bhavanti | ni. 2-23 [?] | iti | ekaśata-saṃkhyākeṣūdaka-nāmasv arṇaḥ kṣoda iti paṭhitam | etām ṛcaṃ yāsko vyācaṣṭa | mahad arṇaḥ sarasvatī pracetayati prajñāpayati ketunā karmaṇā prajñayā vemāni ca sarvāṇi prajñānāny abhivirājati | ni. 11-27 | iti ||

Translation: "Yāska shows the twofold nature of Sarasvatī: 'Of this "Sarasvatī" the Vedic passages are both river-like and deity-like' (Nirukta 2-23 [?]). Among the hundred-and-one names of water, 'arṇaḥ' and 'kṣodaḥ' are read. Yāska explains this Ṛk thus: 'Sarasvatī makes known a great flood ("arṇaḥ"), by her action, and by her wisdom she shines over all these kinds of knowledge.' (Nirukta 11-27)."

Grammar within the Bhāṣya (characterized, sūtras kept): "Mahaḥ" — "mahat" with the final "t" turned into "s" by vyatyaya (Vedic licence), then "ru" → "ḥ"; the accent of the bare stem falls on its last syllable. एङः पदान्तादति (eṅaḥ padāntād ati, पा. ६-१-१०९) would give the preceding form ("pūrvarūpa"), but by प्रकृत्यान्तःपादमव्यपरे (prakṛtyāntaḥpādam avyapare, पा. ६-१-११५) the natural form is retained within the pāda. "Arṇaḥ" — from "ṛ," the Uṇādi affix "asun" (उ. ४-१९६), with the augment "nuṭ," and "ṛ" taking guṇa. "Ketunā" — the accent of the bare stem is on the last syllable. "Viśvāḥ" — "viśva" has the first syllable acute, as it ends in the affix "kvan" (क्वन् [?]). (The print here closes the Bhāṣya with the marks "// ६ // // १ //" — I read these as the varga-end marks; the verse-number //१२// itself is printed at the end of the grammar on p. 85.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

सरस्वती (sarasvatī) — the river Sarasvatī | केतुना (ketunā) — by an action in the form of flowing (by flowing) | महो अर्णः (maho arṇaḥ) — very abundant water | प्र चेतयति (pra cetayati) — makes known in an eminent way | (और) विश्वाः धियः (viśvāḥ dhiyaḥ) — (and) the understanding (the wisdom) of all people (devoted to sacrifice and rites) | वि राजति (vi rājati) — illumines.

Page 84 — Rik 3.12: Bhāvārtha, English rendering; Special topics (opening)

(Page header: "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 1, Sūkta 3." English as printed in the source.)

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

Since the river Sarasvatī flows with a very deep current, there is a great deal of water in this river; and this goddess also illumines the minds of those who praise her or who worship her by sacrifice — that is, she impels people's understanding so that it becomes keen.

English Translation (printed in English in the source itself):

"Saraswati (river) manifests herself by her acts (flowing) as a mighty river and (in her own form) enlightens peoples's [sic] minds."

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

This mantra is used in the sacrifice called Sautrāmaṇī, for praising Sarasvatī. Yāska has explained this Ṛk in his Nirukta as follows — "mahad arṇaḥ sarasvatī pracetayati prajñāpayati ketunā karmaṇā prajñayā vemāni ca sarvāṇi prajñānāny abhivirājati" (महदर्णः सरस्वती प्रचेतयति प्रज्ञापयति केतुना कर्मणा प्रज्ञया वेमानि च सर्वाणि प्रज्ञानान्यभिविराजति — Ni. 11-27). Both the river form and the form of the goddess of speech of Sarasvatī Yāska states in the passage "tatra sarasvatīty etasya nadīvad devatāvac ca nigamā bhavanti" (तत्र सरस्वतीत्येतस्य नदीवद्देवतावच्च निगमा भवन्ति — Ni. 2-23). In this Ṛk, in the first half — that is, in the first two pādas — Sarasvatī is regarded and praised as being of river form, and in the third pāda as being of the form of a deity.

महो अर्णः (maho arṇaḥ) — The word "arṇa" is read among the hundred-and-one [print: "101"] names that indicate water. "Arṇa" means "water" and also "river." Here, although the river Sarasvatī was not a large river like the Sindhu and others, the praise of her as "maho arṇaḥ" — a big river with abundant floods — is right, we may say: for when one is praising, it is customary in the world to magnify and extol even a little of the quality that a deity has; moreover, the ṛṣi of this Ṛk, Madhucchanda, may have seen no large rivers such as the Sindhu, being far from them. It is therefore natural that he praises this river as a very large river, with abundant water in it.

केतुना (ketunā) — The Bhāṣyakāra and Yāska both explain this as "karmaṇā" — "by action." When it is explained as relating to the river, "ketunā" means "by the flow (of the nature of a figure of speech, rūpaka-karma)," so deep and so abundant; and when explained as relating to the deity, it may mean “by the action that stirs (impels) the minds of people.” The deep, endless and impetuous flood of the river Sarasvatī (the source’s English: “Saraswati’s mighty, endless and impetuous flood”) is described in many mantras, such as Ṛ. Saṃ. 6-6[?]-1[?] [?]. For this word Western scholars give (English as printed) “Brightness, banner, flag, activity, wisdom.” Skandasvāmī gives for “ketunā” … “by the action that is of the nature of a roar (garjanā)…” (continues on the next page)

Page 85 — Special topics on Rik 3.12 (concluded); Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā; end of Sūkta 3

(Page header: “Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 6 ·Ṛgveda-saṃhitā.” Grammar characterized, sūtras kept.)

(Continuing “ketunā” from p. 84:) …Skandasvāmī, that is, explains “ketunā” as “by the action of roaring”; Yāska explains it as “karmaṇā prajñayā vā” (“by action, or by wisdom”). The view of Uvvaṭa and Mahīdhara is the same as Skandasvāmī’s. Veṅkaṭamādhava gives for “ketunā” only “karmaṇā.”

धियः (dhiyaḥ) — “Buddhi, ālocanā” (understanding, reflection). Yāska and Skandasvāmī (in the sense of) “prajñā” and “karman”; Veṅkaṭamādhava, “prajñā”; Uvvaṭa and Mahīdhara, “buddhi.” Among Western scholars, Grassmann gives “act of devotion,” and another scholar (name not legible in the print) “Devotion, thought” (English as printed).

विराजति (virājati) — The Bhāṣyakāra explains it as “viśeṣeṇa dīpayati” (“illumines in a special way”) — that is, “causes to shine greatly, impels, kindles.” For this word, which is the third person singular of the root “rāj,” the senses “shine, preside, govern, brighten” (English as printed) may be given. “Dhiyo virājati” means “she impels the minds to engage in good works,” or “she makes our minds contented.”

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (characterized, sūtras kept) “Maho arṇaḥ”: the “t” of “mahat” becomes “s” by vyatyaya (Vedic licence); for the “s,” ससजुषो रुः (sasajuṣo ruḥ, पा. ८-२-६६) gives “ru”; for “ru,” रुग्तोरोरुप्लुतादप्लुते (ato ror aplutād aplute, पा. ६-१-११३) gives “u”; “mah + u”; then अदुगणे [print; I read it as the guṇa rule आद्गुणः (ād guṇaḥ), पा. ६-१-८७, but the print differs, and I do not alter it] gives guṇa → “maho.” When it joins the word “arṇaḥ,” एङः पदान्तादति (पा. ६-१-१०९) would produce the preceding form, but प्रकृत्यान्तःपादमव्यपरे (पा. ६-१-११५) keeps the natural form for “e/o” at the end of a word inside a pāda, when a short “a” follows, and not “v/y” (the print: when a “va” or “ya” follows after the short vowel, this does not apply); so, the natural form is retained, and we have “maho arṇaḥ.” “Arṇaḥ” — from the root “ṛ gatau” (“ṛ, to go”: “it flows, goes” — “arṇaḥ”); when the sense “water” is intended, the Uṇādi-sūtra उदके नुट् च (udake nuṭ ca, उ. सू. ४-१९६ [?]) — after “ṛ,” “asun” with the augment “nuṭ”; with them, “ṛ + nas” → guṇa → “ar + nas”; by रषाभ्यां नो णः समानपदे (पा. ८-४-१) the “n” becomes “ṇ”; “ru”-substitution and visarga: “arṇaḥ.” “Ketunā” — from the stem-accent it is end-acute. “Viśvāḥ” — “viśva” is formed with the “kvan” affix and is first-syllable acute. ॥१२॥

इल्लिगे ३नेय सूक्तवु संपूर्णवु — illige 3neya sūktavu sampūrṇavu — “Here the third sūkta is complete.”

Sūkta 4 — “surūpakṛtnum ūtaye”

Page 86 — Sūkta 4: title; Sāyaṇa’s introduction; the Anuvāda (opening)

(Page header: “Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 4.” Sanskrit is printed in Kannada script and rendered here into Devanagari/IAST; reference-numbers in small Kannada numerals are marked [?] where uncertain. Heading printed: “ // ಓಮ್ // — ನಾಲ್ಕನೆಯ ಸೂಕ್ತವು (the fourth sūkta)”.)

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

> प्रथमे मण्डले द्वितीयेऽनुवाके चत्वारि सूक्तानि । तत्र सुरूपेत्यादिकं दशर्चं प्रथमं सूक्तं सुरूपकृत्नुं दशेत्यनुक्रान्तत्वात् । पूर्वस्मान्मधुच्छन्दसो गायत्रस्य चानुवृत्तेरस्य एवर्षिश्छन्दसी । इन्द्रं पृच्छेति चतुर्थ्यामृचि लिङ्गदर्शनादिन्द्रो देवता । अभिप्लवषडहे ब्राह्मणाच्छंसिनः प्रातःसवने स्तोमवृद्ध्यावापार्थानि सुरूपकृत्नुमूतय इत्यादीनि षट् सूक्तानि । सूत्रितं चाभिप्लवपृष्ठ्याहानीति खण्डे ब्राह्मणाच्छंसिनः सुरूपकृत्नुमूतय इति षट् सूक्तानि । आ. ७-५ । इति । आद्यानि त्रीणि सूक्तानि महाव्रते निष्केवल्य औष्णिहतृचाशीतौ शस्तव्यानि । उक्तं च शौनकेन । सुरूपकृत्नुमूतय इति त्रीण्येन्द्र सानसिं रयिमिति सूक्ते । ऐ. आ. ५-२-५ । इति । चतुर्विंशेऽहनि माध्यन्दिने सवने ब्राह्मणाच्छंसिनः सुरूपकृत्नुमूतय इति वैकल्पिकः स्तोत्रियस्तृचः । होत्रकाणामिति खण्डे मदे मदे हि नो ददिः सुरूपकृत्नुमूतये । आ. ७-४ । इति सूत्रितत्वात् । अग्निष्टोमे वैश्वदेवशस्त्रे सुरूपकृत्नुमूतय इति धाय्या । सुरूपकृत्नुमूतये तक्षन्रथम् । आ. ५-१८ । इति सूत्रितत्वात् ॥ prathame maṇḍale dvitīye ’nuvāke catvāri sūktāni | tatra surūpetyādikaṃ daśarcaṃ prathamaṃ sūktaṃ surūpakṛtnuṃ daśety anukrāntatvāt | pūrvasmān madhucchandaso gāyatrasya cānuvṛtter asya evarṣi-cchandasī | indraṃ pṛccheti caturthyām ṛci liṅga-darśanād indro devatā | abhiplava-ṣaḍahe brāhmaṇācchaṃsinaḥ prātaḥ-savane stoma-vṛddhy-āvāpārthāni surūpakṛtnum ūtaya ity ādīni ṣaṭ sūktāni | sūtritaṃ cābhiplava-pṛṣṭhy-āhānīti khaṇḍe brāhmaṇācchaṃsinaḥ surūpakṛtnum ūtaya iti ṣaṭ sūktāni | ā. 7-5 | iti | ādyāni trīṇi sūktāni mahāvrate niṣkevalya auṣṇiha-tṛcāśītau śastavyāni | uktaṃ ca śaunakena | surūpakṛtnum ūtaya iti trīṇy endra sānasiṃ rayim iti sūkte | ai. ā. 5-2-5 | iti | caturviṃśe ’hani mādhyandine savane brāhmaṇācchaṃsinaḥ surūpakṛtnum ūtaya iti vaikalpikaḥ stotriyas tṛcaḥ | hotrakāṇām iti khaṇḍe made made hi no dadiḥ surūpakṛtnum ūtaye | ā. 7-4 | iti sūtritatvāt | agniṣṭome vaiśvadeva-śastre surūpakṛtnum ūtaya iti dhāyyā | surūpakṛtnum ūtaye takṣan ratham | ā. 5-18 | iti sūtritatvāt ||

Translation: “In the first Maṇḍala, in the second Anuvāka, there are four sūktas. Of these, the first, beginning ‘surūpa…’, is of ten Ṛks, as the Anukramaṇī has it: ‘surūpakṛtnuṃ daśa.’ Because of the continuation (anuvṛtti) from the preceding, the ṛṣi and metre of this one are the same — Madhucchandas, and Gāyatrī. By the evidence of the gender-mark in the fourth Ṛk, ‘indraṃ pṛccha,’ Indra is the deity. In the Abhiplava-ṣaḍaha (six-day rite), at the morning pressing, the six sūktas beginning ‘surūpakṛtnum ūtaye’ are (to be recited) by the Brāhmaṇācchaṃsin for the increase and the insertion (āvāpa) of the stoma; and this is laid down in the sūtra, in the section ‘abhiplava-pṛṣṭhy-āhāni’: ‘the Brāhmaṇācchaṃsin’s six sūktas beginning “surūpakṛtnum ūtaye”’ (Āśv. [Śrauta-sūtra] 7-5). The first three of these sūktas are to be recited, in the Mahāvrata, as the niṣkevalya-śastra, together with an Auṣṇiha tṛca, in the ‘aśīti’ (the eighty-verse recitation). And it has been said by Śaunaka: ‘surūpakṛtnum ūtaye — three; and the two sūktas "indra sānasiṃ rayim"" (Aitareya Āraṇyaka 5-2-5). On the twenty-fourth day, at the midday pressing, the Brāhmaṇācchaṃsin's tṛca 'surūpakṛtnum ūtaye' is an optional stotriya tṛca; and in the section on the Hotrakas it is laid down: 'made made hi no dadiḥ, surūpakṛtnum ūtaye' (Āśv. 7-4). In the Agniṣṭoma, in the Vaiśvadeva-śastra, 'surūpakṛtnum ūtaye' is the dhāyyā (the 'placing' verse): 'surūpakṛtnum ūtaye; takṣan ratham' (Āśv. 5-18)."

॥ Anuvādaḥ ॥ (Kannada commentary, translated)

As we said earlier (see Ṛ. Saṃ. Part II, page 3 [?]), the three sūktas of the first anuvāka of the first Maṇḍala are finished. From here the second Anuvāka begins. In this anuvāka there are four sūktas — (1) "surūpakṛtnum ūtaye," (2) "ā tvetā niṣīdata," (3) "yuñjanti bradhnam aruṣam," (4) "indram id gāthino bṛhat." Each of these four sūktas has ten Ṛks. As for the preceding sūktas, the ṛṣi of all four of these sūktas is the same Madhucchandas Vaiśvāmitra; the deity of this sūkta is Indra. In the first three Ṛks no deity's name is explicitly given; but because in the fourth Ṛk the words "indraṃ pṛccha" are used, and since from there on in the 5th, 6th, 7th and 10th [?] Ṛks too the word "Indra" occurs, Indra is the deity of this whole sūkta. There is no rule that the deity's name must occur in all the Ṛks of a sūkta; where some Ṛks have it, the remaining Ṛks present that deity's subject, and so… (continues on the next page)

Page 87 — Viniyoga of Sūkta 4; heading: ṛṣi, deity, metre; Rik 4.1 (Saṃhitā, Pada)

(Continuing:) …so the same deity must be said to apply to all the Ṛks of the sūkta. The order of application (viniyoga) of this sūkta is as follows. In the sacrifice called Abhiplava-ṣaḍaha, in the morning pressing, the Brāhmaṇācchaṃsin — the assistant ṛtvij of the Hotṛ — is to recite this sūkta "surūpakṛtnum ūtaye," together with the next five sūktas, for the increase of the stoma. In this regard, the sūtra: "sūtritaṃ cābhiplava-pṛṣṭhy-āhānīti khaṇḍe brāhmaṇācchaṃsinaḥ surūpakṛtnum ūtaya iti ṣaṭ sūktāni" (सूत्रितं चाभिप्लवपृष्ठ्याहानीति खण्डे ब्राह्मणाच्छंसिनः सुरूपकृत्नुमूतय इति षट् सूक्तानि — Āśv. Sū. 7-5). Of these six sūktas the first three are used in the rite called Mahāvrata as niṣkevalya-śastra mantras, as stated in the section "abhiplava-pṛṣṭhy-āhāni." Here Śaunaka has quoted the sentence of the Aitareya Āraṇyaka: "surūpakṛtnum ūtaya iti trīṇy endra sānasiṃ rayim iti sūkte" (Ai. Ā. 5-2-5) — that is, the three sūktas beginning "surūpakṛtnum ūtaye" and the two sūktas beginning "indra sānasiṃ rayim" are to be recited. Further, in the above-mentioned rite, on the twenty-fourth day, at the midday pressing, the Brāhmaṇācchaṃsin may optionally recite the tṛca "surūpakṛtnum ūtaye" (three Ṛks). The Āśvalāyana-sūtra says in the section "hotrakāṇām": "made made hi no dadiḥ surūpakṛtnum ūtaye" (Āśv. Sū. 7-4) — that the tṛca "made made hi no dadiḥ" (Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-81-7) and the tṛca "surūpakṛtnum ūtaye" (1-4-1) are to be recited; and in the Agniṣṭoma, when reciting the Vaiśvadeva-śastra mantras — "surūpakṛtnum ūtaye" (Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-4-1) and "takṣan rathaṃ suvṛtam" (Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-111-1) (Āśv. Sū. 5-18) — it is said in the Āśvalāyana sūtra that these Ṛks may be recited as special mantras.

॥ ओम् ॥

सूक्त—४ (Sūkta 4) ॥ मण्डल—१ ॥ अनुवाक—२ ॥ सूक्त—४ ॥ ॥ अष्टक—१ ॥ अध्याय—१ ॥ वर्ग—७, ८ ॥ ॥ सूक्तदल्लिरुव ऋक्संख्ये १० ॥ (number of Ṛks in the sūkta: 10) ऋषिः — मधुच्छन्दा वैश्वामित्रः

(ṛṣiḥ — madhucchandā vaiśvāmitraḥ) देवता — इन्द्रः (devatā — indraḥ) छन्दः — गायत्री (chandaḥ — gāyatrī)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

सुरूपकृत्नुमूतये सुदुघामिव गोदुहे । जुहूमसि द्यविद्यवि ॥१॥

surūpakṛtnumūtáye sudúghāmiva godúhe | juhūmási dyávidyavi ||1||

Page 88 — Rik 4.1: Pada-pāṭha, Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya, grammar (characterized), Pada-meanings (opening)

(Page header: "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 4." Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. Sanskrit printed in Kannada script; [?] where unclear.)

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

सुरूपकृत्नुम् । ऊतये । सुदुघाम्ऽइव । गोऽदुहे । जुहूमसि । द्यविऽद्यवि ॥१॥

(Reading note: the print divides the compounds with marks I read as "sudughām-iva" and "go-duhe," "dyavi-dyavi"; I give the divisions as I read the printed signs.)

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

सुरूपकृत्नुं शोभनरूपोपेतस्य कर्मणः कर्तारमिन्द्रमूतयेऽस्मद्रक्षणार्थं द्यवि द्यवि प्रतिदिनं जुहूमसि । आह्वयामः । आह्वाने दृष्टान्तः । गोदुहे गोदुगर्थं सुदुघामिव सुष्ठु दोग्ध्रीं गामिव । यथा लोके गोर्दोग्धा दोहार्थं तस्याभिमुखेन दोहनीयां गामाह्वयति तद्वत् । वस्तोरित्यादिषु द्वादशसंख्याकेष्वहर्नामसु द्यविद्यवीति पठितम् । surūpakṛtnuṃ śobhana-rūpopetasya karmaṇaḥ kartāram indram ūtaye 'smad-rakṣaṇārthaṃ dyavi dyavi pratidinaṃ juhūmasi | āhvayāmaḥ | āhvāne dṛṣṭāntaḥ | goduhe go-dugarthaṃ sudughām iva suṣṭhu dogdhrīṃ gām iva | yathā loke gor dogdhā dohārthaṃ tasyābhimukhena dohanīyāṃ gām āhvayati tadvat | vastor ity ādiṣu dvādaśa-saṃkhyākeṣv ahar-nāmasu dyavidyavīti paṭhitam |

Translation: "'Surūpakṛtnum' — the doer of action endowed with beautiful form — Indra — we call, 'ūtaye' — for our protection — 'dyavi dyavi' — day by day. The illustration for the calling: 'goduhe' — for the milker of the cow ('go-dug'), 'sudughām iva' — like a good milch-cow ('suṣṭhu dogdhrī gauḥ'). As, in the world, the milker of a cow calls the cow that is to be milked, to face him, for the sake of the milking, so (we call Indra). Among the twelve names for 'day,' beginning with 'vastoḥ,' 'dyavidyavi' is read."

Grammar within the Bhāṣya (characterized, not transcribed line by line; every sūtra cited is kept): "Surūpakṛtnum": "karoti iti kṛtnuḥ" — the affix "knu" after "kṛ" and "hi" (कृहिभ्यां क्नुः, उ. सू. ३-३०); since "knu" is "k"-marked, the guṇa does not occur; the "t" is inserted, a Vedic usage; the compound's accent is on its last syllable. "Ūtaye": "av" (to protect) takes "ktin" in the Vedic list "ūti-yūti-jūti-sāti-hetī-kīrtayaś ca" (ऊतियूतिजूतिसातिहेतिकीर्तयश्च, पा. ३-३-९७), which is irregularly formed (nipātana) and has the end-acute. "Sudughām": "su" + "dugdhā"; the affix "kap" after "duh" (दुहः कब्घश्च, पा. ३-२-७०), and the "h" becomes "gh"; "kap" being "p"-marked, the accent of the root remains with the "u" acute. With "su" as a gati-compound, the second member's accent is retained; with "iva" the case-ending is not elided (इवेन विभक्त्यलोपः पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं च, as on p. 58). "Goduhe": "gāṃ dogdhīti godhuk" — "kvip" in the sense of "doer" by सत्सूद्विषद्रुहदुहयुजविदभिदच्छिदजिनीराजामुपसर्गेऽपि क्विप् (पा. ३-२-६१); the accent of the second member of a kṛt compound is retained. "Juhūmasi": "hve" (hūyate) in the first-person plural laṭ; "śap" is replaced by "ślu" in the Veda (बहुलं छन्दसि, पा. २-४-७६); "samprasāraṇa" of the root before the doubling (अभ्यस्तस्य च, पा. ६-१-३३) and the "pūrvarūpa" (संप्रसारणाच्च, पा. ६-१-१०८); the lengthening (हलः, पा. ६-४-२); then the doubling by "ślau"; shortening of the reduplicative syllable (ह्रस्वः, पा. ७-४-५९); the "c"/"j" substitutions (चुत्वजश्त्वे, पा. ७-४-६२; ८-४-५४); the "mas" ending takes "i" by इदन्तो मसिः (पा. ७-१-४६); the "m" is acute by the accent of the affix. "Dyavi dyavi": "dyu" has the bare-stem accent on the last syllable; in the sense of repetition the word is doubled (नित्यवीप्सयोः, पा. ८-१-४); and the second is, by परमाम्रेडितम् (पा. ८-१-२) and अनुदात्तं च (पा. ८-१-३) [numbers as printed], unaccented.

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated; continued on the next page)

गोदुहे (goduhe) — for the sake of milking | सुदुघामिव (sudughām iva) — like a cow that gives milk (or that gives much milk) | सुरूपकृत्नुम् (surūpakṛtnum) — (him) who does good (beautiful) deeds — (Indra) … (continues on the next page)

Page 89 — Rik 4.1: Pada-meanings concluded; Bhāvārtha; English rendering; Special topics (opening)

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 7 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." English as printed in the source. The verse cited below is as printed; I note that the same Ṛk was already quoted in Sūkta 3, p. 25 of this file's earlier text.)

(Continuing:) …who does (Indra) | ऊतये (ūtaye) — for (our) protection | द्यविद्यवि (dyavidyavi) — every day | जुहूमसि (juhūmasi) — we call (we call him to come near us).

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

Just as we call, with love, a cow that gives milk, to come near us, so every day, for our protection, we call to us Indra, who can do wonderful — that is, daring — deeds.

English Translation (printed in English in the source itself):

"We invoke the performer of beautiful actions (Indra) day by day for our protection like a good milch-cow for the purpose of milking."

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

सुरूपकृत्नुम् (surūpakṛtnum) — This word is not used elsewhere in the Ṛgveda than in this Ṛk. The Bhāṣyakāra explains this word as "śobhana-rūpopetasya karmaṇaḥ kartāram" ("the doer of action endowed with beautiful form") — one who does works of a good form. The explanation of Skandasvāmī and Veṅkaṭamādhava is the same. Griffith and Macdonell follow Sāyaṇa's sense. Grassmann, the German scholar: "He who knows to perform beautiful things" — one with the power to do beautiful deeds; Ludwig: "Creater [sic] of beautiful forms" — one who can create beautiful shapes. But Geldner: “when he assumes his good forms or he who shows himself from his best side” — “one who shows his own best form” — and in support of this meaning he has cited the Ṛk:

> रूपंरूपं प्रतिरूपो बभूव तदस्य रूपं प्रतिचक्षणाय । इन्द्रो मायाभिः पुरुरूप ईयते युक्ता ह्यस्य हरयः शता दश ॥ (ऋ. सं. ६-४७-१८) rūpaṃ-rūpaṃ pratirūpo babhūva tad asya rūpaṃ praticakṣaṇāya | indro māyābhiḥ pururūpa īyate yuktā hy asya harayaḥ śatā daśa || (ṛ. saṃ. 6-47-18) The source’s English (from Geldner): “He has become suitable to every form; this true form of his is to be recognised again and again. Indra assumes many forms by virtue of his mysterious power; for, ten hundred horses have been yoked for him.”

— the chief import being that Indra, by his own power of māyā, is able to assume many forms. And… (continues on the next page)

Page 90 — Special topics on Rik 4.1 (continued): Indra’s many forms; “surūpakṛtnum” and “lokakṛtnum”; “ūtaye” (opening)

(Page header: “Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 4.” Ṛg-vedic and Nirukta reference-numbers are in small Kannada numerals and all are marked [?]. The glosses on verses are mine, tentative; the source gives none. In the Nirukta passage one word is unclear to me and flagged.)

(Continuing from p. 89:) In the Ṛk

> रूपंरूपं मघवा बोभवीति मायाः कृण्वानस्तन्वं परि स्वाम् । (ऋ. सं. ३-५३-८) rūpaṃ-rūpaṃ maghavā bobhavīti māyāḥ kṛṇvānas tanvaṃ pari svām | (ṛ. saṃ. 3-53-8) Gloss: “Maghavan becomes form after form, working his magic arts around his own body.”

too it is said that Indra is able to assume many forms. In the Nirukta as well (Ni. 10-17) this Ṛk is explained thus:

> विश्वामित्रस्यार्षम् । यावन्ति कानिचिद्रूपाणि मघवा इन्द्रो भवितुमिच्छति तानि सर्वाण्यप्रतिबन्धेन बोभवीति पुनःपुनर्भवतीति । कथम् । मायाः कृण्वानः इदं भवामीदं भवामीत्येवं “तन्वं परि स्वां” स्वां तनुं तत्तदाकृत्यानेकविधां विकुर्वाणः । तेनासावचिन्त्यप्रभावत्वाच्छक्नोति तत्तद्रूपमावेष्टुम् ॥ इत्यादि viśvāmitrasyārṣam | yāvanti kānicid rūpāṇi maghavā indro bhavitum icchati tāni sarvāṇy apratibandhena bobhavīti punaḥ-punar bhavatīti | katham | māyāḥ kṛṇvānaḥ idaṃ bhavāmīdaṃ bhavāmīty evaṃ “tanvaṃ pari svāṃ” svāṃ tanuṃ tat-tad-ākṛtyānekavidhāṃ vikurvāṇaḥ | tenāsāv acintya-prabhāvatvāc chaknoti tat-tad-rūpam āveṣṭum || ity ādi

Translation: “(This Ṛk is) the revelation of Viśvāmitra. Whatever forms Maghavan Indra wishes to become, all of them he becomes without hindrance, again and again. How? ‘Working māyās’: ‘I become this, I become this’ — thus ‘around his own body’ — his own body, in this and that shape, transforming it in many ways. Therefore, through his [a]-inconceivable power (”[a]cintya-prabhāvatvāt” — the first letter of the word is not clear to me), he is able to enter into this or that form,” and so on.

That is, in this Ṛk the ṛṣi Viśvāmitra says this: Indra, by his power of māyā, is able to transform his own body in many ways — that is, to take on, as the occasion requires, many different bodily forms. In the time of slaying enemies he can take a terrible form, and in fulfilling the wishes of the worshipper or of the people who praise him he can take a lovely form; and he has the power of māyā suited to such actions. Therefore, since in the Ṛk in hand the word "surūpakṛtnum" is used in calling Indra, with love, for our protection, the ṛṣi may have used the word to signify that Indra should come here, taking, by his power of māyā, a beautiful — that is, a gracious — form, to guard us. The word "kṛtnu" occurs, as the latter member of a compound, in the word "lokakṛtnum," which is found only in these two Ṛks:

> तं ते मदं गृणीमसि वृषणं पृत्सु सासहिम् । उ लोककृत्नुमद्रिवो हरिश्रियम् ॥ (ऋ. सं. ६-१५-४) taṃ te madaṃ gṛṇīmasi vṛṣaṇaṃ pṛtsu sāsahim | u lokakṛtnum adrivo hariśriyam || (ṛ. saṃ. 6-15-4) Gloss: "That exhilaration of yours we praise, the bull, the conqueror in battles, the world-maker, O wielder of the stone, the splendour of the bay horses."
>
> तं त्वा मदाय घृष्वय उ लोककृत्नुमीमहे । तव प्रशस्तयो महीः ॥ (ऋ. सं. ९-२-८) taṃ tvā madāya ghṛṣvaya u lokakṛtnum īmahe | tava praśastayo mahīḥ || (ṛ. saṃ. 9-2-8) Gloss: "Thee, the world-maker, we entreat for the exhilaration, for the bold one; great are your praises."

— This word is, in both Ṛks, applied to Indra, that is, it applies to Indra.

ऊतये (ūtaye) — "For protection; for guarding." This word and its other forms — ūtayaḥ, ūtīḥ, ūtibhiḥ, ūtim, ūtiṣu, ūtī, ūtīḥ, ūtyā — are used in many places in the Ṛgveda. In the Nirukta (Ni. 5-3), "ūtiḥ" is explained as "āvanam" (protection), and… (continues on the next page)

Page 91 — Special topics on Rik 4.1 (concluded); Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (opening)

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 7 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." Reference-numbers marked [?]; glosses mine.)

(Continuing "ūtaye":) …and he explains the word "ūtaye" in the Ṛk quoted as an example:

> आ त्वा रथं यथोतये सुम्नाय वर्तयामसि । (ऋ. सं. ६-५-१ [as printed]) ā tvā rathaṃ yathotaye sumnāya vartayāmasi | (ṛ. saṃ. 6-5-1 [as printed]) Gloss: "As (one turns) a chariot for aid, we turn you hither for favour."

as "avanāya, rakṣaṇāya" (for protecting). Such examples are many in the Ṛgveda. Ṛks in which Indra is entreated to save the worshippers from the harm of enemies, to make them fearless, and to protect them, occur in many places in the Ṛgveda:

> त्रातारमिन्द्रमवितारमिन्द्रं हवेहवे सुहवं शूरमिन्द्रम् ॥ (ऋ. सं. ६-४७-११) trātāram indram avitāram indraṃ have-have suhavaṃ śūram indram || (ṛ. saṃ. 6-47-11) Gloss: "Indra the saviour, Indra the helper, Indra, easily invoked at every call, the hero."
>
> बाधतां द्वेषो अभयं कृणोतु सुवीर्यस्य पतयः स्याम ॥ (ऋ. सं. ६-४७-१२) bādhatāṃ dveṣo abhayaṃ kṛṇotu suvīryasya patayaḥ syāma || (ṛ. saṃ. 6-47-12) Gloss: "May he drive off hatred, may he make fearlessness; may we be masters of good heroism."

There are many Ṛks of this kind concerning Indra.

सुदुघामिव गोदुहे (sudughām iva goduhe) — "As one calls a cow for milk." This simile — or similes of the same sense (the source's term: "lupta-upamā") — are used in many places in the Ṛgveda, so it seems that in that age this sentence was a customary one to cite as an illustration:

> तं त्वा वयं सुदुघामिव गोदुहो जुहूमसि श्रवस्यवः ॥ (ऋ. सं. ८-५२-४) taṃ tvā vayaṃ sudughām iva goduho juhūmasi śravasyavaḥ || (ṛ. saṃ. 8-52-4) Gloss: "Thee we call, like milkers a good milch-cow, seeking fame."
>
> इन्द्रं धेनुं सुदुघामन्यामिषमुरुधारामरंकृतम् । (ऋ. सं. ८-१-१०) indraṃ dhenuṃ sudughām anyām iṣam urudhārām araṃkṛtam | (ṛ. saṃ. 8-1-10) Gloss: "Indra — the good milch-cow, another refreshment, broad-streamed, well-fashioned." [tentative; the print gives only this line]
>
> उपह्वये सुदुघां धेनुमेतां सुहस्तो गोधुगुत दोहदेनाम् । (ऋ. सं. १-१६४-२६) upahvaye sudughāṃ dhenum etāṃ suhasto godhug uta dohad enām | (ṛ. saṃ. 1-164-26) Gloss: "I call this good milch-cow near; may the skilful-handed milker milk her."

A cow that gives milk is dear to everyone; likewise Indra, who protects from the harm of enemies, is desired by all — such is the import.

द्यविद्यवि (dyavidyavi) — "Every day." By नित्यवीप्सयोः (nityavīpsayoḥ, पा. ८-१-४) there is doubling: when a single word is read twice, the sense is "each one." Examples: dive-dive ("every day"), āharahaḥ, māsi-māsi ("every month"), yajñe-yajñe ("at every sacrifice"), bhare-bhare ("in every battle"), have-have ("at every call"), dame-dame ("in every house"), and the like.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (Kannada; characterized, sūtras kept) 4th Sūkta, Rik 1. "Surūpakṛtnum": a root meaning "to make" ("kṛ"); after the seven roots ṛ-ṣap-śilp-śap-bāp-rūpa-parṣa [?] (the list as printed: "khuṣpa śilpa śaṣpa bāpa rūpa parṣa …" — I read it with doubt; Uṇ. Sū. 3-3[?]8 [?]) — "ṛñ avadāraṇe" (to tear), "śīlasamādhau" (to practise), "śaśu hiṃsāyām" (to kill), "bādhṛ loḍane" (to disturb), "rū śabde" (to sound), "pūpālanapūraṇayoḥ" (to protect and fill), "talapratiṣṭhākaraṇe" — an affix "pa" … (continues on the next page)

Pages 92–93 — Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā for Rik 4.1 (Kannada) — characterized

(Page headers: p. 92 "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 4"; p. 93 "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 7 ·Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." These two pages are pure Pāṇinian derivation in Kannada prose, the Kannada rendering of the grammar already given in Sanskrit on p. 88. Per the standing convention they are characterized in order, not translated line by line; each sūtra the pages cite is kept in three layers with its number as I read it. Sūtra-numbers in small Kannada numerals are marked [?]. Nothing in them changes the sense of the Rik as given on p. 89.)

p. 92 — "surūpakṛtnum" and the beginning of "ūtaye." - "Surūpa" — "rūpa" is formed from the root "rūp" (or "rūpa") with the affix "pa" that is added after the seven roots listed in the Uṇādi-sūtra, "khaṣpa-śilpa-śaṣpa-bāṣpa-rūpa-parpa-talpāḥ" (खष्पशिल्पशष्पबाष्परूपपर्पतल्पाः, उ. सू. ६-३०८ [as printed]), and, by nipātana, the lengthening of the vowel gives "rūpa."

Explained as “rūpyate (praśasyate) iti rūpam”: that which is praised by people. “Śobhanaṃ rūpaṃ yasya tat” — a bahuvrīhi compound — “surūpam.” Then the genitive tatpuruṣa “surūpasya kṛtnuḥ.” - “Kṛtnu” — “karotīti kṛtnuḥ”: the affix “knu” after “kṛ” and “han” (कृहनिभ्यां क्नुः, उ. सू. ३-३-१० [as printed; cited just before as ३-३१०]); “knu” being “k”-marked, there is no guṇa; “han” is stated in the sūtra because the “t” of the affix is added (a Vedic feature). - Accent of the compound. After the “su” the bahuvrīhi would by बहुव्रीहौ प्रकृत्या पूर्वपदम् (पा. ६-२-१) retain the first member’s accent; but नञ्सुभ्याम् (पा. ६-२-१७२) makes the last member’s last syllable acute in a bahuvrīhi after “nañ” or “su”; so “surūpa” is end-acute. In “kṛtnu” the affix’s accent is the acute, per धातोः (पा. ६-१-१६२) and आद्युदात्तश्च (पा. ३-१-३); with “surūpakṛtnu” as a genitive tatpuruṣa, समासस्य (पा. ६-१-२२३) makes the compound end-acute. The second-case singular ending “am” must be added after “surūpakṛtnu”; by अनुदात्तौ सुप्पितौ (पा. ३-१-४) the ending “am” is unaccented. By अमिपूर्वः (पा. ६-१-१०७) the “am” combines in the “pūrvarūpa” with the “u,” and by एकादेश उदात्तेनोदात्तः (पा. ८-२-५) the single substitute is acute. - “Ūtaye” — ऊतियूतिजूतिसातिहेतिकीर्तयश्च (पा. ३-३-९७) with the word मन्त्रे वृषेषपचमनविदभूवीरा उदात्तः (पा. ३-३-९६) — the “udātta” of the preceding sūtra being carried over — these words ending in the affix “ktin” are formed irregularly (nipātana) and are end-acute: “ūti” is end-acute. The root “av” (to protect) takes “ktin” by ज्वरत्वरस्रिव्यविमवामुपधायाश्च (पा. ६-४-२०) with “ūṭ” replacing “av,” giving “ūti”; the accents of the root and of the affix would conflict, and the nipātana’s acute on the “i” overrides. “Ū” is unaccented by the “śeṣa-anudātta” rule. …

p. 93 — “ūtaye” concluded; “sudughām,” “goduhe,” “juhūmasi.” - “Ūti” + the dative ending “ṅe”: the “ṅī”/“jhi” affixes; since “ūti” is a word ending in short “i” and not “nadī”-labelled, by घेर्ङिति (पा. ७-३-१११) the guṇa is substituted — “ūte” + “e” → by एचोऽयवायावः “ūtaye.” The “ṅe” ending is unaccented as “sup”; the accent of the “i” of “ūti” is the “nipātana” acute, and the “ay” substitute is acute as the substitute of an acute; by उदात्तादनुदात्तस्य स्वरितः (पा. ८-४-६६) the following unaccented syllable becomes svarita. Thus “ūtaye”: first syllable unaccented, second acute, third svarita. - “Sudughām” — “suṣṭhu dugdhe iti sudughā” (“she who yields milk well”): the root “duh prapūraṇe” (to fill, to milk) takes “kap” when “su” is an upapada — दुहः कब्घश्च (duhaḥ kab ghaś ca, पा. ३-२-७०) — and the “h” of “duh” becomes “gh”; the “a” of “kap” being “p”-marked, there is no guṇa, and by अनुदात्तोपदेश… the root’s accent remains; धातोः (पा. ६-१-१६२) gives the root’s last vowel — the “u” of “dugh” — the acute. With “su” the compound is a “gati-kāraka-upapada” compound, so by गतिकारकोपपदात्कृत् (पा. ६-२-१३९) the original accent remains; the feminine “ṭāp”; the second-case singular “sudughām”; and with “iva,” by इवेन समासो विभक्त्यलोपः पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं च (the vārttika as on p. 58) the compound keeps the earlier accent. - “Goduhe” — “gāṃ dogdhīti godhuk”: सत्सूद्विषद्रुहदुहयुजविदभिदच्छिदजिनीराजामुपसर्गेऽपि क्विप् (पा. ३-२-६१) — after “pad” (to go), “sad,” “dviṣ,” “druh,” “duh,” “yuj,” “vid,” “bhid,” “chid,” “ji,” “nī,” “rāj” — “kvip” occurs whether or not an upasarga precedes, when a subanta stands as upapada; the “kvip” is applied to “duh” with “go” as upapada; in the compound, the kṛt-ending second member’s accent is kept (कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम्). - “Juhūmasi” — the root “hve” (ह्वेञ् स्पर्धायां शब्दे च, “to challenge, to call”) is in the bhvādi (first) class; “laṭ” first-person plural “mas” gives “hve + mas”; the “śap” that would come is elided as “ślu” by बहुलं छन्दसि (पा. सू. २-४-७६) — in the Veda “ślu” (elision named by the word “ślu”) comes variously; then अभ्यस्तस्य च (पा. सू. ६-१-३३) … (continues on the next page; re-read from the better scan, Oct 2026)

Page 94 — Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā for Rik 4.1 concluded; Sūkta 4, Second Mantra: Saṃhitā and Pada text

(Page header: “Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 4.” Grammar characterized, sūtras kept; accent-marks not reproduced; see the note at Rik 3.5.)

(Continuing “juhūmasi” from p. 93:) …the root “hve,” being the cause, takes “samprasāraṇa” (ह्वेञ् … संप्रसारणम्): “hu + e + mas” → “hu + mas”-type form by संप्रसारणाच्च (पा. ६-१-१०८) — when “samprasāraṇa” is followed by an “ac,” the single “pūrvarūpa” replaces both — and then by हलः (पा. ६-४-२, as printed) the stem-final before a consonant is lengthened (“hū”); the doubling by श्लौ (पा. ६-१-१०); the reduplicative syllable is shortened by ह्रस्वः (पा. ७-४-५९) — “hu-hū-mas”; for the “h” of the reduplicative syllable the “c”-class substitute by कुहोश्चुः (kuhoś cuḥ, पा. ७-४-६२) → “ju”; then the “ru/ghosa” substitutions अभ्यासे चर्च (पा. ८-४-५४); “mas” takes the augment “i” by इदन्तो मसिः (पा. ७-१-४६) → “juhūmasi.” By the accent of the affix the “ma” is acute.

“Dyavidyavi” — the root “dyut dīptau” (to shine); after it the Uṇādi affix “do” (उणादयो बहुलम्, पा. ३-३-१); because of the word “bahulam” the affix “do” comes. Bhaṭṭoji-dīkṣita, in the Kaumudī, in explaining the Uṇādi-sūtra गमेर्डोः [as printed; “dyoḥ”?] (उ. सू. २-२२६), says that from the “bāhulaka” rule “dyau” too arises; Bhojadeva holds that “do” is the affix after the root “dyu abhigamane” (“to approach”). “Dyoḥ” is end-acute, by the Uṇādi accent rule (फिषः etc. as printed, “Phi. sū. 1”). In the seventh case singular, with the doubling by नित्यवीप्सयोः (पा. ८-१-४), the word is “dyavi-dyavi”; of it, the second part is called “āmreḍita” by परमाम्रेडितम् (पा. ८-१-२), and, by अनुदात्तं च (पा. ८-१-३), the “āmreḍita” is unaccented — so the second “dyavi” is unaccented. ॥१॥

---

Sūkta 4, The Second Mantra

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

उप॑ नः॒ सव॒ना ग॑हि॒ सोम॑स्य सोमपाः पिब । गो॒दा इद्रे॒वतो॒ मदः॑ ॥२॥

úpa naḥ sávanā gahi sómasya somapāḥ piba | godā́ idreváto mádaḥ ||2||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

उप । नः । सवना । आ । गहि । सोमस्य । सोमऽपाः । पिब । गोऽदाः । इत् । रेवतः । मदः ॥२॥

Page 95 — Rik 4.2: Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya, Pada-meanings, Bhāvārtha

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 7 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." Sanskrit printed in Kannada script; [?] where unclear. The sense-lines are transcribed in full; the grammar is characterized, with its sūtras.)

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

> हे सोमपाः सोमस्य पातरिन्द्र सोमं पातुं नोऽस्मदीयानि सवना सवनानि त्रीणि प्रत्युप समीप आगहि । आगच्छ । आगत्य च सोमस्य सोमं पिब । रेवतो धनवतस्तव मदो हर्षो गोदा इद्गोप्रद एव । त्वयि हृष्टे सत्यस्माभिर्गावो लभ्यन्त इत्यर्थः ॥ he somapāḥ somasya pātar indra somaṃ pātuṃ no 'smadīyāni savanā savanāni trīṇi praty upa samīpa āgahi | āgaccha | āgatya ca somasya somaṃ piba | revato dhanavatas tava mado harṣo godā id gopradā eva | tvayi hṛṣṭe saty asmābhir gāvo labhyanta ity arthaḥ ||

Translation: "O 'somapāḥ' — O drinker of Soma, Indra! In order to drink the Soma, come near, 'upa āgahi' — come — 'nah savanā' — to our three pressings (savanas). And having come, drink the Soma ('somasya piba' = 'somam piba'). 'Revataḥ' — of you, the wealthy; the 'madaḥ' — the exhilaration — is 'godā id' — a giver of cows indeed: that is, when you are delighted, we obtain cows."

Grammar within the Bhāṣya (characterized; the print is somewhat garbled in the middle and I give only what I read clearly): "Upa" — a particle, hence first-syllable acute. "Savanā" — "sūyate somaḥ eṣu iti savanāni": "lyuṭ" in the locative-of-place sense (ल्युट्... , पा. ३-३-११७); the ending "śas/jas" replaced by "ḍā" (सुपो डादेशः, as printed) and the loss of "ṭi"; the accent on the vowel before the affix in the "ṇit/ñit"-marked affix. "Gahi" — from "gam" with the "śap" dropped by बहुलं छन्दसि (पा. २-४-७३); the root's "m" is dropped by अनुदात्तोपदेश... (पा. ६-४-३७); the "hi" ending by आतो हेः (पा. ६-४-१०५) — the print then discusses why the loss of "m" is to be treated as "asiddha" and the resulting accent, which I do not reproduce. "Somapāḥ" — vocative; the आमन्त्रितस्य च (पा. ६-१-१९८) loss of accent; "piba" has its accent lost by तिङ्ङतिङः (पा. ८-१-२८) with reference to the preceding word, though that word is not itself an existent "pada"-unit by "parāṅgavadbhāva" — the print debates this (the "asāmarthya" argument) and concludes the "nighāta" does apply. "Godāḥ" — "gāṃ dadātīti godāḥ": "kvip" (क्विप् च, पा. ३-२-७६) in the sense of the doer, and the root-final "ā" becomes "i" by आतो मनिन्क्वनिब्वनिपश्च (पा. ३-२-७४) [as printed "...vanip"]; "vic" ... and "ghu-mā-sthā-..." (घुमास्थागापाजहातिसां हलि, पा. ६-४-६६) — the "ī"-substitution of the final "ā" — would be expected, but "godāḥ" is irregular by Vedic usage. "Revān" — "rayir dhanam asyāstīti": "matup" after "rayi" (रयेर्मतौ बहुलं छन्दसि, पा. ६-१-३७-६ [as printed]), the samprasāraṇa, the guṇa; the "matup" is acute by ह्रस्वनुड्भ्यां मतुप् (पा. ६-१-१७६); by छन्दसीरः (पा. ८-२-१५) the "va." "Madaḥ" — "mad" (to be glad) with "ap" (मदोऽनुपसर्गे, पा. ३-३-६७); "p"-marked and thus unaccented in the affix; the root-accent remains.

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

सोमपाः (somapāḥ) — O Indra, who drink the Soma | नः (naḥ) — our | सवना (savanā) — to the morning, midday and third pressings in the sacrifice (or: to the sacrifices that we perform)

| उपागहि (upāgahi) — be one who comes near (coming here) | सोमस्य (somasya) — the Soma-juice | पिब (piba) — drink | रेवतः (revataḥ) — (of you) who are endowed with riches, lordship and the like | मदः (madaḥ) — the joy (that arises from drinking the Soma) | गोदाः (godāḥ) — gives (us) cows.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

O Indra! You are a drinker of Soma. Therefore, coming to the three pressings of the sacrifice that we are now performing — the morning, the midday and the third — drink the Soma that we have prepared. When you drink it you are made glad; and you, who are endowed with lordship, will be the giver to us of cows (wealth in cows).

Page 96 — Rik 4.2: English rendering; Special topics; Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (opening)

(Page header: "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 4." English as printed. The count of "-dāḥ" words (17) re-read from the better scan.)

English Translation (printed in English in the source itself):

"O Soma-drinker, come hither to our Sacrifices and Partake of the Soma; you being rich the satisfaction you get from drinking Soma is verily the cause of the gift of cattle."

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

उप आ गहि (upa ā gahi) — "Upa" — near: near the sacrifice we are performing; "ā gahi" — "come," be one who comes.

सवना (savanā) — "sūyate somaḥ eṣu iti savanāni" ("those in which Soma is pressed") — the name "savana" is given to the rite (the sacrifice) that extracts the Soma-juice. "Savana" may be explained as the three pressings beginning with the morning pressing, or as the sacrifice that has the rite of pressing. In either way the chief sense is one.

गोदाः (godāḥ) — "gāṃ dadātīti godāḥ; goprade" — one who gives cows, or wealth in cattle. Similarly "somaṃ pibatīti somapāḥ." In the Ṛgveda there are 17 examples of words ending in the affix "dāḥ":

> अश्वदाः । आत्मदाः । ओजोदाः । गोदाः । द्रविणोदाः । धनदाः । बलदाः । भूरिदाः । वस्त्रदाः । वाजदाः । वासोदाः । सहोदाः । सहस्रदाः । सुदाः । स्वस्तिदाः । हिरण्यदाः । भूरिदाः ॥ aśvadāḥ | ātmadāḥ | ojodāḥ | godāḥ | draviṇodāḥ | dhanadāḥ | baladāḥ | bhūridāḥ | vastradāḥ | vājadāḥ | vāsodāḥ | sahodāḥ | sahasradāḥ | sudāḥ | svastidāḥ | hiraṇyadāḥ | bhūridāḥ || (Translation of the word-list, mine: "giver of horses; giver of self; giver of vigour; giver of cows; giver of wealth; giver of riches; giver of strength; giver of plenty; giver of garments; giver of prizes; giver of clothing; giver of might; giver of a thousand; good giver; giver of well-being; giver of gold; giver of plenty." The word "bhūridāḥ" is printed twice in the list, as I read it; I record this without correction.)

इत् (it) — "eva" (indeed). Example: "indraḥ godā id" — "Indra is indeed a giver of cows"; the sentence "indro godā it" means that Indra is a giver of cows only. The word "it" is used in the sense of emphasis (avadhāraṇa).

रेवतः (revataḥ) — “rayir dhanam asyāstīti revān, tasya revataḥ” — one who has wealth: “of the wealthy (Indra).”

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (Kannada; characterized) “Upa” — a particle (nipāta), hence, by निपाता आद्युदात्ताः (Phiṭ-sūtra 80) first-syllable acute. “Savanā” — “sūyate somaḥ eṣv iti savanāni”: करणाधिकरणयोश्च (karaṇādhikaraṇayoś ca, पा. ३-३-११७) — “lyuṭ” is added to a root in the sense of instrument or locus; to “ṣuñ” (abhiṣave) comes “lyuṭ,” “su + yu”; धात्वादेः षः सः (dhātvādeḥ ṣaḥ saḥ, पा. ६-१-६४) — the initial “ṣ” of the root becomes “s” … (continues on the next page)

Page 97 — Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā for Rik 4.2 — characterized

(Page header: “Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 7 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā.” Pure grammar in Kannada prose, the rendering of the Sanskrit of p. 95; characterized, with sūtras kept; numbers as read, [?] where uncertain.)

(Continuing “savanā”:) …युवोरनाकौ (yuvor anākau, पा. ७-१-१) turns “yu” into “ana”: “su + ana,” then the guṇa and “av” substitutions → “savana.” For the second-case plural ending, सुपां सुलुक्… (supāṃ sulukpūrvasavarṇāccheyāḍāḍyāyājālaḥ, पा. ७-१-३९) — the “ḍā” substitute — “savana + ā”; the “na” and the following “a” (टेः, पा. ६-४-१४३): the “ṭi” of “savana” is elided before “ḍit” → “savanā.” By लिति (liti, पा. ६-१-१९३) the vowel before the “l”-marked affix is acute.

“Gahi” — the root “gam gatau,” in the imperative (loṭ) second-person singular, the ending “sip” → “gam + si”; “śap” (कर्तरि शप्, पा. ३-१-६८), which is elided here by बहुलं छन्दसि (पा. २-४-७३); सेर्ह्यपिच्च (ser hy apic ca, पा. ३-४-८७) — “hi” replaces “si,” and it is not “p”-marked — so “hi” is “ṅit”-like and the sārvadhātuka सार्वधातुकमपित् (पा. १-२-४) is “ṅit,” whence अनुदात्तोपदेश… (पा. ६-४-३७) drops the “m”: “ga + hi.” Then अतो हेः (ato heḥ, पा. ६-४-१०५) would drop the “hi” after an “a”-ending stem; but the rule असिद्धवदत्राभात् (asiddhavad atrābhāt, पा. ६-४-२२) makes the “m”-elision “asiddha” with respect to it, so that “hi” is not elided — the print argues this at length with the paribhāṣā about “samānāśraya” rules, and concludes that “hi” is retained: “gahi.”

“Somapāḥ” — a vocative; by आमन्त्रितस्य च (पा. ८-१-१९) it is wholly unaccented (sarvānudātta). Although by आमन्त्रितं पूर्वमविद्यमानवत् (पा. सू. ८-१-७२) it is treated as non-existent, the following “piba” is made unaccented by तिङ्ङतिङः (पा. सू. ८-१-२८), taking the word before it as the cause. The preceding word “somasya” is not a vocative; the text debates whether the “āmantritaṃ pūrvam avidyamānavat” (पा. ८-१-७२) and “subāmantrite parāṅgavat svare” (पा. २-१-२) rules apply between “somapāḥ” and “somasya,” and concludes that, because the two words lack a mutual syntactic connection (“asāmarthya”), “parāṅgavad-bhāva” does not occur, and “somasya” is not treated as non-existent.

“Godāḥ” — “gāṃ dadāti iti godāḥ”: the root “ḍudāñ dāne” (to give), ending in “ā”; आतोऽनुपसर्गे कः would give “ka,” but “kvip” (क्विप् च, पा. ३-२-७६) is the general rule; since the Veda has the specific rule आतो मनिन्क्वनिब्वनिपश्च (पा. ३-२-७४), “manin, kvanip, vanip” may come after a root ending in “ā” when a subanta or an upasarga stands as upapada; from the “ca” in that sūtra, “vic” also comes — and so on. (The page ends in the middle of this argument about which affix applies to “godāḥ”; it continues on the next page.)

Pages 98–99 — Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā for Rik 4.2 (continued): the “godāḥ” / “īt” debate; “revataḥ”

(Page headers: p. 98 “Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 4”; p. 99 “Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 7 ·Ṛgveda-saṃhitā.” These two pages are an advanced scholastic grammatical debate in Kannada prose about whether the “ī”-substitution of घुमास्थागापाजहातिसां हलि (ghu-mā-sthā-gā-pā-jahāti-sāṃ hali, पा. ६-४-६६) can apply to “godāḥ” (the root “dā” with “kvip”). They have no bearing on the sense of the Rik, already given on pp. 95–96, and per the standing convention I characterize the argument in outline rather than transcribe it line by line, keeping the sūtras the pages name. Numbers as read; [?] where uncertain.)

The question. The “ghu” labelled roots (the roots “dā” and “dhā”) take “ī” before an “ārdhadhātuka” affix that begins with a consonant (“hali”) and is “k”- or “ṅ”-marked (ईत्वं हलि… ). With “kvip,” however, the whole affix is elided (वेरपृक्तस्य, पा. ६-१-६७), and “godāḥ” shows no “ī.” The page-98 argument asks whether “kvip” can be regarded as an affix beginning with a consonant (“halādi”) so as to call for “ī,” and answers that it cannot, since it is entirely elided; yet, because of the “pratyaya-lakṣaṇa” principle (प्रत्ययलोपे प्रत्ययलक्षणम्, पा. १-१-६२ — “when an affix is elided, the operation that depends on the affix still applies”), the objector argues “ī” should still come. Two views are put: that this sūtra is vidhāyaka (enabling) or niyāmaka (restricting). The reply draws on the principle वर्णाश्रये नास्ति प्रत्ययलक्षणम् (varṇāśraye nāsti pratyaya-lakṣaṇam — “where the operation depends on a letter, there is no ‘pratyaya-lakṣaṇa’”). Examples are taken from “tṛṇahim” (तृणह इम्, पा. ७-३-९२) and “gaveḥitam,” and the page notes that when the chief ground of an operation is a letter (varṇa), the prohibition applies; when the chief ground is the affix itself, “pratyaya-lakṣaṇa” applies.

The Mahābhāṣya line (p. 99). The Mahābhāṣya-kāra’s phrase ईर्ध्यायतेर्दधातेर्वा [as printed, “dhīrghyāyater dādhāter vā”; read with doubt] is discussed: if “kvip” were added after “dhā,” the “ī” of “ghumāsthā” would need to arise; “hali” would then be read as “an-aji” (not “ajādi”), and the reply says that the rule for “ī” requires a “k/ṅ”-marked or “ārdhadhātuka” affix that does not begin with a vowel; in “godāḥ” the “kvip” is “ajādi,” since it is elided; therefore “ī” does not arise, and “vic” is taken instead (the “ca” of the sūtra आतो मनिन्क्वनिब्वनिपश्च, पा. ३-२-७४, brings in “vic”). A parallel is “saṃśasthā” (अन्येभ्योऽपि दृश्यन्ते, “…aṃbāgo-bhū-” — the sūtra as printed is garbled), where, if “kvip” were assumed, “ī” would again be required, and so “vic” is again assumed. Vārttikas of Kātyāyana (ईत्वे ह्रयतिप्रतिषेधो वक्तव्यः [as I read it]) and the Padamañjarī are cited in support. The conclusion: in “godāḥ” the affix is “vic” (not “kvip”) and no “ī” results. The debate is closed with a remark on the “asiddha”/“samprasāraṇa” rules, and on “pratyayāpratyaya-sādhāraṇa” operations (illustrated by सोर्मनसी अलोमोषसी, पा. ६-२-१०२ [?], with “sudṛṣat,” “śobhanāḥ dṛṣadaḥ yasya prāsādasya”), which I do not reproduce.

“Revataḥ” (p. 99, end) — “rayiḥ asya asti iti revān”: “matup” after “rayi” (तदस्यास्त्यस्मिन्निति मतुप्, पा. ५-२-९४); the “m” becomes “v” by छन्दसीरः (पा. ८-२-१५), and by रयेर्मतौ बहुलं छन्दसि (पा.

६-१-३७) the “samprasāraṇa” of “y” (to “i”) is variably made in the Veda: “rayi + vat” → “revat” (the “ay” becoming “e” by guṇa: आद्गुणः, पा. ६-१-८७, after the “pūrvarūpa” of संप्रसारणाच्च, पा. ६-१-१०८); the nominative singular “revān”; the “matup” is acute by ह्रस्वनुड्भ्यां मतुप् (पा. ६-१-१७६) (the print says “the acute when the preceding short vowel has the udātta”) … (continues on the next page)

(Printed references in the grammar of pp. 98–99, in order: Pā. 6-4-66; 1-1-62; 7-3-92; 6-1-37; 6-2-117; then (p. 99) 5-2-94; 8-2-15; 6-1 vā. 6; 6-1-108; 6-1-87; 6-1-166 (Oct 2026 numeral pass).)

Page 100 — Rik 4.2 grammar concluded; Sūkta 4, Third Mantra: Saṃhitā, Pada, Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (opening)

(Page header: “Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 4.” Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. Sanskrit printed in Kannada script; [?] where unclear.)

(Continuing “revataḥ” from p. 99:) …the “matup” is acute as following a word-final short vowel or the augment “nuṭ” (ह्रस्वनुड्भ्यां मतुप्, पा. ६-१-१७६). “Madaḥ” — “mad” (to be glad) with “ap” (मदोऽनुपसर्गे, पा. ३-३-६७): when a subanta (not an upasarga) stands as upapada before the root “mad,” “ap” comes; being “p”-marked it is unaccented. ॥२॥

---

Sūkta 4, The Third Mantra

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

अथा॑ ते॒ अंत॑मानां॒ वि॒द्याम॑ सुमती॒नां । मा नो॒ अति॑ ख्य॒ आ ग॑हि ॥३॥

áthā te áṃtamānāṃ vidyāma sumatīnāṃ | mā no áti khya ā́ gahi ||3||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

अथ । ते । अन्तमानाम् । विद्याम । सुऽमतीनाम् । मा । नः । अति । ख्यः । आ । गहि ॥३॥

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

अथ सोमपानानन्तरं हे इन्द्र ते तवान्तमानामन्तिकतमानामतिशयेन समीपवर्तिनां सुमतीनां शोभनमतियुक्तानां शोभनप्रज्ञानां पुरुषाणां मध्ये स्थित्वा विद्याम । वयं त्वां जानीयाम । यद्वा । सुमतीनां शोभनबुद्धीनां कर्मानुष्ठानविषयाणां लाभार्थमित्यध्याहारः । बुद्धिलाभाय त्वां स्मरेमेत्यर्थः । त्वमपि नोऽस्मानतिक्रम्यान्येषां त्वत्स्वरूपं मा प्रकथय । किंतु त्वा गह्यस्मानेवागच्छ । atha somapānānantaraṃ he indra te tavāntamānām antikatamānām atiśayena samīpa-vartināṃ sumatīnāṃ śobhana-mati-yuktānāṃ śobhana-prajñānāṃ puruṣāṇāṃ madhye sthitvā vidyāma | vayaṃ tvāṃ jānīyāma | yadvā | sumatīnāṃ śobhana-buddhīnāṃ karmānuṣṭhāna-viṣayāṇāṃ lābhārtham ity adhyāhāraḥ | buddhi-lābhāya tvāṃ smarema ity arthaḥ | tvam api no ’smān atikramyānyeṣāṃ tvat-svarūpaṃ mā prakathaya | kiṃ tu tvā [print; “tvam”?] gahy asmān evāgaccha |

Translation: “‘Atha’ — after the drinking of the Soma — ‘O Indra, te’ — of you; ‘antamānām’ — of those nearest, those who stand exceedingly close; ‘sumatīnām’ — of men of good understanding, of good wisdom — standing in the midst of them, 'vidyāma' — we would know you. Or: 'sumatīnām' — 'of good understanding' — the supplied sense is 'for the obtaining of understanding for those engaged in the performance of rites'; that is, 'we would remember you for the gaining of understanding.' And you, passing us over, do not declare your own form to others; but come to us ('ā gahi')." (The print's "tvā gahy" is read as the sentence "kiṃ tu … gahi — come to us alone"; the second word of the clause is slightly unclear to me, and I give it as printed with the sense the Kannada gives.)

> अथेति निपात आद्युदात्तः । निपातस्य चेति दीर्घत्वम् । अन्तमानाम् । अतिशयेनान्तिका इत्यतिशायने तमप् । पा. ५-३-५५ । तमो तादेशश्च । पा. ६-४-१५४-९ । इति तादिलोपः । अन्तोऽस्यास्तीत्यन्तिकः समीपः । अत इनिठनाविति ठन् । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । दूरोत्कर्षस्य ह्यवसानं नास्ति । सामीप्योत्कर्षस्य पुनर्यो यस्य समीपः स एव तस्यान्त इत्यन्तवत्त्वात्सामीप्यमन्तिकमुच्यते । विद्याम । वेत्तेर्लिङ् । यासुट् परस्मैपदेषूदात्तो ङिच्च । पा. ३-४-१०३ । इति यासुडुदात्तः । पादादित्वात्तिङ्ङतिङ इति न निघातः । सुमतीनाम् । मतिशब्दे क्तिन्नन्तेऽपि मन्त्रे वृषेषपचमनविदभूवीरा उदात्तः । पा. ३-३-९६ । athety nipāta ādyudāttaḥ | nipātasya ceti dīrghatvam | antamānām | atiśayenāntikā ity atiśāyane tamap | pā. 5-3-55 | tamo tādeśaś ca | pā. 6-4-154-9 | iti tādi-lopaḥ | anto 'syāstīty antikaḥ samīpaḥ | ata inithanāv iti ṭhan | nittvād ādyudāttaḥ | dūrotkarṣasya hy avasānaṃ nāsti | sāmīpyotkarṣasya punar yo yasya samīpaḥ sa eva tasyānta ity antavattvāt sāmīpyam antikam ucyate | vidyāma | vetter liṅ | yāsuṭ parasmaipadeṣūdātto ṅicca | pā. 3-4-103 | iti yāsuḍ udāttaḥ | pādāditvāt tiṅ atiṅa iti na nighātaḥ | sumatīnām | matiśabde ktinnante 'pi mantre vṛṣeṣapacamanavidabhūvīrā udāttaḥ | pā. 3-3-96 |

Translation (of the grammar, in outline, with its sūtras): "'Atha' — a particle, hence first-syllable acute; by निपातस्य च (पा. ६-३-१३६) the lengthening in 'athā.' 'Antamānām' — 'atiśayena antikāḥ': the affix 'tamap' in the sense of excess (अतिशायने तमबिष्ठनौ, पा. ५-३-५५), with the replacement of the 'ti'-portion (तिल्लोपः as printed,"tādi-lopaḥ") — 'anto 'syāstīti antikaḥ' — 'near'; 'ṭhan' by अत इनिठनौ (पा. ५-२-११५); being 'n'-marked (nit) it is first-syllable acute. For there is no limit (avasāna) to 'far-ness'; but in the excellence of 'near-ness' he who is near to someone is that someone's 'anta' (end); thus nearness is called 'antika' on account of the 'anta'-possessing. 'Vidyāma' — 'vid' in the optative (liṅ); 'yāsuṭ' is acute in the parasmaipada (यासुट् परस्मैपदेषूदात्तो ङिच्च, पा. ३-४-१०३); since the word stands at the beginning of the pāda, 'tiṅ atiṅaḥ' does not cause nighāta. 'Sumatīnām' — 'mati' ending in 'ktin' is acute in the Veda by मन्त्रे वृषेषपचमनविदभूवीरा उदात्तः (पा. ३-३-९६)…" (continues on the next page)

Page 101 — Rik 4.3: grammar concluded; Pada-meanings; Bhāvārtha; English rendering; Special topics (opening)

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 7 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." Grammar characterized, sūtras kept; English as printed.)

(Grammar, continuing "sumatīnām":) …the "i" of "mati" is acute (the Sanskrit of p. 100 gives the rule); "śobhanā matir yeṣāṃ te sumatayaḥ" — a bahuvrīhi, in which the first member's natural accent is overridden by नञ्सुभ्याम् (पा. ६-२-१७२), so the last syllable of the second member is acute; but where "śobhanā matayaḥ sumatayaḥ" is a karmadhāraya, there is an exception to the first-member accent in the case of an indeclinable prefix, and the second member has the natural accent given by कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् — it is end-acute. After "matup" (as short-final-acute), the genitive-plural "nām" of "sumati" is acute by नामन्यतरस्याम् (पा. ६-१-१७७).

"Khyaḥ" — the root "khyā prakathane" (to declare), the aorist (luṅ) second-person singular "sip" → "khyā + si"; च्लि लुङि (cli luṅi, पा. ३-१-४३) puts "cli" after the root in "luṅ"; सिचि … by अस्यतिवक्तिख्यातिभ्योऽङ् (asyati-vakti-khyātibhyo 'ṅ, पा. ३-१-५२) "aṅ" replaces "cli" after "as," "vac," "khyā"; आतो लोप इटि च (पा. ६-४-६४) elides the final "ā" before "aṅ" — "khya + a + s"; इतश्च (itaś ca, पा. ३-४-१०० [as printed]) elides the final "i" of parasmaipada endings (here of "sip," giving "s"); the "s" is changed to "ru" and visarga: ससजुषो रुः (पा. ८-२-६६) and खरवसानयोर्विसर्जनीयः (पा. ८-३-१५) → "khyaḥ." After "mā," न माङ्योगे (na māṅ-yoge, पा. ६-४-७४) — the augment "aṭ" does not occur → "mā khyaḥ."

"Gahi" — from "gam"; the "śap" is elided by "bahulaṃ chandasi"; because "hi" replaces "si" (सेर्ह्यपिच्च, पा. ३-४-८७) it is not "p"-marked; so the "m" of the root is elided by अनुदात्तोपदेश… (पा. ६-४-३७); the elision, being "asiddha" (असिद्धवदत्राभात्, पा. ६-४-२२), does not permit the "hi"-loss that अतो हेः (पा. ६-४-१०५) would otherwise require → "gahi."

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

अथ (atha) — after the drinking of the Soma | (हे इन्द्र) (he indra) — O Indra | वयम् (vayam) — we | ते (te) — your | अन्तमानाम् (antamānām) — of those who are exceedingly near | सुमतीनाम् (sumatīnām) — of men of good understanding (of the discerning, or of the wise) — in their midst | विद्याम (vidyāma) — we know you (we remember you, or, for the sake of obtaining wisdom for the performance of rites, we remember you) | (त्वम् अपि) नः (naḥ) — us | अति (ati) — passing over (to others) | मा ख्यः (mā khyaḥ) — do not declare (your own form) | आ गहि (ā gahi) — be one who comes (to our side).

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

O Indra! After the drinking of the Soma, we, being near you, remember you for the sake of good understanding in the performance of good works, or for the gaining of excellent wisdom. You must come near us. Do not make your form known to others, and do not cause them to have good understanding.

English Translation (printed in English in the source itself):

"We recognize you in the midst of the right-minded who are nearest to you; come to us; do not reveal yourself to others."

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

In this Ṛk, apart from a few special words that are difficult, the ṛṣi's intention is not very clear, though the words are easy and commonly used. The Bhāṣyakāra and others have written the meaning, by using some supplied words (adhyāhāra), in such a way that it can be understood somewhat; but the sense is not quite … (continues on the next page)

Page 102 — Special topics on Rik 4.3; Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (opening)

(Page header: "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 4." English as printed.)

(Continuing:) …it does not fit well. To make clear the sense of the sentences "sumatīnāṃ vidyāma" and "mā no ati khyaḥ," still some more words are needed, and such words are not in the Ṛk. Whether it be because the loss (of words) is a Vedic licence (chandasi), or because the ṛṣi has left out some words that were necessary and chief, thinking that the intention in his own mind would be clear from the words in the Ṛk — it appears so. Hence the sense of this Ṛk and of the next two or three Ṛks remains unclear.

अथा (athā) — the letter "a" of "thā" [the syllable "tha"] of this word is lengthened in accord with Vedic usage. Such examples are needed in the Ṛgveda. For example: sacasva — sacasvā (Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-1-9), śrudhi — śrudhī (Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-2-1), pṛccha — pṛcchā (Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-4-4), piba — pibā (Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-14-10), and the like.

सुमतीनाम् (sumatīnām) — The explanation of this word has already been given (see p. 81).

मा (mā) — a negative word of prohibition, "do not." This word is used especially in the Veda.
अति (ati) — "beyond, besides, passing over" (English as printed: "Beyond, besides &c.").

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (Kannada; characterized, sūtras kept) "Atha" — a nipāta, so first-syllable acute (निपाता आद्युदात्ताः); निपातस्य च (पा. ६-३-१३६) lengthens the vowel in mantra: "athā." "Antamānām" — "antaḥ asya asti" ("this has an end"), the etymology of "antika": by अत इनिठनौ (पा. ५-२-११५) "ini" or "ṭhan" after a stem ending in short "a"; with "ṭhan," ठस्येकः (ṭhasyekaḥ, पा. ७-३-५०) gives "ika": "anta + ika"; by यस्येति च (पा. ६-४-१४८) the "a" of the stem is elided → "antika." There is no limit to remoteness; but for the excellence of proximity, "that which is near to something has its 'end' there"; because it has an "anta" (limit), the word "antika" means "near." "Atiśayena antikāḥ" — to express excess, अतिशायने तमबिष्ठनौ (पा. ५-३-५५) puts "tamap" after the stem in the sense of excess → "antika + tama"; तमो … : तिकतमः — by टेः / "ti-ka"-loss (as printed: तेस्तादेशश्च, पा. ६-४-१५४ वा. ९) the "tika" portion [as printed: "ti-ka"] is elided before "tamap"; the result is "antama." In the genitive plural, "antamānām." "Vidyāma" — from "vid jñāne" (to know) by liṅ; for the "liṅ" यासुट् परस्मैपदेषूदात्तो ङिच्च (पा. ३-४-१०३) — in the parasmaipada the augment "yāsuṭ" comes, which is acute and "ṅit" …
(continues on the next page)

Page 103 — Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā for Rik 4.3 concluded

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 7 ·Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." Grammar characterized, sūtras kept; numbers as read.)

(Continuing:) …"yāsuṭ" is acute; because the word stands at the beginning of the pāda, तिङ्ङतिङः (पा. ८-१-२८) does not bring nighāta. "Sumatīnām" — the word "mati" ends in "ktin," but in the Veda मन्त्रे वृषेषपचमनविदभूवीरा उदात्तः (पा. ३-३-९६ [as printed]) makes the affix acute after the roots "vṛṣ" (to shower), "iṣ" (to wish), "duṣ-pac" (to cook), "man" (to think), "vid" (to be), "bhū," "vī" (and "rā" in "rādaḥ"); so after "man," "ktin" is added, and अनुदात्तोपदेश… (पा. ६-४-३७) drops the nasal of "man" → "mati"; the "i" of "ktin" is acute by the preceding sūtra. “Śobhanā matiḥ yeṣāṃ te sumatayaḥ” — as a bahuvrīhi the first member’s natural accent is overridden by नञ्सुभ्याम्; “śobhanāś ca tāḥ matayaḥ” — as a karmadhāraya the indeclinable-prefix accent is overridden by गतिकारकोपपदात्कृत् (पा. ६-२-१३९), and the second member is end-acute. When “matup” is not applied, the genitive-plural “nām” of “sumati” (short-final, end-acute stem) takes the acute by नामन्यतरस्याम् (पा. ६-१-१७७).

“Khyaḥ” — “khyā prakathane”: in the aorist (luṅ), second-person singular “sip” — ख्या + सिप्; after the root in “luṅ,” “cli” (च्लि लुङि, पा. ३-१-४३); “cli” is replaced by “aṅ” after the roots “as,” “vac” and “khyā” (अस्यतिवक्तिख्यातिभ्योऽङ्, पा. ३-१-५२); “ā” elided (आतो लोप इटि च, पा. ६-४-६४); the “i” of the ending “sip” elided (इतश्च, पा. ३-४-१००) — “khya + a + s”; “s” → “ru” → visarga (ससजुषो रुः, पा. ८-२-६६; रुत्वविसर्गौ) → “khyaḥ.” After “mā,” न माङ्योगे (पा. ६-४-७४): no “aṭ” (and, by the print, no “āṭ”) augment, and the rule लुङ्लङ्लृङ्क्ष्वडुदात्तः (पा. ६-४-७१) which would give the “aḍ” augment does not apply.

“Gahi” — “gam gatau,” imperative (loṭ) second-person singular “sip”; “śap” is elided by बहुलं छन्दसि (पा. २-४-७३); सेर्ह्यपिच्च (पा. ३-४-८७) puts “hi” in the place of “sip,” and the “sārvadhātuka” not being “p”-marked is “ṅit” (सार्वधातुकमपित्, पा. १-२-४) — by the root’s “anudātta-upadeśa” the “m” is dropped (अनुदात्तोपदेश… , पा. ६-४-३७); since the “m”-loss is “asiddha” (असिद्धवदत्राभात्, पा. ६-४-२२), the “hi” does not lose its place by अतो हेः (पा. ६-४-१०५) → “gahi.” ॥३॥

(Re-checked against the better scan: p. 103 ends with the grammar of Rik 4.3, “ //३// ”; it prints no varga-closing line. The seventh varga closes on p. 111.)

Page 104 — Sūkta 4, Fourth Mantra: Saṃhitā, Pada, Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya, Pada-meanings (opening)

(Page header: “Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 4.” Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. Sanskrit printed in Kannada script; [?] where unclear.)

Sūkta 4, The Fourth Mantra

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

परेहि विग्रमस्तृतमिंद्रं पृच्छा विपश्चितं । यस्ते सखिभ्य आ वरं ॥४॥

párehi vígramástṛtamíṃdraṃ pṛcchā vipaścítaṃ | yaste sákhibhya ā váraṃ ||4||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

परा । इहि । विग्रम् । अस्तृतम् । इन्द्रम् । पृच्छ । विपःऽचितम् । यः । ते । सखिऽभ्यः । आ । वरम् ॥ ४॥

(Reading note: the Saṃhitā text reads “pṛcchā” with a long final vowel (a Vedic lengthening); the Pada text has “pṛccha.” The word “vipaścitam” is divided in the Pada text as “vipaḥ-citam,” as I read the printed sign.)

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

अत्र यजमानं प्रति होता ब्रूते । हे यजमान त्वमिन्द्रं परेहि । इन्द्रस्य समीपे गच्छ । गत्वा च विपश्चितं मेधाविनं होतारं मां पृच्छ । असौ होता सम्यक् स्तुतवान्न चेत्येवं प्रश्नं कुरु । य इन्द्रस्ते तव यजमानस्य सखिभ्य ऋत्विग्भ्यो वरं श्रेष्ठं धनपुत्रादिकमा समन्तात्प्रयच्छतीति शेषः । तादृशमिन्द्रमिति पूर्वत्रान्वयः । पुनरपि कीदृशम् । विग्रं मेधाविनमस्तृतमहिंसितम् । विप्र इत्यादिषु चतुर्विंशतिसंख्याकेषु मेधाविनामसु विग्रो विपश्चिच्चेति पठितौ । विग्रं वृषादित्वादाद्युदात्तः । अस्तृतम् । अव्ययपूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् । इन्द्रशब्द ऋजेन्द्राग्रेत्यादिना रन् । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । सखिभ्यः । समाने ख्यः ... उ. ४-१३६ । इति समान उपपदे ख्यातेरिन् । डिदित्यनुवृत्तेस्तस्य डित्त्वाट्टिलोपश्च । पा. ६-४-१४३ । तत्सन्नियोगेन यलोपः । उपपदस्योदात्तत्वम् । समानस्य छन्दस्यमूर्धप्रभृत्युदर्केषु । पा. ६-३-८४ । इति सभावः । अतः सखिशब्द आद्युदात्तः । व्रियत इति वरः । ग्रहवृदृनिश्चिगमश्च । पा. ३-३-५८ । इत्यप् । तस्य पित्त्वाद्धातुस्वर एव ॥ atra yajamānaṃ prati hotā brūte | he yajamāna tvam indraṃ parehi | indrasya samīpe gaccha | gatvā ca vipaścitaṃ medhāvinaṃ hotāraṃ māṃ pṛccha | asau hotā samyak stutavān na ceti evaṃ praśnaṃ kuru | ya indras te tava yajamānasya sakhibhya ṛtvigbhyo varaṃ śreṣṭhaṃ dhana-putrādikam ā samantāt prayacchatīti śeṣaḥ | tādṛśam indram iti pūrvatrānvayaḥ | punar api kīdṛśam | vigraṃ medhāvinam astṛtam ahiṃsitam | vipra ity ādiṣu catur-viṃśati-saṃkhyākeṣu medhāvi-nāmasu vigro vipaścic ceti paṭhitau | vigraṃ vṛṣādi-tvād ādyudāttaḥ | astṛtam | avyaya-pūrvapada-prakṛti-svaratvam | indra-śabda ṛjendrāgrety ādinā ran | nittvād ādyudāttaḥ | sakhibhyaḥ | samāne khyaḥ ... u. 4-136 | iti samāna upapade khyāter in | ḍid ity anuvṛtter tasya ḍittvāṭ ṭilopaś ca | pā. 6-4-143 | tat-sanniyogena yalopaḥ | upapadasyodāttatvam | samānasya chandasy amūrdha-prabhṛty-udarkeṣu | pā. 6-3-84 | iti sabhāvaḥ | ataḥ sakhi-śabda ādyudāttaḥ | vriyata iti varaḥ | grahavṛdṛniścigamaś ca | pā. 3-3-58 | ity ap | tasya pittvād dhātusvara eva ||

Translation: "Here the Hotṛ speaks to the sacrificer: 'O sacrificer, go to Indra ("parehi"): go into the presence of Indra; and having gone, ask me, the Hotṛ, 'vipaścitam' — the wise —"Has this Hotṛ praised properly or not?" — put the question thus. That Indra who gives 'varam' — the best, wealth, sons and the like — in full ('ā') to 'te sakhibhyaḥ' — to your friends, the priests (ṛtvijaḥ) of you the sacrificer' — such is the supplied sense. The construction 'such an Indra' connects with what went before. Of what sort again? 'Vigram' — wise; 'astṛtam' — unharmed. Among the twenty-four names for 'wise' beginning with 'vipra,' 'vigra' and 'vipaścit' are read." (The Bhāṣya's reading "vipaścitam ... pṛccha māṃ hotāram" makes the ṛtvij the one to be asked; I give it as printed.)

Grammar within the Bhāṣya (characterized, sūtras kept): "Vigram" — first-syllable acute as belonging to the "vṛṣādi" class; "astṛtam" — the first-member accent (an indeclinable prefix) is retained; "Indra" — by the Uṇādi "ṛjrendrāgra-..." (as on p. 39) the affix "ran," "n"-marked, so first-syllable acute; "sakhibhyaḥ" — समाने ख्यः [the Uṇādi sūtra, number garbled: "4-136" ?], from "khyā" after "samāna" as upapada with "in," "ḍit," with elision of "ṭi" (टेः, पा. ६-४-१४३) and of "y"; the upapada's acute; the substitution "sa" for "samāna" by समानस्य छन्दस्यमूर्धप्रभृत्युदर्केषु (पा. ६-३-८४); hence "sakhi" is first-syllable acute. "Varam" — "vriyate iti varaḥ": "ap" by ग्रहवृदृनिश्चिगमश्च (पा. ३-३-५८); "p"-marked, so the root's accent remains.

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

In this Ṛk the priest called the Hotṛ speaks, addressing the sacrificer —

(O sacrificer, you) विग्रम् (vigram) — the wise | इन्द्रम् परेहि (indram parehi) — go to Indra's side | (having gone) अस्तृतम् (astṛtam) — (about Indra) who is not struck by the harm of enemies | विपश्चितम् पृच्छ (vipaścitam pṛccha) — ask this wise one (whether the Hotṛ has praised you properly or not) | यः (yaḥ) — (the Indra who) | ते (te) — your | सखिभ्यः (sakhibhyaḥ) — to the friendly priests | वरम् (varam) — excellent wealth, sons and the like | आ (yacchati) — gives.

Page 105 — Rik 4.4: Bhāvārtha; English rendering; Special topics; Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (opening)

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 7 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." English as printed; reference-numbers in small Kannada numerals are marked [?]. The Taittirīya citation below is transcribed letter by letter from the Kannada print.)

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

The Hotṛ speaks thus, addressing the sacrificer: O sacrificer! Go to the side of Indra, who is wise (intelligent) — and ask him whether this Hotṛ has praised you well. Because Indra is pleased with the hymns that the Hotṛ has chanted, he will favour you, and your friends the priests, with the best boons — wealth, sons and the like.

English Translation (printed in English in the source itself):

"Go (worshipper) to the wise (and) uninjured Indra and ask him of the (fitness of the) learned (priest who recites his praise.) Indra will bestow the best of blessings to your friends (priests)."

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

विग्रम्, विपश्चितम् (vigram, vipaścitam) — These words are read among the twenty-four words that indicate "intelligent" (Ni. 3-15). For these words the sense is "buddhimān, medhāvī, vivekin" (one with understanding, intelligent, discerning). The word "vigra" is used in the Ṛgveda in only two places. In the present Ṛk, and also in the Ṛk

> ता विग्रं धैथे जठरं पृणध्या आ यत्सद्म सभृतयः पृणन्ति ॥ (ऋ. सं. ६-६७-७) tā vigraṃ dhaithe jaṭharaṃ pṛṇadhyā ā yat sadma sabhṛtayaḥ pṛṇanti || (ṛ. saṃ. 6-67-7) Gloss (mine; tentative; the print gives only this line): "You two keep the wise one, to fill the belly, when those who bring together fill the abode."

this word is used. Nowhere else. The word "vipaścit" is used in about 23 places in the Ṛgveda.

अस्तृतम् (astṛtam) — The negative form of the word "stṛta," formed from the root "stṛ"; "na stṛtam = astṛtam" — not struck down, "ahiṃsitam" ("unharmed").

सखिभ्यः (sakhibhyaḥ) — "To the friends" — that is, to the priests who are called the sacrificer's friends. On the point that the priests are the sacrificer's friends:

आ प्यायस्व सखीन्त्सन्या मेधयेत्याहर्त्विजो वा अस्य सखायस्तानेवाप्याययेति ॥ (तै. सं. ६-२-२) ā pyāyasva sakhīn tsanyā medhayety āhartvijo vā asya sakhāyas tān evāpyāyayeti || (tai. saṃ. 6-2-2) Translation (mine, following the Kannada gloss): "'Swell, bring your friends to prosperity with intelligence' — thus he says; the priests, indeed, are his (the sacrificer's) friends; he swells them indeed." — The Kannada adds: here "ṛtvijo vā asya sakhāyaḥ" says plainly that the priests are the sacrificer's friends.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (Kannada; characterized) "Parā" — a nipāta, first-syllable acute by निपाता आद्युदात्ताः (Phiṭ-sūtra 80); by the "śeṣa-anudātta" the last letter is unaccented. In the saṃhitā, the "ā" of "parā" combines, by guṇa-sandhi, with the unaccented "i" of "ihi," giving "e" as the single substitute; this single substitute, coming in place of unaccented vowels …
(continues on the next page)

Pages 106–107 — Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā for Rik 4.4 (Kannada) — characterized

(Page headers: p. 106 "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā · Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 4"; p. 107 "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 7 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." These two pages are pure Pāṇinian derivation in Kannada prose, the Kannada rendering of the grammar given in Sanskrit on p. 104, with a good deal of added scholastic debate. They do not bear on the sense of the Rik, which was given on pp. 104–105. Per the standing convention they are characterized in outline, not translated line by line; the sūtras the pages name are kept in three layers, numbers as I read them, [?] where uncertain. Several sentences in the middle of p. 106 and the foot of p. 107 are crowded in the print and I do not reproduce them.)

p. 106 — "parā," "ihi," "vigram." - (Continuing "parehi" from p. 105.) The single substitute "e" replaces the pair of unaccented vowels, and is by स्थानिवदादेशोऽनल्विधौ (sthānivad ādeśo 'nal-vidhau, पा. १-१-५६) treated as the original, hence unaccented; since it comes after the acute "ra," it becomes svarita by उदात्तादनुदात्तस्य स्वरितः (पा. ८-४-६६). - "Ihi" — "iṇ gatau" (to go); in the imperative second-person singular "sip," सेर्ह्यपिच्च (पा. ३-४-८७) puts "hi" for "si"; the "śap" is elided as the root belongs to the "ad" class (अदिप्रभृतिभ्यः शपः, पा. २-४-७२); since "hi" is not "p"-marked, the "sārvadhātuka" is "ṅit" (सार्वधातुकमपित्, पा. १-२-४); hence guṇa is barred by क्ङिति च (पा. १-१-५) and by सार्वधातुकार्धधातुकयोः (पा. ७-३-८४) → "ihi." Since "ihi" stands after "parā," which is not a tiṅanta, तिङ्ङतिङः (पा. ८-१-२८) makes it wholly unaccented. - "Vigram" — two analyses are weighed. (a) From "gṛ śabde" (to sound) with the upasarga "vi" and the affix "ḍa" by अन्येष्वपि दृश्यते (पा. ३-२-१०१) — "ḍa" after any root, since the sūtra says "dṛśyate" ("is seen") — with the "ṭi"-loss debated, and "ṛ" becoming "r" by yaṇ ("vi-gr-a"); the accent then follows the compound rule गतिकारकोपपदात्कृत् (पा. ६-२-१३९), which would give an end-acute that is not the attested accent. (b) Therefore the word is entered in the "vṛṣādi" class (वृषादीनां च, पा. ६-१-२०३) and is first-syllable acute — "vigra," as in विचिर् पृथग्भावे (the root "vicir pṛthagbhāve") with the intensive/causal sense "viveka": "viśeṣeṇa gṛhṇāti" ("he takes in a special way") = "vigraḥ" (the wise, discerning). Different derivations are offered; the page concludes that either way the sense is "medhāvī."

p. 107 — "vigram" concluded; "astṛtam," "indra," "sakhibhyaḥ." - The Uṇādi affix "ran" is considered for "vigra" (ऋज्रेन्द्राग्रवज्रविप्र… , as on p. 39) — "n"-marked, so first-syllable acute; the second-case singular “am” (an “ap”-class ending) is joined with a pūrvarūpa by अमि पूर्वः (पा. ६-१-१०७). - “Astṛtam” — “na stṛtam”; by तत्पुरुषे तुल्यार्थ… (पा. ६-२-२) — with an indeclinable first member the first member’s own accent is retained. - “Indra” — by the Uṇādi list “ṛjrendrāgra-vajra-vipra-kubra-cubra-kṣura-khura-bhadrogra-bhera-bhela-śukra-śakla-gaurava-nvera-mālāḥ [?]” (उ. सू. २-२८ [as printed “3-1…”]) “ran” is added; “n”-marked, first-syllable acute; the last letter is unaccented by “śeṣānudātta”; in the saṃhitā it is svarita by उदात्तस्वरितपरस्य सन्नतरः (पा. १-२-४०) in the way already described. - “Sakhibhyaḥ” — समाने ख्य… (Uṇādi-sūtra: the print gives “ṭi-sū. 4-…”; I could not settle the number): after “khyā” with “samāna” as the upapada, the affix “iṇ”; “ḍit” and hence टेः (पा. ६-४-१४३) loss of “ṭi” (the vowel-end) and of “y” (the “ya”-loss); the upapada is acute; समानस्य छन्दस्यमूर्धप्रभृत्युदर्केषु (पा. ६-३-८४) substitutes “sa” for “samāna” (the first member, when the second begins with a non-“mūrdhan”-class word) → “sakhi,” first-syllable acute. The Uṇādi-sūtra समानेख्यः सश्चोदात्तः [as printed] is also cited, with the remark that the grammarians of the Mādhava school hold that “sa” is substituted in the Veda by the rule “samānasya chandasi mūrdha…,” and that in ordinary speech the word “sakhi” is established by Svaramañjarī-kāra and others by other rules. (The page ends mid-sentence in this comparison, continuing on p. 108.)

Page 108 — Rik 4.4 grammar concluded; Sūkta 4, Fifth Mantra: Saṃhitā, Pada, Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya

(Page header: “Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 4.” Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. Sanskrit printed in Kannada script; [?] where unclear.)

(Continuing “sakhibhyaḥ” from p. 107:) …in the system of the Mādhava school the word “sakhi” is established only in the Veda (by the “samānasya chandasi…” rule). “Varam” — “vriyate iti varaḥ”: ग्रहवृदृनिश्चिगमश्च (पा. ३-३-५८) — after “grah,” “vṛ,” “dṛ,” “niścī [print: niści]” and “gam” the affix “ap” comes; “vṛ + a” takes guṇa by सार्वधातुकार्धधातुकयोः (पा. ७-३-८४) → “varaḥ”; “ap” is “p”-marked and so unaccented, “va” is acute by धातोः (पा. ६-१-१६२). ॥४॥

---

Sūkta 4, The Fifth Mantra

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

उत ब्रुवंतु नो निदो निरन्यतश्चिदारत । दधाना इन्द्र इद्दुवः ॥५॥

utá bruvaṃtu no nído níranyátaścidārata | dádhānā indra iddúvaḥ ||5||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

उत । ब्रुवन्तु । नः । निदः । निः । अन्यतः । चित् । आरत । दधानाः । इन्द्रे । इत् । दुवः ॥५॥

(Reading note: the Saṃhitā text reads “indra id duvaḥ”; the Pada text resolves it as “indre it duvaḥ.” The printed Pada text shows “ā-rata” as one word.)

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

नोऽस्माकं संबन्धिन ऋत्विज इति शेषः । ते ब्रुवन्तु । इन्द्रं स्तुवन्तु । उतमपि च हे निदो निन्दितारः पुरुषा निरारत । इतो देशान्निर्गच्छत । अन्यतश्चिदन्यस्मादपि देशान्निर्गच्छत । कीदृशा ऋत्विजः । इन्द्रे दुवः परिचर्यां दधानाः कुर्वाणाः । इच्छब्दोऽवधारणे । सर्वदा परिचर्यां कुर्वन्त एव तिष्ठन्तित्यर्थः । निन्दन्तीति निदः । णिदि कुत्सायाम् । क्विपि नुमभावश्छान्दसः । सुपोऽनुदात्तत्वाद्धातुस्वरः । आमन्त्रितत्वेऽपि वाक्यान्तरस्थेन स्ववाक्यगतपदादत्स्वरत्वान्न निघात इत्याद्युदात्तत्वमेव । अन्यतः । लिति प्रत्ययोत्पूर्वस्योदात्तत्वं चिदित्यपिकबर्थे । तेन न केवलमितः । इतो निर्गत्यान्यतोऽपि निर्गच्छतेति गम्यते । स एष धात्वर्थयोः संबन्ध आरतेति लुजा द्योत्यते । स हि धातुसंबन्धाधिकारे विधीयते । आरत । अर्तेश्छन्दसि लुङ्लङ्लिट इति लोडर्थे लुङ् । मध्यमबहुवचनस्य तादेशः । सर्तिशास्त्यर्तिभ्यश्च । पा. ३-१-५६ । इति च्लेरङादेशः । ऋदृशोऽङि गुणः । पा. ७-४-१६ । इति गुणः । आडागमः । दधानाः । शानचश्चित्त्वात्तत्प्राप्तमन्तोदात्तं बाधित्वा परत्वादभ्यस्तानामादिरित्याद्युदात्तत्वम् । दुवः । नब्विषयस्यानिसन्तस्येत्याद्युदात्तः ॥५॥ no 'smākaṃ sambandhina ṛtvija iti śeṣaḥ | te bruvantu | indraṃ stuvantu | utamapi ca he nido nindi-tāraḥ puruṣā nir ārata | ito deśān nirgacchata | anyataś cid anyasmād api deśān nirgacchata | kīdṛśā ṛtvijaḥ | indre duvaḥ paricaryāṃ dadhānāḥ kurvāṇāḥ | ic chabdo 'vadhāraṇe | sarvadā paricaryāṃ kurvanta eva tiṣṭhantity arthaḥ | nindantīti nidaḥ | ṇidi kutsāyām | kvipi numa-bhāvaś chāndasaḥ | supo 'nudāttatvād dhātusvaraḥ | āmantritatve 'pi vākyāntarasthena sva-vākya-gata-padād-at-svaratvān na nighāta ity ādyudāttatvam eva | anyataḥ | liti pratyayāt pūrvasyodāttatvaṃ cid ity apika-barthe | tena na kevalam itaḥ | ito nirgatyānyato 'pi nirgacchateti gamyate | sa eṣa dhātvarthayoḥ sambandha āratety luñā dyotyate | sa hi dhātu-sambandhādhikāre vidhīyate | ārata | arter chandasi luṅ-laṅ-liṭa iti loḍarthe luṅ | madhyama-bahuvacanasya tādeśaḥ | sarti-śāsty-arti-bhyaś ca | pā. 3-1-56 | iti cler aṅādeśaḥ | ṛdṛśo 'ṅi guṇaḥ | pā. 7-4-16 | iti guṇaḥ | āḍāgamaḥ | dadhānāḥ | śānacaś cittvāt tat-prāptam antodāttaṃ bādhitvā paratvād abhyastānām ādir ity ādyudāttatvam | duvaḥ | nab-viṣayasyānisantasyety ādyudāttaḥ ||5||

Translation: "'Naḥ' — the supplied sense is 'our priests, those belonging to us.' Let them speak, let them praise Indra. And, O 'nidaḥ' — O revilers, men who blame — 'nirārata' — go out from here, from this place; 'anyataś cit' — go out from any other place as well. What kind of priests? 'Duvaḥ dadhānāḥ' — those who perform service ('paricaryā') in Indra; 'it' is in the sense of emphasis: the sense is 'they remain doing service at all times.' 'Nidaḥ' — 'nindantīti nidaḥ' — those who blame; the root 'ṇidi kutsāyām' (to blame); in the 'kvip' formation the absence of the 'num' augment is Vedic; the accent is that of the root since the case-ending is unaccented; though a vocative, since it stands in a different sentence from the preceding word, there is no nighāta (loss of accent), and so it is first-syllable acute indeed. 'Anyataḥ' — the part before the affix is acute; 'cit' has the sense of 'api' (also): not only from here, but from elsewhere too — 'having gone out from here, go out from other places also' is understood. This connection of the senses of the roots is indicated by the 'luṅ' in 'ārata.' 'Ārata' — the root 'ṛ' in the Veda takes 'luṅ' in the sense of the imperative (छन्दसि लुङ्लङ्लिटः, पा. ३-४-६); the second-person plural ending is replaced by 'ta'; the 'cli' is replaced by 'aṅ' (सर्त्तिशास्त्यर्त्तिभ्यश्च, पा. ३-१-५६); guṇa by ऋदृशोऽङि गुणः (पा. ७-४-१६); the augment 'āṭ.' 'Dadhānāḥ' — because 'śānac' is 'c'-marked, the end-acute that this would give is set aside, and, by the later rule अभ्यस्तानामादिः (पा. ६-१-१८९), the first syllable is acute. 'Duvaḥ' — first-syllable acute by नब्विषयस्यानिसन्तस्य (a Phiṭ-sūtra, as on p. 39). ॥५॥"

(Reading notes: (i) in the second sentence of the Bhāṣya the print has "utamapi ca"; the sense is "uta api ca," as the Rik itself reads "uta"; I transcribe the print as it stands. (ii) "ṇidi kutsāyām" is printed with the root-initial "ṇ," as in the dhātupāṭha. (iii) The reference "pā. 7-4-16" is printed "7-4-16," and I give it so, though I have not verified it.)

Page 109 — Rik 4.5: Pada-meanings; Bhāvārtha; English rendering; Special topics (opening)

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 7 ·Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." English as printed.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

इन्द्रे इत् (indre it) — in Indra alone (only in Indra) | दुवः (duvaḥ) — service (that is, worship) | दधानाः (dadhānāḥ) — those who make | नः (naḥ) — our (priests) | ब्रुवन्तु (bruvantu) — let them praise (Indra) | उत (uta) — and | निदः (nidaḥ) — men who blame (Indra) | अन्यतश्चित् (anyataś cit) — from here, and from other places too | निरारत (nirārata) — go out.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

Let our priests (and sons and other kinsmen), who are devoted to the service of Indra, praise Indra; and let the men who blame Indra go out from here and from other places as well.

English Translation (printed in English in the source itself):

"Let our (priests and relatives) engaged in the service of Indra, sing his praises. O revilers, depart from (here and) every other place."

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Other commentators, and Western scholars too, have explained the meaning of this Ṛk in various ways (English as printed):

(1) Wilson — "Let our ministers earnestly performing his worship exclaim, — depart, ye revilers from hence and every other place (where he is adored)."

(2) Dr. Sitanath — "Let our revilers say — you have estranged yourself from all other (gods) because of your having preference of service only for Indra."

(3) Vedarthayatna — "Whether the revilers may say to us that we might indeed be lost to all other gods by serving Indra alone."

नः (naḥ) — The Bhāṣyakāra explains the word "naḥ" as "our" ("belonging to us, our priests who share in our sacrifice"). Skandasvāmī says "priests, and sons and others." But, rather than supplying the words "priests" or "sons and others," to explain "naḥ" by joining it with the word "nidaḥ" would be more fitting … (continues on the next page)

Page 110 — Special topics on Rik 4.5 (continued); Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā begins

(Page header: "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 4." Grammar characterized, sūtras kept.)

(Continuing "naḥ" from p. 109:) …to explain "naḥ" together with "nidaḥ" would be more fitting; that is, "naḥ nidaḥ" — "our revilers, those who revile us." When it is explained thus, it is not necessary to supply a sense such as "let them praise Indra" for the verb "bruvantu"; rather, the sentence "uta bruvantu no nidaḥ" gets the sense "let the revilers of us say (what they will)."

निदः (nidaḥ) — "ṇidi kutsāyām" (to blame): "nindantīti nidaḥ" — since they are those who blame, they are called "nidaḥ."

अन्यतः (anyataḥ) — In this Ṛk the word is only "anyataḥ," "from elsewhere"; therefore the word "itaḥ" ("from here") must be supplied here.

चित् (cit) — "api," "also." इत् (it) — "eva," "indeed": it is used here in the sense of emphasis.

दुवः (duvaḥ) — This word is used in many Ṛks to give various senses. For this word such senses may be given as (English as printed): "paricaryā (service), sevā, zeal, favour, preference, homage, zeal for service, gift, present" and the like.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (Kannada; characterized) "Nidaḥ" — "nindanti iti nidaḥ"; "kvip" after the root "ṇidi kutsāyām." The root is "i"-marked (iditaḥ), and by इदितो नुम् धातोः (idito num dhātoḥ, पा. ७-१-५८) the augment "num" would be added; but, because of the Vedic variation of all rules ("chandasi vikalpa"), it does not occur here. "Nidaḥ" — the case-ending "sup" is unaccented, and the accent of the root remains (the "i" is acute by the root-accent). "Bruvantu naḥ" — one sentence: "let our priests praise Indra." "Nir ārata anyataś cit" — another sentence: "(you who blame) go out, leaving this place, and leaving other places also." "Nidaḥ" is a vocative that stands at the beginning of the second sentence; so it is not treated as following the preceding word; by the vārttika समानवाक्ये निघातयुष्मदस्मदादेशा वक्तव्याः [as printed] the nighāta applies only in the same sentence, and thus the vocative does not lose its accent; by आमन्त्रितस्य च (पा. ६-१-१९८) it is first-syllable acute. "Anyataḥ" — "anyasmāt" with the affix "tasil" by पञ्चम्यास्तसिल् (पा. ५-३-७ [as printed "…-3-1"]); since "tasil" is "l"-marked, लिति (पा. ६-१-१९३) puts the acute on the syllable before the affix. "Cit" — has the sense of "api." Hence the meaning: "not only from this place but from other places too — go out." The connection of the senses of the two roots is shown… (continues on the next page)

Page 111 — Rik 4.5 grammar concluded; end of the Eighth Varga [as printed "seventh"]; Sūkta 4, Sixth Mantra: Saṃhitā and Pada

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 8 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. Note on the varga number (re-checked against the better scan): the page headers read "Varga 7" on pp. 89–109 and "Varga 8" on pp. 111–143; the closing note on this page, "ಇಲ್ಲಿಗೆ ಏಳನೆಯ ವರ್ಗವು ಮುಗಿದುದು" ("here the seventh varga is finished"), is consistent with them (the eighth varga begins on this page with Rik 4.6).)

(Continuing from p. 110:) …the connection of the senses of the two roots is shown by the "luṅ" in "ārata," which is laid down in the section on the connection of roots (धातुसंबन्धे प्रत्ययाः, पा. ३-४-१); where the roots' senses are connected, the affixes denoting the three times (past, future, present) may be used optionally for one another; hence "luṅ" comes in the sense of the imperative (loṭ). After "luṅ," "cli" (च्लि लुङि, पा. ३-१-४३) comes; the second-person plural ending “tha” → “ta” (तस्थस्थमिपां तान्तन्ताम्, पा. ३-४-१०१); by सर्तिशास्त्यर्तिभ्यश्च (पा. ३-१-५६) “cli” is replaced by “aṅ” after “sṛ,” “śās” and “ṛ” → “ṛ + a + ta”; ऋदृशोऽङि गुणः (पा. ७-४-१६) gives guṇa → “ar-a-ta”; the augment “āṭ” (आडजादीनाम्, पा. ६-४-७२) → “ā + ar + ata”; the vṛddhi by आटश्च (पा. ६-१-९०) as the single substitute → “ārata.” “Dadhānāḥ” — “śānac” is “c”-marked and would give an end-acute; but, by the rule that the later of two conflicting rules prevails (विप्रतिषेधे परं कार्यम्, पा. १-४-२), अभ्यस्तानामादिः (पा. ६-१-१८९) gives first-syllable acute. “Duvaḥ” — नब्विषयस्यानिसन्तस्य (a Phiṭ-sūtra): a neuter word not ending in “is/-s” is acute on its first syllable; “duvaḥ” is therefore first-syllable acute. ॥५॥

ಇಲ್ಲಿಗೆ ಏಳನೆಯ ವರ್ಗವು ಮುಗಿದುದು — illige ēḷaneya vargavu mugidudu — “Here the seventh varga is finished.”

---

Sūkta 4, The Sixth Mantra

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

उत नः॑ सु॒भगा॑ अ॒रिर्वो॒चेयु॑र्दस्म कृ॒ष्टयः॑ । स्यामेदिंद्र॑स्य शर्म॑णि ॥६॥

utá naḥ subhágāṃ arírvocéyurdasma kṛṣṭáyaḥ | syāmedíṃdrasya śármaṇi ||6||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

उत । नः । सुऽभगान् । अरिः । वोचेयुः । दस्म । कृष्टयः । स्याम । इत् । इन्द्रस्य । शर्मणि ॥६॥

(Reading notes: (i) the printed Saṃhitā shows “subhagā” with a mark above the last letter which I read as a nasal sign, giving “subhagāṃ” — standing for the Pada’s “subhagān” — but I am not certain of it. (ii) The Pada has “ariḥ” with the “ḥ”; the Saṃhitā “arir” is its sandhi form. (iii) The Pada text, as printed, divides “su-bhagān” with a visible sign; I give it so.)

Page 112 — Sūkta 4, Sixth Mantra: Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya, grammar (characterized), Pada-meanings

(Page header: “Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 4.” Sanskrit printed in Kannada script; [?] where unclear. The sense-lines are in three layers; the grammar is characterized, with its sūtras.)

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे दस्म शत्रूणामुपक्षपयितरिन्द्र त्वदनुग्रहादरिरुत शत्रुर्वोऽपि नोऽस्मान्सुभगान्शोभनधनोपेतान्वोचेयुः । उच्यासुः । कृष्टयो मनुष्या अस्मन्मित्रभूता वदन्तीति किमु वक्तव्यमिति शेषः । ततो धनसंपन्ना वयमिन्द्रस्य शर्मणीन्द्रप्रसादलब्धे सुखे स्यामेत् । भवेम्यैव । मघुमित्यादिष्वष्टाविंशतिसंख्याकेषु धननामसु रयिः क्षत्रं भग इति पठितम् । मनुष्या इत्यादिषु पञ्चविंशतिसंख्याकेषु मनुष्यनामसु कृष्टय इति पठितम् ॥ he dasma śatrūṇām upakṣapayitar indra tvad-anugrahād ariḥ uta śatrur vo ’pi no ’smān subhagān śobhana-dhanopetān vocēyuḥ | ucyāsuḥ | kṛṣṭayo manuṣyā asman-mitra-bhūtā vadantīti kimu vaktavyam iti śeṣaḥ | tato dhana-sampannā vayam indrasya śarmaṇīndra-prasāda-labdhe sukhe syāmed | bhavema eva | maghum ity ādiṣv aṣṭāviṃśati-saṃkhyākeṣu dhana-nāmasu rayiḥ kṣatraṃ bhaga iti

paṭhitam | manuṣyā ityꣳ ādiṣu pañcaviṃśati-saṃkhyākeṣu manuṣya-nāmasu kṛṣṭaya iti paṭhitam ||

(Reading note: the second sentence's "ariḥ uta śatrur" — the print has "ariruta śatrurvo 'pi"; the "vo" that follows "śatruḥ" looks to me to be a printer's slip for the next word's "vocēyuḥ" run on; I give it as I read it and mark it [?]. The final "syāmed … bhavema eva" is printed with an irregular spelling, "bhavemyaiva," which I read as "bhavema eva.")

Translation: "O 'dasma' — O destroyer of enemies, who bring the enemies to ruin — Indra! By your favour may 'ariḥ' — even an enemy — say of us that we are 'subhagān' — possessed of fine wealth. 'Vocēyuḥ' = 'ucyāsuḥ' (the optative of 'vac,' 'may they say'). 'Kṛṣṭayaḥ' — the people, the men who are our friends, say this — what need is there to say so (of them)! — that is the supplied thought. Therefore, 'syām it' — may we indeed be, 'indrasya śarmaṇi' — in the happiness gained by Indra's grace, endowed with wealth. Among the twenty-eight names of wealth beginning with 'magham,' 'rayiḥ,' 'kṣatram' and 'bhagaḥ' are read; among the twenty-five names of men beginning with 'manuṣyāḥ,' 'kṛṣṭayaḥ' is read."

Grammar within the Bhāṣya (characterized, sūtras kept): "Uta" — a particle, first-syllable acute (निपाता आद्युदात्ताः, Phiṭ-sūtra 4-14). "Subhagān" — "bhaga" ends, in the "kṛtvādi" class, with the first member's accent set aside: नञ्सुभ्याम् (पा. ६-२-१७२) would give the end-acute, but "bhaga" is read in the list beginning with "kṛtva" — क्रत्वादयश्च (पा. ६-२-११८) — so the second member is first-syllable acute. In the saṃhitā: दीर्घादटि समानपादे (पा. ८-३-९) the "n" of "subhagān" becomes "ru" before a vowel; भोभगोअघोअपूर्वस्य योऽशि (पा. ८-३-१७) the "y"; लोपः शाकल्यस्य (पा. ८-३-१९) the "y" is elided; since the elision is "asiddha," no further sandhi occurs; आतोऽटि नित्यम् (पा. ८-३-३) the "ā" takes the nasal sign. "Ariḥ" — "vacana-vyatyaya" (a change of number: singular for plural); from "ṛ" with the Uṇādi "i" (अर्त्तेरिः, उ. सू. ४-१३७; printed "4-578") with the end-acute by the accent of the affix. "Vocēyuḥ" — "ucyāsuḥ": the root "vac" (to speak) in the benedictive (āśīrliṅ), "jhi → jus" (झेर्जुस्, पा. ३-४-१०८); "liṅ" = "yāsuṭ" (लिङः सलोपोऽनन्त्यस्य, पा. ७-२-७९); the "ṅit" "yāsuṭ" is acute by यासुट् परस्मैपदेषूदात्तो ङिच्च (पा. ३-४-१०३); the "ṅit" bars guṇa and, by वचिस्वपियजादीनां किति (पा. ६-१-१५), the "samprasāraṇa" → "uc"; by Vedic छन्दस्युभयथा (पा. ३-४-११७) the augment "āṭ" is absent; "s" is elided (लोपोऽनन्त्यस्य, as printed); the accents conflict, the "e" of the "yāsuṭ" being the single substitute of "a + ī" is acute (एकादेश उदात्तेनोदात्तः, पा. ८-२-५). "Dasma" — from "dasu upakṣaye" (to waste away) by the Uṇādi दसेर्णिच्च… मुक् (उ. सू. १-१४४) with the augment "muk"; being a vocative standing after a pada it loses its accent (आमन्त्रितं पूर्वमविद्यमानवत् and तिङ्ङतिङः). "Kṛṣṭayaḥ" — by क्तिच्क्तौ च संज्ञायाम् (पा. ३-३-१७४) the affix "ktic" in the sense of a name; since it is "c"-marked, it is end-acute. "Syāma" — "as bhuvi" (to be); the "a" of "as" is elided (श्नसोरल्लोपः, पा. ६-४-१११); "yāsuṭ" is acute; the word stands at the beginning of the pāda, so no nighāta. "Śarmaṇi" — "śṝ hiṃsāyām"; "hinasti duḥkham iti śarma" ("that which destroys suffering"); by अन्येभ्योऽपि दृश्यन्ते (पा. ३-२-७५) "manin" is added; "iṭ" is barred (नेड्वशि कृति, पा. ७-२-८); the "n"-marked affix gives first-syllable acute. ॥६॥

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

(हे) दस्म (he dasma) — O Indra, destroyer of enemies | (तव अनुग्रहात्) (tava anugrahāt) — by your grace | अरिः उत (ariḥ uta) — even enemies | नः (naḥ) — us | सुभगान् (subhagān) — as wealthy, or as lordly | वोचेयुः (vocēyuḥ) — may they say | कृष्टयः (kṛṣṭayaḥ) — (when our enemies themselves speak well of us, what need to say that) the men who are our friends (say it) | इन्द्रस्य (indrasya) — Indra's (that arises from his favour) | शर्मणि (śarmaṇi) — in happiness | स्याम इत् (syāma it) — we shall indeed be.

Page 113 — Rik 4.6: Bhāvārtha; English rendering; Special topics (opening)

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 8 ·Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." English as printed in the source; Ṛg-vedic reference-numbers in small Kannada numerals are marked [?], and most of the list in the "dasma" paragraph I could not read reliably.)

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

O Indra, destroyer of enemies! By your favour, even our enemies will praise us, saying that we are wealthy and lordly. If it is so, what wonder that our other friends, the men of our own side, should say it? Besides this, by your (Indra's) grace we shall be happy indeed.

English Translation (printed in English in the source itself):

"Destroyer of foes, let our enemies say we are prosperous; let men (congratulate us); may we ever live in happiness through your (favour)."

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

The meaning of this Ṛk is, in a small measure, similar to that of the preceding Ṛk; that is, the chief import of the two Ṛks is the same.

सुभगान् (subhagān) — Since the word "bhaga" is read among the twenty-eight words that indicate wealth, beginning with "magha" (Ni. 2-1[?]), "bhaga" here means "wealth." "Subhagān" means "those who have abundant wealth."

अरिः (ariḥ) — Here the singular is used in the sense of the plural. In ordinary speech, when we say "enemy" (the source's English), it is customary to mean the people belonging to the side of our enemy, those who are not our well-wishers. In the same way, here, though the singular "ariḥ — enemy" is used, it must be taken in the plural sense — "our enemies, those who are ill-disposed to us."

दस्म (dasma) — For this word the Bhāṣyakāra says "śatrūṇām upakṣapayitaḥ" and explains it as "destroyer of enemies." The form is derived from the root "dasu upakṣaye." Skandasvāmī explains this word as "darśanīya" — "of beautiful appearance." The Bhāṣyakāra himself, too, in Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-62, its 5th, 11th and 12th Ṛks, explains the word "dasma" as "darśanīya." This word is used in the Ṛgveda not only in the Ṛks mentioned above but also in the Ṛks Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-138-4; 2-9-5; 4-1-3; 5-31-7; 6-1-1; 6-18-5; 7-3-4; 7-22-8; 8-92-18; 8-103-7; 10-7-1; 10-43-2; 10-147-5 (re-read from the better scan, Oct 2026). The various forms of the root "meda"-… [the print reads "medan"; I take it to be the stem "daṃs"] — daṃsaḥ, daṃsanā, daṃsobhiḥ, daṃsanābhiḥ, daṃsanaiḥ, daṃsayaḥ, daṃsasā, daṃsāṃsi — are used in many places in the Ṛgveda. Geldner and other scholars explain this word as “master” (English as printed)… (continues on the next page)

Page 114 — Special topics on Rik 4.6 (concluded); Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (opening)

(Page header: “Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā · Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 4.” Nirukta reference-numbers re-read from the better scan. Grammar characterized, sūtras kept.)

कृष्टयः (kṛṣṭayaḥ) — This word is read among the twenty-five words that signify “man” (manuṣya), beginning with “manuṣyāḥ” (Ni. 3-8 [as printed]). Because the word is derived from the root “kṛṣ” (to plough, to practise agriculture), the sense is “people who practise agriculture, men who plough” — that is, in general, “people, men.”

शर्मणि (śarmaṇi) — The word “śarma” is read among the twenty-two words that signify “house” (Ni. 3-8 [?]); so Skandasvāmī explains “indrasya śarmaṇi” as “in Indra’s house” — that is, “in Indra’s world.” This does not seem to fit very well. Besides this, since “śarma” is read among the twenty words that signify “happiness” (Ni. 3-11), it is fitting to take the sense “happiness” for the word “śarma.”

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (Kannada; characterized, sūtras kept.) - “Uta” — the words that belong to the “eva-ādi” class (एवादीनामन्तः, Phiṭ-sūtra [number as printed “4-1[?]”]) have the last syllable acute; so “uta” is end-acute. (Note: the Sanskrit on p. 112 had called “uta” first-syllable acute (by the nipāta rule); the two pages differ, and I record the discrepancy without resolving it.) - “Subhagān” — “bhaga” belongs to the “kṛtvādi” class; so by नञ्सुभ्याम् (पा. ६-२-१७२) the end-acute that a bahuvrīhi after “su” would take is set aside, and by क्रत्वादयश्च (पा. ६-२-११८) the words of the “kratu”-class are first-syllable acute; thus the stem’s own accent is prescribed (प्रातिपदोक्त); “subhagān” is an accusative plural. In the saṃhitā: दीर्घादटि समानपादे (पा. ८-३-९) turns the “n” into “ru” when followed by a vowel in the same pāda; भोभगोअघोअपूर्वस्य योऽशि (पा. ८-३-१७) gives “y” for “ru” after “bho,” “bhago,” “agho” or a short or long “a”; लोपः शाकल्यस्य (पा. ८-३-१९) elides the “y” (in Śākalya’s view); since the elision is “asiddha” (पूर्वत्रासिद्धम्, पा. ८-२-१), the rule अकःसवर्णे दीर्घः (पा. ६-१-१०१) does not lengthen the vowels; आतोऽटि नित्यम् (पा. ८-३-३) gives the nasal sign to the “ā”: “subhagā[ṃ] ariḥ” (this is the form whose nasal sign I flagged at p. 111). - “Ariḥ” — a singular where the plural would be expected; from “ṛ” with the Uṇādi “i” (अर्त्तेरिः, उ. सू. ४-५७८ [as printed]); with guṇa by सार्वधातुकार्धधातुकयोः (पा. ७-३-८४) → “ari”; end-acute by the affix-accent. - “Vocēyuḥ” — the root “vac paribhāṣaṇe” (to speak) in the benedictive (āśīrliṅ); the third-person plural “jhi” … (continues on the next page)

Page 115 — Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā for Rik 4.6 — characterized

(Page header: “Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 8 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā.” Pure grammar in Kannada prose, the rendering of the Sanskrit of p. 112, characterized in order, sūtras kept; numbers as read, [?] where uncertain. The sense of the Rik is already given on pp. 112–113.)

(Continuing “vocēyuḥ”:) …लिङ्याशिषि… (liṅ āśiṣy aṅ, पा. ३-१-८६ [as printed; the usual number is different, and I record the print]) puts “aṅ” in the āśīrliṅ; झेर्जुस् (पा. ३-४-१०८) puts “jus” for “jhi”; the “j” of “jus” is an “it” by चुटू (पा. १-३-७) and the “s” … elided by तस्य लोपः (पा. १-३-९);

"vac + a + us" — वचिस्वपियजादीनां किति (पा. ६-१-१५) and वचेरुम् (पा. ७-४-२०) — before "aṅ" the augment "um" comes to "vac"; आद्गुणः (पा. ६-१-८७) gives guṇa; यासुट् परस्मैपदेषूदात्तो ङिच्च (पा. ३-४-१०३) — the augment "yāsuṭ" in the parasmaipada, acute and "ṅit"; किदाशिषि (पा. ३-४-१०४) — "yāsuṭ" in the āśīrliṅ is "kit" (so no guṇa); the Mādhava school adds that by this very sūtra "yāsuṭ" comes. Hence "vac + yās + us." By छन्दस्युभयथा (पा. ३-४-११७) in the Veda the affix is both "sārvadhātuka" and "ārdhadhātuka"; hence "yās + us" takes the "sārvadhātuka" label, and लिङः सलोपोऽनन्त्यस्य (पा. ७-२-७९) elides the "s" of "yās" ("s" not at the end); अतो येयः (पा. ७-२-८०) turns the "yā" (after an "a"-final stem) into "iy" → "voc-iy-us"; आद्गुणः (पा. ६-१-८७) → "vocēyuḥ." The "sārvadhātuka" accent is lost by तास्यनुदात्तेन्ङिदुपदेशाल्लसार्वधातुकमनुदात्तमहन्वनोर्ङित् (पा. ६-१-१८६) and the affix "aṅ" keeps its own acute; the single substitute "ē" of "i + a" … is acute by एकादेश उदात्तेनोदात्तः (पा. ८-२-५). - "Dasma" — "dasu upakṣaye" with the Uṇādi ईषियुधीन्धिदसिश्याधूसूभ्योऽमुक् [as printed] (उ. सू. १-१४४) the affix "ma" with the augment "muk"; as a vocative standing after another word it loses its accent (आमन्त्रितस्य च, as printed). - "Kṛṣṭayaḥ" — क्तिच्क्तौ च संज्ञायाम् (पा. ३-३-१७४): "ktic" and "kta" in a sense of a name: "ktic" is added to "kṛṣ," meaning "men"; "c"-marked, so the last syllable is acute by चितः (पा. ६-१-१६३). - "Syāma" — "as bhuvi" (to be) in the optative (vidhi-liṅ), first-person plural; "yāsuṭ"; by लिङः सलोपोऽनन्त्यस्य (पा. ७-२-७९) the "s" is elided; the affix "mas" loses its final "s" (नित्यं ङितः, पा. ३-४-९९); श्नसोरल्लोपः (पा. ६-४-१११) the "a" of "as" is elided before an affix that is "k" or "ṅ"-marked; hence "s-yā-ma" → "syāma." (The page ends mid-derivation of "syāma"; it continues on p. 116.)

Page 116 — Rik 4.6 grammar concluded; Sūkta 4, Seventh Mantra: Saṃhitā, Pada, Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (opening)

(Page header: "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 4." Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. Sanskrit printed in Kannada script; [?] where unclear.)

(Continuing "syāma" from p. 115:) …"yāsuṭ" is acute; since "syāma" stands at the beginning of the pāda, तिङ्ङतिङः (पा. ८-१-२८) does not cause the nighāta. "Śarmaṇi" — "śṝ hiṃsāyām" (to injure): "hinasti duḥkham iti śarma" ("that which destroys sorrow"); अन्येभ्योऽपि दृश्यन्ते (पा. ३-२-७५) the affix "manin"; ṇ-ending "śṝ" takes guṇa → "śar-man"; "iṭ" does not come to a "kṛt" ending in a "val" affix by नेड्वशि कृति (पा. ७-२-८), though आर्धधातुकस्येड्वलादेः (पा. ७-२-३५) would require it; since "manin" is "n"-marked, ञित्यादिर्नित्यम् (पा. ६-१-१९७) gives the first-syllable acute. ॥६॥

---

Sūkta 4, The Seventh Mantra

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

एमा॒शुमा॒शवे॑ भर यज्ञश्रिय॑ṃ नृमाद॑नं । प॒त॒यन्म॑न्द॒यत्स॑खं ॥७॥

emāśúmāśáve bhara yajñaśríyaṃ nṛmádanaṃ | patayánmaṃdayátsakhaṃ ||7||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

आ । ईम् । आशुम् । आशवे । भर । यज्ञऽश्रियम् । नृऽमादनम् । पतयत् । मन्दयत्ऽसखम् ॥७॥

(Reading notes: (i) the print of the first line in the Saṃhitā runs the words together as "ā īm āśum āśave …"; in the Saṃhitā "ā īm" shows a svarita-type mark that I do not reproduce. (ii) The Saṃhitā has "patayan mandayat-sakham" with the final "n" before "m"; the Pada has "patayat | mandayat-sakham." The reading "patayat" in the Pada text is the one the Bhāṣya below also gives.)

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

ईमिति निपात इदंशब्दार्थे वर्तते । हे यजमानाशवे कृत्स्नसोमयोगव्याप्तायेन्द्रायेमा भर । इमं सोममाहर । कीदृशं सोमम् । आशुं सवनत्रयव्याप्तं यज्ञश्रियं यज्ञस्य संपद्रूपं नृमादनं नृणामृत्विग्यजमानानां हर्षहेतुं पतयत्पतनयुक्तं कर्मणि प्राप्नुवन्तं मन्दयत्सखं । य इन्द्रो मन्दयति यजमानान् हर्षयति तस्मिन्निन्द्रे सखिभूतोऽयं सोमः । तत्प्रीतिहेतुत्वात्तृप्तिहेतुत्वाद्वा ॥ īm iti nipāta idaṃ-śabdārthe vartate | he yajamānāśave kṛtsna-soma-yoga-vyāptāyendrāyemā bhara | imaṃ somam āhara | kīdṛśaṃ somam | āśuṃ savana-traya-vyāptaṃ yajña-śriyaṃ yajñasya sampad-rūpaṃ nṛmādanaṃ nṛṇām ṛtvig-yajamānānāṃ harṣa-hetuṃ patayat-patana-yuktaṃ karmaṇi prāpnuvantaṃ mandayat-sakhaṃ | ya indro mandayati yajamānān harṣayati tasmin indre sakhibhūto 'yaṃ somaḥ | tat-prīti-hetutvāt tṛpti-hetutvād vā ||

Translation: "'Īm' — a particle, used in the sense of the word 'idam' ('this'). O sacrificer! 'Āśave' — to Indra, who pervades the whole union with Soma (the whole Soma sacrifice) — 'ā bhara' — bring this Soma; carry it. What kind of Soma? 'Āśum' — pervading the three pressings; 'yajñaśriyam' — the 'wealth' (sampad) of the sacrifice; 'nṛmādanam' — the cause of joy to men, the priests and the sacrificer; 'patayat' — endowed with 'fall' (that is, 'moving, going forward in the rite'); 'mandayatsakham' — a friend of the one who gladdens: the Indra who gladdens ('mandayati') the sacrificers, who makes them glad — to that Indra this Soma is a friend, since it is the cause of his pleasure or of his satisfaction."

(Reading notes: the phrase "patayat-patana-yuktam karmaṇi prāpnuvantam" is printed with some run-together letters; I read it as given and note that the Bhāṣya's gloss of "patayat" is somewhat loose; the Kannada Pada-meaning, on p. 117, renders it "the one with the power to bring about the actions that fall away / are lost," which shows the same uncertainty.)

Grammar within the Bhāṣya (characterized, sūtras kept): "Āśum" — the Uṇādi कृवापाजिमिस्वदिसाध्यशूभ्य उण् (उ. सू. १-१ [as printed]) — the affix "uṇ" after "kṛ," "vā," "pā," "ji," "mi," "svad," "sādh," "aś[ū]" — "n"-marked, with the accent of the affix. "Āśave" — as before. "Yajñaśriyam" — as a compound its end is acute (समासस्य, पा. ६-१-२२३). "Nṛmādanam" — "mādyanty anena iti mādanaḥ": "lyuṭ" in the sense of instrument or place (करणाधिकरणयोश्च, पा. ३-३-११७); "lit" accent before the affix, but by गतिकारकोपपदात्कृत् (पा. ६-२-१३९) the first-member accent remains. "Patayat" — "pat" (to fall) in the causal (चुरादिणिच्, पा. ३-१-२५), with अतो लोपः (पा. ६-४-४८) … (continues on the next page)

Page 117 — Rik 4.7: grammar concluded; Pada-meanings; Bhāvārtha; English rendering

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 8 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." Grammar characterized, sūtras kept. English as printed.)

(Continuing "patayat" from p. 116:) …"pat" in the causal with "ṇic" (सत्यापपाश… , as printed: the "cur-ādi" "ṇic," पा. ३-१-२५); the final "a" of the stem is elided (आतो लोपः; read here as अतो लोपः, पा. ६-४-४८, as printed "6-4-48"); the elided "a" is treated as if present (स्थानिवत्) so the "upadhā" vṛddhi (अत उपधायाः, पा. ७-२-११६) does not occur (१-१-५६), and in the "laṭ" the "śatṛ" replaces (लटः शतृशानचौ, पा. ३-२-१२४); because the Veda has छन्दस्युभयथा (पा. ३-४-११७) the affix is taken as "ārdhadhātuka" and so (the print argues) the "śap" is not applied (शबभावादुपदेशात्) and "nighāta" is absent (पा. ६-१-१८६); the affix's acute alone remains. Even where the "ārdhadhātuka" character is taken, all rules are optional in the Veda (विभाषा छन्दसि, as printed: "pari. 93"); so "ṇi"-elision (णेरनिटि, पा. ६-४-५१) does not occur (णिलोपाभावः); and by सुपां सुलुगित्यनोलुक् [as printed], the "luk" for "sup" is considered, and by न लुमताङ्गस्य (पा. १-१-६३) — "an operation that depends on an affix that has been elided by 'lu' does not apply" — the "ugit" rule (उगिदचां सर्वनामस्थानेऽधातोः, पा. ७-१-७०) does not bring "num." Thus "patayat" is end-acute. "Mandayatsakham" — "mandayati iti mandayat" (the same stem in "śatṛ"; end-acute); "mandayatīndre sakhā" — a compound of the type "śastra-mimāti" (the print: सप्तमी… , "yogavibhāgāt samāsaḥ"), with the first-member accent retained by तत्पुरुषे तुल्यार्थ… (पा. ६-२-२). ॥७॥

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

(O sacrificer) यज्ञश्रियम् (yajñaśriyam) — which is of the form of the wealth of the sacrifice | नृमादनम् (nṛmādanam) — which causes joy to men — the priests, the sacrificer and the others | पतयत् (patayat) — with the power to bring about the actions that are failing (that are going astray) | मन्दयत्सखम् (mandayatsakham) — friendly to Indra, who gladdens the sacrificer and the others | ईम् आशुम् (īm āśum) — this Soma-juice which pervades all three pressings — that is, which is made ready in all of them | आशवे (āśave) — to Indra, who pervades the sacrifice — that is, who bears the chief share in the sacrifice (the chief god) | आ भर (ā bhara) — bring.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

This is a sentence addressed by the Hotṛ to the sacrificer or to the Adhvaryu: O sacrificer (or Adhvaryu)! The Soma-juice that is now being prepared in this sacrifice is chiefly the wealth of the sacrifice; that is, by it the sacrifice is adorned. Such Soma-juice causes joy to all people — the priests, the sacrificer and so on; it has the power to bring about the (repair of) actions that have fallen into fault. Moreover, this Soma-juice is dear, like a friend, to Indra, who gladdens the sacrificer. Quickly bring such a Soma-juice for Indra.

English Translation (printed in English in the source itself):

"Offer to Indra, pervader (of the whole Soma Sacrifice) the Soma juice that is present (at the three Savana ceremonies) the wealth of the Sacrifice, the Source of joy to men (including priests and worshipper), the favourite of Indra who gives happiness to the worshippers."

(Page header: "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 4." English as printed; Ṛg-vedic references in small Kannada numerals marked [?]; glosses mine and tentative.)

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

This Ṛk is spoken addressing the sacrificer or the Adhvaryu.

ईम् (īm) — Skandasvāmī explains "īm" as "enam," that is, "this Soma," "the Soma-juice."

आशुम् (āśum) — For this word the general sense is "quickly; vigilantly." Though it is a qualifying word, it is used here as the thing qualified (viśeṣya). Geldner thinks that in this Ṛk the word is used as an adverb (kriyā-viśeṣaṇa). In the Ṛgveda this word "āśu" is used as an adjective, in the sense "going fast," of horses, in many places. In the same sense it is also used as an adjective of the words "chariot," "wheel," "bird," "messenger," "Vāyu," "Indra" and "Soma," in many places.

नृमादनम् (nṛmādanam) — Since men are gladdened by drinking the Soma-juice that produces intoxication, it is natural. Therefore it is said in many places that the drinking of Soma gives delight to men. The use of this word:

> त्वं सोम नृमादनः पवस्व चर्षणीसहे । (ऋ. सं. ९-२४-४) tvaṃ soma nṛmādanaḥ pavasva carṣaṇīsahe | (ṛ. saṃ. 9-24-4) Gloss: "You, O Soma, the gladdener of men, flow clear for the conqueror of the peoples."
>
> त्वं सुतो नृमादनो दधन्वान्मत्सरिन्तमः । (ऋ. सं. ९-६७-२) tvaṃ suto nṛmādano dadhanvān matsarintamaḥ | (ṛ. saṃ. 9-67-2) Gloss: "You, pressed, the gladdener of men, the bearer, most exhilarating."

— occurs only in these Ṛks, nowhere else. The word "mādana" derives from the root "mad" ("to be glad; to rejoice, exhilarate" (English as printed)).

पतयत् (patayat) — Many scholars have discussed the sense of this word at length. Skandasvāmī's view is "gamayantam" — "causing to go." Veṅkaṭamādhava explains the word "patayat" in "manuṣyān pātayeti hi somaḥ" — "'Soma makes men fall'": the sense being "the Soma that protects men" [as the Kannada reads it; I note that the quotation as printed is hard to interpret, and I give the Kannada's sense only]. Western scholars explain this word as (English as printed) "accelerating, quickening, inspiring to friends."

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (Kannada; characterized.) "Āśum" — कृवापाजिमिस्वदिसाध्यशूभ्य उण् (उ. सू. १-१ [as printed]) — after the roots "ḍukṛñ karaṇe" (to do), "vā gati-gandhanayoḥ" (to go, to give), "pā pāne" (to drink), "ji abhibhave" (to conquer), "ḍu miñ prakṣepaṇe" (to throw), "svad āsvādane" (to taste), "sādh saṃsiddhau" (to accomplish), "aśū vyāptau" (to pervade) the affix "uṇ" comes; from "aśū" + "uṇ," by अत उपधायाः (पा. ७-२-११६) vṛddhi of the penultimate before an "ñit" or "ṇit" affix → "āśu"; the first syllable is acute by the affix-accent. "Āśave" is to be understood like this. "Bhara" — "hṛñ haraṇe" (to carry) in the imperative (loṭ) …

(continues on the next page)

Pages 119–120 — Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā for Rik 4.7 (Kannada), continued — characterized

(Page headers: p. 119 "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 8 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā"; p. 120 "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā · Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 4." These two pages are pure Pāṇinian derivation in Kannada prose for "bhara," "yajñaśriyam," "nṛmādanam" and "patayat," with extended scholastic argument about "patayat"; they do not bear on the sense of the Rik, given on pp. 116–118. Per the standing convention they are characterized in outline, not translated line by line; every sūtra the pages name is kept in three layers, numbers as I read them in small Kannada numerals, [?] where uncertain. A good part of p. 120 is crowded with technical objections and replies that I do not reproduce.)

p. 119. - "Bhara" (continuing from p. 118) — "hṛñ haraṇe," in the imperative second-person singular "sip" → "hṛ + si"; सेर्ह्यपिच्च (पा. ३-४-८७) puts "hi" for "si" and it is non-"p"-marked; "śap" (कर्तरि शप्, पा. ३-१-६८) comes after the root; सार्वधातुकार्धधातुकयोः (पा. ७-३-८४) gives guṇa → "har-a-hi"; the guṇa of "ṛ" is "ar," and by उरण् रपरः (ur aṇ raparaḥ, पा. १-१-५१) the substitute of "ṛ" is followed by "r"; by अतो हेः (पा. ६-४-१०५) the "hi" is elided after a short "a"; हृग्रहोर्भश्छन्दसि (hṛgrahor bhaś chandasi, पा. ८-२-३२ [?]) substitutes "bh" for the "h" of "hṛ" and "grah" in the Veda → "bhara." Since it stands after "ā" (not a tiṅanta) and not at the pāda's beginning, तिङ्ङतिङः (पा. ८-१-२८) makes it wholly unaccented; in the saṃhitā it is preceded by the svarita of "ve" and becomes "anudāttas" by स्वरितात्संहितायामनुदात्तानाम् (पा. १-२-३९) — it is pracaya (level). - "Yajñaśriyam" — "yaj" + "naṅ" (यजयाचयतविच्छप्रच्छरक्षो नङ्, पा. ३-३-९०) → "yajña"; by स्तोः श्चुना श्चुः (पा. ८-४-४०) the "s/t"-class letters become "ś/c"-class in contact with "ś/c"-class, so the "n" of "naṅ" takes the "c"-class nasal "ñ"; यजस्य… with ज्ञ (the conjunct "j + ñ") → "yajña." "Śrī" — from "śriñ sevāyām" (to serve) by the vārttika क्विब्वचिप्रच्छ्यायतस्तुकटप्रुजुश्रीणां दीर्घोऽसंप्रसारणं च (the vārttika as printed, read with doubt): "kvip" with lengthening → "śrī." "Yajñasya śrīḥ" — a genitive tatpuruṣa; then the second-case singular "am" → "yajñaśrī + am"; भ्रूवां ियोरियङुवङौ [as printed: अचि श्नुधातुभ्रुवां य्वोरियङुवङौ, पा. ६-४-७७] — "iyaṅ/uvaṅ" for "ī/ū" of a root-final, of a "śnu"-stem, and of "bhrū," before an "ac"-initial affix — gives "iy" for "ī" → "yajñaśriyam." The compound is end-acute by समासस्य (पा. ६-१-२२३). - "Nṛmādanam" — "mādyante anena" ("they delight by this") → "mādanaḥ"; "lyuṭ" in the sense of instrument by करणाधिकरणयोश्च (पा. ३-३-११७); "lyuṭ" is "l"-marked, so लिति (पा. ६-१-१९३) puts the acute on the syllable before the affix, namely "ā"; in the compound "nṛmādana," गतिकारकोपपदात्कृत् (पा. ६-२-१३९) retains the kṛt-final member's accent; the "ā" is acute. - "Patayat" — the root "pat" "gatau" is in the "cur-ādi" class (the tenth) read with short "a" at the end (as "pata" — the "gaṇa" list, by the verse: "satyāpa, pāśa, rūpa, vīṇā, tula, śloka, senā, loma, tvaca, varma, varṇa, cūrṇa" ["satyāpapāśarūpavīṇātulaślokasenālomatvacavarmavarṇacūrṇa-"]); चुरादिभ्यो णिच् (पा. ३-१-२५) puts "ṇic" after these … (continues on p. 120).

p. 120. (Continuing "patayat":) …"ṇic" comes; the final "a" of "pata" is elided before an "ārdhadhātuka" (अतो लोपः, पा. ६-४-४८); the "ṇ" and "c" of "ṇic" are "it"-letters (चुटू, पा. १-३-७; तस्य लोपः, पा. १-३-९); "upadhā" is the vowel before the last letter (अलोऽन्त्यात्पूर्व उपधा, पा. १-१-६५); by अत उपधायाः (पा. ७-२-११६) vṛddhi of the penultimate short "a" before an "ñit/ṇit" affix would be expected; but स्थानिवदादेशोऽनल्विधौ (पा. १-१-५६) makes the substitute (the elision of “a” before “ṇic”) act as the original, so the “a” is regarded as still present and so is not “upadhā” — the print argues the point at length — and no vṛddhi arises. Then the “laṭ” → “śatṛ” (लटः शतृशानचावप्रथमासमानाधिकरणे, पा. ३-२-१२४); the “śatṛ” is “ārdhadhātuka” and “sārvadhātuka” alike by छन्दस्युभयथा (पा. ३-४-११७); कर्तरि शप् (पा. ३-१-६८) would give “śap”; the debate asks whether “śap” is absent when “śatṛ” is taken as “ārdhadhātuka”; णेरनिटि (पा. ६-४-५१) — “ṇi” is elided before an “ārdhadhātuka” without “iṭ” — would then also apply, but since all rules are optional in the Veda (सर्वे विधयश्छन्दसि विकल्प्यन्ते, paribhāṣā [number as printed “93”]), the “ṇi” is kept: “pat + i + at” → guṇa and “ay” → “patayat.” The “am” case-ending after it (सुपां सुलुक्, पा. ७-१-३९) is elided by “luk” (सुडनपुंसकस्य, पा. १-१-४३) as a name for the non-neuter “su/au/jas/am/auṭ” being “sarvanāmasthāna”; प्रत्ययलोपे प्रत्ययलक्षणम् (पा. १-१-६२) and उगिदचां सर्वनामस्थानेऽधातोः (पा. ७-१-७०) would bring “num,” but न लुमताङ्गस्य (पा. १-१-६३) bars it — the print enumerates the words “luk,” “ślu,” “lup” and the rest.

Page 121 — Rik 4.7 grammar concluded; Sūkta 4, Eighth Mantra: Saṃhitā, Pada, Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (opening)

(Page header: “Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 8 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā.” Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. Sanskrit printed in Kannada script; [?] where unclear.)

(Concluding the grammar of “patayat” from p. 120:) …where the affix has been elided by “lu”-type elision, no operation depending on the elided affix takes place on the stem — the “pratyaya-lakṣaṇa” is thus prohibited — and so, because the “sarvanāmasthāna” affix is not following, the “num” augment of उगिदचाम् is not added. In the same way “mandayat” is end-acute; “mandayati sakhā” — “(one who is) a friend in the Indra who gladdens” — is a compound formed by the “saptamī” (locative-compound) rule, सप्तमी शौण्डैः (पा. २-१-४० [as printed “2-1-4?”]), which the print divides by the word “saptamī,” for the locative word compounds with a competent locative word; by तत्पुरुषे तुल्यार्थतृतीयासप्तम्युपमानाव्ययद्वितीयाकृत्याः (पा. ६-२-२ [as printed “6-2-2”; the sūtra reads ‘tṛtīyā-saptamī’…]) the first member (a locative) retains its natural accent; and राजाहस्सखिभ्यष्टच् (पा. ५-४-९१) the affix “ṭac” comes after “sakhi.” ॥७॥

---

Sūkta 4, The Eighth Mantra

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

अस्य पीत्वा शतक्रतो घनो वृत्राणामभवः । प्रावो वाजेषु वाजिनम् ॥८॥

asyá pītvā śátakrato ghanó vṛtrāṇāmabhavaḥ | prāvo vājeṣu vājínaṃ ||8||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

अस्य । पीत्वा । शतक्रतो इति शतऽक्रतो । घनः । वृत्राणाम् । अभवः । प्र । आवः । वाजेषु । वाजिनम् ॥८॥

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे शतक्रतो बहुकर्मयुक्तेन्द्र त्वमस्य सोमस्य संबन्धिनमंशं पीत्वा वृत्राणां वृत्रनामकासुरप्रमुखाणां शत्रूणां घनोऽभवः । हन्ताभूः । ततो वाजेषु संग्रामेषु वाजिनं संग्रामवन्तं स्वभक्तं प्रावः । प्रकर्षेण रक्षितवानसि । अस्येतीदंशब्देन प्रयोगसमये पुरोदेशस्थः सोमो निर्दिश्यते न तु पूर्वप्रकृतः सोमः परामृश्यते । अतोऽनन्वादेशत्वान्नात्रेदमोऽन्वादेशेऽशनुदात्त इत्येतदोदात्त— [print: "...श्चितीयादौ"] । पा. २-४-३२ । इत्यशादेशः । अतो न सर्वानुदात्तत्वं किंतु तृदा-... he śatakrato bahu-karma-yuktendra tvam asya somasya sambandhinam aṃśaṃ pītvā vṛtrāṇāṃ vṛtra-nāmakāsura-pramukhāṇāṃ śatrūṇāṃ ghano 'bhavaḥ | hantābhūḥ | tato vājeṣu saṃgrāmeṣu vājinaṃ saṃgrāmavantaṃ sva-bhaktaṃ prāvaḥ | prakarṣeṇa rakṣitavān asi | asyetīdaṃ-śabdena prayoga-samaye puro-deśasthaḥ somo nirdiśyate na tu pūrva-prakṛtaḥ somaḥ parāmṛśyate | ato 'nanvādeśatvān nātredamo 'nvādeśe 'śanudātta ... [the print runs on: "...traitīyādau | pā. 2-4-32 | ity aśādeśaḥ | ato na sarvānudāttatvaṃ kiṃtu tṛdā-..."] ||

Translation: "O 'śatakrato' — O Indra, endowed with many deeds — having drunk 'the portion belonging to this Soma,' you have become 'ghanaḥ' — the slayer ('hantā') — 'vṛtrāṇām' — of the enemies headed by the demon named Vṛtra. Then, 'vājeṣu' — in the battles — 'vājinam' — the one who has a battle (the one who fights), your own devotee — 'prāvaḥ' — you have protected in an eminent way. By the word 'idam' in 'asya,' the Soma standing in front at the time of use is pointed out — not the Soma mentioned earlier; hence, since this is not an 'anvādeśa' (a back-reference), the substitution of 'a' for 'idam' (before the third case-ending, etc.) does not apply here, ... and the whole word is therefore not unaccented, but ..." (The print of the last lines — the grammar of "asya" — is partly garbled, and it continues on the next page; I give the sense and not a reading of the garbled stretch.)

Page 122 — Rik 4.8: grammar concluded (characterized); Pada-meanings; Bhāvārtha; English rendering; Special topics (opening)

(Page header: "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 4." Grammar characterized, sūtras kept; English as printed.)

Grammar within the Bhāṣya, concluded (the Sanskrit; given in outline): "Asya" — since "idam" is not here used in 'anvādeśa' (back-reference), the substitute "a" (इदमो मः etc.) with the unaccented 'a' does not take the sense of anvādeśa, and the accented form results: the accent of "asya" is thus the first-syllable acute. The statement on the case-ending is "vibhaktir udāttā" — हलि लोपः (पा. ७-२-११३; the print cites ७-२-१०२, त्यदादीनामः, just before it) — the "id" of "idam" is elided before a consonant-beginning ending; the "a" substitutes; अकारः प्रातिपदिकस्वरेणान्तोदात्तः; "asya" is accented by the case-ending, as in अनुदात्तादिः etc. (पा. ६-१-१७१, "...vibhaktirudāttā"). "Pītvā" — "pā pāne" with "ktvā" (पिबतेः क्त्वा); घुमास्थागापाजहातिसां हलि (पा. ६-४-६६) gives "ī"; end-acute by the affix's accent. "Ghanaḥ" — मूर्तौ घनः (पा. ३-३-७७) — "ghan" is formed from "han" (to strike) with हन्तेर्घादेशः: "ghana" in the sense of 'a solid mass'; the "kārinī" (the doer-sense) with "ac," as in "tadasyāstīti" (the possessive "ac" after "ghana" as "arśa-ādi"); "citvāt" — end-acute. "Vājeṣu" — "vāja" is first-syllable acute as belonging to the "vṛṣādi" class. "Vājinam" — the accent of the affix "ini." ॥८॥

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

(O) शतक्रतो (śatakrato) — O Indra, who do many deeds of daring | (you) अस्य (asya) — a small portion of this Soma-juice | पीत्वा (pītvā) — having drunk | वृत्राणाम् (vṛtrāṇām) — of the (enemies) called Vṛtras | घनः (ghanaḥ) — the destroyer | अभवः (abhavaḥ) — become | (और) वाजेषु (vājeṣu) — in the many battles (that we fight with our enemies) | वाजिनम् (vājinam) — the one who fights (our hero, your devotee) | प्रावः (prāvaḥ) — protect in a special way.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

O Indra, who do many daring deeds! Drink this Soma-juice that we have prepared and set here for you, and destroy our enemies called Vṛtras; and in the battles that we fight with our enemies, protect our warrior from the harm of enemies.

English Translation (printed in English in the source itself):

"O (Indra) performer of many deeds, having drunk of this (Soma), you have become destroyer of our enemies headed by Vritra and protected our warrior in battles."

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

अस्य (asya) — The Soma-juice that you have set here for you; the Bhāṣyakāra has supplied the word "aṃśam" and explained it as "a share of this Soma-juice." Skandasvāmī and Veṅkaṭamādhava hold that the word "asya," which is in the genitive case, is used in the sense of the second case (accusative), by the rule "u-sa-yo-gi…" (the print is cut off at this point, and continues on the next page).

Page 123 — Special topics on Rik 4.8 (continued): "asya," "śatakrato," "vṛtrāṇām" (opening)

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 8 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." Nirukta reference-number in small Kannada numerals marked [?]. English words as printed.)

(Continuing "asya" from p. 122:) …in the sense of the "u-sa-yo-gi…" rule, and have explained it with the words "āmum somam" — "this Soma-juice." In the Ṛgveda, in the context of giving the sense of one case-ending, the use of another case-ending is found especially often.

शतक्रतो (śatakrato) — The Bhāṣyakāra explains this word as "bahukarmayukta" — one who does many daring deeds. Veṅkaṭamādhava has explained the word "kratu" as "prajñā" (wisdom). Skandasvāmī has given both of these senses. Here the word "śata" is used in the sense "many." In English also it is the custom to use the words "hundred" and "thousand" (English as printed) in the sense of "many." In the Purāṇas and other works the word "śatakratu" has the sense "one who has performed a hundred Aśvamedha sacrifices"; and, since it is well known that Indra, before obtaining the rank of Indra, performed a hundred Aśvamedha sacrifices and attained that rank, and that those who perform a hundred sacrifices obtain the rank of Indra, it is said in the Purāṇas and elsewhere that in many contexts Indra causes many obstacles, so that others may not perform a hundred sacrifices. But Indra's place in the Vedas is different, and his place as stated in the Purāṇas and later works is different. That is: in the Vedas Indra is praised as the foremost and most excellent among the gods, and there are many sūktas that praise his daring deeds. Why so? In the Ṛgveda the praises of Indra are as many as those of any other deity; in the Purāṇas and later works, the place of Indra is described as a lower place, subject to Brahmā, Viṣṇu, Śiva and the other deities. In the Ṛgveda and in the other Vedas the word "śatakratu," when used of Indra, is found especially often.

वृत्राणाम् (vṛtrāṇām) — "Vṛtra" is a well-known demon; Indra destroyed him. This matter is described at length in the Ṛgveda and in the other Vedas too. It is said that this Vṛtra-asura used to hold back the rain, so that it would not fall, and that Indra therefore killed him and caused the rain to come. Yāska (the author of the Nirukta) and others hold that the word "vṛtra" is used for the cloud, in the sense of a figure (upamārtha). In the Nirukta it stands thus:

> तत्को वृत्रः । मेघ इति नैरुक्ताः । त्वाष्ट्रोऽसुर इत्यैतिहासिकाः । अपां च ज्योतिषश्च मिश्रभावकर्मणो वर्षकर्म जायते । तत्रोपमार्थेन युद्धवर्णा भवन्ति ॥ (नि. २-१६) tatko vṛtraḥ | megha iti nairuktāḥ | tvāṣṭro 'sura ityaitihāsikāḥ | apāṃ ca jyotiṣaśca miśrabhāvakarmaṇo varṣakarma jāyate | tatropamārthena yuddhavarṇā bhavanti ‖ (ni. 2-16) (Reading note: re-read from the better scan, Oct 2026 — the print opens "ತತ್ಕೋ ವೃತ್ರಃ" (tat ko vṛtraḥ) and reads "ಅಪಾಂ ಚ".)

Translation: "'Who is Vṛtra?' — 'The cloud,' say the etymologists (nairuktāḥ); 'the Asura, son of Tvaṣṭṛ,' say the historians (aitihāsikāḥ). From the action of the mixing of the waters and of the light (lightning) comes the action of rain. There, by way of simile, the descriptions are of battle." (Nirukta 2-16)

The sense of this: who is Vṛtra? For the word "vṛtra," the author of the Nirukta says "the cloud," and the Itihāsa writers say "an Asura, the son of Tvaṣṭṛ." Rain arises from the union of the waters and the lightning (water and … (continues on the next page)

Page 124 — Special topics on Rik 4.8: the Vṛtra myth; Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (opening)

(Page header: "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā · Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 4." Reference-number marked [?].)

(Continuing:) …(water and lightning) — rain comes from their conjunction. Therefore the rain that falls with thunder and lightning, described figuratively as a battle between Indra and the demon Vṛtra, is a matter of common usage.

Because the rain that comes with the thunder, the lightning and the rolling of the clouds, with the blowing of the wind, and with the streams of water pouring in torrents, looks like a battle, it appears to have become the custom to describe this rain as a battle. The cloud that is imagined in the battle thus described is Vṛtra. The lightning that now and then flashes in the midst of the cloud is Indra's thunderbolt. The terrible roar of the thunder is the roar of the warriors in the battle. Since this roar of thunder and lightning comes both before the rain and at the beginning of the rain, and then, after a short while, the roar lessens and the rain pours the more, the description in terms of battle was applied — that Indra, using his thunderbolt on the Vṛtra-asura, imagined as the cloud, killed him, and that the rain which had been held back by him then poured out as it pleased. Because the word "vṛtra" is read among the thirty words that signify the cloud (Ni. 2-22), it is possible to support this sense.

In the Bhāgavata and other Purāṇas there is an extended description that Vṛtra was the son of Tvaṣṭṛ, the Prajāpati, and that Indra killed him. In the Taittirīya Saṃhitā of the Yajurveda and in the Taittirīya Brāhmaṇa such descriptions are found in many places. More detail on this matter will be given later.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (Kannada; characterized, sūtras kept) "Asya" — the word "idam" (from "idi paramaiśvarye," the root "to rule") — the "i" of the root carries the "it"-label (इदितो नुम् धातोः, पा. ७-१-५८), so the augment "num" is added, giving "ind"; by the Uṇādi (इन्देः कमिन्नलोपश्च, उ. सू. ४-५९६ [as printed]) the affix "kamin" after "ind," with the elision of the "n" of the root; both "k" and "i" being "it"-letters, "am" remains: "id + am" = "idam." The "Daśapādī" author takes the sūtra इणोदमुक् [as printed] — the affix "damuk" after "iṇ gatau," giving "idam." From the word "idam," what appears directly in front at the time of use — the Soma-juice — is pointed to; the Soma that has been mentioned in the preceding mantras is not referred to here. Therefore this is not an "anvādeśa." "Anvādeśa" means referring again, for the sake of telling another operation, to what was mentioned earlier with the purpose of telling some operation … (continues on the next page)

Page 125 — Rik 4.8 grammar (continued) — characterized

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 8 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." Pure grammar in Kannada prose, the rendering of the Sanskrit on p. 121; characterized in order, sūtras kept; numbers as I read them in small Kannada numerals, [?] where uncertain. The sense of the Rik is already given on p. 122.)

(Continuing "asya" from p. 124:) …"anvādeśa" is "re-taking, for the purpose of telling another action, what has been mentioned earlier." Here the Soma that is directly visible is pointed to by "asya"; so this is not an anvādeśa. Hence, by इदमो न्वादेशेऽशनुदात्त ऋतृतीयादौ [the rule as printed; the standard form is इदमो ऽन्वादेशे ऽशनुदात्त ऋतृतीयाद्यौ, पा. २-४-३२] — "when a third-case or later ending follows, and the word 'idam' is used in anvādeśa, 'aś' is substituted, unaccented" — the substitution of "aś" does not take place; therefore "asya" is not wholly unaccented. By त्यदादीनामः (पा. ७-२-१०२) "a" replaces the final of the "tyad"-class words when a case-ending follows; applied to "idam," when the sixth-case singular "ṅas" follows, अतो गुणे (पा. ६-१-९७) gives the "pararūpa"; by इदमो मः … "id + sya"; हलि लोपः (पा. ७-२-११३) — the "id" of "idam" is elided before a consonant-initial third-or-later case-ending — "id" loses its "d"-final; leaving "a" and "sya": "asya." The "a" is acute by the bare-stem accent; ऊडिदम्पदाद्यप्पुम्रैद्युभ्यः (पा. ६-१-१७१) — the case-endings are acute after "ūṭh," "idam," the pada-words beginning with "pad," "ap," "pum," "rai," "dyu" etc., when they are not "sarvanāmasthāna" — the case-ending "sya" is acute; then by अनुदात्तं पदमेकवर्जम् (पा. ६-१-१५८) the others are unaccented, so the "a" of "asya" is unaccented.

"Pītvā" — "pā pāne" (to drink) with "ktvā"; by घुमास्थागापाजहातिसां हलि (पा. ६-४-६६) the "ā" of "pā" becomes "ī" → "pītvā"; end-acute by the affix's accent. The words "pītvā" and "śatakrato" have no mutual syntactic connection ("sāmarthya"), so "parāṅgavad-bhāva" does not apply to "pītvā."

"Śatakrato" — "pañcaviṃśati-triṃśac-catvāriṃśat-pañcāśat-ṣaṣṭi-saptati-aśīti-navati śatam" (पञ्चविंशतिर्… शतं, the list with "śata" among the "nipātanas"); "daśadaśataḥ parimāṇasya" ("of a measure of ten tens") the "ta" affix and the substitution "śa" give "śata" — end-acute by the affix, in the view that the Uṇādi words are not “vyutpanna” (derived); in the other view (that they are not derived), end-acute by the bare-stem accent. “Kratu” — from “ḍukṛñ karaṇe” the Uṇādi कृञः कतुः (उ. सू. १-७७) the affix “katu” → “kratu” — end-acute by the affix-accent. The two words in a bahuvrīhi compound: “śatakratu,” vocative “śatakrato”; being a vocative standing after another word it is unaccented by आमन्त्रितस्य च (पा. ६-१-१९८, as printed). “Ghanaḥ” — मूर्तौ घनः (पा. ३-३-७७) in the sense of solid; or “ghana” from “han” with “ap” in the sense of “hantā”; “han” is replaced by “ghana” (हनो घः?); “ghano ’sya asti” — अर्श आदिभ्योऽच् (पा. ५-२-१२७) “ac” is added in the possessive; “ac” is “c”-marked and so end-acute by चितः (पा. ६-१-१६३); and from “ghanaḥ asya asti” the derivation proceeds … (continues on the next page)

Page 126 — Rik 4.8 grammar concluded; Sūkta 4, Ninth Mantra: Saṃhitā, Pada, Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (opening)

(Page header: “Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 4.” Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. Sanskrit printed in Kannada script; [?] where unclear.)

(Concluding the grammar:) …“ghanaḥ” is end-acute by चितः (पा. ६-१-१६३). “Vājeṣu” — वृषादीनां च (पा. ६-१-२०३) — the first syllable of words in the “vṛṣādi” class is acute; “vāja” is among them, so first-syllable acute. “Vājinam” — “vājo ’syāsti” (“who has ‘vāja’”): अत इनिठनौ (पा. ५-२-११५) the affix “ini”; the accent of the affix. ॥८॥

---

Sūkta 4, The Ninth Mantra

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

तं त्वा॒ वाजे॑षु वा॒जिनं॑ वा॒जया॑मः शतक्रतो । धना॑नामिंद्र सा॒तये॑ ॥९॥

taṃ tvā vājeṣu vājínaṃ vājáyāmaḥ śatakrato | dhánānāmiṃdra sātáye ||9||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

तम् । त्वा । वाजेषु । वाजिनम् । वाजयामः । शतक्रतो इति शतऽक्रतो । धनानाम् । इन्द्र । सातये ॥९॥

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे शतक्रतो बहुकर्मयुक्त यद्वा बहुप्रज्ञानयुक्तेन्द्र धनानां सातये संभजनार्थं वाजेषु युद्धेषु वाजिनं बलवन्तं त्वा पूर्वमन्त्रोक्तगुणयुक्तं त्वां वाजयामः । अन्नवन्तं कुर्मः । रण इत्यादिषु षट्चत्वारिंशत्सु संग्रामनामसु पौंस्ये महाधने वाजेष्वग्मन्निति पठितम् । अष्टाविंशतिसंख्याकेष्वन्ननामसु बन्धो वाजः पाज इति पठितम् । उरु तुवीत्यादिषु द्वादशसु बहुनामसु शतं सहस्रमिति पठितम् । अपोऽप्स इत्यादिषु षड्विंशतिसंख्याकेषु कर्मनामसु शक्म क्रतुरिति पठितम् । केतः केतुरित्यादिष्वेकादशसु प्रज्ञानामसु क्रतुरसुरिति पठितम् ॥ त्वा । अनुदात्तं सर्वमित्यनुवृत्तौ त्वामौ द्वितीयायाः इति त्वादेशः । वाजेषु । वज व्रज गतौ । वाजयति गमयति शरीरनिर्वाहमनेनेति वाजो बलमन्नं वा । ण्यन्तात्करणे घञ् । तत्र ञित्स्वरस्यापवादे कर्षात्वतः । पा. ६-१-१५९ । इत्यन्तोदात्तत्वे प्राप्ते तस्याप्यपवादत्वेन वृषादीनां च । पा. ६-१-२०३ । इत्यादि [read: आद्युदात्तत्वम्] । वाजयामः । वाजोऽस्यास्तीति वाजवान् । तं करोति इत्यर्थे तत्करोति तदाचष्टे । पा. ३-१-२६, … he śatakrato bahu-karma-yukta yadvā bahu- prajñāna-yuktendra dhanānāṃ sātaye sambhajanārthaṃ vājeṣu yuddheṣu vājinaṃ balavantaṃ tvā pūrva-mantroktaguṇa-yuktaṃ tvāṃ vājayāmaḥ | annavantaṃ kurmaḥ | raṇa ity ādiṣu ṣaṭcatvāriṃśatsu saṃgrāma-nāmasu pauṃsye mahādhane vājeṣv agmann iti paṭhitam | aṣṭāviṃśati-saṃkhyākeṣv anna-nāmasu bandho vājaḥ pāja iti paṭhitam | uru tuvīty ādiṣu dvādaśasu bahu-nāmasu śataṃ sahasram iti paṭhitam | apo 'psa ity ādiṣu ṣaḍviṃśati-saṃkhyākeṣu karma-nāmasu śakma kratur iti paṭhitam | ketaḥ ketur ity ādiṣv ekādaśasu prajñā-nāmasu kratur asur iti paṭhitam || tvā | anudāttaṃ sarvam ity anuvṛttau tvāmau dvitīyāyāḥ iti tvādeśaḥ | vājeṣu | vaja vraja gatau | vājayati gamayati śarīra-nirvāham anena iti vājo balam annaṃ vā | ṇyantāt karaṇe ghañ | tatra ñit-svarasyāpavāde karṣātvataḥ | pā. 6-1-159 | ity antodāttatve prāpte tasyāpy apavādatvena vṛṣādīnāṃ ca | pā. 6-1-203 | ity ādi [read: ādyudāttatvam] | vājayāmaḥ | vājo 'syāstīti vājavān | taṃ karoti ity arthe tat karoti tad ācaṣṭe | pā. 3-1-26, …

Translation: "O 'śatakrato' — O Indra, endowed with many deeds, or: endowed with much wisdom — 'dhanānāṃ sātaye' — for the sharing, the enjoyment, of riches — 'tvā' — you, 'vājeṣu' — in battles, 'vājinam' — the strong; you, who are endowed with the qualities stated in the previous mantra — 'vājayāmaḥ' — 'we make you possessed of food' (we cause you to have 'anna'). Among the forty-six names of battle beginning with 'raṇa,' 'pauṃsya,' 'mahādhana' and 'vājeṣu' are read ('agmann' is read there); among the twenty-eight names of food, 'bandhaḥ,' 'vājaḥ,' 'pājaḥ' are read; among the twelve names of 'many,' beginning with 'uru, tuvi,' 'śatam' and 'sahasram' are read; among the twenty-six names of action beginning with 'apaḥ, apsaḥ,' 'śakma' and 'kratuḥ' are read; among the eleven names of wisdom beginning with 'ketaḥ, ketuḥ,' 'kratuḥ' and 'asuḥ' are read." (The print here has the counts as I give them; the Nighaṇṭu quotation 'vājeṣv agmann' is printed as I give it and I flag it as hard to read.)

Grammar within the Bhāṣya (characterized): "Tvā" — unaccented ("anudāttaṃ sarvam" by continuation), by त्वामौ द्वितीयायाः (पा. ८-१-२३) "tvā" replaces "tvām." "Vājeṣu" — root "vaja/vraja gatau" (to go); "vājayati" — "he makes go"; "vāja" is strength or food, by which the support of the body is accomplished; "ghañ" after the causal root in the sense of instrument; the "ñit"-accent (end-acute by the "ñit" rule, ञित्यादिर्नित्यम्, पा. ६-१-१९७, with the exception कर्षात्वतो घञोऽन्त उदात्तः, पा. ६-१-१५९) would give an end-acute, but the more special वृषादीनां च (पा. ६-१-२०३) makes it first-syllable acute. "Vājayāmaḥ" — "vājo 'syāstīti vājavān"; "taṃ karoti" ("he makes him that"); "tat karoti tad ācaṣṭe" (तत्करोति तदाचष्टे, पा. ३-१-२६) — the causal "ṇic" … (continues on the next page)

Page 127 — Rik 4.9: grammar concluded; Pada-meanings; Bhāvārtha; English rendering; Special topics (opening)

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 8 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." Sūtra-numbers in small Kannada numerals; [?] where uncertain. English as printed.)

Grammar within the Bhāṣya, concluded (the Sanskrit on the top of this page, transcribed as I read it, with its sūtras; given in outline since it is pure derivation):

> …ṇic | iṣṭhavaṇau prātipadikasya | pā. 6-4-155-1 | iti tasmin svare iṣṭhavad-bhāvād vinmator luk | pā. 5-3-65 | iti matupo luk | ṭeḥ | pā. 6-4-143 | ity akāra-lopaḥ | ṇic-cit-tvād antodāttatvaṃ śapaḥ pittvenānudāttatvaṃ lasārvadhātuka-

svareṇākhyātasyāpy anudāttatvaṃ | pādāditvāt tiṅ atiṅa iti na nighātaḥ | śatakrato | āmantritanighātaḥ | dhanānām | nab-viṣayasyānisantasyety ādyudāttaḥ | sātaye | udātta ity anuvṛttyā ūtiyūti-jūti-sāti-heti-kīrtayaś ceti ktin-nudāttaḥ || (Devanagari: …णिच् । इष्ठेवणौ प्रातिपदिकस्य । पा. ६-४-१५५-१ । इति तस्मिन्स्वरे इष्ठवद्भावाद्विन्मतोर्लुक् । पा. ५-३-६५ । इति मतुपो लुक् । टेः । पा. ६-४-१४३ । इत्यकारलोपः । णिच्चित्त्वादन्तोदात्तत्वं शपः पित्त्वेनानुदात्तत्वं लसार्वधातुकस्वरेणाख्यातस्याप्यनुदात्तत्वं । पादादित्वात्तिङ्ङतिङः इति न निघातः । शतक्रतो । आमन्त्रितनिघातः । धनानाम् । नब्विषयस्यानिसन्तस्येत्याद्युदात्तः । सातये । उदात्त इत्यनुवृत्त्यादिः ऊतियूतिजूतिसातिहेतिकीर्तयश्चेति क्तिन्नुदात्तः ॥) Translation, in outline: "'Ṇic' … after the 'iṣṭha' and 'vat' affixes (इष्ठेमेयस्सु टेः, पा. ६-४-१५५ etc.) the 'iṣṭhavad-bhāva' treats the stem as if before an 'iṣṭha'-affix, whence the elision of the 'vin'/'matup' (विन्मतोर्लुक्, पा. ५-३-६५); टेः (पा. ६-४-१४३): the final 'a' of the stem is elided; by the 'c'-mark of 'ṇic' the end-acute; the 'śap' being 'p'-marked is unaccented; by the sārvadhātuka-accent rule the verb is unaccented too; since the word stands at the beginning of the pāda, the 'tiṅ atiṅaḥ' nighāta does not apply. 'Śatakrato' — the vocative's nighāta. 'Dhanānām' — first-syllable acute (नब्विषयस्यानिसन्तस्य). 'Sātaye' — by the continuation of 'udātta' from ऊतियूतिजूतिसातिहेतिकीर्तयश्च (पा. ३-३-९७), the 'ktin' is acute." ॥९॥

(Reading notes: the sūtra-numbers in this paragraph are read from small numerals and are low-confidence; the sūtra wording "iṣṭhavaṇau prātipadikasya" is hard to read in the print and I transcribe it as I make it out.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

(O) शतक्रतो (śatakrato) — one who performs many daring deeds, or who is endowed with much wisdom | इन्द्र (indra) — O Indra | धनानाम् (dhanānām) — of wealth and other possessions | सातये (sātaye) — for the attainment | वाजेषु (vājeṣu) — in battles | वाजिनम् (vājinam) — who are strong | तम् (tam) — who are endowed with the qualities stated in the earlier mantra | त्वा (tvā) — you | वाजयामः (vājayāmaḥ) — we make endowed with food (we offer to you food in the form of the oblation).

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

O Indra, endowed with wisdom! In order to obtain wealth, cattle, sons and the like, we offer the oblation — that is, food — to you, who are strong — mighty — in battles.

English Translation (printed in English in the source itself):

"O Indra performer of many sacrifices (or one endowed with great wisdom), we offer sacrificial food to you who are powerful in battles, for the acquisition of riches."

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

The sense of the word "vāja" has been explained earlier. वाजयामः (vājayāmaḥ) — For this verb the Bhāṣyakāra gives "annavantaṃ kurmaḥ" — "we make endowed with food"; Skandasvāmī gives "vājayati-r arcayati-karmā, stumaḥ" — "the root 'vājay' has the sense of 'worship'; we praise"; and Veṅkaṭamādhava gives "stutibhir balinaṃ kurmaḥ" — "we make you strong by praises, by hymns of praise."

In explaining the senses of the words "vāja," "śata" and "kratu" in this Ṛk, the Bhāṣyakāra has cited sentences from the Nirukta:

वाजे (vāje) — Among the forty-six words that signify battle, beginning with "raṇa," the word "vāje" is read (Ni. 3-9-19).

Page 128 — Special topics on Rik 4.9 (concluded); Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (opening)

(Page header: "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 4." Nirukta reference-numbers re-read from the better scan. Grammar characterized, sūtras kept.)

वाजः (vājaḥ) — Among the twenty-eight words that signify food, beginning with "andha," the word "vājaḥ" is read (Ni. 3-9-4).

शत (śata) — Among the twelve words that signify "many," beginning with "uru," the word "śatam" is read (Ni. 3-13-1).

क्रतुः (kratuḥ) — Among the twenty-six words that signify action, beginning with "apaḥ," the word "kratuḥ" is read (Ni. 2-1); and —

केतः — among the eleven words that signify wisdom, beginning with "ketaḥ," the word "kratuḥ" is read (Ni. 3-13-17).

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (Kannada; characterized, sūtras kept) - "Tvā" — त्वामौ द्वितीयायाः (tvāmau dvitīyāyāḥ, पा. ८-१-२३), with "anudāttaṃ sarvam apādādau" (अनुदात्तं सर्वमपादादौ, पा. ८-१-१८) continued — "tvā" and "mā" are substituted, in order, for the second-case singular forms "tvām" and "mām" of "yuṣmad" and "asmad," when the words are unaccented, not at the beginning of a pāda, and stand after another word; so here "tvām" becomes "tvā" and is unaccented. - "Vājeṣu" — "vaja/vraja gatau" (to go), with "ṇic" in the causal sense: "vājayati — gamayati": "that by which the support of the body is accomplished"; i.e. "vāja" is strength, or food; "ghañ" after the root in the sense of instrument (करणे); अत उपधायाः (पा. ७-२-११६) gives vṛddhi of the penultimate; णेरनिटि (पा. ६-४-५१) elides the "ṇi" → "vāja." The "ñit"-accent (ञ्नित्यादिर्नित्यम्, पा. ६-१-१९७) is set aside by the exception कर्षात्वतो घञोऽन्त उदात्तः (पा. ६-१-१५९) — when the "ghañ" ends a word after "kṛṣ" or a root with "ā," the word is end-acute — and this in turn is set aside by वृषादीनां च (पा. ६-१-२०३), so the word is first-syllable acute. - "Vājayāmaḥ" — "vājo 'syāsti iti vājavān" — "tadasyāstyasminniti matup" (पा. ५-२-९३ [as printed]) and by मादुपधायाश्च मतोर्वोऽयवादिभ्यः (पा. ८-२-९) the "m" of "matup" becomes "v" after a stem whose penultimate is "m" or "a/ā" (not in the "yava"-class); so "vājavat"; adding "su," अत्वसन्तस्य चाधातोः (पा. ६-४-१४) lengthens the penultimate before the "sarvanāmasthāna" of "atvasanta" stems, and उगिदचां सर्वनामस्थानेऽधातोः (पा. ७-१-७०) brings "num" → "vājavān-t-s"; हल्ङ्याब्भ्यो दीर्घात्सुतिस्यपृक्तं हल् (पा. ६-१-६८) elides "su"; संयोगान्तस्य लोपः (पा. ८-२-२३) elides the "t" … (continues on the next page)

Page 129 — Rik 4.9 grammar concluded; Sūkta 4, Tenth Mantra: Saṃhitā

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 8 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." Grammar characterized, sūtras kept. Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

(Continuing "vājayāmaḥ" from p. 128:) …by संयोगान्तस्य लोपः (पा. ८-२-२३) the "t" of the conjunct is elided; पूर्वत्रासिद्धम् (पा. ८-२-१) makes the elision "asiddha" with respect to the following rules; so न लोपः प्रातिपदिकान्तस्य (पा. ८-२-७) — the elision of the "n" at the end of a stem — does not apply, and one gets "vājavān," the stem "vājavat." "We make him vājavat" — "vājavantaṃ kurmaḥ" ("we make him possessed of food, or of strength") — is intended: "tat karoti tad ācaṣṭe" (तत्करोति तदाचष्टे, पा. ३-१-२६; the print adds "म ५-६"): in the sense "he does that" — and "he declares it" — "ṇic" is added after a second-case word; "vājavat + am + ṇic"; सनाद्यन्ता धातवः (पा. ३-१-३२) — words ending in "sanādi" affixes are called roots; सुपो धातुप्रातिपदिकयोः (पा. २-४-७१) — the case-ending "am" is elided. तावुपमेयः — by प्रातिपदिकस्य (print: ज्ञाविष्ठवत्प्रातिपदिकस्य, पा. ६-४-१५५-म. १) — "iṣṭhavat" treatment: whatever operations the "iṣṭhan" affix would bring, these also occur when "ṇic" follows; with "iṣṭhan" following, विन्मतोर्लुक् (पा. ५-३-६५) elides "vin" and "matup" — so by "iṣṭhavat" the "matup" is elided before "ṇic," and टेः (पा. ६-४-१५५) the "a" before the "ṇic" is elided: "vāja + i," then the root "vāji" with "laṭ," first-person plural "mas," कर्तरि शप् (पा. ३-१-६८) "śap" with guṇa and "ay" → "vājay + mas"; अतो दीर्घो यञि (पा. ७-३-१०१) lengthens the "a" before a "yañ"-initial sārvadhātuka → "vājayāmas" → "vājayāmaḥ" (with "ru" and visarga). The "śap" is unaccented by being "p"-marked (अनुदात्तौ सुप्पितौ, पा. ३-१-४); "mas" is unaccented by तास्यनुदात्तेन्ङिदुपदेशाल्लसार्वधातुकमनुदात्तमहन्वनोर्ङित् (पा. ६-१-१८६) and by अनुदात्तं सर्वमपादादौ (पा. ८-१-१८): the unaccented rule in general does not apply to a word that stands at the beginning of a pāda, by the prohibition, so, since "vājayāmaḥ" is the first word of the second pāda, तिङ्ङतिङः (पा. ८-१-२८) does not make it unaccented. "Śatakrato" — a vocative, unaccented by आमन्त्रितस्य च (पा. ८-१-१९); "dhanānām" — first-syllable acute by the Phiṭ-sūtra नब्विषयस्यानिसन्तस्य (फि. सू. २६); "sātaye" — "udātta" being continued, by ऊतियूतिजूतिसातिहेतिकीर्तयश्च (पा. ३-३-९७) the "ktin" affix is acute. ॥९॥

---

Sūkta 4, The Tenth Mantra

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

यो रा॒यो३वनि॑र्म॒हान्त्सु॑पा॒रः सु॑न्व॒तः सखा॑ । [accent ?] तस्मा इंद्रा॑य गायत ॥१०॥ [accent ?]

yo rāyo3vánirmahā́ntsupāráḥ sunvatáḥ sákhā | [accent ?] tasmā íṃdrāya gāyata ||10|| [accent ?]

(Accents read from the better scan; [accent ?]: on this page the print shows through from the back, and the marks around रायो३वनिः and under इन्द्राय are not clear — recorded as best read.)

(Reading note: the Saṃhitā text is printed with the avagraha-sign in "rāyo 'vanir," and "mahān" followed by a "t"-like mark and "supāraḥ" as "mahāntsupāraḥ" — the sandhi of "mahān + su…"

— as I read it. The end of the page carries the Kannada page-footnote numeral "17" (a signature-mark).)

Page 130 — Rik 4.10: Pada, Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya, grammar (characterized), Pada-meanings (opening)

(Page header: "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 4." Sanskrit printed in Kannada script; [?] where unclear.)

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

यः । रायः । अवनिः । महान् । सुऽपारः । सुन्वतः । सखा । तस्मै । इन्द्राय । गायत ॥१०॥

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

य इन्द्रो रायो धनस्यावनी रक्षकः स्वामिना वा तस्मा इन्द्राय गायत । हे ऋत्विजस्तृप्त्यर्थं स्तुतिं कुरुत । कीदृश इन्द्रः । महान्गुणैरधिकः सुपारः सुष्ठु कर्मणः पूरयिता सुन्वतो यजमानस्य सखा सखिवत्प्रियः ॥ ya indro rāyo dhanasyāvanī rakṣakaḥ svāminā vā tasmā indrāya gāyata | he ṛtvijas tṛptyartham stutiṃ kurutā | kīdṛśa indraḥ | mahān guṇair adhikaḥ supāraḥ suṣṭhu karmaṇaḥ pūrayitā sunvato yajamānasya sakhā sakhivat priyaḥ || (The print has "kurutā" for "kuruta"; I give it as printed, noting that the sense — "make" — is not affected.)

Translation: "That Indra who is 'rāyaḥ avaniḥ' — the protector of wealth, or its master — to that Indra sing ('gāyata'). O priests, make praise for his satisfaction. What kind of Indra? 'Mahān' — greater by virtues; 'supāraḥ' — he who fulfils the rite well, the completer of the action; 'sunvataḥ sakhā' — the friend of the sacrificer who presses the Soma: dear as a friend."

Grammar within the Bhāṣya (characterized, sūtras kept): "Rāyaḥ" — the case-ending is acute after "ūṭh," "idam," "pad" and the like (ऊङिदम्पदाद्यप्पुम्रैद्युभ्यः, पा. ६-१-१७१); thus the genitive "ḥ" of "rai" ("rāyaḥ") is acute. "Avaniḥ" — "av" (to protect) in the long list of senses beginning "rakṣaṇa-gati-prīti-tṛpti-…" (as in the dhātupāṭha: "to protect, to go, to please, to satisfy, to enter, to hear, to command, to request, to make, to desire, to shine, to obtain, to embrace, to injure, to burn, to grow …"), with the Uṇādi अर्तिसृधृधम्यम्यश्यवितृभ्योऽनिः (उ. सू. २-१०३; read with the clearer printing on p. 134) the affix "ani"; the affix gives the accent. "Supāraḥ" — "pṝ pālana-pūraṇayoḥ" (to protect, to fill): the root with "ṇic"-ending, taken from the "kartari" (continued from पा. ३-१-६८) … "ac" (पचाद्यच्, पा. ३-१-१३४), "c"-marked, so end-acute (चितः, पा. ६-१-१६३). "Sunvataḥ" — शतुरनुमो नद्यजादी (पा. ६-१-१७३) — the case-ending after "śatṛ" without "num" is acute when a "nadī" or "ajādi" ending follows. "Sakhā" — समाने ख्यः सचोदात्तः (उ. सू. ४-१३६) with "iṇ"; the "y" is elided; "sa" is acute. "Tasmai" — अदिरित्यनुवृत्तौ त्यजितनियजिभ्यो डित् (उ. सू. १-१३१) the Uṇādi affix "ḍit" after "tan"; "ṭi"-elision (टेः); the affix accent; the prohibition of the case-ending accent (पा. ६-१-१८२). "Indrāya" — "indra" by "ran" (as before) is first-syllable acute; "karmaṇā yam abhipraiti sa sampradānam" (कर्मणा यमभिप्रैति स सम्प्रदानम्, पा. १-४-३२) — the fourth case, since by the statement क्रियाग्रहणं कर्तव्यम् (वा. पा. १-४-३२) the "kriyā" must be understood — "gāna-kriyā" (the act of singing) is the means by which it is reached, so Indra is the recipient (sampradāna) and gets the dative. ॥ १०॥

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

(O priests!) यः (yaḥ) — which Indra | रायः (rāyaḥ) — of the giver of riches | अवनिः (avaniḥ) — the protector, or the master | महान् (mahān) — one who is called "great" on account of the superabundance of qualities | सुपारः (supāraḥ) — one who brings the sacrificial and other rites to completion without hindrance | सुन्वतः (sunvataḥ) — (to the sacrificer) who has prepared the Soma-juice for (Indra) | सखा (sakhā) — one who is dear as a friend | तस्मै (tasmai) — such | इन्द्राय (indrāya) — for Indra (addressing Indra) | गायत (gāyata) — sing, with hymns of praise.

Page 131 — Rik 4.10: Bhāvārtha; English rendering; Special topics (opening) — the parallel Ṛk 8-32-13 and the sense of "avaniḥ"

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 8 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." English as printed. Reference-numbers in small Kannada numerals are marked [?]. The gloss on the parallel verse is mine, tentative.)

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

Indra is the protector or the master of riches, lordship and the like; he is endowed with great qualities; he fills up and makes complete — as if what is lacking or defective — the sacrificial and other rites; and he is exceedingly dear, like a friend, to the sacrificer who has prepared the Soma-juice, drawn out for Indra's pleasure, so that it is fit for drinking. O priests! Sing to such an Indra, with hymns of praise and with sāmans.

English Translation (printed in English in the source itself):

"Sing (to) that Indra who is protector (or lord) of wealth, who is great (with many virtues) the perfecter of good deeds, the friend of the worshipper."

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

There is another Ṛk, in the thirteenth Ṛk of the thirty-second sūkta of the eighth Maṇḍala, which uses the same words and says the same thing:

> यो रायोऽवनिर्महान्त्सुपारः सुन्वतः सखा । तमिन्द्रमभि गायत ॥ (ऋ. सं. ८-३२-१३) yo rāyo 'vanir mahān supāraḥ sunvataḥ sakhā | tam indram abhi gāyata || (ṛ. saṃ. 8-32-13) Gloss (mine): "Who is the protector of wealth, great, the good ferrier-across, the friend of the presser of Soma — to that Indra sing."

The ṛṣi of this Ṛk is Medhātithi Kāṇva. Between the Ṛk now in hand and this one there is no difference in the first and second pādas; only in the third, in place of the words "tasmā indrāya," this has "tam indram abhi"; and in meaning there is no difference. It is hard to say which of these two Ṛks is the older.

रायः (rāyaḥ) — "of wealth." अवनिः (avaniḥ) — The Bhāṣyakāra and Veṅkaṭamādhava explain this word as "rakṣakaḥ" — "protector," or "svāmī" — "master." Skandasvāmī gives, alongside this, another sense: "avaniḥ pṛthivīnāmaitat | āśrayatvasāmānyāt tv indre prayujyate | yathā pṛthivī sarvārthānām āśrayas tadvad āśraya ity arthaḥ" (अवनिः पृथिवीनामैतत् । आश्रयत्वसामान्यात्त्विन्द्रे प्रयुज्यते । यथा पृथिवी सर्वार्थानामाश्रयस्तद्वदाश्रय इत्यर्थः — "'Avaniḥ' is a name of the earth; it is applied to Indra on account of the common feature of being a support; the sense is that, as the earth is the support of all things, so he is the support"). That is, "avani" in the sense of "earth"; the word is used with reference to Indra; as the earth is the support of all wealth and other things, so too Indra is the support of wealth; that is, Indra is the giver of wealth and the rest. To explain it thus is, however, less fitting than Sāyaṇācārya's sense.

रायः and अवनिः together. — When the words "rāyaḥ" and "avaniḥ" are joined, it is the custom in the Ṛgveda Saṃhitā to write in the middle the figure "3" (which marks the duration of a "kampa" — a trembling of the voice) together with the svarita and anudātta marks. In the other Vedas no such pronunciation occurs. On this point … (continues on the next page)

Page 132 — Special topics on Rik 4.10 (continued): the "kampa" accent-mark; "mahān supāraḥ"; "supāraḥ"; Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (opening)

(Page header: "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 4." Sanskrit printed in Kannada script; the Sanskrit sentences here are technical and some letters are hard to read; [?] marks my uncertainty. English as printed.)

(Continuing:) …the evidence stands thus:

> ऋग्वेदे जात्यस्वरितात्परस्योदात्ते वा स्वरिते वा परे तस्य स्वरितस्योदात्तत्वानुदात्तत्वे स्पष्टमुच्चारणीये इति बोधयितुं तादृक्स्थले तत्स्वरस्यावृत्त्यादिबोधनायाङ्कान्लिख्यन्ते स च कंप इति व्यवह्रियते तत्र तत्र उच्चारणविशेषो वैदिकैः ॥ तस्यास्य कंपस्य अभिप्रायविशेषोऽत्र आनन्दतीर्थाचार्यैः श्लोकेन संगृह्यते । स इत्थं — कंपोऽशेषग्रहे क्वापि लज्जायां वा पुरातने । पृथक्त्वे धृष्यतायां वा हरिणाकर्षं हितोवितः [?] इति ॥ ṛgvede jātya-svaritāt parasyodātte vā svarite vā pare tasya svaritasyodāttatvānudāttatve spaṣṭam uccāraṇīye iti bodhayituṃ tādṛk-sthale tat-svarasyāvṛttyādi-bodhanāyāṅkān likhyante sa ca kaṃpa iti vyavahriyate tatra tatra uccāraṇa-viśeṣo vaidikaiḥ || tasyāsya kaṃpasya abhiprāya-viśeṣo 'tra ānandatīrthācāryaiḥ ślokena saṃgṛhyate | sa ittham — kaṃpo 'śeṣa-grahe kvāpi lajjāyāṃ vā purātane | pṛthaktve dhṛṣyatāyāṃ vā hariṇākarṣaṃ hito vitaḥ [?] iti || (Reading note: the two final words of the verse, "hito vitaḥ" or "hitovitaḥ," are as I read the small print; the verse is a quoted mnemonic and the end of it is not clear to me, so I give no translation of its last pāda.)

Translation: "In the Ṛgveda, when, after a 'jātya' svarita, an acute or a svarita follows, it is to be clearly pronounced that that svarita is both acute and unaccented; to indicate this, in such places numerals are written to indicate the repetition of that accent, and so on; and this is called 'kampa' ('trembling'); by the Vaidikas there is a special pronunciation here and there. The particular meaning of this 'kampa' is summed up in a verse by Ānandatīrtha-ācārya, thus: 'kaṃpa …' (the verse: 'the "kampa" is used in the case of … everything in general (aśeṣa-graha?), in some place, in shame, in the ancient, in distinctness, in boldness …')." (I give the sense of the verse only in outline, because its last words are not clear to me.)

The English quotation from Macdonell printed in the source explains this: "Rayah 3 Avanih: a peculiar way of marking the accent; the rule is that when an independent Svarita immediately precedes an Udatta it is accompanied by the sign of the numeral 3 if its vowel is long (and by 1 if it is short e.g. Apsv 1 Antah:) the figure being marked with both the Svarita and the Anudatta."

महान् + सुपारः = महान्त्सुपारः (mahān + supāraḥ = mahāntsupāraḥ) — In joining the words "mahān" and "supāraḥ" in the saṃhitā text, it is the custom to insert a "t" after the "n" and to pronounce the following "s": that is, "n + su = n + t + su = ntsu." The Śaunakas, in their Ṛgveda-prātiśākhya (Ṛ. Prā. 4-15), say this kind of pronunciation was intended to distinguish the sense (abhiprāya-bheda?) [as the print says]; it is used so that the letters may be pronounced clearly, without difficulty.

सुपारः (supāraḥ) — "One who reaches the bank; who reaches the end; who brings to a successful end." The Bhāṣyakāra has supplied the word "karmaṇaḥ" ("of the rite") and thus explained it. Western scholars explain this word as "carrying well across (to the other bank)," "leading to Success" (English as printed).

तस्मा इन्द्राय गायत (tasmā indrāya gāyata) — This third pāda occurs also as the third pāda of the Ṛks Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-5-4 and Atharvaveda 20-69-2.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (Kannada; characterized, sūtras kept) "Yaḥ" — त्यजितनियजिभ्यो डित् (उ. सू. १-१२९ [as printed]) — the affix "ḍit" after the three roots "tyaj hānau" (to abandon), "tan vistāre" (to stretch) and "yaj devapūjādau" (to worship): the "ādi"-affix is "ḍit," so the "ṭi" of the root is elided and "yad" results: "ya(j) + ad" → "yad"; the word is first-syllable acute by the affix accent; in the view that the Uṇādi words are derived, the stem is end-acute. After it, the first-case singular "su," and by त्यदादीनामः (पा. ७-१-१०२ [as printed]) "a" replaces the final "d": "ya + a + su," and अतो गुणे (पा. ६-१-९७) combines the two "a"s, with "ru" for the "s" and visarga ("yaḥ") … (continues on the next page)

Pages 133–134 — Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā for Rik 4.10 (Kannada) — characterized

(Page headers: p. 133 "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 8 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā"; p. 134 "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā · Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 4." These two pages are pure Pāṇinian derivation in Kannada prose*, rendering the grammar of the Sanskrit on p. 130 and adding a long argument about the sandhi and accent of "yo rāyo 'vaniḥ." They do not bear on the sense of the Rik (pp. 130–131). Per the standing convention they are* characterized in outline, not translated line by line*; every sūtra named is kept in three layers, with numbers as I read them in small Kannada numerals, [?] where uncertain.)*

p. 133. - "Yaḥ" (concluding from p. 132) — "ya + a + su" → one "a" by अतो गुणे (पा. ६-१-९४); ससजुषो रुः (पा. ८-२-६६) substitutes "ru" for "s"; खरवसानयोर्विसर्जनीयः (पा. ८-३-१५) gives the visarga → "yaḥ." The "ya" is acute (the vowel of the affix "ḍit" being acute, and the "d" it replaced was unaccented, the "a" that comes in its place by "pararūpa" is unaccented, so by स्थानिवद्भाव the result should be a svarita; but the special rule एकादेश उदात्तेनोदात्तः (पा. ८-२-५) prescribes that a single substitute of an acute and an unaccented is acute) — so "yaḥ" is acute. - "Yo rāyaḥ" — if "yaḥ" is joined with "rāyaḥ" in the saṃhitā, the rule पूर्वत्रासिद्धम् (पा. ८-२-१) makes the "tripādī" operation (the visarga, from the third quarter of the eighth chapter) “asiddha” with respect to the earlier “sapādasaptādhyāyī” operations: “ru” is not seen as having become “u”; hence the visarga-substitution is treated as not yet having taken place and the form is as if “yar + rāyaḥ.” Even though “ru” is in the third quarter, the print argues that it is not “asiddha” in the rule that makes “ru” into “u” (रोरुत्व —— the “u”-substitute is prescribed on the ground of the very “ru”); so हशि च (पा. ६-१-११४) turns “ru” into “u” before a “haś” letter → “ya + u + rāyaḥ”; आद्गुणः (पा. ६-१-८७) → “yo.” The “u” that comes in the place of the consonant is unaccented; by guṇa, the resulting “o” in the place of the acute and the unaccented is acute by the same एकादेश उदात्तेनोदात्तः; thus “yo” is acute. - “Rāyaḥ” — रातेर्डैः (उ. सू. २-२२५ [?]): after “rā dāne” (to give) the affix “dai”; “ḍ” is an “it” (चुटू, पा. १-३-७), and its elision leaves “ai”; “ṭi”-elision of the root’s “ā” (टेः) → “r + ai” = “rai”; the stem is end-acute by the affix’s accent. The sixth-case singular “jas/ṅas” → “rai + as”; एचोऽयवायावः (पा. ६-१-७८) gives “ay” for “ai” → “rāy-as,” then “ru” and visarga → “rāyaḥ.” The case-ending is unaccented by अनुदात्तौ सुप्पितौ (पा. ३-१-४), so the “ā” of “rā,” being acute by the affix’s accent, would stand; but ऊडिदम्पदाद्यप्पुम्रैद्युभ्यः (पा. ६-१-१७१) makes the case-ending (non-sarvanāmasthāna) acute after “rai,” so the sixth-case ending of “rāyaḥ” is acute; hence “rāyaḥ” is end-acute. When “rāyaḥ” is joined with “avaniḥ” in the saṃhitā, the “tripādī” visarga is “asiddha,” and “rāyas + avaniḥ”: ससजुषो रुः (पा. ८-२-६६) gives “ru,” and then अतो रोरप्लुतादप्लुते (पा. ६-१-११३) turns the “ru” after a short “a” into “u” before a short “a” → “rāya + u + avaniḥ” …

p. 134. (Continuing:) …the “u” has taken the place of a consonant, and by स्थानिवद्भाव is unaccented (“vyañjanam anudāttam” — the rule that consonants are unaccented, which must not be forgotten). Then “rāya + u” — two “a/u” vowels — takes guṇa and becomes “o”: this “o” is in the place of the acute “a” of “rāya” and the unaccented “u,” and so by स्थानिवद्भाव should be svarita; but the special rule एकादेश उदात्तेनोदात्तः makes it acute. For “rāyo ’vaniḥ” एङः पदान्तादति (पा. ६-१-१०९) — after a pada-final “e/o” a following short “a” is absorbed, the earlier form remaining — gives “o” with the “a” of “avaniḥ” absorbed (ओ + अ → ओऽ), the avagraha sign. This “o” arises in the place of the acute and the unaccented; hence a svarita would arise by sthānivadbhāva; but by the special rule an acute is prescribed. Then comes the key point of the page: स्वरितो वानुदात्ते पदादौ (पा. ८-२-६) — when an unaccented vowel at the beginning of a pada follows an acute, the single substitute of the acute and unaccented may optionally be a svarita — so a svarita arises. This svarita is of the “jātya” kind … (the “kampa” argument): when an acute or unaccented vowel follows a svarita of this type, the hearing of the acute and unaccented parts is not clear unless the one letter is repeated; so, to show the acute with one letter and the unaccented with the repeated one, the Vaidikas write the numeral “3” after the syllable — which they call “kampa” (cf. p. 132). Hence the figure “3” is written after the “o” of “rāyo ’vaniḥ”; “3” signifies the svarita as explained. - “Avaniḥ” — “av” (to protect), whose senses the dhātupāṭha lists at length (“rakṣaṇa, gati, prīti, tṛpti, avagama, praveśa, śravaṇa, svāmy-artha, yācana, kriyecchā-dīpti, vāpty-āliṅgana-hiṃsādāna-bhāva-vṛddhi” — as printed: अव रक्षणगतिप्रीतितृप्त्यवगमप्रवेशश्रवणस्वाम्यर्थयाचनक्रियेच्छादीप्त्यवाप्त्यालिङ्गनहिंसादानभावृद्धिषु); after it the affix “ani” by the Uṇādi अर्तिसृधृधम्यम्यश्यवितृभ्योऽनिः (उ. सू. २-२६० [as printed]; the print glosses the eight roots: “ṛ gatau,” “sṛ gatau,” “dhṛñ dhāraṇe,” “dhami,” “ama gatau,” “aśa bhojane,” “ava rakṣaṇe,” “tṝ plavana-taraṇayoḥ”) — “av” takes “ani” → “avani”; by आद्युदात्तश्च (पा. ३-१-३) the affix’s first syllable is acute. - “Supāraḥ” — “pṝ pālana-pūraṇayoḥ” (to protect, to fill); after it “ṇic”; by अचो ञ्णिति (पा. ७-२-११५) vṛddhi of the vowel-final stem before a “ñ/ṇ”-marked affix → “pāri”; then the “ac” of the “nandi-grahi-pacādi” class (नन्दिग्रहिपचादिभ्यो ल्युणिन्यचः, पा. ३-१-१३४); णेरनिटि (पा. ६-४-५१) the “ṇi” is elided; चितः (पा. ६-१-१६३) end-acute. - “Sunvataḥ” — शतुरनुमो नद्यजादी (पा. ६-१-१७३) — the “num” augment …(continues on the next page)

Page 135 — Rik 4.10 grammar concluded; end of Sūkta 4

(Page header: “Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 8 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā.” Grammar characterized, sūtras kept; numbers as I read them.)

“Sunvataḥ” (concluding from p. 134) — if the “śatṛ” affix, with its “num” augment, comes at the end and is end-acute, the case-ending “ṅīp”-type and the “ajādi” “śas”-class endings after it are acute (शतुरनुमो नद्यजादी, पा. ६-१-१७३ [print reads “6-1-123”?]), so the sixth-case singular ending after “sunvat” is acute. “Sakhā” — समाने ख्यः (उ. सू. ४-१३६, as clearly printed on p. 130) with “iṇ” after “khyā” with “samāna” as the upapada — the affix is “ḍit,” so “ṭi” is elided and by that connection “y” is elided; “samāna” gets “sa” and the accent (see Rik 3.4’s discussion on p. 107). “Tasmai” — त्यजितनियजिभ्यो डित् (उ. सू. १-१२९ [as printed]) the affix “ad” after “tyaj,” “tan,” “yaj”: from “tan vistāre” “tan + ad,” “ḍit,” “ṭi”-elision: “t + ad” = “tad,” which by the affix is first-syllable acute; then the fourth-case singular “ṅe,” with त्यदादीनामः (पा. ७-१-१०२ [as printed]) “a” for the final; अतो गुणे (पा. ६-१-९७) the pararūpa: “ta + a”; the “ā” resulting is acute by एकादेश उदात्तेनोदात्तः (पा. ८-२-५); then सर्वनाम्नः स्मै (पा. ७-१-१४) puts “smai” for “ṅe” after a pronoun ending in short “a” → “tasmai”; the case-ending “smai” is acute by सावेकाचस्तृतीयादिर्विभक्तिः (पा. ६-१-१६८) when a one-vowel stem is followed by “su”…; but because “tad” in the first-case singular and with the affix “su” following ends in “a,” न गोश्वन्साववर्णराडङ्क्रुङ्कृद्भ्यः (पा. ६-१-१८२) — the endings after “go,” “śvan,” “sau,” words ending in “a/ā,” “rāṭ,” “aṅ,” “kruñ” and “kṛt”-stems are not acute — blocks the acute accent of the ending. “Indrāya” — “indra” is formed with the affix “ran” by the Uṇādi ऋज्रेन्द्राग्रवज्रविप्र… (उ. सू. १८६ [as printed]); “n”-marked, so first-syllable acute; कर्मणा यमभिप्रैति स सम्प्रदानम् (पा. १-४-३२) — “he whom the agent intends by the action is the sampradāna” — and the Mahābhāṣya’s statement on that sūtra, क्रियाग्रहणं कर्तव्यम् (पा. म. १-४-३२) — the word “kriyā” must be added: the word that tells the thing aimed at by the action takes the name “sampradāna” — so Indra, who denotes the object aimed at by the act of singing, is the sampradāna; चतुर्थी सम्प्रदाने (पा. २-३-१३) — the fourth case after a stem having the sense of an unexpressed sampradāna — gives “indrāya.” ॥१०॥

ಈ ಎನೇ ಸೂಕ್ತವು ಸಮಾಪ್ತವು — ī 4ne sūktavu samāptavu — “This fourth sūkta is complete.”

ಇಲ್ಲಿಗೆ ಪ್ರಥಮ ಮಂಡಲದಲ್ಲಿ ಎನೆಯ ಸೂಕ್ತವೂ ಪ್ರಥಮಾಷ್ಟಕ ಪ್ರಥಮಾಧ್ಯಾಯದಲ್ಲಿ ಎನೆಯ ವರ್ಗವೂ ಮುಗಿದುದು — illige prathama maṇḍaladalli 4neya sūktavū prathamāṣṭaka prathamādhyāyadalli 8neya vargavū mugidudu — “Here the fourth sūkta in the first Maṇḍala, and the eighth varga in the first Adhyāya of the first Aṣṭaka, are finished.” (The numerals in this closing note are printed in small Kannada digits; I read them as “4” and “8,” and as the next page begins “the fifth sūkta,” the “4” is secure. The “8” for the varga is less so, and it sits oddly with the “seventh varga” notes I recorded at pp. 103 and 111 — both are best-effort readings and should be re-checked on the page.)

Sūkta 5 — “ā tvetā ni ṣīdata”

Page 136 — Sūkta 5: title; Sāyaṇa’s introduction; the Anuvāda

(Page header: “Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 5.” Sanskrit printed in Kannada script, rendered letter by letter into Devanagari/IAST; [?] where unclear. Heading printed: “ // ಓಮ್ // —— ಐದನೆಯ ಸೂಕ್ತವು (the fifth sūkta)”.)

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

> आ त्वेति द्वितीयं सूक्तं दशर्चम् । सुरूपकृत्नुं दशेत्यनुवृत्त्या वा तु युञ्जन्तीत्येवमनुक्रान्तत्वात् । ऋषिच्छन्दोदेवताविनियोगाः पूर्ववत् । विशेषविनियोगस्तु । अतिरात्रे तृतीयपर्याये मैत्रावरुणशस्त्रे स्तोत्रियोऽयं तृचः । अतिरात्रे पर्यायाणामिति खण्डे आ त्वेता नि षीदत । आ. ६-४ । इत्युक्तत्वात् ॥ ā tveti dvitīyaṃ sūktaṃ daśarcam | surūpakṛtnuṃ daśety anuvṛttyā vā tu yuñjantīty evam anukrāntatvāt | ṛṣi-cchando-devatā-viniyogāḥ pūrvavat | viśeṣa-viniyogas tu | atirātre tṛtīya-paryāye maitrāvaruṇa-śastre stotriyo ’yaṃ tṛcaḥ | atirātre paryāyāṇām iti khaṇḍe ā tvetā ni ṣīdata | ā. 6-4 | ity uktatvāt ||

Translation: “‘Ā tvā…’ — this second sūkta (of the anuvāka) is of ten Ṛks, because it is so listed by the Anukramaṇī: ‘surūpakṛtnuṃ daśa,’ by continuation (of the formula), and then ‘yuñjanti…’ (for the next one). The ṛṣi, metre, deity and the general application are as before. The special application is: in the Atirātra, in the third round (paryāya), this tṛca (the first three Ṛks) is the stotriya of the Maitrāvaruṇa-śastra; this is stated in the Sūtra (Āśvalāyana, Śrauta-sūtra 6-4), in the section ‘atirātre paryāyāṇām’: ‘ā tvetā ni ṣīdata.’” (Reading notes: (i) the print’s first word reads “ā tveti” — the quotation of the opening words “ā tvetā”; (ii) the Sūtra reference “6-4” is confirmed from the better scan.)

॥ Anuvādaḥ ॥ (Kannada commentary, translated)

The sūkta “ā tvetā niṣīdata” is the second sūkta of the second Anuvāka of the first Maṇḍala. Counted from the beginning of the Maṇḍala, it is the fifth. In this sūkta there are ten Ṛks. As said before, in this second Anuvāka there are four sūktas, each of ten Ṛks. The ṛṣi, deity and metre are the same as in the preceding sūkta. The special application of this sūkta: in the sacrifice called Atirātra, in the third paryāya, when the Hotṛ named Maitrāvaruṇa recites the śastra-mantras, the three Ṛks beginning “ā tvetā niṣīdata” are to be recited.

In the Anuvāda of the preceding sūkta “surūpakṛtnum ūtaye,” it was necessary to give an explanation of the special sacrifices — Abhiplava-ṣaḍaha, Pṛṣṭhya-ṣaḍaha, Mahāvrata, Atirātra — and of the special terms that must be explained in connection with the application of this sūkta — stoma, viṣṭuti, paryāya and others; without them the meaning of the application would not be clear. Though these particulars about sacrifice belong chiefly to the Yajurveda, they have to be explained here briefly, as the context requires. The nature of each sacrifice and the order of performing it we shall describe at length in the introduction (pūrva-pīṭhikā) to the Yajurveda Saṃhitā, which will be printed in due course. Only what concerns the present subject is given here, very briefly (in the form of a summary) —

Among the Soma-sacrifices, there are seven chief varieties: Agniṣṭoma, Atyagniṣṭoma, Ukthya, Ṣoḍaśī, Atirātra, Aptoryāma and Vājapeya, as was said earlier (Part 1, p. 667). Of these seven Soma-sacrifices the Agniṣṭoma is the "prakṛti" — the original model. The other six are like the Agniṣṭoma, but include some differences.

Page 137 — The Abhiplava-ṣaḍaha and Pṛṣṭhya-ṣaḍaha; the Stoma (opening)

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 8 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." The Kannada numerals in the permutation list at the foot of the page are printed in Kannada digits and are given here in Arabic as I read them.)

अभिप्लवषडह (abhiplava-ṣaḍaha), पृष्ठ्यषडह (pṛṣṭhya-ṣaḍaha) — These sacrifices are performed over six days, and so are indicated by the word "ṣaḷaha" (six-day). Hence "ṣaḷaha-yāga" means a particular Soma-sacrifice that is to be performed on six days. The six-day Soma-sacrifice is of two kinds, Abhiplava and Pṛṣṭhya. Āśvalāyana states their characteristics: "ubhayato jyotiḥ ṣaḷahaḥ, antarato jyotiḥ ṣaḷahaḥ" (उभयतो ज्योतिः षळहः, अन्तरतो ज्योतिः षळहः — "a ṣaḷaha with the 'light' at both ends; a ṣaḷaha with the 'light' within"). That is: in the six-day sacrifice, the rites of the first and last days are done like the Agniṣṭoma; and the rites of the remaining days — the third, fourth, fifth and sixth [as printed; I read "third … sixth," though a six-day rite has its middle days second to fifth — the print should be re-checked] — are done like the Ukthya; this Soma-sacrifice is called Abhiplava-ṣaḍaha. Since the Agniṣṭoma-light (jyotis) is at the beginning and at the end of this sacrifice, it is called "ubhayato-jyotiḥ." In the same way, in a six-day Soma-sacrifice in which the rites of the first and fourth days are like the Agniṣṭoma, and those of the second, third, fifth and sixth days are like the Ukthya, the special Soma-sacrifice is called Pṛṣṭhya-ṣaḍaha. The middle day of this sacrifice — that is, the fourth day — being like the Agniṣṭoma, it is also called "antarato-jyotiḥ."

In the Abhiplava-ṣaḍaha the odd days — the first, third and fifth — in the midday pressings (at the time when the Soma-juice is drawn out in the midday), the priests such as the Udgātṛ praise (the deities) with the sāman-chants called Rathantara, and so these days are called Rathantara-pṛṣṭha. Likewise the even days — the second, fourth and sixth — are called Bṛhat-pṛṣṭha, because the sāman called Bṛhat is used. From the third day onwards, wherever the Pṛṣṭhya-stotras are recited every day, special sāman-mantras called Vairūpa, Vairāja, Śākvara and Raivata are sung in their place [as printed: "pratikriyā (substitute)"]. At that time the priests of the Hotṛ's group recite, in accordance with the sāman-chant, certain Ṛks called stoma. The description of the stoma is as follows:

> एकं साम तृचे क्रियते । तस्य च तृचस्य आवृत्त्या ऋचां संख्या वर्धनीया भवति यो स्तोमशब्देनोच्यत इति ॥ ekaṃ sāma tṛce kriyate | tasya ca tṛcasya āvṛttyā ṛcāṃ saṃkhyā vardhanīyā bhavati yo stoma-śabdenocyata iti ||

Translation: "'One sāman is made (sung) on a tṛca; and by repeating that tṛca the number of Ṛks is to be increased: this (increased number) is what is called by the word "stoma."'" (Reading note: the second line's "yo" for the neuter-agreeing "yat" is as printed, and I give it so; the source of the verse is not named on the page.)

"Tṛca" means three Ṛks. These three Ṛks must set forth one and the same deity. Such Ṛks may be increased into many Ṛks, in various ways, by differences of arrangement (sthāna-bheda) and by reciting each Ṛk more than once. For example: a tṛca has Ṛks 1, 2, 3. These, by arrangements of order —

> 1, 2, 3; 3, 2, 1; 1, 3, 2; 2, 1, 3; 2, 3, 1; 3, 1, 2 — and so on, by differences of order, and also
> … (continues on the next page)

Page 138 — The Stoma: paryāya, viṣṭuti; the nine stomas and their Ṛk-counts

(Page header: "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā · Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 5." The numerals are printed in Kannada digits; they are given here in Arabic as read, and each Ṛk-count agrees with the stoma's name (e.g. pañcadaśa = 15), which confirms the reading. The stoma and viṣṭuti terms are Sanskrit, given in three layers where they stand as citations.)

(Continuing the permutations from p. 137:) …

> 1, 1, 1, 2, 3; 1, 2, 2, 2, 3; 1, 2, 3, 3, 3 — and so on, by repetitions of the Ṛks beyond (a single) recitation, when the three Ṛks are recited, they become many Ṛks. In this way, to recite the three Ṛks of a tṛca in some one order — that is, as 1, 2, 3, or as 1, 2, 3, 3, 3 and so on — is called a paryāya (a "round"). When there are three such rounds, they form one viṣṭuti ("division"). Each stoma has viṣṭutis of this kind, with different names. Therefore the recitation of the tṛca of three Ṛks, in various orders in three paryāyas, is what is called a stoma. Among the stomas there are nine kinds: trivṛt, pañcadaśa, saptadaśa, ekaviṃśa, triṇava, trayastriṃśa, caturviṃśa, catuścatvāriṃśa, aṣṭācatvāriṃśa (त्रिवृत्, पञ्चदशः, सप्तदशः, एकविंशः, त्रिणवः, त्रयस्त्रिंशः, चतुर्विंशः, चतुश्चत्वारिंशः, अष्टाचत्वारिंशः — trivṛt, pañcadaśaḥ, saptadaśaḥ, ekaviṃśaḥ, triṇavaḥ, trayastriṃśaḥ, caturviṃśaḥ, catuścatvāriṃśaḥ, aṣṭācatvāriṃśaḥ; "threefold, fifteenfold, seventeenfold, twenty-one-fold, 'thrice-nine,' thirty-three-fold, twenty-four-fold, forty-four-fold, forty-eight-fold").

In the trivṛt stoma the tṛca is recited three times in different orders; hence this stoma is called "trivṛt," and the number of Ṛks of the trivṛt stoma, over three paryāyas, is 9. In the pañcadaśa and the other stomas, fifteen or more Ṛks are recited over three paryāyas, according to each stoma's name: in the pañcadaśa stoma there are 15 Ṛks over three paryāyas; in the saptadaśa stoma 17; and so on. The stomas are thus named after their number of Ṛks. In each paryāya there is no rule that the number of Ṛks must be the same; only over the three paryāyas must the stated number of Ṛks be found in the viṣṭutis of each stoma. The details are as follows:

| No. | Stoma | Ṛks over three paryāyas |
|---|---|---|
| (1) | trivṛt-stoma (त्रिवृत्स्तोम, trivṛt-stoma) | 9 |
| (2) | pañcadaśa-stoma (पञ्चदशस्तोम, pañcadaśa-stoma) | 15 |
| (3) | saptadaśa-stoma (सप्तदशस्तोम, saptadaśa-stoma) | 17 |
| (4) | ekaviṃśa-stoma | 21 |

| No. | Stoma | Ṛks over three paryāyas |
|---|---|---|
| | (एकविंशस्तोम, ekaviṃśa-stoma) | |
| (5) | triṇava-stoma (त्रिणवस्तोम, triṇava-stoma) | 27 |
| (6) | trayastriṃśa-stoma (त्रयस्त्रिंशस्तोम, trayastriṃśa-stoma) | 33 |
| (7) | caturviṃśa-stoma (चतुर्विंशस्तोम, caturviṃśa-stoma) | 24 |
| (8) | catuścatvāriṃśa-stoma (चतुश्चत्वारिंशस्तोम, catuścatvāriṃśa-stoma) | 44 |
| (9) | aṣṭācatvāriṃśa-stoma (अष्टाचत्वारिंशस्तोम, aṣṭācatvāriṃśa-stoma) | 48 |

In this way the number of Ṛks of the nine stomas corresponds to each stoma's name. This number is to be applied to each viṣṭuti within the stoma. That is, the trivṛt stoma … (continues on the next page)

Page 139 — The viṣṭutis of each stoma (the list of thirty)

(Correction note: on pp. 136–139 I first wrote this technical term as "vispṛti" / "vipṛti [?]"; the Kannada print on pp. 138–140 reads ವಿಷ್ಟುತಿ, i.e. viṣṭuti*, and the text of those pages has been corrected in place to that spelling.)*

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 8 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." The viṣṭuti names are Sanskrit, printed in Kannada script, and are rendered in all three layers (Devanagari, IAST, with the Kannada's own gloss where it gives one). Where a name is uncertain in the print I mark it [?]; I translate no name that the source does not itself explain.)

(Continuing:) …the trivṛt stoma has three viṣṭutis, and so it is to be understood that each viṣṭuti has 9 Ṛks over its three paryāyas; the three viṣṭutis together make not 9 but 27 Ṛks, and so on. (The Ṛk-figure "27" is the product the sentence implies, 3 × 9; the print's numeral is small and I give it with [?].)

It was said earlier that each stoma has many viṣṭutis. Their list is given below.

I. For the trivṛt stoma — three viṣṭutis: (1) उद्यती (udyatī), (2) परिवर्तिनी (parivartinī), (3) कुलायिनी (kulāyinī).

II. For the pañcadaśa stoma — three viṣṭutis: (1) पञ्चपञ्चिनी (pañcapañcinī), (2) उद्यती प्रथमा (udyatī prathamā), (3) उद्यती द्वितीया (udyatī dvitīyā).

III. For the saptadaśa stoma — seven viṣṭutis: (1) दशसप्ता प्रथमा (daśasaptā prathamā), (2) दशसप्ता द्वितीया (daśasaptā dvitīyā), (3) सप्तस्थिता प्रथमा (saptasthitā prathamā), (4) सप्तस्थिता द्वितीया (saptasthitā dvitīyā), (5) अनामिका (anāmikā), (6) उद्यती (udyatī), (7) भस्त्रा (bhastrā).

IV. For the ekaviṃśa stoma — four viṣṭutis: (1) सप्तसप्तिनी (saptasaptinī), (2) उद्यती (udyatī), (3) प्रतिष्टुतिः (pratiṣṭutiḥ [?]), (4) सूर्मी (sūrmī [?]).

V. For the triṇava stoma — two viṣṭutis: (1) प्रतिष्ठिता (pratiṣṭhitā), (2) उद्यती (udyatī).

VI. For the trayastriṃśa stoma — five viṣṭutis: (1) समत्र्यंशा (samatryaṃśā), (2) नेदीयस्संक्रमा (nedīyassaṃkramā), (3) उद्यती (udyatī), (4) प्रत्यवरोहिणी (pratyavarohiṇī), (5) अन्तिमा (antimā).

VII. For the caturviṃśa stoma — it has one viṣṭuti only.

VIII. For the catuścatvāriṃśa stoma — three viṣṭutis: (1) प्रथमा (prathamā), (2) निर्मध्या (nirmadhyā), (3) तृतीया (tṛtīyā).

IX. For the aṣṭācatvāriṃśa stoma — two viṣṭutis: (1) प्रथमा (prathamā), (2) नेदीयस्संक्रमा (nedīyassaṃkramā).

In all, the nine stomas have thirty viṣṭutis (3 + 3 + 7 + 4 + 2 + 5 + 1 + 3 + 2 = 30, which agrees with the source's own total).

(Note: the print's spellings of the viṣṭuti names — e.g. "samatryaṃśā," "pratyavarohiṇī," "nedīyassaṃkramā" — are given as I read them; they are technical names whose meaning the source does not explain on this page, and I give no translation of them.)

Page 140 — The trivṛt stoma: the viṣṭuti "udyatī"

(Page header: "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā · Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 5." Heading printed: "ತ್ರಿವೃತ್ತ್ವೊ ೀಮದ ವಿವರಣೆಯು" — "Explanation of the trivṛt stoma." The Sanskrit quotation is printed in Kannada script; rendered in three layers.)

त्रिवृत्स्तोमस्य विवरणम् (trivṛt-stomasya vivaraṇam) — Now, taking as examples the order of the three viṣṭutis of the trivṛt stoma — udyatī, parivartinī, kulāyinī — and the order of the viṣṭuti called udyatī of the pañcadaśa stoma, the orders of the viṣṭutis of the nine stomas, trivṛt and the rest, will be explained, giving (only) the numbers of the Ṛks of the tṛca in the three paryāyas. The order of reciting the viṣṭuti udyatī of the trivṛt stoma is thus stated in the Tāṇḍya-brāhmaṇa of the Sāmaveda:

> तिसृभ्यो हिंकरोति स पराचीभिः । तिसृभ्यो हिंकरोति स पराचीभिः । तिसृभ्यो हिंकरोति स पराचीभिरुद्यती त्रिवृतो विष्टुतिरिति । tisṛbhyo hiṃkaroti sa parācībhiḥ | tisṛbhyo hiṃkaroti sa parācībhiḥ | tisṛbhyo hiṃkaroti sa parācībhir udyatī trivṛto viṣṭutir iti |

Translation (mine, following the Kannada gloss that comes next): "'He makes the hiṃkāra on the three (Ṛks)': thus 'with the parācī (ones)'; (said) three times; 'the udyatī is the viṣṭuti of the trivṛt.'" (The source does not name the book's section and I do not add one. The word "parācībhiḥ" is explained by the Kannada as "in the order that is in the Veda.")

The sense: “tisṛbhyo hiṃkaroti” means “the Udgātṛ chants the three Ṛks of the tṛca.” “Parācībhiḥ” means “in the order that is in the Veda.” Since “tisṛbhyo hiṃkaroti parācībhiḥ” is said three times, the meaning is that the three Ṛks are to be recited in the three paryāyas in the order that is in the Veda —

| Paryāya | Ṛks |
|---|---|
| first paryāya | 1, 2, 3 |
| second paryāya | 1, 2, 3 |
| third paryāya | 1, 2, 3 |

If the three Ṛks are recited thus in all three paryāyas, this is the order of the viṣṭuti called udyatī of the trivṛt stoma.

In the present sūkta “ā tvetā niṣīdata,” the first three Ṛks form one tṛca. If it is recited in the order of the udyatī viṣṭuti of the trivṛt stoma, it is as follows:

(1) आ त्वेता नि षीदत ॥१॥ (ā tvetā ni ṣīdata)

(2) पुरूतमं पुरूणाम् ॥२॥ (purūtamaṃ purūṇām)

(3) स घा नो योग आभुवत् ॥३॥ (sa ghā no yoga ābhuvat) (Translation of the three opening phrases, mine and tentative — the source does not translate them on this page: “Come, sit down” / “the most (powerful) of the many” / “may he, indeed, be ours in union.”)

This is the first paryāya; the second and third paryāyas are in the same way. If the tṛca is recited in this manner in all three paryāyas, it is the viṣṭuti called udyatī of the trivṛt stoma.

Page 141 — The trivṛt stoma: the viṣṭutis “parivartinī” and “kulāyinī” (opening)

(Page header: “Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 8 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā.” The Sanskrit quotations are printed in Kannada script; rendered in three layers. A few spellings in the print look irregular and are marked.)

The order of the viṣṭuti “parivartinī” of the same stoma:

> द्वितीया परिवर्तिनी विष्टुतिः । आवर्तनीयेतृचस्यानावृत्तरूपेण सकृत्प्राप्ते प्रथमः पर्यायः ॥ तथैव पुनः प्राप्ते द्वितीयः ॥ तथैव पुनः प्राप्ते तृतीयः पर्यायः ॥ इति ॥ dvitīyā parivartinī viṣṭutiḥ | āvartanīyetṛcasyānāvṛtta-rūpeṇa sakṛt-prāpte prathamaḥ paryāyaḥ || tathaiva punaḥ prāpte dvitīyaḥ || tathaiva punaḥ prāpte tṛtīyaḥ paryāyaḥ || iti || (Reading note: “āvartanīyetṛcasya” is printed as one run-on word; the sense — “of the tṛca that is to be repeated” — is clear, and I do not split it further.)

Translation (mine, following the Kannada gloss): “The second viṣṭuti is the ‘parivartinī.’ When the tṛca that is to be recited is obtained once in its not-repeated form, that is the first paryāya; when it is obtained again in the same way, the second; when again in the same way, the third paryāya.”

That is: in these two parivartinī viṣṭutis, the Ṛks of the tṛca are to be recited in the reverse order, from the last to the first — in the order 3, 2, 1:

| Paryāya | Ṛks |
|---|---|
| first paryāya | 3, 2, 1 |
| second paryāya | 3, 2, 1 |
| third paryāya | 3, 2, 1 |

Example —

(1) स घा नो योग आभुवत् … ॥३॥ (sa ghā no yoga ābhuvat — the 3rd Ṛk)
(2) पुरूतमं पुरूणाम् … ॥२॥ (purūtamaṃ purūṇām — the 2nd Ṛk)
(3) आ त्वेता नि षीदत … ॥१॥ (ā tvetā ni ṣīdata — the 1st Ṛk)

In this parivartinī viṣṭuti, too, the three paryāyas are of one and the same kind.

Now we shall state the order of the third viṣṭuti of the same trivṛt stoma, the kulāyinī:

> तिसृभ्यो हिंकरोति स पराचीभिः ॥ तिसृभ्यो हिंकरोति यो मध्यमा सा प्रथमा, योत्तमा सा मध्यमा ॥ तिसृभ्यो हिंकरोति योत्तमा सा प्रथमा, यो प्रथमा सा मध्यमा, यो मध्यमा सोत्तमा ॥ इति ॥ tisṛbhyo hiṃkaroti sa parācībhiḥ || tisṛbhyo hiṃkaroti yo madhyamā sā prathamā, yottamā sā madhyamā || tisṛbhyo hiṃkaroti yottamā sā prathamā, yo prathamā sā madhyamā, yo madhyamā sottamā || iti || (Reading note: the print has "yo" where I would expect the feminine "yā" before "madhyamā," "uttamā" and "prathamā"; I transcribe it as printed and do not correct it.)

Translation (mine, following the Kannada gloss): "'He makes the hiṃkāra on the three — in the parācī (order).' 'He makes the hiṃkāra on the three: the middle one becomes the first, the last becomes the middle.' 'He makes the hiṃkāra on the three: the last becomes the first, the first becomes the middle, the middle becomes the last.'"

The sense:

In the first paryāya — "tisṛbhyo hiṃkaroti sa parācībhiḥ": that is, the Ṛks of the tṛca are recited in the order of the Veda, i.e. as 1, 2, 3. For example —

(1) आत्वेता नि षीदत … ॥१ नेयु ऋक्कु॥ (ā tvetā ni ṣīdata — Ṛk 1)
(2) पुरूतमं पुरूणाम् … ॥२॥ (purūtamaṃ purūṇām — Ṛk 2)
(3) स घा नो योग आभुवत् … ॥३॥ (sa ghā no yoga ābhuvat — Ṛk 3)

In the second paryāya — "tisṛbhyo hiṃkaroti yo madhyamā sā prathamā, yottamā sā madhyamā": in the second paryāya the middle (2nd) Ṛk of the tṛca is recited first, and the last (3rd) Ṛk … (continues on the next page)

Page 142 — The viṣṭuti "kulāyinī" concluded; the pañcadaśa stoma: the viṣṭuti "udyatī" (opening)

(Page header: "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā · Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 5." Heading printed: "ಪಂಚದಶಸ್ತೋಮದ ವಿವರಣೆಯು" — "Explanation of the pañcadaśa stoma." The Ṛk-numbers in the lists are printed in Kannada digits and are given as 1, 2, 3.)

(Continuing the second paryāya of the kulāyinī, from p. 141:) …and the last (3rd) Ṛk must be recited at the middle, and the first (1st) Ṛk at the end — so that the order is 2, 3, 1. For example —

(1) पुरूतमं पुरूणाम् … ॥२॥ (purūtamaṃ purūṇām — Ṛk 2)
(2) स घा नो योग आभुवत् … ॥३॥ (sa ghā no yoga ābhuvat — Ṛk 3)
(3) आ त्वेता नि षीदत … ॥१॥ (ā tvetā ni ṣīdata — Ṛk 1)

(The source's summary of the second paryāya here is slightly compressed — "the middle … first; the last … middle," following the Brāhmaṇa's words — and I give the order its example list shows: 2, 3, 1.)

In the third paryāya — "tisṛbhyo hiṃkaroti yottamā sā prathamā, yo prathamā sā madhyamā, yo madhyamā sottamā": in the third paryāya the last (3rd) Ṛk is recited first, the first (1st) Ṛk in the middle, and the middle (2nd) Ṛk at the end; the order is 3, 1, 2. For example —

(1) स घा नो योग आभुवत् … ॥३॥ (Ṛk 3)
(2) आ त्वेता नि षीदत … ॥१॥ (Ṛk 1)
(3) पुरूतमं पुरूणाम् … ॥२॥ (Ṛk 2)

This is the third paryāya. These three paryāyas together form the viṣṭuti called kulāyinī of the trivṛt stoma.

पञ्चदशस्तोमस्य विवरणम् (pañcadaśa-stomasya vivaraṇam) — This stoma has three viṣṭutis. Of them, we shall explain the first, the viṣṭuti called udyatī, by way of example. Whichever viṣṭuti of this stoma is taken, the three paryāyas together make 15 Ṛks, and so this stoma is called "pañcadaśa-stoma." Its order is —

In the first paryāya — "pañcabhyo hiṃkaroti sa tisṛbhiḥ sa ekayā [print: ekayo] sa ekayā [print: ekayo]":

> पञ्चभ्यो हिंकरोति स तिसृभिः स एकया स एकया ॥ pañcabhyo hiṃkaroti sa tisṛbhiḥ sa ekayā sa ekayā || (Reading note: the final letters of "ekayā" are printed with a vowel sign that I read as "o"; the sense — "with one (Ṛk)" — is clear and I give the form with "ā," flagging the print.) Translation (mine, following the Kannada gloss): "'He makes the hiṃkāra on five: with three (repetitions), with one, with one'" — that is, in the first paryāya the first Ṛk of the tṛca is to be recited three times, and the second and third Ṛks once each. The order is 1, 1, 1, 2, 3. For example —

(1) आ त्वेता नि षीदत ॥१॥ — Ṛk 1
(2) आ त्वेता नि षीदत ॥१॥ — Ṛk 1
(3) आ त्वेता नि षीदत ॥१॥ — Ṛk 1
(4) पुरूतमं पुरूणाम् ॥२॥ — Ṛk 2
(5) सघा नो योग आभुवत् ॥३॥ — Ṛk 3 (IAST: ā tvetā ni ṣīdata ×3; purūtamaṃ purūṇām; sa ghā no yoga ābhuvat.)

Page 143 — The pañcadaśa “udyatī” concluded; the viṣṭutis of the nine stomas (opening of the full list)

(Page header: “Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 8 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā.” The Sanskrit is printed in Kannada script. The sequences of Ṛk-numbers are as printed in Kannada digits.)

In the second paryāya:

> पञ्चभ्यो हिंकरोति स एकया स तिसृभिः स एकया ॥ pañcabhyo hiṃkaroti sa ekayā sa tisṛbhiḥ sa ekayā || (Translation, mine: “He makes the hiṃkāra on five: with one, with three, with one.”)

In the second paryāya the first Ṛk is to be recited once, the second Ṛk three times, and the third Ṛk once. The order is 1, 2, 2, 2, 3. For example —

(1) आ त्वेता नि षीदत ॥१॥ — Ṛk 1
(2) पुरूतमं पुरूणाम् ॥२॥ — Ṛk 2
(3) पुरूतमं पुरूणाम् ॥२॥ — Ṛk 2
(4) पुरूतमं पुरूणाम् ॥२॥ — Ṛk 2
(5) स घा नो योग आभुवत् ॥३॥ — Ṛk 3

In the third paryāya:

> पञ्चभ्यो हिंकरोति स एकया स एकया स तिसृभिः ॥ pañcabhyo hiṃkaroti sa ekayā sa ekayā sa tisṛbhiḥ || (Translation, mine: “He makes the hiṃkāra on five: with one, with one, with three.”)

In the third paryāya the first Ṛk is to be recited once, the second once, and the third three times. The order is 1, 2, 3, 3, 3. For example —

(1) आ त्वेता नि षीदत ॥१॥ — Ṛk 1
(2) पुरूतमं पुरूणाम् ॥२॥ — Ṛk 2
(3) स घा नो योग आभुवत् ॥३॥ — Ṛk 3
(4) स घा नो योग आभुवत् ॥३॥ — Ṛk 3
(5) स घा नो योग आभुवत् ॥३॥ — Ṛk 3

(The three paryāyas together make 5 + 5 + 5 = 15 Ṛks, which gives the stoma its name.)

These three paryāyas together form the order of the viṣṭuti called udyatī of the pañcadaśa stoma. The orders of the viṣṭutis of the other stomas are to be understood in the same way. Now we shall state the names of the viṣṭutis of all nine stomas, trivṛt to aṣṭācatvāriṃśa, and the order, in their paryāyas, of the number of Ṛks to be recited. Their order is thus:

I. For the trivṛt stoma — three viṣṭutis: (1) udyatī, (2) parivartinī, (3) kulāyinī.

(1) In the viṣṭuti called “udyatī”:

| Paryāya | Ṛks |
|---|---|
| first paryāya | 1, 2, 3 |
| second paryāya | 1, 2, 3 |
| third paryāya | 1, 2, 3 |

(2) In the viṣṭuti called “parivartinī”: (the table continues on the next page)

Page 144 — The viṣṭutis of the nine stomas: trivṛt (concluded), pañcadaśa, saptadaśa (opening)

(Page header: “Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 5.” The tables below give the Ṛk-numbers (1, 2, 3) of the tṛca recited in each paryāya, as printed in Kannada digits. Check performed: for every viṣṭuti I added up the three paryāyas, and each total equals the stoma’s Ṛk-count (9, 15, 17, …), which confirms the reading of the digit strings.)

I. Trivṛt stoma (continued from p. 143)

(2) viṣṭuti “parivartinī”:

| Paryāya | Ṛks recited |
|---|---|
| first | 3, 2, 1 |
| second | 3, 2, 1 |
| third | 3, 2, 1 |

In these two viṣṭutis (udyatī and parivartinī) the three paryāyas are one and the same; there is no difference.

(3) viṣṭuti “kulāyinī”:

| Paryāya | Ṛks recited |
|---|---|
| first | 1, 2, 3 |
| second | 2, 3, 1 |
| third | 3, 1, 2 |

II. Pañcadaśa stoma (15 Ṛks) — three viṣṭutis: (1) पञ्चपञ्चिनी (pañcapañcinī), (2) उद्यती प्रथमा (udyatī prathamā), (3) उद्यती द्वितीया (udyatī dvitīyā).

(1) The first, “pañcapañcinī”:

| Paryāya | Ṛks recited | Count |
|---|---|---|
| first | 1, 1, 1, 2, 3 | 5 |
| second | 1, 2, 2, 2, 3 | 5 |
| third | 1, 2, 3, 3, 3 | 5 |

This is the order of recitation of the viṣṭuti “pañcapañcinī.”

(2) The second, “udyatī prathamā”:

| Paryāya | Ṛks recited | Count |
|---|---|---|
| first | 1, 1, 1, 2, 3 | 5 |
| second | 1, 2, 3 | 3 |
| third | 1, 2, 2, 2, 3, 3, 3 | 7 |

(3) The third, “udyatī dvitīyā”:

| Paryāya | Ṛks recited | Count |
|---|---|---|
| first | 1, 2, 3 | 3 |
| second | 1, 2, 2, 2, 3 | 5 |
| third | 1, 1, 1, 2, 3, 3, 3 | 7 |

These are the orders of the three viṣṭutis of the pañcadaśa stoma. (Each totals 15. Source discrepancy, recorded not resolved: on p. 142 the viṣṭuti taken as the worked example — the one with 1,1,1,2,3 / 1,2,2,2,3 / 1,2,3,3,3 — is called “udyatī”; here that same pattern is the first, “pañcapañcinī,” and the “udyatī prathamā” has a different pattern. One of the two pages’ names for it is a slip, in the source or in my reading of a small numeral.)

III. Saptadaśa stoma (17 Ṛks) — seven viṣṭutis: (1) दशसप्तानामिका प्रथमा (daśasaptānāmikā prathamā), (2) दशसप्तानामिका द्वितीया (daśasaptānāmikā dvitīyā), (3) सप्तस्थिता प्रथमा (saptasthitā prathamā), (4) सप्तस्थिता द्वितीया (saptasthitā dvitīyā), (5) अनामिका (anāmikā), (6) उद्यती (udyatī), (7) भस्त्रा (bhastrā). (Note: this page spells the first two names “daśasaptānāmikā,” whereas p. 139 gave them “daśasaptā”; I record both spellings as printed.) Their order follows on the next page.

Page 145 — The seven viṣṭutis of the saptadaśa stoma

(Page header: “Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 9 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā.” Each row’s three counts sum to 17.)

| No. | Viṣṭuti | First paryāya | Second paryāya | Third paryāya |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| (1) | daśasaptānāmikā prathamā | 1, 1, 1, 2, 3 (5) | 1, 2, 2, 2, 3 (5) | 1, 2, 2, 2, 3, 3, 3 (7) |
| (2) | daśasaptānāmikā dvitīyā | 1, 1, 1, 2, 3 (5) | 1, 2, 2, 2, 3 (5) | 1, 1, 1, 2, 3, 3, 3 (7) |
| (3) | saptasthitā prathamā | 1, 1, 1, 2, 2, 2, 3 (7) | 1, 2, 3 (3) | 1, 2, 2, 2, 3, 3, 3 (7) |
| (4) | saptasthitā dvitīyā | 1, 1, 1, 2, 3, 3, 3 (7) | 1, 2, 3 (3) | 1, 1, 1, 2, 3, 3, 3 (7) |
| (5) | anāmikā | 1, 1, 1, 2, 3 (5) | 1, 2, 3 (3) | 1, 1, 1, 2, 2, 2, 3, 3, 3 (9) |
| (6) | udyatī | 1, 2, 3 (3) | 1, 2, 2, 2, 3 (5) | 1, 1, 1, 2, 2, 2, 3, 3, |

| No. | Viṣṭuti | First paryāya | Second paryāya | Third paryāya |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| | | | | 3 (9) |
| (7) | bhastrā | 1, 1, 1, 2, 2, 2, 3 (7) | 1, 2, 2, 2, 3 (5) | 1, 2, 3, 3, 3 (5) |

(Reading note: the fourth row's third paryāya and the fifth row's second paryāya are printed with small variations of spacing in the source; I give the sequences whose sums are 17 and which agree with the digit strings I could read.)

Page 146 — The viṣṭutis of the ekaviṃśa (21) and triṇava (27) stomas

*(Page header: "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā · Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 5." These long digit strings were read from enlarged slices of the page, and each paryāya-set was added up as a check; where a set adds to the stoma's number, that is noted. Note on spelling: the list of names at the head of the ekaviṃśa section prints the third as "प्रतिष्टुतिः" (pratiṣṭutiḥ [?]) while the heading over its table prints a form I read as "परिष्टुति" (pariṣṭuti [?]); I record both as printed and do not choose.)*

IV. Ekaviṃśa stoma (21 Ṛks) — four viṣṭutis: (1) सप्तसप्तिनी (saptasaptinī), (2) उद्यती (udyatī), (3) प्रतिष्टुतिः / परिष्टुति (pratiṣṭutiḥ / pariṣṭuti [?]), (4) सूर्मी (sūrmī [?]).

| Viṣṭuti | First paryāya | Second paryāya | Third paryāya | Total |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| (1) saptasaptinī | 1, 1, 1, 2, 2, 2, 3 (7) | 1, 2, 2, 2, 3, 3, 3 (7) | 1, 1, 1, 2, 3, 3, 3 (7) | 21 ✓ |
| (2) udyatī | 1, 1, 1, 2, 3 (5) | 1, 2, 2, 2, 3, 3, 3 (7) | 1, 1, 1, 2, 2, 2, 3, 3, 3 (9) | 21 ✓ |
| (3) pratiṣṭuti / pariṣṭuti [?] | 1, 1, 1, 2, 2, 2, 3, 3, 3 (9) | 1, 2, 2, 2, 3 (5) | 1, 1, 1, 2, 3, 3, 3 (7) | 21 ✓ |
| (4) sūrmī [?] | 1, 1, 1, 2, 2, 2, 3, 3, 3 (9) | 1, 2, 3 (3) | 1, 1, 1, 2, 2, 2, 3, 3, 3 (9) | 21 ✓ |

V. Triṇava stoma (27 Ṛks) — two viṣṭutis: (1) प्रतिष्ठिता (pratiṣṭhitā), (2) उद्यती (udyatī).

| Viṣṭuti | First paryāya | Second paryāya | Third paryāya | Total |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| (1) pratiṣṭhitā | 1, 1, 1, 2, 2, 2, 2, 2, 3 (9) | 1, 2, 2, 2, 3, 3, 3, 3, 3 (9) | 1, 1, 1, 1, 1, 2, 3, 3, 3 (9) | 27 ✓ |
| (2) udyatī | 1, 1, 1, 2, 2, 2, 3 (7) | 1, 2, 2, 2, 3, 3, 3, 3, 3 (9) | 1, 1, 1, 1, 1, 2, 2, 2, 3, 3, 3 (11) | 27 ✓ |

Page 147 — The viṣṭutis of the trayastriṃśa (33) and caturviṃśa (24) stomas

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 9 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." Read from enlarged slices, with totals checked as above. One viṣṭuti does not add up and is flagged.)

VI. Trayastriṃśa stoma (33 Ṛks) — five viṣṭutis: (1) समत्र्यंशा (samatryaṃśā), (2) नेदीयस्संक्रमा (nedīyassaṃkramā), (3) उद्यती (udyatī), (4) प्रत्यवरोहिणी (pratyavarohiṇī), (5) अन्तिमा (antimā).

| Viṣṭuti | First paryāya | Second paryāya | Third paryāya | Total |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| (1) samatryaṃśā | 1, 1, 1, 2, 2, 2, 2, 2, 2, 2, 3 (11) | 1, 2, 2, 2, 3, 3, 3, 3, 3, 3, 3 (11) | 1, 1, 1, 1, 1, 1, 1, 2, 3, 3, 3 (11) | 33 ✓ |
| (2) nedīyassaṃkramā | 1, 1, 1, 2, 2, 2, 2, 2, 3, 3, 3 (11) | 1, 1, 1, 2, 2, 2, 3, 3, 3, 3, 3 (11) | 1, 1, 1, 1, 1, 2, 2, 2, 3, 3, 3 (11) | 33 ✓ |
| (3) udyatī | 1, 1, 1, 2, 2, 2, 2, 2, 3 (9) | 1, 2, 2, 2, 3, 3, 3, 3, 3, 3, 3 (11) | 1, 1, 1, 1, 1, 1, 1, 2, 2, 2, 3, 3, 3 (13) | 33 ✓ |
| (4) pratyavarohiṇī | 1, 1, 1, 2, 2, 2, 2, 2, 3, 3, 3, 3 (12) | 1, 1, 1, 1, 1, 2, 2, 2, 3, 3, 3 (11) | 1, 1, 1, 2, 2, 2, 3, 3, 3 (9) | 32 [as printed] — does not add up; see note |
| (5) antimā | 1, 1, 1, 2, 2, 2, 2, 2, 2, 2, 3, 3, 3, 3, 3 (15) | 1, 1, 1, 1, 1, 2, 2, 2, 3, 3, 3 (11) | 1, 1, 1, 2, 3, 3, 3 (7) | 33 ✓ |

(Note on (4): re-checked against the better scan: the three paryāyas of "pratyavarohiṇī" are printed exactly as given (12 + 11 + 9) and add to 32, not 33 — a shortfall in the source itself; the strings are not adjusted. The strings for (3) and (5) wrap onto a second line in the print; I have joined them.)

VII. Caturviṃśa stoma (24 Ṛks) — this stoma has one viṣṭuti only:

| First paryāya | Second paryāya | Third paryāya | Total |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1, 1, 1, 2, 2, 2, 2, 3 (8) | 1, 2, 2, 2, 3, 3, 3, 3 (8) | 1, 1, 1, 1, 2, 3, 3, 3 (8) | 24 ✓ |

Page 148 — The viṣṭutis of the catuścatvāriṃśa (44) and aṣṭācatvāriṃśa (48) stomas

(Page header: "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā · Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 5." These long digit strings wrap over two lines in the print and were read from enlarged slices. To keep them legible I give each paryāya as runs ("1×3" = the digit 1 three times), with the count; the counts are my own tallies of the printed digits, and each viṣṭuti's total is checked against the stoma's number. A run of repeated 3's or 2's is the likeliest place for a one-digit miscount; none of the totals below fails, but the individual runs should be re-checked against the page if they are to be relied on.)

VIII. Catuścatvāriṃśa stoma (44 Ṛks) — three viṣṭutis: (1) प्रथमा (prathamā), (2) निर्मध्या (nirmadhyā), (3) तृतीया (tṛtīyā).

| Viṣṭuti | First paryāya | Second paryāya | Third paryāya | Total |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| (1) prathamā | 1×3, 2×11, 3×1 (15) | 1×1, 2×3, 3×10 (14) | 1×11, 2×1, 3×3 (15) | 44 ✓ |
| (2) nirmadhyā | 1×3, 2×10, 3×1 (14) | 1×1, 2×3, 3×11 (15) | 1×11, 2×1, 3×3 (15) | 44 ✓ |
| (3) tṛtīyā | 1×3, 2×11, 3×1 (15) | 1×1, 2×3, 3×11 (15) | 1×10, 2×1, 3×3 (14) | 44 ✓ |

IX. Aṣṭācatvāriṃśa stoma (48 Ṛks) — two viṣṭutis: (1) प्रथमा (prathamā), (2) नेदीयस्संक्रमा (nedīyassaṃkramā).

| Viṣṭuti | First paryāya | Second paryāya | Third paryāya | Total |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| (1) prathamā | 1×3, 3×3, 2×10 (16) (order as printed) | 1×3, 2×3, 3×10 (16) | 1×10, 2×3, 3×3 (16) | 48 ✓ |
| (2) nedīyassaṃkramā | 1×3, 2×12, 3×1 (16) | 1×1, 2×3, 3×12 (16) | 1×12, 2×1, 3×3 (16) | 48 ✓ |

(Note: in the first paryāya of "prathamā" the print has the digits in the order 1, 1, 1, 3, 3, 3, then ten 2's — i.e. the 3's come before the 2's, which is out of the pattern of every other row. It may be a printer's transposition; I record it as printed. For the second viṣṭuti, whose table begins at the top of p. 149, I give the runs as tallied from that page.)

Page 149 — End of the viṣṭuti tables; the stoma in the three pressings; stoma-vṛddhi and āvāpa

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 9 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." The Āśvalāyana sūtra is printed in Kannada script; transcribed letter by letter, with one doubtful word marked.)

(2) viṣṭuti "nedīyassaṃkramā" (continuing from p. 148: first paryāya 1, 1, 1, 2×12, 3; second 1, 2, 2, 2, 3×12; third 1×12, 2, 3, 3, 3 — each 16). The stomas, their viṣṭutis, and the order of reciting the numbers of Ṛks in them, and the like, are described at length in the Tāṇḍya-brāhmaṇa of the Sāmaveda.

Of these stomas, the trivṛt stoma is recited at the time of the morning pressing, the pañcadaśa stoma at the midday pressing, and the saptadaśa stoma at the third pressing. In sacrifices such as the Abhiplava-ṣaḍaha, after the trivṛt and other stomas that are to be sung at the morning pressing and other rites, it is the custom in certain contexts to sing some further stomas, called "uttara-stomas," together with them. This singing of extra stomas is called stoma-vṛddhi ("increase of the stoma"). After the Udgātṛ and the other singers have performed their songs, the priests of the Hotṛ group — Maitrāvaruṇa, Brāhmaṇācchaṃsin and Acchāvāka — must recite, according to this and so as to equal the stoma-increase, a certain number of additional Ṛks. That is: after the Udgātṛ and the other Sāma-singers have sung the mantras of the fixed number required for the trivṛt and other stomas, and sing some further mantras, the Maitrāvaruṇa and the others of the Hotṛ group must recite an equal number of Ṛks to correspond. Thus the sāman-mantras that are sung in a number greater than the fixed number, or the stomas — "stoma-vṛddhi" — and, correspondingly, the Ṛks that are recited in a number greater than the fixed number, are called āvāpa. In the present context, for the recitation of these āvāpa-Ṛks they recite the six sūktas beginning with "surūpakṛtnum ūtaye" (the sūktas from Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-4 to 1-9). That is: it is not that the six sūktas must be recited in full for the āvāpa; the number of Ṛks that the Udgātṛ and others sing is the number of Ṛks (taken from the sūktas "surūpakṛtnum" and the rest) that are to be recited. Even in this āvāpa order there is a rule for reciting the additional Ṛks. Āśvalāyana states it in his Śrauta-sūtra:

नित्याधिकं स्तोमकरणात्पञ्च सप्तदशे नवैकविंशे द्वादश चतुर्विंशे पञ्चदश त्रिणव एकविंशतिं त्रयस्त्रिंशे द्वात्रिंशतं चतुश्चत्वारिंशे षट्त्रिंशतमष्टाचत्वारिंशे ॥ इति ॥ nityādhikaṃ stoma-karaṇāt pañca saptadaśe navaikaviṃśe dvādaśa caturviṃśe pañcadaśa triṇava ekaviṃśatiṃ trayastriṃśe dvātriṃśataṃ catuścatvāriṃśe ṣaṭtriṃśatam aṣṭācatvāriṃśe || iti ||
(Correction, made at p. 150: I first read the third and fourth words as "pañce" and "nanvaikaviṃśe." Page 150, which restates the same numbers in Kannada prose — "for the saptadaśa stoma, five Ṛks; for the ekaviṃśa, nine; for the caturviṃśa, twelve; for the triṇava, fifteen; for the trayastriṃśa, twenty-one; for the catuścatvāriṃśa, thirty-two; for the aṣṭācatvāriṃśa, thirty-six" — shows that the words are "pañca" (five) and "nava + ekaviṃśe" (nine at the ekaviṃśa); the text above has been changed to that. The sūtra's word "triṇava" is printed in the nominative form though the sense is "at the triṇava.")

Translation (mine; see the correction note above): "(The Hotṛ-group priests are to recite) additional Ṛks, constantly, over and above the making of the stoma: five at the saptadaśa; nine at the ekaviṃśa; twelve at the caturviṃśa; fifteen at the triṇava; twenty-one at the trayastriṃśa; thirty-two at the catuścatvāriṃśa; thirty-six at the aṣṭācatvāriṃśa."

That is: in reciting the saptadaśa stoma, "āvāpa" — the recitation of the additional Ṛks — is five … (continues on the next page)

Page 150 — The āvāpa-numbers; the Mahāvrata; the Āśvalāyana sūtra on the Ekāha, Ahīna and Sattra rites

(Page header: "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 5." The Sanskrit sūtra is printed in Kannada script; I transcribe it letter by letter and mark doubtful words. I translate only what the source's own explanation supports.)

(Continuing from p. 149, "…in the saptadaśa stoma the āvāpa is five" Ṛks:) five Ṛks. For the ekaviṃśa stoma the āvāpa is nine Ṛks; for the caturviṃśa stoma twelve Ṛks; for the triṇava stoma fifteen Ṛks; for the trayastriṃśa stoma twenty-one Ṛks; for the catuścatvāriṃśa stoma thirty-two Ṛks; for the aṣṭācatvāriṃśa stoma thirty-six Ṛks. In just this order the Bhāṣyakāra, stating the application of the sūkta "surūpakṛtnum ūtaye," wrote: "abhiplava-ṣaḍahe brāhmaṇācchaṃsinaḥ prātaḥ-savane stoma-vṛddhy-āvāpārthāni surūpakṛtnum ūtaya ity ādīni ṣaṭ sūktāni" (अभिप्लवषडहे ब्राह्मणाच्छंसिनः प्रातःसवने स्तोमवृद्ध्यावापार्थानि सुरूपकृत्नुमूतय इत्यादीनि षट् सूक्तानि — "in the Abhiplava-ṣaḍaha, the six sūktas beginning 'surūpakṛtnum ūtaye' are for the Brāhmaṇācchaṃsin at the morning pressing, for the increase of the stoma and for the āvāpa"; see p. 86–87 above).

The three sūktas "surūpakṛtnum," "ā tvetā" and "yuñjanti bradhnam" are applied in the Mahāvrata. On this matter Āśvalāyana has said:

एकाहोऽतिरात्र आदौ प्रायणीय एषोऽन्त्य उदयनीयो व्यक्तो मध्येऽहीनेषु वैश्वानर एष एव तावदन्तरेण व्यूढो दशरात्र एषा प्रकृतिः सत्राणां तत्रावापस्थानमूर्ध्वं दशरात्रादेकाहार्थे महाव्रतं प्राग्[?]शरात्रादितरेषामह्नां द्व्यहार्थे गोआयुषी त्र्यहार्थे त्रिकद्रुका अभिप्लवत्र्यहं पूर्वं त्रिकद्रुका इत्याचक्षते । चतुरहार्थे त्रिकद्रुका महाव्रतं च पञ्चाहार्थेऽभिप्लवपञ्चाह उत्तमस्य तु षष्ठात्तृतीयं सवनं षळहार्थेऽभिप्लवः षळह एवंन्याया आवापाः षळहान्ताः पुनः पुनः पूर्णः पूर्णश्च षळहस्तन्त्रतामेव

गच्छतीति ॥ ekāho 'tirātra ādau prāyaṇīya eṣo 'ntya udayanīyo vyakto madhye 'hīneṣu vaiśvānara eṣa eva tāvad antareṇa vyūḍho daśarātra eṣā prakṛtiḥ satrāṇāṃ tatrāvāpa-sthānam ūrdhvaṃ daśarātrād ekāhārthe mahāvrataṃ prāg[?]-śarātrād itareṣām ahnāṃ dvyahārthe go-āyuṣī tryahārthe trikadrukā abhiplava-tryahaṃ pūrvaṃ trikadrukā ity ācakṣate | caturahārthe trikadrukā mahāvrataṃ ca pañcāhārthe 'bhiplava-pañcāha uttamasya tu ṣaṣṭhāt tṛtīyaṃ savanaṃ ṣaḷahārthe 'bhiplavaḥ ṣaḷaha evaṃ-nyāyā āvāpāḥ ṣaḷahāntāḥ punaḥ punaḥ pūrṇaḥ pūrṇaś ca ṣaḷahas tantratām eva gacchatīti || (Reading notes: (i) this is a very compressed Śrauta-sūtra, and several of its words are crowded in the print — "prāg-…-śarātrād" in particular is unclear to me, and I mark it [?]; (ii) the spellings "trikadrukā" and "go-āyuṣī" are as printed; (iii) the verse-numbering of the sūtra is not given on the page.)
Translation, in outline only (the source does not translate the sūtra word by word; it explains it in the Kannada that follows, which I give next): the sūtra lays out the Ekāha, Ahīna and Sattra rites — the one-day, the several-day and the long sacrificial sessions — and states that, for each extension of the ten-night base-rite (daśarātra), a Mahāvrata, a "Go-āyuṣī," a "Trikadruka" or the six-day Abhiplava is added in place of so many days, so that the āvāpas (insertions) proceed up to the ṣaḷaha (six-day) rite, again and again, and the full ṣaḷaha becomes "tantra" (common to all).

The Kannada explanation (translated): The Mahāvrata is this: in a Soma-sacrifice that is to be done over twelve days, one day of the sacrifice called Mahāvrata is added so that the sacrifice runs for thirteen days; for this the Mahāvrata is performed in the middle of the twelve days — that is, one day from the tenth to the twelfth day. In the "prakṛti" form — the original model — the Soma-sacrifice runs for twelve days only; if the Mahāvrata is performed in the middle, that sacrifice becomes a sacrifice of thirteen days. The sacrifices that have to be done over twelve days, like the Atirātra, are done at the beginning and at the end. The Atirātra is one of the seven Soma-sacrifices; the ten days in the middle are called "vyūḷha." If the twelve-day sacrifice is to be run to fourteen days, a two-day sacrifice called Go-āyuṣī is added, making fourteen from the tenth day; and so for fifteen days (to the twelve) the three-day sacrifice Trikadruka is added. "Trikadruka" means the first three days of the Abhiplava-ṣaḍaha described before. For a sacrifice of sixteen days, Trikadruka and Mahāvrata are added; for seventeen, the first five days of the Abhiplava-ṣaḍaha; for eighteen, the six days of the Abhiplava-ṣaḍaha. The same must be reckoned further on. The following table makes this clear.

Page 151 — The table of altered sacrifices; end of the introduction to Sūkta 5

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 9 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." The table is printed with Kannada words and English column heads (the source's own, with its misprint "Secrifice"); the day-numbers are printed in Kannada digits and are given here in Arabic; each agrees with the name of the rite (dvādaśāha = 12, and so on).)

(Continuing: "Trikadruka" means the first three days of the Abhiplava-ṣaḍaha mentioned earlier. For a sacrifice of sixteen days the Trikadruka and the Mahāvrata are added; for seventeen, the first five days of the Abhiplava-ṣaḍaha; for eighteen, all six. The same applies further on.)

| Original sacrifice (as printed: “Original Secrifice”) and the part added | Altered sacrifice (as printed: “Altered Secrifice”) and number of days |
|---|---|
| Soma-sacrifice (soma-yāga) | dvādaśāha (द्वादशाह, dvādaśāha) — twelve-day Soma-sacrifice (12 days) |
| Soma-sacrifice + Mahāvrata | trayodaśāha (त्रयोदशाह, trayodaśāha) (13 days) |
| Soma-sacrifice + Go-āyuṣī | caturdaśāha (चतुर्दशाह, caturdaśāha) (14 days) |
| Soma-sacrifice + Trikadruka (the first three days of the Abhiplava-ṣaḍaha) | pañcadaśāha (पञ्चदशाह, pañcadaśāha) (15 days) |
| Soma-sacrifice + Trikadruka + Mahāvrata | ṣoḍaśāha, or ṣoḍaśī (षोडशाह, ṣoḍaśāha; षोडशी, ṣoḍaśī) (16 days) |
| Soma-sacrifice + the first five days of the Abhiplava-ṣaḍaha | saptadaśāha (सप्तदशाह, saptadaśāha) (17 days) |
| Soma-sacrifice + the Abhiplava-ṣaḍaha complete, that is, six days | aṣṭādaśāha (अष्टादशाह, aṣṭādaśāha) (18 days) |

And so on. Here, in place of “dvādaśāha,” “trayodaśāha” and the like, it is the custom to say “dvādaśarātri,” “trayodaśarātri.” In stating the application of a sūkta or mantra, the Bhāṣyakāra names the special sacrifices such as the Abhiplava-ṣaḍaha, Pṛṣṭhya-ṣaḍaha, Atirātra and Mahāvrata, and uses technical terms such as stoma, viṣṭuti and paryāya; for the reader’s orientation these have been explained, up to here, briefly. Because of the fear of too great length it is not possible to explain them at greater length here. All the matters concerned with sacrifices and the like will be described at length in the Yajurveda-anuvāda, where they can be looked up. Now we begin the word-by-word Anuvāda of the fifth sūkta.

Page 152 — Sūkta 5: heading; Rik 5.1: Saṃhitā, Pada, Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (opening)

(Page header: “Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 5.” Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. Sanskrit printed in Kannada script; [?] where unclear.)

॥ ओम् ॥

सूक्त—५ (Sūkta 5) ॥ मण्डल—१ ॥ अनुवाक—२ ॥ सूक्त—५ ॥ ॥ अष्टक—१ ॥ अध्याय—१ ॥ वर्ग—९, १० ॥ ॥ सूक्तदल्लिरुव ऋक्संख्ये १०॥ (number of Ṛks in the sūkta: 10) ऋषिः — मधुच्छन्दा वैश्वामित्रः (ṛṣiḥ — madhucchandā vaiśvāmitraḥ) देवता — इन्द्रः (devatā — indraḥ) छन्दः — गायत्री (chandaḥ — gāyatrī)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

आ त्वेता॒ नि षी॑दतेंद्र॒मभि प्र गा॑यत । सखा॑य॒: स्तोम॑वाहसः ॥१॥

ā tvetā́ ní ṣīdatéṃdramabhí prá gāyata | sákhāyaḥ stómavāhasaḥ ||1||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

आ । तु । आ । इत । नि । सीदत । इन्द्रम् । अभि । प्र । गायत । सखायः । स्तोमऽवाहसः ॥१॥

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

तुशब्दः क्षिप्रार्थो निपातः । द्वाभ्यामाङ्भ्यामन्वेतुमितशब्दोऽभ्यसनीयः । हे सखायः ऋत्विजः क्षिप्रमस्मिन्कर्मण्यागच्छतागच्छत । आदरार्थोऽभ्यासः । आगत्य च निषीदत । उपविशत । उपविश्य चेन्द्रमभि प्र गायत । सर्वतः प्रकर्षेण स्तुत । कीदृशाः सखायः । स्तोमवाहसः । त्रिवृत्पञ्चदशादिस्तोमानस्मिन्कर्मणि वहन्ति प्रापयन्तीति । tu-śabdaḥ kṣiprārtho nipātaḥ | dvābhyām āṅbhyām anv etum itaśabdo 'bhyasanīyaḥ | he sakhāyaḥ ṛtvijaḥ kṣipram asmin karmaṇy āgacchatāgacchata | ādarārtho 'bhyāsaḥ | āgatya ca niṣīdata | upaviśata | upaviśya cendram abhi pra gāyata | sarvataḥ prakarṣeṇa stuta | kīdṛśāḥ sakhāyaḥ | stomavāhasaḥ | trivṛt-pañcadaśādi-stomān asmin karmaṇi vahanti prāpayantīti |

Translation: "The word 'tu' is a particle in the sense of 'quickly.' The word 'ita' is to be doubled so as to be construed with the two 'ā's. O friends, O priests! Come quickly to this rite — 'āgacchatāgacchata': the doubling is for respect. And having come, sit down ('niṣīdata' = 'upaviśata'); and having sat, 'abhi pra gāyata' — sing the praises of Indra, on every side, in an eminent manner. What kind of friends? 'Stomavāhasaḥ' — those who carry, who bring about, in this rite the stomas — the trivṛt, the pañcadaśa and the rest."

Grammar within the Bhāṣya (characterized, sūtras kept): "Ā," "tu," "ā" are particles (nipāta), so first-syllable acute; "ita" — from "iṇ gatau" (to go): the imperative second-person plural "ta" with the "tas/thas/…" substitution; द्व्यचोऽतस्तिङः (dvyaco 'tastiṅaḥ, पा. ६-३-१३५) lengthens the vowel in the saṃhitā ("itā"). "Ni" — a particle, first-syllable acute. "Sīdata" — पाघ्राध्मास्थाम्नादाण्दृश्यर्तिसर्तिशदसदां पिबजिघ्रधमतिष्ठमनयच्छपश्यर्च्छधौशीयसीदाः (pā-ghrā-dhmā-sthā-mnā-dāṇ-dṛśy-arti-sarti-śada-sadāṃ piba-jighra-dhama-tiṣṭha-mana-yaccha-paśyarccha-dhauśīya-sīdāḥ, पा. ७-३-७८ —— as I read the print, which gives the sūtra in an abbreviated form) — "sīda" is substituted for "sad"; सदेरप्रतेः (पा. ८-३-६६) — "ṣ" in the saṃhitā, except after "prati" ("ni ṣīdata"). "Abhi" — उपसर्गाश्चाभिवर्जम् [as a statement: "the prefixes are acute on the first syllable, except 'abhi'"], so "abhi" has the bare-stem accent. "Stomavāhasaḥ" — "stu" (to praise) with the Uṇādi affix "man" (अर्तिस्तुसुहुसृधृक्षिक्षुभायावापदियक्षिणीभ्यो मन्, उ. सू. १-१३९) gives "stoma," "n"-marked, so first-syllable acute; "stomaṃ vahantīti stomavāhasaḥ": from "vah" the affix "asun" in the Veda (वहिहाधाञ्भ्यश्छन्दसि, उ. सू. ४-२२०), the penultimate "a" takes vṛddhi by अत उपधायाः (पा. ७-२-११६); the compound, in which the kṛt-final member's accent would be retained, is by an Uṇādi-rule (उ. सू. ४-२२६) first-syllable acute.

Page 153 — Rik 5.1: Pada-meanings; Bhāvārtha; English rendering; Special topics (opening)

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 9 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." English as printed in the source; the Ṛg-vedic references re-read from the better scan.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

स्तोमवाहसः (stomavāhasaḥ) — those who carry the stotras — that is, who praise with stotras | (हे) सखायः (sakhāyaḥ) — O friends (priests) | तु (tu) — quickly (vigilantly) | आ आ इत (ā ā

ita) — come, come | नि सीदत (ni sīdata) — sit down | इन्द्रम् (indram) — Indra | अभि प्र गायत (abhi pra gāyata) — sing well with stotras.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

O priests, who are friends! Since you are those who please Indra with stotras and the like, come quickly to this place where the sacrifice is performed. Having come, sit down in the place appointed for you, and sing, beautifully, with the stotras such as the trivṛt-stoma, in the form of a song, a praise of Indra.

English Translation (printed in English in the source itself):

"O friends, (priests), come hither quickly offering praises; sit down and sing repeatedly the praises of Indra."

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

आ—आ (ā–ā) — The Bhāṣyakāra says that the word "ā" is repeated twice for the sake of respect, that is, for inviting. Such uses are many in the Ṛgveda. For example (both given in the print in Pada form, word by word):

> आहानि । गृध्राः । परि । आ । वः । आ । अगुः । इमां । धियं । वार्कार्यां । च । देवीम् ॥ (ऋ. सं. १-८८-४) āhāni | gṛdhrāḥ | pari | ā | vaḥ | ā | aguḥ | imāṃ | dhiyaṃ | vārkāryāṃ | ca | devīm || (ṛ. saṃ. 1-88-4) (Reading note: the print divides the Ṛk word by word in Pada style, and the first words, "āhāni gṛdhrāḥ," are unclear to me; I give them as printed; the reference is clear in the better scan. I give no translation, since the source gives none and the reading is not secure.)
>
> वायो इति । आ । चन्द्रेण । राधसा । आ । गतम् । इन्द्रः । च । राधसा । आ । गतम् ॥ (ऋ. सं. १-१३५-४) vāyo iti | ā | candreṇa | rādhasā | ā | gatam | indraḥ | ca | rādhasā | ā | gatam || (ṛ. saṃ. 1-135-4) Gloss (mine, tentative): "O Vāyu — come with bright wealth; come, O Indra, with wealth." (The print again gives it in Pada style; I give it as printed.)

In both of these the word "ā" is used twice, for respect. (The page ends in the middle of this list of examples; the discussion continues on the next page.)

Page 154 — Special topics on Rik 5.1 (continued): "ā–ā," "tu," "sakhāyaḥ," "stomavāhasaḥ"; Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (opening)

(Page header: "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā · Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 5." The Ṛg-vedic references are small Kannada numerals and all are marked [?]. The verses are printed in Pada style, word by word; given in three layers, with glosses of my own, tentative, where I can give them.)

(Continuing the list of examples of the doubled "ā" from p. 153:)

> ऋतवानः । प्रतिऽचक्ष्य । अनृता । पुनः । आ । अतः । आ । तस्थुः । कवयः । महः । पथः ॥ (ऋ. सं. २-२४-७) ṛtavānaḥ | praticakṣya | anṛtā | punaḥ | ā | ataḥ | ā | tasthuḥ | kavayaḥ | mahaḥ | pathaḥ || (ṛ. saṃ. 2-24-7) Gloss: "The truthful, having looked upon the untruths, … the seers have come back again to (their) great paths." [tentative; the reference and the opening words are not secure]

आ । याहि । पूर्वीः । अति । चर्षणीः । आ । अर्यः । आशिषः । उप । नः । हरिभ्याम् ॥ (ऋ. सं. ३-४३-२) ā | yāhi | pūrvīḥ | ati | carṣaṇīḥ | ā | aryaḥ | āśiṣaḥ | upa | naḥ | haribhyām || (ṛ. saṃ. 3-43-2) Gloss: "Come, passing over the many peoples; come, O lord, to our blessings, with your two bay horses."

आ । तु । नः । इन्द्र । वृत्रऽहन् । अस्माकम् । अर्धम् । आ । गहि ॥ (ऋ. सं. ४-३२-१) ā | tu | naḥ | indra | vṛtra-han | asmākam | ardham | ā | gahi || (ṛ. saṃ. 4-32-1) Gloss: "Come now to us, O Indra, slayer of Vṛtra; come to our share." [tentative]

आ । ग्रावऽभिः । अहन्यैभिः । अक्षऽभिः । वरिष्ठम् । वज्रम् । आ । जिघर्ति । मायिनि ॥ (ऋ. सं. ५-४८-३) ā | grāva-bhiḥ | ahanyaibhiḥ | akṣa-bhiḥ | variṣṭham | vajram | ā | jigharti | māyini || (ṛ. saṃ. 5-48-3) (Reading note: the second and third words are as printed; I give no translation, since the reading of "ahanyaibhiḥ" is not secure to me.)

and so on. Skandasvāmī, in discussing this, says (in the printed Sanskrit, which I give in three layers):

आ आ इत्युपसर्गाभ्यासात्तत्संबन्धिनेतेत्येतस्याख्यातस्याभ्यासः । आख्याताभ्यासे च लोके गम्यतां गम्यतामित्यादौ अवश्यकर्तव्यता प्रतीयते । एवमत्रापि क्षिप्रमेत । क्षिप्रमवश्यमागच्छतेत्यर्थः ॥ ā ā ity upasargābhyāsāt tat-sambandhinetety etasyākhyātasyābhyāsaḥ | ākhyātābhyāse ca loke gamyatāṃ gamyatām ity ādau avaśya-kartavyatā pratīyate | evam atrāpi kṣipram eta | kṣipram avaśyam āgacchatety arthaḥ || (Reading note: the first word of the second clause is printed "tatsaṃbandhine"; I read it as "tat-sambandhinā" and give the sentence as I make it out.) Translation (mine, following the Kannada): "'Ā ā': by the doubling of the prefix, the doubling of the verb 'ita' connected with it is understood. In ordinary speech, when a verb is doubled — 'let it be gone, let it be gone' ('gamyatāṃ gamyatām') and the like — the sense of 'it must certainly be done' is understood. So here too: 'come quickly' — the meaning is 'come quickly, without fail.'"

That is: since the prefix "ā" is spoken twice, it is as if the verb "ita" connected with it were spoken twice. When a verb is spoken twice — that is, when one says "gamyatām gamyatām" twice — the sense "come quickly, without fail" becomes clear, say the commentators. It is the custom in ordinary speech to say a word twice when its sense has to be insisted on. Here too it is to be understood as being for respect.

तु (tu) — To this word, here, in the sense of "decisively, necessarily, quickly" a meaning may be given.

इन्द्रमभि प्र गायत (indram abhi pra gāyata) — This pāda occurs again in many Ṛks:

पान्तमा वो अन्धस इन्द्रमभि प्र गायत । (ऋ. सं. ८-९२-१) pāntam ā vo andhasa indram abhi pra gāyata | (ṛ. saṃ. 8-92-1) Gloss: "To the (Soma-)protector — to him who has your food — to Indra, sing."

and the like.

सखायः (sakhāyaḥ) — That is: the priests, such as the Udgātṛ and the others. The explanation of this word we gave earlier.

स्तोमवाहसः (stomavāhasaḥ) — "Stoma" does not mean the stotra alone; its detailed explanation we gave in the introduction to this sūkta. "Those who bring stomas — stotras — to Indra" means those who sing his qualities so that Indra will know them.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (Kannada; characterized, sūtras kept) "Ā — tu — ā" — these three are particles; since particles are first-syllable acute (निपाता आद्युदात्ताः, Phiṭ-sūtra [number as printed "80"]) they are acute on the first syllable. "Ita" — the root "iṇ gatau," in the imperative (loṭ) second-person plural "tha"; by लोटो लङ्वत् (पा. ३-४-८५) "loṭ" is treated like "laṅ"; by तस्थस्थमिपां तान्तन्तामः (पा. ३-४-१०१; printed "3-4-11") "tha" becomes "ta"; with "śap" …
(continues on the next page)

Page 155 — "ita" and the doubling of "ā": a long grammatical argument (characterized)

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 9 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." This page is a scholastic argument in Kannada prose about how the doubled "ā" is to be construed with the verb "ita" and about the accent of "ita"; it does not affect the sense of the Rik given on pp. 152–153. Per the standing convention it is characterized in outline, with the sūtras it names kept in three layers; numbers as read, [?] where uncertain.)

The derivation of "ita" (continuing from p. 154). "ṭa" is replaced by "ta" (तस्थस्थमिपां… ); the "śap" in the middle is elided by "luk" after the root (an "ad"-class root, अदिप्रभृतिभ्यः शपः, पा. २-४-७२); since "ta" is "p"-marked (अपित्), the sārvadhātuka ending is "ṅit" (सार्वधातुकमपित्, पा. १-२-४), so guṇa is barred (क्ङिति च, पा. १-१-५) and "ita" results. Here the root's final "i" is acute by the rule that the last vowel of a root is acute (धातोः, पा. ६-१-१६२), while the "ta" affix would also be acute by अनुदात्तौ सुप्पितौ's opposite — आद्युदात्तश्च (पा. ३-१-३): the sārvadhātuka "ta" being "p"-marked is unaccented — so the two rules compete, and, as the "ita" must be treated as a word that, being a tiṅanta placed after the particle "ā" and not at the beginning of a pāda, is wholly unaccented, the अनुदात्तं पदमेकवर्जम् (पा. ६-१-१५८; printed "6-0-150") leaves all but one syllable unaccented, so the "i" would be unaccented. But since the tiṅanta "ita" follows a word that is not a tiṅanta, तिङ्ङतिङः (tiṅṅ atiṅaḥ, पा. ८-१-२८) makes it wholly unaccented. In the saṃhitā the acute "ā" before it and the unaccented "i" of "ita" combine by guṇa into one substitute "e," which is acute by एकादेश उदात्तेनोदात्तः (पा. ८-२-५); the "a" of the affix "ta," followed by the acute "ni," becomes "anudāttatara" by उदात्तस्वरितपरस्य सन्नतरः (पा. १-२-४०); and द्व्यचोऽतस्तिङः (पा. ६-३-१३५) lengthens the short "a" of the two-vowelled tiṅanta in a Ṛk: "itā."

The argument about the two "ā"s. The print then asks how the single verb "ita" can be construed with two prefixes "ā … ā." The two prefixes, it says, are meant to be understood as one doubled prefix (आदरार्थोऽभ्यासः, "the doubling is for respect"). The text argues: if the two "ā"s were joined with one "ita" at the same time, the sense would be of two separate prefixing operations on one verb, which is not possible, because a single verb-action cannot be joined at once with two identical prefixes; so one "ā" joins "ita," and the other "ā" needs its own verb. Rather than supply another verb (which would be a "gaurava," a clumsiness of explanation), it is more economical to repeat "ita" — that is, to take the verb as repeated ("āvṛtti"), so that the two "ā"s each join an "ita." The print supports this with the maxims सकृदुच्चरितः शब्दः सकृदेवार्थं गमयति (sakṛd uccaritaḥ śabdaḥ sakṛd evārthaṃ gamayati, "a word uttered once conveys its sense once") and प्रत्यर्थं शब्दनिवेशः (pratyarthaṃ śabdaniveśaḥ, "a word is placed for each sense"), and with a passage discussed in the Mīmāṃsā-śāstra, संतेवातः प्रणेतन [?] गच्छेतां-समङ्गानियजत्रैः-संयज्ञपतिराशिषा (saṃtevātaḥ praṇetana [?] gacchetāṃ-samaṅgāniyajatraiḥ-saṃyajñapatirāśiṣā; as printed, run together) — the third sentence of that passage has a prefix "sam" which requires a verb to be supplied; the Pūrvapakṣa says a verb must be supplied, but the Siddhānta decides that the verb "gacchatām" of the first sentence is to be repeated and joined with it. The same result follows here: "ita" is repeated and joined with the two "ā"s. "Ni" is a particle, so it is first-syllable acute.

(Reading note: the Mīmāṃsā citation re-read from the better scan and given as printed; "प्रणेतन" is uncertain.)

Pages 156–157 — Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā for Rik 5.1 concluded (characterized); Sūkta 5, Second Mantra: Saṃhitā

(Page headers: p. 156 "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā · Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 5"; p. 157 "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 9 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." These two pages are pure Pāṇinian derivation in Kannada prose for "sīdata," "indram," "abhi," "pra," "gāyata" and "stomavāhasaḥ," in part restating the Sanskrit of p. 152; they do not bear on the sense of the Rik (pp. 152–153). Per the standing convention they are characterized in outline; the sūtras they name are kept in three layers, numbers as I read them. The accent-sign discussions that fill much of p. 156 are crowded and I do not reproduce them.)

p. 156. - "Sīdata" — "ṣadḷ viśaraṇa-gaty-avasādaneṣu" (to sink, to go, to sit): the initial "ṣ" of the root becomes "s" by धात्वादेः षः सः (dhātv-ādeḥ ṣaḥ saḥ, पा. ६-१-६४) → "sad"; the imperative second-person plural "tha" → "ta"; "śap" in the middle; पाघ्राध्मास्थाम्नादाण्दृश्यर्तिसर्तिशदसदां पिबजिघ्रधमतिष्ठमनयच्छपश्यर्च्छधौशीयसीदाः (पा. ७-३-७८, as I read the printed abbreviation) gives "sīda" for "sad" before a sārvadhātuka beginning with a consonant; सदेरप्रतेः (पा. ८-३-६६) puts "ṣ" after a prefix — "ni ṣīdata." The accent: the root's "ī" would get the acute (धातोः, पा. ६-१-१६२); but the sārvadhātuka "ta" — and "śap," which is "p"-marked and unaccented (अनुदात्तौ सुप्पितौ, पा. ३-१-४) — and तास्यनुदात्तेन्ङिददुपदेशाल्लसार्वधातुकमनुदात्तमहन्वनोर्ङित् (पा. ६-१-१८६) leave "sīdata" without its own acute; and since it is a tiṅanta word following "ni," it is wholly unaccented by तिङ्ङतिङः (पा. ८-१-२८). In the saṃhitā "ni" is acute, and the "ī" after it becomes svarita by उदात्तादनुदात्तस्य स्वरितः (पा. ८-४-६६); the following unaccented syllables take the level pitch ("pracaya") by स्वरितात्संहितायामनुदात्तानाम् (पा. १-२-३९; printed "1-2-69"). - "Indram" — from "idi paramaiśvarye" (to rule) by the Uṇādi "ran" (ऋज्रेन्द्राग्रवज्र... ) as before; the augment "num" for an "it"-marked root (इदितो नुम् धातोः, पा. ७-१-५८); "n"-marked, first-syllable acute; the second-case singular "am" is unaccented, and अमि पूर्वः (पा. ६-१-१०७) combines the two "a"s into one, which by स्थानिवद्भाव is unaccented, and which, standing after an acute, becomes svarita.

p. 157. - “Abhi” — by the statement excepting “abhi” from the prefix rule, the Phiṭ-sūtra फिषोऽन्त उदात्तः (फि. सू. १; the bold first word is blurred in the print) makes “abhi” end-acute. “Pra” — a particle, so first-syllable acute by निपाता आद्युदात्ताः (फि. सू. ८०); or, as a prefix, first-syllable acute by उपसर्गाश्चाभिवर्जम् (फि. सू. ८१). - “Gāyata” — the root “gai śabde” (to sound, to sing), imperative second-person plural “tha” → “ta”; “śap”; एचोऽयवायावः (पा. ६-१-७८) gives “āy” for “ai” → “gāyata.” By the root-accent the last vowel of the root would be acute and the affix “ta” is “p”-marked; the “śap” is unaccented as “p”-marked, and the “ta” after the anudātta-upadeśa “śap” is unaccented by तास्यनुदात्तेत्... (पा. ६-१-१८६), so by the root accent “gāyata” would be first-syllable acute; but the word is wholly unaccented as a tiṅanta (तिङ्ङतिङः, पा. ८-१-२८); in the saṃhitā “gā” is svarita after the acute of “pra,” and the following syllables are level (स्वरितात्संहितायामनुदात्तानाम्, पा. १-२-३९). - “Stomavāhasaḥ” — “stu” with the Uṇādi affix “man” (अर्तिस्तुसुहुसृधृक्षिक्षुभायावापदियक्षिनीभ्यो मन्, उ. सू. १-१४२ [as printed; “1-139” on p. 152]) → “stoma” (“n”-marked, so first-syllable acute); “stomaṃ vahantīti stomavāhasaḥ” (“those who bring stomas — the trivṛt and the rest — to this rite”); वहिहाधाञ्भ्यश्छन्दसि (उ. सू. ४-२२०) the affix “asun,” “ṇit” by the following sūtra, giving अत उपधायाः (पा. ७-२-११६) vṛddhi → “vāhas”; though the accent of the kṛt-final member of the compound would be expected (गतिकारकोपपदात्कृत्, पा. ६-२-१३९), the Uṇādi rule गतिकारकयोरपि पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं च (उ. सू. ४-२२६) gives the first member’s accent; thus the compound is first-syllable acute. ॥१॥

---

Sūkta 5, The Second Mantra

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

पुरू॒तमं॑ पुरू॒णामीशा॑नं॒ वार्या॑णां । इंद्रं॑ सोमे सचा॑ सुते ॥२॥

purūtámaṃ purūṇā́mī́śānaṃ vā́ryāṇāṃ | iṃdraṃ some sácā sute ||2||

Page 158 — Rik 5.2: Pada, Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya, grammar (characterized), Pada-meanings (opening)

(Page header: “Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 5.” Sanskrit printed in Kannada script; [?] where unclear.)

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

पुरुऽतमम् । पुरूणाम् । ईशानम् । वार्याणाम् । इन्द्रम् । सोमे । सचा । सुते ॥२॥

(Reading note: in the Pada text the print shows “puru-tamam,” divided; I give it so.)

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

सखायोऽभिप्रगायतेति पदद्वयमत्रानुवर्तते । हे सखायः ऋत्विजः सचा सर्वैः सह । यद्वा । सचा परस्परं समवायेन सुते अभिषुते सोमे प्रवृत्ते सति इन्द्रमभिप्रगायत । कीदृशमिन्द्रम् । पुरूतमम् । पुरून्बहूञ्छत्रूंस्तमयति ग्लापयतीति पुरूतमः । पुरूणां बहूनां वार्याणां वरणीयानां धनानामीशानं

स्वामिनम् ॥ sakhāyo 'bhipragāyateti pada-dvayam atrānuvartate | he sakhāyaḥ ṛtvijaḥ sacā sarvaiḥ saha | yadvā | sacā parasparaṃ samavāyena sute abhiṣute some pravṛtte sati indram abhipragāyata | kīdṛśam indram | purūtamam | purūn bahūñ chatrūṃs tamayati glāpayatīti purūtamaḥ | purūṇāṃ bahūnāṃ vāryāṇāṃ varaṇīyānāṃ dhanānām īśānaṃ svāminam || (Reading note: the clause explaining "purūtamam" re-read from the better scan: "purūn bahūñ chatrūṃs tamayati glāpayati.")

Translation: "The two words 'sakhāyaḥ' and 'abhi pra gāyata' continue (from the preceding Ṛk). O friends, O priests! 'Sacā' — all together; or: 'sacā' — in mutual union — 'sute' — when the Soma has been pressed and is going on — sing to Indra. What kind of Indra? 'Purūtamam' — he who wearies out (destroys) many ('purūn,' 'bahūn') enemies; he is 'purūtama.' 'Īśānam' — the lord, the master — 'purūṇām' — of many, 'vāryāṇām' — of desirable (choice) riches."

Grammar within the Bhāṣya (re-read from the better scan; sūtras kept): "Purūtamam" — from the root "tamu glānau" (to be wearied), with the causative sense included, the "ac" of the pacādi class; being "c"-marked it would be end-acute, but परादिश्छन्दसि बहुलम् (parādiś chandasi bahulam) overrides the accent of the kṛt-final second member (कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम्, kṛd-uttarapada-prakṛti-svaratvam) and gives the second member first-syllable acute. "Purūṇām" — from "pṝ pālana-pūraṇayoḥ," with "kuḥ" continued, पॄभिदिव्यधिगृधिधृषिभ्यः (pṝ-bhidi-vyadhi-gṛdhi-dhṛṣibhyaḥ, उ. सू. १-२४ [as printed]; read with the clearer printing on p. 160) the affix "ku"; being "k"-marked, guṇa is barred (पा. १-१-५); उदोष्ठ्यपूर्वस्य (ud oṣṭhyapūrvasya, पा. ७-१-१०२) gives "u"; उरण् रपरः (uraṇ raparaḥ, पा. १-१-५०); "puru" is end-acute by the affix accent; after the short-final end-acute "puru," नामन्यतरस्याम् (nām anyatarasyām, पा. ६-१-१७७) makes "nām" acute → end-acute. "Īśānam" — "īśa aiśvarye," a root with anudātta "it," so the "śānac" after it is unaccented as a lasārvadhātuka (लसार्वधातुकानुदात्तत्वम्). "Vāryāṇām" — "vṛñ sambhaktau" with ऋहलोर्ण्यत् (ṛhalor ṇyat, पा. ३-१-१२४); the print adds "क्यब्विधौ हि वृञ एव ग्रहणं न वृङः" (kyabvidhau hi vṛña eva grahaṇaṃ na vṛṅaḥ, पा. ३-१-१०९-वा. १) — in the "kyap" rule only "vṛñ," not "vṛṅ," is meant; the affix svarita of तित्स्वरितम् (tit svaritam, पा. ६-१-१८५) is overridden by ईडवन्दवृशंसदुहां ण्यतः (īḍa-vanda-vṛ-śaṃsa-duhāṃ ṇyataḥ, पा. ६-१-२१४), so the "ṇyat"-final word is first-syllable acute; यतोऽनावः (yato 'nāvaḥ, पा. ६-१-२१३) does not take in "ṇyat," since that has two markers (एकानुबन्धग्रहणे न द्व्यनुबन्धकस्य, ekānubandha-grahaṇe na dvyanubandhakasya). "Sacā" — "ṣaca samavāye": धात्वादेः षः सः (पा. ६-१-६४); as belonging to the "sampad" class, "kvip" in the sense of the action (सम्पदादिभ्यः क्विप्, पा. ३-३-१०८-वा. ९); the third-case singular; first-syllable acute by the root accent; by the maxim सर्वे विधयश्छन्दसि विकल्प्यन्ते (sarve vidhayaś chandasi vikalpyante, परि. ३५) सावेकाचस्तृतीयादिर्विभक्तिः (पा. ६-१-१६८) does not apply; if "sacā" is taken as a particle it is plainly first-syllable acute. ॥२॥

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated; continued on the next page)

सचा (sacā) — (all of you — priests, the sacrificer and all, together) united, or mutually joined | सोमे (some) — the Soma-juice | सुते (sute) — in order that it be prepared (having been prepared) | (he sakhāyaḥ — O friends, or priests;) …

Page 159 — Rik 5.2: Pada-meanings concluded; Bhāvārtha; English rendering; Special topics (opening)

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 9·Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." English as printed.)

(Continuing the Pada-meanings:) पुरूतमम् (purūtamam) — destroyer of enemies | पुरूणाम् (purūṇām) — of many | वार्याणाम् (vāryāṇām) — of wealth, lordship and the like | ईशानम् (īśānam) — the master | इन्द्रम् (indram) — Indra | (abhi pra gāyata — sing well with stotras.)

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

O priests and sacrificers, who are friends! All of you together, after the Soma-juice has been prepared in this sacrifice, praise with stotras Indra, who is the destroyer of enemies and the master of boundless lordship.

English Translation (printed in English in the source itself):

"O friends (priests), when soma is pressed sing along with others (or in a body) Indra, the subduer of many foes and the lord of many riches."

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

In this Ṛk there is neither an agent (kartṛ) nor a verb; hence the Bhāṣyakāra says that the agent-word "sakhāyaḥ," given in the preceding Ṛk, and the verb "abhi pra gāyata" must be supplied (adhyāhāra). Therefore it is to be understood that the sense of the preceding Ṛk is carried on in this Ṛk.

पुरूतमम् (purūtamam) — For this word the Bhāṣyakāra says "he who destroys enemies" (śatrūn damayati). Skandasvāmī says: "purutamam | puruśabdo bahunāma | tamu abhikāṅkṣāyām | bahubhir yo 'bhikāṅkṣyate prārthyate yācyate sa purutamas taṃ purutamam" (पुरुतमम् । पुरुशब्दो बहुनाम । तमु अभिकाङ्क्षायाम् । बहुभिर्योऽभिकाङ्क्ष्यते प्रार्थ्यते याच्यते स पुरुतमस्तं पुरुतमम् — "'Purūtamam': the word 'puru' is a name for 'many'; 'tamu' is in the sense of 'wishing for'; he who is wished for, prayed to, begged of by many is 'purutama'"). That is: the word "puru" means "many"; the root "tamu" means "to long for, to ask, to pray"; hence "purutama" means one to whom many pray, one desired by many. Veṅkaṭamādhava has accepted Sāyaṇa's meaning.

सचा (sacā) — "together, united, jointly, mingled." This word is used in the Ṛgveda in 88 Ṛks, beginning with Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-5-2; 1-7-2; 1-9-3; 1-10-4; 1-40-1; 1-50-11 (references re-read from the better scan).

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (Kannada; characterized, sūtras kept) "Purūtamam" — the root "tamu glānau" (to be fatigued), with the "ṇic" sense included, then नन्दिग्रहिपचादिभ्यो ल्युणिन्यचः (पा. ३-१-१३४) "ac," as it belongs to the "pacādi"; "ac" is "c"-marked, so by चितः (पा. ६-१-१६३) the end vowel is acute; गतिकारकोपपदात्कृत् (पा. ६-२-१३९) retains the accent of the second member of a compound ending in a kṛt … (continues on the next page)

Pages 160–161 — Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā for Rik 5.2 (characterized); Sūkta 5, Third Mantra: Saṃhitā, Pada, Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (opening)

(Page headers: p. 160 "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 5"; p. 161 "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 9 ·Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." Pages 159 (end)–161 (top) are pure Pāṇinian derivation in Kannada prose for "purūtamam," "purūṇām," "īśānam," "vāryāṇām" and "sacā," a restatement and expansion of the Sanskrit of p. 158; they do not bear on the sense of the Rik (pp. 158–159). Per the standing convention they are characterized in outline, with the sūtras named kept in three layers; numbers as I read them in small Kannada numerals. The page is crowded and I do not reproduce its more technical sub-arguments.)

- "Purūtamam" (from p. 159) — with "ac" in the pacādi class: नन्दिग्रहिपचादिभ्यो ल्युणिन्यचः (पा. ३-१-१३४), "c"-marked so end-acute (चितः, पा. ६-१-१६३); the second member's accent is kept (गतिकारकोपपदात्कृत्, पा. ६-२-१३९) but the Veda's परादिश्छन्दसि बहुलम् (पा. ६-२-१९९) — in the Veda the first syllable of the second member may be acute — sets that aside.
- "Purūṇām" — "puru" is formed by the Uṇādi पृभिदिव्यधिगृधिधृषिभ्यः (pṝ-bhidi-vyadhi-gṛdhi-dhṛṣibhyaḥ, उ. सू. १-२३ [as printed; "1-24" on p. 158]): after the roots "pṝ pālana-pūraṇayoḥ" (to protect, to fill), "bhidir vidāraṇe" (to split), "vyadha tāḍane" (to strike), "gṛdhu abhikāṅkṣāyām" (to desire) and "ñidhṛṣā prāgalbhye" (to be bold) the affix "ku." Its "k" is an "it" by लशक्वतद्धिते (laśakvataddhite, पा. १-३-८) and is dropped: "pṝ + u." Guṇa would come by सार्वधातुकार्धधातुकयोः (पा. ७-३-८४), but as the affix is "k"-marked क्ङिति च (पा. १-१-५) bars it. उदोष्ठ्यपूर्वस्य (ud oṣṭhyapūrvasya, पा. ७-१-१०२) gives "ut" for the "ṝ" of a stem preceded by a labial; उरण् रपरः (पा. १-१-५१) makes it "ur" → "puru." It is end-acute by the affix's accent; after the short-final, end-acute "puru," the genitive plural "nām" is acute by नामन्यतरस्याम् (पा. ६-१-१७७).
- "Īśānam" — "īśa aiśvarye" (to rule), "laṭ" and its substitute "śānac" (लटः शतृशानचौ, पा. ३-२-१२४); the root is unaccented in its upadeśa ("anudātteṭ"), so the "sārvadhātuka" "śānac" is unaccented (तास्यनुदात्तेन्ङिददुपदेशाल्लसार्वधातुकमनुदात्तमहन्वनोर्ङित्, पा. ६-१-१८६) → "īśānam."
- "Vāryāṇām" — "vṛñ sambhaktau": after it the affix "ṇyat" by ऋहलोर्ण्यत् (पा. ३-१-१२४), after a root ending in "ṛ" or a consonant. But एतिस्तुशास्वृदृजुषः क्यप् (eti-stu-śās-vṛ-dṛ-juṣaḥ kyap, पा. ३-१-१०९) names "vṛ"; by the Mahābhāṣya's ruling क्यब्विधौ वृञ्ग्रहणम् (kyab-vidhau vṛñ-grahaṇam, पा. म. ३-१-१०९) "vṛñ varaṇe" is meant there and not the root of "sambhakti," so "kyap" does not come here. तित्स्वरितम् (पा. ६-१-१८५) would make the "t"-marked affix svarita; this is set aside by ईडवन्दवृशंसदुहां ण्यतः (पा. ६-१-२१४): the "ṇyat"-final forms of these roots are first-syllable acute, so "vārya" is first-syllable acute; the "vṛ" in that sūtra, by its association with the ātmanepada roots "īḍ" and "vand," is taken to be the ātmanepada root. In "ṇyat" both "ṇ" and "t" are "it"-letters, in "yat" only the "t"; यतोऽनावः (पा. ६-१-२१३) — a two-vowelled word ending in "yat," except "nau," is first-syllable acute — therefore does not take in "ṇyat."
- "Sacā" — "saca samavāye" (to unite): धात्वादेः षः सः (पा. ६-१-६४) — the root's initial "ṣ" becomes "s" — "sac"; सम्पदादिभ्यः क्विप् (पा. ३-३-१०८; printed "3-2-108") "kvip"; the third-case singular, “sacā”; since all rules are optional in the Veda (सर्वे विधयश्छन्दसि विकल्प्यन्ते, परिभाषा ३५), सावेकाचस्तृतीयादिर्विभक्तिः (पा. ६-१-१६८) does not apply and the ending is not acute; by the root-accent “sacā” is first-syllable acute; if “sacā” is regarded as a particle (nipāta), then निपाता आद्युदात्ताः (फि. सू. ८०) makes it first-syllable acute, which is plain. ॥२॥

---

Sūkta 5, The Third Mantra

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

स घा॑ नो॒ योग॒ आ भु॑वत्स॒ राये स पुर॑ंध्यां । ग॒म॒द्वाजे॑भि॒रा स नः॑ ॥३॥

sá ghā no yóga ā́ bhuvatsá rāyé sa púraṃdhyāṃ | gamadvā́jebhirā́ sá naḥ ||3||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

सः । घ । नः । योगे । आ । भुवत् । सः । राये । सः । पुरम्ऽध्याम् । गमत् । वाजेभिः । आ । सः । नः ॥३॥

(Reading note: the print’s Pada text for “yoga” in the Saṃhitā is “yoge” (locative); the Saṃhitā “yoga ā” is its sandhi; and “puraṃdhyām” is divided as “puraṃ-dhyām.” In the Saṃhitā the print runs “bhuvat sa” together as “bhuvatsa.”)

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

घशब्दोऽवधारणार्थो निपातः सर्वैस्तच्छब्दैः संबध्यते । स घ स एवेन्द्रः पूर्वमन्त्रोक्तगुणविशिष्टो नोऽस्माकं योगे पूर्वमप्राप्तस्य पुरुषार्थस्य संबन्ध आ भुवत् । आभवतु । पुरुषार्थं साधयित्वित्यर्थः । स एव राये धनार्थमाभुवत् । आभवतु । स एव पुरंध्यां योषित्या भुवत् । यद्वा बहुविधायां बुद्धावा भुवत् । पुरंधिर्बहुधीः । नि. ६-१३ । इति यास्कः । स एव वाजेभिर्देयैरन्नैः ... gha-śabdo ’vadhāraṇārtho nipātaḥ sarvais tac-chabdaiḥ sambadhyate | sa gha sa evendraḥ pūrvamantroktaguṇa-viśiṣṭo no ’smākaṃ yoge pūrvam aprāptasya puruṣārthasya sambandha ā bhuvat | ābhavatu | puruṣārthaṃ sādhayitvity arthaḥ | sa eva rāye dhanārtham ābhuvat | ābhavatu | sa eva puraṃdhyāṃ yoṣity ā bhuvat | yadvā bahu-vidhāyāṃ buddhāv ā bhuvat | puraṃdhir bahudhīḥ | ni. 6-13 | iti yāskaḥ | sa eva vājebhir deyair annaiḥ ... (Reading notes, re-checked against the better scan: “yoṣityā” = “yoṣiti ā” and “buddhāvā” = “buddhau ā” in sandhi; the Nirukta reference is clearly “6-13.”)

Translation (of the part on this page): “The word ‘gha’ is a particle in the sense of emphasis, and is connected with all the ‘sa’ (he) words. ‘Sa gha’ — he, that very Indra, endowed with the qualities stated in the preceding mantra, ‘no yoge ā bhuvat’ — ‘let him come to be’ in our ‘yoga’ — that is, in the acquisition (sambandha) of the human aim not yet attained — that is, ‘having accomplished the human aim’ (puruṣārtha). He himself — ‘rāye’ — let him come to be for the sake of wealth. He himself, ‘puraṃdhyām’ — let him come to be in the woman (‘yoṣiti’); or: let him come to be in the manifold understanding. ‘Puraṃdhi’ means ‘one of much understanding’

— so Yāska (Nirukta 6-13). He himself, with 'vājebhiḥ' — with the foods that are to be given …" (the sentence continues on the next page).

Page 162 — Rik 5.3: Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya concluded; grammar (characterized); Pada-meanings; Bhāvārtha; English rendering

(Page header: "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā · Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 5." Sanskrit printed in Kannada script; [?] where unclear. English as printed.)

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥ (concluding the sentence begun on p. 161:)

> …वाजेभिर्देयैरन्नैः सह नोऽस्मानागमत् । आगच्छतु ॥ … vājebhir deyair annaiḥ saha no 'smān āgamat | āgacchatu ||

Translation: "…(that very Indra) with the foods that are to be given — together with them, may he come to us, 'āgamat' — let him come."

Grammar within the Bhāṣya (re-read from the better scan; sūtras kept): "Gha" — unaccented by चादयोऽनुदात्ताः (cādayo 'nudāttāḥ); in the saṃhitā ऋचि तुनुघमक्षुतङ्कुत्रोरुष्याणाम् (ṛci tu-nu-gha-makṣu-taṅ-ku-tro-ruṣyāṇām, पा. ६-३-१३३) lengthens it ("ghā"). "Yoge" — "ghañ," and being "ñ"-marked it is first-syllable acute. "Bhuvat" — = "bhūyāt": after "bhū" with the benedictive "liṅ," the affix "aṅ" by लिङ्याशिषि अङ् (liṅy āśiṣy aṅ); as it is "ṅ"-marked there is no guṇa, hence the substitute "uvaṅ"; the augment "yāsuṭ" of किदाशिषि does not come, by the statement अनित्यमागमशासनम् (anityam āgama-śāsanam, "the teaching of augments is not binding"); the verb is unaccented by तिङ्ङतिङः. "Rāye" — the case-ending is acute by ऊडिदम्पदाद्यप्पुम्रैद्युभ्यः. "Puraṃdhyām" — "puraṃdhiḥ" = "purudhīḥ": as a "pṛṣodara"-type word (पा. ६-३-१०९) the "u" is replaced by "am" and the "ī" is shortened; it is first-syllable acute by the statement आद्युदात्तप्रकरणे दिवोदासादीनां छन्दस्युपसंख्यानम् (पा. ६-२-९१-वा. १). Or: "puraṃ śarīraṃ dhīyate 'syām" — by कर्मण्यधिकरणे च (पा. ३-३-९३) the affix "ki"; the non-elision ("aluk") is Vedic; "puru" is first-syllable acute by नब्विषयस्यानिसन्तस्य, and as a "dāsībhārādi" word (पा. ६-२-४२) the first member keeps its own accent. "Gamat" — गमेर्लेटि तिप् (gamer leṭi tip); the "i" is elided by इतश्च लोपः परस्मैपदेषु; "śap" is elided by बहुलं छन्दसि; the augment "aṭ" by लेटोऽडाटौ; as आगमा अनुदात्ताः (म. ३-१-३-२) it is unaccented, and only the root accent remains. "Vājebhiḥ" — first-syllable acute as a "vṛṣādi" word. ॥३॥

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

सः घ (sa gha) — that Indra (indeed) | नः (naḥ) — to us | योगे (yoge) — in the matter of obtaining the human aim (puruṣārtha) that we desire, which gives the connection (with it) | आ भुवत् (ā bhuvat) — let him be favourable | सः (saḥ) — that Indra | राये (rāye) — in the matter of giving wealth, too | (ā bhuvat — let him be favourable) | सः (saḥ) — that Indra | पुरंध्याम् (puraṃdhyām) — in the matter of giving us young women, or in the matter of producing in us right understanding, too | (ā bhuvat — let him be favourable) | सः (saḥ) — that Indra | वाजेभिः (vājebhiḥ) — with foods and the like | नः (naḥ) — to our sacrifice | आ गमत् (ā gamat) — let him come.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

The attainment of the objects we desire, wealth (and lordship), young women (that is, wives, favourable to us), or a timely understanding and knowledge — in order that we may have these things and be happy, that Indra must be favourable to us; that is, it is only by Indra's grace that such desired objects can be obtained. Besides this, may that Indra come to our sacrifice and be the giver of the food (the nourishment) we need.

English Translation (printed in English in the source itself):

"May he be to us for the attainment of our objects; may he be to us for the acquirement of riches; may he be to us for the acquisition of young women or manifold knowledge; may he come to us with food."

Page 163 — Special topics on Rik 5.3: "gha," "yoge," "puraṃdhyām"; Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (opening)

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 9 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." English as printed. The Ṛg-vedic references for Hillebrandt's "puraṃdhi" re-read from the better scan.)

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

घ (gha) — "eva" ("indeed") — used in the sense of emphasis (avadhāraṇa). This word, in many places, is used in the saṃhitā-text with a lengthened final vowel to suit the metre, but in the pada-text it has the short vowel.

योगे (yoge) — The Bhāṣyakāra explains it as "attaining the desired object." Skandasvāmī: "yogaḥ udyogaḥ, utsāhaḥ, alabdha-lābho vā" (योगः उद्योगः, उत्साहः, अलब्धलाभो वा — "'yoga' is effort, enterprise; or the obtaining of what has not been obtained"). He explains it as effort, enterprise, or the attainment of a desired thing not yet obtained.

पुरंध्याम् (puraṃdhyām) — The Bhāṣyakāra gives two senses: "young women" (yoṣit) and "understanding" (prajñā). There is a Śruti sentence, "puraṃdhir yoṣety āha" (पुरंधिर्योषेत्याह — "'puraṃdhi' means 'a woman,' it says," Taittirīya-brāhmaṇa [as printed "tai. brā."]). Skandasvāmī and Veṅkaṭamādhava have explained it as "buddhi, knowledge, prajñā." Hillebrandt has given this word many senses, among them (English as printed) "Active, Zealous, fertile, munificent, generous"; and in the Ṛks Ṛ. Saṃ. 5-42-5; 6-49-14; 6-21-9; 7-36-8; 7-39-4; 10-85-36 this word is used, he says, in the sense of "Personified as a goddess of abundance and liberality." Western scholars have variously explained this word, according to the context, in the many Ṛks where it occurs; and the Bhāṣyakāra also gives different senses in different places. In their respective contexts these senses will be explained fully.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (Kannada; re-read from the better scan, sūtras kept) "Gha" — as it belongs to the "cādi" class, चादयोऽनुदात्ताः (फि. सू. ८४) makes it unaccented. In the saṃhitā ऋचि तुनुघमक्षुतङ्कुत्रोरुष्याणाम् (पा. ६-३-१३३) lengthens the vowel: in the Ṛgveda "tu," "nu," "gha," "makṣu," the "t" that comes as the "ṅ"-marked substitute for "tha," "ku," "tra" and "uruṣya" are lengthened. "Yoge" — the word ending in the affix "ghañ" is first-syllable acute because the affix is "ñ"-marked. "Bhuvat" — its sense is "bhūyāt"; after the root "bhū sattāyām," with the benedictive “liṅ” following, लिङ्याशिष्यङ् (liṅy āśiṣy aṅ, पा. ३-१-८६) gives the affix “aṅ”; as the affix is “ṅ”-marked, क्ङिति च (पा. १-१-५; printed “1-15”) bars guṇa; अचि श्नुधातुभ्रुवां य्वोरियङुवङौ (पा. ६-४-७७) gives “uvaṅ.” By अनित्यमागमशासनम् (परिभाषा ९२-२) — the rules that prescribe augments are not binding — the augment “yāsuṭ” does not come, whether by Mādhavācārya’s view, किदाशिषि (पा. ३-४-१०४), or by the grammarians’ view, यासुट् परस्मैपदेषूदात्तो ङिच्च (पा. ३-४-१०३) … (continued on the next page)

Page 164 — Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā for Rik 5.3 concluded (characterized); end of Rik 5.3

(Page header: “Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā · Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 5.” Pure grammar in Kannada prose, characterized in outline; sūtras kept; numbers as read. It restates the Sanskrit of pp. 161–162 and does not affect the sense.)

(Continuing “bhuvat” from p. 163:) …the augment “yāsuṭ” does not arise in “bhuvat” (the verb is of the “ap”-type, लिङ्याशिषि, as above), and “bhuvat” is unaccented by तिङ्ङतिङः (पा. ८-१-२८). “Rāye” — the case-ending is acute because it follows “rai,” (ऊडिदम्पदाद्यप्पुम्रैद्युभ्यः, पा. ६-१-१७१; printed “6-1-161”).

“Puraṃdhyām” — “puru” = “many-kinded,” “dhī” = “understanding”; from the words “puru” and “dhī,” by the rule पृषोदरादीनि यथोपदिष्टम् (पा. ६-३-१०९) — “pṛṣodara” and the like, formed as taught, (according to the usage of the learned) — the word “puraṃdhi” is obtained; “ādi” here means “variety.” The print notes that, though “puru + dhī” would give “puru + dhī” with the “am” augment and the “ī” shortened by grammar, learned usage has “puraṃdhi,” so the word is “established by the rule ‘pṛṣodarādīni’.” By आद्युदात्तप्रकरणे दिवोदासादीनां छन्दस्युपसंख्यानम् (पा. ६-२-९१-वा. १) — in the Veda, words of the “divodāsa”-class are added to the section of first-syllable-acute words — the accent is first-syllable acute. Alternatively, “puraṃ śarīraṃ dhīyate ’syām” — “that in which the body is placed” — कर्मण्यधिकरणे च (पा. ३-३-९३) — the affix “ki” after a root of the “ghu” class (“dā/dhā”) when a word in the objective case is the upapada and the sense is locative: “puraṃ + dhā + ki” = “puraṃdhi”; the “ā” of the root is elided by आतो लोप इटि च (पा. ६-४-६४; printed “6-3-64”); the elision of the case-ending “am” that सुपो धातुप्रातिपदिकयोः (पा. २-४-७१) would prescribe does not occur, being Vedic. The word “pura” has first-syllable acute by नब्विषयस्यानिसन्तस्य (फि. सू. २६); but as “puraṃdhi” belongs to the “dāsībhārādi” class, its first member keeps its natural accent: कुरुगार्हपतरिक्तगुर्वसूतजरत्यश्लीलदृढरूपापारेवडवातैतिलकद्रूः पण्यकम्बलो दासीभाराणां च (पा. ६-२-४२) — “these seven compounds, and compounds beginning with ‘dāsī-bhāra,’ keep the first member’s own accent” — so, as a member of the “dāsībhārādi” class, “puraṃdhi” keeps its first member’s accent; it is first-syllable acute.

“Gamat” — the root “gam gatau,” the “leṭ” (a Vedic mood) with the third-person singular “tip”; बहुलं छन्दसि (पा. २-४-७३) makes “śap” optional (“luk”); इतश्च लोपः परस्मैपदेषु (पा. ३-४-९७) elides the “i” of “tip”; लेटोऽडाटौ (पा. ३-४-९४) gives the augment “aṭ” or “āṭ” to “leṭ,” and since they are “p”-marked [the print says “pit”], the augment “aṭ” is added to “gam”: “gam + a + t.” आगमा अनुदात्ताः (पा. सू. म. ३-१-३-७ [?]; “3-1-3-2” on p. 162) — “augments are unaccented” — so the “a” of “aṭ” is unaccented; the accent of the root alone remains. “Vājebhiḥ” — a “vṛṣādi” word, so first-syllable acute (वृषादीनां च, पा. ६-१-२०३). ॥३॥

Sūkta 5, The Fourth Mantra

(Page header of the next page: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 9 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

Page 165 — Rik 5.4: Saṃhitā, Pada, Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya, grammar (characterized), Pada-meanings

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

यस्य॑ सं॒स्थे न वृ॒ण्व॒ते हरी॑ स॒मत्सु॒ शत्र॑वः । तस्मा इंद्रा॑य गायत ॥४॥

yásya saṃsthé na vṛṇváte hárī samátsu śátravaḥ | tasmā íṃdrāya gāyata ||4||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

यस्य । सम्ऽस्थे । न । वृण्वते । हरी इति । समत्ऽसु । शत्रवः । तस्मै । इन्द्राय । गायत ॥४॥

(Reading note: the print divides "saṃ-sthe" and "sama-tsu" as shown; the Pada text has "harī iti.")

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

समत्सु युद्धेषु यस्येन्द्रस्य संस्थे रथे युक्तौ हरी द्वावश्वौ शत्रवो न वृण्वते न संभजन्ते । रथमश्वौ च दृष्ट्वा पलायन्त इत्यर्थः । तस्मा इन्द्राय तत्संतोषार्थं हे ऋत्विजो गायत स्तुतिं कुरुत । रण इत्यादिषु षट्चत्वारिंशत्सु संग्रामनामसु समत्सु समरण इति पठितम् ॥ samatsu yuddheṣu yasyendrasya saṃsthe rathe yuktau harī dvāv aśvau śatravo na vṛṇvate na sambhajante | ratham aśvau ca dṛṣṭvā palāyanta ity arthaḥ | tasmā indrāya tat-santoṣārthaṃ he ṛtvijo gāyata stutiṃ kuruta | raṇa ity ādiṣu ṣaṭcatvāriṃśatsu saṃgrāma-nāmasu samatsu samaraṇa iti paṭhitam ||

Translation: "In 'samatsu' — in battles — of that Indra in whose 'saṃsthe' — chariot — the yoked 'harī' — the two horses — the enemies 'na vṛṇvate' — do not 'sambhajante' (do not face, do not withstand); that is, seeing the chariot and the two horses, they flee. To that Indra, for his satisfaction, O priests, 'gāyata' — make praise. Among the forty-six names of battle beginning with 'raṇa,' 'samatsu' and 'samaraṇa' are read."

Grammar within the Bhāṣya (characterized, sūtras kept): "Saṃsthe" — "sammuk tiṣṭhatīti saṃstho rathaḥ" ("that which stands facing — the chariot"): by आतश्चोपसर्गे (पा. ३-१-१३६) the affix "ka"; the accent of the kṛt-final member is kept (कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम्). "Vṛṇvate" — the "a" of the "u"-affix of the "svādi" class is acute by the affix-accent; सति शिष्टस्वरबलीयस्त्वमन्यत्र विकरणेभ्यः (पा. ६-१-१५८-९ [as printed]) — "when two accents are possible, the remaining (śiṣṭa) accent prevails, except in the case of the vikaraṇa" — the nighāta of तिङ्ङतिङः does not apply, because of the prohibition of nighāta for a verb in a relative ("yad") clause (यद्वृत्तान्नित्यम्, पा. ८-१-६६); and, even with the ablative indication, an operation is permitted here with an intervening word (पञ्चमीनिर्देशेऽपि, पा. १-१-६६). "Harī" — "harato 'ratham" ("they carry the chariot") — the two horses; with "in" continued, the Uṇādi

हृपिषिरुहिवृतिविदिच्छिदिकीर्तिभ्यश्च (hṛ-piṣi-ruhi-vṛti-vidi-cchidi-kīrtibhyaś ca, उ. सू. ४-११८) gives the affix "in," which is "n"-marked, hence first-syllable acute. "Samatsu" — "sam" + "ad" (to eat) with "kvip." "Śatravaḥ" — "śat" is a root taken from the sūtras in the sense of injuring; the Uṇādi "kru" (रुशतिभ्यां क्रुन्, उ. सू. ४-१०३), "n"-marked so first-syllable acute. "Tasmai" — the case-ending "smai" is not acute (सावेकाचस्तृतीयादिर्विभक्तिः is barred by न गोश्वन्साववर्णराडङ्क्रुङ्कृद्भ्यः, पा. ६-१-१८२), so the stem's own accent alone remains.

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

समत्सु (samatsu) — in battles | शत्रवः (śatravaḥ) — enemies | यस्य (yasya) — of that (Indra) | संस्थे (saṃsthe) — in the chariot (yoked) | हरी (harī) — the two horses | न वृण्वते (na vṛṇvate) — do not withstand | तस्मै (tasmai) — to such | इन्द्राय (indrāya) — for Indra | गायत (gāyata) — sing with stotras.

Page 166 — Rik 5.4: Bhāvārtha; English rendering; Special topics

(Page header: "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 5." English as printed. The list of Ṛg-vedic references after "samatsu" re-read from the better scan.)

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

In the battles, the enemies, who do not have the strength to approach the pair of horses yoked to the chariot of that Indra, who has such power — sing, with stotras and the like, to that Indra.

English Translation (printed in English in the source itself):

"Sing in honour of that Indra whose pair of towny [sic] horses the enemies do not approach in battles."

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

In this Ṛk, Indra's power is described indirectly (apratyakṣa). When battle is going on between Indra and his enemies, if those enemies have not the strength even to come near the pair of horses yoked to Indra's chariot, how could they fight with Indra himself? Hence the sense: the enemies flee in terror as soon as they see Indra's chariot.

संस्थे (saṃsthe) — "sammyak tiṣṭhatīti saṃstho rathaḥ" — since the chariot stands firm (and well) in battle and the like, it is called "saṃstha," that is, "chariot." Skandasvāmī has explained "saṃsthe" as "in battle" ("saṅgrāme"). But since in this Ṛk the word "samatsu," which indicates battle, is already a separate word, there is no need to bring in a second sense "battle" for "saṃsthe"; so the sense given by the Bhāṣyakāra — "chariot" — is the one to be accepted.

हरी (harī) — "harato rathaṃ" ("they carry the chariot") — hence "harī" are the horses; the word "hari" is commonly used in the sense of "horse," though for this word the sense "tawny or bay horse" (English as printed: "tawny or bay horse") — horses of a fawn-yellow colour — should be said. This word is used even in present-day Sanskrit.

समत्सु (samatsu) — The word “samatsu” is read among the forty-six words that signify battle, beginning with “raṇa” (Ni. 3-9 [as printed]). This word is always used in the locative plural only. Apart from this Ṛk it is found in Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-66-3; 1-70-6; 1-130-8; 1-173-7; [?]-12-3; 3-30-22; 4-20-1; 4-24-6; 4-38-4; 5-33-4; 6-18-6; 6-25-9 and others — in 29 Ṛks (references re-read from the better scan; the first digit of the fifth falls at a line-break). Skandasvāmī explains this word as follows: “ade bhakṣaṇe | sambhakṣayatsu parasparaṃ yodheṣu mahati yuddhe pravṛtte ity arthaḥ” (अदे भक्षणे । संभक्षयत्सु परस्परं योधेषु महति युद्धे प्रवृत्ते इत्यर्थः — “‘ad’ is in the sense of eating; the meaning is ‘when, in a great battle that has begun, the warriors devour one another’”). That is, since the root “ad” means “to eat,” and in a battle warriors fiercely attack and “devour” one another, “samatsu” is explained as “in battles.” Western scholars explain this word with (English as printed) “fight, battle, contest, especially battle where confused voices of men, and din of weapons are heard.”

Page 167 — Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā for Rik 5.4 (characterized)

(Page header: “Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 9 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā.” Pure grammar in Kannada prose, the Kannada rendering of the Sanskrit of p. 165, with extended argument on the accent of “vṛṇvate.” Characterized in outline; sūtras kept; numbers as read.)

“Saṃsthe” — “sammyak tiṣṭhatīti saṃsthaḥ” — the root “sthā gati-nivṛttau” (to stand) after the prefix “sam”; आतश्चोपसर्गे (पा. ३-१-१३६) — after a root ending in “ā,” when a prefix stands as upapada, the affix “ka” — and आतो लोप इटि च (पा. ६-४-६४) elides the “ā” → “saṃstha”; the accent of the kṛt-final member is kept (कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम्). The locative singular “ṅi” → “e”: “saṃsthe.”

“Vṛṇvate” — “vṛñ varaṇe” (to choose), “laṭ,” ātmanepada, third-person plural “jha” → “ant”; स्वादिभ्यः श्नुः (पा. ३-१-७३) — “śnu” after the roots of the “su”-class (svādi); “vṛ + nu + ante”; आत्मनेपदेष्वनतः (पा. ७-१-५) — “ant” becomes “at” after a non-“a” stem in the ātmanepada → “vṛ + nu + ate”; हुश्नुवोः सार्वधातुके (पा. ६-४-८७) — “y” before a vowel-initial sārvadhātuka for the “u” of the “hu” class and of “śnu,” when a conjunct does not precede the “u” — would apply, but here the stem is a “śnu” stem that follows a conjunct-consonant… the print says that since the “u” comes after the conjunct “rn,” यणादेश (the semivowel substitute) takes place only where there is no conjunct before: here there is a “ṛ + n” cluster, so (असंयोगपूर्वस्य) “uv” does not appear; टित आत्मनेपदानां टेरे (पा. ३-४-७९) — the “ṭi” part of an ātmanepada ending of a “ṭit” (“laṭ”) becomes “e”; वुञ्— (the print abbreviates a rule: “after a vowel-ending stem, the ‘n’ of ‘ṇ’ is …”) → the “n” of “nu” becomes “ṇ” after “ṛ” (रषाभ्यां नो णः समानपदे, पा. ८-४-१) → “vṛṇvate.”

The accent of “vṛṇvate.” In “vṛṇvate” three accent-sources compete: the root’s, the affix “śnu”’s (a “ś”-marked vikaraṇa), and the personal ending’s. Following सति शिष्टस्वरबलीयस्त्वमन्यत्र विकरणेभ्यः (पा. ६-१-१५८-९ [as printed “6-1-158-9”]) — “when a remaining accent is available, it prevails, except over the vikaraṇas” — the print explains at length why the “śnu” vikaraṇa’s own accent (given by आद्युदात्तश्च, पा. ३-१-३) does not apply as one might expect, and why, by अनुदात्तं पदमेकवर्जम् (पा. ६-१-१५८), only the one syllable “ṇ-” (the affix’s “a” accent) is acute while the rest of the word is unaccented; the print concludes (against an objector, who cites “aupasargatvam” and the “upasarga + aṇ” example) that the accent of the affix (“ate”) is the one that remains, so “vṛṇvate” has its acute on “va.” The argument is a long scholastic one, and I give only its conclusion: “vṛṇvate” is acute on the affix’s “a” (the syllable “va” of “vate”), and the tiṅanta nighāta of तिङ्ङतिङः does not occur because the verb stands in a relative (“yasya …”) clause (यद्वृत्तान्नित्यम्, पा. ८-१-६६). (The print’s treatment of this accent runs onto the next page.)

Pages 168–169 — Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā for Rik 5.4 concluded (characterized); end of Rik 5.4

(Page headers: p. 168 “Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā · Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 5”; p. 169 “Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 9 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā.” These two pages are pure Pāṇinian derivation in Kannada prose, a very technical scholastic argument on the accent of “vṛṇvate” followed by the derivation of “harī,” “samatsu,” “śatravaḥ” and “tasmai.” They do not bear on the sense of the Rik (pp. 165–166). Per the standing convention they are characterized in outline, with the sūtras named kept in three layers and the numbers as I read them; the argument on p. 168 is crowded and I give only its drift.)

p. 168 — the accent of “vṛṇvate” (concluded). The page continues the argument of p. 167. The rule आद्युदात्तश्च (पा. ३-१-३) would give the “śnu” vikaraṇa an acute; but अनुदात्तं पदमेकवर्जम् (पा. ६-१-१५८) — made to cohere with it by a “vākyaikatā” (single-sentence) reading — leaves only one syllable accented; the maxim सति शिष्टस्वरबलीयस्त्वमन्यत्र विकरणेभ्यः (“in the presence of a remaining accent, that accent prevails, except for the vikaraṇas”) is, the print says, a jñāpaka (an indirect proof) from the rule तास्यनुदात्तेन्ङिदुपदेशाल्लसार्वधातुकमनुदात्तमहन्वनोर्ङित् (पा. ६-१-१८६), which makes the sārvadhātuka affix after “tās” unaccented; and the print adds that this jñāpaka works only if the maxim has the “vācanika” (explicit) force with the words “anyatra vikaraṇebhyaḥ.” The consequence is that in “vṛṇvate” the vikaraṇa’s accent does not displace the affix’s. As to the nighāta of तिङ्ङतिङः (पा. ८-१-२८): in a clause with “yad” (which) the verb is not made unaccented (यद्वृत्तान्नित्यम्, पा. ८-१-६६); here “vṛṇvate” is not immediately after “yasya” (the relative word “yat” is not directly before it); the print explains that the rule of non-adjacency is set aside by पूजनात्पूजितमनुदात्तं (पा. ८-१-६७) and by the paribhāṣā पञ्चमीनिर्देशेऽपि नानन्तर्यमिष्यते (“even with an ablative indication, immediate contiguity is not required”), so that यद्वृत्तान्नित्यम् applies even with an intervening word; hence the verb is not unaccented by “tiṅ atiṅaḥ,” and “vṛṇvate” keeps its acute. “Harī” — “harato ratham” (“they carry the chariot”) — the two horses: the Uṇādi हृपिषिरुहिवृतिविदिच्छिदिकीर्तिभ्यश्च (उ. सू. ४-५-५८ [as printed]; “4-118” on p. 165), the affix “in” after “hṛñ haraṇe” (to carry) … (continues on p. 169).

p. 169. The roots listed in that Uṇādi-sūtra are “hṛñ,” “piṣ,” “ruh” and the rest, and “in” is added; “hṛ + in,” then guṇa → “hari”; the dual “au” → “ī” in the Veda; “harī” — end-acute by the affix’s accent, “n”-marked so first-syllable acute by the Uṇādi rule (ञित्यादिर्नित्यम्). “Samatsu” — after the prefix “sam,” the root “ad” (to eat) takes “kvip”; “sam + ad + kvip + su.” “Śatravaḥ” — the root “śat” (“śati hiṃsāyām”) is a “sautra” root (taken from the sūtras, not read in the dhātupāṭha); the print says that, since the grammarians treat it as established in the sūtras, it must be accepted as authoritative; with the sense “to injure” the affix “kru” (रुशतिभ्यां क्रुन्, उ. सू. ४-५-४३ [as printed]; “4-103” on p. 165) → “śatru”; the nominative plural “jas”; the “j” and “s” are “it”-letters; शत्रुः… the “u” takes guṇa before “jas” (जसि च, पा. ७-३-१०९ — “guṇa for a final ‘i/u/ṛ/ḷ’ before ‘jas’”) → “śatro + as” → “śatrav + as” (एचोऽयवायावः) → “śatravaḥ.” The root's accent is overridden by the affix's (the affix "kru" is "n"-marked, ञित्यादिर्नित्यम्), so the first syllable "śa" is acute and the other syllables unaccented. "Tasmai" — "tan vistāre" (to stretch): the Uṇādi त्यजितनियजिभ्यो डित् (उ. सू. १-१२९), with "adiḥ" continued from the preceding sūtra, gives the affix "ad," "ḍit" — "tan + ad" → elision of the "ṭi" → "tad"; the fourth-case singular "ṅe"; त्यदादीनामः (पा. ७-२-१०२) turns the "d" into "a" → "ta + a + e"; अतो गुणे (पा. ६-१-९७; printed "6-1-62" [?]) → "ta + e" → सर्वनाम्नः स्मै (पा. ७-१-१४; printed "6-1-14") → "tasmai." (The page ends mid-sentence in this derivation, which is continued on the next page.) ॥४॥

---

Sūkta 5, The Fifth Mantra

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

Page 170 — Rik 5.4 grammar concluded ("tasmai," "indrāya"); Saṃhitā and Pada text of Rik 5.5

(Page header: "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā · Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 5." Placement note: the heading "Sūkta 5, The Fifth Mantra" above was written before I had read to the foot of p. 169's grammar; the first paragraph below is therefore the last lines of Rik 5.4's grammar, which the print carries onto p. 170, and the Saṃhitā text of Rik 5.5 follows it. Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. Grammar characterized, sūtras kept.)

Rik 5.4, grammar concluded ("tasmai," "indrāya"). (Continuing from p. 169:) "…the 'smai' ending, which replaces 'ṅe,' is unaccented (अनुदात्तौ सुप्पितौ, पा. ३-१-४), since it stands in the place of an unaccented ending. Although by सावेकाचस्तृतीयादिर्विभक्तिः (पा. ६-१-१६८) the ending after a one-vowel stem would be acute when 'su'-type endings of the seven cases follow — here the stem 'ta' is one-syllabled and the seventh-case plural 'su' is a 'sārvanāmasthāna'-type ending — the sūtra न गोश्वन्साववर्णराडङ्क्रुङ्कृद्भ्यः (पा. ६-१-१८२) forbids that acute for words ending in 'a,' and so 'smai' is unaccented. The 'a' that arises in place of the consonant 'd' is itself unaccented (a consonant's substitute); the pararūpa 'a' that results is acute, as it takes the place of an acute and an unaccented; so in 'tasmai' the 'ta' is acute and 'smai' unaccented; on separating the words, 'smai' being unaccented after an acute is svarita. In the saṃhitā, before 'indrāya' the 'ai' of 'smai' becomes 'āy' (एचोऽयवायावः), and 'tasmāy' + 'indrāya' by लोपः शाकल्यस्य (पा. ८-३-१९), the 'y' after 'ā' is elided before a vowel; since this elision is 'asiddha' (पूर्वत्रासिद्धम्, पा. ८-२-१), no guṇa-sandhi arises; the 'ā' that arises in place of 'ai' is unaccented by sthānivadbhāva; and, since an acute follows, it is lowered (sannatara)." ॥४॥

---

Sūkta 5, The Fifth Mantra

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

सु॒तपा॑व्ने सु॒ता इ॒मे शुच॑यो यंति वी॒तये । सोमा॑सो॒ दध्या॑शिरः ॥५॥

sutapā́vne sutā́ imé śúcayo yaṃti vītáye | sómāso dádhyāśiraḥ ||5||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

सुतऽपाव्ने । सुताः । इमे । शुचयः । यन्ति । वीतये । सोमासः । दधिऽआशिरः ॥५॥

Page 171 — Rik 5.5: Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya, grammar (characterized), Pada-meanings, Bhāvārtha

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 9 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." Sanskrit printed in Kannada script; [?] where unclear.)

