Table of Contents

Rigveda Samhita — Volume 4 (English Translation)

Source: `Rig_Vol4.pdf` (622 PDF pages, scanned) — Ṛgveda-saṃhitā, Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya-sahitā with Kannada rendering, Bhāga (Part) 4 ("the Third Adhyāya of the First Aṣṭaka", as the title page reads): Maṇḍala 1, Sūktas 33–46, translated and edited by Asthāna Mahāvidvān H. P. Venkata Rao; published at Śrī Vināyaka Press, Mysore, by permission of H. H. Śrī Jayachamarajendra Wadiyar, Maharaja of Mysore (English title page, PDF p. 3).

Relation to earlier volumes: a direct continuation of Volume 3 (`Rigveda_Samhita_Vol3_English_Translation.md`, Sūktas 20–32, Second Adhyāya). All conventions of Volumes 1–3 carry over unchanged (see `CLAUDE.md`): every Sanskrit citation in three layers (Devanagari + IAST + English); each page viewed before it is written; [?] for doubtful readings and numerals; the source's own English reproduced with [sic]; grammar pages noted briefly.

Page numbering: printed page 1 = PDF page 15, i.e. printed page = PDF page − 14 (checked on PDF 16 = printed 2, PDF 20 = printed 6, PDF 24 = printed 10). This differs from Volume 3 (offset 15). PDF pp. 1–14 are front matter: Kannada title page (1), English dedication to the Maharaja (3), the editorial board (Vedavimarśana Vidvanmaṇḍali) (5), a portrait of the board's president (6), the Kannada preface Bīṭike [sic: title as printed, read at low resolution] in Roman-numbered pages i–[?] (7–10), and the table of contents Viṣayānukramaṇike (11–14, pages v–viii). The preface was not translated (it is an essay on the ṛṣis of the Ṛgveda and the arrangement of the maṇḍalas; not part of Sāyaṇa's text); this is recorded here so that it is not mistaken for an omission by oversight.

Table of contents (as read from PDF pp. 11–14; page numbers are the printed Kannada numerals, read at 100 dpi — treat as approximate):

Sūkta	Opening words (as printed)	First printed page
33	etāyāmopa	1
34	triś cin no adya	71
35	hvayāmy agnim	131
36	pra vo yahvam	177
37	krīḍaṃ vaḥ śardhaḥ	251
38	kad dha nūnam	292
39	pra yad itthā	339
40	uttiṣṭha brahmaṇas pate	376
41	yaṃ rakṣanti	410

Sūkta	Opening words (as printed)	First printed page
42	saṃ pūṣan	433
43	kad rudrāya	465
44	agne vivasvat	493
45	tvam agne vasūn	541
46	eṣo uṣā [?]	571

(The sūkta numbers were read from small Kannada numerals; 33–46 is fourteen sūktas and agrees with the title page's volume range as far as it can be read. Sūkta 46's opening words are as read from a low-resolution contents page: "ಏಷೋ ಉಷಾ ″ [?]; to be checked when its page is reached.)

॥ तृतीयोऽध्यायः ॥ — THE THIRD ADHYĀYA OF THE FIRST AṢṬAKA

Page 1 (PDF 15) — opening of the Third Adhyāya

Printed on the page: the Om emblem; the invocations śrīḥ and śrī mahāgaṇādhipataye namaḥ; six verses of homage (the same as in the earlier volumes); the series title Sāyaṇabhāṣyasahitā Ṛgveda-saṃhitā, Bhāga 4; and the heading prathamāṣṭake tṛtīyo 'dhyāyaḥ "In the First Aṣṭaka, the Third Adhyāya".

> ॥ श्रीः ॥ श्री महागणाधिपतये नमः ॥ वागीशाद्याः सुमनसः सर्वार्थानामुपक्रमे । यं नत्वा कृतकृत्याः स्युस्तं नमामि गजाननम् ॥ यस्य निःश्वसितं वेदा यो वेदेभ्योऽखिलं जगत् । निर्ममे तमहं वन्दे विद्यातीर्थमहेश्वरम् ॥ वेदः शिवः शिवो वेदो वेदाध्यायी सदाशिवः । तस्मात्सर्वप्रयत्नेन वेदमेव सदा जपेत् ॥

śrīḥ | śrī mahāgaṇādhipataye namaḥ || vāgīśādyāḥ sumanasaḥ sarvārthānām upakrame | yaṃ natvā kṛtakṛtyāḥ syus taṃ namāmi gajānanam || yasya niḥśvasitaṃ vedā yo vedebhyo 'khilaṃ jagat | nirmame tam ahaṃ vande vidyātīrthamaheśvaram || vedaḥ śivaḥ śivo vedo vedādhyāyī sadāśivaḥ | tasmāt sarvaprayatnena vedam eva sadā japet ||

"Śrī. Homage to the Lord of the Gaṇas. — I bow to Gajānana (Gaṇeśa), by bowing to whom the Lord of Speech and the other gods are fulfilled at the beginning of every undertaking. I praise Vidyātīrtha-Maheśvara, whose breath the Vedas are, and who made the whole world out of the Vedas. The Veda is Śiva, and Śiva is the Veda; the student of the Veda is Sadāśiva; therefore, with every effort, one should always recite the Veda alone." (Read letter by letter from the Kannada-script print; the verses are the standard ones that open each part, and the reading here is consistent with the same opening in the earlier volumes.)

Sāyaṇa's introduction to the Third Adhyāya (printed in Kannada script; read from the 150-dpi image):

> अथ तृतीयाध्याय आरभ्यते । त्वमग्ने प्रथम इति सप्तमानुवाके पञ्च सूक्तानि । तत्रैतायामोपेति तृतीयं सूक्तं पञ्चदशर्चम् । ऋषिश्चान्यस्मादिति परिभाषयाऽऽङ्गिरसो हिरण्यस्तूप ऋषिः । अनुक्तत्वादिन्द्रो देवता

। त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः । एतेत्यनुक्रमणिका । गोसववीवधयोर्निष्केवल्ये एतायामेति सूक्तं विनियुक्तम् । तथा च सूत्रितमतिमूर्तिना यक्ष्यमाण इति खण्डे । गोसववीवधौ पशुकाम इन्द्र सोममेतायामेति मध्यंदिने । आ. ६-८ । इति ॥

atha tṛtīyādhyāya ārabhyate | tvam agne prathama iti saptamānuvāke pañca sūktāni | tatraitāyāmopeti tṛtīyaṃ sūktaṃ pañcadaśarcam | ṛṣiś cānyasmād iti paribhāṣayāṅgiraso hiraṇyastūpa ṛṣiḥ | anuktatvād indro devatā | triṣṭup chandaḥ | etety anukramaṇikā | gosavavīvadhayor niṣkevalye etāyāmeti sūktaṃ viniyuktam | tathā ca sūtritam atimūrtinā yakṣyamāṇa iti khaṇḍe | gosavavīvadhau paśukāma indra somam etāyāmeti madhyaṃdine | ā. 6-8 | iti ||

Translation: "Now the Third Adhyāya is begun. In the seventh anuvāka, [the one beginning] tvam agne prathamaḥ, there are five sūktas. Of these, the third is the sūkta etāyāmopa, of fifteen ṛks. By the rule 'and the ṛṣi [is the same] as the other' (ṛṣiś cānyasmāt), the ṛṣi is Hiraṇyastūpa Āṅgirasa. Since no deity is stated, Indra is the deity. The metre is Triṣṭup — [so says] the Anukramaṇikā ("etā…"). This sūkta has its application (viniyoga) at the Niṣkevalya [śastra] of the Gosava and Vīvadha [rites]. So it has been stated by Atimūrti in the section beginning 'for him who is about to sacrifice': 'In the Gosava and Vīvadha, for one desiring cattle, [the sūkta addressed] to Indra and Soma, etāyām, at the midday [pressing]' — Āśv. [śrauta-sūtra] 6-8."

(Reading notes: the printed words "ऋषिश्चान्यस्मादि[ति]" and "सोममेतायामेति" are what the Kannada letters give; the word "पञ्चदशर्चम्" and the reference "ā. ६-८" were re-read at 300 dpi with zoom and are as printed. The form "atimūrtinā" is as in the Kannada anuvāda below, which also names the sūtra "Gosavavīvadhau paśukāma indrasomam etāyām iti madhyandinaḥ".)

Anuvāda (Kannada explanation, as it begins on this page): "Having finished the Second Adhyāya in the previous part, we now begin the translation of the meaning of the Third Adhyāya. In the Seventh Anuvāka, which begins 'tvam agne prathamo aṅgirā ṛṣiḥ', the sūkta etāyāma is the third sūkta. In it there are fifteen ṛks [the sentence is continued on the next page]…"

Page 2 (PDF 16) — heading of Sūkta 33

Anuvāda (continued): "…In the five sūktas of this anuvāka, 31 to 35, since 'Hiraṇyastūpa Āṅgirasa' is stated as the ṛṣi, the ṛṣi of this sūkta is Hiraṇyastūpa Āṅgirasa. Indra is the deity. The Anukramaṇikā states that the metre is Triṣṭup. This sūkta has its application, in the Gosava and Vīvadha sacrifices, when the Niṣkevalya śastra [hymn] is recited. This matter is stated in the Āśvalāyana Śrauta-sūtra, in the section beginning 'atimūrtinā yakṣyamāṇa', by the sūtra 'gosavavīvadhau paśukāma indrasomam etāyām iti madhyandinaḥ' (Āś. 6-8)."

॥ ॐ ॥ — oṃ

SŪKTA 33

॥ मण्डल — १ ॥ अनुवाक — ७ ॥ सूक्त — ३३ ॥ ॥ अष्टक — १ ॥ अध्याय — ३ ॥ वर्ग, १ —३ ॥ ॥ सूक्तदल्लिरुव ऋक्संख्यै १—१५ ॥ ॥ ऋषिः — हिरण्यस्तूप आङ्गिरसः ॥ ॥ देवता — इन्द्रः ॥ ॥ छन्दः — त्रिष्टुप् ॥

maṇḍala 1 | anuvāka 7 | sūkta 33 | aṣṭaka 1 | adhyāya 3 | varga 1–3 | number of ṛks in the sūkta: 1–15 | ṛṣi: Hiraṇyastūpa Āṅgirasa | devatā: Indra | chandas: Triṣṭup.

Translation of the heading: "Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 7, Sūkta 33; Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 3, Varga 1–3; number of ṛks in the sūkta: 1–15; Ṛṣi: Hiraṇyastūpa Āṅgirasa; Deity: Indra; Metre: Triṣṭup." (In the line "sūktadalliruva ṛksaṅkhye" the Kannada word "sūktadalliruva" is mine-normalised from the print's "sūktadalliruva ṛksaṃkhye"; the line is Kannada, not Sanskrit.)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (printed with accent marks, in Kannada script; reproduced here):

Rik 33.1

एताय॒ामोप॑ ग॒व्यन्त॒ इन्द्र॑म॒स्माक॒ꣳ सुप्रम॑तिं वावृधाति । अ॒ना॒मृ॒णः कु॒विदा द॒स्य रा॒यो गवा॑ं केत॒ं पर॑मा॒वर्ज॑ते नः ॥ १ ॥ [accent ?]

etāyā́mópa gavyánta índram asmā́kaṃ súprámatiṃ vāvṛdhāti | anāmṛṇáḥ kuvídā dasyá rāyó gavā́ṃ kétaṃ páramāvárjate naḥ || 1 || [accent ?]

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. Marks: underline below a syllable = anudātta , short vertical stroke above = svarita ; the acute in the IAST line is set only on an unmarked syllable that stands directly before a svarita or directly after an anudātta. [accent ?]: in "kuvidā dasya" the underline lies between da* and sya; I took it as da.)*

(Reading note: the underlines in the print are the anudātta accent marks, not word-dividers (corrected on the better scan); I read the first word as printed "etāyāma upa" run together, "etāyāmopa". The last word is printed split over two lines as "paramāva-rjate"; read "param āvarjate". Sandhi in "gavyanta indram" is as printed.)

Translation: (my own provisional rendering, to be replaced by the Pada, the bhāṣya and the source's own English, which follow on the next pages) "Come, [we] desiring cattle, to Indra, who greatly strengthens our good intelligence; he, the unharmed, indeed [bestows] this wealth; [he] turns toward us the highest signal-mark of cattle."

Rik 33.1 (continued) — Pada-pāṭha, bhāṣya, Pratipadārtha, Bhāvārtha, English, Special Topics (pp. 3–5, PDF 17–19)

Correction to the note under the Saṃhitā text on p. 2 above (made after reading the Pada on p. 3): the Pada-pāṭha divides the first words as ā | ita | ayāma | upa | gavyantaḥ …, so the Saṃhitā's etāyāmopa is simply ā-ita-ayāma-upa run together by sandhi (ā + ita → eta; eta + ayāma → etāyāma; + upa → etāyāmopa). My remark there about the word being "divided with underline marks" was wrong, and the "provisional rendering" under Rik 1 is superseded by the bhāṣya and by the source's own English given below; read those instead.

Pada-pāṭha (p. 3; printed with accent-marks, not reproduced)

आ । इत । अयाम । उप । गव्यन्तः । इन्द्रम् । अस्माकम् । सु । प्रऽमतिम् । ववृधाति । अनामृणः । कुवित् । आत् । अस्य । रायः । गवाम् । केतम् । परम् । आऽवर्जते । नः ॥ १ ॥

ā | ita | ayāma | upa | gavyantaḥ | indram | asmākam | su | pra-matim | vavṛdhāti | anāmṛṇaḥ | kuvit | āt | asya | rāyaḥ | gavām | ketam | param | ā-varjate | naḥ || 1 ||

(The print has "ವವೃಧಾತಿ" with the vowel-sign of the Pada; the compounds are marked with the avagraha-like sign "ऽ" in my transcription for pra-matim and ā-varjate, where the print shows a small separating mark.)

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 3–4; Kannada script converted letter by letter)

> देवाः परस्परमेवं कथयन्ति । हे देवा गव्यन्तः पणिनामकेनासुरेणापहृता अस्मदीया गाः प्राप्तुमिच्छन्तो यूयमेत । आगच्छत । युष्माभिः सहिता वयमिन्द्रं गवानयनक्षममुपायाम । प्राप्नवाम । स चेन्द्रोऽनामृणो हिंसकरहितः सन्नस्माकं देवानां प्रमतिं गोलाभेन हर्षयित्वा प्रकृष्टां बुद्धिं सु ववृधाति । सुष्ठु वर्धयति । आदनन्तरं स इन्द्रोऽस्य रायो धनस्य गवां गोरूपस्य सम्बन्धि परं केतमुत्कृष्टं ज्ञानं नोऽस्माकं कुविदावर्जते । अधिकं प्रापयति ॥

devāḥ parasparam evaṃ kathayanti | he devā gavyantaḥ paṇināmakenāsureṇāpahṛtā asmadīyā gāḥ prāptum icchanto yūyam eta | āgacchata | yuṣmābhiḥ sahitā vayam indraṃ gavānayanakṣamam upāyāma | prāpnavāma | sa cendro 'nāmṛṇo hiṃsakarahitaḥ sann asmākaṃ devānāṃ pramatiṃ golābhena harṣayitvā prakṛṣṭāṃ buddhiṃ su vavṛdhāti | suṣṭhu vardhayati | ādanantaraṃ sa indro 'sya rāyo dhanasya gavāṃ gorūpasya sambandhi paraṃ ketam utkṛṣṭaṃ jñānaṃ no 'smākaṃ kuvid āvarjate | adhikaṃ prāpayati ||

Translation: "The gods speak thus to one another: 'O gods, you who desire cows — wishing to obtain our cows carried off by the asura named Paṇi — come (eta = āgacchata). Together with you, let us approach (upāyāma = let us reach) Indra, who is able to bring the cows (gavānayanakṣamam). And he, Indra, being anāmṛṇa — free of any injurer's nature — will, by the gaining of cows, gladden the good understanding (pramati) of us, the gods, and greatly increase (su vavṛdhāti = suṣṭhu vardhayati) our excellent intelligence. Thereafter this Indra will bring to us in abundance (kuvit) the supreme, excellent knowledge (ketam) relating to this wealth, in the form of cows' (gavām).' ('āvarjate' = he brings to us in greater measure; [adhikaṃ prāpayati — 'brings in greater measure'])."

Grammar within the bhāṣya (pp. 3–4, characterized rather than transcribed, as the convention directs for dense accent-and-sandhi argument; named words and the sūtras that could be read are given): The bhāṣya goes through the forms word by word. eta/ita — root iṇ (to go), loṭ 2nd plural, ending tha, replaced by ta; the śap is elided as the root is of the ad class. ayāma — the āṭ augment on the first-person ending (āḍuttamasya pic ca — आडुत्तमस्य पिच्च — āḍuttamasya pic ca, "the first person takes the augment āṭ, and it is pit" — Pā. 3-4-92), then guṇa and ayādeśa; the rule that yaṇ would replace the i of iṇ (iṇo yaṇ — इणो यण् — iṇo yaṇ, Pā. 6-4-81, which agrees with the standard numbering) is discussed against the maxim "exceptions set aside the rules preceding them, those in between" (madhye 'pavādāḥ pūrvān vidhīn bādhante, Paribhāṣā 60). gavyantaḥ — from go with the suffix kyac (supa ātmanaḥ kyac — सुप आत्मनः क्यच् — "[the suffix kyac] after a noun, in the sense of desiring for oneself"), av in place of o before a y-suffix (vānto yi pratyaye — वान्तो यि प्रत्यये — Pā. 6-1-79), then śatṛ; the accent stays on the root. pramatim — root man (to know), suffix ktin (the print has ಕ್ತಿನ್, ktin), loss of the nasal (anudāttopadeśa-vanati-tanoty-ādīnām anunāsikalopo jhali kṅiti, number not read). vavṛdhāti — root vṛdhu vṛddhau, leṭ with the āṭ augment, the śap replaced by ślu by "bahulaṃ chandasi" (number not read), and the lengthening of the reduplication in the Veda (saṃhitāyām abhyāsasya dīrghaś chāndasaḥ). anāmṛṇaḥ — root mṛṇa (to injure), the suffix ka (igupadha-lakṣaṇaḥ kaḥ — the print reads "igupadhalakṣaṇaḥ kaḥ"; number not read), a bahuvrīhi "he who has no injurers", with the final-syllable accent after nañ and su (the rule nañsubhyām, number not read). rāyaḥ — the accent on the ending (ūḍidam…, number not read). gavām — the ending would take the accent by "sāvekāca…" (number not read), but this is prevented by "na go-śvan-sāvavarṇa…" (number not read). ketam — root kit (to know), suffix ghañ, accent on the first syllable. āvarjate — root vṛjī varjane; the śap should be elided as for the ad class, but the Veda allows the contrary ("bahulaṃ chandasi"); śap is pit, hence unaccented; with tiṅ a verbal prefix loses its accent before an accented tiṅ; and the accent of āvarjate is not lowered (nighāta) because of its connection with kuvit (a rule of the group "kuvidyogān nipātair yad-yadi-hanta…", no sūtra number printed). (I could not read the "iti nighāta-pratiṣedhaḥ" citation beyond these opening words.)

Pratipadārtha (p. 4; Kannada; translated) — "gavyantaḥ — O gods, who wish to obtain the cows [carried off by the demon Paṇi]; ā ita — (all of you) come (join together); indram — to Indra (who is able to recover the cows); upāyāma — let us go; (that Indra is) anāmṛṇaḥ — non-violent; asmākam — our; pramatim — the mind delighted (by the gain of cows); vavṛdhāti — he increases; āt — thereafter; sa indraḥ — that Indra; asya rāyaḥ — of this wealth [of ours]; gavām — concerning the cows; param ketam — the excellent knowledge; naḥ — to us; kuvit — in abundance; āvarjate — makes us attain."

Bhāvārtha (p. 4; Kannada; translated) — "O gods, the asura named Paṇi has stolen your cows. You have the wish to get them back. Therefore come, let all of us go together to Indra. He is non-violent. By getting each of us our cows back he will increase our gladness and will give us excellent understanding in regard to our whole wealth, the cows."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 4) — "Come, let us approach Indra to recover our stolen cattle ; He being without malice exhilarates our minds ; he will bestow upon us perfect knowledge of this wealth consisting of cows."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 5 — "The asura named Paṇi stole the gods' cows and kept them hidden in a cave. This ṛk describes the gods speaking among themselves that they should go to Indra in order to recover them." — gavyantaḥ = gā ātmana icchantaḥ, "those who wish to obtain cows". — su pramatiṃ vāvṛdhāti: "he gives excellent knowledge; he increases our understanding." — anāmṛṇaḥ — hiṃsakarahitaḥ; mṛṇa hiṃsāyām; mṛṇanti hiṃsantīti mṛṇāḥ; igupadhalakṣaṇaḥ kaḥ; na santy āmṛṇā asyeti bahuvrīhiḥ (devanāgarī of the print's Sanskrit: "अनामृणः — हिंसकरहितः । मृण हिंसायाम् । मृणन्ति हिंसन्तीति मृणाः । इगुपधलक्षणः कः । न सन्त्यामृणा अस्येति बहुव्रीहिः"). "The root mṛṇ means to injure. Because he is not one who injures he is called anāmṛṇaḥ: Indra does not injure those who praise him; or, since no one is able to injure Indra, Indra is 'harmless' — such is the meaning." — kuvit — adhikam, "more, in abundance". "Among the twelve words of the many-meaning group beginning uru, tuvi, the word kuvit is read (Ni. 3-13)." — rāyaḥ = dhanasya ("of wealth"; dhanada). — ketam — utkṛṣṭaṃ jñānam: "excellent knowledge; since in the eleven words for 'understanding' beginning ketaḥ, ketuḥ the word ketaḥ is read (Ni. 3-13), ketam means good knowledge, understanding."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (p. 5, grammar page — noted briefly): ite (root iṇ "to go", loṭ 2nd plural tha, replaced by ta by tasthasthamipāṃ tāṃtaṃtāmaḥ — तस्थस्थमिपां तांतंताम: — tasthasthamipāṃ tāṃtaṃtāmaḥ, Pā. 13-4-10 as printed [sic; usual number 3-4-101; the print has ∩ and the 3-shape, then 4, then ∩ and ○, zoom-checked]; the śap elided, no guṇa) and āyāma (iṇ, loṭ 1st plural mas; loṭo laṅvat — लोटो लङ्वत् — Pā. 3-4-85; nityaṃ ṅitaḥ — नित्यं ङितः — Pā. 3-4-99, the s of mas is always elided; āḍuttamasya pic ca — आडुत्तमस्य पिच्च — Pā. 3-4-92, the augment āṭ; the page breaks off in the discussion of its being pit).

Rik 33.1 — Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā, continued (pp. 6–7, PDF 20–21; grammar pages, noted briefly)

The grammar of Rik 1 runs on from p. 5 through p. 7 in Kannada prose, with the sūtras quoted in Kannada script. Noted briefly, not transcribed line by line; sūtras whose numbers I could read are given in three layers.

- āyāma (continued from p. 5): the ending is pit (by the augment āṭ), so it is not ṅit (sārvadhātukam apit — सार्वधातुकमपित् — sārvadhātukam apit, "a sārvadhātuka ending that is not pit is treated as ṅit"; number not read), hence there is no room for the ban on guṇa; guṇa gives e + āma and then ay-substitution, whence āyāma. The page then argues whether iṇo yaṇ — इणो यण् — iṇo yaṇ (Pā. 6-4-81, as printed) or the iyaṅ substitution (aci śnudhātubhruvāṃ yvor iyaṅuvaṅau — अचि श्नुधातुभ्रुवां य्वोरियङुवङौ — Pā. 16-4-77 as printed [sic; the first digit ∩ = 1 is clear on the better scan, so the print reads 16-4-77, evidently for 6-4-77]) should apply before a vowel-initial ending, using the maxim madhye 'pavādāḥ pūrvān vidhīn bādhante — मध्येऽपवादाः पूर्वान्विधीन्बाधन्ते — "exceptions in the middle debar the earlier rules" (Paribhāṣā 60, as printed) and vipratiṣedhe paraṃ kāryam — विप्रतिषेधे परं कार्यम् — "in a conflict the later rule prevails" (Pā. 1-4-2, as printed): the later guṇa rule wins. It adds that the "Vedha-bhāṣya" settles the matter by accepting that yaṇ is an exception, and that kṅiti ca — क्ङिति च — kṅiti ca (Pā. 1-1-5) bars guṇa only in the ṅit case (i + anti); the maxim is therefore not needed here. The ending, being pit, is anudātta (anudāttau suppitau), so the root's own accent remains.
- gavyantaḥ: gāḥ ātmana icchantaḥ; kyac after the object-word go by supa ātmanaḥ kyac — सुप आत्मनः क्यच् — supa ātmanaḥ kyac (Pā. 3-1-8, as I read the print), the verbal status of the stem (sanādyantā dhātavaḥ), the elision of the case-ending (supo dhātuprātipadikayoḥ — सुपो धातुप्रातिपदिकयोः — Pā. 2-4-71), av for o before a suffix beginning with y (vānto yi pratyaye — वान्तो यि प्रत्यये — Pā. 6-1-79), then laṭ, śatṛ, śap, the doubling in gavya + at, the addition of num, and the visarga; the accent of śatṛ is anudātta by tāsyanudāttenṅidadupadeśāt… — ताश्यनुदात्तेन्ङिदुपदेशात्… — (the sūtra number is not printed on pp. 6–7), so the root accent remains.
- pramatim (p. 6 end – p. 7): root man jñāne, striyāṃ ktin — स्त्रियां क्तिन् — striyāṃ ktin (Pā. 3-3-94), loss of the nasal by anudāttopadeśa-vanati-tanoty-ādīnām anunāsikalopo jhali kṅiti (Pā. 6-4-32 as printed [sic]; usual number 6-4-37; the last digit is the curled 2, zoom-checked), and the preverb pra keeps its own accent by tādau ca niti kṛtyatau — तादौ च निति कृत्यतौ — Pā. 6-2-50.

- vāvṛdhāti (p. 7): root vṛdhu vardhane; leṭ, with the augment āṭ by leṭo 'ḍāṭau — लेटोऽडाटौ — Pā. 3-4-94; śap's elision by ślu through "bahulaṃ chandasi" (Pā. 2-4-73); doubling of the root by ślau — श्लौ — Pā. 6-1-10; the reduplicate is cut down by halādiḥ śeṣaḥ — हलादिः शेषः — "of the consonants the first remains" (Pā. 7-4-60, not numbered in the print); the lengthening of the reduplicate in the Saṃhitā is Vedic.
- anāmṛṇaḥ: root mṛṇa hiṃsāyām; ṛ belongs to the ik group, so mṛṇ ends in a vowel-penultimate root, whence the suffix ka (igupadhajñāprīkiraḥ kaḥ — इगुपधज्ञाप्रीकिरः कः — Pā. 3-1-135); na santi āmṛṇā asya (bahuvrīhi); nalopo nañaḥ — नलोपो नञः — Pā. 6-3-73 (the n of nañ is dropped before a following member) and tasmān nuḍ aci — तस्मान्नुडचि — Pā. 6-3-74 (the augment nuṭ if a vowel follows); the final member is accented on its last syllable by the rule nañsubhyām (number not read).
- ketam: root kit jñāne, ending in the suffix ghañ. (Rik 1's grammar ends here, p. 7.)

Rik 33.2 (pp. 7–10, PDF 21–24)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 7; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. In "vasatiṃ" the anudātta underline lies between sa* and ti; I took it as sa [accent ?].)*

उपेदहं धनदामप्रतीतं जुष्टां न श्येनो वसतिं पतामि । इन्द्रं नमस्यन्नुपमेभिरर्क्यैर्यः स्तोतृभ्यो हव्यो अस्ति यामन् ॥ २ ॥

upedaháṃ dhanadāmápratītaṃ júṣṭāṃ ná śyenó vasatíṃ patāmi | [accent ?]
índraṃ namasyánn upamébhir arkyáir yaḥ stotṛ́bhyo hávyo ásti yāman || 2 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 8; the line "arkyaiḥ" was checked on an enlarged slice at 300 dpi: the print reads arkyaiḥ*, with a* y*; the bhāṣya below writes the word as* arkaiḥ* — recorded as printed)*

उप । इत् । अहम् । धनऽदाम् । अप्रतिऽइतम् । जुष्टाम् । न । श्येनः । वसतिम् । पतामि । इन्द्रम् । नमस्यन् । उपऽमेभिः । अर्क्यैः । यः । स्तोतृऽभ्यः । हव्यः । अस्ति । यामन् ॥ २ ॥

upa | it | aham | dhana-dām | apratī-itam | juṣṭām | na | śyenaḥ | vasatim | patāmi | indram | namasyan | upa-mebhiḥ | arkyaiḥ | yaḥ | stotṛ-bhyaḥ | havyaḥ | asti | yāman || 2 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 8)

य इन्द्रः स्तोतृभ्यः स्तोतृणां मनुष्याद्यानामनुग्रहार्थं यामन् तदीयशत्रुभिः सह प्रवृत्ते युद्धे हव्योऽस्ति तैराह्वातव्यो भवति तमिन्द्रमहमनुष्ठातोपेत्य पतामि । उपाप्नोम्येव । किं कुर्वन् । उपमेभिरुपमानस्थानीयैरुत्तमैरर्कैः स्तोत्रैः सह नमस्यन् पूजयन् । कीदृशमिन्द्रम् । धनदां धनप्रदम् अप्रतीतमप्रतिगतम् । बलिभिरतिरस्कृतमित्यर्थः । इन्द्रप्राप्तौ दृष्टान्तः । जुष्टां पूर्वैः सेवितां वसतिं स्वकीयनीडरूपां निवासभूमिं श्येनो न । यथा श्येनोऽनुकोवेगवान्पक्षी स्वकीयं स्थानं प्रत्यादरेण धावति तद्वदहमिन्द्रं त्वरया प्राप्नोमि ॥

ya indraḥ stotṛbhyaḥ stotṝṇāṃ manuṣyādyānām anugrahārthaṃ yāman tadīyaśatrubhiḥ saha pravṛtte yuddhe havyo 'sti tair āhvātavyo bhavati tam indram aham anuṣṭhātopetya patāmi | upāpnomy eva | kiṃ kurvan | upamebhir upamānasthānīyair uttamair arkaiḥ stotraiḥ saha namasyan pūjayan | kīdṛśam indram | dhanadāṃ dhanapradam apratītam apratigatam | balibhir atiraskṛtam ity arthaḥ | indraprāptau dṛṣṭāntaḥ | juṣṭāṃ pūrvaiḥ sevitāṃ vasatiṃ

svakīyanīḍarūpāṃ nivāsabhūmiṃ śyeno na | yathā śyeno 'nukovegavān pakṣī svakīyaṃ sthānaṃ pratyādareṇa dhāvati tadvad aham indraṃ tvarayā prāpnomi ||

Translation: "The Indra who, for the benefit of the praisers [= human beings and the like], at the yāman — in a battle that has begun with their enemies — is havya, i.e. is to be invoked by them: to that Indra I, the performer, going up to him (upetya, clear in the print), patāmi — I simply approach. Doing what? Namasyan — worshipping with upamebhiḥ, 'those standing in the place of the comparison [i.e. the best, worthy to be compared]', with the excellent arkaiḥ — hymns of praise. What sort of Indra? Dhanadām — the giver of wealth; apratītam — 'not gone against', that is, not defeated by the mighty. An illustration for reaching Indra: juṣṭām — frequented by earlier [birds], vasatim — a dwelling, the resting-place in the form of its own nest — śyeno na — as a hawk. Just as the hawk, the swift bird, runs with eagerness to its own place, so do I reach Indra with haste."

Pratipadārtha (p. 9) — "yaḥ — which Indra; stotṛbhyaḥ — from the devotees; yāman — at the time of battle (for help); havyaḥ asti — is called (with prayer); dhanadām — [that] giver of wealth; apratītam — [one] not struck back (by enemies); indram — Indra; aham — I; upamebhiḥ — worthy of comparison (endowed with the best qualities); arkyaiḥ [the print here: arkyaiḥ] — with hymns; namasyan — worshipping; juṣṭām — the beloved, (inhabited — vāsamāḍuttiruva,"in which [it] dwells"); vasatim — the nest; śyenaḥ na — as a hawk arrives; upet patāmi — I will go swiftly and arrive."

Bhāvārtha (p. 9) — "Indra has a mighty valour that cannot be struck back by enemies. All his devotees call upon him at the time of battle, praying for help. He is the giver of wealth. As a hawk flies off and reaches its own beloved nest, so I also, worshipping that Indra with the most excellent hymns, will go swiftly to him."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 9) — "Indra is to be inovked [sic] by his worshippers in battle; Indra who is invincible and true giver of wealth is to be glorified with excellent hymns; I approach Indra like a hawk to its cherished nest."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 9–10 — dhanadām — dhanaṃ dadātīti dhanadāḥ (Kannada gloss: "one who gives wealth, riches"). apratītam — śatrubhir na pratigataṃ ("one who cannot be conquered by enemies"). juṣṭām — juṣī prītisevanayoḥ, sevitām: "an object of love, desired". śyenaḥ — "a hawk, a particular bird; this bird is renowned for flying swiftly. As such a bird flies swiftly to its beloved nest, so I too go swiftly to Indra, who is very dear to me, because he gives me what I wish — such is the sense of the illustration." upamebhiḥ — upamānasthānīyaiḥ, uttamaiḥ, "worthy of comparison, excellent, the very best". ārkyaiḥ [the print's form here: ārkyaiḥ with a long ā] — "with mantras. There is a Nirukta statement, arko mantro bhavati ('arka is a mantra')" (Ni. 5-4; the middle digit is the lobed 5, zoom-checked). havyaḥ — āhvātavyaḥ: "one who is called for help at the time of battle. People who fall into difficulties such as war take refuge in Indra; they call upon Indra for help."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (p. 10, grammar page — noted briefly): dhanadām (dhanaṃ dadāti → dhanadāḥ; the suffix vic by āto maninkvanibvanipaś ca — आतो मनिन्क्वनिब्वनिपश्च — Pā. 3-2-74 (zoom-checked), with all the letters of vic dropped; the su of the compound's member elided by luk; accusative singular). juṣṭām (juṣī prītisevanayoḥ; the root is īdit, so the iṭ augment is barred before the participial suffix by śvīdito niṣṭhāyām — श्वीदितो निष्ठायाम् — Pā. 7-2-14; the first syllable is accented by nityaṃ mantre — नित्यं मन्त्रे — Pā. 6-1-210 with the preceding juṣṭārpite ca chandasi — जुष्टार्पिते च छन्दसि — Pā. 6-1-209, which the Kaumudī's author says need not be made a separate sūtra). patāmi (liṅarthe leṭ — लिङर्थे लेट् — Pā. 3-4-7; first-person singular mip; the augment āṭ by leṭo 'ḍāṭau — Pā. 3-4-94; śap; lengthening). namasyan (namovariva ścitraṅaḥ kyac — नमोवरिवश्चित्रङः क्यच् — Pā. 3-2-19 as printed [sic: the middle digit is a clear curled 2; the usual number is 3-1-19], with the word karaṇe carried on from the preceding sūtra on śabdavaira-..., and the vārtikas karaṇaṃ kriyā, namasaḥ pūjāyām, varivasaḥ paricaryāyām, citraṅa āścarye — "namas in the sense of worship, varivas in service, citra in the sense of wonder"; kyac is udātta by its suffix-accent; then laṭ, śatṛ, anudātta by tāsyanudāttenṅid... Pā. 6-1-186 (zoom-checked), śap pit; the page breaks off in the discussion of the single substitute of a and the kyac's ac).

Rik 33.2 — Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā, continued (p. 11, PDF 25; grammar page, noted briefly)

upamebhiḥ (upamīyante ebhir ity upamāḥ; root māṅ māne; the suffix ka in the sense of ghañ — ghañarthe kavidhānam — "the suffix ka is prescribed in the sense of ghañ", cited with a vārtika under Pā. 3-3-58; Sāyaṇa's view is that it applies beyond the cases listed in the vārtika; loss of ā by ātolopa iṭi ca — आतो लोप इटि च — Pā. 6-4-64; instrumental plural bhis and the Vedic bahulaṃ chandasi which prevents the usual ais; accent of the first member by gatikārakopapadāt kṛt — गतिकारकोपपदात्कृत् — Pā. 6-2-139, the final syllable being acute by the suffix). havyaḥ (root hvṝ śabde; the semivowel v gives u as the "former form" by bahulaṃ chandasi — Pā. 6-1-34 (zoom-checked); the suffix yat after a root ending in a vowel, aco yat — अचो यत् — Pā. 3-1-91 as printed [sic: the last two digits are a clear 9 and ∩ = 1; the usual number is 3-1-97]; guṇa by sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ — सार्वधातुकार्धधातुकयोः — Pā. 7-3-84; av in place of o by dhātos tannimittasyaiva — धातोस्तन्निमित्तस्यैव — Pā. 6-1-80, with the companion rule vānto yi pratyaye — Pā. 6-1-79; the initial accent, because yato nāvaḥ — यतो नावः — Pā. 6-1-213 would apply only to nau + yat, not here). Rik 2 ends at the close of this page (|| 2 ||).

Rik 33.3 (pp. 11–14, PDF 25–28)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 11; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. Svarita marks stand over va* of "sarva" and over ra of "-rasakta" as read from the strokes; where a conjunct carries a repha the stroke was placed on the vowel-bearing consonant.)*

> नि सर्वसेन इषुधीरसक्त समर्यो गा अजति यस्य वष्टि । चोष्कूयमाण इन्द्र भूरि वामं मा पणिर्भूरस्मदधि प्रवृद्ध ॥ ३ ॥
>
> ni sárvasena iṣudhīm̐r asakta sámaryó gā́ ajati yásya vaṣṭi | coṣkūyámāṇa indra bhū́ri vāmáṃ mā paṇírbhūr asmádádhi pravṛ́ddha || 3 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 12)

> नि । सर्वऽसेनः । इषुऽधीन् । असक्त । सम् । अर्यः । गाः । अजति । यस्य । वष्टि । चोष्कूयमाणः । इन्द्र । भूरि । वामम् । मा । पणिः । भूः । अस्मत् । अधि । प्रऽवृद्ध ॥ ३ ॥

ni | sarva-senaḥ | iṣu-dhīn | asakta | sam | aryaḥ | gāḥ | ajati | yasya | vaṣṭi | coṣkūyamāṇaḥ | indra | bhūri | vāmam | mā | paṇiḥ | bhūḥ | asmat | adhi | pra-vṛddha || 3 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 12)

> सर्वसेनः कृत्स्नसेनायुक्त इषुधीन्बाणानामाधारभूतान्निषङ्गान्न्यसक्त । नितरां पृष्ठभागे संयोजितवान् । अर्यः स्वामिरूप इन्द्रो यस्य देवस्य वष्टि असुरेणापहृता गाः प्रदातुं कामयते तस्य देवस्य गृहे ता गाः समजति । सम्यक् प्रापयति । हे प्रवृद्ध प्रकृष्टवृद्धियुक्तेन्द्र भूरि वामं प्रभूतं गोरूपं धनं चोष्कूयमाणोऽस्मभ्यं प्रयच्छन् अस्मदध्यस्मासु पणिर्मा भूः । व्यवहारी मा भूयोः । गवां मूल्यं मा याचस्वेत्यर्थः ॥

sarvasenaḥ kṛtsnasenāyukta iṣudhīn bāṇānām ādhārabhūtān niṣaṅgān nyasakta | nitarāṃ pṛṣṭhabhāge saṃyojitavān | aryaḥ svāmirūpa indro yasya devasya vaṣṭi asureṇāpahṛtā gāḥ pradātuṃ kāmayate tasya devasya gṛhe tā gāḥ samajati | samyak prāpayati | he pravṛddha prakṛṣṭavṛddhiyuktendra bhūri vāmaṃ prabhūtaṃ gorūpaṃ dhanaṃ coṣkūyamāṇo 'smabhyaṃ prayacchan asmadadhyasmāsu paṇir mā bhūḥ | vyavahārī mā bhūyoḥ | gavāṃ mūlyaṃ mā yācasvetyarthaḥ ||

Translation: "Sarvasenaḥ — he who has the whole army — ni asakta — has fixed iṣudhīn, the quivers that are the receptacles of arrows, firmly on his back. Aryaḥ — Indra, in the form of the lord — to the house of whichever god he vaṣṭi ('wishes') to give back the cows carried off by the demon, he sam ajati — leads those cows rightly, brings them. O pravṛddha, Indra of surpassing growth, [you who are] coṣkūyamāṇaḥ — giving us abundantly bhūri vāmam, plentiful wealth in the form of cows — do not become a paṇi towards us (asmad adhi): do not be a trader; the meaning is 'do not ask the price of the cows'."

Grammar within the bhāṣya (pp. 12–13, characterized, not transcribed): the bhāṣya parses sarvasenaḥ (bahuvrīhi; its accent via pratyayalakṣaṇa and a Kāśikā citation), iṣudhīn (iṣu + dhā, suffix ki by karmaṇy adhikaraṇe ca — Pā. 3-3-93 (zoom-checked); n → ru by the rule on a long vowel before aṭ and the optional nasalization of the previous vowel by anunāsikaḥ pūrvasya tu vā — Pā. 8-3-2, as printed), asakta (root ṣaca samavāye, śap elided by bahulaṃ chandasi), aryaḥ (aryaḥ svāmivaiśyayoḥ — अर्यः स्वामिवैश्ययोः — Pā. 3-1-103, yat-ending irregularly formed; final-acute by a Phiṭ-sūtra, printed as "Phi. Sū. 17" [aryasya svāmyākhyā cet] and "Phi. Sū. 14" [aṅguśmodakabakavaśānāṃ chandasy antaḥ], zoom-checked), ajati (root aja gatikṣepaṇayoḥ), vaṣṭi (root vaśa kāntau, śap elided as it belongs to the ad class; ṣ-substitution then ṣṭutva), coṣkūyamāṇaḥ (root skui āpravaṇe, yaṅ by dhātor ekāca…, lengthening, doubling, ś-initial reduplicate cut down; the last ś [sakāraḥ] is dropped; śānac for laṭ (printed yajantāl laṭaḥ śānac; the first word is read at 450 dpi as yajantāt [?] — yaṅantāt may be meant); stem accent from the lasārvadhātuka ending), bhūḥ (aorist; luk of sic by gātisthā…). Several of these sūtra numbers on pp. 12–13 are small and I did not chase them.

Pratipadārtha (p. 13) — "sarvasenaḥ — Indra, who has all armies; iṣudhīn — the quivers that hold arrows; ni asakta — has fastened firmly (on his back); aryaḥ — Indra, the lord; yasya — [with regard to] which deity; vaṣṭi — he wishes; (to the house of such a deity) gāḥ — the cows; sam ajati — he drives rightly; (he) pravṛddha — (O) one endowed with excellent growth; indra — Indra; bhūri — in abundance; vāmam — abundant (cow-form) wealth; coṣkūyamāṇaḥ — giving bountifully; asmadadhi — with regard to us; paṇiḥ — a trader (a haggler); mā bhūḥ — do not become."

Bhāvārtha (p. 13) — "Indra, the lord of all the gods, with all his armies, has bound the quivers firmly on his shoulder. He leads the cows that were carried off, to the houses of his own gods. O Indra of excellent prosperity, give us more and more of the wealth of cows that we wish. But do not ask us for only their price, and do not behave towards us like a trader."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 13) — "Indra, the leader of the whole army ties the quivers on his back ; the lord drives the cattle to the dwelling of whom he pleases ; O, mighty Indra, the giver of abundant wealth, do not take advantage of us like a dealer."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 13–14 — sarvasenaḥ = kṛtsnasenāyuktaḥ: "The leader of all armies [the print adds this English], the overlord of all the armies, one who has all armies." iṣudhīn = iṣava iṣu dhīyante itīṣudhayaḥ, "quivers in which arrows are placed." aryaḥ = svāmivaiśyayoḥ (Pā. 3-1-103 [as printed]): "master, sacrificer, Lord [English in the print]." coṣkūyamāṇaḥ = asmabhyaṃ prayacchan, "one who gives [cows] to us." mā paṇir bhūḥ [the print's heading reads mā phaṇir bhūḥ, sic] = vyavahārī mā bhūyoḥ: "Do not become a trader and haggle; that is, in giving us wealth do not stint, nor haggle over how much to give, but give wealth as is wished." The print adds in English: "Do not make a hard bargain, dont [sic] haggle, do not demand too much from worshippers etc."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (p. 14, grammar page — noted briefly): sarvasenaḥ — sarva belongs to the uñchādi group, so it is final-acute by uñchādīnāṃ ca — उञ्छादीनां च — Pā. 6-1-160; ina = master; inena saha vartate iti senā, a bahuvrīhi, with sa for saha by vopasarjanasya — वोपसर्जनस्य — Pā. 6-3-82; then sarvā senā yasya saḥ, the case-ending of the first member elided by supo dhātuprātipadikayoḥ — सुपो धातुप्रातिपदिकयोः — Pā. 2-4-71. Because sarvasya supi — सर्वस्य सुपि — Pā. 6-1-191 gives sarva the first-syllable accent before a sup ending, the page asks how this applies once the ending is elided; it cites the Kāśikā-author that the accent comes by pratyayalakṣaṇa — pratyayalope pratyayalakṣaṇam — प्रत्ययलोपे प्रत्ययलक्षणम् — Pā. 1-1-62 — and explains that the prohibition na lumatāṅgasya — न लुमताङ्गस्य — Pā. 1-1-63 does not obstruct, and that the "seventh case" in accent-rules means "ending in …", i.e. applies to words in a subanta. After the bahuvrīhi the first-member accent supervenes and the same accent remains.

Rik 33.3 — Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā, continued (pp. 15–16, PDF 29–30; grammar pages, noted briefly)

Kannada prose with sūtras quoted; the numerals are small; those given were re-read on the better scan, and a bracketed question mark marks any that stay unsettled.

- iṣudhīn (p. 15): iṣavaḥ iṣu dhīyante — "arrows are placed in them" (the quiver; Kannada battalike); the suffix ki after dhā when a word for the object stands in front, karmaṇy adhikaraṇe ca — कर्मण्यधिकरणे च — karmaṇy adhikaraṇe ca (Pā. 3-3-93); loss of the ā by ātolopa iṭi ca — आतो लोप इटि च — Pā. 6-4-64; accusative plural śas; in the Saṃhitā the n becomes ru after a long vowel in one foot (dīrghād aṭi samānapāde — दीर्घादटि समानपादे — Pā. 8-3-9, zoom-checked) and the preceding vowel is optionally nasalized (anunāsikaḥ pūrvasya tu vā — अनुनासिकः पूर्वस्य तु वा — Pā. 8-3-2).
- asakta: root ṣaca samavāye (1st class, ubhayapadin), laṅ [print: "if the ātmanepada is intended, laṅ pra. pu. e. va., sac + ta" — the print says laṅ]; śap elided by bahulaṃ chandasi (Pā. 2-4-73, zoom-checked); c → k by coḥ kuḥ — चोः कुः — Pā. 8-2-30; the augment aṭ.

- aryaḥ: aryaḥ svāmivaiśyayoḥ — अर्यः स्वामिवैश्ययोः — Pā. 3-1-103; root ṛ gatau, yat as an exception to ṇyat, guṇa and raparatva giving ārya-type form; the final syllable acute by the Phiṭ-sūtras aryasya svāmyākhyā cet and aṅguśmodakabakavaśānāṃ chandasy antaḥ (printed Phi. Sū. 17 and 14, zoom-checked), which override the first-syllable accent that yato nāvaḥ — यतो नावः — Pā. 6-1-213 or yo 'ntasyāntyāt pūrvam — यो ऽन्तस्यान्त्यात्पूर्वम् (letters read at 658 dpi; the sūtra is not identified here) [?] — would give.
- ajati: root aja gatikṣepaṇayoḥ, laṭ, tip, śap. vaṣṭi: root vaśa kāntau, ad-class, śap elided; ś → ṣ by vraścabhrasjasṛjamṛjayajarājabhrājacchaśāṃ ṣaḥ — व्रश्चभ्रस्जसृजमृजयजराजभ्राजच्छशां षः — Pā. 8-2-36; then ṣṭunā ṣṭuḥ — ष्टुना ष्टुः — Pā. 8-4-41, giving vaṣṭi.
- coṣkūyamāṇaḥ (p. 16): root skui āpravaṇe; yaṅ in the sense of repetition or intensity after a root with one vowel and an initial consonant (dhātor ekāco halādeḥ kriyāsamabhihāre yaṅ — Pā. 3-1-22), lengthening (akṛtsārvadhātukayor dīrghaḥ — Pā. 7-4-25), doubling (sanyaṅoḥ — Pā. 6-1-9), shortening of the reduplicate (hrasvaḥ — Pā. 7-4-59), the first s of the doubled skū lost (śarpūrvāḥ khayaḥ — Pā. 7-4-61), k of the reduplicate → c (kuhoś cuḥ — Pā. 7-4-62), guṇa of the reduplicate (guṇo yaṅluktoḥ — Pā. 7-4-82), s → ṣ by the list suṣāmādiṣu ca (Pā. 8-3-98), śānac for laṭ (laṭaḥ śatṛśānacau — Pā. 3-2-124), a + o → single o (ato guṇe — Pā. 6-1-97), the augment muk (āne muk — Pā. 7-2-82), n-substitution (aṭkupvāṅnumvyavāye 'pi — Pā. 8-4-2) giving coṣkūyamāṇa; the śānac ending is unaccented (tāsyanudāttenṅidādupadeśāt…, Pā. 6-1-186), so the root accent stays.
- bhūḥ: root bhū sattāyām, luṅ, sic; the augment aṭ is barred when mā is connected (na māṅyoge); the luk of sic by gātisthāghupābhūbhyaḥ sicaḥ parasmaipadeṣu — गातिस्थाघुपाभूभ्यः सिचः परस्मैपदेषु — Pā. 2-4-77; itaś ca — इतश्च — Pā. 3-4-100 drops the i of the ending; ru and visarga. Rik 3 ends at this point (|| 3 ||).

Rik 33.4 (p. 16 onwards, PDF 30–)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 16; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented; the last word is divided across two lines in the print: prēti-mīyuḥ*)*

> वधीर्हि दस्युं धनिनं घनेनँ एकश्चरन्नुपशाकेभिरिन्द्र । धनोरधि विषुणक्ते व्यायन्नयंज्वानः सनकाः प्रेतिमीयुः ॥ ४ ॥
>
> vadhīr hí dásyuṃ dhaninaṃ ghanénǻ ékaś cáran nupaśākébhir indra | dhanor ádhi viṣuṇák té vyāyann áyajvānáḥ sanakā́ḥ prétimīyuḥ || 4 ||

(Reading note: the Saṃhitā text of the second line is read as printed — viṣuṇak te* — the second word being a single printed unit "ವಿಷುಣಕ್ತೇ"; the Pada on the next page will show how the print divides it. The Saṃhitā is not completed with the Pada here; Rik 4's Pada, bhāṣya and the rest follow from p. 17 and are not yet written.)*

Rik 33.4 (continued) — Pada-pāṭha, bhāṣya, Pratipadārtha, Bhāvārtha, English, Special Topics (pp. 17–20, PDF 31–34)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 17) — this settles the reading noted under the Saṃhitā: viṣuṇak te is viṣuṇak | te.

> वधीः । हि । दस्युम् । धनिनम् । घनेन । एकः । चरन् । उपऽशाकेभिः । इन्द्र ॥ धनोः । अधि । विषुणक् । ते । वि । आयन् । अयज्वानः । सनकाः । प्रऽइतिम् । ईयुः ॥ ४ ॥

vadhīḥ | hi | dasyum | dhaninam | ghanena | ekaḥ | caran | upa-śākebhiḥ | indra || dhanoḥ | adhi | viṣuṇak | te | vi | āyan | ayajvānaḥ | sanakāḥ | pra-itim | īyuḥ || 4 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (pp. 17–18; the print's first half is given in full; the grammatical tail is characterized below)

> हे इन्द्र धनिनं बहुधनोपेतं दस्युं चोरं वृत्रं घनेन कठिनेन वज्रेण वधीर्हि । त्वं हतवान्खलु । धनित्वं वाजसनेयिनोऽपि स्पष्टमामनन्ति । वृत्रस्यान्तः सर्वे देवाः सर्वाश्च विद्याः सर्वाणि हवींषि चासन्निति । उपशाकेभिः समीपवर्तिभिः शक्तियुक्तैर्मरुद्भिः सहितोऽपि भूत्वैकश्चरन् । प्रहर्तुं स्वयमेक एव गच्छन् । यद्यपि मरुतः समीपे वर्तन्ते तथापि ते प्रोत्साहयन्त्येव न तु वृत्रं प्रहरन्ति । प्रहर्ता तु स्वयमेक एव । तथा च ब्राह्मणे समाम्नातम् । मरुतो हैनं नाजहुः प्रहर भगवो वीरयस्वेत्येवैनमेतां वाचं वदन्त उपातिष्ठन्त । ऐ. ब्रा. ३-२० । इति । धनोरधि इन्द्रसम्बन्धिनो धनुष उपरि विषुणक् विविधं नाशमुद्दिश्य यद्वा विष्वक् सर्वतस्ते वृत्रानुचरा व्यायन् । विविधमागच्छन् । आगत्य चायज्वानो यज्ञविरोधिनः सन्तः सनका एतन्नामका वृत्रानुचराः प्रेतिमीयुः । मरणं प्राप्ताः ॥

he indra dhaninaṃ bahudhanopetaṃ dasyuṃ coraṃ vṛtraṃ ghanena kaṭhinena vajreṇa vadhīr hi | tvaṃ hatavān khalu | dhanitvaṃ vājasaneyino 'pi spaṣṭam āmananti | vṛtrasyāntaḥ sarve devāḥ sarvāś ca vidyāḥ sarvāṇi havīṃṣi cāsann iti | upaśākebhiḥ samīpavartibhiḥ śaktiyuktair marudbhiḥ sahito 'pi bhūtvaikaś caran | prahartuṃ svayam eka eva gacchan | yadyapi marutaḥ samīpe vartante tathāpi te protsāhayanty eva na tu vṛtraṃ praharanti | prahartā tu svayam eka eva | tathā ca brāhmaṇe samāmnātam | maruto hainaṃ nājahuḥ prahara bhagavo vīrayasvety evainam etāṃ vācaṃ vadanta upātiṣṭhanta | ai. brā. 3-20 | iti | dhanor adhi indrasambandhino dhanuṣa upari viṣuṇak vividhaṃ nāśam uddiśya yadvā viṣvak sarvatas te vṛtrānucarā vy āyan | vividham āgacchan | āgatya cāyajvāno yajñavirodhinaḥ santaḥ sanakā etannāmakā vṛtrānucarāḥ pretim īyuḥ | maraṇaṃ prāptāḥ ||

Translation: "O Indra, you slew with the ghana, the hard vajra, the dhanin — the possessor of much wealth — the dasyu — the thief — Vṛtra: you have indeed killed [him]. The Vājasaneyins also state clearly that he has wealth: 'Inside Vṛtra were all the gods, all the sciences, and all the oblations.' Upaśākebhiḥ — though accompanied by the Maruts who stand near, endowed with power — ekaḥ caran — going alone, going by yourself to strike. Though the Maruts are near, they only encourage; it is not they who strike Vṛtra: the striker is you alone. So it is handed down in a Brāhmaṇa: 'The Maruts did not abandon him; saying "Strike, O Lord, show your valour!" they stood by him' (Ai. Brā. 3-20, zoom-checked). Dhanor adhi — upon Indra's bow; viṣuṇak — with various destruction in view, or on all sides — those followers of Vṛtra vy āyan, came in various ways; and having come, being ayajvānaḥ — enemies of sacrifice — the followers of Vṛtra by the name sanakāḥ pretim īyuḥ — met their death."

Grammar within the bhāṣya (pp. 17–18, characterized): the bhāṣya's tail treats vadhīḥ (root han replaced by vadha in the luṅ by luṅi ca (printed Pā. 2-4-43, zoom-checked); loss of the a and absence of vṛddhi; sic lost before īṭ, the īṭ augment Pā. 8-2-28, zoom-checked), ghanena and ekaḥ (the Vedic prakṛtibhāva in the Saṃhitā text before īṣā-akṣādi-type compounds, printed Pā. 6-1-127, vārtika 2, zoom-checked — the first-digits ∩ ∩ then 2 and 7 are clear, so the earlier "6-1-115" is not what the print gives; the nasalisation is Vedic), upaśākebhiḥ (upaśaktaṃ kurvantīty upaśākāḥ, from śakḷ śaktau, in the causative sense, with ac; the last syllable of the second member acute), viṣuṇak (kvip after naś [or añc] preceded by viṣu; kutva by naśer vā — Pā. 8-2-63, zoom-checked), sanakāḥ (ṣaṇu dāne, "they who give", sanā dātāraḥ; pacādyac; sanān nāyanti śabdayantīti sanakāḥ; suffix ka by ato 'nupasarge kaḥ; loss of ā by ātolopa iṭi ca), pretim (the preverb keeps its accent by tādau ca niti (no number printed on p. 18)), and īyuḥ (root i, liṭ third plural us, yaṇ-substitution, doubling, lengthening of the reduplicate by dīrgha iṇaḥ kiti — Pā. 7-4-69, zoom-checked).

Pratipadārtha (p. 18) — "(he) indra — O Indra (you); upaśākebhiḥ — though your powerful Maruts, staying near you, are close at hand; ekaḥ — you alone; caran — moving about (by your own strength alone); dhaninam — the rich; dasyum — the thief Vṛtra; ghanena — with the hard vajra weapon; vadhīr hi — [you] killed; (and) ayajvānaḥ — the enemies of sacrifice; te — those followers of Vṛtra; sanakāḥ — Sanaka and the other rākṣasas; dhanor adhi — in front of (your) bow; viṣuṇak — from many directions; vy āyan — came; (and) pretim — death; īyuḥ — obtained."

Bhāvārtha (p. 18) — "O Indra, you are exceedingly heroic. Though the powerful Maruts were with you, near you, for your help, you alone, without expecting their help, killed Vṛtra with your vajra. Moreover, the enemies of sacrifice and the followers of Vṛtra — Sanaka and the other rākṣasas — who came from many directions in the sky against your weapon, also met death."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 18) — "O Indra, though you are accompanied by your powerful allies Maruths, you alone did slay the rich demon Vritra with your thunderbolt ; those unsacrificing Sanakas coming against your bow from all sides met with their death."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 19–20 — dasyuṃ dhaninam — "Vṛtra the thief is famed as very rich. 'Within Vṛtra were all the gods, all the sciences, all the oblations' — [this] is known from the Śukla-Yajurveda. Although the word dasyum here means only 'thief', its meaning must be given as Vṛtra: because it is stated here that Indra struck him with his vajra, and because it is said in many places that Vṛtra was struck down and killed with the vajra, dasyum must be understood to refer to Vṛtra the dasyu. The sense is that by thieving he gained wealth and became famous as rich."

ekaś carann upaśākebhiḥ — "Though the Maruts, who are Indra's friends, were near, encouraging [him], Indra did not look for their help but leapt alone upon the enemy and struck him with the vajra. Hence Indra needs no help from anyone else; he alone has immeasurable strength and power. On this the bhāṣyakāra has cited the Aitareya-Brāhmaṇa sentence":

> मरुतो हैनं नाजहुः प्रहर भगवो वीरयस्वेत्येवैनमेतां वाचं वदन्त उपातिष्ठन्ते [print here: -nte; in the bhāṣya: -nta] । (ऐ. ब्रा. ३-२०)

maruto hainaṃ nājahuḥ prahara bhagavo vīrayasvety evainam etāṃ vācaṃ vadanta upātiṣṭhante | (ai. brā. 3-20)

"The Maruts did not abandon him; saying to him these words, 'Strike, O lord, show your valour', they stood by him."

upaśākebhiḥ — upaśaktaṃ kurvantīty upaśākāḥ | upaśākebhiḥ samīpavartibhiḥ śaktiyuktair marudbhiḥ: "by the powerful Maruts who stand near." āyajvānaḥ — yajvavirodhinaḥ: "opponents of those who sacrifice, or those who do not sacrifice." sanakāḥ — etannāmakā vṛtrānucarāḥ: "the sanakas are Vṛtra's followers. The word sanaka (sanakāt) occurs in the Ṛgveda in only two ṛks:"

> १. प्र सप्तहोता सनकादरोचत मातुरुपस्थे यदशोचदूधनि । न नि मिषति सुरणो दिवेदिवे यदसुरस्य जठरादजायत ॥ (ऋ. सं. ३-२९-१४ [?]) २. अयमग्निर्वध्र्यश्वस्य वृत्रहा सनकात्प्रेद्धो नमसोपवाक्यः । स नो अजामीरुत वा विजामीनभि तिष्ठ शर्धतो वाध्र्यश्व ॥ (ऋ. सं. १०-६९-१२ [?])

1. pra saptahotā sanakād arocata mātur upasthe yad aśocad ūdhani | na ni miṣati suraṇo dive-dive yad asurasya jaṭharād ajāyata || (ṛ. saṃ. 3-29-14 [?]) 2. ayam agnir vadhryaśvasya vṛtrahā sanakāt preddho namasopavākyaḥ | sa no ajāmīr uta vā vijāmīn abhi tiṣṭha śardhato vādhryaśva || (ṛ. saṃ. 10-69-12 [?])

"1. 'The seven-priested one shone forth from of old, when he blazed in the lap of the mother, in the udder [?]; the glad one does not wink day by day, since he was born from the belly of the asura.' 2. 'This Agni, Vṛtra-slayer of Vadhryaśva, kindled from of old, is to be addressed with homage: overcome for us, O Vādhryaśva, the hostile [?] — both the kinsfolk and the non-kinsfolk — who press upon us.'" (The translations are mine and tentative: the source leaves these two ṛks untranslated, and the second verse's second line is dense.) The source then notes: "In these two ṛks the word sanakāt has Agni as its sense; it does not suggest the meaning 'Vṛtra's follower'."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (p. 20, grammar page — noted briefly): vadhīḥ — root han hiṃsāgatyoḥ, luṅ, tip; the i of the parasmaipada ending is lost by itaś ca — इतश्च — Pā. 3-4-100; cli in place of śap by cli luṅi — च्लि लुङि — Pā. 3-1-43; sic for cli by cleḥ sic — च्लेः सिच् — Pā. 3-1-44; vadha for han in luṅ by luṅi ca — लुङि च — Pā. 2-4-43; the a of vadha dropped by ato lopaḥ — अतो लोपः — Pā. 6-4-48 (the print, in the Veda-bhāṣya, cites this as "ātolopaḥ", which the author says is a slip — pramādikavāgi); the optional vṛddhi by ato halādeḥ laghoḥ — अतो हलादेर्लघोः — Pā. 7-2-7, and its non-occurrence because of the sthānivadbhāva rule acaḥ parasmin pūrvavidhau — अचः परस्मिन्पूर्वविधौ — Pā. 1-1-57; the augment iṭ by asti-sico 'pṛkte — अस्तिसिचोऽपृक्ते — Pā. 7-3-96, the īṭ; the s lost by iṭa īṭi — इट ईटि — Pā. 8-2-28; the pūrvatrāsiddham — पूर्वत्रासिद्धम् — Pā. 8-2-1 does not make the loss of s "unseen"; the augment aṭ is Vedic and does not appear; the augments iṭ and īṭ are unaccented (āgamā anudāttāḥ), so the root's accent remains.

Rik 33.4 — Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā, continued (pp. 21–22, PDF 35–36; grammar pages, noted briefly)

- ghanena ekaḥ (p. 21): the Saṃhitā keeps the vowels unchanged — īṣākṣādiṣu chandasi prakṛtibhāvamātram — ईषाक्षादिषु छन्दसि प्रकृतिभावमात्रम् — "in the Veda the compounds īṣā-akṣa and the like keep their natural form only" (Pā. 6-1-127, vārtika 2, as printed here and on p. 17); mātram excludes shortening as well as guṇa. The nasalisation in ghanena [the print marks the e with the nasal sign] is Vedic and is not produced by a sūtra of Pāṇini but belongs to the Prātiśākhya process.

- upaśākebhiḥ: upaśaktaṃ kurvanti, root śakḷ śaktau, causative ṇic by hetumati ca — हेतुमति च — Pā. 3-1-26; vṛddhi of the penultimate by ata upadhāyāḥ — अत उपधायाः — Pā. 7-2-116; suffix ac of the pacādi class (nandigrahipacādibhyo lyuṇinyacaḥ — Pā. 3-1-134); loss of ṇi by ṇer aniṭi — णेरनिटि — Pā. 6-4-51; final acute by thāthaghañktājabitrakāṇām — थाथघञ्क्ताजबित्रकाणाम् — Pā. 6-2-144.
- viṣuṇak: suffix kvip after naś adarśane with viṣu in front (sampadādibhyaḥ kvip, a vārtika); kutva of ś by naśer vā — नशेर्वा — Pā. 8-2-63 (the page shows the whole chain: ṣa by vraścabhrasja… — Pā. 8-2-36, ḍa by jhalāṃ jaśo 'nte — Pā. 8-2-39, ka by khari ca — Pā. 8-4-55, then ṇa for n); alternatively root añcu gatipūjanayoḥ with viṣu, kvip, the augment nuṭ, and kutva by coḥ kuḥ — चोः कुः — Pā. 8-2-30.
- sanakāḥ: the name of a class of asuras; root ṣaṇu dāne, sanvanti iti sanāḥ "givers"; or root kai śabde with ā for ai (ādeca upadeśe 'śiti — आदेच उपदेशेऽशिति — Pā. 6-1-45), sanān kāyati "he who calls out the sana [praises?]"; suffix ka by ato 'nupasarge kaḥ — अतोऽनुपसर्गे कः — Pā. 3-2-3; loss of ā by ātolopa iṭi ca — Pā. 6-4-64; accent of the first member of a kṛt compound.
- pretim: pra + root iṇ + ktin, guṇa; the preverb keeps its accent by tādau ca niti kṛtyatau — Pā. 6-2-50.
- īyuḥ (p. 22): root iṇ gatau, liṭ, jhi replaced by us (parasmaipadānāṃ ṇalatusustha-lathusaṇalvamāḥ — Pā. 3-4-82); doubling by liṭi dhātor anabhyāsasya — Pā. 6-1-8; iṇo yaṇ — Pā. 6-4-81 gives y for the second i, but a doubling-condition sūtra dvirvacane 'ci — Pā. 1-1-59 makes the replaced i count as present for doubling; lengthening of the reduplicate by dīrgha iṇaḥ kiti — दीर्घ इणः किति — Pā. 7-4-69; ī + y + us, ru, visarga: īyuḥ. Rik 4 ends here (|| 4 ||).

Rik 33.5 (pp. 22–24, PDF 36–38)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 22; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. The word yajvabhiḥ*: at 658 dpi its subscript is the same* -va* form as in ayajvānaḥ in the same line, so jva is settled; the old Devanagari had an extra va in vavṛjus, corrected to the print's vavṛjus ta.)*

परा चिच्छीर्षा ववृजुस्त इन्द्रायज्वानो यज्वभिः स्पर्धमानाः । प्र यद्दिवो हरिवः स्थातरुग्र निरव्रताँ अधमो रोदस्योः ॥ ५ ॥

párā cic chīrṣā vavṛjus tá indrāyajvāno yájvabhiḥ spárdhamānāḥ | pra yaddivó harivaḥ sthātarugra níravratāṁ̐ adhamo ródasyoḥ || 5 ||

Pada-pāṭha (pp. 22–23)

परा । चित् । शीर्षा । ववृजुः । ते । इन्द्र । अयज्वानः । यज्वऽभिः । स्पर्धमानाः ॥ प्र । यत् । दिवः । हरिऽवः । स्थातः । उग्र । निः । अव्रतान् । अधमः । रोदस्योः ॥ ५ ॥

parā | cit | śīrṣā | vavṛjuḥ | te | indra | ayajvānaḥ | yajva-bhiḥ | spardhamānāḥ || pra | yat | divaḥ | hari-vaḥ | sthātaḥ | ugra | niḥ | avratān | adhamaḥ | rodasyoḥ || 5 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 23; the first half in full, the grammatical tail characterized)

> हे इन्द्र ते वृत्रानुचराः शीर्षा स्वकीयानि शिरांसि परा चित् पराङ्मुखान्येव कृत्वा ववृजुः । गतवन्तः । कीदृशास्ते । अयज्वानः स्वयं यागरहिताः प्रत्युत यज्वभिर्यागानुष्ठातृभिः सह स्पर्धमानाः । हे हरिवो हरिनामकाश्वयुक्त स्थातः स्थितियुक्त युद्धे पलायनरहित उग्र शौर्ययुक्तेन्द्र यद्यदा दिवोऽन्तरिक्षाद्रोदस्योर्द्यावापृथिव्योः सकाशाच्च वृत्रानुचरान्निःप्राधमो [sic: as printed] निःशेषेण धमनं कृतवानसि । तदानीं त्वदीयमुखवायुना नुन्नाः सन्तो ववृजुरिति पूर्वत्रान्वयः ॥

he indra te vṛtrānucarāḥ śīrṣā svakīyāni śirāṃsi parā cit parāṅmukhāny eva kṛtvā vavṛjuḥ | gatavantaḥ | kīdṛśās te | ayajvānaḥ svayaṃ yāgarahitāḥ pratyuta yajvabhir yāgānuṣṭhātṛbhiḥ saha spardhamānāḥ | he harivo harināmakāśvayukta sthātaḥ sthitiyukta yuddhe palāyanarahita ugra śauryayuktendra yad yadā divo 'ntarikṣād rodasyor dyāvāpṛthivyoḥ sakāśāc ca vṛtrānucarān niḥprādhamo niḥśeṣeṇa dhamanaṃ kṛtavān asi | tadānīṃ tvadīyamukhavāyunā nunnāḥ santo vavṛjur iti pūrvatrānvayaḥ ||

Translation: "O Indra, those followers of Vṛtra, having made their own heads (śīrṣā) turned away (parā cit = facing backwards), fled (vavṛjuḥ = went). What were they like? Ayajvānaḥ — themselves without sacrifice, and, moreover, contending with the yajvans, the performers of sacrifices. O harivaḥ — you who have the horses named Hari; sthātaḥ — steadfast, not fleeing from battle; ugra — Indra endowed with valour: when (yat = yadā) you blew away completely (niḥśeṣeṇa dhamanam) those followers of Vṛtra from the sky, from [the realm] of the rodasī — heaven and earth — then, driven by the breath of your mouth, they fled: thus the connection with the preceding."

Grammar within the bhāṣya (p. 23, characterized): śīrṣā (loss of śe by śeś chandasi bahulam — शेश्छन्दसि बहुलम् — no number printed); vavṛjuḥ (root vṛjī varjane; liṭ after a root not ending in a conjunct is kit — asaṃyogāl liṭ kit — असंयोगाल्लिट् कित् — Pā. 1-2-5, so no guṇa); ayajvānaḥ (root yaj with the suffix ṅvanip — suyajor ṅvanip — सुयजोङ्र्वनिप् — Pā. 3-2-103 — in the past sense; nañ-compound with first-member accent); divaḥ (the ending accented by the rule on ūḍ-forms); harivaḥ (harī asya staḥ iti harivān; matup's m → v in the Veda by chandasīra (no number printed on p. 23); ru in the vocative by sambuddhau matuvasor ru); avratān (nañ-bahuvrīhi, final acute; n → ru after a long vowel before aṭ, with a nasalised ā); adhamaḥ (root dhmā śabdāgnisaṃyogayoḥ, laṅ, sip, śap; dhama in place of dhmā by pāghrādhmāsthā… (no number printed on p. 23)).

Pratipadārtha (p. 23) — "harivaḥ — O one who has the horses named Hari; sthātaḥ — (in battle) steadfast; ugra — fearsome; indra — Indra; yat — when; divaḥ — from the heaven; rodasyoḥ — from the earth and the mid-region (they came); avratān — those who have no Vedic observances (the followers of Vṛtra); niḥ pra adhamaḥ — you blew away utterly (with the breath of your mouth) [as I read the print]; ayajvānaḥ — those who are not performers of sacrifices; yajvabhiḥ spardhamānāḥ — contending with the sacrificers; te — they; śīrṣā — their heads; parā cit — turning back; vavṛjuḥ — fled."

Bhāvārtha (p. 24) — "O Indra, the two horses called Hari are your excellent vehicles. In battle you fight steadily, never turning your back on the enemy. You are fearsome to your enemies.

When those followers of Vṛtra, who observe no Vedic vows and have fallen from sacrifice, come, contending with the performers of sacrifices, to do harm from the heavenly world, from the earth and from the mid-region, then you blow them away utterly with the breath of your mouth. They fled without showing their faces, turned back."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 24) — "O Indra, the neglecters of sacrifices striving hard with the sacrificers fled with their faces turned back ; O mighty Indra, lord of horses, when you blew the unreligious they disappeared from the heaven, earth and sky."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 24 — parācit śīrṣā = parāṅmukhā: "turning (bending) their heads, and looking backwards, they fled — such is the sense." — āyajvānaḥ yajvabhiḥ spardhamānāḥ — "those who do not sacrifice (that is, the dasyus, rākṣasas, and the like), contending with those who sacrifice (those who please the gods, Indra and the others, by invoking them at the sacrifice)." — adhamaḥ = dhmā śabdāgnisaṃyogayoḥ: "the root dhmā means blowing for kindling a fire, or blowing forcibly so that a sound results (as with a conch and the like). Therefore adhamaḥ means: you drove them off, making them flee, by roaring and other sounds, with the breath of your mouth." — harivaḥ = harī asya staḥ iti harivān: "Indra, who has two horses named Hari." — avratān = "those who have not performed vows such as the performance of sacrifice — the dasyus and the like." — rodasyoḥ = dyāvāpṛthivyoḥ "from the earth and the mid-region" (the entry continues on p. 25).

Rik 33.5 — Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 25–26, PDF 39–40; grammar pages, noted briefly)

Kannada prose with sūtras quoted; the numerals are small; those given were re-read on the better scan (zoomed) and "no number printed" means the page gives the sūtra name without a number.

- śīrṣā: śirasa + śas; śas → śī by jaśśasoḥ śiḥ — जश्शसोः शिः — Pā. 7-1-20, which is sarvanāmasthāna by śi sarvanāmasthānam — शि सर्वनामस्थानम् — Pā. 6-1-42 as printed [sic; the usual number is 1-1-42; the first digit is the hooked 6, as in 6-1-60 below]; śiras → śīrṣan in the Veda by śīrṣañ chandasi — शीर्षञ्छन्दसि — Pā. 6-1-60; loss of śi by śeś chandasi bahulam — Pā. 6-1-70; lengthening by sarvanāmasthāne cāsambuddhau — Pā. 6-4-8; loss of the final n by nalopaḥ prātipadikāntasya — नलोपः प्रातिपदिकान्तस्य — Pā. 8-2-7.
- vavṛjuḥ: root vṛjī varjane, liṭ, jhi → us, doubling; the reduplicate's ṛ becomes ar by ur at — उरत् — Pā. 7-4-55 as printed [sic? the last two digits are two lobed ∞-shapes, not hooked 6s; the usual number is 7-4-66; the first digit, flat-footed with a small round head, is read 7], with halādiḥ śeṣaḥ trimming the reduplicate; guṇa of the root would be expected by sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ — Pā. 7-3-84, but it is barred by kṅiti ca — Pā. 1-1-5, the ending us being treated as kit because of asaṃyogāl liṭ kit — असंयोगाल्लिट् कित् — Pā. 1-2-5 (the root does not end in a conjunct).
- ayajvānaḥ: root yaja devapūjāsaṅgatikaraṇadāneṣu; suffix ṅvanip in the past sense by suyajor ṅvanip — सुयजोर्ङ्वनिप् — Pā. 3-2-103; yaj + van = yajvan, the suffix pit and so unaccented; na yajvā as a nañ-compound; the first member, an indeclinable, keeps its accent (tatpuruṣe … avyayadvitīyākṛtyāḥ — Pā. 6-2-2), so the same accent remains after the compound is formed (particles being first-syllable-acute by the Phiṭ-sūtra nipātā ādyudāttāḥ, printed Phi. Sū. 80).

- divaḥ: ablative singular, which by its sup-ending should be unaccented, but ūḍidaṃ padādyappumraidyubhyaḥ — ऊडिदं पदाद्यप्पुम्रैद्युभ्यः — Pā. 6-1-171 makes the ending acute.
- harivaḥ: harī asya staḥ; the suffix matup by tadasyāsminn iti matup — तदस्यास्मिन्निति मतुप् — Pā. 5-2-94; m → v in the Veda by chandasīraḥ — छन्दसीरः — Pā. 8-2-18 as printed [sic; the usual number is 8-2-15; the last digit is the ৩-shape = 8]; the augment num by ugidacāṃ… — उगिदचां… — (no number printed on p. 26); su dropped, the final conjunct-letter dropped; ru of the vocative by matuvasor ru sambuddhau chandasi — मतुवसोरु सम्बुद्धौ छन्दसि — Pā. 8-3-1; visarga.
- avratān: na vidyate vrataṃ yeṣāṃ te; final-acute of the second member after nañ by nañsubhyām — नञ्सुभ्याम् — Pā. 6-2-172; n → ru after the long ā before a vowel in the Saṃhitā (dīrghād aṭi samānapāde — no number printed on p. 26) with a nasalised ā by ato 'ṭi nityam — अतोऽटि नित्यम् — Pā. 8-3-3 (zoom-checked).
- adhamaḥ: root dhmā śabdāgnisaṃyogayoḥ, laṅ, sip, śap; dhama for dhmā by pāghrādhmāsthāmnādāṇdṛśyartisartiśadasadāṃ pibajighradhamatiṣṭhamanayacchapaśyarcchadhauśīyasīdāḥ — Pā. 7-3-78 (zoom-checked); ru, visarga. Rik 5 ends here (|| 5 ||).

Rik 33.6 (pp. 26–30, PDF 40–44)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 26; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented)

> अयुयुत्सन्ननवद्यस्य सेनामयातयन्त क्षितयो नवग्वाः । वृषायुधो न वध्रयो निरष्टाः प्रवद्भिरिन्द्राच्चितयन्त आयन् ॥ ६ ॥
>
> áyuyutsann anavadyásya sénām áyātayanta kṣitáyo návagvāḥ | vṛṣāyúdho ná vádhrayo níraṣṭāḥ pravádbhir índrāc citáyanta āyan || 6 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 27)

> अयुयुत्सन् । अनवद्यस्य । सेनाम् । अयातयन्त । क्षितयः । नवऽग्वाः । वृषऽयुधः । न । वध्रयः । निःऽअष्टाः । प्रवत्ऽभिः । इन्द्रात् । चितयन्तः । आयन् ॥ ६ ॥

ayuyutsan | anavadyasya | senām | ayātayanta | kṣitayaḥ | nava-gvāḥ | vṛṣa-yudhaḥ | na | vadhrayaḥ | niḥ-aṣṭāḥ | pravat-bhiḥ | indrāt | citayantaḥ | āyan || 6 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 27; the first half in full, the grammatical tail characterized)

> अनवद्यस्य गर्हणीयदोषरहितस्येन्द्रस्य सेनां प्रत्ययुयुत्सन् [sic: as printed; the Pada has ayuyutsan] । वृत्रस्यानुचरा योद्धुमिच्छन् । तदानीं नवग्वा नवनीयगतयः स्तोतव्यचरित्राः । यद्वा । अङ्गिरसां सत्रमासीनानां मध्ये ये नवभिर्मासैरवाप्तफला उत्थितास्तेषां नवग्वा इति संज्ञा । नवग्वासः सुतसोमास इन्द्रम् [print: इद्रं, sic] ऋग्वेदे ५-२९-१२ इत्यादिषु तथाभिहितत्वात् । क्षितयो मनुष्या अङ्गिरःप्रभृतयः । क्षितयः कृष्टय इति तन्नामसु पाठात् । अयातयन्त । युद्धार्थमिन्द्रं नानाविधैर्मन्त्रैः प्रोत्साहितवन्तः । इन्द्रे योद्धुं गते सति निरष्टास्तेनेन्द्रेण निराकृता वृत्रानुचराश्चितयन्तः स्वकीयामशक्तिं ज्ञापयन्त इन्द्रादिन्द्रस्य सकाशात्प्रवद्भिः पालयितुं सुशक्यैर्मार्गैरायन् । दूरे गतवन्तः । तत्र दृष्टान्तः ।

वृषायुधो वृषेण सेचनसमर्थेन पुंस्त्वयुक्तेन शूरेण सह युद्धं कुर्वन्तो वध्रयो न नपुंसका इव । निसर्गपण्डो वध्रिः इत्यादिस्मृतिषु प्रयोगात् । ते यथा प्रबलेन दूरे निराकृता भवन्ति तद्वत् ॥

anavadyasya garhaṇīyadoṣarahitasyendrasya senāṃ pratyayuyutsan [sic] | vṛtrasyānucarā yoddhum icchan | tadānīṃ navagvā navanīyagatayaḥ stotavyacaritrāḥ | yadvā | aṅgirasāṃ satram āsīnānāṃ madhye ye navabhir māsair avāptaphalā utthitās teṣāṃ navagvā iti saṃjñā | navagvāsaḥ sutasomāsa indram [print: idraṃ, sic] ṛgvede 5-29-12 ity ādiṣu tathābhihitatvāt | kṣitayo manuṣyā aṅgiraḥprabhṛtayaḥ | kṣitayaḥ kṛṣṭaya iti tannāmasu pāṭhāt | ayātayanta | yuddhārtham indraṃ nānāvidhair mantraiḥ protsāhitavantaḥ | indre yoddhuṃ gate sati niraṣṭās tenendreṇa nirākṛtā vṛtrānucarāś citayantaḥ svakīyām aśaktiṃ jñāpayanta indrād indrasya sakāśāt pravadbhiḥ pālayituṃ sukaśyair [read: sukaraiḥ?] mārgair āyan | dūre gatavantaḥ | tatra dṛṣṭāntaḥ | vṛṣāyudho vṛṣeṇa secanasamarthena puṃstvayuktena śūreṇa saha yuddhaṃ kurvanto vadhrayo na napuṃsakā iva | nisargapaṇḍo vadhriḥ ity ādismṛtiṣu prayogāt | te yathā prabalena dūre nirākṛtā bhavanti tadvat ||

Translation: "Anavadyasya — of Indra, who is free of any blameworthy fault — the followers of Vṛtra wished to fight against his army. Then the navagvāḥ — those of praiseworthy conduct, of 'new' ways [?] — [encouraged him]. Or: of the Aṅgirases sitting at a long sacrifice (satra), those who rose up having gained the fruit in nine months have the name navagvāḥ; for it is so stated in passages such as 'navagvāsaḥ sutasomāsa indram' (Ṛgveda 5-29-12 as printed, zoom-checked). Kṣitayaḥ — human beings, the Aṅgirases and others, since kṣitayaḥ is read among the names of man (kṛṣṭayaḥ). Ayātayanta — they encouraged Indra with various mantras for the sake of the fight. When Indra went to fight, they were niraṣṭāḥ — driven off by that Indra — the followers of Vṛtra, who, citayantaḥ — making known their own weakness — went away from Indra by pravadbhiḥ, easily-managed paths [?] for saving themselves; they went far off. The illustration: like vadhrayaḥ — eunuchs — fighting with a vṛṣāyudha, a hero of virility, able to shower (vṛṣā + āyudha); eunuchs are, as in the smṛti passages ('the vadhri is a eunuch by nature'), thrown far off by a strong man; so were they."

Grammar within the bhāṣya (pp. 27–28, characterized; the print is crowded and I did not chase the small numerals): the bhāṣya's tail parses, word by word, ayuyutsan (root yudha saṃprahāre, the desiderative san, with a sūtra on kit-ness so that there is no guṇa, and a ban on the iṭ augment for a one-vowel root), senām (inena saha vartate, sa for saha, accent of the first member), ayātayanta (root yatī prayatne, causative), kṣitayaḥ (root kṣi nivāsagatyoḥ, "those who go", i.e. men), navagvāḥ (navabhir māsair gacchantīti navagvāḥ, with a suffix after the root gam — a ḍa/kvip alternative is argued — and loss of the nasal, lengthening to ū; the exact sūtra numbers on p. 27 and p. 28 were not read), vṛṣāyudhaḥ (a denominative in kyaṣ/kvip, with a dispute whether the prefix word may be compounded), niraṣṭāḥ (root aśū vyāptau in the sense of the state, the niṣṭhā ending, no iṭ by yasya vibhāṣā; the ṣ of vraścādi-type; first-member accent of the bahuvrīhi; the form with ṣ for s is Vedic), pravadbhiḥ (root vana paṇa sambhaktau, the suffix kvip, the augment tuk [?] — the small numbers printed on pp. 27–28 here (about 1-2-10, 2-2-10 or 7-2-10, 6-4-40 with a vārtika number, Kā. 3-2-… and one of the form 6-4-…) were zoomed once but not all settled; they are repeated with fuller print on pp. 31–33 below) and citayantaḥ (root citī saṃjñāne, śatṛ, śap; the absence of guṇa of the penultimate is explained by "the rule on augments is not universal", anityam āgamaśāsanam).

Pratipadārtha (p. 28) — "anavadyasya — (when Vṛtra's followers) of the irreproachable Indra; senām — the army; ayuyutsan — wished to fight [the print's words "ಪ್ರತಿಭಟಿಸಲಿಚ್ಛಿಸಿ... " are partly obscured: "wished to confront"]; navagvāḥ — those of praiseworthy conduct (or: those who obtained the fruit of the whole sacrifice in nine months); kṣitayaḥ — (the Aṅgirases and others) human beings; ayātayanta — encouraged Indra with various mantras; (te — those rākṣasas who came to fight Indra); niraṣṭāḥ — made powerless (by Indra); citayantaḥ — showing their own powerlessness; vṛṣāyudhaḥ — fighting with a strong, mighty one; vadhrayaḥ na — like eunuchs; pravadbhiḥ — by precipitous paths (suited to flight); indrāt — from Indra; āyan — went away (fled)."

Bhāvārtha (p. 28) — "Indra is faultless. The wicked followers of Vṛtra wished to fight his army. The Aṅgirases and other praiseworthy leaders of men encouraged Indra with many kinds of mantras. Then, when Indra went out to battle, those rākṣasas became powerless. Showing their weakness, like eunuchs against a strong man, they were unable to fight Indra, and fled in various directions along whatever paths they found."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 29) — "They (followers of Vritra) desired to fight with the army of irreproachable Indra. Men (Angirasas) engaged in offering libations to Indra for nine months encouraged Indra to give them fight; like eunuchs fighting with a hero they fled by precipitous paths exposing their backs away from Indra."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 29–30 - anavadyasya = garhaṇīyadoṣarahitasya: "one without any bad faults." - kṣitayaḥ = kṣi nivāsagatyoḥ; kṣiyanti gacchantīti kṣitayo manuṣyāḥ: "since the root kṣi has the senses of 'dwelling' and 'going', kṣitayaḥ means men who are going about, able to move. Since the word kṣitayaḥ is read among the twenty-five names of man beginning with narāḥ (Ni. 3-2 as printed, zoom-checked), kṣitayaḥ means men." - navagvāḥ = navabhir māsair gacchantīti navagvāḥ | aṅgirasāṃ satram āsīnānāṃ madhye ye navabhir māsair avāptaphalā utthitās teṣāṃ navagvā iti saṃjñā: "Some in the family of the ṛṣi Aṅgiras gained their wish in nine months, through performing a sacrifice (satra) that lasts a year. These are called navagvāḥ; there is a convention that this name is given to the best of the Aṅgirasa ṛṣi-family, who obtained their wish in nine months. In some passages those who obtained the fruit in ten months are called daśagvāḥ. On this, Western scholars, explaining the word, [say], in the print's own English: 'the term Navagva is applied to a man, generally an Angiras in the highest degree (Angirastama—ಅಂಗಿರಸ್ತಮ) who appear as a mystic race of olden times coupled with, and conceived probably as related to the Angirases. they are often associated with the Dasagvas (ದಶಗ್ವ)' [as printed; the English is not attributed]. The usage of this word occurs in many ṛks of the Ṛgveda. We give some examples:"

> १. येना नवग्वो दध्यङ्ङपोर्णुते येन विप्रास आपिरे ॥ (ऋ. सं. ९-१०-८४) २. नवग्वो नु दशग्वो अङ्गिरस्तमः सचा देवेषु मंहते ॥ (ऋ. सं. १०-६२-६) ३. सरण्युभिः फलिगमिन्द्र शक्र बलं रवेण दरयो दशग्वैः ॥ (ऋ. सं. १-६२-४) ४. सखा ह यत्र सखिभिर्नवग्वैरभिज्ञ्वा सत्वभिर्गा अनुग्मन् ॥ (ऋ. सं. ३-३९-५) ५. अङ्गिरसो नः पितरो नवग्वा अथर्वाणो भृगवः सोम्यासः ॥ (ऋ. सं. १०-१४-६) ६. येना नवग्वे अङ्गिरे दशग्वे सप्तास्ये रेवती रेवदूष ॥ (ऋ. सं. ४-५१-४)

1. yenā navagvo dadhyaṅṅ apornute yena viprāsa āpire || (ṛ. saṃ. 9-10-84) 2. navagvo nu daśagvo aṅgirastamaḥ sacā deveṣu maṃhate || (ṛ. saṃ. 10-62-6) 3. saraṇyubhiḥ phaligam indra śakra balaṃ raveṇa darayo daśagvaiḥ || (ṛ. saṃ. 1-62-4) 4. sakhā ha yatra sakhibhir

navagvair abhijñvā satvabhir gā anugman || (ṛ. saṃ. 3-39-5) 5. aṅgiraso naḥ pitaro navagvā atharvāṇo bhṛgavaḥ somyāsaḥ || (ṛ. saṃ. 10-14-6) 6. yenā navagve aṅgire daśagve saptāsye revatī revad ūṣa || (ṛ. saṃ. 4-51-4)

(The source leaves these six half-verses untranslated. My glosses, mine and tentative*: 1. "[the aid] by which Navagva Dadhyañc opens [?], by which the inspired ones obtained [?]." 2. "The Navagva and the Daśagva, most Aṅgirasa-like, rejoice together among the gods." 3. "O mighty Indra, with the swift ones [?] you split the phaliga [?], with a roar, [your] strength, with the Daśagvas." 4. "Where the friend [Indra], with his friends the Navagvas, [following] the cows with the brave [?] went after them." 5. "Our fathers the Aṅgirases, the Navagvas, the Atharvans, the Bhṛgus, worthy of soma." 6. "[That aid] by which, O wealthy [dawn], you shone richly on Navagva, Aṅgiras, Daśagva, Saptāsya." The reference numbers were read from small Kannada numerals and are all uncertain.)* The source adds that the same word navagva is used in many Ṛgveda ṛks and in Atharva-veda passages, "Ath. Saṃ. 19-1-56; 18-3-20" (as printed, zoom-checked; the earlier reading "18-1-36; 19-2-30" is replaced), and that "in the second of these examples [no. 2 above], the one called navagva and daśagva, the most distinguished among the Aṅgirasa ṛṣi-family, is honoured even by the gods — which is worth noting."

- vṛṣāyudhaḥ = vṛṣeṇa secanasamarthena puṃstvayuktena śūreṇa: "with a hero who is capable of showering [virility], i.e. a man of manly strength."
- vadhrayaḥ = napuṃsakāḥ: "eunuchs, the weak, men without strength; cowards."
- pravadbhiḥ = pravaṇaiḥ sukarair mārgaiḥ: "by favourable [easy] paths."
- citayantaḥ = citī saṃjñāne; svakīyām aśaktiṃ jñāpayantaḥ: "showing their own powerlessness."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (p. 30, grammar page — noted briefly): ayuyutsan — root yudha saṃprahāre; the form is explained as yoddhum icchan, "wishing to fight"; the wishers are the followers of Vṛtra, who are the agents of both iṣ and yudh; the san suffix in the sense of "wishing" comes after a root whose agent is the same as that of the wishing (dhātoḥ karmaṇaḥ samānakartṛkād icchāyāṃ vā — धातोः कर्मणः समानकर्तृकादिच्छायां वा — Pā. 3-1-7, as printed); then yudh + sa, with sanyaṅoḥ — सन्यङोः — Pā. 6-1-9 [?] for the doubling; the page breaks off in the discussion of the doubling.

Rik 33.6 — Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā, continued (pp. 31–33, PDF 45–47; grammar pages, noted briefly)

Kannada prose with sūtras quoted; numerals re-read on the better scan (zoomed on pp. 31–33).

- ayuyutsan (p. 31, continued): doubling of the root (sanyaṅoḥ — Pā. 6-1-9, zoom-checked), halādiḥ śeṣaḥ trimming the reduplicate; the san ending after a consonant-final root is kit (halantāc ca — हलन्ताच्च — Pā. 1-2-10), so no guṇa of the penultimate (also kṅiti ca — Pā. 1-1-5); no iṭ augment, as the root is one-vowelled and anudātta (ekāca upadeśe 'nudāttāt — एकाच उपदेशेऽनुदात्तात् — Pā. 7-2-1 as printed [sic: the print ends in a single ∩ = 1; the usual number is 7-2-10]); the Saṃgraha-kārikā verse "bandhir yudhi rudhī …" lists yudh as anudātta. The root is of the 4th class, ātmanepada, and by pūrvavat sanaḥ — पूर्ववत्सनः — Pā. 1-3-62 (zoom-checked) san would also take ātmanepada so that śānac is expected; but by Vedic vyatyaya parasmaipada comes, then laṭaḥ śatṛśānacau — लटः शतृशानचौ — Pā. 3-2-124, whence ayuyutsan.

- senām: inena saha vartate iti senā; tena saheti tulyayoge — तेन सहेति तुल्ययोगे — Pā. 2-2-28 (saha compounded with an instrumental in the sense of simultaneity, a bahuvrīhi); sa for saha by vopasarjanasya — वोपसर्जनस्य — Pā. 6-3-82; first-member accent by bahuvrīhau prakṛtyā pūrvapadam — Pā. 6-2-1.
- ayātayanta: root yatī prayatne; the causative ṇic by hetumati ca — हेतुमति च — Pā. 3-1-26; hetu defined by tatprayojako hetuś ca — Pā. 1-4-55; laṅ, aṭ, upadhā-vṛddhi, ātmanepada, śap, guṇa, jhaḥ → ant, ayādeśa: ayātayanta.
- kṣitayaḥ (p. 31 end – p. 32): root kṣi nivāsagatyoḥ; the suffix ktic (ktic ktau ca saṃjñāyām — क्तिच्क्तौ च संज्ञायाम् — Pā. 3-3-174), kṣiyanti gacchanti = "those who go, or know", men.
- navagvāḥ (p. 32): navabhir māsaiḥ gacchantīti navagvāḥ — "ṛṣis who obtained their fruit in nine months"; root gam with the Uṇādi suffix ḍva (the ḍ-marker explains the loss of am): gv; or an alternative: kvip after gam, loss of the nasal (gamaḥ kvau — गमः क्वौ — Pā. 6-4-40, zoom-checked), ūṭ for the verb-root (a vārtika: ūj ca gamādīnām, printed Pā. 6-4-40-2; the sūtra after it, on the replacement of the final letter, is cited by a short name I could not read, with the number printed 1-1-53), lengthening to ū before jas; oḥ supi — ओः सुपि — Pā. 16-4-83 as printed [sic: the first two digits are ∩ and the hooked 6; the usual number is 6-4-83] gives yaṇ (ū → v): navagvaḥ; the Vedic lengthening gives navagvāḥ.
- vṛṣāyudhaḥ: vṛṣeṇa saha yuddhyati; kvip ca — क्विप् च — Pā. 3-2-29 as printed [sic? the usual number is 3-2-76; the last glyph pair is a curled 2 and a 9-shape] (kvip after all roots, even without an upapada, in the Veda and in the world, as the Kāśikā shows on sopapadebhyo nirupapadebhyaḥ); Vedic lengthening of the first member by anyeṣām api dṛśyate — अन्येषामपि दृश्यते — Pā. 6-3-137.
- niraṣṭāḥ: root aśū vyāptau, ūdit, so iṭ is optional (svaratisūtisūyatidhūñūdito vā — Pā. 7-2-44); the niṣṭhā suffix in the state-sense (niṣṭhā, Pā. 3-2-102); no iṭ by yasya vibhāṣā — यस्य विभाषा — Pā. 7-2-15; ś → ṣ by vraścabhrasja… — Pā. 8-2-36, ṣṭutva giving aṣṭa; the bahuvrīhi with first-member accent; an alternative derivation with asta from the root as, niḥ + asta; the preverb keeps its accent by gatir anantaraḥ — गतिरनन्तरः — Pā. 6-2-49 (zoom-checked).
- pravadbhiḥ (p. 33): root vana paṇa sambhaktau after pra; kvip; the nasal lost by gamaḥ kvau — Pā. 6-4-40 (with the vārtika "gamādīnām iti vaktavyam"); n lost; the augment tuk by hrasvasya piti kṛti tuk — ह्रस्वस्य पिति कृति तुक् — Pā. 6-1-71: pravat; bhis; first-member accent by gatikārakopapadāt kṛt.
- citayantaḥ: root citī saṃjñāne; causative ṇic by hetumati ca — Pā. 3-1-26; guṇa of the penultimate would be expected by pugantalaghūpadhasya ca — पुगन्तलघूपधस्य च — Pā. 7-3-86, but "all rules are optional in the Veda" (sarve vidhayaś chandasi vikalpyante); the augment's non-universality (anityam āgamaśāsanam) is also cited; then laṭ, śatṛ, śap, guṇa → ay; the augment num by ugidacāṃ sarvanāmasthāne 'dhātoḥ — उगिदचां सर्वनामस्थानेऽधातोः — Pā. 7-1-80 as printed [sic? zoom-checked: the tens digit is the 8-shape, as in 7-3-86 two lines above; the usual number is 7-1-70]; ru and visarga. Rik 6 ends here (|| 6 ||).

Rik 33.7 (pp. 33–36, PDF 47–50)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 33; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented)

त्वमे॒ताञ्रु॒दतो जक्ष॒तश्चायो॑धयो॒ रज॑स इन्द्र पा॒रे । अव॑दहो दि॒व आ दस्यु॑मु॒च्चा प्र सु॑न्व॒तः स्तु॑व॒तः शंस॑मावः ॥ ७ ॥

tvam etān rudató jákṣataś cāyodhayo rájasa indra pāré | ávādaho divá ā dásyum uccā́ prá sunvatáḥ stuvatáḥ śáṃsam āvaḥ || 7 ||

Page 34

Pada-pāṭha (p. 34)

त्वम् । एतान् । रुदतः । जक्षतः । च । अयोधयः । रजसः । इन्द्र । पारे । अव । अदहः । दिवः । आ । दस्युम् । उच्चा । प्र । सुन्वतः । स्तुवतः । शंसम् । आवः ॥ ७ ॥

tvam | etān | rudataḥ | jakṣataḥ | ca | ayodhayaḥ | rajasaḥ | indra | pāre | ava | adahaḥ | divaḥ | ā | dasyum | uccā | pra | sunvataḥ | stuvataḥ | śaṃsam | āvaḥ || 7 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 34, in full; numerals zoom-checked)

हे इन्द्र त्वं रुदतो रोदनं कुर्वतो जक्षतो भक्षणं हसनं वा कुर्वतश्चैतान्द्विविधानपि वृत्रानुचरान्रजसः पारेऽन्तरिक्षस्य परभागे । रजःशब्दोऽन्तरिक्षवाची लोका रजांस्युच्यन्ते । नि. ४-१९ । इत्युक्तत्वात् । अयोधयः युद्धमकरोः । युद्धेन मारितवानित्यर्थः । दस्युमुपक्षयितारं वृत्रं दिव आ द्युलोकादानीयोच्चोत्कर्षेणावादहः । दग्धवानसि । वृत्रं सपरिवारं विनाश्य तत ऊर्ध्वं सुन्वतः सोमाभिषवं कुर्वतः स्तुवतः स्तोत्रं कुर्वतो यजमानस्य शंसं स्तुतिं प्रावः । प्रकर्षेण रक्षितवानसि ॥ रुदतः । रुदिर् अश्रुविमोचने । लटः शतृ । अदादित्वाच्छपो लुक् । प्रत्ययस्वरेणान्तोदात्तत्वम् । शतुरनुम इति शस उदात्तत्वम् । जक्षतः । जक्ष भक्षहसनयोः । पूर्ववच्छपो लुक् । जक्षित्यादयः षट् पा. ६-१-६ । इत्यभ्यस्तसंज्ञा । अतोऽभ्यस्तानामादिरित्याद्युदात्तत्वम् । सुन्वतः । षुनोतेः शतरि स्वादिभ्यः श्नुः । हुश्नुवोरित्यादिना यणादेशः । शतुरनुम इति विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वम् । स्तुवतः । ष्टुञ् स्तुतौ । अदादित्वाच्छपो लुक् । उवङादेशः । पूर्ववत्स्वरः ॥ ॥ ७ ॥

he indra tvaṃ rudato rodanaṃ kurvato jakṣato bhakṣaṇaṃ hasanaṃ vā kurvataścaitāndvividhānapi vṛtrānucarānrajasaḥ pāre 'ntarikṣasya parabhāge | rajaḥśabdo 'ntarikṣavācī lokā rajāṃsyucyante | ni. 4-19 | ityuktatvāt | ayodhayaḥ yuddhamakaroḥ | yuddhena māritavānityarthaḥ | dasyumupakṣayitāraṃ vṛtraṃ diva ā dyulokādānīyoccotkarṣeṇāvādahaḥ | dagdhavānasi | vṛtraṃ saparivāraṃ vināśya tata ūrdhvaṃ sunvataḥ somābhiṣavaṃ kurvataḥ stuvataḥ stotraṃ kurvato yajamānasya śaṃsaṃ stutiṃ prāvaḥ | prakarṣeṇa rakṣitavānasi ‖ rudataḥ | rudir aśruvimocane | laṭaḥ śatṛ | adāditvācchapo luk | pratyayasvareṇāntodāttatvam | śaturanuma iti śasa udāttatvam | jakṣataḥ | jakṣa bhakṣahasanayoḥ | pūrvavacchapo luk | jakṣityādayaḥ ṣaṭ pā. 6-1-6 | ityabhyastasaṃjñā | ato 'bhyastānāmādirityādyudāttatvam | sunvataḥ | ṣunoteḥ śatari svādibhyaḥ śnuḥ | huśnuvorityādinā yaṇādeśaḥ | śaturanuma iti vibhakterudāttatvam | stuvataḥ | ṣṭuñ stutau | adāditvācchapo luk | uvaṅādeśaḥ | pūrvavatsvaraḥ ‖ ‖ 7 ‖

Translation: "O Indra, you [fought] these followers of Vṛtra, of both kinds — those who weep and those who eat or laugh (jakṣataḥ = eating, or laughing) — at the far side (pāre) of the rajas, the mid-region. The word rajas means the mid-region, since it is said 'the worlds are called rajāṃsi' (Ni. 4-19, zoom-checked). Ayodhayaḥ — you fought; the sense is that you killed them in battle. The dasyu, the destroyer Vṛtra, having brought down from the heavenly world, uccā — loftily, with distinction — avādahaḥ — you burnt up. Having destroyed Vṛtra with his retinue, after that (tata, as printed) you prāvaḥ — protected excellently — the praise (śaṃsa, stuti) of the sacrificer who presses the soma (sunvataḥ) and recites hymns (stuvataḥ)." (The grammatical tail: rudataḥ — root rudir, śatṛ, śap elided as an adādi root, final acute by the suffix accent, śas acute by śatur anumaḥ; jakṣataḥ — root jakṣ, abhyasta by "jakṣityādayaḥ ṣaṭ", Pā. 6-1-6, hence initial acute; sunvataḥ — śnu, yaṇ by huśnuvoḥ, ending acute; stuvataḥ — uvaṅ, accent as before.)

Pratipadārtha (pp. 34–35) — "he indra — O Indra; tvam — you; rudataḥ — weeping (those who are weeping); jakṣataś ca — or laughing (those who are laughing); etān — these rākṣasas, followers of Vṛtra; rajasaḥ pāre — at the edge of the mid-region; ayodhayaḥ — you have fought; dasyum — (and) the thief Vṛtra; divaḥ ā — dragging him from the mid-region; uccā — completely; avādahaḥ — you have burned to ashes. (Thereafter) sunvataḥ — of the one pressing the soma-juice; stuvataḥ — of the one reciting praises (the sacrificer); śaṃsam — the praise; pra āvaḥ — you have protected well (made it true to its meaning)."

Bhāvārtha (p. 35) — "O Indra, you are the punisher of the wicked and the protector of the good. Whether the rākṣasas, followers of Vṛtra, were weeping or laughing, you struck them down at the very edge of the mid-region. You destroyed Vṛtra, the thief, and made the praise offered to you by the sacrificer in the sacrifice true to its meaning."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 35) — "O Indra, you have destroyed them whether weeping or laughing off the other end of the sky ; you have burned the demon (or robber) having dragged him from heaven and have received the praises of him who pressed the Soma juice for you and sang your glories."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 35 — jakṣataḥ = jakṣa bhakṣahasanayoḥ | bhakṣaṇaṃ hasanaṃ vā kurvantaḥ: "the root jakṣ means to eat or to laugh; therefore jakṣataḥ means those who are eating or those who are laughing." — rajasaḥ pāre: "rajas here is the mid-region (Ni. 4-19, zoom-checked); therefore rajasaḥ pāre means at the end of the mid-region, in the mid-region, at a great height." — uccā: "greatly, especially."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 35–36, grammar pages — noted briefly; numerals zoom-checked): rudataḥ — root rudir aśruvimocane; laṭ replaced by śatṛ; śap elided by adiprabhṛtibhyaḥ śapaḥ — अदिप्रभृतिभ्यः शपः (adiprabhṛtibhyaḥ śapaḥ) — Pā. 2-4-72; tāsyanudāttenṅid… does not make the lasārvadhātuka śatṛ unaccented, so the suffix accent stays and rudat is final-acute; then the accusative plural śas, acute by śatur anumo nadyajādī — शतुरनुमो नद्यजादी (śatur anumo nadyajādī) — Pā. 6-1-173 (a final-acute stem in śatṛ without the augment num makes a following nadī ending or vowel-initial case-ending acute)

(the explanation continues: "… the śas is acute"). — jakṣataḥ — root jakṣa bhakṣahasanayoḥ, laṭ, śatṛ, śap elided as before; jakṣityādayaḥ ṣaṭ — जक्षित्यादयः षट् (jakṣityādayaḥ ṣaṭ) — Pā. 6-1-6: jakṣ and the six roots beginning with jāgṛ (the bahuvrīhi "ādir yeṣāṃ te" read as tadguṇasaṃvijñāna, so that jakṣ itself is included) are called abhyasta; then abhyastānām ādiḥ — अभ्यस्तानामादिः (abhyastānām ādiḥ) — Pā. 6-1-189 makes the first syllable acute before a vowel-initial lasārvadhātuka without iṭ. — sunvataḥ — root ṣuñ abhiṣave; dhātvādeḥ ṣaḥ saḥ — धात्वादेः षः सः (dhātvādeḥ ṣaḥ saḥ) — Pā. 6-1-64; laṭ–śatṛ; svādibhyaḥ śnuḥ — स्वादिभ्यः श्नुः (svādibhyaḥ śnuḥ) — Pā. 3-1-73; huśnuvoḥ sārvadhātuke — हुश्नुवोः सार्वधातुके (huśnuvoḥ sārvadhātuke) — Pā. 6-4-87 gives yaṇ (u → v); genitive singular ṇas; ending acute by śatur anumaḥ. — stuvataḥ — root ṣṭuñ stutau; ṣ → s, and the ṭ goes by nimittāpāye naimittikasyāpy apāyaḥ; śap elided (adādi); aci śnudhātubhruvāṃ yvor iyaṅuvaṅau — अचि श्नुधातुभ्रुवां य्वोरियङुवङौ (aci śnudhātubhruvāṃ yvor iyaṅuvaṅau) — Pā. 6-4-77 gives uvaṅ: stuvat; ṇas acute as before. Rik 7 ends here (|| 7 ||).

Rik 33.8 (pp. 36–39, PDF 50–53)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (first line at the foot of p. 36, second line on p. 37; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented)

> चक्राणासः॑ परीणह॑ पृथिव्या हिरण्येन म॒णिना॒ शुम्भ॑मानाः । न हिन्वा॒नासस्तितिरु॒स्त इन्द्रं॑ प॒रि स्पशो॑ अदधा॒त्सूर्ये॑ण ॥ ८ ॥
>
> cakrāṇásaḥ parīṇáhaṃ pṛthivyā́ híraṇyena maṇínā śúmbhamānāḥ | ná hinvānásas titirus tá indram pári spáśo adadhāt sū́ryeṇa || 8 ||

Page 37

Pada-pāṭha (p. 37)

> चक्राणासः । परिऽनहम् । पृथिव्याः । हिरण्येन । मणिना । शुम्भमानाः ॥ न । हिन्वानासः । तितिरुः । ते । इन्द्रम् । परि । स्पशः । अदधात् । सूर्येण ॥ ८ ॥

cakrāṇāsaḥ | pari-naham | pṛthivyāḥ | hiraṇyena | maṇinā | śumbhamānāḥ || na | hinvānāsaḥ | titiruḥ | te | indram | pari | spaśaḥ | adadhāt | sūryeṇa || 8 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 37, in full; numerals zoom-checked)

> ये वृत्रानुचराः पृथिव्या भूमेः परीणहमाच्छादनं सर्वतो व्याप्तिं चक्राणासः कुर्वाणा हिरण्येन हिरण्ययुक्तेन मणिना कण्ठबाह्वादिगतेन मण्याद्याभरणेन शुम्भमानाः शोभमाना हिन्वानासो वर्धमानाः सन्तो वर्तन्ते ते तथाविधा वृत्रानुचरा इन्द्रं युद्धायोद्यन्तं न तितिरुः । जेतुं न समर्था आसन् । तदानीं स इन्द्रः स्पशो बाधकान्वृत्रानुचरान् सूर्येणादित्येन पर्यदधात् । परिहितान् व्यवहितानकरोत् । तथा च ब्राह्मणम् । आदित्यो ह्येवोद्यन् पुरस्ताद्रक्षांस्यपहन्तीति ॥ चक्राणासः । करोतेश्छन्दसि लिडिति वर्तमाने लिटः कानच् । ततोऽसुक् । चित इत्यन्तोदात्तत्वम् । परीणहम् । परिणहनं परीणत् । परिपूर्वान्नह्यतेर्भावे क्विपि नहिवृतीत्यादिना । पा. ६-३-११६ । पूर्वपदस्य दीर्घः । पृथिव्याः । उदात्तयण इति विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वम् । हिन्वानासः । हि गतौ वृद्धौ च । ताच्छीलिकश्चानश् । तितिरुः । तिरतिर्गत्यर्थः ॥ ॥ ८ ॥

ye vṛtrānucarāḥ pṛthivyā bhūmeḥ parīṇahamācchādanaṃ sarvato vyāptiṃ cakrāṇāsaḥ kurvāṇā hiraṇyena hiraṇyayuktena maṇinā kaṇṭhabāhvādigatena maṇyādyābharaṇena śumbhamānāḥ śobhamānā hinvānāso vardhamānāḥ santo vartante te tathāvidhā vṛtrānucarā indraṃ yuddhāyodyantaṃ na titiruḥ | jetuṃ na samarthā āsan | tadānīṃ sa indraḥ spaśo bādhakānvṛtrānucarān sūryeṇādityena paryadadhāt | parihitān vyavahitānakarot | tathā ca brāhmaṇam | ādityo hyevodyan purastādrakṣāṃsyapahantīti ‖ cakrāṇāsaḥ | karoteśchandasi liḍiti vartamāne liṭaḥ kānac | tato 'suk | cita ityantodāttatvam | parīṇaham | pariṇahanaṃ parīṇat | paripūrvānnahyaterbhāve kvipi nahivṛtītyādinā | pā. 6-3-116 | pūrvapadasya dīrghaḥ | pṛthivyāḥ | udāttayaṇa iti vibhakterudāttatvam | hinvānāsaḥ | hi gatau vṛddhau ca | tācchīlikaścānaś | titiruḥ | tiratirgatyarthaḥ ‖ ‖ 8 ‖

(Print: "ಆದಿತ್ಯೋ ಹ್ಯೇವೋದ್ಯನ್" = आदित्यो ह्येवोद्यन्, where the earlier text had हैवोद्यन्; "परीणत्" as printed, for the kvip* form parīṇah.)*

Translation: "Those followers of Vṛtra who cakrāṇāsaḥ — making — a parīṇaha of the earth, a covering, an all-round pervasion; hiraṇyena maṇinā — shining with golden jewel-ornaments worn on the neck, arms and so on; hinvānāsaḥ — growing — na titiruḥ — were unable to overcome Indra as he rose for battle: they were not strong enough to conquer. Then that Indra pari adadhāt — put round, i.e. cut off, hid away — the spaśaḥ, the harassers, the followers of Vṛtra, by means of Sūrya, the Sun. So says a Brāhmaṇa: 'The sun indeed, rising in the east, drives away the rākṣasas.'" (The grammatical tail: cakrāṇāsaḥ — root kṛ, Vedic liṭ in the present, kānac, then asuk, final acute because kānac is cit; parīṇaham — pari + nah + kvip in the state-sense, lengthening of the first member by nahivṛti…, Pā. 6-3-116; pṛthivyāḥ — the ending acute by udāttayaṇaḥ…; hinvānāsaḥ — root hi, the habitual cānaś; titiruḥ — the root tṛ in the sense of going.)

Pratipadārtha (pp. 37–38) — "(ye — those followers of Vṛtra who) pṛthivyāḥ — for the earth; parīṇaham — a covering all round; cakrāṇāsaḥ — making; hiraṇyena — with ornaments of gold; maṇinā — with gem-set ornaments; śumbhamānāḥ — shining; hinvānāsaḥ — though they were growing; te — those rākṣasas; indram — Indra; na titiruḥ — could not conquer; spaśaḥ — those harassing rākṣasas; sūryeṇa — by means of the sun; pari adadhāt — (Indra) scattered and destroyed."

Bhāvārtha (p. 38) — "The rākṣasas, the followers of the asura Vṛtra, covered all the earth. They shone with ornaments set with gold and gems, and they were increasing. Yet they could not conquer Indra. With the help of the Sun Indra scattered such oppressing rākṣasas."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 38) — "Decorated with gold and jewels they (demons) were spreading over (round) the earth ; but though they were mighty they could not vanquish Indra ; he (Indra) dispersed them (with the light of the Sun) at Sunrise" (no full stop in the print).

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 38 — parīṇaham = ācchādanaṃ sarvato vyāptim: "pervasion, covering. In the Taittirīya Saṃhitā of the Yajurveda (Tai. Saṃ. 6-2-1-1, zoom-checked), in the sentence पारीण्यह्यस्यैशे पत्नि[य्यै?]वानुमतं निर्वपति (pārīṇyahyasyaiśe patni[yyai?]vānumataṃ nirvapati) [as printed, letter by letter; the print's conjuncts are crowded], the word pārīṇahya is used in the sense 'vessels used for household work'."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 38–39, grammar pages — noted briefly; numerals zoom-checked): cakrāṇāsaḥ — root (ḍu)kṛñ karaṇe; liṭ in the present sense by chandasi luṅlaṅliṭaḥ — छन्दसि लुङ्लङ्लिटः (chandasi luṅlaṅliṭaḥ) — Pā. 3-4-6; kānac for liṭ by liṭaḥ kānaj vā — लिटः कानज्वा (liṭaḥ kānaj vā) — Pā. 3-2-106; doubling by liṭi dhātor anabhyāsasya — लिटि धातोरनभ्यासस्य (liṭi dhātor anabhyāsasya) — Pā. 6-1-8; a (with r) for the reduplicate's vowel by ur at — उरत् (ur at) — Pā. 7-4-55 as printed [sic: both digits are the 5-glyph, as in 7-1-50 below; the usual number is 7-4-66]; halādiḥ śeṣaḥ, ścutva, yaṇ: cakrāna, n → ṇ; jas takes asuk by ājjaser asuk — आज्जसेरसुक् (ājjaser asuk) — Pā. 7-1-50; ru and visarga; kānac is cit, so by citaḥ — चितः (citaḥ) — Pā. 6-1-163 the word is final-acute.

Page 39

parīṇaham — pari + root ṇaha bandhane + kvip; nahivṛtivṛṣivyadhirucisahitaniṣu kvau — नहिवृतिवृषिव्यधिरुचिसहितनिषु क्वौ (nahivṛtivṛṣivyadhirucisahitaniṣu kvau) — Pā. 6-3-116 lengthens the first member before these roots ending in kvip; aṭkupvāṅ… — Pā. 8-4-2 gives ṇ; accusative singular am. — pṛthivyāḥ — pratheḥ ṣivan saṃprasāraṇaṃ ca — प्रथेः षिवन् संप्रसारणं च (pratheḥ ṣivan saṃprasāraṇaṃ ca) — Uṇ. Sū. 5-2-148 (as printed): root pratha prakhyāne + ṣivan with saṃprasāraṇa of the r: pṛthiva; being ṣit, ṣidgaurādibhyaś ca — षिद्गौरादिभ्यश्च (ṣidgaurādibhyaś ca) — Pā. 4-1-41 gives ṅīṣ; yasyeti ca (Pā. Sū., no number printed) drops the a; the ī of ṅīṣ is acute by the suffix accent; ṅas; āṇ nadyāḥ — आण्नद्याः (āṇ nadyāḥ) — Pā. 7-3-112 gives the augment āṭ; āṭaś ca (Pā. Sū., no number printed) gives vṛddhi; yaṇ comes in place of the acute ī; udāttayaṇo halpūrvāt — उदात्तयणो हल्पूर्वात् (udāttayaṇo halpūrvāt) — Pā. 6-1-174 makes the ending acute. — hinvānāsaḥ — root hi gatau vṛddhau ca; tācchīlyavayovacanaśaktiṣu cānaś — ताच्छील्यवयोवचनशक्तिषु चानश् (tācchīlyavayovacanaśaktiṣu cānaś) — Pā. 3-2-129 (cānaś in the agent sense for habit, age or ability: "those whose nature is to grow"); svādibhyaḥ śnuḥ — Pā. 3-1-73; yaṇ by huśnuvoḥ…; jas with asuk; ru and visarga. Rik 8 ends here (|| 8 ||).

Rik 33.9 (pp. 39–42, PDF 53–56)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 39; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented)

> परि॒ यदि॑न्द्र रोद॑सी उ॒भे अबु॑भोजीर्महि॒ना वि॒श्वत॑: सीम् । अम॑न्यमानाँ अ॒भि मन्य॑मानै॒र्निर्ब्र॑ह्मभि॑रधमो॒ दस्यु॑मिन्द्र ॥ ९ ॥
>
> pari yád indra ródasī ubhé ábubhojīr mahinā́ viśvátaḥ sīm | ámanyamānām̐ abhí mányamānair nír brahmábhir adhamo dásyum indra || 9 ||

(The print ends the first half with ।।.)

Page 40

Pada-pāṭha (p. 40)

परि । यत् । इन्द्र । रोदसी इति । उभे इति । अबुभोजीः । महिना । विश्वतः । सीम् ॥ अमन्यमानान् । अभि । मन्यमानैः । निः । ब्रह्मऽभिः । अधमः । दस्युम् । इन्द्र ॥ ९ ॥

pari | yat | indra | rodasī iti | ubhe iti | abubhojīḥ | mahinā | viśvataḥ | sīm || amanyamānān | abhi | manyamānaiḥ | niḥ | brahma-bhiḥ | adhamaḥ | dasyum | indra || 9 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 40, in full; numerals zoom-checked)

हे इन्द्र यद्यदा रोदसी उभे द्युलोकभूलोकावुभौ महिना त्वदीयेन महिम्ना विश्वतः सीं सर्वतः परिगृह्य पर्यबुभोजीः परितो भुक्तवानसि । तदानीं त्वममन्यमानान्मन्त्रार्थमनुध्यातुमशक्तानपि केवलपाठकान्यजमानानभि मन्यमानैरस्मदीया एते यजमाना रक्षणीया इत्यभिमानं कुर्वद्भिर्ब्रह्मभिर्मन्त्रैर्दस्युं चोरं वृत्रादिरूपमसुरं निरधमः । निःसारितवानसि । धमतिर्गतिकर्मा । नि. ६-२ । इति यास्कः । अबुभोजीः । भुज पालनाभ्यवहारयोः । लङि सिपि बहुलं छन्दसि । पा. २-४-७६ । इति विकरणस्य श्लुः । बहुलं छन्दसि । पा. ७-३-९७ । इतीडागमः । अडुदात्तः । यद्वृत्तयोगादनिघातः । महिना । महिम्ना । महच्छब्दात्पृथ्वादिलक्षणो भावे इमनिच् । टेरिति टिलोपः । तृतीयैकवचनेऽल्लोपे सत्युदात्तनिवृत्तिस्वरेणोदात्तत्वम् । मलोपश्छान्दसः । अमन्यमानान् । मन्यन्ते जानन्तीति मन्यमानाः । मन ज्ञाने । दिवादिभ्यः श्यन् । श्यनो नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वम् । समासेऽव्ययपूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् । संहितायां रुत्वानुनासिकावुक्तौ ॥ ॥ ९ ॥

he indra yadyadā rodasī ubhe dyulokabhūlokāvubhau mahinā tvadīyena mahimnā viśvataḥ sīṃ sarvataḥ parigṛhya paryabubhojīḥ parito bhuktavānasi | tadānīṃ tvamamanyamānānmantrārthamanudhyātumaśaktānapi kevalapāṭhakānyajamānānabhi manyamānairasmadīyā ete yajamānā rakṣaṇīyā ityabhimānaṃ kurvadbhirbrahmabhirmantrairdasyuṃ coraṃ vṛtrādirūpamasuraṃ niradhamaḥ | niḥsāritavānasi | dhamatirgatikarmā | ni. 6-2 | iti yāskaḥ | abubhojīḥ | bhuja pālanābhyavahārayoḥ | laṅi sipi bahulaṃ chandasi | pā. 2-4-76 | iti vikaraṇasya śluḥ | bahulaṃ chandasi | pā. 7-3-97 | itīḍāgamaḥ | aḍudāttaḥ | yadvṛttayogādanighātaḥ | mahinā | mahimnā | mahacchabdātpṛthvādilakṣaṇo bhāve imanic | ṭeriti ṭilopaḥ | tṛtīyaikavacane 'llope satyudāttanivṛttisvareṇodāttatvam | malopaśchāndasaḥ | amanyamānān | manyante jānantīti manyamānāḥ | mana jñāne | divādibhyaḥ śyan | śyano nittvādādyudāttatvam | samāse 'vyayapūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvam | saṃhitāyāṃ rutvānunāsikāvuktau ‖ ‖ 9 ‖

Translation: "O Indra, when you paryabubhojīḥ — enclosed on every side, viśvataḥ sīm, the two rodasī, heaven and earth, with your greatness, and enjoyed them all round — then, with brahmabhiḥ, mantras uttered by those who hold that 'these sacrificers are ours, to be protected' (manyamānaiḥ, 'those who have this conviction'), on behalf of sacrificers who are amanyamānān — mere reciters, unable to reflect on the meaning of the mantras — you nir adhamaḥ — drove out — the dasyu, the robber, the asura in the form of Vṛtra and others. Dhamati is a verb of motion — so says Yāska (Ni. 6-2, zoom-checked)." (The grammatical tail: abubhojīḥ — root bhuj, laṅ, sip; ślu of the vikaraṇa by bahulaṃ chandasi, Pā. 2-4-76; the augment īṭ by bahulaṃ chandasi, Pā. 7-3-97; aṭ is acute, and the verb keeps its accent because of the connection with yat; mahinā = mahimnā — imanic in the state-sense of the pṛthvādi class, ṭi-loss, the instrumental acute by the rule on the loss of an acute, the loss of m Vedic; amanyamānān — "those who know", root man (4th class) with śyan, initial acute because śyan is nit; the nañ-compound keeps the accent of the indeclinable first member; in the Saṃhitā ru and nasalisation.)

Pratipadārtha (p. 40) — "indra — O Indra; yat — when (tvam — you); ubhe rodasī — both earth and the mid-region; mahinā — by your power; viśvataḥ sīm — pervading all round; pari abubhojīḥ — you enjoyed everything (then); amanyamānān — the sacrificers who merely recite the mantras without knowing (their meaning); abhimanyamānaiḥ — with mantras that hold the conviction 'the performer of the sacrifice who belongs to me must be protected'; dasyum — the thief in the form of Vṛtra; niḥ adhamaḥ — you drove away."

Page 41

Bhāvārtha (p. 41) — "O Indra, you are all-powerful and the protector of those who depend on you. By your greatness you pervade both the earth and the mid-region, and you enjoy the lordship of both worlds. Pleased with the mantras that praise you, saying of those performers of sacrifice who merely recite the mantras without knowing their meaning 'these are ours; they must be protected', you drove away the robber Vṛtra."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 41) — "Indra, when you surrounded heaven and earth with your greatness simultaneously on all sides, you have blown away the robber (Vritra) being pleased with the prayers of those who know how to worship on behalf of those who do not worship."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 41 — sīm: "sīm iti parigrahārthīyo vā padapūraṇo vā (Ni. 1-7, zoom-checked), says Yāska — 'sīm is a word of the sense of "taking all round", or a mere filler of the verse'. That is, one uses the word sīm when one wishes to convey the sense of encompassing, or merely to fill out the foot. Here the bhāṣyakāra has given the sense of encompassing."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 41–42, grammar pages — noted briefly; numerals zoom-checked): abubhojīḥ — root bhuja pālanābhyavahārayoḥ (protecting, eating); laṅ, sip; bahulaṃ chandasi — बहुलं छन्दसि (bahulaṃ chandasi) — Pā. 2-4-76 gives ślu (elision) of the vikaraṇa in the Veda, and by the word bahulam even after roots outside the juhotyādi class, so the śnam is elided here; doubling and the reduplicate operations by ślau; guṇa of the light penultimate: bubhoj + s; bahulaṃ chandasi — Pā. 7-3-97 gives the augment īṭ; aṭ, ru, visarga; the word is connected with yat, so the verb does not lose its accent. — mahinā — = mahimnā; pṛthvādibhya imanij vā — पृथ्वादिभ्य इमनिज्वा (pṛthvādibhya imanij vā) — Pā. 5-1-122 gives imanic optionally in the state- and action-senses after words of the pṛthvādi class: after mahat, imanic; ṭeḥ — टेः (ṭeḥ) — Pā. 6-4-155: before iṣṭhan, imanic, īyasun the ṭi of a bha-stem is dropped, so at goes:

Page 42

mah + iman = mahiman; the ending ṭā; allopo 'naḥ — अल्लोपोऽनः (allopo 'naḥ) — Pā. 6-4-134 drops the a of an before y-initial or vowel-initial suffixes up to the one that prescribes ka (prāg ivāt kaḥ — प्रागिवात्कः (prāg ivāt kaḥ) — Pā. 5-3-70): mahimnā; the a of imanic, acute by the suffix accent, was dropped, so anudāttasya ca yatrodāttalopaḥ — अनुदात्तस्य च यत्रोदात्तलोपः (anudāttasya ca yatrodāttalopaḥ) — Pā. 6-1-161 makes the ending ṭā acute; the m is lost as a Vedic usage. — amanyamānān — manyante jānanti iti manyamānāḥ, "those who know"; root mana jñāne, laṭ, śānac by laṭaḥ śatṛśānacau; divādibhyaḥ śyan — दिवादिभ्यः श्यन् (divādibhyaḥ śyan) — Pā. 3-1-69; man + ya + āna, the augment muk by āne muk: manyamāna; accusative

plural manyamānān; in the Saṃhitā dīrghād aṭi samānapāde gives ru for the n, and atrānunāsikaḥ… the nasalisation of the preceding vowel (neither sūtra is numbered in the print). Rik 9 ends here (|| 9 ||).

Rik 33.10 (pp. 42–46, PDF 56–60)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 42; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented)

न ये दिवः पृथिव्या अन्तमापुर्न मायाभिर्धनदां पर्यभूवन् । युजं वज्रं वृषभश्चक्र इन्द्रो निर्ज्योतिषा तमसो गा अदुक्षत् ॥ १० ॥

na ye diváḥ pṛthivyā́ántam āpúr na māyā́bhir dhanadā́m paryábhūvan | yujaṃ vájraṃ vṛṣabháś cakra índro nír jyótiṣā támaso gā́ adukṣat || 10 ||

(As printed: the underline in the first line falls under ದಾಂ of dhanadām and under ಮಾ of antam āpur; recorded as seen.)

Pada-pāṭha (pp. 42–43; the first line at the foot of p. 42)

न । ये । दिवः । पृथिव्याः । अन्तम् । आपुः । न । मायाभिः । धनऽदाम् । परिऽअभूवन् ॥

Page 43

युजम् । वज्रम् । वृषभः । चक्रे । इन्द्रः । निः । ज्योतिषा । तमसः । गाः । अधुक्षत् ॥ १० ॥

na | ye | divaḥ | pṛthivyāḥ | antam | āpuḥ | na | māyābhiḥ | dhana-dām | pari-abhūvan || yujam | vajram | vṛṣabhaḥ | cakre | indraḥ | niḥ | jyotiṣā | tamasaḥ | gāḥ | adhukṣat || 10 ||

(The print gives परिऽअभूवन् (pari-abhūvan) as one Pada word. The Pada's last word has dh ("adhukṣat") while the Saṃhitā has "adukṣat"; the bhāṣya explains this below as the Vedic non-application of the bhaṣ substitution in the Saṃhitā.)

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 43, in full; numerals zoom-checked)

ये जलविशेषा दिवो द्युलोकात्पृथिव्या अन्तं भूमेः स्थानं नापुर्न प्राप्ताः । मेघरूपमापन्नेन वृत्रेण निरुद्धत्वात् । अत एव भूमिप्राप्त्यभावाद्धनदां धनप्रदां भूमिं मायाभिः सस्योपकारादिभिः कर्मभिर्न पर्यभूवन् । परितो न व्याप्ताः । जलपानसस्याभिवृद्ध्याद्युपकारं न चक्रुरित्यर्थः । तदानीमयमिन्द्रो मेघभेदनाय वज्रं युजं स्वहस्तयुक्तं चक्रे । ततो ज्योतिषा द्योतमानेन वज्रेण तमस अन्धकाररूपान्मेघाद्गा गमनशीलान्युदकानि निरधुक्षत् । निःशेषेण दुग्धवान् । मेघं भित्त्वा जलं वृष्टवानित्यर्थः ॥ दिवः । ऊङिदमिति षष्ठ्या उदात्तत्वम् । आपुः । आप्लृ व्याप्तौ । लिट्युसि रूपम् । यद्वृत्तयोगादनिघातः । पर्यभूवन् । अत्रापि यच्छब्दस्यानुषङ्गान्निघाताभावः । युजम् । युजिर् योगे । ऋत्विगित्यादिना क्विन् । अनित्यमागमशासनमिति वचनान्नुमभावः । अधुक्षत् । दुह प्रपूरणे । लुङि शल इगुपधादनिटः क्सः । पा. ३-१-४५ । इति च्लेः क्सादेशः । दादेर्धातोर्घः । पा. ८-२-३२ । इति घत्वम् । एकाचो बश इत्यादिना । पा. ८-३-३७ । भष्भावः । संहितायां भष्भावाभावश्छान्दसः ॥ ॥ २ ॥

ye jalaviśeṣā divo dyulokātpṛthivyā antaṃ bhūmeḥ sthānaṃ nāpurna prāptāḥ | megharūpamāpannena vṛtreṇa niruddhatvāt | ata eva bhūmiprāptyabhāvāddhanadāṃ dhanapradāṃ bhūmiṃ māyābhiḥ sasyopakārādibhiḥ karmabhirna paryabhūvan | parito na vyāptāḥ | jalapānasasyābhivṛddhyādyupakāraṃ na cakrurityarthaḥ | tadānīmayamindro

meghabhedanāya vajraṃ yujaṃ svahastayuktaṃ cakre | tato jyotiṣā dyotamānena vajreṇa tamasa andhakārarūpānmeghādgā gamanaśīlānyudakāni niradhukṣat | niḥśeṣeṇa dugdhavān | meghaṃ bhittvā jalaṃ vṛṣṭavānityarthaḥ ‖ divaḥ | ūḍidamiti ṣaṣṭhyā udāttatvam | āpuḥ | āplṛ vyāptau | liṭyusi rūpam | yadvṛttayogādanighātaḥ | paryabhūvan | atrāpi yacchabdasyānuṣaṅgānnighātābhāvaḥ | yujam | yujir yoge | ṛtvigityādinā kvin | anityamāgamaśāsanamiti vacanānnumabhāvaḥ | adhukṣat | duha prapūraṇe | luṅi śala igupadhādaniṭaḥ ksaḥ | pā. 3-1-45 | iti cleḥ ksādeśaḥ | dāderdhātorghaḥ | pā. 8-2-32 | iti ghatvam | ekāco baśa ityādinā | pā. 8-3-37 | bhaṣbhāvaḥ | saṃhitāyāṃ bhaṣbhāvābhāvaśchāndasaḥ ‖ ‖ 2 ‖

(As printed: "तमस अन्धकार... " (for तमसोऽन्धकार...); "पा. ८-३-३७" in the bhāṣya [sic: the middle digit is the 3-glyph; the same sūtra is printed 8-2-37 on p. 46; the usual number is 8-2-37]; the closing numeral is printed "॥ २ ॥" [sic, for ९०].)

Translation: "Those particular waters which did not reach (nāpuḥ) the end, the place, of the earth from the heaven (divaḥ), because they were held back by Vṛtra, who had taken the form of a cloud. For that very reason, since they did not reach the earth, they did not pari-abhūvan — enclose all round — the earth, the dhanadām, giver of wealth, by māyābhiḥ — works helpful to the crops and so on: that is, they did not do the benefit of drinking-water, the increase of the crops, and the like. Then this Indra, for the splitting of the cloud, yujaṃ cakre — took in his own hand — the thunderbolt. Then, with the thunderbolt that shone with light (jyotiṣā), tamasaḥ — from the cloud, which has the nature of darkness — he nir adhukṣat — milked out completely — the gāḥ, the flowing waters: that is, he split the cloud and rained down the water." (The grammatical tail: divaḥ — the genitive acute by ūḍidam…; āpuḥ — root āplṛ, liṭ with us; not unaccented because of yat; paryabhūvan — here too no loss of accent, because the word yat is carried over; yujam — root yujir, kvin by ṛtvig…; no num by "the rule on augments is not universal"; adhukṣat — root duh, luṅ, ksa for cli by Pā. 3-1-45, gh by Pā. 8-2-32, bhaṣ by ekāco baśaḥ…; in the Saṃhitā the absence of bhaṣ is Vedic.)

Pratipadārtha (p. 43) — "ye — (when Vṛtra, in the form of a cloud, had shut up the mid-region) which streams of water; divaḥ — from the mid-region; pṛthivyāḥ — of the earth; antam — the place; na āpuḥ — did not reach (and); dhanadām — the earth that gives wealth; māyābhiḥ — by works that make the crops grow; na paryabhūvan — did not spread and pervade (then); vṛṣabhaḥ — the one who makes the rain fall; indraḥ — Indra; vajram — the thunderbolt-weapon; yujaṃ cakre — took up in his hand; (afterwards) jyotiṣā — with the shining thunderbolt; tamasaḥ — from the dark cloud; gāḥ — those streams of water; niḥ adhukṣat — milked out completely (drove them out)."

Page 44

Bhāvārtha (p. 44) — "(O Indra, you are the remover of the people's troubles.) Formerly the asura Vṛtra, in the form of a cloud, shut up the whole mid-region. He stopped all the streams of water that would come to the earth from the mid-region. All the crops that give wealth to people perished. There was no water even to drink. Then you took your thunderbolt in your hand. With its radiance you made the stream of water fall from the cloud, dark enough to pervade even the mid-region."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 44) — "When the waters did not descend upon the ends of the earth and did not overspread, with its productions. the wealth-giver (Indra) the showerer, grasped his bolt and with its brightness milked out the waters from the darkness." (Printed so, with the full stop after "productions"; the better scan reads "productions" clearly — the earlier "produetions" [sic] was a misreading.)

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 44 — "Formerly the asura Vṛtra, who was in the form of a cloud, held back the rain that was to fall from the heavenly world (the mid-region) on to the earth; as a result there was no water on the earth, and no crops either, and wealth, food and the like did not arise. Therefore Indra, taking up his shining thunderbolt and striking the asura Vṛtra, caused rain to come on the earth: that is the main idea." — māyābhiḥ = sasyopakāribhiḥ karmabhiḥ: "by works that help the crops to grow. The word māyā has many meanings; we have explained them earlier. Here māyābhiḥ means 'by bold deeds' [Kannada sāsahakṛtyagaḷinda]" (the Kannada gloss differs from the bhāṣya's; reported as printed). — gāḥ = gamanaśīlāny udakāni: "waters, water."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 44–46, grammar pages — noted briefly; numerals zoom-checked): divaḥ — after div, the "genitive singular jas" [sic: as printed, for ṅas]; ūḍidampadādyappumraidyubhyaḥ — ऊङिदम्पदाद्यप्पुम्रैद्युभ्यः (ūḍidampadādyappumraidyubhyaḥ) — Pā. 6-1-171: after ūṭ, idam, the substitutes pad etc. prescribed by paddannomās…, ap, pum, rai, div — one-syllabled and final-acute — a non-sarvanāmasthāna ending is acute.

Page 45

āpuḥ — root āplṛ vyāptau, liṭ, jhi; parasmaipadānāṃ ṇalatusus… — Pā. 3-4-82 gives us; doubling; halādiḥ śeṣaḥ, applied by resort to the jāti view or by splitting the sūtra (yogavibhāga), drops the p of the reduplicate; savarṇadīrgha; ru, visarga; no total anudātta because of the connection with yat. — paryabhūvan — bhū sattāyām, the preverb pari, luṅ (as printed), third person plural; ye in the first foot is connected with paryabhūvan of the second: "for the reason stated in the first foot, ye na dhanadāṃ māyābhiḥ paryabhūvan" is the construction; so here too, owing to the connection with yat, there is no total anudātta. — yujam — root yujir yoge; ṛtvigdadhṛksragdiguṣṇigañcuyujikruñcāṃ ca — ऋत्विग्दधृक्स्रग्दिगुष्णिगञ्चुयुजिक्रुञ्चां च (ṛtvigdadhṛksragdiguṣṇigañcuyujikruñcāṃ ca) — Pā. 3-2-59: kvin after these roots, some operations coming by nipātana: kvin after yaj with ṛtu as upapada; doubling and final acute for dhṛṣ; kvin in the object-sense and am for sṛj; kvin in the object-sense for diś; kvin after snih with ut, the preverb's last letter dropped and s → ṣ; kvin after añc with a sup-ending upapada; and kvin after yuj without upapada — all established by nipātana. Accusative singular am: yuj + am; yujer asamāse — युजेरसमासे (yujer asamāse) — Pā. 7-1-71 would give num to yuj outside a compound before a sarvanāmasthāna ending, but by the paribhāṣā anityam āgamaśāsanam the num does not come. — adhukṣat — root duha prapūraṇe, luṅ–tip; cli luṅi — च्लि लुङि (cli luṅi) — Pā. 3-1-43; śala igupadhād aniṭaḥ ksaḥ — शल इगुपधादनिटः क्सः (śala igupadhād aniṭaḥ ksaḥ) — Pā. 3-1-45: after a root ending in a śal sound (ś ṣ s h), with i/u/ṛ penultimate and without iṭ, cli is replaced by ksa; the aṭ augment: aduh + sa + t; dāder dhātor ghaḥ — दादेर्धातोर्घः (dāder dhātor ghaḥ) — Pā. 8-2-32, read as dādeḥ dhātoḥ ghaḥ, with hoḍhaḥ bringing down haḥ, and jhali, padasya, ante continued; dādeḥ is repeated (āvṛtti, "saying twice what was said once", as kamalāni kamalāni means “fine lotuses”), so “dādeḥ” means “a root beginning with d at the time of instruction”; some repeat dhātoḥ instead; thus, before a jhal and at the end of a word, the h of a root beginning with d at the time of instruction is replaced by gh

Page 46

— so gh: adugh + s + t; ekāco baśo bhaṣ jhaṣantasya sadhvoḥ — एकाचो बशो भष् झषन्तस्य स्ध्वोः (ekāco baśo bhaṣ jhaṣantasya sadhvoḥ) — Pā. 8-2-37 (here printed 8-2-37): before s or dhv, and at the end of a word, the baś (b g ḍ d) of a one-vowelled root-part ending in a jhaṣ is replaced by the bhaṣ (bh gh ḍh dh); here s follows, dugh is treated as one-vowelled by vyapadeśivadbhāva, and it ends in a jhaṣ, so its baś d becomes dh: adhugh-s-t; k for gh by cartva; ādeśapratyayayoḥ — आदेशप्रत्यययोः (ādeśapratyayayoḥ) — Pā. 8-3-59 gives ṣ for s: adhukṣat. In the Saṃhitā the bhaṣ change does not come, by Vedic usage, i.e. there is no dh. Rik 10 ends here (|| 10 ||).

Rik 33.11 (pp. 46–51, PDF 60–65)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 46; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented)

> अनु॑ स्व॒धाम॑क्षर॒न्नापो॑ अ॒स्यावर्धत॒ मध्य॒ आ ना॒व्या॑नाम् । स॒ध्री॒ची॑नेन॒ मन॑सा॒ तमिन्द्र॒ ओजि॑ष्ठेन॒ हन्म॑नाहन्न॒भि द्यून् ॥ ११ ॥
>
> ánu svadhắm akṣarann ắpo asyắvardhata mádhya ấ nāvyānām | sadhrīcīnena mánasā tám indra ójiṣṭhena hánmanāhann abhí dyūn || 11 ||

(As printed, zoom-checked: no svarita stroke over mi of तमिन्द्र.)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 46)

> अनु । स्वधाम् । अक्षरन् । आपः । अस्य । अवर्धत । मध्ये । आ । नाव्यानाम् । सध्रीचीनेन । मनसा । तम् । इन्द्रः । ओजिष्ठेन । हन्मना । अहन् । अभि । द्यून् ॥ ११ ॥

anu | svadhām | akṣaran | āpaḥ | asya | avardhata | madhye | ā | nāvyānām | sadhrīcīnena | manasā | tam | indraḥ | ojiṣṭhena | hanmanā | ahan | abhi | dyūn || 11 ||

Page 47

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 47, in full; numerals zoom-checked)

> आपो जलान्यस्येन्द्रस्य स्वधामन्नं व्रीह्यादिरूपमनुलक्ष्याक्षरन् । मेघाद्वृष्ट्वा अभवन् । तदानीमयं वृत्रो नाव्यानां नावा तरणयोग्यानां बह्वीनामपां मध्ये आ समन्तादवर्धत । वृद्धिं प्राप्तः । प्रभूतजले वर्तमानोऽपि न ममार । किन्त्वभिवृद्ध एव । तदानीमिन्द्रः सध्रीचीनेन सहगच्छता मनसा युक्तं तं वृत्रमोजिष्ठेनातिबलयुक्तेन हन्मना हननसाधनेन वज्रेणाभि द्यून् कतिचिद्दिवसानभिलक्ष्याहन् । तेषु दिवसेषु हतवान् । जलमध्ये पतितस्यापि वृत्रस्य मनो यत्रेन्द्रस्तिष्ठति तत्रैव सह गच्छति तादृशमभिज्ञाय स हतवानित्यर्थः ॥ अक्षरन् । क्षर संचलने । नाव्यानाम् । नावा तार्याणाम् । नौवयोधर्मेत्यादिना । पा. ४-४-९१ । यत् । वान्तो यि प्रत्यये । पा. ६-१-७९ । इत्यावादेशः । अनाव इति पर्युदासात् । पा. ६-१-२१३ । तित्स्वरितमिति प्रत्ययस्य स्वरितत्वम् । सध्रीचीनेन । सहाञ्चतीति सध्र्यङ् । सहस्य सध्रिः । पा. ६-३-९५ । इति सध्र्यादेशः । विभाषाञ्चेरदिक्स्त्रियाम् । पा. ५-४-८ । इति स्वार्थे खप्रत्ययः ।

तस्यायन्नित्यादिना ईनादेशः । अच इत्यकारलोपे चाविति दीर्घत्वम् । खादेशस्योपदेशिवद्वचनादीकार उदात्तः । ओजिष्ठेन । ओजोऽस्यास्तीत्योजस्वी । अस्मायामेधेति विनिः । तत आतिशायनिक इष्ठन् । विन्मतोर्लुगिति विनो लुक् । टेरिति टिलोपः । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वम् । हन्मना । हन्यतेऽनेनेति हन्म । अन्येभ्योऽपि दृश्यन्त इति दृशिग्रहणात्करणेऽपि मनिन् । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वम् । तृतीयैकवचनेऽल्लोपे प्राप्ते न संयोगाद्वमन्तात् । पा. ६-४-१३७ । इति प्रतिषेधः ॥ ॥ ११ ॥

āpo jalānyasyendrasya svadhāmannaṃ vrīhyādirūpamanulakṣyākṣaran | meghādvṛṣṭvā abhavan | tadānīmayaṃ vṛtro nāvyānāṃ nāvā taraṇayogyānāṃ bahvīnāmapāṃ madhye ā samantādavardhata | vṛddhiṃ prāptaḥ | prabhūtajale vartamāno 'pi na mamāra | kintvabhivṛddha eva | tadānīmindraḥ sadhrīcīnena sahagacchatā manasā yuktaṃ taṃ vṛtramojiṣṭhenātibalayuktena hanmanā hananasādhanena vajreṇābhi dyūn katiciddivasānabhilakṣyāhan | teṣu divaseṣu hatavān | jalamadhye patitasyāpi vṛtrasya mano yatrendrastiṣṭhati tatraiva saha gacchati tādṛśamabhijñāya sa hatavānityarthaḥ ‖ akṣaran | kṣara saṃcalane | nāvyānām | nāvā tāryāṇām | nauvayodharmetyādinā | pā. 4-4-91 | yat | vānto yi pratyaye | pā. 6-1-79 | ityāvādeśaḥ | anāva iti paryudāsāt | pā. 6-1-213 | titsvaritamiti pratyayasya svaritatvam | sadhrīcīnena | sahāñcatīti sadhryaṅ | sahasya sadhriḥ | pā. 6-3-95 | iti sadhryādeśaḥ | vibhāṣāñceradikstriyām | pā. 5-4-8 | iti svārthe khapratyayaḥ | tasyāyannityādinā īnādeśaḥ | aca ityakāralope cāviti dīrghatvam | khādeśasyopadeśivadvacanādīkāra udāttaḥ | ojiṣṭhena | ojo 'syāstītyojasvī | asmāyāmedheti viniḥ | tata ātiśāyanika iṣṭhan | vinmatorlugiti vino luk | ṭeriti ṭilopaḥ | nittvādādyudāttatvam | hanmanā | hanyate 'neneti hanma | anyebhyo 'pi dṛśyanta iti dṛśigrahaṇātkaraṇe 'pi manin | nittvādādyudāttatvam | tṛtīyaikavacane 'llope prāpte na saṃyogādvamantāt | pā. 6-4-137 | iti pratiṣedhaḥ ‖ ‖ 11 ‖

Translation: "The waters (āpaḥ) of this Indra, having in view svadhām — food, in the form of rice and the like — akṣaran — flowed: having rained from the cloud they came into being. Then this Vṛtra, in the midst of the many waters nāvyānām — fit to be crossed by boat — ā avardhata — grew all round, attained increase; though he was in plenty of water he did not die, but only grew. Then Indra, with hanmanā — the instrument of killing, the thunderbolt — ojiṣṭhena, endowed with the greatest strength, abhi dyūn — having marked out some days — ahan, struck that Vṛtra, joined with a sadhrīcīna mind, one that 'goes along with'; he killed him on those days. The sense is: the mind of Vṛtra, even when he had fallen into the midst of the water, goes along to wherever Indra stands; knowing it to be such, he killed him." (The grammatical tail: akṣaran — root kṣar, to move; nāvyānām — "to be crossed by boat", yat by nauvayodharma…, Pā. 4-4-91; āv by vānto yi pratyaye, Pā. 6-1-79; because of the exclusion "not after nau" (Pā. 6-1-213) no initial acute, and the suffix is svarita by titsvaritam; sadhrīcīnena — sadhryañc, sadhri for saha by Pā. 6-3-95, kha in the self-sense by Pā. 5-4-8, īna for it, loss of a by acaḥ, lengthening by cau, the ī acute because the substitute of kha counts as taught originally; ojiṣṭhena — ojasvin by asmāyāmedhā…, then iṣṭhan of excellence, vin dropped, ṭi dropped, initial acute as nit; hanmanā — manin in the instrument sense also, by the word dṛśi in anyebhyo 'pi dṛśyante; initial acute; the loss of a in the instrumental is barred by na saṃyogād vamantāt, Pā. 6-4-137.)

Pratipadārtha (p. 47) — "āpaḥ — water; asya — Indra's; svadhām anu — for the sake of rice and the like, which serve as food; akṣaran — flowed (then); nāvyānām — of streams that can be travelled only by boat (brimming over); madhye — in the midst; avardhata — (Vṛtra) grew on all sides; (then) indraḥ — Indra; sadhrīcīnena — following Indra himself out of hatred; manasā — with a mind; joined; tam — that Vṛtra; ojiṣṭhena — very strong; hanmanā — with the thunderbolt-weapon, the means for killing; abhi dyūn — having watched for some days; ahan — killed."

Bhāvārtha (pp. 47–48) — "In the sacrifice, even while the currents of the rivers flowed so abundantly — for the increase of rice and other grains that please Indra — that one could move about on them only by boat, Vṛtra grew in the midst of those currents.

Page 48

Then Indra, noting the mind of that one which followed himself, killed that Vṛtra with his strong and destructive thunderbolt."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 48) — "According to his (Indra's) wish the waters flowed to provide food, but the demon (Vritra) grew in strength in the midst of waters so deep as to be navigable. Indra, with his collected wisdom and with his most mighty thunderbolt slew him in the course of time."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 48–49 — svadhām: "Though Yāska has given two kinds of meaning for the word svadhā — 'water' (Ni. 2 24 as printed [the hyphen is not visible; zoom-checked]) and 'food' (Ni. 3-9, zoom-checked) — the bhāṣyakāra has adopted here only the sense 'food'." — akṣaran = kṣara sañcalane: "movement; here the sense is 'flowing in the form of a stream'." — avardhata: "Though Vṛtra was in the midst of the water (in the circle of the clouds) he did not die; the idea is that he grew more and more and attained prosperity." — nāvyānām = nāvā taraṇayogyānām: "so much water that it can be crossed only by boat or dug-out; i.e. in the midst of abundant water." — sadhrīcīnena = saha gacchatā manasā | samastena buddhicāturyeṇa: "with one-pointedness of mind, i.e. with a mind steadied — fixed on that very thing — a mind fixed on the destruction of the asura Vṛtra, 'with his collected wisdom &c.' [the print's English]. The bhāṣyakāra adds the word yuktam to this word and uses it as an attribute of the asura Vṛtra. That is not quite proper. We give as examples some ṛks in which the word is used —"

> सध्रीचीनेन मनसाविवेनन् तमित्सखायं कृणुते समत्सु ॥ (ऋ. सं. ४-२४-६) अस्माभिरिन्द्र सखिभिर्हुवानः सध्रीचीनो मादयस्वा निषद्य ॥ (ऋ. सं. १०-११२-३) चक्राथे हि सध्र्य१ङ्नाम भद्रं सध्रीचीना वृत्रहणा उत स्थः ॥ (ऋ. स. १-१०८-३) सध्रीचीना पथ्या३ सा विषूची महद्देवानामसुरत्वमेकम् ॥ (ऋ. सं. ३-५५-१५)

Page 49

> सध्रीचीना यातवे प्रेमजीगः सुदिनेव पृक्ष आतंसयेथे ॥ (ऋ. स. १०-१०६-१)

sadhrīcīnena manasāvivenan tam it sakhāyaṃ kṛṇute samatsu || (ṛ. saṃ. 4-24-6) asmābhir indra sakhibhir huvānaḥ sadhrīcīno mādayasvā niṣadya || (ṛ. saṃ. 10-112-3) cakrāthe hi sadhrya1ṅ nāma bhadraṃ sadhrīcīnā vṛtrahaṇā uta sthaḥ || (ṛ. sa. 1-108-3) sadhrīcīnā pathyā3 sā viṣūcī mahad devānām asuratvam ekam || (ṛ. saṃ. 3-55-15) sadhrīcīnā yātave prem ajīgaḥ sudineva pṛkṣa ātaṃsayethe || (ṛ. sa. 10-106-1)

ityādi — "and so on." (All five references zoom-checked on the better scan: the earlier readings 4-31-6, 10-102-3, 1-183-3, 3-55-13 and the word druvānaḥ are replaced; "ऋ. स." without anusvāra is as printed. The "१" in सध्र्य१ङ् and the "३" in पथ्या३ are printed as in the Saṃhitā's notation. The source leaves these lines untranslated. My glosses, mine and tentative: 1. "with a concordant mind, longing (?), he makes him a friend in the battles"; 2. "called by us, your friends, O Indra, in concord, sit down and rejoice"; 3. "for you two have made a good name in concord, and you are slayers of Vṛtra, together"; 4. "the path (?) going together is that going apart: great is the one lordship of the gods"; 5. "you have swallowed (?) together, to go, … like fine days.") ojiṣṭhena — ojo 'syāstīty ojasvī: "endowed with great strength." — hanmanā — hananasādhanena vajreṇa: "with the thunderbolt-weapon, the means for destroying." — abhi dyūn: "observing some days, waiting for the time — such meanings may be given."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 49–51, grammar pages — noted briefly; numerals zoom-checked): nāvyānām — nāvā tāryāḥ nāvyāḥ, teṣām, "fit to be crossed by a boat"; nauvayodharmaviṣamūlamūlasītātulābhyas tāryatulyaprāpyavadhyānāmyasamasamitasaṃmiteṣu — नौवयोधर्मविषमूलमूलसीतातुलाभ्यस्तार्यतुल्यप्राप्यवध्यानाम्यसमसमितसंमितेषु (nauvayodharmaviṣamūlamūlasītātulābhyas tāryatulyaprāpyavadhyānāmyasamasamitasaṃmiteṣu) — Pā. 4-4-91: after nau in the instrumental, yat in the sense "which can be crossed"; after vayas in the instrumental, yat in the sense "equal" (the word is used only of a friend, not of an enemy); likewise after dharma, viṣa, mūla, mūlya, sītā, tulā in the senses prāpya, vadhya, ānāmya, sama, samita, saṃmita: mūla is the capital a merchant invests, ānāmya the share he keeps for himself, i.e. profit; whatever money one gives, so much is "mūlya" in common usage; sītā is the tip of the plough, and "agreeing with it" means levelled, without pits and mounds; saṃmita means well weighed. With yat after nau: nau + ya; vānto yi pratyaye — वान्तो यि प्रत्यये (vānto yi pratyaye) — Pā. 6-1-72 as printed [sic: a flat-footed 7 and a curled 2, zoom-checked; the bhāṣya on p. 47 prints 6-1-79, the usual number] gives av/āv for o/au before a y-initial suffix: āv; yato 'nāvaḥ — यतोऽनावः (yato 'nāvaḥ) — Pā. 6-1-213: a two-vowelled word ending in the suffix yat, not after nau, has initial acute; when the nañ goes with the verb it is a prasajya-pratiṣedha, when with the second member a paryudāsa; since "other than the word nau" is a paryudāsa, no initial acute comes here, and by titsvaritam a svarita comes. — sadhrīcīnena — saha añcati iti sadhryañc; by ṛtvigdadhṛk… kvin after the root añc with a sup-ending upapada; sahasya sadhriḥ — सहस्य सध्रिः (sahasya sadhriḥ) — Pā. 6-3-95: sadhri for saha before añc ending in v-suffix or a suffix that is not heard; sadhri + añc, yaṇ: sadhryañc (the printed p. 50 begins inside this gloss on Pā. 6-3-95);

Page 50

(sadhrīcīnena, continued) aniditāṃ hala upadhāyāḥ kṅiti — अनिदितां हल उपधायाः क्ङिति (aniditāṃ hala upadhāyāḥ kṅiti) — Pā. 6-4-24 drops the n; vibhāṣāñcer adikstriyām — विभाषाञ्चेरदिक्स्त्रियाम् (vibhāṣāñcer adikstriyām) — Pā. 5-4-8: kha optionally in the self-sense after a stem ending in añc, when not denoting a direction and not feminine; āyaneyīnīyiyaḥ… — Pā. 7-1-2 gives īn for it: sadhryac + īna; acaḥ — अचः (acaḥ) — Pā. 6-4-138 drops the a of añc (already without its n), a part of the bha-stem; cau — चौ (cau) — Pā. 6-3-138 lengthens the preceding aṇ before añc thus reduced: sadhrīcīna; by the vārtika āyannādiṣūpadeśivadbhāvo

vaktavyaḥ — आयन्नादिषूपदेशिवद्भावो वक्तव्यः (āyannādiṣūpadeśivadbhāvo vaktavyaḥ) — Pā. 7-1-2-1, the īn substitute counts as present at the time of instruction, so the ī is acute by the suffix accent; without this, after the initial acute had come with the naming of the suffix, the substitute coming in the place of an accentless consonant such as kh would be accentless, and a syllable without accent cannot be pronounced; so the undesired accent of anudāttaṃ padam ekavarjam would have to come.

ojiṣṭhena (p. 50) — ojas is an as-final word: tejaḥ asya asti; asmāyāmedhāsrajo viniḥ — अस्मायामेधास्रजो विनिः (asmāyāmedhāsrajo viniḥ) — Pā. 5-2-121: by as an as-final stem is meant; after it and after māyā, medhā, sraj, vin in the sense "who has it": ojasvin; atiśāyane tamabiṣṭhanau — अतिशायने तमबिष्ठनौ (atiśāyane tamabiṣṭhanau) — Pā. 5-3-55 gives iṣṭhan in the sense of excess: ojasvin + iṣṭha; vinmator luk — विन्मतोर्लुक् (vinmator luk) — Pā. 5-3-65: before iṣṭhan, īyasun, vin and matup are elided; ojas + iṣṭha; ṭeḥ — टेः (ṭeḥ) — Pā. 6-4-155 drops the ṭi (as): ojiṣṭha; iṣṭhan is nit, so ñnityādir nityam — ञ्नित्यादिर्नित्यम् (ñnityādir nityam) — Pā. 6-1-197 gives initial acute. — hanmanā — hana hiṃsāgatyoḥ; hanyate 'nena iti hanma; anyebhyo 'pi dṛśyante — अन्येभ्योऽपि दृश्यन्ते (anyebhyo 'pi dṛśyante) — Pā. 3-2-75: the suffixes manin, kvanip, vanip, vic come after other roots too; manin after han is nit, so the beginning is acute; here manin in the instrument sense; instrumental ṭā: hanman + ā; in hanm- the conjunct nm ends in m, and an follows; na saṃyogād vamantāt — न संयोगाद्वमन्तात् (na saṃyogād vamantāt) — Pā. 6-4-137: the a of an after a conjunct ending in v

or m is not elided; so the loss of a by allopo 'naḥ — अल्लोपोऽनः (allopo 'naḥ) — Pā. 6-4-134 does not come. Rik 11 ends here (|| 11 ||).

Rik 33.12 (pp. 51–55, PDF 65–69)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 51; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented)

> न्यॱविध्यदिलीबिशस्य दृळ्हा वि शृङ्गिणमभिनच्छुष्णमिन्द्रः । यावत्तरो मघवन्यावदोजो वज्रेण शत्रुमवधीः पृतन्युम् ॥ १२ ॥
>
> nyˀ āvidhyad ilībiśasya dṛḷhā vi śṛṅgíṇam abhinac chúṣṇam índraḥ | yāvat táro maghavan yāvad ójo vájreṇa śátrum avadhīḥ pṛtanyúm || 12 ||

(The independent svarita on nyā is shown in the Devanagari only. The print clearly has శృఙ్గిణ, i.e. śṛṅgiṇam.)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 51)

> नि । अविध्यत् । इलीबिशस्य । दृळ्हा । वि । शृङ्गिणम् । अभिनत् । शुष्णम् । इन्द्रः । यावत् । तरः । मघऽवन् । यावत् । ओजः । वज्रेण । शत्रुम् । अवधीः । पृतन्युम् ॥ १२ ॥

ni | avidhyat | ilībiśasya | dṛḷhā | vi | śṛṅgiṇam | abhinat | śuṣṇam | indraḥ | yāvat | taraḥ | magha-van | yāvat | ojaḥ | vajreṇa | śatrum | avadhīḥ | pṛtanyum || 12 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (pp. 51–52, in full; numerals zoom-checked)

इलीबिशस्य इलाया भूमेर्बिले शयानस्य वृत्रस्य संबन्धीनि । इलाबिलशयस्येति यास्कः । नि. ६-१९ । दृळ्हा दृंहितान्यसुरेण निरुद्धानि प्रभूतान्युदकानीन्द्रो न्यविध्यत् । नितरां विद्धवान् । यद्वा । दृळ्हानि प्रबलानि सैन्यानि नितरां विद्धवान् । तत ऊर्ध्वं शृङ्गिणं गोमहिषादिशृङ्गसमानैरायुधैरुपेतं शुष्णं जगतः शोषकं वृत्रं व्यभिनत् । विविधं ताडितवान् । हे मघवन् धनयुक्तेन्द्र तव यावत्तरो यावान्वेगोऽस्ति यावदोजो यावद्बलमस्ति तेन सर्वेण युक्तस्त्वं पृतन्युं पृतनां युद्धमिच्छन्तं शत्रुं वृत्रं वज्रेणावधीः । हतवानसि ॥ अविध्यत् । व्यध ताडने । श्यनि ग्रहिज्येत्यादिना संप्रसारणम् । तिङ्ङतिङ इति निघाते उदात्तस्वरितयोर्यण इति संहितायामडागमस्य स्वरितत्वम् । इलीबिशस्य । पृषोदरादित्वादभिमतरूपस्वरसिद्धिः । दृळ्हा । दृंहेर्निष्ठायां दृढः स्थूलबलयोः । पा. ७-२-२० । इति निपात्यते । शेश्छन्दसि बहुलमिति शेर्लोपः । अभिनत् । भिदिर् विदारणे । लङि रुधादिभ्यः श्नम् । इतश्चेतीकारलोपे हल्ङ्याब्भ्य इति तिलोपः । शुष्णम् । शुष शोषणे । शोषयतीति शुष्णः । तृषिशुषिरसिभ्यः कित् । उ. ३-१२ । इति नप्रत्ययः । नित्यनुवृत्तेराद्युदात्तत्वम् । अवधीः । लुङि चेति हन्तेर्वधादेशः । पृतन्युम् । पृतनाशब्दात्क्यचि कव्यध्वरपृतनस्येत्यन्त्यलोपः । क्याच्छन्दसीत्युप्रत्ययः ॥ ॥ १२ ॥

ilībiśasya ilāyā bhūmerbile śayānasya vṛtrasya saṃbandhīni | ilābilaśayasyeti yāskaḥ | ni. 6-19 | dṛḷhā dṛṃhitānyasureṇa niruddhāni prabhūtānyudakānīndro nyavidhyat | nitarāṃ viddhavān | yadvā | dṛḷhāni prabalāni sainyāni nitarāṃ viddhavān | tata ūrdhvaṃ śṛṅgiṇaṃ gomahiṣādiśṛṅgasamānairāyudhairupetaṃ śuṣṇaṃ jagataḥ śoṣakaṃ vṛtraṃ vyabhinat | vividhaṃ tāḍitavān | he maghavan dhanayuktendra tava yāvattaro yāvānvego 'sti yāvadojo yāvadbalamasti tena sarveṇa yuktastvaṃ pṛtanyuṃ pṛtanāṃ yuddhamicchantaṃ śatruṃ vṛtraṃ vajreṇāvadhīḥ | hatavānasi ‖ avidhyat | vyadha tāḍane | śyani grahijyetyādinā saṃprasāraṇam | tiṅṅatiṅa iti nighāte udāttasvaritayoryaṇa iti saṃhitāyāmaḍāgamasya svaritatvam | ilībiśasya | pṛṣodarāditvādabhimatarūpasvarasiddhiḥ | dṛḷhā | dṛṃherniṣṭhāyāṃ dṛḍhaḥ sthūlabalayoḥ | pā. 7-2-20 | iti nipātyate | śeśchandasi bahulamiti śerlopaḥ | abhinat | bhidir vidāraṇe | laṅi rudhādibhyaḥ śnam | itaścetīkāralope halṅyābbhya iti tilopaḥ | śuṣṇam | śuṣa śoṣaṇe | śoṣayatīti śuṣṇaḥ | tṛṣiśuṣirasibhyaḥ kit | u. 3-12 | iti napratyayaḥ | nityanuvṛtterādyudāttatvam | avadhīḥ | luṅi ceti hantervadhādeśaḥ | pṛtanyum | pṛtanāśabdātkyaci kavyadhvarapṛtanasyetyantyalopaḥ | kyācchandasītyupratyayaḥ ‖ ‖ 12 ‖

(The bhāṣya runs onto p. 52 at "तत ऊर्ध्वं" — so printed, not "तथा ऊर्ध्वं"; "Ni. 6-19" and "उ. ३-१२" zoom-checked.)

Translation: "Ilībiśasya — belonging to Vṛtra, who lies in a hole (bila) of the earth (ilā) — 'ilābilaśayasya', says Yāska (Ni. 6-19). Dṛḷhā — the abundant waters, made firm, held back by the asura — Indra ni avidhyat, pierced thoroughly. Or: he thoroughly pierced the strong (dṛḷhāni) armies. After that, he vi abhinat — struck in various ways — Vṛtra, śṛṅgiṇam — furnished with weapons like the horns of cows, buffaloes and the like — śuṣṇam, the drier-up of the world. O Maghavan, Indra endowed with wealth, with all of your yāvat taraḥ, whatever speed there is, and yāvad ojaḥ, whatever strength there is — endowed with all of that you avadhīḥ, killed, with the vajra the enemy Vṛtra, pṛtanyum, wishing for pṛtanā, battle." (The grammatical tail: avidhyat — root vyadh, saṃprasāraṇa before śyan by grahijyā…; when the verb loses its accent by tiṅ atiṅaḥ, the augment a becomes svarita in the Saṃhitā by udāttasvaritayor yaṇaḥ…; ilībiśasya — the intended form and accent by the pṛṣodarādi class; dṛḷhā — dṛḍha from dṛṃh in the niṣṭhā by dṛḍhaḥ sthūlabalayoḥ, Pā. 7-2-20, irregular; śi dropped by śeś chandasi bahulam; abhinat — root bhidir, śnam, loss of i by itaś ca and of t by halṅyābbhyaḥ; śuṣṇam — “it dries”, suffix na by tṛṣiśuṣirasibhyaḥ kit, Uṇ. 3-12, initial acute by the continued nit; avadhīḥ — vadha for han by luṅi ca; pṛtanyum — kyac after pṛtanā, loss of the final by kavyadhvarapṛtanasya…, the suffix u by kyāc chandasi.)

Page 52

(The bhāṣya from “तत ऊर्ध्वं” and its grammatical tail stand on p. 52.)

Pratipadārtha (p. 52) — “ilībiśasya — of Vṛtra, who lay in the burrows of the earth (which are like caves); dṛḷhā — the strong armies (or the streams of water that had been held back); indraḥ — Indra; ni avidhyat — destroyed (made them flow freely); śṛṅgiṇam — furnished with weapons like the horns of animals; śuṣṇam — Vṛtra, who makes the earth dry; vi abhinat — struck well; maghavan — O Indra, possessed of riches; yāvat taraḥ — as much speed; yāvad ojaḥ — as much strength (as there is, endowed with that speed and strength); pṛtanyum — wishing for battle and standing opposed; śatrum — Vṛtra; vajreṇa — with the thunderbolt-weapon; avadhīḥ — you killed.”

Page 53

Bhāvārtha (pp. 52–53) — “Lying in a hole of the deep earth, Vṛtra, hard for enemies to master, had held back the water (the mass of clouds); Indra split it and made the water pour down. Indra destroyed the strong armies of the asura Vṛtra. (Because Vṛtra lay in the deep caves of the earth, the streams of water there were held back. Then Indra struck him well and made that water flow freely.) O Indra, you showed your whole speed and strength and killed with the thunderbolt Vṛtra, who makes the whole world dry, who has splendour and sharp weapons like the horns of animals, who called you to battle and stood opposed to you.”

English Translation (the source’s own, p. 53) — “Indra set free the waters obstructed by Vritra, when sleeping in the caverns of the earth and slew the horned dryer up of the world. O Maghavan, you with equal swiftness and strength, killed the enemy defying you in bıttle [sic] with your thunderbolt.” (The heading is printed “English translation”; “bıttle” as printed, with a dotless letter for a*.)*

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 53–54 - ilībiśasya — “This word is not used anywhere in the Ṛgveda except in this ṛk. The great sage Yāska, in his Nirukta (Ni. 6-20, zoom-checked), explains the word thus:”

> इलीविशः । इलाबिलशयस्य एन्दरे, मेघः अभिधेयः । स हि इलाहेतोरुदकस्य आत्मीयानि निर्गमनबिलानि संरुध्य शेते । तस्यैव वा बिलेषु इलाहेतुरुदकं शेते इति इलीविशः ॥

ilīviśaḥ | ilābilaśayasya endare, meghaḥ abhidheyaḥ | sa hi ilāhetorudakasya ātmīyāni nirgamanabilāni saṃrudhya śete | tasyaiva vā bileṣu ilāheturudakaṃ śete iti ilīviśaḥ ||

(As printed: इलीविशः with व at both ends of the quotation (the Ṛk has इलीबिश); “एन्दरे” is the Kannada word ಎಂದರೆ, “that is”, inside the quotation.) “Ilīviśaḥ — ‘ilābilaśayasya’, that is: the cloud is meant. For it lies having shut up the outflow-holes of the water that is the cause of food (ilā); or, in its holes lies the water that is the cause of food: hence ilīviśaḥ. Since water always stays in hollows, ilīviśa means water or the cloud; the meaning is that Vṛtra lay there obstructing the cloud so that it should not rain." - dṛḷhā — dṛḍhā, dṛḍhāni | durbhedyāni ||: "firm, hard to break." - śṛṅgiṇam — gomahiṣādiśṛṅgasamānair āyudhair upetam |: "Vṛtra, who had weapons like the horns of animals such as cows and buffaloes. If explained with reference to the cloud: śṛṅgiṇam — śikharavantaṃ dīptimantaṃ vā |: on the peak of a mountain, i.e. a cloud very high in the mid-region, or a cloud joined with brilliant lightning." - śuṣṇam — jagataḥ śoṣakam | śuṣa śoṣaṇe | śoṣayatīti śuṣṇaḥ |: "he who dries up the world, i.e. who holds back the rain and makes the whole world dry." - taraḥ, ojaḥ — "having speed, and having strength." - maghavan — maghamiti dhananāmadheyaṃ maṃhater dānakarmaṇaḥ | (Ni. 1-7, zoom-checked): "magha means wealth. Because he has wealth, Indra is called maghavan. In the Ṛgveda the word is generally used of Indra."

Page 54

- pṛtanyum — "Since the word pṛtanāḥ is read among the forty-six words naming battle, beginning with raṇaḥ, vivāk (Ni. 3-9 as printed, zoom-checked), pṛtanāḥ means battle; pṛtanyum means one who wishes to fight, ready for battle and standing opposed."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 54–55, grammar pages — noted briefly; numerals zoom-checked): avidhyat — root vyadha tāḍane, laṅ, tip, loss of i; divādibhyaḥ śyan — दिवादिभ्यः श्यन् (divādibhyaḥ śyan) — Pā. 3-1-69; sārvadhātukam apit makes śyan ṅit; grahijyāvayivyadhivaṣṭivicativṛścatipṛcchatibhṛjjatīnāṃ ṅiti ca — ग्रहिज्यावयिव्यधिवष्टिविचतिवृश्चतिपृच्छतिभृज्रतीनां ङिति च (grahijyāvayivyadhivaṣṭivicativṛścatipṛcchatibhṛjjatīnāṃ ṅiti ca) — Pā. 6-1-16: before a kit or ṅit suffix these roots take saṃprasāraṇa: i for y, then pūrvarūpa: vidh + ya + t; the augment aṭ: avidhyat; tiṅ atiṅaḥ makes it wholly anudātta; udāttasvaritayor yaṇaḥ svarito 'nudāttasya — उदात्तस्वरितयोर्यणः स्वरितोऽनुदात्तस्य (udāttasvaritayor yaṇaḥ svarito 'nudāttasya) — Pā. 8-2-4: an anudātta following a yaṇ (y v r l) that has come in the place of an udātta or svarita becomes svarita; example abhy abhi: abhi is end-acute, and y has come in place of its i; by anudāttaṃ ca — अनुदात्तं च (anudāttaṃ ca) — Pā. 8-1-3 the second member of a doubled word is anudātta, so the second abhi is anudātta, and since it follows a yaṇ standing for an acute it becomes svarita. Here ni, by upasargāś cābhivarjam (Phi. Sū., no number printed), is initial-acute; its i becomes y by iko yaṇ aci, a yaṇ standing for an acute, so the a of the following augment aṭ becomes svarita by this sūtra. — ilībiśasya — pṛṣodarādīni yathopadiṣṭam — पृषोदरादीनि यथोपदिष्टम् (pṛṣodarādīni yathopadiṣṭam) — Pā. 6-3-109: words like pṛṣodara are correct as the cultured pronounce them; so ilībiśasya is established.

dṛḷhā — dṛha dṛhi vṛddhau, first class; an idit root, so idito num dhātoḥ — इदितो नुम् धातोः (idito num dhātoḥ) — Pā. 7-1-58 gives the augment num; naś cāpadāntasya jhali — नश्चापदान्तस्य झलि (naś cāpadāntasya jhali) — Pā. 8-3-24 makes the n an anusvāra; then the suffix kta; dṛḍhaḥ sthūlabalayoḥ — दृढः स्थूलबलयोः (dṛḍhaḥ sthūlabalayoḥ) — Pā. 7-2-20: dṛḍha is irregularly formed in the senses "stout" or "strong" — absence of iṭ before kta, ḍh for the t, loss of h, and loss of the n in this idit root are all nipātana; śas, for which jaśśasoḥ śiḥ gives śi, which is sarvanāmasthāna; napuṃsakasya jhalacaḥ — नपुंसकस्य झलचः (napuṃsakasya jhalacaḥ) — Pā. 7-1-72 gives num: dṛḍhan + śi; sarvanāmasthāne cāsambuddhau — सर्वनामस्थाने चासम्बुद्धौ (sarvanāmasthāne cāsambuddhau) — Pā. 6-4-8 lengthens the penultimate; śeś chandasi bahulam — शेश्छन्दसि बहुलम् (śeś chandasi bahulam) — Pā. 6-1-70: in the Veda śi is often dropped —

(dṛḷhā, continued) so śi is dropped; nalopaḥ prātipadikāntasya — नलोपः प्रातिपदिकान्तस्य (nalopaḥ prātipadikāntasya) — Pā. 8-2-7 drops the n: dṛḍhā. By "अज्मध्यस्थडकारस्य ळकारं बह्वृचा जगुः । अज्मध्यस्थढकारस्य ळ्हकारं वै यथाक्रमम्" (ajmadhyasthaḍakārasya ḷakāraṃ bahvṛcā jaguḥ | ajmadhyasthaḍhakārasya ḷhakāraṃ vai yathākramam) — "the Bahvṛcas sing ḷa for a ḍa between vowels, and ḷha for a ḍha between vowels, respectively" — the ḍh becomes ḷh. — abhinat — bhidir vidāraṇe, laṅ, tip; rudhādibhyaḥ śnam — रुधादिभ्यः श्नम् (rudhādibhyaḥ śnam) — Pā. 3-1-78; śnam is mit, so it comes after the last vowel; itaś ca — इतश्च (itaś ca) — Pā. 3-4-100 drops the i of a parasmaipada ending in place of a ṅit lakāra; the augment aṭ: abhinad + t; halṅyābbhyo… — Pā. 6-1-68 drops the single-consonant ending t; vāvasāne — वावसाने (vāvasāne) — Pā. 8-4-56 gives t for d. — śuṣṇam — śuṣa śoṣaṇe, a divādi root; tṛṣiśuṣirasibhyaḥ kit — तृषिशुषिरसिभ्यः कित् (tṛṣiśuṣirasibhyaḥ kit) — Uṇ. Sū. 3–292 as printed (zoom-checked: "३—२९२" with a double dash; the bhāṣya on p. 52 cites the same sūtra as "उ. ३-१२"): by the Uṇādi sūtra kṛvṛjṝ… nit is carried on; after ñitṛṣā pipāsāyām, śuṣa śoṣaṇe, rasa śabde the suffix na comes, and it is kit and nit: śuṣ + na; being kit, no laghūpadha-guṇa; raṣābhyāṃ no ṇaḥ samānapade — रषाभ्यां नो णः समानपदे (raṣābhyāṃ no ṇaḥ samānapade) — Pā. 8-4-1 gives ṇ; the nit accent gives initial acute. — avadhīḥ — hana hiṃsāgatyoḥ, an adādi root, laṅ [as printed], sip, aṭ, loss of i by itaś ca; cli, sic: ahan + s + s; luṅi ca — लुङि च (luṅi ca) — Pā. 2-4-43: before luṅ, han is replaced by the a-final vadha: avadha + s + s, loss of a, iṭ, īṭ, loss of sic (sijlopaḥ…), savarṇadīrgha; halṅyābbhyaḥ… drops the s; ru and visarga. — pṛtanyum — pṛtanām ātmana icchati iti pṛtanyuḥ, tam; supa ātmanaḥ kyac — सुप आत्मनः क्यच् (supa ātmanaḥ kyac) — Pā. 3-1-8 gives kyac; kavyadhvarapṛtanasyarci lopaḥ — कव्यध्वरपृतनस्यर्चि लोपः (kavyadhvarapṛtanasyarci lopaḥ) — Pā. 7-4-39: in the domain of a ṛk, the final of kavi, adhvara, pṛtanā is dropped before kyac: pṛtanya; kyāc chandasi — क्याच्छन्दसि (kyāc chandasi) — Pā. 3-2-170: after a stem in kya, in the senses of habit etc., the suffix u comes in the Veda; ato lopaḥ drops the a. Rik 12 ends here (|| 12 ||).

Rik 33.13 (pp. 55–60, PDF 69–74)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (pp. 55–56; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented; the last word is divided across the page in the print)

अ॒भि सि॒ध्मो अ॑जिगा॒दस्य शत्रू॒न्वि ति॒ग्मेन॑ वृष॒भेणा॒ पुरो॑ऽभेत् ।

सं वज्रे॑णासृजद्वृ॒त्रमिन्द्रः॒ प्र स्वां म॒तिम॑ति॒रच्छाश॑दानः ॥ १३ ॥

abhí sidhmó ajigād asyá śatrūn ví tigména vṛṣabhéṇā púro 'bhet | saṃ vájreṇāsṛjad vṛtrám indraḥ prá svām matím atirac chāśadānaḥ || 13 ||

(As printed: the anudātta of vṛtram stands under the conjunct ट्र, i.e. on vṛ.)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 56)

> अभि । सिध्मः । अजिगात् । अस्य । शत्रून् । वि । तिग्मेन । वृषभेण । पुरः । अभेत् । सम् । वज्रेण । असृजत् । वृत्रम् । इन्द्रः । प्र । स्वाम् । मतिम् । अतिरत् । शाशदानः ॥ १३ ॥

abhi | sidhmaḥ | ajigāt | asya | śatrūn | vi | tigmena | vṛṣabheṇa | puraḥ | abhet | sam | vajreṇa | asṛjat | vṛtram | indraḥ | pra | svām | matim | atirat | śāśadānaḥ || 13 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 56, in full; numerals zoom-checked)

> अस्येन्द्रस्य सिध्मः साधको वज्रः शत्रूनभि इन्द्रवैरिणोऽभिलक्ष्याजिगात् । गतवान् । जिगातिर्गतिकर्मा । गाति जिगातीति गतिकर्मसु पाठात् । स चेन्द्रस्तिग्मेन तीक्ष्णेन वृषभेण श्रेष्ठेनायुधेन तेन वज्रेण पुरो वृत्रस्य पुराणि व्यभेत् । विविधं भिन्नवान् । ततः स इन्द्रो वज्रेण स्वकीयेन वृत्रं समसृजत् । संयोजितवान् । संयोज्य च शाशदानो वृत्रं हिंसन् स्वां मतिं स्वकीयां हर्षोपेतां बुद्धिं प्रातिरत् । प्रकर्षेण वर्धितवान् ॥ सिध्मः । षिधु संराद्धौ । अस्मादौणादिको मक् । कित्त्वादगुणः । प्रत्ययस्वरः । अजिगात् । गा स्तुतौ । अत्र तु गत्यर्थः । जुहोत्यादित्वात् श्लुः । द्विर्भावे बहुलं छन्दसीत्यभ्यासस्येत्त्वम् । तिग्मेन । युजिरुचितिजां कुश्च । उ. १-१४[?] । इति मक् । कुत्वम् । वृषभेण । ऋषिवृषिभ्यां कित् । उ. ३-१२३ । इत्यनेनाभच् । अभेत् । भिदिर् विदारणे । श्नमि प्राप्ते व्यत्ययेन शप् । तस्य बहुलं छन्दसीति लुक् । लघूपधगुणे हल्ङ्याब्भ्य इति लोपः । यद्वा । लुङि च्लेर्लुक् । आतिरत् । प्रपूर्वस्तिरतिर्वर्धनार्थः । यद्वा । तरतेर्व्यत्ययेन शः । ऋत इद्धातोरितीत्त्वम् । शाशदानः । शद्लृ शातने । अस्माद्यङन्ताच्चानच् । तस्य छन्दस्युभयथेत्यार्धधातुकत्वादतो लोपयलोपौ । सार्वधातुकत्वादभ्यस्तानामादिरित्याद्युदात्तत्वम् ॥ ॥ १३ ॥

asyendrasya sidhmaḥ sādhako vajraḥ śatrūnabhi indravairiṇo 'bhilakṣyājigāt | gatavān | jigātirgatikarmā | gāti jigātīti gatikarmasu pāṭhāt | sa cendrastigmena tīkṣṇena vṛṣabheṇa śreṣṭhenāyudhena tena vajreṇa puro vṛtrasya purāṇi vyabhet | vividhaṃ bhinnavān | tataḥ sa indro vajreṇa svakīyena vṛtraṃ samasṛjat | saṃyojitavān | saṃyojya ca śāśadāno vṛtraṃ hiṃsan svāṃ matiṃ svakīyāṃ harṣopetāṃ buddhiṃ prātirat | prakarṣeṇa vardhitavān ‖ sidhmaḥ | ṣidhu saṃrāddhau | asmādauṇādiko mak | kittvādaguṇaḥ | pratyayasvaraḥ | ajigāt | gā stutau | atra tu gatyarthaḥ | juhotyāditvāt śluḥ | dvirbhāve bahulaṃ chandasītyabhyāsasyettvam | tigmena | yujirucitijāṃ kuśca | u. 1-14[?] | iti mak | kutvam | vṛṣabheṇa | ṛṣivṛṣibhyāṃ kit | u. 3-123 | ityanenābhac | abhet | bhidir vidāraṇe | śnami prāpte vyatyayena śap | tasya bahulaṃ chandasīti luk | laghūpadhaguṇe halṅyābbhya iti lopaḥ | yadvā | luṅi clerluk | ātirat | prapūrvastiratirvardhanārthaḥ | yadvā | taratervyatyayena śaḥ | ṛta iddhātoritīttvam | śāśadānaḥ | śadlṛ śātane | asmādyaṅantāccānac | tasya chandasyubhayathetyārdhadhātukatvādato lopayalopau | sārvadhātukatvādabhyastānāmādirityādyudāttatvam ‖ ‖ 13 ‖

(The Uṇādi number for yujirucitijāṃ kuś ca is printed Uṇ. 1-145 here; the grammar on p. 59 prints the same sūtra as Uṇ. 1-143. The bhāṣya's vṛṣabheṇa sūtra is printed 3-123; p. 59 prints it 3-403.)

Translation: "This Indra's sidhmaḥ — the accomplishing thunderbolt — ajigāt, went, śatrūn abhi, aiming at Indra's enemies. Jigāti is a verb of motion, because 'gāti, jigāti' are read among the verbs of motion. And that Indra, with the tigmena, sharp, vṛṣabheṇa, excellent weapon, that thunderbolt, puraḥ vi abhet — broke up variously the cities of Vṛtra. Then that Indra, with his own vajra, sam asṛjat — joined — Vṛtra; and having joined [him], śāśadānaḥ — injuring Vṛtra — pra atirat, greatly increased, svāṃ matim, his own understanding, now full of joy." (The grammatical tail: sidhmaḥ — root ṣidh, the Uṇādi suffix mak; no guṇa as it is kit; suffix accent; ajigāt — root gā "to praise", here in the sense of motion; ślu as a juhotyādi root; in the doubling, i for the reduplicate by bahulaṃ chandasi; tigmena — mak by the Uṇādi yujirucitijāṃ kuś ca, with kutva; vṛṣabheṇa — abhac by ṛṣivṛṣibhyāṃ kit; abhet — root bhid; śnam would be due, but śap by vyatyaya, dropped by bahulaṃ chandasi; laghūpadha-guṇa, then the loss by halṅyābbhyaḥ; or, the cli of luṅ dropped; ātirat — tir with pra in the sense of increasing; or tṝ with śa by vyatyaya and i by ṛta id dhātoḥ; śāśadānaḥ — root śadḷ, cānaś after its yaṅ form; ārdhadhātuka by chandasy ubhayathā, so loss of a and of y; sārvadhātuka too, so initial acute by abhyastānām ādiḥ.)

Page 57

Pratipadārtha (p. 57) — "asya — Indra's; sidhmaḥ — the thunderbolt-weapon that accomplishes the work; śatrūn abhi — aiming at the enemies; ajigāt — went and pierced; sa indraḥ — that Indra; tigmena — sharp (and); vṛṣabheṇa — with the excellent thunderbolt-weapon; puraḥ — the cities of the asura Vṛtra; vi abhet — smashed to pieces; vajreṇa — with the thunderbolt-weapon; vṛtram — Vṛtra; sam asṛjat — joined (struck); śāśadānaḥ — in this way destroying (injuring) the asura Vṛtra; svāṃ matim — his own understanding, full of joy; pra atirat — made it grow (that is, he was pleased)."

Bhāvārtha (p. 57) — "Indra's thunderbolt-weapon is exceedingly sharp and excellent. For the destruction of enemies this alone is Indra's chief means; by using it he destroyed all enemies. By it he demolished all the cities of the asura Vṛtra. He used it on the asura Vṛtra, injured him and destroyed him. From the joy thus arising he obtained self-satisfaction."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 57) — "The weapon of Indra fell upon his adversaries; with his sharp and excellent bolt he destroyed their cities ; he then getting his thunderbolt slew him and was pleased with his success."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 57–58 - sidhmaḥ — ṣidhu saṃrāddhau | sādhakaḥ |: "serving as the means; serving as the means for destroying the enemies in battle." - ajigāt — gatavān | jigātir gatikarmā | gāti jigātīti gatikarmasu pāṭhāt |: "Here ajigāt means 'went', 'pierced' and so on. There is a statement that the root jigāti may be given the sense of motion." - tigmena — tīkṣṇena | tigmaṃ tejater utsāhakarmaṇaḥ (Ni. 10-2, zoom-checked): "sharp. Yāska has given the word tigma the sense 'shining' or 'full of zeal'. And since the word tigmam is read among the eighteen names of the thunderbolt beginning with didyut, nemiḥ (Ni. 3-11 as printed, zoom-checked), the word tigma means the thunderbolt-weapon."

Page 58

> अषाळ्हाय सहमानाय वेधसे तिग्मायुधाय भरता शृणोतु नः ॥ (ऋ. सं. ७-४६-१)

aṣāḷhāya sahamānāya vedhase tigmāyudhāya bharatā śṛṇotu naḥ || (ṛ. saṃ. 7-46-1)

"In this ṛk the sense 'the shining, glittering thunderbolt-weapon' is indicated for the word tigma (Ni. 10-2). In the ṛk at hand, since there is the separate word vajreṇa, … [the print:] the sense 'thunderbolt-weapon' has been stated for the word tigma. The bhāṣyakāra gives the sense ‘shining, sharp’ and uses it as an adjective of the word vajreṇa.” (The reference is printed ೫೮. ೫೦. ೭-೪೬-೧, zoom-checked: the first digit is the flat-footed 7 — the earlier “6-46-1 [?]” is replaced; the print’s first word is अषाळ्हाय (short a). The source leaves the line untranslated; mine and tentative: “To the unconquerable, the overpowering ordainer, the one with the sharp weapon, bring [your songs]; may he hear us.”) - vṛṣabheṇa — śreṣṭhena |: “The word vṛṣabha — Yāska says:”

> वृषभः प्रजां वर्षतीति वातिबृहति रेत इति वा तद्वृषकर्मा वर्षणाद्वृषभः ।

vṛṣabhaḥ prajāṃ varṣatīti vātibṛhati reta iti vā tadvṛṣakarmā varṣaṇādvṛṣabhaḥ |

“thus giving the sense of the act of raining; but here the bhāṣyakāra gives the sense of modern Sanskrit, ‘best’.” (No Nirukta number is printed here; the old “Ni. [?]” is removed. The quotation as printed: “वातिबृहति रेत इति वा”; my tentative rendering: “the bull (vṛṣabha) — ‘he rains offspring’, or ‘he greatly increases (?) the seed’; it is a word for the act of raining: from raining, vṛṣabha.”) - puraḥ — vṛtrasya purāṇi |: “the cities of the asura Vṛtra.” - vajreṇa sam asṛjat — “the meaning is that he used the thunderbolt-weapon and struck.” - matiṃ pra atirat — “he increased his understanding greatly, that is, he rejoiced. The meaning is that because he destroyed the enemy, Indra’s mind became glad.” - śāśadānaḥ — śadḷ śātane | vṛtraṃ hiṃsan |: “one who injures, or destroys, the asura Vṛtra.”

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 58–60, grammar pages — noted briefly; numerals zoom-checked): sidhmaḥ — ṣidhu saṃrāddhau, a divādi root; after it the Uṇādi suffix mak; s for ṣ; as the suffix is kit, no laghūpadha-guṇa; suffix accent. — ajigāt — root gā stutau; it is read in the juhotyādi group in the sense of praise, but since roots have many senses it here conveys “going”; laṅ, tip, loss of i, śap; juhotyādibhyaḥ śluḥ — जुहोत्यादिभ्यः श्लुः (juhotyādibhyaḥ śluḥ) — Pā. 2-4-75 gives ślu; ślau — श्लौ (ślau) — Pā. 6-1-10 gives doubling: gā-gā + t; hrasvaḥ shortens the reduplicate; kuhoś cuḥ gives j for g; bhṛñām it — भृञामित् (bhṛñām it) — Pā. 7-4-76; after it bahulaṃ chandasi — बहुलं छन्दसि (bahulaṃ chandasi) — Pā. 7-4-78 is read, and by this sūtra the reduplicate gets i; the augment aṭ: ajigāt.

Page 59

tigmena — yujirucitijāṃ kuś ca — युजिरुचितिजां कुश्च (yujirucitijāṃ kuś ca) — Uṇ. Sū. 1-143: after the roots yujir yoge, ruca dīptau, tija niśāne the suffix mak comes, and a k-class letter akin to the final of these roots comes as substitute: after tij, mak, and g, the third of the class, for j; being kit, no guṇa: tigma; instrumental singular. — vṛṣabheṇa — ṛṣivṛṣibhyāṃ kit — ऋषिवृषिभ्यां कित् (ṛṣivṛṣibhyāṃ kit) — Uṇ. Sū. 3-403 as printed [sic: the middle glyph is the ४-like 4, as in 1-143 above; the bhāṣya prints 3-123]: after ṛṣī gatau and vṛṣa secane, abhac comes and it is kit; so after vṛṣ, abhac, and as it is kit, no laghūpadha-guṇa. — abhet — bhidir vidāraṇe, a rudhādi root, so śnam would properly come; but here śap comes by vyatyaya; laṅ, tip, loss of i; luk of śap; aṭ: abhid + t; laghūpadha-guṇa; halṅyābbhyo dīrghāt sutisyapṛktaṃ hal — हल्ङ्याब्भ्यो दीर्घात्सुतिस्यपृक्तं हल् (halṅyābbhyo dīrghāt sutisyapṛktaṃ hal) — Pā. 6-1-68: after a consonant-final word, or one ending in the long ṅī or āp, the single-consonant (apṛkta) s, ti, si are dropped; though the i has been dropped, the ti-status is accounted for by bhūtapūrvagati; a suffix of a single letter is called apṛkta; so the t is dropped, cartva: abhet. This is correct only in the Veda; in the world it is abhinat. That is one way. Another: after the same root, luṅ, tip, loss of i, aṭ; cli luṅi gives cli, which is dropped by Vedic usage; laghūpadha-guṇa: abhet. In the first account one must state both śap by vyatyaya and its Vedic luk; in the second it is enough to state only the luk, a gain in brevity; for this reason the Veda-bhāṣya gives another explanation with "yadvā". — ātirat [the print's heading reads atirat] — tira vṛddhau: this root is not in the present Dhātupāṭha; but it should be included there, since the bhvādi — and so too the tudādi — is an ākṛtigaṇa; then laṅ, tip, the vikaraṇa śa, aṭ, no guṇa. That the bhvādi is an ākṛtigaṇa is agreed by all; that the tudādi is one is not agreed by all; considering it more proper to assume a change of vikaraṇa after an established root than to imagine a new root by taking the tudādi as an ākṛtigaṇa, the Veda-bhāṣya shows the derivation another way: tṝ plavanataraṇayoḥ, bhvādi; then laṅ, tip, loss of i, aṭ, śa instead of śap by vyatyaya: a-tṝ + a + t; ṛta id dhātoḥ — ऋत इद्धातोः (ṛta id dhātoḥ) — Pā. 7-1-100: the ṝ of a root that is an aṅga ending in ṝ is replaced by i, which comes with r (raparatva): atirat.

Page 60

śāśadānaḥ — śadḷ śātane, a tudādi root; dhātor ekāco… gives yaṅ; sanyaṅoḥ — सन्यङोः (sanyaṅoḥ) — Pā. 6-1-9 doubling; halādiḥ śeṣaḥ removes the reduplicate's extra consonant: śaśad + ya; dīrgho 'kitaḥ — दीर्घोऽकितः (dīrgho 'kitaḥ) — Pā. 7-4-83: before yaṅ a reduplicate that is not kit is lengthened: śāśad + ya; then laṭ, and laṭaḥ śatṛśānacau gives śānac; chandasy ubhayathā — छन्दस्युभयथा (chandasy ubhayathā) — Pā. 6-4-117 [as printed]: a suffix prescribed in the section on roots has, in the Veda, both the sārvadhātuka and the ārdhadhātuka designation; so it is ārdhadhātuka; yasya halaḥ — यस्य हलः (yasya halaḥ) — Pā. 6-4-49 takes yasya as a sequence: before an ārdhadhātuka, ya after a consonant is dropped; by the paribhāṣā ādeḥ parasya — आदेः परस्य (ādeḥ parasya) — Pā. 1-1-54, an operation prescribed for what follows applies to its first letter, so it comes to y; then ato lopaḥ — अतो लोपः (ato lopaḥ) — Pā. 6-4-48 drops the a; as it is ārdhadhātuka, śap does not come. It also has the sārvadhātuka designation, so by abhyastānām ādiḥ — अभ्यस्तानामादिः (abhyastānām ādiḥ) — Pā. 6-1-189, before a vowel-initial lasārvadhātuka without iṭ, the beginning of the abhyasta is acute, and the acute comes on the first syllable of śāśad. Rik 13 ends here (|| 13 ||).

Rik 33.14 (pp. 60–66, PDF 74–80)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 60; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented)

> आव॒ः कुत्स॑मिन्द्र॒ यस्मि॑ञ्चा॒कन्प्रावो॒ युध्य॑न्तं वृष॒भं दश॑द्युम् । श॒फच्यु॑तो रे॒णुर्न॑क्षत॒ द्यामुच्छ्वै॒त्रेयो नृ॒षाह्या॑य तस्थौ ॥ १४ ॥
>
> āvaḥ kútsam indra yásmiñ cākán prāvo yúdhyantaṃ vṛṣabháṃ dáśadyum |
> śaphácyuto reṇúr nakṣata dyā́m úcchvaitreyó nṛṣā́hyāya tasthau || 14 ||

(As printed: the only marks in āvaḥ and prāvo are the underlines under ವಃ and ವೋ; in yudhyantam a single svarita stroke over ಧ್ಯ; in nakṣata the stroke stands over ನ್ಷ. The IAST acutes are derived mechanically from these marks.)

Pada-pāṭha (pp. 60–61)

> आवः । कुत्सम् । इन्द्र । यस्मिन् । चाकन् । प्र । आवः । युध्यन्तम् । वृषभम् । दशऽद्युम् ।

शफऽच्युतः । रेणुः । नक्षत । द्याम् । उत् । श्वैत्रेयः । नृऽसह्याय । तस्थौ ॥ १४ ॥

āvaḥ | kutsam | indra | yasmin | cākan | pra | āvaḥ | yudhyantam | vṛṣabham | daśa-dyum | śapha-cyutaḥ | reṇuḥ | nakṣata | dyām | ut | śvaitreyaḥ | nṛ-sahyāya | tasthau || 14 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 61, in full; numerals zoom-checked)

हे इन्द्र कुत्समेतन्नामकं गोत्रप्रवर्तकमृषिमावः । रक्षितवानसि । यस्मिन्कुत्से चाकन् स्तुतिं कामयमानो वर्तसे । तं कुत्समिति पूर्वत्रान्वयः । तथा दशद्युमेतन्नामकं दशसु दिक्षु दीप्यमानमृषिं प्रावः । प्रकर्षेण रक्षितवानसि ॥ कीदृशम् । युध्यन्तं स्वकीयैः शत्रुभिः सह युद्धं कुर्वन्तं वृषभं गुणैः श्रेष्ठम् । शफच्युतस्त्वदीयाश्वस्य शफात्पतितो रेणुर्धूलिर्द्यां द्युलोकं नक्षत । प्राप्नोति । श्वैत्रेयः । श्वित्राख्याया योषितः पुत्रः पुरा शत्रुभयाज्जले मग्नः सन् त्वदनुग्रहान्नृसह्याय नृभिः पुरुषैः सोढव्यायोत्तस्थौ । जलादुत्थितवान् ॥ चाकन् । चक तृप्तौ । अस्माण्ण्यन्ताच्छतृ । छन्दस्युभयथेत्यार्धधातुकत्वाण्णिलोपः शबभावश्च । प्रत्ययस्वरेणान्तोदात्तत्वम् । यद्वा । कमु कान्ताावित्यस्माद्यङ्लुगन्ताल्लङि सिप्यभ्यासस्य नुमभावश्छान्दसः । दीर्घोऽकित इति दीर्घत्वम् । सिलोपे मो नो धातोः । पा. ८-२-६४ । इति मकारस्य नकारः । धातुस्वरः । यद्वृत्तयोगादनिघातः । युध्यन्तम् । व्यत्ययेन परस्मैपदम् । दशद्युम् । दीव्यतेः प्रकाशार्थात्संपदादिलक्षणः क्विप् । च्छ्वोः शूडित्यूठ् । दशसु दिक्षु द्युर्यस्यासौ दशद्युः । छान्दसं ह्रस्वत्वम् । यद्वा । द्युशब्दोऽहर्नामसु पठितः । तेन प्रवृत्तिनिमित्तभूतः प्रकाशो लक्ष्यते । बहुव्रीहौ पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् । शफच्युतः शफेन च्युतः । तृतीया कर्मणीति पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् । नक्षत । नक्ष गतौ । व्यत्ययेनात्मनेपदम् । श्वैत्रेयः । श्वित्राया अपत्यम् । स्त्रीभ्यो ढक् । पा. ४-१-१२० । नृसह्याय शकिसहोश्च । पा. ३-१-९९ । इति कर्मणि यत् । यतोऽनाव इत्याद्युदात्तत्वम् । समासे कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् । पूर्वपदात् । पा. ८-३-१०६ । इति षत्वम् । संहितायां दीर्घश्छान्दसः ॥

he indra kutsametannāmakaṃ gotrapravartakamṛṣimāvaḥ | rakṣitavānasi | yasminkutse cākan stutiṃ kāmayamāno vartase | taṃ kutsamiti pūrvatrānvayaḥ | tathā daśadyumetannāmakaṃ daśasu dikṣu dīpyamānamṛṣiṃ prāvaḥ | prakarṣeṇa rakṣitavānasi ‖ kīdṛśam | yudhyantaṃ svakīyaiḥ śatrubhiḥ saha yuddhaṃ kurvantaṃ vṛṣabhaṃ guṇaiḥ śreṣṭham | śaphacyutastvadīyāśvasya śaphātpatito reṇurdhūlirdyāṃ dyulokaṃ nakṣata | prāpnoti | śvaitreyaḥ | śvitrākhyāyā yoṣitaḥ putraḥ purā śatrubhayājjale magnaḥ san tvadanugrahānnṛsahyāya nṛbhiḥ puruṣaiḥ soḍhavyāyottasthau | jalādutthitavān ‖ cākan | caka tṛptau | asmāṇṇyantācchatṛ | chandasyubhayathetyārdhadhātukatvāṇṇilopaḥ śababhāvaśca | pratyayasvareṇāntodāttatvam | yadvā | kamu kāntāvityasmādyaṅlugantāllaṅi sipyabhyāsasya numabhāvaścāndasaḥ | dīrgho 'kita iti dīrghatvam | silope mo no dhātoḥ | pā. 8-2-64 | iti makārasya nakāraḥ | dhātusvaraḥ | yadvṛttayogādanighātaḥ | yudhyantam | vyatyayena parasmaipadam | daśadyum | dīvyateḥ prakāśārthātsaṃpadādilakṣaṇaḥ kvip | cchvoḥ śūḍityūṭh | daśasu dikṣu dyuryasyāsau daśadyuḥ | chāndasaṃ hrasvatvam | yadvā | dyuśabdo 'harnāmasu paṭhitaḥ | tena pravṛttinimittabhūtaḥ prakāśo lakṣyate | bahuvrīhau pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvam | śaphacyutaḥ śaphena cyutaḥ | tṛtīyā karmaṇīti pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvam | nakṣata | nakṣa gatau | vyatyayenātmanepadam | śvaitreyaḥ | śvitrāyā apatyam | strībhyo ḍhak | pā. 4-1-120 | nṛsahyāya śakisahośca | pā. 3-1-99 | iti karmaṇi yat | yato 'nāva ityādyudāttatvam | samāse kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvam | pūrvapadāt | pā. 8-3-106 | iti ṣatvam | saṃhitāyāṃ dīrghaśchāndasaḥ ‖

(The print has शफात्पतितो (the earlier text had प्रच्युतो).)

Translation: "O Indra, you āvaḥ — protected — the ṛṣi named Kutsa, the founder of a gotra, in whom you are cākan, desiring praise: 'that Kutsa' is to be construed with what precedes. Likewise you prāvaḥ — protected excellently — the ṛṣi named Daśadyu, shining in the ten directions. What was he like? Yudhyantam — fighting with his own enemies; vṛṣabham — excellent in qualities. Śaphacyutaḥ — the dust (reṇuḥ) fallen from the hoofs of your horse — nakṣata, reaches, dyām, the heavenly world. Śvaitreyaḥ — the son of the woman named Śvitrā [as printed], who formerly, from fear of enemies, had sunk in the water, by your favour ut tasthau — rose out of the water — nṛsahyāya, to be borne by men." (The grammatical tail: cākan — root cak "to be satisfied", śatṛ after its causative; by chandasy ubhayathā it is ārdhadhātuka, so ṇi is dropped and there is no śap; final acute by the suffix accent. Or: from kam "to desire", yaṅ-luk, laṅ, sip; absence of the reduplicate's nuk is Vedic; lengthening by dīrgho 'kitaḥ; after the loss of s, n for m by mo no dhātoḥ, Pā. 8-2-64; root accent; no loss of accent because of yat. Yudhyantam — parasmaipada by vyatyaya. Daśadyum — kvip of the sampadādi type after div "to shine"; ūṭh by cchvoḥ śūṭ…; "he whose brilliance is in the ten directions"; the shortening is Vedic; or dyu is read among the names of day, and so indicates the light that is the ground of its use; first-member accent in the bahuvrīhi. Śaphacyutaḥ — "fallen by the hoof", first-member accent by tṛtīyā karmaṇi. Nakṣata — root nakṣ "to go", ātmanepada by vyatyaya. Śvaitreyaḥ — "offspring of Śvitrā", ḍhak by strībhyo ḍhak, Pā. 4-1-120. Nṛsahyāya — yat in the object sense by śakisahoś ca, Pā. 3-1-99; initial acute by yato 'nāvaḥ; in the compound the kṛt-final last member keeps its accent; ṣ by pūrvapadāt, Pā. 8-3-106; the lengthening in the Saṃhitā is Vedic.)

Pratipadārtha (pp. 61–62) — "indra — O Indra; yasmin — in which ṛṣi named Kutsa (from the ṛṣi); cākan — (to hear the hymns) you who were pleased; kutsam — Kutsa; āvaḥ — you protected; yudhyantam — fighting with enemies; vṛṣabham — endowed with the best qualities; daśadyum — the ṛṣi named Daśadyu; prāvaḥ — you protected well; śaphacyutaḥ — (your horse's) risen up from the hoofs; reṇuḥ — dust; dyum [as printed] — the mid-region; nakṣata — touches; (sunk in the water from fear of enemies) śvaitreyaḥ — the son of the woman called Śvitrī (by your favour); nṛsahyāya — in order to be lifted by men with respect; ut tasthau — rose up from the water."

Bhāvārtha (pp. 62–63) — "O Indra, you protect all who depend on you. Pleased by his hymns, you protected with regard Kutsa, skilled in making hymns. You protected Daśadyu too, endowed with the best qualities, who was engaged in battle with enemies. The dust raised by the hoofs of your horse pervades even the mid-region. The son of Śvitrī, who had sunk in the water from fear of enemies, rose up fearless with your help. He was honoured by men."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 62) — "O Indra, you have protected Kutsa grateful for his praises; you have defended the excellent Dasadyu engaged in battle ; the dust of your horses' hoofs ascended to heaven ; the Son of Swithra through your favour rose up (from the waters) to be again borne by men."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 62–64

kutsam — “The one called Kutsa is a well-known ṛṣi and the founder of the gotra called Kutsa. It is said in many places of the Ṛgveda that this ṛṣi was Indra’s chief friend. This ṛṣi is the seer of sūktas 94–98 and 101–115 of the first maṇḍala of the Ṛgveda, and of ṛks 45–58 in the 97th sūkta of the ninth maṇḍala — in all 226 ṛks (all as printed, zoom-checked). In the Ṛgveda there is, in —”

> कुत्सा एते हर्यश्वाय शूषमिन्द्रे सहो देवजूतमियानाः ॥ (ऋ. सं. ७-२५-५)

kutsā ete haryaśvāya śūṣam indre saho devajūtam iyānāḥ || (ṛ. saṃ. 7-25-5)

“— an account of the descendants of the ṛṣi Kutsa. Not much more about this ṛṣi has come down to us in the Ṛgveda. But in the Ṛgveda, in —”

> अहं कुत्समार्जुनेयं न्यृञ्जेऽहं कविरुशना पश्य मा ॥ (ऋ. सं. ४-२६-१)

> त्वं ह त्यदिन्द्र कुत्समावः शुश्रूषमाणस्तन्वा समर्ये । दासं यच्छुष्णं कुयवं न्यस्मा अरन्धय आर्जुनेयाय शिक्षन् ॥ (ऋ. सं. ७-१९-२) वहत्कुत्समार्जुनेयं शतक्रतुः त्सरद्गन्धर्वमस्तृतम् ॥ (ऋ. सं. ८-१-११)

ahaṃ kutsam ārjuneyaṃ nyṛñje ’haṃ kavir uśanā paśya mā || (ṛ. saṃ. 4-26-1) tvaṃ ha tyad indra kutsam āvaḥ śuśrūṣamāṇas tanvā samarye | dāsaṃ yac chuṣṇaṃ kuyavaṃ ny asmā arandhaya ārjuneyāya śikṣan || (ṛ. saṃ. 7-19-2) vahat kutsam ārjuneyaṃ śatakratuḥ tsarad gandharvam astṛtam || (ṛ. saṃ. 8-1-11)

“— in these ṛks Kutsa is called Ārjuneya, i.e. ‘the son of Arjuna’. But in the Anukramaṇikā, when naming the ṛṣi of the sūktas mentioned above, it is said ‘Kutsa Āṅgirasaḥ’, i.e. Kutsa the son of the ṛṣi Aṅgiras. Probably Kutsa Āṅgirasa means that Arjuna was a descendant of the ṛṣi Aṅgiras. And —”

> अहं पितेव वेतसूँरभिष्टये तुग्रं कुत्साय स्मदिभं च रन्धयम् ॥ (ऋ. सं. १०-४९ ४)

ahaṃ piteva vetasūm̐r abhiṣṭaye tugraṃ kutsāya smadibhaṃ ca randhayam || (ṛ. saṃ. 10-49 4)

“— in this ṛk it is said that Kutsa defeated the Vetasus, Tugra and Smadibha in battle.”

> (१) त्वमाविथ सुश्रवसं तवोतिभिस्तव त्रा[?]मभिरिन्द्र तूर्वयाणम् । त्वमस्मै कुत्समतिथिग्वमायुं महे राज्ञे यूने अरन्धनाय ॥ (ऋ. सं. १-५३-१०) (२) कुत्सस्यायोरतिथिग्वस्य वीरान् न्यावृणग्भरता सोममस्मै । (ऋ. सं. २-१४-७) (३) य आयुं कुत्समतिथिग्वमर्दयो वावृधानो दिवेदिवे । (ऋ. सं. ८-५३-२)

(1) tvam āvitha suśravasaṃ tavotibhis tava trā[?]mabhir indra tūrvayāṇam | tvam asmai kutsam atithigvam āyuṃ mahe rājñe yūne arandhanāya || (ṛ. saṃ. 1-53-10) (2) kutsasyāyor atithigvasya vīrān ny āvṛṇag bharatā somam asmai | (ṛ. saṃ. 2-14-7) (3) ya āyuṃ kutsam atithigvam ardayo vāvṛdhāno dive-dive | (ṛ. saṃ. 8-53-2)

(In no. 1 the print reads ತಾಮ್ರಭಿ / ತ್ರಾಮಭಿ — the conjunct is unclear; no. 1 ends अरन्धनाय in the print.) “— in these ṛks it is said that Indra defeated the kings named Kutsa, Atithigva and Āyu, and subdued and protected the kings named Suśravas and Tūrvayāṇa. Therefore the one called Kutsa mentioned here may be the name of a king; one has to say that this king and the ṛṣi Kutsa mentioned above have no connection whatever and are two different persons. And —"

> त्वं कुत्सं शुष्णहत्येष्वाविथारन्धयोऽतिथिग्वाय शम्बरम् । (ऋ. सं. १-५१-६) त्व कविं चोदयोऽर्कसातौ त्वं कुत्साय शुष्णं दाशुषे वर्क् । (ऋ. सं. ६-२६-३)

tvaṃ kutsaṃ śuṣṇahatyeṣv āvithārandhayo 'tithigvāya śambaram | (ṛ. saṃ. 1-51-6) tva kaviṃ codayo 'rkasātau tvaṃ kutsāya śuṣṇaṃ dāśuṣe vark | (ṛ. saṃ. 6-26-3)

"— in these ṛks Indra is praised for having fought the asura called Śuṣṇa and protected Kutsa." (All references zoom-checked on the better scan; they replace the earlier 7-19-8, 1-53-10 etc. marked [?]. "त्व कविं" and " १०-४९ ४" (no dash) are as printed. The source leaves these ṛks untranslated. My glosses, mine and tentative*: 10.49.4 "I, like a father, for his desire, subdued for Kutsa the Vetasus, Tugra and Smadibha"; 1.51.6 "you protected Kutsa in the slayings of Śuṣṇa, you subdued Śambara for Atithigva"; 6.26.3 "you urged on the poet in the winning of the hymn's prize, you tore away Śuṣṇa for Kutsa the worshipper".)*

cākan — caka tṛptau | stutiṃ kāmayamānaḥ |: "one who longs to hear hymns."

daśadyum — daśasu dikṣu dīpyamānam etannāmakam ṛṣim |: "The bhāṣyakāra explains this word as 'the ṛṣi named Daśadyu, who shines with brilliance in all ten directions'. This word occurs in the Ṛgveda, apart from this ṛk, only in —"

> त्वं रथ प्र भरो योधमृष्वमावो युध्यन्तं वृषभं दशद्युम् ॥ (ऋ. सं. ६-२६-४.)

tvaṃ ratha praṃ bharo yodham ṛṣvam āvo yudhyantaṃ vṛṣabhaṃ daśadyum || (ṛ. saṃ. 6-26-4.)

"— there too Indra is praised: 'you protected this ṛṣi'. No particular facts are known about this ṛṣi." ("रथ प्रं" is as printed here; the same line is printed "रथं प्र" below.)

śvaitreyaḥ — "This word, apart from this ṛk, occurs in the Ṛgveda only in —"

> आ श्वैत्रेयस्य जन्तवो द्युमद्वर्धन्त कृष्टयः ॥ (ऋ. सं. ५-१९-३.)

ā śvaitreyasya jantavo dyumad vardhanta kṛṣṭayaḥ || (ṛ. saṃ. 5-19-3.)

"Śvaitreyaḥ means śvitrākhyāyā yoṣitaḥ putraḥ — 'the son of the woman called Śvitrī', says the bhāṣyakāra. In the ṛk mentioned above —"

> त्वं रथं प्र भरो योधमृष्वमावो युध्यन्तं वृषभं दशद्युम् ॥ (ऋ. सं. ६-२६-४.)

tvaṃ rathaṃ pra bharo yodham ṛṣvam āvo yudhyantaṃ vṛṣabhaṃ daśadyum || (ṛ. saṃ. 6-26-4.)

"— too, the pāda āvo yudhyantaṃ vṛṣabhaṃ daśadyum, as in this ṛk, is wholly without the slightest difference; so among Western scholars Ludwig [so printed, in Latin letters] and others hold that this Śvaitreya and the one called Daśadyu are one person: though one ṛk mentions the name Śvaitreya and the other does not, both names refer to one person. The two ṛks have different ṛṣis: one, Hiraṇyastūpa Āṅgirasa; the other, Bharadvāja Bārhaspatya — ṛṣis of different gotras. Yet the pāda āvo yudhyantaṃ vṛṣabhaṃ daśadyum alone is in the same form without any difference. So there is a difference of opinion on whether the names Śvaitreya and Dyumat [as printed] mentioned in the present ṛk refer to one person or to two different persons.

"The word śvitrya or śvaitreya occurs also in the following ṛk. There is the belief that this Śvaitreya had formerly hidden in the water from fear of enemies, and that Indra drove away his fear of enemies and helped him rise up from the water."

nṛṣāhyāya — nṛbhiḥ puruṣaiḥ soḍhavyāya |: "to be lifted by men — that is, the men who came to help lifted him, who had sunk in the water, up out of the water: such is the sense."

Page 65

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 65–66, grammar pages — noted briefly; numerals zoom-checked): cākan — caka tṛptau, 1st class; it is restated in the ghaṭādi list to make it mit; then ṇic, upadhā-vṛddhi, laṭ, śatṛ; chandasy ubhayathā — छन्दस्युभयथा (chandasy ubhayathā) — Pā. 6-4-117 [as printed] gives the śatṛ the ārdhadhātuka designation; ṇer aniṭi — णेरनिटि (ṇer aniṭi) — Pā. 6-4-51 drops ṇi before an ārdhadhātuka without iṭ; since it is ārdhadhātuka and not followed by a sārvadhātuka, kartari śap gives no śap; ādyudāttaś ca makes śatṛ acute by the suffix accent. After cākat, su; ugidacām gives num; halṅyābbhyaḥ drops su; saṃyogāntasya lopaḥ drops the t; this is asiddha by pūrvatrāsiddham, so nalopaḥ prātipadikāntasya does not drop the n. If the form is derived as a kṛdanta, the verb vartase must be supplied: in this view the sense is "yasmin, in the matter of which Kutsa, cākan vartase, you are satisfied"; the intended sense "desiring praise" is not obtained; therefore they give the derivation as a tiṅanta: kamu kāntau — kānti means desire; yaṅ, and yaṅo 'ci ca gives its luk; sanyaṅoḥ gives doubling: kam-kam; nugato 'nunāsikāntasya — नुगतोऽनुनासिकान्तस्य (nugato 'nunāsikāntasya) — Pā. 7-4-85: the reduplicate of a nasal-final aṅga, ending in short a, takes the augment nuk; that num-augment, by Vedic usage, does not come here; dīrgho 'kitaḥ — दीर्घोऽकितः (dīrgho 'kitaḥ) — Pā. 7-4-83: in yaṅ and yaṅ-luk a non-kit reduplicate is lengthened; kuhoś cuḥ — कुहोश्चुः (kuhoś cuḥ) — Pā. 7-4-62: the guttural and h of the reduplicate become palatal, so c for k; the s of sic [as printed] dropped; mo no dhātoḥ — मो नो धातोः (mo no dhātoḥ) — Pā. 8-2-64 —

Page 66

(cākan, continued) gives n for the root's m, so the form is cākan. — yudhyantam — yudha saṃprahāre, read in the fourth class; the vikaraṇa śyan comes, of which the n and ś are it and vanish; the suffix śatṛ comes; because of anudātteta lakṣaṇam ātmanepadam anityam ("the ātmanepada marked by an anudātta marker is not obligatory") the ātmanepada does not come and the parasmaipada comes; the root's natural accent comes. — daśadyum — the root div, of many senses, is taken here in the sense of light; after div in the sense of light the suffix kvip in the sampadādi sense; cchvoḥ śūṭ — च्छ्वोः शूठ् (cchvoḥ śūṭh) — Pā. 6-4-19 gives the augment ūṭh, and the form is dyuḥ; in the Veda shortening, giving dyuḥ; the word dyu, denoting day, is read in the Nirukta (printed "Pā. Sū. 1-9-2" [sic: for the Nirukta]); so dyu conveys light; since the bahuvrīhi daśasu dikṣu dyuḥ yasya is stated, the first-member accent is established. — śaphacyutaḥ — since a third-case compound śaphena cyutaḥ is made, tṛtīyā karmaṇi —

तृतीया कर्मणि (tṛtīyā karmaṇi) — Pā. 6-2-48 gives the first-member accent. — nakṣata — the root nakṣa gatau is used here in the ātmanepada. — śvaitreyaḥ — śvitrāyāḥ apatyam: in the offspring-sense strībhyo ḍhak — स्त्रीभ्यो ढक् (strībhyo ḍhak) — Pā. 4-1-120 gives ḍhak; hence ādi-vṛddhi and the substitution eya. — nṛsahyāya — ṣaha marṣaṇe; śakisahoś ca — शकिसहोश्च (śakisahoś ca) — Pā. 3-1-99 gives yat in the object sense; yato 'nāvaḥ — यतोऽनावः (yato 'nāvaḥ) — Pā. 6-1-213 makes the word initial-acute; here, as it is in a compound and the kṛt suffix is in the last member, the natural accent comes; pūrvapadāt — पूर्वपदात् (pūrvapadāt) — Pā. 8-3-106 gives ṣ; the lengthening in the Saṃhitā is for the sake of the Veda (Vedic). Rik 14 ends here (|| 14 ||).

Rik 33.15 (pp. 66–70, PDF 80–84)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 66; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. The print heads this block "॥ सायणभाष्यं ॥" [sic: for the Saṃhitā-pāṭha heading])

> आव॒: शम॑ं वृष॒भं तुग्र्या॑सु क्षेत्रजे॒षे म॑घव॒ञ्छ्वित्र्यं॑ गाम् । ज्योक् चि॒दत्र॑ तस्थि॒वांसो॑ अक्रञ्छत्रू॒यता॑मध॑रा वेद॑नाकः ॥ १५ ॥ [accent ?]
>
> āvaḥ śámaṃ vṛṣabháṃ túgryāsu kṣetrajeṣé maghavañ chvítryaṃ gắm | jyok cid átra tasthivắṃso akrañ chatrūyatắm ádharā védanākaḥ || 15 || [accent ?]

([accent ?]: in the second line the svarita stroke stands between ಮ and ಧ of tām adharā, nearer ಧ; it is given on ಥ. The underline under ತ್ರ್ಯ೦ of śvitryaṃ is at the start of the print's second line.)

Page 67

Pada-pāṭha (p. 67)

> आवः । शमम् । वृषभम् । तुग्र्यासु । क्षेत्रऽजेषे । मघऽवन् । श्वित्र्यम् । गाम् । ज्योक् । चित् । अत्र । तस्थिऽवांसः । अक्रन् । शत्रुऽयताम् । अधरा । वेदना । अकरित्यकः ॥ १५ ॥

āvaḥ | śamam | vṛṣabham | tugryāsu | kṣetra-jeṣe | magha-van | śvitryam | gām | jyok | cit | atra | tasthi-vāṃsaḥ | akran | śatru-yatām | adharā | vedanā | akar ity akaḥ || 15 ||

(The last Pada word is printed ಅಕರಿತ್ಯಕಃ, akar ity akaḥ: the Pada's iti-form for akaḥ, whose visarga stands for r.)

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 67, in full; numerals zoom-checked)

> हे मघवन् धनवन्निन्द्र श्वित्र्यं श्वित्रायाः पुत्रं पूर्वोक्तं पुरुषमावः । रक्षितवानसि । किमर्थम् । क्षेत्रजेषे शत्रुभिः सह युद्धवेलायां क्षेत्रप्राप्त्यर्थम् । कीदृशम् । शमं त्वदीयसं[?]लनेन चित्तव्याकुलतां परित्यज्य शान्तं वृषभं गुणैः श्रेष्ठं तुग्र्यासु गां जलेषु गतं मग्नमित्यर्थः । तुग्र्या बुर्बुरमित्युदकनामसु पठितत्वात् । अत्रास्माभिः सह युद्धे ज्योक् चित् चिरकालमपि तस्थिवांसोऽवस्थिताः सन्तोऽक्रन् । ये वैरिणः शत्रुत्वमकुर्वन् शत्रूयतां शत्रूनात्मन इच्छतां तेषामधरा वेदना निकृष्टानि दुःखानि त्वमकः । कुरु ॥ तुग्रशब्दोऽन्तरिक्षवचनः । तत्र भवास्तुग्रियाः । तुग्राद्धन् । पा. ४-४-११५ । इति घन् । तस्येयादेशः । इकारलोपश्छान्दसः । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वम् । क्षेत्रजेषे । जेषृ णेषृ एषृ प्रेषृ गतौ । अस्मात्संपदादिलक्षणः

क्विप् । क्षेत्रस्य जेट् क्षेत्रजेट् । समासान्तोदात्तत्वम् । अन्तोदात्तादुत्तरपदादित्यादिना । पा. ६-१-१६९ । विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वम् । श्वित्र्यम् । श्वित्रायां भवः । भवे छन्दसीति यत् । यतोऽनाव इत्याद्युदात्तत्वम् । तस्थिवांसः । तिष्ठतेः क्वसुः । वस्वेकाजाद्घसामितीडागमः । अक्रन् । करोतेर्लुङि मन्त्रे घसेत्यादिना च्लेर्लुक् । शत्रूयताम् । शत्रूनात्मन इच्छन्तीति शत्रूयन्तः । सुप आत्मनः क्यजिति क्यच् । तदन्ताच्छतृ । तस्य लसार्वधातुकानुदात्तत्वे एकादेशस्वरेणोदात्तत्वम् । तस्य च पूर्वत्रासिद्धत्वं नेष्यते । पा. ८-२-६-१ । इत्युक्तत्वाच्छत्रन्तमन्तोदात्तमिति शतुरनुमो नद्यजादी इति विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वम् । अधरा वेदनेत्युभयत्र शेश्छन्दसि बहुलमिति शेर्लोपः । अकः । करोतेर्लुङि मन्त्रे घसेत्यादिना च्लेर्लुक् । गुणः ॥ ॥ ३ ॥

he maghavan dhanavannindra śvitryaṃ śvitrāyāḥ putraṃ pūrvoktaṃ puruṣamāvaḥ | rakṣitavānasi | kimartham | kṣetrajeṣe śatrubhiḥ saha yuddhavelāyāṃ kṣetraprāptyartham | kīdṛśam | śamaṃ tvadīyasaṃ[?]lanena cittavyākulatāṃ parityajya śāntaṃ vṛṣabhaṃ guṇaiḥ śreṣṭhaṃ tugryāsu gāṃ jaleṣu gataṃ magnamityarthaḥ | tugryā burburamityudakanāmasu paṭhitatvāt | atrāsmābhiḥ saha yuddhe jyok cit cirakālamapi tasthivāṃso 'vasthitāḥ santo 'kran | ye vairiṇaḥ śatrutvamakurvan śatrūyatāṃ śatrūnātmana icchatāṃ teṣāmadharā vedanā nikṛṣṭāni duḥkhāni tvamakaḥ | kuru ‖ tugraśabdo 'ntarikṣavacanaḥ | tatra bhavāstugriyāḥ | tugrādghan | pā. 4-4-115 | iti ghan | tasyeyādeśaḥ | ikāralopaśchāndasaḥ | nittvādādyudāttatvam | kṣetrajeṣe | jeṣṛ ṇeṣṛ eṣṛ preṣṛ gatau | asmātsaṃpadādilakṣaṇaḥ kvip | kṣetrasya jeṭ kṣetrajeṭ | samāsāntodāttatvam | antodāttāduttarapadādityādinā | pā. 6-1-169 | vibhakterudāttatvam | śvitryam | śvitrāyāṃ bhavaḥ | bhave chandasīti yat | yato 'nāva ityādyudāttatvam | tasthivāṃsaḥ | tiṣṭhateḥ kvasuḥ | vasvekājādghasāmitīḍāgamaḥ | akran | karoterluṅi mantre ghasetyādinā clerluk | śatrūyatām | śatrūnātmana icchantīti śatrūyantaḥ | supa ātmanaḥ kyajiti kyac | tadantācchatṛ | tasya lasārvadhātukānudāttatve ekādeśasvareṇodāttatvam | tasya ca pūrvatrāsiddhatvaṃ neṣyate | pā. 8-2-6-1 | ityuktatvācchatrantamantodāttamiti śaturanumo nadyajādī iti vibhakterudāttatvam | adharā vedanetyubhayatra śeśchandasi bahulamiti śerlopaḥ | akaḥ | karoterluṅi mantre ghasetyādinā clerluk | guṇaḥ ‖ ‖ 3 ‖

(One word is unsettled: त्वदीयसं[?]लनेन — the print shows ಸಂ followed by a ಸಾ/ಚಾ-like letter and ಲನೇನ. "पा. ४-४-११५": the middle digit is slightly blurred. "पा. ८-२-६-१" as printed (a vārtika number under 8-2-6). The bhāṣya ends "॥ ३ ॥", as printed.)

Translation: "O Maghavan, wealthy Indra, you āvaḥ — protected — śvitryam, the son of Śvitrā, the man mentioned before. For what purpose? Kṣetrajeṣe — at the time of battle with enemies, for the gaining of land. What sort of man? Śamam — calm, having given up the agitation of mind through your [?] …; vṛṣabham — pre-eminent in qualities; tugryāsu gām — gone into the waters, i.e. sunk (tugryā being read among the names of water, with burbura). Here, in battle with us, jyok cit — even for a long time — tasthivāṃsaḥ, standing, they akran: those foes who made enmity, śatrūyatām, who wish us to be their enemies — on them you akaḥ, cause (kuru), adharā vedanā, low [grievous] pains." (The grammatical tail: tugra means the mid-region; tugriya "being there", ghan by tugrād ghan, Pā. 4-4-115, iya for it, the loss of i Vedic, initial acute as nit; kṣetrajeṣe — root jeṣṛ "to go", kvip, kṣetrajeṭ, compound-final acute, the ending acute by antodāttād uttarapadāt…, Pā. 6-1-169; śvitryam — yat by bhave chandasi, initial acute by yato 'nāvaḥ; tasthivāṃsaḥ — kvasu, iṭ by vasvekājādghasām; akran — luṅ, cli dropped by mantre ghasa…; śatrūyatām — kyac, śatṛ, acute by the single-substitute accent, which is not treated as asiddha (Pā. 8-2-6-1 as printed), so the ending is acute by śatur anumo nadyajādī; adharā, vedanā — śi dropped by śeś chandasi bahulam; akaḥ — luṅ, cli dropped, guṇa.)

Page 68

Pratipadārtha (p. 68) — "maghavan — O Indra; tugryāsu gām — [the one] sunk in the water; śamam — having got rid of agitation through protection, who had obtained peace of mind; vṛṣabham — endowed with excellent qualities; śvitryam — the son of the woman called Śvitrī; kṣetrajeṣe — in order to obtain (his) kingdom; āvaḥ — you protected; atra — (with us) in battle; jyok cit — even for a long time; tasthivāṃsaḥ — standing; akran — those who fostered (enmity) (such); śatrūyatām — to those who regarded us as enemies; tvam — you; adharā vedanā — lowly pains (unbearable pain); akaḥ — cause."

Bhāvārtha (p. 68) — "O Indra, the son of Śvitrī, though he had sunk in the water from fear of enemies, by your favour rose up, put away his agitation and obtained peace of mind. You protected him, who is endowed with good qualities, so that he might regain his kingdom. Cause unbearable injury to those who for a long time have fostered enmity towards us."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 68) — "Maghavan, you have protected the excellent son of Switra, when fighting for the sake of land and encouraged by you when immersed in water ; inflict sharp pains on those with hostile minds who have long stood (in enmity) against us" (no full stop in the print; "Switra" as printed, against "Swithra" in Rik 14's English).

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 68–69 - śvitryam — śvitrāyāḥ putram |: "Śvitrī's son. The two words śvaitreya and śvitrya both indicate only the sense 'the son of Śvitrī'." - tugryāsu — jaleṣu |: "Since the word tugryā is read among the hundred and one names of water beginning arṇaḥ, kṣodaḥ (Ni. 2-24 as printed, zoom-checked; cf. "Ni. 2 24" for svadhā = water in Ṛk 11), tugryā means water. Like words such as āpaḥ, which denote water in general, the word tugryā is used here in the plural." (The print: ಸೂರೊಂದು, "a hundred and one".)

Page 69

- kṣetrajeṣe — jeṣṛ ṇeṣṛ eṣṛ preṣṛ gatau | kṣetrārthaṃ yad yuddhaṃ tasmin |: "kṣetra — in the battle made for land; the sense is: in the battle made with enemies to win land or a kingdom."
- gām — tugryāsu gām apsu kṛtāśrayam |: "who had hidden in the water for protection."
- jyok cit — cirakālam api | cid ity eṣo 'nekakarmā (Ni. 1-4, zoom-checked): "since cit is said to have many senses, the bhāṣyakāra says that here jyok cit means 'for a long time'."
- tasthivāṃsaḥ — avasthitāḥ |: "being."
- śatrūyatām — śatrūn ātmana icchatām |: "of those who seek enmity, who are in enmity, haters, etc."
- adharā — "lying below, base."
- vedanā — duḥkhāni |: "pain, injury, etc."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 69–70, grammar pages — noted briefly; numerals zoom-checked): tugryāsu — the word tugra is used in the sense of the mid-region; after it, in the sense tatra bhavaḥ, tugrād ghan — तुग्राद्घन् (tugrād ghan) — Pā. 4-4-115 gives ghan; the n of ghan is dropped and āyaneyīnīyiyaḥ phaḍhakhachaghāṃ pratyayādīnām — आयनेयीनीयियः फढखछघां प्रत्ययादीनाम् (āyaneyīnīyiyaḥ phaḍhakhachaghāṃ pratyayādīnām) — Pā. 7-1-2 gives iya for the gh: tugriya would result; but by Vedic loss of i the form is tugrya; ṭāp gives tugryā; the n of ghan is it, so the word is nit and initial-acute. — kṣetrajeṣe — in the Dhātupāṭha the root jeṣṛ is read in the sense of motion; after it kvip in the sampadādi sense gives jeṭ; kṣetrasya jeṭ is the analysis; kṣetrajeṭ is the nominative; its dative is kṣetrajeṣe; by antodāttād uttarapadād anyatarasyām anityasamāse — अन्तोदात्तादुत्तरपदादन्यतरस्यामनित्यसमासे (antodāttād uttarapadād anyatarasyām anityasamāse) — Pā. 6-1-169, the case-ending after a one-syllabled end-acute final member of a compound is acute [the print says “in the third case”]; so kṣetrajeṣe is final-acute.

Page 70

śvitryam — after śvitrā, in the sense śvitrāyāṃ bhavam, bhave chandasi — भवे छन्दसि (bhave chandasi) — Pā. 4-4-110 gives yat; yato ’nāvaḥ — यतोऽनावः (yato ’nāvaḥ) — Pā. 6-1-213 makes this two-vowelled yat-final word initial-acute. — tasthivāṃsaḥ — ṣṭhā gatinivṛttau; pāghrādhmāsthāmnādāṇdṛśyartisartiśadasadāṃ pibajighradhamatiṣṭhamanayacchapaśyarcchadhauśīyasīdāḥ — पाघ्राध्मास्थाम्नादाण्दृश्यर्तिसर्तिशदसदां पिबजिघ्रधमतिष्ठमनयच्छपश्यर्च्छधौशीयसीदाः (pāghrādhmāsthāmnādāṇdṛśyartisartiśadasadāṃ pibajighradhamatiṣṭhamanayacchapaśyarcchadhauśīyasīdāḥ) — Pā. 7-3-78 gives tiṣṭha for sthā; in the sense of tiṣṭhati, the suffix kvasu; vasvekājādghasām — वस्वेकाजाद्घसाम् (vasvekājādghasām) — Pā. 7-2-67 gives iṭ: tasthi; then sup, tasthivas, plural tasthivāṃsaḥ. — akran — in ḍukṛñ karaṇe the ḍ is it and dropped; after kṛñ, luṅ to denote past time; hence the augment aṭ; mantre ghasahvaraṇaśavṛdahādvṛckṛgamijanibhyo leḥ — मन्त्रे घसह्वरणशवृदहाद्वृच्कृगमिजनिभ्यो लेः (mantre ghasahvaraṇaśavṛdahādvṛckṛgamijanibhyo leḥ) — Pā. 2-4-80 drops the suffix cli: akran. — śatrūyatām — after śatru, in the sense ātmana icchati, supa ātmanaḥ kyac — सुप आत्मनः क्यच् (supa ātmanaḥ kyac) — Pā. 3-1-8 gives kyac; after the kyac-final form, śatṛ; the word becomes śatrūya; with the case-endings śatrūyatām. This word should be anudātta; but because the single-substitute accent applies it is acute; since this rule of acute accent is said not to fall under the asiddha section taught by pūrvatrāsiddham — पूर्वत्रासिद्धम् (pūrvatrāsiddham) — Pā. 8-2-1, the śatṛ-final form is end-acute; śatur anumo nadyajādī — शतुरनुमो नद्यजादी (śatur anumo nadyajādī) — Pā. 6-1-173 teaches this sense. — adharā-vedanā — in both words śeś chandasi bahulam — शेश्छन्दसि बहुलम् (śeś chandasi bahulam) — Pā. 6-1-70 drops the śi. — akaḥ — luṅ after kṛñ in the past sense; mantre ghasahvaraṇa… — Pā. 2-4-80 drops cli, and then the ṛ takes guṇa. Rik 15 ends here (|| 15 ||); a small ornament closes p. 70.

Close of Sūkta 33

The sūkta has 15 Riks (printed pp. 2–70; PDF 16–84), as the heading on p. 2 states (“ṛks 1–15”). No closing note (“illige … sūktavu samāptavu”) is printed at the end of p. 70, only a small ornament; Sūkta 34 begins on printed p. 71 (PDF 85), with oṃ and the heading “the thirty-fourth sūkta" (mūvatta-nālkaneya sūktavu), in agreement with the table of contents above. The varga numerals in the small page headers (read as "Varga 1" on the opening pages of the sūkta, and "Varga 2"/"Varga 3" on later pages) were not recorded page by page, and no varga-end note was seen in these pages; this is flagged for later reconciliation in the manner of Volumes 1–3.

Summary of the sūkta (from the Bhāvārthas): Rik 1 — the gods, whose cows the demon Paṇi has taken, resolve to go to Indra; Rik 2 — a worshipper hastens to Indra as a hawk to its nest; Rik 3 — Indra, in armour, drives the cows to the gods' homes and is asked not to bargain like a trader; Riks 4–9 — Indra's victory, alone and in the presence of the Maruts, over Vṛtra and his followers (Sanakas and others), who fled before him; Riks 10–12 — Indra splits the cloud and releases the waters held by Vṛtra; Riks 13–15 — Indra's thunderbolt, and his protection of Kutsa, Daśadyu and Śvaitreya (the son of Śvitrī), with a prayer that he afflict those who are hostile to the singers.

SŪKTA 34 (printed p. 71 = PDF 85)

॥ ॐ ॥ — Thirty-fourth Sūkta (Kannada title line: "mūvattanālkaneya sūktavu")

Page 71 (PDF 85) — Sāyaṇa's introduction and the Kannada anuvāda

Sāyaṇa's introduction (printed in Kannada script; read from the 150-dpi image)

> त्रिश्चिन्नो अद्येति चतुर्थं सूक्तं द्वादशर्चम् । ऋषिश्चान्यस्माद्दृषेरिति परिभाषयाऽऽङ्गिरसो हिरण्यस्तूप ऋषिः । अश्विनौ देवता । क्व त्री चक्रेति नवमी आ नो अश्विनेति द्वादशी च त्रिष्टुभौ । शिष्टास्त्रिष्टुबन्तपरिभाषया जगत्यः । त्रिश्चिद्द्वादशाश्विनं नवम्यन्ते त्रिष्टुभावित्यनुक्रमणिका ॥ प्रातरनुवाक आश्विने क्रतौ जागते छन्दसीदं सूक्तम् । अथाश्विन इति खण्डे सूत्रितम् । त्रिश्चिन्नो अद्येळी द्यावापृथिवी इति जागतम् । आ. ४-१५ । इति ॥ आश्विने शस्त्रेऽप्येतत्सूक्तं प्रातरनुवाकन्यायेन । आ. ६-५ । इत्यतिदिष्टत्वात् ॥

triś cin no adyeti caturthaṃ sūktaṃ dvādaśarcam | ṛṣiś cānyasmād dṛṣer iti paribhāṣayāṅgiraso hiraṇyastūpa ṛṣiḥ | aśvinau devatā | kva trī cakreti navamī ā no aśvineti dvādaśī ca triṣṭubhau | śiṣṭās triṣṭubantaparibhāṣayā jagatyaḥ | triś cid dvādaśāśvinaṃ navamy ante triṣṭubhāv ity anukramaṇikā || prātaranuvāka āśvine kratau jāgate chandasīdaṃ sūktam | athāśvina iti khaṇḍe sūtritam | triś cin no adyeḷī dyāvāpṛthivī iti jāgatam | ā. 4-15 | iti || āśvine śastre 'py etat sūktaṃ prātaranuvākanyāyena | ā. 6-5 | ity atidiṣṭatvāt ||

Translation: "The fourth sūkta, triś cin no adya, has twelve ṛks. By the rule 'and the ṛṣi [is the same] as the other' (the print reads ಋಷಿಶ್ಚಾನ್ಯಸ್ಮಾದ್ದೃಷೇರಿತಿ, i.e. anyasmād dṛṣeḥ [sic? for anyasmād ṛṣeḥ], zoom-checked) the ṛṣi is Hiraṇyastūpa Āṅgirasa. The deity is the Aśvins. The ninth ṛk, kva trī cakrā, and the twelfth, ā no aśvinā, are Triṣṭup; the remaining [ṛks], by the rule 'what is left [takes the metre] up to the Triṣṭup', are Jagatī. [So] the Anukramaṇikā: 'triś cid [has] twelve, [and is] Aśvin; at the end of the ninth [and the twelfth] two Triṣṭups.' In the prātaranuvāka, in the Aśvina rite, this sūkta [serves] for the Jagatī metre. It is so stated in the section beginning 'athāśvina' [of the Āśvalāyana Śrauta-sūtra]: 'triś cin no adyeḷī dyāvāpṛthivī — [these] are in Jagatī' (Ā. 4-15, zoom-checked). And at the Aśvina śastra this sūkta also [is used], by the principle of the prātaranuvāka, since it is extended thus (Ā. 6-5, zoom-checked)."

Anuvāda (Kannada): "Triś cin no adya is the fourth sūkta in the seventh anuvāka. It has twelve ṛks. The ṛṣi of this sūkta is Hiraṇyastūpa; the deities are the Aśvins. The ninth ṛk, kva trī cakrā, and the twelfth, ā no aśvinā, are in the Triṣṭup metre; the remaining ṛks in Jagatī. The Anukramaṇikā says: 'triś cid dvādaśāśvinaṃ navamy ante triṣṭubhau' — 'a sūkta with the twelve [ṛks] triś cit, addressed to the Aśvins; the ninth and the last are Triṣṭup'. When the Jagatī ṛks connected with the Aśvina-kratu are recited at the time of the recitation of the prātaranuvāka mantras, this sūkta is to be recited: such is its application — this is explained in the Āśvalāyana Śrauta-sūtra, in the section beginning 'athāśvina', by the sūtra 'triś cin no adyeḷī dyāvāpṛthivī iti jāgatam' (Ā. 4-15, zoom-checked). It is also prescribed that this sūkta be recited for the Aśvina-śastra mantras among the prātaranuvāka mantras (Ā. 6-5, zoom-checked)."

Page 72 (PDF 86) — heading of Sūkta 34 and Rik 34.1

॥ ॐ ॥

सूक्त — ३४ ॥ मण्डल — १ ॥ अनुवाक — ७ ॥ सूक्त — ३४ ॥ ॥ अष्टक — १ ॥ अध्याय — ३ ॥ वर्ग — ४, ५ ॥ ॥ सूक्तदर्शिरुव ऋक्संख्यै १—१२ ॥ ॥ ऋषिः — हिरण्यस्तूप आङ्गिरसः ॥ ॥ देवता — अश्विनौ ॥ ॥ छन्दः — १—८, १०, ११ जगती । ९—१२ [as printed; the ninth and twelfth, by the introduction] त्रिष्टुप् ॥

sūkta 34 | maṇḍala 1 | anuvāka 7 | aṣṭaka 1 | adhyāya 3 | varga 4, 5 | ṛks 1–12 | ṛṣi: Hiraṇyastūpa Āṅgirasa | devatā: the Aśvins | chandas: 1–8, 10, 11 Jagatī; 9–12 [as printed] Triṣṭup.

Translation of the heading: "Sūkta 34; Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 7; Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 3, Varga 4, 5 (zoom-checked); ṛks in the sūkta: 1–12; Ṛṣi: Hiraṇyastūpa Āṅgirasa; Deity: the Aśvins; Metre: Jagatī for 1–8, 10, 11; Triṣṭup for '9–12' as printed — which the introduction on p. 71 corrects to the ninth and the twelfth alone."

Rik 34.1 (pp. 72–80, PDF 86–94)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 72; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented)

त्रिश्चि॑न्नो अ॒द्या भ॑वतं नवेदसा वि॒भुर्वां॑ याम॑ उ॒त रा॒तिर॑श्विना । यु॒वोर्हि य॒न्त्रं हि॒म्येव॒ वास॑सोऽभ्याय॒ंसेन्या॑ भवतं मनी॒षिभि॑: ॥ १ ॥

tríś cin no adyā́ bhavataṃ navedasā vibhúr vāṃ yā́ma utá rātír aśvinā | yuvór hi yantráṃ himyéva vā́saso 'bhyāyaṃsényā bhavataṃ manīṣíbhiḥ || 1 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 72)

त्रिः । चित् । नः । अद्य । भवतम् । नवेदसा । विऽभुः । वाम् । यामः । उत । रातिः । अश्विना । युवोः । हि । यन्त्रम् । हिम्याऽइव । वाससः । अभिऽआयंसेन्या । भवतम् । मनीषिऽभिः ॥ १ ॥

triḥ | cit | naḥ | adya | bhavatam | navedasā | vi-bhuḥ | vām | yāmaḥ | uta | rātiḥ | aśvinā | yuvoḥ | hi | yantram | himyā-iva | vāsasaḥ | abhi-āyaṃsenyā | bhavatam | manīṣi-bhiḥ || 1 ||

(As printed: himyā-iva (ಹಿಮ್ಯಾ ಽಇವ) and vāsasaḥ (ವಾಸಸಃ).)

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 73, in full; numerals zoom-checked)

हे नवेदसाश्विना मेधाविनावश्विदेवौ । नवेदा इति मेधाविनाम नवेदाः कविर्मनीषीति तन्नामसु पठितत्वात् । तादृशौ युवां त्रिश्चित् त्रिवारमप्यद्यास्मिन्कर्मणि नोऽस्मदर्थं भवतम् । आगतौ भवतम् । अत्र त्रिरिति वचनं सवनत्रयापेक्षम् । आदरातिशयद्योतनार्थं वा । त्रिषत्या हि देवा इति श्रुत्यन्तरात् । वां युवयोर्यामो गमनसाधनभूतो रथो विभुर्व्याप्तः । उतापि च रातिर्दानं विभुरिति शेषः । युवोर्युवयोरुभयोर्यन्त्रं हि परस्परनियमरूपः संबन्धविशेषोऽस्ति खलु । तत्र दृष्टान्तः । वाससः सूर्यरश्म्याच्छादनयुक्तस्य वासरस्य हिम्येव । हिमयुक्तया रात्र्येव । यथा रात्र्या सह दिवसस्य संबन्धः कदाचिदपि नापैति तद्वत् । युवामुभौ मनीषिभिर्मेधाविभिरृत्विग्भिः । मनीषीति मेधाविनाम मनीषी मन्धातेति तन्नामसु पठितत्वात् । अभ्यायंसेन्याभितो नियन्तव्यावनुग्रहवशात्तदधीनौ भवतम् ॥ अद्य । निपातस्य चेति संहितायां दीर्घः । नवेदसा । विपरीतं न वित्त इति नवेदसौ । विद ज्ञान इत्यस्मादौणादिकोऽसुन् । नञ्समासे नभ्राण्नपादित्यादिना नकारस्य प्रकृतिभावः । सुपां सुलुगित्याकारः । आमन्त्रितनिघातः । यामः । यायते गम्यतेऽनेनेति यामो रथः । अतिस्तु[?]त्यादिना मन् । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वम् । यद्वा । यमु उपरम इत्यस्मात्कर्मणि घञ् । वृषादिषु पाठादाद्युदात्तत्वम् । रातिः । रा दान इत्यस्माद्भावे क्तिन् । मन्त्रे वृषेत्यादिना तस्योदात्तत्वम् । युवोः । सुपां सुपो भवन्तीति षष्ठीद्विवचनस्य षष्ठीद्विवचनादेशः । अत आदेशविषयत्वाद्योऽचि । पा. ७-२-८९ । इति यत्वं न भवति । शेषे लोप इति टिलोपः । उदात्तनिवृत्तिस्वरेण विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वम् । अन्त्यलोपपक्षे त्वेकादेशस्वरेण । हिम्या इव । हिमेति रात्रिनाम ऊधः पयो हिमेति तन्नामसु पठितत्वात् । हन्तेर्हि च । उ. १-१४६ । इति मक् । हन्ति पद्मानीति हिमम् । अर्शआद्यच् । हिमा रात्रिः । तत उत्तरस्य तृतीयैकवचनस्य सुपां सुलुगिति ङ्यादेशः । ततष्टिलोपे उदात्तनिवृत्तिस्वरेण तस्योदात्तत्वम् । वाससः । वस आच्छादने । वासयति प्रकाशेनाच्छादयतीत्यहर्वासः । अभ्यायंसेन्या । अभ्याङित्युपसर्गद्वयोपसृष्टाद्यमु उपरम इत्यस्मादौणादिकः सेन्यप्रत्ययः । सुपां सुलुगित्याकारः ॥

he navedasāśvinā medhāvināvaśvidevau | navedā iti medhāvināma navedāḥ kavirmanīṣīti tannāmasu paṭhitatvāt | tādṛśau yuvāṃ triścit trivāramapyadyāsminkarmaṇi no 'smadarthaṃ bhavatam | āgatau bhavatam | atra tririti vacanaṃ savanatrayāpekṣam | ādarātiśayadyotanārthaṃ vā | triṣatyā hi devā iti śrutyantarāt | vāṃ yuvayoryāmo gamanasādhanabhūto ratho vibhurvyāptaḥ | utāpi ca rātirdānaṃ vibhuriti śeṣaḥ | yuvoryuvayorubhayoryantraṃ hi parasparaniyamarūpaḥ saṃbandhaviśeṣo 'sti khalu | tatra dṛṣṭāntaḥ | vāsasaḥ sūryaraśmyācchādanayuktasya vāsarasya himyeva | himayuktayā rātryeva | yathā rātryā saha divasasya saṃbandhaḥ kadācidapi nāpaiti tadvat | yuvāmubhau manīṣibhirmedhāvibhirṛtvigbhiḥ | manīṣīti medhāvināma manīṣī mandhāteti tannāmasu paṭhitatvāt | abhyāyaṃsenyābhito niyantavyāvanugrahavaśāttadadhīnau bhavatam ‖ adya | nipātasya ceti saṃhitāyāṃ dīrghaḥ | navedasā | viparītaṃ na vitta iti navedasau | vida jñāna ityasmādauṇādiko 'sun | nañsamāse nabhrāṇnapādityādinā nakārasya prakṛtibhāvaḥ | supāṃ sulugityākāraḥ | āmantritanighātaḥ | yāmaḥ | yāyate gamyate 'neneti yāmo rathaḥ | atistu[?]tyādinā man | nittvādādyudāttatvam | yadvā | yamu uparama ityasmātkarmaṇi ghañ | vṛṣādiṣu pāṭhādādyudāttatvam | rātiḥ | rā dāna ityasmādbhāve ktin | mantre vṛṣetyādinā tasyodāttatvam | yuvoḥ | supāṃ supo bhavantīti ṣaṣṭhīdvivacanasya ṣaṣṭhīdvivacanādeśaḥ | ata ādeśaviṣayatvādyo 'ci | pā. 7-2-89 | iti yatvaṃ na bhavati | śeṣe lopa iti ṭilopaḥ | udāttanivṛttisvareṇa vibhakterudāttatvam | antyalopapakṣe tvekādeśasvareṇa | himyā iva | himeti rātrināma ūdhaḥ payo himeti tannāmasu paṭhitatvāt | hanterhi ca | u. 1-146 | iti mak |

hanti padmānīti himam | arśaādyac | himā rātriḥ | tata uttarasya tṛtīyaikavacanasya supāṃ sulugiti ḍyādeśaḥ | tataṣṭilope udāttanivṛttisvareṇa tasyodāttatvam | vāsasaḥ | vasa ācchādane | vāsayati prakāśenācchādayatītyaharvāsaḥ | abhyāyaṃsenyā | abhyāṅityupasargadvayopasṛṣṭādyamu uparama ityasmādauṇādikaḥ senyapratyayaḥ | supāṃ sulugityākāraḥ ||

(The Uṇādi rule for yāma is printed అతిస్తు... with one conjunct I could not settle — given as अतिस्तु[?]त्यादिना. The print joins "न वेदसा" in the heading of the tail; given here as नवेदसा.)

Translation: "O navedasā Aśvins — wise ones, divine Aśvins (navedāḥ being a word for 'wise', since it is read in the list of such names: navedāḥ, kaviḥ, manīṣī). Such as you are, triś cit — even three times — adya, today, in this rite, bhavatam naḥ — be for us; be come. The word 'thrice' here refers to the three pressings; or it is to show great respect, from another Veda-text, 'triṣatyā hi devāḥ' — 'the gods are truthful in threes'. Vām yāmaḥ — your yāma, the chariot that is the means of going, is vibhuḥ — pervading; uta — and rātiḥ, your gift, is also pervading — that is what is to be supplied. Yuvor hi yantram — between you two there is indeed a bond of mutual restraint; the illustration is vāsasaḥ himyā iva: like the day (vāsara), which is clothed [= covered] by the sun's rays, and the night, which is accompanied by dew: as the connexion of the day with the night never ceases, so [is yours]. Both of you, manīṣibhiḥ — by the wise priests (manīṣī being read in the list of names for the wise) — abhyāyaṃsenyā — to be held [to the sacrificer] on all sides, by their grace dependent on them [the priests] — bhavatam — be."

(The grammatical tail, transcribed above: adya — lengthened in the Saṃhitā by nipātasya ca; navedasā — "the opposite of not knowing", Uṇādi asun after vid, the n kept in the nañ-compound by nabhrāṇnapāt..., ā by supāṃ suluk..., vocative loss of accent; yāmaḥ — "that by which one goes", the chariot, man by the Uṇādi rule, initial acute as nit; or ghañ after yam in the object sense, initial acute as read among the vṛṣādi; rātiḥ — ktin after rā, acute by mantre vṛṣa...; yuvoḥ — genitive dual for genitive dual by supāṃ supo bhavanti; no y by yo 'ci (Pā. 7-2-89) since it is the domain of a substitute; ṭi dropped by śeṣe lopaḥ, the ending acute by the accent of the dropped acute, or by the single-substitute accent; himyā iva — hima "night" (read among its names), mak by hanter hi ca, Uṇ. 1-146, ac of the arśaādi, ḍyā for the instrumental by supāṃ suluk...; vāsasaḥ — root vas, "the day, which covers with light"; abhyāyaṃsenyā — Uṇādi senya after yam with abhi and ā, ā by supāṃ suluk....)

Pratipadārtha (pp. 73–74) — "navedasā — O wise (knowing) [ones]; aśvinā — Aśvin deities (you); adya — in our sacrificial rite today; naḥ — for us; triś cit — in all three times (the three pressings); bhavatam — (coming) be; yuvoḥ — of you two; yantram hi — a mutual bond; vāsasaḥ — of the day covered by the sun's sharp rays; himyā iva — as with the dewy night; vām — your; yāmaḥ — chariot; vibhuḥ — all-pervading (vast); uta — and; rātiḥ — generosity (is vast); manīṣibhiḥ — by the wise priests; abhyāyaṃsenyā — to be controlled (subject to their wishes); bhavatam — (both of you) be."

Bhāvārtha (p. 74) — "O Aśvin deities, your relation to each other is fixed, as is that of the day covered by the sun's rays and the night cooled by dew. Your chariot is vast and pervades everywhere; so too your generosity is vast. Out of kindness, today in our sacrifice be with us in all three times; and, regarding the wise sacrificers, be subject to their wishes."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 74) — "Wise Aswins, be present with us thrice to day ; your chariot is vast and extensive and filled with gifts ; and your connection is like that of the shinning [sic] day and dewy night ; Aswins, be accessible to the pious (priests)"

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 74–75

Triḥ and the number three: "This sūkta begins with the word triḥ. In every pāda of every ṛk a number-word — tri or trayaḥ — is generally present. This arrangement is not only to make the alliteration (prāsa) of the metre rich; it is also to make clear, by repetition, that matters connected with these Aśvin deities come in threes. For the Aśvins' chariot has three wheels, and the chariot has three pillars. These deities are invoked in the three pressings — the morning pressing, the midday pressing, and the third pressing. Their pervasion is in the three worlds: earth, mid-region and heaven. And so on."

Page 75

Yāska's account of the Aśvins (Ni. 12-1, faint print), summarized in the source: "Yāska has said in his Nirukta (Ni. 12-1 — the numerals are faint; read as ०३-०) about the Aśvin deities; we explain it here briefly:"

> (१) अश्विनौ । अश्विनौ यद्व्यश्नुवाते सर्वं रसेनान्यो ज्योतिषान्यः । (२) अश्वैरश्विनावित्यौर्णवाभः । (३) तत्कावश्विनौ द्यावापृथिव्यावित्येके । (४) अहोरात्रावित्येके । (५) सूर्याचन्द्रमसावित्येके । (६) राजानौ पुण्यकृतावित्यैतिहासिकाः । (७) तयोः काल ऊर्ध्वमर्धरात्रात् प्रकाशीभावस्यानुविष्टम्भम् । अनुत्तमो भागो हि मध्यमः ज्योतिर्भाग आदित्यः । (८) तयोः समानकालयोः समानकर्मणोः संस्तुतप्रायोः । असंस्तवेनैषोऽर्धर्चो भवति ।

(1) aśvinau | aśvinau yad vyaśnuvāte sarvaṃ rasenānyo jyotiṣānyaḥ | (2) aśvair aśvināv ity aurṇavābhaḥ | (3) tat kāv aśvinau dyāvāpṛthivyāv ity eke | (4) ahorātrāv ity eke | (5) sūryācandramasāv ity eke | (6) rājānau puṇyakṛtāv ity aitihāsikāḥ | (7) tayoḥ kāla ūrdhvam ardharātrāt prakāśībhāvasyānuviṣṭambham | anuttamo bhāgo hi madhyamaḥ jyotirbhāga ādityaḥ | (8) tayoḥ samānakālayoḥ samānakarmaṇoḥ saṃstutaprāyayoḥ | asaṃstavenaiṣo 'rdharco bhavati ||

"(1) aśvinau: since they pervade everything, the one with water, the other with light — these deities pervade all with water or with light, so they are called Aśvins. (2) aśvair aśvinau — 'with horses [they are] Aśvins' — the opinion of the teacher Aurṇavābha: since they are yoked with horses they are called Aśvin deities. (3) 'Who are the Aśvins?' — when this is asked, some say 'dyāvāpṛthivī', i.e. the earth and the mid-region [as the Kannada puts it], visible to us. (4) Others say 'day and night'. (5) Still others say 'the sun and the moon'. (6) The historians (aitihāsikāḥ) hold that they are two pious kings, performers of meritorious deeds. (7) 'Their time is after midnight, supporting the advent of light; the middle part is the unsurpassed part; the light-part is Āditya.' The time of these Aśvin deities — the time in which they are generally praised — is the period from midnight to sunrise. In this period the darkness gradually thins and the dawn, the light, begins; this is called the middle period. It is in this period that they praise the Aśvins with the prātaranuvāka mantras (the Aśvina-kratu). 'Jyotirbhāga ādityaḥ':

when it has become fully light, that time belongs to Āditya (Sūrya); that is, when the darkness has gone and it is light (the Āditya-kratu) they praise Āditya with the prātaranuvāka mantras. (8) 'Of these two, who have the same time and the same action, … [the print's Sanskrit is crowded and the middle words are uncertain]; …this half-ṛk is without a [separate] praise.' The Aśvin deities are two. These two are praised at the same time, i.e. together. Working with the two together in view [the print breaks off here and the account continues on p. 76]." (The translations of the Nirukta citations are mine and tentative; the numerals [?] are uncertain.)

Special Topics, continued from p. 75 (the Kannada commentary on Yāska's items, ending item (8)): "…Working with both in view, therefore, the mantras that praise the two in this manner are called saṃstava-mantras. In ṛks that are not saṃstava mantras, it is to be understood that each of the two is praised in a half-ṛk."

(9) — Yāska's next item, as printed:

> वासात्यो अन्य उच्यते उषःपुत्रस्त्वान्य इति ॥

vāsātyo anya ucyate uṣaḥputras tv anya iti ||

"One is called Vāsātya, but the other is Uṣaḥputra." The Kannada explains: "Some explain what is said in the ṛk vasātiṣu sma carathaḥ in this way: Vasātayaḥ is a well-known people (janapada), and the ṛk speaks of two pious kings, the Aśvins, who were lords of that people. To make clear that this sense is not right, Yāska gives the sentence above: that is, one of these Aśvins is the son of Vasāti — vasāti means night, vāsātya means 'night's son' — and the other is Uṣaḥputra, 'dawn's son'. Since these Aśvin deities are connected with both times, night and day, to call one the son of the night and the other the son of the day — of the dawn — is conventional (rūḍhi)." (Item number (9) zoom-checked; translation of the Sanskrit mine, tentative.)

Yāska's illustrations of these points, as quoted by the source (untranslated by the source; my glosses are mine and tentative; the first quotation has no reference printed; the others zoom-checked):

> (१) वसातिषु स्म चरथोऽसितौ पेत्वाविव । कदेदमश्विना युवमभि देवा अगच्छतम् ॥ (२) इहेह जाता समु वामशीतावरेपसा तन्वा नामभिः स्वैः । जिष्णुर्वामन्यः सुमखस्य सूरिर्दिवो अन्यः सुभगः पुत्र ऊहे ॥ (ऋ. सं. १-१८१-४)

(1) vasātiṣu sma carathaḥ asitau petvāv iva | kad edam aśvinā yuvam abhi devā agacchatam || (2) iheha jātā samu vām aśītāvarepasā tanvā nāmabhiḥ svaiḥ | jiṣṇur vām anyaḥ sumakhasya sūrir divo anyaḥ subhagaḥ putra ūhe || (ṛ. saṃ. 1-181-4)

"(2) 'Born here and here … with their own bodies and names: one of you is the victor, the patron of the good sacrifice; the other, the fortunate one, is borne as a son of heaven.'" (Gloss mine, tentative.)

To illustrate the Aśvins being praised at the time of the prātaranuvāka recitation by "joint" mantras — that is, mantras that praise the two together — the source cites these ṛks:

> (१) प्रातर्युजा वि बोधयाश्विनावेह गच्छताम् । अस्य सोमस्य पीतये ॥ (ऋ. सं. १-२२-१.) (२) प्रातर्यजध्वमश्विना हिनोत न सायमस्ति देवया अजुष्टम् । उतान्यो अस्मद्यजते वि चावः पूर्वःपूर्वो यजमानो वनीयान् ॥ (ऋ. सं. ५-७७-२.)

(1) prātaryujā vi bodhayāśvināv eha gacchatām | asya somasya pītaye || (ṛ. saṃ. 1-22-1.) (2) prātar yajadhvam aśvinā hinota na sāyam asti devayā ajuṣṭam | utānyo asmad yajate vi cāvaḥ pūrvaḥ-pūrvo yajamāno vanīyān || (ṛ. saṃ. 5-77-2.)

"(1) 'Wake the Aśvins, yoked at dawn; let them come here, to drink this soma.' (2) 'Sacrifice at dawn to the Aśvins; speed [them on]; the evening is not for the gods, it is not welcome; another than we sacrifices and gains (?); each earlier sacrificer is the more winning.'" (Glosses mine, tentative; the second is doubtful.) The source adds that "for fear of lengthening the book" the explanation of these ṛks is out of place here and will be given on the proper occasions.

Page 77

Special Topics, word by word (p. 77) - navedasā — "the vocative (sambuddhi) nominative dual of the s-stem word navedas; navedasā is the Vedic variant form. The word navedāḥ is read among the twenty-four names for the wise, navedāḥ, vipraḥ, vigraḥ, etc. (Ni. 3-19, zoom-checked), so navedasā means wise, intelligent." - triś cit = trivāram: "thrice, i.e. the three times — morning, midday and evening — or the three pressings." - adya: "now; or in this sacrifice that we are performing." - vibhuḥ = vyāptaḥ: "pervading." - yāmaḥ = yāyate gamyate 'neneti yāmo gamanasādhanabhūto rathaḥ: "the root yā has the sense of going; yāmaḥ is that by which one sits and goes — a means of going — so yāmaḥ means the chariot." - rātiḥ = rā dāne: "from the root rā, 'to give', the word rātiḥ means gift." - yantram = sambandhaviśeṣaḥ: "a particular connection — that is, the connection that obtains between the two Aśvin deities." - himyeva vāsasaḥ: "Among the twenty-three names for night beginning śyāvī, kṣapā the word himā is read (no Nirukta number is printed here); so himā means night, or night endowed with hima, frost. Vāsasaḥ = sūryaraśmyācchādanayuktasya vāsarasya, 'of the day that is covered by the sun's rays', that is, of the day with sunshine or heat. So the simile himyeva vāsasaḥ means that your relation is as the relation between the dewy night and the sunny day: since night and day come one after the other, they have a mutual relation; so do you, the two Aśvin deities." - abhyāyaṃsenyā = abhito niyantavyau anugrahavaśāt tadadhīnau: "[to be] held on all sides — those who, by favour, are dependent: that is, dependent on the sacrificers, and so on." - manīṣibhiḥ = medhāvibhiḥ ṛtvigbhiḥ: "by intelligent people, or by priests and others."

Page 78

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 78–80, grammar pages — noted briefly; numerals zoom-checked) - adya: asmin ahani — "on this day"; the sūtra sadyaḥ parut parāry aiṣamaḥ paredyavy adya… — सद्यः परुत्परार्यैषमः परेद्यव्यद्य… — Pā. 5-3-22 lists the word as an irregular formation; the bhāṣyakāra explains its working by idamo 'śdyaś ca: after idam ending in the seventh case, dyu comes and idam is replaced by aś, giving adya; the long final in the Saṃhitā by nipātasya ca — निपातस्य च — Pā. 6-3-136. - navedasā: viparītaṃ na vitta iti navedasau — "one who does not know wrongly", a nañ-tatpuruṣa; root vida jñāne, the Uṇādi suffix asun by sarvadhātubhyo

'sun — Uṇ. Sū. 4-628 (as printed); the nañ compound would normally lose its n by nalopo nañaḥ — Pā. 6-3-73, but the sūtra na bhrāṇnapānnavedā… — न भ्राण्नपान्नवेदा… — Pā. 6-3-75 prescribes prakṛtibhāva here, so the n is retained; the vocative dual au is replaced by ā by supāṃ sulug… — सुपां सुलुक्… — Pā. 7-1-39; it is āmantrita by sāmantritam — सामन्त्रितम् (sāmantritam) — Pā. 2-3-48; and by āmantritasya ca — आमन्त्रितस्य च — Pā. 8-1-19 a vocative that is not at the beginning of a pāda is wholly unaccented (sarvānudātta). - yāmaḥ: the Uṇādi sūtra arti-stu-su-hu-sṛ-dhṛ-kṣi-kṣu-bhā-yā-vā-pad-yakṣi-nībhyo man — अर्तिस्तुसुहुसृधृक्षिक्षुभायावापदियक्षिनीभ्यो मन् — Uṇ. Sū. 1-137 (as printed) gives man after these fourteen roots, so man after yā (to go); the Medinī-kośa has "yāmas tu puṃsi prahare saṃyame 'pi prakīrtitaḥ"; here the sense is derived from the parts: yāyate gamyate "[that] by which one goes", hence "chariot", with initial acute. The other derivation: root yama uparame (1st class), yamyate uparamyate idam iti yāmaḥ — that which, once its work is done, stops in one place: the sense of "ceasing" applies to the chariot; ghañ in the object sense, upadhā-vṛddhi, karṣātvato ghañ anta udāttaḥ — कर्षात्वतो घञोऽन्त उदात्तः — Pā. 6-1-159 would make the final syllable acute — the exception vṛṣādīnāṃ ca — वृषादीनां च — Pā. 6-1-203 gives the first syllable the acute. - rātiḥ: root rā ādāne [as printed]; striyāṃ ktin — स्त्रियां क्तिन् — Pā. 3-3-94 (the suffix after all roots in the feminine, in the verbal-noun sense and in senses other than the agent); by titutratathasisusarakaseṣu ca —

Page 79

(rātiḥ, continued) — Pā. 7-2-9 — the augment iṭ is barred; the suffix ktin after rā is acute by mantre vṛṣeṣapacamanavidabhūvīrā udāttaḥ — मन्त्रे वृषेषपचमनविदभूवीरा उदात्तः — Pā. 3-3-96. - yuvoḥ: the Uṇādi suffix madik after the root yuṣ (yuṣyasibhyāṃ madik — युष्यसिभ्यां मदिक् — Uṇ. Sū. 1-136), giving yuṣmad, final-acute by the suffix; the genitive-locative dual os; yuṣmad + os; the elision/replacement by supāṃ sulug… — सुपां सुलुक्… — Pā. 7-1-39, on which the Mahābhāṣya adds "supāṃ ca supo bhavanti" — "the sup-endings replace sup-endings" — so that the substitution may be made to extend to all the endings; the print refers also to the general rule vyatyayo bahulam — व्यत्ययो बहुलम् — Pā. 3-1-85. The substitute ending os is then an ādeśa-ending, and, as a vowel-initial ending that is not a substitute-ending, yoci — योऽचि — Pā. 7-2-89 would give ya for the end of yuṣmad, asmad; therefore da is not replaced by yā. By śeṣe lopaḥ — शेषे लोपः — Pā. 7-2-90 — the seventh case taken in the sense of the locus — "in what remains": either the ad that remains after ma is lost before an ending (the ṭi-loss alternative), or [as a second sense] the d is lost by alo 'ntyasya — अलोऽन्त्यस्य — Pā. 1-1-52 (the final-letter-loss alternative). In the first alternative the tva/ma-substitutions are exceptions to the loss, so there is no loss where they occur; in yuvad + os, if the loss of ad as taught takes place, the o is acute by the anudāttasya ca yatrodāttalopaḥ — अनुदात्तस्य च यत्रोदात्तलोपः — Pā. 6-1-161 principle; in the final-letter-loss alternative, yuva + os: by the Vedic pararūpa the single substitute comes; otherwise the o is taught by osi ca — ओसि च — Pā. 7-3-1-4 as printed [sic: for 7-3-104]; and by ekādeśa udāttena — एकादेश उदात्तेन — Pā. 8-2-5 the o is acute. The print notes that the two alternatives (ṭilopa and antyalopa) differ in their results. ### Page 80

- himyā iva: ūdhaḥ payaḥ himā (Ni. 1-7-22 as printed, zoom-checked: the middle glyph is the flat-footed 7) — the Nirukta's list of words for night contains the word himyā, hence it means “night”. hanter hi ca — हन्तेर्हि च —— Uṇ. Sū. 1-144 (the bhāṣya on p. 73 prints 1-146): after han hiṃsāgatyoḥ the suffix mak and the substitution hi for han: hima, kit, so no guṇa; hanti padmāni iti himam (“that which kills the lotuses”) — frost; or himam asyā asti (“she has frost”) by arśa ādibhyo ’c — अर्श आदिभ्योऽच् —— Pā. 5-2-127, then ṭāp: himā, “the night with dew”. Here the word hima is final-acute by the suffix, ṭāp is unaccented because the word is pit, and the savarṇadīrgha is acute by the single-substitute accent; the third singular ṭā after it; then, by supāṃ sulukpūrvasavarṇācchepāyāḍāḍyāyājālaḥ — सुपां सुलुक्पूर्वसवर्णाच्छेयाडाड्यायाजालः —— Pā. 7-1-39, ḍyā replaces ṭā; loss of ṭi by the ḍ-marker; himyā; the yā is acute by the udāttanivṛtti accent. The compound with iva comes by the vārtika “iveneva samāso vibhakty-alopaḥ pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ ca” — “the compound with iva [is formed] without elision of the case-ending, and with the accent of the first member” (printed Pā. Sū. 2-1-4-2).

- vāsasaḥ: root vasa ācchādane, “to cover, to clothe”; vāsaḥ denotes the day (ahaḥ) because it covers with light; with the causative ṇic, the Uṇādi suffix asun, upadhā-vṛddhi, loss of ṇi, jas, ru and visarga.
- abhyāyaṃsenyā: the two preverbs abhi, ā before yama uparame, the Uṇādi suffix senya: abhi + ā + yam + senya; yaṇ-substitution; abhyāyam + senya; m → anusvāra by naś cāpadāntasya jhali — Pā. 8-3-24; the dual ending replaced by ā by supāṃ sulug…. Rik 1 ends here (|| 1 ||).

Rik 34.2 (pp. 80–85, PDF 94–99)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (pp. 80–81; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented)

त्रयः॑ प॒वयो॑ मधु॒वाह॑ने॒ रथे॒ सोम॑स्य॒ वे॒नाम॒नु॒ विश्व॒ इद्विदुः॑ ।

Page 81

त्रयः॑ स्क॒म्भासः॑ स्कभि॒तास॑ आ॒रभे॒ त्रिर्नक्तं॑ या॒थस्त्रिर्वश्विना॒ दिवा॑ ॥ २ ॥ [accent ?]

tráyaḥ paváyo madhuvāhane ráthe sómasya venām anu víśva íd viduḥ | tráyaḥ skambhāsaḥ skabhitāsa ārábhe trír náktaṃ yāthás trír v aśvinā dívā || 2 || [accent ?]

(As printed: no underline is visible under the first syllable of trayaḥ in either line. [accent ?]: in ārabhe the second underline stands under ಠ/ಭೇ and is given on ಭೇ; a short dash under ಕ್ತ of naktaṃ is taken as part of the subscript letter. The Saṃhitā prints trir v aśvinā (“ತ್ರಿರ್ವ-ಶ್ವಿನಾ”); the Pada divides it triḥ | ūṃ iti | aśvinā.)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 81)

त्रयः । पवयः । मधुऽवाहने । रथे । सोमस्य । वेनाम् । अनु । विश्वे । इत् । विदुः ॥ त्रयः । स्कम्भासः । स्कभितासः । आऽरभे । त्रिः । नक्तम् । याथः । त्रिः । ऊं इति । अश्विना । दिवा ॥ २ ॥

trayaḥ | pavayaḥ | madhu-vāhane | rathe | somasya | venām | anu | viśve | it | viduḥ || trayaḥ | skambhāsaḥ | skabhitāsaḥ | ā-rabhe | triḥ | naktam | yāthaḥ | triḥ | ūṃ iti | aśvinā | divā || 2 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (pp. 81–82, in full)

मधुवाहने मधुरद्रव्याणां नानाविधखाद्यादीनां वहनेन युक्तेऽश्विनोः संबन्धिनि रथे पवयो वज्रसमाना दृढाश्चक्रविशेषास्त्रयस्त्रिसंख्याकाः सन्ति । इत् इत्थं चक्रत्रयसद्भावप्रकारं विश्वे सर्वे देवाः सोमस्य चन्द्रस्य वेनां कमनीयां भार्यामभिलक्ष्य यात्रायां विदुः । जानन्ति । यदा सोमस्य वेनया सह विवाहस्तदानीं नानाविधखाद्ययुक्तं चक्रत्रयोपेतं प्रौढं रथमारुह्याश्विनौ गच्छत इति सर्वे देवा जानन्तीत्यर्थः । तस्य रथस्योपरि स्कम्भासः स्तम्भविशेषास्त्रयस्त्रिसंख्याकाः स्कभितासः । स्थापिताः । किमर्थम् । आरभे । आरब्धुम् । अवलम्बितुम् । यदा रथस्त्वरया याति तदानीं पतनभीतिनिवृत्त्यर्थं हस्तालम्बनभूताः स्तम्भा इत्यर्थः । हे अश्विना युवां तादृशेन रथेन नक्तं रात्रौ त्रिर्याथः । त्रिवारं गच्छथः । तथा दिवा दिवसेऽपि त्रिर्याथः । रात्रावहनि च रथमारुह्य पुनःपुनः क्रीडथ इत्यर्थः ॥ मधुवाहने । मधु वाह्यतेऽनेनेति मधुवाहनः । करणे ल्युट् । विदुः । वेत्तेर्लटि विदो लटो वेति झेरुसादेशः । स्कम्भासः । ष्टभि स्कभि गतिप्रतिबन्धे । स्कम्भन्ते प्रतिबद्धा भवन्तीति स्कम्भाः । पचाद्यच् । स्कभितासः । स्कम्भुः सौत्रो धातुः । अस्मान्निष्ठायां यस्य विभाषेतीट्प्रतिषेधे प्राप्ते ग्रसितस्कभितेत्यादिनेडागमो निपातितः । आरभे । रभ राभस्ये । अस्मादाङ्पूर्वात्संपदादिलक्षणो भावे क्विप् । कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् ॥

madhuvāhane madhuradravyāṇāṃ nānāvidhakhādyādīnāṃ vahanena yukte 'śvinoḥ saṃbandhini rathe pavayo vajrasamānā dṛḍhāścakraviśeṣāstrayastrisaṃkhyākāḥ santi | it itthaṃ cakratrayasadbhāvaprakāraṃ viśve sarve devāḥ somasya candrasya venāṃ kamanīyāṃ bhāryāmabhilakṣya yātrāyāṃ viduḥ | jānanti | yadā somasya venayā saha vivāhastadānīṃ nānāvidhakhādyayuktaṃ cakratrayopetaṃ prauḍhaṃ rathamāruhyāśvinau gacchata iti sarve devā jānantītyarthaḥ | tasya rathasyopari skambhāsaḥ stambhaviśeṣāstrayastrisaṃkhyākāḥ skabhitāsaḥ | sthāpitāḥ | kimartham | ārabhe | ārabdhum | avalambitum | yadā rathastvarayā yāti tadānīṃ patanabhītinivṛttyarthaṃ hastālambanabhūtāḥ stambhā ityarthaḥ | he aśvinā yuvāṃ tādṛśena rathena naktaṃ rātrau triryāthaḥ | trivāraṃ gacchathaḥ | tathā divā divase 'pi triryāthaḥ | rātrāvahani ca rathamāruhya punaḥpunaḥ krīḍatha ityarthaḥ ‖ madhuvāhane | madhu vāhyate 'neneti madhuvāhanaḥ | karaṇe lyuṭ | viduḥ | vetterlaṭi vido laṭo veti jherusādeśaḥ | skambhāsaḥ | ṣṭabhi skabhi gatipratibandhe | skambhante pratibaddhā bhavantīti skambhāḥ | pacādyac | skabhitāsaḥ | skambhuḥ sautro dhātuḥ | asmānniṣṭhāyāṃ yasya vibhāṣetīṭpratiṣedhe prāpte grasitaskabhitetyādineḍāgamo nipātitaḥ | ārabhe | rabha rābhasye | asmādāṅpūrvātsaṃpadādilakṣaṇo bhāve kvip | kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvam ‖

Translation: "In the chariot of the Aśvins, which is madhuvāhane — furnished with the carrying of sweet things, various kinds of food and the like — there are pavayaḥ, wheels, firm and hard as the vajra, trayaḥ — three in number. It — in this very way, the state of having three wheels — viśve, all the gods viduḥ — know, somasya venām anu — with reference to Soma's, the moon's, lovely wife Vena at the journey (yātrāyām). When Soma's marriage with Vena [took place], all the gods know that the two Aśvins went mounted on a splendid chariot with three wheels, carrying various foods. On that chariot, skambhāsaḥ — pillars, three in number — skabhitāsaḥ — were set up. For what purpose? Ārabhe — to take hold, to hold on to: when the chariot moves swiftly, the pillars are the supports for the hand, to remove the fear of falling. O Aśvins, with such a chariot you go naktam, by night, triḥ, three times; and likewise divā, by day, you go three times: by night and by day you mount the chariot and sport again and again."

(The grammatical tail, transcribed above: madhuvāhane — "that by which honey is carried", lyuṭ in the instrument sense; viduḥ — us for jhi by vido laṭo vā; skambhāsaḥ — root skabh "to check", ac of the pacādi class; skabhitāsaḥ — the sautra root skambh; in the niṣṭhā the iṭ barred by yasya vibhāṣā is supplied by the irregular list grasita-skabhita…; ārabhe — kvip in the state-sense after rabh with ā; the kṛt-final last member keeps its accent.)

Page 82

Pratipadārtha (p. 82) — "aśvinā — O Aśvin deities (you two); madhuvāhane — [laden] with delicious foods; rathe — [in your] chariot; trayaḥ pavayaḥ — three wheels firm as the vajra; it — in this manner; somasya — of the moon; venām anu — in the wedding procession with Vena, his wife; viśve — all the gods; viduḥ — know; ārabhe — for the sake of holding on; skabhitāsaḥ — [that are] supports; trayaḥ — three; skambhāsaḥ — pillars [in that chariot]; naktam — at night; triḥ yāthaḥ — you go three times; divā — by day; triḥ — three times [you go]."

Bhāvārtha (p. 82) — "O Aśvin deities, at the time of the wedding of the beloved Vena, Soma's wife, you went in your chariot, filled with sweet foods, to take part in the wedding. All the gods know that your chariot has three auspicious wheels and, so that those who sit within may not fall when it runs fast, three pillars to hold on to. In your chariot you go three times by day and three times by night for sport. Spend the time always in this way, with delight."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 82) — "There are three wheels to your honey-bearig [sic] (foods!& c) chariot as all the gods have known it to be when attending the marriage of Vena, the beloved of Soma ; O Aswins, there are three posts fixed in the chariot for support, and in it thrice you drive by night and thrice by day."

Page 83

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 83–84

"In this ṛk it is said that the Aśvins' chariot has three wheels; that, while it goes at speed, there are three pillars for the occupants to hold on to so as not to fall; and that the Aśvins, seated in such a chariot, travel thrice by day and thrice by night. And, as the bhāṣyakāra says, it is also described that all the gods knew that at the wedding of Vena, the wife of Soma, the Aśvins went in their own chariot filled with sweet and various foods. Here the bhāṣyakāra explains somasya as 'of the moon'. But it seems fitting to take the word somasya as the Soma-deity, who is proud of the soma-juice, or Soma the king. In the Veda there is a convention of calling Soma (the soma-juice) 'king'; and in the Taittirīya Brāhmaṇa of the Yajurveda it is said:"

> अथ ह सीता सावित्री । सोमꣳ राजानं चकमे ।

atha ha sītā sāvitrī | somaṃ rājānaṃ cakame |

"'Then Sītā, the daughter of Savitṛ, desired King Soma.' (The source's Kannada: 'Sītā, the daughter of Savitṛ (the Sun), desired — was pleased with — King Soma'; the reference is not given in the print here.) It is worth noting that this matter is connected with the matter of Venā and Soma mentioned in this ṛk. In this context the following two ṛks are also worth noticing:"

> सूर्याया अश्विना वराग्निरासीत्पुरोगवः ॥ (ऋ. सं. १०-८५-८) सोमो वधूयुरभवदश्विनास्तामुभा वरा । सूर्यां यत्पत्ये शंसन्तीं मनसा सवितादधात् ॥ (ऋ. सं. १०-८५-९)

sūryāyā aśvinā varāgnir āsīt purogavaḥ || (ṛ. saṃ. 10-85-8) somo vadhūyur abhavad aśvināstām ubhā varā | sūryāṃ yat patye śaṃsantīṃ manasā savitādadāt || (ṛ. saṃ. 10-85-9)

(The source leaves these untranslated. My gloss, mine and tentative: "Agni was the leader of the wooers of Sūryā [the second half-verse: 'Soma was the one who desired the bride; the two Aśvins were both the wooers; when Savitṛ gave Sūryā, who was praising [?] her husband, with the mind']". The references zoom-checked.)

"The matter stated in these two ṛks is worth noting: Soma desired Sūryā-devī, the daughter of Savitṛ, as wife. In the same way the Aśvin deities too wished to become suitors of Sūryā-devī; and [it is] described that Savitṛ gave Sūryā-devī to Soma, and so on. Besides this, in the Aitareya Brāhmaṇa [the source reads]:"

प्रजापतिर्वै सोमाय राज्ञे दुहितरं प्रायच्छत्सूर्यां सावित्रीं तस्मै सर्वे देवा वरा आगच्छन् ॥ (ऐ. ब्रा. ४-७)

prajāpatir vai somāya rājñe duhitaraṃ prāyacchat sūryāṃ sāvitrīṃ tasmai sarve devā varā āgacchan || (ai. brā. 4-7)

"'Prajāpati gave his daughter Sūryā Sāvitrī to King Soma; to her all the gods came as suitors.'" (Translation mine from the Sanskrit; the source gives it in a Kannada paraphrase as above.)

Page 84

- madhuvāhane = madhu vāhyate 'neneti madhuvāhanaḥ: "madhu means honey, or delicious food; a chariot that bears these, i.e. a chariot filled [with them], is meant."
- somasya venām anu id viduḥ: "All the gods knew of the wedding that took place with Venā: that is, as stated above (Ai. Brā. 4-7), when Soma had wished to marry Sūryā-devī the Aśvins and all the other gods, too, came to that wedding rite desiring that the woman should become [their] bride; as the Aśvins also themselves wished to marry her (Ṛ. Saṃ. 10-85-8 and 9). For this reason — that is, in order to win the bride — the Aśvins filled their chariot with sweet foods and went to Soma's wedding; and since all the gods had come there, all of them knew of this matter: such is the main idea of the description in this ṛk."
- ārabhe = ārabdhuṃ | avalambitum: "to hold on to. When a chariot goes fast it is natural for it to shake; then, for those sitting inside to hold on firmly lest they fall, there are three pillars in the chariot — such is the sense."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 84–85, grammar pages — noted briefly; numerals zoom-checked) - madhuvāhane: the Uṇādi sūtra beginning phalipāṭanami-mani-jana… — फलिपाटिनमिमनिजनां गुक्पटिनाकिधतश्च (phalipāṭinamimanijanāṃ gukpaṭināk idhataś ca) — Uṇ. Sū. 1-18 gives the suffix u after the root mana, with dha in place of the n: madhu; the word is final-acute by the suffix-accent. Karaṇādhikaraṇayoś ca — करणाधिकरणयोश्च — Pā. 3-3-117: lyuṭ after a root in the instrument or locus sense; so lyuṭ after the causative stem of vah, upadhā-vṛddhi, loss of ṇi, ana for yu. - viduḥ: root vida jñāne; laṭ; jhi; vido laṭo vā — विदो लटो वा — Pā. 3-4-83: the substitutes ṇal, atus, us etc. optionally replace the laṭ-endings of vid; here us for jhi; śap, elided as the root is of the ad-class; vid + us, ru, visarga. - skambhāsaḥ: root skabhi/stabhi "to hold back, to stop" (gatipratibandhe); skambhate "is checked"; the suffix ac of the pacādi class by nandigrahipacādibhyo lyuṇinyacaḥ — नन्दिग्रहिपचादिभ्यो ल्युणिन्यचः — Pā. 3-1-134. - skabhitāsaḥ: the root skabhu of the sautra list, marked udit; udito vā — उदितो वा — Pā. 7-2-56: before ktvā the iṭ augment is optional for an udit root; hence the augment, here.

Page 85

- skabhitāsaḥ (concluded): yasya vibhāṣā — यस्य विभाषा — Pā. 7-2-15 bars the iṭ of ktvā/kta after a root whose iṭ is optional somewhere; so with skabh + ta the iṭ would be barred; but the sūtra grasitaskabhitastabhita… — ग्रसितस्कभितस्तभित… — Pā. 7-2-34 lists skabhita as an irregular form, so iṭ comes; jas takes asuk.
- ārabhe: root rabha rābhasye with the preverb ā; sampadādibhyaḥ kvip — a vārtika — gives kvip in the verbal-noun sense; gatikārakopapadāt kṛt (no number printed) — the later member keeps its natural accent; the case-ending is replaced by śe. Rik 2 ends here (|| 2 ||).

Rik 34.3 (pp. 85–88, PDF 99–103; PDF 102 is a duplicate of PDF 101)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 85; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented)

> समाने अहन्त्रिरवद्यगोहना त्रिरद्य यज्ञं मधुना मिमिक्षतम् । त्रिर्वाजवतीरिषो अश्विना युवं दोषा अस्मभ्यमुषसश्च पिन्वतम् ॥ ३ ॥
>
> samāné ahan trír avadyagohanā trír adyá yajñám mádhunā mimikṣatam | trir vājavatīr íṣo aśvinā yuvám doṣā́ asmábhyam uṣásaś ca pinvatam || 3 ||

(As printed: no mark at all on aśvinā in the second line; the dashes below mimikṣatam in the print belong to the conjuncts of the line above.)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 85)

> समाने । अहन् । त्रिः । अवद्यऽगोहना । त्रिः । अद्य । यज्ञम् । मधुना । मिमिक्षतम् ॥ त्रिः । वाजऽवतीः । इषः । अश्विना । युवम् । दोषाः । अस्मभ्यम् । उषसः । च । पिन्वतम् ॥ ३ ॥

samāne | ahan | triḥ | avadya-gohanā | triḥ | adya | yajñam | madhunā | mimikṣatam || triḥ | vāja-vatīḥ | iṣaḥ | aśvinā | yuvam | doṣāḥ | asmabhyam | uṣasaḥ | ca | pinvatam || 3 ||

Page 86

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 86, in full; numerals zoom-checked)

> हे अश्विना अश्विनौ देवौ युवं युवामुभौ समानेऽहन्नेकस्मिन्ननुष्ठानदिने त्रिरवद्यगोहना त्रिवारमनुष्ठानगतानां दोषाणां संवरणकारिणौ भवतम् । अद्यास्मिन्दिने यज्ञं यज्ञगतं हविर्मधुना मधुररसेन त्रिर्मिमिक्षतम् । त्रिवारं सिञ्चतम् । किंच दोषा उषसश्च रात्रीर्दिवसांश्च रात्रिषु दिवसेषु नैरन्तर्येण वाजवतीर्बलकारिणीरिषोऽन्नान्यस्मभ्यं पिन्वतम् । सिञ्चतम् । प्रयच्छतमित्यर्थः ॥ अहन् । सुपां सुलुगिति सप्तम्या लुक् । अवद्यगोहना । गुहू संवरणे । अवद्यस्य गूहयितारौ नन्द्यादित्वाल्ल्युः । ऊदुपधाया गोहः । पा. ६-४-८९ । इति प्राप्तस्य ऊत्वस्याभावश्छान्दसः । मिमिक्षतम् । मिह सेचने । सन्येकाच उपदेशेऽनुदात्तादितीट्प्रतिषेधः । हलन्ताच्चेति सनः कित्त्वाल्लघूपधगुणाभावः । द्विर्भावहलादिशेषौ । ढत्वकत्वषत्वानि । वाजवतीः । उगितश्चेति ङीप् । पिन्वतम् । पिवि मिवि णिवि सेचने । इदित्वान्नुम् । कर्तरि शप् ॥

he aśvinā aśvinau devau yuvaṃ yuvāmubhau samāne 'hannekasminnanuṣṭhānadine triravadyagohanā trivāramanuṣṭhānagatānāṃ doṣāṇāṃ saṃvaraṇakāriṇau bhavatam | adyāsmindine yajñaṃ yajñagataṃ havirmadhunā madhurarasena trirmimikṣatam | trivāraṃ siñcatam | kiṃca doṣā uṣasaśca rātrīrdivasāṃśca rātriṣu divaseṣu nairantaryeṇa vājavatīrbalakāriṇīriṣo 'nnānyasmabhyaṃ pinvatam | siñcatam | prayacchatamityarthaḥ ‖ ahan | supāṃ sulugiti saptamyā luk | avadyagohanā | guhū saṃvaraṇe | avadyasya gūhayitārau nandyāditvāllyuḥ | ūdupadhāyā gohaḥ | pā. 6-4-89 | iti prāptasya ūtvasyābhāvaśchāndasaḥ | mimikṣatam | miha secane | sanyekāca upadeśe 'nudāttāditīṭpratiṣedhaḥ | halantācceti sanaḥ kittvāllaghūpadhaguṇābhāvaḥ | dvirbhāvahalādiśeṣau | ḍhatvakatvaṣatvāni | vājavatīḥ | ugitaśceti ṅīp | pinvatam | pivi mivi ṇivi secane | iditvānnum | kartari śap ‖

Translation: "O Aśvins, divine ones, both of you, on samāne ahan — on one and the same day of performance — be triḥ avadyagohanā — three times coverers (concealers) of the faults that occur in the performance. Adya — today — sprinkle triḥ — thrice — yajñam, the oblation in the sacrifice, madhunā, with the sweet juice. And doṣā uṣasaḥ ca — by nights and by days — i.e. in the nights and the days continuously — pinvatam — pour out, give — to us iṣaḥ, foods, vājavatīḥ — strength-giving."

(The grammatical tail, transcribed above: ahan — the locative ending dropped by supāṃ suluk…; avadyagohanā — root guh "to cover", "the two concealers of fault", lyu as of the nandyādi class; the ū due by ūd upadhāyā gohaḥ, Pā. 6-4-89, is absent by Vedic usage; mimikṣatam — root mih, san, no iṭ by ekāca upadeśe 'nudāttāt, san kit by halantāc ca, so no guṇa; doubling and halādiḥ śeṣaḥ; ḍh, k, ṣ; vājavatīḥ — ṅīp by ugitaś ca; pinvatam — root pivi (with mivi, ṇivi) "to sprinkle", num as an idit root, śap by kartari śap.)

Pratipadārtha (p. 86) — "aśvinā — O Aśvin deities; yuvam — you; samāne ahan — on one day; triḥ avadyagohanā — (do) thrice conceal (our) faults; adya — today; yajñam — the oblation connected with the sacrifice; madhunā — with the sweet soma juice; triḥ mimikṣatam — [desire] thrice to sprinkle (not only once); doṣā — by night; uṣasaḥ ca — and also by day; asmabhyam — to us; vājavatīḥ — nourishing; iṣaḥ — foods; pinvatam — pour out [for us]."

Bhāvārtha (p. 86) — "O gods, you are great-hearted. On a single day, three times, forgive and cover our faults. And, looking upon our oblation three times with sweet [juice], give us foods that nourish us, by night and by day, in abundance."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 86) — "Thrice on the same day you forgive the faults of the worshippers ; thrice this day you sprinkle our sacrifice with honey ; O Aswins, thrice give us nourishing foods every night and every day."

Page 87

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 87 - samāne ahan — "whole day [the print's English]; in one whole day on which we perform the sacrifice." - triḥ avadyagohanā = trivāram anuṣṭhānagatānāṃ doṣāṇāṃ saṃvaraṇakāriṇau bhavatam: "in the sacrifice that we perform, in the three times — morning, midday, evening — do cover over the faults and omissions that may occur through carelessness, so that the sacrifice may be made complete with all its limbs, without deficiency or excess." - yajñaṃ madhunā mimikṣatam —

“sprinkle the sacrifice with honey; that is, make the sacrificial work and the oblations used in it well acceptable.” - vājavatīḥ iṣaḥ = vājavatīr balakāriṇīr iṣo ’nnān: “vāja means food, iṣa also means food; hence the bhāṣyakāra explains vājavatīḥ as balakāriṇī, i.e. nourishing [the print’s English].” - asmabhyaṃ pinvatam = asmabhyaṃ siñcatam: “give us.” - doṣā, uṣasaḥ — “doṣā means night with darkness; uṣasaḥ = the dawn-time, which is light: day. The sense is: by day and by night.”

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 87–88, grammar pages, noted briefly; numerals zoom-checked) - ahan (p. 87): the seventh-case singular dropped by supāṃ sulug… — सुपां सुलुक्… (no number printed here) as luk. - avadyagohanā: root guhū saṃvaraṇe (“to cover”); avadya = fault; avadyasya gūhayitārau; the suffix lyu by nandigrahi… (no number printed here), with ana for yu; avadya + guh + ana; the lengthening of the root’s penultimate u — ūd upadhāyā gohaḥ — ऊदुपधाया गोहः — Pā. 6-4-89 — occurs before a vowel-initial guṇa-causing ending and is not applied here (Vedic); the dual ending replaced by ā. - mimikṣatam (p. 87 end – p. 88): root miha secane; the suffix san; ekāca upadeśe ’nudāttāt — एकाच उपदेशेऽनुदात्तात् — Pā. 7-2-10: no iṭ for a val-initial ārdhadhātuka after a one-vowelled anudātta root, hence none for san; halantāc ca — हलन्ताच्च — Pā. —

Page 88

(mimikṣatam, continued) 1-2-10: san after a consonant-final root is kit (the print explains anta as “near”, and hal as with the ablative ending dropped), so kṅiti ca (no number printed) bars guṇa; doubling by sanyaṅoḥ — Pā. 7-4-89 as printed [sic: for 6-1-9], halādiḥ śeṣaḥ dropping the first h; h → ḍh by ho ḍhaḥ — हो ढः — Pā. 8-2-31; ḍh → k by ṣaḍhoḥ kassi — षढोः कः सि — Pā. 8-2-41; s → ṣ by ādeśapratyayayoḥ — आदेशप्रत्यययोः — Pā. 8-3-59: mimikṣa; then the loṭ second-person dual, replaced by tam. - vājavatīḥ: vāja = strength [the print’s gloss]; matup by tadasyāsty asminn iti matup — तदस्यास्त्यस्मिन्निति मतुप् (no number printed); the m of matup becomes v after a stem ending in a [or ā] by māduparadhāyāś ca matorvo ’yavādibhyaḥ — मादुपधायाश्च मतोर्वोऽयवादिभ्यः — Pā. 8-2-9; matup is ugit, so ṅīp in the feminine by ugitaś ca — उगितश्च — Pā. 4-1-6. - pinvatam: root pivi secane, idit, so the augment num by idito num dhātoḥ — इदितो नुम् धातोः — Pā. 7-1-58; loṭ, thas, lasya … replaced by tam; śap by kartari śap (no number printed). A tailpiece ornament closes p. 88. Rik 3 ends here (|| 3 ||).

Rik 34.4 (pp. 88–92, PDF 103–107)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 88; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented)

> त्रिर्वर्तिर्याꣳतं त्रिरनुव्रते जने त्रिः सुप्राव्ये त्रेधेव शिक्षतम् । त्रिर्नान्द्यं वहतमश्विना युवं त्रिः पृक्षो अस्मे अक्षरेव पिन्वतम् ॥ ४ ॥
>
> trir vartír yātaṃ trír ánuvrate jáne tríḥ suprāvye tredhéva śikṣatam | trir nāndyaṃ vahatam aśvinā yuvám triḥ pṛ́kṣo asmé akṣáreva pinvatam || 4 ||

(As printed: in akṣareva the svarita stroke stands over ॅरे; vahatam aśvinā carries no marks.)

Page 89

Pada-pāṭha (p. 89)

त्रिः । वर्तिः ॥ यातम् । त्रिः । अनुऽव्रते । जने । त्रिः । सुप्रऽअव्ये । त्रेधाऽइव । शिक्षतम् । त्रिः । नान्द्यम् । वहतम् । अश्विना । युवम् । त्रिः । पृक्षः । अस्मे इति । अक्षराऽइव । पिन्वतम् ॥ ४ ॥

triḥ | vartiḥ || yātam | triḥ | anu-vrate | jane | triḥ | supra-avye | tredhā-iva | śikṣatam | triḥ | nāndyam | vahatam | aśvinā | yuvam | triḥ | pṛkṣaḥ | asme iti | akṣarā-iva | pinvatam || 4 ||

(As printed: "॥" after vartiḥ; supra-avye with a single avagraha (ಸುಪ್ರ-ಅವ್ಯೇ).)

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 89, in full; numerals zoom-checked)

हे अश्विना युवं त्रिर्वर्तिर्यातम् । अस्मदीयवर्तनसाधनं गृहं त्रिर्यातम् । त्रिवारं प्राप्नुतम् । तथानुव्रतेऽस्मदनुकूलव्यापारयुक्ते जने त्रिर्यातम् । त्रिवारं तदनुग्रहाय गच्छतम् । त्रिः सुप्राव्ये त्रिवारं सुष्ठु प्रकर्षेण भवद्भ्यां रक्षणीये प्रवर्तमानानस्मान् त्रेधेव त्रिभिरेव प्रकारैः शिक्षतम् । पुनःपुनरनुष्ठानमुपदेष्टव्यमित्यर्थः । तथा नान्द्यं नन्दनीयं संतोषकरं फलं त्रिर्वहतम् । प्रापयतम् । अस्मे अस्मासु पृक्षोऽन्नं त्रिः पिन्वतम् । त्रिवारं प्रयच्छतम् । तत्र दृष्टान्तः । अक्षरेव । अक्षराण्युदकानि अक्षरा स्रोतस्तृप्तिरिति तन्नामसु पाठात् । तानि पर्जन्यो यथा प्रयच्छति तद्वत् ॥ वर्तिः । वर्ततेऽत्रेति वर्तिर्गृहम् । हृपिषिरुहिवृतीत्यादिना । उ. ४-११८ । इप्रत्ययः । सुपां सुलुगिति द्वितीयैकवचनस्य सुआदेशः । सुप्राव्ये । उपसर्गद्वयोपसृष्टादवतेः कर्मणि ण्यत् । संज्ञापूर्वको विधिरनित्य इति वृद्ध्यभावः । तित्स्वरितमिति स्वरितत्वम् । शिक्षतम् । शिक्ष विद्योपादाने । नान्द्यम् । ण्यदन्तः । पृक्षः । पृची संपर्के । असुनि सुडागमः । अस्मे । सुपां सुलुगिति शे आदेशः । अक्षरा इव । अश्नुवते व्याप्नुवन्तीत्यक्षराण्युदकानि । औणादिकः क्सरप्रत्ययः । शेर्लोपः ॥

he aśvinā yuvaṃ trirvartiryātam | asmadīyavartanasādhanaṃ gṛhaṃ triryātam | trivāraṃ prāpnutam | tathānuvrate 'smadanukūlavyāpārayukte jane triryātam | trivāraṃ tadanugrahāya gacchatam | triḥ suprāvye trivāraṃ suṣṭhu prakarṣeṇa bhavadbhyāṃ rakṣaṇīye pravartamānānasmān tredheva tribhireva prakāraiḥ śikṣatam | punaḥpunaranuṣṭhānamupadeṣṭavyamityarthaḥ | tathā nāndyaṃ nandanīyaṃ saṃtoṣakaraṃ phalaṃ trirvahatam | prāpayatam | asme asmāsu pṛkṣo 'nnaṃ triḥ pinvatam | trivāraṃ prayacchatam | tatra dṛṣṭāntaḥ | akṣareva | akṣarāṇyudakāni akṣarā srotastṛptiriti tannāmasu pāṭhāt | tāni parjanyo yathā prayacchati tadvat || vartiḥ | vartate 'treti vartirgṛham | hṛpiṣiruhivṛtītyādinā | u. 4-118 | ipratyayaḥ | supāṃ sulugiti dvitīyaikavacanasya suādeśaḥ | suprāvye | upasargadvayopasṛṣṭādavateḥ karmaṇi ṇyat | saṃjñāpūrvako vidhiranitya iti vṛddhyabhāvaḥ | titsvaritamiti svaritatvam | śikṣatam | śikṣa vidyopādāne | nāndyam | ṇyadantaḥ | pṛkṣaḥ | pṛcī saṃparke | asuni suḍāgamaḥ | asme | supāṃ sulugiti śe ādeśaḥ | akṣarā iva | aśnuvate vyāpnuvantītyakṣarāṇyudakāni | auṇādikaḥ ksarapratyayaḥ | śerlopaḥ ||

(As printed: "इप्रत्ययः" (the suffix i), "उ. ४-११८".)

Translation: "O Aśvins, triḥ vartiḥ yātam — go thrice to our vartiḥ, our house, the means of our livelihood: reach it three times; likewise, go three times to the man anuvrate — engaged in works favourable to us — for his favour. Triḥ suprāvye — three times, to [us] who are engaged in matters to be protected well and excellently by you, tredheva śikṣatam — instruct in threefold manner: that is, the sense is that the performance is to be taught again and again. And nāndyam — a pleasing, joy-giving fruit — triḥ vahatam — bring three times. Asme — to us — pṛkṣaḥ, food, triḥ pinvatam — pour out, give thrice. The simile: akṣareva — as akṣarāṇi, waters (‘akṣarā’, ‘stream’, ‘satisfaction’, being read in the lists of such names) — as Parjanya gives those [waters], so [give us food].”

(The grammatical tail, transcribed above: vartiḥ — “in which one lives”, the house; the suffix i by hṛpiṣiruhivṛti…, Uṇ. 4-118; su for the accusative ending by supāṃ suluk…; suprāvye — ṇyat in the object sense after av with two preverbs; no vṛddhi because “a rule preceded by a technical term is not constant”; svarita by titsvaritam; śikṣatam — root śikṣ; nāndyam — ending in ṇyat; pṛkṣaḥ — root pṛc, asun with the augment suṭ; asme — śe by supāṃ suluk…; akṣarā iva — “those which pervade”, the waters, Uṇādi ksara, loss of śi.)

Pratipadārtha (pp. 89–90) — “aśvinā — O Aśvin deities; yuvam — you; triḥ — three times; vartiḥ — to our house; yātam — graciously come; anuvrate — [him] who does what is good for us; jane — [to] the people (to their house also); triḥ yātam — come thrice; triḥ — three times; suprāvye — to us, who are fit to be protected; tredhā iva — in three ways; śikṣatam — [teach] (knowledge); nāndyam — a delight-giving fruit; triḥ vahatam — bring thrice; akṣarā iva — as streams of water (Parjanya); asme — to us; pṛkṣaḥ — food; triḥ — three times; pinvatam — give abundantly.”

Page 90

Bhāvārtha (p. 90) — “O Aśvin deities, three times each day, favour with your kindness the house of those who do us good, and ours. We are worthy of protection. Teach us threefold knowledge. Give us food, too, three times a day.”

English Translation (the source’s own, p. 90) — “O Aswins, thrice visit our house and persons who are well disposed towards us ; thrice repair to him who deserves your protection and instruct us in three-fold knowledge ; thrice grant us rewards which please us ; thrice bestow upon us food as the unceasing streams of water (rain)” (no full stop in the print).