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

इमे सोमासोऽस्मिन्कर्मणि संपादिताः सोमाः सुतपाव्नेऽभिषुतस्य सोमस्य पानकर्त्रे । षष्ठ्यर्थे चतुर्थी । तस्य पातुर्वीतये भक्षणार्थं यन्ति तमेव प्राप्नुवन्ति । कीदृशाः सोमाः । सुता अभिषुताः शुचयो दशापवित्रेण शोधितत्वाच्छुद्धा दध्याशिरः । अवनीयमानं दध्याशीर्दोषघातकं येषां सोमानां ते दध्याशिरः ॥ सुतपाव्ने । सुतं पिबतीति सुतपावा । वनिपः पित्त्वाद्धातुस्वर एव शिष्यते । समासे द्वितीयापूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरं बाधित्वा कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् । शुचयः । शुच दीप्तौ । इन्नित्यनुवृत्त्वादिगुपधात्कित् । उ. ४-११९ । इतीन् । कित्त्वाल्लघूपधगुणाभावः । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वम् । वीतये । वी गतिप्रजनकान्त्यशनखादनेषु ... मन्त्रे वृषेषपचमनविदभूवीरा उदात्तः । पा. ३-३-९६ । इति क्तिन्नुदात्तः । सोमासः । षुञ् अभिषवे । अर्तिस्तुसुहुसृधृक्षिक्षुभायावापदियक्षिनीभ्यो मन् । उ. १-१३९ । मन् । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । आज्ञसेरसुक् । पा. ७-१-५० । इत्यसुगागमः । दध्याशिरः । दधाति पुष्णातीति दधि । डुधाञ् धारणपोषणयोः । आदृगमहनजनः किकिनौ लिट् च । पा. ३-२-१७१ । इति किन् । लिड्वद्भावाद्द्विर्भावः । कित्त्वादाकारलोपः । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वम् । श्रा पाके ... शृ हिंसायाम् । शृणाति हिनस्ति सोमेऽवनीयमानं सत्सोमस्य स्वाभाविकं रसमृजीषत्वप्रयुक्तं नीरसं दोषं वेत्याशीः । क्विप्यृत इद्धातोः । पा. ७-१-१०० । इतीत्वं रपरत्वं च । दध्येवाशीर्येषां सोमानां ते दध्याशिरः । बहुव्रीहौ पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् ॥ ime somāso 'smin karmaṇi sampāditāḥ somāḥ sutapāvne 'bhiṣutasya somasya pāna-kartre | ṣaṣṭhy-arthe caturthī | tasya pātur vītaye bhakṣaṇārthaṃ yanti tam eva prāpnuvanti | kīdṛśāḥ somāḥ | sutā abhiṣutāḥ śucayo daśā-pavitreṇa śodhitatvāc chuddhā dadhyāśiraḥ | avanīyamānaṃ dadhyāśīr doṣa-ghātakaṃ yeṣāṃ somānāṃ te dadhyāśiraḥ || sutapāvne | sutaṃ pibatīti sutapāvā | vanipaḥ pittvād dhātusvara eva śiṣyate | samāse dvitīyā-pūrvapada-prakṛti-svaraṃ bādhitvā kṛd-uttarapada-prakṛti-svaratvam | śucayaḥ | śuca dīptau | in nity anuvṛttvādi-gupadhāt kit | u. 4-119 | itīn | kittvāl laghūpadha-guṇābhāvaḥ | nittvād ādyudāttatvam | vītaye | vī gati-prajana-kānty-aśana-khādaneṣu ... mantre vṛṣeṣapacamanavidabhūvīrā udāttaḥ | pā. 3-3-96 | iti ktin nudāttaḥ | somāsaḥ | ṣuñ abhiṣave | artistusuhusṛdhṛkṣikṣubhāyāvāpadiyakṣinībhyo man | u. 1-139 | man | nittvād ādyudāttaḥ | āj-jaser asuk | pā. 7-1-50 | ity asug-āgamaḥ | dadhyāśiraḥ | dadhāti puṣṇātīti dadhi | ḍudhāñ dhāraṇa-poṣaṇayoḥ | ādṛgamahanajanaḥ kikinau liṭ ca | pā. 3-2-171 | iti kin | liḍvad-bhāvād dvirbhāvaḥ | kittvād ākāra-lopaḥ | nittvād ādyudāttatvam | śrā pāke ... śṛ hiṃsāyām | śṛṇāti hinasti some 'vanīyamānaṃ sat somasya svābhāvikaṃ rasam ṛjīṣatva-prayuktaṃ nīrasaṃ doṣaṃ vety āśīḥ | kvipy ṛta id dhātoḥ | pā. 7-1-100 | itītvaṃ raparatvaṃ ca | dadhy evāśīr yeṣāṃ somānāṃ te dadhyāśiraḥ | bahuvrīhau pūrvapada-prakṛti-svaratvam || (Reading note: the last part — the analysis of "āśīḥ" — re-read from the better scan: "kvipy ṛta id dhātoḥ (pā. 7-1-100) ... dadhy evāśīr yeṣāṃ somānāṃ te dadhyāśiraḥ.")

Translation (of the sense-part, in full; the grammar in outline): "'Ime somāsaḥ' — these Soma-juices that have been prepared in this rite — 'sutapāvne' — for the one who drinks the pressed Soma, the drinker of the pressed Soma. (The fourth case is here in the sense of the sixth.) 'Tasya pātur vītaye' — for the eating (consuming) of that drinker — they go, they reach just him. What kind of Soma-juices? 'Sutāḥ' — pressed; 'śucayaḥ' — pure, since they have been purified by the daśā-pavitra; 'dadhyāśiraḥ' — mixed with curds: those Soma-juices whose 'āśīḥ' (admixture), being brought (poured) in, destroys the defects, are 'dadhyāśiraḥ.'"

Grammar (characterized, sūtras kept): "Sutapāvne" — "sutaṃ pibatīti sutapāvā": "vanip," "p"-marked (वनिप्), so the root-accent alone remains; in the compound, the accent of the first member (a second-case word) is set aside and the accent of the kṛt-final member is retained. "Śucayaḥ" — "śuca dīptau" (to shine): the Uṇādi affix "in" (उ. सू. ४-११९), "kit," so no guṇa for the light penultimate; "n"-marked, so first-syllable acute. "Vītaye" — "vī" (to go, to bear, to desire, to eat) with "ktin," acute by मन्त्रे वृषेषपचमनविदभूवीरा उदात्तः (पा. ३-३-९६). "Somāsaḥ" — "ṣuñ abhiṣave" with the Uṇādi "man" (अर्तिस्तुसुहुसृधृक्षिक्षुभायावापदियक्षिनीभ्यो मन्, उ. सू. १-१३९), "n"-marked, first-syllable acute; the "asuk" augment in the nominative plural (आज्जसेरसुक्, पा. ७-१-५०). "Dadhyāśiraḥ" — "dadhāti puṣṇātīti dadhi": from "ḍudhāñ dhāraṇapoṣaṇayoḥ" (to hold, to nourish) the affix "kin" (आदृगमहनजनः किकिनौ लिट् च, पा. ३-२-१७१), with the "liṭ"-like doubling; because it is "kit," the root's "ā" is elided; "n"-marked, so first-syllable acute; "āśīḥ" — from "śṛ hiṃsāyām" (to injure), "that which destroys the natural defect of the Soma"; with "kvip," ऋत इद्धातोः (पा. ७-१-१००) gives "ir" with "r" → "āśīḥ"; "dadhy evāśīr yeṣām" — "bahuvrīhi," so the first member's accent.

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

सुताः (sutāḥ) — pressed out with stones, the juice drawn out | शुचयः (śucayaḥ) — cleansed with the daśā-pavitra and made pure | दध्याशिरः (dadhyāśiraḥ) — mixed with curds ("dadhi") | इमे सोमासः (ime somāsaḥ) — these Soma-juices | सुतपाव्ने (sutapāvne) — to Indra, who drinks the Soma | वीतये (vītaye) — for the sake of eating, or for drinking | यन्ति (yanti) — go (reach).

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

In this sacrifice, these Soma-juices, crushed with stones and filtered through the daśā-pavitra so that they are pure, have been mixed with curds and made ready, fit for drinking. Such Soma-juices go to Indra alone — that is, they are prepared for Indra. May Indra come and drink them.

Page 172 — Rik 5.5: English rendering; Special topics: "dadhyāśiraḥ" and the verses that use it

(Page header: "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 5." English as printed. The verses are in Kannada script; the references re-read from the better scan. Glosses are mine, tentative; the source gives none.)

English Translation (printed in English in the source itself):

"These extracted pure Soma-juices, mixed with (or made harmless by) curds go to Soma drinker (Indra) for his drink."

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Here it is said that the Soma-juices go to Indra and join him; since they are prepared for Indra himself, the sense is that Indra will certainly drink this Soma. Since this Soma-juice is prepared for the pleasure of Indra, it joins Indra and gives him satisfaction.

वीतये (vītaye) — Skandasvāmī and Veṅkaṭamādhava explain this word as "for drinking." Sāyaṇa, in this Ṛk and in Ṛ. Saṃ. 9-97-21, as "for eating" (bhakṣaṇārtha); in Ṛ. Saṃ. 3-17-5 as "for pleasure" (prītyartha); in Ṛ. Saṃ. 6-16-7 and in the Vājasaneya-saṃhitā (the Śukla Yajurveda) 1-15 and 22-13, as "for satisfaction" (tarpaṇārtha).

सोमासः (somāsaḥ) — "Somāḥ" is the form in ordinary use; "somāsaḥ" is an archaic usage. Both kinds of plural forms are used in the Ṛgveda.

दध्याशिरः (dadhyāśiraḥ) — For this word the Bhāṣyakāra says: "avanīyamānaṃ dadhyāśīr doṣa-ghātakaṃ yeṣāṃ somānāṃ te dadhyāśiraḥ" (अवनीयमानं दध्याशीर्दोषघातकं येषां सोमानां ते दध्याशिरः — "those Soma-juices whose 'āśīḥ', the curds poured in, destroys the defects"). That is: since curds are mixed with the Soma-juice in order to remove the defect in the Soma-juice, it is called "dadhyāśiraḥ." It was the custom to mix with the Soma-juice not only curds but also other substances such as milk and barley-meal (the source says "hiṭṭu," meal) and to use them. We have written of this at length in Part 1 of this Ṛgveda Saṃhitā, at p. 676. The word "dadhyāśiraḥ" occurs not only in this Ṛk but in the following other Ṛks —

(१) इमं आयोतमिन्दवः सोमासो दध्याशिरः सुतासो दध्याशिरः । (ऋ. सं. १-१३७-२) imam āyotam indavaḥ somāso dadhyāśiraḥ sutāso dadhyāśiraḥ | (ṛ. saṃ. 1-137-2) Gloss: "To this (Soma-)drinker come the drops, the Soma-juices mixed with curds, the pressed ones mixed with curds."

(२) सुता इन्द्राय वायवे सोमासो दध्याशिरः ॥ (ऋ. सं. ५-५१-७) sutā indrāya vāyave somāso dadhyāśiraḥ || (ṛ. saṃ. 5-51-7) Gloss: "Pressed for Indra and for Vāyu are the Soma-juices mixed with curds."

(३) इमा इन्द्राय सुन्विरे सोमासो दध्याशिरः ॥ (ऋ. सं. ७-३२-४) imā indrāya sunvire somāso dadhyāśiraḥ || (ṛ. saṃ. 7-32-4) (Reading note: the print shows "imu" for the first word; the sense and the verse-form require "imā"/"ime," and I give "imā" with this note rather than silently correct.) Gloss: "These have been pressed for Indra, the Soma-juices mixed with curds."

(४) एते पूता विपश्चितः सोमासो दध्याशिरः ॥ (ऋ. सं. ९-२२-३) ete pūtā vipaścitaḥ somāso dadhyāśiraḥ || (ṛ. saṃ. 9-22-3) Gloss: "These are the purified, the wise Soma-juices mixed with curds."

Page 173 — The "āśir" (admixture) words: gavāśir, yavāśir, sanāśir and others

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 9 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." References are in small Kannada numerals and all marked [?]; glosses mine, tentative.)

(Continuing the list of verses with "dadhyāśiraḥ":)

(५) सुता इन्द्राय वज्रिणे सोमासो दध्याशिरः ॥ (ऋ. सं. ९-६३-१५) sutā indrāya vajriṇe somāso dadhyāśiraḥ || (ṛ. saṃ. 9-63-15) Gloss: "Pressed for Indra, the wielder of the thunderbolt, are the Soma-juices mixed with curds."

(६) एते पूता विपश्चितः सोमासो दध्याशिरः ॥ (ऋ. सं. ९-१०१-१२) ete pūtā vipaścitaḥ somāso dadhyāśiraḥ || (ṛ. saṃ. 9-101-12) (This line is the same as (4); the print gives it twice with different references, and I record both.)

Apart from the word "dadhyāśiraḥ," Soma-juices mixed with other substances — "gavāśir," "yavāśir" and the like — are named in these Ṛks:

(१) तीव्राः सोमास आ गह्याशीर्वन्तः सुता इमे ॥ (ऋ. सं. १-२३-१) tīvrāḥ somāsa ā gahy āśīrvantaḥ sutā ime || (ṛ. saṃ. 1-23-1) Gloss: "Come: these pressed Soma-juices are sharp, mixed with their admixtures."

(Note by the source:) Since in this Ṛk the words "āśīrvantaḥ somāsaḥ" are used, it is said, in general, that the Soma-juice has been mixed with some sort of "āśir"-substances — milk, curds and the like.

(२) शतं वा यः शुचीनां सहस्रं वा समाशिराम् ॥ (ऋ. सं. १-३०-२) śataṃ vā yaḥ śucīnāṃ sahasraṃ vā samāśirām || (ṛ. saṃ. 1-30-2) Gloss: "Or a hundred of the pure ones, or a thousand of the well-mixed."

(Note:) Here "samāśirām" says generally that the Soma-juice has been well mixed with "āśir" substances; no particular substance is named.

(३) सुषुमा यातमद्रिभिर्गोश्रीता मत्सरा इमे सोमासो मत्सरा इमे । आ राजाना दिविस्पृशास्मत्रा गन्तमुप नः । इमे वां मित्रावरुणा गवाशिरः सोमाः शुक्रा गवाशिरः ॥ (ऋ. सं. १-१३७-१) suṣumā yātam adribhir gośrītā matsarā ime somāso matsarā ime | ā rājānā divispṛśāsmatrā gantam upa naḥ | ime vāṃ mitrāvaruṇā gavāśiraḥ somāḥ śukrā gavāśiraḥ || (ṛ. saṃ. 1-137-1) Gloss: "Come to the well-pressed (Soma), pressed with stones, mixed with milk — these gladdening (juices); come to us, O kings, touching the sky; these Soma-juices are for you, Mitra and Varuṇa, mixed with milk, bright, mixed with milk."

(Note:) Here "gośrītāḥ" means "mixed with cows' milk." The word "gavāśiraḥ," at the end of the Ṛk, likewise means "Soma mixed with cows' milk."

(४) शुचिरसि पुरुनिष्ठाः क्षीरैर्मध्यत आशीर्तः । दध्ना मन्दिष्ठः शूरस्य ॥ (ऋ. सं. ८-२-९) śucir asi puruniṣṭhāḥ kṣīrair madhyata āśīrtaḥ | dadhnā mandiṣṭhaḥ śūrasya || (ṛ. saṃ. 8-2-9) (Reading note: the print shows "āśīrtaḥ" and "madhyata"; the second of these I cannot identify with certainty, and I give both as printed.) Gloss: "You are pure, many-formed … mixed with milk … most gladdening with curds, of the hero." [tentative; the middle of the verse is not secure]

(Note:) Here it is said that there are two separate substances — milk and curds — mixed (with the Soma): that is, one must understand that there are two kinds of Soma-juice, the one mixed with milk and the one mixed with curds.

(५) सं शुक्रासः शुचयः सं गवाशिरः सोमा इन्द्रममन्दिषुः ॥ (ऋ. सं. ८-५२-१०) saṃ śukrāsaḥ śucayaḥ saṃ gavāśiraḥ somā indram amandiṣuḥ || (ṛ. saṃ. 8-52-10) Gloss: “The bright, the pure, the milk-mixed Soma-juices have gladdened Indra.”

Page 174 — The “āśir” words (concluded); Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā for Rik 5.5 (opening)

(Page header: “Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 5.” References re-read from the better scan; glosses mine, tentative. The verses were read from an enlarged slice.)

(Continuing the list from p. 173 — after verse (5):) Here “gavāśir” says plainly that the Soma is mixed with milk.

(६) अथा नियुत्वे उभयस्य नः पिब शुचिं सोमं गवाशिरम् ॥ (ऋ. सं. ८-१०१-१०) athā niyutve ubhayasya naḥ piba śuciṃ somaṃ gavāśiram || (ṛ. saṃ. 8-101-10) Gloss: “Then, O lord of the team, drink of ours — of both — the pure Soma mixed with milk.”

(Note:) Here too “gavāśir” speaks of Soma mixed with milk.

(७) यत्ते सोम गवाशिरो यवाशिरो भजामहे ॥ (ऋ. सं. १-१८७-९) yat te soma gavāśiro yavāśiro bhajāmahe || (ṛ. saṃ. 1-187-9) Gloss: “What of yours, O Soma, mixed with milk, mixed with barley, we share.”

(८) इमामिन्द्र गवाशिरं यवाशिरं च नः पिब । (ऋ. सं. ३-४२-७) imām indra gavāśiraṃ yavāśiraṃ ca naḥ piba | (ṛ. saṃ. 3-42-7) (Reading note: the print has “imam indra”; I read it as “imam indra” — “this one, O Indra” — and the sense is not affected.) Gloss: “This (Soma), O Indra, mixed with milk and mixed with barley, drink of ours.”

(Note:) Here both kinds of Soma-juice, “gavāśir” and “yavāśir,” are named.

(९) इन्दोरिन्द्रो यवाशिरः । (ऋ. सं. ८-९२-४) indor indro yavāśiraḥ | (ṛ. saṃ. 8-92-4) Gloss: “Indra (drinks) of the barley-mixed Soma-drop.” [tentative]

(१०) त्रिकद्रुकेषु महिषो यवाशिरं तुविशुष्मस्तृपत्सोममपिबद्विष्णुना सुतं यथावशत् ॥ (ऋ. सं. २-२२-१) trikadrukeṣu mahiṣo yavāśiraṃ tuviśuṣmas tṛpat somam apibad viṣṇunā sutaṃ yathāvaśat || (ṛ. saṃ. 2-22-1) Gloss: “In the Trikadrukas the mighty one, the very strong, drank with satisfaction the barley-mixed Soma pressed with Viṣṇu, as he wished.”

(Note:) Here “yavāśir” is said to be Soma mixed with barley-meal.

(११) अश्वमेधस्य दानाः सोमा इव त्र्याशिरः ॥ (ऋ. सं. ५-२७-५) aśvamedhasya dānāḥ somā iva tryāśiraḥ || (ṛ. saṃ. 5-27-5) Gloss: “The gifts of Aśvamedha are like Soma-juices, three-fold mixed.” [tentative]

(Note:) Here it is said that three kinds of substance — milk, curds and barley — are mixed with the Soma-juice.

(१२) साधोः पिब प्रतिकामं यथा ते रसाशिरः प्रथमं सोमस्य । (ऋ. सं. ३-४८-१) sādhoḥ piba pratikāmaṃ yathā te rasāśiraḥ prathamaṃ somasya | (ṛ. saṃ. 3-48-1) Gloss: “Drink the good (Soma) to your liking, as your first (portion) of the Soma that is mixed with its juices.” [tentative]

(Note:) Since “rasāśir” is said here, the sense is Soma mixed with either milk or curds.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (Kannada; characterized, sūtras kept) “Sutapāvne” — “sutaṃ pibatīti sutapāvā” (“he who drinks the pressed Soma”): आतो मनिन्क्वनिब्वनिपश्च (पा. ३-२-७४) — after a root ending in “ā” (here “pā”), with a subanta upapada, the affix “vanip,” which, being “p”-marked, is unaccented, so the root’s accent alone remains on “pā”; in the compound, “sutam” (a second-case word) would keep its natural accent by तत्पुरुषे तुल्यार्थ... (पा. ६-२-२, as printed “6-2-2”), but this is set aside by गतिकारकोपपदात्कृत् (पा. ६-२-१३९) so that the kṛt-final member’s accent is kept. “Śucayaḥ” — “śuca dīptau” (to shine); इगुपधात्कित् (उ. सू. ४-११९; printed “4-559”; the affix “in” continues by anuvṛtti) — the affix “in” after a root with an “ik”-vowel penultimate; “kit,” so no guṇa …

Page 175 — Rik 5.5 grammar concluded (characterized); Sūkta 5, Sixth Mantra: Saṃhitā and Pada

(Page header: “Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 10 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā.” The varga number on this page is printed as “ १० ″ (“10”) — so the tenth varga begins on p. 175 or earlier. Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

(Concluding the grammar from p. 174:) “…the lighter penultimate takes no guṇa, because of the”k” mark of the affix; being “n”-marked, the affix gives the first syllable an acute. “Vītaye” — “vī gati-vyāpti-prajana-kānty-asana-khādaneṣu” (to go, to pervade, to produce, to desire, to throw, to eat); मन्त्रे वृषेषपचमनविदभूवीरा उदात्तः (पा. ३-३-९६) gives “ktin” as the affix, acute. “Somāsaḥ” — “ṣuñ abhiṣave”; अर्तिस्तुसुहुसृधृक्षिक्षुभायावापदियक्षिनीभ्यो मन् (उ. सू. १-१३९; printed “1-137”) “man”; “n”-marked, so first-syllable acute; आज्ञसेरसुक् (पा. ७-१-५०) the augment “asuk.” “Dadhyāśiraḥ” — “dadhāti puṣṇātīti dadhi” (that which nourishes is curds): आदृगमहनजनः किकिनौ लिट् च (पा. ३-२-१७१) in the Veda the affixes “ki” and “kin” are added, in the manner of “liṭ,” to roots ending in “ā,” in “ṛ,” and to “gam, han, jan” and the like; “kin” is added to “dhā,” and as “liṭ” it brings the doubling (लिटि धातोरनभ्यासस्य, पा. ६-१-८); the reduplicative syllable shortens and “dh” becomes “d”; the final “ā” is elided (आतो लोप इटि च, पा. ६-४-६४); “n”-marked, so first-syllable acute. “Āśīḥ” — “śṝ hiṃsāyām” (to injure) — “śṛṇāti hinasti”: from “śṝ,” “that which destroys the Soma’s natural, lessened-flavour defect — or the rasa-less defect that arises in the Soma when it is kept …” — the affix “kvip” (क्विप् … ) and ऋत इद्धातोः (पा. ७-१-१००) gives “ir” for the “ṝ” of a root; उरण् रपरः (पा. १-१-५१) puts “r” after it, so “āśīḥ” (with the prefix “ā”) results. “Dadhnā” … “dadhy-eva āśīḥ yeṣām somānām te dadhyāśiraḥ” — in the bahuvrīhi, बहुव्रीहौ प्रकृत्या पूर्वपदम् (पा. ६-२-१) the first member keeps its natural accent. ॥५॥

---

Sūkta 5, The Sixth Mantra

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

त्वं सुतस्य पीतये सद्यो वृद्धो अजायथाः । इंद्र ज्यैष्ठ्याय सुक्रतो ॥६॥

tvaṃ sutásya pītáye sadyó vṛddhó ajāyathāḥ | iṃdra jyáiṣṭhyāya sukrato ||6||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

त्वम् । सुतस्य । पीतये । सद्यः । वृद्धः । अजायथाः । इन्द्र । ज्यैष्ठ्याय । सुक्रतो इति सुऽक्रतो ॥६॥

Page 176 — Rik 5.6: Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya, grammar (characterized), Pada-meanings, Bhāvārtha, English rendering

(Page header: "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 5." Sanskrit printed in Kannada script, read from an enlarged slice; [?] where unclear. English as printed.)

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

सुक्रतो शोभनकर्मन् शोभनप्रज्ञ वा हे इन्द्र त्वं सुतस्याभिषुतस्य सोमस्य पीतये पानार्थं ज्यैष्ठ्याय देवेषु ज्येष्ठत्वार्थं च सद्यस्तस्मिन्नेव क्षणे वृद्धोऽजायथाः । अभिवृद्धो व्युत्साहेन युक्तोऽभूः ॥ sukrato śobhana-karman śobhana-prajña vā he indra tvaṃ sutasyābhiṣutasya somasya pītaye pānārthaṃ jyaiṣṭhyāya deveṣu jyeṣṭhatvārthaṃ ca sadyas tasminn eva kṣaṇe vṛddho 'jāyathāḥ | abhivṛddho vyutsāhena yukto 'bhūḥ || (Reading note: the last word of the Bhāṣya is printed "vyutsāhena" in this reading — "with zeal / great effort" — and I give it as printed; the Kannada gloss and p. 177 read "utsāha" — "enthusiasm" — and the sense, "united with vigour," is the same.)

Translation: "'Sukrato' — O doer of fair deeds, or O one of fair wisdom — O Indra! You, for the drinking ('pītaye') of the pressed Soma, and for 'jyaiṣṭhyāya' — for the sake of seniority among the gods — 'sadyaḥ' — at that very moment — 'vṛddhaḥ ajāyathāḥ' — became grown: you became greatly increased, endowed with vigour."

Grammar (characterized, sūtras kept): "Pītaye" — "pā pāne" (to drink) with "ktin": by स्थागापापचो भावे (sthā-gā-pā-paco bhāve, पा. ३-३-९५) the affix "ktin" in the sense of the action; घुमास्थागापाजहातिसां हलि (पा. ६-४-६६) "ī"; though the affix is "n"-marked, by Vedic variation the affix's accent is acute — the print attaches to this the remark that the "udātta" of the following sūtra is to be connected here as well. "Sadyaḥ" — सद्यःपरुत्परार्यैषमः परेद्यव्यद्य... (पा. ५-३-२२) — the form "sadyas" is made by nipātana in the sense "on the same day," with "sa" for "samāna" and the affix "dyas"; accent by the affix: end-acute. "Vṛddhaḥ" — "vṛdhu vṛddhau" (to grow): उदितो वा (पा. ७-२-५६) — after the "ktvā"-affix a root with the "u" marker may or may not take "iṭ" — and निष्ठायां सेटि... the print adds, from पा. ७-२-१५, that "iṭ" is barred in the niṣṭhā after "śvi" and the like; the affix accent is the acute. "Jyaiṣṭhyāya" — "jyeṣṭhasya bhāvo jyaiṣṭhyam": गुणवचनब्राह्मणादिभ्यः कर्मणि च (पा. ५-१-१२४) — the affix "ṣyañ" after words of quality and after "brāhmaṇa" and the like in the sense of state or action; "ñit," so first-syllable acute. ॥६॥

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

(हे) सुक्रतो (he sukrato) — O Indra, who are endowed with excellent — or daring — deeds; or, who have excellent knowledge | इन्द्र (indra) — O Indra | त्वम् (tvam) — you | सुतस्य (sutasya) — the Soma-juice prepared | पीतये (pītaye) — for the sake of drinking | ज्यैष्ठ्याय (jyaiṣṭhyāya) — for the sake of attaining superiority among the gods | सद्यः (sadyaḥ) — at this very moment | वृद्धः (vṛddhaḥ) — one of enthusiastic increase | अजायथाः (ajāyathāḥ) — became.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

O Indra, who do daring deeds, or are possessed of much knowledge! Not only because you are endowed with exceeding energy, for the sake of drinking this Soma-juice that we have prepared and set out here — but also by drinking this Soma you become greater than all the gods.

English Translation (printed in English in the source itself):

"(1) Indra, performer of good deeds or possessor of fine intellect you have grown courageous for the sake of drinking the extracted Soma Juice and (attaining) seniority (among the gods)."

Page 177 — Special topics on Rik 5.6: "vṛddhaḥ," "jyaiṣṭhyāya"

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 10 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." References re-read from the better scan; glosses mine, tentative. The Taittirīya-brāhmaṇa passage is printed in Kannada script and given in three layers.)

वृद्धः (vṛddhaḥ) — For this word the Bhāṣyakāra says "abhivṛddhaḥ utsāhena yuktaḥ" — "greatly increased, endowed with zeal." Skandasvāmī: "parivṛddhaḥ pratibandha-kāpanayana-samarthaḥ, śarīreṇa ca vīryeṇa ca parivṛddhaḥ" (परिवृद्धः प्रतिबन्धकापनयनसमर्थः, शरीरेण च वीर्येण च परिवृद्धः — "increased all round, able to remove obstacles; increased both in body and in strength"); that is, grown large in body and in vigour, from the zeal to remove the obstacles. Veṅkaṭamādhava: "pravṛddha-śarīraḥ" — "one of great body." On this matter these Ṛks may be given as examples:

> (१) अषाळ्हेन शवसा शूशुवांसं सद्यश्चिद्यो वावृधे असामि । (ऋ. सं. ६-१९-२) aṣāḷhena śavasā śūśuvāṃsaṃ sadyaś cid yo vāvṛdhe asāmi | (ṛ. saṃ. 6-19-2) Gloss: "(Him) who swelled with unconquered strength, who grew immeasurably at once." [tentative]
>
> (२) एवा जज्ञानं सहसे असामि वावृधानं राधसे च श्रुताय ॥ (ऋ. सं. ६-३८-५) evā jajñānaṃ sahase asāmi vāvṛdhānaṃ rādhase ca śrutāya || (ṛ. saṃ. 6-38-5) Gloss: "Thus (they hymn) him who was born for victory, immeasurable, growing for bounty and for fame." [tentative]

In both of these Ṛks it is said that Indra grew up large of form. And as we have explained earlier, in the Ṛk Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-8-1, Indra, by the power of his māyā, is able to take on many kinds of forms and shapes, as occasion requires (Ṛ. Saṃ. Part 2, pp. 89–90); here also the same may be understood.

ज्यैष्ठ्याय (jyaiṣṭhyāya) — "Superiority, increase, higher position." That is: in order to attain such a higher position among men and among the gods. But what superiority comes to Indra from drinking Soma? If it is asked whether Indra had no superiority before the drinking of the Soma — Indra had superiority among the gods from the first; by drinking Soma it became more extensive. In that age the drinking of Soma was a matter of increasing superiority. Even now, when we bless a newly married couple, it is customary, in speaking of the groom, to say: "bhartā te somapā nityaṃ bhaved dharma-parāyaṇaḥ" (भर्ता ते सोमपा नित्यं भवेद्धर्मपरायणः — bhartā te somapā nityaṃ bhaved dharma-parāyaṇaḥ — "may your husband always be a Soma-drinker, devoted to dharma"). (The source gives this blessing in Kannada script without a citation, and I do not add one.) In the Taittirīya-brāhmaṇa of the Kṛṣṇa Yajurveda the superiority of Indra is spoken of in another way, as follows:

> इन्द्रो वा अकामयत । ज्यैष्ठ्यं देवानामभिजयेयमिति । स एतमिन्द्राय ज्येष्ठायै पुरोडाशमेकादशकपालं निरवपन्महाव्रीहीणाम् । ततो वै स ज्यैष्ठ्यं देवानामभ्यजयत् । (तै. ब्रा. ३-१-५) indro vā akāmayata | jyaiṣṭhyaṃ devānām abhijayeyam iti | sa etam indrāya jyeṣṭhāyai puroḍāśam ekādaśakapālaṃ niravapan mahāvrīhīṇām | tato vai sa jyaiṣṭhyaṃ devānām abhyajayat | (tai. brā. 3-1-5) (Reading note, re-checked against the better scan: the print reads "indrāya jyeṣṭhāyai" — for Indra (and) Jyeṣṭhā, the nakṣatra named in the Kannada.) Translation (mine, following the Kannada): "Indra desired: 'May I win seniority among the gods.' He offered this cake on eleven potsherds, of the large rice (mahāvrīhi), to Indra (and) Jyeṣṭhā; thereupon he won seniority among the gods."

That is: Indra, in order to obtain superiority among the gods, offered, with the nakṣatra Jyeṣṭhā in view, a cake on eleven potsherds prepared from rice, and by that obtained superiority over the gods.

Pages 178–179 — Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā for Rik 5.6 (Kannada) — characterized

(Page headers: p. 178 "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā · Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 5"; p. 179 "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 10 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." These two pages are pure Pāṇinian derivation in Kannada prose for "tvam" (the pronoun "yuṣmad") and "sutasya," with long scholastic argument about which case-ending a rule refers to; they do not bear on the sense of the Rik (pp. 176–177). Per the standing convention they are characterized in outline, with the sūtras named kept in three layers; numbers as I read them from small Kannada numerals, and the long objections and replies are not reproduced.)

"Tvam" — "yuṣmad": the root "yuṣ" is a "sautra" root (established by its use in the sūtras). युष्यसिभ्यां मदिक् (yuṣy-asibhyāṃ madik, उ. सू. १-१३६) — after "yuṣ" and "asu kṣepaṇe" the affix "madik"; "i" and "k" are dropped and "mad" remains: "yuṣ + mad" = "yuṣmad." The first-case singular "su," its "u" dropped: "yuṣmad + s." ङेप्रथमयोरम् (ṅe-prathamayor am, पा. ७-१-२८): the word-division is "ṅe — prathamayoḥ — am"; "prathamā ca prathamā ca prathame, tayoḥ prathamayoḥ" — the first "prathamā" takes in the first case, the second the second case (once the first case is taken, the second case is the first of the six that remain); from युष्मदस्मद्भ्यां ङसोऽश् (पा. ७-१-२७) "yuṣmad-asmadbhyām" is continued, and in "ṅe" the sixth-case ending is elided; so the sūtra (पा. ७-१-२८) means that after "yuṣmad" and "asmad" the affix "ṅe" and the six endings of the first and second cases are replaced by "am": "s" → "am," "yuṣmad + am." त्वाहौ सौ (पा. ७-२-९४; division "tvāhau — sau"), with मपर्यन्तस्य (पा. ७-२-९१) continued as the governing rule and "yuṣmadasmadoḥ" continued from युष्मदस्मदोरनादेशे (पा. ७-२-८६): before "su" the part of "yuṣmad/asmad" up to "m" — "yuṣm/asm" — is replaced by "tva/aha" → "tva + ad + am"; अतो गुणे (पा. ६-१-९७) gives pararūpa → "tvad + am." शेषे लोपः (पा. ७-२-९०; division "śeṣe — lopaḥ"), with "vibhaktau" continued from अष्टन आ विभक्तौ (पा. ७-२-८४): "śeṣa" means "other than what was stated before" — before this sūtra युष्मदस्मदोरनादेशे (पा. ७-२-८६), द्वितीयायां च (पा. ७-२-८७) and प्रथमायाश्च द्विवचने भाषायाम् (पा. ७-२-८८) prescribe the substitute "ā," and योऽचि (पा. ७-२-८९) the substitute "y," in some cases — so "śeṣe vibhaktau" is a case-ending that is not the cause of the "ā" or "y" substitutes, and before it the final of "yuṣmad/asmad" is elided: this is one sense.

p. 179. In the other sense, by विवक्षातः कारकाणि भवन्ति ("the kārakas follow the speaker's intention") the sixth-case sense ("place") is intended as the locative sense ("location"), so "śeṣe" stands for "śeṣasya": before such a case-ending the part of "yuṣmad/asmad" remaining after the part up to "m" is elided. In "tvad + am," by the first sense the final is elided, "tva + am," and अमि पूर्वः (पा. ६-१-१०७) gives pūrvarūpa → "tvam"; by the second sense "ad" is elided, "tv + am" = "tvam." Either way "tvam" results. Accent: in "yuṣmad," on the derivation view the "a" of "ma" is acute by the affix accent; on the non-derivation view it is acute by फिषोऽन्त उदात्तः (फि. सू. १-१); in both, "yu" is unaccented by the "śeṣa" rule; the "am" in the place of the "su" ending is unaccented by sthānivadbhāva (अनुदात्तौ सुप्पितौ); the substitute "tva" for "yuṣm" is unaccented by sthānivadbhāva; the "a" from the pararūpa of "tva + ad" is acute by एकादेश उदात्तेनोदात्तः. Where the "d" alone is elided by शेषे लोपः, the single substitute by pūrvarūpa of "tva + am" is acute as before; where "ad" is elided, since the acute "ad" is elided, अनुदात्तस्य च यत्रोदात्तलोपः (पा. ६-१-१६१) makes the unaccented "am," which caused the elision of the acute, acute.

"Sutasya" — "ṣuñ abhiṣave" (to press out); निष्ठा (पा. ३-२-१०२) the affixes "kta" and "ktavatu" in the past sense, here "kta"; "k" is an "it"; धात्वादेः षः सः (पा. ६-१-६४) → "suta"; the sixth-case singular "ṅas," with टाङसिङसामिनात्स्याः (पा. ७-१-१२) — "ṭā, ṅasi, ṅas" are replaced by "ina, āt, sya" after a stem ending in "a" — "ṅas" → "sya": "sutasya"; "suta" is end-acute by the "kta"-affix's accent; the ending "sya," being unaccented (अनुदात्तौ सुप्पितौ, पा. ३-१-४), … (the page ends here; continued on the next page).

Pages 180–181 — Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā for Rik 5.6 (continued) — characterized

(Page headers: p. 180 "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 5"; p. 181 "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 10 ·Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." Pure grammar in Kannada prose for "sutasya" (end), "pītaye," "sadyaḥ," "vṛddhaḥ," "ajāyathāḥ," restating the Sanskrit of p. 176; they do not bear on the sense of the Rik. Characterized in outline*, with the sūtras named kept in three layers; numbers as read from small Kannada numerals, [?] where uncertain.)*

p. 180. - "Sutasya" (end) — the substitute "sya" for "ṅas" is unaccented by sthānivadbhāva; the unaccented "sya," standing after the acute "ta," becomes svarita by उदात्तादनुदात्तस्य स्वरितः (पा. ८-४-६६). - "Pītaye" — "pā pāne" (to drink); स्थागापापचो भावे (पा. ३-३-९५) — after "sthā," "gā," "pā" and "pac" the affix "ktin" in the sense of state (action); घुमास्थागापाजहातिसां हलि (पा. ६-४-६६) substitutes "ī" for the "ā" of the roots that take the "ghu" label (the roots "dā" and "dhā") and "mā, sthā, gā, pā, jahāti, sā," when a consonant-initial "kit/ṅit" or ārdhadhātuka affix with "ya"-affix follows — here "ktin" → "pīti." The affix, though "n"-marked, is acute by the Vedic variation; by आद्युदात्तश्च (पा. ३-१-३) the affix is first-syllable acute, or, by the later part of the next sūtra, मन्त्रे वृषेषपचमनविदभूवीरा उदात्तः (पा. ३-३-९६), the word "udāttaḥ" carried over to this sūtra's context — "the affix is acute." The dative singular "ṅe" is added; "pīti + ṅe" → "pīti + e"; शेषो ध्यसखि (पा. १-४-७) — a word ending in short "i" or "u," not "sakhi," has the label "ghi"; "pīti" has the label "ghi" (since it is not "sakhi"); ङेर्यः (पा. ७-३-१११) — for "ṅe," after a "ghi"- labelled stem the substitute “y”? — as the print states it: “the guṇa arises for a ‘ghi’-labelled stem before a ‘ṅit’ ending”; the “i” of “pīti” takes guṇa → “pīte + e”; एचोऽयवायावः (पा. ६-१-७८) → “pītay + e” → “pītaye.” In “pītaye,” the ending “e” is unaccented as a “sup,” the “ti” is acute (as stated); the “e” that arises in place of “i” is, by sthānivadbhāva, acute; the “ay” substituted for it is also acute; the following unaccented ending “e” becomes svarita; the “ī” of “pī” is unaccented by the “remaining syllables unaccented” rule. So in “pītaye” the first syllable is unaccented, the second acute, the third svarita. - “Sadyaḥ” — “sadyaḥ parut parāry aiṣamaḥ paredyavy adya pūrvedyur anyedyur anyatarādyur itarādyur aparedyur adharedyur ubhayedyur uttaredyuḥ” (सद्यः परुत्परार्यैषमः परेद्यव्यद्य पूर्वेद्युरन्येद्युरन्यतरेद्युरितरेद्युरपरेद्युरधरेद्युरुभयेद्युरुत्तरेद्युः — पा. ५-३-२२, as I read the string, which the print gives in full) — these words are formed by nipātana in the sense of the days they name; समानस्य सभावो द्यश्चाहनि (as printed, पा. ५-३-२२ वा.) — “sa” for “samāna” and the affix “dyas” when the sense is “day” — “sadyaḥ” (on the same day); end-acute by the affix. - “Vṛddhaḥ” — “vṛdhu vṛddhau” (to grow); “kta” after the root; आर्धधातुकस्येड्वलादेः (पा. ७-२-३५) would give “iṭ” to a consonant-initial ārdhadhātuka …

p. 181. …but यस्य विभाषा (पा. ७-२-१५) — “iṭ is not added to the ‘kta/ktvā’ affix after a root whose own ‘iṭ’ is optional” — and उदितो वा (पा. ७-२-५६) — after a root with the “u” marker the affix “ktvā” optionally takes “iṭ” — apply; the print explains (at length) that “vṛdhu” is “udit,” and that निष्ठा शीङ्स्विदिमिदिक्ष्विदिधृषः (पा. ७-२-१५ and following) bars “iṭ” in the niṣṭhā after certain roots; the result is “vṛdh + ta.” Then झषस्तथोर्धोऽधः (पा. ८-२-४०) — after a “jhaṣ” letter, a “t” or “th” of an affix becomes “dh” — gives “vṛdh + dha”; झलां जश् झशि (पा. ८-४-५३) the “dh” of the root becomes “d” → “vṛd-dha” = “vṛddha”; end-acute by the affix’s accent (निष्ठा… ). In the saṃhitā, the nominative “su” and “ajāyathāḥ”: ससजुषो रुः (पा. ८-२-६६) puts “ru” for the “s,” अतो रोरप्लुतादप्लुते (पा. ६-१-११३) turns “ru” into “u” after a short “a” before a short “a,” and आद्गुणः (पा. ६-१-८७) yields “o”; एङः पदान्तादति (पा. ६-१-१०९) would absorb the following “a,” but प्रकृत्यान्तःपादमव्यपरे (पा. ६-१-११५) keeps the natural form inside the pāda when a short vowel not followed by “y/v” follows; here “ajāyathāḥ” begins with a short “a” not preceded by “y/v,” so “o” is retained — “vṛddho ajāyathāḥ” — with no further sandhi. - “Ajāyathāḥ” — “janī prādurbhāve” (to be born); “laṅ,” ātmanepada, second-person singular “thās”; दिवादिभ्यः श्यन् (पा. ३-१-६९) — “śyan” after a root of the “div”-class; “jan + ya + thās”; ज्ञाजनोर्जा (पा. ७-३-७९) — “jā” for “jñā” and “jan” before an affix beginning with a “ś”-marked …; लुङ्लङ्लृङ्क्ष्वडुदात्तः (पा. ६-४-७१) the augment “aṭ” (acute) before “laṅ”; ससजुषो रुः and visarga: “ajāyathāḥ.” The accent of the word: the “aṭ” augment’s acute, and the rest unaccented; in the saṃhitā the “o” of the preceding “vṛddho” and the “a” of “ajāyathāḥ” … (continues on the next page)

Page 182 — Rik 5.6 grammar concluded; Sūkta 5, Seventh Mantra: Saṃhitā, Pada, Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya

(Page header: “Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā · Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 5.” Sanskrit printed in Kannada script; read from enlarged slices. Accent-marks are printed in the text on this page; they are not reproduced here, per the standing convention.)

(Concluding “ajāyathāḥ”:) “…‘thās’ → ‘thās’ with the ‘ru’ and visarga of the ‘s’ gives ‘ajāyathāḥ.’ By तिङ्ङतिङः (पा. ८-१-२८) the word is made unaccented only when a preceding word that is not a tiṅanta stands before it; here, with ‘aṭ’ acute, the first syllable is acute; in the saṃhitā, since the acute of ‘o’ stands before it, the ‘a’ of the ‘aṭ’ (the first syllable of ‘ajāyathāḥ’) becomes svarita, and the remaining two syllables ‘āyathāḥ,’ following a svarita, are level (स्वरितात्संहितायामनुदात्तानाम्, पा. १-२-३९).

“Jyaiṣṭhyāya” — “jyeṣṭhasya bhāvaḥ jyaiṣṭhyam”: गुणवचनब्राह्मणादिभ्यः कर्मणि च (पा. ५-१-१२४) — the affix “ṣyañ” in the sense of state or action after words of quality and after the “brāhmaṇa”-class words; “ñ”-marked, so first-syllable acute. ॥६॥

---

Sūkta 5, The Seventh Mantra

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

आ त्वा॑ विशंत्वा॒शव॒: सोमा॑स इंद्र गिर्वणः । शं ते॑ सं॒तु प्रचे॑तसे ॥७॥

ā tvā viśaṃtvāśávaḥ sómāsa iṃdra girvaṇaḥ | śáṃ te saṃtu prácetase ||7||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

आ । त्वा । विशन्तु । आशवः । सोमासः । इन्द्र । गिर्वणः । शम् । ते । सन्तु । प्रऽचेतसे ॥७॥

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे इन्द्र त्वां सोमासः सोमा आ विशन्तु । आभिमुख्येन प्रविशन्तु । कीदृशाः सोमाः । आशवः सवनत्रयं प्रकृतिविकृत्योर्वा व्याप्तिमन्तः । कीदृश इन्द्र । गिर्वणो गीर्भिः स्तुतिभिः संभजनीयो देवविशेषः । गिर्वणा देवो भवति गीर्भिरेनं वनयन्ति । नि. ६-१४ । इति यास्कः । तथाविध हे इन्द्र ते तव प्रचेतसे प्रकृष्टज्ञानाय शं सुखरूपाः सोमाः सन्तु ॥ गिर्वणः । गृणन्तीति गिरः स्तुतयः । गृ शब्दे । क्विप्यृत इद्धातोः । पा. ७-१-१०० । इतीत्वं रपरत्वं च । गीर्भिर्वन्यते सेव्यत इति गिर्वणाः । वन षण संभक्तौ । संभक्तिः सेवा । सर्वधातुभ्योऽसुन् । उ. ४-१८८ । इत्यसुन्प्रत्ययः । प्रचेतसे । बहुव्रीहौ पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् ॥ he indra tvāṃ somāsaḥ somā ā viśantu | ābhimukhyena praviśantu | kīdṛśāḥ somāḥ | āśavaḥ savana-trayaṃ prakṛti-vikṛtyor vā vyāptimantaḥ | kīdṛśa indra | girvaṇo gīrbhiḥ stutibhiḥ sambhajanīyo deva-viśeṣaḥ | girvaṇā devo bhavati gīrbhir enaṃ vanayanti | ni. 6-14 | iti yāskaḥ | tathā-vidha he indra te tava pracetase prakṛṣṭa-jñānāya śaṃ sukha-rūpāḥ somāḥ santu || girvaṇaḥ | gṛṇantīti giraḥ stutayaḥ | gṝ śabde | kvipy ṛta id dhātoḥ | pā. 7-1-100 | itītvaṃ raparatvaṃ ca | gīrbhir vanyate sevyata iti girvaṇāḥ | vana ṣaṇa sambhaktau | sambhaktiḥ sevā | sarva-dhātubhyo ’sun | u. 4-188 | ity asun-pratyayaḥ | pracetase | bahuvrīhau pūrvapada-prakṛti-svaratvam || (Reading note: re-read from the better scan, the print has “kvipy ṛta id dhātoḥ” (पा. ७- १- १००) and “gṝ śabde”; the Nirukta and Uṇādi numbers are clear.)

Translation (sense in full; grammar in outline): “O Indra! Let the Soma-juices ‘ā viśantu’ — enter you, facing you, entering toward you. What kind of Soma-juices? ‘Āśavaḥ’ — pervading the three pressings, or the archetypal and modified rites. What kind of Indra? ‘Girvaṇaḥ’ — a particular god to be shared in — served — by ‘girbhiḥ,’ by hymns of praise. [Yāska:] ‘A god is “girvaṇas” — they serve him with songs’ (Nirukta [6-14 ?]). To such an Indra, ‘te’ — for you, ‘pracetase’ — for your eminent understanding — may the Soma-juices be ‘śam’ — of the form of happiness.” (Grammar:) “Girvaṇaḥ” — “gṛṇantīti giraḥ” — hymns of praise, from “grā” / “gṝ” (to sound); the “ṝ” of the root becomes “ir” (ऋत इद्धातोः, पा. ७-१-१००) and “r” follows; “gīrbhir vanyate sevyate iti girvaṇāḥ” — “he who is served by songs”; from “vana ṣaṇa sambhaktau” (to share, to serve) the affix “asun” after any root (सर्वधातुभ्योऽसुन्, उ. सू. ४-१८८). “Pracetase” — a bahuvrīhi, which retains the first member’s accent.

Page 183 — Rik 5.7: Pada-meanings; Bhāvārtha; English rendering; Special topic; grammar (opening)

(Page header: “Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 10 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā.” English as printed.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

गिर्वणः (girvaṇaḥ) — (O Indra) who are praised with words | इन्द्र (indra) — O Indra | आशवः (āśavaḥ) — (that pervade — are used also at the three pressings of the sacrifices of the archetype and the modified forms) | सोमासः (somāsaḥ) — Soma-juices | त्वा (tvā) — you | आ विशन्तु (ā viśantu) — let them enter (let them join you) | (and let those Soma-juices) ते (te) — to you | प्रचेतसे (pracetase) — in order to give you excellent knowledge | शम् (śam) — as happiness | सन्तु (santu) — be.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

O Indra, who are praised always with words — hymns! Let the Soma-juices prepared in the sacrifices we perform enter you, and, since you are satisfied by them, may those Soma-juices give you happiness.

English Translation (printed in English in the source itself):

“O Indra, you are the object of our praises; may these pervading soma juices enter you (thereby) making you happy; may the soma juices help you to attain superior intelligence.”

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

“Let the Soma-juices enter you” means: you drink the Soma-juice; therefore the sense is that the Soma-juice entered your stomach. आशवः (āśavaḥ) — pervading; specially employed — that is, the Soma-juice-pressing is the chief part of the three pressings of the sacrifice. Since you are made happy in mind by drinking this Soma-juice, the sense is that it increases the intellect and strength of Indra who drinks the Soma.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (Kannada; characterized, sūtras kept) “Ā” — a particle, so first-syllable acute (निपाता आद्युदात्ताः). “Tvā” — after “yuṣ,” युष्यसिभ्यां मदिक् gives “madik” → “yuṣmad”; then the second-case singular “am,” which by ङेप्रथमयोरम् is again replaced by “am”; त्वमावेकवचने (पा. ७-२-९७) — for “yuṣmad/asmad” denoting one person, the part up to “m” is replaced by “tva/ma” → “tva + ad + am”; द्वितीयायां च (पा. ७-२-८७) — before a second-case ending the “d” of “yuṣmad/asmad” becomes “ā” … (continues on p. 184)

Pages 184–185 — Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā for Rik 5.7 (characterized)

(Page headers: p. 184 "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā · Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 5"; p. 185 "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 10 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." Pure grammar in Kannada prose for "tvā," "viśantu," "āśavaḥ," "girvaṇaḥ," "pracetase." They do not bear on the sense of the Rik (pp. 182–183). Characterized in outline*; sūtras kept; numbers as read, [?] where uncertain.)*

"Tvā" (from p. 183) — the "d" replaced by "ā": "tva + ā + am"; अतो गुणे gives pararūpa, "tvā + am"; अकः सवर्णे दीर्घः lengthening, then pūrvarūpa → "tvām." Under the heading अनुदात्तं सर्वमपादादौ (पा. ८-१-१८), त्वामौ द्वितीयायाः (पा. ८-१-२३) — after another word, not at the beginning of a pāda, the second-case singular forms of "yuṣmad/asmad" are replaced by "tvā/mā," which are unaccented — so "tvā," replacing "tvām," is unaccented in the Pada; in the saṃhitā, standing after the acute "ā," it is svarita.

"Viśantu" — "viśa praveśane," "loṭ," the third-person plural parasmaipada "jhi"; झोऽन्तः (पा. ७-१-३) "ant" for the "jh" of the affix; तुदादिभ्यः शः (पा. ३-१-७७) the vikaraṇa "śa (a)": "viś + a + anti"; एरुः (पा. ३-४-८६) "u" for the "i" of the imperative. Though पुगन्तलघूपधस्य च (पा. ७-३-८६) would give guṇa to the "i" of "viś," "śa" is a sārvadhātuka that is not "p"-marked, so by सार्वधातुकमपित् (पा. १-२-४) it is "ṅit," and क्ङिति च (पा. १-१-५) bars guṇa; here by तिङ्ङतिङः the word is wholly unaccented.

"Āśavaḥ" — "aśū vyāptau" (to pervade): the Uṇādi कृवापाजिमिस्वदिसाध्यशूभ्य उण् (उ. सू. १-१) — after "ḍukṛñ karaṇe," "vā gati-gandhanayoḥ," "pā pāne"/"pā rakṣaṇe," "ji abhibhave," "ḍumiñ prakṣepaṇe," "svada āsvādane," "sādha saṃsiddhau" and "aśū vyāptau" the affix "uṇ"; "aś + u," and as the affix is "ṇit," अत उपधायाः (पा. ७-२-११६) gives vṛddhi → "āśu"; with "jas," guṇa gives "o," "av" for it → "āśavas," then "ru" and visarga → "āśavaḥ." By सति शिष्टस्वरबलीयस्त्वमन्यत्र विकरणेभ्यः the accent of the later-taught (śiṣṭa) affix "uṇ" prevails: the root's "a" is unaccented by the "śeṣa" rule, and the "ā" in its place is unaccented by sthānivadbhāva; the "u" of "uṇ" is acute, and the "o" from guṇa and the "av" in its place are acute by sthānivadbhāva; "as," being "sup," is unaccented. In the Pada, the final "a" of "āśavaḥ," after an acute, is svarita by उदात्तादनुदात्तस्य स्वरितः; in the saṃhitā, as the acute "so" follows, it remains unaccented.

"Girvaṇaḥ" — "gṛṇantīti giraḥ" ("they sing — hence 'giraḥ,' praises"): "gṝ śabde," क्विप् → "gir" (ऋत इद्धातोः, पा. ७-१-१००, the "ṝ" becomes "ir"; उरण् रपरः, पा. १-१-५१); "girbhir vanyate sevyate iti girvaṇāḥ" — "that which is served by praises"; "vana ṣaṇa sambhaktau"; सर्वधातुभ्योऽसुन् (उ. सू. ४-१८८; printed here "14-628" [?]) the affix "asun"; the print then argues the "ṇ": by पूर्वपदात्संज्ञायामगः (पा. ८-४-३) — "n" becomes "ṇ" after an earlier word in a name when the first member contains "r, ṣ" (even if separated by 'aṭ/kavarga/pavarga' letters), unless "ga" intervenes — so "girvanas" → "girvaṇas." The print adds that Devarāja-yajvan and others have derived the word differently (from "gir + van," "vanu yācane" a root in the "ghaṭādi" list, with "ṇic" and "asun": by णेरनिटि (पा. ६-४-५१) the "ṇi" is elided, and the upadhā-vṛddhi "vān" that would come is shortened because, by घटादयो मितः (गणसूत्र), the ghaṭādi roots are "mit," and मितां ह्रस्वः (पा. ६-४-९२) applies; the "ī" of "gīr" is shortened as a Vedic licence); and that Yāska gives the etymology "girvaṇā devo gīrbhir enaṃ vanayanti" (Nirukta 6-14), which also agrees with a derivation from the "ṇic"-ending "van"; Skandasvāmī says the same;

and Śrīnivāsa says that "ṇic" comes in the sense of the root itself. The accent: the Uṇādi "asun" is "n"-marked, so first-syllable acute; it is the word "girvaṇas" with the ṇ of "-vaṇ-" light, and लघावन्ते द्वयोश्च बह्वषो गुरुः (फि. सू. २-४२) would make the heavy syllable acute; since "gir-" is already heavy, the acute falls on "gir": first-syllable acute. Since in the Pada the word is a vocative standing after "indra," it loses its accent by आमन्त्रितस्य च (पा. ८-१-१९); and in the saṃhitā the "ā" of "somāsa" is svarita, and the following syllables, all unaccented, become level (स्वरितात्संहितायामनुदात्तानाम्, पा. १-२-३९).

"Pracetase" — a bahuvrīhi, in which, by बहुव्रीहौ प्रकृत्या पूर्वपदम् (पा. ६-२-१), the first member keeps its accent. ॥७॥

---

Sūkta 5, The Eighth Mantra

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

त्वां स्तोमा॑ अवीवृधन्त्वामु॒क्था श॑तक्रतो । त्वां व॑र्धंतु नो॒ गिरः॑ ॥८॥

tvāṃ stómā avīvṛdhantvāmukthā́ śatakrato | tvā́ṃ vardhaṃtu no gíraḥ ||8||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

त्वाम् । स्तोमाः । अवीवृधन् । त्वाम् । उक्था । शतक्रतो इति शतऽक्रतो । त्वाम् । वर्धन्तु । नः । गिरः ॥८॥

Page 186 — Rik 5.8: Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya, grammar (characterized), Pada-meanings (opening)

(Page header: "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā · Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 5." Sanskrit printed in Kannada script, read from enlarged slices; [?] where unclear.)

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे शतक्रतो बहुकर्मन्बहुप्रज्ञ वेन्द्र त्वां स्तोमाः सामगानां स्तोत्राण्यवीवृधन् । वर्धितवन्ति । तथा बह्वृचानामुक्था शस्त्राणि त्वामवीवृधन् । यस्मात्पूर्वमेवमासीत्तस्मादिदानीमपि नोऽस्माकं गिरः स्तुतयस्त्वां वर्धन्तु । वर्धयन्तु । अतिवृद्धं कुर्वन्तु ॥ स्तोमाः । मनो नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । अवीवृधन् । वृधु वृद्धौ । ण्यन्तात् । पा. ३-१-२६ । लुङि चङि । पा. ३-१-४८ । उर्ऋत् । पा. ७-४-७ । इति वृधेरुपधाया ऋकारस्य ऋकारविधानादन्तरङ्गोऽपि गुणो बाध्यते । द्विर्भाव । पा. ६-१-११ । हलादिशेष । पा. ७-४-६० । सन्वद्भाव । पा. ७-४-९३ । इत्त्वे । पा. ७-४-७९ । दीर्घश्च । पा. ७-४-९४ । अडागमः । पा. ६-४-७१ । उक्था । उक्थानि । पात्रातृदिववचिरिचिसिचिभ्यस्थक् । उ. २-७ । इति वचेः स्थक्प्रत्ययः । तस्य कित्त्वात्संप्रसारणम् । शेश्छन्दसि बहुलम् । पा. ६-१-७० । इति शिलोपः । नलोपश्च । प्रत्ययस्वरेणान्तोदात्तः । असामर्थ्यादामन्त्रितपरस्यापि न पराङ्गवद्भाव इति नानुदात्तत्वम् । वर्धन्तु । अन्तर्भावितण्यर्थाद्वृधेर्व्यत्ययेन परस्मैपदम् ॥ he śatakrato bahukarman bahuprajña vendra tvāṃ stomāḥ sāmagānāṃ stotrāṇy avīvṛdhan | vardhitavanti | tathā bahvṛcānām ukthā śastrāṇi tvām avīvṛdhan | yasmāt pūrvam evam āsīt tasmād idānīm api no 'smākaṃ giraḥ stutayas tvāṃ vardhantu | vardhayantu | ativṛddhaṃ kurvantu || stomāḥ | mano nittvād ādyudāttaḥ | avīvṛdhan | vṛdhu vṛddhau |

ṇyantāt | pā. 3-1-26 | luṅi caṅi | pā. 3-1-48 | urṛt | pā. 7-4-7 | iti vṛdher upadhāyā ṛkārasya ṛkāra-vidhānād antaraṅgo 'pi guṇo bādhyate | dvirbhāva | pā. 6-1-11 | halādi-śeṣa | pā. 7-4-60 | sanvad-bhāva | pā. 7-4-93 | ittve | pā. 7-4-79 | dīrghaś ca | pā. 7-4-94 | aḍāgamaḥ | pā. 6-4-71 | ukthā | ukthāni | pātrā-tṛdiva-vaci-rici-sici-bhyas thak | u. 2-7 | iti vaceḥ sthak-pratyayaḥ | tasya kittvāt samprasāraṇam | śeś chandasi bahulam | pā. 6-1-70 | iti śilopaḥ | nalopaś ca | pratyaya-svareṇāntodāttaḥ | asāmarthyād āmantrita-parasyāpi na parāṅgavad-bhāva iti nānudāttatvam | vardhantu | antarbhāvita-ṇyarthād vṛdher vyatyayena parasmaipadam || (Reading notes: (i) "vendra" is the print's run-together "vā indra"; (ii) the sūtra-numbers and the abbreviated labels ("dvirbhāva," "halādiśeṣa," "sanvadbhāva," …) are as printed; (iii) re-read from the better scan: "evam āsīt," "ṛkāra-vidhānād antaraṅgo 'pi guṇo bādhyate," "u. 2-7" and "vṛdher vyatyayena parasmaipadam.")

Translation (sense in full; grammar in outline): "O 'śatakrato' — O doer of many deeds, O one of much wisdom — O Indra! 'Tvāṃ stomāḥ avīvṛdhan' — the stomas, the stotras of the Sāma-singers, made you grow, increased you. And likewise the 'ukthā' — the śastras, of the Ṛg-chanters (bahvṛca) — made you grow. Because they did so before, therefore now also 'giraḥ' — our hymns of praise — 'tvāṃ vardhantu' — may they make you grow; may they make you exceedingly great." (Grammar:) "Stomāḥ" — "stu" with "man," "n"-marked, first-syllable acute. "Avīvṛdhan" — "vṛdhu vṛddhau" (to grow) with the causal "ṇic" (पा. ३-१-२६), in the "luṅ" with "caṅ" (पा. ३-१-४८); उर्ऋत् (पा. ७-४-७) — "ṛ" for the penultimate "ṛ" of "vṛdh" in the "caṅ"; the doubling (पा. ६-१-११); the reduplicative syllable's reduction; the "sanvat" treatment (पा. ७-४-९३); "ī" and its lengthening (पा. ७-४-७९, ७-४-९४); the augment "aṭ" (पा. ६-४-७१). "Ukthā" — "ukthāni" — from "vac" with the Uṇādi affix "thak," "kit," so samprasāraṇa → "uktha"; the nominative plural ending "śi" is elided by शेश्छन्दसि बहुलम् (पा. ६-१-७०) and the "n" augment is lost → "ukthā"; end-acute by the affix. "Vardhantu" — "vṛdh" (an ātmanepada root) with the causal sense included takes the parasmaipada by Vedic interchange ("vyatyaya").

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated; continues on p. 187)

(हे) शतक्रतो (he śatakrato) — O Indra, who do many daring deeds, or who have much wisdom | स्तोमाः (stomāḥ) — (the trivṛt and other) stomas sung by the Udgātṛ and other priests, that is, the stotras … (continues on the next page)

Page 187 — Rik 5.8: Pada-meanings concluded; Bhāvārtha; English rendering; Special topics (opening)

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 10 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." English as printed. Ṛg-vedic references re-read from the better scan; glosses mine, tentative.)

(Continuing:) …that is, the stotras | त्वाम् (tvām) — you | अवीवृधन् (avīvṛdhan) — have increased, that is, have praised you by singing your qualities | (and) उक्था (ukthā) — the śastra-mantras recited by the priests of the Hotṛ group | त्वाम् (tvām) — you | (have praised) | (अब) नः (naḥ) — our, that is, those that we are reciting | गिरः (giraḥ) — words in the form of stotras | त्वाम् (tvām) — you | वर्धन्तु (vardhantu) — let them increase (let them praise).

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

O Indra, who do many daring deeds, or are full of much wisdom! The priests such as the Udgātṛ, who sing the Sāman, praise you by singing your qualities with the trivṛt and other stomas; the priests of the Hotṛ group likewise praise you by reciting śastra-mantras. By this your qualities are widely known. Now may the words in the form of stotras that we are reciting increase your praise even more.

English Translation (printed in English in the source itself):

"(O Indra) performer of many deeds or one endowed with great wisdom, the chants of stomas have magnified you; (so also) the hymns of sastras have magnified you; (similarly) may our praises magnify you."

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

त्वां वर्धन्तु नो गिरः (tvāṃ vardhantu no giraḥ) — Our words in the form of stotras and the like increase your qualities, that is, they are praised. The sense is that we praise you greatly. Such uses of this sentence occur in the Ṛgveda in relation to Indra, and also in relation to Agni and other deities, in many places. We give some examples —

(१) अग्निं वर्धन्तु नो गिरो यतो जायेत उक्थ्यः ॥ (ऋ. सं. ३-१०-६) agniṃ vardhantu no giro yato jāyeta ukthyaḥ || (ṛ. saṃ. 3-10-6) Gloss: "May our songs increase Agni, from whom the praiseworthy one is born." [tentative]

(२) इमा उत्वा पुरुवसो गिरो वर्धन्तु या मम ॥ (ऋ. सं. ८-३-३) imā utvā puruvaso giro vardhantu yā mama || (ṛ. saṃ. 8-3-3) (Reading note: the print has "utvā" run together; it is "u tvā" ("and you").) Gloss: "May these songs of mine increase you, O lord of much wealth."

(३) प्र वां स्तोमाः सुवृक्तयो गिरो वर्धन्त्वश्विना ॥ (ऋ. सं. ८-८-२२) pra vāṃ stomāḥ suvṛktayo giro vardhantv aśvinā || (ṛ. saṃ. 8-8-22) Gloss: "May the well-wrought hymns, the songs, forth increase you two, O Aśvins."

(४) इन्द्रं वर्धन्तु नो गिर इन्द्रं सुतास इन्दवः ॥ (ऋ. सं. ८-१३-१६) indraṃ vardhantu no gira indraṃ sutāsa indavaḥ || (ṛ. saṃ. 8-13-16) Gloss: "May our songs increase Indra; Indra (increase) the pressed Soma-drops."

(५) त्रिकद्रुकेषु चेतनं देवासो यज्ञमत्नत । तमिद्वर्धन्तु नो गिरः सदावृधम् ॥ (ऋ. सं. ८-१३-१८) trikadrukeṣu cetanaṃ devāso yajñam atnata | tam id vardhantu no giraḥ sadāvṛdham || (ṛ. saṃ. 8-13-18) Gloss: "In the Trikadrukas the gods stretched out the sacrifice, the thinking one; him may our songs increase, ever-growing."

(६) त्वामग्ने मनीषिणस्त्वां हिन्वन्ति चित्तिभिः । त्वां वर्धन्तु नो गिरः ॥ (ऋ. सं. ८-४१-१९) tvām agne manīṣiṇas tvāṃ hinvanti cittibhiḥ | tvāṃ vardhantu no giraḥ || (ṛ. saṃ. 8-41-19) Gloss: "You, O Agni, the wise (increase); you they impel with their thoughts; may our songs increase you."

Page 188 — Special topics on Rik 5.8: the repetition-style ("prāśa") of the Ṛgveda

(Page header: "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 5." References re-read from the better scan; the verses were read from enlarged slices; glosses mine, tentative.)

(Continuing the list of verses with "vardhantu no giraḥ" from p. 187:)

(७) उत त्वा धीतयो मम गिरो वर्धन्तु विश्वहा ॥ (ऋ. सं. ८-४१-२२) uta tvā dhītayo mama giro vardhantu viśvahā || (ṛ. saṃ. 8-41-22) Gloss: "And may my thoughts, my songs, increase you every day."

(८) तमिद्वर्धन्तु नो गिरो वत्सं संशश्वतीरिव । य इन्द्रस्य हृदंसनिः ॥ (ऋ. सं. ९-६१-१४) tam id vardhantu no giro vatsaṃ saṃ śaśvatīr iva | ya indrasya hṛdaṃsaniḥ || (ṛ. saṃ. 9-61-14) Gloss: "Him may our songs increase, as constant (cows) a calf — who is the winner of Indra's heart." [tentative] and many other examples may be given.

Every pāda of this Ṛk begins with the word "tvām." Ṛks of this kind — with a stylistic "prāsa" (repetition, alliteration) and "prauḍhārtha" (a pointed, striking meaning) — are found in the Ṛgveda in good number. In the first pāda the sentence is complete with its agent and verb; from there on, in the following sentences, only the principal words, such as "tvām," are repeated; the agent and verb need not be supplied. That a sentence-style of this sort is common in the "prauḍha" (mature) style is not in doubt; such a style gives a certain charm to the sense of the sentence. We give one or two such sentences here as examples:

प्रातरग्निं प्रातरिन्द्रं हवामहे प्रातर्मित्रावरुणा प्रातरश्विना । प्रातर्भगं पूषणं ब्रह्मणस्पतिं प्रातः सोममुत रुद्रं हुवेमः ॥ (ऋ. सं. ७-४१-१) prātar agniṃ prātar indraṃ havāmahe prātar mitrāvaruṇā prātar aśvinā | prātar bhagaṃ pūṣaṇaṃ brahmaṇaspatiṃ prātaḥ somam uta rudraṃ huvemaḥ || (ṛ. saṃ. 7-41-1) (Reading note: the print has "prātar" before each name, and I give the verse as I read it; the last word is printed "huvemaḥ" with a "u" form I give as read, and the printed reference "2-41-1" is a doubtful reading of the small numerals.) Gloss: "At dawn we call Agni, at dawn Indra, at dawn Mitra and Varuṇa, at dawn the Aśvins; at dawn Bhaga, Pūṣan, Brahmaṇaspati; at dawn Soma and Rudra we call."

(The source's note:) Here the word "prātaḥ" is repeated many times.

अहं दां गृणते पूर्व्यं वस्वहं ब्रह्म कृणवं मह्यं वर्धनम् । अहं भुवं यजमानस्य चोदिताऽयज्वनः साक्षि विश्वस्मिन्भरे ॥ (ऋ. सं. १०-४९-१) ahaṃ dāṃ gṛṇate pūrvyaṃ vasv ahaṃ brahma kṛṇavaṃ mahyaṃ vardhanam | ahaṃ bhuvaṃ yajamānasya coditāyajvanaḥ sākṣi viśvasmin bhare || (ṛ. saṃ. 10-49-1) (Reading note: I give the verse as printed — "dāṃ" and "vasv" and "bhuvaṃ" are the printed forms; I flag the whole citation, since the first line is crowded in the print.) Gloss (mine; tentative): "I gave to the singer the first wealth; I made the prayer for my own increase; I became the instigator of the sacrificer, and, in every battle, the conqueror of the one who does not sacrifice."

(The source's note:) Here the word "ahaṃ" is repeated again and again. Not only this Ṛk but, in this sūkta and in many other sūktas, all the Ṛks are like this.

अग्निः सप्तिं वाजम्भरं ददात्यग्निर्वीरं श्रुत्यं कर्मनिष्ठाम् । अग्नी रोदसी वि चरत्समञ्जन्नग्निर्नारीं वीरकुक्षिं पुरंधिम् ॥ (ऋ. सं. १०-८०-१) agniḥ saptiṃ vājambharaṃ dadāty agnir vīraṃ śrutyaṃ karmaniṣṭhām | agnī rodasī vi carat samañjann agnir nārīṃ vīrakukṣiṃ puraṃdhim || (ṛ. saṃ. 10-80-1) (Reading note: the first line is as printed; the printed word "agnī" in line 2 is a dual of "agni," and I give it as read.) Gloss (mine; tentative): "Agni gives the horse that brings the prize; Agni the hero, renowned, steadfast in action; Agni, going through heaven and earth, anointing both; Agni, the woman, hero-wombed, the (goddess) Puraṃdhi."

(The source's note:) In this Ṛk, and in all the other Ṛks of this sūkta, the word "agniḥ" is repeated at the beginning of every pāda.

शं न इन्द्राग्नी भवतामवोभिः शं न इन्द्रावरुणा रातहव्या । शमिन्द्रासोमा सुविताय शं योः शं न इन्द्रापूषणा वाजसातौ ॥ (ऋ. सं. ७-३५-१) śaṃ na indrāgnī bhavatām avobhiḥ śaṃ na indrāvaruṇā rātahavyā | śam indrāsomā suvitāya śaṃ yoḥ śaṃ na indrāpūṣaṇā vājasātau || (ṛ. saṃ. 7-35-1) Gloss: "May Indra and Agni be a blessing to us with their help; a blessing, Indra and Varuṇa, those who accept the oblation; a blessing, Indra and Soma, for good fortune, healing and wellbeing; a blessing to us, Indra and Pūṣan, in the winning of the prize." (The reference as printed reads "2-3?-1"; I give "6-73-1" from the verse's wording and mark it [?].)

(The source's note:) In this Ṛk, and in the other Ṛks of this sūkta, the words "śam" and "śam naḥ" are repeated at the beginning of every pāda. Ṛks of this kind, of the "prāsabaddha" and "prauḍhārtha" style, are numerous in the Ṛgveda.

(Correction note on the reference to the last verse: my first reading of the printed number as "2-3?-1" was a misread of small numerals; the verse is the well-known opening of a "śaṃ no" hymn, and I have given "6-73-1" with a [?], because I could not read the printed digits and I am relying on the wording. I record this rather than present the number as read.)

Page 189 — Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā for Rik 5.8 (characterized)

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 10 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." Pure grammar in Kannada prose for "stomāḥ," "avīvṛdhan" and its reduplication, restating the Sanskrit of p. 186; it does not bear on the sense of the Rik (pp. 186–187). Characterized in outline; sūtras kept; numbers as read.)

"Stomāḥ" — after the root "ṣṭuñ stutau" (to praise), the Uṇādi अर्तिस्तुसुहुसृधृक्षिक्षुभायावापदियक्षिनीभ्यो मन् (उ. सू. १-१३७ [as printed]) gives "man"; being "n"-marked, the word is first-syllable acute (ञित्यादिर्नित्यम्).

"Avīvṛdhan" — "vṛdhu vṛddhau" (to grow), with the causal "ṇic" (हेतुमति च, पा. ३-१-२६); च्लि लुङि (पा. ३-१-४३); णिश्रिद्रुस्रुभ्यः कर्तरि चङ् (पा. ३-१-४८) — "caṅ" for "cli" in the "luṅ," after the roots "śri, dru, sru" and after a "ṇic"-ended root, when the agent is intended: "vṛdh + i + caṅ + jhi"; उर्ऋत् (पा. ७-४-७) — the "ṛ" of the penultimate of the root "vṛdh," before the "caṅ" that follows "ṇi," is replaced by "ṛ" optionally — the print explains that since this sūtra prescribes "ṛ" for a penultimate "ṛ," it is intended to bar the guṇa that पुगन्तलघूपधस्य च (पा. ७-३-८६) would otherwise give to the light penultimate "ṛ" (though that guṇa is "antaraṅga" in relation to the prescribed “ṛ”); so there is no guṇa. Then चङि (पा. ६-१-११) — when “caṅ” follows, the first one-vowel part of the (non-reduplicated) root is doubled; the root being a non-vowel-initial one, the first part with one vowel is doubled: “vṛdh-vṛdh + i”; उरत् (पा. ७-४-६६) — a short “a” substitutes for the “ṛ” of the reduplicative syllable; with उरण् रपरः (पा. १-१-५१) the “ar” results: “var-vṛdh-i + a + jhi”; हलादिः शेषः (पा. ७-४-६०) leaves only the first consonant of the reduplicative syllable: “va-vṛdh-i + a + jhi”; सन्वल्लघुनि चङ्परेऽनग्लोपे (पा. ७-४-९३) — when “caṅ” follows a “ṇi” and the stem has a light syllable in the reduplicative part, the reduplicative syllable is treated as if before “san” — “sanvat” — except where the elision of an “aṅga” vowel has taken place; this gives the “i” in the reduplicative syllable: सन्यतः (पा. ७-४-७९) — “a” becomes “i” before “san” → “vi-vṛdh-i”; दीर्घो लघोः (पा. ७-४-९४) lengthens the light reduplicative syllable → “vī-vṛdh-i + a + jhi”; लुङ्लङ्लृङ्क्ष्वडुदात्तः (पा. ६-४-७१) puts the augment “aṭ” before “luṅ” → “a-vīvṛdhi + a + jhi”; झोऽन्तः (पा. ७-१-३) puts “ant”; णेरनिटि … the “ṇi” is elided before “a” → “avīvṛdh + an + t”; the final “t” of “an(t)” is elided (संयोगान्तस्य लोपः, पा. ८-२-२३, and लङः शाकटायनस्यैव… ); “avīvṛdhan.” (The page ends mid-sentence in the discussion of the accent, which continues on the next page.)

Page 190 — Rik 5.8 grammar concluded (characterized): “avīvṛdhan,” “ukthā,” “vardhantu”

(Page header: “Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā · Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 5.” Pure grammar in Kannada prose, characterized in outline; sūtras kept; numbers as read.)

(Continuing “avīvṛdhan” from p. 189:) …the augment “aṭ” (लुङ्लङ्लृङ्क्ष्वडुदात्तः, पा. ६-४-७१) is added to these forms. In “avīvṛdh + i + a + jhi” the “ṇic” is elided by णेरनिटि (पा. ६-४-५१) because an ārdhadhātuka without “iṭ” follows; the “ṛ” … by ऋदृशोऽङि गुणः is not applicable here; the “jh” becomes “ant” (झोऽन्तः, पा. ७-१-३), and the “ṛ” (of “jhi”’s “i,” the print says) — by इतश्च (पा. ३-४-१००) the final “i” of the ending is elided; by संयोगान्तस्य लोपः (पा. ८-२-२३) the final “t” of the conjunct is elided — and since that elision is “asiddha” (पूर्वत्रासिद्धम्, पा. ८-२-१) with respect to नलोपः प्रातिपदिकान्तस्य (पा. ८-२-७), the “n” is not elided; the result is “avīvṛdhan.”

“Ukthā” — “ukthāni,” the word meaning “śastras” — from “vac paribhāṣaṇe” (to speak), the Uṇādi पात्रातृदिववचिरिचिसिचिभ्यस्थक् (उ. सू. २-१६-४ [as printed]; “2-7” on p. 186) — the affix “thak” after “vac”; since it is “k”-marked, the root undergoes samprasāraṇa (वचिस्वपियजादीनां किति, पा. ६-१-१५) → “uc + tha” and संप्रसारणाच्च (पा. ६-१-१०८) the pūrvarūpa; चोः कुः (पा. ८-२-३०) turns “c” into “k” → “ukthaa” … “uktha.” As a neuter word, the plural “jas/śas” is replaced by “śi” (जश्शसोः शिः, पा. ७-१-२०) — “śi” is a “sarvanāmasthāna” (शि सर्वनामस्थानम्, पा. १-१-४२), and for a neuter stem नपुंसकस्य झलचः (पा. ७-१-७२) the “num” augment is added to a neuter stem ending in a “jhal” or a vowel — “ukthan-i” — with सर्वनामस्थाने चासंबुद्धौ (पा. ६-४-८) the lengthening, “ukthān-i”; शेश्छन्दसि बहुलम् (पा. ६-१-७०) — in the Veda “śi” is variably elided — the “i” goes, and by नलोपः प्रातिपदिकान्तस्य (पा. ८-२-७; printed “8-27”) the final “n” is elided too → “ukthā.” End-acute by the affix’s accent. Though “śatakrato,” a vocative, follows “ukthā,” the word “ukthā” is connected in sense with “avīvṛdhan,” not with “śatakrato,” so there is no mutual syntactic connection (asāmarthya); the rule सुबामन्त्रिते पराङ्गवत्स्वरे (पा. २-१-२) does not apply, and so the vocative's grave accent (आमन्त्रितस्य च, पा. ८-१-१९) is not caused. The same reasoning applies to "śatakrato."

"Vardhantu" — "vṛdhu vardhane" (to grow, to increase) is an ātmanepada root; but, with the causal sense ("ṇic") included, the parasmaipada ending is used, by the rule that a root with "ṇic" included in its sense takes the parasmaipada (णिचश्च, पा. १-३-७४ —— the print states it as the general principle of "antarbhāvita-ṇyartha"), so the third-person plural imperative: "vardhantu." ॥८॥

Page 191 — Sūkta 5, Ninth Mantra: Saṃhitā, Pada, Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 10 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented (the print accents the Pada too). Sanskrit printed in Kannada script.)

Sūkta 5, The Ninth Mantra

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

अक्षितोतिः सनेदिमं वाजमिंद्रः सहस्रिणं । यस्मिन्विश्वानि पौंस्या ॥९॥

ákṣitotiḥ sanedimáṃ vājamíṃdraḥ sahasríṇaṃ | yasminvíśvāni páuṃsyā ||9||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

अक्षितऽऊतिः । सनेत् । इमम् । वाजम् । इन्द्रः । सहस्रिणम् । यस्मिन् । विश्वानि । पौंस्या ॥९॥

(Reading note: the Pada text prints "akṣita-ūtiḥ" as two parts; the Saṃhitā form is the sandhi "akṣitotiḥ." In the Saṃhitā the print runs "sanedimaṃ" (for "sanet imaṃ") together, as I give it.)

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥ (sense-portion at the top; read from the enlarged slice)

इन्द्र इमं वाजं सोमरूपमन्नं सनेत् । संभजेत् । कीदृश इन्द्रः । अक्षितोतिः अहिंसितरक्षणः । कदाचिदपि रक्षां न विमुञ्चतीत्यर्थः । कीदृशं वाजम् । सहस्रिणं प्रकृतौ विकृतिषु च प्रवर्तमानत्वेन सहस्रसंख्यायुक्तम् । यस्मिन्वाजे विश्वानि सर्वाणि पौंस्या पुंस्त्वानि बलानि वर्तन्ते तादृशं वाजमिति पूर्वत्रान्वयः ॥ indra imaṃ vājaṃ soma-rūpam annaṃ sanet | sambhajet | kīdṛśa indraḥ | akṣitotiḥ ahiṃsita-rakṣaṇaḥ | kadācid api rakṣāṃ na vimuñcatīty arthaḥ | kīdṛśaṃ vājam | sahasriṇaṃ prakṛtau vikṛtiṣu ca pravartamānatvena sahasra-saṃkhyā-yuktam | yasmin vāje viśvāni sarvāṇi pauṃsyā puṃstvāni balāni vartante tādṛśaṃ vājam iti pūrvatrānvayaḥ || (Re-read in full from the better scan; the reading stands.)

Translation: "'Indraḥ imaṃ vājaṃ sanet' — let Indra share in this 'vāja' — this food in the form of Soma — let him partake of it. What kind of Indra? 'Akṣitotiḥ' — he whose protection is unharmed (unfailing); that is, he never abandons his protection. What kind of 'vāja'? 'Sahasriṇam' — endowed with the number 'thousand,' because it is used both in the archetype and in the modified rites; 'yasmin viśvāni pauṃsyā' — in which vāja all manly powers (strengths) abide — such a 'vāja' (is to be construed with what precedes)."

The grammatical discussion of "akṣitotiḥ" (characterized; re-read from the better scan): The rest of the page is the bhāṣya's argument on "akṣita-ūti." Objection: "kṣi kṣaye" is intransitive, so its "kta" can only be in the sense of location, state or agent; as agent or location, since "ṇyat" is not taught in those senses, the rules क्षियः (continued) — निष्ठायामण्यदर्थे (पा. ६-४-५९, ६-४-६०) — would lengthen the vowel, and क्षियो दीर्घात् (पा. ८-२-४६) would turn the niṣṭhā "t" into "n," giving "akṣīṇa," not "akṣita." If instead "kta" is neuter in the sense of state (नपुंसके भावे क्तः, पा. ३-३-११४), "kṣita" has the "ṇyat"-sense, so "aṇyadarthe" bars the lengthening and the "n," and "kṣitam" results; but then the compound cannot be a nañ-tatpuruṣa and must be a bahuvrīhi ("na vidyate kṣitam atra"), which by नञ्सुभ्याम् (पा. ६-२-१७२) would make the second member end-acute; and with "ūti" in a further bahuvrīhi the first member keeps that accent, so the intended first-syllable acute would not result. Answer ("satyam"): here "kṣi" is taken with the causal sense included, so it is transitive and the niṣṭhā is in the object sense … (continued on the next page).

Page 192 — Rik 5.9: grammar concluded (characterized); Pada-meanings; Bhāvārtha (opening)

(Page header: "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā · Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 5." Sanskrit printed in Kannada script; the grammar at the top is a continuation of the argument of p. 191 and the Sanskrit of the Bhāṣya on "akṣitotiḥ," "sanet," "vājam," "indraḥ," "sahasriṇam," "viśvāni," "pauṃsyā." It is characterized in outline, re-read from the better scan, with sūtras kept.)

(Concluding the argument on "akṣitotiḥ" from p. 191; re-read from the better scan:) …the prohibition "aṇyadarthe" then bars both the lengthening and the "n" of the niṣṭhā; so in a nañ-tatpuruṣa ("na kṣitā akṣitā") the first member, an indeclinable, keeps its accent and "nañ" is acute; and when "ūti" is added in a bahuvrīhi that same accent remains — so there is no fault. Alternatively, among the roots रि क्षि चिरि जिरि दाश दृ हिंसायाम् (dhātupāṭha 32, 28–33, as printed) "kṣi" (the "kṣiṇoti" root) means "to injure," and the niṣṭhā is in the object sense; "akṣitotiḥ" then means "one whose protection is not injured," and the accent follows in the way stated: "na doṣaḥ."

"Sanet" — "vana ṣaṇa sambhaktau," a bhvādi root. "Vājam" — first-syllable acute as a "vṛṣādi" word. "Indraḥ" — the affix "ran," "n"-marked, so first-syllable acute. "Sahasriṇam" — "sahasram asyāsti": अत इनिठनौ (पा. ५-२-११५) the affix "ini"; the affix accent. "Viśvāni" — विशेः क्वन् (viśeḥ kvan, उ. सू. १-१५१): "n"-marked, first-syllable acute. "Pauṃsyā" — "puṃsaḥ karmāṇi pauṃsyāni": as "brāhmaṇādi" is an ākṛti-gaṇa, गुणवचनब्राह्मणादिभ्यः कर्मणि च (पा. ५-१-१२४) gives "ṣyañ," "ñ"-marked, so first-syllable acute; for the nominative plural ending, "ḍā" is substituted by सुपां सुलुक्… and the like. Objection: by स्त्रीपुंसाभ्यां नञ्स्नञौ भवनात् (पा. ४-१-८७) the affixes "nañ/snañ" are taught for all the senses (descendant and the rest) up to धान्यानां भवने क्षेत्रे खञ् (पा. ५-२-१), as in "pauṃsna" (a man's descendant, "come from a man"); so in the sense "a man's state or deed" too they should set aside "ṣyañ" and give "pauṃsnāni" — how then "pauṃsyāni"? Answer: in आ च त्वात् (पा. ५-१-१२०) the limit "tvāt" denotes that up to प्राक् त्वतलः (पा. ५-१-१३६) the affixes "imanic" and the rest co-occur with "tva/tal"; and by the "ca" of that sūtra, "nañ/snañ" likewise co-occur with "ṣyañ" and the rest — there is no relation of rule and exception. ॥९॥

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

अक्षितोतिः (akṣitotiḥ) — he who always gives protection that does not fail, or he who is the protector of those who do not injure (others) | इन्द्रः (indraḥ) — Indra | यस्मिन् (yasmin) — in which (the food in the form of oblation, or in the form of Soma) | विश्वानि (viśvāni) — all | पौंस्या (pauṃsyā) — the strengths — manliness | सहस्रिणम् (sahasriṇam) — used in thousands of archetypal and modified sacrifices | इमं वाजम् (imaṃ vājam) — this food (in the form of Soma, or in the form of the oblation) | सनेत् (sanet) — let him accept.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

Indra, whose protection never fails — that is, who always protects those who praise him: there is nothing to doubt in this. Let Indra, then, accept the food, in the forms of Soma, oblation and the like, which we use in sacrifices — offering strength and power — that is, let Indra accept the food that we offer in sacrifices and the like …

Page 193 — Rik 5.9: English rendering; Special topics (Skandasvāmī's different reading)

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 10 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." English as printed. The Sanskrit of Skandasvāmī's commentary is printed in Kannada script and read from an enlarged slice; I give it in three layers.)

English Translation (printed in English in the source itself):

"May Indra who grants unperishable aid accept this food (in the form of soma) in which exist all manly strength and which we offer in thousands of sacrifices."

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

The intention of this Ṛk is not plain. The Bhāṣyakāra has taken pains to give a sense that is clear; but Skandasvāmī and Veṅkaṭamādhava have explained this Ṛk in another way. We give their commentary and the Anuvāda here.

Skandasvāmī's commentary:

> अक्षिता अन्येनाहिंसिता अक्षीणा वा ऊतिः पालनं यस्य सोऽक्षितोतिः । सनेत् संभजतु । इमं वाजं संग्रामं इन्द्रः सहस्रिणं योद्ध्वृसहस्रयुक्तम् । अस्मिन् संग्रामेऽस्मद्रक्षणाय सन्निहितो भवित्वित्यर्थः । यस्मिन् संग्रामे किमुच्यते । (यस्मिन्) विश्वानि सर्वाणि । पौंस्या । बलानामैतत् । हस्त्यश्वरथपदात्यलक्षणानि बलानि । अथवा वाज इत्यन्ननाम । इदमस्मदीयं सोमलक्षणमन्नं संभजेत् पिबेत् इन्द्रः स्तुतिसहस्रयुक्तं यस्मिन् बलानि सर्वाणि सामर्थ्यलक्षणानि । वाजः पीतः सर्वसामर्थ्यानि जनयतीत्यर्थः । अथवा यस्मिन् विश्वानि पौंस्येति इन्द्रविशेषणम् । यस्मिन्निन्द्रे सर्वाणि बलानि यः सर्वैर्बलैर्बलवान् यो महाबल इत्यर्थः ॥ akṣitā anyenāhiṃsitā akṣīṇā vā ūtiḥ pālanaṃ yasya so 'kṣitotiḥ | sanet sambhajatu | imaṃ vājaṃ saṃgrāmam indraḥ sahasriṇaṃ yoddhṛ-sahasra-yuktam | asmin saṃgrāme 'smad-rakṣaṇāya sannihito bhavitv ity arthaḥ | yasmin saṃgrāme kim ucyate | (yasmin) viśvāni sarvāṇi | pauṃsyā | balānām aitat | hasty-aśva-ratha-padāti-lakṣaṇāni balāni | athavā vāja ity anna-nāma | idam asmadīyaṃ soma-lakṣaṇam annaṃ sambhajet pibet indraḥ stuti-sahasra-yuktaṃ yasmin balāni sarvāṇi sāmarthya-lakṣaṇāni | vājaḥ pītaḥ sarva-sāmarthyāni janayatīty arthaḥ | athavā yasmin viśvāni pauṃsyeti indra-viśeṣaṇam |

yasminn indre sarvāṇi balāni yaḥ sarvair balair balavān yo mahābala ity arthaḥ ||
(Reading notes: "sambhajatu" for "sambhajet" at the start of the second clause, and the abbreviated "pauṃsyā … aitat" are as printed; I give the passage as read, and the occasional unusual form is the print's.)

Translation: "'Akṣitotiḥ' — he whose 'ūti' (protection, guarding) is 'akṣitā' — unharmed by any other, or not diminished — 'akṣitotiḥ.' 'Sanet' — let him share (partake). 'Imaṃ vājam' — this 'vāja,' this battle; 'Indra, sahasriṇam' — endowed with a thousand warriors; the sense is 'may he be present at this battle for our protection.' In which battle? What is said (of it)? 'Viśvāni' — all; 'pauṃsyā' — this is a name for strengths: the strengths in the form of elephants, horses, chariots and foot-soldiers. Or else 'vāja' is a name for food: 'let Indra partake of — drink — this our food, in the form of Soma, endowed with a thousand praises, in which all strengths in the form of capacity are found; "vāja," when drunk, produces all capacities' — such is the sense. Or else 'yasmin viśvāni pauṃsyā' is a qualifier of Indra: 'in which Indra all strengths abide; who is powerful with all strengths; who is of great strength' — such is the sense."

Anuvāda (Kannada, translated): The protection that Indra gives is not destroyed after a certain time; it is always there. May such an Indra, who gives protection, come, for our protection, to this battlefield, which is full of thousands of warriors. In this battlefield there is the fourfold army of elephants, horses, chariots and foot-soldiers. Let him come to such a battlefield and help us; or, let that Indra — that is, the one of all-pervading strength, the very strong one — accept this food in the form of Soma that is endowed with thousands of praises and that gives capacity to those who drink it, and may he always protect us without fail.

अक्षितोतिः (akṣitotiḥ) — "ahiṃsita-rakṣaṇaḥ, kadācid api rakṣāṃ na vimuñcatīty arthaḥ" (अहिंसितरक्षणः कदाचिदपि रक्षां न विमुञ्चतीत्यर्थः — "he whose protection is unharmed; the sense is that he never gives up protecting"): one who never leaves off the protection of those who praise him. The protection he gives is not diminished — such is the sense. (The page continues with the next word on p. 194.)

Page 194 — Special topics on Rik 5.9: "akṣitotiḥ," "vājam," "sahasriṇam," "pauṃsyā"; Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (opening)

(Page header: "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā · Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 5." The verses were read from an enlarged slice; the references re-read from the better scan; glosses mine, tentative.)

अक्षितोतिः (akṣitotiḥ) — This word occurs in the Ṛgveda, besides in this Ṛk, only in the following Ṛks; it is not used in other mantras —

आर्चत्रयो मघवा नृभ्य उक्थैर्द्यक्षो राजा गिरामक्षितोतिः । ārcatrayo maghavā nṛbhya ukthair dyakṣo rājā girām akṣitotiḥ | (Reading note: the print's first word reads "ārcatro" or "ārcatrayo," a form I cannot make out with certainty; I give "ārcatrayo" and flag the whole line [?], and give no gloss.) (ऋ. सं. ६-२४-१)

जनीयन्तो जनिदामक्षितोतिमा चाव्ययामोऽवते न कोशम् । janīyanto janidām akṣitotim ā cāvyayāmo 'vate na kośam | (Reading note: given as printed ("…akṣitotimā cāvyayāmo 'vate…"); no gloss.) (ऋ. सं. ४-१७-१६)

सत्राजितो धनसा अक्षितोतयो वाजयन्तो रथा इव ॥ satrājito dhanasā akṣitotayo vājayanto rathā iva || Gloss: “The ever-victorious, winners of wealth, of unfailing aid, speeding like chariots.” [tentative] (ऋ. सं. ८-३-१५)

वाजम् (vājam) — food; or battle (war).

सहस्रिणम् (sahasriṇam) — This word is a qualifier of “vāja.” When “vāja” is taken in the sense of food, “sahasriṇam” means “that which is offered in thousands of sacrifices, or which is praised with thousands of stotras.” When “vāja” is taken in the sense of war, “sahasriṇam” must be said to mean “a war with thousands of warriors.”

यस्मिन् विश्वानि पौंस्या (yasmin viśvāni pauṃsyā) — “(that) in which there is all strength and capacity.” If “vāja” is taken in the sense of food, the word “pauṃsya” can be given such senses as strength, capacity, power, nourishment, enthusiasm; when “vāja” is taken as “war,” senses such as the strength of elephants, horses and the like, or “manliness” (pauruṣeya), valour, fortitude. As Skandasvāmī says, the word “pauṃsyā” may be taken as a qualifier of Indra — “the one who is endowed with all power, the very strong one.”

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (Kannada; characterized, sūtras kept) “Akṣitotiḥ” — “kṣi kṣaye” (to decay) is an intransitive root; therefore the affix “kta” is not added in the sense of the object (karman); it must be added in the sense of the agent or the locus, or in the sense of the state (bhāva). If one says that “kta” is added in the sense of the agent or the locus: in “kṣi + ta” the niṣṭhā rule निष्ठायामण्यदर्थे (पा. ६-४-६०) — the “niṣṭhā” being “kta” and “ktavatu” by क्तक्तवतू निष्ठा (पा. १-१-२६), when these affixes are not in a “ṇyat” sense (state or object), “kṣi” is lengthened; so “kṣī”; and क्षियो दीर्घात् (पा. ८-२-४६) — after the lengthened root “kṣi” the “t” of “kta/ktavatu” becomes “n” — gives “kṣī + na”; अट्कुप्वाङ्नुम्व्यवायेऽपि (पा. ८-४-२), the “n” becomes “ṇ” → “kṣīṇa.” In a compound with “nañ,” “akṣīṇa” would result, and “akṣitam” would not be obtained. (The page runs on into p. 195.)

Page 195 — Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā for Rik 5.9 (characterized): “akṣitotiḥ” and “sanet”

(Page header: “Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 10 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā.” Pure grammar in Kannada prose, characterized in outline, sūtras kept; numbers as read.)

(Continuing from p. 194:) …“akṣīṇa” would be obtained, and not “akṣita.” Then, नपुंसके भावे क्तः (पा. ३-३-११४; printed here “8-2-46”) — in the neuter, the affix “kta” in the sense of state (bhāva) is added after a root denoting “kāla-sāmānya” (the general sense of time); in this view the sense of the affix is state, and with अण्यदर्थे (पा. ६-४-६०) there is a prohibition on the lengthening, so the “ī” lengthening of क्षियो दीर्घात् (पा. ८-२-४६) does not arise and the “t” does not become “n”; the form is “kṣita.” Yet, since “kṣita” has no connection in sense with “ūti” as a word in a “nañ”-tatpuruṣa, it is not possible to make a tatpuruṣa; one makes a bahuvrīhi — “na kṣitā ūtiḥ yasya saḥ.” In a bahuvrīhi with “nañ,” by नञ्सुभ्याम् (पा. ६-२-१७२) the second member is end-acute. Then, joining “akṣita” with “ūti” as a bahuvrīhi, बहुव्रीहौ प्रकृत्या पूर्वपदम् (पा. ६-२-१) — the first member’s own accent — would apply and stop it; so that, instead of the wished-for first-syllable acute, the print says, the accent does not come out; and in this view “akṣita” is not formed in the sense of the agent or locus, while in the sense of the state the accent is first-syllable acute but only if the "vivakṣā" (intention) is of that sort. In the sense "karman," the root being intransitive, the affix "kta" cannot be added; so for this reason the root "kṣi" is taken with the "ṇic" sense included — "antarbhāvita-ṇyartha" — "kṣayati": "kṣāyayati" ("he causes to decay"); this is transitive, so "kta" in the "karman" sense is added; and अण्यदर्थे blocks the lengthening and so "nattva"; "na kṣitā — akṣitā" — "akṣayitā" (that which does not decay); by तत्पुरुषे तुल्यार्थ... (पा. ६-२-२) the accent of the first member of an "avyaya"-prefixed compound is retained, so "nañ" is acute; when "ūti" is joined, बहुव्रीहौ प्रकृत्या पूर्वपदम् (पा. ६-२-१) stops there; so the form is accomplished and the intended accent obtained, and there is no fault. Or: from "kṣi" as a "svādi" root in the sense of injuring (रि क्षि चिरि जिरि दाश दृ जिघांसायाम्, the dhātupāṭha list), "kta" in the sense of the object: "he whose protection (ūti) is unharmed." In this view no lengthening comes. The accent of the whole is thus first-syllable acute, as "nañ" obtains by अव्ययपूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम्; and the forms and accents are accomplished.

"Sanet" — "vana ṣaṇa sambhaktau": धात्वादेः षः सः (पा. ६-१-६४) — the initial "ṣ" of "ṣaṇa" becomes "s"; निमित्तापाये नैमित्तिकस्याप्यपायः — when the cause is removed the dependent operation ceases, so the "ṇa" substitution of the root (the "ṇ" came from the initial "ṣ") is reversed: "sana." The root "sana" is read in the "bhvādi" class. After it the "vidhi-liṅ" (optative): विधिनिमन्त्रणामन्त्रणाधीष्टसंप्रश्नप्रार्थनेषु लिङ् (पा. ३-३-१६१) — "liṅ" in prescription; the third-person singular "tip"; यासुट् परस्मैपदेषूदात्तो ङिच्च (पा. ३-४-१०३; printed "3-3-103") — the augment "yāsuṭ"; सुट् तिथोः (पा. ३-४-१०७) — "suṭ" is the augment of "ti/thas" in "liṅ" … (continues on the next page)

Pages 196–197 — Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā for Rik 5.9 concluded (characterized); Sūkta 5, Tenth Mantra: Saṃhitā

(Page headers: p. 196 "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā · Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 5"; p. 197 "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 10 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." These two pages are pure Pāṇinian derivation in Kannada prose. They do not bear on the sense of Rik 5.9 (pp. 191–193). Characterized in outline; sūtras kept; re-read from the better scan. Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

p. 196. - "Sanet" (concluded) — after "yāsuṭ" and "suṭ," "śap" (कर्तरि शप्, पा. ३-१-६८) comes after the root; लिङः सलोपोऽनन्त्यस्य (पा. ७-२-७९) elides both "s"-letters; अतो येयः (पा. ७-२-८०) puts "iy" for "yā"; आद्गुणः (पा. ६-१-८७) gives guṇa; लोपो व्योर्वलि (पा. ६-१-६६) elides the "y"; इतश्च (पा. ३-४-१००) the "i" of "tip" is elided → "sanet." Since this is in the "vṛṣādi" list, वृषादीनां च (पा. ६-१-२०३) gives first-syllable acute. - "Indraḥ" — "idi paramaiśvarye" (to rule): इदितो नुम् धातोः (पा. ७-१-५८) the "num" augment; the Uṇādi ऋज्रेन्द्राग्र... (उ. सू. २-२८; printed "2-1-86") the affix "ran"; "n"-marked, so first-syllable acute. - "Sahasriṇam" — "sahasram asyāsti"; अत इनिठनौ (पा. ५-२-११५) "ini"; the second-case singular "am"; अट्कुप्वाङ्नुम्व्यवायेऽपि (पा. ८-४-२) turns the "n" into "ṇ"; the accent is the affix's. - "Viśvāni" — "viś" with the Uṇādi अशूप्रुषिलटिकणिखटिविशिभ्यः क्वन् (उ. सू. १-१४९ [as printed]; "1-151" on p. 192) the affix "kvan"; "n"-marked, so first-syllable acute. - "Pauṃsyā" — "puṃsi karmāṇi" (a man's deeds), by गुणवचनब्राह्मणादिभ्यः कर्मणि च (पा. ५-१-१२४) "ṣyañ" is added after words of quality and "brāhmaṇa"-class words, whether in the sense of state or of action; since the "brāhmaṇādi" list is an open-ended group (“ākṛtigaṇa”), the affix is added after “puṃs” too; “ñ”-marked, so the affix gives first-syllable acute; with “puṃs + ya,” तद्धितेष्वचामादेः (पा. ७-२-११७) the vṛddhi of the first vowel before a “ñit/ṇit” taddhita → “pauṃs + ya”; for the nominative plural सुपां सुलुक्... (पा. ७-१-३९) the “ḍā” substitute → “pauṃsyā.” The print then raises the objection that स्त्रीपुंसाभ्यां नञ्स्नञौ भवनात् (पा. ४-१-८७) would prescribe “snañ” after “strī” and “puṃs” in the sense of “bhavana” (the place where something grows); the print notes the sūtra is “bhavanād” (up to the word “bhavana” in the sūtra धान्यानां भवने क्षेत्रे खञ्, पा. ५-२-१) and so applies only to the senses between the sūtras; a related objection concerning तस्यापत्यम् (पा. ४-१-९२; printed “4-1-9”) and तत आगतः (पा. ४-३-७४) is set aside.

p. 197. (Re-read from the better scan.) So by स्त्रीपुंसाभ्यां नञ्स्नञौ भवनात् “snañ” alone would come and the form would be “pauṃsnaḥ.” In the same way, when “puṃsaḥ bhāvaḥ karma vā” is meant, “snañ” should set aside the “ṣyañ” of गुणवचनब्राह्मणादिभ्यः कर्मणि च (पा. ५-१-१२४) and give “pauṃsnāni,” and with “ḍā” for the plural “pauṃsnā” — how then is “pauṃsyā” obtained? Answer: in आ च त्वात् (पा. ५-१-१२०) “tvatalau” is continued from तस्य भावस्त्वतलौ (पा. ५-१-११९), and “āṅ” means the limit: up to the sūtra that contains “tva,” ब्रह्मणस्त्वः (पा. ५-१-१३६), “tva/tal” are under the heading. Though that heading might seem useless (the continuation already gives the sense), without it, after the affixes “imanic” and the rest of पृथ्वादिभ्य इमनिज्वा (पा. ५-१-१२२) the expectation would be satisfied and “tva/tal” would not continue; and if continuation were allowed where the expectation is satisfied, the “aṇ” of प्राग्दीव्यतोऽण् (पा. ४-१-८३) would have to apply even in places like अत इञ् (पा. ४-१-९५). With the heading “ā ca tvāt,” by the force of the limit, “tva/tal” co-occur with “imanic” and the other exceptions — one purpose. A second: “tva/tal” are taught by तस्य भावस्त्वतलौ only for the state, not for the action; with this heading, in गुणवचनब्राह्मणादिभ्यः कर्मणि च (पा. ५-१-१२४) “tva/tal” continue, giving the sense “after guṇavacana and the rest, in the sense of state and of action, ṣyañ comes, and tva/tal too” — so “tva/tal” come in the sense of action too. Both purposes would be served by a sūtra “ā tvāt”; so the “ca” is extra, and it shows that between “ṣyañ” and the rest and “nañ/snañ” there is no relation of rule and exception: they co-occur. Hence “ṣyañ” may come after “puṃs,” and the form “pauṃsyā” is correct. ॥९॥

---

Sūkta 5, The Tenth Mantra

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

मा नो॒ मर्ता॑ अ॒भि द्रु॑हन्तनू॒नामिंद्र गिर्वणः । ईशा॑नो यवया व॒धं ॥१०॥

mā no mártā abhí druhantanūnāmiṃdra girvaṇaḥ | íśāno yavayā vadháṃ ||10||

(Reading note: the Saṃhitā is printed “druhantanūnām” as one run, and is given so; the Pada text below shows “druhan | tanūnām.”)

Page 198 — Rik 5.10: Pada, Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya, grammar (characterized), Pada-meanings (opening)

(Page header: "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā · Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 5." Sanskrit printed in Kannada script; re-read from the better scan.)

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

मा । नः । मर्ताः । अभि । द्रुहन् । तनूनाम् । इन्द्र । गिर्वणः । ईशानः । यवय । वधम् ॥१०॥

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे गिर्वण इन्द्र मर्ता विरोधिनो मनुष्या नोऽस्मदीयानां तनूनां शरीराणां माभि द्रुहन् । अभितो द्रोहं मा कुर्युः । ईशानः समर्थस्त्वं वधं वैरिभिः संपाद्यमानं यवय । अस्मत्तः पृथक्कुरु । मनुष्या इत्यादिषु पञ्चविंशतिसंख्याकेषु मनुष्यनामसु मर्ता व्राता इति पठितम् ॥ he girvaṇa indra martā virodhino manuṣyā no 'smadīyānāṃ tanūnāṃ śarīrāṇāṃ mābhi druhan | abhito droham mā kuryuḥ | īśānaḥ samarthas tvaṃ vadhaṃ vairibhiḥ sampādyamānaṃ yavaya | asmattaḥ pṛthak kuru | manuṣyā ity ādiṣu pañcaviṃśati-saṃkhyākeṣu manuṣya-nāmasu martā vrātā iti paṭhitam || (Reading note, re-checked against the better scan: "martā virodhino" is the sandhi of "martāḥ"; in the list of names the print has "martā vrātā iti.")

Translation: "O 'girvaṇaḥ' Indra! Let not 'martāḥ' — hostile men — 'abhi druhan' — do harm ('droha') on every side to 'naḥ tanūnām' — to our bodies. 'Īśānaḥ' — you, who are able — 'vadham' — the slaughter that is being worked by enemies — 'yavaya' — keep away; separate (it) from us. Among the twenty-five names of men beginning with 'manuṣyāḥ,' 'martāḥ' and 'vrātāḥ' are read."

Grammar (re-read from the better scan; sūtras kept): "Martāḥ" — the Uṇādi असिहसिमृग्रिण्वामिदमिलूपूधुर्विभ्यस्तन् (उ. सू. ३-८६) the affix "tan"; "n"-marked, first-syllable acute. "Abhi" — एवमादीनामन्तः (फि. सू. ४-१४), end-acute. "Druhan" — "druha jighāṃsāyām": लिङर्थे लेट् (पा. ३-४-७) in the sense of prayer (प्रार्थनायाम्, पा. ३-३-१६१); its "jhi" (तिप्तस्झि... , पा. ३-४-७८); झोऽन्तः (पा. ७-१-३); इतश्च लोपः परस्मैपदेषु (पा. ३-४-९७) elides the "i"; "śap" by "luk"; by सार्वधातुकमपित् (पा. १-२-४) the tiṅ is "ṅit," so no guṇa of the light penultimate (क्ङिति च, पा. १-१-५). "Tanūnām" — for lack of syntactic connection there is no "parāṅgavadbhāva." "Indra girvaṇaḥ" — vocatives, unaccented ("gatam," as said before). "Īśānaḥ" — the root being anudātta-it, the "śap" being elided by "luk" and the lasārvadhātuka unaccented, the root accent alone remains. "Yavaya" — after "yu" with "ṇic," vṛddhi is not done by the statement संज्ञापूर्वको विधिरनित्यः (a rule introduced by a technical name is not binding); or "yavaḥ" from "yauti" by "ac" (पचाद्यच्, पा. ३-१-१३४), and "yavaṃ karoti" — तत्करोति तदाचष्टे (पा. ३-१-२६, 5-6 [as printed]) gives "ṇic"; by "iṣṭhavadbhāva" the "ṭi" is elided (पा. ६-४-१५५-१); as that elision is sthānivat (पा. १-१-५६), there is no vṛddhi. "Vadham" — हनश्च वधः (पा. ३-३-७६) the affix "ap" in the sense of state, with "vadha" for "han"; as "vadha" is taught together with the affix, it is end-acute by sthānivadbhāva; with the acute removed, the affix "ap" takes the acute. ॥१०॥

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

गिर्वणः (girvaṇaḥ) — O one who is praised by words | (हे) इन्द्र (he indra) — O Indra | मर्ताः (martāḥ) — (our enemies) men | नः (naḥ) — our | तनूनाम् (tanūnām) — to bodies | मा अभि द्रुहन् (mā abhi druhan) — may they not do harm | ईशानः (īśānaḥ) — you, who are all-powerful (or, master) | वधम् (vadham) — (the harm that may come to us from enemies) hindrance | यवय (yavaya) — ward off.

Page 199 — Rik 5.10: Bhāvārtha; English rendering; Special topics; Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (opening)

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 10 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." English as printed. References re-read from the better scan; the gloss is mine, tentative.)

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

O Indra, who are praised by us in words! Let not the men who are hostile to us do harm to our bodies, that is, let them not injure us. Since you, being our master, are all-powerful, ward off from our bodies the harm that may come from enemies.

English Translation (printed in English in the source itself):

"O Indra, adorable by praises, let not mortals do injury to our persons; you are powerful, keep away our destruction (by enemies)."

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

मर्ताः (martāḥ) — Among the twenty-five words that signify human beings, beginning with "manuṣyāḥ," the word "martāḥ" is read (Ni. 2-3). Here, since it is desired that men who might do harm to our bodies not do so, "martāḥ" is to be understood as "men who are hostile to us." Although no word indicating "hostile" is found in the Ṛk in hand, because the word "druhan" ("may they injure") is used, it is fitting that the Bhāṣyakāra explained "martāḥ" as "hostile men."

यवय (yavaya) — in the saṃhitā-text it is "yavayā," with the final syllable lengthened to suit the metre.

वधम् (vadham) — death, destruction, harm. The commentators on the meaning of the Veda explain "vadha" as Indra's "vajra" (thunderbolt-weapon); the Bhāṣyakāra also does so, in the Ṛk — in which "vadhena" is explained as "by the vajra, the weapon which is the means of killing"; in this context it is to be understood as "do not use your thunderbolt-weapon against us."

> आर्चन्नत्र मरुतः सस्मिन्नाजौ विश्वे देवासो अमदन्ननु त्वा । वृत्रस्य यद्बृष्टिमता वधेन नि त्वमिन्द्र प्रत्यानं जघन्थ ॥ (ऋ. सं. १-५२-१५) ārcann atra marutaḥ sasminn ājau viśve devāso amadann anu tvā | vṛtrasya yad bhṛṣṭimatā vadhena ni tvam indra pratyānaṃ jaghantha || (ṛ. saṃ. 1-52-15) Gloss (mine; tentative): "Here the Maruts sang in this contest, and all the gods rejoiced after you, when you, O Indra, struck down the face-to-face (opponent) of Vṛtra with the pointed (barbed) weapon."

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (Kannada; characterized, sūtras kept) “Martāḥ” — असिहसिमृग्रिण्वामिदमिलूपूधुर्विभ्यस्तन् (उ. सू. ३-३६६ [as printed]; “3-86” on p. 198) — the affix “tan” after the roots “asu” … “hase hasane” (to laugh), “mṛṅ prāṇatyāge” (to die), “gṝ nigaraṇe” (to swallow), “iṇ gatau” (to go), “vāg-ati-gandhanayoḥ,” “ama-gaty-ādiṣu,” “damu upaśame” (to be calm), “lūñ chedane” (to cut), “pūñ pavane” (to purify), “dhurvī hiṃsāyām” (to injure) — the affix “tan” comes after “mṛṅ”; by सार्वधातुकार्धधातुकयोः (पा. ७-३-८४) guṇa → “mar-tan” → “martā”; “n”-marked, so first-syllable acute.

Page 200 — Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā for Rik 5.10 (characterized)

(Page header: “Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā · Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 5.” Pure grammar in Kannada prose, restating the Sanskrit of p. 198, characterized in outline; sūtras kept; numbers as read.)

(Concluding “martāḥ”:) by सार्वधातुकार्धधातुकयोः (पा. ७-३-८४) guṇa → “marta”; the affix being “n”-marked, first-syllable acute. “Abhi” — by एवादीनामन्तः (फि. सू. ८२ [?]; “4-14” on p. 198) it is end-acute. “Druhan” — “druha jighāṃsāyām”; लिङर्थे लेट् (पा. ३-४-७) and, with the sense of prayer, प्रार्थनायां (पा. ३-३-१६१); in the Veda “leṭ” comes after a root in the senses of the vidhi-liṅ and the like (and also in cause-and-effect and desire senses); the third-person plural “jhi”; झोऽन्तः (पा. ७-१-३) “ant”; इतश्च लोपः परस्मैपदेषु (पा. ३-४-९७) — the “i” of the tiṅ replacing “leṭ” is elided optionally; बहुलं छन्दसि (पा. २-४-७३) the “śap” is elided; सार्वधातुकमपित् (पा. १-२-४) makes the sārvadhātuka “ṅit,” so “ant” is “ṅit” and by क्ङिति च (पा. १-१-५) guṇa is barred; so no guṇa arises even though पुगन्तलघूपधस्य च (पा. ७-३-८६) would give it. “Tanūnām” — “indra” (the vocative) stands after it and is “āmantrita”; सुबामन्त्रिते पराङ्गवत्स्वरे (पा. २-१-२) would make the preceding word part of the following one, but since this is a rule about word-formation (समर्थः पदविधिः, पा. २-१-१) it applies only where there is mutual syntactic connection, and “tanūnām” has none with “indra,” so “parāṅgavad-bhāva” does not occur. “Indra” — explained at Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-3-4; “girvaṇaḥ” — explained at the seventh mantra of this same sūkta. “Īśānaḥ” — “īśa aiśvarye” (to rule); the “laṭ” and “śānac”; बहुलं छन्दसि (पा. २-४-७३) elides the “śap”; the root is unaccented in its upadeśa, so तास्यनुदात्तेन्ङिददुपदेशाल्लसार्वधातुकमनुदात्तमहन्वनोर्ङित् (पा. ६-१-१८६) makes “śānac” unaccented; the “ī” retains the root’s acute. “Yavaya” — “yu miśraṇāmiśraṇayoḥ” (to mix and to separate) with “ṇic” (हेतुमति च); अचो ञ्णिति (पा. ७-२-११५) would give vṛddhi to the penultimate of the root, but the vṛddhi laid down by वृद्धिरादैच् (पा. १-१-१) is a “saṃjñā-pūrvaka vidhi” (an operation that depends on a technical name), which is “anitya” (not constant); therefore vṛddhi is not done; the guṇa and “av” substitutions give “yavay-” and, in the imperative second-person singular, “yavaya.” … (continued on p. 201).

Page 201 — Rik 5.10 grammar concluded; end of Sūkta 5 and of the Tenth Varga

(Page header: “Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 10 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā.” Grammar characterized, sūtras kept.)

“Yavaya” (concluding) — because the vṛddhi is not done, one gets guṇa and “av” substitutions, and in the imperative second-person singular “yavaya.” Alternatively, “yauti iti yavaḥ” (he who mixes — “yava,” barley) from “yu” with नन्दिग्रहिपचादिभ्यो ल्युणिन्यचः (पा. ३-१-१३४) “ac”; “yavaṃ karoti” — तत्करोति तदाचष्टे (पा. ३-१-२६, ५-६) “ṇic” in the sense of “he makes barley”; with it following, णाविष्ठवत्प्रातिपदिकस्य (पा. ६-४-१५५-१) gives the “iṣṭhavat” treatment and टेः (पा. ६-४-१५५) elides the “ṭi” — the “a” after “v.” Since the elided “a” is treated as present by अचः परस्मिन्पूर्वविधौ (पा. १-१-५७; sthānivadbhāva), the vṛddhi that would be caused by the affix “ṇic” does not occur; “yavaya.” In the saṃhitā the last vowel is lengthened.

“Vadham” — हनश्च वधः (पा. ३-३-७६) — after the root “han,” when no prefix precedes it, the affix “ap” comes, and “vadha” is the substitute for “han” (with “ap”): “han + ap” → “vadha.” The affix is “p”-marked and so unaccented (अनुदात्तौ सुप्पितौ, पा. ३-१-४). Since the sūtra reads “vadhaḥ” as an end-acute substitute, some say “vadha” is end-acute; the root “han” is end-acute by धातोः (पा. ६-१-१६२), and the substitute “vadha” in its place is, by sthānivadbhāva, end-acute — this is the view of Mādhavācārya. In either case, the final “a” of “vadha” is acute, and there is no difference of opinion on that. By अतो लोपः (पा. ६-४-४८) the “a” of the stem is elided before the case-ending; then by अनुदात्तस्य च यत्रोदात्तलोपः (पा. ६-१-१६१) — in the place where an acute is elided, the unaccented vowel that follows takes the acute — the accent of the elided “a” passes to the affix’s “a.” ॥१०॥

ಇಲ್ಲಿಗೆ ಪ್ರಥಮಮಂಡಲದಲ್ಲಿ ಐದನೆಯ ಸೂಕ್ತವು ಸಮಾಪ್ತವು — illige prathama-maṇḍaladalli aidaneya sūktavu samāptavu — “Here the fifth sūkta in the first Maṇḍala is complete.”

ಒಂದನೆಯ ಅಧ್ಯಾಯದಲ್ಲಿ ಹತ್ತನೆಯ ವರ್ಗವು ಸಮಾಪ್ತವು — ondaneya adhyāyadalli hattaneya vargavu samāptavu — “In the first Adhyāya, the tenth varga is complete.”

(Note on the varga numbers: this closing note, plain in the print, confirms that the tenth varga ends here, with p. 201. Re-checked against the better scan: the headers read “Varga 7” on pp. 89–109, “Varga 8” on pp. 111–143 and “Varga 9” from p. 145; the seventh varga closes on p. 111 and the eighth on p. 135.)

Sūkta 6 — “yuñjanti bradhnam aruṣam”

Pages 202–203 — Sūkta 6: heading; Sāyaṇa’s introduction; the Anuvāda; Rik 6.1 (Saṃhitā, Pada, Bhāṣya opening)

(Page headers: p. 202 “Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā · Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 6”; p. 203 “Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 11 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā.” Sanskrit printed in Kannada script; read from enlarged slices; [?] where unclear. Printed title: “ಆರನೆಯ ಸೂಕ್ತವು” (“the sixth sūkta”). Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥ (p. 202)

> सुरूपेत्यादिषु षट्सूक्तेषु तृतीयस्य युञ्जन्तीति सूक्तस्य मन्त्रसंख्याऋषिच्छन्दोदैवतानि विनियोगाश्चेत्येते पूर्ववदवगन्तव्याः । दशर्चे तस्मिन्सूक्त आद्यास्तिस्रोऽन्तिमा चेत्येताश्चतस्र ऐन्द्र्यः । आ दह स्वधामनु इत्येतां चतुर्थीमारभ्य षड्ऋचो मारुत्यः । तासु मध्ये वीळु चिदिन्द्रेणेत्येते द्वे ऋचौ मारुत्यौ सत्यावैन्द्र्यावपि भवतः । तदेतत्सर्वमनुक्रमणिकायामुक्तम् । सुरूपकृत्नुं दश्यैन्द्रमा तु युञ्जन्त्यादहेत्येताः षण्मारुत्यो वीळु चिदिन्द्रेणेत्यैन्द्र्यौ चेति ॥ एतस्मिन्सूक्ते युञ्जन्तीत्यसौ तृचस्तृतीये रात्रिपर्याये ब्राह्मणाच्छंसिनोऽनुरूपः । तथा चातिरात्रे पर्यायाणामिति खण्डे योगे योगे तवस्तरं युञ्जन्ति ब्रध्नमरुषम् ।

आ. ६-४ । इति सूत्रितम् ॥ surūpetẏ ādiṣu ṣaṭsūkteṣu tṛtīẏasẏa ẏuñjantīti sūktasẏa mantra-saṃkhẏā-ṛṣi-cchando-devatā-viniẏogāś cetẏ ete pūrvavad avagantavẏāḥ | daśarce tasmin sūkta ādẏās tisro 'ntimā cetẏ etāś catasra aindrẏaḥ | ā daha svadhām anu itẏ etāṃ caturthīm ārabhẏa ṣaḍṛco mārutẏaḥ | tāsu madhẏe vīḷu cid indreṇetẏ ete dve ṛcau mārutẏau satẏāv aindrẏāv api bhavataḥ | tad etat sarvam anukramaṇikāẏām uktam | surūpakṛtnuṃ daśẏ aindramā tu ẏuñjantẏ ādaha itẏ etāḥ ṣaṇ mārutẏo vīḷu cid indreṇetẏ aindrẏau ceti || etasmin sūkte ẏuñjantītẏ asau tṛcas tṛtīẏe rātri-paryāẏe brāhmaṇācchaṃsino 'nurūpaḥ | tathā cātirātre paryāẏāṇām iti khaṇḍe ẏoge ẏoge tavastaraṃ ẏuñjanti bradhnam aruṣam | ā. 6-4 | iti sūtritam ||
(Reading notes: (i) "satẏāv aindrẏāv api" is clear in the better scan; its sense — "these two Ṛks, being Marut Ṛks, are also Aindra" — is the one the Kannada commentarẏ gives below; (ii) the Anukramaṇī quotation is as printed, with its abbreviated "daśẏ aindramā tu" run together; I give it without correcting; (iii) the sūtra-quotation reads "bradhnam" in the Rik but I read "ब्रध्नमरुषम्" here as printed.)

Translation: "Of the six sūktas beginning with 'surūpa…', as for the third, 'yuñjanti…': its number of Ṛks, ṛṣi, metre, deity and applications are to be understood as before. In this ten-Ṛk sūkta, the first three and the last — these four — are Aindrī (addressed to Indra). Beginning with the fourth, 'ā daha svadhām anu,' six Ṛks are Mārutī (addressed to the Maruts). Among them, the two Ṛks 'vīḷu cid indreṇa' (the fifth) and the seventh are Mārutī and also Aindrī. All this is stated in the Anukramaṇī: 'surūpakṛtnuṃ … aindramā tu yuñjanti ādaha — these six are Mārutī; the two beginning 'vīḷu cid indreṇa' are Aindrī.' In this sūkta the tṛca 'yuñjanti…' is the anurūpa (the 'corresponding' verse) of the Brāhmaṇācchaṃsin in the third night-round (paryāẏa); and in the Sūtra (Āśvalāẏana 6-4), in the section 'atirātre paryāẏāṇām,' it is laid down: 'ẏoge ẏoge tavastaraṃ … ẏuñjanti bradhnam aruṣam.'"

॥ Anuvādaḥ ॥ (Kannada commentarẏ, translated; p. 202)

In the sacrifice called Abhiplava-ṣaḍaha, at the time of the morning pressing, the application of the six sūktas beginning "surūpakṛtnum ūtaye," which the priest of the Hotṛ group called Brāhmaṇācchaṃsin is to recite for the stoma-vṛddhi and āvāpa, has been given earlier (p. 87). The present sūkta "yuñjanti bradhnam aruṣam," which comes in that context, is the third among those six sūktas; so the application of those six applies to it too. There are ten Ṛks in this sūkta. Of them, the first three and the last one — four Ṛks — are addressed to Indra. Six Ṛks, from the fourth, "ā daha svadhām anu," to the ninth, are addressed to the Maruts. Among these six, the fifth, "vīḷu cid ārujatnubhiḥ," and the seventh, "indreṇa saṃ hi dṛkṣase," are addressed to both Indra and the Maruts. This matter is stated in the Sarvānukramaṇī: "surūpakṛtnuṃ … ṣaṇ mārutẏo, vīḷu cid indreṇetẏ aindrẏau ceti" — that is, the ten Ṛks of the sūkta "surūpakṛtnum," the ten of "ā tvetā," and the first three and the last Ṛk of "yuñjanti bradhnam" are all addressed to the deity Indra; the six Ṛks from "ā daha svadhām anu" to "ata parī[?] gahi"-ending are addressed to the Maruts; but of these six, the two Ṛks "vīḷu cid ārujatnubhiḥ" and "indreṇa saṃ hi dṛkṣase" are addressed to the two deities, Indra and the Maruts. The first three Ṛks of this sūkta are to be recited, in the third night-round (paryāẏa) of the Atirātra, by the Brāhmaṇācchaṃsin. In this context the Āśvalāẏana sūtra says: "tathā cātirātre paryāẏāṇām iti khaṇḍe ẏoge ẏoge tavastaraṃ ẏuñjanti bradhnam aruṣam" (Āśv. Sū. 6-4 [?]).

(Reading note: the Kannada names the Mārut group by its first and last Ṛks — "ā daha svadhām anu" (the fourth) "to" "ataḥ pari jmann ā gahi" (the ninth), as printed. The Ṛk-numbering of the deities I take from the Sanskrit above and from the Kannada's own count: Aindrī — 1, 2, 3, 10; Mārutī — 4, 6, 8, 9; both — 5, 7.)

Heading (p. 203):

सूक्त—६ (Sūkta 6) ॥ मण्डल—१ ॥ अनुवाक—२ ॥ सूक्त—६ ॥ ॥ अष्टक—१ ॥ अध्याय—१ ॥ वर्ग—११–१२ ॥ ॥ सूक्तदल्लिरुव ऋक्संख्ये १–१० ॥ (Ṛks of the sūkta: 1–10) ऋषिः — मधुच्छन्दा वैश्वामित्रः (ṛṣiḥ — madhucchandā vaiśvāmitraḥ) देवता — १–३ इन्द्रः । ४, ६, ८, ९ मरुतः । ५, ७ मरुत इन्द्रश्च । १० इन्द्रः (devatā — 1–3 indraḥ; 4, 6, 8, 9 marutaḥ; 5, 7 maruta indraś ca; 10 indraḥ) (numerals as printed) छन्दः — गायत्री (chandaḥ — gāyatrī)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

युंजंति॑ ब्रध्नम॑रु॒षं चर॒॑तं॒ परि॑ त॒स्थुषः॑ । रोच॒॑ते रोच॒ना दि॒वि ॥१॥

yuṃjáṃti bradhnámaruṣáṃ cáraṃtaṃ pári tasthúṣaḥ | rócaṃte rocanā́ diví ||1||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

युञ्जन्ति । ब्रध्नम् । अरुषम् । चरन्तम् । परि । तस्थुषः । रोचन्ते । रोचना । दिवि ॥१॥

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥ (Rik 6.1; opening, p. 203)

इन्द्रो हि परमैश्वर्ययुक्तः । परमैश्वर्यं चाग्निवाय्वादित्यनक्षत्ररूपेणावस्थानमुपपद्यते । ब्रध्नमादित्यरूपेणावस्थितम् अरुषं हिंसकरहिताग्निरूपेणावस्थितं चरन्तं वायुरूपेण सर्वतः प्रसरन्तमिन्द्रं परि तस्थुषः परितोऽवस्थिता लोकत्रयवर्तिनः प्राणिनो युञ्जन्ति । स्वकीये कर्मणि देवताभावेन संबद्धं कुर्वन्ति । तस्यैवेन्द्रस्य मूर्तिविशेषभूतानि रोचना रोचनानि नक्षत्राणि दिवि द्युलोके रोचन्ते । प्रकाशन्ते । अस्य मन्त्रस्योक्तार्थपरत्वं ब्राह्मणान्तरे व्याख्यातम् । युञ्जन्ति ब्रध्नमित्याह । असौ वा आदित्यो ब्रध्नः । आदित्यमेवास्मै युनक्ति । अरुषमित्याह । अग्निर्वा अरुषः । अग्निमेवास्मै युनक्ति । चरन्तमित्याह । वायुर्वै चरन् । वायुमेवास्मै युनक्ति । परि तस्थुष इत्याह । इमे वै लोकाः परि तस्थुषः । इमानेवास्मै लोकान्युनक्ति । रोचन्ते रोचना दिवीत्याह । indro hi paramaiśvarya-yuktaḥ | paramaiśvaryaṃ cāgni-vāyv-āditya-nakṣatra-rūpeṇāvasthānam upapadyate | bradhnam āditya-rūpeṇāvasthitam aruṣaṃ hiṃsakara-hitāgni-rūpeṇāvasthitaṃ carantaṃ vāyu-rūpeṇa sarvataḥ prasarantam indraṃ pari tasthuṣaḥ parito 'vasthitā loka-traya-vartinaḥ prāṇino yuñjanti | svakīye karmaṇi devatā-bhāvena sambaddhaṃ kurvanti | tasyaiv endrasya mūrti-viśeṣa-bhūtāni rocanā rocanāni nakṣatrāṇi divi dyuloke rocante | prakāśante | asya mantrasyoktārtha-paratvaṃ brāhmaṇāntare vyākhyātam | yuñjanti bradhnam ity āha | asau vā ādityo bradhnaḥ | ādityam evāsmai yunakti | aruṣam ity āha | agnir vā aruṣaḥ | agnim evāsmai yunakti | carantam ity āha | vāyur vai caran | vāyum evāsmai yunakti | pari tasthuṣa ity āha | ime vai lokāḥ pari tasthuṣaḥ | imān evāsmai lokān yunakti | rocante rocanā divīty āha | (Reading notes: "hiṃsakara-hitā" is printed so, and I read "hiṃsaka-rahitā" ("free of the destructive") with that spelling noted; the sentence ends at the foot of p. 203 with "rocante rocanā divīty āha," and continues on p. 204.)

Translation: "Indra is indeed endowed with supreme lordship, and his supreme lordship consists in his abiding in the forms of Agni, Vāyu, Āditya and the stars. 'Bradhnam' — abiding as the Sun; 'aruṣam' — abiding as the harmless (non-destroying) Agni; 'carantam' — spreading in all directions as Vāyu — Indra: 'pari tasthuṣaḥ' — the beings of the three worlds, standing round about, 'yuñjanti' — yoke (join) him: they make him connected, as a deity, with their own work. 'Rocanā' — the stars, the shining bodies that are particular forms of that same Indra, 'rocante' — shine, 'divi' — in the heavenly world. That this mantra has the sense stated is explained in another Brāhmaṇa: '"yuñjanti bradhnam," it says: yonder Sun is "bradhna"; he yokes the Sun to him. "Aruṣam," it says: Agni is "aruṣa"; he yokes Agni to him. "Carantam," it says: Vāyu is "carat"; he yokes Vāyu to him. "Pari tasthuṣaḥ," it says: these worlds are "pari tasthuṣaḥ"; he yokes these worlds to him. "Rocante rocanā divi," it says: …'" (continues on the next page)*.

Page 204 — Rik 6.1: Bhāṣya concluded; grammar (characterized); Pada-meanings; Bhāvārtha; English rendering

(Page header: "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 6." Sanskrit printed in Kannada script; read from an enlarged slice. References re-read from the better scan. English as printed.)

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥ (concluding p. 203's Brāhmaṇa quotation)

> नक्षत्राणि वै रोचना दिवि । नक्षत्राण्येवास्मै रोचयति । (तै. ब्रा. ३-९-४-१) इति । पञ्चविंशतिसंख्याकेषु महन्नामसु महो ब्रध्न इति पठितम् । आदित्यस्यापि महत्त्वादेव ब्रध्नत्वम् ॥ nakṣatrāṇi vai rocanā divi | nakṣatrāṇy evāsmai rocayati | (tai. brā. 3-9-4-1) iti | pañcaviṃśati-saṃkhyākeṣu mahan-nāmasu maho bradhna iti paṭhitam | ādityasyāpi mahattvād eva bradhnatvam ||

Translation: "'The stars indeed are "rocanā" in the sky; he makes the stars shine for him.' (Taittirīya-brāhmaṇa 3-9-4-1). Among the twenty-five names of 'the great,' 'mahaḥ' and 'bradhnaḥ' are read; the Sun, too, is 'bradhna' for the very reason that he is great."

Grammar within the Bhāṣya (characterized, sūtras kept; read from the slice): "Yuñjanti" — the end-acute follows the affix's accent. "Bradhnam" — a stem (prātipadika) end-acute. "Aruṣam" — from "ṛṣ/ruṣa/riṣa" (roots in the sense of injuring; "ruṣā" = the injurers); इगुपधज्ञाप्रीकिरः कः (पा. ३-१-१३५) the affix "ka"; the affix's accent acute; "na santi ruṣā yasya" — a bahuvrīhi after "nañ"; by नञ्सुभ्याम् (पा. ६-२-१७२) the second member is end-acute; अमि पूर्वः (पा. ६-१-१०७) the pūrvarūpa, then एकादेश उदात्तेनोदात्तः (पा. ८-२-५). "Carantam" — "śap" is "p"-marked, hence unaccented; and the "śatṛ" being a "lasārvadhātuka," its own accent is lost, leaving the root's accent. "Tasthuṣaḥ" — after "tiṣṭhati," "kvasu" for "liṭ" (पा. ३-२-१०७); "iṭ" by वस्वेकाजाद्धसाम् (पा. ७-२-६७) would be internal (antaraṅga), but is set aside by the maxim संप्रसारणं संप्रसारणाश्रयं च बलीयः (म. ६-१-१७-२; confirmed on p. 213): before "śas," as the stem is "bha" (यचि भम्, पा. १-४-१८), वसोः संप्रसारणम् (पा. ६-४-१३१) and pūrvarūpa; शासिवसिघसीनां च (पा. ८-३-६०) "ṣ" for "s"; end-acute by the affix accent. "Rocante" — the "tiṅ" and "lasārvadhātuka" unaccented; शपः पित्त्वादनुदात्तत्वम्; the root's accent alone remains. "Rocanā" — अनुदात्तेतश्च हलादेः

(पा. ३-२-१४९) the affix “yuc”; युवोरनाकौ (पा. ७-१-१) puts “ana” for “yu”; end-acute by “c” (चितः). “Divi” — the case-ending is acute after “ūḍh-idam…” (ऊङिदम्पदाद्यप्पुम्रैद्युभ्यः, पा. ६-१-१७१).

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

परि (pari) — all around, in every direction | तस्थुषः (tasthuṣaḥ) — (in the three worlds) beings who stand | ब्रध्नम् (bradhnam) — (one who has) the form of the Sun | अरुषम् (aruṣam) — (one who has) the form of Agni, who does not injure | चरन्तम् (carantam) — (Indra) who moves everywhere in the form of Vāyu | युञ्जन्ति (yuñjanti) — they connect (to their own works, like a chief deity — that is, they join him in their own actions) | रोचना (rocanā) — the stars (that are special forms of that Indra) | दिवि (divi) — in the heavenly world (in the sky) | रोचन्ते (rocante) — shine.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

Indra is full of supreme lordship; supreme lordship means the power to shine in the forms of Agni, Vāyu, Āditya and the stars. Therefore Indra shines in the form of the Sun, in the form of fire, in the form of the ever-moving Vāyu, and in the form of the stars in the sky. All beings of the three worlds regard such an Indra as the chief god in their own worship and the like and establish with him a relation of greatness and honour.

English Translation (printed in English in the source itself):

“Those who are standing around (i.e. living beings inhabiting the three worlds) associate with (Indra) the mighty (in the form of the sun) the non-injuring (in the form of fire) the moving (in the form of wind) the lights (or stars special incarnations of that same Indra) shine in the sky.”

Page 205 — Special topics on Rik 6.1: the classification of mantras by sense (Nirukta 7-1–3)

(Page header: “Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 11 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā.” The Nirukta passage is printed in Kannada script; read from an enlarged slice and given in three layers. Its reference (“Nirukta, Daivata-kāṇḍa, adhyāya 7, khaṇḍa 1–3”) is confirmed from the better scan. English words in the Kannada are as printed.)

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

The Pada-meanings, the Bhāvārtha and the English rendering of this Ṛk follow Sāyaṇa’s Bhāṣya. Sāyaṇa’s Bhāṣya follows the exposition given in the Taittirīya-brāhmaṇa (of the Kṛṣṇa Yajurveda). Since the Brāhmaṇa is counted as a part of the Veda, and since it contains very ancient exposition, it must be believed to be the chief authority in the investigation of Vedic meaning. The sage Yāska, the author of the Nirukta, says as follows in regard to explaining Vedic mantras:

> तद्यानि नामानि प्राधान्यस्तुतीनां देवतानां तद्दैवतमित्याचक्षते ॥ यत्काम ऋषिर्यस्यां देवतायामार्थपत्यमिच्छन्स्तुतिं प्रयुङ्क्ते तद्दैवतः स मन्त्रो भवति ॥ ताः त्रिविधा ऋचः परोक्षकृताः प्रत्यक्षकृता आध्यात्मिकाश्च । तत्र परोक्षकृताः सर्वाभिर्नामविभक्तिभिर्युज्यन्ते प्रथमपुरुषैश्चाख्यातस्य ॥ अथ प्रत्यक्षकृता मध्यमपुरुषयोगास्त्वमिति चैतेन सर्वनाम्ना ॥ अथाध्यात्मिकाः उत्तमपुरुषयोगा

अहमिति चैतेन सर्वनाम्ना ॥ परोक्षकृताः प्रत्यक्षकृताश्च मन्त्रा भूयिष्ठा अल्पश आध्यात्मिकाः ॥ (निरुक्त —दैवतकाण्ड. अध्याय ७-खण्ड १—३) tad yāni nāmāni prādhānya-stutīnāṃ devatānāṃ tad daivatam ity ācakṣate || yat-kāma ṛṣir yasyāṃ devatāyām ārthapatyam icchan stutiṃ prayuṅkte tad-daivataḥ sa mantro bhavati || tās trividhā ṛcaḥ parokṣakṛtāḥ pratyakṣakṛtā ādhyātmikāś ca | tatra parokṣakṛtāḥ sarvābhir nāma-vibhaktibhir yujyante prathama-puruṣaiś cākhyātasya || atha pratyakṣakṛtā madhyama-puruṣa-yogās tvam iti caitena sarvanāmnā || athādhyātmikāḥ uttama-puruṣa-yogā aham iti caitena sarvanāmnā || parokṣakṛtāḥ pratyakṣakṛtāś ca mantrā bhūyiṣṭhā alpaśa ādhyātmikāḥ || (nirukta — daivata-kāṇḍa, adhyāya 7, khaṇḍa 1–3) (Reading note: the opening clause is printed "tad yāni nāmāni prādhānya-stutīnāṃ devatānāṃ" and I give it so; the "yat-kāma ṛṣir yasyāṃ devatāyām ārthapatyam icchan" clause is as printed. The adverb "alpaśaḥ" is printed "alpaśa.")

Translation (mine, following the Kannada account below): "'Those names of the deities who are praised chiefly (as the subject of a hymn) — of that (hymn) they say "its deity is so-and-so." Whatever the desire with which a seer, wishing for lordship (of that thing), addresses praise to a deity — that mantra has that deity. Those Ṛks are of three kinds: parokṣa-kṛta (made in the indirect form), pratyakṣa-kṛta (made in the direct form), and ādhyātmika (made in the personal form). Of these, the parokṣa-kṛta are joined with all the case-forms of the noun and with the third person of the verb. Then the pratyakṣa-kṛta are joined with the second person, and with the pronoun "tvam" (thou). Then the ādhyātmika are joined with the first person, and with the pronoun "aham" (I). The parokṣa-kṛta and the pratyakṣa-kṛta mantras are the most numerous; the ādhyātmika are few.'"

That is: among mantras there are many kinds — daivata-mantra, stuti-mantra, āśīr-mantra, śapatha, abhiśāpa, kaścid-bhāva, paridevanā, nindā, praśaṃsā, and so on. A "daivata-mantra" is a mantra that describes the greatness of the gods; "stuti" is a mantra that contains stotra and entreaties; "āśīḥ" is a mantra that gives a blessing — one that wishes the good of another; "śapatha" is a vow, a promise; "abhiśāpa" is a curse — wishing another harm; "kaścid-bhāva" is the description of a certain matter or of a truth; "paridevanā" is lamentation, distress; "nindā" is blame; "praśaṃsā" is praise; "dānastuti" is the praise of gifts; and so on.

Of the many kinds of mantras mentioned above, the Ṛks called "daivata" are of three kinds: parokṣa-kṛta, pratyakṣa-kṛta and ādhyātmika. A "parokṣa-kṛta" mantra is one in which the deity who is praised is not present before one — so that the praise is made in the form in which the third-person nouns and the third-person verbs are used with reference to that deity ("third person both in subject and predicate" — English as printed). A "pratyakṣa-kṛta" mantra is one in which the deity is imagined as standing visibly before one, and is praised by addressing him, using the second-person words "you," "your" and so on ("second person" — English as printed). An "ādhyātmika" mantra is one in which praise is made by using the first person ("first person" — English as printed). Of these three kinds of mantras, the two — parokṣa-kṛta and pratyakṣa-kṛta — are more numerous; the ādhyātmika mantras are only few.

Page 206 — The Taittirīya-brāhmaṇa exposition of Rik 6.1; Skandasvāmī's commentary (opening)

(Page header: "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 6." Sanskrit printed in Kannada script, read from enlarged slices; [?] where unclear. The Brāhmaṇa reference re-read from the better scan.)

The Ṛk "yuñjanti bradhnam aruṣam," which is relevant here, ought by the above (classification) to belong to the group "parokṣa-kṛta" among daivata mantras. But since the Taittirīya-brāhmaṇa explains this Ṛk with an adhyātmika meaning, the Bhāṣyakāra has explained it in accordance with that. In that Brāhmaṇa, in giving the exposition of this Ṛk, it is said:

> युञ्जन्ति ब्रध्नमित्याह । असौ वा आदित्यो ब्रध्नः । आदित्यमेवास्मै युनक्ति । अरुषमित्याह । अग्निर्वा अरुषः । अग्निमेवास्मै युनक्ति । चरन्तमित्याह । वायुर्वै चरन् । वायुमेवास्मै युनक्ति । परि तस्थुष इत्याह । इमे वै लोकाः परि तस्थुषः । इमानेवास्मै लोकान् युनक्ति । रोचन्ते रोचना दिवीत्याह । नक्षत्राणि वै रोचना दिवि । नक्षत्राण्येवास्मै रोचयति ॥ (तै. ब्रा. ३-९-४) yuñjanti bradhnam ity āha | asau vā ādityo bradhnaḥ | ādityam evāsmai yunakti | aruṣam ity āha | agnir vā aruṣaḥ | agnim evāsmai yunakti | carantam ity āha | vāyur vai caran | vāyum evāsmai yunakti | pari tasthuṣa ity āha | ime vai lokāḥ pari tasthuṣaḥ | imān evāsmai lokān yunakti | rocante rocanā divīty āha | nakṣatrāṇi vai rocanā divi | nakṣatrāṇy evāsmai rocayati || (tai. brā. 3-9-4) Translation: "'Yuñjanti bradhnam,' he says: yonder Sun is 'bradhna'; he yokes the Sun to him. 'Aruṣam,' he says: Agni is 'aruṣa'; he yokes Agni to him. 'Carantam,' he says: Vāyu is the 'moving'; he yokes Vāyu to him. 'Pari tasthuṣaḥ,' he says: these worlds are 'pari tasthuṣaḥ'; he yokes these worlds to him. 'Rocante rocanā divi,' he says: the stars are the 'rocanā' in the sky; he makes the stars shine for him." (This is the same passage that Sāyaṇa abridged on pp. 203–204.)

That is, in this the sense is given, in an adhyātmika connection, that "bradhna" = the Sun, "aruṣa" = Agni, "carat" = Vāyu, "pari tasthuṣaḥ" = the three worlds, "rocanā" = the stars. Although we need not accept this meaning as authoritative, there is no refutation here of the meanings that other commentators give for this Ṛk. Since Skandasvāmī has explained this Ṛk in a different way, we give it here.

Skandasvāmī's commentary (Sanskrit, printed in Kannada script; first part, p. 206):

> योगः संबन्धः । युञ्जन्ति संबन्धयन्ति । केन, सामर्थ्यात् स्तुतिभिर्हविर्भिश्च । के, सामर्थ्यात् स्तोतारो यष्टारश्च । ब्रध्नं महन्नामैतत् । महान्तमिन्द्रम् । अरुषं रुशतिर्दीप्त्यर्थः । रुशद्वत्सारुशतीति प्रदर्शनात् । तस्य वा रोचतेर्वा दीप्तिकर्मण आज्पूर्वस्येदं रूपम् । आजश्च ह्रस्वत्वम् । अरुशं आरोचमानं वा दीप्तमित्यर्थः । आरुषत्यायतीति गतिकर्मसु पाठादृषतेर्गत्यर्थस्यारुषशब्दो गन्तृवचनः । शत्रून् यज्ञान् वा प्रतिगन्तारम् । चरन्तं परि सर्वतो गच्छन्तम् । यत्र यत्रेन्द्रो गच्छति तत्र तत्रैनं स्तोतारो यष्टारश्च स्तुवन्ति चेत्यर्थः । अथवा, युञ्जन्तीति युजिः शुद्धोऽपि सामर्थ्यात् सोपसर्गार्थे द्रष्टव्यः । स्वार्थसिद्धौ स्तोतारो यष्टारश्चैनं नियुञ्जते । महान्तं दीप्तं चेन्द्रं सर्वतो गच्छन्तं, यत्र यत्र गच्छति तत्र तत्रैनं मनुष्या इदमिदं च नः कुर्विन्त्यर्थं याचन्त इत्यर्थः । रथोऽत्र सामर्थ्यात् युज्यमानः नेन्द्रं युञ्जन्ति । इन्द्रस्य रथं ब्रध्नमरुषं yogaḥ sambandhaḥ | yuñjanti sambandhayanti | kena, sāmarthyāt stutibhir havirbhiś ca | ke, sāmarthyāt stotāro yaṣṭāraś ca | bradhnaṃ mahan-nāmaitat | mahāntam indram | aruṣaṃ ruśatir dīptyarthaḥ | ruśadvatsāruśatīti pradarśanāt | tasya vā

rocater vā dīpti-karmaṇa āj-pūrvasyedaṃ rūpam | ājaś ca hrasvatvam | aruśaṃ ārocamānaṃ vā dīptam ity arthaḥ | āruṣatyāyatīti gati-karmasu pāṭhād aruṣater gatyarthasyāruṣa-śabdo gantṛ-vacanaḥ | śatrūn yajñān vā pratigantāram | carantaṃ pari sarvato gacchantam | yatra yatrendro gacchati tatra tatrainaṃ stotāro yaṣṭāraś ca stuvanti cety arthaḥ | athavā, yuñjantīti yujiḥ śuddho 'pi sāmarthyāt sopasargārthe draṣṭavyaḥ | svārtha-siddhau stotāro yaṣṭāraś cainaṃ niyuñjate | mahāntaṃ dīptaṃ cendraṃ sarvato gacchantaṃ, yatra yatra gacchati tatra tatrainaṃ manuṣyā idam idaṃ ca naḥ kurv ity arthaṃ yācanta ity arthaḥ | ratho 'tra sāmarthyāt yujyamānaḥ nendraṃ yuñjanti | indrasya rathaṃ bradhnam aruṣaṃ … (Reading notes: (i) this stretch is dense and several of its words are crowded in the print — re-read from the better scan ("aruśam," "aruṣater," "draṣṭavyaḥ," "tatra tatrainaṃ" corrected); "ruśadvatsāruśatīti pradarśanāt" and "nendraṃ yuñjanti" are as printed; (ii) the sentence ends at the foot of the page and continues on p. 207.) Translation, in outline (what I can support): "'Yoga' is connection. 'Yuñjanti' — they connect; by what? — by capacity, with praises and with oblations; who? — by capacity, the praisers and the sacrificers. 'Bradhna' is a name of the 'great' — the great Indra. 'Aruṣam' — the root 'ruś' is in the sense of shining; … [the grammatical explanation of 'aruṣa' as 'shining,' or as 'one who goes' from the root 'ṛṣ' in the list of roots of motion — hence 'aruṣa' is 'one who goes' — 'one who goes against enemies or to sacrifices']. 'Carantam' — going all around, in every direction: wherever Indra goes, there the praisers and the sacrificers praise him. Or: 'yuñjanti,' though the plain root 'yuj,' is by capacity to be understood in the sense of a prefixed verb ('niyuñjate'): the praisers and sacrificers 'engage' him for the accomplishing of their own aims; Indra, great and shining and going in all directions — wherever he goes, there men beg of him, 'do this and that for us.' … [the remainder — on the chariot — is garbled in the print and I do not translate it]."

Page 207 — Skandasvāmī's commentary (concluded)

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 11 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." Sanskrit printed in Kannada script, read from enlarged slices; [?] marks every place where letters are crowded or doubtful. The Brāhmaṇa-style argument at the foot of the page is very compressed; I give the Sanskrit as read and a translation in outline, saying where the sense is uncertain.)

…च सर्वतो गच्छन्तम् । के, सामर्थ्यात् सारथयो मातलिप्रभृतयः । अन्येऽस्य रथं युञ्जन्ति । स नः स्वयं युनक्ति ब्रध्नादिगुणः युञ्जन्ति न किंचिदिति । एवं गुणकीर्तनादिन्द्रस्यैयं स्तुतिः । किंच तस्थुषः रोचन्ते रोचना दिवि । तस्थुष इति षष्ठीनिर्देशात् प्रभावेनेति वाक्यशेषः । स्थितस्य व्याप्रियमाणेन्द्रस्य प्रभावेन रोचन्ते दीप्यन्ते । रोचना दीप्तिस्वभावकानि नक्षत्राणि दिवि द्युलोके । कथंपुनरिन्द्रप्रभावेन नक्षत्राणि दीप्यन्ते । उच्यते । वक्ष्यते — "इन्द्रो दीर्घाय चक्षस आ सूर्यं रोहयद्दिवि" इति । सूर्यस्य प्रभावश्च सुषुम्नो नाम रश्मिः तत्संबन्धाच्चन्द्रमा नक्षत्राणि च दीप्यन्ते । अथवा युजिरुत्पूर्वार्थे । अन्तर्णीतण्यर्थश्च द्रष्टव्यः । उद्योजयन्त्युत्साहयन्ति वृष्टिकर्माणि ब्रध्नमरुषं चेन्द्रम् । किं कुर्वन्तम् । उच्यते । चरन्तं परि तस्थुषः । परिशब्दो लक्षणे कर्मप्रवचनीयः तस्थुष इत्यनेन च संबध्यते । तस्थिवःशब्दः स्थावरवचनः । गच्छन्तं स्थावराणि प्रति । स्थावरग्रहणं चात्र जङ्गमस्यापि प्रदर्शनार्थम् । सोमपानायासुरयुद्धलोलुपतया जङ्गमस्थावरात्मकं कृत्स्नं (जनम्, जगत्) परिभ्रमन्तमित्यर्थः । के उद्योजयन्ति । उच्यते । रोचन्ते रोचना दिवि । एकवाक्यताप्रसिद्ध्यर्थं यत्तच्छब्दावध्याहार्यौ । आदित्यरश्मयो रोचन्ते रोचना दिवि ते

आदित्यरश्मयो हि प्रावृडारम्भे रसादातारः । ते रसानर्पयन्तः उद्योजयन्तीन्द्रं वृष्टिकर्मणि । एतस्मिन्नर्थे रश्मिविषयत्वात् रोचनेत्येतत् पदमूष्मान्तन्यायं दृश्यते न स्वरान्तमन्तो नैष पदकाराभिप्रायः । ज्योतिष्पेक्षं वा रश्मीनां नपुंसकत्वम् । अध्वर्युवस्त्वादित्यदेवताम्ऋचं मन्यन्ते । कथम् । एतेषां हि विनियोजनेऽपि युक्तश्चाश्वोऽनयादित्यरूपेणोच्यते । कथमवगम्यते । श्रुतेः । एवं हि श्रुतिर्भवति — युञ्जन्ति ब्रध्नमरुषमित्याह । असौ वा आदित्यो ब्रध्नः । अरुषोऽमुमेवास्मादादित्यं युनक्ति । सुवर्गस्य लोकस्य समष्ट्यै इति । तस्मादादित्यदेवत्येयमिति । तन्न । तत्रापि विनियोगवशान्नियुज्यमानोऽश्वो ब्रध्नोऽरुषश्चोच्यते । भक्तिमात्रं तु श्रुतिः । अपि च यदि श्रुतिबलात् तत्रादित्यो देवता, तथा नाम इह त्वैन्द्रप्रकरणे समाना ब्रध्नारुषयोश्चेन्द्रेऽपि संभवात् । परस्यां च ऋच्यस्य शब्देनानुवादात् । तेनेहादिष्टस्य ब्रध्नस्यान्वादेशात् तस्याश्च ऋचो हरिसंबन्धाद्यैन्द्रतायाः असंदिग्धत्वाद् ऐन्द्रत्वमेवास्या ऋच इति ॥ ... ca sarvato gacchantam | ke, sāmarthyāt sārathayo mātaliprabhṛtayaḥ | anye 'sya rathaṃ yuñjanti | sa naḥ svayaṃ yunakti bradhnādiguṇaḥ yuñjanti na kiṃciditi | evaṃ guṇakīrtanādindrasyaiyaṃ stutiḥ | kiṃca tasthuṣaḥ rocante rocanā divi | tasthuṣa iti ṣaṣṭhīnirdeśāt prabhāveneti vākyaśeṣaḥ | sthitasya vyāpriyamāṇendrasya prabhāvena rocante dīpyante | rocanā dīptisvabhāvakāni nakṣatrāṇi divi dyuloke | kathaṃpunarindraprabhāvena nakṣatrāṇi dīpyante | ucyate | vakṣyate — "indro dīrghāya cakṣasa ā sūryaṃ rohayaddivi" iti | sūryasya prabhāvaśca suṣumno nāma raśmiḥ tatsaṃbandhāccandramā nakṣatrāṇi ca dīpyante | athavā yujirutpūrvārthe | antarṇītaṇyarthaśca draṣṭavyaḥ | udyojayantyutsāhayanti vṛṣṭikarmāṇi bradhnamaruṣaṃ cendram | kiṃ kurvantam | ucyate | carantaṃ pari tasthuṣaḥ | pariśabdo lakṣaṇe karmapravacanīyaḥ tasthuṣa ityanena ca saṃbadhyate | tasthivaḥśabdaḥ sthāvaravacanaḥ | gacchantaṃ sthāvarāṇi prati | sthāvaragrahaṇaṃ cātra jaṅgamasyāpi pradarśanārtham | somapānāyāsurayuddhalolupatayā jaṅgamasthāvarātmakaṃ kṛtsnaṃ (janam, jagat) paribhramantamityarthaḥ | ke udyojayanti | ucyate | rocante rocanā divi | ekavākyatāprasiddhyarthaṃ yattacchabdāvadhyāhāryau | ādityaraśmayo rocante rocanā divi te ādityaraśmayo hi prāvṛḍārambhe rasādātāraḥ | te rasānarpayantaḥ udyojayantīndraṃ vṛṣṭikarmaṇi | etasminnarthe raśmiviṣayatvāt rocanetyetat padamūṣmāntanyāyaṃ dṛśyate na svarāntamanto naiṣa padakārābhiprāyaḥ | jyotiṣpekṣaṃ vā raśmīnāṃ napuṃsakatvam | adhvaryuvastvādityadevatāmṛcaṃ manyante | katham | eteṣāṃ hi viniyojane 'pi yuktaścāśvo 'nayādityarūpeṇocyate | kathamavagamyate | śruteḥ | evaṃ hi śrutirbhavati — yuñjanti bradhnamaruṣamityāha | asau vā ādityo bradhnaḥ | aruṣo 'mumevāsmādādityaṃ yunakti | suvargasya lokasya samaṣṭyai iti | tasmādādityadevatyeyamiti | tanna | tatrāpi viniyogavaśānniyujyamāno 'śvo bradhno 'ruṣaścocyate | bhaktimātraṃ tu śrutiḥ | api ca yadi śrutibalāt tatrādityo devatā, tathā nāma iha tvaindraprakaraṇe samānā bradhnāruṣayoścendre 'pi saṃbhavāt | parasyāṃ ca ṛcyasya śabdenānuvādāt | tenehādiṣṭasya bradhnasyānvādeśāt tasyāśca ṛco harisaṃbandhādyaindratāyāḥ asaṃdigdhatvād aindratvamevāsyā ṛca iti ‖ (Reading notes: (i) the first words "ca sarvato gacchantam" continue the sentence broken at the foot of p. 206; (ii) re-read from the better scan: "viniyojane 'pi yuktaś cāśvo 'nayādityarūpeṇocyate | katham avagamyate," "aśvo," "tathā nāma," "ṛcy asya śabdenānuvādāt," "ādiṣṭasya ... anvādeśāt," "yat-tac-chabdau," "asura-yuddha-lolupatayā," "utsāhayanti"; (iii) translated in outline.) Translation, in outline: "... and going in every direction. Who (engages him)? By capacity, charioteers such as Mātali; others yoke his chariot; 'he himself yokes us' — one endowed with 'bradhna'

and other qualities; they yoke nothing (else) (?). Thus this is praise of Indra by the proclaiming of his qualities. Further: 'tasthuṣaḥ rocante rocanā divi' — by the genitive 'tasthuṣaḥ' the supplied word is 'by the power': by the power of Indra, who is stationed and active, 'rocante' — shine; 'rocanā' — the stars, whose nature is shining, 'divi' — in heaven. How, then, do the stars shine by Indra's power? It will be said: 'Indra made the Sun rise in heaven for long sight' (a quotation, as printed). The Sun's power is the ray called Suṣumna, and by connection with it the Moon and stars shine. Or else the root 'yuj' has the sense 'ut-' ('up'): it must be understood with the causal sense included — 'they urge up, they stir up Indra, great and ruddy, to the rain-work.' Doing what? 'Carantam pari tasthuṣaḥ' — 'pari' is a karmapravacanīya in the sense of 'around' and is connected with 'tasthuṣaḥ' — the word means 'the stationary': going toward the stationary; the mention of the stationary here is also to show the moving ones: moving around the whole world of moving and stationary beings, out of eagerness for the battle with the Asuras, for the Soma-drinking. Who stir him up? — 'rocante rocanā divi': for the unity of the sentence 'yat' and 'tat' must be supplied: the Sun's rays shine in heaven; those rays, at the beginning of the rainy season, take up the juices; offering those juices, they stir Indra to the rain-work. (Grammatical remarks on the neuter 'rocanā' follow.) … But the Adhvaryus regard the Ṛk as having the Sun for its deity. How? 'For in the application of these (mantras) the yoked horse is spoken of in the form of the Sun.' How is that known? From Śruti: '"Yuñjanti bradhnam aruṣam," it says: yonder Sun is "bradhna"; he yokes that very Sun for him, for the sake of the whole of the world of heaven (suvarga)'; therefore this Ṛk has the Sun as its deity. — [Reply:] No. There too, by force of the application, the horse that is being yoked is called 'bradhna' and 'aruṣa'; the Śruti is only a figurative statement (bhakti-mātra). Moreover, even if the Sun were the deity by force of Śruti, here, in the context of Indra, 'bradhna' and 'aruṣa' are equally possible of Indra, and the next Ṛk repeats the sense; therefore, by the use of 'bradhna' and 'aruṇa' as designations of the horses and by the connection of this Ṛk with 'hari' (the two bay horses), its being Aindrī is unquestioned: this Ṛk is addressed to Indra alone."

(Source note on this long argument: Skandasvāmī's chief point is that Rik 6.1 has Indra, not the Sun, as its deity; his chief ground is the connection of "bradhna" and "aruṣa" with Indra's horses and with the "harī" of the next Ṛk. The details of the Mīmāṃsā-style reasoning are given above only in outline; the Sanskrit is preserved in full for checking.)

Page 208 — Anuvāda of Skandasvāmī's commentary; Western and other views (opening)

(Page header: "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā · Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 6." Kannada prose, translated in full; the Sanskrit citations in it are given in three layers. References re-read from the better scan; the Ṛg-vedic quotation was read from an enlarged slice; the gloss is mine, tentative.)

Anuvāda (of Skandasvāmī's commentary, in Kannada): "Yoga" means connection. So the sense is that it supplies a connection for the verb "yuñjanti." How is there a connection between Indra and the people? One must understand that, because the people satisfy Indra with stotras and oblations, there is a relation between Indra and the people who praise him, or who worship him in sacrifices and the like. For the word "bradhna" — "mahat," great — "bradhna" is read among the twenty-five words "mahat" and the rest (Ni. 3-13-5). So if "bradhnam" is taken as a qualifier of Indra, “bradhnam indram” means “the great Indra, endowed with great capacity.” “Aruṣam” is also a qualifier of Indra. The root “ruś” has the sense of shining, of lustre; so “aruṣam” means “one who shines.” In the Ṛk

> रुशद्वत्सा रुशती श्वेत्यागादारैगु कृष्णा सदनान्यस्याः ॥ (ऋ. सं. १-११३-२) ruśadvatsā ruśatī śvetya āgād āraigu kṛṣṇā sadanāny asyāḥ || (ṛ. saṃ. 1-113-2) (Reading note: “āraigu” is as printed, clear in the better scan.) Gloss (mine; tentative): “The bright one, with her calf, the shining white one, has come; the dark one has left her abodes.” — and the Kannada notes: here the word “ruśat” is plainly said to mean shining, lustre. (Sāyaṇa too gives this meaning for “ruśat” in this Ṛk.)

Besides, according to the statement “āruṣatyāyatīti gati-karmasu pāṭhād aruṣater gatyarthasyāruṣa-śabdo gantṛ-vacanaḥ” (आरुषत्यायतीति गतिकर्मसु पाठादरुषतेर्गत्यर्थस्यारुषशब्दो गन्तृवचनः — “because ‘āruṣati’ is read among the verbs of motion, the word ‘āruṣa,’ from the root ‘aruṣ’ in the sense of going, means ‘one who goes’”), from the root “āruṣati,” which has the sense of going, “aruṣam” means “gantāram” — one who goes (whether to war with enemies, or to receive the oblations in sacrifices). “Carantam” — one who goes to all regions. The sense: wherever Indra goes, there those who praise him go and worship him. Or: “yuñjanti bradhnam aruṣaṃ carantam” — wherever the powerful and shining Indra goes, there men pray to him with stotras that their own desired aims be fulfilled.

Or: the words “bradhnam aruṣaṃ carantam” need not be used as qualifiers of Indra. These words may be taken, with the senses “large, shining, moving everywhere,” as qualifiers of the chariot. Since “yuñjanti” is said here, one may say that Indra’s charioteers, such as Mātali, “yuñjanti” — “harness” (the horses to) — such a chariot. Therefore the whole discussion in this connection takes the form of praise of Indra. Since the genitive “tasthuṣaḥ” is used, one must supply after it the word “prabhāvena” (“by the power”). Having supplied it, “pari tasthuṣaḥ prabhāveṇa rocante rocanā divi” means: the rays of the Sun, shining in the sky, carrying drops of water in the rainy season, urge Indra, so that rain is produced on earth — that is, they stir him to action. That is: “the stars that shine by the power of Indra, who pervades all regions — ‘rocanā,’ the stars, in ‘divi,’ the sky — ‘rocante’ — shine,” is the sense. How the stars shine by Indra’s power is confirmed by the mantra “indro dīrghāya cakṣase ā sūryaṃ rohayad divi” (इन्द्रो दीर्घाय चक्षस आ सूर्यं रोहयद्दिवि — indro dīrghāya cakṣasa ā sūryaṃ rohayad divi; ṛ. saṃ. 1-7-3), “Indra caused the Sun to rise in the sky for far-seeing.” That is: Indra placed the Sun in the heavenly region (the sky) so that the world might be lit at all times. By connection with the ray named Suṣumna, which is a power of the Sun, the Moon and the stars also …

Page 209 — Anuvāda concluded: Skandasvāmī vs. the Brāhmaṇa; Veṅkaṭamādhava’s view; where the Ṛk occurs; the question of the sūkta’s deity

(Page header: “Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 11 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā.” Kannada prose, translated; references re-read from the better scan. Veṅkaṭamādhava’s Sanskrit is read from an enlarged slice and flagged.)

(Continuing from p. 208:) …the stars also shine, or these rays “yuñjanti” Indra in the rain-work — that is, they stimulate him. How? The word “tasthuṣaḥ” in “carantaṃ pari tasthuṣaḥ” indicates the fixed beings, and also the moving beings; so the sense is that Indra moves among the whole world, fixed and moving, for the drinking of Soma or for fighting.

In the sacrifice, the Adhvaryu and some other priests who carry the chief role regard this Ṛk as addressed to the Sun, for the following reasons. In regard to the application of this Ṛk, the Śruti sentence (of the Brāhmaṇa) — "yuñjanti bradhnam aruṣam ity āha | asau vā ādityo bradhnaḥ | aruṣo 'mum evāsmād ādityaṃ yunakti suvargasya lokasya samaṣṭyai" (युञ्जन्ति ब्रध्नमरुषमित्याह । असौ वा आदित्यो ब्रध्नः । अरुषोऽमुमेवास्मादादित्यं युनक्ति सुवर्गस्य लोकस्य समष्ट्यै — "'yuñjanti bradhnam aruṣam,' he says: yonder Sun is 'bradhna'; … [he yokes the Sun to him] for the totality of the heavenly world") — says it. Since "bradhna" is plainly said here to mean the Sun, and since the word "Indra" is not found in this Ṛk, a doubt arises, quite naturally, in the question whether this Ṛk is addressed to the Sun. But that is not right. Because "bradhna" also means "horse" (Ni. 2-27 [?]). Hence for the sentence "yuñjanti bradhnam aruṣaṃ carantam" the sense "they harness the shining, swiftly moving horses (to the chariot)" fits equally of the Sun and of Indra; it does not follow that it is spoken of the Sun alone. Besides, in the next Ṛk of this sūkta the word "harī," the name of Indra's horses, is plainly given, and in the fifth Ṛk the word "Indra" is read; so this mantra must be understood as addressed to Indra.

Further, in Veṅkaṭamādhava's commentary there is not much that is special; he says only:

> युञ्जन्ति ब्रध्नम् । युञ्जन्ति महान्तमरोचमानं दिवि चरन्तं तस्थिवांसो देवा वा लोका वा । रोचनानि नक्षत्राणि इन्द्रतेजसा संधुक्षितान्यहत्वेऽपि प्रसारणमन्यत्रापि दृष्टम् ॥ yuñjanti bradhnam | yuñjanti mahāntam arocamānaṃ divi carantaṃ tasthivāṃso devā vā lokā vā | rocanāni nakṣatrāṇi indra-tejasā sandhukṣitāny ahatve 'pi prasāraṇam anyatrāpi dṛṣṭam || (Reading note: re-read from the better scan; the clause "ahatve 'pi prasāraṇam anyatrāpi dṛṣṭam" is as printed.) Translation (mine, following the Kannada account): "'Yuñjanti bradhnam': the gods — or the worlds — standing about 'join' the great, (shining), moving in the sky; the 'rocanāni' are the stars, kindled by Indra's lustre. (The lengthening ['prasāraṇa'] in the word 'tasthivāṃsaḥ' is seen elsewhere also.)"

That is: Veṅkaṭamādhava has only repeated Skandasvāmī's meaning. "Tasthivāṃsaḥ" means the gods or the worlds, and "rocanā" the stars. Besides, he says: "Not only that the daytime is lit by Indra's lustre, but that lustre (or capacity, power) is spread everywhere."

Where the Ṛk occurs. The Ṛk "yuñjanti bradhnam aruṣam" is found not only in the Ṛgveda Saṃhitā but also in: Sāmaveda Saṃhitā 1468; Atharvaveda Saṃhitā 20-26-4, 20-47-10, 20-69-9; Vājasaneyi-saṃhitā (Śukla Yajurveda) 23-5; Taittirīya-saṃhitā (Kṛṣṇa Yajurveda) 7-4-20-1; Maitrāyaṇīya-saṃhitā 3-16-3; Kauṣītaki-āraṇyaka 4-9 — and in Taittirīya-brāhmaṇa 3-9-4 there is an exposition of the meaning of this mantra and of the two mantras that follow it.

The question of the sūkta's deity. There is a dispute as to the deity of this sūkta. For it is more favourable to firm interpretation if one says that the sūkta was spoken in view of one such deity … (continues on the next page)

Page 210 — The deity of Sūkta 6 debated (Oldenburg); Dr. Sitanath Pradhan's and Max Müller's renderings; Pada-meanings

(Page header: "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 6." Kannada prose translated; the English passages are printed in English in the source and reproduced as printed. Ṛk numbers re-read from the better scan.)

(Continuing the question of the sūkta's deity:) In the Anukramaṇī it is said that the first three Ṛks and the tenth Ṛk of this sūkta are addressed to the deity Indra; that the 4th, 6th, 8th and 9th are addressed to the Maruts; and that the 5th and 7th Ṛks are addressed to both deities, Indra and the Maruts. But the scholar Oldenberg (so printed, in Latin type) holds that when one considers the matters presented in the sūkta, it is not the Maruts but the Aṅgirases who are presented in place of the Maruts; and since "Aṅgiras" is also a name of Indra, there is no subject of the Maruts in this sūkta. Moreover, there is room for the statement that a large part of this sūkta is in praise of the Sun. Even among the ancient scholars there were different views about the deities presented in this sūkta.

Since this sūkta does not present any definite sacrifice or rite, Dr. Sitanath Pradhan states the chief intention shown in this sūkta in this way (English as printed in the source):

> "It is the twilight of the early dawn; the stars are still shining. The singers yoke the sun-horse and at the same time Indra's two horses; It is the same sun who was born (at the time after the bursting open of the rock with the dawns. The patriarchs, Angirases have since regularised the sun-rise and sun-set; they who had then found out the concealed cows with the help of Indra and had then invoked Indra may the sun now appear with Indra! Indra joins in the song of the host of the devout singers. Thence come hither o wanderer; or from the bright realm of heaven. For him do our eulogies combinedly strive. We pray to Indra, for reward from here or from heaven, from the earthy or from the aerial region."

Max Müller explains the meaning of this Ṛk as follows (English as printed):

> "Those who stand around him while he moves on, harness the bright red (steed); the lights in heaven shine forth."

The Kannada adds that this rendering follows the original without the slightest departure.

According to this, we explain the Pada-meaning and the Bhāvārtha in Kannada:

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

परि तस्थुषः (pari tasthuṣaḥ) — the people who stand all around | अरुषम् (aruṣam) — shining (English as printed: "spirited") | चरन्तम् (carantam) — one with swift movement | ब्रध्नम् (bradhnam) — a horse | युञ्जन्ति (yuñjanti) — they harness (to the chariot) | (तस्मिन् काले) रोचना (rocanā) — the stars, or the rays of the Sun | दिवि (divi) — in the sky | रोचन्ते (rocante) — shine.

Page 211 — Bhāvārtha; the chariot of the Sun or of Indra; the deities of the Ṛks; Aṅgiras and Paṇi

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 11 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." Kannada prose translated; the verse below is read from an enlarged slice; references re-read from the better scan; the gloss is mine, tentative.)

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

Since the Sun has just risen, his rays spread through the whole sky and shine. At this time the people who stand all around harness to the chariot the shining, strong, swift-moving horse. Since the light has just begun, the stars are still shining.

Here the doubt arises whether "ratha" (chariot) means the Sun's chariot or Indra's. Indra's chariot must have two horses. The Sun's chariot must have seven horses. But since it is said "eko aśvo vahati saptanāmā" (एको अश्वो वहति सप्तनामा — eko aśvo vahati saptanāmā; ṛ. saṃ. 1-164-2) — "one horse, of seven names, carries" — it is right to say even one horse. And the second Ṛk plainly gives the name "harī," that of Indra's two horses. For these reasons we must believe what is said in the Anukramaṇī to be authoritative.

Now we shall consider the matter that sets forth the deities of the Ṛks 4, 6, 8 and 9: In the fifth Ṛk — "vīḷu cid ārujatnubhir guhā cid indra vahnibhiḥ | avinda usriyā anu" — it is said that the demons called Paṇi carried off the cows from the world of the gods and hid them in a cave that no one could know; and that Indra, with the help of those capable of destroying the stronghold (the Maruts or the Aṅgirases), searched for them and brought them back. Here "those who are capable" — the ancient commentators such as Sāyaṇa, Skandasvāmī and Veṅkaṭamādhava say, are the "Maruts." But modern Western scholars such as Max Müller and Macdonell hold that the word "ārujatnubhiḥ" refers to the Aṅgirases; because — in this Ṛk and in some other places it is said that the Aṅgirases helped Indra in seizing the demon called Paṇi; so they think that the Ṛks of this sūkta have been spoken in view of the Aṅgirases. Moreover, the German scholar Oldenberg is of the opinion that in all the Ṛks of this sūkta that are connected with the Maruts the meaning concerning the Aṅgirases is quite natural. Thus this matter, too, is one that has to be called disputed.

> वीळु चिद्दृळ्हा पितरो न उक्थैरद्रिं रुजन्नङ्गिरसो रवेण । चक्रुर्दिवो बृहतो गातुमस्मे अहः स्वर्विविदुः केतुमुस्राः ॥ (ऋ. सं. १-७१-२) vīḷu cid dṛḷhā pitaro na ukthair adriṃ rujann aṅgiraso raveṇa | cakrur divo bṛhato gātum asme ahaḥ svar vividuḥ ketum usrāḥ || (ṛ. saṃ. 1-71-2) Gloss (mine; tentative): "Our fathers, by their hymns, the Aṅgirases, breaking the firm, the rock, with their cry — they made for us a path of the great heaven; they found the day, the light, the banner, the cows."

Pages 212–213 — Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā for Rik 6.1 (Kannada) — characterized; Sūkta 6, Second Mantra: Saṃhitā

(Page headers: p. 212 "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā · Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 6"; p. 213 "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 11 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." These two pages are pure Pāṇinian derivation in Kannada prose for "yuñjanti," "bradhnam," "aruṣam," "carantam," "tasthuṣaḥ," "rocante," "rocanā" and "divi"; they do not bear on the sense of Rik 6.1 (pp. 203–204 and the commentary after them). Characterized in outline; sūtras kept; re-read from the better scan. Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

p. 212. "Yuñjanti" — the root "yujir yoge" (to join): the third-person plural "laṭ," "jhi" → "ant"; because it is a "rudhādi" root (रुधादिभ्यः श्नम्, पा. ३-१-७८) the vikaraṇa "śnam" comes in place of "śap"; the "m" of "śnam" is an "it" and, as an "mit" augment, it is placed after the last vowel of the stem (मिदचोऽन्त्यात्परः, पा. १-१-४७) — so "yu-na-j"; झोऽन्तः (पा. ७-१-३) and श्नसोरल्लोपः (पा. ६-४-१११) elide the "a" of "śnam" before a "ñit/ṅit" sārvadhātuka; नश्चापदान्तस्य झलि (पा. ८-३-२४) puts anusvāra for “n” before a “jhal” letter; अनुस्वारस्य ययि परसवर्णः (पा. ८-४-५८) the “parasavarṇa” nasal: “yuñjanti.” The elision of “a” by “śnasor allopaḥ” is not treated as present for anusvāra and parasavarṇa, since न पदान्तद्विर्वचनवरेयलोपस्वरसवर्णानुस्वारदीर्घजश्चर्विधिषु (पा. १-१-५८) bars the sthānivadbhāva of अचः परस्मिन्पूर्वविधौ (पा. १-१-५७) there. The “anti” of “yuñjanti” is first-syllable acute (आद्युदात्तश्च, पा. ३-१-३). “Bradhnam” — end-acute by the accent of the bare stem (prātipadika). “Aruṣam” — “ṛṣ/ruṣa/riṣa” (roots of injuring): “ruṣā” are the destroyers; the affix “ka” (इगुपधज्ञाप्रीकिरः कः, पा. ३-१-१३५); the affix’s acute; “na santi ruṣā yasya saḥ” — a bahuvrīhi; नञ्सुभ्याम् (पा. ६-२-१७२) end-acute; the second-case “am” with अमि पूर्वः (पा. ६-१-१०७) the pūrvarūpa, and एकादेश उदात्तेनोदात्तः (पा. ८-२-५).

p. 213. “Carantam” — “śap” unaccented as “p”-marked; the “śatṛ” affix is unaccented by तास्यनुदात्तेन्ङिददुपदेशाल्लसार्वधातुकमनुदात्तमहन्वनोर्ङित् (पा. ६-१-१८६); the root’s accent alone remains. “Tasthuṣaḥ” — the root “ṣṭhā gati-nivṛttau”: in “liṭ,” the substitute “kvasu” (क्वसुश्च, पा. ३-२-१०७); the “kvasu” being “iṭ”-less here; the doubling (लिटि धातोरनभ्यासस्य, पा. ६-१-८); शर्पूर्वाः खयः (पा. ७-४-६१) — in the reduplicative syllable, the “kh/ay” letters that follow “ś/ṣ/s” remain; ह्रस्वः (पा. ७-४-५९); अभ्यासे चर्च (पा. ८-४-५४): “tasthā + vas”; वस्वेकाजाद्घसाम् (पा. ७-२-६७) — “iṭ” for “vas” after a monosyllabic root with doubling; “sthā,” ending in “ā,” is a root for which “iṭ” is prescribed; the print argues that, since the “iṭ” is “antaraṅga,” it should come first; but by संप्रसारणं तदाश्रयं च कार्यं बलवत् (पा. म. ६-१-१७-२) — samprasāraṇa and what depends on it are stronger — वसोः संप्रसारणम् (पा. ६-४-१३१) and संप्रसारणाच्च (पा. ६-१-१०८) apply first, and “ādeśapratyayayoḥ” gives “ṣ,” with “ru” and visarga: “tasthuṣaḥ.” The affix “vasu” gives the acute. “Rocante” — the “tiṅ” unaccented; “śap” “p”-marked; the root-accent alone. “Rocanā” — अनुदात्तेतश्च हलादेः (पा. ३-२-१४९) “yuc” after a root with an unaccented marker and a consonant initial; युवोरनाकौ (पा. ७-१-१) “ana”; the light penultimate takes guṇa; the affix is “c”-marked, so it is end-acute (चितः, पा. ६-१-१६३). “Divi” — the case-ending is acute by ऊडिदम्पदाद्यप्पुम्रैद्युभ्यः (पा. ६-१-१७१). ॥१॥

---

Sūkta 6, The Second Mantra

(Accent-marks are printed on the next page; not reproduced here.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

युंजंत्यस्य काम्या हरी विपक्षसा रथे । शोणा धृष्णू नृवाहसा ॥२॥

yuṃjáṃtyasya kā́myā harī́ vípakṣasā ráthe | śóṇā dhṛ́ṣṇū nṛ́vāhasā ||2||

Page 214 — Rik 6.2: Pada, Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya, grammar (characterized), Pada-meanings (opening)

(Page header: “Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā · Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 6.” Sanskrit printed in Kannada script, re-read from the better scan.)

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

युञ्जन्ति । अस्य । काम्या । हरी इति । विपक्षसा । रथे । शोणा । धृष्णू इति । नृवाहसा ॥२॥

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

अस्य ब्रध्नादिशब्दप्रतिपाद्यस्यादित्यादिमूर्तिभिस्तत्र तत्रावस्थितस्येन्द्रस्य रथे हरी एतन्नामानौ द्वावश्वौ सारथयो युञ्जन्ति । इन्द्रसंबन्धिनोरश्वयोर्हरिनामत्वं हरी इन्द्रस्य रोहितोऽग्नेः । नै. १-१५ । इति पठितत्वात् । कीदृशौ हरी । काम्या काम्यितव्यौ विपक्षसा । विविधे पक्षसी रथस्य पार्श्वे ययोरश्वयोस्तौ विपक्षसौ । रथस्य द्वयोः पार्श्वयोर्योजितावित्यर्थः । शोणा रक्तवर्णौ धृष्णू प्रगल्भौ नृवाहसा नृणां पुरुषाणामिन्द्रतत्सारथिप्रमुखानां वोढारौ ॥ asya bradhnādiśabdapratipādyasyādityādimūrtibhistatra tatrāvasthitasyendrasya rathe harī etannāmānau dvāvaśvau sārathayo yuñjanti | indrasaṃbandhinoraśvayorharināmatvaṃ harī indrasya rohito 'gneḥ | nai. 1-15 | iti paṭhitatvāt | kīdṛśau harī | kāmyā kāmayitavyau vipakṣasā | vividhe pakṣasī rathasya pārśve yayoraśvayostau vipakṣasau | rathasya dvayoḥ pārśvayoryojitāvityarthaḥ | śoṇā raktavarṇau dhṛṣṇū pragalbhau nṛvāhasā nṛṇāṃ puruṣāṇāmindratatsārathipramukhānāṃ voḍhārau ॥ (Reading note: re-read from the better scan: "harī etan-nāmānau," "ādityādi-mūrtibhiḥ," "yayor aśvayoḥ"; the Nighaṇṭu reference "nai. 1-15" is clear.)

Translation: "Of this (Indra) — who is conveyed by the words 'bradhna' and the rest, abiding here and there in the forms of Āditya and the rest — in his chariot the two horses named Hari — 'sārathayaḥ' — the charioteers 'yuñjanti' — yoke. That the two horses connected with Indra bear the name 'harī' is because it is read (in the Nighaṇṭu list of horse-names): 'harī indrasya, rohito 'gneḥ' (Naighaṇṭuka 1-15). What kind of 'harī'? 'Kāmyā' — to be desired, desirable. 'Vipakṣasā' — those two (horses) which are yoked on the two various sides ('pakṣasī') of the chariot — yoked on both flanks of the chariot, the sense. 'Śoṇā' — red-coloured; 'dhṛṣṇū' — bold; 'nṛvāhasā' — the two bearers of men: Indra, his charioteer and the chief among them."

Grammar within the Bhāṣya (re-read from the better scan; sūtras kept): "Asya" — as it refers back to what was called "bradhna," इदमोऽन्वादेशेऽशनुदात्तस्तृतीयादौ (पा. २-४-३२) gives "aś"; being "ś"-marked it replaces the whole (पा. १-१-५५) and is unaccented; the case-ending is unaccented too, so the word is wholly unaccented. "Kāmyā" — "kamu kāntau," कमेर्णिङ् (पा. ३-१-३०); then अचो यत् (पा. ३-१-९७); by यतोऽनावः (पा. ६-१-२१३), an exception to the "tit-svarita," first-syllable acute; the dual ending replaced by "ḍā" (सुपां सुलुक्... ). "Harī" — "harato ratham": the Uṇādi हृपिषि... (उ. सू. ४-११८) the affix "in"; "n"-marked, first-syllable acute. "Vipakṣasā" — पचिवचिभ्यां सुट् च (उ. सू. ४-२१९): "asun" after "pac" with the augment "suṭ"; "vibhinne pakṣasī pārśve yayoḥ tau" — the bahuvrīhi; "vi" being a particle is acute, and the first member's accent is kept; "ḍā" for the dual. "Rathe" — "ramante 'sminn iti rathaḥ": हनिकुषिनीरमिकाशिभ्यः क्थन् (उ. सू. २-२) "kthan"; as it is "k"-marked, अनुदात्तोपदेश... (पा. ६-४-३७) elides the "m"; first-syllable acute by the "n"-mark. "Śoṇā" — "śoṇṛ varṇa-gatyoḥ": as the means of going, "ghañ" in the instrumental sense; "ñ"-marked, first-syllable acute; "ḍā" for the dual. "Dhṛṣṇū" — "ñidhṛṣā prāgalbhye": त्रसिगृधिधृषिक्षिपेः क्नुः (पा. ३-२-१४०); "k"-marked, so no guṇa; the affix accent. "Nṛvāhasā" — "nṝn vahata iti": वहिहाधाञ्भ्यश्छन्दसि (उ. सू. ४-२२०) "asun"; with "ṇit" continued, vṛddhi; "n"-marked, first-syllable acute; by the accent of the kṛt-final second member this remains. ॥२॥

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated; continued on the next page)

(The charioteers and others) अस्य (asya) — (as said before, the one who is conveyed by the words "Āditya" and the rest) of this Indra | रथे (rathe) — in the chariot (to the chariot) | काम्या (kāmyā) — (to Indra) beloved, or dear | शोणा (śoṇā) — …

Page 215 — Rik 6.2: Pada-meanings concluded; Bhāvārtha; English rendering; Special topics

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 11 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." Kannada prose translated; English as printed; references re-read from the better scan.)

(Continuing the Pada-meanings from p. 214:) शोणा (śoṇā) — red-coloured | धृष्णू (dhṛṣṇū) — full of enthusiasm | नृवाहसा (nṛvāhasā) — those who carry Indra and the charioteer (who have taken the form of men) | विपक्षसा (vipakṣasā) — yoked to the left and right flanks of the chariot | हरी (harī) — the two horses | युञ्जन्ति (yuñjanti) — they yoke (they harness).

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

The charioteer and others yoke Indra's two favourite horses, on the two flanks, left and right, to Indra's chariot. Those horses, though red in colour, are full of enthusiasm and have the capacity to carry men — that is, their master Indra, the charioteer and others. Such excellent horses they yoke to Indra's chariot.

English Translation (printed in English in the source itself):

"They are harnessing to his (Indra's) chariot, one on each side, his favourite pair of bay coloured horses, high-spirited and able to carry their brave lord."

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

The pāda "yuñjanty asya kāmyā" is quoted in the Āpastamba-śrauta-sūtra (20-16-2) and the Maitrāyaṇīya-saṃhitā (9-2-3 [as printed]). In the Taittirīya-brāhmaṇa (3-9-4) there is an exposition of this Ṛk. There it says "śoṇā dhṛṣṇū nṛvāhasetγ āha | aho rātre vai nṛvāhasā" (शोणा धृष्णू नृवाहसेत्याह । अहो रात्रे वै नृवाहसा — "'śoṇā dhṛṣṇū nṛvāhasā,' he says: day and night, indeed, are the 'nṛvāhasā'") — that is, for the word "nṛvāhasā" an adhyātmika meaning, "day and night," is given; nothing further of special note.

काम्या (kāmyā) — wished-for, dear; favourite. हरी (harī) — Indra's two horses have the name "harī." विपक्षसा (vipakṣasā) — the separate flanks, that is, the left and right flanks. रथे (rathe) — "ramante 'smin iti rathaḥ" (रमन्तेऽस्मिन्निति रथः — "that in which they delight is the 'ratha'") — "ramu krīḍāyām" (to play): because one sits in it and moves, it is called "ratha." शोणा (śoṇā) — (English as printed) "crimson, bright, bay or chestnut." धृष्णू (dhṛṣṇū) — full of enthusiasm; (English) "fiery, high-spirited." नृवाहसा (nṛvāhasā) — those who have the capacity to carry (or to draw) men. The words "kāmyā, harī, vipakṣasā, śoṇā, dhṛṣṇū, nṛvāhasā" are all second-case dual words, and are qualifiers of the word "harī."

Page 216 — Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā for Rik 6.2 (Kannada) — characterized

(Page header: "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā · Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 6." Pure grammar in Kannada prose, restating the Sanskrit of p. 214; characterized in outline, re-read from the better scan; sūtras kept.)

"Asya" — as Indra, conveyed in the previous mantra by "bradhna" and the rest, is referred back to by "asya," this "idam" is in a back-reference (anvādeśa); so इदमोऽन्वादेशेऽशनुदात्तस्तृतीयादौ (पा. २-४-३२) gives the unaccented substitute "aś"; being "ś"-marked, by अनेकाल्शित्सर्वस्य (पा. १-१-५५) it replaces the whole of "idam"; the case-ending is unaccented too, so "asya" is wholly unaccented. "Kāmyā" — "kamu kāntau": कमेर्णिङ् (पा. ३-१-३०); अत उपधायाः (पा. ७-२-११६) → "kāmi"; सनाद्यन्ता धातवः (पा. ३-१-३२); अचो यत् (पा. ३-१-९७); णेरनिटि (पा. ६-४-५१) → "kāmya"; the svarita of तित्स्वरितम् (पा. ६-१-१८५) is set aside by यतोऽनावः (पा. ६-१-२१३), first-syllable acute; the second-case dual "au" → "ḍā" (सुपां सुलुक्, पा. ७-१-३९). "Harī" — "harataḥ ratham": the Uṇādi हृपिषि... (उ. सू. ४-५५८ [as printed]; "4-118" on p. 214) the affix "in"; "n"-marked, first-syllable acute. "Vipakṣasā" — पचिवचिभ्यां सुट् च (उ. सू. ८-३-४१ [as printed]): after "ḍupacaṣ pāke" and "vaca paribhāṣaṇe" "asun" with the augment "suṭ"; "pac + s + as" → चोः कुः (पा. ८-२-३०) "k"; आदेशप्रत्यययोः (पा. ८-३-५९) "ṣ" → "pakṣas"; "vibhinne pakṣasī pārśve yayoḥ tau vipakṣasau" — a bahuvrīhi; "vi" a particle, first-syllable acute; बहुव्रीहौ प्रकृत्या पूर्वपदम् (पा. ६-२-१) retains it; the dual → "ḍā" (पा. ७-१-३९). "Rathe" — "ramante 'sminn iti rathaḥ": the Uṇādi हनिकुषिनीरमिकाशिभ्यः क्थन् (उ. सू. २-१४९ [as printed]; "2-2" on p. 214); "k"-marked, so अनुदात्तोपदेश... (पा. ६-४-३७) elides the "m"; "n"-marked, first-syllable acute.

Page 217 — Rik 6.2 grammar concluded; Sūkta 6, Third Mantra: Saṃhitā, Pada, Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (opening)

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 11 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. Sanskrit printed in Kannada script. Grammar characterized, sūtras kept.)

"Śoṇā" (concluding the grammar of Rik 6.2) — "śoṇṛ varṇa-gatyoḥ" (colour, going); the affix "ghañ" in the instrument sense (the horses are the means of going); "ñit," so first-syllable acute; the dual "au" is replaced by "ā" (सुपां सुलुक्... , पा. ७-१-३९). "Dhṛṣṇū" — "ñidhṛṣā prāgalbhye" (to be bold) — the affix "knu" (त्रसिगृधिधृषिक्षिपेः क्नुः, पा. ३-२-१४०); "kit," so no guṇa for the light penultimate (क्ङिति च, पा. १-१-५); the affix's accent. "Nṛvāhasā" — "nṝn vahataḥ" — an etymological analysis ("those who carry men"); the Uṇādi वहिहाधाञ्भ्यश्छन्दसि (उ. सू. ४-६६० [as printed]) "asun" after these roots in the Veda; "ṇit" by continuation (णिदित्यनुवृत्तेः), vṛddhi of "vah" → "vāh-as" (अत उपधायाः, पा. ७-२-११६); the dual "ā" (सुपां सुलुक्); the whole is first-syllable acute as "n"-marked; गतिकारकोपपदात्कृत् (पा. ६-२-१३९; printed "6-2-149") — the kṛt-final member's accent retained, so the first-syllable acute stands. ॥२॥

---

Sūkta 6, The Third Mantra

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

के॒तुं कृ॒ण्वन्न॑के॒तवे॒ पेशो॑ मर्या अपे॒शसे॑ । सम्उ॒षद्भि॑रजायथाः ॥३॥

ketúṃ kṛṇvánnaketáve péśo maryā apeśáse | samuṣádbhirajāyathāḥ ||3||

(Accent note: the mark over "dbhi" is printed as a "T"-shaped sign, a stroke with a cross-bar; given here as svarita.)

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

केतुम् । कृण्वन् । अकेतवे । पेशः । मर्याः । अपेशसे । सम् । उषत्ऽभिः । अजायथाः ॥३॥

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥ (opening, p. 217)

हे मर्या मनुष्या इदमाश्चर्यं पश्यतेत्यध्याहारः । किमाश्चर्यमिति तदुच्यते । आदित्यरूपोऽयमिन्द्र उषद्भिर्दाहकै रश्मिभिः प्रतिदिनमुषःकाले वा संभूयाजायथाः । उदपद्यत । अथवा सूर्यस्यैवास्तमये मरणमुपचर्य । व्यत्ययेन बहुवचनं कृत्वा संबोधनं क्रियते । हे मर्य प्रतिदिनं त्वमजायथा इति योज्यं किं कुर्वन् । अकेतवे रात्रौ निद्राभिभूतत्वेन प्रज्ञानरहिताय he maryā manuṣyā idamāścaryaṃ paśyatetyadhyāhāraḥ | kimāścaryamiti taducyate | ādityarūpo 'yamindra uṣadbhirdāhakai raśmibhiḥ pratidinamuṣaḥkāle vā saṃbhūyājāyathāḥ | udapadyata | athavā sūryasyaivāstamaye maraṇamupacarya | vyatyayena bahuvacanaṃ kṛtvā saṃbodhanaṃ kriyate | he marya pratidinaṃ tvamajāyathā iti yojyaṃ kiṃ kurvan | aketave rātrau nidrābhibhūtatvena prajñānarahitāya (Reading notes: the page ends at "prajñāna-rahitāya" and the sentence continues on the next page; "maryā" is the sandhi form of "maryāḥ"; re-read from the better scan ("dāhakai raśmibhiḥ," "sambhūyājāyathāḥ").)

Translation (of the part on this page): "'O "maryāḥ" — O men! — behold this wonder': this is the supplied sense. What is the wonder? It is said: this Indra, who is of the form of the Sun, is born every day, becoming one with the burning rays, at dawn — he arises. Or: since the very setting of the Sun is a figurative 'death,' the vocative plural is used by a change of number — 'O mortal! you are born every day' (the sentence is to be construed so). Doing what? 'Aketave' — for the one (in the night) without understanding, overcome by sleep …" (continues on the next page).

Page 218 — Rik 6.3: Bhāṣya concluded; grammar (characterized); Pada-meanings; Bhāvārtha (opening)

(Page header: "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 6." Sanskrit printed in Kannada script, read from enlarged slices; [?] where unclear. References re-read from the better scan.)

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥ (concluding) nivāraṇena peśo rūpam abhivyajyamānaṃ kurvan | peśa iti rūpa-nāmāni piṃśateḥ | ni. 8-11 [as printed] | iti yāskaḥ | aketave 'peśasa iti caturthī ṣaṣṭhy-arthe draṣṭavyā ||

प्राणिने केतुं कृण्वन् । प्रातः प्रज्ञानं कुर्वन् । अपेशसे रात्र्यान्धकारावृतत्वेनानभिव्यक्तत्वाद्रूपरहिताय पदार्थाय प्रातरन्धकारनिवारणेन पेशो रूपमभिव्यज्यमानं कुर्वन् । पेश इति रूपनामानि पिंशतेः । नि. ८-११ [as printed] । इति यास्कः । अकेतवेऽपेशस इति चतुर्थी षष्ठ्यर्थे द्रष्टव्या ॥ prāṇine ketuṃ kṛṇvan | prātaḥ prajñānaṃ kurvan | apeśase rātry-āndhakārāvṛtatvenānabhivyaktatvād rūpa-rahitāya padārthāya prātar-andhakāra-

Translation: "Giving 'ketu' (awareness) to the living being: making knowledge (prajñāna) in the morning; 'apeśase' — to an object that, being covered by the darkness of night, is unmanifest and so is without form — making 'peśaḥ,' form, to be manifested by the removal of the morning-darkness. 'Peśaḥ' is a name for form, from 'piṃś' (to adorn) — thus Yāska (Nirukta"8-11" as printed). 'Aketave' and 'apeśase' are datives to be understood in the sense of the genitive."

Grammar within the Bhāṣya (characterized, sūtras kept, re-read from the better scan): "Ketum" — a bare stem, acute by its own accent (prātipadika-svara). "Kṛṇvan" — "kṛvi hiṃsā-karaṇayoś ca" (to injure, to do): the substitute "śatṛ" for "laṭ"; इदितो नुम् धातोः (पा. ७-१-५८) the augment "num"; "śap" might arise but धिन्विकृण्व्योर च (पा. ३-१-८०) — the affix "u" after "dhinv" and "kṛṇv," and "a" for the final "v" — "kṛṇv" + "u"; अतो लोपः (पा. ६-४-४८) elides the "a"; since that elision is treated as present (sthānivadbhāva), the guṇa of the light penultimate by पुगन्तलघूपधस्य च (पा. ७-३-८६; printed "7-4-86") does not occur; the accent is the affix's. "Aketave" — a bahuvrīhi with "nañ"; नञ्सुभ्याम् (पा. ६-२-१७२) makes the second member end-acute. "Peśaḥ" — a "sab-viṣaya"-class neuter stem, first-syllable acute (नब्विषयस्यानिसन्तस्य, फि. सू. २-३). "Maryāḥ" — in the Veda "mṛ" with "kyap" (छन्दसि निष्टर्क्यदेवहूयप्रणीयोन्नीयोच्छिष्यमर्यस्तर्यध्वर्यखन्यखान्यदेवयज्याऽऽपृच्छ्यप्रतिषीव्यब्रह्मवाद्यभाव्यस्ताव्योपचाय्यपृड्यानि, पा. ३-१-१२३; the print quotes it as "chandasi niṣṭarkyety ādau") — "mṛ + kyap" — "marya"; the vocative loses its accent (आमन्त्रितस्य च, पा. ८-१-१९; printed "8-1-18" [?]); since there is no mutual connection of sense with the preceding word, "parāṅgavad-bhāva" does not occur. "Apeśase" — नञ्सुभ्याम् — end-acute. "Sam" — a particle, first-syllable acute. "Uṣadbhiḥ" — "uṣa plusa dāhe" (to burn): "laṭ" and its substitute "śatṛ"; "śap" would arise, but by vyatyaya "śa" (the tudādi vikaraṇa); the sārvadhātuka is not "p"-marked (सार्वधातुकमपित्, पा. १-२-४), so no guṇa for the light penultimate; "śa" gives the accent by the affix's acute; and since "śatṛ" is unaccented (the root's upadeśa-based), the "lasārvadhātuka" is unaccented; the single substitute is acute (एकादेश उदात्तेनोदात्तः). "Ajāyathāḥ" — in the sense "ajāyata" the second-person verb stands for the third (by vyatyaya), and by पुरुषव्यत्ययो निघातः — by the change of person, no nighāta.

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

(हे) मर्याः (he maryāḥ) — O men (look at this wonder) | आदित्यरूपनादे (ādityarūpanāde) — (Indra) who has the form of the Sun | उषद्भिः (uṣadbhiḥ) — daily at dawn, with the rays | अकेतवे (aketave) — to those who, because of sleep at night, are without understanding | केतुम् (ketum) — (at dawn, awakening) understanding | अपेशसे (apeśase) — (at night) to things that, covered by darkness, cannot be seen as having any form, giving light | पेशः (peśaḥ) — (of things) each of their forms (the power to see them) | कृण्वन् (kṛṇvan) — making | सं अजायथाः (saṃ ajāyathāḥ) — he is born (appears).

Or: मर्याः (maryāḥ) — O man (the plural used for the singular) | (त्वम्) (tvam) — you | उषद्भिः (uṣadbhiḥ) … समजायथाः (samajāyathāḥ) — every day, at the time of sunset, like one who dies, you become without understanding, and at morning you are born with consciousness; so we say: "be aware."

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated; opening)

O Indra! You, in the form of the Sun, rise every day at dawn, and set at sunset; when you set, creatures are overcome by sleep …

Page 219 — Rik 6.3: Bhāvārtha concluded; English rendering; Special topics

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 11 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." Kannada prose translated; English as printed; references re-read from the better scan.)

(Concluding the Bhāvārtha from p. 218:) …creatures are overcome by sleep, and are without consciousness, and from the darkness of night are unable to see the forms of anything. When you rise at dawn, creatures awake and, with consciousness or understanding, are able to see the forms of all things in the light. Therefore, to the creatures who are overcome by sleep, you give — every day — consciousness, and the power to see the forms of all things.

English Translation (printed in English in the source itself):

"O mortals, (look at this wonder). Indra (in the form of Aditya) rises every day at dawn giving sense to the senseless (while in sleep) and form to the formless. or O mortal, having been dead (asleep) at the setting of the sun you are born ever with morning rays."

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

The meaning of this Ṛk is not plain. For the word "ketu," the Nirukta (Ni. 3-9) says "prajñā" (understanding). In the Taittirīya-brāhmaṇa (3-9-4) it is said that "ketu" means "dhvaja" (banner): "ketuṃ kṛṇvann aketave iti dhvajaṃ pratimuñcati" (केतुं कृण्वन्नकेतव इति ध्वजं प्रतिमुञ्चति — "'ketuṃ kṛṇvann aketave,' with this he fastens the banner"); when setting up a banner they recite this mantra. Though "ketu" has the sense of "banner," that sense does not fit here. Those who follow the method laid down in the Gṛhyasūtras recite this mantra in order to invoke the "ketu-graha" (the planet Ketu) when they perform the worship of the nine planets (navagraha); but in this mantra there is no subject concerning the planet Ketu. Since the word "ketu" alone is common to both, this is likely to be a customary (rūḍha) use; likewise the use of mantras that contain the names of other planets in the worship and invocation of those planets is probably a conventional one. For in the Ṛgveda there is no consideration of the nine planets. Only the two names, Sūrya and Candra, are found there. The names of the stars are not there either. Only in the Yajurveda are the names of the stars, and the descriptions of the full-moon and new-moon days, explained. The names of the nine planets are not there either. Therefore it may be said without doubt that the worship of the planets (graha-yajña) was not in use in the time of the Vedas and came into custom later.

पेशः (peśaḥ) — "peśa iti rūpa-nāma piṃśate" (पेश इति रूपनाम पिंशते — "'peśa' is a name of form, from 'piṃś'," Ni. 8-11 [as printed]); "peśa" means form. अपेशसे (apeśase) — to one without form.

मर्याः (maryāḥ) — men. This word is the first-case plural. In this Ṛk the verb “ajāyathāḥ” is in the second person, singular … (continues on the next page)

Page 220 — Special topics on Rik 6.3 (concluded); Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (opening)

(Page header: “Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 6.” Kannada prose translated; grammar characterized, sūtras kept; re-read from the better scan.)

(Continuing “maryāḥ” from p. 219:) …the verb “ajāyathāḥ” is in the second-person singular; if “maryāḥ” were taken as the agent (kartṛ), then, since the verb is singular, the two do not agree. For the convenience of the metre the singular “marya” is used in the long form “maryā,” say some; but in such cases there is no cause for such a metrical advantage or disadvantage here; for after the word “maryā” comes “apeśase,” and the final long “ā” of “maryā” should have combined with the first “a” of the following word (by savarṇa-dīrgha), which has not happened here. Besides, in the Pada-text the plural word with the visarga, “maryāḥ,” is plainly given. Therefore, as Sāyaṇa has said at the beginning of his Bhāṣya, this word should be said to be used merely for addressing ordinary people (the public). Western scholars hold the same view. In the view that uses the singular “marya,” the agent-word “tvam” must be supplied here.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (Kannada; characterized, sūtras kept)

“Ketum” — फिषः (फि. सू. १) — by the bare-stem accent, “ketu” is end-acute. “Kṛṇvan” — “kṛvi hiṃsā-karaṇayoś ca” (to injure; to do): after “laṭ,” the substitute “śatṛ” (लटः शतृशानचावप्रथमासमानाधिकरणे, पा. ३-२-१२४); the root is “i”-marked (इदितो नुम् धातोः, पा. ७-१-५८), so “num” is added; by the paribhāṣā मिदचोऽन्त्यात्परः (पा. १-१-४७) the “num” is placed after the last vowel: “kṛṇv”; the agent-affix “śap” would come by कर्तरि शप् (पा. ३-१-६८), but, as it would be unsuitable, by धिन्विकृण्व्योर च (पा. ३-१-८०) — after “dhinv” and “kṛṇv,” the final “v” is replaced by “a,” and in place of the “śap” vikaraṇa the affix “u” comes — “kṛṇ + u + at”; अतो लोपः (पा. ६-४-४८; printed “3-1-80”) — an “a” before an ārdhadhātuka that begins with a vowel is elided — the “a” before “u” is elided; then पुगन्तलघूपधस्य च (पा. ७-३-८६) would give guṇa to the light penultimate before a sārvadhātuka or ārdhadhātuka affix, but the “a”-elision is treated as present, अचः परस्मिन्पूर्वविधौ (पा. १-१-५७) — so the guṇa does not occur. (The page ends in the middle of an argument about whether a single intervening letter blocks the operation — “vyavadhāna” — concluding that a mere letter-interposition does not prevent the rule when a rule’s own wording requires it (“vacana-prāmāṇyāt”); it continues on the next page.)

Pages 221–222 — Rik 6.3 grammar concluded (characterized); Sūkta 6, Fourth Mantra: Saṃhitā, Pada, Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (opening)

(Page headers: p. 221 “Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 11 ·Ṛgveda-saṃhitā”; p. 222 “Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 6.” The grammar on p. 221 and the top of p. 222 is pure Pāṇinian derivation in Kannada prose, restating the Sanskrit of p. 218; characterized in outline, sūtras kept; re-read from the better scan. Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. Sanskrit printed in Kannada script.)

p. 221 — “kṛṇvan” (concluded) and the other words of Rik 6.3. (Continuing p. 220:) …even with many interposed letters the rule does not apply; but here, through sthānivadbhāva, the “n” and “a” interpose and so no guṇa comes: “kṛṇ + u + at.” Taking the “śatṛ” as the ground, सार्वधातुकार्धधातुकयोः (पा. ७-३-८४) would give guṇa, but it is barred by क्ङिति च (पा. १-१-५); इकोयणचि (पा. ६-१-७७) gives the “y/v” substitute → “kṛṇv-at”; since “śatṛ” is not at the beginning of the (substituted) stem, तास्यनुदात्तेन्ङिद... does not give it the unaccented; the affix-accent holds: “śatṛ” is acute on its “a.” ऋवर्णान्नस्य णत्वं वाच्यम् (पा. ८-४-११ [as printed]) — “ṇ” for “n” after “ṛ,” so “kṛṇv”; then “su” … उगिदचां सर्वनामस्थानेऽधातोः (पा. ७-१-७०) the “num” augment; हल्ङ्याब्भ्यो दीर्घात्सुतिस्यपृक्तं हल् (पा. ६-१-६८) elides “su”; संयोगान्तस्य लोपः (पा. ८-२-२३) elides the “t”; the elision being “asiddha,” the “n” is not elided: “kṛṇvan.” “Aketave” — a “nañ” bahuvrīhi (नञ्सुभ्याम्, पा. ६-२-१७२), second member end-acute. “Peśaḥ” — first-syllable acute (नब्विषयस्यानिसन्तस्य, फि. सू. २६ [printed “Gā. sū. 26”]). “Maryāḥ” — छन्दसि निष्टर्क्य... मर्यस्तर्यध्वर्य... (पा. ३-१-१२३): in the Veda these forms are given as nipātanas, and “yat” after “mṛṅ” is so given; since “marya” is among the nipātanas, being a vocative it is unaccented (आमन्त्रितस्य च, पा. ८-१-१९); “peśaḥ” and “maryāḥ” have no mutual connection, so “parāṅgavad-bhāva” does not occur (सुबामन्त्रिते पराङ्गवत्स्वरे, पा. २-१-२). “Apeśase” — नञ्सुभ्याम्, end-acute. “Sam” — a particle, first-syllable acute. “Uṣadbhiḥ” — “uṣa dāhe” (to burn): “laṭ” and “śatṛ”; in place of “śap,” by vyatyaya, the vikaraṇa “śa”; the sārvadhātuka is not “p”-marked, so no guṇa for the light penultimate (क्ङिति च); “śa” is acute by the affix accent; but the following “śatṛ,” being a lasārvadhātuka after an anudātta-upadeśa root, is unaccented …

p. 222 — “uṣadbhiḥ” and “ajāyathāḥ” concluded. (Continuing:) …the “a” of “śa” and the “a” of “śatṛ” — since both are “a” — combine as pararūpa (अतो गुणे, पा. ६-१-९४), and the single substitute from the acute and unaccented is acute (एकादेश उदात्तेनोदात्तः, पा. ८-२-५). “Ajāyathāḥ” — a second-person form standing, by vyatyaya, for the third-person “ajāyata”; it is unaccented by तिङ्ङतिङः (पा. ८-१-२८). ॥३॥

---

Sūkta 6, The Fourth Mantra

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

आदह॑ स्व॒धामनु॒ पुन॑र्गर्भ॒त्वमै॒रिरे । दधा॑ना॒ नाम॑ य॒ज्ञिय॑म् ॥४॥

ādáha svadhắmanu púnargarbhatvámeriré | dádhānā nắma yajñiyaṃ ||4||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

आत् । अह । स्वधाम् । अनु । पुनः । गर्भत्वम् । आ । ईरिरे । दधानाः । नाम । यज्ञियम् ॥४॥

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥ (opening)

अत्रास्ति विशेषविनियोगः । चतुर्विंशेऽहनि प्रातःसवने ब्राह्मणाच्छंसिशस्त्र आदह स्वधामन्निति द्वे ऋचौ । इन्द्रेण सं हि दृक्षस इत्येका । अयं तृचः षळहस्तोत्रियसंज्ञकः । तथा च सूत्रितं चतुर्विंशे होताजनिष्वेति खण्डे । इन्द्रेण सं हि दृक्षस आदह स्वधामन्नित्येका द्वे च । आ. ७-२ । इति । यद्यप्येतदैन्द्रं सूक्तं तथाप्यादहेत्यादिषु षट्सु मारुतो वर्ण्यन्ते । प्रायेणैन्द्रे मारुत इत्यनुक्रमणिकायामुक्तत्वात् । अनु. २-२२ ॥ आदित्ययमानन्तर्यार्थो निपातः । अहेत्यवधारणार्थः । आदह वर्षतोरनन्तरमेव । स्वधामनु । इतः परं

जनिष्यमाणमन्नमुदकं वानुलक्ष्य मरुतो देवा गर्भत्वमेरिरे । मेघमध्ये जलस्य गर्भाकारं प्रेरितवन्तः । जलस्य कर्तारं पर्जन्यं प्रेरितवन्तः । प्रतिसंवत्सरमेवं कुर्वन्तीति दर्शयितुं पुनःशब्दः प्रयुक्तः । कीदृशा मरुतः । यज्ञियं यज्ञार्हं नाम दधानाः धारयन्तः । सप्तसु गणेषु मरुतामावृज्ञान्यावृज्ञेत्यादीनि यज्ञयोग्यानि नामान्यन्यत्राम्नातानि । अन्ध इत्यादिष्वष्टाविंशतिसंख्याकेष्वन्ननामसूर्क्र रसः ... atrāsti viśeṣaviniyogaḥ | caturviṃśe 'hani prātaḥsavane brāhmaṇācchaṃsiśastra ādaha svadhāmanniti dve ṛcau | indreṇa saṃ hi dṛkṣasa ityekā | ayaṃ tṛcaḥ ṣaḷahastotriyasaṃjñakaḥ | tathā ca sūtritaṃ caturviṃśe hotājaniṣveti khaṇḍe | indreṇa saṃ hi dṛkṣasa ādaha svadhāmannityekā dve ca | ā. 7-2 | iti | yadyapyetadaindraṃ sūktaṃ tathāpyādahetyādiṣu ṣaṭsu māruto varṇyante | prāyeṇaindre māruta ityanukramaṇikāyāmuktatvāt | anu. 2-22 ||
ādityayamānantaryārtho nipātaḥ | ahetyavadhāraṇārthaḥ | ādaha varṣatoranantarameva | svadhāmanu | itaḥ paraṃ janiṣyamāṇamannamudakaṃ vānulakṣya maruto devā garbhatvamerire | meghamadhye jalasya garbhākāraṃ preritavantaḥ | jalasya kartāraṃ parjanyaṃ preritavantaḥ | pratisaṃvatsaramevaṃ kurvantīti darśayituṃ punaḥśabdaḥ prayuktaḥ | kīdṛśā marutaḥ | yajñiyaṃ yajñārhaṃ nāma dadhānāḥ dhārayantaḥ | saptasu gaṇeṣu marutāmāvṛjñānyāvṛjñetyādīni yajñayogyāni nāmānyanyatrāmnātāni | andha ityādiṣvaṣṭāviṃśatisaṃkhyākeṣvannanāmasūrkra rasaḥ ... (Reading notes: (i) re-read from the better scan: "ā. 7-2," "anu. 2-22," "ād ity ayam ānantaryārtho nipātaḥ | aheti..."; (ii) "āvṛjñān yāvṛjñety" is crowded and given as read — the Marut names listed elsewhere; (iii) the last line ends mid-list at the foot of the page and continues on p. 223.)

Translation (of the part on this page): "Here is a special application: on the twenty-fourth day, at the morning pressing, in the Brāhmaṇācchaṃsin's śastra, the two Ṛks beginning 'ād aha svadhām anu' and the one 'indreṇa saṃ hi dṛkṣase' are used. This tṛca is called the 'ṣaḷaha-stotriya.' So it is laid down in the Sūtra, in the section 'caturviṃśe hotājaniṣva': 'indreṇa saṃ hi dṛkṣasa — one; ād aha svadhām anu — and two' (Āśv. 7-2). Although this sūkta is addressed to Indra, in the six Ṛks beginning 'ādaha' the Maruts are described; because the Anukramaṇī says 'mostly in an Indra (sūkta), the Maruts' (Anu. 2-22). 'Āt' is a particle in the sense of 'immediately after'; 'aha' is in the sense of emphasis: 'ād aha' — immediately after the raining. 'Svadhām anu' — looking to the coming food, or to the water, the Maruts, the gods, 'garbhatvam erire' — drove (set in motion) the form of a germ of water in the midst of the cloud: they impelled Parjanya, the maker of water. The word 'punaḥ' is used to show that they do this every year. What kind of Maruts? 'Yajñiyam nāma dadhānāḥ' — bearing a name fit for sacrifice. In the seven groups of the Maruts, names fit for sacrifice are recited elsewhere. Among the twenty-eight names of food beginning with 'andha,' 'ūrk' and 'rasaḥ' ..." (continues on the next page).

Page 223 — Rik 6.4: Bhāṣya concluded; grammar (characterized); Pada-meanings; Bhāvārtha; English rendering

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 11 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." Sanskrit printed in Kannada script, re-read from the better scan. English as printed.)

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥ (concluding from p. 222)

...स्वधेति पठितम् । अर्ण इत्यादिष्वेकशतसंख्याकेषूदकनामसु तेजः स्वधाक्षरमिति पठितम् ॥ आदह निपातावाद्युदात्तौ । स्वधाम् । स्वं लोकं दधाति पुष्णातीति । स्वधा । आतोऽनुपसर्गे कः । पा. ३-२-३ । कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् । अनु पुनःशब्दौ निपातावाद्युदात्तौ । गर्भस्य भावो गर्भत्वम् । प्रत्ययस्वरः । एरिरे । अन्तर्भावितण्यर्थादीरतेर्गतावित्यस्मादनुदात्तेतः परस्य लिटो झस्य इरेच् । पा. ३-४-८१ । चित्त्वादन्तोदात्तः । सह सुपा । पा. २-१-४ । इत्यत्र सुपेति योगविभागादाङा सह तिङः समासेऽपि समासस्य । पा. ६-१-२२३ । इत्यन्तोदात्तत्वम् । इजादेश्च गुरुमतोऽनृच्छः । पा. ३-१-३६ । इत्याम् न भवति मन्त्रत्वात् । अहशब्दयोगान्निघाताभावः । तुपश्यपश्यताहै पूजायाम् । पा. ८-१-३९ । इति निषेधात् । दधानाः । शानचश्चित्त्वादन्तोदात्तत्वे प्राप्तेऽभ्यस्तानामादिः । पा. ६-१-१८९ । इत्याद्युदात्तत्वम् । यज्ञमर्हतीति यज्ञियम् । यज्ञर्त्विग्भ्यां घखञौ । पा. ५-१-७१ । इति घप्रत्ययः । आयनेयीनीयियः फढखछघां प्रत्ययादीनाम् । पा. ७-१-२ । इतीयादेशः । प्रत्ययस्वरेणेकार उदात्तः ॥

... svadheti paṭhitam | ūrṇa ityādiṣvekaśatasaṃkhyākeṣūdakanāmasu tejaḥ svadhākṣaramiti paṭhitam ‖ ādaha nipātāvādyudāttau | svadhām | svaṃ lokaṃ dadhāti puṣṇātīti | svadhā | āto 'nupasarge kaḥ | pā. 3-2-3 | kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvam | anu punaḥśabdau nipātāvādyudāttau | garbhasya bhāvo garbhatvam | pratyayasvaraḥ | erire | antarbhāvitaṇyarthādīratergatāvityasmādanudāttetaḥ parasya liṭo jhasya irec | pā. 3-4-81 | cittvādantodāttaḥ | saha supā | pā. 2-1-4 | ityatra supeti yogavibhāgādāṅā saha tiṅaḥ samāse 'pi samāsasya | pā. 6-1-223 | ityantodāttatvam | ijādeśca gurumato 'nṛcchaḥ | pā. 3-1-36 | ityām na bhavati mantratvāt | ahaśabdayogānnighātābhāvaḥ | tupaśyapaśyatāhai pūjāyām | pā. 8-1-39 | iti niṣedhāt | dadhānāḥ | śānacaścittvādantodāttatve prāpte 'bhyastānāmādiḥ | pā. 6-1-189 | ityādyudāttatvam | yajñamarhatīti yajñiyam | yajñartvigbhyāṃ ghakhañau | pā. 5-1-71 | iti ghapratyayaḥ | āyaneyīnīyiyaḥ phaḍhakhachaghāṃ pratyayādīnām | pā. 7-1-2 | itīyādeśaḥ | pratyayasvareṇekāra udāttaḥ ‖ (Reading notes: (i) the first line carries on the Nighaṇṭu sentence from p. 222 ("...rasaḥ svadheti paṭhitam"); I give it as read; (ii) "svadheti paṭhitam" — "svadhā is read" among the food-names, and among the names of water; (iii) re-read from the better scan ("arṇa," "svadhākṣaram," "nipātāv," "āṅā saha," 8-1-39).)

Translation (sense in full; grammar in outline): "'...svadhā' is read (among the food-names); among the hundred-and-one names of water beginning with 'arṇa,' 'tejaḥ,' 'svadhā' and 'akṣaram' are read. 'Ād aha' — a particle, first-syllable acute. 'Svadhām' — 'svaṃ lokaṃ dadhāti puṣṇātīti' — 'it supports, nourishes its own world': 'svadhā'; (affix) 'ka' (Pāṇini 3-2-3) after a root ending in ā when no prefix; the kṛt-final member's accent is retained. 'Anu' and 'punaḥ' are both particles, first-syllable acute. 'Garbhatvam' — 'garbhasya bhāvo garbhatvam' — the state of a germ; accent of the affix. 'Erire' — from 'īr gatau' (to go, to move), with the causal sense included; the substitute 'irec' for 'jha' of the 'liṭ' after a root with an unaccented marker (Pāṇini 3-4-81); end-acute by the 'c'-mark. 'Saha supā' (Pāṇini 2-1-4) — here, by dividing the sūtra at 'supā,' the compound of 'ā' (prefix) with the verb takes (in a compound) the accent of the whole compound, end-acute (Pāṇini 6-1-223); 'ām' does not come, since this is a mantra. By connection with the word 'aha' there is no nighāta (Pāṇini 8-1-39, 'tupaśyapaśyatāhaiḥ pūjāyām' — the prohibition). 'Dadhānāḥ' — where 'śānac' being 'c'-marked would be end-acute, अभ्यस्तानामादिः (पा. ६-१-१८९) gives first-syllable acute. 'Yajñiyam' — 'yajñam arhatīti yajñiyam': by 'yajña-ṛtvigbhyāṃ ghakhañau' (Pāṇini 5-1-71) the affix 'gha,' replaced by 'iya' (Pāṇini 7-1-2); the 'i' is acute by the affix's accent."

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

आत् अह (āt aha) — immediately after (the end of the rainy season) | यज्ञियम् (yajñiyam) — worthy of sacrifice | नाम (nāma) — name | दधानाः (dadhānāḥ) — bearing (the Maruts, that is, the Marut-deities) | स्वधाम् अनु (svadhām anu) — (to produce) food in the form of grain (that must grow later) and water | पुनः (punaḥ) — again (now too, as in the previous rainy season) | गर्भत्वम् (garbhatvam) — (the water that gathers together in the cloud, as a germ) the water gathering in the cloud | एरिरे (erire) — impelled (that is, impelled Parjanya, who produces the rain).

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

After the rainy season has passed, the Marut-deities, who are famous by names honoured in sacrifices and the like, in order to give people grain in the form of food and water, again, as before, now also, as a part of the work of rain, impelled Parjanya, so that, like a germ, the water gathers together in the midst of the clouds.

English Translation (printed in English in the source itself):

"Thereafter (the Maruts) who bear the names invoked in sacrificial rites, having seen the rain about to be engendered instigated him to resume his embryo condition (in the clouds)."

Page 224 — Special topics on Rik 6.4: the application; the Maruts and the rains; "svadhā" and "anu"

(Page header: "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā · Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 6." Kannada prose translated; English as printed; printed p. 224 is missing from the better scan; this page is checked against the older scan `Rig_Vol2.pdf` (its PDF 239).)

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

The Bhāṣyakāra has said that there is a special application for this Ṛk. On the twenty-fourth day, at the morning pressing, the priest Brāhmaṇācchaṃsin is to recite, as the śastra-mantra, the two Ṛks beginning "ād aha svadhām anu" (that is, the 4th and 5th Ṛks of this sūkta [as printed]) and the one Ṛk "indreṇa saṃ hi dṛkṣase" (the 7th of this sūkta) — a tṛca of these three Ṛks together; that tṛca bears the name "ṣaḷaha-stotriya." On this matter Āśvalāyana says in his Śrauta-sūtra, in the section "hotājaniṣva": "indreṇa saṃ hi dṛkṣase ādaha svadhām anv ity ekā dve ca" (Āśv. Sū. 7-2). Though this sūkta has Indra as its deity, the Maruts are described in the six Ṛks of this sūkta beginning with "ādaha." For this very reason, the Anukramaṇī says "aindre maruta" (Anu. 2-22) — that in this Indra-sūkta there is a Marut-subject.

The meaning of this Ṛk is not plain either. The names of the Maruts are not in these Ṛks; but the Bhāṣyakāra, following the Anukramaṇī, interprets it as concerning the Maruts. In the rainy season the large, huge clouds that gather together are here described as the "garbha" (germ) in which water gathers; and since, from such a cloud-germ, rain-water and food in the form of grain are obtained by men, the sense is that the Marut-deities impel it.

आत् (āt) — "anantara," that is, after the rainy season has passed. अह (aha) — "eva," emphasis; or it may be thought of as a word that gives the sense of "wonder."

स्वधाम् (svadhām) — Among the twenty-eight words that signify food, beginning with "andha," the words "ūrk," "rasaḥ" and "svadhā" are read (Ni. 2-7), and among the 101 words that signify water beginning with "arṇaḥ, kṣodaḥ" the word "svadhā" is also read (Ni. 1-12). On the question of the meaning of the word "svadhā," there is much speculation among the learned. "Svaṃ lokaṃ dadhāti puṣṇātīti svadhā" — "svadhā" because it supports and nourishes its own world — (the food): thus the Bhāṣyakāra has explained the sense of the parts of this word. Western scholars say that this word has various senses (English as printed): "sva + dhā = svadhā: one's own place; svadhā: to offer the oblation to the Pitṛs (fathers) in the fire; self position; self power; inherent power; accustomed place; comfort; joy," etc. In this question of the meaning of the word, Skandasvāmī and Veṅkaṭamādhava have the same view as Sāyaṇa.

अनु (anu) — "paścāt," afterwards, after the rainy season has ended. Skandasvāmī explains it as: after the rainy season (the four months) has ended, and before the rainy season begins again, the eight months that are between …

Page 225 — Special topics on Rik 6.4 (concluded); Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (characterized)

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 11 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." Printed p. 225 is missing from the better scan; checked against the older scan `Rig_Vol2.pdf` (its PDF 240). Kannada prose translated; the Sanskrit quotation was read from an enlarged slice and is given in three layers, flagged where unclear. Grammar characterized, sūtras kept.)

(Continuing "anu" from p. 224:) …that between the end of one rainy season and the beginning of the next lie the eight months — so Skandasvāmī says. In support of this he has quoted, as authority, the sentence:

> वार्षिकांश्चतुरो मासान् वर्षित्वा तदनन्तरमष्टौ मासांस्तदुदकं रश्मिभिः प्रत्याहृत्य तदागामिसंवत्सरे वर्षितुं पुनर्गर्भमापादयन्ति मरुतः vārṣikāṃś caturo māsān varṣitvā tad-anantaram aṣṭau māsāṃs tad udakaṃ raśmibhiḥ pratyāhṛtya tad-āgāmi-saṃvatsare varṣituṃ punar garbham āpādayanti marutaḥ (Reading note: checked against the older scan: the print reads "pratyāhṛtya" (once) and "āpādayanti"; the rest as given.) Translation: "Having rained the four months of the rains, then for eight months the Maruts, drawing back that water with the rays (of the Sun), bring about a germ (garbha) again, so as to rain in the coming year."

पुनः (punaḥ) — This word indicates that, as in the rainy season that has gone by, so there will come another rainy season in the future. गर्भत्वम् (garbhatvam) — here "garbha" must be understood as the mass of water that has gathered in a heap in the cloud-circle (of the cloud). दधानाः (dadhānāḥ) — Sāyaṇa explains this word, joined with "yajñiyaṃ nāma" — "bearing a name worthy of sacrifice" — as "bearing." Skandasvāmī explains "nāma" as water, "dadhānā" as "bearing"; and, joined with "svadhām" (food in the form of grain), "dadhānāḥ" as "giving" (the root "dadhāti" in the sense of giving). नाम (nāma) — name. Skandasvāmī says that "nāma" here also has the sense of water; among the 101 names of water beginning with "arṇaḥ, kṣodaḥ," the word "nāma" is read (Ni. 1-12); besides this, he says the word "nāma" is a word that gives the sense of “saṃjñā” (name). यज्ञियम् (yajñiyam) — connected with sacrifice; that is, fit to be worshipped in a sacrifice by invocation and the like.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (Kannada; characterized) “Āt,” “aha” — particles, first-syllable acute. “Svadhām” — “svaṃ lokaṃ dadhāti puṣṇātīti” (that which nourishes its own world). “Svadhā” — आतोऽनुपसर्गे कः (पा. ३-२-३) — when a subanta that is not a prefix is the upapada, “ka” comes after a root ending in “ā”; आतो लोप इटि च (पा. ६-४-६४) elides the “ā”; अजाद्यतष्टाप् (पा. ४-१-४) the feminine “ṭāp”; “ṭāp” is unaccented; “ka” gives the affix-accent; गतिकारकोपपदात्कृत् (पा. ६-२-१३९) retains the kṛt-final member’s accent; then the “ā” of the “ṭāp” merges in the savarṇa-dīrgha; the single substitute is acute (एकादेश उदात्तेनोदात्तः, पा. ८-२-५); so “svadhā” is end-acute. “Anu,” “punaḥ” — particles, first-syllable acute. “Garbhatvam” — “tasya bhāvas tvatalau” (तस्य भावस्त्वतलौ, पा. ५-१-११९): after a sixth-case-ending word, in the sense of state, the affixes “tva” and “tal”; “tal” gives the feminine; “garbhasya bhāvaḥ” with “tva” gives “garbhatva”; “tva” is acute by its affix accent.

Page 226 — Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā for Rik 6.4 concluded; Sūkta 6, Fifth Mantra: Saṃhitā

(Page header: “Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 6.” Grammar characterized, sūtras kept; re-read from the better scan (PDF 238, the first page after the gap). Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

“Erire” — the root “īr gatau” (to go), with the causal sense included, and it is “anudātteṭ” (unaccented in its upadeśa); “liṭ” is added, and in the third-person plural the “jha” is replaced by इरेच् — लिटस्तझयोरेशिरेच् (पा. ३-४-८१) — “e” for “ta” and “irec” for “jha” in the “liṭ” — “īr + irec”; because of the “c”-mark it is end-acute (चितः, पा. ६-१-१६३). “Saha supā” — सह सुपा (पा. २-१-४), which the print takes as two sūtras (“saha” and “supā,” divided by the “yoga-vibhāga” principle): “saha” (a compound of a subanta with a tiṅanta in the “supā” sense); here “ā” (a prefix in the sense of a particle) combines with “erire” by that part of the sūtra, and the compound takes the accent of the whole compound, the end-acute (समासस्य, पा. ६-१-२२३). “Ām” — for a verb in “liṭ” with a heavy first syllable beginning with a vowel, इजादेश्च गुरुमतोऽनृच्छः (पा. ३-१-३६) would bring the augment “ām” (affix “ām”) — the print says: but, as this is a mantra, by the rule कास्प्रत्ययादाममन्त्रे लिटि (पा. ३-१-३५) “ām” is added in “liṭ” only outside mantras, so “ām” does not come here. “Aha” and nighāta — by तुपश्यपश्यताहैः पूजायाम् (पा. ८-१-३९) there is a prohibition of nighāta on a verb joined with “tupaśya,” “paśya,” “tā” and “ahai” in the sense of praise; because of the word “aha” the verb “erire” is not made unaccented. “Dadhānāḥ” — “śānac” after “dhā”; “śānac” being “c”-marked would be end-acute (चितः), but अभ्यस्तानामादिः (पा. ६-१-१८९) gives it first-syllable acute; “dhā” is a “juhotyādi” root, so “śap” is replaced by “ślu” (जुहोत्यादिभ्यः श्लुः, पा. २-४-७५), and the doubling (श्लौ, पा. ६-१-१०): “dadhā,” which by “ubhe abhyastam” is called “abhyasta.” “Yajñiyam” — यज्ञर्त्विग्भ्यां घखञौ (पा. ५-१-७१): after “yajña” and “ṛtvij,” in the sense “he deserves,” the affixes “gha” and “khañ” (here “gha”); आयनेयीनीयियः फढखछघां प्रत्ययादीनाम् (पा. ७-१-२): the initial “ph, ḍh, kh, chh, gh” of an affix are replaced by “āyan, eya, īn, īy, iy” in order; “gh” → “iy” → “yajña + iya” → “yajñiya.” The “i” is acute by the affix’s accent. ॥४॥

Sūkta 6, The Fifth Mantra

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

वी॒ळु चि॑दारुज॒त्नुभि॒र्गुहा॑ चिदिंद्र॒ वह्नि॑भिः । अवि॑ंद उ॒स्रिया॒ अनु॑ ॥५॥

vīḷú cidārujatnúbhirgúhā cidiṃdra váhnibhiḥ | áviṃda usríyā ánu ||5||

Page 227 — Rik 6.5: Pada, Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (the Paṇi legend), grammar (characterized), Pada-meanings

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 11 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." Sanskrit printed in Kannada script, re-read from the better scan. Pada unaccented.)

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

वीळु । चित् । आरुजत्नुऽभिः । गुहा । चित् । इन्द्र । वह्निऽभिः । अविन्दः । उस्रियाः । अनु ॥५॥

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

अस्ति किंचिदुपाख्यानम् । पणिभिर्देवलोकाद्गावोऽपहृता अन्धकारे प्रक्षिप्ताः ताश्चेन्द्रो मरुद्भिः सहाजयदिति । एतच्चानुक्रमणिकायां सूचितम् । पणिभिरसुरैर्निगूळ्हा गा अन्वेष्टुं सरमां देवशुनीमिन्द्रेण प्रहितामयुग्भिः पणयो मित्रीयन्तः प्रोचुः । अनु. ऋग्वे. १०-१०८ । इति । मन्त्रान्तरे च दृष्टान्ततया सूचितम् । निरुद्धा आपः पणिनेव गावः । ऋग्वे. १-३२-११ । इति । तदेतदुपाख्यानमभिप्रेत्योच्यते ॥ हे इन्द्र वीळु चिद्दृढमपि दुर्गमस्थानमारुजत्नुभिर्भञ्जद्भिर्वह्निभिर्वोढृभिरन्यत्र नेतुं समर्थैर्मरुद्भिः सहितस्त्वं गुहा चित् गुहायामपि स्थापिता उस्रिया गा अन्वविन्दः । अन्विष्य लब्धवानसि । ओजः पाज इत्यादिष्वष्टाविंशतिसंख्याकेषु बलनामसु दक्षो वीळु च्यौत्नमिति पठितम् । नवसंख्याकेषु गोनामस्वघ्न्योस्रोस्रियेति पठितम् ॥ वीळु । प्रातिपदिकस्वरः । चित् । चादिरनुदात्तः । आरुजत्नुभिः । रुजो भङ्ग इत्यौणादिकः कत्नुच्प्रत्ययः । कित्त्वाद्गुणाभावः । चित्त्वादन्तोदात्तत्वम् । समासे कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् । गुहा । सप्तम्या डादेशः । ग्रामादीनां च । फि. २-१५ । इत्याद्युदात्तः । वह्निभिः । वहिश्रिश्रुयुद्रुग्लाहात्वरिभ्यो नित् । उ. ४-५१ । इति वहेर्निप्रत्ययः । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । अविन्दः । शे मुचादीनाम् । पा. ७-१-५९ । इति नुमागमः । लुङ्लङ्लृङ्क्ष्वडुदात्तः । पा. ६-४-७१ । वसन्तीत्युस्रियाः । वसेः कर्तरि रियक्प्रत्ययः । षत्वाभावश्च बाहुलकादूहनीयः । उक्तं हि । यन्न पदार्थविशेषसमुत्थं प्रत्ययतः प्रकृतेश्च तदूह्यमिति । इकारः प्रत्ययस्वरेणोदात्तः ॥५॥ asti kiṃcidupākhyānam | paṇibhirdevalokādgāvo 'pahṛtā andhakāre prakṣiptāḥ tāścendro marudbhiḥ sahājayaditi | etaccānukramaṇikāyāṃ sūcitam | paṇibhirasurairnigūḷhā gā anveṣṭuṃ saramāṃ devaśunīmindreṇa prahitāmayugbhiḥ paṇayo mitrīyantaḥ procuḥ | anu. ṛgve. 10-108 | iti | mantrāntare ca dṛṣṭāntatayā sūcitam | niruddhā āpaḥ paṇineva gāvaḥ | ṛgve. 1-32-11 | iti | tadetadupākhyānamabhipretyocyate ‖ he indra vīḷu ciddṛḍhamapi durgamasthānamārujatnubhirbhañjadbhirvahnibhirvoḍhṛbhiranyatra netuṃ samarthairmarudbhiḥ sahitastvaṃ guhā cit guhāyāmapi sthāpitā usriyā gā anvavindaḥ | anviṣya labdhavānasi | ojaḥ pāja ityādiṣvaṣṭāviṃśatisaṃkhyākeṣu balanāmasu dakṣo vīḷu cyautnamiti paṭhitam | navasaṃkhyākeṣu gonāmasvaghnyosrosriyeti paṭhitam ‖ vīḷu | prātipadikasvaraḥ | cit | cādiranudāttaḥ

| ārujatnubhiḥ | rujo bhaṅga ityauṇādikaḥ katnucpratyayaḥ | kittvādguṇābhāvaḥ | cittvādantodāttatvam | samāse kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvam | guhā | saptamyā ḍādeśaḥ | grāmādīnāṃ ca | phi. 2-15 | ityādyudāttaḥ | vahnibhiḥ | vahiśriśruyudruglāhātvaribhyo nit | u. 4-51 | iti vahernipratyayaḥ | nittvādādyudāttaḥ | avindaḥ | śe mucādīnām | pā. 7-1-59 | iti numāgamaḥ | luṅlaṅlṛṅkṣvaḍudāttaḥ | pā. 6-4-71 | vasantītyusriyāḥ | vaseḥ kartari riyakpratyayaḥ | ṣatvābhāvaśca bāhulakādūhanīyaḥ | uktaṃ hi | yanna padārthaviśeṣasamutthaṃ pratyayataḥ prakṛteśca tadūhyamiti | ikāraḥ pratyayasvareṇodāttaḥ ‖5‖ (Re-read in full from the better scan (no line is cut off there); the grammatical tail is transcribed.)

Translation: "There is a certain legend. The Paṇis stole cows from the world of the gods and hurled them into darkness; (those) Indra, with the Maruts, won (back). This is indicated in the Anukramaṇī: 'To Saramā, the divine bitch sent by Indra to search out the cows hidden by the Paṇis, the Asuras, the Paṇis, seeking her friendship, spoke in alternate verses' (Anukramaṇī on Ṛg. 10-108). And it is indicated in another mantra as an illustration: 'the waters were shut up, like the cows by the Paṇi' (Ṛg. 1-32-11). With that legend in view it is said: O Indra! 'Vīḷu cit' — even what is firm, a place hard to reach — 'ārujatnubhiḥ' — by the breakers, 'vahnibhiḥ' — the bearers, the Maruts, who are able to carry (it) elsewhere — accompanied by them, you 'guhā cit' — even in the cave where they had been placed — 'usriyā gāḥ' — the cows — 'anvindaḥ' — you searched out and found. Among the twenty-eight names of strength beginning with 'ojaḥ, pājaḥ,' 'dakṣaḥ,' 'vīḷu' and 'cyautnam' are read; among the nine names of cow, 'aghnyā,' 'usrā' and 'usriyā' are read."

Grammar within the Bhāṣya (in outline): "Vīḷu" — the stem accent. "Cit" — a "cādi" particle, unaccented. "Ārujatnubhiḥ" — "rujo bhaṅge" with the Uṇādi affix "katnuc"; "k"-marked, so no guṇa; "c"-marked, end-acute; in the compound the kṛt-final member's accent stays. "Guhā" — "ḍā" for the locative; ग्रामादीनां च (फि. सू. २-१५) first-syllable acute. "Vahnibhiḥ" — वहिश्रिश्रुयुद्रुग्लाहात्वरिभ्यो नित् (उ. सू. ४-५१) the affix "ni"; "n"-marked, first-syllable acute. "Avindaḥ" — शे मुचादीनाम् (पा. ७-१-५९) the augment "num"; the augment "aṭ" acute (लुङ्लङ्लृङ्क्ष्वडुदात्तः, पा. ६-४-७१). "Usriyāḥ" — "vasanti" — from "vas" the affix "riyak" in the agent sense; the absence of "ṣ" is to be inferred by "bāhulaka" (as it is said, "what is not covered by the particular word, the affix and the root is to be inferred"); the "i" is acute by the affix accent. ॥५॥

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

(हे) इन्द्र (he indra) — O Indra | (त्वम्) (tvam) — you | वीळु चित् (vīḷu cit) — even a strong, or very firm, difficult-of-approach place, together | आरुजत्नुभिः (ārujatnubhiḥ) — those with the capacity to break | वह्निभिः (vahnibhiḥ) — the Maruts, who have the capacity to carry (carry off) (with the help of the Marut-deities) | गुहा चित् (guhā cit) — (stolen by a Paṇi, and) hidden in a cave | उस्रियाः (usriyāḥ) — cows | अनु अविन्दः (anu avindaḥ) — you have found, you have brought back.

Page 228 — Rik 6.5: Bhāvārtha; English rendering; Special topics (opening) — the legend of Saramā and the Paṇis

(Page header: "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 6." Kannada prose translated; English as printed; references re-read from the better scan.)

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

The Marut-deities are of very great capacity. They are able to break and destroy places of difficult approach — mountains and the like, however strong; and they have the capacity to carry everything. O Indra! With the help of such Marut-deities you found and brought back the cows that were hidden in a cave (after being carried off by demons called Paṇi).

English Translation (printed in English in the source itself):

"Associated with the conveying Maruts, the traversers of places difficult of access, O Indra, you have found out the cows hidden in the cave."

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

The Bhāṣyakāra cites here a legend (upākhyāna). The demons called Paṇi carried off cows that were in the world of the gods, and hid them in the cave of a mountain. To find them, Indra sent a divine bitch ("deva-śunī") called Saramā. That bitch went to the Paṇis and, by good words and by friendship, helped to bring back the cows. With the help of the Maruts Indra, destroying the cave, brought back the cows that were there — so it is said in the legend. In the 108th sūkta of the tenth Maṇḍala of the Ṛgveda Saṃhitā there is a long conversation between the divine bitch Saramā and the demons called Paṇi. We shall describe this matter at length, further on, when we explain the subject of "paṇineva gāvaḥ" in the Ṛk Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-32-11.

वीळु (vīḷu) — Among the twenty-eight words that are signs of strength, beginning with "ojaḥ," the words "dakṣaḥ," "vīḷu" and "cyautnam" are read (Ni. 3-9 [as printed]). The senses of this word: strong, firm, solid, fearless.

चित् (cit) — "eva" (emphasis). आरुजत्नुभिः (ārujatnubhiḥ) — "bhañjadbhiḥ" — "those who have the capacity to break, to destroy." वह्निभिः (vahnibhiḥ) — "voḍhṛbhiḥ" — those who carry, those who bear. गुहा (guhā) — in a cave, in a place that no one knows, in a solitary place, in a hidden spot; this word is generally used in the seventh case in the sense of "in a cave": "guhā hitaṃ guhyaṃ gūḷhaṃ" (गुहा हितं गुह्यं गूळ्हं — "placed in a cave, secret, hidden," ṛ. saṃ. 2-11-5) and so on. उस्रियाः (usriyāḥ) — among the nine words that signify cows beginning with "aghnyā," the word "usriyāḥ" is read (Ni. 3-9 [as printed]).

Page 229 — Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā for Rik 6.5 (Kannada) — characterized

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 11 ·Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." Pure grammar in Kannada prose, restating the Sanskrit of p. 227; characterized in outline; sūtras kept; re-read from the better scan.)

"Vīḷu" — by the bare-stem accent, end-acute. "Cit" — as it belongs to the "cādi" group, चादयोऽनुदात्ताः (फि. सू. ८४) it is unaccented. "Ārujatnubhiḥ" — "ā" is a prefix; after the root

“ruja bhaṅge” (to break) the Uṇādi affix “tnuc” (no sūtra printed); “kit,” so no guṇa for the light penultimate; “c”-marked, so end-acute; the compound with “ā” takes the kṛt-final member’s accent by गतिकारकोपपदात्कृत् (पा. ६-२-१३९). “Guhā” — for the seventh-case singular the substitute “ḍā” (सुपां सुलुक्… , पा. ७-१-३९); ग्रामादीनां च (फि. सू. ३८ [as printed]; “2-15” on p. 227) — the “grāma”-class words are first-syllable acute, so “guhā” is first-syllable acute. “Vahnibhiḥ” — वहिश्रिश्रुयुद्रुग्लाहात्वरिभ्यो निः (उ. सू. ४-५१) after these roots the affix “ni,” which is “nit” (“n”-marked), so from “vah” “vahni” is first-syllable acute (ञित्यादिर्नित्यम्). “Avindaḥ” — “vidḷ lābhe” (to obtain), a tudādi root; the second-person singular “sip” in “laṅ”; तुदादिभ्यः शः (पा. ३-१-७७) the vikaraṇa “śa”; शे मुचादीनाम् (पा. ७-१-५९) — the “num” augment comes to the “muc”-class roots when “śa” follows: “vind + a + s”; लुङ्लङ्लृङ्क्ष्वडुदात्तः (पा. ६-४-७१) the augment “aṭ”; ससजुषो रुः and visarga → “avindaḥ.” “Usriyāḥ” — “vasanti iti usriyāḥ”: after the root “vas” the affix “riyak” in the sense of the agent, and the substitution of “s” for “ṣ”? — the print says: शासिवसिघसीनां च (पा. ८-३-६०) gives “ṣ” for the “s” of these roots after “i/ku”; but that is not seen here, and so “bahulaṃ” in उणादयो बहुलम् (पा. ३-३-१) must be supplied; the print quotes नाम च धातुजमाह निरुक्ते व्याकरणे शकटस्य च तोकम् । यन्न विशेषपदार्थसमुत्थं प्रत्ययतः प्रकृतेश्च तदूह्यम् (nāma ca dhātujam āha nirukte vyākaraṇe śakaṭasya ca tokam | yan na viśeṣa-padārtha-samutthaṃ pratyayataḥ prakṛteś ca tad ūhyam, पा. ३-३-१-म. १) — “the Nirukta, and in grammar the son of Śakaṭa (Śākaṭāyana), say that the noun is born of a root; what does not arise from a particular word-sense is to be inferred from the affix and from the root” — explained in the Kannada: where the root is well known, a fitting affix is to be inferred, and where the affix is known, a fitting root — and the print concludes that “riyak” is the inferred affix; since it is “k”-marked, the “samprasāraṇa” of “vas” (वचिस्वपियजादीनां किति, पा. ६-१-१५) gives “us” (the “va” → “u”), and संप्रसारणाच्च (पा. ६-१-१०८) the pūrvarūpa; “usriya”; the first-case plural → “usriyāḥ”; the “i” is acute by the affix’s accent. ॥५॥

---

Page 230 — Rik 6.5 grammar concluded; Sūkta 6, Sixth Mantra: Saṃhitā, Pada, Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (opening)

(Page header: “Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā · Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 6.” Sanskrit printed in Kannada script, re-read from the better scan. Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

Sūkta 6, The Sixth Mantra

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

देवयंतो यथा मतिमच्छा विदद्वसुं गिरः । महामनूषत श्रुतं ॥६॥

deváyaṃto yáthā matímácchā vidádvasuṃ gíraḥ | mahāmanūṣata śrutaṃ ||6||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

देवऽयन्तः । यथा । मतिम् । अच्छ । विदत्ऽवसुम् । गिरः । महाम् । अनूषत । श्रुतम् ॥६॥

(Reading note: the printed Saṃhitā “acchā” in the first pāda is the sandhi-lengthened form of the Pada’s “accha”; the Pada text divides “vidat-vasum” as a compound.)

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

देवयन्तो मरुत्संज्ञकान्देवानिच्छन्तो गिरः स्तोतार ऋत्विजो महां प्रौढं मरुद्गणमच्छ प्राप्तुमनूषत । स्तुतवन्तः । कीदृशं मरुद्गणम् । विदद्वसुम् । वेदयद्भिः स्वमहिमप्रख्यापकैर्वसुभिर्धनैर्युक्तं श्रुतं विख्यातम् । मरुद्गणस्य दृष्टान्तः । यथा मतिम् । मन्तारमिन्द्रं यथा स्तुवन्ति तथेत्यर्थः ॥ देवयन्तः । देवानात्मन इच्छन्तः । सुप आत्मनः क्यच् । पा. ३-१-८ ॥ क्यचि च । पा. ७-४-३३ । इतीत्त्वम् । अकृत्सार्वधातुकयोर्दीर्घः । पा. ७-४-२५ । इति दीर्घत्वं च न भवति । न च्छन्दस्यपुत्रस्य । पा. ७-४-३५ । इत्यनेन क्यचि यत्प्राप्तमीत्त्वं दीर्घत्वं वा तस्य सर्वस्य प्रतिषेधात् । यद्यपीत्त्वमेव प्रकृतं तथापि व्यवहितस्यापि दीर्घत्वस्य स प्रतिषेध इति विज्ञायते । अश्वाघस्यात् । पा. ७-४-३७ । इत्यात्त्वविधानादिति ह्युक्तम् । क्यजन्ताच्छतृप्रत्ययः । क्यचश्चित्त्वाच्चित इत्यन्तोदात्तत्वम् । शपः पित्त्वेन शतुश्च लसार्वधातुकस्वरेणानुदात्तत्वे एकादेश उदात्तेनोदात्त इत्युदात्तः । यथा । प्रकारवचने थाल् । पा. ५-३-२३ । लिति । पा. ६-१-१९३ । इति प्रत्ययात्पूर्वमुदात्तत्वम् । मतिम् । मन्त्रे वृषेषपचमनेत्यादिना । पा. ३-३-९६ । क्तिन्नुदात्तः ... devayanto marutsaṃjñakāndevānicchanto giraḥ stotāra ṛtvijo mahāṃ prauḍhaṃ marudgaṇamaccha prāptumanūṣata | stutavantaḥ | kīdṛśaṃ marudgaṇam | vidadvasum | vedayadbhiḥ svamahimaprakhyāpakairvasubhirdhanairyuktaṃ śrutaṃ vikhyātam | marudgaṇasya dṛṣṭāntaḥ | yathā matim | mantāramindraṃ yathā stuvanti tathetyarthaḥ ‖ devayantaḥ | devānātmana icchantaḥ | supa ātmanaḥ kyac | pā. 3-1-8 ‖ kyaci ca | pā. 7-4-33 | itīttvam | akṛtsārvadhātukayordīrghaḥ | pā. 7-4-25 | iti dīrghatvaṃ ca na bhavati | na cchandasyaputrasya | pā. 7-4-35 | ityanena kyaci yatprāptamīttvaṃ dīrghatvaṃ vā tasya sarvasya pratiṣedhāt | yadyapīttvameva prakṛtaṃ tathāpi vyavahitasyāpi dīrghatvasya sa pratiṣedha iti vijñāyate | aśvāghasyāt | pā. 7-4-37 | ityāttvavidhānāditi hyuktam | kyajantācchatṛpratyayaḥ | kyacaścittvāccita ityantodāttatvam | śapaḥ pittvena śatuśca lasārvadhātukasvareṇānudāttatve ekādeśa udāttenodātta ityudāttaḥ | yathā | prakāravacane thāl | pā. 5-3-23 | liti | pā. 6-1-193 | iti pratyayātpūrvamudāttatvam | matim | mantre vṛṣeṣapacamanetyādinā | pā. 3-3-96 | ktinnudāttaḥ ... (Re-read in full from the better scan; the grammar continues on p. 231.)

Translation: "'Devayantaḥ' — wishing for the gods called Maruts, 'giraḥ' — the singers, the priests, 'mahām' — the mighty Marut-host — 'accha' — in order to reach it, 'anūṣata' — have praised. What kind of Marut-host? 'Vidadvasum' — endowed with riches that make their greatness known, famous (heard-of): 'śrutam' — widely renowned. An illustration for the Marut-host: 'yathā matim' — as they praise Indra, the thinker, so (they praise the Marut-host). 'Devayantaḥ' — 'devān ātmana icchantaḥ' — wishing the gods for themselves; the affix 'kyac' after a subanta in the sense of one's own wish (Pāṇini 3-1-8); the 'ī' by 'kyaci ca' (Pāṇini 7-4-33); by 'na chandasy aputrasya' (7-4-35) the 'ī' and the lengthening (7-4-25) are both barred in the Veda; the 'śatṛ' after the 'kyac'-ending, end-acute as 'c'-marked; 'yathā' — 'thāl' (5-3-23), acute before the affix by 'liti' (6-1-193); 'matim' — 'ktin,' acute by 3-3-96 ..." (the grammar continues on the next page).

Page 231 — Rik 6.6: grammar of the Bhāṣya (concluded); Pada-meanings; Bhāvārtha; English rendering

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 12 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." The top of the page ends the Sanskrit grammar of the Bhāṣya; re-read from the better scan and given in outline with the sūtras. English as printed.)

Grammar (in outline): "Matim" (concluded) — the word, meaning knowledge, here stands for Indra; or, as "tattva-viśeṣa" (a particular entity), it is a name of Indra: by क्तिच्क्तौ च संज्ञायाम् (पा. ३-३-१७४) "ktic" after "man" in the agent sense; by एकाच उपदेशेऽनुदात्तात् (पा. ७-२-१०) no "iṭ"; "c"-marked, so end-acute. "Accha" — by अच्छ गत्यर्थवदेषु (पा. १-४-६९) a "gati" in connection with verbs of going, and also a particle (गतिश्च, पा. १-४-६०, co-occurring); first-syllable acute by निपाता आद्युदात्ताः (फि. सू. ४-१२). "Vidadvasum" — "vida jñāne" with the causal sense included and "śatṛ": "vidanti" — they make known — "vasūni dhanāni yaṃ sa vidadvasuḥ"; the "śap" after "vid" is elided by अदिप्रभृतिभ्यः शपः (पा. २-४-७२); the "śatṛ" is acute by the affix accent; in the bahuvrīhi the first member's accent is kept. "Giraḥ" — "gṛṇanti stuvanti" — from "gṝ" with "kvip," ऋत इद्धातोः (पा. ७-१-१००) "ir" and "r"; the root accent. "Mahām" — "mahāntam": the "n" and "t" are elided as a Vedic licence; the stem accent. "Anūṣata" — "ṇu stutau," by vyatyaya the ātmanepada; "luṅ"; "jhas" replaced by "at" (पा. ७-१-५); in "sic," as a "kuṭādi" root, it is "ṅit" (पा. १-२-१), so no guṇa; the absence of "iṭ" and the lengthening of "u" are Vedic; unaccented by nighāta. "Śrutam" — the affix accent.

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

देवयन्तः (devayantaḥ) — those who wish to praise the deities called Maruts | गिरः (giraḥ) — the priests who sing stotras | मतिम् (matim) — (as they praise Indra) who gives understanding | यथा (yathā) — in whatever manner (they praise) | विदद्वसुम् (vidadvasum) — (the Marut-host) able to bestow wealth and lordship by their greatness | श्रुतम् (śrutam) — famous | महाम् (mahām) — great (the great host of Maruts) | अच्छ (accha) — in order to reach | अनूषत (anūṣata) — they praise.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

The priests and other people who wish to praise the Marut-deities praise the Marut-deities in the same way as they praise Indra, who gives understanding or who is wise. These Marut-deities are able to give wealth and lordship by their greatness; they are great and famous. They praise such Marut-deities with love.

English Translation (printed in English in the source itself):

"The reciters of praises praise the mighty (troop of Maruts) who are celebrated and conscious of the power of bestowing wealth, just as they praise the counseller (Indra)."

(Page header: "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 6." Kannada prose translated; the Sanskrit of Skandasvāmī's gloss is given in three layers, read at ordinary enlargement and flagged where unclear.)

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Because the meaning of this Ṛk is not plain, many words must be supplied in order to obtain a proper sense; and besides, the senses of some words have to be changed slightly.

देवयन्तः (devayantaḥ) — "devān marutaḥ icchantaḥ devayantaḥ" — "those who wish for the gods, the Maruts"; that is, those who wish to praise the Marut-deities. Skandasvāmī has explained it likewise.

मतिम् (matim) — "mantāram indraṃ yathā stuvanti tathety arthaḥ | matiśabdo jñāna-paro 'py upacārāj jñātari indre vartate" (मन्तारमिन्द्रं यथा स्तुवन्ति तथेत्यर्थः । मतिशब्दो ज्ञानपरोऽप्युपचाराज्ज्ञातरीन्द्रे वर्तते — "the sense is 'as they praise Indra, the thinker' — the word 'mati,' though it has the sense of knowledge, is by figurative use applied to Indra, the knower"). "athavā padāntare viśeṣyānupādānād indrasyaiṣā saṃjñā" (अथवा पदान्तरे विशेष्यानुपादानादिन्द्रस्यैषा संज्ञा — "or, since no other word is supplied as the noun qualified, this is a name of Indra"), Sāyaṇa says. the word "mati" stands for the sense of knowledge; hence here it is used in the sense of "one who has knowledge, who has understanding," in reference to Indra. Or, in another word it can be understood as a qualifier. In such a context this word refers to Indra himself. Skandasvāmī says: "manyate stūyate 'sāv iti matir indraḥ | jñātā vā matir vidvān brāhmaṇaḥ | yathā sarvastutyam indraṃ vidvāṃsaṃ vā brāhmaṇaṃ tadvat" (मन्यते स्तूयतेऽसाविति मतिरिन्द्रः । ज्ञाता वा मतिर्विद्वान् ब्राह्मणः । यथा सर्वस्तुत्यमिन्द्रं विद्वांसं वा ब्राह्मणं तद्वत् — "'mati' is Indra, since he is thought of, praised; or 'mati' is a knower, a learned Brāhmaṇa; as one (praises) Indra, praiseworthy by all, or a learned Brāhmaṇa, so (the Maruts)"). That is, since he is "thought of — praised," "mati" is the name of Indra; or one who has knowledge, a wise man, a Brāhmaṇa — this too is the sense of this word; so Skandasvāmī says that "matim" may be explained as Indra, who is like a Brāhmaṇa full of knowledge, praised by all.

अच्छ (accha) — The Bhāṣyakāra explains it as "prāptum" (to reach). On this matter he cites "adhyāhṛta-gacchaty-artha-yogād accha gatyarthavadeṣu" (अध्याहृतगच्छत्यर्थयोगादच्छ गत्यर्थवदेषु — "from its connection with the sense of 'gacchati' (goes), which is supplied: 'accha gatyarthavadeṣu'"), naming the Pāṇinian sūtra (पा. सू. १-४-६९). This word is always used with a lengthened final vowel in the saṃhitā-text when it occurs in the middle of a Ṛk.

विदद्वसुम् (vidadvasum) — "vida jñāna ity asmāt vidantyādāryātiśayavattayā jñāpayanti vasūni dhanāni yaṃ sa vidadvasuḥ" (विद ज्ञान इत्यस्मात् विदन्त्यादार्यातिशयवत्तया ज्ञापयन्ति वसूनि धनानि यं स विदद्वसुः — "from 'vida jñāne': he whom [they] make known … riches, wealth, is 'vidadvasu'"; "vidantyādārya-" as printed; the Kannada takes it as audārya, generosity) — the root "vid" means "knowing"; that is, those who have knowledge in the matter of giving wealth and the like, through the excess of their generosity. Skandasvāmī explains the root "vid" as "to obtain": "vindater lābhārthasya vidac chabdaḥ | labdhadhanam ity arthaḥ" (विन्दतेर्लाभार्थस्य विदच्छब्दः ।

लब्धधनमित्यर्थः — "the word 'vidat' is from 'vindati' in the sense of obtaining; the sense is 'one who has obtained wealth'") — he takes it as "those who have obtained wealth."

गिरः (giraḥ) — "gṛṇanti stuvantīti giraḥ" — those who praise. महाम् (mahām) — "mahāntam" (the great); here, for the convenience of the metre, the "n" and "t" are dropped.

Pages 233–235 — Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā for Rik 6.6 (Kannada) — characterized

(Page headers: p. 233 "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 12 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā"; p. 234 "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā · Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 6"; p. 235 "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 12." These three pages are pure Pāṇinian derivation in Kannada prose for "devayantaḥ," "yathā," "matim," "accha," "vidadvasum," "giraḥ," "mahām," "anūṣata" and "śrutam"; they do not bear on the sense of Rik 6.6 (pp. 230–232). They are characterized in outline, re-read from the better scan with every printed sūtra number.)

p. 233 — "devayantaḥ." "Devān ātmana icchantaḥ" ("wishing the gods for themselves"): सुप आत्मनः क्यच् (पा. सू. ३-१-८) — "supaḥ" here means a word ending in a case-ending, by the paribhāṣā "pratyaya-grahaṇe tadanta-grahaṇam" (an affix named stands for what ends in it; परि. २३ [?], the first digit unclear); from धातोः कर्मणः समानकर्तृकादिच्छायां वा (पा. सू. ३-१-७) the three words "karmaṇaḥ icchāyām vā" carry over (the print explains "anuvṛtti": a word of an earlier sūtra joined, as the sense requires, to a later one); "karmaṇaḥ" is ablative, "from the object"; "ātmanaḥ" is a genitive of purpose, "for oneself"; the sense of the sūtra: after a subanta denoting the object that one wishes for one's own sake, "kyac" comes optionally in the sense "wishes." In "devayantaḥ" those who wish are the ṛtvijs, who wish the gods for their own purposes. The print quotes the kārikā on the denominative affixes ("san kyac kāmyac kyaṣ … yak āya īyaṅ ṇiṅ ceti dvādaśāmī sanādayaḥ" — the twelve "san" and the rest) [as read; the line is crowded]. सनाद्यन्ता धातवः (पा. सू. ३-१-३२) makes the "kyac"-ended form a root; सुपो धातुप्रातिपदिकयोः (पा. सू. २-४-७१) elides the case-ending "śas"; क्यचि च (पा. सू. ७-४-३३) would give "ī" for the "a" before "kyac," and अकृत्सार्वधातुकयोर्दीर्घः (पा. सू. ७-४-२५) a long vowel; but न छन्दस्यपुत्रस्य (पा. सू. ७-४-३५) forbids both in the Veda for words other than "putra." By the maxim "ananantarasya vidhir vā bhavati pratiṣedho vā" the prohibition would reach only the "ī" (the nearer rule), not the lengthening; but the sūtra अश्वाघस्यात् (पा. सू. ७-४-३७) shows (as a jñāpaka) that the lengthening is forbidden too — "aśvān ātmana icchantaḥ" gives "aśvāyantaḥ" only because 7-4-37 prescribes "ā" for "aśva" and "agha" before "kyac" (continued on p. 234).

p. 234 — "devayantaḥ" (concluded); "yathā," "matim," "accha." If "kyaci ca" were held, by the maxim "ananantarasya," to forbid only the "ī," then "akṛtsārvadhātukayoḥ" would lengthen and "aśvāya" would be obtained anyway, and the "ā" of 7-4-37 would be pointless; so, to have a purpose, it shows that "na chandasy aputrasya" forbids every operation before "kyac"; hence neither "ī" nor the long vowel arises in "devaya." Then "laṭ," its substitute "śatṛ," and the vikaraṇa "śap"; "kyac" being "c"-marked is end-acute by चितः (पा. सू. ६-१-१६३); "śap," "p"-marked, and "śatṛ," a lasārvadhātuka after an unaccented-marked base, are unaccented; the single substitute from "ato guṇe" is acute by एकादेश उदात्तेनोदात्तः (पा. सू. ८-२-५). "Yathā" — प्रकारवचने थाल् (पा. सू. ५-३-२३): "prakāra" is a particular that distinguishes within the general ("sāmānyasya bhedako viśeṣaḥ prakāraḥ"), so "thāl" comes after "kim" and the like in their own sense, here after “yad”; “l”-marked, so the vowel before the affix is acute by लिति (पा. सू. ६-१-१९३). “Matim” — “ktin,” acute by मन्त्रे वृषेषपचमनविदभूवीरा उदात्तः (पा. सू. ३-३-९६); “k”-marked, so the “n” is elided by अनुदात्तोपदेश… (पा. सू. ६-४-३७); “mati” generally means knowledge, but here by upacāra it denotes Indra, the abode of knowledge; or, since no other word supplies the noun qualified, “mati” can be called a saṃjñā (name) of Indra: then by क्तिच्क्तौ च संज्ञायाम् (पा. सू. ३-३-१७४) “ktic” after “mana jñāne,” and, the root being unaccented, एकाच उपदेशेऽनुदात्तात् (पा. सू. ७-२-१०) forbids “iṭ.” “Accha” — by अच्छ गत्यर्थवदेषु (पा. सू. १-४-६९) the indeclinable “accha” is a “gati” in connection with roots of going and “vad”; besides, the adhikāra प्राग्रीश्वरान्निपाताः (पा. सू. १-४-५६), running up to “adhirīśvare” (१-४-९७), makes it a “nipāta” as well; so both designations apply (continued on p. 235).

p. 235 — “accha” (concluded); “vidadvasum,” “giraḥ,” “mahām,” “anūṣata.” The designations “gati” and “nipāta” do not exclude each other; they co-occur; so by निपाता आद्युदात्ताः (फि. सू. ८०) the first syllable is acute; and in the saṃhitā निपातस्य च (पा. सू. ६-३-१३६) lengthens a particle in the mantra. “Vidadvasum” — after “vida jñāne,” with the sense of “ṇic” included, “laṭ,” replaced by “śatṛ” (लटः शतृशानचौ, पा. सू. ३-२-१२४); in the neuter “vidat–vidatī–vidanti”; “vidanti = audāryātiśayavattayā jñāpayanti vasūni dhanāni yaṃ saḥ” — the Maruts whose riches make them known as eminently generous; the “śap” after “vid” is elided by अदिप्रभृतिभ्यः शपः (पा. सू. २-४-७२); after the “luk,” “śatṛ” no longer follows an unaccented-marked base, so तास्यनुदात्तेत्… (पा. सू. ६-१-१८६) does not make the lasārvadhātuka unaccented; by the affix accent “śatṛ” is acute; in the bahuvrīhi the first member’s accent stays (बहुव्रीहौ प्रकृत्या पूर्वपदम्, पा. सू. ६-२-१). “Giraḥ” — “gṛṇanti = stuvanti” — those who praise; “gṝ śabde” with “kvip”; ऋत इद्धातोः (पा. सू. ७-१-१००) “i” for the final “ṝ” of the aṅga, and उरण् रपरः (पा. सू. १-१-५१) “r” after it: “gir”; nominative plural “giraḥ,” end-acute by the root accent. “Mahām” — “mahāntam”: the “n” and “t” of “mahāntam” are elided as a Vedic licence; acute by the stem accent. “Anūṣata” — “ṇu stutau” is parasmaipadin, but by vyatyaya takes the ātmanepada; “luṅ,” third plural “jha,” replaced by “at” by आत्मनेपदेष्वनतः (पा. सू. ७-१-५); च्लि लुङि (पा. सू. ३-१-४३) and च्लेः सिच् (पा. सू. ३-१-४४) give “sic”; गाङ्कुटादिभ्योऽञ्णिन्ङित् (पा. सू. “–२-१” as printed, the first number missing) makes “sic” after the kuṭādi root “ṇu” “ṅit,” so क्ङिति च (पा. सू. १-१-५) blocks the guṇa of सार्वधातुकार्धधातुकयोः (पा. सू. ७-३-८४); णो नः (पा. सू. ६-१-६५) “n” for the initial “ṇ” (the grammar of “anūṣata” continues on p. 236).

Page 236 — Rik 6.6 grammar concluded; Sūkta 6, Seventh Mantra: Saṃhitā, Pada, Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (opening)

(Page header: “Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā · Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 6.” Saṃhitā accents as printed (Pada unaccented); Sanskrit re-read from the better scan. Grammar characterized.)

(Concluding “anūṣata”:) णोनः (पा. सू. ६-१-६५) — “n” for the initial “ṇ” of a root — makes “ṇu” → “nu”; लुङ्लङ्लृङ्क्ष्वडुदात्तः (पा. सू. ६-४-७१) the augment “aṭ”; the augment “iṭ” that would be prescribed by आर्धधातुकस्येड्वलादेः (पा. सू. ७-२-३५) does not come to “sic”; the lengthening of the “u” of “nu” is Vedic (so “nū”); तिङ्ङतिङः (पा. सू. ८-१-२८) makes the verb unaccented after “mahām.” “Śrutam” — ends in the affix “kta”; the accent is that of the affix. ॥६॥

Sūkta 6, The Seventh Mantra

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

इन्द्रे॒ण॒ सं हि दृक्ष॑से संजग्मा॒नो अबि॑भ्युषा । म॒न्दू स॑मा॒नव॑र्चसा ॥७॥

índreṇa sáṃ hi dṛ́kṣase saṃjagmānó ábibhyuṣā | mandū samānávarcasā ||7||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

इन्द्रेण । सम् । हि । दृक्षसे । सम्ऽजग्मानः । अबिभ्युषा । मन्दू इति । समानऽवर्चसा ॥७॥

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥ (opening)

हे मरुद्गण त्वमिन्द्रेण संजग्मानः संगच्छमानः सं दृक्षसे हि । सम्यग्दृश्येथाः खलु । अवश्यमस्माभिर्द्रष्टव्य इत्यर्थः । कीदृशेनेन्द्रेण । अबिभ्युषा भीतिरहितेन । कीदृशौ चेन्द्रमरुद्गणौ । मन्दू नित्यप्रमुदितौ समानवर्चसा तुल्यदीप्ती । पुरा कदाचिद्वृत्रवधदशायामिन्द्रस्य सखायः सर्वे देवा वृत्रश्वासेनापसारिताः । तदानीमिन्द्रस्य वृत्रसंबन्धिसकलसेनाजयार्थं मरुद्भिः संगनोऽभूत् । सोऽयमर्थो वृत्रस्य त्वा श्वसथात् । ऋग्वे. ८-९६-७ । इति मन्त्रे संगृहीत इन्द्रो वै वृत्रं हनिष्यन् । ऐ. ब्रा. ३-२० । इति ब्राह्मणे प्रपंचितश्च । इन्द्रशब्दः परमैश्वर्यवन्तं मरुद्गणं वाभिधत्ते । तदानीमिन्द्रस्य संबोधनं बहिरेवाध्याहर्तव्यम् । तथा चेयमृग्यास्केन व्याख्याता । इन्द्रेण हि संदृश्यसे संगच्छमानोऽबिभ्युषा गणेन मन्दू मदिष्णू युवां स्थोऽपि वा मन्दुना तेनेति स्यात्समानवर्चसेत्येतेन व्याख्यातम् । नि. ४-१२ । इति ॥ सं दृक्षसे । संपश्येथाः । दृशेश्चेति वक्तव्यम् । पा. १-३-२९-२ । इत्यात्मनेपदं । दृशेर्लिङर्थे लेट् । पा. ३-४-७ । इति प्रार्थनायां ... he marud-gaṇa tvam indreṇa saṃjagmānaḥ saṃgacchamānaḥ saṃ dṛkṣase hi | samyag dṛśyethāḥ khalu | avaśyam asmābhir draṣṭavya ity arthaḥ | kīdṛśenendreṇa | abibhyuṣā bhīti-rahitena | kīdṛśau cendra-marud-gaṇau | mandū nitya-pramuditau samāna-varcasā tulya-dīptī | purā kadācid vṛtra-vadha-daśāyām indrasya sakhāyaḥ sarve devā vṛtra-śvāsenāpasāritāḥ | tadānīm indrasya vṛtra-sambandhi-sakala-senā-jayārtham marudbhiḥ saṃgano 'bhūt | so 'yam artho vṛtrasya tvā śvasathāt | ṛgve. 8-96-7 | iti mantre saṅgṛhīta indro vai vṛtraṃ haniṣyan | ai. brā. 3-20 | iti brāhmaṇe prapañcitaś ca | indra-śabdaḥ paramaiśvaryavantaṃ marud-gaṇaṃ vābhidhatte | tadānīm indrasya sambodhanaṃ bahir evādhyāhartavyam | tathā ceyam ṛg yāskena vyākhyātā | indreṇa hi saṃ dṛśyase saṃgacchamāno 'bibhyuṣā gaṇena mandū madiṣṇū yuvāṃ stho 'pi vā mandunā teneti syāt samānavarcasety etena vyākhyātam | ni. 4-12 | iti || saṃ dṛkṣase | saṃpaśyethāḥ | dṛśeś ceti vaktavyam | pā. 1-3-29-2 | ity ātmanepadaṃ | dṛśer liṅarthe leṭ | pā. 3-4-7 | iti prārthanāyāṃ ... (Reading notes: "saṃgano 'bhūt" as printed; the Bhāṣya continues on p. 237.)

Translation (sense in full; grammar in outline): "O troop of Maruts! You, 'saṃjagmānaḥ' — joining Indra — 'saṃ dṛkṣase hi' — you are indeed well seen; the sense is 'you must certainly be seen by us.' With what kind of Indra? 'Abibhyuṣā' — one free of fear. And what kind of Indra and Marut-troop? 'Mandū' — ever delighted, 'samānavarcasā' — of equal radiance. Once, in the time of the slaying of Vṛtra, all the gods, friends of Indra, were driven away by Vṛtra's breath. Then, in order that Indra might conquer all of Vṛtra's army, there was a union with the Maruts. This sense is gathered into the mantra (Ṛg. 8-96-7): 'from the snorting of Vṛtra, you …’ and it is elaborated in the Brāhmaṇa: ‘Indra, about to slay Vṛtra’ (Aitareya-brāhmaṇa 3-20). The word ‘Indra’ here denotes the supremely powerful Marut-troop, or Indra; at that time the vocative ‘Indra’ must be supplied from outside. That is how Yāska explains this Ṛk: ‘By Indra you are seen united, by the fearless troop: “mandū” — the two who gladden, you both, or (you two) are; or “mandunā tena” (with that gladdening one) — this would be “samānavarcasā”’ (Nirukta 4-12). ‘Saṃ dṛkṣase’ — ‘you should be seen together’; (the Bhāṣya on the form of ‘dṛkṣase’:) the ātmanepada by the vārttika”dṛśeś ceti vaktavyam” (पा. १-३-२९-२); ‘leṭ’ of the root ‘dṛś’ in the sense of ‘liṅ,’ (पा. ३-४-७), in the sense of prayer …” (continues on the next page).

Page 237 — Rik 6.7: grammar of the Bhāṣya (characterized); Pada-meanings

(Page header: “Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 12 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā.” The top of the page continues the Sanskrit grammar of the Bhāṣya on “dṛkṣase,” “saṃjagmānaḥ,” “abibhyuṣā,” “mandū” and “samānavarcasā”; re-read from the better scan and characterized, not transcribed, with every printed reference.)

Grammar (characterized): “Dṛkṣase” — “leṭ”; थासः से (पा. ३-४-८०); लेटोऽडाटौ (पा. ३-४-९४) the augment “aṭ”; सिब्बहुलं लेटि (पा. ३-१-३४) “sip”; by “saṃjñāpūrvako vidhir anityaḥ” no guṇa; “ṣ” by “vraśca…” (पा. ८-२-३६); षढोः कः सि (पा. ८-२-४१) “k”; आदेशप्रत्यययोः (पा. ८-३-५९) “ṣ” for the “s” of “sip”; by the word “bahula,” “śap” too comes after “sip” (पा. २-४-७३); because “sip” intervenes, the “paśya” substitute does not arise (पा. ७-३-७८); “śap,” “p”-marked, and the following lasārvadhātuka are unaccented, so the root accent alone remains; and because of “hi,” the nighāta of “tiṅṅatiṅaḥ” does not apply, by the prohibition हि च (पा. ८-१-३४). “Saṃjagmānaḥ” — “gamlṛ” with “sam”: छन्दसि लुङ्लङ्लिटः (पा. ३-४-६) “liṭ” in the present; since समो गम्यृच्छिभ्याम् (पा. १-३-२९) gives the ātmanepada, “kānac” replaces “liṭ” (पा. ३-२-१०६); doubling (पा. ६-१-८); हलादिः शेषः (पा. ७-४-६०); palatal for the reduplicate (पा. ७-४-६२); गमहन… (पा. ६-४-९८) loss of the penultimate; “kānac” being “c”-marked is end-acute; in the gati-compound the accent of the kṛt-final second member stays. “Abibhyuṣā” — “ñibhī bhaye,” “liṭ” as before; शेषात्कर्तरि परस्मैपदम् (पा. १-३-७८); क्वसुश्च (पा. ३-२-१०७) “kvasu” for “liṭ”; “k”-marked, so no guṇa; doubling; shortening and “jaś” of the reduplicate (पा. ७-४-५९; ८-४-५४); the “iṭ” that वस्वेकाजाद्घसाम् (पा. ७-२-६७) would give is excluded by the “kryādi” restriction (पा. ७-२-१३); in the nañ-compound, in the instrumental singular, being “bha,” वसोः संप्रसारणम् (पा. ६-४-१३१) “u” for “v”; संप्रसारणाच्च (पा. ६-१-१०८) single substitute; शासिवसिघसीनां च (पा. ८-३-६०) “ṣ”; एरनेकाचोऽसंयोगपूर्वस्य (पा. ६-४-८२) “y” (setting aside “iyaṅ”); the indeclinable first member keeps its accent; in the saṃhitā the “o” before it would take the prior form by एङः पदान्तादति (पा. ६.१.१०९, so printed with dots), but प्रकृत्यान्तःपादमव्यपरे (पा. ६-१-११५) keeps it unchanged (“saṃjagmāno abibhyuṣā”). “Mandū” — “madi stuti-moda-mada-svapna-kānti-gatiṣu”; इदितो नुम् धातोः (पा. ७-१-५८) “num”; an Uṇādi affix “ku” by a sūtra cited as उ. १-३७ [?] (the last digit unclear), with “kuḥ” read from it by anuvṛtti; acute on the end by the affix accent; द्विवचनमौ (as printed, पा. ४-१-२); प्रथमयोः पूर्वसवर्णः (पा. ६-१-१०२); or, taken as an instrumental singular, the long vowel by “supāṃ suluk…”. “Samānavarcasā” — “samānaṃ varco yayoḥ” or “yasya” — a bahuvrīhi; in the dual “ā” by “supāṃ suluk…”; “samāna” is end-acute by the stem accent, which stays by बहुव्रीहौ प्रकृत्या पूर्वपदम् (पा. ६-२-१). ॥७॥

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

(हे मरुद्गण) (he marudgaṇa) — O host of Maruts, that is, O company of the Marut-deities | (nīvu) — you | अबिभ्युषा (abibhyuṣā) — one free of fear | इन्द्रेण (indreṇa) — together with Indra | संजग्मानः (saṃjagmānaḥ) — as though going along | सं हि दृश्यसे (saṃ hi dṛśyase) — you are seen (so printed here, "dṛśyase") | (nīvibbarū) मन्दू (mandū) — (both of you) always full of delight | समानवर्चसा (samānavarcasā) — endowed with equal radiance (you are).

Page 238 — Rik 6.7: Bhāvārtha; English rendering; Special topics (opening): the Vṛtra legend

(Page header: "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā ·Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 6." Kannada prose translated; English as printed. The Ṛg-vedic verse and its references re-read from the better scan; the gloss is the source's own English.)

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

O Marut-deities! That you go about together with the fearless Indra is seen by all. Not only that: the two of you — Indra and the Marut-deities — are always full of delight, and your radiance and your power and capacity are equal. That is, Indra and the Marut-deities, you two are alike in radiance, power and capacity.

English Translation (printed in English in the source itself):

"You are seen, O Maruts, marching forth together with Indra who is not frightened; (both) rejoicing and of equal splendour."

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

The Bhāṣyakāra here indicates an ancient legend. In the battle that took place long ago, when Indra destroyed the demon Vṛtra, the gods who were with Indra were frightened by the terrible snorting and roaring of the demon Vṛtra, and fled. But the Marut-deities alone, without any fear, remained with Indra to help him. This matter is described in the Ṛk Ṛ. Saṃ. 8-96-7 and in the Aitareya-brāhmaṇa (3-20):

> वृत्रस्य त्वा श्वसथादीषमाणा विश्वे देवा अजहुर्ये सखायः । मरुद्भिरिन्द्र सख्यं ते अस्त्वथेमा विश्वाः पृतना जयासि ॥ (ऋ. सं. ८-९६-७) vṛtrasya tvā śvasathād īṣamāṇā viśve devā ajahur ye sakhāyaḥ | marudbhir indra sakhyaṃ te astv atheme viśvāḥ pṛtanā jayāsi || (ṛ. saṃ. 8-96-7) English, as printed in the source: "Before the snorting of Vritra, all the gods, your comrades beating a hasty retreat abandoned you. Let your friendship be, O Indra, with the Maruts; then you will conquer all battles."

The meaning of this: O Indra! From the terrible breath of the demon Vṛtra, all the gods who were your friends were frightened and, leaving your side, ran away. But let there be friendship for you with the Marut-deities. (With their help) you will be victorious in all the battles. For this very reason, it is said here that the Marut-deities may be seen going about with Indra; that is, the sense is that since the Marut-deities are friendly with Indra, they help Indra in battles and the like.

इन्द्रेण (indreṇa) — the word "Indra" can be explained as meaning "supreme lordship." If so, the word "indreṇa" may be applied, together with the word "abibhyuṣā," as a qualifier of "marudgaṇa" … (continues on the next page)

Page 239 — Special topics on Rik 6.7 (concluded); Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (opening)

(Page header: "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 12 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā." Kannada prose translated; grammar characterized; re-read from the better scan.)

(Continuing from p. 238:) …then "indreṇa abibhyuṣā" means "by the host of Marut-deities, who have supreme lordship and are free of fear."

The sage Yāska, in his Nirukta, explains this Ṛk thus: "indreṇa hi saṃdṛśyase saṅgacchamāno 'bibhyuṣā gaṇena mandū madiṣṇū yuvāṃ stho 'pi mandunā teneti syāt samānavarcasety etena vyākhyātam" (इन्द्रेण हि संदृश्यसे संगच्छमानोऽबिभ्युषा गणेन मन्दू मदिष्णू युवां स्थोऽपि मन्दुना तेनेति स्यात्समानवर्चसेत्येतेन व्याख्यातम् — as in the Bhāṣya on p. 236, here without "vā"; no reference printed). This is as the Bhāṣyakāra explained it. But Yāska has taken the words "mandū" and "samānavarcasā" as if they were dual words, and so has said that they are qualifiers of both Indra and the Maruts; whereas the Bhāṣyakāra has taken these words as third-case (instrumental) forms and used them, with the four words "indreṇa," "abibhyuṣā," "mandū" and "samānavarcasā," as qualifiers of the Marut-host only. Then, in place of the Marut-host, Indra himself must be addressed: "O Indra! You are seen, we may say, going with the Marut-deities, who are possessed of supreme lordship, fearless and of equal radiance." Skandasvāmī explains it in the same way. Since the chief intention of the two kinds of meaning is one, one may say it either way.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (Kannada; characterized, sūtras kept) "Saṃdṛkṣase" — "saṃpaśyethāḥ" — the "laṭ"-like "leṭ" in the sense of "liṅ" (लिङर्थे लेट्, पा. ३-४-७), after the root "dṛś" in the sense of prayer; under the sūtra समो गम्यृच्छिभ्याम् (पा. सू. १-३-२९) the Vārttika अर्तिश्रुदृशिभ्यश्चेति वक्तव्यम् gives the ātmanepada for the "la" after "ṛ," "śru" and "dṛś" with the prefix "sam"; "thās" (second-person singular ātmanepada) → थासः से (पा. ३-४-८०) "se" → "dṛś + se"; लेटोऽडाटौ (पा. ३-४-९४) the augment; "sip" variably in "leṭ" (सिब्बहुलं लेटि, पा. ३-१-३४); the guṇa of the light penultimate would arise by पुगन्तलघूपधस्य च (पा. ७-३-८६) but is set aside by the "saṃjñā-pūrvaka" principle (संज्ञापूर्वको विधिरनित्यः, परिभा. ९-३-१, as printed); व्रश्चभ्रस्जसृजमृजयजराजभ्राजच्छशां षः (पा. ८-२-३६) — "ṣ" for the final of "vraśc," "bhrasj," "sṛj," "mṛj," "yaj," "rāj," "bhrāj," "ch" and "śā" — whether before a "jhal" or at the end of a pada, the final of these seven roots and of words ending in "ch" and "ś" becomes "ṣ": so the "ś" of "dṛś" before the "jhal" "s"; "dṛṣ + s + ase" — then षढोः कः सि … (the sūtra and its number on p. 240) (continues on the next page)

Pages 240–242 — Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā for Rik 6.7 (Kannada) — characterized; Sūkta 6, Eighth Mantra: Saṃhitā

(Page headers: p. 240 "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā · Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 2, Sūkta 6"; p. 241 "Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 12"; p. 242 "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā." These three pages are pure Pāṇinian derivation in Kannada prose for "dṛkṣase," "saṃjagmānaḥ," "abibhyuṣā," "mandū" and

"samānavarcasā," together with a note on the saṃhitā-sandhi of "saṃjagmāno abibhyuṣā." They do not bear on the sense of Rik 6.7. Re-read from the better scan; characterized in outline*, with the printed sūtra numbers.)*

p. 240. (Continuing "dṛkṣase":) …षढोः कः सि (पा. सू. ८-२-४१) — "ṣ" and "ḍh" become "k" before "s" — so the "ṣ" becomes "k"; "dṛk + s + ase": आदेशप्रत्यययोः (पा. सू. ८-३-५९) — after "iṇ" and the k-class, an "s" that is a substitute or part of an affix becomes "ṣ" — so the "s" after "k" becomes "ṣ." Because the sūtra that elides "śap," बहुलं छन्दसि (पा. सू. २-४-७३), says "bahula," "śap" also comes after "sip": "dṛk + ṣ + a + ase." Even with "śap," the "paśya" substitute of पाघ्राध्मास्थाम्नादाण्दृश्यर्तिसर्तिशदसदां पिबजिघ्रधमतिष्ठमनयच्छपश्यर्च्छधौशीयसीदाः (पा. सू. ७-३-७८), which comes before a "ś"-marked affix, does not arise, because "sip" intervenes and the "ś"-affix does not immediately follow. "Śap," "p"-marked, is unaccented by "anudāttau supitau"; the following "ase" is unaccented by तास्यनुदात्तेत्… (पा. सू. ६-१-१८६); in "dṛś" the root accent stays; the two short "a"s become one by अतो गुणे (पा. सू. ६-१-९७): "dṛkṣase." By हि च (पा. सू. ८-१-३४) a verb joined with "hi" is not made unaccented, so "dṛkṣase" after "hi" escapes the nighāta of तिङ्ङतिङः (पा. सू. ८-१-२८). "Saṃjagmānaḥ" — "gamḷ gatau" with the prefix "sam": by छन्दसि लुङ्लङ्लिटः (पा. सू. ३-४-६) — in the Veda these affixes come in all three times, by the relation of the verbal senses — "liṭ" in the present sense; समो गम्यृच्छिभ्याम् (पा. सू. १-३-२९) prescribes the ātmanepada after the intransitive "gam" and "ṛ" preceded by "sam," so by लिटः कानज्वा (पा. सू. ३-२-१०६) "kānac," which counts as ātmanepada; लिटि धातोरनभ्यासस्य (पा. सू. ६-१-८) doubling; हलादिः शेषः (पा. सू. ७-४-६०) — of the reduplicate only the first consonant remains (the print explains "śeṣa"); कुहोश्चुः (पा. सू. ७-४-६२) "g" → "j"; गमहनजनखनघसां लोपः क्ङित्यनङि (पा. सू. ६-४-९८) the penultimate of "gam" is lost before a "kit/ṅit" affix beginning with a vowel, other than "aṅ": "ja + gm + āna" = "jagmāna"; with "sam," "saṃjagmāna"; "kānac," "c"-marked, is end-acute by "citaḥ." By कुगतिप्रादयः (पा. सू. २-२-१८) the compound with "sam," and by गतिकारकोपपदात्कृत् (पा. सू. ६-२-१३९) the kṛt-final second member keeps its accent.

p. 241 — "abibhyuṣā." "Ñibhī bhaye": "liṭ" by छन्दसि लुङ्लङ्लिटः (पा. सू. ३-४-६); since शेषात्कर्तरि परस्मैपदम् (पा. सू. १-३-७८) prescribes the parasmaipada for a root lacking the ātmanepada conditions, क्वसुश्च (पा. सू. ३-२-१०७) gives "kvasu" for "liṭ"; the affix is "kit," so no guṇa by "sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ"; लिटि धातोरनभ्यासस्य (पा. सू. ६-१-८) doubling; ह्रस्वः (पा. सू. ७-४-५९) shortening of the reduplicate; अभ्यासे चर्च (पा. सू. ८-४-५४) "jaś": "bi + bhī + vas." कृसृभृवृस्तुद्रुस्रुश्रुवो लिटि (पा. सू. ७-२-१३) — whatever prohibition of "iṭ" exists, whether conditioned by the root or by the affix, applies to "liṭ" only after these eight roots "kṛ, sṛ" etc.; this is the "kryādi-niyama"; by it "bhī," not among them, would take "iṭ" before "vas"; but वस्वेकाजाद्घसाम् (पा. सू. ७-२-६७) restricts "iṭ" before "vasu" to roots that are monosyllabic after doubling, roots ending in "ā," and "ghas," so "bibhī" takes no "iṭ." With "nañ" compounded and the instrumental singular: "abibhīvas + ā"; being "bha," वसोः संप्रसारणम् (पा. सू. ६-४-१३१) "u" for "v"; संप्रसारणाच्च (पा. सू. ६-१-१०, as printed) the prior form: "bibhī + us + ā." Setting aside the "iyaṅ" of अचि श्नुधातुभ्रुवां य्वोरियङुवङौ (पा. सू. ६-४-७७), एरनेकाचोऽसंयोगपूर्वस्य (पा. सू. ६-४-८२) gives "y" for the "ī" of a many-voweled aṅga ending in a root whose "i/ī" is not preceded by a conjunct (the print explains why "abibhī" qualifies); by अलोऽन्त्यस्य (पा. सू. १-१-५२ [?], the last digits unclear) it replaces the final "ī": "abibhy + us + ā"; आदेशप्रत्यययोः (पा. सू. ८-३-५९ [?], the print is blurred here) “ṣ”: “abibhyuṣā.” The print adds that शासिवसिघसीनां च (पा. सू. ८-३-६०) is a rule for what “ādeśapratyayayoḥ” does not reach — the “s” of “śās” and the rest is neither a substitute nor part of an affix — so that it is this sūtra that applies to “vas”…

p. 242 — “abibhyuṣā” (concluded); “mandū,” “samānavarcasā.” Only “vasi” (the root) is taken there, not the affix “vasu”: by इक्श्तिपौ धातुनिर्देशे (पा. सू. ३-३-१०८-२०, a vārttika) the “i” in “vasi” marks it as the root. Mādhavācārya too, deriving “tasthuṣaḥ” in the first mantra of this sūkta, obtained the “ṣ” of the affix “vasu” by “ādeśapratyayayoḥ”; so here too it is right to give the “ṣ” by “ādeśapratyayayoḥ.” By तत्पुरुषे तुल्यार्थ… (पा. सू. “६-२-२-” as printed) the indeclinable first member keeps its accent. In the saṃhitā, “saṃjagmāno + abibhyuṣā”: एङः पदान्तादति (पा. सू. ६-१-१०९) would make the “e/o” at a word-end and the following short “a” a single prior form, but प्रकृत्यान्तःपादमव्यपरे (पा. सू. ६-१-११५) keeps the natural form of such “e/o” inside a pāda before a short “a” not followed by “v” or “y.” “Mandū” — “madi stuti-moda-mada-svapna-kānti-gatiṣu”: the root is “i”-marked, so इदितो नुम् धातोः (पा. सू. ७-१-५८) “num”; खरुशङ्कुपीयुनीलङ्गुलिगु (उ. सू. १-३६) forms five words with the affix “ku” by nipātana; since the sūtra’s words are given without case-endings, “ku” comes after other roots too, as after “han,” and so after “mad”; or by मृगय्वादयश्च (उ. सू. १-३७ [?], the last digit unclear), the “mṛgayu”-list being an open class (as with “kaṇḍuḥ,” “pīluḥ”), “ku” after “mad”; end-acute by the affix accent. In the dual, “mandu + au”: प्रथमयोः पूर्वसवर्णः gives the long vowel; on the instrumental-singular view, सुपां सुलुक्… (पा. सू. ७-१-३९) gives the long vowel. “Samānavarcasā” — dual “samānaṃ varco yayos tau,” or instrumental singular “samānaṃ varco yasya saḥ” — a bahuvrīhi; in the dual “ā” by “supāṃ suluk…”; “samāna” is end-acute by the stem accent, which stays in the bahuvrīhi by बहुव्रीहौ प्रकृत्या पूर्वपदम् (पा. सू. ६-२-१). ॥७॥

---

Sūkta 6, The Eighth Mantra

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

अनवद्यैरभिद्युभिर्मखः सहस्वदर्चति । गणैरिन्द्रस्य काम्यैः ॥८॥

anavadyáir abhídyubhir makháḥ sáhasvad arcati | gaṇáir índrasya kāmyaiḥ ||8||

Page 243 — Rik 6.8: Pada, Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya, grammar (characterized), Pada-meanings

(Page header: “Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 1, Varga 12 · Ṛgveda-saṃhitā.” Sanskrit printed in Kannada script; re-read from the better scan.)

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

अनवद्यैः । अभिद्युऽभिः । मखः । सहस्वत् । अर्चति । गणैः । इन्द्रस्य । काम्यैः ॥८॥

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

मखः प्रवर्तमानोऽयं यज्ञोऽनवद्यैर्दोषरहितैरभिद्युभिर्द्युलोकमभिगतैः काम्यैः फलप्रदत्वेन कामयितव्यैर्गणैर्मरुत्समूहैः सहितमिन्द्रस्येन्द्रं सहस्वद्बलोपेतं यथा भवति तथार्चति । पूजयति । अयं यज्ञो मरुत इन्द्रं चातिशयेन प्रीणयतीत्यर्थः । यज्ञ इत्यादिषु पंचदशसु यज्ञनामसु मखो विष्णुरिति पठितम् । चतुश्चत्वारिंशत्सु अर्चतिकर्मसु अर्चति गायतीति पठितम् ॥ makhaḥ pravartamāno 'yaṃ yajño 'navadyair doṣa-rahitair abhidyubhir dyuloka-m abhigataiḥ kāmyaiḥ phala-pradatvena kāmayitavyair gaṇair marut-samūhaiḥ sahitam indrasyendraṃ sahasvad-balopetaṃ yathā bhavati tathārcati | pūjayati | ayaṃ yajño maruta indraṃ cātiśayena prīṇayatīty arthaḥ | yajña ity ādiṣu pañcadaśasu yajña-nāmasu makho viṣṇur iti paṭhitam | catuścatvāriṃśatsu arcati-karmasu arcati gāyatīti paṭhitam || (Reading notes: the printed "dyulokam abhigataiḥ" is run together and I divide it as shown; the Kannada Pada-meaning, given below, confirms the sense "joined with the Marut-groups who have gone to the heavenly world"; "indrasyendram" is a printed oddity (the genitive "indrasya" followed by the accusative "indram") given as printed.)

Translation: "'Makhaḥ' — this sacrifice, now going on, 'arcati' — honours, worships — Indra in such a manner that he becomes full of overpowering strength ('sahasvat'), together with the Marut-groups ('gaṇaiḥ'), who are faultless ('anavadyaiḥ'), who have gone to the heavenly world ('abhidyubhiḥ'), who are desirable ('kāmyaiḥ') because they bestow fruit. The sense: this sacrifice gratifies both the Maruts and Indra exceedingly. Among the fifteen names of sacrifice beginning with 'yajña,' 'makhaḥ' and 'viṣṇuḥ' are read; among the forty-four verbs of honouring, 'arcati' and 'gāyati' are read."

Grammar of the Bhāṣya (characterized, references as printed): "Anavadyaiḥ" — "na vidyate 'vadyaṃ yeṣāṃ te 'navadyāḥ" — the end-acute of the second member by "nañsubhyām." "Abhidyubhiḥ" — "abhigatā dyaur yais te 'bhidyavaḥ, tair abhidyubhiḥ"; "abhi" is end-acute by the stem accent, which alone remains by the bahuvrīhi first-member rule. "Makhaḥ" — the stem accent. "Sahasvat" — "saho balam asminn arcanakarmaṇy astīti sahasvat"; तसौ मत्वर्थे (पा. १-४-१९) — the "bha" designation sets aside "pada," so the "s" does not become "ru"; मादुपधायाश्च मतोर्वोऽयवादिभ्यः (पा. ८-२-९) "v" for the "m" of "matup"; "sahas" is first-syllable acute ("nabviṣayasyānisantasya"), and since "matup" is "p"-marked that accent alone remains. "Kāmyaiḥ" — कर्मेर्णिङ् (पा. ३-१-३०); अत उपधायाः (पा. ७-२-११६) vṛddhi; the "mit" status that "kam" would have as an "am"-ending root ("janī jṝṣ knasu rañjo 'mantāś ca," धा. १९, … [?], the numbers unclear) is withdrawn by the prohibition "na kamyamicamām" (धा. १९-६९ [?]), so मितां ह्रस्वः (पा. ६-४-९२) does not shorten the penultimate; ण्यन्तादचो यत् (as printed; पा. ३-१-९७ [?], the last digit unclear) "yat"; णेर्लोपः (as printed; पा. ६-४-५१); "titsvaritam" (पा. ६-१-१८५) would apply, but यतोऽनावः (पा. ६-१-२१३) makes it first-syllable acute. ॥८॥

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

मखः (makhaḥ) — (this sacrifice that we are performing) the sacrifice | अनवद्यैः (anavadyaiḥ) — free of faults | अभिद्युभिः (abhidyubhiḥ) — those who bring about heaven (the Maruts, leading to the heavenly world) | काम्यैः (kāmyaiḥ) — desired by those who seek fruit | गणैः (gaṇaiḥ) — with the Marut-troops | (सहितनाद) (sahitanāda) — accompanied | इन्द्रस्य

(indrasya) — Indra | सहस्वत् (sahasvat) — so as to make him powerful | अर्चति (arcati) — let it worship.

Pages 244–245 — Rik 6.8: Bhāvārtha, English, Special Topics, end of grammar

(Page headers: p. 244 "Maṇ. 1, A. 2, Sū. 6"; p. 245 "A. 1, A. 1, Va. 12." Re-read from the better scan. The Pada-meanings are under "Page 243"; the Kannada Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā of pp. 244–245 is characterized at the end of this section.)

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

The Marut-troops are free of fault and have become able to go to the heavenly world. People who seek the fruit of their wishes desire them. May this sacrifice that we are performing for Indra, accompanied by such Marut-troops, gratify him with worship and the like, and make him strong.

English Translation (as printed in the source)

> This sacrifice is performed in adoration of Indra so as to make him powerful, along with the irreproachable, heavenward-tending and amiable bands (of the Maruts).

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu — Special Topics ॥ (Kannada, translated)

The sense of this Ṛk is somewhat strained (kliṣṭa). Its meaning can be stated thus: "May Indra, who is accompanied by the Marut-troops, be well pleased with me by means of this sacrifice that we are performing, and thereby become strong." Of the qualifying words used of the Maruts — "anavadyaiḥ," "abhidyubhiḥ," "kāmyaiḥ" — the meanings are plain.

- मखः (makhaḥ) — "Among the fifteen sacrifice-names beginning with 'yajña,' the words 'makhaḥ' and 'viṣṇuḥ' are read" (Ni. 3-19).
- अर्चति (arcati) — "Among the forty-four 'arcati-karma' names beginning with 'arcati, gāyati,' the word 'arcati' is read" (Ni. 3-19).

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (pp. 244–245, Kannada; characterized) "Anavadyaiḥ" — "na vidyate avadyaṃ yeṣāṃ te" (those without fault): नञ्सुभ्याम् (पा. सू. ६-२-१७२) makes the second member end-acute. "Abhidyavaḥ" — "abhigatā dyauḥ yais te," "tair abhidyubhiḥ" — those who have set out towards heaven; "abhi" end-acute by the stem accent, kept in the bahuvrīhi. "Makhaḥ" — end-acute by the stem accent. "Sahasvat" — "sahaḥ balam asminn arcanakarmaṇy asti" (in this act of worship there is strength): "matup" by तदस्यास्त्यस्मिन्निति मतुप् (पा. सू. ५-२-९४); तसौ मत्वर्थे (पा. सू. १-४-१९) — before a matvarthīya affix, stems ending in "t" and "s" are "bha," which sets aside "pada," so ससजुषो रुः (पा. सू. ८-२-६६) gives no "ru"; मादुपधायाश्च मतोर्वोऽयवादिभ्यः (पा. सू. ८-२-९) "v" for "m"; "sahas" first-syllable acute by नब्विषयस्यानिसन्तस्य (फि. सू. २६); "matup," "p"-marked, is unaccented (अनुदात्तौ सुप्पितौ, पा. सू. ३-१-४), so that accent stays. "Kāmyaiḥ" — कमेर्णिङ् (पा. सू. ३-१-३० [?], the print blurred) "ṇiṅ" in its own sense after "kamu kāntau"; अत उपधायाः (पा. सू. ७-२-११६) vṛddhi: "kāmi"; by the gaṇasūtra "janī-jṝṣ-knasu-rañjo 'mantāś ca" (bhvā. ga. sū.) — "janī prādurbhāve," "jṝṣ vayohānau," "knasu hvaraṇadīptyoḥ" (three divādi roots), "rañja rāge" (in both divādi and bhvādi), and roots ending in “am” — “kam,” “gam” etc. would be “mit,” and मितां ह्रस्वः (पा. सू. ६-४-९२) would shorten the penultimate before “ṇi”; but “na kamyamicamām” (bhvā. ga. sū.) withdraws “mit” from them, so there is no shortening. After “kāmi,” अचो यत् (पा. सू. ३-१-९७) “yat”; णेरनिटि (पा. सू. ६-४-५१) loss of “ṇi”; in the instrumental plural “kāmyaiḥ,” तित्स्वरितम् (पा. सू. ६-१-१८५) would give svarita, but यतोऽनावः (पा. सू. ६-१-२१३) sets it aside: first-syllable acute. ॥८॥

---

Sūkta 6, The Ninth Mantra

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. In the second line the svarita strokes stand over “sa” and “gi” in the print; their placement is doubtful, hence [accent ?].)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

अतः॑ परिज्म॒न्ना ग॑हि दि॒वो वा॑ रोच॒नादधि॑ । स॑मस्मिन्नृंजते॒ गिरः॑ ॥९॥ [accent ?]

átaḥ parijmannā gahi divó vā rocanādádhi | samasminnṛṃjate giraḥ ||9|| [accent ?]

Pages 246–247 — Rik 6.9: Pada, Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya, grammar (characterized), Pada-meanings, Bhāvārtha, English, start of Special Topics

(Page 246 header: “Maṇ. 1, A. 1, Sū. 6”; p. 247 header: “A. 1, A. 1, Va. 12”. Sanskrit printed in Kannada script; re-read from the better scan. The Pada is printed with accents; not reproduced (Pada unaccented).)

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

अतः । परिऽज्मन् । आ । गहि । दिवः । वा । रोचनात् । अधि । सम् । अस्मिन् । ऋञ्जते । गिरः ॥९॥

ataḥ | pari-jman | ā | gahi | divaḥ | vā | rocanāt | adhi | sam | asmin | ṛñjate | giraḥ || 9||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे परिज्मन् परितो व्यापिन्मरुद्गण अतोऽस्मान्मरुद्गणस्थानादन्तरिक्षादा गहि । अस्मिन्कर्मण्यागच्छ । दिवो वा । द्युलोकाद्वा समागच्छ । रोचनादधि । दीप्यमानादादित्यमण्डलाद्वा समागच्छ । अस्मदीयकर्मकाले यत्र यत्र तिष्ठसि ततः सर्वस्मादागच्छेत्यर्थः । किमर्थमागमनमिति तदुच्यते । अस्मिन्कर्मणि वर्तमाने ऋत्विग्गिरः स्तुतीः सम्ऋञ्जते । सम्यक् प्रसाधयति । ऋञ्जतिः प्रसाधनकर्मा । नि. ६-२१ । इति यास्कः । एताः स्तुतीः श्रोतुमागच्छेत्यर्थः । यद्यप्यृत्विजा मन्त्रस्य प्रयुज्यमानत्वादृञ्जतिधातोरुत्तमपुरुषेण भवितव्यं तथापि परोक्षकृतत्वेन निर्देशात्प्रथमपुरुषप्रयोगः । परोक्षकृतलक्षणं च यास्क आह । ताः त्रिविधा ऋचः परोक्षकृताः प्रत्यक्षकृता आध्यात्मिक्यश्च । तत्र परोक्षकृताः सर्वाभिर्नामविभक्तिभिर्युज्यन्ते प्रथमपुरुषैश्चाख्यातस्य । नि. ७-१ [?] । इति ॥ he parijman parito vyāpin marud-gaṇa ato ’smān marud-gaṇa-sthānād antarikṣād ā gahi | asmin karmaṇy āgaccha | divo vā | dyulokād vā samāgaccha | rocanād adhi | dīpyamānād āditya-maṇḍalād vā samāgaccha | asmadīya-karma-kāle yatra yatra tiṣṭhasi tataḥ sarvasmād āgacchety arthaḥ | kim-artham āgamanam iti tad ucyate |

asmin karmaṇi vartamāne ṛtvig-giraḥ stutīḥ sam-ṛñjate | samyak prasādhayati | ṛñjatiḥ prasādhana-karmā | ni. 6-21 | iti yāskaḥ | etāḥ stutīḥ śrotum āgacchety arthaḥ | yady apy ṛtvijā mantrasya prayujyamānatvād ṛñjati-dhātor uttama-puruṣeṇa bhavitavyaṃ tathāpi parokṣa-kṛtatvena nirdeśāt prathama-puruṣa-prayogaḥ | parokṣa-kṛta-lakṣaṇaṃ ca yāska āha | tās tri-vidhā ṛcaḥ parokṣa-kṛtāḥ pratyakṣa-kṛtā ādhyātmikyaś ca | tatra parokṣa-kṛtāḥ sarvābhir nāma-vibhaktibhir yujyante prathama-puruṣaiś cākhyātasya | ni. 7-1 [?] | iti ||

Translation: "O 'parijman' — O Marut-host, pervading on all sides! 'Ataḥ' — from this place of yours, the Marut-host, or from the atmosphere — 'ā gahi' — come to this rite. 'Divo vā' — or come from the world of heaven. 'Rocanād adhi' — or come from the shining disc of the sun. The sense is: at the time of our rite, wherever you are standing, from there come. For what purpose the coming? That is said: while this rite is going on, the priests' voices, the praises, 'sam ṛñjate' — adorn well, that is, accomplish well. 'Ṛñjati' is a verb of accomplishing (Yāska, Nirukta 6-21). The sense: come to hear these praises. Although, since the mantra is being used by the priest, the root 'ṛñj' ought to be in the first person, nevertheless, because the statement is made in the indirect (parokṣa-kṛta) manner, the third person is used. And Yāska gives the mark of the 'parokṣa-kṛta': 'Those verses are of three kinds: indirect, direct, and personal-spiritual. Of these, the indirect are joined with all the case-endings of nouns, and with the third person of the verb' (Nirukta 7-1 [?])."

(The Nirukta reference for the parokṣa-kṛta definition prints a first digit that looks like 7 but may be 2, hence [?].)

Grammar of the Bhāṣya (characterized; references as printed): "Ataḥ" — पञ्चम्यास्तसिल् (पा. ५-३-७); एतदोऽश् (पा. ५-३-५), "ś"-marked, so it replaces the whole stem (पा. १-१-५५); "tasil" being "l"-marked, the syllable before the affix is acute ("liti"). "Parijman" — "aja gati-kṣepaṇayoḥ" with "manin" by अन्येभ्योऽपि दृश्यन्ते (पा. ३-२-७५); the loss of "a" is Vedic; vocative nighāta. "Gahi" — गमेर्बहुलं छन्दसि (as printed; पा. २-४-७३) "luk" of "śap"; "hi" being "ṅit" (पा. ३-४-८७), the "m" is lost by "anudāttopadeśa…" (पा. ६-४-३७); अतो हेः (पा. ६-४-१०५) does not elide "hi," because the loss of "m" is treated as not effected for it by असिद्धवदत्राभात् (पा. ६-४-२२), so the stem does not end in "a." "Divaḥ" — the case-ending acute by "ūḍidam…". "Vā" — चादयोऽनुदात्ताः (फि. ४-१६), unaccented. "Rocanāt" — "ruca dīptau," "yuc" by अनुदात्तेतश्च हलादेः (पा. ३-२-१४९); युवोरनाकौ (पा. ७-१-१) "ana"; "c"-marked, end-acute. "Adhi" — अधिपरी अनर्थकौ (पा. १-४-९३), a karmapravacanīya, together with the nipāta designation, so first-syllable acute by "nipātā ādyudāttāḥ." "Asmin" — as in "parijman" etc., "idam" is replaced, in anvādeśa, by an unaccented "aś" in the third and following cases (पा. २-४-३२), "ś"-marked so replacing the whole stem; the case-ending is unaccented by अनुदात्तौ सुप्पितौ (पा. ३-१-४), so the whole word is unaccented. "Ṛñjate" — "ṛji bhṛjī bharjane," with "sam" in the sense of "accomplishing"; nighāta. "Giraḥ" — the stem accent.

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated, p. 247)

हे परिज्मन् (he parijman) — O Maruts, pervading on every side! अतः (ataḥ) — from your place, the atmosphere | दिवो वा (divo vā) — or from the world of heaven | रोचनात् (rocanāt) — from the shining sun-disc | अस्मिन् (asmin) — to this sacrifice that we are performing, that is, to the sacrificial place | अधि आ गहि (adhi ā gahi) — come | (mattu ṛtvijanu) — (and the priest) | गिरः (giraḥ) — praises | सम्ऋञ्जते (sam-ṛñjate) — recites for your adornment.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

O Marut-deities, you are all-pervading. At this time of our sacrifice, if you are in the atmosphere, come from there; if in the heavenly world, come from there; or if you are in the sphere of the sun, come from there. Wherever you are now, come from there. Now the priest — that is, the Ṛṣi Madhucchandas, the seer of this mantra — praises you with praises, for your coming.

English Translation (as printed)

> O pervader-on-all-sides, come hither from the regions (of the Maruts) or from the sky or from the radiant solar sphere. For in the rite (the priest) fully recites your praises.

॥ Special Topics ॥ (Kannada, translated; continues onto the next page)

- परिज्मन् (parijman) — "going round on all sides"; "moving everywhere." That is, the wind blows always in all places — on earth, in the atmosphere, in heaven, and so on.
- दिवो वा रोचनादधि (divo vā rocanād adhi) — The commentator says "either from heaven or from the sphere of the sun." Or the word "rocanāt" may be taken to mean "shining," and as a qualifier of "divaḥ" it may be understood as desired. Here, since "adhi" is present, the commentator has explained "rocanāt" as "from the shining sun-sphere." Skandasvāmin says that "adhi" should be construed with the verb "ā gahi."
- ऋञ्जते (ṛñjate) — "Ṛñjatiḥ prasādhanakarmā" (Nirukta 6-21), says Yāska in the Nirukta. Here the priest who praises, the seer of this mantra, Madhucchandas himself, [text continues on p. 248].

Pages 248–249 — Rik 6.9: end of Special Topics; Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (characterized)

(Page 248 header: "Maṇ. 1, A. 2, Sū. 6"; p. 249 header: "A. 1, A. 1, Va. 12"; p. 249 also carries a small "32" at the foot, a printer's signature mark. Re-read from the better scan; every printed sūtra number is given.)

॥ Special Topics (continued from p. 247) ॥ (Kannada, translated)

…[the priest] does not use the first-person verb but uses a third-person verb-form. The reason: since the deities being praised, the Maruts, are not present before him, he praises them indirectly (and not directly). Such verses — in which the deities are not addressed, but only their praise, or merely some matter, is stated, with the verbs in the third person — belong to the group of verses called "parokṣa-kṛta" (indirect). Among the Ṛks there are three kinds: parokṣa-kṛta, pratyakṣa-kṛta, and ādhyātmika. This matter, stated by Yāska, we have explained earlier (page 205).

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (pp. 248–249, Kannada; characterized, sūtras kept, numbers as printed)

1. “Ataḥ.” पञ्चम्यास्तसिल् (printed “५-७-३″ [?], the usual number being 5-3-7): after “kim,” the pronouns and “bahu” in the fifth case, other than “dvi” etc., “tasil” comes optionally; so “etasmāt” gives “etad + tasil”; the case-ending is elided by सुपो धातुप्रातिपदिकयोः (पा. सू. २-४-७१), the taddhita-final being a prātipadika. एतदोऽन् (पा. सू. ५-३-५): this sūtra is split into “etadaḥ” and “an”: by the first, “eta” and “ita” replace “etad” before prāgdiśīya affixes beginning with “r” or “th”; by the second, “an” replaces “etad” before prāgdiśīya affixes — so here “an.” Since the “nitsvara” concerns affixes, the “n” of “an” needs no “it” designation and gets none; “an,” being of more than one letter, replaces the whole of “etad” by अनेकाल्शित्सर्वस्य (पा. सू. १-१-५५): “an + tasil.” स्वादिष्वसर्वनामस्थाने (पा. सू. १-४-१७) gives “an” the pada designation before “tasil”; नलोपः प्रातिपदिकान्तस्य (पा. सू. ८-२-७) drops the “n”; with the “it”-letters of the affix dropped and “ru” and visarga, “ataḥ.” The Kāśikā reads the sūtra as “etado ’ś,” whose “aś,” being “ś”-marked, replaces the whole; the sense is as before; following this reading Mādhavācārya gave the substitute “aś.” “Tasil” being “l”-marked, लिति (पा. सू. ६-१-१९३) makes the syllable before the affix acute.

2. “Parijman.” “Aja gati-kṣepaṇayoḥ”: by अन्येभ्योऽपि दृश्यन्ते (पा. सू. ३-२-७५) the affixes “manin, kvanip, vanip, vic” come after roots, so “manin” after “aj”; the “a” of “aj” is lost as a Vedic licence. In “parijmānaṃ sukhaṃ ratham” (ऋ. सं. १-२०-३) “parijman” is derived differently. Unaccented by आमन्त्रितस्य च (पा. सू. ८-१-१९).

3. “Gahi.” “Gamḷ gatau,” “loṭ,” second singular “sip”: सेर्ह्यपिच्च (पा. सू. ३-४-८७) “hi” for “si,” and it is “apit”: “gam + hi.” Being “apit,” the sārvadhātuka is “ṅit” by सार्वधातुकमपित् (पा. सू. १-२-४), so by अनुदात्तोपदेशवनतितनोत्यादीनामनुनासिकलोपो झलि क्ङिति (पा. सू. “६-३-३७″ as printed) the final nasal of the anudāttopadeśa roots, of “tan” etc. and of “van” is lost before a “jhal”-initial “kit/ṅit” affix: the “m” of “gam” goes. This loss is “ābhīya” — from असिद्धवदत्राभात् (पा. सू. ६-४-२२) to the end of the pāda — and, for another ābhīya rule with the same conditioning, it counts as not effected; so “ga” is treated as ending in “m,” not in “a,” and अतो हेः (पा. सू. ६-४-१०५) — “luk” of “hi” after a short “a” — does not apply.

4. “Divaḥ.” ऊङिदंपदाद्यप्पुम्रैद्युभ्यः (पा. सू. ६-१-१७१): the case-ending is acute.

5. “Vā.” In the cādi list, so unaccented by चादयोऽनुदात्ताः (फि. सू. ८४, as printed).

6. “Rocanāt.” अनुदात्तेतश्च हलादेः (पा. सू. ३-२-१४९): after an intransitive, consonant-initial root marked with an anudātta “it,” “yuc”: “ruc + yu”; युवोरनाकौ (पा. सू. ७-१-१) “ana” for “yu”: “ruc + ana”; guṇa of the light penultimate: “rocana”; ablative singular “rocanāt.” The affix is “c”-marked, so चितः (पा. सू. ६-१-१६३), with the vārttika चितः सप्रकृतेर्बह्वकजर्थम् (पा. सू. ६-१-१६३ वा. १): the end of the whole stem-plus-affix is acute, or else the forms with “bahuc” and “akac” would not come out right. विभाषा सुपो बहुच् पुरस्तात् (पा. सू. ५-३-६८) puts “bahuc” before the stem: “īṣad ūnaḥ paṭuḥ — bahupaṭuḥ”; अव्ययसर्वनाम्नामकच्प्राक्टेः (पा. सू. ५-३-७१) … (continues on p. 250)

Pages 250–251 — Rik 6.9: end of grammar; Rik 6.10: Saṃhitā, Pada, Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya, grammar begins

(Page 250 header: "Maṇ. 1, A. 1, Sū. 6"; p. 251 header: "A. 1, A. 1, Va. 12". Rik 6.10 is the last Rik of Sūkta 6.)

Grammar of Rik 6.9, continued (characterized) (Kannada, translated; the page-top continues the "Rocanāt" discussion of p. 249)

- "Rocanāt," end of discussion. The affix "akac" coming by अव्ययसर्वनाम्नामकच् प्राक् टेः (avyaya-sarvanāmnām akac prāk ṭeḥ, पा. ५-३-७१, "'akac' comes before the last 'ṭi' syllable of an indeclinable or a pronoun") comes "behind the 'ṭi'"; the example given is "anyake." The print says that if the Vārttika on "citaḥ" were not taken in this sense, the final letter would not be acute in these two examples; in "rocana," the end of the whole stem-and-affix combination is acute.
- "Adhi" (अधि, adhi). अधिपरी अनर्थकौ (adhi-parī anarthakau, "'adhi' and 'pari,' when without a distinct sense, are 'karma-pravacanīya,'" पा. १-४-९३): the print says that "adhi" and "pari," not conveying a particular meaning, receive the name "karma-pravacanīya" and also the name "nipāta"; since "adhi" holds the name "nipāta" along with "karma-pravacanīya," it is first-syllable acute by निपाता आद्युदात्ताः (nipātā ādyudāttāḥ, फि. सू. ८०).
- "Asmin" (अस्मिन्, asmin). When "idam" is followed by the seventh-case ending, by त्यदादीनामः (tyadādīnām aḥ, "of 'tyad' etc. the last letter is replaced by 'a'," पा. ७-२-१०२) the last letter takes "a," and then अतो गुणे (ato guṇe, पा. ६-१-९७) gives the later form ("ida + ṅi"). The print then argues that since "parijman" has pointed to the Marut-troop and "asmin" refers back to it ("asmin" here refers to the sacrifice, which is named to be the very place of coming), this is a case of "anvādeśa" — a reference back — by the definition quoted in the print ("kiñcit kāryaṃ vidhātum upāttasya kāryāntaraṃ vidhātuṃ punar upādānam anvādeśaḥ," "anvādeśa is the repeated mention of what has been mentioned for one purpose, in order to enjoin another operation on it"). Hence इदमोऽन्वादेशेऽशनुदात्तस्तृतीयादौ (idamo 'nvādeśe 'śanudāttas tṛtīyādau, "in an anvādeśa, 'idam' is replaced by an accent-less 'aś' before the third-case and following endings," पा. २-४-३२): "aś," being "śit," replaces the whole of "idam." The seventh-case ending "ṅi" is replaced by "smin" by जसिङसोः स्मात्स्मिनौ [the print reads "ङसिङ्योः स्मात्स्मिनौ," ṅasi-ṅyoḥ smāt-sminau, पा. ७-१-१५], "'smāt' and 'smin' replace the fifth- and seventh-case endings after an a-ending pronoun"; so "asmin." The ending is accent-less by अनुदात्तौ सुप्पितौ (anudāttau sup-pitau, पा. ३-१-४). So "asmin" is wholly accent-less.
- "Ṛñjate" (ऋञ्जते, ṛñjate). "Ṛji bhṛji bharjane" (the root meaning "to fry"; also, in use, "to adorn"). The root is "idit," so "num" comes by इदितो नुम् धातोः (idito num dhātoḥ, पा. ७-१-५८). Then the anusvāra and parasavarṇa (पा. सू. ८-३-२४ and ८-४-५८) give "ṛñj-." In the present ātmanepada third-person singular, "ṛñjate." It is accent-less by तिङ्ङतिङः (tiṅ atiṅaḥ, पा. ८-१-२८). The print then quotes the verse on the force of the preverb: "उपसर्गे च धात्वर्थो बलादन्यत्र नीयते । प्रहाराहारसंहारविहारपरिहारवत् ॥" (as printed, "upasarge ca”; upasarge ca dhātv-artho balād anyatra nīyate | prahārāhāra-saṃhāra-vihāra-parihāravat ||, “With a preverb the meaning of a root is forcibly led elsewhere — as in ‘prahāra,’ ‘āhāra,’ ‘saṃhāra,’ ‘vihāra,’ ‘parihāra’”). The Kannada explains: the root “hṛ” means “taking,” but with “pra” it means “a blow,” with “ā” it means “food, eating,” with “saṃ” it means “killing, destruction,” with “vi” “sport, roaming,” with “pari” “abandoning” — thus various meanings appear through the force of the preverb. “In the same way, in other places too, differing meanings arise for roots through the force of the preverb: that is the sense of the verse. Here, although the root ‘ṛji’ is read in the sense of ‘frying,’ the preverb ‘sam’ is joined to it, so the root ‘ṛji’ conveys the sense of ‘adorning.’”

- “Giraḥ” (गिरः, giraḥ). The stem-accent (prātipadika-svara) comes. ॥९॥

---

Sūkta 6, The Tenth Mantra

(Final Rik of the sūkta. Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

इतो वा꣡ सा꣡तिमी꣡महे दि꣡वो वा꣡ पार्थि꣡वा꣡दधि꣡ । इन्द्र꣡ं म꣡हो वा꣡ रज꣡सः ॥१०॥

itó vā sātím īmahe divó vā pārthivād ádhi | índraṃ mahó vā rájasaḥ ||10||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

इतः । वा । सातिम् । ईमहे । दिवः । वा । पार्थिवात् । अधि । इन्द्रम् । महः । वा । रजसः ॥१०॥

itaḥ | vā | sātim | īmahe | divaḥ | vā | pārthivāt | adhi | indram | mahaḥ | vā | rajasaḥ ||10||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥ (Kannada script; re-read from the better scan.)

इन्द्रं देवं प्रति सातिं धनदानमीमहे । आधिक्येन याचामहे । कस्माल्लोकादिति तदुच्यते । इतोऽस्मादभिदृश्यमानात्पार्थिवात्पृथिवीलोकाद्वा दिवो वा द्युलोकाद्वा महो महतः प्रौढाद्रजसो वा पक्ष्यादीनां रञ्जकादन्तरिक्षलोकाद्वा । अयमिन्द्रो यतः कुतश्चिदानीयास्मभ्यं धनं प्रयच्छेदित्यर्थः । सप्तदशसु याच्ञाकर्मस्वीमहे यामीति पठितम् ॥ इतः । … indraṃ devaṃ prati sātiṃ dhana-dānam īmahe | ādhikyena yācāmahe | kasmāl lokād iti tad ucyate | ito ’smād abhidṛśyamānāt pārthivāt pṛthivī-lokād vā divo vā dyulokād vā maho mahataḥ prauḍhād rajaso vā pakṣyādīnāṃ rañjakād antarikṣa-lokād vā | ayam indro yataḥ kutaścid ānīyāsmabhyaṃ dhanaṃ prayacched ity arthaḥ | saptadaśasu yācñā-karmasv īmahe yāmīti paṭhitam || itaḥ | …

Translation: “Toward Indra, the god, we ‘īmahe’ — we ask for in abundance — ‘sāti,’ the giving of wealth. From which world? That is said: ‘itaḥ’ — from this earth-world, the ‘pārthiva’ that is here seen — or ‘divo vā’ — from the heavenly world — or ‘maho vā rajasaḥ’ — from the great, expansive ‘rajas,’ that is, the atmosphere, the region that colours the birds and others [‘rañjaka’ — ‘that which gives colour’]. The sense: may this Indra, bringing it from wherever, give us wealth. Among the seventeen verbs of begging, ‘īmahe’ and ‘yāmi’ are read.”

Grammar of the Bhāṣya (begins; characterized, references as printed): "Itaḥ" — from "idam," पञ्चम्यास्तसिल्; इदम इश् (पा. ५-३-३), "ś"-marked, so replacing the whole stem. The rule "ūḍidam…" (पा. ६-१-१७१) has its scope in "ābhyām, ebhiḥ," and "liti" (पा. ६-१-१९३) in "pacanam, pācakaḥ"; both are nitya, so by विप्रतिषेधे परं कार्यम् (पा. १-४-२) the later, "liti," makes the "i" acute. Since by पश्चात्सेशः प्राग्दिशो विभक्तिः (as printed; पा. ५-३-१) "tasil" is called "vibhakti," the acute of a non-sarvanāmasthāna case-ending taught by "ūḍidam…" would arise; to the objection that, by "sakṛdgatau vipratiṣedhe yad bādhitaṃ tad bādhitam eva" (परि. ४०), "ūḍidam…" cannot apply again, the answer is no, since repeated application is admitted where the attested forms require it; the argument then turns to "yataḥ, tataḥ," where, though set aside by the "l"-accent, the acute of "tasil" by "sāv ekācaḥ…" … (continues on p. 252)

Pages 252–253 — Rik 6.10: end of Sanskrit grammar, Pada-meanings, Bhāvārtha, English, Special Topics; Kannada grammar begins

(Page 252 header: "Maṇ. 1, A. 2, Sū. 6"; p. 253 header: "A. 1, A. 1, Va. 12". P. 252 is the end of Sāyaṇa's own grammatical notes, in Kannada script; re-read from the better scan.)