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 90–91 - anuvrate jane = asmadanukūlavyāpārayukte jane: “among people acting favourably toward us; our well-wishers.” - suprāvye = suṣṭhu bhavadbhyāṃ rakṣaṇīye: “by those who, by praising and calling on you with hymns, are worthy of your protection.” - tredheva śikṣatam: “What the threefold teaching is, is doubtful here. Probably ‘by body, by speech and by mind’ are the meanings suggested.” - nāndyam = nandanīyam, harṣapradam: “joy-giving; what is pleasing to us, a thing that we need.” - vahatam = prāpayetam: “cause us to obtain.” - pṛkṣaḥ = “food; since pṛkṣaḥ is read among the twenty-eight words for food beginning andhaḥ, vājaḥ (no Nirukta number printed), pṛkṣa means food, nourishment.” ### Page 91

- akṣareva pinvatam = udakam iva siñcatam: “sprinkle [us] as with water. Since akṣara is read among the hundred names for water beginning aṇaḥ, kṣodaḥ (Ni. 2-24 as printed, zoom-checked), akṣareva means ‘like a stream, like rain’. On this the ṛk:”

  तस्याः समुद्रा अधि वि क्षरन्ति तेन जीवन्ति प्रदिशश्चतस्रः । ततः क्षरत्यक्षरं तद्विश्वमुप जीवति ॥ (ऋ. सं. १-१६४-४२)

tasyāḥ samudrā adhi vi kṣaranti tena jīvanti pradiśaś catasraḥ | tataḥ kṣaraty akṣaraṃ tad viśvam upa jīvati || (ṛ. saṃ. 1-164-42)

“clearly explains the sense of the word akṣara. Here: kṣarati akṣaram tadviśvam upajīvati — (the clouds) udakaṃ varṣanti tena udakena viśvaṃ bhūtajātam upajīvati — ‘the clouds shower the water as rain; by that water all the beings in the world (the plant world included) live’: this is the main sense. So the water that falls as rain is necessary to the world of beings and gives it joy; likewise, we pray that you give us food and the like that bring joy.” (Translation of the ṛk mine, tentative: “From her the oceans flow forth, by it the four quarters live; thence flows the imperishable [water], and by that all the world lives”. The reference zoom-checked.) - pinvatam = siñcatam; yacchatam — “give, favour”, etc.

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 91–92, grammar pages — noted briefly; numerals zoom-checked) - vartiḥ: root vṛtu vartane; vartate asmin (“in which one dwells”); the Uṇādi sūtra hṛpiṣiruhivṛtividicidi kīrtibhyaś ca — हृपिषिरुहिवृतिविदिछिदिकीर्तिभ्यश्च (hṛpiṣiruhivṛtividichidikīrtibhyaś ca) — Uṇ. Sū. 4-558 as printed (the bhāṣya cites 4-118) — gives the suffix in after the seven roots hṛ (haraṇe), pisṛ [read piṣḷ saṃcūrṇane], ruha (bījajanmani prādurbhāve ca), vṛtu vartane, vida sattāyām, bhidir dvaidhīkaraṇe and kṛta saṃveṣṭane; the preceding sūtra sarvadhātubhya in — सर्वधातुभ्य इन् (sarvadhātubhya in) — Uṇ. Sū. 4-552 as printed makes in run on, so there is no room to say that i is the suffix; in is nit, hence the first syllable would be acute; yet in the mantra vartiḥ is final-acute; so the suffix may be taken as i by the sūtra [read iḥ], where the accent is as seen; the print remarks, with the proverb seyam ubhayataḥ pāśā rajjuḥ (as I read it: “a rope with a noose at both ends”), that the matter is caught either way. The print then observes that one who rejects the suffix in may enter the word vartiḥ in the ākṛtigaṇa of uñchādi and, by uñchādīnāṃ ca — उञ्छादीनां च — Pā. 6-1-160, teach the final accent; and that in the Veda-bhāṣya, in explaining yasya saṃsthe vṛṇvate harī (Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-5[?]-4 as printed: a single middle glyph read as 5), the suffix in is taught by the same Uṇādi sūtra hṛpiṣiruhi…. Hence it is not right to teach the suffix i here by this sūtra. Then supāṃ sulug… gives su in place of am of the accusative singular…

Page 92

- suprāvye: su and pra, two preverbs, before the root av rakṣaṇe; ṇyat in the sense of bhāva or karman after a root ending in ṛ-vowel or a consonant, by ṛhaloṇyat — ऋहलोर्ण्यत् — Pā. 3-1-124, in the object sense here: su + pra + av + ya. Ata upadhāyāḥ — अत उपधायाः — Pā. 7-2-116: before an ñit or ṇit suffix the penultimate short a takes vṛddhi; but vṛddhi here is blocked since vṛddhir ād aic — वृद्धिरादैच् — Pā. 1-1-1 is a rule with a technical term as its antecedent, and “saṃjñāpūrvako vidhir anityaḥ” (Paribhāṣā 95 as printed) applies; when the word is analysed it must be avye, not āvye. Lengthening of the vowel (savarṇadīrgha); the seventh-case singular; titsvaritam — तित्स्वरितम् — Pā. 6-1-185: the ya of suprāvya is svarita.
- śikṣatam: root śikṣa vidyopādāne, loṭ, second-person dual thas, replaced by tam (laṅvadbhāva).
- nāndyam: root ṭu nadi samṛddhau, idit, so the augment num; since the root ends in a consonant, ṇyat in the verbal-noun sense; yat is svarita; the lengthening of n is Vedic.
- pṛkṣaḥ: root pṛcī samparke; asun by sarvadhātubhyo ’sun (no number printed); the augment suṭ is Vedic; pṛc + sas; c → k by co kuḥ — चोः कुः — Pā. 8-2-30; s → ṣ by ādeśapratyayayoḥ; pṛkṣas; elision of the accusative singular, ru, visarga.

- asme: asmad + seventh-case plural sup; supāṃ sulug… — Pā. 7-1-39 — gives śe in place of sup; asmad + e; by śeṣe lopaḥ — Pā. 7-2-90 the ṭi is lost; the e is acute by the acute-restoring accent; in the alternative of final-letter loss, asma + e, Vedic pararūpa and the single-substitute accent.
- akṣarā iva: root aśū vyāptau; aśnuvanti = "they pervade [all]"; akṣarāṇi means water; the Uṇādi suffix kṣara after aś; aś + śara; ś → ṣ by vraścabhrasja…ṣaḥ — Pā. 8-2-66 as printed [sic: for 8-2-36; both glyphs have the top-left hook of 6]; ṣ → k by ṣaḍhoḥ kassi; ṣatva: akṣara; jas, replaced by śi by jaśśasoḥ śiḥ — Pā. 7-1-20; loss of śi by śeś chandasi bahulam — Pā. 6-1-70; the augment num by napuṃsakasya jhalacaḥ — Pā. 7-1-72; lengthening by sarvanāmasthāne cāsambuddhau — Pā. 6-4-8; loss of the n; compounded with iva as a nitya-samāsa. Rik 4 ends here (|| 4 ||).

Rik 34.5 (pp. 93–97, PDF 108–112)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 93; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented)

त्रिर्नो॑ र॒यिं व॑हतमश्विना यु॒वं त्रिर्दे॒वता॑ता॒ त्रिरु॒ताव॑त॒ं धिय॑: । त्रिः सौ॑भग॒त्वं त्रिरु॒त श्रवां॑सि न॒स्त्रिष्ठं वा॒ं सूरे॑ दुहि॒ता रु॑ह॒द्रथ॑म् ॥ ५ ॥

trír no rayíṃ vahatam aśvinā yuváṃ trir devátātā trír utávataṃ dhíyaḥ | tríḥ saubhagatváṃ trir utá śrávāṃsi nas tríṣṭhaṃ vāṃ sūre duhitā ruhad rátham || 5 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 93)

त्रिः । नः । रयिम् । वहतम् । अश्विना । युवम् । त्रिः । देवऽताता । त्रिः । उत । अवतम् । धियः । त्रिः । सौभगऽत्वम् । त्रिः । उत । श्रवांसि । नः । त्रिऽस्थम् । वाम् । सूरे । दुहिता । आ । रुहत् । रथम् ॥ ५ ॥

triḥ | naḥ | rayim | vahatam | aśvinā | yuvam | triḥ | deva-tātā | triḥ | uta | avatam | dhiyaḥ | triḥ | saubhaga-tvam | triḥ | uta | śravāṃsi | naḥ | tri-stham | vām | sūre | duhitā | ā | ruhat | ratham || 5 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (pp. 93–94, in full; numerals zoom-checked)

हे अश्विना युवं नोऽस्मान्न[?] रयिं धनं त्रिर्वहतम् । त्रिवारं प्रापयतम् । देवताता देवतातौ देवैर्युक्ते कर्मणि त्रिस्त्रिवारमागच्छतमिति शेषः । उतापि च धियोऽस्मद्बुद्धीस्त्रिस्त्रिवारं रक्षतम् । सौभगत्वं सौभाग्यं त्रिर्वहतमिति शेषः । उतापि च श्रवांस्यन्नानि नोऽस्मभ्यं त्रिर्वहतम् । वां युवयोः संबन्धिनं त्रिष्ठं चक्रत्रयेऽवस्थितं रथं सूरे सूर्यस्य दुहिता पुत्री । दुहिता दुर्हिता दूरे हिता । नि. ३-३ । इति यास्कः । आरूढवती ॥ देवताता । सर्वदेवात्तातिल् । पा. ४-४-१४२ । इति स्वार्थिकस्तातिल्प्रत्ययः । तेन देवतातिशब्देन देवसंबद्धो यज्ञो लक्ष्यते । देवताता मख इति तन्नामसु पठितत्वात् । लितीति प्रत्ययात्पूर्वस्योदात्तत्वम् । सुपां सुलुगिति सप्तम्या डादेशः । त्रिष्ठम् । त्रिषु चक्रेषु तिष्ठतीति त्रिष्ठः । सुपि स्थः । पा. ३-२-४ । इति कः । अम्बाम्बेत्यादिना । पा. ८-३-९७ । सकारस्य षत्वम् । सूरे । षू प्रेरणे । सुसूधागृधिभ्यः क्रन् । उ. ४-२५ । इति क्रन् । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । विभक्तिव्यत्ययः । आ रुहत् । कृमृदृरुहिभ्यश्छन्दसि । पा. ३-१-५९ । इति च्लेरङादेशः ॥

he aśvinā yuvaṃ no 'smānna[?] rayiṃ dhanaṃ trirvahatam | trivāraṃ prāpayatam | devatātā devatātau devairyukte karmaṇi tristrivāramāgacchatamiti śeṣaḥ | utāpi ca dhiyo 'smadbuddhīstristrivāraṃ rakṣatam | saubhagatvaṃ saubhāgyaṃ trirvahatamiti śeṣaḥ | utāpi

ca śravāṃsyannāni no 'smabhyaṃ trirvahatam | vāṃ yuvayoḥ saṃbandhinaṃ triṣṭhaṃ cakratraye 'vasthitaṃ rathaṃ sūre sūryasya duhitā putrī | duhitā durhitā dūre hitā | ni. 3-3 | iti yāskaḥ | ārūḍhavatī ‖ devatātā | sarvadevāttātil | pā. 4-4-142 | iti svārthikastātilpratyayaḥ | tena devatātiśabdena devasaṃbaddho yajño lakṣyate | devatātā makha iti tannāmasu paṭhitatvāt | litīti pratyayātpūrvasyodāttatvam | supāṃ sulugiti saptamyā ḍādeśaḥ | triṣṭham | triṣu cakreṣu tiṣṭhatīti triṣṭhaḥ | supi sthaḥ | pā. 3-2-4 | iti kaḥ | ambāmbetyādinā | pā. 8-3-97 | sakārasya ṣatvam | sūre | ṣū preraṇe | susūdhāgṛdhibhyaḥ kran | u. 4-25 | iti kran | nittvādādyudāttaḥ | vibhaktivyatyayaḥ | ā ruhat | kṛmṛdṛruhibhyaśchandasi | pā. 3-1-59 | iti cleraṅādeśaḥ ‖

(As printed: "ನೋಽಸ್ಮಾನ್ಯಯಂ" — the word after naḥ is garbled in the print (for no 'smabhyaṃ?); the Nirukta reference in the bhāṣya is printed 3-3 (both glyphs ೩), the Special Topics print 3-4; the Uṇādi number is read 4-25 (the grammar on p. 96 prints 2-182).)

Translation: "O Aśvins, triḥ vahatam — bring three times — rayim, wealth, to us. Devatātā — at the rite that is joined with gods — come thrice (so the sentence is to be completed). Uta — and — dhiyaḥ, our thoughts, avatam — protect, thrice. Saubhagatvam — good fortune — [bring] thrice, as is to be supplied. And śravāṃsi, food [for us], bring thrice. Vām — your triṣṭham — [the chariot] standing on three wheels — ratham, the chariot, sūre duhitā — the Sun's daughter, his duhitā: 'duhitā is durhitā (ill-placed [= placed far away]), or dūre hitā (placed far), or from dogdhi (milks)' (Ni. 3-3 as printed), so says Yāska — ā ruhat — has mounted."

Page 94

(The grammatical tail, transcribed above, runs onto p. 94: devatātā — the self-sense suffix tātil by sarvadevāt tātil, Pā. 4-4-142, so the sacrifice connected with the gods is indicated, since devatātā is read among its names (with makha); the syllable before a lit suffix is acute; ḍā for the locative by supāṃ suluk…; triṣṭham — "standing on three wheels", ka by supi sthaḥ, Pā. 3-2-4, ṣ by ambāmba…, Pā. 8-3-97; sūre — root sū "to impel", kran by susūdhāgṛdhibhyaḥ kran, initial acute as nit, case-ending by vyatyaya; ā ruhat — aṅ for cli by kṛmṛdṛruhibhyaś chandasi, Pā. 3-1-59.)

Pratipadārtha (p. 94) — "aśvinā — O Aśvin deities; yuvam — you; naḥ — to us; rayim — wealth; triḥ vahatam — bring thrice; devatātā — at our rite meant for the gods; triḥ [āgacchatam] — come three times; uta — and; dhiyaḥ — our thoughts; triḥ [rakṣatam] — protect thrice; saubhagatvam — prosperity; triḥ [vahatam] — bring thrice; uta — and; śravāṃsi — food; naḥ — to us; triḥ [vahatam] — bring thrice; vām — your; triṣṭham — [which stands] on three wheels; ratham — chariot; sūre — of the Sun; duhitā — daughter; ā ruhat — mounted."

Bhāvārtha (p. 94) — "O Aśvin deities, the daughter of the Sun, your wife, has mounted your chariot, which rests on three wheels. [Pleased with that,] grant us wealth and prosperity thrice; come thrice to the rites we perform in honour of the gods; protect our thoughts thrice. Give us food thrice."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 94) — "O Aswins, thrice bestow upon us riches; thrice approach our divine rite ; thrice protect our intellects; thrice grant us prosperity and thrice food ; the daughter of the Sun has ascended your three-wheeled car."

Page 95 [Special Topics, continued]

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 94–95 (they begin on p. 94 with triṣṭham and sūre duhitā) - triṣṭham = triṣu cakreṣu tiṣṭhatīti triṣṭhaḥ: "a chariot with three wheels." - sūre duhitā = sūryasya putrī: "the daughter of the Sun: the goddess Sūryā, or Sāvitrī. On this Yāska says:"

> दुहिता दुर्हिता दूरे हिता दोग्धेर्वा ॥ (नि. ३-४)

duhitā durhitā dūre hitā dogdher vā || (ni. 3-4)

"That is: durhitā — she who is ill-placed [= made to live elsewhere] where she is given; for she, in the very place where she is given [in marriage], is durhitā; or dūre satī sā pituḥ hitā pathyā bhavatīti duhitety ucyate — 'being far off she is [still] a benefit to her father, so she is called duhitā'; or dogdher vā — 'from the root duh, since she is always milking wealth from her father by requests'. Duhitā means daughter. Since a girl dwelling in her husband's house is not well placed among strangers, she is called durhitā or duhitā; or, since she lives in the husband's house, far from her father's home, the daughter is named dūre hitā, 'placed afar'; or, since she, entreating her father (many times pressing him), takes wealth and the like for her husband, the daughter is named duhitā: so Yāska has explained the word duhitā in his Nirukta." - sūre duhitā ruhad ratham: "On the thought that the Sun's daughter mounted the chariot of the Aśvins, see what we have written in the Special Topics of the second ṛk of this sūkta [sic: the print says 'the 2nd'; the relevant matter is in the notes on Rik 2, pp. 83–84]. And:"

> युवो रथं दुहिता सूर्यस्य सह श्रिया नासत्यावृणीत ॥ (ऋ. सं. १-११७-१३) आ वां रथं युवतिस्तिष्ठदत्र जुष्ट्वी नरा दुहिता सूर्यस्य ॥ (ऋ. सं. १-११८-५) आ यद्वां सूर्या रथं तिष्ठद्रघुष्यदं सदा ॥ (ऋ. सं. ५-७३-५)

yuvo rathaṃ duhitā sūryasya saha śriyā nāsatyāvṛṇīta || (ṛ. saṃ. 1-117-13) ā vāṃ rathaṃ yuvatis tiṣṭhad atra juṣṭvī narā duhitā sūryasya || (ṛ. saṃ. 1-118-5) ā yad vāṃ sūryā rathaṃ tiṣṭhad raghuṣyadaṃ sadā || (ṛ. saṃ. 5-73-5)

"These ṛks inform us that the Sun's daughter was seated in the chariot of the Aśvins; for in some places it is said that the Aśvins married the Sun's daughter. Therefore, descriptions are suggested here and there that the Aśvins seated the Sun's daughter, who was dear to them, in their chariot and travelled toward their home." (The source leaves these ṛks untranslated. My glosses, mine and tentative: 1. "O Nāsatyas, the Sun's daughter chose your chariot, with [her] splendour"; 2. "The maiden, the Sun's daughter, rejoicing, mounted your chariot here, O heroes"; 3. "When Sūryā mounted your swift-running chariot always". The references zoom-checked: 1-117-13 and 1-118-5 replace 1-116-17 and 1-119-5.)

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 95–97, grammar pages — noted briefly; numerals zoom-checked)

- devatātā (p. 95): sarvadevāt tātil — सर्वदेवात्तातिल् (sarvadevāt tātil) — Pā. 4-4-142: after sarva and deva the suffix tātil comes in the self-sense: deva + tāti; devatāti means simply “deity”; here the sacrifice connected with the deity is conveyed by lakṣaṇā. Yāska reads the word among the names of sacrifice, devatātā makhaḥ (Ni. 3-17-10 as printed, zoom-checked: the middle glyph is the flat-footed 7). Liti — लिति (liti) — Pā. 6-1-193: before a suffix with the marker l the preceding syllable is acute, so va is acute.

Page 96

(devatātā, continued) After devatāti the ending ṅi; by supāṃ suluk… ḍā replaces ṅi, and by the force of its ḍ-marker the ṭi is dropped. - triṣṭham: triṣu tiṣṭhatīti triṣṭhaḥ — the chariot standing on three wheels; root ṣṭhā gatinivṛttau, s for ṣ; by nimittāpāye… the cerebralisation goes: sthā; supi sthaḥ — सुपि स्थः (supi sthaḥ) — Pā. 3-2-4, a sūtra the print says is split into supi and sthaḥ. The paribhāṣā kṛtrimākṛtrimayoḥ kṛtrimasyaiva grahaṇam — कृत्रिमाकृत्रिमयोः कृत्रिमस्यैव ग्रहणम् — “where both the technical and the ordinary sense are possible, the technical is taken”: sup as a word is the locative plural, but taken with the p of sup by ādir antyena sahetā — आदिरन्त्येन सहेता (ādir antyena sahetā) — Pā. 1-1-71 it is the pratyāhāra of all twenty-one case-endings, Pāṇini’s convention, so all twenty-one are meant. Dhātoḥ — धातोः (dhātoḥ) — Pā. 3-1-91 is the heading; by kartari kṛt — कर्तरि कृत् (kartari kṛt) — Pā. 3-4-67 the suffix is in the agent sense. So: with a sup-ending word as upapada, ka after roots in the agent sense (the first part, supi); and by the second part, with a sup-ending upapada, ka after sthā in the state-sense; here, by the first part, ka after sthā in the agent sense; as a kṛdanta it is a prātipadika and its sup is dropped: tri + sthā + a; āto lopa iṭi ca — आतो लोप इटि च (āto lopa iṭi ca) — Pā. 6-4-64 drops the ā: tri + stha; ambāmbagobhūmisavyāpadvitrikuśekuśaṅkvaṅgumañjipuñjiparamebarhirdivyagnibhyaḥ sthaḥ — अम्बाम्बगोभूमिसव्यापद्वित्रिकुशेकुशङ्क्वङ्गुमञ्जिपुञ्जिपरमेबर्हिर्दिव्यग्निभ्यः स्थः — Pā. 8-3-97: after these eighteen words (amba, āmba, go, bhūmi, savya, apa, dvi, tri, kuśe, ku, śaṅku, aṅgu, mañji, puñji, parame, barhis, divi, agni) the s of sthā ending in the ka-suffix becomes ṣ; ṣṭunā ṣṭuḥ — ष्टुना ष्टुः (ṣṭunā ṣṭuḥ) — Pā. 8-4-4 as printed [sic: for 8-4-41] gives ṭh for th; accusative singular. - sūre: root ṣū preraṇe; s for ṣ by dhātvādeḥ ṣaḥ saḥ; susūdhāgṛdhibhyaḥ kran — सुसूधागृधिभ्यः क्रन् (susūdhāgṛdhibhyaḥ kran) — Uṇ. Sū. 2-182: after ṣuñ abhiṣave, ṣū preraṇe, ḍudhāñ dhāraṇapoṣaṇayoḥ, gṛdhu abhikāṅkṣāyām the suffix kran: sū + ra; as the suffix is kit there is no guṇa, and by the nit accent the first syllable is acute. The locative stands for the nominative by Vedic usage.

Page 97

- ā ruhat: root ruha bījajanmani prādurbhāve ca; luṅ, the augment aṭ; cli luṅi — च्लि लुङि (cli luṅi) — Pā. 3-1-43 gives cli: aruh + cli; luṅ, tip, loss of i; kṛmṛdṛruhibhyaś chandasi — कृमृदृरुहिभ्यश्छन्दसि (kṛmṛdṛruhibhyaś chandasi) — Pā. 3-1-59: after ḍukṛñ karaṇe, mṛṅ prāṇatyāge, dṛ vidāraṇe, ruha bījajanmādau, cli optionally becomes aṅ in the Veda; with the preverb āṅ, savarṇadīrgha: āruhat; in the classical language ārukṣat. Rik 5 ends here (|| 5 ||); a tailpiece ornament follows.

Rik 34.6 (pp. 97–103, PDF 112–118)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 97; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented)

त्रिर्नो॑ अश्विना दि॒व्यानि॑ भेष॒जा त्रिः पार्थि॑वानि॒ त्रिरु॑ दत्तम॒द्भ्यः । ओ॒मान॑ꣳ शं॒योर्मम॑काय सू॒नवे॑ त्रि॒धातु॒ शर्म॑ वहतं शुभस्पती ॥ ६ ॥

trír no aśvinā divyā́ni bheṣajā́ triḥ pā́rthivāni trír u dattam adbhyáḥ | omā́naṃ śaṃyór mámakāya sūnáve tridhātu śárma vahataṃ śubhas patī || 6 ||

(As printed: in mamakāya the svarita stroke stands over the second म, zoom-checked; vahataṃ śubhaspatī carry no marks.)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 97)

त्रिः । नः । अश्विना । दिव्यानि । भेषजा । त्रिः । पार्थिवानि । त्रिः । ऊं इति । दत्तम् । अत्ऽभ्यः । ओमानम् । शम्ऽयोः । ममकाय । सूनवे । त्रिऽधातु । शर्म । वहतम् । शुभः । पती इति ॥ ६ ॥

triḥ | naḥ | aśvinā | divyāni | bheṣajā | triḥ | pārthivāni | triḥ | ūṃ iti | dattam | at-bhyaḥ | omānam | śam-yoḥ | mamakāya | sūnave | tri-dhātu | śarma | vahatam | śubhaḥ | patī iti || 6 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 98, in full; numerals zoom-checked)

हे अश्विना नोऽस्मभ्यं दिव्यानि द्युलोकवर्तीनि भेषजा जौषधानि त्रिर्दत्तम् । तथा पार्थिवानि पृथिव्यामुत्पन्नान्यौषधानि त्रिर्दत्तम् । अद्भ्य उ अन्तरिक्षसकाशादप्यौषधानि त्रिर्दत्तम् । आप इत्यन्तरिक्षनाम अपः पृथिवी भूरिति तन्नामसु पाठात् । शंयोरेतन्नामकस्य बृहस्पतिपुत्रस्य । ते शंयुं बार्हस्पत्यमब्रुवन् । तै. सं. २-६-१०-१ । इति ब्राह्मणान्तरात् । तस्य संबन्धिनमोमानं सुखविशेषं ममकाय सूनवे मदीयाय पुत्राय दत्तम् । हे शुभस्पती शोभनस्यौषधजातस्य पालकौ युवां त्रिधातु वातपित्तश्लेष्मधातुत्रयशमनविषयं सुखम् । वहतं प्रापयतम् ॥ दिव्यानि । दण्डादित्वाद्यप्रत्ययः । पा. ५-१-६६ । भेषजा । भिषज् चिकित्सायाम् । पुंसि संज्ञायामिति घः । शंयोः । शसु उपशमे । क्विप् । शम् । यु मिश्रणे । अस्माद्विच् । कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरः । त्रिधातु । सितनिगमिमसिसच्यविधाञ्क्रुशिभ्यस्तुन् । उ. १-७० । अद्भ्यः । ऊडिदमित्यादिना विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वम् । ओमानम् । अवतेरन्येभ्योऽपि दृश्यन्त इति मनिन् । ज्वरत्वरेत्यादिनाकारवकारयोरूठ् । सार्वधातुकार्धधातुकलक्षणो गुणः । यदि ज्वरत्वरेत्यत्रानुनासिके च । पा. ६-४-२० । इति नानुवर्तते तर्हि पूर्वेणैव सूत्रेण वकारस्य ऊडादेशो भविष्यति । शुभस्पती । शुभ दीप्तौ । संपदादिलक्षणः क्विप् । षष्ठ्याः पतिपुत्रेति संहितायां विसर्जनीयस्य सत्वम् । सुबामन्त्रित इति पराङ्गवद्भावात् षष्ठ्यामन्त्रितसमुदायस्याष्टमिकं सर्वानुदात्तत्वम् ॥

he aśvinā no 'smabhyaṃ divyāni dyulokavartīni bheṣajā jauṣadhāni trirdattam | tathā pārthivāni pṛthivyāmutpannānyauṣadhāni trirdattam | adbhya u antarikṣasakāśādapyauṣadhāni trirdattam | āpa ityantarikṣanāma apaḥ pṛthivī bhūriti tannāmasu pāṭhāt | śaṃyoretannāmakasya bṛhaspatiputrasya | te śaṃyuṃ bārhaspatyamabruvan | tai. saṃ. 2-6-10-1 | iti brāhmaṇāntarāt | tasya saṃbandhinamomānaṃ sukhaviśeṣaṃ mamakāya sūnave madīyāya putrāya dattam | he śubhaspatī śobhanasyauṣadhajātasya pālakau yuvāṃ tridhātu vātapittaśleṣmadhātutrayaśamanaviṣayaṃ sukham | vahataṃ prāpayatam || divyāni | daṇḍāditvādyapratyayaḥ | pā. 5-1-66 | bheṣajā | bhiṣaj cikitsāyām | puṃsi saṃjñāyāmiti ghaḥ | śaṃyoḥ | śasu upaśame | kvip | śam | yu miśraṇe | asmādvic | kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaraḥ | tridhātu | sitanigamimasisacyavidhāñkruśibhyastun | u. 1-70 | adbhyaḥ | ūḍidamityādinā

vibhakterudāttatvam | omānam | avateranyebhyo 'pi dṛśyanta iti manin | jvaratvaretyādināsākāravakārayorūṭh | sārvadhātukārdhadhātukalakṣaṇo guṇaḥ | yadi jvaratvaretyatrānunāsike ca | pā. 6-4-20 | iti nānuvartate tarhi pūrveṇaiva sūtreṇa vakārasya ūḍādeśo bhaviṣyati | śubhaspatī | śubha dīptau | saṃpadādilakṣaṇaḥ kvip | ṣaṣṭhyāḥ patiputreti saṃhitāyāṃ visarjanīyasya satvam | subāmantrita iti parāṅgavadbhāvāt ṣaṣṭhyāmantritasamudāyasyāṣṭamikaṃ sarvānudāttatvam ||

(As printed: "भेषजा जौषधानि" [sic: for bheṣajāny auṣadhāni]; "अद्भ्य उ अन्तरिक्षसकाशादप्यौषधानि"; "अपः पृथिवी"; Tai. Saṃ. 2-6-10-1 (was read 2-2-10-1 [?]); Uṇ. 1-70 in the bhāṣya, 1-69 in the grammar on p. 101.)

Translation: "O Aśvins, give us three times divyāni bheṣajā, the medicaments (herbs) that belong to the heavenly world; and likewise pārthivāni, the herbs born on earth, thrice; and adbhyaḥ u, the herbs born from the mid-region, thrice (āpaḥ being a name of the mid-region, since it is read in the lists 'āpaḥ, pṛthivī, bhūḥ'). [Give] śaṃyoḥ omānam, the particular happiness (omāna) belonging to Śaṃyu, the son of Bṛhaspati — 'they said to Śaṃyu Bārhaspatya' (Tai. Saṃ. 2-6-10-1) from another Brāhmaṇa — mamakāya sūnave, to my son. O śubhaspatī, protectors of the herbs of good kind: you — tridhātu śarma vahatam — bring happiness related to the pacifying of the three constituents, wind, bile and phlegm."

(The grammatical tail, transcribed above: divyāni — the suffix ya as of the daṇḍādi class, Pā. 5-1-66; bheṣajā — root bhiṣaj, gha by puṃsi saṃjñāyām; śaṃyoḥ — śam (kvip after śas) and vic after yu, the later member of the kṛt compound keeps its accent; tridhātu — tun by sitanigami..., Uṇ. 1-70; adbhyaḥ — ending acute by ūḍidam...; omānam — manin after av by anyebhyo 'pi dṛśyante, ūṭh for the a and v by jvaratvara..., guṇa; if anunāsike ca (Pā. 6-4-20) is not carried on there, the ūṭh of the v comes by the preceding sūtra; śubhaspatī — kvip, s for the visarga by ṣaṣṭhyāḥ patiputra... in the Saṃhitā, and the genitive-plus-vocative group wholly unaccented by the eighth-book rule, as parāṅgavat by subāmantrite....)

Pratipadārtha (p. 98) — "aśvinā — O Aśvin deities; naḥ — to us; divyāni — born in the world of the gods; bheṣajā — medicines (herbs); triḥ — three times; pārthivāni — born on earth [herbs]; triḥ — three times; adbhyaḥ u — born in the mid-region [herbs]; triḥ — three times; dattam — give; śaṃyoḥ — [belonging to] Śaṃyu (the son of Bṛhaspati); omānam — prosperity (happiness); mamakāya — my; sūnave — to [my] son; dattam — give; śubhaspatī — O Aśvin deities, protectors of auspicious herbs; tridhātu — related to the three constituents — wind, bile and phlegm; śarma — happiness; vahatam — give."

Bhāvārtha (pp. 98–99; p. 99 begins at "...Śaṃyu's happiness") — "O Aśvin deities, doers of good, protectors of herbs, grant us thrice the herbs born in the world of the gods, on earth and in the mid-region. Be gracious to my son with the very happiness of Śaṃyu, the son of Bṛhaspati. Keep our three bodily constituents — wind, bile and phlegm — in order, and grant us the bodily well-being that comes of that."

Page 99

English Translation (the source's own, p. 99) — "Aswins, thrice grant us the medicaments of heaven and those of earth and those of sky; give my son the prosperity of Samyu ; lords of bliss, preserve the well-being of the three humours of the body."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 99–100 - bheṣajā = oṣadhāni: “medicines, herbs. Here it is prayed that these herbs be brought and given from all three worlds, heaven, mid-region and earth. The word triḥ in this ṛk is used not so much to indicate ‘three times’ as to lay stress on the matter (for the sake of emphasis [the print’s English]).” - adbhyaḥ = meghodakapradeśebhyaḥ āntarikṣāt: “from the mid-region; since āpaḥ is read among the sixteen names of the mid-region beginning ambaram, viyat (no Nirukta number printed), adbhyaḥ means ‘from the mid-region’.” - omānam = ava rakṣaṇe: “protection. In explaining the word omāsaḥ in the ṛk Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-3-7, Yāska gives the sense avitāraḥ, ‘protectors’ (Ni. 12-40, zoom-checked).” - śaṃyoḥ — “the son of Bṛhaspati. This Śaṃyu Bārhaspatya is the ṛṣi of the 6th maṇḍala, sūktas 44, 45, 46, 48 (as printed, zoom-checked). The ṛṣi of this sūkta, Hiraṇyastūpa, prays that the protection with which the Aśvins protected him, whom they desired, be given to my son.” - tridhātu: “On this word the bhāṣyakāra says, in this ṛk, vātapittaśleṣmadhātutrayaśamanaviṣayaṃ — ‘having as its object the quieting of the three humours of wind, bile and phlegm’ — that is, as stated in medical science: to quiet the three kinds of bodily constituents, wind, bile and phlegm, and so the happiness that comes of it. [According to medical teaching] if these three constituents are balanced in the body, there is health; if the balance is upset, with increase or decrease, health suffers. Hence the bhāṣyakāra says here the sense of happiness connected with bodily health. Besides this, in the ṛk:”

य उ त्रिधातु पृथिवीमुत द्यामेको दाधार भुवनानि विश्वा ॥ (ऋ. स. १-१५४-३)

ya u tridhātu pṛthivīm uta dyām eko dādhāra bhuvanāni viśvā || (ṛ. sa. 1-154-3, as printed)

“for the word tridhātu [Sāyaṇa] explains pṛthivyaptejorūpatrayaviśiṣṭam (so printed): ‘distinguished by the three forms of earth, water and fire’; and in the ṛk:”

येनोपयाथः सुकृतो दुरोणं त्रिधातुना पतथो विर्न पर्णैः ॥ (ऋ. सं. १-१८३-१.)

yenopayāthaḥ sukṛto duroṇaṃ tridhātunā patatho vir na parṇaiḥ || (ṛ. saṃ. 1-183-1.)

“the word tridhātunā is explained as triprakārasthānopetena suvarṇarajatatāmradhātutrayopetena vā — ‘furnished with three kinds of places, or furnished with the three metals gold, silver and copper’. In the same way, the word tridhātu has been given various senses in various ṛks to suit the context; so the general sense of tridhātu may be said to be ‘of three kinds’.” (The source leaves the two ṛks untranslated; my glosses, mine and tentative: 1.154.4 “he who, as the one [god] with the threefold [support], upheld earth and heaven and all the worlds”; 1.157.1 “with which you go to the house of the pious, flying like a bird with wings, with the three-fold [chariot]”. Both references zoom-checked: 1-154-3 as printed (the standard place is 1-154-4) and 1-183-1 (was 1-157-1).) - śubhaspatī = śobhanasyauṣadhajātasya pālakau: “protectors of the best medicines, lords, etc. Śubha means causing beauty, the best of deeds; pati means protectors; the general sense of these words is here rendered by the bhāṣyakāra, to suit the context, as ‘protectors of the best medicines’.”

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 100–103, grammar pages — noted briefly; numerals zoom-checked) - divyāni: daṇḍādibhyo yaḥ — दण्डादिभ्यो यः — Pā. 5-1-66: after a word in the second-case form that belongs to the daṇḍādi group, the suffix ya comes in the sense “who is worthy of [this]”; so, when “worthy of heaven” (divam arhati) is intended, ya. - bheṣajā: the root bhiṣaj cikitsāyām is not found in the Dhātupāṭha now available; by puṃsi saṃjñāyāṃ ghaḥ prāyeṇa

— पुंसि संज्ञायां घः प्रायेण — Pā. 3-3-118 the suffix gha comes, mostly, after roots in the instrument or locus sense when a masculine name results — so gha; the gh is given the name it by lasakvataddhite — लशक्वतद्धिते — Pā. 1-3-8 and dropped: bhiṣaj + a; the suffix is ghit; cajoḥ kughiṇyatoḥ — चजोः कुघिण्यतोः — Pā. 7-3-52: before a ghit suffix or ṇyat, c and j change to the k-class: j → g, and the i of bhi becomes e [the print remarks that this is laborious]; hence if gha is accepted, the word must be masculine, whereas here the word … (the page breaks off mid-sentence; it continues on p. 101).

Page 101

- bheṣajā (concluded from p. 100): the word is neuter here, so it is not gha (which would make it masculine) but bheṣaṃ jayati iti bheṣajam — "that which conquers disease" (bheṣaḥ = disease), by anyeṣv api dṛśyate — अन्येष्वपि दृश्यते — Pā. 3-2-10 as printed [sic: for 3-2-101], on which the Kaumudī says "the word api is for the sake of including every condition: so other roots and other case-relations are also met, occasionally"; thus, with an object-word as upapada, the suffix ḍa after the root ji/jī; the ḍ makes the i drop (ṭi-loss); accusative plural śas, replaced by śi by jaśśasoḥ śiḥ — Pā. 7-1-20; bheṣaja + śi, the augment num [by napuṃsakasya jhalacaḥ], lengthening of the penultimate; the Vedic śeś chandasi bahulam (no number printed here) drops śi, and the n is lost: bheṣajā.
- śaṃyoḥ (p. 101): Śaṃyu is a person's name, an unanalysable base (akhaṇḍa prātipadika); no derivation is needed. The print nevertheless gives one, following the opinion of Śākāṭayana, with the verse:

  नाम च धातुजमाह निरुक्ते व्याकरणे शकटस्य च तोकम् । यन्न पदार्थविशेषसमुत्थं प्रत्ययतः प्रकृतेश्च तदूह्यम् ॥

  nāma ca dhātujam āha nirukte vyākaraṇe śakaṭasya ca tokam | yan na padārthaviśeṣasamutthaṃ pratyayataḥ prakṛteś ca tad ūhyam ||

  "'A noun is born of a root,' it says in the Nirukta, and [so] in the grammar of Śakaṭa's son [Śākaṭāyana]; what does not arise from the particular sense of a word is to be inferred from the suffix and from the base." (Translation mine, tentative: the verse is read from the print and its middle words are not fully secure.) So śam (root śamu upaśame) + yu (root yu miśraṇe): śaṃ yauti iti śaṃyuḥ, "he who joins peace"; if kvip is taken after śam, the lengthening by anunāsikasya kvijhaloḥ knṅiti — अनुनासिकस्य क्विझलोः क्ङिति — Pā. 6-4-15 would be expected; with kvip after yu, the augment tuk by hrasvasya piti kṛti tuk — ह्रस्वस्य पिति कृति तुक् — Pā. 6-1-71 would come, hence vic is taken in both; the member accent of a kṛt-compound; the single-substitute accent if a case-ending is added. - tridhātu (p. 101): the Uṇādi sūtra sitanigamimasisacyavidhāñkruśibhyas tun — सितनिगमिमसिसच्यविधाञ्क्रुशिभ्यस्तुन् — Uṇ. Sū. 1-69 (zoom-checked): the suffix tun after the roots ṣiñ bandhane, tanu vistāre, gamḷ gatau, masī parimāṇe, saca samavāye, ava rakṣaṇe, ḍudhāñ dhāraṇapoṣaṇayoḥ, kruśa ākrośe; so after dhā; titutratatha… — तितुत्र… — Pā. 7-2-9 bars the iṭ; the suffix is nit, so the root is first-syllable acute; tredhā dhīyate — "it is placed in three ways" — tridhātu, wind, bile and phlegm; after the compound the accent of the later member of a kṛt compound survives; the second-case singular am is dropped by svamornapuṃsakāt — स्वमोर्नपुंसकात् — Pā. 7-1-23. - adbhyaḥ (p. 101 end – p. 102): ūḍidaṃ padādy appuṃraidyubhyaḥ — ऊडिदंपदाद्यप्पुम्रैद्युभ्यः — Pā. 6-1-171:

after the substitutes ūṭ, idam, pad, etc., ap, pum, rai, div, which are one-vowelled and final-acute, the asarvanāmasthāna ending is acute; so the fifth-case plural bhyas after ap is acute. Apo bhi — अपो भि — Pā. 7-4-48: before a bh-initial suffix the p of ap becomes t; jhalāṃ jaśo 'nte — झलां जशोऽन्ते — Pā. 8-2-39: that t becomes d. ### Page 102

- omānam (p. 102): root ava rakṣaṇe; anyebhyo 'pi dṛśyante — अन्येभ्योऽपि दृश्यन्ते — Pā. 3-2-75: manin, kvanip, vanip, vic come also after other roots; so manin: av + man; by jvaratvarasrivyaviyamy… upadhāyāś ca — ज्वरत्वरस्रिव्यविमवामुपधायाश्च — Pā. 6-4-20 [as printed] — and the sūtra before it, cchvoḥ śūḍ anunāsike ca — च्छ्वोः शूडनुनासिके च — Pā. 6-4-19 — ūṭh replaces the v [and the penultimate]; the continuing words anunāsike and kvijhaloḥ are discussed (the print explains that kṅiti does not run on, but kvijhaloḥ does, so that the rule applies when kvip, a jhal-initial or nasal-initial suffix follows: for the jvarādi roots both the v and the penultimate become ū); av + man → ū + man; guṇa by sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ (no number printed): o + man. If ū were taken from the sūtra jvaratvara… without the continuing anunāsike, then with a + ū + man the vṛddhi of eti-edhaty-ūṭhsu — एत्येधत्यूठ्सु — Pā. 6-1-89 would apply and the word would be aumānam, not omānam; for this reason the Kaumudī says: "anunāsikagrahaṇaṃ cānuvartate; avater manpratyaye tasya ṭilope om iti darśanāt" — "the word anunāsike continues; for from av with the suffix man, with the loss of its ṭi, om is seen". In the Veda-bhāṣya the passage yad ijjyaratvara… is also used. The print notes two views: that ūṭh replaces the two letters (v and the penultimate) one after the other, and that the one substitute, owing to the sthāne ["in the place of"] language, replaces both at once; both views are set out in the bhāṣya.
- śubhaspatī (p. 102 end – p. 103): root śubha dīptau; kvip by the sampadādi group; ṣaṣṭhyāḥ patiputrapṛṣṭhapārapadapayaspoṣeṣu — षष्ठ्याः पतिपुत्रपृष्ठपारपदपयस्पोषेषु — Pā. 8-3-53: in the Saṃhitā the visarga of a genitive ending becomes s before these words; patī is a vocative dual, āmantrita by sāmantritam — सामन्त्रितम् — Pā. 2-3-48; for the accent, the sup-word śubhaḥ is treated as part of the pada beside patī by subāmantrite parāṅgavat svare — सुबामन्त्रिते पराङ्गवत्स्वरे — Pā. 2-1-2, so the two make one word; āmantritasya ca — आमन्त्रितस्य च — Pā. 8-1-19: both words are wholly unaccented. Rik 6 ends here (|| 6 ||).

Rik 34.7 (pp. 103–107, PDF 118–122)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 103; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented)

> त्रिर्नो अश्विना यजता दिवेदिवे परि त्रिधातु पृथिवीमशायतम् । त्रिस्रो नासत्या रथ्या परावत आत्मेव वातः स्वसराणि गच्छतम् ॥ ७ ॥ [accent ?]
>
> trír no aśvinā yajatā divédive pári tridhātu pṛthivīm aśāyatam | trisró nāsatyā rathyā parāvata ātméva vātaḥ svásarāṇi gacchatam || 7 || [accent ?]

(As printed: yajatā has only an underline under ज, aśvinā, rathyā and gacchatam no marks. [accent ?]: in parāvata the svarita stroke stands between व and त and is given on व.)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 103)

त्रिः । नः । अश्विना । यजता । दिवेऽदिवे । परि । त्रिऽधातु । पृथिवीम् । अशायतम् । तिस्रः । नासत्या । रथ्या । पराऽवतः । आत्माऽइव । वातः । स्वसराणि । गच्छतम् ॥ ७ ॥

triḥ | naḥ | aśvinā | yajatā | dive-dive | pari | tri-dhātu | pṛthivīm | aśāyatam | tisraḥ | nāsatyā | rathyā | parā-vataḥ | ātmā-iva | vātaḥ | svasarāṇi | gacchatam || 7 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (pp. 103–104, in full; numerals zoom-checked)

हे अश्विना दिवे दिवे प्रतिदिनम् । दिवेदिवे द्यविद्यवीत्यहर्नामसु पठितत्वात् । यजता यष्टव्यौ युवां नोऽस्मदीयां पृथिवीं वेदिरूपां भूमिं परि सर्वतः प्राप्य त्रिधातु कक्ष्यात्रययुक्त आस्तीर्णे बर्हिषि त्रिस्त्रिवारमशायतम् । शयनं कुरुतम् । हे रथ्या रथ्यौ रथस्वामिनौ तिस्रस्त्रिसंख्याका ऐष्टिकपाशुकसौमिकरूपा वेदीर्गच्छतम् । तत्र दृष्टान्तः । स्वसराणि शरीराण्यात्मेव वातः । यथा प्राणिनामात्मभूतः प्राणवायुस्त्वदीयानि शरीराणि गच्छति तद्वत् ॥ यजता । यजतेर्भृमृदृशीत्यादिना । उ. ३-११० । अतच् । चित इत्यन्तोदात्तत्वम् । त्रिधातु । त्रेधा धीयते निधीयत इति त्रिधातु । सितनिगमीत्यादिना धाञस्तुन् । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वम् । समासे कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वेन तदेव शिष्यते । सुपां सुलुगिति सप्तम्या लुक् । अशायतम् । अदादित्वाच्छपो लुक् । अशयातामित्यस्य ह्रस्वदीर्घयोर्व्यत्यासः । नासत्या । सत्सु साधू सत्यौ । न सत्यावसत्यौ । न असत्यौ नासत्यौ । सत्यावेव नासत्यावित्यौर्णवाभ इति यास्कः । नि. ६-१३ । नभ्राण्नपादित्यादिना नञः प्रकृतिभावः । रथ्या रथार्हौ स्वामिनावित्यर्थः । छन्दसि च । पा. ५-१-६७ । इति यप्रत्ययः । स्वसराणि । सरन्ति गच्छन्तीति सरा इन्द्रियाणि । स्वकीयाः सरा येषां शरीराणाम् । बहुव्रीहौ पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् ॥

he aśvinā dive dive pratidinam | divedive dyavidyavītyaharnāmasu paṭhitatvāt | yajatā yaṣṭavyau yuvāṃ no 'smadīyāṃ pṛthivīṃ vedirūpāṃ bhūmiṃ pari sarvataḥ prāpya tridhātu kakṣyātrayayukta āstīrṇe barhiṣi tristrivāramaśāyatam | śayanaṃ kurutam | he rathyā rathyau rathasvāminau tisrastrisaṃkhyākā aiṣṭikapāśukasaumikarūpā vedīrgacchatam | tatra dṛṣṭāntaḥ | svasarāṇi śarīrāṇyātmeva vātaḥ | yathā prāṇināmātmabhūtaḥ prāṇavāyustvadīyāni śarīrāṇi gacchati tadvat || yajatā | yajaterbhṛmṛdṛśītyādinā | u. 3-110 | atac | cita ityantodāttatvam | tridhātu | tredhā dhīyate nidhīyata iti tridhātu | sitanigamītyādinā dhāñastun | nittvādādyudāttatvam | samāse kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvena tadeva śiṣyate | supāṃ sulugiti saptamyā luk | aśāyatam | adāditvācchapo luk | aśayātāmityasya hrasvadīrghayorvyatyāsaḥ | nāsatyā | satsu sādhū satyau | na satyāvasatyau | na asatyau nāsatyau | satyāveva nāsatyāvityaurṇavābha iti yāskaḥ | ni. 6-13 | nabhrāṇnapādityādinā nañaḥ prakṛtibhāvaḥ | rathyā rathārhau svāminātyarthaḥ | chandasi ca | pā. 5-1-67 | iti yapratyayaḥ | svasarāṇi | saranti gacchantīti sarā indriyāṇi | svakīyāḥ sarā yeṣāṃ śarīrāṇām | bahuvrīhau pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvam ||

(As printed: "द्यविद्यवीति" — the print's द्यविद्यवीः; "त्वदीयानि" though the sense is "their bodies".)

Translation: "O Aśvins, dive-dive — day by day (dive-dive being read among the names of 'day' as 'dyavi-dyavi'). Yajatā — [you who are] to be worshipped — having reached all round (pari) our earth, the ground that is the sacrificial altar, tridhātu — on the spread barhis furnished with three layers (kakṣyā) — aśāyatam — lie down, three times. O rathyā, you two lords of the chariot, go to tisraḥ — three — altars, the altars of the iṣṭi, the animal and the soma rites. The illustration: ātmeva vātaḥ svasarāṇi — as the vital breath, the self of beings, goes to its bodies, so [you go to the sacrificers' altars]."

Page 104

(The grammatical tail, transcribed above, on p. 104: yajatā — atac by bhṛmṛdṛśi…, Uṇ. 3-110, final acute by citaḥ; tridhātu — "placed in three ways", tun after dhā by sitanigami…, initial acute as nit, and in the compound it remains by the kṛt-last-member accent; locative dropped by supāṃ suluk…; aśāyatam — śap dropped (adādi), short and long interchanged from aśayātām; nāsatyā — "good among the good" satyau, asatyau, nāsatyau: "true indeed, nāsatyau", says Aurṇavābha (so Yāska, Ni. 6-13); nañ kept by nabhrāṇnapāt…; rathyā — "lords worthy of a chariot", ya by chandasi ca, Pā. 5-1-67; svasarāṇi — sarāḥ, the senses, "that go"; "[bodies] whose senses are their own", first-member accent in the bahuvrīhi.)

Pratipadārtha (p. 104) — "aśvinā — O Aśvin deities; dive-dive — every day; yajatā — you who are entitled to a share in the sacrifice; naḥ — our; pṛthivīm — the earth that is the sacrificial altar; pari — pervading all round; tridhātu — on the darbha seat that has three [layers? 'padaras'; the Kannada word is padaragaḷu, "folds"]; triḥ — three times; aśāyatam — lie down (take rest); rathyā — [O two] charioteers, chariot-lords, nāsatyā — Aśvin deities [good among the good]; ātmā iva vātaḥ — as the vital breath, which is like the soul [of beings]; svasarāṇi iva — as it goes and enters its own bodies, which have the senses; tisraḥ — to the three altars, forms of the iṣṭi, the animal and the soma sacrifice; gacchatam — go and be seated."

Bhāvārtha (pp. 104–105) — "O Aśvin deities, you are always fit to move about in a chariot as sacrificers [charioteers]. You are worthy of worship every day in our sacrifice. Pervading our sacrificial ground, the altar, all round, rest on the darbha seats we have spread. As the vital breath, which is like the soul, enters the bodies of beings, so do you also enter our sacrificial altars, which are in the forms of the iṣṭi, the animal and the soma sacrifices, as our very soul, and sit down on the seats."

Page 105

English Translation (the source's own, p. 105) — "O Aswins, you who deserve to be sacrificed to by us surround the earth from all sides; O good charioteers, pervade the three distant worlds as the vital breath enters its habitations (bodies)"

(The English prints "the three distant worlds", where the Kannada gloss on p. 104–105 has "the three altars"; the difference is recorded as printed. The Special Topics below, on parāvataḥ*, give "three distant worlds".)*

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 105–106 - yajatā = yaṣṭavyau: "worthy to be worshipped with hymns of praise and the like in the performance of the sacrifice." - dive-dive: "Among the twelve names for day beginning vastoḥ, dyauḥ (Ni. 2-31 as printed) the word dive-dive is read; so this word means 'by day', or 'daily'." - nāsatyā = aśvinau na asatyau, or nāsatyau: "Yāska explains this word as follows:"

> सत्यावेव नासत्यावित्यौर्णवाभः । सत्यस्य प्रणेतारावित्याग्रायणः । नासिकाप्रभवौ बभूवुरिति वा ॥ (नि. ६-१३.)

satyāv eva nāsatyāv ity aurṇavābhaḥ | satyasya praṇetārāv ity āgrāyaṇaḥ | nāsikāprabhavau babhūvatur iti vā || (ni. 6-13.)

“That is: those who speak truth only, who are never speakers of untruth, are called nāsatyā — the opinion of the teacher Aurṇavābha; ‘leaders [or: inspirers] of satya, of water or of sacrifice’ — the opinion of Āgrāyaṇa; and, according to the historians (aitihāsikas), since they were born from the nose, they are called nāsatyā. They explain: in former times the goddess Chāyā, the wife of Sūrya, becoming angry with Sūrya for some reason, took the form of a mare and lived in the forest; and Sūrya, knowing this, took the form of a stallion and went to the place where she was; and while they were together the Aśvins were born from the nose of the goddess Chāyā, who was in the form of a mare: this account is found in the Brahma-purāṇa and other texts.” (Translation of the Nirukta passage mine and tentative; the Kannada paraphrase is rendered as printed. The reference numeral is [?].) - rathyā = rathārhau svāminau: “worthy to move about in a chariot; charioteers.” ### Page 106

- parāvataḥ = dūrasthitān trīn lokān: “three distant worlds: the three worlds, earth, mid-region [and heaven], that are far off. This word occurs in many ṛks, such as:”

  येभिस्तिस्रः परावतो दिवो विश्वानि रोचना ॥ (ऋ. सं. ८ ५-८.) इहि तिस्रः परावत इहि पञ्च जनाँ अति ॥ (ऋ. सं. ८-३२-२२.) परावतो ये दिधिषन्त आप्यं मनुप्रीतासो जनिमा विवस्वतः ॥ (ऋ. सं. १०-६३-१)

yebhis tisraḥ parāvato divo viśvāni rocanā || (ṛ. saṃ. 8 5-8.) ihi tisraḥ parāvata ihi pañca janāṁ ati || (ṛ. saṃ. 8-32-22.) parāvato ye didhiṣanta āpyaṃ manuprītāso janimā vivasvataḥ || (ṛ. saṃ. 10-63-1)

(Untranslated in the source. My glosses, mine and tentative: 1. “with which [you go to] three distant [regions], all the shining [realms] of heaven”; 2. “come, over three distant [lands], come, over the five peoples”; 3. “those who from afar seek kinship, dear to Manu, the births of Vivasvat”. All three references zoom-checked.) - ātmeva vātaḥ svasarāṇi = prāṇavāyuḥ śarīrarūpāṇi svagṛhāṇi yathā vyāpnoti tathety arthaḥ: “as the vital breath goes to and enters the body, its own dwelling-place, so do you come to this sacrificial altar — such is the sense.” - tisraḥ = aiṣṭikapāśukasaumikarūpā vedīḥ: “tisraḥ means three, or three places; the three places the bhāṣyakāra explains as the altar or sacrificial ground in the three kinds of sacrifice — the iṣṭi, the animal sacrifice and the soma sacrifice.”

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 106–107, grammar pages — noted briefly; numerals zoom-checked) - yajatā: root yaja devapūjādau; bhṛmṛdṛśiyajiparvipacy-amitamin amidayi… [as printed: bhṛmṛdṛśiyajiparvipacyamitaminamidayibhyo ’tac] — the Uṇādi sūtra (Uṇ. Sū. 3-390 as printed; the bhāṣya prints 3-110) gives the suffix atac after the roots bhṛñ bharaṇe, mṛṅ prāṇatyāge, dṛśir prekṣaṇe, yaja devapūjādau, parva pūraṇe, ḍupacaṣ pāke, amu gatyādiṣu, tamu kāṅkṣāyām, ṇamu prahvatve śabde, paryu gatikānte; the c of atac is a marker — citaḥ (Pā. 6-1-163) — hence the final syllable of yajata is acute, since “the letter c in a suffix is for the sake of the accent on the last letter of the base-and-suffix group” (the print’s explanation of citaḥ saprakṛter bahvakajartham, read as printed); the nominative dual, with ā by supāṃ sulug…. - tridhātu: “its derivation is in the preceding mantra [Rik 6]; the two words differ in meaning; here the locative singular is dropped by supāṃ sulug… and the n is lost.”

Page 107

- aśāyatam: root śīṅ svapne, ad-class; laṅ, third person dual ātām of the ātmanepada; śī + ātām; śap elided by ādiprabhṛtibhyaḥ śapaḥ — आदिप्रभृतिभ्यः शपः — Pā. 2-4-72; guṇa of śī before a sārvadhātuka ending by śīṅaḥ sārvadhātuke guṇaḥ — शीङः सार्वधातुके गुणः — Pā. 7-4-21, an exception to the ban kṅiti ca; aśe + ātām, ay-substitution, aśayātām; the long ā before the t and the short vowel are interchanged by Vedic usage: aśāyatam.

- nāsatyā: satsu sādhū satyau — "good among the good": tatra sādhuḥ — तत्र साधुः — Pā. 4-4-98 gives yat; na satyau asatyau, a nañ-compound; the n of nañ lost by nalopo nañaḥ — नलोपो नञः — Pā. 6-3-73; again na asatyau, a nañ-compound; the n would again be lost, but prakṛtibhāva — the retention of the natural form — is taught by nabhrāṇnapānnavedānāsatyānamucinakulanakhanapuṃsakanakṣatranakranāsikāsu prakṛtyā — नभ्राण्नपान्नवेदानासत्यानमुचि… — Pā. 6-3-75 (the print cuts the sūtra short), "[the word] nāsatyā being enumerated there"; the sense is "among the good ones, not those who are not good — that is, the good", for "dvau nañau prakṛtam artham draḍhayetaḥ" — "two negatives confirm the original sense"; Yāska, in the passage satyāv eva nāsatyāv ity aurṇavābhaḥ (Ni. 6-13), says that what was said before is acceptable to Aurṇavābha.
- rathyā: root ramu krīḍāyām; the Uṇādi suffix kthan by hanikuṣinīramikāśibhyaḥ kthan — हनिकुषिनीरमिकाशिभ्यः क्थन् (hanikuṣinīramikāśibhyaḥ kthan) — Uṇ. Sū. 2-149; the suffix is kit, so anudāttopadeśavanatitanotyādīnām anunāsikalopo jhali kṅiti — अनुदात्तोपदेशवनतितनोत्यादीनामनुनासिकलोपो झलि क्ङिति — Pā. 6-4-37 drops the m: ratha. Ratham arhataḥ rathyau — "who deserve a chariot" — by chandasi ca — छन्दसि च — Pā. 5-1-67: yat in the Veda after a base in the second case, in the sense arhati; ratha + ya; yasyeti ca — Pā. 6-4-148: loss of a; rathya; the vocative dual in ā.
- svasarāṇi: root sṛ gatau; saranti gacchanti iti sarāḥ, "that which goes toward its objects" — the senses; sve sarāḥ yeṣāṃ tāni — "those whose senses are their own": a bahuvrīhi, the first member's accent holds; sva is acute as a base by the accent of the nominal stem. Rik 7 ends here (|| 7 ||).

Rik 34.8 (pp. 108–111, PDF 123–126)

Page 108

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 108; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented)

त्रिर॑श्विना सिन्धु॑भिः स॒प्तमा॑तृभिस्त्रय॑ आहा॒वास्ते॒धा ह॒विष्कृतम् । [accent ?] ति॒स्रः पृ॑थि॒वीरु॒परि॑ प्र॒वा दि॒वो नाक॑ं रक्षेथे॒ द्युभि॑रक्तु॒भिर्हि॑तम् ॥ ८ ॥ [accent ?]

trir aśvinā síndhubhiḥ saptámātṛbhis tráya āhāvās tredhā́ haviṣkṛtam | [accent ?] tisráḥ pṛthivīr upári pravā́ divó nā́kaṃ rakṣethe dyúbhir aktúbhir hitam || 8 || [accent ?]

([accent ?]: line 1 — a faint underline under ತ್ರಿ, a possible mark under ಭಿ of saptamātṛbhis (not given), and dashes under ಹ and ಷ್ಕೃ of haviṣkṛtam (only the one under ಹ given); line 2 — in dyubhir aktubhir hitam only two svarita strokes (over ಭಿ of each word) are visible, no underlines.)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 108)

त्रिः । अश्विना । सिन्धुऽभिः । सप्तमातृऽभिः । त्रयः । आऽहावाः । त्रेधा । हविः । कृतम् । तिस्रः । पृथिवीः । उपरि । प्रवा । दिवः । नाकम् । रक्षेथे इति । द्युऽभिः । अक्तुऽभिः । हितम् ॥ ८ ॥

triḥ | aśvinā | sindhu-bhiḥ | saptamātṛ-bhiḥ | trayaḥ | ā-hāvāḥ | tredhā | haviḥ | kṛtam | tisraḥ | pṛthivīḥ | upari | pravā | divaḥ | nākam | rakṣethe iti | dyu-bhiḥ | aktu-bhiḥ | hitam || 8 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (pp. 108–109, in full; numerals zoom-checked)

हे अश्विना सप्तमातृभिः । इमं मे गङ्गे । ऋग्वे. १०-७५-५ । इत्यादि मन्त्रोक्ताः सप्तसंख्याका गङ्गाद्या नद्यो मातर उत्पादिका येषां जलविशेषाणां ते सप्तमातरः । तैः सिन्धुभिः स्यन्दनस्वभावैर्जलैर्वसतीवरीनामभिस्त्रिः सोमाभिषवः कृत इति शेषः । तथा चान्यत्र ब्राह्मणे समाम्नातम् । अष्टौ कृत्वोऽभिषुणोति एकादश कृत्वो द्वितीयं द्वादश कृत्वस्तृतीयमिति । तै. सं. ६-४-५-१ । आहावा यथोक्तजलयुक्तस्य सोमस्याधारभूताः कूपसदृशास्त्रयस्त्रिसंख्याका द्रोणकलशाधवनीयपूतभृदाख्या निष्पन्ना इति शेषः । तेषु त्रिषु पात्रविशेषेषु त्रेधा त्रिभिः प्रकारैः सवनत्रयगतैर्हविष्कृतम् । सोमाख्यं हविः संपादितं द्रव्यं वर्तत इति शेषः । तिस्रः पृथिवीरुपरि त्रिभ्यः पृथिव्यादिलोकेभ्य ऊर्ध्वं प्रवा प्रवन्तौ गच्छन्तौ युवां दिवो नाकं द्युलोकसंबन्धिनमादित्यं रक्षेथे । कीदृशं नाकम् । द्युभिरहोभिरक्तुभी रात्रिभिश्च हितं स्थापितम् । अहनि सूर्य उदेति रात्रावस्तं गच्छतीत्येवमहोरात्राभ्यां सूर्यो व्यवस्थाप्यत इत्यर्थः ॥ सप्तमातृभिः । बहुव्रीहिस्वरः । आहावाः । निपानमाहावः । पा. ३-३-७४ । इत्याङ्पूर्वाद्ध्वयतेरप्प्रत्ययः संप्रसारणं वृद्धिश्च निपातनात् । थाथादिनोत्तरपदान्तोदात्तत्वम् । प्रवा । च्युङ् प्लुङ् गतौ । प्रवेते गच्छत इति प्रवौ । पचाद्यच् । सुपां सुलुगित्याकारः । नाकम् । नास्मिन्नकमस्तीति नाकः । नभ्राण्नपादित्यादिना नञः प्रकृतिभावः । द्युभिः । ऊडिदमित्यादिना प्राप्तस्य विभक्त्युदात्तत्वस्य दिवो झल् । पा. ६-१-१८२ । इति प्रतिषेधः ॥

he aśvinā saptamātṛbhiḥ | imaṃ me gaṅge | ṛgve. 10-75-5 | ityādi mantroktāḥ saptasaṃkhyākā gaṅgādyā nadyo mātara utpādikā yeṣāṃ jalaviśeṣāṇāṃ te saptamātaraḥ | taiḥ sindhubhiḥ syandanasvabhāvairjalairvasatīvarīnāmabhistriḥ somābhiṣavaḥ kṛta iti śeṣaḥ | tathā cānyatra brāhmaṇe samāmnātam | aṣṭau kṛtvo 'bhiṣuṇoti ekādaśa kṛtvo dvitīyaṃ dvādaśa kṛtvastṛtīyamiti | tai. saṃ. 6-4-5-1 | āhāvā yathoktajalayuktasya somasyādhārabhūtāḥ kūpasadṛśāstrayastrisaṃkhyākā droṇakalaśādhavanīyapūtabhṛdākhyā niṣpannā iti śeṣaḥ | teṣu triṣu pātraviśeṣeṣu tredhā tribhiḥ prakāraiḥ savanatrayagatairhaviṣkṛtam | somākhyaṃ haviḥ saṃpāditaṃ dravyaṃ vartata iti śeṣaḥ | tisraḥ pṛthivīrupari tribhyaḥ pṛthivyādilokebhya ūrdhvaṃ pravā pravantau gacchantau yuvāṃ divo nākaṃ dyulokasaṃbandhinamādityaṃ rakṣethe | kīdṛśaṃ nākam | dyubhirahobhiraktubhī rātribhiśca hitaṃ sthāpitam | ahani sūrya udeti rātrāvastaṃ gacchatītyevamahorātrābhyāṃ sūryo vyavasthāpyata ityarthaḥ ‖ saptamātṛbhiḥ | bahuvrīhisvaraḥ | āhāvāḥ | nipānamāhāvaḥ | pā. 3-3-74 | ityāṅpūrvāddhvayaterappratyayaḥ saṃprasāraṇaṃ vṛddhiśca nipātanāt | thāthādinottarapadāntodāttatvam | pravā | cyuṅ pluṅ gatau | pravete gacchata iti pravau | pacādyac | supāṃ sulugityākāraḥ | nākam | nāsminnakamastīti nākaḥ | nabhrāṇnapādityādinā nañaḥ prakṛtibhāvaḥ | dyubhiḥ | ūḍidamityādinā prāptasya vibhaktyudāttatvasya divo jhal | pā. 6-1-182 | iti pratiṣedhaḥ ‖

(As printed: Ṛg. 10-75-5; Tai. Saṃ. 6-4-5-1; divo jhal printed Pā. 6-1-182 (the last glyph is the looped 2; the grammar on p. 111 prints 6-3-183). The bhāṣya runs onto p. 109 at “नाकं द्युलोकसंबन्धिनम्… ”.)

Translation: "O Aśvins, saptamātṛbhiḥ — by the seven mothers: the seven rivers beginning with the Gaṅgā named in the mantra 'imaṃ me gaṅge' (Ṛg. 10-75-5), the mothers, the producers of those particular waters. Sindhubhiḥ — with the flowing waters, named vasatīvarī, the soma pressing has been done triḥ, three times (the sentence is to be completed so). And so in another Brāhmaṇa it is handed down: 'Eight times he presses; the second, eleven times; the third, twelve times' (Tai. Saṃ. 6-4-5-1). Āhāvāḥ — [the vessels] that hold the soma with the water so described, like wells, three in number, called droṇakalaśa, ādhavanīya, pūtabhṛt, are ready. In these three particular vessels, tredhā — in three ways, belonging to the three pressings — the oblation (havis) called soma has been made. Tisraḥ pṛthivīḥ upari — above the three worlds, earth and the others — pravā — you two, who go forward — divo nākam — the sun belonging to the heavenly world — rakṣethe protect. What sort of sun? Dyubhiḥ — by days — aktubhiḥ — by nights — hitam, established: the sun rises in the day, goes down at night; so the sun is regulated by day and night."

Page 109

(The grammatical tail, transcribed above: saptamātṛbhiḥ — bahuvrīhi accent; āhāvāḥ — ap after hve with ā, saṃprasāraṇa and vṛddhi by nipātana in nipānam āhāvaḥ, Pā. 3-3-74; final acute of the later member by thātha…; pravā — root pru "to go", "the two who go", ac of the pacādi class, ā by supāṃ suluk…; nākam — "in which there is no aka (pain)", the nañ kept by nabhrāṇnapāt…; dyubhiḥ — the ending's acute, due by ūḍidam…, barred by divo jhal.)

Pratipadārtha (p. 109) — "aśvinā — O Aśvin deities; saptamātṛbhiḥ — by the seven rivers beginning with the Gaṅgā, which are the sources of streams (the mothers of the flow); sindhubhiḥ — [by those] flowing waters named vasatīvarī; triḥ — [the soma juice has been] pressed three times; āhāvāḥ — [vessels] like the well [for the one who is to drink soma]; trayaḥ — three [vessels called droṇakalaśa, dhavanīya, pūtabhṛt, are ready]; tredhā — in three ways; haviḥ kṛtam — the soma oblation has been prepared; tisraḥ — three; pṛthivīḥ upari — above the earth and the other worlds; pravā — [you two] who travel; dyubhiḥ — by days; aktubhiḥ — by nights; hitam — regulated; divaḥ — of the heavenly world; nākam — the sun; rakṣethe — you protect."

Bhāvārtha (p. 109) — "O Aśvin deities, you travel over the three worlds, protecting the sun of the heavenly world, who is established so as to make day and night. For you we have performed the soma pressing with sacred water brought from the seven rivers beginning with the Gaṅgā. The soma offering has been prepared in the three vessels like wells, droṇakalaśa, dhavanīya and pūtabhṛt. Come and enjoy it."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 109) — "Aswins, thrice the three jars are filled with the seven mothered streams for you and in three ways the oblations is prepared ; rising above the three worlds you keep the [printed as a raised word] sun steady in the sky, who is established for both night and day." (Printed so, with "oblations is prepared" [sic].)

Page 110

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 110–111 - saptamātṛbhiḥ — "in the mantra 'imaṃ me gaṅge' stated in the Ṛgveda (Ṛ. Saṃ. 10-75-5) the seven rivers named Gaṅgā, Yamunā, Sarasvatī, Śutudri, Paruṣṇī, Asikni, Marudvṛdhā are addressed here as the seven mothers." - sindhubhiḥ = syandanasvabhāvair jalaiḥ: "by waters." - āhāvāḥ — "the three vessels in which the soma juice is held: droṇakalaśa, dhavanīya, pūtabhṛt. Ordinarily these are made of wood." - divo nākam — "the peak of heaven, the summit of heaven, a very high place in the mid-region. Here the bhāṣyakāra has explained the word nāka as the sun. In regard to the word nāka Yāska says:"

> स्वः । पृश्निः । नाकः । गौः । विष्टपम् । नभः ॥ इति षट् साधारणानि दिवश्चादित्यस्य च ॥ (नि. २-१३)
> नाक आदित्यो भवति । नेता रसान्, नेता भासाम्, ज्योतिषां प्रणयः ॥ (नि. ३-१४)

svaḥ | pṛśniḥ | nākaḥ | gauḥ | viṣṭapam | nabhaḥ || iti ṣaṭ sādhāraṇāni divaś cādityasya ca || (ni. 2-13) nāka ādityo bhavati | netā rasān, netā bhāsām, jyotiṣāṃ praṇayaḥ || (ni. 3-14)

"The six words beginning with svaḥ (among them the word nāka) are words denoting the common senses 'heaven' and 'sun'; and 'nāka is the name of Āditya — because [he is] the leader of the rasa, i.e. of water, who draws water by his rays and makes it fall as rain; or the leader of light, the chief support, who illuminates the whole world through his rays; therefore Sūrya is called nāka'. The expressions divaḥ nākam in this sense occur in many places in the Ṛgveda:"

> सहस्रधारेव ते समस्वरन् दिवो नाके मधुजिह्वा असश्चतः ॥ (ऋ. सं. ९-७३-४) sahasradhāreva te samasvaran divo nāke madhujihvā asaścataḥ || (ṛ. saṃ. 9-73-4)

"and so on: many examples may be given." (Untranslated in the source; my gloss, mine and tentative: "like [a stream] of a thousand streams they sounded together, in the vault of heaven, the honey-tongued, unfailing"; the reference zoom-checked, 9-73-4 replaces 9-62-4.) - dyubhiḥ aktubhiḥ — "by days and by nights; this sense [is shown in]:"

> द्युभिरक्तुभिः परि पातमस्मानरिष्टेभिरश्विना सौभगेभिः ॥ (ऋ. सं. १-११२-२५) ### Page 111
> वि द्यामेषि रजस्पृथ्वहा मिमानो अक्तुभिः ॥ (ऋ. सं. १-५०-७)

dyubhir aktubhiḥ pari pātam asmān ariṣṭebhir aśvinā saubhagebhiḥ || (ṛ. saṃ. 1-112-25) vi dyām eṣi rajas pṛthv ahā mimāno aktubhiḥ || (ṛ. saṃ. 1-50-7)

"and so on: many examples may be given." (My gloss, tentative: "protect us by days and nights, O Aśvins, with unharmed good fortunes"; "you go through heaven, the wide mid-region, measuring out days with nights". Both references zoom-checked.)

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (p. 111, grammar page — noted briefly; numerals zoom-checked) - āhāvāḥ: nipānam āhāvaḥ — निपानमाहावः — Pā. 3-3-74: when the sense "a drinking-place" is meant, the suffix ap after the root hve with the preverb ā, with saṃprasāraṇa (the v becoming u) and vṛddhi, is given by nipātana; ā + hve + a; after saṃprasāraṇa, saṃprasāraṇāc ca — संप्रसारणाच्च (no number printed), the earlier form: ā + hu + a, vṛddhi, āv for au by eco 'yavāyāvaḥ — एचोऽयवायावः (no number printed): ā + hāv + a, āhāva; since the suffix ends in ap, thāthaghañktājabitrakāṇām — थाथघञ्क्ताजबित्रकाणाम् — Pā. 6-2-144: a word ending in a suffix tha, āth, ghañ, kta, ac, ap or itra, standing after a gati or a kāraka, is final-acute. - pravā: root cyuṅ plugṅ gatau; pravete = gacchataḥ "the two who go"; the suffix ac of the pacādi group by nandigrahipacādibhyo lyuṇinyacaḥ — Pā. 3-1-134; guṇa, āv-substitution; the dual au replaced by ā by supāṃ sulug…; savarṇadīrgha; single-substitute accent. - nākam: na akam asminn iti nākam: ka is happiness, āka = unhappiness (duḥkha); the place without unhappiness is nāka. The n of the nañ would be lost by nalopo nañaḥ; but prakṛtibhāva is specially laid down by nabhrāṇnapānnavedānāsatyānamucinakulanakhanapuṃsakanakṣatranakranāsikāsu prakṛtyā — Pā. 6-3-75 (the print's abridgement "nabhrāṇ... nakranākeṣu prakṛtyā") — so the n is not lost. - dyubhiḥ: after div, bhis; diva ut — दिव उत् (diva ut) — Pā. 6-1-131: in the pada-final case the last letter of div becomes u; so v → u; yaṇ; anudāttau suppitau — अनुदात्तौ सुप्पितौ (no number printed) would make the ending unaccented; this is overridden by ūḍidaṃ... (the print opens "(Pā. Sū." but gives no number), which would make the ending after div acute; but divo jhal — दिवो झल् — Pā. 6-3-183 as printed [sic: for 6-1-183; the bhāṣya prints 6-1-182] prohibits acute for a jhal-initial ending after div; hence, by anudāttau suppitau, the ending remains unaccented. Rik 8 ends here (|| 8 ||); a tailpiece ornament follows.

Rik 34.9 (pp. 112–116, PDF 127–131)

(This is the first of the two Triṣṭup ṛks of the sūkta, per the introduction on p. 71.)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 112; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented)

> क्व१ त्री च॒क्रा त्रि॒वृतो॒ रथ॑स्य॒ क्व१ त्रयो॑ व॒न्धुरो॒ ये सनी॑ळाः । क॒दा योगो॑ वा॒जिनो॒ रास॑भस्य॒ येन॑ य॒ज्ञं नास॑त्योपया॒थः ॥ ९ ॥ [accent ?]
>
> kva1 trī cakrā́ trivṛ́to ráthasya kvá1 tráyo vandhúro yé sánīḷāḥ | kadā́ yógo vājíno rā́sabhasya yéna yajñáṃ nā́satyopayāthā́ḥ || 9 || [accent ?]

(As printed: after each kva stands the numeral ○ (the Saṃhitā's sign for the independent svarita), with a svarita stroke above and an underline below it; the accent of kva is therefore not split onto the IAST letters. In line 1 the print shows no underline under ृ of trivṛto and no stroke over trayo: the marks given there follow the print where seen, [accent ?] for the rest of the line's marks as a whole; no underline is visible under the ो of yogo.)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 112)

> क्व । त्री । चक्रा । त्रिऽवृतः । रथस्य । क्व । त्रयः । वन्धुरः । ये । सऽनीळाः । कदा । योगः । वाजिनः । रासभस्य । येन । यज्ञम् । नासत्या । उपऽयाथः ॥ ९ ॥

kva | trī | cakrā | tri-vṛtaḥ | rathasya | kva | trayaḥ | vandhuraḥ | ye | sa-nīḷāḥ | kadā | yogaḥ | vājinaḥ | rāsabhasya | yena | yajñam | nāsatyā | upa-yāthaḥ || 9 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (pp. 112–113, in full)

> हे नासत्यावश्विनौ त्रिवृतस्त्रिसंख्याकैरश्रिभिरुपेतस्य भवदीयस्य रथस्य । ईषाद्वयं पूर्वभागे संयुज्यते । सेयमेकाश्रिः । पृष्ठभागे वियुज्यते । तत्र कोणद्वयं संपद्यते । ईदृशस्य रथस्य संबन्धीनि त्री चक्रा त्रीणि चक्राणि क्व । कुत्र स्थितानीत्यस्माभिर्न दृश्यते । ये काष्ठविशेषाः सनीळाः । नीळं गृहसदृशं रथस्योपर्युपवेशस्थानम् । तेन सह वर्तन्त इति सनीळास्ते काष्ठविशेषा वन्धुरो नीडबन्धनाधारभूतास्त्रयोऽक्षेण सहिते द्वे ईषे इत्येवं त्रिसंख्याकाः क्व । कुत्र स्थिता इत्यस्माभिर्न ज्ञायते । वाजिनो बलवतो रासभस्य भवदीयाश्वस्थानीयस्य गर्दभस्य योगो रथे योजनं कदा । कस्मिन्काले

निष्पन्नमित्यस्माभिर्न दृश्यते । येन चक्रत्रयनीडकाष्ठत्रयरासभयोजनसहितेन रथेन यज्ञमस्मदीयं यागस्थानमुपयाथो युवां प्राप्नुथः । तादृशस्य रथस्येति पूर्वत्रान्वयः ॥ त्री चक्रा । उभयत्रापि शेश्छन्दसि बहुलमिति शेर्लोपः । वन्धुरः । बन्धेरौणादिक उरप्रत्ययः । वत्वं छान्दसम् । स नीळाः । वोपसर्जनस्येति सभावः ॥

he nāsatyāvaśvinau trivṛtastrisaṃkhyākairaśribhirupetasya bhavadīyasya rathasya | īṣādvayaṃ pūrvabhāge saṃyujyate | seyamekāśriḥ | pṛṣṭhabhāge viyujyate | tatra koṇadvayaṃ saṃpadyate | īdṛśasya rathasya saṃbandhīni trī cakrā trīṇi cakrāṇi kva | kutra sthitānītyasmābhirna dṛśyate | ye kāṣṭhaviśeṣāḥ sanīḷāḥ | nīḷaṃ gṛhasadṛśaṃ rathasyoparyupaveśasthānam | tena saha vartanta iti sanīḷāste kāṣṭhaviśeṣā vandhuro nīḍabandhanādhārabhūtāstrayo 'kṣeṇa sahite dve īṣe ityevaṃ trisaṃkhyākāḥ kva | kutra sthitā ityasmābhirna jñāyate | vājino balavato rāsabhasya bhavadīyāśvasthānīyasya gardabhasya yogo rathe yojanaṃ kadā | kasminkāle niṣpannamityasmābhirna dṛśyate | yena cakratrayanīḍakāṣṭhatrayarāsabhayojanasahitena rathena yajñamasmadīyaṃ yāgasthānamupayātho yuvāṃ prāpnuthaḥ | tādṛśasya rathasyeti pūrvatrānvayaḥ ‖ trī cakrā | ubhayatrāpi śeśchandasi bahulamiti śerlopaḥ | vandhuraḥ | bandherauṇādika urapratyayaḥ | vatvaṃ chāndasam | sa nīḷāḥ | vopasarjanasyeti sabhāvaḥ ‖

(As printed: "वन्धुरो नीडबन्धन… " with ड, "स नीळाः" divided in the tail. The bhāṣya runs onto p. 113 at "…चक्रत्रयनीडकाष्ठत्रय… ".)

Translation: "O Nāsatyas, Aśvins: of your chariot, which is trivṛt — furnished with three corners (aśri): the two shafts (īṣā) are joined at the front, and that [junction] is one corner; at the back they are separated, and there two corners are formed — of such a chariot, trī cakrā — the three wheels — where are they? Where they stand we cannot see. Those particular timbers sanīḷāḥ — [the nīḷa is the seat on the chariot, like a house, for sitting in] — those timbers which go with the nīḷa, vandhuraḥ, the supports for the fastening of the seat, three in number [two shafts with the axle, as I read]: where are they? We do not know where they stand. Vājinaḥ rāsabhasya — of your strong ass, standing in the place of a horse — yogaḥ, the yoking to the chariot: when? At what time it has been done we do not see. By that chariot — furnished with three wheels, three timbers for the seat, and the yoking of the ass — yajñam, our sacrifice, upayāthaḥ — you two reach our place of yoking [= arrival]: of such a chariot — the connection with what went before."

Page 113

(The grammatical tail: trī cakrā — in both words the śi is dropped by śeś chandasi bahulam; vandhuraḥ — the Uṇādi suffix ura after bandh, the v Vedic; sanīḷāḥ — sa for saha by vopasarjanasya.)

Pratipadārtha (p. 113) — "nāsatyā — O Aśvin deities; yena — by which chariot; yajñam — to our place of sacrifice; upayāthaḥ — you come and arrive; trivṛtaḥ — [furnished] with three corners, triangular, of wood; rathasya — of the chariot; trī cakrā — three wheels; kva — where? ye — which timbers; sanīḷāḥ — with the seat, like a house, for sitting; vandhuraḥ — the supports for building [the seat]; trayaḥ — three [two shafts and one axle]; kva — where? (We do not see these); vājinaḥ — of the strong; rāsabhasya — [instead of a horse] of the ass; kadā — at what time; yogaḥ — [the ass] is yoked to your chariot (this we do not know)."

Bhāvārtha (p. 113) — "O Aśvin deities, we do not see any of the parts of your chariot. Where are the three wheels of your chariot, which is triangular with three corners? The two shafts and the axle, the supports for building the seat in the chariot where one sits as in a house: where are they? And at what time do you yoke your strong ass in place of a horse to your chariot? That also we do not know. We know only that you come in that chariot to our sacrificial place."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 113) — "Where are the wheels of the triangular car ? Where are the three beams with seats on them? when will you harness your powerful donkey (ass) to that car that you may come to this sacrifice.?" (The better scan reads "sacrifice" — the earlier "sicrifice" [sic] was a misreading of the old scan; the stray full stop before the question mark is printed.)

Page 114

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 114–115

"In this mantra the ṛṣi has asked three questions: where are the three wheels of your chariot? where are the corners? when do you yoke the ass (in place of a horse) to your chariot? Though we do not know any of these, he prays that you sit in your chariot and come to our sacrificial ground."

- trivṛtaḥ = trisaṃkhyākair aśribhir upetasya rathasya: "of a chariot furnished with three corners: with three-cornered, i.e. having three corners, a trangular cart [sic, the print's English]. It is said in the Veda that the chariot of the Aśvins is of this kind. The bhāṣyakāra has explained these three corners thus: 'īṣādvayaṃ pūrvabhāge saṃyujyate | seyam ekāśriḥ | pṛṣṭhabhāge viyujyate | tatra koṇadvayaṃ sampadyate | īdṛśasya rathasya sambandhīni trīṇi cakrāṇi kva ||' Here 'triangular' means: two upright pieces of timber (beams, in the print's English) are joined at the front, and that makes one corner; behind, another timber joins the ends of those two beams, and at the back there are two corners, at the two ends. In all, the three timbers make three corners. Three sides (beams) of the triangle form the three angles [the print's English]. Near each angle is one wheel below it, so that the chariot has three wheels in all. In the middle of these three wheels there is a seat-place called nīḷa, on which the Aśvins sit."
- vandhuraḥ = "the seat of a chariot; the place for sitting in a chariot: seat in the chariot [the print's English]. In general the seat in the Aśvins' chariot is called tri-vandhura. Though the word in this ṛk is vandhura, the sense of tri-vandhura must be given. For examples we give here one or two ṛks that contain this word or the word tri-vandhura:"

  अधि वां स्थाम वन्धुरे रथे दस्रा हिरण्यये ॥ (ऋ. सं. १-१३९-४) यत्सीमञ्जन्ति पूर्व्यं हविर्भिरा वन्धुरेव तस्थतुर्दुरोणे ॥ (ऋ. सं. ३-१४-३) त्रिवन्धुरेण त्रिवृता सुपेशसा रथेना यातमश्विना ॥ (ऋ. सं. १-१४७-३) त्रिवन्धुरेण त्रिवृता रथेन त्रिचक्रेण सुवृता यातमर्वाक् ॥ (ऋ. सं. १-११८-२)

adhi vāṃ sthāma vandhure rathe dasrā hiraṇyaye ‖ (ṛ. saṃ. 1-139-4) yatsīmañjanti pūrvyaṃ havirbhirā vandhureva tasthaturduroṇe ‖ (ṛ. saṃ. 3-14-3) trivandhureṇa trivṛtā supeśasā rathenā yātamaśvinā ‖ (ṛ. saṃ. 1-147-3) trivandhureṇa trivṛtā rathena tricakreṇa suvṛtā yātamarvāk ‖ (ṛ. saṃ. 1-118-2)

Page 115

त्रिवन्धुरो मघवा विश्वसौभगः शं न आ वक्षद्द्विपदे चतुष्पदे ॥ (ऋ. सं. १-१५७-३) स पप्रथानो अभि पञ्च भूमा त्रिवन्धुरो मनसा यातु युक्तः ॥ (ऋ. सं. ७-६९-२) रथो यो वां त्रिवन्धुरो हिरण्याभीशुरश्विना ॥ (ऋ. सं. ८-२२-५)

trivandhuro maghavā viśvasaubhagaḥ śaṃ na ā vakṣaddvipade catuṣpade ‖ (ṛ. saṃ. 1-157-3) sa paprathāno abhi pañca bhūmā trivandhuro manasā yātu yuktaḥ ‖ (ṛ. saṃ. 7-69-2) ratho yo vāṃ trivandhuro hiraṇyābhīśuraśvinā ‖ (ṛ. saṃ. 8-22-5)

"In many ṛks such as these the words vandhura and tri-vandhura are used. Though the word vandhura is used with reference to any deity, the word tri-vandhura is used only with reference to the Aśvin deities." (All seven references zoom-checked. 1-147-3 is as printed (its middle-last glyph is the flat-footed 7); the others are as printed. The source leaves these ṛks untranslated. My glosses, mine and tentative: "may we mount your seat, the golden chariot, O Dasras"; "whom they anoint, the ancient one, with oblations; the two stood as on a chariot-seat in the house"; "with the three-seated, three-cornered, well-shaped chariot come, O Aśvins"; "with the three-seated, three-cornered, three-wheeled, well-rolling chariot come hither"; "the three-seated, bountiful [chariot], of all good fortune, would bring us welfare for biped and quadruped"; "spreading over the five lands, the three-seated [chariot], yoked by thought, shall come"; "the three-seated chariot of yours, with golden reins, O Aśvins".)

- yogaḥ — "connection, joining, yoking; here the sense is yoking the horse (the ass) to the chariot."
- vājino rāsabhasya — "vāji means horse; rāsabhasya means ass. Here the words vājino rāsabhasya mean yoking an ass in the place of yoking a horse to the chariot. It is the general convention (rūḍhi) that an ass is yoked to the chariot of the Aśvin deities. On this subject —"

तद्रासभो नासत्या सहस्रमाजा यमस्य प्रधने जिगाय ॥ (ऋ. सं. १-११६-२) हरी ते युञ्जा पृषती अभूतामुपास्थाद्वाजी धुरि रासभस्य । (ऋ. सं. १-१६२-२१) यत्रा रथस्य बृहतो निधानं विमोचनं वाजिनो रासभस्य ॥ (ऋ. सं. ३-५३-५)

tadrāsabho nāsatyā sahasramājā yamasya pradhane jigāya ‖ (ṛ. saṃ. 1-116-2) harī te yuñjā pṛṣatī abhūtāmupāsthādvājī dhuri rāsabhasya | (ṛ. saṃ. 1-162-21) yatrā rathasya bṛhato nidhānaṃ vimocanaṃ vājino rāsabhasya ‖ (ṛ. saṃ. 3-53-5)

Page 116 [Special Topics, continued]

युञ्जाथां रासभं रथे वीड्वङ्गे वृषण्वसू ॥ (ऋ. सं. ८-८५-७)

yuñjāthāṃ rāsabhaṃ rathe vīḍvaṅge vṛṣaṇvasū ‖ (ṛ. saṃ. 8-85-7)

"— in ṛks such as these, and further in the Taittirīya Saṃhitā 4-2-1 [the middle glyph is a flat 2/7; read 2], the Kauṣītaki Brāhmaṇa 18-1, and the Śatapatha Brāhmaṇa 6-1-1-11; 6-3-1-23; 6-3-2-3; 6-4-4-3 and other mantras, the word rāsabha is used in the singular, so it becomes clear that the horse of the chariot of the Aśvin deities is a single ass." (References zoom-checked. The source leaves the ṛks untranslated. My glosses, mine and tentative: "then the ass, O Nāsatyas, won a thousand in the race, in Yama's contest"; "your two bays were yoked, the dappled ones; the swift one stood at the pole of the ass"; "where is the resting-place of the great chariot, the unyoking of the swift ass"; "yoke the ass to the strong-limbed chariot, O possessors of virile wealth".)

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (p. 116, grammar page — noted briefly; numerals zoom-checked): - kva — kimo 't — किमोऽत् (kimo 't) — Pā. 5-3-12: after kim in the locative the suffix at; this is a prāgdiśīya suffix: those from prāg diśo vibhaktiḥ — प्राग्दिशो विभक्तिः (prāg diśo vibhaktiḥ) — Pā. 5-3-1 up to the sūtra dikśabdebhyaḥ... — Pā. 5-3-27 have the name vibhakti, so at is a vibhakti. Then by na vibhaktau tusmāḥ — न विभक्तौ तुस्माः (na vibhaktau tusmāḥ) — Pā. 1-3-4 the t-class, s and m in a vibhakti are not it, so the ban on it-status would apply; but because in idamas thamuḥ — इदमस्थमुः (idamas thamuḥ) — Pā. 5-324 as printed [for 5-3-24] the suffix is taught as thamu, though na vibhaktau would already keep its m from being it, the u added to prevent it-status is pointless and so shows that na vibhaktau is not constant; hence here the t is it and is dropped and a remains: kim + a; kv āti — क्वाति (kv āti) — Pā. 7-2-105: before the suffix at, kva replaces kim: kva + a; titsvaritam — तित्स्वरितम् (titsvaritam) — Pā. 6-1-185: a suffix with the marker t is svarita, so the a is svarita; ato guṇe gives pararūpa, and by sthānivadbhāva it stays svarita. - trī, cakrā — after tri and cakra, jas; jaśśasoḥ śiḥ gives śi; śi sarvanāmasthānam — शि सर्वनामस्थानम् (śi sarvanāmasthānam) — Pā. 1-1-42 gives it the sarvanāmasthāna name; napuṃsakasya jhalacaḥ gives num; sarvanāmasthāne ca... lengthens the penultimate; śeś chandasi bahulam — Pā. 6-1-70 drops the śi in the Veda; nalopaḥ prātipadikāntasya drops the n. - vandhuraḥ — bandha bandhane, a kryādi root; after it the Uṇādi suffix ura; v for b by Vedic usage. - sanīḷāḥ — nīḷena saha vartante; tena saheti tulyayoge — तेन सहेति तुल्ययोगे (tena saheti tulyayoge) — Pā. 2-2-28: a bahuvrīhi; nīḷa is the seat on the chariot; vopasarjanasya — वोपसर्जनस्य (vopasarjanasya) — Pā. 6-3-82: in a bahuvrīhi sa replaces saha. Rik 9 ends here (|| 9 ||); a tailpiece ornament closes p. 116.

Rik 34.10 (p. 117 onward, PDF 132–)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 117; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented)

> आ नासत्या गच्छतं हूयते हविर्मध्वः पिबतं मधुपेभिरासभिः । युवोर्हि पूर्वं सवितोषसो रथमृताय चित्रं घृतवन्तमिष्यति ॥ १० ॥
>
> ā́ nāsatyā gácchataṃ hūyáte havír mádhvaḥ pibataṃ madhupébhir āsábhiḥ | yuvór hi pū́rvaṃ savitóṣaso rátham ṛtā́ya citráṃ ghṛtávaṃtam íṣyati || 10 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 117)

> आ । नासत्या । गच्छतम् । हूयते । हविः । मध्वः । पिबतम् । मधुऽपेभिः । आसऽभिः ॥ युवोः । हि । पूर्वम् । सविता । उषसः । रथम् । ऋताय । चित्रम् । घृतऽवन्तम् । इष्यति ॥ १० ॥

ā | nāsatyā | gacchatam | hūyate | haviḥ | madhvaḥ | pibatam | madhu-pebhiḥ | āsa-bhiḥ || yuvoḥ | hi | pūrvam | savitā | uṣasaḥ | ratham | ṛtāya | citram | ghṛtavantam | iṣyati || 10 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 117; the first half, to the point where the leaf ends; the rest follows on p. 118)

हे नासत्यावश्विनाविह कर्मण्या गच्छतम् । अत्रास्माभिर्हविर्हूयते । युवां च मधुपेभिर्मधुरद्रव्यपानयुक्तैरासभिर्भवदीयैरास्यैर्मध्वो मधुरद्रव्याणि हवींषि पिबतम् । सविता सूर्य उषसः पूर्वमुषःकालात्पुरा युवयोरश्विनोः सम्बन्धिनं रथमृतायास्मद्यज्ञार्थमिष्यति हि । प्रेरयति खलु । कीदृशम् । चित्रं पूर्वोक्तैश्चक्रत्रयादिभिर्विचित्रं घृतवन्तमक्षाञ्जनसाधनेन घृतेनोपेतम् ॥ [grammar of gacchatam, pibatam, hūyate, madhvaḥ, madhupebhiḥ, āsabhiḥ begins at the foot of p. 117 and continues on p. 118]

he nāsatyāv aśvināv iha karmaṇyā gacchatam | atrāsmābhir havir hūyate | yuvāṃ ca madhupebhir madhuradravyapānayuktair āsabhir bhavadīyair āsyair madhvo madhuradravyāṇi havīṃṣi pibatam | savitā sūrya uṣasaḥ pūrvam uṣaḥkālāt purā yuvayor aśvinoḥ sambandhinaṃ ratham ṛtāyāsmadyajñārtham iṣyati hi | prerayati khalu | kīdṛśam | citraṃ pūrvoktaiś cakratrayādibhir vicitraṃ ghṛtavantam akṣāñjanasādhanena ghṛtenopetam ||

Translation: "O Nāsatyas, Aśvins, come iha karmaṇi — to this rite. Here, by us, the oblation is poured. And you two, with your mouths madhupebhiḥ āsabhiḥ — mouths that drink sweet substances (madhuradravya) — madhvaḥ pibatam — drink the sweet oblations. Savitā, the sun, before the dawn (uṣasaḥ pūrvam) iṣyati — sends — your chariot, the Aśvins' chariot, ṛtāya, for the sake of our sacrifice. What sort? Citram — variegated (vicitram) by the wheels and so forth described before; ghṛtavantam — furnished with ghṛta, ghee, the means of greasing the axle [as I read akṣāñjana-; the print is clear enough on the other words]."

Rik 34.10 (continued) — end of the bhāṣya grammar, Pratipadārtha, Bhāvārtha, English, Special Topics, grammar (pp. 118–120, PDF 132–134)

End of the grammar within the bhāṣya (p. 118; characterized): yuvoḥ — "explained already under yuvor hi yantram" (Rik 1); iṣyati — root iṣa gatau; śyan is nit, so the root's first syllable is acute, and hi ca (no sūtra number printed in the bhāṣya) bars the lowering of the verb after hi.

Pratipadārtha (p. 118) — "nāsatyā — O Aśvin deities (come here for the sake of our sacrifice); āgacchatam — graciously come; haviḥ — the oblation; hūyate — is being offered; madhupebhiḥ — [with mouths] able to drink sweet liquid (able to enjoy tasting it); āsabhiḥ — with mouths; madhvaḥ — our sweet oblations; pibatam — drink; savitā — the Sun; uṣasaḥ pūrvam — before the dawn-time; yuvoḥ — your; citram — wonderful (by its three wheels and other extraordinary parts); ghṛtavantam — furnished with oil (to be put into the hole that holds the axle-rod, so that the wheels turn well); ratham — chariot; ṛtāya — for our sacrifice (for your coming to our sacrifice); iṣyati hi — sends, does he not?"

Bhāvārtha (p. 118) — "O Aśvin deities, kindly come to our sacrifice; we offer you sweet oblations. Drink this oblation with your mouths that are always drinking sweet liquid. For this very purpose Sūrya sends your chariot to you even before the dawn. That chariot is furnished with the three wheels and other wonderful parts, and with the oil that lets the wheels turn smoothly."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 118) — "Nasatyas, come to the sacrifice ; the oblation is offered ; drink the soma juice with your mouths relishing its sweet savour ; before the dawn Savitri (Sun) sends forth your wonderful and well-oiled chariot to the sacrifice" (no full stop in the print).

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 118–119 - pūrvaṃ uṣasaḥ — "before the dawn-time: that is, in the sacrifice, after midnight until the dawn-time they recite the Āśvina-kratu hymns during the recitation of the prātaranuvāka mantras. The ṛṣi prays that [the Aśvins] come to the sacrificial ground at the time those mantras are being recited, before the dawn, in order to receive them." - ṛtāya = yajñāya: "Yāska explains the word ṛta as satyaṃ vā yajñaṃ vā (Ni. 4-19) — 'truth or sacrifice'; here the sense 'sacrifice' is given." - citram = pūrvoktaiś cakratrayādibhiś citram: "a wonderful chariot with the three wheels and the rest as described before. Ordinarily a chariot has four wheels, and the chariot is square; but the Aśvins' chariot is triangular and has three wheels, so it is not an ordinary chariot but a wonderful one." - ghṛtavantam = akṣāñjanasādhanena ghṛtenopetam: "so that the wheels turn properly, it is the custom to put grease in the axle-hole and in the hole between the wheels. In the same way, here, it is a chariot in which, in place of grease, ghee has been applied to the axles and the wheels turn smoothly."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 119–120, PDF 133–134 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - gacchatam (p. 119): root gamḷ gatau; loṭ, second-person dual thas, replaced by tam by tasthasthamipāṃ tāṃtaṃtāmaḥ — तस्थस्थमिपां तांतंतामः — (Pā. 3-4-101); gam + tam, śap; iṣugamiyamāṃ chaḥ — इषुगमियमां छः — (Pā. 7-3-77) gives ch for the m; tuk by che ca — छे च (che ca) — (Pā. 6-1-73); ścutva, stoḥ ścunā ścuḥ — स्तोः श्चुना श्चुः — (Pā. 8-4-40) giving cch; the loṭ-substitute tam is lasārvadhātuka and stands after śap, which is anupadeśa; tiṅ is accented [anudātta] by tāsyanudāttenṅidadupadeśāt… (Pā. 6-1-186), and the root's accent remains. The page goes on to explain that the meaning "come to the sacrifice and drink the oblation" calls for the particle ca to be understood after āgacchatam, "nāsatyā āgacchataṃ pibatam ca"; since the word ca is not actually used, cādilope vibhāṣā — चादिलोपे विभाषा — (Pā. 8-1-63) is applied: when ca, vā, ha, aha, eva are dropped, the verb standing first in the sentence [gacchatam] does not become sarvānudātta; the sūtra's sense is that the grammar does not itself prescribe the dropping of cādi words, but where the sense of ca is felt from the context and the word is not used, it must be understood that it has been dropped. - hūyate (p. 119 end – p. 120): root hvẽ̆ śabde, laṭ in the passive; laṭ is replaced by ta, with ṭita ātmanepadānāṃ ṭere — टित आत्मनेपदानां टेरे — (no number printed) giving e for the ṭi of the ending; hve + ya + te; sārvadhātuke yak — सार्वधातुके यक् — (Pā. 3-1-67) gives yak in the passive; vacisvapiyajādīnāṃ kiti — वचिस्वपियजादीनां किति — (Pā. 6-1-15) gives saṃprasāraṇa, whence hu + ya + te; halaś ca — हलश्च — (Pā. 3-4-2, as printed; the lengthening rule halaḥ is Pā. 6-4-2) lengthens the vowel of a base that has saṃprasāraṇa before a final consonant-group; hūyate; the te is lasārvadhātuka and unaccented by tāsyanudāttenṅid…; the yak suffix makes the accent fall on its own ya [as the print says, yak is kit: yakpratyayasvareṇa udāttaḥ]. - madhvaḥ (p. 120): "madhu is derived, as I said before, by the Uṇādi sūtra phalipāṭi… (no number printed here); the word is neuter, but here it is used as masculine by vyatyaya: śas of the second case plural, madhu + as; by rule prathamayoḥ pūrvasavarṇaḥ — प्रथमयोः पूर्वसवर्णः — (Pā. 6-1-102) the long vowel of the first should result, but by Vedic usage here yaṇādeśa comes: madhvaḥ." - madhupebhiḥ: madhu pibantīti madhupāḥ, taiḥ; root pā pāne; with madhu as upapada the suffix ka after a root ending in ā, āto'nupasarge kaḥ — आतोऽनुपसर्गे कः — (Pā. 3-2-3); ātolopa iṭi ca — Pā. 6-4-64: loss of ā; pa is acute by the suffix-accent. - āsabhiḥ: after āsya, bhis; pad-dan-no-māsa-hṛn-niśa-...-śas-prabhṛtiṣu — पद्दन्नोमास्हृन्निशसन्... — (Pā. 6-1-63): āsan replaces āsya; n lost by na lopaḥ prātipadikāntasya — न लोपः प्रातिपदिकान्तस्य — (Pā. 8-2-7). - yuvoḥ: "explained under yuvor hi yantram (Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-34-1)". - iṣyati: root iṣa gatau, divādi; laṭ, tip; divādibhyaḥ śyan; śyan is nit, so hi ca — हि च (hi ca) — (Pā. 8-1-34) prevents the loss of accent and ñnityādir nityam — ञ्नित्यादिर्नित्यम् — (Pā. 6-1-197) makes the first syllable acute. Rik 10 ends here (|| 10 ||).

Rik 34.11 (pp. 120–124, PDF 135–139)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (pp. 120–121; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented)

> आ नासत्या त्रिभिरैकादशैरिह देवेभिर्यातं मधुपेयमश्विना । प्रायुस्तारिष्टं नी रपांसि मृक्षतं सेधतं द्वेषो भवतं सचाभुवा ॥ ११ ॥
>
> ā nāsatyā tribhír ekādaśáir ihá devébhir yātaṃ madhupéyam aśvinā | prāyus tāriṣṭaṃ nī rápāṃsi mṛkṣataṃ sédhataṃ dvéṣo bhávataṃ sacābhúvā || 11 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 121)

> आ । नासत्या । त्रिऽभिः । एकादशैः । इह । देवेभिः । यातम् । मधुऽपेयम् । अश्विना ॥ प्र । आयुः । तारिष्टम् । निः । रपांसि । मृक्षतम् । सेधतम् । द्वेषः । भवतम् । सचाऽभुवा ॥ ११ ॥

ā | nāsatyā | tri-bhiḥ | ekādaśaiḥ | iha | devebhiḥ | yātam | madhu-peyam | aśvinā || pra | āyuḥ | tāriṣṭam | niḥ | rapāṃsi | mṛkṣatam | sedhatam | dveṣaḥ | bhavatam | sacā-bhuvā || 11 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (pp. 121–122; the first half in full, the grammatical tail characterized; where the print is crowded I mark [?])

> हे नासत्या असत्येनानृतेन रहितावश्विनौ देवौ युवां त्रिभिरेकादशैः । ये देवासो दिव्येकादश स्थ । ऋग्वे. १-१३९-११ । इत्यादिमन्त्रप्रतिपादितैस्त्रिसंख्याकैरेकादशात्मकैर्वर्गत्रयगतैर्देवैः सह मधुपेयं सोमात्मकं मधुरद्रव्यपानमभिलक्ष्येहास्मिन्देवयजनदेश आ यातम् । आगच्छतम् । आयुरस्मदीयमायुष्यं प्रतारिष्टम् । प्रवर्धयतम् । रपांस्यस्मदीयानि पापानि निर्मृक्षतम् । निःशेषेण शोधयतम् । द्वेषो द्वेषकर्तॄन् सेधतम् । प्रतिषेधतम् । सचाभुवा अस्माभिः सहावस्थितौ भवतम् ॥

he nāsatyā asatyenānṛtena rahitāv aśvinau devau yuvāṃ tribhir ekādaśaiḥ | ye devāso divy ekādaśa stha | ṛgve. 1-139-11 | ity ādimantrapratipāditais trisaṃkhyākair ekādaśātmakair vargatrayagatair devaiḥ saha madhupeyaṃ somātmakaṃ madhuradravyapānam abhilakṣyehāsmin devayajanadeśa ā yātam | āgacchatam | āyur asmadīyam āyuṣyaṃ pratāriṣṭam | pravardhayatam | rapāṃsy asmadīyāni pāpāni nirmṛkṣatam | niḥśeṣeṇa śodhayatam | dveṣo dveṣakartṝn sedhatam | pratiṣedhatam | sacābhuvā asmābhiḥ sahāvasthitau bhavatam ||

Translation: "O Nāsatyas, Aśvins, free of falsehood and untruth: with tribhir ekādaśaiḥ — the three elevens: 'you gods who are eleven in heaven' (Ṛg. 1-139-11) and so on in the mantras — the gods of three groups, each of eleven, come, together with them, iha, here, to this place of the worship of the gods (devayajana), with a view to the madhupeya — the drinking of the sweet substance, soma. Āyuḥ — our lifetime — pra tāriṣṭam — extend. Rapāṃsi — our sins — nir mṛkṣatam — cleanse completely. Dveṣaḥ — those who hate — sedhatam — ward off. Sacābhuvā — be together with us."

Grammar within the bhāṣya (pp. 121–122, characterized): tribhiḥ, ekādaśaiḥ (ekādaśānāṃ pūraṇaiḥ, the suffix ḍaṭ in the ordinal sense, tasya pūraṇe ḍaṭ [Pā. 5-2-48]); madhupeyam (root pā, yat after a vowel-final root, ac-ending roots by aco yat [no number printed in the bhāṣya], ī for ā by īdyati [Pā. 6-4-65], yato nāvaḥ initial-acute rule, the compound madhu ca tat peyam ca, accent of the later member of a kṛt-compound); tāriṣṭam (root tṝ plavanataraṇayoḥ; luṅ in the sense of a prayer, Vedic; cli → sic, the iṭ augment, with vṛto vā [Pā. 7-2-38] on the length of the augment, barred by sici ca parasmaipadeṣu [Pā. 7-2-40]; the Vedic absence of aṭ; ādiḥ sico 'nyatarasyām, Pā. 6-1-187, for the initial acute; the print adds that tāriṣṭam and mṛkṣatam are not lowered, by the understood but unused ca, as with gacchatam above); mṛkṣatam (root mṛśa āmarśane; chandasi luṅlaṅliṭaḥ, luṅ in the sense of loṭ; śala igupadhād aniṭaḥ kṣaḥ — Pā. 3-1-45; kṣa is it-marked, no iṭ, no guṇa); sedhatam (root ṣidhu gatyām; here the plain root has the sense of "preventing" because it is understood with prati; loṭ in the prayer sense, śap pit so unaccented; tiṅ [tāsyanudāttenṅid…] so the root's accent stands); dveṣaḥ (anyebhyo 'pi dṛśyante — vic in the agent sense, "[those] who make hatred"); bhavatam (the word dveṣaḥ is in another sentence and so bhavatam [being the sentence's first verb] is not lowered; a rule is cited from the vārtika that yuṣmad-asmad-substitutes come only in the same sentence, Pā. 8-1-18-5 as printed); sacābhuvā (sacā is an indeclinable of the meaning of saha; Yāska:'sacā sahety artha iti' (Ni. 5-5); sacā bhavate iti sacābhūḥ, kvip; oḥ supi* — ओः सुपि — Pā. 6-4-83 would give yaṇ, but na bhūsudhiyoḥ — न भूसुधियोः — Pā. 6-4-85 forbids the yaṇ-substitution for bhū and sudhī; the dual ending replaced by ā by supāṃ sulug…)."

Pratipadārtha (p. 122) — "nāsatyā — [O two] free of untruth; aśvinā — O Aśvin deities; tribhir ekādaśaiḥ devebhiḥ — with the thrice-eleven, i.e. thirty-three, gods; madhupeyam — for [the sake of drinking] the sweet and drinkable soma juice; iha — to this place of our sacrifice; ā yātam — come; āyuḥ — our lifetime; pra tāriṣṭam — increase; rapāṃsi — our sins; niḥ mṛkṣatam — wash well, make pure; dveṣaḥ — those who hate us (our enemies); sedhatam — keep off; sacābhuvā — being with us; bhavatam — be."

Bhāvārtha (p. 122) — "O Aśvin deities, you never speak untruth. Kindly come to this place of our sacrifice with the thirty-three gods, to drink the sweet soma juice. Increase our lives, wash away our sins and make us pure, and keep off our enemies. Be always with us."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 122) — "Come hither, O Nasatyas, with the thrice eleven gods to drink the sweet Soma ; prolong our lives, efface our faults ; ward off our enemies and be ever with us." (the print ends with a raised dot where a full stop is expected).

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 123–124

tribhir ekādaśaiḥ — "The meaning of this ṛk is clear. Tribhir ekādaśaiḥ means 'thrice eleven', or thirty-three. In the Ṛgveda, and in the other Vedas here and there, it is stated that there are thirty-three gods. In some ṛks it is said that one group of eleven gods dwells on the earth, another group of eleven in the mid-region, and a third group of eleven in heaven."

> ये देवासो दिव्येकादश स्थ पृथिव्यामध्येकादश स्थ । अप्सुक्षितो महिनैकादश स्थ ते देवासो यज्ञमिमं जुषध्वम् ॥ (ऋ. सं. १-१३९-११)

ye devāso divy ekādaśa stha pṛthivyām adhy ekādaśa stha | apsukṣito mahinaikādaśa stha te devāso yajñam imaṃ juṣadhvam || (ṛ. saṃ. 1-139-11)

"The idea here is: 'Let the eleven gods who are in heaven, the eleven who are on earth, and the eleven who are in the mid-region (apaḥ = mid-region, Ni. 2-10) come to this sacrifice and accept the oblation.' And:"

> श्रुष्टीवानो हि दाशुषे देवा अग्ने विचेतसः । तान्रोहिदश्व गिर्वणस्त्रयस्त्रिंशतमा वह ॥ (ऋ. सं. १-४५-२) पत्नीवतस्त्रिंशतं त्रींश्च देवाननुष्वधमा वह मादयस्व ॥ (ऋ. सं. ३-६-९) त्रीणि शता त्री सहस्राण्यग्निं त्रिंशच्च देवा नव चासपर्यन् ॥ (ऋ. सं. ३-९-९)

śruṣṭīvāno hi dāśuṣe devā agne vicetasaḥ | tān rohidaśva girvaṇas trayastriṃśatam ā vaha || (ṛ. saṃ. 1-45-2) patnīvatas triṃśataṃ trīṃś ca devān anuṣvadham ā vaha mādayasva || (ṛ. saṃ. 3-6-9) trīṇi śatā trī sahasrāṇy agniṃ triṃśac ca devā nava cāsaparyan || (ṛ. saṃ. 3-9-9)

(Untranslated in the source. My glosses, mine and tentative*: 1.45.2 "for the giver the gods, O Agni, are attentive [?], wise: bring those thirty-three, O red-horsed, lover of songs"; 3.6.9 "bring the thirty-three gods with their wives, and rejoice according to [their] custom [?]"; 3.9.9 "three hundred, three thousand, thirty and nine gods served Agni". The reference numerals are zoom-checked: 1-45-2, 3-6-9, 3-9-9.)* "Besides these ṛks, in the Yajurveda — Taittirīya Saṃhitā 1-4-10-1, Śatapatha Brāhmaṇa 4-5-7-2 and other [texts] — the number of the gods is likewise said to be thirty-three. In the Śatapatha Brāhmaṇa these thirty-three gods are given as the Vasus 8, the Rudras 11, the Ādityas 12, and Dyāvāpṛthivī 2 — in all thirty-three; but that division must be understood as a separate matter. The notion that in each of the three worlds — earth, mid-region, heaven — there are eleven gods, thirty-three in all, is the one specially seen in the Ṛgveda. The statement in the Purāṇas and elsewhere that there are thirty-three koṭi gods may rest on [a misreading of] what is said in the Ṛgveda. In the Viṣṇu Purāṇa too [the count is given as] Vasus 8, Rudras 11, Ādityas 12, Prajāpati 1, the vaṣaṭkāra 1 — in all thirty-three gods."

madhupeyam = "the drinking of soma juice that is sweet like honey."

pra tāriṣṭam = tṝ plavanataraṇayoḥ | pravardhayatam — "let there be increase."

rapāṃsi = asmadīyāni pāpāni — "our sins [the print adds the English: our sins, our faults or errors &c]. On this word Yāska says 'rapo ripram iti pāpanāmanī bhavataḥ' — the two words rapaḥ and ripram are names of sin." (No Nirukta number is printed here.)

nir mṛkṣatam = mṛśa āmarśane | niḥśeṣeṇa śodhayatam — "cleanse fully, wipe away [sins], and so on."

sedhatam = ṣidhu gatyām — "though the root ṣidh has the sense of motion, the bhāṣyakāra says that here, being joined with the preverb prati, it has the sense prati-ṣidh = 'prevent' (pratiṣedhatam): 'keep off, obstruct'."

sacābhuvā = sacety ayaṃ nipātaḥ sahaśabdasamānārthaḥ | sāhāyyārthaṃ asmābhiḥ sahāvasthitau — "here sacā is [said in the Kannada to be] an upasarga; its sense is saha, 'with'; so sacābhuvā means 'staying with [us]': be with us, near us, for our protection."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (p. 124, PDF 138 — grammar page, noted briefly; begun, to continue on p. 125) - tribhiḥ: ṣaṭtricaturbhyo halādiḥ — षट्त्रिचतुर्भ्यो हलादिः — (Pā. 6-1-179): an ending beginning with a consonant, after ṣaṭ, tri or catur, is acute; so bhis is acute. - ekādaśaiḥ: ekādaśānāṃ pūraṇāḥ, taiḥ; the aṃśa (part) that completes the number eleven; tasya pūraṇe ḍaṭ — तस्य पूरणे डट् — (Pā. 5-2-48): after a word denoting a number, in the sixth case, the suffix ḍaṭ comes when the completer of that number is meant. - madhupeyam: pātum yogyam peyam; aco yat — अचो यत् — (Pā. 3-1-97): after a root ending in a vowel the suffix yat; pā + ya; īdyati — ईद्यति — (Pā. 6-4-65): before yat, an ā [of a root] becomes ī; then guṇa by sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ — Pā. 7-3-84; yato 'nāvaḥ — यतोऽनावः — (Pā. 6-1-213): a word ending in the suffix yat — other than nau — and having two syllables is first-syllable acute; hence peya is first-syllable acute; madhu ca tat peyam ca is a karmadhāraya; gatikārakopapadāt kṛt — Pā. 6-2-139: the accent of the later member, being a kṛt, is retained.

Rik 34.11 — Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā, continued and concluded (pp. 125–127, PDF 140–142; grammar pages, noted briefly)

Kannada prose with sūtras quoted; numerals zoom-checked against the better scan.

- tāriṣṭam (p. 125): root tṝ plavanataraṇayoḥ; the two l-tenses liṅ and loṭ are taught only in the sense of a prayer; here luṅ appears in the prayer sense, Vedically; parasmaipada, second-person dual thas, replaced by tam by tasthasthamipāṃ tāṃtaṃtāmaḥ (no number printed here); cli in the luṅ, then sic for it by cleḥ sic — च्लेः सिच् (cleḥ sic) — (no number printed): tṝ + s + tam; ārdhadhātukasyeḍ valādeḥ — आर्धधातुकस्येड्वलादेः — Pā. 7-2-35: the augment iṭ for sic, as its first part; the print then works through vṛto vā — वृतो वा — Pā. 7-2-38 (which takes in the roots vṛ(ñ), vṛ, ṛt-final bases), graho 'liṭi dīrghaḥ — ग्रहोऽलिटि दीर्घः — (no number printed) (lengthening of the augment) and sici ca parasmaipadeṣu — सिचि च परस्मैपदेषु — Pā. 7-2-40, which forbids that lengthening before sic in parasmaipada for roots in ṛ — "here iṭ is present after tṝ, a root in ṛ"; bahulaṃ chandasy amāṅyoge 'pi — बहुलं छन्दस्यमाङ्योगेऽपि — Pā. 6-4-75: the words māṅ-connection and api mean that in the Veda the augments aṭ and āṭ are not constantly present, even where māṅ is connected — hence no aṭ here; ṛta iddhātoḥ — ऋत इद्धातोः — Pā. 7-1-100 is set aside by the vṛddhi of sici vṛddhiḥ parasmaipadeṣu — सिचि वृद्धिः परस्मैपदेषु — Pā. 7-2-1; uraṇ raparaḥ; tār + iṣ + tam; ṣ by ādeśapratyayayoḥ; ṣṭunā ṣṭuḥ: tāriṣṭam. "Here the sense of ca — tāriṣṭaṃ mṛkṣataṃ ca — is understood, though not used; since the ca has been dropped, cādilope vibhāṣā — चादिलोपे विभाषा — (explained under the previous ṛk) forbids the lowering of the first verb, and by tiṅ ṅatiṅaḥ it is not wholly unaccented; and ādiḥ sico'nyatarasyām — आदिः सिचोऽन्यतरस्याम् — Pā. 6-1-187 gives the first syllable of a sic-ending word the acute, optionally: thus ādyudātta."

- mṛkṣatam (pp. 125–126): root mṛśa āmarśane, tudādi (“touching”); here, with the preverb niḥ, the sense is “cleansing”; chandasi luṅlaṅliṭaḥ — छन्दसि लुङ्लङ्लिटः — Pā. 3-4-6: in the Veda luṅ, laṅ, liṭ are used optionally in the senses of all tenses — here for loṭ; thas → tam; mṛś + cli + tam; śala igupadhād aniṭaḥ kṣaḥ — शल इगुपधादनिटः क्सः — Pā. 3-1-45 (śal = ś, ṣ, s, h; ik = i, u, ṛ, ḷ; “upadhā” is the letter before the last; a root so characterised, without the augment iṭ, takes ksa for cli, k being an it); so mṛś + sa + tam; ekāca upadeśe 'nudāttāt — Pā. 7-2-10: no iṭ, the root being counted among the anudāttet roots in the mnemonic verse kṛśir-daṃśi-diśī-dṛśṛ-mṛś (“mṛś is among them”); bahulaṃ chandasy amāṅyoge — as above: no aṭ; the root ends in ś; ś → ṣ by vraścabhrasjasṛjamṛjayajarājabhrājacchaśāṃ ṣaḥ — Pā. 8-2-36; mṛṣ + s + tam; ṣaḍhoḥ kassi — षढोः कः सि — Pā. 8-2-41: ṣ → k before s: mṛk + sa + tam. “In the Veda-bhāṣya it is written ṣatva-kutve; it would be correct to write ṣatva-katve”. Then ādeśapratyayayoḥ turns s into ṣ: mṛkṣatam.
- sedhatam (p. 126): root ṣidha gatyām, “to go”; “the form ṣidhu is not found in the present Dhātupāṭha”; with the preverb prati it means “to ward off” (pratiṣedha); the preverbs are only indicators (dyotaka), i.e. words that make the force of a verb evident; “so, even though there is no indicator, the sense that appears when prati is joined to ṣidh is the one meant here”. Vidhinimantraṇāmantraṇādhīṣṭasaṃpraśnaprārthaneṣu liṅ — विधिनिमन्त्रणामन्त्रणाधीष्टसंप्रश्नप्रार्थनेषु लिङ् — (Pā. 3-3-161) and loṭ ca — लोट् च — (Pā. 3-3-162): loṭ in the sense of a prayer; second-person dual thas, śap; ṣ → s [as the page says, the ṣa of the root’s initial]; loṭo laṅvat; tasthasthamipāṃ...: tam; śap is a non-taught (anupadeśa) element, so tāsyanudāttenṅidadupadeśāt... (no number printed here) makes the lasārvadhātuka unaccented, and pit-ness of śap does the same; anudāttaṃ sarvam apādādau — अनुदात्तं सर्वमपादादौ — (Pā. 8-1-18): everything is unaccented except at the beginning of a foot — but the verb stands at the beginning of the fourth foot, so this does not apply; alternatively tiṅ ṅatiṅaḥ — तिङ्ङतिङः — (Pā. 8-1-28): a tiṅ after a non-tiṅ word is unaccented, and here sedhatam stands after the tiṅ mṛkṣatam, so it is not unaccented; dhātoḥ (Pā. 6-1-162) keeps the root’s own acute.
- dveṣaḥ (p. 126 end): root dviṣa aprītau, adādi; anyebhyo 'pi dṛśyante — अन्येभ्योऽपि दृश्यन्ते — (Pā. 3-2-75): manin, kvanip, vanip, vic come after other roots too; so vic in the agent sense.
- bhavatam (p. 127): root bhū, loṭ, second-person dual: “there are two sentences: ‘sedhataṃ dveṣaḥ’ (ward off those who hate) and ‘sacābhuvā bhavatam’ (be with us). For the lowering [nighāta] to come, the cause and the thing caused must lie in one sentence, as the rule samānavākye nighāte yuṣmadasmadādeśā vaktavyāḥ — समानवाक्ये निघाते युष्मदस्मदादेशा वक्तव्याः — (Pā. 8-1-18-5 as printed, a vārtika) teaches. Here, for bhavatam to be lowered, the word dveṣaḥ before it would have to be its cause; but that word lies in another sentence; so there is no sarvānudātta, and the root’s accent stands.”
- sacābhuvā: Yāska in the Nirukta (Ni. 5-5): sacā sahety arthaḥ; sacā bhavataḥ iti sacābhuvau, suffix kvip; after sacā bhū the nominative dual au; oḥ supi — ओः सुपि — (Pā. 6-4-83): before a vowel-initial sup, a base whose last [dhātu] syllable is u/ū — with a preceding non-conjunct — takes yaṇ; here the ban na bhūsudhiyoḥ — न भूसुधियोः — (Pā. 6-4-84 as printed; for 6-4-85) stops the yaṇ for bhū, sudhī; then aci śnudhātubhruvāṃ yvor iyaṅuvaṅau — अचि श्नुधातुभ्रुवां य्वोरियङुवङौ — (Pā. 6-4-77):

before a vowel-initial suffix a base ending in śnu, a dhātu ending in i/u, and bhrū takes iyaṅ/uvaṅ; so sacābhuv + au, and supāṃ sulug… gives ā for au. Rik 11 ends here (|| 11 ||).

Rik 34.12 (pp. 127–131, PDF 142–146)

(The twelfth ṛk is the second Triṣṭup of the sūkta, per the introduction on p. 71.)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (pp. 127–128; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented)

आ नो॑ अश्विना त्रिवृ॒ता रथे॑नार्वाञ्चं॒ रयिं व॑हतं सु॒वीर॑ं । शृ॒ण्वन्ता॑ वा॒मव॑से जोहवीमि वृ॒धे च॑ नो भवतं वाज॑सातौ ॥ १२ ॥

ā́ no aśvinā trivṛ́tā ráthenārvā́ñcaṃ rayíṃ vahataṃ suvī́raṃ | śṛ́ṇvántā vām ávase johavīmi vṛ́dhé ca no bhavataṃ vā́jasātau || 12 ||

(As printed, the first half ends in सुवीरं with anusvara.)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 128)

आ । नः । अश्विना । त्रिऽवृता । रथेन । अर्वाञ्चम् । रयिम् । वहतम् । सुऽवीरम् ॥ शृण्वन्ता । वाम् । अवसे । जोहवीमि । वृधे । च । नः । भवतम् । वाजऽसातौ ॥ १२ ॥

ā | naḥ | aśvinā | tri-vṛtā | rathena | arvāñcam | rayim | vahatam | su-vīram || śṛṇvantā | vām | avase | johavīmi | vṛdhe | ca | naḥ | bhavatam | vāja-sātau || 12 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 128; the first half in full, the grammatical tail characterized)

हे अश्विना त्रिवृता रथेन अप्रतिहतगतित्वात् त्रिषु लोकेषु वर्तमानेन रथेन सह नोऽस्माकमर्वाञ्चमभिमुखं सुवीरं शोभनैर्वीर्यैः पुत्रभृत्यादिभिरुपेतं रयिं धनमा वहतम् । आनीय प्रापयतम् । शृण्वन्तास्मदीयस्तुतिं शृण्वन्तौ वां युवामवसेऽस्मद्रक्षणार्थं जोहवीमि । आह्वयामि । नोऽस्माकं वाजसातौ संग्रामे । वाजसातौ महाधन इति संग्रामनामसु पाठात् । वृधे वर्धनाय च भवतम् ॥

he aśvinā trivṛtā rathena apratihatagatitvāt triṣu lokeṣu vartamānena rathena saha no 'smākam arvāñcam abhimukhaṃ suvīraṃ śobhanair vīryaiḥ putrabhṛtyādibhir upetaṃ rayiṃ dhanam ā vahatam | ānīya prāpayatam | śṛṇvantāsmadīyastutiṃ śṛṇvantau vāṃ yuvām avase 'smadrakṣaṇārthaṃ johavīmi | āhvayāmi | no 'smākaṃ vājasātau saṃgrāme | vājasātau mahādhana iti saṃgrāmanāmasu pāṭhāt | vṛdhe vardhanāya ca bhavatam ||

Translation: "O Aśvins, together with your trivṛt chariot — which, its course being unobstructed, travels in the three worlds — bring (ā vahatam) to us arvāñcam, towards us, suvīram — furnished with good heroic men, sons, servants and the like — rayim, wealth. Bring it and cause us to obtain it. Śṛṇvantā — you who hear our praise — vām — you — I call avase, for our protection, johavīmi — I invoke. Naḥ vājasātau — for us, vājasātau — in battle [saṃgrāma], since vājasātau is read in the lists of words for 'battle', 'mahādhana' — for our success, vṛdhe ca bhavatam — and be for our increase."

Grammar within the bhāṣya (p. 128, characterized): suvīram (śobhanā vīrā yasya, a bahuvrīhi, with the first-member accent of vīravīryau ca); śṛṇvantā (root śru śravaṇe, laṭ, śatṛ; śruvaḥ śṛ ca — Pā. 3-1-74 — śṛ in place of śru, śnu for śap; huśnuvoḥ sārvadhātuke — yaṇ; the dual in ā by supāṃ sulug…); johavīmi (root hvẽ̆ spardhāyāṃ śabde ca; yaṅ with luk; yaṅlukŋ abhŋastasŋa ca — Pā. 6-1-33 as cited — the saṃprasāraṇa; yaṅo vā — Pā. 7-3-94 — the optional īṭ); vṛdhe (sampadādibhŋaḥ kvip); vājasātau (root ṣaṇu dāne, ktin; titutra… — the ban on iṭ; janasana… — the ā; accent of the first member of a bahuvrīhi).

Pratipadārtha (pp. 128–129) — "aśvinā — O Aśvin deities; trivṛtā rathena — [with the chariot] that moves without obstruction in the three worlds; naḥ — our; arvāñcam — directed towards us; suvīram — endowed with good sons and servants; rayim — wealth; ā vahatam — bring; śṛṇvantā — those who listen to our praises; vām — you two; avase — for the sake of our protection; johavīmi — I call; naḥ — to us; vājasātau — in battle; vṛdhe ca — and for our success (for victory); bhavatam — be."

Bhāvārtha (p. 129) — "O Aśvin deities, your chariot can move through the three worlds without any obstruction. Coming with it, give us wealth together with a good line of descendants, and listen to our praise with favour. Therefore I call on you for our protection. In the time of our battle, be the ones who win us victory."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 129) — "Sitting in your chariot that traverses the three worlds, bring us plenty of wealth accompanied by valiant progeny ; I call upon you both for protection, listen to me and give us victory (encouragement) in battle." (the print ends with a raised dot where a full stop is expected).

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣaŋagaḷu), p. 129 - trivṛtā = apratihatagatitvāt triṣu lokeṣu vartamānena: "there is no obstruction to the travel of these deities; the meaning is that they can move in all three worlds, earth, mid-region and heaven." - śṛṇvantā = asmadīyāṃ stutiṃ śṛṇvantau: "those who listen attentively to the hymns and so on that we make." - avase = asmadrakṣaṇārtham: "for our protection." - vṛdhe ca no bhavatam: "for our growth, or for encouraging us — you strive." - vājasātau — "since vājasātau is read among the forty-six words for 'battle', raṇaḥ, vivāk and the rest (no Nirukta number printed), this word means in the battle — the battle we have with our enemies."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 130–131, PDF 144–145 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - suvīram (p. 130): śobhanāḥ vīrāḥ ŋasŋa saḥ, a bahuvrīhi — "[the wealth] with good heroes"; vīravīrŋau ca — वीरवीर्यौ च — (Pā. 6-2-120): in a bahuvrīhi the words vīra, vīrŋa after su are first-syllable acute; vīra is from vīra vikrāntau (the tenth class [as read: of the tenth group]) with the ac suffix of the pacādi kind; citaḥ — चितः — (no number printed) gives it the natural final acute. - śṛṇvantā: root śru śravaṇe, 5th class; laṭ; laṭaḥ śatṛśānacau, śatṛ; śruvaḥ śṛ ca — श्रुवः शृ च — (Pā. 3-1-74): śṛ is substituted for śru, and śnu for śap; śnu by atideśa is ṅit, so no guṇa; with the vowel-initial at as cause, aci śnudhātubhruvāṃ… — Pā. 6-4-77 would apply, but huśnuvoḥ sārvadhātuke — हुश्नुवोः सार्वधातुके — (Pā. 6-4-82 as printed; for 6-4-87) gives ŋaṇ for the u of a base ending in śnu, or of a dhātu having several vowels and preceded by a conjunct [as the print explains], before a vowel-initial sārvadhātuka, overriding the uvaṅ; the accusative dual in ā. - johavīmi: root hvẽ̆ spardhāyāṃ śabde ca; dhātor ekāco… — yaṅ; yaṅo 'ci ca (no number printed) — luk of yaṅ; abhŋastasŋa ca — अभ्यस्तस्य च — (Pā. 6-1-33): saṃprasāraṇa of hve in the reduplicate, where the cause of the abhŋasta-name follows; doubling, shortening of the reduplicate, kuhoś cuḥ (no number printed) giving ju-hu; guṇo yaṅluktoḥ — गुणो यङ्लुकोः — (Pā. 7-4-82): guṇa for the reduplicate even when yaṅ is present or has been dropped; jo-hu; laṭ first person singular mip, śap with luk; yaño vā — यञो वा — (Pā. 7-3-94): īṭ for a pit sārvadhātuka beginning with a consonant after yaṅ-ending bases, optionally — hence the augment; guṇa, āv-substitution. The print adds that after a yaṅ-ending base only the ātmanepada is regular; yet johavīmi is parasmaipada — Vedic usage. - vṛdhe: root vṛdhu vṛddhau; sampadādibhyaḥ kvip: vṛdh, a kṛdanta; the fourth singular ṅe. - vājasātau (pp. 130–131): root ṣaṇu dāne, ṣ → s by dhātvādeḥ ṣaḥ saḥ; striyāṃ ktin; titutratathasisusarakaseṣu ca — तितुत्रतथसिसुसरकसेषु च — (Pā. 7-2-9): no iṭ for these ten kṛt suffixes; janasanakhanāṃ sañjhaloḥ — जनसनखनां सञ्झलोः — (Pā. 6-4-42): ā in place of the n of these three roots when san or a jhal-initial kit/ñit suffix follows; savarṇadīrgha: sāti. Vājānām = of strength; sātiḥ = giving: "that in which there is the giving of strengths", a bahuvrīhi, hence the first-member accent. Rik 12 ends here (|| 12 ||).

Close of Sūkta 34

The sūkta has 12 Riks (printed pp. 71–131; PDF 85–146), as the heading on p. 72 states ("ṛks 1–12"). On the metre, the introduction (p. 71) says the ninth and twelfth ṛks are Triṣṭup and the rest Jagatī, whereas the heading's metre line (p. 72) prints Jagatī for 1–8, 10, 11 and Triṣṭup for what I read as "9–12"; the two are recorded as printed, and the twelve ṛks as actually read are consistent with the introduction (Riks 9 and 12 as Triṣṭup). No closing note ("illige … sūktavu samāptavu") is printed at the end of the last grammar paragraph on p. 131, only a small ornament. Sūkta 35 (hvayāmy agnim) begins on the same leaf, printed p. 131 = PDF 146, under the large heading mūvattaidaneya sūktavu ("the thirty-fifth sūkta"); its Sanskrit introduction on that page reads "ekādaśarcam" (eleven ṛks) where the Kannada anuvāda reads "ten" [?]; both and the rest of that page are not translated here and belong to the next session. The contents table's page for the start of Sūkta 35 (p. 131) is thus confirmed.

Summary of the sūkta (from the Bhāvārthas): an invocation of the Aśvins, with the number three in almost every pāda — their thrice-daily coming to the pressings (Rik 1), the three-wheeled, three-pillared chariot used at Soma's wedding with Venā [Sūryā] (Rik 2), their threefold forgiving of faults, giving of food and guidance (Riks 3–4), the Sun's daughter in their chariot (Rik 5), the three kinds of healing herbs (Rik 6), their lying on the barhis and travelling to three altars (Rik 7), the three soma-vessels and the protection of the sun by day and night (Rik 8), the questions about the wheels and the ass of their chariot (Rik 9), the invitation to come before dawn and drink the offering (Rik 10), the prayer to come with the thirty-three gods and ward off enemies (Rik 11), and a closing prayer for wealth with heroic descendants and victory in battle (Rik 12).

SŪKTA 35 (printed p. 131 = PDF 146)

॥ ॐ ॥ — Thirty-fifth Sūkta (Kannada title line: "mūvattaidaneya sūktavu")

Page 131 (PDF 146) — Sāyaṇa's introduction and the Kannada anuvāda

(The upper third of this leaf is the end of the grammar of Sūkta 34 Rik 12, already written above; the sūkta begins below the ornament.)

Sāyaṇa's introduction (printed in Kannada script; checked on 300/450-dpi crops of the better scan)

> ह्वयाम्यग्निमित्येकादशर्चं पञ्चमं सूक्तम् । हिरण्यस्तूप ऋषिः । आद्या नवमी च जगतीच्छन्दस्के । शिष्टास्त्रिष्टुभः । कृत्स्नस्य सूक्तस्य सविता देवता । आद्यायां ह्वयाम्यग्निमित्यस्यामग्निमित्रावरुणरात्रिसवित्राख्या लिङ्गोक्तदेवताः । तथा चानुक्रान्तम् । ह्वयाम्येकादश सावित्रं नवमी जगत्याद्या च लिङ्गोक्तदैवतपादाश्रय इति । अभिप्लवषडहस्य चतुर्थेऽहनि वैश्वदेवशस्त्र इदं सूक्तं सावित्रं निविद्धानम् । तृतीयस्य त्र्यर्यमेति खण्डे सूत्रितम् । ह्वयाम्यग्निमस्य मे द्यावापृथिवी इति तिस्रः । आ. ७-७ । इति ॥

hvayāmy agnim ity ekādaśarcaṃ pañcamaṃ sūktam | hiraṇyastūpa ṛṣiḥ | ādyā navamī ca jagatīchandaske | śiṣṭās triṣṭubhaḥ | kṛtsnasya sūktasya savitā devatā | ādyāyāṃ hvayāmy agnim ity asyām agnimitrāvaruṇarātrisavitrākhyā liṅgoktadevatāḥ | tathā cānukrāntam | hvayāmy ekādaśa sāvitraṃ navamī jagaty ādyā ca liṅgoktadaivatapādāśraya iti | abhiplavaṣaḍahasya caturthe 'hani vaiśvadevaśastra idaṃ sūktaṃ sāvitraṃ nividdhānam | tṛtīyasya tryaryameti khaṇḍe sūtritam | hvayāmy agnim asya me dyāvāpṛthivī iti tisraḥ | ā. 7-7 | iti ||

Translation: "Hvayāmy agnim is the fifth sūkta, of eleven ṛks. The ṛṣi is Hiraṇyastūpa. The first and the ninth are in Jagatī metre; the rest are Triṣṭup. Savitṛ is the deity of the whole sūkta; in the first ṛk, hvayāmy agnim, the deities named by the words themselves (liṅgokta) are Agni, Mitra-Varuṇa, Night and Savitṛ. So the Anukramaṇikā: 'hvayāmy — eleven; Savitṛ-addressed; the ninth and the first are Jagatī; [the first has] the deities stated by the pādas.' This sūkta, a Sāvitra [hymn], is used (nividdhānam, as printed) in the Vaiśvadeva śastra on the fourth day of the Ābhiplava Ṣaḍaha. It is laid down in the section beginning 'tṛtīyasya tryaryamā' [as read] — 'hvayāmy agnim, asya me dyāvāpṛthivī — three [ṛks]' (Āś. 7-7)."

Anuvāda (Kannada): "Hvayāmy agnim is the fifth sūkta in the seventh anuvāka. In it there are ten [as printed; the Sanskrit above and the heading on p. 132 say eleven] ṛks. The ṛṣi of this sūkta is Hiraṇyastūpa. Of the ṛks of this sūkta the first and the ninth are in the Jagatī metre; the remaining ṛks are in Triṣṭup. Savitṛ is the deity of the whole sūkta; in the first ṛk, those named in the ṛk — Agni, Mitrāvaruṇa, Rātri, and Savitṛ — are the deities. The Anukramaṇikā says 'hvayāmy ekādaśa sāvitraṃ navamī jagaty ādyā ca liṅgoktadaivatapādāśraya'. For the Vaiśvadeva-śastra mantras on the fourth day of the Ābhiplava-ṣaḍaha rite it is prescribed that this sūkta be recited; this is explained in the Āśvalāyana Śrauta-sūtra, in the section beginning 'tṛtīyasya tryaryamā', in the sūtra 'hvayāmy agnim asya me dyāvāpṛthivī (Ṛ. Saṃ. 2-32-1) iti tisraḥ' (Āś. 7-7)."

Page 132 (PDF 147) — heading of Sūkta 35 and Rik 35.1

॥ ॐ ॥

सूक्त — ३५ ॥ मण्डल — १ ॥ अनुवाक — ७ ॥ सूक्त — ३५ ॥ ॥ अष्टक — १ ॥ अध्याय — ३ ॥ वर्ग — ६, ७ ॥ ॥ सूक्तदम्लिरुव ऋक्संख्यै १—११ ॥ ॥ ऋषिः — हिरण्यस्तूप आङ्गिरसः ॥ ॥ देवता — १. अग्निर्मित्रावरुणौ रात्री सविता । २—११. सविता ॥ ॥ छन्दः — १—९, जगती । २—८, १०, ११ त्रिष्टुप् ॥

sūkta 35 | maṇḍala 1 | anuvāka 7 | aṣṭaka 1 | adhyāya 3 | varga 6, 7 | ṛks 1–11 | ṛṣi: Hiraṇyastūpa Āṅgirasa | devatā: 1. Agni, Mitra-Varuṇa, Rātrī, Savitṛ; 2–11. Savitṛ | chandas: "1–9" (as printed) Jagatī; 2–8, 10, 11 Triṣṭup.

Translation of the heading: "Sūkta 35; Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 7; Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 3, Varga 6, 7; ṛks in the sūkta: 1–11; Ṛṣi: Hiraṇyastūpa Āṅgirasa; Deity: for Rik 1 Agni, Mitra-Varuṇa, Night and Savitṛ, for Riks 2–11 Savitṛ; Metre: Jagatī for what is printed as '1–9' (an enlarged slice shows a dash or comma between the two numerals — the introduction on p. 131 says Riks 1 and 9), Triṣṭup for 2–8, 10, 11." (The heading is thus consistent with the introduction if the first group is read "1, 9".)

Rik 35.1

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 132; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented)

ह्वया᳖म्य॒ग्निं प्र᳖थ॒मं स्व॒स्तये॒ ह्वया᳖मि मि॒त्रावरु᳖णावि॒हाव᳖से । ह्वया᳖मि॒ रात्रीं॑ जग᳖तो नि॒वेश᳖नीं॒ ह्वया᳖मि दे॒वं स᳖वि॒तार᳖मू॒तये᳖ ॥ १ ॥

hváyāmy agníṃ prathamáṃ svastáye hváyāmi mitrāváruṇāv ihávase | hváyāmi rātrīṃ jágato nivéśanīṃ hváyāmi deváṃ savitāram ūtáye || 1 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 132)

ह्वयामि । अग्निम् । प्रथमम् । स्वस्तये । ह्वयामि । मित्रावरुणौ । इह । अवसे ॥ ह्वयामि । रात्रीम् । जगतः । निऽवेशनीम् । ह्वयामि । देवम् । सवितारम् । ऊतये ॥ १ ॥

hvayāmi | agnim | prathamam | svastaye | hvayāmi | mitrāvaruṇau | iha | avase || hvayāmi | rātrīm | jagataḥ | ni-veśanīm | hvayāmi | devam | savitāram | ūtaye || 1 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 133; the first half in full, the grammatical tail characterized)

स्वस्तयेऽस्माकमविनाशाय । स्वस्तीत्यविनाशनाम । नि. ३-२१ । इति यास्कः । प्रथममादावग्निं ह्वयामि । इहास्मिन्कर्मण्यवसेऽस्मद्रक्षणाय मित्रावरुणौ ह्वयामि । जगतो जङ्गमस्य प्राणिजातस्य निवेशनीमुपवेशनहेतुभूतां रात्रीं रात्रिदेवतां ह्वयामि । जङ्गमाः सर्वे प्राणिनो दिवसे स्वस्वव्यापारान्कृत्वा स्वस्वगृहे रात्रावुपविशन्तीति प्रसिद्धम् । ऊतयेऽस्मद्रक्षणार्थं सवितारं देवं ह्वयामि ॥

svastaye 'smākam avināśāya | svastīty avināśanāma | ni. 3-21 | iti yāskaḥ | prathamam ādāv agniṃ hvayāmi | ihāsmin karmaṇy avase 'smadrakṣaṇāya mitrāvaruṇau hvayāmi | jagato jaṅgamasya prāṇijātasya niveśanīm upaveśanahetubhūtāṃ rātriṃ rātridevatāṃ hvayāmi | jaṅgamāḥ sarve prāṇino divase svasvavyāpārān kṛtvā svasvagṛhe rātrāv upaviśantīti prasiddham | ūtaye 'smadrakṣaṇārthaṃ savitāraṃ devaṃ hvayāmi ||

Translation: "Svastaye — for our imperishableness, our welfare; 'svasti' is a word for 'imperishable' (Ni. 3-21), so Yāska. First, at the outset, I invoke Agni. Here, in this rite, for our protection I invoke Mitra and Varuṇa. Jagataḥ niveśanīm — the Night, the night-deity, who is the cause of settling down for the moving world, the whole class of living creatures — I invoke; it is well known that all moving creatures, having done their own works by day, settle down in their own homes at night. Ūtaye — for our protection I invoke the god Savitṛ."

Grammar within the bhāṣya (p. 133, characterized): mitrāvaruṇau (a dvandva of two divine names; devatādvandve ca (no number in the bhāṣya) — the substitute ānaṅ for the end of the first member; na lopaḥ prātipadikāntasya; and the same-named rule on the accent, devatādvandve ca, keeps the natural accent of both members); rātrīm (rātreś cājasoḥ — Pā. 4-1-31 — ṅīp, except before jas and as); niveśanīm (niviśante 'syām iti niveśanī; lyuṭ by karaṇādhikaraṇayoś ca; ṅīp by the ṭiḍḍhāṇañ... rule [Pā. 4-1-15]); ūtaye (root av, ktin; ū in place of v and the penultimate, by jvaratvarasrivyavimavām...; the ktin is acute by the rule ūtiyūtijūti... [as printed]).

Pratipadārtha (p. 133) — "prathamam — first; svastaye — so that we may not be destroyed (for our welfare); agnim — the deity Agni; hvayāmi — I call (praying); iha — in this sacrificial rite; avase — for our protection; mitrāvaruṇau — Mitra and Varuṇa; hvayāmi — I call; jagataḥ — for the moving world; niveśanīm — the giver of rest; rātrīm — the goddess of night; hvayāmi — I call; ūtaye — for protection; savitāraṃ devam — the Sun-god; hvayāmi — I call."

Bhāvārtha (p. 133) — "In this sacrifice I first invoke Agni, the guardian of our welfare, and then Mitra and Varuṇa, the protectors. For the keeping of our peace I invoke the goddess of night, who gives rest to the whole moving world; and for our protection I invoke the Sun-god, the protector of the world."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 133) — "I invoke Agni first for our welfare ; I invoke Mitra and Varuna in this sacrifice for protection ; I invoke Night whobr ings [sic] rest to the world ; I invoke the divine Savitri for my protection." (the print ends with a raised dot where a full stop is expected).

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 134 - "Although Savitṛ alone is the deity of this sūkta, in the first ṛk the deities Agni, Mitra-Varuṇa and Night are praised in the form of a preface, and then Savitṛ." - svastaye = svastyayanāya: "svasti is a name for the imperishable. Yāska explains: 'svastīty avināśanāma | avināśino 'rthasya nāma | astiḥ ayam abhipūjitaḥ supūrvaḥ san ucyate su-asti = svasti' (no Nirukta number printed here) — svasti is [su + asti], the word asti ('is') honoured by the prefix su; so it means what does not perish, what is auspicious, and so on." (Translation of the Nirukta sentence mine and tentative.) - mitrāvaruṇau — "Mitra and Varuṇa are connected with day and night. In the Taittirīya Brāhmaṇa it is said 'maitraṃ vā ahaḥ | vāruṇī rātriḥ' — Mitra is the form of the day, Varuṇa the form of the night." (The reference is not printed here.) - rātrīṃ jagato niveśanīm — "By day all living beings are engaged in their several works; at night they seek rest from their dealings and the like. Hence the meaning here is: the Night, who gives rest to the creatures that are in the world." - devaṃ savitāram — "devam means shining, glowing with radiance — bright, shining &c. [the print's English]; savitāram means Savitṛ, the Sun. Ordinarily the word deva stands with the word savitṛ as its adjective."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 134–, PDF 148–, grammar pages — noted briefly; begun, to continue on p. 135) - mitrāvaruṇau: mitraś ca varuṇaś ca, a dvandva; both words name deities; devatādvandve ca — देवताद्वन्द्वे च — (Pā. 6-3-25 as printed; for 6-3-26): in a dvandva of divine names a substitute is made in the end of the first member before the second; then nalopaḥ prātipadikāntasya — Pā. 8-2-7 — for the n; and devatādvandve ca — (Pā. 6-2-141): in a dvandva of divine names both members keep their natural accent, so the accent which each had before the compound stays. Mitra is masculine and, as a base, final-acute; varuṇa ends in the Uṇādi suffix unan (kṛvṛdāribhya unan — Uṇ. 3-53), which is nit, so by the nit rule the first syllable of varuṇa is acute. - rātrīm: root rā dāne [and śadḷ śātane]; the Uṇādi sūtra rāśadibhyāṃ triṣ — राशदिभ्यां त्रिष् — (Uṇ. 4-50[?]; the last digit 7 or 2, undecided) gives triṣ; the suffix is pit, so anudāttau suppitau; then rātreś cājasoḥ — (Pā. 4-1-31): ṅīp is not made before jas, as [na jasi ajasi, tasmin — the print analyses the compound ajasau thus]; here the i… (the page ends mid-sentence; it continues on p. 135).

Rik 35.1 — Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā, continued and concluded (p. 135, PDF 150; grammar page, noted briefly)

- rātrīm (concluded): in the Veda ṅīp comes after the word rātri even where the case is not jas [or as] — that ṅīp is itself anudātta; rātri + ī, the i of rātri is lost by yasyeti ca — यस्येति च — (no number printed), so rātrī is first-syllable acute; then am, with ami pūrvaḥ — अमि पूर्वः — (no number printed) giving pūrvarūpa; the single substitute standing in place of an unaccented vowel and an acute one takes the accent of the nearer, and by udāttād anudāttasya svaritaḥ — उदात्ताद् अनुदात्तस्य स्वरितः — (no number printed) the ī is svarita.
- niveśanīm: niviśante 'syām — "in which they settle"; karaṇādhikaraṇayoś ca — करणाधिकरणयोश्च — (Pā. 3-3-117): lyuṭ after a root in the sense of instrument or locus — here locus (adhikaraṇa = support); root viśa praveśane with ni; viś + yu; yuvor anākau — युवोरनाकौ — (Pā. 7-1-1) gives ana for yu; laghūpadha-guṇa; ni + veśana; lyuṭ is ṭit, so ṅīp by ṭiḍḍhāṇañdvayasajdaghnañmātrac… — टिड्ढाणञ्द्वयसज्दघ्नञ्मात्रच्तयप्ठक्ठञ्कञ्क्वरपः — (Pā. 4-1-15): after a base ending in a that has at its end any of the ṭit-suffixes etc. which is not subordinate, ṅīp appears when the feminine is meant; niveśan + ī, loss of a.
- ūtaye: root ava rakṣaṇe, ktin; jvaratvarasrivyavimavāmupadhāyāś ca — ज्वरत्वरस्रिव्यविमवामुपधायाश्च — (Pā. 6-4-20) gives ūṭh for the v and the penultimate; ūtiyūtijūti… — ऊतियूतिजूति… — (Pā. 3-3-97) makes ktin acute. The print then discusses ekaḥ pūrvaparayoḥ — एकः पूर्वपरयोः — (Pā. 6-1-84) with the vārtika "vyākaraṇe 'pi hy anyatra dvayoḥ sthāninor eka ādeśaḥ" and the Mahābhāṣya on jvaratvara… ("here, in the jvaratvara sūtra, one substitute stands in place of two substituends"), and the other view in the Bhāṣya ("इह तावत् ज्वरत्वरस्रिव्यविमवामुपधायाश्चेति । स्यान्द्वावूठौ नास्ति दोषः । सवर्णदीर्घत्वेन सिद्धम्" — iha tāvat jvaratvarasrivyavimavām upadhāyāś ceti | syān dvāv ūṭhau nāsti doṣaḥ | savarṇadīrghatvena siddham — "here, in jvaratvara…, there may be two ūṭh substitutes: no fault, it is achieved by the lengthening of like vowels") that there are two substitutes for the two substituends, made good by savarṇadīrgha. Rik 1 ends here (|| 1 ||).

Rik 35.2 (pp. 135–139, PDF 150–154)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 135; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented)

> आ कृष्णेन रजसा वर्तमानो निवेशयन्नमृतं मर्त्यं च । हिरण्ययेन सविता रथेना देवो याति भुवनानि पश्यन् ॥ २ ॥
>
> ā kṛṣṇena rájasā vártamāno niveśáyann amṛ́taṃ mártyaṃ ca | hiraṇyáyena savitā́ rathenā́ devó yāti bhúvanāni páśyan || 2 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 136)

> आ । कृष्णेन । रजसा । वर्तमानः । निऽवेशयन् । अमृतम् । मर्त्यम् । च ॥ हिरण्ययेन । सविता । रथेन । आ । देवः । याति । भुवनानि । पश्यन् ॥ २ ॥

ā | kṛṣṇena | rajasā | vartamānaḥ | ni-veśayan | amṛtam | martyam | ca || hiraṇyayena | savitā | rathena | ā | devaḥ | yāti | bhuvanāni | paśyan || 2 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 136; the first half in full, the grammatical tail characterized)

> सविता सूर्यः कृष्णेन रजसा कृष्णवर्णेन लोकेन । कृष्णं कृष्यतेर्निकृष्टो वर्णः । नि. २-२० । इति यास्कः । लोका रजांस्युच्यन्ते । नि. ४-१९ । इति च । अन्तरिक्षलोको हि सूर्यगमनात्पुरा कृष्णवर्णो भवति । तेनान्तरिक्षमार्गेण वर्तमानः पुनःपुनरागच्छन् अमृतं देवं मर्त्यं मनुष्यं च निवेशयन् स्वस्वस्थाने ऽवस्थापयन् । यद्वा । अमृतं मरणरहितं प्राणं मरणसहितं शरीरं च निवेशयन् । तथा चारण्यककाण्डे अमर्त्यो मर्त्येना सयोनिरित्येतस्य मन्त्रभागस्य व्याख्यानरूपे ब्राह्मणे यथोक्तोऽर्थोऽवगम्यते । मर्त्यानि हीमानि शरीराण्यमृतैषा देवता । ऐ. आ. २-१-८ । इति । यथोक्तगुणोपेतः सविता देवो भुवनानि सर्वान्लोकान्पश्यन् अवेक्षमाणः प्रकाशयन्नित्यर्थः । हिरण्ययेन सुवर्णनिर्मितेन रथेना याति । अस्मत्समीपमागच्छति ॥

savitā sūryaḥ kṛṣṇena rajasā kṛṣṇavarṇena lokena | kṛṣṇaṃ kṛṣyater nikṛṣṭo varṇaḥ | ni. 2-20 | iti yāskaḥ | lokā rajāṃsy ucyante | ni. 4-19 | iti ca | antarikṣaloko hi sūryagamanāt purā kṛṣṇavarṇo bhavati | tenāntarikṣamārgeṇa vartamānaḥ punaḥ punar āgacchan amṛtaṃ devaṃ martyaṃ manuṣyaṃ ca niveśayan svasvasthāne 'vasthāpayan | yadvā | amṛtaṃ maraṇarahitaṃ prāṇaṃ maraṇasahitaṃ śarīraṃ ca niveśayan | tathā cāraṇyakakāṇḍe amartyo martyenā sayonir ity etasya mantrabhāgasya vyākhyānarūpe brāhmaṇe yathokto 'rtho 'vagamyate | martyāni hīmāni śarīrāṇy amṛtaiṣā devatā | ai. ā. 2-1-8 | iti | yathoktaguṇopetaḥ savitā devo bhuvanāni sarvān lokān paśyan avekṣamāṇaḥ prakāśayann ity arthaḥ | hiraṇyayena suvarṇanirmitena rathenā yāti | asmatsamīpam āgacchati ||

Translation: "Savitṛ — Sūrya — kṛṣṇena rajasā, by the dark-coloured world: 'kṛṣṇa, from the root kṛṣ, is a base [lowly] colour' (Ni. 2-20), so Yāska; and 'the worlds are called rajāṃsi' (Ni. 4-19). For the mid-region, before the sun's going, is dark in colour. Moving through that path of the mid-region, coming again and again, niveśayan — establishing, each in its own place — amṛtam, the immortal god, and martyam, the mortal man. Or: establishing the deathless vital breath and the mortal body. And so in the Brāhmaṇa that explains the mantra portion 'amartyo martyenā sayoniḥ' in the Āraṇyaka section the meaning as stated is understood: 'These bodies are mortal; this deity is immortal' (Ai. Ā. 2-1-8). Savitṛ the god, endowed with the stated qualities, bhuvanāni paśyan — looking on, regarding all the worlds, i.e. illuminating them — hiraṇyayena, with a chariot made of gold, ā yāti — comes to our neighbourhood."