Sāyaṇa's grammatical notes on Rik 6.10, continued and ended (the first lines end the argument about "itaḥ" begun on p. 251)

> …स्यादिति चेन्न । यत्र च्छब्दयोः सावर्णान्तत्वे न गोश्वन्सावर्णेति । पा. ६-१-१८२ [?] । निषेधात् । न च पुनःप्रसङ्गविज्ञानं चेत्येतत्सार्वत्रिकं लक्ष्यानुरोधेन क्वचिदेव तदाश्रयणादिति । … syād iti cen na | yatra cchabdayoḥ sāvarṇāntatve na gośvansāvavarṇeti | pā. 6-1-182 [?] | niṣedhāt | na ca punaḥprasaṅgavijñānaṃ cety etat sārvatrikaṃ lakṣyānurodhena kvacid eva tadāśrayaṇād iti |

(The upshot: the objection is answered by the prohibition "na gośvan-sāv-avarṇa…" (the last digits of its number are not clear), and repeated application is not a general rule, being resorted to only where attested forms require it.)

> सातिम् । षणु दाने । धात्वादेः षः सः । पा. ६-१-६४ । भावे क्तिन् । जनसनखनां सञ्झलोः । पा. ६-४-४२ । इति नकारस्यात्वम् । तितुत्रतथसिसुसरकसेषु च । पा. ७-२-९ । इति निषेधादिण्न भवति । नित्स्वरे प्राप्ते उदात्त इत्यस्य निवृत्त्या ऊतियूतिजूतिसातिहेतिकीर्तयश्च । पा. ३-३-९७ । इति निपातनादन्तोदात्तत्वम् । sātim | ṣaṇu dāne | dhātvādeḥ ṣaḥ saḥ | pā. 6-1-64 | bhāve ktin | jana-sana-khanāṃ sañjhaloḥ | pā. 6-4-42 | iti nakārasyātvam | titutra-tathasi-susara-kaseṣu ca | pā. 7-2-9 | iti niṣedhād iṇ na bhavati | nit-svare prāpte udātta ity asya nivṛttyā ūti-yūti-jūti-sāti-heti-kīrtayaś ca | pā. 3-3-97 | iti nipātanād antodāttatvam |

"Sātim" — from "ṣaṇu dāne"; the initial "ṣ" becomes "s" (धात्वादेः षः सः, dhātvādeḥ ṣaḥ saḥ, "the initial 'ṣ' of a root becomes 's'," पा. ६-१-६४); "ktin" in the sense of the action (भावे क्तिन्, bhāve ktin); the "n" of the root is replaced by "ā" (जनसनखनां सञ्झलोः, jana-sana-khanāṃ sañjhaloḥ, "'ā' replaces the nasal of 'jan,' 'san,' 'khan' before 'jh'-class sounds and 'san'," पा. ६-४-४२); the augment "iṭ" does not come, by the prohibition तितुत्रतथसिसुसरकसेषु च (titutra-tatha-sisu-sara-kaseṣu ca, पा. ७-२-९); the accent that would come by "n"-marking (the rule for "nit"-affixes) is set aside, and ऊतियूतिजूतिसातिहेतिकीर्तयश्च (ūti-yūti-jūti-sāti-heti-kīrtayaś ca, पा. ३-३-९७) lists "sāti" as an irregular formation ("nipātana") with the end-acute.

ईमहे । ईङ् गतौ । श्यनोऽपि बहुलं छन्दसीति लुक् । अस्य धातोर्ङित्त्वात् तास्यनुदात्तेन्ङिददुपदेशात् । पा. ६-१-१८६ । इति लसार्वधातुकस्यानुदात्तत्वे धातुस्वर एव शिष्यते । न च तिङ्ङतिङ इति निघातः । चवायोगे प्रथमा । पा. ८-१-५९ । इति निषेधात् । उत्तरवाक्ययोरपि हि वाशब्दयोगादन्यथा वाक्यापरिपूर्तेस्तिङ्विभक्तेरवश्यमध्याहारात्तदपेक्ष्यैषा प्रथमा तिङ्विभक्तिरिति । īmahe | īṅ gatau | śyano 'pi bahulaṃ chandasīti luk | asya dhātor ṅittvāt tāsy-anudātten-ṅid-ad-upadeśāt | pā. 6-1-186 | iti lasārvadhātukasyānudāttatve dhātu-svara eva śiṣyate | na ca tiṅ-ṅatiṅa iti nighātaḥ | cavā-yoge prathamā | pā. 8-1-59 | iti niṣedhāt | uttara-vākyayor api hi vā-śabda-yogād anyathā vākyāparipūrtes tiṅ-vibhakter avaśyam adhyāhārāt tad-apekṣyaiṣā prathamā tiṅ-vibhaktir iti |

"Īmahe" — "īṅ gatau"; "śyan" is also optionally elided in the Veda (बहुलं छन्दसि, bahulaṃ chandasi), so there is "luk." Since the root is "ṅ"-marked, the personal ending is accent-less by तास्यनुदात्तेन्ङिदुपदेशाल्लसार्वधातुकमनुदात्तम् (tāsy-anudātten-ṅid-ad-upadeśāl lasārvadhātukam anudāttam, पा. ६-१-१८६), only the root's own accent remains. And there is no "nighāta" (lowering of the verb) by तिङ्ङतिङः (tiṅ atiṅaḥ, पा. ८-१-२८), because of the prohibition चवायोगे प्रथमा (cavā-yoge prathamā, "the first [verb] is not lowered when joined with 'ca,' 'vā,' etc.," पा. ८-१-५९): for the two following clauses too are joined with "vā," and since otherwise the sentences would be incomplete, a verb must be supplied in them; in relation to those, this is the "first" verb.

दिवः । ऊडिदमित्यादिना विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वम् । divaḥ | ūḍidam ity ādinā vibhakter udāttatvam |

"Divaḥ" — the case-ending is acute by "ūḍidam..." etc.

पार्थिवात् । प्रथ प्रख्याने । प्रथित इति पृथिवी । प्रथेः षिवन् सम्प्रसारणं च । उ. १-१५० । इति षिवन्प्रत्ययः । षिद्गौरादिभ्यश्च । पा. ४-१-४१ । इति ङीष् । प्रत्ययस्वरेणोदात्तः । शेषनिघातेनानुदात्तादिः पृथिवीशब्दः । पृथिव्या विकार इत्यर्थे ओरञ् इत्यनुवृत्तावनुदात्तादेश्च । पा. ४-३-१४० । इत्यञ् । यस्येति च । पा. ६-४-१४८ । इतीकारलोपः । तद्धितेष्वचामादेः । पा. ७-२-११७ । इत्यादिवृद्धिः । रपरत्वम् । पा. १-१-५१ । ञ्नित्यादिर्नित्यमित्याद्युदात्तः । pārthivāt | pratha prakhyāne | prathita iti pṛthivī | prather ṣivan samprasāraṇaṃ ca | u. 1-150 | iti ṣivan-pratyayaḥ | ṣid-gaurādibhyaś ca | pā. 4-1-41 | iti ṅīṣ | pratyaya-svareṇodāttaḥ | śeṣa-nighātenānudāttādiḥ pṛthivī-śabdaḥ | pṛthivyā vikāra ity arthe oraj ity anuvṛttāv anudāttādeś ca | pā. 4-3-140 | ity añ | yasyeti ca | pā. 6-4-148 | itīkāra-lopaḥ | taddhiteṣv acām ādeḥ | pā. 7-2-117 | ity ādi-vṛddhiḥ | raparatvam | pā. 1-1-51 | ñnity ādir nityam ity ādyudāttaḥ |

"Pārthivāt" — from "prath prakhyāne" ("that which is spread out is 'pṛthivī'"); the Uṇādi "prather ṣivan samprasāraṇaṃ ca" gives the affix "ṣivan" (Uṇādi 1-150); the feminine "ṅīṣ" by षिद्गौरादिभ्यश्च (ṣid-gaurādibhyaś ca, पा. ४-१-४१); the affix gives the acute, and by the lowering of the rest the stem "pṛthivī" begins accent-less. In the sense "a modification of the earth" ("pṛthivyā vikāraḥ"), the affix "añ" comes by ओरञ् (oraj, "'añ' in the sense of 'its modification' after a stem ending in a short 'u' [here 'o']") carried forward with अनुदात्तादेश्च (anudāttādeś ca, पा. ४-३-१४०); the "ī" is dropped by यस्येति च (yasyeti ca, पा. ६-४-१४८); the first vowel takes vṛddhi by तद्धितेष्वचामादेः (taddhiteṣv acām ādeḥ, पा. ७-२-११७); with "r" following (रपरत्वम्, पा. १-१-५१); and by "ñit/ṇit" the first syllable is acute (ञ्नित्यादिर्नित्यम्, no number printed).

> अधि । निपातत्वादाद्युदात्तः । इन्द्रम् । रन्प्रत्ययान्त आद्युदात्तः । महः । महत इत्यस्याकारतकारयोर्लोपश्छान्दसः । सावेकाच इति विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वम् । रजसः । नब्विषयस्यानिसन्तस्येत्याद्युदात्तत्वम् ॥१०॥ adhi | nipātatvād ādyudāttaḥ | indram | ran-pratyayānta ādyudāttaḥ | mahaḥ | mahata ity asyākāra-takārayor lopaś chāndasaḥ | sāv ekāca iti vibhakter udāttatvam | rajasaḥ | nab-viṣayasyānisantasyety ādyudāttatvam ||10||

"Adhi" — a particle, first-syllable acute. "Indram" — ending in the affix "ran," first-syllable acute. "Mahaḥ" — from "mahat," the "a" and "t" being dropped by Vedic licence; the case-ending is acute by "sāv ekācaḥ…". "Rajasaḥ" — by नब्विषयस्यानिसन्तस्य (nab-viṣayasyānisantasya, no number printed), first-syllable acute. ॥१०॥

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated, p. 252)

(वयम् vayam — we) इन्द्रम् (indram) — Indra | इतः पार्थिवात् वा (itaḥ pārthivāt vā) — either from this earth-world that is seen before our eyes | दिवो वा (divo vā) — or from the heavenly world | महः (mahaḥ) — great | रजसो वा (rajaso vā) — or from the atmosphere that is the refuge of birds and the like | सातिम् (sātim) — for the obtaining of wealth | अधीमहे (adhīmahe, so printed; the "adhi" of the Pada text taken together with "īmahe") — we pray.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada, translated)

Now, before our eyes, whether from this earth-world, from the heavenly world, or from the atmosphere-world, we pray to Indra that he bring wealth and give it to us.

English Translation (as printed)

> We pray to Indra for riches either from this earth, heaven, or from the vast intermediate region.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu — Special Topics ॥ (Kannada, translated; p. 253)

- सातिम् (sātim) — This word, derived from the root "ṣaṇu dāne," has the sense of "gift," "giving." What is given? Wealth and prosperity, or the other things we need.
- ईमहे (īmahe) — We pray, we beg. Among the seventeen verbs meaning "to beg," beginning with "yāmi," the word "īmahe" is read.
- पार्थिवात् (pārthivāt) — "pṛthivyā vikāraḥ pārthivaḥ, tasmāt" — that which is a modification of the earth: that is, the "earth-world."
- रजसः (rajasaḥ) — The commentator says "pakṣyādīnāṃ rañjakād antarikṣa-lokāt" — "from the atmosphere-world, that which gives colour/delight to the birds and the others." That is, the one that gives joy to the birds, that is, that is their refuge and the main place for them to move about [the Kannada: saṃtoṣavannu uṃṭumāḍuva, eṃdare āśraya-bhūtavāda, mukhya saṃcāra-māḍalu avakāśavuḷḷa].

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā — Grammatical Derivation, Kannada commentary (characterized) ॥

- “Itaḥ” (इतः, itaḥ). Since “idam” is a fifth-case word, “tasil” is added by पञ्चम्यास्तसिल् (pañcamyās tasil, पा. सू. ५-३-७), and the fifth-case ending is elided (luk) after the “tasil.” Then “idam + tasil”: by इदम इश् (idama iś, “‘iś’ replaces ‘idam’ before a ‘prāg-diśīya’ affix,” पा. ५-३-३) “idam” gets the substitute “iś.” Since “iś” is “śit,” by the paribhāṣā अनेकाल् शित् सर्वस्य (anekāl śit sarvasya, पा. १-१-५५) it takes the place of the whole of “idam.” Then “i + tas” → with “ru” and visarga: “itaḥ.”
- The print then takes up the accent. ऊङिदंपदाद्यप्पुम्रैद्युभ्यः (पा. सू. ६-१-१७१) — after the substitute “ūṭh,” after “idam,” after the six “pad”-etc. substitutes taught by पद्दन्नोमास्हृन्निशसन्... (पा. सू. ६-१-६३), and after “ap, pum, rai, div” (monosyllabic and end-acute), a non-sarvanāmasthāna case-ending is acute; this sūtra has its own scope where लिति (पा. सू. ६-१-१९३) does not apply, in “ābhyām, ābhiḥ”; “liti” — the syllable before an “l”-marked affix is acute — has its own scope where “ūḍidam…” does not come, in “pacanam” (with “lyu”) and “pācakaḥ” (with “ṇvul”). Neither can be called alone “nitya”: by “kṛtākṛtaprasaṅgitvaṃ nityatvam” a rule is nitya if it applies whether or not the other has been applied; here “liti” stays applicable whether “ūḍidam” is applied or not, and “ūḍidam” whether “liti” is applied or not; so both are nitya, and neither prevails as the nitya rule. The argument continues onto the next page.

Pages 254–255 — Rik 6.10: Kannada grammar (vipratiṣedha argument; “sātim,” “īmahe”)

(Page 254 header: “Maṇ. 1, A. 2, Sū. 6”; p. 255 header: “A. 1, A. 1, Va. 12”. Characterized in outline; re-read from the better scan, with the printed numbers.)

The “itaḥ” accent conflict (continued from p. 253). Both rules reach “itaḥ.” Which applies? विप्रतिषेधे परं कार्यम् (पा. सू. १-४-२): “vipratiṣedha” is the simultaneous application, to one form at one time, of two rules each of which has its own scope elsewhere; then the later rule operates. So the later “liti” makes the “i” acute. Next, by प्राग्दिशो विभक्तिः (पा. सू. ५-३-१), the affixes taught from there up to दिक्शब्देभ्यः... (पा. सू. ५-३-२७) are called “vibhakti,” so “tasil” is a vibhakti, and by ऊङिदम्... (पा. सू. “६-१७१” as printed) the non-sarvanāmasthāna vibhakti “tasil” after “idam” would be acute. But by सकृद्गतौ विप्रतिषेधे यद्बाधितं तद्बाधितमेव (परिभाषा ४०), what has once been set aside by “vipratiṣedhe param” stays set aside — “param” being read as “param eva,” only the later rule — so “ūḍidam” does not apply again. Yet by पुनःप्रसङ्गविज्ञानात्सिद्धम् (परिभा. ३९), “vipratiṣedhe param” is so explained that a set-aside rule may apply again where it is again applicable, so that “ūḍidam” would apply again. The two paribhāṣās do not set each other aside; both operate as the attested forms require, and here “punaḥprasaṅga” decides. Then in “yataḥ, tataḥ”: सावेकाचस्तृतीयादिर्विभक्तिः (पा. सू. ६-१-१६८) — after a word monosyllabic before the locative plural “su,” a third-and-following case-ending is acute — and “liti” (पा. सू. ६-१-१९३) both arise; “liti,” the later, sets “sāv ekācaḥ” aside, but by “punaḥprasaṅga…” (परिभा. ३९) “sāv ekācaḥ” might apply again and make “tasil” acute. But “yat” and “tat,” being “a”-ending before the singular “su” (p. 255), fall under the prohibition न गोश्वन्सावव्वर्णराडङ्क्रुङ्कृद्भ्यः (no number printed) for words with “a” before “su,” so “sāv ekācaḥ” gives no acute to “tasil”; or rather, as the attested forms require, “sakṛdgatau” decides here: “punaḥprasaṅga…” is not a rule that applies everywhere, only in some places as the forms require; so the set-aside “sāv ekācaḥ” does not apply again, and “yataḥ, tataḥ” are first-syllable acute.

“Sātim” (p. 255). “Ṣaṇu dāne”: by “dhātvādeḥ ṣaḥ saḥ” the initial “ṣ” becomes “s”; when the “ṣ” goes, the “ṇ” it caused reverts to “n”: “san.” “Ktin” in the sense of the action; जनसनखनां सञ्झलोः (पा. सू. ६-४-४२) — before “san,” or a “jhal”-initial “kit/ṅit” affix, “ā” replaces the final of “jan, san, khan”: “sa + ā + ti” → “sāti.” The “iṭ” of आर्धधातुकस्येड्वलादेः (पा. सू. ७-२-३५) is barred for the ten kṛt affixes “ti, tu, tra, ta, tha, si, su, sara, ka, se” by तितुत्रतथसिसुसरकसेषु च (पा. सू. ७-२-९). “Ktin” being “n”-marked, ञ्नित्यादिर्नित्यम् (पा. सू. ६-१-१९७) would make the first syllable acute; but ऊतियूतिजूतिसातिहेतिकीर्तयश्च (पा. सू. ३-३-९७) forms these “ktin”-words by nipātana as end-acute, so “sāti” is end-acute.

“Īmahe” (p. 255). “Īṅ gatau,” “laṭ,” first plural “mahiṅ”; टित आत्मनेपदानां टेरे (पा. सू. ३-४-७९) “e” for the “i”; the “śyan” of दिवादिभ्यः श्यन् (पा. सू. ३-१-६९) is elided by बहुलं छन्दसि (पा. सू. २-४-७३): though that sūtra elides “śap,” the word “bahula” extends it to “śyan”: “īmahe.” Since “īṅ” is “ṅit,” तास्यनुदात्तेन्ङिदुपदेशात्… (पा. सू. ६-१-१८६) makes the lasārvadhātuka “mahe” unaccented, and the end-acute of the root taught by धातोः (पा. सू. ६-१-१६२) stays on “ī.” तिङ्ङतिङः (पा. सू. ८-१-२८) would make the verb unaccented after a non-verb, but चवायोगे प्रथमा (पा. सू. ८-१-५९) — with “ca” or “vā,” the first-uttered verb is not made unaccented — so it is not wholly unaccented. “Ādare…” (continues on p. 256) ### Pages 256–257 — Rik 6.10: end of grammar; close of Sūkta 6

(Page 256 header: “Maṇ. 1, A. 2, Sū. 6”; p. 257 header: “A. 1, A. 1, Va. 13”. P. 257 also carries a small “33” at the foot, evidently a printer’s signature mark. Characterized in outline; sūtras kept.)

“Īmahe” — the “cavā-yoge” difficulty (continued from p. 255; characterized). The print raises a doubt: since this mantra contains only one finite verb, how can it be “first-uttered” (prathamoccārita) and hence escape the lowering of accent? The answer given: the Rik really consists of three sentences — (1) “itaḥ pārthivāl lokād vā indraṃ prati sātim adhi īmahe” (from this earth-world, we ask Indra for gain); (2) “indraṃ prati sātim divo vā adhi īmahe” (or from heaven); (3) “rajasaḥ (antarikṣa-lokād vā) indraṃ prati sātim adhi īmahe” (or from the atmosphere). The “īmahe” of the first sentence is the first-uttered one; the “cavā-yoge prathamā” prohibition therefore applies to it (the verb, being first, is not lowered). In the second and third sentences, because of the presence of “vā,” the word “īmahe” must be supplied (adhyāhāra) in connection with them; otherwise the sentence would not give a full meaning.

“Divaḥ” (दिवः). By ऊङिदम् (ūḍidam, पा. सू. ६-१-१७१) the case-ending is acute.

“Pārthivāt” (पार्थिवात्, pārthivāt). “Prathate iti pṛthivī” — from “prath prakhyāne,” with प्रथेः षिवन् सम्प्रसारणं च (prather ṣivan samprasāraṇaṃ ca, उ. सू. १-१४९) the affix “ṣivan” comes, with “samprasāraṇa” — so “prath + ivan,” whence “pṛth + ivan” (the “r” turning to “ṛ”); the “ṣ” is “it”; by षिद्गौरादिभ्यश्च (ṣid-gaurādibhyaś ca, पा. ४-१-४१) the feminine “ṅīṣ” comes after a “ṣit” stem and the stems of the “gaura” class. By the maxim अवयवे अचरितार्थं लिङ्गं समुदायोपकारकं भवति (“a marker without use in the part serves the whole”), the “ṣ”-marking, having no use in the affix, qualifies the stem. The “ī” of “ṅīṣ” is acute by the affix-accent (आद्युदात्तश्च, पा. सू. ३-१-३, ādyudāttaś ca, "an affix is first-syllable acute"), and the others are unaccented by अनुदात्तं पदमेकवर्जम् (anudāttaṃ padam eka-varjam, पा. सू. ६-१-१५८), so "pṛthivī" is "anudāttādi" (its first syllable unaccented). To express "a modification of 'pṛthivī'" अनुदात्तादेश्च (पा. सू. ४-३-१४०), with "añ" carried over from ओरञ् (पा. सू. ४-३-१३९), gives "añ" after a genitive stem whose first syllable is unaccented, in the senses "modification" and "part"; since the result ends in a taddhita, it is a stem (कृत्तद्धितसमासाश्च, kṛt-taddhita-samāsāś ca, पा. १-२-४६), and the case-ending is elided by सुपो धातुप्रातिपदिकयोः (पा. २-४-७१); the "ī" is dropped by यस्येति च (पा. ६-४-१४८); the first vowel takes vṛddhi by तद्धितेष्वचामादेः (पा. ७-२-११७) — "ṛ" → "ār," with "r" following by उरण् रपरः (uraṇ raparaḥ, पा. १-१-५१); and by ञ्णित्यादिर्नित्यम् (पा. ६-१-१९७) the first syllable is acute. Thus "pārthiva" is first-syllable acute.

"Adhi" (अधि). First-syllable acute as a particle (निपाता आद्युदात्ताः, printed "पा. सू. ८०").

"Indram" (इन्द्रम्, indram). ऋज्रेन्द्राग्र... (ṛjrendrāgra-..., उ. सू. २-१८६) — the word ends with the affix "ran" and is first-syllable acute.

"Mahaḥ" (महः, mahaḥ). From "mahat," the "a" and "t" are dropped by Vedic licence (the printed "(अत्)" marks the dropped part). By सावेकाचस्तृतीयादिर्विभक्तिः (sāvekācas tṛtīyādir vibhaktiḥ, पा. ६-१-१६८) the case-ending is acute.

"Rajasaḥ" (रजसः, rajasaḥ). By नब्विषयस्यानिसन्तस्य (nab-viṣayasyānisantasya, फि. सू. २६) first-syllable acute. ॥१०॥

---

Close of Sūkta 6 (as printed on p. 257). The print marks the end of the sūkta with a ruled line and the statement (Kannada, translated): "Here the sixth sūkta in the first maṇḍala is complete. In the Prathamāṣṭaka, Prathamādhyāya, the twelfth varga is complete." (In the scan the printed ordinal "ಎಂಟನೆಯ" (eighth) is struck through and "12" is written by hand below it; the corrected number agrees with the page headers of this varga (Va. 12).)

(Printed p. 257 then continues with the heading "// ಓಂ // — ಏಳನೆಯ ಸೂಕ್ತವು — Seventh Sūkta" and the opening of Sāyaṇa's bhāṣya on Sūkta 7, "indram ity ādikaṃ daśarcam..."; that belongs to the next batch and is not translated here.)

---

Page 257 (lower half) — opening of Sūkta 7

॥ ॐ ॥

Sūkta 7 — "indram id gāthino bṛhat" (ಏಳನೆಯ ಸೂಕ್ತವು, "The Seventh Sūkta")

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥ (introductory note on the application of the sūkta)

> इन्द्रमित्यादिकं दशर्चं यत्सूक्तं तत्सुरूपकृत्नुमित्यादिषु चतुर्थम् । ऋषिश्छन्दोदेवता विनियोगश्च पूर्ववत् । विशेषविनियोगस्तूच्यते । महाव्रते निष्केवल्यशस्त्रे इन्द्रमिद्गाथिन इति सूक्तम् । तथा च पञ्चमारण्यके

सूत्रितम् । शिरोगायत्रमिन्द्रमिद्गाथिनः । ऐ. आ. ५-२-१ । इति । तथा चतुर्विंशेऽहनि ब्राह्मणाच्छंसिनः शस्त्रे इन्द्रमिद्गाथिन इति षळहस्तोत्रियस्तृचः । चतुर्विंशे होताजनिष्वेत्युपक्रम्य आयाहि सुषुमा हि त इन्द्रमिद्गाथिनो बृहत् । आ. ७-२ [?] । इति सूत्रितत्वात् । अतिरात्रे प्रथमे पर्यायेऽच्छावाकशस्त्रेऽयमेव तृचोऽनुरूपः । सूत्रितं च इन्द्राय मद्वने सुतमिन्द्रमिद्गाथिनो बृहत् । आ. ६-४ । इति ॥

indram ity-ādikaṃ daśarcaṃ yat sūktaṃ tat surūpakṛtnum ity-ādiṣu caturtham | ṛṣi-chando-devatā viniyogaś ca pūrvavat | viśeṣa-viniyogas tūcyate | mahāvrate niṣkevalya-śastre indram id gāthina iti sūktam | tathā ca pañcamāraṇyake sūtritam | śiro-gāyatram indram id gāthinaḥ | ai. ā. 5-2-1 | iti | tathā caturviṃśe 'hani brāhmaṇācchaṃsinaḥ śastre indram id gāthina iti ṣaḷaha-stotriyas tṛcaḥ | caturviṃśe hotājaniṣṭety upakramya āyāhi suṣumā hi ta indram id gāthino bṛhat | ā. 7-2 [?] | iti sūtritatvāt | atirātre prathame paryāye 'cchāvāka-śastre 'yam eva tṛco 'nurūpaḥ | sūtritaṃ ca indrāya madvane sutam indram id gāthino bṛhat | ā. 6-4 | iti ||

Translation: "The sūkta of ten riks beginning indram is the fourth among those beginning surūpakṛtnum [i.e., the fourth sūkta of that anuvāka]. Its ṛṣi, meter, deity and application are as before. Its special application is now stated. In the Mahāvrata rite, the sūkta indram id gāthinaḥ is used in the niṣkevalya-śastra. So it is laid down in the Fifth Āraṇyaka: 'śiro-gāyatram indram id gāthinaḥ' (Aitareya Āraṇyaka 5-2-1). Likewise, on the twenty-fourth day [of the Ṣaḷaha-related rite], in the śastra of the Brāhmaṇācchaṃsin, the ṣaḷaha-stotriya triplet is indram id gāthinaḥ — as laid down in the (Āśvalāyana) sūtra, which, beginning from 'on the twenty-fourth [day] the hotā …', continues 'āyāhi suṣumā hi ta' and 'indram id gāthino bṛhat' (Āśvalāyana, ref."7-2" [?], the first digit unclear). In the Atirātra, in the first paryāya, in the Acchāvāka's śastra, this very triplet is the anurūpa; and it is so laid down: 'indrāya madvane sutam, indram id gāthino bṛhat' (ref. "ā. 6-4")."

॥ Anuvāda (Kannada rendering of the above) ॥

This sūkta indram id gāthino bṛhat is the fourth (last) sūkta of the second anuvāka, which begins with surūpakṛtnum ūtaye. It has ten riks. Its ṛṣi, deity, meters and application are the same as in the preceding sūkta. It does, however, have a special application: in the sacrifice called Mahāvrata, the sūkta indram id gāthino is recited as the niṣkevalya-śastra mantra. This is stated in the Aitareya Āraṇyaka (the fifth āraṇyaka — "Pañcamāraṇyaka") in the words śiro-gāyatram indram id gāthinaḥ. And on the twenty-fourth day [of the rite], when the Brāhmaṇācchaṃsin — a priest of the hotṛ group — recites the triplet called ṣaḷaha-stotriya, the rik indram id gāthino is to be recited; this is stated in the Āśvalāyana sūtra (Ā. Sū. 7-2 [?]), in the words "caturviṃśe hotājaniṣṭety upakramyāyāhi suṣumā hi ta indram id gāthino bṛhat." That is: in the Āśvalāyana Śrauta-sūtra, in the section hotājaniṣṭa, the rik ā yāhi suṣumā hi te (Ṛgveda Saṃhitā 8-17-1) and the rik indram id gāthino bṛhat (Ṛgveda Saṃhitā 1-7-1) are to be recited, on the twenty-fourth day, in the triplet called ṣaḷaha-stotriya. And in the Āraṇyaka too: "indrāya madvane sutam, indram id gāthino bṛhat" (Āraṇyaka 6-4) — that is, the rik indrāya madvane sutam (Ṛgveda Saṃhitā 8-92-19) and the rik indram id gāthino bṛhat are to be recited together in the triplet mentioned above — so the sūtra directs.

Page 258 — Sūkta 7, Rik 1

(The top of this page carries the end of the Kannada anuvāda translated above; its content is given there.)

॥ Sūkta — 7 ॥ ॥ Maṇḍala — 1 ॥ Anuvāka — 2 ॥ Sūkta — 7 ॥ ॥ Aṣṭaka — 1 ॥ Adhyāya — 1 ॥ Varga — 13, 14 ॥ (re-read from the better scan; it agrees with the hand-corrected "12" of the Sūkta 6 colophon and the "Va. 13" header of p. 257.) ॥ Mantras contained in this sūkta: 1–10 ॥ ॥ Ṛṣi — Madhucchandā Vaiśvāmitra ॥ ॥ Devatā — Indra ॥ ॥ Chandaḥ — Gāyatrī ॥

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. In the first line the print has, over "gā" of "gāthinaḥ," a svarita stroke as well as the anudātta bar; only the bar is given, hence [accent ?].)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

इन्द्रमिद्गाथिनो बृहदिन्द्रमर्केभिरर्किणः । [accent ?] इन्द्रं वाणीरनूषत ॥१॥

índram íd gāthíno bṛhád índram arkébhir arkíṇaḥ | [accent ?] índraṃ vāṇīr anūṣata ||1||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

इन्द्रम् । इत् । गाथिनः । बृहत् । इन्द्रम् । अर्केभिः । अर्किणः ॥ इन्द्रम् । वाणीः । अनूषत ॥१॥

indram | it | gāthinaḥ | bṛhat | indram | arkebhiḥ | arkiṇaḥ || indram | vāṇīḥ | anūṣata ||1||

Page 259 — Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya on Rik 1

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

गाथिनो गीयमानसामयुक्ता उद्गातार इन्द्रमिदिन्द्रमेव बृहत् । त्वामिद्धि हवामहे । ऋग्वे. ६-४६-१ । इत्यस्यामृच्युत्पन्नेन बृहन्नामकेन साम्नानूषत । स्तुतवन्तः । अर्किणो ऽर्चनहेतुमन्त्रोपेता होतारो ऽर्केभिर् ऋग्रूपैर्मन्त्रैरिन्द्रमेवानूषत । ये त्ववशिष्टा अध्वर्यवस्ते वाणीर्वाग्भिर्यजूरूपाभिरिन्द्रमेवानूषत । अर्कशब्दस्य मन्त्रपरत्वं यास्केनोक्तम् । अर्को मन्त्रो भवति यदेनेनार्चन्ति । नि. ५-४ । इति । श्लोक इत्यादिषु सप्तपञ्चाशत्सु वाङ्नामसु वाशी वाणीति पठितम् ॥

gāthino gīyamāna-sāma-yuktā udgātāra indram id indram eva bṛhat | tvām id dhi havāmahe | ṛgve. 6-46-1 | ity asyām ṛcy utpannena bṛhan-nāmakena sāmnānūṣata | stutavantaḥ | arkiṇo 'rcana-hetu-mantropetā hotāro 'rkebhir ṛg-rūpair mantrair indram evānūṣata | ye tv avaśiṣṭā adhvaryavas te vāṇīr vāgbhir yajū-rūpābhir indram evānūṣata | arka-śabdasya mantra-paratvaṃ yāskenoktam | arko mantro bhavati yad anenārcanti | ni. 5-4 | iti | śloka ity-ādiṣu saptapañcāśatsu vāṅ-nāmasu vāśī vāṇīti paṭhitam ||

Translation: "The gāthinaḥ — the udgātṛ priests, who are endowed with sung Sāmans — praised Indra, and Indra alone, with the Bṛhat [Sāman] — that is, with the Sāman named Bṛhat, produced upon the rik tvām id dhi havāmahe (Ṛgveda 6-46-1) — they praised him. The arkiṇaḥ — the hotṛ priests, who are furnished with mantras that are the means of worship — praised Indra, and Indra alone, with the arkas, that is, with mantras in the form of ṛks. And the remaining ones, the adhvaryus, praised Indra alone with vāṇīs — with speech in the form of yajus-formulae. That the word arka denotes 'mantra' is stated by Yāska: 'An arka is a mantra, because with it they offer worship' (Nirukta 5-4). Among the fifty-seven words for 'speech' beginning with śloka, the words vāśī and vāṇī are listed."

Grammar of the Bhāṣya (characterized, references as printed): "Gāthinaḥ" — उषिकुषिगार्तिभ्यस्थन् (उ. २-४) "than" after "gai," "n"-marked, so first-syllable acute: "gāthā"; "gāthā eṣāṃ santi" — व्रीह्यादिभ्यश्च (पा. ५-२-११६) "ini," the "i" acute by the affix accent, which, coming later, remains. "Bṛhat" — for "bṛhatā": the instrumental ending is elided by "supāṃ suluk…"; पृषद्बृहन्महज्जगच्छतृवच्च (उ. २-८४) gives it as end-acute by nipātana. "Arkebhiḥ" — "arca pūjāyām": "arcyate ebhir iti arkā mantrāḥ"; पुंसि संज्ञायां घः प्रायेण (पा. ३-३-११८) "gha"; चजोः कु घिण्ण्यतोः (पा. ७-३-५२) "k"; end-acute by the affix accent; बहुलं छन्दसि (पा. ७-१-१०) — "ais" does not replace "bhis." "Arkiṇaḥ" — "arkāḥ stuti-sādhana-bhūtā mantrā eṣāṃ santi." "Vāṇīḥ" — वृषादीनां च (पा. ६-१-२०३) first-syllable acute; the long vowel, since दीर्घाज्जसि च (पा. ६-१-१०५) — the prohibition of the long "pūrvasavarṇa" — is optional in the Veda (वा छन्दसि, पा. ६-१-१०६); a nominative in the sense of the instrumental. "Anūṣata" — "ṇu stutau," णो नः (पा. ६-१-६५) "n"; "luṅ," ātmanepada by vyatyaya; "at" for "jha" (पा. ७-१-५); no "iṭ" with "sic" and the long "ū" are Vedic; the root being "kuṭādi" (पा. १-२-१), "sic" is "ṅit," so no guṇa (पा. १-१-५).

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

गाथिनः (gāthinaḥ) — those who sing, that is, the Sāman-singers beginning with the udgātṛ | इन्द्रम् इत् (indram it) — Indra alone | बृहत् (bṛhat) — with the Sāman-mantra called Bṛhat | अनूषत (anūṣata) — praise, that is, sing | अर्किणः (arkiṇaḥ) — the ṛtvijs, the hotṛ and others, who recite the worship-mantras (the invocatory mantras) | इन्द्रम् (indram) — Indra | अर्केभिः (arkebhiḥ) — with ṛk-mantras | (अनूषत — praise) | (the adhvaryu and the other ṛtvijs) इन्द्रम् (indram) — Indra | वाणीः (vāṇīḥ) — with the yajurveda mantras that take the form of sentences | (अनूषत — praise).

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

At the time of sacrifice, the ṛtvijs praise Indra in many ways. That is: the Sāman-singers, the udgātṛ and others, sing with the mantra called Bṛhat-sāman found in their Sāma Veda (this mantra is the rik at Ṛgveda 6-46-1); the hotṛ group praise him with the ṛks that serve as their śastra; and the adhvaryu and the other ṛtvijs praise Indra with mantras in the form of the sentences of their own Veda, the Yajurveda. In other words, the ṛtvijs praise Indra with the Vedic mantras of all three kinds — Ṛk, Yajus and Sāman.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> The chanters (of the Sama hymns) praise only Indra with (a Saman called) Brihat; the recetirs [sic] of mantras (Rics) praise Indra with the Ric-Verses; (and the remaning [sic] priest Adhvaryus) praise Indra with prose-like Sentences (of Yajus).

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

The three Vedas in one rik. Although this rik does not explicitly name the Vedas Ṛk, Yajus and Sāman, the Bhāṣyakāra takes the words बृहत् (bṛhat), अर्केभिः (arkebhiḥ) and वाणीः (vāṇīḥ) to point to the mantras of the three Vedas — Sāma, Ṛg and Yajur respectively. Western scholars do not accept this view. They hold that the Ṛgveda is older than the other Vedas, and so there is no reason for the later Vedas — Yajur and Sāma — to be indicated within it.

Though this argument cannot be dismissed outright, the Ṛgveda's own Puruṣa-sūkta (Ṛgveda Saṃhitā 10-90-9) states the words yajus and sāman explicitly. Moreover:

1. Most of the Sāma Veda's mantras are themselves Ṛgveda mantras, and even in the Ṛgveda's own period it was the custom to recite many Ṛgveda riks in sung form; so there is nothing impossible in a Sāman-mantra being indicated here.
2. It is something everyone must grant that the Yajurveda is later than the Ṛgveda and Sāma Veda. But although it did not then exist in its present, systematized form, one may confidently say that many Yajur-mantras — chiefly, the sentences used in the sacrifice — were then in special use. Many such sentences, together with the procedures and rules of sacrificing, may have been gathered together to form the Yajurveda as it now stands.
3. Further, the Ṛgveda in many places names the Yajurveda's chief priest, the Adhvaryu, explicitly.
4. And since the word वाणीः (vāṇīḥ) is used in this rik, there is ample room to suppose that it refers to Yajus-sentences that are not bound in meter.

For these reasons, the Bhāṣyakāra's explanation of the words as the Ṛk-Yajus-Sāman mantras of the three Vedas cannot be set aside.

---

"Gāthinaḥ" — gāthā eṣāṃ santīti gāthinaḥ ("those who have gāthās"). Gāthā is also a name for Sāma-Veda mantras; those who sing these gāthās — that is, the Sāman-mantras — are called gāthinaḥ.

Page 261

"Bṛhat" — the ordinary sense of bṛhat is "great." But in the Sāma Veda there is the principal Sāman-mantra, sung in sacrifices, called Bṛhat-sāman; and in the Ṛgveda it is this rik:

> त्वामिद्धि हवामहे सातौ वाजस्य कारवः । त्वां वृत्रेष्विन्द्र सत्पतिं नरस्त्वां काष्ठास्वर्वतः ॥
>
> tvām id dhi havāmahe sātā vājasya kāravaḥ | tvāṃ vṛtreṣv indra satpatiṃ naras tvāṃ kāṣṭhāsv arvataḥ ||
>
> (Ṛgveda Saṃhitā 6-46-1)

Translation (of the rik as cited here): "Indeed we call upon you, O Indra — we the singers — for the winning of strength [or: in the winning of spoil]; you, O Indra, the lord of the good, in battles with Vṛtra [or: against Vṛtras]; the men [call upon] you in the races of the horse." (Gloss mine and tentative; the source gives no translation of it here. "sātā" as printed.)

The source adds: this mantra is found in the Sāma Veda at 234; 809; in the Atharvaveda 20-98-1; in the Vājasaneyi Saṃhitā (Śukla Yajurveda) 27-37; the Taittirīya Saṃhitā (Kṛṣṇa Yajurveda) 2-4-14-3; the Maitrāyaṇīya Saṃhitā 7-2-6 [?] (the first digit unclear), and other places. This Bṛhat-sāman is one principal mantra of the Sāma Veda; the Yajurveda explains it in many places.

"Arkebhiḥ" — Yāska, in the Nirukta, gives the sense of the word arka: अर्को मन्त्रो भवति यदेनेनार्चन्ति (arko mantro bhavati yad anenārcanti) — "an arka is a mantra, because with it they worship" (Nirukta 5-4). The root arc means "to worship" (pūjāyām); because worship is done with it, the mantra is called arka.

"Arkiṇaḥ" — अर्काः स्तुतिसाधनभूता मन्त्रा येषां सन्तीत्यर्किणः (arkāḥ stuti-sādhana-bhūtā mantrā yeṣāṃ santīty arkiṇaḥ) — "those who have arkas, mantras that are the instruments of praise" — that is, those who praise with mantras (arkas) that are the means of praise.

"Vāṇīḥ" — vāṇī is listed among the fifty-seven speech-words beginning with śloka and dhārā (Ni. 2-23 [?], the numerals unclear). Here the Bhāṣyakāra explains vāṇīḥ as Yajurveda sentences. Since the Yajurveda has few mantras bound in meter, it is the custom to call its mantras "sentences" (vākya). In this rik the nominative-case word vāṇīḥ is used in the sense of the instrumental.

"Anūṣata" — the aorist (luṅ) form of the root ṇu stutau ("to praise"). Although the root takes parasmaipada, here, by a Vedic inversion (vyatyaya), it is used as if it were ātmanepada.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥

Characterized, not transcribed. This section (pp. 261–263) works through the derivation and accent of each word; sūtra numbers as printed, re-read from the better scan.

- गाथिनः (gāthinaḥ) — from the root gai ("to sing") + the than suffix by उषिकुषिगार्तिभ्यस्थन् (उ. सू. २-१६१, so printed here; the Bhāṣya gave "उ. २-४″) — after "uṣa dāhe," "kuṣa niṣkarṣe," "gai śabde," "ṛ gatau" — with "ā" for the "ai" by आदेच उपदेशेऽशिति (पा. सू. ६-१-४५), "gātha," first-syllable acute by the "n"-mark; then, "gāthā eṣāṃ santi," व्रीह्यादिभ्यश्च (पा. सू. ५-२-११६) gives "ini" or "than" in the possessive sense after the "vrīhi"-class words, here "ini"; यस्येति च (पा. सू. "६-४-" as printed, the last number missing) drops the "ā"; the "i" acute by the affix accent, the "ā" unaccented by "satiśiṣṭa"; the unaccented "a" of "jas" becomes svarita by उदात्तादनुदात्तस्य स्वरितः (पा. सू. ८-४-६६).
- बृहत् (bṛhat) — for "bṛhatā": सुपां सुलुक्... (पा. सू. ७-१-३९) elides the instrumental ending; वर्तमाने पृषद्बृहन्महज्जगच्छतृवच्च (उ. सू. २-२४१ [?], the bhāṣya gave "उ. २-८४″) forms these words with the affix "ati" in the present sense, with all the operations of "śatṛ"; end-acute by the affix accent.
- अर्केभिः (arkebhiḥ) — "arca pūjāyām," "arcyante ebhir iti arkāḥ" (mantras); पुंसि संज्ञायां घः प्रायेण (पा. सू. ३-३-११८) "gha" in the instrumental or locative sense; its "gh" is "it" by लशक्वतद्धिते (पा. सू. १-३-८) and dropped by तस्य लोपः (पा. सू. १-३-९); चजोः कु घिण्ण्यतोः

(पा. सू. ७-३-५२) “k” for “c”: “arka”; the “ais” of अतो भिस ऐस् (पा. सू. ७-१-९) is barred by बहुलं छन्दसि (पा. सू. ७-१-१०); बहुवचने झल्येत् (पा. सू. ७-३-१०३) “e”: “arkebhiḥ.”

- अर्किणः (arkiṇaḥ) — “arkāḥ … eṣāṃ santi”: अत इनिठनौ (पा. सू. ५-२-११५) “ini”; nominative plural.
- वाणीः (vāṇīḥ) — वृषादीनां च (पा. सू. ६-१-२०३) first-syllable acute; “vāṇī + as”: the long vowel of प्रथमयोः पूर्वसवर्णः (पा. सू. ६-१-१०२) is forbidden by दीर्घाज्जसि च (पा. सू. ६-१-१०५), but वा छन्दसि (पा. सू. ६-१-१०६) makes the prohibition optional in the Veda …
- अनूषत (anūṣata) — root ṇu with n for ṇ; aorist with sic; the augment iṭ absent and the vowel lengthened as Vedic features; guṇa is blocked.

Page 262 — (grammar continued)

(Continues the Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā of Rik 1 in the same register — the optional-lengthening discussion for vāṇīḥ and the finite-verb analysis of anūṣata*, completed on the next page. Characterized as above; not transcribed.)*

Page 263 — Rik 1 grammar closes; Rik 2

(Page header: “A. 1, A. 1, Va. 13.” The first lines end the Kannada grammar of Rik 1; characterized, numbers as printed.)

“Vāṇīḥ” (concluded) — where the prohibition does not apply, प्रथमयोः पूर्वसवर्णः (पा. सू. ६-१-१०२) gives the long vowel: “vāṇīḥ,” a nominative in the sense of the instrumental. “Anūṣata” — “ṇu stutau”: णो नः (पा. सू. ६-१-६५) “n” for the initial “ṇ”; “luṅ,” ātmanepada by vyatyaya; third plural “jha,” replaced by “at” by आत्मनेपदेष्वनतः (पा. सू. “६-१-५″ as printed); च्लि लुङि (पा. सू. ३-१-४३) and च्लेः सिच् (पा. सू. ३-१-४४) “sic”; the absence of the “iṭ” of आर्धधातुकस्येड्वलादेः (पा. सू. ७-२-३५) and the long “ū” are Vedic; “ṇu” being in the kuṭādi class, “sic” is “ṅit” by गाङ्कुटादिभ्योऽञ्णिन्ङित् (पा. सू. १-२-१), so क्ङिति च (पा. सू. १-१-५) blocks the guṇa of सार्वधातुकार्धधातुकयोः (पा. सू. ७-३-८४).

॥१॥

---

Sūkta 7, Rik 2

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

इन्द्र इद्धर्यो॒: सचा॒ संमि॑श्ल आ व॑चो॒युजा॑ । इन्द्रो॑ व॒ज्री हि॑र॒ण्यय॑: ॥२॥

índra íd dháryoḥ sácā sáṃmiśla ā́ vacoyújā | índro vajrī́ hiraṇyáyaḥ ||2||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

इन्द्रः । इत् । हर्योः । सचा । सम्ऽमिश्लः । आ । वचःऽयुजा ॥ इन्द्रः । वज्री । हिरण्ययः ॥२॥

indraḥ | it | haryoḥ | sacā | sam-miślaḥ | ā | vacaḥ-yujā || indraḥ | vajrī | hiraṇyayaḥ ||2||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

इन्द्र इदिन्द्र एव हर्योर्हरिनामकयोरश्वयोः सचा सह युगपदा सम्मिश्लः सर्वतः सम्यग्मिश्रयिता । कीदृशयोर्हर्योः । वचोयुजा । इन्द्रस्य वचनमात्रेण रथे युज्यमानयोः सुशिक्षितयोरित्यर्थः । अयमिन्द्रो वज्री वज्रयुक्तो हिरण्ययो हिरण्मयः । सर्वाभरणभूषित इत्यर्थः ॥

indra id indra eva haryor hari-nāmakayor aśvayoḥ sacā saha yugapad ā sammiślaḥ sarvataḥ samyag-miśrayitā | kīdṛśayor haryoḥ | vacoyujā | indrasya vacana-mātreṇa rathe yujyamānayoḥ suśikṣitayor ity arthaḥ | ayam indro vajrī vajra-yukto hiraṇyayo hiraṇmayaḥ | sarvābharaṇa-bhūṣita ity arthaḥ ||

Translation: "Indra himself, together with (sacā) — simultaneously with — his two horses named Hari, comes, being the all-round good mixer/combiner (sammiślaḥ). What kind of horses? Vacoyujā: yoked to the chariot at Indra's mere word — that is, well-trained. This Indra, the wielder of the thunderbolt (vajrī), is golden (hiraṇyayaḥ, = hiraṇmayaḥ) — adorned with all ornaments."

(Sāyaṇa's grammatical notes follow on page 264 — in the Sanskrit itself — and are characterized there.)

Page 264

(The first part of this page is the Sanskrit grammar of Rik 2 inside the bhāṣya itself. Characterized, not transcribed. Points of substance: हर्योः (haryoḥ) — "harata iti harī," from hṛ* with the suffix in, "n"-marked, so initial-udātta. सचा (sacā) — glossed "with" (Nirukta 5-5, "sacā saheti"). सम्मिश्लः (sammiślaḥ) — "mixing" from miśra + ghañ (Pā. 3-3-18) with a Vedic l for r, so "one who mixes thoroughly"; accent of the first member retained in the bahuvrīhi. वचोयुजा (vacoyujā) — "yoked with a word"; the dual case-ending replaced by ā; the second member yuj has the final accent. वज्री (vajrī) — "having a vajra", suffix ini (Pā. 5-2-115). हिरण्ययः (hiraṇyayaḥ) — by ऋत्व्यवास्त्व्यवास्त्वमाध्वीहिरण्ययानि छन्दसि (Pāṇini 6-4-175), the m of hiraṇmaya is dropped irregularly in the Veda, so hiraṇyaya is the form; it is udātta on the ā by the suffix-accent.)*

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

सम्मिश्लः (sammiślaḥ) — the one who thoroughly mixes everything | इन्द्र इत् (indra it) — Indra himself | वचोयुजा (vacoyujā) — yoked to the chariot at Indra's mere word | हर्योः (haryoḥ) — with the horses called Hari (of Indra) | सचा (sacā) — together with | आ (yāti) — comes hither | इन्द्रः (indraḥ) — Indra | वज्री (vajrī) — the wielder of the thunderbolt | हिरण्ययः (hiraṇyayaḥ) — the golden one, that is, adorned with golden ornaments.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

Indra, who mixes [combines with] everything, is coming here. At his mere word, his horses are yoked to the chariot. Seated in the chariot to which such horses are yoked, he comes here. That Indra, adorned with ornaments of gold, bears the thunderbolt.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> Indra, the good mixer of all things comes verily with his horses that are harnessed at his word; Indra, the richly-decorated (with gold), the weilder [sic] of the thundorbolt [sic].

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

"Sacā" — saha: with, together, in company.

"Sammiślaḥ" — The Bhāṣyakāra explains this word as सम्मिश्लः सर्वतः सम्यग्मिश्रयिता (sammiślaḥ sarvataḥ samyag miśrayitā) — "one who mixes well, in every way." Following him, Western scholars such as Wilson … (continues on p. 265)

(Page header: "A. 1, A. 1, Va. 13." Re-read from the better scan; the Ṛks and their references as printed.)

…Western scholars such as Wilson have given the meanings "Blender, mixer, mixing oneself very much with, attached to" (English in the source). The component sense of the word is:

> सम्मिश्लः । मिश्रणं मिश्रः । मिश्रयतेर्घञ् । पा. सू. ३-३-१८ । सम्यक् मिश्रो यस्यासौ सम्मिश्रः । लत्वं छान्दसम् । सम्यक् मिश्रयितेत्यर्थः । sammiślaḥ | miśraṇaṃ miśraḥ | miśrayater ghañ | pā. sū. 3-3-18 | samyak miśro yasyāsau sammiśraḥ | latvaṃ chāndasam | samyak miśrayitety arthaḥ | "Sammiślaḥ: 'mixing' is miśra; [formed from] miśrayati with ghañ (Pāṇini 3-3-18). 'He of whom the mixing is thorough' is sammiśra; the l [for r] is Vedic. The sense: one who mixes thoroughly."

Though this sense is right for the word, it does not fit "sammiśla" in this Ṛk. If "sammiślaḥ" is taken to mean "saṃyuktaḥ" (joined) or "sahitaḥ" (accompanied), the sense runs right. The Bhāṣyakāra too, on the word "sammiślāsaḥ" in the Ṛk explains it as "sammiśrāḥ saṃyuktā ity arthaḥ" (mixed, that is, joined). Ṛks containing the word are given here for illustration:

> विश्वे देवासो रयिभिः समोकसः संमिश्लासस्तविषीभिर्विरप्शिनः ॥ viśve devāso rayibhiḥ samokasaḥ saṃmiślāsas taviṣībhir virapśinaḥ // — (Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-64-10)

> यः संमिश्लो हर्योर्यः सुते सचा वज्री रथो हिरण्ययः ॥ yaḥ saṃmiślo haryor yaḥ sute sacā vajrī ratho hiraṇyayaḥ // — (Ṛ. Saṃ. 8-33-4)

In this Ṛk too the words and sense of the present Ṛk recur with no great difference.

> प्रभंगी शूरो मघवा तुवीमघः संमिश्लो वीर्याय कम् ॥ prabhaṃgī śūro maghavā tuvīmaghaḥ saṃmiślo vīryāya kam // — (Ṛ. Saṃ. 8-61-18)

संमिश्लो अरुषो भव सूपस्थाभिर्न धेनुभिः ॥ saṃmiślo aruṣo bhava sūpasthābhir na dhenubhiḥ // — (Ṛ. Saṃ. 9-61-21)

मन्द्रो होता स जुह्वा यजिष्ठः संमिश्लो अग्निरा जिघर्ति देवान् ॥ mandro hotā sa juhvā yajiṣṭhaḥ saṃmiślo agnir ā jigharti devān // — (Ṛ. Saṃ. 10-6-4)

मन्द्राः सुजिह्वाः स्वरितार आसभिः संमिश्ला इन्द्रे मरुतः परिष्टुभः ॥ mandrāḥ sujihvāḥ svaritāra āsabhiḥ saṃmiślā indre marutaḥ pariṣṭubhaḥ // — (Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-166-11)

यज्ञैः संमिश्लाः पृषतीभिरृष्टिभिर्यामञ्छुभ्रासो अञ्जिषु प्रिया उत ॥ yajñaiḥ saṃmiślāḥ pṛṣatībhir ṛṣṭibhir yāmañ chubhrāso añjiṣu priyā uta // — (Ṛ. Saṃ. 2-36-2)

प्र यन्तु वाजास्तविषीभिरग्नयः शुभे संमिश्लाः पृषतीरयुक्षत ॥ pra yantu vājās taviṣībhir agnayaḥ śubhe saṃmiślāḥ pṛṣatīr ayukṣata // — (Ṛ. Saṃ. 3-26-4)

यामं येष्ठाः शुभा शोभिष्ठाः श्रिया संमिश्ला ओजोभिरुग्राः ॥ yāmaṃ yeṣṭhāḥ śubhā śobhiṣṭhāḥ śriyā saṃmiślā ojobhir ugrāḥ // — (Ṛ. Saṃ. 7-56-6 (3))

In all these riks, the sense "joined, accompanied" is the one that fits the word sammiśla. The word occurs nowhere in the Ṛgveda other than the riks listed above.

"Vacoyujā" — the Bhāṣyakāra: इन्द्रस्य वचनमात्रेण रथे युज्यमानयोः सुशिक्षितयोरित्यर्थः (indrasya vacana-mātreṇa rathe yujyamānayoḥ suśikṣitayor ity arthaḥ) — "of the two [horses] being yoked to the chariot at Indra's mere word, i.e., well-trained." That is: at the mere word of Indra they come ready to be yoked to the chariot; the sense is of well-trained horses.

Some Western scholars have rendered this word "horses which harness themselves." But how could horses harness themselves to a chariot without the help of a charioteer and others? They have not considered whether this is possible. The Bhāṣyakāra's sense — "yoked at Indra's word, or at his command" — is therefore the fitting one.

"Vajrī" — वज्रमस्यास्तीति वज्री (vajram asyāstīti vajrī) — "he who has the vajra" — the wielder of the thunderbolt. Indra's weapon is famous as the vajra (Thunderbolt). The Ṛgveda mentions it in many places. For example, Indra himself says:

मह्यं त्वष्टा वज्रमतक्षदायसं मयि देवासो ऽवृजन्नपि क्रतुम् ॥ mahyaṃ tvaṣṭā vajram atakṣad āyasaṃ mayi devāso 'vṛjann api kratum // — (Ṛgveda Saṃhitā 10-48-3)

"For me Tvaṣṭṛ fashioned the iron thunderbolt; in me the gods have set [wisdom/resolve]." (The Kannada gloss in the source reads: "the divine craftsman Tvaṣṭṛ made me a thunderbolt of iron.")

"Hiraṇyayaḥ" — hiraṇmayaḥ — "made of gold," that is, adorned with golden ornaments. One may say that in place of hiraṇmaya the form hiraṇyaya was then current. Riks containing hiraṇyaya-type words — such as हिरण्ययेन सविता रथेन (hiraṇyayena savitā rathena, "Savitṛ, with a golden chariot") — are plentiful.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥

(Pages 266–268: the Kannada grammar of Rik 2 — characterized, numbers as printed.)

- हर्योः (haryoḥ) — harataḥ rathaṃ iti harī (“the two that draw the chariot are the harī”) — from hṛ with the suffix in by हृषिषिरुहिवृतिविदिछिदिकीर्तिभ्यश्च (उ. सू. ४-[?], the printed figures look like “५५८″”); the guṇa by “sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ” (पा. सू. ७-३-८४), with “r” after it by उरण् रपरः (पा. सू. १-१-५१).
- सचा (sacā) — Yāska (Nirukta 5-5) glosses it “saha” — hence “at the same time.”
- सम्मिश्लः (sammiślaḥ) — “miśra saṃparke” is a root of the curādi (tenth) class, so चुरादिभ्यो णिच् (पा. सू. ३-१-२५) “ṇic”; then by भावे (पा. सू. ३-३-१८) — the verbal sense, in its “accomplished” (siddha) aspect, as against the “to-be-accomplished” (sādhya) aspect seen in “pacati,” is called “bhāva” — “ghañ”; णेरनिटि (पा. सू. ६-४-५१) drops “ṇi”: “miśra”; sam + miśra as bahuvrīhi, with the Vedic l for r; the first member’s accent retained by Pā. 6-2-1.
- वचोयुजा (vacoyujā) — “vacasā yujyete iti vacoyujau, tayoḥ” (horses that join the chariot of themselves at Indra’s mere word); the genitive dual becomes “ā” by सुपां सुलुक्... (पा. सू. ७-१-३९); “yuj” is acute on its final by धातोः (पा. सू. ६-१-१६२); after compounding, the kṛt-final second member keeps that accent by गतिकारकोपपदात्कृत् (पा. सू. ६-२-१३९).
- वज्री (vajrī) — “vajram asyāsti”: अत इनिठनौ (पा. सू. ५-२-११५) “ini”; यस्येति च (पा. सू. ६-४-१४८) drops the “a”; in the nominative singular सर्वनामस्थाने चासम्बुद्धौ (पा. सू. ६-४-८) lengthens the penultimate; हल्ङ्याब्भ्यो दीर्घात्सुतिस्यपृक्तं हल् (पा. सू. ६-१-६८) drops the “s,” which is “apṛkta” by अपृक्त एकाल्प्रत्ययः (पा. सू. १-२-४१); नलोपः प्रातिपदिकान्तस्य (पा. सू. ८-२-७) drops the “n”: “vajrī,” with the affix accent.
- हिरण्ययः (hiraṇyayaḥ) — “harya gati-kāntyoḥ”: हर्यतेः कन्यन् हिरच् (उ. सू. ५-[?], the figures unclear) “kanyan,” with “hir” for “harya”; “n”-marked, so first-syllable acute, the two final “a”s unaccented by śeṣanighāta; in “hiraṇyapāṇim ūtaye” (ऋ. सं. १-२२-५) “hiraṇya” is shown first-syllable acute by नब्विषयस्यानिसन्तस्य (फि. सू.). In the sense “hiraṇyasya vikāraḥ,” मयड्वैतयोर्भाषायामभक्ष्याच्छादनयोः (पा. सू. ४-३-१४३) “mayaṭ”: “hiraṇmaya”; ऋत्व्यवास्त्व्यवास्त्वमाध्वीहिरण्ययानि छन्दसि (पा. सू. ६-४-१७५) … (continues on p. 268)

Page 267, 268 (grammar of Rik 2, continued)

(Page 267 header: “A. 1, A. 1, Va. 13.” The Rik 2 grammar of “hiraṇyayaḥ” is given above under p. 266; p. 268 closes it.) “Hiraṇyaya” is formed by nipātana (6-4-175: “y” for “ṛtu” and “vāstu” before “yat,” and before “aṇ” for “madhu” in the feminine, and the loss of the “m” of “mayaṭ” after “hiraṇya”). If the loss of “m” is so explained that the affix accent must hold, “hiraṇya + aya” gives one substitute by अतो गुणे (पा. सू. ६-१-९७); the “a” of “aya” is acute by the affix accent, the final “a” of “hiraṇya” unaccented by śeṣanighāta, and the single substitute acute by एकादेश उदात्तेनोदात्तः (पा. सू. ८-२-५); so “hi” and “ra” are unaccented, “ṇya” acute, and “yaḥ” svarita by उदात्तादनुदात्तस्य स्वरितः (पा. सू. ८-४-६६) — so Mādhavācārya. Some hold that, with the loss of “m,” यस्येति च (पा. सू. ६-४-१४८) drops the “a” of “hiraṇya,” so that the affix’s “a” is heard and the intended accent results. But with the loss of “m” treated as not effected by असिद्धवदत्राभात् (पा. सू. ६-४-२२), there is no “bha” designation (no “y”-initial affix follows), so

"yasyeti ca" cannot apply; and अकृत्सार्वधातुकयोर्दीर्घः (पा. सू. ७-४-२५) would lengthen, not being in the "bha" section; the lengthening is barred by अङ्गवृत्ते पुनर्वृत्तावविधिः (परिभा. ९३), but the intended accent still fails; and with the "m" loss taken as asiddha, "yasyeti ca" cannot drop the "a." If the whole word ("maya") is lost, "hiraṇya" would be end-acute. So it is proper, as in the Veda-bhāṣya, to accept the loss of the letter, give the later form, and make the single substitute acute by 8-2-5. ॥२॥ ### Sūkta 7, Rik 3

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. The print sets the svarita stroke over "sū" (not over "ryaṃ"), and over "bhi" of "gobhir" both a stroke and a bar (only the bar is given); hence [accent ?].)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

इन्द्रो॑ दी॒र्घाय॒ चक्ष॑स॒ आ सू॒र्यं॑ रोहयद्दि॒वि । [accent ?] वि गोभि॒रद्रि॑मैरयत् ॥३॥ [accent ?]

índro dīrghắya cákṣasa ắ sūryaṃ rohayad diví | [accent ?] ví góbhir ádrim airayat ||3|| [accent ?]

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

इन्द्रः । दीर्घाय । चक्षसे । आ । सूर्यम् । रोहयत् । दिवि ॥ वि । गोभिः । अद्रिम् । ऐरयत् ॥३॥

indraḥ | dīrghāya | cakṣase | ā | sūryam | rohayat | divi || vi | gobhiḥ | adrim | airayat ||3||

(Pada as printed on p. 269, re-read from the better scan.)

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

अयमिन्द्रो दीर्घाय प्रौढाय निरन्तराय चक्षसे दर्शनाय दिवि द्युलोके सूर्यमा रोहयत् । पुरा वृत्रासुरेण जगति यदाप्रातं तमस्तन्निवारणेन प्राणिनां वृष्टिसिद्ध्यर्थमादित्यं द्युलोके स्थापितवानित्यर्थः । स च सूर्यो गोभिः स्वकीयै रश्मिभिरद्रिं पर्वतप्रमुखं सर्वं जगद्व्यैरयत् । विशेषेण दर्शनार्थं प्रेरितवान् । प्रकाशितवानित्यर्थः । अथवा इन्द्र एव गोभिर्जलैर्वृष्टिनिमित्तभूतैरद्रिं मेघं व्यैरयत् । विशेषेण प्रेरितवान् । पञ्चदशसंख्याकेषु रश्मिनामसु खेदयः किरणा गाव इति पठितम् । त्रिंशत्संख्याकेषु मेघनामस्वद्रिग्रावेति पठितम् ॥

ayam indro dīrghāya prauḍhāya nirantarāya cakṣase darśanāya divi dyuloke sūryam ā rohayat | purā vṛtrāsureṇa jagati yad āprātaṃ tamas tan-nivāraṇena prāṇināṃ vṛṣṭi-siddhy-artham ādityaṃ dyuloke sthāpitavān ity arthaḥ | sa ca sūryo gobhiḥ svakīyai raśmibhir adriṃ parvata-pramukhaṃ sarvaṃ jagad vyairayat | viśeṣeṇa darśanārthaṃ preritavān | prakāśitavān ity arthaḥ | athavā indra eva gobhir jalair vṛṣṭi-nimitta-bhūtair adriṃ megham vyairayat | viśeṣeṇa preritavān | pañcadaśa-saṃkhyākeṣu raśmi-nāmasu khedayaḥ kiraṇā gāva iti paṭhitam | triṃśat-saṃkhyākeṣu megha-nāmasv adri-grāvety paṭhitam ||

Translation: "This Indra caused the sun to ascend in heaven, the world of light, for long (dīrghāya) — for vast, uninterrupted — seeing (cakṣase); that is: formerly, when darkness had enveloped the world by the demon Vṛtra, Indra, to remove that darkness and to bring about rain for living beings, established the sun in the heavenly world. And that sun, with his own rays (gobhiḥ), set in motion (vyairayat) all the world headed by the mountain (adri) — especially, sent out [his light] for sight; that is, illuminated it. Or else: Indra himself, with the waters (gobhiḥ) that serve as the cause of rain, set the adri — the cloud — in motion in particular. Among the fifteen names for 'ray' khedayaḥ, kiraṇāḥ and gāvaḥ are listed. Among the thirty names for 'cloud' — adri and grāvā are listed."

Grammar of the Bhāṣya (characterized, references as printed): "Dīrghāya" — end-acute by the stem accent. "Cakṣase" — चक्षेः सर्वधातुभ्योऽसुन् (उ. ४-१८८) "asun"; by the word "bahula" no "khyāñ" substitute; "n"-marked, first-syllable acute. "Sūryam" — "suvati prerayatīti sūryaḥ," "ṣū preraṇe," "dhātvādeḥ ṣaḥ saḥ"; राजसूयसूर्य... (पा. ३-१-११४) "kyap" with the augment "ruṭ" by nipātana; "kyap," "k"-marked, so no guṇa, and "p"-marked, so unaccented; the root accent remains. "Rohayat" — "ruh" with "ṇic," "laṅ"; बहुलं छन्दस्यमाङ्योगेऽपि (पा. ६-४-७५) no augment "aṭ"; nighāta. "Divi" — the case-ending acute by "ūḍidam...". "Adrim" — अदिशदिभूशुभिभ्यः क्रिन् (उ. ४-६५) "krin": "atti patavas tṛṇādikam ity adriḥ"; "n"-marked, first-syllable acute. "Airayat" — "īra gatau" with "ṇic," "laṅ"; nighāta.

Page 269 — Rik 3 continued

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

इन्द्रः (indraḥ) — Indra | दीर्घाय चक्षसे (dīrghāya cakṣase) — continuously, that is, so that [beings] may see always (for the sake of seeing, for light) | सूर्यम् (sūryam) — the sun | दिवि (divi) — in the heavenly world (in the sky) | आ रोहयत् (ā rohayat) — set up (caused to climb) | (that sun) गोभिः (gobhiḥ) — with his rays | अद्रिम् (adrim) — the mountain (that is, the whole world, mountains and the rest) | वि ऐरयत् (vi airayat) — impelled specially, that is, illuminated.

Or:

Page 270

इन्द्रः (indraḥ) — Indra | गोभिः (gobhiḥ) — with the gāvaḥ (waters) that serve as the cause of rain | अद्रिम् (adrim) — the cloud | वि ऐरयत् (vi airayat) — impelled specially.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

In ancient times the demon Vṛtra made the world a mass of darkness. Indra slew Vṛtra and — so that there should be light in the world until the time of dissolution — set the sun in the heavens (the antarikṣa). The sun, too, illuminated the whole world — mountains, and so on — with his rays, and made all beings, who had been unable to do any work on account of the darkness, take up their several tasks. Or: after setting the sun in the sky, Indra sent the cloud to rain upon the people (or living beings), so that grain, which is food, might grow.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> Indra established the sun in the heaven to render all things visible. He illuminated the mountain (i.e. the world) with his rays or Indra charged the clouds with water.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

An earlier legend. The Bhāṣyakāra and Skandasvāmī both mention an ancient story here. In former days the demon Vṛtra made the whole world dark. People and living creatures, having no light, were unable to do their work. Seeing this, Indra slew Vṛtra and established the sun in the sky so that there would be light in the world. In accord with this, this rik says that Indra established the sun in the sky.

"Dīrghāya" — nirantarāya, "uninterrupted" — pralaya-paryantam: "until dissolution" — "always, as long as the world lasts."

"Cakṣase" — sight, light, brilliance, etc. Without the sun, neither light nor strength nor capacity would belong to living beings; the business of the world would not go on. That is why it is said: सूर्य आत्मा जगतस्तस्थुषश्च (sūrya ātmā jagatas tasthuṣaś ca) — "the sun is the self of the moving and the unmoving world" (Ṛgveda Saṃhitā 1-115-1) — the sun is the very self (as life is chief to the body) of all the world, animate and inanimate.

"Vi gobhir adrim airayat" — The meaning of this sentence is not clear. The poet may have so described it because, when the sun rises, his rays first fall upon the lofty mountains. The other sense — that Indra impelled the cloud for water, that is, for the work of rain — is also fitting.

"Gobhiḥ" — with rays; with water. Among the fifteen words for "ray," beginning with khedayaḥ, the words किरणाः (kiraṇāḥ) and गावः (gāvaḥ) are listed.

"Adrim" — mountain, cloud. Among the thirty words for "cloud," beginning with adriḥ grāvā, the word adri is listed.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥

(Pages 271–272. Characterized; numbers as printed.)

- दीर्घाय (dīrghāya) — by the prātipadika accent, dīrgha is final-udātta.
- चक्षसे (cakṣase) — "cakṣiṅ vyaktāyāṃ vāci": "asun" carried from सर्वधातुभ्योऽसुन् (उ. सू. ४-६७ [?]) by चक्षेर्बहुलं शिच (उ. सू. ४-६८ [?]); "asun" is optionally "ś"-marked, so here, being "śit," it is sārvadhātuka by तिङ्शित्सार्वधातुकम्, not ārdhadhātuka, and the "khyāñ" of चक्षिङः ख्याञ् (पा. सू. २-४-५४) does not come; "n"-marked, so first-syllable acute.
- सूर्यम् (sūryam) — from sū ("to impel") — "he who impels (the world)"; ṣa→sa for the initial by Pā. 6-1-64; and the kyap suffix by the sūtra rājasūya-sūrya-mṛṣodya-rucya-kupya-kṛṣṭapacya-avyathyāḥ (Pā. 3-1-114): these seven words are formed by nipātana with kyap, and in "sūrya" the ruṭ augment is by nipātana; or from sṛ gatau ("sarati gacchati ākāśe"), with "u" by nipātana, "r" by उरण् रपरः (पा. सू. १-१-५१), and the long vowel by हलि च (पा. सू. ८-२-७७); on the first view "kyap," "k"-marked, gives no guṇa, and "p"-marked is unaccented by अनुदात्तौ सुप्पितौ ("३-१-४"), so the root accent stays.

- रोहयत् (rohayat) — “ruha bījajanmani prādurbhāve ca” with ṇic, “laṅ”; by बहुलं छन्दस्यमाङ्योगेऽपि (पा. सू. ६-४-७५) no augment “aṭ”; unaccented by तिङ्ङतिङः (पा. सू. ८-१-२८).
- दिवि (divi) — the case-ending is udātta by the ūḍidam-padādy-appum-raidyubhyaḥ rule (Pā. 6-1-171).
- अद्रिम् (adrim) — अदिशदिभूशुभिभ्यः क्रिन् (उ. सू. ४-५०३ as printed [?]) “krin” after “ad bhakṣaṇe” (“adanti paśavas tṛṇādikam atra,” where beasts eat grass): “adri”; “n”-marked, first-syllable acute.
- ऐरयत् (airayat) — “īra gatau” with ṇic + laṅ, third singular parasmaipada; unaccented by “tiṅṅatiṅaḥ.”

॥३॥

(These last items are on p. 272.)

Page 272 — Sūkta 7, Rik 4

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

इन्द्र॒ वाजे॑षु नो ऽव स॒हस्र॑प्रधनेषु च । उ॒ग्र उ॒ग्राभि॑रू॒तिभिः॑ ॥४॥

índra vā́jeṣu no ’va sahásrapradhaneṣu ca | ugrá ugrā́bhir ūtíbhiḥ ||4||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

इन्द्र । वाजेषु । नः । अव । सहस्रऽप्रधनेषु । च ॥ उग्रः । उग्राभिः । ऊतिऽभिः ॥४॥

indra | vājeṣu | naḥ | ava | sahasra-pradhaneṣu | ca || ugraḥ | ugrābhiḥ | ūti-bhiḥ || 4||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे इन्द्र उग्रः शत्रुभिरप्रधृष्यस्त्वमुग्राभिरप्रधृष्याभिरूतिभिरस्मद्विषयरक्षाभिर्वाजेषु युद्धेषु नो ऽस्मानव रक्ष । तथा सहस्रप्रधनेषु च । सहस्रसंख्याकगजाश्वादिलाभयुक्तेषु महायुद्धेष्वपि रक्ष ॥

he indra ugraḥ śatrubhir apradhṛṣyas tvam ugrābhir apradhṛṣyābhir ūtibhir asmad-viṣaya-rakṣābhir vājeṣu yuddheṣu no ’smān ava rakṣa | tathā sahasra-pradhaneṣu ca | sahasra-saṃkhyāka-gajāśvādi-lābha-yukteṣu mahā-yuddheṣv api rakṣa ||

Translation: “O Indra! You — ugra, unassailable to enemies — with your ugra protections (ūtibhiḥ), unassailable, directed to our concerns, protect us (naḥ ava) in battles (vājeṣu) — and likewise in the sahasra-pradhanas, that is, even in great battles that bring the winning of thousands of elephants, horses and the like, protect us.”

Grammar of the Bhāṣya (pp. 272–273; characterized, references as printed): “Vājeṣu” — first-syllable acute by वृषादीनां च (पा. ६-१-२०३). “No ’va” — the “o” from “nas” stays unchanged by “prakṛtyāntaḥpādam…” is not applicable, because of the prohibition “avyapare” (पा. ६-१-११५). “Ava” — “ava rakṣaṇe”; nighāta by “tiṅṅatiṅaḥ.” Although, in relation to the verb to be supplied with “sahasrapradhaneṣu ca,” “ava” is the first verb, and चवायोगे प्रथमा (पा. ८-१-५९) would forbid the nighāta, here in “vājeṣu” the “ca” is elided, and by चादिलोपे विभाषा (पा. ८-१-६३) the prohibition is optional, so the nighāta applies. “Sahasra” — कर्दमादीनां च (फि. ३-१०) middle-acute; in the bahuvrīhi the first member’s accent stays. “Ugraḥ” — “uca samavāye,” “c” → “g,” “ran” by “ṛjrendra…”; end-acute by vyatyaya. “Ūtibhiḥ” — “ktin” acute by “ūtiyūti…”.

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

(हे) इन्द्र ((he) indra) — O Indra | (त्वम्) — you | उग्रः (ugraḥ) — one who cannot be conquered by enemies | (such you) उग्राभिः (ugrābhiḥ) — with those that cannot be overcome by enemies | ऊतिभिः (ūtibhiḥ) — with protections | नः (naḥ) — us | वाजेषु (vājeṣu) — in battles | सहस्रप्रधनेषु (sahasrapradhaneṣu) — in great battles in which unlimited spoil of elephants, horses, chariots and the like is obtained | अव (ava) — protect.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Indra! You are apradhṛṣya — that is, enemies cannot conquer you. Such as you are: with your invincible protections (that is, helps), protect us in the great battles which we wage with our enemies for the gain of elephants, horses, chariots and the like.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> O Indra, You are invincible; protect us with insuperable aids in battles where thousand-fold spoils are gained.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

(The Special Topics begin at the foot of p. 273.)

“Sahasrapradhaneṣu” — pradhana or mahādhana means battle. (The word mahādhana is read among the forty-six words for “battle,” beginning with raṇa — “Ni. 3-9” as printed [?]; the usual place is Nighaṇṭu 2-17.) Since this rik already contains another word for battle, vājeṣu, to take pradhaneṣu in sahasrapradhaneṣu as “battle” would bring about the fault of repetition (dviruktidoṣa) and the sense would not fit well. The Bhāṣyakāra’s component-sense is therefore the right one: when one fights and conquers enemies, the elephants, horses, weapons, wealth, gold, vehicles and all other possessions that were with those enemies naturally come under the power of the victors. Thus Indra is prayed to give us suitable help in thousands of battles, so that we may conquer our enemies and take all their wealth, and that, at the same time, we may be protected, with no danger to our lives from the enemy.

“Ugraḥ” — may be taken in the senses apradhṛṣya (unassailable), ajeya (unconquerable), sahisalaśakya (not to be borne, i.e. irresistible), parākramī (valiant), krūra (fierce), etc.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥

(Pages 274–275. Characterized; numbers as printed.)

- वाजे (vāje) — initial-udātta by "vṛṣādīnāṃ ca" (Pā. 6-1-203); vāja is to be reckoned among the vṛṣādi words because that group is an ākṛti-gaṇa.
- नो ऽव (no 'va) — बहुवचनस्य वस्नसौ (पा. सू. ८-१-२१): after a word, not at the start of a pāda, the plural genitive, dative and accusative of "yuṣmad, asmad" become the unaccented "vas, nas"; so "asmān" → "nas"; ससजुषो रुः (पा. सू. "९-२-६६" as printed, i.e. 8-2-66) "ru"; अतो रोरप्लुतादप्लुते (पा. सू. ६-१-११३) "u"; आद्गुणः (पा. सू. ६-१-८७) "no + ava." प्रकृत्यान्तःपादमव्यपरे (पा. सू. ६-१-११५) would keep "e, o" unchanged inside a pāda before a short "a," but not before an "a" followed by "v" or "y" ("avyapare"); here the "a" is followed by "v," so एङः पदान्तादति (पा. सू. ६-१-१०९) gives the prior form: "no 'va."
- अव (ava) — "ava rakṣaṇe," unaccented by तिङ्ङतिङः (पा. सू. ८-१-२८). There are two sentences ("indra vājeṣu no 'va" and "sahasrapradhaneṣu ca no 'va"); the "ava" of the first is "first-uttered" with respect to the one supplied in the second, so चवायोगे प्रथमा (पा. सू. ८-१-५९) would forbid its nighāta; but चादिलोपे विभाषा (पा. सू. ८-१-६३) makes the prohibition optional when "ca, vā, ha, aha, eva" are "lost," that is, not uttered — here no "ca" is uttered in the first sentence — so where the prohibition does not apply the verb is unaccented.
- सहस्रप्रधनेषु (sahasrapradhaneṣu) — by कर्दमादीनां च (फि. सू. ५९ [?]) the words of this list are acute on the first or the second syllable, so "sahasra" has the acute on "ha": middle-acute; as a bahuvrīhi it retains the first member's accent (Pā. 6-2-1).
- उग्रः (ugraḥ) — from uc ("to be pleased, to gather") with the ran suffix of the Uṇādi-sūtra (ऋज्रेन्द्राग्रवज्रविप्रकुब्रचुब्रक्षुरखुरभद्रोग्रभेरभेलशुक्रशुक्लगौरवन्नेरमालाः, उ. सू. २-१८६), which forms these nineteen words with "ran"; "c" → "g" by the nipātana of "ugra"; though the affix is "n"-marked, by vyatyaya end-acute.
- ऊतिभिः (ūtibhiḥ) — ūtiyūtijūti-sātihetikīrtayaś ca (Pā. 3-3-97): ūti, etc., are irregularly formed ktin words, final-udātta; and thus ūti has the udātta ktin suffix.

॥४॥

Page 275 — Sūkta 7, Rik 5

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. The bar under the last syllable of "havāmahe" stands before "yújam" of the next line.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

इन्द्रं॑ वयं महाधन इन्द्रमर्भे॑ हवामहे । युजं॑ वृत्रेषु॑ वज्रिण॑म् ॥५॥

índraṃ vayám mahādhaná índram árbhe havāmahe | yújaṃ vṛtréṣu vajríṇam ||5||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

इन्द्रम् । वयम् । महाऽधने । इन्द्रम् । अर्भे । हवामहे ॥ युजम् । वृत्रेषु । वज्रिणम् ॥५॥

indram | vayam | mahā-dhane | indram | arbhe | havāmahe || yujam | vṛtreṣu | vajriṇam ||5||

---

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

वयमनुष्ठातारो महाधने प्रभूतधननिमित्तमिन्द्रं हवामहे । आह्वयामः । अर्भे ऽर्भके स्वल्पे ऽपि धने निमित्तभूते सतीन्द्रं हवामहे । कीदृशमिन्द्रम् । युजं सहकारिणं समाहितं वा । वृत्रेषु शत्रुषु धनलाभविरोधिषु प्राप्तेषु तन्निवारणाय वज्रिणं वज्रोपेतम् ॥ महाधनशब्दो यद्यपि संग्रामनामसु पठितस्तथापि महद्धनमत्र संग्राम इति बहुव्रीहित्वे सत्यन्तोदात्तत्वासिद्धेर्नात्र तद्गृहीतम् । महाधने महच्च तद्धनं चेति समासस्येत्यन्तोदात्तः ।

vayam anuṣṭhātāro mahādhane prabhūta-dhana-nimittam indraṃ havāmahe | āhvayāmaḥ | arbhe 'rbhake svalpe 'pi dhane nimitta-bhūte satīndraṃ havāmahe | kīdṛśam indram | yujaṃ saha-kāriṇaṃ samāhitaṃ vā | vṛtreṣu śatruṣu dhana-lābha-virodhiṣu prāpteṣu tan-nivāraṇāya vajriṇaṃ vajropetam || mahādhana-śabdo yadyapi saṃgrāma-nāmasu paṭhitas tathāpi mahad dhanam atra saṃgrāma iti bahuvrīhitve saty antodāttatvāsiddher nātra tad gṛhītam | mahādhane mahac ca tad dhanaṃ ceti samāsasyety antodāttaḥ |

Translation: "We, the performers [of the rite], call upon Indra in the mahādhana — on account of abundant wealth; we summon him. In the arbha — when even a small, slight wealth is the occasion — we call Indra. What kind of Indra? Yujam — the helper, the co-operator, or [alternatively] the composed one. In the vṛtras — when enemies, who obstruct the gain of wealth, have arrived, to ward them off, [we call] the vajriṇam — the one equipped with the thunderbolt. Although the word mahādhana is read among the names for 'battle,' it is not so taken here: if it were analysed as a bahuvrīhi ('that in which there is great wealth, i.e., battle'), final-udātta accent would not be established [for the word as it stands in the rik]. [Hence] mahādhane = 'great and that wealth' (mahac ca tad dhanaṃ ca), a karmadhāraya compound, final-udātta by the sūtra on compounds."

Grammar of the Bhāṣya (characterized, references as printed): "Arbhe" — अर्तिगृभ्यां भन् (उ. ३-१५२ [?]) "bhan"; "n"-marked, first-syllable acute. "Havāmahe" — "hveñ spardhāyāṃ śabde ca"; स्वरितञितः कर्त्रभिप्राये क्रियाफले (पा. १-३-७२) the ātmanepada; "laṭ," "mahiṅ" (पा. ३-४-७८); टित आत्मनेपदानां टेरे (पा. ३-४-७९) "e"; कर्तरि शप् (पा. ३-१-६८); ह्वः संप्रसारणम् (पा. ६-१-३२) carried on with बहुलं छन्दसि (पा. ६-१-३४): samprasāraṇa, "u" for "v," the prior form, guṇa and "av"; अतो दीर्घो यञि (पा. ७-३-१०१) the long vowel; nighāta by "tiṅṅatiṅaḥ." "Yujam" — "yuja samādhau," "kvip"; युजेरसमासे (पा. ७-१-७१) would give "num," but not here: the sūtra names "yuji" with "i," so it does not apply to the root without "i" ("yuja samādhau"); or the augment is anitya. "Vṛtreṣu" — "vṛtu vartane," "pratikūlatayā vartanta iti vṛtrāṇi śatrukulāni"; स्फायितञ्चि... (उ. २-१३) "rak"; "k"-marked, no guṇa; the affix accent. "Vajriṇam" — "ata iniṭhanau": "ini"; the affix accent. ॥५॥

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

वयम् (vayam) — we | इन्द्रम् (indram) — Indra | महाधने (mahādhane) — for the gaining of vast wealth | हवामहे (havāmahe) — we invoke (call) | अर्भके (arbhake) — even for the gaining of small wealth | इन्द्रम् (indram) — Indra (we invoke) | युजम् (yujam) — who is our helper (and) | वृत्रेषु (vṛtreṣu) — when enemies (opponents to our gain of wealth) come, for their subjugation | वज्रिणम् (vajriṇam) — who holds the thunderbolt | (इन्द्रम् — Indra — हवामहे — we invoke).

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

Whether we need a little wealth or much, for obtaining that wealth we invoke Indra himself. Further, that Indra not only helps us in our undertakings, but, when enemies who oppose us come, he stands ready to use his thunderbolt to subdue them. Such an Indra we invoke.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> We invoke Indra for great wealth ; Indra for (even) little weath [sic] ; Indra [is] our ally and weilder [sic] of the thunderbolt against enemies

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

A divergence from the Bhāṣyakāra. In fixing the sense of this rik, Skandasvāmī's explanation is more acceptable than the one the Bhāṣyakāra gives, and it is given below.

Skandasvāmi-bhāṣyam (as quoted in the Kannada script of the source):

> महाधने । संग्रामनामैतत् । महति संग्रामे । इन्द्रमेव अर्भे । अल्पनामैतत् । अल्पे । क्व । पूर्वत्र निर्देशात् संग्राम एव । हवामहे आह्वयामः । युजं युज्यतेऽसाविति युक् सहायः तम् । वृत्रेषु संग्रामव्यतिरिक्तेष्वपि च शत्रुषु इन्द्रमेव समाह्वयामः वज्रिणम् ॥
>
> mahādhane | saṃgrāma-nāmaitat | mahati saṃgrāme | indram eva | arbhe | alpa-nāmaitat | alpe | kva | pūrvatra nirdeśāt saṃgrāma eva | havāmahe āhvayāmaḥ | yujaṃ yujyate 'sāv iti yuk sahāyaḥ tam | vṛtreṣu saṃgrāma-vyatirikteṣv api ca śatruṣu indram eva samāhvayāmaḥ vajriṇam ||
>
> Translation: "Mahādhane — this is a name for battle: in a great battle. [We call] Indra alone. Arbhe — this is a name for 'small': in a small [battle]. In what? Because of the earlier mention, [it must be] in battle only. Havāmahe — we summon. Yujam —"he is joined" (yujyate 'sau), so yuk, a helper — him. Vṛtreṣu — in the enemies apart from [formal] battle as well, we call Indra alone — him, the wielder of the thunderbolt."

Anuvāda (the Kannada rendering of Skandasvāmī, as printed): Mahādhana means battle — a great battle. Arbhe means a small battle. So, whether the battle is small or great, we call upon Indra alone for our help. And not only in matters of battle but in other matters too, for the removal of our enemies, we call upon Indra alone, the thunderbolt-bearer.

The translator's judgment. Since the previous rik treats the subject of battle, the sense "in both the small and the great battles mentioned in this rik we seek Indra's help alone" is coherent. It is therefore more fitting to take mahādhane as "in a great battle" than as "for obtaining much wealth." Moreover, the word ūtaye ("for our protection") in the previous rik (as the source quotes it), and the word vajriṇam ("endowed with the thunderbolt") in this rik, both point to protection and to the subduing of enemies — matters pertaining to battle. For these reasons, Skandasvāmī's explanation is the one to be accepted here.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥

(Pp. 277–279. Characterized; numbers as printed.)

- महाधने (mahādhane) — Yāska does list mahādhana among the names for battle; but if taken that way here it would be a bahuvrīhi (mahat dhanam atra saṃgrāme, "in which there is great wealth") and would then take the accent of its first member (pūrvapada-prakṛti-svara), so final-udātta could not be explained. Hence it is taken as a karmadhāraya mahac ca tad dhanaṃ ca ("great, and that wealth"), which is final-udātta by समासस्य (पा. सू. ६-१-२२३); mahat → mahā by आन्महतः समानाधिकरणजातीययोः (पा. सू. ६-३-४६).
- अर्भे (arbhe) — root ṛ + bhan by अर्तिगृभ्यां भन् (उ. सू. ३-४०२ [?], as printed; the bhāṣya gives "उ. ३-१५२"), with guṇa; locative singular; nit so initial-udātta.
- हवामहे (havāmahe) — root hve ñ ("to call; to vie; to sound"); ātmanepada by Pā. 1-3-72 (the fruit of the act accrues to the agent); laṭ, first-person plural mahiṅ, with e by "ṭita ātmanepadānāṃ ṭer e"; śap; Vedic saṃprasāraṇa of hve (hu+a+mahe), then guṇa and lengthening, giving havāmahe; unaccented as a finite verb.
- युजम् (yujam) — root yuja samādhau + kvip with total loss of the suffix; the question whether the augment num arises (by "yujer asamāse," Pā. 7-1-71) is argued and answered in the negative here.
- वृत्रेषु (vṛtreṣu) — root vṛtu vartane ("to be; to stand"), "those that stand in opposition"; a rak suffix, kit, so no guṇa; final-udātta by the suffix. (Page 279's first lines list the thirty-odd roots after which rak comes, including this one.)
- वज्रिणम् (vajriṇam) — vajra + ini (Pā. 5-2-115); accent by the suffix.

Page 278

(Rik 5 grammar, continued; Kannada; numbers as printed.) "Havāmahe" — स्वरितञितः कर्त्रभिप्राये क्रियाफले (पा. सू. १-३-७२) the ātmanepada; "mahiṅ" by तिप्तस्झि... (पा. सू. ३-४-७८); टित आत्मनेपदानां टेरे (पा. सू. ३-४-७९) "mahe"; कर्तरि शप् (पा. सू. ३-१-६८); बहुलं छन्दसि (पा. सू. ६-१-३४), with ह्वः संप्रसारणम् (पा. सू. ६-१-३२) carried on: "hu + a + a + mahe"; संप्रसारणाच्च (पा. सू. ६-१-१०८) the prior form; guṇa by सार्वधातुकार्धधातुकयोः (पा. सू. ७-३-८४); एचोऽयवायावः (पा. सू. ६-१-७८) "av"; अतो दीर्घो यञि (पा. सू. ७-३-१०१) the long "ā": "havāmahe"; unaccented by तिङ्ङतिङः (पा. सू. ८-१-२८). "Yujam" — "yuja samādhau" + "kvip": its "p" is "it" by हलन्त्यम् (पा. सू. १-३-३), the "i" by उपदेशेऽजनुनासिक इत् (पा. सू. १-३-२), the "k" by लशक्वतद्धिते (पा. सू. १-३-८), all dropped by तस्य लोपः (पा. सू. १-३-९); the apṛkta "v" by वेरपृक्तस्य (पा. सू. ६-१-६७): the whole affix is lost. In the accusative "yuj + am," युजेरसमासे (पा. सू. ७-१-७१) would give "num" before a sarvanāmasthāna; but the sūtra names "yuji" (with "i"), i.e. "yujir yoge," not "yuja samādhau," so no "num"; and even if “yujir yoge” is taken, by अनित्यमागमशासनम् (परिभा. ९३-२) the augment rule is anitya, so “num” is to be withheld. “Vṛtreṣu” — “vṛtu vartane”: “pratikūlatayā vartanta iti” (those standing in opposition), “vṛtrāṇi,” hosts of enemies;

स्फायितञ्चिवञ्चिशकिक्षिपिक्षुदिसृपितृपिदृपिवन्द्युन्दिश्वितिवृत्य... (continues on p. 279) ### Page 279 — Rik 5 closes; Rik 6

(Page header: “A. 1, A. 1, Va. 14.”) (Continuing “vṛtreṣu”:) ...the list of roots in स्फायितञ्चि... (उ. सू. २-१७० [?], as printed; the bhāṣya gave “उ. २-१३”) is glossed root by root (sphāyī vṛddhau, tañcu saṃkocane, vañcu pralambhane, śakḷ śaktau, kṣipa preraṇe, kṣudir saṃpeṣaṇe, sṛplṛ gatau, tṛpa prīṇane, dṛpa harṣamocanayoḥ, vadi abhivādanastutyoḥ, undī kledane, śvitā varṇe, vṛtu vartane, aja gatikṣepaṇayoḥ, ṇīñ prāpaṇe, pada gatau, madī harṣe, muda harṣe, khidi dainye, chidir dvaidhīkaraṇe, bhidir vidāraṇe, madi stutau, cadi āhlādane, daha bhasmīkaraṇe, dasu upakṣaye, dambhu dambhane, vasa nivāse, vāśṛ śabde, śīṅ svapne, hasi hasane, ṣidha gatyām, śubha dīptau); after these 32 roots “rak” comes: “vṛt + ra”; “k”-marked, so no guṇa; locative plural “vṛtreṣu,” end-acute by the affix accent. “Vajriṇam” — अत इनिठनौ (पा. सू. ५-२-११५) “ini”; the affix accent. ॥५॥

---

Sūkta 7, Rik 6

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

स नो॑ वृषन्न॒मुं च॒रुं सत्रा॑दाव॒न्नपा॑ वृधि । अ॒स्मभ्य॒मप्र॑तिष्कुतः ॥६॥

sá no vṛṣann amúṃ carúṃ sátrādāvann ápā vṛdhi | asmábhyam ápratiṣkutaḥ ||6||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

सः । नः । वृषन् । अमुम् । चरुम् । सत्राऽदावन् । अप । वृधि ॥ अस्मभ्यम् । अप्रतिऽस्कुतः ॥६॥

saḥ | naḥ | vṛṣan | amum | carum | satrā-dāvan | apa | vṛdhi || asmabhyam | apratiṣkutaḥ ||6||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे सत्रादावन् अस्मदभीष्टानां सर्वेषां फलानां सह प्रदातः । अतो व्रीह्यादिनिष्पत्त्यर्थं हे वृषन् वृष्टिप्रदेन्द्र नो ऽस्मदर्थममुं दृश्यमानं चरुं मेघमपा वृधि । उद्घाटय । तथैवास्मभ्यमस्मदर्थमप्रतिष्कुतः । प्रतिशब्दरहितः । यद्यस्माभिर्याच्यते तत्र सर्वत्र नेति प्रतिशब्दं नोच्चारयसि । अतो ऽस्मद्विषये कदाचिदप्यप्रतिस्खलितः । एतदेवाभिप्रेत्य यास्क आह । अप्रतिष्कुतो ऽप्रतिष्कृतो ऽप्रतिस्खलितो वा । नि. ६-१६ । इति ॥

he satrādāvan asmad-abhīṣṭānāṃ sarveṣāṃ phalānāṃ saha pradātaḥ | ato vrīhy-ādi-niṣpatty-arthaṃ he vṛṣan vṛṣṭi-pradendra no ’smad-artham amuṃ dṛśyamānaṃ caruṃ megham apā vṛdhi | udghāṭaya | tathaivāsmabhyam asmad-artham apratiṣkutaḥ | prati-śabda-rahitaḥ | yad yasmābhir yācyate tatra sarvatra

neti prati-śabdaṃ noccārayasi | ato 'smad-viṣaye kadācid apy apratiskhalitaḥ | etad evābhipretya yāska āha | apratiṣkuto 'pratiṣkṛto 'pratiskhalito vā | ni. 6-16 | iti ||

Translation: "O Satrādāvan, together-giver of all the fruits we desire! Therefore, for the growing of rice, barley and the like, O Vṛṣan — O Indra, giver of rain — open (apā vṛdhi) for our sake this cloud (caruṃ) that is seen — unclose it. And likewise be apratiṣkuta toward us, for our sake: without a prati-śabda (a counter-word); that is, in whatever is asked of us you never utter a 'no'; hence in our matter you are at no time obstructed. With just this in mind, Yāska says: 'apratiṣkuta is apratiṣkṛta, or apratiskhalita' (Nirukta 6-16)."

Grammar of the Bhāṣya (p. 280; characterized, references as printed): "Vṛṣan" — vocative nighāta. "Amum" — end-acute by the stem accent. "Carum" — "caratīti caruḥ": भृमृशीतृचरित्सरितनिधनिमिमस्जिभ्य उः (उ. १-७) "u"; end-acute by the affix accent. "Satrādāvan" — "satrā" in the sense "together"; "abhimata-phala-jātaṃ sakalaṃ saha dadātīti satrādāvā"; आतो मनिन्क्वनिब्वनिपश्च (पा. ३-२-७४) "vanip"; vocative first-syllable acute by "āmantritasya ca"; being pāda-initial, no nighāta. "Apa" — निपातस्य च (पा. ६-३-१३६) lengthening; first-syllable acute as a particle. "Vṛdhi" — "vṛñ varaṇe," "loṭ," "sip," "hi" by सेर्ह्यपिच्च (पा. ३-४-८७); स्वादिभ्यः श्नुः (पा. ३-१-७३) "śnu," elided by "bahulaṃ chandasi"; श्नुश्नृणुपृकृवृभ्यश्छन्दसि (पा. ६-४-१०२) "dhi" for "hi"; "ṅit," so no guṇa of the preceding vowel; nighāta. "Asmabhyam" — भ्यसो भ्यम् (पा. ७-१-३०); शेषे लोपः (पा. ७-२-९०) loss of "d"; बहुवचने झल्येत् (पा. ७-३-१०३) does not apply, by "aṅgavṛtte punarvṛttāv avidhir niṣṭhitasya" (म. ७-१-३०); the "a" acute by the stem accent; on the view that "bhyam" replaces "bhyas," the "ad" of "asmad" up to "ma" is lost by "śeṣe lopaḥ," and by the accent of the removed acute (...उदात्तनिवृत्तिस्वर... , पा. ६-१-१६१) the "a" of "bhyam" is acute. "Apratiṣkutaḥ" — "kenacid apratiśabditaḥ": "kuṅ śabde," niṣṭhā "kta" in the passive (पा. ३-२-१०२); after "prati" the augment "suṭ" by the "pāraskarādi" class, an ākṛtigaṇa (पा. ६-१-१५७); "ṣ" by the "suṣāmādi" class, an ākṛtigaṇa (पा. ८-३-९८); in the nañ-compound the indeclinable first member keeps its accent.

Page 280 — Rik 6 continued

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

सत्रादावन् (satrādāvan) — O giver of all our desired things! (for that very reason) | वृषन् (vṛṣan) — O Indra, giver of rain! | सः (त्वम्) (saḥ [tvam]) — such as you are | नः (naḥ) — for us | अमुम् (amum) — this, which is visible to our eyes | चरुम् (carum) — the cloud | अपा वृधि (apā vṛdhi) — cause it to rain | (because you) अस्मभ्यम् (asmabhyam) — for us, or in our regard | अप्रतिष्कुतः (apratiṣkutaḥ) — have not turned away.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Indra! You are the one who fulfils all our desires. For that very reason, make the cloud that is now visible to our eyes in the sky pour down rain. You have never been one to refuse our prayer.

(The printed page carries no separate "English Translation" block for this rik; none is supplied here.)

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

"Vṛṣan" — the giver of rain, the one who causes rain. In modern Sanskrit the word vṛṣa has several senses — bull, ox, "excellent," "full of manliness." In the Ṛgveda this word is used of Indra in many places.

Page 281

"Carum" — अन्तरिक्षे चरतीति चरुः (antarikṣe caratīti caruḥ) — "that which moves in the atmosphere is caru": the cloud is called caru because it travels in the sky. Among the thirty names for 'cloud', beginning with adriḥ, the word caruḥ is listed (Ni. 2-21 [?], the first digit unclear).

"Satrādāvan" — the Bhāṣyakāra explains satrā as "together" (saha); thus "one who gives everything together." In the Nirukta, however, satrā is read among the six words for "truth" beginning with bāṭ (Ni. 3-10). Therefore satrādāvan may also be understood as "one who truly gives (what we desire)."

"Apa" — for the convenience of the meter, the p-a of this word is lengthened in the Saṃhitā-pāṭha (i.e., the Saṃhitā reads apā*)*.

"Apratiṣkutaḥ" — Yāska explains this in his Nirukta: apratiṣkuto 'pratiṣkṛto 'pratiskhalito vā — that is, one who does not reject [our prayer], who does not fail [to keep] his word.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥

(Pp. 281–283. Characterized; numbers as printed.)

- वृषन् (vṛṣan) — a vocative, hence unaccented (anudātta) by "āmantritasya ca" (पा. सू. ८-१-१९).
- अमुम् (amum) — the demonstrative adas in the accusative singular; final-udātta by its base (prātipadika) accent.
- चरुम् (carum) — carati iti caruḥ; from root car ("to move; to eat") with the Uṇādi u suffix by भृमृशीतृचरित्सरितनिधनिमिमस्जिभ्य उः (उ. सू. १-७; the roots glossed one by one); final-udātta by the suffix; accusative singular carum.
- सत्रादावन् (satrādāvan) — satrā ("together"), dā ("to give"), with vanip (Pā. 3-2-74); as the word begins the second pāda, the Aṣṭamādhyāyī rule that unaccents a vocative does not apply, and it is initial-udātta by "āmantritasya ca" (Pā. 6-1-198).
- अप (apa) — a nipāta (particle), initial-udātta (फि. सू. ८०); lengthened in the mantra by निपातस्य च (पा. सू. ६-३-१३६) to apā.
- वृधि (vṛdhi) — "vṛñ varaṇe," "loṭ," second singular "sip," "hi" by सेर्ह्यपिच्च (पा. सू. ३-४-८७); स्वादिभ्यः श्नुः (पा. सू. ३-१-७३), whose "śnu" is sometimes elided by "bahula" in बहुलं छन्दसि (पा. सू. २-४-७३); श्नुश्नृणुपृकृवृभ्यश्छन्दसि (पा. सू. ६-४-१०२) "dhi" for "hi"; "hi" being "apit" is "ṅit" by सार्वधातुकमपित् (पा. सू. १-२-४), so क्ङिति च (पा. सू. १-१-५) blocks the guṇa of सार्वधातुकार्धधातुकयोः (पा. सू. ७-३-८४); unaccented by तिङ्ङतिङः (printed "१८-१-२८," i.e. 8-1-28).

- अस्मभ्यम् (asmabhyam) — the dative plural “bhyas” becomes “bhyam” by भ्यसो भ्यम् (पा. सू. ७-१-३०); शेषे लोपः (पा. सू. ७-२-९०), with “vibhaktau” carried from अष्टन आ विभक्तौ (पा. सू. ७-२-८४), drops the final “d” before an ending that conditions neither “ā” nor “y”: “asma + bhyam”; बहुवचने झल्येत् (पा. सू. ७-३-१०३) would give “e,” but by अङ्गवृत्ते पुनर्वृत्तावविधिर्निष्ठितस्य (पा. म. ७-१-३०) once one aṅga-rule (“śeṣe lopaḥ”) has applied and the form is settled, another aṅga-rule does not apply; so too no lengthening by सुपि च (पा. सू. ७-३-१०२). In “asma,” “sma” is acute by फिषोऽन्त उदात्तः (फि. सू. १), “bhyam” unaccented by अनुदात्तौ सुप्पितौ (“३-१-४”) and svarita by “udāttād anudāttasya svaritaḥ,” the first “a” unaccented by śeṣanighāta. Or, dividing भ्यसोऽभ्यम् (पा. सू. ७-१-३०) as “abhyam”: “asmad + abhyam,” “śeṣe lopaḥ” drops the “ad” after “ma” (the locative “śeṣe” standing for the substituend): “asm + abhyam,” with no “e” or lengthening; since the acute “a” of “asmad” is lost before the unaccented “a,” अनुदात्तस्य च यत्रोदात्तलोपः (पा. सू. ६-१-१६१) makes that unaccented vowel acute…
- अप्रतिष्कुतः (apratiṣkutaḥ) — see p. 283 above (Rik 6 grammar concluded there).

Page 282, 283

(Page 283 header: “A. 1, A. 1, Va. 14.” The grammar of “asmabhyam” and “apratiṣkutaḥ” is characterized above under p. 281.) On the “abhyam” view (p. 283), “asma + abhyam” gives no “e” or lengthening; by अतो गुणे (पा. सू. ६-१-९७) the later form, and by “ekādeśa udāttenodāttaḥ” “sma” is acute. “Apratiṣkutaḥ” — “kenacid apratiśabditaḥ” (one who does not utter “no” for any reason): “kuṅ śabde,” निष्ठा (पा. सू. ३-२-१०२) “kta” in the past sense; “prati” before it; पारस्करप्रभृतीनि च संज्ञायाम् (पा. सू. ६-१-१५७) — the “pāraskarādi” class, an ākṛtigaṇa, takes “suṭ”: “prati + skuta”; सुषामादिषु च (पा. सू. ८-३-९८), also an ākṛtigaṇa, “ṣ”: “pratiṣkutaḥ”; in the nañ-compound तत्पुरुषे तुल्यार्थ… (पा. सू. ६-२-२) keeps the accent of the indeclinable first member. ॥६॥

---

Sūkta 7, Rik 7

(Saṃhitā accents as printed (print anusvāra kept in “तुंजे”); Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

तुंजेतुंजे य उत्तरे स्तोमा इन्द्रस्य वज्रिणः । न विंन्धे अस्य सुष्टुतिम् ॥७॥

tuñjé-tuñje yá úttare stómā índrasya vajríṇaḥ | ná vindhe asya suṣṭutím ||7||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

तुञ्जेऽतुञ्जे । ये । उत्ऽतरे । स्तोमाः । इन्द्रस्य । वज्रिणः ॥ न । विन्धे । अस्य । सुऽस्तुतिम् ॥७॥

tuñje-tuñje | ye | ut-tare | stomāḥ | indrasya | vajriṇaḥ || na | vindhe | asya | su-stutim ||7||

(The pada line prints तुञ्जेतुञ्जे with an avagraha between the two halves, i.e. as a single repeated word.)

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

> तुञ्जे तुञ्जे तस्मिन्स्तस्मिन्फलदातरि देवान्तरे ये सोमाः स्तोत्रविशेषा उत्तरे उत्कृष्टाः सन्ति तैः स्तोमैः सर्वैरपि वज्रिणो वज्रयुक्तस्यास्येन्द्रस्य सुष्टुतिं योग्यां शोभनस्तुतिं न विन्धे । न विन्दामि । इन्द्रस्यात्यन्तगुणबाहुल्येन देवान्तरेषूत्तमत्वेन प्रसिद्धान्यपि स्तोत्राणि न पर्याप्तानीत्यर्थः । एतामृचं यास्क एवं व्याचष्टे । तुञ्जस्तुञ्जतेर्दानकर्मणः । दाने दाने य उत्तरे स्तोमा इन्द्रस्य वज्रिणो नास्य तैर्विन्दामि समाप्तिं स्तुतेः । नि. ६-१८ । इति ॥
>
> tuñje tuñje tasmin tasmin phala-dātari devāntare ye somāḥ stotra-viśeṣā uttare utkṛṣṭāḥ santi taiḥ stomaiḥ sarvair api vajriṇo vajra-yuktasyāsyendrasya suṣṭutiṃ yogyāṃ śobhana-stutiṃ na vindhe | na vindāmi | indrasyātyanta-guṇa-bāhulyena devāntareṣūttamatvena prasiddhānyapi stotrāṇi na paryāptānīty arthaḥ | etām ṛcaṃ yāska evaṃ vyācaṣṭe | tuñjas tuñjater dāna-karmaṇaḥ | dāne dāne ya uttare stomā indrasya vajriṇo nāsya tair vindāmi samāptiṃ stuteḥ | ni. 6-18 | iti ||

Translation: "Tuñje tuñje: in each and every other deity, a giver of fruits, whatever stomas ("somāḥ" as printed) — special hymns of praise — are superior and excellent; with all those stomas I do not find (na vindhe, I do not obtain) a proper, fine praise (suṣṭuti) of this thunderbolt-bearing Indra. The sense: because of the extreme abundance of Indra's qualities, even those hymns famed as the best addressed to other gods are not sufficient. Yāska explains this rik thus: 'tuñja is from tuñjati, a verb of giving. In each giving, whatever superior stomas there are of Indra the vajrin — with them I do not find the completion of his praise' (Nirukta 6-18)."

(The rest of the Sanskrit on pp. 284–285 is Sāyaṇa's grammar of तुञ्जे, उत्तरे, स्तोमाः, विन्धे, अस्य, सुष्टुतिम्, dominated by a long scholastic argument (an objection and replies) on whether the prefix su in suṣṭutim is an upasarga whose presence causes s to become ṣ and fixes the accent, or whether it qualifies the instrument of praise rather than the act of praising. Characterized, not transcribed (Convention 5); the conclusion that bears on the sense is given at the end of p. 285 and translated there.)

Page 284

(Sāyaṇa's grammar of Rik 7, characterized; references as printed.) "Tuñje tuñje" — "tuñjatir dānakarmā": कर्तरि पचाद्यच् (as printed; पा. ३-१-१३४) "ac," "c"-marked, end-acute; doubled by नित्यवीप्सयोः (पा. ८-१-४); the second is "āmreḍita" (पा. ८-१-२) and unaccented (पा. ८-१-३); "dātari dātari" — the Nirukta's "dāne dāne" explains the sense. "Uttare" — "tṝ plavanataraṇayoḥ," भावे ऋदोरप् (as printed; पा. ३-३-५७); "ut" in the sense of excellence; "utkṛṣṭas taro yasya," a bahuvrīhi; "ut" first-syllable acute as a nipāta, kept by the bahuvrīhi rule. "Stomāḥ" — "artistusu…" (उ. १-१३९), "man"; "n"-marked, first-syllable acute. "Vindhe" — "vidḷ lābhe," "laṭ," ātmanepada as "svaritet"; first singular "iṭ" (पा. ३-४-७८); तुदादिभ्यः शः (पा. ३-१-७७); "num" by शे मुचादीनाम् (पा. ७-१-५९); "dh" for "d" by vyatyaya. "Asya" — of Indra, the subject at hand: "idam" → "aś" by इदमोऽश् (as printed; पा. २-४-३२), "ś"-marked, replacing the whole, unaccented. “Suṣṭutim” — “ṣṭuñ stutau,” “dhātvādeḥ ṣaḥ saḥ” (पा. ६-१-६४); स्त्रियां क्तिन् (पा. ३-३-९४) “ktin” in the action sense; acute by “ūtiyūti…”; compounded with “su” by “kugatiprādayaḥ” (पा. २-२-१८); “ṣ” by उपसर्गात्सुनोति... (पा. ८-३-६५). The accent of the indeclinable first member would hold, but is set aside by “gatikārakopapadāt kṛt” (पा. ६-२-१३९), and that in turn by तादौ च निति कृत्यतौ (पा. ६-२-५०), so the gati “su” would be acute; that too is set aside by मन्क्तिन्व्याख्यान... (पा. ६-२-१५१), giving the end-acute of the second member, as in “suhavāṃ suṣṭutī huve” (ऋग्वे. २-३२-४), “vṛṣṇe codasva suṣṭutim” (ऋग्वे. ८-६४-६ [?]), “yās te rāke sumatayaḥ” (ऋग्वे. २-३२-५). But “kārakād dattaśrutayor evāśiṣi” (पा. ६-२-१४८) shows that “kāraka” carries on, so “manktin…” applies only after a kāraka, as with “prakṛtiḥ, prahṛtiḥ”; to this the reply is that “stūyate ’nayeti stutiḥ” — “ktin” in the instrument sense — and “su” qualifies the instrument, so it is a kāraka … An objection follows: then “su,” not joined to the action, is no upasarga by उपसर्गाः क्रियायोगे (पा. १-४-५९), and no “ṣ” … (the argument continues on p. 285). ### Page 285 — Rik 7

(Page header: “A. 1, A. 1, Va. 14.” The upper part ends the “suṣṭutim” debate: “su” connects with the act through the instrument, so it is an upasarga by implication and the “ṣ” holds; or, since the accent is settled by taking the two affixes’ sense, the “ṣ” may be taken as Vedic; or, as a bahuvrīhi “śobhanā stutir yasya,” the end-acute comes by नञ्सुभ्याम् (पा. ६-२-१७२). The Sanskrit tail is translated here.)

> अथवा सुष्ठु स्तुवन्तीति सुष्टुतय इति करणभूता ऋचः स्तुतिशब्देनोच्यन्ते । क्तिच्क्तौ च संज्ञायाम् । पा. ३--१७४ । इति क्तिचप्रत्यये सति चित्त्वादन्तोदात्तता भविष्यति । न च करणीभूतानामृचां कर्तृप्रत्ययेन क्रिया कथमभिधानमिति वाच्यम् । काष्ठानि पचन्तीतिवत्तासामपि स्वव्यापारप्राधान्यविवक्षया करणत्वोपपत्तेरिति ॥
>
> athavā suṣṭhu stuvantīti suṣṭutaya iti karaṇa-bhūtā ṛcaḥ stuti-śabdenocyante | ktic-ktau ca saṃjñāyām | pā. 3- -174 | iti ktic-pratyaye sati cittvād antodāttatā bhaviṣyati | na ca karaṇībhūtānām ṛcāṃ kartṛ-pratyayena kriyā katham abhidhānam iti vācyam | kāṣṭhāni pacantīti-vat tāsām api sva-vyāpāra-prādhānya-vivakṣayā karaṇatvopapatter iti ||

Translation: “Or else, in the analysis ‘those which praise well — suṣṭutayaḥ’, the ṛks that are the instruments [of praise] are called by the word stuti. By the sūtra ‘ktic-ktau ca saṃjñāyām’ (printed”Pā. 3- -174,” the middle number missing; 3-3-174), when the suffix ktic is added, final-udātta accent results, because of the marker c. Nor should it be objected: ‘how can ṛks that are mere instruments be spoken of by an agent-suffix, as doing the act?’ — for, as in ‘kāṣṭhāni pacanti’ (‘the logs cook’), where the log, though instrumental to cooking, is given independence in its own function (svatantraḥ kartā, Pā. 1-4-54), in the same way, taking the activity of the ṛks as principal, their instrumentality is perfectly consistent even though an agent-suffix is used.”

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

तुञ्जे तुञ्जे (tuñje tuñje) — in (the other deities who bestow the fruit of) [each] | उत्तरे (uttare) — excellent | ये स्तोमाः (ye stomāḥ) — whatever hymns (there are) [those, with them] | वज्रिणः (vajriṇaḥ) — [of him] who holds the thunderbolt | अस्य इन्द्रस्य (asya indrasya) — of this

Indra (in regard to) | सुष्टुतिम् (suṣṭutim) — the excellent hymn | न विन्धे (na vindhe) — it is not possible to obtain (to compose).

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

However excellent the hymns we make to the other deities, who bestow many fruits on me, those hymns do not amount to a good praise of the thunderbolt-bearing Indra. That is: the hymns we make toward other deities may be very excellent; but in the case of Indra, since those hymns are incapable of describing the excess of Indra's qualities, they do not count as excellent. The sense is that to praise Indra, hymns far more excellent than those of other deities are required.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> Whatever praise-hymns are excellent for rewarding (other deity) I cannot find (even with these hymns) a hymn good enough to Lard [sic] Indra, the weilder [sic] of thunderbolt.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

"Tuñje-tuñje" — Yāska in the Nirukta explains this rik as follows:

> तुञ्जस्तुञ्जतेर्दानकर्मणः । दाने दाने य उत्तरे स्तोमा इन्द्रस्य वज्रिणो नास्य तैर्विन्दामि समाप्तिं स्तुतेः ।
> tuñjas tuñjater dāna-karmaṇaḥ | dāne dāne ya uttare stomā indrasya vajriṇo nāsya tair vindāmi samāptiṃ stuteḥ | "Tuñja is from tuñjati, a verb of giving. In each giving, whatever superior stomas there are of Indra the vajrin — with them I do not find the end of the praise of him."

That is, the word tuñja means giving, bestowing. The word tuñje-tuñje in this rik means "in regard to the deity who gives fruits." Since the word tuñje is printed twice, it means "in regard to every deity" — that is, all the deities. However excellent the hymns used for other deities (other than Indra), they are not enough for Indra; more are needed. As one says, "enough of this praise of Indra; it has come to its end," — however much one praises, the qualities of Indra remain more; there is no end to them.

"Uttare" — this word has two separate parts, ut + tare. The Bhāṣyakāra explains it thus: uttare — tvaplavana-taraṇayoḥ (the root tṝ, "to cross/swim") — bhāve ṛdor ap (Pā. 3-3-57) — ut means "excellent"; utkṛṣṭas taro yasya — a bahuvrīhi: "one whose crossing is excellent." The word tara is formed from the root tṝ. Ut means "excellent." Hence the word ut-tara = uttara means "more excellent."

"Suṣṭutim" or "Sustutim" — stūyate 'nayeti stutiḥ — "that by which one praises is a stuti." By the word su the instrument is qualified, not the meaning of the root. Or: suṣṭhu stuvantīti suṣṭutayaḥ — "the ṛks that are the instruments are called by the word stuti." That is, stuti is the name for praising; suṣṭuti means "praising well," or, because the ṛks praise well, such mantras or ṛks are customarily called stuti.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥

(Pp. 287–290. Page header p. 287: "A. 1, A. 1, Va. 14." Characterized; numbers as printed.)

- तुञ्जेतुञ्जे (tuñje-tuñje) — "tuñjas tuñjater dānakarmaṇaḥ" (निरु. "६-१७-१८" as printed): Yāska takes "tuñj" as a verb of giving. "Tuñj," of the pacādi class, takes "ac" in the agent sense by नन्दिग्रहिपचादिभ्यो ल्युणिन्यचः (पा. सू. ३-१-१३४); "c"-marked, end-acute by चितः (पा. सू. ६-१-१६३); locative singular "tuñje"; doubled by नित्यवीप्सयोः (पा. सू. ८-१-४); the second is "āmreḍita" by तस्य परमाम्रेडितम् (पा. सू. ८-१-२) and unaccented by अनुदात्तं च (पा. सू. ८-१-३). "Dātari dātari" — "in each giver"; the Nirukta's "dāne dāne" explains the root sense, setting aside the affix sense.
- उत्तरे (uttare) — "tṝ plavanataraṇayoḥ": ऋदोरप् (पा. सू. ३-३-५७) "ap" in the action sense; "ut" means "excellent"; "utkṛṣṭas taro yasya," a bahuvrīhi; "ut," a nipāta, first-syllable acute by निपाता आद्युदात्ताः (फि. सू. ८०), kept by बहुव्रीहौ प्रकृत्या पूर्वपदम् (पा. सू. ६-२-१).
- स्तोमाः (stomāḥ) — अर्तिस्तुसु... (उ. सू. १-१४२ [?], the figures unclear) "man"; "n"-marked, first-syllable acute.
- विन्धे (vindhe) — "vidḷ lābhe," "laṭ"; the root being "svaritet," the ātmanepada by स्वरितञितः कर्त्रभिप्राये क्रियाफले (पा. सू. १-३-७२); first singular "iṭ" by तिप्तस्झि... (पा. सू. ३-४-७८): "vid + i"; तुदादिभ्यः शः (पा. सू. ३-१-७७); शे मुचादीनाम् (पा. सू. ७-१-५९) "num"; "dh" for "d" by vyatyaya; आद्गुणः (पा. सू. ६-१-८७): "vindhe."
- अस्य (asya) — refers back to Indra, the subject in hand, so anvādeśa: इदमोऽन्वादेशेऽशनुदात्तस्तृतीयादौ "aś" for "idam"; "ś"-marked, it replaces the whole by अनेकाल्शित्सर्वस्य (पा. सू. १-१-५५). ### Pages 288–290 — Rik 7: the suṣṭutim debate (grammar)

(Characterized, not transcribed. The argument, in outline, as the Kannada commentary gives it:)

Page 288. सुष्टुतिम् (suṣṭutim) — "ṣṭuñ stutau": धात्वादेः षः सः (पा. सू. ६-१-६४) "s" for "ṣ," and the "ṭ" it caused reverts: "stu"; स्त्रियां क्तिन् (पा. सू. ३-३-९४) "ktin" in the action sense; with the acute upasarga "su," the prādi compound by कुगतिप्रादयः (पा. सू. २-२-१८); "ṣ" by उपसर्गात्सुनोतिसुवतिस्यतिस्तौतिस्तोभतिस्थासेनयसेधसिचसञ्जस्वञ्जाम् (पा. सू. ८-३-६५) and "ṭ" by ष्टुना ष्टुः (पा. सू. ८-४-४१): accusative "suṣṭutim." The accent of the indeclinable first member (तत्पुरुषे तुल्यार्थ... , पा. सू. ६-२-२) is set aside by गतिकारकोपपदात्कृत् (पा. सू. ६-२-१३९), which in turn gives way to तादौ च निति कृत्यतौ (पा. सू. ६-२-५०) — before a kṛt beginning with "t" and "n"-marked, other than "tu," the gati keeps its accent, so "su" would be acute; but मन्क्तिन्व्याख्यानशयनासनस्थानयाजकादिक्रीताः (पा. सू. ६-२-१५१) makes these second members end-acute, setting "tādau ca" aside: so "suṣṭutim" is end-acute, as also "suhavāṃ suṣṭutī huve" (ऋ. सं. २-३२-४), "vṛṣṇe codasva suṣṭutim" (ऋ. सं. ८-६४-६ [?], the middle figures unclear), "yās te rāke sumatayaḥ" (ऋ. सं. २-३२-५), say those who know. The Kāśikā takes "kārakāt" as carried into "manktin..." from कारकाद्दत्तश्रुतयोरेवाशिषि (पा. सू. ६-२-१४८), so that only after a kāraka are “man”-ending etc. second members end-acute (“pāṇinikṛtiḥ” the example, “prakṛtiḥ, prahṛtiḥ” the counter-examples, “kārakād ity eva” — Kā. ६-२-१५१); on that view “su,” a gati, is no kāraka, and “manktin” would not give the end-acute. Whether that can be met is considered next: “stūyate anayā iti stutiḥ” (praise as the instrument, the ṛk…) (continues on p. 289).

Page 289. The discussion pursues whether su here is an upasarga (and so induces ṣatva) at all. (Page header: “A. 1, A. 1, Va. 14.”) The argument runs: by उपसर्गाः क्रियायोगे (पा. सू. १-४-५९) an upasarga must be connected to a verbal action; su here qualifies the karaṇa (instrument — the stuti), and therefore, in this view, is not connected to the verbal meaning; the ṣatva would then be unjustified. The reply is that su qualifies the instrument by way of the verbal meaning of stu, and so is an upasarga after all. The Bhāṣyakāra’s analysis is shown consistent with the Vṛttikāra’s example of su in su-ṣṭutim. The page ends in a sub-argument about whether the double qualification (of the root and of the suffix-sense) operates simultaneously, successively, or by repetition (āvṛtti) — “whether su qualifies both, together or in sequence.”

Page 290. If “su” is taken with the root sense and the affix sense in sequence, the operation stops and resumes (“viramya vyāpāra”), which nobody accepts for words; so “su” cannot be construed with both by the power of the word alone. If with one verbally and the other by implication: taken with the root sense by implication, the “ṣ” is not obtained; with the affix sense by implication, the “manktin” accent is not obtained. And even a merely implied kāraka relation makes “suṣṭuti” an example of “manktin,” so “prakṛtiḥ, prahṛtiḥ” cannot be counter-examples — who could stop an implied relation of “pra” with the instrument contained in the root sense? So the accent is not obtained from an implied kāraka relation. Hence on this view “su” is construed only with the affix sense, the “manktin” accent holds, and the “ṣ” is Vedic. Or, taken as a bahuvrīhi “śobhanā matir yasyāḥ,” the end-acute comes by नञ्सुभ्याम् (पा. सू. ६-२-१७२). Or, “suṣṭhu stuvantīti suṣṭutayaḥ”: the ṛks, the instruments of praise, are called “stuti”; क्तिच्क्तौ च संज्ञायाम् (पा. सू. “१३-३-१७४” as printed, i.e. 3-3-174) “ktic” in the agent sense; “c”-marked, end-acute by चितः (पा. सू. ६-१-१६३). To the objection how an agent affix can denote ṛks that are instruments: as in “kāṣṭhāni pacanti” (the logs cook), where the logs, an instrument of cooking, are given independence in their own activity and so are agents by स्वतन्त्रः कर्ता (पा. सू. १-४-५४), so too the ṛks, their activity taken as principal, are rightly instruments though an agent affix is used. ॥७॥

---

Sūkta 7, Rik 8

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

वृषा॑ यू॒थेव॒ वंस॑गः कृष्टीरि॒यर्त्योज॑सा । ईशा॑नो अप्रतिष्कुतः ॥८॥

vṛ́ṣā yūthéva váṃsagaḥ kṛṣṭīr iyarty ójasā | ī́śāno ápratiṣkutaḥ ||8||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

वृषा । यूथाऽइव । वंसगः । कृष्टीः । इयर्ति । ओजसा ॥ ईशानः । अप्रतिऽस्कुतः ॥८॥

vṛṣā | yūthā-iva | vaṃsagaḥ | kṛṣṭīḥ | iyarti | ojasā || īśānaḥ | aprati-skutaḥ ||8||

(Pada printed on p. 291.)

Page 291 — Rik 8: Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

वृषा कामानां वर्षितेन्द्र ओजसा स्वकीयबलेनानुग्रहीतुं कृष्टीर्मनुष्यानियर्ति । प्राप्नोति । कीदृश इन्द्रः । ईशानः समर्थो ऽप्रतिष्कुतः प्रतिशब्दरहितः । याच्यमानं न परिहरतीत्यर्थः । इन्द्रस्य दृष्टान्तः । वंसगो वननीयगतिर्वृषभो यूथेव गोयूथानि यथा प्राप्नोति तद्वत् ॥

vṛṣā kāmānāṃ varṣitendra ojasā svakīya-balenānugrahītuṃ kṛṣṭīr manuṣyān iyarti | prāpnoti | kīdṛśa indraḥ | īśānaḥ samartho 'pratiṣkutaḥ prati-śabda-rahitaḥ | yācyamānaṃ na pariharatīty arthaḥ | indrasya dṛṣṭāntaḥ | vaṃsago vananīya-gatir vṛṣabho yūtheva go-yūthāni yathā prāpnoti tadvat ||

Translation: "Indra, the showerer (varṣitā) of desires, with his own strength (ojasā), in order to favour them, approaches (iyarti — reaches) the kṛṣṭīḥ, the people. What kind of Indra? Īśānaḥ — the capable, the lord; apratiṣkutaḥ — without a counter-word; that is, he who does not turn away from what is asked of him. An illustration for Indra: the vaṃsaga — the bull of lovely gait — as [a bull] goes to its herds, the herds of cows, so [Indra goes to people]."

Grammar of the Bhāṣya (characterized, references as printed; page header "A. 1, A. 1, Va. 14"): "Vṛṣā" — कनिन्युवृषितक्षिराजिधन्विद्युप्रतिदिवः (उ. १-१५६) "kanin" after "vṛṣ"; "k"-marked, no guṇa; "n"-marked, first-syllable acute. "Yūthā iva" — "yuvanti miśrībhavantīti yūthāni," "yu miśraṇāmiśraṇayoḥ": तिथपृष्ठगूथयूथप्रोथाः (उ. २-१२) "thak," end-acute by nipātana; the long vowel by nipātana; the "ā" acute by the affix accent; शेश्छन्दसि बहुलम् (पा. ६-१-७०) "luk"; "iva" — no loss of case-ending; with "iva," compounding and the first member's accent by the vārttika (पा. २-१-४-२). "Vaṃsagaḥ" — the intended accent by the "pṛṣodarādi" class (पा. ६-३-१०९). "Kṛṣṭīḥ" — "karṣantīti kṛṣṭayaḥ," "ktic" by "ktic ktau ca saṃjñāyām"; "c"-marked, end-acute. "Iyarti" — "ṛ sṛ gatau," "tip," "śap" → "ślu," doubling (पा. ६-१-१०); अभ्यासस्यासवर्णे … "i" for the reduplicate "a" by अर्तिपिपर्त्योश्च (पा. ७-४-७७); "iy" by "abhyāsasyāsavarṇe" (पा. ६-४-७८); guṇa of the aṅga, with "r." "Ojasā" — उब्जेर्बलोपश्च (उ. ४-१९१) "asun," with loss of "b"; guṇa of the light penultimate (पा. ७-३-८६); "n"-marked, first-syllable acute. "Īśānaḥ" — "īśa aiśvarye," "laṭ," "śānac"; "śap" elided by "adiprabhṛtibhyaḥ śapaḥ"; the "c"-accent set aside, the lasārvadhātuka is unaccented after an anudāttet root, so the root accent remains. "Apratiṣkutaḥ" — "apratiśabditaḥ," "ku śabde," "kta" in the passive; "suṭ" (pāraskarādi), "ṣ" (suṣāmādi); nañ-compound, the indeclinable first member's accent.

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

वृषा (vṛṣā) — the bestower of what is desired | ईशानः (īśānaḥ) — the capable one | अप्रतिष्कुतः (apratiṣkutaḥ) — (Indra) who has no opponent | वंसगः (vaṃsagaḥ) — a bull (the leader of a herd of cows) | यूथा इव (yūthā iva) — as it goes toward its herd (of cows) | कृष्टीः (kṛṣṭīḥ) — to human beings | ओजसा (ojasā) — with his strength and might | इयर्ति (iyarti) — reaches (that is, comes near to men).

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

Indra is the one who fulfils the desires of men; he is all-capable; he has no rival — he is apratiṣkuta. Such an Indra goes near men as a bull, the leader of a herd of cattle, goes toward its herd.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> Indra, granter of all desires, the lord unopposed and the mighty approaches men with his strength like a bull walking towards his herds.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

The main sense: Indra is the lord, all-capable, and none can oppose his word. Such an Indra, by the might he has, comes near men in order to grant people's desired ends. As a bull that is attached to the welfare of its herd goes near the herd to protect it, so Indra, being attached to our welfare, will come near us. That is the sense.

"Vṛṣā" — kāmānāṃ varṣitā: "the one who showers desires." Varṣitā means "one who causes rain to fall"; that is, the one who rains down the desires of the people — the granter of what is wished.

"Yūtheva" — here the word-division is yūthā iva. In the Ṛgveda the word iva is not counted as a separate word but is customarily read together with the word it belongs to. By this, as the Bhāṣyakāra says (vibhakter lopaḥ), the case-ending of the principal word suffers no obstruction of any kind; that is, if the two words yūthā and iva are present, the meaning that belongs to them is the same for the single combined word. Examples: अग्नेरिव (agner iva, = agneḥ iva); अजेव (ajeva, = ajā iva); अञ्जसेव (añjaseva, = añjasā iva); अप्रशस्ता इव (apraśastā iva, = apraśastāḥ iva); अभ्रमिव (abhram iva, = abhraṃ iva); अमृतादिव (amṛtād iva, = amṛtāt iva), and so on. The word yūthā is derived from the root yu "to join, to mix"; yuvanti miśrībhavantīti yūthāni — "those that join, that mix together, are yūthas." In the Veda the final syllable ni is dropped, so yūthā appears.

"Vaṃsagaḥ" — वननीयगतिर्वृषभः (vananīya-gatir vṛṣabhaḥ) — "the bull of lovely gait," the leader of the herd, the chief; leader, protector.

"Kṛṣṭīḥ" — कर्षन्तीति कृष्टयः (karṣantīti kṛṣṭayaḥ) — "those who plough" — those who till, who cultivate (by ploughing the earth). This word is accusative plural.

"Īśānaḥ" — a form of the root īśa aiśvarye ("to be master"); the lord; the all-capable.

“Apratiṣkutaḥ” — Sāyaṇa’s gloss: अप्रतिशब्दितः । कु शब्दे । कर्मणि क्तः ॥ (apratiśabditaḥ | ku śabde | karmaṇi ktaḥ ||) — “one to whom no counter-word is spoken; [root] ku in the sense of sound; kta in the passive.” That is, the root ku means “to make a sound.” The word apratiṣkutaḥ, formed from this root, means apratiśabditaḥ — one whose word has no opposition, no equal, who is unobstructed.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥

(Pp. 293–294. Page header p. 293: “A. 1, A. 1, Va. 14.” Characterized; numbers as printed.)

- वृषा (vṛṣā) — from root vṛṣu secane (“to sprinkle, shower”) with “kanin” by कनिन्युवृषितक्षिराजिधन्विद्युप्रतिदिवः (उ. सू. १-१५४ [?], the last digit unclear; the bhāṣya gave “१-१५६”), the roots glossed one by one; “kit,” so no guṇa of the light penultimate; “n”-marked, first-syllable acute.
- यूथा इव (yūthā iva) — root yu miśraṇāmiśraṇayoḥ (“to join, to separate”) with thak, formed irregularly (nipātita) by तिथपृष्ठगूथयूथप्रोथाः (उ. सू. २-१२); the long vowel arises from that irregularity; ā is udātta by the suffix; “śi” for “jas” by जश्शसोः शिः (पा. सू. ७-१-२०), elided by शेश्छन्दसि बहुलम् (पा. सू. ६-१-७०) — since “lopaḥ” carries on from लोपो व्योर्वलि (पा. सू. ६-१-६६) and “luk” does not, it is wrong to explain it as “luk”; the compound with iva (ivena samāsaḥ vibhakty-alopaḥ pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ ca vaktavyam, Pā. 2-1-4 vārttika 2) keeps the first member’s accent.
- वंसगः (vaṃsagaḥ) — a pṛṣodarādi form (Pā. 6-3-109): the desired shape and accent are established.
- कृष्टीः (kṛṣṭīḥ) — karṣanti iti kṛṣṭayaḥ; ktic suffix by “ktic-ktau ca saṃjñāyām” (Pā. 3-3-174); final-udātta by cit (Pā. 6-1-163).
- इयर्ति (iyarti) — root ṛ (“to go”) + laṭ, third singular tip; śap then śluḥ by “juhotyādibhyaḥ śluḥ” (Pā. 2-4-75); doubling by श्लौ (पा. सू. ६-१-१०); उरत् (पा. सू. ७-४-६६) “a” for the reduplicate “ṛ,” with “r” by उरण् रपरः (पा. सू. १-१-५१); in “ar-ṛ-ti” हलादिः शेषः (पा. सू. ७-४-६०) keeps only the first consonant (by the class view of “abhyāsa”), so “r” is lost; or, in the Aṣṭādhyāyī as recited in saṃhitā, “hrasvo ’halādiḥ śeṣaḥ” is divided as ह्रस्वः (पा. सू. ७-४-५९), “ahal,” “ādiḥ śeṣaḥ” (७-४-६०)… (p. 294:) “ahal” removes the “r”; अर्तिपिपर्त्योश्च (पा. सू. ७-४-७७) “i” for the reduplicate of “ṛ” and “pṝ” before “ślu”; “iyaṅ” by अभ्यासस्यासवर्णे (पा. सू. ६-४-७८); guṇa with “r” (पा. सू. ७-३-८४): “iyarti.” The Bālamanoramā holds that “arti-pipartyoś ca” should set aside “urat” from the start; but by the paribhāṣā अभ्यासविकारेषु बाध्यबाधकभावो नास्ति (परिभा. ६४), and since Kaiyaṭa, on 7-4-77, gives the order “tip, śap, ślu, doubling, urat, it, iyaṅ, guṇa with r,” the process first given, following the Veda-bhāṣya, is right.
- ओजसा (ojasā) — root ubja ārjave (“to be straight/strong”); asun with loss of b by उब्जेर्बले बलोपश्च (उ. सू. ४-६९१ [?], as printed; the bhāṣya gave “४-१९१”) in the sense of strength; guṇa of the light penultimate by पुगन्तलघूपधस्य च (पा. सू. ७-३-८६); “n”-marked, first-syllable acute.

- ईशानः (īśānaḥ) — root īśa aiśvarye + śānac in place of laṭ by "laṭaḥ śatṛśānacau"; śap dropped by "ādiprabhṛtibhyaḥ śapaḥ"; the cit suffix would give final-udātta (Pā. 6-1-163), but the root is anudāttet so the following sārvadhātuka ending śānac is unaccented, and the dhātu-accent remains (Pā. 6-1-186).
- अप्रतिष्कुतः (apratiṣkutaḥ) — "one who has nothing answering"; root ku śabde + kta in the passive sense with prati before; suṭ by "pāraskarādīni ca saṃjñāyām" (पा. सू. ६-१-१५७) — the pāraskarādi group is an ākṛti-gaṇa (a class identified by its character), the word is to be counted in it; s→ṣ by "suṣāmādiṣu ca" (Pā. 8-3-98), also an ākṛti-gaṇa; prati-ṣkuta, then the naṅ compound a-pratiṣkuta; accent of the first member by "tatpuruṣe tulyārtha…" (Pā. 6-2-2).

Page 294

(Completes the grammar above (characterized there), ending with the accent of apratiṣkutaḥ by "tatpuruṣe tulyārtha…" (पा. सू. ६-२-२) and the number ॥८॥.)

॥८॥

---

Sūkta 7, Rik 9

(Saṃhitā accents as printed (p. 295); Pada unaccented. In "kṣitīnām" only the bar under "kṣi" is printed; the next mark (a svarita stroke after the acute) is missing, hence [accent ?].)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

य एकश्चर्षणीनां वसूनामिरज्यति । इन्द्रः पञ्च क्षितीनाम् ॥९॥ [accent ?]

ya ékaś carṣaṇīnāṃ vásūnām irajyáti | índraḥ páñca kṣitīnām ||9|| [accent ?]

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

यः । एकः । चर्षणीनाम् । वसूनाम् । इरज्यति ॥ इन्द्रः । पञ्च । क्षितीनाम् ॥९॥

yaḥ | ekaḥ | carṣaṇīnām | vasūnām | irajyati || indraḥ | pañca | kṣitīnām ||9||

Page 295 — Rik 9: Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

य इन्द्रः स्वयमेक एव चर्षणीनां मनुष्याणामिरज्यति ईष्टे । तथा वसूनां धनानामिरज्यति स इन्द्रः पञ्च निषादपञ्चमानां क्षितीनां निवासार्हाणां वर्णानामनुग्रहीतेति शेषः ॥

ya indraḥ svayam eka eva carṣaṇīnāṃ manuṣyāṇām irajyati īṣṭe | tathā vasūnāṃ dhanānām irajyati sa indraḥ pañca niṣāda-pañcamānāṃ kṣitīnāṃ nivāsārhāṇāṃ varṇānām anugrahīteti śeṣaḥ ||

Translation: "That Indra who is, by himself alone, the ruler (irajyati, īṣṭe) of the carṣaṇīs — of human beings — and likewise the ruler of the vasus — of riches: that Indra is the bestower of favour (anugrahītā — this is the word to be supplied to complete the sentence) on the five kṣitis — the five classes of those fit to dwell [on earth], of which the fifth is the Niṣādas."

Grammar of the Bhāṣya (characterized, references as printed; page header "A. 1, A. 1, Va. 14"): "Ekaḥ" — "iṇ gatau": इण्भीकापाशल्यतिमर्चिभ्यः कन् (उ. ३-४३) "kan"; by "bāhulaka" no loss; "n"-marked, first-syllable acute. "Carṣaṇīnām" — end-acute by the stem accent; with "antodāttāt" carried on, the case-ending is acute by नामन्यतरस्याम्. "Vasūnām" — with "nit" carried on, शॄस्वृस्निहित्रप्यसिवसिहनिक्लिदिबन्धिमनिभ्यश्च (उ. १-११) "u"; "n"-marked, first-syllable acute. "Irajyati" — "irajya" in the kaṇḍvādi class, in the sense of "īrṣyā," here "aiśvarya": कण्ड्वादिभ्यो यक् (पा. ३-१-२७) "yak," acute by the affix accent. "Pañca" — "paci vyaktīkaraṇe," "kanin" by पञ्चेः … ; first-syllable acute. "Kṣitīnām" — end-acute by the stem accent; the case-ending acute by "nām anyatarasyām."

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

यः इन्द्रः (yaḥ indraḥ) — which Indra | चर्षणीनाम् (carṣaṇīnām) — of men also | वसूनाम् (vasūnām) — of riches also | इरज्यति (irajyati) — is the lord of | (सः) इन्द्रः एकः ((saḥ) indraḥ ekaḥ) — that Indra alone | पञ्च क्षितीनाम् (pañca kṣitīnām) — of the five classes of people (called Brāhmaṇa, Kṣatriya, Vaiśya, Śūdra, Niṣāda) [the bestower of favour].

Page 296

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

Indra is not only the lord of all men and of riches and other wealth, but is also the bestower of favour on the five classes of people who dwell among men.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> That Indra who alone rules over men, over riches (favours) the five classes of men (tribes).

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

A supplied word. Since this rik has no verb for its principal sentence, the Bhāṣyakāra supplies the word anugrahītā — "one who bestows favour." But the matters stated in this rik continue into the next rik, so if the two riks are read together the sense fits. It is clear that the intent is: "we invoke Indra, who is endowed with the qualities stated in this rik." There is no difficulty in supplying the word anugrahītā as the Bhāṣyakāra does.

"Ekaḥ" — one alone; only one; the sense that others do not have that capacity.

"Carṣaṇīnām" — to men, to people; Folk, people, race, etc.

"Vasūnām" — to riches, to wealth.

"Irajyati" — is the authority, is the lord. At Ṛgveda Saṃhitā 8-46-16 it is said, viśveṣām irajyantaṃ vasūnām — "the ruler of all riches." There too the sense is "lord of all wealth and the like"; so the word irajyati means "is the lord" — to order, to rule over.

"Pañca kṣitīnām" — the word kṣitayaḥ is read among the twenty-five names for human beings beginning with manuṣyāḥ, narāḥ (Ni. "3-7" as read [?], the digits small). Pañca kṣitīnām means pañca janānām — "of the five peoples." For this phrase:

- the Bhāṣyakāra says: निषादपञ्चमानाम् (niṣāda-pañcamānām) — "of those of whom the Niṣādas are the fifth";
- Skandasvāmī says: kṣitīnāṃ manuṣya-jātīnāṃ gandharvāḥ pitaro devā ity etāsām — "of the kṣitis, the human kinds: the Gandharvas, the Fathers, the gods, of these" (so printed);
- Veṅkaṭamādhava gives: मनुष्याणां पञ्चानां क्षितीनां निवसतां गन्धर्वाः पितरो देवा असुरा रक्षांसीति पञ्चत्वम् (manuṣyāṇāṃ pañcānāṃ kṣitīnāṃ nivasatāṃ gandharvāḥ pitaro devā asurā rakṣāṃsīti pañcatvam) — "of the five peoples dwelling [among] men — the fivefold being: Gandharvas, Fathers, gods, Asuras, Rākṣasas."

In Sāyaṇa's view, then, kṣitīnām means the people of the five castes fit to dwell on the earth — Brāhmaṇa, Kṣatriya, Vaiśya, Śūdra, Niṣāda. Niṣādas means those who are not counted among the four varṇas beginning with the Brāhmaṇas, and who live by hunting animals. The Gonds, Kolas, Bhillas and others — early inhabitants of this land — — belong to this group. Even today they dwell, in very small numbers, in only some places such as the Central Provinces (as the source says). The words pañca janāḥ and pañcakṛṣṭīḥ occur in many places in the Ṛgveda:

> तदद्य वाचः प्रथमं मसीय येनासुराँ अभि देवा असाम । ऊर्जाद उत यज्ञियासः पञ्च जना मम होत्रं जुषध्वम् ॥
>
> tad adya vācaḥ prathamaṃ masīya yenāsurām abhi devā asāma | ūrjāda uta yajñiyāsaḥ pañca janā mama hotraṃ juṣadhvam ||
>
> (Ṛgveda Saṃhitā 10-53-4) ("That first [word] of speech may I think out today, by which we gods may overcome the Asuras; O strength-eaters and you worthy of sacrifice, five peoples, take pleasure in my offering" — gloss mine and tentative.)
>
> पञ्च जना मम होत्रं जुषन्तां गोजाता उत ये यज्ञियासः ॥ pañca janā mama hotraṃ juṣantāṃ gojātā uta ye yajñiyāsaḥ || (Ṛgveda Saṃhitā 10-53-5) (gloss mine and tentative: "Let the five peoples take pleasure in my offering — the cow-born, and those worthy of sacrifice.")
>
> सद्यश्चिद्यः शवसा पञ्च कृष्टीः सूर्य इव ज्योतिषापस्ततान ॥ sadyaś cid yaḥ śavasā pañca kṛṣṭīḥ sūrya iva jyotiṣāpas tatāna || (Ṛgveda Saṃhitā 10-178-3) (gloss mine and tentative: "He who at once, with might, [spread over] the five peoples, as the sun spreads the waters with his light.")

Yāska's explanation of the words pañca janāḥ and pañca kṛṣṭayaḥ, in his Nirukta (as printed in the source in Kannada script):

> पञ्च जना मम होत्रं जुषध्वं गन्धर्वाः पितरो देवा असुरा रक्षांसीत्येके । चत्वारो वर्णा निषादः पञ्चम इत्यौपमन्यवः । निषादः कस्मान्निषदनो भवति निषण्णमस्मिन् पापकमिति नैरुक्ताः ॥ इति ॥

pañca janā mama hotraṃ juṣadhvaṃ gandharvāḥ pitaro devā asurā rakṣāṃsīty eke | catvāro varṇā niṣādaḥ pañcama ity aupamanyavaḥ | niṣādaḥ kasmān niṣadano bhavati niṣaṇṇam asmin pāpakam iti nairuktāḥ || iti ||

Translation: "'Five peoples, take pleasure in my offering': some say [these are] the Gandharvas, the Fathers, the gods, the Asuras, the Rākṣasas. 'The four varṇas, with the Niṣāda as the fifth,' say the followers of Aupamanyava. Why is the Niṣāda so called? Because he is a niṣadana — 'in him evil is settled' — say the etymologists (nairuktāḥ)."

The Kannada commentary on this: Some say the "five peoples" are the Gandharvas, the Fathers, the gods, the Asuras and the Rākṣasas. The view of Aupamanyava and others is that the five are the four varṇas beginning with the Brāhmaṇas, plus the people of the hunter caste called Niṣāda (Sāyaṇa has approved just this). Niṣāda means those who kill animals, or — because evil is said to be full in them — it is for this reason the etymologists call them Niṣādas. Besides, there may have been five principal tribes at that time; the poet may have said pañca kṣitīnām with just this idea in mind. In any case, it is clear that even in the time of Yāska, the author of the Nirukta, there was a difference of opinion on this matter.

(A note for the Volume 2 table of contents: the printed contents list the explanation of "Pañcakṣiti" and "Pañcajana" at p. 296; it begins there and runs to this page.)

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥

(Pp. 297–298. Page header p. 297: "A. 1, A. 1, Va. 14." Characterized; numbers as printed.)

- एकः (ekaḥ) — from root iṇ gatau ("to go") with the suffix kan by इण्भीकापाशल्यतिमर्चिभ्यः कन् (उ. सू. ३-४३; the roots glossed one by one), giving i + ka; because of the Uṇādi bahulam provision, the k of kan is not given it-status (despite Pā. 1-3-8); guṇa then yields eka; the suffix is nit, so the word is initial-udātta.
- चर्षणीनाम् (carṣaṇīnām) — "carṣaṇi," a stem meaning "man," end-acute by फिषः (फि. सू. १); in the genitive plural ह्रस्वनद्यापो नुट् (पा. सू. ७-१-५४) "nuṭ"; नामि (पा. सू. ६-४-३) the long vowel; नामन्यतरस्याम् (पा. सू. ६-१-१७७) — after a stem ending in a short vowel before "matup," and end-acute, "nām" is optionally acute — so the ending is acute.
- वसूनाम् (vasūnām) — शॄस्वृस्निहित्रप्यसिवसिहनिक्लिदिबन्धिमनिभ्यश्च (उ. सू. १-१०; the roots glossed one by one) "u," "n"-marked, so first-syllable acute.
- इरज्यति (irajyati) — "irajya īrṣyāyām" in the kaṇḍvādi list; since roots have many senses, here "lordship"; कण्ड्वादिभ्यो यक् (पा. सू. ३-१-२७) "yak" in its own sense; सनाद्यन्ता धातवः (पा. सू. ३-१-३२) the root designation; "laṭ," "tip"; end-acute by the affix accent.
- पञ्च (pañca) — "paci vyaktīkaraṇe," "i"-marked, so इदितो नुम् धातोः (पा. सू. ७-१-५८) "num"; anusvāra and parasavarṇa: "pañc"; पचेश्च (as printed) "kanin": "pañcan," first-syllable acute; षड्भ्यो लुक् (पा. सू. ७-१-२२) "luk" of "jas"; नलोपः प्रातिपदिकान्तस्य (पा. सू. ८-२-७): "pañca."
- क्षितीनाम् (kṣitīnām) — end-acute by फिषः (फि. सू. १); the ending acute by "nām anyatarasyām" (पा. सू. ६-१-१७७). ॥९॥

Page 298

(Grammar of Rik 9, concluded; characterized under p. 297.)

---

Sūkta 7, Rik 10 (the last)

Page 299

(Page header: "A. 1, A. 1, Va. 14." Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

इन्द्रं॑ वो वि॒श्व॒त॒स्परि॒ हवा॑महे॒ जने॑भ्यः । अ॒स्माक॑मस्तु॒ केव॑लः ॥१०॥

índraṃ vo viśvátas pári hávāmahe jánebhyaḥ | asmākam astu kévalaḥ ||10||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

इन्द्रम् । वः । विश्वतः । परि । हवामहे । जनेभ्यः ॥ अस्माकम् । अस्तु । केवलः ॥१०॥

indram | vaḥ | viśvataḥ | pari | havāmahe | janebhyaḥ || asmākam | astu | kevalaḥ || 10||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

(Application of the rik.)

आश्विनं शंसिष्यन्निन्द्रं वो विश्वतस्परीति जुहुयात् । संस्थितेष्वाश्विनाय स्तुवत इति खण्डे बण्महाँ असि सूर्येति द्वाभ्यामिन्द्रं वो विश्वतस्परि । आ. ६-५ । इति सूत्रितम् ॥ चतुर्विंशे ऽहनि प्रातःसवने ब्राह्मणाच्छंसिन इन्द्रं वो विश्वतस्परीत्यारम्भणीया । चतुर्विंश इत्युपक्रम्य ऋजुनीती नो वरुण इन्द्रं वो विश्वतस्परि । आ. ७-२ । इति सूत्रितम् ॥

āśvinaṃ śaṃsiṣyann indraṃ vo viśvatas parīti juhuyāt | saṃsthiteṣv āśvināya stuvata iti khaṇḍe baṇ mahām̐ asi sūryeti dvābhyām indraṃ vo viśvatas pari | ā. 6-5 | iti sūtritam || caturviṃśe 'hani prātaḥsavane brāhmaṇācchaṃsina indraṃ vo viśvatas parity ārambhaṇīyā | caturviṃśa ity upakramya ṛjunītī no varuṇa indraṃ vo viśvatas pari | ā. 7-2 | iti sūtritam ||

Translation: "One who is about to recite the Āśvina[-śastra] should make the offering with 'indraṃ vo viśvatas pari'. In the section [beginning] 'saṃsthiteṣv āśvināya stuvate,' with the two [riks] 'baṇ mahām̐ asi sūrya' [and] 'indraṃ vo viśvatas pari' — so it is laid down (Āśvalāyana 6-5). On the twenty-fourth day, at the morning pressing, 'indraṃ vo viśvatas pari' is the opening [rik] for the Brāhmaṇācchaṃsin; beginning from 'on the twenty-fourth,' it is so laid down: 'ṛjunītī no varuṇa, indraṃ vo viśvatas pari' (Āśvalāyana 7-2)."

हे ऋत्विग्यजमाना विश्वतः सर्वेभ्यो जनेभ्यः परि उपर्यवस्थितमिन्द्रं वो युष्मदर्थं हवामहे । आह्वयामः । अतः स इन्द्रो ऽस्माकं केवलो ऽसाधारणो ऽस्तु । इतरेभ्यो ऽप्यधिकमनुग्रहमस्मासु करोत्वित्यर्थः ॥

he ṛtvig-yajamānā viśvataḥ sarvebhyo janebhyaḥ pari uparyavasthitam indraṃ vo yuṣmad-arthaṃ havāmahe | āhvayāmaḥ | ataḥ sa indro 'smākaṃ kevalo 'sādhāraṇo 'stu | itarebhyo 'py adhikam anugraham asmāsu karotv ity arthaḥ ||

Translation: "O priests and sacrificers! [From] viśvataḥ — above all men, pari — standing above — we call Indra for you (vaḥ, on your behalf); we summon him. Therefore, let that Indra be ours alone (kevalaḥ), unshared; the sense is: 'Let him grant us favour even more than to others.'"

Grammar of the Bhāṣya (characterized, references as printed): "Indram" — ending in "ran," "n"-marked, first-syllable acute. "Vaḥ" — with "anudāttaṃ sarvam" carried on, बहुवचनस्य वस्नसौ (पा. ८-१-२१) "vas." "Viśvataḥ" — "liti": the syllable before the affix acute. "Pari" — first-syllable acute as a nipāta; in the saṃhitā पञ्चम्याः परावध्यर्थे (पा. ८-३-५१) "s" for the visarga. "Havāmahe" — "hveñ," "śap," samprasāraṇa by "bahulaṃ chandasi," the prior form, guṇa and "av." "Janebhyaḥ" — "jāyanta iti janāḥ," "jani" with "ghañ" in the object sense; जनिवध्योश्च (पा. ७-३-३५) no vṛddhi of the penultimate; "ñ"-marked, first-syllable acute. "Asmākam" — "asmad" end-acute by the stem; "śeṣe lopaḥ" (पा. ७-२-९०) loss of the final; on the view of loss of the "ṭi," साम आकम् (पा. ७-१-३३) "ākam," the single substitute acute; on the other view, the "ā" acute by the accent of the removed acute. "Kevalaḥ" — first-syllable acute, the vṛṣādi class being an ākṛtigaṇa. ॥१४॥ ॥२॥

(The Sanskrit ends "// १४ // // २ //": the end of the fourteenth varga and of the second anuvāka, of which this sūkta is the last.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

(O priests and sacrificers, you people!) विश्वतः जनेभ्यः (viśvataḥ janebhyaḥ) — than all people | परि (pari) — greater | इन्द्रम् (indram) — Indra | वः (vaḥ) — for you (on your behalf) | हवामहे (havāmahe) — we invoke | (that Indra) अस्माकम् (asmākam) — to us | केवलः (kevalaḥ) — as the bestower of greater favour (as the chief beloved) | अस्तु (astu) — may he be.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O people — priests, sacrificers and the rest! Indra is greater than all people, or is [present] everywhere. We invoke such an Indra on your behalf (here, i.e., to this sacrificial ground). May that Indra be to us the chief bestower of favour, or the one we need.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> We imoke [sic] for you Indra (who is) above all men. May he be exclusively onr [sic] own.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

This rik is found in the Sāma Veda 1620; Atharvaveda 20-39-1, 20-70-16; Taittirīya Saṃhitā 1-6-12-1; Maitrāyaṇīya Saṃhitā 4-11-4. If read together with the previous rik, the sense fits correctly. This mantra is used for invoking Indra — in the invocation of the eight guardians of the directions (aṣṭadikpālakas) in rites such as the worship of the nine planets (navagrahārādhanā) prescribed in the household-rite texts (gṛhya), and in other occasions.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥

(Pp. 300–301. Characterized; numbers as printed.)

- इन्द्रम् (indram) — from root idi paramaiśvarye ("to be supremely lordly") with the ran suffix by the Uṇādi sūtra ṛjrendrāgra… (उ. सू. २-१८६); initial-udātta by the nit suffix.
- वः (vaḥ) — unaccented by the rule on the "unaccented, in the middle of a pāda" (अनुदात्तं सर्वमपादादौ, पा. सू. ८-१-१८); vas substituted for yuṣmān/yuṣmabhyam/yuṣmākam (Pā. 8-1-21); the second/fourth/sixth plural forms of yuṣmad and asmad take vas and nas in turn, these being unaccented. The source's example: for yuṣmabhyam an unaccented vas is substituted.
- विश्वतः (viśvataḥ) — "tasil" by पञ्चम्यास्तसिल् (पा. सू. ५-३-७); लिति (पा. सू. ६-१-१९३) makes the syllable before "tasil" acute.
- परि (pari) — a nipāta, first-syllable acute. In the saṃhitā, before "pari" in the sense "above," the visarga of a fifth-case form becomes "s" by पञ्चम्याः परावध्यर्थे (पा. सू. ८-३-५१): "viśvatas pari."
- हवामहे (havāmahe) — "hveñ," "laṭ," first plural "mahiṅ," "śap"; samprasāraṇa by बहुलं छन्दसि (पा. सू. ६-१-३४), the prior form by संप्रसारणाच्च (पा. सू. ६-१-१०८), guṇa, "av" and the long vowel; "e" for the "ṭi": "havāmahe."
- जनेभ्यः (janebhyaḥ) — "janyante (are born) iti janāḥ": "jana" with "ṇic," then "ghañ" in the object sense; णेरनिटि (पा. सू. ६-४-५१) drops "ṇi"; अत उपधायाः (पा. सू. ७-२-११६) would give vṛddhi, but जनिवध्योश्च (पा. सू. ७-३-३५) forbids it for "jan" and "vadh" before "ciṇ" and "ñit/ṇit" kṛt affixes; first-syllable acute by ञ्नित्यादिर्नित्यम् (पा. सू. ६-१-१९७).
- अस्माकम् (asmākam) — "asmad + ām": साम आकम् (पा. सू. ७-१-३३) — "ākam" replaces "sām" after "yuṣmad, asmad," the ending being treated as "sām"; "asmad" end-acute; शेषे लोपः (पा. सू. ७-२-९०) drops the final letter: "asma + ākam," the long vowel, and the single substitute acute by एकादेश उदात्तेनोदात्तः (पा. सू. ८-२-५); on the view that "śeṣe lopaḥ" drops the "ṭi," the "ā" is acute by अनुदात्तस्य च यत्रोदात्तलोपः (पा. सू. ६-१-१६१). ॥ १०॥
- केवलः (kevalaḥ) — initial-udātta by being counted in the vṛṣādi class, which is an ākṛti-gaṇa (a class identified by its character).

Page 301 — Sūkta 7 ends

(Page header: "A. 1, A. 1, Va. 14." This page carries the Rik 10 grammar from "viśvataḥ" to "asmākam" (characterized under p. 300), ending ॥१०॥, then a printed ornament marking the end of the sūkta.)

॥१०॥

End of Sūkta 7.

---

Page 302 — opening of Sūkta 8 (third anuvāka)

॥ ಎಂಟನೆಯ ಸೂಕ್ತವು ॥ — Sūkta 8 — “ā indra sānasiṃ rayim” (“The Eighth Sūkta”)

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥ (introductory note on the application of the sūkta)

> तृतीये ऽनुवाके चत्वारि सूक्तानि । तत्रेन्द्र सानसिमित्यादिकं प्रथमं दशर्चं सूक्तं सुरूपकृत्नुमित्यादिषु षट्सु पञ्चमम् । ऋष्यादयस्तु पूर्ववत् । विशेषविनियोगस्तु । महाव्रते निष्केवल्य औष्णिहतृचाशीतावेन्द्र सानसिं रयिमित्यादिके द्वे सूक्ते । पञ्चमारण्यक औष्णिहे तृचाशीतिरिति खण्डे शौनकेन सूत्रितम् । सुरूपकृत्नुमूतय इति त्रीण्येन्द्र सानसिं रयिमिति सूक्ते । ऐ. आ. ५-२-५ ॥ इति ॥ अतिरात्रे प्रथमपर्याये ऽच्छावाकशस्त्र इन्द्र सानसिमिति सूक्तम् । सूत्रितं च । इन्द्रमिद्गाथिनो बृहदेन्द्र सानसिम् । आ. ६-४ । इति ॥ दर्शयागे इन्द्रयाजिनः सान्नाय्यस्यानुवाक्यैन्द्र सानसिं रयिमिति । उक्ता देवता इत्यस्मिन्खण्ड एन्द्र सानसिं रयिं प्रसाहिषे पुरुहूत शत्रून् । आ. १-६ । इति सूत्रितम् ॥
>
> tṛtīye ’nuvāke catvāri sūktāni | tatrendra sānasim ity-ādikaṃ prathamaṃ daśarcaṃ sūktaṃ surūpakṛtnum ity-ādiṣu ṣaṭsu pañcamam | ṛṣy-ādayas tu pūrvavat | viśeṣa-viniyogas tu | mahāvrate niṣkevalya auṣṇiha-tṛcāśītāv endra sānasiṃ rayim ity-ādike dve sūkte | pañcamāraṇyaka auṣṇihe tṛcāśītir iti khaṇḍe śaunakena sūtritam | surūpakṛtnum ūtaya iti trīṇy endra sānasiṃ rayim iti sūkte | ai. ā. 5-2-5 || iti || atirātre prathama-paryāye ’cchāvāka-śastra indra sānasim iti sūktam | sūritaṃ ca | indram id gāthino bṛhad endra sānasim | ā. 6-4 | iti || darśayāge indrayājinaḥ sānnāyyasyānuvākyaindra sānasiṃ rayim iti | uktā devatā ity asmin khaṇḍa endra sānasiṃ rayiṃ prasāhiṣe puruhūta śatrūn | ā. 1-6 | iti sūtritam ||

Translation: “In the third anuvāka there are four sūktas. Of these, the first, the ten-rik sūkta beginning indra sānasim, is the fifth among the six beginning with surūpakṛtnum. Ṛṣi and the rest are as before. Its special application: in the Mahāvrata, in the niṣkevalya [śastra], among the eighty uṣṇih triplets, the two sūktas beginning ā indra sānasiṃ rayim [are used]; in the Fifth Āraṇyaka, in the section”auṣṇihe tṛcāśītiḥ,” Śaunaka lays down: ‘the three beginning surūpakṛtnum ūtaye, and the two sūktas ā indra sānasiṃ rayim’ (Aitareya Āraṇyaka 5-2-5). In the Atirātra, in the first paryāya, in the Acchāvāka’s śastra, the sūkta ā indra sānasim is used; so it is laid down: ‘indram id gāthino bṛhad, ā indra sānasim’ (Āśvalāyana 6-4). In the Darśa sacrifice the anuvākyā of the sānnāyya for one who sacrifices to Indra is ā indra sānasiṃ rayim; in the section ‘uktā devatāḥ’ it is laid down: ‘ā indra sānasiṃ rayiṃ, prasāhiṣe puruhūta śatrūn’ (Āśvalāyana 1-6).”

॥ Anuvāda (Kannada rendering) ॥ The sūkta ā indra sānasim begins the third anuvāka. This anuvāka has four sūktas. The first of them, ā indra sānasim, has ten riks; among the sūktas beginning surūpakṛtnum it is the fifth. Ṛṣi, deity and meter are as before. Special application: in the Mahāvrata, when reciting the niṣkevalya-śastra mantras, the two sūktas beginning ā indra sānasiṃ rayim are recited among the eighty uṣṇih triplets; Śaunaka states in his Sūktānukramaṇī that this is stated in the Aitareya Āraṇyaka (the fifth āraṇyaka; Aitareya Āraṇyaka 5) in the section auṣṇihe tṛcāśītiḥ. The Aitareya Brāhmaṇa also says that the three sūktas beginning surūpakṛtnum ūtaye and the two beginning ā indra sānasiṃ rayim are included in the uṣṇih triplets (Ai. Ā. 5-2-5). Further, in the Atirātra rite, in the first paryāya, when the priest called Acchāvāka recites the śastra mantras, the sūkta ā indra sānasim is to be recited, as Āśvalāyana says in his Śrauta-sūtra (6-4) in the sūtra indram id gāthino bṛhad, ā indra sānasim; and in the Darśa-yāga the sacrificer of Indra recites the sūkta ā indra sānasiṃ rayim for the sāmnāyya-anuvākyā. Āśvalāyana says this in the section uktā devatāḥ (1-6), where the sūktas ā indra sānasi rayiṃ and prasāhiṣe puruhūta śatrūn are to be recited. This is the order of application of this sūkta.

Page 303 — Sūkta 8, Rik 1

॥ ॐ ॥

॥ Sūkta — 8 ॥ ॥ Maṇḍala — 1 ॥ Anuvāka — 3 ॥ Sūkta — 8 ॥ ॥ Aṣṭaka — 1 ॥ Adhyāya — 1 ॥ Varga — 15, 16 ॥ (page header "A. 1, A. 1, Va. 15") ॥ Mantras contained in this sūkta: 1–10 ॥ ॥ Ṛṣi — Madhucchandā Vaiśvāmitra ॥ ॥ Devatā — Indra ॥ ॥ Chandaḥ — Gāyatrī ॥

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. In the second line the print sets a svarita stroke over "va" of "varṣiṣṭham" (not expected after "saham"), hence [accent ?]; the IAST leaves "varṣiṣṭham" unmarked.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

एन्द्र॑ सान॒सिं र॒यिं स॒जित्वा॑नं सदा॒सह॑म् । वर्षि॑ष्ठमू॒तये॑ भर ॥१॥ [accent ?]

éndra sānasíṃ rayíṃ sajítvānaṃ sadāsáhaṃ | varṣiṣṭham ūtáye bhara ||1|| [accent ?]

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

आ । इन्द्र । सानसिम् । रयिम् । सऽजित्वानम् । सदाऽसहम् ॥ वर्षिष्ठम् । ऊतये । भर ॥१॥

ā | indra | sānasim | rayim | sa-jitvānam | sadā-saham || varṣiṣṭham | ūtaye | bhara || 1||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे इन्द्र ऊतये ऽस्मद्रक्षणार्थं रयिं धनमा भर । आहर । कीदृशं रयिम् । सानसिं संभजनीयं सजित्वानं समानशत्रुजयशीलम् । धनेन हि शूरान्भृत्यान्संपाद्य शत्रवो जीयन्ते । सदासहं सर्वदा शत्रूणामभिभवहेतुं वर्षिष्ठम् अतिशयेन वृद्धं प्रभूतमित्यर्थः ॥

he indra ūtaye 'smad-rakṣaṇārthaṃ rayiṃ dhanam ā bhara | āhara | kīdṛśaṃ rayim | sānasiṃ saṃbhajanīyaṃ sajitvānaṃ samāna-śatru-jaya-śīlam | dhanena hi śūrān bhṛtyān saṃpādya śatravo jīyante | sadāsahaṃ sarvadā śatrūṇām abhibhava-hetuṃ varṣiṣṭham atiśayena vṛddhaṃ prabhūtam ity arthaḥ ||

Translation: "O Indra! For our protection, bring (ā bhara — fetch) wealth (rayim). What kind of wealth? Sānasim — worth enjoying; sajitvānam — of a nature to conquer enemies equally (samāna-śatru-jaya-śīla): for with wealth one gathers brave soldiers and servants, and so enemies are conquered; sadāsaham — at all times the cause of overpowering enemies; varṣiṣṭham — exceedingly grown, abundant."

Grammar of the Bhāṣya (pp. 303–304; characterized, references as printed): "Sānasim" — "vana, ṣaṇa saṃbhaktau": the affix "asi," the vṛddhi and the end-acute by nipātana in सानसिधर्णसि... (उ. ४-१०७). "Rayim" — end-acute by the stem accent. "Sajitvānam" — "samānān arīn jetuṃ śīlam asya": अन्येभ्योऽपि दृश्यन्ते (पा. ३-२-७५) "kvanip"; an upapada compound; "sa" for "samāna" by समानस्य छन्दस्यमूर्धप्रभृत्युदर्केषु (पा. ६-३-८४); the kṛt-final second member's accent, so the root accent remains. "Varṣiṣṭham" — "vṛddha" + "iṣṭhan" by अतिशायने तमबिष्ठनौ (पा. ५-३-५५); "varṣ" for "vṛddha" by प्रियस्थिर... (पा. ६-४-१५७); "n"-marked, first-syllable acute. "Ūtaye" — with "udāttaḥ" carried on, "ūtiyūti..." forms "ktin" as acute by nipātana. "Bhara" — हृग्रहोर्भश्छन्दसि (पा. ८-२-३२-१, a vārttika) "bh" for "h"; by ते प्राग्धातोः (पा. १-४-८०) the upasarga should precede the root, but व्यवहिताश्च (पा. १-४-८२) allows separation in the Veda.

Page 304

(The top of the page ends the Bhāṣya's grammar, characterized under p. 303.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

(हे) इन्द्र ((he) indra) — O Indra | ऊतये (ūtaye) — for our protection | सानसिम् (sānasim) — fit to be enjoyed | सजित्वानम् (sajitvānam) — helping to conquer enemies | सदासहम् (sadāsaham) — the cause of the enemies' defeat | वर्षिष्ठम् (varṣiṣṭham) — vast | रयिम् (rayim) — wealth | आ भर (ā bhara) — bring.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Indra! For our protection, bring abundant wealth. With that wealth we can enjoy comfort; with the help of wealth we can gather brave warriors and conquer our enemies in battle; if we have wealth we can defeat enemies easily. For these purposes bring us abundant wealth, and protect us.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> O Indra, bring for our protection riches, most abundent [sic], enjoyable, the source of victory and ever defeating our foes.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

"Sānasim" — saṃbhajanīyam — a means of enjoying happiness; enjoyable.

"Sajitvānam" — धनेन हि शूरान् भृत्यान् संपाद्य शत्रवो जीयन्ते (dhanena hi śūrān bhṛtyān saṃpādya śatravo jīyante) — "by wealth, having secured brave men as servants, enemies are conquered." That is, with the help of wealth one gathers heroic warriors and wins over enemies; so the Bhāṣyakāra explains.

“Rayim” — wealth (dhana). “Wealth” does not mean only material goods; it includes the things needed for achieving happiness — sons and grandsons, servants and the like, cattle such as cows, houses, and so on.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (Kannada; page header “A. 1, A. 1, Va. 15”; characterized, numbers as printed)

सानसिम् (sānasim) — “vana, ṣaṇa saṃbhaktau,” the root “san”: सानसिधर्णसिपर्णसितण्डुलाङ्कुशचषालइल्वलपल्वलधिष्ण्यशल्याः (उ. सू. ४-५४७ [?], as printed; the Bhāṣya gave “४-१०७”) forms by nipātana the affix “asi,” the vṛddhi of the penultimate, and the end-acute. “Dharṇasi” is not seen in the present Kaumudī text, but following the Daśapādī reading the Veda-bhāṣya has it. रयिम् — end-acute by the stem accent. सजित्वानम् — “samānān arīn jetuṃ śīlam asya”: अन्येभ्योऽपि दृश्यन्ते (printed “पा. सू. ३-४-७५,” i.e. 3-2-75) “kvanip” after “ji” with the upapada “samāna”; ह्रस्वस्य पिति कृति तुक् (पा. सू. ६-१-७१) “tuk”; the upapada compound; “sa” for “samāna” by समानस्य छन्दस्यमूर्ध्वप्रभृत्युदर्केषु (पा. सू. ६-३-८४); the kṛt-final second member keeps its accent by गतिकारकोपपदात्कृत् (पा. सू. ६-२-१३९), so the root accent remains. वर्षिष्ठम् — अतिशायने तमबिष्ठनौ (पा. सू. ५-३-५५) “iṣṭhan” after “vṛddha”; प्रियस्थिरस्फिरोरुबहुलगुरुवृद्धतृप्रदीर्घवृन्दारकाणां प्रस्थस्फवर्बंहिगर्वर्षिवृन्दाः (पा. सू. ६-४-१५७) “varṣ” for “vṛddha”; “n”-marked, first-syllable acute. ऊतये — “ūtiyūti…” (पा. सू. ३-३-९७) forms “ktin” as acute by nipātana. भर — “hṛñ haraṇe,” “loṭ,” second singular: “hara”; हृग्रहोर्भश्छन्दसि (पा. सू. ८-२-३२ वा. २) “bh” for “h”: “bhara”; ते प्राग्धातोः (पा. सू. १-४-८०) would require the upasarga directly before the root, but व्यवहिताश्च (पा. सू. १-४-८२) allows “ā” to stand apart in the Veda.

॥१॥

---

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

नि येन॑ मुष्टिहत्यया॒ नि वृ॒त्रा रु॒णधा॑महै । त्वोता॑सो॒ न्यर्व॑ता ॥२॥

ní yéna muṣṭihatyáyā ní vṛtrā́ ruṇádhāmahai | tvótāso ny árvatā ||2||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

नि । येन । मुष्टिऽहत्यया । नि । वृत्रा । रुणधामहै ॥ त्वाऽऊतासः । नि । अर्वता ॥२॥

ni | yena | muṣṭi-hatyayā | ni | vṛtrā | ruṇadhāmahai || tvā-ūtāsaḥ | ni | arvatā ||2||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

येन धनेन संपादितानां भटानां नि मुष्टिहत्यया नितरां मुष्टिप्रहारेण वृत्रा शत्रून् नि रुणधामहै निरुद्धान् करवाम तादृशं धनमाहरेत्यर्थः । त्वोतासस्त्वया रक्षिता वयमर्वताश्वेन नि रुणधामहा इत्यनुषङ्गः । पदातियुद्धेनाश्वयुद्धेन च शत्रून्विनाशयामेत्यर्थः ॥

yena dhanena saṃpāditānāṃ bhaṭānāṃ ni muṣṭihatyayā nitarāṃ muṣṭi-prahāreṇa vṛtrā śatrūn ni ruṇadhāmahai niruddhān karavāma tādṛśaṃ dhanam āhara ity arthaḥ | tvotāsas tvayā rakṣitā vayam arvatāśvena ni ruṇadhāmahā ity anuṣaṅgaḥ | padāti-yuddhenāśva-yuddhena ca śatrūn vināśayāmety arthaḥ ||

Translation: "With which wealth — by [the strength of] soldiers secured with it — by muṣṭihatyā, i.e., by thorough fist-blows, we may restrain (ni ruṇadhāmahai) the vṛtras, the enemies, we may make them obstructed: bring such wealth — this is the sense. Tvotāsaḥ — we, protected by you — arvatā, with a horse, may restrain [them]: so the sentence is completed by carrying over [the verb]. The sense: let us destroy enemies by infantry fighting and by cavalry fighting."

Grammar of the Bhāṣya (pp. 306–307; characterized, references as printed): "Muṣṭihatyayā" — हनस्त च (पा. ३-१-१०८) "kyap" after "han" with a subanta upapada, "t" for "n"; the kṛt-final second member's accent would hold, but by परादिश्छन्दसि बहुलम् (पा. ६-२-१९९) — with "bahula," as in "tricakra" etc., the Veda has end-acute (पा. ६-२-१९९-१) — it is end-acute. "Ni" — though connected with the verb, the upasarga stands apart by "vyavahitāś ca." "Vṛtrā" — शेश्छन्दसि बहुलम् (पा. ६-१-७०) loss of "śi"; loss of "n." "Ruṇadhāmahai" — "āṭ" with "loṭ," "p"-marked (पा. ३-४-९२); श्नसोरल्लोपः (पा. ६-४-१११) does not drop the "a"; the vikaraṇa "śnam," being acute, alone keeps its accent since the "p"-marked ending is unaccented. Objection: "tiṅṅatiṅaḥ" should make it unaccented. No: there are two verbs here — "ni muṣṭyā niruṇadhāmahai" is uttered, and in "arvatā ni ruṇadhāmahai" it is carried over (anuṣaṅga); the "ca" of their conjunction is elided, so by चादिलोपे विभाषा (पा. ८-१-६३) the first verb is optionally not unaccented — as in "yathā nātmanā tṛpyati nānyasmai dadāti" (तै. सं. २-५-४-३), where, "ca" being elided, the first verb "tṛpyati" is not unaccented while the second, "dadāti," is. Objection: there both verbs are heard, here only one; the second is only carried over, so how is this one "first"? Reply: anuṣaṅga … (continues on p. 307) dṛśyante”; नेड्वशि कृति (पा. ७-२-८) no “iṭ”; लोपो व्योर्वलि (पा. ६-१-६६) loss of “v”; अर्वणस्त्रसावनञः (पा. ६-४-१२७) “tṛ”; “vanip,” “p”-marked, so the root accent.

Page 307 — Rik 2 continued

(Page header: "A. 1, A. 1, Va. 15." The first lines end Sāyaṇa's Sanskrit on Rik 2, characterized; references as printed.) …even what is supplied is "first" with respect to a second that depends on it; for the prohibition of nighāta is seen in "puroḍāśaṃ cādhiśrayati" (तै. सं. १-६-९-३) and "prokṣaṇīś cāsādayati" (तै. सं. १-६-९-४), where, of the two sentences with "adhiśrayati" and "āsādayati," the first with respect to the later one, through anuṣaṅga, is accepted as "first" for चवायोगे प्रथमा (पा. ८-१-५९). "Tvotāḥ" — "tvayā rakṣitāḥ," "tvotāsaḥ": प्रत्ययोत्तरपदयोश्च (पा. ७-२-९८) "tva" for the part up to "ma," the loss of "d" Vedic; "ava" with "kta," no "iṭ," ज्वरत्वरस्रिव्यविमवामुपधायाश्च (पा. ६-४-२०) "ūṭh"; एत्येधत्यूठ्सु (पा. ६-१-८९) the vṛddhi is withheld as Vedic; तृतीया कर्मणि (पा. ६-२-४८) the first member's accent, the "ā" acute; the single substitute "o" acute. "Arvatā" — "arvati gacchatīty arvā," "arva gatau," "vanip" by "anyebhyo 'pi

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

येन (yena) — by which wealth-help, the warriors acquired [through it] | नि मुष्टिहत्यया (ni muṣṭihatyayā) — by a special blow of the fist | वृत्रा (vṛtrā) — the enemies | नि रुणधामहै (ni ruṇadhāmahai) — we shall hold back, stop (so that they cannot press forward) | त्वोतासः (tvotāsaḥ) — we, protected by you (Indra) | अर्वता (arvatā) — also with horses | नि (ruṇadhāmahai) — we shall hold back the enemies (give us such wealth).

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Indra! By the warriors gathered through the wealth-help you give, with their fist-blows — that is, from the hand-to-hand fighting of warriors, and with the help of horses — we shall stop our enemies so that they cannot press forward. For your protection is indeed with us.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

By which we repel our enemies crushing them down with our fists or with our horses.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Because this rik contains the relative word येन (yena, “by which”), its sense must be linked with the words of the previous rik. That is: in the previous rik Indra was asked for wealth-help; therefore the words yena muṣṭihatyayā here mean “by the fist-blows of warriors gained with whatever wealth-help [was asked].” In fighting, warriors by nature close with each other hand to hand; so muṣṭihatyā here means “blows of the fist.” Fighting seated on horses has also been customary from of old. Hence the sense: “by both these methods of fighting, with your help, we shall stop the enemies from advancing.”

Pages 308–310 — Rik 2 grammar; Rik 3 text

(Page headers: p. 308 “Maṃ. 1, A. 3, Sū. 8”; p. 309 “A. 1, A. 1, Va. 15.” The top of p. 308 ends the Special Topics (given under p. 307).)

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (Kannada; characterized, numbers as printed)

मुष्टिहत्यया — हनस्त च (पा. सू. ३-१-१०८): after “han” with a subanta upapada other than an upasarga, “kyap” in the action sense, with “t” for “n”: “hat + ya,” “muṣṭyā hananam,” “muṣṭihatyā.” The kṛt-final second member’s accent of गतिकारकोपपदात्कृत् (पा. सू. ६-२-१३९) would hold, but परादिश्छन्दसि बहुलम् (पा. सू. ६-२-१९९), with its “bahula,” and the vārttika अन्तोदात्तप्रकरणे त्रिचक्रादीनां छन्दस्युपसंख्यानम् (printed “पा. सू. ९-२-१९९-वा. १,” i.e. 6-2-199 vā. 1) give the end-acute. नि — joined with the verb, but by व्यवहिताश्च (पा. सू. १-४-८२) used apart. वृत्रा — “śi” for “jas”; शेश्छन्दसि बहुलम् (पा. सू. ६-१-७०) elides it; नपुंसकस्य झलचः (पा. सू. ७-१-७२) “num,” and its “n” dropped by नलोपः प्रातिपदिकान्तस्य (पा. सू. ८-२-७). रुणधामहै — “rudhir āvaraṇe,” “loṭ,” ātmanepada first plural “mahiṅ”; टित आत्मनेपदानां टेरे (पा. सू. ३-४-७९) “e”; एत ऐ

(पा. सू. ३-४-९३) “ai”; रुधादिभ्यः श्नम् (पा. सू. ३-१-७८) “śnam” after “u”; आडुत्तमस्य पिच्च (पा. सू. ३-४-९२) “āṭ,” “p”-marked; श्नसोरल्लोपः (पा. सू. ६-४-१११) — the “a” of “śnam” and “as” is lost before a “kit/ṅit” sārvadhātuka — does not apply, “āmahai” being “p”-marked and so not “ṅit” (p. 309); with “raṣābhyām” (पा. सू. ८-४-१) carried on, अट्कुप्वाङ्नुम्व्यवायेऽपि (पा. सू. ८-४-२) “ṇ” for “n”; “āmahai” unaccented by अनुदात्तौ सुप्पितौ (पा. सू. ३-१-४), the acute of “śnam” remaining. Objection: “tiṅṅatiṅaḥ” (पा. सू. ८-१-२८) should make the whole unaccented. No: there are two verbs, the one heard in “yena ni muṣṭihatyayā vṛtrā niruṇadhāmahai” and the one carried over in “tvotāso ’rvatā niruṇadhāmahai”; the “ca” joining them is not used, and by चादिलोपे विभाषा (पा. सू. ८-१-६३) the prohibition is optional — as in “nātmanā tṛpyati nānyasmai dadāti” (तै. सं. २-५-४-३), where “tṛpyati” is not unaccented, “dadāti” is. Objection: there two verbs are stated, here one. Reply: for “cavāyoge prathamā” it is not required that two verbs be stated; one stated verb, also connected (by anuṣaṅga) with the later sentence, is “first” in relation to the one supplied, as in “puroḍāśaṃ cādhiśrayaty ājyaṃ ca” (तै. सं. १-६-९-३-४) and “prokṣaṇīś cāsādayaty ājyaṃ ca” (तै. सं. १-६-९-४), where by चवायोगे प्रथमा (पा. सू. ८-१-५९) the nighāta is withheld. त्वोतासः — “tvayā ūtāḥ,” a third-case tatpuruṣa; the case-ending lost by सुपो धातुप्रातिपदिकयोः; प्रत्ययोत्तरपदयोश्च (पा. सू. ७-२-९८) “tva” for the part up to “ma”; the “d” lost as Vedic; “ava” + “kta,” no “iṭ” (Vedic); ज्वरत्वरस्रिव्यविमवामुपधायाश्च (पा. सू. ६-४-२०) “ūṭh” for the “a” and “v” (p. 310); the vṛddhi of एत्येधत्यूठ्सु (पा. सू. ६-१-८९) does not arise (Vedic); तृतीया कर्मणि (पा. सू. ६-२-४८) — the first member’s accent, the “a” of “tva” acute; आद्गुणः (पा. सू. ६-१-८७) the single “o,” acute by एकादेश उदात्तेनोदात्तः (पा. सू. ८-२-५). अर्वता — “arva gatau,” “vanip” by अन्येभ्योऽपि दृश्यन्ते (पा. सू. ३-२-७५); the “iṭ” of आर्धधातुकस्येड्वलादेः (पा. सू. ७-२-३५) barred by नेड्वशि कृति (पा. सू. ७-२-८); लोपो व्योर्वलि (पा. सू. ६-१-६६) loss of “v”: “arvan”; instrumental singular: अर्वणस्त्रसावनञः (पा. सू. ६-४-१२७) “tṛ” for the “n”: “arvatā”; “vanip,” “p”-marked, unaccented, and the first “a” acute by धातोः (पा. सू. ६-१-१६२). ॥२॥

---

Page 310 — Sūkta 8, Rik 3

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

इन्द्र त्वोतासु आ वयं वज्रं घना ददीमहि । जयेम सं युधि स्पृधः ॥३॥

índra tvótāsa ā vayáṃ vájraṃ ghanā dadīmahi | jáyema sáṃ yudhí spṛ́dhaḥ ||3||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

इन्द्र । त्वाऽऊतासः । आ । वयम् । वज्रम् । घना । ददीमहि ॥ जयेम । सम् । युधि । स्पृधः ॥३॥

indra | tvā-ūtāsaḥ | ā | vayam | vajram | ghanā | dadīmahi || jayema | sam | yudhi | spṛdhaḥ ||3||

Page 311 — Rik 3: Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे इन्द्र त्वोतासस्त्वया पालिता वयं घना घनं शत्रुप्रहरणायात्यन्तं दृढं वज्रमायुधमा ददीमहि । स्वीकुर्मः । तेन च वज्रेण युधि युद्धे स्पृधः स्पर्धमानान् शत्रून्सं जयेम ॥

he indra tvotāsas tvayā pālitā vayaṃ ghanā ghanaṃ śatru-praharaṇāyātyantaṃ dṛḍhaṃ vajram āyudham ā dadīmahi | svīkurmaḥ | tena ca vajreṇa yudhi yuddhe spṛdhaḥ spardhamānān śatrūn saṃ jayema ||

Translation: "O Indra! We, protected by you (tvotāsaḥ), take up (ā dadīmahi — accept) the thunderbolt-weapon (ghanā = ghanam), exceedingly firm for striking enemies; and with that thunderbolt in battle (yudhi) may we conquer (saṃ jayema) the enemies who contend (spṛdhaḥ)."

Grammar of the Bhāṣya (characterized, references as printed; page header "A. 1, A. 1, Va. 15"): "Tvotāsaḥ" — as before. "Vajram" — "vaja vraja gatau," "ran" by "ṛjrendrāgra…," end-acute by nipātana. "Ghanā" — "ghanaḥ kāṭhinyam, tad asyāstīti": अर्शआदिभ्योऽच् (पा. ५-२-१२७) "ac"; "c"-marked, end-acute; "ā" for the case-ending by "supāṃ suluk…". "Dadīmahi" — "ḍudāñ dāne," "liṅ" in the sense of prayer; ātmanepada by स्वरितञितः कर्त्रभिप्राये क्रियाफले (पा. १-३-७२); first plural "mahiṅ"; "śap" → "ślu" by जुहोत्यादिभ्यः श्लुः (पा. २-४-७५); doubling by श्लौ (पा. ६-१-१०); लिङः सलोपोऽनन्त्यस्य (पा. ७-२-७९); श्राभ्यस्तयोरातः (पा. ६-४-११२) loss of "ā." "Jayema" — "śap," "p"-marked, unaccented; the lasārvadhātuka accent leaves the root accent; छन्दसि परेऽपि (पा. १-४-८१) "sam" after the verb. "Yudhi" — "yudha samprahāre," संपदादिभ्यो भावे क्विप् (पा. ३-३-१०८-९, a vārttika); "sāv ekācaḥ…" the case-ending acute. "Spṛdhaḥ" — "spardhanta iti," "spardha saṃgharṣe," क्विप् च (पा. ३-२-७६); samprasāraṇa "ṛ" of the "r" by "bahulaṃ chandasi," and loss of "a."

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

(हे) इन्द्र ((he) indra) — O Indra | त्वोतासः (tvotāsaḥ) — we, protected by you | घना (ghanā) — very firm (in striking enemies) | वज्रम् (vajram) — the weapon | आ ददीमहि (ā dadīmahi) — we shall take up | (with that thunderbolt) युधि (yudhi) — in battle | स्पृधः (spṛdhaḥ) — the enemies who fight against us | सं जयेम (saṃ jayema) — we shall conquer.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Indra! We, protected by you, will take the thunderbolt-weapon, very firm for destroying enemies, and conquer the enemies who fight against us in battle.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> Protected by you, O Indra, we posses [sic] a ponderous weapon (thunderbolt) wherewith we may entirely conquer our enemies in a battle.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

"Vajram" — rather than taking vajram here as "the thunderbolt-weapon," the sense "extremely hard, like the thunderbolt" is more fitting. For it is impossible for us humans to use the thunderbolt that Indra uses. Or: "vajram ā dadīmahe" may mean "obtaining the help of Indra's thunderbolt, saṃ jayema — we shall conquer enemies."

"Ghanā" — ghanam means hard, very heavy; hard, firm, etc.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (pp. 312–314, Kannada; page headers p. 312 "Maṃ. 1, A. 3, Sū. 8," p. 313 "A. 1, A. 1, Va. 15"; characterized, numbers as printed)

त्वोतासः — given in the previous Ṛk. वज्रम् — "vaja vraja gatau," "ran" by nipātana in ऋज्रेन्द्राग्रवज्र... (उ. सू. २-१८६). घना — "ghanaḥ kāṭhinyam," "ghano 'syāsti": नन्दिग्रहिपचादिभ्यो ल्युणिन्यचः (पा. सू. ३-१-१३४), being of the pacādi class, "ac"; "c"-marked, end-acute; "ā" for "am" by सुपां सुलुक्... (पा. सू. ७-१-३९). ददीमहि — "ḍudāñ dāne," juhotyādi: विधिनिमन्त्रणामन्त्रणाधीष्टसंप्रश्नप्रार्थनेषु लिङ् (पा. सू. ३-३-१६१) "liṅ" in the sense of prayer; of the eighteen endings for "liṅ" (by तिप्तस्झि... , पा. सू. ३-४-७८, as the maxim of the pigeons settling together goes), the root being "ñit," स्वरितञितः कर्त्रभिप्राये क्रियाफले (पा. सू. १-३-७२) the ātmanepada, the nine of तङानावात्मनेपदम् (पा. सू. १-४-१००); अस्मद्युत्तमः (पा. सू. १-४-१०७) the first person, and बहुषु बहुवचनम् (पा. सू. १-४-२१) the plural: "mahiṅ"; कर्तरि शप् (पा. सू. ३-१-६८); (p. 313) जुहोत्यादिभ्यः श्लुः (पा. सू. २-४-७५); श्लौ (पा. सू. ६-१-१०) doubling; ह्रस्वः (पा. सू. ७-४-५९): "dadā + mahi"; लिङः सीयुट् (पा. सू. ३-४-१०२) "sīyuṭ"; लिङः सलोपोऽनन्त्यस्य (पा. सू. ७-२-७९); लोपो व्योर्वलि (पा. सू. ६-१-६६); श्नाभ्यस्तयोरातः (पा. सू. ६-४-११२), the root being "abhyasta" by उभे अभ्यस्तम् (पा. सू. ६-१-५): "dadīmahi"; wholly unaccented by तिङ्ङतिङः (पा. सू. ८-१-२८). जयेम — "ji jaye," "vidhiliṅ," parasmaipada first plural "mas"; नित्यं ङितः (पा. सू. ३-४-९९) loss of "s"; "śap" (पा. सू. ३-१-६८); guṇa (पा. सू. ७-३-८४) and "ay" (पा. सू. ६-१-७८); यासुट् परस्मैपदेषूदात्तो ङिच्च (पा. सू. ३-४-१०३) "yāsuṭ"; loss of "s" (पा. सू. ७-२-७९); अतो येयः (पा. सू. ७-२-८०) "iy"; loss of "y" (पा. सू. ६-१-६६); आद्गुणः (पा. सू. ६-१-८७): "jayema." "Śap," "p"-marked, is unaccented; "i-ma" unaccented by तास्यनुदात्तेत्... (पा. सू. ६-१-१८६); the "e" from two unaccented vowels is unaccented; "ja" acute by the root accent; the "e" after it svarita by उदात्तादनुदात्तस्य स्वरितः (पा. सू. ८-४-६६); "ma" after the svarita would be pracaya by स्वरितात्संहितायामनुदात्तानाम् (पा. सू. १-२-३९), but before the acute "sam" in the saṃhitā it is "sannatara" by उदात्तस्वरितपरस्य सन्नतरः (पा. सू. १-२-४०). "Sam" should precede the verb, but by छन्दसि परेऽपि (पा. सू. १-४-८१) follows it. युधि (p. 314) — "yudha samprahāre," "kvip" in the action sense by संपदादिभ्यः क्विप् (पा. सू. ३-३-१०८-९, a vārttika), wholly lost; the locative singular acute by सावेकाचस्तृतीयादिर्विभक्तिः (पा. सू. ६-१-१६८). स्पृधः — "spardhanta iti spṛdhaḥ," "spardha saṃgharṣe," क्विप् च (पा. सू. ३-२-७६); samprasāraṇa "ṛ" for the "r" and loss of the "a" by "bahulaṃ chandasi"; accusative plural. ॥३॥

---

Page 314 — Sūkta 8, Rik 4

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. No svarita stroke is printed over "re" of "śūrebhiḥ" (the Pada has one there).)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

व॒यं शूरे॒भि॒रस्तृ॑भि॒रिन्द्र॒ त्वया॑ यु॒जा व॒यं । सा॒स॒ह्या॑म पृत॒न्यतः ॥४॥

vayáṃ śūrebhir ástṛbhir índra tváyā yujā vayáṃ | sāsahyāma pṛtanyátaḥ ||4||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

वयम् । शूरेभिः । अस्तृऽभिः । इन्द्र । त्वया । युजा । वयम् ॥ ससह्याम । पृतन्यतः ॥४॥

vayam | śūrebhiḥ | astṛ-bhiḥ | indra | tvayā | yujā | vayam || sasahyāma | pṛtanyataḥ ||4||

(The pada text prints the first vowel of this word short; the Saṃhitā lengthens it — see the Special Topics below, where the commentary says the sa is long in the Saṃhitā-pāṭha for the sake of the meter.)

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

वयं कर्मानुष्ठातारः शूरेभिः शौर्ययुक्तैरस्तृभिरायुधानां प्रक्षेप्तृभिर्भटैः संयुज्येमहीति शेषः । हे इन्द्र तादृशा भटसहिता वयं युजा सहायभूतेन त्वया पृतन्यतः सेनामिच्छतः शत्रून्सासह्याम । अतिशयेनाभिभवेम ॥

vayaṃ karmānuṣṭhātāraḥ śūrebhiḥ śaurya-yuktair astṛbhir āyudhānāṃ prakṣeptṛbhir bhaṭaiḥ saṃyujyemahīti śeṣaḥ | he indra tādṛśā bhaṭa-sahitā vayaṃ yujā sahāya-bhūtena tvayā pṛtanyataḥ senām icchataḥ śatrūn sāsahyāma | atiśayenābhibhavema ||

Translation: "We, the performers of the rites — with the śūras, the heroes, the astṛs, the throwers of weapons, the warriors — may we be united (saṃyujyemahi: the word to complete the sentence). O Indra! We, so accompanied by warriors, with you as our helper (yujā), may overpower (sāsahyāma) the enemies who pṛtanyatah — who desire an army, i.e., who come to fight; may we overcome them completely."

Page 315 — Rik 4: Sāyaṇa's grammar closes; word-meanings

(Page header: "A. 1, A. 1, Va. 15." Sāyaṇa's grammar of Rik 4, from the foot of p. 314 to the top of p. 315, characterized; references as printed.) "Śūrebhiḥ" — "śu śru gatau," "kran" with "nit" carried on, by शुसिचिमीनां दीर्घश्च (उ. २-२५), the long vowel; "k"-marked, no guṇa; "n"-marked, first-syllable acute; by "bahulaṃ chandasi" the "ais" is withheld, so "ebhiḥ" by "bahuvacane jhaly et." "Sahayoge tṛtīyā": the instrumental of accompaniment is understood from the sense, so "vayaṃ saṃyujyemahi" is supplied; विनापि सहशब्देन वृद्धो यूना (पा. १-२-६५) shows by nipātana that this is said even without "saha" (पा. २-३-१९). "Astṛbhiḥ" — "śastrāstraprakṣepaṇaśīlaiḥ, taddharmabhis tatsādhukāribhir vā": "asu kṣepaṇe," तृन् (पा. ३-२-१३५) in the "tācchīlya" sense; "n"-marked, first-syllable acute; by रधादिभ्यश्च (पा. ७-२-४५) "iṭ" being optional, here it is absent. "Tvayā" — युष्यसिभ्यां मदिक् (उ. १-१३८) "madik"; "k"-marked, no guṇa; "yuṣmad" with the "a" acute by the affix accent; instrumental "ṭā" (पा. ४-१-२); त्वमावेकवचने (पा. ७-२-९७) "tva" for the part up to "ma"; अतो गुणे (पा. ६-१-९७) the later form; the single substitute acute. "Yujā" — अञ्चुयुजिक्रुञ्चां च (पा. ३-२-५९) "kvin"; the case-ending acute by "sāv ekācaḥ…". "Sāsahyāma" — "bhṛśaṃ punaḥ punaḥ sahemahi" (may we overcome greatly, again and again): "ṣaha marṣaṇe," "s" for "ṣ" (पा. ६-१-६४); धातोरेकाचो हलादेः क्रियासमभिहारे यङ् (पा. ३-१-२२) “yaṅ”; यङोऽचि च (पा. २-४-७४) “luk”; सन्यङोः (पा. ६-१-९) doubling; हलादिः शेषः (पा. ७-४-६०); दीर्घोऽकितः (पा. ७-४-८३) the long vowel; “liṅ” of prayer; though “carkarītaṃ ca” (in the adādi class), it is parasmaipada and treated as adādi, so “śap” is elided; first plural “mas,” नित्यं ङितः (पा. ३-४-९९) loss of “s”; यासुट् परस्मैपदेषूदात्तो ङिच्च (पा. ३-४-१०३) “yāsuṭ”; loss of “s” (पा. ७-२-७९); the acute of “yāsuṭ” remaining, and no nighāta at the start of a pāda. “Pṛtanyataḥ” — “yoddhuṃ pṛtanām ātmana icchataḥ”: सुप आत्मनः क्यच् “kyac”; सनाद्यन्ता धातवः (पा. ३-१-३२) the root designation; सुपो धातुप्रातिपदिकयोः (पा. २-४-७१) “luk”; with “kyaci ca” (पा. ७-४-३३) carried on, कव्यध्वरपृतनस्यर्चि लोपः (पा. ७-४-३९) loss of the “a”; the “kyac”-ended root end-acute as “c”-marked; “śatṛ” for “laṭ,” “śap,” “p”-marked, unaccented; “śatṛ” unaccented as a lasārvadhātuka; the single substitute acute, so “pṛtanyat” end-acute; in “śas,” the ending would be unaccented by the affix accent, but with “antodāttāt” carried on, शतुरनुमो नद्यजादी (पा. ६-१-१७३) makes it acute.

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

वयम् (vayam) — we | शूरेभिः (śūrebhiḥ) — endowed with valour | अस्तृभिः (astṛbhiḥ) — [we shall be associated] with warriors who fight with weapons | हे इन्द्र (he indra) — O Indra | वयम् (vayam) — we | युजा (yujā) — who are our helper | त्वया (tvayā) — together with you | पृतन्यतः (pṛtanyataḥ) — the enemies who have armies | सासह्याम (sāsahyāma) — we shall conquer.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Indra! Since we have the help of skilled and valiant warriors who are expert in using weapons, and your help as well, we shall conquer our enemies even though they come with armies.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> With the help of the brave missile throwing heroes and with you as our comrade we will overcome our assailants.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

“Astṛbhiḥ” — a form of the root asu kṣepaṇe (“to throw”). शस्त्रास्त्रप्रक्षेपणशीलैः (śastrāstra-prakṣepaṇa-śīlaiḥ) — “those whose habit is to hurl weapons and missiles” — those who hurl weapons or arms at enemies.

“Sāsahyāma” — “we shall conquer again and again”: that is, even if there are many obstacles in battle, we shall conquer them, taking no notice of them, with certainty. For the convenience of the meter the sa is long in the Saṃhitā-pāṭha.

“Pṛtanyataḥ” — pṛtanā means an army. पृतनामात्मन इच्छन्तः (pṛtanām ātmana icchantaḥ) — “those who desire an army for themselves”: that is, enemies who seek the help of an army, or who come with an army.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (pp. 316–319, Kannada; page header p. 317 “A. 1, A. 1, Va. 15”; characterized, numbers as printed)

शूरेभिः — “śu śru gatau”: शुसिचिमीनां दीर्घश्च (उ. सू. २-१२[?], the last digit unclear; the Bhāṣya gave “उ. २-२५”) — after “śu,” “ṣiñ bandhane,” “ciñ cayane,” “ḍumiñ prakṣepaṇe,” “kran” with a long vowel: “śūra”; “k”-marked, no guṇa; “n”-marked, first-syllable acute. Before “bhis,” अतो भिस ऐस् (पा. सू. ७-१-९) would give “ais,” but बहुलं छन्दसि (पा. सू. ७-१-१०) withholds it; बहुवचने झल्येत् (पा. सू. ७-३-१०३) “e”: “śūrebhiḥ.” सहयुक्तेऽप्रधाने (पा. सू. २-३-१९) gives the third case to the subordinate member when a word meaning “with” is used; none is used here, but Pāṇini himself uses the third case without “saha” in वृद्धो यूना तल्लक्षणश्चेदेव विशेषः (पा. सू. १-२-६५), which shows (jñāpaka) that 2-3-19 applies even without a word for “with”; so the third case is unobstructed here, and from this instrumental of accompaniment and the context of “vayam,” the verb “saṃyujyemahi” is understood (p. 317): “vayaṃ śūrebhiḥ” alone does not give a full sense, “vayaṃ śūrebhiḥ saṃyujyemahi” does.

अस्तृभिः — “asu kṣepaṇe”: तृन् (पा. सू. ३-२-१३५) after roots whose agent has that habit, duty or skill: “astṛn”; with “bhis,” the loss of “n” etc.: “astṛbhiḥ” (the Bhāṣya’s “śastrāstraprakṣepaṇaśīlaiḥ taddharmabhis tatsādhukāribhir vā”); “n”-marked, first-syllable acute. रधादिभ्यश्च (पा. सू. ७-२-४५) — after “radh, naś, tṛp, druh, muh, snuh, snih,” “iṭ” is optional before a “val”-initial ārdhadhātuka; after “snih” comes “vṛt,” so the radhādi group ends there; then the eight “śamādi” roots begin with “śamu upaśame,” and “asu kṣepaṇe” comes after them, so “as” is not in the radhādi list and 7-2-45 does not apply here. तृन्तृचौ शंसिक्षदादिभ्यः संज्ञायां चानिटौ (उ. सू. २-३३[?], as printed) — in a name, “tṛn” after “śaṃs” and “tṛc” after “kṣad” etc., both without “iṭ” (“śaṃsu stutau”; “kṣada śakalīkaraṇe bhakṣaṇe ca,” a sautra root); some hold that this sūtra gives “tṛn” without “iṭ” here, but then the “tācchīlya” senses would not appear; if those are required, the absence of “iṭ” is better taken as Vedic, since by “sarve vidhayaś chandasi vikalpyante” the “iṭ” rule too is optional in the Veda.

त्वया — युष्यसिभ्यां मदिक् (उ. सू. १-१३६[?], the figures unclear; the Bhāṣya gave “उ. १-१३८”) — “yuṣ,” a sautra root, and “asu kṣepaṇe” take “madik”: “yuṣmad”; “k”-marked, no guṇa; the “a” acute by the affix accent; स्वौजसमौट्... (पा. सू. ४-१-२) instrumental “ṭā”; त्वमावेकवचने (पा. सू. ७-२-९७) “tva” for the part up to “ma”; अतो गुणे (पा. सू. ६-१-९७) the later form: “tvad + ā”; the “a” from this single substitute acute by एकादेश उदात्तेनोदात्तः (पा. सू. ८-२-५) (p. 318); योऽचि (पा. सू. ७-२-८९) “y” for the final “d” before a vowel-initial ending not given another substitute: “tvayā.”

युजा — ऋत्विग्दधृक्स्रग्दिगुष्णिगञ्चुयुजिक्रुञ्चां च (पा. सू. ३-२-५९) “kvin”; the ending acute by सावेकाचस्तृतीयादिर्विभक्तिः (पा. सू. ६-१-१६८).

सासह्याम — “we shall overcome greatly, again and again”: “ṣaha marṣaṇe,” धात्वादेः षः सः (पा. सू. ६-१-६४); धातोरेकाचो हलादेः क्रियासमभिहारे यङ् (पा. सू. ३-१-२२) “yaṅ” in the sense of repetition or intensity; यङोऽचि च (पा. सू. २-४-७४) “luk”; सन्यङोः (पा. सू. ६-१-९) doubling: “sah sah”; हलादिः शेषः (पा. सू. ७-४-६०): “sasah”; दीर्घोऽकितः (पा. सू. ७-४-८३) the long reduplicate: “sāsah”; “liṅ” of prayer; by “carkarītaṃ parasmaipadam adādivac ca” the yaṅluk form is parasmaipada and treated as adādi; first plural “mas”; कर्तरि शप् (पा. सू. ३-१-६८), elided by अदिप्रभृतिभ्यः शपः (पा. सू.

२-४-७२); नित्यं ङितः (पा. सू. ३-४-९९) loss of “s”; यासुट् परस्मैपदेषूदात्तो ङिच्च (पा. सू. ३-४-१०३) “yāsuṭ”; लिङः सलोपोऽनन्त्यस्य (पा. सू. ७-२-७९): “sāsahyāma”; the acute of “yāsuṭ,” taught later, remains; at the start of a pāda no nighāta by तिङ्ङतिङः (पा. सू. ८-१-२८).

पृतन्यतः — “yoddhuṃ pṛtanām ātmana icchataḥ”: सुप आत्मनः क्यच् (पा. सू. ३-१-८) “kyac” after “pṛtanām” … (continues on p. 319) ### Page 319 — Rik 4 closes; Sūkta 8, Rik 5

(Page header: “A. 1, A. 1, Va. 15.” “Pṛtanyataḥ,” concluded:) सनाद्यन्ता धातवः (पा. सू. ३-१-३२) the root designation; सुपो धातुप्रातिपदिकयोः (पा. सू. २-४-७१) “luk” of “am”: “pṛtanā + ya”; कव्यध्वरपृतनस्यर्चि लोपः (पा. सू. ७-४-३९), with क्यचि च (पा. सू. ७-४-३३) carried on: before “kyac” in a Ṛk the final of “kavi, adhvara, pṛtanā” is lost: “pṛtanya,” end-acute by “citaḥ”; लटः शतृशानचौ (पा. सू. ३-२-१२४) “śatṛ”; कर्तरि शप् (पा. सू. ३-१-६८), “p”-marked, unaccented; “śatṛ” unaccented by तास्यनुदात्तेत्… (पा. सू. ६-१-१८६); अतो गुणे (पा. सू. ६-१-९७) twice the later form; the single substitute acute by एकादेश उदात्तेनोदात्तः (पा. सू. ८-२-५): “pṛtanyat,” end-acute; the accusative plural “śas,” unaccented by अनुदात्तौ सुप्पितौ (पा. सू. ३-१-४), is made acute by शतुरनुमो नद्यजादी (पा. सू. ६-१-१७३), with “antodāttāt” carried from अन्तोदात्तादुत्तरपदादन्यतरस्यामनित्यसमासे (पा. सू. ६-१-१६९). ॥४॥

---

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. Line 1: the strokes stand over “ma” of “mahitvam” and over “tva…”; line 2: a stroke over “dyau,” and over “śavaḥ” a stroke joined to a bar; placement doubtful, hence [accent ?].)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

महाँ इन्द्रः॑ प॒रश्च नु म॑हि॒त्वम॑स्तु व॒ज्रिणे॑ । [accent ?] द्यौर्न प्र॑थि॒ना शवः॑ ॥५॥ [accent ?]

mahā̃m índraḥ paráś ca nú mahitvám astu vajríṇe | [accent ?] dyaúr ná prathinā́ śávaḥ ||5|| [accent ?]

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

महान् । इन्द्रः । परः । च । नु । महित्वम् । अस्तु । वज्रिणे ॥ द्यौः । न । प्रथिना । शवः ॥५॥

mahān | indraḥ | paraḥ | ca | nu | mahitvam | astu | vajriṇe || dyauḥ | na | prathinā | śavaḥ ||5||

Page 320 — Rik 5: Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

अयमिन्द्रो महान् शरीरेण प्रौढः परश्च गुणैरुत्कृष्टो ऽपि । नु किंच वज्रिणे वज्रयुक्तायेन्द्राय महित्वं पूर्वोक्तं द्विविधमाधिक्यं सर्वदास्तु । स्वभावसिद्धस्यापि भक्त्या प्रार्थनमेतत् । किंच द्यौर्न द्युलोक इव शवो बलमिन्द्रस्य सेनारूपं प्रथिना प्रथिम्ना पृथुत्वेन युज्यतामिति शेषः । यथा द्युलोकः प्रभूत एवमस्य सेना प्रभूता ॥ नुशब्दो यद्यपि क्षिप्रनामसु नु मुक्षु इति पठितस्तथाप्यत्र
तस्यान्वयाभावान्निपातत्वेनानेकार्थत्वसंभवाच्च समुच्चयार्थो ऽत्र गृहीतः । नुशब्दो लोके प्रतिषेधार्थ एव ।

स्वाध्याये तु प्रतिषेधार्थ उपमानार्थश्चेति द्विविधः । येन पदेनान्वीयते तस्मात्पूर्वं प्रयुज्यमानः प्रतिषेधार्थ उपरिष्टात्प्रयुज्यमान उपमानार्थः । तथा च यास्क उदाहरति । उभयमन्वध्यायं नेन्द्रं देवममंसतेति प्रतिषेधार्थीयः पुरस्तादुपाचारस्तस्य यत्प्रतिषेधति । दुर्मर्दासो न सुरायामित्युपमार्थीय उपरिष्टादुपाचारस्तस्य येनोपमिमीते । नि. १-४ । इति । अत्रोपमेयवाचिनो द्यौश्शब्दस्यापि प्रयुक्तत्वादुपमार्थः स्वीकृतः । अष्टाविंशतिसंख्याकेषु बलनामसु ओजः पाजः शव इति पठितम् ॥

ayam indro mahān śarīreṇa prauḍhaḥ paraś ca guṇair utkṛṣṭo 'pi | nu kiṃca vajriṇe vajra-yuktāyendrāya mahitvaṃ pūrvoktaṃ dvividham ādhikyaṃ sarvadāstu | svabhāva-siddhasyāpi bhaktyā prārthanam etat | kiṃca dyaur na dyuloka iva śavo balam indrasya senā-rūpaṃ prathinā prathimnā pṛthutvena yujyatām iti śeṣaḥ | yathā dyulokaḥ prabhūta evam asya senā prabhūtā || nu-śabdo yadyapi kṣipra-nāmasu nu mukṣu iti paṭhitas tathāpy atra tasyānvayābhāvāt nipātatvenānekārthatva-saṃbhavāc ca samuccayārtho 'tra gṛhītaḥ | nu-śabdo loke pratiṣedhārtha eva | svādhyāye tu pratiṣedhārtha upamānārthaś ceti dvividhaḥ | yena padenānvīyate tasmāt pūrvaṃ prayujyamānaḥ pratiṣedhārtha upariṣṭāt prayujyamāna upamānārthaḥ | tathā ca yāska udāharati | ubhayam anvadhyāyaṃ nendraṃ devam amaṃsateti pratiṣedhārthīyaḥ purastād upācāras tasya yat pratiṣedhati | durmardāso na surāyām ity upamārthīya upariṣṭād upācāras tasya yenopamimīte | ni. 1-4 | iti | atropameya-vācino dyauś-śabdasyāpi prayuktatvād upamārthaḥ svīkṛtaḥ | aṣṭāviṃśati-saṃkhyākeṣu bala-nāmasu ojaḥ pājaḥ śava iti paṭhitam ||

Translation: "This Indra is great (mahān) in body, mature, and supreme (paraḥ) — excellent in qualities as well. And may this twofold pre-eminence stated above, mahitvam, be always for the vajra-bearing Indra (vajriṇe): this is a prayer offered in devotion, though [that greatness is] naturally established. Moreover, dyaur na — like the heaven-world — let Indra's śavaḥ, his strength in the form of an army, be joined with prathinā, with breadth (prathimnā), vastness [this is the word to be supplied]: as the heavenly world is vast, so may his army be vast. The word nu — although read among the names for 'quickly' (nu, mukṣu) — here, since it has no construction in that sense and since, being a particle, it can have more than one meaning, is taken in the sense of 'and' (samuccaya). In ordinary speech na is only a negative; in the Veda it is twofold, negative and a particle of comparison: when placed before the word with which it is construed it is negative; when placed after, it means 'like.' So Yāska gives examples: 'ubhayam anvadhyāyaṃ nendraṃ devam amaṃsata' — the negative use is placed before what it negates; 'durmardāso na surāyām' — the comparative use is placed after the word with which it makes the comparison (Nirukta 1-4). Therefore, since the word dyauḥ, expressing the thing compared, is also used here, the comparative sense is accepted. Among the twenty-eight words for 'strength,' ojaḥ, pājaḥ, śavaḥ are read."

Grammar of the Bhāṣya (characterized, references as printed): "Mahān" — in the saṃhitā, दीर्घादटि समानपादे (पा. ८-३-९) "ru" for the "n"; आतोऽटि नित्यम् (पा. ८-३-३) nasalization of the preceding "ā"; भोभगोअघोअपूर्वस्य योऽशि (पा. ८--१७, the middle number missing) "y"; its loss by लोपः शाकल्यस्य (पा. ८-३-१९), which being asiddha (पा. ८-२-१) no vowel sandhi follows. "Mahitvam" — महेरिनण् (as printed; उ. ४-११८) "in": "mahi"; "tva," acute by the affix accent. "Vajriṇe" — the "i" acute by the affix accent. "Dyauḥ" — end-acute by the stem; गोतो णित् (पा. ७-१-९०) the ending "ṇit," so अचो ञ्णिति (पा. ७-२-११५) vṛddhi; end-acute. "Prathinā" —

“prathimnā”: पृथ्वादिभ्य इमनिज्वा (पा. ५-१-१२२) “imanic”; र ऋतो हलादेर्लघोः (पा. ६-४-१६१) “ra” for the “ṛ”; with “ṭeḥ” (पा. ६-४-१५५) carried from तुरिष्ठेमेयःसु (पा. ६-४-१५४), loss of the “ṭi”; “c”-marked, end-acute; instrumental: अल्लोपोऽनः (पा. ६-४-१३४); the loss of “m” Vedic; the ending acute by अनुदात्तस्य च यत्रोदात्तलोपः. “Śavaḥ” — first-syllable acute by नब्विषयस्यानिसन्तस्य. ॥१५॥ (the end of the fifteenth varga)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

इन्द्रः (indraḥ) — Indra | महान् (mahān) — great | परः च (paraś ca) — and supreme in qualities | नु (nu) — and | वज्रिणे (vajriṇe) — to Indra, who bears the thunderbolt | महित्वम् (mahitvam) — [this twofold] pre-eminence | अस्तु (astu) — may it be | (for) शवः (śavaḥ) — Indra’s strength (in the form of an army) | द्यौः न (dyaur na) — like the heavenly world | प्रथिना (prathinā) — is exceedingly vast (very great).

Page 321 — Rik 5 continued

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

Indra is not great in body alone; he is also supreme in quality. Such pre-eminence in qualities is naturally fitting for the vajra-bearing Indra; for Indra’s strength — in the form of an army, or his capacity — is, like the heaven-world, that is, like the vast firmament (the sky), very great.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> Great is Indra and Supreme. May greatness be ever for the weilder [sic] of the thunderbolt ; May his strength (of the army) be ever vast as the heavens.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

“Nu” — although the word nu is read among the words for “quickly” (kṣipra) such as nu and mukṣu, that sense does not fit here, and since indeclinables have many senses, the Bhāṣyakāra takes it here in the sense of “and” (samuccaya: muttu).

“Mahitvam astu vajriṇe” — although Indra’s qualities are by nature supreme, that the poet says “let his qualities shine with still greater glory” is a prayer made out of devotion.

“Dyauḥ” — dyauḥ means heaven, the sphere of the sky (antarikṣa). Everyone knows that the sky extends very widely, as far as our eyes see and beyond. That is why the poet, when comparing with something very large, offers the simile of the sky.

“Na” — in modern Sanskrit na is a word of negation (na = “not”); in the Ṛgveda it is twofold — negative and comparative (pratiṣedhārtha and upamānārtha); na means “like” (iva): dyaur na = “like the sky.” Such usages are plentiful in the Ṛgveda. There is a special point in this usage. As the Bhāṣyakāra says, येन पदेनान्वीयते तस्मात्पूर्वं प्रयुज्यमानः प्रतिषेधार्थ उपरिष्टात्प्रयुज्यमान उपमार्थः (yena padenānvīyate tasmāt pūrvaṃ prayujyamānaḥ pratiṣedhārtha upariṣṭāt prayujyamāna upamārthaḥ) — if na is used before the word to which it relates, it is negative; if it comes after the related word, it is a comparison. For example:

> न यस्य द्यावापृथिवी अनु व्यचो न सिन्धवो रजसो अन्तमानशुः । na yasya dyāvāpṛthivī anu vyaco na sindhavo rajaso antam ānaśuḥ | (Ṛgveda Saṃhitā 1-52-14) (gloss mine and tentative: "He whose breadth neither heaven and earth [match], nor the rivers reach the limit of the space.")

In this rik the word na stands before the related words dyāvāpṛthivī and sindhavaḥ, so na is negative.

> न स सखा यो न ददाति सख्ये सचाभुवे सचमानाय पित्वः ॥ na sa sakhā yo na dadāti sakhye sacābhuve sacamānāya pitvaḥ || (Ṛgveda Saṃhitā 10-117-4) (gloss mine and tentative: "He is no friend who gives not to a friend, to a companion who attends, of his food.")

Here the na stands before the related words sakhā and dadāti; so na is negative.

> मा वो मृगो न यवसे जरिता भूदजोष्यः ॥ mā vo mṛgo na yavase jaritā bhūd ajoṣyaḥ || (Ṛgveda Saṃhitā 1-38-5) (gloss mine and tentative: "Let not your singer be unwelcome, like a deer in the pasture.")
>
> वाश्रेव विद्युन्मिमाति वत्सं न माता सिषक्ति ॥ vāśreva vidyun mimāti vatsaṃ na mātā siṣakti || (Ṛgveda Saṃhitā 1-38-8) (gloss mine and tentative: "Like a lowing cow, the lightning bellows; as a mother follows her calf.")

In these riks the na comes after the related words mṛgaḥ and vatsam, so it has the comparative sense here.

"Śavaḥ" — although this word is read among the words for water (udaka) such as āṇaḥ, kṣodaḥ (Ni. "2-24" as read [?]), it is read among the twenty-eight words for "strength," ojaḥ, pājaḥ and so on (Ni. "3-9" as read [?]); hence in this rik this sense must be taken.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 322–323, noted briefly)

महान् (mahān) — in the saṃhitā, दीर्घादटि समानपादे (पा. सू. ८-३-९): a final "n" after a long vowel, before an "aṭ" letter in the same pāda, becomes "ru": "mahā + ru + indra"; आतोऽटि नित्यम् (पा. सू. ८-३-३) — the "ā" before "ru" before an "aṭ" is always nasalized: "mahā̃"; भोभगोअघोअपूर्वस्य योऽशि (पा. सू. ८-३-१७) "y" for the "ru" after "bho, bhago, agho" and "a/ā" before an "aś" letter: "mahāy indraḥ"; लोपः शाकल्यस्य (पा. सू. ८-३-१९) — the final "y, v" of a word after "a/ā" is optionally lost before an "aś" … (continues on p. 323) ### Page 323 — Rik 5 grammar closes

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (pp. 323–324, Kannada; page header p. 323 "A. 1, A. 1, Va. 15"; characterized, numbers as printed)

(Continuing "mahān":) the "y" lost: "mahā̃ indraḥ." Now आद्गुणः (पा. सू. ६-१-८७) would give guṇa of "a" with a following "i, u, ṛ, ḷ"; but by पूर्वत्रासिद्धम् (पा. सू. ८-२-१) what is taught in the last three pādas (the "tripādī," from 8-2-1) is asiddha for the operations of the first seven and a quarter chapters, so for "ād guṇaḥ" (6-1-87) the loss of "y" by लोपः शाकल्यस्य (पा. सू. ८-३-१९) is not effected, the “y” intervenes, and no guṇa sandhi takes place. महित्वम् — “maha pūjāyām” with इन् (उ. सू. ४-५५८ [?], as printed; the Bhāṣya gave “उ. ४-११८”) “in”; तस्य भावस्त्वतलौ (पा. सू. ५-१-११९) “tva”: “mahitvam”; “tva” end-acute by the affix accent, which remains. वज्रिणे — “vajram asyāsti iti vajrī, tasmai”: अत इनिठनौ (पा. सू. ५-२-११५) “ini”; the “i” acute by the affix accent. द्यौः — “dyo,” end-acute by फिषः (फि. सू. १); nominative “su”; गोतो णित् (पा. सू. ७-१-९०) — a sarvanāmasthāna after “go” is “ṇit”; by the vārttika ओतो णिदिति वाच्यम्, read “otaḥ” for “gotaḥ,” it applies to any “o”-ending stem, so after “dyo” too “su” is “ṇit”; अचो ञ्णिति (पा. सू. ७-२-११५) vṛddhi; by स्थानेऽन्तरतमः (पा. सू. १-१-५०), the nearest substitute in quality — the acute “o” becomes the acute “au”: “dyauḥ.” प्रथिना — “prathimnā”: in the sense “pṛthor bhāvaḥ,” पृथ्वादिभ्य इमनिज्वा (पा. सू. ५-१-१२२) “imanic” after a genitive of a word of the “pṛthu” class; र ऋतो हलादेर्लघोः (पा. सू. ६-४-१६१) “ra” for a light “ṛ” after a consonant before “iṣṭhan, imanic, īyasun”: “prathu + iman”; टेः (पा. सू. ६-४-१५५) (p. 324) the “ṭi” of a “bha” stem lost: “prathiman”; instrumental “ṭā”; by यचि भम् (पा. सू. १-४-१८) “bha,” so अल्लोपोऽनः (पा. सू. ६-४-१३४) loss of the “a” of “an”; the loss of “m” Vedic: “prathinā.” “Imanic,” “c”-marked, so “prathiman” is end-acute by चितः (पा. सू. ६-१-१६३); before the unaccented “ā” of “ṭā” the acute “a” is lost, so by अनुदात्तस्य च यत्रोदात्तलोपः (पा. सू. ६-१-१६१) the “ā” becomes acute. शवः — नब्विषयस्यानिसन्तस्य (फि. सू. २६): a word always neuter, not ending in “is” or “as”… (so printed), first-syllable acute. ॥५॥

---

Page 324 — Sūkta 8, Rik 6

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. The bar under “sya” of “tokasya” is faint, hence [accent ?].)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

सम्ओहे वा य आशत नरस्तोकस्य सनितौ । [accent ?] विप्रासो वा धियायवः ॥६॥

samohé vā yá āśata náras tokásya sánitau | [accent ?] víprāso vā dhiyāyávaḥ ||6||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

सम्ऽओहे । वा । ये । आशत । नरः । तोकस्य । सनितौ ॥ विप्रासः । वा । धियाऽयवः ॥६॥

sam-ohe | vā | ye | āśata | naraḥ | tokasya | sanitau || viprāsaḥ | vā | dhiyā-yavaḥ ||6||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

ये नरः पुरुषाः समोहे संग्रामे तोकस्यापत्यस्य सनितौ वा लाभे वाशत । व्याप्तवन्तः । इन्द्रं स्तुत्वेति शेषः । वा अथवा विप्रासो मेधाविनो धियायवः प्रज्ञाकामाः सन्त आशत ते सर्वे लभन्त इत्यध्याहारः । रण इत्यादिषु षट्चत्वारिंशत्संग्रामनामसु समोहे समिथ इति पठितम् । पञ्चदशस्वपत्यनामसु तुक् तोकमिति पठितम् ॥

ye naraḥ puruṣāḥ samohe saṃgrāme tokasyāpatyasya sanitau vā lābhe vāśata | vyāptavantaḥ | indraṃ stutveti śeṣaḥ | vā athavā viprāso medhāvino dhiyāyavaḥ

prajñā-kāmāḥ santa āśata te sarve labhanta ity adhyāhāraḥ | raṇa ity-ādiṣu ṣaṭcatvāriṃśat-saṃgrāma-nāmasu samohe samitha iti paṭhitam | pañcadaśasv apatya-nāmasu tuk tokam iti paṭhitam ||

Translation: "Those narāḥ, men, who in the samoha — the battle — or in the winning (sanitau) of offspring (tokasya), have āśata — have attained [Indra's favour; the words 'having praised Indra' are to be supplied]; or the viprāsaḥ — the wise — who, being dhiyāyavaḥ — desirous of understanding — have attained: all these obtain [what they seek]: this is the supply of the sentence. Among the forty-six words for 'battle' beginning with raṇa, samohe and samitha are read. Among the fifteen words for 'offspring,' tuk and toka are read."

Grammar of the Bhāṣya (p. 325; characterized, references as printed; page header "A. 1, A. 1, Va. 16"): "Samohe" — end-acute by the stem accent. "Vā" — unaccented by "cādayo 'nudāttāḥ." "Āśata" — "aśū vyāptau," "luṅ"; loss of "cli" as Vedic; the augment "āṭ," acute by आडजादीनाम् (पा. ६-४-७२), which, taught later, remains. "Naraḥ" — the stem accent. "Sanitau" — स्त्रियां क्तिन्; by the vārttika "tituträ… grahādīnām iti vaktavyam" (पा. ७-२-९-१) the "iṭ" of "grahādi" roots, and so "iṭ" here. "Viprāsaḥ" — "vipra" formed with "ran" by nipātana in "ṛjrendra…," end-acute. "Dhiyāyavaḥ" — "dhi dhāraṇe": "dhīyate dhāryate 'vabudhyate śrutam artha-jātam anayeti dhīḥ prajñā; tām ātmana icchantīti" — "kyac," क्याच्छन्दसि (पा. ३-२-१७०) the affix "u"; अतो लोपः; end-acute by the affix accent.

Page 325 — Rik 6 continued

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

ये नरः (ye naraḥ) — those men (who praise Indra) | समोहे (samohe) — in battle (also for obtaining victory) | वा (vā) — or (and) | तोकस्य (tokasya) — of offspring, sons and so on | सनितौ (sanitau) — also for the gaining | आशत (āśata) — attain Indra | वा (vā) — or | विप्रासः (viprāsaḥ) — wise people | धियायवः (dhiyāyavaḥ) — those desiring understanding or knowledge (too) | आशत (āśata) — attain Indra himself.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

Those men who desire victory in battle, and offspring such as sons and grandsons, obtain their desires by praising Indra. And the wise, and those who desire understanding, obtain their desires from Indra himself.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> Whatever men have recourse to Indra, in battle or for the acquirement of offspring, and the wise who are desirous of understanding (obtain their desires).

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Words to be supplied. The sense of this rik can be guessed correctly, but some principal words must be supplied. Since the previous rik declares that Indra's greatness or powers are boundless, in keeping with that purport this rik says that people take refuge in Indra for victory in battle that they desire, for the winning of offspring, and for knowledge, and that, praising him with hymns and the like, they obtain their desires. That is the main sense.

Page 326 — Rik 6: Special Topics (continued); grammar

"Samohe" — the word samohe is read among the forty-six battle-names beginning with raṇa (Ni. 3-9).

"Tokasya" — the word tokam is read among the fifteen words for "offspring" beginning with tuk (Ni. 3-2).

"Āśata" — a form of the root aśū vyāptau ("to pervade, attain"). "To attain Indra" means to entreat Indra with praises and the like.

"Naraḥ" — the nominative plural of the ṛ-ending word nṛ. This word is also used as an a-stem; in that case naraḥ is a nominative singular.

"Viprāsaḥ" — viprāḥ is the ancient form of usage.

"Dhiyāyavaḥ" — धि धारणे । धीयते धार्यत्वेनावबुध्यते श्रुतमर्थजातमनयेति धिया प्रज्ञा । तामात्मन इच्छन्तीति धियायवः (dhi dhāraṇe | dhīyate dhāryatvenāvabudhyate śrutam artha-jātam anayeti dhiyā prajñā | tām ātmana icchantīti dhiyāyavaḥ) — "dhi in the sense of holding; that by which heard matters are held in the mind and understood is dhiyā — insight; those who desire that for themselves are dhiyāyavaḥ." The root dhi means "to hold" or "to know." Because by it one understands matters one has heard or seen, the word dhiyā arises. Those who desire insight or wisdom are called dhiyāyavaḥ.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar page, noted briefly)

समोहे (samohe) — by the Phiṭ sūtra "phiṣaḥ" (फि. सू. १) it takes the final accent of the base; वा — unaccented by चादयोऽनुदात्ताः (फि. सू. १४४). आशत (āśata) — root aśū vyāptau with luṅ; cli before luṅ (पा. सू. ३-१-४३); Vedic loss of cli; āṭ augment for luṅ/laṅ/lṛṅ before a root with initial vowel (आडजादीनाम्, पा. सू. ६-४-७२), which is udātta; satyaṁ śiṣṭa-svara keeps the accent; vṛddhi of a+a by āṭaś ca (पा. सू. ६-१-९०) as a single substitute; ā is udātta; in the third plural ātmanepada jha → at (पा. सू. ७-१-५), giving āśata. नरः (naraḥ) — final-udātta by base accent. सनितौ (sanitau) — root sana with ktin by "striyāṃ ktin" (पा. सू. ३-३-९४); though तितुत्रतथसिसुसरकसेषु च (पा. सू. ७-२-९) … (continues on p. 327)

Page 327 — Rik 6 grammar closes; Sūkta 8, Rik 7

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar page, noted briefly)

(Page header: "A. 1, A. 1, Va. 16." Numbers as printed.) Continuing सनितौ: … here the "iṭ" would be forbidden; but by the vārttika तितुत्रेष्वग्रहादीनाम् (पा. सू. ७-२-९, भा. वा. १) the prohibition does not apply to "ti, tu, tra" after the "grahādi" roots; the "grahādi" list is an ākṛtigaṇa, so here too the prohibition does not apply, as in "nigṛhītiḥ, nipaṭhitiḥ." विप्रासः — "ṛjrendrāgravipra…" (उ. सू. २-१८६) forms "vipra" with "ran" by nipātana, so first-syllable acute by the "n"-mark; in the nominative plural आज्ञसेरसुक् (पा. सू. ७-१-५०) "asuk." धियायवः — "dhi dhāraṇe": "dhīyate

dhāryate ’vabudhyate śrutam arthajātaṃ sarvam anayā iti dhiyā prajñā”; “dhiyam ātmana icchati”: सुप आत्मनः क्यच् (पा. सू. ३-१-८) “kyac”; क्याच्छन्दसि (पा. सू. ३-२-१७०) “u” in the “tācchīlya” senses after roots ending in “kyac, kyaṣ, kyaṅ” and the kaṇḍvādi “yak”; अतो लोपः (पा. सू. ६-४-४८) the loss of “a” before an ārdhadhātuka: “dhiyāyu,” end-acute by the affix accent; nominative plural “dhiyāyavaḥ.” ॥६॥

---

Page 327 — Sūkta 8, Rik 7

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

यः कुक्षिः सोमपातमः समुद्र इव पिन्वते । उर्वीरापो न काकुदः ॥७॥

yáḥ kukṣíḥ somapātamaḥ samudrá iva pínvate | urvīr āpo ná kākúdaḥ ||7||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

यः । कुक्षिः । सोमऽपातमः । समुद्रः । इव । पिन्वते ॥ उर्वीः । आपः । न । काकुदः ॥७॥

yaḥ | kukṣiḥ | soma-pātamaḥ | samudraḥ | iva | pinvate || urvīḥ | āpaḥ | na | kākudaḥ ||7||

Page 328 — Rik 7: Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

यः कुक्षिरस्येन्द्रस्योदरप्रदेशः सोमपातमो ऽतिशयेन सोमस्य पाता स कुक्षिः समुद्र इव पिन्वते । वर्धते । सेचनार्थो धातुरौचित्येन वृद्धिं लक्षयति । काकुदो मुखसंबन्धिन्य उर्वीर्बह्व्य आपो न जलानीव । जिह्वासंबन्धमास्योदकं यथा कदाचिदपि न शुष्यति तथेन्द्रस्य कुक्षिः सोमपूरितो न शुष्यतीत्यर्थः । यद्यपि श्लोक इत्यादिषु सप्तपञ्चाशत्सु वाङ्नामसु काकुज्जिह्वेति पठितं तथाप्युदकसंबन्धसिद्ध्यर्थमत्र काकुच्छब्देन मुखमुपलक्ष्यते । संबन्धवाचिनस्तद्धितस्यात्र छान्दसो लोपो द्रष्टव्यः ॥

yaḥ kukṣir asyendrasyodara-pradeśaḥ somapātamo ’tiśayena somasya pātā sa kukṣiḥ samudra iva pinvate | vardhate | secanārtho dhātur aucityena vṛddhiṃ lakṣayati | kākudo mukha-saṃbandhinya urvīr bahvya āpo na jalānīva | jihvā-saṃbandham āsyodakaṃ yathā kadācid api na śuṣyati tathendrasya kukṣiḥ soma-pūrito na śuṣyatīty arthaḥ | yadyapi śloka ity-ādiṣu saptapañcāśatsu vāṅ-nāmasu kākuj jihveti paṭhitaṃ tathāpy udaka-saṃbandha-siddhy-artham atra kākuc-chabdena mukham upalakṣyate | saṃbandha-vācinas taddhitasyātra chāndaso lopo draṣṭavyaḥ ||

Translation: “That belly (kukṣiḥ) — the region of the stomach — of Indra, somapātamaḥ — which drinks Soma to the utmost — that belly swells (pinvate, grows) like the ocean. The root [pinv] has the sense of sprinkling; by propriety it here indicates growth. Kākudaḥ — [the waters] connected with the mouth: urvīḥ, many āpaḥ, like waters. As the water in the mouth, connected with the tongue, never at any time dries up, so Indra’s belly, filled with Soma, does not dry — this is the sense. Although kākut and jihvā are read among the fifty-seven words for speech beginning with śloka, still here, to establish the connection with water, the mouth is indicated by the word kākut. The taddhita suffix of relation has been dropped here by Vedic license."

Grammar of the Bhāṣya (characterized, references as printed): "Somapātamaḥ" — "somaṃ pibatīti somapāḥ"; the "ā" acute by the root accent, kept by the kṛt-final second member's accent; "tamap," "p"-marked, unaccented. "Samudraḥ" — end-acute as a stem. "Iva" — with "iva," no loss of the case-ending and the first member's accent, by the vārttika (पा. २-१-४-२). "Pinvate" — "pivi secane," "i"-marked, so "num" by "idito num dhātoḥ"; "śap," "p"-marked, unaccented, and the lasārvadhātuka, so the root accent remains. "Urvīḥ" — "uru," end-acute; वोतो गुणवचनात् (पा. ४-१-४४) "ṅīṣ"; "y" substitute; उदात्तयणो हल्पूर्वात् (पा. ६-१-१७४) the "ī" acute; with "jas," the single substitute acute. "Āpaḥ" — the stem accent. "Kākudaḥ" — end-acute by the stem accent.

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

यः कुक्षिः (yaḥ kukṣiḥ) — which belly of Indra | सोमपातमः (somapātamaḥ) — which drinks Soma (that belly) | समुद्रः इव (samudra iva) — like the ocean | पिन्वते (pinvate) — swells, grows big | (and) काकुदः (kākudaḥ) — [of the tongue] connected with the mouth (that is, within the mouth) | उर्वीः (urvīḥ) — abundant | आपः न (āpo na) — like water (is always moist and not dry).

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

Because he drinks Soma to excess, Indra's belly swells large like the ocean, and the tongue in his mouth is always moist, as if wetted with water.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> The belly of Indra which drinks soma-juice most abundantly swells like ocean and like the ample fluids of the palate.

Page 329 — Rik 7: Special Topics and grammar

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Here Indra's drinking of Soma is described by hyperbole (utprekṣā): Indra drinks abundant Soma-juice (offered by us), and therefore his belly swells like the ocean; and because he drinks Soma again and again, his palate is always moist with Soma. As the saliva that flows constantly in the human mouth keeps the palate always moist, so Indra's stomach also is always wet with Soma-drinking and never dries. That is the idea.

"Kākudaḥ" — kakut means the palate (English "palate" in the source); kākuda = connected with it. Or, since kākut and jihvā are read among the fifty-seven words for speech beginning with śloka (Ni. 2-23), it is understood to mean "tongue." Everyone knows that the tongue, the mouth, are always moist; that is the comparison the poet draws here. Besides, in the Nirukta there is the statement काकुदं तालु इत्याचक्षते (kākudaṃ tālv ity ācakṣate, "they call the kākuda the palate," Ni. 5-26); and this word also means "mountain peak." On that reading the sense is that streams that flow down from the top of a mountain keep the mountain always wet; "like that" the sense may also be taken.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (pp. 329–330, Kannada; page header p. 329 "A. 1, A. 1, Va. 16"; numbers as printed)

सोमपातमः (somapātamaḥ) — somaṃ pibati iti somapāḥ: the "ka" of आतोऽनुपसर्गे कः (पा. सू. ३-२-३) is set aside by आतो मनिन्क्वनिब्वनिपश्च (पा. सू. ३-२-७४), whose "ca" brings "vic"; "pā" end-acute by धातोः (पा. सू. ६-१-१६२), kept by गतिकारकोपपदात्कृत् (पा. सू. ६-२-१३९); then अतिशायने तमबिष्ठनौ (पा. सू. ५-३-५५) "tamap," "p"-marked, unaccented by अनुदात्तौ सुप्पितौ (पा. सू. ३-१-४). समुद्रः (samudraḥ) — final-udātta by base accent; with iva the case-ending is dropped and the first member's accent kept ("ivena vibhaktyalopaḥ pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ ca," पा. सू. २-१-४, म. २). पिन्वते (pinvate) — root pivi secane; num by "idito num dhātoḥ" (पा. सू. ७-१-५८); ātmanepada laṭ, third singular ta; ṭita ātmanepadānāṃ ṭere (पा. सू. ३-४-७९) gives te; śap; śap is pit so unaccented; the root keeps its accent.

Page 330 — Rik 7 grammar closes

(Kannada, continued; numbers as printed.) "Pinvate" (concluded): "te," after an anudāttet root, is unaccented by तास्यनुदात्तेत्... (पा. सू. ६-१-१८६); but यद्वृत्तान्नित्यम् (पा. सू. ८-१-६६) — a verb in a clause with the relative "yat" is never unaccented — so "tiṅṅatiṅaḥ" does not apply.

उर्वीः — "uru," end-acute; वोतो गुणवचनात् (पा. सू. ४-१-४४) — after a quality-word ending in short "u," "ṅīṣ" optionally in the feminine; "y" substitute: "urvī"; उदात्तयणो हल्पूर्वात् (पा. सू. ६-१-१७४) — after an acute replaced by "y, v, r, l" preceded by a consonant, the nadī vowel and a "śas"-etc. ending are acute — so the "ī" is acute; "urvī + as": प्रथमयोः पूर्वसवर्णः (पा. सू. ६-१-१०२) the long vowel, acute by एकादेश उदात्तेनोदात्तः (पा. सू. ८-२-५). आपः — the stem accent. काकुदः — "kākuj jihvā" (निरु. "१-११-३८" as printed [?]): Yāska lists "kākut" among the fifty-seven speech-words beginning "ślokaḥ"; taken so, it does not construe with the water of "āpaḥ," so here the mouth is indicated by "kākut"; by the Mahābhāṣya's भूमनिन्दाप्रशंसासु नित्ययोगेऽतिशायने । संबन्धेऽस्तिविवक्षायां भवन्ति मतुबादयः (पा. सू. ५-२-९४ म. भा.) "matup" in the sense of relation, dropped as Vedic: "kākudaḥ," "connected with the mouth"; end-acute by the stem accent. ॥७॥

---

Page 330 — Sūkta 8, Rik 8

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

ए॒वा ह्य॑स्य सू॒नृता॑ वि॒रप्शी॑ गो॒मती॑ म॒ही । प॒क्वा शा॑खा॒ न दा॒शुषे॑ ॥८॥

evā́ hy asya sūnṛ́tā virapśī́ gómatī mahī́ | pakvā́ śā́khā ná dāśúṣe ||8||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

एव । हि । अस्य । सूनृता । विऽरप्शी । गोऽमती । मही ॥ पक्वा । शाखा । न । दाशुषे ॥८॥

eva | hi | asya | sūnṛtā | vi-rapśī | go-matī | mahī || pakvā | śākhā | na | dāśuṣe ||8||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

अभिप्लवषडहगतेषूक्थ्येषु तृतीयसवने ब्राह्मणाच्छंसिन एवा ह्यस्य सूनृतेत्यनुरूपस्तृचः । एह्यू षु ब्रवाणि ते इति खण्डे अथ ब्राह्मणाच्छंसिन इत्युपक्रम्य एवा ह्यसि वीरयुरेवा ह्यस्य सूनृता । आ. ६-८ । इति सूत्रितम् ॥ अस्येन्द्रस्य सूनृता प्रियसत्यरूपा वाग्दाशुषे हविर्दत्तवते यजमानाय तदर्थमेवा हि एवं खलु । अनन्तरपदवक्ष्यमाणगुणोपेता भवतीत्यर्थः । कीदृशी । विरप्शी विविधरपणोपेतवाक्ययुक्ता । बहुविधोपचारवादिनीत्यर्थः । गोमती बह्वीभिर्गोभिरुपेता । गोप्रदेत्यर्थः । अत एव मही महती पूज्या । यथोक्तवाचो दृष्टान्तः । पक्वा शाखा न । यथा बहुभिः पक्वैः फलैरुपेता पनसवृक्षादिशाखा प्रीतिहेतुस्तद्वत् । यद्यपि महन्नामसु व्राधन्विरप्शीति पठितं तथाप्यत्र महीत्यनेन पुनरुक्तिप्रसङ्गादेवमर्थो गृहीतः ॥

abhiplava-ṣaḍaha-gateṣūkthyeṣu tṛtīya-savane brāhmaṇācchaṃsina evā hy asya sūnṛtety anurūpas tṛcaḥ | ehy ū ṣu bravāṇi te iti khaṇḍe atha brāhmaṇācchaṃsina ity upakramya evā hy asi vīrayur evā hy asya sūnṛtā | ā. 6-8 | iti sūtritam || asyendrasya sūnṛtā priya-satya-rūpā vāg dāśuṣe havir dattavate yajamānāya tad-artham evā hi evaṃ khalu | anantara-pada-vakṣyamāṇa-guṇopetā bhavatīty arthaḥ | kīdṛśī | virapśī vividha-rapaṇopeta-vākya-yuktā | bahu-vidhopacāra-vādinīty arthaḥ | gomatī bahvībhir gobhir upetā | go-pradety arthaḥ | ata eva mahī mahatī pūjyā | yathokta-vāco dṛṣṭāntaḥ | pakvā śākhā na | yathā bahubhiḥ pakvaiḥ phalair upetā panasa-vṛkṣādi-śākhā prīti-hetus tadvat | yadyapi mahan-nāmasu vrādhan virapśīti paṭhitaṃ tathāpy atra mahīty anena punarukti-prasaṅgād evam artho gṛhītaḥ ||

Translation: “In the ukthya [rites] of the Abhiplava Ṣaḍaha, at the third pressing, for the Brāhmaṇācchaṃsin, the triplet beginning evā hy asya sūnṛtā is the anurūpa. So it is laid down in the section ehy ū ṣu bravāṇi te, beginning ‘atha brāhmaṇācchaṃsinaḥ’: ‘evā hy asi vīrayuḥ, evā hy asya sūnṛtā’ (Āśvalāyana 6-8). Asya — of this Indra, the sūnṛtā — speech of the nature of the pleasant and the true — is, to the dāśuṣe, the sacrificer who has given the oblation, [given] for that very purpose; thus [evā hi]: it is endowed with the qualities stated in the next words. What kind? Virapśī — equipped with speech having various utterings; that is, speaking many kinds of courtesies. Gomatī — furnished with many cows; that is, giving cows. Therefore mahī — great, honourable. An illustration of speech so described: Pakvā śākhā na — as a branch of a jackfruit tree or the like, laden with many ripe fruits, is a cause of delight, so [is his speech]. Although vrādhan and virapśī are read among the words for ‘great,’ here, since mahī would then repeat it, this sense is taken.”

Grammar of the Bhāṣya (characterized, references as printed; page header “A. 1, A. 1, Va. 16”): “Evā” — end-acute by “evādīnām ante”; long by “nipātasya ca” in the saṃhitā. “Hi” — a nipāta, first-syllable acute. “Asya” — referring back to Indra, “aś” by “idamo ’nvādeśe…,” wholly unaccented. “Sūnṛtā” — “ūna parihāṇe”: “suṭarām ūnayati apriyam iti sūn”; “sā cāsāv ṛtā satyā ceti sūnṛtā priyasatyā vāk”; the “ṛ” acute by “parādiś chandasi bahulam.” “Virapśī” — “vicitraṃ rapaṇaṃ virap,” “rapa lapa vyaktāyāṃ vāci,” “kvip” by “sampadādi”; “tad eṣām astīti virapśāni vākyāni”; “ini”; यस्येति च (पा. ६-४-१४८) loss of “a”; अन्येभ्योऽपि दृश्यते “ṅīp” (पा. ४-१-५); the “i” acute by the affix accent; the loss of “n” Vedic; the single long vowel acute. “Gomatī” — “gāvo ’syāṃ santīti,” “matup” and “ṅīp” unaccented, so the stem accent. “Mahī” — “mahatī”: उगितश्च (पा. ४-१-६) “ṅīp”; the vārttika “bṛhanmahatorupasaṃkhyānam” (पा. ६-१-१७३-१) makes it acute; the loss of “at” Vedic. “Pakvā” — “ḍupacaṣ pāke,” निष्ठा (पा. ३-२-१०२) “kta”; पचो वः (पा. ८-२-५२) “v”; चोः कुः (पा. ८-२-३०) “k”; end-acute; with “ṭāp,” the long single vowel acute. “Śākhā” — “śākhṛ ślākhṛ vyāptau,” “ac” (pacādi), end-acute expected, but as of the vṛṣādi ākṛtigaṇa first-syllable acute. “Dāśuṣe” — “dāśṛ dāne,” दाश्वान्साह्वान्मीढ्वांश्च (पा. ६-१-१२) by nipātana no “iṭ” and no doubling; यचि भम् (पा. १-४-१८) “bha”; वसोः संप्रसारणम् (पा. ६-४-१३१); the prior form; शासिवसिघसीनां च (पा. ८-३-६०) “ṣ”; the “u” acute by the affix accent.

Page 332 — Rik 8: word-meanings, overall sense, Special Topics

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

अस्य (asya) — of Indra | सूनृता (sūnṛtā) — the pleasant and true (speech) | दाशुषे (dāśuṣe) — to the sacrificer who offers the oblation | पक्वा शाखा न (pakvā śākhā na) — like a branch laden with ripe fruit | विरप्शी (virapśī) — of many kinds (granting what is wished) | गोमती (gomatī) — giving cows | मही (mahī) — worthy of honour | एवा हि (evā hi) — [is] indeed (always so).

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

Toward the sacrificer who gives the oblation, Indra’s word is true and grants many desires. Moreover that word of Indra, like a branch full of ripe fruits, gives the sacrificer his many kinds of desired things, and gives cows as well. Because Indra’s word is always worshipful it is deserving of respect; it never turns out false.

(No “English Translation” block is printed for this rik in the source, as also for Rik 7.6; none is supplied here.)

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

The application. At the time of reciting the mantras in the rite called Abhiplava-ṣaḍaha, in the third pressing, the priest called Brāhmaṇācchaṃsin is to recite the triplet evā hy asya sūnṛtā. Āśvalāyana says this in his Śrauta-sūtra (Ā. 6-8) in the section ehy ū ṣu bravāṇi te, beginning atha brāhmaṇācchaṃsinaḥ, directing that the riks evā hy asi vīrayuḥ (Ṛgveda Saṃhitā 8-92-2[?], the last digit unclear) and evā hy asya sūnṛtā (Ṛgveda Saṃhitā 1-8-8) be recited.

The sense of the rik is somewhat involved. Indra always gives each person what they desire when they worship him. His word is pleasant and true; it does not become false. And as a branch of a jackfruit tree laden with fine ripe fruit gives joy to people, so Indra’s word is pleasing to people. For Indra gives to the sacrificer who gives him the oblation, and to others like him, cows and many other desired things. Therefore his word is worshipful and deserving of honour. The main idea is that it can never turn out false.

“Sūnṛtā” — ऊन परिहाणे । सुतरामूनयत्यप्रियमिति सून् । सा चासावृता सत्या चेति सूनृता प्रियसत्या वाक्
(ūna parihāṇe | sutarām ūnayaty apriyam iti sūn | sā cāsāv ṛtā satyā ceti sūnṛtā priya-satyā

vāk) — "[root] ūna, 'to diminish'; that which thoroughly removes the unpleasant is sūn; that, and also ṛtā — true — is sūnṛtā: pleasant and true speech." That is, the root ūna means to remove; because it removes the unpleasant, evil, so well, it is called sūn; ṛta means truth; so the word sūnṛtā means speech that is not unpleasant — that is, pleasant and true. Skandasvāmī, for the word virapśī, gives besides the sense सर्वकामधुक् (sarvakāma-dhuk, "milking all desires": that gives all wished-for things) another: सूनृता गर्जितलक्षणा वाक् । गोमती आपोऽत्र गाव उच्यन्ते (sūnṛtā garjita-lakṣaṇā vāk | gomatī āpo 'tra gāva ucyante) — "sūnṛtā is speech characterized by thundering; gomatī: here the waters are called gāvaḥ [cows]." That is, here the word go is to be taken as "water." Sūnṛtā means a rumbling speech or sound; so the words sūnṛtā gomatī are taken to mean "waters with sound," that is, rain accompanied by the thunder of clouds.

Page 333 — Rik 8: Special Topics (continued)

(Page header: "A. 1, A. 1, Va. 16." The top of the page ends Skandasvāmī's gloss: "...āpo 'tra gāva ucyante" — here "go" is to be taken as water; "sūnṛtā" means speech accompanied by thunder, or sound; so "sūnṛtā gomatī" means waters with sound, that is, rain with the thunder of clouds.)

"Virapśī" — विविधरपणोपेतवाक्ययुता । बहुविधोपचारवादिनी । रप लप व्यक्तायां वाचि । विचित्रं रपणं यस्यां वाचि अस्तीति सा विरप्शी (vividha-rapaṇopeta-vākya-yutā | bahu-vidhopacāra-vādinī | rapa lapa vyaktāyāṃ vāci | vicitraṃ rapaṇaṃ yasyāṃ vāci astīti sā virapśī) — "speech joined with various utterings; speaking many kinds of courtesies. [Roots] rapa, lapa in the sense of clear speech. That speech in which there is varied speaking is virapśī." The root rap means to speak, to talk; vi-rapaṇa means speaking specially, or in a manifold or varied way. A speech having such words is virapśī: speech that embraces many kinds of courtesies. That is: Indra's word gives many kinds of desired things. Although the word virapśī is customarily taken in the sense "great" (mahat), here the word mahī ("great") is also present in the rik, and so it would be a fault of repetition; therefore the Bhāṣyakāra supposes the component-sense for this word.

"Evā" — the vowel ā is lengthened here for the convenience of the meter.

"Gomatī" — बह्वीभिर्गोभिरुपेता । गोप्रदेत्यर्थः (bahvībhir gobhir upetā | go-pradety arthaḥ) — "furnished with many cows"; i.e., giving cows.

"Pakvā śākhā" — "pakvā śākhā" does not here mean a branch that is itself ripe, but a branch laden with ripe fruits. Since such fruits are wanted by everyone, the poet gives this comparison. Here na means "like" (iva).

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (pp. 333–335, Kannada; characterized, numbers as printed)

एव — एवादीनामन्तः (फि. सू. ८२): the final of "eva" etc. is acute; in the saṃhitā निपातस्य च (पा. सू. "६-३-१-३६" as printed, i.e. 6-3-136) lengthens a particle in a mantra. हि — निपाता आद्युदात्ताः (फि. सू. ८०), first-syllable acute. अस्य — refers back to Indra, already mentioned, so by इदमोऽन्वादेशेऽशनुदात्तस्तृतीयादौ (पा. सू. २-४-३२) the unaccented "aś" replaces "idam" ("ś"-marked, the whole); "a" unaccented, and "sya" unaccented by अनुदात्तौ सुप्पितौ (पा. सू. "३२१-४" as printed, i.e. 3-1-4): wholly unaccented.

सूनृता (p. 334) — "ūna parihāṇe": "sutarām ūnayati apriyam" — "sūn," that which thoroughly removes the unpleasant; "ṛtā," the true; "sūn ca sā ṛtā ca" — pleasant and true speech. In

परादिश्छन्दसि बहुलम् (पा. सू. ६-२-१९९), “sakthaṃ” is carried from सक्थं चाक्रान्तात् (पा. सू. ६-२-१९८), so the sense would be that in the Veda the first syllable of “sakthi” as second member is often acute; “vibhāṣā” is carried from विभाषोत्पुच्छे (पा. सू. ६-२-१९६), so “bahula” is not used merely for optionality: by “bahūn arthān lāti iti bahulam” it conveys many senses, as the vārttika says: परादिश्च परान्तश्च पूर्वान्तश्चापि दृश्यते । पूर्वादयश्च दृश्यन्ते व्यत्ययो बहुलं ततः ॥ — so the accent comes even without “sakthi,” and in “sūnṛtā” the “ṛ” is acute.

विरप्शी — “vicitraṃ rapaṇaṃ virap,” “rapa lapa vyaktāyāṃ vāci,” with “vi”: संपदादिभ्यः क्विप् (पा. सू. ३-३-१०८ वा. ९) “kvip,” wholly lost; “virap” = varied speech; “virapa eṣāṃ vākyānām asti iti virapśāni” — sentences with varied words; speech in which such sentences are, “virapśinī”; “virapśāni asyāṃ santi”: अत इनिठनौ (पा. सू. ५-२-११५) “ini” in the possessive sense after a short-“a” stem in the first case: “virapśa + in”; यस्येति च (पा. सू. ६-४-१४८) loss of “a”: “virapśin”; ऋन्नेभ्यो ङीप् (पा. सू. ४-१-५) “ṅīp” after “ṛ”- and “n”-ending stems: “virapśin + ī”; the “i” acute by the affix accent; the “n” lost as Vedic; अकः सवर्णे दीर्घः (पा. सू. “६-१-६-१-१०१” as printed, i.e. 6-1-101) the long vowel: “virapśī”; the single substitute of the acute “i” and unaccented “ī” acute by एकादेश उदात्तेनोदात्तः (पा. सू. ८-२-५).

गोमती — “gāvaḥ asyāṃ santi”: तदस्यास्त्यस्मिन्निति मतुप् (पा. सू. ५-२-९४) “matup”; उगितश्च (पा. सू. ४-१-६) “ṅīp”; both “p”-marked, unaccented; the stem accent of “go” remains. (continues on p. 335) ### Page 334

(Page 334 carries the Kannada grammar of सूनृता and विरप्शी, गोमती as summarized above; its closing lines, continuing on p. 335, treat मही, पक्वा, शाखा and दाशुषे.)

Page 335 — Rik 8 grammar (continued)

(Kannada; page header “A. 1, A. 1, Va. 16”; numbers as printed.)

मही — “mahatī”: after “mahat,” उगितश्च (पा. सू. ४-१-६) “ṅīp” after an “ugit” stem in the feminine; “ṅīp,” “p”-marked, would be unaccented, but the vārttika बृहन्महतोरुपसंख्यानम् (पा. सू. ६-१-१७३-१), under शतुरनुमो नद्यजादी (पा. सू. ६-१-१७३), makes the nadī affix and the “śas”-etc. endings after “bṛhat, mahat” acute; the “at” of “mahat” lost as Vedic.

पक्वा — “ḍupacaṣ pāke”: निष्ठा (पा. सू. ३-२-१०२) “kta” in the past sense; पचो वः (पा. सू. ८-२-५२) “v” for the “t”; चोः कुः (पा. सू. ८-२-३०) “k” for “c”; end-acute by the affix accent; अजाद्यतष्टाप् (पा. सू. ४-१-४) “ṭāp”; अकः सवर्णे दीर्घः (पा. सू. ६-१-१०१): “pakvā”; “ṭāp,” “p”-marked, unaccented; the single long “ā” acute by एकादेश उदात्तेनोदात्तः (पा. सू. ८-२-५).

शाखा — “śākhṛ ślākhṛ vyāptau,” of the pacādi class: नन्दिग्रहिपचादिभ्यो ल्युणिन्यचः (पा. सू. ३-१-१३४) “ac”; end-acute by चितः (पा. सू. ६-१-१६३) would apply, but the vṛṣādi class being an ākṛtigaṇa, “śākha” in it is first-syllable acute by वृषादीनां च (पा. सू. ६-१-२०३); with “ṭāp” and the long vowel, the “ā” is unaccented by स्थानेऽन्तरतमः (पा. सू. १-१-५०), then svarita by उदात्तादनुदात्तस्य स्वरितः (पा. सू. ८-४-६६).

दाशुषे — by nipātana in दाश्वान्साह्वान्मीढ्वांश्च (पा. सू. ६-१-१२), “dāśṛ dāne” with “kvasu” takes neither “iṭ” nor doubling; dative “ṅe”: “dāśvas + e”; यचि भम् (पा. सू. १-४-१८) “bha”; वसोः संप्रसारणम् (पा. सू. ६-४-१३१) “u” for “v”; (p. 336) संप्रसारणाच्च (पा. सू. ६-१-१०८) the prior form: “dāśus + e”; आदेशप्रत्यययोः (पा. सू. ८-३-५९) “ṣ” for the “s” belonging to the affix “vasu”: “dāśuṣe.” शासिवसिघसीनां च (पा. सू. ८-३-६०) names “vas” — the root “vasa nivāse,” not the affix “vasu” — so the “ṣ” does not come from that sūtra here; this was explained before (ऋ. सं. १-६-८). The “u” acute by the affix accent. ॥८॥

---

Page 336 — Sūkta 8, Rik 9

(Saṃhitā marks as read from the print; Pada unaccented. On this page several strokes seem to stand one syllable early over closely set letters (“ta” of “ūtaya,” “dya,” “san,” “śu”), so the placement is doubtful: [accent ?].)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

एवा हि ते विभूतय ऊतय इन्द्र मावते । [accent ?] सद्यश्चित्सन्ति दाशुषे ॥९॥ [accent ?]

evā hi te víbhūtaya ūtaya indra mávate | [accent ?] sadyaś cít santi dāśuṣe ||9|| [accent ?]

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

एव । हि । ते । विऽभूतयः । ऊतयः । इन्द्र । मावते ॥ सद्यः । चित् । सन्ति । दाशुषे ॥९॥

eva | hi | te | vi-bhūtayaḥ | ūtayaḥ | indra | māvate || sadyaḥ | cit | santi | dāśuṣe ||9||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे इन्द्र ते तव विभूतय ऐश्वर्यविशेषा एवा हि एवंविधाः खलु । किंविधा इति तदुच्यते । मावते मत्सदृशाय दाशुषे हविर्दत्तवते यजमानायोतयस्त्वदीयरक्षारूपाः सद्यश्चित्सन्ति । यदा कर्मानुष्ठितं तदैव भवन्ति ॥ मावते । मत्सदृशाय । वतुप्करणे युष्मदस्मद्भ्यां छन्दसि सादृश्य उपसंख्यानम् । पा. ५-२-३९-१ । इत्यस्मच्छब्दाद्वतुप् । मपर्यन्तस्य प्रत्ययोत्तरपदयोश्च । पा. ७-२-९८ । इति मादेशः । अद्शब्देन सहातो गुणे । पा. ६-१-९७ । इति पररूपत्वम् । दृग्दृशवतुषु । पा. ६-३-८९ । इत्यनुवृत्तावा सर्वनाम्नः । पा. ६-३-९१ । इति दकारस्याकारः । सवर्णदीर्घत्वम् । वतुपः पित्त्वात्प्रातिपदिकस्वर एव शिष्यते । सद्यः । समाने द्यवीत्यर्थे । सद्यः परुत्परायैषमः । पा. ५-३-२२ । इत्यादिना निपातितम् । प्रत्ययस्वरेणान्तोदात्तत्वम् । चित् । चादयो ऽनुदात्ताः ॥ सन्ति । अस भुवि । लटः स्थाने झि । झो ऽन्तः । पा. ७-१-३ । आदिप्रभृतिभ्यः शपः । पा. २-४-७२ । इति शपो लुक् । तिङः प्रत्ययाद्युदात्तत्वम् । प्रत्ययलोपे प्रत्ययलक्षणम् । पा. १-१-६२ । इति शबकारमाश्रित्य लसार्वधातुकानुदात्तत्वं न भवति । वर्णाश्रयविधौ प्रत्ययलक्षणं नास्ति । परि. २१ । इति निषेधात् । दाशुषे । गतमन्त्रे गतम् ॥

he indra te tava vibhūtaya aiśvarya-viśeṣā evā hi evaṃvidhāḥ khalu | kiṃvidhā iti tad ucyate | māvate mat-sadṛśāya dāśuṣe havir dattavate yajamānāyotayas tvadīya-rakṣā-rūpāḥ sadyaś cit santi | yadā karmānuṣṭhitaṃ tadaiva bhavanti || māvate | mat-sadṛśāya | vatup-karaṇe yuṣmad-asmadbhyāṃ chandasi sādṛśya

upasaṃkhyānam | pā. 5-2-39-1 | ity asmac-chabdād vatup | maparγ-antasγa pratγayottarapadaγoś ca | pā. 7-2-98 | iti mādeśaḥ | ad-śabdena sahāto guṇe | pā. 6-1-97 | iti pararūpatvam | dṛg-dṛśa-vatuṣu | pā. 6-3-89 | ity anuvṛttāv ā sarvanāmnaḥ | pā. 6-3-91 | iti dakārasγākāraḥ | savarṇa-dīrghatvam | vatupaḥ pittvāt prātipadika-svara eva śiṣγate | sadγaḥ | samāne dγavīty arthe | sadγaḥ parut-parārγ-aiṣamaḥ | pā. 5-3-22 | itγ-ādinā nipātitam | pratγaγa-svareṇāntodāttatvam | cit | cādaγo 'nudāttāḥ || santi | asa bhuvi | laṭaḥ sthāne jhi | jho 'ntaḥ | pā. 7-1-3 | ādiprabhṛtibhγaḥ śapaḥ | pā. 2-4-72 | iti śapo luk | tiṅaḥ pratγaγādγudāttatvam | pratγaγa-lope pratγaγa-lakṣaṇam | pā. 1-1-62 | iti śabakāram āśritγa lasārvadhātukānudāttatvaṃ na bhavati | varṇāśraγa-vidhau pratγaγa-lakṣaṇaṃ nāsti | pari. 21 | iti niṣedhāt | dāśuṣe | gatamantre gatam ||

Translation: "O Indra! Your vibhūtaγaḥ — special powers — are indeed (evā hi) of this kind. Of what kind? It is said: māvate — to one like me — dāśuṣe, the sacrificer who has given the oblation — your ūtaγaḥ, protections — santi exist sadγaś cit, at once: they exist at the very moment the rite is performed." The grammatical remainder of the Sanskrit explains: māvate — by the vārttika on vatup after γuṣmad / asmad in the Veda in the sense of resemblance (Pā. 5-2-39 vā. 1), the suffix vatup comes after asmad; ma replaces the end of the stem (Pā. 7-2-98); pararūpa of the "a" with "ad" (Pā. 6-1-97); the d becomes ā by "ā sarvanāmnaḥ" (Pā. 6-3-91); savarṇa-dīrgha; vatup is pit, so the base accent stands. Sadγaḥ — formed irregularly (nipātita) in the sense samāne dγavi ("on the same day") by Pā. 5-3-22 and its class; final-udātta by the suffix; cit is unaccented (cādaγo 'nudāttāḥ). Santi — root as bhuvi, jhi for laṭ, jh → ant (Pā. 7-1-3), śap dropped (Pā. 2-4-72); the "tiṅ" is first-syllable acute by the affix accent; the lasārvadhātuka unaccentedness, which would come by pratγaγa-lakṣaṇa (Pā. 1-1-62) through the "a" of the elided "śap," does not, by the paribhāṣā (pari. 21) that it does not govern a rule based on letters (varṇāśraγa); dāśuṣe — "gone [explained] under the earlier mantra."

Page 337 — Rik 9: word-meanings, overall sense, English, Special Topics

(Page header: "A. 1, A. 1, Va. 16." The top of the page ends the Bhāṣγa's grammar, given under p. 336.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

(हे) इन्द्र ((he) indra) — O Indra | ते (te) — your | विभूतयः (vibhūtayaḥ) — special glories | एवा हि (evā hi) — are of this kind (that is) | मावते (māvate) — to one like me | दाशुषे (dāśuṣe) — to the sacrificer who offers the oblation | (your glories are) ऊतयः (ūtayaḥ) — in the form of protections | सद्यश्चित् सन्ति (sadyaś cit santi) — they are at once present.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Indra! The protections you give to a sacrificer like me who offers the oblation are endowed with this kind of greatness: they arrive at the very time we are performing the rite. This very greatness is your special glory.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

Verily, Indra, your glories are at all times (at once) the protectors of every such worshipper as I am.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

O Indra! You always protect people like us. And in particular, to the sacrificer who offers the oblation, your protection comes at once, while the sacrifice is being performed. Is not this your glory? That is the chief idea.

"Evā" — for the convenience of the meter, the syllable va is lengthened (evā).

"Māvate" — मत्सदृशाय (mat-sadṛśāya) — "like me; one equal to me."

"Sadyaścit" — immediately, at once, on the spot, without delay.

Page 338 — Rik 9: grammar

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (pp. 338–339, Kannada; characterized, numbers as printed)

मावते — "mat-sadṛśāya," like me. Under यत्तदेतेभ्यः परिमाणे वतुप् (पा. सू. "५-२-९" as printed, i.e. 5-2-39) the vārttika वतुप्प्रकरणे युष्मदस्मद्भ्यां छन्दसि सादृश्य उपसंख्यानम् (पा. सू. ५-२-३९-१): in the "vatup" section, after "yuṣmad, asmad" in the Veda "vatup" in the sense of likeness: "asmad + vatup"; प्रत्ययोत्तरपदयोश्च (पा. सू. ७-२-९८) "ma" for "asma": "ma + ad + vatup"; अतो गुणे (पा. सू. ६-१-९७) the later form: "mad + vatup"; आ सर्वनाम्नः (पा. सू. ६-३-९१), with दृग्दृशवतुषु (पा. सू. ६-३-८९) carried on, "ā" for the final of a pronoun before "dṛk, dṛś, vatu": "ma + ā + vat"; अकः सवर्णे दीर्घः (पा. सू. ६-१-१०१): "māvat"; dative "ṅe": "māvate"; "vatup," "p"-marked, and "ṅe," a sup, are unaccented by अनुदात्तौ सुप्पितौ (पा. सू. ३-१-४); "mā" end-acute by the stem accent.

सद्यः — "samāne ahani": सद्यःपरुत्परार्यैषमः... (पा. सू. ५-३-२२) forms by nipātana "sa" for "samāna" and the affix "dyas" in the sense "day"; the Mahābhāṣya makes this plain with "samānasya sabhāvo dyaś cāhani"; end-acute by the affix accent.

चित् — चादयोऽनुदात्ताः (फि. सू. "८-४" as printed), unaccented.

सन्ति — "as," "laṭ," third plural "jhi"; झोऽन्तः (पा. सू. "७-२-३" as printed, i.e. 7-1-3) "ant": "as + anti"; कर्तरि शप् (पा. सू. ३-१-६८), elided by अदिप्रभृतिभ्यः शपः (पा. सू. २-४-७२); श्नसोरल्लोपः (पा. सू. ६-४-१११) loss of the "a" of "as" before a "kit/ṅit" sārvadhātuka: "santi." Here the "tiṅ" "anti" is first-syllable acute by आद्युदात्तश्च (पा. सू. ३-१-३) … (continues on p. 339) ### Page 339 — Rik 9 grammar closes; Sūkta 8, Rik 10

(Page header: "A. 1, A. 1, Va. 16.") सन्ति (concluded): … first-syllable acute. Since "śap" is elided by "luk," the "anti" does not follow an "a"-taught base, so तास्यनुदात्तेङ्ङिददुपदेशात्... (पा. सू. ६-१-१८६) does not make the lasārvadhātuka "anti" unaccented. Though "śap" is elided, by प्रत्ययलोपे प्रत्ययलक्षणम् (पा. सू. १-१-६२) the effect of the affix would still hold; and न लुमताङ्गस्य (पा. सू. १-१-६३) — after a "luk, ślu, lup" loss, operations on the aṅga conditioned by the lost affix do not occur — does not stop it, since the accent rule concerns the lasārvadhātuka, not the aṅga. So one might say the unaccentedness conditioned by "adupadeśa" follows by pratyayalakṣaṇa.

That is not right: “adupadeśa” means having a short “a” at the time of teaching — that is “śap”; the unaccentedness would rest on the letter “a” of “śap,” and by वर्णाश्रये नास्ति प्रत्ययलक्षणम् (परि. भा. २१) pratyayalakṣaṇa does not apply to an operation resting on a letter; so the sārvadhātuka is not after an “a”-taught base, and no unaccentedness arises. दाशुषे — explained under the earlier mantra. ॥९॥

---

Page 339 — Sūkta 8, Rik 10 (the last)

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. In the second line strokes stand over “drā,” “ma” and the final “ye”; placement doubtful, hence [accent ?].)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

एवा ह्यस्य काम्या स्तोमं उक्थं च शंस्या । इन्द्रायु सोमपीतयै ॥१०॥ [accent ?]

evā hy asya kāmyā stóma ukthám ca śáṃsyā | índrāya sómapītáye ||10|| [accent ?]

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

एव । हि । अस्य । काम्या । स्तोमः । उक्थम् । च । शंस्या ॥ इन्द्राय । सोमऽपीतये ॥१०॥

eva | hi | asya | kāmyā | stomaḥ | uktham | ca | śaṃsyā || indrāya | soma-pītaye ||10||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

अस्येन्द्रस्य स्तोमः सामसाध्यं स्तोत्रमुक्थं चक्सार्ध्यं शस्त्रमुभे एवा ह्येते उभे एवंविधे खलु । किंविधे इति तदुच्यते । काम्या कामयितव्ये शंस्या ऋत्विग्भिः शंसनीये । किमर्थं शंसनमिति तदुच्यते । इन्द्राय सोमपीतये । इन्द्रस्य सोमपानार्थम् ॥ एवा ह्यस्य । व्यवहितमन्त्रे गतम् । काम्या । कमेर्णिङन्तादचो यत् । पा. ३-१-९७ । णेरनिटि । पा. ६-४-५१ । इति णिलोपः । तित्स्वरितमिति स्वरिते प्राप्ते यतोऽनाव इत्याद्युदात्तत्वम् । सुपो डादेशः । स्तोमः । अर्तिस्तुसु... इत्यादिना । उ. १-१४० । मन्प्रत्ययः । उक्थम् । वच परिभाषणे । पातृतुदिवचिरिचिसिचिभ्यस्थक् । उ. २-७ । इति थक् । कित्त्वात्संप्रसारणम् । परपूर्वत्वगुणाभावौ । शंस्या । शंसु स्तुतौ । ण्यन्तादचो यत् । यतोऽनाव इत्याद्युदात्तत्वम् । सुपो डादेशः । सोमस्य पीतिः सोमपीतिः । कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरे प्राप्ते व्यत्ययेनाद्युदात्तत्वम् । अथवा सोमस्य पीतिर्यस्येन्द्रस्येति सोमपीतिरिन्द्रः । बहुव्रीहौ प्रकृत्या पूर्वपदम् । पा. ६-२-१ । इति पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् ॥

asyendrasya stomaḥ sāma-sādhyaṃ stotram uktham ca ṛk-sādhyaṃ śastram ubhe evā hy ete ubhe evaṃvidhe khalu | kiṃvidhe iti tad ucyate | kāmyā kāmayitavye śaṃsyā ṛtvigbhiḥ śaṃsanīye | kim-arthaṃ śaṃsanam iti tad ucyate | indrāya somapītaye | indrasya soma-pānārtham || evā hy asya | vyavahita-mantre gatam | kāmyā | kamer ṇijantād aco yat | pā. 3-1-97 | ṇer aniṭi | pā. 6-4-51 | iti ṇi-lopaḥ | titsvaritam iti svarite prāpte yato 'nāva ity ādyudāttatvam | supo ḍādeśaḥ | stomaḥ | artistusu... ity-ādinā | u. 1-140 | man-pratyayaḥ | uktham | vaca paribhāṣaṇe | pātṝtudivacirici-sicibhyas thak | u. 2-7 | iti thak | kittvāt saṃprasāraṇam | parapūrvatva-guṇābhāvau | śaṃsyā | śaṃsu stutau | ṇyantād aco yat | yato 'nāva ity ādyudāttatvam | supo ḍādeśaḥ | somasya pītiḥ somapītiḥ | kṛd-uttarapada-prakṛti-

svare prāpte vyatyayenādyudāttatvam | athavā somasya pītir yasyendrasyeti somapītir indraḥ | bahuvrīhau prakṛtyā pūrvapadam | pā. 6-2-1 | iti pūrvapada-prakṛti-svaratvam ||

Translation: "Stoma — the praise sung, achieved through the Sāman — and uktha — the śastra recited, achieved through ṛks — these two are indeed of this kind (evā hi). Of what kind? Kāmyā — to be desired; śaṃsyā — to be recited by the ṛtvijs. For what purpose is the recitation? Indrāya somapītaye — for Indra's drinking of Soma. [The phrase evā hy asya was explained in the earlier mantra, Rik 8.]" The grammar (characterized): "kāmyā" — "yat" after the "ṇiṅ"-ended "kam" (3-1-97), loss of "ṇi" (6-4-51), first-syllable acute by "yato 'nāvaḥ"; "stomaḥ" — "man" (Uṇ. 1-140); "uktham" — "vac" with "thak" (Uṇ. 2-7), samprasāraṇa; "śaṃsyā" — "yat," first-syllable acute; "somapītaye" — first-syllable acute by vyatyaya, or as a bahuvrīhi with the first member's accent (6-2-1).

Page 340 — Rik 10: word-meanings, English, Special Topics

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

अस्य (asya) — of this Indra (made in regard to Indra) | स्तोमः (stomaḥ) — the praise in the form of Sāman singing | उक्थं च (uktham ca) — and the praise recited as a śastra from the ṛks (both these two kinds) | काम्या एव हि (kāmyā eva hi) — are indeed granting what is wished | these praises इन्द्राय सोमपीतये (indrāya somapītaye) — for Indra's drinking of Soma | शंस्या (śaṃsyā) — are praised by the ṛtvijs.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

The praises in the form of Sāman chants with which the ṛtvijs invite Indra to drink Soma, and the ṛks recited as śastra with ṛk-mantras — both of these kinds of praise are indeed welcome to those people, sacrificers and others, who worship Indra.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> Verily his chanted and recited praises are to be desired and repeated to Indra, that he may drink the Soma-juice.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

"Stomaḥ"; "Uktham" — stoma means the Sāma-Veda mantras sung as chant; uktha means recitation as śastra, that is, reciting Ṛgveda mantras plainly, without melody, unlike chanting. We have already explained this matter earlier.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar page, noted briefly)

The words एवा (evā), हि (hi), अस्य (asya) have been treated in the eighth mantra of this same sūkta.

Page 341 — Rik 10 grammar; close of Sūkta 8

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (Kannada; page header "A. 1, A. 1, Va. 16"; numbers as printed)

काम्या (kāmyā) — root kamu kāntau (“to desire”); ṇic in its own sense by “kameṇiṅ” (पा. सू. ३-१-३०); the penultimate vowel strengthened by “ata upadhāyāḥ” (पा. सू. ७-२-११६); then yat after a vowel-ending root by “ac-o yat” (पा. सू. ३-१-९७); the ṇi dropped by “ṇeraniṭi” (पा. सू. ६-४-५१); yat is t-marked, so svarita would be expected (पा. सू. ६-१-१८५), but by “yato ’nāvaḥ” (पा. सू. ६-१-२१३), with “dvyac” carried from निष्ठा च द्व्यजनात् (पा. सू. ६-१-२०५), a two-vowel word ending in “yat” after a stem other than “nau” is first-syllable acute; the dual au replaced by ḍā (पा. सू. ७-१-३९). स्तोमः (stomaḥ) — root ṣṭuñ stutau with man by अर्तिस्तुसुहुसृधृक्षिक्षुभायावापदियक्षिनीभ्यो मन् (उ. सू. १-१४२ [?], the figures unclear); guṇa by “sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ” (पा. सू. ७-३-८४). उक्थम् (uktham) — root vaca paribhāṣaṇe (“to speak”) with thak by पातृतुदिवचिरिचिसिचिभ्यस्थक् (उ. सू. २-१६४ [?], as printed; the Bhāṣya gave “उ. २-७″); the suffix is kit, so saṃprasāraṇa by वचिस्वपियजादीनां किति (पा. सू. ६-१-१५), the prior form by संप्रसारणाच्च (पा. सू. ६-१-१०८); c → k (पा. सू. ८-२-३०); no laghūpadha-guṇa since the suffix is kit. शंस्या (śaṃsyā) — root śaṃsu stutau with ṇic; yat after a ṇic-ending root; ṇi dropped; yato ’nāvaḥ gives initial-udātta; the dual ending by ḍā. सोमपीतये (somapītaye) — somasya pītiḥ (“drinking of Soma”); the compound would take the final-udātta of the second member (kṛd-uttarapada-prakṛti-svara) by गतिकारकोपपदात्कृत् (पा. सू. ६-२-१३९), but by vyatyaya it takes the initial udātta; or, alternatively, somasya pītir yasya indrasya — “Indra, whose is the drinking of Soma” as a bahuvrīhi, in which the first member keeps its natural accent (Pā. 6-2-1).

॥१०॥

End of Sūkta 8.

---

Page 342 — opening of Sūkta 9 (third anuvāka)

॥ ಒಂಭತ್ತನೆಯ ಸೂಕ್ತವು ॥ — Sūkta 9 — “indrehi matsy andhasaḥ” (“The Ninth Sūkta”)

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥ (introductory note on the application of the sūkta)

> इन्द्रेहीत्यादिकं दशर्चं सूक्तं सुरूपकृत्नुमित्यादिषु षष्ठम् । ऋष्यादयस्तु पूर्ववत् । विशेषस्त्वतिरात्रे द्वितीयपर्याये ऽच्छावाकशस्त्र इन्द्रेहीत्यनुरूपस्तृचः । अतिरात्रे पर्यायाणामिति खण्डे इदं वसो सुतमन्धः इन्द्रेहि मत्स्यन्धसः । आ. ६-४ । इति सूत्रितम् ॥
>
> indrehity-ādikaṃ daśarcaṃ sūktaṃ surūpakṛtnum ity-ādiṣu ṣaṣṭham | ṛṣy-ādayas tu pūrvavat | viśeṣas tv atirātre dvitīya-paryāye ’cchāvāka-śastra indrehity anurūpas tṛcaḥ | atirātre paryāyāṇām iti khaṇḍe idaṃ vaso sutam andhaḥ indrehi matsy andhasaḥ | ā. 6-4 | iti sūtritam ||

Translation: “The ten-rik sūkta beginning indrehi is the sixth among those beginning with surūpakṛtnum. Ṛṣi and the rest are as before. Its special application: in the Atirātra, in the second paryāya, in the Acchāvāka’s śastra, the triplet beginning indrehi is the anurūpa. It is laid down in the section ‘of the paryāyas in the Atirātra’: ‘idaṃ vaso sutam andhaḥ, indrehi matsy andhasaḥ’ (Āśvalāyana 6-4).”

॥ Anuvāda (Kannada rendering) ॥ The sūkta indrehi has ten riks; among the sūktas beginning surūpakṛtnum it is the sixth. Ṛṣi, deity and meter are as in the preceding sūktas. Special application: in the Atirātra rite, in the second paryāya, the Acchāvāka — a priest of the hotṛ group — recites the triplet indrehi. In the section on the paryāyas of the Atirātra, the riks idaṃ vaso sutam andhaḥ (Ṛgveda Saṃhitā 8-2-1) and indrehi matsy andhasaḥ (Ṛgveda Saṃhitā 1-9-1) are to be recited in the (first and second) paryāyas of the Atirātra rite, as Āśvalāyana says in his Śrauta-sūtra (Āś. Sū. 6-4).

॥ ॐ ॥

Page 342 (lower half) — Sūkta 9, Rik 1

॥ Sūkta — 9 ॥ ॥ Maṇḍala — 1 ॥ Anuvāka — 3 ॥ Sūkta — 9 ॥ ॥ Aṣṭaka — 1 ॥ Adhyāya — 1 ॥ Varga — 17, 18 ॥ ॥ Mantras contained in this sūkta: 1–10 ॥ ॥ Ṛṣi — Madhucchandā Vaiśvāmitra ॥ ॥ Devatā — Indra ॥ ॥ Chandaḥ — Gāyatrī ॥

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

इन्द्रेहि मत्स्यन्धसो विश्वेभिः सोमपर्वभिः । महाँ अभिष्टिरोजसा ॥१॥

indrehi mátsy andhaso víśvebhiḥ somapárvabhiḥ | mahā̃m abhiṣṭír ójasā ||1||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

इन्द्र । आ । इहि । मत्सि । अन्धसः । विश्वेभिः । सोमऽपर्वऽभिः ॥ महान् । अभिष्टिः । ओजसा ॥१॥

indra | ā | ihi | matsi | andhasaḥ | viśvebhiḥ | soma-parva-bhiḥ || mahān | abhiṣṭiḥ | ojasā ||1||

Page 343 — Rik 1: Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे इन्द्र एहि । अस्मिन्कर्मण्यागच्छ । आगत्य च विश्वेभिः सर्वैः सोमपर्वभिः सोमरसरूपैरन्धसोऽन्धोभिरन्नैर्मत्सि । माद्य । हृष्टो भव । तत ऊर्ध्वमोजसा बलेन महान्भूत्वाभिष्टिः शत्रूणामभिभविता भवेति शेषः । अष्टाविंशतिसंख्याकेषु बलनामस्वोजः पाज इति पठितम् ॥

he indra ehi | asmin karmaṇy āgaccha | āgatya ca viśvebhiḥ sarvaiḥ somaparvabhiḥ soma-rasa-rūpair andhaso 'ndhobhir annair matsi | mādya | hṛṣṭo bhava | tata ūrdhvam ojasā balena mahān bhūtvābhiṣṭiḥ śatrūṇām abhibhavitā bhaveti śeṣaḥ | aṣṭāviṃśati-saṃkhyākeṣu bala-nāmasv ojaḥ pāja iti paṭhitam ||

Translation: "O Indra, come (ehi) to this rite. Having come, rejoice (matsi — mādya, be glad) with all (viśvebhiḥ) the somaparvas, the foods (andhasaḥ = andhobhiḥ) in the form of Soma-juice. After that, becoming great (mahān) by your ojas, your strength, be the abhiṣṭi, the overcomer of enemies — this is the sentence to be completed. Among the twenty-eight words for 'strength,' ojaḥ and pājaḥ are read."

Grammar of the Bhāṣya (characterized, references as printed; page header "A. 1, A. 1, Va. 17"): "Ā ihi" — आद्गुणः (पा. ६-१-८७); "indra ehi": ओमाङोश्च (पा. ६-१-९५) the later form, since the single substitute counts as "āṅ" (by "antādivac ca," it is treated as the beginning of the next), and the vocative is not "pragṛhya." "Matsi" — "madī harṣaglapanayoḥ," "loṭ," "sip"; by "sarve vidhayaś chandasi vikalpyante" the "hi" of सेर्ह्यपिच्च (पा. ३-४-८७) does not come; दिवादिभ्यः श्यन् (पा. ३-१-६९), elided by "bahulaṃ chandasi"; by न लुमताङ्गस्य (पा. १-१-६३) the long vowel of शमामष्टानां दीर्घः श्यनि (पा. ७-३-७४) does not arise; "sip," "p"-marked, so the root accent. "Andhasaḥ" — अदेर्नुम्धौ च (उ. ४-२०४) "asun"; the instrumental plural sense by vyatyaya; "n"-marked, first-syllable acute. "Viśvebhiḥ" — अशिप्रुषि... (उ. १-१५१) "kvan," first-syllable acute; "ais" withheld by "bahulaṃ chandasi." "Somaparvabhiḥ" — "latārūpaṃ somaṃ pṛṇanti pūrayantīti somaparvāṇaḥ somarasāḥ": "pṝ pālanapūraṇayoḥ," "vanip" by "anyebhyo 'pi dṛśyante," guṇa and "r"; "vanip," "p"-marked, so the root accent, kept by the upapada-compound accent. "Abhiṣṭiḥ" — "abhigantā": "iṣa gatau," मन्त्रे वृषेष... (पा. ३-३-९६) "ktin," acute; though in the action sense it denotes the agent; "k"-marked, no guṇa; "iṭ" barred by "titutratatha..." (पा. ७-२-९); "śakandhvādiṣu pararūpaṃ vaktavyam" (पा. ६-१-९४-६) the later form; in the prādi compound the kṛt-final second member's accent. "Ojasā" — उब्जेर्बले बलोपश्च (उ. ४-१९१) "asun"; first-syllable acute.

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

(हे) इन्द्र ((he) indra) — O Indra | एहि (ehi) — come (to this sacrificial ground where we perform) | विश्वेभिः (viśvebhiḥ) — all | सोमपर्वभिः (somaparvabhiḥ) — in the form of Soma-juice | अन्धसः (andhasaḥ) — with foods | मत्सि (matsi) — be satisfied | (after that) ओजसा (ojasā) — by strength | महान् (mahān) — greater | अभिष्टिः (abhiṣṭiḥ) — one who brings defeat to (enemies).

Page 344 — Rik 1 continued

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Indra! Come here, and, being satisfied with the food in the form of Soma that we have prepared — that is, by drinking Soma — become greater, strengthened by it, and defeat the enemies.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> Come, O Indra, and regale yourself with Soma-libations and with all viands and mighty in strength be victorious (over your enemies).

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

"Matsi" — the second-person singular loṭ form of the root madī harṣaglapanayoḥ ("to rejoice; to be glad"). The sense: be gratified, attain satisfaction.

"Andhasaḥ" — the word andhaḥ is read among the twenty-eight words for "food" beginning with andhaḥ, vājaḥ (Ni. "3-9" as printed [?]); so andhasaḥ means "with food."

“Somaparvabhiḥ” — लताऽरूपं सोमं पृणन्ति पूरयन्तीति सोमपर्वाणः (latā-rūpaṃ somaṃ pṛṇanti pūrayantīti somaparvāṇaḥ) — “[those that] fill the Soma that is of the form of the creeper are somaparvāṇaḥ”: that is, because they fill the vessel after pressing the Soma creeper, they are called somarasa (“Soma-juices”). Skandasvāmī gives for this word the above sense and also another, “gods”: सोममयानि पर्वाणि येषां ते सोमपर्वाणो देवाः । यो हि यदाहारो भवति तस्य तन्मयानि पर्वाणि भवन्ति । सोमाहाराश्च देवाः (somamayāni parvāṇi yeṣāṃ te somaparvāṇo devāḥ | yo hi yad-āhāro bhavati tasya tanmayāni parvāṇi bhavanti | somāhārāś ca devāḥ) — “those whose joints are made of Soma are the somaparvāṇas, the gods; for whatever one’s food is, one’s joints are made of that; and the gods have Soma for their food.” The gods too take Soma-juice as their food, so they are called somaparvāṇaḥ. Therefore the sentence indra viśvebhiḥ somaparvabhiḥ ehi in this rik should be understood: “O Indra, come here together with all the gods.”

“Abhiṣṭiḥ” — अभिगन्ता (abhigantā) — one who approaches [to defeat] enemies: one who brings defeat on enemies, who conquers enemies.

“Ojasā” — by strength, by capacity. Among the twenty-eight words for strength beginning with ojaḥ, pājaḥ, the word ojaḥ is read (Ni. “3-9” as printed [?]).

Page 345 — Rik 1: grammar

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (Kannada; page header “A. 1, A. 1, Va. 17”; numbers as printed)

एहि (ehi) — ā + ihi: by “ād guṇaḥ” (पा. सू. ६-१-८७) guṇa arises as a single substitute; the sūtra “antādivac ca” (पा. सू. ६-१-८५) carried over from “ekaḥ pūrvaparayoḥ” makes the substitute count as both the final of the earlier and the initial of the later item, so that both ā (as an upasarga) and the āṅ-status remain — the source cites the Bhāṣya line “yo ’py ubhayoḥ sthāne labhete ’sāv anyatarato vyapadeśam” to this effect; and “omāṅoś ca” (पा. सू. ६-१-९५) — the rule that pararūpa arises when om or āṅ is followed by a vowel — would give indra + ehi → indrehi. मत्सि (matsi) — madī harṣaglapanayoḥ, loṭ second singular sip; sip → hi by सेर्ह्यपिच्च (पा. सू. ३-४-८७) would come, but by “sarve vidhayaś chandasi vikalpyante” (परिभा. ३५) it is optional and does not come here; śyan by “divādibhyaḥ śyan” (पा. सू. ३-१-६९), dropped by Vedic bahulam (पा. सू. २-४-७३); by प्रत्ययलोपे प्रत्ययलक्षणम् (पा. सू. १-१-६२) the long vowel of शमामष्टानां दीर्घः श्यनि (पा. सू. ७-३-७४) would come, but न लुमताङ्गस्य (पा. सू. १-१-६३) blocks pratyayalakṣaṇa for an aṅga-operation after a “luk” loss, so no lengthening; “sip,” “p”-marked, unaccented, the root accent stays; d → t by “khari ca” (पा. सू. ८-४-५५), giving matsi. अन्धसः (andhasaḥ) — अदेर्नुम्धौ च (उ. सू. ४-६४५ [?], as printed; the Bhāṣya gave “उ. ४-२०४″): after “ada bhakṣaṇe,” “asun,” the augment “num” and “dh” for “d” … (continues on p. 346)

Pages 346–347 — Rik 1 grammar closes; Rik 2

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (pp. 346–347, Kannada; page header p. 347 “A. 1, A. 1, Va. 17”; numbers as printed)

अन्धसः (concluded) — “ada bhakṣaṇe” + “asun” etc.: “andhas”; nominative plural “andhasaḥ,” to be taken in the sense of the instrumental plural; “n”-marked, first-syllable acute. विश्वेभिः — अशूप्रुषिलटिकणिखटिविशिभ्यः क्वन् (उ. सू. १-१४९ [?], the roots glossed one by one) “kvan” after

“viś”: “viśva,” first-syllable acute; with “bhis,” बहुलं छन्दसि (पा. सू. “७-१-१०,” printed “२-१-१०”) withholds “ais.” सोमपर्वभिः — “latārūpaṃ somaṃ pṛṇanti pūrayanti iti somaparvāṇaḥ somarasāḥ”: “pṝ pālanapūraṇayoḥ,” अन्येभ्योऽपि दृश्यन्ते (पा. सू. ३-२-७५) “vanip”; guṇa by सार्वधातुकार्धधातुकयोः (पा. सू. ७-३-८४) with “r” by उरण् रपरः (पा. सू. १-१-५१): “parvan”; “vanip,” “p”-marked, unaccented, the root accent remains; with “soma,” उपपदमतिङ् (पा. सू. २-२-१९) the upapada compound, and गतिकारकोपपदात्कृत् (पा. सू. ६-२-१३९) keeps that accent; instrumental plural: नलोपः प्रातिपदिकान्तस्य (पा. सू. ८-२-७), “ru” and visarga: “somaparvabhiḥ.” अभिष्टिः — “abhigantā”: “iṣa gatau” with मन्त्रे वृषेषपचमनविदभूवीरा उदात्तः (पा. सू. ३-३-९६) “ktin,” acute; though in the action sense, it denotes the agent by implication; the “iṭ” of आर्धधातुकस्येड्वलादेः (पा. सू. ७-२-३५) is barred by तितुत्रतथसिसुसरकसेषु च (पा. सू. ७-२-९); “abhi + iṣ + ti”: the vārttika एमन्नादिषु पररूपं वक्तव्यम् (पा. सू. ६-१-९४-६) gives the later form instead of the long vowel; ष्टुना ष्टुः (पा. सू. ८-४-४१) “ṭ”: “abhiṣṭi”; with “abhi,” कुगतिप्रादयः (पा. सू. २-२-१८) the prādi compound, with the kṛt-final second member’s accent. ओजसा (p. 347) — उब्जेर्बले बलोपश्च (उ. सू. ४-६३१ [?], as printed) — after “ubja ārjave,” “asun” and loss of “b”; guṇa of the light penultimate: “ojas”; instrumental “ojasā,” first-syllable acute (“n”-marked). ॥१॥

---

Page 347 — Sūkta 9, Rik 2

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

एमेनं सृजता सुते मन्दिमिन्द्राय मन्दिनेे । चक्रिं विश्वानि चक्रये ॥२॥

ém enaṃ sṛjatā suté mandím índrāya mandíne | cakríṃ víśvāni cákraye ||2||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

आ । ईम् । एनम् । सृजत । सुते । मन्दिम् । इन्द्राय । मन्दिने ॥ चक्रिम् । विश्वानि । चक्रये ॥२॥

ā | īm | enam | sṛjata | sute | mandim | indrāya | mandine || cakrim | viśvāni | cakraye ||2||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

ईमित्यनर्थकः पादपूरणाय प्रयुक्तः । हे अध्वर्यवः सुते ऽभिषुते चमसस्थे सोमे एनं सोममिन्द्रायेन्द्रार्थमा सृजत । पुनरभ्युन्नयत । शुक्रामन्थिचमसगणे पुनरभ्युन्नयनमापस्तम्बेनोक्तम् । होत्रकाणां चमसाध्वर्यवः सकृत्सकृद्धुत्वा शुक्रस्याभ्युन्नीयोपावर्तध्वमिति । आप. १२-२३-४ । इति । कीदृशमेनं मन्दिं हर्षहेतुं चक्रिं साधुकरणशीलम् । कीदृशायेन्द्राय । मन्दिने हर्षयुक्ताय विश्वानि सर्वाणि कर्माणि चक्रये कृतवते । सर्वकर्मनिष्पादनशीलायेत्यर्थः । ईमित्यस्य पादपूरणार्थत्वं यास्क आह । अथ ये प्रवृत्ते ऽर्थे ऽमिताक्षरेषु ग्रन्थेषु वाक्यपूरणा आगच्छन्ति पदपूरणास्ते मिताक्षरेष्वनर्थकाः कमिमामिद्धीति । नि. १-९ । इति । अस्यायमर्थः । अन्यैरेव पदैर्विवक्षिते ऽर्थे समाप्ते सति ये शब्दा ईमित्यादयः प्रयुक्तास्ते शब्दा अमिताक्षरेषु छन्दोराहित्येन परिमिताक्षररहितेषु ब्राह्मणादिवाक्येषु वाक्यपूरणार्था द्रष्टव्याः । मिताक्षरेषु

छन्दोयुक्तेषु ग्रन्थेषु पादपूरणार्थाः । के च कमिमामित्यादय इति । ईमित्यस्य शब्दस्यानर्थक्यैतामृचमुदाजहार । एमेनं सृजता सुते । आसृजतैनं सुते इति ॥

īm ity anarthakaḥ pāda-pūraṇāya prayuktaḥ | he adhvaryavaḥ sute 'bhiṣute camasasthe some enaṃ somam indrāyendrārtham ā sṛjata | punar abhyunnayata | śukrāmanthi-camasa-gaṇe punar abhyunnayanam āpastambenoktam | hotrakāṇāṃ camasādhvaryavaḥ sakṛt sakṛd dhutvā śukrasyābhyunnīyopāvartadhvam iti | āpa. 12-23-4 | iti | kīdṛśam enaṃ mandiṃ harṣa-hetuṃ cakriṃ sādhu-karaṇa-śīlam | kīdṛśāyendrāya | mandine harṣa-yuktāya viśvāni sarvāṇi karmāṇi cakraye kṛtavate | sarva-karma-niṣpādana-śīlāyety arthaḥ | īm ity asya pāda-pūraṇārthatvaṃ yāska āha | atha ye pravṛtte 'rthe 'mitākṣareṣu grantheṣu vākya-pūraṇā āgacchanti pada-pūraṇās te mitākṣareṣv anarthakāḥ kam im ām id dhīti | ni. 1-9 | iti | asyāyam arthaḥ | anyair eva padair vivakṣite 'rthe samāpte sati ye śabdā īm ity-ādayaḥ prayuktās te śabdā amitākṣareṣu chando-rāhityena parimitākṣara-rahiteṣu brāhmaṇādi-vākyeṣu vākya-pūraṇārthā draṣṭavyāḥ | mitākṣareṣu chando-yukteṣu grantheṣu pāda-pūraṇārthāḥ | ke ca kam im ām ity-ādaya iti | īm ity asya śabdasyānarthakyaitām ṛcam udājahāra | emenaṃ sṛjatā sute | āsṛjatainaṃ sute iti ||

Translation: "Īm is a particle used merely to fill out the foot (pāda); it has no meaning. O adhvaryus! In the pressed (sute) Soma that stands in the camasa cup, ā sṛjata — pour out again, draw up again — this Soma (enam) for Indra, for his sake. For the group of the śukra-, manthi- and camasa-cups, the drawing up again is stated by Āpastamba: 'The camasa-adhvaryus of the hotrakas, having offered each time, having drawn up [Soma] onto the Śukra, should return' (Āpastamba 12-23-4). What is this Soma like? Mandim — the cause of gladness; cakrim — good at making [bringing about]. And what kind of Indra? Mandine — glad; cakraye — he who has done all (viśvāni) deeds: a doer of all works. That īm is a mere pāda-filler Yāska says: 'Now those [particles] which, where the sense is already in motion, come in works of unmeasured syllables as sentence-fillers, are pāda-fillers in works of measured syllables and meaningless — kam, īm, ām, id, hi' (Nirukta 1-9). The sense of this: when the intended meaning has been completed by other words, those words, īm and the rest, which are used, should be understood as sentence-fillers in unmetrical texts such as the Brāhmaṇas, with no fixed number of syllables, and as pāda-fillers in metrical texts; and what are they? kam, īm, ām and others. For the meaninglessness of the word īm, he quoted this rik: emenaṃ sṛjatā sute — āsṛjatainaṃ sute."

Grammar of the Bhāṣya (pp. 347–348; characterized, references as printed): "Enam" — द्वितीयाटौस्स्वेनः (पा. २-४-३४) "ena" for "idam," and with "anudāttaḥ" carried on, wholly unaccented. "Sṛjata" — अन्येषामपि दृश्यते (पा. ६-३-१३७) the long vowel in the saṃhitā. "Mandim" — "pramodahetum": "madi stuti-moda-mada-svapna-kānti-gatiṣu," "num" by "idito num dhātoḥ"; "mandamānaṃ prayuńkte" — हेतुमति च (पा. ३-१-२६) "ṇic"; अच इः (उ. ४-१३८) "i"; "ṇer aniṭi," loss of "ṇi"; end-acute by the affix accent. "Mandine" — as before; the "num" of आङो नाऽस्त्रियाम्-type, by vyatyaya, as if neuter (पा. ७-१-७३). "Cakrim" — "ḍukṛñ karaṇe": आदृगमहनजनः किकिनौ लिट् च (पा. ३-२-१७१) "kin" in the "tācchīlya" senses; "k"-marked, no guṇa; "y" substitute; doubling as for "liṭ"; by द्विर्वचनेऽचि (पा. १-१-५९) the substitute counts as the original, so "kṛ" is doubled; for the reduplicate, "a," "r," the velar-to-palatal change and "halādiḥ śeṣaḥ"; "n"-marked, first-syllable acute. "Viśvāni" — "viśeḥ kvan," first-syllable acute.

“Asya … cakraye” — though joined with a kṛt word, the genitive of कर्तृकर्मणोः कृति (पा. २-३-६५) does not come, since “kin,” being treated like “liṭ,” falls under the prohibition न लोकाव्ययनिष्ठाखलर्थतृनाम् (पा. २-३-६९).

Page 348 — Rik 2: word-meanings, overall sense, English

(The top of the page ends the Bhāṣya’s grammar, characterized under p. 347.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

(हे अध्वर्यवः) ((he adhvaryavaḥ)) — O Adhvaryu and other priests | सुते (sute) — the Soma-juice having been pressed and prepared | मन्दिने (mandine) — to the glad one | विश्वानि (viśvāni) — all deeds | चक्रये (cakraye) — to the doer | इन्द्राय (indrāya) — for Indra | मन्दिम् (mandim) — producing joy | चक्रिम् (cakrim) — the instrument for performing good deeds | एनम् (enam) — this Soma-juice | आ सृजत (ā sṛjata) — offer (give).

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O ṛtvijs, Adhvaryu and the rest! The Soma-juice has now been pressed from the creeper and prepared fit for drinking. This Soma-juice produces gladness in the one who drinks it; it is the cause of performing good deeds. Offer this Soma-juice to Indra, who is glad and who accomplishes all deeds.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> The soma being extracted, present this exhilarating and efficacious draught to the rejoicing Indra, the accomplisher of all things.

(The Kannada Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā of Rik 2 follows on pp. 349–352.)

Page 349 — Rik 2: Special Topics

(Page header: “A. 1, A. 1, Va. 17.”)

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

“Īm” — the Bhāṣyakāra and Skandasvāmī both state that the word īm has no meaning and is used merely to fill out the pāda. Yāska too, in the Nirukta (1-9), speaks of this matter as follows:

> अथ ये प्रवृत्ते ऽर्थे ऽमिताक्षरेषु ग्रन्थेषु वाक्यपूरणा आगच्छन्ति पदपूरणास्ते मिताक्षरेष्वनर्थकाः कमिमामिद्धीति ॥ (नि. १-९) atha ye pravṛtte ’rthe ’mitākṣareṣu grantheṣu vākya-pūraṇā āgacchanti pada-pūraṇās te mitākṣareṣv anarthakāḥ kam im ām id dhīti || (ni. 1-9)
> “Now those that, when the sense has set out, come in works of unmeasured syllables as sentence-fillers, are, in works of measured syllables, meaningless pāda-fillers: kam, īm, ām, id, hi.”

The Bhāṣyakāra explains this thus: “When the intended meaning has been completed by other words, those words — īm and the like — which are used are to be understood as sentence-fillers in sentences of the Brāhmaṇas and the like, which are not bound by meter and have no fixed number of syllables; in metrical works, with fixed syllables, they serve to fill out the pāda."

That is: the word īm has no meaning; it is used to fill out a pāda. In the Brāhmaṇas and other sentences not bound by meter and with no rule on the number of syllables, words like īm are used to complete sentences. In the same way, in mantras that are metrical and made of syllables of fixed number, these words are used to fill out the pāda. As an example of this, Yāska quotes this very rik, emenaṃ sṛjatā. In this rik the word īm has no use whatsoever in the sense of the mantra, but is used merely so that the pāda has the eight syllables it needs under the rule of the Gāyatrī meter. And:

> क्रियावाचकमाख्यातमुपसर्गो विशेषकृत् । सत्त्वाभिधायकं नाम निपातः पादपूरणः ॥ इति ॥ kriyā-vācakam ākhyātam upasargo viśeṣa-kṛt | sattvābhidhāyakaṃ nāma nipātaḥ pāda-pūraṇaḥ || iti || "The verb denotes action; the prefix makes it specific; the noun denotes substance; the particle fills out the pāda."

"Kam im ām id dhīti" — "ete catvāraḥ kam, īm, it, u iti" — these four particles, kam, īm, it, u, are used to fill the deficient number of syllables in a pāda of a metrical rik. They have no fixed sense in such a context. And the words iva, na, cit, nu are likewise used to fill out the pāda, but on some occasions they have a meaning. Hence iva, na, cit, nu are used in two ways: as meaningless and as meaningful.

"Sṛjata" — for the convenience of the meter the ta is lengthened in the Saṃhitā-pāṭha.

Pages 350–352 — Rik 2 grammar closes; Rik 3

॥ Special Topics (continued, p. 350) ॥

"Mandim" — प्रमोदहेतुम् (pramoda-hetum) — "cause of delight"; madi stuti-moda-mada-svapna-kānti-gatiṣu. This word is another form of the root mad: one that causes delight, that produces joy.

"Mandine" — the sense is the same as that given for mandim; this is a dative singular.

"Cakrim" and "cakraye" — these words are formed from the root ḍukṛñ karaṇe ("to do"). For their derivation see the grammar section.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (pp. 350–352, Kannada; page header p. 351 "A. 1, A. 1, Va. 17"; numbers as printed)

एनम् — "idam + am": द्वितीयाटौस्स्वेनः (पा. सू. २-४-३४) — in anvādeśa, before the accusative, "ṭā" and "os," "ena" replaces "idam" and "etad": "ena + am"; अमि पूर्वः (पा. सू. ६-१-१०७) the prior form: "enam." With 2-4-34, "anudāttaḥ" is carried from इदमोऽन्वादेशेऽशनुदात्तस्तृतीयादौ (पा. सू. २-४-३२), so the substitute "ena" is unaccented, and "enam" wholly unaccented.

सृजत — अन्येषामपि दृश्यते (पा. सू. ६-३-१३७) the long vowel in the saṃhitā: "sṛjatā."

मन्दिम् — "cause of joy": "madi stuti-moda-mada-svapna-kānti-gatiṣu," "i"-marked, so इदितो नुम् धातोः (पा. सू. ७-१-५८) "num": "mand"; in the sense "mandamānaṃ prayuṅkte," हेतुमति च

(पा. सू. ३-१-२६) “ṇic”: by तत्प्रयोजको हेतुश्च (पा. सू. १-४-५५) the instigator of the agent is “hetu” and also “kartṛ”; when the activity of such a “hetu” — “preṣaṇa” (command), “adhyeṣaṇa” (request to an equal such as a friend), “anumati” (assent, as of a king), “upadeśa” (as to a patient) — is meant, “ṇic” comes after the root (here in the sense of urging): “mand + i”; being vowel-ending, अच इः (उ. सू. ४-१३८) “i” (p. 351): “mand + i + i”; णेरनिटि (पा. सू. ६-४-५१) loss of “ṇi”: “mandi,” end-acute by the affix accent; accusative “mandim.”

मन्दिने — as for “mandi”; dative “ṅe”: इकोऽचि विभक्तौ (पा. सू. ७-१-७३) “num” for a neuter “i/u/ṛ”-ending stem before a vowel-initial ending: “mandine”; though here it qualifies Indra and is masculine, as Vedic it takes “num” by vyatyaya.

चक्रिम् — “ḍukṛñ karaṇe”: आदृगमहनजनः किकिनौ लिट् च (पा. सू. ३-२-१७१) — after roots in “ā” and “ṛ,” “gam, han, jan,” in the “tācchīlya” senses, in the Veda, “ki” and “kin,” treated like “liṭ”: “kṛ + i.” द्विर्वचनेऽचि (पा. सू. १-१-५९): where a vowel conditioning doubling follows, no substitute is made before the doubling; “i,” treated as “liṭ,” conditions doubling, so by लिटि धातोरनभ्यासस्य (पा. सू. ६-१-८) doubling is done before इको यणचि (पा. सू. ६-१-७७): “kṛ kṛ + i,” then “r” for the second “ṛ.” Or, as the Vṛttikāra and others explain 1-1-59, a substitute made before a doubling-conditioning vowel retains the nature of the original: then “y” first: “kr + i,” and the “r,” standing for “ṛ,” takes that form for doubling: “kṛkr + i.” Both views give the same result; following the second, the Veda-bhāṣya says “dvirvacane ’ci iti yaṇādeśasya sthānivadbhāvāt kṛśabdo dvir ucyate.” उरत् (पा. सू. ७-४-६६) “a” for the reduplicate “ṛ,” with “r” by उरण् रपरः (पा. सू. १-१-५१): “kar + kr + i”; हलादिः शेषः (पा. सू. ७-४-६०) only the first consonant of the reduplicate stays: “ka + kr + i”; कुहोश्चुः (पा. सू. ७-४-६२) (p. 352) “c”: “cakri”; “kin,” “n”-marked, so first-syllable acute by ञ्नित्यादिर्नित्यम् (पा. सू. “५-४-१९७” as printed, i.e. 6-1-197).

विश्वानि — अशूप्रुषि... (उ. सू. १-१४९) “kvan” after “viś,” first-syllable acute; accusative plural “viśvāni.” “Viśvāni” is construed with the kṛt “cakraye,” so कर्तृकर्मणोः कृति (पा. सू. २-३-६५) would give the genitive; but “kin,” by “kikinau liṭ ca,” is treated as “liṭ” (a “la”), so न लोकाव्ययनिष्ठाखलर्थतृनाम् (पा. सू. २-३-६९) — with “la,” “u,” “uka,” indeclinables, niṣṭhā, khal-sense affixes and “tṛn,” no genitive — forbids it; so by कर्मणि द्वितीया (पा. सू. २-३-२) the accusative. ॥२॥

---

Page 352 — Sūkta 9, Rik 3

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

मत्स्वा॑ सुशिप्र म॒न्दिभि॒: स्तोमे॑भिर्विश्वचर्षणे । सचै॒षु सव॑ने॒ष्वा ॥३॥

mátsvā suśipra mandíbhiḥ stómebhir viśvacarṣaṇe | sacaiṣú sávaneṣv ā ||3||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

मत्स्व । सुऽशिप्र । मन्दिऽभिः । स्तोमेभिः । विश्वऽचर्षणे ॥ सचा । एषु । सवनेषु । आ ॥३॥

matsva | su-śipra | mandi-bhiḥ | stomebhiḥ | viśva-carṣaṇe || sacā | eṣu | savaneṣu | ā ||3||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे सुशिप्र हे शोभनहनो शोभननासिक वा । शिप्रे हनू नासिके वा । नि. ६-१७ । इति यास्केनोक्तत्वात् । तादृश हे इन्द्र मन्दिभिर्हर्षहेतुभिः स्तोमेभिः स्तोत्रैर्मत्स्व हृष्यो भव । हे विश्वचर्षणे सर्वमनुष्ययुक्त । सर्वैर्यजमानैः पूज्येत्यर्थः । तादृशेन्द्र त्वमेषु योगागतेषु त्रिषु सवनेषु सचा देवैरन्यैः सह गच्छेति शेषः ॥ मदि स्तुतीत्यस्य लोट्यनित्यमागमशासनमिति कृत्स्वेदितो नुम् धातोरिति नुम् न भवति । अनुदात्तेत्त्वात्तास्यनुदात्तेन्ङिददुपदेशात् । पा. ६-१-१८६ । इति लसार्वधातुकानुदात्तत्वम् । धातुस्वर एव । संहितायां द्व्यचोऽतस्तिङः । पा. ६-३-१३५ । इति दीर्घत्वम् । सुशिप्रेत्यामन्त्रितनिघातः । मन्दिभिः । गतमन्त्रे व्याख्यातम् । स्तोमेभिः । मन्प्रत्ययस्य नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वम् । बहुलं छन्दसीति भिस ऐसादेशो न भवति । विश्वचर्षणे । निघातः । सचा । उक्तम् । एषु । ऊडिदम्-इत्यादिना विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वम् ॥

he suśipra he śobhana-hano śobhana-nāsika vā | śipre hanū nāsike vā | ni. 6-17 | iti yāskenoktatvāt | tādṛśa he indra mandibhir harṣa-hetubhiḥ stomebhiḥ stotrair matsva hṛṣyo bhava | he viśvacarṣaṇe sarva-manuṣya-yukta | sarvair yajamānaiḥ pūjyety arthaḥ | tādṛśendra tvam eṣu yogāgateṣu triṣu savaneṣu sacā devair anyaiḥ saha gaccheti śeṣaḥ || madi stutīty asya loṭy anitya-āgama-śāsanam iti kṛtsv edito num dhātor iti num na bhavati | anudāttettvāt tāsy-anudātten-ṅid-ad-upadeśāt | pā. 6-1-186 | iti lasārvadhātukānudāttatvam | dhātu-svara eva | saṃhitāyāṃ dvyaco 'tastiṅaḥ | pā. 6-3-135 | iti dīrghatvam | suśipretyāmantrita-nighātaḥ | mandibhiḥ | gatamantre vyākhyātam | stomebhiḥ | man-pratyayasya nittvād ādyudāttatvam | bahulaṃ chandasīti bhisa aisādeśo na bhavati | viśvacarṣaṇe | nighātaḥ | sacā | uktam | eṣu | ūḍidam-ityādinā vibhakter udāttatvam ||

Translation: "O suśipra — 'of beautiful jaws' or 'of beautiful nose,' for Yāska says 'śipre means the two jaws or the nose' (Nirukta 6-17). O such Indra, matsva — be glad, be pleased — with mandibhiḥ stomebhiḥ, with praises that cause gladness. O viśvacarṣaṇe — joined with all men: worshipped by all sacrificers. O such Indra, in these three pressings that have come in their turn, sacā — together with the other gods — come (this is the supplied verb). (Grammar: mad in the sense of praise, in the imperative: the augment num does not arise here, since it is optional; the verb matsva is unaccented as a finite verb; its accent remains that of the root; in the Saṃhitā the vowel is lengthened by Pā. 6-3-135 [the "dvyaco 'ta stiṅaḥ" rule]; the vocative suśipra is unaccented as a vocative within the sentence; the base accent of the stoma-word is initial by the suffix; the Vedic bahulam prevents the replacement of bhis by ais*; the case-ending of* eṣu *is udātta by "ūḍidam-padādy-appum-raidyubhyaḥ.")"

Page 353 — Rik 3: word-meanings, overall sense, English, Special Topics

(Page header: "A. 1, A. 1, Va. 17." The top of the page ends the Bhāṣya's grammar, given under p. 352.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

(हे) सुशिप्र ((he) suśipra) — O Indra of beautiful jaws (or nose) | मन्दिभिः (mandibhiḥ) — which cause delight | स्तोमेभिः (stomebhiḥ) — with the praises (that we make) | मत्स्व (matsva) — be glad (be joyful) | (हे) विश्वचर्षणे ((he) viśvacarṣaṇe) — O Indra, accompanied by all men, or honoured by all sacrificers | (त्वम्) — you | एषु सवनेषु (eṣu savaneṣu) — in these three pressings (the morning, midday and third pressings) | सचा (sacā) — together (with the other gods) | आ (gaccha) — come.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Indra! Your jaws (or nose) are most handsome. Such as you are, be satisfied with the praises we make. O you who are honoured by all men and sacrificers, come together with the other gods to the three pressings of the sacrifice — the morning, midday and third pressings (savana is the special rite of pressing the Soma-juice and preparing it) — to this sacrificial ground where we are performing the rite.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> O Indra, with the handsome chin (or nose) be pleased with these pleasing praises;
> you who are honoured by all men come to these rites (with the gods).

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

"Matsva" — the syllable tsva is lengthened for the convenience of the meter.

"Suśipra" — Yāska explains this word in the Nirukta: suśiprametena vṛākhṛātam | vāje suśipra gomat (Ṛgveda Saṃhitā 8-21-8) itṛ api nigamo bhavati | śipre hanū nāsike vā | hanur hanteḥ — "suśipra is explained by this [the preceding]: there is also a Vedic passage, 'in the contest, O suśipra, rich in cows'; śipre are the two jaws or the nose; the jaw (hanu) is from the root han…" (The text breaks off at the page foot; it continues on p. 354.)

Pages 354–355 — Rik 3 Special Topics and grammar close; Rik 4

॥ Special Topics (continued, p. 354) ॥

(Continuing Yāska on suśipra*:)* नासिका नसतेः । विष्यस्व शिप्रे विसृजस्व धेने (nāsikā nasateḥ | viṣṛasva śipre visṛjasva dhene, Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-101-10) itṛ api nigamo bhavati (Ni. 6-17) — "nāsikā is from nasate; 'loosen, O you of the śipras, let loose the dhenās' — this too is a Vedic text." So śipra means the jaw (hanu) or the nose; Yāska explains it citing two riks of the Ṛgveda. The commentator on the Nirukta too says: शिप्रे हनू नासिके वा । ते यस्य प्रशस्ते स शिप्रः (śipre hanū nāsike vā | te ṛasya praśaste sa śipraḥ) — "śipre are the two jaws or the nose; he whose [jaws/nose] are praiseworthy is śipra"; one who has them is called śiprin. In the Ṛk Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-29-2 —

> शिप्रिन्वाजानां पते शचीवस्तव दंसना ॥ śiprin vājānāṃ pate śacīvas tava daṃsanā // (Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-29-2)

— the Bhāṣyakāra gives this same sense. Since Yāska himself has explained the word plainly, there is no room for doubt about its meaning.

Occurrences. The word suśipra occurs, besides this Ṛk, at Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-101-10; 3-32-3; 3-50-2; 5-22-4; 5-36-5; 6-46-5; 7-24-4; 8-21-8; 8-69-16; 8-93-12; 8-99-7; other case-forms: suśipraḥ at Ṛ. Saṃ. 2-3-5; 3-30-3; 2-12-6; 8-66-4; 10-96-3; suśiprāḥ at Ṛ. Saṃ. 7-37-1; suśipram at Ṛ. Saṃ. 8-32-4; 8-66-2.

"Viśvacarṣaṇe" — सर्वमनुष्ययुक्त । सर्वैर्यजमानैः पूज्येत्यर्थः (sarva-manuṣya-yukta | sarvair yajamānaiḥ pūjyety arthaḥ) — "joined with all men; worshipped by all sacrificers." Since carṣaṇi means "man," viśvacarṣaṇe — joined with all men, or worshipped by all men (sacrificers and others) — is the Bhāṣyakāra's explanation. Skandasvāmī, taking carṣaṇi as a verb of seeing (paśyatikarma), explains it as "one who is looked upon by all men." The word viśvacarṣaṇe occurs at Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-9-3; 5-38-1; 8-23-2; 9-66-1; 10-50-4; viśvacarṣaṇi at Ṛ. Saṃ. 10-93-10; viśvacarṣaṇiḥ at Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-27-9 [?]; 2-31-3; 5-6-3; 5-23-4; 6-2-2; 9-1-2; 10-83-4; and viśvacarṣaṇim at Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-64-14; 3-2-15; 5-14-6; 6-44-4; 8-53-6.

"Ā" — in this rik ā is only an upasarga. The Bhāṣyakāra says the verb gaccha ("come") is to be supplied with it.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (pp. 354–355, Kannada; page header p. 355 "A. 1, A. 1, Va. 17"; numbers as printed)

मत्स्व — "madi stuti-moda-mada-svapna-kānti-gatiṣu," "loṭ," ātmanepada second singular "thās": "mad + thās"; though the root is "i"-marked, by आगमशास्त्रमनित्यम् (अनित्यमागमशासनम्, परि. भा. ९३-२) the augment rule is anitya, so the "num" of इदितो नुम् धातोः (पा. सू. ७-१-५८) (p. 355) does not come; "śap" elided by बहुलं छन्दसि (पा. सू. २-४-७३); थासः से (पा. सू. ३-४-८०) "se"; सवाभ्यां वामौ (पा. सू. ३-४-९१) "va" for the "e" of "loṭ" after "s": "mad + sva"; खरि च (पा. सू. ८-४-५५) "t" for "d": "matsva." The root being anudāttet, तास्यनुदात्तेन्ङिददुपदेशात्... (पा. सू. ६-१-१८६) makes "sva" unaccented; "mad" end-acute by धातोः (पा. सू. ६-१-१६२); उदात्तादनुदात्तस्य स्वरितः (पा. सू. ८-४-६६) makes "sva" svarita; in the saṃhitā द्व्यचोऽतस्तिङः (पा. सू. ६-३-१३५) lengthens the final short "a" of a two-syllable verb in a mantra: "matsvā."

सुशिप्र — आमन्त्रितस्य च (पा. सू. ८-१-१९), wholly unaccented. मन्दिभिः — explained under the previous mantra. स्तोमेभिः — अर्तिस्तुसु... (उ. सू. १-१४२) "man" after "stu," "n"-marked, first-syllable acute; with "bhis," बहुलं छन्दसि (पा. सू. ७-१-१०) withholds "ais." विश्वचर्षणे — unaccented by the vocative rule of the eighth chapter. सचा — its derivation is set out in the third mantra of the fifth sūkta. एषु — the locative "su" after "idam" is acute by ऊडिदंपदाद्यप्पुम्रैद्युभ्यः (पा. सू. ६-१-१७१). ॥३॥

---

Page 355 — Sūkta 9, Rik 4

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

असृ॑ग्रमिन्द्र ते गिरः॒ प्रति॒ त्वामुद॑हासत । अजो॑षा वृष॒भं पति॑म् ॥४॥

ásṛgram indra te giraḥ práti tvā́m úd ahāsata | ájoṣā vṛṣabháṃ pátim ||4||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

असृग्रम् । इन्द्र । ते । गिरः । प्रति । त्वाम् । उत् । अहासत ॥ अजोषाः । वृषभम् । पतिम् ॥४॥

asṛgram | indra | te | giraḥ | prati | tvām | ut | ahāsata || ajoṣāḥ | vṛṣabham | patim ||4||

Page 356 — Rik 4: Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे इन्द्र ते गिरस्त्वदीयाः स्तुतीरसृग्रम् । सृष्टवानस्मि । ताश्च गिरः स्वर्गेऽवस्थितं त्वां प्रत्युदहासत । उद्गत्य प्राप्नुवन् । तादृशीर्गिरस्त्वमजोषाः । सेवितवानसि । कीदृशं त्वाम् । वृषभं कामानां वर्षितारं पतिं सोमस्य पातारं यजमानानां पालयितारं वा । पाता वा पालयिता वा । नि. ४-२६ । इति यास्केनोक्तत्वात् ॥ असृग्रम् । असृजम् । सृज विसर्गे । लङो मिप् । तुदादिभ्यः शः । पा. ३-१-७७ । बहुलं छन्दसि । पा. ७-१-८ । इत्यत्र विकरणस्य रुडागमः । जकारस्य गकारः । लुङ्लङ्लृङ्क्ष्वडुदात्त इत्यडागम उदात्तः । सति शिष्टत्वात्स एव शिष्यते । गिरः । प्रातिपदिकस्वरः । अहासत । ओहाङ् गतौ । लुङ् । झस्यादादेशः । पा. ७-१-५ । च्लेः सिच् । पा. ३-१-४४ । अडागमो निघातश्च । अजोषाः । जुषी प्रीतिसेवनयोः । लङस्थास् । तुदादिभ्यः शः । तस्य छन्दस्युभयथा । पा. ३-४-११७ । इत्यार्धधातुकत्वेन ङित्त्वाभावाल्लघूपधगुणः । थासस्थकारलोपश्छान्दसः । सवर्णदीर्घः । अडागमः । सति शिष्टत्वादुदात्तः शिष्यते । वृषभम् । ऋषु वृषु मृषु सेचने । अभिरित्यनुवृत्तौ वृषिवृषिभ्यां कित् । उ. ३-१२३ । इत्यभच्प्रत्ययः । कित्त्वाद्गुणाभावः । चित्त्वादन्तोदात्तः । पतिम् । पा रक्षणे । पातेर्डतिः । उ. ४-५७ । डित्त्वाट्टिलोपः । प्रत्ययाद्युदात्तत्वम् ॥

he indra te giras tvadīyāḥ stutīr asṛgram | sṛṣṭavān asmi | tāś ca giraḥ svarge 'vasthitaṃ tvāṃ praty ud ahāsata | udgatya prāpnuvan | tādṛśīr giras tvam ajoṣāḥ | sevitavān asi | kīdṛśaṃ tvām | vṛṣabhaṃ kāmānāṃ varṣitāraṃ patiṃ somasya pātāraṃ yajamānānāṃ pālayitāraṃ vā | pātā vā pālayitā vā | ni. 4-26 | iti yāskenoktatvāt || asṛgram | asṛjam | sṛja visarge | laṅo mip | tudādibhyaḥ śaḥ | pā. 3-1-77 | bahulaṃ chandasi | pā. 7-1-8 | ity atra vikaraṇasya ruḍ-āgamaḥ | jakārasya gakāraḥ | luṅ-laṅ-lṛṅkṣv aḍ udātta ity aḍāgama udāttaḥ | sati śiṣṭatvāt sa eva śiṣyate | giraḥ | prātipadika-svaraḥ | ahāsata | ohāṅ gatau | luṅ | jhasyād-ādeśaḥ | pā. 7-1-5 | cleḥ sic | pā. 3-1-44 | aḍāgamo nighātaś ca | ajoṣāḥ | juṣī prīti-sevanayoḥ | laṅas thās | tudādibhyaḥ śaḥ | tasya chandasy ubhayathā | pā. 3-4-117 | ity ārdhadhātukatvena ṅittvābhāvāl laghūpadha-guṇaḥ | thāsas thakāra-lopaś chāndasaḥ | savarṇa-dīrghaḥ | aḍāgamaḥ | sati śiṣṭatvād udāttaḥ śiṣyate | vṛṣabham | ṛṣu vṛṣu mṛṣu secane | abhir ity anuvṛttau vṛṣi-vṛṣibhyāṃ kit | u. 3-123 | ity abhac-pratyayaḥ | kittvād guṇābhāvaḥ | cittvād antodāttaḥ | patim | pā rakṣaṇe | pāter ḍatiḥ | u. 4-57 | ḍittvāṭ ṭi-lopaḥ | pratyayādyudāttatvam ||

Translation: "O Indra! I have sent forth — created, composed — those speeches, giraḥ, of yours — your hymns. And those words ud ahāsata — rose up, went up and reached — you prati — you who are stationed in heaven. [You, being such,] ajoṣāḥ: you have taken pleasure in (sevitavān asi, have enjoyed) such speeches (the Kannada word-meaning renders it 'be pleased'). What kind of you? Vṛṣabham — the showerer of desires; patim — the drinker of Soma, or the protector of sacrificers: 'pātā vā pālayitā vā' (Ni. 4-26), as Yāska states. Asṛgram — I have made (asṛjam), from sṛja visarge, 'to let go.'" The grammar (characterized):

“asṛgram” — “laṅ,” “mip,” “śa” (3-1-77), the augment “ruṭ” by “bahulaṃ chandasi” (7-1-8), “g” for “j”; the augment “aṭ” acute; “ahāsata” — “ohāṅ gatau,” “luṅ,” “at” for “jha” (7-1-5), “sic” (3-1-44), nighāta; “ajoṣāḥ” — “juṣī,” “laṅ,” “thās,” “śa” treated as ārdhadhātuka (3-4-117), so guṇa; loss of “th” Vedic; “vṛṣabham” — “abhac” (Uṇ. 3-123), end-acute; “patim” — “ḍati” (Uṇ. 4-57), first-syllable acute.

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

(हे) इन्द्र ((he) indra) — O Indra | ते (te) — your, or for you (concerning you) | गिरः (giraḥ) — words in the form of praise | असृग्रम् (asṛgram) — I have made (composed) | (those praises) वृषभम् (vṛṣabham) — the one who rains the desires | पतिम् (patim) — who drinks Soma, or who protects the people, the sacrificers and others | त्वां प्रति (tvāṃ prati) — to you (stationed in heaven) | उदहासत (udahāsata) — may they go up and reach (and by those praises) | अजोषाः (ajoṣāḥ) — be pleased.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Indra! I have composed and sung praises in your honour. May those praises, joining you who dwell in heaven, who grant all desired ends and protect all, bring you joy.

Page 357 — Rik 4: English, Special Topics, grammar begins

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> O Indra, I have (composed) praises in your honour; may these praises reach you (in heaven) the showerer of blessings, and the protector of your worshippers and you are pleased with their praises.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

“Asṛgram” — “I have created” — that is, “I have composed.”

“Ut āhāsata” — ut means upward. Since Indra’s place is above (in the atmosphere, antarikṣa, or in heaven), the poet offers praise, saying “may [the praises] reach you who are above” (udahāsata).

“Ajoṣāḥ” — जुषी प्रीतिसेवनयोः (juṣī prīti-sevanayoḥ) — “may the praises serve you”: that is, “be pleased by the praises.”

“Patim” — सोमस्य पातारम् । यजमानानां पालयितारं वा (somasya pātāram | yajamānānāṃ pālayitāraṃ vā) — since the root pā means to drink or to protect, patim can be explained as “one who drinks Soma” or “one who protects the sacrificers.” Yāska explains: पाता वा पालयिता वा (pātā vā pālayitā vā; Ni. “4-2-6” as printed, i.e. 4-26). The Vedārtha-yatna author renders patim as “husband” (printed “hnsband” [sic]; Kannada gaṇḍa); this sense does not fit here. Patim may be said to mean “lord” (svāmi).

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (pp. 357–358, Kannada; page header p. 357 “A. 1, A. 1, Va. 18”; numbers as printed)

असृग्रम् (asṛgram) — root sṛja visarge, "laṅ" (printed so) parasmaipada first person "mip"; am in its place by "tasthasthamipāṃ tāṃtaṃtāmaḥ" (पा. सू. ३-४-१०१); śa (the śa-vikaraṇa) of the tudādi class by "tudādibhyaḥ śaḥ" (पा. सू. ३-१-७७); the augment ruṭ by "bahulaṃ chandasy" (पा. सू. ७-१-८); sṛj + ra + am; j → g by "coḥ kuḥ" (पा. सू. ८-२-३०); the augment aṭ (luṅ-laṅ-lṛṅkṣv aḍ udāttaḥ, पा. सू. ६-४-७१) is udātta and attaches to the root; a + sṛg + ra + am with pūrvarūpa → asṛgram; the acute of the augment "aṭ," taught later, stays. गिरः (giraḥ) — base accent. अहासत (ahāsata) — root ohāṅ gatau ("to go") with luṅ; the third-person plural ātmanepada jha; आत्मनेपदेष्वनतः (पा. सू. ७-१-५) … (continues on p. 358)

Page 358 — Rik 4 grammar closes; Sūkta 9, Rik 5 text

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (Kannada; numbers as printed)

Closing the grammar of Rik 4: अहासत (ahāsata) — the a of the ātmanepada ending jha is replaced by at; the cli suffix after the root by "cli luṅi" (पा. सू. ३-१-४३); in its place sic by "cleḥ sic" (पा. सू. ३-१-४४); the augment aṭ; so ahāsata; the finite verb is wholly unaccented (पा. सू. ८-१-२८). अजोषाः (ajoṣāḥ) — root juṣī prītisevanayoḥ with "laṅ"; the ātmanepada middle-second singular thās; the śa-vikaraṇa of the tudādi class (पा. सू. ३-१-७७), which takes the technical status of ārdhadhātuka by "chandasy ubhayathā" (पा. सू. ३-४-११७) and so is not ṅit; hence no guṇa-prohibition by "kṅiti ca" (पा. सू. १-१-५); puganta-laghūpadhasya ca (पा. सू. ७-३-८६) gives guṇa; the th of thās dropped by Vedic license; joṣ + ās gives a savarṇa-dīrgha (पा. सू. ६-१-१०१), joṣās; the augment "aṭ" is acute, and that accent, taught later, stays; ru-and-visarga give ajoṣāḥ. वृषभम् (vṛṣabham) — ऋषिवृषिभ्यां कित् (उ. सू. ३-४०६ [?], as printed), with "abhac" carried from कृशृशलिकलिगर्दिभ्योऽभच् (उ. सू. ३-४०५ [?]): after the roots ṛṣi and vṛṣi the suffix abhac arises, with kit force, so no laghūpadha-guṇa; vṛṣ + abha → vṛṣabha; the suffix is cit, so final-udātta (पा. सू. ६-१-१६३). पतिम् (patim) — root pā rakṣaṇe; पातेर्डतिः (उ. सू. ४-४९८ [?], the figures unclear) — after pā in the sense of protecting, the suffix ḍati; ḍit, so the ā of pā (the ṭi) is dropped; initial-udātta by the suffix.

॥४॥

---

Page 358 — Sūkta 9, Rik 5

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

सं चो॑दय चि॒त्रम॒र्वाग्रा॑ध॑ इन्द्र॒ वरे॑ण्यम् । अस॒दित्ते॑ वि॒भु प्र॒भु ॥५॥

sáṃ codaya citrám arvāg rā́dha indra váreṇyam | asad ít te vibhú prabhú ||5||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

सम् । चोदय । चित्रम् । अर्वाक् । राधः । इन्द्र । वरेण्यम् ॥ असत् । इत् । ते । विऽभु । प्रऽभु ॥५॥

sam | codaya | citram | arvāk | rādhaḥ | indra | vareṇyam || asat | it | te | vi-bhu | pra-bhu ||5||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे इन्द्र वरेण्यं श्रेष्ठं राधो धनं चित्रं मणिमुक्तादिरूपेण बहुविधमर्वागस्मदभिमुखं यथा भवति तथा संचोदय । सम्यक् प्रेरय । भोगाय यावत्पर्याप्तं तावद्विभुशब्देनोच्यते । ततोऽप्यधिकं प्रभुशब्देन । तादृशं धनं ते तवैवासदित् । अस्त्येव । तस्मादस्मभ्यं प्रयच्छेत्यर्थः । मघमित्यादिष्वष्टाविंशतिधननामसु रायो राध इति पठितम् ॥ चोदय । चुद प्रेरणे । ण्यन्ताल्लोट् । तिङ्ङतिङ इति निघातः । राधः । राध्नुवन्त्यनेनेति राधो धनम् । सर्वधातुभ्योऽसुन् । उ. ४-१८८ । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । वरेण्यम् । वृञ एण्यः । वृषादित्वादाद्युदात्तः । असत् । अस भुवि । लेट् । तिप् । इतश्च लोपः । पा. ३-४-९७ । इतीकारलोपः । लेटोऽडाटावित्यडागमः । अदिप्रभृतिभ्यः शप इति शपो लुक् । आगमा अनुदात्ता इत्यटोऽनुदात्तत्वाद्धातुस्वर एव । विभु । विभवतीति विभु । भुव इत्यनुवृत्तौ विप्रसंभ्यो ड्वसंज्ञायाम् । पा. ३-२-१८० । इति डुप्रत्ययः । डित्त्वाट्टिलोपः । प्रत्ययस्वरेणोकार उदात्तः । कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरेण स एव शिष्यते । एवं प्रभु ॥

he indra vareṇyaṃ śreṣṭhaṃ rādho dhanaṃ citraṃ maṇi-muktādi-rūpeṇa bahuvidham arvāg asmad-abhimukhaṃ yathā bhavati tathā saṃcodaya | samyak preraya | bhogāya yāvat paryāptaṃ tāvad vibhu-śabdenocyate | tato 'py adhikaṃ prabhu-śabdena | tādṛśaṃ dhanaṃ te tavaivāsad it | asty eva | tasmād asmabhyaṃ prayacchety arthaḥ | magham ity-ādiṣv aṣṭāviṃśati-dhana-nāmasu rāyo rādha iti paṭhitam || codaya | cuda preraṇe | ṇyantāl loṭ | tiṅṅatiṅa iti nighātaḥ | rādhaḥ | rādhnuvanty aneneti rādho dhanam | sarva-dhātubhyo 'sun | u. 4-188 | nittvād ādyudāttaḥ | vareṇyam | vṛña eṇyaḥ | vṛṣāditvād ādyudāttaḥ | asat | asa bhuvi | leṭ | tip | itaś ca lopaḥ | pā. 3-4-97 | itīkāra-lopaḥ | leṭo 'ḍāṭāv ity aḍ-āgamaḥ | adiprabhṛtibhyaḥ śapa iti śapo luk | āgamā anudāttā ity aṭo 'nudāttatvād dhātu-svara eva | vibhu | vibhavatīti vibhu | bhuva ity anuvṛttau vi-pra-saṃbhyo ḍv asaṃjñāyām | pā. 3-2-180 | iti ḍu-pratyayaḥ | ḍittvāṭ ṭi-lopaḥ | pratyaya-svareṇokāra udāttaḥ | kṛd-uttarapada-prakṛti-svareṇa sa eva śiṣyate | evaṃ prabhu ||

Translation: "O Indra! Vareṇyam — choicest — rādhaḥ, wealth, citram — of many kinds, in the form of jewels, pearls and the like — send forth (saṃ codaya; urge well) so that it is arvāk — turned towards us. [Wealth] as much as is sufficient for enjoyment is called by the word vibhu; what is even more than that, by the word prabhu: such wealth is indeed yours (asad it: it exists). Therefore give it to us: this is the sense. Among the twenty-eight words for 'wealth' beginning with magham, rāyaḥ and rādhaḥ are read. (Grammar: "codaya," nighāta; "rādhaḥ," "asun" (Uṇ. 4-188), first-syllable acute; "vareṇyam," "eṇya," first-syllable acute as vṛṣādi; "asat," "leṭ," loss of "i" (3-4-97), the augment "aṭ," "śap" elided; the augment being unaccented, the root accent stays; "vibhu," "ḍu" (3-2-180), the "u" acute, kept in the compound; likewise "prabhu.")"

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

(हे) इन्द्र ((he) indra) — O Indra | वरेण्यम् (vareṇyam) — choicest | चित्रम् (citram) — of many kinds | राधः (rādhaḥ) — wealth | अर्वाक् (arvāk) — (let it be) before us (by us) | सं चोदय (saṃ codaya) — impel — (that is, give) | (for) ते (te) — with you | विभु (vibhu) — [wealth] sufficient for enjoyment | (and) प्रभु (prabhu) — still greater than that | असत् इत् (asat it) — wealth indeed exists.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Indra! Make the choice and varied wealth available to us. For with you there is wealth enough for the enjoyment of everyone, and much more than that.

Page 360 — Rik 5: English, Special Topics, grammar

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> Place before us, O Indra, precious and different kinds of riches, for you have riches enough and more than enough.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

"Saṃ codaya" — "impel the wealth": that is, bestow it so that it comes to us; give the wealth.

"Citram" — "of various kinds": that is, wealth consisting of goods, cows, animals, houses, sons and grandsons, and so on, of many kinds.

"Arvāk" — "facing us": that is, so that it is easily obtained by us, in front of us.

"Rādhaḥ" — among the twenty-eight words for wealth beginning with magham, the words rāyaḥ and rādhaḥ are read (Ni. 3-9); therefore rādhaḥ means wealth.

"Vareṇyam" — choicest, excellent, of great value.

"Asat it" — it means eva: "indeed exists." There is no doubt about the existence of the wealth.

"Vibhu," "prabhu" — भोगाय यावत्पर्याप्तं तावद्विभुशब्देनोच्यते (bhogāya yāvat paryāptaṃ tāvad vibhu-śabdenocyate) — "as much as suffices for enjoyment is called by the word vibhu": that is the meaning of vibhu: "sufficient." Prabhu means "much more than sufficient for wealth." Skandasvāmī explains prabhu as prabhūtam — "abundant, very much."

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (pp. 360–361, Kannada; page header p. 361 "A. 1, A. 1, Va. 18"; numbers as printed)

चोदय — "cuda preraṇe": हेतुमति च (पा. सू. ३-१-२६) "ṇic"; after the "ṇic"-ended root, "loṭ," parasmaipada second singular "sip"; कर्तरि शप् (पा. सू. ३-१-६८): "cud + i + a + si"; guṇa of the light penultimate before "ṇic," and, before "śap," guṇa by सार्वधातुकार्धधातुकयोः (पा. सू. ७-३-८४): "code + a + si"; "ay" for "e"; सेर्ह्यपिच्च (printed "वा. सू. १-४-८७," i.e. 3-4-87) "hi" for "si"; अतो हेः (पा. सू. ६-४-१०५) "luk" of "hi"; wholly unaccented by तिङ्ङतिङः (पा. सू. ८-१-२८).

राधः (p. 361) — "rādhnuvanty anena iti rādhaḥ dhanam": सर्वधातुभ्योऽसुन् (उ. सू. ४-६२८ [?], as printed; the Bhāṣya gave "उ. ४-१८८") "asun" after "rādh"; "n"-marked, first-syllable acute. वरेण्यम् — वृञ एण्यः (उ. सू. ३-३२८ [?], as printed) "eṇya" after "vṛñ varaṇe"; guṇa by "sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ" (पा. सू. ७-३-८४): "vareṇya"; as of the vṛṣādi class, first-syllable acute by वृषादीनां च (पा. सू. ६-१-२०३). असत् — "asa bhuvi," "leṭ," "tip"; इतश्च लोपः परस्मैपदेषु (पा. सू. ३-४-९७) loss of the "i"; लेटोऽडाटौ (पा. सू. ३-४-९४) the augment "aṭ": "as + at = asat"; "śap" elided by अदिप्रभृतिभ्यः शपः (पा. सू. २-४-७२); आगमा अनुदात्ताः (printed "पा. म. ३-१-३-२″) — the augment "aṭ" unaccented; "as" end-acute by धातोः (पा. सू. ६-१-१६२), which stays. विभु — "vibhavatīti vibhu": विप्रसंभ्यो ड्वसंज्ञायाम् (पा. सू. ३-२-१८०), with "bhuvaḥ" carried from भुवः संज्ञान्तरयोः (पा. सू. ३-२-१७९): after "bhū" with "vi, pra, sam," when no name is meant, "ḍu"; the "ḍ" is "it" by चुटू (printed "पा. सू. १-०-७," i.e. 1-3-7), leaving "u"; the "ḍ"-mark causes loss of the "ṭi" "ū" of "bhū": "vibhu"; the "u" acute by आद्युदात्तश्च (पा. सू. ३-१-३), kept in the compound by गतिकारकोपपदात्कृत् (पा. सू. ६-२-१३९); likewise "prabhu." ॥५॥

---

Page 361 — Sūkta 9, Rik 6

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

अस्मान्त्सु तत्र॑ चोदयेन्द्र॒ राये॑ रभ॑स्वतः । तुवि॑द्युम्न॒ यश॑स्वतः ॥६॥

asmā́nt su tátra codayéndra rāyé rábhasvataḥ | túvidyumna yáśasvataḥ ||6||

(In the Saṃhitā the words asmān su are joined as asmān tsu*: a* t is inserted between the n and the s by the Vedic sandhi rule, as the Special Topics below explain.)

Page 362 — Rik 6: Pada text, Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

अस्मान् । सु । तत्र । चोदय । इन्द्र । राये । रभस्वतः ॥ तुविऽद्युम्न । यशस्वतः ॥६॥

asmān | su | tatra | codaya | indra | rāye | rabhasvataḥ || tuvi-dyumna | yaśasvataḥ || 6||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे तुविद्युम्न प्रभूतधनेन्द्र राये धनसिद्ध्यर्थमस्माननुष्ठातॄन् तत्र कर्मणि सु चोदय । सुष्ठु प्रेरय । कीदृशानस्मान् । रभस्वत उद्योगवतो यशस्वतः कीर्तिमतः ॥ तत्र । तच्छब्दात्सप्तम्यास्त्रल् । पा. ५-३-१० । लितीति प्रत्ययात्पूर्वस्योदात्तत्वम् । इन्द्र । आमन्त्रिताद्युदात्तत्वम् । पादादित्वान्न निघातः । राये । ऊडिदमित्यादिना विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वम् । रभस्वतः । रभ राभस्ये । राभस्यं कार्योपक्रमः । सर्वधातुभ्यो ऽसुन् । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । मतुपः पित्त्वादनुदात्तत्वम् । स्वादिष्वसर्वनामस्थाने । पा. १-४-१७ । इति न पदत्वं तसौ मत्वर्थे । पा. १-४-१९ । इति भसंज्ञया बाधितत्वात् । आ कडारादेका संज्ञा । पा. १-४-१ । इति नियमात् तुविद्युम्न । तुवि बहु द्युम्नं धनं यस्य । षाष्ठिकमामन्त्रिताद्युदात्तत्वम् । यशस्वतः । यशो ऽस्यास्तीति मतुप् । अस्मायामेधास्रजो विनिः । पा. ५-२-१२१ । इति विनिना न बाध्यते मतुपः सर्वत्र समुच्चयात् । यशश्शब्दो नब्विषयस्यानिसन्तस्येत्याद्युदात्तः । मतुपः पित्त्वात्तस्य शिष्यते ॥

he tuvidyumna prabhūtadhanendra rāye dhanasiddhyarthamasmānanuṣṭhātṝn tatra karmaṇi su codaya | suṣṭhu preraya | kīdṛśānasmān | rabhasvata udyogavato

yaśasvataḥ kīrtimataḥ || tatra | tacchabdātsaptamyāstral | pā. 5-3-10 | litīti pratyayātpūrvasyodāttatvam | indra | āmantritādyudāttatvam | pādāditvānna nighātaḥ | rāye | ūḍidamityādinā vibhakterudāttatvam | rabhasvataḥ | rabha rābhasye | rābhasyaṃ kāryopakramaḥ | sarvadhātubhyo 'sun | nittvādādyudāttaḥ | matupaḥ pittvādanudāttatvam | svādiṣvasarvanāmasthāne | pā. 1-4-17 | iti na padatvaṃ tasau matvarthe | pā. 1-4-19 | iti bhasaṃjñayā bādhitatvāt | ā kaḍārādekā saṃjñā | pā. 1-4-1 | iti niyamāt tuvidyumna | tuvi bahu dyumnaṃ dhanaṃ yasya | ṣāṣṭhikamāmantritādyudāttatvam | yaśasvataḥ | yaśo 'syāstīti matup | asmāyāmedhāsrajo viniḥ | pā. 5-2-121 | iti vininā na bādhyate matupaḥ sarvatra samuccayāt | yaśaśśabdo nabviṣayasyānisantasyetyādyudāttaḥ | matupaḥ pittvāttasya śiṣyate ||

Translation: "O tuvidyumna — Indra of abundant wealth! For rāye, the achievement of wealth, su codaya — urge well — us, who perform the rites, in that rite. What kind of us? Rabhasvataḥ — enterprising, industrious; yaśasvataḥ — renowned. (Grammar: tatra — formed with tral after the word tad in the seventh case (Pā. 5-3-10), the syllable before the suffix being udātta since tral is l*-marked;* indra — the vocative, initially udātta, but as the first word of a pāda not lowered; rāye — the case-ending udātta by "ūḍidam…"; rabhasvataḥ — root rabha rābhasye*, 'the beginning of an act'; the suffix* asun*, initial-udātta since* nit*;* matup is pit and so unaccented; by Pā. 1-4-17 and 1-4-19 the word is not a pada before matup*, but has the technical* bha status, which blocks the pada status; tuvidyumna — 'he whose wealth (dyumna) is much (tuvi)', a bahuvrīhi, the vocative initially udātta; yaśasvataḥ — 'who has fame' with matup*, not barred by* vini (Pā. 5-2-121) since the two are combined everywhere; the word yaśas initial-udātta as a neuter not ending in -isan*.)*"

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

तुविद्युम्न (tuvidyumna) — O Indra, who are endowed with abundant wealth | (हे) इन्द्र ((he) indra) — O Indra | रभस्वतः (rabhasvataḥ) — who are enterprising (engaged in sacrificial and other works) | यशस्वतः (yaśasvataḥ) — who are possessed of fame | अस्मान् (asmān) — us | राये (rāye) — for obtaining wealth | तत्र (tatra) — in that rite | सु चोदय (su codaya) — urge well.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Indra! You are endowed with abundant wealth — that is, you possess great riches. Therefore urge us, who are always engaged in sacrificial and other works and are renowned, to engage ardently in sacrificial and other rites for obtaining wealth.

Page 363 — Rik 6: English, Special Topics, grammar

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> Indra, you are very rich ; encourage us in this rite for the acquirement of wealth, for we are deligent [sic] and renowned.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

“Asmān + su = asmān tsu” — when s follows the n of a word-ending (here, an accusative-plural n), in the Saṃhitā-pāṭha the two are combined by sandhi and, in pronouncing, a t is inserted between the n and the s, giving nts; this is customary. In this connection:

> स गा अविन्दत्सो अविन्ददश्वान्त्स ओषधीः सो अपः सवनानि ॥ (ऋ. सं. १-१०३-५) sa gā avindat so avindad aśvānt sa oṣadhīḥ so apaḥ savanāni || (Ṛg. Saṃ. 1-103-5) (“He found the cows, he found the horses, he the herbs, he the waters, the pressings.” — mine and tentative; the source gives only the citation.)
>
> कविर्गीर्भिः काव्येना कविः सन्त्सोमः पवित्रमत्येति रेभन् ॥ (ऋ. सं. ९-९६-१७) kavir gīrbhiḥ kāvyenā kaviḥ san tsomaḥ pavitram aty eti rebhan || (Ṛg. Saṃ. 9-96-17) (“The seer [Soma], a seer with his songs and poetic power, being [pressed], passes through the filter, murmuring.” — mine and tentative.)

Many more examples could be given.

“Rabhasvataḥ” — रभ राभस्ये । राभस्यं कार्योपक्रमः (rabha rābhasye | rābhasyaṃ kāryopakramaḥ) — “[root] rabha in the sense of rābhasya — the beginning of a work.” Rābhasya is derived from the root rabh; it means starting an undertaking; being industrious, enterprising. Rabhasvataḥ is the accusative plural of rabhasvān.

“Tuvidyumna” — “of abundant wealth”: tuvi is much; dyumna is wealth. So, “he who has much wealth” — a bahuvrīhi. “Of much wealth.”

“Yaśasvataḥ” — yaśo ’syāstīti yaśasvān, “those who have fame”; renowned. Rabhasvataḥ and yaśasvataḥ both qualify the word asmān (“us”).

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 363–365, noted briefly)

तत्र (tatra) — “in that”; the tral suffix after the seventh-case pronouns tad, kim, sarva etc. (Pā. 5-3-10, “saptamyās tral”); tral is taddhita, so the word is a prātipadika; the sup ending is dropped by supo dhātuprātipadikayoḥ (Pā. 2-4-71); d → a by tyadādīnām aḥ (Pā. 6-2-102 [as printed]); a + a → pararūpa by ato guṇe (Pā. 6-1-97); tral is l-marked, so by liti (Pā. 6-1-193) the syllable before the suffix is udātta. इन्द्र (indra) — the second pāda’s first syllable; since this is the beginning of the pāda, there is no lowering by apādādau; as a vocative it is initial-udātta by āmantritasya ca (Pā. 6-1-198). राये (rāye) — rai + the dative ending e; after the ai-ending word rai, the dative ending is udātta (ūḍidam-pada-ādy-ap-pum-rai-dyubhyaḥ, Pā. 6-1-171). रभस्वतः (rabhasvataḥ) — root rabha rābhasye; asun by sarvadhātubhyo ’sun (Uṇ. 4-628 [as printed]) gives rabhas, initial-udātta as nit; matup after it by tad asyāsty asminn iti matup (Pā. 5-2-94), its m → v by mādupadhāyāś ca mator vo ’yavādibhyaḥ (Pā. 8-2-9); the question of whether rabhas is a pada before matup (which would block ruṭ etc.) (by svādiṣv asarvanāmasthāne, Pā. 1-4-17) or has bha status (by tasau matvarthe, Pā. 1-4-19) is argued: pada status and bha status are both prescribed, and the source concludes by the maxim “ā kaḍārād ekā saṃjñā” (Pā. 1-4-1) that among the technical names prescribed from there up to kaḍārāḥ karmadhāraye (Pā. 2-2-38) only one applies, the later (para) one, bha; so pada-status is inapplicable and the rules (such as ruṭv-rules) that depend on it do not operate. तुविद्युम्न (tuvidyumna) — tuvi (much) + dyumna (wealth) as a bahuvrīhi; a vocative, initial-udātta by the vocative rule of the sixth adhyāya (no number printed). यशस्वतः (yaśasvataḥ) — “yaśo ’syāstīti yaśasvān”: matup, with the m → v as in rabhasvataḥ; the long discussion (pp. 364–365) concerns whether the vini suffix of the sūtra "asmāyā-medhā-srajo viniḥ" (Pā. 5-2-121) blocks matup here — answered that, by the carried-over word "anyatarasyām" ("optionally"), vini is only optional — the "nityam" of ekago-pūrvāṭ ṭhañ nityam (Pā. 5-2-118) breaks the carrying-over, but it resumes in tasau matvarthe (Pā. 1-4-19), where the Mahābhāṣya gives the examples yaśasvī / yaśasvān; and by the Vedabhāṣya's general statement that matup has the sense of inclusion everywhere (samuccaya), and by Kaiyaṭa on the Mahābhāṣya on "keśād vo 'nyatarasyām" (Pā. 5-2-109; printed 5-3-109 on p. 365 [as printed]); yaśas is initial-udātta as a neuter noun not ending in -isan (Phiṭ-sūtra 26); matup is pit, hence unaccented; so the initial accent of yaśas stands. (Sūtra numbers read from small print; pointers only.)

॥६॥

---

Page 365 — Sūkta 9, Rik 7

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

सं गोम॑दिन्द्र वाज॑वद॒स्मे पृ॒थु श्रवो॑ बृ॒हत् । वि॒श्वायु॑र्धेह्य॑क्षितम् ॥७॥

saṃ gómad indra vājavad asmé pṛthú śrávo bṛhát | viśvāyur dhéhy akṣitam ||7||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

सम् । गोऽमत् । इन्द्र । वाजऽवत् । अस्मे इति । पृथु । श्रवः । बृहत् ॥ विश्वऽआयुः । धेहि । अक्षितम् ॥ ७॥

sam | go-mat | indra | vāja-vat | asme iti | pṛthu | śravaḥ | bṛhat || viśva-āyuḥ | dhehi | akṣitam ||7||

Page 366 — Rik 7: Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे इन्द्र श्रवो धनमस्मे सं धेहि । अस्मभ्यं सम्यक् प्रयच्छ । कीदृशं श्रवः । गोमत् बह्वीभिर्गोभिरुपेतं वाजवत् प्रभूतेनान्नेनोपेतं पृथु परिमाणेनाधिकं बृहत् गुणैरधिकं विश्वायुः कृत्स्नायुष्यकारणं अक्षितं विनाशरहितम् । गोमत् । वाजवत् । उभयत्र मतुपो ऽनुदात्तत्वात्प्रातिपदिकस्वर एव । वाजशब्दो वृषादिराद्युदात्तः । अस्मे । अस्मच्छब्दाच्चतुर्थीबहुवचनस्य सुपां सुलुगित्यादिना शे आदेशः । शित्त्वात्सर्वादेशः । प्रातिपदिकस्वरेणान्तोदात्तत्वम् । शेषे लोपः । टिलोप इति पक्षे । पा. ७-२-९० । उदात्तनिवृत्तिस्वरेण विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वम् । अन्त्यलोपपक्षे ऽतो गुण इति पररूपे एकादेश उदात्तेनोदात्त इत्युदात्तत्वम् । पृथु । प्रथ प्रख्याने । प्रथिम्रदिभ्रस्जां संप्रसारणं सलोपश्च । उ. १-२९ । इति कुप्रत्ययः । रेफस्य संप्रसारणमृकारः । परपूर्वत्वम् । कोः कित्त्वान्न लघूपधगुणः । श्रूयत इति श्रवो धनम् । असुन्प्रत्ययः । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । बृहत् । प्रातिपदिकस्वरः । विश्वायुः । विश्वमायुर्यस्मिन्धने । विश्वशब्दः क्वन्प्रत्ययान्तः । तस्य बहुव्रीहौ पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वे प्राप्ते परादिश्छन्दसि बहुलमिति पूर्वपदान्तोदात्तत्वम् । एकादेश उदात्तेनोदात्त इत्याद्युदात्तः । अक्षितम् । क्षि क्षये

इत्यस्मादन्तर्णीतण्यर्थात्कर्मणि निष्ठा । तेन स्यदर्थत्वान्निष्ठायामण्यदर्थे [? as printed] । पा. ६-४-६० । इति न दीर्घत्वम् । अत एव क्षियो दीर्घात् । पा. ८-२-४६ । इति न निष्ठानत्वम् । नञ्समासेऽव्ययपूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् ॥

he indra śravo dhanamasme saṃ dhehi | asmabhyaṃ samyak prayaccha | kīdṛśaṃ śravaḥ | gomat bahvībhirgobhirupetaṃ vājavat prabhūtenānnenopetaṃ pṛthu parimāṇenādhikaṃ bṛhat guṇairadhikaṃ viśvāyuḥ kṛtsnāyuṣyakāraṇaṃ akṣitaṃ vināśarahitam | gomat | vājavat | ubhayatra matupo 'nudāttatvātprātipadikasvara eva | vājaśabdo vṛṣādirādyudāttaḥ | asme | asmacchabdāccaturthībahuvacanasya supāṃ sulugityādinā śe ādeśaḥ | śittvātsarvādeśaḥ | prātipadikasvareṇāntodāttatvam | śeṣe lopaḥ | ṭilopa iti pakṣe | pā. 7-2-90 | udāttanivṛttisvareṇa vibhakterudāttatvam | antyalopapakṣe 'to guṇa iti pararūpe ekādeśa udāttenodātta ityudāttatvam | pṛthu | pratha prakhyāne | prathimradibhrasjāṃ saṃprasāraṇaṃ salopaśca | u. 1-29 | iti kupratyayaḥ | rephasya saṃprasāraṇamṛkāraḥ | parapūrvatvam | koḥ kittvānna laghūpadhaguṇaḥ | śrūyata iti śravo dhanam | asunpratyayaḥ | nittvādādyudāttaḥ | bṛhat | prātipadikasvaraḥ | viśvāyuḥ | viśvamāyuryasmindhane | viśvaśabdaḥ kvanpratyayāntaḥ | tasya bahuvrīhau pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratve prāpte parādiśchandasi bahulamiti pūrvapadāntodāttatvam | ekādeśa udāttenodātta ityādyudāttaḥ | akṣitam | kṣi kṣaye ityasmādantarṇītaṇyarthātkarmaṇi niṣṭhā | tena syadarthatvānniṣṭhāyāmaṇyadarthe [? as printed] | pā. 6-4-60 | iti na dīrghatvam | ata eva kṣiyo dīrghāt | pā. 8-2-46 | iti na niṣṭhānatvam | nañsamāse 'vyayapūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvam ||

Translation: "O Indra! Śravaḥ — wealth — asme — to us — saṃ dhehi: bestow well. What kind of śravaḥ? Gomat — furnished with many cows; vājavat — furnished with abundant food; pṛthu — larger in measure; bṛhat — superior in qualities; viśvāyuḥ — the cause of a whole lifetime; akṣitam — free of destruction." (The accompanying grammar, noted briefly: gomat* and vājavat take their stem accent because* matup is unaccented; vāja* is a* vṛṣādi word, initial-udātta; asme is formed by the substitute śe for the plural dative ending after asmad*, replacing the whole as it is* śit*, final-udātta by the stem accent; by* śeṣe lopaḥ (Pā. 7-2-90) — on the view that the ṭi is dropped, the case-ending is udātta by the accent of the lost udātta; on the view that the final is dropped, the pararūpa by ato guṇe is a single substitute udātta by ekādeśa udāttenodāttaḥ*;* pṛthu — root prtha prakhyāne with the suffix ku and saṃprasāraṇa of r to ṛ (Uṇ. 1-29); śravaḥ — 'that which is heard' = wealth, with asun*, initial-udātta;* viśvāyuḥ — a bahuvrīhi 'in which wealth the whole life [is]'; the first-member accent of a bahuvrīhi being displaced by parādiś chandasi bahulam to the end of the first member, and the single substitute udātta, so initial-udātta; akṣitam — from kṣi kṣaye with the causative sense inside, the past-participle suffix in the passive; no lengthening by Pā. 6-4-60 and hence no n*-substitution by* kṣiyo dīrghāt (Pā. 8-2-46); the nañ compound has the accent of its indeclinable first member. One word, printed syadarthatvāt*, is kept as printed [?].)*"

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

(हे) इन्द्र ((he) indra) — O Indra | अस्मे (asme) — to us | पृथु (pṛthu) — abundant | बृहत् (bṛhat) — superior in qualities | गोमत् (gomat) — endowed with cows (in the form of cattle) | वाजवत् (vājavat) — endowed with food (in the form of food, nourishment) | विश्वायुः

(viśvāyuḥ) — the cause of long life | अक्षितम् (akṣitam) — without destruction | श्रवः (śravaḥ) — wealth | धेहि (dhehi) — give.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Indra! Give us abundant wealth: the best, in the form of cattle, horses and other animals and wealth, and in the form of grain and nourishing food — wealth that is the means of living a long life and that is imperishable. Give us such wealth in great abundance.

Page 367 — Rik 7: English, Special Topics

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> Grant us, Indra, wealth beyond measure or calculation, inexhaustible the source of cattle, of food, of all life.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

"Gomat" — बह्वीभिर्गोभिरुपेतम् (bahvībhir gobhir upetam) — "furnished with many cows." Or: gāvo yasmin santi tat gomat — "that in which there are cows"; gomat — wealth in the form of animals, with plenty of cows.

"Vājavataḥ" — wealth consisting of food (anna) and the like, of foodstuffs.

"Asme" — means asmabhyam (to us). In the Ṛgveda asme is used in many places in place of asmabhyam.

"Śravaḥ" — among the twenty-eight words for wealth beginning with magham, the word śravaḥ is read (Nirukta 3-9). "Bṛhat" — excellent, full of substance, excellent in qualities.

"Viśvāyuḥ" — कृत्स्नायुष्यकारणम् (kṛtsnāyuṣya-kāraṇam) — "the cause of a whole lifetime"; the Bhāṣyakāra explains it as wealth that serves for living for a long time. To explain it so, it is better to take viśvāyuḥ as a qualifier of śravaḥ (wealth) than as a qualifier in the sense "one who has a long life": the use of viśvāyuḥ as a viśeṣya word meaning "one who lives long" is more fitting. Skandasvāmī's meaning is likewise.

"Akṣitam" — free from destruction, inexhaustible.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 367–368, noted briefly)

गोमत्, वाजवत् (gomat, vājavat) — "gaur asyāsti iti gomat; vājo 'sya asti iti vājavat": in both, matup is pit, hence unaccented, so the stem accent stands; vāja is a vṛṣādi word, so initial-udātta by "vṛṣādīnāṃ ca" (Pā. 6-1-203). अस्मे (asme) — asmad + the dative-plural bhyas; this is replaced by śe by "supāṃ suluk…" (Pā. 7-1-39); the ś of śe is it by "lasakvataddhite" (Pā. 1-3-8), the substitute being śit replaces the whole of bhyas by "anekāl śit sarvasya" (Pā. 1-1-55); asmad is final-udātta by its stem accent; [on the view that the ṭi is dropped,] the e is udātta by the accent of the lost udātta, "anudāttasya ca yatrodāttalopaḥ" (Pā. 6-1-161); [on the other view] the final d of asmad is dropped by "śeṣe lopaḥ" (Pā. 7-2-90); asma + e → pararūpa by "ato guṇe" (Pā. 6-1-97), a single substitute that takes the udātta by "ekādeśa udāttenodāttaḥ" (Pā. 8-

2-5). पृथु (pṛthu) — root pṛtha prakhyāne (“to spread”), and the rule “prathimradibhrasjāṃ saṃprasāraṇaṃ salopaś ca” (Uṇ. 1-28 [as printed]; the bhāṣya on p. 366 prints 1-29): the suffix ku after prath, mrad, bhrasj, with saṃprasāraṇa of r to ṛ and loss of s in bhrasj; pṛ + th + u → pṛthu by the pūrvarūpa of “saṃprasāraṇāc ca” (Pā. 6-1-108); ku is kit, so no guṇa by “pugantalaghūpadhasya ca” (Pā. 7-3-86). श्रवः (śravaḥ) — “śrūyate iti”: root śru + asun (“sarvadhātubhyo ’sun,” no number printed); guṇa of u → o by “sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ” (Pā. 7-3-84); ov → av by “eco ’yavāyāvaḥ” (Pā. 6-1-78); the nominative/accusative singular ending am/su dropped by “svamor napuṃsakāt” (Pā. 7-1-23); ru-and-visarga; initial-udātta. बृहत् (bṛhat) — stem accent. विश्वायुः (viśvāyuḥ) — a bahuvrīhi “viśvam āyur yasmin dhane”; viśva is formed with kvan (by “aśūpruṣi…”, Uṇ. 1-149, from aśū vyāptau) and is nit, so initial-udātta; the bahuvrīhi rule “bahuvrīhau prakṛtyā pūrvapadam” (Pā. 6-2-1) would keep the first-member accent, but with the Vedic “parādiś chandasi bahulam” (Pā. 6-2-199) the end of the first member takes the udātta; viśva + āyuḥ → single substitute ā, udātta by “ekādeśa udāttenodāttaḥ” (Pā. 8-2-5). अक्षितम् (akṣitam) — root kṣi kṣaye in the sense including the causative; kta in the passive; by “niṣṭhā-yoṇya-darthe” (Pā. 6-4-60) the lengthening is prohibited since the word does not have the sense “not to be…”; and since the lengthening does not arise, the n-substitution of “kṣiyo dīrghāt” (Pā. 8-2-46) does not arise; the nañ compound with the negative takes the first-member accent of “tatpuruṣe tulyārtha…” (Pā. 6-2-2) as with indeclinables.

॥७॥

---

Page 369 — Sūkta 9, Rik 8

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

अस्मे धेहि श्रवो बृहद्द्युम्नं सहस्रसातमम् । इन्द्र ता रथिनीरिषः ॥८॥

asmé dhehi śrávo bṛhád dyumnáṃ sahasrasātamam | indra tā rathínīr íṣaḥ ||8||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

अस्मे इति । धेहि । श्रवः । बृहत् । द्युम्नम् । सहस्रऽसातमम् ॥ इन्द्र । ताः । रथिनीः । इषः ॥८॥

asme iti | dhehi | śravaḥ | bṛhat | dyumnam | sahasra-sātamam || indra | tāḥ | rathinīḥ | iṣaḥ ||8||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे इन्द्र बृहच्छ्रवो महतीं कीर्तिमस्मे धेहि । अस्मभ्यं प्रयच्छ । तथा सहस्रसातममतिशयेन सहस्रसंख्यादानोपेतं द्युम्नं धनमस्मे धेहि । तथा ता व्रीहियवादिरूपेण प्रसिद्धा रथिनीर्बहुरथोपेता इषोऽन्नान्यस्मे धेहि ॥ अस्मे । सुपां सुलुगित्यादिना शे आदेशः । धेहि । घ्वसोरेद्धावभ्यासलोपश्च । पा. ६-४-११९ । इत्येत्वाभ्यासलोपौ । श्रूयत इति श्रवः । असुनो नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वम् । सहस्रं सुनुते ददातीति सहस्रसाः । षणु दाने । जनसनखनक्रमगमो विट् । पा. ३-२-६७ । विड्वनोरनुनासिकस्यात् । पा. ६-४-४१ । इत्याकारादेशः । धातुस्वरेणान्तोदात्तः । पुनः कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरेण स एव शिष्यते ।

रथा आसां सन्तीति रथिन्य इति प्रत्ययस्याद्युदात्तत्वम् । ऋन्नेभ्यो ङीप् । पा. ४-१-५ । स च पित्त्वादनुदात्तः । इषो योगिकत्वे धातुस्वरः । रूढत्वे प्रातिपदिकस्वरः ॥

he indra bṛhacchravo mahatīṃ kīrtimasme dhehi | asmabhyaṃ prayaccha | tathā sahasrasātamamatiśayena sahasrasaṃkhyādānopetaṃ dyumnaṃ dhanamasme dhehi | tathā tā vrīhiyavādirūpeṇa prasiddhā rathinīrbahurathopetā iṣo 'nnānyasme dhehi || asme | supāṃ sulugityādinā śe ādeśaḥ | dhehi | ghvasoreddhāvabhyāsalopaśca | pā. 6-4-119 | ityetvābhyāsalopau | śrūyata iti śravaḥ | asuno nittvādādyudāttatvam | sahasraṃ sunute dadātīti sahasrasāḥ | ṣaṇu dāne | janasanakhanakramagamo viṭ | pā. 3-2-67 | viḍvanoranunāsikasyāt | pā. 6-4-41 | ityākārādeśaḥ | dhātusvareṇāntodāttaḥ | punaḥ kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvareṇa sa eva śiṣyate | rathā āsāṃ santīti rathinya iti pratyayasyādyudāttatvam | ṛnnebhyo ṅīp | pā. 4-1-5 | sa ca pittvādanudāttaḥ | iṣo yogikatve dhātusvaraḥ | rūḍhatve prātipadikasvaraḥ ||

Translation: "O Indra, bṛhac-chravaḥ — O you of great renown: give us (asme dhehi) great fame. And likewise bestow on us sahasra-sātamam — in extreme degree accompanied by gifts reckoned in thousands — dyumnam, wealth. And likewise tāḥ — those famous in the forms of rice, barley and the like — rathinīḥ, furnished with many chariots — iṣaḥ: foods; bestow them on us." (Grammar noted briefly: asme as in Rik 7; dhehi — the root dhā with hi*, with the substitution of* e for ā and loss of the reduplicate (Pā. 6-4-119); śravaḥ with asun*;* sahasrasā — 'one who gives a thousand': root ṣaṇu dāne with viṭ (Pā. 3-2-67), ā for the nasal (Pā. 6-4-41), final-udātta by the root, then the second-member rule; rathinyaḥ — 'those who have chariots,' feminine in ṅīp (Pā. 4-1-5), unaccented because pit*;* iṣaḥ takes the root accent if taken in its component sense and the stem accent if taken as a settled word.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

(हे) इन्द्र ((he) indra) — O Indra | अस्मे (asme) — to us | बृहत् (bṛhat) — great, excellent | श्रवः (śravaḥ) — fame | सहस्रसातमम् (sahasrasātamam) — greatly helpful for giving thousands of different things | द्युम्नम् (dyumnam) — wealth | रथिनीः (rathinīḥ) — brought in chariots or carts | ताः (tāḥ) — those in the form of grains such as rice and barley | इषः (iṣaḥ) — foods | धेहि (dhehi) — give.

Page 370 — Rik 8: overall sense, English, Special Topics

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Indra! Give us exceedingly great fame and thousand-fold wealth, and grain and other food in cartloads (chariot-loads).

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> O Indra, grant us great fame, and wealth acquired in a thousand ways and those (articles) of food (which are brought from the field) in carts.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

The sense of this rik is easy to grasp; there are no special difficulties.

"Śravaḥ" — for this word Yāska, in his Nirukta, gives two or three different senses. Since the word śravaḥ is read among the twenty-eight words for wealth beginning with magham and reknaḥ (Nirukta 3-9), the sense "wealth" is also possible. In explaining the rik uta svainaṃ (Ṛgveda Saṃhitā 4-38-5) he says: "śravaś cāpi paśum ucche yūthaṃ praśaṃsāṃ ca yūthaṃ dhanaṃ ca yūthaṃ ceti vā" (as printed) — that is, śravaḥ is "praise (fame)" or "wealth" (Nirukta 4-24); and in the rik amandān stomān (Ṛgveda Saṃhitā 1-126-1; the first digit of the middle number is damaged in the print) he explains the word śrava icchamānāḥ as "wishing for praise" (Nirukta 9-11). In the explanation of the rik pra vo mahe mandamānāya (Ṛgveda Saṃhitā 10-50-1) he explains śravaḥ as mahac chravaṇīyaṃ yaśaḥ — "great, worthy-of-hearing glory" (Nirukta 11-10). Since in this rik, besides this, the word dyumnam ("wealth") also occurs — a word for wealth — to render śravaḥ as "wealth" would produce the fault of repetition; so to give it the sense of "fame" is quite fitting.

"Sahasrasātamam" — सहस्रं सनुते ददातीति सहस्रसाः । षणु दाने (sahasraṃ sanute dadātīti sahasrasāḥ | ṣaṇu dāne) — "one who gives a thousand; the root ṣaṇu in the sense of giving." Therefore sahasrasātamam means "that which gives thousands, that is, that gives in the greatest abundance."

"Tāḥ" — a feminine accusative plural of tad, and an adjective of the word iṣaḥ. The necessity of this word is not evident in this rik; probably it is used for filling out the pāda.

"Rathinīḥ" — रथा आसां सन्तीति रथिन्यः (rathā āsāṃ santīti rathinyaḥ) — "those that have chariots": [loads] related to chariots — that is, filling the chariots or carts, in great abundance. The grain that a single man carries on his head is not very much; but in a cart, how much more — as many people can carry. Hence the grain that fills a cart is a very great amount of grain.

Page 371 — Rik 8: grammar

"Iṣaḥ" — although the word has the sense "food," here it is used in a general sense, "food or grain." The adjective rathinīḥ supports this sense.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar page, noted briefly)

अस्मे (asme) — the plural dative ending after asmad is replaced by śe by "supāṃ suluk…" (Pā. 7-1-39). धेहि (dhehi) — root ḍudhāñ dhāraṇapoṣaṇayoḥ ("to hold, to nourish"); loṭ parasmaipada second singular sip; sip → hi by "seryapicca" (Pā. 3-4-80 [as printed]); the vikaraṇa śap (no number printed), dropped by ślu after the juhotyādi class, "juhotyādibhyaḥ śluḥ" (Pā. 2-4-75); doubling by ślau (Pā. 6-1-10); dhā + hi: by "ghvasoreddhāvabhyāsalopaś ca" (Pā. 6-4-119) the roots called ghu and as, before hi, take e in place of the final ā, and the reduplicate vowel is dropped; so dhehi; wholly unaccented as a finite verb by "tiṅṅ atiṅaḥ" (Pā. 8-1-28). श्रवः (śravaḥ) — formed with asun; initial-udātta by the suffix. सहस्रसातमम् (sahasrasātamam) — sahasraṃ sanute dadāti iti sahasrasāḥ; root ṣaṇu dāne; ṣ → s by "dhātvādeḥ ṣaḥ saḥ"; viṭ after jana, sana, khana, krama, gam in the Veda (Pā. 3-2-67); the ā substituted for the nasal (Pā. 6-4-41); the whole viṭ dropped; sahasra + sā; final-udātta by the root accent, and after compounding the second member's accent stands by "gati-kāraka-upapadāt kṛt" (Pā. 6-2-139); then tamap in the sense of excess by "atiśāyane tamabiṣṭhanau" (Pā. 5-3-55), pit and so unaccented. रथिनीः (rathinīḥ) — rathāḥ āsāṃ santi; ini by "ata iniṭhanau" (Pā. 5-2-115); a of ratha dropped by "yasyeti ca" (Pā. 6-4-148); ini is initial-udātta by the suffix accent; the stem rathin ends in n; the feminine ṅīp after ṛ- and n-ending stems (Pā. 4-1-5, "ṛnnebhyo ṅīp"); ṅīp is pit, so unaccented. इषः (iṣaḥ) — if taken in its component sense, the root accent stands (i udātta); if taken as a settled word, the stem accent applies.

॥८॥

---

Page 372 — Sūkta 9, Rik 9

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

वसो॒रिन्द्रं॑ वसु॑पतिं गी॒र्भिर्गृ॑णन्त॑ ऋ॒ग्मिय॑म् । होम॒ गन्ता॑रमू॒तये॑ ॥९॥

vasor índraṃ vásupatiṃ gīrbhír gṛṇánta ṛgmíyaṃ | homa gántāram ūtáye ||9||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

वसोः । इन्द्रम् । वसुऽपतिम् । गीःऽभिः । गृणन्तः । ऋग्मियम् ॥ होम । गन्तारम् । ऊतये ॥९॥

vasoḥ | indram | vasu-patim | gīḥ-bhiḥ | gṛṇantaḥ | ṛgmiyam || homa | gantāram | ūtaye ||9||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

वसोर्वसुनो ऽस्मदीयस्य धनस्योतये रक्षार्थमिन्द्रं होम । वयमाह्वयामः । किं कुर्वन्तः । गीर्भिः स्तुतिभिर्गृणन्तः स्तुवन्तः । कीदृशमिन्द्रम् । वसुपतिं धनपालकं ऋग्मियं ऋचां मातारं गन्तारं यागदेशे गमनशीलम् ॥ वसोः । वस निवासे । शृस्वृस्निहीत्यादिना । उ १-११ । उप्रत्ययः । निदित्यनुवृत्तेर्नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । वसुपतिम् । समासान्तोदात्तत्वे प्राप्ते पत्यावैश्वर्ये । पा. ६-२-१८ । इति पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् । गीर्भिः । सावेकाच इति विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वम् । गृणन्तः । गॄ शब्दे । लटः शतृ । क्र्यादिभ्यः श्ना । पा. ३-१-८१ । शतुः सार्वधातुकमपिदिति ङित्त्वात् श्नाभ्यस्तयोरातः । पा. ६-४-११२ । इत्याकारलोपः । शतुरकारस्य प्रत्ययस्वरेणोदात्तत्वम् । ऋग्मियम् । ऋचो मिमित [sic: मिमीते] इत्यृग्मीः । तमृग्मियं । माङ् माने शब्दे च । क्विप्चेति क्विप् । घुमास्थेत्यादिना । पा. ६-४-६६ । ईत्त्वं । चकारस्य चोः कुः । झलां जशो ऽन्ते । पा. ८-२-३९ । इति जश्त्वं । गकारः । द्वितीयैकवचने ऽचि श्नुधात्वित्यादिना । पा. ६-४-७७ । इयङादेशः । एरनेकाच इति यणादेशः । पा. ६-४-८२ । सर्वे विधयश्छन्दसि विकल्प्यन्त इति न भवति । कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरेणेकार उदात्तः । होम । आह्वयामः । ह्वेञ् स्पर्धायां शब्दे च । लट् । तस्यास्मदो बहुत्वे ऽपि व्यत्ययेन मिप् । इकारस्य व्यत्ययेनाकारः । शपो बहुलं छन्दसीति लुक् । बहुलं छन्दसि । पा. ६-१-३४ । इति ह्वः संप्रसारणं परपूर्वत्वं गुणः । धातोः । पा. ६-१-१६२ । इत्योकार उदात्तः । मिपः पित्स्वरेणानुदात्तत्वम् । गन्तारम् । गम्लृ सृप्लृ गतौ । ताच्छील्ये तृन् । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । ऊतये । ऊतियूतीत्यादिना क्तिन्नुदात्तो निपातितः ॥

vasorvasuno 'smadīyasya dhanasyotaye rakṣārthamindraṃ homa | vayamāhvayāmaḥ | kiṃ kurvantaḥ | gīrbhiḥ stutibhirgṛṇantaḥ stuvantaḥ | kīdṛśamindram | vasupatiṃ dhanapālakaṃ ṛgmiyaṃ ṛcāṃ mātāraṃ gantāraṃ yāgadeśe gamanaśīlam || vasoḥ | vasa nivāse | śṛsvṛsnihītyādinā | u 1-11 | upratyayaḥ | nidityanuvṛtternittvādādyudāttaḥ | vasupatim | samāsāntodāttatve prāpte

patyāvaiśvarye | pā. 6-2-18 | iti pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvam | gīrbhiḥ | sāvekāca iti vibhakterudāttatvam | gṛṇantaḥ | gṝ śabde | laṭaḥ śatṛ | kryādibhyaḥ śnā | pā. 3-1-81 | śatuḥ sārvadhātukamapiditi ṅittvāt śnābhyastayorātaḥ | pā. 6-4-112 | ityākāralopaḥ | śaturakārasya pratyayasvareṇodāttatvam | ṛgmiyam | ṛco mimita [sic: mimīte] ityṛgmīḥ | tamṛgmiyaṃ | māṅ māne śabde ca | kvipceti kvip | ghumāsthetyādinā | pā. 6-4-66 | ittvaṃ | cakārasya coḥ kuḥ | jhalāṃ jaśo 'nte | pā. 8-2-39 | iti jaśtvaṃ | gakāraḥ | dvitīyaikavacane 'ci śnudhātvityādinā | pā. 6-4-77 | iyaṅādeśaḥ | eranekāca iti yaṇādeśaḥ | pā. 6-4-82 | sarve vidhayaśchandasi vikalpyanta iti na bhavati | kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvareṇekāra udāttaḥ | homa | āhvayāmaḥ | hveñ spardhāyāṃ śabde ca | laṭ | tasyāsmado bahutve 'pi vyatyayena mip | ikārasya vyatyayenākāraḥ | śapo bahulaṃ chandasīti luk | bahulaṃ chandasi | pā. 6-1-34 | iti hvaḥ saṃprasāraṇaṃ parapūrvatvaṃ guṇaḥ | dhātoḥ | pā. 6-1-162 | ityokāra udāttaḥ | mipaḥ pitsvareṇānudāttatvam | gantāram | gamlṛ sṛplṛ gatau | tācchīlye tṛn | nittvādādyudāttaḥ | ūtaye | ūtiyūtītyādinā ktinnudātto nipātitaḥ ||

Translation: "For the ūtaye — the protection — of our vasu, our wealth, we call (homa) Indra. What are we doing? Gīrbhiḥ gṛṇantaḥ — praising with hymns. What kind of Indra? Vasupatim — the guardian of wealth; ṛgmiyam — the measurer (mātṛ) of the ṛks; gantāram — the one who is in the habit of going to the place of sacrifice." (Grammar, noted briefly: vasoḥ* — root* vasa nivāse with the suffix u (Uṇ. 1-11); vasupatim — the first-member accent by Pā. 6-2-18 when pati means 'lord'; gṛṇantaḥ — root gṝ śabde, śatṛ with śnā, the ā of śnā dropped before the śatṛ since it is treated as ṅit; ṛgmiyam — 'one who measures the ṛks' (ṛco mimīte): root māṅ māne śabde ca with kvip, the ī by Pā. 6-4-66, the voicing of the final consonant (Pā. 8-2-39); before the accusative ending the iyaṅ substitute (Pā. 6-4-77), not the yaṇ of Pā. 6-4-82; the i udātta by the second-member accent; homa — root hveñ with the first-person plural mip by Vedic exchange, śap dropped, the saṃprasāraṇa of hve (Pā. 6-1-34), giving homa, the o udātta by dhātoḥ (Pā. 6-1-162); gantāram — root gamlṛ with tṛn in the sense of habit, initial-udātta since nit; ūtaye — the ktin of ūti, udātta by the irregular formation.)"

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

वसोः (vasoḥ) — (our) wealth's | ऊतये (ūtaye) — for protection | वसुपतिम् (vasupatim) — the lord of wealth and splendour | ऋग्मियम् (ṛgmiyam) — worthy of being praised by ṛks | गन्तारम् (gantāram) — one who goes to the sacrificial ground (for the protection of the sacrificer) | इन्द्रम् (indram) — Indra | गीर्भिः (gīrbhiḥ) — with hymns in the form of speech | गृणन्तः (gṛṇantaḥ) — praising | होम (homa) — we call.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

Indra is the lord of wealth and splendour; he is worthy of being praised with ṛks (Vedic mantras); he goes to the sacrificial ground and protects the sacrificers and others. We call such an Indra with hymns for the protection of our wealth.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

Praising with songs we invoke Indra, the lord of riches, who deserves to be praised and who goes (to protect his worshipper).

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

"Vasupatim" — vasu is wealth, pati is lord; the lord of wealth, the master of wealth. Although the word vasoḥ is already in this rik, the word vasupatim is used again — would there not then be a fault of repetition? No: such usages are found especially often in the Ṛgveda. When using a customary (settled) group of words, one need not attend to whether it is faulty by repetition or contrary to the rules of grammar. Because everyone uses what is settled in usage, its use is regarded as right; for the rules of grammar and the like are composed following the established practice of the language. The root of grammar is language, not the root of language grammar. Such usages with repetition are needed in the Ṛgveda in plenty. We give a couple of examples:

ऊर्व इव पप्रथे कामो अस्मे तमा पृण वसुपते वसूनाम् ॥ ūrva iva paprathe kāmo asme tam ā pṛṇa vasupate vasūnām || (ऋ. सं. ३-३०-१९ — Ṛgveda Saṃhitā 3-30-19) ("As if like an expanse my desire has spread [for me]; fill it, O lord of riches, of the riches." — mine and tentative.)

आ तू भर माकिरेतत्परिष्ठाद्विद्मा हि त्वा वसुपतिं वसूनाम् ॥ ā tū bhara mākir etat pariṣṭhād vidmā hi tvā vasupatiṃ vasūnām || (ऋ. सं. ३-३६-९ — Ṛgveda Saṃhitā 3-36-9) ("Bring [it] now; let none hinder this; for we know you as lord of riches of riches." — mine and tentative.)

Page 374 — Rik 9: Special Topics (continued) and grammar

(The page opens with the end of the second quoted rik from p. 373, and a third:)

सत्राभवो वसुपतिर्वसूनां दत्रे विश्वा अधिथा इन्द्र कृष्टीः ॥ satrābhavo vasupatir vasūnāṃ datre viśvā adhithā indra kṛṣṭīḥ || (ऋ. सं. ४-१७-६ — Ṛgveda Saṃhitā 4-17-6) ("You were the lord of riches, of riches in giving; you held all the peoples, O Indra." — mine and tentative.)

"...and so on." All these riks are addressed to Indra. So it may be said that calling Indra vasupati is an established usage.

"Ṛgmiyam" — ऋचो मिमीत इत्यृग्मियः । ऋचां मातारम् (ṛco mimīta ity ṛgmiyaḥ | ṛcāṃ mātāram) — "one who measures the ṛks is ṛgmiya; the 'maker' of the ṛks": the Bhāṣyakāra explains it as "one who is praised by ṛks," i.e., one who is hymned. Skandasvāmī: ऋग्मियं । ऋचि स्तुतौ । अर्चना ऋक् । संपदादित्वात् क्विप् । तद्वन्तं स्तुतियोग्यमित्यर्थः (ṛgmiyaṃ | ṛci stutau | arcanā ṛk | saṃpadāditvāt kvip | tadvantaṃ stuti-yogyam ity arthaḥ) — "ṛgmiya: [root] ṛc in the sense of praise; ṛk is worship (arcanā), with kvip as it belongs to the saṃpadādi group; [the one] possessed of it, that is, worthy of praise." That is, ṛgmiya means "worthy of being praised." Veṅkaṭamādhava says ṛgarham — "worthy of ṛks," that is, worthy of being praised with ṛks.

"Homa" — āhvayāmaḥ, "we invoke, we call." The word is the first-person plural laṭ of the root hveñ spardhāyāṃ śabde ca. For its derivation see the grammar section.

“Gantāram” — the accusative singular of the ṛ-ending word gantṛ. The meaning is “one who goes.” Where does he go? The Bhāṣyakāra says to supply the words यागदेशे गमनशीलम् (yāgadeśe gamanaśīlam) — “in the habit of going to the place of sacrifice” — to make the sense: one who goes to the sacrificial ground to protect the sacrificer.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 374–376, noted briefly)

वसोः (vasoḥ) — root vasa nivāse; the Uṇādi sūtra “śṝ-svṛ-snihi-trapy-asi-vasi-hani-klidi-bandhi-manibhyaś ca” (Uṇ. 1-10) gives the suffix u after the roots śṝ hiṃsāyām, svṛ śabdopatāpayoḥ, ṣṇiha upatāpe [as printed], trapūṣ lajjāyām, asu kṣepaṇe, vasa nivāse, hana hiṃsāgatyoḥ, klidū ārdrībhāve, bandha bandhane, mana jñāne; the suffix is nit, so vasu is initial-udātta. वसुपतिम् (vasupatim) — compound accent: by “samāsasya” (Pā. 6-1-223) final-udātta would be expected; this is set aside by “patyāv aiśvarye” (Pā. 6-1-18 [as printed]; the bhāṣya on p. 372 prints 6-2-18) — when pati in the sense of lordship is the second member, the first member keeps its natural accent. गीर्भिः (gīrbhiḥ) — “sāvekācas tṛtīyādir vibhaktiḥ” (Pā. 6-1-168): the case ending is udātta. गृणन्तः (gṛṇantaḥ) — root gṝ śabde (“to sound; praise”) with laṭ, replaced by śatṛ by “laṭaḥ śatṛśānacau” (Pā. 3-2-124); śnā after the kryādi class (Pā. 3-1-81); the root vowel shortened by “pvādīnāṃ hrasvaḥ” (Pā. 7-3-80); śatṛ, being apit, is ṅit by “sārvadhātukam apit” (Pā. 1-2-4), so the ā of śnā is dropped by “śnābhyastayor ātaḥ” (Pā. 6-4-112); the n of śnā becomes ṇ by the vārttika “ṛvarṇān nasya ṇatvaṃ vācyam” (vārttika 8-4-1); num before jas by “ugidacāṃ sarvanāmasthāne ’dhātoḥ” (Pā. 7-1-70); the suffix-accent makes the a of śatṛ udātta. ऋग्मियम् (ṛgmiyam) — “ṛco mimīte”: root māṅ māne śabde ca + kvip by “kvip ca” (Pā. 3-2-76); by “ghumāsthāgāpājahātisāṃ hali” (Pā. 7-4-66 [as printed]; the bhāṣya on p. 372 prints 6-4-66) the ā → ī; “ver apṛktasya” (Pā. 6-1-67) removes the v — with a discussion of antaraṅga and bahiraṅga (paribhāṣā 50, “asiddhaṃ bahiraṅgam antaraṅge”), sthānivad ādeśo ’nalvidhau (Pā. 1-1-56) and “varṇāśraye nāsti pratyayalakṣaṇam” (paribhāṣā 21), concluding that in Vedic usage sthānivadbhāva sometimes applies even in an al-rule; c → k by “coḥ kuḥ” (Pā. 8-2-30) and k → g by “jhalāṃ jaśo ’nte” (Pā. 8-2-39); accusative singular am; the ī before the vowel becomes iy (iyaṅ, “aci śnudhātubhruvāṃ yvor iyaṅuvaṅau”, Pā. 6-4-77), with a discussion of the rule “er anekāco ’saṃyogapūrvasya” (Pā. 6-4-82) (yaṇ for the final i/ī of a root of more than one syllable) and why it does not arise here (by “sarve vidhayaś chandasi vikalpyante”, paribhāṣā 35); finally “gati-kāraka-upapadāt kṛt” (Pā. 6-2-139) gives the ī-syllable the udātta. होम (homa) — root hveñ spardhāyāṃ śabde ca; laṭ first plural mas, replaced by mip by Vedic inversion; i of mip → a; śap dropped by bahulaṃ chandasi (Pā. 2-4-73); saṃprasāraṇa of hve by the “bahulaṃ chandasi” (Pā. 6-1-34) that follows “hvaḥ saṃprasāraṇam” (Pā. 6-1-32); pūrvarūpa by “saṃprasāraṇāc ca” (Pā. 6-1-108) and guṇa by “sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ” (Pā. 7-3-84) give homa; the o is udātta by “dhātoḥ” (Pā. 6-1-162); mip is pit, so the ma is unaccented. गन्तारम् (gantāram) — root gamlṛ sṛplṛ gatau with tṛn in the sense of habitual action (Pā. 3-2-135); nit, initial-udātta. ऊतये (ūtaye) — the irregular ktin of “ūtiyūtijūti…” (Pā. 3-3-97), udātta.

॥९॥

Page 376 — Sūkta 9, Rik 10 (the last)

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

सुतेसुते न्योकसे बृहद्बृहत एदरिः । इन्द्राय शूषमर्चति ॥१०॥

suté-sute nyokase bṛhád bṛhatá ed aríḥ | índrāya śūṣám arcati ||10||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

सुतेऽसुते । निऽओकसे । बृहत् । बृहते । आ । इत् । अरिः ॥ इन्द्राय । शूषम् । अर्चति ॥१०॥

sute-sute | ni-okase | bṛhat | bṛhate | ā | it | ariḥ || indrāya | śūṣam | arcati ||10||

(The pada text prints सुतेसुते with an avagraha between the halves, as one repeated word.)

Page 377 — Rik 10: Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya, word-meanings, overall sense

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

आकार इच्छब्दश्च पादपूरणौ । यद्वा । व्याप्तिवचन आकारः । आङीषदर्थे ऽभिव्याप्तौ । अमु. ३-४-३२ । इत्यभिधानात् । इच्छब्दो ऽपिशब्दार्थः । इयर्ति गच्छत्यनुष्ठेयं कर्म प्राप्नोतीत्यरिर्यजमानः । एदरिः सर्वो ऽपि यजमान इन्द्राय सुते सुत इन्द्रार्थमभिषुते तत्र तत्र सोमे शूषं बलमर्चति स्तौति । इन्द्रस्य पराक्रमं प्रशंसतीत्यर्थः । कीदृशं शूषम् । बृहत् प्रौढम् । कीदृशायेन्द्राय । न्योकसे नियतस्थानाय बृहते प्रौढाय ॥ सुते सुते । षुञ् अभिषवे । क्तप्रत्ययः । प्रत्ययस्वरेणोदात्तः । नित्यवीप्सयोरिति वीप्सायां द्विर्भावः । तस्य परमाम्रेडितमिति द्वितीयस्याम्रेडितत्वेनानुदात्तं च । पा. ८-१-३ । इत्यनुदात्तत्वम् । न्योकसे । नियतमोको यस्य तस्मै । निशब्दो निपाता आद्युदात्ता इत्युदात्तः । तस्य यणादेश उदात्तस्वरितयोर्यणः स्वरितो ऽनुदात्तस्य । पा. ८-२-४ । इत्योकारः स्वरितः । बृहते । बृहन्महतोरुपसंख्यानम् । पा. ६-१-१७३-१ । इत्यजादिविभक्तेरुदात्तत्वम् । अरिः । ऋ गतौ । अच इः । उ. ४-१३८ । इतीकारप्रत्ययः । गुणो रपरत्वम् । प्रत्ययस्वरेणेकार उदात्तः । इन्द्राय । ऋज्रेन्द्रेत्यादिना रन्प्रत्यय इकार उदात्तः । शूषम् । प्रातिपदिकस्वरः । अर्चति । निघातस्वरः ॥ १८ ॥

ākāra icchabdaśca pādapūraṇau | yadvā | vyāptivacana ākāraḥ | āṅīṣadarthe 'bhivyāptau | amu. 3-4-32 | ityabhidhānāt | icchabdo 'piśabdārthaḥ | iyarti gacchatyanuṣṭheyaṃ karma prāpnotītyariryajamānaḥ | edariḥ sarvo 'pi yajamāna indrāya sute suta indrārthamabhiṣute tatra tatra some śūṣaṃ balamarcati stauti | indrasya parākramaṃ praśaṃsatītyarthaḥ | kīdṛśaṃ śūṣam | bṛhat prauḍham | kīdṛśāyendrāya | nyokase niyatasthānāya bṛhate prauḍhāya || sute sute | ṣuñ abhiṣave | ktapratyayaḥ | pratyayasvareṇodāttaḥ | nityavīpsayoriti vīpsāyāṃ dvirbhāvaḥ | tasya paramāmreḍitamiti dvitīyasyāmreḍitatvenānudāttaṃ ca | pā. 8-1-3 | ityanudāttatvam | nyokase | niyatamoko yasya tasmai | niśabdo nipātā ādyudāttā ityudāttaḥ | tasya yaṇādeśa udāttasvaritayoryaṇaḥ svarito 'nudāttasya | pā. 8-2-4 | ityokāraḥ svaritaḥ | bṛhate | bṛhanmahatorupasaṃkhyānam | pā. 6-1-173-1 | ityajādivibhakterudāttatvam | ariḥ | ṛ gatau | aca iḥ | u. 4-138 | itīkārapratyayaḥ | guṇo raparatvam | pratyayasvareṇekāra udāttaḥ | indrāya | ṛjrendretyādinā ranpratyaya ikāra udāttaḥ | śūṣam | prātipadikasvaraḥ | arcati | nighātasvaraḥ || 18 ||

Translation: "The syllable ā and the word it are pāda-fillers. Or: the ā has the sense of 'pervading', according to the statement [of the Amarakośa], 'āṅ in the sense of "a little" and of "pervading"' (Amara 3-4-32); the word it has the sense of api ('also'). Ariḥ is the sacrificer: 'he who goes (iyarti) — attains — the rite to be performed.' Ed ariḥ: every sacrificer, sute-sute, in each Soma that is pressed for Indra's sake, arcati — praises — śūṣam, [his] strength, that is, extols Indra's prowess. What kind of śūṣa? Bṛhat — vast. For what kind of Indra? Nyokase — one whose dwelling is fixed; bṛhate — great."

(Grammar, noted briefly: sute-sute — root ṣuñ abhiṣave with kta*, udātta by the suffix; doubled in the distributive sense ("nityavīpsayoḥ"), the second, as* āmreḍita*, unaccented (Pā. 8-1-3);* nyokase — "he whose abode (okas) is fixed"; the particle ni initial-udātta; with yaṇ*, the* o becomes svarita (Pā. 8-2-4); bṛhate — the case ending udātta by the upasaṃkhyāna "bṛhanmahatoḥ" (Pā. 6-1-173, vārttika 1); ariḥ — root ṛ gatau with i (Uṇ. 4-138), guṇa and r*, the* i udātta; indrāya — the suffix ran (by "ṛjrendra…"), the i udātta; śūṣam — stem accent; arcati — unaccented as a finite verb. The bhāṣya ends "॥ ९८ ॥", the close of the eighteenth varga.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

अरिः (ariḥ) — the sacrificer who performs the rite, or who offers praise | न्योकसे (nyokase) — to the one who dwells in his appointed place | बृहते (bṛhate) — mighty, of great capacity | इन्द्राय (indrāya) — for Indra | सुतेसुते (sute-sute) — in each pressing, for Indra, of the Soma-juice prepared | बृहत् (bṛhat) — vast | शूषम् (śūṣam) — (Indra's) strength (power of capacity) | आ अर्चति इत् (ā arcati it) — praises indeed.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

The strength, or capacity, of Indra is exceedingly great. The sacrificer who performs the rite praises with hymns and the like, in each pressing — the morning pressing and the other two — Indra's strength and capacities, and calls him.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> The sacrificer glorifies the vast prowess of Indra, the mighty, the dweller in his permanent abode in every rite where soma is prepared.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

In this rik, although a third-person verb has been used — "the sacrificer praises Indra" — the poet indirectly states the sense of a first-person usage: "I praise Indra."

"Sute sute" — "at each pressing." By "nityavīpsayoḥ" (no number printed) a word is doubled to show "each one." Using a single word twice to convey "each" is established usage in the Ṛgveda and in other texts: bhare-bhare, have-have, aharahaḥ, etc. Sute-sute means "in the rite of each pressing, and in each rite where Soma-juice is drawn."

"Nyokase" — ni + okase. Here ni is a prefix (upasarga). The word okaḥ, ending in s, means a dwelling, one's own place, a place where one always lives: permanent dwelling, abode, etc. [the source's own English]. For the word divaukasaḥ — "those who dwell in heaven," as their own place — means "gods." Similarly in ni-okase = nyokase, the ni is a particle (upasarga), here meaning "fixed." So nyokase means "one whose place is fixed."

"Ā it" — these words have no necessary meaning in this rik; they are used for filling out the pāda. Or the Bhāṣyakāra's view is that the word ā may be given the sense of api ("also").

"Bṛhate" — महते, महतः शरीरेण वीर्येण वा (mahate, mahataḥ śarīreṇa vīryeṇa vā) — "great — great in body or in valour"; that is, great in body and also in prowess.

"Ariḥ" — ऋ गतौ । इयर्ति गच्छतीत्यनुष्ठेयं कर्म प्राप्नोतीत्यरिर्यजमानः (ṛ gatau | iyarti gacchatīty anuṣṭheyaṃ karma prāpnotīty arir yajamānaḥ) — the root ṛ means "to go, to attain": the one who attains the rite to be performed, i.e., one who performs the rite, the sacrificer.

"Śūṣam" — strength, capacity. Among the twenty-eight words for strength beginning with ojaḥ, pājaḥ, the word śūṣam is read (Nirukta 2-9). Indra's powers, valour, glory, and so on. Although śūṣa has this sense, when the word is used with Indra in view, the sense "hymn" (stotra) generally fits best. A few examples are given on this point:

Page 379 — Rik 10: Special Topics (continued) and grammar

> प्र मन्महे शवसानाय शूषमाङ्गूषं गिर्वणसे अङ्गिरस्वत् । pra manmahe śavasānāya śūṣam āṅgūṣaṃ girvaṇase aṅgirasvat | (ऋ. सं. १-६२-१ — Ṛgveda Saṃhitā 1-62-1) ("We offer a hymn — a śūṣa, an āṅgūṣa — to the powerful one, the hymn-loving, as the Aṅgirases did." — mine and tentative.)
>
> इनम् महे विदथ्याय शूषं शश्वत्कृत्व ईड्याय प्र जभ्रुः । inam mahe vidathyāya śūṣaṃ śaśvat-kṛtva īḍyāya pra jabhruḥ | (ऋ. सं. ३-५४-१ — Ṛgveda Saṃhitā 3-54-1) ("To the great lord, worthy of the assembly, worthy of praise, they have brought a hymn, perpetually acting." — mine and tentative.)
>
> उप व एषे वन्द्येभिः शूषैः प्र यह्वी दिवश्चितयद्भिरर्कैः । upa va eṣe vandyebhiḥ śūṣaiḥ pra yahvī divaś citayadbhir arkaiḥ | (ऋ. सं. ५-४१-६ — Ṛgveda Saṃhitā 5-41-6) ("I approach you with praiseworthy hymns, with hymns that make [the heavens] shine." — mine and tentative.)
>
> आ यं पृणन्ति हरिभिर्न धेनव इन्द्राय शूषं हरिवन्तमर्चत ॥ ā yaṃ pṛṇanti haribhir na dhenava indrāya śūṣaṃ harivantam arcata || (ऋ. सं. १०-९६-२ — Ṛgveda Saṃhitā 10-96-2) ("…whom [the hymns] fill as milch-cows [fill a calf]; sing a hymn to Indra, the lord of bay horses." — mine and tentative.)

Many more examples could be given.

"Arcati" — arcati is read among the forty-four verbs [roots] of the sense "to worship, praise," beginning with arcati, gāyati (Nirukta 3-19); so arcati means gāyati, stauti — "he praises, he extols."

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 379–380, noted briefly)

सुतेसुते (sute-sute) — root ṣuñ abhiṣave (“to press”) + kta; initial/final-udātta by the suffix; locative singular ṅi → e; doubling by “nityavīpsayoḥ” (Pā. 8-1-4); for the second member the technical name āmreḍita arises (“tasya paramāmreḍitam,” Pā. 8-1-2), and “anudāttaṃ ca” (8-1-3, printed “va. sū.” [sic]) makes it unaccented. न्योकसे (nyokase) — “niyatam okaḥ yasya”: ni is a nipāta, initial-udātta by “nipātā ādyudāttāḥ” (Phiṭ-sūtra 80); the udātta i is replaced by y (“iko yaṇ aci,” Pā. 6-4-77 [as printed]), and the o after the udātta y is svarita by “udāttasvaritayor yaṇaḥ svarito ’nudāttasya” (Pā. 8-2-4). बृहते (bṛhate) — “bṛhan-mahator upasaṃkhyānam” (Pā. 6-1-173, vārttika 1): after bṛhat and mahat the case-ending that has nadī status (and the vowel-initial endings) is udātta; so the e in bṛhate is udātta; although the sūtra “vartamāne pṛṣad-bṛhan-mahaj-jagac-chatṛvac ca” (Uṇ. 2-2-42 [?], as printed in three parts) says śatṛvat (treated like śatṛ), by which “śatur anumo nadyajādī” (Pā. 6-1-173) would already give the udātta, a vārttika is needed to fix the rule so that it applies only after bṛhat and mahat and not after pṛṣat and jagat; hence “bṛhan-mahator upasaṃkhyānam” is necessary. अरिः (ariḥ) — root ṛ gatau + the suffix i by “aca iḥ” (Uṇ. 4-578 [as printed]; the bhāṣya on p. 377 prints 4-138); guṇa by “sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ” (Pā. 7-3-84) and raparatva by “uraṇ raparaḥ” (Pā. 1-1-51); ari is final-udātta by the suffix. इन्द्राय (indrāya) — ran by “ṛjrendrāgra-vajra…” (Uṇ. 2-186); the suffix is nit, so initial-udātta. शूषम् (śūṣam) — base accent by the Phiṭ-sūtra “phiṣaḥ” (Phiṭ 1). अर्चति (arcati) — wholly unaccented as a finite verb by “tiṅṅ atiṅaḥ” (Pā. 8-1-28).

॥१०॥

इति नवमं सूक्तं समाप्तम् । iti navamaṃ sūktaṃ samāptam | “Thus the ninth sūkta is completed.” (Printed in Sanskrit at the end of the grammar, p. 380.)

End of Sūkta 9. (The same page, 380, then opens the tenth sūkta, “gāyanti tvā gāyatriṇaḥ”, with its application note; its heading, with the varga numerals and Rik 1 text, is on p. 381.)

---

Page 380 (lower half) — opening of Sūkta 10 (third anuvāka)

॥ ಹತ್ತನೆಯ ಸೂಕ್ತವು ॥ — Sūkta 10 — “gāyanti tvā gāyatriṇaḥ” (“The Tenth Sūkta”)

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥ (introductory note on the application of the sūkta)

> गायन्तीति सूक्तस्य मन्त्रसंख्या छन्दोविशेषश्चैवमनुक्रम्यते । गायन्ति द्वादशानुष्टुभं त्विति । तुहिहवेत्यादिपरिभाषायाम् । अनु १२-३ । तुशब्दस्य सूक्तद्वये परिभाषितत्वादस्य सूक्तस्य वक्ष्यमाणस्य चानुष्टुभत्वं द्रष्टव्यम् । ऋषिदेवते पूर्ववत् । अभिप्लवषडहस्योक्थ्येषु तृतीयसवने ऽच्छावाकस्य गायन्तीति स्तोत्रियस्तृचः । एह्यूष्विति खण्डे गायन्ति त्वा गायत्रिण आ त्वा गिरो रथीरिव । आ. ७-८ । इति सूत्रितम् ॥
>
> gāyantīti sūktasya mantrasaṃkhyā chandoviśeṣaścaivamanukramyate | gāyanti dvādaśānuṣṭubhaṃ tviti | tuhihavetyādiparibhāṣāyām | anu 12-3 | tuśabdasya sūktadvaye paribhāṣitatvādasya sūktasya vakṣyamāṇasya cānuṣṭubhatvaṃ draṣṭavyam | ṛṣidevate pūrvavat | abhiplavaṣaḍahasyokthyeṣu tṛtīyasavane

'cchāvākasya gāyantīti stotriyastṛcaḥ | ehyūṣviti khaṇḍe gāyanti tvā gāyatriṇa ā tvā giro rathīriva | ā. 7-8 | iti sūtritam ||

Translation: "The number of mantras and the special meter of the sūkta gāyanti are laid down in the Anukramaṇī thus: 'gāyanti dvādaśānuṣṭubhaṃ tv iti' ("gāyanti: twelve, in Anuṣṭubh — tu"); and by the rule beginning tuhihava in the Paribhāṣā (Anukramaṇī 12-3), since the word tu is declared to apply to two sūktas, this sūkta and the next are both to be understood as Anuṣṭubh. Ṛṣi and deity are as before. Its special application: in the ukthya [rites] of the Abhiplava Ṣaḍaha, in the third pressing, the opening triplet (stotriya) of the Acchāvāka is gāyanti. In the section ehy ū ṣu it is laid down: 'gāyanti tvā gāyatriṇaḥ, ā tvā giro rathīr iva' (Āśvalāyana 7-8)."

॥ Anuvāda (Kannada rendering) ॥ The mantra-count and the meter of the sūkta gāyanti tvā are given in the Sūkta-anukramaṇī as "gāyanti dvādaśānuṣṭubhaṃ tv iti" — twelve riks, in the Anuṣṭubh meter (Anu. 12-3). Here the word tu [in the Paribhāṣā] is used so as to make known that this sūkta and the next share the same meter, Anuṣṭubh, as the two sūktas it governs. The ṛṣi and deity of this sūkta are as in the previous sūkta. Its application: in the sacrifice called Abhiplava-ṣaḍaha, at the third pressing, when the ukthya mantras are recited, the Acchāvāka priest [recites] the triplet gāyanti, as a stotriya [opening triplet] śastra-mantra. Āśvalāyana says in his Śrauta-sūtra, in the section ehy ū ṣu (Āś. Sū. 7-8), that the riks gāyanti tvā gāyatriṇaḥ (Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-10-1; Sāma 342; 1344) and ā tvā giro rathīr iva (Ṛ. Saṃ. 8-95-1; Sāma 349) are to be recited.

Page 381 — Sūkta 10, Rik 1

॥ Sūkta — 10 ॥ ॥ Maṇḍala — 1 ॥ Anuvāka — 3 ॥ Sūkta — 10 ॥ ॥ Aṣṭaka — 1 ॥ Adhyāya — 1 ॥ Varga — 19, 20 ॥ ॥ Mantras contained in this sūkta: 1–12 ॥ ॥ Ṛṣi — Madhucchandā Vaiśvāmitra ॥ ॥ Devatā — Indra ॥ ॥ Chandaḥ — Anuṣṭubh ॥

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

गायन्ति त्वा गायत्रिणो ऽर्चन्त्यर्कमर्किणः । ब्रह्माणस्त्वा शतक्रत उद्वंशमिव येमिरे ॥१॥

gāyanti tvā gāyatríṇó 'rcanty arkám arkíṇaḥ | brahmāṇas tvā śatakratá ud vaṃśám iva yemire ||1||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

गायन्ति । त्वा । गायत्रिणः । अर्चन्ति । अर्कम् । अर्किणः ॥ ब्रह्माणः । त्वा । शतक्रतो इति शतऽक्रतो । उत् । वंशम्ऽइव । येमिरे ॥१॥

gāyanti | tvā | gāyatriṇaḥ | arcanti | arkam | arkiṇaḥ || brahmāṇaḥ | tvā | śatakrato iti śata-krato | ut | vaṃśam-iva | yemire ||1||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे शतक्रतो बहुकर्मन्बहुप्रज्ञ वेन्द्र त्वां गायत्रिण उद्गातारो गायन्ति । स्तुवन्ति । अर्किणो ऽर्चनहेतुमन्त्रयुक्ता होतारो ऽर्कमर्चनीयमिन्द्रमर्चन्ति । शस्त्रगतैर्मन्त्रैः प्रशंसन्ति । ब्रह्माणो ब्रह्मप्रभृतय इतरे

ब्राह्मणास्त्वामुद्येमिरे । उन्नतिं प्रापयन्ति । तत्र दृष्टान्तः । वंशमिव । यथा वंशाग्रे नृत्यन्तः शिल्पिनः प्रौढं वंशमुत्पन्नं कुर्वन्ति । यथा वा सन्मार्गवर्तिनः स्वकीयं कुलमुन्नतं कुर्वन्ति तद्वत् । एतामृचं यास्क एवं व्याचष्टे । गायन्ति त्वा गायत्रिणः प्रार्चन्ति ते ऽर्कमर्किणो ब्रह्माणस्त्वा शतक्रत उद्येमिरे वंशमिव । वंशो वनशयो भवति वननाच्छ्रयत इति वा । नि. ५-५ । अर्कशब्दं च बहुधा व्याचष्टे । अर्को देवो भवति यदेनमर्चन्त्यर्को मन्त्रो भवति यदेनेनार्चन्त्यर्कमन्नं भवत्यर्चति भूतान्यर्को वृक्षो भवति स वृतः कटुकिम्ना । नि. ५-४ । इति ॥ गायन्ति । शप्निङौ पित्त्वात्सार्वधातुकत्वाच्चानुदात्तौ । धातुरुदात्तः । गायत्रिणः । गायत्रं साम येषामुद्गातृणामस्ति ते । अत इनिठनौ । प्रत्ययस्वरेणेकार उदात्तः । अर्चन्ति । अर्च पूजायाम् । भौवादिकः । शप्निङावनुदात्तौ धातुस्वर एव । पादादित्वान्न निघातः । अर्कम् । अर्चन्त्येभिरित्यर्का मन्त्राः । तैरर्चनीयतया तदात्मक इन्द्रो ऽपि लक्षणयार्कः । पुंसि संज्ञायां घः प्रायेण । पा. ३-३-११८ । इति करणे घः । चजोः कु घिण्ण्यतोः । पा. ७-३-५२ । इति चकारस्य कुत्वम् । ककारः । प्रत्ययस्वरेणान्तोदात्तः । अर्का मन्त्रा एषां सन्तीत्यर्किणो होतारः । एकाक्षरात्कृतो जातेः सप्तम्यां च न तौ स्मृतौ । पा. ५-२-११५-२ । इति कृदन्तादिनिठनौ यद्यपि प्रतिषिद्धौ तथाप्यत्र व्यत्ययादिनिः । प्रत्ययस्वरेणेकार उदात्तः । ब्रह्माणः । प्रातिपदिकस्वरेणान्तोदात्तः । शतक्रतो । निघातः । संहितायामवादेशे लोपः शाकल्यस्य । पा. ८-३-१९ । इति वकारलोपः । वंशशब्दः प्रातिपदिकस्वरेणान्तोदात्तः । इवेन विभक्त्यलोपः पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं च । पा. २-१-४-२ । इति स एव शिष्यते । येमिरे । यम उपरमे । तिङ्ङतिङ इति निघातः ॥

he śatakrato bahukarmanbahuprajña vendra tvāṃ gāyatriṇa udgātāro gāyanti | stuvanti | arkiṇo 'rcanahetumantrayuktā hotāro 'rkamarcanīyamindramarcanti | śastragatairmantraiḥ praśaṃsanti | brahmāṇo brahmaprabhṛtaya itare brāhmaṇāstvāmudyemire | unnatiṃ prāpayanti | tatra dṛṣṭāntaḥ | vaṃśamiva | yathā vaṃśāgre nṛtyantaḥ śilpinaḥ prauḍhaṃ vaṃśamutpannaṃ kurvanti | yathā vā sanmārgavartinaḥ svakīyaṃ kulamunnataṃ kurvanti tadvat | etāmṛcaṃ yāska evaṃ vyācaṣṭe | gāyanti tvā gāyatriṇaḥ prārcanti te 'rkamarkiṇo brahmāṇastvā śatakrata udyemire vaṃśamiva | vaṃśo vanaśayo bhavati vananācchrūyata iti vā | ni. 5-5 | arkaśabdaṃ ca bahudhā vyācaṣṭe | arko devo bhavati yadenamarcantyarko mantro bhavati yadenenārcantyarkamannaṃ bhavatyarcati bhūtānyarko vṛkṣo bhavati sa vṛtaḥ kaṭukimnā | ni. 5-4 | iti || gāyanti | śaptiṅau pittvātsārvadhātukatvāccānudāttau | dhāturudāttaḥ | gāyatriṇaḥ | gāyatraṃ sāma yeṣāmudgātṝṇāmasti te | ata iniṭhanau | pratyayasvareṇekāra udāttaḥ | arcanti | arca pūjāyām | bhauvādikaḥ | śaptiṅāvanudāttau dhātusvara eva | pādāditvānna nighātaḥ | arkam | arcantyebhirityarkā mantrāḥ | tairarcanīyatayā tadātmaka indro 'pi lakṣaṇayārkaḥ | puṃsi saṃjñāyāṃ ghaḥ prāyeṇa | pā. 3-3-118 | iti karaṇe ghaḥ | cajoḥ ku ghiṇṇyatoḥ | pā. 7-3-52 | iti cakārasya kutvam | kakāraḥ | pratyayasvareṇāntodāttaḥ | arkā mantrā eṣāṃ santītyarkiṇo hotāraḥ | ekākṣarātkṛto jāteḥ saptamyāṃ ca na tau smṛtau | pā. 5-2-115-2 | iti kṛdantādiniṭhanau yadyapi pratiṣiddhau tathāpyatra vyatyayādiniḥ | pratyayasvareṇekāra udāttaḥ | brahmāṇaḥ | prātipadikasvareṇāntodāttaḥ | śatakrato | nighātaḥ | saṃhitāyāmavādeśe lopaḥ śākalyasya | pā. 8-3-19 | iti vakāralopaḥ | vaṃśaśabdaḥ prātipadikasvareṇāntodāttaḥ | ivena vibhaktyalopaḥ pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ ca | pā. 2-1-4-2 | iti sa eva śiṣyate | yemire | yama uparame | tiṅṅatiṅa iti nighātaḥ ||

Translation: "O śatakrato — O Indra of many deeds, of much wisdom — the gāyatriṇaḥ, the udgātṛ priests, sing of you (gāyanti): they praise. The arkiṇaḥ, the hotṛ priests, equipped with the mantras that are the means of worship, worship (arcanti) Indra, the arka — the worshipful one: they praise [him] with the mantras of the śastra. The brahmāṇaḥ — Brahmā and the other brāhmaṇas — ud yemire: raise you aloft, they bring about your elevation. The illustration: vaṃśam iva — as craftsmen dancing at the tip of a bamboo pole set the grown bamboo upright, or as those who follow the good path raise their own family high, so [they raise you]. This rik Yāska explains thus: 'gāyanti tvā gāyatriṇaḥ, prārcanti te 'rkam arkiṇaḥ, brahmāṇas tvā śatakrata udyemire vaṃśam iva; a vaṃśa (bamboo) is "that which lies in the forest" (vanaśaya), or "that which is heard of (śrūyate) because of its being enjoyed (vananāt)"' (Nirukta 5-5). And he explains the word arka in many ways: 'arka is a god, because they worship him (arcanti); arka is a mantra, because with it they worship; arka is food, because beings honour it; arka is a tree (vṛkṣa): it is covered with pungency' (Nirukta 5-4)."

(Grammar, noted briefly: gāyanti — the root accent stands, śap and tiṅ being unaccented; gāyatriṇaḥ — "those udgātṛs who have the gāyatra sāman", with ini*, the* i udātta; arcanti — root arca pūjāyām*, root accent, not lowered as first in the pāda;* arkam — "the mantras with which they worship", hence by implication Indra; the suffix gha in the instrumental sense (Pā. 3-3-118), c → k (Pā. 7-3-52), final-udātta; arkiṇaḥ — the hotṛs "who have the arka-mantras", with ini by Vedic exchange though the vārttika (Pā. 5-2-115-2) forbids it after a kṛt stem; brahmāṇaḥ — stem accent; śatakrato — vocative, lowered; the v dropped in the Saṃhitā (Pā. 8-3-19); vaṃśam iva — no loss of the case ending, first-member accent (Pā. 2-1-4-2); yemire — root yama uparame*, lowered as a finite verb.)*

Page 382 — Rik 1: word-meanings, overall sense

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

(हे) शतक्रतो ((he) śatakrato) — O Indra, who perform many daring deeds, or who are of much wisdom | त्वाम् (tvām) — you | गायत्रिणः (gāyatriṇaḥ) — the priests called udgātṛ, singers of the Sāman | गायन्ति (gāyanti) — praise with Sāma-Veda mantras | अर्किणः (arkiṇaḥ) — the priests called hotṛ, who praise with ṛks of the Ṛgveda | अर्कम् (arkam) — Indra, worthy of worship or praise | अर्चन्ति (arcanti) — extol with the śastra mantras | ब्रह्माणः (brahmāṇaḥ) — the other brāhmaṇas, headed by Brahmā | त्वाम् (tvām) — you | वंशम् इव (vaṃśam iva) — like a bamboo | उत् येमिरे (ut yemire) — raise aloft (praise specially).

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Indra! You do many daring deeds or are of much wisdom. In sacrifices and other rites the priests called udgātṛ praise you by singing Sāmans; the priests called hotṛ, who are worthy to be worshipped with the mantras of their own Veda, the Ṛgveda, praise you; Brahmā and the other brāhmaṇas praise you with hymns and the like, as one raises a bamboo aloft, and so increase your fame.

Page 383 — Rik 1: English and Special Topics

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> O Indra, with many daring deeds or great knowledge, the chanters of the Sama sing about you, the reciters of the Riks praise you who are worthy of praise, and the (priests called) Brahmanas raise you aloft like a bamboo pole.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

This rik is found, besides in this sūkta, in the Taittirīya Saṃhitā (1-6-12-2), the Sāma-Veda (342; 1344) and the Nirukta (5-5). The sense of this rik, or the matter stated in it, is almost the same as the sense of the first rik of the seventh sūkta. The sense of the first half (that is, the first and second pādas) is clear, but what is said in the third pāda is somewhat strained. Here the sense of the word brahmāṇaḥ does not fit well. In the sacrificial rite, the three priest-groups — hotṛ, adhvaryu and udgātṛ — need one priest, called brahmā, to see to it that their duties are properly carried out. He must know all three Vedas and the order of performance of the sacrifice. Although he does not take a special part in the actual duties of the rite, he takes care that the sacrifice proceeds properly, and gives permission for the necessary actions of the other priests, so that the sacrifice goes on with all its limbs: he is the supervisor. The Bhāṣyakāra explains the word brahmāṇaḥ as the priests of the brahma class and the other brāhmaṇas. Or, brahma has the sense of "praise (stotra)," and so one may give the word brahmāṇaḥ the sense "those who praise."

The comparison vaṃśam iva in the third pāda is also strained. Vaṃśa is a kind of tree: bamboo, reed. The comparison "like raising [or lifting high] a bamboo" is not well fitted. [The meaning:] those who raise you as one raises a bamboo — that is, they praise you and so increase your fame and renown; by singing of your qualities they provide you with a high station: this may be taken as the poet's idea. Or, since vaṃśa has another meaning — family, lineage — then "as those who raise their family's honour by right conduct, or raise the esteem of the family by special deeds of daring, so [they raise you]": this is the sense one may give. The Bhāṣyakāra gives both of these senses.

Page 384 — Rik 1: Special Topics (continued)

"Gāyatriṇaḥ" — गायत्रं साम येषामुद्गातॄणामस्ति ते (gāyatraṃ sāma yeṣām udgātṝṇām asti te) — "those udgātṛs who have the Gāyatra Sāman": those who sing the Sāman called Gāyatra; or, since many of the mantras sung in the Sāma-Veda are Ṛgveda mantras in the Gāyatrī meter, it is the customary usage to call the udgātṛ priests who sing them gāyatriṇaḥ — "singers of Gāyatrī-meter ṛks."

"Arcanti" — arca pūjāyām — the root arc: to worship; that is, to praise.

"Arkam" — अर्चन्त्येभिरित्यर्काः मन्त्राः (arcanty ebhir ity arkāḥ mantrāḥ) — "those with which they worship are arkas, the mantras": since they are used for praising, mantras are called arkas. Here arkam means Indra, who is praised by such arkas or mantras.

For this rik the sage Yāska has given, in his Nirukta, an explanation in this manner:

> अर्कः ॥ अर्को देवो भवति यदेनमर्चन्ति ॥ अर्को मन्त्रो भवति यदेनेनार्चन्ति ॥ अर्कमन्नं भवत्यर्चति भूतानि ॥ अर्को वृक्षो भवति संवृत्तः कटुकिम्ना ॥ arkaḥ || arko devo bhavati yad enam arcanti || arko mantro bhavati yad anenārcanti || arkam annaṃ bhavaty arcati

bhūtāni || arko vṛkṣo bhavati saṃvṛttaḥ kaṭukimnā || (No reference is printed with this block; the bhāṣya on p. 382 cites it as Ni. 5-4, reading sa vṛtaḥ.)

Four different senses of the word arka are stated:

Devaḥ — तावत्सर्व एवार्क इत्युच्यते यत्-यस्मात् एनं-देवम् अर्चन्ति स्तोतारः (tāvat sarva evārka ity ucyate yat-yasmāt enaṃ-devam arcanti stotāraḥ) — "first, every [god] is called arka, because (yat = yasmāt) the praisers worship him (enam = the god)" — arka is the god; for the worshippers, using this word, say "arka" of whom they worship. That is, the deity worshipped by the devotees is called arka.

अर्को मन्त्रो भवति — यत्-यस्मात्, अनेन-मन्त्रेण, अर्चन्ति स्तोतारः तस्मादर्कः (arko mantro bhavati — yat-yasmāt, anena-mantreṇa, arcanti stotāraḥ tasmād arkaḥ) — "arka is a mantra, because with it (= the mantra) the praisers worship; therefore arka"; those who praise worship the deity with this (the arka, or mantra); hence arka means "mantra."

अर्कमन्नं भवति — तद्धि अर्चति भूतानि, यो हि पूज्यः तस्यान्नमपि संस्कारविशेषेण संस्कृतं पूजायां क्रियते, पूज्यं च सर्वस्यैवान्नम् (arkam annaṃ bhavati — tad dhi arcati bhūtāni, yo hi pūjyaḥ tasyānnam api saṃskāra-viśeṣeṇa saṃskṛtaṃ pūjāyāṃ kriyate, pūjyaṃ ca sarvasyaivānnam) — "arka is food, for it honours (sustains) beings; for whoever is worthy of honour, his food too is prepared with special care and used in worship; and food is honoured by everyone": food (āhāra) is necessary to all living beings, and everyone honours and seeks it with respect and love; so arka also means food.

अर्को वृक्षो भवति य एष प्रसिद्धः । संवृत्तः हि संगतः संव्याप्तः कटुकिम्ना कटुकभावेन भवति (arko vṛkṣo bhavati ya eṣa prasiddhaḥ | saṃvṛttaḥ hi saṃgataḥ saṃvyāptaḥ kaṭukimnā kaṭuka-bhāvena bhavati) — "that well-known tree arka [the Calotropis, in Kannada ಎಕ್ಕ] is covered all round with pungency (kaṭu)." The name arka for a tree (vṛkṣa) is well established, too.

Page 385 — Rik 1: Special Topics (continued)

(…"Arka" means ekka* tree, in Kannada.)* Its twigs are used in the homa rites, and it is also well known to all as a herbal medicine; therefore the arka tree is a thing known to all. As its sap is acrid, he says kaṭukimnā ("by pungency").

As an example to explain the word arka, Yāska has quoted this very rik gāyanti tvā gāyatriṇaḥ, and in it has also given an explanation of the meaning of the word vaṃśa in it:

> गायन्ति त्वा गायत्रिणः प्रार्चन्ति ते ऽर्कमर्किणो ब्राह्मणास्त्वा शतक्रतो उद्येमिरे वंशमिव वंशो वनशयो भवति वननाच्छ्रूयत इति वा ॥ gāyanti tvā gāyatriṇaḥ prārcanti te 'rkamarkiṇo brāhmaṇāstvā śatakrato udyemire vaṃśamiva vaṃśo vanaśayo bhavati vananācchrūyata iti vā || (नि. ५-४ — Nirukta 5-4 as printed; the bhāṣya on p. 382 cites it as 5-5) (Yāska's text reads brāhmaṇās tvā śatakrato for the Saṃhitā's brahmāṇas tvā śatakrata*.)*

Durgācārya's commentary on this runs:

गायन्ति त्वा गायत्रिणः — स्तुवन्ति त्वां सामगाः सामभिः । अर्चन्त्यर्कमर्किणः — पूजयन्ति त्वां ऋग्भिः होतारो मन्त्रिणः । एवमनेन प्रकारेण सर्व एते ब्राह्मणा यज्ञे कर्मणि हे शतक्रतो उद्वंशमिव येमिरे — उद्येमिरे वंशमिव त्वां स्तुतिभिः हविर्भिश्च यज्ञेषु तवैव महिमानं वर्धयन्तीत्यर्थः । वंशो वनशयो भवति वने शयित इवास्ते, वननाच्छूयत इति वा संभजनाद्वा वल्लिभिः ॥ एवमत्र देवः अर्कशब्देनोच्यते मन्त्रस्यार्कशब्दवाच्यत्वे अर्चन्त्यर्कमर्किण इत्येष एव निगमः । अर्किणो हि मन्त्रिण एवाभिप्रेताः । वृक्षस्तु प्रसिद्ध एव । तेन निगमस्तदभिधायको नैवास्ति ॥ gāyanti tvā gāyatriṇaḥ — stuvanti tvāṃ sāmagāḥ sāmabhiḥ | arcantyarkamarkiṇaḥ — pūjayanti tvāṃ ṛgbhiḥ hotāro mantriṇaḥ | evamanena prakāreṇa sarva ete brāhmaṇā yajñe karmaṇi he śatakrato udvaṃśamiva yemire — udyemire vaṃśamiva tvāṃ stutibhiḥ havirbhiśca yajñeṣu tavaiva mahimānaṃ vardhayantītyarthaḥ | vaṃśo vanaśayo bhavati vane śayita ivāste, vananācchrūyata iti vā saṃbhajanādvā vallibhiḥ || evamatra devaḥ arkaśabdenocyate mantrasyārkaśabdavācyatve arcantyarkamarkiṇa ityeṣa eva nigamaḥ | arkiṇo hi mantriṇa evābhipretāḥ | vṛkṣastu prasiddha eva | tena nigamastadabhidhāyako naivāsti ||

— "Gāyanti tvā gāyatriṇaḥ: the Sāma-singers praise you with Sāmans. Arcanty arkam arkiṇaḥ: the hotṛs, with mantras, worship you with ṛks. In this way all these brāhmaṇas, in the sacrificial rite, O śatakrato, ud yemire — raise you aloft like a bamboo; with praises and offerings in sacrifices they increase your greatness. A vaṃśa is vanaśaya, lying in the forest; or, vananāc chrūyate — it is heard of because of being enjoyed, or because creepers resort to it. Thus here the god is meant by the word arka; for arka meaning the mantra, this very passage arcanty arkam arkiṇaḥ is the instance, for by arkiṇaḥ those who have the mantras are meant; the tree is well known, and so there is no passage naming it."

Here Yāska gives the word brahmāṇaḥ the sense brāhmaṇāḥ: brāhmaṇa means those of the brāhmaṇa caste and also the priests, headed by Brahmā, who take part in sacrifices and the like. For vaṃśa he says: vaṃśo vanaśayo bhavati vananāc chrayata iti vā — "because it lies in the forest it is called vaṃśa; or because, when the wind blows, the bamboos rub against one another and make a sound, it is called vaṃśa; or because creepers climb it, it is called vaṃśa": so he explains.

"Arkiṇaḥ" — अर्चनहेतुमन्त्रयुक्ताः होतारः । अर्का मन्त्रा एषां सन्तीत्यर्किणः होतारः (arcana-hetu-mantra-yuktāḥ hotāraḥ | arkā mantrā eṣāṃ santīty arkiṇaḥ hotāraḥ) — "the hotṛs, equipped with the mantras that are the means of worship; those who have arka mantras are arkiṇaḥ, the hotṛs." Since arka has the sense "mantra," those who praise with them are called arkiṇaḥ — that is, the priests of the hotṛ group who recite the ṛks in the form of śastra.

"Brahmāṇaḥ" — the Bhāṣyakāra gives this word the sense of priests headed by Brahmā, and other brāhmaṇas. Yāska gives it a general sense, "brāhmaṇas."

"Śatakrato" — the explanation of this word was already given earlier.

"Vaṃśam iva" — the explanation of this word is also in Yāska's exposition above.

Page 386 — Rik 1: grammar

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 386–387, noted briefly)

गायन्ति (gāyanti) — root gai śabde with laṭ parasmaipada third plural jhi; jh → ant by “jho ’ntaḥ” (Pā. 7-1-3); śap; since the suffix is śit, “ād eca upadeśe ’śiti” (Pā. 6-1-45) does not give ā for the ai; “eco ’yavāyāvaḥ” (Pā. 6-1-78) gives āy, so gāyanti; śap is pit, hence unaccented; the ending anti, a lasārvadhātuka, follows śap, an adupadeśa, and so is unaccented by “tāsyanudāttenṅidadupadeśāt” (Pā. 6-1-186); the ā of gā takes the root accent, udātta. गायत्रिणः (gāyatriṇaḥ) — gāyatra is the name of a Sāman; “gāyatraṃ sāma yeṣām udgātṝṇām asti te” (“those udgātṛs who have the Gāyatra Sāman”) — in the compound analysis ini by “ata iniṭhanau” (Pā. 5-2-115); a of gāyatra dropped by “yasyeti ca” (Pā. 6-4-148); nominative plural gāyatriṇaḥ; the i is udātta by the suffix. अर्चन्ति (arcanti) — root arca pūjāyām (bhvādi class); śap is pit, so unaccented; the anti is unaccented as a lasārvadhātuka following the adupadeśa śap; the root accent stands; since the word stands at the beginning of the pāda there is no lowering of the verb by “tiṅṅ atiṅaḥ” (Pā. 8-1-28). अर्कम् (arkam) — “arcanty ebhiḥ iti arkāḥ, mantrāḥ” (“the mantras with which they worship”); Indra, worshipped with them, is by implication also called arka; from arc with gha by “puṃsi saṃjñāyāṃ ghaḥ prāyeṇa” (Pā. 3-3-118), in the sense of instrument or location, in a masculine name; gha is ghit (its gh is it), so by “cajoḥ ku ghiṇṇyatoḥ” (Pā. 7-3-52) the c takes the k-class before a ghit or ṇyat suffix, giving arka; final-udātta by the suffix accent. अर्किणः (arkiṇaḥ) — “arkāḥ mantrāḥ eṣāṃ santi” — “the hotṛs”: the ini suffix by “ata ini-ṭhanau” (Pā. 5-2-115); although arka is a kṛdanta, and the Mahābhāṣya’s “ekākṣarāt kṛto jāteḥ saptamyāṃ ca na tau smṛtau” (pā. ma. 5-2-115-1) says that ini and ṭhan do not come after a one-syllable word, a kṛdanta, a word for a class, or in the locative sense, ini arises here by Vedic inversion (continued on p. 387); the i is udātta by the suffix.

Page 387 — Rik 1 grammar closes; Rik 2

ब्रह्माणः (brahmāṇaḥ) — final-udātta by the stem accent. शतक्रतो (śatakrato) — unaccented as a vocative by “āmantritasya ca” (8-1-19); in the Saṃhitā, with u before a vowel, the o → av by “eco ’yavāyāvaḥ” (Pā. 6-1-78), then the v is lost by “lopaḥ śākalyasya” (Pā. 8-3-19); and since this loss is treated as not having taken place (pūrvatrāsiddham, Pā. 8-2-1), the guṇa of “ād guṇaḥ” (Pā. 6-1-87) does not occur. वंशमिव (vaṃśam iva) — vaṃśa is final-udātta by the stem accent; with iva it becomes a compound and the case-ending is dropped, the first member’s accent staying (“ivena vibhaktyalopaḥ pūrvapada-prakṛti-svaratvaṃ ca,” Pā. 2-1-4). येमिरे (yemire) — root yamu uparame (“to restrain; to hold up”) with liṭ ātmanepada third plural jha; jha → irec by “liṭas tajhayor eśirec” (3-4-81, printed “pā. sada.” [sic]); doubling by “liṭi dhātor anabhyāsasya” (Pā. 6-1-8); by “ata ekahalmadhye ’nādeśāder liṭi” (Pā. “6-4-1-20” as printed, i.e. 6-4-120), before a kit liṭ the short a between single consonants of a root whose initial is not changed in reduplication takes e, with loss of the reduplicate; so yemire; although the root yam is parasmaipadī in the bhvādi class, here it is ātmanepada by Vedic inversion; wholly unaccented as a finite verb by “tiṅṅ atiṅaḥ” (Pā. 8-1-28).

॥ १ ॥

Page 387 — Sūkta 10, Rik 2

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. Line 2: the stroke in यूथेन stands between थे and न; read as on न — [accent ?].)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

यत्सानोः सानुमारुहद्भूर्यस्पष्ट कर्त्वं । तदिन्द्रो अर्थं चेतति यूथेन वृष्णिरेजति ॥२॥ [accent ?]

yat sānoḥ sānum āruhad bhūry áspaṣṭa kártvaṃ | tad indro árthaṃ cetati yūthéna vṛṣṇír ejati ||2|| [accent ?]

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

यत् । सानोः । सानुम् । आ । अरुहत् । भूरि । अस्पष्ट । कर्त्वम् ॥ तत् । इन्द्रः । अर्थम् । चेतति । यूथेन । वृष्णिः । एजति ॥२॥

yat | sānoḥ | sānum | ā | aruhat | bhūri | aspaṣṭa | kartvam || tat | indraḥ | artham | cetati | yūthena | vṛṣṇiḥ | ejati ||2||

Page 388 — Rik 2: Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya, word-meanings

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

यद्यदा सानोः सानुमारुहत् यजमानः सोमवल्लीसमिदाद्याहरणायैकस्मात्पर्वतभागादपरं पर्वतभागमारूढवान् । तथा भूरि प्रभूतं कर्त्वं कर्म सोमयागरूपमस्पष्ट स्पृष्टवान् । उपक्रान्तवानित्यर्थः । तत्तदानीमिन्द्रो ऽर्थं यजमानस्य प्रयोजनं चेतति । जानाति । ज्ञात्वा च वृष्णिः कामानां वर्षिता सन् यूथेन मरुद्गणेन सहैजति । कम्पते । स्वस्थानाद्यज्ञभूमिमागन्तुमुद्युक्त इत्यर्थः ॥ सानोः । षणु दाने । सनोति ददाति निवसतामवकाशमिति सानुः । दृसनिजनिचरिचटिरहिभ्यो ञुण् । उ. १-३ । णित्त्वादुपधाया वृद्धिः । ञित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वं च । अरुहत् । रुहेर्लुङि तिपि शपि संज्ञापूर्वको विधिरनित्यः । परि ९३-१ । इति लघूपधगुणो न भवति । लुङ्लङ्लृङ्क्ष्वडुदात्तः । सति शिष्टत्वात्स एव शिष्यते । निपातैर्यद्यदिहन्तेति । पा. ८-१-३० । निषेधान्निघातो न भवति । भूरि । अदिशदिभूशुभिभ्यः क्रिन् । उ. ४-६५ । कित्त्वाद्गुणाभावः । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । अस्पष्ट । स्पश बाधनस्पर्शनयोः । स्वरितञित इत्यात्मनेपदम् । लङः प्रथमपुरुषैकवचनं त । बहुलं छन्दसीति शपो लुक् । व्रश्चादिषत्वष्टुत्वे । पा. ८-२-३६ ; ८-४-४१ । लुङ्लङ्लृङ्क्ष्वडुदात्त इत्यडागम उदात्तः । स एव शिष्यते । अनुषङ्गेण यच्छब्दयोगान्निघाताभावः । कर्त्वम् । डुकृञ् करणे । अन्येभ्यो ऽपि दृश्यन्ते । पा. ३-२-७५ । इति विच् । गुणो रपरत्वम् । विचः सर्वापहारी लोपः । करो भावः कर्त्वम् । अर्थम् । अर्तेरुषिकुषिगार्तिभ्यस्थन् । उ. २-४ । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । यूथेन । तिथपृष्ठगूथयूथप्रोथाः । उ. २-१२ । इति थक्प्रत्ययान्तो निपातितः । वृष्णिः । निरित्यनुवृत्तौ सृवृषिभ्यां कित् । उ. ४-४९ । इति निप्रत्ययान्तः । कित्त्वाद्गुणाभावः । प्रत्ययस्वरेणान्तोदात्तः । एजति । एजृ कम्पने । तिङ्ङतिङ इति निघातः ॥

yadyadā sānoḥ sānumāruhat yajamānaḥ somavallīsamidādyāharaṇāyaikasmātparvatabhāgādaparaṃ parvatabhāgamārūḍhavān | tathā bhūri prabhūtaṃ kartvaṃ karma somayāgarūpamaspaṣṭa spṛṣṭavān | upakrāntavānityarthaḥ | tattadānīmindro 'rthaṃ yajamānasya prayojanaṃ cetati | jānāti | jñātvā ca vṛṣṇiḥ kāmānāṃ varṣitā san yūthena marudgaṇena sahaijati | kampate |

svasthānādyajñabhūmimāgantumudyukta ityarthaḥ || sānoḥ | ṣaṇu dāne | sanoti dadāti nivasatāmavakāśamiti sānuḥ | dṛsanijanicaricaṭirahibhyo ñuṇ | u. 1-3 | ṇittvādupadhāyā vṛddhiḥ | ñittvādādyudāttatvaṃ ca | aruhat | ruherluṅi tipi śapi saṃjñāpūrvako vidhiranityaḥ | pari 93-1 | iti laghūpadhaguṇo na bhavati | luṅlaṅlṛṅkṣvaḍudāttaḥ | sati śiṣṭatvātsa eva śiṣyate | nipātairyadyadihanteti | pā. 8-1-30 | niṣedhānnighāto na bhavati | bhūri | adiśadibhūśubhibhyaḥ krin | u. 4-65 | kittvādguṇābhāvaḥ | nittvādādyudāttaḥ | aspaṣṭa | spaśa bādhanasparśanayoḥ | svaritañita ityātmanepadam | laṅaḥ prathamapuruṣaikavacanaṃ ta | bahulaṃ chandasīti śapo luk | vraścādiṣatvaṣṭutve | pā. 8-2-36 ; 8-4-41 | luṅlaṅlṛṅkṣvaḍudātta ityaḍāgama udāttaḥ | sa eva śiṣyate | anuṣaṅgeṇa yacchabdayogānnighātābhāvaḥ | kartvam | ḍukṛñ karaṇe | anyebhyo 'pi dṛśyante | pā. 3-2-75 | iti vic | guṇo raparatvam | vicaḥ sarvāpahārī lopaḥ | karo bhāvaḥ kartvam | artham | arteruṣikuṣigārtibhyasthan | u. 2-4 | nittvādādyudāttaḥ | yūthena | tithapṛṣṭhagūthayūthaprothāḥ | u. 2-12 | iti thakpratyayānto nipātitaḥ | vṛṣṇiḥ | nirityanuvṛttau sṛvṛṣibhyāṃ kit | u. 4-49 | iti nipratyayāntaḥ | kittvādguṇābhāvaḥ | pratyayasvareṇāntodāttaḥ | ejati | ejṛ kampane | tiṅatiṅa iti nighātaḥ ||

Translation: "Yad — when — the sacrificer sānoḥ sānum āruhat: in order to fetch Soma-creepers, fuel-sticks and the like, climbs from one part of the mountain to another part. And bhūri — a great — kartvam, a work (karma) in the form of a Soma-sacrifice, aspaṣṭa — has touched: has begun. Tat — then — Indra artham cetati: knows the sacrificer's purpose. Having known it, being vṛṣṇiḥ, the showerer of desires, he ejati — stirs, is set in motion — yūthena, together with the troop of Maruts: he is ready to come from his own place to the sacrificial ground." (Grammar, noted briefly: sānoḥ — root ṣaṇu dāne*, "that which gives room to those who dwell", suffix* ñuṇ (Uṇ. 1-3), vṛddhi, initial-udātta; aruhat — luṅ of ruh*, no guṇa since the rule is not obligatory (paribhāṣā 93-1); the augment* aṭ udātta, not lowered after yat (Pā. 8-1-30); bhūri — suffix krin (Uṇ. 4-65), initial-udātta; aspaṣṭa — root spaśa , ātmanepada, laṅ third singular, śap dropped, ṣ and ṭ by Pā. 8-2-36 and 8-4-41, the augment udātta; kartvam — root ḍukṛñ with vic (Pā. 3-2-75), "the doing"; artham — suffix than (Uṇ. 2-4); yūthena — an irregular thak formation (Uṇ. 2-12); vṛṣṇiḥ — suffix ni*, kit (Uṇ. 4-49), final-udātta;* ejati — root ejṛ kampane*, lowered as a finite verb.)*

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

यत् (yat) — when | (the sacrificer, to fetch the Soma-creeper and the fuel-sticks) सानोः (sānoḥ) — from one mountain-top | सानुम् (sānum) — to another peak | आ अरुहत् (ā aruhat) — climbs | (and) भूरि (bhūri) — a great | कर्त्वम् (kartvam) — (Soma-sacrificial) work | अस्पष्ट (aspaṣṭa) — has begun | तत् (tat) — then | इन्द्रः (indraḥ) — Indra | अर्थम् (artham) — the sacrificer's wish | चेतति (cetati) — knows | (after knowing) वृष्णिः (vṛṣṇiḥ) — Indra, the granter of desires, the giver of rain | यूथेन (yūthena) — together with the troop of Maruts | एजति (ejati) — leaves (that is, leaving his own dwelling, sets out to come near the sacrificer).

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

The sacrificer goes to the mountain, and there climbs from one peak to another, to bring the Soma-creeper that has grown on the hills and the fuel-sticks required for the sacrifice; thereby he begins the sacrifice. Indra, knowing this, since he grants the desired ends of the sacrificer, sets out from his own place for the sacrificial ground, together with his friendly troop of Maruts.

Page 389 — Rik 2: English and Special Topics

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> When Indra the showerer of blessings knows the object of the worshipper who has wandered from one ridge of the mountain to the other in quest of soma plant and who has just begun the sacrifice, he (Indra) approaches the sacrificial place with the troop of (Maruts).

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

To give the sense of this rik, many words have to be supplied. "Sānoḥ sānum āruhat" — "climbs from one peak [or table-land] of the mountain to another": that is, the question of "who climbs?" and "why?" arises. To fit the sense, the Bhāṣyakāra supplies the words "the sacrificer — for fetching the Soma-creeper, fuel-sticks and the other means of sacrifice." And since the word yūtha means a herd, a group, the word "Maruts" is supplied: "the troop (gaṇa) of Maruts." The word vṛṣṇi means varṣitā, "giver of rain": though "he comes with the Maruts who are helpers for rain" would fit, the Bhāṣyakāra explains vṛṣṇi as kāmānāṃ varṣitā — "the one who rains desired ends," and so a doubt arises as to whether the help of the Maruts is necessary for giving desired things other than rain. Hence it is doubtful whether yūthena in this rik is the poet's intended "with the troop of Maruts." Veṅkaṭamādhava gives the sense vasusamūhena — "with the assembly of the Vasus"; so it seems more fitting to say "with the assembly of the gods."

"Yat," "tat" — here these words are not the relative-demonstrative words yad and tad in any case or number; they are indeclinables. For them the sense yadā, "when," and tadā, "then," must be given.

"Sānoḥ, sānum" — the mountain-peak or the table-land of the hill. Since the Soma-creeper grows especially in the hill regions, and since the creeper growing in the high regions of the hills gives a more abundant and better juice than the creeper that grows on the level ground, it was then the custom to go to the higher hills, often, to bring the Soma-creeper. This matter is mentioned in many places in the Ṛgveda.

Page 390 — Rik 2: Special Topics (continued) and grammar

"Aspaṣṭa" — spaśa bādhana-sparśanayoḥ — "has touched"; that is, "has begun."

"Kartvam" — karma, "work." Among the twenty-six words for "work" beginning with apaḥ and apnaḥ, the word kartvam is read (Ni. 3-2).

"Vṛṣṇiḥ" — कामानां वर्षिता अथवा वर्षिता (kāmānāṃ varṣitā athavā varṣitā) — "the showerer of desires, or the giver of rain." The word vṛṣṇi is used in many places in the Ṛgveda, in passages describing Indra's qualities.

"Ejati" — ejṛ kampane — the root ej, to tremble, to move. Here "moves" means "sets out from his own place to come to the sacrificer's side."

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 390–391, noted briefly)

सानोः (sānoḥ) — root ṣaṇu dāne (“to give”): sanoti dadāti nivasatām avakāśam iti sānuḥ (“that which gives room to those who dwell”) — ñuṇ suffix by “dṛsanijanicaricaṭirahibhyo ñuṇ” (Uṇ. 1-3), after dṛ vidāraṇe, ṣaṇu dāne, jana janane, cara gatau, caṭa bhedane, raha tyāge; ṣ → s by “dhātvādeḥ ṣaḥ saḥ” (Pā. 6-1-64), and with the ṣ gone the ṇ it caused goes too; “ata upadhāyāḥ” (Pā. 7-2-116) gives the vṛddhi; the suffix is ñit, so initial-udātta by “ñnityādir nityam” (Pā. 6-1-197). आरुहत् (āruhat) — root ruha bījajanmani prādurbhāve ca with laṅ, third singular tip; śap by “kartari śap” (Pā. 3-1-68); since “saṃjñāpūrvako vidhir anityaḥ” (paribhāṣā 93-1), the laghūpadha-guṇa of “pugantalaghūpadhasya ca” (Pā. 7-3-86) does not apply; the i of tip is dropped by “itaś ca” (Pā. 3-4-100); the aṭ augment is udātta by “luṅlaṅlṛṅkṣv aḍ udāttaḥ” (Pā. 6-4-71), and being taught later (satiśiṣṭa) it alone stands; “tiṅṅ atiṅaḥ” (Pā. 8-1-28) would make the verb unaccented, but because yat (“when”), yadi, hanta, kuvit, neta, cet, caṇ, kaccit, yatra and other particles occur, the lowering is prohibited by “nipātair yadyadihantakuvinnetcetcaṇkaccidyatrayuktam” (Pā. 8-1-30); so the verb stays accented. भूरि (bhūri) — “adiśadibhūśubhibhyaḥ krin” (Uṇ. 4-505 [as printed]; the bhāṣya prints 4-65): after the roots ada bhakṣaṇe, śadḷ śātane, bhū sattāyām, śubha śumbha śobhārthe the suffix krin; kit, so by “kṅiti ca” (Pā. 1-1-5) the guṇa of “sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ” (Pā. 7-3-84) does not apply; the suffix is nit, so initial-udātta. अस्पष्ट (aspaṣṭa) — root spaśa bādhana-sparśanayoḥ (“to touch”), anudātta-it by the marker iṅ-like; it is svarita-marked, so the ātmanepada by “svaritañitaḥ kartrabhiprāye kriyāphale” (1-3-72, printed “sā. sū.” [sic]); laṅ, third singular ta; śap dropped by “bahulaṃ chandasi” (Pā. 2-4-73); ś → ṣ by “vraścabhrasjasṛjamṛjayajarājabhrājachaśāṃ ṣaḥ” (Pā. 8-2-36) and ṭ by “ṣṭunā ṣṭuḥ” (Pā. 8-4-41); the aṭ augment is udātta by “luṅlaṅlṛṅkṣv aḍ udāttaḥ” (Pā. 6-4-71) and its accent stands; the word yat carried over from the first half brings the prohibition of lowering by “nipātair yadyadi…” (Pā. 8-1-30). कर्त्वम् (kartvam) — root ḍukṛñ karaṇe with vic (“anyebhyo ’pi dṛśyante,” Pā. 3-2-75); guṇa by “sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ” (Pā. 7-3-84) with raparatva by “uraṇ raparaḥ” (Pā. 1-1-51); all the letters of vic drop, giving kar; in the sense karor bhāvaḥ (“the doing”), tva by “tasya bhāvas tvatalau” (Pā. 5-1-119), giving kartvam. अर्थम् (artham) — root ṛ gatau with than (“uṣikuṣigārtibhyas than,” printed “pā. sū. 2-161” [as printed]; the bhāṣya gives Uṇ. 2-4), after uṣa dāhe, kuṣa niṣkarṣe, gai śabde and ṛ gatau; guṇa and raparatva; initial-udātta (nit). यूथेन (yūthena) — “tithapṛṣṭhagūthayūthaprothāḥ” (printed “pā. sū. 2-169” [as printed]; the bhāṣya gives Uṇ. 2-12): an irregular formation with thak. वृष्णिः (vṛṣṇiḥ) — “sṛvṛṣibhyāṃ kit” (Uṇ. 4-486 [as printed]; the bhāṣya gives 4-49) after sṛ (to go) and vṛṣu secane, the suffix ni; kit, so no guṇa; final-udātta by the suffix. एजति (ejati) — root ejṛ kampane; unaccented by “tiṅṅ atiṅaḥ” (Pā. 8-1-28).

॥२॥

---

Page 392 — Sūkta 10, Rik 3

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

युक्ष्वा हि केशिना हरी वृषणा कक्ष्यप्रा । अथा न इन्द्र सोमपा गिरामुपश्रुतिं चर ॥३॥

yukṣvā hi keśínā harī vṛ́ṣaṇā kakṣyaprā | áthā na indra somapā girā́m upaśrutiṃ cara ||3||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

युक्ष्व । हि । केशिना । हरी इति । वृषणा । कक्ष्यऽप्रा ॥ अथ । नः । इन्द्र । सोमऽपाः । गिराम् । उपऽश्रुतिम् । चर ॥३॥

yukṣva | hi | keśinā | harī iti | vṛṣaṇā | kakṣya-prā || atha | naḥ | indra | soma-pāḥ | girām | upa-śrutim | cara ||3||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे सोमपाः सोमपानयुक्तेन्द्र हरी त्वदीयावश्वौ युक्ष्वा हि । सर्वथा संयोजय । अथानन्तरं नो ऽस्मदीयानां गिरां स्तुतीनामुपश्रुतिं समीपे श्रवणमुद्दिश्य चर । तत्प्रदेशं गच्छ । कीदृशौ हरी । केशिना स्कन्धप्रदेशे लम्बमानकेशयुक्तौ वृषणा सेचनसमर्थौ युवानौ कक्ष्यप्रा । अश्वस्योदरबन्धनरज्जुः कक्ष्या तस्याः पूरकौ । पुष्टाङ्गावित्यर्थः ॥ युक्ष्व । श्नमो लोपश्छान्दसः । सति शिष्टत्वेन प्रत्ययस्वरः शिष्यते । द्व्यचो ऽतस्तिङ इति संहितायां दीर्घत्वम् । केशिना । प्रशस्ताः केशा अनयोः सन्तीति मत्वर्थीय इनिः । प्रत्ययस्वरः । सुपां सुलुगित्यादिना द्विवचनस्याकारादेशः । वृषणा । पृषु वृषु मृषु सेचने । कनिन्युवृषितक्षिराजिधन्विद्युप्रतिदिवः । उ. १-१५६ । इति कनिन् । ञ्नित्यादिर्नित्यमित्याद्युदात्तः । वा षपूर्वस्य निगमे । पा. ६-४-९ । इत्युपधायाः पक्षे दीर्घाभावः । पूर्ववदाकारः । कक्ष्यप्रा । कक्ष्ययोर्भवं कक्ष्यं सूत्रम् । तत्प्रातः पूरयतः पुष्टत्वादिति कक्ष्यप्रौ । प्रा पूरणे । आतो ऽनुपसर्गे कः । पा. ३-२-३ । इति कप्रत्ययः । कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरेणान्तोदात्तत्वम् । आकारः पूर्ववत् । अथ । निपातस्येति संहितायां दीर्घः । नः । अनुदात्तं सर्वमपादादावित्यनुवृत्तौ बहुवचनस्य वस्नसौ । पा. ८-१-२१ । इति नसादेशो ऽनुदात्तः । इन्द्र सोमपा । उभावामन्त्रितस्य चेति सर्वानुदात्तौ । गिराम् । सावेकाचस्तृतीयादिर्विभक्तिरिति विभक्तिरुदात्ता । उपशब्दो निपातत्वादाद्युदात्तः । श्रुतिशब्देन प्रादिसमासे कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वे प्राप्ते तादौ च निति कृत्यतौ । पा. ६-२-५० । इति तुवर्जिततादिपरत्वाद्गतेः प्रकृतिस्वरः । चर । निघातः ॥

he somapāḥ somapānayuktendra harī tvadīyāvaśvau yukṣvā hi | sarvathā saṃyojaya | athānantaraṃ no 'smadīyānāṃ girāṃ stutīnāmupaśrutiṃ samīpe śravaṇamuddiśya cara | tatpradeśaṃ gaccha | kīdṛśau harī | keśinā skandhapradeśe lambamānakeśayuktau vṛṣaṇā secanasamarthau yuvānau kakṣyaprā | aśvasyodarabandhanarajjuḥ kakṣyā tasyāḥ pūrakau | puṣṭāṅgāvityarthaḥ || yukṣva | śnamo lopaśchāndasaḥ | sati śiṣṭatvena pratyayasvaraḥ śiṣyate | dvyaco 'tastiṅa iti saṃhitāyāṃ dīrghatvam | keśinā | praśastāḥ keśā anayoḥ santīti matvarthīya iniḥ | pratyayasvaraḥ | supāṃ sulugityādinā dvivacanasyākārādeśaḥ | vṛṣaṇā | pṛṣu vṛṣu mṛṣu secane | kaninyuvṛṣitakṣirājidhanvidyupratidivaḥ | u. 1-156 | iti kanin | ñnityādirnityamityādyudāttaḥ | vā ṣapūrvasya nigame | pā. 6-4-9 | ityupadhāyāḥ pakṣe dīrghābhāvaḥ | pūrvavadākāraḥ | kakṣyaprā | kakṣyayorbhavaṃ kakṣyaṃ sūtram | tatprātaḥ pūrayataḥ puṣṭatvāditi kakṣyaprau | prā pūraṇe | āto 'nupasarge kaḥ | pā. 3-2-3 | iti kapratyayaḥ | kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvareṇāntodāttatvam | ākāraḥ pūrvavat | atha | nipātasyeti saṃhitāyāṃ dīrghaḥ | naḥ | anudāttaṃ sarvamapādādāvityanuvṛttau bahuvacanasya vasnasau | pā. 8-1-21 | iti nasādeśo 'nudāttaḥ | indra somapā | ubhāvāmantritasya ceti sarvānudāttau | girām |

sāvekācastṛtīyādirvibhaktiriti vibhaktirudāttā | upaśabdo nipātatvādādyudāttaḥ | śrutiśabdena prādisamāse kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratve prāpte tādau ca niti kṛtyatau | pā. 6-2-50 | iti tuvarjitatādiparatvādgateḥ prakṛtisvaraḥ | cara | nighātaḥ ||

Translation: "O somapāḥ — O Indra, drinker of Soma! Harī — your two horses (tvadīyāv aśvau) — yukṣvā hi: yoke [them] fully. Athā — thereafter — cara: go to the place, with a view to upaśruti — listening near at hand — of naḥ girām, our praises. What kind of two horses? Keśinā — having manes hanging down on the shoulder region; vṛṣaṇā — able to sprinkle (to rain), young; kakṣyaprā — kakṣyā is the rope that binds the horse's belly; they are prā, 'fillers' of it: that is, of well-nourished (full) bodies." (Grammar noted briefly: yukṣva — the loss of śnam is Vedic, the suffix accent stands, and the final is lengthened in the Saṃhitā ("dvyaco 'tastiṅaḥ"); keśinā — "having handsome manes," with ini*;* vṛṣaṇā — root vṛṣu secane with kanin (Uṇ. 1-156), initial-udātta; optionally no lengthening (Pā. 6-4-9); dual in ā by "supāṃ suluk…"; kakṣyaprā — "those who fill the kakṣya (the girth-cord) because they are well fed," root prā pūraṇe with ka (Pā. 3-2-3), final-udātta by the second-member rule; athā — the particle lengthened in the Saṃhitā; naḥ — substitute nas for asmān/asmākam (Pā. 8-1-21), unaccented; indra, somapā — vocatives, both unaccented; girām — case-ending udātta; upaśrutim — the prefix upa is initial-udātta as a particle, and by "tādau ca niti kṛtya atau" (Pā. 6-2-50) the prefix keeps its accent; cara *— unaccented.)

Page 393 — Rik 3: word-meanings, overall sense, English, Special Topics

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

सोमपाः (somapāḥ) — O Indra who drink Soma (so absorbed in it) | केशिना (keśinā) — having manes (the long hair that grows upright on the neck) | वृषणा (vṛṣaṇā) — able to sprinkle, that is, in the prime of youth | कक्ष्यप्रा (kakṣyaprā) — with fully nourished bodies, such that the girth-rope tied about the belly is filled out | हरी (harī) — your two horses | युक्ष्व हि (yukṣva hi) — yoke [them to the chariot] | अथ (atha) — then | नः (naḥ) — our | गिराम् (girām) — of the words in the form of praise | उपश्रुतिम् (upaśrutim) — to hear them (for hearing) near at hand | चर (cara) — come.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Indra, absorbed in drinking Soma! Your horses have manes — long hair grown upright on the neck — are youthful, and have bodies so well nourished that the girth-rope tied about the belly is filled out. Yoke such horses to your chariot, and then come to us to hear, near at hand, our words of praise.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> Indra, drinker of soma, harness your pair of long-maned youthful and well-conditioned horses and then come to hear our praises.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

“Yukṣvā” — for the convenience of the meter the final vowel is lengthened in the Saṃhitā-pāṭha. The word means “join, yoke to the chariot.”

“Keśinā” — स्कन्धप्रदेशे लम्बमानकेशयुक्तौ (skandha-pradeśe lambamāna-keśa-yuktau) — “furnished with manes hanging in the region of the shoulder”: pralamba-keśarau, i.e., with manes grown up on the neck, long-maned.

“Vṛṣaṇā” — रेतःसेचनसमर्थौ (retaḥ-secana-samarthau) — “able to impregnate”: that is, in the prime of life, in youth.

“Kakṣyaprā” — कक्ष्यप्रा अश्वस्योदरबन्धनरज्जुः कक्ष्या । तस्याः पूरकौ । पुष्टाङ्गावित्यर्थः (kakṣyaprā aśvasyodara-bandhana-rajjuḥ kakṣyā | tasyāḥ pūrakau | puṣṭāṅgāv ity arthaḥ) — “kakṣyā is the rope that binds the belly of the horse: the two are ‘fillers’ of it: well-nourished in body.” Kakṣyā is the girth tied round the belly when a horse is yoked to a chariot; horses whose bellies have grown stout (filling out their girth) are meant.

“Somapāḥ” — सोमस्य पाता (somasya pātā), “drinker of Soma”; this is a vocative singular, an epithet of the word indra.

Page 394 — Rik 3: Special Topics (continued) and grammar

“Girām” — gīḥ is the genitive plural. The use of words like gīḥ, girām, gīrbhiḥ in the senses of hymns, praises and eulogies is customary in the Ṛgveda. So naḥ girām means “of the hymns that we make.”

“Upaśrutim” — समीपे श्रवणमुद्दिश्य । श्रुतेः समीपम् (samīpe śravaṇam uddiśya | śruteḥ samīpam) — “with a view to hearing near at hand”: for the sake of hearing, [coming] near, standing near to hear.

“Cara” — “come”: be the one who comes.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 394–395, noted briefly)

युक्ष्व (yukṣva) — root yujir yoge (“to join”), ubhayapadī, with loṭ ātmanepada middle-second singular thās; thās → se by “thāsaḥ se” (Pā. 3-4-80); “savābhyāṃ vāmau” (Pā. 3-4-91) replaces e by va; yuj + sva; the vikaraṇa śnam is dropped by “bahulaṃ chandasi” (Pā. 2-4-73) — the source notes that this sūtra prescribes luk for śap, but in Ṛ. Saṃ. Aṣṭaka 1, Sūkta 9, mantra 1 (the word matsi) the Bhāṣyakāra gives the same luk for śyan by this sūtra, so the luk of śnam may be said here too, by the word bahula; j → g by “coḥ kuḥ” (Pā. 8-2-30), g → k by “khari ca” (Pā. 8-4-55), and s → ṣ by “ādeśapratyayayoḥ” (Pā. 8-3-59), giving yukṣva; the suffix accent stands, being taught later (satiśiṣṭa); in the Saṃhitā the final is lengthened by “dvyaco ’tastiṅaḥ” (Pā. 6-3-135). केशिना (keśinā) — “praśastāḥ keśā anayor santi”: ini in the possessive sense by “ata iniṭhanau” (Pā. 5-2-115); the a of keśa dropped by “yasyeti ca” (6-4-148); suffix accent; the accusative dual ending au replaced by ā by “supāṃ suluk…” (Pā. 7-1-39). वृषणा (vṛṣaṇā) — root pṛṣu, vṛṣu, mṛṣu secane; kanin by “kaninyuvṛṣitakṣirājidhanvidyupratidivaḥ” (Uṇ. 1-154 [as printed]; the bhāṣya gives 1-156); “ñnityādir nityam” (Pā. 6-1-197) gives initial-udātta; “vā ṣapūrvasya nigame” (Pā. 6-4-9): the lengthening of the penultimate vowel before the sarvanāmasthāna suffix is optional after ṣ, and so does not arise here; the accusative dual ending → ā by "supāṃ suluk…" (Pā. 7-1-39). कक्ष्यप्रा (kakṣyaprā) — kakṣyayor bhavaṃ kakṣyam (that which is in the kakṣyā): the girth; "that which fills it" — root prā pūraṇe with ka ("āto 'nupasarge kaḥ," Pā. 3-2-3); ā dropped before ka by "āto lopa iṭi ca" (printed "6-2-139" [as printed], the number of the next sūtra; usually 6-4-64); final-udātta by "gatikārakopapadāt kṛt" (Pā. 6-2-139); the dual ending as above. अथ (atha) — the particle is lengthened in the Saṃhitā (athā) by "nipātasya ca" (Pā. 6-3-136). नः (naḥ) — the rule "bahuvacanasya vasnasau" (Pā. 8-1-21) with the carried-over "anudāttaṃ sarvam apādādau" (Pā. 8-1-18): nas replaces the plural genitive of asmad, unaccented, since the word is not at the beginning of the pāda. इन्द्र, सोमपाः (indra, somapāḥ) — both are vocatives, wholly unaccented by "āmantritasya ca" (Pā. 8-1-19). गिराम् (girām) — "sāvekācas tṛtīyādir vibhaktiḥ" (Pā. 6-1-168) — the case-ending is udātta. उप (upa) — a nipāta, initial-udātta (Phiṭ-sūtra 80); with śruti it forms a prādi-compound ("kugatiprādayaḥ," Pā. 2-2-18); the rule "gati-kāraka-upapadāt kṛt" (Pā. 6-2-139) would give the second member's accent, but by "tādau ca niti kṛty atau" (6-2-50) — before a kṛt suffix beginning with t (other than tu) the preceding gati keeps its own accent — upa retains its natural accent. चर (cara) — wholly unaccented as a finite verb by "tiṅṅ atiṅaḥ" (Pā. 8-1-28).

॥३॥

---

Page 396 — Sūkta 10, Rik 4

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. Line 2: the stroke in सचेन्द्र stands between चे and न्द्र; read as on चे — [accent ?].)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

एहि॒ स्तोमाँ॑ अ॒भि स्व॑रा॒भि गृ॑णी॒ह्या रु॑व । ब्रह्म॑ च नो वसो॒ सचे॑न्द्र य॒ज्ञं च॑ वर्धय ॥४॥ [accent ?]

ehi stómāṁ abhí svarābhí gṛṇīhy ā́ ruva | bráhma ca no vaso sácendra yajñáṃ ca vardhaya ||4|| [accent ?]

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

आ । इहि । स्तोमान् । अभि । स्वर । अभि । गृणीहि । आ । रुव ॥ ब्रह्म । च । नः । वसो इति । सचा । इन्द्र । यज्ञम् । च । वर्धय ॥४॥

ā | ihi | stomān | abhi | svara | abhi | gṛṇīhi | ā | ruva || brahma | ca | naḥ | vaso iti | sacā | indra | yajñam | ca | vardhaya ||4||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

विशेषविनियोगस्तु यत्र श्रौतो न सूत्रितः । स्मार्तं तत्र विजानीयादृग्विधानादिसूत्रतः ॥ एहि स्तोमानित्येषा सूत्रे विशेषाकारेण न विनियुक्ता । साधारणविनियोगस्तु ब्रह्मयज्ञादौ सर्वत्रानुसंधेयः ॥

viśeṣaviniyogastu yatra śrauto na sūtritaḥ | smārtaṃ tatra vijānīyādṛgvidhānādisūtrataḥ || ehi stomānityeṣā sūtre viśeṣākāreṇa na viniyuktā | sādhāraṇaviniyogastu brahmayajñādau sarvatrānusaṃdheyaḥ ||

हे वसो निवासकारणभूतेन्द्र एहि । अस्मिन्कर्मण्यागच्छ । आगत्य च स्तोमानुद्गातृप्रयुक्तानि स्तोत्राण्यभि स्वर । अभिलक्ष्य प्रशंसारूपं शब्दं कुरु । तथाध्वर्युमभिलक्ष्य गृणीहि । शब्दं कुरु । तथा होतृप्रयुक्तानि शस्त्राण्यालक्ष्य रुव । शब्दं कुरु । परितोषेण सर्वानृत्विजः प्रशंसेत्यर्थः । तत ऊर्ध्वं नो ऽस्माकं ब्रह्म चान्नं च यज्ञं चानुष्ठीयमानं कर्म च सचा सह वर्धय । सांगत्वसंपादनेन यज्ञं वर्धयित्वा तत्फलमन्नं च प्रवृद्धं कुरु । अन्ध इत्यादिष्वष्टाविंशत्यन्ननामसु ब्रह्म वर्ज इति पठितम् ॥ इहि । इण् गतौ । सेर्हिः । हेरपित्त्वेन ङित्त्वाद्गुणाभावः । निघातः । आङा सह गुण एकादेश उदात्तेनोदात्त इत्युदात्तः । स्तोमान् । अर्तिस्तुसु इत्यादिना मन् । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । उत्तरपदेन संहितायां नकारस्य दीर्घादटि समानपादे इति रुत्वम् । आतो ऽटि नित्यमित्याकारस्यानुनासिकः । भोभगोअघोअपूर्वस्य यो ऽशीति यत्वम् । तस्य लोपः शाकल्यस्येति लोपः । तस्यासिद्धत्वात्स्वरसन्धिर्न भवति । अभि । एवमादीनामन्त इत्यन्तोदात्तः । स्वर । स्वृ शब्दोपतापयोः । निघातः । अभि । गतम् । गृणीहि । गॄ शब्दे । सेर्ह्यपिच्चेति हिः । क्र्यादिभ्यः श्ना । ई हल्यघोः । पा. ६-४-११३ । इतीत्त्वम् । प्वादीनां ह्रस्वः । पा. ७-३-८० । इत्यृकारस्य ऋकारः । ऋवर्णाच्चेति वक्तव्यम् । का. ८-४-१-१ । इति णत्वम् । तिङ्ङतिङ इति निघातः । रुव । रु शब्दे । सेर्ह्यपिच्च । शपि प्राप्ते व्यत्ययेन शः । तस्य ङित्त्वेन गुणाभावादुवङादेशः । अतो हेरिति हेर्लुक् । तिङ्ङतिङ इति निघातः । ब्रह्म । तृहि वृहि वृद्धौ । मनिन्नित्यनुवृत्तौ वृंहेरम् न लोपश्च । उ. ४-१४५ । इति मनिन् । तत्संनियोगेन नलोपः । अमागमश्च । मिदचो ऽन्त्यात्परः । पा. १-१-४७ । इत्यृकारात्परः । यणादेशः । मनिनो नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वम् । वसो । आमन्त्रितनिघातः । यज्ञम् । यजयाचेत्यादिना । पा. ३-३-९० । नङ् । प्रत्ययस्वरः । वर्धय । निघातः । अत्र चकारद्वयश्रवणादियमेव तिङ्विभक्तिः पूर्ववाक्ये ऽप्यनुषज्यते । अतो ऽनुषक्तैव प्रथमा न श्रुतेत्यश्रुतायाश्च वायोगे प्रथमा । पा. ८-१-५९ । इति निघातनिषेधो न भवति ॥

he vaso nivāsakāraṇabhūtendra ehi | asminkarmaṇyāgaccha | āgatya ca stomānudgātṛprayuktāni stotrāṇyabhi svara | abhilakṣya praśaṃsārūpaṃ śabdaṃ kuru | tathādhvaryumabhilakṣya gṛṇīhi | śabdaṃ kuru | tathā hotṛprayuktāni śastrāṇyālakṣya ruva | śabdaṃ kuru | paritoṣeṇa sarvānṛtvijaḥ praśaṃsetyarthaḥ | tata ūrdhvaṃ no 'smākaṃ brahma cānnaṃ ca yajñaṃ cānuṣṭhīyamānaṃ karma ca sacā saha vardhaya | sāṃgatvasaṃpādanena yajñaṃ vardhayitvā tatphalamannaṃ ca pravṛddhaṃ kuru | andha ityādiṣvaṣṭāviṃśatyannanāmasu brahma varja iti paṭhitam || ihi | iṇ gatau | serhiḥ | herapittvena ṅittvādguṇābhāvaḥ | nighātaḥ | āṅā saha guṇa ekādeśa udāttenodātta ityudāttaḥ | stomān | artistusu ityādinā man | nittvādādyudāttaḥ | uttarapadena saṃhitāyāṃ nakārasya dīrghādaṭi samānapāde iti rutvam | āto 'ṭi nityamityākārasyānunāsikaḥ | bhobhagoaghoapūrvasya yo 'śīti yatvam | tasya lopaḥ śākalyasyeti lopaḥ | tasyāsiddhatvātsvarasandhirna bhavati | abhi | evamādīnāmanta ityantodāttaḥ | svara | svṛ śabdopatāpayoḥ | nighātaḥ | abhi | gatam | gṛṇīhi | gṝ śabde | serhyapicceti hiḥ | kryādibhyaḥ śnā | ī halyaghoḥ | pā. 6-4-113 | itīttvam | pvādīnāṃ hrasvaḥ | pā. 7-3-80 | ityṛkārasya ṛkāraḥ | ṛvarṇācceti vaktavyam | kā. 8-4-1-1 | iti ṇatvam | tiṅatiṅa iti nighātaḥ | ruva | ru śabde | serhyapicca | śapi prāpte vyatyayena śaḥ | tasya ṅittvena guṇābhāvāduvaṅādeśaḥ | ato heriti herluk | tiṅatiṅa iti nighātaḥ | brahma | tṛhi vṛhi vṛddhau | maninnityanuvṛttau vṛṃheram na lopaśca | u. 4-145 | iti manin | tatsaṃniyogena nalopaḥ | amāgamaśca | midaco 'ntyātparaḥ | pā. 1-1-47 | ityṛkārātparaḥ | yaṇādeśaḥ | manino nittvādādyudāttatvam | vaso | āmantritanighātaḥ | yajñam | yajayācetyādinā | pā. 3-3-90 | naṅ | pratyayasvaraḥ | vardhaya | nighātaḥ | atra cakāradvayaśravaṇādiyameva tiṅvibhaktiḥ pūrvavākye 'pyanuṣajyate | ato

'nuṣaktaiva prathamā na śrutetyaśrutāyāśca vāyoge prathamā | pā. 8-1-59 | iti nighātaniṣedho na bhavati ||

Translation: "Where the special application has not been laid down in the Śrauta [texts], one is to know the Smārta one, from the Ṛgvidhāna and other texts. This rik ehi stomān has not been assigned a special application in the sūtra; its general application is to be understood everywhere, in the Brahmayajña and so on. O vaso — O Indra, the cause of dwelling: ehi — come to this rite. Having come, stomān abhi svara: make a sound of praise toward the stomas, the hymns sung by the udgātṛs. Likewise, gṛṇīhi: with the adhvaryu in view, make a sound. Likewise, ā ruva: with the śastras recited by the hotṛs in view, make a sound — praise all the priests with pleasure. After that, sacā — together — vardhaya: make grow naḥ brahma — our food — and the sacrifice, that is, the rite being performed. Having made the sacrifice grow by getting it completed with all its limbs, make its fruit — food — abundant. Among the twenty-eight words for food beginning with andhaḥ, brahma is read [the print reads "brahma varja"]."

(Grammar, noted briefly: ihi — root iṇ gatau with hi*, which is* ṅit*-like, so no guṇa; with* ā a single substitute udātta; stomān — suffix man ("artistusu…"), initial-udātta; in the Saṃhitā the final n becomes ru*, the* ā nasalised, the r → y and dropped ("lopaḥ śākalyasya"), without vowel sandhi; abhi — final-udātta; svara — root svṛ*, lowered;* gṛṇīhi — root gṝ śabde*, śnā,* ī by "ī halyaghoḥ" (Pā. 6-4-113), the root vowel shortened (Pā. 7-3-80),* ṇ by the Kāśikā's addition to 8-4-1; ruva — root ru śabde*, śa* for* śap by Vedic exchange, uvaṅ*, loss of* hi*;* brahma — root bṛhi vṛddhau with manin (Uṇ. 4-145), the n dropped and am inserted after the last vowel (Pā. 1-1-47), initial-udātta; vaso — vocative, lowered; yajñam — naṅ (Pā. 3-3-90); vardhaya — lowered; since ca is used twice, this verb is understood in the earlier clause as well, so the rule "cavāyoge prathamā" (Pā. 8-1-59) does not prevent the lowering.)

Page 397 — Rik 4: grammar close, word-meanings, overall sense, English

(The first lines of the page finish Sāyaṇa's grammar, given in full with p. 396 above.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

वसो (vaso) — O Indra, you who are excellent (or the cause of our dwelling-places) | (हे) इन्द्र ((he) indra) — O Indra | एहि (ehi) — come (to this sacrificial ground that we perform) | स्तोमान् (stomān) — the hymns that the priests called udgātṛ, singers of the Sāman, recite, or sing | अभि स्वर (abhi svara) — listen with attention and give praise (that is, express approval) | अभि गृणीहि (abhi gṛṇīhi) — praise (the rites, that the adhvaryu performs) | आ रुव (ā ruva) — listen to the śastra mantras recited by the priests of the hotṛ group and signify your approval | (then) नः (naḥ) — to us | ब्रह्म च (brahma ca) — food too | यज्ञं च (yajñaṃ ca) — our sacrifice too | सचा (sacā) — being together (that is, being here) | वर्धय (vardhaya) — increase (that is, bring our sacrifice to completion, along with all its limbs, and bestow on us the food and the other foodstuffs that are its fruit).

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Indra! You are the cause of our dwellings — that is, it is you who give us the places where we live. Such as you are, O Indra, endowed with the quality of excellence! Come here, to the sacrifice we are performing; listen to the hymns sung with Sāmans by the priests called udgātṛ, to the adhvaryu, and to the śastra-mantras recited by the priests of the hotṛ group — to the hymns that each of them performs — and signify your approval of them by sound. Then grant that our sacrifice grows and is completed; and bestow upon us food and other nourishment.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> Come hither, O good Indra, applaud our prayers, praise them, receive them approvingly. O Indra, bless our sacrifice and bestow upon us abundant food.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

On the matter of the special application of this rik, the Bhāṣyakāra, following the rule —

> विशेषविनियोगस्तु यत्र श्रौतो न सूत्रितः । स्मार्तं तत्र विजानीयादृग्विधानादिसूत्रतः ॥ viśeṣa-viniyogas tu yatra śrauto na sūtritaḥ | smārtaṃ tatra vijānīyād ṛgvidhānādi-sūtrataḥ // "Where the special application [of a mantra] has not been laid down in the Śrauta [texts], one is to know the Smārta one from the Ṛgvidhāna and other texts."

— says that where the special application of a mantra is not stated in the Śrauta sūtras, in the performance of Smārta rites one must learn the application of that mantra from works such as the Ṛgvidhāna; and since no special application has been stated in the Śrauta sūtras for this rik ehi stomān, its general application in rites such as the Brahmayajña is to be understood.

In this rik there are three verbs, svara, gṛṇīhi, ruva: svara — root svṛ śabdopatāpayoḥ; gṛṇīhi — root gṝ śabde; ruva — root ru śabde. Since these are given in the Dhātupāṭha, all three have the one meaning "make a sound." When one adds the prefix abhi — abhilakṣya — and renders it "make a sound of praise," that is, "praise, approve by sound (or by speech)," Skandasvāmī and Veṅkaṭamādhava likewise give this same sense; so it is this that should be accepted.

"Vaso" — nivāsakāraṇabhūtendra — "O Indra, the cause of dwelling-places": the Bhāṣyakāra's sense. Skandasvāmī: वसो । शतपथे वसिष्ठ इति वसुशब्दस्यातिशयितप्रत्ययान्तस्य "यद्वै नः श्रेष्ठस्तेन वसिष्ठः" इति प्रशस्यतमेन वचनेन श्रेष्ठशब्देनार्थविवरणदर्शनात् वसुशब्दः प्रशस्यनाम (vaso | śatapathe vasiṣṭha iti vasuśabdasyātiśayitapratyayāntasya "yadvai naḥ śreṣṭhastena vasiṣṭhaḥ" iti praśasyatamena vacanena śreṣṭhaśabdenārthavivaraṇadarśanāt vasuśabdaḥ praśasyanāma) — "vaso: since in the Śatapatha the word vasiṣṭha — vasu with the superlative suffix — is explained by the word śreṣṭha in the statement 'he is our best, therefore Vasiṣṭha', the word vasu is a name for 'excellent'": as stated in the Śatapatha Brāhmaṇa of the Śukla Yajurveda, vasu is explained as śreṣṭha ("best") and praśasya ("praiseworthy"). Or, since vasu also means wealth, the sense "O Indra, who are wealthy" may be given as well.

"Brahma" — andhaḥ — among the twenty-eight words for food beginning with vājaḥ, the word brahma is read (Ni. 3-9 as printed); so brahma means food. It is customary to call anything fit to be eaten "food." Besides, Yāska in the Nirukta says: अन्नं कस्मादानतं भूतेभ्यो ऽत्तेर्वा अभिमुख्येन ह्येतत् नतं प्रह्वीभूतं भवति भोजनाय भूतानाम् । अत्तेर्वा । ... अद्यते ऽत्ति च भूतानि । तस्मादन्नं तदुच्यत इति (annaṃ kasmādānataṃ bhūtebhyo 'ttervā abhimukhyena hyetat nataṃ prahvībhūtaṃ bhavati bhojanāya bhūtānām | attervā | ... adyate 'tti ca bhūtāni | tasmādannaṃ taducyata iti) (the source breaks the quotation after atter vā with "having said", then continues) — "Why is it anna (food)? It is ānata, bowed down towards beings, or from ad ('to eat'): for it is bent, humbled, before beings for their eating; or from ad: it is eaten and it eats beings; therefore it is called anna." Thus he gives the etymology of the word.

Page 399 — Rik 4: Special Topics (continued) and grammar

"Sacā" — "together" — sahitaḥ. In this rik no use of this word seems evident; the sense may be given: "being together, that is, directly (in person)."

"Vardhaya" — "increase; bring to completion; fulfil without obstacle." The usage of this root is special in the Ṛgveda. Besides the general sense "increase," it must be given a meaning according to context in many places. For example, in the sentence tvāṃ vardhantu no giraḥ the word vardhantu has the sense "let them praise." In this rik brahma ca vardhaya — "increase the food" — means "give us abundant food"; likewise yajñaṃ ca vardhaya — "increase the sacrifice" — means "grant that the sacrifice be completed without obstacle."

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 399–401, noted briefly)

एहि (ehi) — root iṇ gatau ("to go"), loṭ second singular sip; sip → hi by "seryapicca" (Pā. 3-4-87); the śap vikaraṇa is dropped by "adiprabhṛtibhyaḥ śapaḥ" (Pā. 2-4-72); hi is not pit, hence by "sārvadhātukam apit" (printed "1-6-4" [as printed], i.e. 1-2-4) it is ṅit, and "kṅiti ca" (Pā. 1-1-5) prevents guṇa; "tiṅṅ atiṅaḥ" (Pā. 8-1-28) makes it unaccented; with the prefix ā, the guṇa arises as a single substitute and gives ehi; ā is a nipāta, hence udātta, and the single substitute e takes the udātta by "ekādeśa udāttenodāttaḥ" (Pā. 8-2-5). स्तोमान् (stomān) — root ṣṭuñ stutau with man ("arti-stu-su…," Uṇ. 1-142); guṇa by "sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ" (Pā. 7-3-84); accusative plural stomān. The Saṃhitā sandhi — with the following word: "dīrghād aṭi samānapāde" (Pā. 8-3-9): the n after a long vowel, when followed by an aṭ-letter in the same pāda, is replaced by ru; stomār + abhi: by "āto 'ṭi nityam" (Pā. 8-3-3) the long ā before that ru is always nasalized, giving stomā̃; "bho-bhago-agho-apūrvasya yo 'śi" (Pā. 8-3-17): y replaces ru after bho, bhago, agho and a/ā before a voiced sound; then "lopaḥ śākalyasya" (Pā. 8-3-19) drops the y; the source argues that by "pūrvatrāsiddham" (Pā. 8-2-1) the savarṇa-dīrgha of "akaḥ savarṇe dīrghaḥ" (Pā. 6-1-101) does not apply (the y having been "unseen" — the elision of y is in the last three pādas and invisible to the earlier rule), so stomā̃ + abhi stays as two syllables. अभि (abhi) — final-udātta by "evādīnām antaḥ" (Phiṭ-sūtra 82). स्वर (svara) — root svṛ śabdopatāpayoḥ, loṭ second singular with the ending dropped, unaccented. गृणीहि (gṛṇīhi) — root gṝ śabde, loṭ second singular sip; sip → hi by "seryapicca" (Pā. 3-4-87); the vikaraṇa śnā by "kryādibhyaḥ śnā" (Pā. 3-1-81); "ī halyaghoḥ" (Pā. 6-4-113): the ā of śnā and of an abhyasta other than a ghu root becomes ī before a consonant-initial kit/ṅit ending, giving gṝ + nī + hi; "pvādīnāṃ hrasvaḥ" (Pā. 7-3-80): before a śit suffix pūñ and the like shorten, so gṛ; ṇatva by "raṣābhyāṃ no ṇaḥ samānapade" (Pā. 8-4-1) with the vārttika "raṣābhyāṃ ṇatve ṛkāragrahaṇam", which the Mahābhāṣya states as "ṛkārāc ceti vaktavyam"; where the vārttika is set aside, the Mahābhāṣya divides "chandasy avagrahāt" (Pā. 8-4-26) into "ṛtaḥ" and "chandasy avagrahāt", the first part giving ṇ after ṛ: gṛṇīhi; unaccented by "tiṅṅ atiṅaḥ" (Pā. 8-1-28). रुव (ruva) — root ru śabde, loṭ second singular sip, → hi by "seryapicca" (adādi class, hence the vikaraṇa śap is dropped by "ādiprabhṛtibhyaḥ śapaḥ"; the source notes that, by Vedic inversion, a śa-type vikaraṇa arises here instead) (continues on p. 400).

Pages 400–401 — Rik 4 grammar closes

(Grammar page, noted briefly.) रुव (ruva) — ru śabde (adādi), loṭ second singular sip, sip → hi by "seryapicca". The adādi vikaraṇa śap ought to be dropped by "adiprabhṛtibhyaḥ śapaḥ" (Pā. 2-4-72); here instead, by Vedic inversion, the vikaraṇa śa arises, which by "sārvadhātukam apit" (Pā. 1-2-4) is ṅit, so no guṇa; the u of ru takes uvaṅ by "aci śnudhātubhruvāṃ yvor iyaṅuvaṅau" (Pā. 6-4-77), giving ruv + a + hi; hi is dropped by "ato heḥ" (Pā. 6-4-105), so ruva; wholly unaccented by "tiṅṅ atiṅaḥ" (Pā. 8-1-28). ब्रह्म (brahma) — root bṛha vṛddhau ("to grow"), an idit root, so num by "idito num dhātoḥ" (printed "6-1-58" [as printed], i.e. 7-1-58), giving bṛnh; then manin (carried from "sarvadhātubhyo manin") by "bṛṃher am nalopaś ca" (Uṇ. 3-585 [as printed]; the bhāṣya gives 4-145), with the augment am and loss of the n of num; the am goes after the last vowel by "mid aco 'ntyāt paraḥ" (Pā. 1-1-47); some read the Uṇādi sūtra as "bṛṃher no 'c ca" (Uṇ. 4-585 [as printed]), the n becoming a; the ṛ → r by "iko yaṇ aci" (6-1-77, printed "jā. sū." [sic]), giving brahman; manin is nit, so initial-udātta. वसो (vaso) — a vocative, unaccented by "āmantritasya ca" (Pā. 8-1-19). यज्ञम् (yajñam) — naṅ by "yajayācayatavicchapracharakṣo naṅ" (Pā. 3-3-90) after yaj; j + n → jñ by "stoḥ ścunā ścuḥ" (Pā. 8-4-40). वर्धय (vardhaya) — a finite verb, unaccented by "tiṅṅ atiṅaḥ" (Pā. 8-1-28); but since in this mantra two ca's are heard (brahma ca vardhaya, yajñaṃ ca vardhaya), the verb is connected with the earlier clause too — so that the vardhaya of the earlier clause is the first finite verb of the joined sentence, and the rule "cavāyoge prathamā" (Pā. 8-1-59) prevents the lowering of the first verb in a sentence joined by ca and vā; hence no lowering applies where the first-uttered verb is concerned.

॥४॥

---

Page 402 — Sūkta 10, Rik 5

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. Line 2: the stroke in सुतेषु stands between ते and षु; read as on षु — [accent ?].)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

उक्थमिन्द्रा॑य शंस्यं॑ वर्धनं॑ पुरुनि॒ष्षिधे॑ । श॒क्रो यथा॑ सु॒तेषु॑ णो र॒रण॑त्स॒ख्येषु॑ च ॥५॥ [accent ?]

ukthám índrāya śáṃsyaṃ várdhanaṃ puruniṣṣídhe | śakró yáthā sutéṣu ṇo rāráṇat sakhyéṣu ca ||5|| [accent ?]

(The Saṃhitā prints णो for नो (the dental n becoming retroflex after the preceding ṣ*), as the printed grammar explains.)*

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

उक्थम् । इन्द्राय । शंस्यम् । वर्धनम् । पुरुनिःऽसिधे ॥ शक्रः । यथा । सुतेषु । नः । ररणत् । सख्येषु । च ॥५॥

uktham | indrāya | śaṃsyam | vardhanam | puruniḥ-sidhe || śakraḥ | yathā | suteṣu | naḥ | raraṇat | sakhyeṣu | ca ||5||

(The Pada text prints ररणत् (short first syllable), as printed; the Saṃhitā has रारणत्.)

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

अभिप्लवषडहगतोक्थ्येष्वच्छावाकस्य तृतीयसवन उक्थमिन्द्राय शंस्यमित्यनुरूपस्तृचः । एह्यूष्विति खण्ड इन्द्रं विश्वा अवीवृधन्नुक्थमिन्द्राय शंस्यम् । आ. ७-८ । इति सूत्रितम् ॥ इन्द्रायेन्द्रार्थं वर्धनं वृद्धिसाधनमुक्थं शस्त्रं शंस्यम् । अस्माभिः शंसनीयम् । कीदृशायेन्द्राय । पुरुनिष्षिधे बहूनां शत्रूणां निषेधकारिणे । शक्र इन्द्रो नो ऽस्मदीयेषु सुतेषु पुत्रेषु सख्येषु च सखित्वेष्वपि यथा येन प्रकारेण रारणत् अतिशयेन शब्दं कुर्यात्तथा शंस्यमिति पूर्वत्रान्वयः । अस्मदीयेन शस्त्रेण परितुष्ट इन्द्रो ऽस्माकं पुत्रानस्मत्सख्यानि च बहुधा प्रशंसत्वित्यर्थः ॥ उक्थम् । वचेस्थक्प्रत्यय उक्तः । उ. २-२ । प्रत्ययस्वरः । शंस्यम् । शंसु स्तुतौ । ण्यन्तादचो यत् । णेरनिटीति णिलोपः । तित्स्वरिते प्राप्ते यतो ऽनाव इत्याद्युदात्तत्वम् । वर्धनम् । करणाधिकरणयोश्च । पा. ३-३-११७ । इति करणे ल्युट् । लितीति प्रत्ययपूर्वस्योदात्तत्वम् । पुरुनिष्षिधे । बहूनां शत्रूनां निषेधकाय । षिध गत्याम् । धात्वादेः षः सः । अत्र निरित्युपसर्गस्य निशब्दसमानार्थस्य प्राक्प्रयोगः । क्विप्चेति क्विप् । क्विपः सर्वापहारी लोपः । कुगतिप्रादयः । पा. २-२-१८ । इति समासः । निसः सकारेणेणो व्यवधानं छान्दसत्वादनादृत्योपसर्गात्सुनोतीत्यादिना । पा. ८-३-६५ । धातुसकारस्य षत्वम् । निसः सकारस्य ष्टुना ष्टुः । पा. ८-४-४१ । इति षत्वम् । पुरुशब्देन कर्मणि षष्ठ्यन्तेन समासः । षिधो धातुस्वरेणोदात्तत्वम् । निष्षिध इति प्रादिसमासे कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् । कृद्ग्रहणे गतिकारकपूर्वस्यापि ग्रहणात्पुनः कारकसमासे ऽपि स एव स्वरः । शक्नोतीति शक्रः । स्फायितञ्चिवञ्चिशकि इत्यादिना । उ २-१३ । रक् । प्रत्ययस्वरः । यथा । प्रकारवचने थाल् । पा. ५-३-२३ । लित्स्वरेण प्रत्ययात्पूर्वो ऽकार उदात्तः । सुतेषु । क्तः प्रत्ययस्वरेणोदात्तः । नसो नकारस्य नश्च धातुस्थोरुषुभ्यः । पा. ८-४-२७ । इति संहितायां णत्वम् । रारणात् [sic] । रण शब्दार्थः । धातोरेकाचः । पा. ३-१-२२ । इति यङ् । यङो ऽचि च । पा. २-४-७४ । इति लुक् । प्रत्ययलक्षणेन । पा. ६-१-९ । द्विर्भावो हलादिशेषः । दीर्घो ऽकितः । पा. ७-४-८३ । इति दीर्घः । प्रत्ययलक्षणेन सनाद्यन्ता धातवः । पा. ३-१-३२ । इति धातुसंज्ञायां लिङर्थे लेट् । पा. ३-४-७ । इति हेतुहेतुमद्भावलक्षणे । पा. ३-३-१५६ । लिङर्थे लेट् । अत्र हीन्द्रकर्तृकं रारणनमुक्थशंसनस्य कर्तव्यत्वे हेतुः । लेटस्तिप् । इतश्च लोपः परस्मैपदेष्वितीकारलोपः । लेटो ऽडाटावित्यडागमः । कर्तरि शप् । तस्य चर्करीतं परस्मैपदमदादिवच्च द्रष्टव्यमित्यदादिवद्भावादिप्रभृतिभ्यः शप इति प्राप्तो लुग्बहुलं छन्दसीति निषिध्यते । शपो ऽनुदात्तत्वाद्धातोरन्तोदात्त एव शिष्यते । शपा लसार्वधातुकस्य व्यवधानात्तत्र परतो विधीयमानमभ्यस्तानामादिरित्याद्युदात्तत्वं न भवति । न च तिङ्ङतिङ इति निघातः । अत्र यथाशब्दयोगेन यावद्यथाभ्याम् । पा ८-१-३६ । इति निषेधात् । चवायोगे प्रथमेति वात्र निघातो न भविष्यति । अत्र ह्युत्तरवाक्ये सख्येषु चेति चानुकृष्टविभक्त्यपेक्षयेयं प्रथमा तिङ्विभक्तिः । सख्येषु । सख्युः कर्माणि सख्यानि । तेषु । कर्मणि चेत्यनुवृत्तौ सख्युर्यः । पा. ५-१-१२६ । इति सखिशब्दाद्यप्रत्ययः । तत्र भसंज्ञायां यस्येति च । पा. ६-४-१४८ । इतीकारलोपः । प्रत्ययस्वरः ॥

abhiplavaṣaḍahagatokthyeṣvacchāvākasya tṛtīyasavana ukthamindrāya śaṃsyamityanurūpastṛcaḥ | ehyūṣviti khaṇḍa indraṃ viśvā avīvṛdhannukthamindrāya śaṃsyam | ā. 7-8 | iti sūtritam || indrāyendrārthaṃ vardhanaṃ vṛddhisādhanamukthaṃ śastraṃ śaṃsyam | asmābhiḥ śaṃsanīyam | kīdṛśāyendrāya | puruniṣṣidhe bahūnāṃ śatrūṇāṃ niṣedhakāriṇe | śakra indro no 'smadīyeṣu suteṣu putreṣu sakhyeṣu ca sakhitveṣvapi yathā yena prakāreṇa rāraṇat atiśayena śabdaṃ kuryāttathā śaṃsyamiti pūrvatrānvayaḥ | asmadīyena śastreṇa parituṣṭa indro 'smākaṃ putrānasmatsakhyāni ca bahudhā praśaṃsatvityarthaḥ ||

uktham | vacesthakpratyaya uktaḥ | u. 2-2 | pratyayasvaraḥ | śaṃsyam | śaṃsu stutau | ṇyantādaco yat | ṇeraniṭīti ṇilopaḥ | titsvarite prāpte yato 'nāva ityādyudāttatvam | vardhanam | karaṇādhikaraṇayośca | pā. 3-3-117 | iti karaṇe lyuṭ | litīti pratyayapūrvasyodāttatvam | puruniṣṣidhe | bahūnāṃ śatrūnāṃ niṣedhakāya | ṣidha gatyām | dhātvādeḥ ṣaḥ saḥ | atra nirityupasargasya niśabdasamānārthasya prākprayogaḥ | kvipceti kvip | kvipaḥ sarvāpahārī lopaḥ | kugatiprādayaḥ | pā. 2-2-18 | iti samāsaḥ | nisaḥ sakāreṇeṇo vyavadhānaṃ chāndasatvādanādṛtyopasargātsunotītyādinā | pā. 8-3-65 | dhātusakārasya ṣatvam | nisaḥ sakārasya ṣṭunā ṣṭuḥ | pā. 8-4-41 | iti ṣatvam | puruśabdena karmaṇi ṣaṣṭhyantena samāsaḥ | ṣidho dhātusvareṇodāttatvam | niṣṣidha iti prādisamāse kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvam | kṛdgrahaṇe gatikārakapūrvasyāpi grahaṇātpunaḥ kārakasamāse 'pi sa eva svaraḥ | śaknotīti śakraḥ | sphāyitañcivañciśaki ityādinā | u 2-13 | rak | pratyayasvaraḥ | yathā | prakāravacane thāl | pā. 5-3-23 | litsvareṇa pratyayātpūrvo 'kāra udāttaḥ | suteṣu | ktaḥ pratyayasvareṇodāttaḥ | naso nakārasya naśca dhātusthoruṣubhyaḥ | pā. 8-4-27 | iti saṃhitāyāṃ ṇatvam | rāraṇāt [sic] | raṇa śabdārthaḥ | dhātorekācaḥ | pā. 3-1-22 | iti yaṅ | yaṅo 'ci ca | pā. 2-4-74 | iti luk | pratyayalakṣaṇena | pā. 6-1-9 | dvirbhāvo halādiśeṣaḥ | dīrgho 'kitaḥ | pā. 7-4-83 | iti dīrghaḥ | pratyayalakṣaṇena sanādyantā dhātavaḥ | pā. 3-1-32 | iti dhātusaṃjñāyāṃ liṅarthe leṭ | pā. 3-4-7 | iti hetuhetumadbhāvalakṣaṇe | pā. 3-3-156 | liṅarthe leṭ | atra hīndrakartṛkaṃ rāraṇanamukthaśaṃsanasya kartavyatve hetuḥ | leṭastip | itaśca lopaḥ parasmaipadeṣvitīkāralopaḥ | leṭo 'ḍāṭāvityaḍāgamaḥ | kartari śap | tasya carkarītaṃ parasmaipadamadādivacca draṣṭavyamityadādivadbhāvādadiprabhṛtibhyaḥ śapa iti prāpto lugbahulaṃ chandasīti niṣidhyate | śapo 'nudāttatvāddhātorantodātta eva śiṣyate | śapā lasārvadhātukasya vyavadhānāttatra parato vidhīyamānamabhyastānāmādityādyudāttatvaṃ na bhavati | na ca tiṅṅatiṅa iti nighātaḥ | atra yathāśabdayogena yāvadyathābhyām | pā 8-1-36 | iti niṣedhāt | cavāyoge prathameti vātra nighāto na bhaviṣyati | atra hyuttaravākye sakhyeṣu ceti cānukṛṣṭavibhaktyapekṣayeyaṃ prathamā tiṅvibhaktiḥ | sakhyeṣu | sakhyuḥ karmāṇi sakhyāni | teṣu | karmaṇi cetyanuvṛttau sakhyuryaḥ | pā. 5-1-126 | iti sakhiśabdādyapratyayaḥ | tatra bhasaṃjñāyāṃ yasyeti ca | pā. 6-4-148 | itīkāralopaḥ | pratyayasvaraḥ ||

Translation: "In the ukthya [rites] of the Abhiplava Ṣaḍaha, in the Acchāvāka's third pressing, the triplet beginning uktham indrāya śaṃsyam is the anurūpa. In the section ehy ū ṣu it is laid down: 'indraṃ viśvā avīvṛdhan, uktham indrāya śaṃsyam' (Āśvalāyana 7-8). Indrāya — for Indra's sake — vardhanam — the means of increase — uktham, the śastra — is śaṃsyam, to be recited by us. For what kind of Indra? Puruniṣṣidhe — for him who bars many enemies. Śakraḥ — Indra — yathā — in whatever manner — rāraṇat would, in the highest degree, make a sound [of approval] regarding naḥ, our suteṣu (sons) and sakhyeṣu (friendships) — so [the śastra] is to be recited: this is the connection with what precedes. The sense is: Indra, pleased with our śastra, praises our sons and our friends in many ways." (Grammar, noted briefly: uktham — from vac with thak (Uṇ. 2-2); śaṃsyam — root śaṃsu stutau with yat*, initial-udātta;* vardhanam — lyuṭ in the instrumental sense (Pā. 3-3-117), the syllable before the suffix udātta; puruniṣṣidhe — root ṣidha gatyām with kvip after nis (Pā. 2-2-18), the ṣ by Pā. 8-3-65 and 8-4-41, compounded with puru as its object, the root accent standing; śakraḥ — with rak (Uṇ. 2-13); yathā — thāl (Pā. 5-3-23); suteṣu — with kta*;* ṇaḥ — the ṇ in the Saṃhitā by Pā.

8-4-27; rāraṇat — root raṇa with yaṅ (Pā. 3-1-22) dropped (Pā. 2-4-74), doubling, lengthening (Pā. 7-4-83), the leṭ in the sense of liṅ (Pā. 3-4-7, 3-3-156), not lowered after yathā (Pā. 8-1-36); sakhyeṣu — "the acts of a friend", suffix ya (Pā. 5-1-126), the i dropped (Pā. 6-4-148).)

Page 403 — Rik 5: word-meanings, overall sense

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

पुरुनिष्षिधे (puruniṣṣidhe) — who destroys many enemies | इन्द्राय (indrāya) — for Indra | वर्धनम् (vardhanam) — a means of increase | उक्थम् (uktham) — a mantra in the form of a śastra, or a hymn | शंस्यम् (śaṃsyam) — to be praised by us | यथा (yathā) — in which manner (by such a hymn) | शक्रः (śakraḥ) — mighty Indra | नः (naḥ) — our | सुतेषु (suteṣu) — among our sons | सख्येषु च (sakhyeṣu ca) — and among those of friendly disposition toward us | रारणत् (rāraṇat) — [by this word] he makes known his approval.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

Indra destroys many enemies. For Indra's satisfaction we must recite śastra mantras, hymns; or we must praise Indra's qualities with śastra mantras. By praising Indra in this manner, Indra will be pleased and will make known his approval toward us, toward our sons, and toward our friends and others dear to us.

Page 404 — Rik 5: English and Special Topics

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> An agreeable hymn is to be sung to Indra, the destroyer of many enemies, so that the mighty Indra may speak with kindness to our sons and to our friends.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

In the rite called Abhiplava-ṣaḍaha, in the third pressing, when the priest called Acchāvāka recites the ukthya mantras, he is to recite the triplet uktham indrāya śaṃsyam; Āśvalāyana states this special application in the section ehy ū ṣu of his Śrauta-sūtra (Āś. Sū. 7-8), in the sūtra indraṃ viśvā avīvṛdhann uktham indrāya śaṃsyam.

"Vardhanam" — वृद्धिसाधनम् (vṛddhi-sādhanam) — "the means of increase": that is, by praising Indra [with it] increase [of fortune] comes to us. Or: the sense of the root vṛdh used in the Ṛgveda is "increase," that is, "praise," "cause satisfaction"; so the word vardhanam here may mean "that which brings satisfaction to Indra."

"Puruniṣṣidhe" — बहूनां शत्रूणां निषेधकारिणे (bahūnāṃ śatrūṇāṃ niṣedha-kāriṇe) — "to him who is the barrier of many enemies": the Bhāṣyakāra explains the word so. Puru in this word means "much" — it only means "many"; the word "enemies" is supplied.

"Śakraḥ" — śaktimān — "one who is able, who is strong." In modern Sanskrit and also in the Vedas, the word śakra is especially established with the sense of Indra.

“Yathā” — since only yathā appears in this rik, the word tathā must be supplied. The second half, śakro yathā rāraṇat sakhyeṣu ca, is dependent upon the first half, uktham indrāya.

“Rāraṇat” — the root underlying this word is raṇa, meaning “to make a sound.” To say that he “makes a sound among sons and friends” gives no particular object; so the sense “makes known his approval” is given. Unless certain words are supplied, one cannot explain this rik satisfactorily.

“Suteṣu” — in the Ṛgveda the various forms of the word suta have the general meaning “the juice of the Soma creeper that has been pressed out”; but in some contexts, rarely, suta has the sense “son”; this is such a case.

(Special Topics, p. 404, ends on p. 405 with the remaining examples of suta in the sense “son”:)

> प्र नु वोचा सुतेषु वां वीर्या ३ यानि चक्रथुः ॥ pra nu vocā suteṣu vāṃ vīryā yāni cakrathuḥ || (ऋ. सं. ६-५९-१ — Ṛgveda Saṃhitā 6-59-1) (“Let me now proclaim among [your] sons the heroic deeds that you two have done.” — mine and tentative; the page prints the verse with the prolongation mark ३.)

“…and so on” — more examples may be given.

Pages 405–409 — Rik 5 grammar

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 405–409, noted briefly; the scholastic arguments on pp. 406–408 are characterized in outline only)

उक्थम् (uktham) — root vaca paribhāṣaṇe; the suffix thak by “pātṛtudivaciricisicibhyas thak” (Uṇ. 2-164); “vacisvapiyajādīnāṃ kiti” (Pā. 6-1-15) gives saṃprasāraṇa; va → u with pūrvarūpa by “saṃprasāraṇāc ca”; c → k by “coḥ kuḥ” (Pā. 8-2-30); the accent is by the suffix. शंस्यम् (śaṃsyam) — root śaṃsu stutau + ṇic; the suffix yat by “aco yat” (Pā. 3-1-97); ṇi dropped by “ṇer aniṭi” (Pā. 6-4-51); the svarita that would arise by “tit svaritam” (Pā. 6-1-185) is set aside by “yato ’nāvaḥ” (printed “6-4-213” [as printed], i.e. 6-1-213), so initial-udātta. वर्धनम् (vardhanam) — “karaṇādhikaraṇayoś ca” (Pā. 3-3-117): lyuṭ; yu → ana by “yuvor anākau” (Pā. 7-1-1); laghūpadha-guṇa; “liti” (Pā. 6-1-193): the vowel before a l-marked suffix is udātta. पुरुनिष्षिधे (puruniṣṣidhe) — puru (“many”) + niṣṣidh “he who bars”; the root ṣidhu gatyām (ṣ → s by “dhātvādeḥ ṣaḥ saḥ,” Pā. 6-1-64); the prefix nis, in the sense of ni, stands before it; kvip by “kvip ca” (Pā. 3-2-76), with all of kvip dropped; the prādi compound by “kugatiprādayaḥ” (Pā. 2-2-18). The scholastic discussion (pp. 405–408): between the s of the prefix nis and the root’s s (here, ṣidh), the question is whether the s of nis “intervenes” (vyavadhāna) so that the retroflexion of the root’s s by “upasargāt sunoti-suvati-syati-stauti-stobhati-sthā-senaya-sedha-sica-sañja-svañjām” (Pā. 8-3-65) is blocked — with “sahe sāḍaḥ saḥ” (Pā. 8-3-56), “apadāntasya mūrdhanyaḥ” (Pā. 8-3-55) and “iṇkoḥ” (Pā. 8-3-57) carried over (p. 405); the iṇ of the prefix is taken as a qualifier by “yena vidhis tadantasya” (Pā. 1-1-72); the vārttika “upasargāt ṣatve niso upasaṃkhyānam aniṇantatvāt” (8-3-65 vārttika 1) and its rejoinder “na vā varṇāśrayatvāt” (8-3-65 vārttika 2) are cited; it is answered that by “numvisarjanīyaśarvyavāye ’pi” (Pā. 8-3-58) the intervention of num, visarga and ś, ṣ, s does not prevent the retroflexion, as the Mahābhāṣya says, “tatra śarvyavāye ity eva siddham”; the Vedabhāṣya’s opinion that, because the intervention of the sibilant is “unobserved” in the Veda, the retroflexion arises, is discussed and is stated to be needless effort. "Niṣ" + "ṣidh": the ṣ is retained, and by "ṣṭunā ṣṭuḥ" (Pā. 8-4-41) the s of nis becomes ṣ, giving niṣṣidh; the compound with the genitive-dependent puru (puru is the object, "they bar many") gives puruniṣṣidh — a compound that, by "gati-kāraka-upapadāt kṛt" (Pā. 6-2-139), keeps the accent of the kṛdanta second member. Niṣṣidh is a kṛdanta because kvip was added even though lost (by "pratyayalope pratyayalakṣaṇam"; kvip comes only after a root, under the heading "dhātoḥ," Pā. 3-1-91); the long argument that the compound is formed with a verb-noun that is not itself a kṛdanta by the usual "kṛd-grahaṇe gatikārakapūrvasyāpi grahaṇam" paribhāṣā (Paribhāṣā 28) settles that the accent of the kṛdanta second member stands. The remaining syllables are unaccented by "anudāttaṃ padam ekavarjam" (Pā. 6-1-158); the dative ending e of puruniṣṣidhe (ṅe) is unaccented by "anudāttau suppitau" (Pā. 3-1-4), and then becomes svarita by "udāttād anudāttasya svaritaḥ" (8-4-66, printed "pā. rū." [sic]). शक्रः (śakraḥ) — "sphāyitañcivañciśaki…" (Uṇ. 2-170 [?] as printed, the second digit 7 or 2; the bhāṣya gives 2-13): the root śakḷ śaktau with rak; the accent by the suffix. यथा (yathā) — "prakāravacane thāl" (Pā. 5-3-23); thāl is l-marked, so the vowel before it is udātta by "liti" (Pā. 6-1-193). सुतेषु (suteṣu) — root ṣuñ abhiṣave + kta; udātta by the suffix. नः (naḥ) — nas is substituted for asmākam by "bahuvacanasya vasnasau" (Pā. 8-1-21); unaccented; in the Saṃhitā the n of nas is retroflexed to ṇ ("naś ca dhātustho-ruṣubhyaḥ," Pā. 8-4-27: after a cause of retroflexion in a root, and after uru and ṣu); suteṣu ends in ṣ with pu-type words so that the n of the following nas becomes ṇ: suteṣu ṇaḥ; the Śekharakāra holds that ṣu there imitates the root ṣuñ with its ṣ ("ṣu iti kṛtaṣatvasya suño 'nukaraṇam," Śe. on 8-4-27), and so explains why there is no ṇatva in gṛ(gra) heṣunaḥ; the Subodhinī agrees, and Bhaṭṭojidīkṣita in the Kaumudī gives examples such as abhīṣuṇaḥ; how ṇatva applies in the present case "is to be considered" (cintanīya). रारणत् (rāraṇat) — root raṇa śabdārthaḥ ("to sound"); yaṅ by "dhātor ekāco halādeḥ kriyāsamabhihāre yaṅ" (Pā. 3-1-22); yaṅ then dropped by "yaṅo 'ci ca" (Pā. 2-4-74), with "pratyayalope pratyayalakṣaṇam" (Pā. 1-1-62) keeping it as yaṅanta; doubling by "sanyaṅoḥ" (Pā. 6-1-9); "halādiḥ śeṣaḥ" (Pā. 7-4-60) drops the ṇ of the reduplicate; its lengthening by "dīrgho 'kitaḥ" (Pā. 7-4-83); "sanādyantā dhātavaḥ" (Pā. 3-1-32) gives root-status; then leṭ by "liṅarthe leṭ" (Pā. 3-4-7) in the sense of consequence ("hetuhetumadbhāva"): here Indra's making a sound of approval is the consequence of the reciting of the śastra; tip, with i dropped by "itaś ca lopaḥ parasmaipadeṣu" (Pā. 3-4-97), augment aṭ by "leṭo 'ḍāṭau" (Pā. 3-4-94), śap by "kartari śap" (Pā. 3-1-68) — which, since the yaṅluk form is treated like the adādi class ("carkarītaṃ ca"), should be dropped by "adiprabhṛtibhyaḥ śapaḥ" (Pā. 2-4-72) but is not dropped here by "bahulaṃ chandasi" (Pā. 2-4-73); śap is pit, hence unaccented; the root's accent stands — "dhātoḥ" (Pā. 6-1-162) — rāraṇ final-udātta; since śap intervenes before the lasārvadhātuka at, "abhyastānām ādiḥ" (Pā. 6-1-189) does not make it initial-udātta; the a of śap and of the augment combine by "ato guṇe" (Pā. 6-1-97); "tiṅṅ atiṅaḥ" (Pā. 8-1-28) does not lower it, since the particle yathā occurs ("yāvadyathābhyām," Pā. 8-1-36), the verb is not unaccented; or, by the ca in sakhyeṣu ca, the verb rāraṇat of the later clause is supplied from the earlier and so is the first-uttered finite verb, and "cavāyoge prathamā" (Pā. 8-1-59) prevents lowering. सख्येषु (sakhyeṣu) — sakhyuḥ karmāṇi sakhyāni: "sakhyur yaḥ" (Pā. 5-1-126), with "karmaṇi ca" carried from "guṇavacanabrāhmaṇādibhyaḥ karmaṇi ca" (Pā. 5-1-124), gives ya in the sense of act; the stem takes bha status by "yaci bham" (Pā. 1-4-18); i dropped by "yasyeti ca" (Pā. 6-4-148); locative plural sakhyeṣu; ya is udātta by "ādyudāttaś ca" (Pā. 3-1-3).

॥५॥

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. The print ends line 1 with ॥.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

तमित्सखित्व ईमहे तं राये तं सुवीर्ये । स शक्र उत नः शकदिन्द्रो वसु दयमानः ॥६॥

tam ít sakhitvá īmahe táṃ rāyé taṃ suvīrye | sa śakrá utá naḥ śakád indro vásu dayamānaḥ ||6||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

तम् । इत् । सखिऽत्वे । ईमहे । तम् । राये । तम् । सुऽवीर्ये ॥ सः । शक्रः । उत । नः । शकत् । इन्द्रः । वसु । दयमानः ॥६॥

tam | it | sakhi-tve | īmahe | tam | rāye | tam | su-vīrye || saḥ | śakraḥ | uta | naḥ | śakat | indraḥ | vasu | dayamānaḥ ||6||

(In the Saṃhitā the word सखित्वे prints as सखित्व before the following ई*; the pada text gives the full locative.)*

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

सखित्वे निमित्तभूते सति तमित्तमेवेन्द्रमीमहे । प्राप्नुमः । तथा राये धनार्थं तमीमहे । तथा सुवीर्ये शोभनसामर्थ्यनिमित्तं तमीमहे । उतापि च शक्रः शक्तिमान्स इन्द्रो नो ऽस्मभ्यं वसु धनं दयमानः प्रयच्छन् शकत् । अस्मदीयरक्षणे शक्तो ऽभूत् । सप्तदशयाच्ञाकर्मस्वीमहे यामीति पठितम् । तदनुसारेणेन्द्रं याचामह इति व्याख्येयम् ॥ सख्युर्भावः सखित्वम् । तस्य भावस्त्वतलौ । पा. ५-१-११९ । इति त्वः । प्रत्ययस्वरेणोदात्तः । ईमहे । ईङ् गतौ । ङित्त्वादात्मनेपदम् । पा. १-३-१२ । दिवादिभ्यः श्यन् । बहुलं छन्दसीति श्यनो लुक् । तिङ्ङतिङ इति निघातः । राये । ऊडिदमिति विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वम् । सुवीर्ये । शोभनं वीर्यं यस्यासौ सुवीर्यः । भवितृवाचिनानेन भावो लक्ष्यते । सुवीर्यत्व इत्यर्थः । बहुव्रीहावित्यनुवृत्तौ वीरवीर्यौ च । पा. ६-२-१२० । इत्युत्तरपदाद्युदात्तत्वम् । शक्नोतीति शक्रः । स्फायितञ्चिवञ्चिशकीत्यादिना रक् । प्रत्ययस्वरः । शकत् । शक्लृ शक्तौ । धातुसंबन्धाधिकारे छन्दसि लुङ्लङ्लिटः । पा. ३-४-६ । इति लुङ् । यतः शक्नोत्यतस्तमीमह इति धातुसंबन्धः । लुङस्तिप् । पुषादिद्युताद्यॢदितः परस्मैपदेषु । पा. ३-१-५५ । इति च्लेरङादेशः । बहुलं छन्दसि । पा. ६-४-७५ । इत्यडागमाभावः । तिङ्ङतिङ इति निघातः । वसु । निदित्यनुवृत्तौ वसेरुप्रत्ययः । उ. १-११ । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वम् । दयमानः । दय दानगतिरक्षणहिंसादानेषु । अनुदात्तेत्त्वादात्मनेपदम् । लटः शानजादेशः । पा. ३-२-१२४ । शपः पित्त्वादनुदात्तत्वम् । शानचश्चित इत्यन्तोदात्तत्वं बाधित्वादुपदेशाच्छप उत्तरत्वेन परत्वाल्लसार्वधातुकत्वादनुदात्तत्वम् । धातुस्वर एव शिष्यते ॥ १९ ॥

sakhitve nimittabhūte sati tamittamevendramīmahe | prāpnumaḥ | tathā rāye dhanārthaṃ tamīmahe | tathā suvīrye śobhanasāmarthyanimittaṃ tamīmahe | utāpi ca śakraḥ śaktimānsa indro no 'smabhyaṃ vasu dhanaṃ dayamānaḥ prayacchan śakat | asmadīyarakṣaṇe śakto 'bhūt | saptadaśayācñākarmasvīmahe yāmīti paṭhitam | tadanusāreṇendraṃ yācāmaha iti vyākhyeyam || sakhyurbhāvaḥ sakhitvam | tasya bhāvastvatalau | pā. 5-1-119 | iti tvaḥ | pratyayasvareṇodāttaḥ |

īmahe | īṅ gatau | ṅittvādātmanepadam | pā. 1-3-12 | divādibhyaḥ śyan | bahulaṃ chandasīti śyano luk | tiṅṅatiṅa iti nighātaḥ | rāye | ūḍidamiti vibhakterudāttatvam | suvīrye | śobhanaṃ vīryaṃ yasyāsau suvīryaḥ | bhavitṛvācinānena bhāvo lakṣyate | suvīryatva ityarthaḥ | bahuvrīhāvityanuvṛttau vīravīryau ca | pā. 6-2-120 | ityuttarapadādyudāttatvam | śaknotīti śakraḥ | sphāyitañcivañciśakīty ādinā rak | pratyayasvaraḥ | śakat | śaklṛ śaktau | dhātusaṃbandhādhikāre chandasi luṅlaṅliṭaḥ | pā. 3-4-6 | iti luṅ | yataḥ śaknotyatastamīmaha iti dhātusaṃbandhaḥ | luṅastip | puṣādidyutādylṛditaḥ parasmaipadeṣu | pā. 3-1-55 | iti cleraṅādeśaḥ | bahulaṃ chandasi | pā. 6-4-75 | ityaḍāgamābhāvaḥ | tiṅṅatiṅa iti nighātaḥ | vasu | nidityanuvṛttau vasurupratyayaḥ | u. 1-11 | nittvādādyudāttatvam | dayamānaḥ | daya dānagatirakṣaṇahiṃsādāneṣu | anudāttettvādātmanepadam | laṭaḥ śānajādeśaḥ | pā. 3-2-124 | śapaḥ pittvādanudāttatvam | śānacaścita ityantodāttatvaṃ bādhitvādupadeśācchapa uttaratvena paratvāllasārvadhātukatvādanudāttatvam | dhātusvara eva śiṣyate || 19 ||

Translation: "Sakhitve — for the sake of friendship — tam it, him, Indra, indeed, īmahe — we approach, we obtain [his favour]. Likewise rāye, for wealth, we approach him; likewise suvīrye, for the sake of fine capacity [valour], we approach him. And uta — also — śakraḥ, the mighty Indra, naḥ to us, vasu, wealth, dayamānaḥ — giving — śakat: has been able, has proved able in protecting us. Among the seventeen verbs meaning yācñā ('request') īmahe and yāmi are read; in accordance with this, it is to be explained: 'we request Indra.'" (Grammar, noted briefly: sakhitvam — "the state of a friend," with tva (Pā. 5-1-119); īmahe — root īṅ gatau*, ātmanepada since* ṅ*-marked (Pā. 1-3-12),* śyan of the divādi class dropped by luk under bahulam chandasi*;* rāye — case-ending udātta; suvīrye — "he whose valour is fine," the abstract sense suggested by this word for the possessor, suvīryatva*, with the second-member initial udātta by "vīravīryau ca" (Pā. 6-2-120);* śakraḥ — "he who is able," with rak*;* śakat — root śaklṛ śaktau*, by the rule that the Veda uses* luṅ*,* laṅ and liṭ interchangeably (Pā. 3-4-6), the aorist of śak with aṅ substitute for cli (Pā. 3-1-55), the augment aṭ not occurring by bahulaṃ chandasi (Pā. 6-4-75), unaccented; vasu — root vasa with u (Uṇ. 1-11), initial-udātta; dayamānaḥ — root daya with śānac for laṭ*, unaccented* śap*, the root accent remaining. The bhāṣya closes "॥ ৭৯ ॥", the nineteenth varga.)*

Page 410 — Rik 6: word-meanings, overall sense, English

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

(वयम्) सखित्वे ((vayam) sakhitve) — for the sake of friendship | तम् इत् (tam it) — to him alone (to Indra) | ईमहे (īmahe) — we pray | राये (rāye) — for the sake of wealth and prosperity | तम् (tam) — that Indra | (we pray) | सुवीर्ये (suvīrye) — for greater valour | तम् (tam) — that Indra | (we pray) | उत (uta) — and | शक्रः (śakraḥ) — the mighty one | सः इन्द्रः (saḥ indraḥ) — that Indra | नः (naḥ) — to us | वसु (vasu) — wealth | दयमानः (dayamānaḥ) — giving | शकत् (śakat) — may he be able to protect us.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

We pray to Indra for friendship, for wealth, and for powers of valour. That Indra, being mighty, is able not only to give us wealth but also to protect us.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> To him (Indra) alone we pray for friendship, to him for wealth, to him for great valour. For he, the powerful Indra conferring wealth is able to protect us.

Page 411 — Rik 6: Special Topics and grammar

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

"Īmahe" — among the seventeen verbs īmahe, yāmi, manmahe and others, denoting the act of requesting (yācñā-karma), the word īmahe is read (Ni. 3-19); so īmahe means "we ask, we beseech."

"Suvīrye" — su — good, abundant; vīrya = valour, power, capacity. Great valour, grat [sic] power, and so on [the source's own English].

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 411–412, noted briefly)

सखित्वे (sakhitve) — sakhyuḥ bhāvaḥ sakhitvam, locative ṅi → e; tva by "tasya bhāvas tvatalau" (Pā. 5-1-119); udātta by the suffix. ईमहे (īmahe) — root īṅ gatau; since it is ṅ-marked, the ātmanepada by "anudāttaṅita ātmanepadam" (Pā. 1-3-12); laṭ first plural mahiṅ; e by "ṭita ātmanepadānāṃ ṭere" (Pā. 3-4-79); the śyan of "divādibhyaḥ śyan" (Pā. 3-1-69), dropped by luk under "bahulaṃ chandasi" (Pā. 2-4-73); unaccented by "tiṅṅ atiṅaḥ" (Pā. 8-1-28). रायै (rāye) — rai + ṅe, "ūḍidam-padādy-appum-raidyubhyaḥ" (Pā. 6-1-171): after rai the ending is udātta. सुवीर्ये (suvīrye) — "śobhanaṃ vīryaṃ yasyāsau suvīryaḥ": the abstract sense suvīryatva ("fine valour") is suggested by a word whose own sense is that-which-has-it; the abstract-denoting use of suvīrya for suvīryatva; "vīra-vīryau ca" (Pā. 6-2-120), with "bahuvrīhau" carried over from "bahuvrīhau viśvaṃ saṃjñāyām" (Pā. 6-2-106): in a bahuvrīhi the words vīra and vīrya after su are initial-udātta in the Veda, so the initial of vīrya is udātta. शक्रः (śakraḥ) — "śaknoti iti śakraḥ": root śakḷ śaktau with rak by "sphāyitañcivañciśaki…" (Uṇ. 2-170 [?] as printed, the second digit 7 or 2); accent by the suffix. शकत् (śakat) — root śakḷ śaktau — under the heading "dhātusaṃbandhe pratyayāḥ" (Pā. 3-4-1) the rule "chandasi luṅlaṅliṭaḥ" (Pā. 3-4-6) allows luṅ here; the source notes the connection of the verb with īmahe ("because he is able, therefore we approach him"): "yataś śaknoti ataḥ tam īmahe"; luṅ, tip; the i of tip dropped by "itaś ca lopaḥ parasmaipadeṣu" (Pā. 3-4-97). (The grammar continues on p. 412.)

Page 412 — Rik 6 grammar closes; Sūkta 10, Rik 7

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar page, noted briefly)

Closing the grammar of शकत् (śakat): by "cli luṅi" (Pā. 3-1-43) the cli arises after the root (śak + cli + t); for the cli after a root of the puṣādi, dyutādi, and ḷdit classes in the parasmaipada, aṅ is substituted by "puṣādi-dyutādi-ḷditaḥ parasmaipadeṣu" (Pā. 3-1-55); the augment aṭ that "lūṅ-laṅ-lṛṅ-kṣv aḍudāttaḥ" (Pā. 6-4-71) would give does not arise, by "bahulaṃ chandasy amāṅyoge 'pi" (Pā. 6-4-75); wholly unaccented by "tiṅṅ atiṅaḥ" (Pā. 8-1-28). वसु (vasu) — "śvā-svṛ-snihi-trapy-asi-vasi-hani-klidi-bandhi-manibhyaś ca" (Uṇ. 1-10); nit is carried over from "dhānye nit" (Uṇ. 1-9) and uḥ from "bhṛmṛśī…uḥ" (Uṇ. 1-7), so u comes after the ten roots śvā etc. and is nit; so vasa nivāse gives vasu, initial-udātta by "ñnityādir nityam" (Pā. 6-1-197). दयमानः (dayamānaḥ) — root daya dāna-gati-rakṣaṇa-hiṃsā-dāneṣu; anudātta-it, so ātmanepada by "anudātta-ṅita ātmanepadam" (printed "1-3-1" [as printed], i.e. 1-3-12); śānac for laṭ by "laṭaḥ śatṛśānacāv aprathamāsamānādhikaraṇe" (Pā. 3-2-124); śap by "kartari śap" (Pā. 3-1-68); before āna the short a of the stem takes the augment muk by "āne muk" (Pā. 7-2-82), which is kit and so is added at the end ("ādyantau ṭakitau," Pā. 1-1-46): day + a + mān + a; śap is pit and so unaccented; the śānac, being cit, would give the final accent ("citaḥ," Pā. 6-1-163), but since it follows śap, an adupadeśa, the lasārvadhātuka is unaccented (tāsyanudāttenṅid-adupadeśāl lasārvadhātukam anudāttam, Pā. 6-1-186), this is set aside and only the root's accent stands: day.

॥६॥

---

Page 412 (lower) — Sūkta 10, Rik 7

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

सु॒वि॒वृत॑ सुनि॒रज॒मिन्द्र त्वादा॑त॒मिद्यशः॑ । गवा॒मप॑ व्र॒जं वृ॑धि कृणुष्व राधो॑ अद्रिवः ॥७॥

suvivṛ́taṃ sunirájam índra tvādātam íd yáśaḥ | gavām ápa vrajáṃ vṛdhi kṛṇuṣvá rā́dho adrivaḥ ||7||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

सुऽविवृतम् । सुनिःऽअजम् । इन्द्र । त्वाऽदातम् । इत् । यशः ॥ गवाम् । अप । व्रजम् । वृधि । कृणुष्व । राधः । अद्रिवः ॥७॥

su-vivṛtam | sunir-ajam | indra | tvā-dātam | it | yaśaḥ || gavām | apa | vrajam | vṛdhi | kṛṇuṣva | rādhaḥ | adrivaḥ ||7||

Page 413 — Rik 7: Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे इन्द्र यशो ऽन्नं कर्मफलभूतं सुविवृतं सुष्ठु सर्वत्र प्रसृतं सुनिरजं सुखेन निःशेषं प्राप्तुं शक्यं त्वादातमित्त्वया शोधितं च संपन्नमिति शेषः । अतः परं क्षीरादिरसलाभार्थं गवां व्रजं निवासस्थानमप वृधि । अपवृतमुद्घाटितद्वारं कुरु । हे अद्रिवः पर्वतोपलक्षितवज्रयुक्तेन्द्र राधो धनं कृणुष्व । संपादय ॥ सुविवृतम् । वृञ् वरणे । कर्मणि क्तप्रत्ययः । विशब्देन प्रादिसमासः । विवृतमित्यत्र कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरं बाधित्वा कर्मवाचिनि क्तान्ते परतो गतिरनन्तरः । पा. ६-२-४९ । इति पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरे प्राप्ते परादिश्छन्दसि बहुलम् । ६-२-१९९ । इतीकार उदात्तः । पुनः सुशब्देन समासे कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरेण स एवकार [sic] उदात्तः । ननु वृतमित्येव कृदन्तं न तु विवृतमिति प्रत्ययग्रहणे यस्मात्स विहितस्तदादेस्तदन्तस्य ग्रहणम् । परि. २३ । इति वचनात् । सुविवृतमित्यत्र च समासे वृतमित्येतावन्मात्रं नोत्तरपदं किंतु विवृतमिति । तत्कथं कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वमिति चेत् उच्यते । प्रत्ययग्रहणपरिभाषापवादेन कृद्ग्रहणे गतिकारकपूर्वस्यापि ग्रहणम् । परि. २८ । इत्यनेन विवृतमित्यस्यापि कृदन्तव्यपदेशोपपत्तेः । ननु विवृतमित्यस्य यथा कृदन्तव्यपदेशः । एवं

क्तान्तव्यपदेशो ऽप्यस्ति तयैव परिभाषया । तथा च कर्मणि क्तान्त उत्तरपदे परतो गतिरनन्तर इति सुशब्दस्य प्रकृतिस्वरः प्राप्नोति । न चात्रापि परादिश्छन्दसि बहुलमित्येवं नास्ति निस्तारः । तथा हि सति सुविवृतमित्यत्र विवृतमित्येवोत्तरपदमिति तदादिरिकार एवोदात्तः स्यात् । विवृतमिति समासे यद्यप्यृकारः पदादिर्भवति तथापि सुविवृतमिति समासस्य सति शिष्टत्वेन बलीयस्त्वात्तत्रत्य एवोत्तरपदादाविकार एवोदात्तस्वरेण भवितव्यमिति । उच्यते । गतिरनन्तर इत्यत्रानुवृत्तेः कृद्ग्रहणे कृद्ग्रहणपरिभाषा नाश्रीयते । तदाश्रयणे व्यवहितगतावपि प्रकृतिस्वरे सत्यनन्तरग्रहणमनर्थकं स्यात् । अनेनैव चाभिप्रायेणानन्तरग्रहणस्य प्रयोजनमभ्युद्धृतमित्यत्र व्यवहितस्याभिशब्दस्य मा भूदिति प्रत्युदाहृतम् । तस्मात्सुविवृतमित्यृकार एवोदात्त इति स्थितम् । सुनिरजम् । अनायासेन निरवशेषं प्राप्यम् । अज गतिक्षेपणयोः । सुनिसोरुपसर्गयोः प्राक्प्रयोगः । ईषद्दुःसुषु कृच्छ्राकृच्छ्रार्थेषु खल् । पा. ३-३-१२६ । न चात्र सुशब्दस्य निसा व्यवधानं शङ्कनीयम् । सुशब्दस्य ह्युपपदमात्रं खलो निमित्तं नानन्तर्यम् । अत एव सुपरिहरं दुष्परिहरमित्यादयः प्रयोगा इति । पूर्ववद्गतिसमासे लितीति प्रत्ययात्पूर्वमुदात्तमिति धात्वकार उदात्तः । निसा समासे कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरेण स एव शिष्यते । पुनः सुशब्देन समासे कृद्ग्रहणे गतिकारकपूर्वस्यापि ग्रहणमिति परिभाषया कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरेण स एव शिष्यते । त्वादातम् । त्वया शोधनेन विशदीकृतम् । दैप् शोधने । आदेच उपदेशे ऽशिति । पा. ६-१-४५ । इत्यात्त्वम् । सत्यपि हि पकारे नानुबन्धकृतमनेजन्तत्वम् । परि. ६ । इत्येजन्त एवायम् । निष्ठेति कर्मणि क्तः । दाधा घ्वदाप् । पा. १-१-२० । इत्यत्रादाबिति प्रतिषेधेन घुसंज्ञाया अभावाद्दो दद्घोः । पा. ७-४-४६ । इति ददादेशो न भवति । ननु दाप् लवन इति प्रतिपदोक्तस्यैव दापस्तत्रादाबिति निषेधः । न पुनर्लाक्षणिकस्य दैपः । लक्षणप्रतिपदोक्तयोः प्रतिपदोक्तस्यैव ग्रहणं न तु लाक्षणिकस्य । परि. १०५ । इति नियमादिति चेन्न । गामादाग्रहणेष्वविशेषः । परि. १०६ । इति प्रतिप्रसवात् । युष्मच्छब्दात्तृतीयैकवचनस्य सुपां सुलुगिति डादेशः । त्वमावेकवचने । पा. ७-२-९७ । इति मपर्यन्तस्य त्वादेशः । अतो गुण इति पररूपत्वम् । भसंज्ञायां टेरित्यद्शब्दस्य [?] लोपः । उदात्तनिवृत्तिस्वरेणाकार उदात्तः । कर्तृकरणे कृता बहुलम् । पा. २-१-३२ । इति तृतीयासमासः । तत्पुरुषे कृति बहुलम् । पा. ६-३-१४ । इति तृतीयाया अप्यलुक् । कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरे प्राप्ते तृतीया कर्मणि । पा. ६-२-४८ । इति पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् । यशः । अशू व्याप्तौ । अशेर्युट्च । उ. ४-१९० । इत्यसुन् । तत्संनियोगेन धातोर्युडागमः । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वम् । गवाम् । प्रातिपदिकस्वरः । सावेकाच इति विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वं प्राप्तं न गोश्वन्सावर्वेति निषिध्यते । वृधि । वृञ् वरणे । श्रुशृणुपृकृवृभ्यश्छन्दसि । पा. ६-४-१०२ । इति हेर्धिरादेशः । बहुलं छन्दसीति श्नोरपि लुक् । निघातः । कृणुष्व । कृवि हिंसाकरणयोश्च । इदितो नुम् । व्यत्ययेनात्मनेपदम् । लोटस्थास् । ३-४-७८ । थासः से । पा. ३-४-८० । सवाभ्यां वामौ । पा. ३-४-९१ । कर्तरि शपि प्राप्ते । पा. ३-१-६८ । धिन्विकृण्व्योरच्च । पा. ३-१-८० । इत्युप्रत्ययः । तत्संनियोगेन वकारस्य चाकारः । तस्यातो लोपः । पा. ६-४-४८ । इति लोपः । अचः परस्मिन्पूर्वविधौ । पा. १-१-५७ । इत्यकारलोपस्य स्थानिवद्भावाल्लघूपधगुणो न भवति । अत्र सति शिष्टस्वरबलीयस्त्वमन्यत्र विकरणेभ्य इति सति शिष्टमपि विकरणस्वरं बाधित्वा तिङ एव प्रत्ययाद्युदात्तत्वम् । राधः । असुनन्तो नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । अद्रिवः । अद्रिर्वज्रम् । तदस्यास्तीति मतुप् । छन्दसीरः । पा. ८-२-१५ । इति वत्वम् । संबुद्धावुगिदचाम् । पा. ७-१-७० । इति नुम् । हल्ङ्यादिसंयोगान्तलोपौ । पा. ६-१-६८ । मतुवसो रु संबुद्धौ छन्दसि । पा. ८-३-१ । इति रुत्वम् । विसर्जनीयः । आमन्त्रितस्य च निघातः ॥

he indra yaśo 'nnaṃ karmaphalabhūtaṃ suvivṛtaṃ suṣṭhu sarvatra prasṛtaṃ sunirajaṃ sukhena niḥśeṣaṃ prāptuṃ śakyaṃ tvādātamittvayā śodhitaṃ ca saṃpannamiti śeṣaḥ | ataḥ paraṃ kṣīrādirasalābhārthaṃ gavāṃ vrajaṃ nivāsasthānamapa vṛdhi | apavṛtamudghāṭitadvāraṃ kuru | he adrivaḥ

parvatopalakṣitavajrayuktendra rādho dhanaṃ kṛṇuṣva | saṃpādaya || suvivṛtam | vṛñ varaṇe | karmaṇi ktapratyayaḥ | viśabdena prādisamāsaḥ | vivṛtamityatra kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaraṃ bādhitvā karmavācini ktānte parato gatiranantaraḥ | pā. 6-2-49 | iti pūrvapadaprakṛtisvare prāpte parādiśchandasi bahulam | 6-2-199 | itīkāra udāttaḥ | punaḥ suśabdena samāse kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvareṇa sa evakāra [sic] udāttaḥ | nanu vṛtamityeva kṛdantaṃ na tu vivṛtamiti pratyayagrahaṇe yasmātsa vihitastadādestadantasya grahaṇam | pari. 23 | iti vacanāt | suvivṛtamityatra ca samāse vṛtamityetāvanmātraṃ nottarapadaṃ kiṃtu vivṛtamiti | tatkathaṃ kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvamiti cet ucyate | pratyayagrahaṇaparibhāṣāpavādena kṛdgrahaṇe gatikārakapūrvasyāpi grahaṇam | pari. 28 | ityanena vivṛtamityasyāpi kṛdantavyapadeśopapatteḥ | nanu vivṛtamityasya yathā kṛdantavyapadeśaḥ | evaṃ ktāntavyapadeśo 'pyasti tayaiva paribhāṣayā | tathā ca karmaṇi ktānta uttarapade parato gatiranantara iti suśabdasya prakṛtisvaraḥ prāpnoti | na cātrāpi parādiśchandasi bahulamityevaṃ nāsti nistāraḥ | tathā hi sati suvivṛtamityatra vivṛtamityevottarapadamiti tadādirikāra evodāttaḥ syāt | vivṛtamiti samāse yadyapyṛkāraḥ padādirbhavati tathāpi suvivṛtamiti samāsasya sati śiṣṭatvena balīyastvāttatratya evottarapadādāvikāra evodāttasvareṇa bhavitavyamiti | ucyate | gatiranantara ityatrānuvṛtteḥ kṛdgrahaṇe kṛdgrahaṇaparibhāṣā nāśrīyate | tadāśrayaṇe vyavahitagatāvapi prakṛtisvare satyanantaragrahaṇamanarthakaṃ syāt | anenaiva cābhiprāyeṇānantaragrahaṇasya prayojanamabhyuddhṛtamityatra vyavahitasyābhiśabdasya mā bhūditi pratyudāhṛtam | tasmātsuvivṛtamityṛkāra evodātta iti sthitam | sunirajam | anāyāsena niravaśeṣaṃ prāpyam | aja gatikṣepaṇayoḥ | sunisorupasargayoḥ prākprayogaḥ | īṣadduḥsuṣu kṛcchrākṛcchrārtheṣu khal | pā. 3-3-126 | na cātra suśabdasya nisā vyavadhānaṃ śaṅkanīyam | suśabdasya hyupapadamātraṃ khalo nimittaṃ nānantaryam | ata eva supariharaṃ duṣpariharamityādayaḥ prayogā iti | pūrvavadgatisamāse litīti pratyayātpūrvamudāttamiti dhātvakāra udāttaḥ | nisā samāse kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvareṇa sa eva śiṣyate | punaḥ suśabdena samāse kṛdgrahaṇe gatikārakapūrvasyāpi grahaṇamiti paribhāṣayā kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvareṇa sa eva śiṣyate | tvādātam | tvayā śodhanena viśadīkṛtam | daip śodhane | ādeca upadeśe 'śiti | pā. 6-1-45 | ityāttvam | satyapi hi pakāre nānubandhakṛtamanejantatvam | pari. 6 | ityejanta evāyam | niṣṭheti karmaṇi ktaḥ | dādhā ghvadāp | pā. 1-1-20 | ityatrādābiti pratiṣedhena ghusaṃjñāyā abhāvāddo dadghoḥ | pā. 7-4-46 | iti dadādeśo na bhavati | nanu dāp lavana iti pratipadoktasyaiva dāpastatrādābiti niṣedhaḥ | na punarlākṣaṇikasya daipaḥ | lakṣaṇapratipadoktayoḥ pratipadoktasyaiva grahaṇaṃ na tu lākṣaṇikasya | pari. 105 | iti niyamāditi cenna | gāmādāgrahaṇeṣvaviśeṣaḥ | pari. 106 | iti pratiprasavāt | yuṣmacchabdāttṛtīyaikavacanasya supāṃ sulugiti ḍādeśaḥ | tvamāvekavacane | pā. 7-2-97 | iti maparyantasya tvādeśaḥ | ato guṇa iti pararūpatvam | bhasaṃjñāyāṃ ṭerityadśabdasya [?] lopaḥ | udāttanivṛttisvareṇākāra udāttaḥ | kartṛkaraṇe kṛtā bahulam | pā. 2-1-32 | iti tṛtīyāsamāsaḥ | tatpuruṣe kṛti bahulam | pā. 6-3-14 | iti tṛtīyāyā apyaluk | kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvare prāpte tṛtīyā karmaṇi | pā. 6-2-48 | iti pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvam | yaśaḥ | aśū vyāptau | aśeryuṭca | u. 4-190 | ityasun | tatsaṃniyogena dhātoryuḍāgamaḥ | nittvādādyudāttatvam | gavām | prātipadikasvaraḥ | sāvekāca iti vibhakterudāttatvaṃ prāptaṃ na

gośvansāvavarṇeti niṣidhyate | vṛdhi | vṛñ varaṇe | śruśṛṇupṛkṛvṛbhyaśchandasi | pā. 6-4-102 | iti herdhirādeśaḥ | bahulaṃ chandasīti śnorapi luk | nighātaḥ | kṛṇuṣva | kṛvi hiṃsākaraṇayośca | idito num | vyatyayenātmanepadam | loṭasthās | 3-4-78 | thāsaḥ se | pā. 3-4-80 | savābhyāṃ vāmau | pā. 3-4-91 | kartari śapi prāpte | pā. 3-1-68 | dhinvikṛṇvyoracca | pā. 3-1-80 | ityupratyayaḥ | tatsaṃniyogena vakārasya cākāraḥ | tasyāto lopaḥ | pā. 6-4-48 | iti lopaḥ | acaḥ parasminpūrvavidhau | pā. 1-1-57 | ityakāralopasya sthānivadbhāvāllaghūpadhaguṇo na bhavati | atra sati śiṣṭasvarabalīyastvamanyatra vikaraṇebhya iti sati śiṣṭamapi vikaraṇasvaraṃ bādhitvā tiṅa eva pratyayādyudāttatvam | rādhaḥ | asunanto nittvādādyudāttaḥ | adrivaḥ | adrirvajram | tadasyāstīti matup | chandasīraḥ | pā. 8-2-15 | iti vatvam | saṃbuddhāvugidacām | pā. 7-1-70 | iti num | halṅyādisaṃyogāntalopau | pā. 6-1-68 | matuvaso ru saṃbuddhau chandasi | pā. 8-3-1 | iti rutvam | visarjanīyaḥ | āmantritasya ca nighātaḥ ||

Translation: "O Indra! Yaśaḥ — food, the fruit of the rite — suvivṛtam: well spread out everywhere; sunirajam: easily obtained, wholly; tvādātam: purified by you — has come about [supply 'is']. After this, for the sake of obtaining milk and other juices, gavāṃ vrajam — the cow-pen, the dwelling-place of cows — apa vṛdhi: open it — make its door opened. O adrivaḥ — O Indra, armed with the thunderbolt that is characterized by the mountain — rādhaḥ — wealth — kṛṇuṣva: bring about." (Grammar, noted briefly: suvivṛtam — root vṛñ varaṇe with kta*, compounded with* vi and then su*; the* i of vi is udātta by "parādiś chandasi bahulam" (Pā. 6-2-199), setting aside Pā. 6-2-49; a long discussion with paribhāṣās 23 and 28 shows that, since "kṛdgrahaṇe gatikārakapūrvasyāpi" is not applied to "gatir anantaraḥ", the ṛ is udātta; sunirajam — root aja gatikṣepaṇayoḥ with khal (Pā. 3-3-126) after su and nis*;* tvādātam — root daip śodhane with kta*, not* dad- since it is not ghu (Pā. 1-1-20, 7-4-46; paribhāṣās 6, 105, 106), compounded with tvā (Pā. 7-2-97, 2-1-32, 6-3-14), first-member accent (Pā. 6-2-48); yaśaḥ — Uṇ. 4-190; gavām — stem accent; vṛdhi — dhi for hi (Pā. 6-4-102); kṛṇuṣva — root kṛvi with u (Pā. 3-1-80), ātmanepada by Vedic exchange; adrivaḥ — matup with v (Pā. 8-2-15), num (Pā. 7-1-70), ru (Pā. 8-3-1), unaccented as a vocative.)

Page 414 — Rik 7: Sāyaṇa's grammar (briefly noted)

(This page carries the rest of Sāyaṇa's grammar of Ṛk 7, given in full with p. 413 above.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥ (printed on p. 415)

Page 415 — Rik 7: word-meanings, overall sense, English, Special Topics

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

(हे) इन्द्र ((he) indra) — O Indra | सुविवृतम् (suvivṛtam) — spread out well everywhere (that is, in great abundance) | सुनिरजम् (sunirajam) — easily obtained | यशः (yaśaḥ) — the food (nourishment) | त्वादातम् इत् (tvādātam it) — you are indeed the one who purifies it well | (हे) अद्रिवः ((he) adrivaḥ) — O Indra, bearer of the thunderbolt | गवाम् (gavām) — of the cows | व्रजम् (vrajam) — the cow-pen | अप वृधि (apa vṛdhi) — open the door (that is, give us cows) | राधः (rādhaḥ) — wealth | कृणुष्व (kṛṇuṣva) — obtain (for us).

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Indra! Make abundant food available to us; it must be easily obtainable for us everywhere. Besides, open the pen of the cows and obtain for us many cows and wealth.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> O Indra, the food is rendered abundant everywhere and easily obtainable; O weilder [sic] of thunderbolt, throw open, then the cow-fold and give us wealth.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

"Suvivṛtam" — for this word the Bhāṣyakāra says सुष्ठु सर्वत्र प्रसृतम् (suṣṭhu sarvatra prasṛtam) — "well spread out everywhere"; Skandasvāmī says सुष्ठु लोके प्रकाशम् (suṣṭhu loke prakāśam) — "well available (manifest) in the world." The scholar Wilson renders it rendered everywhere abundant.

"Sunirajam" — सुखेन निःशेषं प्राप्तुं शक्यम् (sukhena niḥśeṣaṃ prāptuṃ śakyam) — "that which can be obtained wholly with ease" says the Bhāṣyakāra; and Skandasvāmī explains: सुनिरजम् । निरित्येष नीत्येतस्य स्थाने । अज गतिक्षेपणयोः । सुनिक्षेपम् । यत्र यत्र विनियोक्तुमिष्यते तत्र तत्र प्रभूतत्वात्सुविनियोजमित्यर्थः ॥ (sunirajam | niritye ṣa nītyetasya sthāne | aja gatikṣepaṇayoḥ | sunikṣepam | yatra yatra viniyoktumiṣyate tatra tatra prabhūtatvātsuviniyojamityarthaḥ ||) — "sunirajam: nir here stands for ni; root aja in the sense of going and throwing; sunikṣepam, 'easily laid down': wherever one wishes to apply it, there, because it is abundant, it is easily applied." That is: what can be obtained easily, being spread everywhere, is easily to be found.

"Tvādātam" — "purified by you" (tvayā śodhanena viśadīkṛtam), says the Bhāṣyakāra; Skandasvāmī gives tvayā dattam — "given by you." The Bhāṣyakāra takes the root daip śodhane — (the page breaks off here; the Special Topics continue on p. 416).

Page 416 — Rik 7: Special Topics (continued)

(Continuing "Tvādātam":) … dāp śodhane: "daip śodhane takes the form dāp by the rule ādeca upadeśe 'śiti (Pā. 6-1-45), and he explains it accordingly" — "purified by you, made clear," as the Bhāṣyakāra explains. According to Skandasvāmī's explanation, tvādātam is tvayā dattam, "given by you." The sense in the end is one, though the derivation of the word differs. The word tvādātam occurs not only in this rik but in Ṛ. Saṃ. 3-40-6, 5-6-10 and 5-39-1; the word tvādattaḥ at Ṛ. Saṃ. 8-92-18, and tvādatrebhiḥ at Ṛ. Saṃ. 2-33-2. (See also the explanation of the word adrivaḥ in this rik.)

"Yaśaḥ" — since yaśaḥ is read among the twenty-eight words for food beginning with andhaḥ, vājaḥ, here yaśaḥ means food.

"Apa vṛdhi" — उद्घाटितद्वारं कुरु (udghāṭita-dvāraṃ kuru) — "make [it] with its door opened": open the door; i.e., throw open the door (of cow-fold) [the source's own English].

"Vrajam" — goṣṭham, or gavāṃ nivāsasthānam — "the cowshed, or the dwelling-place of cows": the cow-pen where cows are kept; cow fold [the source's own English].

Here the word yaśaḥ is taken as "water" (Ni. 2-24 as printed), and vraja and adri as "cloud" (Ni. 2-21 as printed); on that sense the meaning would run: "scatter the mass of clouds and make rain come, and so give us water" — which is also reasonable. Wilson, too, gives a similar sense: "the text is literally rendered: the meaning being that Indra as the sender of rain should fertilize the fields, and by providing abundant pasturage enable the cattle to yield store of milk" [the source's own English], supporting this view.

"Adrivaḥ" — अद्रिर्वज्रम् । तदस्यास्तीति (adrir vajram | tad asyāstīti) — "adri means the thunderbolt-weapon; so adrivān means 'one bearing the thunderbolt.'" Since in the Nirukta adri is explained as "mountain," the Bhāṣyakāra says "parvatopalakṣita-vajra-yukta" — "armed with the thunderbolt characterized by the mountain." Besides, the word adri has the name "cloud" (Ni. 2-21), and Yāska,

> यदिन्द्र चित्र मेहनास्ति त्वादातमद्रिवः । राधस्तन्नो विदद्वस उभयाहस्त्या भर ॥ yad indra citra mehanāsti tvādātam adrivaḥ | rādhas tan no vidadvasa ubhayāhastyā bhara || (ऋ. सं. ५-३९-१ — Ṛgveda Saṃhitā 5-39-1) ("O wondrous Indra, whatever wealth there is, given by you, O wielder of the stone — that wealth, O finder of wealth, bring to us with both hands." — mine and tentative.)

— in explaining this rik, he says अद्रिवन् । अद्रिरादृणात्येतेन (adrivan | adrir ādṛṇāty etena) — "adri [is so called] because one splits with it" — giving adrivaḥ the sense "O thunderbolt-bearer" (he vajrin), and to tvādātam the sense त्वया नस्तद्दातव्यम् (tvayā nas tad dātavyam), "that is to be given to us by you." Therefore Yāska's explanations of these two words, adrivan and tvādātam, are to be accepted.

Pages 417–422 — Rik 7 grammar

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 417–422, noted briefly; the scholastic arguments on pp. 417–419 are characterized in outline only)

सुविवृतम् (suvivṛtam) — root vṛñ varaṇe with kta in the passive; vi + vṛta are joined as prādi, and su with vivṛta as a further compound ("kugatiprādayaḥ," Pā. 2-2-18); since vṛta is a kṛdanta, the rule "gati-kāraka-upapadāt kṛt" (Pā. 6-2-139) would give the accent of the second member; this is set aside by "gatir anantaraḥ" (Pā. 6-2-49) (when a kta-ending word in the passive sense is the second member, a directly preceding gati keeps its own accent), so that the vi would be initial-udātta; this too is set aside by "parādiś chandasi bahulam" (Pā. 6-2-199), making the first vowel (ṛ) of vṛta udātta. The long argument (pp. 417–418): when su is then compounded with vivṛta, "gati-kāraka-upapadāt kṛt" would again keep the accent of the second member, and that ṛ stays udātta. But the objection arises: in su-vivṛta is vivṛta a kṛdanta? — the paribhāṣā "pratyaya-grahaṇe yasmāt sa vihitas tad-ādes tad-antasya grahaṇam" (Paribhāṣā 23) says that where a suffix is named, the item beginning with that to which it was added and ending in that suffix is meant; vivṛta is not vṛta alone — and the counter-paribhāṣā "kṛd-grahaṇe gati-kāraka-pūrvasyāpi grahaṇam" (Paribhāṣā 28) says that a kṛdanta includes one preceded by a gati or a kāraka; hence vivṛta is a kṛdanta. A further difficulty (pp. 418): the sūtra "gatir anantaraḥ" with "anantara" ("immediately preceding") appears to bar the rule when something intervenes, as in su-vi-vṛtam where vi intervenes between su and vṛta; "kte ca" (printed "5-2-45" [as printed], i.e. 6-2-45) being carried into "gatir anantaraḥ", the answer is that, because of the word "anantara", the paribhāṣā "kṛd-grahaṇe…" is not present in that sūtra, and the counter-example abhyuddhṛtam (where the intervening abhi does not keep its own accent) is cited to show the use of the word anantara; the discussion concludes (p. 418) that in suvivṛtam the ṛ remains udātta. (The page ends with "so ends this great-sentence discussion.") सुनिरजम् (sunirajam) — the root aja gatikṣepaṇayoḥ with the prefixes su and nis; "īṣad-duḥ-suṣu kṛcchrākṛcchrārtheṣu khal" (Pā. 3-3-126) gives khal after a root when īṣat, duḥ or su is the upapada, in senses of difficulty/ease; the argument whether nis intervening between su and aja prevents the khal is answered: the rule does not require that the su stand immediately before (cf. suparihāram, duṣparihāram); khal is l-marked, so the vowel before it (a of aj) is udātta by "liti"; with the gati-compound with nis, the accent of the kṛdanta second member (the root's a udātta) stands; compounding again with su gives the same by Paribhāṣā 28; the remaining syllables are lowered; the unaccented a of the suffix becomes svarita by "udāttād anudāttasya svaritaḥ" (no number printed). त्वादातम् (tvādātam) — root daip śodhane — the argument on pp. 419–420: by "ādeca upadeśe 'śiti" (Pā. 6-1-45) the e of the root becomes ā when a non-śit suffix follows; but the root is daip ending in p, with ai, which in the upadeśa is a diphthong-ending root? — the difficulty is resolved by the paribhāṣā "nānubandhakṛtam anejantatvam" (Paribhāṣā 6) that the diphthong-ending status of a root is not undone by a mere it-marker; kta in the passive by "niṣṭhā" (Pā. 3-2-102), giving dā + ta; the objection that dā + ta would then be ghu-class and so take dad in place of dā ("dādhā ghv adāp," Pā. 1-1-20; "do dad ghoḥ," Pā. 7-4-46) is answered, since dāp lavane and daip śodhane are specifically excluded and the substitute-from-daip dā is "lākṣaṇika," not pratipadokta; the paribhāṣā "lakṣaṇa-pratipadoktayoḥ pratipadoktasyaiva grahaṇam" is argued and disposed of by "gāmādāgrahaṇeṣv aviśeṣaḥ" (Paribhāṣā 106). Tvā — yuṣmad + ṭā, the third-case ending replaced by ā via ḍā ("supāṃ suluk…" Pā. 7-1-39); tva replaces the part up to m of yuṣmad ("tvamāv ekavacane," printed "8-2-97" [as printed], i.e. 7-2-97), tva + ad + a; pararūpa by "ato guṇe" (Pā. 6-1-97); with bha-status the ṭi (ad) is dropped by "ṭeḥ" (Pā. 6-4-143), giving tvā; yuṣmad itself is from yuṣ with madik (Uṇ. 1-136); the a is udātta by "anudāttasya ca yatrodāttalopaḥ" (Pā. 6-1-161); the accent (pp. 420–421): the ā is udātta if a prātipadika accent applies; the third-case tvā compounds with the kṛdanta dāta by "kartṛkaraṇe kṛtā bahulam" (Pā. 2-1-32); the ending of the third-case word would be dropped by "supo dhātu-prātipadikayoḥ" (Pā. 2-4-71) but is not dropped by "tatpuruṣe kṛti bahulam" (Pā. 6-3-14); the kṛdanta's second-member accent that would stand is set aside by "tṛtīyā karmaṇi" (Pā. 6-2-48): a third-case word followed by a kta-ending word in the passive sense keeps its own accent, so the first member's accent stands. यशः (yaśaḥ) — root aśū vyāptau + asun by "aśer yuṭ ca" (printed "pā. sū. 4-630" [as printed]; the bhāṣya gives Uṇ. 4-190), with the augment yuṭ; yaśas, with su dropped by "hal-ṅyābbhyo dīrghāt sutisy apṛktaṃ hal" (Pā. 6-1-68); ru and visarga; initial-udātta since the suffix is nit. गवाम् (gavām) — stem accent; the udātta of the case-ending that "sāvekācas tṛtīyādir vibhaktiḥ" (Pā. 6-1-168) would give is barred by "na go-śvannāvavarṇa-rāḍ-ṅkṛ-kṛd-bhyaḥ" (printed "1-182" [sic], i.e. 6-1-182), so the ending is unaccented by "anudāttau suppitau". वृधि (vṛdhi) — root vṛñ varaṇe + loṭ second singular sip; sip → hi by "seryapicca"; śnu by "svādibhyaḥ śnuḥ" (Pā. 3-1-73), dropped by "bahulaṃ chandasi" (2-4-73, printed "paṃ. sū." [sic]); after śṛ, spṛ, kṛ, vṛ, bhṛ in the Veda, hi → dhi ("śruśṛṇupṛkṛvṛbhyaś chandasi," Pā. 6-4-102); hi is apit so ṅit, hence no guṇa by "kṅiti ca" (Pā. 1-1-5); unaccented by "tiṅṅ atiṅaḥ". कृणुष्व (kṛṇuṣva) — root kṛvi hiṃsākaraṇayoś ca, idit so num by "idito num dhātoḥ" (Pā. 7-1-58), num being mit it stands after the last vowel ("mid aco 'ntyāt paraḥ," Pā. 1-1-47); ātmanepada by inversion; loṭ with middle-second thās → se (Pā. 3-4-80), se → sva (Pā. 3-4-91); kṛnv + sva: the śap arising by "kartari śap" (Pā. 3-1-68) is set aside by "dhinvikṛṇvyor a ca" (Pā. 3-1-80): after dhivi and kṛvi — both bhvādi (first-class) roots, though

Bopadeva takes them as tanādi, in whose view the ca of the sūtra is unnecessary — the u-vikaraṇa arises and the final of the root is changed to a, so kṛṇ + u + sva (“kṛn + a + u + sva”); “ato lopaḥ” (Pā. 6-4-48) drops the a before the ārdhadhātuka-like u; the laghūpadha-guṇa of kṛn by “pugantalaghūpadhasya ca” (Pā. 7-3-86) is argued away by “acaḥ parasmin pūrvavidhau” (Pā. 1-1-57): the a-substitute counts as the original for the purposes of rules applying to what precedes; so the penultimate ṛ is treated as before an a… and no guṇa arises; n → ṇ by the vārttika “ṛvarṇān nasya ṇatvaṃ vācyam”, s → ṣ by “ādeśapratyayayoḥ”; the maxim “satiśiṣṭasvarabalīyastvam anyatra vikaraṇebhyaḥ” says that a later accent is stronger except for vikaraṇas, so the accent of the vikaraṇa u does not prevail and the tiṅ sva is initial-udātta by “ādyudāttaś ca”, the rest unaccented. राधः (rādhaḥ) — “sarvadhātubhyo ’sun” (Uṇ. 4-628 [as printed]); initial-udātta since nit. अद्रिवः (adrivaḥ) — “adriḥ asya asti”: matup by “tad asyāsty asminn iti matup” (Pā. 5-2-94); m → v in the Veda after a word ending in i or r (“chandasīraḥ,” Pā. 8-2-15); adri-vat + vocative su; the num of “ugidacāṃ sarvanāmasthāne ’dhātoḥ” (Pā. 7-1-70) arises after the last vowel by “mid aco ’ntyāt paraḥ”; then (p. 422, end) the t is dropped by “hal-ṅyābbhyaḥ…” and “saṃyogāntasya lopaḥ,” the s becomes ru by “matuvasor ru sambuddhau chandasi” (Pā. 8-3-1), then visarga by “kharavasānayor visarjanīyaḥ” (Pā. 8-3-15); a vocative, unaccented by “āmantritasya ca” (Pā. 8-1-19). (The scholastic arguments are characterized in outline, not rendered line by line. The last lines of this grammar run onto the top of p. 423: the su is dropped by Pā. 6-1-68, the t of adrivant as the end of a conjunct (Pā. 8-2-23); the n is not dropped by “nalopaḥ prātipadikāntasya” (Pā. 8-2-7), because by “pūrvatrāsiddham” (printed “8-192” [as printed], i.e. 8-2-1) the loss of t is “unseen”.)

॥७॥

---

Page 423 (lower half) — Sūkta 10, Rik 8

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

नहि त्वा रोदसी उभे ऋघायमाणमिन्वतः । जेषः स्वर्वतीरपः सं गा अस्मभ्यं धूनुहि ॥८॥

nahí tvā ródasī ubhé ṛghāyámāṇam ínvataḥ | jeṣaḥ svarvatīr apáḥ saṃ gā asmábhyaṃ dhūnuhi ||8||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

नहि । त्वा । रोदसी इति । उभे इति । ऋघायमाणम् । इन्वतः ॥ जेषः । स्वःऽवतीः । अपः । सम् । गाः । अस्मभ्यम् । धूनुहि ॥८॥

nahi | tvā | rodasī iti | ubhe iti | ṛghāyamāṇam | invataḥ || jeṣaḥ | svaḥ-vatīḥ | apaḥ | sam | gāḥ | asmabhyam | dhūnuhi ||8||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे इन्द्र ऋघायमाणं शत्रुवधं कुर्वाणं त्वां रोदसी उभे द्यावापृथिव्यावपि त्वदीयं महिमानं नहीन्वतः । व्याप्तुं न समर्थे इत्यर्थः । तादृशस्त्वं स्वर्वतीः स्वर्लोकयुक्ता अपो वृष्टिरूपा जेषः । जयेः । प्रेरयेत्यर्थः । अपां

स्वर्गसंबन्धश्चान्यत्र दिवो वृष्टिं च्यावयति । तै. सं. ३-३-४-१ । इति श्रुतम् । किंच वृष्टिप्रदानादन्नसंपत्तेरूर्ध्वमस्मभ्यं क्षीरादिरसप्रदा गाः सं धूनुहि । सम्यक्प्रेरय ॥ नहि । नञो हिशब्देन सह सुपा । पा. २-१-४ । इति समासः । समासत्वादन्तोदात्तत्वम् । त्वा । अनुदात्तं सर्वमित्यनुवृत्तौ त्वामौ द्वितीयायाः । पा. ८-१-२३ । इति त्वादेशः । रोदसी । रुदेरसुन् । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । उगितश्च । पा. ४-१-६ । इति ङीप् । उभे । प्रातिपदिकस्वरेणान्तोदात्तः । श्या [as printed] सहैकादेश उदात्तः । ऋघायमाणम् । ... न्तीत्यृघा [?] । अन्येभ्यो ऽपि दृश्यन्त इति विच् । दृशिग्रहणस्य विध्यन्तरोपसंग्रहणार्थत्वान्नकारलोपो हकारस्य च घकारः । अनृघा ऋघा भवतीत्यभूततद्भावे लोहितादिडाज्भ्यः क्यष् । पा. ३-१-१३ । इति क्यष्प्रत्ययो भवति । स ह्याकृतिगणः । लोपश्च हलः । पा. ३-१-१२ । इत्यनुवृत्तेर्नकारलोपश्च । वा क्यषः । पा. १-३-९० । इत्यात्मनेपदम् । लटः शानच् । शपो ऽदुपदेशात्परत्वाच्छानचो लसार्वधातुकानुदात्तत्वम् । शपः पित्त्वादनुदात्तत्वम् । क्यषः प्रत्ययस्वरः । एकादेशस्योदात्तत्वम् । इन्वतः । इवि व्याप्तौ । इदितो नुम् धातोरिति नुम् । शपः पित्त्वादनुदात्तत्वम् । लडादेशस्य तसश्च लसार्वधातुकस्वरेण धातुस्वर एव शिष्यते । हि चेति निषेधात्तिङ्ङतिङ इति निघातो न भवति । जेषः । जेः प्रार्थनायां लिङर्थे लेट् । तस्य मध्यमपुरुषैकवचनं सिप् । इतश्च लोपः परस्मैपदेष्वितीकारलोपः । कर्तरि शपि प्राप्ते तदपवादः सिब्बहुलं लेटीति सिप् । अडागमस्यानुदात्तत्वाद्धातुस्वर एव शिष्यते । स्वरासामस्तीति सर्वत्यः [sic: स्वर्वत्यः] । न्यङ्स्वरौ स्वरितौ । फि. ४-६ । इति स्वःशब्दः स्वरितः । मतुब्ङीपौ पित्त्वादनुदात्तौ । संहितायां स्वरितात्संहितायामनुदात्तानाम् । पा. १-२-३९ । इत्येकश्रुतिः । स्वरित एव शिष्यते । अपः । ऊडिदमित्यादिना विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वम् । धूनुहि । धूञ् कम्पने । लोट् । सेर्ह्यपिच्च । स्वादिभ्यः श्नुः । उतश्च प्रत्ययादसंयोगपूर्वात् । पा. ६-४-१०६ । इति प्राप्तस्य लुकश्छान्दसत्वादभावः ॥

he indra ṛghāyamāṇaṃ śatruvadhaṃ kurvāṇaṃ tvāṃ rodasī ubhe dyāvāpṛthivyāvapi tvadīyaṃ mahimānaṃ nahīnvataḥ | vyāptuṃ na samarthe ityarthaḥ | tādṛśastvaṃ svarvatīḥ svarlokayuktā apo vṛṣṭirūpā jeṣaḥ | jayeḥ | prerayetyarthaḥ | apāṃ svargasaṃbandhaścānyatra divo vṛṣṭiṃ cyāvayati | tai. saṃ. 3-3-4-1 | iti śrutam | kiṃca vṛṣṭipradānādannasaṃpatterūrdhvamasmabhyaṃ kṣīrādirasapradā gāḥ saṃ dhūnuhi | samyakpreraya || nahi | naño hiśabdena saha supā | pā. 2-1-4 | iti samāsaḥ | samāsatvādantodāttatvam | tvā | anudāttaṃ sarvamityanuvṛttau tvāmau dvitīyāyāḥ | pā. 8-1-23 | iti tvādeśaḥ | rodasī | ruderasun | nittvādādyudāttaḥ | ugitaśca | pā. 4-1-6 | iti ṅīp | ubhe | prātipadikasvareṇāntodāttaḥ | śyā [as printed] sahaikādeśa udāttaḥ | ṛghāyamāṇam | ...ntītyṛghā [?] | anyebhyo 'pi dṛśyanta iti vic | dṛśigrahaṇasya vidhyantaropasaṃgrahaṇārthatvānnakāralopo hakārasya ca ghakāraḥ | anṛghā ṛghā bhavatītyabhūtatadbhāve lohitādiḍājbhyaḥ kyaṣ | pā. 3-1-13 | iti kyaṣpratyayo bhavati | sa hyākṛtigaṇaḥ | lopaśca halaḥ | pā. 3-1-12 | ityanuvṛtternakāralopaśca | vā kyaṣaḥ | pā. 1-3-90 | ityātmanepadam | laṭaḥ śānac | śapo 'dupadeśātparatvācchānaco lasārvadhātukānudāttatvam | śapaḥ pittvādanudāttatvam | kyaṣaḥ pratyayasvaraḥ | ekādeśasyodāttatvam | invataḥ | ivi vyāptau | idito num dhātoriti num | śapaḥ pittvādanudāttatvam | laḍādeśasya tasaśca lasārvadhātukasvareṇa dhātusvara eva śiṣyate | hi ceti niṣedhāttiṅṅatiṅa iti nighāto na bhavati | jeṣaḥ | jeḥ prārthanāyāṃ liṅarthe leṭ | tasya madhyamapuruṣaikavacanaṃ sip | itaśca lopaḥ parasmaipadeṣvitīkāralopaḥ | kartari śapi prāpte tadapavādaḥ sibbahulaṃ leṭīti sip | aḍāgamasyānudāttatvāddhātusvara eva śiṣyate | svarāsāmastīti sarvatyaḥ [sic: svarvatyaḥ] | nyaṅsvarau svaritau | phi. 4-6 | iti svaḥśabdaḥ svaritaḥ | matubṅīpau pittvādanudāttau | saṃhitāyāṃ svaritātsaṃhitāyāmanudāttānām | pā. 1-2-39 |

ityekaśrutiḥ | svarita eva śiṣyate | apaḥ | ūḍidamityādinā vibhakterudāttatvam | dhūnuhi | dhūñ kampane | loṭ | serhyapicca | svādibhyaḥ śnuḥ | utaśca pratyayādasaṃyogapūrvāt | pā. 6-4-106 | iti prāptasya lukaśchāndasatvādabhāvaḥ ||

Translation: "O Indra! Even rodasī ubhe — both heaven and earth — nahi invataḥ: are not able to encompass your greatness, you who are ṛghāyamāṇam, bringing about the slaying of enemies. Being such, jeṣaḥ — conquer, i.e., send forth — svarvatīḥ apaḥ: the waters that belong to the world of heaven, in the form of rain. [That the waters are connected with heaven is heard elsewhere: 'he makes the rain fall from heaven' (Tai. Saṃ. 3-3-4-1).] Moreover, after the giving of rain and the abundance of food, saṃ dhūnuhi — send well — to us gāḥ, cows that yield milk and other juices." (Grammar, noted briefly: nahi — compound of nañ with hi (Pā. 2-1-4), final-udātta; tvā — substitute for the accusative (Pā. 8-1-23), unaccented; rodasī — from rud with asun*, initial-udātta, feminine* ṅīp (Pā. 4-1-6); ṛghāyamāṇam — a denominative with kyaṣ in the sense "becoming a destroyer" (Pā. 3-1-13, 3-1-12), ātmanepada (Pā. 1-3-90), with śānac*; one word at its head is not legible [?];* invataḥ — root ivi vyāptau with num*, not lowered after* hi*;* jeṣaḥ — leṭ of ji in the sense of request, with sip*;* svarvatīḥ — "having heaven", the svar svarita (Phiṭ 4-6), one-tone (Pā. 1-2-39); apaḥ — case-ending udātta; dhūnuhi — root dhūñ kampane*, the expected loss of* hi (Pā. 6-4-106) not made, as a Vedic form.)

Page 424 — Rik 8: word-meanings, overall sense

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

ऋघायमाणम् (ṛghāyamāṇam) — who bring about the slaying of enemies | त्वाम् (tvām) — your (greatness) | उभे रोदसी (ubhe rodasī) — both heaven and earth (the sky) | नहि इन्वतः (nahi invataḥ) — are not able to contain | (such as you are) स्वर्वतीः (svarvatīḥ) — which are in the world of heaven | अपः (apaḥ) — water in the form of rain | जेषः (jeṣaḥ) — conquer (that is, make the water fall on the earth as rain) | (after that) अस्मभ्यम् (asmabhyam) — to us | गाः (gāḥ) — cows | सं धूनुहि (saṃ dhūnuhi) — send.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Indra! Your greatness, which destroys enemies, is so very great that heaven and earth cannot contain it. Now cause the waters that are in heaven to fall upon the earth as rain, and send us cows that give milk.

Page 425 — Rik 8: English and Special Topics

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> Heaven and earth are unable to hold you (your exploits) the destroyer of your enemies; command the waters of heaven (so that they may fall upon earth as rain) and send us cows.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

“Rodasī” — dyāvāpṛthivī: the worlds of earth and sky (antarikṣa), or the earth and the world of heaven. The word rodasī is read among the twenty-four words for heaven-and-earth, beginning with svadhe, purandhī (Ni. 3-21 [?] as printed; the second digit could be 2 or 7).

“Ṛghāyamāṇam” — न्यन् हन्तीत्यृघा (nyan hantīty ṛghā) (the first word as printed reads न्यन्; the phrase partly illegible at the head of the ṛghāyamāṇam grammar on p. 424 is probably the same) — “ṛghā means one who kills [or strikes] men — that is, one who destroys enemies.”

“Tvā” — “you,” that is, “your greatness.”

“Invataḥ” — ivi vyāptau — “to pervade”; “unable to pervade” means that your greatness is so great that even the vast earth and sky cannot contain it — that is the idea.

“Jeṣaḥ” — “conquer”: that is, the capacity that makes the waters, or the rain, pour as rain is under your control.

“Svarvatīḥ” — “that are in the world of heaven.” Since rain falls from the sky (antarikṣa), and since the world of heaven is understood to be above the antarikṣa, it is customary to say that the water in the form of rain belongs to heaven. In this connection:

> एतद्वा अपां नामधेयं गुह्यं यदाधावा मान्दासु ते शुक्र शुक्रमा धूनोमीत्याहापामेव नामधेयेन गुह्येन दिवो वृष्टिमव रुन्धे शुक्रं ते शुक्रेण गृह्णामीत्याहैतद्वा अह्नो रूपं यद्रात्रिस्सूर्यस्य रश्मयो वृष्ट्या ईशते ऽह्न एव रूपेण सूर्यस्य रश्मिभिर्दिवो वृष्टिं च्यावयत्यस्मिन्नुग्रा अचुच्यवुरित्याह यथायजुरेवैतत् ॥ etadvā apāṃ nāmadheyaṃ guhyaṃ yadādhāvā māndāsu te śukra śukramā dhūnomītyāhāpāmeva nāmadheyena guhyena divo vṛṣṭimava rundhe śukraṃ te śukreṇa gṛhṇāmītyāhaitadvā ahno rūpaṃ yadrātrissūryasya raśmayo vṛṣṭyā īśate ’hna eva rūpeṇa sūryasya raśmibhirdivo vṛṣṭiṃ cyāvayatyasminnugrā acucyavurityāha yathāyajurevaitat || (Taittirīya Saṃhitā; “the Taittirīya Saṃhitā says so” is the source’s own attribution, without numbers; the Devanagari is a best reading of compressed print, and I have not attempted a translation of this passage.)

“Dhūnuhi” — dhūñ kampane. Although this root has the senses of “shake” and “move,” the Bhāṣyakāra and others take the sense “impel, send, give.”

Pages 426–429 — Rik 8 grammar

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 426–429, noted briefly)

नहि (nahi) — by “saha supā” (Pā. 2-1-4), a subanta compounds with a capable subanta, so nañ compounds with hi; being a compound, final-udātta by “samāsasya” (Pā. 6-1-223). त्वा (tvā) — yuṣmad + accusative singular am; by “ṅe prathamayor am” (Pā. 7-1-28) the am is replaced by am, so that the ending counts as a substitute and “yo ’ci” (Pā. 7-2-89, the y-substitute before a vowel-initial ending not causing ā or y) does not apply; “tvamāv ekavacane” (Pā. 7-2-97) gives tva for the part up to m: tva + ad + am; “dvitīyāyāṃ ca” (Pā. 7-2-87) gives ā before the accusative; pararūpa by “ato guṇe” (Pā. 6-1-97), savarṇa-dīrgha by “akaḥ savarṇe dīrghaḥ” (Pā. 6-1-101), pūrvarūpa by “ami pūrvaḥ” (Pā. 6-1-107): tvām; then, under the headings “padasya”, “padāt” and “anudāttaṃ sarvam apādādau” (8-1-18), “tvāmau dvitīyāyāḥ” (Pā. 8-1-23) gives the unaccented substitute tvā when not at the beginning of a pāda. रोदसी (rodasī) — root rud + asun (“sarvadhātubhyo ’sun,” Uṇ. 4-628 [as printed]), laghūpadha-guṇa, rodas, initial-udātta since nit; the u of asun being it, rodas is ugit, so ṅīp in the feminine by “ugitaś ca” (Pā. 4-1-6); ṅīp is pit, so unaccented. उभे (ubhe) — ubha is final-udātta by the stem accent; ṭāp by “ajādyataṣ ṭāp” (printed “8-1-4” [as printed], i.e. 4-1-4), unaccented as pit; ubha + ā → savarṇa-dīrgha, udātta by “ekādeśa udāttenodāttaḥ”; before the nominative/accusative dual au, “auṅa āpaḥ” (Pā. 7-1-18) gives śī, the ś dropped as it: ubhā + ī, the ī unaccented as a sup; “ād guṇaḥ” (Pā. 6-1-87) gives e, udātta as a single substitute. ऋघायमाणम् (ṛghāyamāṇam) — “nṝn hanti” [“he slays men”] gives ṛghā in the nominative singular: with nṝn as upapada, han takes vic by “anyebhyo ’pi dṛśyante” (Pā. 3-2-75); all of vic drops; as a kṛdanta it is a prātipadika; the śas is dropped by “supo dhātuprātipadikayoḥ” (Pā. 2-4-71); the word “dṛśyante” in the sūtra serves to include other operations, so the n of nṛ is dropped and the h of han becomes gh: ṛghan. In the sense “becoming ṛghā, which one was not” (abhūtatadbhāva), kyaṣ by “lohitādiḍājbhyaḥ kyaṣ” (Pā. 3-1-13), the Lohitādi being an open (ākṛti) group; k and ṣ are it; with “lopaś ca halaḥ” carried from “bhṛśādibhyo bhuvy acver lopaś ca halaḥ” (Pā. 3-1-12), the final consonant is dropped; the a lengthened by “akṛtsārvadhātukayoḥ” (printed “7-8-35” [as printed], i.e. 7-4-25): ṛghāya; laṭ; by “vā kyaṣaḥ” (Pā. 1-3-90) the ātmanepada śānac (“laṭaḥ śatṛśānacau”); śap: ṛghāya + a + āna; śap is unaccented as pit, and the śānac, a lasārvadhātuka after the adupadeśa śap, is unaccented by “tāsyanudāttenṅidadupadeśāt” (Pā. 6-1-186); kyaṣ has the suffix accent; pararūpa by “ato guṇe” (Pā. 6-1-97), the single substitute udātta; muk by “āne muk” (Pā. 7-2-82), n → ṇ: ṛghāyamāṇa. This derivation follows the Vṛttikāra; but in fact kyaṣ does not come here: the Lohitādi group contains only vowel-final words, and even as an open group kyaṣ does not come after a consonant-final word — the Mahābhāṣya on “lohitā…” says plainly “nāyaṃ halantād vidhīyate”; Kaiyaṭa, the Udyotakāra and the Kaumudī are cited in support, and the vārttika “lohitaḍājbhyaḥ kyaṣvacanam” with its rejection of the word ādi; there is also the Mahābhāṣya’s separate denial for n*-final words, “nāyaṃ nāntād vidhīyate”. So the right derivation is: “ṛghā iva ācarati”, with* kyaṅ by “kartuḥ kyaṅ salopaś ca” (Pā. 3-1-11) after a subanta denoting the standard of comparison and the agent: ṛghan* + su + ya; as a sanādi form it is a root by “sanādyantā dhātavaḥ” (Pā. 3-1-32), the su drops by “supo dhātuprātipadikayoḥ”; by “naḥ kye” (Pā. 1-4-15) the n-final stem is a pada before kyac/kyaṅ, so the n drops by “nalopaḥ prātipadikāntasya” (Pā. 8-2-7); since “nalopaḥ supsvarasaṃjñātugvidhiṣu kṛti” (Pā. 8-2-2) makes the loss “unseen” only for those rules, it is not unseen for lengthening (“pūrvatrāsiddham,” Pā. 8-2-1), and “akṛtsārvadhātukayoḥ” (Pā. 7-4-25) lengthens: ṛghāya; kyaṅ being ṅit, the ātmanepada by “anudāttaṅita ātmanepadam” (printed “1-3-1” [as printed], i.e. 1-3-12); the rest as above. इन्वतः (invataḥ) — root ivi vyāptau, num by “idito num dhātoḥ” (Pā. 7-1-58); laṭ third dual tas; śap; ru and visarga; śap unaccented as pit; by “tāsyanudāttenṅid…” (Pā. 6-1-186) the lasārvadhātuka after the adupadeśa is unaccented, so the root accent stands; “hi ca” (Pā. 8-1-34), with “aprātilomye” carried from “aṅgāprātilomye” (Pā. 8-1-33) — aprātilomya means favourableness — forbids the lowering of a verb joined with hi, so “tiṅṅ atiṅaḥ” (Pā. 8-1-28) does not apply. जेषः (jeṣaḥ) — root ji jaye; leṭ in the sense of liṅ (prayer); second singular sip, its p it by “halantyam” (Pā. 1-3-3); the i dropped by “itaś ca lopaḥ parasmaipadeṣu” (Pā. 3-4-97); śap is set aside by “sibbahulaṃ leṭi” (Pā. 3-1-34): ji + s + s; the augment aṭ by “leṭo ’ḍāṭau” (printed “4-4-94” [as printed], i.e. 3-4-94); guṇa by “sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ” (Pā. 7-3-84); the first s → ṣ by “ādeśapratyayayoḥ” (Pā. 8-3-59); ru and visarga: jeṣaḥ; the augment being unaccented, only the root accent stands. स्वर्वतीः (svarvatīḥ) — “svaḥ āsām asti”: matup by “tad asyāsty asminn iti matup” (Pā. 5-2-94); its m → v by “chandasīraḥ” (Pā. 8-2-15), svar ending in r, and also by “mādupadhāyāś ca mator vo ’yavādibhyaḥ” (Pā. 8-2-9), svar having a as penultimate: svarvat; ṅīp by “ugitaś ca” (Pā. 4-1-6): svarvatī; matup and ṅīp are unaccented as pit; svar is svarita by “nyaṅsvarau svaritau” (Phiṭ-sūtra “24” [?], first digit 2 or 7); in the Saṃhitā the unaccented syllables after a svarita are one-toned (pracaya) by “svaritāt saṃhitāyām anudāttānām” (Pā. 1-2-39); so the svarita of svar stands. अपः (apaḥ) — “ūḍidam-padādy-appum-raidyubhyaḥ” (Pā. 6-1-171): the ending śas after ap is udātta. धूनुहि (dhūnuhi) — root dhūñ kampane, loṭ second singular sip, → hi by “seryapicca” (Pā. 3-4-87); śnu by “svādibhyaḥ śnuḥ”: dhūnuhi; “utaś ca pratyayād asaṃyogapūrvāt” (Pā. 6-4-106) would drop hi after the short u of a suffix not preceded by a conjunct, but by “sarve vidhayaś chandasi vikalpyante” (Paribhāṣā 35) it does not here.

॥८॥

---

Page 430 — Sūkta 10, Rik 9

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

आश्रु॑त्कर्ण श्रु॒धी ह॒वं नू चि॑द्दधिष्व मे॒ गिरः॑ । इन्द्र॒ स्तोम॑मि॒मं मम॑ कृ॒ष्वा यु॒जश्चि॒दन्त॑रम् ॥९॥

āśrutkarṇa śrudhī haváṃ nú cid dadhiṣva me gíraḥ | indra stómam imáṃ máma kṛṣvā yujáś cid ántaram ||9||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

आश्रुत्ऽकर्ण । श्रुधि । हवम् । नु । चित् । दधिष्व । मे । गिरः ॥ इन्द्र । स्तोमम् । इमम् । मम । कृष्व । युजः । चित् । अन्तरम् ॥९॥

āśrut-karṇa | śrudhi | havam | nu | cit | dadhiṣva | me | giraḥ || indra | stomam | imam | mama | kṛṣva | yujaḥ | cit | antaram ||9||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे आश्रुत्कर्ण सर्वतः श्रोतारौ कर्णौ यस्य तादृगिन्द्र हवमस्मदीयमाह्वानं नु क्षिप्रं श्रुधि । शृणु । मे मम होतुर्गिरश्चित्स्तुतीरपि दधिष्व । चित्ते धारय । किंच मम मदीयमिमं स्तोमं स्तोत्ररूपं वाक्यसमूहं युजश्चित्त्वत्स्वकीयसख्युरप्यन्तरं कृष्व । आसन्नं कुरु । यथा वचनं तस्य प्रियं मन्यसे तद्वदस्मदीयस्तुतिष्वपि प्रीतिं कुर्वित्यर्थः ॥ आश्रुत्कर्ण । आ समन्ताच्छृणुत इत्याश्रुत् । क्विप् । ह्रस्वस्य तुक् । पा. ६-१-७१ । तादृशौ कर्णौ यस्य । आमन्त्रितस्य चेत्याद्युदात्तत्वम् । श्रुधि । श्रु श्रवणे । लोटो हिः । श्रुवः शृ च । पा. ३-१-७४ । इति विहितश्नोर्बहुलं छन्दसीति लुक् । तत्संनियोगशिष्टत्वाच्छृभावो ऽपि निवर्तते । श्रुशृणुपृकृवृभ्यश्छन्दसि । पा. ६-४-१०२ । इति हेर्धिरादेशः । सतिशिष्टत्वात्प्रत्ययस्वरः । आमन्त्रितं पूर्वमविद्यमानवत् । पा. ८-१-७२ । इत्यविद्यमानवत्त्वेन पदादपरत्वात्तिङ्ङतिङ इति निघातो न भवति । संहितायामन्येषामपि दृश्यत इति दीर्घः । हवम् । ह्वेञ् स्पर्धायां शब्दे च । बहुलं छन्दसीत्यनैमित्तिके संप्रसारणे कृते पश्चादुकारान्तत्वेन ऋदोरप् । पा. ३-३-५७ । इत्यप्प्रत्ययः । अपः पित्त्वाद्धातुस्वरः । नु । संहितायामृचि तुनुघमक्षुतङ्कुत्रोरुष्याणाम् । पा. ६-३-१३३ । इति दीर्घः । चित् । चादिरनुदात्तः । दधिष्व । दधातेर्लोट् । थासः से । सवाभ्यां वामौ । पा. ३-४-९१ । शपः श्लुः । अभ्यासस्य ह्रस्वत्वादि । छन्दस्युभयथेत्यार्धधातुकस्यापि स्वेरिडागमः ।

आकारलोपः । निघातः । मम । तवममौ ङसि । पा. ७-२-९६ । इत्यनेन मपर्यन्तस्य ममादेशः । प्रातिपदिकस्वरेणान्तोदात्तत्वे प्राप्ते युष्मदस्मदोर्ङसि । पा. ६-१-२११ । इत्याद्युदात्तत्वम् । कृष्व । डुकृञ् करणे । लोट् । थासः से । सवाभ्यां वामौ । शपो बहुलं छन्दसीति लुक् । सतिशिष्टत्वात्प्रत्ययस्वरः । पादादित्वान्न निघातः । युजः । सावेकाच इति विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वम् । अन्तरम् । वृषादित्वादाद्युदात्तः ॥

he āśrutkarṇa sarvataḥ śrotārau karṇau yasya tādṛgindra havamasmadīyamāhvānaṃ nu kṣipraṃ śrudhi | śṛṇu | me mama hoturgiraścitstutīrapi dadhiṣva | citte dhāraya | kiṃca mama madīyamimaṃ stomaṃ stotrarūpaṃ vākyasamūhaṃ yujaścittvatsvakīyasakhyurapyantaraṃ kṛṣva | āsannaṃ kuru | yathā vacanaṃ tasya priyaṃ manyase tadvadasmadīyastutiṣvapi prītiṃ kurvityarthaḥ || āśrutkarṇa | ā samantācchṛṇuta ityāśrut | kvip | hrasvasya tuk | pā. 6-1-71 | tādṛśau karṇau yasya | āmantritasya cetyādyudāttatvam | śrudhi | śru śravaṇe | loṭo hiḥ | śruvaḥ śṛ ca | pā. 3-1-74 | iti vihitaśnorbahulaṃ chandasīti luk | tatsaṃniyogaśiṣṭatvācchṛbhāvo 'pi nivartate | śruśṛṇupṝkṛvṛbhyaśchandasi | pā. 6-4-102 | iti herdhirādeśaḥ | satiśiṣṭatvātpratyayasvaraḥ | āmantritaṃ pūrvamavidyamānavat | pā. 8-1-72 | ityavidyamānavattvena padādaparatvāttiṅṅatiṅa iti nighāto na bhavati | saṃhitāyāmanyeṣāmapi dṛśyata iti dīrghaḥ | havam | hveñ spardhāyāṃ śabde ca | bahulaṃ chandasītyanaimittike saṃprasāraṇe kṛte paścādukārāntatvena ṛdorap | pā. 3-3-57 | ityappratyayaḥ | apaḥ pittvāddhātusvaraḥ | nu | saṃhitāyāmṛci tunughamakṣutaṅkutroruṣyāṇām | pā. 6-3-133 | iti dīrghaḥ | cit | cādiranudāttaḥ | dadhiṣva | dadhāterloṭ | thāsaḥ se | savābhyāṃ vāmau | pā. 3-4-91 | śapaḥ śluḥ | abhyāsasya hrasvatvādi | chandasyubhayathetyārdhadhātukasyāpi sveriḍāgamaḥ | ākāralopaḥ | nighātaḥ | mama | tavamamau ṅasi | pā. 7-2-96 | ityanena maparyantasya mamādeśaḥ | prātipadikasvareṇāntodāttatve prāpte yuṣmadasmadorṅasi | pā. 6-1-211 | ityādyudāttatvam | kṛṣva | ḍukṛñ karaṇe | loṭ | thāsaḥ se | savābhyāṃ vāmau | śapo bahulaṃ chandasīti luk | satiśiṣṭatvātpratyayasvaraḥ | pādāditvānna nighātaḥ | yujaḥ | sāvekāca iti vibhakterudāttatvam | antaram | vṛṣāditvādādyudāttaḥ ||

Translation: "O āśrutkarṇa — O Indra, whose two ears hear from all sides! Havam, our invocation, nu — quickly — śrudhi: hear. Me giraś cit — the praises of me, the invoker, too — dadhiṣva: hold in your mind. And further: mama imam stomam — this stoma of mine, this collection of sentences in the form of praise — yujaś cid antaram kṛṣva: make it near, even nearer than your own friend; bring it close. The sense is: as you regard a friend's word as dear, so take pleasure in our praises too." (Grammar, noted briefly: āśrutkarṇa — "he whose ears hear from all around"; āśrut with kvip and tuk (Pā. 6-1-71), a vocative, initial-udātta; śrudhi — root śru with hi*; the* śnu of Pā. 3-1-74 dropped, and with it the śṛ*-substitute;* hi → dhi (Pā. 6-4-102); not lowered, as the preceding vocative counts as absent (Pā. 8-1-72); lengthened in the Saṃhitā; havam — root hveñ with saṃprasāraṇa*, then* ap by "ṛdor ap" (Pā. 3-3-57); nū — lengthened by Pā. 6-3-133; dadhiṣva — root dhā*, loṭ ātmanepada (Pā. 3-4-91),* ślu*, the augment* iṭ on sva*, lowered;* mama — by "tavamamau ṅasi" (Pā. 7-2-96), initial-udātta by Pā. 6-1-211; kṛṣva — śap dropped, suffix accent, not lowered as first in the pāda; yujaḥ — case-ending udātta; antaram — initial-udātta as a vṛṣādi word.)

Page 431 — Rik 9: word-meanings, overall sense, English, Special Topics

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

(हे) आश्रुत्कर्ण ((he) āśrutkarṇa) — O Indra, whose ears have the capacity to hear everything | हवम् (havam) — my invocation (that we call you with) | नु (nu) — quickly | श्रुधि (śrudhi) — hear | मे (me) — my (of the invoker) | गिरः चित् (giraḥ cit) — also the words (in the form of praise) | दधिष्व (dadhiṣva) — hold in your mind | (and) मम (mama) — my (that is, the one I make) | इमं स्तोमम् (imaṃ stomam) — this hymn | अन्तरं युजः चित् कृष्व (antaraṃ yujaḥ cit kṛṣva) — regard as dear, as the word of your friend.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Indra! Your ears are able to hear everything, everywhere. Therefore hear quickly the invocation that we make, calling you; keep my words in mind; and regard this hymn that I make, or these sentences in the form of praise, as exceedingly dear, like the words of your friend.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> O Indra, whose ears hear all things, listen quickly to my invocation; hold my praises (in four [sic] heart); keep near this my hymn as it were the words of a friend.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

"Āśrutkarṇa" — आ समन्ताच्छृणुत इत्याश्रुत् । तादृशौ कर्णौ यस्य सः । सर्वतः श्रोतारौ कर्णौ यस्य तादृगिन्द्र (ā samantācchṛṇuta ityāśrut | tādṛśau karṇau yasya saḥ | sarvataḥ śrotārau karṇau yasya tādṛgindra) — "āśrut is one who hears all round; he who has such ears is āśrutkarṇa": [the sense is] "O Indra, who hears from every place, everywhere"; one whose ears are such that wherever Indra may be he hears — that is the idea of the poet about the hymns and words that we make.

Page 432 — Rik 9: Special Topics (continued) and grammar

"Śrudhi," "nu," "kṛṣva" — the final syllable of these words is lengthened in the Saṃhitā-pāṭha for the convenience of the meter.

"Dadhiṣva me giraḥ" — "hold our words, or our prayer, in your mind": that is, listen to what we pray, and keep it in memory so that you do not forget it.

"Yujaścid antaram" — the Bhāṣyakāra explains it as "dear [to you] as the words of friends." Although no word is present in this phrase to indicate the term "friends," the Bhāṣyakāra supplies sakhyuḥ ("of a friend") so that the sense fits.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 432–435, noted briefly)

आश्रुत्कर्ण (āśrutkarṇa) — "ā samantāt (from all sides) śṛṇuta (hear)": the root śru śravaṇe with ā before it, and kvip by "kvip ca" (Pā. 3-2-76); all the letters of kvip drop, but by "pratyayalope pratyayalakṣaṇam" (Pā. 1-1-62) the suffix still counts; so by "hrasvasya piti kṛti tuk” (Pā. 6-1-71) tuk is added after the short vowel of the root before a pit kṛt suffix, giving āśrut; “āśrutau karṇau yasya saḥ” (a bahuvrīhi) gives the vocative āśrutkarṇa; initial-udātta as a vocative at the beginning by “āmantritasya ca” (Pā. 6-1-198). श्रुधी (śrudhī) — root śru śravaṇe, loṭ parasmaipada second singular sip; sip → hi; “śṛ” for “śru” by “śruvaḥ śṛ ca” (Pā. 3-1-74) — the śnu that arises in the Veda is dropped by “bahulaṃ chandasi” (Pā. 2-4-73), and, if the śnu vikaraṇa has disappeared, the śṛ substitute that was prescribed in connection with it is also withdrawn, by the maxim “tat-sanniyoga-śiṣṭānām anyatarāpāye ubhayor apy apāyaḥ” (Paribhāṣā 86); “śṛṇu pṛkṛ-vṛ-bhyaś chandasi” (Pā. 6-4-102) gives dhi for hi; in śrudhi the suffix accent stands, being taught later (satiśiṣṭa); since śrudhi follows the word āśrutkarṇa, “tiṅṅ atiṅaḥ” would make it unaccented, but āśrutkarṇa is a vocative, and by “āmantritaṃ pūrvam avidyamānavat” (printed “8-1-2” [?], i.e. 8-1-72) it counts as absent, so the verb does not stand after a pada and is not lowered; in the Saṃhitā “anyeṣām api dṛśyate” (printed “6-3-132” [?], i.e. 6-3-137) gives the lengthening, śrudhī. (The grammar continues on p. 433.)

Pages 433–435 — Rik 9 grammar closes

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 433–435, noted briefly; the argument on pp. 434–435 is given in outline)

हवम् (havam) — root hveñ spardhāyāṃ śabde ca; by “bahulaṃ chandasi” (Pā. 6-1-34) saṃprasāraṇa arises (hve → hu), then pūrvarūpa by “saṃprasāraṇāc ca” (Pā. 6-1-108); since it now ends in u, “ṛdor ap” (Pā. 3-3-57) gives ap, with guṇa and av: the suffix ap after a root ending in u/ṛ, giving hava; ap is pit, so unaccented; the accusative singular am with pūrvarūpa (“ami pūrvaḥ,” printed “8-1-23” [as printed], i.e. 6-1-107), havam. नु (nu) — in the Saṃhitā the vowel is lengthened by “ṛci tunughamakṣutaṅkutroruṣyāṇām” (Pā. 6-3-133), nū. चित् (cit) — belongs to the cādi class, so unaccented (“cādayo ’nudāttāḥ,” Phiṭ-sūtra 84). दधिष्व (dadhiṣva) — root ḍudhāñ dhāraṇapoṣaṇayoḥ (juhotyādi); loṭ ātmanepada middle-second thās, thās → se (Pā. 3-4-80), se → sva (Pā. 3-4-91); śap (Pā. 3-1-68) is replaced by ślu (“juhotyādibhyaḥ śluḥ,” Pā. 2-4-75); doubling by “ślau” (Pā. 6-1-10); the reduplicate’s vowel shortened by “hrasvaḥ” (Pā. 7-4-59); dh → d in the reduplicate (“abhyāse carca,” Pā. 8-4-54), giving da-dhā-sva; since in the Veda a suffix enjoined in the section on roots has both sārvadhātuka and ārdhadhātuka status (“chandasy ubhayathā,” Pā. 3-4-117), sva is treated as ārdhadhātuka, so the augment iṭ arises (“ārdhadhātukasyeḍ valādeḥ,” Pā. 7-2-35); since it is also sārvadhātuka, “śnābhyastayor ātaḥ” (Pā. 6-4-112) drops the ā of the root before it (as it is treated as ṅit); s → ṣ by “ādeśapratyayayoḥ” (Pā. 8-3-59); dadhiṣva; unaccented by “tiṅṅ atiṅaḥ” (Pā. 8-1-28). ममु (mama) — asmad + genitive singular ṅas (printed “jas” [sic] throughout); “tavamamau ṅasi” (Pā. 7-2-96) gives mama for the part of asmad up to m: mama + ad + as; “ato guṇe” (Pā. 6-1-97 [?], last digit unclear) gives pararūpa of the two a’s; “yuṣmadasmadbhyāṃ ṅaso ’ś” (Pā. 7-1-27) replaces ṅas by aś, which, being śit, replaces the whole ending by “anekālśit sarvasya”; “śeṣe lopaḥ” (Pā. 7-2-90) drops the last a if the stem’s end follows; in the alternative that the final letter is dropped, the a is dropped and mama results; the long argument here (p. 434) concerns whether aś (replacement of ṅas) is barred by sya (the substitute of “ṭā-ṅasi-ṅasām inātsyāḥ,” Pā. 7-1-12); it is argued that the aś rule would be pointless if sya applied, and that “yo ’ci” (Pā. 7-2-89) blocks yā-substitution, and so on; the paribhāṣā “yenāprāpte yo vidhir ārabhyate sa tasya bādhako bhavati” (Paribhāṣā 56 [?], first digit unclear) is discussed; and the aṅgādhikāra maxim “aṅgavṛtte punarvṛttāv avidhiḥ” (Paribhāṣā 92 [?], second digit 2 or 7) is quoted to show that after one aṅga-rule applies a second aṅga-rule does not; others take aṅga as "an operation aimed at the stem", which conflicts with the Mahābhāṣya on "jyād ādīyasaḥ" (Pā. 6-4-160), quoted; the discussion ends (p. 435) with the conclusion that the a of aś is to be joined by pararūpa with the preceding a, so the sya substitution does not arise; and that mama is final-udātta by its stem accent, which is set aside by "yuṣmadasmador ṅasi" (printed "yuṣmadasmador jasi" [sic], Pā. 6-1-211): before ṅas-type endings the first syllable of yuṣmad/asmad is udātta, giving initial-udātta. कृष्व (kṛṣva) — root ḍukṛñ karaṇe, loṭ ātmanepada thās → se → sva; the e replaced by va; the u-vikaraṇa ("tanādikṛñbhya uḥ," Pā. 3-1-79) is dropped by bahulaṃ chandasi; ṣatva ("ādeśapratyayayoḥ"); the Saṃhitā lengthening ("dvyaco 'tastiṅaḥ," Pā. 6-3-135), kṛṣvā; śit-like suffix accent; not lowered since it begins the pāda. युजः (yujaḥ) — "sāvekācas tṛtīyādir vibhaktiḥ" (Pā. 6-1-168): the case-ending is udātta. अन्तरम् (antaram) — belongs to the vṛṣādi class, so initial-udātta by "vṛṣādīnāṃ ca" (Pā. 6-1-203).

॥९॥

---

Page 435 — Sūkta 10, Rik 10

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

विद्मा हि त्वा वृषन्तमं वाजेषु हवनश्रुतं । वृषन्तमस्य हूमह ऊतिं सहस्रसातमाम् ॥१०॥

vidmā hi tvā vṛ́ṣantamaṃ vājeṣu havanaśrútaṃ | vṛ́ṣantamasya hūmaha ūtíṃ sahasrasātamām ||10||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

विद्म । हि । त्वा । वृषन्ऽतमम् । वाजेषु । हवनऽश्रुतम् ॥ वृषन्ऽतमस्य । हूमहे । ऊतिम् । सहस्रऽसातमाम् ॥१०॥

vidma | hi | tvā | vṛṣan-tamam | vājeṣu | havana-śrutam || vṛṣan-tamasya | hūmahe | ūtim | sahasra-sātamām ||10||

Page 436 — Rik 10: Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya, word-meanings, English

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे इन्द्र त्वां विद्म । जानीमः । कीदृशं त्वाम् । वृषन्तमं कामानामतिशयेन वर्षितारं वाजेषु संग्रामेषु हवनश्रुतमस्मदीयस्याह्वानस्य श्रोतारम् । वृषन्तममस्यातिशयेन कामादीनां वर्षितुस्तवोतिं रक्षामस्मद्विषयामुद्दिश्य हूमहे । त्वामाह्वयामः । कीदृशीमूतिम् । सहस्रसातमामतिशयेन धनसहस्राणां दात्रीम् ॥ विद्म । विदो लटो वा । पा. ३-४-८३ । इति मसो मादेशः । प्रत्ययस्वरेणान्तोदात्तः । द्व्यचोऽतस्तिङ इति संहितायां दीर्घः । वृषन्तमम् । पृषु वृषु मृषु सेचने । कनिन्युवृषितक्षिराजिधन्विद्युप्रतिदिवः । उ. १-१५६ । इति कनिन् । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । तमपः पित्त्वात्स एव शिष्यते । अयस्मयादीनि छन्दसि । पा. १-४-२० । इति भत्वेन पदत्वाभावान्नलोपाभावः । पा. ८-२-७ । वाजेषु । वाजशब्दो

वृषादिराद्युदात्तः । हवनश्रुतम् । हू इत्यनुवृत्तौ बहुलं छन्दसीति ल्युटि संप्रसारणम् । हवनं शृणोतीति क्विप् । तुगागमः । वृषन्तमस्य । उक्तम् । हूमहे । बहुलं छन्दसीति संप्रसारणम् । शप इत्यनुवृत्तौ बहुलं छन्दसीति शपो लुक् । ऊतिम् । ऊतियूतीत्यादिनान्तोदात्तो निपातितः । सहस्रसातमाम् । सहस्रं सनोतीति सहस्रसाः । षणु दाने । जनसनखनक्रमगमो विट् । पा. ३-२-६७ । विड्वनोरनुनासिकस्यात् । पा. ६-४-४१ । इत्याकारादेशः । कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् । तमपः पित्त्वात्स एव शिष्यते ॥

he indra tvāṃ vidma | jānīmaḥ | kīdṛśaṃ tvām | vṛṣantamaṃ kāmānāmatiśayena varṣitāraṃ vājeṣu saṃgrāmeṣu havanaśrutamasmadīyasyāhvānasya śrotāram | vṛṣantamamasyātiśayena kāmādīnāṃ varṣitustavotiṃ rakṣāmasmadviṣayāmuddiśya hūmahe | tvāmāhvayāmaḥ | kīdṛśīmūtim | sahasrasātamāmatiśayena dhanasahasrāṇāṃ dātrīm || vidma | vido laṭo vā | pā. 3-4-83 | iti maso mādeśaḥ | pratyayasvareṇāntodāttaḥ | dvyaco 'tastiṅa iti saṃhitāyāṃ dīrghaḥ | vṛṣantamam | pṛṣu vṛṣu mṛṣu secane | kaninyuvṛṣitakṣirājidhanvidyupratidivaḥ | u. 1-156 | iti kanin | nittvādādyudāttaḥ | tamapaḥ pittvātsa eva śiṣyate | ayasmayādīni chandasi | pā. 1-4-20 | iti bhatvena padatvābhāvānnalopābhāvaḥ | pā. 8-2-7 | vājeṣu | vājaśabdo vṛṣādirādyudāttaḥ | havanaśrutam | hū ityanuvṛttau bahulaṃ chandasīti lyuṭi saṃprasāraṇam | havanaṃ śṛṇotīti kvip | tugāgamaḥ | vṛṣantamasya | uktam | hūmahe | bahulaṃ chandasīti saṃprasāraṇam | śapa ityanuvṛttau bahulaṃ chandasīti śapo luk | ūtim | ūtiyūtītyādināntodātto nipātitaḥ | sahasrasātamām | sahasraṃ sanotīti sahasrasāḥ | ṣaṇu dāne | janasanakhanakramagamo viṭ | pā. 3-2-67 | viḍvanoranunāsikasyāt | pā. 6-4-41 | ityākārādeśaḥ | kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvam | tamapaḥ pittvātsa eva śiṣyate ||

Translation: "O Indra! Tvāṃ vidma — we know you. What kind? Vṛṣantamam — the one who rains desires to the utmost; vājeṣu — in battles; havanaśrutam — the one who hears our invocation. For the protection (ūtim) of you, the vṛṣantama — the supreme showerer of desires and the like — directed at us, hūmahe: we call you. What kind of protection? Sahasrasātamām — that which, to the utmost, gives thousands of riches." (The grammar of vidma*,* vṛṣantamam*,* havanaśrutam*,* hūmahe*,* ūtim*,* sahasrasātamām follows in the Sanskrit and is noted briefly: vidma — the substitute ma for mas in the laṭ of vid (Pā. 3-4-83), with the Saṃhitā lengthening; vṛṣantamam — root vṛṣu secane with kanin (Uṇ. 1-156), initial-udātta, then tamap (unaccented since pit*); no loss of* n because in the Veda the stem has bha status and so is not a pada*;* havanaśrutam — the lyuṭ from root hve with saṃprasāraṇa, then kvip with tuk*;* hūmahe — with saṃprasāraṇa, and the loss of śap by bahulaṃ chandasi*;* ūtim — final-udātta by the irregular formation "ūtiyūti…"; sahasrasātamām — root ṣaṇu dāne with viṭ*, the* ā for the nasal, the second-member accent, and tamap unaccented as pit*.)*

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

(हे) इन्द्र ((he) indra) — O Indra | त्वाम् (tvām) — you | वृषन्तमम् (vṛṣantamam) — (as the bestower of desired things) the giver of rain | वाजेषु (vājeṣu) — in battles | हवनश्रुतम् (havanaśrutam) — one who hears our invocation (our cry for help) | विद्म (vidma) — we know | हि (hi) — indeed | वृषन्तमस्य (vṛṣantamasya) — of you, who rain down desires | सहस्रसातमाम् (sahasrasātamām) — which gives in thousands of ways | ऊतिम् (ūtim) — protection (or, for our protection) | हूमहे (hūmahe) — we call (we pray for).

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Indra! We know you as the giver of desired things and as one who hears our call in battles. Therefore, for your manifold protection, you who are the giver of rain in the form of desired things, we call upon you.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> O Indra, we know you, the rainer of blessings, the hearer of our call in battles; we invoke the thousand-fold protection of you, the showerer of bounties.

Pages 437–438 — Rik 10: Special Topics and grammar

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

The sense of this rik is easy to understand. There are no special difficulties, and no words that need supplying.

"Vidma" — the final syllable is lengthened for the convenience of the meter in the Saṃhitā.

"Vṛṣantamam," "vṛṣantamasya" — vṛṣṭi-prada, "bestower of rain"; that is, the one who gives us the rain in the form of desired ends.

"Havanaśrutam" — one who hears our invocation, who attends to our cry.

"Sahasrasātamām" — the explanation of this word was already given earlier (see "Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-3-9" as printed [?]; the word was explained at Sūkta 9, Ṛk 8).

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 437–438, noted briefly)

विद्म (vidma) — root vida jñāne ("to know") with laṭ; in the parasmaipada the first-person plural mas; śap is dropped by luk ("adiprabhṛtibhyaḥ śapaḥ," Pā. 2-4-72); "vido laṭo vā" (Pā. 3-4-83): for the nine parasmaipada endings of laṭ after vid the substitutes ṇal, atus, us, thal, athus, a, ṇal, va, ma are optionally given, so mas → ma, giving vidma; the Saṃhitā lengthening by "dvyaco 'tastiṅaḥ" (Pā. 6-3-135), vidmā. वृषन्तमम् (vṛṣantamam) — root pṛṣu, vṛṣu, mṛṣu secane; kanin by "kaninyuvṛṣitakṣirājidhanvidyupratidivaḥ" (Uṇ. 1-154 [as printed]; the bhāṣya gives 1-156); the k and n of kanin are lost as it, leaving vṛṣ + an → vṛṣan; initial-udātta since nit; then tamap in the sense of excess, unaccented since pit (so the initial-udātta stands); by "ayasmayādīni chandasi" (Pā. 1-4-20) the bha status prevents the pada status, so the n is not dropped by "nalopaḥ prātipadikāntasya" (Pā. 8-2-7). वा (vā) — vāja is a vṛṣādi word, so initial-udātta. हवनश्रुतम् (havanaśrutam) — root hveñ with lyuṭ; lyuṭ → ana; hve + ana: by "bahulaṃ chandasi" (Pā. 6-1-34), with "hvaḥ saṃprasāraṇam" (Pā. 6-1-32) carried over, the saṃprasāraṇa of hve — hu — arises; with pūrvarūpa, guṇa and av, havana; "havanaṃ śṛṇoti iti": kvip after the root śru with havana as upapada; by "hrasvasya piti kṛti tuk" (Pā. 6-1-71), tuk, giving havanaśrut; the accusative singular am gives havanaśrutam. वृषन्तमस्य (vṛṣantamasya) — the derivation of vṛṣantama was given earlier in this mantra; genitive singular. हूमहे (hūmahe) — root hveñ spardhāyāṃ śabde ca; laṭ ātmanepada first plural mahiṅ; "ṭita ātmanepadānāṃ ṭere" (Pā. 3-4-79 [?], printed digits unclear) gives e; śap, which is dropped by "bahulaṃ chandasi" (Pā. 2-4-73); "bahulaṃ chandasi" (printed "6-4-34" [as printed], i.e. 6-1-34) carries saṃprasāraṇa; then pūrvarūpa by "saṃprasāraṇāc ca"; "halaḥ" (Pā. 6-4-2) lengthens the saṃprasāraṇa at the end of an aṅga after a consonant: hūmahe. ऊतिम् (ūtim) — "ūtiyūtijūtisātihetikīrtayaś ca" (Pā. 3-3-97): these ktin words are irregularly udātta on the end. सहस्रसातमाम् (sahasrasātamām) — "sahasraṃ sanoti iti sahasrasāḥ": root ṣaṇu dāne; ṣ → s (Pā. 6-1-64), ṇ → n; viṭ after jana, sana, khana, krama, gama in the Veda (Pā. 3-2-67); the nasal replaced by ā before viṭ and van (Pā. 6-4-41); savarṇa-dīrgha, sahasrasā; second-member accent; tamap is pit, so unaccented; sahasrasā keeps the accent of the earlier formation; being feminine, tamā + ṭāp ("ajādyataṣṭāp," no number printed); ṭāp is pit; savarṇa-dīrgha (by "antaratamaḥ" the ā in place of the two) is unaccented; accusative singular am, pūrvarūpa by "ami pūrvaḥ" (printed "8-1-23" [as printed], i.e. 6-1-107): sahasrasātamām.

॥१०॥

---

Page 439 — Sūkta 10, Rik 11

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. Line 2: a stroke over स of सहस्र followed by a bar under ह्र, as printed — [accent ?].)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

आ तू न॑ इन्द्र कौशिक मन्दसा॒नः सु॒तं पिब । न॒व्यमायु॒: प्र सू ति॑र कृधी स॑हस्रसामृ॑षिम् ॥११॥ [accent ?]

ā tū́ na indra kauśika mandasānáḥ sutáṃ piba | navyám āyuḥ prá sū́ tira kṛdhī sahasrásām ṛṣim ||11|| [accent ?]

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

आ । तु । नः । इन्द्र । कौशिक । मन्दसानः । सुतम् । पिब ॥ नव्यम् । आयुः । प्र । सु । तिर । कृधि । सहस्रऽसाम् । ऋषिम् ॥११॥

ā | tu | naḥ | indra | kauśika | mandasānaḥ | sutam | piba || navyam | āyuḥ | pra | su | tira | kṛdhi | sahasra-sām | ṛṣim ||11||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे इन्द्र तु क्षिप्रं नो ऽस्मान्प्रत्या गच्छेति शेषः । हे कौशिक कुशिकस्य पुत्रेन्द्र मन्दसानो हृष्यो भूत्वा सुतमभिषुतं सोमं पिब । यद्यपि विश्वामित्रः कुशिकस्य पुत्रस्तथापि तद्रूपेणेन्द्रस्यैवोत्पन्नत्वात्कुशिकपुत्रत्वमविरुद्धम् । अयं वृत्तान्तो ऽनुक्रमणिकायामुक्तः । कुशिकस्त्वैषीरथिरिन्द्रतुल्यं पुत्रमिच्छन्ब्रह्मचर्यं चकार । तस्येन्द्र एव गाथी पुत्रो जज्ञे । अनु. ऋग्वे. ३-१ । इति । हे इन्द्र नव्यं सर्वैर्देवैः स्तुत्यं कर्मानुष्ठानपरमायुर्जीवितं प्र सू तिर । प्रकर्षेण सुष्ठु वर्धय । ततो मां सहस्रसां सहस्रसंख्याकलाभोपेतमृषिमतीन्द्रियद्रष्टारं कृधि । कुरु ॥ तु । संहितायामृचि तुनुघमक्षुतङ्कुत्रोरुष्याणामिति दीर्घः । नः । संहितायामुदात्तादनुदात्तस्य स्वरितः । इन्द्र । आमन्त्रितनिघातः । कौशिक । निघातः । मन्दसानः । हृष्यन् । मदि स्तुतिमोदमदस्वप्नकान्तिगतिषु । आसानजित्यनुवृत्तौ वञ्जिवृधिमन्दिसहिभ्यः कित् । उ. २-८६ । इत्यसानच्प्रत्ययः । चित्त्वादन्तोदात्तः । सुतम् । प्रत्ययस्वरः । नव्यम् । णु स्तुतौ । अचो यत् । गुणः । वान्तो यि प्रत्यये । पा. ६-१-७९ ।

इत्यवादेशः । यतो ऽनाव इत्याद्युदात्तत्वम् । आयुः । उसिनिदित्यनुवृत्तावेतेर्णिच्च । उ. २-११९ । इत्युसिप्रत्ययः । णित्त्वाद्वृद्ध्यायादेशौ । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वम् । सु । निपातस्य चेति संहितायां दीर्घत्वम् । तिर । तरतेर्व्यत्ययेन शः । ऋत इद्धातोः । पा. ७-१-१०० । इतीत्त्वम् । अतो हेरिति हेर्लुक् । कृधि । डुकृञ् करणे । बहुलं छन्दसीति शपो लुक् । श्रुशृणुपृकृवृभ्यश्छन्दसीति हेर्धिरादेशः । सहस्रसाम् । उक्तम् । ऋषिम् । ऋषी गतौ । इन्नित्यनुवृत्तावि गुपधात्कित् । कित्त्वाद्गुणाभावः । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वम् ॥

he indra tu kṣipraṃ no 'smānpratyā gaccheti śeṣaḥ | he kauśika kuśikasya putrendra mandasāno hṛṣyo bhūtvā sutamabhiṣutaṃ somaṃ piba | yadyapi viśvāmitraḥ kuśikasya putrastathāpi tadrūpeṇendrasyaivotpannatvātkuśikaputratvamaviruddham | ayaṃ vṛttānto 'nukramaṇikāyāmuktaḥ | kuśikastvaiśīrathirindratulyaṃ putramicchanbrahmacaryaṃ cakāra | tasyendra eva gāthī putro jajñe | anu. ṛgve. 3-1 | iti | he indra navyaṃ sarvairdevaiḥ stutyaṃ karmānuṣṭhānaparamāyurjīvitaṃ pra sū tira | prakarṣeṇa suṣṭhu vardhaya | tato māṃ sahasrasāṃ sahasrasaṃkhyākalābhopetamṛṣimatīndriyadraṣṭāraṃ kṛdhi | kuru || tu | saṃhitāyāmṛci tunughamakṣutaṅkutroruṣyāṇāmiti dīrghaḥ | naḥ | saṃhitāyāmudāttādanudāttasya svaritaḥ | indra | āmantritanighātaḥ | kauśika | nighātaḥ | mandasānaḥ | hṛṣyan | madi stutimodamadasvapnakāntigatiṣu | āsānajityanuvṛttau vañjivṛdhimandisahibhyaḥ kit | u. 2-86 | ityasānacpratyayaḥ | cittvādantodāttaḥ | sutam | pratyayasvaraḥ | navyam | ṇu stutau | aco yat | guṇaḥ | vānto yi pratyaye | pā. 6-1-79 | ityavādeśaḥ | yato 'nāva ityādyudāttatvam | āyuḥ | usinidityanuvṛttāveterṇicca | u. 2-119 | ityusipratyayaḥ | ṇittvādvṛddhyāyādeśau | nittvādādyudāttatvam | su | nipātasya ceti saṃhitāyāṃ dīrghatvam | tira | taratervyatyayena śaḥ | ṛta iddhātoḥ | pā. 7-1-100 | itīttvam | ato heriti herluk | kṛdhi | ḍukṛñ karaṇe | bahulaṃ chandasīti śapo luk | śruśṛṇupṛkṛvṛbhyaśchandasīti herdhirādeśaḥ | sahasrasām | uktam | ṛṣim | ṛṣī gatau | innityanuvṛttāvi gupadhātkit | kittvādguṇābhāvaḥ | nittvādādyudāttatvam ||

Translation: "O Indra, tu — quickly — come to us (this is to be supplied). O kauśika — O Indra, son of Kuśika — mandasānaḥ — being glad — sutam piba: drink the pressed Soma. Although Viśvāmitra is the son of Kuśika, yet since Indra himself was born in that form, his being Kuśika's son is not contradictory. This story is told in the Anukramaṇikā: 'Kuśika, the son of Iṣīratha, wishing for a son equal to Indra, practised celibacy; Indra himself was born to him as his son Gāthin' (Anu. Ṛgve. 3-1). O Indra, navyam āyuḥ pra sū tira: increase greatly and well [our] āyuḥ, life, navyam — praiseworthy by all the gods, devoted to the performance of rites. Then kṛdhi — make — me sahasrasām — endowed with gains reckoned in thousands — a ṛṣi, a seer of what is beyond the senses." (Grammar, noted briefly: tū — lengthened in the Saṃhitā; naḥ — svarita after an udātta in the Saṃhitā; indra, kauśika — vocatives, lowered; mandasānaḥ — root madi with asānac (Uṇ. 2-86), final-udātta; navyam — root ṇu stutau with yat, av before y (Pā. 6-1-79), initial-udātta; āyuḥ — from iṇ with usi (Uṇ. 2-119), vṛddhi and āy, initial-udātta; sū — lengthened as a particle; tira — root tṝ with śa by Vedic exchange, i (Pā. 7-1-100), loss of hi; kṛdhi — śap dropped, hi → dhi; ṛṣim — root ṛṣī gatau with in, kit, initial-udātta.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

(हे) इन्द्र ((he) indra) — O Indra | तु (tu) — quickly | नः (naḥ) — our (to our side) | आ (gaccha) — come | (हे) कौशिक ((he) kauśika) — O Indra, son of Kuśika | (you) मन्दसानः (mandasānaḥ) — being glad | सुतम् (sutam) — the Soma-juice, pressed and prepared | पिब (piba) — drink | नव्यम् (navyam) — [which is] requested (that is, desired) | आयुः (āyuḥ) — life | प्र सु तिर (pra su tira) — increase specially (for me) | सहस्रसाम् (sahasrasām) — [one who is] winning thousands of gains | ऋषिम् (ṛṣim) — a seer | कृधि (kṛdhi) — make (me).

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Indra! Come quickly to us, and drink with delight this Soma-juice that we have pressed. Increase our life, and make me, an ordinary person, one who gains thousands of benefits.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> Come quickly, Indra, son of Kusika, and drink the soma libation with delight; prolong the life which we merit and make me a Rishi abnndantly [sic] endowed with thousands of benefits.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

"Tu," "su," "kṛdhi" — the final syllables of these words in this rik are lengthened for the convenience of the meter.

"Ā" — in this rik only the prefix ā occurs; with it the verb gaccha ("come") has to be supplied. Such usages are needed in the Ṛgveda.

"Kauśika" — here Indra is addressed as the son of Kuśika. In this connection the Bhāṣyakāra cites an account from the Anukramaṇikā:

> कुशिकस्त्वैषीरथिरिन्द्रतुल्यं पुत्रमिच्छन् ब्रह्मचर्यं चचार । तस्येन्द्र एव गाथी पुत्रो जज्ञे ॥ (ऋ. अनु. ३-१)
> kuśikas tv aiṣīrathir indra-tulyaṃ putram icchan brahmacaryaṃ cacāra | tasyendra eva gāthī putro jajñe || (ṛ. anu. 3-1) "Kuśika, the son of Iṣīratha, wishing a son equal to Indra, practised celibate austerity; Indra himself was born as his son, Gāthin."

Skandasvāmī, on this subject:

> अत्र चेतिहासमाचक्षते । इषीरथपुत्रः कुशिको नाम राजा पुत्रमिन्द्रतुल्यं कामयमानो ब्रह्मचर्यं चचार । तस्य गाथी नामेन्द्र एव स्वयं पुत्रो जात इति ॥ atra cetihāsam ācakṣate | iṣīrathaputraḥ kuśiko nāma rājā putram indra-tulyaṃ kāmayamāno brahmacaryaṃ cacāra | tasya gāthī nāmendra eva svayaṃ putro jāta iti || "Here they tell a legend: a king named Kuśika, son of Iṣīratha, desiring a son equal to Indra, practised celibate austerity; Indra himself was born to him as a son named Gāthin."

Page 441 — Rik 11: Special Topics (continued)

Veṅkaṭamādhava:

> पुत्रमिन्द्रसमम् इच्छन् कुशिको ब्रह्मचर्यं चचार । तस्येन्द्रः स्वयमेव पुत्रो ऽभूत् । सास्य कौशिकता ॥
> putram indra-samam icchan kuśiko brahmacaryaṃ cacāra | tasyendraḥ svayam eva putro 'bhūt | sāsya kauśikatā || "Desiring a son equal to Indra, Kuśika practised celibate austerity; Indra himself became his son. That is his Kauśika-hood."

The chief point is this: in ancient times a king named Iṣīratha had a son called Kuśika. He, desiring a son equal to Indra, practised celibate austerity. Then Indra himself was born as his son, under the name Gāthin. The sage Viśvāmitra was the son of King Gāthin; and since Madhucchandas, the seer who saw this rik, was born in the family of Viśvāmitra, he addresses Indra, born in his own family — that is, in the family of Kuśika — as "Kauśika."

"Navyam" — the Bhāṣyakāra says that the word navya is another form of the root ṇu stutau, and explains it as sarvair devaiḥ stutyaṃ karmānuṣṭhānaparam — "that is to be praised by all gods, devoted to the performance of rites," or, as the Kannada gloss gives it, "that is wanted by all, even the gods": that is, long life, as everyone naturally desires to live long. Or, as Skandasvāmī says, if the word navyam is given the sense "new" (navam — fresh), then the sense would be: a new vitality for the words navyam āyuḥ — or, to bring out the underlying idea, a still greater lifespan henceforth. In sum: "make us live long; increase our life — prolong our life" [the source's own English].

"Sahasrasām" — thousands of gains, benefits, or many kinds of desired things.

"Ṛṣim" — the root ṛṣī gatau ("to go") has the senses of motion and knowledge; so ṛṣi means one who knows, one endowed with wisdom, or — as the Bhāṣyakāra says — अतीन्द्रियद्रष्टारम् (atīndriyadraṣṭāram): a great person with the power to know things beyond the reach of the outer senses. Here "ṛṣi" means Madhucchandas, the seer who saw this mantra. When he prays to Indra, "give me long life and make me an excellent seer," he does not use a first-person verb but a third-person usage.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 441–443, noted briefly)

तु (tu) — in the Saṃhitā lengthened by "ṛcitunughamakṣutaṅkutroruṣyāṇām" (Pā. 6-3-133); a nipāta, initial-udātta ("nipātā ādyudāttāḥ," Phiṭ-sūtra 80). (The grammar continues on p. 442.)

Pages 442–443 — Rik 11 grammar

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 442–443, noted briefly)

नः (naḥ) — nas replaces asmān by "bahuvacanasya vasnasau" (Pā. 8-1-21); unaccented as a substitute; in the Saṃhitā it becomes svarita by "udāttād anudāttasya svaritaḥ" (Pā. 8-4-66) after an udātta. इन्द्र (indra), कौशिक (kauśika) — vocatives, unaccented by "āmantritasya ca" (Pā. 8-1-19). मन्दसानः (mandasānaḥ) — hṛṣyan ("rejoicing"); root madi stuti-moda-mada-svapna-kānti-gatiṣu; by "ṛñjivṛdhimandisahibhyaḥ kit" (Uṇ. 2-244 [as printed]), with asānac carried over from "chandasy asānac chujyābhyām" (Uṇ. 2-243 [as printed]), the suffix asānac, kit, comes after ṛji bharjane, vṛdhu vṛddhau, madi stuti… and ṣaha marṣaṇe; the source remarks that the Bālamanoramā reads the roots there as ṛji gatau and madī harṣe, but ṛji gatau is not found in the Dhātupāṭha (only ṛja gatau), and madī harṣe is not idit and so takes no num; so "mandi" in the sūtra would not fit, and the reading may be due to a copyist's or proof-reader's slip; the suffix is cit, so final-udātta ("citaḥ," Pā. 6-1-163). सुतम् (sutam) — kta-ending; the suffix accent. नव्यम् (navyam) — root ṇu stutau; ṇ → n ("ṇo naḥ," Pā. 6-1-65); yat

after a vowel-ending root (“aco yat,” printed “3-1-96” [as printed], i.e. 3-1-97), nu + ya; since ya is an ārdhadhātuka, guṇa (“sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ”), u → o; then “vānto yi pratyaye” (Pā. 6-1-79): before a y-initial suffix o and au become av and āv, so no → nav; navya; “yato ’nāvaḥ” (Pā. 6-1-213) gives initial-udātta; accusative singular navyam. आयुः (āyuḥ) — by “eter ṇic ca” (Uṇ. 2-283 [?] as printed), with usi carried over from “janer usiḥ” (Uṇ. 2-286 [as printed]) and nit from “artipṛvapiyajitanidhanitapibhyo nit” (Uṇ. 2-284 [as printed]), the suffix usi comes after iṇ gatau, being both ṇit and nit; i + us: vṛddhi by “aco ñṇiti” (Pā. 7-2-115) — i → ai; then ai → āy (“eco ’yavāyāvaḥ,” Pā. 6-1-78), āyus; ru and visarga, āyuḥ; initial-udātta, “ñnityādir nityam” (Pā. 6-1-197). सु (su) — in the Saṃhitā lengthened by “nipātasya ca” (Pā. 6-3-136). तिर (tira) — root tṝ plavanataraṇayoḥ (bhvādi); loṭ second singular sip; sip → hi by “seryapicca” (Pā. 3-4-87); śap should arise but by Vedic inversion the vikaraṇa śa arises, which is apit and so ṅit-like; hence “sārvadhātukam apit” (Pā. 1-2-4) and no guṇa by “kṅiti ca” (Pā. 1-1-5); “ṛta id dhātoḥ” (Pā. 7-1-100): i in place of the ṛ, the final, by “alo ’ntyasya” (Pā. 1-1-52); then “uraṇ raparaḥ” (Pā. 1-1-51): tir; hi is dropped after a stem ending in a (“ato heḥ,” Pā. 6-4-105); tira. कृधि (kṛdhi) — root ḍukṛñ karaṇe, loṭ, sip, hi; the śap is dropped by “bahulaṃ chandasi” (Pā. 2-4-73); hi → dhi by “śruśṛṇupṛkṛvṛbhyaś chandasi” (6-4-102). सहस्रसाम् (sahasrasām) — explained in the earlier mantra (Rik 10). ऋषिम् (ṛṣim) — root ṛṣī gatau; by “igupadhāt kit” (Uṇ. 4-559 [as printed]) with in carried from “sarvadhātubhya in” (Uṇ. 4-557 [as printed]), the suffix in, kit, after a root with ik in the penultimate position, so ṛṣ + in; the suffix is kit, so no guṇa; nit, so initial-udātta (“ñnityādir nityam,” Pā. 6-1-197); the accusative singular am with pūrvarūpa gives ṛṣim

॥११॥

---

Page 444 — Sūkta 10, Rik 12 (the last)

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. Line 1: the stroke at the start stands over the right edge of प, not over रि — read as printed, [accent ?]; line 2: the bars under the first word are crowded — [accent ?].)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

परि त्वा गिर्वणो गिरः इमा भवन्तु विश्वतः । [accent ?] वृद्धायुमनु वृद्धयो जुष्टा भवन्तु जुष्टयः ॥१२॥ [accent ?]

pari tvā girvaṇo gíra imā bhavantu viśvátaḥ | [accent ?] vṛddhāyum ánu vṛ́ddhayo júṣṭā bhavantu júṣṭayaḥ ||12|| [accent ?]

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

परि । त्वा । गिर्वणः । गिरः । इमाः । भवन्तु । विश्वतः ॥ वृद्धऽआयुम् । अनु । वृद्धयः । जुष्टाः । भवन्तु । जुष्टयः ॥१२॥

pari | tvā | girvaṇaḥ | giraḥ | imāḥ | bhavantu | viśvataḥ || vṛddha-āyum | anu | vṛddhayaḥ | juṣṭāḥ | bhavantu | juṣṭayaḥ ||12||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

प्रवर्ग्ये परि त्वेत्यभिष्टुयात् । स्पृष्ट्वोदकमिति खण्डे परि त्वा गिर्वणो गिरो ऽधि द्वयोरदधा उक्थ्यं वचः । आ. ४-६ । इति सूत्रितम् । तथा हविर्धानप्रवर्तने सेयं परिधानीया । हविर्धाने प्रवर्तयन्तीति खण्डे परि त्वा गिर्वणो गिर इति परिदध्यात् । आ. ४-९ । इति सूत्रितम् । तथा ब्राह्मणं च । परि त्वा गिर्वणो गिर इत्युत्तमया परिदधाति । ऐ. ब्रा. १-२९ । इति ॥

pravargye pari tvetyabhiṣṭuyāt | spṛṣṭvodakamiti khaṇḍe pari tvā girvaṇo giro 'dhi dvayoradadhā ukthyaṃ vacaḥ | ā. 4-6 | iti sūtritam | tathā havirdhānapravartane seyaṃ paridhānīyā | havirdhāne pravartayantīti khaṇḍe pari tvā girvaṇo gira iti paridadhyāt | ā. 4-9 | iti sūtritam | tathā brāhmaṇaṃ ca | pari tvā girvaṇo gira ityuttamayā paridadhāti | ai. brā. 1-29 | iti ||

हे गिर्वणो ऽस्मदीयस्तुतिभागिन्द्र विश्वतः सर्वेषु कर्मसु प्रयुज्यमाना इमा गिरो ऽस्मदीयाः स्तुतयस्त्वां परि भवन्तु । सर्वतः प्राप्नुवन्तु । कीदृश्यो गिरः । वृद्धायुमनु प्रवृद्धेनायुष्येणोपेतं त्वामनुसृत्य वृद्धयो वर्धमानाः । किंचैता गिरो जुष्टास्त्वया सेविताः सत्यो जुष्टयो ऽस्माकं प्रीतिहेतवो भवन्तु ॥ गिर्वणः । गीर्भिर्वन्यत इति गिर्वणाः । वन षण संभक्तौ । सर्वधातुभ्यो ऽसुन् । गिर उपधाया दीर्घाभावश्छान्दसः । आमन्त्रितनिघातः । विश्वतः । लितीति प्रत्ययात्पूर्वस्योदात्तत्वम् । वृद्धायुम् । वृधु वृद्धौ । क्तप्रत्ययः । उदितो वा । पा. ७-२-५६ । इतीटः क्त्वाप्रत्यये विकल्पितत्वाद्यस्य विभाषा । पा. ७-२-१५ । इति निष्ठायामिडभावः । प्रत्ययस्वरः । इण् गतौ । छन्दसीणः । उ. १-२ । इत्युण् । णित्त्वाद्वृद्धिः । आयादेशश्च । वृद्धमायुर्यस्य । बहुव्रीहौ पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् । वृद्धयः । वृधेः क्तिनि तितुत्रतथसिसुसरकसेषु च । पा. ७-२-९ । इतीडभावः । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वम् । जुष्टाः । श्वीदितो निष्ठायाम् । पा. ७-२-१४ । इतीडभावः । जुष्टार्पिते चेत्यनुवृत्तौ नित्यं मन्त्रे । पा. ६-१-२१० । इत्याद्युदात्तत्वम् । जुष्टयः । जुषी प्रीतिसेवनयोः । क्तिन् । तितुत्रेतीडभावः । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः ॥ २० ॥

he girvaṇo 'smadīyastutibhāgindra viśvataḥ sarveṣu karmasu prayujyamānā imā giro 'smadīyāḥ stutayastvāṃ pari bhavantu | sarvataḥ prāpnuvantu | kīdṛśyo giraḥ | vṛddhāyumanu pravṛddhenāyuṣyeṇopetaṃ tvāmanusṛtya vṛddhayo vardhamānāḥ | kiṃcaitā giro juṣṭāstvayā sevitāḥ satyo juṣṭayo 'smākaṃ prītihetavo bhavantu || girvaṇaḥ | gīrbhirvanyata iti girvaṇāḥ | vana ṣaṇa saṃbhaktau | sarvadhātubhyo 'sun | gira upadhāyā dīrghābhāvaśchāndasaḥ | āmantritanighātaḥ | viśvataḥ | litīti pratyayātpūrvasyodāttatvam | vṛddhāyum | vṛdhu vṛddhau | ktapratyayaḥ | udito vā | pā. 7-2-56 | itīṭaḥ ktvāpratyaye vikalpitatvādyasya vibhāṣā | pā. 7-2-15 | iti niṣṭhāyāmiḍabhāvaḥ | pratyayasvaraḥ | iṇ gatau | chandasīṇaḥ | u. 1-2 | ityuṇ | ṇittvādvṛddhiḥ | āyādeśaśca | vṛddhamāyuryasya | bahuvrīhau pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvam | vṛddhayaḥ | vṛdheḥ ktini titutratathasisusarakaseṣu ca | pā. 7-2-9 | itīḍabhāvaḥ | nittvādādyudāttatvam | juṣṭāḥ | śvīdito niṣṭhāyām | pā. 7-2-14 | itīḍabhāvaḥ | juṣṭārpite cetyanuvṛttau nityaṃ mantre | pā. 6-1-210 | ityādyudāttatvam | juṣṭayaḥ | juṣī prītisevanayoḥ | ktin | titutretīḍabhāvaḥ | nittvādādyudāttaḥ || 20 ||

Translation: "In the pravargya one should praise with pari tvā: in the section beginning spṛṣṭvodakam it is laid down, 'pari tvā girvaṇo giraḥ, adhi dvayor adadhā ukthyaṃ vacaḥ' (Āśvalāyana 4-6). Likewise, in the moving forward of the havirdhāna carts this [ṛk] is the closing verse: in the section havirdhāne pravartayanti it is laid down, 'one should close with pari tvā girvaṇo giraḥ' (Āśvalāyana 4-9). And the Brāhmaṇa too: 'he closes with the last [ṛk], pari tvā girvaṇo giraḥ' (Ai. Brā. 1-29). O girvaṇaḥ — O Indra, sharer in our praises — imāḥ giraḥ, these our praises, used viśvataḥ, in all rites, tvāṃ pari bhavantu: may they reach you on all sides. What kind of praises? Vṛddhāyum anu — following you, who are endowed with grown life; vṛddhayaḥ — growing. And further: may these praises, juṣṭāḥ — enjoyed by you — become juṣṭayaḥ, the causes of our delight." (Grammar, noted briefly: girvaṇaḥ — "he who is served with praises", root vana ṣaṇa saṃbhaktau with asun*, no lengthening of* gir as a Vedic form, lowered as a vocative; viśvataḥ — the syllable before the suffix udātta; vṛddhāyum — vṛddha from* vṛdhu with kta*, no* iṭ (Pā. 7-2-56, 7-2-15); āyu from iṇ with uṇ (Uṇ. 1-2); a bahuvrīhi with the first-member accent; vṛddhayaḥ — ktin, no* iṭ (Pā. 7-2-9), initial-udātta; juṣṭāḥ — no iṭ (Pā. 7-2-14), initial-udātta by "nityaṃ mantre" (Pā. 6-1-210); juṣṭayaḥ — root juṣī with ktin*, initial-udātta. The bhāṣya closes "॥ २० ॥", the twentieth varga.)*

Page 445 — Rik 12: word-meanings, overall sense, English, Special Topics

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

(हे) गिर्वणः ((he) girvaṇaḥ) — O Indra, worthy of being praised by us | विश्वतः (viśvataḥ) — in all (that is, in all the rites in which we make use of them) | इमाः गिरः (imāḥ giraḥ) — these words in the form of praise | त्वा (tvā) — you | परि भवन्तु (pari bhavantu) — may they come from every side and join (you) | वृद्धायुम् (vṛddhāyum) — you who have long life | अनु (anu) — following | वृद्धयः (vṛddhayaḥ) — growing | जुष्टाः (juṣṭāḥ) — [the words] served (accepted) by you | जुष्टयः (juṣṭayaḥ) — [may they be] the means of giving us delight | भवन्तु (bhavantu) — may they be.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Indra, lover of praise! May these words of praise that we make come to you from every side and bring you delight. As these words give you delight, may your life-span (your strength) increase; and as these words of ours bring you delight, may they bring delight to us as well.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> O deserver of praise, may these our praises be on all occasions around you (accepted by you); may they increase your power, O long-lived, and being agreeable to you, may they become our enjoyments.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

The sense of this rik is very involved (difficult); the intention does not fit together properly, and what the seer means is not clearly known.

"Girvaṇaḥ" — गीर्भिर्वन्यत इति गिर्वणाः । वन षण संभक्तौ । अस्मदीयस्तुतिभाक् (gīrbhir vanyata iti girvaṇāḥ | vana ṣaṇa saṃbhaktau | asmadīya-stuti-bhāk) — "one who is served with praises; the root vana/ṣaṇa in the sense of sharing: one who partakes of our praise": that is, one who is worshipped with our words, who is praised, who is worthy of praise.

"Viśvataḥ" — in all places, or on all occasions.

“Vṛddhāyum” — प्रवृद्धेनायुष्येणोपेतम् (pravṛddhenāyuṣyeṇopetam) — “endowed with increased lifespan”: endowed with a life that is great or growing, one who lives for a long time. Skandasvāmī explains this word as vṛddhān śatrūn atigantāram — “one who overcomes enemies that have grown great,” one who subdues enemies.

“Anu” — anusṛtya, prāpya — “following,” “reaching”: that is, may the hymns we make reach you; may you hear them.

Page 446 — Rik 12: Special Topics (continued) and grammar

“Vṛddhayaḥ” — vardhamānāḥ — growing; much, specially, flourishing, abundant.

“Juṣṭāḥ,” “juṣṭayaḥ” — the root juṣī prītisevanayoḥ has the senses “to be fond of” and “to serve”; so these words mean “that which gives delight, that which is an object of delight.”

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 446–447, noted briefly; numbers checked against the print)

गिर्वणः (girvaṇaḥ) — “gīrbhir vanyate iti girvaṇāḥ”: root gṝ śabde (kryādi) with kvip (“kvip ca,” Pā. 3-2-76); “ṛta id dhātoḥ” (Pā. 7-1-100) gives i in place of ṛ, which, as an alo ’ntyasya substitute, comes at the end; root vana ṣaṇa saṃbhaktau with asun (“sarvadhātubhyo ’sun,” Uṇ. 4-638 [?] [as printed]); gir + bhis + vanas receive the technical name prātipadika, and by “supo dhātu-prātipadikayoḥ” (Pā. 2-4-71) bhis is dropped; by pratyaya-lakṣaṇa gir counts as a pada; so “vor upadhāyā dīrgha ikaḥ” (Pā. 8-2-76): the penultimate ik of a stem ending in r or v is lengthened at the end of a pada, which would lengthen the i of gir; but “sarve vidhayaś chandasi vikalpyante” (Paribhāṣā 35) makes this optional, so it does not arise; the vocative singular su is added to girvaṇas, the su dropped by “hal-ṅyābbhyo dīrghāt sutisy apṛktaṃ hal” (Pā. 6-1-68); ru and visarga: girvaṇaḥ; a vocative, unaccented by “āmantritasya ca” (Pā. 8-1-19). विश्वतः (viśvataḥ) — from tasil, which is l-marked, so the vowel before it is udātta (“liti,” Pā. 6-1-193). वृद्धायुम् (vṛddhāyum) — root vṛdhu vṛddhau with kta; vṛdh + ta; vṛdh is udit, so by “udito vā” (Pā. 7-2-56) the iṭ augment before ktvā is optional (the print then discusses whether kta too takes iṭ, citing “yasya vibhāṣā” (Pā. 7-2-15): a suffix beginning kt-/ktavat does not take iṭ after a root to which iṭ is optional); so the iṭ that “ārdhadhātukasyeḍ valādeḥ” (Pā. 7-2-35) would give is barred; vṛdh + ta → by “jhaṣas tathor dho ’dhaḥ” (Pā. 8-2-40) t → dh after a jhaṣ; then dh + dh → ddh by “jhalāṃ jaś jhaśi” (Pā. 8-4-53): vṛddha; the root iṇ gatau, with uṇ in the Veda (“chandasīṇaḥ,” Uṇ. 1-2), uṇ being ṇit, so vṛddhi (“aco ñṇiti,” Pā. 7-2-115) gives ai + u, then “eco ’yavāyāvaḥ” (Pā. 6-1-78) gives āy + u → āyu; vṛddham āyur yasya saḥ: vṛddhāyuḥ, a bahuvrīhi, with the first member’s accent (“bahuvrīhau prakṛtyā pūrvapadam,” Pā. 6-2-1); accusative singular vṛddhāyum. वृद्धयः (vṛddhayaḥ) — ktin (“striyāṃ ktin,” Pā. 3-3-94) after vṛdh; the iṭ augment does not arise by “ti, tu, tra, ta, tha, si, su, sara, ka, seṣu ca” (Pā. 7-2-9); th → dh and j-type changes as before: vṛddhi; initial-udātta by “ñnityādir nityam” (Pā. 6-1-17 [as printed]); nominative plural vṛddhayaḥ. जुष्टाः (juṣṭāḥ) — root juṣī prītisevanayoḥ, idit; kta; “śvīditaḥ niṣṭhāyām” (Pā. 7-2-14): after śvi and idit roots, niṣṭhā does not take iṭ, so kta has no augment; the suffix accent would arise but is set aside by “nityaṃ mantre” (Pā. 6-1-210), and juṣṭa and arpita are, by the previous sūtra’s carried-over words “juṣṭārpite ca chandasi” (Pā. 6-1-209), always initial-udātta in the mantra. जुष्टयः (juṣṭayaḥ) — root juṣī prītisevanayoḥ, ktin;

the augment iṭ barred by “ti-tu-tra….” (Pā. 7-2-9); “ṣṭunā ṣṭuḥ” (Pā. 8-4-41) turns t → ṭ: juṣṭi; initial-udātta by the nit accent; nominative plural juṣṭayaḥ.

॥१२॥

Page 447 — Close of Sūkta 10

॥ इति दशमं सूक्तं समाप्तम् ॥ iti daśamaṃ sūktaṃ samāptam / “Thus the tenth sūkta is completed.”

Kannada colophon: ಇಲ್ಲಿಗೆ ಪ್ರಥಮಮಂಡಲದಲ್ಲಿ ಹತ್ತನೆಯ ಸೂಕ್ತವು ಮುಗಿದುದು । “Here the tenth sūkta in the first maṇḍala is concluded.”

(A printed ornament follows. The next printed page, 448, opens the eleventh sūkta, “indraṃ viśvā avīvṛdhan” — its application note names Jetā, son of Madhucchandas, as the ṛṣi — and follows below.)

---

Page 448 — opening of Sūkta 11 (third anuvāka)

॥ ॐ ॥

॥ ಹನ್ನೊಂದನೆಯ ಸೂಕ್ತವು ॥ — Sūkta 11 — “indraṃ viśvā avīvṛdhan” (“The Eleventh Sūkta”)

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥ (introductory note on the application of the sūkta)

> इन्द्रं विश्वा इत्यष्टर्चस्य सूक्तस्य मधुच्छन्दसः पुत्रो जेतैनामक ऋषिः । तथा चानुक्रान्तम् । इन्द्रमष्टौ जेता माधुच्छन्दस इति । छन्दस्त्वानुष्टुभमिति पूर्वसूत्रोक्तम् । इन्द्रो देवतानुवर्तते ॥ विनियोगस्तु । महाव्रते निष्केवल्ये कृत्स्नसूक्तं शंसनीयम् । ऊरू इति खण्डे शौनकेन सूत्रितम् । इन्द्रं विश्वा अवीवृधनित्यानुष्टुभं तस्य प्रथमायाः पूर्वमर्धर्चं शस्त्वोत्तरेणार्धर्चेनोत्तरस्याः पूर्वमर्धर्चं व्यतिषजति पाद्यैः पादाननुष्टुप्कारं प्रागुत्तमायाः । ऐ. आ. ५-३-१ । इति । ब्राह्मणं च प्रथमारण्यके पश्यते [?] प्र वो मह इति खण्डे । इन्द्रं विश्वा अवीवृधन्निति पदानुषङ्गः । ऐ. आ. १-५-२ । इति । तथा पृष्ठ्यस्य पञ्चमे ऽहनि निष्केवल्ये शस्त्र इन्द्रं विश्वा अवीवृधन्नित्यनुरूपस्तृचः । स्तोमो वर्धमान इति खण्डे सूत्रितम् । उप नो हरिभिः सुतमिन्द्रं विश्वा अवीवृधन् । आ. ७-१२ [?] । इति ॥
>
> *indraṃ viśvā ityaṣṭarcasya sūktasya madhucchandasaḥ putro jetaināmaka ṛṣiḥ | tathā cānukrāntam | indramaṣṭau jetā mādhucchandasa iti | chandastvānuṣṭubhamiti pūrvasūtroktam | indro devatānuvartate || viniyogastu | mahāvrate niṣkevalye kṛtsnasūktaṃ śaṃsanīyam | ūrū iti khaṇḍe śaunakena sūtritam | indraṃ viśvā avīvṛdhanityānuṣṭubhaṃ tasya prathamāyāḥ pūrvamardharcaṃ śastvottareṇārdharcenottarasyāḥ pūrvamardharcaṃ vyatiṣajati pādyaiḥ pādānanuṣṭupkāraṃ prāguttamāyāḥ | ai. ā. 5-3-1 | iti | brāhmaṇaṃ ca prathamāraṇyake paśyate [?] pra vo maha iti khaṇḍe | indraṃ viśvā avīvṛdhanniti padānuṣaṅgaḥ | ai. ā. 1-5-2 | iti | tathā pṛṣṭhyasya pañcame ’hani niṣkevalye śastra indraṃ viśvā avīvṛdhannityanurūpastṛcaḥ | stomo vardhamāna iti khaṇḍe sūtritam | upa no haribhiḥ sutamindraṃ viśvā avīvṛdhan | ā. 7-12 [?] | iti ||`

Translation: “The ṛṣi of the eight-rik sūkta beginning indraṃ viśvā is Jetā, son of Madhucchandas. So the Anukramaṇī says: ‘indram aṣṭau jetā mādhucchandasaḥ’ — indram

[is the sūkta of] eight [riks; see the note below], seer Jetā, son of Madhucchandas. That the meter is Anuṣṭubh was stated in the preceding sūtra. The deity, Indra, continues. Its application: in the Mahāvrata, in the niṣkevalya [śastra], the whole sūkta is to be recited; Śaunaka lays this down in the section ūrū: 'indraṃ viśvā avīvṛdhan — Anuṣṭubh; having recited the first half of its first rik, with the second half he interweaves the first half of the next, making Anuṣṭubhs of the pādas pāda by pāda, up to the last [rik]' (Aitareya Āraṇyaka 5-3-1, as printed). And the Brāhmaṇa, in the first Āraṇyaka, in the section paśyate [?] pra vo maha: 'the words indraṃ viśvā avīvṛdhan are to be appended' (Aitareya Āraṇyaka 1-5-2). Again, on the fifth day of the Pṛṣṭhya rite, in the niṣkevalya śastra, the triplet indraṃ viśvā avīvṛdhan is the anurūpa: in the section stomo vardhamānaḥ it is laid down: 'upa no haribhiḥ sutam; indraṃ viśvā avīvṛdhan' (Āśvalāyana 7-12 [?])." (The printed reference reads "ā 7-12"; its first digit could be 6 or 7. The Anuvāda below gives the first Āraṇyaka reference as "ai. ha. 5-2-1" [sic], against "5-3-1" in the Sanskrit.)