Grammar within the bhāṣya (p. 136, characterized): amṛtam (mṛtaṃ maraṇaṃ nāsty asya, a bahuvrīhi with nañ: jaramaramitramṛtāḥ — the later member [mṛta] takes the first-syllable acute); martyam (marte bhavam; bhave chandasi — yat; yato 'nāvaḥ — first syllable acute); hiraṇyayena (mayaṭ, with loss of the m by nipātana, under ṛtvyavāstvyavāstvamādhvīhiraṇyayāni chandasi [Pā. 6-4-175]; the suffix-accent after the loss of a by yasyeti ca); bhuvanāni (root bhū sattāyām; the Uṇādi sūtra bhūdhūsūbhrasjibhyaś chandasi [Uṇ. 2-80] — suffix kyun; ana for yu; uvaṅ; the first syllable is acute as nit).

Pratipadārtha (pp. 136–137) — "devaḥ — the shining; savitā — the deity Savitṛ; kṛṣṇena — [by that which is] full of darkness; rajasā — through the region of the sky (by the sky-path); ā vartamānaḥ — moving again and again; amṛtam — the deathless gods; martyam — and men who are subject to death; niveśayan — setting (in the place of their duties); hiraṇyayena — made of gold; rathena — in a chariot; [seated]; bhuvanāni — the various worlds; paśyan — looking at (illuminating); ā yāti — comes near to us."

Bhāvārtha (p. 137) — "Savitṛ, who gives light to all the worlds, moving again and again in the dark expanse of the sky, sets all the gods and men in the places of their duties. Seated in a chariot made of gold, he comes near us, looking upon the many worlds and making them bright."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 137) — "Travelling through dark space (firmament) arousing martals [sic] and immortals, the divine Savitri come [sic] in his golden chariot beholding the several worlds." (the print ends with a raised dot).

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 137 - "It is the custom to use this ṛk, at the time of the saṃdhyā prayer, as the mantra for offering the arghya addressed to the Sun. In the Taittirīya Saṃhitā the word satyena stands in place of kṛṣṇena." - kṛṣṇena rajasā = kṛṣṇavarṇena lokena: "before sunrise the darkness is spread everywhere. The Sun moves through the worlds [the mid-region and the rest] that are full of that darkness and drives the darkness away. Kṛṣṇena means 'covered with darkness'. Rajasā means 'by the path of the world' (Ni. 4-19)." - amṛtaṃ, martyam — "amṛta means the gods, who are free of death; martya means men, who are subject to death." - niveśayan — "causing the darkness of the night-time to depart, he sets the gods and the men to their own undertakings: such is the sense."

(The Special Topics of this ṛk and its grammar page continue on p. 138, to be viewed next.)

Rik 35.2 — Special Topics concluded and grammar (pp. 138–139, PDF 153–154; grammar page, noted briefly)

Special Topics, continued from p. 137 - hiraṇyayena = suvarṇanirmitena: "made of gold. It is a convention to describe the chariot of the Sun, or of Savitṛ, as golden: since at sunrise and at sunset the Sun is covered with shining reddish rays (like the colour of gold), the ṛṣis describe the Sun's chariot as golden."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (p. 138) - amṛtam: na vidyate mṛtaṃ yasya saḥ — "he who has no death"; this overrides bahuvrīhau prakṛtyā pūrvapadam (Pā. 6-2-1) by nañjor jaramaramitramṛtāḥ — नञ्जोर्जरमरमित्रमृताः — (Pā. 6-2-116): the words jara, mara, mitra, mṛta after nañ in a bahuvrīhi are first-syllable acute. - martyam: the Uṇādi sūtra hasimṛgṛṇvāmidamilūpūdhūrvibhyas tan — हसिमृग्रिण्वामिदमिलूपूधूर्विभ्यस्तन् — (Uṇ. 3-366): after the ten roots hase hasane, mṛṅ prāṇatyāge, gṝ nigaraṇe, iṇ gatau, vā gatigandhanayoḥ, amu gatyādiṣu, damu upaśame, lūñ chedane, pūñ pavane, dhurvī hiṃsāyām the suffix tan; titutratathasi… bars the iṭ; guṇa, raparatva: marta, "the earth-world"; tatra bhavo martyaḥ — "born there is martya"; the Tattvabodhinī says that digādibhyo yat — दिगादिभ्यो यत् — (Pā. 4-3-54) is applicable since digādi is an open list (ākṛtigaṇa); or, bhave chandasi — भवे छन्दसि — (Pā. 4-4-110) gives yat in the sense "born in" after a word in the seventh case; yato 'nāvaḥ — Pā. 6-1-213 — makes it first-syllable acute. - hiraṇyayena: ṛtvyavāstvyavāstvamādhvīhiraṇyayāni chandasi — ऋत्व्यवास्त्व्यवास्त्वमाध्वीहिरण्ययानि छन्दसि — (Pā. 6-4-175): after the word ṛtu in the sense of "born in it" the suffix yat and yaṇ-substitution are given by nipātana; after vāsu, yat and añ together, yaṇ; after madhu in the feminine, añ and yaṇ; and hiraṇyasya vikāraḥ, "the product of gold", takes mayaṭ — here the m of mayaṭ is lost by nipātana: hiraṇya + aya; the a of hiraṇya is lost by yasyeti ca (Pā. 6-4-148); aya is first-syllable acute by the suffix-accent (ādyudāttaś ca). The print adds that the Kaumudī-author states a loss of the word mas, i.e. the group m + a, in this view, so that hiraṇya + ya would arise and yasyeti ca would be expected; since the loss of m is asiddha, it must be handled by the maxim aṅgavṛtte punarvṛttāv avidhiḥ; the lengthening that would arise by akṛtsārvadhātukayor dīrghaḥ must also be handled; the Veda-bhāṣya, on the ṛk Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-7-2 (middle digit the flat-footed 7), follows the same method; ekādeśa udāttena… (no number printed) is cited to say that the single substitute is acute. - bhuvanāni: root bhū sattāyām; the Uṇādi sūtra bhūsūdhūbhrasjibhyaś chandasi — भूसूधूभ्रस्जिभ्यश्छन्दसि — (Uṇ. 2-239 as printed here; the bhāṣya cites 2-80) gives kyun after bhū sattāyām, ṣūṅ prāṇiprasave, dhūñ kampane, bhrasja pāke; the yu of the suffix stays and ana replaces it; aci śnudhātubhruvāṃ… — Pā. 6-4-77 — uvaṅ; the suffix is nit, so the first syllable is acute. Rik 2 ends here (|| 2 ||).

Rik 35.3 (pp. 139–142, PDF 154–157)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 139; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented)

> यातिं देवः प्रवता यात्युद्वता यातिं शुभ्राभ्यां यजतो हरिभ्यां । आ देवो यांति सविता परावतोऽप विश्वा दुरिता बाधमानः ॥ ३ ॥
>
> yāti devāḥ pravátā yāty udvátā yāti śubhrābhyāṃ yajató háribhyāṃ | ā devó yāti savitā parāváto 'pa víśvā duritā bādhamānaḥ || 3 ||

(As printed, the first half ends in हरिभ्यां with anusvara.)

Pada-pāṭha (pp. 139–140)

> याति । देवः । प्रऽवता । याति । उत्ऽवता । याति । शुभ्राभ्याम् । यजतः । हरिऽभ्याम् ॥ आ । देवः । याति । सविता । पराऽवतः । अप । विश्वा । दुःऽइता । बाधमानः ॥ ३ ॥

yāti | devaḥ | pra-vatā | yāti | ut-vatā | yāti | śubhrābhyām | yajataḥ | hari-bhyām || ā | devaḥ | yāti | savitā | parā-vataḥ | apa | viśvā | duḥ-itā | bādhamānaḥ || 3 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 140; the first half in full, the grammatical tail characterized)

> देवो दीप्यमानः सविता प्रवता प्रवणवता मार्गेण याति । गच्छति । तथोद्वतोत्कृष्टेनोर्ध्वदेशयुक्तेन मार्गेण याति । उदयानन्तरम् आ मध्याह्नमूर्ध्वो मार्गः । ततस्तत उपरि आ सायं प्रवणो मार्ग इति विवेकः । तथा यजतो यष्टव्यः स देवः शुभ्राभ्यां श्वेताभ्यां हरिभ्यामश्वाभ्यां याति । देवयजनदेशे गच्छति । सविता देवो विश्वा दुरिता सर्वाणि पापान्यप बाधमानो विनाशयन् परावतो दूरदेशात् । परावत इति दूरनामसु पठितत्वात् । तादृशाद्द्युलोकादायाति । यागदेश आगच्छति ॥

devo dīpyamānaḥ savitā pravatā pravaṇavatā mārgeṇa yāti | gacchati | tathodvatotkṛṣṭenordhvadeśayuktena mārgeṇa yāti | udayānantaram ā madhyāhnam ūrdhvo mārgaḥ | tatas tata upari ā sāyaṃ pravaṇo mārga iti vivekaḥ | tathā yajato yaṣṭavyaḥ sa devaḥ śubhrābhyāṃ śvetābhyāṃ haribhyām aśvābhyāṃ yāti | devayajanadeśe gacchati | savitā devo viśvā duritā sarvāṇi pāpāny apa bādhamāno vināśayan parāvato dūradeśāt | parāvata iti dūranāmasu paṭhitatvāt | tādṛśād dyulokād āyāti | yāgadeśa āgacchati ||

Translation: "The shining god Savitṛ goes (yāti) by pravatā, a path with a slope [downward]; likewise he goes by udvatā, a path that is raised, with an upward region. After the rising, up to midday, the path is upward; thence on, up to evening, the path is a downward slope: that is the distinction. And yajataḥ — he who is to be worshipped — that god goes with śubhrābhyāṃ haribhyām, two white horses; he goes to the place of the sacrifice to the gods. Savitṛ the god, viśvā duritā apa bādhamānaḥ — warding off, destroying all sins — parāvataḥ, from a distant place (parāvataḥ being read in the lists of names for 'far') — comes from such a heaven: he comes to the place of the rite."

Grammar within the bhāṣya (p. 140, characterized): pravatā (root vana ṣaṇa sambhaktau; asmāt prapūrvāt kvip — kvip after it with pra; the nasal dropped by the vārtika gamādīnām iti vaktavyam [Pā. 6-4-40-1], then tuk — tatas tuk; the accent of the later member of a kṛt-compound); udvatā ("with ut before the root vana, the same process"); yajataḥ (bhṛmṛdṛśi… [Uṇ. 3-110]; yajateḥ karmaṇi atac); viśvā duritā (in both words the śi is lost by śeś chandasi bahulam).

Pratipadārtha (p. 140) — "devaḥ — the shining Savitṛ; udvatā — by the path that goes upward (from sunrise up to midday); pravatā — by the path that goes downward (from midday up to evening); yāti — goes (moves about); yāti — moves; yajataḥ — he who is worthy of worship; śubhrābhyām — with two bright; haribhyām — horses; yāti — moves; devaḥ — the shining; savitā — Savitṛ; viśvā — all; duritā — sins; apa bādhamānaḥ — destroying; parāvataḥ — from a distant place; ā yāti — comes (graciously to this sacrificial ground)."

Bhāvārtha (pp. 140–141) — "The shining Savitṛ's movement is by an upward way from sunrise to midday, and by a downward way from midday to evening. Everywhere he moves, mounted on a chariot drawn by two bright horses. Worthy of worship, he comes to this sacrificial ground from afar, destroying all sins."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 141) — "The divine Savitri travels by an upward path ; then he travels by a downward path ; deserving worship he journeys with two white horses ; he comes hither from a distance removing all sins (of true worshippers)" (no full stop in the print).

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 141 - “When the Sun rises, he rises in the east in the lower part of the mid-region; then, towards midday, he comes to the middle of the mid-region — a high place; and then, as evening approaches, descending downward, he sets in the west. This very matter is stated in this ṛk.” - pravatā = prakarṣeṇa gacchatā: “going swiftly; by the lower [downward] path.” - udvatā = ūrdhvadeśayuktena mārgeṇa: “by an upward path.” - śubhrābhyāṃ haribhyām: “with two clear or bright horses; that is, [Savitṛ is] seated in a chariot to which two bright horses are yoked.” - parāvataḥ — “from afar.” - viśvā duritā bādhamānaḥ — “driving off all troubles or sins.”

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (p. 141, PDF 155 — grammar page, noted briefly; begun, to continue on p. 142) - pravatā: the root vana ṣaṇa sambhaktau is read in the Dhātupāṭha; gamaḥ kvau — गमः क्वौ — (Pā. 6-4-40): the nasal of gam is lost before kvip; the vārtika gamādīnām iti vaktavyam — “[it must be said that] this is for the gamādi [roots]” — so that the rule for the nasal of gam alone is not enough, and the loss of the nasal before kvip must be taught for many other roots; the verse “uktānuktadurūktānāṃ cintā vārttikaṃ matam” — “a vārtika is held to be the consideration of what is said, not said, or ill said” — is cited for the vārtika’s character; then for van + kvip the n is lost by this vārtika; hrasvasya piti kṛti tuk — ह्रस्वस्य पिति कृति तुक् — (Pā. 6-4-71 as printed; for 6-1-71): after the p of kvip is it, a kṛt that is pit … (the page breaks off here and continues on p. 142).

Rik 35.3 — Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā, concluded (p. 142, PDF 157; grammar page, noted briefly)

- pravatā (concluded): after the tuk the form is pravat; the preverb pra + the third-case singular ṭā; in pravat the va is acute by the root’s accent; once the compound with the preverb is made, gatikārakopapadāt kṛt — गतिकारकोपपदात्कृत् — (Pā. 6-2-139) lets the accent of the later member, the kṛdanta, stand.
- udvatā: “here the preverb ut stands in place of pra; the rest of the process is as before.”
- yajataḥ: root yaja devapūjāyām; bhṛmṛdṛśiyajiparvipacyamitaminādayibhyo ’tac — भृमृदृशियजिपर्विपच्यमितमिनमिदयिभ्योऽतच् — (Uṇ. 3-390 as printed here; the bhāṣya cites 3-110): atac after yaj: yajata.
- viśvā duritā: viśvāni duritāni, second-case plural; the śi from jaśśasoḥ śiḥ is dropped by śeś chandasi bahulam — (Pā. 6-1-70); by the sarvanāmasthāna status the augment num had come and the lengthening of the penultimate; after the luk the n is lost. Rik 3 ends here (|| 3 ||).

Rik 35.4 (pp. 142–146, PDF 157–161)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 142; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented)

अभीवृ॑तं कृशनै॑र्विश्वरू॑पं हिर॑ण्यशम्यं यज॒तो बृ॒हन्त॑ं । आस्था॒द्रथं॑ सवि॒ता चि॒त्रभा॑नुः कृ॒ष्णा रजां॑सि॒ तवि॑षीं दधा॑नः ॥ ४ ॥

abhīvṛtaṃ kṛśanair viśvárūpaṃ híraṇyaśamyaṃ yajató bṛhántaṃ | āsthād ráthaṃ savitā citrábhānuḥ kṛṣṇā rájāṃsi táviṣīṃ dádhānaḥ || 4 ||

(As printed, the first half ends in बृहन्तं with anusvara.)

Pada-pāṭha (pp. 142–143)

> अभिऽवृतम् । कृशनैः । विश्वऽरूपम् । हिरण्यऽशम्यम् । यजतः । बृहन्तम् ॥ आ । अस्थात् । रथम् । सविता । चित्रऽभानुः । कृष्णा । रजांसि । तविषीम् । दधानः ॥ ४ ॥

abhi-vṛtam | kṛśanaiḥ | viśva-rūpam | hiraṇya-śamyam | yajataḥ | bṛhantam || ā | asthāt | ratham | savitā | citra-bhānuḥ | kṛṣṇā | rajāṃsi | taviṣīm | dadhānaḥ || 4 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 143; the first half in full, the grammatical tail characterized)

> सविता रथमास्थात् । आस्थितवान् । आरूढवानित्यर्थः । कीदृशम् । अभीवृतम् अभितो वर्तमानम् । तथा कृशनैर्विश्वरूपं सुवर्णेन नानारूपम् । कृशनं लोहमिति सुवर्णनामसु पाठात् । क्वचित्सुवर्णनिर्मितगजपङ्क्तिः क्वचिदश्वपङ्क्तिः क्वचिन्मनुष्यपङ्क्तिरित्येवं बहुरूपत्वम् । हिरण्यशम्यम् अश्वानां स्कन्धेषु रथयोजनवेलायां नियन्तुं प्रक्षेप्यमाणाः शङ्कवः शम्याः । ताः सुवर्णमय्यो रथे वर्तन्ते । बृहन्तं प्रौढम् । कीदृशः सविता । यजतो यष्टव्यः । चित्रभानुर्विविधरश्मियुक्तः कृष्णा रजांसि अन्धकारयुक्ततया कृष्णवर्णान् लोकानुद्दिश्य तमोनिवारणार्थं तविषीं बलं स्वकीयं प्रकाशरूपं दधानः ॥

savitā ratham āsthāt | āsthitavān | ārūḍhavān ity arthaḥ | kīdṛśam | abhīvṛtam abhito vartamānam | tathā kṛśanair viśvarūpaṃ suvarṇena nānārūpam | kṛśanaṃ loham iti suvarṇanāmasu pāṭhāt | kvacit suvarṇanirmitagajapaṅktiḥ kvacid aśvapaṅktiḥ kvacin manuṣyapaṅktir ity evaṃ bahurūpatvam | hiraṇyaśamyam aśvānāṃ skandheṣu rathayojanavelāyāṃ niyantuṃ prakṣepyamāṇāḥ śaṅkavaḥ śamyāḥ | tāḥ suvarṇamayyo rathe vartante | bṛhantaṃ prauḍham | kīdṛśaḥ savitā | yajato yaṣṭavyaḥ | citrabhānur vividharaśmiyuktaḥ kṛṣṇā rajāṃsi andhakārayuktatayā kṛṣṇavarṇān lokān uddiśya tamonivāraṇārthaṃ taviṣīṃ balaṃ svakīyaṃ prakāśarūpaṃ dadhānaḥ ||

Translation: “Savitṛ ratham āsthāt — has mounted the chariot. What sort? Abhīvṛtam — encircled all round; and kṛśanair viśvarūpam — many-formed with gold (‘kṛśana’ = iron/metal, being read among the names of gold): in places a row of elephants made of gold, in places a row of horses, in places a row of men — thus the many forms. Hiraṇyaśamyam — the pegs (śaṅku) that are thrust on the shoulders of the horses, at the time of yoking the chariot, to restrain them, are śamyāḥ; those, made of gold, are in the chariot. Bṛhantam — large, grand. What sort of Savitṛ? Yajataḥ — worthy of worship; citrabhānuḥ — with rays of many kinds; kṛṣṇā rajāṃsi — [looking] to the worlds which are dark-coloured through being full of darkness; taviṣīm — his own strength in the form of light, dadhānaḥ — bearing, for the removal of that darkness.”

Grammar within the bhāṣya (p. 143, characterized): abhīvṛtam (abhito vartata ity abhīvṛt; root vṛtu vartane; kvip; the lengthening of the first member by nahivṛtivṛṣivyadhi… [Pā. 6-3-116]); viśvarūpam (viśvāni rūpāṇi yasyāsau; bahuvrīhau viśvaṃ saṃjñāyām — the first-member final-acute here, by vyatyaya, even without a name); hiraṇyaśamyam (haryate gatikāntyoḥ — haryateḥ kanyan hira ca [Uṇ. 5-44]: the suffix kanyan and the substitution hiran for the root; initial-acute by the nit accent; first-member accent of a bahuvrīhi); āsthāt (root ṣṭhā, luṅ, sic dropped by gātisthāghupābhūbhyaḥ sicaḥ parasmaipadeṣu); kṛṣṇā (root kṛṣ in the sense of colour; the Uṇādi sūtra kṛṣer varṇe [Uṇ. 3-4] — the suffix nak; śi dropped by śeś chandasi bahulam); taviṣīm (the root tavati from the sautra list; the Uṇādi suffix iṣac [tavater ṇid vā, Uṇ. 1-49], ṭit, so ṅīp; first-syllable accent by vyatyaya, to be seen as of the vṛṣādi class); dadhānaḥ (śānac; abhyastānām ādiḥ — first-syllable acute).

Pratipadārtha (p. 143) — "yajataḥ — worthy of worship; citrabhānuḥ — endowed with rays of many colours; savitā — Savitṛ; kṛṣṇā rajāṃsi — the worlds filled with darkness (in order to destroy their darkness); taviṣīm — his own strength in the form of light; dadhānaḥ — bearing; abhīvṛtam — surrounded; kṛśanaiḥ viśvarūpam — of many forms, with pictures of elephants and others made of gold; hiraṇyaśamyam — having golden pegs (and [thereby] beautiful); bṛhantam — large; ratham — the chariot; āsthāt — has mounted."

Bhāvārtha (p. 144) — "The Savitṛ-deity, worthy of worship, shining with rays of many colours and destroying the darkness of the dark worlds by his own splendour, has mounted his chariot: a lofty chariot, with a golden pole and pegs for yoking the horses, made of gold and the like, and adorned with all sorts of pictures."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 144) — "The adorable Savitri of beautiful splendour having power to disperse darkness from the world has mounted his chariot decorated with many kinds of golden ornaments and furnished with great golden yokes." (the print ends with a raised dot where a full stop is expected).

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 144 - "In this ṛk the ṛṣi describes the chariot of the Sun. The Sun's chariot has golden [front beams — the Kannada word is mūkīmara, as printed]; and the chariot has been made with all kinds of golden ornaments, so that it is delightful with the many pictures all round it — rows of elephants, rows of horses and the like, made of gold. The Savitṛ has mounted such a shining chariot." - abhīvṛtaṃ kṛśanaiḥ viśvarūpam — "encircled all round with ornaments made of gold and the other metals, and furnished with pictures of many kinds, and so on." - hiraṇyaśamyam = aśvānāṃ skandheṣu rathayojanavelāyāṃ niyantuṃ prakṣepyamāṇāḥ śaṅkavaḥ śamyāḥ | suvarṇamayyo rathe vartante: "a chariot furnished with golden [front-beams] meant for yoking horses" [the Kannada gloss, as printed; the śamyā is the yoke-pin of the bhāṣya's own explanation]. - citrabhānuḥ = atiprakāśayuktaḥ — "possessing great brightness, of beautiful spendour [the print's English, sic]." - kṛṣṇā rajāṃsi — "worlds with darkness. Before the Sun rises, all the worlds are full of darkness; the Sun rises and lights the worlds with brightness." - taviṣīṃ dadhānaḥ — "making brightness by his own power."

Rik 35.4 — Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 145–146, PDF 160–161; grammar pages, noted briefly)

Numerals zoom-checked against the better scan.

- abhīvṛtam (p. 145): abhito vartate = abhīvṛt; root vṛtu vartane after the preverb abhi; kvip ca (no number printed) gives kvip, and the augment tuk would yield vṛt; nahivṛtivṛṣivyadhirucisahitanisu kvau — नहिवृतिवृषिव्यधिरुचिसहितनिषु क्वौ — (Pā. 6-3-116): before roots ending in kvip, the first member is lengthened: abhi → abhī.
- viśvarūpam: viśvāni rūpāṇi yasya saḥ — "a chariot having many kinds of forms"; bahuvrīhau viśvaṃ saṃjñāyām — बहुव्रीहौ विश्वं संज्ञायाम् — (Pā. 6-2-106): when a name is shown, the first member viśva is final-acute; "although no name is shown here, being Vedic this rule operates by vyatyaya even without one".

- hiraṇyaśamyam: root haryate gatikāntyoḥ; haryateḥ kanyan hirac — हर्यतेः कन्यन् हिरच् — (Uṇ. 5-722 as printed here — the first digit after the hyphen a flat-footed 7; the bhāṣya cites 5-44): kanyan after the root harya, with hir substituted for the root; the c is it and lost, the a is only for pronunciation; in the suffix k and n are it, leaving ya: hir + ya = hiraṇya; aṭkupvāṅ… (no number printed) turns n into ṇ; by the nit accent it is first-syllable acute; śamyāḥ are pegs for yoking horses; hiraṇyāḥ śamyā yasmin saḥ, a bahuvrīhi, first-member accent.
- āsthāt: root ṣṭhā gatinivṛttau, ṣ → s; luṅ, tip, loss of the i, cli, sic, aṭ: ā-asthā + s + t; gātisthāghupābhūbhyaḥ sicaḥ parasmaipadeṣu — गातिस्थाघुपाभूभ्यः सिचः परस्मैपदेषु — (Pā. 2-4-77): luk for sic after these; "by gā is meant the gā substituted for iṇ by iṇo gā luṅi — इणो गा लुङि — (Pā. 2-4-45), and by pā the root pā pāne"; hence luk of sic; aṭ; the preverb ā.
- kṛṣṇā: kṛṣer varṇe — कृषेर्वर्णे — (Uṇ. 3-284 as printed here; the bhāṣya cites 3-4): when colour is meant, nak after kṛṣ; kṛṣ + na; raṣābhyāṃ no ṇaḥ samānapade — रषाभ्यां नो णः समानपदे — (Pā. 8-4-1): n → ṇ; the word is neuter; śas → śi; śeś chandasi bahulam — (Pā. 6-1-70): luk of the śi; the augment num, the lengthening of the penultimate and the loss of n occur.
- taviṣīm: the root tava is established by usage, not in the sūtra-list; tavater ṇid vā — तवतेर्णिद्वा — (Uṇ. 1-48 as printed here; the bhāṣya cites 1-49): after tav the suffix ṭiṣac; tav + iṣa; the suffix is ṭit, so ṅīp by ṭiḍḍhāṇañdvayasaj… (Pā. 4-1-15); as a cit suffix it should be final-acute by citaḥ saprakṛter bahvakajartham — चितः सप्रकृतेर्बह्वकजर्थम् — (Pā. 6-1-163), "properly"; but placing the word in the vṛṣādi group, vṛṣādīnāṃ ca — वृषादीनां च — (Pā. 6-1-203), it is first-syllable acute.
- dadhānaḥ (p. 146): root ḍudhāñ dhāraṇapoṣaṇayoḥ, laṭ; laṭaḥ śatṛśānacau, śānac; juhotyādibhyaḥ śluḥ — जुहोत्यादिभ्यः श्लुः — (Pā. 2-4-75) ślu for śap; ślau — श्लौ — (Pā. 6-1-10) doubling: dhā-dhā-āna; hrasvaḥ — ह्रस्वः — (Pā. 7-4-59) shortens the reduplicate; abhyāse carca — अभ्यासे चर्च — (Pā. 8-4-54): in the reduplicate jhal → car and jaś, so dh → d by similarity of place; ubhe abhyastam — उभे अभ्यस्तम् — (Pā. 6-1-5): both [the repeated parts] are called abhyasta; abhyastānām ādiḥ — (Pā. 6-1-189) — first-syllable acute. Rik 4 ends here (// 4 //).

Rik 35.5 (pp. 146–150, PDF 161–165)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 146; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented)

> वि जनाञ्छ्यावाः शितिपादो अख्यन्रथं हिरण्यप्रउगं वहन्तः । शश्वद्विशः सवितुर्दैव्यस्योपस्थे विश्वा भुवनानि तस्थुः ॥ ५ ॥ [accent ?]
>
> vi jánāñ chyāvāḥ śitipādo akhyan ráthaṃ hiraṇyaprauugaṃ váhantaḥ | śaśvad víśaḥ savitúr daívyasyopasthe víśvā bhúvanāni tasthuḥ // 5 // [accent ?]

([accent ?]: under ಶ್ಚುಃ a small dash may be an underline or part of the subscript letter; left unmarked.)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 146)

वि । जनान् । श्यावाः । शितिऽपादः । अख्यन् । रथम् । हिरण्यऽप्रउगम् । वहन्तः ॥ शश्वत् । विशः । सवितुः । दैव्यस्य । उपऽस्थे । विश्वा । भुवनानि । तस्थुः ॥ ५ ॥

vi | janān | śyāvāḥ | śiti-pādaḥ | akhyan | ratham | hiraṇya-prauugam | vahantaḥ || śaśvat | viśaḥ | savituḥ | daivyasya | upa-sthe | viśvā | bhuvanāni | tasthuḥ || 5 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 147; the first half in full, the grammatical tail characterized)

श्यावा एतन्नामकाः सूर्यस्याश्वाः । श्यावाः सवितुरिति निघण्टावुक्तत्वात् । ते च शितिपादः श्वेतैः पादैरुपेता हिरण्यप्रउगं रथस्य मुखमीषयोरग्रं युगबन्धनस्थानं प्रउगमित्युच्यते । तच्चात्र सुवर्णमयम् । तद्युक्तं रथं वहन्तो जनान्प्राणिनो व्यख्यन् । विशेषेण प्रकाशितवन्त इत्यर्थः । शश्वत् सर्वदा विशः प्रजा दैव्यस्येतरदेवसम्बन्धिनः सवितुः प्रेरकस्य सूर्यस्योपस्थे समीपस्थाने तस्थुः । स्थितवत्यः । न केवलं प्रजाः किं तर्हि विश्वा भुवनानि सर्वे च लोकाः प्रकाशाय सूर्यसमीपे तस्थुः ॥

śyāvā etannāmakāḥ sūryasyāśvāḥ | śyāvāḥ savitur iti nighaṇṭāv uktatvāt | te ca śitipādaḥ śvetaiḥ pādair upetā hiraṇyaprauugaṃ rathasya mukham īṣayor agraṃ yugabandhanasthānaṃ prauugam ity ucyate | tac cātra suvarṇamayam | tadyuktaṃ rathaṃ vahanto janān prāṇino vyakhyan | viśeṣeṇa prakāśitavanta ity arthaḥ | śaśvat sarvadā viśaḥ prajā daivyasyetaradevasambandhinaḥ savituḥ prerakasya sūryasyopasthe samīpasthāne tasthuḥ | sthitavatyaḥ | na kevalaṃ prajāḥ kiṃ tarhi viśvā bhuvanāni sarve ca lokāḥ prakāśāya sūryasamīpe tasthuḥ ||

Translation: "Śyāvāḥ — the horses of Sūrya who bear this name ('śyāvāḥ savituḥ' being so stated in the Nighaṇṭu). They, śitipādaḥ — furnished with white feet — bearing a chariot with a hiraṇyaprauuga, a golden front-yoke (the front of the chariot, the tip of the two shafts, the place for fastening the yoke is called prauuga; here it is made of gold) — janān — the creatures — vi akhyan — brightened especially. Śaśvat, always, viśaḥ — the people — [being] those of Savitṛ, the daivya, belonging to the other gods, the impeller Sūrya — upasthe, in his lap, in a near place — tasthuḥ, stood. Not only the people: viśvā bhuvanāni, all the worlds, too, stood near the Sun for light."

Grammar within the bhāṣya (p. 147, characterized): śitipādaḥ (śitayaḥ śvetavarṇāḥ pādā yeṣām te; supāṃ sulug… — jas → su; or śitiḥ "white as crystal", sa iva pādo yeṣām; pādasya lopo 'hastyādibhyaḥ — पादस्य लोपोऽहस्त्यादिभ्यः — (Pā. 5-4-138): the final of the pāda at the end of such a compound is lost, since upamānāt is carried on there; pāda is first-syllable acute as of the vṛṣādi group; śiter nityābahvajbahuvrīhāv abhasat — (Pā. 6-2-138) the later member keeps its natural accent); akhyan (root khyā, luṅ, cli → aṅ by the rule asyativaktikhyātibhyo 'ṅ); hiraṇyaprauugam (a bahuvrīhi, first-member accent); vahantaḥ (śap is pit so unaccented; śatṛ and the lasārvadhātuka accent keep the root's); daivyasya (tasyedam — devād yañañau — (Pā. 4-1-85), yañ after deva by prāgdīvyatīya; vṛddhi by taddhiteṣv acām ādeḥ; first-syllable acute by ñnityādir nityam); upasthe (ātaś copasarge kaḥ; the ā lost by ātolopa iṭi ca; first-member final accent as of marudvṛdhādi).

Pratipadārtha (p. 147) — "śitipādaḥ — with white-coloured feet; śyāvāḥ — the horses of Savitṛ named Śyāva; hiraṇyaprauugam — with a golden [front part, the Kannada mūkī]; ratham — the chariot; vahantaḥ — carrying; janān — beings; vi akhyan — have lit up well; śaśvat — always; viśaḥ — the people (and); viśvā bhuvanāni — all the worlds also;

daivyasya — belonging to the other gods; savituḥ — of Savitṛ, the impeller of the world; upasthe — near; tasthuḥ — have stood."

Bhāvārtha (p. 147) — "The horses of the Sun, named Śyāva, carry the chariot with the golden [front-yoke]. With their radiance they light up the whole world of beings. The people and the rest, and all the worlds as well, have stood near the shining Savitṛ, the impeller of the world."

(The source's English translation, the Special Topics and the grammar of Rik 5 follow on p. 148 and later pages, to be viewed next.)

Rik 35.5 (continued) — English, Special Topics and grammar (pp. 148–150, PDF 163–165)

English Translation (the source's own, p. 148) — "Savitri' s horses with white legs harnessed to his chariot with a golden yoke have manifested light to mankind for all people and all the worlds are ever in the presence of the divine Savitri." (Printed so, with "Savitri' s" and "harnessed .to" [sic] spacing.)

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 148 - śyāvāḥ — "the horses of the Sun are named śyāvāśva. Although śyāva means a horse of dark colour, in the third ṛk of this sūkta [it is a slip for the fifth] the Sun's horses are said to be of a shining white-footed colour; since here śitipādaḥ — 'white feet' (with white legs, the print's English) — is stated, the colour of the horses must be śyāma, brown [the print's English]." - hiraṇyaprauugam = rathasya mukhamīṣayor agraṃ yugabandhanasthānaṃ prauugam ity ucyate: "prauuga means the place at the front of the chariot where the [front beam] joins the chariot; the root part of the [front beam]. It will be golden. This word is used in mantras such as the Taittirīya Saṃhitā 5-4-11-1-2 (as printed), the Śatapatha Brāhmaṇa 1-1-2-9; 3-5-3-4. Pra-uga is apparently equivalent to prayuga, denoting the fore part of the pole of the cart, the part in front of the yoke [the print's English]." - śitipādaḥ = śitayaḥ śvetavarṇāḥ pādā yeṣāṃ te śitipādāḥ: "those with white legs." - daivyasya = itaradevasambandhinaḥ savituḥ, prerakasya sūryasya: "[Savitṛ] who is related to the other gods, or the Sun who impels the other gods — so the bhāṣyakāra says. But the meaning divi sambandhino daivyaḥ — 'what belongs to heaven, i.e. is in heaven (in the mid-region)' — fits well."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 148–150, PDF 163–165 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - śitipādaḥ (p. 148–149): śitiḥ = white; śitayaḥ = white; pādāḥ = feet; yeṣāṃ te — a bahuvrīhi; "if so analysed, the form śitipādāḥ is regular"; here supāṃ sulug… gives su for jas, so that śitipādaḥ in the plural has the same form as in the singular — "this is one way"; another way is by saptamyupamānapūrvapadasya … vācyo vā cottarapadalopaḥ (as printed) — a bahuvrīhi in which the second member is dropped: śitipāda iva pādo yeṣāṃ te, "those whose feet are like crystal-feet" — [the bhāṣya says śitiḥ śvetavarṇaḥ sphāṭikādiḥ sa iva pādo yeṣāṃ te] — and pādasya lopo 'hastyādibhyaḥ — पादस्य लोपोऽहस्त्यादिभ्यः — (Pā. 5-4-38 as printed; for 5-4-138): the a of the word pāda at the end of a compound is lost after a word in the sense of the comparison, other than hastin and the like; hence śitipād, and jas after it; vṛṣādīnāṃ ca — (Pā. 6-1-203): pāda is first-syllable acute; śiter nityābahvajbahuvrīhāv abhasat — शितेर्नित्याबह्वज्बहुव्रीहावभसत् — (Pā. 6-2-138): in a bahuvrīhi after śiti, the later member — one that always has more than two vowels [as the print explains] and is other than the word bhasat

— keeps its natural accent. - akhyan (p. 149): root khyā prakathane, luṅ; cli; asyativaktikhyātibhyo 'ṅ — अस्यतिवक्तिख्यातिभ्योऽङ् — (Pā. 3-1-52): aṅ for cli; the augment aṭ; jhi → ant: a-khyā + a + anti; ato lopa iṭi ca — (Pā. 6-4-64) drops the ā; itaś ca — (Pā. 3-4-100) the i of the ending; the loss of the final t [conjunct-final loss, saṃyogāntalopa]. - hiraṇyaprauugam: hiraṇyam = golden, prauugam = the place where the pole is fastened, yasya saḥ — a bahuvrīhi; haryateḥ kanyan hirac — (Uṇ. 5-722 as printed, as on p. 145) gives hiraṇya; by nit the accent is first-syllable; the bahuvrīhi then keeps the first-member accent: that same accent remains. - daivyasya (p. 149): after the root div, the pacādi-suffix ac, giving deva; devād yañañau — देवाद्यञञौ — (Pā. 4-1-85-3, as printed; a vārtika): after deva in the sixth case, in the prāgdīvyatīya senses, the suffixes yañ and añ; in the Aṣṭādhyāyī the meanings from prāgdīvyatoṇ — प्राग्दीव्यतोऽण् — (Pā. 4-1-83) up to tena dīvyati khanati jayati jitam — तेन दीव्यति खनति जयति जितम् — (Pā. 4-4-2) are called prāgdīvyatīya. Tasyedam — तस्येदम् — (Pā. 4-3-120) is one of those; here yañ is added; deva + jas, yañ, being a taddhitānta it has the name prātipadika and the sup is lost by luk; devasyedam; taddhiteṣv acām ādeḥ — तद्धितेष्वचामादेः — (Pā. 7-2-117): vṛddhi of the first vowel before a ñit/ṇit taddhita, so e → ai; yasyeti ca drops the a of deva [as the print says]: daivya; the sixth case daivyasya; ñnityādir nityam gives the first-syllable acute. - upasthe (p. 150): ātaś copasarge kaḥ — आतश्चोपसर्गे कः — (Pā. 3-1-136): after a root ending in ā, with a preverb as upapada, the suffix ka; "in the sūtra supi sthaḥ the Śekhara says: idaṃ kevalopasargeṇa ātaś copasarga ity eva siddhe karmaṇy upapade 'pi na, āto 'nupa — ity ārambhāt — this [rule] is not for the case with a preverb alone, since that is already achieved by ātaś copasarge, nor for an object as upapada, because āto 'nupasarge… is begun" ("so it is said"; hence supi sthaḥ does not apply where only a preverb is present); upa + sthā + a; ato lopa iṭi ca — (Pā. 6-4-64): the ā is lost before a kit/ñit ārdhadhātuka suffix beginning with a vowel and before iṭ. Rik 5 ends here (|| 5 ||).

Rik 35.6 (pp. 150–154, PDF 165–169)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 150; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented)

> तिस्रो द्यावः सवितुर्द्वा उपस्थाँ एका यमस्य भुवने विराषाट् । आणिं न रथ्यमृताधि तस्थुरिह ब्रवीतु य उ तच्चिकेतत् ॥ ६ ॥
>
> tisró dyávaḥ savitúr dvā upásthām̐ ékā yamásya bhúvane virāṣā́ṭ | āṇíṃ na ráthyam amṛ́tādhi tasthur ihá bravītu yá u tác cíketat || 6 ||

(Reading note, written after viewing the Pada: the Saṃhitā prints the nasalised "-ām̐" in "upasthām̐"; the Pada's upa-sthā* shows the base, the nasalisation being the Vedic rule noted in the grammar below. The last word is printed "cikētat" in the Saṃhitā and Pada alike.)*

Pada-pāṭha (p. 150)

> तिस्रः । द्यावः । सवितुः । द्वा । उपऽस्था । एका । यमस्य । भुवने । विराषाट् ॥ आणिम् । न । रथ्यम् । अमृता । अधि । तस्थुः । इह । ब्रवीतु । यः । ऊं इति । तत् । चिकेतत् ॥ ६ ॥

tisraḥ | dyāvaḥ | savituḥ | dvā | upa-sthā | ekā | yamasya | bhuvane | virāṣāṭ || āṇim | na | rathyam | amṛtā | adhi | tasthuḥ | iha | bravītu | yaḥ | ūṃ iti | tat | cikētat || 6 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (pp. 150–151; the first half in full, the grammatical tail characterized)

द्यावः स्वर्गोपलक्षिताः प्रकाशमाना लोकास्तिस्रस्त्रिसंख्याकाः सन्ति । तत्र द्वौ लोकौ सवितुः सूर्यस्योपस्था समीपस्थाने वर्तेते । द्युलोकभूलोकयोः सूर्येण प्रकाशितत्वात् । एका मध्यमा भूमिरन्तरिक्षलोको यमस्य भुवने पितृपतेर्गृहे विराषाट् । विरान् गन्त्यून् सहते । प्रेताः पुरुषा अन्तरिक्षमार्गेण यमलोके गच्छन्तीत्यर्थः । अमृतामृतानि चन्द्रनक्षत्रादीनि ज्योतींषि जलानि वाधि तस्थुः । सवितारमधिगम्य स्थितानि । तत्र दृष्टान्तः । रथ्यमाणिं न । रथाद्बहिरक्षच्छिद्रे प्रक्षिप्तः कीलविशेष आणिरित्युच्यते । रथसम्बन्धिनमाणिमधिगम्य यथा रथस्तिष्ठति तद्वत् । यस्तु मानवस्तत्सवितृरूपं चिकेतत् जानाति स मानव इहास्मिन्विषये ब्रवीतु । कथयतु । केनापि वक्तुमशक्यः सवितुर्महिमेत्यर्थः ॥

dyāvaḥ svargopalakṣitāḥ prakāśamānā lokās tisras trisaṃkhyākāḥ santi | tatra dvau lokau savituḥ sūryasyopasthā samīpasthāne vartete | dyulokabhūlokayoḥ sūryeṇa prakāśitatvāt | ekā madhyamā bhūmir antarikṣaloko yamasya bhuvane pitṛpater gṛhe virāṣāṭ | virān gantṝn sahate | pretāḥ puruṣā antarikṣamārgeṇa yamaloke gacchantīty arthaḥ | amṛtāmṛtāni candranakṣatrādīni jyotīṃṣi jalāni vādhi tasthuḥ | savitāram adhigamya sthitāni | tatra dṛṣṭāntaḥ | rathyam āṇiṃ na | rathād vahir akṣacchidre prakṣiptaḥ kīlaviśeṣa āṇir ity ucyate | rathasambandhinam āṇim adhigamya yathā rathas tiṣṭhati tadvat | yas tu mānavas tat savitṛrūpaṃ cikētat jānāti sa mānava ihāsmin viṣaye bravītu | kathayatu | kenāpi vaktum aśakyaḥ savitur mahimety arthaḥ ||

Translation: "The dyāvaḥ — the shining worlds, indicated by the word 'heaven' — are tisraḥ, three in number. Of these, two worlds are upasthā — near — Savitṛ, the Sun: for heaven and earth are lit by the Sun. Ekā — the one, the middle earth, the mid-region — is virāṣāṭ — the one that carries — in yamasya bhuvane, in Yama's world, the house of the lord of the fathers: it overcomes (sahate) virān, those who go (gantṝn); that is, the dead go by the mid-region path to Yama's world. Amṛtā — the imperishable luminaries, the moon, the stars and the rest, or waters — adhi tasthuḥ — rest, having come to Savitṛ. The illustration: rathyam āṇiṃ na — a peg of a particular kind, driven into the hole in the axle outside the chariot, is called āṇi; as the chariot stands by reliance on its āṇi, so [they rest on Savitṛ]. But whichever man cikētat — [should] know that form of Savitṛ — let that man iha bravītu, in this matter speak, declare: Savitṛ's greatness cannot be told by anyone."

Grammar within the bhāṣya (p. 151, characterized): tisraḥ (the ending is acute by tisṛbhyo jasaḥ [Pā. 6-1-166]); dvā (dvau, with āv-substitution and the loss of the v by lopaḥ śākalyasya); upasthā (the seventh-case ending replaced by āc — the vārtika āṅyājayārāṃ copasaṃkhyānam [M. 7-1-39-1]; prakṛtibhāva by ajo 'nunāsikaś chandasi [Pā. 6-1-126]); virāṣāṭ (vṛñ varaṇe, the suffix ka in the sense of ghañ [vārtika, Pā. 3-3-58-4], in the object sense; the Vedic i-substitution by bahulaṃ chandasi [Pā. 7-1-103]; chandasi sahaḥ [Pā. 3-2-63] gives ṇvi; saheḥ sāḍaḥ saḥ [Pā. 8-3-56] — the ṣatva, and the lengthening of the first member by anyeṣām api dṛśyate; "tathā sati vriyanta [?] iti virāḥ", so virān sahate); rathyam (rathasyedam; yat by rathād yat [Pā. 4-3-121]; initial-acute by yato 'nāvaḥ); amṛtā (śi lost by śeś chandasi bahulam); cikētat (root kita jñāne, leṭ, the augment aṭ; the i of the ending lost by itaś ca; ślu for śap, the root being juhotyādi-like; laghūpadha-guṇa; anudātte ca [Pā. 6-1-190], first-syllable acute of the abhyasta; and because of the connected word yaḥ the verb is not lowered, yadvṛttayogād anighātaḥ).

Pratipadārtha (p. 151) — "dyāvaḥ — the worlds beginning with heaven; tisraḥ — three (are there); dvā — the two, heaven and earth; savituḥ — of Savitṛ; upasthā — near [in the lap]; ekā — the one in the middle, the mid-region; yamasya — of Yama; bhuvane — in the world; virāṣāṭ — capable of bearing those who go (the dead); rathyam — of the chariot; āṇiṃ na — as the pin [that holds the axle-hole]; amṛtā — the imperishable masses of light, the moon, stars and the rest; adhi tasthuḥ — rest [on Savitṛ]; yaḥ — whichever man; tat — this nature of Savitṛ; cikētat — if he knows well; iha — in this matter; bravītu — let him describe."

Bhāvārtha (p. 152) — "Of the three worlds — heaven, earth, mid-region — heaven and earth are both near the Sun. The mid-region in the middle is the way for the dead to Yama's world. As a chariot rests upon the pin of its axle, the imperishable light-bearers, the moon, the stars and the rest, rest upon this Savitṛ. The nature of this Savitṛ cannot be grasped by man; if anyone does know it, let him describe the superhuman nature of the deity Savitṛ."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 152) — "There are three heavens (three worlds) two are in the proximity of the Savitri ; the remaining one leads men to Yama 's abode ; the immortal stars depend upon Savitri as a car upon the pin of the axle· Let him who knows the greatness of Savitri say so·" (Printed so, with raised dots for full stops.)

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 152 - tisro dyāvaḥ — "three heavens, that is, the earth-world, the mid-region world and the heaven-world." - savitur dvā upasthā — "since the Sun, staying in heaven, lights the earth, the heaven and the earth are said to be near the Sun." - yamasya bhuvane virāṣāṭ = pretāḥ puruṣā antarikṣamārgeṇa yamaloke gacchanti: "since dead people (or their souls) go to Yama's world by way of the third world, the mid-region, the mid-region is called the way to Yama's world." - āṇiṃ na — "the pins fixed in the holes at the ends of the chariot's axle, so that the wheels, as they turn, may not fall off. If these pins were not there, the wheels and the chariot would not move properly and would fall. Hence, as the pins are the support of the chariot and its wheels, the Sun, by giving light to the worlds of earth and heaven, is the support: such is the meaning." - amṛtā = amṛtāni candranakṣatrādīni jyotīṃṣi jalāni vā: "amṛta means 'not perishing', 'always existing'. Here the luminaries — the moon, the stars and the other lights — or waters that do not perish." - iha bravītu ya u tac cikētat — "let a man who knows this matter say it: that is, since this matter is exceedingly secret or deep, it is not known to anyone."

Rik 35.6 — Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 153–154, PDF 168–169; grammar pages, noted briefly)

Kannada prose with sūtras quoted; the numerals are small and I give a number only where I could read it, otherwise the rule is named and left unnumbered.

- tisraḥ (p. 153): tricaturoḥ striyāṃ tisṛcatasṛ — त्रिचतुरोः स्त्रियां तिस्वृचतस्वृ — [the print: tisṛ, catasṛ replace tri, catur in the feminine]; the substitute is final-acute by sthānivadbhāva; tisṛ + jas; aci ra ṛtaḥ — अचि र ऋतः — the ṛ of tisṛ/catasṛ becomes r before a vowel-initial ending; tisr + as; the yaṇ standing for an acute vowel would be svarita by udāttayaṇo hal-pūrvāt; as an exception to that comes tisṛbhyo jasaḥ — तिसृभ्यो जसः — the jas after tisṛ is acute; the plural "jasaḥ" in the sūtra is explained like the plural in ṛnnebhyo ṅīp, as a looseness of expression (śabdabāhulya): hence the ending is acute.
- dvā: in the Saṃhitā a vowel follows (the u of upasthā), so dvau takes āv by eco 'yavāyāvaḥ — एचोऽयवायावः; lopaḥ śākalyasya — लोपः शाकल्यस्य —: by the opinion of Śākalya a word-final y/v preceded by a/ā is lost before a vowel: here v is lost; this loss is asiddha, so no vowel-sandhi follows.

- upasthā: upa — "near" — tiṣṭhataḥ "those who stand": ātaś copasarge kaḥ — आतश्चोपसर्गे कः — gives ka; loss of ā; the seventh-case dual os; under supāṃ sulug… the print cites the vārtika āṅyājayārāṃ copasaṃkhyānam, that āṅ, ayāc, ayār are three substitutes of sup, so os → āṅ; upastha + ā, savarṇadīrgha; antādivac ca — अन्तादिवच्च — the single substitute counts as the end of the former and the beginning of the latter, quoted with the Śekhara-kāra's remark that the technical states (base, suffix etc.) of the elements remain after the single substitution; ajo 'nunāsikaś chandasi — in the Veda an ā-ending [here: the substitute āc] takes nasalisation and prakṛtibhāva: hence the Saṃhitā's upasthāṁ̐.
- virāṣāṭ: virān sahate — "[it] bears those who go"; vṛṅ varaṇe: grahavṛdṛniścigamaś ca — ग्रहवृदृनिश्चिगमश्च — (ap) and the Mahābhāṣya's remark on ghañarthe kavidhānam sthāsnāvyadhihaniyudhy… — "the suffix ka is prescribed in the sense of ghañ": the roots there named are examples, not a complete list, since ka may follow other roots too; with the sense of an action-noun and of an agent other than the agent of ghañ the ka here has the sense of an object; vṛ + a; bahulaṃ chandasi — i and u appear variably, so ṛ → ir with raparatva; vir + a, the suffix kit, so no guṇa; virān sahate iti virāṣāṭ: root ṣaha marṣaṇe, dhātvādeḥ ṣaḥ saḥ; chandasi sahaḥ — छन्दसि सहः — ṇvi after sah when a sup-word is the upapada; ato 'ta upadhāyāḥ — vṛddhi; cuṭū and upadeśe 'janunāsika it give the it-names to ṇ, i; ver apṛktasya — loss of the v [of ṇvi]; anyeṣām api dṛśyate — lengthening of the first member: virāsāh; su lost by halṅyābbhyo…; hoḍhaḥ — हो ढः — h → ḍh; jhalāṃ jaśo 'nte; sahes sāḍaḥ — सहेः साडः — the ṣatva; carva: virāṣāṭ.
- rathyam (p. 154): rathasyedam; rathād yat — रथाद्यत् — yat after the sixth-case form of ratha in the sense "this belongs to"; yasyeti ca drops the a; yato 'nāvaḥ — यतोऽनावः — first-syllable acute (two vowels).
- cikētat: root kita jñāne; leṭ, tip, śap; kit + a + ti; itaś ca lopaḥ parasmaipadeṣu — loss of the i of the ending; leṭo 'ḍāṭau — the augment aṭ; juhotyādibhyaḥ śluḥ — śap → ślu; ślau — doubling; the final t of the reduplicate dropped; laghūpadha-guṇa; kuhoś cuḥ — k → c: cikētat. "In the Dhātupāṭha now at hand the reading is ki jñāne; then the augment t must be called Vedic." Anudātte ca (Pā. 6-1-190): the first syllable of the abhyasta is acute before an unaccented lasārvadhātuka; because the word yaḥ is connected, the verb is not lowered (yadvṛttayogād anighātaḥ). Rik 6 ends here (|| 6 ||).

Rik 35.7 (pp. 155–158, PDF 170–173)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 155; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented)

वि सु॑पर्णो अन्तरि॑क्षाण्यख्यद्गभीरवे॑पा असु॑रः सुनीथः । [accent ?] क्वे॑दानी॑ सूर्यः कश्चि॑के॒त॒ क॒त॒मां द्या॒ रश्मिरस्या त॑तान ॥ ७ ॥ [accent ?]

ví suparṇó antárikṣāṇy akhyad gabhīrávepā ásuraḥ sunīthaḥ | [accent ?] kvedānīṃ sûryaḥ kaś ciketa kátamāṃ dyāṃ ráśmir asyā tatāna || 7 || [accent ?]

([accent ?]: line 1 shows only the strokes over सु, रि, वे, सु and the underline under प; line 2 shows the stroke over क्वे and over के, underlines under नीं, श्रि, the त of चिकेत and of कत-, and द्यां, and a stroke over the first त of ततान; further faint underlines near क्वे/दा could not be assigned, and no marks are visible over सूर्यः or रश्मिरस्या.)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 155)

> वि । सुऽपर्णः । अन्तरिक्षाणि । अख्यत् । गभीरऽवेपाः । असुरः । सुऽनीथः ॥ क्व । इदानीम् । सूर्यः । कः । चिकेत । कतमाम् । द्याम् । रश्मिः । अस्य । आ । ततान ॥ ७ ॥

vi | su-parṇaḥ | antarikṣāṇi | akhyat | gabhīra-vepāḥ | asuraḥ | su-nīthaḥ || kva | idānīm | sūryaḥ | kaḥ | ciketa | katamām | dyām | raśmiḥ | asya | ā | tatāna || 7 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (pp. 155–156; the first half in full, the grammatical tail characterized)

> सुपर्णः शोभनपतनः सूर्यस्य रश्मिः । सुपर्णा इति पञ्चदश रश्मिनामानीति तन्नामसु पठितत्वात् । अन्तरिक्षाण्यन्तरिक्षोपलक्षितानि लोकत्रयस्थानानि व्यख्यत् । विशेषेण ख्यापितवान् प्रकाशितवान् । कीदृशो रश्मिः । गभीरवेपा गम्भीरकम्पनः । रश्मेः प्रकम्पनं चलनं केनापि द्रष्टुमशक्यमित्यर्थः । असुरः सर्वेषां प्राणदः । तथा चान्यत्राम्नायते । सर्वेषां भूतानां प्राणानादायोदेतीति । सुनीथः सुनयनः शोभनप्रापणः । मार्गप्रकाशनेनाभीष्टदेशं प्रापयतीत्यर्थः । तादृशरश्मियुक्तः सूर्य इदानीं रात्रौ क्व कुत्र वर्तते । तदेतद्रहस्यं कश्चिकेत को जानाति । न कोऽपीत्यर्थः । अस्य सूर्यस्य रश्मिः कतमां द्यामा ततान । कं द्युलोकं रात्रौ व्याप्तवान् । एतदपि को जानाति ॥

suparṇaḥ śobhanapatanaḥ sūryasya raśmiḥ | suparṇā iti pañcadaśa raśminamānīti tannāmasu paṭhitatvāt | antarikṣāṇy antarikṣopalakṣitāni lokatrayasthānāni vy akhyat | viśeṣeṇa khyāpitavān prakāśitavān | kīdṛśo raśmiḥ | gabhīravepā gambhīrakampanaḥ | raśmeḥ prakampanaṃ calanaṃ kenāpi draṣṭum aśakyam ity arthaḥ | asuraḥ sarveṣāṃ prāṇadaḥ | tathā cānyatrāmnāyate | sarveṣāṃ bhūtānāṃ prāṇān ādāyodetīti | sunīthaḥ sunayanaḥ śobhanaprāpaṇaḥ | mārgaprakāśanenābhīṣṭadeśaṃ prāpayatīty arthaḥ | tādṛśaraśmiyuktaḥ sūrya idānīṃ rātrau kva kutra vartate | tad etad rahasyaṃ kaś ciketa ko jānāti | na ko 'pīty arthaḥ | asya sūryasya raśmiḥ katamāṃ dyām ā tatāna | kaṃ dyulokaṃ rātrau vyāptavān | etad api ko jānāti ||

Translation: "Suparṇaḥ — [the one] with a beautiful flight — a ray of Sūrya ('suparṇāḥ' being read among the fifteen names of the ray in the lists of such names). Antarikṣāṇi — the three-world regions known by the name of the mid-region — vy akhyat — he made known specially, illuminated. What sort of ray? Gabhīravepāḥ — of deep quivering; the sense is that the quivering and movement of the ray cannot be seen by anyone. Asuraḥ — giver of life to all: as it is handed down elsewhere, 'taking the lives of all beings he rises' [?]. Sunīthaḥ — good-leading, good-conducting: by lighting the way he brings [a man] to the desired place. The Sun, who has such a ray, kva idānīm — where is he now, at night? That secret, kaḥ ciketa — who knows? No one, is the sense. Asya raśmiḥ katamāṃ dyām ā tatāna — what heaven has this Sun's ray spread over? What heaven-world has it pervaded at night? That too, who knows?"

Grammar within the bhāṣya (pp. 155–156, characterized): suparṇaḥ (nañsubhyām — after su, a bahuvrīhi's later member is final-acute); gabhīravepāḥ (root ṭuvepṛ kampane, the Uṇādi suffix asun; a bahuvrīhi with first-member accent); asuraḥ (asu kṣepaṇe — "he throws away enemies", the Uṇādi suffix uran [āser uran, as read]; nit, so first-syllable acute; or "asūn rāti", "he gives breaths"; ātonupasarge kaḥ); sunīthaḥ (ṇīñ prāpaṇe; hanikuṣinīramikāśibhyaḥ kthan [Uṇādi, as read]; the accent as in thādi-suffixed words, the final syllable acute — prādisamāse thāthādinottarapadāntodāttatvam); idānīm (idamaḥ — idaṃśabdāt saptamyarthe dānīṃ ca [Pā. 5-3-18] — the suffix dānīm, the augment iś [in the print: igama], the substitution iśī for idam); sūryaḥ (root ṣū preraṇe; suvati iti sūryaḥ; by rājasūyasūryamṛṣodyarucyakupyakṛṣṭapacyāvyathyāḥ the suffix kyap with the rut augment is irregularly given; the suffix being unaccented, the first syllable has the root's acute); ciketa (root kita jñāne, liṭ); katamām (kiñjātīyām — vā bahūnāṃ jātiparipraśne ḍatamac [Pā. 5-3-93, as read]: ḍatamac after kim; ḍit, so loss of ṭi; cita, hence final-acute).

Pratipadārtha (p. 156) — "gabhīravepāḥ — having a deep quiver (vibration); asuraḥ — life-giving; sunīthaḥ — leading [one] well to the desired place; suparṇaḥ — [the ray] that spreads so well; sūryakiraṇa — the Sun's ray; antarikṣāṇi — the three worlds, the mid-region and the rest; vi akhyat — has lit up well; idānīm — now (in the night); sūryaḥ — the Sun (who has that ray); kva — where is he? kaḥ ciketa — who can know (no one can); asya — of the Sun; raśmiḥ — the ray; katamām dyām — which heaven; ā tatāna — has spread over (no one can know this)."

Bhāvārtha (p. 156) — "The ray of the Sun, which gives life to all, lit up all the three worlds at midday and guided everyone. At the time of sunset it was pleasing and gladdening by its deep tremble. But where is that same Sun, with his ray, wandering now, in the night? No man can say which heavens he is lighting."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 156) — "Suparna (ray of the sun) is quivering, life-giving and directed (towards the earth); It has illminated [sic] tbe [sic] (three) aerial regions· Where is surya (sun) now ? who knows to what heaven his rays have extended now ?" (Printed so, with a raised dot after "regions" and a stray semicolon-spacing; "directed (towards the earth)" is the source's own insertion.)

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 156–157 - suparṇaḥ — "since the word suparṇa is read among the fifteen names of the ray beginning 'bhedayaḥ kiraṇāḥ' (Ni. 2-15, as read), suparṇa means a ray of the Sun." - gabhīravepāḥ = gambhīrakampanaḥ: "deeply quivering. To the eye the Sun's rays appear to quiver as they pass through the atmosphere; hence the ṛṣi describes the Sun's rays as quivering." - asuraḥ = asu kṣepaṇe | asyati śatrūn ity asuraḥ | yadvā | asūn prāṇān rāti dadātīty asuraḥ: "the word asura is an adjective of suparṇa. The bhāṣyakāra gives it two senses: because it throws away enemies — because the Sun's ray puts away darkness — the Sun's ray is called asura; or asu is breath, and rā is the root meaning 'to give': it gives, by producing the food that living beings most need, the means of protecting their breaths, hence asura; life giving vital breath [the print's English]." - kva idānīṃ sūryaḥ — "In the daytime everyone sees the Sun shining; but at evening the Sun sets and rises again the next morning, and this too is known to people. But the ṛṣi, wondering where the Sun is in the period between his setting and his rising on the next day, that is, at night, asks this question in amazement. Since people did not know in those times how the movements of the earth, and day and night, come about, this matter may well have appeared marvellous." - kaś ciketa katamāṃ dyāṃ raśmir asyā tatāna — "at night, over what region (what other heaven) do the Sun's rays spread and make light? Who among men is able to know it? — so, struck with wonder, the ṛṣi asks himself, in praise of the unfathomable greatness of the Sun."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (p. 157, PDF 172 — grammar page, noted briefly; begun, to continue on p. 158) - suparṇaḥ: śobhanaṃ parṇaṃ patanaṃ yasya saḥ — "he whose flight [lit. leaf-wing] is beautiful", a bahuvrīhi; nañsubhyām — नञ्सुभ्याम् — (Pā. 6-2-172): the later member after nañ or su in a bahuvrīhi is final-acute, so parṇa is final-acute. - gabhīravepāḥ: ṭuvepṛ kampane; the Uṇādi asun, of the oṇādika group; gabhīraṃ vepo yasya saḥ, a bahuvrīhi; the first-member accent of the compound applies; gabhīra is final-acute. - asuraḥ: root asu kṣepaṇe; asyati ityasuraḥ — āser uran — आसेरुरन् — (Uṇ. 1-42): uran after asu; the suffix is nit, hence first-syllable acute; "another way of derivation can also be given" (the page ends here; continues on p. 158).

Rik 35.7 — Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā, concluded (p. 158, PDF 173; grammar page, noted briefly)

Numerals zoom-checked; rules whose printed number was not re-read are left unnumbered.

- asuraḥ (concluded): second way: asūn = breaths, rāti = gives — "he gives his breaths", that is, he who sacrifices his own life in battle; the root rā with asu as upapada, and ātonupasarge kaḥ — आतोऽनुपसर्गे कः — (Pā. 3-2-3) the suffix ka; loss of the ā.
- sunīthaḥ: root ṇīñ prāpaṇe; hanikuṣinīramikāśibhyaḥ kthan — हनिकुषिनीरमिकाशिभ्यः क्थन् — (Uṇ. 2-159): after five roots, han hiṃsāgatyoḥ, kuṣa niṣkarṣe, ṇīñ prāpaṇe, ramu krīḍāyām, kāśṛ dīptau, the suffix kthan; ṇo naḥ — णो नः — (Pā. 6-1-65) the initial ṇ of the root becomes n beforehand; ni + tha, the suffix being kit there is no guṇa; kugatiprādayaḥ — a prādi compound with su; thāthaghañktājabitrakāṇām (Pā. 6-2-144) — the word ending in such a suffix after a gati or an upapada is final-acute.
- idānīm: dānīṃ ca — दानीं च — (Pā. 5-3-18) a time-denoting idam, in the seventh case, takes the suffix dānīm in its own sense; idam + ṅi + dānīm; the ṅi, as part of a taddhitānta base, is lost by supo dhātuprātipadikayoḥ (Pā. 2-4-71); idama iś — इदम इश् — (Pā. 5-3-3) iś replaces idam before a suffix of the prāgdiśīya class; iś is śit, so by anekālśit sarvasya — अनेकाल्शित्सर्वस्य — it replaces the whole of idam; iś + dānīm; by the suffix-accent dā is acute.
- sūryaḥ: root ṣū preraṇe; suvati = prerayati — "he who impels people to their several works"; rājasūyasūryamṛṣodyarucyakupyakṛṣṭapacyāvyathyāḥ — the suffix kyap with the augment rut is irregularly (nipātana) given in this rule; ṣ → s; kyap is pit, so unaccented, and sū keeps the root's accent.
- ciketa: root kita jñāne, juhotyādi; liṭ; liṭi dhātor anabhyāsasya — doubling: kit + kit; the final t of the reduplicate lost; k → c; ci + kit; laghūpadha-guṇa; liṭ → ta; the print remarks that the form with e instead of what liṭas tajhayor eśirec (Pā. 3-4-81) teaches is Vedic.
- katamām: vā bahūnāṃ jātiparipraśne ḍatamac — वा बहूनां जातिपरिप्रश्ने डतमच् — the Mahābhāṣya rejects the words jātiparipraśne as unnecessary; when one is to be chosen among many, ḍatamac after kim, yat, tat; ḍit, so the ṭi (im) is lost, leaving atama; ka + tama; the suffix is cit, so the word is final-acute. Rik 7 ends here (|| 7 ||).

Rik 35.8 (pp. 159–160, PDF 174–175)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 159; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented)

> अ॒ष्टौ व्य॑ख्यत्ककु॒भः॑ पृथि॒व्यास्त्री ध॒न्व योज॑ना स॒प्त सिन्धू॑न् । हि॒र॒ण्या॒क्षः स॑वि॒ता दे॒व आ गा॒द्वध्र्द॑त्ना दा॒शुषे॒ वार्या॑णि ॥ ८ ॥
>
> aṣṭáu vy akhyat kakúbhaḥ pṛthivyās trī dhánva yójanā saptá síndhūn | hiraṇyākṣáḥ savitā devá āgād dádhad ratnā dāśúṣe vāryāṇi || 8 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 159)

> अष्टौ । वि । अख्यत् । ककुभः । पृथिव्याः । त्री । धन्व । योजना । सप्त । सिन्धून् ॥ हिरण्यऽअक्षः । सविता । देवः । आ । अगात् । दधत् । रत्ना । दाशुषे । वार्याणि ॥ ८ ॥

aṣṭau | vi | akhyat | kakubhaḥ | pṛthivyāḥ | trī | dhanva | yojanā | sapta | sindhūn || hiraṇya-akṣaḥ | savitā | devaḥ | ā | agāt | dadhat | ratnā | dāśuṣe | vāryāṇi || 8 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (pp. 159–160; the first half in full, the grammatical tail characterized)

> पृथिव्याः सम्बन्धिनीरष्टौ ककुभः प्राच्याद्याश्चतस्रो दिश आग्नेय्याद्याश्चतस्रो विदिश इत्येवमष्टौ दिशो व्यख्यत् । सविता प्रकाशितवान् । तथा योजना प्राणिनः स्वस्वभोगेन योजयितॄन्धन्व अन्तरिक्षोपलक्षितान् त्री त्रिसंख्याकान् पृथिव्यादिलोकान् सप्त सिन्धून् गङ्गादिनदीः समुद्रान्वा सविता व्यख्यत् । हिरण्याक्षः हितरमणीयचक्षुर्युक्तो हिरण्मयाक्षो वा सविता देव आगात् । इहागच्छतु । किं कुर्वन् । दाशुषे हविर्दत्तवते यजमानाय वार्याणि वरणीयानि रत्नानि दधत् । प्रयच्छन् ॥

pṛthivyāḥ sambandhinīr aṣṭau kakubhaḥ prācyādyāś catasro diśa āgneyyādyāś catasro vidiśa ity evam aṣṭau diśo vy akhyat | savitā prakāśitavān | tathā yojanā prāṇinaḥ svasvabhogena yojayitṝn dhanva antarikṣopalakṣitān trī trisaṃkhyākān pṛthivyādilokān sapta sindhūn gaṅgādinadīḥ samudrān vā savitā vy akhyat | hiraṇyākṣaḥ hitaramaṇīyacakṣur yukto hiraṇmayākṣo vā savitā deva āgāt | ihāgacchatu | kiṃ kurvan | dāśuṣe havir dattavate yajamānāya vāryāṇi varaṇīyāni ratnāni dadhat | prayacchan ||

Translation: “The eight kakubhaḥ of the earth — the four directions beginning with the east, and the four intermediate directions beginning with the south-east: thus the eight directions — Savitṛ vy akhyat, illuminated. Likewise yojanā — [the worlds that] join the creatures each to their own enjoyment; dhanva, marked by the mid-region; trī, three in number, the worlds, earth and the rest; and the sapta sindhūn — the seven rivers beginning with the Gaṅgā, or the seas — Savitṛ made known. Hiraṇyākṣaḥ — having eyes that are good and pleasing, or having golden eyes — Savitṛ the god āgāt — let him come here. Doing what? To dāśuṣe — the sacrificer who has given the oblation — dadhat, bestowing vāryāṇi, choice, desirable ratnā, gems.”

Grammar within the bhāṣya (pp. 159–160, characterized): akhyat (khyātelṛjyasyativaktītyādi — cli → aṅ); trī (śi lost by śeś chandasi bahulam); dhanva (rivi ravi dhavi gatyarthāḥ; the nasal augment for an idit root; the Uṇādi suffix kanin [kanin yuvṛṣitakṣarājidhanvidyupratidivaḥ]; the sup ending replaced by luk; na lopaḥ; nit, so first-syllable acute); yojanā (yojayanti prāṇina upabhogeneti yojanāni — “that which join creatures by enjoyment”; lyu by the nandyādi rule; ṇer aniṭi — loss of ṇi; śi lost); hiraṇyākṣaḥ (hiraṇmayāny akṣīṇi yasya, a bahuvrīhi; bahuvrīhau sakthyakṣṇoḥ svāṅgāt ṣac — Pā. 5-4-113 — the compound-final suffix ṣac); āgāt (eteluṅo gā luṅi — gā substituted for i; gātisthā… — luk of sic; Pā. 2-4-45 cited for gā); dadhat (śatṛ; nābhyastācchatuḥ — no num; śnābhyastayor ātaḥ — loss of ā; abhyastānām ādiḥ); dāśuṣe (dāśvān sāhvān mīḍhvāṃś ca — kvasu by nipātana; in the fourth singular vasoḥ saṃprasāraṇam; śāsivasighasīnāṃ ca — ṣatva); vāryāṇi (vṛñ sambhaktau; ṛhaloṇyat; ādyudātta as in īḍavandavṛśaṃsaduhāṃ ṇyataḥ).

Pratipadārtha (p. 160) — "savitā — the deity Savitṛ; pṛthivyāḥ — of the earth; aṣṭau kakubhaḥ — the eight directions (four directions and four intermediate directions); yojanā — joining the living beings to their experience of their dealings; dhanva — containing the mid-region; trī — the three worlds beginning with earth; sapta sindhūn — the seven rivers beginning with the Gaṅgā (or the seven seas); vi akhyat — he lit up well; hiraṇyākṣaḥ — golden-eyed (or having eyes that are beneficial and pleasing); devaḥ — the shining Savitṛ; dāśuṣe — to the sacrificer who gives the oblation; vāryāṇi — desired gems; dadhat — giving; āgāt — let him come here."

Bhāvārtha (p. 160) — "The shining Savitṛ lit up the eight directions of the earth, the three worlds, earth and the others, that join beings to their several dealings and experiences, and the seven rivers beginning with the Gaṅgā, as also the seven seas, with his rays. His eyes are made of gold; they are beneficial to all, and pleasing. May Savitṛ, bright and golden-eyed, come to this sacrificial ground, granting the sacrificer who performs the sacrifice and gives the oblation the riches he desires."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 160) — "He has lighted up the eight quarters (points) of the earth, the three regions of living beings and the seven rivers (or seven Seas); may the golden-eyed Savitri come hither bestowing upon the offerer of the oblation, desirable riches·" (the print ends with a raised dot where a full stop is expected).

Rik 35.8 — Special Topics and grammar (pp. 161–163, PDF 176–178; grammar pages, noted briefly)

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 161 - aṣṭau kakubhaḥ pṛthivyāḥ — "the eight directions: the four, east, west, south, north, and the four intermediate directions, south-east, south-west, north-west, north-east — together eight directions. Eight points of the Horizon [the print's English]." - trī — "the three worlds, earth, mid-region and heaven." - sapta sindhūn — "the seven rivers, Gaṅgā, Yamunā, Sarasvatī, Śutudrī, Paruṣṇī, Asiknī, Vitastā, or the seven seas." (Vitastā stands here where the list at Rik 6 of Sūkta 34 gave Marudvṛdhā; recorded as printed.) - hiraṇyākṣaḥ = hitaramaṇīyacakṣur yuktaḥ | athavā hiraṇmayāny akṣiṇī yasyāsau hiraṇyākṣaḥ: "one who has eyes pleasant to look at, beautiful; or one with eyes as beautiful as gold." - vāryāṇi = varaṇīyāni: "wished for by all, needed by all, desirable &c. [the print's English]."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 161–163) - akhyat (p. 161): "explained in the fifth mantra of this same sūkta" (Rik 5 above). - trī: after tri in the neuter, śas, replaced by śi, which has the name sarvanāmasthāna; the augment num; the lengthening of the penultimate; trīn + śi; by śeś chandasi bahulam the śi is dropped, and the n is lost. - dhanva: the root rivi ravi dhavi, with the sense of going, idit; idito num dhātoḥ — the augment num gives dhanv; kanin yuvṛṣitakṣarājidhanvidyupratidivaḥ — (Uṇ. 1-154) — the suffix kanin after these roots; dhanv + an; supāṃ sulug…: luk of the śas; nalopaḥ prātipadikāntasya: loss of n; kanin is nit, so the first syllable is acute. - yojanā (pp. 161–162): root yujir yoge; yojayanti (“they join [creatures to their enjoyments]”) — yojayatīti yojanā; nandigrahipacādibhyo lyuṇinyacaḥ — the suffix lyu; yuvor anākau — ana for yu; ṇer aniṭi — loss of ṇi before an ārdhadhātuka without iṭ; laghūpadha-guṇa; after the stem yojana, śas, replaced by śi, and the loss of śi etc. as before. - hiraṇyākṣaḥ (p. 162): hiraṇyāny akṣīṇi yasya saḥ — “he who has golden eyes”; the form is hiraṇyākṣan [before the suffix]; bahuvrīhau sakthyakṣṇoḥ svāṅgāt ṣac — बहुव्रीहौ सक्थ्यक्ष्णोः स्वाङ्गात्षच् — the suffix ṣac, a compound-final (samāsānta) and taddhita, after a bahuvrīhi ending in sakthi or akṣi which denotes a svāṅga (“own limb”). The print then gives the definition of svāṅga in a verse:

> अद्रवं मूर्तिमत्स्वाङ्गं प्राणिस्थमविकारजम् । अतत्स्थं तत्र दृष्टं च तेन चेत्तत्तथायुतम् ॥

adravaṃ mūrtimat svāṅgaṃ prāṇistham avikārajam | atatsthaṃ tatra dṛṣṭaṃ ca tena cet tat tathāyutam ||

“A non-fluid, bodily thing located in a living being and not born of a change [is svāṅga]; and also that which is not located there but is seen there, if it is likewise joined with it.” (Translation mine, tentative; the verse is read as printed.) The Kannada explains the three marks: it must be a non-liquid (adrava) thing of solid form (mūrtimat) belonging to the living being from its nature, not arising from a change; and the second mark covers what is no longer in a living being but was once, as hair lying in the street (the print’s example: sukeśī rathyā), or what is joined in the manner of one in a living being, as the breasts of an image. Here the eye (akṣi) is a body-part and so svāṅga; hiraṇyākṣin + a; nastaddhite — नस्तद्धिते — the ṭi of an aṅga ending in n and bearing the name bha is lost before a taddhita suffix: so in is lost; the final syllable acute. - āgāt: iṇ gatau, luṅ; iṇo gā luṅi — before luṅ, gā replaces iṇ; gātisthāghupābhūbhyaḥ sicaḥ parasmaipadeṣu: luk of sic; loss of the i of tip by itaś ca. - dadhat (pp. 162–163): root ḍudhāñ dhāraṇapoṣaṇayoḥ, laṭ, śatṛ; śap → ślu; doubling: dhā + dhā + at; hrasvaḥ: the reduplicate is shortened; abhyāse carca: dh → d of the reduplicate; śnābhyastayor ātaḥ — the ā of a base in śnā or an abhyasta base is lost before a kit/ñit sārvadhātuka suffix (here śatṛ, treated as ñit): so dadh + at; nābhyastācchatuḥ — no num for śatṛ after an abhyasta; since supi follows, ugidacām… would give num, but it is prevented; loss of the ending [su]; ubhe abhyastam — the two repeated parts together are abhyasta; abhyastānām ādiḥ: first-syllable acute. - dāśuṣe (p. 163): dāśvān sāhvān mīḍhvāṃś ca — दाश्वान्साह्वान्मीढ्वांश्च — the forms are irregular: dāś dāne with kvasu, with the absence of doubling and of iṭ by nipātana (against liṭi dhātoḥ…); in sāhvān the root ṣaha marṣaṇe, parasmaipada, with kvasu, no doubling, no iṭ, and lengthened penultimate; in mīḍhvān the root miha secane, with kvasu, lack of doubling and of iṭ; after dāśvas the fourth singular ṅe: dāśvas + e; vasoḥ saṃprasāraṇam — the v of a base ending in vas [with the name bha] becomes u, with pūrvarūpa; dāśus + e; ādeśapratyayayoḥ — s that is part of a suffix → ṣ; the print adds that in śāsivasighasīnāṃ ca the roots [śās, vas, ghas, sī…] are meant by association, not the suffix, so the ṣatva of that rule cannot arise here — “the sense is clear in the Śekhara and similar works”. - vāryāṇi: vṛñ sambhaktau; ṛhaloṇyat — ऋहलोर्ण्यत् — ṇyat after a root ending in ṛ or in a consonant; vṛ + ya; aco ñṇiti — vṛddhi: vārya; īḍavandavṛśaṃsaduhāṃ ṇyataḥ — ईडवन्दवृशंसदुहां ण्यतः — the first syllable of a word in ṇyat from these roots is acute; the sūtra names vṛ, not vṛñ, so — since vṛñ would otherwise take kyap by ētisstuśāsvṛdṛjuṣaḥ kyap — the vārtika vṛñaḥ grahaṇaṃ kartavyam ("vṛñ must be taken in") is cited; and in īḍavanda… the word vṛ is held to mean the root vṛñ; otherwise ṇyat would not apply. Rik 8 ends here (|| 8 ||).

Rik 35.9 (pp. 163–165, PDF 178–180)

(The ninth ṛk is the second Jagatī of the sūkta, per the introduction on p. 131.)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (pp. 163–164; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented)

> हिर॑ण्यपाणिः सवि॒ता विच॑र्षणिरु॒भे द्यावा॑पृथि॒वी अ॒न्तरी॑यते । अपामी॑वां बाध॑ते वेति सू॒र्य॑म॒भि कृष्णे॒न॒ रज॑सा॒ द्यामृ॑णोति ॥ ९ ॥
>
> híraṇyapāṇiḥ savitā vícarṣaṇir ubhé dyāvāpṛthivī́ antárīyate | apā́mīvāṃ bā́dhate veti sū́ryam abhí kṛ́ṣṇena rájasā dyā́m ṛṇoti || 9 ||

(As printed, several expected underlines — after अपामीवां, बाधते, वेति, कृष्णेन — are absent; only the marks seen are given.)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 164)

> हिरण्यऽपाणिः । सविता । विऽचर्षणिः । उभे इति । द्यावापृथिवी इति । अन्तः । ईयते ॥ अप । अमीवाम् । बाधते । वेति । सूर्यम् । अभि । कृष्णेन । रजसा । द्याम् । ऋणोति ॥ ९ ॥

hiraṇya-pāṇiḥ | savitā | vi-carṣaṇiḥ | ubhe iti | dyāvāpṛthivī iti | antaḥ | īyate || apa | amīvām | bādhate | veti | sūryam | abhi | kṛṣṇena | rajasā | dyām | ṛṇoti || 9 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 164; the first half in full, the grammatical tail characterized)

> हिरण्यपाणिः सुवर्णमयहस्तयुक्तः । यद्वा । यजमानेभ्यो दातुं हिरण्यं हस्ते धृतवान् । विचर्षणिर्विविधदर्शनयुक्तः । विचर्षणिः पश्यतीत्यर्थः । विचर्षणिर्विश्वचर्षणिरिति तन्नामसु पाठात् । सविता देव उभे द्यावापृथिवी अन्तः उभयोर्लोकयोर्मध्य ईयते । गच्छति । अमीवां रोगादिबाधामप बाधते । सम्यग्निराकरोति । तथा । सूर्यं वेति गच्छति । यद्यपि सवितृसूर्ययोरेकदेवतात्वं तथापि मूर्तिभेदेन गन्तृगन्तव्यभावः । कृष्णेन तमसः कर्षकेण निवर्तकेन रजसा तेजसा द्यामाकाशमभ्यृणोति । सर्वतो व्याप्नोति ॥

hiraṇyapāṇiḥ suvarṇamayahastayuktaḥ | yadvā | yajamānebhyo dātuṃ hiraṇyaṃ haste dhṛtavān | vicarṣaṇir vividhadarśanayuktaḥ | vicarṣaṇiḥ paśyatīty arthaḥ | vicarṣaṇir viśvacarṣaṇir iti tannāmasu pāṭhāt | savitā deva ubhe dyāvāpṛthivī antaḥ ubhayor lokayor madhya īyate | gacchati | amīvāṃ rogādibādhām apa bādhate | samyag nirākaroti | tathā | sūryaṃ veti gacchati | yadyapi savitṛsūryayor ekadevatātvaṃ tathāpi mūrtibhedena gantṛgantavyabhāvaḥ | kṛṣṇena tamasaḥ karṣakeṇa nivartakena rajasā tejasā dyām ākāśam abhyṛṇoti | sarvato vyāpnoti ||

Translation: "Hiraṇyapāṇiḥ — having golden hands; or, holding gold in his hand to give to the sacrificers. Vicarṣaṇiḥ — endowed with varied seeing, i.e. 'he sees': since vicarṣaṇiḥ, viśvacarṣaṇiḥ is read in the lists of such names. Savitṛ the god īyate, goes, antaḥ, in the midst of the two worlds, ubhe dyāvāpṛthivī. Amīvām — the affliction of disease and the like — apa bādhate, he drives away completely. Likewise sūryaṃ veti — he goes to Sūrya: although Savitṛ and Sūrya are one deity, there is yet the relation of goer and goal, by a difference of form. Kṛṣṇena rajasā — with the radiance that draws away, that removes, the darkness — dyām, the sky, abhi ṛṇoti, he pervades on all sides."

Grammar within the bhāṣya (p. 164, characterized): dyāvāpṛthivī (divasaś ca pṛthivyām — the word ca carries dyāvā as the substitute of div before pṛthivī in a dvandva of deity-names; devatādvandve ca gives both members their natural accent; the rule on a following unaccented second member does not bar it); īyate (īṅ gatau; the tiṅ is lowered by tiṅ ṅatiṅaḥ); bādhate ca vā iti (the sense of ca is understood though the word ca is not used, so by cādilope vibhāṣā the lowering [nighāta] is not applied); veti (vī gatiprajanakāntyasanakhādaneṣu; śap lost by adādi; tip is pit, so unaccented and the root's accent stays; though sūryam is a second-case word, the tiṅ [veti] stands after it, so there is no lowering of the verb); ṛṇoti (ṛṇu gatau, tanādi; of the tanādi roots only kṛ takes guṇa, as śali… ut-ness; so no guṇa here).

Pratipadārtha (p. 165) — "hiraṇyapāṇiḥ — with golden hands (or holding gold in the hand, to give it to the sacrificer); vicarṣaṇiḥ — of varied seeing (able to look at what has been, is, and will be); savitā — the Savitṛ deity; ubhe dyāvāpṛthivī — of the two worlds, earth and mid-region; antaḥ — in the middle; īyate — moves about; amīvām — the afflictions of disease and the like; apa bādhate — destroys completely; sūryam — to the Sun's neighbourhood; veti — goes; kṛṣṇena — [that which] removes darkness; rajasā — with radiance; dyām — the sky; abhi ṛṇoti — pervades all round."

Bhāvārtha (p. 165) — "The Savitṛ deity's hands are of gold, or he always holds gold in his hand to give to the sacrificer. He can see everything, and can behold past, future and present. This Savitṛ moves in the middle of the two worlds, earth and mid-region. He destroys completely disease and troubles of that kind. He goes also to the neighbourhood of the Sun, who is of a different form from himself; and with his divine radiance, which removes the darkness, he pervades the whole sky."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 165) — "The golden-handed, all seeing Savitri travels between heaven and earth, dispels diseases, approaches the sun, and ascends the heaven through the dark regions of space." (the print ends with a raised dot where a full stop is expected).

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 165 (begun; continued on p. 166) - hiraṇyapāṇiḥ = suvarṇamayahastayuktaḥ | yadvā | yajamānebhyo dātuṃ hiraṇyaṃ haste dhṛtavān: "one who has golden hands, or one who holds gold in his hand in order to give it to sacrificers. We have explained this word in detail in Ṛgveda Saṃhitā Part 3, pages 75 and 76." - vicarṣaṇiḥ = viśeṣeṇa draṣṭā athavā viśvasya bhuvanasya draṣṭā: "the one who sees specially, or who sees the whole universe. There is nothing that is not seen by the Sun's eye; that is, the sense is that the Sun's rays pervade the whole world."

(The rest of the Special Topics and the grammar of Rik 9 follow on p. 166 and later pages, to be viewed next.)

Rik 35.9 — Special Topics concluded and grammar (pp. 166–168, PDF 181–183; grammar pages, noted briefly)

Special Topics, continued from p. 165 (p. 166) - ubhe dyāvāpṛthivī antar īyate — "below the earth, above heaven: [he] moves between these worlds, by the path of the mid-region; such is the meaning." - amīvām apa bādhate — "one who destroys disease and the like. It is the opinion of the physicians that the Sun's rays have the power to remove many illnesses. On this matter the ṛk:"

> हृद्रोगं मम सूर्य हरिमाणं च नाशय । (ऋ. सं. १-५०-११)

hṛdrogaṃ mama sūrya harimāṇaṃ ca nāśaya | (ṛ. saṃ. 1-50-11)

"— 'destroy my heart-disease and my jaundice, O Sūrya' — so Praskaṇva, the ṛṣi of that sūkta, prays to the Sun. That the Sun's light is indispensable to the life of living beings and of plants, and that without the Sun beings and plants could not live on the earth, even ordinary people know well." (Translation of the ṛk mine, tentative; reference 1-50-11 zoom-checked.) - sūryam abhi — "Here the bhāṣyakāra says 'yady api savitṛsūryayor ekadevatātvaṃ tathāpi mūrtibhedena gantṛgantavyabhāvaḥ' (he is both the goer and the goal by a difference of form); that is, though Sūrya and Savitṛ are one deity, by a difference of form one may be said to go to the neighbourhood of the other: this is the reconciliation he offers. In explaining the word sūrya Yāska says 'sūryaḥ sarter vā suvater vā svīryater vā' (no Nirukta number printed). Of these three explanations, svīryater vā means su-pūrvasya vā īrayater gatyarthasya — 'one who moves well, or swiftly'. If this sense is taken in this ṛk, it will be right to say that the Sun, moving swiftly in the mid-region, goes towards the world of heaven." (Translation of the Nirukta quotation mine and tentative.) - kṛṣṇena rajasā — "the mid-region through which the Sun travels is full of darkness. The Sun lights up everything by his own light."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 166–168) - dyāvāpṛthivī (pp. 166–167): dyauś ca pṛthivī ca, a dvandva; divasaś ca pṛthivyām — दिवसश्च पृथिव्याम् — the ca carries on the preceding rule's divo dyāvā, so dyāvā is the substitute of div [the print notes the svarita-announcement, svaritatvapratijñā, so divaḥ continues]; in a dvandva with pṛthivī as second member, div is replaced by divas or dyāvā; here dyāvā, which is first-syllable acute by nipātana; devatādvandve ca — देवताद्वन्द्वे च — in a dvandva of deity-names both members keep their natural accent together, i.e. the accent they had before stays; the print adds that there is no vyatyāsa of this [i.e. no reversal]. Pṛthivī: pratheḥ ṣivan saṃprasāraṇaṃ ca — प्रथेः षिवन् संप्रसारणं च — [Uṇ. 1-[?]] — after prath prakhyāne the suffix ṣivan, with saṃprasāraṇa of the base: pṛthivi; ṣiddhaurādibhyaś ca — ṅīṣ; the word is final-acute by the suffix; the pṛ is unaccented by the śeṣa-nighāta; the print then argues that the prohibition notarapade 'nudāttādau — नोत्तरपदेऽनुदात्तादौ — (the rule that a second member beginning with an unaccented syllable stops the natural accent of both members) might be thought to apply, but that rule itself says apṛthivīrudrapūṣamanthiṣu — "except for pṛthivī, rudra, pūṣan, manthin" — so it does not apply here, where pṛthivī is the second member. - īyate (p. 167): root īṅ gatau, 4th class; the root is ṅit, so anudāttaṅita ātmanepadam — the ātmanepada; laṭ → ta; ṭita ātmanepadānāṃ ṭere gives e; divādibhyaḥ śyan; kṅiti ca bars guṇa; tiṅ ṅatiṅaḥ makes the verb wholly unaccented. - amīvām: root amu roge; śīvayeśajihvāgrīvāpyāmīvāḥ — (Uṇ. 1-153) — the suffix van, with the augment īṭ, irregularly; ṭāp; accusative singular am, pūrvarūpa. - bādhate: “although the sense of ca is understood — ‘he destroys disease, and goes to the Sun, though of a different form’ — the word ca is not used; so by cādilope vibhāṣā there is a prohibition of the wholly-unaccented accent of the verb.” - veti: root vī gatiprajanakāntyasanakhādaneṣu; laṭ, tip, śap; ādiprabhṛtibhyaḥ śapaḥ: luk of śap; guṇa; tip is pit and so unaccented; the root’s own accent stays; this is the second tiṅanta of the sentence, so cādilope is not applicable; but since it stands after the tiṅanta bādhate, the lowering by tiṅ ṅatiṅaḥ does not arise (it requires a non-tiṅ before). - ṛṇoti (pp. 167–168): root ṛṇu gatau, tanādi; laṭ, tip; tanādikṛñbhya uḥ — तनादिकृञ्भ्य उः — the suffix u; with this u as the cause laghūpadha-guṇa would arise; the teachers Ātreya, Āpiśali and others, by saṃjñāpūrvako vidhir anityaḥ (Paribhā. 95), hold that guṇa does not arise in the tanādi; by their opinion no guṇa here. Or, following bahulam etannidarśanam, the root ṛ is read in the svādi class, and svādibhyaḥ śnuḥ gives the śnu of the vikaraṇa, an apit sārvadhātuka and so ṅit; kṅiti ca prevents guṇa; the result is ṛṇoti. Rik 9 ends here (|| 9 ||).

Rik 35.10 (pp. 168–170, PDF 183–185)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 168; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented)

> हिर॑ण्यहस्तो असु॑रः सुनी॒थः सु॑मृळी॒कः स्ववाँ॑ यात्वर्वाङ् । अप॒सेध॑न्रक्षसो॑ यातु॒धान॒ानस्था॒द्देवः प्र॑तिदो॒षं गृ॑णानः ॥ १० ॥

híraṇyahasto ásuraḥ sunītháḥ sumṛḷīkáḥ svávāṁ̐ yātv arvāṅ | apasédhan rakṣáso yātudhānān ásthād deváḥ pratidoṣáṃ gṛṇānaḥ || 10 ||

(As printed, no underline is seen under ण्णा of गृणानः.)

(Reading note, written after viewing the Pada on the same page: the Saṃhitā’s “svavāṁ̐ yātv arvāṅ” is the Pada’s sva-vān | yātu | arvāṅ joined by sandhi, with the Vedic nasalised āṁ̐ before a vowel-initial word.)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 168)

> हिरण्यऽहस्तः । असुरः । सुऽनीथः । सुऽमृळीकः । स्वऽवान् । यातु । अर्वाङ् ॥ अपऽसेधन् । रक्षसः । यातुऽधानान् । अस्थात् । देवः । प्रतिऽदोषम् । गृणानः ॥ १० ॥

hiraṇya-hastaḥ | asuraḥ | su-nīthaḥ | su-mṛḷīkaḥ | sva-vān | yātu | arvāṅ || apa-sedhan | rakṣasaḥ | yātu-dhānān | asthāt | devaḥ | prati-doṣam | gṛṇānaḥ || 10 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (pp. 168–169; the first half in full, the grammatical tail characterized)

> हिरण्यहस्तोऽसुरः प्राणदाता सुनीथः सुष्ठु नेता । प्रशस्य इत्यर्थः । सुनीथः पाक इति प्रशस्यनामसु पाठात् । सुमृळीकः सुष्ठु सुखयिता स्ववान् धनवान् अर्वाङ् अभिमुखः कर्मदेशे गच्छतु । किंचायं देवः प्रतिदोषं प्रतिरात्रि गृणानः स्तूयमानोऽस्थात् । स्थितवान् । किं कुर्वन् । रक्षसो बाधकत्वेन रक्षणनिमित्तभूतान् । रक्षो रक्षितव्यमस्मादिति यास्कः । नि. ४-१८ । यातुधानानसुरानपसेधन् निराकुर्वन् ॥

hiraṇyahasto ’suraḥ prāṇadātā sunīthaḥ suṣṭhu netā | praśasya ity arthaḥ | sunīthaḥ pāka iti praśasyanāmasu pāṭhāt | sumṛḷīkaḥ suṣṭhu sukhayitā svavān dhanavān arvāṅ abhimukhaḥ karmadeśe gacchatu | kiṃcāyaṃ devaḥ pratidoṣaṃ pratirātri gṛṇānaḥ stūyamāno ’sthāt |

sthitavān | kiṃ kurvan | rakṣaso bādhakatvena rakṣaṇanimittabhūtān | rakṣo rakṣitavyam asmād iti yāskaḥ | ni. 4-18 | yātudhānān asurān apasedhan nirākurvan ||

Translation: "Hiraṇyahastaḥ — golden-handed; asuraḥ — the giver of life; sunīthaḥ — good leader, i.e. praiseworthy, since sunīthaḥ is read among the names for 'praiseworthy'; sumṛḷīkaḥ — the one who gives good happiness; svavān — possessed of wealth: let him come arvāṅ — facing us, to the place of the rite. Moreover this god, being praised every night (pratidoṣam), asthāt — has stood [here]. Doing what? Rakṣasaḥ — [driving away those] who, by being injurers, are the occasion for [our] need of protection ('rakṣas, that from which [one] must be protected', so Yāska, Ni. 4-18); yātudhānān, the asuras — apasedhan, keeping off, driving away."

Grammar within the bhāṣya (p. 169, characterized): "hiraṇyahasta and the like are as before"; sumṛḷīkaḥ (suṣṭhu mṛḷīkaṃ sukhaṃ yasyāsau, nañsubhyām — final-acute of the later member); svavān (svam asyāsti; matup, with m → v by mādupadhāyāḥ (iti vatvam); the n in the Saṃhitā becomes ru by dīrghād aṭi samānapāde, the ā is nasalised by āto 'ṭi nityam, and the ru becomes y (ror yatvam, yalopaś ca)); apasedhan (ṣidhu gatyām; śap pit so unaccented; śatṛ and the lasārvadhātuka accent keeps the compound's later member's natural accent); rakṣasaḥ (rakṣa pālane; the Uṇādi asun; or rakṣyate 'neneti rakṣaḥ, "strength", karaṇe 'sun; the loss of the possessive suffix is Vedic; accent by the suffix); yātudhānān (yata nikāropaskārayoḥ — "to oppose, to prepare"; the Uṇādi suffix; yātanā — torments — dhīyante eṣu, "in whom torments are placed"; adhikaraṇe lyuṭ; the accent of what precedes a lit suffix); asthāt (gātisthā… luk of sic); pratidoṣam (prati in the sense of repetition, with an avyayībhāva: "night by night"); gṛṇānaḥ (gṝ śabde; laṭ in the passive, śānac; śnā by vyatyaya; the shortening of ṛ (pvādīnāṃ hrasvaḥ); final-acute by cit).

Pratipadārtha (p. 169) — "hiraṇyahastaḥ — golden-handed (or holding gold in the hand to give to the sacrificer); asuraḥ — life-giver; sunīthaḥ — praiseworthy because he leads [one] to the desired place by showing the way; sumṛḷīkaḥ — full of great delight (or giving joy); svavān — Savitṛ, the wealthy; arvāṅ — facing the sacrificial place (let him walk); devaḥ — the god Savitṛ; pratidoṣam — every night; gṛṇānaḥ — being praised; rakṣasaḥ — the injurious; yātudhānān — the rākṣasas; apasedhan — warding off and driving away; asthāt — he stands [at the sacrificial place]."

Bhāvārtha (pp. 169–170) — "The hands of the Savitṛ deity are of gold; or he always holds gold in his hand to give to the sacrificer. He gives breath to all living beings. By showing light to all and guiding them, he gives joy to all. May such a rich Savitṛ walk towards the sacrificial ground — for at the sacrificial place the injury done by the rākṣasas is great. If one praises the Savitṛ deity well every night, he, pleased by that praise, stands at the sacrificial ground and, driving off the injuring rākṣasas, remains there."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 170) — "May the golden-handed Savitri, the excellent guide, the giver of happiness and possessor of riches come to this sacrifice ; praised by men he drives off the harmful Rukshasas every night" (Printed so, with "Rukshasas" and a raised dot after "night".)

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 170 (begun; continued on p. 171) - hiraṇyahastaḥ — "its meaning and derivation are the same as those of the word hiraṇyapāṇiḥ." - asuraḥ = asuṃ prāṇaṃ rāti dadātīty asuraḥ | prāṇadātā: "the giver of breath, who protects the breath: life giving [the print's English]." - sunīthaḥ — suṣṭhu netā praśasya ity arthaḥ: "a leader, an excellent one, one worthy of praise; among the ten words for 'praiseworthy' beginning asremāḥ, anemāḥ [as printed] the word sunīthaḥ is read; so sunīthaḥ means praiseworthy." - sumṛḷīkaḥ = suṣṭhu sukhayitā — "the one who makes happiness." - svavān = svam asyāstīti svavān | dhanavān — "he who has wealth." - apasedhan = nirākurvan — "contemning, driving away, shunning, and so on." - rakṣaḥ = rakṣanty anena iti rakṣo balam | rakṣo rakṣitavyam asmād iti yāskaḥ (Ni. 4-18): "one who protects, or one who is able to protect from the rākṣasas and the like." - yātudhānān — "In general this word means rākṣasas, those who roam at night; asuras are also meant; but its exact sense is: one who works by spells — a spell-man, a sorcerer, a magician (mantragāra, māṭagāra, māyagāra); Sorcerer, Wizard, magician [the print's English]. We give one or two examples:"

> अयोदंष्ट्रो अर्चिषा यातुधानानुप स्पृश जातवेदः समिद्धः । (ऋ. सं. १०-८७-२) उतान्तरिक्षे परि याहि राजन् जम्भैः सं धेह्यभि यातुधानान् । (ऋ. सं. १०-८७-३)

ayodaṃṣṭro arciṣā yātudhānān upa spṛśa jātavedaḥ samiddhaḥ | (ṛ. saṃ. 10-87-2) utāntarikṣe pari yāhi rājan jambhaiḥ saṃ dhehy abhi yātudhānān | (ṛ. saṃ. 10-87-3)

(Untranslated in the source. My gloss, mine and tentative*: "O Jātavedas, kindled, iron-fanged, touch the yātudhānas with your flame"; "and in the mid-region too, O king, go round; set your jaws on the yātudhānas".) (The list of examples continues on p. 171, to be viewed next.)*

Rik 35.10 — Special Topics concluded and grammar (pp. 171–173, PDF 186–188; grammar pages, noted briefly)

Special Topics, continued from p. 170 (p. 171) — the list of examples for yātudhānān, two more ṛks:

> इह प्र ब्रूहि यतमः सो अग्ने यो यातुधानो य इदं कृणोति । (ऋ. सं. १०-८७-७) तस्याग्ने पृष्टीर्हरसा शृणीहि त्रेधा मूलं यातुधानस्य वृश्च । (ऋ. सं. १०-८७-७)

iha pra brūhi yatamaḥ so agne yo yātudhāno ya idaṃ kṛṇoti | (ṛ. saṃ. 10-87-7) tasyāgne pṛṣṭīr harasā śṛṇīhi tredhā mūlaṃ yātudhānasya vṛśca | (ṛ. saṃ. 10-87-7)

(Mine and tentative: "here tell, O Agni, which one he is, the yātudhāna who does this"; "break his ribs with your heat, O Agni; cut the root of the yātudhāna in three ways". Both references are printed 10-87-7, as printed.) "And the word yātudhāna is also used in the Atharvaveda (AV 1-7-1; 4-3-4; 6-13-3; 6-32-2; 7-70-2; 19-46-2 [?]), the Kāṭhaka Saṃhitā 37-14, the Vājasaneyi Saṃhitā 8-7, the Śatapatha Brāhmaṇa 7-4-1-9 and other mantras." - pratidoṣam = pratirātrāṇi — "every night, on the night of every day." - gṛṇānaḥ = gṝ śabde — stūyamānaḥ: "one who is being praised."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 171–173) - svavān (p. 171): svam eṣām asti — tadasyāstyasminn iti matup; mādupadhāyāś ca matorvo 'yavādibhyaḥ — मादुपधायाश्च मतोर्वोऽयवादिभ्यः — the m of matup becomes v after a base ending in a or having m or a as penultimate [the print explains the compound rule in two ways] and not belonging to the yavādi group; sva ends in a, so svavat; su; asaṃtasya cādhātoḥ — असन्तस्य चाधातोः — the penultimate vowel is lengthened before a sarvanāmasthāna ending, of a base not a dhātu ending in at; the augment num (ugidacām…); svavān + su, halṅyābbhyo… — loss of su; saṃyogāntasya lopaḥ: loss of the t; this loss, being asiddha, does not allow the loss of n; in the Saṃhitā, dīrghād aṭi samānapāde turns the n into ru; āto 'ṭi nityam — ā nasalised; bhobhago 'gho 'pūrvasya yo 'śi — ru → y; lopaḥ śākalyasya — loss of the y. - apasedhan (p. 172): root ṣidha gatyām, "1st class, 47th root; 48, ṣidhū śāstre māṅgalye ca; ṣidhu saṃrāddhau, the 119[?]th root (last digit 2 or 7), 4th class; in the present Dhātupāṭha ṣidha gatyām is not found"; laṭ, śatṛ, śap, laghūpadha-guṇa: sedhat; su; num by ugit; sedhan + su; halṅyādilopa, loss of the t; the preverb apa; śap is pit and śatṛ is lasārvadhātuka, so both unaccented; after the compound with apa, the later member keeps its natural accent (kṛdutarapadaprakṛtisvara). - rakṣasaḥ: root rakṣa pālane, 1st class; the Uṇādi suffix asin in the sense of apādāna: rakṣanty asmāt — "those from whom protection is [needed]", i.e. the occasion for protection; or rakṣyate 'nena — rakṣaḥ, in the sense of instrument, the Uṇādi asun: "strength": one who is protected by yātu is thus protected; without strength protection cannot be done; so rakṣaḥ = strength; rakṣo 'syāsti = rakṣasvin, "powerful"; asmāyāmedhāsraja viniḥ — the suffix vin, whose luk is Vedic: rakṣasaḥ, rakṣasvinaḥ, "powerful ones"; the a of as is acute by the suffix-accent; had asun been intended, the first syllable would have been acute. - yātudhānān: root yata nikāropaskārayoḥ, 1st class; satyāpapāśarūpavīṇātūlaślokasenālomatvacavarmavarṇacūrṇacurādibhyo ṇic — the suffix ṇic in its own sense; after it, the Uṇādi suffix u in the verbal-noun sense; loss of ṇi; upadhā-vṛddhi: yātu, "torment, harassment"; yātavo dhīyante eṣu — "in whom torments are placed"; karaṇādhikaraṇayoś ca — lyuṭ after dhā in the locus sense: ana; yātudhā + ana; lit — the syllable before the lit is acute; savarṇadīrgha; single-substitute accent. - asthāt: the print has "asmāt" at this entry and says it is explained in the eighth mantra of this sūkta; evidently a misprint for asthāt (see Rik 8: gātisthā… luk of sic). - pratidoṣam (pp. 172–173): doṣā = night; the phrase doṣāṃ prati; prati compounded with doṣā: avyayaṃ vibhaktisamīpasamṛddhivṛddhyarthābhāvātyayāsampratiśabdaprādurbhāvapaścādyathānupūrvyayaugapadyasādṛśyasampattisākalyāntavacaneṣu — an indeclinable in any of these senses (case-sense, proximity, prosperity…) compounds with a subanta, and it is avyayībhāva; here yathā-sense; the four senses of yathā are yogyatā (fitness), vīpsā (repetition), padārthānativṛtti (not exceeding) and sādṛśya (likeness); here vīpsā: "vīpsā means vyāpti, relating fully; when vīpsā is shown in a sentence, doubling comes by nityavīpsayoḥ; but in a compound the vīpsā is already expressed and so no doubling — so Kaiyaṭa says on a rule [the word printed hayavarāṭ]"; avyayībhāvaś ca — neuter; hrasvo napuṃsake prātipadikasya — shortening; nāvyayībhāvād ato 'm tv apañcamyāḥ — after an avyayībhāva ending in a the sup is replaced by am (not luk), except the fifth case; amipūrvaḥ: pūrvarūpa: pratidoṣam. - gṛṇānaḥ (p. 173): root gṝ śabde, kryādi; laṭ in the passive, śānac; kryādibhyaḥ śnā — śnā as the vikaraṇa: gṛ + nā + āna; the root's vowel is shortened [the print: pvādīnāṃ hrasvaḥ]; ṛvarṇān nasya ṇatvaṃ vācyam (vārtika): n → ṇ; cita: final-acute. Rik 10 ends here (|| 10 ||).

Rik 35.11 (pp. 173–176, PDF 188–191)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 173; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented)

ये ते॒ पन्था॑: सवितः पू॒र्व्यासो॑ऽरे॒णव॒: सुकृ॑ता अ॒न्तरि॑क्षे । तेभि॑र्नो अ॒द्य प॒थिभि॑: सु॒गेभी॑ र॑क्षा च नो॒ अधि॑ च ब्रूहि देव ॥ ११ ॥

ye te pánthāḥ savitaḥ pūrvyā́so 'reṇavaḥ súkṛtā antárikṣe | tébhir no adyá pathíbhiḥ sugébhī rakṣā ca no ádhi ca brūhi deva || 11 ||

(As printed: the second underline in अरेणवः sits under व, not under ण [accent ?]; the svarita stroke of रक्षा stands over र [accent ?]; the udātta of these two is therefore left unmarked in the IAST.)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 174)

> ये । ते । पन्थाः । सवितरिति । पूर्व्यासः । अरेणवः । सुऽकृताः । अन्तरिक्षे ॥ तेभिः । नः । अद्य । पथिऽभिः । सुऽगेभिः । रक्ष । च । नः । अधि । च । ब्रूहि । देव ॥ ११ ॥

ye | te | panthāḥ | savitar iti | pūrvyāsaḥ | areṇavaḥ | su-kṛtāḥ | antarikṣe || tebhiḥ | naḥ | adya | pathi-bhiḥ | su-gebhiḥ | rakṣa | ca | naḥ | adhi | ca | brūhi | deva || 11 ||

(The Saṃhitā's "sugebhī rakṣā" is the Pada's sugebhiḥ | rakṣa*, with the* visarga* lost and the vowels lengthened by Vedic sandhi, as the grammar on p. 176 explains.)*

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 174; the first half in full, the grammatical tail characterized)

> हे सवितः ते तव पन्था मार्गाः पूर्व्यासः पूर्वसिद्धा अरेणवो धूलिरहिता अन्तरिक्षे सुकृताः सुष्ठु सम्पादिताः । सुगेभिः सुष्ठु गन्तुं शक्यैस्तेभिः पथिभिस्त्वन्मार्गैरागत्याद्यास्मिन्दिने नोऽस्मान्रक्ष च । पालनमपि कुरु । तथा हे देव नोऽस्मान् अनुष्ठातॄन् अधि ब्रूहि च । देवानामग्रेऽधिकत्वेन कथय च ॥

he savitaḥ te tava panthā mārgāḥ pūrvyāsaḥ pūrvasiddhā areṇavo dhūlirahitā antarikṣe sukṛtāḥ suṣṭhu sampāditāḥ | sugebhiḥ suṣṭhu gantuṃ śakyais tebhiḥ pathibhis tvanmārgair āgatyādyāsmin dine no 'smān rakṣa ca | pālanam api kuru | tathā he deva no 'smān anuṣṭhātṝn adhi brūhi ca | devānām agre 'dhikatvena kathaya ca ||

Translation: "O Savitṛ, te panthāḥ — your paths, the ways — pūrvyāsaḥ — made in former times — areṇavaḥ — free of dust — antarikṣe — in the mid-region — sukṛtāḥ — well made. By tebhiḥ pathibhiḥ — those paths of yours that are sugebhiḥ, easy to travel — come, today, on this day, and protect us (naḥ rakṣa ca), guard us also. And O god, naḥ — us, the performers [?] — adhi brūhi ca — speak for us, speak of us as superior in the presence of the gods."

Grammar within the bhāṣya (p. 174, characterized): panthāḥ (su for jas by supāṃ sulug…; pathimathoḥ sarvanāmasthāne — initial-acute); pūrvyāsaḥ (pūrvaiḥ kṛtam — the suffix ya [pūrvaiḥ kṛtam iniyau ca, Pā. 4-4-133]; jas with asuk; the ya-suffix accent); areṇavaḥ (nañsubhyām: final-acute of the later member); sukṛtāḥ (ktaḥ in the passive; gatir anantaraḥ — the preverb's accent natural); sugebhiḥ (suṣṭhu gacchanty eṣu — sudurór adhikaraṇe, Pā. 3-2-48-3, the suffix ḍa after gam; the later member of a kṛt compound keeps its accent); rakṣa (dvyacotastiṅaḥ — in the Saṃhitā a two-syllabled verb-form is lengthened). The tail ends || 7 || (p. 174; the varga number).

Pratipadārtha (p. 174) — "savitaḥ — O Savitṛ deity; te — your; panthāḥ — the paths (to come to the place of sacrifice); pūrvyāsaḥ — established from of old (made by our forbears); areṇavaḥ — dustless; antarikṣe — in the mid-region; sukṛtāḥ — well made; sugebhiḥ — easy to travel; tebhiḥ pathibhiḥ — by those paths (coming); naḥ — us; rakṣa — protect; ca

— and; he deva — O shining Savitṛ; naḥ — us (those who keep the Vedic observances); adhi brūhi — speak well of us (in the presence of the other gods; speak favourably for us)."

Bhāvārtha (p. 175) — "O Savitṛ deity, the paths you must take to reach the sacrificial ground are made from of old, dustless and well prepared. By those easy paths come to our sacrificial ground in kindness and protect us. And speak of us before the other gods as those who always perform sacrifices with the Vedic observances, offering them oblations, and as pure of conduct."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 175) — "O Savitri, your paths are ancient, are free from dust and well placed in the firmament ; by those paths easy to be traversed come and protect us ; speak well of us (to the gods)" (no full stop in the print).

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 175 - pūrvyāsaḥ = pūrvasiddhāḥ: "established of old: since they have been used for many ages, every day, the Sun's path is an ancient one, or a very old one." - areṇavaḥ = dhūlirahitāḥ: "ordinarily dust is natural on roads; but since the path the Sun travels lies in the mid-region, there is no dust at all there; hence 'dustless ways'." - sukṛtā — "well made, or in a good state: Well-kept [the print's English]." - sugebhiḥ = suṣṭhu gantuṃ śakyaiḥ — "easy to travel on; easy to go &c. [the print's English]." - adhi ca brūhi — "[besides protecting us] speak a good word about us to the gods; such is the sense."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 175–176, PDF 190–191 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - panthāḥ (p. 175): after pathin, jas, replaced by su by supāṃ sulug…; pathin + su; pathimathyṛbhukṣām āt — पथिमथ्यृभुक्षामात् — when a sup-suffix [i.e. su] follows, these words take ā as final substitute; "we take it by praśleṣa (the supplying of a word not heard, by the help of the śāstra) as 'that which has the form ā'; so even in place of a nasal n the non-nasal ā comes"; ito 'tsarvanāmasthāne — इतोऽत्सर्वनामस्थाने — the i of pathi and the others becomes a before a sarvanāmasthāna; tho nthaḥ — थो न्थः — the th of pathin, mathin becomes nth; ru, visarga; pathimathoḥ sarvanāmasthāne — पथिमथोः सर्वनामस्थाने — first-syllable acute before a sarvanāmasthāna. - pūrvyāsaḥ (p. 176): pūrvaiḥ kṛtam — the Uṇādi/taddhita suffixes ina and ya in the sense kṛta after the third-case plural of pūrva (pūrvaiḥ kṛtam iniyau ca; so also the bhāṣya, Pā. 4-4-133): ya; yasyeti ca — loss of a; jas, with ājjasor asuk the augment asuk; the accent is acute by the suffix ya. - sugebhiḥ: suṣṭhu gacchanti eṣu — "they go happily on these"; sudurorādhikaraṇe — सुदुरोरधिकरणे — the suffix ḍa after gam in the locus sense when su or dur is the upapada; su gam + a, the ḍ — by its force the ṭi is lost; bhis does not become ais, by bahulaṃ chandasi; after the compound, gatikārakopapadāt kṛt — the kṛdanta later member keeps its natural accent. - rakṣa: root rakṣa pālane, 1st class; loṭ, second singular; dvyacotastiṅaḥ — द्व्यचोऽतस्तिङः — in the mantras a two-syllabled tiṅ-form with an a is lengthened: rakṣā. Rik 11 ends here (|| 11 ||).

Close of Sūkta 35

The sūkta has 11 Riks (printed pp. 131–176; PDF 146–191), as the heading on p. 132 states ("ṛks 1–11") and the Sanskrit introduction ("ekādaśarcam") says; the Kannada anuvāda's "ten" (p. 131) is thus a slip. The metre line of the heading, read together with the introduction, makes Riks 1 and 9 Jagatī and the rest Triṣṭup. Closing note (p. 176, in Kannada, printed in ordinary type under the last grammar paragraph): illige mūraneya sūktavu mugidudu — "Here the third

sūkta [of this Adhyāya] is finished" (Sūkta 35 is the third of the Third Adhyāya, after Sūktas 33 and 34; the sūkta's number is not given, and this is not the "samāptavu" formula of earlier volumes); no varga-end statement is printed (the bhāṣya of Ṛk 11 ends || 7 ||, p. 174, closing Varga 7). An ornament follows.

Sūkta 36 begins at the foot of the same leaf, printed p. 176 = PDF 191, with oṃ and the large heading mūvattāraneya sūktavu ("the thirty-sixth sūkta"); its Sanskrit introduction begins "aṣṭame 'nuvāke 'ṣṭau sūktāni | tatra pra vo yahvam iti viṃśatyṛcaṃ prathamaṃ sūktam | ghoraputraḥ kaṇva ṛṣiḥ | …" (the eighth anuvāka has eight sūktas; the first, pra vo yahvam, has twenty ṛks; the ṛṣi is Kaṇva, son of Ghora). It is not translated here and belongs to the next session; the contents table's page for Sūkta 36 (p. 177) was a leaf out, as the sūkta begins on p. 176.

Summary of the sūkta (from the Bhāvārthas): a hymn to Savitṛ, the Sun as impeller — invoking Agni, Mitra-Varuṇa, Night and Savitṛ for protection (Rik 1); his golden chariot moving through the dark mid-region, setting gods and men to their tasks (Rik 2); his upward and downward paths and white horses, driving off sin (Rik 3); the chariot with its golden ornaments and pegs (Rik 4); his horses Śyāva and the worlds standing near him (Rik 5); the three heavens, the mid-region as the way of the dead to Yama, and the Sun's greatness beyond man's knowing (Rik 6); the quivering, life-giving ray and the wonder at where the Sun is at night (Rik 7); the lighting of the eight quarters, the three worlds and the seven rivers (Rik 8); the golden-handed Savitṛ moving between heaven and earth, driving away disease (Rik 9); his coming to the sacrifice to drive off the rākṣasas (Rik 10); and a closing prayer to come by his dustless ancient paths and speak well of the worshippers to the gods (Rik 11).

SŪKTA 36 (printed p. 176 foot = PDF 190)

॥ ॐ ॥ — Thirty-sixth Sūkta (Kannada title line: "mūvattāraneya sūktavu")

(The Eighth Anuvāka of Maṇḍala 1 begins here; the sūkta begins on the lower third of printed p. 176, after the closing note of Sūkta 35.)

Pages 176–177 (PDF 190–191) — Sāyaṇa's introduction and the Kannada anuvāda

Sāyaṇa's introduction (printed in Kannada script; the opening lines are at the foot of p. 176, the rest on p. 177; re-read from the better scan, PDF 191–192)

> अष्टमेऽनुवाकेऽष्टौ सूक्तानि । तत्र प्र वो यह्वमिति विंशत्यृचं प्रथमं सूक्तम् । घोरपुत्रः कण्व ऋषिः । अयुजो बृहत्यः । तृतीयपादस्य द्वादशाक्षरत्वात् । युजः सतोबृहत्यः । प्रथमतृतीययोः पादयोर्द्वादशाक्षरत्वात् । अग्निर्देवता । ऊर्ध्व ऊ ष्वित्यादिके यूपदेवत्ये । तथा चानुक्रान्तम् । प्र वो विंशतिः कण्वो घौर आग्नेयं प्रागाथमूर्ध्व ऊ षु यौप्याविति । ननूर्ध्व ऊ ष्वित्यादिकयोरप्यग्नेर्देवतात्वेन भवितव्यमाग्नेये क्रतावनयोरनुद्धारात् । तथा हि सूत्रे एना वो अग्निं प्र वो यह्वम् । आ. ४-१३ । इति प्रतीकमात्रस्यैवोपादानात्कृत्स्नसूक्तमाग्नेयमिति गम्यते । यद्येते अन्यदेवत्ये स्यातां वसिष्ठा हीति सूक्तयोरुत्तमामुद्धरेत् । आ. ४-१३ । इतिवदुद्धारं ब्रूयात् । न च ब्रूते । अतः कथं यौप्याविति । नैष दोषः । यूपाधिष्ठानस्याग्नेः स्तूयमानत्वादनयोरप्यग्निर्देवतेत्याग्नेये क्रतावुद्धारो न कृतः ।

अधिष्ठानप्राधान्यविवक्षया यौप्यावित्येतदपि न विरुध्यते ॥ प्रातरनुवाक आग्नेये क्रतौ बार्हते छन्दसि प्र वो यह्वमिति सूक्तम् । अथैतस्या रात्रेर्विवासकाल इति खण्डे सूत्रितम् । एना वो अग्निं प्र वो यह्वमिति ॥

aṣṭame 'nuvāke 'ṣṭau sūktāni | tatra pra vo yahvam iti viṃśatyṛcaṃ prathamaṃ sūktam | ghoraputraḥ kaṇva ṛṣiḥ | ayujo bṛhatyaḥ | tṛtīyapādasya dvādaśākṣaratvāt | yujaḥ satobṛhatyaḥ | prathamatṛtīyayoḥ pādayor dvādaśākṣaratvāt | agnir devatā | ūrdhva ū ṣv ity ādike yūpadevatye | tathā cānukrāntam | pra vo viṃśatiḥ kaṇvo ghaura āgneyaṃ prāgāthamūrdhva ū ṣu yaupyāv iti | nanūrdhva ū ṣv ity ādikayor apy agner devatātvena bhavitavyam āgneye kratāv anayor anuddhārāt | tathā hi sūtre enā vo agniṃ pra vo yahvam | ā. 4-13 | iti pratīkamātrasyaivopādānāt kṛtsnasūktam āgneyam iti gamyate | yady ete anyadevatye syātāṃ vasiṣṭhā hīti sūktayor uttamām uddharet | ā. 4-13 | itivad uddhāraṃ brūyāt | na ca brūte | ataḥ kathaṃ yaupyāv iti | naiṣa doṣaḥ | yūpādhiṣṭhānasyāgneḥ stūyamānatvād anayor apy agnir devatety āgneye kratāv uddhāro na kṛtaḥ | adhiṣṭhānaprādhānyavivakṣayā yaupyāv ity etad api na virudhyate || prātaranuvāka āgneye kratau bārhate chandasi pra vo yahvam iti sūktam | athaitasyā rātrer vivāsakāla iti khaṇḍe sūtritam | enā vo agniṃ pra vo yahvam iti ||

Translation: "In the eighth anuvāka there are eight sūktas. Of these the first, pra vo yahvam, has twenty ṛks. The ṛṣi is Kaṇva, son of Ghora. The odd [ṛks] are Bṛhatī, since the third pāda has twelve syllables; the even are Satobṛhatī, since the first and third pādas have twelve syllables. The deity is Agni; [but] the [two ṛks] beginning ūrdhva ū ṣu have the yūpa (sacrificial post) as deity. So the Anukramaṇikā: 'pra vo — twenty; Kaṇva Ghaura; Āgneya; Prāgātha; ūrdhva ū ṣu [are] addressed to the yūpa.' [Objection:] But surely [the ṛks] beginning ūrdhva ū ṣu too should have Agni as deity, since these two are not taken out (anuddhārāt) in the Āgneya kratu. For in the sūtra, since only the opening words are taken — 'enā vo agniṃ, pra vo yahvam' (Āś. 4-13) — it is understood that the whole sūkta is addressed to Agni. If these two had another deity, [the sūtra] would have stated the taking-out [of these two], as in '[one should] take out the last [ṛk] of the two sūktas vasiṣṭhā hi' (Āś. 4-13); but it does not say so. How then 'the yūpa'? — [Answer:] there is no fault: since Agni, who is the support of the yūpa, is what is praised, Agni is the deity of these two as well, and so no taking-out was made in the Āgneya kratu; and by wishing to stress the support, '[addressed] to the yūpa' is also not contradicted. In the prātaranuvāka, in the Āgneya kratu, in the Bṛhatī metre, [is used] the sūkta pra vo yahvam: so it is laid down in the section beginning 'athaitasyā rātrer vivāsakāle' [of the Āśvalāyana Śrauta-sūtra]: 'enā vo agniṃ, pra vo yahvam.'"

Anuvāda (Kannada), p. 177 — "The eighth anuvāka of the first maṇḍala begins with the sūkta pra vo yahvam. In this anuvāka there are eight sūktas. In the first of these, pra vo yahvam, there are twenty ṛks. For all eight sūktas of this anuvāka the ṛṣi is Kaṇva, the son of Ghora. Of the ṛks of this sūkta, the odd ṛks, 1, 3, 5, 7, 9, 11, 13, 15, 17, 19, are of the Bṛhatī metre, since the third pāda has twelve syllables; the even ṛks, 2, 4, 6, 8, 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, are of the Satobṛhatī metre, since the first and third pādas have twelve syllables. Agni is the deity of this sūkta, and the yūpa is the deity of the 13th and 14th ṛks, ūrdhva ū ṣu and ūrdhvo naḥ. The Anukramaṇikā says: 'pra vo viṃśatiḥ kaṇvo ghaura āgneyaṃ prāgāthamūrdhva ū ṣu yaupyāv iti' — that is, for the sūkta of twenty ṛks beginning pra vo, Kaṇva Ghaura is the ṛṣi, Agni the deity, and the metre prāgātha; the two ṛks ūrdhva ū ṣu are addressed to the yūpa. Since the two ṛks ūrdhva ū ṣu are addressed to the yūpa, it is natural to think that they are not addressed to Agni; and it is the custom not to recite them in the recital of the Agni kratu mantras. This matter is explained in the Āśvalāyana Śrauta-sūtra, in the sūtra ‘enā vo agniṃ (Ṛ. Saṃ. 7-16-1) pra vo yahvam (Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-36-1)’ (Āś. 4-13); so the whole sūkta is said to be addressed to Agni. In the view that the ṛks 13–14, though connected, are of a deity other than Agni, one may cite as an example the last ṛks of the sūktas ‘vasiṣṭhā hi’ (Āś. 4-13); that [view] cannot be maintained; so how can these ṛks 13–14 be addressed to the yūpa? There is no fault in that: since these ṛks praise Agni, who stands as the support of the yūpa, they are counted as addressed to Agni, but they are not recited in the kratu of Agni; if the adhiṣṭhāna (support) is taken as the main thing, then that they are addressed to the yūpa is not contradicted either.”

Page 178 (PDF 192) — close of the anuvāda and heading of Sūkta 36

Anuvāda, continued (p. 178): “…When the mantras of the Bṛhatī metre connected with the Āgneya kratu are recited at the time of the prātaranuvāka recital, this sūkta pra vo yahvam is to be recited; this is laid down in the Āśvalāyana Śrauta-sūtra, in the section ‘athaitasyā rātrer vivāsakāle’, where the ṛks enā vo agniṃ (Ṛ. Saṃ. 7-16-1) and pra vo yahvam (Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-36-1) are prescribed.”

॥ ॐ ॥

सूक्त — ३६ ॥ मण्डल — १ ॥ अनुवाक — ८ ॥ सूक्त — ३६ ॥ ॥ अष्टक — १ ॥ अध्याय — ३ ॥ वर्ग — ८, ९, १०, ११ ॥ ॥ सूक्तदल्लिरुव ऋक्संख्यै १—२० ॥ ॥ ऋषिः — कण्वो घौरः ॥ ॥ देवता — १—१२, १५—२० अग्निः । १३—१४ अग्निः यूपो वा ॥ ॥ छन्दः — प्रागाथं बार्हतम् । विषमा बृहत्यः समाः सतोबृहत्यः । १, ३, ५, ७, ९, ११, १३, १५, १७, १९ बृहती । २, ४, ६, ८, १०, १२, १४, १६, १८, २० सतोबृहती । (१३ उपरिष्टाद्बृहती । ऐ. ब्रा. २-२ चरणच्छेदः) ॥

sūkta 36 | maṇḍala 1 | anuvāka 8 | aṣṭaka 1 | adhyāya 3 | varga 8, 9, 10, 11 | ṛks 1–20 | ṛṣi: Kaṇva Ghaura | devatā: 1–12, 15–20 Agni; 13–14 Agni or Yūpa | chandas: Prāgātha-Bārhata; the odd ṛks Bṛhatī, the even Satobṛhatī: 1, 3, 5, 7, 9, 11, 13, 15, 17, 19 Bṛhatī; 2, 4, 6, 8, 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, 20 Satobṛhatī; (13 Upariṣṭādbṛhatī — Ai. Brā. 2-2, by the division of the pāda).

Translation of the heading: “Sūkta 36; Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 8; Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 3, Varga 8, 9, 10, 11; ṛks in the sūkta: 1–20; Ṛṣi: Kaṇva Ghaura; Deity: Agni for 1–12 and 15–20, Agni or the yūpa for 13–14; Metre: Prāgātha-Bārhata; the odd ṛks Bṛhatī, the even Satobṛhatī [as listed]; and the thirteenth is an Upariṣṭādbṛhatī according to the Aitareya Brāhmaṇa (2-2), by the division of the pādas.” (Translation of the metre note mine and tentative.)

Rik 36.1 (pp. 178–182, PDF 192–196)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 178)

प्र वो॑ य॒ह्वं पु॑रू॒णां वि॒शां दे॑व॒यती॑नाम् । अ॒ग्निं सू॒क्तेभि॒र्वचो॑भिरीमहे॒ यं सी॒मिद॒न्य ईळ॑ते ॥ १ ॥

prá vo yahváṃ purūṇāṃ viśáṃ devayatīnāṃ | agníṃ sūktébhir vácobhir īmahe yáṃ sīm íd anyá īḷate || 1 ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. The print has no verse number after the Saṃhitā here, only ॥.)

(Reading note, written after viewing the Pada: the Saṃhitā's last word-run "idanya" is the Pada's it | anye*; the Saṃhitā joins them without sandhi change.)*

Pada-pāṭha (p. 179)

> प्र । वः । यह्वम् । पुरूणाम् । विशाम् । देवऽयतीनाम् ॥ अग्निम् । सुऽउक्तेभिः । वचःऽभिः । ईमहे । यम् । सीम् । इत् । अन्ये । ईळते ॥ ११ ॥

pra | vaḥ | yahvam | purūṇām | viśām | deva-yatīnām || agnim | su-uktebhiḥ | vacaḥ-bhiḥ | īmahe | yam | sīm | it | anye | īḷate || 11 ||

(The Pada closes "// ११ //" as printed, for // १ //.)

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 179, in full)

> हे ऋत्विग्यजमानाः देवयतीनां देवान्कामयमानानां पुरूणां बहूनां विशां प्रजारूपाणां वो युष्माकमनुग्रहाय यह्वं महान्तम् । यह्वो विवक्षित इति महन्नामसु पाठात् । अग्निं सूक्तेभिर्वचोभिः सूक्तरूपैर्वाक्यैः प्रेमहे । प्रकर्षेण याचामहे । ईमहे यामीति याच्ञाकर्मसु पाठात् । अन्ये इदन्येऽप्यृषयो यमग्निं सीं सर्वत ईळते स्तुवन्ति । तमग्निमिति पूर्वत्रान्वयः ॥

he ṛtvigyajamānāḥ devayatīnāṃ devānkāmayamānānāṃ purūṇāṃ bahūnāṃ viśāṃ prajārūpāṇāṃ vo yuṣmākamanugrahāya yahvaṃ mahāntam | yahvo vivakṣita iti mahannāmasu pāṭhāt | agniṃ sūktebhirvacobhiḥ sūktarūpairvākyaiḥ premahe | prakarṣeṇa yācāmahe | īmahe yāmīti yācñākarmasu pāṭhāt | anye idanye 'pyṛṣayo yamagniṃ sīṃ sarvata īḷate stuvanti | tamagnimiti pūrvatrānvayaḥ ‖

Translation: "O priests and sacrificers! For the favour of you, devayatīnām — who desire the gods — purūṇām — many — viśām — [who are] the people — yahvam, the great [one] (since yahva is read among the names for 'great', as vivakṣita is): Agni pra īmahe — we beg earnestly — sūktebhir vacobhiḥ, with words in the form of sūktas (since īmahe is read with yāmi among the verbs of begging). Anye it — other ṛṣis too — yam agniṃ sīm īḷate — praise on all sides the Agni whom [we beg]: 'that Agni' connects with what went before."

Grammatical tail of the bhāṣya (p. 179)

> पुरूणाम् । नामन्यतरस्यामिति नाम उदात्तत्वम् । विशाम् । सावेकाच इति विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वम् । देवयतीनाम् । देवानात्मन इच्छन्त्यो देवयन्त्यः । सुप आत्मनः क्यच् । न च्छन्दस्यपुत्रस्येतीत्वस्येव दीर्घस्यापि प्रतिषेधः । अश्वाघस्यादिति पुनरात्वविधानाज्ज्ञापकात् । क्यजन्तात्लटः शतृ । कर्तरि शप् । शपः पित्त्वादनुदात्तत्वम् । शतुश्च लसार्वधातुकस्वरेण क्यचा सहैकादेश एकादेश उदात्तेनोदात्त इति शतुरुदात्तत्वम् । उगितश्चेति ङीप् । अनित्यमागमशासनमिति वचनान्नुमभावः । एकादेशस्वरस्य पूर्वत्रासिद्धत्वं नेष्यत इति वचनात् । पा. ८-२-६-१ । शतुरुदात्तत्वं सिद्ध[?]न्वेति शतुरनुम इति नद्या उदात्तत्वम् । सूक्तेभिः । वक्तेः क्तिच्क्तौ च संज्ञायामिति क्तः । थाथादिनोत्तरपदान्तोदात्तत्वम् । ईळते । ईड स्तुतौ । अदादित्वाच्छपो लुक् । अनुदात्तेत्त्वाल्लसार्वधातुकानुदात्तत्वे धातुस्वरः । यद्वृत्तयोगादनिघातः ॥

purūṇām | nāmanyatarasyāmiti nāma udāttatvam | viśām | sāvekāca iti vibhakterudāttatvam | devayatīnām | devānātmana icchantyo devayantyaḥ | supa ātmanaḥ kyac | na cchandasyaputrasyetītvasyeva dīrghasyāpi pratiṣedhaḥ | aśvāghasyāditi punarātvavidhānājjñāpakāt | kyajantāllaṭaḥ śatṛ | kartari śap | śapaḥ pittvādanudāttatvam | śatuśca lasārvadhātukasvareṇa kyacā sahaikādeśa ekādeśa udāttenodātta iti śaturudāttatvam | ugitaśceti ṅīp | anityamāgamaśāsanamiti vacanānnumabhāvaḥ | ekādeśasvarasya pūrvatrāsiddhatvaṃ neṣyata iti vacanāt | pā. 8-2-6-1 | śaturudāttatvaṃ siddha[?]nveti śaturanuma iti nadyā udāttatvam | sūktebhiḥ | vakteḥ kticktau ca saṃjñāyāmiti ktaḥ | thāthādinottarapadāntodāttatvam | īḷate | īḍa stutau | adāditvācchapo luk | anudāttettvāllasārvadhātukānudāttatve dhātusvaraḥ | yadvṛttayogādanighātaḥ ‖

(Sense: purūṇām — the nām is acute by nāmanyatarasyām; viśām — the ending acute by sāvekācaḥ; devayatīnām — 'wishing the gods for themselves'; kyac; na chandasy aputrasya forbids the lengthening as well as the ī, as shown by the jñāpaka of aśvāghasyāt; śatṛ, śap unaccented as pit; the single substitute of śatṛ with kyac is acute; ṅīp by ugitaś ca; no num, augments not being constant; the single-substitute accent is not treated as asiddha (Pā. 8-2-6-1 as printed); the nadī is acute by śaturanumaḥ; sūktebhiḥ — kta by ktic ktau ca saṃjñāyām, final acute by thāthādi; īḷate — luk of śap, the root accent, no nighāta because of yad. One crowded group after śaturudāttatvaṃ reads siddha…nveti*, not settled.)*

Pratipadārtha (pp. 179–180) — "devayatīnām — (O priests and sacrificers) who desire the gods, by worship and the like (for their favour); purūṇām — many; viśām — who are in the form of the people; vaḥ — your (for the sake of favour); yam — whom; anye it — other ṛṣis also; sīm — everywhere; īḷate — [are] praising [such]; yahvam — the excellent; agnim — Agni; sūktebhiḥ — in the form of sūktas; vacobhiḥ — with words of praise; pra īmahe — we pray earnestly."

Bhāvārtha (p. 180) — "O priests who perform the sacrifice, and sacrificers, you, the many people, delight the deities by worship and the like and look for their favour. For all of you, at the sacrifice, the favour of Agni, the representative and the best, must come first. All the ṛṣis everywhere praise that Agni. We too, with excellent words of praise in the form of sūktas, pray that he, who gives you what you desire, should favour you."

Page 180

English Translation (the source's own, p. 180) — "(O, priests and sacrificers) let us priase [sic] the mighty Agni with sacred hymns, the same Agni whom others also praise and for the benifit [sic] of you who are many and who desire to worship the gods." (Printed so, with the "(O, priests and sacrificers)" in brackets.)

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 180–181 - "The ṛṣi of this sūkta is Kaṇva, the son of Ghora. This ṛṣi is the ṛṣi of the sūktas 36–43 of this first maṇḍala and of the 94th sūkta of the 9th maṇḍala. In all there are 101 ṛks connected with this ṛṣi." - yahvam — "since yahvaḥ is read among the twenty-five names for 'great' beginning mahat, bradhna (Ni. 3-13), yahvam means the great, the larger." - devayatīnām = devān kāmayamānānām: "of those who wish for the deities, who seek to praise the deities." - īmahe — "īmahe is read among the seventeen words of the sense of begging beginning yāmi (Ni. 3-19); so īmahe means 'we beg, we pray'."

Page 181

- sīm — "'sīm iti parigrahārthīyo vā padapūraṇo vā' (Ni. 1-7), says Yāska — 'sīm is [a word] of the sense of "all round", or a mere filler of the pāda'; so here this word has no special principal meaning; it is used to fill out the pāda." (Translation of the Nirukta quotation mine and tentative.)

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 181–182, PDF 195–196 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - purūṇām (p. 181): after puru, ām; hrasvanadyāpo nuṭ — ह्रस्वनद्यापो नुट् — (Pā. 7-1-54) the augment nuṭ; nāmi — नामि — (Pā. 6-4-3) lengthening of the preceding vowel before nām; nāmanyatarasyām — नाम्यन्यतरस्याम् — (Pā. 6-1-177) the nām is optionally acute after a final-acute stem ending in a short vowel; "though the lengthening comes first because it is the later rule, in words like purutamaḥ the puru is short-final when matup follows, being formed by the Uṇādi suffix u [pṝbhidi— [?], Uṇ. 1-23], and is final-acute; so the nām after it is acute by the rule above." - viśām: root viśa praveśane, kvip, then āṇ viṭ [as read] — in the seventh/genitive plural sup follows and the base is of one vowel; sāvekācas tṛtīyādir vibhaktiḥ — सावेकाचस्तृतीयादिर्विभक्तिः — (Pā. 6-1-168) an ending from the third case on after a one-vowelled base [when it is not … the sāva] is acute: ām is acute. - devayatīnām (pp. 181–182): devān ātmana icchantyaḥ devayantyaḥ; supa ātmanaḥ kyac — सुप आत्मनः क्यच् — (Pā. 3-1-8) kyac optionally after a sup-word in the object of the sense icchati; deva + śas + ya; since it ends in kyac it is called a dhātu; the sup [śas], which belongs to the base, is lost by supo dhātuprātipadikayoḥ; deva + ya; now kyaci ca — क्यचि च — (Pā. 7-4-33) would give ī, and akṛtsārvadhātukayor dīrghaḥ (Pā. 7-4-25) the lengthening before a yādi suffix; the print says both are blocked by na chandasy aputrasya — न छन्दस्यपुत्रस्य — (Pā. 7-4-35) in the Veda no ī or lengthening for an a-ending base other than putra before kyac; "though in the Aṣṭādhyāyī only the ītva was taught earlier, this blocking is to be understood for it only; but aśvāghasyāt — अश्वाघस्यात् — (Pā. 7-4-77 [as printed; for 7-4-37]) in the Veda ā for aśva and agha before kyac, as in aśvāyantaḥ, aghāyavaḥ — would be pointless if na chandasi blocked it; so na chandasi must block both [the ītva and the lengthening] and this is established by that jñāpaka";

Page 182

(continued, p. 182) laṭ, śatṛ, kartari śap; śap is pit, so anudātta by anudāttau suppitau; since śatṛ is lasārvadhātuka, the accent tāsyanudāttenṅidadupadeśāt… applies; the kyac is acute by the cit accent; the a of kyac with the a of śap becomes the later form by ato guṇe (Pā. 6-1-97), acute by ekādeśa udāttena, and again the later form [with śatṛ], likewise acute, so in devayat the śatṛ stands acute; then ugitaś ca (Pā. 6-3-45 [as printed; for 4-1-6]) — ṅīp in the feminine; the print notes that ekādeśa udāttenodāttaḥ (Pā. 8-2-5) is in the second pāda of the eighth adhyāya, so that when the work of the seven adhyāyas is done by śaturanumo nadyajādī (Pā. 6-1-173), pūrvatrāsiddham (Pā. 8-2-1): when the work of the sixth adhyāya is done, the later [eighth-adhyāya] rules are asiddha, so one would expect the single-substitute accent to be asiddha; but the Mahābhāṣya on svarito vānudātte padādau (Pā. 8-2-6) — "ekādeśasvaro 'ntaraṅgaḥ ayavāyāvekādeśa śatṛsvaraikānudāttasarvānudāttārtham" [as printed] — says that the single-substitute accent is established when the accent of the śatṛ is made the cause; and since the word ends in śatṛ it is final-acute; so śaturanumo nadyajādī gives the acute to the ending. - sūktebhiḥ (p. 182): root vaca paribhāṣaṇe; ktic ktau ca saṃjñāyām — क्तिच्क्तौ च

संज्ञायाम् — ktic; vacisvapiyajādīnāṃ kiti — saṃprasāraṇa; su as preverb; su + ukta; savarṇadīrgha; coḥ kuḥ — c → k: sūkta; bhis does not take ais, by the Vedic bahulam; thāthaghañktājabitrakāṇām: final-acute of the later member. - īḷate: root īḍa stutau, adādi, anudāttet; the ātmanepada ending ta, e by ṭita ātmanepadānāṃ ṭere; śap; the ḍ → ḷ in the Bahvṛca tradition (ajmadhyasthaḍakārasya…, as above at Sūkta 33); ādiprabhṛtibhyaḥ śapaḥ: luk of śap; the lasārvadhātuka ta stands after an anudāttet root, hence tāsyanudāttenṅidadupadeśāt… makes it unaccented; but the relative word yam is connected, so by yadvṛttānityam [yadvṛttayogād anighātaḥ] the lowering is prevented and the root's accent stands. Rik 1 ends here (|| 1 ||).

Rik 36.2 (pp. 183–186, PDF 197–200)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 183)

> जनासो अग्निं दधिरे सहोवृधं हविष्मन्तो विधेम ते । स त्वं नो अद्य सुमना इहाविता भवा वाजेषु सन्त्य ॥ २ ॥

jánāso agníṃ dadhire sahovṛ́dhaṃ havíṣmanto vidhema te | sa tváṃ no adyá sumánā ihāvitā́ bhavā vā́jeṣu santya || 2 ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. In janāso the print has the stroke above nā and no mark below ja*; reproduced as printed. "bhavā vājeṣu" is printed run together, ಭವಾವಾಜೇಷು.)*

Pada-pāṭha (p. 183)

> जनासः । अग्निम् । दधिरे । सहःऽवृधम् । हविष्मन्तः । विधेम । ते ॥ सः । त्वम् । नः । अद्य । सुऽमनाः । इह । अविता । भव । वाजेषु । सन्त्य ॥ २ ॥

janāsaḥ | agnim | dadhire | sahaḥ-vṛdham | haviṣmantaḥ | vidhema | te || saḥ | tvam | naḥ | adya | su-manāḥ | iha | avitā | bhava | vājeṣu | santya || 2 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 183, in full)

> जनासोऽनुष्ठातारो जनाः सहोवृधं बलस्य वर्धयितारमग्निं दधिरे । धृतवन्तः । हविष्मन्तो हविर्युक्ता वयं हे अग्ने ते त्वां विधेम । परिचरेम । विधतिः परिचरणकर्मा । विधेम सपर्यतीति परिचरणकर्मसु पठितत्वात् । वाजेष्वन्नेषु सन्त्य दानशील हे अग्ने स त्वमद्यास्मिन्दिन इह कर्मणि नोऽस्मान्प्रति सुमनाः शोभनमनस्कोऽविता रक्षिता भव ॥

janāso 'nuṣṭhātāro janāḥ sahovṛdhaṃ balasya vardhayitāram agniṃ dadhire | dhṛtavantaḥ | haviṣmanto havir yuktā vayaṃ he agne te tvāṃ vidhema | paricarema | vidhatiḥ paricaraṇakarmā | vidhema saparyatīti paricaraṇakarmasu paṭhitatvāt | vājeṣv anneṣu santya dānaśīla he agne sa tvam adyāsmin dina iha karmaṇi no 'smān prati sumanāḥ śobhanamanasko 'vitā rakṣitā bhava ||

Translation: "Janāsaḥ — the people, the performers — dadhire — have taken up (dhṛtavantaḥ) Agni, the sahovṛdham, the increaser of strength. We, haviṣmantaḥ, furnished with oblations, O Agni, te vidhema — would serve you, wait on you ('vidhati' being a word of serving; 'vidhema', 'saparyati' are read among the verbs of serving). O santya, you who are given to giving, in vājeṣu — foods — O Agni: that [you], today, on this day, here in this rite, sumanāḥ — well-minded towards us (asmān prati) — avitā, a protector, bhava — be."

Grammatical tail of the bhāṣya (p. 183)

> सहोवृधम् । वृधु वृद्धौ । अस्मादन्तर्भावितण्यर्थात्क्विप् । कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् । हविष्मन्तः । तसौ मत्वर्थ इति भत्वेन पदत्वाभावाद्रुत्वाद्यभावः । विधेम । विध विधाने । तुदादित्वाच्छः । सुमनाः । शोभनं मनो यस्यासौ सुमनाः । सोर्मनसी अलोमोषसी । पा. ६-२-११७ । इत्युत्तरपदाद्युदात्तत्वम् । भव । पादादित्वात्तिङ्ङतिङ इति निघाताभावः । द्व्यचोऽतस्तिङ इति संहितायां दीर्घः । सन्त्य । षणु दाने । क्तिचि तितुत्रेत्यादिना इट्प्रतिषेधः । न क्तिचि दीर्घश्च । पा. ६-४-३९ । इत्यनुनासिकलोपदीर्घयोर्निषेधः । सन्तिर्दाता । तत्र भवः सन्त्यः । भवे छन्दसीति यत् ॥

sahovṛdham | vṛdhu vṛddhau | asmādantarbhāvitaṇyarthātkvip | kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvam | haviṣmantaḥ | tasau matvartha iti bhatvena padatvābhāvādrutvādyabhāvaḥ | vidhema | vidha vidhāne | tudāditvācchaḥ | sumanāḥ | śobhanaṃ mano yasyāsau sumanāḥ | sormanasī alomoṣasī | pā. 6-2-117 | ityuttarapadādyudāttatvam | bhava | pādāditvāttiṅṅatiṅa iti nighātābhāvaḥ | dvyaco 'tastiṅa iti saṃhitāyāṃ dīrghaḥ | santya | ṣaṇu dāne | ktici titutretyādinā iṭpratiṣedhaḥ | na ktici dīrghaśca | pā. 6-4-39 | ityanunāsikalopadīrghayorniṣedhaḥ | santirdātā | tatra bhavaḥ santyaḥ | bhave chandasīti yat ॥ (Sense, as before:) sahovṛdham (root vṛdhu vṛddhau with the sense of the causative understood [antarbhāvitaṇyartha], kvip; the later member of a kṛt-compound keeps its natural accent); haviṣmantaḥ (haviḥ eṣāṃ santi; matup; here the word has no pada-name before matup, so the ru-rules do not apply); vidhema (vidha vidhāne, tudādi; liṅ, the augment yāsuṭ, loss of s; śa; iya-substitution; no guṇa); sumanāḥ (śobhanaṃ mano yasya; somanasī alomoṣasī: the later member after su, ending in manas, is first-syllable acute); bhava (the accent of the verb not lowered because it stands at the beginning of the third pāda: pādādityāt tiṅ atiṅaḥ...; in the Saṃhitā lengthened by dvyacotastiṅaḥ); santya (ṣaṇu dāne; ktic; "santiḥ is a giver", santyaḥ — tatra bhavaḥ; bhave chandasi yat; vocative).

Pratipadārtha (p. 184) — "janāsaḥ — the people who perform the sacrifice; sahovṛdham — [him] who increases strength; agnim — the deity Agni; dadhire — take refuge in (O Agni!); haviṣmantaḥ — we, too, holding the oblation (ready); te — you; vidhema — we worship; vājeṣu — in matters of food; santya — O Agni, you who are generous in giving; saḥ tvam — such a you; adya — today; iha — in this sacrifice of ours; naḥ — to us; sumanāḥ — of favourable mind; avitā — a protector; bhava — be."

Bhāvārtha (p. 184) — "All the people engaged in Vedic works take refuge in the Agni deity, who increases their strength, for their protection. O Agni, we too worship you, having made the oblations ready. You are very generous in the giving of food. Showing that generosity today, be well-minded and our protector in this sacrificial work of ours."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 184) — "The people have approached the Agni who is the increaser of vigour; Agni, we worship you with oblations ; O liberal giver of food, be well disposed to us here this day and be our protector·" (the print ends with a raised dot where a full stop is expected).

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 184–185 - janāsaḥ — "an ancient usage of the word janāḥ: people." - dadhire = dhṛtavantaḥ: "with a spirit of devotion, they have come near to praise you; such is the sense." - sahovṛdham = balasya vardhayitāram: "sahaḥ means strength (Ni. [?]-2[?]: two small digits, the first and last the same glyph, not settled); one who increases strength, who gives strength." - haviṣmantaḥ = havir yuktā vayam: "we, who have made oblations ready to offer to you." - sumanāḥ = śobhanamanaskaḥ: "one of good, or generous, mind towards us."

Page 185

- avitā = rakṣitā: "a protector; one who guards us."
- vājeṣu santya — "one generous, giving in matters of food and other foods."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 185–186, PDF 199–200 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - sahovṛdham: root vṛdhu vṛddhau; "though there is no ṇic suffix, to yield its meaning it is said to contain a causative sense (antarbhāvitaṇyartha); after such a root, kvip; saho vardhayatīti sahovṛdh, 'that which increases strength'; vṛdh is acute by the root's accent; after the compound the later member, a kṛdanta, keeps its natural accent, so that stays." - haviṣmantaḥ: root hu dānādanayoḥ; arciśucihusṛpichādicharditṛbhya isiḥ (Uṇ. 2-26 [?]; the last digit doubtful) — the suffix isi; guṇa, av-substitution; since nabviṣayasyānisantasya (Phi. Sū. 26) excludes it by negation, the first syllable is not acute; haviḥ eṣāṃ santi; tadasyāstyasminn iti matup; havis + mat; tasau matvarthe — तसौ मत्वर्थे — (Pā. 1-4-19) before a suffix in the sense of matup the bases ending in t or s take the name bha — which makes the pada-name not apply; and since there is no pada-ness, sasajuṣo ruḥ (Pā. 8-2-66) and the other rules for ru do not operate. - vidhema: root vidha vidhāne, tudādi; parasmaipada; vidhiliṅ in the first-person plural mas, loss of s [sa-lopa]; tudādibhyaḥ śaḥ (Pā. 3-1-77) — śa; vidh + a + īma; guṇa prevented; yāsuṭ; iya-substitution and guṇa [as read]. - sumanāḥ: śobhanaṃ manaḥ yeṣāṃ te, a bahuvrīhi; somanasī alomoṣasī — सोमनसी अलोमोषसी — (Pā. 6-2-117) in a bahuvrīhi, after su, a later member that is not lomān/uṣas but ends in man or as is first-syllable acute; so the asun-final manas after su is first-syllable acute. - bhava: loṭ, second-person singular; "it stands at the beginning of the fourth pāda; anudāttaṃ sarvam apādādau is prohibited for what is at the beginning of a pāda; so the wholly-unaccented accent of tiṅ ṅatiṅaḥ does not come; in the Saṃhitā dvyacotastiṅaḥ (Pā. 6-3-135) lengthens the a of a tiṅ-form with two vowels: bhavā". - santya (pp. 185–186): root ṣaṇu dāne; dhātvādeḥ ṣaḥ saḥ; ktic ktau ca saṃjñāyām (Pā. 3-3-174) — in the sense of a name or a blessing, ktic/kta after roots; "sanutāt — santiḥ: san + ti";

Page 186

(continued, p. 186) na ktici dīrghaś ca — न क्तिचि दीर्घश्च — (Pā. 6-4-39) before ktic the lengthening and the loss of the nasal that other rules teach for roots like vana, tana do not apply; anunāsikasya kvijhaloḥ kṅiti (Pā. 6-4-15) — but this lengthening is also blocked; anudāttopadeśavanatitanotyādīnām anunāsikalopo jhali kṅiti (Pā. 6-4-37) — the loss of the nasal is likewise prohibited; the nasals are the ñ, m, ṅ, ṇ, n of the fifth letters; titutra… (Pā. 7-2-9) — no iṭ; santiḥ means "a giver" — santyaṃ bhavaḥ, santyaḥ; bhave chandasi (Pā. 4-4-110)

— yat in the Veda in the sense “born, existing in”; santi + ya; yasyeti ca — loss of the i; the vocative singular. Rik 2 ends here (|| 2 ||).

Rik 36.3 (pp. 186–189, PDF 200–203)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 186)

> प्र त्वा॑ दू॒तं वृ॑णीमहे॒ होता॑रं वि॒श्ववे॑दसं । म॒हस्ते॑ स॒तो वि च॑रन्त्य॒र्चयो॑ दि॒वि स्पृ॑शन्ति भा॒नवः॑ ॥

prá tvā dūtáṃ vṛṇīmahe hótāraṃ viśvávedasaṃ | mahás te sató ví caranty arcáyo diví spṛśanti bhānávaḥ ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. The print gives no verse number after the Saṃhitā, only ॥; the Pada closes // ३ ॥.)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 186)

> प्र । त्वा । दूतम् । वृणीमहे । होतारम् । विश्वऽवेदसम् ॥ महः । ते । सतः । वि । चरन्ति । अर्चयः । दिवि । स्पृशन्ति । भानवः ॥ ३ ॥

pra | tvā | dūtam | vṛṇīmahe | hotāram | viśva-vedasam || mahaḥ | te | sataḥ | vi | caranti | arcayaḥ | divi | spṛśanti | bhānavaḥ || 3 ||

Page 187

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 187, in full)

> हे अग्ने होतारं होमनिष्पादकमाह्वातारं वा विश्ववेदसं सर्वज्ञं दूतं देवानां दूत्ये प्रवृत्तम् । अग्निर्वै देवानां दूत आसीदिति श्रुत्यन्तरात् । तादृशं त्वां वृणीमहे । प्रकर्षेण वरणं कुर्मः । महो महतः सतो नित्यं वर्तमानस्य ते तवार्चयो दीप्तयो वि चरन्ति । विविधं प्रचरन्ति । भानवस्त्वदीया रश्मयो दिवि द्युलोके स्पृशन्ति । तत्रत्यान्प्राणिनः प्रकाशयन्तीत्यर्थः ॥

he agne hotāraṃ homaniṣpādakam āhvātāraṃ vā viśvavedasaṃ sarvajñaṃ dūtaṃ devānāṃ dūtye pravṛttam | agnir vai devānāṃ dūta āsīd iti śrutyantarāt | tādṛśaṃ tvāṃ vṛṇīmahe | prakarṣeṇa varaṇaṃ kurmaḥ | maho mahataḥ sato nityaṃ vartamānasya te tavārcayo dīptayo vi caranti | vividhaṃ pracaranti | bhānavas tvadīyā raśmayo divi dyuloke spṛśanti | tatratyān prāṇinaḥ prakāśayantīty arthaḥ ||

Translation: “O Agni — the hotṛ, the accomplisher of the offering or the caller; viśvavedasam, all-knowing; the dūta, engaged in the messenger’s work of the gods (‘Agni was the messenger of the gods’, so another Vedic text) — such a one we pra vṛṇīmahe, choose earnestly. Mahaḥ sataḥ te — of you, great and ever existing — arcayaḥ, the flames, vi caranti — move about in many ways; bhānavaḥ, your rays, divi spṛśanti — touch the heavenly world; they illumine the beings there.”

Grammatical tail of the bhāṣya (p. 187)

> विश्ववेदसम् । विश्वानि वेत्तीति विश्ववेदाः । असुन् । मरुद्बृधादित्वात्पूर्वपदान्तोदात्तत्वम् । यद्वा । वेद इति धननाम । विश्वं वेदो धनं यस्य । बहुव्रीहौ विश्वं संज्ञायामिति पूर्वपदान्तोदात्तत्वम् । महः । मह पूजायाम् । क्विप्चेति क्विप् । सावेकाच इति जस उदात्तत्वम् । यद्वा । महच्छब्देऽच्छब्दलोपश्छान्दसः । सतः ।

अस्तेः शतरि श्नसोरल्लोप इत्यकारलोपः । शतुरनुम इति विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वम् । दिवि । ऊडिदमिति विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वम् ॥

viśvavedasam | viśvāni vettīti viśvavedāḥ | asun | marudvṛdhāditvātpūrvapadāntodāttatvam | ɣadvā | veda iti dhananāma | viśvaṃ vedo dhanaṃ ɣasya | bahuvrīhau viśvaṃ saṃjñāyāmiti pūrvapadāntodāttatvam | mahaḥ | maha pūjāyām | kvipceti kvip | sāvekāca iti jasa udāttatvam | ɣadvā | mahacchabde 'cchabdalopaśchāndasaḥ | sataḥ | asteḥ śatari śnasorallopa itɣakāralopaḥ | śaturanuma iti vibhakterudāttatvam | divi | ūḍidamiti vibhakterudāttatvam ||

("jasa" is printed (ꣳꣴ) here and in the grammar notes on pp. 188–189 where the genitive ending ṅas is meant. Sense:) viśvavedasam (viśvāni vetti, the Uṇādi asun, with the first-member accent; or veda = wealth, a bahuvrīhi with bahuvrīhau viśvaṃ saṃjñāyām, so the first member is final-acute); mahaḥ (maha pūjāyām, kvip; the genitive ending after a one-vowelled base is acute by sāvekāca…; or from mahat, with the Vedic loss of āt); sataḥ (as bhuvi, śatṛ, śnasor allopaḥ, and śaturanumo nadɣajādī for the ending's acute); divi (ūḍidam…, the ending acute). These are taken up again in the Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā below.

Pratipadārtha (p. 187) — "hotāram — [O Agni] who brings the offering to completion, or the inviter (the caller) of the gods; viśvavedasam — all-knowing; dūtam — one engaged in the messenger's work of the gods; (such) you, pra vṛṇīmahe — we choose first; mahaḥ — of great power (worshipful); sataḥ — being without destruction and eternal; te — your; arcayaḥ — the flames; vi caranti — spread in all directions; bhānavaḥ — [your] rays; divi — in the mid-region; spṛśanti — touch (and make bright the beings there)."

Bhāvārtha (p. 187) — "O Agni, you accomplish our offerings. You are the one who calls the gods to our sacrifice on our behalf. You are all-knowing. You are busy in the messenger's work of the gods. Therefore we choose you, at our sacrifice, as the chief (we call you). You are of great power, imperishable, without beginning or end. Such flames of yours spread in all directions and light all the worlds. Your rays enter the mid-region and light up the beings there."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 187) — "We select (invoke) you, O Agni, the messenger and invoker of gods ; yon [sic] are ɔndowed [sic] with all knowledge ; you are mighty and your flames spread in all directions touching even heaven·" (the print ends with a raised dot where a full stop is expected).

Page 188

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣaɣagaḷu), p. 188 - dūtam — "since there is a Vedic statement 'agnir devānāṃ dūta āsīt', Agni is the messenger who goes to men and calls the gods to them." - hotāram = homaniṣpādakam āhvātāraṃ vā: "the one who accomplishes the offering, or who calls the gods to come to the sacrifice." - viśvavedasam — "the one who knows all." - vi caranty arcayaḥ — "your lights spread all round; when Agni blazes, its brightness spreads everywhere, is the sense." - divi spṛśanti bhānavaḥ — "the rays of your light touch even heaven."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 188–189, PDF 202–203 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - viśvavedasam: viśvaṃ vetti iti viśvavedāḥ — "one who knows the universe"; root vida jñāne; sarvadhātubhyo 'sun — the Uṇādi suffix asun (Uṇ. 4-628 [?] as read: ৬-২৩৬, the 6 and 2 not certain); since it belongs to the marudvṛdhādi group, the first member is final-acute (pūrvapadāntodāttatva); or, as the Nirukta says (Ni. 2-1-4, as printed), veda is a word for wealth: viśvaṃ vedo dhanaṃ yasya saḥ — "he whose wealth is the whole [world]"; a bahuvrīhi, by which bahuvrīhau prakṛtyā pūrvapadam would give the natural accent of the first member, but this is overridden by bahuvrīhau viśvaṃ saṃjñāyām (Pā. 6-2-106) — in a bahuvrīhi where a name is shown the first member viśva is final-acute; hence final-acute. - mahaḥ: root maha pūjāyām; kvip ca (Pā. 3-2-76) — kvip; the genitive singular, printed jas [sic; for ṅas]; when the sup follows, maṭ [as printed] is one-vowelled, so sāvekācas tṛtīyādir vibhaktiḥ (Pā. 6-1-168) — the ending from the third case onward after a one-vowelled base is acute, hence as is acute; or mahat from vartamāne pṛṣanmahadbṛhajjagacchatṛvac ca… (Uṇ. 2-242, as printed) — mahat formed with the suffix ati, whose āt is lost in the Veda; the ending has its natural accent; since the śatṛ-like substitution applies, śaturanumo nadyajādī (Pā. 6-1-173) may be cited as well for the ending's accent.

Page 189

- sataḥ (p. 189): root as bhuvi, laṭ, śatṛ, śap; ādiprabhṛtibhyaḥ śapaḥ — luk of śap; as + at; śnasor allopaḥ — श्नसोरल्लोपः — (Pā. 6-4-111) the a of as and of śnā is lost before a kit/ñit sārvadhātuka: s + at; sat, genitive singular (printed jas [sic]), śaturanumo nadyajādī — the ending after a word ending in śatṛ that is final-acute and does not take num is acute: sataḥ.
- divi: ūḍidaṃ padādyāpumraidyubhyaḥ (Pā. 6-1-171) — the asarvanāmasthāna ending after div is acute: divi. Rik 3 ends here (|| 3 ||).

Rik 36.4 (p. 189 onward, PDF 203–)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 189)

> देवासस्त्वा वरुणो मित्रो अर्यमा सं दूतं प्रत्नमिन्धते । विश्वं सो अग्ने जयति त्वया धनं यस्ते द मर्त्यः ॥ ४ ॥

devāsas tvā váruṇo mitró aryamā́ saṃ dūtáṃ pratnám indhate | viśváṃ só agne jayati tváyā dhánaṃ yás te da mártyaḥ || 4 ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. The print breaks the second line after "यस्ते द" and goes on with "मर्त्यः" on the next line: the syllables dāśa of dadāśa are missing in the Saṃhitā [sic]; the Pada has ददाश.)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 189)

> देवासः । त्वा । वरुणः । मित्रः । अर्यमा । सम् । दूतम् । प्रत्नम् । इन्धते ॥ विश्वम् । सः । अग्ने । जयति । त्वया । धनम् । यः । ते । ददाश । मर्त्यः ॥ ४ ॥

devāsaḥ | tvā | varuṇaḥ | mitraḥ | aryamā | sam | dūtam | pratnam | indhate || viśvam | saḥ | agne | jayati | tvayā | dhanam | yaḥ | te | dadāśa | martyaḥ || 4 ||

Rik 36.4 (continued) — bhāṣya, Pratipadārtha, Bhāvārtha, English, Special Topics, grammar (pp. 190–191, PDF 205–206)

Page 190

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 190, in full)

> हे अग्ने वरुणादयस्त्रयो देवासो देवाः प्रत्नं पुरातनं दूतं त्वां समिन्धते । सम्यग्दीपयन्ति । यो मर्त्यो मनुष्यो यजमानस्ते तुभ्यं ददाश हविर्दत्तवान् स यजमानस्त्वया सहायभूतेन विश्वं सर्वं धनं जयति ॥

he agne varuṇādayas trayo devāso devāḥ pratnaṃ purātanaṃ dūtaṃ tvāṃ samindhate | samyag dīpayanti | yo martyo manuṣyo yajamānas te tubhyaṃ dadāśa havir dattavān sa yajamānas tvayā sahāyabhūtena viśvaṃ sarvaṃ dhanaṃ jayati ||

Translation: "O Agni, the three gods, devāsaḥ, Varuṇa and the others, sam indhate — kindle fully — you, the pratna, the ancient dūta, messenger. Yo martyaḥ — the mortal, the man, the sacrificer, who te dadāśa — has given you the oblation — that sacrificer viśvaṃ dhanaṃ jayati, wins all wealth, tvayā, with you as his helper."

Grammatical tail of the bhāṣya (p. 190)

> अर्यमा । अर्यान्निमीत इत्यर्यमा । श्वन्नुक्षन्नित्यादिना । उ. १-१५८ । कनिन्प्रत्ययान्तो निपातितः । इन्धते । ञिइन्धी दीप्तौ । अस्माल्लटि झस्यादादेशे श्नम् । श्नान्नलोपः । पा. ६-४-२३ । श्नसोरल्लोप इत्यकारलोपः । ददाश । दाशृ दाने । लिटि लित्स्वरेण प्रत्ययात्पूर्वस्याकारस्योदात्तत्वम् । यद्वृत्तयोगादनिघातः ॥

aryamā | aryānnimīta ityaryamā | śvannukṣannityādinā | u. 1-158 | kaninpratyayānto nipātitaḥ | indhate | ñiindhī dīptau | asmāllaṭi jhasyādādeśe śnam | śnānnalopaḥ | pā. 6-4-23 | śnasorallopa ityakāralopaḥ | dadāśa | dāśṛ dāne | liṭi litsvareṇa pratyayātpūrvasyākārasyodāttatvam | yadvṛttayogādanighātaḥ ||

(Sense:) aryamā (aryān nimīte, "he measures out [or favours] the noble"; given as kanin-ending by nipātana in the Uṇādi sūtra śvann ukṣan…, printed here Uṇ. 1-158 [?] — the third digit is the ञ-like glyph — and in the grammar note on p. 191 Uṇ. 1-152 [?]); indhate (ñi-indhī dīptau; śnam, with śnān nalopaḥ and śnasor allopaḥ); dadāśa (dāśṛ dāne, liṭ, with the accent of the liṭ-preceding letter [liti], and no lowering because of the connected relative yaḥ: yadvṛttayogād anighātaḥ).

Pratipadārtha (p. 190) — "agne — O Agni; varuṇaḥ, mitraḥ, aryamā, devāsaḥ — the three deities Varuṇa, Mitra and Aryaman; pratnam — ancient; dūtam — the messenger, you; sam indhate — cause [you] to blaze well; yaḥ martyaḥ — whatever sacrificer; te — to you; dadāśa — offers the oblation; saḥ — that sacrificer; tvayā — by you (with your help); viśvaṃ dhanam — all wealth; jayati — wins."

Bhāvārtha (p. 190) — "O Agni, you are very ancient, a messenger of the gods from the beginning. The three deities Varuṇa, Mitra and Aryaman too make you blaze. Those among men who, with you in view, perform sacrifices and offer you oblations, win by your help all the wealth they need."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 190) — "The gods Varuna, Mitra and Aryaman, kindle you, their ancient messenger; the man who has offered you oblations gets through you great wealth·" (the print ends with a raised dot where a full stop is expected; "Varuna", "Aryaman" as printed).

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 190–191 (the rest of p. 190 below these two items is blank space in the print) - pratnam = purātanam: "Agni is long famed as the messenger of the gods." - sam indhate = samyag dīpayanti: "they cause [him] to shine well; they put wood and the like into Agni and make him blaze well."

Page 191

- tvayā — "by you, or by your help."
- yas te dadāśa martyaḥ — "that man who offers oblations to you."
- viśvaṃ dhanaṃ jayati — "viśvam means all, i.e. much wealth: he wins, he gains."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (p. 191, PDF 205 — grammar page, noted briefly) - aryamā: "śvan, ukṣan, pūṣan, plīhan, kledan, snehan, mūrdhan, majjan, aryaman, viśvapsan, parijman, mātariśvan, maghavan" — these thirteen words, by the Uṇādi sūtra śvann ukṣan pūṣan… maghavann iti (Uṇ. 1-152 [?], as printed here; 1-158 [?] in the bhāṣya tail), are given as ending in kanin; in aryaman the root mā māne with arya as its upapada, the suffix kanin; aryā + an; ato lopa iṭi ca — अतो लोप इटि च — (Pā. 6-4-64) loss of the ā; by the suffix-accent the word is final-acute. - indhate: root ñi-indhī dīptau, laṭ, jha; ātmanepadeṣv anataḥ — आत्मनेपदेष्वनतः — (Pā. 7-1-5) in the ātmanepada, a jh [of the ending] after a base not ending in a is replaced by at: so jha → at; rudhādibhyaḥ śnam (Pā. 3-1-78) — śnam, which is mit, placed after the last vowel by midaco 'ntyāt paraḥ; ind + na + dh + at, śnān nalopaḥ (Pā. 6-4-23) — loss of the n [of śnam] before the jh [of the ending]: the n in front; and śnasor allopaḥ — loss of the a of śnam, as the earlier mantra [Rik 3] explains. - dadāśa: root dāśṛ dāne, liṭ, tip; parasmaipadānāṃ ṇalatusustha… — ṇal; doubling (dvitva), shortening (hrasva), the ś in the reduplicate: by abhyāse carca — the jaś [or car] for its own class: "prakṛtijaś"; the letter before the ṇal suffix is acute by liti (Pā. 6-1-193); because the relative word yaḥ [in yas te dadāśa] is connected, yadvṛttayogād anighātaḥ; the print recalls that "pūjanāt pūjitam anudāttaṃ kāṣṭhādibhyaḥ", in the sūtra with the repeated pūjita, the separation notwithstanding, the prohibition of yadvṛtta stands, as shown before: so tiṅ ṅatiṅaḥ's wholly-unaccented does not arise. Rik 4 ends here (|| 4 ||).

Rik 36.5 (pp. 191–195, PDF 205–209)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 191)

मन्द्रो होता गृहपतिरग्ने दूतो विशामसि । त्वे विश्वा संगतानि व्रता ध्रुवा यानि देवा अकृण्वत ॥ ५ ॥

mandró hótā gṛhápatir ágne dūtó viśāmasi | tve viśvā sáṃgatāni vratā dhruvā yáni devā ákṛṇvata || 5 ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. In viśvā the underline stands under śvā*.)*

Page 192

Pada-pāṭha (p. 192)

मन्द्रः । होता । गृहऽपतिः । अग्ने । दूतः । विशाम् । असि ॥ त्वे इति । विश्वा । सम्ऽगतानि । व्रता । ध्रुवा । यानि । देवाः । अकृण्वत ॥ ५ ॥

mandraḥ | hotā | gṛha-patiḥ | agne | dūtaḥ | viśām | asi || tve iti | viśvā | saṃ-gatāni | vratā | dhruvā | yāni | devāḥ | akṛṇvata || 5 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 192, in full)

हे अग्ने त्वं मन्द्रो हर्षहेतुर्होता देवानामाह्वाता विशां यजमानरूपाणां प्रजानां गृहपतिर्गृहस्य पालको दूतो देवदूतोऽसि । त्वे त्वयि विश्वा व्रता सर्वाणि कर्माणि संगतानि । व्रतं कर्मेति कर्मनामसु व्रतशब्दः पठितः । पृथिव्यादयो देवा ध्रुवा स्थिराणि यानि कर्माण्यकृण्वत कृतवन्तः । पृथिवी धारयति पर्जन्यो वर्षति सूर्यः प्रकाशयति । तान्येतानि त्वयि संगतानीति पूर्वत्रान्वयः ॥

he agne tvaṃ mandro harṣahetur hotā devānām āhvātā viśāṃ yajamānarūpāṇāṃ prajānāṃ gṛhapatir gṛhasya pālako dūto devadūto 'si | tve tvayi viśvā vratā sarvāṇi karmāṇi saṃgatāni | vrataṃ karmeti karmanāmasu vrataśabdaḥ paṭhitaḥ | pṛthivyādayo devā dhruvā sthirāṇi yāni karmāṇy akṛṇvata kṛtavantaḥ | pṛthivī dhārayati parjanyo varṣati sūryaḥ prakāśayati | tāny etāni tvayi saṃgatānīti pūrvatrānvayaḥ ||

Translation: "O Agni, you are mandraḥ, the cause of delight, the hotṛ, the caller of the gods, the gṛhapati — the master, the protector of the house — of the viśām, the creatures in the form of sacrificers, and the dūta, the gods' messenger. Tve — in you — viśvā vratā — all works — are saṃgatāni, joined together ('vrata' being read among the names for 'work'). The gods, earth and the rest, akṛṇvata, have done the dhruvā, steady, works: the earth supports, Parjanya rains, the Sun illumines: those works are united in you — so the connection with the preceding."

Grammatical tail of the bhāṣya (p. 192; the varga number ८ closes it)

गृहपतिः । पत्यावैश्वर्य इति पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् । त्वे । सुपां सुलुगिति सप्तम्येकवचनस्य शे आदेशः । त्वमावेकवचन इति मपर्यन्तस्य त्वादेशः । शेषे लोप इति टिलोपपक्ष उदात्तनिवृत्तिस्वरेण विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वम् । अन्त्यलोपपक्षे त्वेकादेशस्वरेण । संगतानि । गमेः कर्मणि निष्ठायामेकाचः । पा. ७-२-१० । इतीट्प्रतिषेधः । अनुदात्तोपदेशेत्यादिनानुनासिकलोपः । गतिरनन्तर इति गतेः प्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् । व्रता ध्रुवेत्युभयत्र शेर्लोपः । अकृण्वत । कृवि हिंसाकरणयोश्च । व्यत्ययेनात्मनेपदम् । इदित्त्वान्नुम् । धिन्विकृण्व्योरच्चेत्युप्रत्ययः ॥ ८ ॥

gṛhapatiḥ | patyāvaiśvarya iti pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvam | tve | supāṃ sulugiti saptamyekavacanasya śe ādeśaḥ | tvamāvekavacana iti maparyantasya tvādeśaḥ | śeṣe lopa iti ṭilopapakṣa udāttanivṛttisvareṇa vibhakterudāttatvam | antyalopapakṣe tvekādeśasvareṇa | saṃgatāni | gameḥ karmaṇi niṣṭhāyāmekācaḥ | pā. 7-2-10 | itīṭpratiṣedhaḥ | anudāttopadeśetyādinānunāsikalopaḥ | gatiranantara iti gateḥ prakṛtisvaratvam | vratā dhruvetyubhayatra śerlopaḥ | akṛṇvata | kṛvi hiṃsākaraṇayośca | vyatyayenātmanepadam | idittvānnum | dhinvikṛṇvyoraccetyupratyayaḥ ‖ 8 ‖

(Sense:) gṛhapatiḥ (patyāv aiśvaryān, with the first-member natural accent; tve by supāṃ sulug…, śe for the seventh-case ṅi, and tvamāv ekavacane — tva in the singular; śeṣe lopaḥ or the loss of the final; the accent of the ending by the udāttanivṛtti accent in the one view, and by the single-substitute in the other); saṃgatāni (gamer: niṣṭhā in the sense of the object; ekāca upadeśe 'nudāttāt (Pā. 7-2-10) bars iṭ; anudāttopadeśa… loses the nasal; gatir anantaraḥ: the preverb's natural accent); vratā dhruvā (śi lost by śeś chandasi bahulam); akṛṇvata (kṛñ hiṃsākaraṇayoḥ; vyatyaya of voice, ātmanepada; dhinvikṛṇvor a ca gives u for śap; the accent of the verb not lowered for the connected yāni).

Pratipadārtha (p. 192) — "agne — O Agni; mandraḥ — the giver of delight; hotā — the caller [of the gods to the sacrifice]; viśām — of the people who are sacrificers; gṛhapatiḥ — the protector of the house; dūtaḥ — the messenger of the gods; asi — you are; devāḥ — the gods, earth and the rest; yāni — which; dhruvā — steady; vratā — works; akṛṇvata — have done (the support of the earth, Parjanya's raining, the Sun's shining, and in the same way the works suited to the nature of the other gods); viśvā — [for the welfare of the world] all those; tve — in you; saṃgatāni — joined together, are bound up."

Page 193

Bhāvārtha (p. 193) — "O Agni, you are a kinsman to men and to the gods alike. You are the giver of delight to all. You call the gods to their sacrifices on men's behalf. You are the protector of the sacrificers' homes. You are the messenger of the gods to men, and the support of all their works. The works the earth does in supporting, the work Parjanya does in raining, the work the Sun does in shining, and likewise all the works that the other gods firmly carry on for the welfare of the world, all those join and are bound up in you — that is, they proceed through you."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 193) — "O Agni, you are the giver of delight, the invoker and messenger of gods and the lord of the house ; the good actions which the gods perform are all united in you·" (printed "actions" with a damaged letter; the print ends with a raised dot).

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 193 - mandraḥ = harṣahetuḥ: "one who causes delight." - hotā = devānām āhvātā: "one who calls the gods at sacrifices." - gṛhapatiḥ — "the protector of the house. Since Agni is always in the house of the sacrificer who performs works such as the setting up of the fires, Agni is called the protector of the house." - saṃgatāni — "are joined. All the works the gods perform each [in their own sphere] are joined in you, i.e. are fulfilled only by your help." - vratā dhruvā yāni devā akṛṇvata — "the works that the gods, by their duty, have to do: the earth gives support to beings and helps them to live; Parjanya sends the rain, his own work; the Sun gives light for the comfort of the people of the world; and so on, whatever works the gods do day by day, all are joined in you, Agni — that is, go on by your help."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 193–195, PDF 207–209 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - gṛhapatiḥ (pp. 193–194): gṛhasya patiḥ — "the lord of the house"; the word pati ends in the Uṇādi suffix ḍati [pāteḥ ḍatiḥ]; patyāv aiśvarye — पत्यावैश्वर्ये — (Pā. 6-2-18): when pati in the sense of lordship follows, the first member of a tatpuruṣa keeps its natural accent; so gṛha, the first member, keeps its own accent.

Page 194

(continued, p. 194) Gṛha is formed with gehe kaḥ (Pā. 3-1-144): the suffix ka after graha upādāne when geha (a house) is the agent; grahijyāvayivyadhivaṣṭi… — saṃprasāraṇa of gṛ: gṛha; the suffix-accent makes it final-acute. - tve (p. 194): after yuṣmad, the seventh-case singular ṅi, replaced by śe by supāṃ sulug…; tvamāv ekavacane — त्वमावेकवचने — (Pā. 7-2-92 [as printed; for 7-2-97]) tva, ma replace the end-portion of yuṣmad, asmad in the singular, so tva; because the ending is a substitute, yo 'ci does not apply; śeṣe lopaḥ (Pā. 7-2-90) — loss of the remaining d [or ad] before an ending: "the first view is the ṭi-loss alternative (loss of the ad that is left beyond the ma), the second is the final-letter-loss alternative. Tva, ma are said to be ajanta or halanta, two views"; on the ajanta view, ato guṇe gives pararūpa; tvad + e: the loss of the ṭi; and by anudāttasya ca yatrodāttalopaḥ the e is acute; the root yuṣ has the Uṇādi madik — yuṣyasibhyāṃ madik — so the suffix-accent gives the ad acute, and it becomes the cause of its loss; in the final-letter-loss view, tva + e: ato guṇe gives pararūpa, and ekādeśa udāttenodāttaḥ makes the e acute. - saṃgatāni: sam the preverb, root gaṃḷ gatau; the suffix kta in the sense of the object by niṣṭhā (Pā. 3-2-102); tayor evakṛtyaktakhalarthāḥ — तयोरेव कृत्यक्तखलर्थाः — (Pā. 3-4-70) the kṛtya suffixes, kta, khal-sense suffixes occur in the senses of bhāva and karman only; so with the transitive gam the kta is in the object sense; ekāca upadeśe 'nudāttāt (Pā. 7-2-10) — no iṭ; anudāttopadeśa… — loss of the m; gatir anantaraḥ (Pā. 6-2-49) — a directly adjacent gati (preverb) keeps its natural accent before a kṛdanta in the object sense. - vratā, dhruvā: these forms stand for vratāni, dhruvāṇi; in both the śi is lost by śeś chandasi bahulam. - akṛṇvata (pp. 194–195): root kṛvi hiṃsākaraṇayoḥ ca, idit, so idito num dhātoḥ; "this root is in the first class and also read in the svādi class; in the sense of motion too it has usage" (p. 195); this is parasmaipada, but by vyatyayo bahulam the ātmanepada comes; laṅ, jha; dhinvikṛṇvor a ca — धिन्विकृण्व्योर च — (Pā. 3-1-80): after dhinv and kṛṇv the final letter becomes a, and u comes in place of śap when a kartṛ-sense sārvadhātuka follows; so kṛn + u + jha; ātmanepadeṣv nataḥ — jha → at; the augment aṭ; akṛn + u + at; ato lopaḥ (Pā. 6-4-48) — the a of what ends in a at the time of teaching is lost before an ārdhadhātuka; no guṇa; yaṇ-substitution; ṛvarṇān nasya ṇatvaṃ vācyam — n → ṇ: akṛṇvata. Rik 5 ends here (|| 5 ||).

Rik 36.6 (p. 195 onward, PDF 209–)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 195)

त्वे इद॑ग्ने सु॒भगे॑ यविष्ठ्य॒ विश्व॒मा हू॑यते ह॒विः । स त्वं॑ नो अ॒द्य सु॒मना॑ उ॒ताप॒रं यक्षि॑ दे॒वान्त्सु॒वीर्या ॥ ६ ॥

tve íd agne subháge yaviṣṭhya víśvam ā́ hūyate havíḥ | sá tvaṃ no adyá sumánā utāparáṃ yákṣi devā́nt suvīryā́ || 6 ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. The underlines in "yaviṣṭhya", "viśvamā" and "devāntsu…" stand under the conjunct letters ṣṭhya, śva and ntsu; placed on those syllables.)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 195)

त्वे इति । इत् । अग्ने । सुऽभगे । यविष्ठ्य । विश्वम् । आ । हूयते । हविः ॥ सः । त्वम् । नः । अद्य । सुऽमनाः । उत । अपरम् । यक्षि । देवान् । सुऽवीर्या ॥ ६ ॥

tve iti | it | agne | su-bhage | yaviṣṭhya | viśvam | ā | hūyate | haviḥ || saḥ | tvam | naḥ | adya | su-manāḥ | uta | aparam | yakṣi | devān | su-vīryā || 6 ||

Rik 36.6 (continued) — bhāṣya, Pratipadārtha, Bhāvārtha, English, Special Topics, grammar (pp. 195–197, PDF 209–211)

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (foot of p. 195 – p. 196, in full)

> हे यविष्ठ्य युवत्तमाग्ने सुभगे सौभाग्ययुक्ते त्वे इत् त्वय्येव विश्वं सर्वं हविरा हूयते । सर्वतः प्रक्षिप्यते । स त्वं नोऽस्मान्प्रति सुमनाः शोभनमनस्को भूत्वाद्यास्मिन्दिन उतापि चापरं श्वोऽपरं श्व इत्यादिकमुत्तरं कालं सर्वस्मिन्नपि काले नैरन्तर्येण सुवीर्या शोभनवीर्योपेतान्देवान्यक्षि । यज ॥

he yaviṣṭhya yuvattamāgne subhage saubhāgyayukte tve it tvayyeva viśvaṃ sarvaṃ havirā hūyate | sarvataḥ prakṣipyate | sa tvaṃ no 'smānprati sumanāḥ śobhanamanasko bhūtvādyāsmindina utāpi cāparaṃ śvo 'paraṃ śva ityādikamuttaraṃ kālaṃ sarvasminnapi kāle nairantaryeṇa suvīryā śobhanavīryopetāndevānyakṣi | yaja ‖

Translation: "O yaviṣṭhya — the very youngest — Agni, subhage, endowed with good fortune: tve it, in you alone, viśvaṃ haviḥ — every oblation — ā hūyate, is cast on all sides. That [you], being sumanāḥ, well-minded towards us, today, on this day, uta — and — aparam, in the later time, tomorrow, the day after, and so on — in all times, continuously, yakṣi — sacrifice to, i.e. perform the worship of — the devān suvīryā (printed so, glossed śobhanavīryopetān), the gods endowed with good heroic strength. (Yakṣi = yaja.)"

Page 196

Grammatical tail of the bhāṣya (p. 196)

> सुभगे । शोभनो भगो यस्येति बहुव्रीहावाद्युदात्तत्वम् । द्व्यच्छन्दसीत्युत्तरपदाद्युदात्तत्वम् । यविष्ठ्य । युवशब्दादिष्ठन् । स्थूलदूरेत्यादिना । पा. ६-४-१५६ । यणादेः परस्य लोपः पूर्वस्य च गुणः । छान्दसो यकारोपजनः । यक्षि । बहुलं छन्दसि शपो लुक् । सुवीर्या । शोभनं वीर्यं येषाम् । वीरवीर्यौ चेत्युत्तरपदाद्युदात्तत्वम् । सुपां सुलुगिति विभक्तेराकारः ॥

subhage | śobhano bhago yasyeti bahuvrīhāvādyudāttatvam | dvyacchandasītyuttarapadādyudāttatvam | yaviṣṭhya | yuvaśabdādiṣṭhan | sthūladūretyādinā | pā. 6-4-156 | yaṇādeḥ parasya lopaḥ pūrvasya ca guṇaḥ | chāndaso yakāropajanaḥ | yakṣi | bahulaṃ chandasi śapo luk | suvīryā | śobhanaṃ vīryaṃ yeṣām | vīravīryau cetyuttarapadādyudāttatvam | supāṃ sulugiti vibhakterākāraḥ ‖

(Sense:) subhage (śobhano bhago yasya, a bahuvrīhi; first-syllable acute); yaviṣṭhya (yuvan + iṣṭhan; sthūladūra… — the ya of yuvan is dropped and the preceding vowel takes guṇa; the y is inserted by Vedic usage); yakṣi (laṭ/loṭ sense; śap lost by bahulaṃ chandasi; ś → ṣ, ṣ → k, ṣatva); suvīryā (śobhanaṃ vīryaṃ yeṣām; vīravīryau ca: first-syllable acute; the śas ending replaced by ā).

Pratipadārtha (p. 196) — "yaviṣṭhya — exceedingly youthful; agne — O Agni; subhage — meritorious; tve it — in you alone; viśvam — all; haviḥ — oblation; ā hūyate — is offered everywhere; saḥ tvam — such a you; naḥ — with regard to us; sumanāḥ — with an auspicious mind; adya — today; uta — and; aparam — on other days too (without interruption); suvīryā — [on behalf of] gods who give prosperity and are powerful; devān — in the name of the gods; yakṣi — perform sacrifice."

Bhāvārtha (p. 196) — "O Agni, you are ancient yet ageless. You are always exceedingly youthful, and meritorious. All the oblations of the sacrifices are offered in you alone, everywhere. Be well-minded towards us, the sacrificers, and, to bring us prosperity, summon the gods at all times and perform sacrifice, without break, in the name of those prosperous and powerful gods."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 196) — "Youthfull and good natured Agni, all the oblations intended for the gods are offered through you ; be well disposed towards us now or at any other time and convey the oblations to the powerful gods." ("Youthfull" and "disposed" [printed "dispcsed"] as in the print.)

Page 197

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 197 - adya uta aparam — "now, and at other times: that is, on this day, on which we are performing the sacrifice, and on other days, in future, on which we may perform sacrifices — now and in future [the print's English]." - suvīryā = suvīryān | śobhanavīryopetān: "of very mighty valour; this word is in the accusative plural, an adjective of the word devān."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (p. 197, PDF 211 — grammar page, noted briefly) - subhage: śobhano bhago yasya saḥ, a bahuvrīhi; ādyudāttaṃ dvyac chandasi — आद्युदात्तं द्व्यच्छन्दसि — (Pā. 6-2-119): in a bahuvrīhi compound a second member of two vowels, beginning with an acute, after su, is first-syllable acute; the first member's natural accent does not arise. - yaviṣṭhya: after yuvan, atiśāyane tamabiṣṭhanau (Pā. 5-3-55) — iṣṭhan; yuvan + iṣṭha; sthūladūrayuvahrasvakṣiprakṣudrāṇāṃ yaṇādiparaṃ pūrvasya ca guṇaḥ — स्थूलदूरयुवह्रस्वक्षिप्रक्षुद्राणां यणादिपरं पूर्वस्य च गुणः — (Pā. 6-4-156): before iṣṭhan, imanic and īyasun, the part of these six words [sthūla, dūra, yuvan, hrasva, kṣipra, kṣudra] beginning with the yaṇ is dropped and the preceding vowel takes guṇa: so yuva → yo, then av-substitution; the y is, in the Veda, added extra. - yakṣi: root yaja devapūjādau, loṭ, sip; bahulaṃ chandasi (Pā. 2-4-73): luk of śap; vraścabhrasjasṛjamṛjayajarājabhrājacchaśāṃ ṣaḥ (Pā. 8-2-36): j → ṣ; ṣaḍhoḥ kaḥ si — ṣ → k; ādeśapratyayayoḥ — s → ṣ. - suvīryā: śobhanaṃ vīryaṃ yeṣāṃ te, a bahuvrīhi; vīravīryau ca — वीरवीर्यौ च — (Pā. 6-2-120; the print sets "(Pā. Sū." twice): in a bahuvrīhi the words vīra, vīrya after su are first-syllable acute in the Veda; vīra vikrāntau with ac gives vīra, and aco yat or tatra sādhuḥ gives vīrya; the print then argues that the sūtra yato 'nāvaḥ would already give the first-syllable acute for vīrya, so the mention of vīrya in this sūtra shows that yato 'nāvaḥ does not apply to vīrya; the accusative plural śas is replaced by ā by supāṃ sulug…. Rik 6 ends here (|| 6 ||).

Rik 36.7 (pp. 198–202, PDF 212–216)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 198)

तं घै॑मि॒त्था न॑म॒स्वि॒न॒ उप॑ स्व॒राज॑मासते । होत्रा॑भि॒रग्निं मनु॑ष॒: सम॑िन्धते तिति॒र्वास॒ो अति॒ स्रिध॑: ॥ ७ ॥ [accent ?]

táṃ ghem itthā namasvína úpa svarājam āsate | hótrābhir agníṃ mánuṣaḥ sámindhate titirvāṃso áti sridhaḥ || 7 ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. The stroke in "samindhate" stands between sa and mi*; placed on* mi*.)*

Pada-pāṭha (p. 198)

> तम् । घ । ईम् । इत्था । नमस्विनः । उप । स्वऽराजम् । आसते ॥ होत्राभिः । अग्निम् । मनुषः । सम् । इन्धते । तितिर्वांसः । अति । स्रिधः ॥ ७ ॥

tam | gha | īm | itthā | namasvinaḥ | upa | sva-rājam | āsate || hotrābhiḥ | agnim | manuṣaḥ | sam | indhate | titirvāṃsaḥ | ati | sridhaḥ || 7 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 198, in full)

> अभिप्लवे सायंकालीन उत्तरस्मिन्पटले तं घेमित्था नमस्विन इत्येषा विनियुक्ता । अथोत्तरमिति खण्डे सूत्रितम् । प्रागाथीं पूर्वाह्णे काण्वीमपराह्णे । आ. ४-७ । इति ॥ हे अग्ने नमस्विनोऽन्नयुक्ता नमस्कारयुक्ता वा । नम आयुः सूनृतेत्यन्ननामसु पाठान्नमःशब्दादन्नवाचित्वम् । तादृशा यजमानाः स्वराजं स्वतो दीप्यमानं तं घें तमेव पूर्वोक्तसर्वगुणविशिष्टं त्वामित्थानेन प्रकारेण हविष्प्रदानादिरूपेणोपासते । मनुषो मनुष्या यजमाना होत्राभिः सप्तभिर्वषट्कर्तृभिः । सप्त होत्राः प्राचीर्वषट्कुर्वन्तीति श्रुत्यन्तरात् । अग्निं त्वा समिन्धते । सम्यग्दीपयन्ति । कीदृशा मनुष्याः स्रिधः शत्रूनति तितिर्वांसोऽतिशयेन तरन्तः ॥

abhiplave sāyaṃkālīna uttarasmin paṭale taṃ ghem itthā namasvina ity eṣā viniyuktā | athottaram iti khaṇḍe sūtritam | prāgāthīṃ pūrvāhṇe kāṇvīm aparāhṇe | ā. 4-7 | iti || he agne namasvino 'nnayuktā namaskārayuktā vā | nama āyuḥ sūnṛtety annanāmasu pāṭhān namaḥśabdād annavācitvam | tādṛśā yajamānāḥ svarājaṃ svato dīpyamānaṃ taṃ gheṃ tam eva pūrvoktasarvaguṇaviśiṣṭaṃ tvām itthānena prakāreṇa haviṣpradānādirūpeṇopāsate | manuṣo manuṣyā yajamānā hotrābhiḥ saptabhir vaṣaṭkartṛbhiḥ | sapta hotrāḥ prācīr vaṣaṭkurvantīti śrutyantarāt | agniṃ tvā samindhate | samyag dīpayanti | kīdṛśā manuṣyāḥ sridhaḥ śatrūn ati titirvāṃso 'tiśayena tarantaḥ ||

Translation: "In the abhiplava [ṣaḍaha], in the evening part of the later paṭala [of the recitation], this ṛk 'taṃ ghem itthā namasvinaḥ' is applied. It is laid down in the section beginning 'athottaram': 'the Prāgātha-ṛk in the forenoon, the Kāṇva [one] in the afternoon' (Āś. 4-7). — O Agni, namasvinaḥ — furnished with food or with obeisance (since 'namaḥ, āyuḥ, sūnṛtā' are read among the names for food, the word namas denotes food) — such sacrificers upa āsate, worship, in this manner, by gifts of oblation and the like, that very you, svarājam — shining by yourself — endowed with all the qualities named before ('tam gha īm' being [the same as] tam eva, 'that very one'). Manuṣaḥ — the human sacrificers — hotrābhiḥ, with the seven vaṣaṭ-makers ('the seven hotrās make the vaṣaṭ towards the east', says another Vedic text) — agniṃ sam indhate: kindle you, Agni, well. What sort of men? Titirvāṃsaḥ — those who cross over, excel — sridhaḥ ati, over their enemies."

Grammatical tail of the bhāṣya (pp. 198–199)

> नमस्विनः । अस्मायामेधेति मत्वर्थीयो विनिः । स्वराजम् । स्वभासा राजत इति स्वराट् । सत्सूद्विषेति क्विप् । कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् । आसते । आस उपवेशने । अदादित्वाच्छपो लुक् । तितिर्वांसः । तॄ

प्लवनतरणयोः । छन्दसि लिडिति वर्तमाने लिट् । तस्य क्वसुश्चेति क्वसुः । वस्वेकाजाद्घसामिति नियमादिडभावः । ऋत इद्धातोरितीत्वम् । ऋच्छत्यृताम् । पा. ७-४-११ । इति गुणो हलि च । पा. ८-२-७७ । इति दीर्घत्वं च न भवति । संज्ञापूर्वको विधिरनित्य इति तयोरनित्यत्वात् । यद्वा । तिरतिः प्रकृत्यन्तरं द्रष्टव्यम् । स्रिधः । स्रिधु शोषणे । क्विप्चेति क्विप् ॥

namasvinaḥ | asmāyāmedheti matvarthīyo viniḥ | svarājam | svabhāsā rājata iti svarāṭ | satsūdviṣeti kvip | kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvam | āsate | āsa upaveśane | adāditvācchapo luk | titirvāṃsaḥ | tṝ plavanataraṇayoḥ | chandasi liḍiti vartamāne liṭ | tasya kvasuśceti kvasuḥ | vasvekājādghasāmiti niyamādiḍabhāvaḥ | ṛta iddhātoritītvam | ṛcchatyṝtām | pā. 7-4-11 | iti guṇo hali ca | pā. 8-2-77 | iti dīrghatvaṃ ca na bhavati | saṃjñāpūrvako vidhiranityа iti tayoranityatvāt | yadvā | tiratiḥ prakṛtyantaraṃ draṣṭavyam | sridhaḥ | sridhu śoṣaṇe | kvipceti kvip ||

(Sense:) namasvinaḥ (asmāyāmedhāsrajo viniḥ: vin after namas, with the lengthening of the vowel and the accent by suffix); svarājam (sva + rāj, kvip in a compound with a sup word; satsūdviṣadruhaduhayujavidabhidacchidajinīrājām upasargepi; the later member's natural accent); āsate (āsa upaveśane; śap lost, ādādi; ātmanepadeṣv nataḥ); titirvāṃsaḥ (tṝ plavanataraṇayoḥ; chandasi liṭ: kvasu in the sense of the past by chandasi luṅlaṅliṭaḥ; vasv ekājāḍghasām — iṭ for kvasu only after a one-vowelled base, an ā-ending base or ghas, hence none after tṝ; and the Mahābhāṣya's anantarasya vidhir vā bhavati pratiṣedho vā); sridhaḥ (sridhu śoṣaṇe, kvip).

Page 199

Pratipadārtha (p. 199) — "agne — O Agni; namasvinaḥ — [those] possessed of food or of homage, the sacrificers; svarājam — one who shines by his own radiance; tam gha īm — that you, endowed with all the qualities named before; itthā — in this manner, by offering oblations; upāsate — worship; sridhaḥ — enemies; ati titirvāṃsaḥ — [those who have] well conquered with force; manuṣaḥ — the human sacrificers; hotrābhiḥ — through the seven priests, makers of the vaṣaṭ, beginning with the hotṛ (offering oblations); agnim — you, the deity Agni; sam indhate — cause to blaze well."

Bhāvārtha (p. 199) — "O Agni deity, you are always shining by your own radiance. Your devotees, the sacrificers, offer you food as oblation with reverence and worship you. Through your help all of them have conquered their enemies. To show that joy and gratitude, they all perform the sacrifice, offer you oblations through the seven priests, the vaṣaṭ-makers, and cause you to blaze well."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 199) — "In this manner the devout persons (sacrificers and others) adore you who are bright with your own radiance; the (seven) priests including Hotri who are victorious over their enemies, kindle Agni with oblations." (headed "Englis Translation" [sic] in the print; the print ends with a raised dot).

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 199–200 - Viniyoga: "At the time of reciting the abhiplava hymns, the ṛk taṃ ghem itthā is to be recited in the evening, so says the Āśvalāyana Śrauta-sūtra in the sūtra 'prāgāthīṃ pūrvāhṇe kāṇvīm aparāhṇe' in the section athottaram (Āś. 4-7)." - gha īm — "these words are used for filling out the pāda; though they have no definite meaning, the sense of eva may be given to them: tam = him; tam gha īm or tam ghem = 'that very one'."

Page 200

- namasvinaḥ = namasvino 'nnayuktā namaskārayuktā vā: "those who have prepared food in the form of oblations for offering to the deity, or those who do obeisance."
- svarājam = svabhāsā rājata iti svarāṭ taṃ: "one who shines by his own radiance. Agni and Sūrya need no other help for their light: they light up everything by their own light."
- āsate = upāsate: "they sit near and pray, serve, perform worship: worship [the print's English]."
- hotrābhiḥ — "though in sacrifices the hotṛ is only one, the word hotrābhiḥ is used in the plural, to take in the other priests who take part in the sacrifice: the Adhvaryu, Udgātṛ, Potṛ, Neṣṭṛ, Brahman and the others — the priests of the sacrificer."
- manuṣaḥ = manuṣyāḥ: "men; the ṣa is short for the convenience of the metre."
- titirvāṃsaḥ = tṝ plavanataraṇayoḥ | sridhaḥ ati titirvāṃsaḥ: "those who go beyond [atikramiṇaḥ]: the bhāṣyakāra explains here that they have crossed their enemies."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 200–202, PDF 214–216 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - namasvinaḥ: asmāyāmedhāsrajo viniḥ — अस्मायामेधास्रजो विनिः (Pā. 5-2-121): the suffix vin in the sense of matup after namas, ending in as. - svarājam: svataḥ rājate — svarāṭ; the root rāja dīptau; satsūdviṣadruhaduhayujavidabhidacchidajinīrājām upasarge 'pi kvip — सत्सूद्विषद्रुहदुहयुजविदभिदच्छिदजिनीराजामुपसर्गेऽपि क्विप् (Pā. 3-2-61): kvip after these roots whether a preverb is present or not, when a related word stands as upapada; and gatikārakopapadāt kṛt gives the natural accent of the later member. - āsate: āsa upaveśane, adādi; ādiprabhṛtibhyaḥ śapaḥ: luk of śap; ātmanepadeṣv nataḥ: jha → at. - titirvāṃsaḥ (pp. 200–202): root tṝ plavanataraṇayoḥ; chandasi liṭ — छन्दसि लिट् — (Pā. 3-2-105): in the Veda liṭ is added after roots in the sense of the past in general, "so by this sūtra liṭ cannot be had in the present sense"; chandasi luṅlaṅliṭaḥ (Pā. 3-4-6): when a relation of sense with a root is shown, in the Veda luṅ, laṅ and liṭ come in all times, past, present, future; hence liṭ in the present sense;

Page 201

(continued, p. 201) kvasuś ca — क्वसुश्च — (Pā. 3-2-107): in the Veda kvasu replaces liṭ in the sense of the past [completed] participle. The print then takes up the Mahābhāṣya's "āj̃ñ āj̃ñivān; chandasau kānac-kvasū", and argues from the paribhāṣā anantarasya vidhir vā bhavati pratiṣedho vā (Paribhā. 63) that, by the Veda-sūtra chandasi liṭ, the suffixes kānac and kvasu may be added to the liṭ so enjoined; the sūtra vibhāṣā pūrvāhṇāparāhṇābhyām (Pā. 4-3-24) in the Mahābhāṣya, on papuṣa āgataṃ papivān ṛjīṣyam, with pā and kvasu, shows that this paribhāṣā does not operate here; therefore kvasu comes in the Veda and in the world alike in place of all liṭs; the vṛtti-authors say, by the repeated liṭ in liṭaḥ kānaj vā, that all liṭs are meant; thus even a liṭ arising by chandasi luṅ… may take kvasu; though chandasi belongs to the sūtra, the kvasu occurs even for a liṭ in the present sense; the Bhāṣya's chandasau kānac-kvasū applies to kvasu of the root āj̃ñ-type [añj], which is not used in the world; but for the rest there is use in the world too, and so the quoted Bhāṣya examples are reconciled. When kvasu comes after tṝ: tṝ + vas; ārdhadhātukasyeḍ valādeḥ (Pā. 7-2-35) gives iṭ; neḍ vaśi kṛti (Pā. 7-2-8) bars iṭ before kṛt beginning with vaś for the roots of vaśādi; kṛsṛbhṛvṛstudrusruśruvo liṭi — कृसृभृवृस्तुद्रुस्रुश्रुवो लिटि (Pā. 7-2-13): no iṭ of liṭ after these roots [kṛ, sṛ, bhṛ, vṛ, stu, dru, sru, śru]; whether the liṭ ban belongs to the suffix or to the root, iṭ arises after kṛ and the rest in the liṭ only when the ban holds; for the other roots there is no ban; "so the roots kṛ etc. are the restrictors (niyāmaka), the others the enjoiners"; by this restriction the tṝ root, not in the kṛ-group, would take iṭ for its liṭ, that is, for the vas that replaced the liṭ; but another restrictor stops it: vasv ekājāḍghasām — वस्वेकाजाद्घसाम् (Pā. 7-2-67): iṭ is added to vas only after one-vowelled bases after doubling, ā-ending bases and ghas; so no iṭ after tṝ. Ṛta id dhātoḥ (Pā. 7-1-100): ṛ-ending base gets i: tir; alo 'ntyasya (Pā. 1-1-52) and uraṇ raparaḥ (Pā. 1-1-51) give r; tir + vas; ṛcchatyṛtām — ऋच्छत्यृताम् — (Pā. 7-4-11): the guṇa of the tudādi root ṛcch and of ṝ-ending roots before liṭ, and

Page 202

(continued, p. 202) hali ca — हलि च — (Pā. 8-2-77): the lengthening of i, u, ṛ before a consonant for bases ending in r or v; "these would apply, but since they are non-constant by saṃjñāpūrvako vidhir anityaḥ (Paribhā. 9[?]: printed ৎ then a ৯- or ২-like digit, not settled), they do not arise here; for the tṝ root, guṇa is first possible before the itva, lengthening after itva"; doubling, halādiḥ śeṣaḥ: tir + vas, jas; ugidacāṃ…: num: titirvans + as; sāntamahataḥ saṃyogasya — सान्तमहतः संयोगस्य (Pā. 6-4-10): the lengthening of the vowel before the n in a conjunct ending in s [and in mahat]: titirvāns; naś cāpadāntasya jhali (Pā. 8-3-24): n → anusvāra; ru, visarga: titirvāṃsaḥ. Or, by the gaṇa-sūtra bahulam etannidarśanam, a new root tir is imagined and the process liṭ, vas follows as before; in this view ṛcchatyṛtām never arises; halica is possible but not applied, since if the root is taken as ending in a, the sthānivadbhāva of the loss by ato lopaḥ prevents the base's ending in r, so halica has no application either. - sridhaḥ: sridhu śoṣaṇe, kvip ca (Pā. 3-2-76). Rik 7 ends here (|| 7 ||).

Rik 36.8 (p. 202 foot, PDF 216–)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 202)

घ्नन्तो॑ वृ॒त्रम॑त॒रन्रोद॑सी अ॒प उ॒रु क्षया॑य चक्रिरे । भुव॒त्कण्वे॒ वृषा॒ द्यु॒म्न्याहु॑त॒: क्रन्द॒दश्वो॒ गवि॑ष्टिषु ॥ ८ ॥

ghnánto vṛtrám ataran ródasī apá urú kṣáyāya cakrire | bhuvat káṇve vṛ́ṣā dyumnyā́hutaḥ krándad áśvo gáviṣṭiṣu || 8 ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. The first line is printed over two lines, "cakrire" on the second.)

Rik 36.8 (pp. 203–207, PDF 217–221)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 203)

घ्नन्तः । वृत्रम् । अतरन् । रोदसी इति । अपः । उरु । क्षयाय । चक्रिरे ॥ भुवत् । कण्वे । वृषा । द्युम्नी । आऽहुतः । क्रन्दत् । अश्वः । गोऽइष्टिषु ॥ ८ ॥

ghnantaḥ | vṛtram | ataran | rodasī iti | apaḥ | uru | kṣayāya | cakrire || bhuvat | kaṇve | vṛṣā | dyumnī | ā-hutaḥ | krandat | aśvaḥ | go-iṣṭiṣu || 8 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 203, in full)

> हे अग्ने घ्नन्तस्त्वत्सहायेनेतरे देवाः प्रहरन्तो वृत्रमतरन् । तीर्णवन्तः । तदनन्तरं रोदसी द्यावापृथिव्यावपोऽन्तरिक्षं च क्षयाय प्राणिनां निवासार्थमुरु विस्तारो यथा भवति तथा चक्रिरे । अप्शब्दोऽन्तरिक्षवाची । आपः पृथिवीति तन्नामसु पठितत्वात् । भवांस्तु कण्वे कण्वनामके महर्षौ वृषा कामानां वर्षिता द्युम्नी धनवान् आहुतः सर्वतो होमयुक्तश्च भुवत् । भवतु । तत्र दृष्टान्तः । गविष्टिषु गोविषयेच्छायुक्तेषु संग्रामेष्वश्वः क्रन्दत् शब्दं कुर्वन् यथाभीष्टप्रापकस्तथेति शेषः ॥

he agne ghnantastvatsahāyenetare devāḥ praharanto vṛtramataran | tīrṇavantaḥ | tadanantaraṃ rodasī dyāvāpṛthivyāvapo 'ntarikṣaṃ ca kṣayāya prāṇināṃ nivāsārthamuru vistāro yathā bhavati tathā cakrire | apśabdo 'ntarikṣavācī | āpaḥ pṛthivīti tannāmasu paṭhitatvāt | bhavāṃstu kaṇve kaṇvanāmake maharṣau vṛṣā kāmānāṃ varṣitā dyumnī dhanavān āhutaḥ sarvato homayuktaśca bhuvat | bhavatu | tatra dṛṣṭāntaḥ | gaviṣṭiṣu goviṣayecchāyukteṣu saṃgrāmeṣvaśvaḥ krandat śabdaṃ kurvan yathābhīṣṭaprāpakastatheti śeṣaḥ ||

Translation: "O Agni, the other gods, ghnantaḥ — striking — by your help, vṛtram ataran — crossed over [= overcame] Vṛtra. Thereafter they made rodasī — heaven and earth — and apaḥ, the mid-region — the word ap denotes the mid-region, since 'āpaḥ, pṛthivī' are read among its names — uru — wide — kṣayāya, for the dwelling of living beings. But you (bhavān tu) — bhuvat, may you be — to the great ṛṣi Kaṇva vṛṣā, the shower of desires, dyumnī, the possessor of wealth, āhutaḥ, furnished with oblations on all sides. The illustration: as a horse krandat, neighing, in gaviṣṭiṣu, in battles [fought] in desire for cattle, is the means of obtaining what is wished, so [may Agni be] — as is to be supplied."

Grammatical tail of the bhāṣya (p. 203)

> घ्नन्तः । हन्तेः शतरि गमहनेत्यादिनोपधालोपः । हो हन्तेर्ञ्णिन्नेषु । पा. ७-३-५४ । इति घत्वम् । अपः । ऊडिदमिति शस उदात्तत्वम् । क्षयाय । क्षि निवासगत्योः । क्षियन्ति निवसन्त्यस्मिन्निति क्षयो निवासस्थानम् । पुंसि संज्ञायां घः प्रायेणेति घः । क्षयो निवासे । पा. ६-१-२०१ । इत्याद्युदात्तत्वम् । भुवत् । भवतेर्लेट्यडागमः । इतश्च लोप इतीकारलोपः । बहुलं छन्दसीति शपो लुक् । भूसुवोस्तिङि । पा. ७-३-८८ । इति गुणप्रतिषेधः । अडागमस्यानुदात्तत्वे धातुस्वरः । आहुतः । आहूयत इत्याहुतः । हु दानादनयोः । कर्मणि क्तः । गतिरनन्तर इति गतेः प्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् । क्रन्दत् । कदि क्रदि क्लदि आह्वाने । शतरि नुमभावश्छान्दसः । अदुपदेशाल्लसार्वधातुकानुदात्तत्वे धातुस्वरः । गविष्टिषु । इषु इच्छायाम् । एषणमिष्टिः । गवामिष्टिर्येषु संग्रामेषु बहुव्रीहौ पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् ॥

ghnantaḥ | hanteḥ śatari gamahanetyādinopadhālopaḥ | ho hanterñṇinneṣu | pā. 7-3-54 | iti ghatvam | apaḥ | ūḍidamiti śasa udāttatvam | kṣayāya | kṣi nivāsagatyoḥ | kṣiyanti nivasantyasminniti kṣayo nivāsasthānam | puṃsi saṃjñāyāṃ ghaḥ prāyeṇeti ghaḥ | kṣayo nivāse | pā. 6-1-201 | ityādyudāttatvam | bhuvat | bhavaterleṭyaḍāgamaḥ | itaśca lopa itīkāralopaḥ | bahulaṃ chandasīti śapo luk | bhūsuvostiṅi | pā. 7-3-88 | iti guṇapratiṣedhaḥ | aḍāgamasyānudāttatve dhātusvaraḥ | āhutaḥ | āhūyata ityāhutaḥ | hu dānādanayoḥ | karmaṇi ktaḥ | gatiranantara iti gateḥ prakṛtisvaratvam | krandat | kadi kradi kladi āhvāne | śatari numabhāvaśchāndasaḥ | adupadeśāllasārvadhātukānudāttatve dhātusvaraḥ | gaviṣṭiṣu

| iṣu icchāyām | eṣaṇamiṣṭiḥ | gavāmiṣṭiryeṣu saṃgrāmeṣu bahuvrīhau pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvam ||

(Sense:) ghnantaḥ (han + śatṛ, gamahanajanakhanaghasāṃ lopaḥ kṅity anaṅi: the penultimate lost; ho hanter ñṇinneṣu: h → gh); āpaḥ (ūḍidam…: the ending acute); kṣayāya (kṣi nivāsagatyoḥ, gha by puṃsi saṃjñāyāṃ ghaḥ prāyeṇa; kṣayo nivāse: first-syllable acute); bhuvat (leṭ, the augment aṭ, itaś ca lopaḥ, the loss of śap by bahulaṃ chandasi; no guṇa by bhūsuvos tiṅi; uvaṅ); āhutaḥ (hu dānādanayoḥ, kta in the object sense; the preverb keeps its accent); krandat (kradi, śatṛ, the augment num is absent); gaviṣṭiṣu (iṣu icchāyām, ktin; "gavām iṣṭayaḥ yeṣu saṃgrāmeṣu"; a bahuvrīhi with first-member accent).

Page 204

Pratipadārtha (p. 204) — "(O Agni, by your help) ghnantaḥ — the other gods who destroy the enemies; vṛtram — Vṛtra, the asura; ataran — conquered; (and crossed over in fear); thereafter, rodasī — heaven and earth; apaḥ — the mid-region too; kṣayāya — for the dwelling of the creatures; uru — as wide; cakrire — made; gaviṣṭiṣu — in the time of the battles fought in the desire of getting cattle; aśvaḥ — a horse; krandat — neighing (as it does to the cause of the sacrificer's wished-for aim); āhutaḥ — one who has the share of the oblation in the sacrifice; dyumnī — you, the possessor of wealth; kaṇve — to the ṛṣi Kaṇva; vṛṣā — the giver of the wished-for aim (a benefactor); bhuvat — be."

Bhāvārtha (p. 204) — "O Agni, the other gods, destroyers of enemies, with your help alone, slew Vṛtra the asura and conquered him. Thereafter, having entirely escaped the troubles of enemies, they made the three worlds, earth and the others, spacious and suited to the dwelling of living creatures. As a horse, in a battle that men fight for the sake of cattle, carries its master and neighs, and helps in the destruction of his enemy so that he may win cattle, even so, O wealthy Agni, may you also, being called at the sacrifice of the sage Kaṇva, come and be the giver of what he wishes."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 204) — "The gods who destroy enemies have slain Vritra ; they have made earth and heaven and the firmament the spacious dwelling place for living creatures ; may Agni, the possessor of wealth when invoked be to Kanwa the giver of wealth like a horse which neighs (with pleasure) in a battle faught for the possession of cattle." (Printed "faught" [sic]; the print ends with a raised dot.)

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 204–205 - ghnantaḥ — "killing, destroying. Here the bhāṣyakāra says the sense 'the gods who destroy their enemies'." - ataran = tīrṇavantaḥ: "overcame, destroyed, and so on."

Page 205

- rodasī — "since rodasī is read among the twenty-four names of heaven and earth beginning svadhe, purandhī (Ni. 3-22, as printed), rodasī means heaven and earth."
- apaḥ — "since the word āpaḥ is read among the sixteen names of the mid-region beginning ambaram, viyat, apaḥ (the accusative plural of āp) means the mid-region."
- kṣayāya — "kṣaya here means a place to live (Ni. 8-18, as printed): the three worlds, earth, heaven and mid-region, made free of the troubles of enemies and suited to be dwelt in."

- kaṇve — “Kaṇva, the ṛṣi of this sūkta, prays that Agni give him lordship [wealth] and the like.”
- vṛṣā = kāmānāṃ varṣitā: “one who showers desired objects, i.e. gives.”
- dyumnī = dhanavān: “one of wealth.”
- krandad aśvo gaviṣṭiṣu — “This simile does not fit well here. There seems to be no similarity between Agni’s giving wealth and lordship to the ṛṣi Kaṇva when pleased, and a horse’s neighing with joy in a battle fought for cattle; therefore the meaning of these words is not clear.”

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 205–207, PDF 219–221 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - ghnantaḥ: root han hiṃsāgatyoḥ, adādi; laṭ, laṭaḥ śatṛśānacau, śatṛ; ādiprabhṛtibhyaḥ śapaḥ: luk of śap; han + at; gamahanajanakhanaghasāṃ lopaḥ kṅity anaṅi — गमहनजनखनघसां लोपः क्ङित्यनङि (Pā. 6-4-98): the penultimate vowel of these roots is lost before a vowel-initial kit or ñit suffix other than aṅ: so the a of han is lost; sārvadhātukam apit (Pā. 1-2-4) makes śatṛ ṅit; hn + at; ho hanter ñṇinneṣu — हो हन्तेर्ञ्णिन्नेषु (Pā. 7-3-54): the h of han becomes gh [kutva] before a suffix with ñ or ṇ as a marker or before n; “the sūtra is read with it-marking [ñṇinnā]: the ñ, ṇ and n in the sūtra are called ñit, ṇit, nit; and by the sense of the dvandva-end rule (dvandvānte śrūyamāṇaṃ padaṃ pratyekam abhisambadhyate) the word it is joined to each of the three; ñṇinnau ca nas ca: ‘the suffixes with ñ, ṇ or the letter n’; so when any one of these follows, kutva [= the k-class] is the substitute of h of han;

Page 206

(continued, p. 206) kutva means the k-varga, that is, the corresponding gh in the place of the h, which is ghoṣa, nāda, saṃvāra, mahāprāṇa”; by the force of the rule’s mention of n, acaḥ parasmin pūrvavidhau does not make the loss of a a sthānivat element; ghn + at = ghnat; jas; ugitaś ca — num; ru, visarga. - apaḥ: after ap, the accusative plural śas; ūḍidaṃ padādyāpumraidyubhyaḥ (Pā. 6-1-171): the asarvanāmasthāna ending after these is acute: śas is acute. - kṣayāya: root kṣi nivāsagatyoḥ; kṣiyanti = “they dwell”; atra iti kṣayaḥ — “a dwelling place”; puṃsi saṃjñāyāṃ ghaḥ prāyeṇa — पुंसि संज्ञायां घः प्रायेण (3-3-118, printed without “Pā.”): gha [ghaḥ] after a root in the senses of instrument and locus, for a masculine name, mostly; kṣi + a, guṇa, ay-substitution; kṣayo nivāse — क्षयो निवासे (Pā. 6-1-201): the word kṣaya in the sense of dwelling is first-syllable acute; the fourth singular. - bhuvat: root bhū sattāyām; liṅarthe leṭ — लिङर्थे लेट् (Pā. 3-4-7): leṭ; tip, śap; bahulaṃ chandasi: luk of śap (no number printed); itaś ca lopaḥ parasmaipadeṣu (Pā. 3-4-97): the i of the ending is lost; leṭo ’ḍāṭau (Pā. 3-4-94) — the augment aṭ; bhūsuvos tiṅi — भूसुवोस्तिङि (Pā. 7-3-88): no guṇa for bhū, sū before a sārvadhātuka tiṅ; aci śnudhātubhruvāṃ… (Pā. 6-4-77): uvaṅ: bhuvat. - āhutaḥ: ā hūyate — āhutaḥ; root hu dānādanayoḥ; niṣṭhā — kta in the object sense; gatir anantaraḥ (Pā. 6-2-49): the preverb keeps its natural accent before a kta-ending later member. - krandat: root kadi kradi kladi āhvāne, one of the same class; laṭ, śatṛ; śap; pararūpa; su; ugidacām… would give num, but in the Veda it does not arise here; loss of su; tāsyanudāttenṅidadupadeśāt…: śatṛ after śap unaccented; the root’s accent stands.

Page 207

- gaviṣṭiṣu (p. 207): root iṣu icchāyām; striyāṃ ktin; gavām iṣṭayaḥ yeṣu saṃgrāmeṣu te — "battles in which cows are sought"; a bahuvrīhi, so the first-member natural accent. Rik 8 ends here (|| 8 ||).

Rik 36.9 (pp. 207–210, PDF 221–224)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 207)

> सं सीदस्व महाँ असि शोचस्व देववीतमः । वि धूममग्ने अरुषं मियेध्य सृज प्रशस्त दर्शतं ॥ ९ ॥ [accent ?]

sáṃ sīdasva mahāṁ asi śócasva devavītamaḥ | vi dhūmám agne arúṣaṃ miyedhya sṛjá praśasta darśátaṃ || 9 || [accent ?]

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. [accent ?]: in "aruṣam" the underline stands under a*, and in "darśatam" under* da / rśa (between them); reproduced as they appear.)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 207)

> सम् । सीदस्व । महान् । असि । शोचस्व । देवऽवीतमः ॥ वि । धूमम् । अग्ने । अरुषम् । मियेध्य । सृज । प्रऽशस्त । दर्शतम् ॥ ९ ॥

sam | sīdasva | mahān | asi | śocasva | deva-vītamaḥ || vi | dhūmam | agne | aruṣam | miyedhya | sṛja | pra-śasta | darśatam || 9 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (pp. 207–208, in full)

> प्रवर्ग्ये महावीरे खरे संसाद्यमाने स सीदस्व महाँ असीत्येषा । स्पृष्टोदकमिति खण्डे सं सीदस्व महाँ असीति संसाद्यमाने । आ. ४-६ । इति ॥ हे अग्ने सं सीदस्व । बर्हिषि उपविश । महानसि । गुणाधिको भवसि । देववीतमोऽतिशयेन देवान्कामयमानः शोचस्व । दीप्यस्व । हे मियेध्य मेधार्ह प्रशस्त उत्कृष्टाग्ने अरुषं गमनशीलं दर्शतं दर्शनीयं धूमं वि सृज । विशेषेण सम्पादय ॥

pravargye mahāvīre khare saṃsādyamāne sa sīdasva mahāṁ asity eṣā | spṛṣṭodakam iti khaṇḍe saṃ sīdasva mahāṁ asīti saṃsādyamāne | ā. 4-6 | iti || he agne saṃ sīdasva | barhiṣi upaviśa | mahān asi | guṇādhiko bhavasi | devavītamo 'tiśayena devān kāmayamānaḥ śocasva | dīpyasva | he miyedhya medhārha praśasta utkṛṣṭāgne aruṣaṃ gamanaśīlaṃ darśataṃ darśanīyaṃ dhūmaṃ vi sṛja | viśeṣeṇa sampādaya ||

Translation: "[This ṛk] 'saṃ sīdasva mahāṁ asi' is applied when the mahāvīra, the khara [altar-mound], is being put in place in the pravargya. It is laid down in the section beginning 'spṛṣṭodakam': 'when it is being put in place, "saṃ sīdasva mahāṁ asi"' (Āś. 4-6). — O Agni, saṃ sīdasva — sit down together, seat yourself on the barhis; mahān asi — you are great, superior in qualities; devavītamaḥ — yearning exceedingly for the gods — śocasva, blaze. O miyedhya — worthy of the sacrifice, praśasta, excellent — Agni, aruṣam — going [upward], darśatam — beautiful — dhūmam — smoke — vi sṛja, send forth specially."

Page 208

Grammatical tail of the bhāṣya (pp. 207–208)

सीदस्व । षद्लृ विशरणगत्यवसादनेषु । व्यत्ययेनात्मनेपदम् । प्रार्थनायां लोटि शपि पाघ्रेत्यादिना सीदादेशः । महान् । संहितायां नकाराकारयोः रुत्वानुनासिकावुक्तौ । शोचस्व । शुच दीप्तौ । अदुपदेशाल्लसार्वधातुकानुदात्तत्वे धातुस्वरः । तिङः परत्वान्निघाताभावः । देववीतमः । वी गतिप्रजनकान्त्यशनखादनेषु । देवान्वेति गच्छतीति देववीः । क्विप्चेति क्विप् । अतिशयेन देववीर्देववीतमः । तमपः पित्त्वादनुदात्तत्वे कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् । अरुषम् । आरोषणम् । रिष रुष हिंसायाम् । घञर्थे कविधानमिति भावे कप्रत्ययः । नास्ति रुषोऽस्येति बहुव्रीहौ नञ्सुभ्यामित्युत्तरपदान्तोदात्तत्वम् । मियेध्य । छन्दसि चेत्यर्हार्थे यत्प्रत्ययः । मकारात्परं इयागमश्छान्दसः । सृज । सृज विसर्गे । तुदादित्वाच्छः । विकरणस्वरः । पादादित्वादनिघातः । दर्शतम् । भृमृदृशीत्यादिना दृशेः कर्मण्यतच्प्रत्ययः ॥

sīdasva | ṣadlṛ viśaraṇagatyavasādaneṣu | vyatyayenātmanepadam | prārthanāyāṃ loṭi śapi pāghretyādinā sīdādeśaḥ | mahān | saṃhitāyāṃ nakārākārayoḥ rutvānunāsikāvuktau | śocasva | śuca dīptau | adupadeśāllasārvadhātukānudāttatve dhātusvaraḥ | tiṅaḥ paratvānnighātābhāvaḥ | devavītamaḥ | vī gatiprajanakāntyaśanakhādaneṣu | devānveti gacchatīti devavīḥ | kvipceti kvip | atiśayena devavīrdevavītamaḥ | tamapaḥ pittvādanudāttatve kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvam | aruṣam | āroṣaṇam | riṣa ruṣa hiṃsāyām | ghañarthe kavidhānamiti bhāve kapratyayaḥ | nāsti ruṣo 'syeti bahuvrīhau nañsubhyāmityuttarapadāntodāttatvam | miyedhya | chandasi cetyarhārthe yatpratyayaḥ | makārātparaṃ iyāgamaśchāndasaḥ | sṛja | sṛja visarge | tudāditvācchaḥ | vikaraṇasvaraḥ | pādāditvādanighātaḥ | darśatam | bhṛmṛdṛśītyādinā dṛśeḥ karmaṇyatacpratyayaḥ ‖

(Sense:) sīdasva (ṣadḷ viśaraṇagatyavasādaneṣu; vyatyayena ātmanepadam; loṭ in a prayer; pāghrādhmā…: sīda for sad; thās → se → sva); mahān (the Saṃhitā's n before a becomes r, ru, and the ā is nasalised: rutvānunāsikau); śocasva (śuca dīptau, with anudātta for the verb ending, so the root's accent stays; no lowering, since it is a tiṅ after a tiṅ but the preceding asi… āti… — the print adds that the prohibition applies); devavītamaḥ (vī gatiprajananakāntyasanakhādaneṣu; devān vetīti devavīḥ; kvip; atiśayena devavīḥ, tamap, which is pit and so unaccented; the later member of a kṛt compound keeps its natural accent); aruṣam (ruṣa riṣa hiṃsāyām; ghañarthe kavidhānam; nāsti ruṣo 'sya, nañsubhyām: final-acute of the later member); miyedhya (medhṛ medhāhiṃsanayoḥ, kvip; chandasi ca: yat in the sense of arhati; medha "worthy of the sacrifice"; the augment iy; vocative: wholly unaccented); sṛja (sṛja visarge, tudādi, śa: no sarvānudātta since it stands at the beginning of a pāda); darśatam (bhṛmṛdṛśiyaji…: atac after dṛśir prekṣaṇe).

Pratipadārtha (p. 208) — "(agne — O Agni); saṃ sīdasva — be seated (on the darbha seat); mahān asi — you are very powerful; devavītamaḥ — one who gives satisfaction to the gods; śocasva — shine forth with your radiance; miyedhya — one worthy of a share in the sacrifice; praśasta — one of praiseworthy, eminent qualities; agne — O Agni; aruṣam — moving; darśatam — beautiful; dhūmam — the smoke; vi sṛja — send forth."

Bhāvārtha (p. 208) — "O Agni deity, you are of great power and great greatness. Kindly come and be seated on the darbha seat. You are the messenger of the gods, so shine forth, filling the gods with the satisfaction of their portions of the sacrifice, each one for himself. You are worthy of the portions of the sacrifice. Your excellent qualities are extremely praiseworthy. Lead [him] to the place of sacrifice and send forth the smoke, which rises upward and is beautiful to look at."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 208) — "O Agni, take your seat on the sacred grass ; you are great· and devoted to the gods ; shine forth, adorable and excellent Agni, send forth your reddish and beautiful smoke·" (Printed so, with a raised dot after "great" and at the end.)

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 208–209 - devavītamaḥ = atiśayena devān kāmayamānaḥ: "one who has great regard for the gods."

Page 209

- miyedhya = medhārha: "one fit to be worshipped, or honoured."
- darśatam = darśanīyam: "delightful to look at, very beautiful."
- aruṣam = gamanaśīlam: "moving upward, or having a slightly reddish colour."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 209–210, PDF 223–224 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - sīdasva (p. 209): root ṣadḷ viśaraṇagatyavasādaneṣu; vyatyayo bahulam: the ātmanepada comes; loṭ in the prayer sense; tip/thās; śap; pāghrādhmāsthāmnādāṇdṛśyartiśadasadām pibajighradhamatiṣṭhamanayacchapaśyarcchadhauśīyasīdāḥ (Pā. 7-3-78): sīda for sad before a śit ending beginning with a consonant [śit = śap]; ṭita ātmanepadānāṃ ṭere: e for the ṭi of thās → se; sa-vābhyāṃ vāmau (Pā. 3-4-91): se → sva. - mahān: in the Saṃhitā, the next word begins with a [asi], an aṭ-letter; dīrghād aṭi samānapāde (Pā. 8-3-9): n → ru; ato 'ṭi nityam (Pā. 8-3-3): the ā is nasalised. - śocasva: root śuca dīptau, ātmanepada, loṭ, thās → se → sva; e → va; the sārvadhātuka [sva] being lasthānika after an anudāttet… tāsyanudāttenṅidadupadeśāt…: unaccented; the root's accent stands; since it follows the tiṅ asi in the Saṃhitā, ati … [the print: "āti jiḥ", read as a reference to the prohibition], so there is no wholly-unaccented accent (the print: "atiṅaḥ gives the prohibition"). - devavītamam (p. 209): root vī gatiprajanakāntyasanakhādaneṣu; devān vetīti devavīḥ — "who goes toward the gods"; kvip ca; dhātoḥ (Pā. 6-1-162): the root vī is acute; with atiśaya intended, atiśāyane tamabiṣṭhanau (Pā. 5-3-55): tamap, pit, so unaccented; the kṛdanta later member keeps its natural accent, so vī stays acute even after the compound. - aruṣam: ruśa riṣa hiṃsāyām; ghañarthe kavidhānaṃ sthāsnāpāvyadhihanī yudhyarthām (Pā. 3-3-58-5, vārtika): ka is taught in the sense of ghañ; bhāva and kartṛ-different kāraka are the senses of ghañ; though the root is read in the sense of injuring, roots have many senses and here it means going; nāsti ruṣaḥ — gamanam asyāsau, a bahuvrīhi;

Page 210

(continued, p. 210) nañsubhyām (Pā. 6-2-172): the later member after nañ or su is final-acute. - miyedhya: root medhṛ medhāhiṃsanayoḥ; kvip; chandasi ca — छन्दसि च (Pā. 5-1-67): yat in the Veda after a word in the second case, in the sense arhati; medha marhati = "he is worthy of the sacrifice" — yat [yam]; the Vedic augment iy; vocative, so wholly unaccented. - sṛja: sṛja visarge, loṭ, sip; tudādibhyaḥ śaḥ (Pā. 3-1-77): śa as the vikaraṇa; since it stands at the beginning of a pāda, it is not wholly unaccented. - darśatam: bhṛmṛdṛśiyaji… (Uṇ. 3-340): the suffix atac after dṛśir prekṣaṇe. Rik 9 ends here (|| 9 ||).

Rik 36.10 (p. 210 onward, PDF 224–)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 210)

यं त्वा॑ दे॒वास॒ो मन॑वे द॒धुरि॒ह यजि॑ष्ठं हव्यवाहन । यं कण्व॒ो मे॑ध्यातिथिर्ध॒नस्पृ॑तं॒ यं वृषा॒ यमु॑प॒स्तुतः॑ ॥ १० ॥ [accent ?]

yáṃ tvā devā́so mánave dadhúr ihá yájiṣṭhaṃ havyavāhana | yáṃ káṇvo medhyātithir dhanáspṛ́taṃ yáṃ vṛ́ṣā yámupastútaḥ || 10 || [accent ?]

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. [accent ?]: in the second line the underlines stand under na of dhanaspṛtaṃ, under taṃ, under ṣā of vṛṣā and under stu of upastutaḥ; reproduced where they stand.)

Pada-pāṭha (the first line at the foot of p. 210; the rest on p. 211 is not yet written)

यम् । त्वा । देवासः । मनवे । दधुः । इह । यजिष्ठम् । हव्यऽवाहन ।

yam | tvā | devāsaḥ | manave | dadhuḥ | iha | yajiṣṭham | havya-vāhana |

Rik 36.10 (continued) — Pada, bhāṣya, Pratipadārtha, Bhāvārtha, English, Special Topics, grammar (pp. 211–214, PDF 225–228)

Page 211

Pada-pāṭha, concluded (p. 211; the first line was given at the foot of p. 210)

यम् । कण्वः । मेध्यऽअतिथिः । धनऽस्पृतम् । यम् । वृषा । यम् । उपऽस्तुतः ॥ १० ॥

yam | kaṇvaḥ | medhya-atithiḥ | dhana-spṛtam | yam | vṛṣā | yam | upa-stutaḥ || 10 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 211, in full)

हे हव्यवाहन हविषो वाहकाग्ने मनवे मनोरनुग्रहाय देवासः सर्वे देवा यजिष्ठमतिशयेन पूज्यं यष्टृतमं वा यं त्वामिह देवयजनदेशे दधुः । धृतवन्तः । मेध्यातिथिर्मेधार्हैरतिथिभिर्युक्तः कण्व एतन्नामको महर्षिर्यं त्वां धनस्पृतं धनेन प्रीणयितारं कृत्वा दध इति शेषः ॥ तथा वृषेन्द्रो यं त्वां दधे । तथोपस्तुतोऽन्योऽपि स्तोता यजमानो यं त्वां दधे । स त्वं सं सीदस्वेति पूर्वत्रान्वयः ॥

he havyavāhana haviṣo vāhakāgne manave manor anugrahāya devāsaḥ sarve devā yajiṣṭham atiśayena pūjyaṃ yaṣṭṛtamaṃ vā yaṃ tvām iha devayajanadeśe dadhuḥ | dhṛtavantaḥ | medhyātithir medhārhair atithibhir yuktaḥ kaṇva etannāmako maharṣir yaṃ tvāṃ dhanaspṛtaṃ dhanena prīṇayitāraṃ kṛtvā dadha iti śeṣaḥ || tathā vṛṣendro yaṃ tvāṃ dadhe | tathopastuto 'nyo 'pi stotā yajamāno yaṃ tvāṃ dadhe | sa tvaṃ saṃ sīdasveti pūrvatrānvayaḥ ||

Translation: "O havyavāhana — Agni, the bearer of the oblation — for the favour of Manu, devāsaḥ — all the gods — dadhuḥ, set [established] you, yajiṣṭham — the most worthy of worship, or the best of sacrificers — iha, here, at the place of the divine sacrifice. Medhyātithiḥ — joined with guests worthy of the sacrifice — Kaṇva, the great ṛṣi so named, dadhe — established you, yam, whom, having made [you] dhanaspṛtam, the one who gratifies [him] with wealth. So also Vṛṣan [Indra] established you; and also another praiser, a sacrificer, upastutaḥ, established you. That you — the connection with the foregoing (‘saṃ sīdasva’: sit down).”

Grammatical tail of the bhāṣya (p. 211; varga ९ closes here)

> दधुः । लिट्युसि कित्त्वे आतो लोप इटि चेत्याकारलोपः । प्रत्ययस्वरः । यष्टृशब्दात्तुश्छन्दसि । पा. ५-३-५९ । इत्यगुणवचनादप्यातिशायनिक इष्ठन् । तुरिष्ठेमेयस्सु । पा. ६-४-१५४ । इति तृलोपः । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वम् । हव्यवाहन । हव्यं वहतीति हव्यवाहनः । हव्येऽनन्तःपादम् । पा. ३-२-६६ । इति वहतेर्ण्युट् । मेध्यातिथिः । मेध्या अतिथयो यस्येति बहुव्रीहौ पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् । धनस्पृतम् । धनैरस्मान्स्पृणोति प्रीणयतीति धनस्पृत् । स्पृ प्रीतिबलयोः । क्विप्चेति क्विप् । तस्य तुक् । कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् । उपस्तुतः । क्तिच्क्तौ च संज्ञायामिति कर्तरि क्तः । थाथादिनोत्तरपदान्तोदात्तत्वम् ॥ ९ ॥

dadhuḥ | liṭyusi kittve āto lopa iṭi cetyākāralopaḥ | pratyayasvaraḥ | yaṣṭṛśabdāttuśchandasi | pā. 5-3-59 | ityaguṇavacanādapyātiśāyanika iṣṭhan | turiṣṭhemeyassu | pā. 6-4-154 | iti tṛlopaḥ | nittvādādyudāttatvam | havyavāhana | havyaṃ vahatīti havyavāhanaḥ | havye ’nantaḥpādam | pā. 3-2-66 | iti vahaterṇyuṭ | medhyātithiḥ | medhyā atithayo yasyeti bahuvrīhau pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvam | dhanaspṛtam | dhanairasmānspṛṇoti prīṇayatīti dhanaspṛt | spṛ prītibalayoḥ | kvipceti kvip | tasya tuk | kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvam | upastutaḥ | kticktau ca saṃjñāyāmiti kartari ktaḥ | thāthādinottarapadāntodāttatvam ‖ 9 ‖

(Sense:) dadhuḥ (dhā, liṭ, jhi → us, doubling, shortening, asaṃyogāl liṭ kit, ātolopa iṭi ca; the suffix accent); yajiṣṭham (yaṣṭṛ + iṣṭhan; the loss of ṭṛc by turiṣṭhemeyaḥsu; first-syllable acute by the nit accent); havyavāhana (havyaṃ vahati, havyavāhanaḥ; havye ’nantaḥpādam — ṇyuṭ after vah with havya in the same pāda; ana for yu, upadhā-vṛddhi); medhyātithiḥ (medhyā atithayo yasya, a bahuvrīhi, first-member accent); dhanaspṛtam (dhanair asmān spṛṇoti, spṛ prītibalayoḥ, kvip, tuk; later member of a kṛt-compound keeps its accent); upastutaḥ (ṣṭuñ stutau, ktic in the sense of agent [ktic ktau ca saṃjñāyām], final-acute).

Pratipadārtha (p. 211) — “havyavāhana — [O Agni] who carries the oblations to the gods; manave — for the sake of Manu (to favour him); devāsaḥ — all the gods; yajiṣṭham — [you who are] most worthy of worship, or most excellent among sacrificers; yam tvā — whom you; iha — in this sacrificial ground; dadhuḥ — established, with earnestness; medhyātithiḥ — he who has worthy guests; kaṇvaḥ — the ṛṣi named Kaṇva (or Medhyātithi, a ṛṣi of the Kaṇva line); yam — whom you; dhanaspṛtam — as the one who gratifies with the gift of wealth; dadhe — established; vṛṣā — Indra; yam — whom you; dadhe — established; upastutaḥ — another worshipper; yam — whom you [being established, such a you]; sīdasva — be seated.”

Page 212

Bhāvārtha (p. 212) — “O Agni, you carry the oblations to all the gods and so are a benefit to all. For that very reason all the gods established you at the sacrificial ground, for the favour of Manu. The sage Kaṇva, to treat his guests with hospitality, begged and established you, who are exceedingly worthy of worship. You give satisfaction by the gift of wealth to him and to others too. Indra, and the other devotees as well, established you, seeking your favour. Be seated at the sacrificial ground to favour us too.”

English Translation (the source's own, p. 212) — "O bearer of oblations, the gods have established you here as the best sacrificer for the sake of Manu ; you› whom Kanwa, host of pious guests has established ; whom, giver of wealth, Indra has detained ; whom some other worshipper has detained·" (Printed so: the "you›" has a stray mark, and "detained" stands where "established" is meant; the print ends with a raised dot.)

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 212–213 - manave — "for the sake of Manu, that is, Manu the Prajāpati; Manu is held to be the first progenitor of men. People descended from Manu or of Manu's line are called mānava, or manuṣya. So manave may be taken as a generic singular, 'for the sake of men'." - devāso dadhur iha = devā iha devayajanadeśe dhṛtavantaḥ: "the gods established you (Agni) at the sacrificial altar." - yajiṣṭham = atiśayena pūjyam, yaṣṭṛtamam: "most worthy of worship, or the foremost among sacrificers — among those who carry the gods' share of the sacrifice." - havyavāhana = havyaṃ vahatīti havyavāhanaḥ: "he who carries to the gods the oblations offered by the sacrificers."

Page 213

- kaṇvo medhyātithiḥ = medhyā atithayo yasya sa medhyātithiḥ: "Kaṇva the ṛṣi, joined with guests worthy of worship. Here medhyātithi is the name of a ṛṣi of Kaṇva's line, and the Kaṇva, son of Ghora, may be spoken of by that name. Rather than give an etymological sense to this word, it is right to say that medhyātithi is a ṛṣi of the Kaṇva line. This Medhyātithi is the ṛṣi of the ṛks 3–29 of the first sūkta of the 8th maṇḍala, of the 24 ṛks of the 3rd sūkta of the same maṇḍala, and of the 19 ṛks of the 33rd sūkta of the same maṇḍala — in all 70 ṛks; he is a famous ṛṣi in the Kaṇva line. The word medhyātithi is used in this ṛk and the next with him in view."
- dhanaspṛtam = dhanair asmān spṛṇoti prīṇayatīti dhanaspṛt: "one who pleases us by giving wealth."
- vṛṣā — "the bhāṣyakāra explains the word vṛṣā here as Indra. Since he showers what is wished for, Indra may be called vṛṣā." The source then cites, as showing that vṛṣā signifies Indra, the following (untranslated by the source; my sense, mine and tentative: "for the mighty one, O fierce one, they make [you] a bull far and near; the bull is renowned near by …; they are your bulls, the pressing-stones; the whip is a bull, golden …; the chariot is a bull, O Maghavan, the two bays are bulls, you are a bull, O Śatakratu; the pressing priest is a bull — let him press for you; O bull, bring the …; the bull has set the bull in the streams, for you, [O] lord of the bays". The first line is read with difficulty and the references are small, so all of this is tentative):

  वृषा ह्युग्र शृण्विरे परावति वृषो अर्वावति श्रुतः । वृषणस्ते अभीशवो वृषा कशा हिरण्ययी । वृषा रथो मघवन्वृषणा हरी वृषा त्वं शतक्रतो । वृषा सोता सुनोतु ते वृषन्नृजीपिन्ना भर । वृषा दधन्वे वृषणं नदीष्वा तुभ्यं स्थातर्हरीणाम् ॥ (ऋ. सं. ८-३३-१०—१२)

vṛṣā hyugra śṛṇvire parāvati vṛṣo arvāvati śrutaḥ | vṛṣaṇaste abhīśavo vṛṣā kaśā hiraṇyayī | vṛṣā ratho maghavanvṛṣaṇā harī vṛṣā tvaṃ śatakrato | vṛṣā sotā sunotu te vṛṣannṛjīpinnā bhara | vṛṣā dadhanve vṛṣaṇaṃ nadīṣvā tubhyaṃ sthātarharīṇām || (ṛ. saṃ. 8-33-10–12)

(The reference is printed "8-33-10, riṃda 12", Kannada for "from 10 to 12".)

“In these ṛks the word vṛṣā indicates the sense ‘Indra’.” (Re-read from the better scan; the print has śṛṇvire (ಶೃಣ್ವಿರೇ) and sthātar.) - upastutaḥ = anyo ’pi stotā: “another person too who praises you: that is, the sacrificer and the rest who perform sacrifices.”

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 213–214, PDF 227–228 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - dadhuḥ (pp. 213–214): root ḍudhāñ dhāraṇapoṣaṇayoḥ; liṭ, jhi; parasmaipadānāṃ ṇalatusus…: jhi → us; doubling, shortening, jaś [dh → d]: dadhā + us; asaṃyogāl liṭ kit — असंयोगाल्लिट्कित् (Pā. 1-2-5): us is kit; ātolopa iṭi ca (Pā. 6-4-64): the ā is lost before a kit or ñit vowel-initial ārdhadhātuka and before iṭ; the suffix-accent.

Page 214

- yajiṣṭham: root yaja devapūjāyām, tṛc; “the word yaṣṭṛ is not an adjective of quality (guṇavacana)”; ajādī guṇavacanād eva (Pā. 5-3-58): iṣṭhan and īyasun come only after a quality-word; yet tuścchandasi — तुश्छन्दसि (Pā. 5-3-59): in the Veda iṣṭhan and īyasun come after bases ending in tṛn or tṛc, even when not quality-words, so iṣṭhan after yaṣṭṛ in the sense of excess; turiṣṭhemeyaḥsu — तुरिष्ठेमेयस्सु (Pā. 6-4-154): before iṣṭhan, imanic, īyasun the tṛ is lost: yajiṣṭha; first-syllable acute by the nit accent.
- havyavāhana: havyaṃ vahatīti havyavāhanaḥ; havye ’nantaḥpādam — हव्येऽनन्तःपादम् (Pā. 3-2-66): the suffix ṇyuṭ after vah when havya is the upapada and is not inside the pāda [i.e. is at the end of a pāda]; ana for yu; upadhā-vṛddhi; the vocative, wholly unaccented.
- medhyātithiḥ: medhyāḥ “pure”, atithayaḥ “guests”, yasya saḥ, a bahuvrīhi with the first-member accent.
- dhanaspṛtam: dhanair asmān spṛṇoti iti; the root spṛ prītibalayoḥ, svādi [one reads spṛ prītichalanayoḥ, as the print notes]; kvip ca; hrasvasya piti kṛti tuk (Pā. 6-1-71): tuk; the later member keeps its natural accent.
- upastutaḥ: ṣṭuñ stutau; ktic ktau ca saṃjñāyām (Pā. 3-3-174; the middle digit of the last group 6 or 7 not settled): kta in the sense of agent; thāthaghañktājabitrakāṇām (Pā. 6-2-144): final-acute. Rik 10 ends here (|| 10 ||).

Rik 36.11 (pp. 215–217, PDF 229–231)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 215)

> यम॒ग्निं मेध्या॑तिथि॒: कण्व॑ ई॒ध ऋ॒तादधि॑ । त॒स्य प्रेषो दीदि॒युस्तमि॒मा ऋ॒चस्तम॒ग्निं व॑र्धयामसि ॥ ११ ॥ [accent ?]

yam agníṃ médhyātithiḥ káṇva īdhá ṛtādádhi | tasyá preṣo dīdiyús tam imā́ ṛcás tam agníṃ vardhayāmasi || 11 || [accent ?]

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. In the first line the stroke of “ṛtādadhi” stands over dhi*, as printed. [accent ?]: the underline of “dīdiyuḥ” lies under* di/yu*; placed on* di.)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 215)

> यम् । अग्निम् । मेध्यऽअतिथिः । कण्वः । ईधे । ऋतात् । अधि ॥ तस्य । प्र । इषः । दीदियुः । तम् । इमाः । ऋचः । तम् । अग्निम् । वर्धयामसि ॥ ११ ॥

yam | agnim | medhya-atithiḥ | kaṇvaḥ | īdhe | ṛtāt | adhi || tasya | pra | iṣaḥ | dīdiyuḥ | tam | imāḥ | ṛcaḥ | tam | agnim | vardhayāmasi || 11 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 215, in full)

> मेधातिथिर्यागयोग्या अतिथय ऋत्विग्रूपा यस्य तादृशः कण्व ऋषिर्ऋतादधि आदित्यादध्याहृत्य यमग्निमीधे दीप्तवान् तस्याग्नेरिषो गमनस्वभावा रश्मयः प्र दीदियुः । प्रकर्षेण दीप्यन्ते । तथा तमग्निमिमा अस्माभिः प्रयुज्यमाना ऋचो वर्धयन्तीति शेषः । वयमपि तमग्निं वर्धयामसि । स्तोत्रैर्वर्धयामः ॥

medhātithiryāgayogyā atithaya ṛtvigrūpā yasya tādṛśaḥ kaṇva ṛṣirṛtādadhi ādityādadhyāhṛtya yamagnimīdhe dīptavān tasyāgneriṣo gamanasvabhāvā raśmayaḥ pra dīdiyuḥ | prakarṣeṇa dīpyante | tathā tamagnimimā asmābhiḥ prayujyamānā ṛco vardhayantīti śeṣaḥ | vayamapi tamagniṃ vardhayāmasi | stotrairvardhayāmaḥ ‖

(The bhāṣya opens "medhātithiḥ" as printed; "ādityād adhyāhṛtya" — "supplying [the word] from 'āditya'" — as printed.)

Translation: "Kaṇva the ṛṣi, medhyātithiḥ — he whose guests, in the form of priests, are fit for the sacrifice — ṛtāt adhi, [i.e.] from the sun, āditya (the word being supplied), īdhe — kindled — that Agni whom [he kindled]. Tasya iṣaḥ — that Agni's rays, whose nature is to move — pra dīdiyuḥ, shine forth greatly. And these ṛks, being recited by us, tam agnim — that Agni — [make] grow (to be supplied). We too, vardhayāmasi, make that Agni grow by [our] praises."

Grammatical tail of the bhāṣya (p. 215)

> ईधे । ञिइन्धी दीप्तौ । इन्धिभवतिभ्यां च । पा. १-२-६ । इति लिटः कित्त्वादनिदितामिति नकारलोपः । द्विर्भावहलादिशेषयोः कृतयोः सवर्णदीर्घः । प्रत्ययस्वरः । यद्वृत्तयोगादनिघातः । इषः । इष गतौ । इष्यन्ति गच्छन्तीतीषो रश्मयः । दीदियुः । दीदेतिश्छान्दसो धातुर्दीप्तिकर्मा । लिट्युसीयङादेशः । एरनेकाच इति यणादेशाभावश्छान्दसः । वर्धयामसि । इदन्तो मसिरिति मस इकारागमः ॥

īdhe | ñiindhī dīptau | indhibhavatibhyāṃ ca | pā. 1-2-6 | iti liṭaḥ kittvādaniditāmiti nakāralopaḥ | dvirbhāvahalādiśeṣayoḥ kṛtayoḥ savarṇadīrghaḥ | pratyayasvaraḥ | yadvṛttayogādanighātaḥ | iṣaḥ | iṣa gatau | iṣyanti gacchantītīṣo raśmayaḥ | dīdiyuḥ | dīdetiśchāndaso dhāturdīptikarmā | liṭyusīyaṅādeśaḥ | eranekāca iti yaṇādeśābhāvaśchāndasaḥ | vardhayāmasi | idanto masiriti masa ikārāgamaḥ ‖

(Sense:) īdhe (ñi-indhī dīptau, liṭ, kitvāt the loss of the n; doubling and halādiḥ śeṣaḥ; savarṇadīrgha; suffix accent; no lowering because the relative yam is connected); iṣaḥ (iṣa gatau; the rays that "go away": iṣyanti gacchanti); dīdiyuḥ (dīdī dīptau, Vedic only; liṭ, jhi → us; liṭy abhyasya… ij ādeśaḥ: iy for ī; ireṇekāco…: the yaṇ-substitution does not arise in the Veda); vardhayāmasi (idanto masiḥ — the i augment for masi).

Pratipadārtha (pp. 215–216) — "medhyātithiḥ — he who has guests who are fit for the sacrifice, in the form of priests; kaṇvaḥ — the ṛṣi Kaṇva; ṛtād adhi — more than the Sun; yam agnim — which Agni; īdhe — kindled; tasya — of that Agni; iṣaḥ — the rays that have the nature of moving; pra dīdiyuḥ — have shone greatly; tam — that Agni; imāḥ — these; ṛcaḥ — ṛks [recited by us];

Page 216

(continued, p. 216) (vardhayanti — make [him] spread); vayam api — we also; tam agnim — that Agni; vardhayāmasi — cause to prosper."

Bhāvārtha (p. 216) — "The sage Kaṇva was always famous for the entertainment of guests. The guests of this sage, worthy of worship and entitled to perform sacrifices, accept his hospitality in the form of priests of the sacrifice. With the help of such guests Kaṇva makes the sacrifice and makes Agni blaze more than the Sun. The rays of that Agni, which move in a deep, unfathomable course, shine with great brilliance. The ṛks we have recited cause that Agni to blossom forth. We, too, by performing sacrifices, cause that Agni deity to prosper."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 216) — "The rays of that Agni whom Medhyatithi Kanwa made more brilliant than the sun, shine brightly ; we praise (extol) that same Agni by reciting hymns." (the print ends with a raised dot).

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 216 - ṛtāt = ādityāt: "from the Sun; there is a Vedic statement 'ṛtenādityas tapati' (Tai. U., no number printed)." - iṣaḥ = gamanasvabhāvā raśmayaḥ: "rays whose nature is to move, to spread and pervade." - imā ṛcaḥ — "these ṛks that we are now reciting." - agniṃ vardhayāmasi = agniṃ stotrair vardhayāmaḥ: "we praise Agni with ṛks in the form of praises."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 216–217, PDF 230–231 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - īdhe (pp. 216–217): root ñi-indhī dīptau; liṭ, ta; liṭas tajhayor eśirec (no number printed): eś [e] for ta, and irec for jha; indhibhavatibhyāṃ ca — इन्धिभवतिभ्यां च — (Pā. 1-2-6): after indh and bhū, liṭ is kit even when not [otherwise] kit; "indh and bhū, because they are guru-vowelled; since the liṭ of a root with a heavy penultimate would not take kit, kit-ness is here taught; and ijādeś ca gurumato 'nṛcchaḥ (Pā. 3-1-36): ām for liṭ after a root beginning with ij-letters that has a heavy vowel — hence ām would arise for indh, but amantre (no number printed) prohibits [ām] in the Veda; chandasy ubhayathā (Pā. 3-4-117) makes the sārvadhātuka also ārdhadhātuka, and sārvadhātukam apit (Pā. 1-2-4) gives ṅit; so, since the kit-ness is there, the kit-based changes arise even without the ṅit-ness"; "the vuk augment is always there for the liṭ after bhū, so that vṛddhi has no occasion; and so indhibhavatibhyāṃ ca is explained as a prohibition [pratyākhyāna]"; anidītāṃ hala upadhāyāḥ knīti (Pā. 6-4-24): the n of indh is lost: idh + e; doubling, loss of the reduplicate's consonant, savarṇadīrgha; yam agnim — because the relative yam is connected, the wholly-unaccented is forbidden; the suffix-accent comes.

Page 217

- iṣaḥ: root iṣa gatau, divādi; iṣyanti = "[they] go"; iṣaḥ = "the rays [which], leaving the support, go far away".
- dīdiyuḥ: root dīdī dīptau, Vedic only; after it liṭ, jhi, us; dīdī + us; ācchinnaḥ…: iyaṅ [as read: ajñ… iy] by the rule ac chnu…; "vero 'nekāco 'saṃyogapūrvasya (Pā. 6-4-82): the yaṇ for the final i/ī/u/ū of a base of several vowels, not preceded by a conjunct, is replaced here by iy since the rule sarve vidhayaś chandasi vikalpyante (Paribhā. 3[?]: the second digit is a ಽ/ಲ-like glyph, not settled) makes the yaṇ optional; so no yaṇ, and no doubling here."

- vardhayāmasi: idanto masi — इदन्तो मसि (Pā. 7-1-46): the masi-ending takes i at the end [by the indicatory phrase]; "mas of the first-person plural, after a ṇic-ending base vṛdh, takes i": vardhayāmasi. Rik 11 ends here (|| 11 ||).

Rik 36.12 (pp. 217–220, PDF 231–234)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 217)

> रायस्पूर्धि स्वधावोऽस्ति हि तेऽग्ने देवेष्वाप्यं । त्वं वाजस्य श्रुत्यस्य राजसि स नो मृळ महाँ असि ॥ १२ ॥

rāyás pūrdhi svadhāvo 'stí hí té 'gne devéṣvāpyaṃ | tváṃ vājasya śrútyasya rājasí sa no mṛḷa mahāṁ́ asi || 12 ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. The underline in "rājasi" stands under si*, as printed.)*

Page 218

Pada-pāṭha (p. 218)

> रायः । पूर्धि । स्वधाऽवः । अस्ति । हि । ते । अग्ने । देवेषु । आप्यम् ॥ त्वम् । वाजस्य । श्रुत्यस्य । राजसि । सः । नः । मृळ । महान् । असि ॥ १२ ॥

rāyaḥ | pūrdhi | svadhā-vaḥ | asti | hi | te | agne | deveṣu | āpyam || tvam | vājasya | śrutyasya | rājasi | saḥ | naḥ | mṛḷa | mahān | asi || 12 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 218, in full)

> हे स्वधावोऽन्नवन्नग्ने । स्वधा अर्क इति तन्नामसु पाठात् [as printed; the Special Topics below give 'svadhā' as a word for food]। अस्माकं रायो धनानि पूर्धि पूरय देहि वा । पूर्धि पूरय देहीति वा । नि. ४-३ । इति यास्कः । हे अग्ने ते तव देवेष्वाप्यं प्रापणीयं सख्यमस्ति हि । विद्यते खलु । त्वं श्रुत्यस्य श्रवणीयस्य वाजस्यान्नस्य राजसि । ईश्वरो भवसि । स त्वं नोऽस्मान्मृळ । सुखय । महान् गुणैरधिकोऽसि ॥

he svadhāvo 'nnavann agne | svadhā arka iti tannāmasu pāṭhāt [as printed] | asmākaṃ rāyo dhanāni pūrdhi pūraya dehi vā | pūrdhi pūraya dehīti vā | ni. 4-3 | iti yāskaḥ | he agne te tava deveṣv āpyaṃ prāpaṇīyaṃ sakhyam asti hi | vidyate khalu | tvaṃ śrutyasya śravaṇīyasya vājasyānnasya rājasi | īśvaro bhavasi | sa tvaṃ no 'smān mṛḷa | sukhaya | mahān guṇair adhiko 'si ||

Translation: "O svadhāvaḥ — Agni, possessed of food (svadhā is read among the lists of such names [the print's word is "arka", which does not suit; the Special Topics below give 'food']) — rāyaḥ pūrdhi — fill [us] with wealth, or give: 'pūrdhi = pūraya, or dehi' (Ni. 4-3), so Yāska. O Agni, indeed there is āpyam — friendship to be obtained — with the gods, in you. You rājasi — are the lord — of the śrutya [famed, to-be-heard-of] vāja, food. That you, mṛḷa — make [us] happy. Mahān asi — you are great, superior in qualities."

Grammatical tail of the bhāṣya (p. 218)

रायः । ऊडिदमिति विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वम् । पूर्धि । पॄ पालनपूरणयोः । श्रुशृणुपृकृवृभ्यश्छन्दसीति हेर्धिरादेशः । बहुलं छन्दसीति शपो लुक् । हेरपित्त्वेन ङित्त्वाद्गुणाभाव उदोष्ठ्यपूर्वस्य । पा. ७-१-१०२ । इत्युत्त्वम् । हलि चेति दीर्घः । स्वधावः । संबुद्धौ मतुवसोरिति रुत्वम् । आप्यम् । अदुपधत्वाभावेऽपि व्यत्ययेन पोरदुपधात् । पा. ३-१-९८ । इति कर्मणि यत् । यतोऽनाव इत्याद्युदात्तत्वम् । यद्वा । ण्यति छान्दसमाद्युदात्तत्वम् । श्रुत्यस्य । श्रु श्रवणे । औणादिकः क्यप् । तुगागमः । यद्वा । श्रुतिशब्दाद्भवे छन्दसीति यत् । मृळ । मृड सुखने । शस्य ङित्त्वाल्लघूपधगुणाभावः ॥

rāyaḥ | ūḍidamiti vibhakterudāttatvam | pūrdhi | pṝ pālanapūraṇayoḥ | śruśṛṇupṝkṛvṛbhyaśchandasīti herdhirādeśaḥ | bahulaṃ chandasīti śapo luk | herapittvena ṅittvādguṇābhāva udoṣṭhyapūrvasya | pā. 7-1-102 | ityuttvam | hali ceti dīrghaḥ | svadhāvaḥ | saṃbuddhau matuvasoriti rutvam | āpyam | adupadhatvābhāve 'pi vyatyayena poradupadhāt | pā. 3-1-98 | iti karmaṇi yat | yato 'nāva ityādyudāttatvam | yadvā | ṇyati chāndasamādyudāttatvam | śrutyasya | śru śravaṇe | auṇādikaḥ kyap | tugāgamaḥ | yadvā | śrutiśabdādbhave chandasīti yat | mṛḷa | mṛḍa sukhane | śasya ṅittvāllaghūpadhaguṇābhāvaḥ ||

(Sense:) rāyaḥ (the ending acute by ūḍidam…); pūrdhi (pṝ pālanapūraṇayoḥ; hi for sip; śruśṛṇupṝkṛvṛbhyaś chandasi — dhi for hi; śap lost by bahulaṃ chandasi; hi is apit, so ṅit, kṅiti ca: no guṇa; udoṣṭhyapūrvasya: u for ṛ after a labial; hali ca (Pā. 8-2-77): lengthening); svadhāvaḥ (svadhā asyāsti, matup; the su of the vocative becomes ru, by matuvasor ru sambuddhau chandasi; māduparadhāyāś ca: m → v); āpyam (āpa vyāptau, yat, by poradupadhāt; the accent of yato 'nāvaḥ); śrutyasya (śru śravaṇe, kyap by the Uṇādi [oṇādika], with tuk; or śrutau bhavaḥ, yat by bhave chandasi; yasyeti ca); mṛḷa (mṛḍa sukhane; loṭ, hi; śa; ito 'tohe luk, and the Bahvṛca ḍ → ḷ).

Pratipadārtha (p. 218) — "svadhāvaḥ — O Agni [you who are] endowed with food (the giver); asmākam — to us; rāyaḥ — riches; pūrdhi — fill; agne — O Agni; te — your; deveṣu — among the gods; āpyam — friendship [that can be had, i.e. our friendship with the gods can be had through you]; asti hi — it truly exists; tvam — you; śrutyasya — [of the food that is] famous to the ears; vājasya — of food; rājasi — are the lord; saḥ tvam — such a you; naḥ — us; mṛḷa — make happy; mahān asi — you are great, of eminent qualities."

Bhāvārtha (p. 219) — "O Agni, you are endowed with excellent qualities and have eminence. You are always the giver of food, rich in abundance of food, to all of us. You are lord of all famous gain of food. Give us food and make us happy. As you are the friend of the gods, make us too stand with those gods; for the sake of pleasing them, fill us with the riches that are needed to perform the sacrifice."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 219) — "Agni, giver of food, fill us with wealth ; you are friendly with the gods (or our friendship of the gods is obtainable through you) you are lord of famous food, make happy, for you are great" (the print ends with a raised dot).

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 219 - pūrdhi = pūraya dehi vā: "fill; that is, give. Yāska has explained the word pūrdhi as 'pūrdhi pūraya dehīti vā' (Ni. 4-3)." - svadhāvaḥ — "the vocative singular of svadhāvān. Since the word svadhā is read among the twenty-eight words for food beginning andhaḥ, vājaḥ (no reference printed), svadhā means food, an eating; svadhāvān means one who has food, or an eater." - āpyam = prāpaṇīyam: "that which is fit to be obtained, that which can be reached: the friendship of the gods can be had only through you, is the sense." - śrutyasya = śravaṇīyasya, prasiddhasya: "that which is famous, needed by all, desired." - rājasi = īśvaro bhavasi: "you shine as the chief, the lord."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 219–220, PDF 233–234 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - rāyaḥ: ūḍidaṃ padādyāpumraidyubhyaḥ: the śas ending is acute. - pūrdhi: root pṝ pālanapūraṇayoḥ; loṭ, sip; sip → hi [serhy apic ca]; bahulaṃ chandasi: luk of śap; śruśṛṇupṝkṛvṛbhyaś chandasi — श्रुशृणुपृकृवृभ्यश्छन्दसि — (Pā. 6-4-102): dhi for hi after śru, śṛṇu, pṝ, kṛ, vṛ in the Veda;

Page 220

(continued, p. 220) hi is apit by serhy apic ca, so sārvadhātukam apit (Pā. 1-2-4) makes it ṅit; kṅiti ca (Pā. 1-1-5) bars guṇa; udoṣṭhyapūrvasya — उदोष्ठ्यपूर्वस्य (Pā. 7-1-102): the ṛ at the end of a base preceded by a labial becomes u: the labials are u, the p-series, upadhmānīya; pur + dhi; hali ca (Pā. 8-2-77) — हलि च — [Pā. 8-2-77]: the lengthening of i, u, ṛ as penultimates of bases ending in r or v before a consonant: pūrdhi. - svadhāvaḥ: svadhā asyāsti iti svadhāvān; tadasyāstyasminn iti matup; matuvasoru sambuddhau chandasi — मतुवसोरु सम्बुद्धौ छन्दसि (Pā. 8-3-1): ru for the last letter of a word ending in matup or vasu; māduparadhāyāś ca matorvo 'yavādibhyaḥ: m → v. - āpyam: root āpḷ vyāptau — "this root does not have a short a penultimate; but by vyatyaya poradupadhāt — पोरदुपधात् (Pā. 3-1-98) gives yat after a root ending in a labial and with a short a penultimate"; yato 'nāvaḥ (Pā. 6-1-213): first-syllable acute for a yat-ending word of two vowels (other than nau); or the ṇyat of ṛhaloṇyat, by the Vedic first-syllable acute. - śrutyasya: śru śravaṇe; the oṇādika kyap, with hrasvasya piti kṛti tuk: tuk; or śrutau bhavaḥ — bhave chandasi (Pā. 4-4-110): yat; yasyeti ca: loss of i. - mṛḷa: root mṛḍa sukhane, loṭ, sip, hi; tudādibhyaḥ śaḥ: śa, which is ṅit, so no laghūpadha-guṇa; ato heḥ — अतो हेः — (no number printed): luk of hi after a base ending in a; ḍ → ḷ in the Bahvṛca tradition. Rik 12 ends here (|| 12 ||).

Rik 36.13 (p. 220 foot, PDF 234–)

(The thirteenth and fourteenth ṛks are the two addressed to the yūpa* (or Agni as its support), per the introduction on p. 177.)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 220)

ऊ॒र्ध्व ऊ॒ षु ण॑ ऊ॒तये तिष्ठा॑ दे॒वो न स॑वि॒ता । [accent ?] ऊ॒र्ध्वो वाज॑स्य सनि॒ता
यद॒ञ्जिभि॑र्वा॒घद्भि॑र्विह्व॒यामहे ॥ १३ ॥ [accent ?]

ūrdhvá ū ṣú ṇa ūtayé tíṣṭhā devó ná savitā | [accent ?] ūrdhvó vājasya sanitā yádañjíbhir vāghádbhir vihváyāmahe || 13 || [accent ?]

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. [accent ?]: the marks are placed where they stand in the print — the underline of "ūtaye" under ta*, a stroke over* sa of "savitā" and of "sanitā", the underline of "sanitā" under tā*; the IAST acutes follow the marks mechanically.)*

Rik 36.13 (continued) — Pada, bhāṣya, Pratipadārtha, Bhāvārtha, English, Special Topics, grammar (pp. 221–225, PDF 235–239)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 221)

> ऊर्ध्वः । ऊं इति । सु । नः । ऊतये । तिष्ठ । देवः । न । सविता ॥ ऊर्ध्वः । वाजस्य । सनिता । यत् । अञ्जिऽभिः । वाघत्ऽभिः । विऽह्वयामहे ॥ १३ ॥

ūrdhvaḥ | ūṃ iti | su | naḥ | ūtaye | tiṣṭha | devaḥ | na | savitā || ūrdhvaḥ | vājasya | sanitā | yat | añji-bhiḥ | vāghat-bhiḥ | vi-hvayāmahe || 13 ||

Page 221

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 221, in full)

> यूपोच्छ्रयणे ऊर्ध्व ऊ षु ण ऊतय इति द्वे । पशाविष्टिरिति खण्डे सूत्रितम् । ऊर्ध्व ऊ षु ण ऊतये इति द्वे । आ. ३-१ । इति ॥ एते एवाभिप्लवेऽपि विनियुक्ते । अथोत्तरमिति खण्डे सूत्रितम् । सखे सखायमभ्या ववृत्स्वोर्ध्व ऊ षु ण ऊतय इति द्वे । आ. ४-२ । इति ॥ हे यूप यद्वा यूपात्मकदारुनिष्ठाग्ने नोऽस्माकमूतये रक्षणायोर्ध्व उन्नतस्तिष्ठ । तत्र दृष्टान्तः । सविता देवो न । यथा सूर्यो देव उन्नतस्तिष्ठति तद्वत् । ऊर्ध्व उन्नतस्सन् वाजस्यान्नस्य सनिता दाता भविष्यसि । यद्यस्मात्कारणादञ्जिभिराज्येन यूपमञ्जद्भिर्वाघद्भिर्ऋत्विग्भिः सह यज्ञं वहद्भिः विह्वयामहे अन्नदानाय त्वां विशेषेणाह्वयामः । तस्मादन्नस्य दाता भवेति पूर्वत्रान्वयः ॥

yūpocchrayaṇe ūrdhva ū ṣu ṇa ūtaya iti dve | paśāv iṣṭir iti khaṇḍe sūtritam | ūrdhva ū ṣu ṇa ūtaye iti dve | ā. 3-1 | iti || ete evābhiplave 'pi viniyukte | athottaram iti khaṇḍe sūtritam | sakhe sakhāyam abhyā vavṛtsvordhva ū ṣu ṇa ūtaya iti dve | ā. 4-2 | iti || he yūpa yadvā yūpātmakadāruniṣṭhāgne no 'smākam ūtaye rakṣaṇāyordhva unnatas tiṣṭha | tatra dṛṣṭāntaḥ | savitā devo na | yathā sūryo deva unnatas tiṣṭhati tadvat | ūrdhva unnatas san vājasyānnasya sanitā dātā bhaviṣyasi | yad yasmāt kāraṇād añjibhir ājyena yūpam añjadbhir vāghadbhir ṛtvigbhiḥ saha yajñaṃ vahadbhiḥ vihvayāmahe annadānāya tvāṃ viśeṣeṇāhvayāmaḥ | tasmād annasya dātā bhaveti pūrvatrānvayaḥ ||

Translation: "At the raising of the yūpa [the two ṛks] 'ūrdhva ū ṣu ṇa ūtaye' [are used]: it is laid down in the section 'paśāv iṣṭiḥ': 'the two [ṛks] ūrdhva ū ṣu ṇa ūtaye' (Āś. 3-1). The same two are also applied in the abhiplava: it is laid down in the section 'athottaram': 'sakhe sakhāyam abhyā vavṛtsva, and the two ūrdhva ū ṣu ṇa ūtaye' (Āś. 4-2). — O yūpa, or O Agni abiding in the wooden yūpa, ūtaye — for our protection — ūrdhvaḥ tiṣṭha — stand erect. The illustration is savitā devo na: as the god Sūrya stands high, so [do you]. Standing high, you will be vājasya sanitā, the giver of food, since yat — because — vihvayāmahe — we call you specially for the giving of food — añjibhiḥ, with the anointers (those who anoint the yūpa with ghee), vāghadbhiḥ, with the priests, who bear the sacrifice: therefore be the giver of food — the connection with the foregoing."

Grammatical tail of the bhāṣya (pp. 221–222)

> ऊ षु णः । इकः सुञि । पा. ६-३-१३४ । इति संहितायां दीर्घः । सुञः । पा. ८-३-१०७ । इति षत्वम् । नश्च धातुस्थोरुषुभ्यः । पा. ८-४-२७ । इति णत्वम् । ऊतये । अवतेः क्तिनि ज्वरत्वरेत्यादिना ऊठ् । ऊतियूतीत्यादिना क्तिन्नुदात्तत्वम् । तिष्ठ । तिष्ठ । शपि पाघ्रेत्यादिना तिष्ठादेशः । द्व्यचोऽतस्तिङ इति

संहितायां दीर्घः । वाजस्य । क्रियाग्रहणं कर्तव्यम् । पा. १-४-३२-१ । इति कर्मणः संप्रदानत्वाच्चतुर्थ्यर्थे षष्ठी । सनिता । षणु दाने । लुटि तासिः । वलादिलक्षण इट् । पा. ७-२-३५ । तिपो डादेशः । पा. २-४-८५ । टिलोपः । उदात्तनिवृत्तिस्वरेण डादेशस्योदात्तत्वे प्राप्ते तास्यनुदात्तेदिति तस्यानुदात्तत्वं धातुस्वरः । न लुट् । पा. ८-१-२९ । इति निघातप्रतिषेधः । अञ्जिभिः । अञ्जू व्यक्तिम्रक्षणगतिषु । खनिकष्यञ्जीत्यादिना । उ. ४-१३९ । इप्रत्ययः । विह्वयामहे । निसमुपविभ्यो ह्वः । पा. १-३-३० । इत्यकर्त्रभिप्रायेऽप्यात्मनेपदम् । अदुपदेशाल्लसार्वधातुकानुदात्तत्वे धातुस्वरः । तिङि चोदात्तवतीति गतेरनुदात्तत्वम् । यद्वृत्तयोगादनिघातः ॥

ū ṣu ṇaḥ | ikaḥ suṇi | pā. 6-3-134 | iti saṃhitāyāṃ dīrghaḥ | suñaḥ | pā. 8-3-107 | iti ṣatvam | naśca dhātusthoruṣubhyaḥ | pā. 8-4-27 | iti ṇatvam | ūtaye | avateḥ ktini jvaratvaretyādinā ūṭh | ūtiyūtītyādinā ktinnudāttatvam | tiṣṭha | tiṣṭha | śapi pāghretyādinā tiṣṭhādeśaḥ | dvyaco 'tastiṅa iti saṃhitāyāṃ dīrghaḥ | vājasya | kriyāgrahaṇaṃ kartavyam | pā. 1-4-32-1 | iti karmaṇaḥ saṃpradānatvāccaturthyarthe ṣaṣṭhī | sanitā | ṣaṇu dāne | luṭi tāsiḥ | valādilakṣaṇa iṭ | pā. 7-2-35 | tipo ḍādeśaḥ | pā. 2-4-85 | ṭilopaḥ | udāttanivṛttisvareṇa ḍādeśasyodāttatve prāpte tāsyanudāttediti tasyānudāttatvaṃ dhātusvaraḥ | na luṭ | pā. 8-1-29 | iti nighātapratiṣedhaḥ | añjibhiḥ | añjū vyaktimrakṣaṇagatiṣu | khanikaṣyañjītyādinā | u. 4-139 | ipratyayaḥ | vihvayāmahe | nisamupavibhyo hvaḥ | pā. 1-3-30 | ityakartrabhiprāye 'pyātmanepadam | adupadeśāllasārvadhātukānudāttatve dhātusvaraḥ | tiṅi codāttavatīti gateranudāttatvam | yadvṛttayogādanighātaḥ ‖

(Sense:) ū ṣu ṇaḥ (ikaḥ suñi — the lengthening of the u before suñ in a ṛk; suñaḥ — s → ṣ after ik-letters; ṇatva of naḥ by naś ca dhātusthoruṣubhyaḥ); ūtaye (avater ktin, with ūṭh by jvaratvara…; ūtiyūtijūti…: ktin acute); tiṣṭha (śap, with tiṣṭha in place of sthā by pāghrādhmā…; dvyacotastiṅaḥ: lengthening in the Saṃhitā); vājasya (“kriyāgrahaṇaṃ kartavyam” — the vārtika on karmaṇā yam abhipraiti sa sampradānam: the dative sense given by the sixth case); sanitā (ṣaṇu dāne, luṭ, tāsi, ṭi → ḍā; valādilakṣaṇa iṭ; tāsyanudāttet…); añjibhiḥ (añjū vyaktimrakṣaṇagatiṣu; the Uṇādi i [khanikaṣyañji…, Uṇ. 4-139]); vihvayāmahe (ni-sam-upa-vibhyo hvaḥ: ātmanepada; śap is pit; tiṅ and the accent tiṅ ṅatiṅaḥ; jityṅa …).

Page 222

Pratipadārtha (p. 222) — “(O Agni, fixed to the sacrificial post) savitā devaḥ na — as the divine Savitṛ (the Sun); ūrdhvaḥ — standing high above; tiṣṭha — stand; naḥ — for our; ūtaye — for protection; ūrdhvaḥ — as you stand erect; yat — for which reason; añjibhiḥ — with the priests who smear the post (with ghee); vāghadbhiḥ — with the priests who carry out the sacrifice; vihvayāmahe — we call you specially (for this purpose); vājasya — of food; sanitā — be the giver.”

Bhāvārtha (p. 222) — “O Agni, you stand fixed in the sacrificial post. As the Sun-god stands raised up, to protect all beings, stand for our protection raised up, so that we may see you. We do various services. We smear the post with ghee and worship, and with the priests who carry out the sacrifice we call you specially. Accept our worship and our call, and be the giver of food to us.”

English Translation (the source’s own, p. 222) — “Stand up erect for our protection like the divine Savitri ; you, giver of food, be erect ; we invoke you through our annointing priests who are offering oblations.” (“annointing” [sic]; the print ends with a raised dot.)

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 222–224 - “For this ṛk and the next, ūrdhvo naḥ, the deity is the yūpa — that is, the post to which an animal is tied in the animal sacrifice, a pillar, or [wooden] beam — [or] Agni of that form, it is held [that Agni is] the deity. Therefore in animal sacrifices, at the time of raising the yūpa, these two ṛks beginning ūrdhva ū ṣu are recited. This matter is explained in the Āśvalāyana Śrauta-sūtra, in the section paśāviṣṭi, by the sūtra ‘ūrdhva ū ṣu ṇa ūtaye iti dve’ (Āś. 3-1); and also in the abhiplava [it is explained] in the section athottaram by the sūtra ‘sakhe sakhāyam abhyāvavṛtsva (Ṛ. Saṃ. 4-1-3) ūrdhva ū ṣu ṇa ūtaye (Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-36-13 and 14) iti dve’ (Āś. 4-2).”

Page 223

- ūtaye — “for protection: how the yūpa-post protects us is that the post is a help to the sacrifice; by performing the sacrifice the gods will give us protection: such is the sense.”
- devo na savitā — “like the shining Sun; that is, as the Sun, when he shines well, stands very high (above the head): so you too, O yūpa-post, stand high. In the sacrifice, praying to the yūpa-post to ‘stand straight’ or ‘stand erect’ is the established usage. On this matter:”

यदूर्ध्वस्तिष्ठा द्रविणेह धत्तादद्धा क्षयो मातुरस्या उपस्थे । (ऋ. सं. ३-८-१) उच्छ्रयस्व वनस्पते वर्ष्मन् पृथिव्या अधि । (ऋ. सं. ३-८-३) तं धीरासः कवय उन्नयन्ति स्वाधियो मनसा देवयन्तः । (ऋ. सं. ३-८-४) उन्नीयमानः कविभिः पुरस्ताद्देवा देवानामपि यन्ति पाथः ॥ (ऋ. सं. ३-८-९)

yad ūrdhvas tiṣṭhā draviṇeha dhattād ad vā kṣayo mātur asyā upasthe | (ṛ. saṃ. 3-8-1) ucchrayasva vanaspate varṣman pṛthivyā adhi | (ṛ. saṃ. 3-8-3) taṃ dhīrāsaḥ kavaya unnayanti svādhiyo manasā devayantaḥ | (ṛ. saṃ. 3-8-4) unnīyamānaḥ kavibhiḥ purastād devā devānām api yanti pāthaḥ || (ṛ. saṃ. 3-8-9)

“— in such ṛks it is said that the yūpa-post is raised high.” (The source leaves the ṛks untranslated. My glosses, mine and tentative: “when you stand erect, … establish wealth here, or [your] dwelling in the lap of this mother [earth]”; “rise up, O lord of the forest, on the height of the earth”; “him the wise poets, the pious, lift up with the mind, desiring the gods”; “being led up by the poets in front, the gods go to the path of the gods too”. References re-read from the better scan.) - vājasya sanitā = annasya dātā: “one who gives food or sustenance.” - yad añjibhiḥ = ājyena yūpam añjadbhiḥ: “it is the custom to smear the yūpa-post with ghee. Such work is done by the priests, with [the help of] mantras. ‘By the priests’ is the sense. On the matter of the yūpa-post being smeared with ghee:”

अञ्जन्ति त्वामध्वरे देवयन्तो वनस्पते मधुना दैव्येन । (ऋ. सं. ३-८-१)

añjanti tvām adhvare devayanto vanaspate madhunā daivyena | (ṛ. saṃ. 3-8-1)

“— this ṛk clearly explains this ghee-anointing.” (Gloss mine, tentative: “the god-desiring anoint you in the sacrifice, O lord of the forest, with divine honey [= ghee]”.)

Page 224

- vāghadbhiḥ = yajñaṃ vahadbhiḥ ṛtvigbhiḥ: “by the priests who carry out the sacrificial work in the sacrifice; on this matter:”

वाघद्भिर्वा विह्वे श्रोषमाणा अस्मा अवन्तु पृतनाज्येषु ॥ (ऋ. सं. ३-८-१०)

vāghadbhir vā vihve śroṣamāṇā asmā avantu pṛtanājyeṣu || (ṛ. saṃ. 3-8-10)

"— this ṛk explains it." (Gloss mine, tentative: "may [they], listening to our call with the priests, help us in the battles".) - vihvayāmahe = viśeṣeṇāhvayāmaḥ: "we call in a special way; that is, we call with praises and the like."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 224–225, PDF 238–239 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - ū ṣu ṇaḥ (p. 224): ikaḥ suñi — इकः सुञि — (Pā. 6-3-134): in a ṛk the vowel of an ik-ending word is lengthened before the particle suñ; so the u becomes ū; suñaḥ — सुञः — (printed "Pā. Sū. 8-3-2" [sic]; the bhāṣya tail gives 8-3-107): s of suñ becomes ṣ after an ik or k-class letter; naś ca dhātusthoruṣubhyaḥ — नश्च धातुस्थोरुषुभ्यः — (Pā. 8-4-27): the n of nas after r, ṣ in a root, or after uru or ṣu, becomes ṇ: so the n of nas, the substitute of asmad, becomes ṇ. - ūtaye: root ava rakṣaṇe; striyāṃ ktin; ūtiyūtijūtisātihetikīrtayaś ca — ऊतियूतिजूतिसातिहेतिकीर्तयश्च — (no number printed): ktin is acute [on the first syllable, by ūti, etc.]; jvaratvarasrivyavivyamavām…: ū for av. - tiṣṭha: root ṣṭhā gatinivṛttau, loṭ, sip, śap; pāghrādhmāsthā… (Pā. 7-3-78): tiṣṭha for sthā; ato heḥ: luk of hi; dvyacotastiṅaḥ (Pā. 6-3-135) — in the Saṃhitā the a of a two-vowelled tiṅ form in a ṛk is lengthened: tiṣṭhā. - vājasya (p. 224): "vājasya sanitā means the giver of food. In the sūtra karmaṇā yam abhipraiti sa sampradānam — कर्मणा यमभिप्रैति स सम्प्रदानम् — (Pā. 1-4-32) [the print notes the vārtika] kriyāgrahaṇaṃ kartavyam — 'the word kriyā is to be added': the one at whom an action is aimed is also sampradāna through the action implied by the san-root; so vāja, aimed at by the action of [the root] sanoti, takes the name sampradāna; but if it is regarded as a remainder (śeṣa), the sixth case arises." - sanitā: root ṣaṇu dāne, luṭ, syatāsī lṛluṭoḥ — स्यतासी लृलुटोः — (no number printed): tāsi; tip; luṭaḥ prathamasya ḍārauras — लुटः प्रथमस्य डारौरसः — (Pā. 2-4-85): ḍā for tip; by the force of the ḍ the ṭi of tāsi is lost; the augment iṭ for the ārdhadhātuka tāsi; tāsyanudāttenṅid…: the ḍā after tāsi is unaccented; nalut — नलुट् — (Pā. 8-1-29): a word ending in luṭ is not unaccented, hence the prohibition of the wholly-unaccented; the root's accent stands.

Page 225

- añjibhiḥ (p. 225): root añjū vyaktimrakṣaṇagatiṣu; khanikaṣyañjivasivanisanidhvanigranthicalibhyaś ca (Uṇ. 4-139 as in the bhāṣya tail; on p. 225 it is printed ೪-೫೭, Uṇ. 4-579): i after these roots; so i after añj.
- vihvayāmahe: ni-sam-upa-vibhyo hvaḥ — नि-सम्-उप-विभ्यो ह्वः — (Pā. 1-3-30): the root hvṛ̆ after the preverbs ni, sam, upa, vi takes the ātmanepada even where the fruit goes to another; ātmanepada, mahiṅ, e; śap; tāsyanudāttet…: since it is after an anupadeśa [anudātta-marked] root, the lasārvadhātuka is unaccented and the root's accent stays; tiṅi codāttavati (Pā. 8-1-71): when a tiṅ-ending word with an acute follows, the gati is unaccented — so vi is unaccented. Rik 13 ends here (|| 13 ||).

Rik 36.14 (pp. 225–228, PDF 239–242)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 225)

ऊ॒र्ध्वो न॑ः पा॒ह्यं॑हसो॒ नि के॒तुना॒ विश्वं॑ सम॒त्रिणं॑ दह । कृ॒धी न॑ ऊ॒र्ध्वाञ्च॑रथा॑य जी॒वसे॑ वि॒दा दे॒वेषु॑ नो॒ दु॑वः ॥ १४ ॥

ūrdhvó naḥ pāhy áṃhaso ni ketúnā víśvaṃ samatríṇaṃ daha | kṛdhī na ūrdhvāñcaráthāya jīvásé vidā devéṣu no dúvaḥ || 14 ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. The first line is printed over two lines, "sama-/triṇaṃ daha".)

(Reading note, written after viewing the Pada: the Saṃhitā's "kṛdhī na ūrdhvāñ carathāya" is the Pada's kṛdhi | naḥ | ūrdhvān | carathāya*, the "-ñ c-" being the sandhi of* ūrdhvān before c-.)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 225)

> ऊर्ध्वः । नः । पाहि । अंहसः । नि । केतुना । विश्वम् । सम् । अत्रिणम् । दह ॥ कृधि । नः । ऊर्ध्वान् । चरथाय । जीवसे । विदाः । देवेषु । नः । दुवः ॥ १४ ॥

ūrdhvaḥ | naḥ | pāhi | aṃhasaḥ | ni | ketunā | viśvam | sam | atriṇam | daha || kṛdhi | naḥ | ūrdhvān | carathāya | jīvase | vidāḥ | deveṣu | naḥ | duvaḥ || 14 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 226, in full)

> हे यूप यद्वा तन्निष्ठाग्ने ऊर्ध्व उन्नतः सन् नोऽस्मान्केतुना ज्ञानेनांहसः पापान्नि पाहि । नितरां पालय । विश्वमत्रिणं सर्वमत्तारं भक्षकं राक्षसं सं दह । सम्यग्भस्मीकुरु । नोऽस्मानूर्ध्वानुन्नतान्कृधि । कुरु । किमर्थं चरथाय लोके चरणाय जीवसे जीवनाय च । नोऽस्माकं दुवो धनं हविःस्वरूपं देवेषु विदाः । लम्भय ॥

he yūpa yadvā tanniṣṭhāgne ūrdhva unnataḥ san no 'smān ketunā jñānenāṃhasaḥ pāpān ni pāhi | nitarāṃ pālaya | viśvam atriṇaṃ sarvam attāraṃ bhakṣakaṃ rākṣasaṃ saṃ daha | samyag bhasmīkuru | no 'smān ūrdhvān unnatān kṛdhi | kuru | kimarthaṃ carathāya loke caraṇāya jīvase jīvanāya ca | no 'smākaṃ duvo dhanaṃ haviḥsvarūpaṃ deveṣu vidāḥ | lambhaya ||

Translation: "O yūpa, or O Agni abiding in it: standing high, naḥ — us — ketunā, by knowledge, pāhi — protect from aṃhasaḥ, sin: guard thoroughly. Viśvam atriṇam — every eater, the devouring rākṣasa — sam daha: burn up completely, turn to ashes. Kṛdhi naḥ ūrdhvān — make us upright, raised: for what purpose? Carathāya — for moving about in the world — jīvase, and for living. Duvaḥ — our wealth, in the form of oblations — deveṣu vidāḥ, cause [it] to be obtained [by] the gods."

Grammatical tail of the bhāṣya (p. 226)

> अत्रिणम् । अद भक्षणे । अदेस्त्रिनि च । उ. ४-६८ । इत्यौणादिकस्त्रिनिप्रत्ययः । यद्वा । अदतस्त्रायन्त इत्यत्राः । आतोऽनुपसर्गे क इति कः । अत इनिठनाविति मत्वर्थीय इनिः । कृधि । श्रुशृणुपृकृवृभ्यश्छन्दसीति हेर्धिरादेशः । बहुलं छन्दसीति विकरणस्य लुक् । अन्येषामपि दृश्यत इति संहितायां दीर्घः । ऊर्ध्वान् । उभयथर्क्षु । पा. ८-३-८ । इति विकल्पविधानान्नश्छव्यप्रशान् । पा. ८-३-६ । इति नकारस्य रुत्वाभावः । चरथाय । चरेरौणादिको भावेऽथप्रत्ययः । जीवसे । जीव प्राणधारणे । तुमर्थे सेसेनित्यसेप्रत्ययः । विदाः । विद्लृ लाभे । अस्मादन्तर्भावितण्यर्थाल्लेटि सिपि

लेटोऽडाटावित्याडागमः । तुदादित्वाच्छः । शे मुचादीनामिति नुम् न भवति । अनित्यमागमशासनमिति वचनेन तस्यानित्यत्वात् । इतश्च लोप इतीकारलोपः । आगमानुदात्तत्वे विकरणस्वरः ॥

atriṇam | ada bhakṣaṇe | adestrini ca | u. 4-68 | ityauṇādikastrinipratyayaḥ | yadvā | adatastrāyanta ityatrāḥ | āto 'nupasarge ka iti kaḥ | ata iniṭhanāviti matvarthīya iniḥ | kṛdhi | śruśṛṇupṛkṛvṛbhyaśchandasīti herdhirādeśaḥ | bahulaṃ chandasīti vikaraṇasya luk | anyeṣāmapi dṛśyata iti saṃhitāyāṃ dīrghaḥ | ūrdhvān | ubhayatharkṣu | pā. 8-3-8 | iti vikalpavidhānānnaśchavyaprapraśān | pā. 8-3-6 | iti nakārasya rutvābhāvaḥ | carathāya | carerauṇādiko bhāve 'thapratyayaḥ | jīvase | jīva prāṇadhāraṇe | tumarthe sesenityasepratyayaḥ | vidāḥ | vidlṛ lābhe | asmādantarbhāvitaṇyarthālleṭi sipi leṭo 'ḍāṭāvityāḍāgamaḥ | tudāditvācchaḥ | śe mucādīnāmiti num na bhavati | anityamāgamaśāsanamiti vacanena tasyānityatvāt | itaśca lopa itīkāralopaḥ | āgamānudāttatve vikaraṇasvaraḥ ||

(Sense:) atriṇam (ada bhakṣaṇe; adeḥ striṇi ca — the Uṇādi suffix triṇ; or ava, kṛta… [read as atas trāyante]); kṛdhi (śruśṛṇupṛkṛvṛbhyaś chandasi hērdhir ādeśaḥ; luk of śap by bahulaṃ chandasi; the lengthening in the Saṃhitā anyeṣām api dṛśyate); ūrdhvān (ubhayathartvarnaḥ…; the n before c; the Saṃhitā's ru is not made, since the ru-rule is optional in the Veda [nṝn…]); carathāya (cara, Uṇādi atha); jīvase (jīva prāṇadhāraṇe, tumarthe seseñasen); vidāḥ (vidḷ lābhe, with the causative sense; leṭ, sip, the augment aṭ and āṭ; tudādi: śa; śe muc…: no num, since the rule on augments is non-constant [anityam āgamaśāsanam]; itaś ca lopaḥ).

Pratipadārtha (p. 226) — "ūrdhvaḥ — (O Agni abiding in the sacrificial post) standing high; naḥ — us; ketunā — by knowledge; aṃhasaḥ — from sin (by driving it off); ni pāhi — protect well; viśvam atriṇam — the devouring rākṣasa, the eater of all; sam daha — burn utterly to ashes; carathāya — for going about in the world, to carry on affairs; jīvase — for living; naḥ — us; ūrdhvān — raised up (bringing prosperity); kṛdhi — make; naḥ — our; duvaḥ — wealth in the form of oblations; deveṣu — among the gods; vidāḥ — cause to be made known."

Bhāvārtha (pp. 226–227) — "O Agni abiding in the sacrificial post, or O post itself, stand high, so as to be seen by us. Protect us well by giving [us] knowledge and by saving us from sin. Burn up utterly our enemies the devouring rākṣasas. Make us prosperous, both for carrying on our dealings in the world and for living. Make known to the gods our wealth in the form of oblations."

Page 227

English Translation (the source's own, p. 227) — "Be erect and protect us from sin by knowledge ; burn down all the evil spirits ; raise us aloft that we may pass through the world and we may live ; convey our wealth (of oblations) to the gods·" (the print ends with a raised dot).

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 227 - ketunā = jñānena: "knowledge, discernment, and the like." - atriṇam = sarvam attāraṃ bhakṣakaṃ rākṣasam: "the rākṣasa-hosts that devour all beings, the demons, the piśācas, the night-rovers, and so on." - ūrdhvān kṛdhi = unnatān kuru: "make [us] stand high; that is, make us firm in courage." - carathāya — "for going about in the world, for carrying on our dealings and so on." - jīvase = jīvanāya: "for living without fear." - vidā deveṣu no duvaḥ — "Here duvaḥ means wealth. How do we give wealth to the gods? — namely, the food that is called 'wealth', in the form of the oblation; that is, make known to the gods, or cause to reach them, the oblation, the wealth, that we have prepared to offer to the gods."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 227–228, PDF 241–242 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - atriṇam: root ada bhakṣaṇe; adeḥ striṇi ca (printed "Uṇ. Sū. 4-508"; the bhāṣya tail gives Uṇ. 4-68): after ad both triṣ … and (by ca) triṇ; so triṇi; or a-tataḥ trāyante, "they protect from…"; trāṇ pālane; ādeca upadeśe 'śiti (Pā. 6-1-45): ā for ai; āto 'nupasarge kaḥ (Pā. 3-2-3): ka when a non-preverb sup-word is upapada; after atra [a word],

Page 228

(continued, p. 228) ata iniṭhanau (no number printed): ini; yasyeti ca: loss of a: atrin. - kṛdhi: root ḍukṛñ karaṇe; śruśṛṇupṛkṛvṛbhyaś chandasi: dhi for hi, as explained in the 12th mantra of this sūkta; luk of the vikaraṇa; hi is apit, hence ṅit, so no guṇa; anyeṣām api dṛśyate (Pā. 6-3-137): lengthening. - ūrdhvān: after it stands ca, which begins the chav [c]; ubhayatha ṛkṣu — उभयथर्क्षु — (Pā. 8-3-8): when ru is to be [made] before a chav with a following am-letter, the n's ru is optional in the ṛk; so the rule on ru is optional; hence the ru from naś chavyapraśān — नश्छव्यप्रशान् — (no number printed here; the bhāṣya tail prints Pā. 8-3-6 [as printed; for 8-3-7]) does not arise here. - carathāya: root cara, in the sense of bhāva the oṇādika suffix atha. - jīvase: root jīva prāṇadhāraṇe; tumarthe seseñasenasenaiasen… — तुमर्थे सेसेनसेऽसेन्… — (Pā. 3-4-9): ase [for tumun]; "since tumun is mentioned in the sense of tumarthe, without specifying bhāva or karman, the bhāva in the sense sādhyāvasthāpanna [the action as to be done] is meant". - vidāḥ: root vidḷ lābhe, containing the sense of the causative ṇic; leṭ, sip; leṭo 'ḍāṭau: aṭ; śa; "since āgamaśāstram anityam, the num [taught by śe mucādīnām, Pā. 7-1-59] for the muc group before śa does not arise"; itaś ca lopaḥ parasmaipadeṣu: the i of sip is lost; savarṇadīrgha; vidās, ru, visarga; the augment is unaccented, the vikaraṇa acute, the single substitute acute. Rik 14 ends here (|| 14 ||).

Rik 36.15 (p. 228 foot, PDF 242–)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 228)

पा॒हि नो॑ अग्ने र॒क्षसः॑ पा॒हि धू॒र्तेर॑राव्णः । पा॒हि रीष॑त उ॒त वा॒ जिघां॑सतो बृहद्भा॒नो यवि॑ष्ठ्य ॥ १५ ॥

pāhí no agne rakṣásaḥ pāhí dhūrtér arāvṇaḥ | pāhí rīṣata utá vā jíghāṃsato bṛhadbhāno yáviṣṭhya || 15 ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. In "dhūrter arāvṇaḥ" the stroke stands over the syllable ra (the a- of arāvṇaḥ joined to the r of dhūrteḥ*).)*

Rik 36.15 (continued) — Pada, bhāṣya, Pratipadārtha, Bhāvārtha, English, Special Topics, grammar (pp. 229–231, PDF 243–245)

Page 229

Pada-pāṭha (p. 229)

> पाहि । नः । अग्ने । रक्षसः । पाहि । धूर्तेः । अराव्णः ॥ पाहि । रिषतः । उत । वा । जिघांसतः । बृहद्भानो इति बृहत्ऽभानो । यविष्ठ्य ॥ १५ ॥

pāhi | naḥ | agne | rakṣasaḥ | pāhi | dhūrteḥ | arāvṇaḥ || pāhi | riṣataḥ | uta | vā | jighāṃsataḥ | bṛhadbhāno iti bṛhat-bhāno | yaviṣṭhya || 15 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 229, in full)

> हे अग्ने हे बृहद्भानो बृहन्तो भानवो यस्य तादृश हे यविष्ठ्य युवत्तम हे अग्ने नोऽस्मान्रक्षसो बाधकाद्राक्षसादेः पाहि । पालय । तथा अराव्णो धनादीनामदात्रूपाद्धूर्तेर्हिंसकात्पाहि । तथा रिषतो हिंसकाद्व्याघ्रादेः सकाशात्पाहि । उत वा अथवा जिघांसतो हन्तुमिच्छतः शत्रोः सकाशात्पाहि ॥

he agne he bṛhadbhāno bṛhanto bhānavo yasya tādṛśa he yaviṣṭhya yuvattama he agne no 'smān rakṣaso bādhakād rākṣasādeḥ pāhi | pālaya | tathā arāvṇo dhanādīnām adātṛrūpād dhūrter hiṃsakāt pāhi | tathā riṣato hiṃsakād vyāghrādeḥ sakāśāt pāhi | uta vā athavā jighāṃsato hantum icchataḥ śatroḥ sakāśāt pāhi ||

Translation: "O Agni — O bṛhadbhānu, he whose rays are great — O yaviṣṭhya, most youthful: Agni, naḥ — us — rakṣasaḥ, from the rākṣasa who is an obstructor, and the like — pāhi, protect. Likewise from arāvṇaḥ — from one who does not give wealth and the like — dhūrteḥ, from the injurer, protect. Likewise from riṣataḥ, from the injurer such as a tiger, protect. Uta vā — or — from jighāṃsataḥ, the enemy who wishes to kill, protect."

Grammatical tail of the bhāṣya (p. 229; varga ९० closes here)

> धूर्तेः । धुर्वी हिंसार्थः । क्तिच्क्तौ च संज्ञायामिति कर्तरि क्तिच् । तितुत्रेत्यादिनेट्प्रतिषेधः । राल्लोपः । पा. ६-४-२१ । इति वकारलोपः । हलि चेति दीर्घत्वम् । अराव्णः । रा दाने । आतो मनिन्नित्यादिना वनिप् । नञ्समासेऽव्ययपूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् । पञ्चम्येकवचनेऽल्लोपोऽन इत्यनोऽकारस्य लोपः । रिषतः । रिष हिंसायाम् । लटः शतृ । बहुलं छन्दसीति शपो लुक् । प्रत्ययस्वरे प्राप्ते व्यत्ययेनाद्युदात्तत्वम् । जिघांसतः । हन्तेरिच्छार्थे सन्यज्झनगमां सनि । पा. ६-४-१६ । इत्युपधादीर्घत्वम् । अभ्यासाच्च । पा. ७-३-५५ । इत्यभ्यासादुत्तरस्य हकारस्य घत्वम् । सन्यत इतीत्वम् । अदुपदेशाल्लसार्वधातुकानुदात्तत्वे सनो नित्त्वान्नित्स्वरेण पदस्याद्युदात्तत्वम् । बृहद्भानो । आमन्त्रितस्य चेति षाष्ठिकमाद्युदात्तत्वम् । पादादित्वादाष्टमिकनिघाताभावः । यविष्ठ्य । स्थूलदूरेत्यादिना यणादिपरस्य लोपः पूर्वस्य च गुणः । यकारोपजनश्छान्दसः ॥ १० ॥

dhūrteḥ | dhurvī hiṃsārthaḥ | kticktau ca saṃjñāyāmiti kartari ktic | titutretyādineṭpratiṣedhaḥ | rāllopaḥ | pā. 6-4-21 | iti vakāralopaḥ | hali ceti dīrghatvam | arāvṇaḥ | rā dāne | āto maninnityādinā vanip | nañsamāse 'vyayapūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvam | pañcamyekavacane 'llopo 'na ityano 'kārasya lopaḥ | riṣataḥ | riṣa hiṃsāyām | laṭaḥ śatṛ | bahulaṃ chandasīti śapo luk | pratyayasvare prāpte vyatyayenādyudāttatvam | jighāṃsataḥ | hantericchārthe sanyajjhanagamāṃ sani | pā. 6-4-16 | ityupadhādīrghatvam | abhyāsācca | pā.

7-3-55 | ityabhyāsāduttarasya hakārasya ghatvam | sanyata itītvam | adupadeśāllasārvadhātukānudāttatve sano nittvānnitsvareṇa padasyādyudāttatvam | bṛhadbhāno | āmantritasya ceti ṣāṣṭhikamādyudāttatvam | pādāditvādāṣṭamikanighātābhāvaḥ | yaviṣṭhya | sthūladūretyādinā yaṇādiparasya lopaḥ pūrvasya ca guṇaḥ | yakāropajanaśchāndasaḥ ‖ 10 ‖

(Sense:) dhūrteḥ (dhurvī hiṃsārthe; kvic-type suffix kvip [the print: ktic] in the agent sense; the iṭ is barred by titutra…; rālopaḥ: v is lost before the kvip-like suffix, halica lengthens); arāvṇaḥ (rā dāne; vanip by ato manin kvanib vanipaś ca; na rāvan, a nañ-compound; pañcamyāḥ ekavacane; allopo 'naḥ: loss of the a of an; the first-member accent of a nañ-prefixed indeclinable compound); riṣataḥ (riṣa hiṃsāyām, śatṛ, śap lost, with the first-syllable acute by vyatyaya); jighāṃsataḥ (han + san; ajjhanagamāṃ sani: lengthening; abhyāsāc ca: h → gh; sanyataḥ: i for the reduplicate; the ṭ-… śatṛ unaccented by tāsyanudāttet…; san being nit, first-syllable acute); bṛhadbhāno (at the beginning of a pāda, so āmantritasya ca does not make it wholly unaccented but first-syllable acute); yaviṣṭhya (explained in the sixth ṛk).

Pratipadārtha (pp. 229–230) — "bṛhadbhāno — O Agni, having radiant rays; yaviṣṭhya — extremely youthful; agne — O Agni; naḥ — us; rakṣasaḥ — from the rākṣasa who does us harm; pāhi — protect; arāvṇaḥ — from one who gives us no wealth or the like [and is hostile]; dhūrteḥ — from the deceitful and injurious one; pāhi — protect; riṣataḥ — from [animals that] cause us harm;

Page 230

(continued, p. 230) pāhi — protect; uta vā — or; jighāṃsataḥ — from the enemy who wishes to kill us; [pāhi] — protect."

Bhāvārtha (p. 230) — "O Agni, you are always blazing with radiant rays and are forever youthful. All our protection belongs to you. There are many enemies who wish us harm. There are rākṣasas who do us harm, and wicked, hostile men who deceive and injure us and do not give what they should — wealth and grain — and animals such as tigers that harm us in many ways, and enemies who always wish to kill us. Protect us from all these."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 230) — "Youthfull and most brilliant Agni, protect us from evil spirits and from the wicked man who gives no gifts ; protect us from harmful animals and from those who desire to kill us" (no full stop in the print).

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 230–231 - dhūrteḥ = hiṃsakāt: "from one who gives trouble; a man of wicked nature." - arāvṇaḥ = rā dāne: "one who gives no wealth and the like; that is, one who is opposed to us and does not wish us well." - riṣataḥ = riṣa hiṃsāyām: "from wicked animals that do injury." - jighāṃsataḥ = hantum icchataḥ śatroḥ sakāśāt: "from enemies who desire to kill us." - yaviṣṭhya = yuvattama: "the best of the young, the foremost: that is, a young man, a youth. Since Agni burns for a very long time even when fuel and the like are put in, it is the established usage to compare him to a young man who lives a long time without ageing. Therefore, in describing Agni's qualities it is the established usage to use such words as yuvā, yaviṣṭhya and the like."

- bṛhadbhāno = bṛhanto bhānavo yasya: “one who has large or many rays; that is, exceedingly brilliant.”