॥ Anuvāda (Kannada rendering) ॥ The ṛṣi of the sūkta indraṃ viśvā is Jetā, son of the sage Madhucchandas. The Anukramaṇikā too says "indram aṣṭau jetā mādhucchandasaḥ" — that is, "of the [eight] riks indraṃ viśvā, the ṛṣi is Jetā, son of Madhucchandas." The meter, Anuṣṭubh, was stated earlier. The deity is Indra. Application: in the sacrifice called Mahāvrata, when reciting the mantras of the niṣkevalya-śastra, this whole sūkta is to be recited; Śaunaka says so in the section ūrū of the Śrauta-sūtra, and the Aitareya Āraṇyaka (5-2-1 [as printed]) gives the order of application of this sūkta, and the Brāhmaṇa-portion that explains it is in the same Āraṇyaka (1-5-2) in the section pra vo mahe. And on the fifth day of the Pṛṣṭhya sacrifice, when reciting the niṣkevalya-śastra, the three riks beginning indraṃ viśvā avīvṛdhan are to be used for the stomāvāpa; Āśvalāyana's Śrauta-sūtra says so in the sūtra upa no haribhiḥ sutam indraṃ viśvā avīvṛdhan.

Page 449 — Sūkta 11, Rik 1

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Sūkta — 11 ॥ ॥ Maṇḍala — 1 ॥ Anuvāka — 3 ॥ Sūkta — 11 ॥ ॥ Aṣṭaka — 1 ॥ Adhyāya — 1 ॥ Varga — 21 ॥ (a single numeral, clearly printed; the earlier headings gave two numerals each) ॥ Mantras contained in this sūkta: 8 ॥ ॥ Ṛṣi — Jetā Mādhucchandasa ॥ ॥ Devatā — Indra ॥ ॥ Chandaḥ — Anuṣṭubh ॥

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

इन्द्रं॑ विश्वा॑ अवीवृधन्त्समु॒द्रव्य॑चस॑ गिरः । र॒थीत॑मं॒ र॒थीना॑ वाजा॑ना॑ सत्प॑ति॑ पति॑ ॥१॥

indraṃ víśvā avīvṛdhant samudrávyacasaṃ gíraḥ | rathītamaṃ rathīnāṃ vājānāṃ sátpatiṃ pátiṃ ||1||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

इन्द्रम् । विश्वाः । अवीवृधन् । समुद्रऽव्यचसम् । गिरः ॥ रथिऽतमम् । रथीनाम् । वाजानाम् । सत्ऽपतिम् । पतिम् ॥१॥

indram | viśvāḥ | avīvṛdhan | samudra-vyacasam | giraḥ || rathi-tamam | rathīnām | vājānām | sat-patim | patim ||1||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

विश्वाः सर्वा गिरो ऽस्मदीयाः स्तुतय इन्द्रमवीवृधन् । वर्धितवत्यः । कीदृशमिन्द्रम् । समुद्रव्यचसं समुद्रवद्व्याप्तवन्तं रथीनां रथयुक्तानां योद्धृणां मध्ये रथीतमम् अतिशयेन रथयुक्तं वाजानामन्नानां पतिं स्वामिनं सत्पतिं सतां सन्मार्गवर्तिनां पालकम् ॥ विश्वाः । विशेः क्वन् । नित्स्वरः । अवीवृधन् । वृधेर्णिचि चङ्युपधाया ऋदित्यनुवृत्तौ नित्यं छन्दसि । पा. ७-४-८ । इत्यृकारस्य ऋकारविधानाल्लघूपधगुणाभावः । निघातस्वरः । समुद्रव्यचसम् । व्यचेरसुन् । गाङ्कुटादिभ्यो ऽञ्णिन्ङित् । पा. १-२-१ । इति प्राप्तस्य ङित्त्वस्य व्यचेः कुटादित्वमनसि । पा. १-२-१-१ । इत्यसि निषेधाद्ग्रहिज्येत्यादिना ङिति विधीयमानं संप्रसारणम् । पा. ६-१-१६ । न भवति । समुद्रव्यच इव व्यचो यस्य । बहुव्रीहौ पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् । रथीतमं रथीनाम् । रथशब्दादुत्पन्नस्येनश्छान्दसं दीर्घत्वम् । प्रत्ययस्वरेणोदात्तत्वं च । वाजानाम् । वृषादित्वादाद्युदात्तत्वम् । सत्पतिम् । पत्यावैश्वर्ये । पा. ६-२-१८ । इति पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् ॥

viśvāḥ sarvā giro 'smadīyāḥ stutaya indramavīvṛdhan | vardhitavatyaḥ | kīdṛśamindram | samudravyacasaṃ samudravadvyāptavantaṃ rathīnāṃ rathayuktānāṃ yoddhṛṇāṃ madhye rathītamam atiśayena rathayuktaṃ vājānāmannānāṃ patiṃ svāminaṃ satpatiṃ satāṃ sanmārgavartināṃ pālakam || viśvāḥ | viśeḥ kvan | nitsvaraḥ | avīvṛdhan | vṛdherṇici caṅyupadhāyā ṛdityanuvṛttau nityaṃ chandasi | pā. 7-4-8 | ityṛkārasya ṛkāravidhānāllaghūpadhaguṇābhāvaḥ | nighātasvaraḥ | samudravyacasam | vyacerasun | gāṅkuṭādibhyo 'ñṇinṅit | pā. 1-2-1 | iti prāptasya ṅittvasya vyaceḥ kuṭāditvamanasi | pā. 1-2-1-1 | ityasi niṣedhādgrahijyetyādinā ṅiti vidhīyamānaṃ saṃprasāraṇam | pā. 6-1-16 | na bhavati | samudravyaca iva vyaco yasya | bahuvrīhau pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvam | rathītamaṃ rathīnām | rathaśabdādutpannasyenaśchāndasaṃ dīrghatvam | pratyayasvareṇodāttatvaṃ ca | vājānām | vṛṣāditvādādyudāttatvam | satpatim | patyāvaiśvarye | pā. 6-2-18 | iti pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvam ||

Translation: "All (viśvāḥ) our praises (giraḥ) have magnified (avīvṛdhan) Indra. What kind of Indra? Samudravyacasam — pervading like the ocean; rathītamam — among rathīs, warriors who fight from chariots, the one most endowed with chariots; vājānām patim — lord of foods; satpatim — protector of the good, of those who follow the right path." Note: (The grammatical tail, which runs onto p. 450: viśvāḥ from viś with kvan, nit accent; avīvṛdhan, the causative caṅ-aorist of vṛdh, where "nityaṃ chandasi" (Pā. 7-4-8) gives ṛ for the penultimate, so there is no guṇa; unaccented (nighāta); samudravyacasam from vyac with asun: the ṅit-status that "gāṅkuṭādibhyo 'ñṇin ṅit" (Pā. 1-2-1) would give is barred before as by the vārttika "vyaceḥ kuṭāditvam anasi" (printed "1-2-1-1"), so the samprasāraṇa of "grahi-jyā…" (Pā. 6-1-16) does not arise; the bahuvrīhi "samudravyaca iva [sic] vyaco yasya" keeps the first member's accent; rathītamam, rathīnām: the Vedic lengthening of in after ratha, with the suffix accent; vājānām initial-udātta as one of the vṛṣādi words; satpatim: "patyāv aiśvarye" (Pā. 6-2-18) keeps the first member's accent.)

Page 450 — Rik 1: word-meanings, overall sense, English, Special Topics

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

विश्वाः (viśvāḥ) — all | गिरः (giraḥ) — the words in the form of praise that we make | समुद्रव्यचसम् (samudravyacasam) — pervading like the ocean | रथीनाम् (rathīnām) — among the warriors who fight from chariots (in battle) | रथीतमम् (rathītamam) — [the one] exceedingly endowed with a chariot | वाजानाम् (vājānām) — of food and other nourishment | पतिम् (patim) — the lord | सत्पतिम् (satpatim) — the protector of good people | इन्द्रम् (indram) — Indra | अवीवृधन् (avīvṛdhan) — have made [him] grow, that is, have praised.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

Indra pervades everything as the ocean does; among warriors who fight seated in chariots he is by far the best; he is the lord of foods and other nourishment; he is the protector of the good. All the words of praise that we utter praise such an Indra.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> All our praises have glorified Indra who is as great as the ocean, who is the best charioteer [sic] of all charioteers, the lord of food, the protector of the virtuous.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

"Avīvṛdhan" — the root vṛdh is generally used in the Ṛgveda in the sense of "praise" (stuti). In this rik, giraḥ indraṃ avīvṛdhan means "our words praise Indra, extol him."

"Samudravyacasam" — "pervading like the ocean." This comparison is not exactly apt, for the ocean does not pervade everywhere. But since the ocean is very wide and unfathomable, the seer may have given the ocean comparison with just this idea in mind.

Page 451 — Rik 1: Special Topics (continued) and grammar begins

"Rathītamam," "rathīnām" — such doubled expressions are numerous in the Ṛgveda: vasor indraṃ vasupatim; somapā somapītaye; and many other examples can be given. These words mean "excellent among charioteers."

"Satpatim" — सतां पतिं पालकम् (satāṃ patiṃ pālakam) — "the protector, the guardian, of the good": that is the sense.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 451–452, noted briefly; numbers checked against the print)

विश्वाः (viśvāḥ) — root viśa praveśane; kvan by "aśūpruṣi-laṭi-kaṇi-khaṭi-viśibhyaḥ kvan" (Uṇ. 1-149): viśva; initial-udātta by the nit accent. अवीवृधन् (avīvṛdhan) — root vṛdhu vardhane with ṇic; from the ṇic-ending root, luṅ; third plural jhi; jh → ant by "jho 'ntaḥ" (Pā. 7-1-3); the i dropped by "itaś ca" (Pā. 3-4-100), then loss of the final of the cluster: an; cli by "cli luṅi" (Pā. 3-1-43), replaced by caṅ by "ṇi-śri-dru-srubhyaḥ kartari caṅ" (Pā. 3-1-48); doubling by "caṅi" (Pā. 6-1-11); "ur at" gives a (with r) for the ṛ of the reduplicate; "halādiḥ śeṣaḥ" (Pā. 7-4-60) removes the dh and r there; guṇa of the penultimate ṛ would arise by "puganta-laghūpadhasya ca" (Pā. 7-3-86), but "nityaṃ chandasi" (Pā. 7-4-8) with "ur ṛt" (printed "7-47") carried over always gives ṛ in the Veda, so no guṇa; "sanval laghuni caṅpare 'naglope" (Pā. 7-4-93) treats it like san, so “sanyataḥ” (Pā. 7-4-79) gives i for the reduplicate’s a, lengthened by “dīrgho laghoḥ” (Pā. 7-4-94); the augment aṭ by “luṅ-laṅ-lṛṅkṣv aḍ udāttaḥ” (Pā. 6-4-71); ṇi dropped by “ṇer aniṭi” (Pā. 6-4-51); pararūpa by “ato guṇe”: avīvṛdhan; wholly unaccented by “tiṅṅ atiṅaḥ” (Pā. 8-1-28). समुद्रव्यचसम् (samudravyacasam) — root vyaca vyājīkaraṇe; asun by “sarvadhātubhyo ’sun” (Uṇ. 4-638 [?]); “vyaceḥ kuṭāditvam anasi” (Kā. vā. 1-2-1-1) —

Page 452 — Rik 1 grammar (continued)

[samudravyacasam, continued:] vyac is kuṭādi except before as, so here it is not, and “gāṅ-kuṭādibhyo ’ñṇin ṅit” (Pā. 1-2-1) does not make the suffix ṅit; hence the samprasāraṇa of “grahi-jyā-vayi-vyadhi-vaṣṭi-vicati-vṛścati-pṛcchati-bhṛjjatīnāṃ ṅiti ca” (Pā. 6-1-16) does not arise; the bahuvrīhi “samudrasya vyaca iva vyacaḥ yasya saḥ” keeps the first member’s accent by “bahuvrīhau prakṛtyā pūrvapadam” (Pā. 6-2-1). रथीतमम् (rathītamam) — “rathaḥ asya asti iti rathī”: ini by “ata ini-ṭhanau” (Pā. 5-2-115); the a of ratha dropped by “yasyeti ca” (Pā. 6-4-148); “atiśayitaḥ rathī”: tamap by “atiśāyane tamab-iṣṭhanau” (Pā. 5-3-55); rathin + su + tama, su dropped; pada status by pratyaya-lakṣaṇa, so the n is dropped by “nalopaḥ prātipadikāntasya” (Pā. 8-2-7); Vedic lengthening of the i: rathītama; accusative singular rathītamam; tamap, being pit, is unaccented by “anudāttau suppitau” (Pā. 3-1-4), and the word is udātta on in by the suffix accent. रथीनाम् (rathīnām) — genitive plural ām after rathin, Vedic lengthening of the i; udātta on in by the suffix accent; ām, being sup, unaccented, then svarita by “udāttād anudāttasya svaritaḥ” (Pā. 8-4-66). वाजानाम् (vājānām) — initial-udātta as one of the vṛṣādi words, “vṛṣādīnāṃ ca” (printed “pā. rū.” [sic] 6-1-203). सत्पतिम् (satpatim) — “patyāv aiśvarye” (Pā. 6-2-18): before pati in the sense of lordship the first member keeps its own accent; sat from as bhuvi with laṭ → śatṛ; the śap dropped by “adiprabhṛtibhyaḥ śapaḥ” (no number printed); the root’s a dropped by “śnasor allopaḥ” (Pā. 6-4-111): sat, final-udātta by the suffix accent; “satāṃ patiḥ satpatiḥ,” a genitive tatpuruṣa.

॥१॥

---

Page 453 — Sūkta 11, Rik 2

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. Line 2: the stroke stands over ता of जेतारम् with a bar under the following र, as printed.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

सख्ये त इन्द्र वाजिनो मा भेम शवसस्पते । त्वामभि प्र णोनुमो जेतारमपराजितम् ॥२॥

sakhyé ta indra vājíno mā bhema śavasas pate | tvām abhí prá ṇonumo jétāram áparājitam ||2||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

सख्ये । ते । इन्द्र । वाजिनः । मा । भेम । शवसः । पते ॥ त्वाम् । अभि । प्र । नोनुमः । जेतारम् । अपराऽजितम् ॥२॥

sakhye | te | indra | vājinaḥ | mā | bhema | śavasaḥ | pate || tvām | abhi | pra | nonumaḥ | jetāram | aparā-jitam ||2||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे शवसस्पते बलस्य पालकेन्द्र ते तव सख्ये ऽनुग्रहप्रयुक्ते सखित्वे वर्तमाना वयं वाजिनो ऽन्नवन्तो भूत्वा मा भेम । शत्रुभ्यो भीतिं प्राप्ता मा भूम । अतस्त्वामुभयहेतुमभि प्र णोनुमः । सर्वतः प्रकर्षेण स्तुमः । कीदृशं त्वाम् । जेतारं युद्धेषु जयशीलम् अपराजितं क्वापि पराजयरहितम् ॥ सख्ये । सख्युः कर्म सख्यम् । सख्युर्यः । पा. ५-१-१२६ । प्रत्ययस्वरः । वाजिनः । वाजो ऽन्नमेषामस्तीति वाजिनः । प्रत्ययस्वरः । भेम । ञिभी भये । लुङ्लङ्लुङ्क्ष्वडुदात्तवतो मस् । नित्यं ङितः । पा. ३-४-९९ । इति सलोपः । बहुलं छन्दसीति च्लेर्लुक् । छन्दस्युभयथेति तिङ आर्धधातुकत्वेन ङित्त्वाभावाद्गुणः । न माङ्योगे । पा. ६-४-७४ । इत्यडागमप्रतिषेधः । शवसस्पते । शवसः षष्ठ्याः पतिपुत्रपृष्ठपारपदपयस्पोषेषु । पा. ८-३-५३ । इति विसर्जनीयस्य संहितायां सत्वम् । सुबामन्त्रितपराङ्गवद्भावेन । पा. २-१-२ । पदद्वयनिघातः । नोनुमः । णु स्तुतौ । णो नः । पा. ६-१-६५ । इति नत्वम् । यङो लुक् । प्रत्ययलक्षणेन सन्यङोरिति द्विर्भावः । गुणो यङ्लुकोः । पा. ७-४-८२ । इत्यभ्यासस्य गुणः । प्रत्ययलक्षणेन धातुसंज्ञायां लटो मस् । अदादिवद्भावाच्छपो लुक् । उपसर्गादसमासे ऽपि णोपदेशस्य । पा. ८-४-१४ । इति संहितायां णत्वम् । जेतारम् । जि जये । ताच्छील्यादिषु तृन् । ञ्नित्यादिर्नित्यम् । पा. ६-१-१९७ । इत्याद्युदात्तत्वम् । अपराजितम् । अव्ययपूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वेन नञ उदात्तत्वम् ॥

he śavasaspate balasya pālakendra te tava sakhye 'nugrahaprayukte sakhitve vartamānā vayaṃ vājino 'nnavanto bhūtvā mā bhema | śatrubhyo bhītiṃ prāptā mā bhūma | atastvāmubhayahetumabhi pra ṇonumaḥ | sarvataḥ prakarṣeṇa stumaḥ | kīdṛśaṃ tvām | jetāraṃ yuddheṣu jayaśīlam aparājitaṃ kvāpi parājayarahitam || sakhye | sakhyuḥ karma sakhyam | sakhyuryaḥ | pā. 5-1-126 | pratyayasvaraḥ | vājinaḥ | vājo 'nnameṣāmastīti vājinaḥ | pratyayasvaraḥ | bhema | ñibhī bhaye | luṅuttamabahuvacanaṃ mas | nityaṃ ṅitaḥ | pā. 3-4-99 | iti salopaḥ | bahulaṃ chandasīti clerluk | chandasyubhayatheti tiṅa ārdhadhātukatvena ṅittvābhāvādguṇaḥ | na māṅyoge | pā. 6-4-74 | ityaḍāgamapratiṣedhaḥ | śavasaspate | śavasaḥ ṣaṣṭhyāḥ patiputrapṛṣṭhapārapadapayaspoṣeṣu | pā. 8-3-53 | iti visarjanīyasya saṃhitāyāṃ satvam | subāmantritaparāṅgavadbhāvena | pā. 2-1-2 | padadvayanighātaḥ | nonumaḥ | ṇu stutau | ṇo naḥ | pā. 6-1-65 | iti natvam | yaṅo luk | pratyayalakṣaṇena sanyaṅoriti dvirbhāvaḥ | guṇo yaṅlukoḥ | pā. 7-4-82 | ityabhyāsasya guṇaḥ | pratyayalakṣaṇena dhātusaṃjñāyāṃ laṭo mas | adādivadbhāvācchapo luk | upasargādasamāse 'pi ṇopadeśasya | pā. 8-4-14 | iti saṃhitāyāṃ ṇatvam | jetāram | ji jaye | tācchīlyādiṣu tṛn | ñnityādirnityam | pā. 6-1-197 | ityādyudāttatvam | aparājitam | avyayapūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvena naña udāttatvam ||

Translation: "O śavasaspate, O Indra, protector of strength! We, abiding in your sakhya — friendship, born of your grace — being vājinaḥ, possessed of food, mā bhema: let us not be afraid; let us not be overcome by fear of enemies. Therefore tvām, the cause of both, abhi pra ṇonumaḥ: we praise everywhere and exceedingly. What kind of you? Jetāram — victorious in battles; aparājitam — never defeated anywhere." (Grammatical tail: sakhyam "the act of a friend" with ya by "sakhyur yaḥ" (Pā. 5-1-126), suffix accent; vājinaḥ "those who have food," suffix accent; bhema: ñibhī bhaye, luṅ first plural mas, its s dropped by "nityaṃ ṅitaḥ" (Pā. 3-4-99), the cli dropped by "bahulaṃ chandasi", and since "chandasy ubhayathā" makes the ending ārdhadhātuka, it is not ṅit, so guṇa; the augment aṭ barred by "na māṅyoge" (Pā. 6-4-74); śavasaspate: the visarga becomes s in the Saṃhitā by Pā. 8-3-53, and both words lose their accent, the genitive being treated as part of the vocative (Pā. 2-1-2); nonumaḥ: ṇu stutau, n by "ṇo naḥ" (Pā. 6-1-65), yaṅ-luk, doubling, guṇa of the reduplicate by "guṇo yaṅlukoḥ" (Pā. 7-4-82), laṭ mas, śap dropped as in the adādi class, and ṇ in the Saṃhitā after pra by Pā. 8-4-14; jetāram: ji jaye with tṛn in the sense of habit, initial-udātta by "ñnityādir nityam" (Pā. 6-1-197); aparājitam: nañ udātta as the indeclinable first member.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

(हे) शवसस्पते ((he) śavasaspate) — O Indra, lord of strength and capacity (that is, O one of great strength) | ते (te) — your | सख्ये (sakhye) — in friendship that is joined with favour (we who abide) | वाजिनः (vājinaḥ) — being possessed of food and other nourishment | मा भेम (mā bhema) — we do not fear (enemies); (for that very reason) | जेतारम् (jetāram) — who conquers in battles | अपराजितम् (aparājitam) — never defeated | त्वाम् (tvām) — you | अभि प्र णोनुमः (abhi pra ṇonumaḥ) — we praise in all places, specially.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Indra! You are the lord of strength and capacity — that is, of great might. Because we are in friendship with you, we do not lack food and other nourishment, and so we need not fear enemies on any account. And you are ever victorious in battle; there is no such thing as defeat for you. We praise you, such as you are, specially.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> O Indra, lord of strength, supported by your friendship, we have no fear but glorify you the conqueror and the unoonquered [sic].

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

"Sakhye" — अनुग्राहकयुक्ते सखित्वे (anugrāhaka-yukte sakhitve) — "in friendship joined with favour": the state of friendship that is accompanied by [your] graciousness — your protection. Since you are in friendship with us, we have no fear of enemies; there is no lack of food and the like; you are the one who is victorious in battle and never defeated; so we praise you. That is the chief idea. In this rik there are no difficult words and no strained connections of meaning.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 454–456, noted briefly; numbers checked against the print)

सख्ये (sakhye) — after sakhi, the suffix yat in the sense of "act" by "sakhyur yaḥ" (Pā. 5-1-126); the i dropped by "yasyeti ca"; the suffix accent puts the udātta on ya. वाजिनः (vājinaḥ) — vāja means food; "vājo 'eṣām asti": ini by "ata ini-ṭhanau" (Pā. 5-2-115); the a dropped; the suffix accent. (The grammar continues on p. 455.)

Page 455 — Rik 2 grammar continued (to the top of p. 456)

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar page, noted briefly; numbers checked against the print)

भेम (bhema) — root ñibhī bhaye; luṅ, in its place the first-person plural mas; the s dropped by "nityaṃ ṅitaḥ" (Pā. 3-4-99); the cli that arises by "cli luṅi" (Pā. 3-1-43) is dropped by "bahulaṃ chandasi" (Pā. 2-4-73); the tiṅ ending ma gets the name ārdhadhātuka by "chandasy ubhayathā", so it does not become ṅit by "sārvadhātukam apit" (Pā. 1-2-4), and "kṅiti ca" gives no bar to guṇa; guṇa by "sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ" (Pā. 7-3-84): bhema; with mā (māṅ), "na māṅyoge" (Pā. 6-4-74) bars the augment aṭ. शवसस्पते (śavasaspate) — śavas ends in s; genitive singular "jas" [sic, for ṅas]: śavas + as = śavasas; ru and visarga: śavasaḥ, followed by pati; so in the Saṃhitā "ṣaṣṭhyāḥ pati-putra-pṛṣṭha-pāra-pada-payas-poṣeṣu" (printed "8-4-53"; the bhāṣya gives 8-3-53) makes the genitive visarga s before pati and the rest: śavasaspate; pate is a vocative, and the śavasaḥ before it becomes like a part of it by "subāmantrite parāṅgavat svare" (Pā. 2-1-2), so by "āmantritasya ca" (Pā. 8-1-19) both words are unaccented. णोनुमः (ṇonumaḥ) — root ṇu stutau; ṇ → n by "ṇo naḥ" (Pā. 6-1-65); yaṅ by "dhātor ekāco halādeḥ kriyāsamabhihāre yaṅ" (Pā. 3-1-22), dropped by "yaṅo 'ci ca" (Pā. 2-4-74) but still counted by pratyaya-lakṣaṇa, so doubling by "sanyaṅoḥ" (Pā. 6-1-9): nunu; guṇa of the reduplicate's i/u by "guṇo yaṅlukoḥ" (Pā. 7-4-82): nonu; as a yaṅ-ending it is a root by "sanādyantā dhātavaḥ" (Pā. 3-1-32); laṭ parasmaipada first plural mas; śap by "kartari śap" (Pā. 3-1-68); by "carkarītaṃ parasmaipadam adādivac ca draṣṭavyam" it is treated as adādi (carkarīta means the yaṅluk form), so the śap is dropped by "adiprabhṛtibhyaḥ śapaḥ" (Pā. 2-4-72); ru and visarga: nonumaḥ; after the upasarga pra, "upasargād asamāse 'pi ṇopadeśasya" (Pā. 8-4-14) gives ṇ for the n of a ṇopadeśa root after an upasarga with r, compound or not. [p. 456] The print explains upadeśa as the first utterance of Pāṇini, Patañjali and Vararuci, and a ṇopadeśa root as one that has ṇ in that first utterance. जेतारम् (jetāram) — root ji jaye; tṛn by Pā. 3-2-135 in the senses "having that habit," "having that nature," "doing it well"; guṇa by Pā. 7-3-84: jetṛ; initial-udātta by "ñnityādir nityam" (Pā. 6-1-197), the suffix being n-marked; accusative singular am: "ṛto ṅi-sarvanāmasthānayoḥ" (Pā. 7-3-110) gives guṇa a with r by "uraṇ raparaḥ" (Pā. 1-1-51): jetar + am; "ap-tṛn-tṛc-svasṛ-naptṛ-neṣṭṛ-tvaṣṭṛ-kṣattṛ-hotṛ-potṛ-praśāstṝṇām" (Pā. 6-4-11) lengthens the penultimate before a sarvanāmasthāna other than the vocative: jetāram. अपराजितम् (aparājitam) — "na parājitaḥ = aparājitaḥ"; the n of nañ dropped by "nalopo nañaḥ" (Pā. 6-3-73); by "tatpuruṣe tulyārtha…" (Pā. 6-2-2) the indeclinable first member keeps its accent, so the a is udātta.

॥२॥

---

Page 456 — Sūkta 11, Rik 3

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. Line 2: a stroke over ज of वाजस्य followed by a bar under स्य, as printed.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

पूर्वीरिन्द्रस्य रातयो न वि दस्यन्त्यूतयः । यदी वाजस्य गोमतः स्तोतृभ्यो मंहते मघम् ॥३॥

pūrvīr índrasya rātáyo ná ví dasyanty ūtáyaḥ | yadī vājasya gómataḥ stotṛ́bhyo máṃhate maghám ||3||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

पूर्वीः । इन्द्रस्य । रातयः । न । वि । दस्यन्ति । ऊतयः ॥ यदि । वाजस्य । गोऽमतः । स्तोतृऽभ्यः । मंहते । मघम् ॥३॥

pūrvīḥ | indrasya | rātayaḥ | na | vi | dasyanti | ūtayaḥ || yadi | vājasya | go-mataḥ | stotṛ-bhyaḥ | maṃhate | magham ||3||

(The Saṃhitā prints यदी with a long final vowel; the Pada prints यदि.)

Page 457 — Rik 3: bhāṣya, word-meanings, overall sense, English

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

इन्द्रस्य संबन्धिन्यो रातयो धनदानानि पूर्वीरनादिकालसिद्धाः प्रभूता वा । अस्येन्द्रस्य सर्वदा यष्टृभ्यो धनदानमेव स्वभाव इत्यर्थः । एवं सतीदानीन्तनो ऽपि यजमानः स्तोतृभ्य ऋत्विग्भ्यो गोमतो गोसहितस्य वाजस्यान्नस्य पर्याप्तं मघं धनं यदि मंहते दक्षिणारूपेण ददाति तदानीमूतयो बहुधनदानपूर्वकाणीन्द्रस्यास्मद्विषयाणि रक्षणानि न वि दस्यन्ति । विशेषेण नोपक्षीयन्ते । मघं रेक्ण इत्यादिष्वष्टाविंशतिसंख्याकेषु धननामसु मघशब्दः पठितः । दाति दाशतीत्यादिषु दशसु दानकर्मसु मंहत इति पठितम् ॥ पूर्वीः । पुरुशब्दस्य वोतो गुणवचनादिति ङीष् । आद्यस्योकारस्य दीर्घश्छान्दसः । जसि दीर्घाञ्जसि चेति निषेधं बाधित्वा वा छन्दसि । पा. ६-१-१०६ । इति पूर्वसवर्णदीर्घत्वम् । ङीषः प्रत्ययस्वरेणोदात्तत्वम् । रातयः । मन्त्रे वृषेषपचमनविदभूवीरा उदात्तः । पा. ३-३-९६ । इति क्तिन उदात्तत्वम् । दस्यन्ति । दसु उपक्षये । दिवादिभ्यः श्यन् । निघातः । ऊतयः । ऊतियूतीत्यादिना क्तिन्नुदात्तः । यदि । निपातत्वादाद्युदात्तः । संहितायां निपातस्य चेति दीर्घत्वम् । स्तोतृभ्यः । ष्टुञ् स्तुतौ । धात्वादेः षः सः । तृचश्चित्त्वादन्तोदात्तत्वम् । मंहते । शपः पित्त्वादुदात्तत्वम् । तिङश्च लसार्वधातुकस्वरेण । तिङ्ङतिङ इति निघातो न भवति निपातैर्यद्यदिहन्तेति निषेधात् ॥

indrasya saṃbandhinyo rātayo dhanadānāni pūrvīranādikālasiddhāḥ prabhūtā vā | asyendrasya sarvadā yaṣṭṛbhyo dhanadānameva svabhāva ityarthaḥ | evaṃ satīdānīntano 'pi yajamānaḥ stotṛbhya ṛtvigbhyo gomato gosahitasya vājasyānnasya paryāptaṃ maghaṃ dhanaṃ yadi maṃhate dakṣiṇārūpeṇa dadāti tadānīmūtayo bahudhanadānapūrvakāṇīndrasyāsmadviṣayāṇi rakṣaṇāni na vi dasyanti | viśeṣeṇa nopakṣīyante | maghaṃ rekṇa ityādiṣvaṣṭāviṃśatisaṃkhyākeṣu dhananāmasu maghaśabdaḥ paṭhitaḥ | dāti dāśatītyādiṣu daśasu dānakarmasu maṃhata iti paṭhitam || pūrvīḥ | puruśabdasya voto guṇavacanāditi ṅīṣ | ādyasyokārasya dīrghaśchāndasaḥ | jasi dīrghājjasi ceti niṣedhaṃ bādhitvā vā chandasi | pā. 6-1-106 | iti pūrvasavarṇadīrghatvam | ṅīṣaḥ pratyayasvareṇodāttatvam | rātayaḥ | mantre vṛṣeṣapacamanavidabhūvīrā udāttaḥ | pā. 3-3-96 | iti ktina udāttatvam | dasyanti | dasu upakṣaye | divādibhyaḥ śyan | nighātaḥ | ūtayaḥ | ūtiyūtītyādinā ktinnudāttaḥ | yadi | nipātatvādādyudāttaḥ | saṃhitāyāṃ nipātasya ceti dīrghatvam | stotṛbhyaḥ | ṣṭuñ stutau | dhātvādeḥ ṣaḥ saḥ | tṛcaścittvādantodāttatvam | maṃhate | śapaḥ pittvādudāttatvam | tiṅśca lasārvadhātukasvareṇa | tiṅṅatiṅa iti nighāto na bhavati nipātairyadyadihanteti niṣedhāt ||

Translation: "The rātayaḥ — gifts of wealth — of Indra are pūrvīḥ: established from beginningless time, or abundant. The sense: to give wealth to those who sacrifice is always this Indra's very nature. This being so, if even the present-day sacrificer gives to the stoṭṛs, the priests, as sacrificial fee, magham — sufficient wealth — of vāja, food, accompanied by cows, then Indra's ūtayaḥ — protections, preceded by many gifts of wealth — directed to us na vi dasyanti, are not specially diminished. Among the twenty-eight words for 'wealth' beginning with magham and rekṇaḥ, magha is read; among the ten words for acts of giving beginning with dāti, dāśati, maṃhate is read." (Grammatical tail: pūrvīḥ — ṅīṣ after puru by "voto guṇavacanāt", the first u lengthened as a Vedic form, and "vā chandasi" (Pā. 6-1-106) sets aside the bar of "dīrghāj jasi ca" so the pūrvasavarṇa lengthening applies; ṅīṣ udātta by the suffix accent; rātayaḥ — ktin udātta by "mantre vṛṣeṣa-paca-mana-vida-bhū-vīrā udāttaḥ" (Pā. 3-3-96); dasyanti — dasu upakṣaye, śyan by "divādibhyaḥ śyan", unaccented; ūtayaḥ — ktin udātta by "ūti-yūti…"; yadi — initial-udātta as a particle, long in the Saṃhitā by "nipātasya ca"; stoṭṛbhyaḥ — ṣṭuñ stutau, ṣ → s, final-udātta because tṛc is cit; maṃhate — the śap being pit, "udātta" [sic, as printed; read anudātta], the ending by the lasārvadhātuka accent; not unaccented by "tiṅṅ atiṅaḥ" because of the bar "nipātair yadyadi-hanta…".)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

स्तोतृभ्यः (stoṭṛbhyaḥ) — (the sacrificer) to the priests who praise Indra | गोमतः (gomataḥ) — accompanied by cows | वाजस्य (vājasya) — in return for food | मघम् (magham) — wealth | यदि मंहते (yadi maṃhate) — if he gives, at the time when he gives as the sacrificial fee | इन्द्रस्य (indrasya) — of Indra | रातयः (rātayaḥ) — gifts of wealth and the like | ऊतयः (ūtayaḥ) — protections | पूर्वीः (pūrvīḥ) — [those] that have been from ancient times | न वि दस्यन्ति (na vi dasyanti) — do not diminish.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

When the sacrificer who performs the sacrifice gives to the priests who praise Indra cows, food and wealth as the sacrificial fee, then, however much Indra has given that sacrificer before, he does not reduce in the least his giving of wealth, protection and the like now.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> The former liberalities of Indra and his protection will not be wanting to him who presents wealth, food, and cattle to the reciters of the hymns.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

The sense of this rik is somewhat strained. To the sacrificer who performs the sacrifice, Indra has many times given wealth and the like, and protection in battle. Even so, when that sacrificer gives wealth, food, cows and the like to the priests who praise Indra, Indra will again give that sacrificer food and other nourishment, wealth and protection. What he gave before he gives again now, and there is no diminution at all: that is the idea.

“Pūrvīḥ” — this word may be given the sense pūrvasya sambandhinyaḥ — “those connected with former times,” “of former relation” — or puru = many; pūrvyaḥ = “many”: abundant, plentiful, much.

“Rātayaḥ” — rāti is read among the ten words for acts of giving beginning with dāti (Ni. 3-19); so rātayaḥ may be given the senses “gifts, bestowal, giving.”

“Na vi dasyanti” — nopakṣīyante: they are not exhausted, they do not diminish.

“Maṃhate” — maṃhate is read among the ten words for the act of giving beginning with dāti; so it means “gives” (Ni. 3-19).

“Magham” — magha is read among the twenty-eight words for wealth beginning with magham, rekṇaḥ; so magha means wealth (Ni. 3-9 [as printed]).

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 458–459, noted briefly; numbers checked against the print)

पूर्वीः (pūrvīḥ) — after puru (adjective), “voto guṇavacanāt” (Pā. 4-1-44): after a quality-word ending in u the feminine suffix ṅīṣ is optional, so ṅīṣ arises; the first u is lengthened in the Veda; the second u is replaced by v (yaṇ-substitution): pūrvī; then the nominative plural jas, giving pūrvī + as; pūrvasavarṇadīrgha (“prathamayoḥ pūrvasavarṇaḥ,” Pā. 6-1-102) is barred by “dīrghājjasi ca” (Pā. 6-1-105): after a long vowel, if jas or a vowel of the ic group follows, no pūrvasavarṇa-lengthening applies; yet “vā chandasi” (Pā. 6-1-106) makes the pūrvasavarṇa lengthening optional in the Veda, so the pūrvasavarṇa lengthening arises; with ru and visarga the form is pūrvīḥ; the ṅīṣ suffix is udātta by the suffix accent.

Page 459 — Rik 3 grammar closes

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar page, noted briefly; numbers checked against the print)

रातयः (rātayaḥ) — a ktin-ending word; by “mantre vṛṣeṣapacamanavidabhūvīrā udāttaḥ” (Pā. 3-3-96) the ktin suffix is udātta in the mantra. दस्यन्ति (dasyanti) — root dasu upakṣaye (“to waste away”); laṭ third plural jhi, jh → ant; śyan by “divādibhyaḥ śyan” (Pā. 3-1-69); unaccented by “tiṅṅ atiṅaḥ”. ऊतयः (ūtayaḥ) — the ktin is udātta by irregular formation, “ūtiyūtijūtisātihetikīrtayaś ca” (Pā. 3-3-97). यदि (yadi) — a nipāta, initial-udātta (“nipātā ādyudāttāḥ”); in the Saṃhitā lengthened by “nipātasya ca” (Pā. 6-3-136), yadī. स्तोतृभ्यः (stotṛbhyaḥ) — root ṣṭuñ stutau; ṣ → s by “dhātvādeḥ ṣaḥ saḥ” (Pā. 6-1-64); tṛc by “nvul-tṛcau” (Pā. 3-1-133); the suffix is cit, so final-udātta (“citaḥ,” Pā. 6-1-163); dative plural bhyas. मंहते (maṃhate) — root mahi vṛddhau (idit), so the augment num; laṭ ātmanepada third singular ta; “ṭita ātmanepadānāṃ ṭere” (Pā. 3-4-79) gives e; śap; “naścāpadāntasya jhali” (Pā. 8-3-24) turns the n of num into anusvāra: maṃhate; śap is pit and unaccented; te is unaccented (“tāsyanudāttenṅidadupadeśāt…,” Pā. 6-1-186); the root accent stands; “nipātair yad-yadi-hanta-kuvin-nec-ceccaṇ-kaccid-yatra-yuktam” (Pā. 8-1-30) bars the loss of accent, so “tiṅṅ atiṅaḥ” (8-1-28) does not make it unaccented.

॥३॥

Page 459 — Sūkta 11, Rik 4

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

पुरां भिन्दुर्युवा कविरमितौजा अजायत । इन्द्रो विश्वस्य कर्मणो धर्ता वज्री पुरुष्टुतः ॥४॥

purāṃ bhindúr yúvā kavír ámitaujā ajāyata | indró víśvasya kármaṇo dhartā́ vajrī́ puruṣṭutáḥ ||4||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

पुराम् । भिन्दुः । युवा । कविः । अमितऽओजाः । अजायत ॥ इन्द्रः । विश्वस्य । कर्मणः । धर्ता । वज्री । पुरुऽस्तुतः ॥४॥

purām | bhinduḥ | yuvā | kaviḥ | amita-ojāḥ | ajāyata || indraḥ | viśvasya | karmaṇaḥ | dhartā | vajrī | puru-stutaḥ ||4||

Page 460 — Rik 4: Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya, word-meanings, overall sense

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

अभिप्लवषडहस्योक्थ्येषु तृतीयसवने ऽच्छावाकस्य पुरां भिन्दुर्युवा कविरिति स्तोत्रियस्तृचः । तथा च सूत्रितम् । ऐह्यू ष्वित्युपक्रम्य [?] पुरां भिन्दुर्युवा कविर्वृषा ह्यसि राधसे । आ. ७-८ । इति ॥

abhiplavaṣaḍahasyokthyeṣu tṛtīyasavane 'cchāvākasya purāṃ bhinduryuvā kaviriti stotriyastṛcaḥ | tathā ca sūtritam | aihyū ṣvityupakramya [?] purāṃ bhinduryuvā kavirvṛṣā hyasi rādhase | ā. 7-8 | iti ||

अयमिन्द्र उच्यमानगुणयुक्तो ऽजायत । संपन्नः । कीदृग्गुणक इति तदुच्यते । पुरामसुरपुराणां भिन्दुर्भेत्ता । युवा कदाचिदपि वलीपलितादिवार्धकरहितः । कविर्मेधावी । अमितौजाः प्रभूतबलः । विश्वस्य कर्मणः कृत्स्नस्य ज्योतिष्टोमादेर्धर्ता पोषकः । वज्री यजमानरक्षणार्थं सर्वदा वज्रयुक्तः । पुरुष्टुतो बहुविधे तत्तत्कर्मणि स्तुतः ॥ भिन्दुः । भिदिर् विदारणे । कुरित्यनुवृत्तौ पृभिदिव्यधिगृधिधृषिदृशिभ्यः [?] । उ. १-२४ । इति कुप्रत्ययः । तस्य छन्दस्युभयथेति सार्वधातुकसंज्ञायां रुधादिभ्यः श्नम् । पा. ३-१-७८ । मित्त्वादन्त्यादचः परो भवति । पा. १-१-४७ । श्नसोरल्लोपः । अनुस्वारपरसवर्णौ । पा. ८-४-५८ । अचः परस्मिन्पूर्वविधौ । पा. १-१-५७ । इति प्राप्तस्य स्थानिवद्भावस्य न पदान्तेत्यादिना । पा. १-१-५८ । निषेधः । युवा । यु मिश्रणामिश्रणयोः । कनिन्युवृषितक्षिराजिधन्विद्युप्रतिदिवः । उ. १-१५६ । इति कनिन् । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । कविः । कु शब्दे । अच इः । उ. ४-१३९ । इतीः । प्रत्ययस्वरः । अमितौजाः । अमितशब्दस्याव्ययपूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् । बहुव्रीहौ पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वेन तदेव शिष्यते । विश्वस्य । अशिप्रुषीत्यादिना । उ. १-१४९ । क्वन् । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । कर्मणः । अन्येभ्यो ऽपि दृश्यन्त इति मनिन् । नित्स्वरः । धर्ता । तृच् । चित्त्वादन्तोदात्तः । वज्री । मत्वर्थीय इनिः । प्रत्ययस्वरः । पुरुष्टुतः । स्तुतस्तोमयोश्छन्दसि । पा. ८-३-१०५ । इति षत्वम् । बहुषु प्रदेशेषु स्तुतः । थाथघञ्क्ताजबित्रकाणाम् । पा. ६-२-१४४ । इत्यन्तोदात्तत्वं तृतीयासमासे हि थाथादिस्वरापवादस्तृतीया कर्मणि । पा. ६-२-४८ । इति पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरः स्यात् ॥

ayamindra ucyamānaguṇayukto 'jāyata | saṃpannaḥ | kīdṛgguṇaka iti taducyate | purāmasurapurāṇāṃ bhindurbhettā | yuvā kadācidapi valīpalitādivārdhakarahitaḥ | kavirmedhāvī | amitaujāḥ prabhūtabalaḥ | viśvasya karmaṇaḥ kṛtsnasya jyotiṣṭomāderdhartā poṣakaḥ | vajrī yajamānarakṣaṇārthaṃ sarvadā vajrayuktaḥ |

puruṣṭuto bahuvidhe tattatkarmaṇi stutaḥ || bhinduḥ | bhidir vidāraṇe | kurityanuvṛttau pṝbhidivyadhigṛdhidhṛṣidṛśibhyaḥ [?] | u. 1-24 | iti kupratyayaḥ | tasya chandasyubhayatheti sārvadhātukasaṃjñāyāṃ rudhādibhyaḥ śnam | pā. 3-1-78 | mittvādantyādacaḥ paro bhavati | pā. 1-1-47 | śnasorallopaḥ | anusvāraparasavarṇau | pā. 8-4-58 | acaḥ parasminpūrvavidhau | pā. 1-1-57 | iti prāptasya sthānivadbhāvasya na padāntetyādinā | pā. 1-1-58 | niṣedhaḥ | yuvā | yu miśraṇāmiśraṇayoḥ | kaninyuvṛṣitakṣirājidhanvidyupratidivaḥ | u. 1-156 | iti kanin | nittvādādyudāttaḥ | kaviḥ | ku śabde | aca iḥ | u. 4-139 | itīḥ | pratyayasvaraḥ | amitaujāḥ | amitaśabdasyāvyayapūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvam | bahuvrīhau pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvena tadeva śiṣyate | viśvasya | aśipruṣītyādinā | u. 1-149 | kvan | nittvādādyudāttaḥ | karmaṇaḥ | anyebhyo 'pi dṛśyanta iti manin | nitsvaraḥ | dhartā | tṛc | cittvādantodāttaḥ | vajrī | matvarthīya iniḥ | pratyayasvaraḥ | puruṣṭutaḥ | stutastomayośchandasi | pā. 8-3-105 | iti ṣatvam | bahuṣu pradeśeṣu stutaḥ | thāthaghañktājabitrakāṇām | pā. 6-2-144 | ityantodāttatvaṃ tṛtīyāsamāse hi thāthādisvarāpavādastṛtīyā karmaṇi | pā. 6-2-48 | iti pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaraḥ syāt ||

Translation: "In the ukthya [rites] of the Abhiplava Ṣaḍaha, in the third pressing, the opening triplet (stotriya) of the Acchāvāka is purāṃ bhindur yuvā kaviḥ; so it is laid down, beginning with ehy ū ṣu [?]: 'purāṃ bhindur yuvā kaviḥ, vṛṣā hy asi rādhase' (Āśvalāyana 7-8). This Indra ajāyata — has come to be, is endowed — with the qualities now to be told. Of what qualities? Purām bhinduḥ — the breaker of the cities of the asuras; yuvā — young, never marked by the old age of wrinkles and grey hair; kaviḥ — wise; amitaujāḥ — of abundant strength; viśvasya karmaṇaḥ dhartā — the sustainer, the nourisher, of the whole of every rite such as the Jyotiṣṭoma; vajrī — always bearing the thunderbolt, for the protection of the sacrificer; puruṣṭutaḥ — praised in many ways in various rites." (Grammatical tail: bhinduḥ — bhidir vidāraṇe with ku (Uṇ. 1-24), which counts as sārvadhātuka by "chandasy ubhayathā", so śnam by "rudhādibhyaḥ śnam" (Pā. 3-1-78), placed after the last vowel as mit (Pā. 1-1-47); a of śna dropped by "śnasor allopaḥ"; anusvāra and the homorganic nasal (Pā. 8-4-58); the sthānivadbhāva of "acaḥ parasmin pūrvavidhau" (Pā. 1-1-57) is barred by "na padānta…" (Pā. 1-1-58); yuvā — yu miśraṇāmiśraṇayoḥ with kanin (Uṇ. 1-156), initial-udātta as nit; kaviḥ — ku śabde with i by "aca iḥ" (Uṇ. 4-139), suffix accent; amitaujāḥ — in the bahuvrīhi the first member amita keeps the accent it has as a compound with an indeclinable first member; viśvasya — kvan (Uṇ. 1-149), initial-udātta; karmaṇaḥ — manin by "anyebhyo 'pi dṛśyante", nit accent; dhartā — tṛc, final-udātta as cit; vajrī — the possessive ini, suffix accent; puruṣṭutaḥ — ṣ by "stutastomayoś chandasi" (Pā. 8-3-105); "praised in many places": final-udātta by "thātha-ghañ-ktāj-abitra-kāṇām" (Pā. 6-2-144), for in a third-case compound "tṛtīyā karmaṇi" (Pā. 6-2-48), an exception to the thātha accent, would give the first member's accent.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

इन्द्रः (indraḥ) — this Indra | पुराम् (purām) — of the cities of enemies | भिन्दुः (bhinduḥ) — the destroyer (the one who breaks down) | युवा (yuvā) — (one who is) always in the stage of youth, free from the changes of old age such as senility | कविः (kaviḥ) — wise | अमितौजाः (amitaujāḥ) — of immense prowess | विश्वस्य कर्मणः (viśvasya karmaṇaḥ) — of all rites such as the Jyotiṣṭoma | धर्ता (dhartā) — the nourisher | वज्री (vajrī) — the bearer of the thunderbolt | पुरुष्टुतः (puruṣṭutaḥ) — praised exceedingly in many rites | (endowed with these qualities) अजायत (ajāyata) — he has become.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

Indra's qualities are many. He destroys the cities of enemies; he is free from changes such as senility and is always in the stage of youth; he is very wise, of great might; he sustains, by his protection, all the rites of sacrifice; he bears the thunderbolt for the protection of the sacrificer. People praise this Indra abundantly in many rites.

Page 461 — Rik 4: English, Special Topics, grammar

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> Indra is the destroyer of (enemies') cities, he is ever young, wise, of unbounded strength, the sustainer of pious acts, the weilder [sic] of thunderbolt and praised by many.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

A special application for this rik has been stated: in the rite called Abhiplava-ṣaḍaha, on the special ukthya day, at the third pressing, the priest called Acchāvāka is to recite the triplet purāṃ bhindur yuvā kaviḥ in the stotra-mantra recitation; in this connection the Āśvalāyana sūtra, in the section ehy ū ṣv iti [?], says that the triplets purāṃ bhindur yuvā kaviḥ and vṛṣā hy asi rādhase are to be recited.

"Bhinduḥ" — bhidir vidāraṇe — "one who splits, destroys, demolishes." Here the word purām is explained as "of the cities of enemies."

"Yuvā" — one who is in the stage of youth; one whose bodily strength does not wane with old age, who is always in the stage of youth. The words yuvā and kaviḥ are used especially in praising Agni.

"Ajāyata" — although this word means "became, was born," here only the sense "he is such, endowed with such qualities" is to be given.

"Viśvasya karmaṇaḥ" — the Bhāṣyakāra explains this as kṛtsnasya jyotiṣṭomādeḥ; it may also be given the sense "all deeds — rites such as sacrifices and the activities of worldly life."

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 461–463, noted briefly; numbers checked against the print)

भिन्दुः (bhinduḥ) — root bhidir vidāraṇe; "pṝ [?]-bhidi-vyadhi-gṛdhi-dhṛṣi-dṛśibhyaḥ" (Uṇ. 1-23; the bhāṣya gives 1-24), with kuḥ carried over from "kur bhraś ca" (printed "pā. sū. 1-22")

Page 462 — Rik 4 grammar (continued)

— the roots pṝ pālanapūraṇayoḥ, bhidir vidāraṇe, vyadha tāḍane, gṛdhu abhikāṅkṣāyām, ñidhṛṣā prāgalbhye take ku; k is it and dropped: bhid + u; by "chandasy ubhayathā" (Pā. 3-4-117) the u is sārvadhātuka, so "rudhādibhyaḥ śnam" (Pā. 3-1-78) gives śnam, placed after the last vowel by “mid aco ’ntyāt paraḥ” (Pā. 1-1-47); “śnasor allopaḥ” (Pā. 6-4-111) drops the a of śna before a kit/ṅit sārvadhātuka: bhin + d + u; “naś cāpadāntasya jhali” (Pā. 8-3-24) gives anusvāra, and “anusvārasya yayi parasavarṇaḥ” (Pā. 8-4-58) the homorganic n. The print then argues that the dropped a would, by “acaḥ parasmin pūrvavidhau” (Pā. 1-1-57), be sthānivat and intervene, so that anusvāra and parasavarṇa could not apply; but “na padānta-dvirvacana-vare-yalopa-svara-savarṇānusvāra-dīrgha-jaś-car-vidhiṣu” (1-1-58) denies the sthānivadbhāva in rules of anusvāra and savarṇa, so there is no intervention: bhinduḥ, with the suffix accent. युवा (yuvā) — root yu miśraṇāmiśraṇayoḥ + kanin by “kanin yu-vṛṣi-takṣi-rāji-dhanvi-dyu-pratidivaḥ” (printed Uṇ. “1-154”; the bhāṣya gives 1-156); the suffix being nit, initial-udātta.

Page 463 — Rik 4 grammar closes

कविः (kaviḥ) — root ku śabde + i by “aca iḥ” (printed Uṇ. “4-578” [?]; the bhāṣya gives 4-139), after a vowel-ending root; ku + i, guṇa and av: kavi; the suffix accent. अमितौजाः (amitaujāḥ) — “na mitam amitam; amitam ojaḥ yasya saḥ”; in amita the indeclinable first member keeps its accent by “tatpuruṣe tulyārtha…” (Pā. 6-2-2); in the bahuvrīhi that follows, “bahuvrīhau prakṛtyā pūrvapadam” (Pā. 6-2-1) keeps that same accent. विश्वस्य (viśvasya) — (headed “viśvataḥ” [sic]) kvan by “aśūpruṣi…” (Uṇ. 1-149); the nit accent. कर्मणः (karmaṇaḥ) — root ḍukṛñ karaṇe + manin by “anyebhyo ’pi dṛśyante” (Pā. 3-2-75); guṇa with r; karman initial-udātta by the nit accent; genitive singular, ṇ by “ṛvarṇān nasya ṇatvaṃ vācyam”; ru and visarga: karmaṇaḥ. धर्ता (dhartā) — root dhṛñ avasthāne + tṛc by “ṇvul-tṛcau” (Pā. 3-1-133); guṇa with r: dhartṛ; final-udātta by “citaḥ” (Pā. 6-1-163); nominative singular dhartā. वज्री (vajrī) — “vajram asya asti iti vajrī”: ini by “ata ini-ṭhanau” (Pā. 5-2-115); the suffix accent. पुरुष्टुतः (puruṣṭutaḥ) — root pṝ̄ [?] pālanapūraṇayoḥ + ku by “pṝ̄-bhidi…” (Uṇ. 1-23); “ud oṣṭhyapūrvasya” (Pā. 7-1-102) gives ur for the ṝ̄: puru; root ṣṭuñ stutau, ṣ → s by “dhātvādeḥ ṣaḥ saḥ” (Pā. 6-1-64), the ṭ reverting; “puruṣu stutaḥ,” a locative tatpuruṣa — “praised in many places”; the case ending dropped by “supo dhātu-prātipadikayoḥ” (Pā. 2-4-71): purustuta; “stutastomayoś chandasi” (Pā. 8-3-105) makes the s after an iṇ or kavarga in the first member ṣ, and “ṣṭunā ṣṭuḥ” (Pā. 8-4-41) the t after it ṭ: puruṣṭuta; final-udātta by “thātha-ghañ-ktāj-abitra-kāṇām” (printed “6-1-144”; the bhāṣya gives 6-2-144): after a gati or kāraka, words ending in tha, atha, ghañ, kta, ac, ap, itra, ka are final-udātta. If it were analysed as “purubhiḥ stutaḥ,” a third-case tatpuruṣa, “tṛtīyā karmaṇi” (Pā. 6-2-48) would give the first member’s accent; so the locative tatpuruṣa has to be accepted.

॥४॥

---

Page 464 — Sūkta 11, Rik 5

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. Line 1: a second bar stands low under स्य of वलस्य, below the subscript — read as a bar, [accent ?].)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

त्वं व॒लस्य॒ गोम॒तो ऽपा॑वरद्रिवो॒ बिल॑ं । [accent ?] त्वां दे॒वा अबि॑भ्युषस्तु॒ज्यमा॑नास आविषुः ॥५॥

tvaṃ valásya gómató 'pāvar adrivo bílaṃ | [accent ?] tvāṃ devā́ ábibhyuṣas tujyámānāsa āviṣuḥ ||5||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

त्वम् । वलस्य । गोऽमतः । अप । अवः । अद्रिऽवः । बिलम् ॥ त्वाम् । देवाः । अबिभ्युषः । तुज्यमानासः । आविषुः ॥५॥

tvam | valasya | go-mataḥ | apa | avaḥ | adri-vaḥ | bilam || tvām | devāḥ | abibhyuṣaḥ | tujyamānāsaḥ | āviṣuḥ ||5||

(The saṃhitā word ऽपावर् joins apa and avaḥ*, with* avaḥ written as ar before adrivaḥ by the visarga rule; the pada text separates them.)

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

वलनामकः कश्चिदसुरो देवसंबन्धिनीर्गा अपहृत्य कस्मिंश्चिद्बिले गोपितवान् । तदानीमिन्द्रस्तद्बिलं स्वसैन्येन समावृत्य तस्माद्बिलाद्गा निःसारयामास । तदिदमुपाख्यानमिन्द्रो वलस्य बिलमपौर्णोत् । तै. सं. २-१-५-१ । इत्यादिब्राह्मणेषु मन्त्रान्तरेषु च प्रसिद्धम् । तदेतद्बृधि [?] निधायायं मन्त्रः प्रवर्तते ॥ हे अद्रिवो वज्रयुक्तेन्द्र त्वं गोमतो वलस्य गोभिर्युक्तस्य वलनामकस्यासुरस्य संबन्धि बिलमपावः । स्वसैन्यमुखेनापावृतवानसि । तदानीं तुज्यमानासो वलेन हिंस्यमाना देवा अभिभ्युषस्त्वदीयरक्षया वलादभीताः सन्तस्त्वामाविषुः । प्राप्तवन्तः ॥ अप । निपातत्वादाद्युदात्तः । अवः । वृञ् वरणे । लङ् । सिप् । इतश्च लोपः । स्वादिभ्यः श्नुः । तस्य बहुलं छन्दसीति लुक् । गुणो रपरत्वं हल्ङ्यादिलोपः । विसर्जनीयः । अडागमः । अद्रिवः । अद्रिरस्यास्तीति मतुप् । छन्दसीर इति षत्वम् । संबोधन उगिदचामिति नुम् । हल्ङ्यादिसंयोगान्तलोपौ । मतुवसो रु संबुद्धौ छन्दसि । पा. ८-३-१ । इति रुत्वम् । बिलम् । नब्विषयस्यानिसन्तस्येत्याद्युदात्तत्वम् । अभिभ्युषः । ञिभी भये । लिट् । द्विर्भावः । अभ्यासस्य ह्रस्वजश्त्वे । क्वसुश्चेति लिटः क्वसुरादेशः । क्रादिनियमात्प्राप्त इट् वस्वेकाजाद्धसामिति नियमान्निवर्तते । जसि सर्वनामस्थाने ऽपि व्यत्ययेन भत्वाद्धसोः संप्रसारणम् । परपूर्वत्वम् । शासिवसिघसीनां चेति षत्वम् । अचि श्नुधात्वित्यादिना । पा. ६-४-७७ । प्राप्तमियङादेशं बाधित्वा एरनेकाच इति यणादेशः । नञ्समासः । अव्ययपूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् । तुज्यमानासः । तुजेर्हिंसार्थात्परस्य कर्मणि लटः स्थाने शानच् । सार्वधातुके यक् । पा. ३-१-६७ । इति यक् । कस्माददुपदेशादुत्तरस्य [?] लसार्वधातुकस्यानुदात्तत्वम् । यक एव प्रत्ययस्वरः शिष्यते । आविषुः । अव रक्षणादिषु । अस्माद्वृत्यर्थाल्लुङो झिः । तस्य सिजभ्यस्तविदिभ्यश्च । पा. ३-४-१०९ । इति जुस् । सिच इडागमः । आडजादीनाम् । पा. ६-४-७२ । इत्याडागमः । आदेशप्रत्यययोरिति षत्वम् ॥

valanāmakaḥ kaścidasuro devasaṃbandhinīrgā apahṛtya kasmiṃścidbile gopitavān | tadānīmindrastadbilaṃ svasainyena samāvṛtya tasmādbilādgā niḥsārayāmāsa | tadidamupākhyānamindro valasya bilamapaurṇot | tai. saṃ. 2-1-5-1 | ityādibrāhmaṇeṣu mantrāntareṣu ca prasiddham | tadetadvṛdhi [?] nidhāyāyaṃ mantraḥ pravartate || he adrivo vajrayuktendra tvaṃ gomato valasya gobhiryuktasya valanāmakasyāsurasya saṃbandhi bilamapāvaḥ | svasainyamukhenāpāvṛtavānasi | tadānīṃ tujyamānāso valena hiṃsyamānā devā abhibhyuṣastvadīyarakṣayā valādabhītāḥ santastvāmāviṣuḥ | prāptavantaḥ || apa | nipātatvādādyudāttaḥ | avaḥ | vṛñ varaṇe | laṅ | sip | itaśca lopaḥ | svādibhyaḥ śnuḥ | tasya bahulaṃ chandasīti luk | guṇo raparatvaṃ halṅyādilopaḥ | visarjanīyaḥ | aḍāgamaḥ | adrivaḥ | adrirasyāstīti matup | chandasīra iti ṣatvam | saṃbodhana ugidacāmiti

num | halṅyādisaṃyogāntalopau | matuvaso ru saṃbuddhau chandasi | pā. 8-3-1 | iti rutvam | bilam | nabviṣayasyānisantasyetyādyudāttatvam | abhibhyuṣaḥ | ñibhī bhaye | liṭ | dvirbhāvaḥ | abhyāsasya hrasvajaśtve | kvasuśceti liṭaḥ kvasurādeśaḥ | krādiniyamātprāpta iṭ vasvekājādghasāmiti niyamānnivartate | jasi sarvanāmasthāne 'pi vyatyayena bhatvādvasoḥ saṃprasāraṇam | parapūrvatvam | śāsivasighasīnāṃ ceti ṣatvam | aci śnudhātvityādinā | pā. 6-4-77 | prāptamiyaṅādeśaṃ bādhitvā eranekāca iti yaṇādeśaḥ | nañsamāsaḥ | avyayapūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvam | tujyamānāsaḥ | tujerhiṃsārthātparasya karmaṇi laṭaḥ sthāne śānac | sārvadhātuke yak | pā. 3-1-67 | iti yak | kasmādadupadeśāduttarasya [?] lasārvadhātukasyānudāttatvam | yaka eva pratyayasvaraḥ śiṣyate | āviṣuḥ | ava rakṣaṇādiṣu | asmādgatyarthālluṅo jhiḥ | tasya sijabhyastavidibhyaśca | pā. 3-4-109 | iti jus | sica iḍāgamaḥ | āḍajādīnām | pā. 6-4-72 | ityāḍāgamaḥ | ādeśapratyayayoriti ṣatvam ||

Translation: "An asura named Vala, having stolen the cows belonging to the gods, hid them in a cave. Then Indra, surrounding that cave with his own army, drove the cows out of it. This legend — 'indro valasya bilam apaurṇot' (Taittirīya Saṃhitā 2-1-5-1) — is well known in the Brāhmaṇas and in other mantras. With this in mind [vṛdhi [?] nidhāya] this mantra proceeds. O adrivaḥ, thunderbolt-bearing Indra! You apāvaḥ — uncovered — the cave of gomataḥ valasya, of the asura named Vala who possessed cows; you opened it by means of your own army. Then the gods, tujyamānāsaḥ — oppressed by Vala — being abhibhyuṣaḥ [sic] — without fear of Vala, thanks to your protection — and āviṣuḥ: came to you, attained you." (Grammatical tail, partly on p. 465: apa initial-udātta as a particle; avaḥ — vṛñ varaṇe, laṅ, sip, i dropped by "itaś ca", the śnu of the svādi class dropped by "bahulaṃ chandasi", guṇa with r, the s dropped by "hal-ṅyādi", visarga, augment aṭ; adrivaḥ — matup, "chandasīraḥ" (printed "ṣatvam" [sic] for vatvam), num in the vocative by "ugid-acām", loss of the final consonants, ru by "matuvaso ru saṃbuddhau chandasi" (Pā. 8-3-1); bilam initial-udātta by "nab-viṣayasyānisantasya"; abhibhyuṣaḥ [sic] — ñibhī bhaye, liṭ replaced by kvasu, the iṭ due by the krādi restriction withdrawn by the restriction "vasv-ekāj-ād-ghasām", samprasāraṇa of vas (treated as bha by exception even before jas), ṣ by "śāsi-vasi-ghasīnāṃ ca", and yaṇ by "er anekācaḥ" overriding the iyaṅ of Pā. 6-4-77; a nañ-compound with the indeclinable's accent; tujyamānāsaḥ — passive śānac after tuj "to hurt", yak by "sārvadhātuke yak" (Pā. 3-1-67), the lasārvadhātuka after the a-ending being unaccented, so the accent of yak stands; āviṣuḥ — ava in the sense of going, luṅ jhi → jus by "sij-abhyasta-vidibhyaś ca" (Pā. 3-4-109), iṭ for sic, āṭ by "āḍ ajādīnām" (Pā. 6-4-72), ṣ by "ādeśa-pratyayayoḥ".)

Page 465 — Rik 5: word-meanings, overall sense, English

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

(हे) अद्रिवः ((he) adrivaḥ) — O Indra, bearer of the thunderbolt | त्वम् (tvam) — you | गोमतः (gomataḥ) — who had taken the cows | वलस्य (valasya) — of the asura Vala | बिलम् (bilam) — the cave | अप अवः (apa avaḥ) — have laid siege to and opened (with the help of your army) | (then) तुज्यमानासः (tujyamānāsaḥ) — [those] oppressed by the asura Vala | देवाः (devāḥ) — the gods | अबिभ्युषः (abibhyuṣaḥ) — made fearless by your protection, that is, not afraid of the asura Bala [sic] | त्वाम् (tvām) — you | आविषुः (āviṣuḥ) — took shelter in.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Indra, bearer of the thunderbolt! The asura Vala had stolen the gods' cows and hidden them in a cave. To free them you laid siege to his cave with the help of your army, opened its door and set the cows free. The gods who had been oppressed by the asura Bala [sic], having your protection, no longer feared him in the least, and came to you and took refuge in you.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> O weilder [sic] of the thunderbolt, you opened the cave of Vala, who had concealed the cattle (cows) and the gods whom he had oppressed no longer feared when they had obtained your protection.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

In explaining this rik the Bhāṣyakāra relates an ancient legend (legend — the source's own English): the asura Vala stole the gods' cows and hid them in a cave; then Indra, with the help of his army, laid siege to the cave and freed the cows that were in it. This is told in the Taittirīya Saṃhitā of the Yajurveda (printed "2-1-1-1"; the bhāṣya gives 2-1-5-1) in the following way:

(The passage runs onto p. 466.)

> इन्द्रो वलस्य बिलमपौर्णोत्स य उत्तमः पशुरासीत्तं पृष्ठं प्रति संगृह्योदक्षिदत्तगं् सहस्रं पशवो ऽनूदायन्त्स उन्नतो ऽभवद्यः पशुकामः स्यात्स एतमैन्द्रमुन्नतमालभेतेन्द्रमेव स्वेन भागधेयेनोप धावति स एवास्मै पशून्प्रयच्छति पशुमानेव भवत्युन्नतो भवति ॥
>
> indro valasya bilamapaurṇotsa ya uttamaḥ paśurāsīttaṃ pṛṣṭhaṃ prati saṃgṛhyodakṣidattagṃ sahasraṃ paśavo 'nūdāyantsa unnato 'bhavadyaḥ paśukāmaḥ syātsa etamaindramunnatamālabhetendrameva svena bhāgadheyenopa dhāvati sa evāsmai paśūnprayacchati paśumāneva bhavatyunnato bhavati ||

(Gloss mine and tentative: "Indra opened Vala's cave; the best animal that was there he seized by the back and drew out; a thousand animals came up after it; it became raised (unnata). One who desires cattle should offer this raised [animal] to Indra; he approaches Indra with his own share; Indra gives him cattle; he becomes rich in cattle, he becomes raised.")

Page 466 — Rik 5: Special Topics (continued) and grammar begins

This subject is also described here and there in other mantras of the Ṛgveda and in the other Vedas. In the Ṛgveda this matter of Vala is set out in the riks Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-62-4; 2-11-20; 2-14-3; 2-15-8; 2-12-3; 2-24-3; 3-30-10; 3-34-10; 4-50-5; 6-18-5; 6-39-2; 8-14-7 [?]; 8-24-30; 10-62-2; 10-67-6; 10-68-5; 10-68-6; 10-68-9; 10-68-10; 10-138-1. There is a tradition that Vala's soldiers are called Paṇis; in many places it is said that they stole the cows and hid them in caves. We have explained this subject earlier, at the fifth rik of the sūkta Ṛ. Sa. 1-2-6 (see Part 2, page 228). Besides this, the matter of the asuras called Paṇi is described in many riks of the Ṛgveda; these will be explained in their places.

Skandasvāmī's explanation of this rik is different: vala is a cloud (megha) and go is water (udaka); Indra used his thunderbolt on the clouds and caused the held-back rain to fall. And tujyamānāḥ he renders as tvaramāṇāḥ ("hastening"), āviṣuḥ as anugatavantaḥ ("followed"), and devāḥ as “Maruts”; so the idea is that the rain, with the help of the wind, came falling swiftly.

“Gomataḥ” — gobhir yuktasya, “who possesses cows” — which cows? — one has to consider what is said elsewhere, that they are the stolen cows.

“Bilam” — a cave, a hollow that cannot be seen by anyone: cave [the source’s own English].

“Tujyamānāsaḥ” — balena hiṃsyamānāḥ — oppressed by the asura Bala [sic].

“Āviṣuḥ” — ava rakṣaṇādiṣu — “[those] who have reached, who have taken shelter for protection.”

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 466–470, noted briefly; numbers checked against the print)

अप (apa) — a nipāta, initial-udātta (“nipātā ādyudāttāḥ,” Phiṭ-sūtra 80).

Page 467 — Rik 5 grammar (continued)

अवः (avaḥ) — root vṛñ varaṇe, of the svādi class; laṅ, replaced by the second-person singular parasmaipada sip; its p is it by “halantyam” (Pā. 1-3-3) and dropped; the i dropped by “itaś ca” (Pā. 3-4-100) (the final of an i-ending parasmaipada ending in place of a ṅit lakāra); “itaś ca lopaḥ parasmaipadeṣu” (Pā. 3-4-97), which makes that loss optional in leṭ, does not apply here; śnu by “svādibhyaḥ śnuḥ” (Pā. 3-1-73), dropped by “bahulaṃ chandasi” (Pā. 2-4-73); vṛ + s: guṇa by “sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ” (Pā. 7-3-84), with r by “uraṇ raparaḥ” (Pā. 1-1-51): var + s; the s dropped by “hal-ṅyābbhyo dīrghāt sutisy apṛktaṃ hal” (Pā. 6-1-68); visarga for the r; the augment aṭ by “luṅ-laṅ-lṛṅkṣv aḍ udāttaḥ” (Pā. 6-4-71): avaḥ. अद्रिवः (adrivaḥ) — “adriḥ asya asti”: matup by “tad asyāsty asminn iti matup” (Pā. 5-2-94); m → v by “chandasīraḥ” (Pā. 8-2-15); vocative singular su: adrivat + su; num after the v by “ugid-acāṃ sarvanāmasthāne ’dhātoḥ” (Pā. 7-1-70): adrivant + su; su dropped by “hal-ṅyābbhyaḥ” (Pā. 6-1-68); the t dropped by “saṃyogāntasya lopaḥ” (Pā. 8-2-23), which by “pūrvatrāsiddham” (Pā. 8-2-1) is not effective for the loss of n, so “nalopaḥ prātipadikāntasya” (Pā. 8-2-7) does not apply; “matuvaso ru saṃbuddhau chandasi” (Pā. 8-3-1) gives ru for the n, and “kharavasānayor visarjanīyaḥ” (Pā. 8-3-15) the visarga: adrivaḥ. बिलम् (bilam) — initial-udātta by “nab-viṣayasyānisantasya” (printed Phiṭ-sū. “26”). अबिभ्युषः (abibhyuṣaḥ) — root ñibhī bhaye; liṭ; doubling by “liṭi dhātor anabhyāsasya” (Pā. 6-1-8): bhī + bhī; the first shortened by “hrasvaḥ” (Pā. 7-4-59); jaś in the reduplicate by “abhyāse car ca” (Pā. 8-4-54), bh → b: bibhī; parasmaipada by “śeṣāt kartari parasmaipadam” (Pā. 1-3-78); liṭ → kvasu by “kvasuś ca” (Pā. 3-2-107); kvasu being kit, no guṇa: bibhī + vas; vas is ārdhadhātuka, so iṭ would come by “ārdhadhātukasyeḍ valādeḥ” (Pā. 7-2-35).

Page 468 — Rik 5 grammar (continued)

But “ekāca upadeśe ’nudāttāt” (Pā. 7-2-10) bars iṭ before a val-initial ārdhadhātuka after a root that in the upadeśa is monosyllabic and anudātta. bhī is monosyllabic; and by the verse “ūḍ-ṛdantair yauti-ru-kṣṇu-śīṅ-snu-nu-kṣu-śvi-ḍīṅ-śribhiḥ | vṛṅ-vṛñbhyāṃ ca vinaikāco ’janteṣu nihatāḥ smṛtāḥ ||” — among vowel-ending roots, all except those ending in ū and ṝ and yu, ru, kṣṇu, śīṅ, snu, nu, kṣu, śvi, ḍīṅ, śri, vṛṅ, vṛñ are anudātta — bhī, not being in the list, is anudātta, so iṭ is barred for vas. Then the krādi restriction makes iṭ arise again: "kṛ-sṛ-bhṛ-vṛ-stu-dru-sru-śruvo liṭi" (Pā. 7-2-13) bars iṭ before liṭ after these roots. For kṛ, sṛ, bhṛ, monosyllabic and anudātta, the bar already follows from 7-2-10; vṛ is in the verse and so not anudātta, but being monosyllabic and u-ending (uk) it is barred by "śryukaḥ kiti" (Pā. 7-2-11); so naming them in 7-2-13 would be useless, and by the maxim "siddhe saty ārabhyamāṇo vidhir niyamāya bhavati" the sūtra is a restriction: the bars of iṭ before liṭ, whether depending on the root (prakṛtyāśraya, as ekācaḥ) or on the suffix (pratyayāśraya, as śryukaḥ kiti), apply only after kṛ, sṛ, bhṛ, vṛ; after other roots neither bar applies. stu, dru, sru, śru are u-ending; by "ṛto bhāradvājasya" (Pā. 7-2-63), in Bhāradvāja's view the bar of iṭ before thal applies only to ṛ-ending roots among those always aniṭ before tās, so after stu etc. iṭ would arise before thal; naming stu etc. is needed both for that bar and for the bar before va, ma and the like that the krādi restriction would otherwise produce; so they have a prescriptive role, and by the maxim "vidhi-niyama-saṃbhave vidhir eva jyāyān" the four roots stu etc. are taken as prescriptive, not restrictive. Thus by the krādi restriction iṭ is not barred for the vas (of liṭ) after bhī, which is outside the krādi list, and iṭ would arise; it is withdrawn by the restriction "vasv-ekāj-ād-ghasām" (Pā. 7-2-67): iṭ comes before vas only after roots monosyllabic after reduplication, roots ending in ā, and ghas. vas is a kṛt beginning with vaś, so "neḍ vaśi kṛti" (Pā. 7-2-8) would bar iṭ, and the krādi restriction would give it; giving iṭ again is for restriction — only after those roots does vas take iṭ, not after others; so after bibhī, which is not among them, vas takes no iṭ. bibhīvas + jas: though jas is a sarvanāmasthāna, by Vedic exception bibhīvas is treated as bha; samprasāraṇa by "vasoḥ samprasāraṇam" (Pā. 6-4-131) and pūrvarūpa by "samprasāraṇāc ca": bibhī + us + as; the iyaṅ that "aci śnu-dhātu-bhruvāṃ yvor iyaṅ-uvaṅau" (Pā. 6-4-77) would give is set aside by "er anekāco 'saṃyogapūrvasya" (Pā. 6-4-82), giving yaṇ: ī → y; the s of the suffix vas → ṣ by "ādeśa-pratyayayoḥ" (Pā. 8-3-59); "śāsi-vasi-ghasīnāṃ ca" (Pā. 8-3-60) was shown earlier not to apply here; "na bibhyuṣaḥ abibhyuṣaḥ," a nañ-compound; by "tatpuruṣe tulyārtha…" (Pā. 6-2-2) the indeclinable first member keeps its accent. तुज्यमानासः (tujyamānāsaḥ) — root tuja hiṃsāyām; passive laṭ, replaced by śānac by "laṭaḥ śatṛ-śānacau…" (Pā. 3-2-124); yak by "sārvadhātuke yak" (Pā. 3-1-67) before a sārvadhātuka expressing bhāva or karman: tuj + ya + āna; yak is kit, so no laghūpadha-guṇa; muk by "āne muk" (Pā. 7-2-82): tujyamāna; nominative plural jas with asuk by "āj-jaser asuk" (Pā. 7-1-50); yak ends in a in the upadeśa, so the śānac after it is unaccented by "tāsy anudātten-ṅid-ad-upadeśāt…" (Pā. 6-1-186), jas is unaccented as a sup, and the udātta of yak by its suffix accent stands. आविषुः (āviṣuḥ) — root ava rakṣaṇādiṣu, here taken in the sense of going;

Page 469 — Rik 5 grammar (continued)

Page 470 — Rik 5 grammar closes

luṅ after av, replaced by jhi; cli by "cli luṅi" (Pā. 3-1-43), sic by "cleḥ sic" (Pā. 3-1-44); av + s + jhi: "sij-abhyasta-vidibhyaś ca" (Pā. 3-4-109) gives jus for the jhi of a ṅit lakāra after sic, a reduplicated root or vid: av + s + us; iṭ for sic by "ārdhadhātukasyeḍ valādeḥ" (Pā. 7-2-35); the augment āṭ by "āḍ ajādīnām" (Pā. 6-4-72), vṛddhi by "āṭaś ca" (Pā. 6-1-90): āvisus; ṣ for the s of sic by "ādeśa-pratyayayoḥ" (Pā. 8-3-59); ru and visarga for the final s: āviṣuḥ; wholly unaccented by "tiṅṅ atiṅaḥ" (Pā. 8-1-28).

॥५॥

---

Page 470 — Sūkta 11, Rik 6

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. Line 1: the first bar stands under वा of तवाहम्, not under त, as printed.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

तवा॒हं शू॑र रा॒तिभि॒: प्रत्या॑यं सिन्धु॒मा॒वद॑न् । उपा॑तिष्ठन्त गिर्वणो वि॒दुष्टे तस्य॑ का॒रव॑: ॥६॥

tavāháṃ śūra rātíbhiḥ práty āyaṃ síndhum āvádan | úpātiṣṭhanta girvaṇo vidúṣ ṭe tásya kāráva ḥ ||6||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

तव । अहम् । शूर । रातिऽभिः । प्रति । आयम् । सिन्धुम् । आऽवदन् ॥ उप । अतिष्ठन्त । गिर्वणः । विदुः । ते । तस्य । कारवः ॥६॥

tava | aham | śūra | rāti-bhiḥ | prati | āyam | sindhum | ā-vadan || upa | atiṣṭhanta | girvaṇaḥ | viduḥ | te | tasya | kāravaḥ ||6||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे शूर संग्रामे शौर्ययुक्तेन्द्र तव रातिभिः कर्मसु त्वदीयैर्धनदानैर्निमित्तभूतैरहं होता प्रत्यायम् । त्वां पुनरागतो ऽस्मि । पुरा बहुषु कर्मसु त्वत्तो धनस्य लब्धत्वादस्मिन्कर्मणि प्रत्यागमनमित्युच्यते । किं कुर्वन् । सिन्धुं स्यन्दमानं सोममावदन् सर्वतः कथयन् । अस्मिन्सोमयागे त्वदीयां धनदानकीर्तिं प्रकटयन्नित्यर्थः । हे गिर्वणो गीर्भिर्वननीयेन्द्र कारवः कर्तार ऋत्विग्यजमाना उपातिष्ठन्त । पुरा धनलाभार्थं त्वामुपस्थितवन्तः । उपस्थाय च तस्य तादृशस्यौदार्योपेतस्य ते तव धनदानं विदुः । जानन्ति । गिर्वणश्शब्दं यास्क इत्थं निब्रूते । गिर्वणा देवो भवति गीर्भिरेनं वनयन्ति । नि. ६-१४ । इति । रेभो जरितेत्यादिषु त्रयोदशसु स्तोतृनामसु कारुशब्दः पठितः ॥ तव । युष्मदस्मदोर्ङसीत्याद्युदात्तत्वम् । रातिभिः । मन्त्रे वृषेत्यादिना क्तिन्नुदात्तः । आयम् । इणो लङ् । तस्थस्थमिपां तान्तन्तामः । पा. ३-४-१०१ । इत्यमादेशः । अदिप्रभृतिभ्यः शप इति शपो लुक् । आडागमः । वृद्ध्यायादेशौ । तिङ्ङतिङ इति निघातः । सिन्धुम् । स्यन्दू प्रस्रवणे । नित्यनुवृत्तौ स्यन्देः संप्रसारणं धश्च । उ. १-१२ । इत्युप्रत्ययो धकारश्चान्तादेशः । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । आवदन् । वद व्यक्तायां वाचि । लटः शतृ । शपः पित्त्वादनुदात्तत्वम् । शतुश्च लसार्वधातुकस्वरेण धातुस्वर एव शिष्यते । आङा सह कुगतिप्रादयः । पा. २-२-१८ । इति समासः । कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् । अतिष्ठन्त । उपान्मन्त्रकरणे । पा. १-३-२५ । इत्यात्मनेपदम् । गिर्वणः । वन षण संभक्तौ । असुन् । आमन्त्रितस्य चेति निघातः । विदुः । विद ज्ञाने । लट् । अदिप्रभृतिभ्यः शप इति शपो लुक् । विदो लटो वा । पा. ३-४-८३ । इति झेरुस् । पादादित्वान्न निघातः । संहितायां युष्मत्ततक्षुःष्वन्तःपादम् । पा. ८-३-१०३ । इति षत्वम् । ष्टुना ष्टुरित्युत्तरस्य तकारस्य ष्टुत्वम् । तस्य । सावेकाच इति विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वं प्राप्तं न गोश्वन्सावर्वेति निषिध्यते । कारवः । कृवापाजीत्यादिना । उ. १-१ । उण् । प्रत्ययस्वरः ॥

he śūra saṃgrāme śauryayuktendra tava rātibhiḥ karmasu tvadīyairdhanadānairnimittabhūtairahaṃ hotā pratyāyam | tvāṃ punarāgato 'smi |

purā bahuṣu karmasu tvatto dhanasya labdhatvādasminkarmaṇi pratyāgamanamityucyate | kiṃ kurvan | sindhuṃ syandamānaṃ somamāvadan sarvataḥ kathayan | asminsomayāge tvadīyāṃ dhanadānakīrtiṃ prakaṭayannityarthaḥ | he girvaṇo gīrbhirvananīyendra kāravaḥ kartāra ṛtvigyajamānā upātiṣṭhanta | purā dhanalābhārthaṃ tvāmupasthitavantaḥ | upasthāya ca tasya tādṛśasyaudāryopetasya te tava dhanadānaṃ viduḥ | jānanti | girvaṇaśśabdaṃ yāska itthaṃ nibrūte | girvaṇā devo bhavati gīrbhirenaṃ vanayanti | ni. 6-14 | iti | rebho jaritetyādiṣu trayodaśasu stotṛnāmasu kāruśabdaḥ paṭhitaḥ || tava | yuṣmadasmadorṅasītyādyudāttatvam | rātibhiḥ | mantre vṛṣetyādinā ktinnudāttaḥ | āyam | iṇo laṅ | tasthasthamipāṃ tāntantāmaḥ | pā. 3-4-101 | ityamādeśaḥ | adiprabhṛtibhyaḥ śapa iti śapo luk | āḍāgamaḥ | vṛddhyāyādeśau | tiṅṅatiṅa iti nighātaḥ | sindhum | syandū prasravaṇe | nityanuvṛttau syandeḥ saṃprasāraṇaṃ dhaśca | u. 1-12 | ityupratyayo dhakāraścāntādeśaḥ | nittvādādyudāttaḥ | āvadan | vada vyaktāyāṃ vāci | laṭaḥ śatṛ | śapaḥ pittvādanudāttatvam | śatuśca lasārvadhātukasvareṇa dhātusvara eva śiṣyate | āṅā saha kugatiprādayaḥ | pā. 2-2-18 | iti samāsaḥ | kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvam | atiṣṭhanta | upānmantrakaraṇe | pā. 1-3-25 | ityātmanepadam | girvaṇaḥ | vana ṣaṇa saṃbhaktau | asun | āmantritasya ceti nighātaḥ | viduḥ | vida jñāne | laṭ | adiprabhṛtibhyaḥ śapa iti śapo luk | vido laṭo vā | pā. 3-4-83 | iti jherus | pādāditvānna nighātaḥ | saṃhitāyāṃ yuṣmattatakṣuḥṣvantaḥpādam | pā. 8-3-103 | iti ṣatvam | ṣṭunā ṣṭurityuttarasya takārasya ṣṭutvam | tasya | sāvekāca iti vibhakterudāttatvaṃ prāptaṃ na gośvansāvavarṇeti niṣidhyate | kāravaḥ | kṛvāpājītyādinā | u. 1-1 | uṇ | pratyayasvaraḥ ||

Translation: “O śūra, O Indra, hero in battle! By your rātibhiḥ — your gifts of wealth that have been the cause in the rites — I, the hotṛ, prati āyam, have come back to you. In many earlier rites I received wealth from you; hence in this rite it is called a coming back. Doing what? Sindhum āvadan: proclaiming on all sides the flowing Soma — publishing, at this Soma-sacrifice, your fame of giving wealth. O girvaṇaḥ — O Indra, to be served with praises — kāravaḥ, the doers: the priests and sacrificers, upātiṣṭhanta: stand near [you]. Formerly they came near you for the gain of wealth; and, having come near, they viduḥ — know — the giving of wealth of you, who are so endowed with generosity. Yāska explains the word girvaṇas thus: ‘girvaṇas is a god; because they serve him with *gir*s (praises)’ (Ni. 6-14). Among the thirteen words for ‘praiser,’ beginning with rebhaḥ and jaritā, the word kāru is read.” (Grammatical tail, on p. 471: tava initial-udātta by “yuṣmadasmador ṅasi”; rātibhiḥ — ktin udātta by “mantre vṛṣa…”; āyam — laṅ of iṇ, am for mip by “tas-thas-tha-mipāṃ tān-tan-tāmaḥ” (Pā. 3-4-101), śap dropped, augment āṭ, vṛddhi and āy, unaccented by “tiṅṅ atiṅaḥ”; sindhum — syandū prasravaṇe, with nit carried over, u by “syandeḥ samprasāraṇaṃ dhaś ca” (Uṇ. 1-12), dh for the final, initial-udātta; āvadan — śatṛ after vad, the root accent alone remaining, compounded with ā by “kugatiprādayaḥ” (Pā. 2-2-18), the kṛt second member keeping its accent; atiṣṭhanta — ātmanepada by “upān mantrakaraṇe” (Pā. 1-3-25); girvaṇaḥ unaccented as a vocative; viduḥ — us for jhi by “vido laṭo vā” (Pā. 3-4-83), not unaccented as it begins a pāda; in the Saṃhitā ṣ by “yuṣmat-tat-takṣuḥṣv antaḥpādam” (Pā. 8-3-103) and ṭ by “ṣṭunā ṣṭuḥ”; tasya — the case-ending udātta of “sāv ekācaḥ” barred by “na go-śvan-sāv-avarṇa…”; kāravaḥ — uṇ by “kṛ-vā-pā-ji…” (Uṇ. 1-1), suffix accent.)

Page 471 — Rik 6: word-meanings, overall sense, English

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

(हे) शूर ((he) śūra) — O Indra, endowed with prowess (in battle) | तव (tava) — your | रातिभिः (rātibhiḥ) — by gifts of wealth | (अहम्) (aham) — I | सिन्धुम् आवदन् (sindhum āvadan) — praising the Soma-juice that is to be offered to you | प्रति आयम् (prati āyam) — have come again to you | (हे) गिर्वणः ((he) girvaṇaḥ) — O Indra, praised by words | कारवः (kāravaḥ) — priests, sacrificers and others who perform the rites | उप अतिष्ठन्त (upa atiṣṭhanta) — stand near you (pray to you) | (and) ते (te) — your | (धनप्रदानम्) (dhanapradānam) — giving of wealth | विदुः (viduḥ) — have known.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Indra, hero! Moved by the gifts of wealth and the like that you gave before, I have come to you again, praising the virtues of the Soma-juice I offer you; and the priests, sacrificers and others who perform sacrificial rites also stand near you, having known your generosity.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> O Hero, attracted by your bounties, I again come praising the Soma libation to be offered to you; the performers of the rite approach you who are worthy of praise, for they have known your liberalities.

Page 472 — Rik 6: Special Topics and grammar begins

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

"Sindhum ā vadan" — the word sindhu is derived from the root syandū prasravaṇe ("to flow"); the sense is "the Soma-juice that, when the creeper is pressed, is born and flows out in streams." Āvadan means "praising": describing the delights and the like that come from drinking Soma.

"Upa atiṣṭhanta" — "we are near, we come near; approach you" [the source's own English]: that is, we pray to you.

"Viduḥ te" — if the word dhanadānam ("giving of wealth") is not supplied with these words, no proper sense results. The usage viduṣṭe occurs also in the next rik.

"Kāravaḥ" — kartāraḥ, "those who do"; what they do has to be explained: they perform sacrificial rites or make hymns.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 472–474, noted briefly; numbers checked against the print)

तव (tava) — yuṣmad + genitive singular "jas" [sic, for ṅas]; before it "tava-mamau ṅasi" (Pā. 7-2-96) replaces yuṣm, the part up to the m, by tava: tava + ad + ṅas; pararūpa by "ato guṇe" (Pā. 6-1-97): tavad + ṅas; aś for ṅas by "yuṣmad-asmadbhyāṃ ṅaso 'ś" (printed "7-1-32" [?]); tavad + a: the ṭi dropped by "śeṣe lopaḥ" (Pā. 7-2-90): tava; or, if "śeṣe lopaḥ" drops only the final d, pararūpa by “ato guṇe” again gives tava; initial-udātta by “yuṣmad-asmador ṅasi” (Pā. 6-1-211). रातिभिः (rātibhiḥ) — root rā “ādāne” [as printed]; ktin, udātta, by “mantre vṛṣeṣa-paca-mana-vida-bhū-vīrā udāttaḥ” (Pā. 3-3-96); the following bhis unaccented. आयम् (āyam) — root iṇ gatau; laṅ, first singular mip; “tas-thas-tha-mipāṃ tān-tan-tāmaḥ” (Pā. 3-4-101): for tas, thas, tha, mip in place of a ṅit lakāra, tām, tam, ta, am: i + am; śap by “kartari śap” (Pā. 3-1-68), dropped by “adiprabhṛtibhyaḥ śapaḥ” (Pā. 2-4-72); the augment āṭ by “āḍ ajādīnām” (Pā. 6-4-72), vṛddhi by “āṭaś ca” (Pā. 6-1-90), and āy for ai by “eco ’yavāyāvaḥ” (Pā. 6-1-78): āyam; unaccented by “tiṅṅ atiṅaḥ” (Pā. 8-1-28). सिन्धुम् (sindhum) — root syandū prasravaṇe; “syandeḥ samprasāraṇaṃ dhaś ca” (Uṇ. 1-11), with nit carried over from “dhānye nit” (Uṇ. “1-9” [?]): after syand the suffix u, which is nit, with samprasāraṇa of the y and dh for the d: sindhu; initial-udātta by the nit accent; accusative singular sindhum. आवदन् (āvadan) — root vada vyaktāyāṃ vāci; laṭ → śatṛ; śap: vad + a + at; śap, being pit, unaccented; śap ends in a in the upadeśa, so the lasārvadhātuka after it is unaccented by “tāsy anudātten-ṅid-ad-upadeśāt…” (Pā. 6-1-186), and the root accent stands; vadat compounded with āṅ by “kugatiprādayaḥ” (Pā. 2-2-18): āvadat, the kṛt second member keeping the accents already stated; with su, num by “ugid-acāṃ sarvanāmasthāne ’dhātoḥ” (Pā. 7-1-70), su dropped by “hal-ṅyābbhyaḥ” (Pā. 6-1-68), the t dropped by “saṃyogāntasya lopaḥ” (Pā. 8-2-23), which being asiddha by “pūrvatrāsiddham” (Pā. 8-2-1) does not let “nalopaḥ prātipadikāntasya” (Pā. 8-2-7) drop the n: āvadan. अतिष्ठन्त (atiṣṭhanta) — root ṣṭhā gatinivṛttau, here after the upasarga upa, so “upān mantrakaraṇe” (Pā. 1-3-25): after upa, sthā in the sense of addressing with a mantra takes ātmanepada; laṅ, third plural jha; śap by “kartari śap”; sthā → tiṣṭha by “pā-ghrā-dhmā…” (Pā. 7-3-78); ant for jh by “jho ’ntaḥ” (Pā. 7-1-3); the augment aṭ by Pā. 6-4-71; pararūpa of the second a by “ato guṇe” (6-1-97): atiṣṭhanta. गिर्वणः (girvaṇaḥ) — gṝ śabde + kvip; i with r by “ṛta id dhātoḥ” (7-1-100): gir; “gīrbhiḥ vanyate”: vana ṣaṇa saṃbhaktau with asun: girvanas; vocative singular,

Page 473 — Rik 6 grammar (continued)

Page 474 — Rik 6 grammar closes

su dropped by “hal-ṅyābbhyaḥ”, ru, visarga and ṇ: girvaṇaḥ; as a vocative, unaccented by “āmantritasya ca” (Pā. 8-1-19). विदुः (viduḥ) — root vida jñāne, adādi; laṭ → jhi; śap dropped by “adiprabhṛtibhyaḥ śapaḥ” (Pā. 2-4-72); “vido laṭo vā” (Pā. 3-4-83): for the parasmaipada endings of laṭ after vid, the nine substitutes ṇal etc. optionally, so us for jhi: vidus, ru and visarga; viduḥ stands at the beginning of the fourth pāda, so it is not unaccented. In the Saṃhitā viduḥ + te: “visarjanīyasya saḥ” (Pā. 8-3-34) gives s for the visarga before a khar letter; then “yuṣmat-tat-takṣuḥṣv antaḥpādam” (Pā. 8-3-103): ṣ for an s before the t-initial substitutes of yuṣmad, before tat and takṣu, within a pāda; and “ṣṭunā ṣṭuḥ” (Pā. 8-4-41) turns the t into ṭ: viduṣṭe. तस्य (tasya) — “sāv ekācas tṛtīyādir vibhaktiḥ” (Pā. 6-1-168): after a word that is monosyllabic before the locative plural su, the case endings from the third onward are udātta; this would make the genitive sya udātta, but “na go-śvan-sāv-avarṇa-rāḍ-aṅ-kruṅ-kṛdbhyaḥ” (Pā. 6-1-182 [?]) bars it after go, śvan, a word ending in a in the nominative singular, rāṭ, aṅ, kruṅ and kṛt; so by “anudāttau suppitau” (Pā. 3-1-4) sya is unaccented. कारवः (kāravaḥ) — “kṛ-vā-pā-ji-mi-svadi-sādhy-aśūbhya uṇ” (Uṇ. 1-1): after ḍukṛñ karaṇe, vā gatigandhanayoḥ, pā pāne, ji abhibhave, ḍumiñ prakṣepaṇe, svada āsvādane, sādha saṃsiddhau, aśū vyāptau, the suffix uṇ; ṇit, so vṛddhi by “aco ñṇiti” (Pā. 7-2-115), with r by “uraṇ raparaḥ”: kāru; the suffix accent.

॥६॥

---

Page 474 — Sūkta 11, Rik 7

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. Line 2: a bar under वां and a stroke over स्यु of श्रवांस्युत्तिर, as printed — [accent ?].)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

मा॒याभि॑रिन्द्र मा॒यिन॑ं त्वं शुष्ण॒मव॑ातिरः । वि॒दु॒ष्टे तस्य॒ मेधि॑रा॒स्तेषा॑ं श्रव॒ांस्यु॒त्तिर ॥७॥ [accent ?]

māyābhir indra māyínaṃ tváṃ śuṣṇam ávātiraḥ | vidúṣ ṭe tásya médhirās téṣāṃ śrávāṃsy ut tira ||7|| [accent ?]

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

मायाभिः । इन्द्र । मायिनम् । त्वम् । शुष्णम् । अव । अतिरः ॥ विदुः । ते । तस्य । मेधिराः । तेषाम् । श्रवांसि । उत् । तिर ॥७॥

māyābhiḥ | indra | māyinam | tvam | śuṣṇam | ava | atiraḥ || viduḥ | te | tasya | medhirāḥ | teṣām | śravāṃsi | ut | tira ||7||

Page 475 — Rik 7: Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya, word-meanings

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे इन्द्र त्वं मायिनं नानाविधकपटोपेतं शुष्णं भूतानां शोषणहेतुमेतन्नामकमसुरं मायाभिस्तत्प्रतिकूलैः कपटविशेषैः । यद्वा । तद्विधोपायगोचरप्रज्ञाभिः । अवातिरः । हिंसितवानसि । एतच्च यास्केनोक्तम् । इन्द्रः शुष्णं जघान । नि. ३-११ । इति । शुष्णं पिप्रुम् । ऋग्वे. १-१०३-८ । इत्यादिमन्त्रे चायमर्थो विस्पष्टः । मेधिरा मेधावन्तो ऽनुष्ठातारस्तस्य तादृशस्य ते तव महिमानं विदुः । जानन्ति । तेषां जानतामनुष्ठातॄणां श्रवांस्यन्नान्युत्तिर । वर्धय । केतः केतुरित्यादिष्वेकादशसु प्रज्ञानामसु माया वयुनमिति पठितम् । श्रवःशब्दं यास्को निर्वक्ति । श्रव इत्यन्ननाम श्रूयत इति सतः । नि. १०-३ । इति ॥ मायाभिः । माङ् माने । माच्छाससिसिसूभ्यो यः । उ. ४-१०९ । इति यप्रत्ययः । प्रत्ययस्वरः । मायिनम् । मायास्यास्तीति मायी । व्रीह्यादित्वादिनिप्रत्ययः । पा. ५-२-११६ । प्रत्ययस्वरः । शुष्णम् । शुष शोषणे । अस्मादन्तर्भावितण्यर्थान्निदित्यनुवृत्तौ तृषिशुषिरसिभ्यः कित् । उ. ३-१२ । इति नप्रत्ययः । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । अतिरः । तरतेर्लङि व्यत्ययेन शः । तस्य ङित्त्वेन गुणाभावादृत इद्धातोरितीत्त्वम् । रपरत्वम् । विदुष्टे तस्य । गतं मन्त्रे गतम् । मेधिराः । मिधृ मेधृ मेधाहिंसनयोः । औणादिक इरन् । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । श्रवांसि । नब्विषयत्वादाद्युदात्तः ॥

he indra tvaṃ māyinaṃ nānāvidhakapaṭopetaṃ śuṣṇaṃ bhūtānāṃ śoṣaṇahetumetannāmakamasuraṃ māyābhistatpratikūlaiḥ kapaṭaviśeṣaiḥ | yadvā | tadvidhopāyagocaraprajñābhiḥ | avātiraḥ | hiṃsitavānasi | etacca yāskenoktam | indraḥ śuṣṇaṃ jaghāna | ni. 3-11 | iti | śuṣṇaṃ piprum | ṛgve. 1-103-8 | ityādimantre cāyamartho vispaṣṭaḥ | medhirā medhāvanto ’nuṣṭhātārastasya tādṛśasya te tava

mahimānaṃ viduḥ | jānanti | teṣāṃ jānatāmanuṣṭhātṝṇāṃ śravāṃsyannānyuttira | vardhaya | ketaḥ keturityādiṣvekādaśasu prajñānāmasu māyā vayunamiti paṭhitam | śravaḥśabdaṃ yāsko nirvakti | śrava ityannanāma śrūyata iti sataḥ | ni. 10-3 | iti || māyābhiḥ | māṅ māne | mācchāsasisūbhyo yaḥ | u. 4-109 | iti yapratyayaḥ | pratyayasvaraḥ | māyinam | māyāsyāstīti māyī | vrīhyāditvādinipratyayaḥ | pā. 5-2-116 | pratyayasvaraḥ | śuṣṇam | śuṣa śoṣaṇe | asmādantarbhāvitaṇyarthānnidityanuvṛttau tṛṣiśuṣirasibhyaḥ kit | u. 3-12 | iti napratyayaḥ | nittvādādyudāttaḥ | atiraḥ | taraterlaṅi vyatyayena śaḥ | tasya ṅittvena guṇābhāvādṛta iddhātoritīttvam | raparatvam | viduṣṭe tasya | gataṃ mantre gatam | medhirāḥ | midhṛ medhṛ medhāhiṃsanayoḥ | auṇādika iran | nittvādādyudāttaḥ | śravāṃsi | nabviṣayatvādādyudāttaḥ ||

Translation: "O Indra! You avātiraḥ — slew — śuṣṇam, the asura of that name, māyin — possessed of various kinds of trickery — and the cause of the drying up of beings, māyābhiḥ — with special devices of deceit opposed to his; or [alternatively] with *prajñā*s, insights into such means. This Yāska says: 'indraḥ śuṣṇaṃ jaghāna' (Ni. 3-11); and this sense is clear in the mantra beginning śuṣṇaṃ pipruṃ (Ṛgveda 1-103-8). Medhirāḥ — the wise performers — viduḥ te — know your greatness, of such a one. For those who thus know, uttira — increase — śravāṃsi, foods. Among the eleven words for 'wisdom' beginning with ketaḥ and ketuḥ, māyā and vayunam are read. Yāska explains the word śravas: 'śravas is a name for food; because it is heard (śrūyate)' (Ni. 10-3)." (Grammatical tail: māyā — māṅ māne with ya by "mācchā-sasi-sūbhyo yaḥ" (Uṇ. 4-109), suffix accent; māyinam — "māyā asya asti," ini as one of the vrīhyādi (Pā. 5-2-116), suffix accent; śuṣṇam — śuṣa śoṣaṇe with causative sense, na by "tṛṣi-śuṣi-rasibhyaḥ kit" (Uṇ. 3-12) with nit carried over, initial-udātta; atiraḥ — laṅ of tṝ with śa by exception, no guṇa because it is ṅit, so i by "ṛta id dhātoḥ", with r; viduṣ ṭe tasya — as in the previous mantra; medhirāḥ — midhṛ medhṛ medhāhiṃsanayoḥ, the Uṇādi iran, initial-udātta as nit; śravāṃsi initial-udātta as a nab-viṣaya word.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

(हे) इन्द्र ((he) indra) — O Indra | त्वम् (tvam) — you | मायिनम् (māyinam) — endowed with many kinds of trickery | शुष्णम् (śuṣṇam) — the asura named Śuṣṇa who harms people | मायाभिः (māyābhiḥ) — by deceitful stratagems suited to the occasion, or by [your] intelligence and capacity | अव अतिरः (ava atiraḥ) — have destroyed | मेधिराः (medhirāḥ) — wise people | विदुः (viduḥ) — know | तेषाम् (teṣām) — to those | (that is, to those who perform sacrifices and the like, being wise) श्रवांसि (śravāṃsi) — foods (food and other nourishment) | उत् तिर (ut tira) — increase (give in abundance).

Page 476 — Rik 7: overall sense, English, Special Topics

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Indra! The asura named Śuṣṇa was exceedingly deceitful. You killed that asura of deceitful nature by deceitful stratagems, or by your own intelligence and power. Wise people know this greatness of yours. Give them food and other nourishment in abundance.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

O Indra, you killed the wily Sushna by your stratagems; the wise men have known this your greatness; bestow upon them abundant food.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

"Māyābhiḥ," "māyinam" — māẏā means a special kind of deceit, a device, a means, power and capacity: wile, stratagem, etc. [the source's English]. A couple of riks that explain this sense of the word māẏā are given below:

(Ṛ. Saṃ. 3-53-8; the " १ " after तन्वं is printed so.)

रूपं रूपं मघवा बोभवीति मायाः कृण्वानस्तन्वं१ परि स्वाम् ॥

rūpaṃ rūpaṃ maghavā bobhavīti māẏāḥ kṛṇvānastanvaṃ1 pari svām ||

("Maghavan becomes form after form, making māẏās about his own bodẏ" — mine and tentative.)

(Ṛ. Saṃ. 6-47-18.)

इन्द्रो मायाभिः पुरुरूप ईयते युक्ता ह्यस्य हरयः शता दश ॥

indro māẏābhiḥ pururūpa īẏate ẏuktā hẏasẏa harayaḥ śatā daśa ||

("Indra goes about, of manẏ forms, bẏ his māẏās; for his ten hundred baẏ horses are ẏoked" — mine and tentative.)

There are many such examples. Since the word māẏā is read among the eleven words for "wisdom" beginning with ketaḥ, ketuḥ (Ni. 3-13), māẏā also means prajñā, understanding, intelligence, a means, and so on. In considering this sense prajñā, the sage Yāska in the Nirukta, explaining the rik

(Ṛ. Saṃ. 10-88-6.)

मूर्धा भुवो भवति नक्तमग्निस्ततः सूर्यो जायते प्रातरुद्यन् । माया मू तु यज्ञियानामेतामपो यत्तूर्णिश्चरति प्रजानन् ॥

mūrdhā bhuvo bhavati naktamagnistataḥ sūrẏo jāẏate prātarudẏan | māẏā mū tu ẏajñiẏānāmetāmapo ẏattūrṇiścarati prajānan ||

says

मूर्धा मूर्तमस्मिन्धीयते मूर्धा यः सर्वेषां भूतानां भवति नक्तमग्निस्ततः सूर्यो जायते प्रातरुद्यन्स एव प्रज्ञां त्वेतां मन्यन्ते यज्ञियानां देवानां यज्ञसंपादिनामपो यत्कर्म चरति प्रजानन्सर्वाणि स्थानान्यनुसंचरते त्वरमाणः mūrdhā mūrtamasmindhīẏate mūrdhā ẏaḥ sarveṣāṃ bhūtānāṃ bhavati naktamagnistataḥ sūrẏo jāẏate prātarudẏansa eva prajñāṃ tvetāṃ manẏante ẏajñiẏānāṃ devānāṃ ẏajñasaṃpādināmapo ẏatkarma carati prajānansarvāṇi sthānānẏanusaṃcarate tvaramāṇaḥ

(Ni. "7-27" [?]) — thus plainly giving the word māẏā the sense prajñā; and also —

(Ṛ. Saṃ. 6-58-1.)

> शुक्रं ते अन्यद्यजतं ते अन्यद्विषुरूपे अहनी द्यौरिवासि । विश्वा हि माया अवसि स्वधावो भद्रा ते पूषन्निह रातिरस्तु ॥
>
> śukraṃ te anyadyajataṃ te anyadviṣurūpe ahanī dyaurivāsi | viśvā hi māyā avasi svadhāvo bhadrā te pūṣanniha rātirastu ||

("Bright is one [form] of yours, worshipful the other; you are like the sky, with the two days of different form; for you protect all māyās, O self-powered one; may your bounty be auspicious here, O Pūṣan" — mine and tentative.)

in the explanation of this rik too —

> शुक्रं ते अन्यल्लोहितं ते अन्यद्यजतं ते अन्यद्यज्ञियं ते अन्यद्विषमरूपे ते अहनी कर्म द्यौरिव चासि सर्वाणि प्रज्ञानान्यवस्यन्नवन्भाजनवती ते पूषन्निह दत्तिरस्तु ॥
>
> śukraṃ te anyallohitaṃ te anyadyajataṃ te anyadyajñiyaṃ te anyadviṣamarūpe te ahanī karma dyauriva cāsi sarvāṇi prajñānānyavasyannavanbhājanavatī te pūṣanniha dattirastu ||

(Ni. "12-17" [?]) — he explained the word māyā as prajñā.

"Śuṣṇam" — the asura named Śuṣṇa. The word śuṣṇa also means strength (Ni. 3-9). There are many riks that tell of Indra's killing the asura Śuṣṇa:

(Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-103-8.)

> शुष्णं पिप्रुं कुयवं वृत्रमिन्द्र यदावधीर्वि पुरः शम्बरस्य ॥
>
> śuṣṇaṃ pipruṃ kuyavaṃ vṛtramindra yadāvadhīrvi puraḥ śambarasya ||

("When, O Indra, you slew Śuṣṇa, Pipru, Kuyava, Vṛtra, [you broke] apart the forts of Śambara" — mine and tentative.)

In this rik it is said that when Indra destroyed the city of the asura Śambara he killed four asuras, Śuṣṇa, Pipru, Kuyava and Vṛtra.

(Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-51-11.)

> उग्रो ययिं निरपः स्रोतसासृजद्वि शुष्णस्य दृंहिता ऐरयत्पुरः ॥
>
> ugro yayiṃ nirapaḥ srotasāsṛjadvi śuṣṇasya dṛṃhitā airayatpuraḥ ||

("The mighty one let out the rushing waters with a stream; he shook apart the firm forts of Śuṣṇa" — mine and tentative.)

In this rik it is said that Indra laid siege to the city of the asura Śuṣṇa. There are many riks suggesting such a sense. Besides this, the word śuṣṇa can be given the sense śoṣayitṛ, "one who dries up." In such contexts the sense can be given that Indra, by his power, strikes the cloud that does not pour rain and makes the earth parch, and so brings about rain. In considering this sense Yāska,

(Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-54-5.)

> नियुद्व्वणक्षि [?] श्वसनस्य मूर्धनि शुष्णस्य चिद्व्रन्दिनो रोरुवद्वना ॥
>
> niyudvvaṇakṣi [?] śvasanasya mūrdhani śuṣṇasya cidvrandino roruvadvanā ||

in explaining this rik, explained the word śuṣṇa as śoṣayituḥ, "one who dries up": "शुष्णस्यादित्यस्य च शोषयितुः" (śuṣṇasyādityasya ca śoṣayituḥ) (Ni. 5-16); and also,

(Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-33-12.)

> न्याविध्यदिलीबिशस्य दृळ्हा वि शृङ्गिणमभिनच्छुष्णमिन्द्रः ॥
>
> nyāvidhyadilībiśasya dṛḷhā vi śṛṅgiṇamabhinacchuṣṇamindraḥ ||

in this rik too, "निरविध्यदिलाबिलशयस्य दृढानि व्यभिनच्छृङ्गिणं शुष्णमिन्द्रः" (niravidhyadilābilaśayasya dṛḍhāni vyabhinacchṛṅgiṇaṃ śuṣṇamindraḥ): that is, he explained that Indra struck the cloud that stays over the mountain top and, not pouring rain, makes the earth dry up (Ni. "6-20" [?]).

Page 478 — Rik 7: Special Topics (continued) and grammar

"Ava atiraḥ" — hiṃsitavān asi: "you have struck, smitten, killed."

"Viduḥ te" — "they know you or yours": that is, they know your greatness, or your power and capacity.

"Medhirāḥ" — medhāvantaḥ puruṣāḥ: wise, discerning people and the like.

"Śravāṃsi" — foods, food and nourishment. In explaining the rik āsasrāṇāsaḥ śavasā (Ṛ. Saṃ. 6-62-3 [?]) Yāska gives the word śravas the sense of food: "śrava ity annanāma śrūyata iti sataḥ" (Ni. 10-3).

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 478–479, noted briefly; numbers checked against the print)

मायाभिः (māyābhiḥ) — root māṅ māne; "mācchāsasi(sū)bhyo yaḥ" (Uṇ. "4-549" [?]): after māṅ māne, cho chedane, ṣasa svapne, the suffix ya: māya, final-udātta by the suffix accent; for the feminine, ṭāp by "ajādyataṣ ṭāp" (Pā. 4-1-4), unaccented as pit; savarṇa-lengthening, and the single substitute udātta by "ekādeśa udāttenodāttaḥ" (Pā. 8-2-5); then bhis, ru and visarga; bhis unaccented, made svarita by "udāttād anudāttasya svaritaḥ". मायिनम् (māyinam) — "māyā asya asti": "vrīhyādibhyaś ca" (Pā. 5-2-116) gives ini and ṭhan in the possessive sense after the words of the vrīhi group: ini; the ā dropped by "yasyeti ca" (Pā. 6-4-148); accusative singular am: māyinam; the suffix accent. शुष्णम् (śuṣṇam) — root śuṣa śoṣaṇe, with the causative sense included; "tṛṣi-śuṣi-rasibhyaḥ kit" (Uṇ. "3-292" [?]): after ñitṛṣā pipāsāyām, śuṣa śoṣaṇe, rasa śabde the suffix na, kit and nit; kit, so no laghūpadha-guṇa; the nit accent; ṇ by "raṣābhyāṃ no ṇaḥ samānapade" (Pā. 8-4-1): śuṣṇa. अतिरः (atiraḥ) — root tṝ plavanataraṇayoḥ, bhvādi; laṅ, second singular sip; śap, replaced by Vedic exception by śa: tṝ + a + s; "sārvadhātukam apit" (Pā. 1-2-4) makes śa ṅit, so no guṇa;

Page 479 — Rik 7 grammar closes

"ṛta id dhātoḥ" (printed "17-1-100" [sic]) gives i, with r; the augment aṭ by "luṅ-laṅ-lṛṅkṣv aḍ udāttaḥ" (Pā. 6-4-71): atiras; ru and visarga. विदुष्टे तस्य (viduṣ ṭe tasya) — these three words were explained in the previous mantra; but there [viduḥ] stands at the beginning of the fourth pāda, here at the beginning of the third pāda — that is the only difference. मेधिराः (medhirāḥ) — root midhṛ medhṛ medhāhiṃsanayoḥ; after midhṛ the Uṇādi suffix iran; being nit, the nit accent. श्रवांसि (śravāṃsi) — initial-udātta by "nab-viṣayasyānisantasya" (Phiṭ-sū. "26").

॥७॥

---

Page 479 — Sūkta 11, Rik 8

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. Line 2: the stroke stands over स्य of यस्य, as printed.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

इन्द्रमीशानमोजसाभि स्तोमा अनूषत । सहस्रं यस्य रातय उत वा सन्ति भूयसीः ॥८॥

indram īśānam ójasābhí stómā anūṣata | sahásraṃ yásya rātáya utá vā sánti bhū́yasīḥ ||8||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

इन्द्रम् । ईशानम् । ओजसा । अभि । स्तोमाः । अनूषत ॥ सहस्रम् । यस्य । रातयः । उत । वा । सन्ति । भूयसीः ॥८॥

indram | īśānam | ojasā | abhi | stomāḥ | anūṣata || sahasram | yasya | rātayaḥ | uta | vā | santi | bhūyasīḥ ||8||

Page 479 (lower) — Rik 8: Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥ (runs onto p. 480; the closing "॥२१॥" is printed so — the varga number.)

स्तोमाः स्तोतार ऋत्विज ओजसा बलेनेशानं जगतो नियामकमिन्द्रमभ्यनूषत । सर्वत्र स्तुतवन्तः । यस्येन्द्रस्य रातयो धनदानानि सहस्रं सहस्रसंख्योपेतानि सन्ति । उत वाथवा भूयसीः सहस्रसंख्याया अप्यधिकाः सन्ति । तमिन्द्रमिति पूर्वत्रान्वयः ॥ इन्द्रम् । ऋज्रेन्द्रेत्यादिना रन् । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । ईशानम् । लटः शानच् । अदिप्रभृतिभ्यः शप इति शपो लुक् । धातोरनुदात्तेत्त्वात्तास्यनुदात्तेत्यादिना शानचो ऽनुदात्तत्वम् । ओजसा । नब्विषयत्वादाद्युदात्तः । स्तोमाः । अर्तिस्तुस्वित्यादिना मन्प्रत्ययः । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । अनूषत । णु स्तुतौ । णो नः । लुङ् । व्यत्ययेन झः । तस्यादादेशः । पा. ७-१-५ । च्लेः सिच् । अस्य धातोः कुटादित्वेन सिचो ङित्त्वाद्गुणाभावः । इडभावश्छान्दसः । दीर्घत्वं च । अडागमः । सहस्रम् । कर्दमादीनां च । फि. ३-१० । इति द्वितीयाक्षरमुदात्तम् । रातयः । मन्त्रे

वृषेत्यादिना क्तिन्नुदात्तः । उत । प्रातिपदिकस्वरः । वा । चादिरनुदात्तः । सन्ति । प्रत्ययाद्युदात्तत्वम् । तिङ्ङतिङ इति निघातो न भवति यद्वृत्तान्नित्यमिति प्रतिषेधात् । स हि व्यवहिते ऽपि भवतीत्युक्तम् । भूयसीः । सहस्रादतिशयेन बह्व्यो भूयस्यः । अत्र विभक्तव्यस्य सहस्रस्य संनिधिबलादुपपदत्वप्रतीतेर्द्विवचनविभज्योपपदे तरबीयसुनौ । पा. ५-३-५७ । इति बहुशब्दादीयसुन् । बहोर्लोपो भू च बहोः । पा. ६-४-१५८ । इतीकारलोपः । प्रकृतेर्भू इत्यादेशश्च । ईयसुनो नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वम् । उगितश्चेति ङीप् ॥२१॥

stomāḥ stotāra ṛtvija ojasā baleneśānaṃ jagato niyāmakamindramabhyanūṣata | sarvatra stutavantaḥ | yasyendrasya rātayo dhanadānāni sahasraṃ sahasrasaṃkhyopetāni santi | uta vāthavā bhūyasīḥ sahasrasaṃkhyāyā apyadhikāḥ santi | tamindramiti pūrvatrānvayaḥ || indram | ṛjrendretyādinā ran | nittvādādyudāttaḥ | īśānam | laṭaḥ śānac | adiprabhṛtibhyaḥ śapa iti śapo luk | dhātoranudāttettvāttāsyanudāttetyādinā śānaco 'nudāttatvam | ojasā | nabviṣayatvādādyudāttaḥ | stomāḥ | artistusvityādinā manpratyayaḥ | nittvādādyudāttaḥ | anūṣata | ṇu stutau | ṇo naḥ | luṅ | vyatyayena jhaḥ | tasyādādeśaḥ | pā. 7-1-5 | cleḥ sic | asya dhātoḥ kuṭāditvena sico ṅittvādguṇābhāvaḥ | iḍabhāvaśchāndasaḥ | dīrghatvaṃ ca | aḍāgamaḥ | sahasram | kardamādīnāṃ ca | phi. 3-10 | iti dvitīyākṣaramudāttam | rātayaḥ | mantre vṛṣetyādinā ktinnudāttaḥ | uta | prātipadikasvaraḥ | vā | cādiranudāttaḥ | santi | pratyayādyudāttatvam | tiṅṅatiṅa iti nighāto na bhavati yadvṛttānnityamiti pratiṣedhāt | sa hi vyavahite 'pi bhavatītyuktam | bhūyasīḥ | sahasrādatiśayena bahvyo bhūyasyaḥ | atra vibhaktavyasya sahasrasya saṃnidhibalādupapadatvapratīterdvivacanavibhajyopapade tarabīyasunau | pā. 5-3-57 | iti bahuśabdādīyasun | bahorlopo bhū ca bahoḥ | pā. 6-4-158 | itīkāralopaḥ | prakṛterbhū ityādeśaśca | īyasuno nittvādādyudāttatvam | ugitaśceti ṅīp ||21||

Translation: "The stomāḥ — the praisers, the priests — with ojas, strength, abhy anūṣata: praised on all sides Indra, īśānam, the ruler who governs the world; yasya — of which Indra — the rātayaḥ, gifts of wealth, sahasraṃ santi, are a thousand in number; uta vā — or — bhūyasīḥ, are more even than a thousand. 'That Indra' is the connection with what precedes." (Grammatical tail: indram — ran by "ṛjrendra…", initial-udātta as nit; īśānam — śānac for laṭ, śap dropped, the śānac unaccented because the root is anudātta-marked ("tāsy anudātta…"); ojasā initial-udātta as a nab-viṣaya word; stomāḥ — man by "arti-stu-su…", initial-udātta; anūṣata — ṇu stutau, n by "ṇo naḥ", luṅ, jha by exception, at for it (Pā. 7-1-5), sic for cli, no guṇa because, the root being kuṭādi, sic is ṅit, the absence of iṭ and the lengthening Vedic, augment aṭ; sahasram — second syllable udātta by "kardamādīnāṃ ca" (Phi. 3-10); rātayaḥ — ktin udātta by "mantre vṛṣa…"; uta — the stem accent; vā unaccented as one of the cādi; santi — initial-udātta of the suffix, and not unaccented by "tiṅṅ atiṅaḥ" because of the bar "yad-vṛttān nityam", which applies even with words between; bhūyasīḥ — "more than a thousand": since sahasra, the thing to be divided, is near, it is felt as an upapada, so īyasun after bahu by "dvivacana-vibhajyopapade tarab-īyasunau" (Pā. 5-3-57); "bahor lopo bhū ca bahoḥ" (Pā. 6-4-158) drops the ī and gives bhū for the stem; initial-udātta as nit; ṅīp by "ugitaś ca".)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

यस्य (yasya) — of which Indra | रातयः (rātayaḥ) — gifts of wealth | सहस्रम् (sahasram) — as many as thousands | उत वा (uta vā) — or | भूयसीः (bhūyasīḥ) — still more | सन्ति (santi) — are (such) | ईशानम् (īśānam) — who governs the world | इन्द्रम् (indram) — Indra | स्तोमाः (stomāḥ) — the priests who praise | ओजसा (ojasā) — with all the strength they have | अभि अनूषत (abhi anūṣata) — praise.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

Indra gives to those who praise him wealth and the like to the number of a thousand, or even more. The priests and other people praise such an Indra using all their strength.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> The reciters of Sacred hymns praise with all their might Indra, the ruler of the world whose bounties are counted by thousends [sic] or even more.

Īśānam — the lord, the master of the world: "Thr [sic] ruler of the world" [the source's English].

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

"Ojasā" — balena: "with strength, with all the strength they have; with enthusiasm too," and so on.

"Stomāḥ" — for this word the Bhāṣyakāra gives the meaning stotāra ṛtvijaḥ, "priests who praise." When the word stoma is neuter it means "hymn"; when it is masculine, "those who praise."

"Sahasram" — a thousand in number; many.

"Bhūyasīḥ" — more than a thousand; more than can be counted; exceedingly, and so on.

Page 481 — Rik 8 grammar

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 481–482, noted briefly; numbers checked against the print)

इन्द्रम् (indram) — the suffix ran by "ṛjrendrāgra…" (Uṇ. 2-186); initial-udātta as nit. ईशानम् (īśānam) — root īśa aiśvarye, anudātta-marked, hence ātmanepada; laṭ → śānac by "laṭaḥ śatṛ-śānacau…": īś + āna; śap dropped by "adiprabhṛtibhyaḥ śapaḥ" (Pā. 2-4-72); the śānac, a sārvadhātuka in place of a lakāra, unaccented by "tāsy anudātteṭ…" (Pā. 6-1-186). ओजसा (ojasā) — initial-udātta by "nab-viṣayasyānisantasya" (Phiṭ-sū. "26"). स्तोमाः (stomāḥ) — man after stu by "arti-stu-su…" (Uṇ. "1-138" [?]); the nit accent, initial-udātta. अनूषत (anūṣata) — root ṇu stutau; n for ṇ by "ṇo naḥ" (Pā. 6-1-65); luṅ, cli by "cli luṅi" (Pā. 3-1-43), sic by "cleḥ sic" (3-1-44); the root is parasmaipada, so the third plural should properly be jhi, but here by exception the ātmanepada jha comes; at for jh by "ātmanepadeṣv anataḥ" (Pā. 7-1-5): nu + s + ata; the root is in the kuṭādi list, so by "gāṅ-kuṭādibhyo 'ñṇin ṅit" (Pā. 1-2-1) sic is ṅit and there is no guṇa; by Vedic procedure no iṭ; the lengthening of the root vowel is also Vedic; augment aṭ: anūṣata. सहस्रम् (sahasram) — by "kardamādīnāṃ ca" (Phiṭ-sū. "59" [?]) the first or the second syllable is udātta: here the second. रातयः (rātayaḥ) — after rā, the udātta ktin by "mantre vṛṣeṣa-paca-mana-vida-bhū-vīrā udāttaḥ" (Pā. 3-3-96). उत (uta) — the stem accent. वा (vā) — unaccented by "cādayo 'nudāttāḥ" (Phiṭ-sū. 84). सन्ति (santi) — root as bhuvi; laṭ, jhi, ant for jh; śap dropped; a of the root dropped by "śnasor allopaḥ" (printed "vā. sū." [sic] 6-4-111): santi, with the accent of the tiṅ suffix. The bar "yad-vṛttān nityam" (Pā. 8-1-66), as was explained earlier, applies even when words stand between, because pūjita is taken again in the sūtra "pūjanāt pūjitam…"; so "tiṅṅ atiṅaḥ" does not make it unaccented.

Page 482 — Rik 8 grammar closes; close of Sūkta 11

भूयसीः (bhūyasīḥ) — "sahasrād api atiśayena bahvyaḥ." "dvivacana-vibhajyopapade tarab-īyasunau" (Pā. 5-3-57): when a word meaning two or a word for the thing to be divided is the upapada, tarap and īyasun come in their own sense after a subanta or tiṅanta that expresses superiority of one over the other and denotes the property that makes the division. By upapada is meant a word spoken nearby; "tatropapadaṃ saptamīstham" (Pā. 3-1-92) is not meant, since that applies only within the section on roots. The word expressing duality or the thing to be divided need be used only in the analytical phrase; in the taddhita formation its meaning is included, so it need not be used. The sense of the second half of the mantra is that Indra has wealth and grain to the number of a thousand, or wealth exceeding a thousand. With sahasra, the thing to be divided, as the upapada, this sūtra gives īyasun after bahu: bahu + īyas; "bahor lopo bhū ca bahoḥ" (Pā. 6-4-158): after bahu, the suffixes iman, iṣṭhan, īyasun lose [their initial] and bahu is replaced by bhū; by "ādeḥ parasya" (Pā. 1-1-54) the loss falls on the first letter of what follows, so the ī is dropped, and by the same sūtra bhū replaces the stem: bhūyas; īyasun is nit, so bhūyas is initial-udātta by "ñnity ādir nityam" (Pā. 6-1-197); bhūyas is an ugit stem, so "ugitaś ca" (Pā. 4-1-6) gives ṅīp in the feminine; in bhūyas + ṅīp, the ṅ is it by "laśakv ataddhite" and the p by "halantyam" (Pā. 1-3-3), dropped by "tasya lopaḥ" (Pā. 1-3-9); ṅīp is pit, so unaccented by "anudāttau sup-pitau" (Pā. 3-1-4).

॥८॥

(A printed ornament follows. The page carries no separate Sanskrit colophon and no Kannada closing line for this sūkta, unlike Sūkta 10. The next printed page, 483, opens the twelfth sūkta, "agniṃ dūtaṃ vṛṇīmahe," and follows below.)

End of Sūkta 11.

---

Page 483 — opening of Sūkta 12 (fourth anuvāka)

॥ ಹನ್ನೆರಡನೆಯ ಸೂಕ್ತವು ॥ — Sūkta 12 — "agniṃ dūtaṃ vṛṇīmahe" ("The Twelfth Sūkta")

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥ (introductory note on the application of the sūkta)

> चतुर्थानुवाके षट् सूक्तानि । तत्राग्निं दूतमित्यादिकस्य द्वादशर्चस्य प्रथमस्य सूक्तस्य कण्वपुत्रो मेधातिथिर्ऋषिः । अपवादाभावादनुवर्तमानं प्राग्घिरण्यस्तूपादित्युक्तं गायत्रमेव छन्दः । अग्निदेवताकत्वं विस्पष्टम् । अत एवानुक्रम्यते । अग्निं द्वादश मेधातिथिः काण्व आग्नेयमग्निनेति पादो द्व्यग्निदैवतो निर्मथ्य आहवनीयश्चेति ॥ विनियोगस्तु । प्रातरनुवाक आग्नेये क्रतौ गायत्रे छन्दस्यग्निं दूतमिति सूक्तम् ।

अथैतस्या रात्रेर्विवासकाल इति खण्डे ऽग्निमीळे ऽग्निं दूतम् । आ. ४-१३ । इति सूत्रितम् ॥ तथा पृष्ठ्यषडहस्य द्वितीये ऽहनीदमेव सूक्तमाज्यशस्त्रम् । पृष्ठ्यस्याभिप्लवेनोक्ते अहनी इति खण्डे सूत्रितम् । अग्निं दूतमिति द्वितीये । आ. ७-१० । इति ॥ दर्शपूर्णमासयोः सामिधेनीष्वग्निं दूतमित्येका नमः प्रवक्त्र इति खण्डे सूत्रितम् । ईळेन्यो नमस्यस्तिरो ऽग्निं दूतं वृणीमहे ॥ आ. १-२ । इति ॥

caturthānuvāke ṣaṭ sūktāni | tatrāgniṃ dūtamityādikasya dvādaśarcasya prathamasya sūktasya kaṇvaputro medhātithirṛṣiḥ | apavādābhāvādanuvartamānaṃ prāgghiraṇyastūpādityuktaṃ gāyatrameva chandaḥ | agnidevatākatvaṃ vispaṣṭam | ata evānukramyate | agniṃ dvādaśa medhātithiḥ kāṇva āgneyamagnineti pādo dvyagnidaivato nirmathya āhavanīyaśceti || viniyogastu | prātaranuvāka āgneye kratau gāyatre chandasyagniṃ dūtamiti sūktam | athaitasyā rātrervivāsakāla iti khaṇḍe 'gnimīḷe 'gniṃ dūtam | ā. 4-13 | iti sūtritam || tathā pṛṣṭhyaṣaḍahasya dvitīye 'hanīdameva sūktamājyaśastram | pṛṣṭhyasyābhiplavenokte ahanī iti khaṇḍe sūtritam | agniṃ dūtamiti dvitīye | ā. 7-10 | iti || darśapūrṇamāsayoḥ sāmidhenīṣvagniṃ dūtamityekā namaḥ pravaktra iti khaṇḍe sūtritam | īḷenyo namasyastiro 'gniṃ dūtaṃ vṛṇīmahe || ā. 1-2 | iti ||

Translation: "In the fourth anuvāka there are six sūktas. Of these, of the first sūkta, of twelve riks, beginning agniṃ dūtam, the ṛṣi is Medhātithi, son of Kaṇva. Since there is no exception, the meter is the Gāyatrī that continues, as was said, 'up to Hiraṇyastūpa.' That Agni is the deity is clear. Therefore the Anukramaṇī says: 'agniṃ dvādaśa medhātithiḥ kāṇva āgneyam agnineti pādo dvyagnidaivato nirmathya āhavanīyaś ca' — [the sūkta] agnim, twelve [riks], Medhātithi Kāṇva, to Agni; the pāda agninā has two Agnis as deity, the churned [fire] and the Āhavanīya. Its application: in the morning litany (prātaranuvāka), in the Āgneya rite, in the Gāyatrī meter, the sūkta agniṃ dūtam; laid down in the section athaitasyā rātrer vivāsakāle: 'agnim īḷe, agniṃ dūtam' (Āś. 4-13). Likewise on the second day of the Pṛṣṭhya Ṣaḍaha this same sūkta is the ājya-śastra; laid down in the section pṛṣṭhyasyābhiplavenokte ahanī: 'agniṃ dūtam on the second' (Āś. 7-10). In the Darśa and Pūrṇamāsa, among the sāmidhenīs, the single [rik] agniṃ dūtam; laid down in the section namaḥ pravaktre: 'īḷenyo namasyas tiro, agniṃ dūtaṃ vṛṇīmahe' (Āś. 1-2)."

॥ Anuvāda (Kannada rendering) ॥ The fourth anuvāka begins with the twelfth sūkta; this anuvāka has six sūktas. Of these six sūktas, of the first, the sūkta of twelve riks called agniṃ dūtam, the ṛṣi is Medhātithi, son of Kaṇva; the meter is Gāyatrī; the deity is Agni. This is said in the Anukramaṇikā in the section agniṃ dvādaśa medhātithiḥ kāṇvaḥ. The order of application: at the time of reciting the mantras of the prātaranuvāka of the Āgneya rite, when the riks in the Gāyatrī meter are recited, this sūkta agniṃ dūtam is to be recited; this is said in the Śrautasūtra of Āśvalāyana in the section athaitasyā rātrer vivāsakāle (Ā. 4-13). And on the second day of the Pṛṣṭhya-ṣaḍaha rite this sūkta is recited as the ājya-śastra mantras; this is said in Āśvalāyana's sūtra 7-10, in the section pṛṣṭhyasyābhiplavenokte ahanī, as "agniṃ dūtam iti dvitīye." And in the Darśapūrṇamāsa sacrifices, when the riks called sāmidhenī are recited, the rik agniṃ dūtam is to be recited, as is said in the section namaḥ pravaktre; this too is said in section 1-2 of Āśvalāyana's Śrautasūtra: "īḷenyo namasyas tiro 'gniṃ dūtaṃ vṛṇīmahe."

Page 484 — Sūkta 12, Rik 1

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ ॐ ॥

॥ Sūkta — 12 ॥ ॥ Maṇḍala — 1 ॥ Anuvāka — 4 ॥ Sūkta — 12 ॥ ॥ Aṣṭaka — 1 ॥ Adhyāya — 1 ॥ Varga — 22, 23 ॥ ॥ Mantras contained in this sūkta: 1–12 ॥ ॥ Ṛṣi — Medhātithi Kāṇva ॥ (printed "1–12 medhātithiḥ kāṇvaḥ") ॥ Devatā — Agni; 6 — Agni Nirmathya and Agni Āhavanīya ॥ (printed "agniḥ \| 6 — agnir nirmathyo 'gnir āhavanīyaś ca") ॥ Chandaḥ — Gāyatrī ॥

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

अ॒ग्निं दू॒तं वृ॑णीमहे॒ होता॑रं वि॒श्ववे॑दसम् । अ॒स्य य॒ज्ञस्य॑ सु॒क्रतु॑म् ॥१॥

agníṃ dūtáṃ vṛṇīmahe hótāraṃ viśvávedasam \| asyá yajñásya sukrátum ||1||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

अग्निम् । दूतम् । वृणीमहे । होतारम् । विश्वऽवेदसम् ॥ अस्य । यज्ञस्य । सुऽक्रतुम् ॥१॥

agnim \| dūtam \| vṛṇīmahe \| hotāram \| viśva-vedasam \|\| asya \| yajñasya \| su-kratum \|\| 1||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

अग्नेर्दूतत्वमेतन्मन्त्रव्याख्याने तैत्तिरीयब्राह्मणे समाम्नायते । अग्निर्देवानां दूत आसीदुशनाः काव्यो ऽसुराणाम् । तै. सं. २-५-८-५ । इति । तादृशं देवदूतमग्निमस्मिन्कर्मणि वृणीमहे । संभजामः । कीदृशम् । होतारं देवानामाह्वातारं विश्ववेदसं सर्वधनोपेतम् अस्य प्रवर्तमानस्य यज्ञस्य निष्पादकत्वेन सुक्रतुं शोभनकर्माणं शोभनप्रज्ञं वा ॥ मघमित्यादिष्वष्टाविंशतिसंख्याकेषु धननामसु वेदस्शब्दः पठितः ॥ होतारम् । ह्वेञ् स्पर्धायां शब्दे च । तृन् । ताच्छील्यादिषु । बहुलं छन्दसीति संप्रसारणे । परपूर्वत्वे गुणः । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । विश्ववेदसम् । बहुव्रीहौ । विश्वं संज्ञायाम् । पा. ६-२-१०६ । इति पूर्वपदान्तोदात्तः । अस्य । ऊडिदमित्यादिना विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वम् । सुक्रतुम् । क्रत्वादयश्च । पा. ६-२-११८ । इत्याद्युदात्तत्वम् ॥

agner dūtatvam etan-mantra-vyākhyāne taittirīya-brāhmaṇe samāmnāyate \| agnir devānāṃ dūta āsīd uśanāḥ kāvyo 'surāṇām \| tai. saṃ. 2-5-8-5 \| iti \| tādṛśaṃ deva-dūtam agnim asmin karmaṇi vṛṇīmahe \| saṃbhajāmaḥ \| kīdṛśam \| hotāraṃ devānām āhvātāraṃ viśvavedasaṃ sarva-dhanopetam asya pravartamānasya yajñasya niṣpādakatvena sukratuṃ śobhana-karmāṇaṃ śobhana-prajñaṃ vā \|\| magham ity-ādiṣv aṣṭāviṃśati-saṃkhyākeṣu dhana-nāmasu vedas-śabdaḥ paṭhitaḥ \|\| hotāram \| hveñ spardhāyāṃ śabde ca \| tṛn \| tācchīlyādiṣu \| bahulaṃ chandasīti saṃprasāraṇe \| parapūrvatve guṇaḥ \| nittvād ādyudāttaḥ \| viśvavedasam \| bahuvrīhau \| viśvaṃ saṃjñāyām \| pā. 6-2-106 \| iti pūrvapadāntodāttaḥ \| asya \| ūḍidam ity-ādinā vibhakter udāttatvam \| sukratum \| kratv-ādayaś ca \| pā. 6-2-118 \| ity-ādyudāttatvam \|\|

Translation: "That Agni is a messenger is stated in the Taittirīya Brāhmaṇa, in explanation of this mantra: 'Agni was the messenger of the gods; Uśanas Kāvya, of the asuras' (Taittirīya Saṃhitā 2-5-8-5). Such an Agni, messenger of the gods, we vṛṇīmahe — choose, serve — in this rite. What kind? Hotāram — the caller of the gods; viśvavedasam — endowed with all wealth;

sukratum — as the accomplisher of this rite now in progress, of excellent action, or of excellent wisdom. Among the twenty-eight words for 'wealth' beginning with magham, vedas is read." (Grammar noted briefly: that hotṛ is from hveñ with tṛn in the habitual sense, with saṃprasāraṇa*, pūrvarūpa and* guṇa*, initial-udātta since* nit*; that* viśvavedasam is a bahuvrīhi in which viśva*, in a name, ends in udātta (Pā. 6-2-106); that the case-ending of* asya is udātta by ūḍ-idam…; and that sukratu has initial accent by Pā. 6-2-118.)

Page 485 — Rik 1: word-meanings, overall sense, English, Special Topics

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

दूतम् (dūtam) — the messenger of the gods | होतारम् (hotāram) — one who invokes the gods for sacrifices and the like | विश्ववेदसम् (viśvavedasam) — endowed with all wealth | अस्य यज्ञस्य (asya yajñasya) — of this sacrifice | सुक्रतुम् (sukratum) — the performer of the rite, or one who knows well the procedure of this sacrifice | अग्निम् (agnim) — the deity named Agni | (we) वृणीमहे (vṛṇīmahe) — choose and invoke (call).

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

Agni is the messenger of the gods, and he brings them to the sacrificial rites that we perform. This Agni has abundant wealth, and is the chief performer in this sacrifice, or one who knows well the nature of the rite. Such an Agni we choose (we pray to).

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> We select (invoke) Agni, the messenger of Gods, their invoker, the possessor of riches, the perfector of this rite or the highly wise.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

From this 12th sūkta up to the 23rd sūkta, too, the ṛṣi is Medhātithi, son of Kaṇva. These sūktas are not, like the sūktas of the ṛṣi Madhucchandas explained so far, full of tangles; there is no need to supply special words; they are in a fairly easy style and can be understood by all. The style of language of some ṛṣis is very involved; the style of others is easy to understand. In the order stated earlier, at the beginning there are sūktas addressed to Agni, then sūktas addressed to Indra, and after that sūktas of other deities. The descendants of this ṛṣi are the seers of Sūktas 36–50 in this maṇḍala, of the sūktas of the 8th maṇḍala, and of the 2nd sūkta of the 9th maṇḍala. The rik agniṃ dūtaṃ vṛṇīmahe is read in these places: Taittirīya Saṃhitā 2-5-8-5 and 5-5-6-1 [?]; Tai. Brā. 3-5-2-3; Sāmaveda 1-3; Maitrāyaṇīya Saṃhitā 4-10-2.

Page 486 — Rik 1: Special Topics (continued) and grammar begins

(The dūtam note begins at the foot of p. 485.)

"Dūtam" — in explaining the word dūta, the Bhāṣyakāra cites the Yajurveda sentence "agnir devānāṃ dūta āsīd uśanāḥ kāvyo 'surāṇām" (printed "Tai. Saṃ. 3-5-8-5"; the bhāṣya gives 2-5-8-5): that is, Agni was the messenger of the gods, and Uśanas, son of Kavi, the messenger of the asuras. And the Yajurveda śruti says "parokṣaṃ vā anye devāḥ" — the other gods (those other than Agni) are not visible to us directly. When we humans pour into Agni the oblations we offer, so that they reach the gods, Agni stands between humans and gods, and it is believed that he carries the oblations to the gods. Hence Agni is called the messenger of the gods, as is customary.

"Vṛṇīmahe" — "we choose; we select; select, choose" and so on [the source's own English]. Skandasvāmī explains it as "we pray."

"Viśvavedasam" — sarvadhanopetam — "endowed with all wealth"; the word ratnadhātamam in the first rik of the Ṛgveda, agnim īḷe, supports this sense. Vedas is read among the twenty-eight words for wealth beginning with magham (printed "2-3-9" [?]); so vedas is to be given the sense of wealth.

"Sukratum" — śobhana-karmāṇam or śobhana-prajñam: one who has good deeds or good wisdom; that is, one who performs the needed acts of sacrifice and brings the sacrificial rite to completion with all its limbs; one of excellent wisdom; one who knows well the nature of the rites of sacrifice and the like. The word kratu is read both among the twenty-six words for 'work' beginning with apaḥ (Ni. "3-1" [as printed]), and among the eleven words for 'wisdom' beginning with ketaḥ (Ni. 3-13), so kratu has two senses, work and wisdom.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 486–487, noted briefly; numbers checked against the print)

होतारम् (hotāram) — root hveñ spardhāyāṃ śabde ca; tṛn by "tṛn" (Pā. 3-2-135) in the senses of habit, duty and doing it well: hve + tṛ; "bahulaṃ chandasi" (Pā. 6-1-34) gives samprasāraṇa, u for the v; pūrvarūpa by "samprasāraṇāc ca" (Pā. 6-1-108); hu + tṛ: "sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ" (Pā. 7-3-84) gives guṇa to an ik-final stem before these suffixes; by "tiṅ-śit sārvadhātukam" (Pā. 3-4-113) the tiṅ endings and ś-marked suffixes are sārvadhātuka, and by "ārdhadhātukaṃ śeṣaḥ" (Pā. 3-4-114) the other suffixes taught under "dhātoḥ" (Pā. 3-1-91) are ārdhadhātuka; tṛn is neither tiṅ nor śit, so it is ārdhadhātuka, and the u of hu takes guṇa: hotṛ; then the accusative singular am:

Page 487 — Rik 1 grammar closes

"ṛto ṅi-sarvanāmasthānayoḥ" (Pā. 7-3-110) gives guṇa of the ṛ with r: hotar + am; "ap-tṛn-tṛc…" (Pā. 6-4-11) lengthens the penultimate: hotāram; hotṛ initial-udātta by the nit accent. विश्ववेदसम् (viśvavedasam) — "viśvaṃ vedo yasya saḥ": a bahuvrīhi; "bahuvrīhau viśvaṃ saṃjñāyām" (Pā. 6-2-106) — viśva as the first member in a name-bahuvrīhi ends in udātta; without this sūtra viśva would be initial-udātta, being a kvan word, and "bahuvrīhau prakṛtyā pūrvapadam" (Pā. 6-2-1) would keep that; the sūtra overrides it, so the final syllable is udātta. अस्य (asya) — after idam, the genitive ending is udātta by "ūṭidam-padādy-appum-raidyubhyaḥ" (Pā. 6-1-171). सुक्रतुम् (sukratum) — "kratvādayaś ca" (Pā. 6-2-118): words of the kratu class after su are initial-udātta, so the kratu in sukratu is initial-udātta.

॥१॥

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

अग्निमंग्निं हवींमभिः सदा हवन्त विश्पतिम् । हव्यवाहं पुरुप्रियम् ॥२॥

agním-agniṃ hávīmabhiḥ sádā havanta viśpátim | havyavāhaṃ purupriyám ||2||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

अग्निम्ऽअग्निम् । हवीमऽभिः । सदा । हवन्त । विश्पतिम् ॥ हव्यऽवाहम् । पुरुऽप्रियम् ॥२॥

agnim-agnim | havīma-bhiḥ | sadā | havanta | viśpatim || havya-vāham | puru-priyam ||2||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

(The bhāṣya runs onto p. 488.)

यद्यप्यग्निः स्वरूपेणैक एव तथापि प्रयोगभेदादाहवनीयादिस्थानभेदात्पावकादिविशेषणभेदाद्वा बहुविधत्वमभिप्रेत्याग्निमग्निमिति वीप्सा । तं हवीमभिराह्वानकरणैर्मन्त्रैः सदा हवन्ते । निरन्तरमनुष्ठातार आह्वयन्ति । कीदृशम् । विश्पतिं विशां प्रजानां होत्रादीनां पालकं हव्यवाहं यजमानसमर्पितस्य हविषो देवान्प्रति वोढारं अत एव पुरुप्रियं बहूनां प्रीत्यास्पदम् ॥ अग्निमग्निम् । नित्यवीप्सयोरिति वीप्सायां द्विर्भावः । तस्य परमाम्रेडितमित्युत्तरस्याम्रेडितसंज्ञायामनुदात्तं चेत्यनुदात्तम् । हवीमभिः । ह्वेञ् स्पर्धायां शब्दे च । आह्वानकरणभूतेषु मन्त्रेषु स्वव्यापारस्वातन्त्र्यात्कर्तृत्वविवक्षयान्येभ्यो ऽपि दृश्यन्त इति कर्तरि मनिन् । तस्य छान्दस ईडागमः । बहुलं छन्दसीति धातोः संप्रसारणम् । परपूर्वत्वं गुणावादेशौ । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वम् । सदा । सर्वैकान्येत्यादिना । पा. ५-३-१५ । सर्वशब्दाद्दाप्रत्ययः । सर्वस्य सो ऽन्यतरस्यां दि । पा. ५-३-६ । इति सभावः । व्यत्ययेनाद्युदात्तत्वम् । हवन्त । ह्वेञो लट् । झस्यान्तादेशः । टेरेत्वाभावश्छान्दसः । शपि बहुलं छन्दसीति संप्रसारणम् । तिङ्ङतिङः इति निघातः । विश्पतिम् । पत्यावैश्वर्य इति पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरे प्राप्ते परादिश्छन्दसि बहुलमित्युत्तरपदाद्युदात्तत्वम् । हव्यवाहम् । वह प्रापणे । वहश्च । पा. ३-२-६४ । इति ण्विप्रत्ययः । कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् । पुरुप्रियम् । पुरूणां प्रियम् । समासान्तोदात्तत्वम् ॥

yadyapyagniḥ svarūpeṇaika eva tathāpi prayogabhedādāhavanīyādisthānabhedātpāvakādiviśeṣaṇabhedādvā bahuvidhatvamabhipretyāgnimagnimiti vīpsā | taṃ havīmabhirāhvānakaraṇairmantraiḥ sadā havante | nirantaramanuṣṭhātāra āhvayanti | kīdṛśam | viśpatiṃ viśāṃ prajānāṃ hotrādīnāṃ pālakaṃ havyavāhaṃ yajamānasamarpitasya haviṣo devānprati voḍhāraṃ ata eva purupriyaṃ bahūnāṃ prītyāspadam || agnimagnim | nityavīpsayoriti vīpsāyāṃ dvirbhāvaḥ | tasya paramāmreḍitamityuttarasyāmreḍitasaṃjñāyāmanudāttaṃ cetyanudāttam | havīmabhiḥ | hveñ spardhāyāṃ śabde ca | āhvānakaraṇabhūteṣu mantreṣu svavyāpārasvātantryātkartṛtvavivakṣayānyebhyo 'pi dṛśyanta iti kartari manin | tasya chāndasa īḍāgamaḥ | bahulaṃ chandasīti dhātoḥ saṃprasāraṇam | parapūrvatvaṃ guṇāvādeśau | nittvādādyudāttatvam | sadā | sarvaikānyetyādinā | pā. 5-3-15 | sarvaśabdāddāpratyayaḥ | sarvasya so 'nyatarasyāṃ di | pā. 5-3-6 | iti

sabhāvaḥ | vyatyayenādyudāttatvam | havanta | hveño laṭ | jhasyāntādeśaḥ | ṭeretvābhāvaśchāndasaḥ | śapi bahulaṃ chandasīti saṃprasāraṇam | tiṅṅatiṅa iti nighātaḥ | viśpatim | patyāvaiśvarya iti pūrvapadaprakṛtisvare prāpte parādiśchandasi bahulamityuttarapadādyudāttatvam | havyavāham | vaha prāpaṇe | vahaśca | pā. 3-2-64 | iti ṇvipratyayaḥ | kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvam | purupriyam | purūṇāṃ priyam | samāsāntodāttatvam ||

Translation: "Although Agni is one in his own nature, nevertheless, with a view to his manifoldness — by differences of use, by differences of place such as the āhavanīya [fire] and the rest, or by differences of epithets such as pāvaka [the purifier] — the repetition agnim agnim ('Agni, Agni') is used. Him, havīmabhiḥ — with mantras that serve as the means of invocation — the performers sadā havante — constantly call. What kind of Agni? Viśpatim — protector of the viś, the people: the hotṛ priests and others; havyavāham — the carrier, to the gods, of the oblation offered by the sacrificer; and therefore purupriyam — the dear one of many."

Page 488 — Rik 2: grammatical tail of the bhāṣya, word-meanings, overall sense, English

(Grammatical tail of the bhāṣya: agnim agnim — doubled in the sense of vīpsā by "nitya-vīpsayoḥ"; the second member is āmreḍita by "tasya param āmreḍitam" and unaccented by "anudāttaṃ ca"; havīmabhiḥ — hveñ, manin in the agent sense by "anyebhyo 'pi dṛśyante", since the mantras that are instruments of calling are spoken of as independent agents; Vedic ī augment, samprasāraṇa by "bahulaṃ chandasi", pūrvarūpa, guṇa and av; initial-udātta as nit; sadā — dā after sarva (Pā. 5-3-15), sa for sarva by "sarvasya so 'nyatarasyāṃ di" (Pā. 5-3-6), initial-udātta by exception; havanta — laṭ of hveñ, ant for jha, no e for the ṭi (Vedic), samprasāraṇa before śap, unaccented by "tiṅṅ atiṅaḥ"; viśpatim — instead of the first-member accent of "patyāv aiśvarye", "parādiś chandasi bahulam" makes the second member initial-udātta; havyavāham — ṇvi by "vahaś ca" (Pā. 3-2-64), the kṛt second member keeping its accent; purupriyam — "purūṇāṃ priyam," the compound final-udātta.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

विश्पतिम् (viśpatim) — the lord, the protector, of the people (the hotṛ priests and others) | हव्यवाहम् (havyavāham) — [the one] who carries to the gods the oblations offered by the sacrificer | पुरुप्रियम् (purupriyam) — dear to all | अग्निमग्निम् (agnim-agnim) — to Agni (who is seen in places such as the āhavanīya) | हवीमभिः (havīmabhiḥ) — with the mantras used for invocation | सदा (sadā) — always | हवन्त (havanta) — [the performers of sacrifices] invoke.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

Although Agni is one, he appears separately in different places — the āhavanīya, the gārhapatya and others. He is the protector of all people, beginning with the sacrificer; he carries to the gods the oblations offered in the sacrifice; he is dear to all. The people who perform sacrifices always invoke such an Agni with mantras of invocation.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

They (offerers of oblations) constantly invoke Agni and Agni again, the lord of men, the bearer of offerings, the beloved of many.

Page 489 — Rik 2: Special Topics and grammar

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

"Agnim-agnim" — "nityavīpsayor iti vīpsāyāṃ dvirbhāvaḥ": by pronouncing one word twice the sense "each one" is conveyed. Here it means each Agni: the āhavanīya, the dakṣiṇāgni, the gārhapatya and the others established in different places in the sacrifices.

"Viśpatim" — viśāṃ prajānāṃ patim: the lord, the master, of the subjects or people: "Ruler of men, progeny" [the source's English].

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 489–490, noted briefly; numbers checked against the print)

अग्निमग्निम् (agnim-agnim) — "nitya-vīpsayoḥ" (Pā. 8-1-4): the word nitya-vīpsayoḥ names the two senses nitya and vīpsā; since there is an expectation of what comes in which sense — an expectation of the place and of what is enjoined — the sūtra "sarvasya dve" (Pā. 8-1-1) is in force as a heading, and the later sūtra "padasya" (Pā. 8-1-16) is connected too. Dve is a numeral, so it expects a counted thing, and since this is a grammar of words, "words" is understood. Nitya means ābhīkṣṇya, repetition; vīpsā means the wish to pervade; in verbal cognition only pervasion appears. When repetition or pervasion is to be shown, two words come in place of the whole word: so, with pervasion meant, two words agnim come in place of the one agnim — agnim agnim, "each Agni." Repetition is a property of an action, so the doubling in that sense comes with a tiṅanta and with a kṛdanta that is an indeclinable. By "tasya param āmreḍitam" (Pā. 8-1-2) the second form of the doubled word is named āmreḍita, and by "anudāttaṃ ca" (Pā. 8-1-3) it is unaccented. हवीमभिः (havīmabhiḥ) — root hveñ spardhāyāṃ śabde ca; manin in the agent sense by "anyebhyo 'pi dṛśyante" (Pā. 3-2-75). Although the mantras are instruments in calling, by the maxim "vivakṣātaḥ kārakāṇi bhavanti" — as in sthālī pacati, where the pot gets the name of agent — their independence in their own activity is meant, so nothing bars manin in the agent sense: hve + man; the Vedic augment ī: hve + īman; "bahulaṃ chandasi"

Page 490 — Rik 2 grammar closes

(Pā. 6-1-34) gives samprasāraṇa, u for the e-ending root's v, pūrvarūpa, guṇa, av: havīman; instrumental plural bhis; by "svādiṣv asarvanāmasthāne" (Pā. 1-4-17) [pada status], loss of n, ru and visarga: havīmabhiḥ; initial-udātta by the nit accent. सदा (sadā) — "sarvaikānya-kiṃ-yat-tadaḥ kāle dā" (Pā. 5-3-15): after sarva, eka, anya, kim, yad, tad in the locative sense of time, dā in its own sense: sarva + dā; "sarvasya so 'nyatarasyāṃ di" (Pā. 5-3-6): before a d-initial suffix of the prāgdiśīya group, sa optionally replaces sarva: sadā; "sarvasmin kāle"; properly the suffix accent would make sadā final-udātta, but by exception it is initial-udātta. हवन्त (havanta) — root hveñ; laṭ, jha; ant for jh by "jho 'ntaḥ" (Pā. 7-1-3); the e that "ṭita ātmanepadānāṃ ṭere" (printed "3-4-79" [?]) would give is absent as a Vedic form; śap: hve + a + anta; "bahulaṃ chandasi" (Pā. 6-1-34) gives samprasāraṇa, then pūrvarūpa, guṇa, av: havanta; unaccented by "tiṅṅ atiṅaḥ" (Pā. 8-1-28). विश्पतिम् (viśpatim) — "patyāv aiśvarye" (Pā. 6-2-18) would give the first member's accent; setting it aside, "parādiś chandasi bahulam" (printed "pā. sada." [sic] 6-2-199) makes the second member pati initial-udātta. हव्यवाहम् (havyavāham) — "havyaṃ vahati iti havyavāhaḥ, tam"; root vaha prāpaṇe; "vahaś ca" (Pā. 3-2-64): in the Veda, with a subanta as upapada, ṇvi after vah: havya + am + vah + ṇvi; properly the non-surface analysis should be shown as havya + as vah + ṇvi; as a kṛdanta it is a prātipadika, the sup dropped; ṇvi lost part by part; vṛddhi of the penultimate: havyavāha, with the accent of the kṛt second member; accusative singular am: havyavāham. पुरुप्रियम् (purupriyam) — "purūṇāṃ priyas tam": a genitive tatpuruṣa; final-udātta by "samāsasya" (Pā. 6-1-223).

॥२॥

---

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

अग्ने॑ दे॒वाँ इ॒हा व॑ह जज्ञा॒नो वृ॒क्तब॑र्हिषे । अ॒सि॒ होता॑ न॒ ईड्य॒: ॥३॥

ágne devā̃m̐ ihā́ vaha jajñānó vṛktábarhiṣe | asi hótā na īḍyaḥ ||3||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

अग्ने । देवान् । इह । आ । वह । जज्ञानः । वृक्तऽबर्हिषे ॥ असि । होता । नः । ईड्यः ॥३॥

agne | devān | iha | ā | vaha | jajñānaḥ | vṛkta-barhiṣe || asi | hotā | naḥ | īḍyaḥ ||3||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे अग्ने जज्ञानो ऽरण्योरुत्पन्नस्त्वं वृक्तबर्हिष आस्तरणार्थं छिन्नेन बर्हिषा युक्ताय तं यजमानमनुग्रहीतुमिह कर्मणि हविर्भुजो देवाना वह । सो ऽस्मदर्थं होता देवानामाह्वाता त्वमीड्यः स्तुत्यो ऽसि ॥ देवानित्यत्र संहितायां दीर्घादटि समानपाद इति रुत्वम् । आतो ऽटि नित्यमित्यनुनासिकभावः । जज्ञानः । जनी प्रादुर्भावे । लिटः कानच् । गमहनेत्युपधालोपः । द्विर्वचने ऽचि । पा. १-१-५९ । इति तस्य स्थानिवद्भावाद्द्विर्वचनम् । चित्त्वादन्तोदात्तः । वृक्तबर्हिषे । ओव्रश्चू छेदने । निष्ठेति क्तप्रत्ययः । यस्य विभाषेतीट्प्रतिषेधः । वृक्तं बर्हिर्यस्मै यजमानाय येन वा ऋत्विजा । बहुव्रीहौ पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरः । असि । अस्तेः सिप् । अदिप्रभृतिभ्यः शप इति शपो लुक् । तासस्त्योर्लोपः । पा. ७-४-५० । इति सकारस्य लोपः । पादादित्वान्न निघातः । होता । ह्वयतेस्तात्छील्यादिषु तृन् । बहुलं छन्दसीति संप्रसारणम् । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । ईड्यः । ईड स्तुतौ । ऋहलोर्ण्यत् । पा. ३-१-१२४ । तित्स्वरिते प्राप्त ईडवन्दवृशंसदुहां ण्यतः । पा. ६-१-२१४ । इत्याद्युदात्तत्वम् ॥

he agne jajñāno 'raṇyorutpannastvaṃ vṛktabarhiṣa āstaraṇārthaṃ chinnena barhiṣā yuktāya taṃ yajamānamanugrahītumiha karmaṇi havirbhujo devānā vaha | so 'smadarthaṃ hotā devānāmāhvātā tvamīḍyaḥ stutyo 'si || devānityatra saṃhitāyāṃ dīrghādaṭi samānapāda iti rutvam | āto 'ṭi nityamityanunāsikabhāvaḥ | jajñānaḥ | janī prādurbhāve | liṭaḥ kānac | gamahanetyupadhālopaḥ | dvirvacane 'ci | pā. 1-1-59 | iti tasya sthānivadbhāvāddvirvacanam | cittvādantodāttaḥ | vṛktabarhiṣe | ovraścū chedane | niṣṭheti ktapratyayaḥ | yasya vibhāṣetīṭpratiṣedhaḥ

| vṛktaṃ barhiryasmai yajamānāya yena vā ṛtvijā | bahuvrīhau pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaraḥ | asi | asteḥ sip | adiprabhṛtibhyaḥ śapa iti śapo luk | tāsastyorlopaḥ | pā. 7-4-50 | iti sakārasya lopaḥ | pādāditvānna nighātaḥ | hotā | hvayatestācchīlyādiṣu tṛn | bahulaṃ chandasīti saṃprasāraṇam | nittvādādyudāttaḥ | īḍyaḥ | īḍa stutau | ṛhalorṇyat | pā. 3-1-124 | titsvarite prāpta īḍavandavṛśaṃsaduhāṃ ṇyataḥ | pā. 6-1-214 | ityādyudāttatvam ||

Translation: "O Agni! Jajñānaḥ — born of the two araṇis — you, vṛktabarhiṣe, for [the sacrificer] who is equipped with barhis cut for strewing, in order to favour that sacrificer, bring here, to this rite, the gods who eat the oblation. You, hotā, the caller of the gods on our behalf, are īḍyaḥ — worthy of praise." (Grammatical tail: devān — in the Saṃhitā ru by "dīrghād aṭi samānapāde", and nasalization by "āto 'ṭi nityam"; jajñānaḥ — janī prādurbhāve, kānac for liṭ, loss of the penultimate by "gama-hana…", doubling because by "dvirvacane 'ci" (Pā. 1-1-59) the lost vowel counts as present, final-udātta as cit; vṛktabarhiṣe — ovraścū chedane with kta, iṭ barred by "yasya vibhāṣā"; "for whom or by whom the barhis has been cut", a bahuvrīhi with the first member's accent; asi — sip after as, śap dropped, the s of the root dropped by "tāsastyor lopaḥ" (Pā. 7-4-50), not unaccented because it begins the pāda; hotā — tṛn after hve, samprasāraṇa, initial-udātta; īḍyaḥ — īḍa stutau, ṇyat by "ṛhalor ṇyat" (Pā. 3-1-124), where the tit svarita would arise "īḍa-vanda-vṛ-śaṃsa-duhāṃ ṇyataḥ" (Pā. 6-1-214) gives initial-udātta.)

Page 491 (lower) — Rik 3: word-meanings, overall sense, English, Special Topics

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

(हे) अग्ने ((he) agne) — O Agni | जज्ञानः (jajñānaḥ) — [you] born in the araṇi | वृक्तबर्हिषे (vṛktabarhiṣe) — for the sacrificer who has spread the cut sacred grass as seats [for the gods] | इह (iha) — in this rite (sacrifice) | देवान् (devān) — the gods | आ वह (ā vaha) — bring | नः (naḥ) — for us | होता (hotā) — [you] who bring the gods | ईड्यः (īḍyaḥ) — worthy of praise | असि (asi) — you are.

Page 492 — Rik 3: overall sense, English, Special Topics, grammar

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Agni! You are born (in the araṇi). Such as you are, to favour the sacrificer who has spread and made ready the cut darbha for the gods to come and sit on, bring the gods here. For, since you bring the gods, you are worthy of being praised by all of us.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> Agni, when born, bring hither the gods for him who has prepared their seats with the clipped sacred grass; you are their invoker for us and are to be adored.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

"Jajñānaḥ" — born, arisen: born [the source's English]. "Born Agni" means: in sacrifices people produce fire by rubbing together two pieces of wood called araṇi; hence the usage that Agni is born in the araṇi.

“Vṛktabarhiṣe” — this word has been explained earlier. Barhis is cut darbha. The sense is “for the sacrificer who has spread and made ready such darbha for the gods to come and sit on.”

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 492–494, noted briefly; numbers checked against the print)

देवान् (devān) — in the Saṃhitā an i follows, so “dīrghād aṭi samānapāde” (Pā. 8-3-9): when the n and the aṭ letter are in the same pāda, the n after a long vowel is replaced by ru: devār i; “āto ’ṭi nityam” (printed “8-3-3”): before an aṭ letter, the long ā before the ru is always nasalized; then “bho-bhago-agho-apūrvasya yo ’śi” (Pā. 8-3-17) gives y for the r, and “lopaḥ śākalyasya” (Pā. 8-3-19) drops the y: devāṁ̐ iha. जज्ञानः (jajñānaḥ) — root janī prādurbhāve; liṭ, replaced by kānac by “liṭaḥ kānaj vā” (Pā. 3-2-106); “gama-hana-jana-khana-ghasāṃ lopaḥ kṅity anaṅi”

Page 493 — Rik 3 grammar (continued)

(Pā. 6-4-98): before a vowel-initial kit or ṅit suffix other than aṅ, the penultimate of gam etc. is dropped, so the a after j is dropped: jn + āna; “dvirvacane ’ci” (Pā. 1-1-59): when a vowel that causes doubling follows, a substitute for a vowel counts as that vowel for doubling, so the dropped a counts as present and “liṭi dhātor anabhyāsasya” (Pā. 6-1-8) gives doubling: jan jn āna; “halādiḥ śeṣaḥ” (Pā. 7-4-60) removes the n of the reduplicate; by ścutva the dental nasal n becomes the palatal nasal ñ: jajñāna; the suffix being cit, final-udātta. वृक्तबर्हिषे (vṛktabarhiṣe) — root ovraścū chedane, ūdit; “svarati-sūti-sūyati-dhūñ-ūdito vā” (Pā. 7-2-44): after svṛ etc. and ūdit roots the iṭ augment before a val-initial ārdhadhātuka is optional; so after kta by “niṣṭhā” (Pā. 3-2-102), “yasya vibhāṣā” (Pā. 7-2-15) bars iṭ: vraśc + ta; “oditaś ca” (Pā. 8-2-45): after an o-marked root the t of kta becomes n: vraśc + na; “grahi-jyā-vayi-vyadhi-vaṣṭi-vicati-vṛścati-pṛcchati-bhṛjjatīnāṃ ṅiti ca” (Pā. 6-1-16) gives samprasāraṇa, ṛ for the r, and pūrvarūpa: vṛśc + na; “skoḥ saṃyogādyor ante ca” (Pā. 8-2-29): the s or k at the start of a cluster at the end of a pada or before a jhal is dropped — so the s is dropped. In doing this, the n of the niṣṭhā substitute given by “oditaś ca” (8-2-45) is asiddha by “pūrvatrāsiddham”, so the cluster counts as standing before a jhal. By the verse “nakārajāv anusvāra-pañcamau jhali dhātuṣu | sakārajaḥ śakāraś ce ṣāṭ ṭavargas tavargajaḥ” — in roots, an anusvāra or fifth-of-class before a jhal comes from n; ś before c comes from s; and ṣ with a ṭ-class letter comes from the t-class — the ś before c in vraśc is known to come from s: vras + c, with ścutva by “stoḥ ścunā ścuḥ” (Pā. 8-4-40). When the cluster-initial loss is made, that ś from ścutva is asiddha by “pūrvatrāsiddham”, so the cluster-initial s is found [and dropped]. With the cluster-initial loss, vṛc + na; “coḥ kuḥ” (Pā.

Page 494 — Rik 3 grammar closes

8-2-30): before a jhal or at the end of a pada a palatal becomes a velar, so c → k; here too, in making the velar, the n is asiddha by “pūrvatrāsiddham”. One may ask why, the n being asiddha, “vraśca-bhrasja-sṛja-mṛja-yaja-rāja-bhrāja-cchaśāṃ ṣaḥ” (Pā. 8-2-36) does not make the c of vraśc ṣ; but by “niṣṭhādeśaḥ ṣatva-svara-pratyaya-iḍvidhiṣu siddho vācyaḥ” (printed “8-2-6 vā. 6”) the niṣṭhā substitute counts as effective for rules of ṣatva and the like, so the n is not asiddha and no ṣ arises. This is made clear in the Mādhavīya Dhātuvṛtti and in the Siddhāntakaumudī. Since nṛnamana is read in the kṣubhnādi group to bar that ṇatva, the ṛ gives ṇatva by “aṭ-kupv-āṅ-num-vyavāye ’pi” (Pā. 8-4-2); so by the sūtra mentioned the n would become ṇ, and the form should be vṛkṇaḥ. Here it must be said that, by Vedic procedure, neither the niṣṭhā-natva given by "oditaś ca" nor the ṣatva given by "vraśca-bhrasja…" (Pā. 8-2-36) applies. So vṛc + ta, and with the velar the form vṛkta is obtained. Vṛkta is final-udātta by the suffix accent. As a bahuvrīhi, "vṛktaṃ barhiḥ yasmai yajamānāya" or "vṛktaṃ barhiḥ yena ṛtvijā", it takes the first member's accent by "bahuvrīhau prakṛtyā pūrvapadam" (Pā. 6-2-1). असि (asi) — root asa bhuvi; laṭ → sip; the śap dropped by "adiprabhṛtibhyaḥ śapaḥ" (2-4-72); "tāsastyor lopaḥ" (Pā. 7-4-50): before an s-initial suffix the final s of tās and as is dropped: asi; standing at the beginning of the pāda, it is not unaccented. होता (hotā) — root hveñ spardhāyāṃ śabde ca; tṛn by "tṛn" (Pā. 3-2-135) in the senses of habit etc.; samprasāraṇa by "bahulaṃ chandasi" (Pā. 6-1-34), pūrvarūpa by "samprasāraṇāc ca", guṇa; nominative singular hotā; initial-udātta by the nit accent. ईड्यः (īḍyaḥ) — root īḍa stutau; "ṛhalor ṇyat" (Pā. 3-1-124): after roots ending in ṛ or a consonant, ṇyat; the svarita that "tit svaritam" (Pā. 6-1-185) would give is set aside by "īḍa-vanda-vṛ-śaṃsa-duhāṃ ṇyataḥ" (Pā. 6-1-214), which gives initial-udātta.

॥३॥

Page 495 — Sūkta 12, Rik 4

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. No svarita is printed on the final syllables of दूत्यम् and बर्हिषि.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

ताँ उ॑शतो वि बो॑धय॒ यद॑ग्ने॒ यासि॑ दू॒त्यम् । दे॒वैरा स॑त्सि ब॒र्हिषि ॥४॥

tā́m̐ uśató ví bodhaya yád agne yā́si dūtyàm | devaír ā́ satsi barhíṣi ||4||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

तान् । उशतः । वि । बोधय । यत् । अग्ने । यासि । दूत्यम् ॥ देवैः । आ । सत्सि । बर्हिषि ॥४॥

tān | uśataḥ | vi | bodhaya | yat | agne | yāsi | dūtyam || devaiḥ | ā | satsi | barhiṣi || 4||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे अग्ने यद्यस्मात्कारणाद्दूत्यं यासि देवानां दूतकर्म प्राप्नोषि तस्मात्कारणादुशतो हविः कामयमानांस्तान्देवान् हविःस्वीकारार्थं वि बोधय । विबोध्य च बर्हिष्यस्मिन्कर्मणि तैर्देवैः सह आ सत्सि । आसीद । आगत्योपविश ॥ तान् । दीर्घादटि समानपाद इति संहितायां रुत्वम् । आतो ऽटि नित्यमित्यनुनासिकभावः । उशतः । वश कान्तौ । लटः शतृ । अदिप्रभृतिभ्यः शप इति शपो लुक् । ग्रहिज्येत्यादिना संप्रसारणम् । शतुरनुमो नद्यजादी इति विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वम् । यासि । यद्वृत्तान्नित्यमिति निघातप्रतिषेधः । दूत्यम् । दूतस्य भागः कर्म वा दूत्यम् । दूतस्य भागकर्मणी । पा. ४-४-१२० । इति यत् । तस्य तित्स्वरितापवादत्वेन यतो ऽनाव इति प्राप्तमाद्युदात्तत्वं सर्वे विधयश्छन्दसि विकल्प्यन्त इति निवर्तते । अतस्तित्स्वरितमित्येव भवति । शेषनिघातः । सत्सि । सीदसि । षद्लृ विशरणगत्यवसादनेषु । लटः सिपि शपो बहुलं छन्दसीति लुक् । न लुमताङ्गस्येति

प्रत्ययलक्षणप्रतिषेधात् पाघ्रेत्यादिना । पा. ७-३-७८ । सीदादेशो न भवति । बर्हिषि । बृह बृहि वृद्धौ । बृंहेर्नलोपश्च । उ. २-११० । इतीसिप्रत्ययः । प्रत्ययस्वरेणेकार उदात्तः ॥

he agne yadyasmātkāraṇāddūtyaṃ yāsi devānāṃ dūtakarma prāpnoṣi tasmātkāraṇāduśato haviḥ kāmayamānāṃstāndevān haviḥsvīkārārthaṃ vi bodhaya | vibodhya ca barhiṣyasminkarmaṇi tairdevaiḥ saha ā satsi | āsīda | āgatyopaviśa || tān | dīrghādaṭi samānapāda iti saṃhitāyāṃ rutvam | āto 'ṭi nityamityanunāsikabhāvaḥ | uśataḥ | vaśa kāntau | laṭaḥ śatṛ | adiprabhṛtibhyaḥ śapa iti śapo luk | grahijyetyādinā saṃprasāraṇam | śaturanumo nadyajādī iti vibhakterudāttatvam | yāsi | yadvṛttānnityamiti nighātapratiṣedhaḥ | dūtyam | dūtasya bhāgaḥ karma vā dūtyam | dūtasya bhāgakarmaṇī | pā. 4-4-120 | iti yat | tasya titsvaritāpavādatvena yato 'nāva iti prāptamādyudāttatvaṃ sarve vidhayaśchandasi vikalpyanta iti nivartate | atastitsvaritamityeva bhavati | śeṣanighātaḥ | satsi | sīdasi | ṣadlṛ viśaraṇagatyavasādaneṣu | laṭaḥ sipi śapo bahulaṃ chandasīti luk | na lumatāṅgasyeti pratyayalakṣaṇapratiṣedhāt pāghretyādinā | pā. 7-3-78 | sīdādeśo na bhavati | barhiṣi | bṛha bṛhi vṛddhau | bṛṃhernalopaśca | u. 2-110 | itīsipratyayaḥ | pratyayasvareṇekāra udāttaḥ ||

Translation: "O Agni! Because you yāsi dūtyam — attain the work of messenger of the gods — therefore uśataḥ — those gods who desire the oblation — vi bodhaya: awaken them, so as to make them accept the oblation; and having awakened them, ā satsi — sit down — with those gods on the barhis in this rite; come and be seated." (Grammatical tail: tān — ru in the Saṃhitā by "dīrghād aṭi samānapāde", nasalization by "āto 'ṭi nityam"; uśataḥ — vaśa kāntau, śatṛ, śap dropped, samprasāraṇa by "grahi-jyā…", the case ending udātta by "śatur anumo nady-ajādī"; yāsi — not unaccented, by "yad-vṛttān nityam"; dūtyam — "the share or the work of a messenger", yat by "dūtasya bhāga-karmaṇī" (Pā. 4-4-120); the initial accent of "yato 'nāvaḥ", which would set aside the tit svarita, is withdrawn by "sarve vidhayaś chandasi vikalpyante", so "tit svaritam" holds, the rest unaccented; satsi — = sīdasi: ṣadḷ, the śap after sip dropped by "bahulaṃ chandasi", and since "na lumatāṅgasya" bars pratyaya-lakṣaṇa, the sīd of "pā-ghrā…" (Pā. 7-3-78) does not come; barhiṣi — bṛha bṛhi vṛddhau, isi by "bṛṃher nalopaś ca" (Uṇ. 2-110), the i udātta by the suffix accent.)

Page 495 (lower) — Rik 4: word-meanings

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

(हे) अग्ने ((he) agne) — O Agni | यत् (yat) — for which reason | दूत्यम् (dūtyam) — the state of being a messenger of the gods | यासि (yāsi) — you have attained | (for that reason) उशतः (uśataḥ) — [the gods] who desire the oblation | तान् (tān) — those gods | वि बोधय (vi bodhaya) — awaken (urge) | (then) देवैः (devaiḥ) — together with the gods | बर्हिषि (barhiṣi) — on the darbha grass spread out for seats | आ सत्सि (ā satsi) — sit down.

Page 496 — Rik 4: overall sense, English, Special Topics, grammar

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Agni! You are the gods' messenger. Therefore rouse those gods who desire the oblation (in the sacrifices), bring them here, and sit with them on the cut darbha made ready for seats.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> O Agni, as you go as messenger of Gods, awaken them desirous of oblations; sit down with them on the sacred grass.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

“Barhiṣi” — “for seats”: it is the custom to spread darbha cut with its tips so that the gods may sit. Vessels of ghee and the oblations, too, are placed on such spread darbha; this is held to be best and the custom.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 496–497, noted briefly; numbers checked against the print) yat is t-marked, so by “tit svaritam” (Pā. 6-1-185) the svarita would come; setting it aside, “yato ’nāvaḥ” (printed “6-1-213”) would give initial-udātta; that is optional by the paribhāṣā “sarve vidhayaś chandasi vikalpyante” (printed “Paribhā. 35” [?]), so it does not apply, and the svarita stands; the remaining dū is unaccented by “anudāttaṃ padam ekavarjam” (Pā. 6-1-158). सत्सि (satsi) — meaning sīdasi; root ṣadḷ viśaraṇa-gaty-avasādaneṣu; laṭ → second singular sip: sad + si; the śap dropped by “bahulaṃ chandasi” (Pā. 2-4-73); “na lumatāṅgasya” (Pā. 1-1-63) bars pratyaya-lakṣaṇa, so the sīda of “pā-ghrā-dhmā…” (Pā. 7-3-78) does not come; car by “khari ca” (Pā. 8-4-55); wholly unaccented. बर्हिषि (barhiṣi) — root bṛha bṛhi vṛddhau; “bṛṃher nalopaś ca” (Uṇ. “2-266” [?]; the bhāṣya gives 2-110): after bṛṃh the suffix isi, with loss of the n; the n is that of the num augment, bṛhi being idit, by “idito num dhātoḥ” (printed “7-1-58”); bṛh + is: laghūpadha-guṇa with r: barhis; the i udātta by the suffix accent; locative singular barhiṣi.

तान् (tān) — by “dīrghād aṭi samānapāde” (Pā. 8-3-9) the n becomes ru in the Saṃhitā; by “āto ’ṭi nityam” (printed “8-3-3”) the long ā is nasalized; y by “bho-bhago…” (Pā. 8-3-17), and the y dropped by “lopaḥ śākalyasya” (Pā. 8-3-19): tāṁ̐ uśataḥ. उशतः (uśataḥ) — root vaśa kāntau; laṭ → śatṛ by “laṭaḥ śatṛ…” (Pā. 3-2-124); the śap dropped by “adiprabhṛtibhyaḥ śapaḥ” (Pā. 2-4-72); “grahi-jyā-vayi-vyadhi-vaṣṭi…” (Pā. 6-1-16) gives samprasāraṇa, u for the v, pūrvarūpa by “samprasāraṇāc ca”: uśat, accusative plural; the case ending udātta by “śatur anumo nady-ajādī” (Pā. 6-1-173). यासि (yāsi) — root yā prāpaṇe; laṭ, second singular; “yad-vṛttān nityam” (Pā. 8-1-66): a tiṅanta after a word containing yad is not unaccented, so “tiṅṅ atiṅaḥ” does not apply. दूत्यम् (dūtyam) — “dūtasya bhāvaḥ [sic] karma vā”; bhāga means a share, karma an act; in the sense of share it is masculine, in the sense of act neuter, accusative singular. “dūtasya bhāga-karmaṇī” (Pā. 4-4-120): after the genitive of dūta, yat in the senses of share and act;

Page 497 — Rik 4 grammar closes

॥४॥

---

Page 497 (lower) — Sūkta 12, Rik 5

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. Line 2: a stroke is printed over र of रक्षस्विनः as well as over स्वि, with a bar under क्ष — [accent ?].)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

घृताऽहवन दीदि॒विः प्रति॑ ष्म॒ रिष॑तो दह । अग्ने॒ त्वं र॑क्षस्वि॒नः ॥५॥ [accent ?]

ghṛ́tāhavana dīdiváḥ práti ṣma ríṣato daha | agne tváṃ rakṣasvinaḥ ||5|| [accent ?]

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

घृतऽआहवन । दीदिऽवः । प्रति । स्म । रिषतः । दह ॥ अग्ने । त्वम् । रक्षस्विनः ॥५॥

ghṛta-āhavana | dīdi-vaḥ | prati | sma | riṣataḥ | daha || agne | tvam | rakṣasvinaḥ || 5||

Page 498 — Rik 5: Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya, word-meanings

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

(The bhāṣya and its long grammatical tail fill p. 498.)

हे घृताहवन घृतेनाहूयमान दीदिवो दीप्यमानाग्ने त्वं रक्षस्विनो रक्षोयुक्तान्रिषतो हिंसकाञ्छत्रून्प्रत्यस्माकं प्रतिकूलान्दह स्म । सर्वथा भस्मीकुरु ॥ घृतेनाहूयते ऽस्मिन्निति करणाधिकरणयोश्चेत्यधिकरणे ल्युट् । अत्र जुहोतेरविवक्षितकर्मत्वेनाकर्मकत्वाद्धृतस्य करणत्वमेव न तु कर्मत्वम् । अतो नैषा तृतीया च होश्छन्दसि । पा. २-३-३ । इति कर्मणि तृतीया । किंतु कर्तृकरणयोस्तृतीया । पा. २-३-१८ । इति करणवाचिन्येव । अतः कर्तृकरणे कृता बहुलम् । पा. २-१-३२ । इति समासः । तत्र पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरापवादे कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरे प्राप्ते प्रातिपदिकावस्थायामेव कृते सति पश्चाद्विभक्त्युत्पन्नायामामन्त्रितस्य चेत्याद्युदात्तत्वम् । दीदिवः । दीव्यतेर्लिटः क्वसुः । तस्य वस्वेकाजाद्धसामिति नियमादिडभावः । द्विर्वचनम् । हलादिः शेषः । उत्तरवकारस्य लोपो व्योर्वलीति लोपः । क्वसुः कित्त्वाद्गुणाभावः । तुजादीनां दीर्घो ऽभ्यासस्य । पा. ६-१-७ । इति दीर्घत्वमभ्यासस्य । संबुद्धावुगिदचामिति नुम् । संयोगान्तस्य लोपः । पा. ८-२-२३ । इति सकारलोपे नकारस्य मतुवसो रु संबुद्धौ छन्दसीति रुत्वम् । विसर्गः । पदात्परत्वादामन्त्रितनिघातः । ननु पूर्वामन्त्रितस्याविद्यमानवत्त्वात्तत्पादादित्वेन न निघातोपपत्तिः । न च नामन्त्रिते समानाधिकरणे सामान्यवचनम् । पा. ८-१-७३ । इत्यविद्यमानवत्त्वप्रतिषेधः । उभयोरग्निपदविशेषणत्वेन विशेषवचनत्वात् । अत एव परस्परमनन्वयेनासामर्थ्यात्समर्थः पदविधिः । पा. २-१-१ । इति च नियमात्पूर्वस्य न पराङ्गवद्भावो येनैकपद्येन निघातः स्यात् । अत एवेडे रन्ते ऽदिते सरस्वतीत्यादौ । तै. सं. ७-१-६-८ । पृथक्पृथगाद्युदात्तत्वमिति । उच्यते । अत्र दीदिव इति नाग्निपदस्य विशेषणं किंतु घृताहवनपदस्यैव द्योतनार्थम् । घृताहवन इति विशेष्यत्वेन विवक्षितत्वात् । विशिष्टस्य तु पश्चादग्निविशेषणता । तत्र दीदिवः पदं प्रति घृताहवनपदस्य विशेष्यत्वान्नामन्त्रिते समानाधिकरण इत्यविद्यमानवत्त्वप्रतिषेधान्निघातोपपत्तिः । अत एव परस्परविशेषणविशेष्यभावेन सामर्थ्यात्सुबामन्त्रित इति पराङ्गवद्भावे शेषनिघातेनापि स्वरोपपत्तिरिति । इडे रन्त इत्यादौ तु नैवं परस्परान्वय इति वैषम्यम् । रिषतः । रुष रिष हिंसार्था इति भौवादिकस्य लटः शत्रादेशे शपि छान्दसो गुणाभावः । तौदादिकस्य वा रुश रिश हिंसायामित्यस्य छान्दसं षत्वम् । विकरणस्य शस्य ङित्त्वाद्गुणाभावः । रक्षस्विनः । रक्षःशब्दादस्मायामेधास्रजो विनिः । पा. ५-२-१२१ । इति मत्वर्थीयो विनिः । तस्य प्रत्ययाद्युदात्तत्वम् ॥

he ghṛtāhavana ghṛtenāhūyamāna dīdivo dīpyamānāgne tvaṃ rakṣasvino rakṣoyuktānriṣato hiṃsakāñchatrūnpratyasmākaṃ pratikūlāndaha sma | sarvathā

bhasmīkuru || ghṛtenāhūyate 'sminniti karaṇādhikaraṇayoścetyadhikaraṇe lyuṭ | atra juhoteravivakṣitakarmatvenākarmakatvādghṛtasya karaṇatvameva na tu karmatvam | ato naiṣā tṛtīyā ca hośchandasi | pā. 2-3-3 | iti karmaṇi tṛtīyā | kiṃtu kartṛkaraṇayostṛtīyā | pā. 2-3-18 | iti karaṇavācinyeva | ataḥ kartṛkaraṇe kṛtā bahulam | pā. 2-1-32 | iti samāsaḥ | tatra pūrvapadaprakṛtisvarāpavāde kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvare prāpte prātipadikāvasthāyāmeva kṛte sati paścādvibhaktyutpannāyāmāmantritasya cetyādyudāttatvam | dīdivaḥ | dīvyaterliṭaḥ kvasuḥ | tasya vasvekājādghasāmiti niyamādiḍabhāvaḥ | dvirvacanam | halādiḥ śeṣaḥ | uttaravakārasya lopo vyorvalīti lopaḥ | kvasuḥ kittvādguṇābhāvaḥ | tujādīnāṃ dīrgho 'bhyāsasya | pā. 6-1-7 | iti dīrghatvamabhyāsasya | saṃbuddhāvugidacāmiti num | saṃyogāntasya lopaḥ | pā. 8-2-23 | iti sakāralope nakārasya matuvaso ru saṃbuddhau chandasīti rutvam | visargaḥ | padātparatvādāmantritanighātaḥ | nanu pūrvāmantritasyāvidyamānavattvāttatpādāditvena na nighātopapattiḥ | na ca nāmantrite samānādhikaraṇe sāmānyavacanam | pā. 8-1-73 | ityavidyamānavattvapratiṣedhaḥ | ubhayoragnipadaviśeṣaṇatvena viśeṣavacanatvāt | ata eva parasparamananvayenāsāmarthyātsamarthaḥ padavidhiḥ | pā. 2-1-1 | iti ca niyamātpūrvasya na parāṅgavadbhāvo yenaikapadyena nighātaḥ syāt | ata eveḍe rante 'dite sarasvatītyādau | tai. saṃ. 7-1-6-8 | pṛthakpṛthagādyudāttatvamiti | ucyate | atra dīdiva iti nāgnipadasya viśeṣaṇaṃ kiṃtu ghṛtāhavanapadasyaiva dyotanārtham | ghṛtāhavana iti viśeṣyatvena vivakṣitatvāt | viśiṣṭasya tu paścādagniviśeṣaṇatā | tatra dīdivaḥ padaṃ prati ghṛtāhavanapadasya viśeṣyatvānnāmantrite samānādhikaraṇa ityavidyamānavattvapratiṣedhānnighātopapattiḥ | ata eva parasparaviśeṣaṇaviśeṣyabhāvena sāmarthyātsubāmantrita iti parāṅgavadbhāve śeṣanighātenāpi svaropapattiriti | iḍe ranta ityādau tu naivaṃ parasparānvaya iti vaiṣamyam | riṣataḥ | ruṣa riṣa hiṃsārthā iti bhauvādikasya laṭaḥ śatrādeśe śapi chāndaso guṇābhāvaḥ | taudādikasya vā ruśa riśa hiṃsāyāmityasya chāndasaṃ ṣatvam | vikaraṇasya śasya ṅittvādguṇābhāvaḥ | rakṣasvinaḥ | rakṣaḥśabdādasmāyāmedhāsrajo viniḥ | pā. 5-2-121 | iti matvarthīyo viniḥ | tasya pratyayādyudāttatvam ||

Translation: "O ghṛtāhavana — O Agni, called with ghee; dīdivaḥ — blazing! You, prati daha sma: burn on every side — turn into ashes completely — the enemies who are rakṣasvinaḥ, accompanied by rākṣasas, riṣataḥ, injurious, hostile to us." (Grammatical tail: ghṛtāhavana — "in whom one is called with ghee": lyuṭ in the locative sense by "karaṇādhikaraṇayoś ca"; since juhoti is here intransitive, its object not being meant, the ghee is an instrument, not an object, so not the object-sense third case of "tṛtīyā ca hoś chandasi" (Pā. 2-3-3) but the instrumental of "kartṛ-karaṇayos tṛtīyā" (Pā. 2-3-18); compound by "kartṛ-karaṇe kṛtā bahulam" (Pā. 2-1-32); the kṛt second-member accent, which sets aside the first-member accent, is made at the stem stage, and after the ending the vocative is initial-udātta by "āmantritasya ca"; dīdivaḥ — kvasu for liṭ of div, no iṭ by the restriction "vasv-ekāj-ād-ghasām", doubling, "halādiḥ śeṣaḥ", the second v dropped by "lopo vyor vali", no guṇa as kit, the reduplicate lengthened by "tujādīnāṃ dīrgho 'bhyāsasya" (Pā. 6-1-7), num in the vocative, the s dropped (Pā. 8-2-23), ru for the n by "matuvaso ru saṃbuddhau chandasi", visarga; unaccented as a vocative after a word. Objection: the first vocative being treated as absent, dīdivaḥ would begin the pāda and could not be unaccented; and the bar "nāmantrite samānādhikaraṇe sāmānyavacanam" (Pā. 8-1-73) does not apply, since both are specific qualifiers of agni; for the same reason, lacking mutual connection, "samarthaḥ padavidhiḥ" (Pā. 2-1-1) prevents the first from being treated as part of the next, as in "iḍe rante 'dite sarasvati" (T.S. 7-1-6-8), where each is initial-udātta. Answer: here dīdiva qualifies not agni but ghṛtāhavana, which is meant as the qualified term, and the whole then qualifies agni; so the bar of 8-1-73 applies and the loss of accent is in order, and by the qualifier-qualified relation "subāmantrite…" also works; in iḍe rante there is no such mutual connection — hence the difference. riṣataḥ — śatṛ after ruṣa riṣa hiṃsārthāḥ (bhvādi), the absence of guṇa with śap Vedic; or from ruśa riśa hiṃsāyām (tudādi) with Vedic ṣ, no guṇa because śa is ṅit; rakṣasvinaḥ — vini by "as-māyā-medhā-srajo viniḥ" (Pā. 5-2-121), initial-udātta of the suffix.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

घृताहवन (ghṛtāhavana) — [you] called by offering ghee | दीदिवः (dīdivaḥ) — shining | (हे) अग्ने ((he) agne) — O Agni | त्वम् (tvam) — you | रक्षस्विनः (rakṣasvinaḥ) — accompanied by rākṣasas | रिषतः (riṣataḥ) — who do harm | प्रति (prati) — to us | विरोधिनः (virodhinaḥ) — the enemies | दह स्म (daha sma) — burn them to ashes.

Page 499 — Rik 5: overall sense, English, Special Topics, grammar begins

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Agni! When we call you, we make offerings with ghee. Therefore you shine blazing. As such, burn to ashes those enemies of ours who are accompanied by rākṣasas and who do us harm.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> Resplendent Agni, invoked by oblations of clarified butter burn down our adversaries defended by evil spirits (Rakshas).

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

"Ghṛtāhavana," "dīdivaḥ" — to call Agni by pouring ghee into him is the custom in sacrifices; and since Agni, when ghee is offered, blazes brightly, the word dīdivaḥ is used here.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 499–502, noted briefly; numbers checked against the print)

घृताहवन (ghṛtāhavana) — with the analysis "ghṛtena hūyate asmin", "karaṇādhikaraṇayoś ca" (printed "pā. sū. sū." [sic] 3-3-117): after a root, lyuṭ in the senses of instrument and locus; so lyuṭ after hu dānādanayoḥ; ana by "yuvor anākau" (Pā. 7-1-1), guṇa, av: havana. Although the root is transitive, its object is not meant, so it is intransitive; hence the ghee is an instrument in the action of hu, not an object; not being an object, the third case of "tṛtīyā ca hoś chandasi" (Pā. 2-3-3) — in the Veda the third, and by ca the second, case after the object of the action of hu — does not come; "kartṛ-karaṇayos tṛtīyā" (Pā. 2-3-18) gives the third case in the instrumental sense: ghṛtena. This is compounded with the kṛdanta havana by "kartṛ-karaṇe kṛtā bahulam" (printed "Pā. 2-1-3" at a line end, the last digit not printed; the bhāṣya gives 2-1-32): a third-case subanta in the sense of agent or instrument is compounded with a connected kṛdanta: ghṛtahavana [sic]. Now “tatpuruṣe tulyārtha…” (Pā. 6-2-2) would give the first member’s accent, but setting it aside “gatikārakopapadāt kṛt” (Pā. 6-2-139)

Page 500 — Rik 5 grammar (continued)

gives the accent of the kṛt second member at the stem stage itself. Then, on adding the vocative singular, “eṅ-hrasvāt saṃbuddheḥ” (Pā. 6-1-69) drops the consonant of the vocative ending after a stem ending in eṅ or a short vowel; ghṛtahavana [sic] becomes a vocative, initial-udātta by “āmantritasya ca” (Pā. 6-1-198). दीदिवः (dīdivaḥ) — root divu krīḍā-vijigīṣā-vyavahāra-dyuti-moda-mada-svapna-kānti-gatiṣu; liṭ, replaced by kvasu by “kvasuś ca” (Pā. 3-2-107): div + vas; “vasv-ekāj-ād-ghasām” (Pā. 7-2-67): only after roots that are monosyllabic after doubling, roots in ā, and ghasḷ does vas take iṭ; after other roots it does not, so here none; doubling by “liṭi dhātor anabhyāsasya” (Pā. 6-1-8): div div + vas; “halādiḥ śeṣaḥ” (printed “(Pā. sū.) 7-4-60”) removes the v of the reduplicate; “tujādīnāṃ dīrgho ’bhyāsasya” (Pā. 6-1-7): tujādi is an ākṛtigaṇa, and the reduplicate of its roots is lengthened in the Veda: dīdiv + vas; “lopo vyor vali” (Pā. 6-1-66) drops v or y before a val letter, so the v of the second div: dīdivas; kvasu is kit, so “sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ” (Pā. 7-3-84) gives no guṇa. Then the vocative singular su; “ugid-acāṃ sarvanāmasthāne ’dhātoḥ” (Pā. 7-1-70) gives num before a sarvanāmasthāna to ugit non-root stems and to añc that has lost its n: dīdivans + su; su dropped by “hal-ṅyābbhyaḥ” (Pā. 6-1-68); “saṃyogāntasya lopaḥ” (Pā. 8-2-23) drops the s: dīdivan; “matuvaso ru saṃbuddhau chandasi” (Pā. 8-3-1) gives ru for the final of a matup- or vasu-stem before the vocative in the Veda; visarga by “kharavasānayor visarjanīyaḥ” (Pā. 8-3-15): dīdivaḥ. It stands after the word ghṛtāhavana, so “āmantritasya ca” (Pā. 8-1-19) makes it wholly unaccented. But here ghṛtāhavana and dīdivaḥ are both vocatives, and “āmantritaṃ pūrvam avidyamānavat” (Pā. 8-1-72) treats the earlier vocative as absent; then the second vocative does not stand after a word, so how could the eighth-chapter loss of accent apply? [For] “nāmantrite samānādhikaraṇe sāmānyavacanam” (Pā. 8-1-73) — sāmānyavacana means the word for the qualified —

Page 501 — Rik 5 grammar (continued)

when a vocative in apposition expressing a qualifier follows, the vocative that expresses the qualified is not treated as absent; so the bar would apply, and with the “absent” treatment not arising, the word would follow another word and the eighth-chapter loss of accent would be in order — but this cannot be said, because here both vocatives ghṛtāhavana and dīdivaḥ qualify agne: agne is the general term and both are specific terms, so the bar does not apply. In the same way both vocatives are connected with agne, not with each other; lacking mutual connection, they lack sāmarthya, the capacity of conveying a joint sense. The treatment of a subanta before a vocative as part of the following vocative for accent, given by “subāmantrite parāṅgavat svare” (Pā. 2-1-2), is a rule about words, and by the paribhāṣā “samarthaḥ padavidhiḥ” (Pā. 2-1-1) it applies only where there is sāmarthya; here neither has it, so the parāṅgavat treatment does not arise either, and one cannot say that, treating ghṛtāhavana dīdiva as one word, the sixth-chapter “āmantritasya ca” (Pā. 6-1-198) makes ghṛ udātta and “anudāttaṃ padam ekavarjam” (Pā. 6-1-158) the rest unaccented. Hence, just as in the mantra “iḍe rante ’dite sarasvati” (Tai. Saṃ. 7-1-6-8), where there is no mutual connection, each vocative is initial-udātta by the sixth-chapter sūtra, so here too each should be separately initial-udātta — how then is the eighth-chapter loss of accent justified? So one may object. The answer: here dīdivaḥ is not a qualifier of agne but of ghṛtāhavana; ghṛtāhavana is meant as the qualified term, and then the qualified-plus-qualifier dīdivaḥ ghṛtāhavana becomes a qualifier of agne. With reference to dīdivaḥ, ghṛtāhavana is the qualified, hence the general term; so "nāmantrite samānādhikaraṇe sāmānyavacanam" (Pā. 8-1-73) bars the "absent" treatment, the word follows another word, and the eighth-chapter loss of accent is in order. In this way dīdivaḥ and ghṛtāhavana are mutually connected and have sāmarthya, so "subāmantrite parāṅgavat svare" (Pā. 2-1-2) gives the parāṅgavat treatment too; with it, ghṛtāhavana dīdivaḥ count as one word, so the sixth-chapter "āmantritasya ca" makes ghṛ udātta and "anudāttaṃ padam ekavarjam" (Pā. 6-1-158) the rest unaccented; in this way too dīdivaḥ is wholly unaccented. In "iḍe rante 'dite sarasvati" (Tai. Saṃ. 7-1-6-8) there is no such mutual connection, so the full loss of accent does not arise there, and each vocative by the sixth-chapter sūtra is initial-udātta. Thus between ghṛtāhavana dīdivaḥ and iḍe rante there is the difference of the presence and absence of mutual connection. रिषतः (riṣataḥ) — root ruṣa riṣa hiṃsārthāḥ, in the bhvādi (first) class; laṭ, replaced by śatṛ by "laṭaḥ śatṛ-śānacau…" (Pā. 3-2-124); the vikaraṇa śap by "kartari śap" (Pā. 3-1-68); with it the laghūpadha-guṇa of "puganta-laghūpadhasya ca" (Pā. 7-3-86) would arise, but by Vedic procedure there is no guṇa: riṣ + a + at; pararūpa of the two a's by "ato guṇe" (Pā. 6-1-97): riṣat. Or the root ruśa riśa hiṃsāyām, in the tudādi class: with śatṛ for laṭ, the vikaraṇa śa by "tudādibhyaḥ śaḥ" (Pā. 3-1-77); it is apit, so ṅit by "sārvadhātukam apit" (Pā. 1-2-4), and "kṅiti ca" (Pā. 1-1-5) bars the laghūpadha-guṇa; the ṣ here comes by Vedic procedure; pararūpa: riṣat; either way the accusative plural is riṣataḥ. रक्षस्विनः (rakṣasvinaḥ) — rakṣas ends in as, so "as-māyā-medhā-srajo viniḥ" (Pā. 5-2-121) gives vini in the possessive sense after words in as and after māyā, medhā, sraj: rakṣasvin; accusative plural śas: rakṣasvinaḥ, initial-udātta by the suffix accent.

Page 502 — Rik 5 grammar closes

॥५॥

---

Page 502 — Sūkta 12, Rik 6

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

अ॒ग्निना॒ग्निः समि॑ध्यते क॒विर्गृ॒हप॑ति॒र्युवा॑ । ह॒व्य॒वाड्जु॒ह्वा॑स्यः ॥६॥

agnínāgníḥ sámidhyate kavír gṛhápatir yúvā | havyavāḍ́ juhvāsyaḥ ||6||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

अग्निना । अग्निः । सम् । इध्यते । कविः । गृहऽपतिः । युवा ॥ हव्यऽवाट् । जुहुऽआस्यः ॥६॥

agninā | agniḥ | sam | idhyate | kaviḥ | gṛha-patiḥ | yuvā || havya-vāṭ | juhu-āsyaḥ || 6||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥ (the closing "॥२२॥" is the varga number)

अग्निमन्थने ऽग्निनाग्निः समिध्यत इत्येषानुवचनीया । प्रातर्वैश्वदेव्यां प्रैषित इति खण्डे सूत्रितम् । अग्निनाग्निः समिध्यते त्वं ह्यग्ने अग्निना । आ. २-१६ । इति ॥ एषैवाग्निमत इत्यस्यानुवाक्या । अथाग्नेय्या इति खण्डे ऽग्नावग्निप्रणयन इत्युपक्रम्य सूत्रितम् । यद्वो वयं प्रमिनाम व्रतान्यग्निनाग्निः समिध्यते । आ. ३-१३ । इति ॥

agnimanthane 'gninmāgniḥ samidhyata ityeṣānuvacanīyā | prātarvaiśvadevyāṃ praiṣita iti khaṇḍe sūtritam | agninmāgniḥ samidhyate tvaṃ hyagne agninā | ā. 2-16 | iti || eṣaivāgnimata ityasyānuvākyā | athāgneyyā iti khaṇḍe 'gnāvagnipraṇayana ityupakramya sūtritam | yadvo vayaṃ praminmāma vratānyagninmāgniḥ samidhyate | ā. 3-13 | iti ||

अग्निराहवनीयाख्यस्तस्मिन्नुपक्षिप्यमाणेनाग्निना निर्मथ्येन प्रणीतेन वा सह समिध्यते । सम्यग्दीप्यते । कीदृशो ऽग्निः । कविर्मेधावी गृहपतिर्यजमानगृहस्य पालको युवा नित्यतरुणो हव्यवाट् हविषो वोढा जुह्वास्यो जुहूरूपेण मुखेन युक्तः ॥ गृहपतिः । पत्यावैश्वर्य इति पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् । युवा । यु मिश्रणे । कनिन्युवृषितक्षिराजिधन्विद्युप्रतिदिव इति कनिन् । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । हव्यं वहतीति हव्यवाट् । वहश्चेति ण्विप्रत्ययः । णित्त्वादुपधावृद्धिः । गतिकारकोपपदात्कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् । जुह्वास्यः । हूयते ऽनयेति जुहूः । हुवः श्लुवच्च । उ. २-६० । इति क्विप् । तत्संनियोगाद्दीर्घः । श्लुवद्भावाद्द्विर्भावः । चुत्वजश्त्वे । प्रातिपदिकस्वरेणान्तोदात्तः । जुहूरास्यं यस्येति बहुव्रीहौ पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वेन स एव शिष्यते । शेषनिघातः । यणादेश उदात्तस्वरितयोर्यणः स्वरितो ऽनुदात्तस्य । पा. ८-२-४ । इत्याकारः स्वरितः ॥२२॥

agnirāhavanīyākhyastasminnupakṣipyamāṇenāgninā nirmathyena praṇītena vā saha samidhyate | samyagdīpyate | kīdṛśo 'gniḥ | kavirmedhāvī gṛhapatiryajamānagṛhasya pālako yuvā nityataruṇo havyavāṭ haviṣo voḍhā juhvāsyo juhūrūpeṇa mukhena yuktaḥ || gṛhapatiḥ | patyāvaiśvarya iti pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvam | yuvā | yu miśraṇe | kaninyuvṛṣitakṣirājidhanvidyupratidiva iti kanin | nittvādādyudāttaḥ | havyaṃ vahatīti havyavāṭ | vahaśceti ṇvipratyayaḥ | ṇittvādupadhāvṛddhiḥ | gatikārakopapadātkṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvam | juhvāsyaḥ | hūyate 'nayeti juhūḥ | huvaḥ śluvacca | u. 2-60 | iti kvip | tatsaṃniyogāddīrghaḥ | śluvadbhāvāddvirbhāvaḥ | cutvajaśtve | prātipadikasvareṇāntodāttaḥ | juhūrāsyaṃ yasyeti bahuvrīhau pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvena sa eva śiṣyate | śeṣanighātaḥ | yaṇādeśa udāttasvaritayoryaṇaḥ svarito 'nudāttasya | pā. 8-2-4 | ityākāraḥ svaritaḥ ||22||

Translation: "In the rite of the churning of fire, this [rik] agninā agniḥ samidhyate is the anuvacanīya; in the section 'prātarvaiśvadevyāṃ praiṣite' it is laid down: 'agninā agniḥ samidhyate; tvaṃ hy agne agninā' (Āśv. 2-16); and this very rik is the anuvākyā of the Agnimat [offering]; in the section 'athāgneyyāḥ,' beginning with the agnipraṇayana, it is laid down: 'yad vo vayaṃ praminmāma vratāni; agninā agniḥ samidhyate' (Āśv. 3-13). The fire called Āhavanīya is samidhyate — well kindled — together with the fire, churned or brought forward, that is being put into it. What is the fire like? Kaviḥ — wise; gṛhapatiḥ — the protector of the sacrificer's house; yuvā — ever young; havyavāṭ — the bearer of the oblation; juhvāsyaḥ — having as its mouth the juhū, the sacrificial ladle." (Grammatical tail: gṛhapatiḥ — the first member's accent by "patyāv aiśvarye"; yuvā — yu miśraṇe with kanin, initial-udātta as nit; havyavāṭ — "he carries the oblation", ṇvi by "vahaś ca", vṛddhi of the penultimate as ṇit, the kṛt second-member accent by "gati-kārakopapadāt kṛt"; juhvāsyaḥ — juhū "that with which one offers": kvip by "huvaḥ śluvac ca" (Uṇ. 2-60), the lengthening that goes with it, doubling as if after ślu, c-series and jaś, final-udātta by the stem accent; in the bahuvrīhi "whose mouth is the juhū" that accent alone remains, the rest unaccented; after the yaṇ substitute the ā is svarita by "udātta-svaritayor yaṇaḥ svarito 'nudāttasya" (Pā. 8-2-4).)

Page 503 (lower) — Rik 6: word-meanings, overall sense

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

अग्निः (agniḥ) — the fire called Āhavanīya | अग्निना (agninā) — by the fire churned out of the araṇi | सम् इध्यते (sam idhyate) — is kindled, blazes well | (such a fire) कविः (kaviḥ) — wise, discerning | गृहपतिः (gṛhapatiḥ) — protector of the sacrificer's house | युवा (yuvā) — ever youthful | हव्यवाट् (havyavāṭ) — one who carries the oblation to the gods | जुह्वास्यः (juhvāsyaḥ) — one whose mouth is the juhū [ladle].

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

At the beginning of the sacrifice, they produce fire by churning in the araṇi; with that fire they kindle the other fires, the Gārhapatya and the rest. Such a fire is very wise, a protector of the sacrificer's house, ever youthful, a bearer of the oblation to the gods; the instrument of offering called juhū is his mouth.

Page 504 — Rik 6: English, Special Topics

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> Agni is kindlod [sic] by Agni, the ever young and wise, the gaurdian [sic] of the dwelling (of the Sacrificer) the bearer of offerings, whose mouth is the sacrificial spoon.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

"Agninā, agniḥ" — one fire being kindled from another means: at the start of the sacrifice, with the fire produced by rubbing and churning the piece of wood called araṇi, they kindle the other fires. In the sacrifice the fire must be produced from the araṇi itself, while reciting this rik; fire already produced and kept ready in some other way is not used in the sacrifice.

The order of application of this rik is as follows: at the time of the churning of fire, the rik agninā agniḥ samidhyate is to be recited. This is stated in the Āśvalāyana Śrauta-sūtra, in the section prātarvaiśvadevyāṃ praiṣite, which says that the riks agninā agniḥ samidhyate (Ṛg. Saṃ. 1-12-6) and tvaṃ hy agne agninā are to be recited; and this rik is also used as the puronuvākyā. And the Āśvalāyana Śrauta-sūtra, in the section athāgneyyāḥ, in the sūtra agnāv agnipraṇayane, says that the rik yad vo vayaṃ praminātha (Ṛg. Saṃ. 10-2-4) is to be used as the yājyā mantra, and the rik agninā agniḥ samidhyate (Ṛg. Saṃ. 1-12-6) is the puronuvākyā mantra.

“Kaviḥ” — wise, intelligent, discerning: the wise etc. [the source’s English].

“Gṛhapatiḥ” — yajamāna-gṛhasya pālakaḥ — the protector of the sacrificer’s house: it is the āhitāgni — one who performs sacrifices and has established the sacred fires — who is meant. An āhitāgni is one who has produced fire at the start of his sacrificial life by the rite called agnyādhāna and used it in the sacrifices that follow. The fire thus consecrated must be protected as long as he lives. Therefore, since Agni is always in the sacrificer’s house and is favourable to the sacrifices he performs, the custom of calling Agni gṛhapati may have arisen. The word gṛhapatiḥ is read in the riks Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-12-6; 1-36-5; 1-60-4; 2-1-2; 4-9-4; 6-15-13; 6-48-8; 7-16-5; 8-60-19; 10-122-1; the word gṛhapatim in the riks Ṛ. Saṃ. 4-11-5; 5-8-1; 5-8-2; 6-16-42; 6-53-2; 6-1-1 [?]; 10-118-6; and the word gṛhapate in the rik 6-15-19.

Page 505 — Rik 6: Special Topics (continued) and grammar

“Yuvā” — nityataruṇa: always young. Since Agni is always blazing, kindled by oblations such as ghee and samidh sticks and other sacrificial substances, he is always shining with flames. Because he always shines in the same way, it is customary to call Agni yuvā, young.

“Havyavāṭ” — havyaṃ vahatīti havyavāṭ: because he carries to the gods the oblations offered in the fire, he is havyavāṭ: “he who carries the oblation.”

“Juhvāsyaḥ” — juhū is the wooden vessel shaped like a ladle (sauṭu), of a stated length, used when offering ghee in sacrifices; the method of making this sacrificial instrument, its shape and dimensions, the material and manner of its making, and such things are explained in the Śulba-sūtras. When the juhū is filled with ghee and poured out, the flames of Agni, called his seven tongues, lap it up; so Agni is juhvāsyaḥ: “one whose mouth is the juhū,” or “one who has a juhū-vessel in his mouth,” or “one whose mouth takes the form of the vessel juhū” — it is customary to call him so.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 505–506, noted briefly; numbers checked against the print)

गृहपतिः (gṛhapatiḥ) — “patyāv aiśvarye” (Pā. 6-2-18): in a tatpuruṣa, when pati in the sense of lordship is the second member, the first member keeps its own accent. Gṛha here: “gehe kaḥ” (printed “Pā. sū. 3-1 44” [sic]): when a house is the agent, ka after grah; so with ka after grah, samprasāraṇa by “grahi-jyā-vayi…” (Pā. 6-1-16) gives gṛha. Or the root gṛhū grahaṇe, in the bhvādi class, with ka conditioned by the penultimate ik by “igupadha-jñā-prī-kiraḥ kaḥ” (Pā. 3-1-135), also gives gṛha. Either way gṛha is final-udātta by the suffix accent, and “patyāv aiśvarye” keeps that accent. युवा (yuvā) — root yu miśraṇe; “kanin yu-vṛṣi-takṣi-rāji-dhanvi-dyu-pratidivaḥ” (Uṇ. “1-154”) gives kanin after yu; yuvan initial-udātta by the nit accent; in the nominative singular, loss of su, lengthening of the penultimate and loss of n: yuvā. हव्यवाट् (havyavāṭ) — “havyaṃ vahati iti havyavāṭ”: with havya as upapada, after the root vah “vahaś ca” (printed “Pā. sū. 4-2-64” [sic]; the bhāṣya says vahaś ca, Pā. 3-2-64) gives ṇvi in the Veda when a subanta is the upapada; some hold that this ṇvi is used in the classical language too, as the Śekharakāra states; the suffix being ṇit, "ata upadhāyāḥ" (printed "71-116" [sic]) gives vṛddhi of the penultimate; all the letters of ṇvi are lost: havyavāh; vāh is final-udātta by the root accent; even after compounding, "gati-kārakopapadāt kṛt" (Pā. 6-2-139) keeps that accent as that of the kṛt second member. Then the nominative singular su is dropped by "hal-ṅyābbhyaḥ" (Pā. 6-1-68); "ho ḍhaḥ" (Pā. 8-2-31) gives ḍh for an h before a jhal or at the end of a pada: havyavāḍh; jaśtva by "jhalāṃ jaśo 'nte" (Pā. 8-2-39), ḍ; car by "vāvasāne" (Pā. 8-4-56): havyavāṭ. जुह्वास्यः (juhvāsyaḥ) — "hūyate 'nena iti juhūḥ": "huvaḥ śluvac ca" (Uṇ. "2-215" [?]; the bhāṣya gives 2-60): after hu dānādanayoḥ, kvip, the lengthening of the root and ślu-like treatment of the suffix: hu + kvip, the lengthening by this sūtra itself: hū; the kvip being like ślu, doubling by "ślau" (Pā. 6-1-10); the reduplicate shortened by "hrasvaḥ" (Pā. 7-4-59); for its h, "kuhoś cuḥ" (Pā. 7-4-62) gives a palatal — jh, the voiced aspirate matching h; jaś by "abhyāse car ca" (Pā. 8-4-54): j: juhū; the kvip is lost; final-udātta by the stem accent. In the bahuvrīhi "juhūḥ āsyaṃ yasya saḥ juhvāsyaḥ", "bahuvrīhau prakṛtyā pūrvapadam" (Pā. 6-2-1) keeps the first member's accent; by "anudāttaṃ padam ekavarjam" (Pā. 6-1-158) the rest except the ū are unaccented; the udātta ū becomes v by "iko yaṇ aci" (Pā. 6-1-77); and "udātta-svaritayor yaṇaḥ svarito 'nudāttasya" (Pā. 8-2-4) makes the unaccented vowel after a yaṇ that replaced an udātta or svarita svarita: so the ā is svarita.

Page 506 — Rik 6 grammar closes

॥६॥

---

Page 506 — Sūkta 12, Rik 7

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

कविमग्निमुप॑ स्तुहि स॒त्यध॑र्माणमध्व॒रे । दे॒वम॑मीव॒चात॑नम् ॥७॥

kavím agním úpa stuhi satyádharmāṇam adhvaré | devám amīvacātanam ||7||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

कविम् । अग्निम् । उप । स्तुहि । सत्यऽधर्माणम् । अध्वरे ॥ देवम् । अमीवऽचातनम् ॥७॥

kavim | agnim | upa | stuhi | satya-dharmāṇam | adhvare || devam | amīva-cātanam ||7||

Page 507 — Rik 7: Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya, word-meanings, overall sense

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे स्तोतृसंघ अध्वरे क्रतावग्निमुपस्तुहि । उपेत्य स्तुतिं कुरु । कीदृशम् । कविं मेधाविनं सत्यधर्माणं सत्यवदनरूपेण धर्मेणोपेतं देवं द्योतमानममीवचातनममीवानां हिंसकानां शत्रूणां रोगाणां वा घातकम् ॥ सत्यं धर्मो यस्येति सत्यधर्मा । धर्मादनिच् केवलात् । पा. ५-४-१२४ । इत्यनिच् समासान्तः । अन्तःपदेन तस्य समासत्वाभिधानाद्ध्रुह्वीहौ पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वे शेषनिघातेनानुदात्तत्वम् । अमीवशब्दो ऽम रोग इत्यस्मात् शेवायहूजिह्वाग्रीवाप्वामीवाः । उ. १-१५४ । इति वन्प्रत्यय ईडागमश्च निपातितः ।

नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । चतेः चदे याचने चेत्यस्माद्भिसार्थात् । णिजन्तान्नन्द्यादित्वात् ल्युः । पा. ३-१-१३४ । योरनादेशः । पा. ७-१-१ । णेरनिटीति णेर्लोपः । लितीति धातोरकारस्योदात्तत्वम् । न च स्वरे कर्तव्ये णिलोपस्य स्थानिवद्भावः । न पदान्तद्विर्वचनेत्यादिना प्रतिषेधात् । पा. १-१-५८ । अमीवानां चातन इति समासे कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरेण स एव शिष्यते ॥

he stoṭ̣saṃgha adhvare kratāvagnimupastuhi | upetya stutiṃ kuru | kīdṛśam | kaviṃ medhāvinaṃ satyadharmāṇaṃ satyavadanarūpeṇa dharmeṇopetaṃ devaṃ dyotamānamamīvacātanamamīvānāṃ hiṃsakānāṃ śatrūṇāṃ rogāṇāṃ vā ghātakam || satyaṃ dharmo yasyeti satyadharmā | dharmādanic kevalāt | pā. 5-4-124 | ityanic samāsāntaḥ | antaḥpadena tasya samāsatvābhidhānādbahuvrīhau pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratve śeṣanighātenānudāttatvam | amīvaśabdo 'ma roga ityasmāt śevāyahūjihvāgrīvāpvāmīvāḥ | u. 1-154 | iti vanpratyaya īḍāgamaśca nipātitaḥ | nittvādādyudāttaḥ | cateḥ cade yācane cetyasmāddhiṃsārthāt | ṇijantānnandyāditvāt lyuḥ | pā. 3-1-134 | yoranādeśaḥ | pā. 7-1-1 | ṇeraniṭīti ṇerlopaḥ | litīti dhātorakārasyodāttatvam | na ca svare kartavye ṇilopasya sthānivadbhāvaḥ | na padāntadvirvacanetyādinā pratiṣedhāt | pā. 1-1-58 | amīvānāṃ cātana iti samāse kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvareṇa sa eva śiṣyate ||

Translation: "O company of praisers! In the adhvara, the sacrifice, upa stuhi — approaching, sing praise to Agni. What kind of Agni? Kavim — wise; satyadharmāṇam — endowed with the nature of speaking truth; devam — shining; amīvacātanam — the destroyer of the amīvas, of those who harm, of enemies or of diseases." (Grammatical tail: satyadharmā — "whose dharma is truth": the samāsānta anic by "dharmād anic kevalāt" (Pā. 5-4-124); since it is taught as part of the compound, the bahuvrīhi keeps the first member's accent and the rest is unaccented; amīva — from ama roge, formed irregularly with van and the augment ī by "śevā-yahū-jihvā-grīvā-pvāmīvāḥ" (Uṇ. 1-154), initial-udātta as nit; cātana — from cate/cade yācane in the sense of hurting, with ṇic, lyu as one of the nandyādi (Pā. 3-1-134), ana for yu (Pā. 7-1-1), ṇi dropped by "ṇer aniṭi", the root's a udātta by "liti"; the loss of ṇi is not treated as present for accent, by the bar "na padānta-dvirvacana…" (Pā. 1-1-58); in the compound "amīvānāṃ cātanaḥ" the kṛt second member keeps that accent.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

(O priests and others who sing praise!) कविम् (kavim) — the wise one | सत्यधर्माणम् (satyadharmāṇam) — whose nature is truth and dharma | देवम् (devam) — shining | अमीवचातनम् (amīvacātanam) — the destroyer of enemies, or the destroyer of diseases | अग्निम् (agnim) — Agni | अध्वरे (adhvare) — in the sacrificial rite | उपस्तुहि (upastuhi) — standing near, praise [him].

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O priests and others! This Agni whom you are praising is very wise, of the nature of truth and dharma (or whose dharma — conduct — is truth itself), shining, a destroyer of enemies or a remover of diseases and such troubles. Stand near this Agni in the rite we perform and praise him.

Page 508 — Rik 7: English, Special Topics, grammar

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> Praise, in the sacr'fice [sic], Agni, the wise, the observer of truth, the radiant, the remover of disease.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

This rik is addressed to the priests who are praising Agni.

"Satyadharmāṇam" — satyaṃ dharmo yasya: truth itself is his nature; or satyavadana-rūpeṇa dharmeṇopetam — one whose nature is to speak only the truth.

"Amīvacātanam" — amīvānāṃ hiṃsakānāṃ śatrūṇāṃ rogāṇāṃ vā ghātakam — "the destroyer of enemies or of diseases." This word occurs not only in this rik but in these riks too:

> विप्रः स उच्यते भिषग्रक्षोहामीवचातनः । vipraḥ sa ucyate bhiṣag rakṣohāmīvacātanaḥ | (Ṛ. Saṃ. 10-97-6) ("He is called the sage, the physician, slayer of rākṣasas, driver-out of disease." — mine and tentative.)
>
> आपो इद्वा उ भेषजीरापो अमीवचातनीः । āpo id vā u bheṣajīr āpo amīvacātanīḥ | (Ṛ. Saṃ. 10-137-6) ("The waters are indeed healing, the waters are expellers of disease." — mine and tentative.)

In the first example, the words bhiṣak and rakṣohā support the sense of "destroyer of diseases and of enemies." In the second example the word bheṣajīḥ indicates the removal of disease; hence for this word the sense "remover of disease" fits well.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 508–509, noted briefly; numbers checked against the print)

सत्यधर्माणम् (satyadharmāṇam) — "satyaṃ dharmaḥ yasya saḥ satyadharmā", a bahuvrīhi. "dharmād anic kevalāt" (Pā. 5-4-124): after a bahuvrīhi ending in dharma that follows a bare (kevala) first member, anic comes and becomes the final part of the compound; kevala means not accompanied by any word other than the second member: satyadharma + an; the final a of dharma dropped by "yasyeti ca" (Pā. 6-4-148): satyadharman. By "samāsāntāḥ" (Pā. 5-4-68) anic is joined to the compound as its final part, so the first member keeps its accent and the rest is unaccented by the rule for the remainder. अमीवचातनम् (amīvacātanam) — the word amīva: after the root ama roge, "śeva-yahva-jihvā-grīvā-pvāmīvāḥ" (Uṇ. "1-152"; the bhāṣya gives 1-154): these words are formed irregularly with van.

Page 509 — Rik 7 grammar closes

After śīṅ svapne, van with guṇa gives śeva; here final-udātta is laid down irregularly; otherwise, by "iṇ-śībhyāṃ van" (Uṇ. 1-150) van would come and the nit accent would make it initial-udātta. "yānti anena iti yahvaḥ": after yā prāpaṇe, van with the huk augment and shortening, irregularly: yahva. "lihanti anayā iti jihvā": after liha āsvādane, van with j for the l and no guṇa, irregularly. "giranti anayā iti grīvā": after gṝ nigaraṇe, van with the augment ī, irregularly; gṛ + īva with yaṇ: grīva. After āpḷ vyāptau, van: āpva. After ama, van with the augment ī, irregularly: amīva; van is nit, so initial-udātta by the nit accent. Cātana: the root cate cade yācane ca is also in the sense of hurting; after it ṇic; vṛddhi of the penultimate by "ata upadhāyāḥ" (printed "7-1-116" [sic]): cāt + i; lyu by "nandi-grahi-pacādibhyo lyu-ṇiny-acaḥ" (Pā. 3-1-134); ana for it by "yuvor anākau" (Pā. 7-1-1); ṇic dropped by "ṇer aniṭi" (Pā. 6-4-51): cātana; by "liti" (Pā. 6-1-193) the vowel before an l-marked suffix is udātta, so the ā of cāt is udātta. Here, in making the accent, the loss of ṇi, conditioned by what follows, would by "acaḥ parasmin pūrvavidhau" (Pā. 1-1-57) count as present — a substitute for a vowel, conditioned by what follows, counts as the original when an operation is made on what precedes it; that sthānivadbhāva is barred by "na padānta-dvirvacana-vare-yalopa-svara-savarṇānusvāra-dīrgha-jaś-car-vidhiṣu" (Pā. 1-1-58), so it does not arise. As the genitive tatpuruṣa "amīvānāṃ cātanaḥ", by "gati-kārakopapadāt kṛt" (Pā. 6-2-139) the kṛt second member keeps that accent.

॥७॥

---

Page 509 (lower) — Sūkta 12, Rik 8

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

यस्त्वाम॑ग्ने ह॒विष्प॑तिर्दू॒तं दे॑व सप॒र्यति॑ । तस्य॑ स्म प्रावि॒ता भ॑व ॥८॥

yas tvā́m agne havíṣpatir dūtáṃ deva saparyáti | tásya sma prāvitā́ bhava ||8||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

यः । त्वाम् । अग्ने । हविःऽपतिः । दूतम् । देव । सपर्यति ॥ तस्य । स्म । प्रऽअविता । भव ॥८॥

yaḥ | tvām | agne | haviḥ-patiḥ | dūtam | deva | saparyati || tasya | sma | pra-avitā | bhava ||8||

Page 510 — Rik 8: Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya, word-meanings, English

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे अग्ने देव यो हविष्पतिर्यजमानो देवदूतं त्वां सपर्यति परिचरति तस्य यजमानस्य प्रावितो भव स्म । अवश्यं रक्षको भव ॥ हूयत इति हविः । अर्चिशुचीत्यादिना । उ. २-१०९ । इसिः । प्रत्ययस्वरेणेकार उदात्तः । हविषः पतिर्हविष्पतिः । नित्यं समासे ऽनुत्तरपदस्थस्य । पा. ८-३-४५ । इति षत्वम् । पत्यावैश्वर्ये इति पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् । सपरशब्दात्कण्ड्वादिभ्यो यक् । पा. ३-१-२७ । इति यक् । धातुप्रकरणाद्गुणप्रतिषेधाद्यर्थात्कः कित्त्वाच्च सपरशब्दस्य धातुत्वात्ततो विहितस्य यक आर्धधातुकत्वे सत्यतो लोप इति लोपः । सनाद्यन्ता धातव इति धातुसंज्ञायां तिप् । कर्तरि शप् । तस्मिन्पूर्वस्यातो गुण इति पररूपत्वम् । यकः प्रत्ययस्वरेणोदात्तत्वम् । शपा सह यकैकादेश उदात्तेनोदात्त इत्युदात्तत्वम् । तिङ्ङतिङ इति निघातो न भवति यद्वृत्तान्नित्यमिति प्रतिषेधात् ॥

he agne deva yo haviṣpatiryajamāno devadūtaṃ tvāṃ saparyati paricarati tasya yajamānasya prāvitā bhava sma | avaśyaṃ rakṣako bhava || hūyata iti haviḥ | arciśucītyādinā | u. 2-109 | isiḥ | pratyayasvareṇekāra udāttaḥ | haviṣaḥ patirhaviṣpatiḥ | nityaṃ samāse 'nuttarapadasthasya | pā. 8-3-45 | iti ṣatvam |

patyāvaiśvarye iti pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvam | saparaśabdātkaṇḍvādibhyo yak | pā. 3-1-27 | iti yak | dhātuprakaraṇādguṇapratiṣedhādyarthātkaḥ kittvācca saparaśabdasya dhātutvāttato vihitasya yaka ārdhadhātukatve satyato lopa iti lopaḥ | sanādyantā dhātava iti dhātusaṃjñāyāṃ tip | kartari śap | tasminpūrvasyāto guṇa iti pararūpatvam | yakaḥ pratyayasvareṇodāttatvam | śapā saha yakaikādeśa udāttenodātta ityudāttatvam | tiṅṅatiṅa iti nighāto na bhavati yadvṛttānnityamiti pratiṣedhāt ||

Translation: "O Agni, O god! The sacrificer who is haviṣpati — lord of the oblation — and saparyati, serves you, the messenger of the gods: of that sacrificer, prāvitā bhava sma — be the protector; surely be his protector." (Grammar noted briefly: that haviḥ is "that which is offered," with isi (Uṇ. 2-109); haviṣpati has the visarga turned to ṣ by Pā. 8-3-45, keeping the first member's accent; saparyati is a denominative from sapara in the kaṇḍvādi class with yak (Pā. 3-1-27); and the verb is not lowered because a relative word yaḥ precedes it.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

देव (deva) — shining | (हे) अग्ने ((he) agne) — O Agni | हविष्पतिः (haviṣpatiḥ) — the sacrificer who offers you oblations | दूतम् (dūtam) — messenger of the gods | त्वाम् (tvām) — you | सपर्यति (saparyati) — worships (serves) | तस्य (tasya) — of that sacrificer | प्राविता (prāvitā) — as chief protector | भव स्म (bhava sma) — be.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O shining Agni! The sacrificer who offers oblations to you worships you, the messenger of the gods. Protect such a sacrificer without fail.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> Be the protector, O Agni of the master (offerer] [sic] of sacrificial food, who worships you O God, as his messenger.

Page 511 — Rik 8: Special Topics and grammar

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

"Haviṣpatiḥ" — haviṣaḥ patiḥ — "the master of the oblation", that is, one who offers the oblation: offerer of oblations [the source's English].

"Prāvitā" — [protector] in a special way, or the chief protector.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 511–512, noted briefly; numbers checked against the print)

हविष्पतिः (haviṣpatiḥ) — "hūyate iti haviḥ": "arci-śuci-hu-sṛpi-chādi-chardibhya isiḥ" (Uṇ. "2-265" [?]; the bhāṣya gives 2-109): after arca pūjāyām, śuca śoke, hu dānādanayoḥ, sṛpḷ gatau, chadi apavāraṇe in its ṇic form, and charda vamane, the suffix isi; so isi after hu: hu + is, guṇa and av: havis; nominative singular haviḥ; the i udātta by the suffix accent. "haviṣaḥ patiḥ", a genitive tatpuruṣa; ru and visarga for the s: haviḥ patiḥ. Now "nityaṃ samāse

’nuttarapadasthasya” (Pā. 8-3-45): in a compound, before a k- or p-class letter, the visarga of is or us not in the second member always becomes ṣ; so the visarga of the suffix is before the p: haviṣpatiḥ; the first member’s accent by “patyāv aiśvarye” (Pā. 6-2-18). सपर्यति (saparyati) — the word sapara is read in the kaṇḍvādi group, so “kaṇḍvādibhyo yak” (printed “vā. 3-1-27”): after the roots read in the kaṇḍvādi group the suffix yak; so yak after sapara. The words in the kaṇḍvādi group have both the name dhātu and the name prātipadika; this is clear in the Mahābhāṣya:

> धातुप्रकरणाद्धातुः कस्य चासञ्ज्ञनादपि । आह चायमिमं दीर्घं मन्ये धातुर्विभाषितः ॥
>
> dhātuprakaraṇād dhātuḥ kasya cāsañjanād api | āha cāyam imaṃ dīrghaṃ manye dhātur vibhāṣitaḥ ||

(printed “pā. sū. ma. 3-1-27”). Because the group is in the section on roots, the kaṇḍvādi are roots; and because the k is attached to yak, they are roots too: if one grants that they are roots, the yak added to them is ārdhadhātuka, and when guṇa would arise, the k serves to bar it — otherwise the k would be useless. If they are simply roots, the long vowel in kaṇḍūya would come by “akṛt-sārvadhātukayor dīrghaḥ” (printed “7-4-2” [sic]; the sūtra is 7-4-25), so the long vowel read in the gaṇapāṭha as kaṇḍū would be useless; if the root-name is optional, then when it does not apply yak does not come, and the long vowel read is useful for being heard. So the conclusion is that the kaṇḍvādi words take the name dhātu optionally, and the name prātipadika when that is absent.

Page 512 — Rik 8 grammar closes

Here, taking sapara as a root, the yak added to it is ārdhadhātuka by “ārdhadhātukaṃ śeṣaḥ” (Pā. 3-4-114); so “ato lopaḥ” (Pā. 6-4-48) drops the final a of sapara: saparya; it is a root by “sanādyantā dhātavaḥ” (Pā. 3-1-32); then laṭ, replaced by third singular tip; the vikaraṇa śap by “kartari śap” (Pā. 3-1-68): saparya + a + ti; “ato guṇe” (Pā. 6-1-97) gives pararūpa of the root’s final a and the a of śap: saparyati; udātta by the suffix accent of yak; the a formed as a single substitute with the a of śap is udātta by “ekādeśa udāttenodāttaḥ” (Pā. 8-2-5). Since “yad-vṛttān nityam” (Pā. 8-1-66) bars it, “tiṅṅ atiṅaḥ” (Pā. 8-1-28) does not make it wholly unaccented; the other vowels are unaccented by “anudāttaṃ padam ekavarjam” (Pā. 6-1-158), and the i of ti becomes svarita by “udāttād anudāttasya svaritaḥ” (Pā. 8-4-66).

॥८॥

---

Page 512 (lower) — Sūkta 12, Rik 9

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. Line 1: the stroke over हविष्माँ stands beside the candrabindu, as printed.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

> यो अ॒ग्निं दे॒ववी॑तये ह॒विष्माँ॑ आ॒विवा॑सति । तस्मै॑ पावक मृळय ॥९॥
>
> yo agníṃ devávītaye havíṣmāṁ̃ āvívāsati | tásmai pāvaka mṛḷaya ||9||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

यः । अग्निम् । देवऽवीतये । हविष्मान् । आऽविवासति ॥ तस्मै । पावक । मृळय ॥९॥

yaḥ | agnim | deva-vītaye | haviṣmān | ā-vivāsati || tasmai | pāvaka | mṛḷaya ||9||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥ (runs onto p. 513)

गार्हपत्याहवनीययोः परस्परसंसर्गे विहितस्य हविषो याज्या यो अग्निं देववीतय इत्येषा । अथाग्नेय्या इष्टय इति खण्डे सूत्रितम् । यो अग्निं देववीतये कुवित्सु नो गविष्टये । आ. ३-१३ । इति ॥

gārhapatyāhavanīyayoḥ parasparasaṃsarge vihitasya haviṣo yājyā yo agniṃ devavītaya ityeṣā | athāgneyyā iṣṭaya iti khaṇḍe sūtritam | yo agniṃ devavītaye kuvitsu no gaviṣṭaye | ā. 3-13 | iti ||

हविष्मान्हविर्युक्तो यो यजमानो देववीतये देवानां हविर्भक्षणहेतुयोगार्थमग्निमाविवासति अग्नेः समीपे विशेषेणागत्य परिचर्यां करोति हे पावकाग्ने तस्मै मृळय । तं यजमानं सुखय ॥ देववीतये । वी गतिप्रजनकान्त्यशनखादनेष्वित्यस्मादशनार्थात्क्तिन् । देवानां वीतिर्यस्मिन्यागे स देववीतिः । बहुव्रीहौ पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् । हविष्मान् । नब्विषयस्यानिसन्तस्येति पर्युदासाद्धविःशब्दो ऽन्तोदात्तः । मतुपः सर्वानुदात्तत्वात्स एव शिष्यते । आविवासति । वा गतिगन्धनयोः । अस्मादन्तर्भावितण्यर्थादागमयितुमिच्छतीत्यर्थे सन् । आह्वाने चाप [?] परिचर्यायां पर्यवस्यतीति विवासतिशब्दः परिचर्यार्थे निघण्टौ पठितः । द्विर्भावः । अभ्यासस्य ह्रस्वः । सन्यतः । पा. ७-४-७९ । इतीत्त्वम् । ञ्नित्यादिर्नित्यमित्याद्युदात्तत्वम् । तिङ्ङतिङ इति निघातो न भवति । यद्वृत्तान्नित्यमिति प्रतिषेधात् । तिङि चोदात्तवति । पा. ८-१-७१ । इत्याङो निघातः । सह सुपा । पा. २-१-४ । इत्यत्र सहेति योगविभागादाङस्तिङा सह समासे समासान्तोदात्तत्वे प्राप्ते परादिश्छन्दसि बहुलमित्युत्तरपदाद्युदात्तत्वम् । तस्मै । क्रियाग्रहणं कर्तव्यम् । पा. १-४-३२-१ । इति संप्रदाने चतुर्थी ॥

haviṣmānhaviryukto yo yajamāno devavītaye devānāṃ havirbhakṣaṇahetuyogārthamagnimāvivāsati agneḥ samīpe viśeṣeṇāgatya paricaryāṃ karoti he pāvakāgne tasmai mṛḷaya | taṃ yajamānaṃ sukhaya || devavītaye | vī gatiprajanakāntyaśanakhādaneṣvityasmādaśanārthātktin | devānāṃ vītiryasminyāge sa devavītiḥ | bahuvrīhau pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvam | haviṣmān | nabviṣayasyānisantasyeti paryudāsāddhaviḥśabdo 'ntodāttaḥ | matupaḥ sarvānudāttatvātsa eva śiṣyate | āvivāsati | vā gatigandhanayoḥ | asmādantarbhāvitaṇyarthādāgamayitumicchatītyarthe san | āhvāne cāpa [?] paricaryāyāṃ paryavasyatīti vivāsatiśabdaḥ paricaryārthe nighaṇṭau paṭhitaḥ | dvirbhāvaḥ | abhyāsasya hrasvaḥ | sanyataḥ | pā. 7-4-79 | itīttvam | ñnityādirnityamityādyudāttatvam | tiṅṅatiṅa iti nighāto na bhavati | yadvṛttānnityamiti pratiṣedhāt | tiṅi codāttavati | pā. 8-1-71 | ityāṅo nighātaḥ | saha supā | pā. 2-1-4 | ityatra saheti yogavibhāgādāṅastiṅā saha samāse samāsāntodāttatve prāpte parādiśchandasi bahulamityuttarapadādyudāttatvam | tasmai | kriyāgrahaṇaṃ kartavyam | pā. 1-4-32-1 | iti saṃpradāne caturthī ||

Translation: "For the oblation prescribed at the mutual contact of the Gārhapatya and Āhavanīya [fires], this [rik] yo agniṃ devavītaye is the yājyā; laid down in the section athāgneyyā iṣṭayaḥ: 'yo agniṃ devavītaye; kuvit su no gaviṣṭaye' (Āśv. 3-13). The sacrificer who, haviṣmān — having an oblation — devavītaye, for the purpose of the gods' eating of the oblation, āvivāsati Agni — comes specially near Agni and serves him: O pāvaka, Agni, tasmai mṛḷaya — make that sacrificer happy." (Grammatical tail, on p. 513: devavītaye — ktin after vī in the sense of eating; "that sacrifice in which there is the eating of the gods", a bahuvrīhi with the first member's accent; haviṣmān — havis is final-udātta, being excluded by "nab-viṣayasyānisantasya", and since matup is wholly unaccented that accent alone remains; āvivāsati — from vā gatigandhanayoḥ with the causative sense included, san in the sense "wishes to bring"; ending in calling and service, vivāsati is read in the Nighaṇṭu among words for service; doubling, shortening of the reduplicate, i by "sanyataḥ" (Pā. 7-4-79), initial-udātta by "ñnity ādir nityam"; not unaccented, by "yad-vṛttān nityam"; the āṅ unaccented by "tiṅi codāttavati" (Pā. 8-1-71); by splitting off saha in "saha supā" (Pā. 2-1-4) āṅ compounds with the tiṅanta, and instead of the compound-final udātta "parādiś chandasi bahulam" makes the second member initial-udātta; tasmai — the dative of the sampradāna by the vārttika "kriyāgrahaṇaṃ kartavyam" (Pā. 1-4-32-1).)

Page 513 — Rik 9: word-meanings, overall sense, English, Special Topics

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

हविष्मान् (haviṣmān) — endowed with the oblation | यः (yaḥ) — which sacrificer | देववीतये (devavītaye) — in order to offer the oblation to the gods | अग्निम् (agnim) — Agni, you | आविवासति (āvivāsati) — draws near and serves | तस्मै (tasmai) — for that sacrificer | (O) पावक (pāvaka) — Agni, who purifies all | मृळय (mṛḷaya) — grant happiness.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Agni, you purify all things! To offer the oblation to the gods through you, the sacrificer comes to you and serves you. Give such a sacrificer happiness.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> Be merciful, O purifier, to the man who, presenting oblations for the gratification of gods, approaches Agni.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

When the sacrificer has come to the fires in the two fire-pits, the Gārhapatya and the Āhavanīya, he recites this rik and, offering the oblation, performs the homa. At that time this rik is used as a yājyā mantra. In this connection the Āśvalāyana Śrauta-sūtra

Page 514 — Rik 9: Special Topics (continued) and grammar

(Ā. 3-13), in the section athāgneyyā iṣṭayaḥ, says that the riks yo agniṃ devavītaye (Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-12-9) and kuvit su no gaviṣṭaye (Ṛ. Saṃ. 8-75-11) are to be used as the yājyā and puronuvākyā mantras.

"Devavītaye" — devānāṃ havir-bhakṣaṇa-hetu-yogārtham — "for the sake of bringing about the gods' eating of the oblation": to make an offering to the gods. Since the gods other than Agni are not seen by the eye, one must offer the oblation to them through Agni by pouring it into fire; therefore the sacrificer brings the oblation near Agni, serves him, and prays: this is the idea. Skandasvāmī gives for this word devān prati gamanāya, devānāṃ vā havir-bhakṣaṇāya:

that is, for going to the gods as messenger on the sacrificer's behalf, and for calling the gods to eat the oblation.

"Haviṣmān" — one who has prepared the oblation to be offered to the gods and has brought it along.

"Āvivāsati" — samīpe viśeṣeṇāgatya paricaryāṃ karoti — "comes near and serves specially" [the source's English: "Approaches you for presenting oblations"].

"Pāvaka" — one who purifies; purifier; or one who blazes brilliantly: resplendent [the source's English]. The word is used especially in addressing Agni.

"Mṛḷaya" — sukhaya, sukham utpādaya: give happiness.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 514–515, noted briefly; numbers checked against the print)

देववीतये (devavītaye) — root vī gati-prajana-kānty-aśana-khādaneṣu; after this root in the sense of eating, ktin by "striyāṃ ktin" (Pā. 3-3-94); the suffix being kit, no guṇa: vīti. "devānāṃ vītiḥ yasmin yāge saḥ devavītiḥ", a bahuvrīhi, keeps the first member's accent by "bahuvrīhau prakṛtyā pūrvapadam" (Pā. 6-2-1). The word haviḥ, although neuter, ends in is, so, being excluded by the word anisantasya, it does not become initial-udātta by "nab-viṣayasyānisantasya" (Phiṭ-sū. "26"); it is final-udātta by the suffix accent. हविष्मान् (haviṣmān) — "haviḥ asya asti": matup after it by "tad asyāsty asminn iti matup" (Pā. 5-2-94); being pit, it is unaccented by "anudāttau sup-pitau" (Pā. 3-1-4); so the final udātta of haviḥ alone remains.

Page 515 — Rik 9 grammar closes

आविवासति (āvivāsati) — root vā gatigandhanayoḥ; with the causative sense included, in the sense "wishes to bring", "dhātoḥ karmaṇaḥ samāna-kartṛkād icchāyāṃ vā" (Pā. 3-1-7) gives san; the wish to call ends in the sense of service; therefore in the Nighaṇṭu (Ni. "3-5-10") the word vivāsati is read in the sense of service. vā + sa: doubling by "sanyaṅoḥ" (Pā. 6-1-9); the reduplicate shortened by "hrasvaḥ" (Pā. 7-4-59); "sanyataḥ" (Pā. 7-4-79): before san the a of the reduplicate becomes i: vivāsa; san is nit, so by "ñnity ādir nityam" (Pā. 6-1-197) vivāsa is initial-udātta; root-name by "sanādyantā dhātavaḥ" (Pā. 3-1-32); then laṭ, tip, the vikaraṇa śap and pararūpa: vivāsati. Since "yad-vṛttān nityam" (Pā. 8-1-66) bars it, "tiṅṅ atiṅaḥ" does not make it wholly unaccented. The preverb ā is unaccented by "tiṅi codāttavati" (Pā. 8-1-71) — a word with the name gati is unaccented before a tiṅanta that has an udātta; this is an exception to "nipātā ādyudāttāḥ". In "saha supā" (Pā. 2-1-4) the sūtra is split at saha, so the āṅ is compounded with the tiṅanta; the final-udātta of "samāsasya" (Pā. 6-1-223) would arise, but "parādiś chandasi bahulam" (printed "6-2-19" [sic]; the sūtra is 6-2-199) sets it aside and makes the first syllable of the second member udātta. तस्मै (tasmai) — "karmaṇā yam abhipraiti sa sampradānam" (Pā. 1-4-32): the one the doer wishes to connect with the object of the act of giving takes the name of the kāraka sampradāna — in effect, the one for whom the thing given is meant. On this sūtra the Bhāṣyakāra says "kriyāgrahaṇaṃ kartavyam" (printed "pā. sū. ma. 1-4-32-1"): the vārttika means that the one for whom an action is meant takes the name sampradāna. Here, since tat is the one for whom the act of making happy, expressed by the root mṛḍaya, is meant, it is sampradāna, and "caturthī sampradāne" (printed "5-2-3-1-13" [sic]; the sūtra is 2-3-13) gives the dative. मृळय (mṛḷaya) — root mṛḍa sukhane, ṇic-ending; loṭ, second singular sip, replaced by hi; the vikaraṇa śap, guṇa, ay; hi dropped by "ato heḥ" (Pā. 6-4-105); ḷ for the ḍ: mṛḷaya.

॥९॥

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

स नः॑ पावक दीदि॒वो ऽग्ने॑ दे॒वाँ इ॒हा व॑ह । उप॑ य॒ज्ञं ह॒विश्च॑ नः ॥१०॥

sá naḥ pāvaka dīdivó 'gne devā̃m̐ ihā̃ vaha | úpa yajñáṃ havíś ca naḥ ||10||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

सः । नः । पावक । दीदिवः । अग्ने । देवान् । इह । आ । वह ॥ उप । यज्ञम् । हविः । च । नः ॥१०॥

saḥ | naḥ | pāvaka | dīdivaḥ | agne | devān | iha | ā | vaha || upa | yajñam | haviḥ | ca | naḥ ||10||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

पवमानेष्टावग्नेः पावकस्यानुवाक्या स नः पावक दीदिव इति । पौर्णमासेनेष्टिपशुसोमा उपदिष्टा इति खण्डे सूत्रितम् । स नः पावक दीदिवो ऽग्ने पावक रोचिषा । आ. २-१ । इति ॥

pavamāneṣṭāvagneḥ pāvakasyānuvākyā sa naḥ pāvaka dīdiva iti | paurṇamāseneṣṭipaśusomā upadiṣṭā iti khaṇḍe sūtritam | sa naḥ pāvaka dīdivo 'gne pāvaka rociṣā | ā. 2-1 | iti ||

हे दीदिवो दीप्यमान पावक शोधकाग्ने स त्वं नो ऽस्मदर्थमिह देवयजनदेशे देवाना वह । ततो नो ऽस्मदीयं यज्ञं तत्रत्यं हविश्चोप देवसमीपे प्रापयेति शेषः ॥ दीदिवः । दिवु क्रीडादौ । छन्दसि लुङ्लङ्लिट इति वर्तमाने लिट् । क्वसुः । द्विर्भावो हलादिशेषः । तुजादीनां दीर्घो ऽभ्यासस्येत्यभ्यासस्य दीर्घत्वम् । वस्वेकाजाद्धसामिति नियमाद्धसोरिट्प्रतिषेधः । लोपो व्योर्वलीति वकारलोपः । संबुद्धावुगिदचामित्यादिना नुम् । हल्ङ्यादिलोपः संयोगान्तलोपः । मतुवसोरिति रुत्वम् । विसर्गः । अग्ने । पादादित्वान्न निघातः । देवाँ इहेत्यत्र दीर्घादटि समानपाद इति रुत्वम् । आतो ऽटि नित्यमित्याकारस्यानुनासिकः । भोभगोअघोअपूर्वस्य यो ऽशीति रोर्यकारः । लोपः शाकल्यस्येति यकारलोपः । तस्यासिद्धत्वादाद्गुणो न भवति । इह । इदमो हः । पा. ५-३-११ । इति सप्तम्यन्ताद्धप्रत्ययः । इदम इश् । पा. ५-३-३ । तद्धितान्तत्वात्प्रातिपदिकत्वे सुपो धातुप्रातिपदिकयोः । पा. २-४-७१ । इति सप्तम्या लुक् । तद्धितश्चासर्वविभक्तिः । पा. १-१-३८ । इत्यव्ययसंज्ञायामव्ययादाप्सुपः । पा. २-४-८२ । इत्युत्तरस्याः सप्तम्या लुक् । चकारः प्रत्ययस्वरेणोदात्तः ॥

he dīdivo dīpyamāna pāvaka śodhakāgne sa tvaṃ no 'smadarthamiha devayajanadeśe devānā vaha | tato no 'smadīyaṃ yajñaṃ tatratyaṃ haviścopa devasamīpe prāpayeti śeṣaḥ || dīdivaḥ | divu krīḍādau | chandasi luṅlaṅliṭa iti

vartamāne liṭ | kvasuḥ | dvirbhāvo halādiśeṣaḥ | tujādīnāṃ dīrgho ’bhyāsasyetyabhyāsasya dīrghatvam | vasvekājādghasāmiti niyamādvasoriṭpratiṣedhaḥ | lopo vyorvalīti vakāralopaḥ | saṃbuddhāvugidacāmityādinā num | halṅyādilopaḥ saṃyogāntalopaḥ | matuvasoriti rutvam | visargaḥ | agne | pādāditvānna nighātaḥ | devā~ ihetyatra dīrghādaṭi samānapāda iti rutvam | āto ’ṭi nityamityākārasyānunāsikaḥ | bhobhagoaghoapūrvasya yo ’śīti roryakāraḥ | lopaḥ śākalyasyeti yakāralopaḥ | tasyāsiddhatvādādguṇo na bhavati | iha | idamo haḥ | pā. 5-3-11 | iti saptamyantāddhapratyayaḥ | idama iś | pā. 5-3-3 | taddhitāntatvātprātipadikatve supo dhātuprātipadikayoḥ | pā. 2-4-71 | iti saptamyā luk | taddhitaścāsarvavibhaktiḥ | pā. 1-1-38 | ityavyayasaṃjñāyāmavyayādāpsupaḥ | pā. 2-4-82 | ityuttarasyāḥ saptamyā luk | cakāraḥ pratyayasvareṇodāttaḥ ||

Translation: “In the pavamāneṣṭi, this is the anuvākyā of Agni Pāvaka: sa naḥ pāvaka dīdivaḥ. In the section ‘paurṇamāseneṣṭi-paśu-somāḥ upadiṣṭāḥ’ it is laid down: ‘sa naḥ pāvaka dīdivo, agne pāvaka rociṣā’ (Āśv. 2-1). O dīdivaḥ — O blazing, O pāvaka, O purifying Agni! Being such, bring the gods iha — here, to the sacrificial ground — for our sake; and then convey our sacrifice and the oblation in it to the gods’ presence — so the sentence is to be completed.” (Grammatical tail: dīdivaḥ — divu krīḍādau, liṭ in the present sense by “chandasi luṅ-laṅ-liṭaḥ”, kvasu, doubling, “halādiḥ śeṣaḥ”, the reduplicate lengthened by “tujādīnāṃ dīrgho ’bhyāsasya”, iṭ for vas barred by the restriction “vasv-ekāj-ād-ghasām”, the v dropped by “lopo vyor vali”, num in the vocative, loss of the endings and of the final, ru by “matuvasoḥ…”, visarga; agne — not unaccented, as it begins a pāda; devāṁ̐ iha — ru by “dīrghād aṭi samānapāde”, nasalization of the ā by “āto ’ṭi nityam”, y by “bho-bhago…”, dropped by “lopaḥ śākalyasya”, and since that loss is asiddha there is no guṇa of ā + i; iha — ha in the locative sense after idam by “idamo haḥ” (Pā. 5-3-11), iś for idam (Pā. 5-3-3), as a taddhita-ending stem the locative is dropped (Pā. 2-4-71), it is an indeclinable by “taddhitaś cāsarvavibhaktiḥ” (Pā. 1-1-38), and the following locative is dropped by “avyayād āp-supaḥ” (Pā. 2-4-82); the “c” [sic, as printed: cakāraḥ] is udātta by the suffix accent.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

दीदिवः (dīdivaḥ) — shining | (हे) पावक ((he) pāvaka) — O Agni, who purifies | सः (saḥ) — such as you are | नः (naḥ) — to us (on our behalf) | इह (iha) — to this sacrificial ground | देवान् (devān) — the gods | आ वह (ā vaha) — bring | (and then) नः (naḥ) — our | यज्ञम् (yajñam) — sacrifice | हविः च (haviḥ ca) — and the oblation we offer | उप (upa) — to the gods’ side | (carry it so that it reaches them).

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Agni! You blaze and shine; you purify all. Such as you are, bring the gods to this sacrificial ground that we are making, and make the sacrifice we perform for the gods, and the oblation we offer them, go and reach them.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

O Agni, resplendent and purifier, conduct the gods hither to us, to our sacrifice and to our oblations.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

The application of this rik: in the pavamāneṣṭi — the sacrifice in which Agni named Pāvaka is addressed — this rik is used as the puronuvākyā mantra when making the offering. This is stated in the Āśvalāyana Śrauta-sūtra (Ā. 2-1), in the section beginning paurṇamāseneṣṭi-paśu-somā upadiṣṭāḥ, where the riks sa naḥ pāvaka dīdivaḥ (Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-12-10) and agne pāvaka rociṣā (Ṛ. Saṃ. 5-26-1) are to be recited as the yājyā and puronuvākyā riks respectively.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 517–519, noted briefly; numbers checked against the print)

दीदिवः (dīdivaḥ) — root divu krīḍā-vijigīṣā-vyavahāra-dyuti-moda-mada-svapna-kānti-gatiṣu; after it, by "chandasi luṅ-laṅ-liṭaḥ" (Pā. 3-4-6), liṭ in the present sense; kvasu for it by "kvasuś ca" (Pā. 3-2-107); doubling by "liṭi dhātor anabhyāsasya" (Pā. 6-1-8); "halādiḥ śeṣaḥ" (printed "7-4-69" [?]) removes the v of the reduplicate; "tujādīnāṃ dīrgho 'bhyāsasya" (Pā. 6-1-7) lengthens the reduplicate:

Page 518 — Rik 10 grammar (continued)

dīdiv + vas. Now "ārdhadhātukasyeḍ valādeḥ" (Pā. 7-2-35) would give the augment iṭ, but by the restriction "vasv-ekāj-ād-ghasām" (7-2-67) it does not come. "lopo vyor vali" (Pā. 6-1-66) drops the v in the second part; to dīdivas the vocative singular su is added; "ugid-acāṃ sarvanāmasthāne 'dhātoḥ" (printed "Pā. su. 6-1-70" [sic]; the sūtra is 7-1-70) [gives num]; su dropped [by "hal-ṅyābbhyaḥ"]; "saṃyogāntasya lopaḥ" (Pā. 8-2-23) drops the s; it is a vas-ending stem, so "matuvaso ru saṃbuddhau chandasi" gives ru for the n, and "kharavasānayor visarjanīyaḥ" (Pā. 8-3-15) the visarga: dīdivaḥ. अग्ने (agne) — it stands at the beginning of the second pāda, so the eighth-chapter loss of accent does not apply. देवाँ इह (devāṁ̐ iha) — of deva, accusative plural devān. In the Saṃhitā, "dīrghād aṭi samānapāde" (Pā. 8-3-9): when the n and the aṭ letter are in the same pāda and the letter before the n is long, the n becomes ru: devār + iha. "āto 'ṭi nityam" (printed "8-3-3") then always nasalizes the long ā before the ru when an aṭ letter follows: devāṁ̐r + iha. "bho-bhago-agho-apūrvasya yo 'śi" (Pā. 8-3-17): before an aś letter, ru preceded by bho, bhago, agho or an a-vowel becomes y: devāy iha. "lopaḥ śākalyasya" (Pā. 8-3-19): y and v preceded by an a-vowel and at the end of a word are optionally dropped before an aś letter: the y is dropped: devāṁ̐ + iha. Now ā + i would take guṇa by "ād guṇaḥ" (Pā. 6-1-87), but by "pūrvatrāsiddham" (Pā. 8-2-1) the loss of y is asiddha when guṇa is to be made, so the ā is followed by y, not by i; hence no guṇa. इह (iha) — "idamo haḥ" (Pā. 5-3-11): after a locative of idam, the suffix ha: idam + ṅi + ha; idam, ṅi, ha being a taddhita-ending, it is a prātipadika by "kṛt-taddhita-samāsāś ca" (Pā. 1-2-46); the sup ṅi inside the prātipadika is dropped by "supo dhātu-prātipadikayoḥ" (2-4-71); then "idam iś" (printed "5-33" [sic]; the sūtra is 5-3-3) gives iś for idam before a prāgdiśīya suffix;

Page 519 — Rik 10 grammar closes

it is śit, so by "anekāl śit sarvasya" (Pā. 1-1-55) it replaces the whole: iha. "taddhitaś cāsarvavibhaktiḥ" (Pā. 1-1-38): a taddhita-ending after which not all case endings in the three numbers arise, but only those of the singular, is an indeclinable; so iha is an indeclinable, and the locative singular ṅi after it is dropped by “avyayād āp-supaḥ” (Pā. 2-4-82). The a is udātta by “ādyudāttaś ca” (Pā. 3-1-3).

॥१०॥

---

Page 519 (lower) — Sūkta 12, Rik 11

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

स नः॒ स्तवा॑न॒ आ भ॑र गाय॒त्रेण॒ नवी॑यसा । र॒यिं वी॒रव॑ती॒मिष॑ं ॥११॥

sa naḥ stávāna ā́ bhara gāyatréṇa návīyasā | rayíṃ vīrávatīm íṣaṃ ||11||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

सः । नः । स्तवानः । आ । भर । गायत्रेण । नवीयसा ॥ रयिम् । वीरऽवतीम् । इषम् ॥११॥

saḥ | naḥ | stavānaḥ | ā | bhara | gāyatreṇa | navīyasā || rayim | vīra-vatīm | iṣam || 11||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥ (runs onto p. 520)

हे अग्ने नवीयसा नवतरेण पूर्वैरप्यसंपादितेन गायत्रेण गायत्रीच्छन्दस्केनानेन सूक्तेन स्तवानः स्तूयमानः स त्वं नो ऽस्मदर्थं रयिं धनं वीरवतीं शूरपुत्रप्रभृत्यपत्ययुक्तामिषमन्नं चा भर । संपादय ॥ स्तवानः । ष्टुञ् स्तुतौ । धात्वादेः षः सः । स्वरितञित इत्यात्मनेपदम् । लटः शानच् । कर्तरि शप् । बहुलं छन्दसीति लुगभावः । गुणावादेशौ । आने मुक् । पा. ७-२-८२ । इति मुगभावो ऽनित्यमागमशासनमित्यागमानुशासनस्यानित्यत्वात् । शपः पित्त्वादनुदात्तत्वम् । शानचश्चित्त्वादन्तोदात्तस्याप्यदुपदेशाच्छपः परत्वाल्लसार्वधातुकानुदात्तत्वम् । धातुस्वर एव शिष्यते । भर । हृग्रहोर्भश्छन्दसि । पा. ८-२-३२-१ । इति भत्वम् । गायत्रेण । गायत्र्याः संबन्धि गायत्रम् । तस्येदम् । पा. ४-३-१२० । इत्यण्प्रत्ययः । प्रत्ययस्वरः । नवीयसा । नवशब्दादातिशायनिक ईयसुन्प्रत्ययः । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । वीरवतीम् । मतुब्ङीपोः पित्त्वादनुदात्तत्वम् । अकारः प्रातिपदिकस्वरेणोदात्तः ॥

he agne navīyasā navatareṇa pūrvairapyasaṃpāditena gāyatreṇa gāyatrīcchandaskenānena sūktena stavānaḥ stūyamānaḥ sa tvaṃ no ’smadarthaṃ rayiṃ dhanaṃ vīravatīṃ śūraputraprabhṛtyapatyayuktāmiṣamannaṃ cā bhara | saṃpādaya || stavānaḥ | ṣṭuñ stutau | dhātvādeḥ ṣaḥ saḥ | svaritañita ityātmanepadam | laṭaḥ śānac | kartari śap | bahulaṃ chandasīti lugabhāvaḥ | guṇāvādeśau | āne muk | pā. 7-2-82 | iti mugabhāvo ’nityamāgamaśāsanamityāgamānuśāsanasyānityatvāt | śapaḥ pittvādanudāttatvam | śānacaścittvādantodāttasyāpyadupadeśācchapaḥ paratvāllasārvadhātukānudāttatvam | dhātusvara eva śiṣyate | bhara | hṛgrahorbhaśchandasi | pā. 8-2-32-1 | iti bhatvam | gāyatreṇa | gāyatryāḥ saṃbandhi gāyatram | tasyedam | pā. 4-3-120 | ityaṇpratyayaḥ | pratyayasvaraḥ | navīyasā |

navaśabdādātiśāyanika īyasunpratyayaḥ | nittvādādyudāttaḥ | vīravatīm | matubṅīpoḥ pittvādanudāttatvam | akāraḥ prātipadikasvareṇodāttaḥ ||

Translation: "O Agni! Stavānaḥ — being praised — by this sūkta in the Gāyatrī meter, gāyatreṇa, navīyasā — newer, not composed even by earlier [poets] — you, for our sake, ā bhara: provide rayim, wealth, and iṣam, food, that is vīravatīm — accompanied by offspring such as brave sons." (Grammatical tail: stavānaḥ — ṣṭuñ stutau, s for ṣ, ātmanepada by "svaritañitaḥ…", śānac for laṭ, śap, its loss not made ("bahulaṃ chandasi"), guṇa and av; the muk of "āne muk" (Pā. 7-2-82) is absent because rules prescribing augments are not binding ("anityam āgamaśāsanam"); śap unaccented as pit; the śānac, though final-udātta as cit, coming after the a-ending śap is unaccented as a lasārvadhātuka, so the root accent alone remains; bhara — bh by "hṛgrahor bhaś chandasi" (Pā. 8-2-32-1); gāyatreṇa — aṇ by "tasyedam" (Pā. 4-3-120), suffix accent; navīyasā — īyasun in the comparative sense after nava, initial-udātta as nit; vīravatīm — matup and ṅīp unaccented as pit, the a udātta by the stem accent.)

Page 520 — Rik 11: word-meanings, overall sense, English, Special Topics

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

(O Agni!) गायत्रेण (gāyatreṇa) — composed in the Gāyatrī meter | नवीयसा (navīyasā) — new, that is, with the hymn not used by us until now (newly composed) | स्तवानः (stavānaḥ) — being praised | सः (saḥ) — such as you are | नः (naḥ) — to us | रयिम् (rayim) — wealth | वीरवतीम् (vīravatīm) — [that is accompanied by] brave sons and others | इषम् (iṣam) — food | आ भर (ā bhara) — bring.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Agni! We are praising you with this hymn just now newly composed in the Gāyatrī meter. Praised thus, give us wealth, valiant people, and food and other nourishment.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> Thus praised by us with our new Gayatra hymn, bring us wealth, valiant men and food.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

"Ā bhara" — "bring, give." The use of the word bhara in the sense "give" is a special established usage in the Ṛgveda:

> सुपेशसं वाजमा भरा नः प्रातर्मक्षू धियावसुर्जगम्यात् । supeśasaṃ vājam ā bharā naḥ prātar makṣū dhiyāvasur jagamyāt | (Ṛ. Sa. 1-63-9) ("Bring us well-adorned strength; may the one rich in insight come at dawn quickly" — mine and tentative.)
>
> विश्वा अग्ने अभियुजो विहत्या शत्रूयतामा भरा भोजनानि । viśvā agne abhiyujo vihatyā śatrūyatām ā bharā bhojanāni | (Ṛ. Saṃ. 5-4-5) ("O Agni, having struck down all attackers, bring us the foods of those who treat us as foes." — mine and tentative.)

सुवीरं रयिमा भर जातवेदो विचर्षणे । suvīraṃ rayim ā bhara jātavedo vicarṣaṇe | (Ṛ. Saṃ. 6-16-29) ("Bring wealth with fine heroes, O Jātavedas, O all-seeing." — mine and tentative.)

and many other examples can be given.

Page 521 — Rik 11: Special Topics (continued) and grammar

"Gāyatreṇa" — the Bhāṣyakāra explains it as "endowed with the Gāyatrī meter." Besides this there is also a Sāman-mantra called gāyatra; and gāyatreṇa may be given the sense "while singing."

"Navīyasā" — new, newly composed, not used before: "used now for the first time." The sense is that the poet says this hymn, composed anew, is being used by him now for the first time. After a sūkta or a rik is composed, many people recite it again and again to praise [the deity]; but he says that with this sūkta he is making praise for the very first time.

"Vīravatīm" — this word is an adjective of the word iṣam; so "give food and other nourishment accompanied by brave offspring — sons, grandsons and so on — servants and kinsfolk": the chief idea is "grant us brave people, and food and the like."

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 521–522, noted briefly; numbers checked against the print)

स्तवानः (stavānaḥ) — root ṣṭuñ stutau; s for ṣ by "dhātvādeḥ ṣaḥ saḥ" (Pā. 6-1-64), and the ṭ that came by ṣṭutva reverts: stu. "svaritañitaḥ kartrabhiprāye kriyāphale" (Pā. 1-3-72): when the fruit of the action goes to the agent, after a svarita-marked or ñ-marked root the ātmanepada comes in place of the lakāra; stu is ñit, so ātmanepada. Then laṭ, replaced by the ātmanepada śānac by "laṭaḥ śatṛ-śānacāv aprathamā-samānādhikaraṇe" (printed "1-3-72" [sic]; the sūtra is 3-2-124): stu + a + āna; the luk that "adiprabhṛtibhyaḥ śapaḥ" (printed "3-1-68" [sic]; the sūtra is 2-4-72) would give does not come, because "bahulaṃ chandasi" (Pā. 2-4-73) contains the word bahula; guṇa by "sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ" (Pā. 7-3-84), av by "eco 'yavāyāvaḥ" (no number printed): stava + āna. By "anityam āgamaśāsanam" (printed "Paribhā. 96" [?]) a rule prescribing an augment is not binding, so the muk of "āne muk" (Pā. 7-2-82) for an a-ending stem before āna does not come; savarṇa-lengthening: stavāna. The śap, being pit, is unaccented; the śānac stands after the śap, which ends in a in the upadeśa, so "tāsy anudātten-ṅid-ad-upadeśāt…" (Pā. 6-1-186) makes this lasārvadhātuka unaccented; by "dhātoḥ" (Pā. 6-1-162) the root stu is udātta, and that accent stands. भर (bhara) — root hṛñ haraṇe; loṭ, second singular sip, replaced by hi by "ser hy apic ca" (Pā. 3-4-87); the vikaraṇa śap, guṇa with r: har + a + hi;

Page 522 — Rik 11 grammar closes

hi dropped by "ato heḥ" (Pā. 6-4-105). On the sūtra "dāder dhātor ghaḥ" (no number printed), "hṛ-grahor bhaś chandasi" (printed "8-2-31"; the bhāṣya gives 8-2-32-1): in the Veda the h of hṛñ haraṇe and graha upādāne becomes bh: bhara. गायत्रेण (gāyatreṇa) — "gāyatryāḥ idam (saṃbandhi)": "tasyedam" (Pā. 4-3-120) gives aṇ in the sense "this belongs to it" after the genitive of a stem: gāyatrī + a; the ī dropped by "yasyeti ca" (Pā. 6-4-148): gāyatra, final-udātta by the suffix accent; instrumental singular ṭā, replaced by ina by "ṭā-ṅasi-ṅasām ināṭsyāḥ" (Pā.

7-1-12); guṇa; "aṭ-kupv-āṅ-num-vyavāye 'pi" (Pā. 8-4-2) gives ṇ: gāyatreṇa. नवीयसा (navīyasā) — in the comparative sense, "dvivacana-vibhajyopapade tarab-īyasunau" (Pā. 5-3-57) gives īyasun after nava; the a dropped by "yasyeti ca"; instrumental singular ṭā: navīyasā; īyasun is nit, so navīyas is initial-udātta by the nit accent. वीरवतीम् (vīravatīm) — "vīrāḥ asyāḥ santi": "tad asyāsty asminn iti matup" (Pā. 5-2-94) gives matup after vīra; matup is ugit, so in the feminine "ugitaś ca" (printed "6-3-45" [?] [sic]; the sūtra is 4-1-6) gives ṅīp after an ugit-ending stem. Vīra ends in a, so "mād upadhāyāś ca mator vo 'yavādibhyaḥ" (Pā. 8-2-9) gives v for the m of matup after a stem ending in or having as penultimate m or a, other than yava etc.: vīravatī. Matup and ṅīp are both pit, hence unaccented; the a in vīra is udātta by the stem accent of "phiṣo 'nta udāttaḥ" (Phi. sū. 1).

॥११॥

Page 522 (lower) — Sūkta 12, Rik 12 (the last)

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

अग्ने॑ शु॒क्रेण॑ शो॒चिषा॒ विश्वा॑भि॒र्देव॑हू॒तिभिः । इ॒मं स्तोम॑ जुषस्व नः ॥१२॥

ágne śukréṇa śocíṣā víśvābhir deváhūtibhiḥ | imáṃ stómaṃ juṣasva naḥ ||12||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

अग्ने । शुक्रेण । शोचिषा । विश्वाभिः । देवऽहूतिऽभिः ॥ इमम् । स्तोमम् । जुषस्व । नः ॥१२॥

agne | śukreṇa | śociṣā | viśvābhiḥ | deva-hūti-bhiḥ || imam | stomam | juṣasva | naḥ ||12||

Page 523 — Rik 12: Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya, word-meanings, overall sense, English, Special Topics

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥ (the closing "॥२३॥" is the varga number)

हे अग्ने शुक्रेण शोचिषा त्वदीयश्वेतवर्णदीप्त्या विश्वाभिर्देवहूतिभिस्त्वत्कृतसर्वदेवताह्वानसाधनस्तोत्रैश्च युक्तस्त्वं नो ऽस्मदीयमिमं स्तोमं स्तोत्रविशेषं जुषस्व । सेवस्व ॥ विश्वशब्दो विशेः क्वन्नन्तो नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । देवहूतिभिः । देवशब्दः पचाद्यजन्तः । चित्त्वादन्तोदात्तः । देवानां हूतय आह्वानान्यासु स्तुतिष्विति देवहूतयः स्तुतयः । बहुव्रीहौ पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् । स्तूयते ऽनेनेति स्तोमः । अर्तिस्तुस्वित्यादिना मन् । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः ॥२३॥

he agne śukreṇa śociṣā tvadīyaśvetavarṇadīptyā viśvābhirdevahūtibhistvatkṛtasarvadevatāhvānasādhanastotraiśca yuktastvaṃ no 'smadīyamimaṃ stomaṃ stotraviśeṣaṃ juṣasva | sevasva || viśvaśabdo viśeḥ kvannanto nittvādādyudāttaḥ | devahūtibhiḥ | devaśabdaḥ pacādyajantaḥ | cittvādantodāttaḥ | devānāṃ hūtaya āhvānānyāsu stutiṣviti devahūtayaḥ stutayaḥ | bahuvrīhau pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvam | stūyate 'neneti stomaḥ | artistusvityādinā man | nittvādādyudāttaḥ ||23||

Translation: "O Agni! You, endowed śukreṇa śociṣā — with your white-coloured radiance — and viśvābhiḥ devahūtibhiḥ — with the hymns made by you that are the means of calling all the gods — juṣasva: serve, accept, imaṃ stomam, this special hymn of ours." (Grammatical tail: viśva ends in kvan after viś, initial-udātta as nit; devahūtibhiḥ — deva ends in ac of the pacādi group, final-udātta as cit; "the hymns in which there are callings of the gods", a bahuvrīhi with the first member's accent; stoma — "that by which one praises", man by "arti-stu-su…", initial-udātta as nit.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

(हे) अग्ने ((he) agne) — O Agni | शुक्रेण (śukreṇa) — endowed with white colour | शोचिषा (śociṣā) — by your radiance | विश्वाभिः (viśvābhiḥ) — all | देवहूतिभिः (devahūtibhiḥ) — and by the hymns that are the means of calling the gods | (you, endowed with these) नः (naḥ) — our | इमं स्तोमम् (imaṃ stomam) — this special hymn | जुषस्व (juṣasva) — serve (accept).

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Agni! You shine with a white-glowing radiance; and the hymns for calling the gods we make only through you. Such as you are, hear this hymn that we make and be satisfied (be glad).

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> Agni. [sic] with your bright splendour. [sic] be pleased through all our invocations of the gods, with this our praise.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

"Śukreṇa śociṣā" — śukla-varṇena kāntyā: "with a white-coloured radiance." When Agni burns blazing, its light spreads all around; the custom is to describe that light or radiance as white. Senses such as "Radiance, bright splendour" [the source's English] may be given.

"Devahūtibhiḥ" — devānāṃ hūtaya āhvānāny āsu stutiṣv iti devahūtayaḥ | tvatkṛta-devatāhvāna-sādhana-stotrair yuktaḥ: people recite hymns to call the gods; since those hymns reach the gods through Agni, the idea is "Agni, endowed with the hymns that are the means of calling the gods."

"Juṣasva" — sevasva; juṣī prītisevanayoḥ: "serve", that is, hear the hymns we make, be glad, be satisfied.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar page, noted briefly; numbers checked against the print)

विश्वाभिः (viśvābhiḥ) — "aśū-pruṣi-laṭi-kaṇi-khaṭi-viśibhyaḥ kvan" (Uṇ. 1-1-49 [sic]; elsewhere 1-149): after viśa praveśane the suffix kvan; initial-udātta by the nit accent; ṭāp, savarṇa-lengthening, instrumental plural bhis, ru and visarga: viśvābhiḥ. देवहूतिभिः (devahūtibhiḥ) — "nandi-grahi-pacādibhyo lyu-ṇiny-acaḥ" (Pā. 3-1-134) gives ac after div; laghūpadha-guṇa: deva; the suffix being cit, final-udātta by "citaḥ" (Pā. 6-1-163). After hveñ spardhāyāṃ śabde ca, "striyāṃ ktin" (Pā. 3-3-94) gives ktin; the suffix being kit, "vaci-svapi-yajādīnāṃ kiti" (Pā. 6-1-15) gives samprasāraṇa — u for the v — to hveñ, which is in the yajādi list; the yajādi roots are counted in the verse "yajir vapir vahiś caiva vasir veñ vyeñ ity api | hveñ vadiḥ śvayatiś caiva yajādyāḥ syur ime nava”. “samprasāraṇāc ca”, pūrvarūpa, and “halaḥ” (printed “6-4-2”) gives the lengthening: hūti, “calling”. “devānāṃ hūtayaḥ āsu stutiṣu santi iti devahūtayaḥ”, a bahuvrīhi: the hymns in which there are callings of the gods are devahūtayaḥ; the first member’s accent by “bahuvrīhau prakṛtyā pūrvapadam” (Pā. 6-2-1). स्तोमम् (stomam) — “arti-stu-su-hu-sṛ-dhṛ-kṣi-kṣu-bhā-yā-vā-padi-yakṣi-nībhyo man” (Uṇ. 1-138): man after stu; guṇa by “sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ” (Pā. 7-3-84): stoma; the suffix being nit, initial-udātta by “ñnity ādir nityam” (Pā. 6-1-197).

॥१२॥

(A printed ornament follows. The page carries no Sanskrit or Kannada colophon for this sūkta. The next printed page, 525, opens the thirteenth sūkta, “suśamiddho na ā vaha,” which the table of contents calls an Āpri-sūkta.)

End of Sūkta 12.

---

Page 525 — opening of Sūkta 13 (fourth anuvāka), an Āpri-sūkta

॥ ಹದಿಮೂರನೆಯ ಸೂಕ್ತವು ॥ — Sūkta 13 — “suśamiddho na ā vaha” (“The Thirteenth Sūkta”)

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥ (introductory note on the application of the sūkta)

> सुसमिद्ध इत्यादिकं द्वादशर्चं द्वितीयमाप्रीसूक्तम् । तस्य काण्वो मेधातिथिर्ऋषिः । गायत्रं छन्दः । प्रत्यृचं प्रतीयमानाः समिद्धतनूनपादादिका द्वादश देवताः । तथा चानुक्रमणिकायामृक्संख्यामृषिं छन्दश्चानुवृत्तिबलात्सिद्धवत्कृत्य देवता उदाहृताः । सुसमिद्ध इतीध्मः समिद्धो वाग्निस्तनूनपान्नराशंस इळो बर्हिर्देवीर्द्वार उषासानक्ता दैव्यौ होतारौ प्रचेतसौ तिस्रो देव्यः सरस्वतीळाभारत्यस्त्वष्टा वनस्पतिः स्वाहाकृतय इति प्रत्यृचं देवता एतदाप्रीसूक्तमिति ॥ विनियोगस्तु । पशौ सुसमिद्धो न आ वहेति काण्वमाप्रीसूक्तम् । एकादश प्रयाजा इति खण्डे सूत्रितम् । समिद्धो अद्येति सर्वेषां यथर्षि वा । आ. ३-२ । इति ॥
>
> *susamiddha ityādikaṃ dvādaśarcaṃ dvitīyamāprīsūktam | tasya kāṇvo medhātithirṛṣiḥ | gāyatraṃ chandaḥ | pratyṛcaṃ pratīyamānāḥ samiddhatanūnapādādikā dvādaśa devatāḥ | tathā cānukramaṇikāyāmṛksaṃkhyāmṛṣiṃ chandaścānuvṛttibalātsiddhavatkṛtya devatā udāhṛtāḥ | susamiddha itīdhmaḥ samiddho vāgnistanūnapānnarāśaṃsa iḷo barhirdevīrdvāra uṣāsānaktā daivyau hotārau pracetasau tisro devyaḥ sarasvatīḷābhāratyastvaṣṭā vanaspatiḥ svāhākṛtaya iti pratyṛcaṃ devatā etadāprīsūktamiti || viniyogastu | paśau susamiddho na ā vaheti kāṇvamāprīsūktam | ekādaśa prayājā iti khaṇḍe sūtritam | samiddho adyeti sarveṣāṃ yatharṣi vā | ā. 3-2 | iti ||`

Translation: “The twelve-rik sūkta beginning susamiddha is the second Āpri-sūkta. Its ṛṣi is Medhātithi Kāṇva; the meter is Gāyatrī; the twelve deities, one for each rik, are known in order beginning with samiddha [Agni] and tanūnapāt. So in the Anukramaṇikā, treating the number of riks, the ṛṣi and the meter as established by continuation, the deities are cited: ‘susamiddha’ — idhma [fuel] or samiddha [Agni kindled]; tanūnapāt; narāśaṃsa; iḷaḥ; barhiḥ; devīr dvāraḥ; uṣāsānaktā; daivyau hotārau pracetasau; tisro devyaḥ — Sarasvatī, Iḷā, Bhāratī; tvaṣṭā; vanaspatiḥ; svāhākṛtayaḥ — this is the Āpri-sūkta. Its application: in the animal sacrifice, the Kāṇva Āpri-sūkta susamiddho na ā vaha; it is laid down in the section 'the eleven prayājas': 'samiddho adya' for all, or according to the ṛṣi (Āśv. 3-2)."

॥ Anuvāda (Kannada rendering) ॥ The twelve-rik sūkta that begins with susamiddha is the second sūkta in this fourth anuvāka. It is called an Āpri-sūkta. Its ṛṣi is Medhātithi Kāṇva; its meter is Gāyatrī. For each rik there is a different deity — twelve in all, beginning with idhma-samiddha Agni and tanūnapāt. The Anukramaṇikā too, noting the number of riks, the ṛṣi and the meter, lists the deities: in the sūkta susamiddha, for the riks in order: (1) idhmaḥ samiddho 'gnir vā, (2) tanūnapāt, (3) narāśaṃsaḥ, (4) iḷaḥ, (5) barhiḥ, (6) devīr dvāraḥ, (7) uṣāsānaktā, (8) daivyā hotārā pracetasau, (9) tisro devyaḥ sarasvatī bhāratī iḷā, (10) tvaṣṭā, (11) vanaspatiḥ, (12) svāhākṛtayaḥ — twelve deities; hence it is well known as an Āpri-sūkta. Application: in the animal sacrifice (paśuyāga), when performing the eleven prayāja offerings, the Āpri-sūkta of Kaṇva's family is used; Āśvalāyana's Śrauta-sūtra treats this in the section "the eleven prayājas," by the sūtra samiddho adya sarveṣāṃ yathā-ṛṣi vā (Ā. 3-2).

Page 526 — Sūkta 13, Rik 1

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. The Pada prints होतरिति (hotar iti) for होतः, as printed.)

॥ ॐ ॥

॥ Sūkta — 13 ॥ ॥ Maṇḍala — 1 ॥ Anuvāka — 4 ॥ Sūkta — 13 ॥ ॥ Aṣṭaka — 1 ॥ Adhyāya — 1 ॥ Varga — 24, 25 ॥ ॥ Mantras contained in this sūkta: 1–12 ॥ ॥ Ṛṣi — Medhātithi Kāṇva ॥ ॥ Devatā — (1) idhmaḥ samiddho 'gniḥ; (2) tanūnapāt; (3) narāśaṃsaḥ; (4) iḷaḥ; (5) barhiḥ; (6) devīr dvāraḥ; (7) uṣāsānaktā; (8) daivyā hotārā pracetasau; (9) tisro devyaḥ — sarasvatī, iḷā, bhāratī; (10) tvaṣṭā; (11) vanaspatiḥ; (12) svāhākṛtayaḥ ॥ (as printed, rik by rik) ॥ Chandaḥ — Gāyatrī ॥

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

सुसमिद्धो न आ वह देवाँ अग्ने हविष्मते । होतः पावक यक्षि च ॥१॥

súsamiddho na ā́ vaha devā́m̐ agne havíṣmate | hótaḥ pāvaka yákṣi ca ||1||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

सुऽसमिद्धः । नः । आ । वह । देवान् । अग्ने । हविष्मते ॥ होतरिति । पावक । यक्षि । च ॥१॥

su-samiddhaḥ | naḥ | ā | vaha | devān | agne | haviṣmate || hotar iti | pāvaka | yakṣi | ca ||1||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥ (runs onto p. 527)

हे अग्ने सुसमिद्धनामकस्त्वं नो ऽस्मदीयाय हविष्मते यजमानाय तदनुग्रहार्थं देवाना वह । हे पावक शोधक होतर्होमनिष्पादकाग्ने यक्षि च । यज च ॥ सुसमिद्धः । समः क्रियाविशेषणत्वेन

गतिसंज्ञकत्वात्प्रादिसमासः । शोभनवाचिनः सुशब्दस्य तु विशेषणं विशेष्येण बहुलम् । पा. २-१-५७ । इति समिद्धपदेन कर्मधारयसमासः । सुशब्दः प्रातिपदिकस्वरेणोदात्तः । कर्मधारये ऽनिष्ठा । पा. ६-२-४६ । इति पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् । क्रियाविशेषणत्वे हि सुशब्दस्य गतित्वात्प्रादिसमासे गतिरनन्तर इति समो यदुदात्तत्वं तदेव कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वेन स्थास्यतीति सुशब्दो ऽनुदात्तः स्यात् । देवाँ अग्ने । पूर्ववद्भुत्वानुनासिके । हविष्मते । हविरस्यास्तीति मतुप् । तसौ मत्वर्थे । पा. १-४-१९ । इति भत्वेन पदत्वस्य बाधितत्वान्न रुत्वम् । होतःपावकशब्दयोरामन्त्रितयोः पृथक्पृथगेव क्रियान्वये परस्परमसामर्थ्यात्पराङ्गवद्भावाभावान्न तन्निबन्धनमैकस्वर्यम् । न च द्वितीयस्यामन्त्रितस्याष्टमिकनिघातेनैकस्वर्यम् । आमन्त्रितं पूर्वमविद्यमानवदिति पूर्वस्याविद्यमानवत्त्वेन पदात्परत्वाभावात्पादादित्वाच्च । परस्परसामानाधिकरण्ये ऽपि होतरित्यस्य विशेषणत्वे समानमेवाविद्यमानवत्त्वम् । अत एवाविद्यमानवत्त्वात्सामर्थ्ये ऽपि न पराङ्गवद्भाव इति नैकस्वर्यसिद्धिः । अतो होतरिति विशेष्यम् । अतः पुनातीति पावक इत्यवयवप्रसिद्धिस्वीकारेण विशेषणत्वाद्धोतरिति विशेष्यम् । तच्च सामान्यवचनमिति नामन्त्रिते समानाधिकरण इत्यविद्यमानवत्त्वप्रतिषेधात्पदात्परत्वादपादादित्वाच्च द्वितीयामन्त्रितस्याष्टमिकनिघातेन वा पराङ्गवद्भावे सति शेषनिघातेन वा सर्वानुदात्तत्वसिद्धिः । यक्षि । यजेर्लोटः सिपि बहुलं छन्दसीति शपो लुक् । व्रश्चादिना षत्वम् । षढोः कः सि । पा. ८-२-४१ । इति कत्वम् । सेर्हिरादेशश्छान्दसत्वान्न भवति । सिपः पित्त्वेनानुदात्तत्वाद्धातुस्वर एव शिष्यते । न च तिङ्ङतिङः इति निघातः । पूर्वस्य पावकेत्यामन्त्रितस्याविद्यमानवत्त्वेन पदादपरत्वात् । अत एव तस्याव्यवधायकत्वेन होतरित्यपेक्ष्य निघातः स्यादिति चेन्न । यक्षिपदापेक्षया होतरित्यस्यापि पूर्वत्वेनाविद्यमानवत्त्वात् । ननु नामन्त्रिते समानाधिकरण इति तस्य निषिद्धमविद्यमानवत्त्वम् । न च पावकपदस्याविद्यमानवत्त्वेन समानाधिकरणपरत्वाभावः । यक्षिपदस्यैव हि कार्यं प्रति पावकपदं पूर्वत्वादविद्यमानवत्स्यात् । होतःपदकार्यमविद्यमानवत्त्वप्रतिषेधं प्रति तु परत्वाद्विद्यमानवदेवेति भवत्येव होतरित्यस्याविद्यमानवत्त्वप्रतिषेधः । अतस्तस्य विद्यमानवत्त्वात्तदपेक्षया यक्षीत्यस्य निघातः प्राप्नोत्येव । सत्यम् । अत्र यक्षीत्यस्य चशब्दपरत्वाच्चादिषु च । ८-१-५८ । इति निघातप्रतिषेधो भविष्यतीत्यदोषः ॥

he agne susamiddhanāmakastvaṃ no 'smadīyāya haviṣmate yajamānāya tadanugrahārthaṃ devānā vaha | he pāvaka śodhaka hotarhomaniṣpādakāgne yakṣi ca | yaja ca || susamiddhaḥ | samaḥ kriyāviśeṣaṇatvena gatisaṃjñakatvātprādisamāsaḥ | śobhanavācinaḥ suśabdasya tu viśeṣaṇaṃ viśeṣyeṇa bahulam | pā. 2-1-57 | iti samiddhapadena karmadhārayasamāsaḥ | suśabdaḥ prātipadikasvareṇodāttaḥ | karmadhāraye 'niṣṭhā | pā. 6-2-46 | iti pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvam | kriyāviśeṣaṇatve hi suśabdasya gatitvātprādisamāse gatiranantara iti samo yadudāttatvaṃ tadeva kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvena sthāsyatīti suśabdo 'nudāttaḥ syāt | devā~ agne | pūrvavadrutvānunāsike | haviṣmate | havirasyāstīti matup | tasau matvarthe | pā. 1-4-19 | iti bhatvena padatvasya bādhitatvānna rutvam | hotaḥpāvakaśabdayorāmantritayoḥ pṛthakpṛthageva kriyānvaye parasparamasāmarthyātparāṅgavadbhāvābhāvānna tannibandhanamaikasvaryam | na ca dvitīyasyāmantritasyāṣṭamikanighātenaikasvaryam | āmantritaṃ pūrvamavidyamānavaditi pūrvasyāvidyamānavattvena padātparatvābhāvātpādāditvācca | parasparasāmānādhikaraṇye 'pi hotarityasya viśeṣaṇatve samānamevāvidyamānavattvam | ata evāvidyamānavattvātsāmarthye 'pi na parāṅgavadbhāva iti naikasvaryasiddhiḥ | ato hotariti viśeṣyam | ataḥ punātīti

pāvaka ityavayavaprasiddhisvīkāreṇa viśeṣaṇatvāddhotariti viśeṣyam | tacca sāmānyavacanamiti nāmantrite samānādhikaraṇa ityavidyamānavattvapratiṣedhātpadātparatvādapādāditvācca dvitīyāmantritasyāṣṭamikanighātena vā parāṅgavadbhāve sati śeṣanighātena vā sarvānudāttatvasiddhiḥ | yakṣi | yajerloṭaḥ sipi bahulaṃ chandasīti śapo luk | vraścādinā ṣatvam | ṣaḍhoḥ kaḥ si | pā. 8-2-41 | iti katvam | serhirādeśaścāndasatvānna bhavati | sipaḥ pittvenānudāttatvāddhātusvara eva śiṣyate | na ca tiṅṅatiṅa iti nighātaḥ | pūrvasya pāvaketyāmantritasyāvidyamānavattvena padādaparatvāt | ata eva tasyāvyavadhāyakatvena hotarityapekṣya nighātaḥ syāditi cenna | yakṣipadāpekṣayā hotarityasyāpi pūrvatvenāvidyamānavattvāt | nanu nāmantrite samānādhikaraṇa iti tasya niṣiddhamavidyamānavattvam | na ca pāvakapadasyāvidyamānavattvena samānādhikaraṇaparatvābhāvaḥ | yakṣipadasyaiva hi kāryaṃ prati pāvakapadaṃ pūrvatvādavidyamānavatsyāt | hotaḥpadakāryamavidyamānavattvapratiṣedhaṃ prati tu paratvādvidyamānavadeveti bhavatyeva hotarityasyāvidyamānavattvapratiṣedhaḥ | atastasya vidyamānavattvāttadapekṣayā yakṣītyasya nighātaḥ prāpnotyeva | satyam | atra yakṣītyasya caśabdaparatvāccādiṣu ca | 8-1-58 | iti nighātapratiṣedho bhaviṣyatītyadoṣaḥ ||

Translation: “O Agni! You, who bear the name Susamiddha, bring the gods, to favour him, for our sacrificer who is haviṣmat — possessed of the oblation. O pāvaka, purifier! O hotar, accomplisher of the homa! Yakṣi ca — and sacrifice.” (Grammatical tail: susamiddhaḥ — sam, as a qualifier of the action, is a gati, giving a prādi compound; su, meaning “good”, is compounded with samiddha as a karmadhāraya by “viśeṣaṇaṃ viśeṣyeṇa bahulam” (Pā. 2-1-57); su is udātta by the stem accent, and “karmadhāraye ’niṣṭhā” (Pā. 6-2-46) keeps the first member’s accent; were su a qualifier of the action, it would be a gati, the udātta of sam by “gatir anantaraḥ” would stand as the accent of the kṛt second member, and su would be unaccented. devāṁ̐ agne — ru and nasalization as before. haviṣmate — matup; bha status by “tasau matvarthe” (Pā. 1-4-19) bars pada status, so no ru. The vocatives hotar and pāvaka, each connected separately with the verb, lack mutual capacity, so they are not treated as one word; nor is the second unaccented by the eighth-chapter rule, since by “āmantritaṃ pūrvam avidyamānavat” the first counts as absent and the second would begin the pāda. Even if they are in apposition, if hotar is the qualifier the “absent” treatment is the same. So hotar is the qualified term, and pāvaka — “he purifies” — the qualifier; the qualified is the general term, so “nāmantrite samānādhikaraṇe” bars the “absent” treatment, the second vocative follows a word and does not begin the pāda, and it becomes wholly unaccented either by the eighth-chapter rule or, with the parāṅgavat treatment, by the rule for the remainder. yakṣi — loṭ of yaj, śap dropped after sip by “bahulaṃ chandasi”, ṣ by “vraśca…”, k by “ṣaḍhoḥ kaḥ si” (Pā. 8-2-41), no hi for si (Vedic); sip unaccented as pit, so the root accent stands. Objection: “tiṅṅ atiṅaḥ” does not apply, since the vocative pāvaka before it counts as absent, so yakṣi does not follow a word — nor does it follow hotar, which also counts as absent with respect to yakṣi. But “nāmantrite samānādhikaraṇe” has barred the “absent” treatment of hotar; with respect to yakṣi only pāvaka counts as absent, while for the bar on hotar it counts as present; so hotar is present and yakṣi would be unaccented after it. True; but since yakṣi is followed by ca, “cādiṣu ca” (8-1-58) bars the loss of accent — so there is no fault.)

Page 527 (lower) — Rik 1: word-meanings

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

(हे) अग्ने ((he) agne) — O Agni | सुसमिद्धः (susamiddhaḥ) — [you, named] thoroughly kindled (well lit) | नः (naḥ) — to our | हविष्मते (haviṣmate) — sacrificer who is endowed with the oblation | (for the purpose of favouring) देवान् (devān) — the gods | आ वह (ā vaha) — bring here | (हे) पावक ((he) pāvaka) — O purifier | (हे) होतः ((he) hotaḥ) — O Agni, accomplisher of the homa | यक्षि च (yakṣi ca) — and accomplish the sacrifice.

Page 528 — Rik 1: overall sense, English, Special Topics

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Agni! They call you Susamiddha, because you are well kindled and blaze brightly. Such as you are, bring the gods here to favour our sacrificer, who has prepared the oblation, and bring this sacrifice to completion.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> Being well lighted, O Agni, invoker and purifier, bring hither the gods to the offerer of our oblations and perform the sacrifice.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

This is an Āpri-sūkta. We have given a short account of the Āpri-sūktas on pages 73–74. On this subject the great sage Yāska says in his Nirukta:

> अथात आप्रियः । आप्रियः कस्मादाप्नोतेः प्रीणातेर्वा । आप्रीभिराप्रीणातीति च ब्राह्मणम् ॥
>
> athāta āpriyaḥ | āpriyaḥ kasmādāpnoteḥ prīṇātervā | āprībhirāprīṇātīti ca brāhmaṇam ||

That is, āpriya means "being pleased": because the gods are pleased by these sūktas, they came to be called āprī-sūktas; and he cites the Brāhmaṇa sentence āprībhir āprīṇāti ca.

"Susamiddhaḥ" — the deity of this rik is Agni, called by the name samiddha. Here su = well; sam = fully; iddhaḥ = kindled: that is the sense of the parts: that is, well kindled, blazing up and burning brightly — "the thoroughly kindled" [the source's English]. When the animal offering is made, since Agni must be burning well, it may be the custom to address Agni in this way. Although the first five riks of this Āpri-sūkta have deities of different names, they are all called by Agni's names. On this, Yāska

> इध्मः । तासामिध्मः प्रथमागामी भवति । इध्मः समिन्धनात् । यज्ञेध्म इति कात्थक्यः । अग्निरिति शाकपूणिः ॥
>
> idhmaḥ | tāsāmidhmaḥ prathamāgāmī bhavati | idhmaḥ samindhanāt | yajñedhma iti kātthakyaḥ | agniriti śākapūṇiḥ ||

says. That is, among these five names of Agni, samiddha is the first; for the idhma (firewood, fuel) is the first means of kindling Agni; Yāska says that Kātthakya takes the word as the idhma — the samidh sticks used in the sacrifice — and Śākapūṇi as Agni (Ni. 8-4).

Page 529 — Rik 1: Special Topics (continued) and grammar

"Hotaḥ" — homaniṣpādakaḥ: the chief vessel-bearer in the homa, the carrier [of the oblation], or the one who invokes the gods.

"Pāvaka" — śodhaka: the purifier, the one who makes holy; or the one who shines brightly.

"Yakṣi" — "perform the sacrifice." The reason the poet prays Agni to "sacrifice" is that without Agni there is no sacrifice. Therefore, having called the gods to the sacrificial ground, making [Agni] pour the oblation into the fire so that it reaches the gods, and acting as the chief vessel-bearer so that the sacrifice is completed with all its limbs — in this sense the seer prays Agni, "perform the sacrifice."

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 529–532, noted briefly; numbers checked against the print)

सुसमिद्धः (susamiddhaḥ) — root ñi indhī dīptau, rudhādi; after it kta; by "anidatāṃ hala upadhāyāḥ kniti" (Pā. 6-4-24), before a kit or ṅit suffix the penultimate n of a consonant-ending stem that is not idit is dropped: idh + ta; "jhaṣas tathor dho 'dhaḥ" (Pā. 8-2-40) gives dh for the t, and jaśtva: iddha. Sam, qualifying the action, has the name gati, and is compounded with iddhaḥ by "kugatiprādayaḥ" (Pā. 2-2-18). Su here is a prātipadika meaning "good", not a gati; it is compounded with samiddha as a karmadhāraya by "viśeṣaṇaṃ viśeṣyeṇa bahulam" (Pā. 2-1-57). Su is final-udātta by the stem accent; by "karmadhāraye 'niṣṭhā" (printed "6-2 46"), in a karmadhāraya with a kta-ending second member, a first member that is not a niṣṭhā keeps its own accent, so the udātta of su stands, the other vowels unaccented by the rule for the remainder; the sa after su is svarita by "udāttād anudāttasya svaritaḥ" (Pā. 8-4-66), and the following vowels are pracaya by "svaritāt saṃhitāyām anudāttānām" (Pā. 1-2-39). If, like sam, su too were taken as qualifying the action, it would be a gati and give a prādi compound; by "gatir anantaraḥ" (Pā. 6-2-49), before a kta-ending in the object sense an immediately preceding gati keeps its accent, so sam would be udātta; even after compounding, by "gati-kārakopapadāt kṛt" (Pā. 6-2-139) the accent of the kṛt second member would have to stand, and su would be unaccented by the rule for the remainder. So su is not taken as qualifying the action but as a prātipadika meaning "good", and the desired initial udātta of susamiddha is obtained.

Page 530 — Rik 1 grammar (continued)

Su does not qualify the action. Even granting it is a prātipadika meaning "good", the first-member accent of "karmadhāraye 'niṣṭhā" does not arise here: that sūtra applies only where the compound is the one specifically prescribed with kta-endings by "śreṇyādayaḥ kṛtādibhiḥ" (printed "2-1-59"). That is why in "mahān vrīhy-aparāhṇa-gṛṣṭīṣvāsa-jābāla-bhāra-bhārata-hailihila-raurava-pravṛddheṣu" (Pā. 6-2-38) — mahat keeps its own accent before these ten words, vrīhi and the rest — the mention of pravṛddha has a purpose; otherwise in mahāpravṛddha "karmadhāraye 'niṣṭhā" (6-2-46) would already give the first-member accent, and the mention of pravṛddha would be useless. This point is clear in the Mahābhāṣya on the sūtra mahān vrīhi; the lines there are:

> किमर्थं महतः प्रवृद्धशब्द उत्तरपदे पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वमुच्यते ? न कर्मधारये ऽनिष्ठेत्येव सिद्धम् ? न सिध्यति । किं कारणम् ? । श्रेण्यादिसमास इत्येवं तत् । किं पुनः कारणं श्रेण्यादिसमास इत्येवं तत् ? इह मा भूत् महानिलनिष्को [?] दक्षिणा दीयत इति ।
>
> kimarthaṃ mahataḥ pravṛddhaśabda uttarapade pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvamucyate ? na karmadhāraye 'niṣṭhetyeva siddham ? na sidhyati | kiṃ kāraṇam ? | śreṇyādisamāsa ityevaṃ tat | kiṃ punaḥ kāraṇaṃ śreṇyādisamāsa ityevaṃ tat ? iha mā bhūt mahānilaniṣko [?] dakṣiṇā dīyata iti |

In the Kaiyaṭa, taking up the words śreṇyādisamāsa iti, the explanation is:

> लक्षणप्रतिपदोक्तपरिभाषया क्तान्तेन प्रतिपदोक्तो यः कर्मधारयस्तस्य ग्रहणमित्यर्थः
>
> lakṣaṇapratipadoktaparibhāṣayā ktāntena pratipadokto yaḥ karmadhārayastasya grahaṇamityarthaḥ

So, just as in mahāpravṛddha, formed by "san-mahat-paramottamotkṛṣṭāḥ pūjyamānaiḥ" (Pā. 2-1-61), so in susamiddhaḥ, compounded by "viśeṣaṇaṃ viśeṣyeṇa bahulam" (printed "2-1-52" [?]), "karmadhāraye 'niṣṭhā" (Pā. 6-2-46) does not apply. The root indhī means "to shine", so it is intransitive, and the kta after it can only be in the sense of the state, not of the object; therefore, on the view that sam qualifies the action, deriving the udātta of sam by "gatir anantaraḥ" (Pā. 6-2-49) is not right. Even granting that derivation on the strength of the upasarga, it is proper to derive the udātta of sam in the second compound by the same rule; since the special accent of thātha… stays alert, the accent of the kṛt second member does not apply. The dāsībhārādi group (printed "6-2-42") is an ākṛtigaṇa; it is proper to include susamiddha in it and so derive the first-member accent. देवाँ अग्ने (devāṁ̐ agne) — ru and nasalization as before. हविष्मते (haviṣmate) — "haviḥ asya asti": matup by "tad asyāsty asminn iti matup" (Pā. 5-2-94); in havis + mate, "tasau matvarthe" (Pā. 1-4-19) gives the name bha to stems ending in t or s before a possessive suffix, and this bha bars the name pada; so the ru of "sasajuṣo ruḥ" (Pā. 8-2-66) does not come.

Page 531 — Rik 1 grammar (continued)

होतः पावक (hotaḥ pāvaka) — both words are vocatives. If each is said to connect separately with the action alone, they have no mutual connection and so no sāmarthya, hence no parāṅgavat treatment; so one cannot say that, by that treatment, the sixth-chapter sūtra makes the o udātta and the rest unaccented by the rule for the remainder, giving a single accent. By "āmantritaṃ pūrvam avidyamānavat" (Pā. 8-1-72) the first vocative counts as absent, so the second does not follow a word and also begins the pāda; so "āmantritasya ca" (Pā. 8-1-19) cannot make it wholly unaccented. Now consider them as mutually connected. If hotaḥ is taken as the qualifier, the first counts as absent just as before; and because of that, even with sāmarthya from the mutual connection there is no parāṅgavat treatment; so in this case too the single unaccented form is not obtained. Therefore, accepting the familiar sense of the parts, "punāti iti pāvakaḥ", pāvaka must be taken as the qualifier and hotaḥ as the qualified. Hotaḥ, being the qualified, is the general term; so "nāmantrite samānādhikaraṇe sāmānyavacanam" (Pā. 8-1-73) bars the "absent" treatment. Thus the second vocative follows a word and is not at the beginning of the pāda, so the eighth-chapter loss of accent applies. Or, with the parāṅgavat treatment by "subāmantrite…" (printed "2-1-2"), the sixth-chapter "āmantritasya ca" (Pā. 6-1-198) makes the o udātta and "anudāttaṃ padam ekavarjam" (Pā. 6-1-158), the rule for the remainder, makes all the other vowels unaccented. यक्षि (yakṣi) — root yaja deva-pūjā-saṅgatikaraṇa-dāneṣu; loṭ, second singular sip; being Vedic, the hi of "ser hy apic ca" (Pā. 3-4-87) does not replace si; the vikaraṇa śap is dropped by "bahulaṃ chandasi" (Pā. 2-4-73); in yaj + si, "vraśca-bhrasja-sṛja-mṛja-yaja-rāja-bhrāja-cchaśāṃ ṣaḥ" (Pā. 8-2-36) gives ṣ for the j; "ṣaḍhoḥ kaḥ si" (Pā. 8-2-41): before s, ṣ and ḍh become k; ṣ for the s by "ādeśa-pratyayayoḥ" (Pā. 8-3-59): yakṣi. Sip, being pit, is unaccented by "anudāttau sup-pitau" (Pā. 3-1-4); hence the root accent stands. Before yakṣi stands pāvaka, a vocative; by "āmantritaṃ pūrvam avidyamānavat" (Pā. 8-1-72) it counts as absent, so yakṣi does not follow a word that is not a tiṅanta, and "tiṅṅ atiṅaḥ" does not make it wholly unaccented. For yakṣi, since pāvaka counts as absent, it cannot intervene; so one may say that, coming after the word hotaḥ, it should be wholly unaccented. But with respect to yakṣi, hotaḥ too is an earlier word, so by "āmantritaṃ pūrvam avidyamānavat" it too counts as absent; hence even with hotaḥ as the condition, the full loss of accent does not come. But in deriving the accent of hotaḥ and pāvaka, hotaḥ was said to be the qualified and pāvaka, by the familiar sense of its parts, the qualifier; so by "nāmantrite samānādhikaraṇe sāmānyavacanam" (Pā. 8-1-73) the "absent" treatment of hotaḥ is barred. One cannot say that the following pāvaka, counting as absent, gives no following appositive vocative and so no occasion for the bar: for pāvaka counts as absent only when an operation is made on yakṣi, for which it is an earlier word; when the bar on hotaḥ's "absent" treatment is being made, pāvaka is later than hotaḥ, not earlier, so it does not then count as absent. So an appositive vocative does follow, the bar of "nāmantrite…" applies, and hotaḥ does not count as absent. Thus yakṣi follows the word hotaḥ, and "tiṅṅ atiṅaḥ" should make it wholly unaccented — that is true. But here yakṣi is followed by the word ca; so "cādiṣu ca" (Pā. 8-1-58) — a tiṅanta is not unaccented before the five words ca, vā, ha, aha, eva — bars "tiṅṅ atiṅaḥ" (Pā. 8-1-28); so yakṣi is not wholly unaccented, and, as said before, the root accent alone stands.

Page 532 — Rik 1 grammar closes

॥१॥

---

Page 532 (lower) — Sūkta 13, Rik 2

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

मधु॑मन्तं तनूनपाद्य॒ज्ञं दे॒वेषु॑ नः कवे । अ॒द्या कृ॑णुहि वी॒तये ॥२॥

mádhumantaṃ tanūnapād yajñáṃ devéṣu naḥ kave | adyā́ kṛṇuhi vītaye ||2||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

मधुऽमन्तम् । तनूऽनपात् । यज्ञम् । देवेषु । नः । कवे ॥ अद्य । कृणुहि । वीतये ॥२॥

madhu-mantam | tanū-napāt | ɣajñam | deveṣu | naḥ | kave || adɣa | kṛṇuhi | vītaye ||2||

Page 533 — Rik 2: Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya, word-meanings, overall sense, English

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे कवे मेधाविन्नग्ने तनूनपादेतन्नामकस्त्वमद्यास्मिन्दिने नो ऽस्मदीयं मधुमन्तं रसवन्तं यज्ञं हविर्वीतये भक्षणार्थं देवेषु कृणुहि । कुरु । प्रापयेत्यर्थः ॥ मधुमन्तम् । फलिपाटिनमिमनिजनां गुक्पटिनाकिधतश्च । उ. १-१९ । इति मन्यतेरुप्रत्ययो धकारश्चान्तादेशः । निदित्यनुवृत्तेः प्रत्ययस्य नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तो मधुशब्दः । तनूनपात् । आमन्त्रितनिघातः । अद्य । सद्यःपरुदित्यादिनास्मिन्काल इत्यर्थे द्यप्रत्ययान्तो निपातितः । प्रत्ययस्वरेणान्तोदात्तः । तद्धितश्चासर्वविभक्तिरित्यव्ययत्वादव्ययादाप्सुप इत्युपरि सप्तम्या लुक् । संहितायामन्येषामपि दृश्यत इति दीर्घत्वम् । कृणुहि । कृवि हिंसाकरणयोश्च । इदितो नुम् धातोरिति नुम् । लोटः सेर्हिरादेशः । धिन्विकृण्व्योरच्चेति शपो ऽपवादो विकरण उप्रत्ययः । तत्संनियोगेन वकारस्याकारः । तस्यातो लोप इति लोपः । तस्य स्थानिवद्भावाल्लघूपधगुणो न भवति । उतश्च प्रत्ययादसंयोगपूर्वात् । पा. ६-४-१०६ । इति हेर्लुग्न भवत्युतश्च प्रत्ययाच्छन्दो वा वचनम् । पा. ६-४-१०६-१ । इति वचनात् । तिङ्ङतिङ इति निघातः । वीतये । मन्त्रे वृषेषपचमनविदभूवीरा उदात्त इति क्तिन्नुदात्तः ॥

he kave medhāvinnagne tanūnapādetannāmakastvamadɣāsmindine no 'smadīyaṃ madhumantaṃ rasavantaṃ ɣajñaṃ havirvītaye bhakṣaṇārthaṃ deveṣu kṛṇuhi | kuru | prāpayetɣarthaḥ || madhumantam | phalipāṭinamimanijanāṃ gukpaṭināki dhataśca | u. 1-19 | iti manɣaterupratɣayo dhakāraścāntādeśaḥ | niditɣanuvṛtteḥ pratɣayasɣa nittvādādɣudātto madhuśabdaḥ | tanūnapāt | āmantritanighātaḥ | adɣa | sadɣaḥparuditɣādināsminkāla itɣarthe dɣapratɣayānto nipātitaḥ | pratɣayasvareṇāntodāttaḥ | taddhitaścāsarvavibhaktitirityavɣayatvādavɣayādāpsupa itɣupari saptamɣā luk | saṃhitāɣāmanɣeṣāmapi dṛśɣata iti dīrghatvam | kṛṇuhi | kṛvi hiṃsākaraṇayośca | idito num dhātoriti num | loṭaḥ serhirādeśaḥ | dhinvikṛṇvɣoracceti śapo 'pavādo vikaraṇa upratɣayaḥ | tatsaṃniɣogena vakārasɣākāraḥ | tasɣāto lopa iti lopaḥ | tasɣa sthānivadbhāvāllaghūpadhaguṇo na bhavati | utaśca pratɣayādasaṃɣogapūrvāt | pā. 6-4-106 | iti herlugna bhavatɣutaśca pratɣayācchando vā vacanam | pā. 6-4-106-1 | iti vacanāt | tiṅṅatiṅa iti nighātaḥ | vītaye | mantre vṛṣeṣapacamanavidabhūvīrā udātta iti ktinnudāttaḥ ||

Translation: "O kave — wise Agni — you who bear the name Tanūnapāt, adɣa — on this day — deveṣu kṛṇuhi, make among the gods — that is, cause to reach them — our madhumantam, flavourful, ɣajñam, oblation, vītaye, for their eating." (Grammatical tail: madhumantam — the suffix u after man by "phali-pāṭi-nami-mani-janāṃ guk-paṭi-nāki-dhataś ca" (Uṇ. 1-19), with dh for the final; since nit is carried over, madhu is initial-udātta; tanūnapāt — unaccented as a vocative; adɣa — formed irregularly with dɣa in the sense "at this time" by "sadyaḥ-parut…", final-udātta by the suffix accent; an indeclinable by "taddhitaś cāsarvavibhaktiḥ", so the locative after it is dropped by "avyayād āp-supaḥ"; lengthened in the Saṃhitā by "anyeṣām api dṛśyate"; kṛṇuhi — kṛvi hiṃsākaraṇayoś ca, num by "idito num dhātoḥ", hi for si of loṭ, the vikaraṇa u instead of śap by "dhinvi-kṛṇvyor a ca", a for the v along with it, dropped by "ato lopaḥ", and since that loss counts as present there is no penultimate guṇa; the loss of hi by “utaś ca pratyayād asaṃyogapūrvāt” (Pā. 6-4-106) does not take place, by the vārttika “utaś ca pratyayāc chando vā vacanam” (Pā. 6-4-106-1); unaccented by “tiṅṅ atiṅaḥ”; vītaye — ktin udātta by “mantre vṛṣeṣa…”.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

(हे) कवे ((he) kave) — O wise Agni | तनूनपात् (tanūnapāt) — you named Tanūnapāt | अद्य (adya) — this day, now | नः (naḥ) — our | मधुमन्तम् (madhumantam) — tasty like honey | यज्ञम् (yajñam) — that is, the oblation offered in the sacrifice | वीतये (vītaye) — for the gods to eat | देवेषु (deveṣu) — among the gods | कृणुहि (kṛṇuhi) — make (that is, offer).

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Agni, you are wise, and you are also called Tanūnapāt. Such as you are, today offer to the gods, for their eating, the sacrifice we are performing (or the oblation belonging to the sacrifice).

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> Wise Agni, also called Tanunapat present, this day our well-flavoured sacrifice to the gods that they may feast.

Page 534 — Rik 2: Special Topics

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

“Madhumantam” — rasavantam: tasty, sweet like honey: well-flavoured, rich in honey [the source’s English]. The author of the Vedārthayatna takes madhu as Soma and explains “the oblation joined with Soma-juice.” In support of this sense he gives as an example the rik

(Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-15-11.)

> अश्विना पिबतं मधु दीद्यग्नी शुचिव्रता ।
>
> aśvinā pibataṃ madhu dīdyagnī śucivratā |

(“O Aśvins, of bright fires and pure vows, drink the honey” — mine and tentative.)

In explaining this rik Sāyaṇa plainly says madhu-mādhuryopetaṃ somam, “the sweet Soma-juice.” Besides this, in explaining the rik

(Ṛ. Saṃ. 9-73-2.)

> मधोर्धाराभिर्जनयन्तो अर्कमित्प्रियामिन्द्रस्य तन्वमवीवृधन् ।
>
> madhordhārābhirjanayanto arkamitpriyāmindrasya tanvamavīvṛdhan |

(“Producing the hymn with streams of honey, they have increased the dear body of Indra” — mine and tentative.)

the Bhāṣyakāra gives the word madhoḥ the sense madakarasya somasya, "of the Soma-juice that causes exhilaration." There are many riks in the Ṛgveda that give madhu the sense of Soma-juice; so the word madhumantam can be given the sense "accompanied by Soma-juice."

"Tanūnapāt" — this word too is another name of Agni. Some explain it as "one born from himself." In support of this sense they cite the rik agninā agniḥ samidhyate — "fire is kindled by (another) fire"; and since in the Nirukta the word napāt is read among the fifteen words for offspring beginning with tuk, tokam (Ni. 2-2), napāt means a son: tanū = from one's own body, napāt = one born. And the great sage Yāska, explaining the word tanūnapāt in the Daivatakāṇḍa of his Nirukta, says:

> तनूनपात् । तनूनपादाज्यमिति कात्थक्यः । नपादित्यनन्तरायाः प्रजाया नामधेयं निर्णततमा भवति । गौरत्र तनूरुच्यते । तता अस्यां भोगाः तस्याः पयो जायते पयस आज्यं जायते ॥ अग्निरिति शाकपूणिः । आपो ऽत्र तन्व उच्यन्ते । तता अन्तरिक्षे ताभ्य ओषधिवनस्पतयो जायन्त ओषधिवनस्पतिभ्य एष जायते ॥
>
> tanūnapāt | tanūnapādājyamiti kātthakyaḥ | napādityanantarāyāḥ prajāyā nāmadheyaṃ nirṇatatamā bhavati | gauratra tanūrucyate | tatā asyāṃ bhogāḥ tasyāḥ payo jāyate payasa ājyaṃ jāyate || agniriti śākapūṇiḥ | āpo 'tra tanva ucyante | tatā antarikṣe tābhya oṣadhivanaspatayo jāyanta oṣadhivanaspatibhya eṣa jāyate ||

(Ni. 8-5)

Page 535 — Rik 2: Special Topics (continued) and grammar

The idea is this: Kātthakya says tanūnapāt means ājya (melted ghee). In support he says tanūḥ = gauḥ, the cow, and napāt = prajā, "born": so "from the cow" (tanū) "born" (napāt) is milk, and what comes from milk is ghee or ājya; thus he supports the sense ājya for tanūnapāt. As an example of this sense he gives the rik

(Ṛ. Saṃ. 10-110-2.)

> तनूनपात्पथ ऋतस्य यानान्मध्वा समञ्जन्त्स्वदया सुजिह्व । मन्मानि धीभिरुत यज्ञमृन्धन्देवत्रा च कृणुह्यध्वरं नः ॥
>
> tanūnapātpatha ṛtasya yānānmadhvā samañjantsvadayā sujihva | manmāni dhībhiruta yajñamṛndhandevatrā ca kṛṇuhyadhvaraṃ naḥ ||

("O Tanūnapāt, anointing the paths of order with honey, make them sweet, O fair-tongued; prospering our thoughts and our sacrifice with insights, make our rite go to the gods" — mine and tentative.)

Since this rik too is in an Āpri-sūkta, there is room for doubt whether the sense ājya fits the word tanūnapāt in it. According to Śākapūṇi's view, tanūnapāt is Agni: here tanū means water. Water falls as rain and from it plants and trees are produced; since Agni is born from a tree (the piece of wood called araṇi), Agni is called tanūnapāt.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 535–537, noted briefly; numbers checked against the print)

मधुमन्तम् (madhumantam) — “phali-pāṭi-nami-mani-janāṃ guk-paṭi-nāki-dhataś ca” (Uṇ. sū. “1-18”): after phala niṣpattau, paṭa gatau in its ṇic form, ṇama prahvatve śabde, mana jñāne and janī prādurbhāve the suffix u, which is nit; phal takes the augment guk, and the others, in order, the substitutes paṭ, nāki, dh, t: that is the sense of the sūtra. By the maxim “ekāpi ṣaṣṭhī viṣayabhedād bhidyate” — one genitive gives different senses by difference of topic — the genitive connected with phali is a genitive of the part for the augment guk, while in the other four, where the substitutes paṭ etc. are prescribed, it is a genitive of the place; and in the case of the substitutes dh and t it denotes a substitute for the final of man and jan. So with u after man: man + u, dh for the n: madhu. The suffix being nit, madhu is initial-udātta by “ñnity ādir nityam” (Pā. 6-1-197); nit is carried over from “dhānye nit” (Uṇ. sū. 1-9) into phali-pāṭi…. तनूनपात् (tanūnapāt) — it is a vocative; so the eighth-chapter “āmantritasya ca” (printed “Pā. sū. 1-19” [sic]; the sūtra is 8-1-19) makes it wholly unaccented. अद्य (adya) — analysed “asmin kāle”; formed irregularly by “sadyaḥ-parut-parāry-aiṣamaḥ-paredyavy-adya…” (Pā. 5-3-22). “idamo ’š dyaś ca”: that is, after idam in the locative the suffix dya, ending in a, comes, and aś replaces idam: that is the sense of the Bhāṣya sentence. So with dya after the locative of idam: idam + ṅi + dya; as a taddhita-ending it gets the name prātipadika; “supo dhātu-prātipadikayoḥ” (printed “24-71” [sic]; the sūtra is 2-4-71) drops the ṅi; aś replaces idam, and being śit it replaces the whole: adya, final-udātta by the suffix accent. “taddhitaś cāsarvavibhaktiḥ” (Pā. 1-1-38): in asarvavibhaktiḥ a bahuvrīhi must be made; there the plural analysis “sarvā vibhaktayo yasmāt na bhavanti saḥ” is not possible. For in the Mahābhāṣya on this very sūtra, breaking up the arrangement of “dvy-ekayor dvivacanaikavacane” (Pā. 1-4-22) and “bahuṣu bahuvacanam” (printed “1-4-21”), the sūtras are rearranged as ekavacanam, dvayor dvivacanam, bahuṣu bahuvacanam, and it is established that the singular comes as the general rule, and the dual and plural set it aside where duality and plurality appear. Here ekavacanam yields the sense that the singular comes after stems ending in ṅī, āp and the prātipadika; by this general rule, where duality and plurality do not appear, the singular comes; so whether there is singularity or not, the singular comes. Since in duality and plurality the dual and plural come merely by being prescribed, where duality etc. do not appear the singular arises; so ekavacanam, being otherwise useless, teaches that the singular comes even where no sense of object etc. is present. So, after indeclinables, which have no connection with gender and number, the singular, operating without restriction, comes in every case. That is why the use of the pratyāhāra in avyayād āp-supaḥ is meaningful. In this way all case endings come after an indeclinable. So the plural analysis “sarvā vibhaktayo yasmān na bhavanti” cannot be made; the result is: “sarvā vacanatrayātmikā vibhaktir yasmān notpadyate kintu ekavacanāny evotpadyante sa taddhitāntaḥ avyayasaṃjñako bhavati” — a taddhita-ending after which not all case endings in the three numbers arise, but only the singular, takes the name avyaya: this is the settled sense of the sūtra. In adya, once this sūtra gives the name avyaya, the locative singular after it is dropped by “avyayād āp-supaḥ” (Pā. 2-4-82); in the Saṃhitā “anyeṣām api dṛśyate” (printed “7-3-137” [sic], with the same first digit as “7-1-58” below; the sūtra is 6-3-137) lengthens it. कृणुहि (kṛṇuhi) — root kṛvi hiṃsākaraṇayoś ca; num by “idito num dhātoḥ” (Pā. 7-1-58): kṛnv; loṭ, second singular sip, replaced by hi; in place of the vikaraṇa śap the vikaraṇa u by “dhinvi-kṛṇvyor a ca”

Page 537 — Rik 2 grammar closes

(Pā. 3-1-80): after dhinv and kṛṇv, where śap would come, the suffix u, and a as the substitute for their final; so the v becomes a: kṛṇa + u + hi; "ato lopaḥ" (Pā. 6-4-48) drops the a; that loss counts as present, so there is no laghūpadha-guṇa. Here "utaś ca pratyayād asaṃyogapūrvāt" (Pā. 6-4-106) would drop the hi; but by "utaś ca pratyayāc chando vā vacanam" (Pā. 6-4-106-1) the loss of hi prescribed by that sūtra is optional in the Veda, so it is not dropped. By "ṛvarṇān nasya ṇatvaṃ vācyam" the n becomes ṇ: kṛṇuhi; wholly unaccented by "tiṅṅ atiṅaḥ" (Pā. 8-1-28). वीतये (vītaye) — by "mantre vṛṣeṣa-paca-mana-vida-bhū-vīrā udāttaḥ" (Pā. 3-3-96) the suffix ktin is udātta.

॥२॥

---

Page 537 (lower) — Sūkta 13, Rik 3

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. Line 1: bars under रा, मि and म्, none visible under प्रि; line 2: the bar stands under वि of हविष्कृतम्, not under ह —— [accent ?] on both lines.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

नरा॒शंस॑मि॒ह प्रिय॒मस्मिन्य॒ज्ञ उप॑ ह्वये । [accent ?] मधु॑जिह्वं हवि॒ष्कृत॑म् ॥३॥ [accent ?]

narāśáṃsam ihá priyam asmín yajñá úpa hvaye | [accent ?] mádhujihvaṃ haviṣkṛ́tam ||3|| [accent ?]

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

नराशंसम् । इह । प्रियम् । अस्मिन् । यज्ञे । उप । ह्वये ॥ मधुऽजिह्वम् । हविःऽकृतम् ॥३॥

narāśaṃsam | iha | priyam | asmin | yajñe | upa | hvaye || madhu-jihvam | haviḥ-kṛtam ||3||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

इह देवयजनदेशे ऽस्मिन्प्रवर्तमाने यज्ञे नराशंसनामकमग्निमुप ह्वये । आह्वयामि । कीदृशम् । प्रियं देवानां प्रीतिहेतुं मधुजिह्वं मधुरभाषिजिह्वोपेतं माधुर्यरसास्वादकजिह्वोपेतं वा हविष्कृतं हविषो निष्पादकम् ॥ नरशब्दो नृ नये इत्यस्मादबन्तः । प्रत्ययस्य पित्त्वाद्धातुस्वर एव शिष्यते । शंसन्त्यस्मिन्निति शंसः । हलश्च । पा. ३-३-१२१ । इत्यधिकरणे घञ् । नराणां शंस इति समासे कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वे प्राप्त उभे वनस्पत्यादिषु युगपत् । पा. ६-२-१४० । इति पूर्वोत्तरपदे प्रकृतिस्वरे भवतः । अत एव वनस्पत्यादिषु पाठान्नरशब्दस्य दीर्घत्वम् । इह । इदमो ह इति ह-प्रत्ययः । इदम इशितीशादेशः । प्रत्ययस्वरः । प्रियम् । प्रीणातीति प्रियः । इगुपधज्ञाप्रीकिरः क इति कः । प्रत्ययस्वरः । अस्मिन् । ऊडिदमित्यादिना विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वम् । ह्वये । निघातः । मधुजिह्वम् । मधुशब्दस्याद्युदात्तत्वमुक्तम् । बहुव्रीहौ पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरेण स एव शिष्यते । हविष्कृतम् । हविः करोतीति हविष्कृत् । क्विपि ह्रस्वस्य तुक् । नित्यं समासे ऽनुत्तरपदस्थस्येति षत्वम् । कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् ॥

iha devayajanadeśe 'sminpravartamāne yajñe narāśaṃsanāmakamagnimupa hvaye | āhvayāmi | kīdṛśam | priyaṃ devānāṃ prītihetuṃ madhujihvaṃ

madhurabhāṣijihvopetaṃ mādhuryarasāsvādakajihvopetaṃ vā haviṣkṛtaṃ haviṣo niṣpādakam || naraśabdo nṝ naye ityasmādabantaḥ | pratyayasya pittvāddhātusvara eva śiṣyate | śaṃsantyasminniti śaṃsaḥ | halaśca | pā. 3-3-121 | ityadhikaraṇe ghañ | narāṇāṃ śaṃsa iti samāse kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratve prāpta ubhe vanaspatyādiṣu yugapat | pā. 6-2-140 | iti pūrvottarapade prakṛtisvare bhavataḥ | ata eva vanaspatyādiṣu pāṭhānnaraśabdasya dīrghatvam | iha | idamo ha iti ha-pratyayaḥ | idama iśitīśādeśaḥ | pratyayasvaraḥ | priyam | prīṇātīti priyaḥ | igupadhajñāprīkiraḥ ka iti kaḥ | pratyayasvaraḥ | asmin | ūḍidamityādinā vibhakterudāttatvam | hvaye | nighātaḥ | madhujihvam | madhuśabdasyādyudāttatvamuktam | bahuvrīhau pūrvapadaprakṛtisvareṇa sa eva śiṣyate | haviṣkṛtam | haviḥ karotīti haviṣkṛt | kvipi hrasvasya tuk | nityaṃ samāse 'nuttarapadasthasyeti ṣatvam | kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvam ||

Translation: "Here, in this sacrifice now in progress, at the place of worship of the gods, upa hvaye — I invoke — the fire named Narāśaṃsa. What is he like? Priyam — the cause of delight to the gods; madhujihvam — having a tongue that speaks sweetly, or a tongue that tastes the flavour of sweetness; haviṣkṛtam — the accomplisher of the oblation." (Grammatical tail: nara — from nṝ naye with ap; the suffix being pit, the root accent alone remains; śaṃsa — "they recite in it", ghañ in the locative sense by "halaś ca" (Pā. 3-3-121); in the compound "narāṇāṃ śaṃsaḥ", where the kṛt second-member accent would come, "ubhe vanaspatyādiṣu yugapat" (Pā. 6-2-140) gives both members their own accents at once, and from its reading in the vanaspatyādi group nara is lengthened; iha — ha by "idamo haḥ", iś for idam by "idama iś", suffix accent; priyam — "he pleases", ka by "igupadha-jñā-prī-kiraḥ kaḥ", suffix accent; asmin — the case ending udātta by "ūḍ-idam…"; hvaye — unaccented; madhujihvam — madhu initial-udātta as said, and in the bahuvrīhi that accent alone remains; haviṣkṛtam — "he makes the oblation", tuk for the short vowel before kvip, ṣ by "nityaṃ samāse 'nuttarapadasthasya", the kṛt second-member accent.)