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (p. 231, PDF 245 — grammar page, noted briefly) - dhūrteḥ: root dhurvī hiṃsārthaḥ; ktic ktau ca saṃjñāyām (no number printed): ktic in the agent sense; titutra…: no iṭ; rālopaḥ — रालोपः — (Pā. 6-4-21): the v after the r in front of kvip, a jhal-initial suffix or a nasal-initial suffix is lost; dhur + ti; hali ca (Pā. 8-2-77): u lengthened: dhūrti; fifth-case singular. - arāvṇaḥ: root rā dāne; ato manin kvanib vanipaś ca — आतो मनिन्क्वनिब्वनिपश्च — (no number printed): vanip after ā-ending roots; rāvan, na rāvan (a nañ-compound); tasmān nuḍ aci; the accent of the first member of an indeclinable-prefixed compound; fifth-case singular as; allopo ’naḥ — अल्लोपोऽनः — (Pā. 6-4-134): the a of an is lost. - riṣataḥ: root riṣa hiṃsāyām; laṭaḥ śatṛ; śap lost; by the Veda the first syllable is acute. - jighāṃsataḥ: root han hiṃsāgatyoḥ; dhātoḥ karmaṇaḥ samānakartṛkād icchāyāṃ vā — san in the sense icchati; sanyaṅoḥ: doubling, loss of the a’s…; ajjhanagamāṃ sani — अज्झनगमां सनि — (Pā. 6-4-16): lengthening of the penultimate of ac-ending roots and of han, gam before jhal-initial san; abhyāsāc ca — अभ्यासाच्च — (Pā. 7-3-55): h of han after the reduplicate becomes gh [kutva]; abhyāse carca: the first h becomes j; sanyataḥ — सन्यतः — (no number printed): i for the reduplicate’s a before san; the n → anusvāra: jighāṃsa; śatṛ is unaccented by tāsyanudāttenṅid…, the san being nit gives the first-syllable acute. - bṛhadbhāno: at the beginning of a pāda, so the wholly-unaccented accent of the eighth adhyāya’s āmantritasya ca (no number printed) does not occur; by the sixth adhyāya’s āmantritasya ca (no number printed) the first syllable is acute. - yaviṣṭhya: “explained in the sixth mantra of this sūkta.” Rik 15 ends here (|| 15 ||).

Rik 36.16 (pp. 232–236, PDF 246–250)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 232)

> घ॒नेव॒ विष्व॒ग्वि ज॒ह्यरा॑व्ण॒स्तपु॑र्जम्भ॒ यो अ॑स्म॒ध्रुक् । यो मर्त्य॒: शिशी॑ते अत्य॒क्तुभि॒र्मा न॒: स रि॒पुरी॑शत ॥ १६ ॥ [accent ?]

ghanéva víṣvag ví jahyárāvṇas tápurjambha yó asmadhrúk | yo martyaḥ śíśīte átyaktúbhir mā naḥ sá ripur īśata || 16 || [accent ?]

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. [accent ?]: the underline in the second line stands under tya of “martyaḥ” (reproduced after the visarga), and the one in the first line under mbha of “tapurjambha”; both as they stand in the print.)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 232)

> घनाऽइव । विष्वक् । वि । जहि । अराव्णः । तपुःऽजम्भ । यः । अस्मऽध्रुक् ॥ यः । मर्त्यः । शिशीते । अति । अक्तुऽभिः । मा । नः । सः । रिपुः । ईशत ॥ १६ ॥

ghanā-iva | viṣvak | vi | jahi | arāvṇaḥ | tapuḥ-jambha | yaḥ | asma-dhruk || yaḥ | martyaḥ | śiśīte | ati | aktu-bhiḥ | mā | naḥ | saḥ | ripuḥ | īśata || 16 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (pp. 232–233, in full)

हे तपुर्जम्भ तप्यमानरश्म्यायुक्ताग्ने अरावणोऽस्मभ्यं देयस्य धनस्यादात्न्रिपो विष्वक् सर्वतो वि जहि । विशेषेण मारय । तत्र दृष्टान्तः । घनेव । यथा कठिनेन दण्डपाषाणादिना भाण्डादिभङ्गं करोति तद्वत् । योऽन्योऽपि रिपुरस्मध्रुक् अस्मद्विषयद्रोहकारी भर्त्सनादिना बाधते । यश्चान्यो मर्त्यो मनुष्यः शत्रुरक्तुभिरायुधैरति शिशीते तनूकरोति । अस्मान्प्रहरतीत्यर्थः । स रिपुर्भर्त्सनप्रहारकारी द्विविधोऽपि शत्रुर्नोऽस्मान्प्रति मेशत । ईश्वरः शक्तो मा भूत् ॥

he tapurjambha tapyamānaraśmyāyuktāgne arāvṇo 'smabhyaṃ deyasya dhanasyādātṝn ripo viṣvak sarvato vi jahi | viśeṣeṇa māraya | tatra dṛṣṭāntaḥ | ghaneva | yathā kaṭhinena daṇḍapāṣāṇādinā bhāṇḍādibhaṅgaṃ karoti tadvat | yo 'nyo 'pi ripur asmadhruk asmadviṣayadrohakārī bhartsanādinā bādhate | yaś cānyo martyo manuṣyaḥ śatrur aktubhir āyudhair ati śiśīte tanūkaroti | asmān praharatīty arthaḥ | sa ripur bhartsanapraharakārī dvividho 'pi śatrur no 'smān prati meśata | īśvaraḥ śakto mā bhūt ||

(The print breaks "dhanasyādātyā-" at the line end and goes on with a damaged conjunct before "ripo" (ಧನಸ್ಯಾ ದಾತ್ಯಾ- / ನ್[?]ರಿಪೋ); read as "adātṝn ripūn" in sense, the letters not settled [?].)

Translation: "O tapurjambha — Agni, who has burning rays [as weapons] — arāvṇaḥ — [those] who give us no wealth that is to be given — enemies — viṣvak, on all sides, vi jahi, destroy specially. The illustration is ghaneva: as one breaks pots and the like with a hard stick or stone and the like. And yaḥ asmadhruk — whichever other enemy does injury to us and troubles [us] by threats and the like; and yaḥ martyaḥ — whichever other mortal, a man, an enemy, ati śiśīte — whets [= sharpens] [his] aktubhiḥ, his weapons: that is, he strikes us — saḥ ripuḥ, that enemy, of both kinds, the threatener and the striker, mā naḥ īśata — may he not be lord, able, over us."

Grammatical tail of the bhāṣya (pp. 232–233)

घना इव । सुपां सुलुगिति तृतीयाया डादेशः । जहि । हन्तेर्लोटि हौ हन्तेर्जः । पा. ६-४-३६ । इति जादेशः । तस्यासिद्धत्वाद्धेर्लुगभावः । तपुर्जम्भ । तप संतापे । औणादिकः करण उसिन्प्रत्ययान्तस्तपुस्शब्दो नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । जभि नाशने । जम्भ्यन्ते शत्रव एभिरिति जम्भान्यायुधानि । करणे घञ् । तपूंष्येव जम्भानि यस्यासौ तपुर्जम्भः । आमन्त्रिताद्युदात्तत्वम् । अस्मध्रुक् । द्रुह जिघांसायाम् । सत्सूद्विषेत्यादिना क्विप् । वा द्रुहमुहष्णुहष्णिहाम् । पा. ८-२-३३ । इति हकारस्य घत्वम् । भष्भावः । शिशीते । शो तनूकरणे । व्यत्ययेनात्मनेपदम् । बहुलं छन्दसीति विकरणस्य श्लुः । आदेच इत्यात्वम् । ततो द्विर्वचने बहुलं छन्दसि । पा. ७-४-७८ । इत्यभ्यासस्येत्वम् । ई हल्यघोरितीत्वम् । व्यत्ययेनाद्युदात्तत्वम् । यद्वृत्तयोगादनिघातः । ईशत । लङि बहुलं छन्दसीति शपो लुगभावः । न माङ्योग इत्यडागमाभावः ॥

ghanā iva | supāṃ sulugiti tṛtīyāyā ḍādeśaḥ | jahi | hanterloṭi hau hanterjaḥ | pā. 6-4-36 | iti jādeśaḥ | tasyāsiddhatvāddherlugabhāvaḥ | tapurjambha | tapa saṃtāpe | auṇādikaḥ karaṇa usinpratyayāntastapusśabdo nittvādādyudāttaḥ | jabhi nāśane | jambhyante śatrava ebhiriti jambhānyāyudhāni | karaṇe ghañ | tapūṃṣyeva jambhāni yasyāsau tapurjambhaḥ | āmantritādyudāttatvam | asmadhruk | druha jighāṃsāyām | satsūdviṣetyādinā kvip | vā druhamuhaṣṇuhaṣṇihām | pā. 8-2-33 | iti hakārasya ghatvam | bhaṣbhāvaḥ | śiśīte | śo tanūkaraṇe | vyatyayenātmanepadam | bahulaṃ chandasīti vikaraṇasya śluḥ | ādeca ityātvam | tato dvirvacane bahulaṃ chandasi | pā. 7-4-78 | ityabhyāsasyetvam | ī halyaghoritītvam |

vyatyayenādyudāttatvam | yadvṛttayogādanighātaḥ | īśata | laṅi bahulaṃ chandasīti śapo lugabhāvaḥ | na māṅyoga ityaḍāgamābhāvaḥ ||

(Sense:) ghaneva (supāṃ sulug…: ṭā → ḍā; loss of ṭi; the compound with iva by iveneva…); jahi (hano vadha…; hantes jaḥ: ja for han before hi; ato heḥ [read: hi lost]; asiddhavad atrābhāt; the lengthening is not made); tapurjambha (tapa santāpe, the Uṇādi usin in the instrument sense; tapus is first-syllable acute; jabhī nāśane, ghañ in the instrument sense; jambhāni "weapons that destroy enemies"; tapūṃṣy eva jambhāni yasya, a bahuvrīhi; vocative: āmantritādyudāttatvam); asmadhruk (asmabhyaṃ drogdhi; druha jighāṃsāyām; satsūdviṣa…: kvip; halṅyābbhyo…: loss of su; vā druhamuhaṣṇuhaṣṇihām: h → gh optional; ekāco baśo bhaṣ: g → gh [read: dh]; carva); śiśīte (śo tanūkaraṇe, divādi; vyatyayo bahulam: ātmanepada; śyan → ślu by bahulam; ādeca upadeśe: ā for o; ślau: doubling; śā + śā + te; the reduplicate shortened; bahulaṃ chandasi: i for the reduplicate vowel; ī for ā by hali ghoḥ; the first syllable acute by vyatyaya; because the relative yaḥ is connected, no lowering: yadvṛttānnityam); īśata (īśa aiśvarye, adādi, ātmanepada, laṅ, no aṭ by na māṅyoge; śap would be lost for an adādi root, but by bahulaṃ chandasi it is not).

Page 233

Pratipadārtha (p. 233) — "tapurjambha — O Agni, whose weapons are the burning rays; arāvṇaḥ — the enemies who do not give us the wealth [that is due]; ghaneva — as pots are broken by hard stones; viṣvak — on all sides; vi jahi — destroy completely; yaḥ — whichever other enemy; asmadhruk — wishing to injure us [by terrifying us]; yaḥ — which enemy in the form of a man; aktubhiḥ — by dark weapons; ati śiśīte — whets and strikes at us; saḥ ripuḥ — that enemy (or those enemies); naḥ — over us; mā īśata — may he not be able to prevail."

Bhāvārtha (p. 233) — "O Agni, your rays are always strong and carry [your] strength; they destroy our enemies. They need no effort at all to kill the enemies who hinder us from [receiving] the wealth we are to receive. As easily as one breaks the pots of a potter with hard stones and sticks, destroy our enemies. Destroy together those enemies in the form of rākṣasas who injure us by terrifying us, and also those in the form of men who strike at us and terrify us with dark weapons; so that, when they raise their hands against us, they may not be able to conquer us."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 233) — "Agni, with the burning rays destroy entirely our enemies who give no gifts (as a man smashes earthen pots) with a hammer ; let not the person who hates us, nor the man who attacks us with sharp weapons prevail against us." (the print ends with a raised dot).

Page 234

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 234 - ghaneva = kaṭhinena daṇḍapāṣāṇādinā: "with a hard or thick stick, a stone, and similar weapons: as pots and such things that break easily are broken, so destroy our enemies." - viṣvak = sarvataḥ: "on all sides, or completely." - tapurjambha = tapa santāpe | jabhī nāśane: "Agni whose flames or rays burn everything, mainly the enemies: the Agni who has well-burning rays." - asmadhruk = asmadviṣayadrohakārī: "one who wishes harm to us; our enemy." - śiśīte atyaktubhiḥ — "the bhāṣyakāra's explanation is 'he strikes us with weapons and the like'. The commentators on the Veda have explained the word aktubhiḥ as ‘in the night-time’ — and the same sense, as it is given in the ṛk:”

द्युभिरक्तुभिः परि पातमस्मानरिष्टेभिरश्विना सौभगेभिः । (ऋ. सं. १-११२-२५)

dyubhir aktubhiḥ pari pātam asmān ariṣṭebhir aśvinā saubhagebhiḥ | (ṛ. saṃ. 1-112-25)

“fits well here too.” (My gloss, tentative: “protect us by days and nights, O Aśvins, with unharmed good fortunes”; the same ṛk was quoted at Sūkta 34, Rik 8.) - mā naḥ sa ripur īśata — “may such an enemy as stated above not rule over us and give us trouble: such is the sense.”

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 234–236, PDF 248–250 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - ghaneva (p. 234): after ghana, the third-case singular ṭā, replaced by ḍā by supāṃ sulug…; loss of ṭi; iveneva samāso vibhaktyalopaḥ… — compound with iva, nitya. - jahi: root han; loṭ, sip, hi; hanter jaḥ — हन्तेर्जः — (Pā. 6-4-36): ja for han before hi; ato heḥ (Pā. 6-4-105) would give luk of hi after a short a; but, since the substitution ja is asiddha by asiddhavad atrābhāt — असिद्धवदत्राभात् — (Pā. 6-4-22), and the rule operates in the same domain, ja is asiddha [for the purpose of ato heḥ];

(continued, p. 235) so hi remains after han, and luk is not made, since it does not stand after a short a. - tapurjambha: root tapa santāpe; the Uṇādi suffix usin in the instrument sense (no reference printed); tapus is first-syllable acute by nit; jabhī nāśane, a root of the 10th class (as printed); jambhyante śatravaḥ ebhiḥ — “by which enemies are destroyed”: ghañ in the instrument sense; tapūṃṣy eva jambhāni yasya, a bahuvrīhi — Agni whose weapons are the burning rays; the vocative takes the first-syllable acute by āmantritasya ca of the sixth adhyāya (no number printed) and is not wholly unaccented, being at the beginning of a pāda. - asmadhruk: asmabhyaṃ drogdhi — druha jighāṃsāyām, a divādi root; satsūdviṣadruha… (Pā. 3-2-61): kvip; loss of the case-ending of the compound by luk; halṅyābbhyaḥ…: loss of su; vā druhamuhaṣṇuhaṣṇihām — वा द्रुहमुहष्णुहष्णिहाम् — (Pā. 8-2-33): for the final h of these four roots gh optionally replaces [ghatva], even at the end of a word before a jhal; ekāco baśo bhaṣ jhaṣantasya sdhvoḥ (Pā. 8-2-37): for the baś of a one-vowelled root ending in jhaṣ: d → dh; hence asmadhruġh, and carva [khari ca] gives asmadhruk. - śiśīte: root śo tanūkaraṇe, divādi, parasmaipada; vyatyayo bahulam — व्यत्ययो बहुलम् — (Pā. 3-1-85): the vikaraṇa (śap etc.) and the voice appear interchanged in the Veda; the print explains the word bahulam here with the verse “supāṃ… kālahalacsvarakartṛyaṅāṃ ca | vyatyayam icchati śāstrakṛd eṣāṃ so ’pi ca siddhyati bāhulakena” — [the verse as printed, suptiṅupagrahaliṅganarāṇāṃ kālahalacsvarakartṛyaṅāṃ ca | vyatyayam icchati śāstrakṛd eṣāṃ so ’pi ca siddhyati bāhulakena; “the authors of the śāstra allow interchange (vyatyaya) of the case-endings, tenses, consonants, vowels, agents, and yaṅ — and that too is established by bāhulaka”]; “upagraha” means the parasmaipada and ātmanepada; so ātmanepada in place of parasmaipada; ślu for the vikaraṇa śyan by bahulaṃ chandasi; ādeca upadeśe ’śiti (Pā. 6-1-45): o → ā before a non-śit suffix; ślau (Pā. 6-1-10): doubling; śā + śā + te; hrasva; bahulaṃ chandasi (Pā. 7-4-78): i for the reduplicate;

(continued, p. 236) ī halyaghoḥ — ई हल्यघोः — (Pā. 6-4-113): ī for the ā of śā/śa before a kit or ñit consonant-initial sārvadhātuka: śiśīte; first-syllable acute by vyatyaya; the relative yaḥ is connected, so no sarvānudātta [yadvṛttānnityam]. - īśata: root īśa aiśvarye, adādi, ātmanepada, laṅ; na māṅyoge (Pā. 6-4-74): no aṭ; śap should be lost for an adādi root; but by bahulaṃ chandasi (no number printed) the luk is not made. Rik 16 ends here (|| 16 ||).

Rik 36.17 (p. 236 foot, PDF 250–)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 236)

> अग्निर्वव्ने सुवीर्यमग्निः कण्वाय सौभगं । [accent ?] अग्निः प्रावन्मित्रोत मेध्यातिथिमग्निः साता उपस्तुतं ॥

agnír vávne suvīryam agníḥ káṇvāya saubhágaṃ | [accent ?] agníḥ prā́van mitróta médhyātithim agníḥ sātā́ úpastutā́ṃ ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. The print gives no number after the Saṃhitā (only ॥); the Pada closes ॥ १७ ॥. [accent ?]: the stroke in "saubhagaṃ" stands between sau and bha*; placed on* bha*.)*

Pada-pāṭha (p. 236)

> अग्निः । वव्ने । सुऽवीर्यम् । अग्निः । कण्वाय । सौभगम् ॥ अग्निः । प्र । आवत् । मित्रा । उत । मेध्यऽअतिथिम् । अग्निः । साता । उपऽस्तुतम् ॥ १७ ॥

agniḥ | vavne | su-vīryam | agniḥ | kaṇvāya | saubhagam || agniḥ | pra | āvat | mitrā | uta | medhya-atithim | agniḥ | sātā | upa-stutam || 17 ||

Rik 36.17 (continued) — bhāṣya, Pratipadārtha, Bhāvārtha, English, Special Topics, grammar (pp. 236–239, PDF 250–253)

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (foot of p. 236 – p. 237, in full)

> अग्निर्देवः सुवीर्यं शोभनवीर्योपेतं धनमुद्दिश्य वव्ने । याचितः । सोऽग्निः कण्वाय महर्षये सौभाग्यं शोभनधनादिरूपं भाग्यं प्रायच्छदिति शेषः । तथाग्निर्मित्राण्यस्मन्मित्राणि प्रावत् । प्रकर्षेण रक्षितवान् । उताऽपि च मेध्यातिथिं मेधयोग्यैरतिथिभिरुपेतमृषिं प्रावत् । तथोपस्तुतमन्यमपि स्तोतारं यजमानं सातौ धनादिदाननिमित्तं प्रावदिति शेषः ॥

agnir devaḥ suvīryaṃ śobhanavīryopetaṃ dhanam uddiśya vavne | yācitaḥ | so 'gniḥ kaṇvāya maharṣaye saubhāgyaṃ śobhanadhanādirūpaṃ bhāgyaṃ prāyacchad iti śeṣaḥ | tathāgnir mitrāṇy asmanmitrāṇi prāvat | prakarṣeṇa rakṣitavān | utāpi ca medhyātithiṃ medhayogyair atithibhir upetam ṛṣiṃ prāvat | tathopastutam anyam api stotāraṃ yajamānaṃ sātau dhanādidānanimittaṃ prāvad iti śeṣaḥ ||

Translation: "The god Agni, vavne — was begged — for suvīryam, wealth furnished with good heroic strength. That Agni gave to the great ṛṣi Kaṇva saubhagam — good fortune, a share in the form of beautiful wealth and so on — [so] it is to be supplied. Likewise Agni pra āvat — protected excellently — our friends (mitrā, = mitrāṇi). And [he protected] medhyātithim, the ṛṣi who has guests fit for the sacrifice. Likewise [he protected] upastutam, another praiser, a sacrificer, sātau, with a view to giving wealth and the like — so it is to be supplied."

Grammatical tail of the bhāṣya (p. 237)

> वव्ने । वनु याचने । कर्मणि लिट् । न शसददवादिगुणानाम् । पा. ६-४-१२६ । इत्येत्वाभ्यासलोपयोः प्रतिषेधः । उपधालोपश्छान्दसः । सौभगम् । सुभगान्मन्त्र इत्युद्गात्रादिषु पाठात्तस्य भाव इत्येतस्मिन्नर्थेऽञ् । पा. ५-१-१२९ । ञित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वम् । मित्रा । शेश्छन्दसि बहुलमिति शेर्लोपः । उपस्तुतम् । क्तिच्क्तौ च संज्ञायामिति स्तौतेः कर्तरि क्तः । थाथादिनोत्तरपदान्तोदात्तत्वम् ॥

vavne | vanu yācane | karmaṇi liṭ | na śasadadavādiguṇānām | pā. 6-4-126 | ityetvābhyāsalopayoḥ pratiṣedhaḥ | upadhālopaśchāndasaḥ | saubhagam | subhagānmantra ityudgātrādiṣu pāṭhāttasya bhāva ityetasminnarthe 'ñ | pā. 5-1-129 | ñittvādādyudāttatvam | mitrā | śeśchandasi bahulamiti śerlopaḥ | upastutam | kticktau ca saṃjñāyāmiti stauteḥ kartari ktaḥ | thāthādinottarapadāntodāttatvam ||

(Sense:) vavne (vanu yācane, liṭ in the passive, liṭas tajhayor eśirec; na śasadadavādiguṇānām — the a of this va-initial root does not become e nor does the reduplicate lose its vowel; the loss of the penultimate is Vedic); saubhagam (subhagāt: aṇ, because subhaga is in the udgātrādi group, in the sense "state of that" — añ; first-syllable acute by ñnityādir nityam); mitrā (neuter plural; śi lost by śeś chandasi bahulam); upastutam (ktic ktau ca saṃjñāyām; ṣṭuñ; thāthaghañktā…: final-acute).

Pratipadārtha (p. 237) — "agniḥ — the Agni deity; suvīryam — [wealth] that is beneficial and gives strength; vavne — was prayed for; agniḥ — Agni; kaṇvāya — to the great ṛṣi Kaṇva; saubhagam — good fortune in the form of prosperity [he gave]; agniḥ — Agni; mitrā — our friends; prāvat — protected well; uta — and besides; medhyātithim — the ṛṣi who has guests worthy of worship; upastutam — another devotee who praised [him], the sacrificer; sātau — [for the sake of] his desire of gaining wealth, [with the power] to satisfy [him]; [prāvat — protected well]."

Bhāvārtha (p. 237) — "It is possible for a man to receive, through the favour of the Agni deity, the principal wealth, which is beneficial and gives strength. For the sake of that wealth all his devotees prayed to him. He gave it to all his devotees. To the devotee, the ṛṣi Kaṇva, to our other friends, and to all the devotees who praise him, he gave that good fortune in the form of prosperity, and, favouring all, protected the wished-for aim of all, in the form of the desire for wealth, by satisfying it."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 237) — "Agni is praised for power and wealth ; he has granted prosperity to Kanwa, he has protected our friends, he has protected Medhyatithi and Upastuta (or sacrificer) who prayed for him to get riches." (the print ends with a raised dot).

Page 238

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 238 - suvīryam = śobhanavīryopetaṃ dhanam uddiśya: “that is, ‘with a view to wealth endowed with good fortune (or valour)’; vīrya means strength, power, valour. The sense ‘wealth’ has to be supplied.” - saubhagam = śobhanadhanādirūpaṃ bhāgyam: “the best of wealth, lordship and the like.” - agniḥ pra āvan mitrā uta medhyātithiḥ — “Agni protected our friends, or [the friends] of the ṛṣi Kaṇva, and also the ṛṣi named Medhyātithi, of Kaṇva’s family. Here it is more fitting to say that the medhyātithi is an ṛṣi of the Kaṇva line, rather than to give, as the bhāṣyakāra does, the sense of the parts ‘medhayogyair atithibhir upetam’ — ‘one furnished with guests worthy of worship’; for Medhyātithi is one famed ṛṣi in the Kaṇva line, so it is right to recall the name of that [ṛṣi]. Besides, the sense that Skandasvāmin gives to the word mitrā, mitrāvaruṇau, is not quite suitable: since Mitra and Varuṇa are chief deities, like Agni, it does not seem right that one deity should protect another.”

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 238–239, PDF 252–253 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - vavne (p. 238): root vanu yācane, tanādi; liṭ in the passive (karmaṇi), ta; liṭas tajhayor eśirec — e for ta; na śasadadavādiguṇānām — न शसददवादिगुणानाम् — (printed Pā. 6-4-129 [as printed; for 6-4-126]; the bhāṣya tail on p. 237 has 6-4-126): there is no e for the a of the roots śas, dad, va-initial roots and the roots with guṇa named, and no loss of the reduplicate [by abhyāsasya… eṭi] — “that is, for the a of the va-initial root van there is no e-substitution and no loss of the reduplicate vavan + e; the loss of the penultimate is Vedic”. - saubhagam: subhaga is read in the udgātrādi group; prāṇabhṛjjātivayovacanodgātrādibhyo ’ñ — प्राणभृज्जातिवयोवचनोद्गात्रादिभ्योऽञ् — (Pā. 5-1-129): añ after words denoting a living being, a species or an age, and after the udgātrādi words, in the sense bhāva or karman; subhaga + a; vṛddhi; ñnityādir nityam — first-syllable acute. - mitrā: mitra, neuter; śas → śi; śeś chandasi bahulam — luk of śi.

Page 239

- upastutam (p. 239): ṣṭuñ stutau; ktic ktau ca saṃjñāyām — kta in the sense of agent; thāthaghañktā…: the later member is final-acute. Rik 17 ends here (|| 17 ||).

Rik 36.18 (pp. 239–244, PDF 253–258)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 239)

अग्निना तुर्वशं यदुं परावत उग्रादेवं हवामहे । अग्निर्नयन्नववास्त्वं बृहद्रथं तुर्वीतिं दस्यवे सहः ॥ १८ ॥

agnínā turváśaṃ yádūṃ parāvátā ugrādevaṃ havāmahe | agnír nayánnávavāstvaṃ bṛhádrathaṃ turvītiṃ dásyave sáhaḥ || 18 ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. The underline in “parāvata” stands under rā*, as printed.)*

(Reading note: the Saṃhitā’s “ugrādevam” is the Pada’s ugra-devam with Vedic lengthening of the first member; the print marks both the long vowel and the division.)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 239)

अग्निना । तुर्वशम् । यदुम् । पराऽवतः । उग्रऽदेवम् । हवामहे ॥ अग्निः । नयत् । नवऽवास्त्वम् । बृहत्ऽरथम् । तुर्वीतिम् । दस्यवे । सहः ॥ १८ ॥

agninā | turvaśam | yadum | parā-vataḥ | ugra-devam | havāmahe || agniḥ | nayat | nava-vāstvam | bṛhat-ratham | turvītim | dasyave | sahaḥ || 18 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (pp. 239–240, in full)

अग्निना सहावस्थितान् तुर्वशनामकं यदुनामकमुग्रदेवनामकं च राजर्षीन्परावतो दूरादेशाद्धवामहे । आह्वयामः । स चाग्निर्नववास्तुनामकं बृहद्रथनामकं तुर्वीतिनामकं च राजर्षीन्नयत् । इहानयतु । कीदृशोऽग्निः । दस्यवे सहः अस्मदुपद्रवहेतोश्चोरस्याभिभविता ॥

agninā sahāvasthitān turvaśanāmakaṃ yadunāmakamugradevanāmakaṃ ca rājarṣīnparāvato dūrādeśāddhavāmahe | āhvayāmaḥ | sa cāgnirnavavāstunāmakaṃ bṛhadrathanāmakaṃ turvītināmakaṃ ca rājarṣīnnayat | ihānayatu | kīdṛśo 'gniḥ | dasyave sahaḥ asmadupadravahetośścorasyābhibhavitā ‖

Grammatical tail of the bhāṣya (pp. 239–240)

नयत् । णीञ् प्रापणे । लेट्यडागमः । इतश्च लोप इतीकारलोपः । नववास्त्वम् । नवं वास्तु यस्यासौ नववास्तुः । वा छन्दसीत्यनुवृत्तेरमि पूर्वत्वाभावे यणादेशः । बृहद्रथम् । बहुव्रीहौ पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् ॥

nayat | ṇīñ prāpaṇe | leṭyaḍāgamaḥ | itaśca lopa itīkāralopaḥ | navavāstvam | navaṃ vāstu yasyāsau navavāstuḥ | vā chandasītyanuvṛtterami pūrvatvābhāve yaṇādeśaḥ | bṛhadratham | bahuvrīhau pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvam ‖

Translation: "Staying together with Agni, the royal sages named Turvaśa, Yadu and Ugradeva we invoke parāvataḥ — from a far-off place. And may that Agni lead here the royal sages named Navavāstu, Bṛhadratha and Turvīti. What sort of Agni? Dasyave sahaḥ — the overcomer of the thief who is the cause of the carrying off of our [possessions]."

(Sense of the tail:) nayat (ṇīñ prāpaṇe, class 1; leṭ, tip; the augment aṭ by leṭo 'ḍāṭau; loss of i by itaś ca lopaḥ parasmaipadeṣu; śap; the two a's by ato guṇe: pararūpa; guṇa; ay); navavāstvam (navaṃ vāstu yasya, "he who has a new house"; amipūrvaḥ does not make pūrvarūpa because vā chandasi continues, so yaṇ); bṛhadratham (first-member accent of a bahuvrīhi).

Pratipadārtha (p. 240) — "agninā — together with the Agni deity (and the others); turvaśam, yadum, ugradevam — the royal sages named Turvaśa, Yadu and Ugradeva; parāvataḥ — from a far-off place; havāmahe — we invite; dasyave sahaḥ — [Agni who] checks and conquers the robber, the strong rākṣasa; agniḥ — Agni; navavāstvam, bṛhadratham, turvītim — the royal sages named Navavāstu, Bṛhadratha, Turvīti, too; nayat — may he bring to this sacrificial ground."

Bhāvārtha (p. 240) — "With Agni there are many royal sages, endowed with good qualities. We give them all an invitation so that they may accept hospitality at our sacrifice. May the powerful Agni, restraining and conquering the rākṣasas, who are wicked and thievish, bring all the royal sages — Turvaśa, Yadu, Ugradeva, Navavāstu, Bṛhadratha and Turvīti — to this our sacrificial ground."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 240) — "We invoke from a distant place, Turvasa, Yadu, Ugradeva along with Agni ; let Agni who overcomes the robbers (demons) bring Navavastwa, Brihadratha and Turviti·" (the print ends with a raised dot; the proper names are spelled so in the print).

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 240–243

"In this ṛk the ṛṣi mentions the names of certain well-known and little-known persons; their names appear to have been in use among the people of that time."

turvaśam — "Turvaśa is the name of a man or of a tribe (janāṅga). This word is read in many contexts in the Ṛgveda together with the word yadu, another masculine word. Since these two words are used each with its own case-ending and number, the two are different persons. Some examples on this matter (the ṛks are untranslated in the source; my glosses are mine and tentative):"

Page 241

१. त्वमाविथ नर्यं तुर्वशं यदुं त्वं तुर्वीतिं वय्यं शतक्रतो । (ऋ. सं. १-५-६, as printed) २. प्र यत्समुद्रमति शूर पर्षि पारया तुर्वशं यदुं स्वस्ति । (ऋ. सं. १-१७-९ [as printed]; ६-२०-१२) ३. य आनयत्परावतः सुनीती तुर्वशं यदुम् । इन्द्रः स नो युवा सखा । (ऋ. सं. ६-४५-१ [?]) ४. महत्ते वृष्णो अभिचक्ष्यं कृतं पश्येम तुर्वशं यदुम् । (ऋ. सं. ८-४-७) ५. येनाव तुर्वशं यदुं येन कण्वं धनस्पृतम् । (ऋ. सं. ८-४-७, as printed) ६. इमे सोमास अधि तुर्वशे यदौ इमे कण्वेषु वामथ । (ऋ. सं. ८-९-१४) ७. सत्यं तत्तुर्वशे यदौ विदानो अह्नवाय्यम् । (ऋ. सं. ८-४५-२७) ८. अहं सप्तहा नहुषो नहुष्टरः प्राश्रावयं शवसा तुर्वशं यदुम् । (ऋ. सं. १०-४९-८) ९. यदिन्द्राग्नी यदुषु तुर्वशेषु यद्द्रुह्युष्वनुषु पूरुषु स्थः । (ऋ. सं. १-१०८-८)

1. tvam āvitha naryaṃ turvaśaṃ yaduṃ tvaṃ turvītiṃ vayyaṃ śatakrato | (ṛ. saṃ. 1-5-6, as printed) 2. pra yat samudram ati śūra parṣi pārayā turvaśaṃ yaduṃ svasti | (ṛ. saṃ. 1-17-9 [as printed] and 6-20-12) 3. ya ānayat parāvataḥ sunītī turvaśaṃ yadum | indraḥ sa no yuvā sakhā | (ṛ. saṃ. 6-45-1 [?]) 4. mahat te vṛṣṇo abhicakṣyaṃ kṛtaṃ paśyema turvaśaṃ yadum | (ṛ. saṃ. 8-4-7) 5. yenāva turvaśaṃ yaduṃ yena kaṇvaṃ dhanaspṛtam | (ṛ. saṃ. 8-4-7, as printed) 6. ime somāsa adhi turvaśe yadau ime kaṇveṣu vām atha | (ṛ. saṃ. 8-9-14) 7. satyaṃ tat turvaśe yadau vidāno ahnavāyyam | (ṛ. saṃ. 8-45-27) 8. ahaṃ saptahā nahuṣo nahuṣṭaraḥ prāśrāvayaṃ śavasā turvaśaṃ yadum | (ṛ. saṃ. 10-49-8) 9. yad indrāgnī yaduṣu turvaśeṣu yad druhyuṣv anuṣu pūruṣu sthaḥ | (ṛ. saṃ. 1-108-8)

(Mine and tentative: 1. "you helped the heroic Turvaśa and Yadu, you [helped] Turvīti and Vayya, O Śatakratu"; 2. "when you, O hero, cross the sea, bring Turvaśa and Yadu across in safety"; 3. "[Indra] who led Turvaśa and Yadu from afar with good guidance — that Indra is our young friend"; 4. "great is your visible deed, O bull; may we see Turvaśa and Yadu"; 5. "[the aid] with which [you helped] Turvaśa and Yadu, with which Kaṇva, the wealth-gaining"; 6. "these soma[s are] for Turvaśa and Yadu, these for the Kaṇvas, and for you two"; 7. "that is true [for] Turvaśa and Yadu, [you who] knew what was not to be denied [?]"; 8. "I, the slayer of seven, Nahuṣa-like, made Turvaśa and Yadu hear [of] my might"; 9. "when, O Indra and Agni, you are among the Yadus, Turvaśas, Druhyus, Anus, Pūrus". All are tentative.)

"Some take Turvaśa and Yadu to be the progenitors of two chief tribes. That the names Turvaśa and Yadu were used to call the tribes — Turvaśas and Yadus — may be understood from the last examples. Since the names of five chief tribes (Tribes [the print's English]) — the Anus, Druhyus, Turvaśas, Yadus and Pūrus — are mentioned in many places in the Ṛgveda, these must have been famous tribes of that time. Among them the words Turvaśa and Yadu in particular are read together, so it may be inferred that the people of these two tribes lived near to each other and had a close relationship."

"Turvaśa's chief act was a war with a king named Sudāsa. He could not be conquered by them [Sudāsa's men?]; and he fled out of fear. For this reason the scholar Hopkins [the print's Latin letters] thinks that the name Turvaśa [= 'he who escapes from the field'] came to him. In some ṛks it is said that Indra helped him to come back safe from the battle:"

Page 242

> प्र यत्समुद्रमति शूर पर्षि पारया तुर्वशं यदुं स्वस्ति ॥ (ऋ. सं. १-१७४-९) उत त्या तुर्वशायदू अस्नातारा शचीपतिः । इन्द्रो विद्वाँ अपारयत् ॥ (ऋ. सं. ४-३०-१७) त्वमपो यदवे तुर्वशायारमयः सुदुघाः पार इन्द्र । (ऋ. सं. ५-३१-८) महत्ते वृष्णो अभिचक्ष्यं कृतं पश्येम तुर्वशं यदुम् । (ऋ. सं. ८-४-७)

pra yat samudram ati śūra parṣi pārayā turvaśaṃ yaduṃ svasti || (ṛ. saṃ. 1-174-9) uta tyā turvaśāyadū asnātārā śacīpatiḥ | indro vidvāṁ apārayat || (ṛ. saṃ. 4-30-17) tvam apo yadave turvaśāyāramayaḥ sudughāḥ pāra indra | (ṛ. saṃ. 5-31-8) mahat te vṛṣṇo abhicakṣyaṃ kṛtaṃ paśyema turvaśaṃ yadum | (ṛ. saṃ. 8-4-7)

(Mine and tentative: "and those two, Turvaśa and Yadu, [who were] not swimmers — Indra, lord of power, knowing, carried them across"; "you set the waters [to rest], easily-milked, for Yadu and Turvaśa, O Indra, [so that they went] to the far shore".) "In the war with Sudāsa mentioned above, Anu and Druhyu are described as defeated and drowned in the water; Turvaśa and Yadu alone came out alive by Indra's help."

> य आनयत्परावतः सुनीती तुर्वशं यदुम् । (ऋ. सं. ६-४५-१) पुरः सद्य इत्थाधिये दिवोदासाय शम्बरम् । अध त्यं तुर्वशं यदुम् ॥ (ऋ. सं. ९-६१-२, as printed)

ya ānayat parāvataḥ sunītī turvaśaṃ yadum | (ṛ. saṃ. 6-45-1) puraḥ sadya itthādhiye divodāsāya śambaram | adha tyaṃ turvaśaṃ yadum || (ṛ. saṃ. 9-61-2, as printed)

(Mine and tentative: "...the fortresses at once, for the pious Divodāsa, [and] Śambara; and then that Turvaśa and Yadu".) "In these ṛks there is mention that Turvaśa and Yadu fought with Divodāsa, Sudāsa's father. The account of this war is given in the verses 5–7 of the 27th sūkta of the 6th maṇḍala of the Ṛgveda Saṃhitā. Here some say that the Vṛcīvants are the Turvaśas, and others that the Vṛcīvants and the Turvaśas are different tribes, while others hold that they were each other's helpers in battle. This war seems to have taken place on the bank of the river Yavyāvatī. In the Śatapatha Brāhmaṇa (Śata. Brā. 13-5-4-16) there is a description that the Turvaśas and the Pañcālas were friends in battle, and that the Turvaśas had 33 horses and 6000 fighting warriors. From the Ṛgveda's sūkta 7-18 it is known that the Turvaśas crossed a river called Paruṣṇī; but the place where these Turvaśas lived is not clear."

ugradevam — "For this word the bhāṣyakāra says only 'etannāmakaṃ rājarṣim' — 'the royal sage of this name'. Who this Ugradeva was, and what is known of him, is not clear. This word occurs in the Ṛgveda only in this ṛk. It is also found in the Pañcaviṃśa Brāhmaṇa of the Sāmaveda (Pañ. Brā. 14-3-12 and 23-16-11) and in the Taittirīya Āraṇyaka (Tai. Ā. 5-4-12). No further account is found."

Page 243

navavāstvam, bṛhadratham — "The word navavāstva is read in the Ṛgveda in the ṛk now at hand and in these ṛks only:"

> परा नववास्त्वमनुदेयं महे पित्रे ददाथ स्वं नपातम् । (ऋ. सं. ६-२०-११) अहं स यो नववास्त्वं बृहद्रथं सं वृत्रेव दासं वृत्रहारुजम् ॥ (ऋ. सं. १०-४९-६)

parā navavāstvam anudeyaṃ mahe pitre dadātha svaṃ napātam | (ṛ. saṃ. 6-20-11) ahaṃ sa yo navavāstvaṃ bṛhadrathaṃ saṃ vṛtreva dāsaṃ vṛtrahārujam || (ṛ. saṃ. 10-49-6)

(Mine and tentative, the first very uncertain: "[you gave] Navavāstva, a grandson of one to be granted, to the great father [?]"; "I am he who [broke] Navavāstva [and] Bṛhadratha, like [one breaks] a Vṛtra-foe, a Dāsa".) "In the first ṛk Navavāstva is spoken of together with Agni; from the above examples it is understood that Indra was helping [him]. And the sense that he is the son of Uśanas, dear to Indra, is implied. But in the last example the matter of Bṛhadratha's being defeated by Indra is stated in two ṛks only — in the ṛk of the Ṛgveda now in question and in the above (Ṛ. Saṃ. 10-49-6). Since in both places the word bṛhadratha is used together with the word navavāstva, it is open to doubt whether this Bṛhadratha is a different person, or whether the word bṛhadratha (a great charioteer) is an adjective of navavāstva. Mainly, about Navavāstva and Bṛhadratha we do not find any more in the Ṛgveda."

turvītim — "This word is read in the ṛk now in question; in the ṛks Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-54-6; 1-112-23 [also] the word turvīti [is read], and the word turvītaye [is read] only in the ṛks Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-61-11; 2-13-12; 4-19-6. In some contexts this word is used together with the name of a person named Vayya. In some of the above ṛks it is said that Indra helped Turvīti and Vayya to cross the course of a river; Ludwig and some other Western scholars take this Turvīti to be the king of the tribes Turvaśa and Yadu. But there is no proof to support that. It may only be said that he was also one of the Turvaśa tribe."

- dasyave sahaḥ — "as the bhāṣyakāra says, [Agni] who overcomes the thief."

Page 244

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (p. 244, PDF 258 — grammar page, noted briefly) - nayat: root ṇīñ prāpaṇe, of the first class; leṭ, tip; leṭo 'ḍāṭau — लेटोऽडाटौ — (Pā. 3-4-94): aṭ for the leṭ-ending; itaś ca lopaḥ parasmaipadeṣu — इतश्च लोपः परस्मैपदेषु — (Pā. 3-4-97): the i of the ending is lost; śap; ato guṇe — the two a's [of aṭ and śap] take pararūpa; guṇa; ay-substitution. - navavāstvam: navaṃ vāstu yasya saḥ — "he who has a new dwelling": the sense of the parts; here it applies only to the name; the second case singular am: navavāstu + am;

amipūrvaḥ — अमि पूर्वः — (Pā. 6-1-107): before am the pūrvarūpa comes for ak-final bases, but "vā chandasi" (no number printed) is carried on, so in the Veda it is optional: hence it does not arise, and the yaṇ-substitution comes. - bṛhadratham: by the nature of a bahuvrīhi the first member keeps its natural accent. Rik 18 ends here (|| 18 ||).

Rik 36.19 (pp. 244–247, PDF 258–261)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 244)

> नि त्वाम॑ग्ने मनु॑र्दधे॒ ज्योति॒र्जना॑य॒ शश्व॑ते । दी॒देथ॒ कण्व॑ ऋ॒तजा॑त उक्षि॒तो यं न॑म॒स्यन्ति॑ कृ॒ष्टयः॑ ॥ १९ ॥

ni tvā́m agne mánur dadhe jyótir jánāya śáśvate | dīdétha káṇva ṛtájāta ukṣitó yáṃ namásyánti kṛṣṭáyaḥ || 19 ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 244)

> नि । त्वाम् । अग्ने । मनुः । दधे । ज्योतिः । जनाय । शश्वते ॥ दीदेथ । कण्वे । ऋतऽजातः । उक्षितः । यम् । नमस्यन्ति । कृष्टयः ॥ १९ ॥ ni | tvām | agne | manuḥ | dadhe | jyotiḥ | janāya | śaśvate || dīdetha | kaṇve | ṛta-jātaḥ | ukṣitaḥ | yam | namasyanti | kṛṣṭayaḥ || 19 ||

Page 245

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 245, in full)

> हे अग्ने ज्योतिः प्रकाशरूपं त्वां शश्वते बहुविधाय जनाय मनुः प्रजापतिर्नि दधे । देवयजनदेशे स्थापितवान् । हे अग्ने त्वमृतजात ऋतेन यज्ञेन निमित्तभूतेनोत्पन्न उक्षितो हविर्भिस्तर्पितः सन् कण्वे एतन्नामके महर्षौ दीदेथ । दीप्तवानसि । यमग्निं कृष्टयो मनुष्याः । कृष्टयश्चर्षणय इति मनुष्यनामसु पठितत्वात् । नमस्यन्ति नमस्कुर्वन्ति । स त्वमिति पूर्वत्रान्वयः ॥

he agne jyotiḥ prakāśarūpaṃ tvāṃ śaśvate bahuvidhāya janāya manuḥ prajāpatir ni dadhe | devayajanadeśe sthāpitavān | he agne tvam ṛtajāta ṛtena yajñena nimittabhūtenotpanna ukṣito havirbhis tarpitaḥ san kaṇve etannāmake maharṣau dīdetha | dīptavān asi | yam agniṃ kṛṣṭayo manuṣyāḥ | kṛṣṭayaś carṣaṇaya iti manuṣyanāmasu paṭhitatvāt | namasyanti namaskurvanti | sa tvam iti pūrvatrānvayaḥ ||

Translation: "O Agni — jyotiḥ, of the form of light — tvām, you, for śaśvate janāya, for the many-kinded people, Manu Prajāpati ni dadhe — established, at the place of the divine sacrifice. O Agni, you, ṛtajātaḥ — born of the ṛta, the sacrifice, as the cause — ukṣitaḥ, sated with the oblations, kaṇve, in the great ṛṣi so named, dīdetha — have shone. Yam — which Agni — kṛṣṭayaḥ, men (kṛṣṭayaḥ, carṣaṇayaḥ being read among the names for 'men') — namasyanti, make obeisance to. That you — the connection with the preceding."

Grammatical tail of the bhāṣya (p. 245)

> दीदेथ । दीदेतिश्छान्दसो दीप्तिकर्मा । थलि द्विर्वचनप्रकरणे छन्दसि वेति वक्तव्यम् । का. ६-१-८-१ । इति द्विर्वचनाभावः । अनित्यमागमशासनमिति वचनादिडभावः । लित्स्वरेण प्रत्ययात्पूर्वस्योदात्तत्वम् ।

ऋतजातः । ऋते जन्यत इत्यृतजातः । श्वीदितो निष्ठायामितीट्प्रतिषेधः । जनसनेत्यादिनात्वम् । तृतीयापूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् । नमस्यन्ति । नमोवरिवः । पा. ३-१-१९ । इति पूजार्थे क्यच् । अदुपदेशाल्लसार्वधातुकानुदात्तत्वे क्यजन्तधातुस्वरः । कृष्टयः । कृष विलेखने । क्तिच्क्तौ च संज्ञायामिति क्तिच् ॥

dīdetha | dīdetiśchāndaso dīptikarmā | thali dvirvacanaprakaraṇe chandasi veti vaktavyam | kā. 6-1-8-1 | iti dvirvacanābhāvaḥ | anityamāgamaśāsanamiti vacanādiḍabhāvaḥ | litsvareṇa pratyayātpūrvasyodāttatvam | ṛtajātaḥ | ṛte janyata ityṛtajātaḥ | śvīdito niṣṭhāyāmitīṭpratiṣedhaḥ | janasanetyādinātvam | tṛtīyāpūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvam | namasyanti | namovarivaḥ | pā. 3-1-19 | iti pūjārthe kyac | adupadeśāllasārvadhātukānudāttatve kyajantadhātusvaraḥ | kṛṣṭayaḥ | kṛṣa vilekhane | kticktau ca saṃjñāyāmiti ktic ||

(Sense:) dīdetha (dīdī dīptau, Vedic; liṭ, sip → thal; in the section on doubling a rule chandasi vā [as printed "thali dvirvacanaprakaraṇe chandasi vā vaktavyam", a Kāśikā remark, printed Kā. 6-1-8-1] — doubling optional in the Veda; so no doubling; no iṭ, since the rule on augments is not constant; the syllable before the lit-suffix is acute); ṛtajātaḥ (ṛte janyate; śvīdito niṣṭhāyām: no iṭ; janasanakhanāṃ…: ā for the n; first-member accent of an instrumental compound); namasyanti (namovarivaś citraṅaḥ kyac); kṛṣṭayaḥ (kṛṣa vilekhane, ktic ktau ca saṃjñāyām).

Pratipadārtha (p. 245) — "agne — O Agni; jyotiḥ — of the nature of light; tvām — you; śaśvate — for the sake of many kinds; janāya — of people (for their help); manuḥ — Manu Prajāpati; ni dadhe — established [at the sacrificial ground]; yam — whom; kṛṣṭayaḥ — men; namasyanti — worship with obeisance; ṛtajātaḥ — [you, the cause being] born of the sacrifice; ukṣitaḥ — satisfied by the oblation; kaṇve — in the great ṛṣi Kaṇva; dīdetha — [graciously] have shone."

Bhāvārtha (p. 245) — "O Agni, giving light and strength to the many kinds of people of the world, Manu Prajāpati established you at the sacrificial ground in order to help them. Remembering your help, all men do obeisance to you and worship you. You are born of the sacrifice, and are the cause of it. The sage Kaṇva, offering oblations in the sacrifice, has satisfied you. Satisfied, you have shone upon him with your grace."

Page 246

English Translation (the source's own, p. 246) — "O Agni, Manu established you as a light for all people ; born of sacrifice, Agni, whom men adore shone brighly in the house of Kanva." ("brighly" [sic]; "the house of Kanva" for kaṇve*; the print has no raised dot here.)*

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 246 - manuḥ — "Prajāpati; the explanation of this word was given earlier." - janāya śaśvate = bahuvidhāya janāya: "for people of many kinds." - ṛtajātaḥ = ṛtena yajñena nimittabhūtenotpannaḥ: "ṛta means sacrifice; since he is born because of the sacrifice, Agni has the name ṛtajāta." - ukṣitaḥ = havirbhis tarpitaḥ: "satisfied by the pavitra [kuśa-grass sprinkling] and the like." - dīdetha = dīptavān asi; saṃtuṣṭo 'si: "you shine with delight; you are pleased." - kṛṣṭayaḥ = manuṣyāḥ: "since the word kṛṣṭayaḥ is read among the twenty-five names of men beginning with nṛ, narāḥ (Ni. 3-[?]: printed ೩ and a 2/7-like digit, not settled), kṛṣṭayaḥ means men."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 246–247, PDF 260–261 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - dīdetha (p. 246): root dīdī dīptau, used only in the Veda; liṭ, sip; parasmaipadānāṃ ṇalatusus…: thal; "in the sūtra liṭi dhātor anabhyāsasya (Pā. 6-1-8) the Kāśikā-authors say that, in the section on doubling, one must say chandasi vā, 'optionally in the Veda'; so there is no doubling"; "since āgamaśāstram anityam, no iṭ"; dīdī + tha; sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ: guṇa; by liti (no number printed) the syllable before the suffix is acute. - ṛtajātaḥ: ṛta is sacrifice; root janī prādurbhāve, īdit; ṛtena jāyate ayam; niṣṭhā, kta in the passive; śvīdito niṣṭhāyām — श्वीदितो निष्ठायाम् — (Pā. 7-2-14): kta and ktavatu take no iṭ after śvi and īdit roots;

Page 247

(continued, p. 247) janasanakhanāṃ sañjhaloḥ (Pā. 6-4-42): ā for the final of jan, san, khan before jhal-initial san or kit/ñit suffix: jā + ta; tṛtīyā karmaṇi (no number printed): the first member in the third case keeps its natural accent. - namasyanti: namovarivaścitrańaḥ kyac — नमोवरिवश्चित्रङः क्यच् — (Pā. 3-1-19): kyac after namas in the sense of worship, after varivas in the sense of service, after citra in the sense of wonder; so kyac after namas: namasya, ending in kyac; sanādyantā dhātavaḥ (no number printed): so it is a root; laṭ, jhi → ant; śap; the jha [i.e. ant] is unaccented because it stands after an anudātta-marked [anupadeśa] śap; the kyac-ending root is acute by the root accent. - kṛṣṭayaḥ: kṛṣa vilekhane ["to draw a line"]; ktic ktau ca saṃjñāyām — ktic; kṛṣ + ti; ṣṭutva. Rik 19 ends here (|| 19 ||).

Rik 36.20 (p. 247 foot, PDF 261–)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 247)

> त्वेषासो॑ अ॒ग्नेरम॑वन्तो॒ अ॒र्चयो॑ भी॒मासो॒ न प्रती॑तये । [accent ?] र॒क्ष॒स्वि॒नः॒ सद॒मिद्या॑तुमाव॑तो॒ विश्वं॑ सम॒त्रिण॑ दह ॥

tveṣā́so agnéramávanto arcáyo bhīmā́so ná pratītaye | [accent ?] rakṣasvínaḥ sadám idyā́tumāvato víśvaṃ samatríṇaṃ daha ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. The print gives no number after the Saṃhitā (only ॥); the Pada closes // २० ॥. [accent ?]: in the first line the underline of "agner" lies between a and gne*; placed on* a*; the stroke is over* ma of "amavanto", as printed. The underline of "rakṣasvinaḥ" stands under ra and kṣa*; reproduced on both.)*

Pada-pāṭha (the first line at the foot of p. 247; the second on p. 248, not yet written)

> त्वेषासः । अग्नेः । अमऽवन्तः । अर्चयः । भीमासः । न । प्रतिऽइतये ।

tveṣāsaḥ | agneḥ | ama-vantaḥ | arcayaḥ | bhīmāsaḥ | na | prati-itaye |

Rik 36.20 (continued) — Pada, bhāṣya, Pratipadārtha, Bhāvārtha, English, Special Topics, grammar (pp. 248–250, PDF 262–264)

Page 248

Pada-pāṭha, concluded (p. 248; the first line was given at the foot of p. 247)

रक्षस्विनः । सदम् । इत् । यातुऽमावतः । विश्वम् । सम् । अत्रिणम् । दह ॥ २० ॥

rakṣasvinaḥ | sadam | it | yātu-māvataḥ | viśvam | sam | atriṇam | daha || 20 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 248, in full)

> अग्नेरर्चयो ज्वालास्त्वेषासो दीप्ता अमवन्तो बलवन्तो भीमासो भयंकराः । अतः प्रतीतयेऽस्माभिः प्रत्येतुं न शक्या इति शेषः । हे अग्ने रक्षस्विनो बलवतो यातुमावतो यातुधानानसुरान् सदमित् सर्वदैव सं दह । सम्यग्भस्मीकुरु । तथा विश्वं सर्वमत्रिणं भक्षकमस्माद्बाधकं शत्रुं सं दह ॥

agner arcayo jvālās tveṣāso dīptā amavanto balavanto bhīmāso bhayaṃkarāḥ | ataḥ pratītaye 'smābhiḥ pratyetuṃ na śakyā iti śeṣaḥ | he agne rakṣasvino balavato yātumāvato yātudhānān asurān sadam it sarvadaiva saṃ daha | samyag bhasmīkuru | tathā viśvaṃ sarvam atriṇaṃ bhakṣakam asmād bādhakaṃ śatruṃ saṃ daha ||

Translation: "Agni's arcayaḥ — flames — are tveṣāsaḥ, glaring, amavantaḥ — powerful — bhīmāsaḥ, terrible. Therefore pratītaye — [they are] not able to be [faced] by us: so it is to be supplied. O Agni, rakṣasvinaḥ — the powerful — yātumāvataḥ, the yātudhānas, the asuras: sadam it — always — sam daha, burn entirely, reduce to ashes. And likewise viśvam atriṇam — every devourer, the enemy who obstructs us — burn up."

Grammatical tail of the bhāṣya (p. 248; varga 99 closes here)

> त्वेषासः । त्विष दीप्तौ । पचाद्यच् । चित इत्यन्तोदात्तत्वम् । अमवन्तः । अम रोगे । अमति शत्रून्रुजतीत्यमो बलम् । पचाद्यच् । वृषादित्वादाद्युदात्तत्वम् । तदेषामस्तीत्यमवन्तः । प्रतीतये । तादौ च नितीति गतेः प्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् । रक्षस्विनः । रक्षन्त्यनेनेति रक्षो बलम् । करणेऽसुन् । अस्मायामेधेति मत्वर्थीयो विनिः । यातुमावतः । यातवो यातनाः तान्मिमते निर्मिमत इति राक्षसव्यापारा यातुमाः । आतोऽनुपसर्गे क इति कः । तदेषामस्तीति मतुप् । मतौ बह्वचोऽनजिरादीनाम् । पा. ६-३-११९ । इति दीर्घत्वम् । संज्ञायाम् । पा. ८-२-११ । इति वत्वम् । मतुपः पित्त्वादनुदात्तत्वे कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् । अत्रिणम् । अदेस्त्रिनि चेति कर्तरि त्रिनिप्रत्ययः ॥ ११ ॥

tveṣāsaḥ | tviṣa dīptau | pacādyac | cita ityantodāttatvam | amavantaḥ | ama roge | amati śatrūnrujatītyamo balam | pacādyac | vṛṣāditvādādyudāttatvam | tadeṣāmastītyamavantaḥ | pratītaye | tādau ca nitīti gateḥ prakṛtisvaratvam | rakṣasvinaḥ | rakṣantyaneneti rakṣo balam | karaṇe 'sun | asmāyāmedheti matvarthīyo viniḥ | yātumāvataḥ | yātavo yātanāḥ tānmimate nirmimata iti rākṣasavyāpārā yātumāḥ | āto 'nupasarge ka iti kaḥ | tadeṣāmastīti matup | matau bahvaco 'najirādīnām | pā. 6-3-119 | iti dīrghatvam | saṃjñāyām | pā. 8-2-11 | iti vatvam | matupaḥ pittvādanudāttatve kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvam | atriṇam | adestrini ceti kartari trinipratyayaḥ ‖ 11 ‖

(Sense:) tveṣāsaḥ (tviṣa dīptau, pacādi suffix ac; cita: final-acute; ājjaser asuk); amavantaḥ (ama roge; amati śatrūn rujatīty amo balam; pacādyac; vṛṣādīnāṃ ca: first-syllable acute; tadeṣām asti: matup); pratītaye (tādau ca niti kṛtyatau: the preverb prati keeps its natural accent); rakṣasvinaḥ (rakṣanty anena, rakṣo "strength", asun in the instrument sense; asmāyāmedhāsrajo viniḥ); yātumāvataḥ (yātavo yātanāḥ tānimīmate nirmimate, "those who make torments" — yātumāḥ, the doings of the rākṣasas; ato 'nupasarge kaḥ; tadeṣām asti; mato bahvaco 'jirādīnām: lengthening; saṃjñāyām: m → v [as read]; matup is pit, so unaccented; the later member of a kṛt-compound keeps its natural accent); atriṇam (ades striṇi ca: triṇ in the agent sense).

Pratipadārtha (p. 248) — "agneḥ — of the Agni deity; arcayaḥ — flames; tveṣāsaḥ — blazing; amavantaḥ — powerful, destroying enemies; bhīmāsaḥ — terrifying; [they are, therefore] pratītaye — to take any refuge in [them]; na — it is not possible (to oppose them); agne — O Agni; rakṣasvinaḥ — the mighty; yātumāvataḥ — the rākṣasas who do us harm; sadam it — always; sam daha — burn utterly; viśvam atriṇam — our all-devouring enemy; sam daha — burn to ashes."

Bhāvārtha (pp. 248–249) — "O Agni deity, the lustre of your flames spreads through all the worlds that are beyond the sight of men. Their power is of a majesty that cannot be imagined by man. They are very terrible to those who do harm, by showing great cruelty in the destruction of enemies. Therefore, knowing only that their nature is thus, it is not possible for us to take refuge in their strength and powers: [for] they surpass our own trust. By those powers burn up utterly the rākṣasas who do us harm and our devouring enemies."

Page 249

English Translation (the source's own, p. 249) — "The flames of Agni are glaring, powerful (and) awe-inspiring and are not to be opposed ; therefore Agni, burn down entirely the mighty spirits of evils and all our other enemies." (the print ends with a raised dot).

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 249 - tveṣāsaḥ = tviṣa dīptau: "very brilliant, shining well." - amavantaḥ = āma roge; amati śatrūn rujatīty amo balam — tadeṣām astīty amavantaḥ: "the root am means disease; since it harms enemies by disease, ama means strength; those who have such strength are called amavantaḥ, that is, powerful." - arcayaḥ — "rays, that is, the flames of Agni." - bhīmāsaḥ — "terrible; since they have the power to burn, they create fear that one should not go near." - na pratītaye — "that cannot be opposed; not to be opposed." - rakṣasvinaḥ = rakṣantyanenety rakṣo balam, tadeṣām astīti rakṣasvinaḥ: "since it has the power to protect, rakṣaḥ means strength; rakṣasvinaḥ means those who are strong, powerful." - yātumāvataḥ = yātavo yātanāḥ | tānimīmate nirmimate iti rākṣasavyāpārā yātumāḥ | tadeṣām astīti yātumāvataḥ: "yātu means torment. Because they bring about torments, yātumāḥ means the doings of the rākṣasas; those who have the doings of rākṣasas are named yātumāvataḥ, the wicked, and so on."

Page 250

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (p. 250, PDF 265 — grammar page, noted briefly) - tveṣāsaḥ: root tviṣa dīptau; nandigrahipacādibhyo lyuṇinyacaḥ — the pacādi suffix ac; laghūpadha-guṇa; citaḥ (no number printed): a word ending in a cit suffix is final-acute; āṭṭaser asuk (no number printed): the augment asuk. - amavantaḥ: root ama roge, curādi; amati śatrūn — the pacādi suffix ac: "that which, like a disease, harms enemies" is the sense of ama; vṛṣādīnāṃ ca (no number printed): first-syllable acute; amaḥ eṣām asti; tadasyāstyasminn iti matup. - pratītaye: the preverb prati, root iṇ, ktin; tādau ca niti kṛtyatau — तादौ च निति कृत्यतौ — (Pā. 6-2-50): [a gati in front] of a kṛt beginning with a consonant other than tu and marked n, a gati not separated keeps its natural accent; so prati is acute. - rakṣasvinaḥ: root rakṣa pālane, class 1; asun in the instrument sense; rakṣyate 'nena, "strength [that is] the means of protecting oneself"; asmāyāmedhāsrajo viniḥ: vin. - yātumāvataḥ: yātu means torment; yātūn mimīte: "he who makes torments", yātumāḥ, the doings of the rākṣasas; the word yātu, the object-word, is the upapada; root mā māne; ato 'nupasarge kaḥ: ka; loss of the ā; yātumāḥ eṣāṃ santi; tadasyāstyasminn iti matup: yātumā + mat; mato bahvaco 'najirādīnām — मतौ बह्वचोऽनजिरादीनाम् — (Pā. 6-3-119): before matup a word of several vowels takes lengthening, but not the words in the ajirādi group: so lengthening; saṃjñāyām — संज्ञायाम् — (Pā. 8-2-11): when a name is shown, the m of matup becomes v; yātumāvat; śas; matup is pit, and śas is sup- ... so unaccented; the later member keeps the natural accent of a kṛdanta. - atriṇam: adeḥ striṇi ca (printed "Uṇ. Sū. 4-508", as on p. 227): triṇ in the agent sense; "its explanation was given in the 14th mantra of this sūkta". Rik 20 ends here (|| 20 ||).

Close of Sūkta 36

The sūkta has 20 Riks (printed pp. 176–250; better-scan PDF 191–265), as the heading on p. 178 states ("ṛks 1–20"). Closing note (p. 250, in ordinary type, beneath the last grammar paragraph): illige 36 neya sūkta mugidudu — "Here the thirty-sixth sūkta is finished" (the sūkta number printed ೩೬, checked on the better scan, p. 250 = PDF 265); no varga-end statement is printed on this page. The varga numerals of the heading (p. 178: "Varga 8, 9, 10, 11") are as read; the bhāṣya tails close vargas ೮ (p. 192), ೯ (p. 211), ೧೦ (p. 229) and ೧೧ (p. 248); the running headers read "Va. 11" on pp. 237–249. An ornament follows.

Sūkta 37 begins on the next leaf, printed p. 251 = better-scan PDF 266 (the contents table's page for Sūkta 37 is thus confirmed).

Summary of the sūkta (from the Bhāvārthas): a long hymn to Agni by Kaṇva Ghaura. After the invocation (Riks 1–3: he is the hotṛ, messenger and increaser of strength; the priests and sacrificers take him up and serve him), the gods Varuṇa, Mitra and Aryaman kindle him and the sacrificer who offers him oblations wins all wealth (4); he is the lord of the house and all the gods' works are joined in him (5); all offerings are poured into him alone (6); the priests worship the self-shining one and kindle him with the seven *hotṛ*s (7); the other gods, with his help, slew Vṛtra and made the worlds spacious (8); he is asked to sit on the barhis and send up his smoke (9); the gods, Kaṇva, Indra and others established him as the best sacrificer (10); Medhyātithi Kaṇva kindled him more brightly than the Sun (11); he is the lord of food and a friend of the gods (12); Riks 13–14, to the sacrificial post (yūpa) or to Agni abiding in it: stand erect, protect us, burn the devouring rākṣasas, give us long life, and carry our offerings to the gods; prayers for protection from rākṣasas, tricksters, harmful beasts and killers, and for the destruction of the enemies who give nothing (15–16); his giving of heroism and good fortune to Kaṇva, and his protection of Medhyātithi and others (17); the invocation of the royal sages Turvaśa, Yadu, Ugradeva and of Navavāstu, Bṛhadratha and Turvīti together with Agni (18); Manu's establishing Agni as light for the people, and Kaṇva's praise (19); and a closing prayer to burn utterly the rākṣasas and all devouring enemies with Agni's terrible flames (20).

SŪKTA 37 (printed p. 251 = PDF 265)

Thirty-seventh Sūkta (large Kannada title line: "mūvattēḷaneya sūktavu")

Page 251 (PDF 266) — Sāyaṇa's introduction and the Kannada anuvāda

Sāyaṇa's introduction (printed in Kannada script; re-read from the better scan, PDF 266)

> क्रीळं व इति द्वितीयं सूक्तं पञ्चदशर्चम् । अत्रेयमनुक्रमणिका । क्रीळं पञ्चोना मारुतं हि गायत्रं त्विति । ऋषिश्चान्यस्माद्व्यषेरवाविशिष्ट [?] इति परिभाषया घोरपुत्रः कण्व ऋषिः । इदमुत्तरं च गायत्रीच्छन्दस्के । इदमादिसूक्तत्रयं मरुद्देवताकम् । तुहिहवेति परिभाषितत्वात् ॥ व्यूळ्हे द्वितीये छन्दोम आग्निमारुतशस्त्र एतत्सूक्तं निविद्धानीयम् । द्वितीयस्याग्निं वो देवमिति खण्डे सूत्रितम् । क्रीळं वः शर्धोऽग्ने मृळेत्याग्निमारुतम् । आ. ८-१० । इति ॥ ब्राह्मणं च । क्रीळं वः शर्धो मारुतमिति । ऐ. ब्रा. ५-१९ । मरुद्भ्यः क्रीडिभ्यः पुरोडाशं सप्तकपालमित्यस्यामिष्टौ क्रीळं व इत्येषा प्रधानस्यानुवाक्या । तथा तत इति खण्डे सूत्रितम् । क्रीळं वः शर्धो मारुतमित्यासो न ये मरुतः स्वञ्चः । आ. ७-१८ [?] । इति ॥

krīḷaṃ va iti dvitīyaṃ sūktaṃ pañcadaśarcam | atreyamanukramaṇikā | krīḷaṃ pañconā mārutaṃ hi gāyatraṃ tviti | ṛṣiścānyasmādvyaṣeravāviśiṣṭa [?] iti paribhāṣayā ghoraputraḥ kaṇva ṛṣiḥ | idamuttaraṃ ca gāyatrīcchandaske | idamādisūktatrayaṃ maruddevatākam | tuhihaveti paribhāṣitatvāt ‖ vyūḷhe dvitīye chandoma āgnimārutaśastra etatsūktaṃ nividdhānīyam | dvitīyasyāgniṃ vo devamiti khaṇḍe sūtritam | krīḷaṃ vaḥ śardho 'gne mṛḷetyāgnimārutam | ā. 8-10 | iti ‖ brāhmaṇaṃ ca | krīḷaṃ vaḥ śardho mārutamiti | ai. brā. 5-19 | marudbhyaḥ krīḍibhyaḥ puroḍāśaṃ saptakapālamityasyāmiṣṭau krīḷaṃ va ityeṣā pradhānasyānuvākyā | tathā tata iti khaṇḍe sūtritam | krīḷaṃ vaḥ śardho mārutamityāso na ye marutaḥ svañcaḥ | ā. 7-18 [?] | iti ‖

Translation: "Krīḷaṃ vaḥ — the second sūkta [of the anuvāka], of fifteen ṛks. Here is the Anukramaṇikā: 'krīḷam — with five fewer [than twenty]; Māruta; and Gāyatra'. By the rule 'and the ṛṣi … from another' [the clause vyaṣeravāviśiṣṭa is printed so and not understood [?]] the ṛṣi is Kaṇva, son of Ghora. This [sūkta] and the one following are in the Gāyatrī metre. These three sūktas, beginning with this one, have the Maruts as deity, by the rule tu hi ha vā. In the Vyūḷha, on the second Chandoma day, at the Āgnimāruta śastra, this sūkta is a nividdhānīya [= to have the nivid inserted]. It is laid down in the section of the second [adhyāya] beginning 'agniṃ vo devam': 'krīḷaṃ vaḥ śardho, [and] agne mṛḷa — [these are] the Āgnimāruta [śastra]' (Āś. 8-10). And the Brāhmaṇa: 'krīḷaṃ vaḥ śardho mārutam' (Ai. Brā. 5-19). In the iṣṭi [described as] 'a seven-potsherd cake for the sporting Maruts', the ṛk krīḷaṃ va is the main anuvākyā. And it is laid down in the section beginning 'tataḥ': 'krīḷaṃ vaḥ śardho mārutam, [and] atyāso na ye marutaḥ svañcaḥ' (Āś. 7-18 [?]; the first digit is 7 or 2, not settled). The print has"mārutam ity āso" [sic], for ity atyāso."

Anuvāda (Kannada), p. 251 — "Krīḷaṃ vaḥ is the second sūkta in this eighth anuvāka. In it there are fifteen ṛks. The Anukramaṇikā says 'krīḷaṃ pañconā mārutaṃ hi gāyatraṃ tv iti'. As said before, the ṛṣi of this sūkta is Kaṇva, the son of Ghora. This sūkta and the next sūkta are sūktas of the Gāyatrī metre. The three sūktas beginning with this one have the Maruts as deities. At the time of reciting the mantras of the Āgnimāruta śastra in the sacrifice called Vyūḷha it is prescribed that this sūkta be recited as the second chandoma mantra. This is explained in the Āśvalāyana Śrauta-sūtra, in the section beginning 'dvitīyasyāgniṃ vo devam', by the sūtra ‘krīḷaṃ vaḥ śardho ’gne mṛḷetya āgnimārutam’ (Āś. 8-10). On this matter there is the Brāhmaṇa sentence ‘krīḷaṃ vaḥ śardho mārutam’ (Ai. Brā. 5-19). In the homa called āmiṣṭi, which is made with the Marut deities in view — ‘marudbhyaḥ krīḍibhyaḥ puroḍāśaṃ saptakapālam’ — this ṛk krīḷaṃ vaḥ is the main anuvākyā mantra. In the Āśvalāyana Śrauta-sūtra (Āś. 7-18 [?]), in the section tathā tataḥ, the sūtra ‘krīḷaṃ vaḥ śardho mārutam (Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-37-1) atyāso na ye marutaḥ svañcaḥ (Ṛ. Saṃ. 7-59-16 [?]; the first digit 7 or 2, not settled)’ points to this matter.”

Page 252 (PDF 267) — heading of Sūkta 37 and Rik 37.1

॥ ॐ ॥

सूक्त — ३७ ॥ मण्डल — १ ॥ अनुवाक — ८ ॥ सूक्त — ३७ ॥ ॥ अष्टक — १ ॥ अध्याय — ३ ॥ वर्ग — १२, १३, १४ ॥ ॥ सूक्तदस्रिरुव ऋक्संख्यै — १५ ॥ ॥ ऋषिः — कण्वो घौरः ॥ ॥ देवता — मरुतः ॥ ॥ छन्दः — गायत्री ॥

sūkta 37 | maṇḍala 1 | anuvāka 8 | aṣṭaka 1 | adhyāya 3 | varga 12, 13, 14 | ṛks 15 | ṛṣi: Kaṇva Ghaura | devatā: the Maruts | chandas: Gāyatrī.

Translation of the heading: “Sūkta 37; Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 8; Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 3, Varga 12, 13, 14; number of ṛks in the sūkta: 15; Ṛṣi: Kaṇva Ghaura; Deity: the Maruts; Metre: Gāyatrī.”

Rik 37.1 (pp. 252–257, PDF 267–272)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 252)

क्रीळं व॒: शर्धो॒ मारु॑तमन॒र्वाणं॑ रथे॒शुभ॑म् । कण्वा॑ अ॒भि प्र गा॑यत ॥ १ ॥

krīḷáṃ vaḥ śárdho mārutam anarvāṇaṃ ratheśúbhaṃ | káṇvā abhí prá gāyata || 1 ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 252)

क्रीळम् । वः । शर्धः । मारुतम् । अनर्वाणम् । रथेऽशुभम् ॥ कण्वाः । अभि । प्र । गायत ॥ १ ॥

krīḷam | vaḥ | śardhaḥ | mārutam | anarvāṇam | rathe-śubham || kaṇvāḥ | abhi | pra | gāyata || 1 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (pp. 252–253, in full)

हे कण्वाः कण्वगोत्रोत्पन्ना महर्षयः । यद्वा । मेधाविन ऋत्विजः । वो युष्मदर्थं मारुतं मरुत्समूहरूपं शर्धो बलमभि प्र गायत । अभितः प्रकर्षेण स्तुध्वम् । कीदृशं शर्धः । क्रीळं विहरणशीलम् अनर्वाणं भ्रातृव्यरहितम् । अत एव श्रुत्यन्तरब्राह्मणेन मन्त्रान्तरमेव व्याख्यातम् । अनर्वा प्रेहीत्याह भ्रातृव्यो वा अर्वा भ्रातृव्यापनुत्या इति । रथेशुभं स्वकीये रथेऽवस्थाय शोभमानम् ॥

he kaṇvāḥ kaṇvagotrotpannā maharṣayaḥ | yadvā | medhāvina ṛtvijaḥ | vo yuṣmadarthaṃ mārutaṃ marutsamūharūpaṃ śardho balamabhi pra gāyata | abhitaḥ prakarṣeṇa studhvam | kīdṛśaṃ śardhaḥ | krīḷaṃ viharaṇaśīlam anarvāṇaṃ bhrātṛvyarahitam | ata eva

śrutyantarabrāhmaṇena mantrāntarameva vyākhyātam | anarvā prehītyāha bhrātṛvyo vā arvā bhrātṛvyāpanutyā iti | ratheśubhaṃ svakīye rathe 'vasthāya śobhamānam ||

(The print has "studhvam" (స్తుధ్వం) and "bhrātṛvyāpanutyā"; the Special Topics on p. 256 print "bhrātṛvyāpanutyai".)

Translation: "O kaṇvāḥ — great ṛṣis born in the family (gotra) of Kaṇva, or, otherwise, wise priests — abhi pra gāyata — sing out, praise greatly, on all sides, for yourselves, mārutam śardhaḥ — the strength (śardhas) of the Maruts, in the form of the host of Maruts. What sort of śardhas? Krīḷam — given to sport (viharaṇaśīlam); anarvāṇam — without a rival (bhrātṛvya). For this very reason another mantra has been explained by another Vedic Brāhmaṇa: 'anarvā, go forward, he says: the arvan [is] a rival — for the removal of the rival.' Rathe-śubham — shining, standing in their own chariot."

Page 253

Grammatical tail of the bhāṣya (p. 253)

> क्रीळम् । क्रीङ् विहारे । पचाद्यच् । शर्धः । शृधु प्रसहने । शर्धयत्यनेन शत्रूनिति शर्धो बलम् । असुन् । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वम् । मारुतम् । मरुतां संबन्धि । तस्येदमित्यण् । व्यत्ययेनाद्युदात्तत्वम् । यद्वा । समूहार्थेऽनुदात्तादेरञ् । पा. ४-२-४४ । इत्यनुदात्तादिलक्षणोऽञ्प्रत्ययः । अनर्वाणम् । व्यत्ययेन पुंल्लिङ्गता । नञ्सुभ्यामित्युत्तरपदान्तोदात्तत्वम् । रथेशुभम् । शुभ दीप्तौ । रथे शोभत इति रथेशुभ् । क्विप्चेति क्विप् । तत्पुरुषे कृति बहुलमित्यलुक् । कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् । गायत । कै गै रै शब्दे । तिङ्ङतिङः इति निघातः ॥

krīḷam | krīḍṛ vihāre | pacādyac | śardhaḥ | śṛdhu prasahane | śardhayatyanena śatrūniti śardho balam | asun | nittvādādyudāttatvam | mārutam | marutāṃ saṃbandhi | tasyedamityaṇ | vyatyayenādyudāttatvam | yadvā | samūhārthe 'nudāttāderañ | pā. 4-2-44 | ityanudāttādilakṣaṇo 'ñpratyayaḥ | anarvāṇam | vyatyayena puṃlliṅgatā | nañsubhyāmityuttarapadāntodāttatvam | ratheśubham | śubha dīptau | rathe śobhata iti ratheśubh | kvipceti kvip | tatpuruṣe kṛti bahulamityaluk | kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvam | gāyata | kai gai rai śabde | tiṅṅatiṅa iti nighātaḥ ||

(Sense:) krīḷam (krīḍṛ vihāre, the pacādi suffix ac; ḍ → ḷ between two vowels, by the Bahvṛca tradition); śardhaḥ (śṛdhu prasahane; śardhayaty anena śatrūn; asun; nit, so first-syllable acute); mārutam (marutām idam, tasyedam: aṇ; the accent first-syllable by vyatyaya; or anudātte… añ in the sense of "collection"); anarvāṇam (masculine by vyatyaya instead of neuter; nañsubhyām: the later member final-acute); rathe-śubham (śubha dīptau, rathe śobhate: rathe-śubh, kvip; tatpuruṣe kṛti bahulam: the locative is not elided; the later member of a kṛt-compound keeps its accent); gāyata (kai gai rai śabde; tiṅ ṅatiṅaḥ: the lowering).

Pratipadārtha (p. 253) — "kaṇvāḥ — O sages born in the line of the ṛṣi Kaṇva, or O wise priests; vaḥ — for you (for your good); krīḷam — [that] is fond of sport; anarvāṇam — [that] has no rival; rathe-śubham — [that] shines seated in its own chariot; mārutam — [that] has the nature of the group of Maruts; śardhaḥ — the strength; abhi pra gāyata — sing praise well on all sides."

Bhāvārtha (p. 253) — “O sages born in the line of Kaṇva, the Marut deities, endowed with great strength, enjoy themselves seated in their splendid, unobstructed chariots. Praise the host of those Marut deities well with hymns and the like.”

English Translation (the source’s own, p. 253) — “Celebrate, Kanwas, the aggregate strength of the maruths, sportive, free from enemies and shining in their car·” (Printed so, with “maruths” in lower case; the print ends with a raised dot.)

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 253–256

marutaḥ — “Yāska’s explanation of the word marutaḥ is as follows:”

> मरुतो मितराविणो वा मितरोचिनो वा महद्द्रवन्तीति वा ॥ (no reference printed)

maruto mitarāviṇo vā mitarocino vā mahad dravantīti vā || (no reference printed)

“Mita means ‘well joined’: because they sound well-joined — that is, ‘resounding, blowing’ — or because they shine well, or because they sound abundantly: from this they are called marutaḥ.

Here some, in the places maruto mitarāviṇo vā, would divide the pada as mitarāviṇaḥ [amitarāviṇaḥ, as read], and explain amita as ‘very many’, and rāviṇaḥ as ‘sounding’; and in the same way, dividing amitarocinaḥ, they take the sense ‘shining much’.” (Translation of the Nirukta sentence mine and tentative.)

“The Marut deities are praised together with Indra in many contexts. Since there is the praise of Indra in the ṛk ‘marudbhir indra sakhyaṃ te astu’ (Ṛ. Saṃ. 8-96-2), they too have a status like Indra’s. In the Ṛgveda thirty-three sūktas are wholly addressed to the Maruts. Besides, there are seven sūktas where they are praised together with Indra, and one each where they are praised with Pūṣan and with Agni. These Marut deities are many. In some places it is said ‘trisaptaiḥ’ (Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-133-6), that is, three groups of seven each; in other places ‘tri ṣaṣṭis tvā maruto’ (Ṛ. Saṃ. 8-96-8), ‘three sixties’, that is, that there are a hundred and eighty Marut deities. They are also said to be the sons of Rudra, and so they are called by the name Rudriyāḥ. To these Marut deities Pṛśni (the cow of the heavenly world) is [their] mother, and so they are called pṛśnimātaraḥ, ‘those whose mother is Pṛśni’; here Pṛśni may mean the clouds. When clouds shed rain, the wind commonly blows swiftly and with a sound; so the name may have come to these deities. They are also said to be born of lightning and of the cloud, born of the wind and of heaven, and self-born. A deity named Rodasī is said to be their wife, and Indrāṇī and Sarasvatī are said to have a special connection with them.”

“The abode of the Marut deities is in the three worlds, heaven, mid-region and earth. Their connection is chiefly with the rain that comes in lightning and thunder, and so it is the established usage to call them very brilliant. Lightning is their weapon. There are many descriptions: they wear golden ornaments on the head, feet, breast and other limbs, and hold a spear [ṛṣṭi] in the hand; and there is the description of their travelling seated in a chariot to which spotted deer [spotted deer, the print’s English] are yoked.”

“These Marut deities are youths, handsome, young; cruel like wild beasts, and yet they are engaged in sport like children. The sound of their travelling is terrible like thunder. They bring rain with them. The famous river Marutvṛdhā

Page 255

(continued, p. 255) is a witness to their exploits. The rain they bring is called by various names, honey-ghee (jenu-tuppa), milk, ghee (tuppa), and the like. It is also said that, besides bringing rain, they make the mountains shake. Their song gives strength to Indra at the time of Vṛtra’s slaughter. In various places they are described as drinking soma, as singing, and as taking part in sacrifices. The chief act of the Marut deities is the help given to Indra when he slew Vṛtra. In some places, though they are addressed as sons or brothers of Indra, there are one or two sūktas (Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-165; 1-170) which say that on certain principal occasions they left Indra without help and that Indra, for that reason, took up revenge upon them and was ready to slay them, and that the sage Agastya had to pacify Indra with much effort.”

“In connection with Rudra’s being with the Maruts there is a description that they use their weapons, the spear and the thunderbolt (Ṛ. Saṃ. 7-56-9; 7-56-17; 7-57-4; 1-171-1; 1-172-2; 1-164-8; 1-64-9 — the first digit of the first three is the flat-footed 7).”

“In the matter of sacrificial ceremonies, especially in the soma sacrifice, there are many differences between the Marut deities and the god Vāyu. Vāyu is called in the prātaḥsavana; the Maruts are invoked in the midday and third pressings. In the sacrifice called cāturmāsya the vessel of the Maruts is special.”

“Let us consider briefly the nature of the Marut deities. The difference between Vāyu and the Maruts is this: Vāyu is the ordinary blowing wind; the Maruts are the wind that, in the rainy season, comes with thunder, lightning and clouds, together with great rain and a loud and terrible blast. Hence, descriptions of many kinds are found: that the Marut deities shine, that they sound, that they are cruel, that they have great strength and power, that they are the sons of the mid-region (heaven), and that they are always engaged in sport, since they blow always in the mid-region.”

krīḷam = viharaṇaśīlam: “fond of play; engaged in games and wandering about.”

Page 256

śardhaḥ — “since śardhaḥ is read among the twenty-eight names for strength beginning ojaḥ, pājaḥ (Ni. 3-9), śardhaḥ means strength or valour.”

mārutam = marutsamūham: “since the Marut deities are always many, they are addressed in the plural only. Here the singular mārutam means ‘the host of the Maruts’.”

anarvāṇam = bhrātṛvyarahitam: “without enemies. To show how this sense follows from the word, the bhāṣyakāra has cited the Brāhmaṇa sentence ‘anarvā prehītyāha | bhrātṛvyo vā arvā | bhrātṛvyāpanutyai’ [as read]. Some Western scholars have explained the word anarvāṇam differently: arvā means a horse; anarvā means those who have no horses. Since the chariot of the Marut deities has no horses harnessed to it, but is drawn by the spotted deer, pṛṣatīḥ, they hold that these deities are called anarvāṇa.”

rathe-śubham — “shining seated in their own chariot.”

kaṇvāḥ — “the Kaṇvas are those born in the line of the ṛṣi Kaṇva.”

abhi pra gāyata — “all together, join and sing the praises of the Maruts in a loud voice: such is the sense.”

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 256–257, PDF 270–271 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - krīḷam: root krīḍṛ vihāre, class 1; pacādi ac; “the ḍ between two vowels becomes ḷ by the Bahvṛca tradition”. - śardhaḥ: root śṛdhu prasahane (printed “prahasane” [sic]), class 10 (as printed); śardhayatγ anena śatrūn — “by this one overcomes enemies” — balam; the Uṇādi asun; laghūpadha-guṇa, raparatva; ñnitγādir nitγam — first-syllable acute. - mārutam: marutām idam; tasγedam — तस्येदम् — (Pā. 4-3-120): after a sixth-case form, in the sense “this belongs to him”, aṇ and the other general suffixes, and, by the enjoined rule rāṣṭrāvāra…, the suffixes gha etc.; so aṇ; first-syllable acute by vγatγaγa in place of

Page 257

(continued, p. 257) the suffix-accent; or, in the sense of collection, anudāttādeḥ añ — अनुदात्तादेरञ् — (Pā. 4-2-44): añ after a word that begins with an unaccented syllable and ends in the sixth case: marutāṃ samūhaḥ; marut is from the Uṇādi mṛgror uti — मृग्रोरुतिः — (Uṇ. 1-94): uti after mṛṅ prāṇatγāge and gṝ nigaraṇe; mṛ + uti, guṇa, raparatva; the u is acute by the suffix-accent, the rest unaccented: this marut is anudāttādi. - anarvāṇam: “this is an adjective of śardhaḥ; the masculine appears in place of the neuter; nañsubhγām (Pā. 6-2-172): the later member is final-acute.” - rathe-śubham: root śubha dīptau; rathe śobhate — rathe-śubh; kvip ca; tatpuruṣe kṛti bahulam — तत्पुरुषे कृति बहुलम् — (Pā. 6-3-14): in a tatpuruṣa, before a kṛdanta second member, the seventh case is not elided, in many cases; so aluk; the kṛdanta second member keeps its natural accent. - gāyata: root kai gai rai śabde; tiṅ ṅatiṅaḥ — wholly unaccented. Rik 1 ends here (|| 1 ||).

Rik 37.2 (pp. 257–259, PDF 272–274)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 257)

> ये पृषतीभिर्ऋष्टिभिः साकं वाशीभिरञ्जिभिः । अजायन्त स्वभानवः ॥ २ ॥

γe pṛ́ṣatībhir ṛṣṭíbhiḥ sākáṃ vā́śībhir añjíbhiḥ | ájāγanta svábhānavaḥ || 2 ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. The stroke of “vāśībhir” stands between śī and bhi*; placed on śī as in the Pada.)*

Pada-pāṭha (p. 257)

> ये । पृषतीभिः । ऋष्टिऽभिः । साकम् । वाशीभिः । अञ्जिऽभिः ॥ अजायन्त । स्वऽभानवः ॥ २ ॥

γe | pṛṣatībhiḥ | ṛṣṭi-bhiḥ | sākam | vāśībhiḥ | añji-bhiḥ || ajāγanta | sva-bhānavaḥ || 2 ||

Page 258

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 258, in full, with its grammatical tail)

ये मरुतः पृषत्यादिभिः साकं स्वभानवः स्वकीयदीप्तियुक्ता अजायन्तेति सम्पन्नाः । पृषत्यो बिन्दुयुक्ता मृग्यो मरुद्वाहनभूताः । पृषत्यो मरुतामिति निघण्टावुक्तत्वात् । ऋष्टय आयुधानि । वाश्यः शब्दविशेषाः परकीयसेनाभीतिहेतवः । वाशी वाणीति वाङ्नामसु पठितत्वात् । अञ्जयोऽलंकरणानि । तान् स्तुम इति शेषः ॥ अजायन्त । जनीप्रादुर्भावे । श्यनि ज्ञाजनोर्जा । पा. ७-३-७९ । इति जादेशः । अडागम उदात्तः । स्वभानवः । स्वकीया भानवो येषाम् । बहुव्रीहौ पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् ॥

ye marutaḥ pṛṣatyādibhiḥ sākaṃ svabhānavaḥ svakīyadīptiyuktā ajāyanteti sampannāḥ | pṛṣatyo binduyuktā mṛgyo marudvāhanabhūtāḥ | pṛṣatyo marutāmiti nighaṇṭāvuktatvāt | ṛṣṭaya āyudhāni | vāśyaḥ śabdaviśeṣāḥ parakīyasenābhītihetavaḥ | vāśī vāṇīti vāṅnāmasu paṭhitatvāt | añjayo 'laṃkaraṇāni | tān stuma iti śeṣaḥ ‖ ajāyanta | janīprādurbhāve | śyani jñājanorjā | pā. 7-3-79 | iti jādeśaḥ | aḍāgama udāttaḥ | svabhānavaḥ | svakīyā bhānavo yeṣām | bahuvrīhau pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvam ‖

Translation: "The Maruts who, together with pṛṣatībhiḥ and the rest, ajāyanta — came into being, svabhānavaḥ — furnished with their own radiance. Pṛṣatyaḥ — spotted does, the vehicles of the Maruts (since 'pṛṣatyo marutām' is said in the Nighaṇṭu). Ṛṣṭayaḥ — weapons. Vāśīḥ — particular sounds that are the cause of fear for an enemy army; since vāśī, vāṇī are read among the words for speech. Añjayaḥ — ornaments. Them we praise: so it is to be supplied."

Grammar within the bhāṣya (p. 258, characterized): ajāyanta (janī prādurbhāve; divādi, ātmanepada, laṅ, jha → ant; śyan; jñājanor jā: jā in place of jan; the augment aṭ is acute); svabhānavaḥ (a bahuvrīhi; the first member keeps its accent).

Pratipadārtha (p. 258) — "svabhānavaḥ — [those] endowed with their own radiance; ye — which Maruts; pṛṣatībhiḥ sākam — together with the spotted does, their vehicles; ṛṣṭibhiḥ — with sharp weapons; vāśībhiḥ — with war-cries [terrible to enemies]; añjibhiḥ — with ornaments; ajāyanta — are born [we praise the power of such hosts of Maruts]."

Bhāvārtha (p. 258) — "The Marut deities shine with their own radiance. Bearing weapons that destroy enemies, raising war-cries, yoking the spotted does, they travel seated in their chariots, adorned with various ornaments. [Praise the virtues of the Marut deities.]"

English Translation (the source's own, p. 258) — "(Praise) the self-luminous Maruths, borne by spotted deer, with weapons, war-cries and decorations·" (Printed so, with "Maruths"; the print ends with a raised dot.)

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 258–259 - pṛṣatībhiḥ — "Yāska, in regard to the vehicles and so on of some deities, says:"

Page 259 (the quotation begins at the foot of p. 258, "harī indrasya … rāsabhāv aśvinoḥ"; the rest is on p. 259)

हरी इन्द्रस्य । रोहिताग्नेः । हरित आदित्यस्य । रासभावश्विनोः । अजाः पूष्णः । पृषत्यो मरुताम् । अरुण्यो गाव उषसः । श्यावाः सवितुः । विश्वरूपा बृहस्पतेः । नियुतो वायोः ॥ (नि. २-२-८)

harī indrasya | rohitāgneḥ | harita ādityasya | rāsabhāv aśvinoḥ | ajāḥ pūṣṇaḥ | pṛṣatyo marutām | aruṇyo gāva uṣasaḥ | śyāvāḥ savituḥ | viśvarūpā bṛhaspateḥ | niyuto vāyoḥ || (ni. 2-2-8)

“Harī [is the name of the two horses] of Indra; rohitā of Agni; haritaḥ — [as in] ‘bhadrā aśvā haritaḥ sūryasya’ (Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-115-3) — of Āditya; rāsabhau, the two asses, of the Aśvins; ajāḥ, the she-goats, of Pūṣan; pṛṣatyaḥ, the spotted does, of the Maruts; aruṇyaḥ gāvaḥ, the red cows, of Uṣas; śyāvāḥ, brown or tawny horses, of Savitṛ; viśvarūpāḥ of Bṛhaspati; niyutaḥ of Vāyu: these are the names of their vehicles. Hence the does that are the Maruts’ horses are called here by the word pṛṣatībhiḥ.” (Translation of the Nirukta passage mine and tentative; the print also gives the English glosses ‘spotted deer’ and ‘brown or tawny horses’.) - ṛṣṭibhiḥ = āyudhaiḥ: “with weapons.” - vāśībhiḥ — “since vāśī is read among the fifty names for speech beginning ślokaḥ, dhārā (Ni. 2-23, as printed), vāśībhiḥ means ‘with sounds’. The bhāṣyakāra says here: ‘with terrible sounds, or with war-cries that frighten enemies’.” - añjibhiḥ — “furnished with ornaments.” - svabhānavaḥ = svakīyā bhānavo yeṣāṃ te svabhānavaḥ: “those who shine by their own light.”

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (p. 259, PDF 273 — grammar page, noted briefly) - ajāyanta: root janī prādurbhāve, divādi, ātmanepada; laṅ, jha, ant [by jho ’ntaḥ]; divādibhyaḥ śyan; the augment aṭ; ajan + ya + anta; jñājanor jā — ज्ञाजनोर्जा — (Pā. 7-3-79): jā in place of jñā and jan before a śit suffix: ajāya + anta; pararūpa; the augment aṭ is acute. - svabhānavaḥ: svakīyāḥ bhānavaḥ yeṣāṃ te, a bahuvrīhi: “whose light is their own”; the first member keeps its natural accent. Rik 2 ends here (|| 2 ||).

Rik 37.3 (pp. 260–262, PDF 275–277)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 260)

इहेव शृण्व एषां कशा हस्तेषु यद्वदान् । नि यामञ्चित्रमृञ्जते ॥ ३ ॥

ihéva śṛṇva eṣāṃ káśā hásteṣu yád vádān | ni yámañ citrám ṛñjate || 3 ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 260)

इहऽइव । शृण्वे । एषाम् । कशाः । हस्तेषु । यत् । वदान् ॥ नि । यामन् । चित्रम् । ऋञ्जते ॥ ३ ॥

iha-iva | śṛṇve | eṣām | kaśāḥ | hasteṣu | yat | vadān || ni | yāman | citram | ṛñjate || 3 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 260, in full, with its grammatical tail)

एषां मरुतां हस्तेषु स्थिताः कशाः स्वस्ववाहनताडनहेतवो यद्वदान् यद्वदन्ति यं ध्वनिं कुर्वन्ति तं ध्वनिमिहेवात्रेव स्थित्वा शृण्वे । शृणोमि । स ध्वनिविशेषो यामन् संग्रामे चित्रं विविधं शौर्यं न्यृञ्जते । नितरामलंकरोति । ऋजन्तिः प्रसाधनकर्मेति यास्कः । नि. ६-२१ ॥ शृण्वे । श्रु श्रवणे । व्यत्ययेनात्मनेपदम् । श्रुवः शृ चेति श्रुः । हुश्नुवोः सार्वधातुक इति यणादेशः । वदान् । वद व्यक्तायां वाचि । लेट्यडागमः । इतश्च लोप इतीकारलोपे संयोगान्तलोपः । आगमानुदात्तत्वे धातुस्वरः शिष्यते । यद्वृत्तयोगादनिघातः । यामन् । सुपां सुलुगिति सप्तम्या लुक् । न ङिसंबुद्ध्योः । पा. ८-२-८ । इति नलोपप्रतिषेधः । ऋञ्जते । ऋजि भृजी भर्जने । अत्र प्रसाधनार्थः ॥

eṣāṃ marutāṃ hasteṣu sthitāḥ kaśāḥ svasvavāhanatāḍanahetavo yadvadān yadvadanti yaṃ dhvaniṃ kurvanti taṃ dhvanimihevātreva sthitvā śṛṇve | śṛṇomi | sa dhvaniviśeṣo yāman saṃgrāme citraṃ vividhaṃ śauryaṃ nyṛñjate | nitarāmalaṃkaroti | ṛjantiḥ

prasādhanakarmeti yāskaḥ | ni. 6-21 ‖ śṛṇve | śru śravaṇe | vyatyayenātmanepadam | śruvaḥ śṛ ceti śnuḥ | huśnuvoḥ sārvadhātuka iti yaṇādeśaḥ | vadān | vada vyaktāyāṃ vāci | leṭyaḍāgamaḥ | itaśca lopa itīkāralope saṃyogāntalopaḥ | āgamānudāttatve dhātusvaraḥ śiṣyate | yadvṛttayogādanighātaḥ | yāman | supāṃ sulugiti saptamyā luk | na ṅisaṃbuddhyoḥ | pā. 8-2-8 | iti nalopapratiṣedhaḥ | ṛñjate | ṛji bhṛjī bharjane | atra prasādhanārthaḥ ‖

(The print has "ṛjantiḥ" (ಋಜಂತಿಃ) in the bhāṣya; "ṛñjatiḥ" in the grammar note on p. 262.)

Translation: "The whips (kaśāḥ) held in the hands of these Maruts, which are the means of whipping their own vehicles, yad vadān — make a sound — that sound I, standing as it were iha — right here — śṛṇve, hear. That particular sound, yāman — in battle — citram, manifold, śauryam, valour, ny ṛñjate — adorns thoroughly (ṛñjati being, says Yāska, a verb of prasādhana [= adorning, accomplishing]; Ni. 6-21)."

(Sense of the tail:) śṛṇve (śru śravaṇe; vyatyaya: ātmanepada; śruvaḥ śṛ ca: śnu for śap and śṛ for śru; huśnuvoḥ sārvadhātuke: yaṇ); vadān (vada vyaktāyāṃ vāci; leṭ, the augment aṭ; itaś ca lopa; the loss of the final conjunct; the root's accent; yadvṛttayogād anighātaḥ); yāman (the seventh-case singular dropped by supāṃ sulug…; na ṅisambuddhyoḥ: no loss of the n); ṛñjate (ṛji bhṛjī bharjane, in the sense of prasādhana).

Pratipadārtha (pp. 260–261) — "eṣām — of these Maruts; hasteṣu — in the hands (which are); kaśāḥ — whips [that strike the horses]; yat vadān — which make the sound; iha iva — standing here, as it were; śṛṇve — I hear [that special sound];

Page 261

(continued, p. 261) yāman — in battle; citram — manifold and wonderful valour; ni ṛñjate — adorns completely (gives incitement to valour)."

Bhāvārtha (p. 261) — "However far away they may be, the sound of the whips in the hands of these Maruts is heard clearly. As I stand here, I hear the cracking sound of their whips. When I hear it, then in the time of battle our valour grows and is spurred to the crushing of our enemies."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 261) — "I hear the cracking of the whips in their hands, wonderfully inspiring courage in the fight·" (the print ends with a raised dot).

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 261 - kaśā — "the whip that strikes horses." - kaśā hasteṣu yad vadān — "the sound of the whips in the hands of the Marut deities." - ihaiva śṛṇva eṣām — "I hear here, from where I stand, the sound of the whips of those Maruts with which they strike their horses; that is, it is audible to me here." - citram — "manifold valour, bravery and the like." - ṛñjate = ṛji bhṛjī bharjane | ṛjantiḥ prasādhanakarmā (Ni. 6-21): "to favour, to incite; the sound of the whips of the Marut deities incites in us valour, bravery and the like."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 261–262, PDF 275–276 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - śṛṇve (p. 261): root śru śravaṇe, class 1; parasmaipada gives way to ātmanepada by vyatyaya; laṭ, iṭ → e [ṭita ātmanepadānāṃ ṭere]; śruvaḥ śṛ ca — श्रुवः शृ च — (Pā. 3-1-74): śnu in place of śap and śṛ in place of śru: śṛ + nu + e; huśnuvoḥ sārvadhātuke — हुश्नुवोः सार्वधातुके — (Pā. 6-4-82 [as printed; for 6-4-87]): yaṇ for the u of a śnu-ending base of several vowels before a vowel-initial sārvadhātuka: v.

Page 262

- vadān (p. 262): root vada vyaktāyāṃ vāci; leṭ, the third-person plural jhi; jho 'ntaḥ: anti for jhi; śap; vad + a + anti; leṭo 'ḍāṭau: the augment aṭ; savarṇadīrgha for the repeated a's; itaś ca lopaḥ: the i of anti lost; saṃyogāntasya lopaḥ: the t lost; śap is pit, so unaccented; tāsyanudāttet…: the lasārvadhātuka anti is unaccented as it stands after an adupadeśa [an a-final base]; the root's accent stays; yadvṛttānnityam: no wholly-unaccented, since yat is connected.
- yāman: after yāman the seventh-case singular ṅi, dropped by supāṃ sulug…; na ṅisambuddhyoḥ — न ङिसम्बुद्ध्योः — (Pā. 8-2-8): the n is not lost when ṅi or a vocative follows, so nalopaḥ prātipadikāntasya is blocked.
- ṛñjate: root ṛji bhṛjī bharjane; "here the sense prasādhana means alaṃkāra; this sense follows from the Nirukta passage ṛñjatiḥ prasādhanakarmā (Ni. 6-21)." Rik 3 ends here (|| 3 ||).

Rik 37.4 (pp. 262–265, PDF 277–280)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 262)

प्र वः॒ शर्धा॑य घृष्व॑ये त्वे॒षद्यु॑म्नाय शु॒ष्मि॑णे । [accent ?] दे॒वत्त॑ं ब्रह्म॑ गायत ॥ ४ ॥

prá vaḥ śárdhāya ghṛ́ṣvaye tveṣádyumnāya śuṣmíṇe | [accent ?] *devátta*ṃ bráhma gāyata || 4 ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. The stroke in "tveṣadyumnāya" stands over ṣa*, as printed. [accent ?]: the stroke of "śuṣmiṇe" stands between* ṣmi and the e*-sign of* ṇe*; placed on* ṣmi*.)*

Pada-pāṭha (p. 262)

प्र । वः । शर्धाय । घृष्वये । त्वेषऽद्युम्नाय । शुष्मिणे ॥ देवऽत्तम् । ब्रह्म । गायत ॥ ४ ॥

pra | vaḥ | śardhāya | ghṛṣvaye | tveṣa-dyumnāya | śuṣmiṇe || deva-ttam | brahma | gāyata || 4 ||

Page 263

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 263, in full, with its grammatical tail)

हे ऋत्विजो वो युष्माकं संबन्धिने शर्धाय प्रसहनशीलाय घृष्वये शत्रुघर्षणयुक्ताय त्वेषद्युम्नाय दीप्यमानयशसे । द्युम्नं द्योततेर्यशो वान्नं वेति यास्कः । नि. ५-५ । शुष्मिणे बलवते । शुष्मं शुष्णमिति बलनामसु पाठात् । एवंभूताय मरुद्गणाय ब्रह्म हविर्लक्षणमन्नमुद्दिश्य प्र गायत । स्तुध्वम् । कीदृशं ब्रह्म । देवत्तं देवैर्दत्तं देवतानुग्रहाल्लब्धम् ॥ शर्धाय । शृधु प्रसहने । शर्धयत्यभिभवतीति शर्धो बलम् । पचाद्यच् । वृषादित्वादाद्युदात्तत्वम् । घृष्वये । घृषु संघर्षे । कृविघृष्वीत्यादिना । उ. ४-५६ । क्विन्प्रत्ययान्तो निपातितः । त्वेषद्युम्नाय । त्विष दीप्तौ । पचाद्यच् । त्वेषं दीप्तं द्युम्नं यस्य । बहुव्रीहौ

पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् । देवत्तम् । देवैर्दत्तम् । छान्दसो वर्णलोपः । उक्तं च । द्वौ चापरौ वर्णविकारनाशौ । का. ६-३-१०९ । इति । तृतीया कर्मणीति पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् ॥

he ṛtvijo vo yuṣmākaṃ saṃbandhine śardhāya prasahanaśīlāya ghṛṣvaye śatrugharṣaṇayuktāya tveṣadyumnāya dīpyamānayaśase | dyumnaṃ dyotateryaśo vānnaṃ veti yāskaḥ | ni. 5-5 | śuṣmiṇe balavate | śuṣmaṃ śuṣṇamiti balanāmasu pāṭhāt | evaṃbhūtāya marudgaṇāya brahma havirlakṣaṇamannamuddiśya pra gāyata | studhvam | kīdṛśaṃ brahma | devattaṃ devairdattaṃ devatānugrahāllabdham ‖ śardhāya | śṛdhu prasahane | śardhayatyabhibhavatīti śardho balam | pacādyac | vṛṣāditvādādyudāttatvam | ghṛṣvaye | ghṛṣu saṃgharṣe | kṛvighṛṣvītyādinā | u. 4-56 | kvinpratyayānto nipātitaḥ | tveṣadyumnāya | tviṣa dīptau | pacādyac | tveṣaṃ dīptaṃ dyumnaṃ yasya | bahuvrīhau pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvam | devattam | devairdattam | chāndaso varṇalopaḥ | uktaṃ ca | dvau cāparau varṇavikāranāśau | kā. 6-3-109 | iti | tṛtīyā karmaṇīti pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvam ‖

Translation: "O priests, for vaḥ — your — śardhāya, the one given to overpowering; ghṛṣvaye — endowed with the rubbing-down of enemies; tveṣadyumnāya — whose glory (dyumna) is shining ('dyumna, from dyut, is glory or food', so Yāska, Ni. 5-5); śuṣmiṇe — the powerful (since śuṣma, śuṣṇa are read among the names for strength): for such a host of Maruts brahma — [praise] relating to the oblation, to food — pra gāyata, sing out. What sort of brahma? Devattam — given by the gods, obtained by the gods' favour."

(Sense of the tail:) śardhāya (śṛdhu prasahane, the pacādi ac, first-syllable acute as of the vṛṣādi group); ghṛṣvaye (ghṛṣu saṃgharṣe, the Uṇādi suffix kvin, given by nipātana: kavighṛṣvi…; tveṣadyumnāya (tviṣa dīptau, pacādi ac; a bahuvrīhi with the first-member accent); devattam (devair dattam; the Vedic loss of a letter; the line "dvau cāparau varṇavikāranāśau" is quoted [Kāś. on Pā. 6-4-109 [?]]; tṛtīyā karmaṇi: the first member keeps its natural accent).

Pratipadārtha (p. 263) — "vaḥ — [O priests] to you; śardhāya — [that] is endowed with the power to restrain; ghṛṣvaye — [that] crushes enemies; tveṣadyumnāya — [that] has shining fame; śuṣmiṇe — [that] is strong; (marudgaṇāya) — for the host of Maruts; devattam — [which the gods have favoured by] teaching and giving; brahma — the hymn of prayer; (havir-rūpa-annam uddiśya — with a view to [the oblation, i.e.] food); pra gāyata — sing well."

Bhāvārtha (p. 263) — "O priests, the power of the host of Maruts is always boundless. It protects itself and its devotees, and checks and crushes enemies. Its fame is exceedingly shining. Whenever one wishes to praise that power, sing well the hymn of prayer that the gods have favoured and taught to you. The food you wish, in the form of oblation, will be obtained."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 263) — "Sing forth, O Kanwas, the god-given hymn in honour of your victorious, splendidly glorious, mighty hosts of Maruths." (Printed so, "god-given hymn" with a hyphen; the print ends with a raised dot.)

Rik 37.4 (continued) — Special Topics and grammar (pp. 264–265, PDF 279–280)

Page 264

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 264 - śardhāya = prasahanaśīlāya: “since śardhaḥ is read among the twenty-eight names for strength beginning ojaḥ, pājaḥ (Ni. 3-9), śardhāya means ‘powerful, endowed with strength’.” - ghṛṣvaye = ghṛṣu saṃgharṣe | śatrughar-ṣaṇayuktāya: “one who fights, who battles with the enemy.” - tveṣadyumnāya — “tveṣa means shining; dyumna means fame (Ni. 5-5); tveṣadyumna means one whose fame is praised by all.” - śuṣmiṇe — “since śuṣma is read among the same twenty-eight names for strength, śuṣma means strength; śuṣmiṇe means ‘strong’ (with the Maruts in view).” - devattam = daivair dattam | devatānugrahāl labdham: “here, for the convenience of the metre, the d of the word daivair dattam is lost, giving the form devattam: ‘given by the gods, obtained through the gods’ favour’.” - brahma — “since brahma is read among the twenty-eight names for food beginning andhaḥ, vājaḥ (Ni. 3-9, as printed), the word brahma here means food in the form of the oblation, havirlakṣaṇam uddiśya havissvarūpam annam.” - brahma gāyata — “praying that food be given, sing the praises of the Marut deities.”

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 264–265, PDF 279–280 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - śardhāya: root śṛdhu prasahane, curādi; śardhayatīti śardhaḥ — “strength that mocks enemies”; the pacādi suffix ac; vṛṣādīnāṃ ca — वृषादीनां च — (printed Pā. 6-1-103 [as printed; for 6-1-203]): first-syllable acute. - ghṛṣvaye: root ghṛṣu saṃgharṣe, class 1; kṛvighṛṣvichavisthavikikīdivi (printed “Uṇ. Sū. 4-496” [?] — the bhāṣya tail on p. 263 has Uṇ. 4-56): the form ghṛṣvi, ending in kvin, is given by nipātana.

Page 265

- tveṣadyumnāya (p. 265): root tviṣa dīptau, the pacādi suffix ac, laghūpadha-guṇa; tveṣam = shining, dyumnam = fame, yasya saḥ: a bahuvrīhi; the first member keeps its natural accent.
- devattam: daivaiḥ dattam, a tatpuruṣa compound; tṛtīyā karmaṇi — तृतीया कर्मणि — (Pā. 6-2-48): the first member keeps its natural accent; the Kāśikā-authors, on pṛṣodarādīni yathopadiṣṭam — पृषोदरादीनि यथोपदिष्टम् — (Pā. 6-3-109), say dvau cāparau varṇavikāranāśau — “two further operations: change of one letter [into another], and loss of a letter”; of these two, here the d is lost. Rik 4 ends here (|| 4 ||).

Rik 37.5 (pp. 265–267, PDF 280–282)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 265)

प्र शंसा॒ गोष्वघ्न्यं॑ क्री॒ळं यच्छर्धो॒ मारु॑तं । ज॒म्भे रस॑स्य वावृधे ॥ ५ ॥

prá śaṃsā góṣvaghnyáṃ krīḷáṃ yácchárdho mărutaṃ | jambhé rásasya vāvṛdhe || 5 ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 265)

प्र । शंस । गोषु । अघ्न्यम् । क्रीळम् । यत् । शर्धः । मारुतम् ॥ जम्भे । रसस्य । ववृधे ॥ ५ ॥

pra | śaṃsa | goṣu | aghnyam | krīḷam | yat | śardhaḥ | mārutam || jambhe | rasasya | vavṛdhe || 5 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (pp. 265–266, in full, with its grammatical tail)

> गोषु मरुन्मातृभूतपृश्निप्रभृतिषु धेनुष्ववस्थितम् । पृश्न्यै वै पयसो मरुतो जाताः । तै. सं. २-२-११-४ । इति श्रुत्यन्तरात् । अघ्न्यमहन्तव्यं क्रीळं विहारोपेतं मारुतं मरुत्सम्बन्धि शर्धः प्रसहनशीलं तेजो यदस्ति तत्र शंस । हे ऋत्विक्समूह स्तुहि । रसस्य गोक्षीररूपस्य सम्बन्धि तत्तेजो जम्भे मुख उदरे वा ववृधे । वृद्धमभूत् ॥ शंस । शन्सु स्तुतौ । द्व्यचोऽतस्तिङः इति संहितायां दीर्घः । गोषु । सावेकाच इति प्राप्तस्य विभक्त्युदात्तस्य न गोश्वन्सावर्वेति प्रतिषेधः । अघ्न्यम् । घ्नो हननं । घञर्थे कविधानम् । पा. ३-३-५८-४ । इति कः । गमहनेत्यादिनोपधालोपः । हो हन्तेः । पा. ७-३-५४ । इति घत्वं । तदर्हतीति घ्न्यम् । छन्दसि चेति यः । न घ्न्यमघ्न्यम् । अव्ययेपूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् । क्रीळादयो गताः । जम्भे । जभि नाशने । जम्भ्यते भक्ष्यतेऽनेनेति जम्भमास्यं । करणे घञ् । ववृधे । वृधु वृद्धौ । लिट् । छान्दसं संहितायामभ्यासदीर्घत्वम् ॥

goṣu marunmātṛbhūtapṛśniprabhṛtiṣu dhenuṣvavasthitam | pṛśnyai vai payaso maruto jātāḥ | tai. saṃ. 2-2-11-4 | iti śrutyantarāt | aghnyamahantavyaṃ krīḷaṃ vihāropetaṃ mārutaṃ marutsambandhi śardhaḥ prasahanaśīlaṃ tejo yadasti tatra śaṃsa | he ṛtviksamūha stuhi | rasasya gokṣīrarūpasya sambandhi tattejo jambhe mukha udare vā vavṛdhe | vṛddhamabhūt ‖ śaṃsa | śansu stutau | dvyaco 'tastiṅaḥ iti saṃhitāyāṃ dīrghaḥ | goṣu | sāvekāca iti prāptasya vibhaktyudāttasya na gośvansāvavarṇeti pratiṣedhaḥ | aghnyam | ghno hananaṃ | ghañarthe kavidhānam | pā. 3-3-58-4 | iti kaḥ | gamahanetyādinopadhālopaḥ | ho hanteḥ | pā. 7-3-54 | iti ghatvaṃ | tadarhatīti ghnyam | chandasi ceti yaḥ | na ghnyamaghnyam | avyayepūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvam | krīḷādayo gatāḥ | jambhe | jabhi nāśane | jambhyate bhakṣyate 'neneti jambhamāsyaṃ | karaṇe ghañ | vavṛdhe | vṛdhu vṛddhau | liṭ | chāndasaṃ saṃhitāyāmabhyāsadīrghatvam ‖

(The tail on p. 266 is printed from "dīrghaḥ" on; Pā. 3-3-58-4 is a vārtika number.)

Translation: "Goṣu — in the cows, [that is] in the milch cows such as Pṛśni, the mothers of the Maruts ('from Pṛśni's milk the Maruts were born', Tai. Saṃ. 2-2-11-4, from another Vedic text): aghnyam — indestructible, krīḷam — endowed with sport, mārutam — belonging to the Maruts, śardhaḥ — that energy whose nature is overpowering — yat — which exists: praise (śaṃsa = stuhi) that, O company of priests. Rasasya — that energy relating to the [rasa, the] milk of the cow, jambhe, in the mouth or belly, vavṛdhe — grew."

Pratipadārtha (p. 266) — "goṣu — (O priests) in the milch cows, beginning with Pṛśni, who are the mothers of the Maruts, [that is, in them]; aghnyam — indestructible; krīḷam — endowed with sport; mārutam — belonging to the Maruts; śardhaḥ — the energy that has the strength to restrain enemies; yat (asti) — whatever it is (with regard to that); pra śaṃsa — praise [with hymns]; rasasya — [that energy] which is nourished by the milk of the cows; jambhe — in the mouth; vavṛdhe — grew."

Bhāvārtha (p. 266) — "In the mouth of the Marut deities there is an extraordinary energy. That energy was nourished by the milk of the heavenly cows, Pṛśni and the rest, the mothers of the Maruts; for that very reason it has a divine radiance. It cannot be destroyed by enemies: it is indestructible, with the power to restrain enemies. Because it is always engaged in sport and enjoys itself, the Marut deities experience that joy, and by the help of that energy give joy to their devotees as well. Praise that divine energy, and sing hymns to it."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 266) — "Praise the sportive and resistless might of the Maruts who were born amongst cows and whose strength has been nourished by milk·" (the print ends with a raised dot).

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 266–267 - goṣu = marunmātṛbhūtapṛśniprabhṛtiṣu: "in the cows called Pṛśni, said to be the mothers of the Maruts. According to the Taittirīya Śruti statement 'pṛśnyai vai payaso marutaḥ jātāḥ' (Tai. Saṃ. 2-2-11-4) it is famed that the Marut deities were born from the milk of Pṛśni, the cow of the heavenly world."

Page 267

- śaṃsa — "for the convenience of the metre the a is long [śaṃsā] in the Saṃhitā text."
- aghnyam = ahantavyam: "that which cannot be killed; not to be harmed, and the like."
- jambhe = mukhe udare vā: "in the mouth or in the belly."
- rasasya = gokṣīrarūpasya sambandhi: "relating to the milk of the cow Pṛśni — the energy."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (p. 267, PDF 282 — grammar page, noted briefly) - śaṃsā: root śaṃsu stutau, loṭ, second-person singular; dvyacotastiṅaḥ — द्व्यचोऽतस्तिङः — in the Saṃhitā the a of a two-vowelled tiṅ-form is lengthened. - goṣu: "here the case-ending stands after the word go; the acute on the ending that would come by sāvekācas tṛtīyādir vibhaktiḥ is prohibited by na gośvansāvavarṇa… (quoted in part in the print)." - aghnyam: root han hiṃsāgatyoḥ; ghañarthe kavidhānam… (Pā. 3-3-58-4, vārtika): the suffix ka in the sense of ghañ; gamahanajanakhanaghasāṃ lopaḥ kṅity anaṅi — the penultimate a of the root is lost; ho hanter ñṇinneṣu — हो हन्तेर्ञ्णिन्नेषु — (Pā. 7-3-54): h becomes gh: ghna, "killing"; ghnam arhati iti ghnyam — "one fit for killing"; chandasi ca — छन्दसि च — (Pā. 5-1-67): yat in the Veda after a prātipadika in the second case in the sense arhati; na ghnyam = aghnyam, a nañ-tatpuruṣa; tatpuruṣe tulyārtha…: the first member, an indeclinable, keeps its natural accent — "the enumeration avyaye nañkunipātānām must not be forgotten." - krīḷam, śardhaḥ, mārutam: "explained in the first mantra of this sūkta." - jambhe: root jabhi nāśane, curādi; jabhyate = nāśyate 'nena iti jambham, "that by which things eaten are destroyed", that is, the instrument of eating — jambha = mouth; karaṇe ghañ. - vāvṛdhe [the Saṃhitā form of vavṛdhe]: root vṛdhu vṛddhau; liṭ, doubling; liṭas tajhayor eśirec: e; ur at — उरत् — (no number printed): a for the ṛ of the reduplicate, with raparatva; halādiḥ śeṣaḥ: loss of the r and dh; vavṛdh + e; kṅiti ca: no guṇa; the lengthening of the reduplicate in the Saṃhitā is Vedic. Rik 5 ends here (|| 5 ||).

Rik 37.6 (pp. 268–270, PDF 283–285)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 268)

को वो॒ वर्षि॑ष्ठ आ न॑रो दि॒वश्च॒ ग्मश्च॑ धू॒तयः॑ । यत्सी॒मन्तं॒ न धू॑नु॒थ ॥ ६ ॥ [accent ?]

kó vo várṣiṣṭha ā́ naro divaś ca gmáśca dhūtayaḥ | yát sīmántaṃ ná dhūnutha || 6 || [accent ?]

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. [accent ?]: in "dhūnutha" the print has a stroke over dhū and an underline under nu*, reproduced as they stand.)*

Pada-pāṭha (p. 268)

> कः । वः । वर्षिष्ठः । आ । नरः । दिवः । च । ग्मः । च । धूतयः ॥ यत् । सीम् । अन्तम् । न । धूनुथ ॥ ६ ॥

kaḥ | vaḥ | varṣiṣṭhaḥ | ā | naraḥ | divaḥ | ca | gmaḥ | ca | dhūtayaḥ || yat | sīm | antam | na | dhūnutha || 6 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 268, in full, with its grammatical tail)

> दिवश्च द्युलोकस्यापि ग्मश्च भूलोकस्यापि । गौर्ग्मेति भूनामसु पठितत्वात् । धूतयः कम्पनकारिणो हे नरो नेतारो मरुतो वो युष्माकं मध्य आ समन्ताद्वर्षिष्ठो वृद्धतमः कः । यद्यस्मात्कारणात्सीं सर्वतोऽन्तं न वृक्षाग्रमिव धूनुथ चालयथ । तस्मात्कारणात्कम्पयितॄणां युष्माकं मध्ये कः प्रबल इति प्रश्नः ॥ वर्षिष्ठः । वृद्धशब्दादिष्ठनि प्रियस्थिरेत्यादिना वर्षादेशः । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । ग्मः । ग्माशब्दात्षष्ठ्येकवचन आतो धातोरित्यत्र आत इति योगविभागः कर्तव्यः । का. ६-४-१४० । इत्युक्तत्वादाकारलोपः । उदात्तनिवृत्तिस्वरेण विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वम् । धूतयः । धूञ् कम्पने । क्तिच्क्तौ च संज्ञायामिति क्तिच् । तितुत्रेत्यादिनेट्प्रतिषेधः । आमन्त्रितस्य चेति सर्वानुदात्तत्वम् । धूनुथ । स्वादिभ्यः श्नुः । सति शिष्टस्वरबलीयस्त्वमन्यत्र विकरणेभ्य इति वचनात्सति शिष्टोऽपि विकरणस्वरो लसार्वधातुकस्वरं न बाधते । अतस्तिङ एव स्वरः । यद्वृत्तयोगादनिघातः ॥

divaśca dyulokasyāpi gmaśca bhūlokasyāpi | gaurgmeti bhūnāmasu paṭhitatvāt | dhūtayaḥ kampanakāriṇo he naro netāro maruto vo yuṣmākaṃ madhya ā samantādvarṣiṣṭho vṛddhatamaḥ kaḥ | yadyasmātkāraṇātsīṃ sarvato 'ntaṃ na vṛkṣāgramiva dhūnutha cālayatha | tasmātkāraṇātkampayitṝṇāṃ yuṣmākaṃ madhye kaḥ prabala iti praśnaḥ ‖ varṣiṣṭhaḥ | vṛddhaśabdādiṣṭhani priyasthiretyādinā varṣādeśaḥ | nittvādādyudāttaḥ | gmaḥ | gmāśabdātṣaṣṭhyekavacana āto dhātorityatra āta iti yogavibhāgaḥ kartavyaḥ | kā. 6-4-140 | ityuktatvādākāralopaḥ | udāttanivṛttisvareṇa vibhakterudāttatvam | dhūtayaḥ | dhūñ kampane | kticktau ca saṃjñāyāmiti ktic | titutretyādineṭpratiṣedhaḥ | āmantritasya ceti sarvānudāttatvam | dhūnutha | svādibhyaḥ śnuḥ | sati śiṣṭasvarabalīyastvamanyatra vikaraṇebhya iti vacanātsati śiṣṭo 'pi vikaraṇasvaro lasārvadhātukasvaraṃ na bādhate | atastiṅa eva svaraḥ | yadvṛttayogādanighātaḥ ‖

Translation: "Divaḥ ca — of the heavenly world — and gmaḥ ca — of the earthly world ('gauḥ', 'gmā' being read among the names of the earth) — dhūtayaḥ — O shakers — naraḥ — leaders, Maruts: among you ā — all round — who is varṣiṣṭhaḥ, the greatest, the most grown? Yat — since you sīm — on all sides — antam na dhūnutha — shake, set in motion, as it were the tip of a tree: therefore, among you who shake, who is the mighty one? — such is the question."

Grammar within the bhāṣya (p. 268, characterized): varṣiṣṭhaḥ (iṣṭhan after vṛddha; priyasthirasphirorubahulaguruvṛddha…: varṣi in place of vṛddha; nit, so first-syllable acute); gmaḥ (sixth-case singular of gmā; the sūtra āto dhātoḥ is to be divided so that ātaḥ is a separate rule, as stated (Kā. 6-4-140): the ā is lost on that statement; the ending is acute by the udāttanivṛtti accent); dhūtayaḥ (dhūñ kampane; ktic; titutra…: no iṭ; āmantritasya ca: wholly unaccented); dhūnutha (śnu; the maxim that an accent remaining [śiṣṭa] is stronger except against vikaraṇa-accents — so the vikaraṇa's accent does not override the lasārvadhātuka accent; therefore the tiṅ alone has the accent; no lowering, since yat is connected).

Pratipadārtha (pp. 268–269) — "divaḥ ca — of the heaven-world also; gmaḥ ca — of the earth-world also; dhūtayaḥ — [you who are] the shakers, who make both worlds tremble; naraḥ — O heroic Maruts; yat — for which reason; sīm — all round [on both worlds]; antam na — as the tip [of a tree is easily made to shake]; dhūnutha — you shake (for that reason, by that powerful host); vaḥ — among you; ā — such; varṣiṣṭhaḥ — the eldest, the most powerful; kaḥ — who?"

Bhāvārtha (p. 269) — "O Maruts, your prowess is beyond that of man. As easily as one can shake the top of a tree, with that same ease, without any effort, you make heaven and earth tremble. Though all of you are endowed with extraordinary strength, the strength of your leader must be greater than that of all. Who is that leader among you, of great prowess, who gives you encouragement?"

English Translation (the source's own, p. 269) — "Agitators of heaven and earth, who is chief leader among you who shake all around like the top of tree ?" (printed so, with "who" in raised type at "whᵒ"; no full stop).

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 269 - varṣiṣṭhaḥ = vṛddhatamaḥ: "the most strong, the one endowed with the greatest power, the chief leader, the very mighty." - gmaś ca — "of the earth. Since the word gmā is read among the twenty-one names of the earth beginning with gauḥ, gmā (Ni. 2-5 [?] as printed; the second digit read as ೫), gmaḥ means 'of the earth'. It is the sixth-case singular of gmā." - dhūtayaḥ, dhūnutha = dhūñ kampane: "as the swiftly blowing wind shakes trees and the like with ease, so the Marut deities are able with ease to shake the heavenly world and the earth: this is the chief sense."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 269–270, PDF 283–284 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - varṣiṣṭha (p. 269): "in the sense of excess, after vṛddha, atiśāyane tamabiṣṭhanau gives iṣṭhan [printed iṣṭhan (೨೭೯೯)]; priyasthirasphirorubahulaguruvṛddha… — प्रियस्थिरस्फिरोरुबहुलगुरुवृद्ध… — (printed Pā. 6-4-57 [as printed; for 6-4-157]): varṣi replaces vṛddha before iṣṭhan etc.; the suffix iṣṭhan is nit, hence the word is first-syllable acute."

- gmaḥ (p. 270): after gmā, the sixth-case singular, printed jas [sic]; gmā + as; āto dhātoḥ — आतो धातोः — (Pā. 6-4-140): "here āt is divided off as a separate rule; its sense is that the ā which forms the end of a bha-named base is lost"; thereby the ā of gmā is lost; anudāttasya ca yatrodāttalopaḥ — the ending is acute through the udāttanivṛtti accent.
- dhūtayaḥ: root dhūñ kampane, svādi; ktic ktau ca saṃjñāyām: ktic; titutra…: no iṭ for ti; āmantritasya ca — the eighth adhyāya's (no number printed): wholly unaccented.
- dhūnutha: root dhūñ, laṭ, second-person plural tha; svādibhyaḥ śnuḥ — स्वादिभ्यः श्नुः — (Pā. 3-1-73): śnu as the vikaraṇa; dhū + nu + tha; since the śnu comes at the end the accent that comes to it is satiśiṣṭa; the dictum satiśiṣṭasvarabalīyastvam anyatra vikaraṇebhyaḥ — "the satiśiṣṭa accent is stronger, except against the vikaraṇas" — means the accent from the vikaraṇa is not stronger; the accent of the tiṅ alone remains. Yat sīmantam: the relative yat is connected, so yadvṛttānnityam forbids the wholly-unaccented. Rik 6 ends here (|| 6 ||).

Rik 37.7 (pp. 270–273, PDF 285–288)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 270)

नि वो॒ यामा॑य मानु॒षो द॒ध्र उ॒ग्राय॑ म॒न्यवे॑ । जिही॑त॒ पर्व॑तो गि॒रिः ॥ ७ ॥

ni vo yā́māya mā́nuṣo dadhrá ugrā́ya manyáve | jihīta párvato giríḥ || 7 ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 270)

नि । वः । यामाय । मानुषः । दध्रे । उग्राय । मन्यवे ॥ जिहीत । पर्वतः । गिरिः ॥ ७ ॥

ni | vaḥ | yāmāya | mānuṣaḥ | dadhre | ugrāya | manyave || jihīta | parvataḥ | giriḥ || 7 ||

(The Saṃhitā's "dadhra ugrāya" is the Pada's dadhre | ugrāya*, with* e changed to a before the vowel, by Vedic sandhi.)

Page 271

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 271, in full, with its grammatical tail)

हे मरुतो वो युष्माकं यामाय गमनार्थं मानुषो गृहस्वामी कश्चिन्मनुजो नि दध्रे । गृहदाढ्यर्थं दृढं स्तम्भं निक्षिप्तवान् । भवदीयगमनेन चालितं गृहं पतिष्यतीति भीत्या तन्निवारणाय दृढस्तम्भप्रक्षेपः । कीदृशाय यामाय । उग्राय तीव्राय मन्यवे चालनार्थमभिमन्यमानाय । युज्यते हि भवद्गमनाद्भीतिः । यतो भवद्गत्या चालितः पर्वतो बहुविधपर्वयुक्तो गिरिः शिखरी जिहीत गच्छेत् ॥ मानुषः । मनोर्जातावञ्यतौ षुक् च । पा. ४-१-१६१ । इति मनुशब्दादपत्यार्थेऽञ् षुगागमश्च । ञ्नित्यादिर्नित्यमित्याद्युदात्तत्वम् । दध्रे । धृञ् अवस्थान इत्यस्य लिटि कित्त्वाद्गुणाभावे सति यणादेशः । प्रत्ययस्वरः । पादादित्वान्न निघातः । जिहीत । ओहाङ् गतौ लिङ् जुहोत्यादित्वाच्छपः श्लुः । भृञामित् । पा. ७-४-७६ । इत्यभ्यासस्येत्वम् । शाभ्यस्तयोरात इत्याकारलोपः । पर्ववान् पर्वतः । मत्वर्थीयस्तप्रत्ययः ॥

he maruto vo yuṣmākaṃ yāmāya gamanārthaṃ mānuṣo gṛhasvāmī kaścinmanujo ni dadhre | gṛhadārḍhyārthaṃ dṛḍhaṃ stambhaṃ nikṣiptavān | bhavadīyagamanena cālitaṃ gṛhaṃ patiṣyatīti bhītyā tannivāraṇāya dṛḍhastambhaprakṣepaḥ | kīdṛśāya yāmāya | ugrāya tīvrāya manyave cālanārthamabhimanyamānāya | yujyate hi bhavadgamanādbhītiḥ | yato bhavadgatyā cālitaḥ parvato bahuvidhaparvayukto giriḥ śikharī jihīta gacchet || mānuṣaḥ | manorjātāvañyatau ṣuk ca | pā. 4-1-161 | iti manuśabdādapatyārthe 'ñ ṣugāgamaśca | ñnityādirnityamityādyudāttatvam | dadhre | dhṛñ avasthāna ityasya liṭi kittvādguṇābhāve sati yaṇādeśaḥ | pratyayasvaraḥ | pādāditvānna nighātaḥ | jihīta | ohāṅ gatau liṅ juhotyāditvācchapaḥ śluḥ | bhṛñāmit | pā. 7-4-76 | ityabhyāsasyetvam | śābhyastayorāta ityākāralopaḥ | parvavān parvataḥ | matvarthīyastapratyayaḥ ||

Translation: "O Maruts, for your yāma, your going, mānuṣaḥ — some man, a householder — ni dadhre — has set down, driven, a firm post, to make his house firm: the planting of the firm post is in fear that the house, shaken by your going, may fall, and to prevent this. For what yāma? Ugrāya manyave — [your going which is] fierce, keen, bent on shaking. Fear at your going is indeed fitting: parvataḥ, the mountain [that has] many kinds of joints (parva) — giriḥ, the peaked mountain, being shaken by your passage, jihīta — goes [= is shattered]."

Grammar within the bhāṣya (p. 271, characterized): mānuṣaḥ (manor jātāv añyatau ṣuk ca — Pā. 4-1-161: añ with the augment ṣuk after manu in the sense of descendant; ñnityādir nityam: first-syllable acute); dadhre (the root's liṭ is kit, so no guṇa and yaṇ for the vowel; suffix accent; no lowering because the word begins a pāda [pādāditvāt]); jihīta (ohāṅ gatau; liṅ; śap → ślu as the root belongs to the juhotyādi; bhṛñām it — Pā. 7-4-76 — i for the reduplicate vowel; śābhyastayor ātaḥ: loss of the ā); parvataḥ (parva asyāsti, the mat-sense suffix ta [as read]).

Pratipadārtha (p. 271) — "vaḥ — (O Maruts) your; ugrāya — fierce; manyave — [that has] a tendency to shake firmly; yāmāya — for the going (so that in the time of your going the house should not fall by shaking); mānuṣaḥ — the man (the householder); ni dadhre — has set a post (to hold the house); parvataḥ — [the one] with many ridges; giriḥ — the mountain too; jihīta — would be shattered (by your violence)."

Bhāvārtha (p. 271) — "O Maruts, when your self-established prowess makes all of earth and sky tremble, and the mountain on the earth, shattered, goes before your power, it is natural that the helpless man should be afraid at the time of your going. Yet, since your going is to his benefit, without obstructing it, he has set a post to his house, so that during your fierce and steadily shaking passage it may not fall down by trembling."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 271) — "The house-holder, in dread of your fierce and violent approach has planted a firm post ; for even the mountain with many ridges is shattered by you·" (the print ends with a raised dot).

Rik 37.7 (continued) — Special Topics and grammar (pp. 272–273, PDF 287–288)

Page 272

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 272 - Main idea — "The Maruts blow with great speed and terror, so that even the mountain-tops, unable to withstand their force, shake. When that is so, how can the houses in which men live stand firm? For that very reason men set up strong posts in their houses, so that the houses may not be shaken by the wind that blows with great violence, to keep their houses firm."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 272–273, PDF 287–288 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - mānuṣaḥ: manor jātāv añyatau ṣuk ca — मनोर्जातावञ्यतौ षुक् च — (Pā. 4-1-161): after the base manu, in the sense of jāti, the suffixes añ and yat come, and the augment ṣuk is added to manu; with añ and the augment ṣuk at its end: mānuṣa. "The person who has completed his Vedic study and performs the works enjoined by the Veda is indicated by the word mānuṣa; if he is not so, one should say māṇava." The print cites a verse in support, which I read as:

अपत्ये कुत्सिते मूढे मनोरौत्सर्गिकः स्मृतः । नकारस्य च मूर्धन्यस्तेन सिद्ध्यति माणवः ॥

apatye kutsite mūḍhe manor autsargikaḥ smṛtaḥ | nakārasya ca mūrdhanyas tena siddhyati māṇavaḥ ||

"[In the sense of] a descendant who is contemptible or foolish, the general [suffix] after manu is held [to apply], and the cerebral for the n: by that māṇava is formed." (Translation mine and tentative.) "By this statement the point made above is established." "Ñnityādir nityam — first-syllable acute." - dadhre: root dhṛñ avasthāne; liṭ, ta, e (liṭas tajhayor eśirec); doubling: dhṛ + dhṛ + e; ur at — उरत् — (no number given): a for the ṛ of the reduplicate, with raparatva; the loss of the reduplicate's final and jaś-substitution: dadhṛ + e; kṅiti ca — क्ङिति च — bars guṇa; yaṇ; because the word stands at the beginning of a pāda, tiṅ ṅatiṅaḥ does not make it wholly unaccented; the suffix-accent alone holds. - jihīta: root ohāṅ gatau; liṅ, ta; liṅaḥ sīyuṭ — the augment sīyuṭ; yalopa [loss of y] and loss of s: hā + īta; juhotyādibhyaḥ śluḥ — जुहोत्यादिभ्यः श्लुः — (Pā. 2-4-75): ślu for śap; ślau — श्लौ — (Pā. 6-1-10): doubling: hā + hā + īta; bhṛñām it — भृञामित् — (Pā. 7-4-76): i for the reduplicate of bhṛ, māṅ, ohāṅ when ślu has come: hi + hā + īta; kuhoś cuḥ: h → j; śnābhyastayor ātaḥ — श्नाभ्यस्तयोरातः — (Pā. 6-4-112): the ā of śnā and of an abhyasta base is lost before a kit or ñit sārvadhātuka; "the ī which ī hali aghoḥ — ई हल्यघोः — (Pā. 6-4-113) enjoins for a consonant-initial sārvadhātuka

(continued, p. 273) does not come here; since this latter is a special rule, it is an exception to the former, and so when a vowel-initial suffix follows, the former rule operates." - parvataḥ: after parva, the suffix ta in the sense of matup. Rik 7 ends here (|| 7 ||).

Rik 37.8 (pp. 273–276, PDF 288–291)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 273)

येषाम॒ज्मेषु पृथि॒वी जु॑जु॒र्वाँ इ॑व वि॒श्पतिः॑ । भि॒या यामे॑षु रेज॑ते ॥ ८ ॥

yeṣām ajméṣu pṛthivī jujurvā̃ṁ iva viśpátiḥ | bhiyā́ yā́meṣu réjate || 8 ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. The anusvāra-sign of "jujurvāṁ" is printed as a dot over the rvā*.)*

Pada-pāṭha (p. 273)

येषाम् । अज्मेषु । पृथिवी । जुजुर्वान्ऽइव । विश्पतिः ॥ भिया । यामेषु । रेजते ॥ ८ ॥

yeṣām | ajmeṣu | pṛthivī | jujurvān-iva | viśpatiḥ || bhiyā | yāmeṣu | rejate || 8 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (pp. 273–274, in full, with its grammatical tail)

हे मरुतो येषां युष्माकं यामेषु गमनेष्वज्मेषु क्षेपकेषु सत्सु पृथिवी भूमिः रेजते कम्पते । तत्र दृष्टान्तः । जुजुर्वाँ इव विश्पतिः । यथा वयोहानिरोगादिना जीर्णः प्रजापालको राजा वैरिभयोत्कम्पते तद्वत् ॥ अज्मेषु । अज गतिक्षेपणयोः । बहुलग्रहणादौणादिको मन् । अजेर्व्यघञपोः । पा. २-४-५६ । इति वीभावो न भवति । वलादावार्धधातुके विकल्प इष्यते । का. २-४-५६-२ । इति वचनात् ।

नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वम् । जुजुर्वान् । ज्याष् वयोहानौ । लिटः क्वसुः । बहुलं छन्दसि । पा. ७-१-१०३ । इत्युत्वम् । अभ्यासहलादिशेषौ । वस्वेकाजाद्धसामिति नियमादिडागमाभावः । ऋच्छत्यृताम् । पा. ७-४-११ । इति गुणो हलि चेति दीर्घत्वं च संज्ञापूर्वको विधिरनित्य इति वचनान्न भवति । विशां पतिर्विश्पतिः । पत्यावैश्वर्य इति पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरे प्राप्ते परादिश्छन्दसि बहुलमित्युत्तरपदाद्युदात्तत्वम् । भिया । सावेकाच इति विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वं । यामेषु । यमु उपरमे । भावे घञ् । कर्षात्वत इति घञोऽन्तोदात्तत्वे प्राप्ते वृषादिषु पाठादाद्युदात्तत्वम् । रेजते । रेजृ कम्पने । अदुपदेशाल्लसार्वधातुकानुदात्तत्वे धातुस्वरः । यद्वृत्तयोगादनिघातः ॥

he maruto yeṣāṃ yuṣmākaṃ yāmeṣu gamaneṣvajmeṣu kṣepakeṣu satsu pṛthivī bhūmiḥ rejate kampate | tatra dṛṣṭāntaḥ | jujurvā~ iva viśpatiḥ | yathā vayohānirogādinā jīrṇaḥ prajāpālako rājā vairibhayotkampate tadvat || ajmeṣu | aja gatikṣepaṇayoḥ | bahulagrahaṇādauṇādiko man | ajervyaghañapoḥ | pā. 2-4-56 | iti vībhāvo na bhavati | valādāvārdhadhātuke vikalpa iṣyate | kā. 2-4-56-2 | iti vacanāt | nittvādādyudāttatvam | jujurvān | jyāṣ vayohānau | liṭaḥ kvasuḥ | bahulaṃ chandasi | pā. 7-1-103 | ityutvam | abhyāsahalādiśeṣau | vasvekājādghasāmiti niyamādiḍāgamābhāvaḥ | ṛcchatyṛtām | pā. 7-4-11 | iti guṇo hali ceti dīrghatvaṃ ca saṃjñāpūrvako vidhiranitya iti vacanānna bhavati | viśāṃ patirviśpatiḥ | patyāvaiśvarya iti pūrvapadaprakṛtisvare prāpte parādiśchandasi bahulamityuttarapadādyudāttatvam | bhiyā | sāvekāca iti vibhakterudāttatvaṃ | yāmeṣu | yamu uparame | bhāve ghañ | karṣātvata iti ghaño 'ntodāttatve prāpte vṛṣādiṣu pāṭhādādyudāttatvam | rejate | rejṛ kampane | adupadeśāllasārvadhātukānudāttatve dhātusvaraḥ | yadvṛttayogādanighātaḥ ||

(The root is printed jyāṣ*, the root* jyā "to grow old" with an indicatory ṣ*. The tail runs on to p. 274 from "...niyamād iḍāgamābhāvaḥ".)*

Translation: "O Maruts, yeṣām — of you whose — yāmeṣu — goings — being ajmeṣu — throwers [= violent] — pṛthivī, the earth, rejate — trembles. The illustration is jujurvāṁ̃ iva viśpatiḥ: as a king, the protector of his people, worn out by age, loss of strength, disease and the like, trembles through fear of enemies, so [the earth]."

Grammar within the bhāṣya (pp. 273–274, characterized): ajmeṣu (the Uṇādi suffix man, by the word bahulam; the substitution of vī for aj does not occur; it is optional before a valādi ārdhadhātuka; nit, so first-syllable acute); jujurvān (the root jyā, vayohānau; liṭ → kvasu; the Vedic u; the reduplicate cut down; no iṭ by vasvekājāḍghasām; the guṇa and the lengthening that ṛcchatyṛtām and halica would give do not arise, since a rule that depends on a technical term is not constant); viśpatiḥ (viśāṃ patiḥ; the first-member accent that patyāv aiśvarye would give is set aside by parādiś chandasi bahulam: first-syllable acute for the second member); bhiyā (the ending acute by sāvekācaḥ...); yāmeṣu (yamu uparame, bhāve ghañ; first-syllable acute by the vṛṣādi listing, in place of the final-acute of karṣātvato ghañaḥ); rejate (rejṛ kampane; the root accent; no lowering because the relative is connected).

Page 274

Pratipadārtha (p. 274) — "yeṣām — (O Maruts) which your; yāmeṣu — goings; ajmeṣu — [that throw all down] with violence; jujurvān iva — like [a king] with a body decayed by age and disease; viśpatiḥ — the king, protector of the people; bhiyā — through fear (as he trembles); pṛthivī — the earth; rejate — trembles."

Bhāvārtha (p. 274) — “The earth, too, trembles before the violence of your goings, which are fierce and throw all down. Seeing this, [one might say] that, as a king who protects his people, his body decayed by age and disease, trembles with fear on seeing his powerful enemy, the earth seems to tremble before your prowess.”

English Translation (the source’s own, p. 274) — “O Maruts, at your approach (at whose aproach) even the earth trembles like a king weak and ehfeebled with age tbrough dread of his enemies” (printed so, with “aproach”, “ehfeebled” and “tbrough” [sic]; no full stop).

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 274–275 - ajmeṣu = aja gatikṣepaṇayoḥ: “in your goings, or by your goings: that is, when you come near, blowing terribly.” - jujurvān iva = jyā vayohānau: “like a king decayed by age, old, grown old with age: who, unable to fight powerful enemies, trembles for fear of them.”

Page 275

- viśpatiḥ = viśāṃ prajānāṃ patiḥ: “the protector of the people, the king.”
- yāmeṣu = yamu uparame: “from the goings that come near; that is, when [they] have come near.”

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 275–276, PDF 290–291 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - ajmeṣu (p. 275): root aja gatikṣepaṇayoḥ; “by the word bahulam in uṇādayo bahulam the Uṇādi suffix man comes”; ajer vyaghañapoḥ — अजेर्व्यघञपोः — (Pā. 2-4-56): vī is substituted for aj before an ārdhadhātuka, except before ghañ and ap; “here, from the sūtra vā liṭi (Pā. 2-4-55), the word vā (‘optionally’) is carried on; and so we resort to the vyavasthitavibhāṣā — the fixed option: in an option there are two parts, presence (bhāva) and absence (abhāva); in some places the operation applies only to the presence part, in some only to the absence part, and in others to both”; “so, when ghañ or ap follows, only the absence part holds (no vī); before lyuṭ and before valādi ārdhadhātuka [suffixes] both parts hold; elsewhere the presence part: this is established [the print adds that both the Mahābhāṣya and the Śekhara state that the words aghañapoḥ need not be said in this sūtra]. In the present case man is a valādi ārdhadhātuka; here, the vī-substitution being optional, it does not come. Being nit, [the word] is first-syllable acute.” - jujurvān: root jyā [jyāṣ, as printed] vayohānau; liṭ → kvasu; bahulaṃ chandasi — बहुलं छन्दसि — (Pā. 7-1-103): u [for the vowel] comes variably in the Veda: u, then raparatva: jur + vas; vasvekājāḍghasām — वस्वेकाजाद्घसाम् — no iṭ by the restriction; doubling; loss of the r of the reduplicate; jujur + vas; hali ca — हलि च — (Pā. 8-2-77): lengthening of the penultimate ik of a base ending in r or v, and the guṇa that ṛcchatyṛtām teaches [for the ṛ], would be expected; but, taking the rule saṃjñāpūrvako vidhir anityaḥ (“a rule that has a technical term as its antecedent is not constant”), these do not arise here. - viśpatiḥ: viśāṃ patiḥ; patyāv aiśvarye — पत्यावैश्वर्ये — (Pā. 6-2-18): the first member keeps its natural accent in a tatpuruṣa with pati in the sense of lordship; but this is set aside by parādiś chandasi bahulam — परादिश्छन्दसि बहुलम् — (Pā. 6-2-199): the second member is first-syllable acute. - bhiyā: sāvekācas tṛtīyādir vibhaktiḥ — the ending is acute. - yāmeṣu (pp. 275–276): yamu uparame; bhāve ghañ, upadhā-vṛddhi: a ghañ-ending word; karṣātvato ghañor ’nta udāttaḥ — कर्षात्वतो घञोऽन्त उदात्तः — (Pā. 6-1-159) would make it final-acute;

(continued, p. 276) but since yāma is read in the vṛṣādi group, vṛṣādināṃ ca gives first-syllable acute. - rejate (p. 276): root rejṛ kampane; śap being an adupadeśa [an a-final element], the te after it is unaccented by tāsyanudāttet…, so the root's accent stays; the relative being connected, there is no wholly-unaccented accent. Rik 8 ends here (|| 8 ||).

Rik 37.9 (pp. 276–278, PDF 291–293)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 276)

स्थि॒रं हि जान॑मेषा॒ वयो॑ मा॒तुर्नि॒रेत॑वे । यत्सी॒मनु॑ द्वि॒ता शवः॑ ॥ ९ ॥

sthiráṃ hi jā́nam eṣā́ṃ váyo mātúr nirétave | yát sīmánu dvitā́ śávaḥ || 9 ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 276)

स्थिरम् । हि । जानम् । एषाम् । वयः । मातुः । निःऽएतवे ॥ यत् । सीम् । अनु । द्विता । शवः ॥ ९ ॥

sthiram | hi | jānam | eṣām | vayaḥ | mātuḥ | niḥ-etave || yat | sīm | anu | dvitā | śavaḥ || 9 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 276, in full, with its grammatical tail)

एषां मरुतां जानं जन्मस्थानमाकाशं स्थिरं हि । चलनरहितं खलु । मातुर्मरुतां जननीस्थानीयादाकाशाद्वयः पक्षिणो निरेतवे निर्गन्तुं समर्था भवन्तीति शेषः । तादृशादाकाशाद्भवञ्जन्मेति मरुतां स्तुतिः । यद्यस्मात्कारणाच्छवो भवदीयं बलमनुक्रमेण सीं सर्वतो द्विता द्वित्वेन द्यावापृथिव्योर्विभज्य वर्तते । अतो भवदीयं जानं स्थिरं हीति पूर्वत्रान्वयः ॥ जानम् । जन्यतेऽस्मिन्निति जानमन्तरिक्षम् । अधिकरणे घञ् । एषाम् । इदमोऽन्वादेश इत्येशादेशोऽनुदात्तः । विभक्तिश्च सुप्त्वादनुदात्ता । न चोडिदमित्यादिना विभक्त्युदात्तत्वम् । अन्तोदात्तादिदंशब्दात्तस्य विधानात् । निरेतवे । इण् गतौ । तुमर्थे सेसेनिति तवेन्प्रत्ययः । तादौ चेति गतेः प्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् ॥

eṣāṃ marutāṃ jānaṃ janmasthānam ākāśaṃ sthiraṃ hi | calanarahitaṃ khalu | mātur marutāṃ jananīsthānīyād ākāśād vayaḥ pakṣiṇo niretave nirgantuṃ samarthā bhavantīti śeṣaḥ | tādṛśād ākāśād bhavajjanmeti marutāṃ stutiḥ | yad yasmāt kāraṇāc chavo bhavadīyaṃ balam anukrameṇa sīṃ sarvato dvitā dvitvena dyāvāpṛthivyor vibhajya vartate | ato bhavadīyaṃ jānaṃ sthiraṃ hīti pūrvatrānvayaḥ || jānam | janyate 'smin iti jānam antarikṣam | adhikaraṇe ghañ | eṣām | idamo 'nvādeśa ity eśādeśo 'nudāttaḥ | vibhaktiś ca suptvād anudāttā | na coḍidam ity ādinā vibhaktyudāttatvam | antodāttād idaṃśabdāt tasya vidhānāt | niretave | iṇ gatau | tumarthe seseneti tavenpratyayaḥ | tādau ceti gateḥ prakṛtisvaratvam ||

Translation: "Eṣām — of these Maruts — jānam, the birth-place, the sky, is sthiram — firm, indeed without movement. Mātuḥ — from the sky, which stands in the place of the Maruts' mother — vayaḥ, the birds, niretave — [are] able to go out: so it is to be supplied. So, praising the Maruts: 'your birth is from such a sky'. Yat — for this reason — śavaḥ — your strength — anukrameṇa — successively — sīm — on all sides — dvitā — in two parts — it rests, dividing heaven and earth. Therefore: 'your jāna is firm' — the connection with what went before."

Grammar within the bhāṣya (p. 276, characterized): jānam (janyate 'smin, adhikaraṇe ghañ); eṣām (the eś substitute for idam in the anvādeśa is unaccented; the ending is unaccented as a sup; the acute of the ending that ūḍidam… would give does not arise, since the rule applies only to an idam that is final-acute); niretave (iṇ gatau; tumarthe sasenasen…: the suffix tavenḥ; tādau ca niti kṛtyatau: nir keeps its natural accent).

Page 277

Pratipadārtha (p. 277) — "eṣām — of these (Maruts); jānam — the sky, [their] birth-place; sthiram hi — [is] firm, devoid of movement; mātuḥ — from the sky [which is your mother, the place of birth]; vayaḥ — birds; niretave — to come out and move about [are enabled]; yat — for which reason; śavaḥ — your strength; anukrameṇa — in succession; sīm — all round; dvitā — in both worlds, heaven and earth, in two parts; [pervades]."

Bhāvārtha (p. 277) — "O Maruts, your prowess is uncommon. For the sky, your birth-place, is by nature firm and without movement, and yet by your power it becomes the support of movement. The birds are enabled to come out from the sky, the place of your birth, and to move about. Your prowess pervades the two worlds, heaven and earth, in two parts."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 277) — "The sky which is your birth place is firm and does not shake ; in that sky the birds are always able to fly ; your strength is divided between earth and heaven·" (the print ends with a raised dot).

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 277 - jānam = janmasthānam: "janyate 'smin iti jānam antarikṣam — 'that in which one is born': the sky; the birth-place of the Marut deities is said to be the sky." - vayaḥ = pakṣiṇaḥ: "birds."* - niretave = nirgantum*: "to go out; that is, to fly away." - dvitā — "dividing into two: that is, since the sky stands between the earth and the heavenly world, it makes the earth and heaven separate, that is, it makes two [of them]: such is the sense." - śavaḥ — "strength, power."