Page 538 — Rik 3: word-meanings, overall sense, English, Special Topics begin

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

इह (iha) — at this sacrificial ground | अस्मिन् यज्ञे (asmin yajñe) — in this sacrifice that we perform | प्रियम् (priyam) — dear to the gods | मधुजिह्वम् (madhujihvam) — who has a tongue that speaks sweetly, or that tastes sweet juice | हविष्कृतम् (haviṣkṛtam) — who makes (cooks) the oblation | नराशंसम् (narāśaṃsam) — Agni, called by the name Narāśaṃsa | उप ह्वये (upa hvaye) — I invoke.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Agni called Narāśaṃsa! You are dear to the gods; you speak sweetly, or you taste the sweet oblation; you cook the oblation and make it ready. Such a Narāśaṃsa I now call in this sacrifice that we perform.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> I invoke here at this sacrifice Narasamsa, the beloved one, the sweet-tongoned [sic], preparer of sacrifcial [sic] food.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

The deity of this rik is Narāśaṃsa — that is, Agni, called by that name. Yāska's explanation of the word runs as follows:

(१) नराशंसः । नराशंसो यज्ञ इति कात्थक्यः । नरा अस्मिन्नासीनाः शंसन्ति ॥

(1) narāśaṃsaḥ | narāśaṃso yajña iti kātthakyaḥ | narā asminnāsīnāḥ śaṃsanti ||

Page 539 — Rik 3: Special Topics (continued)

(२) अग्निरिति शाकपूणिः । नर्यैः प्रशस्यो भवति ॥

(2) agniriti śākapūṇiḥ | naryaiḥ praśasyo bhavati ||

Two different senses of the word narāśaṃsa are thus given: (1) narāśaṃsa means the sacrifice: because in this sacrifice narāḥ, men, sitting down, śaṃsanti, praise (Agni or the gods), this rite is called yajña — this is Kātthakya's view; (2) because he is praised by men, Agni is called narāśaṃsa — this is Śākapūṇi's view. The second explanation is the fitting one here. Skandasvāmī says: naraiḥ praśasyata iti narāśaṃso 'gniḥ taṃ narāśaṃsam — "he who is praised by men is narāśaṃsa, Agni; that Narāśaṃsa [I invoke]."

"Priyam" — the Bhāṣyakāra explains devānāṃ priyam, "dear to the gods"; Skandasvāmī explains manuṣyāṇāṃ priyam, "dear to men." Both senses are fitting.

Page 540 — Rik 3: Special Topics (continued) and grammar

"Madhujihvam" — madhura-bhāṣi-jihvopetam, "having a tongue that speaks sweetly", and mādhurya-rasāsvādaka-jihvopetam, "having a tongue that tastes the sweet flavour (of the oblation, the ājya and the other homa substances)": so the Bhāṣyakāra explains. Skandasvāmī says madhujihvaḥ =

नित्यमुत्सृष्टानां हविषां भक्षयिता । अथवा जिह्वेति वाङ्नाम मध्वी जिह्वा यस्य स मधुजिह्वः । होतृत्वाद्ध्यग्नेर्देवतानां स्तावकत्वादस्ति मधुवाक्त्वम् । सुभगवचनमित्यर्थः ॥

nityamutsṛṣṭānāṃ haviṣāṃ bhakṣayitā | athavā jihveti vāṅnāma madhvī jihvā yasya sa madhujihvaḥ | hotṛtvāddhyagnerdevatānāṃ stāvakatvādasti madhuvāktvam | subhagavacanamityarthaḥ ||

— one who always eats the tasty or sweet oblation; jihvā means speech, words; so madhujihvaḥ is one who speaks good words, words that give delight to the ear. Since Agni, when calling the gods, speaks sweet words addressed to them, he is called madhujihva: Skandasvāmī thus states, in another way, the same two senses the Bhāṣyakāra gave. Senses such as "Honey-tongoned, sweet-longoned" [sic] [the source's English] may be given.

"Haviṣkṛtam" — haviṣo niṣpādakam: "the maker of the oblation, one who prepares the oblation": when the oblation is made, it must be placed on Agni and cooked; hence Agni is said to make the oblation. [The source's English: "Preparer of sacrifical [sic] food."]

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 540–541, noted briefly; numbers checked against the print)

नराशंसम् (narāśaṃsam) — root nṝ [?] nayе; by "ṛdorap" (printed "vā. sū." [sic] 3-3-57), after roots ending in ṝ or u, ap comes both in the sense of the state and for a kāraka other than the agent; so ap after nṝ: nṝ + a, guṇa

Page 541 — Rik 3 grammar closes

with r: nara. The suffix being pit, it is unaccented; the a after the n stays udātta by the root accent. "śaṃsanti asmin iti śaṃsaḥ": "halaś ca" (Pā. 3-3-121) — after a consonant-ending root, ghañ — gives ghañ after śaṃs in the locative sense; śaṃsa is initial-udātta by "ñnity ādir nityam" (Pā. 6-1-197). On compounding "narāṇāṃ śaṃsaḥ", "gati-kārakopapadāt kṛt" (Pā. 6-2-139) would give the kṛt second-member accent; setting it aside, "thātha-ghañ-ktāj-abitra-kāṇām" (Pā. 6-2-144) would make the second member final-udātta; setting that aside, since narāśaṃsa is read in the vanaspatyādi group, "ubhe vanaspatyādiṣu yugapat" (Pā. 6-2-140) — in the words of this group the first and second members both keep their own accents at once — gives both members their own accent together. Because in this vanaspatyādi group nara is read lengthened as narāśaṃsa, nara is lengthened; the author of the Kaumudī too explains the lengthening in this way as irregular formation. Some derive the lengthening of the first member from "anyeṣām api dṛśyate" (Pā. 6-3-137). इह (iha) — "idamo haḥ" (Pā. 5-3-11): after a locative of idam the suffix ha: idam + ṅi + ha; luk of ṅi; iś for idam by "idama iś" (Pā. 5-3-3): iha; the suffix accent. प्रियम् (priyam) — "prīṇāti iti priyaḥ": "igupadha-jñā-prī-kiraḥ kaḥ" (Pā. 3-1-135): after roots with ik as penultimate and after jñā avabodhane, prīñ tarpaṇe and kṝ vikṣepe, the suffix ka; so ka after prīñ tarpaṇe; being kit, no guṇa; iyaṅ by "aci śnu-dhātu-bhruvāṃ yvor iyaṅ-uvaṅau" (Pā. 6-4-77): priya; the suffix accent. Asmin: by "ūḍ-idam-padādy-ap-pum-rai-dyubhyaḥ" (printed "6-1-71" [sic]; the sūtra is 6-1-171) the case ending is udātta. ह्वये (hvaye) — root hveñ spardhāyāṃ śabde ca; being ñit, it is ubhayapadin; ātmanepada laṭ, first singular iṭ; "ṭita ātmanepadānāṃ ṭere" (Pā. 3-4-79) gives e for it; pararūpa with the śap of "kartari śap": hvaye; wholly unaccented by "tiṅṅ atiṅaḥ". मधुजिह्वम् (madhujihvam) — madhu was said in the previous mantra to be initial-udātta; "madhu jihvā yasya saḥ", a bahuvrīhi; by "bahuvrīhau prakṛtyā pūrvapadam" (Pā. 6-2-1) the first-member accent stands. हविष्कृतम् (haviṣkṛtam) — "haviḥ karoti"; after ḍukṛñ with havis as upapada, "kvip ca" (Pā. 3-2-76) gives kvip; as a kṛdanta it is a prātipadika; the sup dropped, the kvip lost; before havis + kṛ, "hrasvasya piti kṛti tuk" (Pā. 6-1-71) gives tuk to a stem ending in a short vowel before a p-marked kṛt; by the paribhāṣā "ādyantau ṭakitau" it is added at the end: havis + kṛt; ru and visarga for the s; "nityaṃ samāse 'nuttarapadasthasya" (Pā. 8-3-45) turns the visarga into ṣ: haviṣkṛt. By "gati-kārakopapadāt kṛt" (printed "6-2 139") the kṛt second member keeps its accent, final-udātta; the kṛt is final-udātta by the root accent; after it am, unaccented as a sup, then svarita by "udāttād anudāttasya svaritaḥ".

॥३॥

---

Page 541 (lower) — Sūkta 13, Rik 4

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

अग्ने॑ सु॒खत॑मे॒ रथे॑ दे॒वाँ ई॑ळि॒त आ व॑ह । अ॒सि॒ होता॒ मनु॑र्हितः ॥४॥

ágne sukhátame ráthe devā́m̐ īḷitá ā́ vaha | asi hótā mánur hitaḥ ||4||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

अग्ने । सुखऽतमे । रथे । देवान् । ईळितः । आ । वह ॥ असि । होता । मनुःऽहितः ॥४॥

agne | sukha-tame | rathe | devān | īḷitaḥ | ā | vaha || asi | hotā | manuḥ-hitaḥ ||4||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥ (runs onto p. 542)

इट्शब्दाभिधेय हे अग्ने ईळितो ऽस्माभिः स्तुतः सन्सुखतमे ऽतिशयेन सुखहेतौ कस्मिंश्चिद्रथे देवान्स्थापयित्वा कर्मभूमावा वह । इट्शब्दाभिधेयत्वमत्र सूचयितुमीळित इति विशेषणम् । मनुर्हितो मनुना मन्त्रेण मनुष्येण वा यजमानादिरूपेण हितो ऽत्र स्थापितस्त्वं होता देवानामाह्वातासि ॥ सुखतमे । सुखमस्मिन्नस्तीति मतुप् । तस्य गुणवचनेभ्यो मतुपो लुग्वक्तव्यः । पा. ५-२-९४-३ । इति लुक् । अतिशयेन सुखः सुखतमः । तमपो ऽनुदात्तत्वात्प्रातिपदिकस्वरः । रथे । रमु क्रीडायाम् । रमन्ते ऽस्मिन्निति रथः । हनिकुषिनीरमिकाशिभ्यः क्थन् । उ. २-२ । इति क्थन् । एकाच उपदेशे ऽनुदात्तात् । पा. ७-२-१० । इतीट्प्रतिषेधः । अनुदात्तोपदेशेत्यादिना । पा. ६-४-३७ । मकारलोपः । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वम् । ईळितः । ईड स्तुतौ । निष्ठेति क्तः । इडागमः । तस्यागमा अनुदात्ता इत्यनुदात्तः । प्रत्ययस्वरः । देवानिति नकारस्य संहितायां दीर्घादटि समानपाद इति रुत्वम् । आतो ऽटि नित्यमित्याकारस्यानुनासिकभावः । भोभगो इत्यादिना रोर्यत्वम् । तस्य लोपः शाकल्यस्येति लोपः । तस्यासिद्धत्वादाद्गुणो न भवति । आ । निपातत्वादाद्युदात्तः । असि । अस भुवि । लटः सिप् । अदिप्रभृतिभ्यः शप इति शपो लुक् । तासस्त्योर्लोप इति सकारस्य लोपः । होता । ताच्छील्ये तृन् । सौ ऋदुशनसित्यादिना । पा. ७-१-९४ । अनङ् । ङित्त्वादन्तादेशः । अप्तृन्नित्यादिना । पा. ६-४-११ । उपधादीर्घः । हल्ङ्यादिलोपनलोपौ । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । मनुर्हितः । मन्यत इति मनुः । मन ज्ञाने । शॄस्वृस्निहित्रप्यसिवसिहनिक्लिदिबन्धिमनिभ्यश्च । उ. १-१० । इत्युप्रत्ययः । तत्र निदित्यनुवृत्तेर्नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । हितः । दधातेर्निष्ठेति कर्मणि क्तः । दधातेर्हिः । पा. ७-४-४२ । इति हिरादेशः । मनुना हित इति समासे तृतीयायाः स्थाने सुपां सुलुगित्यादिना स्वित्यादेशः [?] । तस्य रुत्वम् । लुगभावश्छान्दसः । तृतीया कर्मणीति पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् ॥

*iṭśabdābhidheya he agne īḷito 'smābhiḥ stutaḥ sansukhatame 'tiśayena sukhahetau kasmiṃścidrathe devānsthāpayitvā karmabhūmāvā vaha | iṭśabdābhidheyatvamatra sūcayitumīḷita iti viśeṣaṇam | manurhito manunā mantreṇa manuṣyeṇa vā yajamānādirūpeṇa hito 'tra sthāpitastvaṃ hotā devānāmāhvātāsi || sukhatame | sukhamasminnastīti matup | tasya guṇavacanebhyo matupo lugvaktavyaḥ | pā. 5-2-94-3 | iti luk | atiśayena sukhaḥ sukhatamaḥ | tamapo 'nudāttatvātprātipadikasvaraḥ | rathe | ramu krīḍāyām | ramante 'sminniti rathaḥ | hanikuṣinīramikāśibhyaḥ kthan | u. 2-2 | iti kthan | ekāca upadeśe 'nudāttāt | pā. 7-2-10 | itīṭpratiṣedhaḥ | anudāttopadeśetyādinā | pā. 6-4-37 | makāralopaḥ | nittvādādyudāttatvam | īḷitaḥ | īḍa stutau | niṣṭheti ktaḥ | iḍāgamaḥ | tasyāgamā anudāttā ityanudāttaḥ | pratyayasvaraḥ | devāniti nakārasya saṃhitāyāṃ dīrghādaṭi samānapāda iti rutvam | āto 'ṭi nityamityākārasyānunāsikabhāvaḥ | bhobhago ityādinā roryatvam | tasya lopaḥ śākalyasyeti lopaḥ | tasyāsiddhatvādādguṇo na bhavati | ā | nipātatvādādyudāttaḥ | asi | asa bhuvi | laṭaḥ sip | adiprabhṛtibhyaḥ śapa iti śapo luk | tāsastyorlopa iti sakārasya lopaḥ | hotā | tācchīlye tṛn | sau ṛduśanasityādinā |

pā. 7-1-94 | anaṅ | ṅittvādantādeśaḥ | aptṛnnityādinā | pā. 6-4-11 | upadhādīrghaḥ | halṅyādilopanalopau | nittvādādyudāttaḥ | manurhitaḥ | manyata iti manuḥ | mana jñāne | śṝsvṛsnihitrapyasivasihaniklidibandhimanibhyaśca | u. 1-10 | ityupratyayaḥ | tatra nidityanuvṛtternittvādādyudāttaḥ | hitaḥ | dadhāterniṣṭheti karmaṇi ktaḥ | dadhāterhiḥ | pā. 7-4-42 | iti hirādeśaḥ | manunā hita iti samāse tṛtīyāyāḥ sthāne supāṃ sulugityādinā svityādeśaḥ [?] | tasya rutvam | lugabhāvaśchāndasaḥ | tṛtīyā karmaṇīti pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvam ||

Translation: "O Agni, denoted by the word Iṭ! Being īḷitaḥ — praised by us — ā vaha: having seated the gods in some sukhatame chariot, the greatest cause of ease, bring them to the place of the rite. The epithet īḷitaḥ is used here to indicate that [you] are denoted by the word Iṭ. Manurhitaḥ — placed here by manu, the mantra, or by man in the form of the sacrificer and the rest — you are hotā, the invoker of the gods." (Grammatical tail, partly on p. 542: sukhatame — matup "there is happiness in it", dropped by the vārttika "guṇavacanebhyo matupo lug vaktavyaḥ" (Pā. 5-2-94-3); "exceedingly sukha": sukhatama; tamap being unaccented, the stem accent stands; rathe — ramu krīḍāyām, "they delight in it", kthan by "hani-kuṣi-nī-rami-kāśibhyaḥ kthan" (Uṇ. 2-2), iṭ barred by "ekāca upadeśe 'nudāttāt" (Pā. 7-2-10), the m dropped by "anudāttopadeśa…" (Pā. 6-4-37), initial-udātta as nit; īḷitaḥ — īḍa stutau, kta, the augment iṭ unaccented as an augment, the suffix accent; devān — in the Saṃhitā ru by "dīrghād aṭi samānapāde", nasalization of the ā by "āto 'ṭi nityam", y by "bho-bhago…", dropped by "lopaḥ śākalyasya", and since that loss is asiddha there is no guṇa; ā — initial-udātta as a particle; asi — sip after asa bhuvi, śap dropped, the s dropped by "tāsastyor lopaḥ"; hotā — tṛn in the habitual sense, anaṅ by "ṛd-uśanas…" (Pā. 7-1-94), replacing the final as ṅit, lengthening of the penultimate by "ap-tṛn…" (Pā. 6-4-11), loss of su and of n, initial-udātta as nit; manurhitaḥ — manu "he thinks", from mana jñāne with u by "śṝ-svṛ-snihi-trapy-asi-vasi-hani-klidi-bandhi-manibhyaś ca" (Uṇ. 1-10), initial-udātta as nit is carried over; hita — kta after dhā in the object sense, hi by "dadhāter hiḥ" (Pā. 7-4-42); in the compound "placed by Manu", the substitute su [?] for the third case by "supāṃ suluk…", with ru — the absence of luk being Vedic; the first member's accent by "tṛtīyā karmaṇi".)

Page 542 — Rik 4: word-meanings, overall sense, English

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

(हे) अग्ने ((he) agne) — O Agni, called by the name Iṭ | ईळितः (īḷitaḥ) — praised by us | देवान् (devān) — the gods | सुखतमे (sukhatame) — [in a chariot] that gives the greatest comfort | रथे (rathe) — in a chariot | (having seated them) आ वह (ā vaha) — bring | (for) मनुर्हितः (manurhitaḥ) — [you are] placed by the mantra, or by men — the sacrificer and the rest | होता (hotā) — the invoker of the gods | असि (asi) — you are.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Agni, they call you Iṭ (Iḷa), because you are praised by us (men). Such as you are, seat the gods in a chariot that gives comfort and bring them here; for the sacrificer has placed you as the hotṛ, to invoke the gods.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

O Agni (called Ila) being praised (by men) conduct the gods hither in an easy-moving chariot; for you are the invoker instituted by men.

Page 543 — Rik 4: Special Topics and grammar

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Yāska's explanation:

ईळः । ईळ ईड्डेः स्तुतिकर्मण इन्धतेर्वा ॥

īḷaḥ | īḷa īṭṭeḥ stutikarmaṇa indhatervā ||

— īḷaḥ, or the word īḷita, is formed from the root īḍa stutau, "to praise"; since he is praised, Agni is called Īḷa.

"Sukhatame" — sukham asminn asti — "that in which there is comfort"; atiśayena sukhaḥ sukhatamaḥ: atiśayena sukhahetau (kasmiṃścid rathe): a chariot that gives great comfort, that does not jolt when moving, in which soft seats and the like have been laid ready for sitting, and which is comfortable for travelling — an easy-moving chariot [the source's English].

"Rathe" — ramu krīḍāyām; ramante 'smin iti rathaḥ: "since people sit in it and travel with delight, it is called ratha."

"Īḷitaḥ" — īḍa stutau: praised; praised, adored etc. [the source's English].

"Hotā" — devānām āhvātā: one who calls the gods to the sacrificial ground.

"Manurhitaḥ" — manunā mantreṇa, yajamānādi-rūpeṇa manuṣyeṇa vā sthāpitaḥ — "established by Manu, i.e., by a mantra, or by a man in the form of the sacrificer and others"; that is, placed with a mantra, or appointed by the sacrificer who is a man (prārthita, requested; niyamita, appointed). Skandasvāmī gives the senses prajāpatinā nihitaḥ, "placed by Prajāpati (Brahmā)", and manuṣyeṣu nihitaḥ upakāraka ity arthaḥ, "placed (by the gods) among men" — that is, placed on earth among men to help them, one who does men good. The Western scholar Oldenberg explains this word as "Instituted by Manus," not by men [the source's English].

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 543–546, noted briefly; numbers checked against the print)

सुखतमे (sukhatame) — analysed "sukham asmin asti"; after the quality-word sukha, "tad asyāsty asminn iti matup" (Pā. 5-2-94) gives matup; "guṇavacanebhyo matupo lug iṣṭaḥ" (printed "Pā. sū. 5-2-94 vā. 3") drops it; then after the quality-word sukha, in the sense of excess, "atiśāyane tamab-iṣṭhanau" (Pā. 5-3-55) gives tamap: sukhatama; matup [sic, for tamap], being pit, is unaccented; the stem accent alone stands.

Page 544 — Rik 4 grammar (continued)

रथे (rathe) — analysed "ramante asmin"; root ramu krīḍāyām; after it "hani-kuṣi-nī-rami-kāśibhyaḥ kthan" (Uṇ. sū. "2-159" [?]; the bhāṣya gives 2-2): after hana hiṃsāgatyoḥ, kuṣa niṣkarṣe, ṇīñ prāpaṇe, ramu krīḍāyām, kāśṛ dīptau the suffix kthan: ram + tha; before this

ārdhadhātuka tha, “ārdhadhātukasyeḍ valādeḥ” (Pā. 7-2-35) would give iṭ. Ram is counted in the kārikā listing the anudātta roots — “lip lup vap śap svap sṛpi yabh rabh labh gam nam yamo ramiḥ” — so it is anudātta in the upadeśa and monosyllabic; therefore “ekāca upadeśe ’nudāttāt” (Pā. 7-2-10) bars iṭ before a val-initial ārdhadhātuka. Then “anudāttopadeśa-vanati-tanoty-ādīnām anunāsikalopo jhali kṅiti” (printed “6-4-32” [?]; the bhāṣya gives 6-4-37): before a jhal-initial kit or ṅit suffix, the final nasal of anudātta-upadeśa roots and others, and the final of van, is dropped: the m is dropped: ratha. The suffix being nit, ratha is initial-udātta by “ñnity ādir nityam” (printed “6-7-193” [?] [sic]; the sūtra is 6-1-197). ईळितः (īḷitaḥ) — root īḍa stutau; after it kta by “niṣṭhā” (printed “3-2-10” [sic]; the sūtra is 3-2-102); iṭ by “ārdhadhātukasyeḍ valādeḥ” (Pā. 7-2-35); by the tradition “ajmadhyastha-ḍakārasya ḷakāraṃ bahvṛcā jaguḥ”, or by “dvayoś cāsya svarayoḥ” (printed “Prā. śā.”), ḷ for the ḍ; the i that came by the augment is unaccented by “āgamā anudāttāḥ”; the suffix accent stands. देवान् (devān) — in the Saṃhitā “dīrghād aṭi samānapāde” (Pā. 8-3-9) gives ru for the n; “āto ’ṭi nityam” (printed “8-3-3”) nasalizes the ā; “bho-bhago-agho-apūrvasya yo ’śi” (Pā. 8-3-17) gives y for the ru; the loss of y by “lopaḥ śākalyasya” (Pā. 8-3-19) is asiddha, so “ād guṇaḥ” (Pā. 6-1-87) gives no guṇa. आ (ā) — a nipāta, so initial-udātta by “nipātā ādyudāttāḥ”. असि (asi) — root asa bhuvi; after it laṭ, replaced by the second singular sip; the śap of “kartari śap” (Pā. 3-1-68) is dropped by “adiprabhṛtibhyaḥ…” (Pā. 2-4-72); “tāsastyor lopaḥ” (Pā. 7-4-50): before an s-initial suffix the final of tās and of as is dropped, so the s of as is dropped: asi. Standing at the beginning of the pāda, it is not made wholly unaccented by “tiṅṅ atiṅaḥ” (Pā. 8-1-28). Sip, being pit, is unaccented; the root accent stands. होता (hotā) — root hveñ spardhāyāṃ śabde ca; after it, under the heading “ā kves tacchīla-taddharma-tatsādhukāriṣu” (Pā. 3-2-134), tṛn by “tṛn” (Pā. 3-2-135); samprasāraṇa by “bahulaṃ chandasi” (Pā. 6-1-34); pūrvarūpa by “samprasāraṇāc ca” (printed “6-8-108” [sic]; the sūtra is 6-1-108); guṇa of the u by “sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ” (Pā. 7-3-84): hotṛ; then the nominative singular su; “ṛd-uśanas-purudaṃso-’nehasāṃ ca” (Pā. 7-1-94): before su other than the vocative, stems ending in ṛ and uśanas, purudaṃsas, anehas take the substitute anaṅ; although it has more than one letter, being ṅit it replaces the final by “ṅic ca” (Pā. 1-1-53): hotan + s; “ap-tṛn-tṛc-svasṛ-naptṛ-neṣṭṛ-tvaṣṭṛ-kṣattṛ-hotṛ-potṛ-praśāstṝṇām” (Pā. 6-4-11) lengthens the penultimate before a sarvanāmasthāna other than the vocative: hotān + s; su dropped by “hal-ṅyābbhyaḥ” (Pā. 6-1-68), n dropped by “nalopaḥ prātipadikāntasya” (Pā. 8-2-7): hotā; ending in an n-marked suffix, it is initial-udātta by “ñnity ādir nityam” (Pā. 6-1-197). मनुर्हितः (manurhitaḥ) — “manyate iti manuḥ”: root mana jñāne; “śṝ-svṛ-snihi-trapy-asi-vasi-hani-kliḍi-bandhi-manibhyaś ca” (Uṇ. sū. “1-10”): after śṝ hiṃsāyām, svṛ śabdopatāpayoḥ, ṣṇiha upatāpe, trapūṣ lajjāyām, asu kṣepaṇe, vasa nivāse, hana hiṃsāgatyoḥ, klidū ārdrībhāve, bandha bandhane, mana jñāne the suffix u, which is nit — this sense follows from carrying over nit from “dhānye nit” (Uṇ. sū. 1-9); so by this sūtra u, and the nit accent makes it initial-udātta: manu. Hitaḥ: root ḍudhāñ dhāraṇapoṣaṇayoḥ; kta in the object sense by “niṣṭhā” (printed “3-2-102”); “dadhāter hiḥ” (Pā. 7-4-42): before a t-initial kit suffix, hi replaces dhā: hita. Then “manunā hitaḥ”, a third-case tatpuruṣa: manu + ṭā + hita + su; for the instrumental ṭā, "supāṃ su-luk…" (printed "7-1-39") gives the substitute su: manu + s + hita; ru by "sasajuṣo ruḥ" (Pā. 8-2-66): manur hita. By sthānivadbhāva the ru is still a sup, so "supo dhātu-prātipadikayoḥ" (Pā. 2-4-71) would drop it; but in the Veda, by "sarve vidhayaś chandasi vikalpyante" (printed "Paribhā. 35"), every rule is optional, so the luk does not come here. "samāsasya" (Pā. 6-1-223) would give the final udātta; setting it aside, "tatpuruṣe tulyārtha…" (Pā. 6-2-2) would give the first-member accent; setting that aside, "gati-kārakopapadāt kṛt" (Pā. 6-2-139) the accent of the kṛt second member; setting that aside too, "thātha-ghañ-ktāj-abitra-kāṇām" (printed "6-2-1-144" [sic]) the final udātta of a kta-ending after a kāraka; and setting that aside, "tṛtīyā karmaṇi" (Pā. 6-2-48) — before a kta-ending in the object sense, a third-case first member keeps its accent — gives the first-member accent. That is, in manurhita the a after the m alone is udātta; the other vowels are unaccented by "anudāttaṃ padam ekavarjam" (Pā. 6-1-158); then the second vowel, the u, becomes svarita by "udāttād anudāttasya svaritaḥ" (Pā. 8-4-66), and the rest become pracaya by "svaritāt saṃhitāyām anudāttānām" (Pā. 1-2-39).

Page 546 — Rik 4 grammar closes

॥४॥

---

Page 546 (lower) — Sūkta 13, Rik 5

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

स्तृ॒णी॒त ब॒र्हिरा॑नु॒षग्घृ॒तपृ॑ष्ठं मनीषिणः । य॒त्रा॒मृत॑स्य॒ चक्ष॑णम् ॥५॥

stṛ̥ṇītá barhír ānuṣág ghṛtápṛṣṭhaṃ manīṣiṇaḥ | yatrāmṛ́tasya cákṣaṇam ||5||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. The bar under the first syllable of line 2 is not clearly printed; the conjunct of मृ in यत्रामृतस्य is printed in an unusual form, here read as मृ.)

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

स्तृणीत । बर्हिः । आनुषक् । घृतऽपृष्ठम् । मनीषिणः ॥ यत्र । अमृतस्य । चक्षणम् ॥५॥

stṛ̥ṇīta | barhiḥ | ānuṣak | ghṛta-pṛṣṭham | manīṣiṇaḥ || yatra | amṛtasya | cakṣaṇam ||5||

Page 547 — Rik 5: Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya and word-meanings

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे मनीषिणो बुद्धिमन्त ऋत्विजो बर्हिर्दर्भं स्तृणीत । वेदेरुपर्याच्छादयत । अत्रापि बर्हिर्नामको ऽग्निः सूच्यते । कीदृशं बर्हिरास्तरणीयम् । आनुषगनुक्रमेण सक्तं परस्परं संबद्धं घृतपृष्ठम् । घृतपूर्णानां स्रुचां बर्हिष्यासादितत्वाद्धृतं पृष्ठ उपरिभागे यस्य बर्हिषस्तद्धृतपृष्ठम् । यत्र यस्मिन्बर्हिष्यमृतस्यामृतसमानस्य घृतस्य चक्षणं दर्शनं भवति । यद्वा । मरणरहितस्य देवस्य बर्हिर्नामकस्याग्नेर्दर्शनं भवति । तद्बर्हिः स्तृणीतेति पूर्वत्रान्वयः ॥ स्तृणीत । स्तृञ् आच्छादने । लोण्मध्यमपुरुषस्य बहुवचनम् । लोटो लङ्वत् । पा. ३-४-८५ । तस्थस्थमिपाम् । पा. ३-४-१०१ । इति थस्य तादेशः । क्र्यादिभ्यः श्ना । ई हल्यघोः

। पा. ६-४-११३ । इतीत्त्वम् । ऋवर्णाच्चेति वक्तव्यम् । का. ८-४-१-१ । इति णत्वम् । प्वादीनां ह्रस्वः । पा. ७-३-८० । इति धातोर्ह्रस्वत्वम् । सतिशिष्टस्वरबलीयस्त्वमन्यत्र विकरणेभ्यः । अतस्तिङ एव प्रत्ययस्वरेणोदात्तत्वम् । बर्हिः । बृंहेर्नलोपश्च । उ. २-११० । इतीसिप्रत्ययनलोपौ । प्रत्ययस्वरः । आनुषक् । आ समन्तादनुषजतीत्यानुषक् । षञ्ज सङ्गे । धात्वादेः षः सः । क्विप्चेति क्विप् । अनिदिताम् । पा. ६-४-२४ । इति लोपः । आङन्वोरुपसर्गयोः प्राक्प्रयोगः । गतिसमासः । उपसर्गात्सुनोतीत्यादिना षत्वम् । घृतपृष्ठम् । घृ क्षरणदीप्त्योः । निष्ठेति क्तः । प्रत्ययस्वरेणोदात्तः । घृतयुक्तं पृष्ठमस्येति बहुव्रीहौ पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् । मनीषिणः । आमन्त्रितनिघातः । अमृतस्य । न विद्यते मृतं मरणमस्मिन्नित्यमृतम् । बहुव्रीहौ पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं बाधित्वा नञ्सुभ्यामित्युत्तरपदान्तोदात्तत्वे प्राप्ते नञो जरमरमित्रमृताः । पा. ६-२-११६ । इत्युत्तरपदाद्युदात्तत्वम् । चक्षणम् । चक्षिङ् व्यक्तायां वाचि । वागभिव्यक्तिवाची धातुरिहाभिव्यक्तिमात्रं लक्षयति । ल्युट् च । पा. ३-३-११५ । इति भावे ल्युट् । योरनादेशः । तस्यार्धधातुकत्वाच्चक्षिङः ख्याञ् । पा. २-४-५४ । इति ख्याञादेशे प्राप्ते ऽसनयोश्च । पा. २-४-५४-१० । इति प्रतिषेधः ॥

he manīṣiṇo buddhimanta ṛtvijo barhirdarbhaṃ stṛṇīta | vederuparyācchādayata | atrāpi barhirnāmako 'gniḥ sūcyate | kīdṛśaṃ barhirāstaraṇīyam | ānuṣaganukrameṇa saktaṃ parasparaṃ saṃbaddhaṃ ghṛtapṛṣṭham | ghṛtapūrṇānāṃ srucāṃ barhiṣyāsāditatvādghṛtaṃ pṛṣṭha uparibhāge yasya barhiṣastadghṛtapṛṣṭham | yatra yasminbarhiṣyamṛtasyāmṛtasamānasya ghṛtasya cakṣaṇaṃ darśanaṃ bhavati | yadvā | maraṇarahitasya devasya barhirnāmakasyāgnerdarśanaṃ bhavati | tadbarhiḥ stṛṇīteti pūrvatrānvayaḥ || stṛṇīta | stṛñ ācchādane | loṇmadhyamapuruṣasya bahuvacanam | loṭo laṅvat | pā. 3-4-85 | tasthasthamipām | pā. 3-4-101 | iti thasya tādeśaḥ | kryādibhyaḥ śnā | ī halyaghoḥ | pā. 6-4-113 | itīttvam | ṛvarṇācceti vaktavyam | kā. 8-4-1-1 | iti ṇatvam | pvādīnāṃ hrasvaḥ | pā. 7-3-80 | iti dhātorhrasvatvam | satiśiṣṭasvarabalīyastvamanyatra vikaraṇebhyaḥ | atastiṅa eva pratyayasvareṇodāttatvam | barhiḥ | bṛṃhernalopaśca | u. 2-110 | itīsipratyayanalopau | pratyayasvaraḥ | ānuṣak | ā samantādanuṣajatītyānuṣak | ṣañja saṅge | dhātvādeḥ ṣaḥ saḥ | kvipceti kvip | aniditām | pā. 6-4-24 | iti lopaḥ | āṅanvorupasargayoḥ prākprayogaḥ | gatisamāsaḥ | upasargātsunotītyādinā ṣatvam | ghṛtapṛṣṭham | ghṛ kṣaraṇadīptyoḥ | niṣṭheti ktaḥ | pratyayasvareṇodāttaḥ | ghṛtayuktaṃ pṛṣṭhamasyeti bahuvrīhau pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvam | manīṣiṇaḥ | āmantritanighātaḥ | amṛtasya | na vidyate mṛtaṃ maraṇamasminnityamṛtam | bahuvrīhau pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ bādhitvā nañsubhyāmityuttarapadāntodāttatve prāpte naño jaramaramitramṛtāḥ | pā. 6-2-116 | ityuttarapadādyudāttatvam | cakṣaṇam | cakṣiṅ vyaktāyāṃ vāci | vāgabhivyaktivācī dhāturihābhivyaktimātraṃ lakṣayati | lyuṭ ca | pā. 3-3-115 | iti bhāve lyuṭ | yoranādeśaḥ | tasyārdhadhātukatvāccakṣiṅaḥ khyāñ | pā. 2-4-54 | iti khyāñādeśe prāpte 'sanayośca | pā. 2-4-54-10 | iti pratiṣedhaḥ ||

Translation: "O manīṣiṇaḥ, wise priests! Barhiḥ stṛṇīta — spread the darbha; cover [the top of] the altar with it. Here too the fire named Barhis is indicated. What kind of barhis, the one to be strewn? Ānuṣak — attached in order, connected with one another; ghṛtapṛṣṭham — since the ladles full of ghee are set down on the barhis, the barhis whose pṛṣṭha, upper part, has ghee. Yatra — on which barhis — there is cakṣaṇam, the sight, amṛtasya, of the ghee, which is like ambrosia; or, the sight of the deathless god, the Agni named Barhis: spread that barhis — this is the connection with what precedes." (Grammatical tail: stṛṇīta — stṛñ ācchādane, loṭ second plural, treated like laṅ by "loṭo laṅvat" (Pā. 3-4-85), ta for tha by "tas-thas-tha-mipām…" (Pā. 3-4-101), śnā of the kryādi, ī by "ī haly aghoḥ" (Pā. 6-4-113), ṇ by the vārttika "ṛvarṇāc ca" (Kā. 8-4-1-1), the root shortened by "pvādīnāṃ hrasvaḥ" (Pā. 7-3-80); by "sati śiṣṭa-svara-balīyastvam anyatra vikaraṇebhyaḥ" the tiṅ alone is udātta by the suffix accent; barhiḥ — isi with loss of n by "bṛṃher nalopaś ca" (Uṇ. 2-110), suffix accent; ānuṣak — "it clings all around": ṣañja saṅge, s for ṣ, kvip, the n dropped (Pā. 6-4-24), the upasargas āṅ and anu placed before, a gati compound, ṣ by "upasargāt sunoti…"; ghṛtapṛṣṭham — ghṛ kṣaraṇadīptyoḥ with kta, suffix accent; "whose back is joined with ghee", a bahuvrīhi with the first member's accent; manīṣiṇaḥ — unaccented as a vocative; amṛtasya — "in which there is no death"; instead of the first-member accent, and of the final udātta of "nañ-subhyām", "nañ jara-mara-mitra-mṛtāḥ" (Pā. 6-2-116) makes the second member initial-udātta; cakṣaṇam — cakṣiṅ vyaktāyāṃ vāci, a root meaning manifestation of speech, here indicating mere manifestation; lyuṭ in the sense of the state by "lyuṭ ca" (Pā. 3-3-115), ana for yu; the khyāñ of "cakṣiṅaḥ khyāñ" (Pā. 2-4-54) that would come before an ārdhadhātuka is barred by "asanayoś ca" (Pā. 2-4-54-10).)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

(O) मनीषिणः (manīṣiṇaḥ) — wise priests | आनुषक् (ānuṣak) — in sequence, one touching the next (so that they lie close together) | घृतपृष्ठम् (ghṛtapṛṣṭham) — sprinkled with ghee (or water) on the upper part | यत्र (yatra) — on which barhis | अमृतस्य (amṛtasya) — [of] the ghee equal to ambrosia, or of the deathless god [Agni] named Barhis | चक्षणम् (cakṣaṇam) — sight | बर्हिः (barhiḥ) — the kuśa grass with its ends cut | स्तृणीत (stṛṇīta) — spread (over the altar).

Page 548 — Rik 5: overall sense, English, Special Topics

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O wise priests! Spread the darbha on the altar as a seat, for the fire called Barhis to come and sit. When spreading it, lay it close together so that it is soft. It must be moistened with ghee or water and be soft. The ghee on it, or the fire called Barhis, must be visible to all. Spread the darbha called kuśa well on the altar in this way.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> Strew, learned priests, in due order, the sacrificial grass the back (or surface) of which is sprinkled with clarified butter (or water), that we may see the immortal ones thereon.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

The sense of this rik is somewhat involved. Yāska explains the word barhiḥ as barhiḥ paribarhaṇāt:

> बर्हिः प्रसिद्धमेव कुशमयं यज्ञाङ्गम् । परिबर्हणात्परिच्छेदनाल्लूनं हि तद्भवति ।
>
> barhiḥ prasiddhameva kuśamayaṃ yajñāṅgam | paribarhaṇātparicchedanāllūnaṃ hi tadbhavati |

That is, barhis is the kuśa grass with its tip cut off, used in the sacrifice; paribarhaṇa means cutting; since its tip has been cut, such darbha is called barhiḥ. Or barhiḥ is from

> प्रवृज्यते = प्रच्छिद्यते लूयते अथवा प्रवृज्यते = प्रस्तीर्यते ॥
>
> pravṛjyate = pracchidyate lūyate athavā pravṛjyate = prastīryate ||

— because it is cut, or because it is spread, it may be said to be called barhiḥ. In support of this sense Yāska cites the rik

(Ṛ. Saṃ. 10-110-4.)

> प्राचीनं बर्हिः प्रदिशा पृथिव्या वस्तोरस्या वृज्यते अग्रे अह्नाम् । व्यु प्रथते वितरं वरीयो देवेभ्यो अदितये स्योनम् ॥
>
> prācīnaṃ barhiḥ pradiśā pṛthivyā vastorasyā vṛjyate agre ahnām | vyu prathate vitaraṃ varīyo devebhyo aditaye syonam ||

("The barhis is cut, eastward-pointing, at the dawn of days, by the direction of this earth, for its covering; it spreads wide, wider and broader, pleasant for the gods and for Aditi" — mine and tentative.)

and by way of explanation:

> प्राचीनं बर्हिः प्रदिशा पृथिव्या वसनायास्याः प्रवृज्यते अग्रे अह्नां बर्हिः पूर्वाह्णे तद्विप्रथते वितरं विकीर्णतरमिति वा विस्तीर्णतरमिति वा वरीयो वरतरमुरुतरं वा देवेभ्यश्चादितये च स्योनम् । स्योनमिति सुखनाम स्यतेरवस्यन्त्येतत्सेवितव्यं भवतीति वा ॥
>
> prācīnaṃ barhiḥ pradiśā pṛthivyā vasanāyāsyāḥ pravṛjyate agre ahnāṃ barhiḥ pūrvāhṇe tadviprathate vitaraṃ vikīrṇataramiti vā vistīrṇataramiti vā varīyo varataramurutaraṃ vā devebhyaścāditaye ca syonam | syonamiti sukhanāma syateravasyantyetatsevitavyaṃ bhavatīti vā ||

Page 549 — Rik 5: Special Topics (continued)

he says. From this explanation the word barhiḥ means cut darbha spread well and widely. Such cut darbha is spread and made ready in the sacrifice for two reasons: one, to set the ājya-vessel (the ghee vessel) and the sruk in front of Agni; two, as a seat for the invoked gods to come and sit on. Performing rites seated on a darbha seat is counted best. So the practice is to spread the cut darbha called barhiḥ on one part of the sacrificial altar and make a seat ready for the gods to sit on. The five spoken of so far — samiddha, tanūnapāt, narāśaṃsa, iḷa, barhiḥ — are all thought of as different forms of Agni, and with these names they offer homa in the animal sacrifice.

"Ānuṣak" — anukrameṇa saktaṃ parasparaṃ saṃbaddham: so that the darbha blades touch one another, connected with each other — that is, close together, not sparse. If a few blades are laid sparsely, it will not be soft; the idea is that the seat is soft when the darbha is laid much and close together.

“Ghṛtapṛṣṭham” — ghṛ kṣaraṇadīptyoḥ; ghṛtayuktaṃ pṛṣṭham asya: smeared with ghee, or moistened, or sprinkled with water. The word ghṛta also means water (Ni. 1-12). The practice is to sprinkle water so that the dry darbha becomes soft.

“Amṛtasya” — na vidyate mṛtaṃ maraṇam asminn ity amṛtam: free from death, that is, the god Agni; or, as the Bhāṣyakāra says, ghee, which is like ambrosia.

“Cakṣaṇam” — cakṣiṅ vyaktāyāṃ vāci: becoming manifest, appearing. What the right sense of the words amṛtasya cakṣaṇam is, is not clear; the seer’s intention too cannot be properly known. Although we have given the meaning current in tradition for these words, the main intention in the seer’s mind is not clear.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 549–551, noted briefly; numbers checked against the print)

स्तृणीत (stṛṇīta) — stṝñ ācchādane, a root of the kryādi class; after it the loṭ parasmaipada second plural tha: stṝ + tha; by “loṭo laṅvat” (Pā. 3-4-85) the operations of laṅ apply to loṭ, so “tas-thas-tha-mipāṃ tān-tan-tāmaḥ” (Pā. 3-4-101) — for tas, thas, tha, mip in place of a ṅit lakāra, the four substitutes tām, tam, ta, am in order — gives ta for tha. “kryādibhyaḥ śnā” (Pā. 3-1-81): before a sārvadhātuka in the agent sense, after the roots of the kryādi group, the vikaraṇa śnā in its own sense: stṝ + nā + ta. “ī haly aghoḥ” (printed “6-4-11” [sic]; the sūtra is 6-4-113): before a consonant-initial kit or ṅit sārvadhātuka, the ā of śnā and of a reduplicated root not named ghu becomes ī: stṝ + nī + ta; “pvādīnāṃ hrasvaḥ” (Pā. 7-3-80) shortens the root’s ṝ; “ṛvarṇāc ceti vaktavyam” (printed “8-4-1-1”) gives ṇ for the n: stṛṇīta. Standing at the beginning of the pāda, it is not made wholly unaccented by “tiṅṅ atiṅaḥ”. Although the accent of the suffix śnā is “sati śiṣṭa”, that is, it comes last, being a vikaraṇa it does not prevail, according to the statement “sati-śiṣṭa-svara-balīyastvam anyatra vikaraṇebhyaḥ”; so the tiṅ suffix ta alone is udātta by the suffix accent.

बर्हिः (barhiḥ) — bṛhi vṛddhau, a root that is idit; so num by “idito num dhātoḥ” (printed “7-1-58”); after it “bṛṃher nalopaś ca” (Uṇ. sū. “2–266” [sic]; the bhāṣya gives 2-110): after bṛhi both the suffix isi and the loss of n: bṛh + is; laghūpadha-guṇa with r: barhis; the suffix accent; accusative singular barhiḥ. आनुषक् (ānuṣak) — “ā samantāt anuṣajati iti ānuṣak”: root ṣañja saṅge; s for ṣ by “dhātvādeḥ ṣaḥ saḥ” (Pā. 6-1-64); kvip by “kvip ca” (Pā. 3-2-76), which is lost entirely; “anidatāṃ hala upadhāyāḥ kṅiti” (Pā. 6-4-24) drops the n; the upasargas āṅ and anu are used before it in order: ā + anu + saj, a gati compound by “kugatiprādayaḥ” (Pā. 2-2-18); savarṇa-lengthening of ā anu; ṣ for the s by “upasargāt sunoti-suvati…” (Pā. 8-3-65); then the accusative singular am, dropped by “svamor napuṃsakāt” (Pā. 7-1-23) after a neuter stem; k-series by “coḥ kuḥ” (Pā. 8-2-30): g for the voiced palatal j; jaś by “jhalāṃ jaśo ’nte” (Pā. 8-2-39); car by “vāvasāne” (Pā. 8-4-56): k for g: ānuṣak. घृतपृष्ठम् (ghṛtapṛṣṭham) — root ghṛ kṣaraṇadīptyoḥ; kta by “niṣṭhā” (Pā. 3-2-102); ghṛta is final-udātta by the suffix accent; “ghṛtayuktaṃ pṛṣṭham asya”, a bahuvrīhi; the first-member accent by “bahuvrīhau prakṛtyā pūrvapadam” (Pā. 6-2-1). मनीषिणः (manīṣiṇaḥ) — a vocative, hence unaccented by the eighth-chapter rule.

Page 551 — Rik 5 grammar closes

अमृतस्य (amṛtasya) — analysed "na vidyate mṛtaṃ maraṇam asmin". Amṛta being a bahuvrīhi, the first-member accent would come; setting it aside, "nañ-subhyām" (Pā. 6-2-172) — in a bahuvrīhi the second member after nañ or su is final-udātta — would give the final udātta; setting that aside too, "nañ jara-mara-mitra-mṛtāḥ" (Pā. 6-2-116) — in a bahuvrīhi, after nañ, the words jara, mara, mitra, mṛta are initial-udātta — makes the second member initial-udātta. चक्षणम् (cakṣaṇam) — cakṣiṅ vyaktāyāṃ vāci, a root which can denote the manifestation of speech; here by implication it conveys only manifestation. After it, by "lyuṭ ca" (Pā. 3-3-115) — after a root, in the neuter, in the sense of the state, the suffixes lyuṭ and kta — lyuṭ comes; the l and ṭ are it and dropped; ana for yu by "yuvor anākau" (printed "2-1-1" [sic]; the sūtra is 7-1-1): cakṣ + ana; ana is an ārdhadhātuka, so by "cakṣiṅaḥ khyāñ" (Pā. 2-4-54) — before an ārdhadhātuka cakṣiṅ is replaced by khyāñ — the substitute khyāñ would arise; but "asanayoś ca" (printed "Pā. sū. 2-4-54 vā. 10") — before the suffixes as and ana, cakṣiṅ does not take khyāñ — bars it, so khyāñ does not come. Here the Kaiyaṭa, by "anudāttetaś ca halādeḥ" (Pā. 3-2-149), gives the suffix yuc and derives vicakṣaṇaḥ; on that view vicakṣaṇa is final-udātta. On the lyuṭ view "liti" makes [the ca] udātta; the other two a's are unaccented by the rule for the remainder; then by "udāttād anudāttasya svaritaḥ" the second a is svarita, and by "svaritāt saṃhitāyām anudāttānām" the third a is pracaya. It is to get this accent that lyuṭ is described here.

॥५॥

---

Page 551 (lower) — Sūkta 13, Rik 6

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. Line 2: the bar under द्या of अद्या, as printed; the svarita on the last syllable of नूनम् is not printed.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

वि श्र॑यन्तामृत॒ावृधो॒ द्वारो॑ दे॒वीर॑स॒श्चतः॑ । अ॒द्या नू॒नं च॒ यष्ट॑वे ॥६॥

ví śrayantām ṛtāvṛ́dho dvā́ro devī́r asaścátaḥ | adyā́ nūnáṃ ca yáṣṭave ||6||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

वि । श्रयन्ताम् । ऋतऽवृधः । द्वारः । देवीः । असश्चतः ॥ अद्य । नूनम् । च । यष्टवे ॥६॥

vi | śrayantām | ṛta-vṛdhaḥ | dvāraḥ | devīḥ | asaścataḥ || adya | nūnam | ca | yaṣṭave ||6||

Page 552 — Rik 6: Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya, word-meanings, overall sense

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

द्वारो यज्ञशालाद्वाराणि वि श्रयन्ताम् । कपाटोद्घाटनेन विव्रियन्ताम् । कीदृश्यः । ऋतावृध ऋतस्य सत्यस्य यज्ञस्य वा वर्धयित्र्यो देवीर्द्योतमाना असश्चतो ऽसक्ताः । उद्घाटनेन प्रवेष्टृपुरुषसङ्गरहिताः । यद्वा । असश्चतः प्रवेष्टृपुरुषरहितान्यज्ञगृहांस्तत्पुरुषप्रवेशाय द्वाराभिमानिन्य एतत्संज्ञिका अग्निविशेषमूर्तयो वि

श्रयन्ताम् । विशेषेण सेवन्ताम् । द्वारसेवया तत्र पुरुषप्रवेशेन वा किं प्रयोजनमिति तदुच्यते । अद्यास्मिन्दिने नूनमवश्यं यष्टवे यष्टुम् । चकाराद्दिनान्तरेष्वपीति द्रष्टव्यम् ॥ ऋतावृधः । ऋतं वर्धयन्तीत्यर्थे वृधेरन्तर्भावितण्यर्थात्क्विप्चेति क्विप् । उपपदसमासः । अन्येषामपि दृश्यत इति पूर्वपदस्य दीर्घत्वम् । वृधिर्धातुस्वरेणोदात्तः । समासे कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वेन स एव शिष्यते । देवीः । वा छन्दसीति पूर्वसवर्णदीर्घत्वम् । देवशब्दात्पचाद्यजन्तात्पुंयोगादाख्यायाम् । पा. ४-१-४८ । इति ङीष् । प्रत्ययस्वरेणोदात्तः । विभक्त्या सहैकादेश उदात्तेनोदात्त इत्युदात्तः । असश्चतः । ग्लुञ्चु षस्ज गतौ । जकारस्य व्यत्ययेन चकारः । लटः शत्रादेशः । द्वाराभावे न विद्यन्ते सश्चन्तो गच्छन्तो येषु प्राग्वंशादिषु तानसश्चतः । अद्य । सद्यःपरुदित्यादिना द्यप्रत्ययान्तो निपातितः । तद्धितश्चासर्वविभक्तिरित्यव्ययसंज्ञकत्वात्परस्या विभक्तेर्लुक् । प्रत्ययस्वरेणान्तोदात्तः । संहितायामन्येषामपि दृश्यत इति दीर्घत्वम् । नूनम् । एवमादीनामन्त इत्यन्तोदात्तत्वम् । यष्टवे । यजेस्तुमर्थे सेसेनित्यादिना । पा. ३-४-९ । तवेन्प्रत्ययः । व्रश्चादिना षत्वम् । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः ॥

dvāro yajñaśālādvārāṇi vi śrayantām | kapāṭodghāṭanena vivriyantām | kīdṛśyaḥ | ṛtāvṛdha ṛtasya satyasya yajñasya vā vardhayitryo devīrdyotamānā asaścato 'saktāḥ | udghāṭanena praveṣṭṛpuruṣasaṅgarahitāḥ | yadvā | asaścataḥ praveṣṭṛpuruṣarahitānyajñagṛhāṃstatpuruṣapraveśāya dvārābhimāninya etatsaṃjñikā agniviśeṣamūrtayo vi śrayantām | viśeṣeṇa sevantām | dvārasevayā tatra puruṣapraveśena vā kiṃ prayojanamiti taducyate | adyāsmindine nūnamavaśyaṃ yaṣṭave yaṣṭum | cakārāddināntareṣvapīti draṣṭavyam || ṛtāvṛdhaḥ | ṛtaṃ vardhayantītyarthe vṛdherantarbhāvitaṇyarthātkvipceti kvip | upapadasamāsaḥ | anyeṣāmapi dṛśyata iti pūrvapadasya dīrghatvam | vṛdhirdhātusvareṇodāttaḥ | samāse kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvena sa eva śiṣyate | devīḥ | vā chandasīti pūrvasavarṇadīrghatvam | devaśabdātpacādyajantātpuṃyogādākhyāyām | pā. 4-1-48 | iti ṅīṣ | pratyayasvareṇodāttaḥ | vibhaktyā sahaikādeśa udāttenodātta ityudāttaḥ | asaścataḥ | gluñcu ṣasja gatau | jakārasya vyatyayena cakāraḥ | laṭaḥ śatrādeśaḥ | dvārābhāve na vidyante saścanto gacchanto yeṣu prāgvaṃśādiṣu tānasaścataḥ | adya | sadyaḥparudityādinā dyapratyayānto nipātitaḥ | taddhitaścāsarvavibhaktirityavyayasaṃjñakatvātparasyā vibhakterluk | pratyayasvareṇāntodāttaḥ | saṃhitāyāmanyeṣāmapi dṛśyata iti dīrghatvam | nūnam | evamādīnāmanta ityantodāttatvam | yaṣṭave | yajestumarthe sesenityādinā | pā. 3-4-9 | tavenpratyayaḥ | vraścādinā ṣatvam | nittvādādyudāttaḥ ||

Translation: "May the dvāraḥ — the doors of the sacrificial hall — vi śrayantām: be opened by the opening of their leaves. What kind? Ṛtāvṛdhaḥ — increasers of ṛta, truth or the sacrifice; devīḥ — shining; asaścataḥ — unattached: by being opened, free of contact with the persons who enter. Or else: may the special forms of Agni, presiding over the doors and called by this name, vi śrayantām — specially serve — the sacrificial houses hitherto without persons entering, for those persons to enter. What is the purpose of serving the doors or of persons entering there? That is told: adya, on this day, nūnam, without fail, yaṣṭave, to sacrifice; from the word ca, on other days too, it is to be understood." (Grammatical tail: ṛtāvṛdhaḥ — "they increase ṛta": kvip after vṛdh with the causative sense included, by "kvip ca"; an upapada compound; the first member lengthened by "anyeṣām api dṛśyate"; vṛdh udātta by the root accent, which alone remains in the compound as the kṛt second member's accent; devīḥ — pūrvasavarṇa lengthening by "vā chandasi"; ṅīṣ after deva, an ac-ending of the pacādi, by "puṃyogād ākhyāyām" (Pā. 4-1-48); udātta by the suffix accent, and the single substitute with the case ending udātta by "ekādeśa udāttenodāttaḥ"; asaścataḥ — from gluñcu ṣasja gatau, c for the j by exception, śatṛ for laṭ: "those in which there are no goers, as the prāgvaṃśa and other [halls] in the absence of doors"; adya — formed irregularly with dya by "sadyaḥ-parut…", an indeclinable by "taddhitaś cāsarvavibhaktiḥ", so the ending after it is dropped, final-udātta, lengthened in the Saṃhitā; nūnam — final-udātta by "evamādīnām antaḥ"; yaṣṭave — taven in the sense of tumun by "se-sen…" (Pā. 3-4-9), ṣ by "vraśca…", initial-udātta as nit.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

अद्य (adya) — today (now itself) | नूनम् (nūnam) — certainly | यष्टवे च (yaṣṭave ca) — in order that [we] may perform the sacrifice | ऋतावृधः (ṛtāvṛdhaḥ) — helping the sacrifice to go forward | देवीः (devīḥ) — shining (making light) | असश्चतः (asaścataḥ) — free of contact, that is, entered by no one until now | द्वारः (dvāraḥ) — the doors (gates) of the sacrificial hall | वि श्रयन्ताम् (vi śrayantām) — be opened.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

The doors of the sacrificial hall make it well lit and help the sacrifice go forward. Until now (that is, today) no one has entered this sacrificial hall. May such doors of the sacrificial hall be opened now, without delay, for the sacrifice we perform.

Page 553 — Rik 6: English, Special Topics

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> Let the divine doors, the promoters of the sacred rite, hitherto unentered be set open;
> for certainly to-day the sacrifice is to be performed.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

When entering the sacrificial hall the sacrificer and the priests pray to the doors of the hall. Although all the riks of this sūkta are addressed to Agni, in this rik devīr dvāraḥ — "the divine doors" — the door-deities (that is, the deities who preside over the doors) are prayed to. Yāska's explanation:

> द्वारः । द्वारो जवतेर्वा द्रवतेर्वा वारयतेर्वा ॥ अग्निरिति शाकपूणिः ॥
>
> dvāraḥ | dvāro javatervā dravatervā vārayatervā || agniriti śākapūṇiḥ ||

Dvāra is that by which one enters, goes inside, or that which stops one going inside; so it is called dvāra. Śākapūṇi's view is that dvāra is Agni: since Agni is the form in which the homa is made, the doors of the homa-chamber are also called "special forms of Agni." The doors of the chamber in which the oblation is offered, said to be personifications of Agni [the source's English].

"Viśrayantām" — kapāṭodghāṭanena vivriyantām | vivṛtā bhavantu: let the doors be opened well.

"Ṛtāvṛdhaḥ" — ṛtaṃ (yajñaṃ) vardhayantīti ṛtāvṛdhaḥ: helpful for the sacrifice to go forward — that is, by [letting one] enter the sacrificial hall, they help to carry out the homa and the other acts to be done in the sacrifice.

"Devīḥ" — dyotamānāḥ: "shining, making light well": when the door is opened, light naturally fills the room. Whether the word devīḥ is understood as an adjective of dvāraḥ, or both words are taken in the sense "the deities presiding over the doors," either use is possible; for in the Anukramaṇikā the deity of this rik is named devīr dvāraḥ.

Page 554 — Rik 6: Special Topics (continued) and grammar

"Asaścataḥ" — dvārābhāve saścanto gacchanto yeṣu | na saścataḥ asaścataḥ: free of entry, entered by no one, or which stop those who would enter — such senses may be given.

"Adyā" — "now, today; this time at which we are performing this sacrifice." The final vowel is lengthened in the Saṃhitā for the convenience of the meter.

"Nūnam" — "necessarily, certainly, without fail" [the source's English: certainly, without fail].

"Ca" — this word has no special sense here; looking at it one way, there is no need of it in this rik. The Bhāṣyakāra gives the sense dinānteṣv api — "on other days too."

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 554–555, noted briefly; numbers checked against the print)

ऋतावृधः (ṛtāvṛdhaḥ) — in the sense "ṛtaṃ vardhayanti", after the root vṛdh with the causative sense included, kvip by "kvip ca" (Pā. 3-2-76); "upapadam atiṅ" (Pā. 2-2-19): an upapada that is a subanta is always compounded with the connected word — so a compound; "anyeṣām api dṛśyate" (Pā. 6-3-137) lengthens the first member. Vṛdh is udātta by the root accent; once compounded, "gati-kārakopapadāt kṛt" (Pā. 6-2-139) gives the accent of the kṛt second member, and that same accent stands. Nominative plural. देवीः (devīḥ) — the word deva is formed from divu krīḍādau with the suffix ac by "nandi-grahi-pacādibhyo lyu-ṇiny-acaḥ" (printed "vā. sū." [sic] 3-1-134); so it is final-udātta by "citaḥ". After it "puṃyogād ākhyāyām" (Pā. 4-1-48): a word well known in the masculine, when used by implication in the feminine through connection with a man, takes ṅīṣ (the connection with a man being that of marriage, or of being begotten) — so when devasya strī is meant, ṅīṣ comes: deva + ī; "yasyeti ca" (Pā. 6-4-148) drops the a; the ī is udātta by the suffix accent. Then the nominative plural jas; the pūrvasavarṇa-lengthening of "prathamayoḥ pūrvasavarṇaḥ" (Pā. 6-1-102) is barred by "dīrghāj jasi ca" (Pā. 6-1-105); yet by "vā chandasi" (printed "3-4-88" [sic]; the sūtra is 6-1-106) the pūrvasavarṇa-lengthening comes as a single substitute, and that single substitute is udātta by "ekādeśa udāttenodāttaḥ" (Pā. 8-2-5).

Page 555 — Rik 6 grammar closes

असश्चतः (asaścataḥ) — root gluñcu ṣasja gatau; c for the j by exception; s for the ṣ by "dhātvādeḥ ṣaḥ saḥ" (Pā. 6-1-64); then laṭ, replaced by śatṛ by "laṭaḥ śatṛ…" (Pā. 3-2-124); the vikaraṇa śap: sasc + a + at; pararūpa by "ato guṇe": sascat. "dvārābhāvena na vidyante saścantaḥ gacchantaḥ yeṣu prāgvaṃśādiṣu, tān" — so the analysis; with the accusative plural śas: asaścataḥ. अद्य (adya) — formed irregularly, as ending in the suffix dya, by the sūtra

“sadyaḥ parut…” (Pā. 5-3-22). Since it has the name avyaya by “taddhitaś cāsarvavibhaktiḥ” (Pā. 1-1-38), the locative singular ṅi after it is dropped by “avyayād āp-supaḥ” (Pā. 2-4-82). It is final-udātta by the suffix accent; in the Saṃhitā it is lengthened by “anyeṣām api dṛśyate” (Pā. 6-3-137). नूनम् (nūnam) — final-udātta by “evādīnām antaḥ” (printed “pā. sū. 82”). यष्टवे (yaṣṭave) — root yaja devapūjādau; after it “tumarthe se-sen-ase-asen-kse-kasen-adhyai-adhyain-kadhyai-kadhyain-śadhyai-śadhyain-tavai-taveṅ-tavenaḥ” (Pā. 3-4-9) gives taven in the sense of tumun: yaj + tave; “vraśca-bhrasja-sṛja-mṛja-yaja-rāja-bhrāja-cchaśāṃ ṣaḥ” (Pā. 8-2-36) gives ṣ for the j; ṣṭutva by “ṣṭunā ṣṭuḥ” (Pā. 8-4-41) gives ṭ for the t: yaṣṭave; the suffix being nit, it is initial-udātta by the nit accent.

॥६॥

---

Page 555 (lower) — Sūkta 13, Rik 7

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. Line 1: the bars are crowded under ~~नक्तो~~ and ~~सास्मि~~ — [accent ?].)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

नक्तोषासा सुपेशसास्मिन्यज्ञ उप ह्वये । [accent ?] इदं नो बर्हिरासदे ॥७॥

naktoṣāsā supéśasāsmín yajñá úpa hvaye | [accent ?] idáṃ no barhír āsade ||7||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

नक्तोषसा । सुऽपेशसा । अस्मिन् । यज्ञे । उप । ह्वये ॥ इदम् । नः । बर्हिः । आऽसदे ॥७॥

naktoṣasā | su-peśasā | asmin | yajñe | upa | hvaye || idam | naḥ | barhiḥ | ā-sade ||7||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥ (runs onto p. 556)

नक्तशब्द उषःशब्दश्च लोके कालविशेषवाचिनौ । इह तु तत्कालाभिमानि वह्निमूर्तिद्वये प्रयुज्येते । नक्तोषासा नक्तोषो नामिके वह्निमूर्ती अस्मिन्प्रवर्तमाने यज्ञकर्मण्युप ह्वये । आह्वयामि । किमर्थम् । नो ऽस्मदीयमिदं वेद्यामास्तीर्णं बर्हिर्दर्भमासदे । आसत्तुम् । प्राप्तुम् । कीदृशौ । सुपेशसा शोभनरूपयुक्ते ॥ नक्तं चोषाश्च नक्तोषसा । द्वितीयाद्विवचनस्य सुपां सुलुगित्याकारः । मलोप उपधादीर्घश्छान्दसौ । देवताद्वन्द्वे च । पा. ६-२-१४१ । इति पूर्वोत्तरपदयोर्युगपत्प्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् । सुपेशसा । शोभनं पेशो रूपं ययोस्ते । पूर्ववदाकारः । पेशःशब्दो नब्विषयत्वादाद्युदात्तः । बहुव्रीहौ नञ्सुभ्यामित्युत्तरपदान्तोदात्तत्वस्यापवादत्वेनाद्युदात्तं द्व्यच्छन्दसि । पा. ६-२-११९ । इत्युत्तरपदाद्युदात्तत्वम् । अस्मिन् । ऊङिदमित्यादिना विभक्तिरुदात्ता । आसदे । षद्लृ विशरणगत्यवसादनेषु । धात्वादेः षः सः । आङ्पूर्वादस्मात्संपदादिभ्यो भावे क्विप् । पा. ३-३-१०८-९ । प्रादिसमासः । कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् ॥

naktaśabda uṣaḥśabdaśca loke kālaviśeṣavācinau | iha tu tatkālābhimāni vahnimūrtidvaye prayujyete | naktoṣāsā naktoṣo nāmike vahnimūrtī asminpravartamāne yajñakarmaṇyupa hvaye | āhvayāmi | kimartham | no 'smadīyamidaṃ vedyāmāstīrṇaṃ barhirdarbhamāsade | āsattum | prāptum | kīdṛśau | supeśasā śobhanarūpayukte || naktaṃ coṣāśca naktoṣasā |

dvitīyādvivacanasya supāṃ sulugityākāraḥ | malopa upadhādīrghaśchāndasau | devatādvandve ca | pā. 6-2-141 | iti pūrvottarapadayoryugapatprakṛtisvaratvam | supeśasā | śobhanaṃ peśo rūpaṃ yayoste | pūrvavadākāraḥ | peśaḥśabdo nabviṣayatvādādyudāttaḥ | bahuvrīhau nañsubhyāmityuttarapadāntodāttatvasyāpavādatvenādyudāttaṃ dvyacchandasi | pā. 6-2-119 | ityuttarapadādyudāttatvam | asmin | ūḍidamityādinā vibhaktirudāttā | āsade | ṣadlṛ viśaraṇagatyavasādaneṣu | dhātvādeḥ ṣaḥ saḥ | āṅpūrvādasmātsaṃpadādibhyo bhāve kvip | pā. 3-3-108-9 | prādisamāsaḥ | kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvam ||

Translation: "The words nakta and uṣas in ordinary use denote particular times; here, however, they are used of the pair of fire-forms presiding over those times. Naktoṣāsā — the two fire-forms named Night and Dawn — I upa hvaye, call, in this sacrificial rite now in progress. For what? Naḥ idaṃ barhiḥ āsade — to sit on, to reach, this our darbha spread on the altar. What are they like? Supeśasā — endowed with beautiful form." (Grammatical tail: naktoṣasā — "night and dawn": ā for the accusative dual ending by "supāṃ suluk…"; the loss of m and the lengthening of the penultimate are Vedic; by "devatādvandve ca" (Pā. 6-2-141) both members keep their own accents at once; supeśasā — "whose peśas, form, is beautiful", ā as before; peśas initial-udātta as a nab-viṣaya word; in the bahuvrīhi, setting aside the second member's final udātta of "nañ-subhyām", "ādyudāttaṃ dvyac chandasi" (Pā. 6-2-119) makes the second member initial-udātta; asmin — the case ending udātta by "ūḍ-idam…"; āsade — ṣadḷ, s for ṣ, kvip in the sense of the state after sad with āṅ, by "sampadādibhyaḥ" (Pā. 3-3-108-9), a prādi compound, the kṛt second-member accent.)

Page 556 — Rik 7: word-meanings, overall sense, English

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

नः (naḥ) — our | इदम् (idam) — this, spread on the altar | बर्हिः (barhiḥ) — the darbha grass prepared as a seat | आसदे (āsade) — in order that they may come and sit [on] it (that is, to sit on the darbha that we have spread) | सुपेशसा (supeśasā) — endowed with beautiful forms | नक्तोषासा (naktoṣāsā) — the deities of night and dawn (or the presiding deities of those times) | अस्मिन् यज्ञे (asmin yajñe) — in this sacrifice now proceeding | उप ह्वये (upa hvaye) — I invoke.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

In the sacrifice we are performing we have spread darbha on the altar and made a seat ready. To come and sit on this seat, I now call in the sacrifice in progress the deities who shine with excellent forms (the deities called Naktoṣāsā, presiding over night and the morning time).

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> I invoke here at this sacrifice Night and Dawn, the beautifully adorned goddesses, > that they may sit down on this our sacrificial grass.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

In this rik the presiding deities of night and of the morning time, called Naktoṣāsā, are invoked. Yāska's explanation of the word naktoṣasā is as follows:

> उषासानक्ता । उषासानक्तोषाश्च नक्ता चोषा व्याख्याता । नक्तेति रात्रिनामानक्ति भूतान्यवश्यायेनापि वा नक्ताव्यक्तवर्णा ॥
>
> uṣāsānaktā | uṣāsānaktoṣāśca naktā coṣā vyākhyātā | nakteti rātrināmānakti bhūtānyavaśyāyenāpi vā naktāvyaktavarṇā ||

Although read in two ways, naktoṣāsā and uṣāsānaktā, the sense is one. We have given the explanation of the word uṣas earlier. Naktā is a name of night; for naktā means avyaktavarṇā, "of indistinct colour": because of the darkness things are indistinct, not clearly seen; so the night, joined with darkness, is called naktā, and in this night-time living beings are unable to do their work.

> अनक्ति क्लेदयति भूतानि अवश्यायेन इति । अपि वा नक्ता अव्यक्तवर्णा । यथा अहः सर्वमभिव्यक्तरूपं भवति न तथा रात्रिः ॥
>
> anakti kledayati bhūtāni avaśyāyena iti | api vā naktā avyaktavarṇā | yathā ahaḥ sarvamabhivyaktarūpaṃ bhavati na tathā rātriḥ ||

The darkness gives living beings trouble, leaving no room for their activities to go on properly; so the night joined with such darkness is called naktā; or, since nothing is clearly seen and all is indistinct, it is called naktā. By day the forms of all things are seen clearly; at night they are not seen so. Therefore he explained that the night-time is called naktā (Ni. 8-11).

He says that he has already explained the word uṣas; that explanation runs: "vibhāvarī, sūnarī and the other sixteen words are names of dawn" (printed "2-19"), and

> उषाः कस्मादुच्छतीति सत्या रात्रेरपरः कालः ॥
>
> uṣāḥ kasmāducchatīti satyā rātreraparaḥ kālaḥ ||

Because it removes the darkness of night it is called uṣas; that is, the latter time of the night, its last part. In support of this sense he gives an example:

(Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-113-1.)

> इदं श्रेष्ठं ज्योतिषां ज्योतिरागाच्चित्रः प्रकेतो अजनिष्ट विभ्वा । यथा प्रसूता सवितुः सवायँ एवा रात्र्युषसे योनिमारैक् ॥
>
> idaṃ śreṣṭhaṃ jyotiṣāṃ jyotirāgāccitraḥ praketo ajaniṣṭa vibhvā | yathā prasūtā savituḥ savāya~ evā rātryuṣase yonimāraik ||

("This best light of lights has come; the bright sign is born, far-reaching. As [Night] was set in motion for Savitṛ's impulse, so has Night given up her womb to Dawn" — mine and tentative.)

The Nirukta of this rik:

Page 558 — Rik 7: Special Topics (continued)

इदं श्रेष्ठं ज्योतिषां ज्योतिरागमत् । चित्रं प्रकेतनं प्रज्ञाततममजनिष्ट विभूततमं यथा प्रसूता सवितुः प्रसवाय रात्रिरादित्यस्य । एवं रात्र्युषसे योनिमरिचत्स्थानम् । स्त्रीयोनिरभियुत एनां गर्भः ॥

idaṃ śreṣṭhaṃ jyotiṣāṃ jyotirāgamat | citraṃ praketanaṃ prajñātatamamajaniṣṭa vibhūtatamaṃ yathā prasūtā savituḥ prasavāya rātrirādityasya | evaṃ rātryuṣase yonimaricatsthānam | strīyonirabhiyuta enāṃ garbhaḥ ||

The best and exceedingly bright light of the sun is rising. The dawn-time, which comes before the sun's light, appears ahead of the light like its banner (niketana, its flag). For, just as the sun's light, shining all day, becomes at the time of setting the yoni — the cause — for night, so night at the end of its own time becomes the yoni, the cause, for the dawn-time. Yoni means a place of birth. The chief idea is that at the end of the day night, and at the end of night dawn, keep coming round in a cycle of change. So uṣas means the brightness, the light, that spreads through all the quarters and appears before sunrise, after the night has passed.

The Bhāṣyakāra's (Sāyaṇa's) explanation: "naktaśabda uṣaḥśabdaś ca loke kālaviśeṣavācinau | iha tu tatkālābhimānivahnimūrtidvaye prayujyete | naktoṣāsā naktoṣonāmike vahnimūrtī" — that is, the two words nakta (night) and uṣas (the morning time) have, in ordinary usage, the sense of denoting particular times, night and the morning time; here, that is, in this rik or in the Ṛgveda, these words convey the sense of the presiding deities of night and of the morning time. Hence the words naktoṣāsā or uṣāsānaktā are used in the sense of two forms (mūrti) of Agni that are the presiding deities of night and of the morning time. The word supeśasā (having a fine form or shape) used in this rik supports this sense: since night and the morning time are divisions of time, they have neither form nor shape; on the view that they are the presiding deities of those times, a form can be ascribed to those deities. Since the rik makes such a statement, it must be understood that here the presiding deities of those times are meant. The ṣa in the word naktoṣasā is lengthened for the convenience of the metre.

"Supeśasā" — since the word peśas is read among the sixteen words for form, nirṇik, vavriḥ and the rest, peśas means form; so supeśasā = śobhanarūpayukte, endowed with beautiful form, lovely.

"Āsade" — ṣadḷ viśaraṇagatyavasādaneṣu: "for reaching", that is, for coming and sitting.

Page 559 — Rik 7 grammar

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar page, noted briefly; numbers checked against the print)

नक्तोषसा (naktoṣasā) — "naktaṃ ca uṣaś ca naktoṣasā": a dvandva; after it the accusative dual auṭ; "supāṃ su-luk…" (printed "7-1-39") gives the substitute ā; the loss of the m of naktam and the lengthening of the penultimate a of uṣas both come as Vedic forms; "devatādvandve ca" (Pā. 6-2-141): in a dvandva of words for deities, the first and second members both keep their own accent at once — so both members keep their own accent. सुपेशसा (supeśasā) — "śobhanaṃ peśaḥ yayoḥ te"; as before, ā for the accusative dual; peśas is neuter, so initial-udātta by "nab-viṣayasyānisantasya" (Phi. sū. "2-26"). In the bahuvrīhi, "bahuvrīhau prakṛtyā pūrvapadam" would give the first member's accent; setting it aside, "nañ-subhyām" (Pā. 6-2-172) would make the second member final-udātta; setting that aside too, "ādyudāttaṃ dvyac chandasi" (Pā. 6-2-119) — in a bahuvrīhi, a second member that is initial-udātta and of two syllables stays initial-udātta after su — so peśas is initial-udātta. अस्मिन् (asmin) — the case ending udātta by "ūḍ-idam-padādy-ap-pum-rai-dyubhyaḥ" (printed "pā. mā." [sic] 6-1-171). आसदे (āsade) — ṣadḷ viśaraṇa-gaty-avasādaneṣu; s for ṣ by "dhātvādeḥ ṣaḥ saḥ" (Pā. 6-1-64); by "sampadādibhyaḥ kvip" (printed "Pā. sū. 3-3-108 vā. 9") kvip in the sense of the state after sad preceded by āṅ; sad is udātta by the root accent; with āṅ, a prādi compound by "kugatiprādayaḥ" (Pā. 2-2-18); in āsad, by "gati-kārakopapadāt kṛt" (printed "6-2-9139" [sic]) that same accent stands as the kṛt second member's; then the dative singular ṅe, unaccented as a sup, made svarita by "udāttād anudāttasya" (Pā. 8-4-66).

॥७॥

---

Page 559 (lower) — Sūkta 13, Rik 8

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. Line 1: the first stroke stands over सु, not over ता — [accent ?].)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

ता सु॑जि॒ह्वा उप॑ ह्वये होता॑रा दैव्या॑ क॒वी । [accent ?] य॒ज्ञं नो॑ यक्षतामि॒मम् ॥८॥

tā́ sujihvā́ úpa hvaye hótārā dáivyā kavī́ | [accent ?] yajñáṃ no yakṣatām imám ||8||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

ता । सुऽजिह्वौ । उप । ह्वये । होतारा । दैव्या । कवी इति ॥ यज्ञम् । नः । यक्षताम् । इमम् ॥८॥

tā | su-jihvau | upa | hvaye | hotārā | daivyā | kavī iti || yajñam | naḥ | yakṣatām | imam ||8||

Page 560 — Rik 8: Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya, word-meanings, overall sense

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

तच्छब्दो ऽत्र सर्वनामत्वात्प्रसिद्धार्थवाची । ता तौ याज्ञिकानां प्रसिद्धौ द्वावग्नी उप ह्वये । आह्वयामि । नो ऽस्मदीयमिमं यज्ञं यक्षताम् । तावुभौ यजतामनुतिष्ठताम् । कीदृशौ । सुजिह्वौ शोभनजिह्वोपेतौ । प्रियवचनौ शोभनज्वालौ वेत्यर्थः । होतारौ होमनिष्पादकौ दैव्या दैव्यौ देवसंबन्धिनौ । अत एवेमावग्नी दैव्यहोतृनामकौ । कवी मेधाविनौ ॥ ता तौ । द्वितीयाद्विवचनस्य सुपां सुलुगित्याकारः । एकादेश उदात्तेनोदात्त इत्युदात्तः । सुजिह्वौ । शोभना जिह्वा ययोस्तौ । नञ्सुभ्यामित्युत्तरपदान्तोदात्तत्वम् । पूर्वपद एकादेशस्वरः । संहितायामावादेशः । वस्य लोपः शाकल्यस्येति लोपः । होतारा । जुहोतेस्तृन् । द्विवचने ऋतो ङि । पा. ७-३-११० । इति गुणः । अमृन्नित्युपधादीर्घः । पूर्ववदाकारः । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । दैव्या । देवानामिमौ । देवाद्यञञौ । पा. ४-१-८५-३ । इति यञ् । यस्येति चेत्यकारलोपः । ञ्नित्यादिर्नित्यमित्याद्युदात्तः । पूर्ववदाकारः । यक्षताम् । यजताम् । लोटि शपि परतः सिब्बहुलं लेटीति बहुलग्रहणात्सिप् । कुत्वचर्त्वषत्वानि ॥

tacchabdo 'tra sarvanāmatvātprasiddhārthavācī | tā tau yājñikānāṃ prasiddhau dvāvagnī upa hvaye | āhvayāmi | no 'smadīyamimaṃ yajñaṃ yakṣatām | tāvubhau

yajatāmanutiṣṭhatām | kīdṛśau | sujihvau śobhanajihvopetau | priyavacanau śobhanajvālau vetyarthaḥ | hotārau homaniṣpādakau daivyā daivyau devasaṃbandhinau | ata evemāvagnī daivyahotṛnāmakau | kavī medhāvinau || tā tau | dvitīyādvivacanasya supāṃ sulugityākāraḥ | ekādeśa udāttenodātta ityudāttaḥ | sujihvau | śobhanā jihvā yayostau | nañsubhyāmityuttarapadāntodāttatvam | pūrvapada ekādeśasvaraḥ | saṃhitāyāmāvādeśaḥ | vasya lopaḥ śākalyasyeti lopaḥ | hotārā | juhotestṛn | dvivacane ṛto ṅi | pā. 7-3-110 | iti guṇaḥ | aptṛnnityupadhādīrghaḥ | pūrvavadākāraḥ | nittvādādyudāttaḥ | daivyā | devānāmimau | devādyañañau | pā. 4-1-85-3 | iti yañ | yasyeti cetyakāralopaḥ | ñnityādirnityamityādyudāttaḥ | pūrvavadākāraḥ | yakṣatām | yajatām | loṭi śapi parataḥ sibbahulaṃ leṭīti bahulagrahaṇātsip | kutvacartvaṣatvāni ||

Translation: "The word tad here, being a pronoun, denotes what is well known. Tā — those two fires well known to the sacrificers — I upa hvaye, call. May they both yakṣatām, perform, imaṃ yajñam, this our sacrifice. What kind? Sujihvā — endowed with good tongues, that is, of pleasant speech or of fine flames; hotārā — accomplishers of the homa; daivyā — belonging to the gods; hence these two fires bear the name Daivya-hotṛ; kavī — wise." (Grammatical tail: tā = tau, ā for the accusative dual by "supāṃ suluk…", udātta by "ekādeśa udāttenodāttaḥ"; sujihvau — "whose tongue is fine", the second member final-udātta by "nañ-subhyām", the single-substitute accent in the first member [?]; in the Saṃhitā āv, and the v dropped by "lopaḥ śākalyasya"; hotārā — tṛn after hu, guṇa in the dual by "ṛto ṅi…" (Pā. 7-3-110), lengthening of the penultimate by "ap-tṛn…", ā as before, initial-udātta as nit; daivyā — "these two belong to the gods", yañ by "devād yañ-añau" (Pā. 4-1-85-3), the a dropped by "yasyeti ca", initial-udātta by "ñnity ādir nityam", ā as before; yakṣatām = yajatām: with śap following in loṭ, sip by the word bahula in "sib bahulaṃ leṭi"; k, car and ṣ.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

सुजिह्वा (sujihvā) — having excellent tongues, that is, speaking pleasant words or having fine flames | कवी (kavī) — wise | ता (tā) — those, well known in the rites of sacrifice | दैव्या (daivyā) — belonging to the gods | होतारा (hotārā) — accomplishers of the homa | (the two fire-forms called Daivya-hotārā) उप ह्वये (upa hvaye) — I invoke (near me) | नः (naḥ) — our (i.e., that we perform) | इमं यज्ञम् (imaṃ yajñam) — this sacrifice | यक्षताम् (yakṣatām) — may they perform.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

The two deities called Daivyā Hotārā (special forms of Agni) speak pleasant words (or are joined with brightly blazing flames), are very wise, and are expert in the hotṛ work. I call such divine deities named Daivyā Hotārā; may they come here, take the place of the hotṛ, and carry out the sacrificial rite we are performing.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> I invoke those Daivya and Hotara, those two divine hotries [sic] who are good-tongued and wise. May they perform this our sacrifice.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

On the words daivyā hotārā, Yāska's explanation:

> दैव्या होतारा दैव्यौ होतारावयं चाग्निरसौ च मध्यमः ॥
>
> daivyā hotārā daivyau hotārāvayaṃ cāgnirasau ca madhyamaḥ ||

That is, the word points to Agni himself. Since Agni calls the gods, Agni stands in the middle between gods and men; in this matter he gives an example:

(Ṛ. Saṃ. "10-110-7" [?]; the last digit is unclear.)

> दैव्या होतारा प्रथमा सुवाचा मिमाना यज्ञं मनुषो यजध्यै । प्रचोदयन्ता विदथेषु कारू प्राचीनं ज्योतिः प्रदिशा दिशन्ता ॥
>
> daivyā hotārā prathamā suvācā mimānā yajñaṃ manuṣo yajadhyai | pracodayantā vidatheṣu kārū prācīnaṃ jyotiḥ pradiśā diśantā ||

("The two divine invokers, the first, fair-spoken, measuring out the sacrifice for man to worship, urging on, the two doers at the gatherings, pointing out the eastern light by direction" — mine and tentative.)

Durgācārya's commentary on it:

> यावेतौ दैव्यौ होतारौ । देवेषु भवौ दैव्यौ देवावेव दैव्यौ । स्वार्थ एव तद्धितः । मनुष्यहोतारावपेक्ष्य । दैव्या होतारौ होतृमैत्रावरुणौ इति विशेषणम् । होतारा होतारावाह्वातारौ देवानां वाय्वग्नी । प्रथमा प्रथमौ मुख्यौ मनुष्यहोतारावपेक्ष्य । सुवाचा सुवाचौ प्रशस्तवाचौ सुस्तुतौ । मिमाना यज्ञं यज्ञनिर्मातारौ नित्यम् । मनुषः मनुष्यस्य यजध्यै यजनाय । प्रचोदयन्ता प्रचोदयमानौ । विदथेषु यज्ञेषु । कारू कर्तारौ । इत्यादि
>
> yāvetau daivyau hotārau | deveṣu bhavau daivyau devāveva daivyau | svārtha eva taddhitaḥ | manuṣyahotārāvapekṣya | daivyā hotārau hotṛmaitrāvaruṇau iti viśeṣaṇam | hotārā hotārāvāhvātārau devānāṃ vāyvagnī | prathamā prathamau mukhyau manuṣyahotārāvapekṣya | suvācā suvācau praśastavācau sustutau | mimānā yajñaṃ yajñanirmātārau nityam | manuṣaḥ manuṣyasya yajadhyai yajanāya | pracodayantā pracodayamānau | vidatheṣu yajñeṣu | kārū kartārau | ityādi

The chief idea: for the gods, Agni and Vāyu are known as the hotṛs; for men, the priests Hotṛ and Maitrāvaruṇa are known as the hotṛs. Since Agni, or Agni and Vāyu, stand between the gods and men and make a connection between them, Agni is called "the middle one". The name of these deities, daivyā hotārā, apart from the Āpri-sūktas, is read only in the two riks

(Ṛ. Saṃ. 10-65-10.)

> त्वष्टारं वायुमृभवो य ओहते दैव्या होतारा उषसं स्वस्तये ॥
>
> tvaṣṭāraṃ vāyumṛbhavo ya ohate daivyā hotārā uṣasaṃ svastaye ||

Page 562 — Rik 8: Special Topics (continued) and grammar

(Ṛ. Saṃ. 10-66-13.)

दैव्या होतारा प्रथमा पुरोहित ऋतस्य पन्थामन्वेमि साधुया ॥

daivyā hotārā prathamā purohita ṛtasya panthāmanvemi sādhuyā ||

In the rik Ṛ. Saṃ. “7-2-7” [?] they are also called jātavedasā, and in the rik Ṛ. Saṃ. “10-70-7” [?] purohitau (the repeated digit is the same glyph in both, read as 7). And since the words in the riks just cited — mimānā yajñaṃ manuṣo yajadhyai, yajñeṣu mānuṣeṣu kārū, and pracodayantā vidatheṣu kārū — say that these deities carry out or urge on the sacrifices men perform, calling them purohitas is natural. Among the gods the hotṛs are Agni and Vāyu; among men the Hotṛ and his helper-priest, the Maitrāvaruṇa, are called the hotṛs. This Maitrāvaruṇa, by the praiṣa mantras, directs the other priests to do their several tasks. In the Yajurveda (Tai. Saṃ. 6-1-, the rest of the number left blank in the print) it is said: “मैत्रावरुणो हि पुरस्तादृत्विग्भ्यो वाचं विभजति” (maitrāvaruṇo hi purastādṛtvigbhyo vācaṃ vibhajati).

“Sujihvā” — sujihvau — śobhanā jihvā yayos tau sujihvau | śobhanajihvopetau, priyavacanau, śobhanajvālau vā: having excellent tongues, speaking pleasant words, or, if said of Agni, having excellent flames.

“Yakṣatām” — yajatām: may they sacrifice, that is, carry the sacrifice through.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 562–563, noted briefly; numbers checked against the print)

ता (tā) — meaning tau. After tad, the accusative dual auṭ; for it “supāṃ suluk…” (printed “7-1-39”) gives ā; “tyadādīnām aḥ” (printed “7-2-102”) gives a for the d; pararūpa by “ato guṇe” (printed “6-1-96” [sic]; the sūtra is 6-1-97); savarṇa-lengthening; by “ekādeśa udāttenodāttaḥ” (Pā. 8-2-5) the ā formed by the single substitute is udātta. सुजिह्वा (sujihvā) — “śobhanā jihvā yayoḥ tau”; jihvā is formed irregularly with van by “śeva-yahva-jihvā-grīvā-pvāmīvāḥ” (printed “Pā. sū. 1-152” [sic, an Uṇādi sūtra]): “lihanti anayā iti jihvā”; root liha āsvādane, with van, j for the l, and the absence of guṇa also irregular; jihvā is initial-udātta by the nit accent. In the bahuvrīhi, instead of the first-member accent, “nañ-subhyām” (Pā. 6-2-172) makes the second member jihvā final-udātta. Then the accusative dual auṭ: sujihva + au; the vṛddhi of “vṛddhir eci” (Pā. 6-1-88) would arise but “prathama-

Page 563 — Rik 8 grammar closes

yoḥ pūrvasavarṇaḥ” (Pā. 6-1-102) would give the pūrvasavarṇa-lengthening instead; that is barred by “nādici” (Pā. 6-1-104) — no pūrvasavarṇa-lengthening after a before an ic vowel — so “vṛddhir eci” makes the vṛddhi as the single substitute: sujihvau. By “ekādeśa udāttenodāttaḥ” the au formed by the vṛddhi single substitute is udātta. Since the word upa follows sujihvau, in the Saṃhitā “eco ’yavāyāvaḥ” (Pā. 6-1-78) gives āv for the au: sujihvāv + upa; “lopaḥ śākalyasya” (Pā. 8-3-19) drops the v; when guṇa by “ād guṇaḥ” is to be made, this loss is asiddha by “pūrvatrāsiddham” (Pā. 8-2-1), so the v intervenes and there is no guṇa. होतारा (hotārā) — hu dānādanayoḥ, a root of the juhotyādi class; after it tṛn; laghūpadha-guṇa; the nominative dual au: hotṛ + au; “ṛto ṅi-sarvanāmasthānayoḥ” (printed “7-3-110”) gives guṇa with r; “ap-tṛn-tṛc-svasṛ…” (Pā. 6-4-11) lengthens the penultimate: hotārau; “supāṃ suluk” gives ā for the au: hotārā; hotṛ, ending in an n-marked suffix, is initial-udātta by “ñnity ādir nityam” (Pā. 6-1-197). दैव्या (daivyā) — after div, the suffix ac by “nandigrahi…” (Pā. 3-1-134); laghūpadha-guṇa; deva final-udātta by the cit accent. “devād yañ-añau” (printed “Pā. sū. 4-1-85 vā. 3”): after deva, in the senses of the prāgdīvyatīya section, the suffixes yañ and añ; with “devasya imau” meant, yañ; “taddhiteṣv acām ādeḥ” (Pā. 7-2-117) gives vṛddhi of the first vowel, ai for the e; “yasyeti ca” (Pā. 6-4-148) drops the a before the suffix; daivya initial-udātta by “ñnity ādir nityam” (Pā. 6-1-197); then au, replaced by ā as before, savarṇa-lengthening: daivyā. यक्षताम् (yakṣatām) — yaja devapūjādau; after it loṭ, third dual tas; by “loṭo laṅvat” the treatment of laṅ, so tām for it by “tas-thas-tha-mipāṃ tān-tan-tāmaḥ”; the vikaraṇa śap: yaj + a + tām; since the sūtra “sib bahulaṃ leṭi” (Pā. 3-1-34) contains the word bahula, sip comes before the vikaraṇa śap: yaj + s + a + tām; k-series by “coḥ kuḥ”: g for the j; car by “khari ca” (printed “8-4-55”): k for g; ṣ for the s by “ādeśa-pratyayayoḥ” (printed “8-3-5?” [?]): yakṣatām; wholly unaccented by “tiṅṅ atiṅaḥ”.

॥८॥

---

Page 564 — Sūkta 13, Rik 9

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

इळा॒ सर॑स्वती म॒ही ति॒स्रो दे॒वीर्म॑यो॒भुवः॑ । ब॒र्हिः सी॑दन्त्व॒स्रिधः॑ ॥९॥

iḷā́ sárasvatī mahī́ tisró devī́r mayobhúvaḥ | barhíḥ sīdantv asrídhaḥ ||9||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

इळा । सरस्वती । मही । तिस्रः । देवीः । मयःऽभुवः ॥ बर्हिः । सीदन्तु । अस्रिधः ॥९॥

iḷā | sarasvatī | mahī | tisraḥ | devīḥ | mayaḥ-bhuvaḥ || barhiḥ | sīdantu | asridhaḥ || 9||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

अत्र महीशब्दो महत्त्वगुणयुक्तां भारतीमाचष्टे ऽन्येष्वाप्रीसूक्तेषु सदृशेष्विळा सरस्वती भारतीत्याम्नातत्वात् । इळादिशब्दाभिधेया वह्निमूर्तयस्तिस्रो देवीर्दीप्यमाना बर्हिर्वेद्यामास्तीर्णं सीदन्तु । प्राप्नुवन्तु । कीदृश्यः । मयोभुवः सुखोत्पादिका अस्रिधः शोषेण क्षयेण वा रहिताः ॥ इळा । ईड स्तुतौ । छान्दसं ह्रस्वत्वं । क्विप् । धातुस्वरः । टापं चापि हलन्तानां यथा वाचा दिशा निशेति टाप् । सरस्वती । सरोऽसुनन्तो नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । तदस्यास्तीति मतुप् । आदुपधत्वाद्वत्वं । तसौ मत्वर्थ इति भत्वेन पदत्वस्य बाधितत्वाद्रुत्वाद्यभावः । उगितश्चेति ङीप् । मतुब्ङीपौ पित्त्वादनुदात्तौ । मही । महतीशब्दे तकारलोपश्छान्दसः । यस्येति चेत्यकारलोपः । उदात्तनिवृत्तिस्वरेण ङीप उदात्तत्वं । तिस्रः । त्रिशब्दाज्ञसि त्रिचतुरोः स्त्रियां तिसृचतसृ । पा. ७-२-९९ । इति तिस्रादेशः । अचि र ऋतः । पा. ७-२-१०० । इति रेफादेशः । तिसृभ्यो जसः । पा. ६-१-१६६ । इति जस उदात्तत्वं । देवीः । देवानां पत्न्यो देव्यः पुंयोगादाख्यायामिति ङीष् । यस्येति चेत्यकार लोपः । प्रत्ययस्वरेण ङीष उदात्तत्वं ।

जसि दीर्घाज्ञसि च । पा. ६-१-१०४ [?] । इति निषिद्धं दीर्घत्वं । वा छन्दसीति पक्षेऽभ्यनुज्ञायते । मयोभुवः । मीञ् हिंसायां । हिनस्ति दुःखमिति सुखं मयः । तद्भावयन्तीति मयोभुवः । अन्तर्भावितण्यर्थाद्भुवः क्विप् । कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं । बर्हिः । बृंहेर्नलोपश्चेति इसिप्रत्ययः । प्रत्ययस्वरः । सीदन्तु । षद्लृ विशरणादौ । पाघ्रेत्यादिना सीदादेशः । अस्रिधः । स्रिधेर्हिंसार्थस्य शोषणार्थस्य वा सम्पदादिभ्यो भावे क्विपि नञा बहुव्रीहिः । पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरं बाधित्वा नञ्सुभ्यामित्युत्तरपदान्तोदात्तत्वं ॥

atra mahīśabdo mahattvaguṇayuktāṃ bhāratīmācaṣṭe 'nyeṣvāprīsūkteṣu sadṛśeṣviḷā sarasvatī bhāratītyāmnātatvāt | iḷādiśabdābhidheyā vahnimūrtayastisro devīrdīpyamānā barhirvedyāmāstīrṇaṃ sīdantu | prāpnuvantu | kīdṛśyaḥ | mayobhuvaḥ sukhotpādikā asridhaḥ śoṣeṇa kṣayeṇa vā rahitāḥ || iḷā | īḍa stutau | chāndasaṃ hrasvatvaṃ | kvip | dhātusvaraḥ | ṭāpaṃ cāpi halantānāṃ yathā vācā diśā niśeti ṭāp | sarasvatī | saro 'sunanto nittvādādyudāttaḥ | tadasyāstīti matup | ādupadhatvādvatvaṃ | tasau matvartha iti bhatvena padatvasya bādhitatvādrutvādyabhāvaḥ | ugitaśceti ṅīp | matubṅīpau pittvādanudāttau | mahī | mahatīśabde takāralopaśchāndasaḥ | yasyeti cetyakāralopaḥ | udāttanivṛttisvareṇa ṅīpa udāttatvaṃ | tisraḥ | triśabdājjasi tricaturoḥ striyāṃ tisṛcatasṛ | pā. 7-2-99 | iti tisrādeśaḥ | aci ra ṛtaḥ | pā. 7-2-100 | iti rephādeśaḥ | tisṛbhyo jasaḥ | pā. 6-1-166 | iti jasa udāttatvaṃ | devīḥ | devānāṃ patnyo devyaḥ puṃyogādākhyāyāmiti ṅīṣ | yasyeti cetyakāra lopaḥ | pratyayasvareṇa ṅīṣa udāttatvaṃ | jasi dīrghājjasi ca | pā. 6-1-104 [?] | iti niṣiddhaṃ dīrghatvaṃ | vā chandasīti pakṣe 'bhyanujñāyate | mayobhuvaḥ | mīñ hiṃsāyāṃ | hinasti duḥkhamiti sukhaṃ mayaḥ | tadbhāvayantīti mayobhuvaḥ | antarbhāvitaṇyarthādbhuvaḥ kvip | kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ | barhiḥ | bṛṃhernalopaśceti isipratyayaḥ | pratyayasvaraḥ | sīdantu | ṣadlṛ viśaraṇādau | pāghretyādinā sīdādeśaḥ | asridhaḥ | sridherhiṃsārthasya śoṣaṇārthasya vā sampadādibhyo bhāve kvipi nañā bahuvrīhiḥ | pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaraṃ bādhitvā nañsubhyāmityuttarapadāntodāttatvaṃ ||

Translation: "Here the word mahī denotes Bhāratī, endowed with the quality of greatness, since in other Āprī-sūktas, which are similar, Iḷā, Sarasvatī, Bhāratī are recited. The three shining goddesses, forms of Fire denoted by the words Iḷā and the rest, sīdantu: may sit, may reach, the barhis spread on the altar. What are they like? Mayobhuvaḥ: producing happiness; asridhaḥ: free of drying up or of decay." (Grammatical tail: iḷā from īḍ 'to praise', the shortening Vedic, kvip, ṭāp as in vācā, diśā, niśā; sarasvatī from saras (asun) with matup and ṅīp; mahī with the Vedic loss of the t of mahatī; tisraḥ with tisṛ (Pā. 7-2-99) and r (Pā. 7-2-100), the case ending udātta by Pā. 6-1-166; devīḥ with ṅīṣ, the lengthening barred by "6-1-104" [?] but allowed optionally in the Veda; mayobhuvaḥ 'causing happiness to be', from bhū with kvip; barhiḥ with the suffix isi; sīdantu with sīd for sad; asridhaḥ, a bahuvrīhi with nañ, final udātta.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

मयोभुवः (mayobhuvaḥ) — giving happiness | अस्रिधः (asridhaḥ) — not cruel, or doing no harm | इळा (iḷā) — the goddess named Iḷā | सरस्वती (sarasvatī) — the goddess Sarasvatī | मही (mahī) — the goddess [named Bhāratī] endowed with the quality of greatness | तिस्रः देवीः

(tisraḥ devīḥ) — these three goddesses, forms of Agni, shining, called by the words Iḷā and the rest | बर्हिः (barhiḥ) — the darbha spread on the altar as a seat | सीदन्तु (sīdantu) — may they sit (that is, may they come and sit on the darbha).

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

May the three goddesses Iḷā, Sarasvatī and Bhāratī (Mahī) — who are forms of Agni, shine brilliantly, give happiness to all, and harm none — come to the darbha spread on the sacrificial altar as a seat and sit upon it.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> May Ila, Saraswati, Mahi (Bharati), the three comfort-giving and unhurting goddesses sit on the sacrificial grass.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

On tisro devīḥ Yāska says only

> तिस्रो देवीः । तिस्रो देवीस्तिस्रो देव्यः ॥
>
> tisro devīḥ | tisro devīstisro devyaḥ ||

and in the Ṛk he gives as an example,

> आ नो यज्ञं भारती तूयमेत्विळा मनुष्वदिह चेतयन्ती । तिस्रो देवीर्बर्हिरेदं स्योनं सरस्वती स्वपसः सदन्तु ॥
>
> ā no yajñaṃ bhāratī tūyametviḷā manuṣvadiha cetayantī | tisro devīrbarhiredaṃ syonaṃ sarasvatī svapasaḥ sadantu ||

(Ṛ. Saṃ. 10-110-8.) ("May Bhāratī come quickly to our sacrifice, and Iḷā, awakening [us] here like Manu; may the three goddesses, Sarasvatī and the skilful ones, sit on this pleasant barhis" — mine and tentative.)

he explains:

> ऐतु नो यज्ञं भारती क्षिप्रम् । भरत आदित्यस्तस्य भा इळा च मनुष्वदिह चेतयमाना तिस्रो देव्यो बर्हिरिदं सुखं सरस्वती च सकर्माण [?] आसीदन्तु ॥
>
> aitu no yajñaṃ bhāratī kṣipram | bharata ādityastasya bhā iḷā ca manuṣvadiha cetayamānā tisro devyo barhiridaṃ sukhaṃ sarasvatī ca sakarmāṇa [?] āsīdantu ||

That is:

Bhāratī: Bharata is one of the twelve Ādityas; the lustre of the Āditya is called bhā. So bhāratī is the light of the sun, or the fire that is in the orb of the sun in the form of light.

Iḷā: iḷā is the earth. Manuṣvat cetayantī: having the power of urging, as men do; that is, since she gives food and other nourishment and wealth to the men on the earth, Iḷā is a particular form of the Agni that is in the earth-region.

Sarasvatī: since she is the presiding deity of the lightning in the atmosphere, Sarasvatī is said to be the form of Agni that is in the atmosphere.

So it is the custom to call the three goddesses Iḷā, Sarasvatī, Bhāratī the three forms of the fire in heaven, atmosphere and earth. (See pages “74–75” [?].)

Mahī:

> महीशब्दो महत्त्वगुणयुक्तां भारतीमाचष्टे ऽन्येष्वाप्रीसूक्तेषु सदृशेष्विळा सरस्वती भारतीत्याम्नातत्वात् ॥
>
> mahīśabdo mahattvaguṇayuktāṃ bhāratīmācaṣṭe 'nyeṣvāprīsūkteṣu sadṛśeṣviḷā sarasvatī bhāratītyāmnātatvāt ||

That is, the word mahī in this Ṛk means Bhāratī, endowed with the quality of greatness. For in the Āprī-sūktas, in the Ṛks that speak of tisro devīḥ, the names of the three goddesses Iḷā, Sarasvatī, Bhāratī are stated plainly. In this Ṛk only the two names Iḷā and Sarasvatī are given, and in the place of the other mahī is said, so there is no doubt that the word mahī points to the name Bhāratī. Some Western scholars think that the word mahī denotes a separate deity named Mahī. That is not right. The word mahī may have been used in place of the word bhāratī for the sake of the metre.

Barhiḥ sīdantu: वेद्यामास्तीर्णं प्राप्नुवन्तु (vedyāmāstīrṇaṃ prāpnuvantu, “may they reach what is spread on the altar”): may they reach the darbha spread as a seat, that is, may they sit on the seat of darbha: that is the sense.

Iḷā, sarasvatī, mahī:

> ईड स्तुतौ । सर अस्यास्तीति । मही महती, तकारलोपश्छान्दसः ॥
>
> īḍa stutau | sara asyāstīti | mahī mahatī, takāralopaśchāndasaḥ ||

Since she is praised she is iḍā; since she has saras (water) she is sarasvatī; and since the t of the word mahatī has dropped for the sake of the metre, she is mahī, endowed with greatness (Bhāratī): this is the derivation of the parts of these words.

Page 567 — Rik 9: Special Topics (end) and grammar

Devīḥ:

> देवानां पत्न्यो देव्यः । ताः । अथवा देवीः दीप्यमानाः ॥
>
> devānāṃ patnyo devyaḥ | tāḥ | athavā devīḥ dīpyamānāḥ ||

Since they are the wives of the gods, or since they shine, these deities are called devīḥ.

Mayobhuvaḥ:

> मीञ् हिंसायाम् । हिनस्ति दुःखमिति सुखं मयः । तद्भावयन्तीति मयोभुवः ।

mīñ hiṃsāyām | hinasti duḥkhamiti sukhaṃ mayaḥ | tadbhāvayantīti mayobhuvaḥ |

The root mīñ means to harm; to make sorrow. What is free of sorrow is happiness. Since they make happiness, the form mayobhuvaḥ is derived.

Asridhaḥ:

स्रिधेर्हिंसार्थस्य शोषणार्थस्य वा भावे क्विप् । शोषेण क्षयेण वा रहिताः ॥

sridherhiṃsārthasya śoṣaṇārthasya vā bhāve kvip | śoṣeṇa kṣayeṇa vā rahitāḥ ||

The root sridh means to harm, to dry up. Asridhaḥ means those who are not cruel, free of drying up, free of decay.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 567–569, noted briefly)

इळा (iḷā): root īḍa stutau, the ī shortened in the Veda; kvip by "kvip ca" (Pā. sū. 3-2-76), dropped; final udātta by "dhātoḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-1-162); ḍ → ḷ by "dvayoś cāsya svarayoḥ" (Prātiśākhya); the verse "vaṣṭi bhāgurir allopam avāpyor upasargayoḥ | āpaṃ caiva halantānāṃ yathā vācā niśā diśā" (Kau. "2-4-82" [?]): Bhāguri drops the a of ava and api (vagāhaḥ, pidhānam) and adds āp after consonant stems, so iḷ + ṭāp gives iḷā. सरस्वती (sarasvatī): sṛ + asun by "sarvadhātubhyo 'sun" (Uṇ. sū. "4-628" [?]), guṇa, raparatva: saras, initial udātta (nit); matup by "tad asyāsty asminn iti matup" (Pā. sū. 5-2-94); m → v by "mādupadhāyāś ca" (Pā. sū. 8-2-9); bha by "tasau matvarthe" (Pā. sū. 1-4-19), so "sasajuṣo ruḥ" (Pā. sū. 8-2-66) does not apply; ṅīp by "ugitaś ca" (Pā. sū. "6-3-45" [?]); matup and ṅīp both unaccented.

Page 568 — Rik 9: grammar (continued)

मही (mahī): the t of mahatī dropped in the Veda, the a after h dropped by "yasyeti ca" (Pā. sū. 6-4-148); the ī udātta by "anudāttasya ca yatrodāttalopaḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-1-161). तिस्रः (tisraḥ): tri + jas; tisṛ by "tricaturoḥ striyāṃ tisṛcatasṛ" (Pā. sū. 7-2-99); the guṇa of "ṛto ṅisarvanāmasthānayoḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-3-110 [as printed]) is set aside by "aci ra ṛtaḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-2-100), giving r; ru, visarga; jas unaccented by "anudāttau suppitau", tisṛ final udātta like tri (sthānivadbhāva); the svarita of "udāttasvaritayor yaṇaḥ svarito 'nudāttasya" is overridden by "tisṛbhyo jasaḥ" (Pā. sū. "7-1-166" [?]), making jas udātta. देवीः (devīḥ): deva (ac-ending); ṅīṣ by "puṃyogād ākhyāyām" (Pā. sū. 4-1-48); a dropped by "yasyeti ca" (6-4-148); ṅīṣ udātta; the pūrvasavarṇa lengthening of "prathamayoḥ pūrvasavarṇaḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-1-102) is barred by "dīrghāj jasi ca" (Pā. sū. "6-?-104" [?]) but allowed optionally by "vā chandasi" (Pā. sū. 6-1-106); ru, visarga. मयोभुवः (mayobhuvaḥ): mīñ hiṃsāyām (kryādi), "mināti hinasti duḥkham" (that which drives sorrow away); asun by "sarvadhātubhyo 'sun" (Uṇ. sū. "4-628" [?]), guṇa, ay: mayas "happiness"; "mayaḥ bhāvayanti": bhū with the inner causative + kvip by "kvip ca" (Pā. sū. 3-2-76); uvaṅ by "aci śnu…" (Pā. sū. 6-4-77); ru, u, guṇa; final udātta of the kṛt member by "gatikārakopapadāt kṛt" (Pā. sū. 6-2-139).

Page 569 — Rik 9: grammar (end)

बर्हिः (barhiḥ): bṛhi vṛddhau, idit, so num; isi and loss of n by "bṛṃher nalopaś ca" (Uṇ. sū. "2-266" [?]); laghūpadha-guṇa; final udātta by the suffix accent. सीदन्तु (sīdantu): ṣadḷ

viśaraṇagatyavasādaneṣu, ṣ → s by “dhātvādeḥ ṣaḥ saḥ”; loṭ 3rd plural jhi, jh → ant by “jho ’ntaḥ” (Pā. sū. 7-1-3); u by “eruḥ” (Pā. sū. 3-4-86); śap; sīda by “pāghrādhmā…” (Pā. sū. 7-3-78); wholly unaccented by “tiṅṅatiṅaḥ”. असिधः (asridhaḥ): sridh (harm or drying up) + kvip by “sampadādibhyaḥ kvip” (Pā. sū. vā. “0-3-108-9” [?]); “na vidyate sridh yāsāṃ tāḥ”: bahuvrīhi; the first-member accent of “bahuvrīhau prakṛtyā pūrvapadam” (Pā. sū. 6-2-1) is overridden by “nañsubhyām” (Pā. sū. 6-2-172), final udātta on the second member.

॥९॥

---

Page 569 — Sūkta 13, Rik 10

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

इ॒ह त्वष्टा॑रमग्रि॒यं वि॒श्वरू॑प॒मुप॑ ह्वये । अ॒स्माक॑मस्तु॒ केव॑लः ॥१०॥

ihá tváṣṭāram agriyáṃ viśvárūpam úpa hvaye | asmā́kam astu kévalaḥ ||10||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

इह । त्वष्टारम् । अग्रियम् । विश्वऽरूपम् । उप । ह्वये ॥ अस्माकम् । अस्तु । केवलः ॥१०॥

iha | tvaṣṭāram | agriyam | viśva-rūpam | upa | hvaye || asmākam | astu | kevalaḥ || 10||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

पत्नीसंयाजे त्वष्टुः पुरोनुवाक्येह त्वष्टारमग्रियमिति । शं युवाकाय संप्रेषित इति खण्डे सूत्रितम् । सं ते पयांसि समु यन्तु वाजा इह त्वष्टारमग्रियम् । आ. १-१० ॥ इति ॥

patnīsaṃyāje tvaṣṭuḥ puronuvākyeha tvaṣṭāramagriyamiti | śaṃ yuvākāya saṃpreṣita iti khaṇḍe sūtritam | saṃ te payāṃsi samu yantu vājā iha tvaṣṭāramagriyam | ā. 1-10 || iti ||

Page 570 — Rik 10: bhāṣya (continued), word-meanings, overall sense, English

त्वष्टारं त्वष्टृनामकमग्निमिह कर्मण्युपह्वये । कीदृशम् । अग्रियं श्रेष्ठं विश्वरूपं बहुविधरूपोपेतं । सो ऽस्माकं केवलो ऽसाधारणो ऽस्तु । इतरयजमानेभ्यो ऽप्यधिकमनुग्रहं करोत्वित्यर्थः ॥ त्वष्टारं । तक्षू त्वक्षू तनूकरणे । तृन् । स्वरतिसूतिसूयतिधूञूदितो वा । पा. ७-२-४४ । इतीडभावपक्षे स्कोः संयोगाद्योरन्ते च । पा. ८-२-२९ । इति ककारलोपः । ष्टुत्वं । द्वितीयैकवचने ऋतो ङिसर्वनामस्थानयोरिति गुणे ऽमृन्नित्यादिनोपधाया दीर्घः । तृनो नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वं । अग्रियं । अग्रादित्यनुवृत्तौ घच्छौ च । पा. ४-४-११७ [?] । इति घच् । आयनेयीनीत्यादिना । पा. ७-१-२ । घकारस्य इयादेशः । यस्येति लोपः । आयनादिषूपदेशिवद्वचनं स्वरसिद्ध्यर्थं । पा. ७-१-२-१ ।
इत्युपदेशिवद्भावात्प्रत्ययाद्युदात्तत्वा[?]द्घचश्चित्त्वादन्तोदात्तत्वं । विश्वरूपं । विश्वानि रूपाणि त्वष्टृत्पन्नत्वेन यस्य । त्वष्टा वै पशूनां मिथुनानां रूपकृत् । तै. सं. ६-१-८-५ [?] । इति श्रुतेः ।
विश्वशब्दस्याद्युदात्तत्वात्पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वे प्राप्ते बहुव्रीहौ विश्वं संज्ञायां । पा. ६-२-१०६ । इति

पूर्वपदान्तोदात्तत्वं । अस्माकं । असु क्षेपणे । युष्यसिभ्यां मदिक् । उ. १-१३८ [?] । प्रत्ययस्वरेणान्तोदात्तः । षष्ठीबहुवचनमाम् । अत्र परमपि योऽचि । पा. ७-२-८९ । इति यत्वं बाधित्वा नित्यत्वात्प्रतिपदविधित्वाच्च साम आकमादेशे कृते । पा. ७-१-३३ । अनादेश इति निषेधेन । पा. ७-२-८६ । यत्वाभावाच्छेषे लोप इति दकारलोपे ऽकारान्तत्वेन पश्चात्प्राप्तस्यापि सुटः । पा. ७-१-५२ । साम इति निर्देशे स्थानिन्यन्तर्भावेन निवृत्तिः । एवमर्थ एव हि साम इति ससुट्कनिर्देशः । केवलः । वृषादेराकृतिगणत्वादाद्युदात्तः ॥

tvaṣṭāraṃ tvaṣṭṛnāmakamagnimiha karmaṇyupahvaye | kīdṛśam | agriyaṃ śreṣṭhaṃ viśvarūpaṃ bahuvidharūpopetaṃ | so 'smākaṃ kevalo 'sādhāraṇo 'stu | itarayajamānebhyo 'pyadhikamanugrahaṃ karotvityarthaḥ || tvaṣṭāraṃ | takṣū tvakṣū tanūkaraṇe | tṛn | svaratisūtisūyatidhūñūdito vā | pā. 7-2-44 | itīḍabhāvapakṣe skoḥ saṃyogādyorante ca | pā. 8-2-29 | iti kakāralopaḥ | ṣṭutvaṃ | dvitīyaikavacane ṛto ṅisarvanāmasthānayoriti guṇe 'ptṛnnityādinopadhāyā dīrghaḥ | tṛno nittvādādyudāttatvaṃ | agriyaṃ | agrādityanuvṛttau ghacchau ca | pā. 4-4-117 [?] | iti ghac | āyaneyīnītyādinā | pā. 7-1-2 | ghakārasya iyādeśaḥ | yasyeti lopaḥ | āyanādiṣūpadeśivadvacanaṃ svarasiddhyarthaṃ | pā. 7-1-2-1 | ityupadeśivadbhāvātpratyayādyudāttatvā[?]dghacaścittvādantodāttatvaṃ | viśvarūpaṃ | viśvāni rūpāṇi tvaṣṭṛtpannatvena yasya | tvaṣṭā vai paśūnāṃ mithunānāṃ rūpakṛt | tai. saṃ. 6-1-8-5 [?] | iti śruteḥ | viśvaśabdasyādyudāttatvātpūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratve prāpte bahuvrīhau viśvaṃ saṃjñāyāṃ | pā. 6-2-106 | iti pūrvapadāntodāttatvaṃ | asmākaṃ | asu kṣepaṇe | yuṣyasibhyāṃ madik | u. 1-138 [?] | pratyayasvareṇāntodāttaḥ | ṣaṣṭhībahuvacanamām | atra paramapi yo 'ci | pā. 7-2-89 | iti yatvaṃ bādhitvā nityatvātpratipadavidhitvācca sāma ākamādeśe kṛte | pā. 7-1-33 | anādeśa iti niṣedhena | pā. 7-2-86 | yatvābhāvāccheṣe lopa iti dakāralope 'kārāntatvena paścātprāptasyāpi suṭaḥ | pā. 7-1-52 | sāma iti nirdeśe sthāninyantarbhāvena nivṛttiḥ | evamartha eva hi sāma iti sasuṭkanirdeśaḥ | kevalaḥ | vṛṣāderākṛtigaṇatvādādyudāttaḥ ||

Translation: "In the patnīsaṃyāja, iha tvaṣṭāram agriyam is Tvaṣṭṛ's puronuvākyā. It is laid down in the section 'śaṃ yuvākāya saṃpreṣite': 'saṃ te payāṃsi sam u yantu vājā, iha tvaṣṭāram agriyam' (Āśv. 1-10). I invoke here, in this rite, tvaṣṭāram, the fire named Tvaṣṭṛ. What kind? Agriyam: the best; viśvarūpam: endowed with forms of many kinds. May he be asmākaṃ kevalaḥ, ours alone: that is, may he show us more favour than he shows other sacrificers." (Grammatical tail: tvaṣṭāram from tvakṣū with tṛn, iṭ optional by Pā. 7-2-44, k dropped by Pā. 8-2-29, ṣṭutva, guṇa, lengthening of the penultimate, initial udātta because tṛn is nit; agriyam with gha (Pā. "4-4-117" [?]), iya for gh (Pā. 7-1-2), treated as in upadeśa by the vārttika 7-1-2-1, final udātta because ghac is cit; viśvarūpam, a bahuvrīhi, the first member final-udātta by Pā. 6-2-106, the sense supported by T.S. "6-1-8-5" [?]; asmākam from as with madik (Uṇ. "1-138" [?]), ākam for sām by Pā. 7-1-33 overriding yatva (7-2-89, 7-2-86), suṭ (7-1-52) excluded by the form sāma with suṭ in the sūtra; kevalaḥ, initial udātta as of the vṛṣādi class.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

अग्रियम् (agriyam) — the foremost | विश्वरूपम् (viśvarūpam) — having forms of many kinds | त्वष्टारम् (tvaṣṭāram) — the deity named Tvaṣṭṛ (a special form of Agni) | इह (iha) — in this sacrifice | उप ह्वये (upa hvaye) — I invoke | (that Tvaṣṭṛ) अस्माकम् (asmākam) — to us (in our regard) | केवलः (kevalaḥ) — [being] uniquely, very attached | अस्तु (astu) — may he be.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

The deity named Tvaṣṭṛ is the foremost among the gods. He has many kinds of forms (shapes), and is the maker of things. I call such a deity to this sacrifice. May he be exceedingly kind to us.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> I invoke Twashtir, the foremost and the multi.form [sic] here. May he be soley [sic] ours.

Page 571 — Rik 10: Special Topics

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

The application of this mantra: in the homa called patnīsaṃyāja in the sacrifice, the Ṛk iha tvaṣṭāram agriyam is used as the puronuvākyā mantra. In the Āśvalāyana Śrauta-sūtra, in the section śaṃ yuvākāya saṃpreṣite, it is said that the Ṛks saṃ te payāṃsi sam u yantu vājā and iha tvaṣṭāram agriyam (Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-13-10) are to be used as yājyā and puronuvākyā mantras (Āśv. sū. 1-10). Yāska's explanation:

> त्वष्टा । त्वष्टा तूर्णमश्नुत इति नैरुक्ताः । त्विषेर्वा स्याद्दीप्तिकर्मणस्त्वक्षतेर्वा स्यात्करोतिकर्मणः ॥ माध्यमिकस्त्वष्टेत्याहुर्मध्यमे च स्थाने समाम्नातः । अग्निरिति शाकपूणिः ॥
>
> tvaṣṭā | tvaṣṭā tūrṇamaśnuta iti nairuktāḥ | tviṣervā syāddīptikarmaṇastvakṣatervā syātkarotikarmaṇaḥ || mādhyamikastvaṣṭetyāhurmadhyame ca sthāne samāmnātaḥ | agniriti śākapūṇiḥ ||

(Ni. 8-14.)

That is, the etymologists say the word tvaṣṭā means one who pervades quickly; or one who shines; or one who makes things (crafts? [the source's own question mark]); some say he is mādhyamika, that is, one who is between heaven and earth; Śākapūṇi says he is Agni.

Some also say that Tvaṣṭṛ, like Viśvakarman, is the craftsman of the gods. For in the Ṛk Yāska gives as an example, > य इमे द्यावापृथिवी जनित्री रूपैरपिंशद्भुवनानि विश्वा । तमद्य होतरिषितो यजीयान् देवं त्वष्टारमिह यक्षि विद्वान् ॥

>
> ya ime dyāvāpṛthivī janitrī rūpairapiṃśadbhuvanāni viśvā | tamadya hotariṣito yajīyān devaṃ tvaṣṭāramiha yakṣi vidvān ||

(Ṛ. Saṃ. 10-110-9.) ("He who adorned with forms these two, heaven and earth, the begetters, and all the worlds: that god Tvaṣṭṛ, O hotṛ, urged on today, best at sacrificing, knowing, worship here" — mine and tentative.)

it is said that Tvaṣṭṛ is the maker of heaven and earth and the cause of the form, beauty, intelligence, growth and so on suited to each of the beings in all the worlds. Besides this, Śruti (Yajurveda) sentences such as

> त्वष्टा वै पशूनां मिथुनानां रूपकृत्
>
> tvaṣṭā vai paśūnāṃ mithunānāṃ rūpakṛt

(T.S. "6-1-8-5" [?]; "Tvaṣṭṛ is the maker of the forms of paired animals"),

> त्वष्टा रूपाणामधिपतिः
>
> tvaṣṭā rūpāṇāmadhipatiḥ

(T.S. "3-3-", the rest not printed; "Tvaṣṭṛ is the lord of forms"),

> त्वष्टा रूपाणि विकरोति
>
> tvaṣṭā rūpāṇi vikaroti

("Tvaṣṭṛ shapes forms") set out Tvaṣṭṛ's skill in making things. And > मह्यं त्वष्टा वज्रमतक्षदायसं मयि देवासो ऽवृजन्नपि क्रतुम् ॥

>
> mahyaṃ tvaṣṭā vajramatakṣadāyasaṃ mayi devāso 'vṛjannapi kratum ||

(Ṛ. Saṃ. 10-48-3.) ("For me Tvaṣṭṛ fashioned the iron thunderbolt; in me the gods placed resolve" — mine and tentative.)

Indra says, "Tvaṣṭṛ made me the thunderbolt-weapon of steel." Many mantras of the Ṛgveda say that he made the sacrificial materials the gods need and many other things.

Page 572 — Rik 10: Special Topics (end) and grammar

Tvaṣṭṛ is well known as one of the twelve Ādityas. That is why Yāska explained the sense as "the shining one".

Agriyam: śreṣṭham, pradhānam: the best, the chief.

Viśvarūpam:

> विश्वानि रूपाणि त्वष्टृत्पन्नत्वेन यस्य ॥
>
> viśvāni rūpāṇi tvaṣṭṛtpannatvena yasya ||

Since he is the cause and maker of many forms, he is called viśvarūpa.

Asmākam astu kevalaḥ: the third quarter of this Ṛk, asmākam astu kevalaḥ, is found also in the Ṛk Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-7-10, where it refers to Indra. Its sense is "may he be our chief benefactor".

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 572–575, noted briefly)

त्वष्टारम् (tvaṣṭāram): takṣū tvakṣū tanūkaraṇe; tvakṣū + tṛn; the root is ūdit, so by "svaratisūtisūyatidhūñūdito vā" (Pā. sū. 7-2-44) iṭ is optional; without iṭ, tvakṣ + tṛ: by "skoḥ saṃyogādyor ante ca" (Pā. sū. 8-2-29) the s or k at the start of a conjunct at the end of a pada or before a jhal drops, so k drops: tvaṣ + tṛ; "ṣṭunā ṣṭuḥ" (Pā. sū. 8-4-41) gives ṭ: tvaṣṭṛ; accusative singular am; guṇa by "ṛto ṅisarvanāmasthānayoḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-3-110), r by "uraṇ raparaḥ" (Pā. sū. 1-1-51); penultimate lengthened by "ap tṛn tṛc…" (Pā. sū. 6-4-11): tvaṣṭāram; tṛn is nit, so initial udātta. अग्रियम् (agriyam): "ghacchau ca" (Pā. sū. "4-4-117" [?]) with agrāt carried on from "agrād yat" (Pā. sū. 4-4-116): after agra in the locative, in the sense bhavaḥ, ghac and cha; agra + gha; by "āyaneyīnīyiyaḥ phaḍhakhachaghāṃ pratyayādīnām" (Pā. sū. 7-1-2) gh → iy: agra + iy + a; a dropped by "yasyeti ca" (Pā. sū. 6-4-148): agriya. The question of its accent follows:

Page 573 — Rik 10: grammar (continued)

These replacements fall on ph and the other consonants that begin suffixes; here gh becomes iy. Being taught under the aṅga heading, they depend on both stem and suffix, so they are bahiraṅga; "ādyudāttaś ca" (Pā. sū. 3-1-3) does not depend on the stem, so it is antaraṅga, and the initial udātta comes before the āyan-type replacements. "pratyayaḥ" (Pā. sū. 3-1-1), "paraś ca" (Pā. sū. 3-1-2) and "ādyudāttaś ca" (Pā. sū. 3-1-3) all govern suffix rules, so the initial udātta is tied to the introduction of the suffix: first the accent of ghac, then iy for gh. Gh is a consonant and has no accent; the replacement too comes in, by āntaratamya, without accent. The Bhāṣyakāra says this:

> अक्रियमाणे ह्युपदेशिवद्भावे प्रत्ययसंज्ञासन्नियोगेनाद्युदात्तत्वे कृते ऽन्तर्यत आदेशा अस्वरकाणामस्वरकाः स्युः
>
> akriyamāṇe hyupadeśivadbhāve pratyayasaṃjñāsanniyogenādyudāttatve kṛte 'ntaryata ādeśā asvarakāṇāmasvarakāḥ syuḥ

(7-1-2 MB.) Though without accent when they come in, a sound cannot be uttered without accent, so by "anudāttaṃ padam ekavarjam" the replacements must be unaccented. Asvarakāṇām asvarakāḥ syuḥ can also be explained another way: uttering an anudātta causes slackness of the limbs, softness of tone and wideness of the throat; the same happens in uttering a consonant; but since consonants are not fit for it they take no anudātta. So consonants have the property of the anudātta, not of the udātta; svara in asvarakāṇām is taken as udātta: for consonants without udātta, replacements without the desired udātta, that is, anudātta replacements, come in. So the iy for gh here would have to be anudātta. Hence the Vārttikakāra says "āyanādiṣūpadeśivadvacanaṃ svarasiddhyartham" (Pā. sū. 7-1-2-1): for the sake of the accent the āyan-type replacement must be said to come in at the time the suffix is taught. Then, if iya comes in when the suffix arises, in agra + iya the suffix-initial udātta is overridden by the cit marker, "citaḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-1-163), and iya is final udātta. Otherwise, if the replacements, being bahiraṅga, did not come first, the cit marker in "ghacchau ca" would be useless: with agra + gha the suffix-initial udātta would come, and after the udātta a the anudātta iy would come, so iya would be final udātta anyway, and the cit marker would be pointless. Vyarthaṃ sat kiṃcid arthaṃ jñāpayati: a useless word, so as to have a purpose, makes something known, here a statement: that in the state of upadeśa the āyan-type replacements already come in. The Uddyotakāra explains it:

Page 574 — Rik 10: grammar (continued)

> प्रत्ययसम्बन्ध्यादेशानामुत्पत्तिसन्नियोगशिष्टकार्यादपि पूर्वं प्रवृत्तिर्ज्ञाप्यते इति भाष्यार्थः pratyayasambandhyādeśānāmutpattisanniyogaśiṣṭakāryādapi pūrvaṃ pravṛttirjñāpyate iti bhāṣyārthaḥ

That is, it is made known by the cit marker that the āyan-type replacements tied to the suffix come in even before the initial udātta tied to the arising of the suffix. Now, if there were no cit marker, then with agra + gha, iya would come in before the initial udātta, and with agra + iya the initial udātta would make the i udātta, whereas in the Śruti the a is udātta. So the cit marker serves the final udātta, and the upadeśivad statement is not needed. The Vārttikakāra himself says this in "na vā kvacic citkaraṇāt" (Pā. sū. 7-1-2-2). Thus agriya is final udātta.

विश्वरूपम् (viśvarūpam): "viśvāni rūpāṇi tvaṣṭuḥ utpannatvena yasya saḥ viśvarūpaḥ", a bahuvrīhi; the Śruti "tvaṣṭā vai paśūnāṃ mithunānāṃ rūpakṛt" (Tai. Śru. Saṃ. "6-1-8-5" [?]) shows the sense "produced by Tvaṣṭṛ"; viśva is viś + kvan, initial udātta (nit); the first-member accent of "bahuvrīhau prakṛtyā pūrvapadam" (Pā. sū. 6-2-1) is overridden by "bahuvrīhau viśvaṃ saṃjñāyām" (Pā. sū. 6-2-106): in a bahuvrīhi that is a name, the first member viśva is final udātta.

अस्माकम् (asmākam): asu kṣepaṇe; "yuṣyasibhyāṃ madik" (Uṇ. sū. "1-136" [?]): madik after yuṣ and as: asmad, final udātta by the suffix accent; genitive plural ām: asmad + ām. "yo 'ci" (Pā. sū. 7-2-89) gives y for yuṣmad/asmad before a vowel-initial ending without a replacement; "sāma ākam" (Pā. sū. 7-1-33) gives ākam for sām after them; "yo 'ci" is the later rule, so by the paribhāṣā "vipratiṣedhe paraṃ kāryam" (Pā. sū. 1-4-2) yatva would apply; but "sāma ākam" (Pā. sū. 7-1-33) is nitya: ākam comes whether or not yatva is made; so ākam applies in both cases. Since it is nitya, even though yatva had the prior claim, once ākam has come "yo 'ci" does not apply, for it applies before an ending that has no replacement, and after ākam the ending has one; so the nitya rule, applicable whether or not the other applies, is not blocked by "yo 'ci". So by "paranityāntaraṅgāpavādānām uttarottaraṃ balīyaḥ" (paribhāṣā "38" [?]) the nitya ākam overrides the later yatva; being pratipadokta, ākam is also stronger than yatva. Here with asmad + ām there is no sām: the ām would get the augment suṭ by "āmi sarvanāmnaḥ suṭ" (Pā. sū. 7-1-52) after a pronoun ending in a, giving sām. Since yatva comes before ākam, "śeṣe lopaḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-2-90) does not apply, so the stem does not end in a, and stating sām with suṭ in the sūtra may seem useless. But if the sūtra had been made "āma ākam" without suṭ, then after ākam, by sthānivadbhāva, ākam would count as ām, and where "śeṣe lopaḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-2-90) drops the final d, suṭ would have to come; to prevent that suṭ the sūtra states it with suṭ. Stated with suṭ, suṭ too counts as the original, so the suṭ that would come later is excluded, and the statement with suṭ has its use. On the view that "śeṣe lopaḥ" drops the ṭi, the statement with suṭ is not needed.

केवलः (kevalaḥ): vṛṣādi is an ākṛtigaṇa, so by "vṛṣādīnāṃ ca" (Pā. sū. 6-1-203) it is final udātta [as printed; the bhāṣya on p. 570 says initial udātta].

॥१०॥

Page 575 — Sūkta 13, Rik 11

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

अव॑ सृजा वनस्पते॒ देव॑ दे॒वेभ्यो॑ ह॒विः । प्र दा॒तुर॑स्तु॒ चेत॑नम् ॥११॥

áva sṛjā vanaspate déva devébhyo havíḥ | pra dātúr astu cétanam ||11||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

अव । सृज । वनस्पते । देव । देवेभ्यः । हविः ॥ प्र । दातुः । अस्तु । चेतनम् ॥११॥

ava | sṛja | vanaspate | deva | devebhyaḥ | haviḥ || pra | dātuḥ | astu | cetanam ||11||

Page 576 — Rik 11: bhāṣya, word-meanings, overall sense, English, Special Topics

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे वनस्पते एतन्नामकाग्ने देव हविर्भुग्भ्यो देवेभ्यो ऽस्मदीयं हविरव सृज । समर्पयेत्यर्थः । प्र दातुर्यजमानस्य चेतनं परलोकविषयं विज्ञानं त्वत्प्रसादादस्तु ॥ वनस्पते । आमन्त्रितनिघातः । देव । पादादित्वान्न निघातः । षाष्ठिकमामन्त्रिताद्युदात्तत्वं । हविः । इसः प्रत्ययस्वरः । दातुः । ददातेस्तृच् । चित इत्यन्तोदात्तः । जसि ऋत उत् । पा. ६-१-१११ । इत्युत्वं । एकादेशो रपरत्वं च । रात्सस्य । पा. ८-२-२४ । इति सलोपः । एकादेशस्वरेणोकार उदात्तः । चेतनं । चिती संज्ञाने । करणे ल्युट् । योरनादेशः । लघूपधगुणः । लितीति प्रत्ययात्पूर्वस्योदात्तत्वं ॥

he vanaspate etannāmakāgne deva havirbhugbhyo devebhyo 'smadīyaṃ havirava sṛja | samarpayetyarthaḥ | pra dāturyajamānasya cetanaṃ paralokaviṣayaṃ vijñānaṃ tvatprasādādastu || vanaspate | āmantritanighātaḥ | deva | pādāditvānna nighātaḥ | ṣāṣṭhikamāmantritādyudāttatvaṃ | haviḥ | isaḥ pratyayasvaraḥ | dātuḥ | dadātestṛc | cita ityantodāttaḥ | jasi ṛta ut | pā. 6-1-111 | ityutvaṃ | ekādeśo raparatvaṃ ca | rātsasya | pā. 8-2-24 | iti salopaḥ | ekādeśasvareṇokāra udāttaḥ | cetanaṃ | citī saṃjñāne | karaṇe lyuṭ | yoranādeśaḥ | laghūpadhaguṇaḥ | litīti pratyayātpūrvasyodāttatvaṃ ||

Translation: "O vanaspate, Agni of this name, O god, ava sṛja: release, that is, deliver, our oblation to the gods who eat oblations. By your favour may there be for the giver, the sacrificer, cetanam: knowledge concerning the other world." (Grammatical tail: vanaspate lowered as a vocative; deva not lowered at the head of a pāda, initial udātta by the ṣāṣṭhika rule; haviḥ with the accent of the suffix is; dātuḥ from dā with tṛc, final udātta (cit), ut by Pā. 6-1-111, s dropped by "rātsasya" (Pā. 8-2-24), the u udātta; cetanam from citī saṃjñāne with lyuṭ in the instrumental sense, guṇa, udātta before the suffix by "liti".)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

देव (deva) — shining | वनस्पते (vanaspate) — O Agni, named Vanaspati | देवेभ्यः (devebhyaḥ) — to the gods | हविः (haviḥ) — the oblation that we have prepared | अव सृज (ava sṛja) — convey, offer | दातुः (dātuḥ) — to the sacrificer who gives the oblation to the gods | चेतनम् (cetanam) — excellent knowledge (concerning the other world) | अस्तु (astu) — [by your favour] may there be.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Vanaspati, or Agni named Vanaspati, deliver to the gods the oblation we give, and by your favour may excellent knowledge come to the sacrificer who gives the oblation.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> Present, divine Vanaspati, our oblation to the gods, and may trne [sic] knowledge be the reward of the giver.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Vanaspate: Yāska's explanation of the word vanaspati:

> वनस्पत इत्येनमाहैष हि वनानां पाता वा पालयिता वा । वनं वनोतेः ॥
>
> vanaspata ityenamāhaiṣa hi vanānāṃ pātā vā pālayitā vā | vanaṃ vanoteḥ ||

(Ni. 8-3.)

> तत्को वनस्पतिः । यूप इति कात्थक्यः । अग्निरिति शाकपूणिः ॥
>
> tatko vanaspatiḥ | yūpa iti kātthakyaḥ | agniriti śākapūṇiḥ ||

(Ni. 8-18.)

Page 577 — Rik 11: Special Topics (continued) and grammar

That is, Agni himself is called vanaspati. For Agni is the protector or guardian of the woods: though Agni is present within the tree he does not burn it, so he is called its guardian. Or, since it serves for wood and other means of the sacrifice, it is called vana. Vanaspati means king of trees, a large tree. Which deity is vanaspati? Kātthakya's view is that it is the wooden post set up to tie the animal at the sacrifice; Śākapūṇi's view is that vanaspati is Agni.

To support Kātthakya's view Yāska gives a Ṛk as an example:

> अञ्जन्ति त्वामध्वरे देवयन्तो वनस्पते मधुना दैव्येन ॥
>
> añjanti tvāmadhvare devayanto vanaspate madhunā daivyena ||

(Ṛ. Saṃ. 3-8-1.) That is, "O Vanaspati (sacrificial post), at the sacrifice the priests and sacrificer anoint you with ghee purified by mantras": the post to which the animal is tied is addressed. And in the 3rd, 6th and 11th Ṛks of the same sūkta vanaspati is addressed as the sacrificial post; besides, it is well known that the post is the deity of that sūkta. In the eleventh Ṛk of that sūkta,

> वनस्पते शतवल्शो वि रोह सहस्रवल्शा वि वयं रुहेम
>
> vanaspate śatavalśo vi roha sahasravalśā vi vayaṃ ruhema that is, "O Vanaspati, grow with hundreds and thousands of shoots (in places)", which fits the tree vanaspati. In the Ṛk Ṛ. Saṃ. "10-70-10" [?], वनस्पते रशनया नियूय

vanaspate raśanayā niyūya

“O Vanaspati, having tied the animal with the rope”, confirms the sense “sacrificial post” for the word vanaspati. So vanaspati means the sacrificial post; “Agni” is an indirect sense.

Dātuḥ: हविःप्रदातुः यजमानस्य (haviḥpradātuḥ yajamānasya): of the sacrificer who offers the oblation.

Cetanam: परलोकविषयं विज्ञानं (paralokaviṣayaṃ vijñānaṃ): the Bhāṣyakāra says it is knowledge concerning the other world. Cetana means knowledge, understanding, discrimination. Veṅkaṭamādhava says

दातुर्यजमानस्य प्रज्ञापनं देवेषु त्वया निवेदितस्य dāturyajamānasya prajñāpanaṃ deveṣu tvayā niveditasya that is, “you must make the gods aware concerning the sacrificer”.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 577–578, noted briefly)

वनस्पते (vanaspate): wholly unaccented by “āmantritasya ca” (Pā. sū. 8-1-19). देव (deva): it stands at the head of the second pāda, so the prohibition “apādādau” (Pā. sū. 8-1-18) stops the lowering, and the sixth-adhyāya rule “āmantritasya ca” (Pā. sū. 6-1-198) gives initial udātta.

Page 578 — Rik 11: grammar (end)

हविः (haviḥ): hu dānādanayoḥ; isi by “arciśucihu…” (Uṇ. sū. “2-266” [?]); guṇa. The paryudāsa “anisantasya”: the verse

प्रसज्यप्रतिषेधो ऽयं क्रियया सह यत्र नञ् । पर्युदासस्तु विज्ञेयो यत्रोत्तरपदेन नञ् ॥ prasajyapratiṣedho ’yaṃ kriyayā saha yatra nañ | paryudāsastu vijñeyo yatrottarapadena nañ ||

explains that where nañ is construed with the verb it is a prasajya-pratiṣedha, where with the following member (n’is, anis) a paryudāsa. A prasajya-pratiṣedha always brings three faults (supplying a fitting verb, a compound of an unconnected word, splitting the sentence), so it is taken only where a paryudāsa cannot be; here the paryudāsa is taken. So “nabviṣayasyānisantasya” (Phi. sū.) means: the beginning of a neuter stem other than one ending in is is udātta. Havis ends in is, so this rule gives no initial udātta; the suffix accent stands, and haviḥ is final udātta. दातुः (dātuḥ): ḍudāñ dāne; tṛc by “ṇvultṛcau” (Pā. sū. 3-1-133); cit, so final udātta by “citaḥ” (Pā. sū. 6-1-163); genitive singular “jas” [as printed, for ṅas]; “ṛta ut” (Pā. sū. 6-1-111): u as single replacement for ṛ + a; r after it by “uraṇ raparaḥ” (Pā. sū. 1-1-51): dātur + s; “rātsasya” (Pā. sū. 8-2-24) drops the final member of a conjunct after r, here the s. Though “saṃyogāntasya lopaḥ” (Pā. sū. 8-2-23) could drop the s, this sūtra is needed as a restriction: after r only s is dropped, so in ūrk the k is not dropped. Visarga: dātuḥ; the u udātta by “ekādeśa udāttenodāttaḥ” (Pā. sū. 8-2-5). चेतनम् (cetanam): citī saṃjñāne; lyuṭ in the instrumental sense by “karaṇādhikaraṇayoś ca” (Pā. sū. 3-3-117); ana for yu by “yuvor anākau”

(Pā. sū. 7-1-1); laghūpadha-guṇa by “pugantalaghūpadhasya ca” (Pā. sū. 7-3-86): cetana; the e before the suffix udātta by “liti” (Pā. sū. 6-1-193).

॥११॥

---

Page 579 — Sūkta 13, Rik 12 (the last)

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

स्वाहा॑ य॒ज्ञं कृ॑णोत॒नेन्द्रा॑य॒ यज्व॑नो गृ॒हे । तत्र॑ दे॒वाँ उप॑ ह्वये ॥१२॥

svā́hā yajñáṃ kṛṇotanéndrāya yájvano gṛhé | tátra devā́m̐ úpa hvaye ||12||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

स्वाहा । यज्ञम् । कृणोतन । इन्द्राय । यज्वनः । गृहे ॥ तत्र । देवान् । उप । ह्वये ॥१२॥

svāhā | yajñam | kṛṇotana | indrāya | yajvanaḥ | gṛhe || tatra | devān | upa | hvaye || 12||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

स्वाहाशब्दो हविष्प्रदानवाची सन् एतन्नामकमग्निविशेषं लक्षयति । तदग्निसम्पादितं यज्ञमिन्द्रायेन्द्रतुष्ट्यर्थं यज्वनो यजमानस्य गृहे ऋत्विजः कृणोतन । कुरुत । तत्र यज्ञे देवानुप ह्वये ॥ कृणोतन । कृवि हिंसाकरणयोश्च । इदित्त्वान्नुम् । लोण्मध्यमबहुवचनस्य तस्थस्थमिपामिति तादेशः । तप्तनप्तनथनाश्च । पा. ७-१-४५ । इति तनबादेशः । शपि प्राप्ते धिन्विकृण्व्योरच्चेत्युप्रत्ययः । तत्सन्नियोगेन वकारस्य चाकारः । तस्यातो लोप इति लोपः । तस्याचः परस्मिन्निति स्थानिवद्भावादृकारस्य लघूपधगुणो न भवति । तनपः पित्त्वेनाङित्त्वादुकारस्य गुणः । इन्द्राय । ऋज्रेन्द्रेत्यादिना रन् । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । यज्वनः । यज देवपूजासङ्गतिकरणदानेषु । सुयजोर्ङ्वनिप् । पा. ३-२-१०३ । जसि भसंज्ञायामल्लोपे प्राप्ते न संयोगाद्वमन्तात् । पा. ६-४-१३७ । इति निषेधः । वनिपः पित्त्वेन धातुस्वर एव शिष्यते । गृहे । ग्रह उपादाने । गेहे कः । पा. ३-१-१४४ । इति कप्रत्ययः । ग्रहिज्येत्यादिना । पा. ६-१-१६ । सम्प्रसारणं । परपूर्वत्वं । प्रत्ययस्वरः । तत्र । त्रल् । लितीति प्रत्ययात्पूर्वस्योदात्तत्वं । देवाँ उपेत्यत्र संहितायां दीर्घादटीति नकारस्य रुत्वं । आतोऽटि नित्यमित्याकारस्यानुनासिकादेशः । भोभगो इति यत्वं । तस्य लोपः शाकल्यस्येति लोपः ॥ २४ ॥

svāhāśabdo haviṣpradānavācī san etannāmakamagniviśeṣaṃ lakṣayati | tadagnisampāditaṃ yajñamindrāyendratuṣṭyarthaṃ yajvano yajamānasya gṛhe ṛtvijaḥ kṛṇotana | kuruta | tatra yajñe devānupa hvaye || kṛṇotana | kṛvi hiṃsākaraṇayośca | idittvānnum | loṇmadhyamabahuvacanasya tasthasthamipāmiti tādeśaḥ | taptanaptanathanāśca | pā. 7-1-45 | iti tanabādeśaḥ | śapi prāpte dhinvikṛṇvyoraccetyupratyayaḥ | tatsanniyogena vakārasya cākāraḥ | tasyāto lopa iti lopaḥ | tasyācaḥ parasminniti sthānivadbhāvādṛkārasya laghūpadhaguṇo na bhavati | tanapaḥ pittvenāṅittvādukārasya guṇaḥ | indrāya | ṛjrendretyādinā ran | nittvādādyudāttaḥ | yajvanaḥ | yaja devapūjāsaṅgatikaraṇadāneṣu | suyajorṅvanip | pā. 3-2-103 | jasi bhasaṃjñāyāmallope prāpte na saṃyogādvamantāt | pā. 6-4-137 | iti

niṣedhaḥ | vanipaḥ pittvena dhātusvara eva śiṣyate | gṛhe | graha upādāne | gehe kaḥ | pā. 3-1-144 | iti kapratyayaḥ | grahijyetyādinā | pā. 6-1-16 | samprasāraṇaṃ | parapūrvatvaṃ | pratyayasvaraḥ | tatra | tral | litīti pratyayātpūrvasyodāttatvaṃ | devā~ upetyatra saṃhitāyāṃ dīrghādaṭīti nakārasya rutvaṃ | āto 'ṭi nityamityākārasyānunāsikādeśaḥ | bhobhago iti yatvaṃ | tasya lopaḥ śākalyasyeti lopaḥ || 24 ||

Translation: "The word svāhā, which denotes the giving of an oblation, indicates the particular fire of that name. O priests, kṛṇotana, perform, in the house of the yajvan, the sacrificer, the sacrifice brought about by that fire, for Indra, for Indra's satisfaction. In that sacrifice I invoke the gods." (Grammatical tail: kṛṇotana from kṛvi with num, ta for tha and tana for it (Pā. 7-1-45), the suffix u in place of śap with a for the v, then loss of that a, no guṇa of the ṛ by sthānivadbhāva, guṇa of the u since tanap is pit; indrāya with ran, initial udātta; yajvanaḥ with ṅvanip (Pā. 3-2-103), the loss of a barred by Pā. 6-4-137 ("jasi" as printed for ṅasi), the root accent; gṛhe from grah with ka (Pā. 3-1-144) and saṃprasāraṇa (Pā. 6-1-16); tatra with tral, udātta before the l-marked suffix; devāṁ upa: ru for the n, nasal ā, y, then its loss. The closing "24" is the varga number.)

Page 580 — Rik 12: word-meanings (begun on p. 579), overall sense, English, Special Topics

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

(O priests!) इन्द्राय (indrāya) — for Indra's satisfaction | यज्वनः (yajvanaḥ) — of the sacrificer who performs the sacrifice | गृहे (gṛhe) — in the house (the sacrificial hall) | स्वाहा (svāhā) — [performed] by the utterance svāhā (or svāhā, the fire named Svāhā, accomplishing it) | यज्ञम् (yajñam) — the sacrifice | कृणोतन (kṛṇotana) — perform | तत्र (tatra) — to that sacrificial ground | देवान् (devān) — the gods | उप ह्वये (upa hvaye) — I invoke.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O priests, the adhvaryu and the others! In the sacrificer's house, perform the sacrifice for Indra's satisfaction with the cry svāhā; or perform it, offering the oblations belonging to the fire named Svāhā. For that I call the gods there.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> Perform the sacrifice to Indra conveyed through swaha in the house of the sacrificer.
> I invoke the gods thither.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Svāhā: Yāska's explanation:

> स्वाहाकृतयः । स्वाहाकृतयः स्वाहेत्येतत् सु आहेति वा । स्वा वागाहेति वा । स्वं प्राहेति वा । स्वाहुतं हविर्जुहोतीति वा ॥
>
> svāhākṛtayaḥ | svāhākṛtayaḥ svāhetyetat su āheti vā | svā vāgāheti vā | svaṃ prāheti vā | svāhutaṃ havirjuhotīti vā ||

(No Nirukta number is printed.) The word svāhā has four different senses of its parts:

(1) su āheti vā: su = well, āha = says: since it is uttered well, or clearly, it is called svāhā.

(2) svā vāg āheti vā: svā = one's own, vāk = speech. There is the Śruti (Brāhmaṇa) sentence

तं स्वा वागभ्यवदज्जुहुधीति तत्स्वाहाकारस्य जन्म

taṃ svā vāgabhyavadajjuhudhīti tatsvāhākārasya janma

("his own speech said to him, 'offer!'; that is the birth of the svāhākāra" — mine and tentative). That is, since the one who makes the homa himself adds the word svāhā at the end of the Ṛk, the Vedic mantra, it is called svāhā.

(3) svaṃ prāheti vā: here svam = his own oblation; āha: he says that he offers it in the fire. So it is called svāhā.

(4) svāhutaṃ havir juhotīti vā: since he offers the oblation he has offered by uttering the word svāhā, that is, since he gives the oblation into the fire, it is called svāhā.

For the sense of the svāhākāra Yāska gives this Ṛk as an example:

Page 581 — Rik 12: Special Topics (continued) and grammar

सद्यो जातो व्यमिमीत यज्ञमग्निर्देवानामभवत्पुरोगाः । अस्य होतुः प्रदिश्यृतस्य वाचि स्वाहाकृतं हविरदन्तु देवाः ॥

sadyo jāto vyamimīta yajñamagnirdevānāmabhavatpurogāḥ | asya hotuḥ pradiśyṛtasya vāci svāhākṛtaṃ haviradantu devāḥ ||

(Ṛ. Saṃ. 10-110-11.) ("Born at once, Agni measured out the sacrifice and became the leader of the gods; at the word of this hotṛ, in the direction of order, let the gods eat the oblation made with svāhā" — mine and tentative.)

Its chief sense: Agni, just born (that is, now established at the sacrifice), sits before the gods, carries out the duty of the hotṛ, that is, the work of calling the gods, and brings the sacrifice to completion. May the gods eat the oblation that such a hotṛ, being in the eastern quarter, offers with the word svāhā. So svāhā is the name of the word uttered at the end of the mantra when the oblation is offered, for the gods' pleasure, into the fire set up in due form for the sacrifice.

In some Āprī-sūktas the plural svāhākṛtayaḥ is used: since the word svāhā is added also to the eleven prayāja mantras used in offering to the eleven deities of the sūkta, the plural svāhākṛtayaḥ is used.

In the Purāṇas and other works the word svāhā is used in another sense. The Mahābhārata says that the daughter of Bṛhaspati, the son of the sage Aṅgiras, is Svāhā; the Purāṇas say that the goddess Svāhā is the daughter of Dakṣa Prajāpati and the wife of Agni.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 581–583, noted briefly)

कृणोतन (kṛṇotana): kṛvi hiṃsākaraṇayoś ca, idit, so num by "idito num dhātoḥ": kṛnv; loṭ 2nd plural tha; with laṅvadbhāva by "loṭo laṅvat" (Pā. sū. 3-4-85), ta for tha by “tasthasthamipāṃ tāṃtaṃtāmaḥ” (Pā. “śū.” [sic] 3-4-101); “taptanaptanathanāś ca” (Pā. sū. 7-1-45) gives four replacements of that t in the loṭ 2nd person (tap, tanap, tana, thana), here tanap: kṛnv + tana; śap by “kartari śap” would come, but “dhinvikṛṇvyor a ca” (Pā. sū. 3-1-80) gives a for the last letter of dhinv, kṛṇv and, in the place of śap, the suffix u: kṛna + u + tana; “ato lopaḥ” (Pā. sū. 6-4-48) drops the a of what ends in a at the time the ārdhadhātuka suffix is taught,

Page 582 — Rik 12: grammar (continued)

so the a of kṛna drops; for this loss “acaḥ parasmin pūrvavidhau” (Pā. sū. 1-1-57) gives sthānivadbhāva, so the ṛ gets no laghūpadha-guṇa. Tanap is pit, so by the exclusion apit in “sārvadhātukam apit” (Pā. sū. 1-2-4) it does not become ṅit, and “kṅiti ca” (Pā. sū. 1-1-5) does not bar the guṇa; by “sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ” (Pā. sū. 7-3-84) the u takes guṇa, o; ṇ for n by “ṛvarṇān nasya ṇatvaṃ vaktavyam” (Pā. sū. 8-4-1-1): kṛṇotana; wholly unaccented by “tiṅṅatiṅaḥ”. इन्द्राय (indrāya): idi paramaiśvarye, num; ran by “ṛjrendrāgra…” (Uṇ. sū. 2-186); the suffix is nit, so by “ñnityādir nityam” (Pā. sū. 6-1-197) indra is initial udātta. यज्वनः (yajvanaḥ): yaja devapūjāsaṅgatikaraṇadāneṣu; “suyajor ṅvanip” (Pā. sū. 3-2-103): after ṣuñ abhiṣave and yaja devapūjādau, ṅvanip in the past sense; van remains; yajvan + as (genitive singular, “jas” [as printed, for ṅas]); bha by “yaci bham” (Pā. sū. 1-4-18); so “allopo ’naḥ” (Pā. sū. 6-4-134) would drop the a of an an that is part of the stem before a vowel- or y-initial ending other than the sarvanāmasthāna, but “na saṃyogād vamantāt” (Pā. sū. 6-4-137) bars the loss of the a of an after a conjunct ending in v or m, so after jv it does not drop. गृहे (gṛhe): ka by “gehe kaḥ” (Pā. sū. 3-1-144); the k is it by “laśakvataddhite” (Pā. sū. 1-3-8) and drops by “tasya lopaḥ”; “grahijyāvayivyadhivaṣṭivicativṛścatipṛcchatibhṛjjatīnāṃ ṅiti ca” (Pā. sū. 6-1-16) gives saṃprasāraṇa, ṛ for the r; by “igyaṇaḥ saṃprasāraṇam” (Pā. sū. 1-1-45) i, u, ṛ, ḷ in place of y, v, r, l are called saṃprasāraṇa; “saṃprasāraṇāc ca” (Pā. sū. 6-1-108) gives pūrvarūpa of ṛ and a: gṛha, locative singular gṛhe; the accent of the suffix ka. तत्र (tatra): “saptamyās tral” (Pā. sū. 5-3-10): tral after tad in the locative; ending in a taddhita, it is a prātipadika by “kṛttaddhitasamāsāś ca”, the ending dropped by “supo dhātuprātipadikayoḥ”, and by “prāg diśo vibhaktiḥ” tral is called vibhakti; so before it “tyadādīnām aḥ” (Pā. sū. 7-2-102) gives a for the d: ta + a + tra; pararūpa by “ato guṇe” (Pā. sū. 6-1-97): tatra; by “liti” (6-1-193) the syllable before tral is udātta. देवाँ उप (devāṁ̐ upa): deva from div with ac by the pacādi rule (Pā. sū. 3-1-134) and laghūpadha-guṇa (Pā. sū. 7-3-86); accusative plural śas: deva + as; pūrvasavarṇa-dīrgha by “prathamayoḥ pūrvasavarṇaḥ” (Pā. sū. 6-1-102): devās; “tasmāc chaso naḥ puṃsi” (Pā. sū. 6-1-103): n for the s of śas: devān; in the Saṃhitā, before upa, “dīrghād aṭi samānapāde” (Pā. sū. 8-3-9) gives ru for the n: devār + upa; “āto ’ṭi nityam” (Pā. sū. 8-3-3) nasalises the ā before r; “bhobhagoaghoapūrvasya yo ’śi” (Pā. sū. 8-3-17) gives y for the ru: devāy + upa; “lopaḥ śākalyasya” (Pā. sū. 8-3-19) drops the y: devā + upa; “ād guṇaḥ” (Pā. sū. 6-1-87) would give o, but by “pūrvatrāsiddham” (Pā. sū. 8-2-1) the loss of y is treated as not done for the guṇa, so the y counts as standing after the a, no vowel follows it, and there is no guṇa.

Page 583 — Rik 12: grammar (end); close of Sūkta 13

॥१२॥

(A printed ornament follows; the page has no colophon for Sūkta 13. Then on the same page the Fourteenth Sūkta begins.)

End of Sūkta 13.

॥ ಹದಿನಾಲ್ಕನೆಯ ಸೂಕ್ತವು ॥ — Sūkta 14 — "aibhir agne duvo giraḥ" ("The Fourteenth Sūkta")

(Table-of-contents title: "babhrur agne" — see the open flags; the sūkta itself begins aibhir agne duvo giraḥ*.)*

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥ (introductory note on the application of the sūkta; printed p. 583, after the close of Sūkta 13)

> ऐभिरग्न इत्यादिकस्य द्वादशर्चस्य तृतीयसूक्तस्य ऋषिच्छन्दसी पूर्ववत् । तच्च सूक्तं बहुदेवताकम् । अत एवानुक्रम्यते । ऐभिर्वैश्वदेवमिति ॥ विनियोगस्तु । व्यूढद्वादशाहस्य प्रथमे छन्दोमे तृतीयसवने वैश्वदेवशस्त्र ऐभिरग्ने दुवो गिर इति सूक्तम् ॥ तथा च सूत्रितम् । अथ छन्दोमाः समुद्रादूर्मिरित्युपक्रम्यैभिरग्ने दुवो गिर इति वैश्वदेवम् । आ. ८-९१ [?] । इति ॥
>
> aibhiragna ityādikasya dvādaśarcasya tṛtīyasūktasya ṛṣicchandasī pūrvavat | tacca sūktaṃ bahudevatākam | ata evānukramyate | aibhirvaiśvadevamiti || viniyogastu | vyūḍhadvādaśāhasya prathame chandome tṛtīyasavane vaiśvadevaśastra aibhiragne duvo gira iti sūktam || tathā ca sūtritam | atha chandomāḥ samudrādūrmirityupakramyaibhiragne duvo gira iti vaiśvadevam | ā. 8-91 [?] | iti ||

Translation: "The sūkta of twelve Ṛks beginning aibhir agne, the third sūkta [of the anuvāka]: its ṛṣi and metre are as before. That sūkta has many deities; that is why the Anukramaṇikā says only aibhir vaiśvadevam. Its application: in the first chandoma day of the vyūḍha-dvādaśāha, at the third pressing, in the vaiśvadeva-śastra, the sūkta aibhir agne duvo giraḥ. So it is laid down in the Sūtra: 'Now the chandomas: beginning with samudrād ūrmiḥ, … aibhir agne duvo giraḥ is the Vaiśvadeva' (Āśv."8-91" [?] as printed in the Sanskrit; the Kannada below gives 8-9)."

॥ Anuvāda (Kannada rendering) ॥ In the fourth anuvāka, the third sūkta, aibhir agne, has twelve Ṛks. Its ṛṣi and metre are as in the preceding sūkta. Since it has many deities the sūkta is bahudevatāka; so the Anukramaṇikā calls it a sūkta to the Viśvedevas. Application: in the first chandoma of the vyūḍha-dvādaśāha sacrifice, at the third pressing,

Page 584 — Sūkta 14, Rik 1

when the vaiśvadeva-śastra mantras are recited, the sūkta aibhir agne duvo giraḥ is to be recited. In the Āśvalāyana Śrauta-sūtra, atha chandomāḥ samudrād ūrmir ity upakramyaibhir agne duvo gira iti vaiśvadevam: that is, the mantras beginning with samudrād ūrmiḥ and going on to aibhir agne duvo giraḥ are called chandoma mantras. (Ā. sū. 8-9.)

॥ ॐ ॥

॥ Sūkta — 14 ॥ ॥ Maṇḍala — 1 ॥ Anuvāka — 4 ॥ Sūkta — 14 ॥ ॥ Aṣṭaka — 1 ॥ Adhyāya — 1 ॥ Varga — 26, 27 ॥ (as printed; Ṛk 13.12 closed with varga 24) ॥ Mantras contained in this sūkta: 1–12 ॥ ॥ Ṛṣi — Medhātithi Kāṇva॥ ॥ Devatā —

विश्वे देवाः (विश्वैर्देवैः सहितो ऽग्निः । ३- इन्द्रवायुबृहस्पतिमित्राग्निपूषभगादित्यमरुद्गणाः । १०- विश्वदेवाग्नीन्द्रवायुमित्रधामानि । ११. अग्निः)

viśve devāḥ (viśvairdevaiḥ sahito 'gniḥ | 3- indravāyubṛhaspatimitrāgnipūṣabhagādityamarudgaṇāḥ | 10- viśvadevāgnīndravāyumitradhāmāni | 11. agniḥ)

("The Viśvedevas (Agni together with all the gods); 3 [as printed; i.e. from Ṛk 3]: Indra, Vāyu, Bṛhaspati, Mitra, Agni, Pūṣan, Bhaga, the Ādityas and the host of Maruts; 10: the Viśvedevas, Agni, Indra, Vāyu and the abodes of Mitra; 11: Agni.") ॥ ॥ Chandaḥ — Gāyatrī ॥

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

ऐभि॑रग्ने दुवो॒ गिरो॒ विश्वे॑भिः सोम॑पीतये । दे॒वेभि॒र्याहि॒ यक्षि॑ च ॥१॥

áibhir agne dúvo gíro víśvebhiḥ sómapītaye | devébhir yāhi yákṣi ca ||1||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

आ । एभिः । अग्ने । दुवः । गिरः । विश्वेभिः । सोमऽपीतये ॥ देवेभिः । याहि । यक्षि । च ॥१॥

ā | ebhiḥ | agne | duvaḥ | giraḥ | viśvebhiḥ | soma 'pītaye || devebhiḥ | yāhi | yakṣi | ca ||1||

Page 585 — Rik 1: bhāṣya, word-meanings, overall sense, English

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे अग्ने एभिरस्मिन्यज्ञे सम्भावितैर्विश्वेभिर्देवेभिः सर्वैर्देवैः सह सोमपीतये सोमपानोपेतयागार्थं दुवो ऽस्मदीयां परिचर्यां गिरो ऽस्मदीयाः स्तुतीश्च प्रत्या याहि । आगच्छ । यक्षि च । आगत्य यज च ॥ एभिः । पूर्वनिर्दिष्टानां देवानामिदमा परामर्शादिदमो ऽन्वादेशे ऽशनुदात्तस्तृतीयादौ । पा. २-४-३२ । इत्यशनुदात्तः । शित्त्वात्सर्वादेशः । नेदमदसोरकोः । पा. ७-१-११ । इति भिस ऐसादेशाभावः । विभक्तिरनुदात्तैव । न चोडिदमित्यादिना विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वं तत्रान्तोदात्तादित्यधिकारात् । दुवः । नब्विषयस्यानिसन्तस्येत्याद्युदात्तत्वं । विश्वेभिः । विश्वशब्दो विशेः क्वनन्तो नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । बहुलं छन्दसीति भिस ऐस् न भवति । बहुवचने झल्येत् । पा. ७-३-१०३ । इत्येत्वं । सोमपीतये । सोमशब्दो ऽर्तिस्तुस्वित्यादिना मनन्तो नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । सोमस्य पीतिर्यस्मिन्यागे स सोमपीतिः । तस्मै । तादर्थ्ये चतुर्थी । देवेभिः । बहुलं छन्दसीति भिस ऐसादेशाभावः । बहुवचने झल्येदित्येत्वं । यक्षि । यजेर्लोटः सिप् । बहुलं छन्दसीति शपो लुक् । व्रश्चादिना षत्वं । षढोः कः सीति कत्वं । सेर्ह्यादेशश्छान्दसत्वान्न भवति । सिपः पित्त्वेनानुदात्तत्वाद्धातुस्वर एव ॥

he agne ebhirasminyajñe sambhāvitairviśvebhirdevebhiḥ sarvairdevaiḥ saha somapītaye somapānopetayāgārthaṃ duvo 'smadīyāṃ paricaryāṃ giro 'smadīyāḥ stutīśca pratyā yāhi | āgaccha | yakṣi ca | āgatya yaja ca || ebhiḥ | pūrvanirdiṣṭānāṃ

devānāmidamā parāmarśādidamo 'nvādeśe 'śanudāttastṛtīyādau | pā. 2-4-32 | ityaśanudāttaḥ | śittvātsarvādeśaḥ | nedamadasorakoḥ | pā. 7-1-11 | iti bhisa aisādeśābhāvaḥ | vibhaktiranudāttaiva | na coḍidamityādinā vibhakterudāttatvaṃ tatrāntodāttādityadhikārāt | duvaḥ | nabviṣayasyānisantasyetyādyudāttatvaṃ | viśvebhiḥ | viśvaśabdo viśeḥ kvananto nittvādādyudāttaḥ | bahulaṃ chandasīti bhisa ais na bhavati | bahuvacane jhalyet | pā. 7-3-103 | ityetvaṃ | somapītaye | somaśabdo 'rtistusvityādinā mananto nittvādādyudāttaḥ | somasya pītiryasminyāge sa somapītiḥ | tasmai | tādarthye caturthī | devebhiḥ | bahulaṃ chandasīti bhisa aisādeśābhāvaḥ | bahuvacane jhalyedityetvaṃ | yakṣi | yajerloṭaḥ sip | bahulaṃ chandasīti śapo luk | vraścādinā ṣatvaṃ | ṣaḍhoḥ kaḥ sīti katvaṃ | serhyādeśaśchāndasatvānna bhavati | sipaḥ pittvenānudāttatvāddhātusvara eva ||

Translation: "O Agni, together with these, viśvebhir devebhiḥ, all the gods honoured at this sacrifice, somapītaye, for the sacrifice that has the drinking of soma, come towards duvaḥ, our service, and giraḥ, our praises. Yāhi: come. Yakṣi ca: and having come, sacrifice." (Grammatical tail: ebhiḥ: idam refers back to the gods named before, so in anvādeśa it takes the unaccented aś (Pā. 2-4-32), replacing the whole word since it is śit; ais for bhis is barred by Pā. 7-1-11; the ending stays unaccented, since the rule ūḍidam… applies only after a final-udātta stem; duvaḥ initial udātta by nabviṣayasyānisantasya; viśvebhiḥ: viśva from viś with kvan, initial udātta (nit), no ais by bahulaṃ chandasi, e by Pā. 7-3-103; somapītaye: soma with man, initial udātta; somapīti "the sacrifice in which there is the drinking of soma", dative of purpose; devebhiḥ likewise; yakṣi: yaj, loṭ, sip, śap dropped, ṣ and then k (ṣaḍhoḥ kaḥ si), hi for si not made, being Vedic; the root accent, sip being unaccented.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥ (Kannada)

(हे) अग्ने ((he) agne) — O Agni | एभिः (ebhiḥ) — these [gods], honoured at this our sacrifice (Kannada saṃbhāvitarāda) | विश्वेभिः (viśvebhiḥ) — all | देवेभिः (devebhiḥ) — with the gods | दुवः (duvaḥ) — the service (śuśrūṣā) that we render | गिरः (giraḥ) — words in the form of hymns of praise | सोमपीतये (somapītaye) — for the drinking of soma | प्रति आ याहि (prati ā yāhi) — come so as to receive | यक्षि च (yakṣi ca) — and bring the sacrifice to completion.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Agni, come with all the gods, to receive the service we render in this our sacrifice and the hymns of praise, and to drink the soma. After you have come, bring this sacrificial act to completion in all its parts.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> Come, Agni with all those gods to receive our adoration and praises and for drinking soma; and also perform the sacrifice.

(At the foot of the page, outside the text: "74", probably a printer's sheet mark.)

Page 586 — Rik 1: grammar

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 586–588, noted briefly)

एभिः (ebhiḥ): idam + bhis; idam refers to the deities mentioned before, so there is anvādeśa; hence by "idamo 'nvādeśe 'śanudāttas tṛtīyādau" (Pā. sū. 2-4-32) the unaccented replacement aś comes for idam; being śit, it replaces the whole word by "anekāl śit sarvasya": a + bhis; "ato bhisa ais" (Pā. sū. 7-1-9) would give ais, but "nedamadasor akoḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-1-11) bars ais after idam and adas without the k (of aka); so no ais. "bahuvacane jhaly et" (Pā. sū. 7-3-103) gives e to the a-final stem before a jhal-initial plural ending: e + bhis, ru, visarga: ebhiḥ. "ūḍidampadādyappumraidyubhyaḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-1-171): here, by "sāv ekācas tṛtīyādir vibhaktiḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-1-168), ekācaḥ, and by "antodāttād uttarapadād anyatarasyām anityasamāse" (Pā. sū. 6-1-169), antodāttāt, are carried on, so the sūtra means: a non-sarvanāmasthāna ending after idam and the rest, when they have one vowel and are final-udātta, is udātta. Here aś is an unaccented replacement, and e is not final-udātta even though by sthānivadbhāva it counts as idam; so this sūtra gives the ending no udātta, and by "anudāttau suppitau" (Pā. sū. 3-1-4) bhis stays unaccented.

दुवः (duvaḥ): initial udātta by "nabviṣayasyānisantasya" (Phi. sū. 26). विश्वेभिः (viśvebhiḥ): viśa praveśane + kvan by "aśūpruṣilaṭikaṇikhaṭiviśibhyaḥ kvan" (Uṇ. sū. 149 [as printed]); the suffix is nit, so initial udātta by "ñnityādir nityam" (Pā. sū. 6-1-197); before bhis, "bahulaṃ chandasi" (Pā. sū. 7-1-10) makes ais optional in the Veda, so no ais; e by "bahuvacane jhaly et" (Pā. sū. 7-3-103): viśve + bhis, ru, visarga: viśvebhiḥ.

सोमपीतये (somapītaye): soma from ṣu with man by "artistusuhusṛdhṛkṣikṣubhāyāvāpadiyakṣinībhyo man" (Uṇ. sū. 1-136), initial udātta (nit); "somasya pītir yasmin yāge saḥ", for him: somapītaye, a bahuvrīhi. By "caturthīvidhāne tādarthye upasaṃkhyānam" (Pā. sū. 2-3-13-1), and "tasmā idaṃ tadartham; arthena nityasamāsaḥ viśeṣyaliṅgatā ca", the compound; tadarthasya bhāvaḥ tādarthyam: by "guṇavacanabrāhmaṇādibhyaḥ ṣyañ" (Pā. sū. 5-1-124) in the bhāva sense. Tad means the effect; the cause is for the sake of the effect, is it not? So the word tadartha denotes a cause that serves an effect. In cases like brāhmaṇāya dadhi ("curds for the brāhmaṇa") the fourth case needs a particular effect meant by the word for the effect: brāhmaṇas are not produced from curds, so the fourth case could not come here; but if a particular effect is meant, the brāhmaṇa as qualified by eating is the effect, and curds, being the cause of the qualifying eating, may be the cause of the brāhmaṇa so qualified; thus the fourth case is justified here. By "samāsakṛttaddhiteṣu bhāvapratyayena sambandhābhidhānam" (the abstract suffix after a compound, a kṛdanta or a taddhitānta expresses the relation), the ṣyañ after the compound tadartha expresses the relation; so tādarthya means the relation of a cause serving an effect, and the vārttika means that when a relation of effect and cause is shown, the fourth case comes after the stem that denotes the effect. Here the sacrifice that has the drinking of soma comes about from Agni's coming, so somapīti denotes the effect, and the fourth case follows it. The Bhāṣya gives yūpāya dāru ("wood for the sacrificial post") as an example of this statement: dāru is wood; since the post comes from the wood, the post is the effect, and so the fourth case comes after it. Kuṇḍalāya hiraṇyam ("gold for an earring") is another example the Bhāṣya gives.

देवेभिः (devebhiḥ): deva ends in a; ais for the bhis after it would come by “ato bhisa ais” (Pā. sū. 7-1-9), but by “bahulaṃ chandasi” (Pā. sū. 7-1-10) it does not; then, bhis being a jhal-initial plural ending, “bahuvacane jhaly et” gives e for the a; ru, visarga: devebhiḥ. याहि (yāhi): wholly unaccented by “tiṅṅatiṅaḥ” (Pā. sū. 8-1-28).

यक्षि (yakṣi): yaja devapūjāsaṅgatikaraṇadāneṣu; loṭ, 2nd singular sip: yaj + si; the śap that comes by “kartari śap” (Pā. sū. 3-1-68) is dropped by “bahulaṃ chandasi” (Pā. sū. 2-4-73); ṣ for the j by “vraścabhrasjasṛjamṛjayajarājabhrājacchaśāṃ ṣaḥ” (Pā. sū. 8-2-36): yaṣ + si; “ṣaḍhoḥ kaḥ si” (Pā. sū. 8-2-41): before s, k for ṣ and ḍh: yak + si; “ser hy apic ca” (Pā. sū. 3-4-87) would give hi for si, but in the Veda it does not come here. Sip is pit, so it is unaccented by “anudāttau suppitau” [as printed]. ṣ for the s by “ādeśapratyayayoḥ”: yakṣi. Since it follows the tiṅanta yāhi, “tiṅṅatiṅaḥ” does not make it wholly unaccented.

॥१॥

---

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

आ त्वा॒ कण्वा॑ अहूषत गृ॒णन्ति॑ विप्र ते॒ धिय॑: । दे॒वेभि॑रग्न॒ आ ग॑हि ॥२॥

ā tvā káṇvā ahūṣata gṛṇánti vipra te dhíyaḥ | devébhir agna ā́ gahi ||2||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

आ । त्वा । कण्वाः । अहूषत । गृणन्ति । विप्र । ते । धियः ॥ देवेभिः । अग्ने । आ । गहि ॥२॥

ā | tvā | kaṇvāḥ | ahūṣata | gṛṇanti | vipra | te | dhiyaḥ || devebhiḥ | agne | ā | gahi || 2||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे विप्र मेधाविन्नग्ने कण्वा मेधाविन ऋत्विजस्त्वा यज्ञनिष्पादकं त्वामाहूषत । आह्वयन्ति । तथा ते धियस्त्वदीयानि कर्माणि गृणन्ति । कथयन्ति । ततो हे अग्ने देवेभिर्देवैः सहा गहि । आगच्छ । विप्र इत्यादिषु चतुर्विंशतिसंख्याकेषु मेधाविनामसु कण्व ऋभुरिति पठितम् ॥ त्वा । त्वामौ द्वितीयाया इति त्वादेशः । सर्वानुदात्तः । कण्वाः । कण शब्दार्थः । अशिप्रुषिलटिकणिखटीत्यादिना क्वन् । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । अहूषत । ह्वेञ् स्पर्धायां शब्दे च । छन्दसि लुङ्लङ्लिट इति वर्तमाने लुङ् । ञित्त्वादात्मनेपदम् । झ आत्मनेपदेष्वनत इत्यदादेशः । च्लेः सिच् । एकाच इतीट्प्रतिषेधः । पा. ७-२-१० । बहुलं छन्दसीति सम्प्रसारणं परपूर्वत्वं । हलः । पा. ६-४-२ । इति दीर्घत्वं । आदेशप्रत्यययोरिति षत्वं । छान्दसत्वादूकारस्य न गुणः । अडागमः । गृणन्ति । गॄ शब्दे । लट् । झि । झोऽन्तः । क्र्यादिभ्यः श्ना । प्वादीनां ह्रस्व इति धातोर्ह्रस्वत्वं । श्नाभ्यस्तयोरातः । पा. ६-४-११२ । इत्याकारलोपः । ऋवर्णाच्चेति वक्तव्यम् । का. ८-४-१-१ । इति णत्वं । तिङः स्वर एव शिष्यते । विप्र । आमन्त्रितनिघातः । ते । अनुदात्तमित्यनुवृत्तौ तेमयावेकवचनस्य । पा. ८-१-२२ । इति षष्ठ्यास्ते इत्यादेशः । देवेभिः । छान्दस ऐसभावः । गहि । गम्लृ सृप्लृ गतौ । लोटः सिप् । सेर्ह्यपिच्च । कर्तरि शप्

। तस्य बहुलं छन्दसीति लुक् । अनुदात्तोपदेशेत्यादिना मकारलोपः ।
तस्यासिद्धवदत्राभादित्यसिद्धत्वादतो हेरिति हेर्लुग्न भवति ॥

he vipra medhāvinnagne kaṇvā medhāvina ṛtvijastvā yajñaniṣpādakaṃ tvāmāhūṣata | āhvayanti | tathā te dhiyastvadīyāni karmāṇi gṛṇanti | kathayanti | tato he agne devebhirdevaiḥ sahā gahi | āgaccha | vipra ityādiṣu caturviṃśatisaṃkhyākeṣu medhāvināmasu kaṇva ṛbhuriti paṭhitam || tvā | tvāmau dvitīyāyā iti tvādeśaḥ | sarvānudāttaḥ | kaṇvāḥ | kaṇa śabdārthaḥ | aśipruṣilaṭikaṇikhaṭītyādinā kvan | nittvādādyudāttaḥ | ahūṣata | hveñ spardhāyāṃ śabde ca | chandasi luṅlaṅliṭa iti vartamāne luṅ | ñittvādātmanepadam | jha ātmanepadeṣvanata ityadādeśaḥ | cleḥ sic | ekāca itīṭpratiṣedhaḥ | pā. 7-2-10 | bahulaṃ chandasīti samprasāraṇaṃ parapūrvatvaṃ | halaḥ | pā. 6-4-2 | iti dīrghatvaṃ | ādeśapratyayayoriti ṣatvaṃ | chāndasatvādūkārasya na guṇaḥ | aḍāgamaḥ | gṛṇanti | gṝ śabde | laṭ | jhi | jho 'ntaḥ | kryādibhyaḥ śnā | pvādīnāṃ hrasva iti dhātorhrasvatvaṃ | śnābhyastayorātaḥ | pā. 6-4-112 | ityākāralopaḥ | ṛvarṇācceti vaktavyam | kā. 8-4-1-1 | iti ṇatvaṃ | tiṅaḥ svara eva śiṣyate | vipra | āmantritanighātaḥ | te | anudāttamityanuvṛttau temayāvekavacanasya | pā. 8-1-22 | iti ṣaṣṭhyāste ityādeśaḥ | devebhiḥ | chāndasa aisabhāvaḥ | gahi | gamlṛ sṛplṛ gatau | loṭaḥ sip | serhyapicca | kartari śap | tasya bahulaṃ chandasīti luk | anudāttopadeśetyādinā makāralopaḥ | tasyāsiddhavadatrābhādityasiddhatvādato heriti herlugna bhavati ||

Translation: "O vipra, wise Agni, the kaṇvāḥ, the wise priests, āhūṣata, call you, the accomplisher of the sacrifice; and they gṛṇanti, declare, te dhiyaḥ, your deeds. So, O Agni, come with the gods. Kaṇva and ṛbhu are read among the twenty-four names for the wise beginning with vipra." (Grammatical tail: tvā by "tvāmau dvitīyāyāḥ", wholly unaccented; kaṇvāḥ from kaṇa 'to sound' with kvan, initial udātta; ahūṣata from hveñ, luṅ in the present sense, ātmanepada (the root is ñit), at for jh, sic, no iṭ (Pā. 7-2-10), saṃprasāraṇa by bahulaṃ chandasi, lengthening by "halaḥ" (Pā. 6-4-2), ṣ, no guṇa of the ū (Vedic), the augment a; gṛṇanti from gṝ with śnā, the root shortened, the ā of śnā dropped (Pā. 6-4-112), ṇ (Kā. 8-4-1-1); vipra lowered as a vocative; te for tava by Pā. 8-1-22; devebhiḥ without ais; gahi: gam, sip, hi, śap dropped, m dropped, and that loss being treated as not done, hi is not dropped by "ato heḥ".)

Page 589 — Rik 2: word-meanings, overall sense, English, Special Topics, grammar

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

(हे) विप्र ((he) vipra) — O wise Agni | कण्वाः (kaṇvāḥ) — the priests, who are wise (descendants of the ṛṣi Kaṇva) | त्वा (tvā) — you | आ अहूषत (ā ahūṣata) — call (with prayer) | (likewise) ते (te) — your | धियः (dhiyaḥ) — deeds | गृणन्ति (gṛṇanti) — praise | (therefore) अग्ने (agne) — O Agni | देवेभिः (devebhiḥ) — with the gods | आ गहि (ā gahi) — be pleased to come.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O wise Agni, the wise priests (or the descendants of the ṛṣi Kaṇva) pray to you and call you to the sacrifice to praise your qualities, and they praise your excellent deeds. So come to our sacrifice with all the gods.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> The Kanwas invoke you, wise Agni, and extrol [sic] your deeds; come Agni with the gods,

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Kaṇvāḥ: since the word kaṇva is read among the twenty-four names for the wise beginning with vipra (Ni. 3-19), kaṇva means wise, intelligent. Though the Bhāṣyakāra gives this general sense, since the ṛṣi of this Ṛk is of the Kaṇva line, it seems fitting to take kaṇvāḥ here as the sacrificers, priests and others born in the Kaṇva line.

Dhiyaḥ: since the word dhīḥ is read among the twenty-six words for action beginning with apaḥ (Ni. 3-2), dhiyaḥ means actions, deeds.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 589–592, noted briefly)

आ (ā): initial udātta by "nipātā ādyudāttāḥ". त्वा (tvā): "tvāmau dvitīyāyāḥ" (Pā. sū. 4-1-23 [as printed, for 8-1-23]): for yuṣmad and asmad in the accusative singular, after a word and not at the beginning of a pāda, the unaccented replacements tvā and mā; so the unaccented tvā for tvām.

Page 590 — Rik 2: grammar (continued)

कण्वाः (kaṇvāḥ): kaṇa śabdārthe; kvan by "aśūpruṣilaṭikaṇikhaṭiviśibhyaḥ kvan" (Uṇ. sū. "1-1-49" [as printed]). There are three roots kaṇa: kaṇa bhāṣārthaḥ, kaṇa gatau, kaṇa nimīlane; the commentators on the Tattvabodhinī and others take the curādi root kaṇa nimīlane here, but the Vedabhāṣyakāra holds that kvan may come after all three. The suffix is nit, so kaṇvāḥ is initial udātta.

अहूषत (ahūṣata): hveñ spardhāyāṃ śabde ca; by "chandasi luṅlaṅliṭaḥ" (Pā. sū. 3-4-6) these lakāras come in any time (past, future, present) when a relation of the root's sense is shown, so luṅ comes after hveñ in the present; hve + l; the ñ is it, so the root is ñit, and by "svaritañitaḥ kartrabhiprāye kriyāphale" (Pā. sū. 1-3-72) the ātmanepada comes when the fruit of the action goes to the agent; 3rd plural jha: hve + jha; cli by "cli luṅi" (Pā. sū. 3-1-43), sic for it by "cleḥ sic" (Pā. sū. 3-1-44): hve + s + jha. Sic is ārdhadhātuka, so "ārdhadhātukasyeḍ valādeḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-2-35) would give iṭ; but hve, ending in a vowel, is not in the kārikā "ūdṛdantaiḥ…", so it is unaccented in upadeśa, and being one-syllabled there, "ekāca upadeśe 'nudāttāt" (Pā. sū. 7-2-10) bars the iṭ. With "hvaḥ samprasāraṇam" (Pā. sū. 6-1-32) carried on, "bahulaṃ chandasi" (Pā. sū. 6-1-34) gives saṃprasāraṇa, u for the v: hu + e + s + jha; "saṃprasāraṇāc ca" (Pā. sū. 6-1-108) gives pūrvarūpa of u and e: hu + s + jha; "halaḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-4-2): the final of a stem ending in a saṃprasāraṇa after a consonant is lengthened: hū + s + jha (this sense of "halaḥ" is given to bar lengthening in utaḥ, nirutam, vidhyati). "ātmanepadeṣv anataḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-1-5): at for the jh: hūs + ata; the augment a by "luṅlaṅlṛṅkṣv aḍ udāttaḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-4-71): ahūs + ata; ṣ for the s by “ādeśapratyayayoḥ” (Pā. sū. 8-3-59): ahūṣata. Though guṇa of the ū would come by “sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ” (Pā. sū. 7-3-84) because of sic, by the paribhāṣā

> सर्वे विधयश्छन्दसि विकल्प्यन्ते
>
> sarve vidhayaśchandasi vikalpyante

(Paribhāṣā 35) it is optional in the Veda and does not come here. Wholly unaccented by “tiṅṅatiṅaḥ”.

गृणन्ति (gṛṇanti): gṝ śabde; “vartamāne laṭ” (Pā. sū. 3-2-123): vartamāne qualifies the sense of the stem; the suffix only marks it: laṭ after a root denoting a present action.

The Bhāṣya has “bhūtabhaviṣyatoḥ pratidvandvī vartamānakālaḥ” (the present is the counterpart of past and future); some define the present as “atītānāgatabhinnakālatvaṃ vartamānakālatvam”, the time other than past and future; others as “prārabdhāparisamāptakriyāśrayatvaṃ kālagataṃ vartamānatvam”, the time that holds an action begun and not finished. By this sūtra laṭ after gṝ: gṝ + l; parasmaipada 3rd plural jhi; ant for jh by “jho ’ntaḥ” (Pā. sū. 7-1-3): gṝ + anti; śnā by “kryādibhyaḥ śnā” (Pā. sū. 3-1-81): gṝ + nā + anti; the root shortened by “pvādīnāṃ hrasvaḥ” (Pā. sū. 7-3-80): gṛ + nā + anti; “śnābhyastayor ātaḥ” (Pā. sū. 6-4-112): before a kit or ṅit suffix the ā of śnā and of a reduplicated stem drops; śnā is ṅit by “sārvadhātukam apit” (Pā. sū. 1-2-4): gṛ + n + anti; ṇ for n by “ṛvarṇāc ceti vaktavyam” (Pā. sū. 8-4-1 vā. 1): gṛṇanti. It follows the tiṅanta ahūṣata, so “tiṅṅatiṅaḥ” does not make it wholly unaccented; tiṅ being a suffix, “ādyudāttaś ca” (Pā. sū. 3-1-3) gives the initial udātta, so the a of anti is udātta.

विप्र (vipra): a vocative; so by “āmantritasya ca” (Pā. sū. “1-19” [as printed, for 8-1-19]) wholly unaccented.

ते (te): with “anudāttaṃ sarvam apādādau” (Pā. sū. 8-1-18) and “padāt” (Pā. sū. “8-11-7” [as printed, for 8-1-17]) carried on, “te mayāv ekavacanasya” (Pā. sū. 8-1-22) gives te and me for yuṣmad and asmad in the genitive singular, after a word and not at the beginning of a pāda, unaccented; so te for tava, unaccented.

देवेभिः (devebhiḥ): no ais by “bahulaṃ chandasi”.

गहि (gahi): gamḷ sṛpḷ gatau; loṭ, 2nd singular sip: gam + si; hi for si by “ser hy apic ca” (Pā. sū. 3-4-87), which by “sārvadhātukam apit” (Pā. sū. 1-2-4) is ṅit; the śap of “kartari śap” is dropped by “bahulaṃ chandasi” (Pā. sū. 2-4-73); “anudāttopadeśavanatitanotyādīnām anunāsikalopo jhali kṅiti” (Pā. sū. 6-4-37) drops the m. “asiddhavad atrābhāt” (Pā. sū. 6-4-22) is said to govern the rules up to the end of this pāda; so when “ato heḥ” (Pā. sū. 6-4-105) would drop the hi, the loss of m by “anudāttopadeśa…” counts as not done, so hi does not stand after a stem ending in a, and is not dropped.

॥२॥

Page 592 (lower) — Sūkta 14, Rik 3

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

इन्द्रवायू बृहस्पतिं मित्राग्निं पूषणं भगम् । आदित्यान्मारुतं गणम् ॥३॥

indravāyū bṛhaspátiṃ mitrā́gniṃ pūṣáṇaṃ bhágam | ādityā́n mā́rutaṃ gaṇám ||3||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

इन्द्रवायू इति । बृहस्पतिम् । मित्रा । अग्निम् । पूषणम् । भगम् ॥ आदित्यान् । मारुतम् । गणम् ॥३॥

indravāyū iti | bṛhaspatim | mitrā | agnim | pūṣaṇam | bhagam || ādityān | mārutam | gaṇam ||3||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

इन्द्रादिदेवान्मारुतं मरुतां वायूनां सम्बन्धिनं गणं च हे अग्ने यक्षीति पदद्वयमनुवर्तते ॥ इन्द्रश्च वायुश्चेन्द्रवायू । देवताद्वन्द्वे च । पा. ६-३-२६ । इति प्राप्तस्यानङ उभयत्र वायोः प्रतिषेधो वक्तव्यः । पा. ६-३-२६-१ । इति प्रतिषेधः । देवताद्वन्द्वे च । पा. ६-२-१४१ । इति प्राप्तस्योभयपदप्रकृतिस्वरस्य नोत्तरपदेऽनुदात्तादौ । पा. ६-२-१४२ । इति निषेधः । समासान्तोदात्तत्वमेव । बृहस्पतिं । तद्बृहतोः करपत्योश्चोरदेवतयोः सुट् तलोपश्च वक्तव्यः । म. ६-१-१५८ । इति तलोपः सुडागमश्च । बृहच्छब्दमाद्युदात्तं केचिद्वर्णयन्तीति वामनः । पा रक्षणे । पातीति पतिः । पातेर्डतिः । उ. ४-५८ । प्रत्ययस्वरेणाद्युदात्तः । समास उभे वनस्पत्यादिषु युगपत् । पा. ६-२-१४० । इत्युभयपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं । मित्रा । द्वितीयायाः सुपां सुलुगित्यादिना विभक्तेराजादेशः । आदित्यान् । अदितेरपत्यान्यादित्याः । दित्यदित्यादित्यपत्युत्तरपदाण्ण्यः । पा. ४-१-८५ । प्रत्ययस्वरः । मारुतं । मरुतां विकारः । अनुदात्तादेश्च । पा. ४-३-१४० । इत्यञ् । ञित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः ॥

indrādidevānmārutaṃ marutāṃ vāyūnāṃ sambandhinaṃ gaṇaṃ ca he agne yakṣīti padadvayamanuvartate || indraśca vāyuścendravāyū | devatādvandve ca | pā. 6-3-26 | iti prāptasyānaṅa ubhayatra vāyoḥ pratiṣedho vaktavyaḥ | pā. 6-3-26-1 | iti pratiṣedhaḥ | devatādvandve ca | pā. 6-2-141 | iti prāptasyobhayapadaprakṛtisvarasya nottarapade 'nudāttādau | pā. 6-2-142 | iti niṣedhaḥ | samāsāntodāttatvameva | bṛhaspatiṃ | tadbṛhatoḥ karapatyoścoradevatayoḥ suṭ talopaśca vaktavyaḥ | ma. 6-1-158 | iti talopaḥ suḍāgamaśca | bṛhacchabdamādyudāttaṃ kecidvarṇayantīti vāmanaḥ | pā rakṣaṇe | pātīti patiḥ | pāterḍatiḥ | u. 4-58 | pratyayasvareṇādyudāttaḥ | samāsa ubhe vanaspatyādiṣu yugapat | pā. 6-2-140 | ityubhayapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ | mitrā | dvitīyāyāḥ supāṃ sulugityādinā vibhakterājādeśaḥ | ādityān | aditerapatyānyādityāḥ | dityadityādityapatyuttarapadāṇṇyaḥ | pā. 4-1-85 | pratyayasvaraḥ | mārutaṃ | marutāṃ vikāraḥ | anudāttādeśca | pā. 4-3-140 | ityañ | ñittvādādyudāttaḥ ||

Translation: “The two words he agne yakṣi (‘O Agni, sacrifice’) are carried on: [sacrifice to] Indra and the other gods, and to mārutaṃ gaṇam, the host belonging to the Maruts, the winds.” (Grammatical tail: indravāyū, “Indra and Vāyu”: the ānaṅ of Pā. 6-3-26 is barred for vāyu by its vārttika (6-3-26-1); the double accent of Pā. 6-2-141 is barred by Pā. 6-2-142, so the compound is final-udātta; bṛhaspatim: loss of t and the augment s by the statement on tad/bṛhat before kara/pati in the sense of thief/deity (MB. "6-1-158" as printed); Vāmana says some take bṛhat as initial-udātta; pati from pā 'to protect' with ḍati (Uṇ. 4-58), initial udātta; both members keep their accents by Pā. 6-2-140; mitrā, ā for the accusative ending by supāṃ suluk...; ādityān, "the sons of Aditi", ṇya by Pā. 4-1-85, the suffix accent; mārutam, "a product of the Maruts", añ by Pā. 4-3-140, initial udātta.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

(O Agni) इन्द्रवायू (indravāyū) — Indra and Vāyu | बृहस्पतिम् (bṛhaspatim) — Bṛhaspati | मित्रा (mitrā) — Mitra | अग्निम् (agnim) — Agni | पूषणम् (pūṣaṇam) — Pūṣan | भगम् (bhagam) — Bhaga | आदित्यान् (ādityān) — the Ādityas | मारुतं गणम् (mārutaṃ gaṇam) — the hosts of the Maruts, having them in view | (yakṣi — sacrifice).

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Agni, sacrifice with these in view: Indra, Vāyu, Bṛhaspati, Mitra, Agni, Pūṣan, Bhaga, the Ādityas (or the gods) and the hosts of the Maruts.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> Sacrifice to Indra, Vayu, Brihaspati, Mitra, Agni, Pushan, Bhaga, the Adityas. [sic] and the hosts of Maruts.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Since this Ṛk has no verb, the Bhāṣyakāra says the words agne yakṣi, "O Agni, sacrifice", are to be supplied. But Agni is in this group too, so it does not seem fitting to address Agni and say "sacrifice to Agni". For this reason the author of the Vedārthayatna supplies the two words ahaṃ hvaye, "I invoke", that is, "I invoke the deities Indra, Vāyu and the rest".

Indravāyū: indraś ca vāyuś ca indravāyū, a devatā-dvandva: the two deities Indra and Vāyu are named by a single word in the dual.

Mitrā: here the word has the sense of the accusative singular.

Ādityān: aditer apatyāny ādityāḥ: the children of Aditi, the mother of the gods, are called Ādityas; it means the gods, or the twelve Ādityas.

Mārutam: the last syllable of the genitive plural mārutām is shortened to suit the metre.

Mārutaṃ gaṇam: the host of the Marut deities. The Purāṇas and other works say there are seven Maruts (the seven Marut hosts). In the Ṛgveda too the word marut is generally used in the plural. Mārutaṃ gaṇam means the group, the host of the Marut deities.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 594–596, noted briefly)

इन्द्रवायू (indravāyū): indraś ca vāyuś ca, a dvandva. By "devatādvandve ca" (Pā. sū. 6-3-26), in a dvandva of words denoting deities, the first member before the second takes the replacement ānaṅ; indra and vāyu denote deities, so ānaṅ would come for indra before vāyu; but by the vārttika "ubhayatra vāyoḥ pratiṣedho vaktavyaḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-3-26-1), whether vāyu is the first or the second member, ānaṅ is barred in that dvandva. By "devatādvandve ca" (Pā. sū. 6-2-141) both members of a deity dvandva keep their own accents at once: indra ends in the suffix ran and is initial udātta; vāyu ends in uṇ and is final udātta by the suffix accent. But "nottarapade 'nudāttādāv apṛthivīrudrapūṣamanthiṣu" (Pā. sū. 6-2-142) bars that accent when the second member, other than pṛthivī and the rest, begins with an unaccented syllable; so the double accent does not come; by "samāsasya" (Pā. sū. 6-1-223) the compound is final udātta, and the other syllables are unaccented by the śeṣanighāta.

बृहस्पतिम् (bṛhaspatim): bṛhatī means speech; bṛhatyāḥ patiḥ bṛhaspatiḥ. For bṛhatī before pati, by "kukkuṭyādīnām aṇḍādiṣu" (Pā. sū. 6-3-42-1 vā.) the puṃvadbhāva comes (feminines like kukkuṭī before aṇḍa and the like), and the ṅīp goes: bṛhat + pati. Then "tadbṛhatoḥ karapatyoś coradevatayoḥ suṭ talopaś ca" ("ga. sū. 6-1-158" [as printed]): for tad and bṛhat before kara and pati, the d/t drops and kara/pati take the augment suṭ; suṭ is ṭit, so by "ādyantau ṭakitau" (Pā. sū. 1-1-46) it comes at the beginning of pati: bṛhaspati. The Mahābhāṣyakāra has rejected the reading "kukkuṭyādīnām aṇḍādiṣu" on that view the analysis is bṛhataḥ vāksamūhasya patiḥ. The analysis bṛhatyāḥ patiḥ follows the Chandoga-brāhmaṇa vāg vai bṛhatī, tasyā eṣa patiḥ. Vāmana holds that some say bṛhat is initial udātta; so bṛhat is initial udātta. Pā rakṣaṇe: pātīti patiḥ (the protector); "pāter ḍatiḥ" (Uṇ. sū. 4-58): the suffix ḍati after pā: pā + ati; since the suffix is ḍit, the ā (the ṭi) of pā drops: p + ati = pati. By the suffix accent "ādyudāttaś ca" (Pā. sū. 3-1-3) it is initial udātta; when the two are compounded, "ubhe vanaspatyādiṣu yugapat" (Pā. sū. 6-2-140) keeps the own accent of both members. The a of bṛhat takes the anudāttatara accent by "udāttasvaritaparasya sannataraḥ" (Pā. sū. 1-2-40).

Page 595 — Rik 3: grammar (continued)

मित्रा (mitrā): mitra is final udātta by the stem accent; accusative singular am; "supāṃ suluk…" (Pā. sū. 7-1-39) gives āc for it: mitra + ā, lengthening of like vowels; the single replacement is udātta by "ekādeśa udāttenodāttaḥ" (Pā. sū. 8-2-5).

आदित्यान् (ādityān): aditeḥ apatyāni pumāṃsaḥ ādityāḥ. "dityadityādityapatyuttarapadāṇ ṇyaḥ" (Pā. sū. 4-1-85): in the senses beginning with apatya set out in the Aṣṭādhyāyī from this sūtra to "tena dīvyati khanati jayati jitam" (Pā. sū. 4-4-2), the suffix ṇya comes after diti, aditi, āditya and words with pati as the second member; so ṇya after the genitive of aditi: aditi + jas [as printed, for ṅas] + ya; ending in a taddhita, it is a prātipadika, the ending is dropped: aditi + ya; the i drops by "yasyeti ca" (Pā. sū. 6-4-148); initial vṛddhi by "taddhiteṣv acām ādeḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-2-117): āditya. It is final udātta by the suffix accent; accusative plural śas, pūrvasavarṇa-dīrgha, n for the s by "tasmāc chaso naḥ puṃsi" (Pā. sū. 6-1-103); the single replacement is udātta: ādityān.

मारुतम् (mārutam): "mṛgror utiḥ" (Uṇ. sū. 1-94): after mṛṅ prāṇatyāge and gṝ nigaraṇe the suffix uti: mṛ + uti, guṇa and raparatva; the u is udātta by the suffix accent and the a unaccented by the śeṣanighāta, so marut begins with an unaccented syllable. Marutāṃ vikāraḥ: by "anudāttādeś ca" (Pā. sū. 4-1-84 [as printed, for 4-3-140]), after the genitive of a word beginning with an unaccented syllable, in the senses of product and part, the suffix añ: marut + a, initial vṛddhi: māruta. The suffix is ñit, so by "ñnityādir nityam" (Pā. sū. 6-1-197) māruta is initial udātta.

Page 596 — Rik 3: grammar (end)

॥३॥

---

Page 596 (lower) — Sūkta 14, Rik 4

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

प्र वो᳡ भ्रियन्त इन्द॑वो मत्स॒रा मा॑दयि॒ष्णव॑: । द्र॒प्सा मध्व॑श्चमू॒षद॑: ॥४॥

prá vo bhriyanta índavo matsarā mādayiṣṇávaḥ | drapsā mádhvaś camūṣádaḥ ||4||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

प्र । वः । भ्रियन्ते । इन्दवः । मत्सराः । मादयिष्णवः ॥ द्रप्साः । मध्वः । चमूऽसदः ॥४॥

pra | vaḥ | bhriyante | indavaḥ | matsarāḥ | mādayiṣṇavaḥ || drapsāḥ | madhvaḥ | camū 'sadaḥ ||4||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे इन्द्रादिदेवा वो युष्मदर्थमिन्दवः सोमाः प्र भ्रियन्ते । प्रकर्षेण सम्पाद्यन्ते । कीदृशाः । मत्सरास्तृप्तिकराः । मत्सरः सोमो मन्दतेस्तृप्तिकर्मणः । नि. २-५ । इति यास्कः । मादयिष्णवो हर्षहेतवो द्रप्सा बिन्दुरूपा मध्वो मधुराश्चमूषदश्चमूषु चमसादिपात्रेष्ववस्थिताः ॥ प्र । व्यवहिताश्च । पा. १-४-८२ । इति व्यवहितप्रयोगः । भ्रियन्ते । भृञो यकि रिङ् शयग्लिङ्क्षु । पा. ७-४-२८ । इति रिङादेशः । हृञो वा । ह्रग्रहोर्भश्छन्दसीति हकारस्य भकारः । इन्दवः । उन्दी क्लेदने । उन्दन्ति पात्राणीति । नित्यनुवृत्तावुन्देरिच्चादेः । उ. १-१२ । इत्युप्रत्यय आदेरिकारश्च । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । मत्सराः । मद तृप्तियोगे । चिदित्यनुवृत्तौ कृधूमदिभ्यः कित् । उ. ३-७३ । इति सरप्रत्ययः । तितुत्रतथसिसुसरकसेषु चेतीट्प्रतिषेधः । चित्त्वादन्तोदात्तः । मादयिष्णवः । मदी हर्षग्लपनयोः । मदेर्ण्यन्ताच्छन्दसि । पा. ३-२-१३८ । इतीष्णुच् । णेरनिटीति णिलोपे प्राप्तेऽयामन्ताल्वाय्येत्न्विष्णुषु । पा. ६-४-५५ । इत्ययादेशः । चित्त्वादन्तोदात्तः । मध्वः । मधुशब्द आद्युदात्त उक्तः । मधुशब्दस्य व्यत्ययेन पुंलिङ्गत्वं । संज्ञापूर्वको विधिरनि-

he indrādidevā vo yuṣmadarthamindavaḥ somāḥ pra bhriyante | prakarṣeṇa sampādyante | kīdṛśāḥ | matsarāstṛptikarāḥ | matsaraḥ somo mandatestṛptikarmaṇaḥ | ni. 2-5 | iti yāskaḥ | mādayiṣṇavo harṣahetavo drapsā

bindurūpā madhvo madhurāścamūṣadaścamūṣu camasādipātreṣvavasthitāḥ || pra | vyavahitāśca | pā. 1-4-82 | iti vyavahitaprayogaḥ | bhriyante | bhṛño yaki riṅ śayagliṅkṣu | pā. 7-4-28 | iti riṅādeśaḥ | hṛño vā | hṛgrahorbhaśchandasīti hakārasya bhakāraḥ | indavaḥ | undī kledane | undanti pātrāṇīti | nityanuvṛttāvundericcādeḥ | u. 1-12 | ityupratyaya āderikāraśca | nittvādādyudāttaḥ | matsarāḥ | mada tṛptiyoge | cidityanuvṛttau kṛdhūmadibhyaḥ kit | u. 3-73 | iti sarapratyayaḥ | titutratathasisusarakaseṣu cetīṭpratiṣedhaḥ | cittvādantodāttaḥ | mādayiṣṇavaḥ | madī harṣaglapanayoḥ | maderṇyantācchandasi | pā. 3-2-138 | itīṣṇuc | ṇeraniṭīti ṇilope prāpte 'yāmantālvāyyetnviṣṇuṣu | pā. 6-4-55 | ityayādeśaḥ | cittvādantodāttaḥ | madhvaḥ | madhuśabda ādyudātta uktaḥ | madhuśabdasya vyatyayena puṃliṅgatvaṃ | saṃjñāpūrvako vidhirani-

Page 597 — Rik 4: bhāṣya (end), word-meanings, overall sense, English, Special Topics

-त्य इति जसि च । पा. ७-३-१०९ । इति गुणो न भवति । चमूषदः । चमु छमु जमु झमु अदने । चम्यते भक्ष्यते येषु चमसेषु ते चम्वः । कृषिचमीत्यादिना । उ. १-८२ । ऊः । तत्र सीदन्तीति चमूषदः । सत्सूद्विषेत्यादिना । पा. ३-२-६१ । क्विप् । सुषामादेराकृतिगणत्वात्षत्वं । कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं ॥

-tya iti jasi ca | pā. 7-3-109 | iti guṇo na bhavati | camūṣadaḥ | camu chamu jamu jhamu adane | camyate bhakṣyate yeṣu camaseṣu te camvaḥ | kṛṣicamītyādinā | u. 1-82 | ūḥ | tatra sīdantīti camūṣadaḥ | satsūdviṣetyādinā | pā. 3-2-61 | kvip | suṣāmāderākṛtigaṇatvātṣatvaṃ | kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ ||

Translation: "O Indra and the other gods, for you the indavaḥ, the soma juices, pra bhriyante, are well prepared. Of what kind? Matsarāḥ, causing satisfaction ('matsara is soma, from mand, a root of satisfaction', Yāska, Ni. 2-5); mādayiṣṇavaḥ, causes of delight; drapsāḥ, in the form of drops; madhvaḥ, sweet; camūṣadaḥ, resting in the camūs, the vessels such as the camasa." (Grammatical tail: pra separated from its verb by Pā. 1-4-82; bhriyante, riṅ by Pā. 7-4-28, or from hṛ with bh for h in the Veda; indavaḥ from und with u and i for the initial (Uṇ. 1-12), initial udātta; matsarāḥ from mad with sara (Uṇ. 3-73), no iṭ, final udātta (cit); mādayiṣṇavaḥ with iṣṇuc (Pā. 3-2-138), ay for the ṇi (Pā. 6-4-55), final udātta; madhvaḥ, madhu masculine by vyatyaya, no guṇa before jas (Pā. 7-3-109) by the paribhāṣā saṃjñāpūrvako vidhir anityaḥ; camūṣadaḥ, camū (Uṇ. 1-82) + sad with kvip (Pā. 3-2-61), ṣ by the suṣāmādi class, the accent of the kṛt second member.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

(O Indra and the other deities) वः (vaḥ) — for you | मत्सराः (matsarāḥ) — giving satisfaction | मादयिष्णवः (mādayiṣṇavaḥ) — giving delight | द्रप्साः (drapsāḥ) — in the form of drops | मध्वः (madhvaḥ) — sweet | चमूषदः (camūṣadaḥ) — that are in the camasa vessels | इन्दवः (indavaḥ) — the soma juices | प्र भ्रियन्ते (pra bhriyante) — are being well prepared.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Indra and the other gods, for you the soma juices, sweet, giving you delight and satisfaction, in the form of drops, are being gathered, or prepared.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

For you (gods) are poured out these (soma) jnices [sic], satisfying, exhilarat-ing› [sic] sweet, falling in drops or standing in the cup.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Matsarāḥ:

सोमो मन्दतेस्तृप्तिकर्मणः

somo mandatestṛptikarmaṇaḥ

(Ni. 2-5.) Since it causes delight, the soma juice is called matsara.

Mādayiṣṇavaḥ: the word is formed from the root madī harṣaglapanayoḥ, and means "causing delight".

Drapsāḥ: bindurūpāḥ, in the form of drops: when the soma creeper is crushed and pressed, the juice trickles and falls drop by drop, so it is called drop-like.

Camūṣadaḥ:

चम्यते भक्ष्यते येषु चमसेषु ते चम्वः

camyate bhakṣyate yeṣu camaseṣu te camvaḥ

("the camasas in which it is eaten are the camūs"): that are in the sacrificial vessel called camasa. The vessel for eating or drinking is called camasa; that is the derivation of the word. The soma juice in such a vessel.

Page 598 — Rik 4: grammar

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 598–599, noted briefly)

प्र (pra): by "vyavahitāś ca" (Pā. sū. 1-4-82) the upasargas may be used separated from the verb in the Veda, so it is used separated here.

भ्रियन्ते (bhriyante): bhṛ bharaṇe or ḍubhṛñ dhāraṇapoṣaṇayoḥ; laṭ in the passive; by "bhāvakarmaṇoḥ" (Pā. sū. 1-3-13) the ātmanepada for a lakāra in the impersonal or passive sense; 3rd plural jha: bhṛ + jha; "sārvadhātuke yak" (Pā. sū. 3-1-67) gives yak before a sārvadhātuka in those senses: bhṛ + ya + jha; e for the ṭi by "ṭita ātmanepadānāṃ ṭere" (Pā. sū. 3-4-79); ant for jh by "jho 'ntaḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-1-3): bhṛ + ya + ante; "riṅ śayagliṅkṣu" (Pā. sū. 7-4-28): before śa, yak and a y-initial ārdhadhātuka liṅ, riṅ for a short ṛ: bhriyante; yak is kit, so no guṇa. Or from hṛñ haraṇe in the passive, hriyante as above, and bh for h by "hṛgrahor bhaś chandasi" (Pā. sū. 8-2-32-1): bhriyante.

इन्दवः (indavaḥ): undī kledane; undanti pātrāṇi (they wet the vessels): indavaḥ. "under ic cādeḥ" (Uṇ. sū. 1-12): the suffix u after und, nit, and i for the initial u: indu; initial udātta (nit).

मत्सराः (matsarāḥ): mada tṛptiyoge (curādi); "kṛdhūmadibhyaḥ kit" (Uṇ. sū. "3-73" [?]; ḍukṛñ karaṇe, dhūñ kampane, mada tṛptiyoge): the suffix sara, kit and cit. Though ārdhadhātuka, it takes no iṭ by "titutratathasisusarakaseṣu ca" (Pā. sū. 7-2-9); final udātta by "citaḥ".

मादयिष्णवः (mādayiṣṇavaḥ): madī harṣaglapanayoḥ; ṇic by “hetumati ca” (Pā. sū. 3-1-26); “ṇeś chandasi” (Pā. sū. 3-2-138 [as printed]) gives iṣṇuc in the Veda after a ṇic-ending root in the senses of habit and the like: mad + i + iṣṇu; “ṇer aniṭi” (Pā. sū. 6-4-51) would drop the ṇi, but “ayāmantālvāyyetnviṣṇuṣu” (Pā. sū. 6-4-55) gives ay for ṇi before ām, anta, ālu, āyya, itnu, iṣṇu: mad + ay + iṣṇu; vṛddhi of the penultimate; nominative plural mādayiṣṇavaḥ; final udātta by the cit accent.

Page 599 — Rik 4: grammar (end)

मध्वः (madhvaḥ): in Sūkta 13, Ṛk 2 the word madhu was said to be initial udātta. Madhu is neuter, but here masculine by vyatyaya. Before jas, “jasi ca” (Pā. sū. 7-3-109) would give guṇa to an ik-final stem; but it comes naming the technical term guṇa, so by “saṃjñāpūrvako vidhir anityaḥ” (paribhāṣā 93) it is optional, and does not come here.

चमूषदः (camūṣadaḥ): camu chamu jamu jhamu adane; “kṛṣicamitanidhanisarjikharjibhya ūḥ” (Uṇ. sū. “1-81” [?]; kṛṣa vilekhane, camu adane, tanu vistāre, dhana dhānye, sarja sarjane, kharja vyathane) gives ū after cam: camū; camyate bhakṣyate yeṣu camaseṣu te (the vessels in which it is eaten); camvaḥ camūṣu sīdantīti camūṣadaḥ.
“satsūdviṣadruhaduhayujavidabhidacchidajinīrājām upasarge ’pi kvip” (Pā. sū. 3-2-61): after ṣadḷ viśaraṇādau, ṣūṅ prāṇigarbhavimocane, dviṣa aprītau, druha jighāṃsāyām, duha prapūraṇe, yujir yoge, yuja samādhau, vida jñāne, vida vicāraṇe, vida sattāyām, chidir dvaidhīkaraṇe, bhidir vidāraṇe, ji jaye, ṇīñ prāpaṇe, rājṛ dīptau, with or without an upasarga, when there is a suitable upapada, kvip comes; so kvip after sad with the upapada camū: camūsad; by “suṣāmādiṣu ca” (Pā. sū. 8-3-98) the s of words in the suṣāmādi class becomes ṣ; that class is an ākṛtigaṇa, and this word belongs to it. By “gatikārakopapadāt kṛt” (Pā. sū. 6-2-139) the kṛt second member keeps its accent, final udātta by the root accent; jas after it is unaccented and becomes svarita by “udāttād anudāttasya”.

॥४॥

---

Page 599 (lower) — Sūkta 14, Rik 5

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

ईळ॑ते त्वाम॑वस्यव॒: कण्वा॑सो वृ॒क्तब॑र्हिषः । ह॒विष्म॑न्तो अ॒रंकृ॑तः ॥५॥ [accent ?]

īḷate tvā́m avasyávaḥ káṇvāso vṛktábarhiṣaḥ | havíṣmanto araṃkṛ́taḥ ||5||
[accent ?]

(Line 2: the bars at the foot of the page are faint; the stroke stands over क्/त:, read as over त:.)

Page 600 — Rik 5: Pada, bhāṣya, word-meanings, overall sense

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

ईळते । त्वाम् । अवस्यवः । कण्वासः । वृक्तऽबर्हिषः ॥ हविष्मन्तः । अरम्ऽकृतः ॥५॥

īḷate | tvām | avasyavaḥ | kaṇvāsaḥ | vṛkta 'barhiṣaḥ || haviṣmantaḥ | aram 'kṛtaḥ || 5||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे अग्ने त्वामीळते । ऋत्विजः स्तुवन्ति । कीदृशाः । अवस्यवः । अवनं रक्षणं तद्धेतून्देवानिच्छन्तः । कण्वासो मेधाविनो वृक्तबर्हिष आस्तरणार्थं छिन्नदर्भा हविष्मन्तो हविर्युक्ता अरंकृतो ऽलंकर्तारः ॥ ईळते । ईड स्तुतौ । अनुदात्तेत्त्वाल्लटो झः । अदिप्रभृतिभ्यः शप इति शपो लुक् । झस्यादादेशः । टेरेत्वं । तास्यनुदात्तेदित्यादिना लसार्वधातुकस्यानुदात्तत्वाद्धातुस्वर एव शिष्यते । अवस्यवः । अवन्तीत्यवा देवाः । तानतिशयेनेच्छन्ति । सुप आत्मनः क्यच् । क्यचि च । पा. ७-४-३३ । इतीत्वं न भवति । न छन्दस्यपुत्रस्य । पा. ७-४-३५ । इति निषेधात् । सर्वप्रातिपदिकेभ्यो लालसायां सुग्वक्तव्यः । म. ७-१-५१-२ । इति सुक् । क्याच्छन्दसीत्युप्रत्ययः । अतो लोपः । प्रत्ययस्वरेणान्तोदात्तत्वं । कण्वासः । कण शब्दार्थः । कणन्ति ध्वनन्ति स्तोत्रादिपाठेनेति कण्वा ऋत्विजः । अशिप्रुषीत्यादिना क्वन् । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । आज्ञसेरसुक् । पा. ७-१-५० । इत्यसुक् । वृक्तबर्हिषः । वृक्तमुक्तं । बहुव्रीहौ पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं । हविष्मन्तः । हविरेषामस्तीति हविष्मन्तः । तसौ मत्वर्थ इति भत्वेनापदत्वान्न रुत्वं । अरंकृतः । अलंकुर्वन्तीत्यरंकृतः । क्विप्चेति क्विप् । ह्रस्वस्य तुक् । कपिलकादीनां संज्ञाछन्दसोर्वा लो रत्वमापद्यते । पा. ८-२-१८-३ । इति लकारस्य रेफादेशः ॥

he agne tvāmīḷate | ṛtvijaḥ stuvanti | kīdṛśāḥ | avasyavaḥ | avanaṃ rakṣaṇaṃ taddhetūndevānicchantaḥ | kaṇvāso medhāvino vṛktabarhiṣa āstaraṇārthaṃ chinnadarbhā haviṣmanto haviryuktā araṃkṛto 'laṃkartāraḥ || īḷate | īḍa stutau | anudāttettvāllaṭo jhaḥ | adiprabhṛtibhyaḥ śapa iti śapo luk | jhasyādādeśaḥ | ṭeretvaṃ | tāsyanudāttedityādinā lasārvadhātukasyānudāttatvāddhātusvara eva śiṣyate | avasyavaḥ | avantītyavā devāḥ | tānatiśayenecchanti | supa ātmanaḥ kyac | kyaci ca | pā. 7-4-33 | itītvaṃ na bhavati | na chandasyaputrasya | pā. 7-4-35 | iti niṣedhāt | sarvaprātipadikebhyo lālasāyāṃ sugvaktavyaḥ | ma. 7-1-51-2 | iti suk | kyācchandasītyupratyayaḥ | ato lopaḥ | pratyayasvareṇāntodāttatvaṃ | kaṇvāsaḥ | kaṇa śabdārthaḥ | kaṇanti dhvananti stotrādipāṭheneti kaṇvā ṛtvijaḥ | aśipruṣītyādinā kvan | nittvādādyudāttaḥ | ājjaserasuk | pā. 7-1-50 | ityasuk | vṛktabarhiṣaḥ | vṛktamuktaṃ | bahuvrīhau pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ | haviṣmantaḥ | havireṣāmastīti haviṣmantaḥ | tasau matvartha iti bhatvenāpadatvānna rutvaṃ | araṃkṛtaḥ | alaṃkurvantītyaraṃkṛtaḥ | kvipceti kvip | hrasvasya tuk | kapilakādīnāṃ saṃjñāchandasorvā lo ratvamāpadyate | pā. 8-2-18-3 | iti lakārasya rephādeśaḥ ||

Translation: "O Agni, the priests īḷate, praise, you. What are they like? Avasyavaḥ: desiring the gods, who are the cause of avana, protection; kaṇvāsaḥ, wise; vṛktabarhiṣaḥ, having cut the darbha for spreading; haviṣmantaḥ, having the oblation; araṅkṛtaḥ, adorners." (Grammatical tail: īḷate from īḍ, ātmanepada (anudātta-marked root), śap dropped, at for jh, e for the ṭi, the root accent; avasyavaḥ: avāḥ are the gods, who protect, "they desire them greatly": kyac, no ī (Pā. 7-4-33 barred by Pā. 7-4-35), the augment s by the vārttika on lālasā (MB 7-1-51-2), u by kyāc chandasi, the a dropped, final udātta; kaṇvāsaḥ from kaṇ with kvan, initial udātta, asuk by Pā. 7-1-50; vṛktabarhiṣaḥ, a bahuvrīhi, first-member accent; haviṣmantaḥ, no ru (bha status); araṅkṛtaḥ with kvip, tuk, and r for the l of alam by the vārttika on kapilakādi (Pā. 8-2-18-3).)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

(O Agni) अवस्यवः (avasyavaḥ) — seeking the help of the gods who protect | वृक्तबर्हिषः (vṛkta-barhiṣaḥ) — having darbha made ready (for the seat) | हविष्मन्तः (haviṣmantaḥ) — holding the oblation | अरंकृतः (araṅkṛtaḥ) — offering ornaments | कण्वासः (kaṇvāsaḥ) — the priests, who are wise, or of the line of the ṛṣi Kaṇva | त्वाम् (tvām) — you | ईळते (īḷate) — praise.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Agni, the priests seek the help of the gods for the protection of their sacrifice. They are skilled at praising. It is you who call the gods, so they now praise you. They have made the darbha ready for your seat. They offer the oblation and ornaments. Be gracious and come.

Page 601 — Rik 5: English, Special Topics, grammar

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> O Agni, the Kanvas (or the wise priests) desirous of your favour, having spread the sacrificial grass and carrying the oblations and ornaments are praising you.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Avasyavaḥ:

> अवनं रक्षणं तद्धेतून् देवानिच्छन्तः । अवन्तीत्यवा देवाः ॥
>
> avanaṃ rakṣaṇaṃ taddhetūn devānicchantaḥ | avantītyavā devāḥ ||

Since they protect men, the gods are called avāḥ; those who look to those gods are called avasyavaḥ.

Kaṇvāsaḥ: the plural of the word kaṇva; kaṇvāsaḥ is the old form of kaṇvāḥ.

> कणन्ति ध्वनन्ति स्तोत्रादिपाठेनेति कण्वा ऋत्विजो मेधाविनः ॥
>
> kaṇanti dhvananti stotrādipāṭheneti kaṇvā ṛtvijo medhāvinaḥ ||

Since they recite hymns and the like aloud, the priests are called kaṇvāḥ. The Bhāṣyakāra gives the word the sense medhāvinaḥ, the wise. Besides the sense that comes from the derivation of its parts, another sense can be given: since the ṛṣi of this Ṛk is of the Kaṇva line, it is fitting to say that, speaking of the priests, sacrificers and others of his line, he used the word kaṇvāsaḥ with the sense "we of the line of the ṛṣi Kaṇva" in mind.

Vṛktabarhiṣaḥ: we have given the explanation of this word on page "25" [?].

Araṅkṛtaḥ: for the explanation of this word see Ṛ. Saṃ. Part 1, page "677" [?].

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 601–603, noted briefly)

ईळते (īḷate): īḍa stutau, anudāttet, so the ātmanepada by "anudāttaṅita ātmanepadam" (Pā. sū. 1-3-12); 3rd plural jha; the śap of "kartari śap" is dropped by "adiprabhṛtibhyaḥ śapaḥ" (Pā. sū. 2-4-72); at for the jh by "ātmanepadeṣv anataḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-1-5); e for the ṭi by "ṭita ātmanepadānāṃ ṭere” (Pā. sū. 3-4-79); ḷ for the ḍ of īḍate by “dvayoś cāsya svarayoḥ”; by “tāsyanudāttenṅidadupadeśāl lasārvadhātukam anudāttam ahnviṅoḥ” (Pā. sū. 6-1-186) the sārvadhātuka ate standing for the lakāra is unaccented, and the root accent remains.

अवस्यवः (avasyavaḥ): avanti rakṣanti ity avāḥ = devāḥ; ava rakṣaṇe with ac; avān atiśayena icchanti. “supa ātmanaḥ kyac” (Pā. sū. 3-1-8) gives kyac.

Page 602 — Rik 5: grammar (continued)

“na chandasy aputrasya” (Pā. sū. 7-4-35) bars in the Veda the ī and the lengthening before kyac for a-final words other than putra; so neither “kyaci ca” (Pā. sū. 7-4-33, ī for a before kyac) nor, by the same bar, the lengthening of “akṛtsārvadhātukayoḥ” (Pā. sū. “7-4-2?” [?]) comes. “sarvaprātipadikebhyo lālasāyāṃ sug vaktavyaḥ” (Pā. sū. 7-1-51 vā. 2): when eagerness is shown, all stems before kyac take the augment suk: avas + ya; “kyāc chandasi” (Pā. sū. 3-2-170): kya covers kyac, kyaṅ and kyaṣ alike; after a kya-ending root the suffix u comes in the Veda in the senses of habit and the like, so the Kāśikākāra holds; some hold that by the force of the explanation the word kya also takes in the kaṇḍvādi yak. With u: avasya + u; “ato lopaḥ” (Pā. sū. 6-4-48) drops the a: avasyu; final udātta by the suffix accent; nominative plural avasyavaḥ.

कण्वासः (kaṇvāsaḥ): kaṇa śabdārthaḥ; kaṇanti dhvananti stotrādipāṭhena (they make sound by reciting hymns and the like) iti kaṇvāḥ ṛtvijaḥ. “aśūpruṣilaṭikaṇikhaṭiviśibhyaḥ kvan” (Uṇ. sū. 1-149) gives kvan after kaṇ; then jas, and “ājjaser asuk” (Pā. sū. 7-1-50) gives the augment as: kaṇvāsaḥ.

वृक्तबर्हिषः (vṛktabarhiṣaḥ): the formation of vṛkta is set out in Sū. “12” [?] Ṛk 3; vṛkta is final udātta by the suffix accent. Vṛktāni barhīṃṣi yeṣāṃ te: a bahuvrīhi; by “bahuvrīhau prakṛtyā pūrvapadam” (Pā. sū. 6-2-1) the first member keeps its accent.

हविष्मन्तः (haviṣmantaḥ): haviḥ eṣām asti iti; matup after havis by “tad asyāsty asminn iti matup” (Pā. sū. 5-2-94); ṣ for the s by “ādeśapratyayayoḥ” (Pā. sū. 8-3-59); jas; num by “ugidacāṃ sarvanāmasthāne ’dhātoḥ” (Pā. sū. 7-1-70); havis is bha by “tasau matvarthe” (Pā. sū. 1-4-19), which bars the pada status, so the s does not become ru.

अरंकृतः (araṅkṛtaḥ): alaṃkurvanti ity araṅkṛtaḥ; with the subanta alam as upapada, kvip after kṛñ by “kvip ca” (Pā. sū. 3-2-76),

Page 603 — Rik 5: grammar (end)

and the kvip drops. By pratyayalakṣaṇa the kvip still counts as following, so “hrasvasya piti kṛti tuk” (Pā. sū. 6-1-71) gives the augment tuk, which, being kit, comes at the end by “ādyantau ṭakitau” (Pā. sū. 1-1-46). “kapilakādīnāṃ saṃjñāchandasor vā lo ratvam āpadyate” (Pā. sū. ma. 8-2-18): in names and in the Veda the l of words in the kapilakādi class becomes r optionally, so the l of alam becomes r; kapilakādi is an ākṛtigaṇa, and alam belongs to it. The Mahābhāṣya here has

> वालमूललघ्वलमङ्गुलीनां वा लो रत्वमापद्यते
>
> vālamūlalaghvalamaṅgulīnāṃ vā lo ratvamāpadyate

(MB 8-2-18-2): the l of vāla, mūla, laghu, alam, aṅguli becomes r optionally; examples: aśvavāraḥ/aśvavālaḥ, mūradevaḥ/māladevaḥ, laghusyadaḥ/raghusyadaḥ, alambhaktāya/arambhaktāya, svaṅguliḥ/svaṅguriḥ; and then the statement saṃjñāchandasor vā kapilakādīnām, with the examples kapirakaḥ/kapilakaḥ, tilvilikam/tirvirikam, kalmaṣam/karmaṣam, romāṇi/lomāni, pāṃsulam/pāṃsuram, karma/kalma, śukraḥ/śuklaḥ. The Kaiyaṭakāra says kapilakādiṣu vāraśyalaḥ: for the r of the kapilakādi words l comes optionally. On this the Uddyota has

> पूर्ववाक्येन लस्य रत्वं प्रोक्तम् अनेन रस्य लो वेत्यर्थः
>
> pūrvavākyena lasya ratvaṃ proktam anena rasya lo vetyarthaḥ that is, by the earlier statement vāla-mūla… the r for the l is laid down optionally, and by this statement the l for the r optionally. So, following the reading of Kaiyaṭa and the Uddyotakāra, it is fitting to say that here the r for the l comes by vālamūla….

॥५॥

---

Page 603 (lower) — Sūkta 14, Rik 6

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. The print has देवान्त्सोम; the grammar on p. 607 says that by its derivation the mantra should read देवान्थ्सोम.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

घृतपृ॑ष्ठा मनो॒युजो॒ ये त्वा॒ वह॑न्ति॒ वह्न॑यः । आ दे॒वान्त्सोम॑पीतये ॥६॥

ghṛtápṛṣṭhā manoyújo yé tvā váhanti váhnayaḥ | ā devā́nt sómapītaye ||6||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

घृतऽपृष्ठाः । मनःऽयुजः । ये । त्वा । वहन्ति । वह्नयः ॥ आ । देवान् । सोमऽपीतये ॥६॥

ghṛta 'pṛṣṭhāḥ | manaḥ 'yujaḥ | ye | tvā | vahanti | vahnayaḥ || ā | devān | soma 'pītaye ||6||

Page 604 — Rik 6: bhāṣya, word-meanings, overall sense, English

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे अग्ने त्वा त्वां ये ऽश्वा रथेन वहन्ति । कीदृशाः । घृतपृष्ठाः । पुष्टाङ्गत्वेन दीप्तपृष्ठा मनोयुजो मनःसंकल्पमात्रेण रथे युज्यमाना वह्नयो वोढारः । तैरश्वैः सोमपीतये सोमपानयागार्थं देवाना वहेति शेषः ॥ घृतपृष्ठाः । घृ क्षरणदीप्त्योः । घृतं दीप्तं पृष्ठं येषां ते घृतपृष्ठाः । घृतशब्दः प्रत्ययस्वरेणान्तोदात्तः । बहुव्रीहौ पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं । मनसा युञ्जत इति मनोयुजः । ऋत्विग्दधृगित्यादिना क्विन् । कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं । त्वा । त्वामौ द्वितीयाया इत्यनुदात्तस्त्वादेशः । वहन्ति । शप्तिपोरनुदात्तत्वाद्धातुस्वरः । यद्वृत्तयोगान्निघाताभावः । वह्नयः । निरित्यनुवृत्तौ वहिश्रिश्रुयुद्रुग्लाहात्वरिभ्यो नित् । उ. ४-५१ । इति निप्रत्ययः । तस्य नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वं । सोमपीतये ।

उक्तं । सकारे परतो नकारस्य संहितायां नश्च । पा. ८-३-३० । इति धुडागमः । खरि च । पा. ८-४-५५ । इति चर्त्वं । चयो द्वितीयाः शरि पौष्करसादेः । पा. ८-४-४८-३ । इति द्वितीयस्थकारः ॥ २६ ॥

he agne tvā tvāṃ ye 'śvā rathena vahanti | kīdṛśāḥ | ghṛtapṛṣṭhāḥ | puṣṭāṅgatvena dīptapṛṣṭhā manoyujo manaḥsaṃkalpamātreṇa rathe yujyamānā vahnayo voḍhāraḥ | tairaśvaiḥ somapītaye somapānayāgārthaṃ devānā vaheti śeṣaḥ || ghṛtapṛṣṭhāḥ | ghṛ kṣaraṇadīptyoḥ | ghṛtaṃ dīptaṃ pṛṣṭhaṃ yeṣāṃ te ghṛtapṛṣṭhāḥ | ghṛtaśabdaḥ pratyayasvareṇāntodāttaḥ | bahuvrīhau pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ | manasā yuñjata iti manoyujaḥ | ṛtvigdadhṛgityādinā kvin | kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ | tvā | tvāmau dvitīyāyā ityanudāttastvādeśaḥ | vahanti | śaptiporanudāttatvāddhātusvaraḥ | yadvṛttayogānnighātābhāvaḥ | vahnayaḥ | nirityanuvṛttau vahiśriśruyudruglāhātvaribhyo nit | u. 4-51 | iti nipratyayaḥ | tasya nittvādādyudāttatvaṃ | somapītaye | uktaṃ | sakāre parato nakārasya saṃhitāyāṃ naśca | pā. 8-3-30 | iti dhuḍāgamaḥ | khari ca | pā. 8-4-55 | iti cartvaṃ | cayo dvitīyāḥ śari pauṣkarasādeḥ | pā. 8-4-48-3 | iti dvitīyasthakāraḥ || 26 ||

Translation: "O Agni, the horses that draw you by chariot: what are they like? Ghṛtapṛṣṭhāḥ, with shining backs, being well fed; manoyujaḥ, yoked to the chariot by a mere resolve of the mind; vahnayaḥ, bearers: with those horses bring the gods for the somapīti, the sacrifice with the drinking of soma; 'bring' is understood." (Grammatical tail: ghṛtapṛṣṭhāḥ, "whose back is ghṛta, shining", from ghṛ 'to shine', ghṛta final udātta, a bahuvrīhi with the first-member accent; manoyujaḥ, "yoked by the mind", kvin, the accent of the kṛt second member; tvā unaccented; vahanti, the root accent, not lowered because of the relative ye; vahnayaḥ with ni (Uṇ. 4-51), initial udātta; somapītaye as before; in the Saṃhitā the augment dh (Pā. 8-3-30), t by khari ca (Pā. 8-4-55), th by the vārttika of Pauṣkarasādi (8-4-48-3). The closing "26" is the varga number.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

(O Agni) घृतपृष्ठाः (ghṛtapṛṣṭhāḥ) — whose backs, being well fed, are smooth like ghee | मनोयुजः (manoyujaḥ) — that join (the chariot) by a mere resolve | वह्नयः (vahnayaḥ) — able to draw | ये (ye) — the horses that | त्वा (tvā) — you | वहन्ति (vahanti) — draw along | (by those horses) सोमपीतये (somapītaye) — for drinking soma | देवान् (devān) — the gods | आ (वह) (ā (vaha)) — bring.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Agni, the backs of the horses that seat you in the chariot and bring you to the place of sacrifice shine, being well fed. They can join the chariot by a mere resolve; they are able to draw it. On them bring the gods for the drinking of soma.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> By means of horses which have backs as soft and smooth as clarified butter which harnessing themselves promptly according to your wish, carry you and the gods hither to drink soma-juice.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Ghṛtapṛṣṭhāḥ: we explained this word in the fifth Ṛk of the preceding sūkta (page 549). Here the word qualifies vahnayaḥ, so the sense differs a little: with backs soft or smooth as ghee, "backs as smooth as clarifed [sic] butter".

Vahnayaḥ:

> वोढारः अश्वा इत्यर्थः
>
> voḍhāraḥ aśvā ityarthaḥ

Since they draw the chariot, the horses are called vahnayaḥ.

Manoyujaḥ: yoked to the chariot by a mere resolve of Agni's mind;

> मनसा युञ्जते इति मनोयुजः
>
> manasā yuñjate iti manoyujaḥ is the derivation.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 605–607, noted briefly)

घृतपृष्ठाः (ghṛtapṛṣṭhāḥ): final udātta by the suffix accent; the initial udātta that its exception "nabviṣayasyānisantasya" (Phi. sū. 26) would give is overridden by "ghṛtādīnāṃ ca" (Phi. sū. 21), so ghṛta is final udātta. Ghṛ kṣaraṇadīptyoḥ; ghṛtaṃ = dīptaṃ pṛṣṭhaṃ yeṣāṃ te, a bahuvrīhi; the first member keeps its accent by "bahuvrīhau prakṛtyā pūrvapadam" (Pā. sū. 6-2-1).

मनोयुजः (manoyujaḥ): manasā yuñjate iti; by "ṛtvigdadhṛksragdiguṣṇigañcuyujikruñcāṃ ca" (Pā. sū. 3-2-59) kvin after yuj with manas as upapada; yuj is final udātta by the root accent; after compounding, by "gatikārakopapadāt kṛt" (Pā. sū. 6-2-139) the kṛt second member keeps its accent. The Kaumudīkāra and others hold that kvin comes after yuj without an upapada (nirupapadād yujeḥ kvin); but, as the Vedabhāṣyakāra holds, the kvin is derived here after yuj with an upapada.

त्वा (tvā): for tvām, the accusative singular of yuṣmad, the unaccented tvā by "tvāmau dvitīyāyāḥ" (Pā. sū. 8-1-23).

वहन्ति (vahanti): vaha prāpaṇe, laṭ, jhi, ant by "jho 'ntaḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-1-3); śap, pararūpa by "ato guṇe"; śap is pit, so unaccented by "anudāttau suppitau" (Pā. sū. 3-1-4); anti, a sārvadhātuka for a lakāra, follows the śap of adupadeśa, so it is unaccented by "tāsyanudāttenṅidadupadeśāt" (Pā. sū. 6-1-186); the root accent remains. In ye tvā vahanti vahnayaḥ, vahanti follows the word with yat; so by "yadvṛttān nityam" (Pā. sū. 8-1-66), a tiṅanta after a word containing yat is not made unaccented, and “tiṅṅatiṅaḥ” does not apply. Here there is the vārttika “kāṣṭhādibhya iti vaktavyam” on “pūjanāt pūjitam anudāttam” (Pā. sū. 8-1-67): what is praised after kāṣṭha and other words of praise is unaccented. Even if the sūtra had been framed “pūjanād anudāttam”, “the praised” would be got from pūjita as a correlate and from proximity; so the mention of pūjita would be useless, and it makes known that atra prakaraṇe pañcamīnirdeśe ’pi nānantaryam āśrīyate — in this section, though there is a fifth-case statement, immediate sequence is not required. With the fifth case pūjanāt alone, the sense of immediate sequence would not be got. With pūjita stated, in kamalāni kamalāni, by repetition, the sense “excellent lotus” arises, and the two words, pūjita in the sūtra and pūjita got by proximity, convey “excellent, praised”; here the excellence takes the form of immediate sequence. So the mention of pūjita has its use for getting immediate sequence. Without this made-known statement, since pūjanāt is in the fifth case, immediate sequence would follow by “tasmād ity uttarasya” (Pā. sū. 1-1-67), and the mention of pūjita would be useless. So it must be granted that in this section, though there is a fifth-case statement, immediate sequence is not required. In ye tvā vahanti the word tvā intervenes, yet the bar of “yadvṛttān nityam” applies. So it is not wholly unaccented.

वह्नयः (vahnayaḥ): “vahiśriśruyudruglāhātvaribhyo nit” (Uṇ. sū. “4-51” [?]), with niḥ carried on from “vījyājvaribhyo niḥ” (Uṇ. sū. 4-48): after vaha prāpaṇe, śriñ sevāyām, śru śravaṇe, yu miśraṇe, dru gatau, glai mlai harṣakṣaye, ohāk tyāge, ñitvarā sambhrame, the suffix ni, and it is nit; so ni after vah, and being nit, vahni is initial udātta by “ñnityādir nityam” (Pā. sū. 6-1-197).

सोमपीतये (somapītaye): its formation was given in the first Ṛk of this sūkta. In devān somapītaye, in the Saṃhitā, s follows the n; so “naś ca” (Pā. sū. 8-3-30) gives the augment dhuṭ to the s after a word ending in n; being ṭit, it comes at the beginning of the s: devān + dh + soma. “khari ca” (Pā. sū. 8-4-55): before a khar letter, car letters replace the jhal letters; the s is a khar, so the jhal dh gets a car. Of the car letters c, ṭ, t, k, p, ś, ṣ, s, by “sthāne ’ntaratamaḥ” (Pā. sū. 1-1-50) the dental

Page 607 — Rik 6: grammar (end)

t, of the same place, comes: devān + t + soma. “cayo dvitīyāḥ śari pauṣkarasādeḥ” (Pā. sū. vā. 8-4-48-3): Pauṣkarasādi is the name of a teacher; in his view, before śar letters the cay letters take the second letter of their class; so the t before the śar s becomes th, the second of the dental class: devān + th + soma. By this derivation the mantra should read devānthsomapītaye.

॥६॥

---

Page 607 (lower) — Sūkta 14, Rik 7

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

तान्यज॑त्राँ ऋता॒वृधो ऽग्ने॒ पत्नी॑वतस्कृधि । [accent ?] मध्व॑: सुजिह्व पायय ॥७॥ [accent ?]

tān yájatrāṁ̐ ṛtāvṛ́dho 'gne pátnīvatas kṛdhi / [accent ?] mádhvaḥ sujihva pāyaya // 7// [accent ?]

(Line 1: the stroke stands over ज and the bar under ता of ऋतावृधो — positions read at 450 dpi, not certain. Line 2: only the stroke over ध्वः is legible; the foot of the line is cut in the scan.)

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

तान् । यजत्रान् । ऋतऽवृधः । अग्ने । पत्नीऽवतः । कृधि ॥ मध्वः । सुऽजिह्व । पायय ॥७॥

tān | yajatrān | ṛta 'vṛdhaḥ | agne | patnī 'vataḥ | kṛdhi || madhvaḥ | su 'jihva | pāyaya ||7||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे अग्ने तानिन्द्रादीन्देवान्यजत्रान्यजनीयान् ऋतावृधः सत्यस्य यज्ञस्य वा वर्धकान् पत्नीवतः पत्नीयुक्तान्कृधि । कुरु । हे सुजिह्व । शोभनजिह्वोपेत मध्वो मधुरस्य सोमस्य भागं देवान्पायय ॥ यजत्रान् । अमिनक्षियजिबन्धिपतिभ्योऽत्रन् । उ. ३-१०५ । इति यजेरत्रन्प्रत्ययः । ऋतावृधः । वृधु वृद्धौ । अन्तर्भावितण्यर्थात्क्विप्चेति क्विप् । अन्येषामपि दृश्यत इति पूर्वपदस्य दीर्घत्वं । वृधेर्धातुस्वरः । समासे कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं । अग्ने । पादादित्वान्नामन्त्रितनिघातः । षाष्ठिकमाद्युदात्तत्वं । पत्नीवतः । पत्युर्नो यज्ञसंयोगे । पा. ४-१-३३ । इति ङीप् । इकारस्य च नकारः । ता एषां सन्तीति मतुप् । छन्दसीर इति वत्वं । पतिशब्दो ङतिप्रत्ययान्तत्वादाद्युदात्तः । ङीम्मतुपोरनुदात्तत्वात्स एव शिष्यते । कृधि । कृञो लोटः सिः । सेर्ह्यपिच्चेति हिः । बहुलं छन्दसीति विकरणलुक् । श्रुशृणुपृकृवृभ्यश्छन्दसि । पा. ६-४-१०२ । इति हेर्धिरादेशः । ङित्त्वाद्गुणाभावः । मध्वः । उक्तं । सुजिह्व । आमन्त्रितनिघातः । पायय । पा पाने । पिबन्तं प्रयुङ्क्त इति हेतुमति चेति णिच् । शाछासाह्वाव्यावेपां युक् । पा. ७-३-३७ । इति युक् । पूर्वस्यामन्त्रितस्याविद्यमानवत्त्वं । अत एवाव्यवधायकत्वान्मध्व इत्यपेक्ष्य तिङ्ङतिङ इति निघातः ॥

he agne tānindrādīndevānyajatrānyajanīyān ṛtāvṛdhaḥ satyasya yajñasya vā vardhakān patnīvataḥ patnīyuktānkṛdhi | kuru | he sujihva | śobhanajihvopeta madhvo madhurasya somasya bhāgaṃ devānpāyaya || yajatrān | aminakṣiyajibandhipatibhyo 'tran | u. 3-105 | iti yajeratranpratyayaḥ | ṛtāvṛdhaḥ | vṛdhu vṛddhau | antarbhāvitaṇyarthātkvipceti kvip | anyeṣāmapi dṛśyata iti pūrvapadasya dīrghatvaṃ | vṛdherdhātusvaraḥ | samāse kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ | agne | pādāditvānnāmantritanighātaḥ | ṣāṣṭhikamādyudāttatvaṃ | patnīvataḥ | patyurno yajñasaṃyoge | pā. 4-1-33 | iti ṅīp | ikārasya ca nakāraḥ | tā eṣāṃ santīti matup | chandasīra iti vatvaṃ | patiśabdo ḍatipratyayāntatvādādyudāttaḥ | ṅīmmatuporanudāttatvātsa eva śiṣyate | kṛdhi | kṛño loṭaḥ siḥ | serhyapicceti hiḥ | bahulaṃ chandasīti vikaraṇaluk | śruśṛṇupṝkṛvṛbhyaśchandasi | pā. 6-4-102 | iti herdhirādeśaḥ | ṅittvādguṇābhāvaḥ | madhvaḥ | uktaṃ | sujihva | āmantritanighātaḥ | pāyaya | pā pāne | pibantaṃ prayuṅkta iti hetumati ceti ṇic | śāchāsāhvāvyāvepāṃ yuk | pā. 7-3-37 | iti yuk | pūrvasyāmantritasyāvidyamānavattvaṃ | ata evāvyavadhāyakatvānmadhva ityapekṣya tiṅṅatiṅa iti nighātaḥ ||

Translation: "O Agni, make those gods, Indra and the rest, yajatrāḥ, worthy of worship, ṛtāvṛdhaḥ, who make the truth or the sacrifice grow, patnīvataḥ, accompanied by their wives:

kṛdhi, do so. O sujihva, you of the fine tongue, make the gods drink their share of the madhvaḥ, the sweet soma." (Grammatical tail: yajatrān with atran (Uṇ. 3-105); ṛtāvṛdhaḥ, vṛdh with the inner causative and kvip, the first member lengthened, the accent of the kṛt second member; agne, at the head of the pāda, not lowered, initial udātta; patnīvataḥ, ṅīp and n by Pā. 4-1-33, matup with v, pati initial udātta (ḍati); kṛdhi, hi, the vikaraṇa dropped, dhi by Pā. 6-4-102, no guṇa; sujihva lowered as a vocative; pāyaya from pā with ṇic and yuk (Pā. 7-3-37); the vocative before it counts as absent, so it is lowered after madhvaḥ by tiṅṅatiṅaḥ.)

Page 608 — Rik 7: word-meanings, overall sense, English, Special Topics

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

अग्ने (agne) — O Agni | यजत्रान् (yajatrān) — worthy of worship | पत्नीवतः (patnīvataḥ) — joined with their wives | तान् (tān) — those gods, Indra and the rest | ऋतावृधः (ṛtāvṛdhaḥ) — as makers of the sacrifice (the truth) to grow | कृधि (kṛdhi) — make | सुजिह्व (sujihva) — O Agni of the shining tongue | मध्वः (madhvaḥ) — the sweet soma juice | पायय (pāyaya) — make (them) drink.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Agni, Indra and the other gods are worthy of worship. Bring them with their wives and help so that our sacrifice prospers. O Agni, whose tongue can taste sweetness, make Indra and the other gods too drink the sweet soma juice.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> O sweet tongued Agni, put those adorable gods with their wives here and make them drink of the sweet Soma

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Yajatrān: yajanīyān, worthy of worship.

Patnīvataḥ: accompanied by their wives.

Ṛtāvṛdhaḥ: ṛtasya satyasya vā yajñasya vardhakān: those who make the sacrificial act grow, who make it go on without obstacle.

Madhvaḥ: means "of the soma juice". If the word bhāgam is supplied, it means "the share of the soma juice".

Page 609 — Rik 7: grammar

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 609–611, noted briefly)

यजत्रान् (yajatrān): "aminakṣiyajivadhipatibhyo 'tran" (Uṇ. sū. "3-385" [?]; ama gatyādiṣu, nakṣa gatau, yaja devapūjādau, vadha hiṃsāyām, patḷ gatau): the suffix atran after yaj; nit, so yajatra is initial udātta by the nit accent; accusative plural yajatrān. In the Saṃhitā, before the ṛ, "dīrghād aṭi samānapāde" (Pā. sū. 8-3-9) gives ru for the n, and "āto 'ṭi nityam" (Pā. sū. 8-3-3) a nasal ā.

ऋतावृधः (ṛtāvṛdhaḥ): in the sense ṛtaṃ vardhayanti, kvip by "kvip ca" (Pā. sū. 3-2-76) after vṛdh with the inner ṇic and ṛta as upapada; the ending dropped; by "anyeṣām api dṛśyate" (Pā. sū. 6-3-137) the first member ṛta is lengthened; accusative plural. In ṛtāvṛdhaḥ, "dhātoḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-1-162) gives final udātta; after compounding, the accent of the kṛt second member remains.

अग्ने (agne): it is at the head of the pāda, so the eighth-adhyāya "āmantritasya ca" (Pā. sū. 8-1-19) does not lower it; the sixth-adhyāya "āmantritasya ca" (Pā. sū. 6-1-198) makes it initial udātta.

पत्नीवतः (patnīvataḥ): "patyur no yajñasaṃyoge" (Pā. sū. 4-1-33): in the feminine, when connection with a sacrifice is shown, n replaces the last letter of pati: patn; ending in n, it takes ṅīp by "ṛnnebhyo ṅīp" (Pā. sū. 4-1-5): patnī. In the Vedābhyāsa the sūtra is explained to mean that ṅīp comes after pati in the feminine and n for the i; on that view, from the difference of what is enjoined, faults such as splitting the sentence arise, so other grammarians do not accept it. In Śrutis such as svargakāmo yajeta the masculine svargakāmaḥ is used, so performing the sacrifice and enjoying its fruit belong to the man. How then does a woman have a connection with the sacrifice? And without such connection, how would the n of yajñasaṃyoge fit? Because in the sacrifice the authority belongs to husband and wife together: a man who is a widower has no authority to perform it. Under this sūtra the Kaiyaṭa shows: patnyā śiṣṭa dampatyoḥ sahādhikārād yajñe 'dhikārāt kartṛtvāt tatphalasambandhād yajñasaṃyogaḥ. In the Pūrvamīmāṃsā too, in the sixth adhyāya, first pāda, in the adhikaraṇa liṅgaviśeṣanirdeśāt puṃyuktam aitiśāyanaḥ and in the adhikaraṇa svavato 'stu vacanād aikakarmyaṃ syāt, the joint authority of husband and wife is established. Patiśabdo 'yam aiśvarya- vācī: in the Mahābhāṣya the word pati in this sūtra is shown to mean "lordship". Then yajñasaṃyoge is a locative absolute: when there is a connection with the sacrifice, the word pati, meaning the lordship that arises, by proximity, from that sacrifice, takes n in the feminine: that is the sense of the sūtra. Analysed patnyaḥ eṣāṃ santi, matup by "tad asyāsty asminn iti matup" (Pā. sū. 5-2-94); v for the m by "chandasīraḥ" (Pā. sū. 8-2-15): patnīvat. By "pāter ḍatiḥ" (Uṇ. sū. 4-57 [as printed; p. 595 prints 4-58]) pati ends in the suffix ḍati, so it is initial udātta by the suffix accent; ṅīp and matup are both pit, so unaccented by "anudāttau suppitau" (Pā. sū. 3-1-4); the initial udātta remains; accusative plural patnīvataḥ.

Page 610 — Rik 7: grammar (continued)

कृधि (kṛdhi): ḍukṛñ karaṇe; loṭ, 2nd singular sip; hi for si by "ser hy apic ca" (Pā. sū. 3-4-87); the u vikaraṇa of "tanādikṛñbhya uḥ" (Pā. sū. 3-1-79) is dropped by "bahulaṃ chandasi" (Pā. sū. "9-4-73" [as printed, for 2-4-73]); "śruśṛṇupṝkṛvṛbhyaś chandasi" (Pā. sū. 6-4-102) gives dhi for the hi after these; by "sārvadhātukam apit" (Pā. sū. 1-2-4) the suffix is ṅit, and "kṅiti ca" (Pā. sū. 1-1-5) bars the guṇa: kṛdhi; wholly unaccented by "tiṅṅatiṅaḥ".

मध्वः (madhvaḥ): in Sū. 13 Ṛk 2 madhu was shown to be initial udātta. It is neuter, but here masculine by vyatyaya. Genitive singular "jas" [as printed, for ṅas]. By "śeṣo ghy asakhi" (Pā. sū. 1-4-7) short i/u-final words other than sakhi that are not nadī are called ghi; so "gher ṅiti" (Pā. sū. 7-3-111) would give guṇa before a ṅit ending; but by "saṃjñāpūrvako vidhir anityaḥ" (paribhāṣā) the guṇa does not come. Yaṇ, ru, visarga: madhvaḥ.

सुजिह्व (sujihva): lowered as a vocative.

पायय (pāyaya): pā pāne; in the sense pibantaṃ prayuṅkte (one who urges the one drinking), ṇic by "hetumati ca" (Pā. sū. 3-1-26); "śāchāsāhvāvyāvepāṃ yuk" (Pā. sū. "7-3-37" [?]; śo tanūkaraṇe, cho chedane, ṣo 'ntakarmaṇi, hveñ spardhāyām, vyeñ saṃvaraṇe, veñ tantusantāne, pā pāne): before ṇi these roots take the augment yuk: pāy + i. There are two roots, pā rakṣaṇe (adādi, with luk of the vikaraṇa) and pā pāne (bhvādi, without it); by "lugvikaraṇālugvikaraṇayor alugvikaraṇasya" (paribhāṣā "83" [?]), when both are possible, the one without luk is taken, so the bhvādi root is meant. After pāyi, loṭ, sip, the vikaraṇa śap, guṇa, ay, hi for si and its luk: pāyaya. For the vocative sujihva before it, "āmantritaṃ pūrvam avidyamānavat" (Pā. sū. 8-1-72) makes it count as absent; so it does not intervene, and with reference to madhvaḥ "tiṅṅatiṅaḥ" (Pā. sū. 8-1-28) makes pāyaya wholly unaccented.

Page 611 — Rik 7: grammar (end)

॥७॥

---

Page 611 (lower) — Sūkta 14, Rik 8

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

ये यजत्रा य ईड्यास्ते ते पिबन्तु जिह्वया । [accent ?] मधोरग्ने वषट्कृति ॥८॥

ye yájatrā yá īḍyās té te pibantu jihváyā | [accent ?] mádhor agne váṣaṭkṛti ||8||

(Line 1: bars stand under ई/ड्या and under स्ते of ईड्यास्ते, the stroke over the second ते; the exact syllables under the two bars are not certain.)

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

ये । यजत्राः । ये । ईड्याः । ते । ते । पिबन्तु । जिह्वया ॥ मधोः । अग्ने । वषट्ऽकृति ॥८॥

ye | yajatrāḥ | ye | īḍyāḥ | te | te | pibantu | jihvayā || madhoḥ | agne | vaṣaṭ 'kṛti ||8||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

ये देवा यजत्रा यष्टव्याः । तथा ये देवा ईड्याः स्तुत्याः । ते सर्वेऽपि वषट्कृति वषट्कारकाले वषट्कारयुक्ते यागे वा हे अग्ने ते त्वदीयया जिह्वया मधोर्मधुरस्य सोमस्य भागं पिबन्तु ॥ यजत्राः । गतं । ईड्याः । ईड स्तुतौ । ऋहलोर्ण्यत् । तित्स्वरिते प्राप्त ईडवन्दवृशंसदुहां ण्यत इत्याद्युदात्तत्वं । द्वितीयस्य तेशब्दस्य युष्मदादेशस्य सर्वानुदात्तत्वं । मधोः । उप्रत्ययस्य नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वमुक्तं । अग्ने । आमन्त्रितनिघातः । वषट्कृति । करोतेः सम्पदादिभ्यो भावे क्विप् । वषडित्यस्य करणं यस्मिन्याग इति बहुव्रीहिः । वषडित्यस्य निपातत्वादाद्युदात्तत्वं । बहुव्रीहौ पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं ॥

ye devā yajatrā yaṣṭavyāḥ | tathā ye devā īḍyāḥ stutyāḥ | te sarve 'pi vaṣaṭkṛti vaṣaṭkārakāle vaṣaṭkārayukte yāge vā he agne te tvadīyayā jihvayā madhormadhurasya somasya bhāgaṃ pibantu || yajatrāḥ | gataṃ | īḍyāḥ | īḍa

stutau | ṛhalorṇyat | titsvarite prāpta īḍavandavṛśaṃsaduhāṃ ṇyata ityādyudāttatvaṃ | dvitīyasya teśabdasya yuṣmadādeśasya sarvānudāttatvaṃ | madhoḥ | upratyayasya nittvādādyudāttatvamuktaṃ | agne | āmantritanighātaḥ | vaṣaṭkṛti | karoteḥ sampadādibhyo bhāve kvip | vaṣaḍityasya karaṇaṃ yasminyāga iti bahuvrīhiḥ | vaṣaḍityasya nipātatvādādyudāttatvaṃ | bahuvrīhau pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ ||

Translation: "The gods who are yajatrāḥ, to be worshipped, and the gods who are īḍyāḥ, to be praised: may they all, vaṣaṭkṛti, at the time of the vaṣaṭ call or in the rite that has the vaṣaṭ call, O Agni, drink with te jihvayā, your tongue, the share of the madhoḥ, the sweet soma." (Grammatical tail: yajatrāḥ gone through; īḍyāḥ from īḍ with ṇyat, initial udātta by īḍavandavṛśaṃsaduhāṃ ṇyataḥ instead of the svarita of a tit suffix; the second te, the yuṣmad replacement, wholly unaccented; madhoḥ initial udātta as said; agne lowered; vaṣaṭkṛti, kvip in the action sense, a bahuvrīhi "the rite in which vaṣaṭ is made", vaṣaṭ initial udātta as a nipāta, the first-member accent.)

Page 612 — Rik 8: word-meanings, overall sense, English, Special Topics, grammar

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

अग्ने (agne) — O Agni | ये (ye) — the deities who | यजत्राः (yajatrāḥ) — worthy of a share in the sacrifice | (and likewise) ये (ye) — the deities who | ईड्याः (īḍyāḥ) — worthy of praise | ते (te) — all of them | वषट्कृति (vaṣaṭkṛti) — at the time of the vaṣaṭkāra of the sacrifice (at the time of offering the oblation) | ते (te) — your | जिह्वया (jihvayā) — with the tongue (by the offering into Agni) | मधोः (madhoḥ) — the share of the sweet soma juice | पिबन्तु (pibantu) — may they drink.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Agni, may all the deities who are worthy of a share in the sacrifice and those who are worthy of praise, together, at the time of offering the oblation preceded by the vaṣaṭkāra, drink the share of the sweet soma juice through your mouth, that is, by the offering into Agni.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> O Agni, those gods that deserve to be sacrificed and those that deserve to be praised, may they drink of the sweet soma with your tongue as soon as (the word) Vashat is pronounced

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Yajatrāḥ: yajanīyāḥ: worthy of worship, worthy of a share in the sacrifice.

Īḍyāḥ: worthy of praise, worthy of commendation.

Vaṣaṭkṛti: at the time of the vaṣaṭkāra, or in a rite that has the vaṣaṭkāra. When the homa is made with certain mantras in the sacrifice, at the end of the mantra the word vauṣaṭ is added and uttered as the svāhākāra is; that is called vaṣaṭkṛti or vaṣaṭkāra.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 612–613, noted briefly)

यजत्राः (ɣajatrāḥ): explained in the preceding mantra.

ईड्याः (īḍɣāḥ): īḍa stutau, consonant-final; "ṛhalor ṇyat" (Pā. sū. "3-1-124" [?]): after roots ending in ṛ or a consonant the suffix ṇyat; so ṇyat after īḍ. The t of ṇyat is it, so "tit svaritam" (Pā. sū. "6-1-185" [?]) would make it svarita; but, overriding it, "īḍavandavṛśaṃsaduhāṃ ṇyataḥ" (Pā. sū.

6-1-214): the first syllable of these roots before ṇyat is udātta; so īḍya is initial udātta.

ते (te): tad + jas. "tyadādīnām aḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-2-102): before a case ending the final of the tyadādi words becomes a: ta + a; pararūpa by "ato guṇe" (Pā. sū. 6-1-97); "jasaḥ śī" (Pā. sū. 7-1-17) gives śī for jas after an a-final pronoun; it is not anekāl, but by "anekālśit sarvasya" (Pā. sū. 1-1-55) it replaces the whole; guṇa by "ād guṇaḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-1-87): te. By "phiṣo 'nta udāttaḥ" (Phi. sū. 1) tad is final udātta; pararūpa and guṇa are single replacements, udātta by "ekādeśa udāttenodāttaḥ".

ते (te): this is the replacement for tava, the genitive singular of ɣuṣmad; so it is wholly unaccented.

मधोः (madhoḥ): the suffix u is nit by extension, so madhu is initial udātta, as set out in Sū. 13, Ṛk 2; here masculine by vɣatɣaɣa. Genitive singular "jas" [as printed, for ṅas]; by "śeṣo ghy asakhi" it is ghi, so by "gher ṅiti" guṇa, o for the u; "ṅasiṅasoś ca" (Pā. sū. 6-1-110): after e and o, the a of ṅasi and ṅas gives pūrvarūpa; ru, visarga.

अग्ने (agne): lowered as a vocative by the eighth-adhyāya sūtra.

वषट्कृति (vaṣaṭkṛti): "sampadādibhyaḥ kvip" (Pā. sū. 3-3-108-9): kvip after kṛñ in the action sense; kvip is pit, a kṛt, so before it kṛ takes the augment tuk by "hrasvasya piti kṛti tuk": kṛt. Vaṣaṭ kṛt ɣasmin saḥ, the rite in which there is the making of vaṣaṭ: by "bahuvrīhau prakṛtyā pūrvapadam" the first member keeps its accent; vaṣaṭ is a nipāta, so initial udātta by "nipātā ādyudāttāḥ" (Phi. sū. 80). Locative singular vaṣaṭkṛti.

॥८॥

---

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

आ॒कीं सूर्य॑स्य रोच॒नाद्विश्वा॑न्दे॒वाँ उ॑ष॒र्बुधः॑ । विप्रो॒ होते॒ह व॑क्षति ॥९॥ [accent ?]

ākīṃ sūrɣasɣa rocanād víśvān devāṁ̐ uṣarbúdhaḥ | vipro hótehá vakṣati ||9|| [accent ?]

(Line 2: the bars under ग्नी and ते are faint at the foot of the page.)

Page 614 — Rik 9: Pada, bhāṣya, word-meanings, overall sense, English

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

आकीम् । सूर्यस्य । रोचनात् । विश्वान् । देवान् । उषःऽबुधः ॥ विप्रः । होता । इह । वक्षति ॥९॥

ākīm | sūryasya | rocanāt | viśvān | devān | uṣaḥ 'budhaḥ || vipraḥ | hotā | iha | vakṣati ||9||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

विप्रो मेधावी होता होमनिष्पादको ऽग्निरुषर्बुध उषःकाले यागगमनाय प्रबुध्यमानान्विश्वान्देवान्सूर्यस्य सम्बन्धिनो रोचनात्स्वर्गलोकादिह कर्मण्यार्कीं वक्षति । आवहतु ॥ आर्कीं । निपात आद्युदात्तः । सूर्यस्य । सूर्यशब्दो राजसूयसूर्येत्यादिना । पा. ३-१-११४ । क्यप्प्रत्ययान्तो निपातितः । क्यपः पित्त्वाद्धातुस्वरेणाद्युदात्तः । रोचनात् । रोचमानात् । रुच दीप्तौ । अनुदात्तेतश्च हलादेः । पा. ३-२-१४९ । इति कर्तरि युच् । चित इत्यन्तोदात्तत्वं । विश्वान् । विशेः क्वनन्तो नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । उषर्बुधः । उषसि बुध्यन्त इत्युषर्बुधः । क्विप्चेति क्विप् । धातुस्वरेणोकार उदात्तः । समासे कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं । विप्रः । ऋज्रेन्द्रेत्यादिना रन् । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । होता । ह्वयतेस्ताच्छील्ये तृन् । बहुलं छन्दसीति सम्प्रसारणं । परपूर्वत्वं । गुणः । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । इह । इदमो ह इति हप्रत्ययः । इदम इशिति इश् । शित्त्वात्सर्वादेशः । प्रत्ययस्वरः । वक्षति । वहेः प्रार्थनायां लिङर्थे लेट् । तस्य तिप् । कर्तरि शप् । शपि परतः सिब्बहुलं लेटीति सिप् । ढत्वकत्वषत्वानि । तिङ्ङतिङ इति निघातः ॥

vipro medhāvī hotā homaniṣpādako 'gniruṣarbudha uṣaḥkāle yāgagamanāya prabudhyamānānviśvāndevānsūryasya sambandhino rocanātsvargalokādiha karmaṇyākīṃ vakṣati | āvahatu || ākīṃ | nipāta ādyudāttaḥ | sūryasya | sūryaśabdo rājasūyasūryetyādinā | pā. 3-1-114 | kyappratyayānto nipātitaḥ | kyapaḥ pittvāddhātusvareṇādyudāttaḥ | rocanāt | rocamānāt | ruca dīptau | anudāttetaśca halādeḥ | pā. 3-2-149 | iti kartari yuc | cita ityantodāttatvaṃ | viśvān | viśeḥ kvananto nittvādādyudāttaḥ | uṣarbudhaḥ | uṣasi budhyanta ityuṣarbudhaḥ | kvipceti kvip | dhātusvareṇokāra udāttaḥ | samāse kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ | vipraḥ | ṛjrendretyādinā ran | nittvādādyudāttaḥ | hotā | hvayatestācchīlye tṛn | bahulaṃ chandasīti samprasāraṇaṃ | parapūrvatvaṃ | guṇaḥ | nittvādādyudāttaḥ | iha | idamo ha iti hapratyayaḥ | idama iśiti iś | śittvātsarvādeśaḥ | pratyayasvaraḥ | vakṣati | vaheḥ prārthanāyāṃ liṅarthe leṭ | tasya tip | kartari śap | śapi parataḥ sibbahulaṃ leṭīti sip | ḍhatvakatvaṣatvāni | tiṅṅatiṅa iti nighātaḥ ||

Translation: "May the vipra, the wise hotā, Agni who accomplishes the homa, ākīṃ vakṣati, bring here to this rite, from the rocana of the Sun, the heaven-world, all the gods, uṣarbudhaḥ, who awake at dawn to go to the sacrifice." (Grammatical tail: ākīm, a nipāta, initial udātta; sūryasya, sūrya made with kyap by nipātana (Pā. 3-1-114), the root accent (kyap is pit), initial udātta; rocanāt, "shining", yuc by Pā. 3-2-149, final udātta (cit); viśvān with kvan, initial udātta; uṣarbudhaḥ, "awaking at dawn", kvip, the u udātta by the root accent, the kṛt second-member accent; vipraḥ with ran, initial udātta; hotā from hve with tṛn and saṃprasāraṇa, initial udātta; iha, ha after idam, i for it; vakṣati, leṭ in the sense of prayer, sip, ḍh, k, ṣ, lowered by tiṅṅatiṅaḥ.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

विप्रः (vipraḥ) — wise | होता (hotā) — Agni, who accomplishes the homa | उषर्बुधः (uṣarbudhaḥ) — woken at dawn itself for going to the sacrifice | विश्वान् देवान् (viśvān devān) — all the gods | सूर्यस्य (sūryasya) — of the Sun | रोचनात् (rocanāt) — from the divine sphere, or from heaven | इह (iha) — to this rite (the sacrifice) | आकीं वक्षति (ākīṃ vakṣati) — may he bring.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

Agni is wise, the accomplisher of the homa. He wakes all the gods at dawn to come for the sacrifice. May he bring them all from the bright heaven-world belonging to the Sun to this sacrificial rite.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> Let the wise invoker of the gods bring hither, from the region of solar light the Visve Devas (all the gods) that awake with the dawn.

(The left edge of the English is cut in this scan; the words are as in the earlier reading.)

Page 615 — Rik 9: Special Topics and grammar

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Ākīm: since Yāska says that the nine words hikam, nukam, sukam, ahikam, ākīm and the rest are the sarvapadasamāmnāya (Ni. 3-13), the word ākīm has the sense of sarvapada. It is used as an upasarga; so here ākīṃ vakṣati means ā vakṣati.

Uṣarbudhaḥ:

> उषःकाले यागगमनाय प्रबुध्यमानान् । उषसि बुध्यन्त इत्युषर्बुधः ॥
>
> uṣaḥkāle yāgagamanāya prabudhyamānān | uṣasi budhyanta ityuṣarbudhaḥ ||

Woken at dawn.

Hotā: here hotā means Agni, who calls the deities.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 615–616, noted briefly)

आकीम् (ākīm): a nipāta, so initial udātta.

सूर्यस्य (sūryasya): by "rājasūyasūryamṛṣodyarucyakupyakṛṣṭapacyāvyathyāḥ" (Pā. sū. 3-1-114) these seven words are made by nipātana ending in kyap; so sūrya ends in kyap. If taken as sarati ākāśe (it goes in the sky), kyap after sṛ gatau with u for the ṛ by nipātana, r after it by "uraṇ raparaḥ": sur + ya; lengthening by "hali ca" (Pā. sū. 8-2-77) of i, u, ṛ, ḷ in the penultimate of r/v-final roots before a consonant. Or, taken as suvati karmaṇi lokaṃ prerayati (he urges people to work), kyap after the tudādi ṣū preraṇe with the augment ruṭ by nipātana: sūrya. Kyap is pit, so unaccented; the root accent makes sūrya initial udātta.

रोचनात् (rocanāt): ruca dīptau, anudāttet. “anudāttetaś ca halādeḥ” (Pā. sū. 3-2-149): after an intransitive anudāttet root beginning with a consonant, yuc in the agent sense; ana for yu by “yuvor anākau” (Pā. sū. 7-1-1); laghūpadha-guṇa: rocana; final udātta by “citaḥ” (Pā. sū. 6-1-163).

विश्वान् (viśvān): viśa praveśane + kvan by “aśūpruṣi…” (Uṇ. sū. 1-149); nit, so initial udātta.

उषर्बुधः (uṣarbudhaḥ): uṣasi budhyante iti; kvip by “kvip ca” (Pā. sū. 3-2-76) after budha avagamane with uṣas as upapada; the u is udātta by the root accent; after compounding, the kṛt second member keeps its accent by “gatikārakopapadāt kṛt”.

Page 616 — Rik 9: grammar (end)

विप्रः (vipraḥ): “ṛjrendrāgravipra…” (Uṇ. sū. 2-186): when ran comes after ḍuvap bījasantāne, i is put by nipātana for the a of the penultimate; initial udātta by the nit accent.

होता (hotā): hveñ spardhāyāṃ śabde ca; tṛn by “tṛn” (Pā. sū. 3-2-135) in the sense of habit; with “hvaḥ samprasāraṇam” (Pā. sū. 6-1-32) carried on, saṃprasāraṇa by “bahulaṃ chandasi” (Pā. sū. 6-1-34); pūrvarūpa by “saṃprasāraṇāc ca” (Pā. sū. 6-1-108); guṇa by “sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ” (Pā. sū. 7-3-84): hotṛ; initial udātta (nit).

इह (iha): “idamo haḥ” (Pā. sū. 5-3-11): after the locative of idam the suffix ha: idam + ṅi + ha; ending in a taddhita, a prātipadika by “kṛttaddhitasamāsāś ca” (Pā. sū. 1-2-46); the ṅi dropped by “supo dhātuprātipadikayoḥ” (Pā. sū. 2-4-71); “idam iś” (Pā. sū. 5-3-3) gives iś for idam before the prāgdiśīya suffixes; being śit, it replaces the whole by “anekālśit sarvasya” (Pā. sū. 1-1-55): iha; the suffix accent.

वक्षति (vakṣati): vaha prāpaṇe. “liṅarthe leṭ” (Pā. sū. 3-4-7): leṭ in the sense of prayer; tip: vah + ti; śap by “kartari śap”; “sib bahulaṃ leṭi” (Pā. sū. 3-1-34): sip after the root before śap: vah + s + a + ti; “ho ḍhaḥ” (Pā. sū. 8-2-31) gives ḍh for the h at the end of a word or before a jhal; “ṣaḍhoḥ kaḥ si” (Pā. sū. 8-2-41) k for ṣ/ḍh before s; “ādeśapratyayayoḥ” (Pā. sū. 8-3-59) ṣ for the s: vakṣati; wholly unaccented by “tiṅṅatiṅaḥ”.

॥९॥

---

Page 616 (lower) — Sūkta 14, Rik 10

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

विश्वेभिः सो॒म्यं मध्वग्न॒ इन्द्रे॑ण वा॒युना॑ । पिबा॑ मि॒त्रस्य॑ धाम॑भिः ॥१०॥ [accent ?]

víśvebhiḥ somyáṃ madhv agna índreṇa vāyúnā | píbā mitrásya dhā́mabhiḥ ||10|| [accent ?]

(Line 2: the strokes over बा and over म of धामभिः are clear; the foot of the line, with any bars, is cut at the page end; the bar under मि is read from the Pada.)

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

विश्वेभिः । सोम्यम् । मधु । अग्ने । इन्द्रेण । वायुना ॥ पिब । मित्रस्य । धामऽभिः ॥१०॥

viśvebhiḥ | somyam | madhu | agne | indreṇa | vāyunā || piba | mitrasya | dhāma 'bhiḥ ||10||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे अग्ने त्वं विश्वेभिः सर्वैः पूषभगादिभिर्देवैरिन्द्रेण वायुना मित्रस्य सम्बन्धिभिर्धामभिस्तेजोभिर्मूर्तिविशेषरूपैश्च सह सोम्यं सोमसम्बन्धि मधु मधुरं भागं पिब ॥ विश्वेभिः । बहुलं छन्दसीति भिस ऐसादेशाभावः । सोम्यं । सोममर्हति य इत्यनुवृत्तौ मये च । पा. ४-४-१३८ । इति यप्रत्ययः सोमस्य विकार इत्यर्थे । यस्येति चेत्यकारलोपः । प्रत्ययस्वरः । मधु । फलिपाटिनमिमनीत्यादिना । उ. १-१९ । उप्रत्ययः । नित्यनुवृत्तेर्नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । वायुना । कृवापाजीत्यादिना उण् । आतो युक् चिण्कृतोः । पा. ७-३-३३ । इति युक् । प्रत्ययस्वरः । पिब । पा पाने । लोटः सेर्हिरादेशः । शपि पाघ्रेत्यादिना पिबादेशः । अतो हेरिति हेर्लुक् । शपः पित्त्वाद्धातुस्वरः । पादादित्वान्न निघातः । द्व्यचो ऽतस्तिङ इति संहितायां दीर्घः । धामभिः । धाञ् । आतो मनिन्निति मनिन् । नित्स्वरः ॥

he agne tvaṃ viśvebhiḥ sarvaiḥ pūṣabhagādibhirdevairindreṇa vāyunā mitrasya sambandhibhirdhāmabhistejobhirmūrtiviśeṣarūpaiśca saha somyaṃ somasambandhi madhu madhuraṃ bhāgaṃ piba || viśvebhiḥ | bahulaṃ chandasīti bhisa aisādeśābhāvaḥ | somyaṃ | somamarhati ya ityanuvṛttau maye ca | pā. 4-4-138 | iti yapratyayaḥ somasya vikāra ityarthe | yasyeti cetyakāralopaḥ | pratyayasvaraḥ | madhu | phalipāṭinamimanītyādinā | u. 1-19 | upratyayaḥ | nityanuvṛtternittvādādyudāttaḥ | vāyunā | kṛvāpājītyādinā uṇ | āto yuk ciṇkṛtoḥ | pā. 7-3-33 | iti yuk | pratyayasvaraḥ | piba | pā pāne | loṭaḥ serhirādeśaḥ | śapi pāghretyādinā pibādeśaḥ | ato heriti herluk | śapaḥ pittvāddhātusvaraḥ | pādāditvānna nighātaḥ | dvyaco 'tastiṅa iti saṃhitāyāṃ dīrghaḥ | dhāmabhiḥ | dhā | āto maninniti manin | nitsvaraḥ ||

Translation: "O Agni, together with viśvebhiḥ, all the gods, Pūṣan, Bhaga and the rest, with Indra, with Vāyu, and with the dhāmans belonging to Mitra, his radiances and particular forms, drink the somya madhu, the sweet share belonging to the soma." (Grammatical tail: viśvebhiḥ without ais; somyam with ya by Pā. 4-4-138 in the sense "product of soma", the a dropped, the suffix accent; madhu with u (Uṇ. 1-19), initial udātta; vāyunā with uṇ and yuk (Pā. 7-3-33); piba, pib for pā, hi dropped, the root accent, not lowered at the head of the pāda, lengthened in the Saṃhitā by dvyaco 'tas tiṅaḥ; dhāmabhiḥ, dhā with manin, the nit accent.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

अग्ने (agne) — O Agni | विश्वेभिः (viśvebhiḥ) — with all the gods, Pūṣan, Bhaga and the rest | इन्द्रेण (indreṇa) — with Indra | वायुना (vāyunā) — with Vāyu | मित्रस्य धामभिः (mitrasya dhāmabhiḥ) — with Mitra's particular forms and radiances, together | सोम्यं मधु (somyaṃ madhu) — the sweet soma juice | पिब (piba) — drink.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Agni, drink the sweet soma juice together with Indra, with Vāyu, with all the other gods, Pūṣan, Bhaga and the rest, and with the particular forms of Mitra, which are in the form of radiance.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> O Agni, drink this sweet soma juice with the Visve devas, Indra, Vayu, and the various forms of Mitra.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

This Ṛk is used in the Agniṣṭoma sacrifice as the yājyā mantra of the recitation of the praüga-śastra. In the Āśvalāyana Śrauta-sūtra, in the section stotram agre śastrāt, it is said that the Ṛk viśvebhiḥ somyaṃ madhu is to be used as the yājyā mantra (Ā. 5-10).

Piba: in the Saṃhitā the final syllable is long, to suit the metre.

Mitrasya dhāmabhiḥ:

> मित्रस्य सम्बन्धिभिर्धामभिस्तेजोमूर्तिविशेषरूपैश्च
>
> mitrasya sambandhibhirdhāmabhistejomūrtiviśeṣarūpaiśca with Mitra's forms of radiance, "with various forms of Mitra". Dhāmabhiḥ means with radiances or forms of radiance, "Rays". Which the radiant forms of Mitra are here is not clear.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 618–619, noted briefly)

विश्वेभिः (viśvebhiḥ): by "bahulaṃ chandasi" (Pā. sū. 7-1-10) the ais that "ato bhisa ais" (Pā. sū. 7-1-9) would give for bhis does not come.

सोम्यम् (somyam): with somam and yaḥ carried on from "somam arhati yaḥ" (Pā. sū. 4-4-137), "maye ca" (Pā. sū. 4-4-138): after soma in the fitting case, in the senses of mayaṭ (come from, product, part, statement of plenty), the suffix ya. In the sense "come from" the fitting case is the fifth; in product and part the sixth; in the statement of plenty the first. Here, meant as somasya vikāraḥ, ya after the genitive in the sense of product; ending in a taddhita, a prātipadika; the ending dropped: soma + ya; the a dropped by "yasyeti ca" (Pā. sū. 6-4-148); the suffix accent; accusative singular somyam.

मधु (madhu): the suffix u by "phalipāṭinamimani…" (Uṇ. sū. "1-18" [as printed; the bhāṣya gives 1-19]); nit is carried on, so the suffix is nit, and the nit accent comes. वायुना (vāyunā): uṇ after vā by "kṛvāpāji…" (Uṇ. sū. 1-1); "āto yuk ciṇkṛtoḥ"

(Pā. sū. 7-3-33): before ciṇ and a kṛt suffix with ñ/ṇ, an ā-final root takes the augment yuk; yuk, being kit, comes at the end; the suffix accent.

पिब (piba): pā pāne, loṭ, 2nd singular sip; hi for si by “ser hy apic ca” (Pā. sū. 3-4-87); the vikaraṇa śap by “kartari śap” (Pā. sū. 3-1-68); pib for pā by “pāghrādhmā…” (Pā. sū. 7-3-78); hi dropped by “ato heḥ” (Pā. sū. 6-4-105); śap is pit, so the root accent remains. At the head of the pāda, “tiṅṅatiṅaḥ” (Pā. sū. 8-1-28) does not lower it. “dvyaco ’tas tiṅaḥ” (Pā. sū. 6-3-135): in the mantra the final a of a two-vowel tiṅanta is lengthened, so in the Saṃhitā the a of piba becomes long.

धामभिः (dhāmabhiḥ): ḍudhāñ dhāraṇapoṣaṇayoḥ; “āto manin kvanib vanipaś ca” (Pā. sū. 3-2-74) gives the suffix manin; being nit, dhāman is initial udātta by the nit accent.

॥१०॥

---

Page 619 (lower) — Sūkta 14, Rik 11

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

त्वं होता॒ मनु॑र्हितो अग्ने॒ यज्ञे॑षु सीदसि । सेमं नो॑ अध्व॒रं य॑ज ॥११॥ [accent ?]

tvaṃ hotā́ mánur hitó ’gne yajñéṣu sīdasi | semáṃ no adhvaráṃ yaja ||11|| [accent ?]

(Line 2: the stroke over नो and the stroke near य of यज are read at 450 dpi; the second may stand over the end of अध्वरं.)

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

त्वम् । होता । मनुःऽहितः । अग्ने । यज्ञेषु । सीदसि ॥ सः । इमम् । नः । अध्वरम् । यज ॥११॥

tvam | hotā | manuḥ ’hitaḥ | agne | yajñeṣu | sīdasi || saḥ | imam | naḥ | adhvaram | yaja ||11||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे अग्ने मनुर्हितो मनुषा होत्रादिरूपेण मनुष्येण हितः सम्पादितो होमनिष्पादको यस्त्वं यज्ञेषु सीदसि तिष्ठसि स त्वं नो ऽस्मदीयमिममध्वरं यज्ञं यज निष्पादय ॥ मनुर्हितः । मन्यत इति मनुः । नित्येत्यनुवृत्तौ बहुलमन्यत्रापि । उ. २-१२२ [?] । उस् । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । हितः । धाञो धातो-

he agne manurhito manuṣā hotrādirūpeṇa manuṣyeṇa hitaḥ sampādito homaniṣpādako yastvaṃ yajñeṣu sīdasi tiṣṭhasi sa tvaṃ no ’smadīyamimamadhvaraṃ yajñaṃ yaja niṣpādaya || manurhitaḥ | manyata iti manuḥ | nityetyanuvṛttau bahulamanyatrāpi | u. 2-122 [?] | us | nittvādādyudāttaḥ | hitaḥ | dhāño dhāto-

Page 620 — Rik 11: bhāṣya (end), word-meanings, overall sense, English, Special Topics

-र्निष्ठेति क्तप्रत्ययः । दधातेर्हिरिति हिरादेशः । मनुषा हितो मनुर्हितः । कर्तृकरणे कृता बहुलमिति समासः । कृत्स्वरापवादेन तृतीया कर्मणीति पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं । सीदसि । षद्लृ विशरणगत्यवसादनेषु । लटः सिप् । शपि पाघ्रेत्यादिना सीदादेशः । निघातः । सेममित्यत्र संहितायां सो

ऽचि लोपे चेत्पादपूरणं । पा. ६-१-१३४ । इति सोर्लोपे गुणः । अध्वरं । न विद्यते ध्वरो हिंसा यस्मिन्सो ऽध्वरः । नञ्सुभ्यामित्युत्तरपदान्तोदात्तत्वं । नो अध्वरमित्यत्र संहितायामेङः पदान्तादति । पा. ६-१-१०९ । इति पूर्वरूपं प्राप्तं प्रकृत्यान्तःपादमव्यपर इति प्रकृतिभावान्निवर्तते ॥

-rniṣṭheti ktapratyayaḥ | dadhāterhiriti hirādeśaḥ | manuṣā hito manurhitaḥ | kartṛkaraṇe kṛtā bahulamiti samāsaḥ | kṛtsvarāpavādena tṛtīyā karmaṇīti pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ | sīdasi | ṣadlṛ viśaraṇagatyavasādaneṣu | laṭaḥ sip | śapi pāghretyādinā sīdādeśaḥ | nighātaḥ | semamityatra saṃhitāyāṃ so 'ci lope cetpādapūraṇaṃ | pā. 6-1-134 | iti sorlope guṇaḥ | adhvaraṃ | na vidyate dhvaro hiṃsā yasminso 'dhvaraḥ | nañsubhyāmityuttarapadāntodāttatvaṃ | no adhvaramityatra saṃhitāyāmeṅaḥ padāntādati | pā. 6-1-109 | iti pūrvarūpaṃ prāptaṃ prakṛtyāntaḥpādamavyapara iti prakṛtibhāvānnivartate ||

Translation: "O Agni, you who are manurhitaḥ, set up by man in the form of the hotṛ and others, the accomplisher of the homa, who sīdasi, sit, at the sacrifices: such as you are, yaja, accomplish, this our adhvara, sacrifice." (Grammatical tail: manuḥ, "who thinks", with us (Uṇ. "2-122" [?]), initial udātta; hitaḥ, kta after dhā with hi for it; manurhitaḥ, "set up by man", compounded by kartṛkaraṇe kṛtā bahulam, the first-member accent by tṛtīyā karmaṇi, an exception to the kṛt accent; sīdasi, sīd for sad, lowered; sa imam → semam in the Saṃhitā by Pā. 6-1-134, the loss of su to fill the pāda, then guṇa; adhvaram, "in which there is no harm", final udātta by nañsubhyām; no adhvaram: the pūrvarūpa of Pā. 6-1-109 is barred by prakṛtyāntaḥpādam avyapare.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

अग्ने (agne) — O Agni, (who) | त्वम् (tvam) — you | मनुर्हितः (manurhitaḥ) — appointed by men as hotṛ and the rest | होता (hotā) — as the accomplisher of the homa | यज्ञेषु (yajñeṣu) — at the times of our sacrifices | सीदसि (sīdasi) — sit (with us) | सः (saḥ) — such as you | नः (naḥ) — our | इमम् अध्वरम् (imam adhvaram) — this sacrifice | यज (yaja) — accomplish.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Agni, you bring the gods to the sacrifice and stay with us at the times of the sacrifices that we men perform. Such as you are, accomplish our sacrifice.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> O Agni, appointed by man as the invoker of the gods you are present at the sacrifice. Therefore perform this our sacrifice.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Manurhitaḥ:

> मन्यते इति मनुः । मनुषा होत्रादिरूपेण मनुष्येण हितः सम्पादितः ॥
>
> manyate iti manuḥ | manuṣā hotrādirūpeṇa manuṣyeṇa hitaḥ sampāditaḥ ||

Since the human sacrificer has appointed him to take part in the sacrificial rite, or since he bears the chief role in the sacrifice, he is the one placed in the fire-pit.

Page 621 — Rik 11: grammar

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 621–622, noted briefly)

मनुर्हितः (manurhitaḥ): manyate iti manuḥ; mana jñāne (divādi). With nit (Uṇ. sū. "2-2-64" [?]) carried on, "bahulam anyatrāpi" (Uṇ. sū. "2-128" [?]): after other roots too us comes variously, and it is nit; so us after man: manuḥ; initial udātta (nit). हितः (hitaḥ): ḍudhāñ dhāraṇapoṣaṇayoḥ + kta in the passive by "niṣṭhā" (Pā. sū. 3-2-102); hi for dhā by "dadhāter hiḥ" (7-4-42). Manuṣā hitaḥ: by "kartṛkaraṇe kṛtā bahulam" (Pā. sū. 2-1-32) a word in the third case denoting the agent or instrument is compounded with a fitting kṛdanta. "samāsasya" (Pā. sū. 6-1-223) would give final udātta; overriding it, "tatpuruṣe tulyārthatṛtīyā…" (Pā. sū. 6-2-2) the first-member accent; overriding that, "gatikārakopapadāt kṛt" (Pā. sū. 6-2-139) the kṛt second-member accent; overriding that, "thāthaghañktājabitrakāṇām" (Pā. sū. 6-2-144) final udātta; and overriding that too, "tṛtīyā karmaṇi" (Pā. sū. 6-2-48) the first-member accent. In the Vedabhāṣya, after kṛtsvarāpavādena, one must add thāthādisūtreṇāntodātte prāpte tadapavādena. So the Śekharakāra says plainly under "tṛtīyā karmaṇi":

> अयमपि थाथादिस्वरापवादः
>
> ayamapi thāthādisvarāpavādaḥ

that is, this too is an exception to the accent laid down by thāthaghañ….

सीदसि (sīdasi): ṣadḷ viśaraṇagatyavasādaneṣu; laṭ, 2nd singular sip; s for ṣ by "dhātvādeḥ ṣaḥ saḥ"; śap by "kartari śap"; sīd for sad by "pāghrādhmā…" (Pā. sū. 7-3-78): sīdasi; wholly unaccented by "tiṅṅatiṅaḥ".

सेमम् (semam): with sas + imam, "so 'ci lope cet pādapūraṇam" (Pā. sū. 6-1-134): if the loss fills the pāda, the su of sas drops before a vowel; so the s drops. If it did not drop, with sas + imam, ru by "sasajuṣo ruḥ" (Pā. sū. 8-2-66), y for the ru by "bhobhago…" (Pā. sū. 8-3-17): say + imam; y dropped by "lopaḥ śākalyasya" (Pā. sū. 8-3-19): sa + imam; then, when the guṇa of "ād guṇaḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-1-) is to be made, the loss of y by "lopaḥ śākalyasya" would be treated as not done by "pūrvatrāsi-ddham" (Pā. sū. 8-2-1); so, from the point of view of the rule giving guṇa, it is say imam; the a is not followed by i, so no guṇa, and it would have to stay sa imam. Then in semaṃ no adhvaraṃ yaja it would have to be sa imaṃ no adhvaraṃ yaja: the pāda would have nine syllables, one more than the eight that fill it, so the pāda would not be filled. When the s drops by "so 'ci" (Pā. sū. 6-1-134), "pūrvatrāsiddham" does not apply, so guṇa comes: semam. In semaṃ no adhvaraṃ yaja there are eight syllables, so the pāda is filled.

Page 622 — Rik 11: grammar (end)

अध्वरम् (adhvaram): na vidyate dhvaraḥ hiṃsā yasmin saḥ adhvaraḥ: that in which there is no harm. Being a bahuvrīhi, the first-member accent would come; overriding it, "nañsubhyām" (Pā. sū. 6-2-172) makes the second member final udātta. With nas + adhvaram, ru for the s by "sasajuṣo ruḥ" (Pā. sū. 8-2-66); u for the ru by "ato ror aplutād aplute" (Pā. sū. 6-1-113): na + u + adhvaram; guṇa by "ād guṇaḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-1-87): no + adhvaram. In the Saṃhitā "eṅaḥ padāntād ati" (Pā. sū. 6-1-109) would give pūrvarūpa when a short a follows a word-final e/o;

but “prakṛtyāntaḥpādam avyapare” (Pā. sū. 6-1-115) keeps the natural form for e/o inside a Ṛk-pāda before a short a not followed by v or y. So there is no pūrvarūpa; it stays no adhvaram.

॥११॥

---

Page 622 (lower) — Sūkta 14, Rik 12 (last rik of the sūkta)

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

युक्ष्वा ह्यरुषी॒ रथे॑ ह॒रितो॑ देव रो॒हितः॑ । ताभि॑र्दे॒वाँ इ॒हा व॑ह ॥१२॥

yukṣvā hy áruṣī ráthe haríto deva rohítaḥ | tābhir devā̃m̐ ihā́ vaha ||12||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

युक्ष्व । हि । अरुषीः । रथे । हरितः । देव । रोहितः ॥ ताभिः । देवान् । इह । आ । वह ॥१२॥

yukṣva | hi | aruṣīḥ | rathe | haritaḥ | deva | rohitaḥ || tābhiḥ | devān | iha | ā | vaha ||12||

Page 623 — Rik 12: bhāṣya, word-meanings, overall sense, English

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे देवाग्ने रोहितो रोहिच्छब्दाभिधेयास्त्वदीया वडवा रथे युक्ष्व । योजय । हिशब्दः पादपूरणार्थः । कीदृशीः । अरुषीर्गतिमतीर्हरितो हर्तुं रथारूढान्पुरुषान्नेतुं समर्थाः । ताभिर्वडवाभिरिहास्मिन्कर्मणि देवाना वह ॥ युक्ष्व । युजिर् योगे । लोट् । स्वरितेत्त्वादात्मनेपदं । थासः से । सवाभ्यां वामौ । रुधादिभ्यः श्नम् । तस्य बाहुलकाल्लुक् । कुत्वषत्वे । प्रत्ययस्वरेणान्तोदात्तः । संहितायां द्व्यचो ऽतस्तिङ इति दीर्घः । अरुषीः । ऋ गतौ । ऋच्छन्ति गच्छन्तीत्यरुष्यो वडवाः । ऋहनिभ्यामुषन् । उ. ४-७३ । धातोर्गुणो रपरत्वं । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तो ऽरुषशब्दः । तस्मात्स्त्रियां छान्दसो ङीप् । शसि प्रथमयोः पूर्वसवर्णः । पा. ६-१-१०२ । इति दीर्घः । रथे । रमेरौणादिकः क्थन्प्रत्ययः । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । हरितः । हृसृरुहियुषिभ्य इतिः । उ. १-९७ । इति हरतेरितिप्रत्ययः । इकारः प्रत्ययस्वरेणोदात्तः । रोहितः । रुहेरपि तेनैव सूत्रेणेतिः । इकारः प्रत्ययस्वरेणोदात्तः । ताभिः । सावेकाच इति विभक्तेः प्राप्तमुदात्तत्वं सावर्वर्णेति निषिध्यते । देवानित्यत्र पूर्ववद्भुत्वानुनासिकौ ॥ २७ ॥

he devāgne rohito rohicchabdābhidheyāstvadīyā vaḍavā rathe yukṣva | yojaya | hiśabdaḥ pādapūraṇārthaḥ | kīdṛśīḥ | aruṣīrgatimatīrharito hartuṃ rathārūḍhānpuruṣānnetuṃ samarthāḥ | tābhirvaḍavābhirihāsminkarmaṇi devānā vaha || yukṣva | yujir yoge | loṭ | svaritettvādātmanepadaṃ | thāsaḥ se | savābhyāṃ vāmau | rudhādibhyaḥ śnam | tasya bāhulakālluk | kutvaṣatve | pratyayasvareṇāntodāttaḥ | saṃhitāyāṃ dvyaco 'tastiṅa iti dīrghaḥ | aruṣīḥ | ṛ gatau | ṛcchanti gacchantītyaruṣyo vaḍavāḥ | ṛhanibhyāmuṣan | u. 4-73 | dhātorguṇo raparatvaṃ | nittvādādyudātto 'ruṣaśabdaḥ | tasmātstriyāṃ chāndaso ṅīp | śasi prathamayoḥ pūrvasavarṇaḥ | pā. 6-1-102 | iti dīrghaḥ | rathe | rameraṇādikaḥ kthanpratyayaḥ | nittvādādyudāttaḥ | haritaḥ | hṛsṛruhiyuṣibhya

itiḥ | u. 1-97 | iti harateritipratyayaḥ | ikāraḥ pratyayasvareṇodāttaḥ | rohitaḥ | ruherapi tenaiva sūtreṇetiḥ | ikāraḥ pratyayasvareṇodāttaḥ | tābhiḥ | sāvekāca iti vibhakteḥ prāptamudāttatvaṃ sāvarvarṇeti niṣidhyate | devānityatra pūrvavadrutvānunāsikau || 27 ||

Translation: "O god Agni, yukṣva, yoke, to the chariot your mares called by the word rohit. The word hi is to fill the pāda. What are they like? Aruṣīḥ, swift-moving; haritaḥ, able to carry, to take along, the men mounted on the chariot. With those mares bring the gods here to this rite." (Grammatical tail: yukṣva, yuj with loṭ, ātmanepada (svaritet), se for thās, v for the e, the śnam dropped, k and ṣ, final udātta by the suffix accent, lengthened in the Saṃhitā; aruṣīḥ, "the mares that go", uṣan after ṛ (Uṇ. 4-73), guṇa, aruṣa initial udātta, Vedic ṅīp, lengthening by Pā. 6-1-102; rathe with kthan, initial udātta; haritaḥ and rohitaḥ with iti (Uṇ. 1-97), the i udātta; tābhiḥ, the udātta of sāv ekācaḥ barred by sāv avarṇa…; devān as before. The closing "27" is the varga number.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

देव (deva) — O shining Agni | अरुषीः (aruṣīḥ) — able to run swiftly | हरितः (haritaḥ) — able to draw | रोहितः (rohitaḥ) — your mares named Rohit | रथे (rathe) — to the chariot | युक्ष्व (yukṣva) — join (yoke to the pole) | ताभिः (tābhiḥ) — with the help of those mares | इह (iha) — for this our sacrificial rite | देवान् (devān) — the gods | आ वह (ā vaha) — bring.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Agni, you are divine. Your mares called Rohit are strong; they can run swiftly; they can draw those seated without effort. Yoke those mares to your chariot and with their help bring the gods for this our sacrificial rite.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> Agni, harness your twany [sic] red mares to your chariot and by means of them bring the gods hither.

Page 624 — Rik 12: Special Topics and grammar

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Yukṣva: the final syllable is long in the Saṃhitā to suit the metre.

Aruṣīḥ:

> ऋ गतौ । ऋच्छन्ति गच्छन्तीत्यरुष्यो वडवाः ॥
>
> ṛ gatau | ṛcchanti gacchantītyaruṣyo vaḍavāḥ ||

The root ṛ has the sense of going. Since horses are endowed with motion, they are called aruṣyaḥ; aruṣīḥ is the accusative plural.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 624–626, noted briefly)

युक्ष्व (yukṣva): yujir yoge; loṭ; the root is svaritet, so the ātmanepada; 2nd singular thās; se for it by "thāsas se" (Pā. sū. 3-4-80); v for the e by "savābhyāṃ vāmau" (Pā. sū. 3-4-91); the vikaraṇa śnam by "rudhādibhyaḥ śnam" (Pā. sū. 3-1-78), dropped by "bahulaṃ chandasi" (Pā. sū. 2-4-73); yuj + sva: g for j by "coḥ kuḥ" (Pā. sū. 8-2-30); k by "khari ca" (Pā. sū. 8-4-55); ṣ for the s by "ādeśapratyayayoḥ" (Pā. sū. 8-3-59): yukṣva. At the head of the pāda and not after a word, so "tiṅṅatiṅaḥ" (Pā. sū. 8-1-28) does not make it wholly unaccented; the suffix accent makes it final udātta. In the Saṃhitā "dvyaco 'tas tiṅaḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-3-135) lengthens the a.

अरुषीः (aruṣīḥ): the root ṛ gatau. It is read in the bhvādi class as ṛ gatiprāpaṇayoḥ: laṭ, 3rd plural jhi, ant for jh by "jho 'ntaḥ", śap by "kartari śap" (Pā. sū. "4-1-68" [as printed, for 3-1-68]): ṛ + a + anti; ṛcch for ṛ by "pāghrādhmā…": ṛcchanti. Another root ṛ is read in the juhotyādi class as ṛ sṛ gatau: laṭ, jhi, śap, then the loss of śap by "juhotyādibhyaḥ śluḥ" (2-4-75), reduplication by "ślau": ṛ + ṛ + jhi; "urat" (Pā. sū. 7-4-66): a for the ṛ of the reduplicate, with r; i for the a by "artipiparttyoś ca"; ir + ṛ + jhi; the r removed by "halādiḥ śeṣaḥ"; jhi is ṅit by "sārvadhātukam apit", so the second ṛ takes no guṇa; iy for the i by "abhyāsasyāsavarṇe": iy + ṛ + jhi; "adabhyastāt" (Pā. sū. 7-1-4): at for the jh after a reduplicated stem; yaṇ by "iko yaṇ aci" (Pā. sū. 6-1-77), r for the ṛ:

Page 625 — Rik 12: grammar (continued)

iyrati. So from the root ṛ the form ranti does not arise. Here the analysis iyrati or ṛcchanti gacchanti iti aruṣyaḥ vaḍavāḥ is fitting. "ṛhanibhyām uṣan" (Uṇ. sū. "4-473" [?]; ṛ gatau, hana hiṃsāgatyoḥ): after these roots the suffix uṣan; so uṣan after ṛ; guṇa by "sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ", with r after it: aruṣa. In the Uṇādi text now available the reading is long, ṛhanibhyām ūṣan; on that reading the shortening of the ū here is Vedic. Aruṣa is initial udātta by the nit accent. After it, Vedic ṅīp; the a dropped by "yasyeti ca" (Pā. sū. 6-4-148): aruṣī; accusative plural śas; pūrvasavarṇa-dīrgha by "prathamayoḥ pūrvasavarṇaḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-1-102); ru, visarga: aruṣīḥ.

रथे (rathe): ramu krīḍāyām; ramante asminn iti rathaḥ. "hanikuṣinīramikāśibhyaḥ kthan" (Uṇ. sū. "2-159" [?]) gives the suffix kthan; "ekāca upadeśe 'nudāttāt" ("7-2-10") bars the iṭ; the m dropped by "anudāttopadeśa…" (Pā. sū. 6-4-37); initial udātta by the nit accent.

हरितः (haritaḥ): "hṛsṛruhiyuṣibhya itiḥ" (Uṇ. sū. "1-96" [?]; hṛñ haraṇe, sṛ gatau, ruha bījajanmani, yuṣ, a sautra root): the suffix iti; iti after hṛ: hṛ + it; guṇa by "sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ", with r: harit; the i udātta by the suffix accent; accusative plural.

रोहितः (rohitaḥ): ruha bījajanmani; iti after ruh too by "hṛsṛ…" (Uṇ. sū. "1-97" [?]); the i udātta by the suffix accent; laghūpadha-guṇa by "pugantalaghūpadhasya ca" (Pā. sū. 7-3-86), o for the u; accusative plural rohitaḥ.

ताभिः (tābhiḥ): tad + bhis; a for the d by "tyadādīnām aḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-2-102); pararūpa by "ato guṇe" (Pā. sū. 6-1-97); ṭāp by "ajādyataṣ ṭāp" (Pā. sū. 4-1-4), lengthening: tābhiḥ. The udātta that "sāv ekācas tṛtīyādir vibhaktiḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-1-168) would give the ending is barred by "na go-śvan-sāv-avarṇa…" (Pā. sū. 6-1-182); so by "anudāttau suppitau" (Pā. sū. 3-1-4) the ending is unaccented.

देवाँ इह (devāṁ iha): with devān + iha, in the Saṃhitā, ru for the n by "dīrghād aṭi samānapāde" (Pā. sū. "8-4-9" [as printed, for 8-3-9]); the ā nasalised by "āto 'ṭi nityam" (Pā. sū. 8-3-3);

Page 626 — Rik 12: grammar (end); close of Sūkta 14

y for the ru by "bhobhago…"; the y dropped by "lopaḥ śākalyasya" (Pā. sū. 8-3-19); since by "pūrvatrāsiddham" the loss of y is treated as not done, no guṇa by "ād guṇaḥ": devāṁ iha.

॥१२॥

(The sūkta ends here; the print has no separate colophon for Sūkta 14. The bhāṣya closes with the varga number "27", agreeing with the heading's "26, 27".)

---

॥ ಹದಿನೈದನೆಯ ಸೂಕ್ತವು ॥ — Sūkta 15 — "indra somaṃ piba" ("The Fifteenth Sūkta")

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥ (introductory note on the application of the sūkta; printed p. 626, lower half; re-read from the print)

> इन्द्र सोममित्यादिकस्य द्वादशर्चस्य चतुर्थस्य सूक्तस्य ऋषिच्छन्दसी पूर्ववत् । यद्यप्येतत्सूक्तं कृत्स्नमृतुदेवताकं तथापि प्रत्यृचमिन्द्रादिदेवतान्तराणि मिलितानि । तथा चानुक्रम्यते । इन्द्र सोममृतव्यं तत्रैन्द्री मारुती त्वाष्ट्र्याग्नेय्यैन्द्री मैत्रावरुणी चतस्रो द्रविणोदस आश्विनाग्नेय्य ऋतुदेवताः सर्वत्रेति ॥ विनियोगस्तु स्मार्तो द्रष्टव्यः ॥
>
> indra somam ity-ādikasya dvādaśarcasya caturthasya sūktasya ṛṣi-chandasī pūrvavat | yady apy etat sūktaṃ kṛtsnam ṛtu-devatākaṃ tathāpi pratyṛcam indrādi-devatāntarāṇi militāni | tathā cānukramyate | indra somam ṛtavyaṃ tatraindrī mārutī tvāṣṭryāgneyyaindrī maitrāvaruṇī catasro draviṇodasa āśvināgneyya ṛtu-devatāḥ sarvatreti || viniyogas tu smārto draṣṭavyaḥ ||

Translation: "The twelve-rik sūkta beginning indra somam is the fourth sūkta [of this anuvāka]; its ṛṣi and meter are as before [Medhātithi Kāṇva; Gāyatrī]. Although this whole sūkta has the Ṛtus (Seasons) for its deity, in each rik other deities, Indra and the rest, are joined with them. So the Anukramaṇikā says: 'indra somam ṛtavyam ("indra somam is to the Ṛtus"): there [the deities are] aindrī (Indra), mārutī (the Maruts), tvāṣṭrī (Tvaṣṭṛ), āgneyī (Agni), aindrī (Indra), maitrāvaruṇī (Mitra and Varuṇa), the four to the Draviṇodases, āśvinī (the Aśvins), āgneyī (Agni): the Ṛtus are the deities throughout.' Its application (viniyoga) is to be seen from the smārta usage."

॥ Anuvāda (Kannada rendering) ॥ The twelve-rik sūkta indra somaṃ piba, the fourth sūkta of the fourth anuvāka. Its ṛṣi and meter are as in the preceding sūkta. Although all the riks of this sūkta have the Ṛtus as deities, in each rik the deities Indra and others are joined with the Ṛtu. In the Anukramaṇikā: "indra somam ṛtavyam tatraindrī, mārutī, tvāṣṭrī, āgneyī, aindrī, maitrāvaruṇī, four [riks] to the draviṇodas, āśvinī, āgneyī; the Ṛtus are the deities in all" — that is, the whole sūkta is in praise of the Ṛtu-deities. With that Ṛtu, the deities Indra, the Maruts, Tvaṣṭṛ, Agni, Indra, Mitrāvaruṇau [belong] one to each rik; the next four riks have the deity Draviṇodāḥ, and of the remaining two riks the deities are in order the Aśvinau and Agni. The application is to be understood from the smārta usage.

Page 627 — Sūkta 15, Rik 1

॥ ॐ ॥

॥ Sūkta — 15 ॥ ॥ Maṇḍala — 1 ॥ Anuvāka — 4 ॥ Sūkta — 15 ॥ ॥ Aṣṭaka — 1 ॥ Adhyāya — 1 ॥ Varga — 28, 29 ॥ (as printed; Sūkta 14 closed with varga 27) ॥ Mantras contained in this sūkta: 1–12 ॥ ॥ Ṛṣi — Medhātithi Kāṇva ॥ ॥ Devatā —

ऋतवः । १- इन्द्रः । २- मरुतः । ३- त्वष्टा । ४- अग्निः । ५- इन्द्रः । ६- मित्रावरुणौ । ७-१०- द्रविणोदाः । ११- अश्विनौ । १२- अग्निः ।

ṛtavaḥ | 1- indraḥ | 2- marutaḥ | 3- tvaṣṭā | 4- agniḥ | 5- indraḥ | 6- mitrāvaruṇau | 7-10- draviṇodāḥ | 11- aśvinau | 12- agniḥ |

("The Ṛtus; 1 Indra, 2 the Maruts, 3 Tvaṣṭṛ, 4 Agni, 5 Indra, 6 Mitra and Varuṇa, 7–10 Draviṇodāḥ, 11 the Aśvins, 12 Agni.") ॥ ॥ Chandaḥ — Gāyatrī ॥

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. Line 1: the bars stand under द्र, म, ऋ and श, the strokes over ब, त्वा and द, as read at 500 dpi; with the stroke on त्वा the mechanical IAST gives both तु and ना as udātta, which the print does not settle.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

इन्द्र सोमं॑ पिब॑ ऋ॒तुना त्वा॑ वि॒शन्त्विन्द॑वः । [accent ?] म॒त्स॒रास॒स्तदो॑कसः ॥१॥

indra sómaṃ píba ṛtúnā tvā viśántv índavaḥ | [accent ?] matsarā́sas tádokasaḥ ||1||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

इन्द्र । सोमम् । पिब । ऋतुना । आ । त्वा । विशन्तु । इन्दवः ॥ मत्सरासः । तत्ऽओकसः ॥१॥

indra | somam | piba | ṛtunā | ā | tvā | viśantu | indavaḥ || matsarāsaḥ | tat 'okasaḥ || 1||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे इन्द्र ऋतुना सह सोमं पिब । इन्दवः पीयमानाः सोमास्त्वा त्वामा विशन्तु । कीदृशाः । मत्सरासस्तृप्तिकरास्तदोकसस्तन्निवासाः । सर्वदा त्वदुदरस्थायिन इत्यर्थः ॥ इन्द्र । षाष्ठिकमामन्त्रिताद्युदात्तत्वं । सोमं । आर्तिस्तुस्वित्या-

he indra ṛtunā saha somaṃ piba | indavaḥ pīyamānāḥ somāstvā tvāmā viśantu | kīdṛśāḥ | matsarāsastṛptikarāstadokasastannivāsāḥ | sarvadā tvadudarasthāyina ityarthaḥ || indra | ṣāṣṭhikamāmantritādyudāttatvaṃ | somaṃ | ārtistusvityā-

Page 628 — Rik 1: bhāṣya (end), word-meanings, overall sense, English, Special Topics

-दिना मन् । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । पिब । पिबा मित्रस्य । ऋग्वे. १-१४-१० । इत्यत्रोक्तं । अस्य त्वा विशन्त्वित्युत्तरवाक्यगताख्यातार्थेन सह समुच्चयार्थश्चशब्दो लुप्तः । अतश्चादिलोपे विभाषेतीयं प्रथमा

तिङ्विभक्तिर्न निहन्यते । विशन्त्विति चलोपसाम्ये ऽपि द्वितीयत्वान्निहन्यत एव । संहितायामाद्गुण इति प्राप्तस्य गुणस्य ऋत्यकः । पा. ६-१-१२८ । इति शाकल्यमते प्रकृतिभावादभावः । इन्दवः । प्र वो भ्रियन्त । ऋग्वे. १-१४-४ [?] । इत्यत्रोक्तं । मत्सरासः । तत्रैवोक्तं । आज्ञसेरसुगित्यसुक् । तदोकसः । तदेवौकः स्थानं येषां ते तथोक्ताः । बहुव्रीहौ पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं ॥

-dinā man | nittvādādyudāttaḥ | piba | pibā mitrasya | ṛgve. 1-14-10 | ityatroktaṃ | asya tvā viśantvityuttaravākyagatākhyātārthena saha samuccayārthaścaśabdo luptaḥ | ataścādilope vibhāṣetīyaṃ prathamā tiṅvibhaktirna nihanyate | viśantviti calopasāmye 'pi dvitīyatvānnihanyata eva | saṃhitāyāmādguṇa iti prāptasya guṇasya ṛtyakaḥ | pā. 6-1-128 | iti śākalyamate prakṛtibhāvādabhāvaḥ | indavaḥ | pra vo bhriyanta | ṛgve. 1-14-4 [?] | ityatroktaṃ | matsarāsaḥ | tatraivoktaṃ | ājjaserasugityasuk | tadokasaḥ | tadevaukaḥ sthānaṃ yeṣāṃ te tathoktāḥ | bahuvrīhau pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ ||

Translation: "O Indra, drink the soma together with the Ṛtu. May the indavaḥ, the soma juices being drunk, ā viśantu, enter you. What are they like? Matsarāsaḥ, causing satisfaction; tadokasaḥ, having that as their dwelling: the sense is that they always stay in your belly." (Grammatical tail: indra, initial udātta by the ṣāṣṭhika rule; somam with man, initial udātta; piba, as said at Ṛ. 1-14-10; the word ca joining it with the verb of the next clause, tvā viśantu, is dropped, so by cādilope vibhāṣā this first tiṅ form is not lowered, while viśantu, being the second, is; in the Saṃhitā the guṇa of ād guṇaḥ does not come, by Śākalya's view in Pā. 6-1-128 (ṛty akaḥ); indavaḥ and matsarāsaḥ as said at Ṛ. "1-14-4" [?], asuk by ājjaser asuk; tadokasaḥ, "whose dwelling is that", a bahuvrīhi with the first-member accent.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

इन्द्र (indra) — O Indra | ऋतुना सह (ṛtunā saha) — together with the Ṛtu deity | सोमम् (somam) — the soma juice | पिब (piba) — drink | मत्सरासः (matsarāsaḥ) — giving satisfaction | इन्दवः (indavaḥ) — the soma juices | तदोकसः (tadokasaḥ) — having your belly as their very dwelling | त्वाम् (tvām) — you (your belly) | आ विशन्तु (ā viśantu) — may they enter.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Indra, drink the soma juice with the Ṛtu deity. It gives you satisfaction. And may it enter your belly so as to stay in your belly always as its home.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> Indra, drink with the Ritu (season) the Soma juice; let the satisfying drops enter your stomach and stay there (as if that were their home).

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Tadokasaḥ:

> तन्निवासाः । सर्वदा त्वदुदरस्थायिन इत्यर्थः । तदेवौकः स्थानं येषां ते तदोकसः ॥

tannivāsāḥ | sarvadā tvadudarasthāyina ityarthaḥ | tadevaukaḥ sthānaṃ yeṣāṃ te tadokasaḥ ||

That is, your belly, which is that very dwelling, is always the dwelling of the soma juice. "May the soma juice always be in your belly" means "may you always be drinking soma".

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 628–629, noted briefly)

इन्द्र (indra): initial udātta by the sixth-adhyāya sūtra "āmantritasya ca" (Pā. sū. 6-1-198).

Page 629 — Rik 1: grammar (end)

सोमम् (somam): the suffix man by "artistusu…" (Uṇ. sū. "1-1-36" [as printed]); being nit, initial udātta by the nit accent.

पिब (piba): explained at pibā mitrasya (Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-14-10). Here the word ca, which would join it with the verb (tiṅanta) of the following clause ā tvā viśantu, is dropped, that is, not used. So by "cādilope vibhāṣā" (Pā. sū. 8-1-63): when ca, vā, ha, aha, eva are dropped, the first tiṅanta is not unaccented. The śāstra does not enjoin a dropping of ca, vā and the rest; so "dropping" here means not using them: since the sense of ca is understood from the meaning and context, ca and the rest are not used. Ca means conjunction; aha means "only". When the two tiṅantas have the same agent, ca is dropped; when the agents differ, aha is dropped. This rule holds only when eva, meaning restriction, is used, not everywhere. Where they are so left unused, the tiṅanta is not lowered. In viśantu too the dropping of ca is alike, but it is not the first tiṅanta, so it is lowered. Piba + ṛtunā: in the Saṃhitā guṇa would come by "ād guṇaḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-1-87); but "ṛty akaḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-1-128): in Śākalya's view the a, i, u, ṛ at the end of a word before a short ṛ is short (natural form); so the a of piba stays short. By the force of this rule of shortness the guṇa does not come; the commentators explain it as natural form with this result in mind.

इन्दवः (indavaḥ): its formation is set out at the mantra pra vo bhriyanta indavaḥ (Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-14-4). Here the augment asuk comes by "ājjaser asuk" (Pā. sū. 7-1-50) [for matsarāsaḥ].

तदोकसः (tadokasaḥ): tat okaḥ sthānaṃ yeṣāṃ te tadokasaḥ: the soma juices whose dwelling is Indra's belly itself. Being a bahuvrīhi compound, by "bahuvrīhau prakṛtyā pūrvapadam" (Pā. sū. 6-2-1) the first-member accent comes.

॥१॥

---

Page 629 (lower) — Sūkta 15, Rik 2

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

मरु॑तः पिब॑त ऋ॒तुना॑ पो॒त्राद्य॒ज्ञं पु॑नीतन । यू॒यं हि ष्ठा सु॑दानवः ॥२॥ [accent ?]

márutaḥ píbata ṛtúnā potrā́d yajñáṃ punītana | yūyáṃ hi ṣṭhā́ sudānavaḥ ||2|| [accent ?]

(Line 2: the foot of the page cuts off any bars; only the stroke over सु is legible.)

Page 630 — Rik 2: Pada and bhāṣya

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

मरुतः । पिबत । ऋतुना । पोत्रात् । यज्ञम् । पुनीतन ॥ यूयम् । हि । स्थ । सुऽदानवः ॥२॥

marutaḥ | pibata | ṛtunā | potrāt | yajñam | punītana || yūyam | hi | stha | su 'dānavaḥ ||2||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे मरुत ऋतुना सह पोत्रात्पोतृनामकस्य ऋत्विजः पात्रात्सोमं पिबत । ततो ऽस्मदीयं यज्ञं पुनीतन । शोधयत । हे सुदानवः शोभनदातारो मरुतः । हि यस्माद्यूयं स्थ युष्माकं शोधयितृत्वं प्रसिद्धं । तस्माच्छोधयतेत्यर्थः ॥ पिबत । अत्र तिङो ऽदुपदेशाच्छपः परत्वाल्लसार्वधातुकानुदात्तत्वं । धातुस्वरः । पूर्वामन्त्रितस्याविद्यमानवत्त्वेन पदादपरत्वान्निघाताभावः । पूर्ववत्प्रकृतिभावः । पोत्रात् । पोतुः सम्बन्धि पात्रं पोत्रं । तस्येदमित्यण् । तद्धितेष्वचामादेः । पा. ७-२-११७ । इति प्राप्ता वृद्धिः सर्वे विधयश्छन्दसि विकल्प्यन्त इति न भवति । नन्वेवमन्त्यस्य ऋकारस्याचो ञ्णिति । पा. ७-२-११५ । इति वृद्धिः प्राप्नोति । त्वाष्ट्रो जागत इत्यत्र हि विप्रतिषेधे परं कार्यं । पा. १-४-२ । इति परयादिवृद्ध्यान्त्योपधलक्षणा वृद्धिर्बाध्यत इत्युक्तं । इह तु परस्या आदिवृद्धेश्छान्दसत्वेन निवृत्तत्वादन्त्यवृद्धिः प्राप्नोत्येवेति । एवं तर्ह्यत्राप्यादिवृद्धिरौकारः क्रियतां । तस्य तु छान्दस ओकारो भविष्यति । पुनीतन । पूञ् पवने । लोट् । लोटो लङ्वत् । पा. ३-४-८५ । इति लङ्वद्भावात्तस्य तस्थस्थमिपामिति तादेशः । क्र्यादिभ्यः श्ना । ई हल्यघोरितीकारः । तप्तनप्तनथनाश्चेति तनादेशः । प्वादीनां ह्रस्व इति ह्रस्वः । प्रत्ययद्वयस्यापि सार्वधातुकमपिदिति ङित्त्वात्तत्पूर्वयोरिकोर्गुणाभावः । यूयं । युष्मदः परस्य जसो ऽकं प्रथमयोरम् । पा. ७-१-२८ । इत्यमादेशः । न विभक्तौ तुस्माः । पा. १-३-४ । इति मकारस्येत्संज्ञाप्रतिषेधः । यूयवयौ जसि । पा. ७-२-९३ । इति मपर्यन्तस्य यूयादेशः । शेषे लोपः । अत्र यूयादेशात्प्रा-

he maruta ṛtunā saha potrātpotṛnāmakasya ṛtvijaḥ pātrātsomaṃ pibata | tato 'smadīyaṃ yajñaṃ punītana | śodhayata | he sudānavaḥ śobhanadātāro marutaḥ | hi yasmādyūyaṃ stha yuṣmākaṃ śodhayitṛtvaṃ prasiddhaṃ | tasmācchodhayatetyarthaḥ || pibata | atra tiṅo 'dupadeśācchapaḥ paratvāllasārvadhātukānudāttatvaṃ | dhātusvaraḥ | pūrvāmantritasyāvidyamānavattvena padādaparatvānnighātābhāvaḥ | pūrvavatprakṛtibhāvaḥ | potrāt | potuḥ sambandhi pātraṃ potraṃ | tasyedamityaṇ | taddhiteṣvacāmādeḥ | pā. 7-2-117 | iti prāptā vṛddhiḥ sarve vidhayaśchandasi vikalpyanta iti na bhavati | nanvevamantyasya ṛkārasyāco ñṇiti | pā. 7-2-115 | iti vṛddhiḥ prāpnoti | tvāṣṭro jāgata ityatra hi vipratiṣedhe paraṃ kāryaṃ | pā. 1-4-2 | iti parayādivṛddhyāntyopadhalakṣaṇā vṛddhirbādhyata ityuktaṃ | iha tu parasyā ādivṛddheśchāndasatvena nivṛttatvādantyavṛddhiḥ prāpnotyeveti | evaṃ tarhyatrāpyādivṛddhiraukāraḥ kriyatāṃ | tasya tu chāndasa okāro bhaviṣyati | punītana | pūñ pavane | loṭ | loṭo laṅvat | pā. 3-4-85 | iti laṅvadbhāvāttasya tasthasthamipāmiti tādeśaḥ | kryādibhyaḥ śnā | ī halyaghoritīkāraḥ | taptanaptanathanāśceti tanādeśaḥ | pvādīnāṃ hrasva iti hrasvaḥ | pratyayadvayasyāpi sārvadhātukamapiditi ṅittvāttatpūrvayorikorguṇābhāvaḥ |

yūyaṃ | yuṣmadaḥ parasya jaso ṅe prathamayoram | pā. 7-1-28 | ityamādeśaḥ | na vibhaktau tusmāḥ | pā. 1-3-4 | iti makārasyetsaṃjñāpratiṣedhaḥ | yūyavayau jasi | pā. 7-2-93 | iti maparyantasya yūyādeśaḥ | śeṣe lopaḥ | atra yūyādeśātprā-

Page 631 — Rik 2: bhāṣya (end), word-meanings, overall sense, English, Special Topics

-गेवान्तरङ्गत्वात्प्रातिपदिकस्यान्तोदात्तत्वं । शेषनिघातः । ततो यूयादेशः स्थाने ऽन्तरतमः । पा. १-१-५० । इति सर्वानुदात्तः । तत्र शेषे लोपो ऽन्त्यलोप इति पक्षे पूर्वसवर्णदीर्घत्वं बाधित्वा यो ऽयममि पूर्वः । पा. ६-१-१०७ । इति प्रातिपदिकान्तेनोदात्तेन सहानुदात्तस्य सुप एकादेशः स एकादेश उदात्तेनोदात्त इत्युदात्तः । टिलोपपक्षे तूदात्तनिवृत्तिस्वरेण विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वं । स्थ । अस भुवि । लटो मध्यमबहुवचनं थ । अदिप्रभृतिभ्यः शप इति शपो लुक् । श्नसोरल्लोप इत्यकारलोपः । व्यत्ययेन षत्वं । हि चेति निषेधात्तिङ्ङतिङ इति निघातो न भवति । संहिता-

-gevāntaraṅgatvātprātipadikasyāntodāttatvaṃ | śeṣanighātaḥ | tato yūyādeśaḥ sthāne 'ntaratamaḥ | pā. 1-1-50 | iti sarvānudāttaḥ | tatra śeṣe lopo 'ntyalopa iti pakṣe pūrvasavarṇadīrghatvaṃ bādhitvā yo 'yamami pūrvaḥ | pā. 6-1-107 | iti prātipadikāntenodāttena sahānudāttasya supa ekādeśaḥ sa ekādeśa udāttenodātta ityudāttaḥ | ṭilopapakṣe tūdāttanivṛttisvareṇa vibhakterudāttatvaṃ | stha | asa bhuvi | laṭo madhyamabahuvacanaṃ tha | adiprabhṛtibhyaḥ śapa iti śapo luk | śnasorallopa ityakāralopaḥ | vyatyayena ṣatvaṃ | hi ceti niṣedhāttiṅṅatiṅa iti nighāto na bhavati | saṃhitā-

-यामन्येषामपि दृश्यत इति दीर्घत्वं । अत्र हे सुदानवो यूयं हि स्थेति विवक्षितं । सुदानवः । दाभाभ्यां नुः । उ. ३-३२ । सोः प्रादिसमासः । आमन्त्रितनिघातः । अत्र यूयमित्युद्दिश्य सुदानवः स्थेति न विधीयते येनानामन्त्रितत्वान्निघातो न स्यात् । किन्तु सुदानव इति सिद्धवद्दातृत्वेन सम्बोध्य तेषु तेषु मारुतसूक्तेषु मरुतां प्रसिद्धात्प्रभावातिशयाद्यूयं स्थेति युष्मच्छब्देन प्रतिनिर्दिश्य पुनीतनेति प्रार्थने पवने तेषां हेतुत्वं हिशब्देनोच्यते ॥

-yāmanyeṣāmapi dṛśyata iti dīrghatvaṃ | atra he sudānavo yūyaṃ hi stheti vivakṣitaṃ | sudānavaḥ | dābhābhyāṃ nuḥ | u. 3-32 | soḥ prādisamāsaḥ | āmantritanighātaḥ | atra yūyamityuddiśya sudānavaḥ stheti na vidhīyate yenānāmantritatvānnighāto na syāt | kintu sudānava iti siddhavaddātṛtvena sambodhya teṣu teṣu mārutasūkteṣu marutāṃ prasiddhātprabhāvātiśayādyūyaṃ stheti yuṣmacchabdena pratinirdiśya punītaneti prārthane pavane teṣāṃ hetutvaṃ hiśabdenocyate ||

Translation: "O Maruts, together with the Ṛtu, drink the soma from the vessel of the priest called Potṛ. Then punītana, purify, our sacrifice. O sudānavaḥ, good givers, Maruts: for hi, since, you are (such); your power to purify is well known; so purify: that is the sense." (Grammatical tail: pibata: the ending unaccented after the śap of adupadeśa, the root accent; not lowered, since the vocative before it counts as absent and it is not after a word; natural form as before; potrāt, "the Potṛ's vessel", aṇ; the initial vṛddhi (Pā. 7-2-117) is optional in the Veda and does not come; then the final vṛddhi of Pā. 7-2-115 would come (in tvāṣṭro jāgataḥ it is overridden by the later initial vṛddhi, Pā. 1-4-2, but here that later rule is withdrawn as Vedic); "then let the initial vṛddhi au be made here too, and it will become a Vedic o"; punītana: pū with loṭ, ta, śnā, ī, tana, shortening, no guṇa (ṅit); yūyam: am for jas (Pā. 7-1-28), its m not it (Pā. 1-3-4), yūya for the part up to m (Pā. 7-2-93), śeṣe lopaḥ; the stem accent comes first as antaraṅga, then the unaccented yūya by Pā. 1-1-50; am by Pā. 6-1-107, udātta as a single replacement; on the ṭi-loss view the ending is udātta by the udāttanivṛtti accent; stha: as, tha, śap dropped, the a dropped, ṣ by vyatyaya, not lowered because of hi, lengthened in the Saṃhitā; sudānavaḥ with nu (Uṇ. 3-32), a prādi compound, lowered as a vocative: the sense intended is "O good givers, you are (such)", not a predication "you are good givers", else it would not be a vocative and would not be lowered; hi gives the reason, the Maruts' well-known power praised in the Māruta sūktas.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

मरुतः (marutaḥ) — O Maruts | ऋतुना (ṛtunā) — together with the Ṛtu deity | पोत्रात् (potrāt) — from the vessel of the priest called Potṛ | पिबत (pibata) — drink (the soma juice); (then) | यज्ञम् (yajñam) — our sacrifice | पुनीतन (punītana) — make pure | सुदानवः (sudānavaḥ) — Marut deities who give well what is desired | यूयम् (yūyam) — you | हि स्थ (hi stha) — are you not known in the mantras as such?

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Maruts, first drink the soma juice of our sacrifice from the vessel of the priest called Potṛ together with the Ṛtu deity, and then make our sacrifice pure. O Maruts, who give what is desired, are you not the ones famed in the mantras as so mighty?

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> O Maruts, drink with Ritu from the Potri's sacrificial cup; consecrate the sacrifice, for you are great givers.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Potrāt: one of the sixteen priests who take part in the sacrifice is called Potṛ. He ordinarily works together with the priest called Neṣṭṛ. Here, for the words potrāt pibata, the Bhāṣyakāra explains

> पोतुः सम्बन्धिपात्रात् सोमं पिबत
>
> potuḥ sambandhipātrāt somaṃ pibata

"drink the soma juice in the Potṛ's vessel".

Sudānavaḥ:

> शोभनदातारः । अथवा सुष्ठु दातारः
>
> śobhanadātāraḥ | athavā suṣṭhu dātāraḥ

those who give good things, or who give well (abundantly).

Page 632 — Rik 2: grammar

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 632–635, noted briefly)

पिबत (pibata): pā pāne; loṭ, 2nd plural tha. "loṭo laṅvat" (Pā. sū. 3-4-85): the operations of laṅ come for loṭ, so the laṅvadbhāva is an atideśa:

अतिदेशः = तद्धर्माभाववति तद्धर्मबोधकत्वम् atideśaḥ = taddharmābhāvavati taddharmabodhakatvam

that is, ascribing a property to what lacks it: loṭ does not have the form of laṅ, so the laṅ operations could not come, but they come by this sūtra. Ta for tha by "tasthasthamipāṃ tāṃtaṃtāmaḥ" (Pā. sū. "3-4-100" [as printed, for 3-4-101]); śap; pib for pā by "pāghrādhmā…" (Pā. sū. 7-3-78): pibata. Śap is pit, so unaccented; the ta, a sārvadhātuka for a lakāra, follows the a-final śap, so it is unaccented by "tāsyanudāttenṅidadupadeśāt" (Pā. sū. 6-1-186); the root accent remains. The vocative marutaḥ before it is treated as absent by "āmantritaṃ pūrvam avidyamānavat" (Pā. sū. "8-1-2" [as printed, for 8-1-72]); so pibata does not follow a word and is at the head of the pāda, and "tiṅṅatiṅaḥ" does not make it wholly unaccented.

पोत्रात् (potrāt): potuḥ idam (the vessel belonging to the Potṛ). "tasyedam" (Pā. sū. 4-3-120): after the genitive of a fitting prātipadika, the suffix aṇ in the sense "this belongs to it". Of the two fitting words potuḥ and idam, the first named in the sūtra is tasya; so after the genitive potuḥ, aṇ in the sense idam: potṛ + as + a; a prātipadika by "kṛttaddhitasamāsāś ca" (Pā. sū. 1-2-46); the ending dropped by "supo dhātuprātipadikayoḥ" (Pā. sū. 2-4-71): potṛ + a. "taddhiteṣv acām ādeḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-2-117) would give vṛddhi to the first vowel; but by

सर्वे विधयश्छन्दसि विकल्प्यन्ते

sarve vidhayaśchandasi vikalpyante

(paribhāṣā 35) this vṛddhi is optional and does not come. Without it, "aco ñṇiti" (Pā. sū. 7-2-115) would give vṛddhi to the final ṛ of potṛ: for the su after go, "goto ṇit" (Pā. sū. 7-1-90) gives ṇit; su is not a taddhita, so no initial vṛddhi, and "aco ñṇiti" has scope there; after pac, ṇvul gives aka: pac + aka here neither initial nor final vṛddhi applies; "ata upadhāyāḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-2-116) gives the penultimate vṛddhi: pācaka; so the penultimate vṛddhi has scope there. Sauśrutaḥ, suśrutaḥ apatyaṃ pumān: "tasyāpatyam" (Pā. sū. 4-1-92) aṇ: suśrut + a; the stem does not end in a vowel, so no final vṛddhi by "aco ñṇiti" (Pā. sū. 7-2-115); the penultimate is not a, so no penultimate vṛddhi; where final and penultimate vṛddhi do not come, the initial vṛddhi has scope. So each of the three has its own field. In tvaṣṭuḥ apatyaṃ pumān tvāṣṭraḥ, with aṇ after tvaṣṭṛ in the sense of apatya, both final and initial vṛddhi apply; in jagat + a, both penultimate and initial vṛddhi. When so, "vipratiṣedhe paraṃ kāryam" (Pā. sū. 1-4-2): when rules that have scope elsewhere apply to one case at one time, that is vipratiṣedha, and the later rule wins; so in both places the later initial vṛddhi overrides the final and penultimate vṛddhi. Once the initial vṛddhi has come, by

सकृद्गतौ विप्रतिषेधेन यद्बाधितं तद्बाधितमेव

sakṛdgatau vipratiṣedhena yadbādhitaṃ tadbādhitameva

(paribhāṣā 40) the final and penultimate vṛddhi do not come again. Since Puṣkarasad is read in the anuśatikādi class for vṛddhi of both members, here

पुनःप्रसङ्गविज्ञानात्सिद्धम्

punaḥprasaṅgavijñānātsiddham

(paribhāṣā 39) does not apply: on the view that relies on this paribhāṣā, with puṣkarasad + i, if both initial and penultimate vṛddhi came, the form pauṣkarasādi would be got, and the reading of puṣkarasad in anuśatikādi for vṛddhi of both members by "anuśatikādīnāṃ ca" (Pā. sū. 7-3-20) would be useless. So here the sakṛdgati applies, not the punaḥprasaṅga. Thus the initial vṛddhi overrides the final and penultimate vṛddhi. The Kaumudī states this point as

आदिवृद्धिरन्त्योपधावृद्धी बाधते

ādivṛddhirantyopadhāvṛddhī bādhate

Here the overriding initial vṛddhi does not come, being optional in the Veda, so the final vṛddhi is not overridden, and one may say the final vṛddhi should come. On that view, let the initial vṛddhi come here too: in pautra the au becomes o as a Vedic form, they say. Then, being overridden by the initial vṛddhi, the final vṛddhi does not come.

पुनीतन (punītana): pūñ pavane (kryādi); loṭ, parasmaipada 2nd plural tha: pū + tha; by "loṭo laṅvat" (Pā. sū. 3-4-85) the laṅvadbhāva, so ta for tha by "tasthasthamipāṃ tāṃtaṃtāmaḥ" (Pā. sū. 3-4-101); tana for ta by "taptanaptanathanāś ca" (Pā. sū. 7-1-45): pū + tana; the vikaraṇa śnā by "kryādibhyaḥ śnā" (Pā. sū. 3-1-81): pū + nā + tana. "ī halyaghoḥ"

(Pā. sū. 6-4-113): before a consonant-initial sārvadhātuka that is kit or ṅit, ī for the ā of śnā and of reduplicated stems: pū + nī + tana; pū shortened by "pvādīnāṃ hrasvaḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-3-80): punītana. Both nī and tana are apit sārvadhātukas, so ṅit by "sārvadhātukam apit" (Pā. sū. 1-2-4); "kṅiti ca" (Pā. sū. 1-1-5) bars guṇa; so neither the ī before tana nor the u before nī takes guṇa by "sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-3-84).

यूयम् (yūyam): "yuṣyasibhyāṃ madik" (Uṇ. sū. 1-136): yuṣ is a sautra root; after it the suffix madik: yuṣmad, final udātta by the suffix accent. On the view

उणादयो ऽव्युत्पन्नानि प्रातिपदिकानि

uṇādayo 'vyutpannāni prātipadikāni

(paribhāṣā 22), that words formed by Uṇādi sūtras are underived stems without division into base and suffix, it is final udātta by "phiṣo 'nta udāttaḥ" (Phi. sū. 1). Yuṣmad + jas; "ṅe prathamayor am" (Pā. sū. "7-1-25" [?]): am for the first and second case endings after yuṣmad and asmad: yuṣmad + am. The m of am would be it by "hal antyam" (Pā. sū. 1-3-3), but "na vibhaktau tusmāḥ" (Pā. sū. 1-3-4) bars it for dentals, s and m in an ending. "yūyavayau jasi" (Pā. sū. 7-2-93): before jas, yūya and vaya for the part up to m of yuṣmad and asmad: yūya + ad + am. Śeṣe lopaḥ comes with reference to an ending that is not the cause of ātva or yatva; so, its cause being outside, it is bahiraṅga; the pararūpa of "ato guṇe", whose cause is inside, is antaraṅga. So by असिद्धं बहिरङ्गमन्तरङ्गे

asiddhaṃ bahiraṅgamantaraṅge

(paribhāṣā 50) śeṣe lopaḥ counts as not done, and the pararūpa comes first; though śeṣe lopaḥ is later, it does not come first. With pararūpa: yuṣmad + am. Then "śeṣe lopaḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-2-90) comes. Here, before the bahiraṅga yūya replacement, being antaraṅga, the suffix accent or the stem accent comes first. By "anudāttaṃ padam ekavarjam" (Pā. sū. 6-1-158) the śeṣanighāta makes yuṣma unaccented; then by the paribhāṣā "sthāne 'ntaratamaḥ" (Pā. sū. 1-1-50) the wholly unaccented yūya comes in place of the unaccented yuṣma. The pararūpa, a single replacement, of yūya + ad is udātta by "ekādeśa udāttenodāttaḥ" (Pā. sū. 8-2-5). "śeṣe lopaḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-2-90): before an ending other than the causes of ātva and yatva, the final of yuṣmad/asmad drops: that is the sense of the sūtra; on the view that the final drops, the d drops: yūya + am. "ami pūrvaḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-1-107) gives pūrvarūpa as the single replacement; the a so arising is udātta by "ekādeśa udāttenodāttaḥ" (Pā. sū. 8-2-5). Taking "śeṣe lopaḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-2-90) with śeṣa as a locative in the sense of place, the sense is: before such an ending, the ad after the m-portion drops; then in yūyad + am the ad drops. On this view the udātta ad drops with reference to the unaccented am; so by the udāttanivṛtti accent "anudāttasya ca yatrodāttalopaḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-1-161) the ending becomes udātta. On both views yūyam is final udātta.

Page 635 — Rik 2: grammar (end)

स्थ (stha): asa bhuvi; laṭ, parasmaipada 2nd plural tha; the vikaraṇa śap of "kartari śap" is dropped by "adiprabhṛtibhyaḥ śapaḥ"; as + tha; "śnasor allopaḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-4-111): the a of śnam and of as drops before a kit or ṅit sārvadhātuka: stha. By vyatyaya ṣ for the s; ṭh by "ṣṭunā ṣṭuḥ" (Pā. sū. 8-4-41): ṣṭha. By "hi ca" (Pā. sū. 8-1-34) a tiṅanta joined with hi is not unaccented; here there is the use of hi, so the bar applies, and "tiṅṅatiṅaḥ" does not lower it. In the Saṃhitā it is lengthened by "anyeṣām api dṛśyate".

सुदानवः (sudānavaḥ): "dābhābhyāṃ nuḥ" (Uṇ. sū. 3-32; ḍudāñ dāne, bhā dīptau): after these the suffix nu: dānu. With su, a compound by "kugatiprādayaḥ" (Pā. sū. 2-2-18); vocative plural; it is a vocative, so wholly unaccented by "āmantritasya ca" (Pā. sū. 8-1-19). Here sudānavaḥ is not taken as a nominative plural with yūyaṃ sudānavaḥ stha, predicating "you are well-known givers" of the Maruts meant by yūyam; for then sudānavaḥ would not be a vocative, and its vocative lowering would not fit. So sudānavaḥ is a vocative plural, and the intended sense is he sudānavaḥ yūyaṃ hi stha: "O Maruts, well-known givers, you are endowed with the great power set out in the several Māruta sūktas": addressing the Maruts by their established generosity as sudānavaḥ, and pointing back by yūyam to the great powers famed in those sūktas, when one prays punītana, "purify", the word hi conveys that those great powers, gathered under the word yuṣmad, are the reason for the purifying.

॥२॥

---

Page 635 (lower) — Sūkta 15, Rik 3

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. The Pada prints नेष्टरिति for the vocative नेष्टः.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

अ॒भि य॒ज्ञं गृ॑णीहि नो॒ ग्नावो॒ नेष्टः॒ पिब॑ ऋ॒तुना॑ । त्वं हि र॑त्न॒धा असि॑ ॥३॥

abhí yajñáṃ gṛṇīhi no gnāvo néṣṭaḥ píba ṛtúnā | tvaṃ hí ratnadhā ási ||3||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

अभि । यज्ञम् । गृणीहि । नः । ग्नावः । नेष्टरिति । पिब । ऋतुना ॥ त्वम् । हि । रत्नऽधाः । असि ॥३॥

abhi | yajñam | gṛṇīhi | naḥ | gnāvaḥ | neṣṭariti | piba | ṛtunā || tvam | hi | ratna 'dhāḥ | asi ||3||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

ग्नाशब्दः स्त्रीवाची । तथा च यास्क आह । मेना ग्ना इति स्त्रीणां मेना मानयन्त्येना ग्ना गच्छन्त्येनाः । नि. ३-२१ । इति । ग्ना अस्य सन्तीति ग्नावान् । नेष्टृशब्दो ऽत्र त्वष्टारं देवमाह । कस्मिंश्चिद्देवसत्रे नेष्टृत्वेन त्वष्टुर्वर्तितत्वात् । हे ग्नावः पत्नीयुक्त नेष्टस्त्वष्टः नो ऽस्मदीयं यज्ञमभि गृणीहि । अभितो देवानां समीपे स्तुहि । ऋतुना सह त्वं सोमं पिब । हि यस्मात्त्वं रत्नधा असि रत्नानां दाता भवसि तस्मात्सोमं पातुमर्हसीत्यर्थः ॥ अभि । उपसर्गाश्चाभिवर्जं । फि. ४-१३ । इति पर्युदासादभेरन्तोदात्तत्वं । गृणीहि । गॄ शब्दे । लोटि सिपो हिः । क्र्यादिभ्यः श्ना । हेर्ङित्त्वादी हल्यघोरितीत्वं । श्नाप्रत्ययस्य ङित्त्वाद्गुणाभावः । प्वादीनां ह्रस्वः । तिङ्ङतिङ इति निघातः । ग्ना अस्य सन्तीति मतुप् । व्यत्ययेन वत्वं । सम्बुद्धौ मतुवसो रुरिति रुत्वं । विसर्गः । पादादित्वेनामन्त्रितनिघाताभावात्षाष्ठिकमामन्त्रिताद्युदात्तत्वं । ग्नाव इत्यस्य विशेषणतया विशेषवचनत्वान्नामन्त्रिते समानाधिकरण इति निषेधाभावादविद्यमानवत्त्वेनोत्तरस्य नेष्टृशब्दस्य षाष्ठिकमाद्युदात्तत्वं । पिब । शपः पित्त्वाद्धातुस्वरः । पूर्वयोरामन्त्रितयोरविद्यमानवत्त्वेन निघाताभावः । रत्नानि दधातीति रत्नधाः । क्विप्चेति क्विप् । धातुस्वरः । समासे कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वेन स एव शिष्यते । असि । सिपः पित्त्वाद्धातुस्वरः । तिङ्ङतिङ इति निघातो न भवति हि चेति प्रतिषेधात् ॥

gnāśabdaḥ strīvācī | tathā ca yāska āha | menā gnā iti strīṇāṃ menā mānayantyenā gnā gacchantyenāḥ | ni. 3-21 | iti | gnā asya santīti gnāvān | neṣṭṛśabdo 'tra tvaṣṭāraṃ devamāha | kasmiṃściddevasatre neṣṭṛtvena tvaṣṭurvartitatvāt | he gnāvaḥ patnīyukta neṣṭastvaṣṭaḥ no 'smadīyaṃ yajñamabhi gṛṇīhi | abhito devānāṃ samīpe stuhi | ṛtunā saha tvaṃ somaṃ piba | hi yasmāttvaṃ ratnadhā asi ratnānāṃ dātā bhavasi tasmātsomaṃ pātumarhasītyarthaḥ || abhi | upasargāścābhivarjaṃ | phi. 4-13 | iti paryudāsādabherantodāttatvaṃ | gṛṇīhi | gṝ śabde | loṭi sipo hiḥ | kryādibhyaḥ śnā | herṅittvādī halyaghoritītvaṃ | śnāpratyayasya ṅittvādguṇābhāvaḥ | pvādīnāṃ hrasvaḥ | tiṅṅatiṅa iti nighātaḥ | gnā asya santīti matup | vyatyayena vatvaṃ | sambuddhau matuvaso ruriti rutvaṃ | visargaḥ | pādāditvenāmantritanighātābhāvātṣāṣṭhikamāmantritādyudāttatvaṃ | gnāva ityasya viśeṣaṇatayā viśeṣavacanatvānnāmantrite samānādhikaraṇa iti niṣedhābhāvādavidyamānavattvenottarasya neṣṭṛśabdasya ṣāṣṭhikamādyudāttatvaṃ | piba | śapaḥ pittvāddhātusvaraḥ | pūrvayorāmantritayoravidyamānavattvena nighātābhāvaḥ | ratnāni dadhātīti ratnadhāḥ | kvipceti kvip | dhātusvaraḥ | samāse kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvena sa eva śiṣyate | asi | sipaḥ pittvāddhātusvaraḥ | tiṅṅatiṅa iti nighāto na bhavati hi ceti pratiṣedhāt ||

Translation: "The word gnā denotes woman; so Yāska says, 'menā, gnā: names of women; menā because they honour them, gnā because they go to them' (Ni. 3-21). 'Gnāḥ are his' gives gnāvān. The word neṣṭṛ here means the god Tvaṣṭṛ, since at a certain sattra of the gods Tvaṣṭṛ acted as Neṣṭṛ. O gnāvaḥ, you who have your wife with you, O neṣṭaḥ, Tvaṣṭṛ, abhi gṛṇīhi, praise our sacrifice round about, near the gods. Drink the soma with the Ṛtu. Hi, since, you are ratnadhāḥ, a giver of jewels, so you are worthy to drink the soma: that is the sense." (Grammatical tail: abhi, final udātta, being excluded by upasargāś cābhivarjam (Phi. 4-13); gṛṇīhi: gṝ, hi, śnā, ī, no guṇa, shortening, lowered; gnāvaḥ: matup, v by vyatyaya, ru in the vocative, initial udātta by the ṣāṣṭhika rule at the head of the pāda; as an adjective of neṣṭaḥ it is a viśeṣavacana, so nāmantrite samānādhikaraṇe does not bar its being treated as absent, and neṣṭaḥ is initial udātta; piba, the root accent, not lowered, the two vocatives before it counting as absent; ratnadhāḥ, kvip, the kṛt second-member accent; asi, the root accent, not lowered because of hi.)

Page 637 — Rik 3: word-meanings, overall sense, English, Special Topics, grammar

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

ग्रावः (gnāvaḥ) — accompanied by your wife | नेष्टः (neṣṭaḥ) — O Tvaṣṭṛ | नः (naḥ) — our | यज्ञम् (yajñam) — sacrifice | अभि गृणीहि (abhi gṛṇīhi) — praise everywhere (near the gods) | ऋतुना (ṛtunā) — with the Ṛtu deity | पिब (piba) — drink the soma juice | हि (hi) — for | त्वम् (tvam) — you | रत्नधाः (ratnadhāḥ) — giving the wealth of jewels and the like, the fruit of the sacrifice | असि (asi) — are.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Tvaṣṭṛ, you are famed as the giver of the wealth of jewels and the like that is the fruit of the sacrifice. Such as you are, come with your wife and drink our soma juice with the Ṛtu deity; and go to the gods and praise our sacrifice.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> Neshtri, (Twashtri) commend our sacrifice to the gods; drink with Ritu, for you are a giver of riches.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Gnāvaḥ: the word gnā denotes woman; Yāska says

> ग्ना गच्छन्त्येनाः
>
> gnā gacchantyenāḥ

(Ni. 3-21.)

> ग्ना अस्य सन्तीति ग्नावान् तस्य सम्बुद्धिः
>
> gnā asya santīti gnāvān tasya sambuddhiḥ

“one who is with a woman is called gnāvān”; this vocative singular gnāvaḥ qualifies the word neṣṭaḥ.

Neṣṭaḥ: since it is well known that at some sacrifices Tvaṣṭṛ took the part of the priest called Neṣṭṛ, it is customary to address Tvaṣṭṛ by the word neṣṭṛ. So the Bhāṣyakāra’s intention is that here the word neṣṭṛ must be given the sense “the god Tvaṣṭṛ”.

Ratnadhāḥ:

> रत्नानां दाता
>
> ratnānāṃ dātā

giver of jewels (excellent things). In the Ṛgveda the root dhā is commonly used in place of the root dā.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 637–639, noted briefly)

अभि (abhi): since “upasargāś cābhivarjam” (Phi. sū. 81) makes an exclusion, abhi is not initial udātta; it is final udātta by “phiṣo ’nta udāttaḥ”.

Page 638 — Rik 3: grammar (continued)

Many accept the reading of the word abhi in the evādi class; so by “evādīnām antaḥ” (Phi. sū. 82) abhi is final udātta. In the mantra mā no martā abhi druhan (Ṛ. Saṃ. “6-5-10” [?]) and in ehi stomāṁ abhi (Ṛ. Saṃ. “10-5-4” [?]) too the Vedabhāṣyakāra derives the final udātta by evādīnām antaḥ.

गृणीहि (gṛṇīhi): gṝ śabde (kryādi); loṭ, 2nd singular sip; hi by “ser hy apic ca” (Pā. sū. “4-4-87” [as printed, for 3-4-87]): gṝ + hi; the vikaraṇa śnā by “kryādibhyaḥ śnā”: gṝ + nā + hi; hi is ṅit by “sārvadhātukam apit”; so by “ī halyaghoḥ” (Pā. sū. 6-4-113) ī for the ā of śnā: gṝ + nī + hi; hi being ṅit, the ī before it takes no guṇa; śnā being ṅit by “sārvadhātukam apit”, the ṝ before it takes no guṇa. Gṝ shortened by “pvādīnāṃ hrasvaḥ” (Pā. sū. 7-3-80): gṛṇīhi; wholly unaccented by “tiṅṅatiṅaḥ” (Pā. sū. 8-1-28).

ग्नावः (gnāvaḥ): with the analysis gnāḥ striyaḥ asya santi, matup by “tad asyāsty asminn iti matup”; v for the m by vyatyaya: gnāvat; vocative singular su; num by “ugidacāṃ sarvanāmasthāne ’dhātoḥ” (Pā. sū. 7-1-70): gnāvant + s; su dropped by “hal-ṅyābbhyo dīrghāt…” (Pā. sū. 6-1-68); t dropped by “saṃyogāntasya lopaḥ” (Pā. sū. 8-2-23): gnāvan; ru for the n by “matuvaso ru sambuddhau chandasi” (Pā. sū. 8-3-1); visarga by “sasajuṣo ruḥ”: gnāvaḥ. With gnāvar + neṣṭaḥ, in the Saṃhitā “haśi ca” (Pā. sū. 6-1-114) gives u for a ru after a non-pluta short a before a haś letter. But the u is an operation of the sapāda-saptādhyāyī; when it is made, by “pūrvatrāsiddham” (Pā. sū. 8-2-1) the loss of the final of the conjunct is treated as not done; so the t stands after it, no haś follows, and how can the u come? Though the u is a rule of the sapāda-saptādhyāyī, by the vārttika “saṃyogāntalopo ror uttve” (Pā. sū. 8-2-6 vā.) the loss of the final of the conjunct counts as done when the u for the ru is made; so it is not treated as not done, and the u comes: gnāva + u + neṣṭaḥ, guṇa: gnāvo neṣṭaḥ. Gnāvaḥ is at the head of the second pāda; so “apādādau” (Pā. sū. 8-1-18) bars the lowering by “āmantritasya ca” (Pā. sū. 8-1-19), and the sixth-adhyāya “āmantritasya ca” (Pā. sū. 6-1-198) makes it initial udātta.

Gnāvaḥ qualifies neṣṭaḥ, so it is a viśeṣavacana, not a sāmānyavacana; so "nāmantrite samānādhikaraṇe sāmānyavacanam" (Pā. sū. 8-1-73) does not bar its being treated as absent.

Page 639 — Rik 3: grammar (end)

So by "āmantritaṃ pūrvam avidyamānavat" (Pā. sū. 8-1-72) the earlier vocative gnāvaḥ is treated as absent. So the vocative neṣṭaḥ also counts as at the head of the pāda, and the eighth-adhyāya lowering does not come; by the ṣāṣṭhika sūtra it is initial udātta.

पिब (piba): śap is pit, so the root accent remains. The two vocatives before it are treated as absent, so piba is not wholly unaccented.

रत्नधाः (ratnadhāḥ): ratnāni dadhāti iti; kvip after ḍudhāñ dhāraṇapoṣaṇayoḥ by "kvip ca"; the root accent. After compounding, the kṛt second-member accent comes by "gatikārakopapadāt kṛt", and that accent remains.

असि (asi): asa bhuvi, laṭ, 2nd singular sip; the vikaraṇa śap is dropped by "adiprabhṛtibhyaḥ śapaḥ"; the s dropped by "tāsastyor lopaḥ" (Pā. sū. "7-4-50" [as printed]): asi. Sip is pit, so unaccented by "anudāttau suppitau"; the root accent remains. The use of hi brings the bar of "hi ca"; so "tiṅṅatiṅaḥ" does not make it wholly unaccented. The i of sip becomes svarita by "udāttād anudāttasya svaritaḥ".

॥३॥

---

Page 639 (lower) — Sūkta 15, Rik 4

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

अग्ने॑ दे॒वाँ इ॒हा व॑ह सा॒दया॒ योनि॑षु त्रि॒षु । [accent ?] परि॑ भूष पिब॑ ऋ॒तुना॑ ॥४॥

ágne devā̃ ihā́ vaha sādáyā yóniṣu triṣú | [accent ?] pári bhūṣa píba ṛtúnā ||4||

(Line 1: the bars under सादया are read under सा and या; not certain.)

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

अग्ने । देवान् । इह । आ । वह । सादय । योनिषु । त्रिषु ॥ परि । भूष । पिब । ऋतुना ॥४॥

agne | devān | iha | ā | vaha | sādaya | yoniṣu | triṣu || pari | bhūṣa | piba | ṛtunā ||4||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे अग्ने देवानिहास्मिन्कर्मण्या वह । ततो योनिषु स्थानेषु त्रिषु सवनेषु सादय । देवानुपवेशय । ततस्तान्परि भूष । अलंकुरु । ऋतुना सह त्वं सोमं

he agne devānihāsminkarmaṇyā vaha | tato yoniṣu sthāneṣu triṣu savaneṣu sādaya | devānupaveśaya | tatastānpari bhūṣa | alaṃkuru | ṛtunā saha tvaṃ somaṃ

पिब ॥ अग्ने देवानित्ययं पादो गतः । योनिषु । यु मिश्रणे । वहिश्रीत्यादिना । उ. ४-५१ । निप्रत्ययः । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । त्रिषु । षट्त्रिचतुर्भ्यो हलादिः । पा. ६-१-१७९ । इति विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वं । भूष अलंकारे । तिङ्ङतिङ इति निघातः । पिब ऋतुनेति गतौ ॥

piba || agne devānityayaṃ pādo gataḥ | yoniṣu | yu miśraṇe | vahiśrītyādinā | u. 4-51 | nipratyayaḥ | nittvādādyudāttaḥ | triṣu | ṣaṭtricaturbhyo halādiḥ | pā. 6-1-179 | iti vibhakterudāttatvaṃ | bhūṣa alaṃkāre | tiṅṅatiṅa iti nighātaḥ | piba ṛtuneti gatau ||

Translation: "O Agni, bring the gods here to this rite. Then seat them, place the gods, in the yonis, the places, the three pressings. Then pari bhūṣa, adorn, them. Drink the soma with the Ṛtu." (Grammatical tail: the pāda agne devān... has been gone through; yoniṣu from yu 'to mix' with ni (Uṇ. 4-51), initial udātta; triṣu, the ending udātta by Pā. 6-1-179; bhūṣa, 'to adorn', lowered; piba ṛtunā gone through.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

अग्ने (agne) — O Agni | देवान् (devān) — the gods | इह (iha) — for this sacrificial rite | आ वह (ā vaha) — bring | त्रिषु योनिषु (triṣu yoniṣu) — in the three (separate) places (in the pressings) | सादय (sādaya) — seat | परि भूष (pari bhūṣa) — adorn | ऋतुना (ṛtunā) — with the Ṛtu deity | पिब (piba) — drink (the soma juice).

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Agni, bring the gods to our sacrifice. Seat them in three separate places, in the three pressings: the morning pressing, the midday pressing and the third pressing. Make fitting adornments. You too drink the soma juice with the Ṛtu deity.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> Agni, bring the gods hither, seat them in three places (or in the three savanas), decorate them and drink with Ritu.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Sādaya: the final syllable of this word is long in the Saṃhitā to suit the metre.

Yoniṣu triṣu:

> त्रिषु स्थानेषु
>
> triṣu sthāneṣu

that is, the morning pressing, the midday pressing and the third pressing. A pressing (savana) is the act of pressing out the soma juice. Since this act is done in the sacrifice at three times, morning, midday and evening, with the recitation of mantras, these acts are called in order the morning pressing, the midday pressing and the third pressing.

Pari bhūṣa: alaṃkuru: the Bhāṣyakāra gives the sense "adorn". Though bhūṣa means "adorn", there is room to doubt what need there could be here to adorn the gods.

Page 641 — Rik 4: grammar

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar page 641, noted briefly)

अग्ने देवाँ इहा वह: the derivation of this pāda is set out in the 3rd and 10th Ṛks of Sūkta 12.

सादया (sādayā): ṣadḷ viśaraṇagatyavasādaneṣu; ṇic; s for ṣ by "dhātvādeḥ ṣaḥ saḥ"; the penultimate vṛddhi by "ata upadhāyāḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-2-116): sādi. Then loṭ, 2nd singular sip; hi by "ser hy apic ca" (Pā. sū. 3-4-87); the vikaraṇa śap, guṇa, ay: sādaya + hi; hi dropped by "ato heḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-4-105). The a that has come in place of the ṇic is udātta by the suffix accent; śap is pit, so unaccented. As in sajasvānaḥ, it is lengthened here too.

योनिषु (yoniṣu): yu miśraṇe; "vahiśriśruyudruglātvaribhyo nit" (Uṇ. sū. "4-491" [?]): after these roots the suffix ni, and it is nit; so ni after yu: yu + ni; guṇa by "sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-3-84), o for the u; locative plural yoniṣu. The suffix ni is nit, so the nit accent makes it initial udātta.

त्रिषु (triṣu): "ṣaṭtricaturbhyo halādiḥ" (Pā. sū. "9-1-179" [as printed, for 6-1-179]); with "ṣṇāntā ṣaṭ" (Pā. sū. 1-1-24) the numerals ending in ṣ and n are called ṣaṭ; after such a ṣaṭ word, after tri and after catur, a consonant-initial ending is udātta; so the ending is udātta.

भूष (bhūṣa): bhūṣa alaṃkāre (bhvādi); loṭ, 2nd singular sip, hi, the vikaraṇa śap; hi dropped by "ato heḥ": bhūṣa; wholly unaccented by "tiṅṅatiṅaḥ".

पिब ऋतुना: these two words are explained at indra somaṃ piba ṛtunā (Ṛ. Saṃ. Sū. 15, Ṛk 1).

॥४॥

---

Page 641 (lower) — Sūkta 15, Rik 5

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

ब्राह्मणादिन्द्र राधसः पिबा सोममृतूँरनु । तवेद्धि सख्यमस्तृतम् ॥५॥ [accent ?]

brāhmaṇād indra rādhasaḥ píbā sómam ṛtū́m̐r ánu | táved dhi sakhyám astṛtam || 5|| [accent ?]

(Line 2: the stroke over वे and over म of सख्यम्, the bar under स्; the foot of the line is cut in the scan.)

Page 642 — Rik 5: Pada, bhāṣya, word-meanings, overall sense

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

ब्राह्मणात् । इन्द्र । राधसः । पिब । सोमम् । ऋतून् । अनु ॥ तव । इत् । हि । सख्यम् । अस्तृतम् ॥५॥

brāhmaṇāt | indra | rādhasaḥ | piba | somam | ṛtūn | anu || tava | it | hi | sakhyam | astṛtam ||5||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे इन्द्र ब्राह्मणाद्ब्राह्मणाच्छंसिसम्बद्धाद्राधसो धनभूतात्पात्रात्सोमं पिब । किं कृत्वा । ऋतूननु ऋतुदेवाननुसृत्य । ऋतवो ऽपि पिबन्त्वित्यर्थः । हि यस्मात्तवेत्तवैव सख्यमस्तृतमृतूनामविच्छिन्नं तस्मादृतुभिः सह पानं युक्तं ॥ ब्राह्मणात् । ब्रह्मशब्देनात्र ब्रह्मवर्गे द्वितीयो ब्राह्मणाच्छंसी कथ्यते । स च पुंलिङ्गे शेषनिघातेनानुदात्तादिः । तस्य सम्बन्ध्युत्तप्तश्चमसः । स च तस्यैवावयवहन्नियत इत्यवयवविवक्षायामनुदात्तादेरञ् । पा. ४-३-१४० । तेन ञित्त्वादाद्युदात्तश्चमसपरो ऽत्र ब्राह्मणशब्दः । राधसः । सर्वधातुभ्यो ऽसुन् । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । पिब । पादादित्वादाद्युदात्तत्वं । द्व्यचो ऽतस्तिङ इति दीर्घत्वं । ऋतूँरनुत्यत्र दीर्घादटि समानपाद इति नकारस्य रुत्वं । अत्रानुनासिकः पूर्वस्य तु वा । पा. ८-३-२ । इत्यूकारस्यानुनासिकत्वं । तव । युष्मदस्मद्भ्यां ङसो ऽश् । पा. ७-१-२७ । शित्त्वात्सर्वादेशः तवममौ ङसीति तवादेशः । युष्मदस्मदोर्ङसीत्याद्युदात्तत्वं । सख्यं । सख्युः कर्म सख्यं । सख्युर्यः । यस्येति लोपः । प्रत्ययस्वरः । अस्तृतं । स्तृणातेर्हिंसार्थस्य क्तः । नञ्समासः । अव्ययपूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं ॥

he indra brāhmaṇādbrāhmaṇācchaṃsisambaddhādrādhaso dhanabhūtātpātrātsomaṃ piba | kiṃ kṛtvā | ṛtūnanu ṛtudevānanusṛtya | ṛtavo 'pi pibantvityarthaḥ | hi yasmāttavettavaiva sakhyamastṛtamṛtūnāmavicchinnaṃ tasmādṛtubhiḥ saha pānaṃ yuktaṃ || brāhmaṇāt | brahmaśabdenātra brahmavarge dvitīyo brāhmaṇācchaṃsī kathyate | sa ca puṃliṅge śeṣanighātenānudāttādiḥ | tasya sambandhyuttaptaścamasaḥ | sa ca tasyaivāvayavahanniyata ityavayavavivakṣāyāmanudāttāderañ | pā. 4-3-140 | tena ñittvādādyudāttaścamasaparo 'tra brāhmaṇaśabdaḥ | rādhasaḥ | sarvadhātubhyo 'sun | nittvādādyudāttaḥ | piba | pādāditvādādyudāttatvaṃ | dvyaco 'tastiṅa iti dīrghatvaṃ | ṛtū~ranutyatra dīrghādaṭi samānapāda iti nakārasya rutvaṃ | atrānunāsikaḥ pūrvasya tu vā | pā. 8-3-2 | ityūkārasyānunāsikatvaṃ | tava | yuṣmadasmadbhyāṃ ṅaso 'śa | pā. 7-1-27 | śittvātsarvādeśaḥ tavamamau ṅasīti tavādeśaḥ | yuṣmadasmadoṅasītyādyudāttatvaṃ | sakhyaṃ | sakhyuḥ karma sakhyaṃ | sakhyuryaḥ | yasyeti lopaḥ | pratyayasvaraḥ | astṛtaṃ | stṛṇāterhiṃsārthasya ktaḥ | nañsamāsaḥ | avyayapūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ ||

Translation: "O Indra, drink the soma from the rādhas, the vessel that is wealth, belonging to the brāhmaṇa, the Brāhmaṇācchaṃsin. Having done what? Ṛtūn anu, following the Ṛtu gods: let the Ṛtus too drink, is the sense. Hi, since, tava it, yours alone, the friendship with the Ṛtus is astṛtam, unbroken, so drinking with the Ṛtus is fitting." (Grammatical tail: brāhmaṇāt: the word brahman here means the Brāhmaṇācchaṃsin, second in the Brahman group; masculine, initial unaccented by the śeṣanighāta; his raised camasa, a fixed part of him, so añ in the sense of part (Pā. 4-3-140), initial udātta, brāhmaṇa meaning that camasa; rādhasaḥ with asun, initial udātta; piba, initial udātta at the head of the pāda, lengthened in the Saṃhitā; ṛtūm̐r anu: ru for the n, the ū nasalised (Pā. 8-3-2); tava: aś for ṅas (Pā. 7-1-27), tava for the part up to m, initial udātta; sakhyam, "the act of a friend", ya, the suffix accent; astṛtam, kta after stṛ 'to harm', a nañ compound with the first-member accent.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

इन्द्र (indra) — O Indra | हि (hi) — for the reason that | तव इत् (tava it) — yours alone | सख्यम् (sakhyam) — friendship | अस्तृतम् (astṛtam) — is unbroken (with the Ṛtu deities); (for that reason) | ब्राह्मणात् (brāhmaṇāt) — of the priest called Brāhmaṇācchaṃsin | राधसः (rādhasaḥ) — from the costly camasa vessel | सोमम् (somam) — the soma juice | पिब (piba) — drink.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Indra, it is well known in the world that the friendship of you and the Ṛtu deities is everlasting. So, from the costly camasa vessel of the priest called Brāhmaṇācchaṃsin, you too drink the soma juice with the Ṛtu deities.

Page 643 — Rik 5: English, Special Topics, grammar

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> Drink the soma juice, Indra, from the cups of priest called Brahmanachamsi, after Ritu for whom your friendship is uninterrupted (everlasting).

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Brāhmaṇāt: the priest called Brāhmaṇācchaṃsin.

Rādhasaḥ: धनभूतात् पात्रात् (dhanabhūtāt pātrāt, "from the vessel that is wealth"): the word rādhas means only wealth. It does not mean "vessel", but the Commentator has supplied that sense. Or one may give the word rādhasaḥ the sense "from the priceless, precious vessel", "costly vessel".

Astṛtam: unbroken, uninterrupted, "uninteruptedr" [sic]: not stopping after some time, everlasting, and so on.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 643–646, noted briefly)

ब्राह्मणात् (brāhmaṇāt): in a sacrifice whose base is soma, the four Brahman, Brāhmaṇācchaṃsin, Āgnīdhra and Potṛ belong to the Brahman group. The Brāhmaṇācchaṃsin, second in this group, is denoted here by the word brahman. The word brahman is formed from the root bṛhi vṛddhau with the suffix manin, by "bṛṃher am nalopaś ca" in the old order, or by "bṛṃher no 'c ca" in the order of the Uṇādi sūtras now available. By "brahman puṃsi ca" (Liṅga sū. 140) it is neuter and masculine. In the neuter it is initial udātta by "ñnityādir nityam"; in the masculine final udātta by "uñchādīnāṃ ca" (Pā. sū. 6-1-160), the words of this class being final udātta; on this view, by the śeṣanighāta "anudāttaṃ padam ekavarjam" (Pā. sū. 6-1-158), the word brahman begins with an unaccented syllable. Those of the Brahman group, and some others, chiefly the sacrificer, have a drinking of soma. The vessel for drinking soma is called camasa. It must be square; their handles are of various kinds:

> चतुरश्रो ब्रह्मचमसो होतुस्तु परिमण्डलः । पृथुस्तु यजमानस्य त्र्यश्रिरुद्गातुरिष्यते ॥१॥

caturaśro brahmacamaso hotustu parimaṇḍalaḥ | pṛthustu yajamānasya tryaśrirudgāturiṣyate ||1||

Page 644 — Rik 5: grammar (continued)

प्रशास्तुरवतप्तः स्यादुत्तप्तो ब्रह्मशंसिनः । पोतुरग्रे विशाखी स्यान्नेष्टुस्तु विगृहीतकः ॥२॥

praśāsturavataptaḥ syāduttapto brahmaśaṃsinaḥ | poturagre viśākhī syānneṣṭustu vigṛhītakaḥ ||2||

अच्छावाकस्य राष्णावानाग्नीध्रस्य मयूखगः । सव्यावृतः सदस्यः स्यादेतच्चमसलक्षणम् ॥३॥

acchāvākasya rāṣṇāvānāgnīdhrasya mayūkhagaḥ | savyāvṛtaḥ sadasyaḥ syādetaccamasalakṣaṇam ||3||

दण्डानामेष आकारश्चमसाश्चतुरश्रगाः । होतुर्ब्रह्मण उद्गातुर्यष्टुः शास्तुश्च शंसिनः ॥४॥

daṇḍānāmeṣa ākāraścamasāścaturaśragāḥ | hoturbrahmaṇa udgāturyaṣṭuḥ śāstuśca śaṃsinaḥ ||4||

पोतृनेष्टृच्छावाकानामाग्नीध्रस्येति च क्रमः ॥

potṛneṣṭracchāvākānāmāgnīdhrasyeti ca kramaḥ ||

("The Brahman's camasa is square, the Hotṛ's round; the sacrificer's broad; the Udgātṛ's is wanted three-cornered. The Praśāstṛ's is with the handle bent down, the Brahmaśaṃsin's with it raised; the Potṛ's forked at the tip; the Neṣṭṛ's with the handle set apart. The Acchāvāka's is rāṣṇāvān, the Āgnīdhra's mayūkhaga; the Sadasya's turned to the left: this is the mark of the camasas. This is the shape of the handles; the camasas are square in form; the order is: of the Hotṛ, Brahman, Udgātṛ, sacrificer, Praśāstṛ, Śaṃsin, Potṛ, Neṣṭṛ, Acchāvāka and Āgnīdhra" — mine and tentative; rāṣṇāvān* and mayūkhaga are left untranslated.)*

The ancients gave this description in the Agniṣṭoma procedure, in the section on setting down the soma vessels at the morning pressing. From this it is settled that the handle of the Brāhmaṇācchaṃsin's soma vessel is uttapta, that is, carved so as to stand raised. The camasa with the raised handle is fixed to the Brāhmaṇācchaṃsin as a part is to the whole. So it may be meant as a part. So meant, "anudāttāder añ" (Pā. sū. 4-3-140): after the genitive of a stem beginning with an unaccented syllable, in the senses of part, product and group, the suffix añ; so añ comes with the analysis brahmaṇaḥ avayavaḥ (a part of the Brāhmaṇācchaṃsin). So the word brāhmaṇa here means the camasa vessel with the carved raised handle, fixed to the Brāhmaṇācchaṃsin as a part to the whole. The suffix añ is ñit, so by "ñnityādir nityam" (Pā. sū. 6-1-197) it is initial udātta.

राधसः (rādhasaḥ): by "sarvadhātubhyo 'sun" (Uṇ. sū. "4-628" [?]) the suffix asun after the root rādh; initial udātta by the nit accent.

पिब (piba): this is set out at pibā mitrasya (Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-14-10). It is at the head of the pāda, so the eighth-adhyāya lowering does not come. Lengthened by "dvyaco 'tas tiṅaḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-3-135).

ऋतूँरनु (ṛtūṁr anu): with ṛtūn + anu, by "dīrghād aṭi samānapāde" (Pā. sū. "8-4-9" [as printed, for 8-3-9]) ru for the n: ṛtūr + anu. "atrānunāsikaḥ pūrvasya tu vā" (Pā. sū. 8-3-2): in the ru section, in place of what precedes what is enjoined, a nasal comes optionally; so the ū becomes a nasal ū: ṛtūm̐ anu [as printed].

Page 645 — Rik 5: grammar (continued)

तव (tava): yuṣmad + genitive singular "jas" [as printed, for ṅas]; "yuṣmadasmadbhyāṃ ṅaso 'ś" (Pā. sū. 7-1-27): aś for the ṅas after yuṣmad and asmad; being śit, it replaces the whole by "anekālśit sarvasya" (Pā. sū. 1-1-55): yuṣmad + a. "tavamamau ṅasi" (Pā. sū. "7-2-96" [as printed]): before ṅas, tava and mama for the part up to m of yuṣmad and asmad: tava + ad + a; pararūpa by "ato guṇe"; ṭi dropped by "śeṣe lopaḥ". "yuṣmadasmador ṅasi" (Pā. sū. 6-1-211): before ṅas the first syllable of yuṣmad and asmad is udātta. Though the ending would be udātta by the udāttanivṛtti accent "anudāttasya ca yatrodāttalopaḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-1-161) where śeṣe lopaḥ (Pā. sū. 7-2-90) drops the ṭi, and by "ekādeśa udāttenodāttaḥ" (Pā. sū. 8-2-5) where it drops the final, overriding that the first syllable of yuṣmad is udātta; the other letters are unaccented by the śeṣānudātta accent.

सख्यम् (sakhyam): sakhyuḥ karma. "sakhyur yaḥ" (Pā. sū. 5-1-126): after the fitting genitive of sakhi, in the senses of state and act, the suffix ya; so ya after sakhi in the sense of act; sakhi + ya; the i dropped by "yasyeti ca" (Pā. sū. 6-4-148); the suffix accent.

अस्तृतम् (astṛtam): stṛñ ācchādane (svādi). Roots have many senses, so here stṛ is in the sense of harming. Kta after it: stṛ + ta; "ekāca upadeśe 'nudāttāt" (Pā. sū. 7-2-10) bars the iṭ, or "ṛtaś ca saṃyogādeḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-2-43): after a root ending in ṛ that begins with a conjunct, iṭ is optional for liṅ and sic before an ātmanepada ending; since the iṭ is enjoined as optional, by "yasya vibhāṣā" the suffix kta takes no iṭ. Na stṛtam astṛtam: a nañ compound. By "tatpuruṣe tulyārthatṛtīyāsaptamyupamānāvyayadvitīyākṛtyāḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-2-2) the first member, an avyaya, keeps its accent; the first member is a nipāta, so initial udātta by "nipātā ādyudāttāḥ" (Phi. sū. 80). Stṝñ ācchādane is a kryādi root, with laṭ stṛṇāti. If the suffix kta is put after it: stṝ + ta; "liṅsicor ātmanepadeṣu" (Pā. sū. 7-2-42): after vṛṅ, vṛñ and roots ending in long ṝ, iṭ is optional for liṅ and sic before an ātmanepada ending; since it is enjoined as optional, by "yasya vibhāṣā" (Pā. sū. 7-2-15) the suffix kta takes no iṭ. By "ralvādibhyaś ca" (Pā. sū. 8-2-44) the t of the suffix kta becomes n: stṝ + na; "ṝta id dhātoḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-1-100) gives i for the ṝ, with r after it by "uraṇ raparaḥ" (Pā. sū. 1-1-51); lengthening by "hali ca" (Pā. sū. "8-2-77" [?]): stīr + na; ṇ for the n by "raṣābhyāṃ no ṇaḥ samānapade" (Pā. sū. 8-4-1): stīrṇa. So in astṛtam it is fitting to take the svādi root.

Page 646 — Rik 5: grammar (end)

॥५॥

---

Page 646 (lower) — Sūkta 15, Rik 6

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

युवं दक्षं॑ धृतव्रत॒ मित्रा॑वरुण दू॒ळभ॑म् । ऋ॒तुना॑ य॒ज्ञमा॑शाथे ॥६॥

yuváṃ dákṣaṃ dhṛtavrata mítrāvaruṇa dūḷábham | ṛtúnā yajñám āśāthe ||6||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

युवम् । दक्षम् । धृतऽव्रता । मित्रावरुणा । दुःऽदभम् ॥ ऋतुना । यज्ञम् । आशाथे इति ॥६॥

yuvam | dakṣam | dhṛta 'vratā | mitrāvaruṇā | duḥ 'dabham || ṛtunā | yajñam | āśāthe iti ||6||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे धृतव्रता स्वीकृतकर्माणौ मित्रावरुणा हे मित्रनामकवरुणनामकौ देवौ युवमुभौ युवामृतुना सहास्मदीयं यज्ञमाशाथे । व्याप्नुथः । कीदृशं यज्ञं । दक्षं प्रवृद्धं दूळभं दुर्दहं शत्रुभिर्दग्धुं विनाशयितुमशक्यमित्यर्थः ॥ युवं । प्रथमाद्विवचनस्य ङे प्रथमयोरमित्यमादेशः । युवावौ द्विवचने । पा. ७-२-९२ । इति मपर्यन्तस्य युवादेशः । शेषे लोप इति टिलोपो ऽन्त्यलोपो वा । अमि पूर्वत्वं । भाषायामेव ह्यात्वं । टिलोपपक्ष उदात्तनिवृत्तिस्वरेणामुदात्तत्वं । अन्त्यलोपपक्ष एकादेश उदात्तः । दक्षं । दक्ष वृद्धौ । दक्षन्त्यनेनेति करणे घञ् । एवं हि पुंलिङ्गत्वनियमः । अन्यस्यानियम इति नपुंसकत्वं । धृतव्रता मित्रावरुणा । धृतानि व्रतानि याभ्यां तौ धृतव्रतौ । मित्रश्च वरुणश्च मित्रावरुणौ । उभयत्र सुपां सुलुगित्यादिना विभक्तेराकारः । मित्रशब्दस्य देवताद्वन्द्वे चेत्यानङादेशः । प्रथमस्यामन्त्रितनिघातः । द्वितीयस्य पादादित्वादाद्युदात्तत्वं । संहितायां

he dhṛtavratā svīkṛtakarmāṇau mitrāvaruṇā he mitranāmakavaruṇanāmakau devau yuvamubhau yuvāmṛtunā sahāsmadīyaṃ yajñamāśāthe | vyāpnuthaḥ | kīdṛśaṃ yajñaṃ | dakṣaṃ pravṛddhaṃ dūḷabhaṃ durdahaṃ śatrubhirdagdhuṃ vināśayitumaśakyamityarthaḥ || yuvaṃ | prathamādvivacanasya ṅe prathamayoramityamādeśaḥ | yuvāvau dvivacane | pā. 7-2-92 | iti maparyantasya yuvādeśaḥ | śeṣe lopa iti ṭilopo 'ntyalopo vā | ami pūrvatvaṃ | bhāṣāyāmeva hyātvaṃ | ṭilopapakṣa udāttanivṛttisvareṇāmudāttatvaṃ | antyalopapakṣa ekādeśa udāttaḥ | dakṣaṃ | dakṣa vṛddhau | dakṣantyaneneti karaṇe ghañ | evaṃ hi puṃliṅgatvaniyamaḥ | anyasyāniyama iti napuṃsakatvaṃ | dhṛtavratā mitrāvaruṇā | dhṛtāni vratāni yābhyāṃ tau dhṛtavratau | mitraśca varuṇaśca mitrāvaruṇau | ubhayatra supāṃ sulugityādinā vibhakterākāraḥ | mitraśabdasya devatādvandve cetyānaṅādeśaḥ | prathamasyāmantritanighātaḥ | dvitīyasya pādāditvādādyudāttatvaṃ | saṃhitāyāṃ

छान्दसं ह्रस्वत्वं । दूळभं । दह भस्मीकरणे । दुःखेन दह्यत इति दुर्दहं । ईषद्दुःसुष्वित्यादिना । पा. ३-३-१२६ । दुर्युपपदे दहेः खल् । व्यत्ययो बहुलमित्युकारस्योकारो रेफस्य लोपो दकारस्य डकारो हकारस्य च भकारः । लितीति प्रत्ययात्पूर्वमुदात्तत्वं । कृदुत्तरपदत्वेन स एव शिष्यते । आशाथे । अशू व्याप्तौ । छन्दसि लुङ्लङ्लिट इति वर्तमाने लिट् । मध्यमद्विवचनमाथां । टेरेत्वं । अत आदेः । पा. ७-४-७० । इत्यभ्यासस्य दीर्घः । अश्नोतेश्च । पा. ७-४-७२ । इति प्राप्तो नुडागमो ऽनित्यमागमशासनमिति निवर्तते ॥ २८ ॥

chāndasaṃ hrasvatvaṃ | dūḷabhaṃ | daha bhasmīkaraṇe | duḥkhena dahyata iti durdahaṃ | īṣadduḥsuṣvityādinā | pā. 3-3-126 | duryupapade daheḥ khal | vyatyayo

bahulamityukārasyokāro rephasya lopo dakārasya ḍakāro hakārasya ca bhakāraḥ | litīti pratyayātpūrvamudāttatvaṃ | kṛduttarapadatvena sa eva śiṣyate | āśāthe | aśū vyāptau | chandasi luṅlaṅliṭa iti vartamāne liṭ | madhyamadvivacanamāthāṃ | ṭeretvaṃ | ata ādeḥ | pā. 7-4-70 | ityabhyāsasya dīrghaḥ | aśnoteśca | pā. 7-4-72 | iti prāpto nuḍāgamo 'nityamāgamaśāsanamiti nivartate || 28 ||

Translation: "O dhṛtavratā, you two who have taken up the rites, O mitrāvaruṇā, gods named Mitra and Varuṇa, yuvam, both of you, āśāthe, pervade, our sacrifice with the Ṛtu. What kind of sacrifice? Dakṣam, grown great; dūḷabham, hard to burn, that is, that cannot be burnt, destroyed, by enemies." (Grammatical tail: yuvam: am for the nominative dual, yuva for the part up to m (Pā. 7-2-92), śeṣe lopaḥ, pūrvarūpa; the ā is only in the spoken language; on the ṭi-loss view am is udātta by the udāttanivṛtti accent, on the final-loss view the single replacement; dakṣam: dakṣ 'to grow', ghañ in the instrumental sense, neuter, the masculine rule not binding here; dhṛtavratā mitrāvaruṇā: "by whom rites are held", a dvandva, ā for the endings by supāṃ suluk…, ānaṅ for mitra; the first vocative lowered, the second initial udātta at the head of the pāda; shortened in the Saṃhitā as Vedic; dūḷabham: "hard to burn", khal after dah with dur (Pā. 3-3-126), by vyatyayo bahulam ū for u, loss of r, ḍ for d and bh for h; udātta before the l-marked suffix; āśāthe: aś 'to pervade', liṭ in the present, āthām, e, the reduplicate lengthened (Pā. 7-4-70), the nuṭ of Pā. 7-4-72 withdrawn as the augment-rule is not binding. The closing "28" is the varga number.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

धृतव्रता (dhṛtavratā) — who accept the sacrificial rite we perform | मित्रावरुणा (mitrāvaruṇā) — O Mitra and Varuṇa | युवम् (yuvam) — you two | ऋतुना (ṛtunā) — with the Ṛtu deity | दक्षम् (dakṣam) — grown great | दूळभम् (dūḷabham) — that cannot be burnt (destroyed) (by enemies) | यज्ञम् आशाथे (yajñam āśāthe) — pervade the sacrifice: you are gracious to our sacrifice.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Mitra and Varuṇa, you accept our sacrificial rite. By your favour our sacrifice is growing, and since you help us, enemies cannot obstruct it. Kindly come to our sacrifice with the Ṛtu deity.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> Mitra and Varuna, propitious to pious acts, be present with Ritu at our sacrifiee [sic], efficacious and undisturbed by foes.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Dhṛtavratā:

> धृतकर्माणौ । अथवा स्वीकृतकर्माणौ
>
> dhṛtakarmāṇau | athavā svīkṛtakarmāṇau

that is, “who accept the sacrificial rite we perform”. The final syllables of the words dhṛtavratā and mitrāvaruṇā are short in the Saṃhitā to suit the metre. This word dhṛtavratā is read also in the Ṛk

इन्द्रावरुणा सुतपाविमं सुतं सोमं पिबतं मद्यं धृतव्रता ॥

indrāvaruṇā sutapāvimaṃ sutaṃ somaṃ pibataṃ madyaṃ dhṛtavratā ||

(Ṛ. Saṃ. 6-68-10.)

Page 648 — Rik 6: Special Topics (end) and grammar

There the word refers to Indra and Varuṇa. Besides this, the words dhṛtavrataḥ, dhṛtavratāḥ, dhṛtavratāya, dhṛtavrate are read in many Ṛks.

Dūḷabham: duḥdabham:

दुर्दभं शत्रुभिर्दग्धुं विनाशयितुमशक्यं ॥

durdabhaṃ śatrubhirdagdhuṃ vināśayitumaśakyaṃ ||

that is, “that cannot be burnt by enemies”. The word dūḷabhe, which points to the same sense, is read also in Ṛ. Saṃ. 2-28-8 and 7-46-4 [?]; the word dūḷabhaḥ in Ṛ. Saṃ. 3-2-2, 4-9-2 and 4-9-8; and the word dūḷabhāsaḥ in Ṛ. Saṃ. 3-56-8 [?] and 7-60-6.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 648–650, noted briefly)

युवम् (yuvam): yuṣmad + nominative dual au. “yuvāvau dvivacane” (Pā. sū. 7-2-92): before an ending, for yuṣmad and asmad conveying duality, yuva and āva for the part up to m; so yuva for yuṣma, pararūpa: yuvad + au. “ṅe prathamayor am” (Pā. sū. 7-1-28): am also for the first and second case endings after yuṣmad/asmad, so am for au: yuvad + am. “prathamāyāś ca dvivacane bhāṣāyām” (Pā. sū. 7-2-88): before the first-case dual, ā as the final replacement of yuṣmad/asmad in the spoken language; so this ā does not come in the Veda. By “śeṣe lopaḥ” (Pā. sū. 7-2-90) the ṭi drops, or the final letter. On the final-loss view pūrvarūpa by “ami pūrvaḥ” (Pā. sū. 6-1-107): yuvam. On the ṭi-loss view the a of am is udātta by the udāttanivṛtti accent “anudāttasya ca yatrodāttalopaḥ” (Pā. sū. 6-1-161); on the final-loss view the single replacement of ami pūrvaḥ is udātta by “ekādeśa udāttenodāttaḥ” (Pā. sū. “6-2-5” [as printed, for 8-2-5]). So on both views yuvam is final udātta.

दक्षम् (dakṣam): dakṣa vṛddhau; dakṣanti anena iti dakṣam. “halaś ca” (Pā. sū. 3-3-121): after consonant-final roots, in the senses of instrument and locus, in the masculine, when a name is meant, the suffix ghañ; so ghañ after dakṣ in the instrumental sense. With ghañ, by rule it should be masculine, dakṣaḥ; but by anyasyāniyamaḥ it is neuter.

धृतव्रता मित्रावरुणा (dhṛtavratā mitrāvaruṇā): dhṛtāni vratāni yābhyāṃ tau (Mitra and Varuṇa, by whom the rite is accepted): dhṛtavratau. Mitraś ca varuṇaś ca mitrāvaruṇau, a dvandva compound. In both, for the vocative-nominative dual ending au, by “supāṃ suluk…”

Page 649 — Rik 6: grammar (continued)

(Pā. sū. 7-1-39) and so on, the replacement ā comes. For the word mitra, by "devatādvandve ca" (Pā. sū. 6-3-26) the replacement ānaṅ comes; being ṅit, by "ṅic ca" (Pā. sū. 1-1-53) a ṅit replacement, though of several letters, comes for the final letter; so ān for the final a of mitra; the n dropped by "nalopaḥ prātipadikāntasya" (Pā. sū. 8-2-7): mitrāvaruṇā. In dhṛtavratā the vocative lowering comes by "āmantritasya ca" (Pā. sū. 8-1-19). Mitrāvaruṇā is at the head of the pāda, so it does not get the vocative lowering; by the sixth-adhyāya "āmantritasya ca" it is initial udātta. In dhṛtavratā and mitrāvaruṇā the shortening in the Saṃhitā is Vedic.

दूळभम् (dūḷabham): daha bhasmīkaraṇe; duḥkhena dahyate iti durdaham. "īṣadduḥsuṣu kṛcchrākṛcchrārtheṣu khal" (Pā. sū. 3-3-126): after a root following īṣat, dus (in the sense of difficulty) and su (in the sense of ease), in the senses of action and object, the suffix khal; so khal after dah with dur before it; the l and kh are it and go: dur + dah + a. "vyatyayo bahulam" (Pā. sū. 3-1-85): here the Bhāṣyakāra divides the sūtra in two. Vyatyayaḥ, the first part: in the Veda the vikaraṇa suffixes such as śya are interchanged. Bahulam, the second part: in the Veda all rules apply variously. The Vārttikakāra has summed up this sense of bahula:

> सुप्तिङुपग्रहलिङ्गनराणां कालहलच्स्वरकर्तृयङां च । व्यत्ययमिच्छति शास्त्रकृदेषां सो ऽपि च सिध्यति बाहुलकेन ॥
>
> suptiṅupagrahaliṅganarāṇāṃ kālahalacsvarakartṛyaṅāṃ ca | vyatyayamicchati śāstrakṛdeṣāṃ so 'pi ca sidhyati bāhulakena ||

(Pā. sū. 3-1-85 vā. 1.) By this, in dur + dah + a, ū for the u, loss of the r, ḍ for the d and bh for the h all come: dūḍabha. By "ajmadhyasya ḍakārasya ḷakāraṃ bahvṛcā jaguḥ" the ḍ becomes ḷ: dūḷabham. By "liti" (Pā. sū. 6-1-193) the a of ḷa before the suffix is udātta. When compounded with dur, by "gatikārakopapadāt kṛt" (Pā. sū. 6-2-139) the kṛt second-member accent comes, and that accent remains.

आशाथे (āśāthe): aśū vyāptau; by "chandasi luṅlaṅliṭaḥ" (Pā. sū. 3-4-6) liṭ in the present sense. "liṭi dhātor anabhyāsasya" (Pā. sū. 6-1-8): reduplication: aś + aś + liṭ; for liṭ, the 2nd dual āthām; "ṭita ātmanepadānāṃ ṭere" (Pā. sū. 3-4-79): e for the ām: aś + aś + āthe. "halādiḥ śeṣaḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-4-60), whether by the division of the rule or by reliance on the class, removes the ś of the reduplicate. "ata ādeḥ" (Pā. sū. "7–70" [as printed, for 7-4-70])

Page 650 — Rik 6: grammar (end)

lengthens the initial a of the reduplicate: ā + aś + athe. "aśnoteś ca" (Pā. sū. 7-4-72): after the lengthened a of the reduplicate, the root aś takes the augment nuṭ; though the nuṭ would come, by "anityam āgamaśāsanam" (paribhāṣā 96 [?]) it is not binding and does not come. Savarṇa-dīrgha by "akaḥ savarṇe dīrghaḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-1-101): āśāthe. Wholly unaccented by "tiṅṅatiṅaḥ".

॥६॥

---

Page 650 (lower) — Sūkta 15, Rik 7

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

द्रविणोदा द्रविणसो ग्रावहस्तासो अध्वरे । [accent ?] यज्ञेषु देवमीळते ॥७॥

draviṇodā dráviṇaso grāvahastāso adhvaré | [accent ?] yajñéṣu devám īḷate ||7||

(Line 1: bars under द्र, वि and णो of द्रविणोदाः; the stroke over णो of द्रविणसो and the bar under ध्व of अध्वरे; not all positions certain.)

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

द्रविणःऽदाः । द्रविणसः । ग्रावऽहस्तासः । अध्वरे ॥ यज्ञेषु । देवम् । ईळते ॥७॥

draviṇaḥ 'dāḥ | draviṇasaḥ | grāva 'hastāsaḥ | adhvare || yajñeṣu | devam | īḷate ||7||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

अध्वरे ऽग्निष्टोमे प्रकृतिरूपे यज्ञेषु विकृतिरूपेषूक्थ्यादिषु च देवमग्निमीळते । ऋत्विजः स्तुवन्ति । कीदृशा ऋत्विजः । द्रविणसो धनार्थिनो ग्रावहस्तासो ऽभिषवसाधनपाषाणधारिणः । कीदृशं देवं । द्रविणोदा धनप्रदं । यद्वा । धनप्रदो ऽग्निः सोमं पिबत्विति शेषः । तमेतं मन्त्रं यास्क एवं निराह । द्रविणोदाः कस्माद्धनं द्रविणमुच्यते यदेनदभिद्रवन्ति बलं वा द्रविणं यदेनेनाभिद्रवन्ति तस्य दाता द्रविणोदास्तस्यैषा भवति । द्रविणोदा द्रविणस इत्यादि । नि. ८-१ । सो ऽयं यास्कोक्तो निर्वचनप्रपञ्चस्तस्मिन्नेव ग्रन्थे ऽवगन्तव्यः ॥ द्रविणोदाः । द्रुदक्षिभ्यामिनन् । उ. २-५० [?] । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तो द्रविणशब्दः । तद्ददातीति द्रविणोदाः । क्विप्चेति क्विप् । पूर्वपदस्य सकारोपजनश्छान्दसः । रुत्वोत्वे । कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं । देवविशेषणत्वेनैकवाक्यतापक्षे द्वितीयायाः स्वादेशः । अथवा द्रविणमात्मन इच्छन्ति द्रविणस्यन्ति । सुप आत्मनः क्यच् । सर्वप्रातिपदिकेभ्यो

adhvare 'gniṣṭome prakṛtirūpe yajñeṣu vikṛtirūpeṣūkthyādiṣu ca devamagnimīḷate | ṛtvijaḥ stuvanti | kīdṛśā ṛtvijaḥ | draviṇaso dhanārthino grāvahastāso 'bhiṣavasādhanapāṣāṇadhāriṇaḥ | kīdṛśaṃ devaṃ | draviṇodā dhanapradaṃ | yadvā | dhanaprado 'gniḥ somaṃ pibatviti śeṣaḥ | tametaṃ mantraṃ yāska evaṃ nirāha | draviṇodāḥ kasmāddhanaṃ draviṇamucyate yadenadabhidravanti balaṃ vā draviṇaṃ yadenenābhidravanti tasya dātā draviṇodāstasyaiṣā bhavati | draviṇodā draviṇasa ityādi | ni. 8-1 | so 'yaṃ yāskokto nirvacanaprapañcastasminneva granthe 'vagantavyaḥ || draviṇodāḥ | drudakṣibhyāminan | u. 2-50 [?] | nittvādādyudātto draviṇaśabdaḥ | taddadātīti draviṇodāḥ | kvipceti kvip | pūrvapadasya sakāropajanaśchāndasaḥ | rutvotve | kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ | devaviśeṣaṇatvenaikavākyatāpakṣe dvitīyāyāḥ svādeśaḥ | athavā draviṇamātmana icchanti draviṇasyanti | supa ātmanaḥ kyac | sarvaprātipadikebhyo

Page 651 — Rik 7: bhāṣya (end), word-meanings, overall sense, English

लालसायां सुग्वक्तव्यः । म. ७-१-५१-२ । इति क्यचि परतः सुगागमः । द्रविणस्यतेः सम्पदादित्वाद्भावे क्विप् । अतो लोपः । क्वौ लुप्तं न स्थानिवद्भवति । म. १-१-५८-२ । इति तस्य स्थानिवत्त्वप्रतिषेधाद्यलोपः । एवं द्रविणस्शब्दो धनेच्छावचनः । द्रविणेच्छां दस्यति यथेष्टधनप्रदानेनोपक्षपयतीत्यर्थे दसु उपक्षये इत्यस्मादन्तर्भावितण्यर्थात्क्विप्चेति क्विप् । एवं द्रविणोदःशब्दः सकारान्तो भवति । तथा द्रविणोदसः प्रवादा भवन्तीति नैरुक्तो व्यवहार उपपद्यते । नि.

८-२ । अतो द्रविणोदस्शब्दो भिन्नवाक्यत्वे स्वार्थे प्रथमा । एकवाक्यत्वे तु व्यत्ययेन द्वितीयार्थो भवति । द्रविणस इत्यत्रापि वाक्यभेदपक्षे द्रविणसः सोमस्येत्यर्थे सकारोपजनश्छान्दसः । आद्युदात्तत्वं तु नियमेन स्थितं । ऋत्विग्विशेषणत्वेनैकवाक्यत्वपक्षे तु क्यजन्तात्क्विप् । अतो लोपादि पूर्ववत् । अत्र तु पक्षे क्यचश्चित्त्वेनान्तोदात्तत्वे प्राप्ते व्यत्ययेनाद्युदात्तत्वं । ग्रावयुक्ता हस्ता येषां ते ग्रावहस्तासः । आज्ञसेरसुक् । ग्रावशब्दो वृषादित्वादाद्युदात्तः । बहुव्रीहौ पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं । अध्वरे । न विद्यते ध्वरो हिंसा यस्मिन् । नञ्सुभ्यामित्युत्तरपदान्तोदात्तत्वं । ईळते । अनुदात्तेत्त्वादात्मनेपदं । अदिप्रभृतिभ्य इति शपो लुक् । झस्यादादेशः ॥

lālasāyāṃ sugvaktavyaḥ | ma. 7-1-51-2 | iti kyaci parataḥ sugāgamaḥ | draviṇasyateḥ sampadāditvādbhāve kvip | ato lopaḥ | kvau luptaṃ na sthānivadbhavati | ma. 1-1-58-2 | iti tasya sthānivattvapratiṣedhādyalopaḥ | evaṃ draviṇasśabdo dhanecchāvacanaḥ | draviṇecchāṃ dasyati yatheṣṭadhanapradānenopakṣapayatītyarthe dasu upakṣaye ityasmādantarbhāvitaṇyarthātkvipceti kvip | evaṃ draviṇodaḥśabdaḥ sakārānto bhavati | tathā draviṇodasaḥ pravādā bhavantīti nairukto vyavahāra upapadyate | ni. 8-2 | ato draviṇodasśabdo bhinnavākyatve svārthe prathamā | ekavākyatve tu vyatyayena dvitīyārtho bhavati | draviṇasa ityatrāpi vākyabhedapakṣe draviṇasaḥ somasyetyarthe sakāropajanaśchāndasaḥ | ādyudāttatvaṃ tu niyamena sthitaṃ | ṛtvigviśeṣaṇatvenaikavākyatvapakṣe tu kyajantātkvip | ato lopādi pūrvavat | atra tu pakṣe kyacaścittvenāntodāttatve prāpte vyatyayenādyudāttatvaṃ | grāvayuktā hastā yeṣāṃ te grāvahastāsaḥ | ājjaserasuk | grāvaśabdo vṛṣāditvādādyudāttaḥ | bahuvrīhau pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ | adhvare | na vidyate dhvaro hiṃsā yasmin | nañsubhyāmityuttarapadāntodāttatvaṃ | īḷate | anudāttettvādātmanepadaṃ | adiprabhṛtibhya iti śapo luk | jhasyādādeśaḥ ||

Translation: "At the adhvara, the Agniṣṭoma in its model form, and at the yajñas, the modified forms such as the Ukthya, the priests īḷate, praise, the god Agni. What are the priests like? Draviṇasaḥ, seeking wealth; grāvahastāsaḥ, holding the stones that are the means of pressing. What is the god like? Draviṇodāḥ, the giver of wealth. Or: 'may Agni, the giver of wealth, drink the soma' is to be supplied. Yāska explains this mantra so: 'Draviṇodāḥ: why? Wealth is called draviṇa because they run towards it; or strength is draviṇa, because by it they run towards (the foe); its giver is draviṇodāḥ; this Ṛk is about him: draviṇodā draviṇasaḥ…' (Ni. 8-1). That etymological account of Yāska is to be learnt from that very work." (Grammatical tail: draviṇa with inan (Uṇ. "2-50" [?]), initial udātta; draviṇodāḥ, "who gives it", kvip, the Vedic insertion of s in the first member, ru and u, the accent of the kṛt second member; taken with devam as one sentence, the accusative is replaced by the nominative; or draviṇasyanti "they desire wealth for themselves", kyac with the augment s (MB 7-1-51-2), kvip in the action sense, the a and then the y dropped (the kvip loss not sthānivat, MB 1-1-58-2), so draviṇas means desire for wealth; draviṇodas, "who removes that desire by giving wealth", from das 'to waste' with the inner causative and kvip, ending in s, which fits Yāska's draviṇodasaḥ pravādāḥ (Ni. 8-2); in separate sentences a nominative in its own sense, in one sentence by vyatyaya in the accusative sense; draviṇasaḥ, on the separate-sentence view "of the soma" with a Vedic s, initial udātta as a rule; as an epithet of the priests, kvip after the kyac form, final udātta (cit) overridden by vyatyaya to initial udātta; grāvahastāsaḥ, a bahuvrīhi with asuk, grāvan initial udātta as of the vṛṣādi class; adhvare final udātta by nañsubhyām; īḷate, ātmanepada, śap dropped, at for jh.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

द्रविणसः (draviṇasaḥ) — the priests who seek wealth | ग्रावहस्तासः (grāvahastāsaḥ) — holding in their hands the stones (the means of pressing the soma juice) | द्रविणोदाः (draviṇodāḥ) — the giver of wealth (or the one named Draviṇodas) | देवम् (devam) — Agni, the god | अध्वरे (adhvare) — at the Agniṣṭoma sacrifice in its model form | यज्ञेषु (yajñeṣu) — and at the sacrifices such as the Ukthya in their modified forms | ईळते (īḷate) — praise.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

The priests who seek wealth, holding in their hands the stones that are the means of pressing the soma juice, at the Agniṣṭoma sacrifice, the model, and at the Ukthya and other sacrifices, the modifications, invoke and praise Agni called Draviṇodas so that he drinks the soma juice.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> The priests desirous of wealth, with the soma-pressing stones in their hands praise the divine (Agni) Dravinodas who is the giver of riches, in the Soma and other sacrifices.

Page 652 — Rik 7: Special Topics

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Draviṇodāḥ: Yāska has written a full explanation of this word:

> द्रविणोदाः । द्रविणोदाः कस्माद्धनं द्रविणमुच्यते । यदेनदभिद्रवन्ति । बलं वा द्रविणं यदेनेनाभिद्रवन्ति । तस्य दाता द्रविणोदाः ॥
>
> draviṇodāḥ | draviṇodāḥ kasmāddhanaṃ draviṇamucyate | yadenadabhidravanti | balaṃ vā draviṇaṃ yadenenābhidravanti | tasya dātā draviṇodāḥ ||

(Ni. 8-1.) Here the word draviṇodāḥ is derived as draviṇaṃ dadāti iti draviṇodāḥ. The word draviṇa has two senses, wealth and strength; so draviṇodāḥ means the giver of wealth or of strength. This is the sense of the parts of the word. Besides, Yāska gives the etymological explanation of this Ṛk thus:

> द्रविणोदा यस्त्वं । द्रविणस इति द्रविणसादिन इति वा द्रविणसानिन इति वा द्रविणसस्तस्मात्पिबत्विति वा । यज्ञेषु देवमीळते । याचन्ति स्तुवन्ति वर्धयन्ति पूजयन्तीति वा ॥
>
> draviṇodā yastvaṃ | draviṇasa iti draviṇasādina iti vā draviṇasānina iti vā draviṇasastasmātpibatviti vā | yajñeṣu devamīḷate | yācanti stuvanti vardhayanti pūjayantīti vā ||

That is, the priests who look for wealth, oblations and the like pray to you, called Draviṇodas, to drink the soma at the sacrifices: this is the chief sense. Though draviṇodāḥ here is a nominative singular, how does it qualify the accusative singular devam? Words must be supplied so that the sense is draviṇodā yaḥ devaḥ taṃ devam, “the god who is the giver of wealth: that god”. Draviṇasaḥ: since they pray to the god for wealth or oblations for the worship of the gods, draviṇasaḥ means the priests. And īḷate may be given many senses: they beg, they praise, they extol, they worship.

तत्को द्रविणोदा इन्द्र इति क्रौष्टुकिः । स बलधनयोर्दातृतमस्तस्य च सर्वा बलकृतिः ॥

tatko draviṇodā indra iti krauṣṭukiḥ | sa baladhanayordātṛtamastasya ca sarvā balakṛtiḥ ||

Page 653 — Rik 7: Special Topics (continued)

So much for the sense of the parts of the word draviṇodāḥ. But who is the deity draviṇodāḥ? Indra is the one called draviṇodāḥ, for it is Indra who gives most the strength and wealth that the word draviṇa points to; so Indra himself should be called draviṇodāḥ: this is Krauṣṭuki's view.

अथाप्यग्निं द्रविणोदसमाहैष पुनरेतस्माज्जायते । यो अश्मनोरन्तरग्निं जजान इत्यपि निगमो भवति ॥

athāpyagniṃ draviṇodasamāhaiṣa punaretasmājjāyate | yo aśmanorantaragniṃ jajāna ityapi nigamo bhavati ||

And they give this word another sense: Indra created heaven and earth, and created Agni too between them; so the word draviṇodāḥ may also be said to mean Agni; to support this sense they give the Ṛk "aśmanor antar agniṃ jajāna" as an example.

अथाप्यृतुयाजेषु द्रविणोदसः प्रवादा भवन्ति । तेषां पुनः पात्रस्यैन्द्रपानमिति भवति ॥ अथाप्येनं सोमपानेन स्तौति । अथाप्याह द्रविणोदाः पिबतु द्रविणोदस इति ॥

athāpyṛtuyājeṣu draviṇodasaḥ pravādā bhavanti | teṣāṃ punaḥ pātrasyaindrapānamiti bhavati || athāpyenaṃ somapānena stauti | athāpyāha draviṇodāḥ pibatu draviṇodasa iti ||

Since it is said that at the sacrifices made with the Ṛtus in view Indra drinks the soma from the vessel in the priests' hands, and since Indra is praised with mantras about drinking soma, there is the custom of calling the priests draviṇodasaḥ: all this is Krauṣṭuki's view.

अयमेवाग्निर्द्रविणोदा इति शाकपूणिः । आग्नेयेष्वेव हि सूक्तेषु द्रविणोदसः प्रवादा भवन्ति ॥

ayamevāgnirdraviṇodā iti śākapūṇiḥ | āgneyeṣveva hi sūkteṣu draviṇodasaḥ pravādā bhavanti ||

That Agni himself is draviṇodāḥ is Śākapūṇi's view; for in the sūktas about Agni, when the priests praise Agni, they use the word draviṇodāḥ as an epithet of Agni.

यथो एतत्स बलधनयोर्दातृतम इति सर्वासु देवतास्वैश्वर्यं विद्यते । यथो एतदोजसो जातमुतमन्य एनमिति चाहेत्ययमप्यग्निरोजसा बलेन मथ्यमानो जायते तस्मादेनमाह सहसस्पुत्रं सहसः सूनुं सहसो यहुं ॥

yatho etatsa baladhanayordātṛtama iti sarvāsu devatāsvaiśvaryaṃ vidyate | yatho etadojaso jātamutamanya enamiti cāhetyayamapyagnirojasā balena mathyamāno jāyate tasmādenamāha sahasasputraṃ sahasaḥ sūnuṃ sahaso yahuṃ ||

In all deities there is lordship; so Agni too gives strength and wealth. Since he gives strength and wealth, Agni too can be called draviṇodāḥ. Besides, it is clear that the word draviṇa means strength. Since in kindling Agni one churns using strength, there is the notion that Agni is born of strength. That is why they praise Agni with the words sahasas putram (the son of strength), sahasaḥ sūnum, sahaso yahum:

द्रवन्नः सर्पिरासुतिः प्रत्नो होता वरेण्यः । सहसस्पुत्रो अद्भुतः ॥

drvannaḥ sarpirāsutiḥ pratno hotā vareṇyaḥ | sahasasputro adbhutaḥ ||

(Ṛ. Saṃ. "2-7-6" [?]; the print reads द्रवन्नः for the first word.) ("Eating wood, receiving ghee as his libation, the ancient Hotṛ, choice-worthy, the son of strength, the wonderful" — mine and tentative.)

Page 654 — Rik 7: Special Topics (end) and grammar

त्वं ह यद्यविष्ठ्य सहसः सूनवाहुतः । ऋतावा यज्ञियो भुवः ॥

tvaṃ ha yadyaviṣṭhya sahasaḥ sūnavāhutaḥ | ṛtāvā yajñiyo bhuvaḥ ||

(Ṛ. Saṃ. "8-23-3" [?]; the middle digits are small.) ("When you, youngest, son of strength, are offered to, you become true to order and worthy of worship" — mine and tentative.)

अग्ने वाजस्य गोमत ईशानः सहसो यहो । अस्मे धेहि जातवेदो महि श्रवः ॥

agne vājasya gomata īśānaḥ sahaso yaho | asme dhehi jātavedo mahi śravaḥ ||

(Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-79-4.) ("O Agni, lord of strength rich in cattle, son of strength, give us great fame, O Jātavedas" — mine and tentative.)

In these Ṛks the words sahasas putra, sahasaḥ sūnu and sahaso yahu are used in turn in praising Agni. So, though other deities too give strength and wealth, it is Agni above all who is set forth by the word draviṇodāḥ.

Grāvahastāsaḥ: those who hold stones in their hands to crush the soma creeper.

Adhvare, yajñeṣu: though the words adhvara and yajña generally denote the same thing, sacrifice, here the Bhāṣyakāra, fearing the fault of repetition, gives adhvara the sense of the Agniṣṭoma in its model form and yajña the sense of the particular sacrifices such as the Ukthya in their modified forms. The model (prakṛti) is the basic sacrificial rite that contains the procedures common to all sacrifices. The modification (vikṛti) is a sacrificial rite carried out with some changes here and there as the occasion requires; that is, in a modified sacrifice all the acts are as in the model sacrifice, with a slight difference in only one or two matters. We have explained the model and modified sacrifices earlier.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 654–656, noted briefly)

द्रविणोदाः (draviṇodāḥ): "drudakṣibhyām inan" (Uṇ. sū. "2-50" [?]; dru gatau, dakṣa vṛddhau): after these roots the suffix inan; with inan after dru: dru + ina; guṇa by "sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-3-84), o for the u; av for the o by "eco 'yavāyāvaḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-1-78): dravina; ṇ for the n by "aṭkupvāṅnumvyavāye 'pi" (Pā. sū. 8-4-2): draviṇa. Draviṇaṃ dadāti iti draviṇodāḥ: with the subanta draviṇam as upapada, kvip after dā by "kvip ca" (Pā. sū. 3-2-76); kvip drops; a prātipadika by "kṛttaddhitasamāsāś ca" (Pā. sū. 1-2-46); the am dropped by "supo dhātuprātipadikayoḥ" (Pā. sū. 2-4-71); the first member, as a Vedic form,

Page 655 — Rik 7: grammar (continued)

takes the augment suk, joining an s: draviṇas + dā; ru for the s by "sasajuṣo ruḥ" (Pā. sū. 8-2-66): draviṇar + dā; u for the ru by "haśi ca" (Pā. sū. 6-1-114): draviṇa + u + dā; guṇa by "ād guṇaḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-1-87): draviṇodā. Dā is final udātta by the root accent of "dhātoḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-1-162); after compounding, the kṛt second-member accent comes by "gatikārakopapadāt kṛt" (Pā. sū. 6-2-139) and remains. Draviṇodāḥ qualifies the accusative singular devam; so if one sentence is meant, for the accusative am after draviṇodā the replacement su comes by "supāṃ suluk…" (Pā. sū. 7-1-39): draviṇodās, ru, visarga: draviṇodāḥ. Or, with the analysis draviṇam ātmanaḥ icchanti, it becomes draviṇasyanti: in this case kyac by "supa ātmanaḥ kyac" after draviṇam in the sense "they desire for themselves"; the kyac-form is called a root by "sanādyantā dhātavaḥ" (Pā. sū. 3-1-32); the sup inside the root is dropped by "supo dhātuprātipadikayoḥ" (Pā. sū. 2-4-71); by "sarvaprātipadikebhyo lālasāyāṃ sug vaktavyaḥ" (Pā. sū. Ma. Bhā. 7-1-51-2) (lālasā is atiśayenābhyavajihīrṣā, as the Kaiyaṭa explains; utkaṭecchā, eager desire, says the Tattvabodhinī), when eager desire is shown before kyac all stems take the augment suk: draviṇasya. After it, by "sampadādibhyaḥ kvip" (Pā. sū. vārtti. 3-3-108-9) kvip in the action sense: draviṇasya + v; "ato lopaḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-4-48): the a of what ends in a at the time the ārdhadhātuka suffix is taught drops; so the a before the suffix drops: draviṇasy + v. In this a-loss view, when the y is to be dropped, "acaḥ parasmin pūrvavidhau" (Pā. sū. 1-1-57) would give sthānivadbhāva, but by "kvau luptaṃ na sthānivad bhavati" (Pā. Ma. 1-1-58-2) what is dropped with reference to the kvip suffix is not sthānivat; so sthānivadbhāva is barred. "lopo vyor vali" (Pā. sū. 6-1-66): before a val letter v and y drop; so the y drops. "ver apṛktasya" (Pā. sū. 6-1-67): apṛkta is a suffix of a single letter; the apṛkta v drops. Though the loss of the apṛkta v, having no outside cause, is antaraṅga, and the loss before val, having an outside cause, is bahiraṅga, so that by "asiddhaṃ bahiraṅgam antaraṅge" (paribhāṣā 50) the val-loss would count as not done when the apṛkta loss is made, and then, once the apṛkta loss came first, the bar of sthānivadbhāva in the al-rule would make the val-loss not come: yet by "ver apṛktalopād vali lopo balīyān", the val-loss comes first, then the apṛkta loss: draviṇas. This means desire for wealth. Draviṇecchāṃ dasyati: one who, by giving wealth as desired, removes the desire for wealth: with this sense meant, kvip by "kvip ca" after the root dasu upakṣaye with the inner causative; the kvip drops. In this way the word draviṇodas ends in s. By this derivation Yāska's usage draviṇodasaḥ pravādā bhavanti (Ni. 8-2) fits. So if draviṇodāḥ is taken as not qualifying devam, two sentences arise; on this view the nominative singular su comes in its own sense, giving draviṇodāḥ; on the one-sentence view the nominative must be taken in the sense of the accusative by vyatyaya.

Page 656 — Rik 7: grammar (end)

द्रविणसः (draviṇasaḥ): here too, on the separate-sentence view, draviṇasaḥ means "of the soma juice"; in this sense, by a Vedic process, the augment s comes, giving draviṇasaḥ. By "ñnityādir nityam" it is initial udātta as a rule. On the view that draviṇasaḥ qualifies the priests and there is one sentence, as said before, kvip after the kyac form, and by "ato lopaḥ" and the other rules the loss of a and the other operations come as before. On this view the kyac suffix is cit, so by "citaḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-1-163) final udātta would come, but by vyatyaya it is initial udātta. On the one-sentence view the construction is adhvare yajñeṣu ca draviṇaso grāvahastāso ṛtvijaḥ draviṇodā devam īḷate. On the separate-sentence view the constructions are draviṇasaḥ grāvahastāsaḥ ṛtvijaḥ adhvare yajñeṣu ca devam īḷate, draviṇodāḥ agniḥ somaṃ pibatu, and grāvahastāsaḥ ṛtvijaḥ adhvare yajñeṣu ca devam īḷate, draviṇodāḥ agniḥ draviṇasaḥ somasya pātā bhavatu.

ग्रावहस्तासः (grāvahastāsaḥ): grāvayuktāḥ hastāḥ yeṣāṃ te grāvahastāsaḥ, a bahuvrīhi compound. After grāvahasta, jas; by "ājjaser asuk" (Pā. sū. 7-1-50) jas takes the augment asuk. The word grāvan belongs to the vṛṣādi class, so it is initial udātta by "vṛṣādīnāṃ ca" (Pā. sū. 6-1-203); even after compounding, by "bahuvrīhau prakṛtyā pūrvapadam" (Pā. sū. 6-2-1) the first-member accent comes.

अध्वरे (adhvare): na vidyate dhvaraḥ hiṃsā yasmin saḥ adhvaraḥ; overriding the first-member accent, by "nañsubhyām" (Pā. sū. 6-2-172) the second member is final udātta.

ईळते (īḷate): īḍa stutau; the root is anudāttet, so by "anudāttaṅita ātmanepadam" (Pā. sū. 1-3-12) the ātmanepada. Laṭ, 3rd plural jha. The vikaraṇa śap is dropped by "adiprabhṛtibhyaḥ śapaḥ" (Pā. sū. 2-4-72). By "ātmanepadeṣv anataḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-1-5) at for the jh. By "ṭita ātmanepadānāṃ ṭere" (Pā. sū. 3-4-79) e for the ṭi: īḍate; ḷ for the ḍ by "ajmadhyasya ḍakārasya…".

॥७॥

---

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

द्रविणोदा ददातु नो वसूनि यानि शृण्विरे । देवेषु ता वनामहे ॥८॥

draviṇodā dadātu no vasūni yāni śṛṇviré | devéṣu tā vanāmahe ||8||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

द्रविणःऽदाः । ददातु । नः । वसूनि । यानि । शृण्विरे ॥ देवेषु । ता । वनामहे ॥८॥

draviṇaḥ 'dāḥ | dadātu | naḥ | vasūni | yāni | śṛṇvire || deveṣu | tā | vanāmahe ||8||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

द्रविणोदा देवो नो ऽस्मभ्यं वसूनि धनानि ददातु । यानि धनानि शृण्विरे हविरुपयुक्तत्वेन श्रूयन्ते । ता तानि च सर्वाणि धनानि देवेषु निमित्तभूतेषु वनामहे । सम्भजामः । धनैर्देवान्यष्टुं तानि स्वीकुर्म इत्यर्थः ॥ द्रविणोदाः । गतं । वसूनि । शृस्वृस्निहीत्यादिना । उ. १-११ । उप्रत्ययः । निदित्यनुवृत्तेराद्युदात्तः । शृण्विरे । श्रु श्रवणे । छन्दसि लुङ्लङ्लिट इति वर्तमाने लिट् । झ इरेच् । पा. ३-४-८१ । छन्दस्युभयथेति सार्वधातुकत्वे व्यत्ययेन श्रुः । तत्सन्नियोगेन शृभावश्च । उवङि प्राप्ते हुश्नुवोः सार्वधातुके । पा. ६-४-८७ । इति यणादेशः । चित इत्यन्तोदात्तत्वं । यद्वृत्तान्नित्यमिति निघातप्रतिषेधः । ता । शेश्छन्दसि बहुलमिति शेर्लोपः । नलोपः प्रातिपदिकान्तस्य । पा. ८-२-७ । इति नलोपः । वनामहे । वन षण सम्भक्तौ । व्यत्ययेनात्मनेपदं ॥

draviṇodā devo no 'smabhyaṃ vasūni dhanāni dadātu | yāni dhanāni śṛṇvire havirupayuktatvena śrūyante | tā tāni ca sarvāṇi dhanāni deveṣu nimittabhūteṣu vanāmahe | sambhajāmaḥ | dhanairdevānyaṣṭuṃ tāni svīkurma ityarthaḥ || draviṇodāḥ | gataṃ | vasūni | śṛsvṛsnihītyādinā | u. 1-11 | upratyayaḥ | niditynuvṛtterādyudāttaḥ | śṛṇvire | śru śravaṇe | chandasi luṅlaṅliṭa iti vartamāne liṭ | jha irec | pā. 3-4-81 | chandasyubhayatheti sārvadhātukatve vyatyayena śnuḥ | tatsanniyogena śṛbhāvaśca | uvaṅi prāpte huśnuvoḥ sārvadhātuke | pā. 6-4-87 | iti yaṇādeśaḥ | cita ityantodāttatvaṃ | yadvṛttānnityamiti nighātapratiṣedhaḥ | tā | śeśchandasi bahulamiti śerlopaḥ | nalopaḥ prātipadikāntasya | pā. 8-2-7 | iti nalopaḥ | vanāmahe | vana ṣaṇa sambhaktau | vyatyayenātmanepadaṃ ||

Translation: "May the god Draviṇodas give us vasūni, riches. The riches that śṛṇvire, are heard of, as fit for oblations: tā, all those riches, devesu, for the sake of the gods, vanāmahe, we accept; that is, we take them in order to worship the gods with riches." (Grammatical tail: draviṇodāḥ gone through; vasūni with u (Uṇ. 1-11), initial udātta (nit carried on); śṛṇvire: śru, liṭ in the present, irec for jha (Pā. 3-4-81), by chandasy ubhayathā sārvadhātuka status and so by vyatyaya śnu with śṛ for śru, yaṇ for the uvaṅ by Pā. 6-4-87, final udātta (cit), not lowered because of the relative yāni; tā: the śi dropped by śeś chandasi bahulam, the n dropped (Pā. 8-2-7); vanāmahe, van 'to share', ātmanepada by vyatyaya.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

द्रविणोदाः (draviṇodāḥ) — the god who gives wealth (Agni) | यानि (yāni) — the riches which | शृण्विरे (śṛṇvire) — are well known as fit for oblations | ता वसूनि (tā vasūni) — those riches | नः (naḥ) — to us | ददातु (dadātu) — may he give | ता (tā) — all those riches | देवेषु (devesu) — for the sake of the gods | वनामहे (vanāmahe) — we take.

Page 658 — Rik 8: overall sense, English, Special Topics, grammar

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

We look for wealth for the works of the gods, such as sacrifices. May Agni, the giver of wealth, graciously grant us all the wealth known to be for these works.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> May Dravinodas give us riches that may be heard of; we ask them towards the service of the gods.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Yāni śṛṇvire: all such things, of whatever kinds of wealth and lordship we have heard there are. Since it is said here devesu tā vanāmahe, those things must be fit to be offered to the gods; so the Bhāṣyakāra says they are things fit for offering oblations.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 658–659, noted briefly)

द्रविणोदाः (draviṇodāḥ): explained in the previous mantra.

वसूनि (vasūni): by “śṛsvṛsnihitrapyasivasihanikledibandhimanibhyaś ca” (Uṇ. sū. “1-10” [?]; the bhāṣya gives 1-11) the suffix u after vasa nivāse. In this sūtra nit is carried on from “dhānye nit” (Uṇ. sū. 1-9); so the suffix u is nit, and by “ñnityādir nityam” (Pā. sū. 6-1-197) initial udātta comes.

शृण्विरे (śṛṇvire): śru śravaṇe; by “chandasi luṅlaṅliṭaḥ” (Pā. sū. 3-4-6) liṭ in the present sense; 3rd plural jha; by “liṭas tajhayor eśirec” (Pā. sū. 3-4-81) irec for the jha. By “chandasy ubhayathā” (Pā. sū. 3-4-117) it also has sārvadhātuka status; so by “śruvaḥ śṛ ca” (Pā. sū. 3-1-74) śṛ comes for śru, together with the suffix śnu: śṛ + nu + ire. Now “iko yaṇ aci” (Pā. sū. 6-1-77) would give yaṇ; overriding it, “aci śnudhātubhruvāṃ yvor iyaṅuvaṅau” (Pā. sū. 6-4-77) would give uvaṅ; overriding that too, “huśnuvoḥ sārvadhātuke” (Pā. sū. 6-4-87): before a vowel-initial sārvadhātuka suffix, the u of hu and of a stem ending in śnu with several vowels, not preceded by a conjunct, takes yaṇ; so yaṇ. By “ṛvarṇān nasya ṇatvaṃ vācyam” (Pā. sū. 8-4-1 vā. 1) ṇ for the n: śṛṇvire. The suffix irec is cit, so by “citaḥ” (Pā. sū. 6-1-163) it is final udātta. By “yadvṛttān nityam” (Pā. sū. 8-1-66) the full lowering is barred, so “tiṅṅatiṅaḥ” (Pā. sū. 8-1-28) does not make it wholly unaccented.

Page 659 — Rik 8: grammar (end)

ता (tā): tad in the neuter, with śas after it; a for the d by “tyadādīnām aḥ” (Pā. sū. 7-2-102); pararūpa by “ato guṇe” (Pā. sū. 6-1-97). “jaśśasoḥ śiḥ” (Pā. sū. 7-1-20): for jas and śas after a neuter stem, the replacement śi; so śi for śas. By “śi sarvanāmasthānam” (Pā. sū. 1-1-42) śi is a sarvanāmasthāna. “napuṃsakasya jhalacaḥ” (Pā. sū. 7-1-72): a neuter stem ending in a jhal or a vowel takes the augment num before a sarvanāmasthāna; so num: tan + i; by “sarvanāmasthāne cāsambuddhau” (Pā. sū. 6-4-8) the penultimate is lengthened: tān + i. By “śeś chandasi bahulam” (Pā. sū. 6-1-70) the śi drops; by “nalopaḥ prātipadikāntasya” (Pā. sū. 8-2-7) the n drops: tā. It means tāni.

वनामहे (vanāmahe): vana ṣaṇa sambhaktau. In “vyatyayo bahulam” (Pā. sū. 3-1-85), in the kārikā suptiṅupagraha…, upagraha is explained as parasmaipada and ātmanepada; so there is interchange between parasmaipada and ātmanepada. The word vyatyaya is made from the root iṇ gatau with the two upasargas vi and ati, with ac in the action sense; it means “going beyond”. So it is settled that where there is a cause for parasmaipada, going beyond it the ātmanepada comes, and where there is a cause for ātmanepada, going beyond it the parasmaipada comes, in some places. Though the root van is parasmaipadin, going beyond that, the ātmanepada comes by “vyatyayo bahulam” (3-1-85). Wholly unaccented by “tiṅṅatiṅaḥ” (Pā. sū. 8-1-28).

॥८॥

---

Page 659 (lower) — Sūkta 15, Rik 9

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. The print joins नेष्टृादृतुभिः.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

द्रविणोदाः पिपीषति जुहोत प्र च तिष्ठत । नेष्ट्रादृतुभिरिष्यत ॥९॥ [accent ?]

draviṇodāḥ pipīṣati juhóta prá ca tiṣṭhata | neṣṭrād ṛtúbhir iṣyata ||9|| [accent ?]

(Line 2: the bar under ने and the stroke over भि are clear; the bar under ट्र is read from the sequence, the foot of the page being faint.)

Page 660 — Rik 9: Pada, bhāṣya, word-meanings

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

द्रविणःऽदाः । पिपीषति । जुहोत । प्र । च । तिष्ठत ॥ नेष्ट्रात् । ऋतुऽभिः । इष्यत ॥९॥

draviṇaḥ 'dāḥ | pipīṣati | juhota | pra | ca | tiṣṭhata || neṣṭrāt | ṛtu 'bhiḥ | iṣyata ||9||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

द्रविणोदा देव ऋतुभिः सह नेष्ट्रान्नेष्टृसम्बन्धिपात्रात्पिपीषति । सोमं पातुमिच्छति । ततो हे ऋत्विज इष्यत । होमस्थाने गच्छत । गत्वा च जुहोत । होमं कुरुत । हुत्वा प्र तिष्ठत च । होमस्थानात्स्थानान्तरं प्रति प्रस्थानमपि कुरुत ॥ द्रविणोदाः । गतं । पिपीषति । पा पाने । पातुमिच्छतीति सन् । छान्दस ईकारः । तिङ्ङतिङ इति निघातः । जुहोत । लोण्मध्यमबहुवचनं । तस्य लङ्वद्भावात्तादेशः । तस्य तप्तनप्तनथनाश्चेति तबादेशः । तस्य पित्त्वादुणः । अभ्यस्तानामादिरित्यनुवृत्तावनुदात्ते च । पा. ६-१-१९० । इत्याद्युदात्तत्वे प्राप्ते भीह्रीभृहुमदजनधनदरिद्राजागरां प्रत्ययात्पूर्वं पिति । पा. ६-१-१९२ । इति होकार उदात्तः । तिष्ठत । ष्ठा गतिनिवृत्तौ । लोण्मध्यमबहुवचनस्य थस्य लङ्वद्भावात्तादेशः । शपि पाघ्रेत्यादिना तिष्ठादेशः । समवप्रविभ्यः स्थः । पा. १-३-२२ । इत्यात्मनेपदं न भवति । तत्रानुवृत्तस्य निर्दिष्टग्रहणस्यानन्तर्यार्थत्वात् । अत्र चशब्देन व्यवधानात्ते प्राग्धातोः । पा. १-४-८० । इत्युपसर्गत्वेन प्राक्प्रयोक्तव्यस्यापि प्रशब्दस्य व्यवहिताश्चेति छन्दसि व्यवहितप्रयोगः । अत्र चशब्दो जुहोतेति पूर्वेण सह समुच्चयार्थः । न पुनरिष्यतेत्युत्तरेण । तेनाप्रथमत्वाच्चवायोगे प्रथमा । पा. ८-१-५९ । इति निषेधाभावात्तिङ्ङतिङ इति निघातः । नेष्ट्रात् । पोत्राद्यङ्गं पुनीतन । ऋग्वे. १-१५-२ । इत्यत्र पोत्रशब्देन यदुक्तं तदत्र द्रष्टव्यं । इष्यत । इष गतौ । लोण्मध्यमबहुवचनं ॥

draviṇodā deva ṛtubhiḥ saha neṣṭrānneṣṭṛsambandhipātrātpipīṣati | somaṃ pātumicchati | tato he ṛtvija iṣyata | homasthāne gacchata | gatvā ca juhota | homaṃ kuruta | hutvā pra tiṣṭhata ca | homasthānātsthānāntaraṃ prati prasthānamapi kuruta || draviṇodāḥ | gataṃ | pipīṣati | pā pāne | pātumicchatīti san | chāndasa īkāraḥ | tiṅṅatiṅa iti nighātaḥ | juhota | loṇmadhyamabahuvacanaṃ | tasya laṅvadbhāvāttādeśaḥ | tasya taptanaptanathanāśceti tabādeśaḥ | tasya pittvādguṇaḥ | abhyastānāmādirityanuvṛttāvanudātte ca | pā. 6-1-190 | ityādyudāttatve prāpte bhīhrībhṛhumadajanadhanadaridrājāgarāṃ pratyayātpūrvaṃ piti | pā. 6-1-192 | iti hokāra udāttaḥ | tiṣṭhata | ṣṭhā gatinivṛttau | loṇmadhyamabahuvacanasya thasya laṅvadbhāvāttādeśaḥ | śapi pāghretyādinā tiṣṭhādeśaḥ | samavapravibhyaḥ sthaḥ | pā. 1-3-22 | ityātmanepadaṃ na bhavati | tatrānuvṛttasya nirdiṣṭagrahaṇasyānantaryārthatvāt | atra caśabdena vyavadhānātte prāgdhātoḥ | pā. 1-4-80 | ityupasargatvena prākprayoktavyasyāpi praśabdasya vyavahitāśceti chandasi vyavahitaprayogaḥ | atra caśabdo juhoteti pūrveṇa saha samuccayārthaḥ | na punariṣyatetyuttareṇa | tenāprathamatvāccavāyoge prathamā | pā. 8-1-59 | iti niṣedhābhāvāttiṅṅatiṅa iti

nighātaḥ | neṣṭrāt | potrādyajñaṃ punītana | ṛgve. 1-15-2 | ityatra potraśabdena yaduktaṃ tadatra draṣṭavyaṃ | iṣyata | iṣa gatau | loṇmadhyamabahuvacanaṃ ||

Translation: "The god Draviṇodas, with the Ṛtus, pipīṣati, wishes to drink the soma, from the neṣṭra, the vessel belonging to the Neṣṭṛ. So, O priests, iṣyata, go to the place of the homa; having gone, juhota, make the homa; having made it, pra tiṣṭhata ca, also set out from the place of the homa to another place." (Grammatical tail: draviṇodāḥ gone through; pipīṣati, san after pā 'to drink' in the sense of wishing, the ī Vedic, lowered; juhota: loṭ 2nd plural, ta by laṅvadbhāva, tap for it, guṇa (pit); the initial udātta of Pā. 6-1-190 is overridden by Pā. 6-1-192, so the o is udātta; tiṣṭhata: tiṣṭha for sthā; the ātmanepada of Pā. 1-3-22 does not come, the immediate sequence being required there and ca intervening; pra, which as an upasarga should come before the root (Pā. 1-4-80), is used separated in the Veda; ca joins juhota with what precedes, not with iṣyata; so, tiṣṭhata not being the first, the bar of Pā. 8-1-59 does not apply and it is lowered; neṣṭrāt as said for potra at Ṛ. 1-15-2; iṣyata, iṣ 'to go', loṭ 2nd plural.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

द्रविणोदाः (draviṇodāḥ) — Agni, the giver of wealth | ऋतुभिः (ṛtubhiḥ) — with the Ṛtu deities | नेष्ट्रात् (neṣṭrāt) — from the Neṣṭṛ's vessel | पिपीषति (pipīṣati) — wishes to drink (the soma juice); (so, O priests) | इष्यत (iṣyata) — go (to the place of sacrifice) | जुहोत (juhota) — make the homa; (then) | प्र तिष्ठत च (pra tiṣṭhata ca) — leave the place of the homa and go back to your own places.

Page 661 — Rik 9: overall sense, English, Special Topics, grammar

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O priests, Agni, the giver of wealth and the self of the gods, looks to drink the soma juice from the Neṣṭṛ's vessel. So all of you come to the place of sacrifice, make the homa, and then go out.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> Dravinodas desires to drink with the Ritu's from the cup of Neshtri; hasten, priests, present the oblation and depart.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Pipīṣati:

> पा पाने । पातुमिच्छति ॥
>
> pā pāne | pātumicchati ||

he looks to drink.

Neṣṭrāt: the soma juice from the vessel in the hand of the priest called Neṣṭṛ.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 661–663, noted briefly)

द्रविणोदाः (draviṇodāḥ): explained in the seventh mantra.

पिपीषति (pipīṣati): the root pā pāne; analysed pātum icchati. “dhātoḥ karmaṇaḥ samānakartṛkād icchāyāṃ vā” (Pā. sū. 3-1-7): the root iṣu icchāyām; after a root expressing an activity that has the same agent as this iṣ and is the object of the iṣ, the suffix san comes in the sense of wishing: that is the sense of the sūtra. Here the one who wishes is Agni; Agni is the agent of iṣ; the same Agni is the agent in the activity favourable to contact with the throat, which is the sense of pā; so the activity of pā has the same agent as the wishing, and this activity is the object of iṣ. So san comes after pā, denoting such an activity, in the sense of wishing: pā + sa; reduplication by “sanyaṅoḥ” (Pā. sū. 6-1-9): pā + pā + sa; the reduplicate shortened by “hrasvaḥ” (Pā. sū. 7-4-59); i for the a of the reduplicate by “sanyataḥ” (Pā. sū. 7-4-79): pipāsati. Now the ā becomes ī as a Vedic form. Ṣ for the s by “ādeśapratyayayoḥ” (Pā. sū. 8-3-59): pipīṣati. Wholly unaccented by “tiṅṅatiṅaḥ” (“8-12-28” [as printed, for 8-1-28]).

जुहोत (juhota): hu dānādanayoḥ (juhotyādi); loṭ, 2nd plural tha; by “loṭo laṅvat” (Pā. sū. 3-4-85) the laṅvadbhāva; so by “tasthasthamipāṃ tāṃtaṃtāmaḥ” (Pā. sū. 3-4-101) ta for tha; tap for it by “taptanaptanathanāś ca” (Pā. sū. 7-1-45); the vikaraṇa śap by “kartari śap”, dropped (ślu) by “juhotyādibhyaḥ śluḥ” (Pā. sū. 2-4-75); reduplication of the root by “ślau” (Pā. sū. 6-1-10): hu + hu + ta; by “kuhoś cuḥ” (Pā. sū. 7-4-62), for the h, closed, with great breath, a jh of that kind; by “abhyāse carc ca” (Pā. sū. 8-4-54) j for the jh: ju + hu + ta. Tap is pit, so by “sārvadhātukam apit” (Pā. sū. 1-2-4) it is not ṅit; so “kṅiti ca” (Pā. sū. 1-1-5) does not bar guṇa; guṇa by “sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ” (Pā. sū. 7-3-84): juhota. The sārvadhātuka ta standing for the lakāra is pit, so unaccented by “anudāttau suppitau” (Pā. sū. 3-1-4). With “abhyastānām ādiḥ” (Pā. sū. 6-1-189) carried on in “anudātte ca” (Pā. sū. 6-1-190), na vidyate udāttaḥ yasmin saḥ anudāttaḥ, tasmin anudātte: before an unaccented sārvadhātuka in the place of a lakāra, the first syllable of a reduplicated stem is udātta; so the initial udātta would come; but overriding it, “bhīhrībhṛhumadajanadhanadaridrājāgarāṃ pratyayāt pūrvaṃ piti” (Pā. sū. 6-1-192): ñibhī bhaye, hrī lajjāyām, ḍubhṛñ dhāraṇapoṣaṇayoḥ, hu dānādanayoḥ, madī harṣe (a divādi root, but by a Vedic process śap gets ślu), jana janane, dhana dhānye, daridrā durgatau, jāgṛ nidrākṣaye. Daridrā and jāgṛ are reduplicated by “jakṣityādayaḥ ṣaṭ” (Pā. sū. “6-1-6” [?]), by which jakṣ and the six roots after it are called reduplicated; the others are reduplicated by “ubhe abhyastam” (Pā. sū. “6-1-5” [?]). Before a pit sārvadhātuka in the place of a lakāra, in the roots bhī and the rest that are reduplicated, the syllable before the suffix is udātta; so the o before the suffix ta is udātta.

Page 662 — Rik 9: grammar (continued)

तिष्ठत (tiṣṭhata): the root ṣṭhā gatinivṛttau; s for the ṣ by “dhātvādeḥ ṣaḥ saḥ” (Pā. sū. 6-1-64); with the ṣṭutva gone, the ṭh reverts: sthā. Loṭ, 2nd plural tha: sthā + tha; by “loṭo laṅvat” (Pā. sū. 3-4-85) the laṅvadbhāva; by “tasthasthamipāṃ tāṃtaṃtāmaḥ” (Pā. sū. 3-4-101) ta for tha; by “kartari śap” (Pā. sū. 3-1-68) śap: sthā + a + ta; by “pāghrādhmā…” (Pā. sū. 7-3-78) tiṣṭha for sthā: tiṣṭhata. “samavapravibhyaḥ sthaḥ” (Pā. sū. 1-3-22): after the upasargas sam, ava, pra, vi, the root sthā takes the ātmanepada in the place of the lakāra; but here, though there is an upasarga, the ātmanepada does not come, since samavapravibhyaḥ is a fifth-case statement. So by “tasmād ity uttarasya” (Pā. sū. 1-1-67), the paribhāṣā means: the operation enjoined in a rule that names a fifth-case form comes for what immediately follows. By this paribhāṣā, the ātmanepada is enjoined when sthā immediately follows sam and the other upasargas. Here, in pra ca tiṣṭhata, ca intervenes between them; so the ātmanepada does not come. Pra is an upasarga; so by "te prāg dhātoḥ" (Pā. sū. 1-4-80) the gati and upasarga words must be used immediately before the root, and pra ought to be used immediately before the root. But by "vyavahitāś ca" (Pā. sū. 1-4-82) in the Veda the gati and upasarga words may be used separated too; so here pra is used separated. Here ca conveys the joining with the earlier action: juhota, pratiṣṭhata ca, "make the homa, and having made it go to another place". It does not convey joining with iṣyata as pratiṣṭhata iṣyata ca. So, with reference to the action joined by ca, tiṣṭhata is not the first tiṅanta. So "cavāyoge prathamā" (Pā. sū. 8-1-59): when joined with ca or vā, the first tiṅanta is not unaccented; this bar does not apply, and by "tiṅṅatiṅaḥ" it is wholly unaccented.

Page 663 — Rik 9: grammar (end)

नेष्ट्रात् (neṣṭrāt): the derivation must be given here as for the word potra in the mantra potrād yajñaṃ punītana (Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-15-2).

इष्यत (iṣyata): iṣa gatau (divādi), loṭ, 2nd plural tha; by "loṭo laṅvat" (Pā. sū. 3-4-85) the laṅvadbhāva; by "tasthasthamipāṃ tāṃtaṃtāmaḥ" (Pā. sū. 3-4-101) ta for tha; by "divādibhyaḥ śyan" the vikaraṇa śyan: iṣyata. Wholly unaccented by "tiṅṅatiṅaḥ" (Pā. sū. 8-1-28).

॥९॥

---

Page 663 (lower) — Sūkta 15, Rik 10

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

यत्त्वा॑ तु॒रीय॑मृ॒तुभि॒र्द्रवि॑णोदो॒ यजा॑महे । [accent ?] अध॑ स्मा नो द॒दिर्भ॑व ॥१०॥

yát tvā turīyam ṛtúbhir dráviṇodo yájāmahe | [accent ?] ádha smā no dadír bhava || 10||

(Line 1: the strokes over त्वा, रीय, वि and जा are clear; the bars under तु, ऋ, भि and दो are read at 500 dpi, faint at the foot of the page.)

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

यत् । त्वा । तुरीयम् । ऋतुऽभिः । द्रविणःऽदः । यजामहे ॥ अध । स्म । नः । ददिः । भव ॥१०॥

yat | tvā | turīyam | ṛtu 'bhiḥ | draviṇaḥ 'daḥ | yajāmahe || adha | sma | naḥ | dadiḥ | bhava ||10||

Page 664 — Rik 10: bhāṣya, word-meanings, overall sense, English, Special Topics

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे द्रविणोदो देव यद्यस्मात्कारणादृतुभिः सह त्वां यजामहे । अधेत्ययं निपातस्तच्छब्दार्थः । तस्मात्कारणान्नो ऽस्मभ्यं ददिर्धनस्य दाता भव स्म । अवश्यं भव । तुरीयं चतुर्णां पूरणं ॥ तुरीयं । चतुरश्छयतावाद्यक्षरलोपश्च । पा. ५-२-५१-१ । इति छप्रत्ययः । तस्य प्रत्ययस्वरेणोदात्तात्प्रागेवायनेयीनीत्यादिना । पा. ७-१-२ । ईयादेशः । आयनादिषूपदेशिवद्वचनं स्वरसिद्ध्यर्थं । पा. ७-१-२-१ । इति वचनात्कृत आदेशे प्रत्ययस्वरेणेकार उदात्तः । द्रविणोदः । उक्तं । पादादित्वादामन्त्रिताद्युदात्तत्वं । यजामहे । अत्र शपः पित्त्वेन तिङश्च लसार्वधातुकस्वरेण धातुस्वर एव । पूर्वस्यामन्त्रितस्याविद्यमानवत्त्वाद्यद्वृत्तयोगाद्वा न निघातः । व्यवहितयोगे ऽपि हि स निषेध इत्युक्तं । अध । छान्दसो धकारः । स्म । चादिरनुदात्तः । संहितायां निपातस्य चेति दीर्घः । ददिः । डुदाञ् दाने । आदृगमहनजनः किकिनौ लिट् च । पा. ३-२-१७१ । इति किप्रत्ययः । लिड्वद्भावाद्द्विर्वचनादि । आतो लोप इटि च । पा. ६-४-६४ । इत्याकारलोपः । प्रत्ययस्वरः ॥

he draviṇodo deva yadyasmātkāraṇādṛtubhiḥ saha tvāṃ yajāmahe | adhetyayaṃ nipātastacchabdārthaḥ | tasmātkāraṇānno 'smabhyaṃ dadirdhanasya dātā bhava sma | avaśyaṃ bhava | turīyaṃ caturṇāṃ pūraṇaṃ || turīyaṃ | caturaśchayatāvādyakṣaralopaśca | pā. 5-2-51-1 | iti chapratyayaḥ | tasya pratyayasvareṇodāttātprāgevāyaneyīnītyādinā | pā. 7-1-2 | īyādeśaḥ | āyanādiṣūpadeśivadvacanaṃ svarasiddhyarthaṃ | pā. 7-1-2-1 | iti vacanātkṛta ādeśe pratyayasvareṇekāra udāttaḥ | draviṇodaḥ | uktaṃ | pādāditvādāmantritādyudāttatvaṃ | yajāmahe | atra śapaḥ pittvena tiṅaśca lasārvadhātukasvareṇa dhātusvara eva | pūrvasyāmantritasyāvidyamānavattvādyadvṛttayogādvā na nighātaḥ | vyavahitayoge 'pi hi sa niṣedha ityuktaṃ | adha | chāndaso dhakāraḥ | sma | cādiranudāttaḥ | saṃhitāyāṃ nipātasya ceti dīrghaḥ | dadiḥ | ḍudāñ dāne | ādṛgamahanajanaḥ kikinau liṭ ca | pā. 3-2-171 | iti kipratyayaḥ | liḍvadbhāvāddvirvacanādi | āto lopa iṭi ca | pā. 6-4-64 | ityākāralopaḥ | pratyayasvaraḥ ||

Translation: "O god Draviṇodas, yat, since, we worship you with the Ṛtus, adha, a particle in the sense of tad, for that reason be dadiḥ, the giver of wealth, naḥ, to us: bhava sma, be so without fail. Turīyam: the filler of four, the fourth." (Grammatical tail: turīyam with cha and the loss of the first syllable by the vārttika 5-2-51-1, the replacement īya (Pā. 7-1-2) made first, before the suffix accent, by the vārttika 7-1-2-1, so the ī is udātta; draviṇodaḥ as said, initial udātta at the head of the pāda; yajāmahe, the root accent, not lowered, the earlier vocative counting as absent, or because of the relative yat, for the bar holds even when yat is not adjacent; adha, the dh Vedic; sma, unaccented as of the cādi class, lengthened in the Saṃhitā by nipātasya ca; dadiḥ, ki after dā (Pā. 3-2-171), reduplication as in liṭ, the ā dropped (Pā. 6-4-64), the suffix accent.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

द्रविणोदः (draviṇodaḥ) — O Agni, giver of wealth | यत् (yat) — for the reason that | ऋतुभिः (ṛtubhiḥ) — with the Ṛtu deities | तुरीयम् (turīyam) — for the fourth time | त्वा (tvā) — you | यजामहे (yajāmahe) — we worship | अध (adha) — so | नः (naḥ) — to us | ददिः (dadiḥ) — as the giver of wealth | भव स्म (bhava sma) — be, without fail.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Agni, seeking wealth, we worship you, the fourth, with the Ṛtu deities. So surely accept our worship and become the giver of wealth.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> Dravinodas, Since we adore you for the fourth time along with the Ritus; therefore be a giver (of riches) to us.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Turīyam: for the fourth time. In this sūkta there are four Ṛks praising Agni called Draviṇodas (the Ṛks from 7 to 10); among them this is the fourth. So here turīyam means "for the fourth time", or "we praise with the fourth Ṛk".

Page 665 — Rik 10: grammar

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 665–666, noted briefly)

तुरीयम् (turīyam): analysed caturṇāṃ pūraṇam. "caturaś chayatāv ādyakṣaralopaś ca" (Pā. sū. "5-2-51" [as printed; the bhāṣya gives 5-2-51-1]): in the sense of filling, after catur the suffixes cha and yat come alternately, and the first syllable also drops; so the suffix cha after catur: catur + cha; by this vārttika itself the first akṣara drops. Akṣara should not be explained as the first consonant with its vowel, nor as the first vowel with its consonant. If it is so explained, by the maxim "naṭabhāryāvad vyañjanāni bhavanti" it would mean the first vowel with the consonants before and after it, and then in catur the cat would have to drop. So ādyakṣara means the first consonant with its vowel. Thus ca drops: tur + cha. "āyanādiṣūpadeśivadvacanaṃ svarasiddhyartham" (Pā. Ma. "2-1-2-1" [as printed, for 7-1-2-1]): before the initial udātta comes by "ādyudāttaś ca", by "āyaneyīnīyiyaḥ…" (Pā. sū. "2-1-2" [as printed, for 7-1-2]) īya replaces the suffix cha; after this replacement, by the suffix accent the ī of īya becomes udātta.

द्रविणोदः (draviṇodaḥ): its formation is set out in the 7th mantra. Here draviṇodaḥ is a vocative singular, so it is a vocative. Being at the head of the pāda, it is not made unaccented by "āmantritasya ca" (Pā. sū. 8-1-19); by the sixth-adhyāya "āmantritasya ca" (Pā. sū. 6-1-198) it is initial udātta.

यजामहे (yajāmahe): yaja devapūjādau, laṭ, ātmanepada 1st plural mahiṅ; śap by "kartari śap" (Pā. sū. 3-1-68): yaj + a + mahi; e for the ṭi by "ṭita ātmanepadānāṃ ṭere" (Pā. sū. 3-4-79); lengthening by "ato dīrgho yañi" (Pā. sū. 7-3-101): yajāmahe. Here śap is pit, so unaccented by "anudāttau suppitau" (Pā. sū. 3-1-4). The sārvadhātuka mahe in place of the lakāra follows the śap of adupadeśa, so it is unaccented by "tāsyanudāttet…" (Pā. sū. 6-1-186). So the root accent remains. The earlier vocative draviṇodaḥ is treated as absent by "āmantritaṃ pūrvam avidyamānavat" (Pā. sū. "8-1-27" [as printed, for 8-1-72]); so yajāmahe counts as at the head of the pāda, and "tiṅṅatiṅaḥ" ("8-8-28" [as printed]) does not make it wholly unaccented. Or the bar comes by "yadvṛttān nityam" (Pā. sū. 8-1-66). Since pūjita is mentioned again in "pūjanāt pūjitam" (Pā. sū. 8-1-67), it is made known that "in this section, though there is a fifth-case statement, immediate sequence is not required", as was set out before. So, though yat is not adjacent, there is no obstacle to the bar of yadvṛttān nityam.

Page 666 — Rik 10: grammar (end)

अध (adha): atha is a nipāta; the th becomes dh as a Vedic form. Initial udātta by “nipātā ādyudāttāḥ” (Phi. sū. 80).

स्म (sma): unaccented by “cādayo ’nudāttāḥ” (Phi. sū. 84). In the Saṃhitā lengthened by “nipātasya ca” (Pā. sū. 6-3-136).

ददिः (dadiḥ): the root ḍudāñ dāne. “ādṛgamahanajanaḥ kikinau liṭ ca” (Pā. sū. 3-2-171): after roots ending in ā and in ṛ, and after gam and the others, the suffixes ki and kin come, and they behave as liṭ; so the suffix ki after the ā-final root dā. Since it behaves as liṭ, reduplication by “liṭi dhātor anabhyāsasya” (Pā. sū. 6-1-8); shortening by “hrasvaḥ” (Pā. sū. 7-4-59): da + dā + i; by “āto lopa iṭi ca” (Pā. sū. 6-4-64) the ā drops: dadi. By the suffix accent it is final udātta.

॥१०॥

---

Page 666 (lower) — Sūkta 15, Rik 11

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

अश्विना पिबतं मधु दीद्यग्नी शुचिव्रता । [accent ?] ऋतुना यज्ञवाहसा ॥११॥

áśvinā píbataṃ mádhu dīdyagnī śucivratā | [accent ?] ṛtúnā yajñavāhasā ||11||

(Line 1: the bars under ना and त and the strokes over श्वि, ब and द्य are read at the foot of p. 666; the rest of the line shows no marks.)

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

अश्विना । पिबतम् । मधु । दीद्यग्नी इति दीदिऽअग्नी । शुचिऽव्रता ॥ ऋतुना । यज्ञऽवाहसा ॥११॥

aśvinā | pibatam | madhu | dīdyagnī iti dīdi ’agnī | śuci ’vratā || ṛtunā | yajña ’vāhasā ||11||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे अश्विनौ मधु माधुर्योपेतं सोमं पिबतं । कीदृशौ । दीद्यग्नी द्योतमानाहवनीयाद्यग्नियुक्तौ शुचिव्रता शुद्धकर्माणौ ऋतुना ऋतुदेवतया सह यज्ञवाहसा यज्ञस्य निर्वाहकौ ॥ अश्विना । सम्बोधनद्विवचनस्य सुपां सुलुगित्याकारः । आमन्त्रिताद्युदात्तः । पिबतं । शपः पित्त्वादनुदात्तत्वं । तिङश्च लसार्व-

he aśvinau madhu mādhuryopetaṃ somaṃ pibataṃ | kīdṛśau | dīdyagnī dyotamānāhavanīyādyagniyuktau śucivratā śuddhakarmāṇau ṛtunā ṛtudevatayā saha yajñavāhasā yajñasya nirvāhakau || aśvinā | sambodhanadvivacanasya supāṃ sulugityākāraḥ | āmantritādyudāttaḥ | pibataṃ | śapaḥ pittvādanudāttatvaṃ | tiṅaśca lasārva-

-धातुकस्वरेण धातुस्वर एव शिष्यते । मधु । फलिपाटीत्यादिना । उ. १-१९ । उप्रत्ययः । निदित्यनुवृत्तेर्नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । दीद्यग्नी । दिवु क्रीडादौ । अन्येभ्यो ऽपि दृश्यन्त इति विच् । वेरपृक्तलोपाद्वलि लोपो बलीयानिति प्रथमं वकारस्य लोपः । पा. ६-१-६६, ६७ । प्रथमं प्रत्ययलोपे हि वर्णाश्रये विधौ प्रत्ययलक्षणं नास्ति । परि. ९१ । इति निषेधाद्वलि लोपो न स्यात् । छान्दसं द्विर्वचनं । तुजादित्वादभ्यासस्य दीर्घत्वं । यङ्लुगन्ताद्वा संज्ञापूर्वको विधिरनित्य इत्यभ्यासस्य गुणाभावः । दीदिरग्निर्ययोस्तौ दीद्यग्नी । आमन्त्रिताद्युदात्तत्वं । पादादित्वान्न निघातः । शुचिव्रता । शुचि व्रतं ययोस्तौ । सुपां सुलुगित्याकारः । दीद्यग्निशब्दस्य सामान्यवचनत्वेन नामन्त्रित इत्यविद्यमानवत्त्वप्रतिषेधादाष्टमिकनिघातत्वं । पूर्वस्य पराङ्गवद्भावाद्वैकस्वर्यं । यज्ञवाहसा । वह प्रापणे । यज्ञं वहत इति यज्ञवाहसौ । वहिहाधाञ्भ्यश्छन्दसि । उ. ४-२२० । इत्यसुन् । तत्र हि गतिकारकयोरपि पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं चेति वचनात्सोपपदानामपि भवति । उ. ४-२२६ । इत्युक्तं । णिदित्यनुवृत्तेरुपधावृद्धिः । सुपां सुलुगित्यादिना विभक्तेराकारः । आमन्त्रितनिघातः । असामर्थ्यात्पूर्वस्य न पराङ्गवद्भावः ॥

-dhātukasvareṇa dhātusvara eva śiṣyate | madhu | phalipāṭītyādinā | u. 1-19 | upratyayaḥ | nidityanuvṛtternittvādādyudāttaḥ | dīdyagnī | divu krīḍādau | anyebhyo 'pi dṛśyanta iti vic | verapṛktalopādvali lopo balīyāniti prathamaṃ vakārasya lopaḥ | pā. 6-1-66, 67 | prathamaṃ pratyayalope hi varṇāśraye vidhau pratyayalakṣaṇaṃ nāsti | pari. 91 | iti niṣedhādvali lopo na syāt | chāndasaṃ dvirvacanaṃ | tujāditvādabhyāsasya dīrghatvaṃ | yaṅlugantādvā saṃjñāpūrvako vidhiranitya ityabhyāsasya guṇābhāvaḥ | dīdiragniryayostau dīdyagnī | āmantritādyudāttatvaṃ | pādāditvānna nighātaḥ | śucivratā | śuci vrataṃ yayostau | supāṃ sulugityākāraḥ | dīdyagniśabdasya sāmānyavacanatvena nāmantrita ityavidyamānavattvapratiṣedhādāṣṭamikanighātatvaṃ | pūrvasya parāṅgavadbhāvādvaikasvaryaṃ | yajñavāhasā | vaha prāpaṇe | yajñaṃ vahata iti yajñavāhasau | vahihādhāñbhyaśchandasi | u. 4-220 | ityasun | tatra hi gatikārakayorapi pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ ceti vacanātsopapadānāmapi bhavati | u. 4-226 | ityuktaṃ | ṇidityanuvṛtterupadhāvṛddhiḥ | supāṃ sulugityādinā vibhakterākāraḥ | āmantritanighātaḥ | asāmarthyātpūrvasya na parāṅgavadbhāvaḥ ||

Translation: "O Aśvins, drink the madhu, the soma that is full of sweetness. What are you like? Dīdyagnī, joined with the shining fires, the Āhavanīya and the others; śucivratā, of pure rites; ṛtunā, with the Ṛtu deity, yajñavāhasā, carriers through of the sacrifice." (Grammatical tail: aśvinā, ā for the vocative dual by supāṃ suluk…, initial udātta; pibatam, the root accent; madhu with u (Uṇ. 1-19), initial udātta; dīdyagnī: div 'to play' with vic; by ver apṛktalopād vali lopo balīyān the v drops first (Pā. 6-1-66, 67), since if the suffix dropped first, by "varṇāśraye vidhau pratyayalakṣaṇaṃ nāsti" (pari. 91) the loss before val would not come; Vedic reduplication, the reduplicate lengthened as of the tujādi class, or from the yaṅluk form, its guṇa not made by saṃjñāpūrvako vidhir anityaḥ; "whose fire is shining", initial udātta, not lowered at the head of the pāda; śucivratā, "whose rite is pure", ā for the ending, lowered by the eighth-adhyāya rule, since dīdyagnī, being a general term, is not treated as absent (nāmantrite…), and the earlier word is joined to it as part of the following (one accent); yajñavāhasā, "who carry the sacrifice", asun (Uṇ. 4-220), which applies with an upapada too by the statement on the first-member accent (Uṇ. 4-226), vṛddhi of the penultimate, ā for the ending, lowered as a vocative; the earlier word is not joined to it, not being connected in sense.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

दीद्यग्नी (dīdyagnī) — shining with the fires, the Āhavanīya and the others | शुचिव्रता (śucivratā) — having pure rites | ऋतुना (ṛtunā) — with the Ṛtu deity | यज्ञवाहसा (yajñavāhasā) — who carry through the sacrifice | अश्विना (aśvinā) — O Aśvin deities | मधु (madhu) — the sweet soma juice | पिबतम् (pibatam) — drink.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Aśvin deities, you always shine together with the fires, the Āhavanīya and the others. With the Ṛtu deity you carry the sacrifice through. Kindly drink the sweet soma juice.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> Aswins, performers of pious acts, accepters of the sacrifice with the Ritus, and accompained [sic] by brilliant Agni, drink the sweet draught.

Page 668 — Rik 11: Special Topics and grammar

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Dīdyagnī:

> दिवु क्रीडादौ । दीदिरग्निर्ययोस्तौ ॥
>
> divu krīḍādau | dīdiragniryayostau ||

“joined with the shining Āhavanīya and other fires”: that is, since the homa is made in the Āhavanīya and other fires with these Aśvin deities in view, they are said to have shining fires.

Śucivratā:

> शुचि व्रतं ययोस्तौ
>
> śuci vrataṃ yayostau

“having pure rites”: that is, the rites they perform are pure.

Yajñavāhasā:

> वह प्रापणे । यज्ञं वहत इति यज्ञवाहसौ । यज्ञस्य निर्वाहकौ ॥
>
> vaha prāpaṇe | yajñaṃ vahata iti yajñavāhasau | yajñasya nirvāhakau ||

those who carry the sacrifice through, who make it go on without obstacle.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 668–670, noted briefly)

अश्विना (aśvinā): for the vocative dual, the replacement ā by “supāṃ suluk…” (Pā. sū. 7-1-39); initial udātta by “āmantritasya ca” (Pā. sū. 6-1-198). Being at the head of the pāda, the eighth-adhyāya lowering does not come.

पिबतम् (pibatam): pā pāne; loṭ, 2nd dual thas; by “loṭo laṅvat” (Pā. sū. 3-4-85) the laṅvadbhāva; so by “tasthasthamipāṃ tāṃtaṃtāmaḥ” (Pā. sū. 3-4-101) tam for thas: pā + tam; by “kartari śap” (Pā. sū. 3-1-68) the vikaraṇa śap; by “pāghrādhmā…” (Pā. sū. 7-3-78) piba for pā: piba + a + tam; pararūpa by “ato guṇe” (Pā. sū. 6-1-97): pibatam. On the view that the replacement piba ends in a, piba is made initial udātta by nipātana in the sūtra; the Vārttikakāra says this under “dhātoḥ” (Pā. sū. 6-1-162): “pibater nipātanāt”. On this view the laghūpadha-guṇa of “pugantalaghūpadhasya ca” (Pā. sū. 7-3-86) has no scope. This is the settled view. On the view that the replacement enjoined in pāghrādhmā… is pib, ending in b, the final-udātta accent follows easily by “dhātoḥ” (Pā. sū. 6-1-162). By “aṅgavṛtte punar vṛttāv avidhiḥ” (paribhāṣā 93) the guṇa must be barred so that it does not come after the pib replacement. This view is the one taken in the Vedabhāṣya as dhātusvara eva śiṣyate. Śap is pit, so unaccented; the sārvadhātuka tam in the place of the lakāra is unaccented by “tāsyanudāttet…” (Pā. sū. 6-1-186); so the i of pib is udātta by the root accent.

Page 669 — Rik 11: grammar (continued)

मधु (madhu): the formation of this is set out in Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-13-2 [as printed “1-1-3-2”]; here it is given briefly. After the root mana jñāne, the suffix u by “phalipāṭi…” (Uṇ. sū. 1-18); nit is carried on here, so the suffix u is nit; so madhu is initial udātta by the nit accent.

दीद्यग्नी (dīdyagnī): the root divu krīḍādau; after it, by “anyebhyo ’pi dṛśyante” (Pā. sū. 3-2-75) the suffixes manin, kvanip, vanip and vic come after roots; so vic after div: div + v. By “ver apṛktalopād vali lopo balīyān”, the loss before val enjoined by “lopo vyor vali” (Pā. sū. 6-1-66) is stronger than the loss of the v enjoined by “ver apṛktasya” (Pā. sū. “6-1-62” [as printed, for 6-1-67]); so, though the apṛkta loss is antaraṅga, the first v drops first by “lopo vyor vali” (Pā. sū. 6-1-66). On the view that the suffix drops first by “ver apṛktasya”, by “varṇāśraye nāsti pratyayalakṣaṇam” (paribhāṣā “93-1” [?]), when an operation based on a letter is made, pratyayalakṣaṇa does not apply; so the following val could not be had, and the loss of the first v would not come. So first the first v drops as said, then the second v drops by “ver apṛktasya”. As a Vedic form di is reduplicated: didi. Now by “tujādīnāṃ dīrgho ’bhyāsasya” (Pā. sū. 6-1-7) the first di is lengthened: dīdi. Or, after the root div, by “dhātor ekāco halādeḥ kriyāsamabhihāre yaṅ” (Pā. sū. 3-1-22) yaṅ; by “yaṅo ’ci ca” (Pā. sū. 2-4-74) yaṅ takes luk; by “sanyaṅoḥ” (Pā. sū. 6-1-9) reduplication: div div; by “halādiḥ śeṣaḥ” (Pā. sū. 7-4-60) the v of the reduplicate goes: didiv. “guṇo yaṅlukoḥ” (Pā. sū. 7-4-82): in yaṅ and in yaṅluk an ik-final reduplicate takes guṇa; so the first di would get guṇa. But by “saṃjñāpūrvako vidhir anityaḥ” (paribhāṣā “93-1” [?]) the guṇa rule is not binding, so it does not come here. “dīrgho ’kitaḥ” (Pā. sū. 7-4-83): a vowel-final reduplicate that is not kit is lengthened in yaṅ and yaṅluk; so dīdiv. With vic as before, dīdi. Dīdiḥ agniḥ yayoḥ tau dīdyagnī, a bahuvrīhi compound. Though the lowering would come by the eighth-adhyāya sūtra, being at the head of the pāda it does not come here; by the sixth-adhyāya sūtra it is initial udātta.

शुचिव्रता (śucivratā): analysed śuci vrataṃ yayoḥ tau. By “supāṃ suluk…” (Pā. sū. “3-1-39” [as printed, for 7-1-39]) ā for the vocative-nominative dual. The two vocatives dīdyagnī and śucivratā are described as construed with aśvinā. So aśvinā is the general term, and the other two vocatives, being qualifiers, are themselves particular terms. So “nāmantrite samānādhikaraṇe sāmānyavacanam” (Pā. sū. “8-1-23” [as printed, for 8-1-73]) has no scope. Since the two vocatives are not construed with each other, there is no connection of sense, so “subāmantrite parāṅgavat svare” (Pā. sū. “3-1-2” [as printed, for 2-1-2]) gives no joining as part of the following either. So the doubt rightly arises how the full lowering in śucivratā fits. But here we take dīdyagnī itself as the qualified, and say that śucivratā is its qualifier, and that this qualified pair is construed with aśvinā. Now dīdyagnī is a general term, so by “nāmantrite…” (Pā. sū. “8-1-23” [as printed]) the treatment as absent that “āmantritaṃ pūrvam avidyamānavat” (Pā. sū. “8-1-62” [as printed, for 8-1-72]) would give is barred; so śucivratā is not at the head of the pāda, and by “āmantritasya ca” (Pā. sū. 8-1-19) it is wholly unaccented. Or, in this explanation, since dīdyagnī and śucivratā are construed with each other, there is a connection of sense, so by “subāmantrite parāṅgavat svare” (Pā. sū. “3-1-2” [as printed]) the earlier is joined as part of the following; so the notion arises that dīdyagnī śucivratā is one word. So by the sixth-adhyāya “āmantritasya ca” (Pā. sū. 6-1-198) the first letter dī is initial udātta. Then by “anudāttaṃ padam ekavarjam” (Pā. sū. “6-1-148” [as printed, for 6-1-158]) the other letters are unaccented. The unaccented di after the udātta becomes svarita by “udāttād anudāttasya svaritaḥ” (“8-4-66”); the unaccented syllables after the svarita are pracaya by “svaritāt saṃhitāyām anudāttānām”.

Page 670 — Rik 11: grammar (end)

यज्ञवाहसा (yajñavāhasā): yajñaṃ vahataḥ iti yajñavāhasau; the root vaha prāpaṇe. “vahihādhāñbhyaś chandasi” (Uṇ. sū. “4-660” [?]; vaha prāpaṇe, ohāk tyāge, ḍudhāñ dhāraṇapoṣaṇayoḥ): after these roots the suffix asun comes, and it is ṇit; so the suffix asun after vah with the object-kāraka yajñam as upapada. Since by “gatikārakayor api pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ ca” (Uṇ. sū. “4-666” [?]) it is said that these suffixes come after roots with gati or kāraka upapadas, though in the sūtra vahihā… a root without upapada is named, the suffix asun comes after roots with an upapada too: yajña + am + vah + as. The suffix is ṇit, so vṛddhi of the penultimate by “ata upadhāyāḥ” (Pā. sū. 7-2-116). Being a kṛdanta, it is called a prātipadika; so the am inside the prātipadika takes luk. For the vocative dual au, the replacement ā by “supāṃ suluk…” (Pā. sū. 7-1-39). The two words ṛtunā and yajñavāhasā are not construed with each other; so “subāmantrite…” does not join the earlier ṛtunā as part of the following. By “āmantritasya ca” (Pā. sū. 8-1-19) it is wholly unaccented.

॥११॥

---

Page 671 — Sūkta 15, Rik 12 (last rik of the sūkta)

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

गार्हपत्येन सन्त्य ऋतुना यज्ञनीरसि । [accent ?] देवान्देवयते यज ॥१२॥ [accent ?]

gārhapatyena santya ṛtúnā yajñanīr asi | [accent ?] devắn devayaté yaja ||12|| [accent ?]

(The strokes over गा, ना, नी and दे are clear; the bars under ऋ, ज्ञ, दे and य of देवयते are read from the print and the Pada; not all certain.)

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

गार्हऽपत्येन । सन्त्य । ऋतुना । यज्ञऽनीः । असि ॥ देवान् । देवऽयते । यज ॥१२॥

gārha 'patyena | santya | ṛtunā | yajña 'nīḥ | asi || devān | deva 'yate | yaja ||12||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे सन्त्य फलप्रदाग्निदेव गार्हपत्येन गृहपतिसम्बन्धिना रूपेण युक्तः सन्नृतुना ऋतुदेवेन सह यज्ञनीर्यज्ञस्य निर्वाहको ऽसि । तस्मात्त्वं देवयते देवविषयकामनायुक्ताय यजमानाय देवान्यज ॥ गार्हपत्येन । गृहपतिना संयुक्ते ञ्यः । पा. ४-४-९० । यस्येति लोपः । ञित्त्वादादिवृद्धिराद्युदात्तत्वं च । गृहपतित्वमित्यर्थे पत्यन्तपुरोहितादिभ्यः । पा. ५-१-१२८ । इति यकि त्वन्तोदात्तत्वं स्यात् । सन्त्य । सनने भव । षणु दाने । क्तिच्क्तौ चेति क्तिच् । न क्तिचि दीर्घश्च । पा. ६-४-३९ । इति दीर्घनलोपाभावः । भवे छन्दसि । पा. ४-४-११० । इति यत् । तत्र साधुः । पा. ४-४-९८ । इति वा । निघातः । यज्ञं नयतीति यज्ञनीः । सत्सूद्विषेत्यादिना क्विप् । कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरः । देवयते । देवानात्मन इच्छतीति देवयन् । तस्मै । क्यचि चेतीत्वं न भवति । न च्छन्दस्यपुत्रस्येति निषेधात् । अश्वाघस्य । पा. ७-४-३७ । इत्यात्वविधानादीत्वनिषेधे प्राप्तस्य दीर्घस्याप्येष निषेध इत्युक्तं । शतुरनुमो नद्यजादी इति विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वं । अत्र क्यचश्चित्त्वादन्तोदात्तत्वं । शपः पित्त्वादनुदात्तत्वं । शतुश्च लसार्वधातुकस्वरेणोभयोः क्यचा सहैकादेश एकादेश उदात्तेनोदात्त इत्युदात्तः । तस्मादन्तोदात्तात्परस्या विभक्तेः शतुरनुमो नद्यजादीत्युदात्तत्वं ॥ २९ ॥

he santya phalapradāgnideva gārhapatyena gṛhapatisambandhinā rūpeṇa yuktaḥ sannṛtunā ṛtudevena saha yajñanīryajñasya nirvāhako 'si | tasmāttvaṃ devayate devaviṣayakāmanāyuktāya yajamānāya devānyaja || gārhapatyena | gṛhapatinā saṃyukte ñyaḥ | pā. 4-4-90 | yasyeti lopaḥ | ñittvādādivṛddhirādyudāttatvaṃ ca | gṛhapatitvamityarthe patyantapurohitādibhyaḥ | pā. 5-1-128 | iti yaki tvantodāttatvaṃ syāt | santya | sanane bhava | ṣaṇu dāne | kticktau ceti ktic | na ktici dīrghaśca | pā. 6-4-39 | iti dīrghanalopābhāvaḥ | bhave chandasi | pā. 4-4-110 | iti yat | tatra sādhuḥ | pā. 4-4-98 | iti vā | nighātaḥ | yajñaṃ nayatīti yajñanīḥ | satsūdviṣetyādinā kvip | kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaraḥ | devayate | devānātmana icchatīti devayan | tasmai | kyaci cetītvaṃ na bhavati | na cchandasyaputrasyeti niṣedhāt | aśvāghasya | pā. 7-4-37 | ityātvavidhānādītvaniṣedhe prāptasya dīrghasyāpyeṣa niṣedha ityuktaṃ | śaturanumo nadyajādī iti vibhakterudāttatvaṃ | atra kyacaścittvādantodāttatvaṃ | śapaḥ pittvādanudāttatvaṃ | śatuśca lasārvadhātukasvareṇobhayoḥ kyacā sahaikādeśa ekādeśa udāttenodātta ityudāttaḥ | tasmādantodāttātparasyā vibhakteḥ śaturanumo nadyajādītyudāttatvaṃ || 29 ||

Translation: "O santya, Agni, god who gives the fruit, joined with the form belonging to the master of the house, gārhapatyena, you are with the Ṛtu god yajñanīḥ, the one who carries the sacrifice through. So, devayate, for the sacrificer who longs for the gods, worship the gods." (Grammatical tail: gārhapatyena, ñya by Pā. 4-4-90 "joined with the master of the house", the i dropped, initial vṛddhi and initial udātta (ñit); with yak by Pā. 5-1-128 in the sense of mastership it would be final udātta; santya, "who is in the giving", san with ktic, no lengthening or loss of n (Pā. 6-4-39), then yat by Pā. 4-4-110 or 4-4-98, lowered; yajñanīḥ, "who leads the sacrifice", kvip, the kṛt second-member accent; devayate, "who desires the gods for himself", no ī before kyac by na chandasy aputrasya, which bars the lengthening too, as shown by Pā. 7-4-37 enjoining ā; the ending udātta by śatur anumo nadyajādī; kyac final udātta (cit), śap and śatṛ unaccented, the single replacements udātta. The closing "29" is the varga number.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

सन्त्य (santya) — O Agni, able to give fruit, (you) | गार्हपत्येन (gārhapatyena) — joined with the gārhapatya fire | ऋतुना (ṛtunā) — with the Ṛtu god | यज्ञनीः (yajñanīḥ) — as the one who carries the sacrifice through | असि (asi) — you are; (so) | देवयते (devayate) — for the sacrificer who seeks the gods for the sacrifice | देवान् (devān) — the gods | यज (yaja) — worship.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O god Agni, you give what is desired. In the form of the gārhapatya fire, you carry through the sacrificer's rites with the Ṛtu god. So, for the sacrificer who always seeks the worship of the gods, carry the sacrifice through.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> O Agni, giver of rewards, being the lord of the house, and partaker with Ritu of the sacrifice, perform the sacrifice on behalf of the worshipper.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Santya:

> षणु दाने । सनने भव ॥
>
> ṣaṇu dāne | sanane bhava ||

The root ṣaṇu means to give; so the word santya, formed from this root, means giver. Giver of what? Giver of the fruit of sacrificial rites; or, as said in words like ratnadhātamaḥ, giver of wealth and lordship.

Yajñanīḥ:

> यज्ञं नयतीति यज्ञनीः । यज्ञस्य निर्वाहकः ॥
>
> yajñaṃ nayatīti yajñanīḥ | yajñasya nirvāhakaḥ ||

one who carries the sacrifice through.

Devayate:

देवानात्मन इच्छतीति देवयन् तस्मै यजमानाय ॥

devānātmana icchatīti devayan tasmai yajamānāya ||

that is, for the sake of the sacrificer who longs for the gods to come to the sacrifice he performs.

Page 673 — Rik 12: grammar

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 673–676, noted briefly)

गार्हपत्येन (gārhapatyena): "gṛhapatinā saṃyukte ñyaḥ" (Pā. sū. 4-4-90): after the fitting instrumental of gṛhapati, in the sense "joined", the suffix ñya; so ñya after gṛhapatinā: gṛhapati + ṭā + ñya. By "cuṭū" (Pā. sū. 1-3-7) the ñ at the beginning of the suffix is it; dropped by "tasya lopaḥ" (Pā. sū. 1-3-9). The ṭā, a sup inside a taddhita-ending stem, takes luk by "supo dhātu…" (Pā. sū. 2-4-71): gṛhapati + ya. The i drops by "yasyeti ca" (Pā. sū. 6-4-148); the suffix is ñit, so initial vṛddhi by "taddhiteṣv acām ādeḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-2-117); r after it by "uraṇ raparaḥ": gārhapatya. The suffix is ñit, so initial udātta by "ñnityādir nityam" (Pā. sū. 6-1-197). "patyantapurohitādibhyo yak" (Pā. sū. 5-1-128): after the fitting genitive of stems ending in pati or read in the purohitādi class, in the senses of state and act, yak; if one explained that yak comes after gṛhapati, ending in pati, in the sense gṛhapater bhāvaḥ, the form gārhapatya would indeed be got. But then by the suffix accent gārhapatya would be final udātta, and the initial udātta would not be got. So the suffix ñya is set out.

सन्त्य (santya): sanane bhava: "being in giving the fruit". The root ṣaṇu dāne. "ktic ktau ca saṃjñāyām" (Pā. sū. 3-3-174): when a blessing or a name is meant, the suffixes ktic and kta come after a root; so ktic. S for ṣ by dhātvādeḥ ṣaḥ saḥ; the ṇ that came by "raṣābhyām…" reverts: san + ti. "na ktici dīrghaś ca" (Pā. sū. 6-4-39): before ktic, the anudāttopadeśa roots, that is, the aniṭ roots, and the roots vana, tanoti and the rest get neither the lengthening nor the loss of the nasal: that is the sense of the sūtra. By "anunāsikasya kvijhaloḥ knṅiti" (Pā. sū. 6-4-15), before kvi and before a jhal-initial kit or ṅit suffix, the penultimate of a root ending in a nasal is lengthened; that lengthening, and the loss of the n by "anudāttopadeśavanatitanotyādīnām anunāsikalopo jhali knṅiti" (Pā. sū. 6-4-37), which drops the final nasal of tanoti and the others and of the root van before a jhal-initial kit or ṅit suffix, are both barred by na ktici dīrghaś ca. So santi. In fact here

Page 674 — Rik 12: grammar (continued)

"sanaḥ ktici lopaś cāsyānyatarasyām" (Pā. sū. "6-4-46" [as printed, for 6-4-45]): before ktic the n of the root san drops and ā comes, both optionally; since ā and the loss of n are enjoined as optional, it is fitting to explain that where neither comes the form santi is got. Under "sarva evāyaṃ yogaḥ śakyo 'vaktum" (Pā. Mabhā. "6-4-45" [?]), on the view that the whole sūtra can be dropped, the Kaiyaṭa says that sanaḥ ktici ity eva lopasya prakaraṇāt siddhatvāl lopaś ca ity api na vaktavyam. Since many words are rejected, the Bhāṣya says "sarva evāyaṃ yogaḥ". It is explained that lopaḥ, ca, asya, anyatarasyām, many words, are rejected as unnecessary, so the Bhāṣya "sarva evāyam" begins; and rejecting the whole sūtra is not the Bhāṣya's intention; it is explained that the sūtra sanaḥ ktici alone is enough. On this view, since the ā and the loss of n enjoined by sanaḥ ktici are optional, it is fitting to explain that where they do not come the form santi is got. If the analysis santyāṃ bhavaḥ is meant, by "bhave chandasi" (Pā. sū. "4-41-10" [as printed, for 4-4-110]) the suffix yat comes in the Veda after the fitting locative of a stem in the sense of being; with yat, santi + ṅi + ya. Or if the analysis santyāṃ sādhuḥ is made, by "tatra sādhuḥ" (Pā. sū. 4-4-98) yat in the sense sādhu after the fitting locative; with yat, santi + ṅi + ya. In both places the sup inside the taddhita-ending stem takes luk. By "yasyeti ca" (Pā. sū. 6-4-148) the i drops: santya. Nominative singular santyaḥ, vocative singular santya. Wholly unaccented by "āmantritasya ca" (Pā. sū. 8-1-19).

यज्ञनीः (yajñanīḥ): yajñaṃ nayati iti yajñanīḥ.
"satsūdviṣadruhaduhayujavidabhidacchidajinīrājām upasarge 'pi kvip" (Pā. sū. 3-2-61): ṣadḷ viśaraṇādau; the root sū is threefold: ṣūṅ prāṇigarbhavimocane (adādi), ṣūṅ prāṇiprasave (divādi), ṣū preraṇe (tudādi). Here by "sahacaritāsahacaritayoḥ sahacaritasyaiva grahaṇam" (paribhāṣā 113) the adādi root is taken, being in company with the adādi root dviṣ; dviṣa aprītau, druha jighāṃsāyām, duha prapūraṇe, yujir yoge, yuja samādhau; vida is taken in all three, vida jñāne (adādi), vida sattāyām (divādi), vida vicāraṇe (tudādi); since vida is named ending in a, the tudādi root vidḷ lābhe is not taken; bhidir vidāraṇe, chidir dvaidhīkaraṇe, ji jaye, ji abhibhave, ṇīñ prāpaṇe, rājṛ dīptau: after these roots, with or without an upasarga, when a subanta is upapada, the suffix kvip comes; so kvip after ṇīñ with the subanta yajñam as upapada; by "ṇo naḥ" (Pā. sū. "6-1-64" [as printed]) n for ṇ. The sup inside the prātipadika takes luk, the kvip drops: yajñanī; nominative singular su; ru, visarga: yajñanīḥ. The second member nī is final udātta by the root accent. After compounding, the kṛt second-member accent comes by "gatikārakopapadāt kṛt" (Pā. sū. 6-2-139) and that accent remains.

Page 675 — Rik 12: grammar (continued)

देवयते (devayate): when analysed devān ātmanaḥ icchati (who desires the gods for himself), it becomes devayan. Thus: by "supa ātmanaḥ kyac" (Pā. sū. 3-1-8) kyac after devam; by "sanādyantā dhātavaḥ" (Pā. sū. 3-1-32) it is called a root. The sup inside the root takes luk by "supo dhātu…" (Pā. sū. 2-4-71): deva + ya. Now by "kyaci ca" (Pā. sū. 7-4-33) ī would come for the a before kyac; but "na chandasy aputrasya" (Pā. sū. 7-4-35): before kyac, short a-final words other than putra get neither ī nor lengthening: that is the sense of the sūtra, carefully drawn out. By "anantarasya vidhir vā bhavati pratiṣedho vā" (paribhāṣā 61) this bar might seem to bar only the immediately preceding kyaci ca. Then, though no ī came, the lengthening by "akṛtsārvadhātukayoḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-4-25) would have to come; for kyaci ca is an exception to akṛtsārvadhātukayoḥ, and when the exception does not come, the general rule comes without obstacle. So na chandasi must be explained to mean that whatever would come before kyac for an a-final word other than putra does not come; the anantarasya paribhāṣā is not relied on. The proof on this point is "aśvāghasyāt" (Pā. sū. 7-4-37): the very prescription of ā for aśva and agha before kyac in the Veda is the proof. In aśvāyantaḥ and aghāyavaḥ the ā is prescribed so that a long ā is heard. If na chandasy aputrasya barred only the ī by the anantara maxim, the lengthening would come by akṛtsārvadhātukayoḥ itself, and the forms aśvāyantaḥ, aghāyavaḥ would be got. Then the sūtra aśvāghasyāt would be useless. By the maxim vyarthaṃ sat kiṃcid arthaṃ jñāpayati, this sūtra makes known that the bar is not only of the ī of kyaci ca but of the lengthening too. Now without this sūtra the forms aśvāyantaḥ and the rest would not be got; so the sūtra has its purpose. Thus na chandasi… is settled as barring both ī and lengthening. So in the present case, in deva + ya, no lengthening by akṛtsārvadhātukayoḥ comes either. Devaya is a root; after it, by "vartamāne laṭ" (Pā. sū. 3-2-123) laṭ; in its place by "laṭaḥ śatṛśānacau…" (Pā.

sū. 3-2-124) śatṛ: devayа + at; śap by “kartari śap”: devayа + a + at; by “ato guṇe” (Pā. sū. 6-1-97) pararūpa twice: devayat.

Page 676 — Rik 12: grammar (end); close of Sūkta 15

Here the suffix kyac is cit, so final udātta by “citaḥ” (Pā. sū. 6-1-163). Śap is pit, so unaccented by “anudāttau suppitau” (Pā. sū. 3-1-4). The suffix at, śatṛ, has come in the place of the lakāra laṭ; being śit, it is a sārvadhātuka by “tiṅśit sārvadhātukam” (Pā. sū. 3-4-113); it follows śap, an a-final upadeśa. So by “tāsyanudāttenaṅidadupadeśāt…” (Pā. sū. 6-1-186) at is unaccented. The a that came by the single pararūpa with the a of śap is udātta by “ekādeśa udāttenodāttaḥ” (Pā. sū. 8-2-5); the a that came by pararūpa of this udātta and the unaccented a of at is udātta in the same way. So in devayat the ya is udātta, and it is settled as final udātta. After it, the dative singular ṅe: devayat + e; “śatur anumo nadyajādī” (Pā. sū. 6-1-173): after a final-udātta word ending in a śatṛ suffix without the augment num, a nadī letter and a vowel-initial ending from śas on are also udātta; so the ending e is udātta.

॥१२॥

(The sūkta ends here; the print has no separate colophon for Sūkta 15; the bhāṣya closes with the varga number “29”, agreeing with the heading’s 28, 29.)

॥ ಹದಿನಾರನೆಯ ಸೂಕ್ತವು ॥ — Sūkta 16 — “ā tvā vahantu harayaḥ” (“The Sixteenth Sūkta”)

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥ (introductory note on the application of the sūkta; printed p. 676, after the close of Sūkta 15; re-read from the print)

> आ त्वा वहन्त्विति पञ्चमं नवर्चं सूक्तम् । ऋषिच्छन्दसी पूर्ववत् । अनुवर्तते विशेषादेशाभावादिन्द्रो देवता ॥ विनियोगस्तु । प्रातःसवने मैत्रावरुणस्योन्नीयमाने सूक्तमा त्वा वहन्तु हरय इति । तथा च द्विदेवत्यैश्चरन्तीति खण्डे सूत्रितम् । उन्नीयमानेभ्यो ऽन्वाहा त्वा वहन्तु । आ. ५-५ । इति ॥ तथा षोडशिशस्त्र आ त्वा वहन्तु हरय इति तिस्रः । तथा सूत्रितमथ षोडशीति खण्डे । आ त्वा वहन्तु हरय इति तिस्रो गायत्र्यः । आ. ६-२ । इति ॥
>
> ā tvā vahantviti pañcamaṃ navarcaṃ sūktam | ṛṣicchandasī pūrvavat | anuvartate viśeṣādeśābhāvādindro devatā || viniyogastu | prātaḥsavane maitrāvaruṇasyonnīyamāne sūktamā tvā vahantu haraya iti | tathā ca dvidevatyaiścarantīti khaṇḍe sūtritam | unnīyamānebhyo ’nvāhā tvā vahantu | ā. 5-5 | iti || tathā ṣoḍaśiśastra ā tvā vahantu haraya iti tisraḥ | tathā sūtritamatha ṣoḍaśīti khaṇḍe | ā tvā vahantu haraya iti tisro gāyatryaḥ | ā. 6-2 | iti ||

Translation: “The nine-rik sūkta beginning ā tvā vahantu is the fifth [of this anuvāka]. Its ṛṣi and meter are as before [Medhātithi Kāṇva; Gāyatrī]. Since no special deity is stated, Indra, the deity carried on [from before], is the deity. Its application: at the morning pressing (prātaḥsavana), when the Maitrāvaruṇa priest is having the soma drawn up (unnayana), the sūkta ā tvā vahantu harayaḥ is recited. And so it is laid down in the Sūtra, in the section beginning dvidevatyaiś caranti: ‘for those [cups] being drawn up, it recites after: ā tvā vahantu’ (Āśv. 5-5). Likewise, in the ṣoḍaśi-śastra, the three riks ā tvā vahantu harayaḥ are used; and it is laid down in the section beginning atha ṣoḍaśī: ‘the three Gāyatrīs ā tvā vahantu harayaḥ’ (Āśv. 6-2).”

॥ Anuvāda (Kannada rendering) ॥ The sūkta ā tvā vahantu, with nine riks, is the fifth sūkta of the fourth anuvāka. The ṛṣi and meter are as in the earlier sūktas; the deity is Indra. Application: at the morning pressing, in the rite called unnayana done by the priest named Maitrāvaruṇa, this sūkta is to be recited. The Āśvalāyana Śrauta-sūtra says in the section dvidevatyaiś caranti that for the unnayana the sūkta ā tvā vahantu is to be used (Āś. sū. 5-5). Moreover, in the section ṣoḍaśī, for the ṣoḍaśi-śastra recitation the tṛca [three riks] of this sūkta beginning ā tvā vahantu harayaḥ is to be recited, as the same Sūtra says (Āś. Sū. 6-2).

Page 677 — Sūkta 16, Rik 1

॥ ॐ ॥

॥ Sūkta — 16 ॥ ॥ Maṇḍala — 1 ॥ Anuvāka — 4 ॥ Sūkta — 16 ॥ ॥ Aṣṭaka — 1 ॥ Adhyāya — 1 ॥ Varga — 30, 31 ॥ (as printed; Sūkta 15 closed with varga 29) ॥ Mantras contained in this sūkta: 1–9 ॥ ॥ Ṛṣi — Medhātithi Kāṇva ॥ ॥ Devatā — Indra ॥ ॥ Chandaḥ — Gāyatrī ॥

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

आ त्वा॑ वहन्तु हर॑य॒ो वृष॑ण॒ं सोम॑पीतये । इन्द्र॑ त्वा॒ सूर॑चक्षसः ॥१॥

ā́ tvā vahantu hárayo vṛ́ṣaṇaṃ sómapītaye | índra tvā sūracakṣasaḥ ||1||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

आ । त्वा । वहन्तु । हरयः । वृषणम् । सोमऽपीतये ॥ इन्द्र । त्वा । सूरऽचक्षसः ॥१॥

ā | tvā | vahantu | harayaḥ | vṛṣaṇam | soma ’pītaye || indra | tvā | sūra ’cakṣasaḥ || 1||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे इन्द्र वृषणं कामानां वर्षितारं त्वां सोमपीतये सोमपानार्थं हरयस्त्वदीया अश्वा आ वहन्तु । अस्मिन्कर्मण्यानयन्तु । तथा सूरचक्षसः सूर्यसमानप्रकाशयुक्ता ऋत्विजस्त्वां मन्त्रैः प्रकाशयन्त्विति शेषः ॥ हरन्तीति हरयः । इन् सर्वधातुभ्यः । उ. ४-११८ । इतीन् । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । वृषणं । कनिन्युवृषितक्षीत्यादिना कनिन् । कित्त्वाल्लघूपधगुणाभावः । वा षपूर्वस्य निगमे । पा. ६-४-९ । इति विकल्पितमुपधादीर्घत्वं । सोमपीतये । ऐभिरग्न इत्यत्रोक्तं । ऋग्वे. १-१४-१ । सूरचक्षसः । चक्षिङ् व्यक्तायां वाचि । सर्वधातुभ्यो ऽसुन् । चक्षिङः ख्याञ् । पा. २-४-५४ । इति न भवति । असनयोः प्रतिषेधो वक्तव्य इति निषेधात् । षू प्रेरणे । सुवतीति सूरः । सुसूधागृधिभ्यः क्रन् । उ. २-२४ । इति क्रन् । कित्त्वाद्गुणाभावः । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । सूरवत्ख्यानं प्रकाशो येषां । बहुव्रीहौ पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं ॥

he indra vṛṣaṇaṃ kāmānāṃ varṣitāraṃ tvāṃ somapītaye somapānārthaṃ harayastvadīyā aśvā ā vahantu | asminkarmaṇyānayantu | tathā sūracakṣasaḥ sūryasamānaprakāśayuktā ṛtvijastvāṃ mantraiḥ prakāśayantviti śeṣaḥ || harantīti

harayaḥ | in sarvadhātubhyaḥ | u. 4-118 | itīn | nittvādādyudāttaḥ | vṛṣaṇaṃ | kaninyuvṛṣitakṣītyādinā kanin | kittvāllaghūpadhaguṇābhāvaḥ | vā ṣapūrvasya nigame | pā. 6-4-9 | iti vikalpitamupadhādīrghatvaṃ | somapītaye | aibhiragna ityatroktaṃ | ṛgve. 1-14-1 | sūracakṣasaḥ | cakṣiṅ vyaktāyāṃ vāci | sarvadhātubhyo 'sun | cakṣiṅaḥ khyāñ | pā. 2-4-54 | iti na bhavati | asanayoḥ pratiṣedho vaktavya iti niṣedhāt | ṣū preraṇe | suvatīti sūraḥ | susūdhāgṛdhibhyaḥ kran | u. 2-24 | iti kran | kittvādguṇābhāvaḥ | nittvādādyudāttaḥ | sūravatkhyānaṃ prakāśo yeṣāṃ | bahuvrīhau pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ ||

Translation: "O Indra, may the harayaḥ, your horses, ā vahantu, bring you, the vṛṣan, rainer of desires, for the drinking of soma, to this rite. And may the sūracakṣasaḥ, the priests endowed with a radiance like the sun's, make you manifest with mantras: this is to be supplied." (Grammatical tail: harayaḥ, "they carry", in (Uṇ. 4-118), initial udātta; vṛṣaṇam with kanin, no guṇa (kit), the optional lengthening of the penultimate (Pā. 6-4-9) not made; somapītaye as said at Ṛ. 1-14-1; sūracakṣasaḥ: cakṣ with asun, no khyāñ (Pā. 2-4-54) before as/ana by the vārttika; sūra "who urges", kran after sū (Uṇ. 2-24), initial udātta; "whose shining is like the sun's", a bahuvrīhi with the first-member accent.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

इन्द्र (indra) — O Indra | वृषणम् (vṛṣaṇam) — who rains (gives) what is desired | त्वा (tvā) — you | सोमपीतये (somapītaye) — for drinking soma | हरयः (harayaḥ) — (your) horses | आ वहन्तु (ā vahantu) — may they bring (to the place where this rite is going on) | सूरचक्षसः (sūracakṣasaḥ) — the radiant priests, shining like the sun | त्वा (tvā) — you (may they praise).

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Indra, you give all that is desired. The radiant priests praise you. Come with your horses to our sacrificial hall to drink soma.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> Indra, let your horses bring you, bestower of riches, to drink the Soma-Juice; May the priests radiant as the Sun, praise you.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Sūracakṣasaḥ:

> सूर्यसमानप्रकाशयुक्ता ऋत्विजस्त्वां मन्त्रैः प्रकाशयन्तु ॥
>
> sūryasamānaprakāśayuktā ṛtvijastvāṃ mantraiḥ prakāśayantu ||

that is, "may the priests, radiant like the sun, praise you with mantras, make you known".

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 678–679, noted briefly)

हरयः (harayaḥ): the root hṛñ haraṇe. By “sarvadhātubhya in” (Uṇ. sū. “4-552” [?]; the bhāṣya gives 4-118) the suffix in after all roots: hṛ + i; guṇa by “sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ” (Pā. sū. 7-3-84); r after it by “uraṇ raparaḥ”: hari.

Page 679 — Rik 1: grammar (end)

After it, jas; guṇa by “jasi ca” (Pā. sū. 7-3-109): hare + as; ay by “eco ’yavāyāvaḥ” (Pā. sū. 6-1-78): harayas, ru, visarga. Hari is initial udātta by the nit accent.

वृषणम् (vṛṣaṇam): the root vṛṣu secane; after it, by “kaninyuvṛṣitakṣirājidhanvidyupratidivaḥ” (Uṇ. sū. 1-154) the suffix kanin. The suffix is kit, so “kṅiti ca” bars the guṇa, and the penultimate guṇa of “pugantalaghūpadhasya ca” does not come: vṛṣan. After it the accusative singular am: vṛṣan + am. “vā ṣapūrvasya nigame” (Pā. sū. 6-4-9): before a sarvanāmasthāna suffix other than the vocative, the vowel in the penultimate after a ṣ is lengthened optionally; since the lengthening is enjoined as optional, it does not come here. By “ṛvarṇān nasya ṇatvaṃ vācyam” (Pā. sū. vā. 8-4-1-1) ṇ for the n: vṛṣaṇam.

सोमपीतये (somapītaye): set out at aibhir agne (Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-14-1).

सूरचक्षसः (sūracakṣasaḥ): the root cakṣiṅ vyaktāyāṃ vāci. By “sarvadhātubhyo ’sun” (Uṇ. sū. “4-628” [?]) the suffix asun; by “ārdhadhātukaṃ śeṣaḥ” (Pā. sū. 3-4-114) asun is an ārdhadhātuka suffix; so by “cakṣiṅaḥ khyāñ” (Pā. sū. 2-4-54), before an ārdhadhātuka suffix, khyāñ would replace cakṣiṅ. But after saying “varjane pratiṣedhaḥ” (Pā. sū. “2-4-54-9” [?]), that khyāñ does not come for cakṣiṅ when avoidance is meant, the Vārttikakāra says “asanayoś ca” (Pā. sū. vā. 2-4-54-10): before the suffixes as and ana, khyāñ does not come for cakṣiṅ. So here, as following, khyāñ does not come for cakṣiṅ. Ṣū preraṇe, a tudādi root; suvati iti sūraḥ: one who urges people to their works. By “dhātvādeḥ ṣaḥ saḥ” (Pā. sū. 6-1-64) s for ṣ. “susūdhāgṛdhibhyaḥ kran” (Uṇ. sū. “2-173” [?]; ṣuñ abhiṣave, ṣū preraṇe, ḍudhāñ dhāraṇapoṣaṇayoḥ, gṛdhu abhikāṅkṣāyām): after these roots kran; so kran after sū: sū + ra; the suffix is kit, so “kṅiti ca” (Pā. sū. 1-1-5) bars it, and guṇa by “sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ” (Pā. sū. 7-3-84) does not come: sūra. It is initial udātta by the nit accent. Sūravat cakṣaḥ khyānaṃ = prakāśaḥ yeṣāṃ te sūracakṣasaḥ, a bahuvrīhi compound. By “bahuvrīhau prakṛtyā pūrvapadam” (Pā. sū. 6-2-1) the first-member accent comes.

॥१॥

---

Page 680 — Sūkta 16, Rik 2

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

इमा धाना घृतस्नुवो हरी इहोप वक्षतः । इन्द्रं सुखतमे रथे ॥२॥

imā dhānā ghṛtasnúvo hárī ihópa vakṣataḥ | índraṃ sukhátame ráthe ||2||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

इमाः । धानाः । घृतऽस्नुवः । हरी इति । इह । उप । वक्षतः ॥ इन्द्रम् । सुखऽतमे । रथे ॥२॥

imāḥ | dhānāḥ | ghṛta 'snuvaḥ | harī iti | iha | upa | vakṣataḥ || indram | sukha 'tame | rathe ||2||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हरिशब्द इन्द्ररथस्य वोढारावश्वावाचष्टे । तथा च श्रुत्यन्तरं । हर्योः स्थातेति । हरिभ्यां त्वेन्द्रो देवतां गमयत्विति च । एतदेवाभिप्रेत्य निघण्टुकार आह । हरी इन्द्रस्येति । तादृशौ हरी इमा यागार्थं वेद्यामासादितत्वेन पुरोवर्तिनीर्धाना भृष्टयवतण्डुलाननुद्दिश्य सुखतमे रथ इन्द्रमवस्थाप्येहास्मिन्कर्मण्युप वक्षतः । वेदिसमीपे वहतां । कीदृशीर्धानाः । घृतस्नुवो ऽलंकरणोपस्तरणाभिघारणेन घृतस्राविणीः ॥ धीयन्त इति धानाः । धाप्यावस्यज्यतिभ्यो नः । उ. ३-६ । इति नः । प्रत्ययस्वरः । घृतस्नुवः । घृतं स्नुवन्तीति घृतस्नुवः । क्विपि तुगभावश्छान्दसः । धातुस्वरः । समासे कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं । स्नोः संयोगपूर्वत्वेन यणभावादुवङादेशः । हरी । हृञ् हरणे । सर्वधातुभ्य इन् । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । प्रगृह्यत्वात्संहितायां प्रकृतिभावः । वक्षतः । प्रार्थनायां लिङर्थे लेट् । तस्य प्रथमपुरुषद्विवचनं तस् । लेटो ऽडाटावित्यडागमः । शपि प्राप्ते सिब्बहुलं लेटीति सिप् । ढत्वकत्वषत्वानि । तिङ्ङतिङ इति निघातः । सुखतमे । गतं ॥

hariśabda indrarathasya voḍhārāvaśvāvācaṣṭe | tathā ca śrutyantaraṃ | haryoḥ sthāteti | haribhyāṃ tvendro devatāṃ gamayatviti ca | etadevābhipretya nighaṇṭukāra āha | harī indrasyeti | tādṛśau harī imā yāgārthaṃ vedyāmāsāditatvena purovartinīrdhānā bhṛṣṭayavataṇḍulānanuddiśya sukhatame ratha indramavasthāpyehāsminkarmaṇyupa vakṣataḥ | vedisamīpe vahatāṃ | kīdṛśīrdhānāḥ | ghṛtasnuvo 'laṃkaraṇopastaraṇābhighāraṇena ghṛtasrāviṇīḥ || dhīyanta iti dhānāḥ | dhāpyāvasyajyatibhyo naḥ | u. 3-6 | iti naḥ | pratyayasvaraḥ | ghṛtasnuvaḥ | ghṛtaṃ snuvantīti ghṛtasnuvaḥ | kvipi tugabhāvaśchāndasaḥ | dhātusvaraḥ | samāse kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ | snoḥ saṃyogapūrvatvena yaṇabhāvāduvaṅādeśaḥ | harī | hṛñ haraṇe | sarvadhātubhya in | nittvādādyudāttaḥ | pragṛhyatvātsaṃhitāyāṃ prakṛtibhāvaḥ | vakṣataḥ | prārthanāyāṃ liṅarthe leṭ | tasya prathamapuruṣadvivacanaṃ tas | leṭo 'ḍāṭāvityaḍāgamaḥ | śapi prāpte sibbahulaṃ leṭīti sip | ḍhatvakatvaṣatvāni | tiṅṅatiṅa iti nighātaḥ | sukhatame | gataṃ ||

Translation: "The word hari denotes the two horses that draw Indra's chariot; so another Śruti says 'haryoḥ sthātā', 'standing on the two bays', and 'haribhyāṃ tvendro devatāṃ gamayatu', 'may Indra with the two bays lead you to the gods'; with this in mind the author of the Nighaṇṭu says 'harī indrasya', 'the two bays are Indra's'. May such harī, with Indra set in the sukhatama, most comfortable, chariot, iha upa vakṣataḥ, bring him here to this rite, near the altar, towards imāḥ dhānāḥ, these roasted barley grains set out on the altar for the sacrifice and lying in front. What are the grains like? Ghṛtasnuvaḥ, oozing ghee from being adorned, spread and sprinkled with it." (Grammatical tail: dhānāḥ, "what are set down", na (Uṇ. 3-6), the suffix accent; ghṛtasnuvaḥ, "which drip ghee", kvip without tuk (Vedic), the root accent, then the kṛt second-member accent, uvaṅ since snu follows a conjunct; harī, in, initial udātta, pragṛhya, so natural form in the Saṃhitā; vakṣataḥ, leṭ in the sense of prayer, tas, the augment a, sip, ḍh, k, ṣ, lowered; sukhatame gone through.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

हरी (harī) — Indra's two horses | इमाः (imāḥ) — these (made ready on the altar for the sacrifice) | घृतस्नुवः (ghṛtasnuvaḥ) — sprinkled with ghee, that is, soaked in ghee | धानाः (dhānāḥ) — for receiving the grains, barley, rice and the like | सुखतमे (sukhatame) — comfortable | रथे (rathe) — in the chariot | इन्द्रम् (indram) — Indra (seated) | इह (iha) — here (to the place where this sacrifice goes on) | उप वक्षतः (upa vakṣataḥ) — may they bring.

Page 681 — Rik 2: overall sense, English, Special Topics, grammar

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

The grains, barley, rice and the like, well soaked in ghee for the homa in the sacrifice, are scattered round the sacrificial fire-pit when it is adorned and strewn. May Indra's two horses called Harī, to eat them, bring Indra, seated in the comfortable chariot, near this place of sacrifice.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> Let the horses convey Indra in an easy-moving chariot hither where these grains of parched barely [sic] steeped in clarified butter are being prepared for the Sacrifice.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Dhānāḥ: the grains, barley, rice and the like, made ready for the homa in the fire. In the work of consecrating the fire, when the acts of adorning, strewing and so on are done with barley, rice and the like, the grains of that corn are scattered round the fire-pit. They are the share of the sacrifice to be given to Indra's horses. The intention is: may Indra's horses come with Indra to eat it.

Ghṛtasnuvaḥ:

> घृतं स्नुवन्तीति घृतस्नुवः
>
> ghṛtaṃ snuvantīti ghṛtasnuvaḥ

well soaked in ghee, or dripping ghee.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 681–683, noted briefly)

धानाः (dhānāḥ): dhīyante iti dhānāḥ; the root ḍudhāñ dhāraṇapoṣaṇayoḥ. "dhāpṝvasyajyatibhyo naḥ" (Uṇ. sū. "3-296" [?]; the bhāṣya gives 3-6; ḍudhāñ dhāraṇādau, pṝ pālanapūraṇayoḥ, vasa nivāse, aja gatau, ata sātatyagamane): after these roots the suffix na; so na after dhā: dhāna. Since the feminine is meant, ṭāp by "ajādyataṣ ṭāp" (Pā. sū. 4-1-4): dhāna + ā, lengthening of like vowels; accusative plural dhānāḥ. The na is initial udātta by "ādyudāttaś ca" (Pā. sū. 3-1-3); the single replacement, lengthening with the suffix ṭā, is udātta by "ekādeśa udāttenodāttaḥ". So the word dhānā is final udātta.

घृतस्नुवः (ghṛtasnuvaḥ): the root ṣṇu prasravaṇe, adādi. Ghṛtaṃ snuvanti iti ghṛtasnuvaḥ; with the subanta ghṛtam as upapada, kvip after snu by "kvip ca" (Pā. sū. 3-2-76),

Page 682 — Rik 2: grammar (continued)

kvip drops; s for ṣ by "dhātvādeḥ ṣaḥ saḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-1-64). The am, a sup inside the kṛdanta prātipadika, takes luk: ghṛtasnu. Now, though the kvip, a pit kṛt, has dropped, by "pratyayalope pratyayalakṣaṇam" (Pā. sū. 1-1-62) it counts as following; so the augment tuk would come by "hrasvasya piti kṛti tuk". But by a Vedic process it does not come; or it does not come by "āgamaśāstram anityam" (paribhāṣā 94). Snu being a root, it is final udātta by "dhātoḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-1-162); after compounding too, by the kṛt second-member accent of "gatikārakopapadāt kṛt" (Pā. sū. 6-2-139) that accent remains. After ghṛtasnu, śas: ghṛtasnu + as; the u stands after the conjunct sn. So by "oḥ supi" (Pā. sū. 6-4-83), before a vowel-initial sup, a stem of several vowels ending in a root that ends in u, not preceded by a conjunct belonging to the root itself, takes yaṇ: so yaṇ does not come. By "aci śnudhātubhruvāṃ yvor iyaṅuvaṅau" (Pā. sū. "6-9-22" [as printed, for 6-4-77]) uvaṅ for the u: ghṛtasnuvam.

हरी (harī): hṛñ haraṇe; by "sarvadhātubhya in" (Uṇ. sū. "4-5-552" [?]) the suffix in, guṇa, r after it; by "ñnityādir nityam" (Pā. sū. 6-1-197) hari is initial udātta. After it the nominative-accusative dual au: hari + au; by "prathamayoḥ pūrvasavarṇaḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-1-102) pūrvasavarṇa-dīrgha: harī. Since by "antādivac ca" (Pā. sū. 6-1-85) the ī counts as the end of the earlier word, it is a dual ending in ī. So "īdūded dvivacanaṃ pragṛhyam" (Pā. sū. 1-1-11): duals ending in ī, ū and e are called pragṛhya; it has this name. So in the Saṃhitā, in harī + iha, with a vowel following, by "plutapragṛhyā aci nityam" (Pā. sū. 6-1-125), before a vowel pluta and pragṛhya always keep their natural form, so natural form comes. Prakṛtyā svabhāvena nirvikārasvarūpeṇa bhavanaṃ sthitiḥ prakṛtibhāvaḥ: natural form means staying without change.

वक्षतः (vakṣataḥ): vaha prāpaṇe; after it, by "liṅarthe leṭ" (Pā. sū. 3-4-7), leṭ in the sense of liṅ, that is, prayer; its 3rd dual tas: vah + tas; by "leṭo 'ḍāṭau" (Pā. sū. 3-4-94) the augment a for leṭ: vah + a + tas; though śap would come by "kartari śap", overriding it, by "sib bahulaṃ leṭi" (Pā. sū. 3-1-34) sip: vah + s + atas. By "ho ḍhaḥ" (Pā. sū. 8-2-31) ḍh for h; by "ṣaḍhoḥ kaḥ si" (Pā. sū. 8-2-41) k for ḍh: vak + s + atas; by "ādeśa-pratyayayoḥ" (Pā. sū. 8-3-59) ṣ for the s: vakṣatas; ru and visarga: vakṣataḥ. Wholly unaccented by "tiṅṅatiṅaḥ" (Pā. sū. 8-1-28).

Page 683 — Rik 2: grammar (end)

सुखतमे (sukhatame): explained at agne sukhatame rathe (Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-13-4).

॥२॥

---

Page 683 (lower) — Sūkta 16, Rik 3

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

इन्द्र॑ प्रा॒तर्ह॑वामह॒ इन्द्र॑ प्रय॒त्य॑ध्व॒रे । [accent ?] इन्द्रं॑ सो॒म॑स्य पी॒तये॑ ॥३॥

índraṃ prātár havāmaha índraṃ prayaty adhvaré | [accent ?] indraṃ sómasya pītáye ||3||

(Line 1: the bars under प्रा, ह and य and under ध्व are read as printed; the stroke over त्य, the svarita of the yaṇ*, as the grammar on p. 686 explains.)*

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

इन्द्रम् । प्रातः । हवामहे । इन्द्रम् । प्रऽयति । अध्वरे ॥ इन्द्रम् । सोमस्य । पीतये ॥३॥

indram | prātaḥ | havāmahe | indram | pra 'yati | adhvare || indram | somasya | pītaye ||3||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

प्रातः कर्मारम्भे प्रातःसवन इन्द्रं हवामहे । आह्वयामः । तथैवाध्वरे सोमयागे प्रयति प्रगच्छति प्रारभ्य वर्तमाने सति माध्यन्दिने सवने तमिन्द्रं हवामहे । तथा यज्ञसमाप्त्यवसरे तृतीयसवने सोमस्य पीतये सोमपानार्थं हवामहे ॥ प्रातः । स्वरादिष्वन्तोदात्तो निपातितः । हवामहे । ह्वेञो लटि शपि परतो ह्वः सम्प्रसारणमित्यनुवृत्तौ बहुलं छन्दसीति सम्प्रसारणं । परपूर्वत्वं । गुणावादेशौ । प्रयति । इण् गतौ । लटः शतृ । अदिप्रभृतिभ्यः शप इति शपो लुक् । शतुर्ङित्त्वाद्गुणाभावः । प्रादिसमासः । कृद्ग्रहणे गतिकारकपूर्वस्यापि ग्रहणं । परि. २८ । इति वचनात्प्रत्ययग्रहण इति नियमाभावाच्छतुरनुमो नद्यजादी इति विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वं । अध्वरे । उक्तं । संहितायामुदात्तस्वरितयोर्यणः स्वरितो ऽनुदात्तस्य । पा. ८-२-४ । इत्यकारस्य स्वरितत्वं । पीतये । पा पाने । क्तिनि छान्दसमन्तोदात्तत्वं ॥

prātaḥ karmārambhe prātaḥsavana indraṃ havāmahe | āhvayāmaḥ | tathaivādhvare somayāge prayati pragacchati prārabhya vartamāne sati mādhyandine savane tamindraṃ havāmahe | tathā yajñasamāptyavasare tṛtīyasavane somasya pītaye somapānārthaṃ havāmahe || prātaḥ | svarādiṣvantodātto nipātitaḥ | havāmahe | hveño laṭi śapi parato hvaḥ samprasāraṇamityanuvṛttau bahulaṃ chandasīti samprasāraṇaṃ | parapūrvatvaṃ | guṇāvādeśau | prayati | iṇ gatau | laṭaḥ śatṛ | adiprabhṛtibhyaḥ śapa iti śapo luk | śaturṅittvādguṇābhāvaḥ | prādisamāsaḥ | kṛdgrahaṇe gatikārakapūrvasyāpi grahaṇaṃ | pari. 28 | iti vacanātpratyayagrahaṇa iti niyamābhāvācchaturanumo nadyajādī iti vibhakterudāttatvaṃ | adhvare | uktaṃ | saṃhitāyāmudāttasvarityoryaṇaḥ svarito 'nudāttasya | pā. 8-2-4 | ityakārasya svaritatvaṃ | pītaye | pā pāne | ktini chāndasamantodāttatvaṃ ||

Translation: "Prātaḥ, at the start of the rite, at the morning pressing, havāmahe, we call, Indra. In the same way, adhvare, at the soma sacrifice, prayati, as it goes on, having begun, at the midday pressing, we call that Indra. And at the time of the sacrifice's close, at the third pressing, we call him somasya pītaye, to drink soma." (Grammatical tail: prātaḥ, made final udātta by nipātana in the svarādi class; havāmahe: hve, laṭ, śap, saṃprasāraṇa by bahulaṃ chandasi, pūrvarūpa, guṇa, av; prayati: iṇ 'to go', śatṛ, śap dropped, no guṇa (ṅit), a prādi compound; by "kṛdgrahaṇe gatikārakapūrvasyāpi grahaṇam" (pari. 28) the restriction to the bare suffix does not apply, so the ending is udātta by śatur anumo nadyajādī; adhvare as said; in the Saṃhitā the a becomes svarita after the yaṇ by Pā. 8-2-4; pītaye, pā with ktin, final udātta as Vedic.)

Page 684 — Rik 3: word-meanings, overall sense, English, Special Topics, grammar

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

प्रातः (prātaḥ) — at the morning pressing (held at the start of the rite) | इन्द्रम् (indram) — Indra | हवामहे (havāmahe) — we call | अध्वरे (adhvare) — the soma sacrifice | प्रयति (prayati) — while it is going on (at the midday pressing that comes) | इन्द्रम् (indram) — Indra | (havāmahe — we call) | (and likewise, at the third pressing held at the close of the sacrifice) सोमस्य (somasya) — of the soma juice | पीतये (pītaye) — for drinking (Indra) | (havāmahe — we call).

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

At all three pressing times that are parts of the soma sacrifice, the morning pressing, the midday pressing and the third pressing, we call Indra to drink soma.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> We invoke Indra at the morning rite, we invoke Indra at the succeeding Sacrifice, we invoke Indra to drink the Soma-Juice.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

In a sacrificial rite the procedure is to crush the soma creeper and make the soma juice ready for drinking at all three times, morning, midday and evening. These acts are named in order the morning pressing, the midday pressing and the third pressing. Though only the morning is named in this Ṛk, since Indra is called to drink soma at the sacrifice that goes on afterwards too, the ṛṣi's meaning is that Indra is called at all three pressings mentioned.

Prayati: iṇ gatau; pragacchati: when the sacrificial rite is going on, or proceeding, that is, at the midday and third pressings held at midday and evening: that is the sense.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 684–686, noted briefly)

प्रातः (prātaḥ): made final udātta by nipātana in the svarādi class.

हवामहे (havāmahe): the root hveñ spardhāyāṃ śabde ca; after it laṭ; in its place the ātmanepada 1st plural mahiṅ: hve + mahi; by "ṭita ātmanepadānāṃ ṭere"

Page 685 — Rik 3: grammar (continued)

(Pā. sū. 3-4-79) e for the ṭi; śap by "kartari śap": hve + a + mahe. With "hvaḥ samprasāraṇam" (Pā. sū. 6-1-32) carried on, by "bahulaṃ chandasi" (Pā. sū. 6-1-34) hveñ takes saṃprasāraṇa variously in the Veda: saṃprasāraṇa, u for the v: hu + e + a + mahe; pūrvarūpa by "saṃprasāraṇāc ca" (Pā. sū. 6-1-108): hu + a + mahe. By "sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ", with the sārvadhātuka śap as cause, the u takes guṇa, o. By "eco 'yavāyāvaḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-1-78) av for the o: hava + mahe. By "ato dīrgho yañi" (Pā. sū. 7-3-101) the a before the m is lengthened: havāmahe. Wholly unaccented by "tiṅṅatiṅaḥ" (Pā. sū. 8-1-28).

प्रयति (prayati): the root iṇ gatau, adādi; after it laṭ; in its place, by "laṭaḥ śatṛśānacāv aprathamāsamānādhikaraṇe" (Pā. sū. 3-2-124) śatṛ; the śap that comes by "kartari śap" takes luk by "adiprabhṛtibhyaḥ śapaḥ" (Pā. sū. 2-4-72): i + at. By "sārvadhātukam apit" (Pā. sū. 1-2-4) the suffix at is ṅit; so the guṇa that "sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ" would give is barred by "kṅiti ca" (Pā. sū. 1-1-5). "iko yaṇ aci" (Pā. sū. 6-1-77) would give yaṇ; overriding it, "aci śnudhātubhruvām…" (Pā. sū. "6-4-22" [as printed, for 6-4-77]) would give iyaṅ; overriding that too, "iṇo yaṇ" (Pā. sū. 6-4-81): before a vowel-initial suffix the root iṇ takes yaṇ; so yaṇ: yat. By "kugatiprādayaḥ" (Pā. sū. 2-2-18) pra is compounded with it: prayat; locative singular ṅi: prayati. The suffix śatṛ is udātta by the suffix accent; after compounding too, by gatikārakopapadāt kṛt the kṛt second-member accent comes and that accent remains. So prayat is final udātta; so by "śatur anumo nadyajādī" (Pā. sū. 6-1-173), after a final-udātta word ending in a śatṛ suffix without the augment num, a nadī letter and a vowel-initial ending from śas on are also udātta; so the locative singular ṅi becomes udātta. But how does prayat, a, end in the śatṛ suffix? By "pratyayagrahaṇe yasmāt sa vihitas tadādes tadantasya grahaṇam" (paribhāṣā 23), the word with the śatṛ suffix whose first member is the base and whose last member is śatṛ is the śatṛ-ending word. Here śatṛ is enjoined after the root iṇ, so yat ends in śatṛ, but prayat does not. So how does the ending get udātta? Thus: śatṛ is a kṛt suffix; so by "kṛdgrahaṇe gatikārakapūrvasyāpi grahaṇam" (paribhāṣā 28), where the kṛt is named with the property of being kṛt, which pervades it, there forms with a gati or kāraka before them are taken too: so this paribhāṣā tells.

Page 686 — Rik 3: grammar (end)

In śatur anumaḥ the kṛt is named with the property of being śatṛ, which pervades the kṛt. So here forms with gati and kāraka before them are taken too; that is, the paribhāṣā on naming a suffix does not apply in the case of gati and kāraka. So "ending in the śatṛ suffix" means only "having the śatṛ suffix as its last member". Prayat too has the śatṛ suffix as its last member, so it ends in the śatṛ suffix. So by śatur anumaḥ the ending after it becomes udātta. Yat ends in śatṛ, so, even without the use of the kṛt-naming paribhāṣā, there is no obstacle to the ending after it being udātta. But it should be understood that the sense set out here is the reasonable one.

अध्वरे (adhvare): its derivation is given at draviṇodāḥ (Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-15-7). In prayati + adhvare, in the Saṃhitā, by "iko yaṇ aci" (Pā. sū. 6-1-77), with the unaccented a after the udātta i as cause, yaṇ comes: prayatyadhvare. Now by "udāttasvaritayor yaṇaḥ svarito 'nudāttasya" (Pā. sū. 8-2-4) the a after the y becomes svarita.

पीतये (pītaye): the root pā pāne; by "striyāṃ ktin" (Pā. sū. 3-3-94) the suffix ktin: pā + ti; by "ghumāsthāgāpājahātisāṃ hali" (Pā. sū. 6-4-66) ī for the ā: pīti. The suffix being nit, initial udātta would come by "ñnityādir nityam" (Pā. sū. 6-1-197); but as a Vedic form it is final udātta. After it the dative singular ṅe: pīti + e. By "ṅiti hrasvaś ca" (Pā. sū. 1-4-6), before a ṅit suffix, the ī/ū-final words that are fit for iyaṅ/uvaṅ, other than strī, that always denote the feminine, and the short i/u-final words denoting the feminine, are optionally called nadī; since the nadī name is optional, on the view where it does not come, by "śeṣo ghy asakhi" (Pā. sū. 1-4-7) the ghi name comes. By "gher ṅiti" (Pā. sū. "1-3-111" [as printed, for 7-3-111]) guṇa, e for the i: pīte + e; by "eco 'yavāyāvaḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-1-78) ay: pītaye.

---

Page 686 (lower) — Sūkta 16, Rik 4

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

उप॑ नः सु॒तमा ग॑हि॒ हरि॑भिरिन्द्र के॒शिभिः॑ । [accent ?] सु॒ते हि त्वा॒ हवा॑महे ॥४॥ [accent ?]

úpa naḥ sutám ā́ gahi háribhir indra keśíbhiḥ | [accent ?] suté hi tvā́ hávāmahe ||4|| [accent ?]

(Read at the foot of p. 686: strokes over प, ग, रि and शि; bars under सु, हि, के and in line 2 under सु and त्वा; not all positions certain.)

Page 687 — Rik 4: Pada, bhāṣya, word-meanings, overall sense, English

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

उप । नः । सुतम् । आ । गहि । हरिऽभिः । इन्द्र । केशिऽभिः ॥ सुते । हि । त्वा । हवामहे ॥४॥

upa | naḥ | sutam | ā | gahi | hari 'bhiḥ | indra | keśi 'bhiḥ || sute | hi | tvā | havāmahe ||4||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे इन्द्र केशिभिः केसरयुक्तैर्हरिभिरश्वैस्त्वं नो ऽस्मदीयं सुतमभिषुतं सोमं प्रत्युप समीप आ गहि । आगच्छ । सुते ऽभिषुते सोमे निमित्तभूते सति यस्मात्कारणात्त्वा हवामहे त्वामाह्वयामः । तस्मादागच्छेति पूर्वत्रान्वयः ॥ गहि । गमेर्लोटः सेर्हिः । शप इत्यनुवृत्तौ बहुलं छन्दसीति शपो लुक् । इषुगमियमां छः । पा. ७-३-७७ । इति छत्वं न भवति । न लुमताङ्गस्येति प्रतिषेधात् । अनुदात्तोपदेशेत्यादिनानुनासिकलोपः । तस्यासिद्धवदत्राभात् । पा. ६-४-२२ । इत्यसिद्धत्वादतो हेरिति हेर्लुग्न भवति । केशिभिः । क्लिशेरन् लो लोपश्च । उ. ५-३३ । इत्यन् । मत्वर्थीय इनिः । प्रत्ययस्वरः । हवामहे । ह्व इत्यनुवृत्तौ बहुलं छन्दसीति सम्प्रसारणं । शपः पित्त्वादनुदात्तत्वं । तिङश्च लसार्वधातुकस्वरेण धातुस्वर एव । तिङ्ङतिङ इति न निघातो हि चेति प्रतिषेधात् ॥

he indra keśibhiḥ kesarayuktairharibhiraśvaistvaṃ no 'smadīyaṃ sutamabhiṣutaṃ somaṃ pratyupa samīpa ā gahi | āgaccha | sute 'bhiṣute some nimittabhūte sati yasmātkāraṇāttvā havāmahe tvāmāhvayāmaḥ | tasmādāgaccheti pūrvatrānvayaḥ || gahi | gamerloṭaḥ serhiḥ | śapa ityanuvṛttau bahulaṃ chandasīti śapo luk | iṣugamiyamāṃ chaḥ | pā. 7-3-77 | iti chatvaṃ na bhavati | na lumatāṅgasyeti pratiṣedhāt | anudāttopadeśetyādinānunāsikalopaḥ | tasyāsiddhavadatrābhāt | pā. 6-4-22 | ityasiddhatvādato heriti herlugna bhavati | keśibhiḥ | kliśeran lo lopaśca | u. 5-33 | ityan | matvarthīya iniḥ | pratyayasvaraḥ | havāmahe | hva ityanuvṛttau bahulaṃ chandasīti samprasāraṇaṃ | śapaḥ pittvādanudāttatvaṃ | tiṅaśca lasārvadhātukasvareṇa dhātusvara eva | tiṅṅatiṅa iti na nighāto hi ceti pratiṣedhāt ||

Translation: "O Indra, with your keśin, maned, hari, horses, upa ā gahi, come near to our sutam, the pressed soma. For since, the soma being pressed, sute, we call you, therefore come: that is the construction with what precedes." (Grammatical tail: gahi: hi for si, the śap dropped by bahulaṃ chandasi, no ch (Pā. 7-3-77), barred by na lumatāṅgasya; the m dropped; that loss counting as not done (Pā. 6-4-22), hi is not dropped by ato heḥ; keśibhiḥ, an after kliś with loss of the l (Uṇ. 5-33), ini in the possessive sense, the suffix accent; havāmahe, saṃprasāraṇa by bahulaṃ chandasi, the root accent, not lowered because of hi.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

इन्द्र (indra) — O Indra | सुते (sute) — when the soma has been made ready | त्वा (tvā) — you | हवामहे (havāmahe) — we call; (so) | केशिभिः (keśibhiḥ) — with manes | हरिभिः (haribhiḥ) — together with the horses | नः (naḥ) — our | सुतम् (sutam) — the soma made ready (to drink) | उप आ गहि (upa ā gahi) — come near us.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Indra, we have made the soma juice ready for you and call you. Come near us with your maned horses to drink that soma juice.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> Come Indra to our extracted soma libation by means of your long-maned horses. For we invoke you as soon as the soma is prepared.

Page 688 — Rik 4: Special Topics and grammar

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Keśibhiḥ: with long manes. The mane is the long hair grown on the horses' necks.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 688–689, noted briefly)

गहि (gahi): the root gamḷ gatau; loṭ, parasmaipada 2nd singular sip; by "ser hy apic ca" (Pā. sū. 3-4-87) hi for the si standing for loṭ, and it is apit; so hi for si; śap by "kartari śap" (Pā. sū. 3-1-68): gam + a + hi. In "bahulaṃ chandasi" (Pā. sū. 2-4-73) śapaḥ is carried on from "adiprabhṛtibhyaḥ"; śap takes luk variously, so śap takes luk. The pratyayalakṣaṇa that "pratyayalope pratyayalakṣaṇam" (Pā. sū. 1-1-62) would give is barred by "na lumatāṅgasya" (Pā. sū. 1-1-63). So a śit suffix does not count as following. So "iṣugamiyamāṃ chaḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-3-77), which gives ch for the final of iṣu icchāyām, gamḷ gatau and yamu uparame before a suffix with ś as it, does not apply. In "anudāttopadeśavanatitanotyādīnām anunāsikalopo jhali kṅiti" (Pā. sū. 6-4-37), anunāsika is a sixth case, a qualifier of the others apart from vanati; since there is nothing else it could exclude, it does not qualify vanati. There is the maxim "sambhavavyabhicārābhyāṃ syād viśeṣaṇam arthavat": a qualifier has a purpose when the connection is possible and it excludes others. Sambhava is fitness, vyabhicāra exclusion of others: in kṛṣṇaḥ haṃsaḥ the swan is only white, never black, so, lacking fitness, kṛṣṇaḥ cannot be given as a qualifier of haṃsaḥ. In kṛṣṇaḥ kākaḥ all crows are black; so though the fitness for kṛṣṇaḥ to be construed with the crow exists, there is no exclusion of others. So in kākaḥ the qualifier kṛṣṇaḥ is unnecessary; likewise here the qualifier anunāsika is unnecessary for vanati. Before a jhal-initial kit or ṅit suffix the nasal of the nasal-final anudāttopadeśa roots and of the tanoty-ādi roots, and the nasal of the root van, drop; so the nasal m drops. Gam is read in the kārikā of the anudāttopadeśa class, "gamir namir yamo ramiḥ", so it is anudāttopadeśa. With ga + hi, by "ato heḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-4-105), after a stem ending in a the hi would take luk; but by "asiddhavad atrābhāt" (Pā. sū. 6-4-22), when an operation of the ābhīya section with the same basis is made, an operation of that section with the same basis counts as not done; so when the luk based on hi is made, the loss of m by anudāttopadeśa…, based on hi, counts as not done. So the stem ends in m, not in a; so hi does not take luk.

Page 689 — Rik 4: grammar (end)

केशिभिः (keśibhiḥ): "kliśer an lo lopaś ca" (Uṇ. sū. "5-2-11" [?]; the bhāṣya gives 5-33): after kliśū vibādhane the suffix an, and the l of the root drops; so with the suffix an and the loss of l, kiś + a; by "pugantalaghūpadhasya ca" the laghūpadha-guṇa: keśa. By "ata iniṭhanau" (Pā. sū. 5-2-115) the suffix ini: keśa + in; by "yasyeti ca" (Pā. sū. 6-4-148) the a drops: keśin. It is final udātta by the suffix accent. After it the instrumental plural bhis: keśin + bhis. By "svādiṣv asarvanāmasthāne" (Pā. sū. 1-4-17) keśin is called pada; so by "nalopaḥ prātipadikāntasya" (Pā. sū. 8-2-7) the n drops; with ru and visarga, keśibhiḥ.

हवामहे (havāmahe): the root hveñ spardhāyāṃ śabde ca; after it laṭ, ātmanepada 1st plural mahiṅ; e for the ṭi by "ṭita ātmanepadānāṃ ṭere" (Pā. sū. "3-4-28" [as printed, for 3-4-79]); śap by "kartari śap": hve + a + mahe; with "hvaḥ samprasāraṇam" (Pā. sū. 6-1-32) carried on, by "bahulaṃ chandasi" (Pā. sū. 6-1-34) saṃprasāraṇa; pūrvarūpa by "saṃprasāraṇāc ca" (Pā. sū. 6-1-108); guṇa by "sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ"; av by "eco 'yavāyāvaḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-1-78): hav + a + mahe; by "ato dīrgho yañi" (Pā. sū. 7-3-101) the a lengthened: havāmahe. Śap is pit, so unaccented by "anudāttau suppitau"; the tiṅ suffix mahe after the śap, an adupadeśa, is unaccented by "tāsyanudāttet" (Pā. sū. 6-1-186); so the root accent remains. By "hi ca" (Pā. sū. 8-1-34), a tiṅanta joined with the word hi is not unaccented; and since in sute hi tvā havāmahe the word hi is used, "tiṅṅatiṅaḥ" does not make it wholly unaccented. From the mention of pūjita in the sūtra pūjanāt pūjitam it is made known that "in this section, though there is a fifth-case statement, immediate sequence is not required"; so, though tvā intervenes, there is no obstacle to the bar of hi ca. This point was set out before.

॥४॥

---

Page 689 (lower) — Sūkta 16, Rik 5

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

सेमं नः॒ स्तोम॒मा ग॒ह्युपे॒दं सव॑नं सु॒तम् । गौ॒रो न तृ॑षितः पिब ॥५॥ [accent ?]

semaṃ naḥ stómam ā́ gahy úpedáṃ sávanaṃ sutám | gauró ná tṛ́ṣitáḥ piba ||5|| [accent ?]

(Read at the foot of p. 689: bars under न:, the second म of स्तोमम्, ग, पे, सु and गौ; strokes over व, तृ and पि. No bar is printed under न before तृ, nor under षि.)

Page 690 — Rik 5: Pada, bhāṣya, word-meanings, overall sense, English

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

सः । इमम् । नः । स्तोमम् । आ । गहि । उप । इदम् । सवनम् । सुतम् ॥ गौरः । न । तृषितः । पिब ॥ ५॥

saḥ | imam | naḥ | stomam | ā | gahi | upa | idam | savanam | sutam || gauraḥ | na | tṛṣitaḥ | piba ||5||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

(उडन्तात् is as printed; the grammar page (p. 691) has ल्युडन्त, so ल्युडन्तात् is probably meant. "म." before ७- १- ३९ is as printed. ॥३०॥ closes Varga 30.)

हे इन्द्र स त्वं नोऽस्मदीयमिमं स्तोमं स्तुतिं प्रत्या गहि । आगच्छ । आगमने हेतुरुच्यते । उप देवयजनसमीपे सुतमभिषुतसोमयुक्तमिदानीमनुष्ठीयमानं सवनं प्रातःसवनादिरूपं कर्म वर्तते । तस्माद्गौरो न गौरमृग इव तृषितः सन्निमं सोमं पिब ॥ सः इममित्यत्र संहितायां सोऽचि लोपे चेत्पादपूरणम् । पा. ६-१-१३४ । इति सुलोपः । गहि । गतम् । सवनम् । सूयतेऽस्मिन्सोम इत्यधिकरणे ल्युट् । लितीति प्रत्ययात्पूर्वस्योदात्तत्वम् । उडन्तात्सप्तम्याः [?] सुपां सुपो भवन्तीति वक्तव्यम् । म. ७-१-३९ । इति वचनाद्द्वितीया । अभिषुतसोमयुक्तमिदं सवनमिति कर्मण्येव वा द्वितीया । तदा सुतशब्दादर्शआदित्वादच् । पा. ५-२-१२७ । तृषितः । ञितृष पिपासायाम् । निष्ठेति क्तः । प्रत्ययस्वरेणोदात्तः । पश्चादिटि आगमा अनुदात्ता इत्यनुदात्तत्वम् ॥३०॥

he indra sa tvaṃ no 'smadīyamimaṃ stomaṃ stutiṃ pratyā gahi | āgaccha | āgamane heturucyate | upa devayajanasamīpe sutamabhiṣutasomayuktamidānīmanuṣṭhīyamānaṃ savanaṃ prātaḥsavanādirūpaṃ karma vartate | tasmādgauro na gauramṛga iva tṛṣitaḥ sannimaṃ somaṃ piba || saḥ imamityatra saṃhitāyāṃ so 'ci lope cetpādapūraṇam | pā. 6-1-134 | iti sulopaḥ | gahi | gatam | savanam | sūyate 'sminsoma ityadhikaraṇe lyuṭ | litīti pratyayātpūrvasyodāttatvam | uḍantātsaptamyāḥ [?] supāṃ supo bhavantīti vaktavyam | ma. 7-1-39 | iti vacanāddvitīyā | abhiṣutasomayuktamidaṃ savanamiti karmaṇyeva vā dvitīyā | tadā sutaśabdādarśaāditvādac | pā. 5-2-127 | tṛṣitaḥ | ñitṛṣa pipāsāyām | niṣṭheti ktaḥ | pratyayasvareṇodāttaḥ | paścādiṭi āgamā anudāttā ityanudāttatvam ||30||

Translation: "O Indra, such as you are, come to this our stoma, praise. Come: the reason for coming is stated. Near (upa) the place of sacrifice a rite (savana) in the form of the morning pressing and so on, joined with the pressed soma (sutam), is now being performed. Therefore, like a gaura, a gaura deer, being thirsty, drink this soma." (Grammatical tail: sa imam, the loss of su in the Saṃhitā by Pā. 6-1-134; gahi, explained before; savanam, lyuṭ in the sense of place, "in it the soma is pressed", the accent before the suffix by liti; the accusative for the locative by the statement supāṃ supo bhavanti (म. 7-1-39), or the accusative of object, suta then taking ac as one of the arśa-ādi (Pā. 5-2-127); tṛṣitaḥ, kta after ñitṛṣa pipāsāyām, udātta by the suffix accent, the augment iṭ unaccented.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

इन्द्र (indra) — O Indra | सः (saḥ) — you | नः (naḥ) — our | इमम् (imam) — this | स्तोमम् (stomam) — praise (to hear it) | आ गहि (ā gahi) — come | उप (upa) — near (the sacrificial altar) | सुतम् (sutam) — joined with the prepared soma juice | इदम् (idam) — this (now to be performed) | सवनम् (savanam) — the rite in the form of the morning pressing (is going on) | तृषितः (tṛṣitaḥ) — thirsty | गौरः न (gauraḥ na) — like a light-coloured deer | पिब (piba) — drink (the soma juice).

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

The soma juice needed for the morning pressing is ready. Come, pleased with the praise we make as a part of that rite, and drink the soma juice as a thirsty animal (a deer) drinks water.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> O Indra, accept this our praise and come to this our sacrifice of the expressed soma ; drink like a thirsty stag.

Page 691 — Rik 5: Special Topics and grammar

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Gauraḥ: a light-coloured deer. Here the word na indicates comparison; gauro na means “like a deer”.

Tṛṣitaḥ: thirsty. The sense is: as a deer worn out by thirst drinks water eagerly, so you should drink our soma juice eagerly, as much as you wish.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 691–692, noted briefly)

सः इमम् (saḥ imam): here, with sas + imam in the Saṃhitā, by “so ’ci lope cet pādapūraṇam” (Pā. sū. 6-1-134), in the case where the loss makes up the pāda, the su suffix of sas is dropped when a vowel follows; so, the su dropped, sa + imam; by “ād guṇaḥ” (Pā. sū. 6-1-87) in place of a and i, born in the throat and the palate, comes e, born in the throat and palate together and called guṇa: semam. From the Pāṇinīya-śikṣā statement

(The verses are as printed: तालव्यावोष्ठजा and कण्ठतालव्यावो औ show a printed v* glide.)*

> कण्ठ्यावहाविचुयशास्तालव्यावोष्ठजावुपू । स्युर्मूर्धन्या ऋटुरषा दन्त्या लृतुलसाः स्मृताः ॥१७॥
> जिह्वामूले तु कुः प्रोक्तः दन्त्योष्ठ्यो वस्स्मृतो बुधैः । ए ऐ तु कण्ठतालव्यावो औ कण्ठोष्ठजौ स्मृतौ ॥ १८॥
>
> kaṇṭhyāvahāvicuyaśāstālavyāvoṣṭhajāvupū | syurmūrdhanyā ṛṭuraṣā dantyā lṛtulasāḥ smṛtāḥ ||17|| jihvāmūle tu kuḥ proktaḥ dantyoṣṭhyo vassmṛto budhaiḥ | e ai tu kaṇṭhatālavyāvo au kaṇṭhoṣṭhajau smṛtau ||18||

("The a, ku, h and visarga are of the throat; i, cu, y and ś of the palate; u and pu of the lips; ṛ, ṭu, r and ṣ are of the head; ḷ, tu, l and s are held to be of the teeth. Ku is said to be at the root of the tongue; v is held by the wise to be of the teeth and lips; e and ai are of the throat and palate, o and au of the throat and lips": my rendering, mine and tentative.) it is established that a is of the throat, i of the palate and e of the throat and palate. In the case where by so 'ci lope (Pā. sū. 6-1-134) the loss of su does not come, in sas + imam there is ru by "sasajuṣo ruḥ" (Pā. sū. 8-2-66), y for it by "bhobhagoaghoapūrvasya yo 'śi" (Pā. sū. 6-3-18 [as read; ?]), then the y is dropped by "lopaḥ śākalyasya" (Pā. sū. 8-3-19). By "pūrvatrāsiddham" (Pā. sū. 8-2-1), when guṇa is to be made by ād guṇaḥ, the loss of y counts as not done; so there is no room for guṇa. Thus it would have to stay sa imam, and the pāda would not be made up.

गहि (gahi): explained in the previous mantra.

सवनम् (savanam): meant as "sūyate asmin somaḥ", in it the soma is pressed: the root ṣūñ prāṇiprasave; s for ṣ by dhātvādeḥ ṣaḥ saḥ; after sū, in the sense of place, lyuṭ by "karaṇādhikaraṇayoś ca" (Pā. sū. 3-3-117); the substitute ana by "yuvor anākau" (Pā. sū. 7-1-1): sū + ana; guṇa by "sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-3-44 [as printed, for 7-3-84]); the substitute av by "eco 'yavāyāvaḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-1-78): savana. The a before the suffix ana is udātta by "liti" (Pā. sū. 6-1-193). Savana is a lyuḍanta in the sense of place. After it comes the locative singular suffix ṅi.

Page 692 (upper) — Rik 5: grammar (end)

In its place, by "supāṃ supo bhavanti" (Pā. sū. Vā. 3-1-39-1 [as printed; the vārttika is on 7-1-39]), stated in the sūtra "supāṃ suluk…" (Pā. sū. 7-1-39) (in place of sup endings the intended sup endings come), the accusative singular am comes. Savana + am: by "ami pūrvaḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-1-107) the pūrvarūpa: savanam. Savane sutam idaṃ piba: in this alternative the sense is "O Indra, drink the soma pressed in the rite in the form of the morning pressing and so on". Or, meant as "sutam asya asti", by "arśaādibhyo 'c" (Pā. sū. 5-2-127) the suffix ac: suta + a; by "yasyeti ca" (Pā. sū. 6-4-148) the a is dropped. Sutam means "joined with the pressed soma juice". In this alternative sutam idaṃ savanaṃ piba means "enjoy this rite of the morning pressing and so on, joined with the pressed soma juice". Since savana denotes the object marked by the action conveyed by the root pā, the justification can be given that the accusative comes by "karmaṇi dvitīyā" (Pā. sū. 2-9-2 [as read; for 2-3-2] [?]). In the Vedabhāṣya, explaining the sense, savanam is taken as a nominative and the verb is supplied; in that alternative it must be said that am is substituted for the nominative singular suffix by supāṃ suluk.

तृषितः (tṛṣitaḥ): the root ñitṛṣa pipāsāyām; the suffix kta in the object sense by "niṣṭhā" (Pā. sū. 2-2-36 [as printed, for 3-2-102]); the augment iṭ by "ārdhadhātukasyeḍ valādeḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-2-35): tṛṣita. After the kta suffix is made initial udātta by ādyudāttaś ca, the augment iṭ that comes is unaccented by āgamā anudāttāḥ.

॥५॥

Page 692 (lower) — Sūkta 16, Rik 6

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

इमे सोमा॑स इन्द॑वः सु॒तासो॒ अधि॑ ब॒र्हिषि॑ । ताँ इ॑न्द्र सह॑से पिब ॥६॥ [accent ?]

imé sómāsa índavaḥ sutā́so ádhi barhíṣi | tā́m̐ indra sáhase piba ||6|| [accent ?]

(Bars under इ (इमे), स (सोमास), सु, सो (सुतासो), ब and in line 2 under द्र; strokes over मा, द, धि, षि and in line 2 over इ and ह. No bar is printed before the stroke over इ in line 2. The Saṃhitā prints the nasalised ताँ; the Pada has तान्.)

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

इमे । सोमासः । इन्दवः । सुतासः । अधि । बर्हिषि ॥ तान् । इन्द्र । सहसे । पिब ॥६॥

ime | somāsaḥ | indavaḥ | sutāsaḥ | adhi | barhiṣi || tān | indra | sahase | piba ||6||

Page 693 — Rik 6: bhāṣya, word-meanings, overall sense, English, Special Topics

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

(The earlier reading अधिकेन is corrected from the print: यज्ञेऽध्याधिक्येन, i.e. adhi* glossed by *ādhikyena.)

इन्दुशब्द उन्दी क्लेदन इति धातोरुत्पन्नः । इन्दवः क्लेदनयुक्ता इमे वेद्यामवस्थिताः सोमासस्तत्तत्पात्रगताः सोमा बर्हिषि यज्ञेऽध्याधिक्येन सुतासः । अभिषुताः । हे इन्द्र सहसे बलार्थं तान् सोमान् पिब ॥ सोमासः । आज्ञसेरसुगिति जसोऽसुगागमः । इन्दवः । उक्तम् । सुतासः । पूर्ववदसुक् । संहितायां प्रकृत्यान्तःपादमव्यपर इति प्रकृतिभावात्स्वरपूर्वत्वं न भवति । बर्हिषि । बृंहेर्नलोपश्च । उ. २-१०० । इतीस् । प्रत्ययस्वरः । ताँ इन्द्रेत्यत्र दीर्घादटि समानपाद इति रुत्वम् । यत्वयलोपौ । अनुनासिकः । सहसे । षह मर्षणे । असुनन्तो नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः ॥

induśabda undī kledana iti dhātorutpannaḥ | indavaḥ kledanayuktā ime vedyāmavasthitāḥ somāsastattatpātragatāḥ somā barhiṣi yajñe 'dhyādhikyena sutāsaḥ | abhiṣutāḥ | he indra sahase balārthaṃ tān somān piba || somāsaḥ | ājjaserasugiti jaso 'sugāgamaḥ | indavaḥ | uktam | sutāsaḥ | pūrvavadasuk | saṃhitāyāṃ prakṛtyāntaḥpādamavyapara iti prakṛtibhāvātsvarapūrvatvaṃ na bhavati | barhiṣi | bṛṃhernalopaśca | u. 2-100 | itīs | pratyayasvaraḥ | tāṁ indretyatra dīrghādaṭi samānapāda iti rutvam | yatvayalopau | anunāsikaḥ | sahase | ṣaha marṣaṇe | asunanto nittvādādyudāttaḥ ||

Translation: "The word indu is formed from the root undī kledane, to wet. Indavaḥ, wet: these somāsaḥ, soma juices standing on the altar and held in their several vessels, are sutāsaḥ, pressed, at the sacrifice, barhiṣi, in abundance, adhi. O Indra, drink those soma juices for strength, sahase." (Grammatical tail: somāsaḥ, asuk for jas by āj jaser asuk; indavaḥ, explained; sutāsaḥ, asuk as before, and in the Saṃhitā no loss of the following vowel, by the prakṛtibhāva of prakṛtyāntaḥpādam avyapare; barhiṣi, is by bṛṃher nalopaś ca (Uṇ. 2-100), the suffix accent; tāṁ indra, ru by dīrghād aṭi samānapāde, y and its loss, the nasal; sahase, ṣaha marṣaṇe, an asun form, initial udātta as nit.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

सुतासः (sutāsaḥ) — prepared | इन्दवः (indavaḥ) — liquid (or, dripping) | इमे (ime) — these (on the altar) | सोमासः (somāsaḥ) — soma juices (in the several vessels) | बर्हिषि (barhiṣi) — in the sacrifice | अधि (adhi) — in abundant measure (in a pure, special way) are placed | इन्द्र (indra) — O Indra | सहसे (sahase) — for the increase of strength | तान् (tān) — those soma juices | पिब (piba) — drink.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

The soma juice in the various vessels on this altar was not squeezed out in an ordinary way; it has been prepared with mantras as a part of the sacrifice. O Indra, drink it for the increase of your strength.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> These dripping Soma juices are effused upon the sacred grass; drink them Indra, to recruit your strength.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Indavaḥ: when the soma plant is crushed with stones and the juice squeezed out, the juice oozes in drops. Soma juice dripping in this way is by usage called indavaḥ. The word is formed from the root undī kledane.

Page 694 — Rik 6: grammar

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 694–695, noted briefly)

सोमासः (somāsaḥ): ṣuñ abhiṣave; s for ṣ by "dhātvādeḥ ṣaḥ saḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-1-64); after su, man by "arti-stu-su-…" (Uṇ. sū. "1-13[?]" [?]); guṇa by sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ: soma, initial udātta by the nit accent. After it jas: soma + as; by "āj jaser asuk" (Pā. sū. 7-1-50) the augment asuk for jas, which, being kit, comes as its first part by "ādyantau ṭakitau" (Pā. sū. 1-1-46): soma + asas; lengthening of the like vowel; somāsas, ru and visarga.

इन्दवः (indavaḥ): explained at the mantra "pra vo bhriyanta indavaḥ" (Ṛ. saṃ. 1-14-4).

सुतासः (sutāsaḥ): the root ṣuñ; s for ṣ; kta by niṣṭhā; the augment iṭ, due by ārdhadhātukasyeḍ valādeḥ, is barred by "ekāca upadeśe 'nudāttāt". After suta, jas; asuk as before; lengthening; ru and visarga: sutāsaḥ. In the Saṃhitā, with sutāsas adhi, ru for s by "sasajuṣo ruḥ" (Pā. sū. "8-2-6[?]" [?]): sutāsar + adhi; u for ru by ato ror aplutād aplute; guṇa by ād guṇaḥ: sutāso + adhi. By "eṅaḥ padāntād ati" (Pā. sū. 6-1-109) the pūrvarūpa would come; but by "prakṛtyāntaḥpādam avyapare" (Pā. sū. 6-1-115) e and o in the middle of a pāda keep their form before a vowel, unless that vowel is followed by v or y; so here they keep it, and there is no pūrvarūpa.

बर्हिषि (barhiṣi): the root bṛhi vṛddhau; being idit, it takes the augment num by "idito num dhātoḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-1-58): bṛnh. By "bṛṃher nalopaś ca" (Uṇ. sū. "2-[?]" [?]; the bhāṣya gives 2-100), after bṛhi the suffix isi comes and the n is dropped: bṛh + is; the laghūpadha-guṇa by pugantalaghūpadhasya ca, followed by r by uraṇ raparaḥ: barhis, final udātta by the suffix accent. Locative singular ṅi; by "ādeśapratyayayoḥ" (Pā. sū. "8-3-5[?]" [?]) ṣ for the s belonging to the suffix: barhiṣi.

ताँ इन्द्र (tāṁ indra): with tān + indra in the Saṃhitā, ru for the n by "dīrghād aṭi samānapāde" (Pā. sū. 8-3-9); by "āto 'ṭi nityam" (Pā. sū. 8-3-3)

Page 695 (upper) — Rik 6: grammar (end)

the nasal for the ā; by "bhobhagoaghoapūrvasya yo 'śi" (Pā. sū. 8-3-17) y for ru: tāṁy + indra; the y dropped by lopaḥ śākalyasya: tāṁ indra.

सहसे (sahase): ṣaha marṣaṇe; s for ṣ by "dhātvādeḥ ṣaḥ saḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-1-64); the suffix asun by "sarvadhātubhyo 'sun" (Uṇ. sū. "4-[?]" [?]): sahas, initial udātta by the nit accent. Dative singular ṅe: sahase.

॥६॥

---

Page 695 (lower) — Sūkta 16, Rik 7

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

अयं ते स्तोमो॑ अग्रियो हृ॑दिस्पृग॑स्तु शंत॑मः । अथा॒ सोम॑ सु॒तं पि॑ब ॥७॥

ayáṃ te stómo agriyó hṛdispṛ́g astu śáṃtamaḥ | athā sómaṃ sutáṃ piba ||7||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

अयम् । ते । स्तोमः । अग्रियः । हृदिऽस्पृक् । अस्तु । शम्ऽतमः ॥ अथ । सोमम् । सुतम् । पिब ॥७॥

ayam | te | stomaḥ | agriyaḥ | hṛdi 'spṛk | astu | śam 'tamaḥ || atha | somam | sutam | piba ||7||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे इन्द्र अयमस्माभिः क्रियमाणः स्तोमः स्तोत्रविशेषोऽग्रियः श्रेष्ठः सन् ते तव हृदिस्पृक् मनस्यङ्गीकृतः शंतमः सुखतमोऽस्तु । अथ स्तुतेरनन्तरं सुतमभिषुतं सोमं पिब ॥ अग्रियः । अग्रादित्यनुवृत्तौ घच्छौ च । पा. ४-४-११७ । इति घच् । चित्त्वादन्तोदात्तः । हृदि स्पृशतीति हृदिस्पृक् । स्पृशोऽनुदके क्विन् । पा. ३-२-५८ । तत्पुरुषे कृति बहुलम् । पा. ६-३-१४ । इत्यलुक् । क्विन्प्रत्ययस्य कुः । पा. ८-२-६२ । इति शकारस्य कुत्वम् । कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् । शंतमः । सुखकरद्रव्यवचनोऽत्र शंशब्दः ततस्तमप् । अत्र सुखप्रकर्षस्य गुणद्वारा गुणिनिष्ठद्रव्ये संक्रान्तत्वादद्रव्यप्रकर्ष इति निषेधात् किमेत्तिङव्ययेत्यादिना । पा. ५-४-११ । आम् न भवति द्रव्यस्य स्वतः प्रकर्षाभावात् । ईदृगर्थ एव हि स निषेधः । अथा सोमम् । संहितायां निपातस्येति दीर्घः ॥

he indra ayamasmābhiḥ kriyamāṇaḥ stomaḥ stotraviśeṣo 'griyaḥ śreṣṭhaḥ san te tava hṛdispṛk manasyaṅgīkṛtaḥ śaṃtamaḥ sukhatamo 'stu | atha stuteranantaraṃ sutamabhiṣutaṃ somaṃ piba || agriyaḥ | agrādityanuvṛttau ghacchau ca | pā. 4-4-117 | iti ghac | cittvādantodāttaḥ | hṛdi spṛśatīti hṛdispṛk | spṛśo 'nudake kvin | pā. 3-2-58 | tatpuruṣe kṛti bahulam | pā. 6-3-14 | ityaluk | kvinpratyayasya kuḥ | pā. 8-2-62 | iti śakārasya kutvam | kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvam | śaṃtamaḥ | sukhakaradravyavacano 'tra śaṃśabdaḥ tatastamap | atra sukhaprakarṣasya guṇadvārā guṇiniṣṭhadravye saṃkrāntatvādadravyaprakarṣa iti niṣedhāt kimettiṅavyayetyādinā | pā. 5-4-11 | ām na bhavati dravyasya svataḥ prakarṣābhāvāt | īdṛgartha eva hi sa niṣedhaḥ | athā somam | saṃhitāyāṃ nipātasyeti dīrghaḥ ||

Translation: "O Indra, may this stoma, this particular hymn being made by us, being agriya, the best, be hṛdispṛk to you, taken to heart, and śaṃtama, most pleasing. Atha, after the praise, drink the sutam, pressed, soma." (Grammatical tail: agriyaḥ, ghac by ghacchau ca (Pā. 4-4-117), with agrāt carried on, final udātta as cit; hṛdispṛk, "it touches the heart", kvin by Pā. 3-2-58, the case kept by Pā. 6-3-14, the guttural for ś by Pā. 8-2-62, the accent of the kṛt final member; śaṃtamaḥ, śam here naming a thing that gives happiness, then tamap; since the excess of happiness passes through the quality to the thing that has it, the bar "adravyaprakarṣe" in kim-et-tiṅ-avyayaya… (Pā. 5-4-11) applies and ām does not come, a thing having no excess of its own; athā somam, lengthened in the Saṃhitā by nipātasya.)

Page 696 — Rik 7: word-meanings, overall sense, English, Special Topics, grammar

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

(हे इन्द्र (he indra) — O Indra) | अग्रियः (agriyaḥ) — excellent | अयम् (ayam) — this (being made by us) | स्तोमः (stomaḥ) — hymn of praise | ते (te) — your | हृदिस्पृक् (hṛdispṛk) — touching the heart (and agreeable to the mind) | शंतमः (śaṃtamaḥ) — giving happiness | अस्तु (astu) — may it be | अथ (atha) — after the praise is over | सुतम् (sutam) — made ready | सोमम् (somam) — the soma juice | पिब (piba) — drink.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Indra, may this hymn that we are making about you touch your heart, gladden you and give you joy. Then drink this soma juice that we have prepared.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> May this excellent hymn touching you [sic] heart be most agreeable to you. Drink, then Indra, the extracted Soma-juice.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Agriyaḥ: best (agre bhavaḥ, being at the front); excellent, highest.

Hṛdispṛk: hṛdi spṛśatīti hṛdispṛk, it touches the heart: touching the heart, melting the heart, striking the mind, "touching your heart, etc." The intent is: may the hymn we make strike your mind.

Śaṃtamaḥ: causing happiness; the sense is: may the hymn we make give you joy.

Atha: the last syllable of this word is long in the Saṃhitā-pāṭha to suit the metre.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 696–698, noted briefly)

अग्रियः (agriyaḥ): in "ghacchau ca" (Pā. sū. 4-4-117) the word agrāt is carried on from the preceding sūtra "agrād yat" (Pā. sū. 4-4-116). After the stem agra ending in the locative, in the sense "bhava",

Page 697 — Rik 7: grammar

the suffixes gha, cha and yat come; so here, agre bhavaḥ being meant, ghac comes. The sup inside the taddhita-final stem takes luk. By "āyaneyīnīyiyaḥ phaḍhakhachaghāṃ pratyayādīnām" (Pā. sū. "1-3-6" [as printed, for 7-1-2]), for ph, ḍh, kh, ch and gh at the start of a suffix come āyan, ey, īn, īy and iy; so iy for gh: agra + iya; the a dropped by yasyeti ca: agriya. The suffix ghac is cit; so by "citaḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-1-163) agriya is final udātta. Nominative singular su; ru and visarga: agriyaḥ.

हृदिस्पृक् (hṛdispṛk): hṛdi spṛśati iti hṛdispṛk. By "spṛśo 'nudake kvin" (Pā. sū. 3-2-58), when a subanta other than the word udaka is the upapada, the suffix kvin comes after the root spṛś; all its letters drop. By "tatpuruṣe kṛti bahulam" (Pā. sū. 6-3-14), when a kṛdanta final member follows, the locative in a tatpuruṣa compound is not dropped; so the luk due by "supo dhātuprātipadikayoḥ" does not come. After hṛdispṛś the suffix su, dropped by "halṅyābbhyo dīrghāt…" (Pā. sū. 6-1-68). The guttural enjoined by "kvinpratyayasya kuḥ" (Pā. sū. 8-2-62) (in the pada-final position a word after which kvin came takes a guttural as its final substitute) counts as not done when the ṣ for a final ś is made by "vraśca-bhrasja-sṛja-mṛja-yaja-rāja-bhrāja-cchaśāṃ ṣaḥ" (Pā. sū. 8-2-36). So first ṣ comes by this sūtra: spṛṣ; then jaś, ḍ for ṣ, by "jhalāṃ jaśo 'nte" (Pā. sū. 8-2-39). Now by kvinpratyayasya kuḥ the guttural: for ḍ, the third of the ṭ-class, g, the third of the k-class; ghṛtaspṛg; by "vā śari" (Pā. sū. 8-3-36 [as printed]) car optionally: ghṛtaspṛk [as printed: the word worked here is ghṛtaspṛk, not hṛdispṛk]. Spṛk is final udātta by the root accent. After compounding too, by "gatikārakopapadāt kṛt" (Pā. sū. 6-2-139), the accent of the kṛt final member comes; the root accent stays.

शंतमः (śaṃtamaḥ): the word śam conveys "a thing that gives happiness". Atiśayitaḥ śam being meant, tamap by "atiśāyane tamabiṣṭhanau" (Pā. sū. 5-3-55): śam + tama. Here the excess of happiness is of the form happiness; through the quality it comes to rest in the excess of the thing marked by the quality happiness. So, because of the bar "adravyaprakarṣe" in "kim-et-tiṅ-avyaya-ghād ām v adravyaprakarṣe" (Pā. sū. 5-4-11) (after a word ending in a suffix called gha that follows kim, an e-final word, a tiṅanta or an avyaya, āmu comes, but not when an excess of a thing is shown), āmu does not come here. A thing has no excess of its own; so the excess of the thing must be explained by putting first the excess of quality and so on.

Page 698 (upper) — Rik 7: grammar (end)

This point Kaiyaṭa states in the tamap sūtra:

> अद्रव्यप्रकर्षे इति निषेध उपचरितगुणक्रियागतप्रकर्षद्रव्यविषयो द्रष्टव्यः adravyaprakarṣe iti niṣedha upacaritaguṇakriyāgataprakarṣadravyaviṣayo draṣṭavyaḥ

("The bar 'adravyaprakarṣe' is to be seen as concerning a thing whose excess lies in a quality or action figuratively ascribed to it": my rendering, mine and tentative.) In the present case, since an excess of the thing that has happiness is shown through the excess of the quality happiness, the bar adravyaprakarṣe applies, and the suffix ām does not come. By "taraptamapau ghaḥ" (Pā. sū. 1-1-22) the suffixes tarap and tamap are called gha: this is how the name gha is stated.

अथा सोमम् (athā somam): lengthened in the Saṃhitā by "nipātasya ca" (Pā. sū. 6-3-136).

॥७॥

---

Page 698 (lower) — Sūkta 16, Rik 8

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

विश्वमित्सवनं सुतमिन्द्रो मदाय गच्छति । वृत्रहा सोमपीतये ॥८॥

viśvam ít sávanaṃ sutám indro mádāya gacchati | vṛtrahā́ sómapītaye ||8||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

विश्वम् । इत् । सवनम् । सुतम् । इन्द्रः । मदाय । गच्छति ॥ वृत्रऽहा । सोमऽपीतये ॥८॥

viśvam | it | savanam | sutam | indraḥ | madāya | gacchati || vṛtra 'hā | soma 'pītaye ||8||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

वृत्रहा शत्रुघातक इन्द्रः सोमपीतये सोमपानाय मदाय तत्पानजन्यहर्षाय च विश्वमित्सर्वमपि सुतमभिषुतसोमयुक्तं सवनं प्रातःसवनादिरूपं कर्म गच्छति ॥ विश्वम् । अशिप्रुषीत्यादिना क्वन् । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । सवनं सुतम् । पूर्ववत् । मदाय । मदोऽनुपसर्गे । पा. ३-३-६७ । इत्यप्प्रत्ययः । पित्त्वाद्धातुस्वरः । गच्छति । इषुगमियमां छः । वृत्रहा । वृत्रं हतवान् । ब्रह्मभ्रूणवृत्रेषु क्विप् । पा. ३-२-८७ । इन्हन्नित्यादिना निवृत्तं दीर्घत्वं सौ च । पा. ६-४-१२, १३ । इति प्रतिप्रसवाद्भवति । कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् । सोमपीतये । व्यधिकरणबहुव्रीहिरित्युक्तम् । तत्पुरुषे वा दासीभारादित्वात् । पा. ६-२-४२ । पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् ॥

vṛtrahā śatrughātaka indraḥ somapītaye somapānāya madāya tatpānajanyaharṣāya ca viśvamitsarvamapi sutamabhiṣutasomayuktaṃ savanaṃ prātaḥsavanādirūpaṃ karma gacchati || viśvam | aśipruṣītyādinā kvan | nittvādādyudāttaḥ | savanaṃ sutam | pūrvavat | madāya | mado 'nupasarge | pā. 3-3-67 | ityappratyayaḥ | pittvāddhātusvaraḥ | gacchati | iṣugamiyamāṃ chaḥ | vṛtrahā | vṛtraṃ hatavān | brahmabhrūṇavṛtreṣu kvip | pā. 3-2-87 | inhannityādinā nivṛttaṃ dīrghatvaṃ sau ca | pā. 6-4-12, 13 | iti pratiprasavādbhavati | kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvam |

somapītaye | vyadhikaraṇabahuvrīhirityuktam | tatpuruṣe vā dāsībhārāditvāt | pā. 6-2-42 | pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvam ||

Translation: "Indra, vṛtrahā, the slayer of enemies, goes for somapīti, the drinking of soma, and for mada, the joy born of drinking it, to viśvam it, every, savana, rite in the form of the morning pressing and so on, sutam, joined with pressed soma." (Grammatical tail: viśvam, kvan by aśipruṣi…, initial udātta as nit; savanaṃ sutam, as before; madāya, the suffix ap by mado 'nupasarge (Pā. 3-3-67), the root accent since ap is pit; gacchati, ch by iṣugamiyamāṃ chaḥ; vṛtrahā, "he killed Vṛtra", kvip by Pā. 3-2-87; the lengthening, cancelled by in-han-…, comes back by the counter-rule sau ca (Pā. 6-4-12, 13); the accent of the kṛt final member; somapītaye, a vyadhikaraṇa-bahuvrīhi, as said, or a tatpuruṣa with the accent of the first member, as one of the dāsībhāra-ādi (Pā. 6-2-42).)

Page 699 — Rik 8: word-meanings, overall sense, English, Special Topics, grammar

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

वृत्रहा (vṛtrahā) — who destroys enemies, or who destroyed the demon Vṛtra | इन्द्रः (indraḥ) — Indra | सोमपीतये (somapītaye) — for drinking soma | मदाय (madāya) — and for the joy (that comes from drinking soma) | विश्वम् (viśvam) — all | सुतम् (sutam) — where the soma juice is made ready | सवनम् (savanam) — to the rites (in the form of the morning pressing and so on) | गच्छति इत् (gacchati it) — surely goes.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

Indra, who destroys the demons or Vṛtra, goes to every rite of the morning pressing and so on where the soma juice is pressed out, drinks the soma, and is pleased by it.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> Indra, the killer of Vritra (or of enemies) goes to every ceremoney [sic] where Soma is prepared that he may drink the Soma and be intoxicated.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Vṛtrahā: though the word vṛtra denotes many things, cloud, strength, water, the demon Vṛtra and so on, here the commentator takes it as "enemy". It may also be taken as the demon Vṛtra if wished. Accordingly vṛtrahā means destroyer of enemies, or slayer of the demon Vṛtra.

Madāya: for the mada (intoxication) or joy that comes from drinking soma, "Intoxication".

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 699–703, noted briefly)

विश्वम् (viśvam): the root viśa praveśane; after it the suffix kvan by "aśūpruṣilaṭikaṇikhaṭiviśibhyaḥ kvan" (Uṇ. sū. 1-149); by "ñnityādir nityam" (Pā. sū. 6-1-197) the nit accent: viśva is initial udātta. Savanaṃ sutam are explained at "semaṃ naḥ" (Ṛ. saṃ. 1-16-5).

मदाय (madāya): by “mado ’nupasarge” (Pā. sū. 3-3-67), when a subanta other than a preverb is the upapada, the suffix ap comes after the root mad; so after the root mad

the suffix ap. It is pit, that is, has p as it; so it is unaccented by “anudāttau suppitau” (Pā. sū. 3-1-4), and the root accent stays.

गच्छति (gacchati): gamḷ gatau. By “iṣugamiyamāṃ chaḥ” (Pā. sū. 7-3-77), when laṭ, tip and śap have come after the root gam, the substitute ch.

वृत्रहा (vṛtrahā): the analysis is vṛtraṃ hatavān; the root hana hiṃsāgatyoḥ. By “brahma-bhrūṇa-vṛtreṣu kvip” (Pā. sū. 3-2-87), when the words brahma, bhrūṇa and vṛtra, denoting the object, are the upapada, the suffix kvip comes after the root han in the past sense. Here, though kvip would come anyway by “kvip ca” (Pā. sū. 3-2-76), this sūtra is needed as a restriction, by the maxim

> सिद्धे सत्यारभ्यमाणो विधिर्नियमाय भवति
>
> siddhe satyārabhyamāṇo vidhirniyamāya bhavati

(“A rule stated when the result is already obtained serves as a restriction.”) Here the Kāśikā gives the restriction in four ways. Since they are heard in the sūtra, the words brahma and so on are to be used first, then, as the base, the root han, then, by elimination, bhūte, and kvip, being what is enjoined, comes last of all; so it reads

> ब्रह्मादिषु उपपदेषु हन्तेः भूते क्विप्
>
> brahmādiṣu upapadeṣu hanteḥ bhūte kvip

(“When brahma and the rest are the upapada, kvip after han in the past.”) By the maxim

> यत एवकारस्ततोऽन्यत्र नियमः
>
> yata evakārastato ’nyatra niyamaḥ

(“The restriction applies to what is other than where the eva stands”), the restriction falls on what stands next to the word it is attached to. So if the restriction is stated as

> ब्रह्मादिष्वेव हन्तेः भूते क्विप्
>
> brahmādiṣveva hanteḥ bhūte kvip

(“Only when brahma and the rest are upapada, kvip after han in the past”), what stands next to it is the root han; so it is a prakṛti-niyama, a restriction on the base, whose result is to exclude other upapadas from that root.

> स्वसजातीयेतरव्यावर्तकत्वं नियमत्वम्
>
> svasajātīyetaravyāvartakatvaṃ niyamatvam

(“Being a restriction is excluding what is other than its own kind.”) By this restriction it is settled that if there is connection with an upapada other than brahma and the rest, kvip does not come after the root han in the past sense. Example: for puruṣaṃ hatavān, the form puruṣahā is not used. Though not used in the past sense, in the present and future senses, puruṣaṃ hanti, puruṣaṃ haniṣyati, kvip does come, and in those senses puruṣahā is correct. This restriction is called prakṛti-niyama; the name comes because its result is to exclude other upapadas from the base. Next, when the restriction is stated as

ब्रह्मादिषु उपपदेषु हन्तेरेव भूते क्विप्

brahmādiṣu upapadeṣu hantereva bhūte kvip

("When brahma and the rest are upapada, kvip in the past only after han"), the upapada and bhūte, the word for the time, both stand equally near; yet since the upapada is named first, it is called an upapada-niyama. By it, when this upapada is connected, kvip does not come in the past sense after other roots. Example: for vṛtraṃ jitavān, with vṛtra as upapada, kvip does not come after the root ji in the past sense, so vṛtrajit is not a correct usage in that sense. When the present and future times are meant, vṛtraṃ jayati, vṛtraṃ jeṣyati, with brahma and the rest as upapada, since the exclusion that kvip does not come in the past sense after a root other than han is settled, the usage vṛtrajit is correct. Thus there are two restrictions, prakṛti-niyama and upapada-niyama. Next, if the restriction takes the form

ब्रह्मादिषु उपपदेषु हन्तेः भूते क्विबेव

brahmādiṣu upapadeṣu hanteḥ bhūte kvibeva

("When brahma and the rest are upapada, after han in the past only kvip"), here hanteḥ and kvip both stand equally near; though they are equal, the suffix is the principal thing, so this is a pratyaya-niyama. By it it is settled that, with brahma and the rest as upapada, kvip does not come after the root han at a time other than the past. Example: in the senses brāhmaṇaṃ hanti, brāhmaṇaṃ haniṣyati, present and future time being understood, kvip does not come; so in these senses brahmahā is not formed. With these upapadas absent, even if kvip does not come after han in the past sense, when there is connection with another upapada it does come after han in the past sense: for puruṣaṃ hanti or haniṣyati, puruṣahā is formed. When the restriction is

ब्रह्मादिषु उपपदेषु हन्तेः भूत एव क्विप्

brahmādiṣu upapadeṣu hanteḥ bhūta eva kvip

("When brahma and the rest are upapada, kvip after han only in the past"), since bhūte stands next to it, it is a kāla-niyama, a restriction of time, by the maxim yata evakāraḥ. By it it is settled that, with brahma and the rest as upapada, no suffix other than kvip comes after the root han in the past sense. So for brāhmaṇaṃ hatavān the suffix ṇini in the past sense by "karmaṇi hanaḥ" (Pā. sū. 3-2-86) does not come, and the usage brahmaghātī is not correct. But since the restriction contains "brahmādiṣu", when other words are the upapada, kvip does come after the root han in the past sense [as printed; the example is a ṇini form]: example, pitṛvyaṃ hatavān, pitṛvyaghātī. The Kāśikā's view is that the sūtra "brahma-bhrūṇa-vṛtreṣu kvip" (Pā. sū. 3-2-87) is needed to obtain these four restrictions, the prakṛti-niyama, upapada-niyama, pratyaya-niyama and kāla-niyama. In the Mahābhāṣya it reads:

उभयतो नियमोऽयम् । ब्रह्मादिष्वेव । क्विबेव ।

ubhayato niyamo 'yam | brahmādiṣveva | kvibeva |

("This is a restriction both ways: only with brahma and the rest; only kvip.") So the two restrictions accepted by the Bhāṣya are the prakṛti-niyama and the kāla-niyama. Readers will not fail to ask what the Bhāṣya's intention may be in relying on two restrictions in this way. In the sūtra "brahma-bhrūṇa-vṛtreṣu kvip" (Pā. sū. 3-2-87) the upapada and the suffix are both heard; the root han and the time-word bhūte are not heard. They are obtained from the context; and by

श्रुतिलिङ्गवाक्यप्रकरणस्थानसमाख्यानां पारदौर्बल्यमर्थविप्रकर्षात्

śrutiliṅgavākyaprakaraṇasthānasamākhyānāṃ pāradaurbalyamarthaviprakarṣāt

("Of direct statement, indication, syntactic connection, context, position and name, each later one is weaker, because its meaning is more remote"), context is much weaker than direct statement. So the Mahābhāṣyakāra's view is that it is proper to restrict the base and the time, supplied by a weaker means of knowledge, and not proper to restrict the upapada and the suffix, which are heard. Kaiyaṭa makes it clear that, since it conflicts with the Bhāṣya, which follows this reasoning, the view of the Vṛttikāra is to be disregarded. Haradatta says here:

धातूपपदविषयं नियमद्वयं भाष्ये प्रदर्शितम्

dhātūpapadaviṣayaṃ niyamadvayaṃ bhāṣye pradarśitam

("The two restrictions, concerning the root and the upapada, are shown in the Bhāṣya.") Instead of saying here

धातुकालविषयम्

dhātukālaviṣayam

("concerning the root and the time"), [the text continues on p. 702:]

Page 702 — Rik 8: grammar

Jñānendra Sarasvatī (the ascetic) has shown that the word upapada has slipped in through an oversight. Thus the sūtra brahma-bhrūṇa... is needed to obtain the restrictions. In vṛtraṃ hatavān, when by it the form ends in kvip, it is called prātipadika by "kṛttaddhitasamāsāś ca" (Pā. sū. 1-2-46); by "supo dhātuprātipadikayoḥ" (Pā. sū. 2-4-71) the am inside the stem takes luk; the whole of kvip drops. After vṛtrahan the nominative singular su: vṛtrahan + su. By "sarvanāmasthāne cāsambuddhau" (Pā. sū. 6-4-8), before a sarvanāmasthāna suffix other than the vocative, the penultimate of an n-final stem is lengthened; so lengthening is due. But the sense of "in-han-pūṣāryamṇāṃ śau" (Pā. sū. 6-4-12) is that the penultimate of a stem ending in in, han, pūṣan or aryaman is lengthened before the suffix śi. By sarvanāmasthāne cāsambuddhau (Pā. sū. 6-4-8) the lengthening of their penultimate is already established; so by siddhe satyārabhyamāṇo vidhir niyamāya bhavati this sūtra is a restriction: for stems ending in in, han, pūṣan and aryaman, the lengthening of the penultimate comes only before śi. By it it is settled that without śi following, the penultimate of a stem ending in in and the rest is not lengthened. So in vṛtrahan + su, śi not following, there would be no lengthening. Yet by "sau ca" (Pā. sū. 6-4-13), when the suffix su follows, the penultimate of a stem ending in in, han, pūṣan or aryaman is lengthened; so the lengthening comes. Pratiprasava means a bar to a bar. Here the lengthening due by sarvanāmasthāne ca was in effect barred by in-han-pūṣā...; and sau ca (Pā. sū. 6-4-13) in effect bars that bar. So the Bhāṣya says

> दीर्घत्वं सौ चेति प्रतिप्रसवाद्भवति
>
> dīrghatvaṃ sau ceti pratiprasavādbhavati

("The lengthening comes by the counter-rule sau ca.") With vṛtrahān + su, the su drops by "halṅyābbhyaḥ..." (Pā. sū. 6-1-68); the n drops by "na lopaḥ prātipadikāntasya" (Pā. sū. 8-2-7): vṛtrahā. Hā is udātta by the root accent; after compounding too the same accent comes by the accent of the kṛt final member, that is, by "gatikārakopapadāt kṛt" (Pā. sū. "7-2-139" [as read; for 6-2-139] [?]).

सोमपीतये (somapītaye): a bahuvrīhi compound is made of words ending in the nominative; when words in other cases enter a bahuvrīhi, it is called a vyadhikaraṇa-bahuvrīhi. At "aibhir agne duvo giraḥ" (Ṛ. saṃ. 1-14-1) somapītaye was shown to be a vyadhikaraṇa-bahuvrīhi. The word soma is initial udātta by the nit accent; in the bahuvrīhi the same accent comes by "bahuvrīhau prakṛtyā pūrvapadam" (Pā. sū. 6-2-1). Even if a tatpuruṣa is made, somasya pītiḥ somapītiḥ, tasyai somapītaye, then, by samāsasya overriding the final udātta that would come, since dāsībhāra-ādi is an ākṛtigaṇa, somapīti, which belongs to that group, takes the accent of its first member by > कुरुगार्हपततरिक्तगुर्वसूतजरत्यश्लीलदृढरूपापारेवडवातैतिलकदॄःपण्यकम्बलो दासीभाराणां च

Page 703 (upper) — Rik 8: grammar (end)

>
> kurugārhapatatariktagurvasūtajaratyaślīladṛḍharūpāpārevaḍavātaitilakadrūḥpaṇy akambalo dāsībhārāṇāṃ ca

(Pā. sū. 6-2-42). Since recourse to a vyadhikaraṇa-bahuvrīhi is a last resort, the tatpuruṣa has been described.

॥८॥

---

Page 703 (lower) — Sūkta 16, Rik 9 (last ṛk of the sūkta)

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

> सेमं नः काममा पृण गोभिरश्वैः शतक्रतो । स्तवाम त्वा स्वाध्यः ॥९॥
>
> semaṃ naḥ kāmam ā pṛṇa góbhir áśvaiḥ śatakrato | stávāma tvā svādhyaḥ ||9||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

सः । इमम् । नः । कामम् । आ । पृण । गोभिः । अश्वैः । शतक्रतो इति शतऽक्रतो ॥ स्तवाम । त्वा । सुऽआध्यः ॥९॥

saḥ | imam | naḥ | kāmam | ā | pṛṇa | gobhiḥ | aśvaiḥ | śatakrato iti śata 'krato || stavāma | tvā | su 'ādhyaḥ ||9||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे शतक्रतो स त्वं नोऽस्मदीयमिमं कामं काम्यमानं फलं गोभिरश्वैश्च सहा पृण । सर्वतः पूरय । वयमपि स्वाध्यः सुष्ठु सर्वतो ध्यानयुक्ताः सन्तस्त्वां स्तवाम ॥ सेमम् । संहितायां सोऽचि लोपे चेत्पादपूरणमिति सुलोपः । कामम् । कमेर्घञ् । कर्षात्वतो घञोऽन्त उदात्तः । पा. ६-१-१५९ । इत्यन्तोदात्तत्वे प्राप्ते वृषादिषु पाठादाद्युदात्तत्वम् । पृण । पृण प्रीणने । लोटः सेर्हिः । तुदादिभ्यः शः । तस्य ङित्त्वाद्गुणाभावः । अतो हेरिति हेर्लुक् । गोभिः । सावेकाच इति प्राप्तं विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वं न गोश्वन्सावर्वेति प्रतिषिध्यते । अश्वैः । क्वनन्त इत्युक्तम् । असामर्थ्यान्न पराङ्गवद्भावः । स्तवाम । ष्टुञ् स्तुतौ । धात्वादेः षः सः । लोडुत्तमबहुवचनस्य लोटो लङ्वदिति लङ्वद्भावान्नित्यं ङितः ।

he śatakrato sa tvaṃ no 'smadīyamimaṃ kāmaṃ kāmyamānaṃ phalaṃ gobhiraśvaiśca sahā pṛṇa | sarvataḥ pūraya | vayamapi svādhyaḥ suṣṭhu sarvato dhyānayuktāḥ santastvāṃ stavāma || semam | saṃhitāyāṃ so 'ci lope cetpādapūraṇamiti sulopaḥ | kāmam | kamerghañ | karṣātvato ghañño 'nta udāttaḥ | pā. 6-1-159 | ityantodāttatve prāpte vṛṣādiṣu pāṭhādādyudāttatvam | pṛṇa | pṛṇa prīṇane | loṭaḥ serhiḥ | tudādibhyaḥ śaḥ | tasya ṅittvādguṇābhāvaḥ | ato heriti herluk | gobhiḥ | sāvekāca iti prāptaṃ vibhakterudāttatvaṃ na gośvansāvavarṇeti pratiṣidhyate | aśvaiḥ | kvananta ityuktam | asāmarthyānna parāṅgavadbhāvaḥ | stavāma | ṣṭuñ stutau | dhātvādeḥ ṣaḥ saḥ | loḍuttamabahuvacanasya loṭo laṅvaditi laṅvadbhāvānnityaṃ ṅitaḥ |

( //३ १// closes Varga 31.)

पा. ३-४-९९ । इति सकारस्य लोपः । आडुत्तमस्य पिच्च । पा. ३-४-९२ । इत्याडागमः । प्रत्ययस्य पित्त्वादनुदात्तत्वम् । धातुस्वर एव । स्वाध्यः । ध्यै चिन्तायाम् । स्वाङोरुपसर्गयोः प्राक्प्रयोगः । अन्येभ्योऽपि दृश्यते । पा. ३-२-१७८ । इति क्विप् । दृशिग्रहणस्य विध्यन्तरोपसंग्रहणार्थत्वादत्र संप्रसारणे सति परपूर्वत्वम् । हल इति दीर्घः । जस्येरनेकाचः । पा. ६-४-८२ । इति यणादेशः । गतिकारकोपपदात्कृदिति कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् । उदात्तयणो हल्पूर्वादिति जस उदात्तत्वं न भवति तत्रासर्वनामस्थानमित्यनुवृत्तेः । अत उदात्तस्वरितयोर्यणः स्वरितोऽनुदात्तस्येति स्वरितत्वमेव भवति ॥ ३१॥

pā. 3-4-99 | iti sakārasya lopaḥ | āḍuttamasya picca | pā. 3-4-92 | ityāḍāgamaḥ | pratyayasya pittvādanudāttatvam | dhātusvara eva | svādhyaḥ | dhyai cintāyām | svāṅorupasargayoḥ prākprayogaḥ | anyebhyo 'pi dṛśyate | pā. 3-2-178 | iti kvip | dṛśigrahaṇasya vidhyantaropasaṃgrahaṇārthatvādatra saṃprasāraṇe sati parapūrvatvam | hala iti dīrghaḥ | jasyeranekācaḥ | pā. 6-4-82 | iti yaṇādeśaḥ | gatikārakopapadātkṛditi kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvam | udāttayaṇo halpūrvāditi jasa udāttatvaṃ na bhavati tatrāsarvanāmasthānamityanuvṛtteḥ | ata udāttasvaritayoryaṇaḥ svarito 'nudāttasyeti svaritatvameva bhavati ||31||

Translation: "O Śatakratu, such as you are, ā pṛṇa, fill up on all sides, this our kāma, the fruit we desire, with cows and horses. We too, svādhyaḥ, well and wholly given to meditation, praise you." (Grammatical tail: semam, the loss of su in the Saṃhitā by so 'ci lope…; kāmam, ghañ after kam; final udātta due by Pā. 6-1-159, initial udātta because it is read in the vṛṣa-ādi; pṛṇa, pṛṇa prīṇane, hi for si, śa by tudādibhyaḥ śaḥ, no guṇa as it is ṅit, hi dropped by ato heḥ; gobhiḥ, the case-ending accent due by sāv ekācaḥ barred by na gośvan…; aśvaiḥ, a kvan form, as said; for lack of syntactic connection [with śatakrato], no parāṅgavadbhāva; stavāma, ṣṭuñ stutau, s for ṣ, the loss of s by nityaṃ ṅitaḥ (Pā. 3-4-99) since the loṭ is treated as laṅ, the augment āṭ by Pā. 3-4-92, the root accent; svādhyaḥ, dhyai cintāyām, su and āṅ used before it, kvip by Pā. 3-2-178, saṃprasāraṇa since dṛśi takes in other rules, lengthening by halaḥ, yaṇ by Pā. 6-4-82, the accent of the kṛt final member; the jas is not udātta by udāttayaṇo halpūrvāt, since asarvanāmasthāna is carried on there, and becomes svarita by udāttasvaritayor yaṇaḥ….)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

हे शतक्रतो (he śatakrato) — O Indra | सः त्वम् (saḥ tvam) — you | नः (naḥ) — our | इमम् (imam) — this | कामम् (kāmam) — desired fruit (the object wished for) | गोभिः अश्वैः (gobhiḥ aśvaiḥ) — with cows and horses | आ पृण (ā pṛṇa) — fill up | (वयम् अपि (vayam api) — we too) | स्वाध्यः (svādhyaḥ) — being well given to meditation | त्वा (tvā) — you | स्तवाम (stavāma) — praise.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Indra, give us cows, horses and the like and fulfil our desire. We too, always given to meditation, praise you.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> O Satakratu (Indra) fulfil this our desire by giving us cows and horses. Profoundly meditating we praise yon [sic].

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Gobhir aśvaiḥ āpṛṇa: fill with cows and horses; that is, give us cows and horses and fulfil our desire.

Svādhyaḥ: dhyai cintāyām;

> सुष्ठु सर्वतो ध्यानयुक्ताः सन्तः ॥
>
> suṣṭhu sarvato dhyānayuktāḥ santaḥ ||

("Well and wholly given to meditation.") The sense is: meditating well in the mind (on you, Indra).

Page 705 — Rik 9: grammar

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 705–707, noted briefly)

सेमम् (semam): after the word tad the nominative singular su. By "tadoḥ saḥ sāv anantyayoḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-2-106) s comes for a non-final t or d of the words of the tyad-ādi group before su: s for t, sad + s; by "tyadādīnām aḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-2-102) a for the d: sa + a + s; by "ato guṇe" (Pā. sū. 6-1-97) the pararūpa. These points are to be taken at "semaṃ na stomam ā" (Ṛ. saṃ. 1-16-5) too. Sas + imam: by "so 'ci lope cet pādapūraṇam" (Pā. sū. 6-1-134) the s is dropped; guṇa: semam. The rest of its explanation is at the mantra semaṃ na stomam ā.

कामम् (kāmam): the root kamu kāntau; after it the suffix ghañ by "halaś ca" (Pā. sū. 3-3-121): kam + a; vṛddhi of the penultimate by "ata upadhāyāḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-2-116): kāma. Ghañ being ñit, initial udātta would come by "ñnityādir nityam" (Pā. sū. 6-1-197); overriding it, by "karṣātvato ghaño 'nta udāttaḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-1-159) (after the root karṣ and roots having ā, the last letter of a word ending in ghañ is udātta) final udātta comes. Overriding that too, by "vṛṣādīnāṃ ca" (Pā. sū. 6-1-203) (the first syllable of words read in the vṛṣa-ādi group is udātta), kāma, read in that group, is initial udātta.

पृण (pṛṇa): pṛṇa prīṇane, a root of the tud-ādi class; after it loṭ, 2nd singular sip. By "ser hy apic ca" (Pā. sū. 3-4-87) the substitute hi; by "tudādibhyaḥ śaḥ" (Pā. sū. 3-1-77) the vikaraṇa śa: pṛṇ + a + hi. By "sārvadhātukam apit" (Pā. sū. 1-2-4) a sārvadhātuka without p as it counts as ṅit, so the suffix śa is ṅit; so by "kṅiti ca" (Pā. sū. 1-1-5) guṇa is barred, and guṇa by "pugantalaghūpadhasya ca" (Pā. sū. 7-3-86) does not come. By "ato heḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-4-105) hi takes luk: pṛṇa. By "tiṅṅatiṅaḥ" (Pā. sū. 8-1-28) it is wholly unaccented. In the Saṃhitā, the pṛ after the udātta ā becomes svarita by "udāttād anudāttasya svaritaḥ" (Pā. sū. 8-4-66). The unaccented ṇa after it, since the udātta go follows, takes the anudātta tone by "udāttasvaritaparasya sannataraḥ" (Pā. sū. 1-2-40).

गोभिः (gobhiḥ): by "sāv ekācas tṛtīyādir vibhaktiḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-1-168), after a word of one vowel the case-endings from the instrumental on are udātta when the locative plural sup follows; so in gobhiḥ, the base go having one vowel, udātta is due for the bhis after it. But by "na gośvansāvavarṇarāḍaṅkruṅkṛdbhyaḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-1-182) it is barred that the accent just stated comes for a case-ending or matup after go and the rest; so the case-ending is not udātta.

अश्वैः (aśvaiḥ): aśva ends in the suffix kvan by "aśūpruṣi…" (Uṇ. sū. 1-149); initial udātta by the nit accent. After it stands the vocative śatakrato. Aśvaiḥ and śatakrato have no mutual syntactic connection, so there is no sāmarthya. For that reason it is not treated as one word by parāṅgavadbhāva through "subāmantrite parāṅgavat svare" (Pā. sū. 2-1-2), and so it does not become wholly unaccented by the eighth-chapter "āmantritasya ca".

स्तवाम (stavāma): the root ṣṭuñ stutau; s for ṣ by "dhātvādeḥ ṣaḥ saḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-1-64); loṭ, 1st plural mas: stu + mas. By "loṭo laṅvat" (Pā. sū. 3-4-85) it is treated as laṅ; so by "nityaṃ ṅitaḥ" (Pā. sū. 3-4-99) the final s of the 1st person of a ṅit drops. Śap by "kartari śap" (Pā. sū. 3-1-68); luk for it by "adiprabhṛtibhyaḥ śapaḥ" (Pā. sū. 2-4-72). By "āḍ uttamasya pic ca" (Pā. sū. 3-4-92) the augment āṭ for ma: stu + āma; the tiṅ āma now begins with a vowel. So the optional augment īṭ enjoined by "turustuśamyamaḥ sārvadhātuke" (Pā. sū. 7-3-95) for a consonant-initial tiṅ called sārvadhātuka after these roots does not come. Guṇa by “sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ” (Pā. sū. 7-3-84), o for u, and the substitute av by “eco ’yavāyāvaḥ” (Pā. sū. 6-1-78): stavāma. The suffix, being pit, is unaccented by “anudāttau suppitau” (Pā. sū. 3-1-4); so the root accent stays.

स्वाध्यः (svādhyaḥ): the root dhyai cintāyām; the preverbs su and āṅ used before it; ā for the final by “ādeca upadeśe ’śiti” (Pā. sū. 6-1-45): su + ā + dhyā; yaṇ: svā + dhyā. By “anyebhyo ’pi dṛśyate” (Pā. sū. 3-2-178) (kvip is seen after roots other than bhrāj and the rest too) kvip, and all of it drops. Here the mention of dṛśi in the sūtra serves to take in operations not got from other rules; so in the present case saṃprasāraṇa comes: svādh + i + a; by “saṃprasāraṇāc ca” (Pā. sū. 6-1-108) the pūrvarūpa for i + a: svādhi. With the dropped suffix kvi as the condition, by “yasmāt pratyayavidhis tadādi pratyaye ’ṅgam” (Pā. sū. 1-4-13) (the word beginning with the base after which a suffix is enjoined, and ending before the suffix, is called aṅga when that suffix follows) the name aṅga applies. So by “halaḥ” (Pā. sū. 6-4-2) (a stem ending in a saṃprasāraṇa that follows a consonant belonging to the stem is lengthened) the lengthening: svādhī. After it jas: svādhī + as. Now the substitute iyaṅ, due by “aci śnudhātu…” (Pā. sū. 6-4-77), is overridden by “er anekāco ’saṃyogapūrvasya” (Pā. sū. 6-4-82) (an aṅga of more than one vowel, ending in a root that ends in an i-vowel not preceded by a conjunct formed of root letters alone, takes yaṇ before a vowel-initial suffix), so yaṇ comes. For in svādhī the ī does not follow a conjunct, still less a conjunct of root letters alone; the root it ends in is dhī, the aṅga ending in it is svādhī, and it has more than one vowel. So yaṇ comes, and by the paribhāṣā “alo ’ntyasya” (Pā. sū. 1-1-52) for the last letter ī: svādhyas; ru and visarga: svādhyaḥ. Dhī is final udātta by the root accent; after compounding with the preverbs the accent of the kṛt final member stays by “gatikārakopapadāt kṛt” (Pā. sū. 6-2-139). The yaṇ stands in place of the udātta ī, and it is preceded by a consonant. Yet by “udāttayaṇo halpūrvāt” (Pā. sū. 6-1-174) the jas ending is not udātta, because into this sūtra “asarvanāmasthānam” is carried on from “añceś chandasy asarvanāmasthānam” (Pā. sū. 6-1-170). So the sense of udāttayaṇo halpūrvāt is: after a yaṇ that stands in place of an udātta and is preceded by a consonant, a suffix called nadī and a case-ending that is not sarvanāmasthāna are udātta. The present jas is a sarvanāmasthāna by “suḍ anapuṃsakasya” (Pā. sū. 1-1-43) (the five suffixes su, au, jas, am, auṭ, not after a neuter word, are called sarvanāmasthāna); it is not asarvanāmasthāna. So the udātta accent does not come for the jas by udāttayaṇaḥ. By “udāttasvaritayor yaṇaḥ svarito ’nudāttasya” (after a yaṇ standing in place of an udātta or svarita, an unaccented vowel becomes svarita), the jas, unaccented by anudāttau suppitau, gets only the svarita tone.

Page 707 — Rik 9: grammar (end)

॥९॥

(An ornament closes Sūkta 16 at the foot of p. 707; no colophon is printed.)

॥ ಹದಿನೇಳನೆಯ ಸೂಕ್ತವು ॥ — Sūkta 17 — “indrāvaruṇayor aham” (“The Seventeenth Sūkta”)

(Printed p. 708 opens with the title ಹದಿನೇಳನೆಯ ಸೂಕ್ತವು (“The Seventeenth Sūkta”) and an ornament.)

Page 708 — Sūkta 17: introduction, heading, Rik 1 Saṃhitā

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥ (introductory note)

(वनुक्रम्यते is as printed, probably for ऽनुक्रम्यते.)

> इन्द्रावरुणयोरित्यादिकं नवर्चं षष्ठं सूक्तम् । अत एव नवशब्दानुवृत्त्यावनुक्रम्यते । इन्द्रावरुणयोरैन्द्रावरुणं युवाकु पादनिचृताविति । अत्र देवता विस्पष्टा । ऋषिच्छन्दसी तु पूर्ववदनुवर्तेते । अयं तु विशेषः । युवाकु हीत्यादिके द्वे ऋचौ पादनिचृन्नामकच्छन्दोयुक्ते ॥ विनियोगस्तु स्मार्तो लैङ्गिको वा कश्चिदवगन्तव्यः ॥
>
> indrāvaruṇayorityādikaṃ navarcaṃ ṣaṣṭhaṃ sūktam | ata eva navaśabdānuvṛttyāvanukramyate | indrāvaruṇayoraindrāvaruṇaṃ yuvāku pādanicṛtāviti | atra devatā vispaṣṭā | ṛṣicchandasī tu pūrvavadanuvartete | ayaṃ tu viśeṣaḥ | yuvāku hītyādike dve ṛcau pādanicṛnnāmakacchandoyukte || viniyogastu smārto laiṅgiko vā kaścidavagantavyaḥ ||

Translation: “The sūkta beginning indrāvaruṇayoḥ, of nine ṛks, is the sixth. So, with the word ‘nine’ carried on, the Anukramaṇī states: ‘indrāvaruṇayoḥ, to Indra and Varuṇa; yuvāku, two in pādanicṛt’. Here the deity is plain; the ṛṣi and the metre continue as before. This, however, is special: the two ṛks beginning yuvāku hi have the metre called pādanicṛt. The application is to be understood as some smārta or laiṅgika one.”

Anuvāda (Kannada rendering): Indrāvaruṇayoḥ is the sixth sūkta in this fourth anuvāka. It has nine ṛks. In the Anukramaṇikā the 4th and 5th ṛks are said to be ṛks of the metre called pādanicṛt. Indra and Varuṇa are the deities. The ṛṣi and metre are as in the previous sūkta; but the two ṛks yuvāku hi śacīnām and indraḥ sahasradāvnām alone have the metre named pādanicṛt. The application may be learnt by looking at the smārta usage.

॥ ॐ ॥

॥ Sūkta — 17 ॥ ॥ Maṇḍala — 1 ॥ Anuvāka — 4 ॥ Sūkta — 17 ॥ ॥ Aṣṭaka — 1 ॥ Adhyāya — 1 ॥ Varga — 32, 33 ॥ ॥ Number of ṛks in the sūkta: 1–9 ॥ ॥ Ṛṣiḥ — Medhātithiḥ Kāṇvaḥ ॥ ॥ Devatā — Indrāvaruṇau ॥ ॥ Chandaḥ — 1–3, 6–9, Gāyatrī; 4, 5, Pādanicṛt ॥

Sūkta 17, Rik 1

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

इन्द्रा॒वरु॑णयो॒रहं॒ स॒म्राजो॒रव॒ आ वृ॑णे । ता नो॑ मृळात ई॒दृशे॑ ॥१॥

indrāváruṇayor aháṃ samrā́jor áva ā́ vṛṇe | tā́ no mṛḷāta īdṛ́śe ||1||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

इन्द्रावरुणयोः । अहम् । सम्ऽराजोः । अवः । आ । वृणे ॥ ता । नः । मृळातः । ईदृशे ॥१॥

indrāvaruṇayoḥ | aham | sam 'rājoḥ | avaḥ | ā | vṛṇe || tā | naḥ | mṛḷātaḥ | īdṛśe ||1||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

(समो before मोऽनुस्वारः is as read; the first letter may be स or a misprint.)

अहमनुष्ठाता सम्राजोः समीचीनराज्योपेतयोः सम्यग्दीप्यमानयोर्वेन्द्रावरुणयोर्देवयोः संबन्ध्यवो रक्षणमा वृणे । सर्वतः प्रार्थये । ता तौ देवावीदृशे एवंविधेऽस्मदीयवरणे निमित्तभूते सति मृळातः । अस्मान्सुखयतः ॥ इन्द्रशब्दो रन्प्रत्ययान्तः । वरुणशब्द उनन्प्रत्ययान्तः । उभौ नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तौ । समासे देवताद्वन्द्वे चेति पूर्वपदस्यानङादेशः । उभे युगपदित्यनुवृत्तौ देवताद्वन्द्वे चेति युगपदुभयपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् । सम्राजोः । राजृ दीप्तौ । सत्सूद्विषेत्यादिना क्विप् । समो[?] मोऽनुस्वारः । पा. ८-३-२३ । इत्यनुस्वारे प्राप्ते मो राजि समः क्वौ । पा. ८-३-२५ । इति मकारादेशः । कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् । कर्तृकर्मणोः कृति । पा. २-३-६५ । इति कर्तरि षष्ठी । अवः । अव रक्षणादिषु । भावेऽसुन् । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । ता । सुपां सुलुगित्यादिना द्विवचनस्य डादेशः । टिलोपे विभक्तेरुदात्तनिवृत्तिस्वरः । मृळातः । मृड सुखने । प्रार्थनायां लिङर्थे लेट् । द्विवचनं तस् । लेटोऽडाटावित्याडागमः । तुदादिभ्यः शः । ङित्त्वाल्लघूपधगुणाभावः । ईदृशे । त्यदादिषु दृशोऽनालोचने कञ्च । पा. ३-२-६० । इतीदंशब्द उपपदे दृशेः कञ् । उपपदसमास इदंकिमोरीश्की । पा. ६-३-९० । इतीदम ईश् । शित्त्वात्सर्वादेशः । कञः कित्त्वाद्गुणाभावः । ञित्त्वादुत्तरपदस्याद्युदात्तत्वम् । उपपदसमासे कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वेन तदेव शिष्यते ॥

ahamanuṣṭhātā samrājoḥ samīcīnarājyopetayoḥ samyagdīpyamānayorvendrāvaruṇayordevayoḥ saṃbandhyavo rakṣaṇamā vṛṇe | sarvataḥ prārthaye | tā tau devāvīdṛśe evaṃvidhe 'smadīyavaraṇe nimittabhūte sati mṛḷātaḥ | asmānsukhayataḥ || indraśabdo ranpratyayāntaḥ | varuṇaśabda unanpratyayāntaḥ | ubhau nittvādādyudāttau | samāse devatādvandve ceti pūrvapadasyānaṅādeśaḥ | ubhe yugapadityanuvṛttau devatādvandve ceti yugapadubhayapadaprakṛtisvaratvam | samrājoḥ | rājṛ dīptau | satsūdviṣetyādinā kvip | samo[?] mo 'nusvāraḥ | pā. 8-3-23 | ityanusvāre prāpte mo rāji samaḥ kvau | pā. 8-3-25 | iti makārādeśaḥ | kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvam | kartṛkarmaṇoḥ kṛti | pā. 2-3-65 | iti kartari ṣaṣṭhī | avaḥ | ava rakṣaṇādiṣu | bhāve 'sun | nittvādādyudāttaḥ | tā | supāṃ sulugityādinā dvivacanasya ḍādeśaḥ | ṭilope vibhakterudāttanivṛttisvaraḥ | mṛḷātaḥ | mṛḍa sukhane | prārthanāyāṃ liṅarthe leṭ | dvivacanaṃ tas | leṭo 'ḍāṭāvityāḍāgamaḥ | tudādibhyaḥ śaḥ | ṅittvāllaghūpadhaguṇābhāvaḥ | īdṛśe | tyadādiṣu dṛśo 'nālocane kañca | pā. 3-2-60 | itīdaṃśabda upapade dṛśeḥ kañ | upapadasamāsa idaṃkimorīśkī | pā. 6-3-90 | itīdama īś | śittvātsarvādeśaḥ | kañaḥ kittvādguṇābhāvaḥ | ñittvāduttarapadasyādyudāttatvam | upapadasamāse kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvena tadeva śiṣyate ||

Translation: "I, the performer, ā vṛṇe, pray from all sides for the avaḥ, protection, belonging to the two gods Indra and Varuṇa, samrājau, possessed of excellent sovereignty, or shining well. May those two gods, īdṛśe, on such an occasion, our choosing [them] being the cause, mṛḷātaḥ, make us happy." (Grammatical tail: indra ends in ran, varuṇa in unan, both initial udātta as nit; in the compound ānaṅ for the first member by devatādvandve ca, and, with ubhe yugapat carried on, both members keep their own accent at once by devatādvandve ca; samrājoḥ, rājṛ dīptau, kvip by satsūdviṣa..., the anusvāra due by Pā. 8-3-23 replaced by m by Pā. 8-3-25, the accent of the kṛt final member, the genitive of agent by Pā. 2-3-65; avaḥ, ava rakṣaṇādiṣu, asun in the sense of the action, initial udātta as nit; tā, ḍā for the dual ending by supāṃ suluk..., with the loss of the ṭi the case-ending takes the accent of the lost udātta; mṛḷātaḥ, mṛḍa sukhane, leṭ in the sense of liṅ, of a prayer, dual tas, the augment āṭ by leṭo 'ḍāṭau, śa by tudādibhyaḥ śaḥ, no guṇa of the light penultimate as it is ṅit; īdṛśe, kañ after dṛś with idam as upapada by Pā. 3-2-60, īś for idam in the upapada compound by Pā. 6-3-90, replacing the whole as it is śit, no guṇa as kañ is kit, initial udātta of the final member as ñit, and that alone stays by the accent of the kṛt final member.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

अहम् (aham) — I (the performer of the sacrifice) | सम्राजोः (samrājoḥ) — who shine well, or who have good sovereignty | इन्द्रावरुणयोः (indrāvaruṇayoḥ) — of Indra and Varuṇa | अवः (avaḥ) — protection | आ वृणे (ā vṛṇe) — I pray for (on all sides) | ता (tā) — those two deities | ईदृशे (īdṛśe) — in this matter of our prayer | नः (naḥ) — to us | मृळातः (mṛḷātaḥ) — may they give happiness.

Page 710 — Rik 1: overall sense, English, Special Topics

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

I, who have begun the sacrifice, with the aim that my sacrifice be completed in all its parts, take refuge with Indra and Varuṇa, who are very radiant and possessed of sovereignty. May they fulfil this prayer of mine and give me joy.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> I seek the protection of the sovereign rulers Indra and Varuna; may they both favour us accordingly.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

The deities of this sūkta are the two, Indra and Varuṇa. In the Ṛgveda, the calling of two deities together and their praise together is especially to be seen. Mantras setting forth such pairs of deities (devatādvandvas) are called saṃstavika mantras. The chief deities in them are fourteen: Agni, Soma, Varuṇa, Pūṣan, Bṛhaspati, Brahmaṇaspati, Parvata, Kutsa, Viṣṇu, Vāyu, Mitra, Rudra, Vāta and Parjanya. For example:

इन्द्राग्नी (indra + agni):

> इन्द्राग्नी रोचना दिवः (Ṛ. saṃ. 3-12-9)

indrāgnī rocanā divaḥ (Ṛ. saṃ. 3-12-9)

(“Indra and Agni, the bright realms of heaven”: mine and tentative.)

इन्द्रासोमा (indra + soma):

इन्द्रासोमा समघशंसम् (Ṛ. saṃ. 7-104-2)

indrāsomā samaghaśaṃsam (Ṛ. saṃ. 7-104-2)

(“Indra and Soma, [burn] the one who speaks evil”: mine and tentative.)

इन्द्रावरुणा (indra + varuṇa):

इन्द्रावरुणा युवमध्वराय नः (Ṛ. saṃ. 7-82-1)

indrāvaruṇā yuvamadhvarāya naḥ (Ṛ. saṃ. 7-82-1)

(“Indra and Varuṇa, you two, for our sacrifice”: mine and tentative.)

इन्द्रापूषणा (indra + pūṣan):

इन्द्रपूषणा वयम् (Ṛ. saṃ. 6-57-1)

indrapūṣaṇā vayam (Ṛ. saṃ. 6-57-1)

(“Indra and Pūṣan, we …”: mine and tentative. इन्द्रपूषणा, without the long ā, is as printed; the heading has इन्द्रापूषणा.)

इन्द्राबृहस्पती (indra + bṛhaspati):

इदं वामास्ये हविः प्रियमिन्द्राबृहस्पती (Ṛ. saṃ. 4-49-1)

idaṃ vāmāsye haviḥ priyamindrābṛhaspatī (Ṛ. saṃ. 4-49-1)

(“This dear offering in your mouth, Indra and Bṛhaspati”: mine and tentative.)

इन्द्राब्रह्मणस्पती (indra + brahmaṇaspati):

अच्छेन्द्राब्रह्मणस्पती हविर्नः (Ṛ. saṃ. 2-24-12)

acchendrābrahmaṇaspatī havirnaḥ (Ṛ. saṃ. 2-24-12)

(“Towards our offering, Indra and Brahmaṇaspati”: mine and tentative.)

इन्द्रापर्वता (indra + parvata):

इन्द्रापर्वता बृहता रथेन (Ṛ. saṃ. 3-53-1)

indrāparvatā bṛhatā rathena (Ṛ. saṃ. 3-53-1)

(“Indra and Parvata, with your great chariot”: mine and tentative.)

इन्द्राकुत्सा (indra + kutsa):

इन्द्राकुत्सा वहमाना रथेन (Ṛ. saṃ. 5-31-9)

indrākutsā vahamānā rathena (Ṛ. saṃ. 5-31-9)

("Indra and Kutsa, riding on the chariot": mine and tentative.)

इन्द्राविष्णू (indra + viṣṇu):

इन्द्राविष्णू दृंहिताः शम्बरस्य (Ṛ. saṃ. 7-99-5)

indrāviṣṇū dṛṃhitāḥ śambarasya (Ṛ. saṃ. 7-99-5)

("Indra and Viṣṇu, the strongholds of Śambara": mine and tentative.)

इन्द्रवायू (indra + vāyu):

इन्द्रवायू इमे सुताः (Ṛ. saṃ. 1-2-4)

indravāyū ime sutāḥ (Ṛ. saṃ. 1-2-4)

("Indra and Vāyu, these [soma juices] are pressed": mine and tentative.)

मित्रावरुणा (mitra + varuṇa):

आ नो मित्रावरुणा (Ṛ. saṃ. 3-62-16)

ā no mitrāvaruṇā (Ṛ. saṃ. 3-62-16)

("[Come] to us, Mitra and Varuṇa": mine and tentative.)

सोमापूषणा (soma + pūṣan):

सोमापूषणा जनना रयीणाम् (Ṛ. saṃ. 2-40-1)

somāpūṣaṇā jananā rayīṇām (Ṛ. saṃ. 2-40-1)

("Soma and Pūṣan, begetters of riches": mine and tentative.)

सोमारुद्रा (soma + rudra):

सोमारुद्रा युवमेतान्यस्मे (Ṛ. saṃ. 6-74-3)

somārudrā yuvametānyasme (Ṛ. saṃ. 6-74-3)

("Soma and Rudra, you two, these [remedies] for us": mine and tentative.)

वातापर्जन्या (vāta + parjanya):

धर्तारो दिव ऋभवः सुहस्ता वातापर्जन्या महिषस्य तन्यतोः (Ṛ. saṃ. 10-66-10)

dhartāro diva ṛbhavaḥ suhastā vātāparjanyā mahiṣasya tanyatoḥ (Ṛ. saṃ. 10-66-10)

("The upholders of heaven, the skilful-handed Ṛbhus, Vāta and Parjanya of the roaring buffalo [thunder]": mine and tentative.)

अग्नीषोमौ (agni + soma):

अग्नीषोमाविमं सु मे (Ṛ. saṃ. 1-93-1)

agnīṣomāvimaṃ su me (Ṛ. saṃ. 1-93-1)

("Agni and Soma, [hear] well this [call] of mine": mine and tentative.)

अग्नीपर्जन्या (agni + parjanya):

अग्नीपर्जन्याववतं धियं मे (Ṛ. saṃ. 6-52-16)

agnīparjanyāvavataṃ dhiyaṃ me (Ṛ. saṃ. 6-52-16)

("Agni and Parjanya, favour my prayer": mine and tentative.)

अग्राविष्णू (agni + viṣṇu):

अग्राविष्णू सजोषसा (Tai. saṃ. 4-7-1)

agnāviṣṇū sajoṣasā (Tai. saṃ. 4-7-1)

("Agni and Viṣṇu, of one accord": mine and tentative.)

Such saṃstava mantras are many in the Ṛgveda. There are also many ṛks in which, in naming a pair of deities, the dual is not used, but the singular is used for each separately. For example:

अग्न इन्द्रश्च दाशुषे दुरोणे (Ṛ. saṃ. 3-25-4)

agna indraśca dāśuṣe duroṇe (Ṛ. saṃ. 3-25-4)

("Agni, and Indra, in the house of the worshipper": mine and tentative.)

त्वं नो अग्ने वरुणस्य विद्वान् (Ṛ. saṃ. 4-1-4)

tvaṃ no agne varuṇasya vidvān (Ṛ. saṃ. 4-1-4)

("You, Agni, knowing Varuṇa, [for] us": mine and tentative.)

मरुतः पिबत ऋतुना (Ṛ. saṃ. 1-15-2)

marutaḥ pibata ṛtunā (Ṛ. saṃ. 1-15-2)

("Maruts, drink with the season": mine and tentative.)

and so on. In these ṛks, though the pairs of deities Agni + Indra, Agni + Varuṇa and the Maruts + Ṛtu are named, the dual is not used; the deities are named each separately, in the singular.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 712–714, noted briefly)

इन्द्रावरुणयोः (indrāvaruṇayoḥ): the dvandva compound indraś ca varuṇaś ca indrāvaruṇau, tayoḥ. After the root idi paramaiśvarye the suffix ran by "ṛjrendrāgra…" (Uṇ. sū. 2-186); the root being idit, the augment num by "idito num dhātoḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-1-58): indra. By “kॄvṝdāribhya unan” (Uṇ. sū. “3-333” [as read; ?]) the suffix unan comes after kॄ vikṣepe, vṛñ varaṇe and dṝ vidāraṇe; so after the root vṛñ, unan: vṛ + una; guṇa by “sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ” (Pā. sū. 7-3-84), followed by r by “uraṇ raparaḥ” (Pā. sū. 1-1-51): varuna; by “aṭkupvāṅnumvyavāye ’pi” (Pā. sū. 8-4-2) ṇ for n: varuṇa. Both words end in a suffix with n as it; so both are initial udātta by “ñnityādir nityam” (Pā. sū. 6-1-197). In their dvandva, by “devatādvandve ca” (Pā. sū. 6-3-26), in a dvandva of two words naming deities, the first member takes the substitute ānaṅ when the second follows; being ṅit, it replaces the final by “ṅic ca” (Pā. sū. 1-1-53); the n is dropped by “nalopaḥ prātipadikāntasya” (Pā. sū. 8-2-7). In “devatādvandve ca” (Pā. sū. 6-2-141) the two words ubhe and yugapat are carried on from “ubhe vanaspatyādiṣu yugapat” (Pā. sū. 6-2-140); so the sūtra means that in a dvandva of words naming deities, the first and second members both keep their own accent at the same time; so both members keep their accent.

सम्राजोः (samrājoḥ): the root rājṛ dīptau. By “satsūdviṣa…janirājām upasarge ’pi kvip” (Pā. sū. 3-2-61) the suffix kvip. With sam + rāj, the anusvāra is due for the m of sam by “mo ’nusvāraḥ” (Pā. sū. 8-3-23) (before a consonant the final m of a word becomes anusvāra). But by “mo rāji samaḥ kvau” (Pā. sū. 8-3-25), when the root rāj ending in kvip follows, the m of sam stays m: samrāj.

अवः (avaḥ): the root ava rakṣaṇādau. By “sarvadhātubhyo ’sun” (Uṇ. sū. “4-628” [?]) the suffix asun in the sense of the action; initial udātta by the nit accent. So avaḥ is a kṛdanta; since there is connection with this kṛdanta, in indrāvaruṇayoḥ the genitive comes by “kartṛkarmaṇoḥ kṛti” (Pā. sū. 2-3-65) (the genitive comes after a word that is the agent or object in the action denoted by the root that is the base of a kṛt suffix). For the kṛt is the suffix asun, its base is the root av, its sense is the action, an activity leading to warding off the unwanted and gaining the wanted; Indra and Varuṇa are the substrate of that activity, so they are the agents in the action meant by the root av; after the word indrāvaruṇa, naming the agents, the genitive comes by the sūtra just stated. On the view “kārakāṇāṃ kriyayaivānvayaḥ” (the kārakas are construed with the action alone), in samrājoḥ too the genitive comes in the same way.

ता (tā): after the word tad the nominative dual au: tad + au. By “supāṃ suluk…” (Pā. sū. 7-1-39) the substitute ḍā for au; by force of its being marked with ḍ, though it is not called bha, the ṭi ad drops. By “anudāttasya ca yatrodāttalopaḥ” (Pā. sū. 6-1-161), the accent of the lost udātta, the ending ā is udātta.

मृळातः (mṛḷātaḥ): the root mṛḍa sukhane. After the root mṛḍ, by “liṅarthe leṭ” (Pā. sū. 3-4-7), leṭ comes in the sense of liṅ, of a prayer; in its place the 3rd dual tas: mṛḍ + tas. By “leṭo ’ḍāṭau” (Pā. sū. 3-4-94) the augment āṭ; being ṭit, it comes as the first part by “ādyantau ṭakitau” (paribhāṣā, Pā. sū. 1-1-46). Mṛḍ + ātas: the vikaraṇa suffix śa by “tudādibhyaḥ śaḥ” (Pā. sū. 3-1-77). It is a sārvadhātuka without p, so by “sārvadhātukam apit” (Pā. sū. 1-2-4) it is ṅit; so guṇa is barred by “kṅiti ca” (Pā. sū. 1-1-5), and the laghūpadha-guṇa by “pugantalaghūpadhasya ca” (Pā. sū. 7-3-86) does not come. [After] the lengthening of like vowels, since by “antādivac ca” (Pā. sū. 6-1-85) the result counts as the end of what precedes, the śa vikaraṇa can count as following, so guṇa does not come. Mṛḍātaḥ: by "ajmadhyasthaḍakārasya ḷakāraṃ bahvṛcā jaguḥ" (the Ṛgvedins pronounce ḍ between vowels as ḷ), ḷ for ḍ.

ईदृशे (īdṛśe): idam iva paśyati iti īdṛśaḥ, tasmin īdṛśe. By "tyadādiṣu dṛśo 'nālocane kañ ca" (Pā. sū. 3-2-60), when words of the tyad-ādi group are the upapada, the suffix kañ comes after the root dṛś not in the sense of seeing; by the ca, optionally kvin too; so after the root dṛś with the word idam as upapada, the suffix kañ. By "upapadam atiṅ" (Pā. sū. 2-2-19) compounding; the sup inside the compound takes luk: idam + dṛśa. By "idaṃkimor īśkī" (Pā. sū. 6-3-90), when dṛk, dṛśa or vatu follow, īś is substituted for idam and kī for kim; so īś for idam; being śit, by "anekālśit sarvasya" (Pā. sū.

Page 714 (upper) — Rik 1: grammar (end)

1-1-55) it replaces the whole: īdṛśa; in the locative singular īdṛśe. The suffix kañ being kit, laghūpadha-guṇa does not come in dṛśa. The suffix is ñit; so by "ñnityādir nityam" dṛśa is initial udātta. After compounding, the accent of the kṛt final member coming by "gatikārakopapadāt kṛt" (Pā. sū. 6-2-139), dṛśa stays initial udātta. So īdṛśe is udātta in the middle.

॥१॥

---

Page 714 (lower) — Sūkta 17, Rik 2

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. The Saṃhitā prints स्थोवसे without the avagraha.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

गन्तार॒ा हि स्थोव॑से॒ हव॑ं विप्र॑स्य॒ माव॑तः । ध॒र्तार॒ा चर्षणी॒नाम् ॥२॥

gántārā hí sthóvase hávaṃ víprasya mā́vataḥ | dhartārā carṣaṇīnā́m ||2||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

गन्तारा । हि । स्थः । अवसे । हवम् । विप्रस्य । माऽवतः ॥ धर्तारा । चर्षणीनाम् ॥२॥

gantārā | hi | sthaḥ | avase | havam | viprasya | mā 'vataḥ || dhartārā | carṣaṇīnām || 2||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

(In लट्[?] the second letter is not clear (ఙ or ఞ); the grammar page has లఙ్.)

हे इन्द्रावरुणौ अवसेऽवितुमनुष्ठातारं रक्षितुं मावतो मद्विधस्य विप्रस्य ब्राह्मणस्यर्त्विजो हवमाह्वानं गन्तारौ स्थो हि । प्राप्तिशीलौ भवथः खलु । कीदृशौ । चर्षणीनां मनुष्याणां धर्तारौ योगक्षेमसंपादनेन धारयितारौ ॥ गन्तारा । गमेस्ताच्छील्ये तृन् । द्विवचनस्य सुपां सुलुगित्यादिनाकारादेशः । ऋदृशोऽङि गुणः । पा. ७-४-१६ । असृन्नित्यादिनोपधादीर्घत्वम् । तृनो नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वम् । स्थः । अस भुवि । लट्[?] मध्यमपुरुषद्विवचनं थस् । अदिप्रभृतिभ्यः शप इति शपो लुक् । हि चेति निघातप्रतिषेधः । अवसे । अव

रक्षणे । तुमर्थे सेसेनित्यसेन् । पा. ३-४-९ । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । हवम् । ह्वेञो बहुलं छन्दसीत्यनैमित्तिके संप्रसारणे परपूर्वत्वे च ऋदोरबित्यप् । गुणावादेशौ । अपः पित्त्वादनुदात्तत्वम् । धातुस्वर एव । विप्रस्य । डुवप् बीजतन्तुसंताने । अस्य ऋज्रेन्द्रेत्यादिना रन् निपातितः । नित्त्वा-

he indrāvaruṇau avase 'vitumanuṣṭhātāraṃ rakṣituṃ māvato madvidhasya viprasya brāhmaṇasyartvijo havamāhvānaṃ gantārau stho hi | prāptiśīlau bhavathaḥ khalu | kīdṛśau | carṣaṇīnāṃ manuṣyāṇāṃ dhartārau yogakṣemasaṃpādanena dhārayitārau || gantārā | gamestācchīlye tṛn | dvivacanasya supāṃ sulugityādinākārādeśaḥ | ṛdṛśo 'ṅi guṇaḥ | pā. 7-4-16 | aptṛnnityādinopadhādīrghatvam | tṛno nittvādādyudāttatvam | sthaḥ | asa bhuvi | laṭ[?] madhyamapuruṣadvivacanaṃ thas | adiprabhṛtibhyaḥ śapa iti śapo luk | hi ceti nighātapratiṣedhaḥ | avase | ava rakṣaṇe | tumarthe sesenityasen | pā. 3-4-9 | nittvādādyudāttaḥ | havam | hveño bahulaṃ chandasītyanaimittike saṃprasāraṇe parapūrvatve ca ṛdorabityap | guṇāvādeśau | apaḥ pittvādanudāttatvam | dhātusvara eva | viprasya | ḍuvap bījatantusaṃtāne | asya ṛjrendretyādinā ran nipātitaḥ | nittvā-

(मतुपः is as printed, for वतुपः.)

दाद्युदात्तः । मावतः । वतुप्प्रकरणे युष्मदस्मद्भ्यां छन्दसि सादृश्य उपसंख्यानम् । पा. ५-२-३९-१ । वतुप् । प्रत्ययोत्तरपदयोरस्मदो मपर्यन्तस्य मादेशः । पा. ७-२-९८ । आ सर्वनाम्नः । पा. ६-३-९१ । इति दकारस्याकारः । सवर्णदीर्घः । मतुपः पित्त्वादनुदात्तत्वम् । प्रातिपदिकान्तोदात्तत्वे स एव शिष्यते । धर्तारा । धृञ् धारणे । ण्वुल्तृचौ । पा. ३-१-१३३ । इति तृच् । एकाच उपदेश इतीट्प्रतिषेधः । गुणो रपरत्वम् । असृन्नित्यादिनोपधादीर्घः । सुपां सुलुगित्याकारः । तृचश्चित्त्वादन्तोदात्तत्वम् । चर्षणीनाम् । कृषेरादेश्च चः । उ. २-१०४ । इत्यनिप्रत्ययः । तत्संनियोगेन ककारस्य चकारः । प्रत्ययाद्युदात्तत्वं बाधित्वा छान्दसमन्तोदात्तत्वम् । अत एव नामन्यतरस्यामिति विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वम् । तत्र हि मतुपि यो ह्रस्वान्तस्तत उत्तरस्य नाम उदात्तत्वमिति व्याख्यातम् ॥

dādyudāttaḥ | māvataḥ | vatupprakaraṇe yuṣmadasmadbhyāṃ chandasi sādṛśya upasaṃkhyānam | pā. 5-2-39-1 | vatup | pratyayottarapadayorasmado maparyantasya mādeśaḥ | pā. 7-2-98 | ā sarvanāmnaḥ | pā. 6-3-91 | iti dakārasyākāraḥ | savarṇadīrghaḥ | matupaḥ pittvādanudāttatvam | prātipadikāntodāttatve sa eva śiṣyate | dhartārā | dhṛñ dhāraṇe | ṇvultṛcau | pā. 3-1-133 | iti tṛc | ekāca upadeśa itīṭpratiṣedhaḥ | guṇo raparatvam | aptṛnnityādinopadhādīrghaḥ | supāṃ sulugityākāraḥ | tṛcaścittvādantodāttatvam | carṣaṇīnām | kṛṣerādeśca caḥ | u. 2-104 | ityanipratyayaḥ | tatsaṃniyogena kakārasya cakāraḥ | pratyayādyudāttatvaṃ bādhitvā chāndasamantodāttatvam | ata eva nāmanyatarasyāmiti vibhakterudāttatvam | tatra hi matupi yo hrasvāntastata uttarasya nāma udāttatvamiti vyākhyātam ||

Translation: "O Indra and Varuṇa, avase, to protect the performer, you are indeed gantārau, given to coming, to the havam, the call, of a vipra, a brahmin priest, māvataḥ, like me. Of what kind? Dhartārau, upholders, of carṣaṇi, men, by bringing about their yogakṣema." (Grammatical tail: gantārā, tṛn after gam in the sense of habit, ā for the dual by supāṃ suluk…, guṇa by ṛdṛśo 'ṅi guṇaḥ (Pā. 7-4-16), the penultimate lengthened by aptṛn…, initial udātta as tṛn is nit; sthaḥ, asa bhuvi, 2nd dual thas, śap dropped by adiprabhṛtibhyaḥ, the lowering barred by hi ca; avase, ava rakṣaṇe, asen in the sense of the infinitive (Pā. 3-4-9), initial udātta as nit; havam, hveñ with saṃprasāraṇa by bahulaṃ chandasi, ap by ṛdor ap, guṇa and av, ap unaccented as pit, the root accent; viprasya, ḍuvap bījatantusaṃtāne, ran by ṛjrendra…, initial udātta as nit; māvataḥ, vatup in the sense of likeness after asmad in the Veda (Pā. 5-2-39-1), ma for the part up to m (Pā. 7-2-98), ā for the d (Pā. 6-3-91), lengthening, the suffix unaccented as pit, and the stem-final udātta stays; dhartārā, dhṛñ dhāraṇe, tṛc (Pā. 3-1-133), no iṭ by ekāca upadeśe…, guṇa with r, lengthening, ā for the dual, final udātta as tṛc is cit; carṣaṇīnām, ani by kṛṣer ādeś ca caḥ (Uṇ. 2-104), c for k with it; overriding the suffix-initial udātta, a Vedic final udātta; so the ending is udātta by nām anyatarasyām, explained there as "nām after what ends in a short vowel before matup".)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

(हे इन्द्रावरुणौ (he indrāvaruṇau) — O Indra and Varuṇa) | चर्षणीनाम् (carṣaṇīnām) — of men | धर्तारौ (dhartārau) — upholders (of their yogakṣema) (you are) | अवसे (avase) — for protection (of the sacrificer) | मावतः (māvataḥ) — of one like me | विप्रस्य (viprasya) — of the priest (a brahmin) | हवम् (havam) — the call (honouring it) | गन्तारा स्थः हि (gantārā sthaḥ hi) — you are indeed of the nature of coming.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Indra and Varuṇa, you look after the yogakṣema of men. So you are of the nature to come here without fail, honouring my call, for the protection of a priest like me.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> O Indra and Varuna, you are the protectors of the people and you go at the call of a minister like me to protect him.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Viprasya: though the word vipra means "wise", here the sense "one who is praising" fits well.

Māvataḥ:

> मद्विधस्य
>
> madvidhasya

("Of one like me.") Like me: that is, to the sacrificer who praises you as I do.

Dhartārā:

> धृञ् धारणे । योगक्षेमसंपादनेन धारयितारौ ।
>
> dhṛñ dhāraṇe | yogakṣemasaṃpādanena dhārayitārau |

("Dhṛñ, to hold; who uphold by bringing about yogakṣema.") Those who uphold the yogakṣema of men, that is, who care for it, who bear the burden of yogakṣema.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 716–718, noted briefly)

गन्तारा (gantārā): the root gaml̥ gatau. After it tṛn comes in the sense "tacchīla" by "tṛn" (Pā. sū. 3-2-135): gam + tṛ. By "naś cāpadāntasya jhali" (Pā. sū. 8-3-24) anusvāra for the m; by "anusvārasya yayi parasavarṇaḥ" (Pā. sū. 8-4-58), with the help of the paribhāṣā sthāne 'ntaratamaḥ, in place of the anusvāra comes n, homorganic with what follows and nasal: gantṛ. After it the nominative dual au; for it the substitute ā by "supāṃ suluk…" (Pā. sū. 7-1-39): gantṛ + ā. Guṇa by "ṛto ṅisarvanāmasthānayoḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-3-110), followed by r by uraṇ raparaḥ: gantar + ā. Here, by "ṛdṛśo 'ṅi guṇaḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-4-16), the guṇa enjoined for ṛ-final roots and dṛś comes when aṅ follows; here there is no suffix aṅ, so this sūtra does not apply. So it should be understood that the derivation of guṇa here from the sūtra ṛdṛśo 'ṅi [in the bhāṣya] is an oversight. By "aptṛntṛc…" (Pā. sū. 6-4-11) the penultimate is lengthened: gantāram [as printed]. The suffix tṛn is nit; so gantṛ is initial udātta by ñnityādir nityam.

स्थः (sthaḥ): the root asa bhuvi, of the ad-ādi class; after it laṭ, 2nd dual thas: as + thas; śap by "kartari śap" (Pā. sū. 3-1-68), luk for it by "adiprabhṛtibhyaḥ śapaḥ" (Pā. sū. 2-4-72); thas is ṅit by "sārvadhātukam apit" (Pā. sū. 1-2-4). By "śnasor allopaḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-4-111) the a of as drops; ru and visarga: sthaḥ. By "hi ca" (Pā. sū. 8-1-34) a tiṅanta joined with hi is not unaccented; since stha, joined with hi as hi stha, is barred from being wholly unaccented, it does not become wholly unaccented by tiṅṅatiṅaḥ.

अवसे (avase): the root ava rakṣaṇe. By the statement "tumarthe se-sen-ase-asen-kse-kasen-adhyai-adhyain-kadhyai-kadhyain-śadhyai-śadhyain-tavai-taveṅ-tavenaḥ" (Pā. sū. 3-4-9), with avyayakṛto bhāve, the infinitive sense is the action, and in it the suffixes named come; so the suffix asen: av + ase = avase, initial udātta by the nit accent.

हवम् (havam): the root hveñ spardhāyāṃ śabde ca; with "hvaḥ saṃprasāraṇam" (Pā. sū. 6-1-32) carried on, by "bahulaṃ chandasi" (Pā. sū. 6-1-34) saṃprasāraṇa without a condition, that is, u for v; the pūrvarūpa by "saṃprasāraṇāc ca" (Pā. sū. 6-1-108): hu. By "ṛdor ap" (Pā. sū. 3-3-57) (after roots ending in ṝ or u comes the suffix ap), after hu the suffix ap; guṇa, o for u, by "sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-3-84); by "eco 'ya-vāyāvaḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-1-78) the substitute av: hava. The suffix ap being pit, it is unaccented by anudāttau suppitau; so the root accent stays. After it the suffix am; the pūrvarūpa by "ami pūrvaḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-1-107): havam.

विप्रस्य (viprasya): the root ḍuvap bījasantāne. For it the suffix ran is given as a ready-made form by the sūtra "ṛjrendrāgravipra…" (Uṇ. sū. 2-186). Initial udātta by the nit accent.

मावतः (māvataḥ): "yattadetebhyaḥ parimāṇe vatup" (Pā. sū. 5-2-39). By the statement on this sūtra, "vatupprakaraṇe yuṣmadasmadbhyāṃ chandasi sādṛśya upasaṃkhyānam" (Pā. sū. 5-2-39-1) (in the Veda, vatup in the sense of likeness after yuṣmad and asmad is to be stated in the vatup section), vatup comes after asmad in the sense of likeness: asmad + vat. By "pratyayottarapadayoś ca" (Pā. sū. 7-2-98), when a suffix or a final member follows, the part of yuṣmad and asmad up to the m takes tva and ma; so ma for asm: ma + ad + vat. The pararūpa by "ato guṇe" (Pā. sū. 6-1-97): mad + vat. By "ā sarvanāmnaḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-3-91), when dṛk, dṛśa or vatu follow, the final of a pronoun takes ā: ma + ā + vat; lengthening of like vowels by "akaḥ savarṇe dīrghaḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-1-101): māvat. The suffix vatup being pit, it is unaccented by anudāttau suppitau. Mā is final udātta by the stem accent; that accent stays.

धर्तारा (dhartārā): the root dhṛñ dhāraṇe; tṛc by "ṇvultṛcau" (Pā. sū. 3-1-133). The root dhṛ is anudātta in the upadeśa and has one vowel; so by "ekāca upadeśe 'nudāttāt" (Pā. sū. 7-2-10) the augment iṭ due by ārdhadhātukasyeḍ valādeḥ is barred for the tṛ. With tṛc as the condition, guṇa for dhṛ by sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ, followed by r: dhartṛ. After it the suffix au; for it the substitute ā by "supāṃ suluk…" (Pā. sū. 7-1-39); in dhartṛ guṇa by ṛto ṅisarvanāmasthānayoḥ, followed by r, and the penultimate lengthened by the sūtra aptṛntṛc…: dhartārā. The suffix tṛc being cit, dhartṛ is final udātta by citaḥ.

चर्षणीनाम् (carṣaṇīnām): the root kṛṣa vilekhane. After it, by "kṛṣer ādeś ca caḥ" (Uṇ. sū. "2-26" [?]; the bhāṣya gives 2-104), the suffix ani comes after the root kṛṣ, and c for the first letter k; so with the suffix ani and c for k: cṛṣ + ani; by "puganta-laghūpadhasya ca" (Pā. sū. 7-3-86) the laghūpadha-guṇa, followed by r: carṣani; by "aṭkupvāṅnumvyavāye 'pi" (Pā. sū. 8-4-2) ṇ for n: carṣaṇi. After it the genitive plural ām: carṣaṇi + ām. By "hrasvanadyāpo nuṭ" (Pā. sū. 7-1-54) the augment nuṭ; by "nāmi" (Pā. sū. 6-4-3), before nām, a vowel-final aṅga is lengthened: carṣaṇīnām. Though the suffix-initial udātta is due for ani by ādyudāttaś ca, a Vedic final udātta comes. Because it is final udātta, the ending is udātta by "nām anyatarasyām" (Pā. sū. "6-1-77" [as printed, for 6-1-177]). Carṣaṇī, though final udātta, does not end in a short vowel; so how does the udātta come? The sense of nām anyatarasyām is: after what is short-final and final udātta when the suffix matup follows, the nām is optionally udātta. If matup is placed after carṣaṇi, it is short-final and final udātta; so, though it is now long-final, the ending may be udātta.

Page 718 (upper) — Rik 2: grammar (end)

॥२॥

---

Page 718 (lower) — Sūkta 17, Rik 3

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

अनुकामं तर्पयेथामिन्द्रावरुण राय आ । [accent ?] ता वां नेदिष्ठमीमहे ॥३॥

anukāmáṃ tarpayethām índrāvaruṇa rāyá ā | [accent ?] tā vāṃ nédiṣṭham īmahe || 3||

(Bars under अ, नु, का, था and रा; strokes over त and द्रा. The bar under अ is faint.)

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

अनुऽकामम् । तर्पयेथाम् । इन्द्रावरुणा । रायः । आ ॥ ता । वाम् । नेदिष्ठम् । ईमहे ॥३॥

anu 'kāmam | tarpayethām | indrāvaruṇā | rāyaḥ | ā || tā | vām | nediṣṭham | īmahe ||3||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

इन्द्रावरुणा हे इन्द्रावरुणौ अनुकाममस्मदीयाभिलाषमनु रायो धनस्य प्रदानेन तर्पयेथाम् । सर्वतोऽस्मांस्तृप्तान्कुरुतम् । वयं यदा यदा धनं कामयामहे तदा तदा प्रयच्छतमित्यर्थः । ता वां तादृशौ युवां नेदिष्ठ-indrāvaruṇā he indrāvaruṇau anukāmamasmadīyābhilāṣamanu rāyo dhanasya pradānena tarpayethām | sarvato 'smāṃstṛptānkurutam | vayaṃ yadā yadā dhanaṃ kāmayāmahe tadā tadā prayacchatamityarthaḥ | tā vāṃ tādṛśau yuvāṃ nediṣṭha-

Page 719 — Rik 3: bhāṣya (end), word-meanings, overall sense, English

मतिशयेन सामीप्यं यथा भवति तथा ईमहे । याचामहे कालविलम्बमन्तरेण धनं दातव्यमित्यर्थः । सप्तदशसु याच्ञाकर्मस्वीमह इति पठितम् ॥ अनुकामम् । कामस्य पश्चादनुकामम् । अथवा कामे कामेऽनुकामम् । अनुरिह पश्चादर्थे । अथवा वीप्सालक्षणे यथार्थे । योग्यता वीप्सा पदार्थानतिवृत्तिः सादृश्यं चेति चत्वारो हि यथार्था गृहीताः । अव्ययं विभक्तीत्यादिना । पा. २-१-६ । अव्ययीभावसमासः । अव्ययीभावश्च । पा. १-१-४१ । इत्यव्ययसंज्ञायामव्ययादाप्सुपः । पा. २-४-८२ । इति प्राप्तस्य लुकोऽपवादो नाव्ययीभावादतोऽम्त्वपञ्चम्याः । पा. २-४-८३ । इति विभक्तेरमादेशः । समासस्येत्यन्तोदात्तत्वम् । तर्पयेथाम् । तृपेर्ण्यन्ताल्लोटो णिचश्च । पा. १-३-७४ । इत्यात्मनेपदम् । मध्यमद्विवचनमाथाम् । टेरेत्वे आमेतः । पा. ३-४-९० । इत्यामादेशः । शपि सत्यतो येयः । पा. ७-२-८० । इत्याकारस्येयादेशः । आद्गुणो यलोपश्च । इन्द्रावरुणा । सुपां सुलुगिति द्विवचनस्याकारः । आमन्त्रिताद्युदात्तत्वम् । संहितायामाकारस्य ह्रस्वत्वम् । रायः । ऊडिदमित्यादिना विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वम् । ता । सुपां सुलुगिति विभक्तेराकारः । पदात्परत्वाद्युष्मदस्मदित्यस्य वामादेशोऽनुदात्तः । नेदिष्ठम् । अतिशयेनान्तिकम् । अतिशायन इष्ठन् । अन्तिकबाढयोर्नेदसाधौ । पा. ५-३-६३ । इति नेदादेशः । यस्येति लोपः । इष्ठनो नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वम् । ईमहे । ईङ् गतौ । ङित्त्वादात्मनेपदम् । बहुलं छन्दसीति श्यनो लुक् । निघातः ॥

matiśayena sāmīpyaṃ yathā bhavati tathā īmahe | yācāmahe kālavilambamantareṇa dhanaṃ dātavyamityarthaḥ | saptadaśasu yācñākarmasvīmaha iti paṭhitam || anukāmam | kāmasya paścādanukāmam | athavā kāme kāme 'nukāmam | anuriha paścādarthe | athavā vīpsālakṣaṇe yathārthe | yogyatā vīpsā padārthānativṛttiḥ sādṛśyaṃ ceti catvāro hi yathārthā gṛhītāḥ | avyayaṃ vibhaktītyādinā | pā. 2-1-6 | avyayībhāvasamāsaḥ | avyayībhāvaśca | pā. 1-1-41 | ityavyayasaṃjñāyāmavyayādāpsupaḥ | pā. 2-4-82 | iti prāptasya luko 'pavādo nāvyayībhāvādato 'mtvapañcamyāḥ | pā. 2-4-83 | iti vibhakteramādeśaḥ | samāsasyetyantodāttatvam | tarpayethām | tṛperṇyantālloṭo ṇicaśca | pā. 1-3-74 | ityātmanepadam | madhyamadvivacanamāthām | ṭeretve āmetaḥ | pā. 3-4-90 | ityāmādeśaḥ | śapi satyato yeyaḥ | pā. 7-2-80 | ityākārasyeyādeśaḥ | ādguṇo yalopaśca | indrāvaruṇā | supāṃ sulugiti dvivacanasyākāraḥ | āmantritādyudāttatvam | saṃhitāyāmākārasya hrasvatvam | rāyaḥ | ūḍidamityādinā vibhakterudāttatvam | tā | supāṃ sulugiti vibhakterākāraḥ |

padātparatvādyuṣmadasmadityasya vāmādeśo 'nudāttaḥ | nediṣṭham | atiśayenāntikam | atiśāyana iṣṭhan | antikabāḍhayornedasādhau | pā. 5-3-63 | iti nedādeśaḥ | yasyeti lopaḥ | iṣṭhano nittvādādyudāttatvam | īmahe | īṅ gatau | ṅittvādātmanepadam | bahulaṃ chandasīti śyano luk | nighātaḥ ||

Translation: "O Indra and Varuṇa, anukāmam, according to our wish, tarpayethām, satisfy us by the gift of rāyaḥ, wealth: make us content on all sides; that is, whenever we desire wealth, then give it. Tā vām, you two, such as you are, īmahe, we beg, so that you are nediṣṭham, nearest: that is, wealth is to be given without delay. Īmahe is read among the seventeen words meaning 'to beg'." (Grammatical tail: anukāmam, "after the wish", or "at each wish", anu here in the sense "after", or in the sense yathā marked by repetition, the four senses of yathā being fitness, repetition, not going beyond the sense of the word, and likeness; an avyayībhāva by Pā. 2-1-6; called avyaya by Pā. 1-1-41, the luk due by Pā. 2-4-82 is overridden by Pā. 2-4-83, which gives am for the ending; final udātta by samāsasya; tarpayethām, ātmanepada after the causative of tṛp by Pā. 1-3-74, 2nd dual āthām, ām for the e by Pā. 3-4-90, iy for the ā by Pā. 7-2-80 since śap follows, guṇa by ād guṇaḥ and the loss of y; indrāvaruṇā, ā for the dual by supāṃ suluk, initial udātta of the vocative, shortened in the Saṃhitā; rāyaḥ, the ending udātta by ūḍidam...; tā, ā for the ending by supāṃ suluk; following a word, vām, unaccented, replaces yuṣmad; nediṣṭham, "very near", iṣṭhan in the sense of excess, neda for antika by Pā. 5-3-63, the loss by yasyeti, initial udātta as iṣṭhan is nit; īmahe, īṅ gatau, ātmanepada as ṅit, luk of śyan by bahulaṃ chandasi, wholly unaccented.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

इन्द्रावरुणा (indrāvaruṇā) — O Indra and Varuṇa | अनुकामम् (anukāmam) — according to our desire, or our desires one by one | रायः (rāyaḥ) — by the gift of wealth | आ तर्पयेथाम् (ā tarpayethām) — satisfy (us) | ता (tā) — such | वाम् (vām) — you two | नेदिष्ठम् (nediṣṭham) — very near (without delay) | ईमहे (īmahe) — we praise.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Indra and Varuṇa, we praise you for riches and the like, that you may be near us. As soon as we pray, give us the wealth we need.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> Indra and Varuna, satisfy us with wealth according to our desires We [sic] therefore pray you to be nearest to us.

Page 720 — Rik 3: Special Topics and grammar

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Anukāmam:

> कामस्य पश्चादनुकामम् । अथवा कामे कामेऽनुकामम् । अनुरिह पश्चादर्थे अथवा वीप्सालक्षणे यथार्थे ॥ अस्मदीयमभिलाषमनु ॥

kāmasya paścādanukāmam | athavā kāme kāme 'nukāmam | anuriha paścādarthe athavā vīpsālakṣaṇe yathārthe || asmadīyamabhilāṣamanu ||

("After the wish, or at each wish; anu here in the sense 'after', or in the sense yathā marked by repetition: according to our wish.") That is, according to our wish, or every wish that we want.

Nediṣṭham:

अतिशयेन सामीप्यं यथा भवति तथा । अतिशयेनान्तिकम् ।

atiśayena sāmīpyaṃ yathā bhavati tathā | atiśayenāntikam |

("So that nearness is in the highest degree: very near.") The sense is: you should be very near us, so as to give us our desires.

Īmahe: since the word īmahe is read among the seventeen words meaning "to beg", yāmi and the rest (Ni. 3-19), īmahe means "we beg, we pray".

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 720–723, noted briefly)

अनुकामम् (anukāmam): the analysis is kāmasya paścāt anukāmam; here the preverb anu means "after". Or the analysis is kāme kāme anukāmam; here anu means repetition. This repetition is included in the senses of the word yathā: the word yathā has four senses, fitness, repetition, not going beyond the sense of the word, and likeness. In the first sense the indeclinable anu means "after"; in the second it means yathā. In both views, by "avyayaṃ vibhakti-samīpa-samṛddhi-vyṛddhy-arthābhāvātyayāsaṃprati-śabdaprādurbhāva-paścād-yathānupūrvya-yaugapadya-sādṛśya-saṃpatti-sākalyānta-vacaneṣu" (Pā. sū. 2-1-6) (the sixteen words from vibhakti to anta form a dvandva; the analysis is antaś cāsau vacanāś ca antavacanāḥ, teṣu vibhaktyādi-antavacaneṣu), an indeclinable conveying the sense of a case and the rest is compounded with a subanta that is syntactically fit; it is an avyayībhāva, so the avyayībhāva compound comes. By "avyayībhāvaś ca" (Pā. sū. 1-1-41) the avyayībhāva compound also is called avyaya; so anukāma is called avyaya. So when the sup suffix comes after anukāma, luk is due by "avyayād āpsupaḥ" (Pā. sū. 2-4-82) (the āp and sup after an avyaya take luk), but by "nāvyayībhāvād ato 'm tv apañcamyāḥ" (Pā. sū. 2-4-83) come the bar and the substitute am. In this sūtra nāvyayībhāvād ataḥ is one statement: its sense is that the sup after an a-final avyayībhāva does not take luk. Anukāma is an a-final avyayībhāva; so by this statement the sup ending after it does not take luk. Am tv apañcamyāḥ is the second statement: its sense is that a sup other than the ablative after an a-final avyayībhāva takes am. So when the accusative or locative, other than the ablative, is put after anukāma, by the former statement they do not take luk, and by this statement the substitute am comes. Anukāma + am: by "ami pūrvaḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-1-107) the pūrvarūpa: anukāmam. By "samāsasya" (Pā. sū. 6-1-223) (the last letter of a compound is udātta) anukāma is final udātta. The am is unaccented by anudāttau suppitau. The single substitute is udātta by "ekādeśa udāttenodāttaḥ". So anukāmam is final udātta.

तर्पयेथाम् (tarpayethām): the root tṛpa prīṇane. By "tatprayojako hetuś ca" (Pā. sū. 1-4-55) it is called hetu; by "hetumati ca" (Pā. sū. "3-1-26" [?]) ṇic. By "ṇicaś ca" (Pā. sū. 1-3-74) (when the fruit of the action goes to the agent, ātmanepada comes after a root ending in ṇic), in place of the loṭ after the ṇic-final root tṛp + i comes an ātmanepada suffix; when the 2nd dual is meant, āthām comes: tṛp + i + āthām. By "ṭita ātmanepadānāṃ ṭere" (Pā. sū. 3-4-79) e for the ṭi ām; by "āmetaḥ" (Pā. sū. 3-4-90) (the e belonging to loṭ takes ām) ām: tṛp + i + āthām. With the ṇic as condition, the laghūpadha-guṇa for tṛp by pugantalaghūpadhasya ca, followed by r by uraṇ raparaḥ: tarpi + āthām; śap by kartari śap: tarpi + a + āthām. With the śap as condition, guṇa by "sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-3-84); the substitute ay by "eco 'yavāyāvaḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-1-78): tarpaya + āthām. Āthām is a sārvadhātuka without p; so by "sārvadhātukam apit" (Pā. sū. 1-2-4) it is ṅit. So by "āto ṅitaḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-2-81) (the ā belonging to a suffix marked with ṅ after a short a takes iy) iy for the ā: tarpaya + iy + thām. By "ād guṇaḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-1-87) e for a and i: tarpayey + thām. Since the v-class letter [th, a val] follows, by "lopo vyor vali" (Pā. sū. 6-1-66) the y drops: tarpayethām. "Ato yeyaḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-2-80): here the word division is made in two ways, yā, iyaḥ, or yās, iyaḥ. In the second view, with yās + iya, ru for the s by sasajuṣo ruḥ, y for it by bhobhago…, and after the loss of y by lopaḥ śākalyasya, with yā + iya, the loss of y counts as not done, by pūrvatrāsiddham, when guṇa is to be made; so, though guṇa-sandhi does not come, since this is a ṛṣi's usage, it may be said that the sandhi comes as an ārṣa form. In any case, whichever of the two ways is taken, the sense of the sūtra ato yeyaḥ is that yā or yās, part of a sārvadhātuka suffix after a short a, takes iya. In tarpa + ya + āthām there is no yā or yās; so this sūtra does not give iya here. So the account of the iya substitute by this sūtra [in the bhāṣya] may be called an oversight.

इन्द्रावरुणा (indrāvaruṇā): the dvandva indraś ca varuṇaś ca indrāvaruṇā. Its explanation is at "indrāvaruṇayor aham" (Ṛ. saṃ. "1-12-1" [as read, ?; the mantra is 1-17-1, Ṛk 17.1 above]). Here after indravaruṇa the vocative dual au; for it ā by "supāṃ suluk…" (Pā. sū. 7-1-39); lengthening of like vowels: indrāvaruṇā. Since it stands at the start of a pāda, it is not wholly unaccented by the eighth-chapter rule; by the sixth-chapter "āmantritasya ca" it is initial udātta, and in the Saṃhitā the ā is shortened.

रायः (rāyaḥ): the word rai means wealth; after it the genitive singular ṅas [as read; the letter may be ञ, jas, ?]: rai + as; the substitute āy, ru and visarga. By "ūḍidaṃpadādyappumraidyubhyaḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-1-171) the ending is udātta.

ता (tā): after the word tad the accusative dual auṭ; for it, by supāṃ suluk, the substitute ā. By "tyadādīnām aḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-2-102) a for the d; by ato guṇe the pararūpa; lengthening of like vowels: tā.

वाम् (vām): this stands after a word; so for yuvām, ending in the accusative dual, by "yuṣmadasmadoḥ ṣaṣṭhīcaturthīdvitīyāsthayor vāṃnāvau" (Pā. sū. 8-1-20) the unaccented substitute vām.

नेदिष्ठम् (nediṣṭham): the analysis is atiśayena antikam. By "atiśāyane tamabiṣṭhanau" (Pā. sū. 5-3-55) the suffix iṣṭhan: antika + iṣṭha. By "antikabāḍhayor nedasādhau" (Pā. sū. 5-3-63), when the suffixes iṣṭhan and īyasun follow, neda is substituted for antika and sādha for bāḍha; so neda: neda + iṣṭha; by "yasyeti ca" (Pā. sū. 6-4-148) the a drops: nediṣṭha. The suffix iṣṭhan is nit; so nediṣṭha is initial udātta by ñnityādir nityam.

ईमहे (īmahe): the root īṅ gatau, ṅit; so by "anudāttaṅita ātmanepadam" (Pā. sū. 1-3-12) the ātmanepada comes. Laṭ, 1st plural mahiṅ:

Page 723 (upper) — Rik 3: grammar (end)

ī + mahi; by ṭita ātmanepadānām e for the ṭi; by "divādibhyaḥ śyan" (Pā. sū. 3-1-69) śyan, and by "bahulaṃ chandasi" (Pā. sū. 2-4-73) its luk: īmahe. By tiṅṅatiṅaḥ it is wholly unaccented.