Page 278

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (p. 278, PDF 293 — grammar page, noted briefly) - jānam: janyate 'smin iti jānam — "in it, origin takes place; the sky, the support of origin, is indicated by this word"; halaś ca — हलश्च — (Pā. 3-3-121): ghañ in the locus sense. - eṣām: after idam, the genitive plural ām; tyadādīnām aḥ — त्यदादीनामः — (Pā. 7-2-102): before a vibhakti the final of the words from tyad to dvi is replaced by a: ida + ām; idamo 'nvādeśe 'śanudāttas tṛtīyādau (Pā. 2-4-32): when a vibhakti from the third on follows, in the anvādeśa [idam] takes aś, which is unaccented; the ś is a marker: a + ām. "Anvādeśa means the repeated mention, for a further operation, of a term already used for one operation: for example anena vyākaraṇam adhītam, enaṃ chando 'dhyāpaya." Āmi sarvanāmnaḥ suṭ — आमि सर्वनाम्नः सुट् — (Pā. 7-1-52): the augment suṭ for ām; bahuvacane jhalyet — बहुवचने झल्येत् — (Pā. 7-3-103): a → e; ādeśapratyayayoḥ: ṣatva: eṣām; the a that comes by aś is unaccented; ām is a sup and so unaccented by anudāttau suppitau: thus eṣām is wholly unaccented. "One might say that the ending after idam should be acute by ūḍidaṃ padādy… (Pā. 6-1-171); but from sāvekācaḥ (Pā. 6-1-168) the word ekācaḥ and from antodāttāt (Pā. 6-1-169) the word antodāttāt — the two words — are carried forward: so the sense is that the ending after the words ūṭ etc., which are one-vowelled and final-acute, is acute; here, since the aś that has come for idam is unaccented, there is no final-acute idam-word, and the ām ending does not get the acute." - niretave: nir the preverb; iṇ gatau; tumarthe sasenase… — the suffix tavenḥ; guṇa; tādau ca niti kṛtyatau: nir keeps its natural accent. Rik 9 ends here (|| 9 ||).

Rik 37.10 (pp. 279–281, PDF 294–296)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 279)

> उदु त्ये सूनवो गिरः काष्ठा अज्मेष्वत्नत । वाश्रा अभिज्ञु यातवे ॥ १० ॥

udu tyé sūnávo giráḥ kāṣṭhā ajméṣvatnata | vāśrā́ abhijñú yā́tave || 10 ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed (underline under ṣṭhā of kāṣṭhā, stroke over jme*); Pada unaccented.)*

Pada-pāṭha (p. 279)

> उत् । ऊं इति । त्ये । सूनवः । गिरः । काष्ठाः । अज्मेषु । अत्नत ॥ वाश्राः । अभिऽज्ञु । यातवे ॥ १० ॥

ut | ūṃ iti | tye | sūnavaḥ | giraḥ | kāṣṭhāḥ | ajmeṣu | atnata || vāśrāḥ | abhi-jñu | yātave || 10 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 279, in full, with its grammatical tail; varga 13 closes here)

> त्ये पूर्वप्रकृता गिरः सूनवो वाच उत्पादका मरुतः । वायवो हि ताल्वोष्ठादिषु सञ्चरन्तो वाचमुत्पादयन्ति । अज्मेषु स्वकीयेषु गमनेषु सत्सु काष्ठा अपः । आपोऽपि काष्ठा उच्यन्ते क्रान्त्वा स्थिता भवन्ति । नि. २-१५ । इति यास्कः । उदु उत्कर्षेणैवात्नत । अतनिषत । विस्तारितवन्तः । उदकं विस्तार्य तत्पानार्थं वाश्रा हम्भारवोपेता गा अभिज्ञु जान्वभिमुखं यथा भवति तथा यातवे गन्तुं प्रेरितवन्त इति शेषः ॥ सूनवः । षूङ् प्रेरणे । सुवः कित् । उ. ३-३५ । इति नुप्रत्ययः । कित्त्वाद्गुणाभावः । अत्नत । तनु विस्तारे । लङि झस्यादादेशे बहुलं छन्दसीति विकरणस्य लुक् । तनिपत्योश्छन्दसि । पा. ६-४-९९ । इत्युपधालोपः । अडागमः । अभिज्ञु । अभिगते जानुनी यस्य तदभिज्ञु । प्रसम्भ्यां जानुनोर्ज्ञुः । पा. ५-४-१२९ । इति व्यत्ययेनाभिपूर्वस्यापि जानुशब्दस्य ज्ञुशब्दादेशः समासान्तः । यातवे । तुमर्थे सेसेनिति तवेन्प्रत्ययः । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वम् ॥

tye pūrvaprakṛtā giraḥ sūnavo vāca utpādakā marutaḥ | vāyavo hi tālvoṣṭhādiṣu sañcaranto vācamutpādayanti | ajmeṣu svakīyeṣu gamaneṣu satsu kāṣṭhā apaḥ | āpo 'pi kāṣṭhā ucyante krāntvā sthitā bhavanti | ni. 2-15 | iti yāskaḥ | udu utkarṣeṇaivātnata | ataniṣata | vistāritavantaḥ | udakaṃ vistārya tatpānārthaṃ vāśrā hambhāravopetā gā abhijñu jānvabhimukhaṃ yathā bhavati tathā yātave gantuṃ preritavanta iti śeṣaḥ ‖ sūnavaḥ | ṣūṅ preraṇe | suvaḥ kit | u. 3-35 | iti nupratyayaḥ | kittvādguṇābhāvaḥ | atnata | tanu vistāre | laṅi jhasyādādeśe bahulaṃ chandasīti vikaraṇasya luk | tanipatyośchandasi | pā. 6-4-99 | ityupadhālopaḥ | aḍāgamaḥ | abhijñu | abhigate jānunī yasya tadabhijñu | prasambhyāṃ jānunorjñuḥ | pā. 5-4-129 | iti vyatyayenābhipūrvasyāpi jānuśabdasya jñuśabdādeśaḥ samāsāntaḥ | yātave | tumarthe seseniti tavenpratyayaḥ | nittvādādyudāttatvam ‖

Translation: "Tye — those [Maruts] spoken of before — giraḥ sūnavaḥ, the producers of speech: for the winds, moving in the palate, the lips and so on, produce speech. Ajmeṣu — when there are their own goings — kāṣṭhāḥ, the waters ('waters also are called kāṣṭhāḥ: having gone, they stand', says Yāska, Ni. 2-13 [?]) — ud u atnata, they spread well, i.e. they made [them] spread. Having made the water spread, [they] urged the cows, bellowing for the sake of its place, abhijñu — as far as the knees — yātave, to go [in]: so it is to be supplied."

Grammar within the bhāṣya (p. 279, characterized): sūnavaḥ (ṣūṅ preraṇe; the Uṇādi nu after su, kit; so no guṇa); atnata (tanu vistāre; laṅ; the vikaraṇa is lost by bahulaṃ chandasi; tanipatyoś chandasi — Pā. 6-4-99 — the loss of the penultimate; the augment aṭ); abhijñu (abhigate jānunī yasya; prasambhyāṃ jānunor jñuḥ — Pā. 5-4-129 — jñu for jānu, as a compound-final, also after abhi by vyatyaya); yātave (tumarthe seseneti tavenpratyayaḥ; nit: first-syllable acute).

Pratipadārtha (p. 279) — "tye — those aforementioned; giraḥ sūnavaḥ — the Maruts, producers of words; ajmeṣu — at the times of their goings; kāṣṭhāḥ — the waters; ud u — well; atnata — made to spread; vāśrāḥ — the cows that [were] crying out [for water]; abhijñu — up to the knees; yātave — [urge them] to go [into the water]."

Page 280

Bhāvārtha (p. 280) — "The Maruts are the support of speech, of all beings. For human beings, and for other beings too, it is possible to make known their experiences, such as hunger and thirst, only with the help of the Maruts. And not only this: when beings make known their experiences by words, the Maruts, by their goings, spread the waters well and make them flow, and urge the cows that are lowing for water to enter the water up to their knees and drink."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 280) — "They are the generators of speech ; They spread out waters in their courses ; they urge the lowing cattle to enter the water up to their knees to drink" (no full stop).

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 280 - tye = te: "those mentioned before." - giraḥ sūnavaḥ = vāca utpādakāḥ: "in the organs inside the mouth — palate, lips and so on — speaking is possible by the movement of the air: this is the sense." - kāṣṭhāḥ = āpaḥ: "water. Since there is the Nirukta statement 'āpo 'pi kāṣṭhā ucyante' (Ni. 2-15), kāṣṭhāḥ means water." - atnata = atanisata, vistāritavantaḥ: "spread, flowed. Water flows everywhere (in the form of rain) with the help of the wind: such is the sense." - vāśrāḥ — "cows that are lowing." - abhijñu = abhigate jānunī yasya | jānvabhimukhyaṃ yathā bhavati tathā: "when cows go to water-places to drink water, they naturally go into the water as far as their knees and drink. Here it is not made clear how the Maruts urge the cows to drink water."

Page 281

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (p. 281, PDF 296 — grammar page, noted briefly) - sūnavaḥ: root ṣū preraṇe; dhātvādeḥ ṣaḥ saḥ: s; suvaḥ kit — सुवः कित् — (Uṇ. 3-35): the suffix nu after sū, which is kit; kṅiti ca: no guṇa. - atnata: root tanu vistāre, ubhayapadī, laṅ, jha; "the u-vikaraṇa that comes by tanādikṛñbhya uḥ is lost, by the word bahulam in bahulaṃ chandasi"; ātmanepadeṣv nataḥ: at for jha; tan + ata; tanipatyoś chandasi — तनिपत्योश्छन्दसि — (Pā. 6-4-99): in the Veda the a of tan and pat is lost before a kit or ñit suffix, so the loss of the a; the augment aṭ. - abhijñu: abhigate jānunī yasya tat, "that of which the knees are bent": an adverb; prasambhyāṃ jānunor jñuḥ — प्रसम्भ्यां जानुनोर्ज्ञुः — (Pā. 5-4-129): in a bahuvrīhi the word jānu after the preverbs pra and sam takes the substitute jñu; "by Vedic usage this also happens when abhi is the prefix." - yātave: root yā prāpaṇe; tumarthe sasenase…: the suffix tavenḥ; being nit, first-syllable acute. Rik 10 ends here (|| 10 ||).

Rik 37.11 (p. 281 foot, PDF 295–)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 281 = PDF 296 of the better scan; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented; the word avṛdhram* was checked on an enlarged slice at 300 dpi — the print reads avṛdhram, with vṛ, in both the Saṃhitā and the Pada)*

त्यं चि॑द्घा दी॒र्घं पृ॒थुं मि॒हो नपा॑त॒मवृ॑ध्रम् । प्र च्यावयन्ति॒ याम॑भिः ॥ ११ ॥

tyáṃ cid ghā dīrgháṃ pṛthúṃ mihó nápātam ávṛdhram | prá cyāvayanti yámabhiḥ || 11 ||

Pada-pāṭha (the first line at the foot of p. 281; the rest on p. 282 is not yet written)

त्यम् । चित् । घ । दीर्घम् । पृथुम् । मिहः । नपातम् । अवृध्रम् ।

tyam | cit | gha | dīrgham | pṛthum | mihaḥ | napātam | avṛdhram |

(Correction to the entry above: the foot of p. 281 also carries the second line of the Pada of Rik 11, which was not written there:)

प्र । च्यवयन्ति । यामभिः ॥ ११ ॥

pra | cyavayanti | yāmabhiḥ || 11 ||

(The Pada prints cyavayanti (short a*), against the Saṃhitā's* cyāvayanti*; the Pada also prints a small division sign inside* yāma-bhiḥ*; the bhāṣya below explains the shortening, "padakāle hrasvaś chāndasaḥ".)*

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 282; Sanskrit printed in Kannada script)

त्यं चिद्घा । प्रसिद्धो यो मेघस्तमपि मेघं यामभिः स्वकीयैर्गमनैः प्र च्यावयन्ति । मरुतः प्रकर्षेण गमयन्ति । कीदृशम् । दीर्घमायामोपेतं पृथुं तिर्यङ्निस्सृतं मिहो नपातं सेचनीयस्य जलस्य न पातयितारं । वृष्टिमकुर्वन्तमित्यर्थः । अमृध्रं केनाप्यहिंस्यं ॥

tyaṃ cid ghā | prasiddho yo meghas tam api meghaṃ yāmabhiḥ svakīyair gamanaiḥ pra cyāvayanti | marutaḥ prakarṣeṇa gamayanti | kīdṛśam | dīrgham āyāmopetaṃ pṛthuṃ tiryaṅ-nisṛtaṃ miho napātaṃ secanīyasya jalasya na pātayitāraṃ | vṛṣṭim akurvantam ity arthaḥ | amṛdhraṃ kenāpy ahiṃsyaṃ ||

Translation: "Tyaṃ cid ghā: that well-known cloud — even that cloud — they pra cyāvayanti by their yāmas, their own goings: the Maruts make [it] go forth strongly. Of what kind? Dīrgham — possessed of length; pṛthum — broad, spread out sideways; miho napātam — one that does not make fall the water that is to be sprinkled, i.e. one that makes no rain, so the sense; amṛdhram — not to be injured by anyone."

Grammar within the bhāṣya (p. 282, characterized; the Sanskrit is transcribed in part only): ghā (lengthened by the rule beginning ṛci tunu-gha-…); mihaḥ (root miha secane; mehatīti miṭ — rain; kvip; the ending of the genitive singular has the acute by sāvekācaḥ); napātam (na pātayatīti napāt; the naṅ keeps its own form by nabhrāṇ-napāt-…; the accent of the first member of a compound beginning with an indeclinable); amṛdhram (root śṛdhu mṛdhu undane; "mardhati" — he wets (the Kannada: "recalls/wets with water", nīrinda nenesuvudu; the print is unclear to me [?]); the Uṇādi suffix rak by the word bahulam; in a compound named by saṃjñā the accent of the first member as before) — or else, "mṛdha is, by the word saṅgrāma [as read], a name of battle, and by implication means hiṃsā, injury; the suffix ra is in the sense of matup; compound and accent as before"; cyāvayanti (cyuṅ gatau; ṇic; vṛddhi and āv-substitution; "at the Pada stage the short vowel is Vedic").

Pratipadārtha (p. 282) — "dīrgham — long, spread wide; pṛthum — immense; miho napātam — one that stays holding back the rain from falling; amṛdhram — not to be injured (i.e. with nothing hindering its own going); tyaṃ cit — that well-known cloud, whichever it is; yāmabhiḥ — by their goings (the Maruts); pra cyāvayanti — they make go forward (they make it go in the way favourable for raining)."

Bhāvārtha (p. 282) — "At the time when the cloud, having drawn up the water that is the most important thing for the life of all beings, stands holding back the rain, no one but the Maruts can make it rain. The well-known cloud is long, wide and immense and moves at its own will. Such a cloud the Maruts, in their times of going, make move forward, and by the form of rain they pour out the water and do good to the world."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 282) — "They drive before them in their course, the long, vast, uninjuarable [sic] rain-retaining cloud."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 283 - ghā — "indicates the well-known sense (prasiddhārtha). For the sake of the metre it is long in the Saṃhitā text." - miho napātam = secanīyasya jalasya na pātayitāram | vṛṣṭim akurvantam ity arthaḥ | miha secane — "[one who does] not let the rain pour" (the Kannada sentence is printed breaking off after "the rain they pour…"). - cyāvayanti = gamayanti — "they make go forward." The source adds the English "Drive before them."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (p. 283 — grammar page, noted briefly) - ghā: the lengthening of gha is by the sūtra beginning ṛci tunu-gha-makṣu-taṅ-kutro-ruṣyāṇām — ऋचि तुनुघमक्षुतङ्कुत्रोरुष्याणाम् — (Pā. Sū. 6-3-133, as printed); the print then discusses whether the gha of this rule is the technical gha (tarap-tamapau ghaḥ, no number printed), by the maxim kṛtrimākṛtrimayoḥ kṛtrimasyaiva grahaṇam — कृत्रिमाकृत्रिमयोः कृत्रिमस्यैव ग्रहणम् (kṛtrimākṛtrimayoḥ kṛtrimasyaiva grahaṇam) — "of the technical and the non-technical, the technical alone is taken"; concluding that, since the lengthening is seen in the Veda for the particle gha in this sequence of sounds, the technical name is not taken. - mihaḥ: miha secane, mehatīti miṭ, "rain"; kvip; for the genitive singular, the acute by sāvekācaḥ — सावेकाचः — (no number printed). - napātam: na pātayatīti napāt; nabhrāṇ-napāt-… gives prakṛtibhāva to naṅ; the compound-rule beginning tatpuruṣe tulya-artha-… gives the accent of the first member of an indeclinable-first compound. - amṛdhram: śṛdhu mṛdhu undane; "mardhati" = wets with water (the Kannada prints nīrininda nenasuvudu); "uṇādayo bahulam" — उणादयो बहुलम् — the Uṇādi rak by the wide sense of bahula; compound with naṅ as before. Alternatively the lexicon quotation "mṛdham āskandanaṃ saṃkhyaṃ samīkaṃ sāmparāyakam" — मृधमास्कन्दनं संख्यं समीकं साम्परायकम् (mṛdham āskandanaṃ saṃkhyaṃ samīkaṃ sāmparāyakam) — gives mṛdha the sense "war"; here the sense hiṃsā is to be taken by implication; the suffix ra in the sense of matup, with loss of a in the Veda; compound and accent as before. - cyāvayanti: cyuṅ gatau, ṇic; aco ñṇiti — अचो ञ्णिति — (Pā. Sū. 7-1-115 [as printed; for 7-2-115]) for the vṛddhi; u to au and then āv; "in the Pada the short vowel is Vedic". Rik 11 ends here (|| 11 ||).

Rik 37.12 (pp. 284–286, PDF 298–300)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 284 = PDF 299 of the better scan; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented; the nasal sign of janām̐ and girīm̐r was checked on an enlarged slice)

मꣳरुतो यद्ध वो बलं जनाँ अचुच्यवीतन । गिरीँरचुच्यवीतन ॥ १२ ॥

maruto ɣád dha vo bálaṃ jánām̐ acucɣavītana | girīm̐r acucɣavītana || 12 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 284)

मरुतः । यत् । ह । वः । बलम् । जनान् । अचुच्यवीतन । गिरीन् । अचुच्यवीतन ॥ १२ ॥

marutaḥ | ɣat | ha | vaḥ | balam | janān | acucɣavītana | girīn | acucɣavītana || 12 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 284)

हे मरुतो यद्ध यस्मादेव कारणाद्वो युष्माकं बलमस्ति अस्मादेव कारणाज्जनान्प्राणिनोऽचुच्यवीतन । स्वस्वव्यापारेषु प्रेरयत । तथा गिरीन्मेघान् अचुच्यवीतन । प्रेरयत ॥

he maruto ɣad dha ɣasmād eva kāraṇād vo ɣuṣmākaṃ balam asti asmād eva kāraṇāj janān prāṇino 'cucɣavītana | svasvavɣāpāreṣu prerayata | tathā girīn meghān acucɣavītana | prerayata ||

Translation: "O Maruts, ɣad dha — for the very reason that you have strength, for that very reason janān, the living beings, acucɣavītana — impel [them] to their several occupations. And likewise girīn, the clouds, acucɣavītana — impel [them]."

मरुतः । आमन्त्रिताद्युदात्तत्वं । अचुच्यवीतन । च्यवतेर्लङि । व्यत्ययेन परस्मैपदं । तप्तनप्तनथनाश्चेति तस्य तनबादेशः । बहुलं छन्दसीति शपः श्लुः । बहुलं छन्दसि । पा. ७-३-९७ । इतीडागमः । गुणावादेशौ । तिङ्ङतिङः इति निघातः । गिरीन् । दीर्घादटि समानपाद इति संहितायां नकारस्य रुत्वं । अत्रानुनासिक इतीकारस्यानुनासिकः ॥

marutaḥ | āmantritādɣudāttatvaṃ | acucɣavītana | cɣavater laṅi | vɣatɣayena parasmaipadaṃ | tapta-nap-tana-thanāś ceti tasɣa tanabādeśaḥ | bahulaṃ chandasīti śapaḥ śluḥ | bahulaṃ chandasi | pā. 7-3-97 | itīḍāgamaḥ | guṇāvādeśau | tiṅ atiṅaḥ iti nighātaḥ | girīn | dīrghād aṭi samānapāda iti saṃhitāɣāṃ nakārasɣa rutvaṃ | atrānunāsika itīkārasɣānunāsikaḥ ||

Translation of the grammatical tail (characterized; after cyavateḥ the print reads laṅi*)*: marutaḥ — accent on the first syllable, as a vocative. Acucyavītana — from cyu, in laṅ; by vyatyaya the parasmaipada [for the root which is ātmanepadin]; for the ending tha the substitute tana by the rule tapta-nap-tana-thanāś ca; the śap is elided by bahulaṃ chandasi; [the rule] bahulaṃ chandasi then gives the augment iṭ; guṇa and av-substitution; the verb is unaccented by tiṅ atiṅaḥ. Girīn — by dīrghād aṭi samānapāde the n becomes ru in the Saṃhitā; by atrānunāsikaḥ… the ī before it is nasalized.

Pratipadārtha (p. 284) — "marutaḥ — O Maruts; yad ha — for whatever (natural) reason; vaḥ — to you; balam — strength [there is], for that very reason; janān — the living beings; acucyavītana — impel [them] (so that they carry on their several affairs); girīn — the clouds; acucyavītana — impel [them] (so that they do their work of raining and giving water to the world)."

Bhāvārtha (pp. 284–285) — "O Maruts, all the activities of all things in the world, sentient and insentient, must proceed by your impulsion. You have the natural strength to enliven the whole world. Because of that strength you have, impel all beings so that they do the activities fitting their several natures, and impel the clouds so that they pour down the rain, the support of all life, and make welfare for the world."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 285) — "Maruts, you have vigour and therefore invigorate mankind and make the clouds to rain."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 285 - ghā [so printed as the heading, though the Saṃhitā of this Rik has yad dha] — "here the word gha indicates the sense eva. For the sake of the metre the gha is long in the Saṃhitā text." - acucyavītana = svasvavyāpāreṣu prerayata — "impel people and the clouds and so on to act in their several activities." - girīn = meghān — "among the thirty names of the cloud beginning adriḥ grāvā [as printed], the word giri is read; therefore girīn means 'the clouds'."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 285–286 — grammar page, noted briefly) - marutaḥ: the suffix uti by mṛgror utiḥ — मृग्रोरुतिः — [no number printed]; by āmantritasya ca — आमन्त्रितस्य च — [the sūtra of the sixth adhyāya] it is accented on the first syllable. - acucyavītana: cyuṅ gatau, first class; by ñit / anudāttaṅita ātmanepadam — ञित्… / अनुदात्तङित आत्मनेपदम् — (Pā. Sū. 1-3-12) the ātmanepada is due, and in its place the parasmaipada has come; laṅ, madhyama-puruṣa plural tha; by tasthasthamipāṃ tāṃtamtāmaḥ the substitute ta, and by tapta-nap-tana-thanāś ca the substitute tana (Pā. Sū. 7-1-45); by bahulaṃ chandasi (Pā. Sū. 2-4-76) the śap is elided (śluḥ); ślau gives doubling: cyu-cyu-tana; by halādiḥ śeṣaḥ the first y is dropped; by bahulaṃ chandasi (Pā. Sū. 7-3-97) the augment īṭ comes at the beginning of tana: cucyu + ītana; the augment aṭ; guṇa; av-substitution. Fully unaccented. - girīn: dīrghād aṭi samānapāde — दीर्घादटि समानपादे — (Pā. Sū. 8-3-9): when in a single pāda there is a long vowel and a following aṭ [-initial word], the n standing after the long vowel and before … gets ru in the Saṃhitā; atrānunāsikaḥ pūrvasya tu vā — अत्रानुनासिकः पूर्वस्य तु वा — the vowel before ru is nasalized. Rik 12 ends here (|| 12 ||).

Rik 37.13 (pp. 286–288, PDF 300–302)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 286 = PDF 301 of the better scan; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented)

> यद्ध॒ यान्ति॒ म॒रुत॒: सं ह॑ ब्रु॒वते॑ऽध्व॒न्ना । शृणोति॑ कश्चि॒देषाम् ॥ १३ ॥

yad dha yānti marútaḥ sáṃ ha bruvaté 'dhvann ā́ | śṛṇoti káś cid eṣām || 13 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 286)

> यत् । ह । यान्ति । मरुतः । सम् । ह । ब्रुवते । अध्वन् । आ । शृणोति । कः । चित् । एषाम् ॥ १३ ॥

yat | ha | yānti | marutaḥ | sam | ha | bruvate | adhvan | ā | śṛṇoti | kaḥ | cit | eṣām || 13 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 286)

> यद्ध यदा खलु मरुतो यान्ति गच्छन्ति तदानीमध्वन्ना मार्गे सर्वतः सं ब्रुवते ह । संभूय ध्वनिमवश्यं कुर्वन्ति । एषां मरुतां सम्बन्धिनं शब्दं कश्चित् यः कोऽपि शृणोति ॥

yad dha yadā khalu maruto yānti gacchanti tadānīm adhvann ā mārge sarvataḥ saṃ bruvate ha | saṃbhūya dhvanim avaśyaṃ kurvanti | eṣāṃ marutāṃ sambandhinaṃ śabdaṃ kaścit yaḥ ko 'pi śṛṇoti ||

Translation: "Yad dha — whenever indeed the Maruts yānti, go, then adhvann ā, all around on the way, saṃ bruvate ha — together, they certainly make a sound; coming together they surely make a noise. The sound belonging to these Maruts kaś cit — whoever, anyone at all — śṛṇoti, hears."

Grammar within the bhāṣya (p. 286, characterized): yānti (yā prāpaṇe; śap elided because the root belongs to the adādi class; by jho 'ntaḥ the substitute ant, which, treated as in the upadeśa, is acute on the first syllable; the single substitute with the root has its accent; no nighāta because of the connection with yat); bruvate (brūñ vyaktāyāṃ vāci; after the substitute for jha, the guṇa that would be due by "later rule" is barred by being ṅit, so uvaṅ); adhvan (the locative ending elided by supāṃ sulug…); śṛṇoti (since tip is pit, the anudātta is not present, and the accent is that of the vikaraṇa).

Pratipadārtha (pp. 286–287) — "yad ha — whenever, wherever; marutaḥ — the Maruts; yānti — move (then); adhvan ā — all around on the way; saṃ bruvate ha — together they sound well; eṣām — of these Maruts [the sound]; kaś cit — every one (that is, everybody); śṛṇoti — hears [it] (certainly)."

Bhāvārtha (p. 287) — "The Maruts, who enliven the world, move making sound at all the places where they move. Since they move through the whole world, people everywhere hear their sound."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 287) — "Wherever the Maruts pass they make great noises in their way ; every one hears their noise."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 287 — "When the wind blows with great force, every single person certainly hears its sound: such is the sense."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (p. 287, begun; the rest on p. 288 not yet written) - yānti: yā prāpaṇe, laṭ, jhi; jho 'ntaḥ — झोऽन्तः — (Pā. Sū. 7-1-3) gives ant for jh; the substitute is ordered in the aṅgādhikāra, hence it is antaraṅga (the suffix being dependent on the base); the accent of the suffix (ādyudātta) comes first by the maxim āyannādiṣūpadeśavadvacanaṃ svarasiddhyartham — आयन्नादिषूपदेशवद्वचनं स्वरसिद्ध्यर्थम् (āyannādiṣūpadeśavadvacanaṃ svarasiddhyartham), no number printed; ant is acute on the first syllable by the accent of a suffix; śap elided (adādi); yā + anti, savarṇadīrgha, and by ekādeśa udāttena the single substitute is acute. - bruvate: brūñ vyaktāyāṃ vāci, laṭ, jha; śap elided (adādi); ātmanepadeṣv nataḥ — आत्मनेपदेष्वनतः — at for jha; ṭi becomes e; brū + ate; sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ — सार्वधातुकार्धधातुकयोः — (Pā. Sū. 7-3-84) gives guṇa, and aci śnudhātubhruvāṃ yvor iyaṅuvaṅau — अचि श्नुधातुभ्रुवां य्वोरियङुवङौ — (Pā. Sū. 6-4-77) gives uvaṅ; if there is a conflict the later rule is to be applied, vipratiṣedhe paraṃ kāryam — विप्रतिषेधे परं कार्यम् — (Pā. Sū. 1-4-2), namely guṇa; but jha is sārvadhātukam apit — सार्वधातुकमपित् — … (continued on p. 288, PDF 302.)

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā of Rik 37.13, continued (p. 288, PDF 302 — grammar page, noted briefly) - bruvate, concluded: jha is sārvadhātukam apit — सार्वधातुकमपित् — (Pā. Sū. 1-2-4), hence ṅit; and kṅiti ca — क्ङिति च — (Pā. Sū. 1-1-5) prohibits guṇa; therefore only the uvaṅ-substitution comes. - adhvan: supāṃ sulug… — सुपां सुलुक्… — the locative ending is elided. - śṛṇoti: śru śravaṇe, tip; śruvaḥ śṛ ca — श्रुवः शृ च — (Pā. Sū. 3-1-74): the substitute śṛ and the vikaraṇa śnu come; guṇa and so on; because tip is pit it is anudātta, and the accent stands on the vikaraṇa. Rik 13 ends here (|| 13 ||).

Rik 37.14 (pp. 288–290, PDF 302–304)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 288 = PDF 303 of the better scan; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented)

> प्र या॑त शीभ॑मा॒शुभि॒: सन्ति॒ कण्वे॑षु वो॒ दुव॑: । त॒त्रो षु मा॑दयाध्वै ॥ १४ ॥

prá yāta śī́bham āśúbhiḥ sánti káṇveṣu vo dúvaḥ | tatró ṣú mādayādhvai || 14 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 288)

> प्र । यात । शीभम् । आशुभिः । सन्ति । कण्वेषु । वः । दुवः । तत्रो इति । सु । मादयाध्वै ॥ १४ ॥

pra | yāta | śībham | āśu-bhiḥ | santi | kaṇveṣu | vaḥ | duvaḥ | tatro iti | su | mādayādhvai || 14 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (pp. 288–289)

> हे मरुत आशुभिर्वेगवद्भिः स्वकीयैर्वाहनैः शीभं शीघ्रं । शीभं तूषु तूयमिति क्षिप्रनामसु पाठात् । प्रयात । प्रकर्षेण कर्मभूमिं गच्छत । कण्वेषु मेधाविष्वनुष्ठातृषु वो युष्माकं दुवो दुवांसि परिचरणानि सन्ति । तत्रो षु तेष्वेव परिचारकेषु कण्वेषु मादयाध्वै । तृप्ता भवत ॥ आशुभिः । अशू व्याप्तौ । कृवापाजीत्यादिना उण्

। प्रत्ययस्वरः । सन्ति । श्नसोरल्लोपे इत्याकारलोपः । मादयाध्वै । मद तृप्तियोगे । चुरादिः । आकुस्मीये आत्मनेपदी । लेट्यडागमः । टेरेत्वं । वैतोऽन्यत्र । [Pā. 3-4-96, as printed on the grammar page] । इत्येकारस्यैकारादेशः ॥

he maruta āśubhir vegavadbhiḥ svakīyair vāhanaiḥ śībhaṃ śīghraṃ | śībhaṃ tṛṣu tūyam iti kṣipranāmasu pāṭhāt | prayāta | prakarṣeṇa karmabhūmiṃ gacchata | kaṇveṣu medhāviṣv anuṣṭhātṛṣu vo yuṣmākaṃ duvo duvāṃsi paricaraṇāni santi | tatro ṣu teṣv eva paricārakeṣu kaṇveṣu mādayādhvai | tṛptā bhavata || āśubhiḥ | aśū vyāptau | kṛvāpājityādinā uṇ | pratyayasvaraḥ | santi | śnasor allope ityākāralopaḥ | mādayādhvai | mada tṛptiyoge | curādiḥ | ākusmīye ātmanepadī | leṭy aḍāgamaḥ | ṭer etvaṃ | vaito 'nyatra | [Pā. 3-4-96, as printed on the grammar page] | ity ekārasyaikārādeśaḥ ||

Translation: "O Maruts, āśubhiḥ — with your own swift, speedy vehicles — śībham, quickly ('śībham, tṛṣu, tūyam': it is read among the names of 'quick'); prayāta — go forth strongly to the place of the rite. Among the kaṇvas, the wise performers, vaḥ, for you, duvaḥ — services, attentions — santi, there are. Tatro ṣu — among those very servants, the Kaṇvas, mādayādhvai — be satisfied; become pleased. Āśubhiḥ: root aśū vyāptau; the uṇ suffix by [the Uṇādi rule] kṛvāpāji-…; the accent of the suffix. Santi: by śnasor allopaḥ the loss of the a. Mādayādhvai: root mada tṛptiyoge, of the curādi class; belongs to the ākusmīya [roots], ātmanepada; in leṭ, the augment aṭ; e for ṭi; by vaito 'nyatra [Pā. 3-4-96, as printed on the grammar page] the e is replaced by ai."

Pratipadārtha (p. 289) — "āśubhiḥ — O Maruts, with your swift-going [vehicles]; śībham — promptly; prayāta — come rightly to the place of the sacrifice; kaṇveṣu — among the Kaṇvas, the wise sacrificers; vaḥ — for you; duvaḥ — materials of worship and so on; santi — are ready; tatro ṣu — among those very sacrificers (in their concern); mādayādhvai — be satisfied."

Bhāvārtha (p. 289) — "O Maruts, because all the affairs of the world must proceed by your impulsion, you must always be satisfied. For your satisfaction, the wise sacrificers have kept ready, and wait with, the materials of worship that must go to your share. Come to the place of the rite, doing us the favour, on your swift-moving vehicles; accept their worship and so on, and show your satisfaction among the sacrificers."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 289) — "O Maruts, come quickly with your swift moving (vehicles); the Kanwas have prepared the offerings ; be pleased with them."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 289 - āśubhiḥ = aśū vyāptau | vegavadbhiḥ svakīyair vāhanaiḥ — "by your own vehicles that can move swiftly." - śībham = śīghram — "since the word śībham is read among the twenty-six [as read, ippattāru] names of 'quick' beginning with nu (Ni. 3-9, as printed), śībham means 'quickly', 'at once'." - mādayādhvai = mada tṛptiyoge — "attain satisfaction."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 289–290 — grammar page, noted briefly) - āśubhiḥ: aśū vyāptau; kṛvāpāji-misvadi-sādhyaśūbhya uṇ — कृवापाजिमिस्वदिसाध्यशूभ्य उण् — (U. Sū. 1-1): the Uṇādi uṇ; ādyudāttaś ca gives the suffix the first-syllable acute. - santi: as bhuvi, jhi, ant for jh, śap elided; as + anti; śnasor allopaḥ — श्नसोरल्लोपः — [Pā. 6-4-111, as printed on the grammar page]: before a kit or ṅit sārvadhātuka the a of śna and of as is lost. - mādayādhvai: mada tṛptiyoge, tenth class; "in this class, from the root cita saṃketane up to kusma, the roots called ākusmīya" take the ātmanepada even where the fruit does not go to the agent; leṭ; aṭ as augment; madhyama-puruṣa plural dhvam; ṭi → e; mad + i + ādhvai; upadhā-vṛddhi, guṇa, ay-substitution: mādaya + ādhvai. By vaito 'nyatra — वैतोऽन्यत्र — [Pā. 3-4-96, as printed on the grammar page], leaving aside the matter of the sūtra ātaḥ… [garbled in print], the e of leṭ optionally gets ai: hence mādayādhvai. Rik 14 ends here (|| 14 ||).

Rik 37.15 (pp. 290–292, PDF 304–306)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 290 = PDF 305 of the better scan; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented)

> अस्ति॒ हि ष्मा॒ मदा॑य वः॒ स्म॑सि ष्मा व॒यमे॑षाम् । वि॑श्वं चि॒दा॒युर्जी॒वसे॑ ॥ १५ ॥

asti hí ṣmā mádāya vaḥ smasi ṣmā vayám eṣām | viśvaṃ cid āyur jīváse || 15 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 290)

> अस्ति । हि । स्म । मदाय । वः । स्मसि । स्म । वयम् । एषाम् । विश्वम् । चित् । आयुः । जीवसे ॥ १५ ॥

asti | hi | sma | madāya | vaḥ | smasi | sma | vayam | eṣām | viśvam | cit | āyuḥ | jīvase || 15 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (pp. 290–291)

> हे मरुतो वो युष्माकं मदाय तृप्तयेऽस्ति हि ष्म । अस्माभिः प्रयुज्यमानं हविर्वो विद्यते खलु । एषां युष्माकं भृत्यभूता वयं स्मसि ष्म । विद्यामहे खलु । जीवसे जीवितुं विश्वं चिदायुः सर्वमप्यायुः प्रयच्छेति शेषः ॥ ष्म । निपातस्य चेति संहितायां दीर्घः । स्मसि । इदन्तो मसिः । जीवसे । तुमर्थे सेसेनित्यसे प्रत्ययः ॥

he maruto vo yuṣmākaṃ madāya tṛptaye 'sti hi ṣma | asmābhiḥ prayujyamānaṃ havir vo vidyate khalu | eṣāṃ yuṣmākaṃ bhṛtyabhūtā vayaṃ smasi ṣma | vidyāmahe khalu | jīvase jīvituṃ viśvaṃ cid āyuḥ sarvam apy āyuḥ prayaccheti śeṣaḥ || ṣma | nipātasya ceti saṃhitāyāṃ dīrghaḥ | smasi | idanto masiḥ | jīvase | tumarthe sesenityase pratyayaḥ ||

Translation: "O Maruts, vaḥ — for your madāya, satisfaction, asti hi ṣma — there is, indeed: the oblation that is being offered by us is surely at hand for you. Eṣām — of you [as such], vayam — we, who have become your servants, smasi ṣma — we are, indeed: we are at hand. Jīvase — in order to live — viśvaṃ cid āyuḥ, the whole of life — grant [it]: so the remainder is to be supplied. Ṣma: the lengthening in the Saṃhitā by nipātasya ca. Smasi: the masi-ending taking i. Jīvase: the suffix ase in the sense of the infinitive [tumartha], by the rule tumarthe se-sen-… [as printed]."

Pratipadārtha (p. 291) — "vaḥ — (O Maruts) your; madāya — for the sake of [your] satisfaction; asti hi ṣma — [the oblation prepared by us] is indeed ready; eṣām — of you [your devotees]; vayam — we; smasi ṣma — we are indeed ready; jīvase — for our living here; viśvaṃ cid āyuḥ — give [us] a complete life-span."

Bhāvārtha (p. 291) — "O Maruts, for your satisfaction we have obtained oblations and have kept them ready. As your devotees we are ready for your service at all times. So that we may help to give you everlasting satisfaction, and so that we may be able to live a long time, favour us with a full span of life."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 291) — "The offering is prepared for your gratification. we are your worshippers ; give us long life." (The lower-case "we" after the full stop is as printed.)

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 291 - hi ṣma — "indicates the well-known sense (prasiddhārtha)." - smasi = vidyāmahe — "'we wish' — that is, we are ready to praise you: this is the sense." - viśvaṃ cid āyuḥ — "the entire life-span: that is, favour us men with the hundred years that we can live, or an even longer span of life."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 291–292 — grammar page, noted briefly) - ṣma: nipātasya ca — निपातस्य च — (Pā. Sū. 6-3-139 [as printed; for 6-3-136]): in a mantra a nipāta takes the long vowel; hence the long (ṣmā). - smasi: as bhuvi; mas; by śnasor allopaḥ the a of the root is lost; by idanto masiḥ — इदन्तो मसिः — (Pā. Sū. 7-1-46) the augment ik comes to mas (this is the refined sense), and when the ik comes it becomes smasi. - jīvase: jīva prāṇadhāraṇe; the suffix ase in the sense of the infinitive by the rule beginning tumarthe se-sen-… [as printed]. Rik 15 ends here (|| 15 ||).

Close of Sūkta 37. Printed on p. 292, after the grammar: "illige 37ne sūkta pūrṇavu" — "Here the 37th sūkta is complete." (The numeral is read as "37" in the print; the Kannada script is clear in this closing note.) With it the Eighth Anuvāka's second sūkta (printed pp. 251–292) ends. Below it, on the same leaf (p. 292), begins Sūkta 38 (kad dha nūnam, 15 Riks, Kaṇva Ghaura, Maruts, Gāyatrī) with its Sanskrit introduction and Kannada anuvāda; these are not yet written and belong to the next session.

Summary of Sūkta 37 (my note). Fifteen Riks to the Maruts, all written in full. Riks 10–13 (the part most recently written) speak of their spreading of the waters and driving the cows to drink, of the cloud they set in motion, of their strength impelling beings and clouds, and of the sound of their going; Riks 14–15 invite them to the offering prepared by the Kaṇvas and pray for a full life. The doubtful parts are the Sanskrit introduction on p. 251 and the many small reference numerals (see the flags below).

SŪKTA 38 (printed p. 292 foot = PDF 307 of the better scan)

Thirty-eighth Sūkta (large Kannada title line: "mūvattentaneya sūktavu")

Page 292 (PDF 307) — Sāyaṇa's introduction and the Kannada anuvāda

Sāyaṇa's introduction (printed in Kannada script; checked against the better scan)

> कद्ध नूनमिति पञ्चदशर्चं तृतीयं सूक्तम् । घोरपुत्रः कण्व ऋषिः । ऋषिश्चान्यस्मादिति परिभाषितत्वात् ।
> पूर्वसूक्ते मारुतं हीत्युक्तत्वादिदमपि मरुद्देवताकं । गायत्रं त्वित्युक्तत्वाद्गायत्रीच्छन्दस्कं । > कद्धेत्यनुक्रमणिका । विनियोगो लैङ्गिकः ॥

kaddha nūnam iti pañcadaśarcaṃ tṛtīyaṃ sūktam | ghoraputraḥ kaṇva ṛṣiḥ | ṛṣiś cānyasmād iti paribhāṣitatvāt | pūrvasūkte mārutaṃ hīty uktatvād idam api maruddevatākaṃ | gāyatraṃ tv ity uktatvād gāyatrīchandaskaṃ | kaddheti anukramaṇikā | viniyogo laiṅgikaḥ ||

Translation: "Kaddha nūnam — the third sūkta [of the anuvāka], of fifteen ṛks. Kaṇva, son of Ghora, is the ṛṣi, by the rule 'and the ṛṣi [is the same] as another [sūkta]'. Because in the preceding sūkta it was said '[it is] Māruta indeed', this one also has the Maruts as deity. Because it is said 'gāyatraṃ tu' ('but Gāyatra'), it has the Gāyatrī metre. [The Anukramaṇikā says] 'kaddha…'. The application (viniyoga) is laiṅgika [by the indication of the sense]."

Anuvāda (Kannada), p. 292 — "Kaddha nūnam is the third sūkta in this eighth anuvāka. In it there are fifteen ṛks. The ṛṣi of the preceding sūkta, Kaṇva the son of Ghora, is the ṛṣi of this too. The Maruts are the deities. It is of the Gāyatrī metre. The viniyoga is laiṅgika, that is, in accordance with the sense and with the occasion."

Page 293 (PDF 308) — heading of Sūkta 38 and Rik 38.1

॥ ॐ ॥

सूक्त — ३८ ॥ मण्डल — १ ॥ अनुवाक — ८ ॥ सूक्त — ३८ ॥ ॥ अष्टक — १ ॥ अध्याय — ३ ॥ वर्ग — १५, १६, १७ ॥ ॥ सूक्तदल्लिरुव ऋक्संख्यै — १५ ॥ ॥ ऋषिः — कण्वो घौरः ॥ ॥ देवता — मरुतः ॥ ॥ छन्दः — गायत्री ॥

sūkta 38 | maṇḍala 1 | anuvāka 8 | aṣṭaka 1 | adhyāya 3 | varga 15, 16, 17 | ṛks 15 | ṛṣi: Kaṇva Ghaura | devatā: the Maruts | chandas: Gāyatrī.

Translation of the heading: "Sūkta 38; Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 8; Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 3, Varga 15, 16, 17; number of ṛks in the sūkta: 15; Ṛṣi: Kaṇva Ghaura; Deity: the Maruts; Metre: Gāyatrī."

Rik 38.1 (pp. 293–295, PDF 308–310)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 293 = PDF 308 of the better scan; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented)

कद्ध॑ नू॒नं क॑धप्रियः पि॒ता पु॒त्रं न हस्त॑योः । द॒धि॒ध्वे वृ॑क्तब॒र्हिषः ॥ १ ॥

kad dha nūnaṃ kadhapriyaḥ pitā putraṃ na hastayoḥ | dadhidhve vṛktabarhiṣaḥ || 1 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 293)

कत् । ह । नूनम् । कधप्रियः । पिता । पुत्रम् । न । हस्तयोः । दधिध्वे । वृक्तबर्हिषः ॥ १ ॥

kat | ha | nūnam | kadhapriyaḥ | pitā | putram | na | hastayoḥ | dadhidhve | vṛkta-barhiṣaḥ || 1 ||

(The Pada prints kat for the Saṃhitā's kad*, and a small division sign inside* kadha-priyaḥ and vṛkta-barhiṣaḥ*.)*

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (pp. 293–294)

हे मरुतः कद्ध कदा खलु नूनमवश्यं हस्तयोर्दधिध्वे । यूयमस्मान्हस्ते धारयथ । तत्र दृष्टान्तः । पिता पुत्रं न हस्तयोः । यथा लोके पिता हस्तयोः स्वकीयं पुत्रं धारयति तद्वत् । कीदृशा मरुतः । कधप्रियः स्तुतिप्रीताः । वृक्तबर्हिषः वृक्तं छिन्नं बर्हिर्दर्भो येषां मरुतां यजमानाय ते मरुतस्तथाविधाः ॥

he marutaḥ kad dha kadā khalu nūnam avaśyaṃ hastayor dadhidhve | yūyam asmān haste dhārayatha | tatra dṛṣṭāntaḥ | pitā putraṃ na hastayoḥ | yathā loke pitā hastayoḥ svakīyaṃ putraṃ dhārayati tadvat | kīdṛśā marutaḥ | kadhapriyaḥ stutiprītāḥ | vṛktabarhiṣaḥ vṛktaṃ chinnaṃ barhir darbho yeṣāṃ marutāṃ yajamānāya te marutas tathāvidhāḥ ||

Translation: "O Maruts, kad dha — when indeed, nūnam — surely, will you take [us] in your two hands (hastayor dadhidhve)? You hold us in your hand. The example there: pitā putraṃ na hastayoḥ — as, in the world, a father holds his own son in his two hands, so. What kind of Maruts? Kadhapriyaḥ — pleased with praise; vṛktabarhiṣaḥ — those for whom, for the sacrificer, the barhis, the darbha grass, has been clipped, cut: such Maruts."

कद्ध । कदा । द्यौ चापरौ वर्णविकारनाशौ । का. ६-३-१०९ । इत्युक्तत्वादाकारलोपः । कधप्रियः । कथा स्तुतिः । तया प्रीणन्तीति कधप्रियः । प्रीञ् प्रीतौ । क्विप् । पूर्वपदस्य ज्यापोः सञ्ज्ञाछन्दसोर्बहुलं । पा. ६-३-६३ । इति ह्रस्वत्वं । थकारश्छान्दसः । आमन्त्रितनिघातः । दधिध्वे । दधातेश्छन्दसि लुङ्लङ्लिट इति वर्तमाने लिट् । क्रादिनियमादिट् । प्रत्ययस्वरः । वृक्तबर्हिषः । आमन्त्रितनिघातः ॥

kad dha | kadā | dvau cāparau varṇavikāranāśau | kā. 6-3-109 | ity uktatvād ākāralopaḥ | kadhapriyaḥ | kathā stutiḥ | tayā prīṇantīti kadhapriyaḥ | prīñ prītau | kvip | pūrvapadasya jyāpoḥ saṃjñāchandasor bahulaṃ | pā. 6-3-63 | iti hrasvatvaṃ | thakāraś chāndasaḥ | āmantritanighātaḥ | dadhidhve | dadhāteś chandasi luṅlaṅliṭa iti vartamāne liṭ | krādiniyamād iṭ | pratyayasvaraḥ | vṛktabarhiṣaḥ | āmantritanighātaḥ ||

Translation of the grammatical tail (characterized): Kad stands for kadā, "when": because the Kāśikā says "two other [operations] are the change and loss of a letter" (Kā. 6-3-109), the ā is lost. Kadhapriyaḥ: kathā means praise; those who delight in it are kadhapriyaḥ; root prīñ prītau with kvip; the shortening of the first member before jyā and āp in a name or in the Veda (pūrvapadasya jyāpoḥ…, Pā. 6-3-63); the dha for tha is Vedic; the vocative is unaccented (āmantritanighāta). Dadhidhve: root dhā; liṭ in the present sense by chandasi luṅlaṅliṭaḥ; because of the restriction of the kṛ-group the augment iṭ; accent of the suffix. Vṛktabarhiṣaḥ: vocative, unaccented.

Pratipadārtha (p. 294) — "kadhapriyaḥ — those who are fit to be pleased by praises, and vṛktabarhiṣaḥ — for whom seats of clipped darbha have been prepared (for you [the Maruts]) — O Maruts, you; pitā — a father; hastayoḥ — with his two hands; putraṃ na — as one takes up his son (with love); kad ha — when indeed; nūnam — surely; dadhidhve — will you take us (with affection) and lift us up with your hands?"

Bhāvārtha (p. 294) — "O Maruts, you are fit to be pleased by praises. Darbha seats are prepared for you. When will you, as a father takes up his son lovingly with his two hands, take us up in your hands and show your regard for us?"

English Translation (the source's own, p. 294) — "Maruts, who are fond of praise and for whom a seat of clipped kusa-grass is prepared, when will you take us in your arms as a father does his son ?" (Space before the question mark as printed.)

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 294 - kat ha = kadā — "when?" - kadhapriyaḥ = stutiprītāḥ — "kadha = kathā = stuti, praise: those who love praise." The source adds the English: "Who love to be praised." - vṛktabarhiṣaḥ — "a seat made of darbha grass called barhis that has been clipped. It is the custom to prepare a darbha seat so that the gods may come to the sacrificial altar and sit." - pitā putraṃ na hastayoḥ — "as a father lovingly lifts his son, the object of his affection, with his hands."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (p. 295 — grammar page, noted briefly) - kat: this word stands in place of kadā; the Kāśikā statement dvau cāparau varṇavikāranāśau — द्वौ चापरौ वर्णविकारनाशौ — (Kāśi. 6-3-109): "the adding of a new letter, the going before or after of letters, [and] the change of letter, i.e. a letter put in place of an existing one, and the loss of one of the letters: these operations occur in words like pṛṣodara", so by this the ā of kadā is lost. - kadhapriyaḥ: kathā = praise; "those who delight in it with praise"; root prīñ prītau and kvip; jyāpoḥ saṃjñāchandasor bahulam — ज्यापोः सञ्ज्ञाछन्दसोर्बहुलम् — (Pā. Sū. 6-3-63): in a name or in the Veda, when the latter member follows, ī and āp are shortened, so the ā of kathā is short; tha becomes dha by Vedic usage; the form kadhapriḥ in the singular; the vocative is unaccented. - dadhidhve: root ḍudhāñ dhāraṇapoṣaṇayoḥ; chandasi luṅlaṅliṭaḥ — छन्दसि लुङ्लङ्लिटः — (Pā. Sū. 3-4-6): in the Veda liṭ comes after the root in the sense of any tense, here the present; madhyama plural dhvam, ṭi → e. By kṛsṛbhṛvṛstudruśruvo liṭi — कृसृभृवृस्तुद्रुश्रुवो लिटि — (Pā. Sū. 7-2-13) these roots [being anudāttopadeśa, with the rule ekāca upadeśe 'nudāttāt] avoid iṭ — the prohibition of iṭ [for the kṛ-group] is made a restriction (niyama): only these seven roots avoid iṭ in liṭ, the rest take it ("the kṛādi-niyama"); so dhā takes iṭ before liṭ; the accent is that of the suffix. - vṛktabarhiṣaḥ: vṛkta = clipped, barhis = darbha; a bahuvrīhi, "of whom, to whom"; by the āṣṭamika sūtra ("the sūtra of the eighth [adhyāya]"; no number printed) the vocative is unaccented. Rik 1 ends here (|| 1 ||).

Rik 38.2 (pp. 296–298, PDF 311–313)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 296 = PDF 311 of the better scan; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented)

क्व॑ नू॒नं कद्वो॒ अर्थं॑ गन्ता॑ दि॒वो न पृ॑थि॒व्याः । क्व॑ वो॒ गावो॒ न र॑ण्यन्ति ॥ २ ॥

kva nūnaṃ kad vo arthaṃ gantā divo na pṛthivyāḥ | kva vo gāvo na raṇyanti || 2 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 296; the print puts the Pada directly beneath the Saṃhitā on the same page, and over it the heading bhāvārtha — a misprint of the heading padapāṭhaḥ*, noted and not repeated)*

क्व । नूनम् । कत् । वः । अर्थम् । गन्त । दिवः । न । पृथिव्याः । क्व । वः । गावः । न । रण्यन्ति ॥ २ ॥

kva | nūnam | kat | vaḥ | artham | ganta | divaḥ | na | pṛthivyāḥ | kva | vaḥ | gāvaḥ | na | raṇyanti || 2 ||

(The Saṃhitā prints gantā with a long final vowel, the Pada ganta with a short one; the grammar below accounts for the lengthening.)

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 296)

> हे मरुतो नूनमिदानीं क्व । यूयं कुत्र स्थिताः । कत् कदा वो युष्माकमर्थमरणं देवयजनदेशे गमनं । विलम्बं मा कुरुतेत्यर्थः । दिवो गन्त । द्युलोकाद्गच्छथ । पृथिव्या न गन्त । भूलोकान्मा गच्छत । वो युष्मान् क्व रण्यन्ति । देवयजनरूपायाः पृथिव्या अन्यत्र कुत्र शब्दयन्ति । यजमानाः स्तुवन्ति । तत्र दृष्टान्तः । गावो न । यथा गावो रणन्ति । शब्दयन्ति । तद्वत् ॥

he maruto nūnam idānīṃ kva | yūyaṃ kutra sthitāḥ | kat kadā vo yuṣmākam artham araṇaṃ devayajanadeśe gamanaṃ | vilambaṃ mā kurutety arthaḥ | divo ganta | dyulokād gacchatha | pṛthivyā na ganta | bhūlokān mā gacchata | vo yuṣmān kva raṇyanti | devayajanarūpāyāḥ pṛthivyā anyatra kutra śabdayanti | yajamānāḥ stuvanti | tatra dṛṣṭāntaḥ | gāvo na | yathā gāvo raṇanti | śabdayanti | tadvat ||

Translation: "O Maruts, nūnam — now — kva, where? Where are you staying? Kat — when will your artham, your going, your journey to the place of the divine sacrifice be? Do not delay: so the sense. Divo ganta — you go from the heaven-world; pṛthivyā na ganta — do not go from the earth-world. Vo kva raṇyanti — where else than [on] this earth that is the place of the divine sacrifice do they make a sound [for] you, i.e. the sacrificers praise [you]? The example: gāvo na — as cows raṇanti, make a sound, so."

> क्व । किं शब्दात्सप्तम्यन्तात्किमोऽत् । पा. ५-३-१२ । इत्यत्प्रत्ययः । क्वाति । पा. ७-२-१०५ । इति किमः क्वादेशः । तित्स्वरिते इति स्वरितत्वं । अर्थं । ऋ गतौ । उषिकुषिगार्तिभ्यस्थन् । उ. २-४ । इति भावे थन् । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वं । गन्त । गमेर्लोटि बहुलं छन्दसीति शपो लुक् । थादेशस्य तस्य तप्तनप्तनथनाश्चेति तबादेशः । अत एव जित्त्वाभावादनुदात्तोपदेशेत्यादिनानुनासिकलोपो न भवति । प्रत्ययस्य पित्त्वादनुदात्तत्वे धातुस्वरः । द्व्यचोऽतस्तिङ इति संहितायां दीर्घत्वं । दिवः । ऊडिदमिति विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वं । पृथिव्याः । उदात्तयणो हल्पूर्वादिति विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वं । रण्यन्ति । रणतिः शब्दार्थः । व्यत्ययेन श्यन् ॥

kva | kiṃ śabdāt saptamyantāt kimo 't | pā. 5-3-12 | ity atpratyayaḥ | kvāti | pā. 7-2-105 | iti kimaḥ kvādeśaḥ | titsvarite iti svaritatvaṃ | arthaṃ | ṛ gatau | uṣikuṣigārtibhyas than | u. 2-4 | iti bhāve than | nittvād ādyudāttatvaṃ | ganta | gamer loṭi bahulaṃ chandasīti śapo luk | thādeśasya tasya tapta-nap-tana-thanāś ceti tabādeśaḥ | ata eva jittvābhāvād anudāttopadeśety ādinānunāsikalopo na bhavati | pratyayasya pittvād anudāttatve dhātusvaraḥ | dvyaco 'tastiṅa iti saṃhitāyāṃ dīrghatvaṃ | divaḥ | ūḍidam iti vibhakter udāttatvaṃ | pṛthivyāḥ | udāttayaṇo hal-pūrvād iti vibhakter udāttatvaṃ | raṇyanti | raṇatiḥ śabdārthaḥ | vyatyayena śyan ||

Translation of the grammatical tail (characterized; numerals as printed; the Sanskrit is transcribed as printed): Kva — from the word kim with a locative ending, the suffix at by kimo 't (Pā. 5-3-12); for the kim the substitute kva before at (kvāti); the svarita by tit svaritam. Artham — root ṛ gatau; the Uṇādi than in the abstract sense, the first syllable acute because it is nit. Ganta — loṭ of gam; the śap elided by bahulaṃ chandasi; for tha the substitute tap [the bhāṣya prints tabādeśaḥ, as printed; the grammar page has tap] by tapta-nap-tana-thanāś ca; therefore, as the suffix is not ñit, the nasal is not lost by the rule beginning anudāttopadeśa…; since the suffix, being pit, is unaccented, the accent is that of the root; in the Saṃhitā the lengthening by dvyaco 'tastiṅaḥ. Divaḥ — the ending acute by ūḍidam…. Pṛthivyāḥ — the ending acute by udāttayaṇo hal-pūrvāt. Raṇyanti — raṇati is in the sense of sound; śyan by vyatyaya.

Pratipadārtha (pp. 296–297) — "(O Maruts) nūnam — certainly; (idānīm — now) kva — where are you? vaḥ — your; artham — going (to the place of sacrifice); kat — when? divaḥ — from the heaven-world; ganta — set out (towards the earth); pṛthivyāḥ — from the earth (outwards); na — do not set out; gāvaḥ na — as cows make sound; vaḥ — about you; kva — where else (than our place of sacrifice); raṇyanti — they praise, making sound."

Bhāvārtha (p. 297) — "O Maruts, where are you now, indeed? When will your going to the place of sacrifice be? Come from the heaven-world to the earth; do not go away from the earth. In what place of sacrifice are the sacrificers praising, making sound as cows do?"

English Translation (the source's own, p. 297) — "Maruts, where indeed are you at present ? When do you come here ? Depart from heaven and not from the earth. Where do they worship you with sounds of praise as the lowing of the cattle ?"

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 297 - artham = ṛ gatau | artham araṇaṃ gamanam — "coming, arrival." - na ganta = na gacchata — "here the ṛṣi prays to the Marut-deities to come from the heaven-world, and prays them not to leave the earth. For the form of the Marut-deities on the earth is very swift and terrible and brings destruction to dwelling-places such as houses; so he may be praying that they should not come in the form seen on the earth (that is, together with clouds made of thunder, hail and lightning) but should come here in their own true form, shining in the heaven-world." (Printed with the hedge "may be", prārthisirabahudu*; the whole note is the Kannada author's.)* - kva vaḥ gāvaḥ na raṇyanti — "the sense is that the sacrificers and others praise you in other places than this one, with a loud sound, as cows low."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 297–298 — grammar page, noted briefly) - kva: from the word kim, with a locative ending, the suffix at optionally by kimo 'ṭ — किमोऽत् — (Pā. Sū. 5-3-12); the locative ending is elided; kim + a; kvāti — क्वाति — (Pā. Sū. 7-2-105): before at the substitute kva for kim; then kva + a, by yasyeti ca the loss of the a of kva; the suffix is tit and gives the svarita. - artham: ṛ gatau; uṣikuṣigārtibhyas than — उषिकुषिगार्तिभ्यस्थन् — (printed "Pā. Sū. 2-161", as printed; the bhāṣya has U. 2-4): than; guṇa, raparatva; the suffix is nit, so the first syllable is acute. - ganta: gaml̥ gatau, loṭ, substitute for tha; śap elided by bahulaṃ chandasi (Pā. Sū. 2-4-73); tapta-nap-tana-thanāś ca gives tap, so the suffix is pit, sārvadhātukam apit does not apply, and so [the ṅit effects such as loss of the nasal] do not occur; being pit the suffix is unaccented and the root accent remains; dvyaco 'tastiṅaḥ — द्व्यचोऽतस्तिङः — (Pā. Sū. 6-3-135) the long vowel in the Saṃhitā. - pṛthivyāḥ: prath prakhyāne; pratheḥ ṣivan saṃprasāraṇaṃ ca — प्रथेः षिवन् सम्प्रसारणं च — (U. Sū. 1-148): ṣivan, with saṃprasāraṇa; ṣidgaurādibhyaś ca — षिद्गौरादिभ्यश्च — (no number printed) gives ṅīṣ; the suffix accent makes it acute; before jas/ṅas the augment āṭ by āṇ nadyāḥ — आण्नद्याः — (Pā. Sū. 7-3-112); āṭaś ca

— आटश्च — (Pā. Sū. 6-1-90) vṛddhi; pṛthivī + āṭ + as, yaṇ for ī, which has come in place of the acute vowel; udāttayaṇo hal-pūrvāt — उदात्तयणो हल्पूर्वात् — (Pā. Sū. 6-1-174): when a yaṇ standing in the place of an acute vowel is preceded by a consonant, the following ending of [a word in the nadī-class, in ajādi etc.] is acute: so the ending is acute. - raṇyanti: raṇa śabdārthaḥ, first class; śyan has come in place of śap. Rik 2 ends here (|| 2 ||).

Rik 38.3 (pp. 298–300, PDF 313–315)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 298 = PDF 313 of the better scan; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. The word kvo is followed in the print by the numeral ३ (the pluti sign), which carries both an underline and a stroke, see note below)

क्व॑ वः सु॒म्ना नव्यां॑सि मरु॑त्तः क्व॑ सुवि॒ता । क्वो३॑ वि॒श्वा॑नि॒ सौभ॑गा ॥ ३ ॥

kva vaḥ sumnā navyāṃsi marutaḥ kva suvitā | kvo [3] viśvāni saubhagā || 3 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 298)

क्व । वः । सुम्ना । नव्यांसि । मरुतः । क्व । सुविता । क्वो इति [३] । विश्वानि । सौभगा ॥ ३ ॥

kva | vaḥ | sumnā | navyāṃsi | marutaḥ | kva | suvitā | kvo iti [3] | viśvāni | saubhagā || 3 ||

(Note: the sign after kvo is the numeral ३, the pluti (prolongation) sign, in the Saṃhitā (where it bears an underline and a stroke, read on a 450-dpi crop) and again after kvo iti in the Pada; the bhāṣya below glosses only kvo*.)*

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 299)

हे मरुतो वो युष्माकं सम्बन्धीनि नव्यांसि नवतराणि सुम्ना प्रजापशुरूपाणि धनानि । प्रजा वै पशवः सुम्नं । तै. सं. ५-४-६-६ । इति श्रुत्यन्तरात् । क्व कुत्र वर्तन्ते । तथा सुविता शोभनानि प्राप्याणि मणिमुक्तादीनि भवदीयानि क्व कुत्र वर्तन्ते । विश्वानि सर्वाणि सौभगा सौभाग्यरूपाणि गजाश्वादीनि क्वो कुत्र वा वर्तन्ते । भवदीयैः सुम्नादिभिः सर्वैः सहागन्तव्यमित्यर्थः ॥ सुम्ना । शेश्छन्दसि बहुलमिति शेर्लोपः । नव्यांसि । नवशब्दादीयसुनीकारलोपश्छान्दसः । सुविता । सुष्ठु इतानि सुवितानि । तन्वादीनां छन्दसि बहुलमुपसंख्यानं । पा. ६-४-७७-१ । इत्युवजादेशः । सौभगा । सुभगान्मन्त्र इति तस्य भाव इत्यर्थेऽञ् । पूर्ववच्छेर्लोपः ॥

he maruto vo yuṣmākaṃ sambandhīni navyāṃsi navatarāṇi sumnā prajāpaśurūpāṇi dhanāni | prajā vai paśavaḥ sumnaṃ | tai. saṃ. 5-4-6-6 | iti śrutyantarāt | kva kutra vartante | tathā suvitā śobhanāni prāpyāṇi maṇimuktādīni bhavadīyāni kva kutra vartante | viśvāni sarvāṇi saubhagā saubhāgyarūpāṇi gajāśvādīni kvo kutra vā vartante | bhavadīyaiḥ sumnādibhiḥ sarvaiḥ sahāgantavyam ity arthaḥ || sumnā | śeś chandasi bahulam iti śer lopaḥ | navyāṃsi | navaśabdād īyasunīkāralopaś chāndasaḥ | suvitā | suṣṭhu itāni suvitāni | tanvādīnāṃ chandasi bahulam upasaṃkhyānaṃ | pā. 6-4-77-1 | ity uvajādeśaḥ | saubhagā | subhagān mantra iti tasya bhāva ity arthe 'ñ | pūrvavac cher lopaḥ ||

Translation: "O Maruts, vaḥ — yours: navyāṃsi, newer ones; sumnā — riches in the form of progeny and cattle. 'Progeny and cattle indeed are sumna' (Tai. Saṃ. 5-4-6-6), from another Śruti. Kva — where do they exist? Likewise suvitā — fine things to be had, jewels, pearls and the like, belonging to you: kva, where do they exist? Viśvāni — all; saubhagā — [things] of the nature of good fortune, elephants, horses and the like: kvo, where do they exist? The sense: [you] are to come together with all your riches, sumna and the rest. Sumnā: by śeś chandasi bahulam the loss of śi. Navyāṃsi: from the word nava, [the suffix] īyasun, and the loss of the a is Vedic. Suvitā: suṣṭhu itāni, 'well gone-to'; by the supplementary rule tanvādīnāṃ chandasi bahulam, the substitute uvaṅ (Pā. 6-4-77-1, i.e. the vārttika on 6-4-77). Saubhagā: from subhaga, by mantra… the suffix añ in the sense 'its state'; the loss of śi as before."

Pratipadārtha (p. 299) — "marutaḥ — O Maruts; vaḥ — your (own); navyāṃsi — many new; sumnā — riches in the form of progeny and cattle; kva — where? suvitā — your priceless possessions such as diamonds and cat's-eye gems [vajra-vaidūrya]; kva — where? viśvāni — all; saubhagā — your auspicious riches such as elephants and horses; kvo — where are they? (Come to our place of sacrifice with all [your] riches.)"

Bhāvārtha (p. 299) — "O Maruts, where are your most new riches in the form of progeny and cattle? Where are your priceless riches such as diamonds and cat's-eyes? Where are all your auspicious riches such as elephants and horses? (Come to our place of sacrifice with all riches.)"

English Translation (the source's own, p. 299) — "O Maruts, where are your new treasures ? Where are your valuables ? Where are all your gifts of prosperity ?"

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 299–300 - navyāṃsi = navatarāṇi, navīyāṃsi — "newer ones." - sumnā = sumnāni — "possessions such as progeny and cattle." Prajā vai paśavaḥ sumnam — "that is: sons, grandsons and other offspring, that is, people, and cattle such as cows and buffaloes, are called riches: there is a śruti sentence (Tai. Saṃ. 5-4-6-6). Even in these days, people who are not townsfolk reckon their standing and honour in society, and their wealth and the like, by the wealth of cattle they have — cows, sheep, goats, horses and so on." - suvitā = śobhanāni prāpyāṇi maṇimuktādīni — "priceless things that everyone greatly desires." - saubhagā — "good fortunes: wealth such as elephants and horses."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (p. 300 — grammar page, noted briefly) - sumnā: śeś chandasi bahulam — शेश्छन्दसि बहुलम् — (Pā. Sū. 6-1-70): the ś-suffix [the śi ending] is elided, so sumnā is there for sumnāni, with the long ā. - navyāṃsi: after nava, dvivacanavibhajyopapade tarabīyasunau — द्विवचनविभज्योपपदे तरबीयसुनौ — (Pā. Sū. 5-3-57) gives īyasun; by yasyeti ca the loss of the a of nava; the loss of the ending is Vedic. - suvitā: suṣṭhu itāni; in the sūtra aci śnudhātubhruvāṃ yvor iyaṅuvaṅau the vārttika tanvādīnāṃ chandasi bahulam upasaṃkhyānam — तन्वादीनां छन्दसि बहुलमुपसङ्ख्यानम् — is read: in the section that lays down uvaṅ, iyaṅ and uvaṅ come variously in the Veda for words beginning with tanu; by this, for the prefix su, uvaṅ: suvitāni; the loss of śi as before. - saubhagā: prāṇabhṛjjātivayovacanodgātrādibhyo 'ñ — प्राणभृज्जातिवयोवचनोद्गात्रादिभ्योऽञ् — (Pā. Sū. 5-1-129): in the udgātrādi group of that sūtra the words subhaga and mantra are read; so after subhaga in the abstract sense añ; ādivṛddhi; the loss of śi as before. Rik 3 ends here (|| 3 ||).

Rik 38.4 (pp. 301–303, PDF 316–318)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 301 = PDF 316 of the better scan; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented)

> यद्यूयं पृश्निमातरो मर्तासः स्यातन । स्तोता वो अमृतः स्यात् ॥ ४ ॥

yad yūyaṃ pṛśnimātaro martāsaḥ syātana | stotā vo amṛtaḥ syāt || 4 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 301)

> यत् । यूयम् । पृश्निऽमातरः । मर्तासः । स्यातन । स्तोता । वः । अमृतः । स्यात् ॥ ४ ॥

yat | yūyam | pṛśni-mātaraḥ | martāsaḥ | syātana | stotā | vaḥ | amṛtaḥ | syāt || 4 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 301)

> हे पृश्निनामकधेनुपुत्रा मरुतो यूयं यद्यपि मर्तासो मनुष्याः स्यातन भवेत तथापि वो युष्माकं स्तोता यजमानोऽमृतः स्यात् । देवो भवेत् ॥ पृश्निमातरः । पृश्निर्माता येषां ते । समासान्तविधेरनित्यत्वान्नद्यृतश्चेति कबभावः । पा. ५-४-१५३ । मर्तासः । असिहसीत्यादिना म्रियतेस्तन्प्रत्ययः । आज्ञसेरसुक् । स्यातन । अस्तेर्लिङ् तस्य । तप्तनप्तनथनाश्चेति तनादेशः । यासुट् उदात्तत्वं । अमृतः । नञो जरमरमित्रमृताः इत्युत्तरपदाद्युदात्तत्वं ॥

he pṛśnināmakadhenuputrā maruto yūyaṃ yadyapi martāso manuṣyāḥ syātana bhaveta tathāpi vo yuṣmākaṃ stotā yajamāno 'mṛtaḥ syāt | devo bhavet || pṛśnimātaraḥ | pṛśnir mātā yeṣāṃ te | samāsāntavidher anityatvān nadyṛtaś ceti kabbhāvaḥ | pā. 5-4-153 | martāsaḥ | asihasīty ādinā mriyates tan pratyayaḥ | ājjaser asuk | syātana | asteḥ liṅ tasya | tapta-nap-tana-thanāś ceti tanādeśaḥ | yāsuṭ udāttatvaṃ | amṛtaḥ | naño jaramaramitramṛtāḥ ity uttarapadādyudāttatvaṃ ||

Translation: "O Maruts, sons of the cow named Pṛśni, yūyam — you — yadyapi, even if you were martāsaḥ, men, syātana, were to be so, nevertheless vaḥ stotā, your praiser, the sacrificer, amṛtaḥ syāt, would be immortal: would become a god. Pṛśnimātaraḥ: those whose mother is Pṛśni; the kap does not come, since the samāsānta rule is not constant, [though nadyṛtaś ca would give it] (Pā. 5-4-153). Martāsaḥ: from mṛ [mriyate], the suffix tan by the rule beginning asi-hasi-…; the asuk augment of jas by ājjaser asuk. Syātana: liṅ of as, for its ending the substitute tana by tapta-nap-tana-thanāś ca; the augment yāsuṭ, acute. Amṛtaḥ: by naño jaramaramitramṛtāḥ the first syllable of the latter member is acute."

Pratipadārtha (p. 301) — "pṛśnimātaraḥ — O Maruts, children of the cow called Pṛśni; yūyam — you; martāsaḥ — as men; yady api syātana — if perchance you were; vaḥ — your; stotā — the devotee who sings your praises; amṛtaḥ — immortal; syāt — would be."

Bhāvārtha (p. 301) — "O Maruts, children of the cow called Pṛśni, even if by chance you had belonged to the company of men, still the mortals who sing your praises would become immortals."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 302) — "Sons of Prisni, if you had been mortals your praiser (worshipper) would have become immortal."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 302 - “The sense of this Ṛk is a little disjointed. What is the main intention? — O Maruts, even if you were mortals (men liable to death), men like us, who sing your extraordinary qualities, would by the greatness of singing your qualities become deathless, amartyas (gods). To explain that the power of the Maruts is wonderful, the ṛṣi has spoken this kind of comparison.” - pṛśnimātaraḥ — “the Maruts whose mother is Pṛśni, the cow of the world of the gods; the Marut-deities are well known as the sons of Pṛśni.” - martāsaḥ = martyāḥ — “those subject to death: that is, men.” - amṛtaḥ = maraṇarahitaḥ devaḥ — “a god, free from death.”

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 302–303 — grammar page, noted briefly) - pṛśnimātaraḥ: a bahuvrīhi, “of whom Pṛśni is the mother”; pṛśnimātṛ ends in ṛ; by nadyṛtaś ca — नद्यृतश्च — (Pā. Sū. 5-4-153) the suffix kap comes after a bahuvrīhi that has a nadī-ending or a final ṛ, and being a samāsānta it is obtained; but by the vārttika pratereṃśvādayas tatpuruṣe (printed “Vā. Sū. 6-2-193”) the words aṃśu and the rest after prati in a tatpuruṣa are final-acute; in that group the word rājan is read, and by rājāhaḥsakhibhyaś ṭac (Pā. Sū. 5-4-91) ṭac comes after a tatpuruṣa ending in rājan, so final-acuteness is established; therefore the reading of rājan in this group would be pointless, which makes known the paribhāṣā samāsāntavidhir anityaḥ (Paribhā. 89). Or else: in the sūtra ṛkpūrabdhūḥpathām ānakṣe (Pā. Sū. 5-4-74) the word pathām is used without a samāsānta suffix, which likewise makes known that the samāsānta rule is not constant. Therefore here, by this paribhāṣā, kap does not come. - martāsaḥ: mṛṅ prāṇatyāge; asi-hasi-mṛ-… (U. Sū. 3-366, as printed): the suffix tan; guṇa, raparatva, jas, and the augment asuk by ājjaser asuk. - syātana: as bhuvi; liṅ; madhyama tha; by tasthasthamipāṃ tāṃtamtāmaḥ the substitute ta; then tana by tapta-nap-tana-thanāś ca; śap elided because the root is adādi; by yāsuṭ parasmaipadeṣūdātto ṅicca — यासुट् परस्मैपदेषूदात्तो ङिच्च — (Pā. Sū. 3-4-103) the augment yāsuṭ: as + yās + tana; salopa; by śnasor allopaḥ the loss of the root’s a; yāsuṭ is acute. - amṛtaḥ: nañ jaramaramitramṛtāḥ — नञ्जरमरमित्रमृताः — (Pā. Sū. 6-2-116): when they follow nañ, these latter members (jara, mara, mitra, mṛta) are first-syllable acute. Rik 4 ends here (|| 4 ||).

Rik 38.5 (pp. 303–305, PDF 318–320)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 303 = PDF 318 of the better scan; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented)

मा वो॑ मृ॒गो न यव॑से जरि॒ता भू॒दजो॑ष्यः । प॒था य॒मस्य॑ गा॒दुप॑ ॥ ५ ॥

mā vo mṛgo na yavase jaritā bhūd ajoṣyaḥ | pathā yamasya gād upa || 5 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 303)

मा । वः । मृगः । न । यवसे । जरिता । भूत् । अजोष्यः । पथा । यमस्य । गात् । उप ॥ ५ ॥

mā | vaḥ | mṛgaḥ | na | yavase | jaritā | bhūt | ajoṣyaḥ | pathā | yamasya | gāt | upa || 5 ||

(The bhāṣya of Rik 5 begins at the foot of p. 303 and is not yet written.)

Rik 38.5, continued (from the foot of p. 303; the Saṃhitā and Pada are above)

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (pp. 303–304)

> हे मरुतो वो युष्माकं जरिता स्तोताजोष्योऽसेव्यो मा भूत् । तत्र दृष्टान्तः । मृगो न यवसे । यथा तृणे भक्षणीये मृगः कदाचिदप्यसेव्यो न भवति किंतु सर्वदा तृणं भक्षयति तद्वत् । किंच स स्तोता यमस्य पथा यमलोकसम्बन्धिमार्गेण मोप गात् । मा गच्छतु । तस्य मरणं मा भूदित्यर्थः ॥

he maruto vo yuṣmākaṃ jaritā stotājoṣyo 'sevyo mā bhūt | tatra dṛṣṭāntaḥ | mṛgo na yavase | yathā tṛṇe bhakṣaṇīye mṛgaḥ kadācid apy asevyo na bhavati kiṃtu sarvadā tṛṇaṃ bhakṣayati tadvat | kiṃca sa stotā yamasya pathā yamalokasambandhimārgeṇa mopa gāt | mā gacchatu | tasya maraṇaṃ mā bhūd ity arthaḥ ||

Translation: "O Maruts, vaḥ — your jaritā, praiser, ajoṣyaḥ — one not to be served [i.e. one who gives no service] — let him not be. The example: mṛgo na yavase — as a deer is never unfriendly to grass that is to be eaten, but eats the grass at all times, so. And further, yamasya pathā — by the road leading to Yama's world — mopa gāt, let him not go: let there be no death for him: so the sense."

> जरिता । जॄष् वयोहानौ । स्तुतिकर्मेति यास्कः । नि. १०-८ । तृचीडागमः । चित्त्वादन्तोदात्तत्वं । भूत् । लुङि गातिस्थेति सिचो लुक् । न माङ्योगे इत्यडभावः । अजोष्यः । जुषी प्रीतिसेवनयोः । ऋहलोर्ण्यदिति कर्मणि ण्यत् । नञ्समासेऽव्ययपूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं । पथा । तृतीयैकवचने भस्य टेर्लोपः । पा. ७-१-८८ । इति टिलोपः । उदात्तनिवृत्तिस्वरेण विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वं । गात् । एतेर्लुङीणो गा लुङीति गादेशः । गातिस्थेति सिचो लुक् । पूर्ववदडभावः ॥ ५ ॥

jaritā | jṝṣ vayohānau | stutikarmeti yāskaḥ | ni. 10-8 | tṛcīḍāgamaḥ | cittvād antodāttatvaṃ | bhūt | luṅi gātistheti sico luk | na māṅyoge ity aḍabhāvaḥ | ajoṣyaḥ | juṣī prītisevanayoḥ | ṛhaloṇ ṇyad iti karmaṇi ṇyat | nañsamāse 'vyayapūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ | pathā | tṛtīyaikavacane bhasya ṭer lopaḥ | pā. 7-1-88 | iti ṭilopaḥ | udāttanivṛttisvareṇa vibhakter udāttatvaṃ | gāt | eter luṅīṇo gā luṅīti gādeśaḥ | gātisthā iti sico luk | pūrvavad aḍabhāvaḥ || 5 ||

Translation of the grammatical tail (characterized; numerals as printed): Jaritā — root jṝṣ vayohānau; "stutikarmā", says Yāska (Ni. 10-8), so the action here is praise; the suffix tṛc with the augment iṭ; the suffix is cit, so the final syllable is acute. Bhūt — in luṅ the sic is elided by gātisthā…; no augment aṭ in connection with mā. Ajoṣyaḥ — juṣī prītisevanayoḥ; ṇyat in the passive by ṛhaloṇ ṇyat; a nañ-compound, so the accent of the first member as an indeclinable. Pathā — in the instrumental singular the ṭi of the bha-stem is lost (Pā. 7-1-88); the ending is acute by the accent that follows the disappearance of an acute. Gāt — for iṇ (eti), in luṅ, the substitute gā by iṇo gā luṅi; the sic elided as before; no augment as before.

Pratipadārtha (p. 304) — "yavase — (O Maruts) in regard to the pasture-grass that is its support of life; mṛgo na — as a deer [or beast] shows no disregard; vaḥ — your; jaritā — devotee; ajoṣyaḥ — without devotion, one who is without service; mā bhūt — let him not be; (and) yamasya pathā — by the road that goes to Yama's world; mā upa gāt — let him not go."

Bhāvārtha (p. 304) — "O Maruts, as a deer shows no disregard in regard to the pasture that supports its life, let your devotee never be lacking in devotion to you and in service to you. And let him not go on the road to Yama's world."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 304) — "Never may your worshipper be indifferent to you as a deer (or animal) is never indifferent to pasture, so that he may not tread the path of Yama."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 304–305 - yavase — "a place filled with grass fit for grazing; a pasture." - jaritā = stotā — "one who praises." - ajoṣyaḥ — "one who does not praise." - pathā yamasya — "the road of Yama's world. To tread the road to Yama's world is to die, to perish." - Main intention (mukhyābhiprāya) — "No deer ever fails to turn to a pasture rich in grass and water: it does not neglect it; there is no case of its not grazing there. Likewise, let the man who praises you not fail to praise you through disregard — that is, let him praise. Let such a man not take the road of Yama — that is, let him not fall under the power of death."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 305 — grammar page, noted briefly) - jaritā: root jṝṣ vayohānau; since Yāska says "stutikarmā" (Niru. 10-8), the action here is praise; ṇvultṛcau — ण्वुल्तृचौ — (Pā. Sū. 3-1-133) gives tṛc, which takes iṭ; citaḥ gives the final acute. - bhūt: bhū sattāyām; luṅ; by na māṅyoge — न माङ्योगे — (Pā. Sū. 6-4-74) no aṭ or āṭ where mā is joined; tip; itaś ca — इतश्च — (no number printed) loss of the i; cli → sic; gātisthāghupābhūbhyaḥ sicaḥ parasmaipadeṣu — गातिस्थाघुपाभूभ्यः सिचः परस्मैपदेषु — (Pā. Sū. 2-4-77) the sic is elided after these. - ajoṣyaḥ: juṣī prītisevanayoḥ; ṛhaloṇ ṇyat — ऋहलोर्ण्यत् — (Pā. Sū. 3-1-124) ṇyat; guṇa of the penultimate; "na joṣyaḥ", a nañ-compound; tatpuruṣe tulyārtha… gives the accent of the first member as an indeclinable. - pathā: from pathin, the instrumental singular ṭā; pathin + ā; bhasya ṭer lopaḥ — भस्य टेर्लोपः — (Pā. Sū. 7-1-88): for the bha-stems pathin, mathin, ṛbhukṣin the ṭi is lost, so the in is lost; anudāttasya ca yatrodāttalopaḥ — अनुदात्तस्य च यत्रोदात्तलोपः — (Pā. Sū. 6-1-161): the ending is acute, being the cause of the loss of the acute of in. - gāt: iṇ gatau; luṅ; tip; loss of i; iṇo gā luṅi — इणो गा लुङि — (Pā. Sū. 2-4-45) gā for iṇ; "gātisthā…" [the print adds the remark gāpāv iheṇādeśapibatī gṛhyete — गापाविहेणादेशपिबती गृह्येते — "here gā and pā mean the substitute for iṇ and pibati"]; so the sic is elided, and as before no aṭ. Rik 5 ends here (|| 5 ||).

Rik 38.6 (pp. 306–310, PDF 321–325)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 306 = PDF 321 of the better scan; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented)

मो षु णः परापरा निर्ऋतिर्दुर्हणा वधीत् । पदीष्ट तृष्णया सह ॥ ६ ॥ mo ṣu ṇaḥ parāparā nirṛtir durhaṇā vadhīt | padīṣṭa tṛṣṇayā saha || 6 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 306)

मो इति । सु । नः । परा-परा । निः-ऋतिः । दुः-हना । वधीत् । पदीष्ट । तृष्णया । सह ॥ ६ ॥

mo iti | su | naḥ | parā-parā | niḥ-ṛtiḥ | duḥ-hanā | vadhīt | padīṣṭa | tṛṣṇayā | saha || 6 ||

(The Pada prints duḥ-hanā and the bhāṣya durhaṇā*: the* n/ṇ difference is as printed.)

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 306)

> हे मरुतो नोऽस्मान् निर्ऋतिः रक्षोजातिदेवता मो षु वधीत् । सर्वथा वधं मा कार्षीत् । कीदृशी । परापरा उत्कृष्टादप्युत्कृष्टा । अतिबलेत्यर्थः । अत एव दुर्हणा केनापि हन्तुं दुःशक्या । सा निर्ऋतिस्तृष्णया सह पदीष्ट । पततु । अस्मदीया तृष्णा बाधिका निर्ऋतिश्च विनश्यत्वित्यर्थः ॥

he maruto no 'smān nirṛtiḥ rakṣojātidevatā mo ṣu vadhīt | sarvathā vadhaṃ mā kārṣīt | kīdṛśī | parāparā utkṛṣṭād apy utkṛṣṭā | atibaletyarthaḥ | ata eva durhaṇā kenāpi hantuṃ duḥśakyā | sā nirṛtis tṛṣṇayā saha padīṣṭa | patatu | asmadīyā tṛṣṇā bādhikā nirṛtiś ca vinaśyatv ity arthaḥ ||

Translation: "O Maruts, naḥ — us — nirṛtiḥ, the goddess of the rākṣasa kind, mo ṣu vadhīt — let her in no way make a killing. What is she like? Parāparā — better than the best; the sense is 'exceedingly strong'; and for this very reason durhaṇā, one whom no one can easily kill. May that Nirṛti padīṣṭa, fall, together with tṛṣṇayā, craving: the sense is — may our craving, the tormentor, and Nirṛti perish."

> मो षु णः । सुञ इति षत्वं । नश्च धातुस्थोरुषुभ्य इति णत्वं । दुर्हणा । ईषद्दुःसुष्वित्यादिना हन्तेः कर्मणि खल् । लित्स्वरेण प्रत्ययात्पूर्वस्योदात्तत्वं । वधीत् । लुङः हन्तेर्लुङि च । पा. २-४-४३ । इति वधादेशः । सिचीडागमः । वधादेशस्यादन्तत्वादेकाच उपदेश इतीट्प्रतिषेधो न भवति । अतो लोपे सति तस्य स्थानिवत्त्वादतो हलादेः । पा. ७-२-७ । इति वृद्ध्यभावः । इट ईटि । पा. ८-२-२८ । इति सिचो लोपः । पदीष्ट । पद गतौ । आशीर्लिङः छन्दस्युभयथेति सार्वधातुकत्वात्स्लोपः । अर्धधातुकत्वात्सुडागमः । प्रत्ययस्वरः । तृष्णया । ञित्तृषा पिपासायां । तृषिकुषिरसिभ्यः किच्च । उ. ३-१२ । इति नप्रत्ययः । निदित्यनुवृत्तेराद्युदात्तत्वं ॥

mo ṣu ṇaḥ | suñ iti ṣatvaṃ | naś ca dhātusthoruṣubhya iti ṇatvaṃ | durhaṇā | īṣad-duḥ-suṣv ity ādinā hanteḥ karmaṇi khal | litsvareṇa pratyayāt pūrvasyodāttatvaṃ | vadhīt | luṅaḥ hanter luṅi ca | pā. 2-4-43 | iti vadhādeśaḥ | sicīḍāgamaḥ | vadhādeśasyādantatvād ekāca upadeśa itīṭpratiṣedho na bhavati | ato lope sati tasya sthānivattvād ato halāder laghoḥ | pā. 7-2-7 | iti vṛddhyabhāvaḥ | iṭa īṭi | pā. 8-2-28 | iti sico lopaḥ | padīṣṭa | pada gatau | āśīrliṅaḥ chandasy ubhayatheti sārvadhātukatvāt slopaḥ | ardhadhātukatvāt suḍāgamaḥ | pratyayasvaraḥ | tṛṣṇayā | ñittṛṣā pipāsāyāṃ | tṛṣi-kuṣi-rasibhyaḥ kic ca | u. 3-12 | iti napratyayaḥ | nid ity anuvṛtter ādyudāttatvaṃ ||

Translation of the grammatical tail (characterized; numerals as printed): Mo ṣu ṇaḥ — the ṣ by suñ…, the ṇ by naś ca dhātusthoruṣubhyaḥ. Durhaṇā — khal after han in the passive-abstract sense by īṣad-duḥ-suṣu…; by the lit accent the syllable before the suffix is acute. Vadhīt — in luṅ the substitute vadha for han (Pā. 2-4-43); the augment iṭ with sic; because vadha ends in a, the prohibition of iṭ by ekāca upadeśe… does not apply [since the substitute is not a monosyllable]; when the a is lost, by its sthānivadbhāva the vṛddhi of ato halāder laghoḥ (Pā. 7-2-7) does not occur; the sic is elided by iṭa īṭi (Pā. 8-2-28). Padīṣṭa — root pad gatau; āśīrliṅ; by chandasy ubhayathā the s is lost because the form is sārvadhātuka; because it is ārdhadhātuka the augment suṭ; accent of the suffix. Tṛṣṇayā — root ñitṛṣā pipāsāyām; the suffix na, from the Uṇādi rule beginning tṛṣi-kuṣi-rasibhyaḥ kic ca (U. 3-12); because nit is carried forward, the first syllable is acute.

Pratipadārtha (pp. 306–307) — "parāparā — (O Maruts) stronger even than the strongest (and for that very reason); durhaṇā — one that no one can kill; nirṛtiḥ — the goddess who rules over the rākṣasas; mo ṣu vadhīt — let her by no means kill us; tṛṣṇayā saha — together with our evil desires; padīṣṭa — let her fall (downwards): let her be destroyed."

Bhāvārtha (p. 307) — "O Maruts, may the goddess called Nirṛti, the ruling goddess of the rākṣasas, who is stronger even than the strongest and for that very reason one whom no one can kill, not by any means kill us. May that goddess fall down and be destroyed together with our evil desires."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 307) — "Let not the most powerful and indestructible Nirriti destroy us ; let him perish with our evil desires." (The pronoun "him" for Nirṛti is as printed.)

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 307 - parāparā = utkṛṣṭād apy utkṛṣṭā | atibalā — "exceedingly strong." - nirṛtiḥ — "a deity belonging to the rākṣasa kind. It is the nature of rākṣasas to do harm to men. In the same way the sense is: let that Nirṛti, who belongs to that company of rākṣasas, not cause us harm." - durhaṇā = kenāpi hantuṃ duḥśakyā — "impossible to be killed by anyone." - padīṣṭa = patatu — "let her fall; be destroyed." - tṛṣṇayā — "hope, evil desire, wicked expectations" — followed by the source's English "evil desires".

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 307–310 — large grammar pages, characterized in outline; sūtra numbers checked against the print) - mo ṣu ṇaḥ: "explained in the passage 'ūrdhvā ū ṣu ṇa ūtaye' (Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-36-13)." - durhaṇā: root han hiṃsāgatyoḥ; īṣad-duḥ-suṣu kṛcchrākṛcchrārtheṣu khal — ईषद्दुःसुषु कृच्छ्राकृच्छ्रार्थेषु खल् — (Pā. Sū. 3-3-126): with īṣat, dus, su as upapada, in the senses "difficult" and "not difficult", khal after roots in the abstract and passive senses; the print adds that dus is upapada in the sense of "difficulty" and the others in "ease"; dus + han + a; sasajuṣo ruḥ — ससजुषो रुः — (no number printed) gives ru; ajādyataṣ ṭāp — अजाद्यतष्टाप् — (Pā. Sū. 4-1-4) gives ṭāp in the feminine; savarṇadīrgha; suduroḥ pratiṣedho… — the print says that the upasarga status of dur is prohibited for the purpose of ṇatva by a rule beginning suduroḥ pratiṣedho numvidhitatvaṇatvaṣatveṣu — सुदुरोः प्रतिषेधो नुम्विधितत्वणत्वषत्वेषु — (Pā. Sū. 1-4-60-8), but that this prohibition does not apply in the Veda; so hanteḥ — हन्तेः — (Pā. Sū. 8-4-22): an n after the r and ṣ of an upasarga becomes ṇ (durhaṇā); by liti — लिति — (Pā. Sū. 6-1-193) the syllable before the suffix is acute. - vadhīt: han hiṃsāgatyoḥ, adādi, luṅ; luṅi ca (Pā. Sū. 2-4-43) gives vadha for han (ending in a); cleḥ sic — च्लेः सिच् — (Pā. Sū. 3-1-44); augment iṭ; [a kārikā on the anudāttopadeśa roots reads han, so han is anudāttopadeśa]; ekāca upadeśe 'nudāttāt — एकाच उपदेशेऽनुदात्तात् — (Pā. Sū. 2-1-10 [as printed; for 7-2-10]) would prohibit iṭ for a monosyllabic anudātta root; the print then explains, quoting the Kaumudī — "अच इत्येकत्वविवक्षया तद्व्रतो ग्रहणेन च सिद्धे एकग्रहणसामर्थ्यादनेकाजुपदेशो व्यावर्त्यते । तेन वधेर्हन्त्युपदेशे एकाजोऽपि न निषेधः । आदेशोपदेशेऽनेकाच्त्वात्" (aca ity ekatvavivakṣayā tadvato grahaṇena ca siddhe ekagrahaṇasāmarthyād anekājupadeśo vyāvartyate | tena vadher hanty upadeśe ekājo 'pi na niṣedhaḥ | ādeśopadeśe 'nekāctvāt; "since

[a single vowel] is already secured by the singular in acaḥ and by [the rule of] taking what has it, the force of the word eka excludes [roots] with more than one vowel in their upadeśa; so for vadha, though han is monosyllabic in its upadeśa, there is no prohibition, because in the upadeśa of the substitute it has more than one vowel") — that, because the singular acaḥ and the word ekāc in that rule imply a single syllable in the upadeśa, the prohibition does not apply to the substitute vadha, which has two syllables; so the augment iṭ comes. Then, as to vṛddhi: ato lopaḥ — अतो लोपः — (Pā. Sū. 6-4-48) the a of vadha is lost before an ārdhadhātuka; ato halāder laghoḥ — अतो हलादेर्लघोः — (Pā. Sū. 7-2-7) would give optional vṛddhi; but the lost a counts as present by acaḥ parasmin pūrvavidhau — अचः परस्मिन् पूर्वविधौ — (Pā. Sū. 1-1-57), and so on; so no vṛddhi; tip; itaś ca (Pā. Sū. 3-4-100) loss of the i; asti-sico 'pṛkte — अस्तिसिचोऽपृक्ते — (Pā. Sū. 7-3-96) the augment īṭ; vadh + is + īt; iṭa īṭi — इट ईटि — (Pā. Sū. 8-2-28) the sic is lost; vadh + i + īt; akaḥ savarṇe dīrghaḥ — अकः सवर्णे दीर्घः — (Pā. Sū. 6-1-101) the long vowel; the print argues that, though pūrvatrāsiddham — पूर्वत्रासिद्धम् — (Pā. Sū. 8-2-1) would make the sic-loss of the Tripādī invisible, the rule sic-lopa ekādeśe siddho vācyaḥ makes it effective; vadh + īt = vadhīt; bahulaṃ chandasy amāṅyoge 'pi — बहुलं छन्दस्यमाङ्योगेऽपि — (Pā. Sū. 6-4-75): in the Veda the aṭ/āṭ is variously absent even without mā; hence no aṭ. - padīṣṭa: pada gatau, divādi; āśīrliṅ, the substitute ta; liṅaḥ sīyuṭ — लिङः सीयुट् — (Pā. Sū. 3-4-102) the augment sīyuṭ in the ātmanepada: pad + sīy + ta; suṭ tithoḥ — सुट् तिथोः — (Pā. Sū. 3-4-107) suṭ; chandasy ubhayathā — छन्दस्युभयथा — (Pā. Sū. 3-4-117) the suffix in the Veda is both sārvadhātuka and ārdhadhātuka; the paribhāṣā "an augment is taken together with what it joins" (printed yadāgamās tadguṇībhūtās tadgrahaṇena gṛhyante, Paribhā 11); liṅaḥ salopo 'nantyasya — लिङः सलोपोऽनन्त्यस्य — (Pā. Sū. 7-2-79) loss of the non-final s of a sārvadhātuka-named liṅ; since here it is ārdhadhātuka the s of the augment suṭ is not lost; pad + īy + s + ta; lopo vyor vali — लोपो व्योर्वलि — (Pā. Sū. 6-1-66) loss of the y; ādeśapratyayayoḥ — आदेशप्रत्यययोः — (Pā. Sū. 8-3-59) ṣatva of an s that is a substitute or a suffix-part after iṇ and ku; ṣṭunā ṣṭuḥ — ष्टुना ष्टुः — (Pā. Sū. 8-4-41) ta → ṭa: padīṣṭa. *(The print adds that in ordinary language (loka) the form is* patsīṣṭa*.)* By tiṅ ataiṅaḥ the verb would be wholly unaccented, but it begins the third pāda, so it is not so; the ta is acute by the suffix accent. - tṛṣṇayā: ñitṛṣā pipāsāyām; tṛṣi-kuṣi-rasibhyaḥ kic ca (U. Sū. 3-92, as printed; the bhāṣya has U. 3-12); kṛvāpājy… (abbreviated with dots in the print) nit (U. Sū. 3-90), which is carried forward; so after these roots the suffix na, which is both kit and nit; tṛṣ + na; because kit, no guṇa; because nit, the first syllable is acute; ṭāp; the instrumental singular. Rik 6 ends here (|| 6 ||).

Rik 38.7 (pp. 310–313, PDF 325–328)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 310 = PDF 325 of the better scan; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented)

सत्यं त्वेषा अमवन्तो धन्वञ्चिदा रुद्रियासः । मिहं कृण्वन्त्यवातां ॥ ७ ॥

satyaṃ tveṣā amavanto dhanvañ cid ā rudriyāsaḥ | mihaṃ kṛṇvanty avātām || 7 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 310)

सत्यम् । त्वेषाः । अमऽवन्तः । धन्वन् । चित् । आ । रुद्रियासः । मिहम् । कृण्वन्ति । अवाताम् ॥ ७ ॥

satyam | tveṣāḥ | ama-vantaḥ | dhanvan | cit | ā | rudriyāsaḥ | miham | kṛṇvanti | avātām || 7 ||

(The bhāṣya of Rik 7 begins on p. 311, not yet written.)

Rik 38.7, continued (from p. 311; the Saṃhitā and Pada are above)

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 311)

> धन्वन् चित् मरुदेशेऽपि रुद्रियासो रुद्रेण पालितत्वात्तदीया मरुत आ सर्वतोऽवाताम् वायुरहितां मिहं वृष्टिं कुर्वन्ति । तदेतत्सत्यं । कीदृशा रुद्रियासः । त्वेषा दीप्ता अमवन्तो बलवन्तः । मरुतां रुद्रपालनमाख्यानेषु प्रसिद्धं ॥

dhanvan cit marudeśe 'pi rudriyāso rudreṇa pālitatvāt tadīyā maruta ā sarvato 'vātām vāyurahitāṃ miham vṛṣṭiṃ kurvanti | tad etat satyaṃ | kīdṛśā rudriyāsaḥ | tveṣā dīptā amavanto balavantaḥ | marutāṃ rudrapālanam ākhyāneṣu prasiddhaṃ ||

Translation: "Dhanvan cit — even in a desert region — the rudriyāsaḥ, the Maruts who belong to Rudra because they are protected by Rudra, ā — all round — avātām, free from wind, miham, rain, they make. That is the truth (satyam). What are the rudriyāsaḥ like? Tveṣāḥ — shining; amavantaḥ — strong. That the Maruts are protected by Rudra is famed in the narratives."

> धन्वन् । रिवि रवि धवि गत्यर्थाः । इदित्त्वान्नुम् । कनिन्युवृषितक्षीत्यादिना कनिन् । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वं । सुपां सुलुगिति सप्तम्या लुक् । रुद्रियासः । रुद्रस्येमे रुद्रियाः । तस्येदमित्यर्थे घः । आञ्जसेरसुक् । मिहं । मिह सेचने । क्विप्चेति क्विप् । कृण्वन्ति । कृवि हिंसाकरणयोश्च । धिन्विकृण्व्योरच्चेत्युप्रत्ययः । तत्सन्नियोगेन वकारस्य चाकारादेशः । अतो लोपेन लुप्तस्य स्थानिवद्भावाल्लघूपधगुणाभावः ॥

dhanvan | rivi ravi dhavi gatyarthāḥ | iditvān num | kanin-yuvṛṣitakṣī ty ādinā kanin | nittvād ādyudāttatvaṃ | supāṃ sulug iti saptamyā luk | rudriyāsaḥ | rudrasyeme rudriyāḥ | tasyedam ity arthe ghaḥ | ājjaser asuk | miham | miha secane | kvip ceti kvip | kṛṇvanti | kṛvi hiṃsākaraṇayoś ca | dhinvikṛṇvyor ac ceti upratyayaḥ | tatsanniyogena vakārasya cākārādeśaḥ | ato lopena luptasya sthānivadbhāvāl laghūpadhaguṇābhāvaḥ ||

Translation of the grammatical tail (characterized): Dhanvan — the roots rivi, ravi, dhavi are in the sense of going; because of the indicatory i the augment num; the suffix kanin by the Uṇādi rule beginning kanin-yuvṛṣitakṣi-…; since the suffix is nit the final syllable is acute; the locative ending elided by supāṃ sulug…. Rudriyāsaḥ — "these belong to Rudra": the suffix gha in the sense "this is his" (tasyedam); the augment asuk of jas by ājjaser asuk. Miham — root miha secane; kvip by kvip ca. Kṛṇvanti — root kṛvi in the senses of injuring and making; by dhinvikṛṇvyor a ca the suffix u [the print spells a cceti]; in connection with it the substitute a for the v; because the a is lost, and what is lost counts as still present, there is no guṇa of the light penultimate vowel.

Pratipadārtha (p. 311) — "tveṣāḥ — brilliant ones; amavantaḥ — mighty ones; rudriyāsaḥ — the Maruts, who belong to Rudra, because they are cherished by Rudra; dhanvan cit — even in the desert; ā — all round; avātām — without wind; miham — rain; kṛṇvanti — they pour down; satyam — (this is) certain."

Bhāvārtha (p. 311) — "The brilliant and mighty sons of Rudra, that is, the Marut-deities, pour down rain without wind, even in the desert. This is true."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 311) — "The brilliant and mighty Maruts, cherished by Rudra send down rain without wind (even) upon the desert."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 311–312 - dhanvan cit = marudeśe 'pi — "a desert in which no rain falls." "On the word dhanvan Yāska has said 'dhanvāntarikṣaṃ dhanvanty asmād āpaḥ' (Ni. 5-5): dhanva means the atmosphere; because rain falls through the atmosphere. The commentator [Sāyaṇa] explains it as desert." - rudriyāsaḥ = rudrasya ime rudrapālitāḥ — "'the Maruts are cherished by Rudra'; and in several passages they are described as the sons of Rudra. These two ṛks support the point: (1) प्र ये शुम्भन्ते जनयो न सप्तयो यामन्रुद्रस्य सूनवः सुदंससः । (Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-85-1) — pra ye śumbhante janayo na saptayo yāman rudrasya sūnavaḥ sudaṃsasaḥ — mine and tentative:"who adorn themselves on their going, like women, like horses, the sons of Rudra, skilful in deed"; (2) इदं पित्रे मरुतामुच्यते वचः स्वादोः स्वादीयो रुद्राय वर्धनम् । (Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-114-6) — idaṃ pitre marutām ucyate vacaḥ svādoḥ svādīyo rudrāya vardhanam — mine and tentative: "this word is spoken to the father of the Maruts, sweeter than the sweet, a strengthening for Rudra."" - miham = secanam — "rain, the rainfall." - avātām = vāyurahitām — "even though the wind does not help; the intention of the use of this word here is not clear." (The doubt is the Kannada author's.)

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 312–313 — grammar pages, characterized; the print is crowded) - dhanvan: rivi ravi dhavi gatyarthāḥ; idito num dhātoḥ — इदितो नुम् धातोः — (Pā. Sū. 7-1-58): num after the last vowel of a root with indicatory i; only the n remains: dhanv; kanin-yuvṛṣitakṣirājidhanvidyupratidivaḥ (U. Sū. 1-154): kanin after these roots, of which an remains; dhanv + an; the suffix is nit, so the last syllable is acute; supāṃ sulug for the locative. - rudriyāsaḥ: rudrasya ime rudriyāḥ; the suffix gha in the sense tasyedam — तस्येदम् — (no number printed); āyaneyīnīyiyaḥ phaḍhakhachaghāṃ pratyayādīnām — आयनेयीनीयियः फढखछघां प्रत्ययादीनाम् — (no number printed) gives iya for gha; yasyeti ca the loss of the a; jas with the augment asuk. - miham: miha secane; kvip by kvip ca; accusative singular. - kṛṇvanti: kṛvi hiṃsākaraṇayoś ca; laṭ, jhi; by jho 'ntaḥ (no number printed) the substitute ant; num from the indicatory i; kṛṇv + anti; dhinvikṛṇvyor a ca — धिन्विकृण्व्योर च — (Pā. Sū. 3-1-80): in the Vedic words dhinv-, kṛṇv- the suffix u and an a at their end; the print then argues at length about whether guṇa of the u is barred: ato lopaḥ (Pā. Sū. 6-4-48) removes the a; pugantalaghūpadhasya ca — पुगन्तलघूपधस्य च — (Pā. Sū. 7-3-86) would give guṇa to a light penultimate; the lost a counts as present by acaḥ parasmin pūrvavidhau (Pā. Sū. 1-1-57); by yena nāvyavadhānaṃ tena vyavahite 'pi [paribhāṣā] a gap of one letter would not prevent laghūpadha-guṇa, but a gap of two letters does, so no guṇa here; sārvadhātukam apit makes anti ṅit; kṅiti ca — क्ङिति च — (Pā. 1-1-5) prohibits guṇa of the u; kṛnu + anti; iko yaṇaci — इको यणचि — (Pā. Sū. 6-1-77) gives the yaṇ: v; kṛṇvanti; the ṇ by the vārttika ṛvarṇān nasya ṇatvaṃ vācyam — ऋवर्णान्नस्य णत्वं वाच्यम्. Rik 7 ends here (|| 7 ||).

Rik 38.8 (pp. 313–316, PDF 328–331)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 313 foot = PDF 328 of the better scan; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented)

वा॒श्रेव॑ वि॒द्युन्मि॑माति व॒त्सं न मा॒ता सि॑षक्ति । यदे॑षां वृ॒ष्टिरस॑र्जि ॥ ८ ॥

vāśreva vidyun mimāti vatsaṃ na mātā siṣakti | yad eṣāṃ vṛṣṭir asarji || 8 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 314)

वाश्रा-इव । वि-द्युत् । मिमाति । वत्सम् । न । माता । सिसक्ति । यत् । एषाम् । वृष्टिः । असर्जि ॥ ८ ॥

vāśrā-iva | vi-dyut | mimāti | vatsam | na | mātā | sisakti | yat | eṣām | vṛṣṭiḥ | asarji || 8 ||

(The Saṃhitā and the bhāṣya print siṣakti*; the Pada prints* sisakti with s (as printed; confirmed on a 300-dpi crop). The Pada has vāśrā with a long final vowel, against vāśra in the compound with iva*.)*

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 314)

कारीर्यां मारुतं सप्तकपालमित्यस्य हविषो वाश्रेव विद्युदित्येषानुवाक्या । वर्षकामेष्टिरिति खण्डे सूत्रितं । वाश्रेव विद्युन्मिमाति पर्वतश्चिन्महि वृद्धो बिभाय । आ. २-१३ । इति ॥ वाश्रेव शब्दयुक्ता प्रस्तुतस्तनवती धेनुरिव विद्युन्मेघस्था दृश्यमाना सती मिमाति । शब्दं करोति । विद्युद्वेलायां हि मेघगर्जनं प्रसिद्धं । माता धेनुः वत्सं न वत्समिव सिषक्ति । इयं विद्युन्मरुतः सेवते । सिषक्तिः सेवनार्थः । सिषक्ति सचत इति सेवमानस्य । नि. ३-२१ । इति यास्केनोक्तत्वात् । यद्यस्मात्कारणादेषां मरुतां सम्बन्धिनी वृष्टिरसर्जि गर्जनसहिते विद्युत्काले वृष्टा भवति । तस्माद्विद्युतो मरुत्सेवनमुपपन्नं ॥

kārīryāṃ mārutaṃ saptakapālam ity asya haviṣo vāśreva vidyud ity eṣānuvākyā | varṣakāmeṣṭir iti khaṇḍe sūtritaṃ | vāśreva vidyun mimāti parvataś cin mahi vṛddho bibhāya | ā. 2-13 | iti || vāśreva śabdayuktā prastutastanavatī dhenur iva vidyun meghasthā dṛśyamānā satī mimāti | śabdaṃ karoti | vidyudvelāyāṃ hi meghagarjanaṃ prasiddhaṃ | mātā dhenuḥ vatsaṃ na vatsam iva siṣakti | iyaṃ vidyun marutaḥ sevate | siṣaktiḥ sevanārthaḥ | siṣakti sacata iti sevamānasya | ni. 3-21 | iti yāskenoktatvāt | yad yasmāt kāraṇād eṣāṃ marutāṃ sambandhinī vṛṣṭir asarji garjanasahite vidyutkāle vṛṣṭā bhavati | tasmād vidyuto marutsevanam upapannaṃ ||

Translation: “In the [rain-wishing] kārīrī [iṣṭi], for the offering ‘a seven-potsherd cake for the Maruts’, the ṛk vāśreva vidyut is the anuvākyā. It is laid down in the section called varṣakāmeṣṭi: ‘vāśreva vidyun mimāti, [and] parvataś cin mahi vṛddho bibhāya’ (Āś. 2-13). Vāśreva — like a cow that cries out [with flowing (prastuta) breasts] — the lightning, visible in the cloud, mimāti, makes a sound; for thunder in the cloud at the time of lightning is well known. Mātā, the mother, the cow, vatsaṃ na, as [she] a calf, siṣakti: this lightning serves the Maruts. Siṣaktiḥ has the sense of serving: ‘siṣakti, sacate, for one who serves’ (Ni. 3-21), as Yāska has said. Yad — because eṣām, the rain that belongs to these Maruts, asarji, is let loose [= is poured] at the time of the lightning together with thundering. Therefore the service of the Maruts by the lightning is [shown to be] fitting.”

(The print reads prastuta° ("flowing"; checked on a 300-dpi crop), which agrees with the Kannada pratipadārtha's "with overflowing milk".)

> वाश्रेव । वाश्र शब्दे स्पायितञ्चीत्यादिना रक् । मिमाति । माङ्माने शब्दे च । व्यत्ययेन परस्मैपदं । जुहोत्यादित्वात् श्लुः । भृञ्मामित् । पा. ७-४-७६ । इत्यभ्यासस्येत्वं । सिषक्ति । षच समवाये । लटि बहुलं छन्दसीति शपः श्लुः । बहुलं छन्दसीत्यभ्यासस्येत्वं । असर्जि । सृज विसर्गे । कर्मणि लुङ् । चिण् भावकर्मणोः । पा. ३-१-६६ । इति चिण् । चिणो लुक् । पा. ६-४-१०४ । इति तशब्दस्य लुक् । गुणः । अडागम उदात्तः । यद्वृत्तयोगादनिघातः ॥

vāśreva | vāśra śabde spāyitañcī ty ādinā rak | mimāti | māṅ māne śabde ca | vyatyayena parasmaipadaṃ | juhotyāditvāt śluḥ | bhṛñām it | pā. 7-4-76 | ity abhyāsasyetvaṃ | siṣakti | ṣaca samavāye | laṭi bahulaṃ chandasīti śapaḥ śluḥ | bahulaṃ chandasīty abhyāsasyetvaṃ | asarji | sṛja visarge | karmaṇi luṅ | ciṇ bhāvakarmaṇoḥ | pā. 3-1-66 | iti ciṇ | ciṇo luk | pā. 6-4-104 | iti taśabdasya luk | guṇaḥ | aḍāgama udāttaḥ | yadvṛttayogād anighātaḥ ||

Translation of the grammatical tail (characterized; numerals as printed): Vāśreva — root vāśṛ śabde; the suffix rak by the Uṇādi rule beginning spāyi-tañci-…. Mimāti — māṅ māne śabde ca; parasmaipada by vyatyaya; ślu [for śap] as the root is of the juhotyādi type; the i of the reduplicate by bhṛñām it (Pā. 7-4-76). Siṣakti — root ṣaca samavāye; śap elided in the present by bahulaṃ chandasi; i in the reduplicate by bahulaṃ chandasi. Asarji — root sṛja visarge; luṅ in the passive; ciṇ by ciṇ bhāvakarmaṇoḥ (Pā. 3-1-66); the ta lost by ciṇo luk (Pā. 6-4-104); guṇa; the augment aṭ is acute; no nighāta because of the connection with yat.

Pratipadārtha (p. 314) — "vāśrā iva — like a cow that cries out [from love of her calf] (and whose milk overflows); vidyut — the lightning (appearing in the midst of the cloud); mimāti — makes a sound; mātā — whichever cow, as a mother; vatsaṃ na — as one tends her calf; siṣakti — [the lightning] serves [the Maruts]; yat — for which reason (because the lightning serves the Maruts); vṛṣṭiḥ — rain; asarji — is let loose."

Bhāvārtha (p. 314) — "As a cow lows lovingly for her calf and goes to make it suckle, so the lightning in the middle of the cloud thunders, and because of that the rain falls."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 315) — "Like a parent cow that bellows for its calf, the lightning roars and hence the rain is set free by the Maruts."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 315 - "In the rain-wishing sacrifice called Kārīrī, when the seven-potsherd cake for the Marut deities is offered, this ṛk vāśreva vidyut is to be used as the puro 'nuvākyā mantra: so it is explained in the Āśvalāyana Śrauta-sūtra, in the section called varṣakāmeṣṭi, by the sūtra'vāśreva vidyun mimāti (Ṛg. 1-38-8) parvataś cin mahi vṛddho bibhāya (Ṛg. 5-60-3)'." - vāśreva mātā vatsaṃ na — "like a cow with sound: a cow going along calling for her calf. Here the cow, with her udder full of milk, goes lowing to her calf to make it suckle; just so, when the Marut-deities make a great sound of lightning in the middle of the cloud, they pour down the rain: this is the sense."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 315–316 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - vāśreva: vāśṛ śabde, divādi; the Uṇādi sūtra beginning spāyitañci-vañci-śaki-kṣipi-kṣudi-sṛpi-tṛpi-dṛpi-vasu-… [a long list of roots, which the print counts as 32] (U. Sū. 2-170): after these roots rak; ṭāp; savarṇadīrgha; vāśrā iva = vāśreva, a compound with iva, always compounded. - mimāti: māṅ

māne śabde ca; being ñit the ātmanepada is due by anudāttañita ātmanepadam — अनुदात्तङित आत्मनेपदम् — (Pā. Sū. 1-3-12); here parasmaipada has come in its place; laṭ, tip; juhotyādibhyaḥ śluḥ — जुहोत्यादिभ्यः श्लुः — (Pā. Sū. 2-4-75): śap is elided; ślau — श्लौ — (Pā. Sū. 6-1-[the rest cut off at the edge of the scan]) doubling; mā-mā + ti; hrasvaḥ shortens the reduplicate; bhṛñām it — भृञामित् — (Pā. Sū. 7-4-76): by the plural, following the kapiñjalādhikaraṇa principle, the reduplicate of three roots beginning with bhṛñ (bhṛñ, māṅ, ohāṅ) takes i: hence the a of the first m-syllable becomes i: mimāti. - siṣakti: ṣaca samavāye; laṭ, tip; bahulaṃ chandasi (Pā. Sū. 2-4-76) śap → ślu; doubling sac + sac + ti, the c of the reduplicate lost; bahulaṃ chandasi (Pā. Sū. 7-4-78) i in the reduplicate: sisac + ti; coḥ kuḥ — चोः कुः — (Pā. Sū. 8-2-30) c → k: sisak + ti; dhātvādeḥ ṣaḥ saḥ (Pā. Sū. 6-1-64) the s; ādeśapratyayayoḥ (Pā. Sū. 8-3-59) ṣ for the s after i: siṣakti. - asarji: sṛja visarge; luṅ with the sense of the passive; bhāvakarmaṇoḥ — भावकर्मणोः — (Pā. Sū. 1-3-13) ātmanepada; luṅ + ta; cli luṅi (Pā. Sū. 3-1-43) cli; ciṇ bhāvakarmaṇoḥ (Pā. Sū. 3-1-66) ciṇ for cli, of which only i remains; sṛj + i + ta; ciṇo luk — चिणो लुक् — (Pā. Sū. 6-4-104) ta elided; pugantalaghūpadhasya ca (no number printed) guṇa: sarj + i; luṅlaṅlṛṅkṣv aḍudāttaḥ — लुङ्लङ्लृङ्क्ष्वडुदात्तः — (Pā. Sū. 6-4-71) the acute augment aṭ at the beginning: asarji; yadvṛttān nityam — यद्वृत्तान्नित्यम् — (no number printed) prevents the verb from being unaccented. Rik 8 ends here (|| 8 ||).

Rik 38.9 (pp. 316–319, PDF 331–334)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 316 = PDF 331 of the better scan; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented)

दिवा चित्तमः कृण्वन्ति पर्जन्यैनोदवाहेन । यत्पृथिवीं व्युन्दन्ति ॥ ९ ॥

divā cit tamaḥ kṛṇvanti parjanyenodavāhena | yat pṛthivīṃ vyundanti || 9 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 316)

दिवा । चित् । तमः । कृण्वन्ति । पर्जन्येन । उद-वाहेन । यत् । पृथिवीम् । वि-उन्दन्ति ॥ ९ ॥

divā | cit | tamaḥ | kṛṇvanti | parjanyena | uda-vāhena | yat | pṛthivīm | vi-undanti || 9 ||

(The bhāṣya of Rik 9 begins on p. 317, not yet written.)

Rik 38.9, continued (from p. 317; the Saṃhitā and Pada are above)

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 317)

ते मरुत उदवाहेनोदकधारिणा पर्जन्येन मेघेन सूर्यमाच्छाद्य दिवा चिदहन्यपि तमः कृण्वन्ति । अन्धकारं कुर्वन्ति यद्यदा पृथिवीं भूमिं व्युन्दन्ति । विशेषेण क्लेदयन्ति । तदानीमतिवृष्टिकाले तमः कुर्वन्तीति पूर्वत्रान्वयः ॥ उदवाहेन । उदकानि वहतीत्युदवाहः । कर्मण्यण् । मेघविशेषस्येयं सञ्ज्ञा । उदकस्योदः

सञ्ज्ञायां । पा. ६-३-५७ । इत्युदकशब्दस्योदभावः । कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं । व्युन्दन्ति । उन्दी क्लेदने । रुधादित्वात् श्नम् । श्नान्नलोपः । पा. ६-४-२३ । इति नलोपः । यद्वृत्तयोगादनिघातः ॥

te maruta udavāhenodakadhāriṇā parjanyena meghena sūryam ācchādya divā cid ahany api tamaḥ kṛṇvanti | andhakāraṃ kurvanti yad yadā pṛthivīṃ bhūmiṃ vyundanti | viśeṣeṇa kledayanti | tadānīm ativṛṣṭikāle tamaḥ kurvantīti pūrvatrānvayaḥ || udavāhena | udakāni vahatīty udavāhaḥ | karmaṇy aṇ | meghaviśeṣasyeyaṃ sañjñā | udakasyodaḥ sañjñāyāṃ | pā. 6-3-57 | ity udakaśabdasyodabhāvaḥ | kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ | vyundanti | undī kledane | rudhāditvāt śnam | śnān nalopaḥ | pā. 6-4-23 | iti nalopaḥ | yadvṛttayogād anighātaḥ ||

Translation: "Those Maruts, with the udavāha — the water-bearing parjanya, the cloud — covering the sun, divā cit, even by day, tamaḥ kṛṇvanti, make darkness, make gloom, yad, when they pṛthivīm vyundanti, drench the earth, specially wet it. The sense is to be connected with what precedes: at that time, in the time of excessive rain, they make darkness. Udavāhena: 'udakāni vahati', that which carries waters; the suffix aṇ with an object [as upapada]; this is the name of a particular cloud; by udakasyodaḥ saṃjñāyām (Pā. 6-3-57) uda for the word udaka; the accent of the first member of a compound ending in a kṛt. Vyundanti: root undī kledane; śnam because of the rudhādi class; by śnān nalopaḥ (Pā. 6-4-23) the n is lost; no nighāta because of the connection with yat."

Pratipadārtha (p. 317) — "(marutaḥ — the Maruts) yat — when; pṛthivīm — the earth; vyundanti — they drench, so that it is filled as if with rushing water (when, before that); udavāhena — bearing water; parjanyena — with the cloud; divā cit — even by day; tamaḥ kṛṇvanti — they make darkness."

Bhāvārtha (p. 317) — "Before the Maruts drench the earth with a flood of rain, they make darkness even by day with the cloud that bears water."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 317) — "Even in the day they create darkness with the water-bearing cloud when they drench the earth."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 317 — "When black clouds fill the atmosphere, the darkness [is there] even in the daytime. At such a time the Maruts make the rain pour and make the earth wet with water: such is the main intention."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 317–319 — grammar pages, characterized) - kṛṇvanti: "explained in the earlier mantra [Rik 7]." - udavāhena: root vaha prāpaṇe; "udakāni vahati, so udavāhaḥ": karmaṇy aṇ — कर्मण्यण् — (Pā. Sū. 3-2-1): when a word in the case of the object is upapada, the suffix aṇ comes after the root. The print adds that the analysing sentence is of two kinds, laukika and alaukika: the laukika is what everyone uses in the world; the alaukika is the one used only by grammarians, separating base and suffix for the purposes of the śāstra. In the laukika sentence one says udakāni vahati; in the alaukika one has udaka + as + vah + aṇ, where the genitive-case ending, not the accusative, is what is wanted, because a word ending in a kṛt is not used in the laukika sentence; by kartṛkarmaṇoḥ kṛti — कर्तृकर्मणोः कृति — (Pā. Sū. 2-3-65) the sixth case-ending comes after the word that expresses the agent or the object of a kṛt-base; hence the sixth case after udaka. Ata upadhāyāḥ — अत उपधायाः — (printed "Pā. Sū. 7-1-91" as read, the last two digits faint [?]; for 7-2-116): vṛddhi of the short a of the penultimate before a ñit/ṇit suffix: vah → vāh; udaka + as + vāha. Tatropapadaṃ saptamīstham — तत्रोपपदं सप्तमीस्थम् — (Pā. Sū. 3-1-92): the word in the locative-sense in the dhātvadhikāra is the upapada; upapadam atiṅ — उपपदमतिङ् — (Pā. Sū. 2-2-19) compound with a word that is not a verb: a tatpuruṣa; supo dhātuprātipadikayoḥ — सुपो धातुप्रातिपदिकयोः — (printed "Pā. Sū" with no number) the loss of as: udakavāha; udakasyodaḥ saṃjñāyām — उदकस्योदः सञ्ज्ञायाम् — (Pā. Sū. 6-3-57): in a name the udaka of the first member becomes uda (here a name for a cloud). The final syllable of vāha, a kṛt, is acute by the suffix; after the compound gatikārakopapadāt kṛt — गतिकारकोपपदात्कृत् — (no number printed) gives the accent of the first member to the whole, so by kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvara the same accent remains. - vyundanti: the prefix vi; root undī kledane, rudhādi; laṭ, jhi, the substitute ant; rudhādibhyaḥ śnam — रुधादिभ्यः श्नम् — (Pā. Sū. 3-1-78) śnam after the last vowel of the root: vi + und + śna + anti; śnān nalopaḥ — श्नान्नलोपः — (Pā. Sū. 6-4-23) the n of śnam is lost; śnasor allopaḥ — श्नसोरल्लोपः — (printed "Pā. Sū. 7-4-111" [as printed; for 6-4-111]) the a of śna is lost before a kit/ṅit sārvadhātuka; vi → vy by yaṇ: vyundanti. As yat pṛthivīm gives the connection with yat, yadvṛttān nityam — यद्वृत्तान्नित्यम् — prohibits the verb's being wholly unaccented. Rik 9 ends here (|| 9 ||).

Rik 38.10 (pp. 319–321, PDF 334–336)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 319 = PDF 334 of the better scan; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented)

अध॑ स्व॒नान्म॒रुता॑ṃ विश्व॒मा सद्म॒ पार्थि॑वम् । अरे॑जन्त॒ प्र मानु॑षाः ॥ १० ॥

adha svanān marutāṃ viśvam ā sadma pārthivam | arejanta pra mānuṣāḥ || 10 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 319)

अध । स्वनात् । मरुताम् । विश्वम् । आ । सद्म । पार्थिवम् । अरेजन्त । प्र । मानुषाः ॥ १० ॥

adha | svanāt | marutām | viśvam | ā | sadma | pārthivam | arejanta | pra | mānuṣāḥ || 10 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (pp. 319–320)

मरुतां सम्बन्धिनः स्वनादध ध्वनेर्गर्जनरूपादनन्तरं पार्थिवं पृथिवीसम्बन्धि विश्वं सद्म सर्वं गृहमा समन्तादरेजतेति शेषः । तथा मानुषा गृहवर्तिनो मनुष्या अपि प्रारेजन्त । प्रकर्षेण कम्पितवन्तः ॥ अध । छान्दसं ध्त्वं । सद्म । षद्लृ विशरणगत्यवसादनेषु । अन्येभ्योऽपि दृश्यन्ते इति मनिन् । पार्थिवं । पृथिव्याः सम्बन्धि । पृथिव्या ञाञौ । पा. ४-१-८४ [?] । इति प्राग्दीव्यतीयोऽञ्प्रत्ययः । ञित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वं । अरेजन्त । रेजृ कम्पने ॥ १६ ॥

marutāṃ sambandhinaḥ svanād adha dhvaner garjanarūpād anantaraṃ pārthivaṃ pṛthivīsambandhi viśvaṃ sadma sarvaṃ gṛham ā samantād arejateti śeṣaḥ | tathā mānuṣā gṛhavartino manuṣyā api prārejanta | prakarṣeṇa kampitavantaḥ || adha | chāndasaṃ dhtvaṃ | sadma | ṣadḷ viśaraṇagatyavasādaneṣu | anyebhyo 'pi dṛśyante iti manin | pārthivaṃ

| pṛthivyāḥ sambandhi | pṛthivyā ñāñau | pā. 4-1-85 | iti prāgdīvyatīyo 'ñpratyayaḥ | ñittvād ādyudāttatvaṃ | arejanta | rejṛ kampane || 16 ||

Translation: "Adha — then, after the svanāt, the sound [belonging to the Maruts], their sound in the form of thunder — pārthivam, belonging to the earth — viśvam sadma, every house — ā, all round, arejata ['shook': so the remainder is supplied]. Likewise mānuṣāḥ, men dwelling in houses, prārejanta — shook greatly. Adha: the dha [for tha] is Vedic. Sadma: root ṣadḷ in the senses of dissolving, going, sinking; manin by anyebhyo 'pi dṛśyante. Pārthivam: 'belonging to the earth'; the suffix añ of the prāgdīvyatīya group after pṛthivī by the vārttika pṛthivyā ñāñau [Pā. 4-1-85]; being ñit it is first-syllable acute. Arejanta: root rejṛ kampane."

Pratipadārtha (p. 320) — "marutām — of the Maruts; svanād adha — immediately upon the sound in the form of thunder; pārthivam — belonging to the earth-world; viśvaṃ sadma — every house too; ā (arejata) — shook all round (even so); mānuṣāḥ — all the men (who dwell in the houses) too; prārejanta — trembled completely."

Bhāvārtha (p. 320) — "Through the clouds, as soon as the Maruts' sound in the form of thunder comes, every house dwelling on the earth shakes. In the same way all the people who live in those houses tremble completely."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 320) — "At the roaring of the Maruts, every house on the earth shakes and men also greatly tremble."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 320 - svanāt — "when rain falls with a sound, or with thunder, the wind blows violently, with sound, and terribly." - arejanta — "even houses shake, unable to bear the blow of the wind. People, drenched by the rain-water and struck by the blows of the wind, walk shivering with the cold: this is the sense. In the earlier ṛks, and in this ṛk, there is a description of the first monsoon rain [muṅgāru maḷe] that comes together with hail, lightning and black clouds."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 320–321 — grammar page, noted briefly) - adha: the tha of the word atha has become dha by Vedic usage. - sadma: root ṣadḷ viśaraṇagatyavasādaneṣu; by dhātvādeḥ ṣaḥ saḥ the s; anyebhyo 'pi dṛśyante — अन्येभ्योऽपि दृश्यन्ते — [Pā. Sū. 3-2-75]: the four suffixes manin, kvanip, vanip, vic are seen after roots also [other than the ones taught]; so manin; the suffix being nit, the print says pratyayānta ādyudātta ("the end of the suffix: first-syllable acute") — as printed. - pārthivam: prath prakhyāne; pratheḥ ṣivan saṃprasāraṇaṃ ca — प्रथेः षिवन् सम्प्रसारणं च — [U. Sū. 1-148, as printed]: the suffix ṣivan after prath, with saṃprasāraṇa of the r, giving ṛ: pṛthiv-; ṣidgaurādibhyaś ca — षिद्गौरादिभ्यश्च — [Pā. Sū. 4-1-41]: ṅīṣ after a root with indicatory ṣ and after the gaurādi group: pṛthivī; pṛthivyā ñāñau — the vārttika [Pā. Sū. 4-1-85-2, as printed]: in the prāgdīvyatīya senses the suffixes ñ and añ come after the word pṛthivī; so añ: pṛthivī + a; yasyeti ca the loss of ī; taddhiteṣv acām ādeḥ — तद्धितेष्वचामादेः — [Pā. Sū. 7-2-117]: when a ñit or ṇit suffix follows, the first vowel of the base takes vṛddhi: ṛ → ār: pārthiva; the taddhita suffix is ñit; ñnityādir nityam — ञ्नित्यादिर्नित्यम् — (no number printed) gives the first-syllable acute; accusative singular. - arejanta: rejṛ kampane; laṅ, jha; jho 'ntaḥ the substitute ant; śap; the augment aṭ. Rik 10 ends here (|| 10 ||).

Rik 38.11 (pp. 321–324, PDF 336–339)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 321 = PDF 336 of the better scan; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented)

मरु॑तो वीळुपा॒णिभि॑श्चि॒त्रा रोध॑स्वती॒रनु॑ । या॒तेमखि॑द्रयामभिः ॥ ११ ॥

maruto vīḷupāṇibhiś citrā rodhasvatīr anu | yātem akhidrayāmabhiḥ || 11 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 321)

मरुतः । वीळुपाणिऽभिः । चित्राः । रोधस्वतीः । अनु । यात । ईम् । अखिद्रयामऽभिः ॥ ११ ॥

marutaḥ | vīḷupāṇi-bhiḥ | citrāḥ | rodhasvatīḥ | anu | yāta | īm | akhidrayāma-bhiḥ || 11 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 322)

हे मरुतो यूयं वीळुपाणिभिर्दृढहस्तैः सहिताः सन्तो रोधस्वतीरनु कूलयुक्ता नदीरनुलक्ष्याखिद्रयामभिरखिन्नगमनैर्यातेम् । गच्छतैव ॥ मरुतः । आमन्त्रिताद्युदात्तत्वं । वीळुपाणिभिः । वीळ्विति बलनाम । वीळु ज्यौत्नमिति [?] तन्नामसु पाठात् । तेन च तद्वाल्लक्ष्यते । वीळवश्च ते पाणयश्च । समासस्येत्यन्तोदात्तत्वं । रोधस्वतीः । रुधिर् आवरणे । रुणद्धि स्रोत इति रोधः कूलं । रोधः कूलं निरुणद्धि स्रोतः । नि. ६-१ । इत्युक्तत्वात् । असुनो नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वं । तद्युक्ता रोधस्वत्यः । मादुपधाया इति मतुपो वत्वं । उगितश्चेति ङीप् । मतुब्ङीपोः पित्त्वादनुदात्तत्वेऽसुनः स्वर एव शिष्यते । यात । या प्रापणे । अदादित्वाच्छपो लुक् । ईम् । चादयोऽनुदात्ता इत्यनुदात्तत्वं । गुण एकादेश उदात्तेनोदात्त इत्याद्युदात्तत्वं । अखिद्रयामभिः । खिद दैन्ये । स्पायितञ्चीत्यादिना रक् । खिद्रं यान्तीति खिद्रयामानः । न खिद्रयामानोऽखिद्रयामानः । त्रैः । अव्ययपूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं ॥

he maruto yūyaṃ vīḷupāṇibhir dṛḍhahastaiḥ sahitāḥ santo rodhasvatīr anu kūlayuktā nadīr anulakṣyākhidrayāmabhir akhinnagamanair yātem | gacchataiva || marutaḥ | āmantritādyudāttatvaṃ | vīḷupāṇibhiḥ | vīḷv iti balanāma | vīḷu jyautnam iti [?] tannāmasu pāṭhāt | tena ca tadvāl lakṣyate | vīḷavaś ca te pāṇayaś ca | samāsasyety antodāttatvaṃ | rodhasvatīḥ | rudhir āvaraṇe | ruṇaddhi srota iti rodhaḥ kūlaṃ | rodhaḥ kūlaṃ niruṇaddhi srotaḥ | ni. 6-1 | ity uktatvāt | asuno nittvād ādyudāttatvaṃ | tadyuktā rodhasvatyaḥ | mād upadhāyā iti matupo vatvaṃ | ugitaś ceti ṅīp | matub-ṅīpoḥ pittvād anudāttatve 'sunaḥ svara eva śiṣyate | yāta | yā prāpaṇe | adāditvāc chapo luk | īm | cādayo 'nudāttā ity anudāttatvaṃ | guṇa ekādeśa udāttenodātta ity ādyudāttatvaṃ | akhidrayāmabhiḥ | khida dainye | spāyitañcī ty ādinā rak | khidraṃ yāntīti khidrayāmānaḥ | na khidrayāmāno 'khidrayāmānaḥ | traiḥ | avyayapūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ ||

Translation: "O Maruts, you, accompanied by vīḷupāṇibhiḥ, strong hands, rodhasvatīr anu, along the rivers that have banks, akhidrayāmabhiḥ, with unwearied goings, yātem — go indeed. Vīḷupāṇibhiḥ — vīḷu is a name for strength, since it is read among its names [vīḷu … as read, doubtful [?]]; and by it its possessors are indicated; they are strong and they are hands [or: those whose hands are strong]; the accent is final by samāsasya. Rodhasvatīḥ — root rudhir āvaraṇe: 'ruṇaddhi srotaḥ', that which checks the stream is rodhaḥ, the bank; as is said, 'rodhaḥ kūlaṃ niruṇaddhi srotaḥ' (Ni. 6-1); since the suffix asun is nit the first syllable is acute; the rivers that have them are rodhasvatyaḥ; mādupadhāyāḥ gives va for matup; ṅīp by ugitaś ca; because matup and ṅīp are pit they are unaccented, so only the accent of asun remains. Yāta — root yā prāpaṇe; the śap elided because of the adādi class. Īm — particles such as ca are unaccented. Akhidrayāmabhiḥ — root khida dainye; the suffix rak by spāyitañci-…: 'khidraṃ yānti', those who go in weakness; na khidrayāmāna, the unwearied; the accent of the first member as an indeclinable."

Pratipadārtha (p. 322) — "marutaḥ — O Maruts (you); vīḷupāṇibhiḥ — having capable hands; citrāḥ — charming (from being filled with trees and creepers of many kinds); rodhasvatīḥ anu — along the rivers that have banks; akhidrayāmabhiḥ — with goings that have no hindrance; yātam — go about, certainly."

Bhāvārtha (p. 322) — "O Maruts, with strong hands (vṛdha-hasta; the print adds 'pādagaḷinda ?', 'with feet?', with its own question mark), go along the rivers with their banks, charming from being full of trees and creepers of many kinds, without hindrance."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 322) — "Maruts with strong hands (legs ?) come along the beautiful banks of the rivers with unbroken speed."

(The Special Topics of Rik 11 begin at the foot of p. 322 and continue on p. 323; not yet written.)

Rik 38.11, continued (from the foot of p. 322)

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 322–323 - vīḷupāṇibhiḥ = vṛdhahastaiḥ [as read; the second word of the gloss is printed with a doubtful letter [?]] — "the word pāṇi indicates the sense 'hand', but here the sense 'feet' seems called for; for here the going of the Maruts is spoken of, and since people and creatures move by their feet, it is impossible to say that they go with the hands. The ṛṣi's intention may be 'feet'. On this point, in the ṛk सेदग्निरग्नीँ रत्यस्त्वन्यान् यत्र वाजी तनयो वीळुपाणिः । sed agnir agnīm̐ ratyas tv anyān yatra vājī tanayo vīḷupāṇiḥ (Ṛ. Saṃ. 7-1-14, as printed) — the word pāṇi has to be taken in the sense of 'feet'." (Reference numerals and the text of the quotation as printed, with doubt; the quotation is left untranslated by the source. Mine and tentative: "that Agni [goes] beyond other fires, where the vigorous steed, the offspring, is strong-footed" — the gloss is uncertain, as the Sanskrit is crowded [?].) - rodhasvatīḥ — "rivers with banks: that is, river-banks, the sides of rivers." - akhidrayāmabhiḥ = akhinnayāmabhiḥ — "with unbroken goings, with unobstructed movements." The source adds in English: "with unobstructed or unbroken progress."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 323–324 — grammar pages, characterized) - vīḷupāṇibhiḥ: among the names of strengths in the Nirukta (Niru. 2-9-14, as printed) vīḷu [the print has vīḍu here] is read; therefore it means "strength". If only that sense were taken, the connection with pāṇi would be blocked; so, by implication (lakṣaṇā), the sense "possessing strength" is taken: "with strong hands". The print compares gaṅgāyāṃ ghoṣaḥ ("a cowherd village on the Gaṅgā"), where the literal sense is blocked and gaṅgā is taken as "the bank of the Gaṅgā"; and says that here too, as the sense given in the Nirukta is blocked, implication must be relied upon. Viśeṣaṇaṃ viśeṣyeṇa bahulam — विशेषणं विशेष्येण बहुलम् — [Pā. Sū. 2-1-57]: a qualifier compounds with its qualified noun of the same case; it is a tatpuruṣa, and by tatpuruṣaḥ samānādhikaraṇaḥ karmadhārayaḥ — तत्पुरुषः समानाधिकरणः कर्मधारयः — [Pā. Sū. 1-2-42] it is called karmadhāraya; by samāsasya — समासस्य — [Pā. Sū. 6-1-223] the last syllable of the compound is acute. - rodhasvatīḥ: root rudhir āvaraṇe (rudhādi), "āvaraṇa" meaning stopping — stopping what? From the sense, the flow: "ruṇaddhi, so rodhaḥ"; the sentence rodhaḥ kūlaṃ niruṇaddhi srotaḥ (Ni. 6-1) means "rodhaḥ is the bank, because it stops the stream". By this Nirukta passage the sense stated before is confirmed. Sarvadhātubhyo 'sun — सर्वधातुभ्योऽसुन् — [U. Sū. printed "4-6-28" as read; middle and last groups doubtful [?]]: asun; rudh + as; pugantalaghūpadhasya ca [Pā. Sū. 7-3-86] gives guṇa; asun is nit, so the end of the suffix is acute [as printed: pratyayānta ādyudātta]; "rodhaḥ belongs to these [rivers]" — tad asyāsty asminn iti matup — तदस्यास्त्यस्मिन्निति मतुप् — [Pā. Sū. 5-2-94]; rodhas + mat, rodhas ends in as; mādupadhāyāś ca matorvo 'yavādibhyaḥ — मादुपधायाश्च मतोर्वोऽयवादिभ्यः — [Pā. Sū. 8-2-9]: after a word that ends in m or a/ṛ or has m, a as penultimate [the print's wording is crowded], the m of matup becomes v: rodhasvat; the u of matup is an indicatory letter, so it is ugit; ugitaś ca — उगितश्च — [Pā. Sū. 4-1-6]: ṅīp in the feminine after a ugit base; matup and ṅīp are both pit and so unaccented, by anudāttau suppitau — अनुदात्तौ सुप्पितौ (no number printed). - yāta: yā prāpaṇe, adādi, loṭ, tha; the ta substitute by tasthasthamipāṃ tāṃtaṃtāmaḥ; adiprabhṛtibhyaḥ śapaḥ — अदिप्रभृतिभ्यः शपः (no number printed) the śap is elided; because the word is at the beginning of a pāda it is not wholly unaccented; the ta is acute by the suffix accent. - īm: this is in the cādi group; by cādayo 'nudāttāḥ — चादयोऽनुदात्ताः — [Phi. Sū. 84, as printed] it is unaccented; in the Saṃhitā yāta + īm by ād guṇaḥ — आद्गुणः — [Pā. Sū. 6-1-87]: when a or ā is followed by a vowel of a different kind, guṇa is the single substitute: so in place of the gutturo-palatal ā and ī the gutturo-palatal e, which has the guṇa name, comes: yātem; since this single substitute has come in place of an acute and an unaccented vowel, by ekādeśa udāttenodāttaḥ it is acute. - akhidrayāmabhiḥ: khida dainye; the suffix rak by spāyitañci-... — the print says this sūtra was given in full in the eighth ṛk of this very sūkta [see Rik 8]; "yā prāpaṇe: khidraṃ yānti, those who go in weakness: khidrayāmānaḥ"; anyebhyo 'pi dṛśyante gives manin; na khidrayāmānaḥ, a nañ-compound; nalopo nañaḥ — नलोपो नञः (no number printed) the loss of the n of nañ [before a vowel]; the accent of the first member as an indeclinable. Rik 11 ends here (|| 11 ||).

Rik 38.12 (pp. 324–327, PDF 339–342)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 324 foot = PDF 339 of the better scan; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented)

स्थि॒रा वः॑ सन्तु ने॒मयो॒ रथा॒ अश्वा॑स एषाम् । सुस॑ꣳस्कृता अ॒भी॑शवः ॥ १२ ॥

sthirā vaḥ santu nemayo rathā aśvāsa eṣām | susaṃskṛtā abhīśavaḥ || 12 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 325)

स्थिराः । वः । सन्तु । नेमयः । रथाः । अश्वासः । एषाम् । सुऽसंस्कृताः । अभीशवः ॥ १२ ॥

sthirāḥ | vaḥ | santu | nemayaḥ | rathāḥ | aśvāsaḥ | eṣām | su-saṃskṛtāḥ | abhīśavaḥ || 12 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 325)

हे मरुत एषां वो युष्माकं नेमयो रथचक्रवलययः स्थिराः सन्तु । तथा रथा अश्वासोऽश्वाश्च स्थिराः सन्तु । अभीशवोऽङ्गुलयः । अभीशवो दीधितय इति तन्नामसु पाठात् । सुसंस्कृता अश्वबन्धनरज्जुपरिग्रहणे स्वलङ्कृताः सावधानाः सन्तु ॥ सुसंस्कृताः । सम्पूर्वात्करोतेः कर्मणि क्तः । सम्पर्युपेभ्यः । पा. ६-१-१३७ । इति सुट् । पुनः सुशब्देन प्रादिसमासेऽव्ययपूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं । अभीशवः । अभिपूर्वादश्नोतेः कृवापाजीत्यादिना उण् । वर्णव्यत्ययेनाकारस्यैकारः । उक्तं च । वर्णागमो वर्णविपर्ययश्च । का. ६-३-१०९ । इति । अभीशवोऽभ्यश्नुवते कर्माणीति निरुक्तं । नि. ३-९ ॥

he maruta eṣāṃ vo yuṣmākaṃ nemayo rathacakravalayayaḥ sthirāḥ santu | tathā rathā aśvāso 'śvāś ca sthirāḥ santu | abhīśavo 'ṅgulayaḥ | abhīśavo dīdhitaya iti tannāmasu pāṭhāt | susaṃskṛtā aśvabandhanarajjuparigrahaṇe svalaṅkṛtāḥ sāvadhānāḥ santu || susaṃskṛtāḥ | sampūrvāt karoteḥ karmaṇi ktaḥ | samparyupebhyaḥ | pā. 6-1-137 | iti suṭ | punaḥ suśabdena prādisamāse 'vyayapūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ | abhīśavaḥ | abhipūrvād aśnoteḥ kṛvāpājī ty ādinā uṇ | varṇavyatyayenākārasyaikāraḥ | uktaṃ ca | varṇāgamo varṇaviparyayaś ca | kā. 6-3-109 | iti | abhīśavo 'bhyaśnuvate karmāṇīti niruktaṃ | ni. 3-9 ||

Translation: "O Maruts, eṣām — of these — vaḥ — your — nemayaḥ, the rims of the chariot-wheels, sthirāḥ santu, let them be firm. Likewise let the rathāḥ, chariots, and aśvāsaḥ, horses, be firm. Abhīśavaḥ — the fingers ('abhīśavaḥ is [read as] dīdhitayaḥ', since it is read among the names of these [fingers]). Susaṃskṛtāḥ — let them be well adorned and attentive in the holding of the ropes that bind the horses. Susaṃskṛtāḥ: from kṛ after sam, kta in the passive; by samparyupebhyaḥ [Pā. 6-1-137] the augment suṭ; then, in the compound with su as a prādi compound, the accent of the first member as an indeclinable. Abhīśavaḥ: from aś with abhi, the Uṇādi uṇ by kṛvāpāji-…; a → ai [as printed: akārasyaikāraḥ] by varṇavyatyaya; as is said: 'the addition of a letter and the transposition of letters' (Kāśikā on Pā. 6-3-109); the Nirukta says 'abhīśavo: they pervade the works' (Ni. 3-9, as printed)."

Pratipadārtha (p. 325) — "eṣāṃ vaḥ — (O Maruts) of these, your; nemayaḥ — the outer rims of the chariot wheels; sthirāḥ — firm; santu — let them be (so); rathāḥ — chariots; aśvāsaḥ — horses (let them be steady); abhīśavaḥ — (your) fingers [printed ugurugaḷu (also in the Bhāvārtha) — which would mean 'nails'; as printed]; susaṃskṛtāḥ — (fit to hold the bridles of the horses) adorned and well-trained (let them be)."

Bhāvārtha (p. 325) — "O Maruts, let the outer rims of your chariot-wheels be firm. Let your chariots and your horses be steady. Let your fingers [printed as in the pratipadārtha], graceful as befits your strength, have adornments fit for holding the bridles of the horses, and be skilled."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 325) — "May the fellies of your wheels be firm ; may your chariots and their horses be steady and your fingers well-skilled in holding the reins."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 326 - nemayaḥ — "the outer rims of the wheels of a chariot." The source adds in English: "the fellies of a chariot wheel ; the outer rims of the wheels." "The word nemi is read in many ṛks of the Ṛgveda:" (the six quotations follow in the print, left untranslated by the source; Devanagari and IAST from the print, reference numerals as printed, and my glosses mine and tentative): 1. सेदु राजा क्षयति चर्षणीनामरान्न नेमिः परि ता बभूव ॥ — sed u rājā kṣayati carṣaṇīnām arān na nemiḥ pari tā babhūva (Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-32-15) — "that king rules over the peoples; like a rim [round] spokes, he has encompassed all these" (mine, tentative). 2. यत्सीमनु क्रतुना विश्वथा विभुरान्न नेमिः परिभूरजायथाः — yat sīm anu kratunā viśvathā vibhur arān na nemiḥ paribhūr ajāyathāḥ (printed "Ṛ. Sū. 1-141-9") — the print reads as given; "…by [your] will, everywhere pervasive, like a rim [round] spokes you were born encompassing" (mine, very tentative: the Sanskrit is uncertain [?]). 3. परि विश्वानि काव्या नेमिश्चक्रमिवाभवत् । — pari viśvāni kāvyā nemiś cakram ivābhavat (Ṛ. Saṃ. 2-5-3) — "he encompassed all the poetic works as a rim a wheel" (mine, tentative). 4. अग्ने नेमिररां इव देवाँस्त्वं परिभूरसि । — agne nemir arāṁ iva devāṁs tvaṃ paribhūr asi (Ṛ. Saṃ. 5-13-6) (the print has āgne*)* — "Agni, as a rim [round] spokes, you encompass the gods" (mine, tentative). 5. आ व इन्द्रं पुरुहूतं नमे गिरा नेमिं तष्टेव सुद्रवम् । [?] — ā va indraṃ puruhūtaṃ name girā nemiṃ taṣṭeva sudrvam [?] (Ṛ. Saṃ. 7-32-20, as printed) — (the last word is printed sadvram and is uncertain): "I bow to Indra, much invoked, with a song, as a carpenter [bends] a rim" (mine, very tentative). 6. तं नेमिमृभवो यथा नमस्व सहूतिभिः ॥ — taṃ nemim ṛbhavo yathā namasva sahūtibhiḥ (Ṛ. Saṃ. 8-75-5, as printed) — "bow to him, as the Ṛbhus [bend] a rim, with joint invocations" (mine, very tentative). "etc. This nemi is made of a hard wood called sadru [as printed] and bent." - susaṃskṛtāḥ — "well-trained [cennāgi paḷagida]." English added by the source: "well-trained, well-skilled &c." - abhīśavaḥ — "abhīśu also has the senses 'arm' (Ni. 3-8) and 'ray' (Ni. 2-15, as printed); but since the word abhīśavaḥ is read among the twenty-two names of the fingers beginning with agruvaḥ aṅgyaḥ, the commentator has taken for abhīśavaḥ in this ṛk the sense 'fingers'."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (p. 326, begun; the rest on p. 327 not yet written) - susaṃskṛtāḥ: root ḍukṛñ karaṇe; with the prefix sam, kta in the senses of object etc. by niṣṭhā [Pā. Sū. 3-2-102]; saṃ + kṛ + ta; by saṃparibhyāṃ karotau bhūṣaṇe — सम्परिभ्यां करोतौ भूषणे — [Pā. Sū. 6-1-137] the augment suṭ for kṛ after the prefixes sam, pari in the sense of ornament; the print then says that the vṛttikāras read samparyupebhyaḥ [as in the bhāṣya], which is not agreeable to the Mahābhāṣya; by suṭkāt pūrvaḥ — सुट्कात्पूर्वः — [Pā. Sū. 6-1-135] and the Mahābhāṣya's statement "saṃparibhyām iti naiṣā pañcamī | kā tarhi | tṛtīyā" [as read]; "some…" (continued on p. 327.)

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā of Rik 38.12, continued (p. 327, PDF 341 — grammar page, noted briefly) - susaṃskṛtāḥ, concluded: the print goes on to say that in the sūtra upāt pratiyatnavaikṛtavākyādhyāhāreṣu [as read, crowded [?]] the word ca is read, so that even with the prefix upa the augment suṭ is established in the senses of ornament and of relation, and that the vṛttikāras explain in the Bhāṣya tradition the point of the reading upa; the Śekhara [commentator] does not accept this: the passage of the Śekhara "some do not allow suṭ after upāt [or pra] in the senses of ornament and relation, and do not read ca" is quoted to make the earlier points clear. (This passage is very crowded; I give only its drift.) - abhīśavaḥ: aśū vyāptau, with the prefix abhi; kṛvāpājimisvadisādhyaśūbhya uṇ — कृवापाजिमिस्वदिसाध्यशूभ्य उण् — [U. Sū. 1-1]: the suffix uṇ after the root aś; pṛṣodarādīni yathopadiṣṭam — पृषोदरादीनि यथोपदिष्टम् — [Pā. Sū. 6-3-109]: the Kāśikā authors say "the addition of a letter, the transposition of letters, and two other [processes], the change and the loss of a letter — [these are] the five kinds, in which a root is joined with its sense in excess: so says the Nirukta"; here a change of the vowel into an i-form has come. The Kaumudī gives examples: "haṃsaḥ from addition of a letter, siṃhaḥ from transposition of letters, gūḍhotmā from change of a letter, pṛṣodaram from loss of a letter"; in the bahuvrīhi gūḍha ātmā yasya saḥ a u has come in place of the ā, so this is an example of change of letter, not of transposition; therefore here it is proper to say that the change into the form of i has come. Abhīśavaḥ abhyaśnuvate karmāṇi (Ni. 3-9, as printed): "the things that get works, i.e. do them": it is well known that the hands do works; therefore abhīśavaḥ means hands; the Nirukta author means that, as said before, this form is established from the root aś. Rik 12 ends here (|| 12 ||).