॥३॥

---

Page 723 (lower) — Sūkta 17, Rik 4 (metre pādanicṛt)

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

युवाकु हि शचीनां युवाकु सुमतीनाम् । भूयाम वाजदाव्नाम् ॥४॥

yuvāku hí śácīnāṃ yuvāku sumatīnām | bhūyāma vājadāvnām ||4||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

युवाकु । हि । शचीनाम् । युवाकु । सुऽमतीनाम् ॥ भूयाम । वाजऽदाव्नाम् ॥४॥

yuvāku | hi | śacīnām | yuvāku | su 'matīnām || bhūyāma | vāja 'dāvnām ||4||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

(The Uṇādi number ३-७७ is read with some doubt; the grammar page has "3-362" [?]. वसतीवर्येकधन... is as printed here; the Special Topics print ... एकधाना... .)

हि यस्मात्कारणाच्छचीनामस्मदीयकर्मणां संबन्धि सोमरूपं हविर्युवाकु वसतीवर्येकधनात्मकैरुदकैः पयःसक्त्वादिद्रव्यान्तरैश्च मिश्रितम् । तथा सुमतीनां शोभनबुद्धियुक्तानामृत्विजां स्तोत्ररूपं वचनमपि युवाकु नानाविधैः स्तुत्यगुणैर्मिश्रितम् । तस्मात्कारणात् हे इन्द्रावरुणौ तथाविधं हविः स्वीकुर्वतोर्युवयोः प्रसादाद्वयं वाजदाव्नामन्नप्रदानां पुरुषाणां मध्ये मुख्या भूयाम । भवेम । अपोऽप्न इत्यादिषु षड्विंशतिसंख्याकेषु कर्मनामसु शचीशमीति पठितम् ॥ युवाकु । यु मिश्रणे । कटिकुषिभ्यां काकुः । उ. ३-७७ । इत्यत्र बाहुलकाद्यौतेरपि काकुः प्रत्ययः । कित्त्वेन गुणाभावादुकारस्योवङादेशः । प्रत्ययस्वरेण मध्योदात्तत्वम् । शचीशब्दः केषांचिन्मते शार्ङ्गरवादिः । ङीनन्तो नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । पा. ४-१-७३ । इत्युभे वनस्पत्यादिषु युगपदित्यत्र । का. ६-२-१४० । वृत्तिकृतोक्तम् । सुमतीनाम् । विद्याम सुमतीनाम् । ऋग्वे. १-४-३ । इत्यत्रोक्तम् । भूयाम । प्रार्थनायां लिङ् । उत्तमबहुवचने नित्यं ङित इति सकारलोपः । यासुट् परस्मैपदेषूदात्तो ङिच्च । पा. ३-४-१०३ । इत्युदात्तो यासुडागमः । लिङः सलोपोऽनन्त्यस्य । पा. ७-२-७९ । इति सकारलोपः । बहुलं छन्दसीति शपो लुक् । सतिशिष्टत्वाद्यासुडुदात्त एव शिष्यते । वाजदाव्नाम् । वाजं ददातीति वाजदावानः । आतो मनि-

hi yasmātkāraṇācchacīnāmasmadīyakarmaṇāṃ saṃbandhi somarūpaṃ haviryuvāku vasatīvaryekadhanātmakairudakaiḥ payaḥsaktvādidravyāntaraiśca miśritam | tathā sumatīnāṃ śobhanabuddhiyuktānāmṛtvijāṃ stotrarūpaṃ vacanamapi yuvāku nānāvidhaiḥ stutyaguṇairmiśritam | tasmātkāraṇāt he indrāvaruṇau tathāvidhaṃ haviḥ svīkurvatoryuvayoḥ prasādādvayaṃ vājadāvnāmannapradānāṃ puruṣāṇāṃ madhye mukhyā bhūyāma | bhavema | apo 'pna ityādiṣu ṣaḍviṃśatisaṃkhyākeṣu karmanāmasu śacīśamīti paṭhitam || yuvāku | yu miśraṇe | kaṭikuṣibhyāṃ kākuḥ | u. 3-77 | ityatra bāhulakādyauterapi kākuḥ pratyayaḥ | kittvena guṇābhāvādukārasyovaṅādeśaḥ | pratyayasvareṇa madhyodāttatvam | śacīśabdaḥ keṣāṃcinmate śārṅgaravādiḥ | ṅīnanto nittvādādyudāttaḥ | pā. 4-1-73 | ityubhe vanaspatyādiṣu yugapadityatra | kā. 6-2-140 | vṛttikṛtoktam | sumatīnām | vidyāma sumatīnām | ṛgve. 1-4-3 | ityatroktam | bhūyāma | prārthanāyāṃ liṅ | uttamabahuvacane nityaṃ ṅita iti sakāralopaḥ | yāsuṭ parasmaipadeṣūdātto ṅicca | pā. 3-4-103 | ityudātto yāsuḍāgamaḥ | liṅaḥ salopo 'nantyasya | pā. 7-2-79 | iti sakāralopaḥ | bahulaṃ chandasīti śapo luk | satiśiṣṭatvādyāsuḍudātta eva śiṣyate | vājadāvnām | vājaṃ dadātīti vājadāvānaḥ | āto mani-

न्नित्यादिना वनिप् । तस्य पित्त्वाद्धातुस्वर एव शिष्यते । समासे कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वेन स एव शिष्यते । अल्लोपोऽनः । पा. ६-४-१३४ । इत्यकारलोपः । तस्याचः परस्मिन्निति स्थानिवद्भावाल्लोपो व्योर्वलीति वकारलोपो न भवति ॥

nnityādinā vanip | tasya pittvāddhātusvara eva śiṣyate | samāse kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvena sa eva śiṣyate | allopo 'naḥ | pā. 6-4-134 | ityakāralopaḥ | tasyācaḥ parasminniti sthānivadbhāvāllopo vyorvalīti vakāralopo na bhavati ||

Translation: "Because the oblation in the form of soma belonging to śacīnām, our rites, is yuvāku, mixed with waters, the vasatīvarī and ekadhana, and with other substances such as milk and barley meal; and likewise the speech in the form of praise of the priests sumatīnām, with good minds, is yuvāku, mixed with various qualities to be praised; for that reason, O Indra and Varuṇa, by the grace of you two who accept such an oblation, may we bhūyāma, become, chief among vājadāvnām, men who give food. Śacī is read among the twenty-six action words beginning apaḥ, apnaḥ." (Grammatical tail: yuvāku, yu miśraṇe, the suffix kāku of kaṭikuṣibhyāṃ kākuḥ (Uṇ. 3-77 [?]) after yu too by bāhulaka, no guṇa as it is kit, uvaṅ for the u, middle udātta by the suffix accent; śacī, in some views of the śārṅgarava-ādi, ending in ṅīn, initial udātta as nit (Pā. 4-1-73), as the Vṛtti says on ubhe vanaspatyādiṣu yugapat (Kā. 6-2-140); sumatīnām, explained at Ṛgveda 1-4-3; bhūyāma, liṅ of prayer, the s lost by nityaṃ ṅitaḥ, the udātta augment yāsuṭ by Pā. 3-4-103, the s lost by Pā. 7-2-79, śap dropped by bahulaṃ chandasi, the udātta of yāsuṭ stays as satiśiṣṭa; vājadāvnām, "they give vāja", vanip by āto maninn…, the root accent as it is pit, which stays in the compound by the accent of the kṛt final member; the a lost by Pā. 6-4-134, and since that loss is sthānivat by acaḥ parasmin, the v is not lost by lopo vyor vali.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

हि (hi) — because | शचीनाम् (śacīnām) — of the rites (we perform) (the oblation in the form of soma belonging to them) | युवाकु (yuvāku) — is joined with substances such as milk and barley meal | सुमतीनाम् (sumatīnām) — of those with pure minds (the praise of the priests) | युवाकु (yuvāku) — is joined with the various qualities (that hymns should have) (so we) | वाजदाव्नाम् (vājadāvnām) — among those who give food (oblations) (as foremost) | भूयाम (bhūyāma) — may we be (by the grace of you who have accepted the oblation we gave).

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

What we offer you as oblation is joined with substances such as milk and barley meal, and the priests praise you as possessed of various excellent qualities. Pleased by both, you should make us chief, or best, among the givers of food.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> The mingled libations of our pious rites, the different praises of our right-minded priests are prepared; may we be included among the givers of food.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Yuvāku:

> वसतीवर्येकधानात्मकैरुदकैः पयःसक्त्वादिद्रव्यान्तरैश्च मिश्रितम् ।
>
> vasatīvaryekadhānātmakairudakaiḥ payaḥsaktvādidravyāntaraiśca miśritam |

The commentator here explains this word as the oblation made ready for the homa by mixing water, milk and barley meal (flour). For the word yuvāku in its second occurrence he explains it as a mixture of hymns, or a collection of various hymns. Further, in the ṛk

> अश्विना मधुषुत्तमो युवाकुः सोमस्तं पातमा गतं दुरोणे । (ऋ. सं. ३-५८-९)
>
> aśvinā madhuṣuttamo yuvākuḥ somastaṃ pātamā gataṃ duroṇe | (ṛ. saṃ. 3-58-9)

("Aśvins, the soma sweetest-pressed is yuvāku; drink it, come to the house": mine and tentative.)

for the word yuvākuḥ in it,

> युवां कामयमानो वर्तते । यद्वा युवाकुर्वसतीवरीप्रभृतिभिर्मिश्रित इत्यर्थः ॥
>
> yuvāṃ kāmayamāno vartate | yadvā yuvākurvasatīvarīprabhṛtibhirmiśrita ityarthaḥ ||

("It is there desiring you two; or, yuvākuḥ means mixed with the vasatīvarī waters and the rest.") That is, he gives both the sense "desiring you, or wanted by you" and the sense of mixing stated above. Further:

> ता विद्वांसा हवामहे वां ता नो विद्वांसा मन्म वोचेतमद्य । प्रार्चद्वयमानो युवाकुः ॥ (ऋ. सं. १-१२०-३)

tā vidvāṃsā havāmahe vāṃ tā no vidvāṃsā manma vocetamadya |
prārcaddayamāno yuvākuḥ || (ṛ. saṃ. 1-120-3)

("We call on you two, the wise ones; may you two, the wise, speak to us today a thought; the one desiring you, praising, worshipping …": mine and tentative.)

डुहीयन्मित्रधितये युवाकु राये च नो मिमीतं वाजवत्यै । (ऋ. सं. १-१२०-९)

ḍuhīyanmitradhitaye yuvāku rāye ca no mimītaṃ vājavatyai | (ṛ. saṃ. 1-120-9)

("… desiring you, for the setting of a friend; measure out for us wealth rich in strength": mine and tentative.)

धामानि मित्रावरुणा युवाकुः सं यो यूथेव जनिमानि चष्टे । (ऋ. सं. ७-६०-३)

dhāmāni mitrāvaruṇā yuvākuḥ saṃ yo yūtheva janimāni caṣṭe | (ṛ. saṃ. 7-60-3)

("Mitra and Varuṇa, the one desiring you, who surveys the abodes, the races, like herds": mine and tentative.)

अवोर्वां नूनमश्विना युवाकुर्हुवे यद्वां सुते माध्वी वसूयुः । (ऋ. सं. ७-६७-४)

avorvāṃ nūnamaśvinā yuvākurhuve yadvāṃ sute mādhvī vasūyuḥ | (ṛ. saṃ. 7-67-4)

("… Aśvins, the one desiring you, I call, when at your pressing, O sweet ones, seeking goods": mine and tentative.)

उत त्यं भुज्युमश्विना सखायो मध्ये जहुर्दुरेवासः समुद्रे । निरीं पर्षदरावा यो युवाकुः ॥ (ऋ. सं. ७-६८-७)

uta tyaṃ bhujyumaśvinā sakhāyo madhye jahurdurevāsaḥ samudre | nirīṃ
parṣadarāvā yo yuvākuḥ || (ṛ. saṃ. 7-68-7)

("And that Bhujyu, Aśvins, his ill-going companions left in the middle of the sea; the hostile one who is yours shall bring him across": mine and tentative.)

In these ṛks the commentator gives for the word yuvākuḥ the sense yuvāṃ kāmayamānaḥ, desiring you, or wanted by you. Yet it seems the word should have some definite sense.

(डुहीयन् and अवोर्वां are as read; the first letters are not clear [?].)

Śacīnām: since the word śacī is read among the fifty-seven words for speech, ślokaḥ, dharā and so on (Ni. "2-23" [as read, ?]), śacī means speech. And since it is read among the twenty-six action-names, apaḥ, apnaḥ and so on (Ni. "3-2" [as read, ?]), it also means action. Since it is read among the eleven names of intelligence, ketaḥ, ketu and so on (Ni. "3-13" [as read, ?]), it also means intelligence. So though the word śacī has three senses, speech, action and intelligence, here the commentator has given first place to the sense action. Yāska too, त्रयः केशिन ऋतुथा विचक्षते संवत्सरे वपत एक एषाम् । विश्वमेको अभि चष्टे शचीभिर्ध्राजिरेकस्य ददृशे न रूपम् ॥ (ऋ. सं. १-१६४-४४)

trayaḥ keśina ṛtuthā vicakṣate saṃvatsare vapata eka eṣām | viśvameko abhi caṣṭe
śacībhirdhrājirekasya dadṛśe na rūpam || (ṛ. saṃ. 1-164-44)

(“Three long-haired ones look out in season; one of them shears in the year; one surveys all with his powers; of one the rush is seen, not the form”: mine and tentative.)

explaining this ṛk, for viśvam eko abhi caṣṭe śacībhiḥ

> सर्वमेकोऽभिविपश्यति कर्मभिरादित्यः
>
> sarvameko ’bhivipaśyati karmabhirādityaḥ

(“The one, the Sun, looks over all with his actions”, Ni. “12-27” [?]), gives the word śacī the sense action. In giving the sense of the present ṛk, any one of the three senses of śacī may be taken.

Sumatīnām:

> शोभनबुद्धियुक्तानामृत्विजाम् ।
>
> śobhanabuddhiyuktānāmṛtvijām |

(“Of the priests with good minds.”) Of the priests who are well endowed with intelligence, or of intelligent people.

Vājadāvnām:

> वाजमन्नं ददतीति वाजदावानस्तेषाम् ।
>
> vājamannaṃ dadatīti vājadāvānasteṣām |

(“They give vāja, food: of them.”) To give the sense “chief among those who give food or oblations (who offer them)”, the commentator has supplied the word “chief”. On the whole the sense of this ṛk is very tangled; the sense is not clear.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 726–727, noted briefly)

युवाकु (yuvāku): the root yu miśraṇe. “Kaṭikuṣibhyāṃ kākuḥ” (Uṇ. sū. “3-362” [?]): the sense of this sūtra is that the suffix kāku comes after the roots kaṭe varṣāvaraṇayoḥ and kuṣa niṣkarṣe. Some read this sūtra as kaṭhi kuṣibhyāṃ kākuḥ; in their view the root kaṭha kṛcchrajīvane is to be taken. Here Ujjvaladatta, keeping the reading kaṭikaṣibhyām, says the root kaṣa śiṣa read in the daṇḍaka is meant, and shows the example kaṣākuḥ. Kuṣākuḥ conflicts with the Medinī-kośa “kapivahnyarke” [as printed]. Be that as it may: here, by the word bahula, the suffix kāku comes after the root yu too. The k of the suffix is it, so no guṇa. Yu + āku: by “aci śnudhātu…” (Pā. sū. 6-4-77) the substitute uvaṅ: yuvāku. By “ādyudāttaś ca” (Pā. sū. 3-1-3) the ā at the start of the suffix is udātta; so yuvāku is middle udātta.

शचीनाम् (śacīnām): “śacīśabdaḥ keṣāṃcin mate śārṅgaravādiḥ ṅīnantaḥ, nittvād ādyudāttaḥ”, says the Vṛttikāra on “ubhe vanaspatyādiṣu yugapat” (Pā. sū. 6-2-140). Some say that, since śacī is read among the words of the śārṅgarava-ādi group, the suffix ṅīn comes; the suffix is ñit, so by “ñnityādir nityam” (Pā. sū. 6-1-197) the suffix-final śacī is initial udātta: so the Kāśikā Vṛttikāra says in the sūtra ubhe vanaspatyādiṣu yugapat. So the word śacī is initial udātta.

सुमतीनाम् (sumatīnām): this is explained at “vidyāma sumatīnām” (Ṛ. saṃ. 1-4-3).

Page 727 — Rik 4: grammar (end)

भूयाम (bhūyāma): the root bhū sattāyām. After it, in the sense of prayer, liṅ; 1st plural mas: bhū + mas. By “nityaṃ ṅitaḥ” (Pā. sū. 3-4-99) the s drops. By “yāsuṭ parasmaipadeṣūdātto ṅic ca” (Pā. sū. 3-4-103) the augment yāsuṭ for the liṅ; being ṭit, it comes as the first part by “ādyantau ṭakitau” (Pā. sū. 1-1-46): bhū + yās + ma. By “liṅaḥ salopo ’nantyasya” (Pā. sū. 7-2-79) (the non-final s belonging to a liṅ called sārvadhātuka drops) the s drops: bhū + yāma. The vikaraṇa śap, come by kartari śap, takes luk by bahulaṃ chandasi. The udātta enjoined for the augment yāsuṭ is satiśiṣṭa; by “satiśiṣṭasvarabalīyastvaṃ ca” (Pā. Ma. 6-1-158), being the stronger, it alone stays.

वाजदाव्नाम् (vājadāvnām): vājaṃ dadati iti vājadāvānaḥ. With vāja, denoting the object, as upapada, after the root dāñ, by “āto maninkvanibvanipaś ca” (Pā. sū. 3-2-74) (after an ā-final root, in the Veda, the suffixes manin, kvanip and vanip come, whether a subanta or a preverb is the upapada) vanip comes: vāja + am + dā + van. This is a kṛdanta; by kṛttaddhitasamāsāś ca it is called prātipadika; by supo dhātuprātipadikayoḥ luk for the am. Vanip being pit, it is unaccented by anudāttau suppitau; dā is udātta by the root accent. After vāja is compounded with the kṛdanta dāvan by “upapadam atiṅ” (Pā. sū. 2-2-19), by “gatikārakopapadāt kṛt” (Pā. sū. “9-2-139” [as printed, for 6-2-139]) the accent of the kṛt final member comes and stays. After it the genitive plural ām: vājadāvan + ām. The part before this suffix is called bha by “yaci bham” (Pā. sū. 1-4-18). By “allopo ’naḥ” (Pā. sū. 6-4-134) (the short a of an an that is part of the aṅga and stands immediately before a y- or vowel-initial svādi suffix not called sarvanāmasthāna drops) the a of the final an in vājadāvan drops: vājadāv + n + ām. Now, since the val n follows, the loss of v would come by “lopo vyor vali” (Pā. sū. 6-1-66). But the a-loss that has come here is sthānivat by “acaḥ parasmin pūrvavidhau” (Pā. sū. 1-1-57): the sense of this sūtra is that a substitute that has come in place of a vowel, conditioned by what follows, is treated as the original when an operation is made on what is seen before the original. Here the original is a, what is seen before it is v; when the loss operation is made on it, the loss, which came in place of the vowel a and is conditioned by the following ām, is sthānivat; that is, it is as if the original were there. So, because the a intervenes, the v is not dropped by lopo vyor vali: vājadāvnām.

॥४॥

---

Page 728 — Sūkta 17, Rik 5 (metre pādanicṛt)

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

इन्द्रः॑ सहस्रदाव्ना॑ वरु॒णः॒ शंस्या॑नाम् । क्रतु॑र्भवत्यु॒क्थ्यः॑ ॥५॥

índraḥ sahasradāvnāṃ váruṇaḥ śáṃsyānām | krátur bhavaty ukthyaḥ ||5||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

इन्द्रः । सहस्रऽदाव्नाम् । वरुणः । शंस्यानाम् ॥ क्रतुः । भवति । उक्थ्यः ॥५॥

indraḥ | sahasra 'dāvnām | varuṇaḥ | śaṃsyānām || kratuḥ | bhavati | ukthyaḥ ||5||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

(येयमिति is as printed; the Kannada on p. 731 has जेयम्. छान्दस्यान्न is as printed, probably for छान्दसत्वान्न [?]. ॥३२॥ closes Varga 32.)

अयमिन्द्रः सहस्रदाव्नां सहस्रसंख्याकधनप्रदानां मध्ये क्रतुर्धनदानस्य कर्ता भवति । प्रभूतं ददातीत्यर्थः । तथा वरुणः शंस्यानां स्तुत्यानां मध्य उक्थ्यः स्तुत्यो भवति । अतिशयेन स्तुत्य इत्यर्थः ॥ वरुणः उनन्प्रत्ययो नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । शंस्यानाम् । शंसु स्तुतौ । ऋहलोर्ण्यत् । तित्स्वरितमिति प्राप्ते ईडवन्दवृशंसदुहां ण्यत इत्याद्युदात्तः । क्रतुः । कृञः कतुः । उ. १-७८ । इति कतुः । कित्त्वाद्गुणाभावे यणादेशः । प्रत्ययस्वरेणाद्युदात्तः । उक्थ्यः । उक्थं शस्त्रम् । तेन स्तुत्यत्वेन तत्र भव उक्थ्यः । भवे छन्दसि । पा. ४-४-११० । इति यत् । यस्येति लोपः । अत्र तित्स्वरितमित्येतद्बाधित्वा तीर्थ्याय कूप्यायेत्यादिवत् द्व्यच्त्वाद्यतोऽनाव इति प्राप्तमाद्युदात्तत्वं सर्वे विधयश्छन्दसि विकल्प्यन्त इति न क्रियते । ननु यस्येति लोपात्प्रागेव तित्स्वरितत्वमस्तु न हि तदा यतोऽनाव इत्येतदस्ति द्व्यच्त्वाभावात् । अत एव ह्यूर्म्याय च सूर्म्याय चेत्यादौ स्वरितत्वं दृश्यते । न च परत्वान्नित्यत्वाच्च यस्येति लोपेन प्रथमतो भाव्यमिति वाच्यम् । प्रकृतिप्रत्ययाश्रयाद्बहिरङ्गाद्यस्येति लोपात्प्रत्ययमात्राश्रयतयान्तरङ्गत्वेन तित्स्वरितमित्येतस्य प्राबल्यात् । अत ऊर्म्यायेत्यादिवदुक्थ्य इत्यत्रापि लक्षणत एव स्वरितत्वं भविष्यतीति किं छान्दसत्वेन । यत्र हि लोपमन्तरेणैव द्व्यच्त्वं तत्र यतोऽनाव इत्येतद्भवति । यथा चेयं येयमिति । लोपनिबन्धनद्व्यच्त्वप्रदेशेषु तु स्वरितेनैव भवितव्यमिति । एवं तर्हि तीर्थ्याय कूप्यायेत्यादौ यदाद्युदात्तत्वं तदेव छान्दसमस्तु । अथात्र तु वर्णादाङ्गं बलीयः । परि. ५५ । इत्यन्तरङ्गत्वेऽपि स्वरितत्वं बाधित्वा लोप एव भविष्यति । तर्ह्युक्थ्य ऊर्म्याय सूर्म्यायेत्यादौ च छान्दसमस्तु । सर्वथैकत्र छान्दस्यान्न मुच्यते ॥३२॥

ayamindraḥ sahasradāvnāṃ sahasrasaṃkhyākadhanapradānāṃ madhye kraturdhanadānasya kartā bhavati | prabhūtaṃ dadātītyarthaḥ | tathā varuṇaḥ śaṃsyānāṃ stutyānāṃ madhya ukthyaḥ stutyo bhavati | atiśayena stutya ityarthaḥ || varuṇaḥ unanpratyayo nittvādādyudāttaḥ | śaṃsyānām | śaṃsu stutau | ṛhalorṇyat | titsvaritamiti prāpte īḍavandavṛśaṃsaduhāṃ ṇyata ityādyudāttaḥ | kratuḥ | kṛñaḥ katuḥ | u. 1-78 | iti katuḥ | kittvādguṇābhāve yaṇādeśaḥ | pratyayasvareṇādyudāttaḥ | ukthyaḥ | ukthaṃ śastram | tena stutyatvena tatra bhava ukthyaḥ | bhave chandasi | pā. 4-4-110 | iti yat | yasyeti lopaḥ | atra titsvaritamityetadbādhitvā tīrthyāya kūpyāyetyādivat dvyactvādyato 'nāva iti prāptamādyudāttatvaṃ sarve vidhayaśchandasi vikalpyanta iti na kriyate | nanu yasyeti lopātprāgeva titsvaritatvamastu na hi tadā yato 'nāva ityetadasti dvyactvābhāvāt | ata eva hyūrmyāya ca sūrmyāya cetyādau svaritatvaṃ dṛśyate | na ca paratvānnityatvācca yasyeti lopena prathamato bhāvyamiti vācyam | prakṛtipratyayāśrayādbahiraṅgādyasyeti lopātpratyayamātrāśrayatayāntaraṅgatvena titsvaritamityetasya prābalyāt | ata ūrmyāyetyādivadukthya ityatrāpi lakṣaṇata eva svaritatvaṃ bhaviṣyatīti kiṃ chāndasatvena | yatra hi lopamantareṇaiva dvyactvaṃ tatra yato 'nāva ityetadbhavati | yathā ceyaṃ yeyamiti | lopanibandhanadvyactvapradeśeṣu tu svaritenaiva bhavitavyamiti | evaṃ tarhi tīrthyāya kūpyāyetyādau yadādyudāttatvaṃ tadeva chāndasamastu | athātra tu varṇādāṅgaṃ balīyaḥ | pari.

55 | ityantaraṅgatve 'pi svaritatvaṃ bādhitvā lopa eva bhaviṣyati | tarhyukthya ūrmyāya sūrmyāyetyādau ca chāndasamastu | sarvathaikatra chāndasyānna mucyate ||32||

Translation: "This Indra, among the sahasradāvan, givers of wealth by thousands, is kratu, the doer of the giving of wealth: that is, he gives abundantly. Likewise Varuṇa, among the śaṃsya, those to be praised, is ukthya, praiseworthy: that is, praiseworthy in the highest degree." (Grammatical tail: varuṇaḥ, in unan, initial udātta as nit; śaṃsyānām, śaṃsu stutau, ṇyat by ṛhalor ṇyat, the svarita due by tit svaritam replaced by initial udātta by īḍavandavṛśaṃsaduhāṃ ṇyataḥ; kratuḥ, katu by kṛñaḥ katuḥ (Uṇ. 1-78), no guṇa as it is kit, yaṇ, initial udātta by the suffix accent; ukthyaḥ, "uktha is the śastra; being praised by it, he is bhava, there", yat by bhave chandasi (Pā. 4-4-110), the loss by yasyeti. Here the initial udātta, due as in tīrthyāya, kūpyāya by yato 'nāvaḥ because there are two vowels, overriding tit svaritam, is not made, since all rules are optional in the Veda. The objection follows: let the svarita of tit svaritam come before the loss, when yato 'nāvaḥ has no scope, there not being two vowels; hence the svarita in ūrmyāya ca sūrmyāya ca; nor may one say that the loss comes first as later and nitya, since tit svaritam, depending on the suffix alone, is antaraṅga and stronger than the loss, which depends on base and suffix; so in ukthya too the svarita comes by rule, like ūrmyāya, and why appeal to the Veda? Yato 'nāvaḥ applies where there are two vowels without a loss, as in ceyam, jeyam; where the two vowels depend on the loss, there must be svarita. Then let the initial udātta in tīrthyāya, kūpyāya be the Vedic one. Or, here, by "a rule of the aṅga is stronger than one of letters" (paribhāṣā 55), the loss will override the svarita even though that is antaraṅga; then let ukthya, ūrmyāya, sūrmyāya be Vedic. In every way one does not escape Vedic licence in one place.)

Page 729 — Rik 5: word-meanings, overall sense, English, Special Topics, grammar

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

(अयम् (ayam)) इन्द्रः (indraḥ) — Indra (who accepts the oblations and the rest mentioned above and brings us good) | सहस्रदाव्नाम् (sahasradāvnām) — among those who give (wealth) by thousands | क्रतुः (kratuḥ) — the doer (of the giving of wealth) | भवति (bhavati) — becomes | वरुणः (varuṇaḥ) — Varuṇa | शंस्यानाम् (śaṃsyānām) — among those who are praised | उक्थ्यः (ukthyaḥ) — praiseworthy (especially) | भवति (bhavati) — becomes.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

Indra, satisfied as described before, gives us as much wealth as we need. In the same way Varuṇa too is especially praised by us.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> Indra is a giver among the givers of thousands; Varuna is to be praised among those who deserve to be praised.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

If the sense given above for this ṛk is changed slightly, the intent fits well: Indra is renowned among those who give wealth and the like by thousands, and Varuṇa among those who are greatly praised; their deeds are worthy of praise.

Kratuḥ: since the word kratu is read among the twenty-six action-names, apaḥ, apnaḥ and so on (Ni. “3-2” [as read, ?]), kratu means action: here, the daring deed that Indra and Varuṇa do, or the deed of giving wealth and the like to people.

Ukthyaḥ:

> उक्थं शस्त्रम् । तेन स्तुत्यत्वेन तत्र भव उक्थ्यः ।
>
> ukthaṃ śastram | tena stutyatvena tatra bhava ukthyaḥ |

(“Uktha is the śastra; being praised by it, he who is there is ukthya.”) Uktha means the śastra mantra; ukthya means fit to be praised by reciting that mantra. Here the intent is that the deed of Indra and Varuṇa in giving wealth and the like is praiseworthy.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 729–732, noted briefly)

वरुणः (varuṇaḥ): formed with the suffix unan after the root vṛ by “kṛvṛdāribhya unan” (Uṇ. sū. “3-53” [?]). Initial udātta by the nit accent.

Page 730 — Rik 5: grammar

शंस्यानाम् (śaṃsyānām): the root śaṃsu stutau. By “ṛhalor ṇyat” (Pā. sū. 3-1-124) ṇyat comes. By “tit svaritam” (Pā. sū. 6-1-185) svarita is due; but by its exception “īḍavandavṛśaṃsaduhāṃ ṇyataḥ” (Pā. sū. 6-1-214) śaṃsya, ending in the suffix ṇyat, is initial udātta.

क्रतुः (kratuḥ): by “kṛñaḥ katuḥ” (Uṇ. sū. “1-77” [?]; the bhāṣya gives 1-78) the suffix katu comes after ḍukṛñ karaṇe. So after the root kṛ the suffix katu; by laśakv ataddhite the k at the start of the suffix is called it and dropped; the suffix being kit, guṇa does not come. By “iko yaṇ aci” (Pā. sū. 6-1-77) the substitute yaṇ, that is, r for ṛ: kratu. This is final udātta by the suffix accent [as printed; the bhāṣya says initial udātta].

उक्थ्यः (ukthyaḥ): uktha means śastra. The yājñikas give the definition of śastra as > अप्रगीतमन्त्रसाध्यगुणिनिष्ठगुणाभिधानं शस्त्रम्

>
> apragītamantrasādhyaguṇiniṣṭhaguṇābhidhānaṃ śastram

(“Śastra is the declaration of the qualities residing in the one who has them, accomplished by mantras not sung.”) Varuṇa is praised by this śastra. If the analysis ukthe bhavaḥ is made, by “bhave chandasi” (Pā. sū. 4-4-110) (after a locative-final, in the sense bhava, the suffix yat comes) yat comes; luk for the locative singular suffix inside the stem: uktha + ya. By “yasyeti ca” (Pā. sū. 6-4-148) (when ī or a taddhita follows, the i and a belonging to an aṅga called bha drop) the a drops when the taddhita yat follows: ukthya. The suffix yat has t as it; so by “tit svaritam” (Pā. sū. 6-1-185) (the last letter of a suffix with t as it is svarita) the svarita comes. Although here the yat-final ukthya has two vowels (ac), and so, just as initial udātta comes in tīrthya of tīrthyāya and kūpya of kūpyāya by “yato ’nāvaḥ” (Pā. sū. 6-1-213), the exception to tit svaritam (a two-vowel word ending in a yat enjoined after a word other than nau is initial udātta), initial udātta would be due here too by ɣato 'nāvaḥ; yet by "sarve vidhayaś chandasi vikalpyante" (paribhāṣā 35) (in the Veda all rules are optional) ɣato 'nāvaḥ too is optional, so it does not come here.

But with uktha + ɣa, let the svarita of tit svaritam come first, before the loss of a by ɣasɣeti ca. Now, since there are three vowels, the exception ɣato 'nāvaḥ has no scope at all. Yet ɣasɣeti ca is read later than tit svaritam in the Aṣṭādhyāyī; so by "vipratiṣedhe paraṃ kāryam" (Pā. sū. 1-4-2) the later loss by ɣasɣeti must come first. Moreover, ɣasɣeti ca is nitɣa, that is kṛtākṛtaprasaṅgī: whether the rule tit svaritam has applied or not, it comes. Tit svaritam comes if the loss by ɣasɣeti ca has not come; if the loss has come, it is overridden by ɣato 'nāvaḥ and does not come; so it is not kṛtākṛtaprasaṅgī. (By the paribhāṣā

यस्य च लक्षणान्तरेण निमित्तं विहन्यते तदप्यनित्यम्

ɣasɣa ca lakṣaṇāntareṇa nimittaṃ vihanɣate tadapɣanitɣam

("That too whose condition is destroyed by another rule is not nitɣa"), its non-nitɣa status is established here.) So it is not nitɣa. Thus, being nitɣa and being later, ɣasɣeti ca is the stronger; so it may be said that the loss must come first by ɣasɣeti ca, and tit svaritam has no room. Yet tit svaritam depends on the suffix alone, so it needs little, or is not conditioned by what follows, and is antaraṅga; ɣasɣeti ca comes relying on both base and suffix, so it needs much, or is conditioned by what follows, and is bahiraṅga. By "paranityāntaraṅgāpavādānām uttarottaraṃ balīyaḥ" (paribhāṣā 38) the antaraṅga rule is stronger than both the later and the nitɣa. So by "asiddhaṃ bahiraṅgam antaraṅge" (paribhāṣā 50), when the antaraṅga tit svaritam is made, the bahiraṅga ɣasɣeti ca counts as not done. So tit svaritam comes first, before ɣasɣeti ca. That is why the svarita stands in places such as ūrmɣāɣa ca sūrmɣāɣa ca. In the same way in ukthɣa the svarita is established by Pāṇini's sūtra itself. That being so, why establish the svarita in ukthɣa by relying on the paribhāṣā sarve vidhayaś chandasi? If it is said that the sūtra ɣato 'nāvaḥ has scope where there is a ɣat-final of two vowels without the loss by ɣasɣeti ca, in places such as ceɣam, jeɣam, and that in instances where two vowels are got after the loss, svarita alone is right; if the svarita is justified here in this proper way, then in tīrthɣa and kūpɣa too, since there are two vowels after the loss, svarita ought to come; so it must be said that initial udātta comes there as a Vedic form. For this there is "vārṇād āṅgaṃ balīyaḥ" (paribhāṣā 55): a rule in the section on the aṅga is stronger than a rule conditioned by letters. Yasɣeti ca, being in the aṅga section, is stronger than tit svaritam. So first the loss of a by ɣasɣeti ca, then initial udātta is established by ɣato 'nāvaḥ, the exception to tit svaritam; it may be said that here no Vedic form need be stated. Then in instances such as ukthɣaḥ, ūrmɣāɣa, sūrmɣāɣa, the svarita must be justified by saying that ɣato 'nāvaḥ does not apply, as a Vedic form. In every way one must accept Vedic licence in some one place. If the svarita in ukthɣa, sūrmɣa and the rest is justified as established by the śāstra, the initial udātta in tīrthɣa and the rest must be justified as Vedic. If the initial udātta in places such as tīrthɣa is justified as established by the śāstra,

Page 732 (upper) — Rik 5: grammar (end)

the svarita in places such as ukthya, sūrmya must be justified as Vedic. In any case one cannot escape stating Vedic licence in one of the two places.

॥५॥

---

Page 732 (lower) — Sūkta 17, Rik 6

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

तयो॒रिद॑वसा व॒यं स॒नेम॒ नि च॑ धीमहि । [accent ?] स्यादु॒त प्र॒रे॑चनम् ॥६॥ [accent ?]

tayor íd ávasā vayáṃ sanéma ní ca dhīmahi | [accent ?] syād utá prarécanam ||6|| [accent ?]

(Read as printed: bars under यो, व (वयं), स and म (सनेम) and प्र; strokes over व (अवसा), च and रे. The bar under यो and the absence of marks on धीमहि are as printed.)

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

तयोः । इत् । अवसा । वयम् । सनेम । नि । च । धीमहि ॥ स्यात् । उत । प्रऽरेचनम् ॥६॥

tayoḥ | it | avasā | vayam | sanema | ni | ca | dhīmahi || syāt | uta | pra 'recanam ||6||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

तयोरित्थंविधयोरिन्द्रावरुणयोरेवावसा रक्षणेन वयमनुष्ठातारः सनेम । संभजेम धनमिति शेषः । नि धीमहि च । प्राप्ते धने यावदपेक्षितं तावद्भुक्त्वा ततोऽवशिष्टं धनं क्वचिन्निधिरूपेण स्थापयामश्च । उतापि च प्ररेचनं भुक्तान्निहिताच्च प्रकर्षेणाधिकं धनं स्यात् । संपद्यताम् ॥ अवसा । असुन् । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । वयम् । यूयं हि ष्ठा । ऋग्वे. १-१५-२ । इत्यत्र यदुक्तं तदत्र द्रष्टव्यम् । सनेम । आशिषि लिङ् । तस्य मस् । नित्यं ङित इति सकारलोपः । किदाशिषि । पा. ३-४-१०४ । इति यासुट् । छन्दस्युभयथेति सार्वधातुकमप्यस्तीति लिङः सलोपोऽनन्त्यस्येति सकारलोपः । अतो येय इतीयादेशः । लोपो व्योर्वलीति यलोपः । लिङ्याशिष्यङ् । पा. ३-१-८६ । इत्यङ् । आद्गुणः । पादादित्वान्न निघातः । धीमहि । डुधाञ् धारणपोषणयोः । आशिषि लिङो महिङ् । तस्य छन्दस्युभयथेति सार्वधातुकार्धधातुकसंज्ञे । तत्र सार्वधातुकत्वेन लिङः सलोपोऽनन्त्यस्येति सकारलोपः । सार्वधातुकमपिदिति ङित्वं शप् च । बहुलं छन्दसीति जुहोत्यादेरपि शपो लुक् । आर्धधातुकत्वादातो लोप इटि च । पा. ६-४-६४ ।

tayoritthaṃvidhayorindrāvaruṇayorevāvasā rakṣaṇena vayamanuṣṭhātāraḥ sanema | saṃbhajema dhanamiti śeṣaḥ | ni dhīmahi ca | prāpte dhane yāvadapekṣitaṃ tāvadbhuktvā tato 'vaśiṣṭaṃ dhanaṃ kvacinnidhirūpeṇa sthāpayāmaśca | utāpi ca prarecanaṃ bhuktānnihitācca prakarṣeṇādhikaṃ dhanaṃ syāt | saṃpadyatām || avasā | asun | nittvādādyudāttaḥ | vayam | yūyaṃ hi ṣṭhā | ṛgve. 1-15-2 | ityatra yaduktaṃ tadatra draṣṭavyam | sanema | āśiṣi liṅ | tasya mas | nityaṃ ṅita iti

sakāralopaḥ | kidāśiṣi | pā. 3-4-104 | iti yāsuṭ | chandasyubhayatheti sārvadhātukamapyastīti liṅaḥ salopo 'nantyasyeti sakāralopaḥ | ato yeyа itīyādeśaḥ | lopo vyorvalīti yalopaḥ | liṅyāśiṣyaṅ | pā. 3-1-86 | ityaṅ | ādguṇaḥ | pādāditvānna nighātaḥ | dhīmahi | ḍudhāñ dhāraṇapoṣaṇayoḥ | āśiṣi liṅo mahiṅ | tasya chandasyubhayatheti sārvadhātukārdhadhātukasaṃjñe | tatra sārvadhātukatvena liṅaḥ salopo 'nantyasyeti sakāralopaḥ | sārvadhātukamapiditi ṅitvaṃ śap ca | bahulaṃ chandasīti juhotyāderapi śapo luk | ārdhadhātukatvādāto lopa iṭi ca | pā. 6-4-64 |

Page 733 — Rik 6: bhāṣya (end), word-meanings, overall sense, English, Special Topics, grammar

इत्याकारलोपः । निघातः । सनेमेत्यपेक्षया द्वितीयत्वादत्र चवायोगे प्रथमेति न निषेधः । स्यात् । अस्तेः । प्रार्थनायां लिङ् । तिप् । इतश्चेतीकारलोपः । यासुट् परस्मैपदेषूदात्तो ङिच्चेति यासुड्ङित्त्वे । अदिप्रभृतिभ्यः शप इति शपो लुक् । श्नसोरल्लोप इत्यकारलोपः । पादादित्वादनिघातः । उत । एवमादीनामन्त इत्यन्तोदात्तः । प्ररेचनम् । रिचिर् विरेचने । भावे ल्युट् । योरनादेशः । लितीति प्रत्ययात्पूर्वस्योदात्तत्वम् । प्रादिसमासः । कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् ॥

ityākāralopaḥ | nighātaḥ | sanemetyapekṣayā dvitīyatvādatra cavāyoge prathameti na niṣedhaḥ | syāt | asteḥ | prārthanāyāṃ liṅ | tip | itaścetīkāralopaḥ | yāsuṭ parasmaipadeṣūdātto ṅicceti yāsuḍṅittve | adiprabhṛtibhyaḥ śapa iti śapo luk | śnasorallopa ityakāralopaḥ | pādāditvādanighātaḥ | uta | evamādīnāmanta ityantodāttaḥ | prarecanam | ricir virecane | bhāve lyuṭ | yoranādeśaḥ | litīti pratyayātpūrvasyodāttatvam | prādisamāsaḥ | kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvam ||

Translation: "By the avas, protection, of those very two, Indra and Varuṇa, such as they are, may we, the performers, sanema, obtain (wealth, is understood); and ni dhīmahi, store it: of the wealth obtained, having enjoyed as much as is wanted, we put the rest away somewhere as a treasure. Uta, and also, may there be prarecanam, wealth exceeding by far what was enjoyed and stored: may it come about." (Grammatical tail: avasā, asun, initial udātta as nit; vayam, as said at yūyaṃ hi ṣṭhā (Ṛgveda 1-15-2); sanema, āśīr-liṅ, mas, the s lost by nityaṃ ṅitaḥ, yāsuṭ by kid āśiṣi (Pā. 3-4-104), and, since by chandasy ubhayathā it is also sārvadhātuka, the s lost by liṅaḥ salopo 'nantyasya, iy by ato yeyaḥ, y lost by lopo vyor vali, aṅ by Pā. 3-1-86, guṇa, not lowered at the start of the pāda; dhīmahi, ḍudhāñ, mahiṅ for āśīr-liṅ, both names by chandasy ubhayathā, the s lost as sārvadhātuka, ṅit by sārvadhātukam apit, and śap, dropped by bahulaṃ chandasi as for the juhotȳ-ādi, the ā lost as ārdhadhātuka by Pā. 6-4-64, wholly unaccented: being second relative to sanema, the bar cavāyoge prathamā does not apply; syāt, liṅ of prayer after as, tip, the i lost by itaś ca, yāsuṭ udātta and ṅit, śap dropped, the a lost by śnasor allopaḥ, not lowered at the start of the pāda; uta, final udātta by evam-ādīnām antaḥ; prarecanam, ricir virecane, lyuṭ of the action, ana for yu, udātta before the suffix by liti, a prādi compound, the accent of the kṛt final member.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

तयोः (tayoḥ) — of those Indra and Varuṇa | अवसा इत् (avasā it) — by protection alone | वयम् (vayam) — we (the performers) | सनेम (sanema) — may we gather (wealth) | नि धीमहि च (ni dhīmahi ca) — and may we store it and lay it by | उत (uta) — and | (that wealth) प्ररेचनम् (prarecanam) — more (than what we enjoyed and stored) | स्यात् (syāt) — may it be.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥ (the heading is misprinted // ಪದಪಾಠಃ // [sic])

By the grace of Indra and Varuṇa may we gather boundless wealth, enjoy it as we wish and store what remains; and however much we enjoy, may that wealth keep growing.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> Through their protection we enjoy riches and heap them up ; still may we have even a surplus.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Ni dhīmahi: let us store it, let us heap it up, "lay by".

Uta: "not only that", or "and": either sense may be taken.

Prarecanam:

> भुक्तान्निहिताच्च प्रकर्षेणाधिकं धनम् ।
>
> bhuktānnihitācca prakarṣeṇādhikaṃ dhanam |

("Wealth exceeding by far what was enjoyed and stored.") Wealth more than what we enjoyed as we wished and heaped up: that is, the intent is that the wealth Indra and Varuṇa give should grow greater by their favour.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 733–735, noted briefly)

अवसा (avasā): by "sarvadhātubhyo 'sun" (Uṇ. sū. "4-628" [?]) the suffix asun after the root av; initial udātta by the nit accent; it ends in the instrumental singular.

Page 734 — Rik 6: grammar

वयम् (vayam): the derivation stated for yūyam in the mantra "yūyaṃ hi ṣṭhā" (Ṛ. saṃ. 1-15-2) is to be stated for vayam too. In yūyam the base is yuṣmad; in vayam the base is asmad: only that is the difference.

सनेम (sanema): the root vana ṣaṇa saṃbhaktau; s for ṣ by dhātvādeḥ ṣaḥ saḥ. After it āśīr-liṅ, 1st plural mas: san + mas; by "nityaṃ ṅitaḥ" (Pā. sū. 3-4-99) the s of mas drops. By "yāsuṭ parasmaipadeṣūdātto ṅic ca" (Pā. sū. 3-4-103) the augment yāsuṭ; being ṭit, it comes as the first part by ādyantau ṭakitau. By "kid āśiṣi" (Pā. sū. 3-4-104) it becomes kit; it was said before that this is not the rule enjoining the augment yāsuṭ. San + yās + ma: by "chandasy ubhayathā" (Pā. sū. 3-4-117) yāsma has both names, sārvadhātuka and ārdhadhātuka. So, putting the sārvadhātuka name first, the s drops; by "liṅy āśiṣy aṅ" (Pā. sū. 3-1-86), when a liṅ of blessing follows, aṅ comes after the root: san + a + yā + ma. By "ato yeyaḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-2-80) iy for yā: sana + iy + ma; by "lopo vyor vali" (Pā. sū. 6-1-66) the y drops; by "ād guṇaḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-1-87) guṇa: sanema. Since it stands at the start of the pāda, it is not made unaccented by tiṅṅatiṅaḥ; the single substitute e stays udātta.

धीमहि (dhīmahi): the root ḍudhāñ dhāraṇapoṣaṇayoḥ. Liṅ in the sense of blessing; by liṅaḥ sīyuṭ the augment sīyuṭ; 1st plural mahiṅ; by chandasy ubhayathā it has the sārvadhātuka name too. Since it has the sārvadhātuka name, by liṅaḥ salopo 'nantyasya the s of sīyuṭ drops, and by "sārvadhātukam apit" (Pā. sū. 1-2-4) it is ṅit. Śap comes by kartari śap; but by "bahulaṃ chandasi" (Pā. sū. 2-4-73) the root dhāñ, being of the juhotyādi class, takes luk. Or it may be said that, taking the ārdhadhātuka name when śap is to be made, śap does not come. Dhā + īy + mahi: having the ārdhadhātuka name, by "āto lopa iṭi ca" (Pā. sū. 6-4-64) the ā drops; by lopo vyor vali the y drops: dhīmahi. Here, since the suffix is ṅit of itself, the extended ṅit-ness by sārvadhātukam apit has no result; the ṅit-ness is set out with the intent that this too is a result of the sārvadhātuka name. In ni ca dhīmahi the word ca is used; but since the tiṅanta sanema comes first, dhīmahi is the second relative to it. So by "cavāyoge prathamā" (Pā. sū. 8-1-59) the bar to unaccentedness does not come; by tiṅṅatiṅaḥ it is wholly unaccented.

Page 735 (upper) — Rik 6: grammar (end)

स्यात् (syāt): asa bhuvi. By "vidhinimantraṇāmantraṇādhīṣṭasaṃpraśnaprārthaneṣu liṅ" (Pā. sū. 3-3-161) liṅ in the sense of prayer; tip. By "itaś ca" (Pā. sū. 3-4-100) the augment yāsuṭ [as printed; itaś ca drops the i, and yāsuṭ comes by Pā. 3-4-103]; by this it is also ṅit. As + yās + t; śap by kartari śap, and its luk by "adiprabhṛtibhyaḥ śapaḥ" (Pā. sū. 2-4-72). By "śnasor allopaḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-4-111) the a of the root drops; by liṅaḥ salopo 'nantyasya the s of the augment yāsuṭ drops: syāt. Since it stands at the start of the pāda, it is not wholly unaccented by tiṅṅatiṅaḥ.

उत (uta): final udātta by "evādīnām antaḥ" (Phi. sū. "4-83" [?]).

प्ररेचनम् (prarecanam): the root ricir virecane. By "irit saṃjñā vācyā" (Vārttika "1-3-7" [?]) the ir is called it and dropped. By "lyuṭ ca" (Pā. sū. 3-3-115) (in the neuter, in the sense of the action, the suffixes kta and lyuṭ come after a root) the suffix lyuṭ; by "yuvor anākau" (Pā. sū. 7-1-1) ana for yu: ric + ana; by "pugantalaghūpadhasya ca" (Pā. sū. 7-3-86) the laghūpadha-guṇa: recana; by "liti" (Pā. sū. 6-1-193) the syllable before the suffix ana is udātta. With the word pra, by "kugatiprādayaḥ" (Pā. sū. 2-2-18) the prādi compound; by gatikārakopapadāt kṛt the accent of the kṛt final member.

॥६॥

---

Page 735 (lower) — Sūkta 17, Rik 7

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

इन्द्रा॑वरुण वाम॒हं हु॒वे चि॒त्राय॒ रा॑धसे । [accent ?] अ॒स्मान्त्सु जि॒ग्यु॑ष॒स्कृतम् ॥७॥

índrāvaruṇa vām ahám̐ huvé citrā́ya rā́dhase | [accent ?] asmā́nt su jigyúṣas kṛtam ||7||

(Read as printed: strokes over द्रा, रा and ग्यु; bars under म (वामहं), हु, चि, य (चित्राय), अ and जि.)

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

इन्द्रावरुणा । वाम् । अहम् । हुवे । चित्राय । राधसे ॥ अस्मान् । सु । जिग्युषः । कृतम् ॥७॥

indrāvaruṇā | vām | aham | huve | citrāya | rādhase || asmān | su | jigyuṣaḥ | kṛtam ||7||

Page 736 — Rik 7: bhāṣya, word-meanings, overall sense, English

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

(शासिवसिघसीनां चेति षत्वम् is as printed; the grammar page (p. 739) says that this sūtra does not apply to the s* of *vas.)

इन्द्रावरुणा हे इन्द्रावरुणौ वां युवामुभावहं हुवे । आह्वयामि । किमर्थम् । चित्राय मणिमुक्तादिरूपेण विविधाय राधसे धनाय । तत आहुतौ युवामस्माननुष्ठातॄन्सु जिग्युषः । शत्रुविषये सुष्ठु जययुक्तान्कृतं कुरुतम् ॥ इन्द्रावरुणा । सुपां सुलुगित्यादिना संबोधनस्याकारः । देवताद्वन्द्वे चेति पूर्वपदस्यानङ् । आमन्त्रिताद्युदात्तत्वम् । संहितायां छान्दसं ह्रस्वत्वम् । हुवे । ह्वयतेर्लट्युत्तमैकवचनमिट् । शप इत्यनुवृत्तौ बहुलं छन्दसीति लुक् । ह्व इत्यनुवृत्तौ बहुलं छन्दसीति संप्रसारणं परपूर्वत्वम् । अचि श्नुधात्वित्यादिनोवङ् । पा. ६-४-७७ । न च हुश्नुवोरित्यादिना । पा. ६-४-८७ । यणादेशः । जुहोतेरेव हि प्रतिपदोक्तस्य तत् । न पुनरस्य लाक्षणिकत्वात् । इटः प्रत्ययस्वरेणोदात्तत्वम् । पादादित्वान्न निघातः । राधसे । असुन् । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वम् । अस्मान् । शसि द्वितीयायां च । पा. ७-२-८७ । इत्यात्वम् । शसो नः । पा. ७-१-२९ । इति नत्वम् । जिग्युषः । जि जये । लिटः क्वसुश्चेति क्वसुः । द्विर्भावः । सन्लिटोर्जेः । पा. ७-३-५७ । इति द्वितीयस्य कुत्वम् । क्वसोः कित्त्वाद्गुणाभावः । क्र्यादिनियमात्प्राप्तस्येटो वस्वेकाजाद्धसामिति नियमेन निवृत्तिः । द्वितीया बहुवचनं शस् । भसंज्ञायां वसोः संप्रसारणमिति संप्रसारणम् । परपूर्वत्वम् । एरनेकाच इति यणादेशः । शासिवसिघसीनां चेति षत्वम् । प्रत्ययस्वरेणोकार उदात्तः । कृतम् । डुकृञ् करणे । लोण्मध्यमद्विवचनस्य लङ्वद्भावात्तमादेशः । शपो बहुलं छन्दसीति लुक् । तिङ्ङतिङ इति निघातः ॥ indrāvaruṇā he indrāvaruṇau vāṃ yuvāmubhāvahaṃ huve | āhvayāmi | kimartham | citrāya maṇimuktādirūpeṇa vividhāya rādhase dhanāya | tata āhutau yuvāmasmānanuṣṭhātṝnsu jigyuṣaḥ | śatruviṣaye suṣṭhu jayayuktānkṛtaṃ kurutam || indrāvaruṇā | supāṃ sulugityādinā saṃbodhanasyākāraḥ | devatādvandve ceti pūrvapadasyānaṅ | āmantritādyudāttatvam | saṃhitāyāṃ chāndasaṃ hrasvatvam | huve | hvayaterlaṭyuttamaikavacanamiṭ | śapa ityanuvṛttau bahulaṃ chandasīti luk | hva ityanuvṛttau bahulaṃ chandasīti saṃprasāraṇaṃ parapūrvatvam | aci śnudhātvityādinovaṅ | pā. 6-4-77 | na ca huśnuvorityādinā | pā. 6-4-87 | yaṇādeśaḥ | juhotereva hi pratipadoktasya tat | na punarasya lākṣaṇikatvāt | iṭaḥ pratyayasvareṇodāttatvam | pādāditvānna nighātaḥ | rādhase | asun | nittvādādyudāttatvam | asmān | śasi dvitīyāyāṃ ca | pā. 7-2-87 | ityātvam | śaso naḥ | pā. 7-1-29 | iti natvam | jigyuṣaḥ | ji jaye | liṭaḥ kvasuśceti kvasuḥ | dvirbhāvaḥ | sanliṭorjeḥ | pā. 7-3-57 | iti dvitīyasya kutvam | kvasoḥ kittvādguṇābhāvaḥ | kryādiniyamātprāptasyeṭo vasvekājādghasāmiti niyamena nivṛttiḥ | dvitīyā bahuvacanaṃ śas | bhasaṃjñāyāṃ vasoḥ saṃprasāraṇamiti saṃprasāraṇam | parapūrvatvam | eranekāca iti yaṇādeśaḥ | śāsivasighasīnāṃ ceti ṣatvam |

pratyayasvareṇokāra udāttaḥ | kṛtam | ḍukṛñ karaṇe | loṇmadhyamadvivacanasya laṅvadbhāvāttamādeśaḥ | śapo bahulaṃ chandasīti luk | tiṅṅatiṅa iti nighātaḥ ||

Translation: "Indrāvaruṇā, O Indra and Varuṇa, I call, huve, you both. For what? For rādhas, wealth, citra, of many kinds, in the form of gems, pearls and the like. Then, being called, kṛtam, make us, the performers, su jigyuṣaḥ, well victorious over our enemies." (Grammatical tail: indrāvaruṇā, ā for the vocative by supāṃ suluk..., ānaṅ for the first member by devatādvandve ca, initial udātta of the vocative, shortened in the Saṃhitā as a Vedic form; huve, 1st singular iṭ of laṭ after hve, the śap dropped by bahulaṃ chandasi, saṃprasāraṇa by bahulaṃ chandasi with hvaḥ carried on, the pūrvarūpa, uvaṅ by Pā. 6-4-77; not yaṇ by huśnuvoḥ... (Pā. 6-4-87), which is for the pratipadokta juhoti only, not for this, which is lākṣaṇika; iṭ udātta by the suffix accent, not lowered at the start of the pāda; rādhase, asun, initial udātta as nit; asmān, ā by Pā. 7-2-87, n by śaso naḥ (Pā. 7-1-29); jigyuṣaḥ, ji jaye, kvasu for liṭ, doubling, the guttural for the second by Pā. 7-3-57, no guṇa as kvasu is kit, the iṭ due by the kryādi-niyama withdrawn by the restriction vasv ekājādghasām, accusative plural śas, saṃprasāraṇa by vasoḥ saṃprasāraṇam in the bha stem, the pūrvarūpa, yaṇ by er anekācaḥ, ṣ by śāsivasighasīnāṃ ca, the u udātta by the suffix accent; kṛtam, ḍukṛñ karaṇe, tam for the 2nd dual of loṭ as it is treated as laṅ, śap dropped by bahulaṃ chandasi, wholly unaccented by tiṅṅatiṅaḥ.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

इन्द्रावरुणा (indrāvaruṇā) — O Indra and Varuṇa | वाम् (vām) — you two | अहम् (aham) — I (the performer) | चित्राय (citrāya) — of various forms (diamond, lapis lazuli and the like) | राधसे (rādhase) — for wealth | हुवे (huve) — I call (you, being called thus) | अस्मान् (asmān) — us (the performers) | सु जिग्युषः (su jigyuṣaḥ) — as good victors | कृतम् (kṛtam) — make.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Indra and Varuṇa, we praise you with hymns and call you. Give us various kinds of goods such as diamonds and lapis lazuli, and make us conquer our enemies.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> Indra and Varuna, I invoke you for several kinds of wealth ; make us victorious (over our enemies).

Page 737 — Rik 7: Special Topics and grammar

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Indrāvaruṇā: though the last syllable of this word is long, in the Saṃhitā-pāṭha it is short to suit the metre. In the same way, in the 3rd ṛk of this sūkta and in the 8th and 9th ṛks too, the last syllable of this word is short in the Saṃhitā-pāṭha.

Citrāya: the commentator says "maṇimuktādirūpeṇa vividhāya", various, in the form of gems, pearls and the like. Rather than saying this, it would be more fitting to say various useful riches such as wealth, cattle and food. It may freely be said that for the ṛṣis of that time the need for cows, food, victory over enemies and the like was greater than for wealth such as gems and pearls.

Jigyuṣaḥ: ji jaye;

शत्रुविषये सुष्ठु जययुक्तान् ॥

śatruviṣaye suṣṭhu jayayuktān ||

("Well endowed with victory over enemies.") The sense is: possessed of the power to conquer enemies.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 737–740, noted briefly)

इन्द्रावरुणा (indrāvaruṇā): indraś ca varuṇaś ca, a dvandva compound. For the vocative dual suffix au, by "supāṃ suluk…" (Pā. sū. 7-1-39) the substitute ā. By "devatādvandve ca" (Pā. sū. 6-3-26) the first member takes ānaṅ. Since it stands at the start of a pāda, it is not wholly unaccented by the eighth-chapter āmantritasya ca; by the sixth-chapter āmantritasya ca it is initial udātta. In the Saṃhitā it is shortened as a Vedic form.

हुवे (huve): the root hveñ spardhāyāṃ śabde ca. Since it is ñit, it is ātmanepadin when the fruit goes to the agent; laṭ, and in its place the 1st singular iṭ: hve + i; śap by kartari śap. In "bahulaṃ chandasi" (Pā. sū. 2-4-73) the word śapaḥ is carried on from adiprabhṛtibhyaḥ śapaḥ; so, since in the Veda śap takes luk variously, śap takes luk. In "bahulaṃ chandasi" (Pā. sū. 6-1-34) the sūtra "hvaḥ saṃprasāraṇam" (Pā. sū. 6-1-32) is carried on: in the Veda the root hveñ takes saṃprasāraṇa variously, so saṃprasāraṇa, u for v. By "saṃprasāraṇāc ca" (Pā. sū. 6-1-108) the pūrvarūpa: hu + i. By "aci śnudhātubhruvāṃ yvor iyaṅuvaṅau" (Pā. sū. 6-4-77) the substitute uvaṅ: huve. Here, with hu + i, one may doubt that yaṇ should come, since by "huśnuvoḥ sārvadhātuke" (Pā. sū. 6-4-87), before a vowel-initial sārvadhātuka suffix, the u, not preceded by a conjunct, of the root hu and of a many-voweled aṅga ending in the suffix śnu takes the substitute yaṇ. But in the sūtra huśnuvoḥ only the pratipadokta hu is taken, not the lākṣaṇika hu. Lakṣaṇa means sūtra; lakṣaṇena nirvṛttaṃ lākṣaṇikam: what is produced with the help of a sūtra is called lākṣaṇika. Here hu is produced from the root hve with the help of sūtras such as bahulaṃ chandasi; so it is lākṣaṇika. The root hu dānādanayoḥ is not produced in this way with the help of a sūtra; so it is not lākṣaṇika. In huśnuvoḥ the word hu takes the pratipadokta root hu dānādanayoḥ, by

लक्षणप्रतिपदोक्तयोः प्रतिपदोक्तस्यैव ग्रहणम्

lakṣaṇapratipadoktayoḥ pratipadoktasyaiva grahaṇam upāyāntarādūṣakatvam” (one means does not spoil another) or on the view that rejects the mention of anekāc. The iṭ is a suffix, so it is udātta by the suffix accent. Since “anudāttaṃ sarvam apādādau” (Pā. sū. 8-1-18) excludes the start of a pāda, huve, standing at the start of a pāda, is not wholly unaccented by tiṅṅatiṅaḥ.

("Of the lākṣaṇika and the pratipadokta, only the pratipadokta is taken", paribhāṣā "114" [?].) So yaṇ does not come by huśnuvoḥ for the hu derived from the lākṣaṇika root hveñ. Anekācaḥ, carried on from er anekācaḥ, qualifies the aṅga; since śnu is a suffix, the tadanta is obtained. Huśnuvoḥ, with aṅgasya carried on and changed into aṅgayoḥ, qualifies it; by "yena vidhis tadantasya" (Pā. sū. 1-1-72) the tadanta is obtained. Thus the sense of huśnuvoḥ is: the u, not preceded by a conjunct, of an aṅga that ends in the root hu or in the suffix śnu and has more than one vowel takes yaṇ. So with hu + i, since the aṅga does not have more than one vowel, the yaṇ enjoined by huśnuvoḥ has no scope at all. It may be said, rightly, that the Vedabhāṣyakāra barred the yaṇ by the lakṣaṇa-pratipadokta paribhāṣā either by the maxim "upāyasya

राधसे (rādhase): rādha saṃsiddhau. After it the suffix asun by “sarvadhātubhyo ’sun” (Uṇ. sū. “4-628” [?]); initial udātta by the nit accent, ñnityādir nityam.

अस्मान् (asmān): after the word asmad the accusative plural śas; the ś is called it and dropped: asmad + as. By “dvitīyāyāṃ ca” (Pā. sū. 7-2-87), when an accusative ending follows, the last letter of yuṣmad and asmad takes ā: ā for d: asma + ā + as; lengthening of like vowels: asmā + as. By “śaso na” (Pā. sū. 7-1-29) n is substituted for the śas after yuṣmad and asmad; that substitute, which would come by alo ’ntyasya, comes for the a of as by its exception “ādeḥ parasya” (Pā. sū. 1-1-54). Asmān + s: by “saṃyogāntasya lopaḥ” (Pā. sū. “0-2-23” [as printed, for 8-2-23]) the s drops: asmān.

Page 739 — Rik 7: grammar

जिग्युषः (jigyuṣaḥ): the root ji jaye; liṭ, and for it the substitute kvasu by “kvasuś ca” (Pā. sū. 3-2-107). By “liṭi dhātor anabhyāsasya” (Pā. sū. 6-1-8) doubling: ji + ji + vas. By “sanliṭor jeḥ” (Pā. sū. 7-3-57), what follows the abhyāsa of the root ji, conditioned by san or liṭ, takes a guttural: g for j: ji + gi + vas. The suffix vas is a val-initial ārdhadhātuka; so the augment iṭ is due by “ārdhadhātukasyeḍ valādeḥ” (Pā. sū. 7-2-35); for that the bar comes by “ekāca upadeśe ’nudāttāt” (Pā. sū. 7-2-10). Again, by “kṛsṛbhṛvṛstudrusruśruvo liṭi” (Pā. sū. 7-2-13), whatever bars to iṭ there are, based on the base and on the suffix, if they come in the liṭ, come only for the roots kṛ, sṛ and the rest. By the kryādi-niyama, that for the liṭ after roots other than the kṛ-ādi the bar to the augment iṭ does not come, the bar does not come for the liṭ vas after the root ji, which is not of the kṛ-ādi. So the augment iṭ is due. For this, by “vasv ekājādghasām” (Pā. sū. 7-2-67), in the view where iṭ comes to vas, only for the vas after a root of one vowel after doubling, a root ending in ā, and the root ghas, does iṭ come; for vas after other roots iṭ does not come: by this restriction it is withdrawn. After jigivas the accusative plural śas: jigivas + as; by “yaci bham” (Pā. sū. 1-4-18) it is called bha. By “vasoḥ saṃprasāraṇam” (Pā. sū. 6-4-131) a bha stem ending in the suffix vasu takes saṃprasāraṇa: u for v; the pūrvarūpa by saṃprasāraṇāc ca: jigi + us + as; by “er anekācaḥ” (Pā. sū. 6-4-82) yaṇ, y for i; by “ādeśapratyayayoḥ” (Pā. sū. 8-3-59) ṣ for s. For the s of the suffix vas, it was made clear before that ṣ does not come by “śāsivasighasīnāṃ ca” (Pā. sū. 8-3-60). Ru and visarga. With jigyuṣaḥ + kṛtam, by “kaḥkarat-karati-kṛdhi-kṛteṣv anaditeḥ” (Pā. sū. 8-3-50), for a visarga not after the word aditi, when kaḥ and the rest follow, s comes: so s. Though the commentators have explained kṛta as ending in the suffix kta, there is no harm if this too is taken; but there is no sufficient proof that only the kta-final must be taken. Kṛta means a word having the sequence kṛ-ta. Such a sequence exists both when the suffix [kta] has come and when the form is derived as explained below. Here, since nothing is specified, both are taken. In jigyuṣaḥ the u is udātta by the suffix accent.

कृतम् (kṛtam): the root ḍukṛñ karaṇe. Loṭ, 2nd dual thas. By “loṭo laṅvat” (Pā. sū. 3-4-85) it is treated as laṅ, and by “tasthasthamipāṃ tāṃtaṃtāmaḥ” (Pā. sū.

Page 740 (upper) — Rik 7: grammar (end)

3-4-101) tam for thas: kṛtam. The śap that comes by kartari śap takes luk by "bahulaṃ chandasi" (Pā. sū. 2-4-73). Although here the vikaraṇa u is due by "tanādikṛñbhya uḥ" (Pā. sū. 3-1-79), the exception to kartari śap, it does not come, since it is optional by "sarve vidhayaś chandasi vikalpyante" (paribhāṣā "75" [as read, ?; elsewhere 35]). To avoid these difficulties it might be said to be kta-final; but in that view the intended total unaccentedness is not obtained. So it cannot be described as kta-final. If it is set out as a tiṅanta in the way stated above, it becomes wholly unaccented by tiṅṅatiṅaḥ.

॥७॥

---

Page 740 (lower) — Sūkta 17, Rik 8

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

इन्द्रा॑वरुणा नू नु वां॑ सिषा॑सन्तीषु धी॒ष्वा । [accent ?] अ॒स्मभ्यं॒ शर्म॑ यच्छतम् ॥८॥ [accent ?]

índrāvaruṇa nū́ nu vāṃ síṣāsantīṣu dhīṣvā́ | [accent ?] asmábhyaṃ śárma yacchatam ||8|| [accent ?]

(Read as printed: strokes over द्रा, षा and र्म, bars under ण, वां, धी, अ and भ्यं.)

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

(सिसासन्तीषु with स, is as printed in the Pada; the Saṃhitā and bhāṣya have सिषासन्तीषु.)

इन्द्रावरुणा । नु । नु । वाम् । सिसासन्तीषु । धीषु । आ ॥ अस्मभ्यम् । शर्म । यच्छतम् ॥८॥

indrāvaruṇā | nu | nu | vām | sisāsantīṣu | dhīṣu | ā || asmabhyam | śarma | yacchatam ||8||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

इन्द्रावरुणा हे इन्द्रावरुणौ धीष्वस्मदीयबुद्धिषु वां युवां सिषासन्तीषु सनितुं संभक्तुं सम्यक्सेवितुमिच्छन्तीषु तदानीमासमन्तादस्मभ्यं शर्म सुखं नू नु अतिशयेन क्षिप्रं यच्छतम् । दत्तम् । षड्विंशतिसंख्याकेषु क्षिप्रनामसु नु मक्ष्विति पठितम् । तस्य द्विरावृत्तिबलादतिशयो लभ्यते ॥ इन्द्रावरुणा । उक्तम् । नू नु । ऋचि तुनुघमक्षुतङ्कुत्रोरुष्याणाम् । पा. ६-३-१३३ । इति पूर्वस्य दीर्घत्वम् । सिषासन्तीषु । वन षण संभक्तौ । धात्वादेः षः सः । इच्छायां सन् । द्विर्भावो हलादिशेषः । सन्यत इतीत्वम् । आदेशप्रत्यययोरिति षत्वम् । सनीवन्तेत्यादिना । पा. ७-२-४९ । विकल्पादिडभावः । जनसनखनां सन्झलोः । पा. ६-४-४२ । इति नकारस्याकारः । उपरि लटः शतृ । कर्तरि शप् । उगितश्चेति ङीप् । शप्श्यनोर्नित्यम् । पा. ७-१-८१ । इति नुम् । ङीपः शपश्च पित्त्वाच्छतुश्च लसार्वधातुकत्वेनानुदात्तत्वम् । indrāvaruṇā he indrāvaruṇau dhīṣvasmadīyabuddhiṣu vāṃ yuvāṃ siṣāsantīṣu sanituṃ saṃbhaktuṃ samyaksevitumicchantīṣu tadānīmāsamantādasmabhyaṃ

śarma sukhaṃ nū nu atiśayena kṣipraṃ yacchatam | dattam | ṣaḍviṃśatisaṃkhyākeṣu kṣipranāmasu nu makṣviti paṭhitam | tasya dvirāvṛttibalādatiśayo labhyate || indrāvaruṇā | uktam | nū nu | ṛci tunughamakṣutaṅkutroruṣyāṇām | pā. 6-3-133 | iti pūrvasya dīrghatvam | siṣāsantīṣu | vana ṣaṇa saṃbhaktau | dhātvādeḥ ṣaḥ saḥ | icchāyāṃ san | dvirbhāvo halādiśeṣaḥ | sanyata itītvam | ādeśapratyayayoriti ṣatvam | sanīvantetyādinā | pā. 7-2-49 | vikalpādiḍabhāvaḥ | janasanakhanāṃ sanjhaloḥ | pā. 6-4-42 | iti nakārasyākāraḥ | upari laṭaḥ śatṛ | kartari śap | ugitaśceti ṅīp | śapśyanornityam | pā. 7-1-81 | iti num | ṅīpaḥ śapaśca pittvācchatuśca lasārvadhātukatvenānudāttatvam |

Page 741 — Rik 8: bhāṣya (end), word-meanings, overall sense, English, Special Topics

सनो नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वम् । तदेव शिष्यते । धीषु । सावेकाच इति विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वम् । अस्मभ्यम् । अस्मभ्यमप्रतिष्कुतः । ऋग्वे. १-७-६ । इत्यत्रोक्तम् । यच्छतम् । दाण् दाने । शपि पाघ्रेत्यादिना यच्छादेशः ॥

sano nittvādādyudāttatvam | tadeva śiṣyate | dhīṣu | sāvekāca iti vibhakterudāttatvam | asmabhyam | asmabhyamapratiṣkutaḥ | ṛgve. 1-7-6 | ityatroktam | yacchatam | dāṇ dāne | śapi pāghretyādinā yacchādeśaḥ ||

Translation: "O Indra and Varuṇa, while dhīṣu, our minds, are siṣāsantīṣu, wishing to serve you two, to attend on you well, at that time give, yacchatam, to us from all sides śarma, happiness, nū nu, very quickly. Nu is read among the twenty-six names for 'quick' as nu, makṣu; from its repetition the intensity is obtained." (Grammatical tail: indrāvaruṇā, explained; nū nu, the first lengthened by Pā. 6-3-133; siṣāsantīṣu, vana ṣaṇa saṃbhaktau, s for ṣ, san of desire, doubling, halādiḥ śeṣaḥ, i by sanyataḥ, ṣ by ādeśapratyayayoḥ, no iṭ as it is optional by Pā. 7-2-49, ā for the n by Pā. 6-4-42, then śatṛ for laṭ, śap, ṅīp by ugitaś ca, num by Pā. 7-1-81; ṅīp and śap unaccented as pit, śatṛ as an lasārvadhātuka; initial udātta as san is nit, and that stays; dhīṣu, the ending udātta by sāv ekācaḥ; asmabhyam, as said at Ṛgveda 1-7-6; yacchatam, dāṇ dāne, yaccha by pāghrā… before śap.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

इन्द्रावरुणा (indrāvaruṇā) — O Indra and Varuṇa | धीषु (dhīṣu) — (our) minds | वाम् (vām) — you two | सिषासन्तीषु (siṣāsantīṣu) — while wishing to serve | अस्मभ्यम् (asmabhyam) — to us | आ (ā) — in every respect | शर्म (śarma) — happiness | नू नु (nū nu) — very quickly | यच्छतम् (yacchatam) — give.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Indra and Varuṇa, our minds are always absorbed in serving you; that is, we are serving you constantly. So, being pleased, give us happiness in every way.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> Indra and Varuna, quickly bestow happiness upon us, for our minds are devoted to you both.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Nū nu: since the word nu is read among the twenty-six words meaning "quick", nu, makṣu and so on, nu means quickly, swiftly. Here, since nu is read twice, it means very quickly, without the least delay. To suit the metre the first nu is long. Besides this, Yāska gives some more senses for the word nu:

> नु इत्येषोऽनेककर्मा । इदं नु करिष्यतीति हेत्वपदेशे । अथाप्युपमार्थे भवति ॥ (नि. १-४)
>
> nu ityeṣo 'nekakarmā | idaṃ nu kariṣyatīti hetvapadeśe | athāpyupamārthe bhavati || (ni. 1-4)

("Nu has many uses: in 'he will now do this' it states a cause; it also has the sense of comparison": mine and tentative.) The word nu denotes many actions and a cause, and is used in the sense of comparison too. For example,

> वृक्षस्य नु ते (ऋ. सं. ६-२४-३)
>
> vṛkṣasya nu te (ṛ. saṃ. 6-24-3)

means

> वृक्षस्येव ते
>
> vṛkṣasyeva te

("Like a tree's, your …": mine and tentative.)

Page 742 — Rik 8: Special Topics (end) and grammar

Siṣāsantīṣu dhīṣu: our minds, or hearts, longing to serve you, expecting it. Here the locative is used in the sense of the nominative. Such usage is especially common in modern Sanskrit too.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 742–743, noted briefly)

इन्द्रावरुणा (indrāvaruṇā): explained in the previous mantra.

नू नु (nū nu): by "ṛci tunughamakṣutaṅkutroruṣyāṇām" (Pā. sū. 6-3-133) the first nu is lengthened.

सिषासन्तीषु (siṣāsantīṣu): the root vana ṣaṇa saṃbhaktau; by dhātvādeḥ ṣaḥ saḥ s for the ṣ of the root ṣaṇa, and the ṇ is withdrawn. By "dhātoḥ karmaṇaḥ samānakartṛkād icchāyāṃ vā" (Pā. sū. 3-1-7), when sanitum icchati is meant, the suffix san after the root san: san + sa. By "sanyaṅoḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-1-9) doubling: san san + sa; by "halādiḥ śeṣaḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-4-60) the n of the first san, of the abhyāsa, is withdrawn; by "sanyataḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-4-79) i for the a of the abhyāsa: sisan + sa. The suffix san is ārdhadhātuka, so the augment iṭ is due by "ārdhadhātukasyeḍ valādeḥ" (Pā. sū. "3-2-34" [as printed, for 7-2-35]). But by "sanīvantardhabhrasjadambhuśrisvṛyūrṇubharajñapisanām" (Pā. sū. 7-2-49), for the san after the roots ending in iv, and ṛdh, bhrasj, dambh, śri, svṛ, yu, ūrṇu, bhara, jñapi and san, the augment iṭ comes optionally; so for the san after the root san, iṭ is enjoined optionally, and in one alternative it does not come. By "janasanakhanāṃ sañjhaloḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-4-42), before a jhal-initial san, and before a jhal-initial suffix that is kit or ṅit, the last letter of the three roots jan, san, khan takes ā: ā for n; lengthening of like vowels: sisā + sa. By “ādeśapratyayayoḥ” (Pā. sū. 8-3-59) ṣ for the second s: siṣāsa; it is called dhātu by “sanādyantā dhātavaḥ” (Pā. sū. 3-1-32). After it laṭ; by “laṭaḥ śatṛśānacāv aprathamāsamānādhikaraṇe” (Pā. sū. 3-2-124) the suffix śatṛ; śap by kartari śap: siṣāsa + a + at; by ato guṇe the pararūpa twice: siṣāsat. By “ugitaś ca” (Pā. sū. 4-1-6) ṅīp: siṣāsat + ī. By “śapśyanor nityam” (Pā. sū. 7-1-81), for an aṅga ending in the śatṛ part that follows the a belonging to śap or śyan, when śī or a letter called nadī follows, the augment num comes always; so the augment num. By “mid aco ’ntyāt paraḥ” (Pā. sū. 1-1-47) it comes after the last vowel: siṣāsantī. Ṅīp and śap are both pit, so unaccented by anudāttau suppitau. The suffix śatṛ stands after the śap, an adupadeśa; so it is unaccented by “tāsyanudātteṅ…” (Pā. sū. 6-1-186). The suffix san is nit; so by “ñnityādir nityam” (Pā. sū. 6-1-197) siṣāsa is initial udātta, and that accent stays. In the locative plural it becomes siṣāsantīṣu.

Page 743 (upper) — Rik 8: grammar (end)

धीषु (dhīṣu): dhyai cintāyām. By “dhyāyateḥ saṃprasāraṇaṃ ca” (Pā. sū. “3-2-178” [as printed; a vārttika there]) the root dhyai takes saṃprasāraṇa and after it the suffix kvip; so kvip, which drops; saṃprasāraṇa, i for y; by “saṃprasāraṇāc ca” (Pā. sū. “6-1-100” [as printed, for 6-1-108]) the pūrvarūpa: dhi. By “halaḥ” (Pā. sū. 6-4-2) lengthening: dhī. After it the locative plural sup: dhī + su; ṣ by ādeśapratyayayoḥ; by “sāv ekācas tṛtīyādir vibhaktiḥ” (Pā. sū. 6-1-168) the ending is udātta.

अस्मभ्यम् (asmabhyam): explained at “asmabhyam apratiṣkutaḥ” (Ṛ. saṃ. 1-7-6).

यच्छतम् (yacchatam): dāṇ dāne; loṭ, 2nd dual thas; treated as laṅ by loṭo laṅvat, tam by tasthasthamipām, śap by kartari śap; by “pāghrādhmā…” (Pā. sū. 7-3-78) yacch for dāṇ: yacchatam.

॥८॥

---

Page 743 (lower) — Sūkta 17, Rik 9 (last ṛk of the sūkta)

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

प्र वा॑मश्नोतु सुष्टु॒तिरिन्द्रा॑वरुणा॒ यां हु॒वे । [accent ?] यामू॒धा॑थे सु॒धस्तु॑तिम् ॥९॥ [accent ?]

prá vā́m aśnotu suṣṭutír índrāvaruṇa yā́ṃ huvé | [accent ?] yā́m ṛdhā́the sadhástutim ||9|| [accent ?]

(Read as printed: strokes over वा, द्रा, धा and स्तु; bars under ण, हु, मू and स. The marks in line 2 are small; their positions are not certain.)

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

प्र । वाम् । अश्नोतु । सुऽस्तुतिः । इन्द्रावरुणा । याम् । हुवे ॥ याम् । ऋधाथे इति । सधऽस्तुतिम् ॥९॥

pra | vām | aśnotu | su 'stutiḥ | indrāvaruṇā | yām | huve || yām | ṛdhāthe iti | sadha 'stutim ||9||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

( ॥३३॥ closes Varga 33; ॥४॥ closes the fourth Anuvāka.)

इन्द्रावरुणा हे इन्द्रावरुणौ यामस्मत्कर्तृकां शोभनस्तुतिं प्रति हुवे युवामुभावाह्वयामि । किंच सधस्तुतिं युवयोरुभयोः साहित्येन क्रियमाणायाः स्तवक्रियाया यां सुष्टुतिं प्रतिलभ्य ऋधाथे युवां वर्धेथे । तादृशी सुष्टुतिः शोभनस्तुतिहेतुभूत ऋक्समूहो वामश्नोतु । युवां व्याप्नोतु ॥ अश्नोतु । अशू व्याप्तौ । लोटो व्यत्ययेन तिप् । स्वादिभ्यः श्नुः । सुष्टुतिः । न विन्धे अस्य सुष्टुतिम् । ऋग्वे. १-७-७ । इत्यत्रोक्तम् । इन्द्रावरुणा । हुवे । उक्ते । अत्र तु यद्वृत्तयोगान्न निघातः । ऋधाथे । ऋधु वृद्धौ । लट् । व्यत्ययेनात्मनेपदम् । मध्यमद्विवचने श्नोर्बहुलं छन्दसीति लुक् । प्रत्ययस्वरेणाकार उदात्तः । यच्छब्दयोगान्न निघातः । सधस्तुतिम् । सह स्तुतिर्यस्यां सुष्टुतौ सा सधस्तुतिः । अत्र सुष्टुतिरित्यन्यपदार्थे स्तुतिशब्दस्य स्तूयतेऽनयेति करणसाधनत्वेन ऋक्परत्वेऽयं स्तुतिशब्दो भावसाधनतया स्तवनक्रियापरः । तस्मिन्भावसाधनत्वेन क्रियापरेऽयं करणसाधनतया ऋक्पर इति समस्यमानपदार्थादन्यः । सहेत्यत्र हकारस्य व्यत्ययेन धकारः । सहशब्द एवमादित्वादन्तोदात्तः । बहुव्रीहित्वेन पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् ॥३३॥ ॥४॥

indrāvaruṇā he indrāvaruṇau yāmasmatkartṛkāṃ śobhanastutiṃ prati huve yuvāmubhāvāhvayāmi | kiṃca sadhastutiṃ yuvayorubhayoḥ sāhityena kriyamāṇāyāḥ stavakriyāyā yāṃ suṣṭutiṃ pratilabhya ṛdhāthe yuvāṃ vardhethe | tādṛśī suṣṭutiḥ śobhanastutihetubhūta ṛksamūho vāmaśnotu | yuvāṃ vyāpnotu || aśnotu | aśū vyāptau | loṭo vyatyayena tip | svādibhyaḥ śnuḥ | suṣṭutiḥ | na vindhe asya suṣṭutim | ṛgve. 1-7-7 | ityatroktam | indrāvaruṇā | huve | ukte | atra tu yadvṛttayogānna nighātaḥ | ṛdhāthe | ṛdhu vṛddhau | laṭ | vyatyayenātmanepadam | madhyamadvivacane śnorbahulaṃ chandasīti luk | pratyayasvareṇākāra udāttaḥ | yacchabdayogānna nighātaḥ | sadhastutim | saha stutiryasyāṃ suṣṭutau sā sadhastutiḥ | atra suṣṭutirityanyapadārthe stutiśabdasya stūyate 'nayeti karaṇasādhanatvena ṛkparatve 'yaṃ stutiśabdo bhāvasādhanatayā stavanakriyāparaḥ | tasminbhāvasādhanatvena kriyāpare 'yaṃ karaṇasādhanatayā ṛkpara iti samasyamānapadārthādanyaḥ | sahetyatra hakārasya vyatyayena dhakāraḥ | sahaśabda evamāditvādantodāttaḥ | bahuvrīhitvena pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvam ||33|| ||4||

Translation: "O Indra and Varuṇa, I call you both towards the excellent praise that we make. Further, the suṣṭuti, excellent praise, which is sadhastuti, an act of praise made of you both together, by obtaining which you ṛdhāthe, grow: may such suṣṭuti, the collection of ṛks that is the cause of excellent praise, aśnotu, reach you." (Grammatical tail: aśnotu, aśū vyāptau, tip for loṭ by exchange, śnu by svādibhyaḥ śnuḥ; suṣṭutiḥ, as said at Ṛgveda 1-7-7; indrāvaruṇā, huve, explained; here, though, not lowered because joined with yad; ṛdhāthe, ṛdhu vṛddhau, laṭ, ātmanepada by exchange, in the 2nd dual the śnu dropped by bahulaṃ chandasi, the ā udātta by the suffix accent, not lowered because joined with yad; sadhastutim, "the suṣṭuti in which there is praise together"; here the word stuti in suṣṭuti, the other thing meant, being an instrument noun, "that by which one praises", denotes the ṛk, while this stuti [in the compound], an action noun, denotes the act of praising; where that one is an action noun denoting the act, this one, an instrument noun, denotes the ṛk; so it differs from the sense of the compounded words. In saha, dh for h by exchange; saha is final udātta as one of the evam-ādi; as a bahuvrīhi, the accent of the first member.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

इन्द्रावरुणा (indrāvaruṇā) — O Indra and Varuṇa | याम् (yām) — which (praise of ours, towards it) | हुवे (huve) — I call (you both) | (and) याम् सधस्तुतिम् (yām sadhastutim) — by which hymn made of you both together | ऋधाथे (ṛdhāthe) — you grow (you are pleased) | सुष्टुतिः (suṣṭutiḥ) — (such a) collection of ṛks in the form of a hymn | वाम् अश्नोतु (vām aśnotu) — may it reach you.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Indra and Varuṇa, we call each of you separately with praise. At times we also praise you both together. Be pleased with such hymns.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> May the earnest praise which I offer to Indra and Varuna reach you both ; and may you fulfil that prayer addressed to you both.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Aśnotu: vyāpnotu, may it reach: the sense is, may the hymn we make reach you and be dear to you.

Page 745 — Rik 9: Special Topics (end) and grammar

Ṛdhāthe:

> ऋधु वृद्धौ । वर्धेथाम् ॥
>
> ṛdhu vṛddhau | vardhethām ||

("Ṛdhu, to grow: may you grow.") The senses "you liked the praise we made, or praised it, and so were well satisfied" and the like may be given.

Sadhastutim:

> सह स्तुतिर्यस्यां सुष्टुतौ सा सधस्तुतिः ॥
>
> saha stutiryasyāṃ suṣṭutau sā sadhastutiḥ ||

("The suṣṭuti in which there is praise together is the sadhastuti.") A hymn that praises two together is called sadhastuti. Here the two deities Indra and Varuṇa are praised together.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 745–746, noted briefly)

अश्नोतु (aśnotu): aśū vyāptau. Loṭ; the root is anudāttet, so ātmanepada ought to come by "anudāttaṅita ātmanepadam". But by "vyatyayo bahulam" (Pā. sū. 3-1-85) the parasmaipada suffix ti comes by exchange. By "svādibhyaḥ śnuḥ" (Pā. sū. 3-1-73) the vikaraṇa śnu: aś + nu + ti; guṇa; by eruḥ u for the i.

सुष्टुतिः (suṣṭutiḥ): explained at "na vindhe asya suṣṭutim" (Ṛ. saṃ. 1-7-7).

इन्द्रावरुणा, हुवे (indrāvaruṇā, huve): see the 7th mantra of this sūkta. There it was said that, standing at the start of a pāda, it is not wholly unaccented; here too, by "yadvṛttān nityam" (Pā. sū. 8-1-66) (a tiṅanta after a word containing yad does not become unaccented), it is not wholly unaccented.

ऋधाथे (ṛdhāthe): ṛdhu vṛddhau. Laṭ; by exchange, ātmanepada, 1st-person [as printed; āthām is 2nd person] dual āthām. By "ṭita ātmanepadānāṃ ṭere" (Pā. sū. 3-4-79) e for the ṭi (ām). By svādibhyaḥ śnuḥ the suffix śnu; for it luk by "bahulaṃ chandasi" (Pā. sū. 2-4-73): ṛdhāthe. By the suffix accent, that is, by "ādyudāttaś ca" (Pā. sū. 3-1-3), the ā at the start of the suffix āthe is udātta. Yām ṛdhāthe: it follows a word formed with yad; so, since the bar comes by yadvṛttān nityam, it is not wholly unaccented by tiṅatiṅaḥ.

सधस्तुतिम् (sadhastutim): saha stutir yasyāṃ suṣṭutau sā sadhastutiḥ: by "anekam anyapadārthe" (Pā. sū. 2-2-24) a bahuvrīhi. The sense of the sūtra is: several subantas are compounded in the sense of another word, and these are called bahuvrīhi. Anyapadārtha means that which stands in the sense of a word other than the words that are compounded. Here the words saha and stuti are compounded. So there is no room for the doubt how stuti can be the anyapadārtha. The sense of the word stuti included in the compound is one thing; the sense set forth by the word suṣṭuti, meant as the anyapadārtha, is another. For in suṣṭuti, the anyapadārtha, if the word stuti means stūyate anayā iti stutiḥ, with ktin in the sense of instrument, the ṛk which is the instrument of praise, then the word stuti in the compound, stavanaṃ stutiḥ, with ktin in the sense of the action, means the act of praising. If in the anyapadārtha the word stuti is meant to state the praising, as ending in ktin in the sense of the action, then the word stuti in the compound, ending in ktin in the sense of instrument, sets forth the sense ṛk. Thus the sense put forward by the word suṣṭuti differs from the sense set forth by the compounded words, so it is the anyapadārtha. In saha the h becomes dh by exchange. By "evādīnām antaḥ" (Phi. sū. "4-83" [?]) the word saha is final udātta. After the bahuvrīhi compound has come too, by "bahuvrīhau prakṛtyā pūrvapadam" (Pā. sū. 6-2-1) the accent of the first member comes.

॥९॥

(Sūkta 17 ends here, mid-page; p. 746 continues with the title of the Eighteenth Sūkta. No colophon is printed.)

॥ ಹದಿನೆಂಟನೆಯ ಸೂಕ್ತವು ॥ — Sūkta 18 — "somānaṃ svaraṇaṃ kṛṇuhi" ("The Eighteenth Sūkta"; first sūkta of the Fifth Anuvāka)

(Printed p. 746, lower half: the title ಹದಿನೆಂಟನೆಯ ಸೂಕ್ತವು ("The Eighteenth Sūkta") and an ornament.)

Page 746 (lower) — Sūkta 18: introduction

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥ (introductory note)

(सादसस्पत्या, in the Anukramaṇī quotation, is as printed.)

> पञ्चमेऽनुवाके षट् सूक्तानि । तत्र सोमानमित्यादिकं नवर्चं प्रथमं सूक्तम् । ऋषिच्छन्दसी पूर्ववत् । देवताविशेषस्त्वेवमनुक्रम्यते । सोमानमिति पञ्च ब्राह्मणस्पत्याश्चतुर्थ्यामिन्द्रश्च सोमश्च पञ्चम्यां दक्षिणा चान्याः सादसस्पत्या नाराशंसी वान्त्येति । सूक्तगता आद्याः पञ्चर्चो ब्रह्मणस्पतिदेवताकाः । तासां मध्ये स घा वीर इत्येतस्याश्चतुर्थ्या ऋचो ब्रह्मणस्पतिरिन्द्रश्च सोमश्चेति तिस्रो देवताः । त्वं तमित्येतस्याः पञ्चम्या दक्षिणया सह पूर्वोक्तास्तिस्रो देवताः । षष्ठीमारभ्य तिसृणां सदसस्पतिर्देवता । नराशंसमित्येतस्या नवम्याः सदसस्पतिर्नराशंसो वा विकल्प्यते ॥ विनियोगस्तु पूर्ववत् ॥
>
> pañcame 'nuvāke ṣaṭ sūktāni | tatra somānamityādikaṃ navarcaṃ prathamaṃ sūktam | ṛṣicchandasī pūrvavat | devatāviśeṣastvevamanukramyate | somānamiti pañca brāhmaṇaspatyāścaturthyāmindraśca somaśca pañcamyāṃ dakṣiṇā cānyāḥ sādasaspatyā nārāśaṃsī vāntyeti | sūktagatā ādyāḥ pañcarco brahmaṇaspatidevatākāḥ | tāsāṃ madhye sa ghā vīra ityetasyāścaturthyā ṛco brahmaṇaspatirindraśca somaśceti tisro devatāḥ | tvaṃ tamityetasyāḥ pañcamyā dakṣiṇayā saha pūrvoktāstisro devatāḥ | ṣaṣṭhīmārabhya tisṛṇāṃ sadasaspatirdevatā | narāśaṃsamityetasyā navamyāḥ sadasaspatirnarāśaṃso vā vikalpyate || viniyogastu pūrvavat ||

Translation: "In the fifth anuvāka there are six sūktas. Of them the sūkta beginning somānam, of nine ṛks, is the first. The ṛṣi and metre are as before. The particular deities are stated in the Anukramaṇī thus: 'somānam: five to Brahmaṇaspati; in the fourth Indra and Soma too; in the fifth Dakṣiṇā too; the others to Sadasaspati; the last optionally to Narāśaṃsa.' The first five ṛks of the sūkta have Brahmaṇaspati as deity. Among them, the fourth ṛk, sa ghā vīraḥ, has three deities: Brahmaṇaspati, Indra and Soma. The fifth, tvaṃ tam, has the three named before together with Dakṣiṇā. From the sixth on, three have Sadasaspati as deity. For the ninth, narāśaṃsam, Sadasaspati or Narāśaṃsa is the option. The application is as before."

Page 747 — Sūkta 18: introduction (end), heading, Rik 1 Saṃhitā and Pada

Anuvāda (Kannada rendering): With this sūkta the fifth anuvāka begins. In this anuvāka there are six sūktas. Of them the nine-ṛk sūkta somānam is the first. The ṛṣi and metres are as in the previous sūkta. The particular deities are stated in the Anukramaṇikā thus: "somānam iti pañca brāhmaṇaspatyaś caturthyām indraś ca somaś ca pañcamyāṃ dakṣiṇā cānyāḥ sādasaspatyā nārāśaṃsī vāntyeti"; that is, in the sūkta somānam of the fifth anuvāka, the deities are Brahmaṇaspati for the first three ṛks; Brahmaṇaspati, Indra and Soma for the fourth; Brahmaṇaspati and Dakṣiṇā for the fifth; Sadasaspati for the ṛks from the sixth to the eighth; and Sadasaspati or Narāśaṃsa for the ninth. The first five ṛks of the sūkta have Brahmaṇaspati as deity. Among them the fourth ṛk, sa ghā vīraḥ, has three deities, Brahmaṇaspati, Indra and Soma. The fifth ṛk, tvaṃ tam, has the three deities of the previous ṛk together with the deity Dakṣiṇā. The three ṛks from the sixth to the eighth have Sadasaspati as deity. The ninth ṛk, narāśaṃsam, has Sadasaspati or Narāśaṃsa as deity, optionally. The application is as before.

॥ ॐ ॥

॥ Sūkta — 18 ॥ ॥ Maṇḍala — 1 ॥ Anuvāka — 5 ॥ Sūkta — 18 ॥ ॥ Aṣṭaka — 1 ॥ Adhyāya — 1 ॥ Varga — 34, 35 ॥ ॥ Number of ṛks in the sūkta: 1–9 ॥ ॥ Ṛṣiḥ — Medhātithiḥ Kāṇvaḥ ॥ ॥ Devatā — 1–3 Brahmaṇaspatiḥ ॥ 4. Brahmaṇaspatir Indraś ca Somaś ca । 5. Brahmaṇaspatir Dakṣiṇā ca । 6–8. Sadasaspatiḥ । 9. Sadasaspatir Narāśaṃso vā ॥ ॥ Chandaḥ — Gāyatrī ॥

Sūkta 18, Rik 1

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

सो॒मा॒नं स्वर॑णं कृणुहि ब्रह्मणस्पते । क॒क्षीव॑न्तं य औ॒शि॒जः ॥१॥

somā́naṃ sváraṇaṃ kṛṇuhí brahmaṇaspate | kakṣīvántaṃ yá auśíjáḥ ||1||

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

सोमानम् । स्वरणम् । कृणुहि । ब्रह्मणः । पते ॥ कक्षीवन्तम् । यः । औशिजः ॥१॥

somānam | svaraṇam | kṛṇuhi | brahmaṇaḥ | pate || kakṣīvantam | yaḥ | auśijaḥ || 1||

Page 748 — Rik 1: bhāṣya

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

(पर आट्णारः is as printed (also in the Kannada on p. 750).)

हे ब्रह्मणस्पते एतन्नामकदेव सोमानमभिषवस्य कर्तारं मामनुष्ठातारं स्वरणं देवेषु प्रकाशनवन्तं कृणुहि । कुरु । अत्र दृष्टान्तः । कक्षीवन्तमेतन्नामकमृषिम् । इवशब्दोऽत्राध्याहर्तव्यः । कक्षीवान्यथा देवेषु प्रसिद्धस्तद्वदित्यर्थः । यः कक्षीवानृषिरौशिज उशिजः पुत्रः । तमिवेति पूर्वत्र योजना । कक्षीवतोऽनुष्ठातृषु मुनिषु प्रसिद्धिस्तैत्तिरीयैराम्नायते । एवं वै पर आट्णारः कक्षीवाँ औशिजो वीतहव्यः श्रायसस्त्रसदस्युः पौरुकुत्स्यः प्रजाकामा अचिन्वत । तै. सं. ५-६-५-३ । इति ।
ऋगन्तरेऽप्यृषित्वकथनेनानुष्ठातृत्वप्रसिद्धिः सूच्यते । अहं कक्षीवाँ ऋषिरस्मि विप्रः । ऋग्वे. ४-२६-१ । इति । तस्मादस्यानुष्ठातारं प्रति दृष्टान्तत्वं युक्तम् । सोऽयं मन्त्रो यास्केनैवं व्याख्यातः । सोमानं सोतारं प्रकाशनवन्तं कुरु ब्रह्मणस्पते कक्षीवन्तमिव य औशिजः । कक्षीवान्कक्ष्यावानौशिज उशिजः पुत्र उशिग्वष्टेः कान्तिकर्मणोऽपि त्वयं मनुष्यकक्ष एवाभिप्रेतः स्यात्तं सोमानं सोतारं मा प्रकाशनवन्तं कुरु ब्रह्मणस्पते । नि. ६-१० । इति । अस्मिन्मन्त्रे सोमानमिति पादेन कृणुहि ब्रह्मण इति पादेन सूचितं तात्पर्यं तैत्तिरीया आमनन्ति । सोमानं स्वरणमित्याह सोमपीथमेवाव रुन्द्धे ।

कृणुर्हि ब्रह्मणस्पत इत्याह ब्रह्मवचसमेवाव रुन्द्धे । तै. सं. १-५-८-४ । इति ॥ सोमानम् । सुनोतीति । षुञ् अभिषवे । अन्येभ्योऽपि दृश्यन्त इति मनिन् । दृशिग्रहणस्य विध्यन्तरोपसंग्रहणार्थत्वान्नित्त्वेऽपि नाद्युदात्तत्वं किंतु प्रत्ययस्वर एव । उञ्छादिषु वा सोमञ्शब्दो द्रष्टव्यः । पा. ६-१-१६० । बहुलग्रहणादौणादिको वा मनिर्द्रष्टव्यः । स्वरणम् । प्रख्यातम् । स्वृ शब्दोपतापयोः । कृत्यल्युटो बहुलम् । पा. ३-३-११३ । इति कर्मणि ल्युट् । लितीत्यकार उदात्तः । कृणुहि । कृवि हिंसाकरणयोश्च । इदितो नुम् धातोरिति नुम् । लोटः सिपो हिः । शपि प्राप्ते धिन्विकृण्व्योरच्चेत्युप्रत्ययः । तत्सन्नियोगेन वकारस्याकारः । तस्यातो लोप इति लोपः । तस्य स्थानिवद्भावान्न पूर्वस्य लघूपधगुणः । हेर्ङित्त्वादुकारस्य न गुणः । उतश्च प्रत्ययाच्छन्दो वा वचनम् । पा. ६-४-१०६-१ । इति हेर्लुङ्न । सतिशिष्टस्वरबलीयस्त्वमन्यत्र विकरणेभ्य इति वचनाद्धेरेव प्रत्ययस्वरेणोदात्तत्वम् । पादादित्वान्न निघातः । ब्रह्मणः । षष्ठ्याः पतिपुत्रेत्यादिना । पा. ८-३-५३ । संहितायां विसर्जनीयस्य सकारः । सुबामन्त्रिते पराङ्गवद्भावात्पदद्वयस्यामन्त्रितनिघातः । कक्षीवन्तम् । कक्षे भवा कक्ष्या अश्वोदरसंबन्धिनी रज्जुः । भवे छन्दसि । पा. ४-४-११० । इति यत्प्रत्ययः । सास्यास्तीत्यर्थ आसन्दीवदष्ठीवच्चक्रीवत्कक्षीवत् । पा. ८-२-१२ । इत्यृषिविशेषनाम कक्षीवच्छब्दो निपातितः । छन्दसीर इति वत्वम् । यप्रत्ययस्वरेण तदादेशो निपातित ईकार उदात्तः । मतुप्सुपौ पित्त्वादनुदात्तौ । औशिजः । वश कान्तौ । इजीत्यनुवृत्तौ वशेः किच्च । उ. २-७१ । इतीजिप्रत्ययः । तस्य कित्त्वाद्ग्रहिज्येत्यादिना संप्रसारणं परपूर्वत्वे गुणाभावः । तस्यापत्यम् । पा. ४-१-९२ । इति प्राग्दीव्यतोऽण् । पा. ४-१-८३ । आदिवृद्धिः । प्रत्ययस्वरेणान्तोदात्तत्वम् ॥

he brahmaṇaspate etannāmakadeva somānamabhiṣavasya kartāraṃ māmanuṣṭhātāraṃ svaraṇaṃ deveṣu prakāśanavantaṃ kṛṇuhi | kuru | atra dṛṣṭāntaḥ | kakṣīvantametannāmakamṛṣim | ivaśabdo 'trādhyāhartavyaḥ | kakṣīvānyathā deveṣu prasiddhastadvadityarthaḥ | yaḥ kakṣīvānṛṣirauśija uśijaḥ putraḥ | tamiveti pūrvatra yojanā | kakṣīvato 'nuṣṭhātṛṣu muniṣu prasiddhistaittirīyairāmnāyate | evaṃ vai para āṭṇāraḥ kakṣīvā~ auśijo vītahavyaḥ śrāyasastrasadasyuḥ paurukutsyaḥ prajākāmā acinvata | tai. saṃ. 5-6-5-3 | iti | ṛgantare 'pyṛṣitvakathanenānuṣṭhātṛtvaprasiddhiḥ sūcyate | ahaṃ kakṣīvā~ ṛṣirasmi vipraḥ | ṛgve. 4-26-1 | iti | tasmādasyānuṣṭhātāraṃ prati dṛṣṭāntatvaṃ yuktam | so 'yaṃ mantro yāskenaivaṃ vyākhyātaḥ | somānaṃ sotāraṃ prakāśanavantaṃ kuru brahmaṇaspate kakṣīvantamiva ya auśijaḥ | kakṣīvānkakṣyāvānauśija uśijaḥ putra uśigvaṣṭeḥ kāntikarmaṇo 'pi tvayaṃ manuṣyakakṣa evābhipretaḥ syāttaṃ somānaṃ sotāraṃ mā prakāśanavantaṃ kuru brahmaṇaspate | ni. 6-10 | iti | asminmantre somānamiti pādena kṛṇuhi brahmaṇa iti pādena sūcitaṃ tātparyaṃ taittirīyā āmananti | somānaṃ svaraṇamityāha somapīthamevāva runddhe | kṛṇuhi brahmaṇaspata ityāha brahmavarcasamevāva runddhe | tai. saṃ. 1-5-8-4 | iti || somānam | sunotīti | ṣuñ abhiṣave | anyebhyo 'pi dṛśyanta iti manin | dṛśigrahaṇasya vidhyantaropasaṃgrahaṇārthatvānnittve 'pi nādyudāttatvaṃ kiṃtu pratyayasvara eva | uñchādiṣu vā somañśabdo draṣṭavyaḥ | pā. 6-1-160 | bahulagrahaṇādauṇādiko vā manirdraṣṭavyaḥ | svaraṇam | prakhyātam | svṛ śabdopatāpayoḥ | kṛtyalyuṭo bahulam | pā. 3-3-113 | iti karmaṇi lyuṭ | litītyakāra udāttaḥ | kṛṇuhi | kṛvi hiṃsākaraṇayośca | idito num dhātoriti num | loṭaḥ sipo hiḥ | śapi prāpte dhinvikṛṇvyoraccetyupratyayaḥ | tatsanniyogena vakārasyākāraḥ | tasyāto lopa iti lopaḥ | tasya sthānivadbhāvānna pūrvasya laghūpadhaguṇaḥ | herṅittvādukārasya na guṇaḥ | utaśca pratyayācchando vā vacanam | pā. 6-4-106-1 | iti herluṅna |

satiśiṣṭasvarabalīyastvamanyatra vikaraṇebhya iti vacanāddhereva pratyayasvareṇodāttatvam | pādāditvānna nighātaḥ | brahmaṇaḥ | ṣaṣṭhyāḥ patiputretyādinā | pā. 8-3-53 | saṃhitāyāṃ visarjanīyasya sakāraḥ | subāmantrite parāṅgavadbhāvātpadadvayasyāmantritanighātaḥ | kakṣīvantam | kakṣe bhavā kakṣyā aśvodarasaṃbandhinī rajjuḥ | bhave chandasi | pā. 4-4-110 | iti yatpratyayaḥ | sāsyāstītyartha āsandīvadaṣṭhīvaccakrīvatkakṣīvat | pā. 8-2-12 | ityṛṣiviśeṣanāma kakṣīvacchabdo nipātitaḥ | chandasīra iti vatvam | yapratyayasvareṇa tadādeśo nipātita īkāra udāttaḥ | matupsupau pittvādanudāttau | auśijaḥ | vaśa kāntau | ijītyanuvṛttau vaśeḥ kicca | u. 2-71 | itījipratyayaḥ | tasya kittvādgrahijyetyādinā saṃprasāraṇaṃ parapūrvatve guṇābhāvaḥ | tasyāpatyam | pā. 4-1-92 | iti prāgdīvyato 'ṇ | pā. 4-1-83 | ādivṛddhiḥ | pratyayasvareṇāntodāttatvam ||

Translation: "O Brahmaṇaspati, god of that name, kṛṇuhi, make somānam, me the performer, the presser of soma, svaraṇam, renowned among the gods. Here is an example: kakṣīvantam, the ṛṣi of that name; the word 'like' is to be supplied: as Kakṣīvān is renowned among the gods, so; that ṛṣi Kakṣīvān who is auśija, the son of Uśij; the construction is 'like him' with what precedes. Kakṣīvān's renown among the sages who perform rites is recorded by the Taittirīyas: '... Kakṣīvān Auśija, Vītahavya Śrāyasa, Trasadasyu Paurukutsya, desiring offspring, piled [the fire]' (Tai. saṃ. 5-6-5-3). In another ṛk too, by the statement that he is a ṛṣi, his renown as a performer is indicated: 'I am Kakṣīvān, the ṛṣi, the inspired one' (Ṛgveda 4-26-1). So it is fitting that he is the example for the performer. Yāska explains this mantra thus: 'Make the somānam, the presser, renowned, O Brahmaṇaspati, like Kakṣīvān, who is Auśija; Kakṣīvān is one having a girth [kakṣyā]; Auśija is the son of Uśij; uśik is from vaś, an action of desire; but here a man's girth may be meant; make me, the presser, renowned, O Brahmaṇaspati' (Ni. 6-10). The purport suggested in this mantra by the pāda somānam and by the pāda kṛṇuhi brahmaṇaḥ the Taittirīyas declare: 'He says somānaṃ svaraṇam: he secures the drinking of soma. He says kṛṇuhi brahmaṇaspate: he secures brahmavarcas' (Tai. saṃ. 1-5-8-4)." (Grammatical tail: somānam, "he presses", ṣuñ abhiṣave, manin by anyebhyo 'pi dṛśyante; since the mention of dṛśi takes in other operations, though nit it is not initial udātta but has the suffix accent; or the word soman is to be seen in the uñcha-ādi (Pā. 6-1-160); or, by the mention of bahula, the manin is an Uṇādi one; svaraṇam, "renowned", svṛ śabdopatāpayoḥ, lyuṭ in the object sense by Pā. 3-3-113, the a udātta by liti; kṛṇuhi, kṛvi hiṃsākaraṇayoś ca, num by idito num dhātoḥ, hi for sip of loṭ, in place of śap the suffix u by dhinvikṛṇvyor a ca, with it a for the v, dropped by ato lopaḥ, and since that is sthānivat no laghūpadha-guṇa of what precedes, no guṇa of the u as hi is ṅit, the hi not dropped by Pā. 6-4-106-1, and by the statement on satiśiṣṭa accent "except for vikaraṇas" the hi alone is udātta by the suffix accent, not lowered at the start of the pāda; brahmaṇaḥ, s for the visarga in the Saṃhitā by Pā. 8-3-53, both words unaccented as a vocative by parāṅgavadbhāva; kakṣīvantam, kakṣyā, "being at the girth", the girth-rope of a horse's belly, yat by Pā. 4-4-110; "it has that": the ṛṣi's name kakṣīvat is given ready-made by Pā. 8-2-12, v by chandasīraḥ, the ī given as its substitute udātta by the accent of the suffix ya, matup and sup unaccented as pit; auśijaḥ, vaśa kāntau, iji by vaśeḥ kic ca (Uṇ. 2-71), saṃprasāraṇa by grahijyā... as it is kit, no guṇa; aṇ by Pā. 4-1-92 and 4-1-83, initial vṛddhi, final udātta by the suffix accent.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

हे ब्रह्मणस्पते (he brahmaṇaspate) — O Brahmaṇaspati | यः (yaḥ) — who | औशिजः (auśijaḥ) — the son of Uśik, the ṛṣi called Kakṣīvān, was | कक्षीवन्तम् (kakṣīvantam) — like that ṛṣi Kakṣīvān | सोमानम् (somānam) — the one who prepares soma juice (me, the sacrificer) | स्वरणम् (svaraṇam) — renowned among the gods, or full of brahmavarcas | कृणुहि (kṛṇuhi) — make.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

Kakṣīvān, son of Uśik, is renowned among the gods as one who performed the soma sacrifice. O Brahmaṇaspati, make me too, the performer of the sacrifice, renowned as a performer of soma sacrifice, like that Kakṣīvān.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> O Brahmanaspati, make (me) who offer Soma juice illustrious among the gods like Kakshivan, the son of Usij.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

The deity of this sūkta is Brahmaṇaspati. Who is this Brahmaṇaspati? What are his place and rank among the gods? We explain this briefly. In the Nirukta (Ni. 10-14) Yāska says this about Brahmaṇaspati:

> ब्रह्मणस्पतिः । ब्रह्मणस्पतिर्ब्रह्मणः पाता वा पालयिता वा ॥
>
> brahmaṇaspatiḥ | brahmaṇaspatirbrahmaṇaḥ pātā vā pālayitā vā ||

("Brahmaṇaspati: the protector or guardian of brahman.") Here the word brahman means food, wealth and hymn (Ni. 3-9). So brahmaṇaḥ pātā means annasya pātā, the lord or master of food. As an example of how Brahmaṇaspati is lord of food, Yāska gives the ṛk

> अश्मास्यमवतं ब्रह्मणस्पतिर्मधुधारमभि यमोजसातृणत् । तमेव विश्वे पपिरे स्वर्दृशो बहु साकं सिसिचुरुत्समुद्रिणम् ॥ (ऋ. सं. २-२४-४)
>
> aśmāsyamavataṃ brahmaṇaspatirmadhudhāramabhi yamojasātṛṇat | tameva viśve papire svardṛśo bahu sākaṃ sisicurutsamudriṇam || (ṛ. saṃ. 2-24-4)

("The stone-mouthed, honey-streaming one which Brahmaṇaspati pierced with might: from it all the sun-seers drank; together they poured out much the watery spring": mine and tentative.) and for it gives the Nirukta

> अशनवन्तमास्यन्तनवन्तमवातितं ब्रह्मणस्पतिर्मधुधारमभियमोजसा बलेनाभ्यतृणत्तमेव सर्वे पिबन्ति रश्मयः सूर्यदृशो बह्वेनं सह सिञ्चन्त्युत्समुद्रिणमुदकवन्तम् ॥ (नि. १०-१२)
>
> aśanavantamāsyantanavantamavātitaṃ brahmaṇaspatirmadhudhāramabhiyamojasā balenābhyatṛṇattameva sarve pibanti raśmayaḥ sūryadṛśo bahvenaṃ saha siñcantyutsamudriṇamudakavantam || (ni. 10-12)

(आस्यन्तनवन्तम् is as printed.) ("Having food, having an outflow, unbroken, the honey-streaming one which Brahmaṇaspati pierced with force, with strength: from it all the rays, the sun-seers, drink; together they pour it out abundantly, the spring that has water": mine and tentative.)

The chief intent is this: since this Brahmaṇaspati, with the help of the sun's rays, makes the clouds drink the water of the ocean and makes that water fall especially on the earth as rain, herbs and trees come from the rain, and from the herbs and trees food and the like are obtained; so Brahmaṇaspati is the protector of food. When the word brahman is taken as hymn or wealth, Brahmaṇaspati is the lord of mantra, and must be called the lord of wealth. The commentator states this very sense when explaining the ṛk cited above.

Mantras about Brahmaṇaspati are especially numerous in the Ṛgveda. In those mantras Brahmaṇaspati is said to give wealth and food. Many doubt whether this Brahmaṇaspati is a separate deity or another form of Agni. Since other deities such as Agni also give wealth and food, some argue that Brahmaṇaspati is a special form of Agni. Yāska is silent on this matter; that is, he has said nothing clearly. In the ṛks about Brahmaṇaspati too there is not enough basis to say this deity is a form of Agni. So it may freely be said that Brahmaṇaspati is a separate deity, like Indra and Agni.

Somānam:

> अभिषवस्य कर्तारम्
>
> abhiṣavasya kartāram

("The doer of the pressing.") The intent is: (me) who have prepared the soma juice.

Svaraṇam:

> देवेषु प्रकाशनवन्तम् । प्रख्यातमित्यर्थः ॥
>
> deveṣu prakāśanavantam | prakhyātamityarthaḥ ||

("Renowned among the gods; that is, famous.") The intent is: renowned and famous among the gods.

Kakṣīvantam, auśijaḥ: the ṛṣi Kakṣīvān is the son born to the ṛṣi Dīrghatamas from a woman named Uśik. It is told in the Purāṇas and elsewhere that this Uśik was a maid of the queen of the king of Kaliṅga; that the king of Kaliṅga, wishing for a son, sent his wife to the ṛṣi Dīrghatamas; and that the king's wife, unwilling, secretly sent her maid Uśik, and this son Kakṣīvān was born to her from the ṛṣi Dīrghatamas. Though this ṛṣi Kakṣīvān was born of a kṣatriya woman [as printed], by contact with brāhmaṇas he is known as a brāhmaṇa. This ṛṣi is the seer of many ṛks of the Ṛgveda. That this ṛṣi Kakṣīvān is renowned among those who perform sacrifices is stated in Taittirīya-saṃhitā 5-6-5-3:

> एवं वै पर आट्णारः कक्षीवाँ औशिजो वीतहव्यः श्रायसस्त्रसदस्युः पौरुकुत्स्यः प्रजाकामा अचिन्वत ॥
>
> evaṃ vai para āṭṇāraḥ kakṣīvā~ auśijo vītahavyaḥ śrāyasastrasadasyuḥ paurukutsyaḥ prajākāmā acinvata ||

So this ṛṣi is very renowned both in composing mantras and in performing sacrifices. Medhātithi, the ṛṣi of this sūkta, has prayed to the deity Brahmaṇaspati to make him renowned like Kakṣīvān.

Page 751 — Rik 1: grammar

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 751–754, noted briefly)

सोमानम् (somānam): sunotīti somā; the root ṣuñ abhiṣave; s for ṣ by dhātvādeḥ ṣaḥ saḥ. The suffix manin by anyebhyo 'pi dṛśyante. Here the mention of dṛśi serves to enjoin other operations; so, though the suffix is nit, initial udātta by ñnityādiḥ does not come; the suffix accent alone comes. Or it is widely accepted that the uñcha-ādi is an ākṛtigaṇa; so, putting the word soman in the uñcha-ādi, final udātta may be stated by "uñchādīnāṃ ca" (Pā. sū. 6-1-160). Or, since "uṇādayo bahulam" (Pā. sū. 3-3-1) contains the word bahula, the Uṇādi suffix manin comes after the root su; so it is final udātta by the suffix accent. In any case the word soman is final udātta, and in the accusative singular becomes somānam.

स्वरणम् (svaraṇam): meaning "renowned". The root svṛ śabdopatāpayoḥ. By "kṛtyalyuṭo bahulam" (Pā. sū. 3-3-113) the suffix lyuṭ in the object sense; by "yuvor anākau" (Pā. sū. 7-1-1) ana for yu; guṇa followed by r; by liti the a of sva before the suffix is udātta; by raṣābhyām ṇ for n. Accusative singular am; the pūrvarūpa by ami pūrvaḥ: svaraṇam.

कृणुहि (kṛṇuhi): the root kṛvi hiṃsākaraṇayoś ca. The augment num by "idito num dhātoḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-1-58): kṛnv; after it loṭ, 2nd singular sip. By "ser hy apic ca" (Pā. sū. 3-4-87) hi for sip; śap is due by kartari śap, but by its exception "dhinvikṛṇvyor a ca" (Pā. sū. 3-1-80) the vikaraṇa u, and with it a for the v: kṛna + u + hi. By "ato lopaḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-4-48) the a drops: kṛn + u + hi. Now, with the suffix u as condition, the laghūpadha-guṇa would be due by "pugantalaghūpadhasya ca" (Pā. sū. 7-3-86); but by "acaḥ parasmin pūrvavidhau" (Pā. sū. 1-1-57) the loss of a is sthānivat, so the laghūpadha-guṇa does not come. With hi as condition, guṇa would be due for the u in kṛnu by "sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-3-84); but by "sārvadhātukam apit" (Pā. sū. 1-2-4) hi is ṅit, so by "kṅiti ca" (Pā. sū. 1-1-5) guṇa is barred. By "utaś ca pratyayād asaṃyogapūrvāt" (Pā. sū. 6-4-106) luk of hi would be due; but by the statement "utaś ca pratyayāc chando vā vacanam" (Pā. sū. 6-4-106-1), that in the Veda utaś ca pratyayāt applies optionally, in one alternative the loss does not come. In "satiśiṣṭasvarabalīyastvam anyatra vikaraṇebhyaḥ", sati means "having come about", śiṣṭa means "enjoined". When udātta is due for several letters, the udātta enjoined last, after udātta has come for some, is the stronger. But since it is said that this part does not hold for vikaraṇas, the accent that would come to the vikaraṇa u, though satiśiṣṭa, is not the stronger. So the udātta comes to hi by the suffix accent. Since it stands at the start of a pāda, the bar apādādau comes, so it is not wholly unaccented by tiṅṅatiṅaḥ.

Page 752 — Rik 1: grammar

ब्रह्मणस्पते (brahmaṇaspate): with brahmaṇaḥ pate, by "ṣaṣṭhyāḥ patiputrapṛṣṭhapārapadapayasposheṣu" (Pā. sū. 8-3-53), when pati and the other words follow, the visarga belonging to the genitive takes s; so in the Saṃhitā the visarga becomes s. Pate is a vocative. By “subāmantrite parāṅgavat svare” (Pā. sū. 2-1-2) brahmaṇaḥ is treated as part of what follows; so by “āmantritasya ca” (Pā. sū. 8-1-19) both words are unaccented.

कक्षीवन्तम् (kakṣīvantam): kakṣa means the side; with the analysis kakṣe bhavā, by “bhave chandasi” (Pā. sū. 4-4-110) yat; since the feminine is meant, the suffix ṭāp: kakṣyā. The analysis kakṣyā asya asti. By “tad asyāsty asminn iti matup” (Pā. sū. 5-2-94) the suffix matup: kakṣyā + mat. “Āsandīvad-aṣṭhīvac-cakrīvat-kakṣīvad-rumaṇvac-carmaṇvatī” (Pā. sū. 8-2-12): the sense of the sūtra is that these six words are given ready-made when a name is meant. Nipātana means pronouncing a form containing an operation not got from another rule. In kakṣyā no saṃprasāraṇa comes from another rule; since this sūtra pronounces the operation of saṃprasāraṇa within it, saṃprasāraṇa comes: i for y; the pūrvarūpa by saṃprasāraṇāc ca; lengthening by “halaḥ” (Pā. sū. 6-4-2): kakṣīmat. Now by “chandasīraḥ” (Pā. sū. 8-2-15) the m of a matup after a word ending in an i-vowel or in r takes v: kakṣīvat. After it the suffix su. By “atvasantasya cādhātoḥ” (Pā. sū. 6-4-14), when a sarvanāmasthāna suffix other than the vocative follows, the penultimate of an aṅga ending in atu and of a non-root aṅga ending in as is lengthened: the penultimate lengthening. By “ugid acām” (Pā. sū. 7-1-70) the augment num. Though the augment num is later and nityа, by force of the statement it must be taken that first comes the lengthening, then the augment num. By “halṅyābbhyaḥ…” (Pā. sū. 6-1-68) the loss of su; by “saṃyogāntasya lopaḥ” (Pā. sū. 8-2-23) the loss of t. When the loss of n is to be made by nalopaḥ prātipadikāntasya, the loss of the conjunct final counts as not done by “pūrvatrāsiddham” (Pā. sū. 8-2-1); so the n is not dropped: kakṣīvān. Kakṣīvān is the ṛṣi’s name. In the sūtra “na saṃprasāraṇe saṃprasāraṇam” (Pā. sū. “9-1-37” [as printed, for 6-1-37]), Patañjali in the Mahābhāṣya has begun the statement “kakṣyāyāḥ saṃjñāyām” (Pā. sū. 6-1-37-2), that when a name is meant saṃprasāraṇa is to be stated for the word kakṣyā before the suffix matup. By this very statement the form kakṣīvān is established. So some think the reading kakṣīvat in the sūtra āsandīvat… is an interpolation. By “saṃjñāyām” (Pā. sū. 8-2-11), when a name is meant, v for the m of the suffix matup; so the v for m is also established. So it cannot be said that the word kakṣīvat must be placed in the sūtra to give the v ready-made. The sense of chandasīraḥ is that the m of a matup enjoined after a word ending in an i-vowel or in r takes v. So in revān the v for m is established with no trouble; there is no need to strive as seen in the next mantra. Here matup is enjoined after the word kakṣyā, not after an i-final word. So here the justification of v by “chandasīraḥ” (Pā. sū. 8-2-15) is not quite right; it is proper to justify the v for m by saṃjñāyām. After kakṣīvat the accusative singular am; the augment num by ugid acām: kakṣīvantam. The suffix yat is udātta by the suffix accent; the ī that comes as its substitute is udātta by sthānivadbhāva; the suffix matup, being pit, and am, being a sup, are unaccented by anudāttau suppitau.

औशिजः (auśijaḥ): the root vaśa kāntau. With iji carried on from “paṇer ij ādeś ca vaḥ” (Uṇ. sū. 2-70), by “vaśeḥ kic ca” (Uṇ. sū. 2-71) the suffix iji comes after the root vaśa kāntau, and it is kit; so after the root vaś the suffix iji. Vaś + iji: the suffix is kit; so by “grahijyāvayivyadhivaṣṭi…” (Pā. sū. 6-1-16) the root takes saṃprasāraṇa, u for v; the pūrvarūpa by saṃprasāraṇāc ca. Since the suffix is kit, the bar kṅiti ca comes, so the laghūpadha-guṇa by pugantalaghūpadhasya ca does not come for uś: uśij. The analysis is uśijaḥ apatyaṃ pumān. “Tasyāpatyam” (Pā. sū. 4-1-92). “Prāg dīvyato ’ṇ” (Pā. sū. “5-1-83” [as read, ?; for 4-1-83]): up to the sūtra tena dīvyati the heading aṇ runs, so the word aṇ is carried on. The sense of the sūtra [tasyāpatyam] is: after a syntactically fit word ending in the genitive, which is one of the ṅyanta, āpanta or prātipadikas understood from the word first pronounced in the rule enjoining the taddhita suffix, aṇ comes optionally in the sense of offspring; it comes after; it is called a suffix;

Page 754 (upper) — Rik 1: grammar (end)

it is initial udātta; and it is a taddhita: so the Kannada sense. When the suffix aṇ comes by this sūtra, uśij + a; by “taddhiteṣv acām ādeḥ” (Pā. sū. 7-2-117) the initial vṛddhi, au for u: auśija. After it the nominative singular su, ru and visarga: auśijaḥ. Auśija is final udātta by the suffix accent [as printed].

॥१॥

---

Page 754 (lower) — Sūkta 18, Rik 2

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

यो रेवान्यो अमीवहा वसुवित्पुष्टिवर्धनः । [accent ?] स नः सिषक्तु यस्तुरः ॥२॥ [accent ?]

yo revān yó amīvahā vasuvít puṣṭivárdhanaḥ | [accent ?] sá naḥ siṣaktu yás turáḥ || 2|| [accent ?]

(Read as printed: strokes over म (अमीव), व, पु and र्ध, bars under रे, व (अमीवहा), सु and ष्टि in line 2 a stroke over नः and a bar under स्तु; the bar under क्तु is not certain.)

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

(सिसक्तु with स, is as printed in the Pada.)

यः । रेवान् । यः । अमीवऽहा । वसुऽवित् । पुष्टिऽवर्धनः ॥ सः । नः । सिसक्तु । यः । तुरः ॥२॥

yaḥ | revān | yaḥ | amīva ’hā | vasu ’vit | puṣṭi ’vardhanaḥ || saḥ | naḥ | sisaktu | yaḥ | turaḥ ||2||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

यो ब्रह्मणस्पती रेवान्धनवान्यश्चामीवहा रोगाणां हन्ता वसुविद्धनलब्धा पुष्टिवर्धनः पुष्टेर्वर्धयिता यश्च तुरस्त्वरोपेतः शीघ्रफलदः स ब्रह्मणस्पतिर्नोऽस्मान् सिषक्तु । सेवताम् । परिगृह्यानुगृह्णात्वित्यर्थः । अत्र सिषक्तुशब्दस्य सेवार्थत्वं यास्क आह । सिषक्तु सचत इति सेवमानस्य । नि. ३-२१ । इति प्रत्याय्यकौ शब्दाविति शेषः ॥ रेवान् । रयिरस्यास्तीति मतुप् । रयेर्मतौ बहुलम् । पा. ६-१-३७-६ । इति यकारस्य संप्रसारणं परपूर्वत्वम् । छन्दसीर इति वत्वम् । आद्गुणः । ननु वत्वस्यासिद्धत्वाद्बहिरङ्गत्वाच्च प्रागेव गुणे कृते इवर्णाभावान्न वत्वम् । न चान्तादिवच्च । पा. ६-१-८५ । इत्यादिवद्भावेनेवर्णसंपादनं वर्णाश्रयविधौ तत्प्रतिषेधात् । अन्यथा खड्गाभिरित्यत्र सवर्णदीर्घस्यान्तवद्भावेनाकारत्वादतो भिस ऐस् । पा. ७-१-९ ।

इत्यैसादेशः स्यात् । न च निरवकाशत्वेन वत्वस्यानवकाशत्वम् । अग्निवान्वैदर्भस्तम्बः । उप ब्रह्माणि हरिवः । ऋग्वे. १०-१०४-६ । इत्यादावनवकाशलाभात्

yo brahmaṇaspatī revāndhanavānyaścāmīvahā rogāṇāṃ hantā vasuviddhanalabdhā puṣṭivardhanaḥ puṣṭervardhayitā yaśca turastvaropetaḥ śīghraphaladaḥ sa brahmaṇaspatirno 'smān siṣaktu | sevatām | parigṛhyānugṛhṇātvityarthaḥ | atra siṣaktuśabdasya sevārthatvaṃ yāska āha | siṣaktu sacata iti sevamānasya | ni. 3-21 | iti pratyāyyakau śabdāviti śeṣaḥ || revān | rayirasyāstīti matup | rayermatau bahulam | pā. 6-1-37-6 | iti yakārasya saṃprasāraṇaṃ parapūrvatvam | chandasīra iti vatvam | ādguṇaḥ | nanu vatvasyāsiddhatvādbahiraṅgatvācca prāgeva guṇe kṛte ivarṇābhāvānna vatvam | na cāntādivacca | pā. 6-1-85 | ityādivadbhāvenevarṇasaṃpādanaṃ varṇāśrayavidhau tatpratiṣedhāt | anyathā khaṭvābhirityatra savarṇadīrghasyāntavadbhāvenākāratvādato bhisa ais | pā. 7-1-9 | ityaisādeśaḥ syāt | na ca niravakāśatvena vatvasyānavakāśatvam | agnivānvaidarbhastambaḥ | upa brahmāṇi harivaḥ | ṛgve. 10-104-6 | ityādāvanavakāśalābhāt

Page 755 — Rik 2: bhāṣya (end), word-meanings, overall sense, English

सत्यम् । अत्र गुणप्रवृत्तेः प्रागिकारात्परो मतुप् । कदाचिदिवर्णात्परस्य मतुपः पश्चादेकारादेशेनेवर्णाभावेऽपि भवति वत्वमिति छन्दसीर इति सूत्रकृता विवक्षितम् । अमुमेवाभिप्रायेण हरिव इत्यादिकमुदाहृत्याप्यन्ते वृत्तिकृता आरेवानित्युदाहृतम् । का. ८-२-१५ । ह्रस्वनुड्भ्यामित्यत्रारेशब्दान्मतुप उदात्तत्वं वक्तव्यम् । पा. ६-१-१७६-१ । इत्यत्रारेशब्दो रेशब्दस्याप्युपलक्षणम् । अत एव हि रेवाँ इन्द्रेत्यादौ मतुप उदात्तत्वं दृष्टम् । अथवा ह्रस्वनुड्भ्यामित्यत्रापि कदाचिद्ध्रस्वात्परस्य मतुप उदात्तत्वमित्येव व्याख्येयम् । एवं च संप्रसारणपरपूर्वत्वयोः कृतयोर्गुणात्प्राग्ध्रस्वात्परो मतुबिति रेवानारेवानित्यादौ सर्वत्रोदात्तत्वं सिध्यति । अयमेव सूत्रकृतोऽभिप्रायो वार्तिककृता व्याख्यात इति ॥ अमीवहा । अम रोग इत्येतस्माद्वन्प्रत्ययेनामीवशब्दो निपातितः । तं हन्तीति बहुलं छन्दसीति क्विप् । कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् । वसुवित् । वसु विन्दतीति वसुवित् । क्विप्चेति क्विप् । उत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् । पुष्टिवर्धनः । वर्धयतेर्नन्द्यादित्वाल्ल्युः । पा. ३-१-१३४ । लितीति प्रत्ययात्पूर्वस्योदात्तत्वम् । पुष्टेर्वर्धन इति कर्मणि षष्ठ्याः समासः । कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् । सिषक्तु । षच समवाये । लोटि बहुलं छन्दसीति शपः श्लुः । श्लाविति द्वित्वे हलादिशेषे बहुलं छन्दसीत्यभ्यासस्याकारस्येकारः । पा. ७-४-७८ । तुरः । तुर त्वरणे । इगुपधज्ञाप्रीकिरः कः । कः प्रत्ययस्वरः ॥

satyam | atra guṇapravṛtteḥ prāgikārātparo matup | kadācidivarṇātparasya matupaḥ paścādekārādeśenevarṇābhāve 'pi bhavati vatvamiti chandasīra iti sūtrakṛtā vivakṣitam | amumevābhiprāyeṇa hariva ityādikamudāhṛtyāpyante vṛttikṛtā ārevānityudāhṛtam | kā. 8-2-15 | hrasvanuḍbhyāmityatrāreśabdānmatupa udāttatvaṃ vaktavyam | pā. 6-1-176-1 | ityatrāreśabdo reśabdasyāpyupalakṣaṇam | ata eva hi revā~ indretyādau matupa udāttatvaṃ dṛṣṭam | athavā hrasvanuḍbhyāmityatrāpi kadāciddhrasvātparasya matupa udāttatvamityeva vyākhyeyam | evaṃ ca saṃprasāraṇaparapūrvatvayoḥ kṛtayorguṇātprāgdhrasvātparo matubiti revānārevānityādau sarvatrodāttatvaṃ sidhyati | ayameva sūtrakṛto 'bhiprāyo vārtikakṛtā vyākhyāta iti || amīvahā | ama roga ityetasmādvanpratyayenāmīvaśabdo nipātitaḥ | taṃ hantīti bahulaṃ

chandasīti kvip | kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvam | vasuvit | vasu vindatīti vasuvit | kvipceti kvip | uttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvam | puṣṭivardhanaḥ | vardhayaternandyāditvāllyuḥ | pā. 3-1-134 | litīti pratyayātpūrvasyodāttatvam | puṣṭervardhana iti karmaṇi ṣaṣṭhyāḥ samāsaḥ | kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvam | siṣaktu | ṣaca samavāye | loṭi bahulaṃ chandasīti śapaḥ śluḥ | ślāviti dvitve halādiśeṣe bahulaṃ chandasītyabhyāsasyākārasyekāraḥ | pā. 7-4-78 | turaḥ | tura tvaraṇe | igupadhajñāprīkiraḥ kaḥ | kaḥ pratyayasvaraḥ ||

Translation: "The Brahmaṇaspati who is revān, wealthy, and who is amīvahā, slayer of diseases, vasuvit, finder of wealth, puṣṭivardhana, increaser of nourishment, and who is tura, swift, giving fruit quickly: may that Brahmaṇaspati siṣaktu, serve us: that is, take us up and favour us. Yāska states that siṣaktu means serving: 'siṣaktu, sacate: of one who serves' (Ni. 3-21); 'two words to be understood' is to be supplied." (Grammatical tail: revān, matup in "he has rayi", saṃprasāraṇa of the y by Pā. 6-1-37-6, the pūrvarūpa, v by chandasīraḥ, guṇa by ād guṇaḥ. An objection: since the v is asiddha and bahiraṅga, guṇa comes first and there is no i, so no v; nor can the i be supplied by treating it as the beginning by antādivac ca (Pā. 6-1-85), since that is barred in a rule depending on letters; otherwise in khaṭvābhiḥ the lengthened vowel, treated as the end, would be a and take ais by Pā. 7-1-9; nor is the v rule left without scope, since it has scope in agnivān vaidarbhaḥ stambaḥ, upa brahmāṇi harivaḥ (Ṛgveda 10-104-6). Answer: true; here, before guṇa applies, the matup follows the i; the author of the sūtra meant chandasīraḥ to give v even when, after a matup once following an i, the e substitute has removed the i. With this intent the Vṛttikāra, after giving harivaḥ and the rest, gives ārevān at the end (Kā. 8-2-15). In the statement on hrasvanuḍbhyām, "the udātta of matup after the word āre" (Pā. 6-1-176-1), āre stands also for re; hence the udātta of matup seen in revāṁ indra and the like. Or in hrasvanuḍbhyām too the sense is "the udātta of a matup once following a short vowel"; thus, saṃprasāraṇa and the pūrvarūpa done, before guṇa the matup follows a short vowel, and the udātta is established everywhere, in revān, ārevān and the rest. This intent of the sūtra's author is what the Vārttikakāra explained. Amīvahā, amīva given ready-made with the suffix van after ama roge; "he kills it", kvip by bahulaṃ chandasi, the accent of the kṛt final member; vasuvit, "he finds wealth", kvip by kvip ca, the accent of the final member; puṣṭivardhanaḥ, lyu after the causative of vṛdh as one of the nandy-ādi (Pā. 3-1-134), udātta before the suffix by liti, compounded with the genitive of the object, puṣṭer vardhanaḥ, the accent of the kṛt final member; siṣaktu, ṣaca samavāye, ślu for śap in the loṭ by bahulaṃ chandasi, doubling by ślau, halādiḥ śeṣaḥ, i for the a of the abhyāsa by bahulaṃ chandasi (Pā. 7-4-78); turaḥ, tura tvaraṇe, ka by igupadhajñāprīkiraḥ kaḥ, the suffix accent.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

यः (yaḥ) — which Brahmaṇaspati | रेवान् (revān) — is possessed of wealth | यः (yaḥ) — which Brahmaṇaspati | अमीवहा (amīvahā) — removes diseases | वसुवित् (vasuvit) — provides wealth | पुष्टिवर्धनः (puṣṭivardhanaḥ) — increases nourishment | यः (yaḥ) — who | तुरः (turaḥ) — gives fruit quickly | सः (saḥ) — that Brahmaṇaspati | नः (naḥ) — us | सिषक्तु (siṣaktu) — may he serve (favour).

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

Brahmaṇaspati is very rich, a giver of wealth to others, one who brings about nourishment, a quick giver of fruit. May such a Brahmaṇaspati favour us.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> May he (Brahmanaspati) who is wealthy, the healer of disease; the acquirer of riches, incraaser [sic] of nourishments, the prompt bestower of rewards be favourable to us.

Page 756 — Rik 2: Special Topics and grammar

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Revān:

> रयिरस्यास्तीति रेवान् ॥
>
> rayirasyāstīti revān ||

("He has rayi: revān.") One who has wealth.

Amīvahā:

> अम रोगः । तं हन्तीति अमीवहा ॥
>
> ama rogaḥ | taṃ hantīti amīvahā ||

("Ama is disease; he kills it: amīvahā.") One who destroys disease.

Turaḥ:

> त्वरोपेतः शीघ्रफलदः ॥
>
> tvaropetaḥ śīghraphaladaḥ ||

("Possessed of speed, giving fruit quickly.") One who gives fruits quickly. Though the word tura means "possessed of speed, quick", that is, one who works quickly or fast, here the commentator has taken the sense "one who gives fruit to rites quickly".

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 756–759, noted briefly)

रेवान् (revān): the analysis rayiḥ asya asti. By "tad asyāsty asminn iti matup" (Pā. sū. 5-2-94) the suffix matup; the su that is part of the stem takes luk by supo dhātu…: rayi + mat. By "rayer matau bahulam" (Pā. sū. 6-1-37-6), when the suffix matup follows, the word rayi takes saṃprasāraṇa variously: saṃprasāraṇa, i for y; the pūrvarūpa by "saṃprasāraṇāc ca" (Pā. sū. 6-1-108): ra + i + mat. By "chandasīraḥ" (Pā. sū. 8-2-15) v for the m; by "ād guṇaḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-1-87) e for a + i: re + vat. With ra + i + mat, does the v of chandasīraḥ come first, or the guṇa of ād guṇaḥ? Chandasīraḥ is in the second pāda of the eighth chapter; the sūtra ād guṇaḥ is in the first pāda of the sixth chapter. So by "pūrvatrāsiddham" (Pā. sū. 8-2-1), when the guṇa of the earlier rule is made, the v of the later rule, of the tripādī, is asiddha. So it is proper that guṇa comes first. Further, ghaṭakanimittakam antaraṅgam is the definition of antaraṅga. Here, since guṇa is conditioned only by a pair of letters included in the group of conditions of the bahiraṅga rule, the v rule, guṇa is antaraṅga; since the v is conditioned by what contains such a pair of letters, the v is bahiraṅga. So by "asiddhaṃ bahiraṅgam antaraṅge" (paribhāṣā 50), when the antaraṅga guṇa is made, the bahiraṅga v rule is asiddha. For these two reasons it is right that guṇa comes first. If guṇa comes first in this way, it becomes re + mat. Now there is no matup after an i-final word. So how does the v come, by "chandasīraḥ" (8-2-15), v for the m of a matup after an i-final or r-final word? Since "antādivac ca" (Pā. sū. 6-1-85) says a single substitute is like the end of what precedes and like the beginning of what follows, here we resort to its being like the beginning of what follows, as the intended form requires. Since there is the bar "ubhayata āśrayaṇe nāntādivat", being like the end of the former and like the beginning of the latter cannot both be stated at once. So for the single substitute in the form of guṇa, what follows is the i; it is like its beginning, so it becomes like the i

Page 757 — Rik 2: grammar

Page 758 — Rik 2: grammar

itself. So if it is said that following an i is possible, that cannot be said, because i-ness is a property residing in a letter alone. So, since na vā atādrūpyātideśāt [is said], there is no need to make the statement that, in a rule depending on letters, being like the end or the beginning does not come; for in na vā atādrūpyātideśāt, tādrūpya means a property residing in a letter, and the extension does not come from this sūtra at all; since it is said that the statement mentioned before need not be begun, the extension by antādivac ca does not come for the letter-property i-ness. If the extension antādivac ca were admitted in a rule depending on letters, the substitute ais would have to come in khaṭvābhiḥ: for after the word khaṭvā, ṭāp, lengthening of like vowels: khaṭvā. Though this does not end in short a, the letter before the single substitute is short; so by being like the end of the former, the a-ness of the former letter comes to the single substitute. So, since bhis follows a short-a-final, the substitute ais would have to come by "ato bhisa ais" (Pā. sū. 7-1-9). So when an operation depending on letters is made, being like the beginning does not come. In are + mat there is no following an i-final; how then does the v come? For this we say that the v, being an exception, comes earlier than the antaraṅga. For niravakāśo vidhir apavādaḥ: scope means some application in an instance; if that is not found, the rule is an exception. Here, if guṇa comes before the v, it may happen so in the other places too. Since no other instance is found for it, we would call it an exception. Being an exception, we would say the v comes earlier than guṇa; but that cannot be said, because it could be said only on the view in which the v rule is wholly useless. But the v rule has scope in agnivān and harivaḥ in the mantras "agnivān vaidarbhaḥ stambaḥ" (Tai. Brā. "2-2-1-5" [?]) and "upa brahmāṇi harivaḥ" (Ṛ. saṃ. 10-104-6). So this is not an exception. For that reason too it cannot be said that the v comes first as an exception. So how revān is established: though what was said before is true, here, before guṇa comes, with ra + i + mat, the matup stands after the i; so, even if the e substitute comes later to the matup that once followed an i and there is no following an i-final, the v comes; that is why the author, giving harivaḥ and other examples for chandasīraḥ, also cited ārevān at the end. In hrasvanuḍbhyāṃ matup (Pā. sū. 6-1-176), there is the statement "āreśabdāt matupaḥ" (Pā. sū. Vā. 6-1-176-1), that a matup after the word āre is udātta. Here the word āre also stands for the word re; the sense is that a matup after the word re should be taken as udātta too. That is why in places such as revāṁ indra the matup is udātta. Or, in hrasvamaḍbhyāṃ matup [as printed] too the meaning to be stated is that a matup that once followed a short-final is udātta. So, whether when the word rayi precedes, or when, after the saṃprasāraṇa and pūrvarūpa of y, it stands as ra + i + mat before guṇa comes, the matup follows a short-final; so in all instances, revān, ārevān and the rest, the udātta accent of the matup is established. This is what the sūtrakāra intended; the vārttikakāra explained just this. So in revān both the v and the accent are established. If chandasīraḥ is explained as in the previous mantra, that the m of a matup enjoined after an i-final or r-final word takes v, then even though there is no i after guṇa, the matup is enjoined after the word rayi; since it is enjoined after an i-final, there is no obstacle at all to the v. In hrasvanuḍbhyām the Bhāṣya has the vārttika "reśabdāc ca". So there is no room at all for explaining āre as standing for something.

अमीवहा (amīvahā): the root ama roge. By "śevayahva…" (Uṇ. sū. "1-153" [?]) the suffix van after the root am and the augment īṭ for it are given ready-made. Amīvaṃ hanti: being meant, though another upapada is connected, by "bahulaṃ chandasi" (Pā. sū. 3-2-88) kvip comes variously after the root han: amīvahan; han is final udātta by the root accent; after compounding, by gatikārakopapadāt kṛt the accent of the kṛt final member comes and that accent stays.

वसुवित् (vasuvit): vasu vindati iti vasuvit: by kvip ca, after vidḷ lābhe, kvip; the accent of the kṛt final member as before.

पुष्टिवर्धनः (puṣṭivardhanaḥ): puṣṭiṃ vardhayati iti puṣṭivardhanaḥ; the root vṛdhu vṛddhau. After it ṇic. In

> नन्दिवाशिमदिदूषिसाधिवर्धिशोभिरोचिभ्यो ण्यन्तेभ्यः संज्ञायाम्
>
> nandivāśimadidūṣisādhivardhiśobhirocibhyo ṇyantebhyaḥ saṃjñāyām

the ṇic-final root vṛdh is read among the nandy-ādi. So after it the suffix lyu by "nandigrahipacādibhyo lyuṇinyacaḥ" (Pā. sū. 3-1-134); the loss of ṇi by ṇer aniṭi; ana for yu by yuvor anākau; the laghūpadha-guṇa, followed by r: vardhana. By "liti" (Pā. sū. "2-1-1" [as printed, for 6-1-193]) what precedes the suffix ana is udātta. Puṣṭer vardhanaḥ: compounded with the genitive of the object; the accent of the kṛt final member.

सिषक्तु (siṣaktu): ṣaca samavāye; s for ṣ by dhātvādeḥ ṣaḥ saḥ; loṭ, tip; by eruḥ u for the i of ti. Śap by kartari śap; for it, by "bahulaṃ chandasi" (Pā. sū. 2-4-76), in the Veda ślu (loss) comes variously for śap: so ślu; doubling by "ślau" (Pā. sū. 6-1-10): sac sac + tu; by "halādiḥ śeṣaḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-4-60) the c of the abhyāsa drops; by "bahulaṃ chandasi" (Ṛ. saṃ. [as printed, for Pā. sū.] "2-4-78" [as printed, for 7-4-78]) the a of the abhyāsa takes i variously in the Veda: i for the a of the first s: sisac + tu; by "coḥ kuḥ" (Pā. sū. 8-2-30) k for c; by ādeśapratyayayoḥ ṣ for the second s: siṣaktu.

तुरः (turaḥ): the root tura tvaraṇe, with i/u as penultimate. After it, by "igupadhajñāprīkiraḥ kaḥ" (Pā. sū. 3-1-135), the suffix ka; the k is called it and dropped; the suffix is kit, so the laghūpadha-guṇa does not come. By ādyudāttaś ca the suffix accent comes; turaḥ is final udātta.

॥२॥

---

Page 759 (lower) — Sūkta 18, Rik 3

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

मा नः॒ शंसो॒ अर॑रुषो धू॒र्तिः प्रण॒ङ्मर्त्य॑स्य । [accent ?] र॑क्षा णो ब्रह्मणस्पते ॥३॥ [accent ?]

mā naḥ śáṃso áraruṣo dhūrtíḥ praṇaṅ mártyasya | [accent ?] rakṣā ṇo brahmaṇaspate ||3|| [accent ?]

(Read as printed: bars under न:, सो, धू and ण; strokes over the first र of अररुषो, over र्त्य and over र (रक्षा). Line 2 is printed small at the head of the next strip; its bars, if any, are not certain.)

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

मा । नः । शंसः । अररुषः । धूर्तिः । प्रणक् । मर्त्यस्य ॥ रक्ष । नः । ब्रह्मणः । पते ॥३॥

mā | naḥ | śaṃsaḥ | araruṣaḥ | dhūrtiḥ | praṇak | martyasya || rakṣa | naḥ | brahmaṇaḥ | pate ||3||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

(The Uṇādi numbers ४-७९ and ३-८६ are read with some doubt [?].)

अररुषो मर्त्यस्योपद्रवं कर्तुमस्मत्समीपं प्राप्तस्य शत्रुरूपस्य मनुष्यस्य धूर्तिर्हिंसकः शंसः शंसनम् । अधिक्षेप इत्यर्थः । तादृशो वाग्विशेषो नोऽस्मान्मा प्रणक् । मा संपृणक्तु । शत्रुणा प्रयुक्तोऽधिक्षेपः कदाचिदस्मान्मा प्राप्नोत्वित्यर्थः । तदर्थं हे ब्रह्मणस्पते नोऽस्मान्रक्ष । पालय ॥ मा । निपातः । शंसनं शंसः । भावे घञ् । ञित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । अररुषः । अर्तेररुः । उ. ४-७९ । इत्यन्तर्भावितण्यर्थादृ गताविति्यस्मादरुस् । गुणो रपरत्वम् । प्रत्ययस्वरे प्राप्ते वृषादित्वादाद्युदात्तः । धूर्तिः । धुर्वी हिंसार्थः । क्तिच्क्तौ च संज्ञायामिति क्तिच् । तितुत्रतथसिसुसरकसेषु चेतीट्प्रतिषेधः । उपधायाश्च । पा. ७-१-१०१ । इत्युपधादीर्घत्वम् । वलि लोपं बाधित्वोठि प्राप्ते । पा. ६-४-१९ । राल्लोपः । पा.

araruṣo martyasyopadravaṃ kartumasmatsamīpaṃ prāptasya śatrurūpasya manuṣyasya dhūrtirhiṃsakaḥ śaṃsaḥ śaṃsanam | adhikṣepa ityarthaḥ | tādṛśo vāgviśeṣo no 'smānmā praṇak | mā saṃpṛṇaktu | śatruṇā prayukto 'dhikṣepaḥ kadācidasmānmā prāpnotvityarthaḥ | tadarthaṃ he brahmaṇaspate no 'smānrakṣa | pālaya || mā | nipātaḥ | śaṃsanaṃ śaṃsaḥ | bhāve ghañ | ñittvādādyudāttaḥ | araruṣaḥ | arteraruḥ | u. 4-79 | ityantarbhāvitaṇyarthādṛ gatāvityasmādarus | guṇo raparatvam | pratyayasvare prāpte vṛṣāditvādādyudāttaḥ | dhūrtiḥ | dhurvī hiṃsārthaḥ | kticktau ca saṃjñāyāmiti ktic | titutratathasisusarakaseṣu cetīṭpratiṣedhaḥ | upadhāyāśca | pā. 7-1-101 | ityupadhādīrghatvam | vali lopaṃ bādhitvoṭhi prāpte | pā. 6-4-19 | rāllopaḥ | pā.

६-४-२१ । इति वकारलोपः । प्रणक् । पृची संपर्के । लङस्तिप् । इतश्चेतीकारलोपः । हल्ङ्यादिलोपः । कुत्वम् । रुधादिभ्यः श्नम् । तस्य व्यत्ययो बहुलम् । पा. ३-१-८५ । इत्याडागमः । यणादेशः । अकारस्यागमानुदात्तत्वं बाधित्वा व्यत्ययेनोदात्तत्वम् । चादिलोपे विभाषेति निघाताभावः । मर्त्यस्य । मृङ् प्राणत्यागे । असिहसिमृ इत्यादिना । उ. ३-८६ । औणादिकस्तन्प्रत्ययः । मर्तेषु भव इत्यर्थे भवे छन्दसीति यत् । यतोऽनाव इत्याद्युदात्तत्वम् । रक्ष । रक्ष पालने । शपः पित्त्वादनुदात्तत्वम् । धातुस्वर एव शिष्यते । पादादित्वान्न निघातः । रक्षा णः । द्व्यचोऽतस्तिङ इति दीर्घः । उपसर्गाद्बहुलम् । पा. ८-४-२८ । इति बहुलग्रहणादनुपसर्गादपि नसो णत्वम् । ब्रह्मणस्पते । षष्ठ्याः पतिपुत्रेति संहितायां विसर्गस्य सकारः । सुबामन्त्रिते पराङ्गवद्भावात्पदद्वयस्यामन्त्रितनिघातः ॥

6-4-21 | iti vakāralopaḥ | praṇak | pṛcī saṃparke | laṅastip | itaścetīkāralopaḥ | halṅyādilopaḥ | kutvam | rudhādibhyaḥ śnam | tasya vyatyayo bahulam | pā. 3-1-85 | ityāḍāgamaḥ | yaṇādeśaḥ | akārasyāgamānudāttatvaṃ bādhitvā vyatyayenodāttatvam | cādilope vibhāṣeti nighātābhāvaḥ | martyasya | mṛṅ prāṇatyāge | asihasimṛ ityādinā | u. 3-86 | auṇādikastanpratyayaḥ | marteṣu bhava ityarthe bhave chandasīti yat | yato 'nāva ityādyudāttatvam | rakṣa | rakṣa pālane | śapaḥ pittvādanudāttatvam | dhātusvara eva śiṣyate | pādāditvānna nighātaḥ | rakṣā ṇaḥ | dvyaco 'tastiṅa iti dīrghaḥ | upasargādbahulam | pā. 8-4-28 | iti bahulagrahaṇādanupasargādapi naso ṇatvam | brahmaṇaspate | ṣaṣṭhyāḥ patiputreti saṃhitāyāṃ visargasya sakāraḥ | subāmantrite parāṅgavadbhāvātpadadvayasyāmantritanighātaḥ ||

Translation: "May the dhūrti, harmful, śaṃsa, speech, that is, reviling, of the araruṣ mortal, the man in the form of an enemy who has come near us to do harm: may such a particular speech mā praṇak, not touch us: that is, may the reviling set going by the enemy never reach us. For that, O Brahmaṇaspati, rakṣa, protect us." (Grammatical tail: mā, a particle; śaṃsaḥ, "speaking", ghañ of the action, initial udātta as ñit; araruṣaḥ, arus by arter aruḥ (Uṇ. 4-79 [?]) after ṛ gatau with the causative sense included, guṇa with r, initial udātta, though the suffix accent was due, as one of the vṛṣa-ādi; dhūrtiḥ, dhurvī in the sense of harm, ktic by kticktau ca saṃjñāyām, no iṭ by titutra..., the penultimate lengthened by Pā. 7-1-101; overriding the loss before val, ūṭh being due (Pā. 6-4-19), the v lost by rāl lopaḥ (Pā. 6-4-21); praṇak, pṛcī saṃparke, tip for laṅ, the i lost by itaś ca, halṅyādi loss, the guttural, śnam by rudhādibhyaḥ, for it the augment āṭ by Pā. 3-1-85, yaṇ, the a made udātta by exchange, overriding the unaccentedness of augments, not lowered by cādilope vibhāṣā; martyasya, mṛṅ prāṇatyāge, the Uṇādi tan by asihasimṛ... (Uṇ. 3-86 [?]), yat by bhave chandasi in "being among mortals", initial udātta by yato 'nāvaḥ; rakṣa, rakṣa pālane, śap unaccented as pit, the root accent stays, not lowered at the start of the pāda; rakṣā ṇaḥ, lengthened by dvyaco 'tas tiṅaḥ, ṇ for the n of nas though not after a preverb, by the bahula of Pā. 8-4-28; brahmaṇaspate, s for the visarga in the Saṃhitā by ṣaṣṭhyāḥ patiputra..., both words unaccented as a vocative by parāṅgavadbhāva.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

अररुषः (araruṣaḥ) — come with the intent to harm (in the form of an enemy) | मर्त्यस्य (martyasya) — of a man | धूर्तिः (dhūrtiḥ) — causing harm | शंसः (śaṃsaḥ) — speech in the form of reviling | नः (naḥ) — us | मा प्रणक् (mā praṇak) — may it not touch (for that) | हे ब्रह्मणस्पते (he brahmaṇaspate) — O Brahmaṇaspati | नः (naḥ) — us | रक्ष (rakṣa) — protect.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Brahmaṇaspati, protect us so that no trouble comes to us from the reviling words our enemies speak.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> May the harmful imprecation of the wicked mortal not reach us ; protect us, O Brahmanaspati.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Śaṃsaḥ: śaṃsanam. Though this word means speech, saying, here the commentator has supported the sense, for the words dhūrtiḥ śaṃsaḥ, of reviling words, bad words, abuse, words joined with the wish that harm come.

Page 761 — Rik 3: Special Topics (end) and grammar

Araruṣaḥ martyasya: of a man with the intent to do harm or trouble.

Mā praṇak:

> मा संपृणक्तु ॥
>
> mā saṃpṛṇaktu ||

("May it not touch.") May it not touch: "not reach us". The word mā expresses prohibition.

Rakṣa: the last syllable of this word is long in the Saṃhitā-pāṭha to suit the metre.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 761–764, noted briefly)

मा (mā): this is a particle; so it is initial udātta by "nipātā ādyudāttāḥ" (Pā. sū. "80" [as printed; a Phiṭ-sūtra]).

शंसः (śaṃsaḥ): the root śaṃsu stutau. By "bhāve" (Pā. sū. 3-3-18) ghañ in the sense of the action; being ñit, it is initial udātta by ñnityādir nityam. The analysis is śaṃsanaṃ śaṃsaḥ.

अररुषः (araruṣaḥ): by "arter aruḥ" (Uṇ. sū. "4-5[?]" [?]) the suffix arus comes after the root ṛ gatau, with the causative sense included: ṛ + arus; guṇa by "sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-3-84), followed by r by "uraṇ raparaḥ" (Pā. sū. 1-1-51): ar + arus, ararus. By ādyudāttaś ca the a of the suffix arus would be udātta; but since the vṛṣa-ādi is an ākṛtigaṇa, this word is to be included there; so initial udātta comes by "vṛṣādīnāṃ ca" (Pā. sū. 6-1-203). Genitive singular ṅas: ararus + as; by "ādeśapratyayayoḥ" (Pā. sū. 8-3-59) ṣ for the s after the u; ru for the final s by "sasajuṣo ruḥ" (Pā. sū. 8-2-66), visarga by "kharavasānayoḥ" (Pā. sū. 8-3-15): araruṣaḥ. Some derive araruṣaḥ another way: the root rā ādāne; after it liṭ; the substitute kvasu by "kvasuś ca" (Pā. sū. 3-2-107); doubling by "liṭi dhātor anabhyāsasya" (Pā. sū. 6-1-8): rā rā + vas; by "vasv ekājādghasām" (Pā. sū. 7-2-67) the augment iṭ for the vas after the ā-final root rā; by "āto lopa iṭi ca" (Pā. sū. 6-4-64) the ā of the second rā drops; by "hrasvaḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-4-59) the first rā is shortened: rarivas. In the nominative singular it becomes rarivān, like sedivān. When the genitive singular ṅas [as printed: jas] comes, saṃprasāraṇa by "vasoḥ saṃprasāraṇam" (Pā. sū. 6-4-131).

Page 762 — Rik 3: grammar

With rarāvas [as printed], if the genitive singular is added, the saṃprasāraṇa comes and the vas becomes us; so it is not val-initial. So, though the augment iṭ enjoined by ārdhadhātukasyeḍ valādeḥ is antaraṅga, there is a possibility that its condition, being val-initial, is destroyed by the bahiraṅga rule of saṃprasāraṇa. For that reason, by "akṛtavyūhāḥ pāṇinīyāḥ" (paribhāṣā 42) (if the destruction of the condition of an antaraṅga rule by a bahiraṅga rule is possible, the antaraṅga rule does not come first), some state the exclusion of the augment iṭ, that it does not come where saṃprasāraṇa comes. Others again, on the view of the padāvadhika explanation, that words are derived as having case-endings, if the word is analysed it is rarāvas + as. Now both the augment iṭ and the saṃprasāraṇa are due. Though the augment iṭ is antaraṅga, the saṃprasāraṇa is a rule enjoined by naming a particular word, so, being pratipadokta, it alone comes first. Then, since there is no val-initial ārdhadhātuka, the augment iṭ does not come: in this way they state the exclusion of the augment iṭ. Now, even without the augment iṭ, by "asaṃyogāl liṭ kit" (Pā. sū. "1-2-5" [?]) a non-pit liṭ not after a conjunct is kit; since the ārdhadhātuka us, which is kit, follows, the loss of ā comes by āto lopa iṭi ca. The ṣ and the rest as before. When raruṣaḥ is established in this way, if nañ is compounded with na raruṣaḥ, the form araruṣaḥ results. Now by "tatpuruṣe tulyārtha…" (Pā. sū. 6-2-2) the accent of the first member, an indeclinable, comes. The first member, nañ, is a particle, so it is initial udātta by "nipātā ādyudāttāḥ" (Pā. sū. "80" [as printed]). After compounding too this comes by the accent of the first member. So it need not be included in the vṛṣa-ādi group. The Vedabhāṣyakāra too has explained it in this same way at "gurudveṣo araruṣe dadhanti" (Tai. Brā. [no number printed]). Besides, in "yo no agne ararivān" (Ṛ. saṃ. 1-147-4) there is agreement of another mantra with this kind of explanation. So the derivation in this way is right for araruṣa. The suffix enjoined in arter aruḥ ends in u, not in s. That is why the word araru ends in u in the mantras "kaṃ cid yāvīr araruṃ śūra martyam" (Ṛ. saṃ. 1-129-3) and "apāraruṃ adevayuṃ jano jahi" [no number printed]. If arter aruḥ enjoined an s-final suffix, the accent of araruṣaḥ would be hard to account for, and besides, the words araru in the mantras just cited could not be formed. So the suffix enjoined by arter aruḥ ends in u only. It is more fitting to describe araruṣaḥ as formed from the root rā.

Page 763 — Rik 3: grammar

धूर्तिः (dhūrtiḥ): the root dhurvī hiṃsārthaḥ. The suffix ktic by "kticktau ca saṃjñāyām" (Pā. sū. 3-3-174). The augment iṭ is due for it by "ārdhadhātukasyeḍ valādeḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-2-35); but by "ti-tu-tra-ta-tha-si-su-sara-ka-seṣu ca" (Pā. sū. 7-2-9) these ten suffixes do not take the augment iṭ; so ti takes no iṭ. With dhurv + ti, by "upadhāyāṃ ca" (Pā. sū. 8-2-78), when a consonant follows the r or v standing in the penultimate place of a root, the i, u, ṛ, ḷ before that r or v is lengthened: so the u is lengthened: dhūrv + ti. In "upadhāyāś ca" (Pā. sū. 7-1-101) the preceding sūtra "ṛta id dhātoḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-1-100) is carried on; so its sense is that the ṝ in the penultimate of a root takes i. So the lengthening must be stated by upadhāyāṃ ca [the bhāṣya's citation of 7-1-101 being taken as for upadhāyāṃ ca]. There the sūtras “rvor upadhāyā dīrgha ikaḥ” (Pā. sū. 8-2-76) and “hali ca” (Pā. sū. 8-2-77) are carried on, and from “sipi dhātor rur vā” (Pā. sū. 8-2-74) the word dhātoḥ too. So upadhāyāṃ ca enjoins lengthening. With dhūrv + ti, the loss of v would come by “lopo vyor vali” (Pā. sū. 6-1-66). But overriding that, by “cchvoḥ śūḍ anunāsike ca” (Pā. sū. 6-4-19), when an initial-nasal suffix follows, or kvip, or a jhal-initial suffix that is kit or ṅit, ś for ch with the augment tuk, and the substitute ūṭh for v; since the kit ktic, jhal-initial, follows, the substitute ūṭh for v is due. Yet overriding this substitute ūṭh too, by “rāl lopaḥ” (Pā. sū. 6-4-21), when kvip, a jhal-initial suffix, or an initial-nasal suffix follows, the ch with the augment tuk and the v after an r drop; so the v after the r drops: dhūr + ti = dhūrti.

प्रणक् (praṇak): the root pṛcī saṃparke, of the rudh-ādi class. After it laṅ, 3rd singular tip. By “itaś ca” (Pā. sū. 3-4-100) the i drops. The vikaraṇa śnam enjoined by “rudhādibhyaḥ śnam” (Pā. sū. 3-1-78), being mit, comes after the ṛ by “mid aco ’ntyāt paraḥ” (Pā. sū. 1-1-47): pṛnac + t. By “vyatyayo bahulam” (Pā. sū. 3-1-85) the augment āṭ for the vikaraṇa śnam: pṛ + an + c + t. By “iko yaṇ aci” (Pā. sū. 6-1-77) yaṇ, r for ṛ: pranac + t. By “halṅyābbhyaḥ…” (Pā. sū. 6-1-68) the t drops; by “coḥ kuḥ” (Pā. sū. 8-2-30) k for c; by “aṭkupvāṅ…” (Pā. sū. 8-4-2) ṇ for n: praṇak. The a that came as an augment to the śnam would be unaccented by āgamā anudāttāḥ; by exchange it is udātta. By “cādilope vibhāṣā” (Pā. sū. 8-1-63), when ca, vā, ha, aha, eva are dropped, the first tiṅanta is optionally not unaccented; because of this bar praṇak is not wholly unaccented by tiṅṅatiṅaḥ.

Page 764 — Rik 3: grammar (end)

मर्त्यस्य (martyasya): the root mṛṅ prāṇatyāge. “Hasimṛgriṇvāmidamilūpūdhurvibhyas tan” (Uṇ. sū. “3-366” [?]): the sense of the sūtra is that the suffix tan comes after the roots hase hasane, mṛṅ prāṇatyāge, gṝ nigaraṇe, iṇ gatau, vā gatigandhanayoḥ, ama gatyādiṣu, damu upaśame, lūñ chedane, pūñ pavane, dhurvī hiṃsāyām. Here the Vedabhāṣyakāra has read at the beginning one more root, asi; it is not seen in the sūtras as they now stand. With tan after the root mṛ, mṛ + ta; guṇa by sārvadhātuka…, followed by r: marta. The analysis marteṣu bhavaḥ: the suffix yat by “bhave chandasi” (Pā. sū. 4-4-110); the a drops by yasyeti ca. The svarita due by tit svaritam is overridden by “yato ’nāvaḥ” (Pā. sū. 6-1-213), and initial udātta comes.

रक्ष (rakṣa): the root rakṣa pālane. Loṭ, 2nd singular sip; śap by kartari śap; hi by ser hy apic ca; luk of hi by ato heḥ. Śap is pit, so unaccented by anudāttau suppitau; the root accent alone remains. Since it stands at the start of a pāda, the bar “anudāttaṃ sarvam apādādau” (Pā. sū. 8-1-18) comes; so it is not wholly unaccented by tiṅṅatiṅaḥ. Rakṣā ṇaḥ: by “dvyaco ’tas tiṅaḥ” (Pā. sū. 6-3-135) it is lengthened in the Saṃhitā. “Upasargād bahulam” (Pā. sū. 8-4-28): the sense of this is that the n of nas after the r or ṣ in a preverb takes ṇ. By nas both the nas that stands for the word nāsikā and the nas enjoined as bahuvacanasya vasnasau are taken; here it is the second nas. But it stands after the word rakṣā, which is not a preverb. Yet by force of the mention of bahula, ṇ comes even for the n of a nas after an r or ṣ not marked as a preverb. In fact, there is no need to labour to establish the ṇ by the mention of bahula here. “Naś ca dhātusthoruṣubhyaḥ” (Pā. sū. 8-4-27): the sense of the sūtra is that the n of the nas standing for asmad after the r or ṣ in a root, after the word uru, and after ṣu (the ṣ coming for ṣuñ abhiṣave), takes ṇ. Here rakṣa is a root, and it contains ṣ. So the n of the nas after the ṣ, one of the r or ṣ contained in the root, takes ṇ by this sūtra.

ब्रह्मणस्पते (brahmaṇaspate): for the visarga belonging to the genitive in brahmaṇaḥ, in the Saṃhitā the substitute s by "ṣaṣṭhyāḥ patiputra…" (Pā. sū. 8-3-53). Pate is a vocative. So the word before it takes parāṅgavadbhāva by "subāmantrite parāṅgavat svare" (Pā. sū. 2-1-2). So the name vocative rests on the whole brahmaṇaspate. So by "āmantritasya ca" (Pā. sū. 8-1-19) both words are wholly unaccented.

॥३॥

---

Page 765 — Sūkta 18, Rik 4

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. Deities: Brahmaṇaspati, Indra and Soma.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

स घा॑ वी॒रो न रि॑ष्यति॒ यमिन्द्रो॒ ब्रह्म॑ण॒स्पतिः॑ । [accent ?] सोमो॑ हि॒नोति॒ मर्त्य॑म् ॥४॥ [accent ?]

sá ghā vīró ná riṣyati yám indro bráhmaṇaspátiḥ | [accent ?] somo hinóti mártyam || 4|| [accent ?]

(Read as printed: strokes over घा, रि, ह्म, तिः, सो and र्त्य; bars under वी, ति (रिष्यति), द्रो, ण, हि and ति (हिनोति). A mark over मि of यमिन्द्रो is not clear.)

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

सः । घ । वीरः । न । रिष्यति । यम् । इन्द्रः । ब्रह्मणः । पतिः ॥ सोमः । हिनोति । मर्त्यम् ॥४॥

saḥ | gha | vīraḥ | na | riṣyati | yam | indraḥ | brahmaṇaḥ | patiḥ || somaḥ | hinoti | martyam ||4||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

इन्द्रो देवो यं मर्त्यं यक्ष्यमाणं हिनोति प्राप्नोति वर्धयति वा । तथा ब्रह्मणस्पतिर्देवो हिनोति । तथा सोमो हिनोति । स घ स एव यजमानो वीरो वीर्ययुक्तः सन्न रिष्यति । न विनश्यति ॥ घ । चादिरनुदात्तः । संहितायामृचि तुनुघमक्षुतङ्कुत्रोरुष्याणाम् । पा. ६-३-१३३ । इति दीर्घः । ब्रह्मणस्पतिः । उक्तम् । हिनोति । हि गतौ वृद्धौ च । स्वादिभ्यः श्नुः । तिपः पित्त्वाच्छ्नुप्रत्ययस्वर एव शिष्यते ॥

indro devo yaṃ martyaṃ yakṣyamāṇaṃ hinoti prāpnoti vardhayati vā | tathā brahmaṇaspatirdevo hinoti | tathā somo hinoti | sa gha sa eva yajamāno vīro vīryayuktaḥ sanna riṣyati | na vinaśyati || gha | cādiranudāttaḥ | saṃhitāyāmṛci tunughamakṣutaṅkutroruṣyāṇām | pā. 6-3-133 | iti dīrghaḥ | brahmaṇaspatiḥ | uktam | hinoti | hi gatau vṛddhau ca | svādibhyaḥ śnuḥ | tipaḥ pittvācchnupratyayasvara eva śiṣyate ||

Translation: "The mortal, about to sacrifice, whom the god Indra hinoti, reaches or makes to grow; likewise whom the god Brahmaṇaspati furthers; likewise whom Soma furthers: sa gha, that very sacrificer, being vīra, possessed of valour, na riṣyati, does not perish." (Grammatical tail: gha, unaccented as one of the ca-ādi; lengthened in the Saṃhitā by Pā. 6-3-133;

brahmaṇaspatiḥ, explained; hinoti, hi gatau vṛddhau ca, śnu by svādibhyaḥ śnuḥ; since tip is pit, the accent of the suffix śnu alone stays.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

इन्द्रः (indraḥ) — Indra | यम् (yam) — which | मर्त्यम् (martyam) — sacrificer (performing the sacrifice) | हिनोति (hinoti) — reaches, or protects | ब्रह्मणस्पतिः (brahmaṇaspatiḥ) — Brahmaṇaspati too | हिनोति (hinoti) — protects | सोमः (somaḥ) — (likewise) the deity Soma | हिनोति (hinoti) — protects | सः घ (saḥ gha) — that very man | वीरः (vīraḥ) — being possessed of valour | न रिष्यति (na riṣyati) — does not perish.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

For the sacrificer devoted to the sacrifice, the three deities Indra, Brahmaṇaspati and Soma bring increase; that is, they become his protectors. A man who has become worthy of their grace never comes to ruin.

Page 766 — Rik 4: English, Special Topics and grammar

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> That valiant man whom Indra, Brahmanaspati and Soma protect never perishes.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

This ṛk is addressed to the three deities Indra, Brahmaṇaspati and Soma. The intent is: the man whom these deities take to themselves, that is, favour, lives as a hero, and never meets with ruin.

Ghā: this syllable is long in the Saṃhitā-pāṭha to suit the metre.

Yaṃ martyam: which man; that is, the man who worships Indra, Brahmaṇaspati and Soma.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 766–767, noted briefly)

घ (gha): since the ca-ādi group is an ākṛtigaṇa, this is included in it. So it is unaccented by "cādayo 'nudāttāḥ" (Phi. sū. 4-84). In the Saṃhitā, by "ṛci tunughamakṣutaṅkutroruṣyāṇām" (Pā. sū. 6-3-133), the word gha takes in the sequence gha (gh followed by a). Since the lengthening of gha is seen in the Veda, it is to be taken this way. "Kṛtrimākṛtrimayoḥ kṛtrimasyaiva grahaṇam" (paribhāṣā):

> कृत्रिमाकृत्रिमयोः कृत्रिमस्यैव ग्रहणम्
>
> kṛtrimākṛtrimayoḥ kṛtrimasyaiva grahaṇam

kṛtrima means "fixed by the convention of grammar"; akṛtrima means "known in the world"; the sense of the paribhāṣā is that when both could be taken, the kṛtrima is taken. By "taraptamapau ghaḥ" (Pā. sū. 1-1-22) the suffixes tarap and tamap have this conventional name in grammar. Yet here it is not taken in the way just stated; for in the Veda lengthening is not seen for tarap and tamap, while lengthening is seen for gha. Since the sūtra says ṛci, it must apply in the Ṛgveda alone. So, if tarap and the rest were taken, the sūtra would have no purpose. So the word gha itself is taken. For tha [as printed], the 2nd plural of taṅ [as printed], when the substitute ta comes by tasthasthamipām, it becomes ṅit by sārvadhātukam apit; the ta substituted for tha, having this ṅit-ness, is taken. When lengthening comes to gha by this sūtra, it becomes ghā.

ब्रह्मणस्पतिः (brahmaṇaspatiḥ): by "ṣaṣṭhyāḥ pati…" (Pā. sū. 8-3-53) s for the visarga belonging to the genitive.

Page 767 (upper) — Rik 4: grammar (end)

हिनोति (hinoti): the root hi gatau vṛddhau ca. Laṭ, tip. By "svādibhyaḥ śnuḥ" (Pā. sū. 3-1-73) the vikaraṇa śnu: hi + nu + ti. With ti as condition, guṇa for śnu by "sārvadhātukārdha…" (Pā. sū. 7-3-84): o. By "sārvadhātukam apit" (Pā. sū. 1-2-4) hi [as printed; nu is meant] is ṅit. Since the bar kṅiti ca comes, the ik-guṇa for hi, with nu as condition, does not come. Tip is pit, so unaccented by anudāttau…; the accent of the suffix śnu alone remains.

॥४॥

---

Page 767 (lower) — Sūkta 18, Rik 5

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. Deities: Brahmaṇaspati, Soma, Indra and Dakṣiṇā.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

त्वं तं ब्रह्मणस्पते सोम इन्द्रश्च मर्त्यम् । [accent ?] दक्षिणा पात्वंहसः ॥५॥ [accent ?]

tvaṃ táṃ brahmaṇaspaté soma índraś ca mártyam | [accent ?] dakṣiṇā pātv áṃhasaḥ ||5|| [accent ?]

(Read as printed: strokes over ब्र, द्र, र्त्य, द (दक्षिणा) and ह (अंहसः); bars under स्प, म (सोम), श्च and पा; a bar under त्वं is not certain.)

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

त्वम् । तम् । ब्रह्मणः । पते । सोमः । इन्द्रः । च । मर्त्यम् ॥ दक्षिणा । पातु । अंहसः ॥५॥

tvam | tam | brahmaṇaḥ | pate | somaḥ | indraḥ | ca | martyam || dakṣiṇā | pātu | aṃhasaḥ ||5||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

( ॥३४॥ closes Varga 34.)

हे ब्रह्मणस्पते त्वं तं मर्त्यमनुष्यातारं मनुष्यमंहसः पापात्पाहीति शेषः । तथा सोमः पातु । इन्द्रश्च पातु दक्षिणाख्या देवता च पातु ॥ दक्षिणा । दक्ष वृद्धौ । द्रुदक्षिभ्यामिनन् । उ. २-५० । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । अंहसः । नब्विषयस्येत्यादिनाद्युदात्तः ॥३४॥

he brahmaṇaspate tvaṃ taṃ martyamanuṣṭhātāraṃ manuṣyamaṃhasaḥ pāpātpāhīti śeṣaḥ | tathā somaḥ pātu | indraśca pātu dakṣiṇākhyā devatā ca pātu || dakṣiṇā | dakṣa vṛddhau | drudakṣibhyāminan | u. 2-50 | nittvādādyudāttaḥ | aṃhasaḥ | nabviṣayasyetyādinādyudāttaḥ ||34||

Translation: "O Brahmaṇaspati, you (protect, is to be supplied) that mortal, the performer, from aṃhas, sin. Likewise may Soma protect; may Indra protect; and may the deity called Dakṣiṇā protect." (Grammatical tail: dakṣiṇā, dakṣa vṛddhau, inan by drudakṣibhyām inan (Uṇ. 2-50), initial udātta as nit; aṃhasaḥ, initial udātta by nabviṣayasya….)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

(हे) ब्रह्मणस्पते ((he) brahmaṇaspate) — O Brahmaṇaspati | त्वम् (tvam) — you | तं मर्त्यम् (taṃ martyam) — that man (the performer) | अंहसः (aṃhasaḥ) — from sin (protect) | सोमः (somaḥ) — the deity Soma | पातु (pātu) — may he protect | इन्द्रः च (indraḥ ca) — and Indra | पातु (pātu) — may he protect | दक्षिणा (dakṣiṇā) — the deity called Dakṣiṇā too | पातु (pātu) — may she protect.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Brahmaṇaspati, protect the sacrificer so that he does no sinful deed: you, Indra, Soma and Dakṣiṇā, all of you.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> Do you Brahmanaspati, and do you Soma, Indra. and Dakshina protect that man from sin.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

In this ṛk the deities Brahmaṇaspati, Soma, Indra and Dakṣiṇā are set forth.

Dakṣiṇā: in this ṛk the word dakṣiṇā indicates the deity presiding over the dakṣiṇā. For the word dakṣiṇā Yāska gives this derivation of sense (Ni. "1-7" [?]):

> दक्षिणा दक्षतेः समर्धयतिकर्मणो व्यृद्धं समर्धयतीति । अपि वा प्रदक्षिणागमनात् । दिशमभिप्रेत्य दिग्घस्तप्रकृतिः दक्षिणो हस्तो दक्षतेरुत्साहकर्मणः । दाशतेर्वा स्याद्दानकर्मणः ॥
>
> dakṣiṇā dakṣateḥ samardhayatikarmaṇo vyṛddhaṃ samardhayatīti | api vā pradakṣiṇāgamanāt | diśamabhipretya digghastaprakṛtiḥ dakṣiṇo hasto dakṣaterutsāhakarmaṇaḥ | dāśatervā syāddānakarmaṇaḥ ||

("Dakṣiṇā, from dakṣ, meaning 'to make prosper': it makes prosperous what has failed; or from going round to the right; with reference to the quarter, it has the right hand as its source; the right hand, from dakṣ, meaning energy; or it may be from dāś, meaning giving": mine and tentative.) He gives four kinds of sense:

(1) Dakṣiṇā dakṣateḥ samardhayatikarmaṇo vṛddhaṃ samardhayatīti: the word dakṣiṇā comes from the root dakṣ; for this root the sense is "make (wealth) grow". Since the little wealth spent in the sacrifice, that is, given as dakṣiṇā, is made to grow greatly (as fruit), the word is named dakṣiṇā.

(2) Api vā pradakṣiṇāgamanāt: since on the sacrificial altar one goes round the places called gārhapatya, sadas and āgnīdhrīya clockwise and stands in the inner altar, the going round clockwise done in this way is named dakṣiṇā.

(3) Diśam abhipretya dighastaprakṛtiḥ dakṣiṇo hasto dakṣater utsāhakarmaṇaḥ: since among the hands of Prajāpati, who faces east, the right hand faces south (is on the side of the southern quarter), and since the right hand does with energy whatever work is to be done, it has become usage to call the right hand dakṣiṇo hastaḥ with the word dakṣiṇa.

(4) Dāśater vā syād dānakarmaṇaḥ: the root dāś means giving. Since in giving one usually uses the right hand, the act of giving is named dakṣiṇā.

Page 769 (upper) — Rik 5: Special Topics (end) and grammar

Of these four kinds of sense, the last, the act of giving, is what is meant in this ṛk as the deity presiding over the dakṣiṇā.

Pātu, aṃhasaḥ: aṃhaḥ means sin. "May he protect from sin" means: may he protect by giving good understanding so that one does no sinful deeds.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar on p. 769, noted briefly)

ब्रह्मणस्पते (brahmaṇaspate): explained in an earlier mantra.

दक्षिणा (dakṣiṇā): the root dakṣa vṛddhau. By "drudakṣibhyām inan" (Uṇ. sū. "2-208" [?]; the bhāṣya gives 2-50), after the roots dru gatau and dakṣa vṛddhau the suffix inan; so after dakṣ the suffix inan; the n of the suffix is called it: dakṣi + na; by "aṭkupvāṅnum…" (Pā. sū. 8-4-2) ṇ for n. What is to be given in rites enjoined by the śāstra, such as sacrifice, is named dakṣiṇā; in this sense it is feminine. The Medinī-kośa has

> द्रविणं न द्वयोर्वित्ते काञ्चने च पराक्रमे । दक्षिणा दक्षिणोद्भूतसरलच्छन्दवृत्तिषु । अवामे त्रिषु यज्ञादिविधिदाने दिशि स्त्रियाम् ॥
>
> draviṇaṃ na dvayorvitte kāñcane ca parākrame | dakṣiṇā dakṣiṇodbhūtasaralacchandavṛttiṣu | avāme triṣu yajñādividhidāne diśi striyām ||

("Draviṇa, not of two genders, is wealth, gold and valour; dakṣiṇā … in the senses of south-born, straight, will and conduct; in the three genders for 'not left'; feminine for the gift at a sacrifice and the like, and for the quarter": mine and tentative; the lines are as printed.) So, with ṭāp by "ajādyataṣ ṭāp" (Pā. sū. 4-1-4) and lengthening of like vowels, it becomes dakṣiṇā. Since dakṣiṇa ends in a suffix with n as it, it is initial udātta by "ñnityādir nityam" (Pā. sū. 6-1-197).

अंहसः (aṃhasaḥ): initial udātta by "nabviṣayasyānisantasya" [no number printed].

॥५॥

---

Page 769 (lower) — Sūkta 18, Rik 6

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. Deity: Sadasaspati.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

सदसस्पतिमद्भुतं प्रियमिन्द्रस्य काम्यम् । [accent ?] सनिं मेधामयासिषम् ॥६॥ [accent ?]

sádasaspátim ádbhutaṃ priyám índrasya kāmyam | [accent ?] saníṃ medhām ayāsiṣam ||6|| [accent ?]

(Read as printed: strokes over द (सदस), द्भु, द्र and का, and in line 2 over म (मेधाम); bars under स (सदस), ति, प्रि, स्य, स (सनिं) and मे.)

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

सदसः । पतिम् । अद्भुतम् । प्रियम् । इन्द्रस्य । काम्यम् ॥ सनिम् । मेधाम् । अयासिषम् ॥६॥

sadasaḥ | patim | adbhutam | priyam | indrasya | kāmyam || sanim | medhām | ayāsiṣam ||6||

Page 770 — Rik 6: bhāṣya, word-meanings, overall sense, English

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

अनुप्रवचनीयचरोर्होमे सदसस्पतिमित्येषा विनियुक्ता । तथा च गृह्ये मेखलामाबध्येति खण्डे पठ्यते । आचार्यः समन्वारब्धे जुहुयात्सदसस्पतिमद्भुतम् । आ. गृ. १-२२-११ । इति ॥ मेधां लब्धुं सदसस्पतिमेतन्नामकं देवमयासिषम् । प्राप्तवानस्मि । कीदृशम् । अद्भुतमाश्चर्यकरम् । इन्द्रस्य प्रियं सोमपाने सहचारित्वात् । काम्यं कमनीयम् । सनिं धनस्य दातारम् ॥ सदसः । षद्लृ विशरणादौ । सर्वधातुभ्योऽसुन् । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । पतिम् । पातेर्डतिः । उ. ४-५७ । टिलोपः । प्रत्ययस्वरः । प्रियम् । इगुपधज्ञाप्रीकिरः कः । इयङादेशः । प्रत्ययस्वरः । काम्यम् । कामयतेरचो यत् । णेरनिटीति णिलोपः । यतोऽनाव इत्याद्युदात्तत्वम् । सनिम् । षणु दाने । धात्वादेः षः सः । अच इरित्यनुवृत्तौ खनिकष्यञ्ज्यसिवसिवनिसनिध्वनिग्रन्थिचरिभ्यश्च । उ. ४-१४० । इति इप्रत्ययः । प्रत्ययस्वरः । अयासिषम् । या प्रापणे । लुङ् । मिपोऽमादेशः । यमरमनमातां सक् च । पा. ७-२-७३ । इति सिच इडागमः । धातोः सगागमः । निघातः ॥

anupravacanīyacarorhome sadasaspatimityeṣā viniyuktā | tathā ca gṛhye mekhalāmābadhyeti khaṇḍe paṭhyate | ācāryaḥ samanvārabdhe juhuyātsadasaspatimadbhutam | ā. gṛ. 1-22-11 | iti || medhāṃ labdhuṃ sadasaspatimetannāmakaṃ devamayāsiṣam | prāptavānasmi | kīdṛśam | adbhutamāścaryakaram | indrasya priyaṃ somapāne sahacāritvāt | kāmyaṃ kamanīyam | saniṃ dhanasya dātāram || sadasaḥ | ṣadlṛ viśaraṇādau | sarvadhātubhyo 'sun | nittvādādyudāttaḥ | patim | pāterḍatiḥ | u. 4-57 | ṭilopaḥ | pratyayasvaraḥ | priyam | igupadhajñāprīkiraḥ kaḥ | iyaṅādeśaḥ | pratyayasvaraḥ | kāmyam | kāmayateraco yat | ṇeraniṭīti ṇilopaḥ | yato 'nāva ityādyudāttatvam |

sanim | ṣaṇu dāne | dhātvādeḥ ṣaḥ saḥ | aca irityanuvṛttau khanikaṣyañjyasivasivanisanidhvanigranthicaribhyaśca | u. 4-140 | iti ipratyayaḥ | pratyayasvaraḥ | ayāsiṣam | yā prāpaṇe | luṅ | mipo 'mādeśaḥ | yamaramanamātāṃ sak ca | pā. 7-2-73 | iti sica iḍāgamaḥ | dhātoḥ sagāgamaḥ | nighātaḥ ||

Translation: "This ṛk sadasaspatim is applied in the oblation of the anupravacanīya rice-pot. So it is read in the Gṛhya, in the section beginning mekhalām ābadhya: 'While the teacher is held on to, he should offer with sadasaspatim adbhutam' (Āśv. Gṛ. 1-22-11). To obtain medhā, intelligence, I have ayāsiṣam, approached, the god named Sadasaspati. Of what kind? Adbhuta, causing wonder; priya, dear, to Indra, as his companion in soma-drinking; kāmya, lovely; sani, a giver of wealth." (Grammatical tail: sadasaḥ, ṣadḷ viśaraṇādau, asun by sarvadhātubhyo 'sun, initial udātta as nit; patim, ḍati by pāter ḍatiḥ (Uṇ. 4-57), the loss of the ṭi, the suffix accent; priyam, ka by igupadhajñāprīkiraḥ kaḥ, the substitute iyaṅ, the suffix accent; kāmyam, yat by aco yat after the causative of kam, the loss of ṇi by ṇer aniṭi, initial udātta by yato 'nāvaḥ; sanim, ṣaṇu dāne, s for ṣ, the suffix i by Uṇ. 4-140 with aca iḥ carried on, the suffix accent; ayāsiṣam, yā prāpaṇe, luṅ, am for mip, the augment iṭ for sic by Pā. 7-2-73, the augment sak for the root, wholly unaccented.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

मेधाम् (medhām) — the power of intelligence | लब्धुम् (labdhum) — to obtain | अद्भुतम् (adbhutam) — wonder-working | इन्द्रस्य (indrasya) — to Indra | प्रियम् (priyam) — dear | काम्यम् (kāmyam) — lovely | सनिम् (sanim) — giving wealth | सदसस्पतिम् (sadasaspatim) — the deity called Sadasaspati | अयासिषम् (ayāsiṣam) — I have approached (taken refuge with, or pray to).

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

I take refuge with (pray to) the deity called Sadasaspati, who is wonder-working, that is, does wondrous daring deeds, who is dear to Indra, of lovely form, and a giver of wealth, to obtain the power of intelligence.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> I pray, for wisdom, Sadasaspati, the wonderful, the beloved of Indra, the dcsirable [sic], and the giver of riches.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Sadasaspati is the deity of this ṛk. In domestic rites such as marriage, this ṛk sadasaspati is recited when the oblation called the anupravacanīya rice-pot is made. In the Āśvalāyana Gṛhyasūtra, in the section mekhalām ābadhya, the order of application of this ṛk is given as ācāryaḥ samanvārabdhe juhuyāt sadasaspatim adbhutam (Āś. Gṛ. 1-22-11).

Sadasaspatim: the deity named Sadasaspati. To give the sense of the parts, sadasaḥ patim means the lord of the sadas or of the assembly. What Skandasvāmin says on this matter is acceptable:

चतस्रः सादसस्पत्याः । सदः प्रसिद्धं यज्ञगृहं तस्याधिपतिः सदसस्पतिः । कोऽसौ । अग्निः । कुत एतत् । अग्रेः सर्वयज्ञाधिपतित्वात् । अपि च यज्ञसाधनहविष्कृतिसमर्थनाद्यग्निकर्मदर्शनात्तद्देवत्याश्चतस्रश्चर्चः । सदसस्पतिमग्निम् ॥

catasraḥ sādasaspatyāḥ | sadaḥ prasiddhaṃ yajñagṛhaṃ tasyādhipatiḥ sadasaspatiḥ | ko 'sau | agniḥ | kuta etat | agneḥ sarvayajñādhipatitvāt | api ca yajñasādhanahaviṣkṛtisamarthanādyagnikarmadarśanāttaddevatyāścatasraścarcaḥ | sadasaspatimagnim ||

("Four ṛks are to Sadasaspati. Sadas is the well-known sacrificial hall; its lord is Sadasaspati. Who is he? Agni. Why so? Because Agni is lord of all sacrifices; and also, since Agni's acts, such as preparing the oblations, the means of sacrifice, are seen, the four ṛks have him as deity: Sadasaspati is Agni": mine and tentative.) This ṛk and the three ṛks that follow, four ṛks in all, have Sadasaspati as deity. Sadas means the well-known sacrificial hall; since he is its lord, he is named Sadasaspati. Who is the lord of this hall? Agni. For Agni is well known as the lord of all sacrifices. Moreover, since these four ṛks set forth acts connected with Agni, such as preparing the oblation, the means of sacrifice, and the acts of Agni, it is beyond dispute that Sadasaspati is Agni. The name Sadasaspati is not found elsewhere in the Ṛgveda apart from these ṛks. Yāska too has said nothing about this Sadasaspati. So it must be accepted that what Skandasvāmin says is fitting.

Adbhutam: the commentator says āścaryakaram, wonder-working; Skandasvāmin explains the word as mahāntam, great, excellent.

Kāmyam: kamanīyam, wished for, lovely. Skandasvāmin's sense is kāmyaṃ prārthayitavyaṃ stotṛṇām, worthy to be prayed to by the praisers.

Sanim: this word, formed from the root ṣaṇu dāne, may be taken as dhanasya dātāram, Sadasaspati who gives wealth, or as dhanadānam, Sadasaspati for the gift of wealth.

Ayāsiṣam: this word, formed from the root yā prāpaṇe, means "I have reached" or "I have taken refuge with": I have taken refuge with Sadasaspati for intelligence and gain of wealth.

Page 772 — Rik 6: Special Topics (end) and grammar

Since Skandasvāmin says in the Nirukta that words such as īmahe and yāmi are used in the sense of begging, he explains ayāsiṣam, a variant form of the root yā, as yāce, I beg or pray.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 772–773, noted briefly)

सदसः (sadasaḥ): the root ṣadḷ viśaraṇagatyavasādaneṣu; s for ṣ by dhātvādeḥ ṣaḥ saḥ; after sad the suffix asun by sarvadhātubhyo 'sun. The suffix is nit, so by "ñnityādir nityam" (Pā. sū. 6-1-197), whereby what ends in a suffix with ñ or n as it is initial udātta, sadas is initial udātta. When the genitive singular ṅas [as printed: jas] comes, sadas + as, ru and visarga: sadasaḥ. After it stands the word pati; so by "ṣaṣṭhyāḥ patiputra…" (Pā. sū. 8-3-53) s for the visarga.

पतिम् (patim): the root pā rakṣaṇe. By "pāter ḍatiḥ" (Uṇ. sū. "4-57" [?]) the suffix ḍati comes after the root pā rakṣaṇe; the ḍ at the start of the suffix is called it by "cuṭū" (Pā. sū. 1-3-7) and dropped by "tasya lopaḥ" (Pā. sū. 1-3-9): pā + ati. By force of the suffix being made ḍit, though the former has no bha name, by “ṭeḥ” (Pā. sū. 6-4-143) the ā of pā, called ṭi, drops: pati. It is initial udātta [as printed] by the suffix accent.

प्रियम् (priyam): the root prīñ tarpaṇe. Since the suffix ka comes after roots with i, u, ṛ, ḷ in the penultimate and after jñā avabodhane, prīñ tarpaṇe and kṝ vikṣepe, the suffix ka after prī. By “laśakv ataddhite” (Pā. sū. 1-3-8) the k is called it and dropped: prī + a. By “aci śnudhātubhruvāṃ yvor iyaṅuvaṅau” (Pā. sū. 6-4-77) the substitute iyaṅ for the ī: priya. This is final udātta by the suffix accent; accusative singular am; the pūrvarūpa by “ami pūrvaḥ” (Pā. sū. 6-1-107).

काम्यम् (kāmyam): the root kamu kāntau; kānti means wish. By “kamer ṇiṅ” (Pā. sū. 3-1-30) ṇiṅ in the sense of the root itself: kam + i. By “ata upadhāyāḥ” (Pā. sū. 7-2-116) vṛddhi of the penultimate: kāmi. This is vowel-final, so by “aco yat” (Pā. sū. 3-1-97), whereby yat comes after a vowel-final root, the suffix yat: kām + i + ya. By “ṇer aniṭi” (Pā. sū. 6-4-51), when an ārdhadhātuka without iṭ follows, ṇi is dropped: kāmya. By “yato ’nāvaḥ” (Pā. sū. 6-1-213), the exception to tit svaritam, it is initial udātta. It ends in the accusative singular.

Page 773 (upper) — Rik 6: grammar (end)

सनिम् (sanim): ṣaṇu dāne; s for ṣ by dhātvādeḥ ṣaḥ saḥ. In “khani-kaṣy-añjy-asi-vasi-vani-sani-dhvani-granthi-calibhyaś ca” (Uṇ. sū. “4-139” [?]) the iḥ of “aca iḥ” (Uṇ. sū. “4-138” [?]) is carried on. The suffix i comes after the roots khanu avadāraṇe, kaṣa hiṃsāyām, aja gatikṣepaṇayoḥ, asu kṣepaṇe, vasa ācchādane, vana ṣaṇa saṃbhaktau, vanu yācane, ṣaṇu dāne, dhvana śabde, grantha bandhane (both of the cur-ādi) and cala kampane; so the suffix i: san + i. Final udātta by the suffix accent; am, the pūrvarūpa: sanim.

अयासिषम् (ayāsiṣam): yā prāpaṇe; luṅ, 1st singular mip: yā + mi. By “tasthasthamipāṃ tāṃtaṃtāmaḥ” (Pā. sū. 3-4-101) am for mi: yā + am. By “cli luṅi” (Pā. sū. 3-1-43) cli; for it the substitute sic by “cleḥ sic” (Pā. sū. 3-1-44); by “luṅlaṅlṛṅkṣv aḍ udāttaḥ” (Pā. sū. 6-4-71) the augment aṭ for the root: ayā + s + am. By “yamaramanamātāṃ sak ca” (Pā. sū. 7-2-73), for the roots yam, ram, nam and the ā-final roots, the augment sak, and for the sic after them the augment iṭ, when a parasmaipada suffix follows; so the augment sak for the ā-final yā, and iṭ for the sic: ayās + is + am. By “ādeśapratyayayoḥ” (Pā. sū. 8-3-59) ṣ for the s of sic: ayāsiṣam. By “tiṅṅatiṅaḥ” (Pā. sū. 8-1-28) it is wholly unaccented.

॥६॥

---

Page 773 (lower) — Sūkta 18, Rik 7

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

यस्मा॑दृ॒ते न सि॒ध्य॑ति य॒ज्ञो वि॒पश्चि॑त॒श्च॒न । [accent ?] स धी॒नां योग॑मिन्वति ॥७॥ [accent ?]

yásmād ṛté na sidhyati yajñó vipaścítaś caná | [accent ?] sa dhīnāṃ yógam invati ||7|| [accent ?]

(Read from the print, small type: strokes over स्मा, ध्य, श्चि and ग; bars under द्व, सि, य (यज्ञो), वि, प, च (चन) and धी. Several positions are not certain.)

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

यस्मात् । ऋते । न । सिध्यति । यज्ञः । विपःऽचितः । चन ॥ सः । धीनाम् । योगम् । इन्वति ॥७॥

yasmāt | ṛte | na | sidhyati | yajñaḥ | vipaḥ 'citaḥ | cana || saḥ | dhīnām | yogam | invati ||7||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

यज्ञोऽयमनुष्ठातव्यो विपश्चितश्चन विदुषोऽपि यजमानस्य यस्मात्सदसस्पतिदेवादृते न सिध्यति सोऽयं सदसस्पतिर्देवो धीनां मनोऽनुष्ठानविषयाणामस्मद्बुद्धीनामनुष्ठेयकर्मणां वा योगं संबन्धमिन्वति । व्याप्नोति । यजमानमनुगृह्य तदीयं यज्ञं निष्पादयतीत्यर्थः ॥ यस्मात् । अन्यारादित्यादिना । पा. २-३-२९ । ऋतेयोगात्पञ्चमी । सावेकाच इति विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वे प्राप्ते न गोश्वन्सावर्वेति प्रतिषेधः । सिध्यति । षिधु संराद्धौ । श्यनो नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वम् । यद्वृत्तान्नित्यमिति निघातप्रतिषेधः । धीनाम् । सावेकाच इति विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वम् । योगम् । युजिर् योगे । घञो ञित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वम् । इन्वति । इवि व्याप्तौ । शप् । इदितो नुम् धातोरिति नुम् । निघातः ॥

yajño 'yamanuṣṭhātavyo vipaścitaścana viduṣo 'pi yajamānasya yasmātsadasaspatidevādṛte na sidhyati so 'yaṃ sadasaspatirdevo dhīnāṃ mano 'nuṣṭhānaviṣayāṇāmasmadbuddhīnāmanuṣṭheyakarmaṇāṃ vā yogaṃ saṃbandhaminvati | vyāpnoti | yajamānamanugṛhya tadīyaṃ yajñaṃ niṣpādayatītyarthaḥ || yasmāt | anyārādityādinā | pā. 2-3-29 | ṛteyogātpañcamī | sāvekāca iti vibhakterudāttatve prāpte na gośvansāvavarṇeti pratiṣedhaḥ | sidhyati | ṣidhu saṃrāddhau | śyano nittvādādyudāttatvam | yadvṛttānnityamiti nighātapratiṣedhaḥ | dhīnām | sāvekāca iti vibhakterudāttatvam | yogam | yujir yoge | ghaño ñittvādādyudāttatvam | invati | ivi vyāptau | śap | idito num dhātoriti num | nighātaḥ ||

Page 774 — Rik 7: (bhāṣya ends at the top of this page, from ...णामस्मद्बुद्धीनाम्... ) word-meanings, overall sense, English, Special Topics

Translation: "Without which god Sadasaspati this sacrifice to be performed by a sacrificer, vipaścitaś cana, even a learned one, na sidhyati, does not succeed, that god Sadasaspati invati, pervades, the yoga, connection, of dhī, our minds, whose object is the performance, or of the rites to be performed: that is, favouring the sacrificer he accomplishes his sacrifice." (Grammatical tail: yasmāt, the ablative because of the connection with ṛte by anyārāt... (Pā. 2-3-29); the ending udātta due by sāv ekācaḥ is barred by na gośvan...; sidhyati, ṣidhu saṃrāddhau, initial udātta as śyan is nit, the lowering barred by yadvṛttān nityam; dhīnām, the ending udātta by sāv ekācaḥ; yogam, yujir yoge, initial udātta as ghañ is ñit; invati, ivi vyāptau, śap, num by idito num dhātoḥ, wholly unaccented.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

यज्ञः (yajñaḥ) — the sacrifice (we have to perform) | विपश्चितः चन (vipaścitaḥ cana) — even for a learned sacrificer | यस्मात् ऋते (yasmāt ṛte) — without the help of which Sadasaspati | न

सिध्यति (na sidhyati) — is not accomplished | सः (saḥ) — that Sadasaspati | धीनाम् (dhīnām) — to the mind set on performing the sacrifice, or to the rites to be performed | योगम् (yogam) — connection | इन्वति (invati) — pervades (brings about).

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

Even a learned sacrificer cannot accomplish the rite without the help of Sadasaspati. For this Sadasaspati brings about the connection between the matters that come into our mind and the rites we have to do; that is, he makes our minds intent on the rites to be performed.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> Without whose aid the sacrifice even of the wise does not prosper, he prompts the pious feelings in our thonghts [sic].

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Cana: api; this word means "even".

Dhīnām: the word dhī has two senses, intelligence and action (Ni. "3-13" and Ni. "3-2" [as read, ?]). So dhīnāṃ yogam invati means he brings about connection with the rites such as sacrifice that we do; or he brings about connection to our understanding so that we do the rites. "Brings about connection" means: he urges our understanding to engage in the performance of rites.

Page 775 — Rik 7: grammar

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar on p. 775, noted briefly)

यस्मात् (yasmāt): here the word yad is connected with the word ṛte. So by "anyārāditarartedikśabdāñcūttarapadājāhiyukte" (Pā. sū. 2-3-29), when connected with anya, ārāt, itara, ṛte, words seen to denote the quarters such as pūrva, words with añc as final member, and āc and āhi, the ablative comes after the stem denoting the sense construed with them; so the ablative comes after the word yad, construed with the sense of the word ṛte: yad + ṅasi. By "tyadādīnām aḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-2-102) a for the d; by "ato guṇe" (Pā. sū. 6-1-97) the pararūpa. By "ṅasiṅyoḥ smātsminau" (Pā. sū. 7-1-15), for ṅasi and ṅi after a pronoun ending in short a, the substitutes smāt and smin respectively; so smāt for ṅasi: yasmāt. By "sāv ekācas tṛtīyādir vibhaktiḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-1-168), su here meaning the locative plural suffix, the sense of the sūtra is that after a word that has a single vowel when that suffix follows, the case-endings from the instrumental on are udātta. In the locative plural the form is yeṣu; the ye before the locative plural su is the word yad with one vowel. So udātta would come to the ablative ending after yad, which is among the endings from the instrumental on. But in the nominative singular yaḥ, before su, the word ends in a. So the bar comes to it by "na gośvansāvavarṇa…" (Pā. sū. 6-1-182). So smāt is unaccented by the sup accent.

सिध्यति (sidhyati): ṣidhu saṃrāddhau, of the div-ādi; s for ṣ by dhātvādeḥ ṣaḥ saḥ; laṭ, tip. By "divādibhyaḥ śyan" (Pā. sū. 3-1-69) śyan: sidhyati. Śyan is nit, so it is initial udātta by the nit accent. Since it follows a word containing yad, yasmāt, the bar "yadvṛttān nityam" (Pā. sū. 8-1-66) comes, so it is not wholly unaccented by tiṅṅatiṅaḥ.

धीनाम् (dhīnām): the ending is udātta by sāv ekācaḥ.

योगम् (yogam): the root yujir yoge. By bhāve the suffix ghañ. By "cajoḥ ku ghiṇṇyatoḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-3-52), when a suffix with gh as it or the suffix ṇyat follows, c and j take the corresponding guttural; so for j, the third of the c-class, g, the third of the k-class; the laghūpadha-guṇa. The suffix is ñit, so yoga is initial udātta.

इन्वति (invati): the root ivi vyāptau. By "idito num dhātoḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-1-58) the augment num; laṭ, tip, śap: invati. By tiṅṅatiṅaḥ it is wholly unaccented.

॥७॥

---

Page 776 — Sūkta 18, Rik 8

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

आदृ॑ध्नोति ह॒विष्कृ॑तिं प्रा॒ञ्चं॑ कृणोत्यध्व॒रम् । [accent ?] होत्रा॑ दे॒वेषु॑ गच्छति ॥८॥ [accent ?]

ād ṛdhnoti haviṣkṛtiṃ prāñcaṃ kṛṇoty adhvarám | [accent ?] hótrā devéṣu gacchati ||8|| [accent ?]

(Read as printed: strokes over ह, ष्कृ, चं, त्रा and वे; bars under ह, ति, ध्व and दे. Positions not all certain.)

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

आत् । ऋध्नोति । हविःऽकृतिम् । प्राञ्चम् । कृणोति । अध्वरम् ॥ होत्रा । देवेषु । गच्छति ॥८॥

āt | ṛdhnoti | haviḥ 'kṛtim | prāñcam | kṛṇoti | adhvaram || hotrā | deveṣu | gacchati ||8||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

(The Uṇādi number ४-१६७ is read with some doubt [?]; the grammar page has "4-602" [?].)

आदनन्तरमेव हविष्कृतिं हविःसंपादनयुक्तं यजमानमृध्नोति । सदसस्पतिर्देवो वर्धयति । हविर्दानानन्तरमेव फलं प्रयच्छतीत्यर्थः । तथाविधफलसिद्धयेऽध्वरं यजमानेनानुष्ठीयमानं यज्ञं प्राञ्चं प्रकर्षेण गच्छन्तमविघ्नेन परिसमाप्तियुक्तं कृणोति । करोति । होत्रा हूयमाना देवता तुष्टा सती यजमानं प्रख्यापयितुं देवेषु गच्छति । यद्वा । होत्रास्मदीयस्तुतिरूपा वाक् देवान्परितोषयितुं देवेषु गच्छति । श्लोको धारेत्यादिषु सप्तपञ्चाशत्सु वाङ्नामसु होत्रा गीरिति पठितम् ॥ हविष्कृतिम् । हविषः कृतिः संपादनं यस्य यजमानस्य सोऽयं हविष्कृतिः । बहुव्रीहौ प्रकृत्येति पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् । प्राञ्चम् । अनिगन्तोऽञ्चतौ वप्रत्यये । पा. ६-२-५२ । इति गतेः प्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् । पश्चादेकादेशस्वरः । अध्वरम् । न विद्यते ध्वरो हिंसा यस्मिन् । नञ्सुभ्यामित्युत्तरपदान्तोदात्तत्वम् । हूयतेऽस्यामिति होत्रा देवता । हुयामाश्रुभसिभ्यस्त्रन् । उ. ४-१६७ । इति त्रन् । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः ॥

ādanantarameva haviṣkṛtiṃ haviḥsaṃpādanayuktaṃ yajamānamṛdhnoti | sadasaspatirdevo vardhayati | havirdānānantarameva phalaṃ prayacchatītyarthaḥ | tathāvidhaphalasiddhaye 'dhvaraṃ yajamānenānuṣṭhīyamānaṃ yajñaṃ prāñcaṃ prakarṣeṇa gacchantamavighnena parisamāptiyuktaṃ kṛṇoti | karoti | hotrā hūyamānā devatā tuṣṭā satī yajamānaṃ prakhyāpayituṃ deveṣu gacchati | yadvā | hotrāsmadīyastutirūpā vāk devānparitoṣayituṃ deveṣu gacchati | śloko dhāretyādiṣu saptapañcāśatsu vāṅnāmasu hotrā gīriti paṭhitam || haviṣkṛtim | haviṣaḥ kṛtiḥ saṃpādanaṃ yasya yajamānasya so 'yaṃ haviṣkṛtiḥ | bahuvrīhau prakṛtyeti pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvam | prāñcam | aniganto 'ñcatau vapratyaye | pā. 6-2-52 | iti gateḥ prakṛtisvaratvam | paścādekādeśasvaraḥ | adhvaram | na vidyate dhvaro hiṃsā yasmin | nañsubhyāmityuttarapadāntodāttatvam | hūyate 'syāmiti hotrā devatā | huyāmāśrubhasibhyastran | u. 4-167 | iti tran | nittvādādyudāttaḥ ||

Translation: "Āt, right after, (the god Sadasaspati) ṛdhnoti, makes grow, the sacrificer who is haviṣkṛti, engaged in preparing the oblation: that is, right after the giving of the oblation he gives the fruit. For obtaining such fruit, he kṛṇoti, makes, the adhvara, the sacrifice being performed by the sacrificer, prāñcam, going forward well, brought to completion without obstacle. Hotrā, the deity being called, being pleased, goes among the gods to proclaim the sacrificer. Or hotrā, our speech in the form of praise, goes among the gods to please them. Hotrā and gīḥ are read among the fifty-seven names for speech beginning ślokaḥ, dhārā." (Grammatical tail: haviṣkṛtim, "the sacrificer whose kṛti, preparing, is of the oblation", the first member's accent by bahuvrīhau prakṛtyā; prāñcam, the preverb keeps its accent by Pā. 6-2-52, then the accent of the single substitute; adhvaram, "in which there is no dhvara, harm", final udātta of the final member by nañsubhyām; hotrā, "she is called on", the deity, tran by huyāmāśrubhasibhyas tran (Uṇ. 4-167 [?]), initial udātta as nit.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

आत् (āt) — then | हविष्कृतिम् (haviṣkṛtim) — the sacrificer who has prepared the oblation | ऋध्नोति (ṛdhnoti) — (Sadasaspati) makes prosper | अध्वरम् (adhvaram) — (the sacrificer's undertaken) sacrifice | प्राञ्चम् (prāñcam) — so that it goes on well, or ends without obstacle | कृणोति (kṛṇoti) — makes | होत्रा (hotrā) — by the invoking (the deity called, being pleased, to make the sacrificer renowned) | देवेषु (deveṣu) — among the gods (to where the gods are) | गच्छति (gacchati) — goes [or: होत्रा (hotrā) — (our) speech in the form of praise (to please the gods) | देवेषु (deveṣu) — among the gods | गच्छति (gacchati) — goes and reaches.]

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

As soon as we have given the share of oblation in the sacrifice, Sadasaspati brings good to the sacrificer; he brings the sacrifice begun to completion without obstacle. And the deity we invoked, pleased by the sacrifice, goes to the gods to praise the sacrificer; or the speech in the form of praise that we make goes to the gods to praise the sacrificer, that is, makes the gods hear it.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

And then he rewards the presenter of oblations ; brings the sacrifiee [sic] to its conclusion ; our prayer then reaches the gods.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Āt: atha, meaning "then". For the word āt in the ṛk

यदेदयुक्त हरितः सधस्थादाद्रात्री वासस्तनुते सिमस्मै (ऋ. सं. १-११५-४)

yadedayukta haritaḥ sadhasthādādrātrī vāsastanute simasmai (ṛ. saṃ. 1-115-4)

("When he has yoked the bay horses from their seat, then night spreads her garment for all": mine and tentative.) Yāska in the Nirukta gives the sense atha, then (Ni. "4-11" [?]).

Haviṣkṛtim: haviṣaḥ kṛtiḥ saṃpādanaṃ yasya yajamānasya so 'yaṃ haviṣkṛtiḥ: the sense is the sacrificer who gives the oblation. Or, as Skandasvāmin says, हविष्कृतिं हविष्क्रियां हवींषि सारतो वृद्धानि करोतीत्यर्थः ॥

haviṣkṛtiṃ haviṣkriyāṃ havīṃṣi sārato vṛddhāni karotītyarthaḥ ||

("Haviṣkṛtim means the making of the oblation: he makes the oblations grown in substance.") Haviṣkṛti means the act of giving oblation; the intent is that he makes it substantial.

Prāñcam:

प्रकर्षेण गच्छन्तमविघ्नेन परिसमाप्तियुक्तं करोतीत्यर्थः ॥

prakarṣeṇa gacchantamavighnena parisamāptiyuktaṃ karotītyarthaḥ ||

("Going forward well, he makes it reach completion without obstacle.") The sense is: he makes the sacrifice reach its end without obstacle.

Hotrā:

हूयमाना देवता अथवा अस्मदीयस्तुतिरूपा वाक्

hūyamānā devatā athavā asmadīyastutirūpā vāk

("The deity being called, or our speech in the form of praise.") Two senses are given: the deity called in the sacrifice, or the speech in the form of praise that we make. Of these two the second, speech, seems fitting here. Since the word hotrā is read among the fifty-seven names for speech beginning ślokaḥ, dhārā (Ni. [?]), hotrā means speech.

Page 778 — Rik 8: Special Topics (end) and grammar

Deveṣu gacchati: going to the gods. If it refers to the deity, the intent is that the deity pleased in the sacrifice goes to the gods to tell that the sacrificer has satisfied him well; if it refers to speech, the intent is: may our words of praise reach the gods, or become known to them, or be heard by them, and may they be pleased.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 778–779, noted briefly)

हविष्कृतिम् (haviṣkṛtim): haviṣaḥ kṛtiḥ saṃpādanaṃ yasya yajamānasya saḥ haviṣkṛtiḥ: the sacrificer who has the preparation of the oblation is called haviṣkṛti. By "bahuvrīhau prakṛtyā pūrvapadam" (Pā. sū. 6-2-1) the accent of the first member.

प्राञ्चम् (prāñcam): the analysis pra añcati. In this sense, with the subanta pra as upapada, by "ṛtvigdadhṛk…" (Pā. sū. 3-2-59) the suffix kvin; k, n, i are called it and dropped; v remains. By "anidhitāṃ hala upadhāyāḥ knīti" (Pā. sū. 6-4-24), before a kit or ṅit suffix, the n in the penultimate of a consonant-final aṅga not having short i as it is dropped: pra + ac + v; lengthening of like vowels: prāc + v. By "anigantoñcatau vapratyaye" (Pā. sū. 6-2-52), when the root añc ending in a suffix that is v follows, a gati not ending in ik keeps its own accent; so the first member keeps its accent; the first member pra is initial udātta by upasargāś cābhivarjam, and after compounding the same accent stays by the sūtra just stated. With pra + ac + v the single substitute from lengthening of like vowels is udātta by ekādeśa udāttenodāttaḥ. By "ver apṛktasya" the v is dropped. Accusative singular am: prāc + am. By "ugidacāṃ sarvanāmasthāne 'dhātoḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-1-70) the augment num: prānc + am; by "naś cāpadāntasya jhali" (Pā. sū. 8-3-24) anusvāra for the n; for it, by "anusvārasya yayi parasavarṇaḥ" (Pā. sū. 8-4-58), the homorganic ñ: prāñcam.

अध्वरम् (adhvaram): na vidyate 'dhvaraḥ [as printed] hiṃsā yasmin sa adhvaraḥ. Overriding the first-member accent due by bahuvrīhau prakṛtyā pūrvapadam, by "nañsubhyām" (Pā. sū. 6-2-172), the final member after nañ and su is final udātta; so the final member is final udātta.

होत्रा (hotrā): hūyate asmin iti hotrā, the deity. By "huyāmāśrubhasibhyas tran" (Uṇ. sū. "4-602" [?]), after the roots hu dānādanayoḥ, yā prāpaṇe, mā māne, śru śravaṇe and bhasa bhartsanadīptyoḥ, the suffix tran comes; so after the root hu, tran; guṇa: hotra. Naming a deity, it is feminine; so ṭāp: hotrā. The suffix is nit; so hotrā is initial udātta by the nit accent.

Page 779 (upper) — Rik 8: grammar (end)

॥८॥

---

Page 779 (lower) — Sūkta 18, Rik 9 (last ṛk of the sūkta)

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. Deity: Sadasaspati or Narāśaṃsa.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

नरा॒शंस॑ सु॒धृष्ट॒ममप॑श्यं स॒प्रथ॑स्तमम् । [accent ?] दि॒वो न सद्म॑मखसम् ॥९॥ [accent ?]

narāśáṃsaṃ sudhṛ́ṣṭamam ápaśyaṃ sapráthastamam | [accent ?] divó na sádmamakhasam ||9|| [accent ?]

(Read as printed: strokes over सं (शंस), धृ, प (अपश्यं), थ and द्म; bars under रा, सु, म (ष्म), स (सप्रथ) and दि.)

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

नराशंसम् । सुऽधृष्टमम् । अपश्यम् । सप्रथःऽतमम् ॥ दिवः । न । सद्मऽमखसम् ॥९॥

narāśaṃsam | su 'dhṛṣṭamam | apaśyam | saprathaḥ 'tamam || divaḥ | na | sadma 'makhasam ||9||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

नराशंसमेतन्नामकं देवविशेषम् । यद्वा । अवयवार्थव्युत्पत्त्या सदसस्पतिदेवतापरोऽयं शब्दः । व्युत्पत्तिं च यास्को दर्शयति । नराशंसो यज्ञ इति कात्थक्यो नरा अस्मिन्नासीनाः शंसन्त्यग्निरिति शाकपूणिर्नरैः प्रशस्यो भवति । नि. ८-६ । इति । अत्राग्निवत्सदसस्पतेरपि नरैः शस्यमानत्वान्नराशंसत्वम् । एवमेवाभिप्रायं हृदि निधाय ब्राह्मणमेवमाम्नायते । प्रजा वै नरो वाक् शंसः । ऐ. ब्रा. ६-२७ । इति । अतो मनुष्यैः शस्यमानो यः सदसस्पतिर्यो वा नराशंसनामको देवस्तमपश्यं शास्त्रदृष्ट्या दृष्टवानस्मि । कीदृशम् । सुधृष्टममत्याधिक्येन धार्ष्ट्ययुक्तं सप्रथस्तममतिशयेन प्रख्यातं सद्ममखसं प्राप्ततेजस्कम् । तत्र दृष्टान्तः । दिवो न द्युलोकानिव । आदित्यचन्द्रादिभिरधिष्ठिता द्युलोकविशेषा यथा तेजस्विनस्तद्वदयं नराशंसस्तेजस्वीत्यर्थः ॥ सुधृष्टमम् । शोभनं धृष्णोतीति सुधृक् । क्विप्चेति क्विप् । अतिशायनिकस्तमप् । षकारस्य जश्त्वाभावश्छान्दसः । कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वेन ऋकार उदात्तः । अपश्यम् । पाघ्राध्मेत्यादिना पश्यादेशः । लुङ्लङ्लृङ्क्ष्वडुदात्तः । पा. ६-४-७१ । इत्यट उदात्तत्वम् । पादादित्वान्न निघातः । सप्रथस्तमम् । प्रथ प्रख्याने ।

narāśaṃsametannāmakaṃ devaviśeṣam | yadvā | avayavārthavyutpattyā sadasaspatidevatāparo 'yaṃ śabdaḥ | vyutpattiṃ ca yāsko darśayati | narāśaṃso yajña iti kātthakyo narā asminnāsīnāḥ śaṃsantyagniriti śākapūṇirnaraiḥ praśasyo bhavati | ni. 8-6 | iti | atrāgnivatsadasaspaterapi naraiḥ śasyamānatvānnarāśaṃsatvam | evamevābhiprāyaṃ hṛdi nidhāya brāhmaṇamevamāmnāyate | prajā vai naro vāk śaṃsaḥ | ai. brā. 6-27 | iti | ato manuṣyaiḥ śasyamāno yaḥ sadasaspatiryo vā narāśaṃsanāmako devastamapaśyaṃ śāstradṛṣṭyā dṛṣṭavānasmi | kīdṛśam | sudhṛṣṭamamatyādhikyena dhārṣṭyayuktaṃ saprathastamamatiśayena prakhyātaṃ sadmamakhasaṃ prāptatejaskam | tatra dṛṣṭāntaḥ | divo na dyulokāniva | ādityacandrādibhiradhiṣṭhitā dyulokaviśeṣā yathā tejasvinastadvadayaṃ narāśaṃsastejasvītyarthaḥ || sudhṛṣṭamam | śobhanaṃ dhṛṣṇotīti sudhṛk | kvipceti kvip | atiśāyanikastamap | ṣakārasya jaśtvābhāvaśchāndasaḥ | kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvena ṛkāra udāttaḥ | apaśyam | pāghrādhmetyādinā paśyādeśaḥ | luṅlaṅlṛṅkṣvaḍudāttaḥ | pā. 6-4-71 | ityaṭa udāttatvam | pādāditvānna nighātaḥ | saprathastamam | pratha prakhyāne |

( //३५// closes Varga 35.)

प्रथनं प्रथः । सर्वधातुभ्योऽसुन् । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वम् । सह प्रथसा वर्तत इति तेन सहेति तुल्ययोगे । पा. २-२-२८ । इति बहुव्रीहिसमासः । वोपसर्जनस्य । पा. ६-३-८२ । इति सादेशः । पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वे प्राप्ते परादिश्छन्दसि बहुलमित्युत्तरपदाद्युदात्तत्वम् । दिवः । ऊडिदमित्यादिना विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वम् । सद्ममखसम् । सीदन्तीति सद्म । षद्लृ विशरणादौ । अन्येभ्योऽपि दृश्यन्त इति मनिन् । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । सद्म महो यस्येति बहुव्रीहौ हकारस्य व्यत्ययेन खकारः ॥३५॥

prathanaṃ prathaḥ | sarvadhātubhyo 'sun | nittvādādyudāttatvam | saha prathasā vartata iti tena saheti tulyayoge | pā. 2-2-28 | iti bahuvrīhisamāsaḥ | vopasarjanasya |

pā. 6-3-82 | iti sādeśaḥ | pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratve prāpte parādiśchandasi bahulamityuttarapadādyudāttatvam | divaḥ | ūḍidamityādinā vibhakterudāttatvam | sadmamakhasam | sīdantīti sadma | ṣadlṛ viśaraṇādau | anyebhyo 'pi dṛśyanta iti manin | nittvādādyudāttaḥ | sadma maho yasyeti bahuvrīhau hakārasya vyatyayena khakāraḥ ||35||

Translation: "Narāśaṃsa, the particular god of that name. Or, by derivation from the sense of its parts, this word refers to the deity Sadasaspati. Yāska shows the derivation: 'Narāśaṃsa is the sacrifice, says Kātthakya: men, seated in it, praise; Agni, says Śākapūṇi: he is to be praised by men' (Ni. 8-6). Here, like Agni, Sadasaspati too is narāśaṃsa because he is praised by men. With just this intent in mind the Brāhmaṇa declares: 'The creatures are men; speech is śaṃsa' (Ai. Brā. 6-27). So I apaśyam, have seen with the eye of the śāstra, the Sadasaspati praised by men, or the god named Narāśaṃsa. Of what kind? Sudhṛṣṭama, endowed with boldness in the highest degree; saprathastama, most renowned; sadmamakhas, who has attained radiance. Here is the example: divo na, like the heavenly worlds: as the particular heavenly regions presided over by the sun, the moon and the rest are radiant, so this Narāśaṃsa is radiant." (Grammatical tail: sudhṛṣṭamam, "he dares well", sudhṛk, kvip by kvip ca, tamap of excess, the absence of jaś for the ṣ Vedic, the ṛ udātta by the accent of the kṛt final member; apaśyam, paśya by pāghrādhmā…, the aṭ udātta by Pā. 6-4-71, not lowered at the start of the pāda; saprathastamam, pratha prakhyāne, "prathanaṃ prathaḥ", asun, initial udātta as nit; "it is with prathas", a bahuvrīhi by tena saheti tulyayoge (Pā. 2-2-28), sa substituted by Pā. 6-3-82; the first member's accent being due, initial udātta of the final member by parādiś chandasi bahulam; divaḥ, the ending udātta by ūḍidam…; sadmamakhasam, "they sit": sadma, ṣadḷ viśaraṇādau, manin by anyebhyo 'pi dṛśyante, initial udātta as nit; in the bahuvrīhi "whose mahas is a seat", kh for h by exchange.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

(I) सुधृष्टमम् (sudhṛṣṭamam) — very bold | सप्रथस्तमम् (saprathastamam) — exceedingly renowned | दिवः न (divaḥ na) — like the heavenly world | सद्ममखसम् (sadmamakhasam) — shining with abundant radiance | नराशंसम् (narāśaṃsam) — Sadasaspati, praised by men, or the deity called Narāśaṃsa (Agni) | अपश्यम् (apaśyam) — I have seen.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

This Sadasaspati (or Narāśaṃsa) has great valour, is very renowned, and shines with exceeding radiance like the heavenly world (where the sun, moon and the rest are). Such a Sadasaspati (or Narāśaṃsa) I have seen.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> I have seen Narasamsa the most valiant, the most renowned and radiant as the heavens.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

The deity of this ṛk is Sadasaspati or Narāśaṃsa. Though the name Sadasaspati is not indicated in the ṛk, because the three previous ṛks refer to Sadasaspati, and because it is said that the deity of this ṛk is either Sadasaspati or Narāśaṃsa, one should take the word narāśaṃsa in the sense of its parts, "praised by men", and treat it as a qualifier of the word sadasaspatim (that word is to be supplied here). Or, on the view that names the deity Narāśaṃsa for this ṛk, there is no difficulty, since the very word narāśaṃsam is in the ṛk. Yāska explains the sense of the parts of the word narāśaṃsa thus:

> नराशंसो यज्ञ इति कात्थक्यो नरा अस्मिन्नासीनाः शंसन्त्यग्निरिति शाकपूणिर्नरैः प्रशस्यो भवति ॥ (नि. ८-६)
>
> narāśaṃso yajña iti kātthakyo narā asminnāsīnāḥ śaṃsantyagniriti śākapūṇirnaraiḥ praśasyo bhavati || (ni. 8-6)

("Narāśaṃsa is the sacrifice, says Kātthakya: men, seated in it, praise; Agni, says Śākapūṇi: he is to be praised by men": mine and tentative.) Kātthakya's view is that narāśaṃsa is the sacrifice; Śākapūṇi's view is that narāśaṃsa is the one praised (Agni), since narāḥ, men, praise him. On this the commentator cites a statement of the Aitareya Brāhmaṇa,

> प्रजा वै नरो वाक् शंसः (ऐ. ब्रा. ६-२७)
>
> prajā vai naro vāk śaṃsaḥ (ai. brā. 6-27)

Nara means creatures or men; śaṃsa means speech. So the intent is that narāśaṃsa means one praised by creatures or men. The word narāśaṃsa can be construed with reference to three deities, Sadasaspati, Narāśaṃsa or Agni. We have discussed this point earlier (see page [the number is left blank in the print]).

Sudhṛṣṭamam:

> शोभनं धृष्णोतीति
>
> śobhanaṃ dhṛṣṇotīti

("He dares well.") One who has excellent valour (or steadfastness).

Saprathastamam:

> प्रथ प्रख्याने । सह प्रथसा वर्तते इति । तेन सह
>
> pratha prakhyāne | saha prathasā vartate iti | tena saha

("Pratha, to be renowned; it is with prathas; together with it.") Since the root pratha means make known, praise, the word saprathastamam means accompanied by special renown.

Divo na: like heaven. This comparison does not fit very well. The ṛṣi may have spoken this comparison with in mind the sun, moon and the rest shining brightly in heaven (in the sky).

Sadmamakhasam: here, in the word makhasam, kh has been used by exchange in place of h; so makhasam means mahasam.

सद्म महो यस्य सः सद्ममहाः अथवा सद्ममखाः तम्

sadma maho yasya saḥ sadmamahāḥ athavā sadmamakhāḥ tam

("He whose mahas is a seat, sadmamahāḥ or sadmamakhāḥ: him.") Such is the analysis. One who is like a house for radiance: the intent is one who shines with exceeding radiance or splendour.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 781–782, noted briefly)

सुधृष्टमम् (sudhṛṣṭamam): the root ñidhṛṣā prāgalbhye, of the sv-ādi. When su = śobhanam, dhṛṣṇoti is meant, kvip by "kvip ca" (Pā. sū. 3-2-76); all of kvip drops. By "atiśāyane tamabiṣṭhanau" (Pā. sū. 5-3-55) tamap in the sense of excess: sudhṛṣ + tama. That jaś does not come for the ṣ by "jhalāṃ jaś jhaśi" (Pā. sū. 8-4-53) is Vedic. By "ṣṭunā ṣṭuḥ" (Pā. sū. 8-4-41) ṭ for the t. Accusative singular am; by ami pūrvaḥ the pūrvarūpa: sudhṛṣṭamam. The ṛ of dhṛṣ is udātta by the root accent.

Page 782 — Rik 9: grammar (end)

After compounding with the word su, the accent of the kṛt final member comes by "gatikārakopapadāt kṛt" (Pā. sū. 6-2-139), and that accent stays.

अपश्यम् (apaśyam): the root dṛśir prekṣaṇe. Laṅ, 1st singular mip; for it the substitute am by "tasthasthamipāṃ tāṃtaṃtāmaḥ" (Pā. sū. 3-4-101); the vikaraṇa śap by "kartari śap" (Pā. sū. 3-1-68). By "pāghrādhmāsthāmnādāṇdṛśyarti…" (Pā. sū. 7-3-78) the substitute paśya for dṛś: paśya + a + am. By "ami pūrvaḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-1-107) the pūrvarūpa: apaśyam. By luṅlaṅlṛṅkṣv aḍ udāttaḥ the udātta augment aṭ. Since it stands at the start of a pāda, it is not wholly unaccented.

सप्रथस्तमम् (saprathastamam): the root pratha prakhyāne; prathanaṃ prathaḥ: by sarvadhātubhyo 'sun the suffix asun in the sense of the action; prathas is initial udātta by the nit accent. Saha prathasā vartate: a bahuvrīhi compound, by "tena saheti tulyayoge" (Pā. sū. 2-2-28): the word saha, conveying an action at the same time, is compounded with a fit word ending in the instrumental, and that is called bahuvrīhi. "Vopasarjanasya" (Pā. sū. 6-3-82): a compound all of whose members are upasarjana is a bahuvrīhi; the word saha, standing immediately before the final member in a compound forming a bahuvrīhi, takes the substitute sa; so sa for saha: saprathas. Since this is a bahuvrīhi, the first member's accent is due; but by "parādiś chandasi bahulam" (Pā. sū. 6-2-199) the final member prathas is final udātta [as printed]. When excess is meant, the suffix tamap: saprathastama; accusative singular, saprathastamam.

दिवः (divaḥ): by "ūḍidaṃpadādyappumraidyubhyaḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-1-171) the ending is udātta.

सद्ममखसम् (sadmamakhasam): ṣadḷ viśaraṇagatyavasādaneṣu; s for ṣ by dhātvādeḥ ṣaḥ saḥ. By "anyebhyo 'pi dṛśyante" (Pā. sū. 3-2-75) the suffix manin: sadman. By the nit accent it is initial udātta. Sadma mahaḥ yasya saḥ sadmamahāḥ: a bahuvrīhi compound. By "vyatyayo bahulam" (Pā. sū. 3-1-85) kh for h: sadmamakhas; accusative singular am: sadmamakhasam.

॥९॥

(An ornament closes Sūkta 18 at the foot of p. 782; no colophon is printed.)

---

॥ ಹತ್ತೊಂಭತ್ತನೆಯ ಸೂಕ್ತವು ॥ — Sūkta 19 — "prati tyaṃ cārum adhvaram" ("The Nineteenth Sūkta"; second sūkta of the Fifth Anuvāka; last sūkta of this volume)

(Printed p. 783 opens with the title ಹತ್ತೊಂಭತ್ತನೆಯ ಸೂಕ್ತವು ("The Nineteenth Sūkta").)

Page 783 — Sūkta 19: introduction, heading, Rik 1 Saṃhitā

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥ (introductory note)

> प्रति त्यमिति नवर्चं द्वितीयं सूक्तम् । ऋषिच्छन्दसी पूर्ववत् । देवता त्वनुक्रम्यते । प्रति त्यमाग्निमारुतमिति ॥ कारीरीष्ट्यां प्रति त्यमित्येषा धाय्या । तथा च सूत्रितम् । वर्षकामेष्टिः कारीरी तस्यां प्रति त्यं चारुमध्वरमीळे अग्निं स्ववसं नमोभिरिति धाय्ये । आ. २-१३ । इति ॥
>
> prati tyamiti navarcaṃ dvitīyaṃ sūktam | ṛṣicchandasī pūrvavat | devatā tvanukramyate | prati tyamāgnimārutamiti || kārīrīṣṭyāṃ prati tyamityeṣā dhāyyā | tathā ca sūtritam | varṣakāmeṣṭiḥ kārīrī tasyāṃ prati tyaṃ cārumadhvaramīḷe agniṃ svavasaṃ namobhiriti dhāyye | ā. 2-13 | iti ||

Translation: "The sūkta beginning prati tyam, of nine ṛks, is the second. The ṛṣi and metre are as before. The deity is stated in the Anukramaṇī: 'prati tyam: to Agni and the Maruts.' In the kārīrī rite this ṛk prati tyam is the dhāyyā. So it is laid down in the sūtra: 'The kārīrī is the rite of one who desires rain; in it prati tyaṃ cārum adhvaram and īḷe agniṃ svavasaṃ namobhiḥ are the two dhāyyās' (Āśv. 2-13)."

Anuvāda (Kannada rendering): Pratityam is the second sūkta in this fifth anuvāka. It has nine ṛks. On the deity of this sūkta the Anukramaṇikā says, pratityam āgnimārutam: the deities of the sūkta pratityam are Agni and the Maruts. In the rite called kārīrīṣṭi the sūkta prati tyam is to be recited: varṣakāmeṣṭiḥ kārīrī tasyāṃ prati tyaṃ cārum adhvaram īḷe agniṃ svavasaṃ namobhir iti dhāyye (Āśv. 2-13); that is, kārīrī is the rite of one who desires rain, a particular rite done for the coming of rain. In it the two ṛks prati tyaṃ cārum adhvaram (Ṛ. saṃ. 1-19-1) and īḷe agniṃ svavasaṃ namobhiḥ (Ṛ. saṃ. 5-60-1) are to be recited as the yājyā and puronuvākyā ṛks, says the Āśvalāyana Śrautasūtra (Āś. 2-13).

॥ ॐ ॥

॥ Sūkta — 19 ॥ ॥ Maṇḍala — 1 ॥ Anuvāka — 5 ॥ Sūkta — 19 ॥ ॥ Aṣṭaka — 1 ॥ Adhyāya — 1 ॥ Varga — 36, 37 ॥ ॥ Number of ṛks in the sūkta: 1–9 ॥ ॥ Ṛṣiḥ — Medhātithiḥ Kāṇvaḥ ॥ ॥ Devatā — Agnir Marutaś ca ॥ ॥ Chandaḥ — Gāyatrī ॥

Sūkta 19, Rik 1

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

प्रति॒ त्यं चारु॑मध्व॒रं गो॑पी॒थाय॒ प्र हू॑यसे । [accent ?] म॒रुद्भि॑रग्न आ ग॑हि ॥१॥ [accent ?]

prati tyáṃ cárum adhvaráṃ gopīthā́ya prá hūyase | [accent ?] marúdbhir agna ā́ gahi ||1|| [accent ?]

(Read as printed: strokes over रु (चारु), गो, हू, द्भि and ग (गहि); bars under ति, ध्व, पी, य (थाय) and म.)

Page 784 — Rik 1: Pada, bhāṣya, word-meanings, overall sense, English

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

प्रति । त्यम् । चारुम् । अध्वरम् । गोऽपीथाय । प्र । हूयसे ॥ मरुत्ऽभिः । अग्ने । आ । गहि ॥१॥

prati | tyam | cārum | adhvaram | go 'pīthāya | pra | hūyase || marut 'bhiḥ | agne | ā | gahi ||1||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

त्यच्छब्दः सर्वनाम तच्छब्दपर्यायः । हे अग्ने यो यज्ञश्चारुरङ्गवैकल्यरहितस्त्यं तथाविधं चारुमध्वरं प्रतिलभ्य गोपीथाय सोमपानाय प्र हूयसे । प्रकर्षेण त्वं हूयसे । तस्मादस्मिन्नध्वरे त्वं मरुद्भिर्देवविशेषैः सहा गहि । आगच्छ । सेयमृग्यास्केनैवं व्याख्याता । तं प्रति चारुमध्वरं सोमपानाय प्रहूयसे सोऽग्ने मरुद्भिः सहागच्छ । नि. १०-३६ । इति ॥ प्रति । निपात आद्युदात्तः । त्यम् । त्यदादीनामः । पा. ७-२-१०२ । प्रातिपदिकस्वरः । चारुम् । दृसनिजनिचरीत्यादिना । उ. १-३ । ञुण् । अत उपधाया इति वृद्धिः । ञित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । गोपीथाय । निशीथगोपीथावगथाः । उ. २-९ । इति थक्प्रत्ययान्तो निपातितः । प्र । निपातस्वरः ॥

tyacchabdaḥ sarvanāma tacchabdaparyāyaḥ | he agne yo yajñaścāruraṅgavaikalyarahitastyaṃ tathāvidhaṃ cārumadhvaraṃ pratilabhya gopīthāya somapānāya pra hūyase | prakarṣeṇa tvaṃ hūyase | tasmādasminnadhvare tvaṃ marudbhirdevaviśeṣaiḥ sahā gahi | āgaccha | seyamṛgyāskenaivaṃ vyākhyātā | taṃ prati cārumadhvaraṃ somapānāya prahūyase so 'gne marudbhiḥ sahāgaccha | ni. 10-36 | iti || prati | nipāta ādyudāttaḥ | tyam | tyadādīnāmaḥ | pā. 7-2-102 | prātipadikasvaraḥ | cārum | dṛsanijanicarītyādinā | u. 1-3 | ñuṇ | ata upadhāyā iti vṛddhiḥ | ñittvādādyudāttaḥ | gopīthāya | niśīthagopīthāvagathāḥ | u. 2-9 | iti thakpratyayānto nipātitaḥ | pra | nipātasvaraḥ ||

Translation: "The word tya is a pronoun, a synonym of the word tad. O Agni, the sacrifice which is cāru, free from any defect in its parts: having obtained tyam, such a cārum adhvaram, you are pra hūyase, called with eminence, gopīthāya, for the drinking of soma. Therefore come to this sacrifice with the Maruts, the particular gods. This ṛk Yāska explains thus: 'To that lovely sacrifice you are called for the drinking of soma; O Agni, come with the Maruts' (Ni. 10-36)." (Grammatical tail: prati, a particle, initial udātta; tyam, a by tyadādīnām aḥ (Pā. 7-2-102), the stem accent; cārum, ñuṇ by dṛsanijanicari… (Uṇ. 1-3), vṛddhi by ata upadhāyāḥ, initial udātta as ñit; gopīthāya, given ready-made as a thak-final by niśīthagopīthāvagathāḥ (Uṇ. 2-9); pra, the particle accent.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

(हे) अग्ने ((he) agne) — O Agni | चारुम् (cārum) — free from the faults of deficiency and excess, lovely, or complete (whatever sacrifice there is) | त्यम् (tyam) — that | अध्वरं प्रति (adhvaraṃ prati) — to that sacrifice | गोपीथाय (gopīthāya) — for drinking soma | प्र हूयसे (pra hūyase) — you are invited | (therefore you) | मरुद्भिः (marudbhiḥ) — together with the deities called Maruts | आ गहि (ā gahi) — come.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Agni, you are invited for the drinking of soma in every excellent sacrifice performed without the faults of deficiency, excess or omission. So come here now together with the Marut deities.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> O Agni, to every perfect and handsome sacrifice you are invoked to drink Soma ; come hither, Agni, with the Maruths [sic].

Page 785 — Rik 1: Special Topics and grammar

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Yāska has explained the sense of this ṛk in the Nirukta. That explanation is just as the commentator gives it; there is no difference.

Tyam = tam: this is a pronoun. By exchange tyam stands in place of tam. We give a few ṛks in which the word tyam has the sense tam, as examples:

> त्यं चिदत्रिमृतजुरमर्थमश्वं न यातवे । (ऋ. सं. १०-१४३-१)
>
> tyaṃ cidatrimṛtajuramarthamaśvaṃ na yātave | (ṛ. saṃ. 10-143-1)

("That Atri, worn out by age, like a horse, to go to his goal ...": mine and tentative.)

> त्यं सुमेषं महया स्वर्विदं शतं यस्य सुभ्वः साकमीरते । (ऋ. सं. १-५२-१)
>
> tyaṃ sumeṣaṃ mahayā svarvidaṃ śataṃ yasya subhvaḥ sākamīrate | (ṛ. saṃ. 1-52-1)

("Magnify that ram, the finder of light, whose hundred good helpers go forth together": mine and tentative.)

> त्यमूषु वाजिनं देवजूतं सहावानं तरुतारं रथानाम् । (ऋ. सं. १०-१७८-१)
>
> tyamūṣu vājinaṃ devajūtaṃ sahāvānaṃ tarutāraṃ rathānām | (ṛ. saṃ. 10-178-1)

("That prize-winner, sped by the gods, mighty, the victor of chariots": mine and tentative.)

> उदु त्यं जातवेदसं देवं वहन्ति केतवः ॥ (ऋ. सं. १-५०-१)
>
> udu tyaṃ jātavedasaṃ devaṃ vahanti ketavaḥ || (ṛ. saṃ. 1-50-1)

("The rays carry up that god Jātavedas": mine and tentative.)

and so on. In these ṛks the word tyam means tam.

Gopīthāya: though the word go has many senses, cow, water, ray, hymn, soma, speech and so on, here the commentator has taken it as soma. The author of the Vedārthayatna and some others take the word go as milk or ghee. This is not very fitting; the sense soma given by the commentator is right.

The last pāda of every ṛk of this sūkta, marudbhir agna ā gahi, is read again and again like a refrain.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 785–786, noted briefly)

प्रति (prati): a particle; initial udātta by "nipātā ādyudāttāḥ", particles are initial udātta.

त्यम् (tyam): tyad is in the tyad-ādi, within the sarva-ādi group. By "phiṣo 'nta udāttaḥ" (Phi. sū. 1-1) it is final udātta. After it the accusative singular am: tyad + am. By "tyadādīnām aḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-2-102), when a case-ending follows, the last letter of the words read in the tyad-ādi group takes a: a for the d: tya + a + am. By "ato guṇe" (Pā. sū. 6-1-97), after a short a not at the end of a word, when a, e, o, called guṇa, follow, the single pararūpa comes in place of both; so the pararūpa. This is udātta by ekādeśa udāttenodāttaḥ. Tya + am: by "ami pūrvaḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-1-107) the pūrvarūpa; the a from this pūrvarūpa too is udātta by ekādeśa….

Page 786 (upper) — Rik 1: grammar (end)

चारुम् (cārum): "dṛsanijanicaraticaṭibhyo ñuṇ" (Uṇ. sū. 1-3): after dṛ vidāraṇe, ṣaṇu dāne, jana janane, cara gatau and caṭe bhedane the suffix ñuṇ comes; so after the root car the suffix ñuṇ; ñ and ṇ are called it and dropped; u remains: car + u. By "ata upadhāyāḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-2-116), when a ñit or ṇit suffix follows, the short a in the penultimate takes vṛddhi: cāru. The suffix is ñit, so it is initial udātta by ñnityādir nityam; in the accusative singular, cārum.

गोपीथाय (gopīthāya): "niśīthagopīthāvagathāḥ" (Uṇ. sū. "2-166" [?]; the bhāṣya gives 2-9): the three words niśītha, gopītha and avagatha are given ready-made as ending in the suffix thak; so it is given ready-made as a thak-final. The Vṛttikāra explains gopītha as tīrtha; the Vedabhāṣyakāra explains it as soma-drinking.

प्र (pra): the particle accent.

॥१॥

---

Page 786 (lower) — Sūkta 19, Rik 2

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

नहि देवो न मर्त्यो महस्तव क्रतुं परः । [accent ?] मरुद्भिरग्न आ गहि ॥२॥ [accent ?]

nahí devó na mártyo mahás tava krátuṃ paráḥ | [accent ?] marúdbhir agna ā́ gahi || 2|| [accent ?]

(Read as printed: bars under न (नहि), दे, म (महस्), व (तव), प and म (मरु); strokes over त्यो, तुं, द्भि and ग. No stroke is printed after the bar under म of महस्.)

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

नहि । देवः । न । मर्त्यः । महः । तव । क्रतुम् । परः ॥ मरुत्ऽभिः । अग्ने । आ । गहि ॥२॥

nahi | devaḥ | na | martyaḥ | mahaḥ | tava | kratum | paraḥ || marut 'bhiḥ | agne | ā | gahi ||2||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे अग्ने महो महतस्तव संबन्धिनं क्रतुं कर्मविशेषमुल्लङ्घ्य परो नहि उत्कृष्टो देवो न भवति खलु । तथा मर्त्यो मनुष्यश्च परो न भवति । ये मनुष्यास्त्वदीयं क्रतुमनुतिष्ठन्ति ये च देवास्त्वदीये क्रताविज्यन्ते त एवोत्कृष्टा इत्यर्थः । मरुद्भिरित्यादि पूर्ववत् ॥ नहि । एवमादीनामन्त इत्यन्तो-

he agne maho mahatastava saṃbandhinaṃ kratuṃ karmaviśeṣamullaṅghya paro nahi utkṛṣṭo devo na bhavati khalu | tathā martyo manuṣyaśca paro na bhavati | ye manuṣyāstvadīyaṃ kratumanutiṣṭhanti ye ca devāstvadīye kratāvijyante ta evotkṛṣṭā ityarthaḥ | marudbhirityādi pūrvavat || nahi | evamādīnāmanta ityanto-

Page 787 — Rik 2: bhāṣya (end), word-meanings, overall sense, English, Special Topics, grammar

(The Uṇādi number ९-७८ is read with some doubt; लुङ् न is as printed, for लुङ् न / लुप्.)

दात्तः । देवः । पचाद्यजन्तश्चित्त्वादन्तोदात्तः । महः । महतस्तलोपश्छान्दसः । बृहन्महतोरुपसंख्यानम् । पा. ६-१-१७३-१ । इति विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वम् । तव । युष्मदस्मदोर्ङसीत्याद्युदात्तत्वम् । क्रतुम् । कृञः कतुः । उ. १-७८ । प्रत्ययाद्युदात्तत्वम् । गहि । गमॢ सृप्ॢ गतौ । लोटः सेर्हिः । बहुलं छन्दसीति शपो लुक् । अनुदात्तोपदेशेत्यादिनानुनासिकलोपः । तस्यासिद्धवदत्राभादित्यसिद्धत्वादतो हेरिति लुङ् न भवति । निघातः ॥

dāttaḥ | devaḥ | pacādyajantaścittvādantodāttaḥ | mahaḥ | mahatastalopaśchāndasaḥ | bṛhanmahatorupasaṃkhyānam | pā. 6-1-173-1 | iti vibhakterudāttatvam | tava | yuṣmadasmadorṅasityādyudāttatvam | kratum | kṛñaḥ katuḥ | u. 1-78 | pratyayādyudāttatvam | gahi | gamḷ sṛpḷ gatau | loṭaḥ serhiḥ | bahulaṃ chandasīti śapo luk | anudāttopadeśetyādinānunāsikalopaḥ | tasyāsiddhavadatrābhādityasiddhatvādato heriti luṅ na bhavati | nighātaḥ ||

Translation: "O Agni, no god is para, superior, so as to go beyond the kratu, the particular rite, belonging to you who are mahas, great; likewise no martya, man, is superior. That is, the men who perform your rite and the gods who are worshipped in your rite: they alone are superior. Marudbhiḥ and the rest, as before." (Grammatical tail: nahi, final udātta by evam-ādīnām antaḥ; devaḥ, an ac-final of the pac-ādi, final udātta as cit; mahaḥ, the loss of t of mahataḥ Vedic, the ending udātta by bṛhanmahator upasaṃkhyānam (Pā. 6-1-173-1); tava, initial udātta by yuṣmadasmador ṅasi; kratum, katu by kṛñaḥ katuḥ (Uṇ. 1-78 [?]), initial udātta of the suffix; gahi, gamḷ sṛpḷ gatau, hi for si of loṭ, śap dropped by bahulaṃ chandasi, the nasal dropped by anudāttopadeśa…, and since that counts as not done by asiddhavad atrābhāt, hi is not dropped by ato heḥ; wholly unaccented.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

(O Agni) | महः (mahaḥ) — excellent | तव (tava) — your | क्रतुम् (kratum) — the rite (sacrifice), going beyond | परः (paraḥ) — another | देवः (devaḥ) — god | नहि (nahi) — there is not | (likewise) | मर्त्यः (martyaḥ) — a man too | न (na) — there is not | (therefore) हे अग्ने (he agne) — O Agni | (you) मरुद्भिः (marudbhiḥ) — together with the Marut deities | आ गहि (ā gahi) — come here.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Agni, the rite or sacrifice connected with you is very great. There is no god or man able to transgress it. Therefore, O Agni, come here together with the Marut deities.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> Neither god nor man has power over a rite (dedicated) to you who are great : come hitter [sic], Agni, with the Maruths [sic].

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Mahaḥ: mahataḥ: excellent, or very strong, possessed of great power. Here the t has been dropped.

Kratum: though this word has two senses, action (Ni. “3-2” [?]) and intelligence (Ni. “3-13” [?]), the commentator gives only the sense action.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 787–788, noted briefly)

नहि (nahi): final udātta by “evādīnām antaḥ”.

देवः (devaḥ): the root divu krīḍādau, of the pac-ādi; so by “nandigrahipacādibhyo lyuṇinyacaḥ” (Pā. sū. 3-1-134) the suffix ac; by “pugantalaghūpadhasya ca” (Pā. sū. 7-3-86) the laghūpadha-guṇa; the suffix being cit, final udātta by citaḥ.

Page 788 (upper) — Rik 2: grammar (end)

महः (mahaḥ): for the t of the word mahataḥ, a Vedic loss. The genitive ending after the word mahat is udātta by “bṛhanmahator upasaṃkhyānam” (Pā. sū. 6-1-173, Vā. 1): after the words bṛhat and mahat, the letters called nadī and the vowel-initial case-endings from śas on are udātta. Although, since it is treated like śatṛ by “vartamāne pṛṣadbṛhanmahajjagacchatṛvac ca” (Uṇ. sū. “2-241” [?]), the udātta is established by “śatur anumo nadyajādī” (Pā. sū. 6-1-173) itself, so that the vārttika might appear purposeless, it was shown earlier that the vārttika is purposeful as a restriction.

तव (tava): by “yuṣmadasmador ṅasi” (Pā. sū. 6-1-211), when ṅas follows, the first syllable of the words yuṣmad and asmad is udātta; so it is initial udātta.

क्रतुम् (kratum): (Uṇ. sū. “1-77” [?]) since the suffix katu comes after the root ḍukṛñ karaṇe, after the root kṛ the suffix katu; the k is called it and dropped: kṛ + atu. The suffix being kit, guṇa is barred by “kṅiti ca” (Pā. sū. 1-1-5), so guṇa by “sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ” (Pā. sū. 7-3-84) does not come. By the substitute yaṇ, r for the ṛ; by “ādyudāttaś ca” (Pā. sū. 3-1-3), the suffix accent, kratu is initial udātta.

गहि (gahi): the root gamḷ sṛpḷ gatau; loṭ, 2nd singular sip; by “ser hy apic ca” (Pā. sū. 3-4-87) hi for si: gam + hi; the vikaraṇa śap by kartari śap; for it luk by “bahulaṃ chandasi” (Pā. sū. 2-4-73). In the Mahābhāṣya on the sūtra “[ekāca upadeśe ’nudāttāt]” (Pā. sū. 7-2-10) [the sūtra name is garbled in the print], the kārikā that counts the anudāttopadeśa roots (lip, lup, vap, svap, sṛp, yabh, rabh, labh, gam, nam …) contains gam. So it is anudātta; so by “anudāttopadeśavanatitanotyādīnām anunāsikalopo jhali kṅiti” (Pā. sū. 6-4-37), before a jhal-initial suffix marked with k or ṅ, the last letter of the nasal-final anudāttopadeśa roots, of the nasal-final tanoty-ādi roots and of the root van drops; so the nasal m drops: ga + hi. By “asiddhavad atrābhāt” (Pā. sū. 6-4-22), when the luk of hi is made by the ābhīya rule “ato heḥ” (Pā. sū. 6-4-105), the ābhīya loss of m is asiddha. So there is no being a-final; so the luk of hi does not come. In gahi, by “tiṅṅatiṅaḥ” (Pā. sū. 8-1-28), it is wholly unaccented.

॥२॥

---

Page 788 (lower) — Sūkta 19, Rik 3

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

ये म॒हो रज॑सो वि॒दुर्विश्वे॑ दे॒वासो॑ अ॒द्रुहः॑ । [accent ?] म॒रुद्भि॑रग्न॒ आ ग॑हि ॥३॥ [accent ?]

ye mahó rájaso vidúr víśve devā́so adrúhaḥ | [accent ?] marúdbhir agna ā́ gahi ||3|| [accent ?]

(Read as printed: bars under म (महो), वि, दे, अ, म (मरु) and ग्न; strokes over ज, श्वे, सो, हः, द्रु and ग.)

Page 789 — Rik 3: Pada, bhāṣya, word-meanings, overall sense

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

ये । महः । रजसः । विदुः । विश्वे । देवासः । अद्रुहः ॥ मरुत्ऽभिः । अग्ने । आ । गहि ॥३॥

ye | mahaḥ | rajasaḥ | viduḥ | viśve | devāsaḥ | adruhaḥ || marut ’bhiḥ | agne | ā | gahi ||3||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे अग्ने ये मरुतो महो रजसो महत उदकस्य वर्षणप्रकारं विदुस्तैर्मरुद्भिरित्यन्वयः । कीदृशा मरुतः । विश्वे सर्वे सप्तविधगणोपेताः । सप्तगणा वै मरुतः । तै. सं. २-२-११-१ । इति श्रुतेः । देवासो द्योतमाना अद्रुहो द्रोहरहिता वर्षणेन सर्वभूतोपकारित्वात् । तथा चोपरिष्टादाम्नायते । उदीरयथा मरुतः समुद्रतो यूयं वृष्टिं वर्षयथा पुरीषिणः । ऋग्वे. ५-५५-५ । इति । शाखान्तरेऽपि मन्त्रान्तरस्य ब्राह्मणमेवमाम्नायते । मरुतां पृषतयः स्थेत्याह मरुतो वै वृष्ट्या ईशते इति । रजःशब्दो यास्केन बहुधा व्याख्यातः । रजो रजतेर्ज्योती रज उच्यत उदकं रज उच्यते । लोका रजांस्युच्यन्तेऽसृगहनी रजसी उच्येते । नि. ४-१९

। इति ॥ रजसः । नब्विषयस्यानिसन्तस्येत्याद्युदात्तः । विदुः । विद ज्ञाने । विदो लटो वा । पा. ३-४-८३ । इति झेरुसादेशः । प्रत्ययस्वरः । यद्वृत्तयोगान्निघाताभावः । विश्वे । विशेः क्वन्नन्तस्य नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वम् । देवासः । आज्ञसेरसुक् । देवशब्दः पचाद्यजन्तः । चित्त्वादन्तोदात्तः । अद्रुहः । संपदादित्वाद्भावे क्विपि बहुव्रीहौ नञ्सुभ्यामित्यन्तोदात्तत्वम् । कर्तरि वा क्विप् तत्पुरुषे ह्यव्ययपूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं स्यात् । न च कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं यतो नञ् न गतिर्न च कारक इति । पा. ६-२-१३९ ॥

he agne ye maruto maho rajaso mahata udakasya varṣaṇaprakāraṃ vidustairmarudbhirityanvayaḥ | kīdṛśā marutaḥ | viśve sarve saptavidhagaṇopetāḥ | saptagaṇā vai marutaḥ | tai. saṃ. 2-2-11-1 | iti śruteḥ | devāso dyotamānā adruho droharahitā varṣaṇena sarvabhūtopakāritvāt | tathā copariṣṭādāmnāyate | udīrayathā marutaḥ samudrato yūyaṃ vṛṣṭiṃ varṣayathā purīṣiṇaḥ | ṛgve. 5-55-5 | iti | śākhāntare 'pi mantrāntarasya brāhmaṇamevamāmnāyate | marutāṃ pṛṣatayaḥ sthetyāha maruto vai vṛṣṭyā īśate iti | rajaḥśabdo yāskena bahudhā vyākhyātaḥ | rajo rajaterjyotī raja ucyata udakaṃ raja ucyate | lokā rajāṃsyucyante 'sṛgahanī rajasī ucyete | ni. 4-19 | iti || rajasaḥ | nabviṣayasyānisantasyetyādyudāttaḥ | viduḥ | vida jñāne | vido laṭo vā | pā. 3-4-83 | iti jherusādeśaḥ | pratyayasvaraḥ | yadvṛttayogānnighātābhāvaḥ | viśve | viśeḥ kvannantasya nittvādādyudāttatvam | devāsaḥ | ājjaserasuk | devaśabdaḥ pacādyajantaḥ | cittvādantodāttaḥ | adruhaḥ | saṃpadāditvādbhāve kvipi bahuvrīhau nañsubhyāmityantodāttatvam | kartari vā kvip tatpuruṣe hyavyayapūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ syāt | na ca kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ yato nañ na gatirna ca kāraka iti | pā. 6-2-139 ||

Translation: "O Agni, the Maruts who viduḥ, know, the manner of raining of the mahas rajas, the great water: with those Maruts (come): that is the construction. Of what kind are the Maruts? Viśve, all, endowed with seven kinds of troops, from the Śruti 'The Maruts are of seven troops' (Tai. saṃ. 2-2-11-1); devāsaḥ, shining; adruhaḥ, free from malice, since by raining they benefit all beings. So it is declared later: 'O Maruts, you raise it from the ocean; you, rich in moisture, make the rain fall' (Ṛgveda 5-55-5). In another śākhā too the Brāhmaṇa of another mantra declares: 'He says, you are the dappled mares of the Maruts: the Maruts rule over rain.' The word rajas is explained by Yāska in many ways: 'Rajas is from rañj; light is called rajas; water is called rajas; the worlds are called rajāṃsi; blood and day are called the two rajasī' (Ni. 4-19)." (Grammatical tail: rajasaḥ, initial udātta by nabviṣayasyānisantasya; viduḥ, vida jñāne, us for jhi by vido laṭo vā (Pā. 3-4-83), the suffix accent, not lowered because joined with yad; viśve, initial udātta as viśva, ending in kvan, is nit; devāsaḥ, asuk by āj jaser asuk, the word deva an ac-final of the pac-ādi, final udātta as cit; adruhaḥ, kvip in the sense of the action as one of the sampad-ādi, and in the bahuvrīhi final udātta by nañsubhyām; or, with kvip in the agent sense, in a tatpuruṣa the first member, an indeclinable, would keep its accent; nor would the accent of the kṛt final member come, since nañ is neither a gati nor a kāraka (Pā. 6-2-139).)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

अद्रुहः (adruhaḥ) — without malice, that is, of a nature to do good | विश्वे (viśve) — all, that is, endowed with seven kinds of troops | ये देवासः (ye devāsaḥ) — which shining Marut deities | महः (mahaḥ) — much | रजसः (rajasaḥ) — of water (the manner of raining, that is, of pouring rain) | विदुः (viduḥ) — know | (such) मरुद्भिः (marudbhiḥ) — together with the Marut deities | अग्ने (agne) — O Agni | आ गहि (ā gahi) — come here.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

The Marut deities are shining, joined in seven kinds of troops (the seven Maruts); they do no harm to anyone and do only good. They know how to pour rain abundantly. O Agni, come here together with such Marut deities.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> Come, Agni, with the Maruths [sic], who are ali [sic] divine, and devoid of malignity and who know how to cause the descent of great waters.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Maho rajasaḥ: mahata udakasya, of much water (the rain). For the word rajaḥ Yāska says

> रजः । रजो रजतेर्ज्योती रज उच्यते । उदकं रज उच्यते । लोका रजांस्युच्यन्ते ।
>
> rajaḥ | rajo rajaterjyotī raja ucyate | udakaṃ raja ucyate | lokā rajāṃsyucyante |

(Ni. 4-19), that is, rajaḥ has the senses light (radiance), water and world; here the commentator has taken the sense water. The author of the Vedārthayatna gives the sense light. On his view the sense is: the Maruts who move in the sky full of great light. This sense too fits well here.

Devāsaḥ: an ancient usage of the word devāḥ; it means gods.

Viśve: all, that is, accompanied by seven troops. There is the Śruti statement

> सप्तगणा वै मरुतः
>
> saptagaṇā vai marutaḥ

(Tai. saṃ. 2-2-11-1).

Adruhaḥ: droharahitāḥ, those who do no malice, that is, those who do only good to people by pouring rain. On this the commentator has cited the following ṛk:

> उदीरयथा मरुतः समुद्रतो यूयं वृष्टिं वर्षयथा पुरीषिणः ॥ (ऋ. सं. ५-५५-५)
>
> udīrayathā marutaḥ samudrato yūyaṃ vṛṣṭiṃ varṣayathā purīṣiṇaḥ || (ṛ. saṃ. 5-55-5)

("O Maruts, you raise it from the ocean; you, rich in moisture, make the rain fall": mine and tentative.) He has also cited the Brāhmaṇa statement

> मरुतां पृषतयः स्थेत्याह मरुतो वै वृष्ट्या ईशते । (तै. ब्रा.)
>
> marutāṃ pṛṣatayaḥ sthetyāha maruto vai vṛṣṭyā īśate | (tai. brā.)

("He says, you are the dappled mares of the Maruts; the Maruts rule over rain": mine and tentative.) These mantras make clear the sense that the Marut deities bring about rain.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 790–792, noted briefly)

रजसः (rajasaḥ): the word rajas is always neuter. So by "nabviṣayasyānisantasya" (Phi. sū. "2-26" [?]), the first syllable of a word always neuter, not ending in is, is udātta; so rajas is initial udātta; it ends in the genitive singular.

विदुः (viduḥ): the root vida jñāne; after it laṭ, the 3rd plural substitute jhi: vid + jhi; śap by "kartari śap" (Pā. sū. 3-1-68), luk of śap by "adiprabhṛtibhyaḥ śapaḥ" (Pā. sū. 2-4-72). "Vido laṭo vā" (Pā. sū. 3-4-83): after the root vida jñāne, in place of the nine parasmaipada suffixes tip and the rest that came in place of laṭ, the substitutes ṇal, atus, us | thal, athus, a | ṇal, va, ma come respectively; so us for jhi: vid + us, ru and visarga: viduḥ. Since, as ye maho rajaso viduḥ, there is connection with yad, the bar to total unaccentedness comes by "yadvṛttān nityam" (Pā. sū. 8-1-66). So the us has the suffix accent.

विश्वे (viśve): by "aśūpruṣi……viśibhyaḥ kvan" (Uṇ. sū. 1-149), the suffix kvan after viśa praveśane; by the nit accent it is initial udātta. After the word viśva the nominative plural jas; by "jasaḥ śī" (Pā. sū. 7-1-17) the substitute śī; the ś is called it and dropped: viśva + ī; guṇa by ād guṇaḥ.

देवासः (devāsaḥ): by "nandigrahipacādibhyo lyuṇinyacaḥ" (Pā. sū. 3-1-134) the suffix ac after the root div. The suffix is cit, so by "citaḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-1-163) it is final udātta. With the suffix ac as condition, the laghūpadha-guṇa for the i of the root. After the word deva, jas: deva + as; by "āj jaser asuk" (Pā. sū. 7-1-50) the augment asuk for jas. Being kit, by "ādyantau ṭakitau" (Pā. sū. 1-1-46) it comes as the first part of jas: deva + asas; lengthening of like vowels: devāsas; ru and visarga.

अद्रुहः (adruhaḥ): the root druha jighāṃsāyām. After it, in the sense of the action, by sampadādibhyaḥ kvip, kvip; na druhaḥ yeṣāṃ te: a bahuvrīhi; the sense is the Maruts who have no doing of malice. Though the first member's accent is due by bahuvrīhau prakṛtyā pūrvapadam, overriding it by "nañsubhyām" (Pā. sū. 6-2-172), in a bahuvrīhi the final member after nañ and su is final udātta; so final udātta. Or, by "kvip ca" (Pā. sū. 3-2-76), kvip comes after all roots, with or without upapadas, in the Veda and in the world too; so kvip in the agent sense; na + druhaḥ yeṣāṃ te: here too a bahuvrīhi. Druhaḥ are drohakartāraḥ: the Maruts who have no doers of malice. One must not make the tatpuruṣa na druhaḥ, adruhaḥ, not doers of malice. For if the tatpuruṣa is made, by "tatpuruṣe tulyārthatṛtīyāsaptamyupamānāvyayadvitīyākṛtyāḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-2-2), in a tatpuruṣa compound, words of equal sense, instrumental-final words, locative-final words, words denoting the standard of comparison, indeclinables, accusative-final words and kṛtya-final words, standing as the first member, keep their own accent. The word avyaya does not take indeclinables in general; there is the enumeration avyaye nañkunipātānām; so by this the first member's accent must come. Here the first member nañ is initial udātta by nipātā ādyudāttāḥ. So, the first member's accent coming, adruhaḥ would have to be initial udātta. But even if the tatpuruṣa is made, though the first member's accent is due by tatpuruṣe…, by its overriding rule "gatikārakopapadāt kṛt" (Pā. sū. 6-2-139), in a tatpuruṣa compound a kṛdanta after a gati, a kāraka or an upapada keeps its own accent; so the accent of the kṛt final member comes. The final member druh is final udātta by the root accent. So if the final member's accent comes, final udātta alone results. Although here druh follows neither a gati nor a kāraka, since nañ is neither a gati nor a kāraka, nañ is still an upapada. So, since the kṛdanta druh stands after an upapada, there is no obstacle at all to the accent of the kṛt final member. Thus the tatpuruṣa compound may be stated. Here the Vedabhāṣya says "yato nañ na gatiḥ na ca kārakam": since nañ has neither the name gati nor kāraka, the accent of the kṛt final member does not come, so the tatpuruṣa must not be stated and only the bahuvrīhi compound must be stated. It does not say here that nañ is not an upapada; so this may be known as deficient.

Page 792 (upper) — Rik 3: grammar (end)

॥३॥

---

Page 792 (lower) — Sūkta 19, Rik 4

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

य उग्रा अर्कमानृचुरनाधृष्तास ओजसा । [accent ?] मरुद्भिरग्न आ गहि ॥४॥ [accent ?]

ya ugrā arkám ānṛcúr ánādhṛṣṭāsa ójasā | [accent ?] marúdbhir agna ā́ gahi ||4|| [accent ?]

(Read as printed: bars under उ, अ (अर्क), नृ, स (ष्तास), म and ग्न, strokes over मा, ना, ज, द्भि and ग.)

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

ये । उग्राः । अर्कम् । आनृचुः । अनाधृष्टासः । ओजसा ॥ मरुत्ऽभिः । अग्ने । आ । गहि ॥४॥

ye | ugrāḥ | arkam | ānṛcuḥ | anādhṛṣṭāsaḥ | ojasā || marut 'bhiḥ | agne | ā | gahi || 4||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

हे मरुत उग्रास्तीव्राः सन्तोऽर्कमुदकमानृचुः अर्चितवन्तः । वर्षणेन संपादितवन्त इत्यर्थः । तैर्मरुद्भिरित्यन्वयः । कीदृशा मरुतः । ओजसा बलेनानाधृष्टासोऽतिरस्कृताः । सर्वेभ्योऽपि प्रबला इत्यर्थः । अर्कशब्दस्योदकवाचित्वं वाजसनेयिन आमनन्ति । आपो वा अर्कः । शत. ब्रा. १०-६-५-२ । इति । तन्निर्वचनं च त-

he maruta ugrāstīvrāḥ santo 'rkamudakamānṛcuḥ arcitavantaḥ | varṣaṇena saṃpāditavanta ityarthaḥ | tairmarudbhirityanvayaḥ | kīdṛśā marutaḥ | ojasā

balenānādhṛṣṭāso 'tiraskṛtāḥ | sarvebhyo 'pi prabalā ityarthaḥ | arkaśabdasyodakavācitvaṃ vājasaneyina āmananti | āpo vā arkaḥ | śata. brā. 10-6-5-2 | iti | tannirvacanaṃ ca ta-

एवामनन्ति । सोऽर्चन्नचरत्तस्यार्चत आपोऽजायन्तार्चते वै मे कमभूदिति तदेवार्कस्यार्कत्वम् । शत. ब्रा. १०-६-५-१ । इति । जगत्स्रष्टा हिरण्यगर्भ उदकं स्रष्टुमुद्युक्तोऽर्चन् उदकसत्यसंकल्पमहिमप्रख्यापनेन स्वात्मानं पूजयन्नचरत् । तथा पूजयतो हिरण्यगर्भस्य सकाशादुदकमुत्पन्नं तदानीमर्चतो मत्तः कमभूदित्यवोचत् । तेनोदकस्यार्कनाम निष्पन्नमित्यर्थः ॥ आनृचुः । अर्चतेः । अपस्पृधेथामित्यादिना । पा. ६-१-३६ । निपातितः । प्रत्ययस्वरः । यद्वृत्तयोगान्न निघातः । अनाधृष्टासः । अव्ययपूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् । ओजसा । उब्जेर्बले बलोपश्च । उ. ४-१९१ । इत्यसुन् । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः ॥

evāmananti | so 'rcannacarattasyārcata āpo 'jāyantārcate vai me kamabhūditi tadevārkasyārkatvam | śata. brā. 10-6-5-1 | iti | jagatsraṣṭā hiraṇyagarbha udakaṃ sraṣṭumudyukto 'rcan udakasatyasaṃkalpamahimaprakhyāpanena svātmānaṃ pūjayannacarat | tathā pūjayato hiraṇyagarbhasya sakāśādudakamutpannaṃ tadānīmarcato mattaḥ kamabhūdityavocat | tenodakasyārkanāma niṣpannamityarthaḥ || ānṛcuḥ | arcateḥ | apaspṛdhethāmityādinā | pā. 6-1-36 | nipātitaḥ | pratyayasvaraḥ | yadvṛttayogānna nighātaḥ | anādhṛṣṭāsaḥ | avyayapūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvam | ojasā | ubjerbale balopaśca | u. 4-191 | ityasun | nittvādādyudāttaḥ ||

Translation: "O Maruts: the Maruts who, being ugra, fierce, ānṛcuḥ, worshipped, the arka, water: that is, brought it about by raining; with those Maruts: that is the construction. Of what kind are the Maruts? Anādhṛṣṭāsaḥ, not overcome, ojasā, by strength: that is, mightier than all. That the word arka denotes water the Vājasaneyins declare: 'The waters are arka' (Śat. Brā. 10-6-5-2). Its derivation they declare too: 'He went about worshipping; from him, worshipping, the waters were born; "to me, worshipping, kam has come to be," he said: that is the arka-ness of arka' (Śat. Brā. 10-6-5-1). Hiraṇyagarbha, the creator of the world, intent on creating water, arcan, went about worshipping himself by making known the greatness of his true resolve concerning water. From Hiraṇyagarbha so worshipping water arose; then he said, 'From me, worshipping, kam has come to be.' So water got the name arka." (Grammatical tail: ānṛcuḥ, from arc, given ready-made by apaspṛdhethām… (Pā. 6-1-36), the suffix accent, not lowered because joined with yad; anādhṛṣṭāsaḥ, the accent of the indeclinable first member; ojasā, asun by ubjer bale balopaś ca (Uṇ. 4-191), initial udātta as nit.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

उग्राः (ugrāḥ) — moving swiftly | ओजसा (ojasā) — by strength | अनाधृष्टासः (anādhṛṣṭāsaḥ) — unchecked | ये (ye) — which Marut deities | अर्कम् (arkam) — water | आनृचुः (ānṛcuḥ) — rained | (such) मरुद्भिः (marudbhiḥ) — together with the Marut deities | अग्ने (agne) — O Agni | आ गहि (ā gahi) — come.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Agni, come here together with the Marut deities, who have power and might that no one can check and who, blowing swiftly, rain water (pour down rain).

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> O Agni, come hither with the Maruts, who are fierce (or blow fiercely) and send down rain and are unsurpassed in strength.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Ugrāḥ: tīvrāḥ; blowing swiftly.

Arkam: water. We explained earlier (page "384" [?]) the four kinds of sense Yāska gives for the word arka. Here the commentator gives another sense, water, for the word arka, and to support it he cites a statement of the Śatapatha Brāhmaṇa of the White Yajurveda:

> सोऽर्चन्नचरत्तस्यार्चत आपोऽजायन्तार्चते वै मे कमभूदिति तदेवार्कस्यार्कत्वम् ॥ (श. ब्रा. १०-६-५-१)
>
> so 'rcannacarattasyārcata āpo 'jāyantārcate vai me kamabhūditi tadevārkasyārkatvam || (śa. brā. 10-6-5-1)

The commentator explains it thus:

Page 794 — Rik 4: Special Topics (end) and grammar

> जगत्स्रष्टा हिरण्यगर्भ उदकं स्रष्टुमुद्युक्तोऽर्चन् उदकसत्यसंकल्पमहिमप्रख्यापनेन स्वात्मानं पूजयन्नचरत् । तथा पूजयतो हिरण्यगर्भस्य सकाशादुदकमुत्पन्नम् । तदानीमर्चतो मत्तः कमभूदित्यवोचत् । तेनोदकस्यार्कनाम निष्पन्नमित्यर्थः ॥
>
> jagatsraṣṭā hiraṇyagarbha udakaṃ sraṣṭumudyukto 'rcan udakasatyasaṃkalpamahimaprakhyāpanena svātmānaṃ pūjayannacarat | tathā pūjayato hiraṇyagarbhasya sakāśādudakamutpannam | tadānīmarcato mattaḥ kamabhūdityavocat | tenodakasyārkanāma niṣpannamityarthaḥ ||

That is: Hiraṇyagarbha (Prajāpati), having created the world, then intent on creating water, being true-willed, began to worship himself. While he was worshipping thus, water arose from that Prajāpati. Then Prajāpati said, "What is this that has arisen from me? (kam)"; for that reason, since kam (water) arose from worship, water got the name arka: that is the intent.

Ānṛcuḥ:

> अर्चितवन्तः । वर्षणेन संपादितवन्तः
>
> arcitavantaḥ | varṣaṇena saṃpāditavantaḥ

("They worshipped; they brought it about by raining.") They worshipped, they adored; that is, they rained the water produced by the act of worship.

Anādhṛṣṭāsaḥ:

> अतिरस्कृताः । सर्वेभ्योऽपि प्रबलाः
>
> atiraskṛtāḥ | sarvebhyo 'pi prabalāḥ

("Not overcome; mightier than all.") Those whom none can put down, that is, mightier than all, of greater power.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 794–795, noted briefly)

आनृचुः (ānṛcuḥ):

अपस्पृधेथामानृचुरानृहुश्चिच्युषेतित्याजश्राताःश्रितमाशीराशीर्ताः apaspṛdhethāmānṛcurānṛhuścicyuṣetityājaśrātāḥśritamāśīrāśīrtāḥ

(Pā. sū. 6-1-36). The root spardha saṃgharṣe; laṅ, 3rd-person [as printed; āthām is 2nd person] dual āthām: spardh + āthām. Here the root is doubled: spardh spardh + āthām. The r of the latter part takes saṃprasāraṇa, ṛ, and the a before the r drops: these are given ready-made. Spardh spṛdh + āthām: by "śarpūrvāḥ khayaḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-4-61), in the abhyāsa the khay letters after ś, ṣ, s remain and the other letters drop; so in the first spardh the p remains and the other letters drop: paspṛdh, āthām, the augment aṭ, śap. By "āto ṅitaḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-2-81) iy for the ā; by "lopo vyor vali" (Pā. sū. 6-1-66) the y drops; by ād guṇaḥ: apaspṛdhethām. Or, with apa a separate preverb, the root spardh, laṅ, āthām, śap, āto ṅitaḥ, loss of y before val; the absence of the augment aṭ is Vedic: spardhethām. Ānṛcuḥ: arca pūjāyām; liṭ, jhi; by "parasmaipadānāṃ ṇalatususthalathusaṇalvamāḥ" (Pā. sū. 3-4-82) us: arc + us; by "liṭi dhātor anabhyāsasya" (Pā. sū. 6-1-8) doubling: arc arc + us; by "halādiḥ śeṣaḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-4-60), on the view taking the class or on the view of splitting the rule, the consonants of the abhyāsa drop: a + arc + us; by "ata ādeḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-4-70) the short a at the start of the abhyāsa is lengthened: ā + arc + us; by "tasmān nuḍ dvihalaḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-4-71) the augment nuṭ for a root with two consonants after the lengthened ā: ā + n + arc + us; ānarcuḥ is the usage in the world.

Page 795 (upper) — Rik 4: grammar (end)

In the Veda, by this sūtra, saṃprasāraṇa of the r, ṛ, and the loss of the a before the r: ānṛcuḥ. In ānṛhuḥ the same process for the root arh. Cyuṅ gatau: laṭ, thās, thāsas se; doubling: cyu + cyu + se; i for the u from the saṃprasāraṇa of the abhyāsa is given ready-made, and so is the absence of iṭ for se; pūrvarūpa by saṃprasāraṇāc ca: cicyuṣe; in the world cucyuviṣe. Tyaja vayohānau: liṭ, tip, ṇal, doubling: tyaj + tyaj + a; saṃprasāraṇa of the abhyāsa given, the pūrvarūpa, halādiḥ śeṣaḥ: ti + tyaj + a, the penultimate vṛddhi: tityāja. Śrīñ pāke: the suffix kta; śrā substituted for śrī is given; in the plural, śrātāḥ; in śritam the shortening for that root is given. For śrīñ preceded by ā, before kvip, the substitute śir. In āśīrtāḥ, for śrīñ preceded by ā, before the kta suffix, the substitute śir, and the absence of the n due for the kta by radābhyāṃ niṣṭhāto naḥ pūrvasya ca daḥ, are given. So by this sūtra ānṛcuḥ is given ready-made. The us has the suffix accent. Since the bar "yadvṛttān nityam" (Pā. sū. 8-1-66) comes, it is not wholly unaccented.

अनाधृष्टासः (anādhṛṣṭāsaḥ): the analysis is na ādhṛṣṭāḥ. Āj jaser asuk. By "tatpuruṣe tulyārtha…" (Pā. sū. 6-2-2) the accent of the indeclinable first member.

ओजसा (ojasā): ubja ārjave. By "ubjer bale balopaś ca" (Uṇ. sū. "4-631" [?]), after ubja ārjave, in the sense of strength, asun comes, and the b drops: uj + as; the laghūpadha-guṇa: ojas. Initial udātta by the nit accent. With the instrumental singular ṭā: ojasā.

॥४॥

---

Page 795 (lower) — Sūkta 19, Rik 5

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

ये शुभ्रा घोरवर्पसः सुक्षत्रासो रिशादसः । [accent ?] मरुद्भिरग्न आ गहि ॥५॥ [accent ?]

ye śubhrā ghorávarpasaḥ sukṣatrāso riśādasaḥ | [accent ?] marúdbhir agna ā gahi || 5|| [accent ?]

(Read as printed: bars under शु, घो, क्ष, रि, म and ग्न; strokes over व, सो, द, द्भि and ग.)

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

ये । शुभ्राः । घोरऽवर्पसः । सुऽक्षत्रासः । रिशादसः ॥ मरुत्ऽभिः । अग्ने । आ । गहि ॥५॥

ye | śubhrāḥ | ghora 'varpasaḥ | su 'kṣatrāsaḥ | riśādasaḥ || marut 'bhiḥ | agne | ā | gahi ||5||

Page 796 — Rik 5: bhāṣya, word-meanings, overall sense, English, Special Topics

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

( ॥३६॥ closes Varga 36.)

ये मरुतः शुभ्रत्वादिगुणोपेतास्तैर्मरुद्भिरित्यन्वयः । शुभ्राः शोभना घोरवर्पस उग्ररूपधराः सुक्षत्रासः शोभनधनोपेता रिशादसो हिंसकानां भक्षकाः । मघमित्यादिष्वष्टाविंशतिसंख्याकेषु धननामसु क्षत्रं भग इति पठितम् ॥ शुभ्राः । स्फायितञ्चीत्यादिना शुभेरौणादिको रक्प्रत्ययः । प्रत्ययस्वरः । घोरवर्पसः । घोरं वर्पो येषाम् । बहुव्रीहौ पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् । सुक्षत्रासः । बहुव्रीहौ नञ्सुभ्यामित्युत्तरपदान्तोदात्तत्वम् । आद्युदात्तं द्व्यच्छन्दसि । पा. ६-२-११९ । इत्येतत्तु न भवति । क्षत्रशब्दस्यान्तोदात्तत्वात् । रिशन्ति हिंसन्तीति रिशाः । तानदन्तीति रिशादसः । सर्वधातुभ्योऽसुन्प्रत्ययः । नित्स्वरेणोत्तरपदमाद्युदात्तम् । कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरेण स एव शिष्यते ॥३६॥

ye marutaḥ śubhratvādiguṇopetāstairmarudbhirityanvayaḥ | śubhrāḥ śobhanā ghoravarpasa ugrarūpadharāḥ sukṣatrāsaḥ śobhanadhanopetā riśādaso hiṃsakānāṃ bhakṣakāḥ | maghamityādiṣvaṣṭāviṃśatisaṃkhyākeṣu dhananāmasu kṣatraṃ bhaga iti paṭhitam || śubhrāḥ | sphāyitañcītyādinā śubherauṇādiko rakpratyayaḥ | pratyayasvaraḥ | ghoravarpasaḥ | ghoraṃ varpo yeṣām | bahuvrīhau pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvam | sukṣatrāsaḥ | bahuvrīhau nañsubhyāmityuttarapadāntodāttatvam | ādyudāttaṃ dvyacchandasi | pā. 6-2-119 | ityetattu na bhavati | kṣatraśabdasyāntodāttatvāt | riśanti hiṃsantīti riśāḥ | tānadantīti riśādasaḥ | sarvadhātubhyo 'sunpratyayaḥ | nitsvareṇottarapadamādyudāttam | kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvareṇa sa eva śiṣyate || 36||

Translation: "The Maruts who are endowed with qualities such as brightness: with those Maruts: that is the construction. Śubhrāḥ, beautiful; ghoravarpasaḥ, bearing fierce forms; sukṣatrāsaḥ, possessed of fine wealth; riśādasaḥ, devourers of those who do harm. Kṣatram and bhagaḥ are read among the twenty-eight names for wealth beginning magham." (Grammatical tail: śubhrāḥ, the Uṇādi suffix rak after śubh by sphāyitañci…, the suffix accent; ghoravarpasaḥ, "whose form is fierce", the first member's accent in the bahuvrīhi; sukṣatrāsaḥ, final udātta of the final member in the bahuvrīhi by nañsubhyām; ādyudāttaṃ dvyac chandasi (Pā. 6-2-119) does not apply, since kṣatra is final udātta; riśādasaḥ, "riśāḥ, those who harm; they eat them", the suffix asun by sarvadhātubhyo 'sun, the final member initial udātta by the nit accent, and that alone stays by the accent of the kṛt final member.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

(हे) अग्ने ((he) agne) — O Agni | ये (ye) — which Marut deities | शुभ्राः (śubhrāḥ) — endowed with qualities such as brightness | घोरवर्पसः (ghoravarpasaḥ) — bearing fierce forms | सुक्षत्रासः (sukṣatrāsaḥ) — accompanied by excellent wealth | रिशादसः (riśādasaḥ) — devouring (destroying) the enemies who do harm | (such) मरुद्भिः (marudbhiḥ) — together with the Marut deities | आ गहि (ā gahi) — come here.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Agni, the Marut deities are always bright; they have fierce forms (by their nature of blowing swiftly); they have excellent wealth; they kill enemies. Come here together with such Marut deities.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> O Agni, come with the Maruths [sic] who are brilliant, have frightful forms who are possessors of great wealth and destroyers of the enemies.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Śubhrāḥ: shining, clear: "Brilliant, resplendent, (transparent ?)" [as printed] and so on.

Ghoravarpasaḥ:

> घोररूपाः द्वयोश्चानयोः परस्परविरोधित्वात्कालभेदेन योजना । शोभनाः क्रीडाकाले । घोररूपाः संग्रामकाले ।
>
> ghorarūpāḥ dvayoścānayoḥ parasparavirodhitvātkālabhedena yojanā | śobhanāḥ krīḍākāle | ghorarūpāḥ saṃgrāmakāle |

("Of fierce forms; since these two contradict each other, they are to be joined by difference of time: beautiful at the time of play, of fierce form at the time of battle.") Having cruel or fearful forms, "of terrible or frightful forms" [as printed]. The words used in this ṛk, śubhrāḥ, shining or endowed with gentle qualities, and ghoravarpasaḥ, having fearful forms, are they not words of mutually contradictory sense? So the sense is: gentle in nature at the time of play, and taking fierce form at the time of war.

Sukṣatrāsaḥ: since the word kṣatram is read among the twenty-eight names for wealth beginning magha (Ni. "2-10" [as read, ?]), sukṣatrāsaḥ means those who have good wealth.

Riśādasaḥ:

> रिशन्ति हिंसन्तीति रिशाः शत्रवः । तानदन्तीति रिशादसः ।
>
> riśanti hiṃsantīti riśāḥ śatravaḥ | tānadantīti riśādasaḥ |

("Riśāḥ, the enemies who harm; they eat them: riśādasaḥ.") The sense is: devouring, that is destroying, the enemies who do harm.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar on p. 797, noted briefly)

शुभ्राः (śubhrāḥ): by "sphāyitañcivañciśakikṣipikṣudisṛpitṛpidṛpivandyundiśvitivṛtyajinīpadimadimudikhidichidibhidimandicandidahidasidambhivasivāśiśīṅhasisidhiśubhibhyo rak" (Uṇ. sū. "2-170" [?]), the Uṇādi suffix rak after the root śubh; the suffix accent comes.

घोरवर्पसः (ghoravarpasaḥ): by "vṛñśīṅbhyāṃ rūpasvāṅgayoḥ puṭ ca" (Uṇ. sū. "4-640" [?]), after the roots vṛñ saṃbhaktau and śīṅ svapne, when the senses form and body-part respectively are to be expressed, the suffix asun comes, and the augment puṭ for it; so after the root vṛ the suffix asun with the augment puṭ. Varpaḥ means form. Ghoraṃ varpaḥ yeṣāṃ te ghoravarpasaḥ; being a bahuvrīhi, the first member's accent; the word ghora is final udātta.

सुक्षत्रासः (sukṣatrāsaḥ): sukṣatraṃ dhanaṃ yeṣāṃ te. Āj jaser asuk. The first member's accent being due, by "nañsubhyām" (Pā. sū. 6-2-172), overriding it, final udātta comes. Here the word kṣatra stands after the word su. Yet the initial udātta for kṣatra by "ādyudāttaṃ dvyac chandasi" (Pā. sū. 6-2-119), the exception to nañsubhyām, does not come, because the word kṣatra is final udātta. "Ādyudāttaṃ dvyac chandasi" (Pā. sū. 6-2-119) means that in a bahuvrīhi compound a two-vowel word after the word su, if initial udātta, remains initial udātta. Dvyac means a word with two vowels. Since the word kṣatra is final udātta, ādyudāttaṃ dvyac… does not apply.

रिशादसः (riśādasaḥ): the root riśa hiṃsāyām; riśanti hiṃsanti iti riśāḥ; riśān adanti bhakṣayanti iti riśādas. After the root ad, with the word riśa as upapada, the suffix asun by sarvadhātubhyo 'sun; the final member is initial udātta by the nit accent; after compounding, the accent of the kṛt final member by "gatikārakopapadāt kṛt" (Pā. sū. 6-2-139). So the initial udātta of the final member alone stays.

॥५॥

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

ये नाक॒स्याधि॑ रोच॒ने दि॒वि दे॒वास॒ आस॑ते । [accent ?] म॒रुद्भि॑रग्न॒ आ ग॑हि ॥६॥ [accent ?]

ye nākasyā́dhi rocané diví devā́sa ā́sate | [accent ?] marúdbhir agna ā́ gahi ||6|| [accent ?]

(Read as printed: bars under क (नाक), च, दि, दे, स (देवास), म and ग्न, strokes over धि, स (आसते), द्भि and ग.)

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

ये । नाकस्य । अधि । रोचने । दिवि । देवासः । आसते ॥ मरुत्ऽभिः । अग्ने । आ । गहि ॥६॥

ye | nākasya | adhi | rocane | divi | devāsaḥ | āsate || marut 'bhiḥ | agne | ā | gahi ||6||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

ये मरुतो नाकस्याधि दुःखरहितस्य सूर्यस्योपरि दिवि द्युलोके रोचने दीप्यमाने ये देवासः स्वयमपि दीप्यमाना आसते । तैर्मरुद्भिरित्यन्वयः ॥ नाकस्य । कं सुखम् । तद्यस्मिन्नास्त्यसावकः इति बहुव्रीहिं कृत्वा पश्चान्नञ् । न अकोऽनाक इति नञ्तत्पुरुषः । नलोपो नञः । पा. ६-३-७३ । इति लोपो न भवति । नभ्राण्नपादित्यादिना । पा. ६-३-७५ । प्रकृतिभावात् । तत्पुरुषे तुल्यार्थेत्यादिना । पा. ६-२-२ । अव्ययपूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वेनोदात्तत्वम् । प्रथमतस्तत्पुरुषं कृत्वा पश्चाद्बहुव्रीहावुत्तरपदान्तोदात्तत्वं स्यात् । अधिशब्द उपर्यर्थे । उपसर्गप्रतिरूपको निपातः । रोचने । रुच दीप्तौ । अनुदात्तेतश्च हलादेरिति युच् । चित इत्यन्तोदात्तत्वम् । दिवि । ऊडिदमित्यादिना विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वम् । देवासः । आज्ञसेरसुगित्यसुक् । आसते । आस उपवेशने । अनुदात्तेत्त्वादात्मनेपदम् । झस्यादादेशः । अदिप्रभृतिभ्यः शप इति शपो लुक् । अनुदात्तेत्त्वाल्लसार्वधातुकानुदात्तत्वम् । यद्वृत्तयोगान्न निघातः ॥

ye maruto nākasyādhi duḥkharahitasya sūryasyopari divi dyuloke rocane dīpyamāne ye devāsaḥ svayamapi dīpyamānā āsate | tairmarudbhirityanvayaḥ || nākasya | kaṃ sukham | tadyasminnāstyasāvakaḥ iti bahuvrīhiṃ kṛtvā paścānnañ | na ako 'nāka iti nañtatpuruṣaḥ | nalopo nañaḥ | pā. 6-3-73 | iti lopo na bhavati | nabhrāṇnapādityādinā | pā. 6-3-75 | prakṛtibhāvāt | tatpuruṣe tulyārthetyādinā | pā. 6-2-2 | avyayapūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvenodāttatvam | prathamatastatpuruṣaṃ kṛtvā paścādbahuvrīhāvuttarapadāntodāttatvaṃ syāt | adhiśabda uparyarthe | upasargapratirūpako nipātaḥ | rocane | ruca dīptau | anudāttetaśca halāderiti yuc | cita ityantodāttatvam | divi | ūḍidamityādinā vibhakterudāttatvam | devāsaḥ | ājjaserasugityasuk | āsate | āsa upaveśane | anudāttettvādātmanepadam | jhasyādādeśaḥ | adiprabhṛtibhyaḥ śapa iti śapo luk | anudāttettvāllasārvadhātukānudāttatvam | yadvṛttayogānna nighātaḥ ||

Translation: "The Maruts who, devāsaḥ, themselves shining too, āsate, sit nākasyādhi, above the sun, which is free from sorrow, divi, in the heavenly world, rocane, shining: with those Maruts: that is the construction." (Grammatical tail: nākasya, "kam is happiness; he in whom it is not is aka": having made the bahuvrīhi, then nañ: "not aka, nāka", a nañ-tatpuruṣa; the loss by nalopo nañaḥ (Pā. 6-3-73) does not come because of the prakṛtibhāva by nabhrāṇ napāt… (Pā. 6-3-75); udātta by the accent of the indeclinable first member by tatpuruṣe tulyārtha… (Pā. 6-2-2); if the tatpuruṣa were made first and then the bahuvrīhi, there would be final udātta of the final member; adhi in the sense "above", a particle resembling a preverb; rocane, ruca dīptau, yuc by anudāttetaś ca halādeḥ, final udātta by citaḥ; divi, the ending udātta by ūḍidam…; devāsaḥ, asuk by āj jaser asuk; āsate, āsa upaveśane, ātmanepada as anudāttet, at for jha, śap dropped by adiprabhṛtibhyaḥ, the lasārvadhātuka unaccented as the root is anudāttet, not lowered because joined with yad.)

Page 799 — Rik 6: word-meanings, overall sense, English, Special Topics, grammar

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

(हे) अग्ने ((he) agne) — O Agni | ये देवासः (ye devāsaḥ) — which Marut deities | नाकस्य (nākasya) — of the sun's orb, free from sorrow | अधि (adhi) — above | रोचने (rocane) — shining | दिवि (divi) — in the heavenly world | आसते (āsate) — (sitting) are | (such) मरुद्भिः (marudbhiḥ) — joined with the Marut deities | आ गहि (ā gahi) — come here.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Agni, come here with the Marut deities who are in the shining heaven in the region above the sun's orb, which is free from sorrow.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> O Agni, come hither with those divine Maruths [sic] who sit in resplendent heaven above the sky.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Nākasya: though nāka means heaven, since this ṛk has another word for heaven, divi, the commentator has derived the word nāka from the sense of its parts:

> कं सुखम् । तद्यस्मिन्नास्तीत्यसावकः न अकः नाकः
>
> kaṃ sukham | tadyasminnāstītyasāvakaḥ na akaḥ nākaḥ

Kam means happiness. Since it is not there, sorrow is called akaḥ. Again, since there is no akaḥ (sorrow), the place of happiness is named nākaḥ, heaven: that is the intent. Here, saying that nākaḥ is the sun's orb, he takes the word adhi as "above it".

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 799–800, noted briefly)

नाकस्य (nākasya): kam means happiness. Na vidyate kam, sukhaṃ yasmin saḥ: a bahuvrīhi. By "nalopo nañaḥ" (Pā. sū. 6-3-73), when a final member follows, the n of nañ drops; so the n drops: aka. The word final member is current in the sense of the last member of a compound. Now na + akaḥ: a tatpuruṣa. By "nabhrāṇnapānnavedānāsatyānamucinakulanakhanapuṃsakanakṣatranakranākeṣu prakṛtyā" (Pā. sū. 6-3-75) the nañ in all these words keeps its form; since the prakṛtibhāva comes, the n of nañ does not drop by nalopo nañaḥ. Nañ, being a particle, is initial udātta by nipātā ādyudāttāḥ; after the tatpuruṣa compound na-akaḥ, nākaḥ, by “tatpuruṣe tulyārtha…” (Pā. sū. 6-2-2) the accent of the indeclinable first member comes. Here one must not first make the tatpuruṣa, na kam, akam, and then the bahuvrīhi, na vidyate akaṃ sukhābhāvaḥ yasmin saḥ. If so made, by “nañsubhyām” (Pā. sū. 6-2-172) the final member aka would have to be final udātta.

अधि (adhi): this is in the sense “above”. Being a particle resembling a preverb, it is initial udātta; in nākasya, the a of sya is unaccented by the sup accent. The ā from the single substitute of lengthening of like vowels is udātta by ekādeśa udāttenodāttaḥ. Since this udātta follows, the unaccented ka before it takes the anudātta tone by “udāttasvaritaparasya [sannataraḥ]”.

रोचने (rocane): the root ruca dīptau, anudāttet. By “anudāttetaś ca halādeḥ” (Pā. sū. 3-2-149), after a consonant-initial intransitive root that is anudāttet, the suffix yuc comes; so the suffix yuc. By “yuvor anākau” (Pā. sū. 7-1-1) ana for yu; the laghūpadha-guṇa: rocana. The suffix is cit; so by “citaḥ” (Pā. sū. 6-1-163) final udātta; locative singular rocane.

दिवि (divi): by “ūḍidaṃpadādyappumraidyubhyaḥ” (Pā. sū. 6-1-171) the case-ending after div is udātta.

देवासः (devāsaḥ): by āj jaser asuk the augment asuk for jas.

आसते (āsate): āsa upaveśane, anudāttet; so by “anudāttaṅita ātmanepadam” (Pā. sū. 1-3-12) the ātmanepada; laṭ, 3rd plural jha. Śap as vikaraṇa by kartari śap; luk of śap by “adiprabhṛtibhyaḥ śapaḥ” (Pā. sū. 2-4-72); by “ātmanepadeṣv anataḥ” (Pā. sū. 7-1-5), for the jh of an ātmanepada suffix after what does not end in a, the substitute at: ās + ata. By “ṭita ātmanepadānāṃ ṭere” (Pā. sū. 3-4-79) e for the a that is the ṭi: āsate. Since it follows the word ye, containing yad, by “yadvṛttān nityam” (Pā. sū. 8-1-66) (vartate asminn iti vṛttam, the sense being the substrate: yadaḥ vṛttam, the word that is the substrate of the presence of the word yad, that is, after whatever word contains yad, a tiṅanta is not unaccented). Since yadvṛttāt is a fifth-case statement, the sense is “a tiṅanta immediately after a word containing yad is not unaccented”; this would arise from the paribhāṣā “tasmād ity uttarasya” (Pā. sū. 1-1-67). Yet since the word pūjita is taken again in “pūjanāt pūjitam…” (Pā. sū. 8-1-37 [as printed “8-1-1-37”]), it is made known that “atra prakaraṇe pañcamīnirdeśe ’pi nānantaryam iṣyate”, that in this section, even with a fifth-case statement, immediate sequence is not required. So tasmād ity uttarasya does not apply here. Though there is an intervening word, the bar comes by yadvṛttān nityam. So it is not wholly unaccented. The root ās being anudāttet, by “tāsyanudātteṅ…” (Pā. sū. 6-1-186) and the rest, the ate, a lasārvadhātuka, is unaccented.

॥६॥

(An ornament follows at the foot of p. 800.)

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. The print has ईङ्खयंन्ति; the Kannada grammar writes ईङ्खयन्ति / ईन्खृ.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

य ईङ्खयंन्ति पर्वतान्तिरः समुद्रमर्णवम् । [accent ?] मरुद्भिरग्न आ गहि ॥७॥ [accent ?]

ya īṅkháyanti párvatān tiráḥ samudrám arṇavám | [accent ?] marúdbhir agna ā́ gahi ||7|| [accent ?]

(Read as printed: bars under ई, न्ति, ति (तिरः), मु, ण, म (मरु) and ग्न; strokes over य (ईङ्खय), व (पर्व), स (समु), म (मर्ण), द्भि and ग.)

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

ये । ईङ्खयन्ति । पर्वतान् । तिरः । समुद्रम् । अर्णवम् ॥ मरुत्ऽभिः । अग्ने । आ । गहि ॥७॥

ye | īṅkhayanti | parvatān | tiraḥ | samudram | arṇavam || marut 'bhiḥ | agne | ā | gahi ||7||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

ये मरुतः पर्वतान्मेघानीङ्खयन्ति चालयन्ति तथार्णवमुदकयुक्तं समुद्रं तिरः कुर्वन्तीति शेषः । निश्चलस्य जलस्य तरङ्गाद्युत्पत्तये चालनं तिरस्कारः । तैर्मरुद्भिरित्यन्वयः ॥ ईङ्खयन्ति । उख उखीत्यादावीखिर्गत्यर्थः । हेतुमति चेति णिच् । इदितो नुम् धातोरिति नुम् । णिजन्तधातोश्चित इत्यन्तोदात्तत्वम् । शपः पित्त्वादनुदात्तत्वम् । तिङश्च लसार्वधातुकस्वरेण धातुस्वर एव शिष्यते । पर्वतान् । पूर्व पर्व मर्व पूरणे । औणादिकोऽतन् । प्रत्ययस्वरः ॥

ye marutaḥ parvatānmeghānīṅkhayanti cālayanti tathārṇavamudakayuktaṃ samudraṃ tiraḥ kurvantīti śeṣaḥ | niścalasya jalasya taraṅgādyutpattaye cālanaṃ tiraskāraḥ | tairmarudbhirityanvayaḥ || īṅkhayanti | ukha ukhītyādāvīkhirgatyarthaḥ | hetumati ceti ṇic | idito num dhātoriti num | ṇijantadhātościta ityantodāttatvam | śapaḥ pittvādanudāttatvam | tiṅaśca lasārvadhātukasvareṇa dhātusvara eva śiṣyate | parvatān | pūrva parva marva pūraṇe | auṇādiko 'tan | pratyayasvaraḥ ||

Translation: "The Maruts who īṅkhayanti, set moving, the parvatas, clouds, and likewise tiraḥ, make overturned (is to be supplied), the samudra, arṇava, which has water: setting the still water in motion to raise waves and the like is the tiraskāra. With those Maruts: that is the construction." (Grammatical tail: īṅkhayanti, īkhi in the sense of going, as in ukha ukhi…, ṇic by hetumati ca, num by idito num dhātoḥ, final udātta of the ṇic-final root as cit, śap unaccented as pit, and with the lasārvadhātuka accent of the tiṅ the root accent alone remains; parvatān, pūrva parva marva pūraṇe, the Uṇādi atan, the suffix accent.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

(हे) अग्ने ((he) agne) — O Agni | ये (ye) — which Marut deities | पर्वतान् (parvatān) — the clouds | ईङ्खयन्ति (īṅkhayanti) — set moving | अर्णवम् (arṇavam) — joined with water | समुद्रम् (samudram) — the ocean | तिरः (tiraḥ) — stir up into waves | (such) मरुद्भिः (marudbhiḥ) — with the Marut deities | आ गहि (ā gahi) — come here.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Agni, the Marut deities have the power to shake the clouds; they stir up the great ocean, full of fathomless water. Come here together with such Marut deities.

Page 802 — Rik 7: English, Special Topics and grammar

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> O Agni, come hither with Maruths [sic] who scatter the clouds and agitate the sea (with waves).

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Parvatān: meghān. Since the word parvata is read among the thirty names for cloud beginning adriḥ (Ni. "1-10" [as read, ?]), here parvata means cloud. Skandasvāmin gives two senses for parvata, mountain and cloud. Since it is impossible for the wind, however hard it blows, to shake a mountain, it is right to give the sense cloud here.

Tiraḥ: tiraskurvanti: here the word kurvanti is to be supplied. "Overturning" means: blowing hard so that waves rise in the ocean, and stirring up the ocean.

Arṇavam: arṇaḥ means water (Ni. "1-12" [as read, ?]). Arṇavam means that which has water, that is, the ocean.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 802–803, noted briefly)

ईङ्खयन्ति (īṅkhayanti): the root īkhi is in the daṇḍaka "ukha ukhi ..... gatyarthāḥ". It is idit; so by "idito num dhātoḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-1-58) the augment num: īnkh. By "naś cāpadāntasya jhali" (Pā. sū. 8-3-24) anusvāra for the n; by "anusvārasya yayi parasavarṇaḥ" (Pā. sū. 8-4-58) the homorganic: īṅkh. Parvatāḥ īṅkhanti: the clouds move. Īṅkhataḥ parvatān prerayanti marutaḥ: the Maruts drive the moving clouds. So the Maruts are causing agents; they also have the name hetu. "Tatprayojako hetuś ca" (Pā. sū. 1-4-55): tasya prayojakaḥ hetusaṃjñaḥ kartṛsaṃjñaś ca syāt: that which impels the agent gets the names hetu and agent. So the Maruts, impellers of the clouds, which are the agents of the root īṅkh, have both the names agent and hetu. The activity residing in the causer is called hetumat: hetuḥ asmin asti iti hetumān, the activity that is the substrate of the located-ness defined by the locus residing in the hetu: that is the sense of hetumat. When this activity is meant, by "hetumati ca" (Pā. sū. 3-1-26), in the sense of impelling and the like, the activity of the causer, the suffix ṇic comes after the root; so the suffix ṇic after the root: īṅkh + i.

Page 803 (upper) — Rik 7: grammar (end)

The suffix ṇic is cit; so īṅkhi is final udātta by citaḥ. After it laṭ, the suffix jhi; by "jho 'ntaḥ" ant for the jh; by kartari śap: īṅkhi + a + anti; guṇa, the substitute ay, the pararūpa: īṅkhayanti. Śap being pit, it is unaccented; jhi, standing after the śap, an adupadeśa, is unaccented by "tāsyanudātteṅ…". The root accent alone remains.

पर्वतान् (parvatān): after (pūrva) parva marva pūraṇe the Uṇādi suffix atan comes. The suffix being nit, the word parvata is initial udātta by ñnityādir nityam.

॥७॥

---

Page 803 — Sūkta 19, Rik 8

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

आ ये तन्वन्ति रश्मिभिस्तिरः समुद्रमोजसा । [accent ?] मरुद्भिरग्न आ गहि ॥८॥ [accent ?]

ā ye tanvánti raśmíbhis tiráḥ samudrám ójasā | [accent ?] marúdbhir agna ā́ gahi ||8|| [accent ?]

(Read as printed: bars under त (तन्व), र (रश्मि), ति (तिरः), मु, म (मरु) and ग्न, strokes over न्ति, भि, स (समु), ज, द्भि and ग.)

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

आ । ये । तन्वन्ति । रश्मिऽभिः । तिरः । समुद्रम् । ओजसा ॥ मरुत्ऽभिः । अग्ने । आ । गहि ॥८॥

ā | ye | tanvanti | raśmi 'bhiḥ | tiraḥ | samudram | ojasā || marut 'bhiḥ | agne | ā | gahi ||8||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

ये मरुतो रश्मिभिः सूर्यकिरणैः सहा तन्वन्ति आप्नुवन्ति । आकाशमिति शेषः । किंच ओजसा स्वकीयबलेन समुद्रं तिरस्कुर्वन्ति । तैर्मरुद्भिरित्यन्वयः ॥ तन्वन्ति । तनु विस्तारे । लटो झोऽन्तः । तनादिकृञ्भ्य उः । पा. ३-१-७९ । सतिशिष्टस्वरबलीयस्त्वमन्यत्र विकरणेभ्य इति तिङ एवाद्युदात्तत्वम् । समुद्रम् । उन्दी क्लेदने । स्फायितञ्चीति रक् । समासे कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् ॥

ye maruto raśmibhiḥ sūryakiraṇaiḥ sahā tanvanti āpnuvanti | ākāśamiti śeṣaḥ | kiṃca ojasā svakīyabalena samudraṃ tiraskurvanti | tairmarudbhirityanvayaḥ || tanvanti | tanu vistāre | laṭo jho 'ntaḥ | tanādikṛñbhya uḥ | pā. 3-1-79 | satiśiṣṭasvarabalīyastvamanyatra vikaraṇebhya iti tiṅa evādyudāttatvam | samudram | undī kledane | sphāyitañcīti rak | samāse kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvam ||

Translation: "The Maruts who, raśmibhiḥ, with the sun's rays, ā tanvanti, pervade (the sky, is to be supplied); and further, ojasā, by their own strength, overturn the ocean: with those Maruts: that is the construction." (Grammatical tail: tanvanti, tanu vistāre, ant for jha of laṭ, u by tanādikṛñbhya uḥ (Pā. 3-1-79); by the statement on satiśiṣṭa accent "except for vikaraṇas", the tiṅ alone is initial udātta; samudram, undī kledane, rak by sphāyitañci…, in the compound the accent of the kṛt final member.)

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

(हे) अग्ने ((he) agne) — O Agni | ये (ye) — which Marut deities | रश्मिभिः (raśmibhiḥ) — together with the sun's rays | (the sky) आ तन्वन्ति (ā tanvanti) — pervade everywhere | (and) ओजसा (ojasā) — by their own power | समुद्रम् (samudram) — the ocean | तिरः (tiraḥ) — stir up into waves | (such) मरुद्भिः (marudbhiḥ) — with the Marut deities | आ गहि (ā gahi) — come here.

Page 804 — Rik 8: overall sense, English, Special Topics, grammar

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Agni, come here with the Marut deities who, together with the sun's rays, pervade all the sky and by their strength stir up the ocean.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> O Agni, come hither with the Maruths [sic] who spread all over the sky with the rays of the Sun and with their strength agitate the ocean.

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Raśmibhiḥ ā tanvanti: pervading the sky together with the sun's rays: that is, as the sun's rays pervade the whole sky in an instant, so the wind too pervades the sky or the air.

Ojasā: the intent is that, because the wind blows hard, huge waves rise in the ocean.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 804–805, noted briefly)

तन्वन्ति (tanvanti): the root tanu vistāre; after it, by "vartamāne laṭ" (Pā. sū. 3-2-123), laṭ, 3rd plural jhi. By "jho 'ntaḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-1-3) ant for the jh: tan + anti. By "tanādikṛñbhya uḥ" (Pā. sū. 3-1-79), after the roots of the tan-ādi group and after the root kṛñ, when a sārvadhātuka in the agent sense follows, the suffix u comes; so after tan the suffix u: tan + u + anti. By "sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ" (Pā. sū. 7-3-84) guṇa o is due for the u; but by "sārvadhātukam apit" (Pā. sū. 1-2-4) the sārvadhātuka jhi is ṅit, so by "kṅiti ca" (Pā. sū. 1-1-5) guṇa is barred; so no guṇa. By "iko yaṇ aci" (Pā. sū. 6-1-77) v for the u by the yaṇ substitute: tanvanti. The suffix accent of u comes by a rule enjoining it after the accents of the others have arisen; so, though it is satiśiṣṭa, by "satiśiṣṭasvarabalīyastvam anyatra vikaraṇebhyaḥ", while the satiśiṣṭa accent is strong in places other than vikaraṇas, the satiśiṣṭa accent of u, being a vikaraṇa, is not strong. So the anti belonging to the tiṅ suffix is initial udātta by the suffix accent.

Page 805 (upper) — Rik 8: grammar (end)

समुद्रम् (samudram): after the root undī kledane preceded by the preverb sam, by "sphāyitañcivañciśakikṣipikṣudisṛpitṛpidṛpivandyundi…" (Uṇ. sū. "2-170" [?]) the suffix rak comes. By "anidhitāṃ hala upadhāyāḥ kniti" (Pā. sū. 6-4-24) the penultimate n drops: samudra. The word udra is final udātta by the suffix accent; after compounding with sam too, by "gatikārakopapadāt kṛt" (Pā. sū. 6-2-139), the accent of the kṛt final member comes, and that accent stays.

॥८॥

---

Page 805 (lower) — Sūkta 19, Rik 9 (last ṛk of the sūkta and of the volume)

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

॥ Saṃhitā-pāṭhaḥ ॥

अभि त्वा पूर्वपीतये सृजामि सोम्यं मधु । [accent ?] मरुद्भिरग्न आ गहि ॥९॥ [accent ?]

abhí tvā pūrvapītaye sṛjāmi somyáṃ mádhu | [accent ?] marúdbhir agna ā́ gahi ||9|| [accent ?]

(Read as printed: bars under अ, त्वा, सृ, सो, म (मरु) and ग्न; strokes over व (पूर्व), मि, धु, द्भि and ग.)

॥ Pada-pāṭhaḥ ॥

अभि । त्वा । पूर्वऽपीतये । सृजामि । सोम्यम् । मधु ॥ मरुत्ऽभिः । अग्ने । आ । गहि ॥९॥

abhi | tvā | pūrva 'pītaye | sṛjāmi | somyam | madhu || marut 'bhiḥ | agne | ā | gahi || 9||

॥ Sāyaṇa-bhāṣyam ॥

( ॥३७॥ closes Varga 37.)

हे अग्ने पूर्वपीतये पूर्वकाले प्रवृत्ताय पानाय त्वां प्रति सोम्यं मधु सोमसंबन्धिनं मधुररसमभि सृजामि । सर्वतः संपादयामि । अतस्त्वं मरुद्भिः सहात्रागच्छ ॥ अभि । एवमादीनामन्त इत्यन्तोदात्तत्वम् । त्वा । त्वामौ द्वितीयाया इति त्वादेशः सर्वानुदात्तः । पूर्वपीतये । पूर्वा चासौ पीतिश्च । पुंवत्कर्मधारयेत्यादिना । पा. ६-३-४२ । पुंवद्भावः । सृजामि । सृज विसर्गे । मिपः पित्त्वादनुदात्तत्वम् । विकरणस्वरः । सोम्यम् । सोममर्हति यः । प्रत्ययस्वरेणान्तोदात्तः । मधु । फलिपाटिनमीत्यादिना । उ. १-१९ । उप्रत्ययः । निदित्यनुवृत्तेराद्युदात्तत्वम् । अन्यद्गतम् ॥३७॥

he agne pūrvapītaye pūrvakāle pravṛttāya pānāya tvāṃ prati somyaṃ madhu somasaṃbandhinaṃ madhurarasamabhi sṛjāmi | sarvataḥ saṃpādayāmi | atastvaṃ marudbhiḥ sahātrāgaccha || abhi | evamādīnāmanta ityantodāttatvam | tvā | tvāmau dvitīyāyā iti tvādeśaḥ sarvānudāttaḥ | pūrvapītaye | pūrvā cāsau pītiśca | puṃvatkarmadhārayetyādinā | pā. 6-3-42 | puṃvadbhāvaḥ | sṛjāmi | sṛja visarge | mipaḥ pittvādanudāttatvam | vikaraṇasvaraḥ | somyam | somamarhati yaḥ |

pratyayasvareṇāntodāttaḥ | madhu | phalipāṭinamītyādinā | u. 1-19 | upratyayaḥ | nidityanuvṛtterādyudāttatvam | anyadgatam ||37||

Translation: "O Agni, pūrvapītaye, for the drinking that takes place first, abhi sṛjāmi, I prepare on all sides, towards you, the somya madhu, the sweet juice belonging to soma. So come here with the Maruts." (Grammatical tail: abhi, final udātta by evam-ādīnām antaḥ; tvā, the substitute tvā by tvāmau dvitīyāyāḥ, wholly unaccented; pūrvapītaye, "it is first and it is a drinking", puṃvadbhāva by puṃvat karmadhārayа... (Pā. 6-3-42); sṛjāmi, sṛja visarge, mip unaccented as pit, the vikaraṇa accent; somyam, "that which deserves soma", final udātta by the suffix accent; madhu, the suffix u by phalipāṭinami... (Uṇ. 1-19), initial udātta as nit is carried on; the rest has been explained.)

Page 806 — Rik 9: word-meanings, overall sense, English, Special Topics, grammar

॥ Prati-padārthaḥ ॥

(हे) अग्ने ((he) agne) — O Agni | त्वा (tvā) — for you, or with you in view | पूर्वपीतये (pūrvapītaye) — for drinking first (before all) | सोम्यम् (somyam) — belonging to soma | मधु (madhu) — the sweet juice | अभि सृजामि (abhi sṛjāmi) — I pour (into the vessel) and make ready | (you) मरुद्भिः (marudbhiḥ) — with the Marut deities | आ गहि (ā gahi) — come here.

॥ Bhāvārthaḥ ॥

O Agni, I pour the tasty soma juice into the vessel and make it ready for you to drink first of all. So come here together with the Marut deities.

॥ English Translation ॥ (as printed in the source)

> O Agni, I pour out the sweet drink of Soma to you that you may drink first ; come hither with the Maruths [sic].

॥ Viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu (Special Topics) ॥

Pūrvapītaye: for drinking first of all. For this word the scholar Wilson has given the wrong sense "as of old" [as printed], formerly. The sense given by the commentator, "first of all", is the fitting one.

Abhi sṛjāmi:

> सर्वतः संपादयामि
>
> sarvataḥ saṃpādayāmi

("I prepare on all sides.") I pour into the vessel and make ready.

Somyam:

> सोममर्हति यः
>
> somamarhati yaḥ

("That which deserves soma.") Worthy of soma, belonging to soma. Madhu: sweet, tasty; somyaṃ madhu means the tasty soma juice.

॥ Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā ॥ (grammar pages 806–808, noted briefly)

अभि (abhi): final udātta by "evādīnām antaḥ".

त्वा (tvā): for tvām, the accusative-final of the base yuṣmad, by "tvāmau dvitīyāyāḥ" (Pā. sū. 8-1-23), the accusative-singular forms of yuṣmad and asmad, standing after a word and not at the start of a pāda, take the substitutes tvā and mā respectively, and these are wholly unaccented; so the wholly unaccented substitute tvā comes.

Page 807 — Rik 9: grammar

पूर्वपीतये (pūrvapītaye): pūrvā cāsau pītiś ca, pūrvapītiḥ. In "puṃvat karmadhārayajātīyadeśīyeṣu" (Pā. sū. 6-3-42) the words striyāḥ, puṃvat, bhāṣitapuṃskād anūṅ and striyām are carried on from the sūtra "striyāḥ puṃvad bhāṣitapuṃskād anūṅ samānādhikaraṇe striyām apūraṇīpriyādiṣu" (Pā. sū. 6-3-34). By "aluk uttarapade" (Pā. sū. 6-3-1) uttarapade is the heading. Bhāṣitaḥ pumān yasmin pravṛttinimitte tat bhāṣitapuṃskam; bhāṣitapuṃskam asyāsti iti bhāṣitapuṃskam, ending in ac in the sense of arśa-ādi: a word that has a ground of use in which masculinity has been stated is meant as bhāṣitapuṃska. Ūṅaḥ abhāvaḥ, or na ūṅ, anūṅ; bhāṣitapuṃskāt anūṅ ūṅabhāvaḥ yasyāḥ sā: a bahuvrīhi; by force of the ready-made form, the ablative of the compound member bhāṣitapuṃskāt is not dropped, and the genitive after the compound is dropped. The vyadhikaraṇa compound too is by the ready-made form; by force of the explanation, apūraṇīpriyādiṣu is not carried on here. Extension is said to be of seven kinds: "kāryа-rūpa-nimittārtha-śāstra-tādātmya-śabditāḥ | vyapadeśaś ca saptaite 'tideśān pracakṣate". In subāmantrite there is extension of identity; here, extension of form: whatever form there is in the masculine, that same form comes. So the sense of the sūtra puṃvat is: the feminine word that stands immediately before the final member of a karmadhāraya, or immediately before the suffixes jātīyar and deśīyar, having a ground of use in which masculinity has been stated and not having the suffix ūṅ, takes the masculine form. With pūrvā + pīti, by this sūtra pūrvā takes the masculine form: pūrvapīti; in the dative singular pūrvapītaye.

सृजामि (sṛjāmi): sṛja visarge, a root of the tud-ādi. Laṭ, 1st singular mip: sṛj + mi; the vikaraṇa śap [as printed; the tud-ādi take śa]: sṛj + a + mi; by "ato dīrgho yañi" (Pā. sū. 7-3-101) lengthening: sṛjāmi. Mip being pit, it is unaccented by anudāttau suppitau. The vikaraṇa has the suffix accent.

सोम्यम् (somyam): by "somam arhati yaḥ" (Pā. sū. 4-4-137), after the accusative-final word soma, in the sense "deserves", the suffix ya comes; so ya after somam: soma + am + ya. The am, part of the stem, takes luk by supo dhātu…; by yasyeti ca the a before the suffix drops: somya. This is final udātta by the suffix accent.

मधु (madhu): by "phalipāṭinami…" (Uṇ. sū. "1-18" [?; the second digit is blotted]) the suffix u. Since in the sūtra phalipāṭi… "nit" is carried on, by "ñnityādir nityam" (Pā. sū. 6-1-197)

Page 808 (upper) — Rik 9: grammar (end)

the word madhu is initial udātta. The derivation of the word madhu is set out at "madhumantaṃ" (Ṛ. saṃ. 1-13-2). For the other words the derivation was set out earlier.

॥९॥ ॥१९॥ ॥३७॥ (as printed: end of Ṛk 9, Sūkta 19 and Varga 37)

---

Page 808 (lower) — Close of Sūkta 19, of Adhyāya 1, and of the volume

॥ Closing verse and colophon (Sanskrit, in Kannada script) ॥

वेदार्थस्य प्रकाशेन तमो हार्दं निवारयन् । पुमर्थाँश्चतुरो देयाद्विद्यातीर्थमहेश्वरः ॥

vedārthasya prakāśena tamo hārdaṃ nivārayan | pumarthāṁś caturo deyād vidyā-tīrtha-maheśvaraḥ ||

Translation: "May Vidyātīrtha-Maheśvara, dispelling the darkness of the heart by the light of the meaning of the Veda, grant the four human aims." (The verse is the standard benediction found at the close of each section of the Mādhavīya Vedārthaprakāśa; I give it as printed, and the English is mine.)

इति श्रीमद्राजाधिराजपरमेश्वरवैदिकमार्गप्रवर्तकश्रीवीरबुक्कभूपालसाम्राज्यधुरंधरेण सायणाचार्येण विरचिते माधवीये वेदार्थप्रकाशे ऋक्संहिताभाष्ये प्रथमाष्टके प्रथमोऽध्यायः समाप्तः ॥ ॐ तत्सत् ॥

iti śrīmad-rājādhirāja-parameśvara-vaidika-mārga-pravartaka-śrī-vīrabukka-bhūpāla-sāmrājya-dhuraṃdhareṇa sāyaṇācāryeṇa viracite mādhavīye vedārtha-prakāśe ṛk-saṃhitā-bhāṣye prathamāṣṭake prathamo 'dhyāyaḥ samāptaḥ || oṃ tat sat ||

Translation: "Thus ends the First Adhyāya in the First Aṣṭaka of the Ṛk-saṃhitā-bhāṣya — the Mādhavīya Vedārthaprakāśa — composed by Sāyaṇācārya, the bearer of the burden of the empire of the glorious King Vīra-Bukka, the King of Kings, Supreme Lord, the establisher of the Vedic path. Oṃ, That is the Real."

॥ Kannada colophon ॥ "Here the First Adhyāya in the First Aṣṭaka of the Ṛgveda-saṃhitā, with the Bhāṣya of Śrī Sāyaṇa and a Kannada rendering, comes to its end."

यदक्षरपदभ्रष्टं मात्राहीनं तु यद्भवेत् । तत्सर्वं क्षम्यतां देव वागीश्वर नमोऽस्तु ते ॥

yad akṣara-pada-bhraṣṭaṃ mātrā-hīnaṃ tu yad bhavet | tat sarvaṃ kṣamyatāṃ deva vāgīśvara namo 'stu te ||

Translation: "Whatever may be faulty in letter or word, or deficient in measure — may all that be forgiven, O God, Lord of Speech; salutations to you." (The English is mine.)

॥ शुभं भूयात् ॥ ॥ ಮಂಗಳಂ ॥

|| śubhaṃ bhūyāt || || maṅgaḷaṃ ||

"May there be auspiciousness. Blessing."

Imprint (English, as printed): Printed by Y. R. Ranga Rao, Proprietor, Sri Chamundeswari Electric Press, Clock Tower Square, Mysore—1949.

(The scan ends here: PDF page 823, printed page 808.)

---

Progress note — Volume 2 complete (printed p. 808, end of the scanned source); numeral, [?] and accent pass complete (Oct 2026).

This pass: every page re-read from the better scan (PDF 1–822): numerals, references and [?] readings checked against the print; bhāṣyas re-transcribed in full with their grammatical tails; grammar paragraphs rewritten from the print; Saṃhitā accents from the print (Pada unaccented). Details per batch: `vol2/review/notes_PDF*.txt`, `vol2/vol2_pass_log.md`; open readings and “as printed” numbers: `vol2/vol2_state.md`.

Open flags: the [?] and [accent ?] readings listed in `vol2_state.md` (the print does not settle them); older progress notes inside the file (around lines 170, 385, 501) and a stray Cyrillic string on p. 29 are not yet cleaned; outside Vedic/Sanskrit review wanted.