Rik 38.13 (pp. 327–332, PDF 342–347)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 327 foot = PDF 342 of the better scan; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented)

अच्छा॑ वदा॒ तना॑ गि॒रा ज॒रायै॒ ब्रह्म॑ण॒स्पति॑म् । अ॒ग्निं मि॒त्रं न दर्श॒तम् ॥ १३ ॥

acchā vadā tanā girā jarāyai brahmaṇaspatim | agniṃ mitraṃ na darśatam || 13 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 328)

अच्छ । वद । तना । गिरा । जरायै । ब्रह्मणः । पतिम् । अग्निम् । मित्रम् । न । दर्शतम् ॥ १३ ॥

accha | vada | tanā | girā | jarāyai | brahmaṇaḥ | patim | agnim | mitram | na | darśatam || 13 ||

(The Saṃhitā prints acchā and vadā with long final vowels, the Pada accha and vada short; the bhāṣya and the grammar page explain the lengthening in the Saṃhitā.)

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 328)

हे ऋत्विक्समूह तना तनया देवतास्वरूपं प्रकाशयन्त्या गिरा वाचा ब्रह्मणस्पतिं मन्त्रस्य हविर्लक्षणस्यान्नस्य वा पालकं मरुद्गणमग्निं दर्शतं दर्शनीयं मित्रं न मित्रमपि जरायै स्तोतुमच्छाभिमुख्येन वद । ब्रूहि ॥ अच्छ । निपातस्य चेति संहितायां दीर्घत्वं । वद । द्व्यचोऽतस्तिङ इति संहितायां दीर्घः । तना । तनु विस्तारे । तनोति देवतामाहात्म्यं विस्तारयतीति तना । पचाद्यच् । वृषादित्वादाद्युदात्तत्वं । तृतीयाया डादेशः । गिरा । सावेकाच इति विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वं । ब्रह्मणः । षष्ठ्याः । पतिपुत्रेति संहितायां सत्वं ॥

he ṛtvik-samūha tanā tanayā devatāsvarūpaṃ prakāśayantyā girā vācā brahmaṇaspatiṃ mantrasya havirlakṣaṇasyānnasya vā pālakaṃ marudgaṇam agniṃ darśataṃ darśanīyaṃ mitraṃ na mitram api jarāyai stotum acchābhimukhyena vada | brūhi || accha | nipātasya ceti saṃhitāyāṃ dīrghatvaṃ | vada | dvyaco 'tastiṅa iti saṃhitāyāṃ dīrghaḥ | tanā | tanu vistāre | tanoti devatāmāhātmyaṃ vistārayatīti tanā | pacādyac | vṛṣāditvād ādyudāttatvaṃ | tṛtīyāyā ḍādeśaḥ | girā | sāvekāca iti vibhakter udāttatvaṃ | brahmaṇaḥ | ṣaṣṭhyāḥ | patiputreti saṃhitāyāṃ satvaṃ ||

Translation: "O company of priests, tanā — with tanayā, speech that sets out the nature of the deities — girā, with speech, brahmaṇaspatim — the protector of the mantra, or of the food whose mark is the oblation, the host of the Maruts — and agnim — and Agni — darśatam, beautiful to see — mitram na, [and] also Mitra [as a friend] — jarāyai, to praise, accha, facing [them], vada, speak, say. Accha: in the Saṃhitā the lengthening by nipātasya ca. Vada: in the Saṃhitā the long vowel by dvyaco 'tastiṅaḥ. Tanā: root tanu vistāre: 'tanoti', one that spreads the greatness of the deity, is tanā; the suffix ac of the pacādi class; because of its belonging to the vṛṣādi class the first syllable is acute; the substitute ḍā for the instrumental. Girā: the ending is acute by sāvekāca. Brahmaṇaḥ: genitive; in the Saṃhitā the s by patiputra…."

Pratipadārtha (p. 328) — "tanā — (O priests, [with speech] fit to describe the nature of the deities) capable of describing; girā — with speech; brahmaṇaspatim — the host of the Maruts, protectors of the mantra and also of the food in the form of the oblation; agnim — Agni too; darśatam — the beautiful one; mitram — Mitra; jarāyai — in order to praise; acchā — facing [those deities]; vada — speak clearly (the praise)."

Bhāvārtha (p. 328) — "O priests! With words fit to describe their nature, standing facing the host of the Maruts, who protect both the mantra and the food in the form of oblation, and Agni, and Mitra of beautiful form, together with that deity, recite your praises clearly."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 328) — "Sing forth in uninterrupted speech in order to glorify Brahmanaspati (or the Maruts, lords of prayer or of the Sacrificial food) and Agni as well as the handsome Mitra."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 329 - acchā vada = ābhimukhyena vada — "speak, praising particularly." - tanā = tanayā, devatāsvarūpaṃ prakāśayantyā — "that which spreads, or that which makes known the nature of the deities." - jarāyai = stotum — "in order to praise." - brahmaṇaḥ patim — "brahma means praise, and also food. Brahmaṇaspati means the host of the Maruts who are lords over praise or over food: so the commentator has explained. If one wishes, one may explain this word also as the deity named Brahmaṇaspati." - darśatam = darśanīyam — "beautiful to look at."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 329–, grammar pages, characterized; the long page 330 is very crowded) - acchā: a nipāta; nipātasya ca — निपातस्य च — [Pā. Sū. 6-3-136]: in a mantra a nipāta takes the long vowel: so the long vowel. - vada: vada vyaktāyāṃ vāci; loṭ, sip, the substitute hi; śap: vad + a + hi; ato heḥ — अतो हेः — [Pā. Sū. 6-4-105]: hi is elided after a short a; dvyaco 'tastiṅaḥ — द्व्यचोऽतस्तिङः — [Pā. Sū. 6-3-135]: in a mantra the a of a tiṅ-word that has two vowels is lengthened: so the long vowel. - tanā: root tasu [print; = tanu] vistāre, the first root of the tanādi class; "tanoti = spreads"; spreads what? — "the greatness of the deity", which is suited to the context; the Vedabhāṣya says "tanoti (the greatness of the deity) vistārayatīti tanā". Nandigrahipacādibhyo lyuṇinyacaḥ — नन्दिग्रहिपचादिभ्यो ल्युणिन्यचः — [Pā. Sū. 3-1-134]: by the paribhāṣā yathāsaṃkhyam anudeśaḥ samānām the senses are: lyu after nandi etc., ṇini after grahi etc., ac after pacādi; when ac comes after tan in the pacādi sense: tan + a = tana. This belongs to the vṛṣādi group; vṛṣādīnāṃ ca — वृषादीनां च — [Pā. Sū. 6-1-203]: the vṛṣādi is an ākṛtigaṇa, a group not wholly enumerated; the print explains that the words are listed only as examples (kṛtyā — avayavaviśeṣeṇa gaṇyate = parigaṇyate), so a word whose first-syllable acute is not otherwise established is to be taken, by looking at the kind of word, as belonging to the group; hence tana is first-syllable acute. The instrumental singular: supāṃ sulug…, the substitute ḍā, the ḍ an indicatory letter; loss, tana + ā; by the power of the ḍit the ṭi, the a of tana, is lost: tan + ā = tanā. - girā: root gṝ nigaraṇe; kvip ca gives kvip; ṛta id

dhātoḥ — ऋत इद्धातोः — [Pā. Sū. 7-1-100]: for the ṛ of a root-final ṛ the substitute i, and the r follows: gir; instrumental singular ṭā: gir + ā = girā; in the locative plural sup, gīrṣu is the form; halica — हलि च — [Pā. Sū. 8-2-77]: before a consonant the penultimate ik of a root ending in r or v is lengthened [rule from the eighth adhyāya]. The print then argues at length, concerning the sāvekāca sūtra (sāvekācas tṛtīyādir vibhaktiḥ — सावेकाचस्तृतीयादिर्विभक्तिः — [Pā. Sū. 6-1-168]) and the Bhāṣya's discussion of whether su, in the sūtra, means the nominative singular or the locative plural, quoting the Bhāṣya (p. 330): सावितिकिमिदं प्रथमैकवचनस्यग्रहणमाहोस्वित्सप्तमीबहुवचनस्य, कुतस्सन्देहः । समानोनिर्देशः । सप्तमीबहुवचनस्यग्रहणम् । कथं ज्ञायते ? । (sāv iti kim idaṃ prathamaikavacanasya grahaṇam āhosvit saptamībahuvacanasya, kutas sandehaḥ | samāno nirdeśaḥ | saptamībahuvacanasya grahaṇam | kathaṃ jñāyate? | — "'sau': is the nominative singular meant here, or the locative plural? Whence the doubt? The wording is the same. The locative plural is meant. How is it known?"), followed by a sentence citing the sūtra on go, śvan etc. (not transcribed; its sūtra name is crowded) and the example of the participle of gā, gān, gātsu, gātā. (Continued on p. 331, below.)

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā of Rik 38.13, continued (pp. 331–332, PDF 346–347 — large grammar pages, characterized in outline; the print is very crowded and I have not reproduced its argument) - girā, continued: the long discussion of the sāvekāca sūtra goes on. The print argues about the sense of su in the Bhāṣya's question "kim idaṃ prathamaikavacanasya grahaṇam āhosvit saptamībahuvacanasya" and of the word ekācaḥ in the sūtra: if ekācaḥ were not said, the ending in rājñā would be acute, since it follows rājan; with it, the rule applies to the ending after a base that is monosyllabic in the form that has the case ending; examples discussed are rājñā, dvābhyām, dos (doṣabhyām, dorbhyām), keṣu, kābhyām, abhiḥ, eṣām, keṣu, āsu + eṣu, with the interplay of sthānivadbhāva and of the question whether the rule is to take account of the form (rūpagrahaṇa) or not, and with the remark that in the world the ending is acute, while in the Veda the unaccented (sarvānudātta) forms are to be explained by Vedic usage. (I give only the drift; the page is too crowded to transcribe, and the details may contain slips.) - brahmaṇaḥ: patiputrapṛṣṭhapārapadapayaspoṣeṣu — पतिपुत्रपृष्ठपारपदपयस्पोषेषु — [Pā. Sū. 8-3-53]: when words such as pati follow, the visarga belonging to a genitive becomes s; so in the Saṃhitā the visarga becomes s. Rik 13 ends here (|| 13 ||).

Rik 38.14 (pp. 332–335, PDF 347–350)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 332 = PDF 347 of the better scan; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented)

मि॒मी॒हि श्लोक॑मा॒स्यै॑ प॒र्जन्य॑ इव ततनः । गाय॑ गाय॒त्रमु॒क्थ्य॑म् ॥ १४ ॥

mimīhi ślokam āsye parjanya iva tatanaḥ | gāya gāyatram ukthyam || 14 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 332)

मिमीहि । श्लोकम् । आस्ये । पर्जन्यः । इव । ततनः । गाय । गायत्रम् । उक्थ्यम् ॥ १४ ॥

mimīhi | ślokam | āsye | parjanyaḥ | iva | tatanaḥ | gāya | gāyatram | ukthyam || 14 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (pp. 332–333)

> हे ऋत्विक्समूह आस्ये स्वकीयमुखे श्लोकं स्तोत्रं मिमीहि । निर्मितं कुरु । तं च श्लोकं ततनः । विस्तारय । तत्र दृष्टान्तः । पर्जन्य इव । यथा मेघो वृष्टिं विस्तारयति तद्वत् । उक्थ्यं शस्त्रयोग्यं गायत्रं गायत्रीच्छन्दस्कं सूक्तं गाय । पठ ॥ मिमीहि । माङ् माने । जौहोत्यादिकः । व्यत्ययेन परस्मैपदं । भृञामित्यभ्यासस्येत्वं । आस्ये । असु क्षेपणे । अस्यते क्षिप्यतेऽस्मिन्नित्यास्यं । कृत्यल्युटो बहुलं । पा. ३-३-११३ । इत्यधिकरणे ण्यत् । तित्स्वरितमिति स्वरितत्वं । ततनः । तनु विस्तारे । लेटि सिपि बहुलं छन्दसीति विकरणस्य श्लुः । लेटोऽडाटावित्यडागमः । इतश्च लोप इतीकारलोपः । गायत्रं । गायत्र्याः सम्बन्धि तस्येदमित्यण् । यद्वा । गायतस्त्रायत इति गायत्रं । आतोऽनुपसर्गे कः ॥

he ṛtviksamūha āsye svakīyamukhe ślokaṃ stotraṃ mimīhi | nirmitaṃ kuru | taṃ ca ślokaṃ tatanaḥ | vistāraya | tatra dṛṣṭāntaḥ | parjanya iva | yathā megho vṛṣṭiṃ vistārayati tadvat | ukthyaṃ śastrayogyaṃ gāyatraṃ gāyatrīchandaskaṃ sūktaṃ gāya | paṭha || mimīhi | māṅ māne | jauhotyādikaḥ | vyatyayena parasmaipadaṃ | bhṛñām ity abhyāsasyetvaṃ | āsye | asu kṣepaṇe | asyate kṣipyate 'smin ity āsyaṃ | kṛtyalyuṭo bahulaṃ | pā. 3-3-113 | ity adhikaraṇe ṇyat | titsvaritam iti svaritatvaṃ | tatanaḥ | tanu vistāre | leṭi sipi bahulaṃ chandasīti vikaraṇasya śluḥ | leṭo 'ḍāṭāv ity aḍāgamaḥ | itaś ca lopa itīkāralopaḥ | gāyatraṃ | gāyatryāḥ sambandhi tasyedam ity aṇ | yadvā | gāyatas trāyata iti gāyatraṃ | āto 'nupasarge kaḥ ||

Translation: "O company of priests, in your own mouth (āsye) ślokam, a praise-song, mimīhi — compose, make it. And tatanaḥ — spread that śloka. The example: parjanya iva — as a cloud spreads the rain, so. Gāya — sing, recite — gāyatram, the sūkta in the Gāyatrī metre, ukthyam, fit for the śastra. Mimīhi: root māṅ māne, of the juhotyādi class; parasmaipada by vyatyaya; the i in the reduplicate by bhṛñām it. Āsye: root asu kṣepaṇe; 'in which it is thrown': āsyam; by kṛtyalyuṭo bahulam [Pā. 3-3-113] the suffix ṇyat in the locative sense; the svarita by tit svaritam. Tatanaḥ: root tanu vistāre; leṭ, sip; by bahulaṃ chandasi the vikaraṇa is elided; the augment aṭ by leṭo 'ḍāṭau; the loss of i by itaś ca lopaḥ. Gāyatram: 'belonging to the Gāyatrī'* — the suffix aṇ* by tasyedam; or: 'gāyataḥ trāyate', that which protects the singer — gāyatram, the suffix ka by * āto 'nupasarge kaḥ*."

Pratipadārtha (p. 333) — "āsye — in your mouth; ślokam — the praise-song; mimīhi — compose; (taṃ ca śloke — that praise-song); parjanya iva — as Parjanya spreads the water by sending down rain; tatanaḥ — spread it out and sing; ukthyam — fit for praise; gāyatram — the sūkta that stands in the Gāyatrī metre; gāya — recite."

Bhāvārtha (p. 333) — "Composing the praise-song in your mouth, sing it out and spread it as Parjanya sends down rain and spreads the water. Recite the sūkta in the Gāyatrī metre that is fit for praise."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 333) — "Compose a verse in your mouth, spread it out like a cloud spreading rain ; chant that verse like a verse of Gayatri metre."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 333 - mimīhi — "compose, make; compose." (the source adds the English "compose"). - śloka — "praise, sūkta, sentence. Because the word śloka is read among the fifty-seven names of speech beginning with dhārā (Ni. printed"2-23"; first digit a curled ৩), śloka means a sentence in the form of praise." - parjanya iva tatanaḥ — "as rain falls on the earth and the water spreads over every place, spread out the praise-sentence you have composed: this is the intention." - gāyatraṃ ukthyam — "ukthya means: recite the śastra-mantras, the ṛks of the Gāyatrī metre that praise the deities: so the sense."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 334–335 — grammar pages, characterized) - mimīhi: root māṅ māne, of the juhotyādi class; it is ñit, so by anudāttañita ātmanepadam — अनुदात्तङित आत्मनेपदम् — [Pā. Sū. 1-3-12] the ātmanepada would be proper, but the parasmaipada comes instead by vyatyayo bahulam — व्यत्ययो बहुलम् — [Pā. Sū. 3-1-85]; loṭ, madhyama singular sip; serhyapicca — सेर्ह्यपिच्च — [Pā. Sū. 3-4-87] the substitute hi; since apicca ("not pit") is said, sārvadhātukam apit — सार्वधातुकमपित् — [Pā. Sū. 1-2-4] makes a non-pit sārvadhātuka ṅit; śap → ślu by juhotyādibhyaḥ śluḥ; ślau — श्लौ — [Pā. Sū. 6-1-10] doubling: mā-mā + hi; hrasvaḥ — ह्रस्वः — [Pā. Sū. 7-4-59] shortens the reduplicate; bhṛñām it — भृञामित् — [Pā. Sū. 7-4-76] gives i to the reduplicate; alo 'ntyasya — अलोऽन्त्यस्य — [Pā. Sū. 1-1-52] — a substitute taught for a ṣaṣṭhī-word goes to its final letter, so the i goes to the last letter of the reduplicate; the print then discusses the paribhāṣā nānarthake 'lo 'ntyavidhir anabhyāsavikāre [Paribhā. 106], saying that the alo 'ntyasya rule does not operate where the substitute is meaningless, except in the change of a reduplicate, which here applies; mi + mā + hi; īhalyaghoḥ — ईहल्यघोः — [Pā. Sū. 6-4-113]: the ā of śnā and of a reduplicated base becomes ī before a kit/ṅit sārvadhātuka beginning with a consonant: mimīhi. Since it stands at the beginning of a pāda, the wholly-unaccented rule does not apply; hi is acute by the suffix accent. - āsye: root asu kṣepaṇe: "asyate = kṣipyate asminn ity āsyam": "the things to be eaten are thrown into this" is the analytical sentence. Kṛtyalyuṭo bahulam — कृत्यल्युटो बहुलम् — [Pā. Sū. 3-3-113]: the kṛtya suffixes (the adhikāra of kṛtyāḥ, Pā. 3-1-95 [as printed]) and lyuṭ come variously, i.e. in senses other than those in which they are prescribed; the suffix ṇyat, prescribed by ṛhaloṇ ṇyat [Pā. Sū. 3-1-124] in the senses of state and passive, comes by bahulagrahaṇa in the sense of the locus too; ata upadhāyāḥ — अत उपधायाः — [Pā. Sū. 7-2-116] gives the ā by vṛddhi; as + ya = āsya; tit svaritam — तित्स्वरितम् — [Pā. Sū. 6-1-185]: "the print says that 'antaḥ' of the sūtra karṣātvato ghañanta udāttaḥ (no number printed) is carried forward": the last vowel of the suffix, a tit one, is svarita: so the a of the suffix is svarita. - tatanaḥ: tanu vistāre; liḍarthe leṭ — लिङर्थे लेट् — [Pā. Sū. 3-4-7]: in the senses in which liṅ is prescribed, in the sūtras vidhinimantraṇāmantraṇa… (no number printed) and hetuhetumator liṅ (no number printed), in the Veda leṭ comes; in its place madhyama singular sip; leṭo 'ḍāṭau — लेटोऽडाटौ — [Pā. Sū. 3-4-94] the augment aṭ; itaś ca lopaḥ parasmaipadeṣu — इतश्च लोपः परस्मैपदेषु — [Pā. Sū. 3-4-97] loss of the i; bahulaṃ chandasi [Pā. Sū. 2-4-76] śap → ślu, doubling: tan + tan + as; halādiḥ śeṣaḥ — loss of the n of the reduplicate; tatanas; the s becomes ru, then visarga. - gāyatram: "gāyatryā idam"; tasyedam — तस्येदम् — [Pā. Sū. 4-3-120]: after a base ending in a ṣaṣṭhī-word, in the sense of "this is his", the aṇ and the other of the "big five" suffixes, and the chādi suffixes, come. According to the Śekhara author the tasyedam is just the statement of the desired sense; śeṣe is carried forward: "upayuktād anyaḥ śeṣaḥ" — the senses other than those already used are called śeṣa; those ending with the fourth case [apatyādi caturthyantāḥ] were stated before; the suffixes aṇ and the rest come in the sense "this is his" after a base that has the sandhi of a kṛta. By implication, an ṛ-word of the same kind is a base for the base; the print then argues over prātipadika and whether the sixth-case ending must be taken, relying on ghakālatāneṣu kālanāmnaḥ — घकालतनेषु कालनाम्नः — [Pā. Sū. 6-3-17], where tarap and tamap as taddhita suffixes follow and the aluk of the locative is prescribed, and so on; the conclusion being that the taddhita suffix comes even with the sup intervening, as the Śekhara author thinks, so that here the sixth case is taken: gāyatrī + a; yasyeti ca the loss of ī. [This passage is very crowded; the drift only.] The second analysis: root gai śabde, then laṭ, śatṛ; śap and āy substituted, gāyat, gāyataḥ: "trāyate" — root trai pālane; ādeca upadeśe 'śiti — आदेच उपदेशेऽशिति — [Pā. Sū. 6-1-45] ā for the ai; ato 'nupasarge kaḥ — आतोऽनुपसर्गे कः — [Pā. Sū. 3-2-3] the suffix ka after a root ending in ā when no prefix; trā + a; āto lopa iṭi ca — आतो लोप इटि च — [Pā. Sū. 6-4-64] the loss of the ā; gāyat + tra = gāyatra; one t is lost by Vedic usage; accusative singular am; gāyatra + am; ami pūrvaḥ — अमि पूर्वः — [Pā. Sū. 6-1-107] the prior form: gāyatram. Rik 14 ends here (|| 14 ||).

Rik 38.15 (pp. 336–339, PDF 351–354)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 336 = PDF 351 of the better scan; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented)

वन्दस्व मारुतं गणं त्वेषं पनस्युमर्किणम् । अस्मे वृद्धा असन्निह ॥ १५ ॥

vandasva mārutaṃ gaṇaṃ tveṣaṃ panasyum arkiṇam | asme vṛddhā asann iha || 15 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 336)

वन्दस्व । मारुतम् । गणम् । त्वेषम् । पनस्युम् । अर्किणम् । अस्मे इति । वृद्धाः । असन् । इह ॥ १५ ॥

vandasva | mārutam | gaṇam | tveṣam | panasyum | arkiṇam | asme iti | vṛddhāḥ | asan | iha || 15 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 336)

हे ऋत्विक्संघ मारुतं मरुत्सम्बन्धिनं गणं समूहं वन्दस्व । नमस्कुरु स्तुहि वा । कीदृशं गणं । त्वेषं दीप्तं पनस्युं स्तुतियोग्यं अर्किणमर्चनोपेतं । अस्मे अस्माकमिहास्मिन्कर्मणि वृद्धा आसन् । मरुतः प्रवृद्धा भवन्तु ॥ वन्दस्व । वदि अभिवादनस्तुत्योः । आदुपदेशाल्लसार्वधातुकानुदात्तत्वे धातुस्वरः । पनस्युं । पन च इति स्तुत्यर्थो धातुः । असुन् । पनः स्तोत्रमात्मन इच्छतीति पनस्युः । सुप आत्मनः क्यच् । क्याच्छन्दसीत्युप्रत्ययः । आर्किणं । ऋच स्तुतौ पुंसि सञ्ज्ञायामिति घः । अर्कोऽस्यास्तीत्यर्की । अत इनिठनौ । असन् । बहुलं छन्दसीति शपो लुगभावः । इतश्च लोप इतीकारलोपः । तिङ्ङतिङ इति निघातः ॥ १७ ॥

he ṛtviksaṃgha mārutaṃ marutsambandhinaṃ gaṇaṃ samūhaṃ vandasva | namaskuru stuhi vā | kīdṛśaṃ gaṇaṃ | tveṣaṃ dīptaṃ panasyuṃ stutiyogyaṃ arkiṇam arcanopetaṃ | asme asmākam ihāsmin karmaṇi vṛddhā āsan | marutaḥ pravṛddhā bhavantu || vandasva | vadi abhivādanastutyoḥ | ād upadeśāl lasārvadhātukānudāttatve dhātusvaraḥ | panasyuṃ | pana ca iti stutyartho dhātuḥ | asun | panaḥ stotram ātmana icchatīti panasyuḥ | supa ātmanaḥ kyac | kyāc chandasīty u pratyayaḥ | ārkiṇaṃ | ṛca stutau puṃsi sañjñāyām iti ghaḥ | arko 'syāstīty arkī | ata iniṭhanau | asan | bahulaṃ chandasīti śapo lugabhāvaḥ | itaś ca lopa itīkāralopaḥ | tiṅ ataṅa iti nighātaḥ || 17 ||

Translation: "O company of priests, mārutam gaṇam, the host belonging to the Maruts, vandasva — salute, or praise. What is the host like? Tveṣam — shining; panasyum — fit for praise; arkiṇam — endowed with worship. Asme — of us, iha, in this rite, vṛddhā asan — let them be grown: let the Maruts be grown. Vandasva: root vadi, in the senses of salutation and praise; the root accent, because the la-substitute sārvadhātuka is unaccented after a root with an acute [? as printed: ād upadeśāl…]. Panasyum: the root pana [read with ca] in the sense of praise; the suffix asun; 'panaḥ', praise, 'ātmana icchati', one who desires it for himself, is panasyuḥ; kyac after a sup in the sense of desiring for oneself (supa ātmanaḥ kyac); the suffix u after kya by kyāc chandasi. Ārkiṇam: the root ṛca stutau; the suffix gha by puṃsi saṃjñāyāṃ ghaḥ prāyeṇa; 'arko 'syāstīti arkī', one that has the arka; by ata iniṭhanau the suffix ini. Asan: by bahulaṃ chandasi the śap is not elided; the loss of i by itaś ca lopaḥ…; the verb is unaccented by tiṅ atiṅaḥ."

Pratipadārtha (p. 336) — "tveṣam — one with brilliance; panasyum — fit to be praised; arkiṇam — one worthy of worship; mārutaṃ gaṇam — the host of the Maruts; vandasva — salute, or praise; asme — our; iha — in this sacrificial rite; vṛddhā asan — let those Marut-deities be increased (let them shine forth)."

Bhāvārtha (p. 336) — "O priests! Salute, or praise, the Marut-deities, who are full of brilliance, fit to be praised, and worthy of worship. In this sacrificial rite of ours may the Maruts be increased, and may our sacrifice be carried through in all its parts."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 337) — "Glorify the host of Maruts, brilliant, deserving of praise and adoration; may they be pleased in this our worship."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 337 - panasyum — "panaḥ is only stotra; one who desires it for himself is panasyuḥ: one who longs for praise, deserving praise, fit to be praised." - arkiṇam — "ṛca stutau; arka is mantra; 'arko mantro bhavati', says Yāska (Ni. 5-4). Arka means mantra, stotra. 'arko 'syāstīti arkī', that which has a stotra: one who is praised with the stotra, one fit for praise." - asme = asmākam — "our; in the Ṛgveda, in many places, the word asme is used in place of asmākam." - vṛddhā asan = pravṛddhā bhavatu — "let them be increased: that is, let them be praised, let them shine."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 337–339 — grammar pages, characterized) - vandasva: root vadi abhivādanastutyoḥ, idit; idito num dhātoḥ — इदितो नुम् धातोः (no number printed) the augment num; ātmanepada; loṭ, madhyama singular thās; thāsaḥ se — थासः से (no number printed) the substitute se; savābhyāṃ vāmau — सवाभ्यां वामौ (no number printed) va for the e; śap; being pit it is unaccented; the printed argument that sva is a sārvadhātuka standing for la, and about whether the śap that follows is a-ending or p-ending in the upadeśa (anekāntā anubandhāḥ — "indicatory letters are not [parts]", Paribhā. 4 — so the p is not part of śap, which counts as a-ending in the upadeśa); then the sūtra printed only as tāsyanudāttet, (abbreviated in the print) gives the unaccented sva, so the root accent alone stands. - panasyum: paṇa vyavahāre stutau ca, first class; the root is read here also with pana ca in the sense of praise; sarvadhātubhyo 'sun — सर्वधातुभ्योऽसुन् — [U. Sū. printed "4-6-28" as read, as in Rik 11; middle and last groups doubtful [?]]: asun: panas; "panaḥ = praise; ātmana icchati = he wants it for himself": supa ātmanaḥ kyac — सुप आत्मनः क्यच् — [Pā. Sū. 3-1-8]: kyac after a sup-ending word in the sense of wishing for oneself, optionally; hence panasya; kyāc chandasi — क्याच्छन्दसि — [Pā. Sū. 3-2-

170]: the kya word allows (kyac-kyaṣ-kyaṅ, all three) the suffix u after the kya-ending base in the Veda, in senses such as habitual disposition; so panasyu: "one who naturally desires praise of himself". - arkiṇam: ṛca stutau, tudādi; puṃsi saṃjñāyāṃ ghaḥ prāyeṇa — पुंसि सञ्ज्ञायां घः प्रायेण — [Pā. Sū. 4-3-118 as printed; for 3-3-118] the suffix gha; its gh has the indicatory-letter name; ṛc + a; cajoḥ ku ghiṇṇyatoḥ — चजोः कु घिण्ण्यतोः — [Pā. Sū. 7-3-52]: k for c and j before ghit, ṇit, yat; guṇa of the penultimate: ṛ → ar; arka: the worship that is made with stotra is taken here; "arkaḥ asya asti": for the sense "this has it", ata ini-ṭhanau — अत इनिठनौ — [Pā. Sū. 5-2-115]: after a base ending in a the suffixes ini and ṭhan in the sense of matup: so ini. Although the Mahābhāṣya has the sūtra एकाक्षरात्कृतो जातेः सप्तम्यां च न तौ स्मृतौ (ekākṣarāt kṛto jāteḥ saptamyāṃ ca na tau smṛtau, printed as Pā. Sū. 5-2-115-2) — ini and ṭhan do not come after a base with one syllable, one ending in a kṛt suffix, or a word denoting a species, or in the sense of the locative — the print says: arka is a kṛt-ending word, so how can ini come after it? Not so: the Bhāṣya's examples are svavān (single-syllable), kārakavān (kṛtaḥ), vṛkṣavān (jāteḥ), daṇḍavān ("in this hall there are staves", locative); the print answers that arka here is kṛdanta but not a species-word, so the prohibition does not apply; the clause is only for the most part (prāyika); in some places it does not apply, so the prohibition is not applied here. (The page is very crowded; this is a summary and may contain slips.) The word iti in the sūtra tad asyāsty asminn iti matup is to be connected with each, which shows that the sense of worldly usage is meant (iti śabdo laukikīṃ vivakṣāṃ manusārayati); so ini etc. come sometimes after a kṛdanta too, e.g. kāryī, as the vṛttikāra and others hold. - āsan (at the top of p. 339): as bhuvi, adādi; by bahulaṃ chandasi the śap is not elided [in this case]; leṭ, jhi; the substitute ant; by itaś ca lopaḥ parasmaipadeṣu the loss of the i; by saṃyogāntasya lopaḥ — संयोगान्तस्य लोपः — the loss of the final consonant [the print has ś ("śge lopa"), as printed [sic]]; tiṅ atiṅaḥ gives the wholly-unaccented form. Rik 15 ends here (|| 15 ||).

End of Sūkta 38 (my note). After the grammar of Rik 15, at the top of printed p. 339, a flourish closes the sūkta; unlike the close of Sūkta 37, I find no printed closing sentence ("illige … sūktavu pūrṇavu") on the page. Below it begins Sūkta 39 (pra yad itthā, "the thirty-ninth sūkta", title line mūvattombhattaneya sūktavu, Anuvāka 8, fourth sūkta; ten Riks; ṛṣi Kaṇva Ghaura; Maruts; the Prāgātha [bṛhatī–satobṛhatī] metre — as read from the Kannada introduction at the foot of p. 339); its introduction and Rik 1 are not yet written and belong to the next session.

Summary of Sūkta 38 (my note). Fifteen Riks to the Maruts, all written in full. They open with a prayer that the Maruts take up the sacrificers as a father his son (Rik 1), ask where they are, where their treasures are (Riks 2–3), say that were they mortal their praiser would be immortal (4), and pray that the praiser not be negligent and not tread the road of Yama (5) and that Nirṛti, with craving, perish (6); then describe their rain, with lightning and thunder, in the desert and over the houses (Riks 7–10), their journey along the banks of rivers (11) and the firmness of their chariots (12); the last three Riks (13–15) turn to the priests, bidding them sing, compose and praise the host of the Maruts. The doubtful parts are the many reference numerals, the heavily crowded grammar pages, and the passages named in the flags below.

SŪKTA 39 (printed p. 339 foot = PDF 353)

Thirty-ninth Sūkta (large Kannada title line: "mūvattombhattaneya sūktavu")

Page 339 (PDF 353) — Sāyaṇa's introduction and the Kannada anuvāda

Sāyaṇa's introduction (printed in Kannada script; re-read from the better scan, PDF 354, zoomed at 400 dpi)

> प्रयदित्थेति दशर्चं चतुर्थं सूक्तम् । घोरपुत्रस्य कण्वस्यार्षम् । मरुद्देवताकं । युजः सतोबृहत्यः । अयुजो बृहत्यः । प्र यद्दश प्रागाथं त्वित्यनुक्रमणिका । गतो विनियोगः ॥

prayad itthety daśarcaṃ caturthaṃ sūktam | ghoraputrasya kaṇvasyārṣam | maruddevatākaṃ | yujaḥ satobṛhatyaḥ | ayujo bṛhatyaḥ | pra yad daśa prāgāthaṃ tv ity anukramaṇikā | gato viniyogaḥ ||

Translation: "Pra yad itthā — the fourth sūkta [of the anuvāka], of ten ṛks; the seer's work of Kaṇva, the son of Ghora; its deity is the Maruts; the even-numbered [ṛks] (yujaḥ) are Satobṛhatī; the odd-numbered (ayujaḥ) are Bṛhatī. The Anukramaṇikā [says]: 'pra yad daśa prāgātham tu' ('pra yad: ten [ṛks], but prāgātha'). The application (viniyoga) has been stated [before]." (Translation tentative. The page also carries, above the title, the end of Sūkta 38's grammar, "... || 15 ||" [printed ೧೫].)

Anuvāda (Kannada), p. 339 — "Pra yad itthā is the fourth sūkta in the eighth anuvāka. In it there are ten ṛks. The ṛṣi of this sūkta is Kaṇva, the son of Ghora; the deities are the Maruts. Prāgātha is the metre: the even-numbered ṛks are in the Satobṛhatī metre, the odd-numbered ṛks in the Bṛhatī metre. What the Anukramaṇikā says is 'pra yad daśa prāgātham' [as read]. The viniyoga has been stated already."

Page 340 (PDF 354) — heading of Sūkta 39 and Rik 39.1

॥ ॐ ॥

> सूक्त — ३९ ॥ मण्डल — १ ॥ अनुवाक — ८ ॥ सूक्त — ३९ ॥ ॥ अष्टक — १ ॥ अध्याय — ३ ॥ वर्ग — १८, १९ ॥ ॥ सूक्तदल्लिरुव ऋक्संख्यै — १० ॥ ॥ ऋषिः — कण्वो घौरः ॥ ॥ देवता — मरुतः ॥ ॥ छन्दः — प्रागाथं बार्हतं । १, ३, ५, ७, ९ बृहती । २, ४, ६, ८, १० सतोबृहती ॥

sūkta 39 | maṇḍala 1 | anuvāka 8 | aṣṭaka 1 | adhyāya 3 | varga 18, 19 | ṛks 10 | ṛṣi: Kaṇva Ghaura | devatā: the Maruts | chandas: Prāgātha, Bārhata — Riks 1, 3, 5, 7, 9 Bṛhatī; Riks 2, 4, 6, 8, 10 Satobṛhatī.

Translation of the heading: "Sūkta 39; Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 8; Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 3, Varga 18, 19; number of ṛks in the sūkta: 10; Ṛṣi: Kaṇva Ghaura; Deity: the Maruts; Metre: Prāgātha of the Bārhata kind: Riks 1, 3, 5, 7, 9 Bṛhatī; Riks 2, 4, 6, 8, 10 Satobṛhatī." (Varga numbers ೧೮, ೧೯ and the metre line's numerals zoom-checked on the better scan, PDF 355; the metre names were given a quick plausibility check only: Prāgātha = Bṛhatī + Satobṛhatī alternately.)

Rik 39.1 (pp. 340–343, PDF 354–357)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 340; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. The print sets dhūtayaḥ on a third line.)

प्र यदित्था परावतः शोचिर्न मानमस्यथ । कस्य क्रत्वा मरुतः कस्य वर्पसा कं याथ कं ह धूतयः ॥ १ ॥

pra yad itthā parāvátaḥ śocír na mānam ásyatha | kasya krátvā marutaḥ kásya várpasā káṃ yātha káṃ ha dhūtayaḥ || 1 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 340)

प्र । यत् । इत्था । परा-वतः । शोचिः । न । मानम् । अस्यथ । कस्य । क्रत्वा । मरुतः । कस्य । वर्पसा । कम् । याथ । कम् । ह । धूतयः ॥ १ ॥

pra | yat | itthā | parā-vataḥ | śociḥ | na | mānam | asyatha | kasya | kratvā | marutaḥ | kasya | varpasā | kam | yātha | kam | ha | dhūtayaḥ || 1 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (pp. 340–341; re-read from the better scan, PDF 355–356)

हे धूतयः स्थावरादीनां कम्पनकारिणो मरुतो यद्यदा मानं मननीयं युष्मद्बलं परावतो दूरात् । आरे परावत इति दूरनामसु पाठात् । इत्थास्मादन्तरिक्षात्प्रास्यथ भूमौ प्रक्षिपथ । तत्र दृष्टान्तः । शोचिर्न तेज इव । यथा सूर्यस्य तेजोऽन्तरिक्षाद्भूमौ प्रक्षिप्यते तद्वत् । तदानीं यूयं कस्य यजमानस्य क्रत्वा क्रतुना सङ्गच्छध्व इति शेषः । तथा कस्य यजमानस्य वर्पसा स्तोत्रेण सङ्गच्छध्वे । कं यजमानमुद्दिश्य याथ । देवयजनदेशे गच्छथ । कं ह कं खलु यजमानमनुगृह्णीथेति शेषः ॥ इत्था । थाहेतौ च च्छन्दसि । पा. सू. ५-३-२६ । इतीदंशब्दात्प्रकारवचने थाप्रत्ययः । यदि तत्रेदंशब्दस्य नानुवृत्तिस्तर्हि थमुप्रत्ययान्तादिदंशब्दादुत्तरस्या विभक्तेर्व्यत्ययेन सुपां सुलुगिति डादेशः । प्रथमपक्षे प्रत्ययस्वरः । द्वितीयपक्षे तूदात्तनिवृत्तिस्वरः । अस्यथ । असु क्षेपणे । अदुपदेशाल्लसार्वधातुकानुदात्तत्वे श्यनो नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वं । यद्वृत्तयोगादनिघातः । क्रत्वा । जसादिषु छन्दसि वा वचनं । पा. सू. ७-३-१०९-१ । इति नाभावस्य विकल्पितत्वादभावः । वर्पसा । वृङ् सम्भक्तौ । वृङ्शीङ्भ्यां रूपस्वाङ्गयोः पुक्च । उ. ४-२०० । इत्यसुन् । तत्सन्नियोगेन पुगागमश्च । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वं । अत्र रूपाभिधायिना वर्पस्शब्देन देवतास्वरूपप्रकाशकं स्तोत्रं लक्ष्यते । क्रतुना साहचर्यात् ॥

he dhūtayaḥ sthāvarādīnāṃ kampanakāriṇo maruto yad yadā mānaṃ mananīyaṃ yuṣmadbalaṃ parāvato dūrāt | āre parāvata iti dūranāmasu pāṭhāt | itthāsmād antarikṣāt prāsyatha bhūmau prakṣipatha | tatra dṛṣṭāntaḥ | śocir na teja iva | yathā sūryasya tejo 'ntarikṣād bhūmau prakṣipyate tadvat | tadānīṃ yūyaṃ kasya yajamānasya kratvā kratunā saṅgacchadhva iti śeṣaḥ | tathā kasya yajamānasya varpasā stotreṇa saṅgacchadhve | kaṃ yajamānam uddiśya yātha | devayajanadeśe gacchatha | kaṃ ha kaṃ khalu yajamānam anugṛhṇīteti śeṣaḥ || itthā | thāhetau ca cchandasi | pā. sū. 5-3-26 | itīdaṃśabdāt prakāravacane thāpratyayaḥ | yadi tatredaṃśabdasya nānuvṛttis tarhi thamupratyayāntād idaṃśabdād uttarasyā vibhakter vyatyayena supāṃ sulug iti ḍādeśaḥ | prathamapakṣe pratyayasvaraḥ | dvitīyapakṣe tūdāttanivṛttisvaraḥ | asyatha | asu kṣepaṇe | adupadeśāl lasārvadhātukānudāttatve śyano nittvād ādyudāttatvaṃ | yadvṛttayogād anighātaḥ | kratvā | jasādiṣu chandasi vā vacanaṃ | pā. sū. 7-3-109-1 | iti nābhāvasya vikalpitatvād abhāvaḥ | varpasā | vṛṅ sambhaktau | vṛṅśīṅbhyāṃ rūpasvāṅgayoḥ puk ca | u. 4-200 | ity asun |

tatsanniyogena pugāgamaś ca | nittvād ādyudāttatvaṃ | atra rūpābhidhāyinā varpasśabdena devatāsvarūpaprakāśakaṃ stotraṃ lakṣyate | kratunā sāhacaryāt ||

Translation: "O dhūtayaḥ, shakers of fixed things and the like — Maruts — yad, when, mānam, your estimable strength, parāvataḥ, from afar (since āre, parāvataḥ are read among the names of 'far'), itthā, asmād antarikṣāt, from this atmosphere, prāsyatha, you cast, you throw down to the earth. The example: śocir na — like light: as the light of the sun is thrown from the atmosphere to the earth, so. Then, kasya, with which sacrificer's kratu, rite, do you meet — so the remainder is to be supplied — and, with which sacrificer's varpas, praise, are you united? Kam yātha — aiming at which sacrificer do you go to the place of the divine rite? Kam ha — whom indeed do you favour? so the remainder."

Translation of the grammatical tail (characterized; numerals zoom-checked): Itthā — by thāhetau ca chandasi (Pā. Sū. 5-3-26) the suffix thā, in the sense of manner, after the word idam; if the word idam is not carried over there, then, after a base ending in tham, the case-ending of the word idam is given the substitute ḍā by vyatyaya, via supāṃ sulug…; in the first alternative the accent is that of the suffix, in the second the accent that follows the disappearance of an acute. Asyatha — root asu kṣepaṇe; the unaccentedness of the sārvadhātuka after a root with an acute, and since śyan is nit, the first syllable is acute; no nighāta because of the connection with yat. Kratvā — by the vārttika jasādiṣu chandasi vā vacanam (Pā. Sū. 7-3-109-1) the nā-substitute is optional, so here it does not occur. Varpasā — root vṛṅ sambhaktau; the Uṇādi suffix asun with the augment puk (U. 4-200; this font's ꣓ has a ꣓-like shape, as in ṅīṣ and ṅas on p. 349, so the roots read vṛṅ, śīṅ); because it is nit the first syllable is acute; "here by the word varpas, which denotes form, the praise that reveals the nature of the deity is meant, by association with kratu."

Pratipadārtha (p. 341) — "dhūtayaḥ — (O Maruts) you who make even immovable things tremble; marutaḥ — O Maruts; yat — when; mānam — your worshipful strength; parāvataḥ — from a very distant region; itthām — from this atmosphere; śocir na — as the sun sends out its rays; prāsyatha — you spread [your strength] over the earth; kasya — of which sacrificer; kratvā — [by the rite] to which will you go? kasya — of which sacrificer; varpasā — by the praise [will you be satisfied]; kam — aiming at which sacrificer; yātha — do you go to the place of sacrifice? kam ha — whom indeed [will you favour]?"

Bhāvārtha (p. 341) — "O Maruts, who have the strength to make fixed things tremble: as the rays of the sun fall from the atmosphere and spread out to all the world, your worshipful power spreads from the atmosphere to all the worlds. Now to the sacrifice of which sacrificer will you go? By whose praise will you be satisfied? Aiming at which sacrificer do you go to the place of sacrifice? Whom will you favour?"

Page 342 (better scan PDF 357)

English Translation (the source's own, p. 342) — "O Maruts, you make all things tremble ; you direct your awful power downwards from afar, as light descends from the heaven ; by whose worship, by whose praise are you attracted ? To what place of sacrifice or to whom indeed do you repair ?"

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 342 - “The sense of this ṛk begins abruptly [toḍakāgiruvudu]. The power of the Marut-deities is boundless. It spreads over the earth like the rays of the sun, falling downward from the atmosphere very far away. O Marut-deities who have such power: now to whose place of sacrifice will you go? To favour whom will you go? — this is the main intention. In this intention, when the ṛṣi asks ‘where have you gone?’, there must have been a calm state, without thunder and without rain; and therefore he asks where the Marut-deities have gone. Earlier, in the 35th sūkta, 7th ṛk [printed ೩೫, ೭], the ṛṣi Hiraṇyastūpa, at night-time, addressing Savitṛ (the Sun), asked a question of this very kind: ‘Where is the sun now? What world is he lighting?’ When the visible Sun, Maruts and other deities are not seen at an unusual time, astonished questions such as ‘Where do they go? Where are they now?’ are natural.” - parāvataḥ — “since the word parāvataḥ is read among the five names of ‘far’ beginning with āke, parāke (Ni. 3-20), parāvataḥ means ‘from afar’. The sense is that the wind blows from very far away in the atmosphere.” - śocir na — “‘like a brilliant thing’: that is, as the light of the sun comes to the earth from very far: so the intention of the example.” - varpasā = stotreṇa — vṛṅ sambhaktau — “by praise.” - dhūtayaḥ = sthāmādīnāṃ kampanakāriṇaḥ — “those who, by the power of their strength, make shake [make sway] fixed things such as houses, and trees and the like.”

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (p. 342 foot, begun; the rest on p. 343 not yet written) - pra: upasargāś cābhivarjam — उपसर्गाश्चाभिवर्जम् — (Phi. Sū. 82, as printed: ೮ then a curled ೨, not ೦): the prefixes, except abhi, are first-syllable acute; so pra is ādyudātta. (Continued on p. 343.)

Page 343 (better scan PDF 358)

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā of Rik 39.1, continued (p. 343, old-scan PDF 357 — grammar page, noted briefly) - itthā: thā hetau ca chandasi — था हेतौ च छन्दसि — (Pā. Sū. 5-3-26): the suffix thā in the senses of cause and manner after idam and kim, in the Veda; the print explains that idam comes by carry-over (anuvṛtti) from the sūtra idamas thamuḥ — इदमस्थमुः — and kim from kimaś ca — किमश्च —; “the idam is carried over, since in the Veda the words kim and idam are in question”; idam + thā; idam iś — इदम इश् — would give iś in its place, but it is barred by etetau rathoḥ — एतेतौ रथोः — (Pā. Sū. 5-3-4): before a prāgdīvyatīya suffix beginning with r or th, idam gets the substitutes eta and it: it; it + thā = itthā. The print adds that if one does not accept this carry-over, one takes, by idamas thamuḥ (Pā. Sū. 5-3-24; the number is printed at this second mention), idam + thamu (“itthamu”) and gives the ending following it the substitute ḍā by supāṃ sulug…, with loss of the ṭi: itthā. In the first alternative the word is final-acute by the suffix accent; in the second the ending is acute by anudāttasya ca yatrodāttalopaḥ — अनुदात्तस्य च यत्रोदात्तलोपः — (no number printed), so again final-acute. - asyatha: root asu kṣepaṇe, divādi; loṭ, madhyama tha [as the print says]; divādibhyaḥ śyan — दिवादिभ्यः श्यन् — (no number printed): śyan; by the paribhāṣā anekāntā anubandhāḥ the root’s accentual status is that of an adupadeśa; the la-substitute sārvadhātuka after it is unaccented by tāsyanudāttetṅidupadeśalasārvadhātukam anudāttam, and śyan being nit, the word ending in the suffix is first-syllable acute; because of the connection with yat there is no wholly-unaccented form. - kratvā: jasādiṣu chandasi vā vacanam prāṅṇau caṅy upadhāyāḥ — जसादिषु छन्दसि वा वचनं प्राङ्णौ चङ्युपधायाः — the vārttika (Pā. Sū. 7-3-109-1): in this section the operations laid down up to ṇau caṅy upadhāyāḥ are optional in the Veda; so āṅo nāstriyām — आङो नास्त्रियाम् — the nā-substitute for the instrumental ṭā — does not come; the yaṇ substitution: kratu + ā = kratvā. - varpasā: vṛṅ śīṅbhyāṃ rūpasvāṅgayoḥ puk ca — वृङ् शीङ्भ्यां रूपस्वाङ्गयोः पुक्च — (U. Sū., no number printed here): after the roots vṛṅ and śīṅ, in the senses "form" and "own limb", the suffix asun, and the augment puk in the base; vṛp + as, guṇa of the light penultimate: varpas; instrumental singular. "Here the word rūpa ['form'] is by implication to be taken as 'praise that reveals the form', because of the association with the word kratu." Rik 1 ends here (|| 1 ||).

Rik 39.2 (pp. 344–346, PDF 358–360)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 344; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. The print sets māyinaḥ on a third line. [accent ?]: a stray underline/curve stands below the gap between mā and martyasya (658-dpi crop); neither syllable was marked.)

स्थिरा वः सन्त्वायुधा पराणुदे वीळू उत प्रतिष्कभे । युष्माकमस्तु तविषी पनीयसी मा मर्त्यस्य मायिनः ॥ २ ॥ [accent ?]

sthirā vaḥ santv āyudhā parāṇude vīḷū utá pratiṣkábhe | yuṣmākam astu táviṣī pánīyasī mā mártyasya māyínaḥ || 2 || [accent ?]

Pada-pāṭha (p. 344)

स्थिरा । वः । सन्तु । आयुधा । परा-नुदे । वीळु । उत । प्रति-स्कभे । युष्माकम् । अस्तु । तविषी । पनीयसी । मा । मर्त्यस्य । मायिनः ॥ २ ॥

sthirā | vaḥ | santu | āyudhā | parā-nude | vīḷu | uta | prati-skabhe | yuṣmākam | astu | taviṣī | panīyasī | mā | martyasya | māyinaḥ || 2 ||

(The Saṃhitā prints parā ṇude and vīḷū uta with the sandhi; the Pada prints parā-nude and vīḷu.)

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (pp. 344–345; re-read from the better scan, PDF 359–360; the print writes स्कन्भुः with न्भ*)*

हे मरुतो व आयुधा युष्माकमायुधानि पराणुदे शत्रूणामपनोदनाय स्थिरा सन्तु स्थिराणि भवन्तु । उतापि च प्रतिष्कभे शत्रूणां प्रतिबन्धाय वीळु सन्तु । दृढानि सन्तु । युष्माकं तविषी बलं पनीयसी अतिशयेन स्तोतव्यं भवतु । मायिनोऽस्मासु छद्मचारिणो मर्त्यस्य मनुष्यस्य शत्रोर्मा । बलं मा भवतु ॥ स्थिरा । आयुधा । उभयत्र शेश्छन्दसि बहुलमिति शेर्लोपः । पराणुदे । णुद प्रेरणे । सम्पदादिलक्षणः क्विप् । उपसर्गादसमासेऽपि । पा. ८-४-१४ । इति णत्वं । कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं । वीळु । सुपां सुलुगिति विभक्तेर्लुक् । ईषाअक्षादित्वात्प्रकृतिभावः । पा. ६-१-१२७-२ । प्रतिष्कभे । स्कन्भुः सौत्रो धातुः । सम्पदादिलक्षणो भावे क्विप् । अनिदितामिति नलोपः । पनीयसी । पनतिः स्तुत्यर्थः । अस्मादौणादिकः कर्मण्यसुन् । तत ईयसुनि टेरिति टिलोपः । उगितश्चेति ङीप् । ईयसुनो नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वं । मायिनः । मायाशब्दस्य व्रीह्यादिषु पाठात् व्रीह्यादिभ्यश्चेति मत्वर्थीये इनिः ॥

he maruto va āyudhā yuṣmākam āyudhāni parāṇude śatrūṇām apanodanāya sthirā santu sthirāṇi bhavantu | utāpi ca pratiṣkabhe śatrūṇāṃ pratibandhāya vīḷu santu | dṛḍhāni santu | yuṣmākaṃ taviṣī balaṃ panīyasī atiśayena stotavyaṃ bhavatu | māyino 'smāsu chadmacāriṇo martyasya manuṣyasya śatror mā | balaṃ mā bhavatu || sthirā | āyudhā | ubhayatra śeś chandasi bahulam iti śer lopaḥ | parāṇude | ṇuda preraṇe | sampadādilakṣaṇaḥ kvip | upasargād asamāse 'pi | pā. 8-4-14 | iti ṇatvaṃ | kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ | vīḷu | supāṃ sulug iti vibhakter luk | īṣāakṣāditvāt prakṛtibhāvaḥ | pā. 6-1-127-2 | pratiṣkabhe | skanbhuḥ sautro dhātuḥ | sampadādilakṣaṇo bhāve kvip | anidit ām iti nalopaḥ | panīyasī | panatiḥ stutyarthaḥ | asmād auṇādikaḥ karmaṇy asun | tata īyasuni ṭer iti ṭilopaḥ | ugitaś ceti ṅīp | īyasuno nittvād ādyudāttatvaṃ | māyinaḥ | māyāśabdasya vrīhyādiṣu pāṭhāt vrīhyādibhyaś ceti matvarthīye iniḥ ||

Translation: "O Maruts, vaḥ āyudhā, your weapons — parānude, in order to thrust away enemies — sthirā santu, let them be firm. Uta — and — pratiṣkabhe, in order to check enemies, vīḷu santu, let them be strong, stout. Yuṣmākam taviṣī, your strength, let it be panīyasī, extremely praiseworthy; and the strength of the martyasya, the mortal, the man who is an enemy, māyinaḥ, deceitful towards us, going about in disguise — mā, let it not be. Sthirā, āyudhā: in both the loss of śi by śeś chandasi bahulam. Parānude: root ṇuda preraṇe; kvip of the sampadādi class; ṇatva by upasargād asamāse 'pi (Pā. 8-4-14); the accent of the first member of a compound ending in a kṛt. Vīḷu: loss of the ending by supāṃ sulug…; prakṛtibhāva because [the word] is in the īṣā-akṣādi [list] (Pā. 6-1-127-2). Pratiṣkabhe: skambhu is a sautra root; kvip in the abstract sense; the loss of n by anidit ām…. Panīyasī: the root pana in the sense of praise; from it the Uṇādi asun in the passive sense; then īyasun, loss of the ṭi; ṅīp by ugitaś ca; īyasun is nit so the first syllable is acute. Māyinaḥ: since māyā is read in the vrīhyādi group, the suffix ini in the sense of matup by vrīhyādibhyaś ca."

Pratipadārtha (p. 345) — "marutaḥ — O Maruts; vaḥ — your; āyudhā — weapons; parānude — for driving away the enemies; sthirā — firm; santu — let them be; uta — and; pratiṣkabhe — for checking the enemies too; vīḷu — let them be strong; yuṣmākam — your; taviṣī — strength; panīyasī — let it be extremely praiseworthy; māyinaḥ — [him who] deceives (us); martyasya — of the enemy in human form; mā — let [his strength] not be [praiseworthy]."

Bhāvārtha (p. 345) — "O Maruts, may your weapons be firm for driving away our powerful enemies. May they be strong for checking them. May your strength be worthy of praise. May the enemy in human form, who deceives us, be without strength."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 345) — "May your weapons be steady, may they be strong to drive away or resist the enemy ; may your strength merit praise, not that of a treacherous mortal."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 345 - parānude — "ṇuda preraṇe: in the matter of opposing enemies." - vīḷu — "vīḍu: firmly, steady." (English as printed: "steady"). - pratiṣkabhe = śatrūṇāṃ pratibandhāya — "for the checking of enemies." - taviṣī = balam — "strength, power, capacity and the like." - panīyasī = panatiḥ stutyarthaḥ | atiśayena stotavyā bhavatu — "let it be worthy of much praise." - māyinaḥ = chadmacāriṇo manuṣyasya — "of a wicked man who deceives": the source adds "treacherous or vily [sic] person."

Page 346 (better scan PDF 361)

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (p. 346 — grammar page, noted briefly) - sthirā, āyudhā: in both words the loss of śi by śeś chandasi bahulam. - parānude: root ṇuda preraṇe; kvip by sampadādibhyaḥ kvip — सम्पदादिभ्यः क्विप् —; upasargād asamāse 'pi ṇopadeśasya — उपसर्गादसमासेऽपि णोपदेशस्य — (Pā. Sū. 8-4-14): the n of a root taught with ṇ, after the r and ṣ of a prefix, becomes ṇ, even without compounding; the print explains that the root ṇuda has ṇ at the beginning; the eight roots nard, nāṭ, nāth, nādh, nand, nakk, nṝ, nṛt are excepted from ṇopadeśa-hood (ṇopadeśās tv anarda-nāṭi-nāth-nādh-nand-nakka-nṝ-nṛtaḥ — णोपदेशास्त्वनर्द-नाटि-नाथ्-नाध्-नन्द्-नक्क-नॄ-नृतः —, zoom-checked); parānud takes the accent of the first member of a compound with a kṛt last member. - vīḷu: supāṃ sulug for the ending; in the Saṃhitā, in vīḷu + uta, prakṛtibhāva by īṣākṣādiṣu chandasi prakṛtibhāvam [ātram] (printed "Pā. S6-1-127", the Sū. run into the 6). - pratiṣkabhe: the root skambhu is not read in the present dhātupāṭha, but Pāṇini's sūtras use it: grasitaskabhita… (Pā. Sū. 7-2-34) has skabhita from the root skambhu ("skambhu rodhane"); kvip of the sampadādi class; anidito hala upadhāyāḥ knīti — अनिदितां हल उपधायाः क्ङिति — (Pā. Sū. 6-4-24) loss of the nasal. - panīyasī: the root pana is read in the sense of praise; after it the Uṇādi asun in the passive sense; in the sense of excess, dvivacanavibhajyopapade tarabīyasunau — द्विवचनविभज्योपपदे तरबीयसुनौ — (no number printed) īyasun; ṭeḥ — टेः — (no number printed) loss of as; panīyas is ugit, so ugitaś ca — उगितश्च — (Pā. Sū. 6-3-45 [as printed; for 4-1-6]) gives nīp in the feminine; īyasun is nit, so the first syllable is acute. - māyinaḥ: vrīhyādibhyaś ca — व्रीह्यादिभ्यश्च — (Pā. Sū. 5-2-116): after the words in the vrīhyādi group the suffixes ini and ṭhan in the sense of matup; by anyebhya ubhayam ["both"] both suffixes come; and vini by asmāyāmedhāsrajo viniḥ — अस्मायामेधास्रजो विनिः — (printed abbreviated, "asmāyāmedhā—", no number); so the forms māyāvī, māyī, māyikaḥ; in the vrīhyādi group "vrīhi-māyā" is read. Rik 2 ends here (|| 2 ||).

Rik 39.3 (pp. 347–349, PDF 361–363)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 347; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented)

> परा॑ ह॒ यत्स्थि॒रं ह॒थ नरो॑ व॒र्तय॑था गु॒रु । वि याथन व॒निनः॑ पृथि॒व्या व्याशा॒: पर्व॑तानाम् ॥ ३ ॥
>
> párā ha yát sthiráṃ hathá náro vartáyathā gurú | ví yāthana vanínaḥ pṛthivyā́ vy āśā́ḥ párvatānām || 3 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 347)

> परा । ह । यत् । स्थिरम् । हथ । नरः । वर्तयथ । गुरु । वि । याथन । वनिनः । पृथिव्याः । वि । आशाः । पर्वतानाम् ॥ ३ ॥

parā | ha | yat | sthiram | hatha | naraḥ | vartayatha | guru | vi | yāthana | vaninaḥ | pṛthivyāḥ | vi | āśāḥ | parvatānām || 3 ||

(The Saṃhitā prints vartayathā with a long final vowel, the Pada vartayatha short.)

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 347; re-read from the better scan, PDF 362)

हे नरो नेतारो मरुतो यद्यदा स्थिरं वसु पराहथ वृक्षादिकं पराहतं भग्नं कुरुथ । गुरु पाषाणादिकं गुरुत्वोपेतं वर्तयथ प्रेरयथ । तदानीं पृथिव्याः सम्बन्धिनो वनिनो वनवतो वृक्षान्वियाथन । वियुज्य मध्ये गच्छथ । अरण्यगतानां निबिडानां वृक्षाणां मध्ये यस्य कस्यापि वृक्षस्य भग्नत्वादितरवृक्षाणां परस्परवियोगेन प्रौढो मार्गो भवति । तथा पर्वतानामाशाः पर्वतपार्श्वदिशो वियाथन । वियुज्य गच्छथ ॥ हथ । हन हिंसागत्योः । अनुदात्तोपदेशेत्यादिना अनुनासिकलोपः । यद्वृत्तयोगादनिघातः । नरः । पादादित्वादामन्त्रितनिघाताभावः । वर्तयथ । अदुपदेशाल्लसार्वधातुकानुदात्तत्वे णिचः स्वर एव शिष्यते । यच्छब्दानुषङ्गान्निघाताभावः । याथन । तप्तनप्तनथनाश्चेति थनादेशः ॥

he naro netāro maruto yad yadā sthiraṃ vasu parāhatha vṛkṣādikaṃ parāhataṃ bhagnaṃ kurutha | guru pāṣāṇādikaṃ gurutvopetaṃ vartayatha prerayatha | tadānīṃ pṛthivyāḥ sambandhino vanino vanavato vṛkṣān viyāthana | viyujya madhye gacchatha | araṇyagatānāṃ nibiḍānāṃ vṛkṣāṇāṃ madhye yasya kasyāpi vṛkṣasya bhagnatvād itaravṛkṣāṇāṃ parasparaviyogena prauḍho mārgo bhavati | tathā parvatānām āśāḥ parvatapārśvadiśo viyāthana | viyujya gacchatha || hatha | hana hiṃsāgatyoḥ | anudāttopadeśetyādinā anunāsikalopaḥ | yadvṛttayogād anighātaḥ | naraḥ | pādāditvād āmantritanighātābhāvaḥ | vartayatha | adupadeśāl lasārvadhātukānudāttatve ṇicaḥ svara eva śiṣyate | yacchabdānuṣaṅgān nighātābhāvaḥ | yāthana | tapta-nap-tana-thanāś ceti thanādeśaḥ ||

Translation: "O naraḥ, leaders, Maruts, yad, when, [a thing that is] sthiram, firm, [you] parā hatha — you break down, make felled and broken — trees and the like; guru, heavy things such as rocks, you vartayatha, make roll, set going. Then pṛthivyāḥ, belonging to the earth, vaninaḥ, forest trees, viyāthana — you go through, having parted [them]. Among the dense trees that have gone into the forest, through the breaking of some one tree or other, a broad way is made by the separation of the other trees from each other. Likewise parvatānām āśāḥ, the āśā of the mountains [the print reads parvatapārśvadiśaḥ, 'the regions of the mountains' flanks'] viyāthana — you go through, parting [them]. Hatha: root han hiṃsāgatyoḥ; the loss of the nasal by the rule beginning anudāttopadeśa…; no nighāta because of the connection with yat. Naraḥ: [not unaccented, since it is] at the beginning of a pāda, there is no āmantrita-nighāta. Vartayatha: [after the śap] the la-substitute sārvadhātuka is unaccented [after a root taught with a] (adupadeśāt…), so only the accent of ṇic remains; no nighāta because yat is to be supplied. Yāthana: the substitute thana by tapta-nap-tana-thanāś ca."

Pratipadārtha (p. 347) — "naraḥ — O leaders of men (Maruts); yat — when; sthiram — fixed, immovable (trees and the like); parā hatha — you roll down (and); guru — heavy objects (such as rocks); vartayatha — you cause to move (when); pṛthivyāḥ — belonging to the earth; vaninaḥ — forest trees; viyāthana — you go through, separating (just so); parvatānām — of mountains; āśāḥ — the directions [print: dikkugaḷannu] (of the narrow passes); vi (yāthana) — you go, separating."

Page 348 (better scan PDF 363)

Bhāvārtha (p. 348) — "O leaders, Marut-deities, you roll down firm trees and the like. You set heavy things such as rocks in motion. Breaking even the forest trees with your force, and parting the narrow mountain passes, you go about easily and freely."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 348) — "O leaders of men, (Maruts) whenever you move you demolist [sic] what is stable, scatter what is heavy, then make your way through the forest trees of earth and through the regious [sic] of the mountains."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 348 - Main intention — "When the Marut-deities move, nothing hinders them. On the earth they roll down, roots and all, the big, big trees that stand well grown and firm. Heavy things, houses and the like, are shaken by the blow of the wind. When they blow among clusters of densely grown forest trees on earth, they break many trees, make a way, and press on. In mountain regions too they make their way through narrow passes." - parā hatha — "hana hiṃsāgatyoḥ; bhagnaṃ kurutha: you break; you throw down." - naraḥ — "nominative plural of the ṛ-ending word nṛ: leaders, guides of men." - guru — "extremely heavy stones, houses and such things." - vi yāthana = viyujya madhye gacchatha — "…in a forest, among densely grown trees, since one tree or another has been broken, the other trees being separated from one another, a broad path comes to be: so the intention." - āśāḥ parvatānām — "the slopes of mountains, or the narrow-pass regions between the mountains."

Page 349 (better scan PDF 364)

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (p. 349 — grammar page, noted briefly; no sūtra numbers printed) - hatha: han hiṃsāgatyoḥ; laṭ, tha; the śap elided; by anudāttopadeśa… the loss of the n; because of the connection with yat the verb is not wholly unaccented. - naraḥ: because it stands at the beginning of a pāda, the unaccented vocative of the eighth adhyāya does not apply. - vartayatha: śap is pit and so unaccented; the la-substitute sārvadhātuka after it is unaccented by tāsyanudāttet…, so the accent of ṇic remains; "the word yat of yat sthiram is to be connected here too", and by yadvṛttān nityam the wholly-unaccented form is prohibited. - yāthana: yā prāpaṇe, loṭ, madhyama tha → ta; tapta-nap-tana-thanāś ca gives thana. - vaninaḥ: "vanam eṣām asti": the suffix ini. - pṛthivyāḥ: the root prath + ṣivan; ṣidgaurādibhyaś ca gives ṅīṣ, acute; the genitive ending ṅas [the font's ঌ, ঽ-like], the yaṇ substitution; udāttayaṇo hal-pūrvāt gives the acute to the ending. Rik 3 ends here (|| 3 ||).

Rik 39.4 (p. 349 foot, PDF 363–)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 349; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. The print sets cidādhṛṣe on a third line.)

नहि वः शत्रुर्विविदे अधि द्यवि न भूम्या रिशादसः । युष्माकमस्तु तविषी तना युजा रुद्रासो नू चिदाधृषे ॥ ४ ॥

nahí vaḥ śátrur vividé adhi dyávi ná bhúmyāṃ riśādasaḥ | yuṣmākam astu táviṣī tánā yujā́ rúdrāso nú cid ādhṛ́ṣe || 4 ||

(The Pada, the bhāṣya and the rest of Rik 4 are on p. 350 onward, below.)

Rik 39.4, continued (from p. 349 foot; the Saṃhitā is above)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 350)

नहि । वः । शत्रुः । विविदे । अधि । द्यवि । न । भूम्यां । रिशादसः । युष्माकम् । अस्तु । तविषी । तना । युजा । रुद्रासः । नु । चित् । आऽधृषे ॥ ४ ॥

nahi | vaḥ | śatruḥ | vivide | adhi | dyavi | na | bhūmyām | riśādasaḥ | yuṣmākam | astu | taviṣī | tanā | yujā | rudrāsaḥ | nu | cit | ā-dhṛṣe || 4 ||

(The Saṃhitā prints nū cid*, the Pada* nu cit*; the lengthening is dealt with in the grammar.)*

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 350; re-read from the better scan, PDF 365)

हे रिशादसः शत्रुहिंसका मरुतोऽधिद्यवि द्युलोकस्योपरि वो युष्माकं शत्रुर्नहि विविदे । न च बभूव । तथा भूम्यामपि शत्रुर्न बभूव । हे रुद्रासो रुद्रपुत्रा मरुतो युष्माकमेकोनपञ्चाशत्संख्यानां भवतां युजा योगेन परस्परैकमत्येनाधृषे वैरिणां सर्वतो धर्षणाय तविषी बलं नू चित् क्षिप्रमेव तनास्तु । विस्तृता भवतु ॥ विविदे । विद सत्तायां । लिटि प्रत्ययस्वरः । द्यवि नहि विविदे भूम्यां च न हि विविद इति चशब्दार्थप्रतीतेश्चादिलोपे विभाषेति प्रथमायास्तिङ्विभक्तेर्निघातप्रतिषेधः । प्राथम्यं चानुषक्तक्रियापेक्षया । रिशादसः । रिश हिंसायां । रिशन्ति हिंसन्तीति रिशाः । इगुपधलक्षणः कः । तानदन्तीति रिशादसः । असुन् । आमन्त्रितनिघातः । युजा । युजिर् योगे । ऋत्विगित्यादिना क्विन् । सावेकाच इति विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वं । रुद्रासः । रुद्रशब्देन तत्सम्बन्धिनो मरुतो लक्ष्यन्ते । आज्ञसेरसुक् । नू चित् । ऋचि तुनुघेत्यादिना दीर्घः । आधृषे । ञिधृषा प्रागल्भ्ये । सम्पदादिलक्षणो भावे क्विप् । कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वम् ॥

he riśādasaḥ śatruhiṃsakā maruto 'dhidyavi dyulokasyopari vo yuṣmākaṃ śatrur nahi vivide | na ca babhūva | tathā bhūmyām api śatrur na babhūva | he rudrāso rudraputrā maruto yuṣmākam ekonapañcāśatsaṃkhyānāṃ bhavatāṃ yujā yogena parasparaikamatyenādhṛṣe vairiṇāṃ sarvato dharṣaṇāya taviṣī balaṃ nū cit kṣiprameva tanāstu | vistṛtā bhavatu || vivide | vida sattāyāṃ | liṭi pratyayasvaraḥ | dyavi nahi vivide bhūmyāṃ ca na hi vivida iti caśabdārthapratīteś cādilope vibhāṣeti prathamāyās tiṅvibhakter nighātapratiṣedhaḥ | prāthamyaṃ cānuṣaktakriyāpekṣayā | riśādasaḥ | riśa hiṃsāyāṃ | riśanti hiṃsantīti riśāḥ | igupadhalakṣaṇaḥ kaḥ | tān adantīti riśādasaḥ | asun | āmantritanighātaḥ | yujā | yujir yoge | ṛtvigdadhṛksragdiguṣṇigañcuyujikruñcāṃ ca | pā. 3-2-59 [?] | iti kvin | sāvekāca iti vibhakter udāttatvaṃ | rudrāsaḥ | rudraśabdena tatsambandhino maruto lakṣyante | ājjaser asuk | nū cit | ṛci tunughety ādinā dīrghaḥ | ādhṛṣe | dhṛṣā prāgalbhye | sampadādilakṣaṇo bhāve kvip | kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvam ||

Translation: "O riśādasaḥ, destroyers of enemies, Maruts — adhi dyavi, above the heaven-world, vaḥ, for you, an enemy nahi vivide, is not found; and there has not been one; likewise, on the earth also, an enemy has not been. O rudrāsaḥ, sons of Rudra, Maruts — of you who are forty-nine in number, yujā, by union, by agreement among one another, ādhṛṣe, for the overcoming of enemies on all sides, may [your] taviṣī, strength, nū cit, quickly indeed, tanā astu, be extended: be spread. Vivide: root vida sattāyām; the suffix accent in liṭ; [the verb is understood in both halves — 'dyavi nahi vivide, bhūmyāṃ ca na hi vivide' — because the sense of ca is perceived]; on the dropping of a cādi word, by vibhāṣā, for the first [of the pair] the prohibition of nighāta for the first verb-form (tiṅ-vibhakti); the first is 'first' in respect of the action understood. Riśādasaḥ: root riśa hiṃsāyām; 'riśanti, they injure': riśāḥ; the suffix ka by the rule of ik-penultimate roots; 'tān adanti', they eat them: riśādasaḥ; the suffix asun; unaccented as a vocative. Yujā: root yujir yoge; kvin by [the rule beginning] ṛtvig... (no number in the bhāṣya); the ending is acute by sāvekāca. Rudrāsaḥ: by the word rudra the Maruts connected with him are indicated; asuk by ājjaser asuk. Nū cit: the lengthening by ṛci tunughā.... Ādhṛṣe: root ñidhṛṣā prāgalbhye; kvip in the abstract sense of the sampadādi class; the accent of the first member in a compound ending in a kṛt."

Pratipadārtha (p. 350) — "riśādasaḥ — O destroyers of enemies, Maruts; adhi dyavi — in the heaven-world above; vaḥ — for you; śatruḥ — an enemy; na hi vivide — there is not [such] a one; bhūmyām — on the earth also; na babhūva — there has not been at all; rudrāsaḥ — O Maruts, sons of Rudra; yuṣmākam — of you (of forty-nine in number); yujā — by union; ādhṛṣe — for the overpowering of enemies on all sides; taviṣī — [your] strength; nū cit — quickly indeed; tanā astu — let it be extended."

Page 351 (better scan PDF 366)

Bhāvārtha (p. 351) — "O destroyers of enemies, Maruts, for you there is no room for an enemy, whether in heaven or on earth. O Maruts, sons of Rudra, may your joined strength, of you who are forty-nine in number, quickly increase for the destruction of enemies."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 351) — "O distroyers [sic] of the wicked, there exists no adversary of yours above heavens, nor upon this earth, O Sons of Rudras [sic], may four [sic] collective strength be quickly exerted to humble your enemies"

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 351 - riśādasaḥ — "riśa hiṃsāyām; riśanti hiṃsanti iti riśāḥ, enemies; tān adanti iti riśādasaḥ: the root riśa has the sense 'to injure'; those who injure are enemies; these are those who devour or destroy them; so riśādasaḥ: destroyers of enemies." - adhi dyavi = dyulokasyopari — "in the upper part of heaven, or even in the heaven that is above." - taviṣī — "strength, power." - tanā — "tanu vistāre, vistṛtā: let it be spread, that is, let it increase and grow. The word tanā is specially used in the Ṛgveda." - yujā = yogena parasparaikamatyena — "that the Maruts are forty-nine in number is said in the Purāṇas and elsewhere. In the Ṛgveda they are described in another way; see the explanation we wrote on the 1st ṛk of the 37th sūkta [printed ೩೭, ೧]." - rudrāsaḥ — "that the Maruts are the sons of Rudra is described in many places in the Ṛgveda; we have already explained this."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 351–353 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - nahi: "abhāve nahy ano nāpi" — अभावे नह्यनो नापि — (Amara., A. Va.): nahi is one unbroken word, an indeclinable; by evādīnām antaḥ — एवादीनामन्तः — it may be said to be final-acute as belonging to the evādi group. Or, by saha supā — सह सुपा — (Pā. Sū. 2-1-4; p. 352), where saha is taken as a separate rule (yogavibhāga): a sup-ending word compounds with a competent sup-ending word; na and hi are compounded by this sūtra; samāsasya — समासस्य — (Pā. Sū. 6-1-223) the last syllable of the compound is acute; hence final-acute. - vaḥ: bahuvacanasya vasnasau — बहुवचनस्य वस्नसौ — (Pā. Sū. 8-1-21): for yuṣmākam, ending in the genitive plural, the unaccented substitute vas. - vivide: root vida sattāyām, divādi, ātmanepada; liṭ → eś for ṭe; the doubling, and the loss of the reduplicate's [consonant] ; no guṇa of the light penultimate: vivide. In the second half, "bhūmyāṃ ca na hi vivide", the sense of ca is understood though ca is not used; there is no verb in the second half of the ṛk, but the verb said before has to be repeated and joined with the second sentence; this brought-in verb is the second; the one in the mantra is the first; by cādilope vibhāṣā — चादिलोपे विभाषा — (Pā. Sū. 8-1-63), when a cādi word is dropped, the first of the two verbs is optionally not unaccented; so there is a prohibition of anudātta for the first. - na: being a nipāta, first-syllable acute. - riśādasaḥ: root riśa hiṃsāyām; "riśanti hiṃsanti iti riśāḥ": enemies who give injury; igupadhajñāprīkiraḥ kaḥ — इगुपधज्ञाप्रीकिरः कः — (Pā. Sū. 3-1-135): after roots with an ik as penultimate (ik = i u ṛ ḷ), and after jñā etc., the suffix ka; the suffix is kit, so no guṇa of the light penultimate; the root ad bhakṣaṇe: "riśān adanti", they eat enemies, that is, destroy them; sarvadhātubhyo 'sun — सर्वधातुभ्योऽसुन् — (U. Sū. 4-6-28, as printed) asun; the vocative is unaccented by the eighth-adhyāya rule. - yujā: yujir yoge; ṛtvigdadhṛksragdiguṣṇigañcuyujikruñcāṃ ca — ऋत्विग्दधृक्स्रग्दिगुष्णिगञ्चुयुजिक्रुञ्चां च — (Pā. Sū. 3-2-59): kvin; instrumental singular ṭā; by sāvekācaḥ... the ending is acute; yuj has one syllable in the locative plural yukṣu. - rudrāsaḥ: "rodayatīti rudraḥ": by rorer ṇiluk ca — रोरेर्णिलुक्च — (U. Sū. 2-179; the 7 is the flat-footed form, set beside a round-headed 2): after the root rudir aśruvimocane, ending in the ṇic suffix, the suffix rak, and the ṇic is elided: rudra; here by implication "belonging to Rudra", that is, the Maruts, are denoted by this word; jas with the augment asuk by ājjaser asuk. - nū: ṛci tunughamakṣutaṅkutroruṣyāṇām — ऋचि तुनुघमक्षुतङ्कुत्रोरुष्याणाम् — (Pā. Sū. 6-3-133; p. 353): in a mantra, with ṛg as a following upapada, these words take the long vowel: nū. - ādhṛṣe: the root ñidhṛṣā prāgalbhye [the grammar page prints ñi dṛṣā, with d]; sampadādibhyaḥ kvip in the abstract sense; compounded with āṅ; the accent of the first member in a compound ending in a kṛt. Rik 4 ends here (|| 4 ||).

Rik 39.5 (pp. 353–356, PDF 367–370)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 353; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. The print sets yā viśā on a third line.)

> प्र वेपयन्ति पर्वतान्वि विञ्चन्ति वनस्पतीन् । प्रो आरत मरुतो दुर्मदा इव देवासः सर्वया विशा ॥ ५ ॥
>
> prá vepayanti párvatān ví viñcanti vánaspátīn | pró ārata maruto durmádā iva dévāsaḥ sárvayā viśā || 5 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 353)

> प्र । वेपयन्ति । पर्वतान् । वि । विञ्चन्ति । वनस्पतीन् । प्रो इति । आरत । मरुतः । दुर्मदाः-इव । देवासः । सर्वया । विशा ॥ ५ ॥

pra | vepayanti | parvatān | vi | viñcanti | vanaspatīn | pro iti | ārata | marutaḥ | durmadāḥ-iva | devāsaḥ | sarvayā | viśā || 5 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (pp. 353–354; re-read from the better scan, PDF 368–369; it closes with "|| 18 ||" [printed ०॥], the end of Varga 18)

> पर्वतान्मेरुहिमवदादीन् प्रवेपयन्ति । मरुतः प्रकर्षेण कम्पयन्ति । वनस्पतीन् वटाश्वत्थादींश्च विञ्चन्ति । परस्परवियुक्तान्कुर्वन्ति । हे मरुतो देवासो देवाः सर्वया विशा प्रजया सहिता यूयं प्रो आरत । प्रकर्षेणैव सर्वतो गच्छत । तत्र दृष्टान्तः । दुर्मदा इव । यथा मदोन्मत्ताः स्वेच्छया सर्वतः क्रीडन्ति तद्वत् ॥

वेपयन्ति । टुवेपृ कम्पने । वेपमानान् प्रयुञ्जते । हेतुमण्णिच् । विञ्चन्ति । विचिर् पृथग्भावे । रुधादित्वात् श्नम् । श्नसोरल्लोप इत्यकारलोपः । वनस्पतीन् । वनानां पतयो वनस्पतयः । पारस्करादित्वात्सुट् । वनस्पतिशब्दावाद्युदात्तौ । उभे वनस्पत्यादिषु युगपदिति पूर्वोत्तरपदयोर्युगपत्प्रकृतिस्वरत्वं । आरत । ऋ गतौ । लङि मध्यमबहुवचने बहुलं छन्दसीति शपो लुगभावः । यद्वा लुङ् । सर्त्तिशास्त्यर्तिभ्यश्च । पा. ३-१-५६ । इत्यङ् । आडजादीनामित्याडागमः । आटश्च । पा. ६-१-९० । इति वृद्धिः । देवासः । आमन्त्रिताद्युदात्तत्वं । सर्वया । सर्वस्य सुपि । पा. ६-१-१९१ । इत्याद्युदात्तत्वं । विशा । सावेकाच इति विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वं ॥

parvatān meruhimavadādīn pravepayanti | marutaḥ prakarṣeṇa kampayanti | vanaspatīn vaṭāśvatthādīṃś ca viñcanti | parasparaviyuktān kurvanti | he maruto devāso devāḥ sarvayā viśā prajayā sahitā yūyaṃ pro ārata | prakarṣeṇaiva sarvato gacchata | tatra dṛṣṭāntaḥ | durmadā iva | yathā madonmattāḥ svecchayā sarvataḥ krīḍanti tadvat || vepayanti | ṭuvepṛ kampane | vepamānān prayuñjate | hetumaṇṇic | viñcanti | vicir pṛthagbhāve | rudhāditvāt śnam | śnasor allopa ity akāralopaḥ | vanaspatīn | vanānāṃ patayo vanaspatayaḥ | pāraskarāditvāt suṭ | vanaspatiśabdāv ādyudāttau | ubhe vanaspatyādiṣu yugapad iti pūrvottarapadayoḥ yugapat prakṛtisvaratvaṃ | ārata | ṛ gatau | laṅi madhyamabahuvacane bahulaṃ chandasīti śapo lugabhāvaḥ | yadvā luṅ | sartiśāstyartibhyaś ca | pā. 3-1-56 | ity aṅ | āḍajādīnām ity āḍāgamaḥ | āṭaś ca | pā. 6-1-90 | iti vṛddhiḥ | devāsaḥ | āmantritādyudāttatvaṃ | sarvayā | sarvasya supi | pā. 6-1-191 | ity ādyudāttatvaṃ | viśā | sāvekāca iti vibhakter udāttatvaṃ ||

Translation: "Parvatān — mountains such as Meru and Himavat — pra vepayanti: the Maruts make them shake greatly. Vanaspatīn — banyan, fig and other trees — vi viñcanti: they make them separated from one another. O Maruts, gods, with sarvayā viśā, with all your people, pro ārata, go forth: go greatly on all sides. The example: durmadā iva — as those drunk with intoxication sport on all sides at their own will, so. Vepayanti: root ṭuvepṛ kampane; the ṇic of the causative: they make [the mountains] shaking. Viñcanti: root vicir pṛthagbhāve; śnam because of the rudhādi class; loss of the a by śnasor allopaḥ. Vanaspatīn: 'vanānām patayaḥ'; the augment suṭ because of the pāraskarādi group; the words vana and pati are [each] first-syllable acute; both members keep their accent at the same time by ubhe vanaspatyādiṣu yugapat. Ārata: root ṛ gatau; in laṅ second-person plural, by bahulaṃ chandasi the śap is not elided [as it otherwise would be]; or luṅ: aṅ by sartiśāstyartibhyaś ca (Pā. 3-1-56); the augment āṭ by āḍ ajādīnām; vṛddhi by āṭaś ca. Devāsaḥ: vocative, first-syllable acute. Sarvayā: first-syllable acute by sarvasya supi. Viśā: the ending acute by sāvekāca."

Pratipadārtha (p. 354) — "(marutaḥ — Maruts) parvatān — mountains such as Meru and Himavat; pravepayanti — they shake well; vanaspatīn — forest trees such as the banyan and the fig (grown close together); vi viñcanti — they make to be separate from one another; devāsaḥ marutaḥ — O Maruts, who are gods; sarvayā viśā — together with all your people; durmadā iva — as those full of intoxication wander and sport at will; pro ārata — wander freely all around."

Bhāvārtha (p. 354) — "The Marut-deities make the immovable mountains, Meru, Himavat and the like, shake well. They make the forest trees that grow close together be separated one from another. O Maruts, who are deities, you are free. As men intoxicated with ecstasy sport and wander at will, you too, together with your people, go all around, sporting and wandering."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 354) — "They make the mountains tremble ; They slit asunder the forest trees ; divine Maruts go wether [sic] you wlll [sic] with all your progeny like men in to vicated [sic]."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 354–355 - Main intention — "Because the power of the Maruts is boundless, they make the mountains shake. Trees and the like that have grown close together are struck by the wind's blow and become separate. O Marut-deities, together with all those in your group — as a man intoxicated moves, as his mind wishes, with no obstruction, so you, with no obstruction, move about at your will." - durmadā iva — "like men intoxicated by drinking an intoxicating substance, who, having no control of the mind, wherever they are, wander about there; or like those who, proud from arrogance and cunning, go about as their mind wishes, with regard to no one." - sarvayā viśā — "with all the people; here 'all the people' means the attendants of the Marut-deities, or the host of the Marutas, forty-nine in number, united."

Page 355 (better scan PDF 370)

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 355–356 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - pra: upasargāś cābhivarjam [Phiṭ.]: first-syllable acute. - vepayanti: root ṭuvepṛ kampane, first class, ātmanepada: vepate in the present; "parvatāḥ vepante" means "the mountains shake"; the sense to be intended is that the Maruts make the mountains shake. Hetumati ca — हेतुमति च — (Pā. Sū. 3-1-26): hetu = the instigator; ṇic after roots when the action of an instigator is to be expressed; the Pāṇinīya sages' term hetu is for the one who is the instigator of the agent; vep + i; since the result goes to another, ṇicaś ca — णिचश्च — (Pā. Sū. 1-3-74) the ātmanepada does not come; parasmaipada, laṭ, jhi, ant, śap, guṇa and ay-substitution: vepayanti. - viñcanti: vicir pṛthagbhāve; jhi, ant; rudhādibhyaḥ śnam — रुधादिभ्यः श्नम् — (Pā. Sū. 3-1-78); vi-n-c + anti; śnasor allopaḥ — श्नसोरल्लोपः — (Pā. Sū. 6-4-111): the a of the suffix is lost before a kit or ṅit sārvadhātuka; naś cāpadāntasya jhali — नश्चापदान्तस्य झलि — (Pā. Sū. 8-2-24 [as printed; for 8-3-24]) anusvāra for n; anusvārasya yayi parasavarṇaḥ — अनुस्वारस्य ययि परसवर्णः — (Pā. Sū. 8-4-58) gives the homorganic nasal (ñ): viñcanti. - vanaspatīn: "vanānāṃ patayaḥ"; pāraskaraprabhṛtīni ca saṃjñāyām — पारस्करप्रभृतीनि च सञ्ज्ञायाम् — (Pā. Sū. 6-1-157; p. 356): the pāraskarādi words, in names, take suṭ; the group is open (ākṛtigaṇa); so suṭ comes to pati: vanaspati. The neuter word vana is first-syllable acute by nabviṣayasyāni saṃtasya — नब्विषयस्यानि संतस्य — (Phi. Sū. 26; spaced as printed); pāter ḍatiḥ — पातेर्डतिः — (U. Sū. 4-497; last digit flat-footed, read 7): the word pati with the suffix ḍati is first-syllable acute by the suffix accent; on compounding, by ubhe vanaspatyādiṣu yugapat — उभे वनस्पत्यादिषु युगपत् — (Pā. Sū. 6-2-140): in the words of the vanaspatyādi group both first and last members have their own accent at the same time: so both members retain their accent. - ārata: ṛ gatau; laṅ, second-person plural tha → ta; since the root belongs to a ślu-taking class, śap would be elided, but by bahulaṃ chandasi (Pā. Sū. 2-4-76) it is not; ṛ + a + ta; the augment aṭ; sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ gives guṇa; ā + ar + ta; āṭaś ca — आटश्च — (Pā. Sū. 6-1-90) vṛddhi: ārata. Or: the root ṛ, luṅ, ta; cli; sartiśāstyartibhyaś ca — सर्तिशास्त्यर्तिभ्यश्च — (Pā. Sū. 3-1-56) aṅ for cli; ṛdṛśo 'ṅi guṇaḥ — ऋदृशोऽङि गुणः — (Pā. 8-4-16 [as printed; for 7-4-16]) guṇa; ar + a + ta; āḍ ajādīnām — आडजादीनाम् — (Pā. Sū. 6-4-72) the augment āṭ; ā + ar + a + ta; āṭaś ca: ārata. In the second alternative there is no trouble of resorting to Vedic usage; the form may be used in the world also; but by the first process the form is valid in the Veda only. - devāsaḥ: vocative plural; the augment asuk by āj̃jaser asuk; since it is at the beginning of the fourth pāda the eighth-adhyāya unaccentedness of the vocative does not apply; by āmantritasya ca — the sixth-adhyāya sūtra — it is first-syllable acute. - sarvayā: sarvasya supi — सर्वस्य सुपि — (Pā. Sū. 6-1-191): the first syllable of sarva is acute before a sup. - viśā: root viśa praveśane; kvip; instrumental singular ṭā; sāvekācas tr̥tīyādir vibhaktiḥ — सावेकाचस्तृतीयादिर्विभक्तिः — (no number printed) gives the ending the acute [the print says ādyudātta here, apparently by slip]. Rik 5 ends here (|| 5 ||).

Rik 39.6 (pp. 357–, PDF 371–)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 357; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. The print sets nuṣāḥ on a third line.)

> उपो॒ रथे॑षु पृष॑तीरयुग्ध्वं॒ प्रष्टि॑र्वहति॒ रोहि॑तः । आ वो॒ यामा॑य पृथि॒वी चि॑दश्रो॒दबी॑भयन्त॒ मानु॑षाः ॥ ६ ॥
>
> upo ráṭheṣu pŕ̥ṣatīr ayugdhvaṃ práṣṭir vahati róhitaḥ | ā vo ɣā́māya pr̥thivī́ cid áśrod ábībhayanta mā́nuṣāḥ || 6 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 357)

> उपो इति । रथेषु । पृषतीः । अयुग्ध्वम् । प्रष्टिः । वहति । रोहितः । आ । वः । यामाय । पृथिवी । चित् । अश्रोत् । अबीभयन्त । मानुषाः ॥ ६ ॥

upo iti | ratheṣu | pr̥ṣatīḥ | ayugdhvam | praṣṭiḥ | vahati | rohitaḥ | ā | vaḥ | ɣāmāya | pr̥thivī | cit | aśrot | abībhayanta | mānuṣāḥ || 6 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 357, re-read from the better scan, PDF 372; it continues on p. 358, below)

> हे मरुतो रथेषु भवदीयेषु पृषतीर्बिन्दुयुक्ता मृगीरुपो सामीप्येनैवायुग्ध्वं । योजितवन्तः । प्रष्टिरेतत्संज्ञको वाहनत्रयमध्यवर्ती मृगविशेषो रोहितो मृगावान्तरजातिर्लोहितवर्णो वहति । रथं नयति । वो युष्माकं यामाय गमनाय पृथिवी चित् अन्तरिक्षमप्याश्रोत् । आभिमुख्येनाशृणोत् । अनुजानातीत्यर्थः । पृथिवीत्यन्तरिक्षनाम । पृथिवी भूः स्वयम्भ्विति तन्नामसु पाठात् । मानुषाः भूलोकवर्तिनः पुरुषा अबीभयन्त । स्वयं भीताः सन्तोऽन्येषामपि भीतिमुत्पादितवन्तः ॥ उपो इति निपातद्वयसमुदायात्मकमन्यन्निपातान्तरं । ओत् । पा. १-१-१५ । इति प्रगृह्यत्वं । आयुग्ध्वं । लुङि झलो झलि । पा. ८-२-२६ । इति सकारस्य लोपः । चोः कुरिति कुत्वं । रोहितः । रुहे रश्च लो वा । उ. ३-९४ । इतीतन्प्रत्ययान्तः । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । यामाय । यमेर्भावे घञ् । कर्षात्वत इत्यन्तोदात्तत्वे प्राप्ते वृषादिषु पाठादाद्युदात्तत्वं । अश्रोत् । श्रु श्रवणे । बहुलं छन्दसीति विकरणस्य लुक् । अबीभयन्त । ञिभी भये । अस्माण्ण्यन्तात् लुङि भीस्म्योर्हेतुभये । पा. १-३-६८ । इत्यात्मने-

he maruto ratheṣu bhavadīyeṣu pr̥ṣatīr binduyuktā mr̥gīr upo sāmīpyenaivāyugdhvaṃ | yojitavantaḥ | praṣṭir etatsañjñako vāhanatrayamadhyavartī mr̥gaviśeṣo rohito mr̥gāvāntarajātir lohitavarṇo vahati | rathaṃ nayati | vo yuṣmākaṃ ɣāmāya gamanāya pr̥thivī cit antarikṣam apy āśrot | ābhimukhyenāśr̥ṇot | anujānātīty arthaḥ | pr̥thivīty antarikṣanāma | pr̥thivī bhūḥ svayambhv iti tannāmasu pāṭhāt | mānuṣāḥ bhūlokavartinaḥ puruṣā abībhayanta | svayaṃ bhītāḥ santo 'nyeṣām api bhītim utpāditavantaḥ || upo iti

nipātadvayasamudāyātmakam anyan nipātāntaraṃ | ot | pā. 1-1-15 | iti pragṛhyatvaṃ | āyugdhvaṃ | luṅi jhalo jhali | pā. 8-2-26 | iti sakārasya lopaḥ | coḥ kur iti kutvaṃ | rohitaḥ | ruhe raś ca lo vā | u. 3-94 | itītanpratyayāntaḥ | nittvād ādyudāttaḥ | yāmāya | yamer bhāve ghañ | karṣātvata ity antodāttatve prāpte vṛṣādiṣu pāṭhād ādyudāttatvaṃ | aśrot | śru śravaṇe | bahulaṃ chandasīti vikaraṇasya luk | abībhayanta | ñibhī bhaye | asmāṇṇyantāt luṅi bhīsmyor hetubhaye | pā. 1-3-68 | ity ātmane- (breaks off)

Translation of this part: "O Maruts, ratheṣu, in your chariots, pṛṣatīḥ, the spotted does — upo (upa + u) — you have yoked, close by. Praṣṭiḥ, [the animal] so named, standing in the middle of the three draught-animals, rohitaḥ, a sub-species (avāntarajāti) of deer, red-coloured, vahati, draws the chariot. Vaḥ yāmāya: for your going — pṛthivī cit, even the atmosphere — aśrot, heard, i.e. gave assent, so the sense. 'Pṛthivī' is a name of the atmosphere, since it is read among the names of it ('pṛthivī, bhūḥ, svayambhū' — the print runs them as svayambhv iti). Mānuṣāḥ, men living in the earth-world, abībhayanta: being themselves frightened, they caused fear to others also." The grammatical tail so far: upo is a further particle made up of the two particles; by ot [Pā. 1-1-15] it is pragṛhya [exempt from sandhi]; āyugdhvam: in luṅ, by jhalo jhali [Pā. 8-2-26] the loss of the s, k for c by coḥ kuḥ; rohitaḥ: from ruh, with the Uṇādi rule ruhe raś ca lo vā (U. 3-94), the suffix itan; because it is nit, first-syllable acute; yāmāya: ghañ in the abstract sense of yam; though the final acute would be due by karṣātvataḥ…, the word is read in the vṛṣādi group, so first-syllable acute; aśrot: root śru śravaṇe; the vikaraṇa elided by bahulaṃ chandasi; abībhayanta: root ñibhī bhaye, in the causative, in luṅ, ātmanepada by bhīsmyor hetubhaye [Pā. 1-3-68] — (the sentence ends here at the foot of the page). (On p. 357 the Pada of Rik 6 is printed without a heading directly under the Saṃhitā.)

Rik 39.6, continued (from p. 358)

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya, end (p. 358 top)

> …पदं । बिभेतेर्हेतुभये षुक् । पा. ७-३-४० । इति षुक् प्राप्नोति । तन्न क्रियते । आगमानुशासनस्यानित्यत्वात् । णौ चङ्युपधाह्रस्वत्वादि । पा. ७-४-१ ॥

…padaṃ | bibheter hetubhaye ṣuk | pā. 7-3-40 | iti ṣuk prāpnoti | tan na kriyate | āgamānuśāsanasyānityatvāt | ṇau caṅy upadhāhrasvatvādi | pā. 7-4-1 ||

Translation of the end of the bhāṣya: "…[the ātmane-]padam. By bibheter hetubhaye ṣuk (Pā. 7-3-40) the augment ṣuk would be obtained; it is not made, because the teaching of augments is not constant. [Then] the shortening of the penultimate in the ṇic before caṅ, and so on, by Pā. 7-4-1."

Page 358 (better scan PDF 373)

Pratipadārtha (p. 358) — "(marutaḥ — O Maruts) ratheṣu — in your chariots; pṛṣatīḥ — female deer with spots in the form of dots; upo — joining them closely; ayugdhvam — you have yoked [to the yoke]; rohitaḥ — one of a red colour; praṣṭiḥ — the deer named praṣṭi (yoked in the middle of the three [draught-animals]); vahati — helps to draw [the chariot]; vaḥ — your; yāmāya — for [your] going; pṛthivī cit — the atmosphere also; ā aśrot — gives leave (room); mānuṣāḥ — men (at your going); abībhayanta — are afraid; and they cause fear to others as well."

Bhāvārtha (p. 358) — "O Maruts, you have yoked to your chariot the female deer with their spots. The red deer called praṣṭi, which is in the middle of them, draws your vehicle. Even the atmosphere gives room for your going. When they see your swift approach, men are not only afraid themselves, they cause fear to those who are with them."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 358) — "You have harnessed the spotted deer to your chariot ; the red deer yoked between them helps to drag the car ; the firmament makes way for you and men tremble through fear at your approach."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 358–359 - pṛṣatīḥ — "The Marut-deities do not yoke horses to their chariots. They yoke female deer with spots, called pṛṣatī. On this matter, in the passage in which Yāska in his Nirukta speaks of the vehicles of the deities: हरी इन्द्रस्य । रोहितोऽग्नेः । हरित आदित्यस्य । रासभावश्विनोः । अजाः पूष्णः । पृषत्यो मरुताम् । अरुण्यो गाव उषसः । श्यावाः सवितुः । विश्वरूपा बृहस्पतेः । नियुतो वायोरिति । (Ni. 2-28) harī indrasya | rohito 'gneḥ | harita ādityasya | rāsabhāv aśvinoḥ | ajāḥ pūṣṇaḥ | pṛṣatyo marutām | aruṇyo gāva uṣasaḥ | śyāvāḥ savituḥ | viśvarūpā bṛhaspateḥ | niyuto vāyor iti. Since this is said, the chariot-horses of the Marut-deities are pṛṣatīḥ, that is, two spotted does." [p. 359: eraḍu heṇṇu jiṅkegaḷu, "two female deer"] (The passage is left untranslated by the source. Mine and tentative: "Indra's [are] the two bays; Agni's the red one; the Sun's the tawny ones; the Aśvins' two asses; Pūṣan's goats; the Maruts' spotted does; Uṣas's ruddy cows; Savitṛ's the dark-brown ones; Bṛhaspati's the many-formed ones; Vāyu's the Niyuts." The reference numeral, printed ೨-೨೮, is zoom-checked.) - rohitaḥ — "among deer, a kind of red colour; another species of deer, belonging to the class of the spotted deer." - pṛthivī cit aśrot — "among the sixteen names of the atmosphere beginning with ambaram, viyat, the word pṛthivī is read; therefore pṛthivī here means the atmosphere, the path of the wind. Cit aśrot means 'anujānāti': gives permission, or gives room: so the intention."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 359–361 — grammar pages, characterized; numerals zoom-checked on the better scan, PDF 374–376) - upo: "upa and u, two particles; by ād guṇaḥ the guṇa comes and upo results; so a further, new particle, made up of the combination of two. Ot — ओत् — (Pā. Sū. 1-1-15): a particle ending in o is called pragṛhya: so says the Vedabhāṣya; but this name has no use here: plutapragṛhyā aci nityam — प्लुतप्रगृह्या अचि नित्यम् — (Pā. Sū. 6-1-125) prescribes prakṛtibhāva when a vowel follows; here no vowel follows, so the establishing of the pragṛhya name has no fruit." - ayugdhvam: yujir yoge; the ir has the name of an indicatory letter; luṅ, cli; irito vā — इरितो वा — (3-1-57, printed without "Pā. Sū."): after a root with indicatory ir, optionally aṅ for cli; here the option is not taken; cleḥ sic (no number printed): sic; the augment aṭ: a-yuj + s + dhvam; jhalo jhali — झलो झलि — (Pā. Sū. 8-2-26) the loss of s after a jhal before a jhal; coḥ kuḥ — चोः कुः — (Pā. Sū. 8-2-30) k for c even before a jhal and at the end of a word, so j → g: ayugdhvam. - rohitaḥ: ruha bījajanmani prādurbhāve ca; ruheraś ca lo vā — रुहेरश्च लो वा — (U. Sū. 3-374, as printed; the bhāṣya gives U. 3-94): after this root the suffix itan, with l optional for r; guṇa of the light penultimate; as the l-substitution is optional it does not come here; the suffix is nit, so first-syllable acute. - yāmāya: root yamu uparame; halaś ca — हलश्च — (Pā. Sū. 3-3-121) ghañ in the abstract sense; upadhāvṛddhi: yām

+ a; karṣātvato ghañ anta udāttaḥ — कर्षात्वतो घञोऽन्त उदात्तः — (Pā. Sū. 6-1-159): a ghañ-ending word from kṛṣ or from a root with an ā-ending [etc.] is final-acute: this would give final-acute to yāma; but that is set aside by vṛṣādīnāṃ ca — वृषादीनां च — (Pā. Sū. 6-1-203) and it is first-syllable acute. - aśrot: root śru śravaṇe; laṅ, tip; itaś ca gives the loss of i; the augment aṭ; śruvaḥ śṛ ca — श्रुवः शृ च — (Pā. Sū. 3-1-74) gives the śnu vikaraṇa [with the substitute śṛ]; by bahulaṃ chandasi (Pā. Sū. 2-4-73) luk of it; the paribhāṣā sanniyogaśiṣṭānām anyatarāpāye ubhayor apy apāyaḥ — सन्नियोगशिष्टानामन्यतरापाये उभयोरप्यपायः — (Paribhāṣā 88): when of two substitutes laid down together one is lost, both are lost; here the śnu vikaraṇa and the śṛ substitute are laid down by the same sūtra; as the vikaraṇa is lost, so is the śṛ substitution; sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ gives guṇa; in place of aśṛṇot, aśrot has come. - abībhayanta: root ñibhī bhaye; hetumati ca (Pā. Sū. 3-1-26): ṇic after the root for the sense of an instigator's action such as sending; after it luṅ; bhīsmyor hetubhaye — भीस्म्योर्हेतुभये — (Pā. Sū. 1-3-68; p. 360): ātmanepada when fear (or wonder, smaya, by implication) is caused by the instigator; and ṇicaś ca — णिचश्च — (Pā. Sū. 1-3-74) gives ātmanepada when the fruit goes to the agent; here the first sūtra applies; jha → ant; bhī + i + anta; aco ñṇiti (no number at this mention) vṛddhi: bhai + i + anta; then the print goes on at length: by bibheter hetubhaye (Pā. Sū. 6-1-56) an optional ā for the root bhī where fear arises from the instigator — not taken here since optional; by bhīyo hetubhaye ṣuk — भीयो हेतुभये षुक् — (Pā. Sū. 7-3-40) the augment ṣuk after the ī-ending root bhī with ṇic — would be obtained before the vṛddhi, but by the paribhāṣā āgamaśāstram anityam (Paribhāṣā 96) it is not; cli → caṅ by ṇiśridrusrubhyaḥ kartari caṅ — णिश्रिद्रुस्रुभ्यः कर्तरि चङ् — (Pā. Sū. 3-1-48); the discussion of ṇicy ac ādeśo na syād dvitve kartavye — णिच्यच आदेशो न स्याद्द्वित्वे कर्तव्ये — ("before ṇic, a vowel-substitute should not take place when doubling is to be done"; made known from the jaś-pratyāhāra in oḥ puyaṇjy apare — ओः पुयण्ज्यपरे — Pā. Sū. 7-4-80), whether the ṇic-loss is to be taken as sthānivat and the differing view of Vopadeva and others (uvarṇādeśa eva sthānivat syān nānyaḥ [as read]), settled by the Mahābhāṣya's remark on acikīrtat, with caṅi — चङि — (Pā. Sū. 6-1-11) for the doubling; aco ñṇiti (Pā. Sū. 7-2-115) for vṛddhi ai; ṇeraniṭi — णेरनिटि — (Pā. Sū. 6-4-51) for the loss of ṇic; eco 'yavāyāvaḥ — एचोऽयवायावः — (Pā. Sū. 6-1-78) ai → āy; hrasvaḥ (Pā. Sū. 7-4-59) for the reduplicate, and ṇau caṅy upadhāyā hrasvaḥ — णौ चङ्युपधाया ह्रस्वः — (7-4-1); sanvallaghuni caṅ pare 'nagloppe — सन्वल्लघुनि चङ्परे ऽनग्लोपे — (Pā. Sū. 7-4-93) and dīrgho laghoḥ — दीर्घो लघोः — (Pā. Sū. 7-4-94) giving the long ī of the reduplicate: bibhay + a + anta; the augment aṭ; pararūpa: abībhayanta. (Drift only for the argument; all numerals zoom-checked.) - mānuṣāḥ: manor jātāv añ yatau ṣuk ca — मनोर्जातावञ्यतौ षुक् च — (Pā. Sū. 4-1-161): the suffix añ in the sense of "descendant of Manu", and the augment ṣuk; hence mānuṣa. Rik 6 ends here (|| 6 ||).

Rik 39.7 (pp. 362–, PDF 376–)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 362; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. The scan's copy has a handwritten ऋ above the printed vṛṇīvahe*, correcting it to* vṛṇīmahe*; the print sets* bibhyuṣe on a third line.)

आ वो॑ म॒क्षू तना॑य॒ कं रुद्रा॒ अवो॑ वृणीमहे । गन्ता॑ नू॒नं नोऽव॑सा यथा॑ पु॒रेत्था कण्वा॑य ब्रि॒भ्युषे॑ ॥ ७ ॥

ā́ vo makṣū́ tánāya káṃ rudrā́ ávo vṛṇīmahe | gántā nūnáṃ nó 'vasā́ yáthā puréttʰā káṇvāya bibʰyúṣe || 7 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 362)

आ । वः । मक्षु । तनाय । कम् । रुद्राः । अवः । वृणीमहे । गन्त । नूनम् । नः । अवसा । यथा । पुरा । इत्था । कण्वाय । बिभ्युषे ॥ ७ ॥

ā | vaḥ | makṣu | tanāya | kam | rudrāḥ | avaḥ | vṛṇīmahe | ganta | nūnam | naḥ | avasā | yathā | purā | itthā | kaṇvāya | bibʰyuṣe || 7 ||

(The Saṃhitā prints makṣū and gantā long, the Pada makṣu and ganta short.)

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 362)

हे रुद्रा रुद्रपुत्रा मरुतः तनाय कमस्मदीयपुत्रार्थं मक्षु शीघ्रं वो युष्मदीयमवो रक्षणमावृणीमहे । सर्वतः प्रार्थयामहे । मक्ष्विति क्षिप्रनाम । नु मक्षु इति तन्नामसु पठितत्वात् । पुरा पूर्वस्मिन्काले कर्मान्तरेषु नोऽवसास्मदीयरक्षणेन निमित्तेन यूयं यथा प्राप्तवन्तः । इत्था अनेन प्रकारेण बिभ्युषे भीतियुक्ताय कण्वाय मेधाविने यजमानाय तदनुग्रहार्थं नूनं क्षिप्रं गन्त । प्राप्नुत ॥ मक्षु । ऋचि तुनुघमक्षुतङ्कुत्रोरुष्याणामिति दीर्घः । तनाय । तनोतीति तनः । पचाद्यच् । वृषादित्वादाद्युदात्तत्वं । यद्वा तनयशब्देऽय् इत्यस्य लोपश्छान्दसः । कमित्येतत्पादान्ते प्रयुज्यमानं पादपूरणं । शिशिरं जीवनाय कमितिवत् । उक्तं च । अथापि पादपूरणाः कमीमिद्वितीति । रुद्राः । रोदयन्तीति रुद्राः । रोदेर्णिलुक् च । उ. २-२२ । इति रक्प्रत्ययः । आमन्त्रिताद्युदात्तत्वं । पादादित्वान्निघाताभावः । गन्त । लोटि बहुलं छन्दसीति शपो लुक् । तप्तनबित्यादिना तबादेशः । अतः पित्त्वादनुनासिकलोपाभावः । बिभ्युषे । बिभेतेर्लिटः क्वसुः । वस्वेकाजाद्धसामिति नियमादिडभावः । चतुर्थ्येकवचने वसोः सम्प्रसारणमिति सम्प्रसारणं । परपूर्वत्वं । शासिवसिघसीनां चेति षत्वं ॥

he rudrā rudraputrā marutaḥ tanāya kam asmadīyaputrārthaṃ makṣu śīghraṃ vo yuṣmadīyam avo rakṣaṇam āvṛṇīmahe | sarvataḥ prārthayāmahe | makṣv iti kṣipranāma | nu makṣu iti tannāmasu paṭhitatvāt | purā pūrvasmin kāle karmāntareṣu no 'vasāsmadīyarakṣaṇena nimittena yūyaṃ yathā prāptavantaḥ | itthā anena prakāreṇa bibʰyuṣe bʰītiyuktāya kaṇvāya medʰāvine yajamānāya tadanugrahārthaṃ nūnaṃ kṣipraṃ ganta | prāpnuta || makṣu | ṛci tunughamakṣutañkutroruṣyāṇām iti dīrghaḥ | tanāya | tanotīti tanaḥ | pacādyac | vṛṣāditvād ādyudāttatvaṃ | yadvā tanayaśabde 'y ity asya lopaś chāndasaḥ | kam ity etad ante prayujyamānaṃ pādapūraṇaṃ | śiśiraṃ jīvanāya kam itivat | uktaṃ ca | athāpi pādapūraṇāḥ kamīm id v itīti | rudrāḥ | rodayantīti rudrāḥ | roder ṇiluk ca | u. 2-22 | iti rakpratyayaḥ | āmantritādyudāttatvaṃ | pādāditvān nighātābʰāvaḥ | ganta | loṭi bahulaṃ chandasīti śapo luk | taptanabityādinā tabādeśaḥ | ataḥ pittvād anunāsikalopābʰāvaḥ | bibʰyuṣe | bibʰeter liṭaḥ kvasuḥ | vasvekājāddhasām iti niyamād iḍabʰāvaḥ | caturthyekavacane vasoḥ saṃprasāraṇam iti saṃprasāraṇaṃ | parapūrvatvaṃ | śāsivasighasīnāṃ ceti ṣatvaṃ ||

Translation: "O rudrāḥ, sons of Rudra, Maruts — for tanāya, for a son, our own offspring — kam [a filler] — makṣu, quickly — vaḥ avaḥ, your help, your protection, ā vṛṇīmahe, we ask for on all sides. 'Makṣu' is a name for 'quick', since it is read in its names [nu makṣu and so on]. Purā, formerly, on other occasions naḥ avasā, by the cause which is our protection, you came as [you did]; itthā, in the same way, bibʰyuṣe, to the frightened kaṇva, the wise sacrificer, nūnam, quickly, ganta, come: arrive, for his favour. Makṣu: the lengthening by ṛci tunugha-…. Tanāya: 'tanoti', that which extends, tana; ac of the pacādi class; first-syllable acute from belonging to the vṛṣādi group; or, in the word tanaya, the loss of ay is Vedic. Kam: used at the end, a mere filler of the verse-foot, as in śiśiraṃ jīvanāya kam; and it is said 'athāpi pādapūraṇaḥ kamīm id iti'. Rudrāḥ: 'rodayanti', they make [enemies] weep; by the Uṇādi rule roder ṇiluk ca (U. 2-22) the suffix rak and loss of ṇic; first-syllable acute as a vocative; at the beginning of a pāda there is no nighāta. Ganta: śap elided in the loṭ by bahulaṃ chandasi; the substitute tap (tab-ādeśaḥ); so because the suffix is pit the loss of the nasal does not occur. Bibhyuṣe: from bhī, the suffix kvasu of the liṭ; no iṭ by the restriction vasvekājāddhasām; in the dative singular, saṃprasāraṇa of the vasu by vaso saṃprasāraṇam; parapūrvatva; ṣatva by śāsivasighasīnāṃ ca."

(Rik 7's Pratipadārtha, Bhāvārtha, English, Special Topics and grammar begin on p. 363, below.)

Rik 39.7, continued (from p. 363)

Pratipadārtha (p. 363) — "rudrāḥ — O Maruts, sons of Rudra; tanāye kam — for our sons; makṣu — promptly; vaḥ — your; avaḥ — protection; ā vṛṇīmahe — we ask for; purā — formerly, at the times of sacrifice; naḥ — our; avasā — for protection; yathā — in the way in which; [you came]; itthā — in the very same way; bibhyuṣe — to [him who is] afraid (from devotion); kaṇvāya — to the wise sacrificer, or to the ṛṣi Kaṇva, to favour [him]; nūnam — quickly; ganta — come."

Bhāvārtha (p. 363) — "O Maruts, sons of Rudra, we pray to you for the protection of our sons. Accepting our prayer, in the way in which you came formerly at our sacrifices for our protection, in the very same way now also, to favour the wise sacrificer who worships you full of fear and devotion — or the ṛṣi Kaṇva who is now praising you — come quickly here."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 363) — "O Sons of Rudra, we entreat your protection quickly for the sake of our progeny ; come quickly to the timid Kanwa (or to the sacrificer) as you came formerly for our protection."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 363 - makṣu — "among the twenty-six names of 'quick' beginning with nu, makṣu [maṅkṣu] is read; so makṣu means swiftly, at once." - tanāye = tanoti iti tanaḥ putraḥ — "for a son: that is, for the protection of offspring such as sons." - rudrāḥ = rudraputrāḥ — "the Maruts who are the sons of Rudra. Here, in place of the word rudriyāsaḥ, which speaks of sons of Rudra, the word rudrāḥ itself is used." - bibhyuṣe = bhītiyuktāya — "to one who is afraid; one who is afraid from another cause, the ṛṣi Kaṇva: [the Maruts] must protect him: this is the sense."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (p. 364 — grammar page, noted briefly) - makṣū: ṛci tunughamakṣutaṅkutroruṣyāṇām (Pā. Sū. 6-3-133): the long vowel for the word makṣu. - tanāya: "tanoti iti tanaḥ": root tanu vistāre, with ac of the pacādi class [pacādibhyo 'c]; "since it spreads the family, the word tana means son"; dative singular. The print adds that in the word tanaya either the middle ay or the final ya is lost — a process for which there is no teaching of the śāstra; the loss occurs by Vedic usage; in this alternative the well-known sense is taken; the derivation of the form is forced; in the first alternative [tana] the word tana is not well known in the sense "son"; vṛṣādīnāṃ ca gives the first-syllable acute to tana. - kam: "a word to be used for filling out a pāda, at the end of a pāda; in śiśiraṃ jīvanāyu kam also kam is used for filling out the verse. In the Nirukta 'athāpi pādapūraṇāḥ kamīm id iti' (Niru. 1-9), kam, īm and it and the like are said to be for filling out a pāda." - rudrāḥ: root rudir aśruvimocane, "rodayantīti rudrāḥ": the suffix rak by roder ṇiluk ca — रोदेर्णिलुक्च — (U. Sū. 2-179, as printed here; the bhāṣya gives U. 2-22; cf. Ṛk 4); ṇic lost; "here by implication the Maruts, sons of Rudra, are meant". The print adds that in the Śruti "so 'rodīd yad arodīt tad rudrasya rudratvam" — सोऽरोदीद्यदरोदीत्तद्रुद्रस्य रुद्रत्वम् — the word arodīt must be understood with the sense of the ṇic included, "he made to weep"; therefore some say that the derivation given has no conflict with the Śruti. - ganta: root gaṃḷ gatau; loṭ, madhyama plural tha, substitute ta; bahulaṃ chandasi elides śap; tapta-nap-tana-thanāś ca gives tap; this is pit, so sārvadhātukam apit makes no ṅit; therefore [by] anudāttopadeśa-vanati-tanotyādīnām anunāsikalopo jhali kṅiti (Pā. Sū. 6-4-37) the loss of the nasal m does not occur. - bibhyuṣe: root ñibhī bhaye; liṭ, kvasu by kvasuś ca; the doubling, the shortening and jaś; by the restriction vasvekājāddhasām — वस्वेकाजाद्घसाम् — iṭ does not come to vas (this restriction has been explained earlier); dative singular ṅe; by vasoḥ saṃprasāraṇam the v of vas becomes u; by saṃprasāraṇāc ca the prior form; ādeśapratyayayoḥ: s → ṣ; the print says that śāsivasighasīnāṃ ca does not apply here, as has been shown earlier many times (anekāvarti) with reasons. Rik 7 ends here (|| 7 ||).

Rik 39.8 (pp. 365–369, PDF 379–383)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 365; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. The vowel sign in yuṣmeṣito and martyeṣita is read as e*, in agreement with the grammar on p. 368. The print sets* īṣate and tibhiḥ on lines of their own.)

युष्मेषितो मरुतो मर्त्यैषित आ यो नो अभ्व ईषते । वि तं युयोत शवसा व्योजसा वि युष्माकाभिरूतिभिः ॥ ८ ॥

yuṣméṣito maruto mártyeṣita ā́ yo no ábhva īṣate | vi táṃ yuyota śávasā vy ójasā ví yuṣmā́kābhir ūtíbhiḥ || 8 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 365)

युष्माऽइषितः । मरुतः । मर्त्यऽइषितः । आ । यः । नः । अभ्वः । ईषते । वि । तम् । युयोत । शवसा । वि । ओजसा । वि । युष्माकाभिः । ऊतिऽभिः ॥ ८ ॥

yuṣmā-iṣitaḥ | marutaḥ | martya-iṣitaḥ | ā | yaḥ | naḥ | abhvaḥ | īṣate | vi | tam | yuyota | śavasā | vi | ojasā | vi | yuṣmākābhiḥ | ūti-bhiḥ || 8 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 365)

हे मरुतो यो यः कश्चिदभ्वः शत्रुर्युष्मेषितो युष्माभिः प्रेषितो मर्त्येषितो मारकैरन्यैर्वा प्रेषितः सन् नोऽस्मान्प्रति आ ईषते अभिमुख्येन प्राप्नोति । तं शत्रुं शवसान्नेन वि युयोत । विभक्तं कुरुत । तथौजसा

बलेन वि युयोत । युष्माकाभिरूतिभिर्युष्मत्सम्बन्धिभी रक्षणैश्च वि युयोत ॥ युष्मेषितः । युष्माभिरिषितः । सुब्लुकि प्रत्ययलक्षणेन युष्मदस्मदोरनादेश इत्यात्वं । न च न लुमताङ्गस्येति प्रतिषेधः । इकोऽचि विभक्तौ । पा. ७-१-७३ । इत्यत्राज्ग्रहणेन तस्य पाक्षिकत्वोक्तेः । तृतीया कर्मणीति पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं । मर्त्येषितः । पूर्ववत् । अभ्वः । आभवतीत्यभ्वः । पृषोदरादित्वादभिमतरूपस्वरसिद्धिः । ईषते । ईष गतिहिंसादर्शनेषु । अदुपदेशाल्लसार्वधातुकानुदात्तत्वे धातुस्वरः । युयोत । यु मिश्रणामिश्रणयोः । लोण्मध्यमबहुवचने बहुलं छन्दसीति शपः श्लुः । तप्तनप्तनथनाश्चेति तबादेशः । पित्त्वादुणः । युष्माकाभिः । युष्मत्सम्बन्धिनीभिः । तस्मिन्नणि च युष्माकास्माकौ । पा. ४-३-२ । इति युष्मच्छब्दस्य युष्माकादेशः । ङीब्वृद्धी छान्दसत्वान्न क्रियेते । ऊतिभिः । अवतेः क्तिनि ज्वरत्वरेत्यादिना ऊठ् । ऊतियूतीत्यादिना क्तिन उदात्तत्वं ॥

he maruto yo yaḥ kaścid abhvaḥ śatrur yuṣmeṣito yuṣmābhiḥ preṣito martyeṣito mārakair anyair vā preṣitaḥ san no 'smān prati ā īṣate abhimukhyena prāpnoti | taṃ śatruṃ śavasānnena vi yuyota | vibhaktaṃ kuruta | tathaujasā balena vi yuyota | yuṣmākābhir ūtibhir yuṣmatsambandhibhī rakṣaṇaiś ca vi yuyota || yuṣmeṣitaḥ | yuṣmābhir iṣitaḥ | sublluki pratyayalakṣaṇena yuṣmadasmador anādeśa ity ātvaṃ | na ca na lumatāṅgasyeti pratiṣedhaḥ | iko 'ci vibhaktau | pā. 7-1-73 | ity atrāgrahaṇena tasya pākṣikatvoktes | tṛtīyā karmaṇīti pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ | martyeṣitaḥ | pūrvavat | abhvaḥ | ābhavatīty abhvaḥ | pṛṣodarāditvād abhimatarūpasvarasiddhiḥ | īṣate | īṣa gatihiṃsādarśaneṣu | anupadeśāl lasārvadhātukānudāttatve dhātusvaraḥ | yuyota | yu miśraṇāmiśraṇayoḥ | loṇmadhyamabahuvacane bahulaṃ chandasīti śapaḥ śluḥ | tapta-nap-tana-thanāś ceti tabādeśaḥ | pittvād guṇaḥ | yuṣmākābhiḥ | yuṣmatsambandhinībhiḥ | tasminn aṇi ca yuṣmākāsmākau | pā. 4-3-2 | iti yuṣmacchabdasya yuṣmākādeśaḥ | jeb-bṛddhiś chāndasatvān na kriyete [?] | ūtibhiḥ | avateḥ ktini jvaratvarasrivy ety ādinā ūṭh | ūtiyūtī ty ādinā ktina udāttatvaṃ ||

Translation: "O Maruts, whoever it may be, abhvaḥ, an enemy, yuṣmeṣitaḥ, sent by you, or martyeṣitaḥ, sent by deadly others [men], who, being so sent, naḥ, towards us, ā īṣate, comes forward: taṃ, that enemy, śavasā, with food [the strength that is food], vi yuyota, separate, make parted [from it]; likewise ojasā, with strength, vi yuyota; yuṣmākābhiḥ ūtibhiḥ, with your protections, those that belong to you, vi yuyota. Yuṣmeṣitaḥ: 'yuṣmābhir iṣitaḥ'; when the case-ending is elided, the ā for the d of yuṣmad, asmad by pratyayalakṣaṇa ... (the clause read in full: subluki pratyayalakṣaṇena yuṣmadasmador anādeśa ity ātvam); the prohibition na lumatāṅgasya does not apply, as is said to be optional from the word aci in iko 'ci vibhaktau [Pā. 7-1-73]; the accent of the first member by tṛtīyā karmaṇi. Martyeṣitaḥ: as before. Abhvaḥ:'ābhavati', one who overpowers; by belonging to the pṛṣodarādi group the desired form and accent are established. Īṣate: root īṣa gatihiṃsādarśaneṣu; the root accent. Yuyota: root yu miśraṇāmiśraṇayoḥ; ślu for śap; tap for the ending; guṇa because tap is pit. Yuṣmākābhiḥ: 'belonging to you': the substitute* yuṣmāka* by tasminn aṇi ca yuṣmākāsmākau [Pā. 4-3-2]; ṅīp and vṛddhi are not made, being Vedic (ṅībvṛddhī chāndasatvān na kriyete). Ūtibhiḥ: root ava, ktin, ūṭh by jvaratvara... (so abbreviated in the bhāṣya); the suffix accent by ūtiyūti...."

Page 366 (better scan PDF 381)

Pratipadārtha (p. 366) — "marutaḥ — O Maruts; yaḥ — whichever; abhvaḥ — enemy; yuṣmeṣitaḥ — sent by you (whether); martyeṣitaḥ — (or) sent by some other enemy in human form; naḥ — towards us (against us); ā īṣate — rises up and goes against [us]; tam — that enemy; śavasā — [separate him] from food; vi yuyota — make [him] devoid [of it] (that is, do not give him food); ojasā — from strength; vi (yuyota) — separate [him] (do not give him strength); yuṣmākābhir ūtibhiḥ — from the protection that comes from you; vi yuyota — separate and part [him] (do not protect [him])."

Bhāvārtha (p. 366) — "O Maruts, whether the enemy who does us harm has got your help or the help of another enemy in human form, when he comes to harm us, deprive such an enemy utterly of food, of strength and of your protection."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 366) — "O Maruts, if any adversary instigated by you or by man attacks us deprive him of food, strength and your assistance."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 366–367 - Main intention — "O Marut-deities, whatever man opposes us with enmity, whether by your hot anger or by the instigation of others: to such a man do not give food or strength; do not give him any help whatever." - yuṣmeṣitaḥ = yuṣmābhiḥ preṣitaḥ — "sent by you, or incited by you; having your strength." - martyeṣitaḥ = mārakair anyair vā preṣitaḥ — "our enemy, sent by some man who wishes to kill us: this is the sense." - abhvaḥ — "since the word abhvaḥ is read among the twenty-five names of mahat beginning with mahat, bradhnaḥ (Ni. 3-13), abhvaḥ means a man of great strength; here the intention that he is an enemy is suggested." - vi taṃ yuyota śavasā — "make him devoid of food: that is, do not give him food and the like." - yuṣmākābhiḥ = yuṣmatsambandhibhiḥ — "belonging to you; or given by you."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 367–369 — large grammar pages, characterized in outline; very crowded) - yuṣmeṣitaḥ: iṣa gatau, divādi; iṣa icchāyām, tudādi; iṣa ābhīkṣṇye, kryādi: there are three roots iṣa; some read the tudādi root as iṣu icchāyām, with u as an indicatory letter; since this has no purpose, "iṣa" is enough; tīṣasahaluṣarucariṣaḥ — तीषसहलुभरुषरिषः — (Pā. Sū. 7-2-48) need not read iṣu; the print notes the vārttika that, for the root iṣ with a śyan-suffix, the prohibition of optional iṭ before a suffix beginning with t has to be stated, so that here iṭ always comes; the root iṣa gatau is the one taken here; with kta: iṣita; the compound "yuṣmābhir iṣitaḥ"; supo dhātuprātipadikayoḥ — सुपो धातुप्रातिपदिकयोः — (Pā. Sū. 2-4-71) the loss (luk) of the case-endings: yuṣmad + iṣita; pratyayalope pratyayalakṣaṇam — प्रत्ययलोपे प्रत्ययलक्षणम् — (Pā. Sū. 1-1-62): when a suffix has been lost, the operations that depend on it occur as if it were still present; but na lumatāṅgasya — न लुमताङ्गस्य — (Pā. Sū. 1-1-63) prohibits this where the loss is named lu (luk, ślu, lup); the prohibition is anityа and so does not apply here; the print then gives a long argument on the sūtra iko 'ci vibhaktau — इकोऽचि विभक्तौ — (Pā. Sū. 7-1-73) (the augment num in a neuter ik-ending base before a vowel-initial case-ending, e.g. vāriṇī) and on the use of the word aci in it, the prohibition nalumatā…, and the svādiṣv asarvanāmasthāne (Pā. Sū. 1-4-17) and nalopaḥ prātipadikāntasya (Pā. Sū. 8-2-7; also naṅi sambuddhyoḥ, Pā. Sū. 8-2-8, and svamor napuṃsakāt, Pā. Sū. 7-1-23) rules, concluding that the word aci is meaningful. Then yuṣmadasmador anādeśe — युष्मदस्मदोरनादेशे — (Pā. Sū. 7-2-86; p. 368, whose page number is misprinted "268"): before a case-ending which is not beginning with a vowel [print: ajādiyallada], the d of yuṣmad, asmad becomes ā: yuṣmā + iṣita; guṇa: yuṣmeṣita; tṛtīyā karmaṇi — तृतीया कर्मणि — (Pā. Sū. 6-2-48) gives the accent of the first member. - martyeṣitaḥ: the process of iṣitaḥ as before; the first-member accent also as before. - abhvaḥ: "ābhavati, so abhvaḥ": enemy; the print says one must derive the form by reading this word in the pṛṣodarādi group. - īṣate: root īṣa gatihiṃsādarśaneṣu, first class, ātmanepada; laṭ, ta, e; śap: īṣ + a + te; no guṇa as the penultimate is not light; śap is pit and so unaccented; the root accent remains. - yuyota: root yu miśraṇāmiśraṇayoḥ, adādi; loṭ, madhyama plural tha → ta by tasthasthamipāṃ; tapta-nap-tana-thanāś ca gives tap; bahulaṃ chandasi (Pā. Sū. 2-4-76) śap → ślu; ślau — doubling: yu + yu + ta; tap is pit, so the prohibition of guṇa does not come; sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ gives guṇa: yuyota. - yuṣmākābhiḥ: "yuṣmākam imāḥ"; yuṣmadasmador anyatarasyāṃ khañ ca — युष्मदस्मदोरन्यतरस्यां खञ् च — (Pā. Sū. 4-3-1): after yuṣmad and asmad, in senses other than those through the fourth case, khañ [kha] and aṇ optionally; since anyatarasyām is read, these suffixes are optional, and in the alternative where they do not come, the suffix aṇ comes by tasyedam (Pā. Sū. 4-3-120); the print uses pāre madhye ṣaṣṭhyā vā — पारे मध्ये षष्ठ्या वा — (Pā. Sū. 2-1-18) and the principle "yatrotsargāpavādau mahāvibhāṣayā vikalpyete tatrāpavādena mukte punar utsargo na pravartate" ["where the general rule and the exception are both made optional by the great option, when the exception is released the general rule does not operate again"] to show that, since here anyatarasyām is used, the option is not the mahāvibhāṣā; therefore aṇ comes by the general rule; tasminn aṇi ca yuṣmākāsmākau — तस्मिन्नणि च युष्माकास्माकौ — (Pā. Sū. 4-3-2; p. 369): when khañ or aṇ follows, the substitutes yuṣmāka and asmāka for yuṣmad and asmad: yuṣmāka + a; yasyeti ca the loss of the a; because the feminine is intended, ṭiḍḍhāṇañ-... (no number printed) would give ṅīp, and taddhiteṣv acām ādeḥ vṛddhi; but, as all operations are optional in the Veda (sarve vidhayaś chandasi vikalpyante, Paribhāṣā 35), they do not come here; ajādyatas ṭāp — ṭāp; bhis, ru, visarga: yuṣmākābhiḥ. - ūtibhiḥ: root ava rakṣaṇe; striyāṃ ktin: ktin; jvaratvarasrivyavivyadhamavām upadhāyāś ca — ज्वरत्वरस्रिव्यविव्यधमवामुपधायाश्च — (no number printed): ūṭh for av; ūtiyūtijūti... — ऊतियूतिजूति... — (no number printed) the accent of ktin: acute on the first syllable. Rik 8 ends here (|| 8 ||).

Rik 39.9 (pp. 369–, PDF 383–)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 369; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. No Ṛk number is printed after the second line [the Pada closes with ॥ ९ ॥].)

> असा॑मि॒ हि प्र॑यज्यव॒: कण्व॑ं॒ दद प्र॑चेतसः । असा॑मिभिर्मरुत॒ आ न॑ ऊ॒तिभि॒र्गन्ता॑ वृ॒ष्टिं न वि॒द्युत॑: ॥
>
> ásāmi hí prayajyavaḥ káṇvaṃ dadá pracetasaḥ | ásāmibhir maruta ā́ na ūtíbhir gántā vṛṣṭíṃ na vidyútaḥ ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 369)

> असामि । हि । प्रऽयज्यवः । कण्वम् । दद । प्रऽचेतसः । असामिऽभिः । मरुतः । आ । नः । ऊतिऽभिः । गन्त । वृष्टिम् । न । विऽद्युतः ॥ ९ ॥

asāmi | hi | pra-yajyavaḥ | kaṇvam | dada | pra-cetasaḥ | asāmi-bhiḥ | marutaḥ | ā | naḥ | ūti-bhiḥ | ganta | vṛṣṭim | na | vi-dyutaḥ || 9 ||

(The Saṃhitā prints gantā long, the Pada ganta*.)*

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 370; re-read from the better scan)

> असामि हि सम्पूर्णमेव यथा भवति तथा प्रयज्यवः प्रकर्षेण यष्टव्याः प्रचेतसः प्रकृष्टज्ञानयुक्ताः हे मरुतः कण्वं मेधाविनं यजमानमेतन्नामकमृषिं वा दद । धारयेत । हि यस्माद्यूयं कण्वनामकमृषिं धारितवन्तस्तस्मात्कारणादसामिभिरूतिभिः सम्पूर्णै रक्षणैर्नोऽस्मान्प्रत्या गन्त । आगच्छत । तत्र दृष्टान्तः । वृष्टिं न विद्युतः । यथा विद्युतो वृष्टिं गच्छन्ति तद्वत् ॥ असामि । साम्यर्थं । न सामि असामि । अव्ययपूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं । प्रयज्यवः । प्रकर्षेण यष्टव्याः । यजिमनिशुन्धिदसिजनिभ्यो युः । उ. ३-२० । इति कर्मणि युप्रत्ययः । आमन्त्रितनिघातः । दद । डुदाञ् दाने । लोण्मध्यमबहुवचनस्य तिङां तिङो भवन्तीति लक्षणादात्मनेपदप्रथमपुरुषबहुवचनादेशः । श्लौ द्विर्भावे सति श्नाभ्यस्तयोरात इत्याकारलोपः । लोपस्त आत्मनेपदेषु । पा. ७-१-४१ । इति तलोपः । अतो गुण इति पररूपत्वं । छन्दस्युभयथेत्यार्धधातुकत्वाद्भ्यस्तानामादिरित्याद्युदात्तत्वं न भवति किंतु प्रत्ययस्वर एव । हि चेति निघातप्रतिषेधः । प्रचेतसः । प्रकृष्टं चेतो येषां । आमन्त्रितनिघातः । गन्त । गमेर्लोण्मध्यमबहुवचनस्य तस्य तबादेशः । बहुलं छन्दसीति शपो लुक् । प्रत्ययस्य पित्त्वादनुदात्तत्वे धातुस्वरः । पादादित्वान्निघाताभावः । द्व्यचोऽतस्तिङ इति संहितायां दीर्घत्वं । विद्युतः । विद्योतत इति विद्युत् । भ्राजभासेत्यादिना । पा. ३-२-१७७ । क्विप् ॥

asāmi hi sampūrṇam eva yathā bhavati tathā prayajyavaḥ prakarṣeṇa yaṣṭavyāḥ pracetasaḥ prakṛṣṭajñānayuktāḥ he marutaḥ kaṇvaṃ medhāvinaṃ yajamānam etannāmakam ṛṣiṃ vā dada | dhārayeta | hi yasmād yūyaṃ kaṇvanāmakam ṛṣiṃ dhāritavantas tasmāt kāraṇād asāmibhir ūtibhiḥ sampūrṇai rakṣaṇair no 'smān pratyā ganta | āgacchata | tatra dṛṣṭāntaḥ | vṛṣṭiṃ na vidyutaḥ | yathā vidyuto vṛṣṭiṃ gacchanti tadvat || asāmi | sāmyarthaṃ | na sāmi asāmi | avyayapūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ | prayajyavaḥ | prakarṣeṇa yaṣṭavyāḥ | yajimaniśundhidasijanibhyo yuḥ | u. 3-20 | iti karmaṇi yupratyayaḥ | āmantritanighātaḥ | dada | ḍudāñ dāne | loṇmadhyamabahuvacanasya tiṅāṃ tiṅo bhavantīti lakṣaṇād ātmanepadaprathamapuruṣabahuvacanādeśaḥ | ślau dvirbhāve sati śnābhyastayor āta ity ākāralopaḥ | lopas ta ātmanepadeṣu | pā. 7-1-41 | iti talopaḥ | ato guṇa iti pararūpatvaṃ | chandasy ubhayathety ārdhadhātukatvād bhyastānām ādir ity ādyudāttatvaṃ na bhavati kiṃtu pratyayasvara eva | hi ceti nighātapratiṣedhaḥ | pracetasaḥ | prakṛṣṭaṃ ceto yeṣāṃ | āmantritanighātaḥ | ganta | gamer loṇmadhyamabahuvacanasya tasya tabādeśaḥ | bahulaṃ chandasīti śapo luk | pratyayasya pittvād anudāttatve dhātusvaraḥ | pādāditvān nighātābhāvaḥ | dvyaco 'tastiṅa iti saṃhitāyāṃ dīrghatvaṃ | vidyutaḥ | vidyotata iti vidyut | bhrājabhāsety ādinā | pā. 3-2-177 | kvip ||

Translation: "Asāmi hi — in full, as it were — prayajyavaḥ, those to be worshipped greatly, pracetasaḥ, endowed with excellent knowledge, O Maruts: kaṇvam, the wise sacrificer, or the ṛṣi so named, dada — support. Hi — because you have supported the ṛṣi named Kaṇva, therefore asāmibhiḥ ūtibhiḥ, with complete protections, naḥ, towards us, ā ganta, come. The example: vṛṣṭiṃ na vidyutaḥ — as the lightnings go to the rain, so. Asāmi: sāmy-artham [as printed: "in the sense of sāmi", i.e. 'half', as the Special Topics and grammar explain]; na sāmi: asāmi; the accent of the first member as an indeclinable. Prayajyavaḥ: 'to be worshipped greatly'; the suffix yu in the passive sense by yaji-mani-śundhi-dasi-janibhyo yuḥ (U. 3-20); unaccented as a vocative. Dada: root ḍudāñ dāne; the substitution of the ātmanepada third-person plural for the second-person plural of the loṭ by the principle tiṅāṃ tiṅo bhavanti; in ślu, after doubling, the loss of the ā by śnābhyastayor ātaḥ; the loss of ta by lopas ta ātmanepadeṣu (Pā. 7-1-41); pararūpa by ato guṇe; because by chandasy ubhayathā it is ārdhadhātuka, the first-syllable acute of the reduplicated [abhyastānām ādiḥ] does not come, but only the accent of the suffix; no nighāta by hi ca. Pracetasaḥ: 'of whom the mind is excellent'; unaccented vocative. Ganta: the substitute ta for the tha of loṭ of gam; śap elided by bahulaṃ chandasi; because the suffix is pit it is unaccented, the root accent remains; at the beginning of a pāda there is no nighāta; in the Saṃhitā the long vowel by dvyaco 'tastiṅaḥ. Vidyutaḥ: 'vidyotate', so vidyut; kvip by bhrājabhāsa... (Pā. 3-2-177)."

Pratipadārtha (p. 370) — "asāmi hi — completely; prayajyavaḥ — worthy of the best worship; pracetasaḥ — endowed with excellent knowledge; marutaḥ — O Maruts; kaṇvam — the wise sacrificer (or the ṛṣi Kaṇva); dada — (giving shelter) support; hi — because you have given shelter; asāmibhiḥ — complete; ūtibhiḥ — with the means of protecting [us]; vidyutaḥ — the lightnings; vṛṣṭiṃ na — as [they] join the rain (come to us as they do); naḥ — to us; ā ganta — come."

Bhāvārtha (p. 370) — "O Maruts, who are worshipped with full and excellent sacrificial rites, you are possessed of excellent knowledge. Give support to the sacrificer Kaṇva, the ṛṣi. Then, as lightning follows the rain, come to us with your protections."

(The English translation, the Special Topics and the grammar of Rik 9 begin on p. 371, below.)

Page 371 (better scan PDF 386)

Rik 39.9, continued (from p. 371)

English Translation (the source's own, p. 371) — "Wise Maruts, who are to be unreservedly worshipped, support Kanwa (the sacrificer); come to us, Maruts, with complete protection as the lightnings bring the rain."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 371 - asāmi — "sāmi means 'half'. Asāmi means 'not half', 'complete'." - prayajyavaḥ = prakarṣeṇa yaṣṭavyāḥ — "those fit to be worshipped well." - dada = dhārayeta — "give support, give shelter, and protect." - pracetasaḥ = prakṛṣṭaṃ ceto yeṣāṃ te | prakṛṣṭajñānayuktāḥ — "those who have excellent knowledge." - vṛṣṭiṃ na vidyutaḥ — "there is no lightning without rain; and when lightning is seen, rain is well known to come; therefore the ṛṣi has used this example: 'As the lightnings bring the rain, you, Maruts, bring us protections.'"

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 371–372 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - asāmi: "sāmi is a word whose sense is 'half'; na sāmi: a nañ-compound, with the loss of the n; tatpuruṣe tulyārtha— (abbreviated, no number printed): the first member, an indeclinable, keeps its accent." - prayajyavaḥ: yaja devapūjādau; yaji-mani-śundhi-dasi-janibhyo yuc — यजिमनिशुन्धिदसिजनिभ्यो युच् — (U. Sū. 3-300, as printed here; the bhāṣya gives U. 3-20): after these roots the suffix yuc; since the u of yu is an indicatory ut letter, the substitute ana [for yu, by yuvor anākau] is not applied; jas after prayajya; jasi ca — जसि च — (Pā. Sū. 7-3-109) guṇa, av-substitution; āmantritasya ca — the verb is wholly unaccented. - dada: root ḍudāñ dāne; loṭ, madhyama plural dhvam; tiṅāṃ tiṅo bhavanti — तिङां तिङो भवन्ति — (printed "Pā. Ma. 7-1-39"): in place of one tiṅ a different tiṅ [intended] comes in the Veda; hence for the plural dhvam of the ātmanepada the jha [= third-person plural ātmanepada] substitute: dhā + jha; juhotyādibhyaḥ śluḥ (no number printed) śap → ślu; doubling and shortening of the reduplicate; ātmanepadeṣv nataḥ — आत्मनेपदेष्वनतः — (Pā. Sū. 7-1-5): at for the jha of the ātmanepada after a non-short-a; jha → at; śnābhyastayor ātaḥ — श्नाभ्यस्तयोरातः — (Pā. Sū. 6-4-112) the loss of the ā of a śnā and of a reduplicated root before a kit/ṅit sārvadhātuka: dad + ata; lopas ta ātmanepadeṣu — लोपस्त आत्मनेपदेषु — (Pā. Sū. 7-1-41) the loss of the t of an ātmanepada ending in the Veda: dad + a + a; ato guṇe — अतो गुणे — (Pā. Sū. 6-1-97; p. 372) pararūpa: dada. Chandasy ubhayathā (Pā. Sū. 3-4-117): in the Veda the suffixes laid down in the dhātvadhikāra are both sārvadhātuka and ārdhadhātuka; because of its ārdhadhātuka name, the first-syllable acute of abhyastānām ādiḥ (Pā. Sū. 6-1-189) before a non-it sārvadhātuka beginning with a vowel, does not come; hi ca — हि च — (Pā. Sū. 8-1-34) prohibits wholly-unaccented; the accent of the suffix. - pracetasaḥ: "prakṛṣṭaṃ cetaḥ yeṣāṃ te": those with excellent understanding; āmantritasya ca: unaccented-in-verse. - ganta: root gaml̥ gatau; loṭ, madhyama tha; because of the la-substitute, by tasthasthamipāṃ... ta; tapta-nap-tana-thanāś ca gives tap; bahulaṃ chandasi (Pā. Sū. 2-4-73) luk for śap; tap is pit, so it does not become ṅit; anudāttopadeśa... the nasal is not lost; the suffix is pit and unaccented; the root accent remains; it is at the beginning of the fourth pāda, hence apādādau (no number printed) does not give wholly-unaccented; dvyaco 'tastiṅaḥ (Pā. Sū. 6-3-135) gives the long vowel in the Saṃhitā. - vidyutaḥ: "vidyotate, so vidyut": "shines well"; bhrāja-bhāsa-dhurvi-dyuta-ūrji-pṛ-ju-grāvastuvaḥ kvip — भ्राजभासधुर्विद्युतोर्जिपृजुग्रावस्तुवः क्विप् — (Pā. Sū. 3-2-177): kvip after each of these eight, in the sense of habitual disposition and so on; so kvip after dyut with the prefix vi. Rik 9 ends here (|| 9 ||).

Rik 39.10 (pp. 372–375, PDF 386–389)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 372; Saṃhitā accents as printed (marks checked at 900 dpi; the heavy head-serifs of the letters are not marks); Pada unaccented. The print sets śavaḥ on a line of its own and closes the Saṃhitā with // and no Ṛk number; the Pada closes with // ०० //.)

> असा॒म्योजो॑ बिभृथा सुदा॒नवोऽसा॑मि धूत॒यः॒ शवः॑ । ऋ॒षि॒द्विषे॑ मरुतः परि॒म॒न्य॒व॒ इषु॑ं न सृ॑ज॒त॒ द्विष॑ं ॥
>
> asāmy ójo bibhṛthā sudānavó 'sāmi dhūtayaḥ śávaḥ | ṛṣidvíṣe marutaḥ parimanyáva íṣuṃ ná sṛjata dvíṣaṃ ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 373)

> असामि । ओजः । बिभृथ । सुऽदानवः । असामि । धूतयः । शवः । ऋषिऽद्विषे । मरुतः । परिऽमन्यवे । इषुम् । न । सृजत । द्विषम् ॥ १० ॥

asāmi | ojaḥ | bibhṛtha | su-dānavaḥ | asāmi | dhūtayaḥ | śavaḥ | ṛṣi-dviṣe | marutaḥ | pari-manyave | iṣum | na | sṛjata | dviṣam || 10 ||

(The Saṃhitā prints bibhṛthā with a long final vowel, the Pada bibhṛtha short.)

Page 373 (better scan PDF 388)

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 373; re-read from the better scan)

हे सुदानवः शोभनदानोपेता मरुतः असामि सम्पूर्णमोजो बलं बिभृथ । धारयथ । हे धूतयः कम्पनकारिणो मरुतः असामि सम्पूर्णं शवो बलं । परिमन्यवे कोपपरिवृताय ऋषिद्विषे ऋषीणां द्वेषं कुर्वते शत्रवे तद्विनाशार्थं द्विषं द्वेषकारिणं हन्तारं सृजत । तत्र दृष्टान्तः । इषुं न । यथा शत्रोरुपरि बाणं मुञ्चन्ति तद्वत् । अत्र निरुक्तं । असामि सामिप्रतिषिद्धं सामि स्यतेः । असाम्योजो बिभृथा सुदानवः । असुसमाप्तं बलं बिभृथ । कल्याणदानाः । नि. ६-२३ । इति ॥ बिभृथ । डुभृञ् धारणपोषणयोः । जुहोत्यादित्वात् श्लुः । भृञामित्यभ्यासस्येत्वं । ऋषिद्विषे । ऋषीन् द्वेष्टीति ऋषिद्विट् । सत्सूद्विषेत्यादिना क्विप् । परिमन्यवे । मन्युना परिवृतः परिमन्युः । प्रादिसमासे परेरभितोभावि मण्डलं । पा. ६-२-१८७ । इत्युत्तरपदान्तोदात्तत्वं । इषुं । इषु गतौ । इष्यति गच्छतीतीषुः । इषेः किच्च । उ. १-१३ । इत्युप्रत्ययः । धान्ये निदित्यनुवृत्तेर्नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वं । सृजत । सृज विसर्गे । विकरणस्य ञित्त्वाद्गुणाभावः । द्विषं । क्विप्चेति क्विप् ॥

he sudānavaḥ śobhanadānopetā marutaḥ asāmi sampūrṇam ojo balaṃ bibhṛtha | dhārayatha | he dhūtayaḥ kampanakāriṇo marutaḥ asāmi sampūrṇaṃ śavo balaṃ | parimanyave kopaparivṛtāya ṛṣidviṣe ṛṣīṇāṃ dveṣaṃ kurvate śatrave tadvināśārthaṃ dviṣaṃ dveṣakāriṇaṃ hantāraṃ sṛjata | tatra dṛṣṭāntaḥ | iṣuṃ na | yathā śatror upari bāṇaṃ muñcanti tadvat | atra niruktaṃ | asāmi sāmipratiṣiddhaṃ sāmi syateḥ | asāmy ojo bibhṛthā sudānavaḥ | asusamāptaṃ balaṃ bibhṛtha | kalyāṇadānāḥ | ni. 6-23 | iti || bibhṛtha | ḍubhṛñ dhāraṇapoṣaṇayoḥ | juhotyāditvāt śluḥ | bhṛñām ity abhyāsasyetvaṃ | ṛṣidviṣe | ṛṣīn dveṣṭīti ṛṣidviṭ | satsūdviṣety ādinā kvip | parimanyave | manyunā parivṛtaḥ parimanyuḥ | prādisamāse pareḥ abhito bhāvi maṇḍalaṃ | pā. 6-2-187 | ity uttarapadāntodāttatvaṃ | iṣuṃ | iṣu gatau | iṣyati gacchatīti iṣuḥ | iṣeḥ kic ca | u. 1-13 | ity upratyayaḥ | dhānye nid ity anuvṛtter nittvād ādyudāttatvaṃ | sṛjata | sṛja visarge | vikaraṇasya ñittvād guṇābhāvaḥ | dviṣaṃ | kvip ceti kvip ||

Translation: "O sudānavaḥ, Maruts endowed with fine giving, asāmi, complete, ojaḥ, strength, bibhṛtha, you bear. O dhūtayaḥ, shakers, Maruts, asāmi, complete, śavaḥ, strength. Parimanyave, to [him who is] surrounded by anger, ṛṣidviṣe, to the enemy who makes hatred against the ṛṣis, for his destruction, dviṣam, the hate-causing, slaying one [your weapon], sṛjata, discharge. The example: iṣuṃ na — as they discharge an arrow upon an enemy, so. Here the Nirukta: 'asāmi: opposed to sāmi; sāmi is from [the root] syati [so, 'to end']. Asāmy ojo bibhṛthā sudānavaḥ: you bear strength that is not left unfinished; you are of auspicious gifts' (Ni. 6-23). Bibhṛtha: root ḍubhṛñ dhāraṇapoṣaṇayoḥ; ślu since of the juhotyādi class; the i in the reduplicate by bhṛñām it. Ṛṣidviṣe: 'ṛṣīn dveṣṭi', one who hates the ṛṣis: ṛṣidviṭ; kvip by satsūdviṣa.... Parimanyave: 'surrounded by anger': parimanyuḥ; in a prādi compound, by the rule pareḥ abhito bhāvi maṇḍalam (Pā. 6-2-187 [as printed; for 6-2-182]) the final syllable of the latter member is acute. Iṣum: root iṣu gatau; 'iṣyati, it goes': iṣuḥ; the suffix u by iṣeḥ kic ca (U. 1-13]]; since nit is carried forward from dhānye nit, it is first-syllable acute. Sṛjata: root sṛja visarge; the vikaraṇa being ñit, no guṇa. Dviṣam: kvip by kvip ca."

Pratipadārtha (p. 373) — "sudānavaḥ — O Maruts, endowed with auspicious (and abundant) gifts; marutaḥ — O Maruts; asāmi — fully; ojaḥ — [your] strength; bibhṛtha — you bear; dhūtayaḥ — O Maruts, who make [things] tremble; asāmi — fully; śavaḥ — [your] power; parimanyave — full of anger; ṛṣidviṣe — [against] the enemy who hates the ṛṣis (for his destruction); iṣuṃ na — as one shoots a sharp arrow; dviṣam — your destructive hatred (anger); sṛjata — discharge upon the enemy."

Bhāvārtha (p. 374) — "O Maruts, you are good givers; your strength is surpassing. As a sharpened arrow is used to destroy an enemy, use your anger in the form of hatred against the enemy who harms and hates the ṛṣis."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 374) — "O most liberal givers, you possess perfect vigor ; shakers of the (earth), you possess undiminished strength. O Maruts, let loose your anger, like an arrow, upon the wrathfull [sic] enemy of the Rishis." (Printed "Rishis".)

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 374 - asāmy ojaḥ — "perfect strength" (the source adds in English: "perfect strength"). - sudānavaḥ — "givers of plenty: those who give many desired things." (English as printed: "givers of plenty".) - dhūtayaḥ — "those who make trees and the like shake." - ṛṣidviṣe parimanyave — "enemies who, full of anger, hate or injure the ṛṣis." - iṣuṃ na sṛjata dviṣam — "the prayer is: as an arrow is discharged against an enemy, direct your hatred or anger against those who hate the ṛṣis."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 374–375 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - bibhṛtha: root ḍubhṛñ dhāraṇapoṣaṇayoḥ, laṭ; being ñit, it is ubhayapadī; parasmaipada, madhyama plural tha; juhotyādibhyaḥ śluḥ — जुहोत्यादिभ्यः श्लुः — (Pā. Sū. 2-4-75) śap → ślu; ślau: doubling: bhṛ + bhṛ + tha; ur at — उरत् — (Pā. Sū. 7-4-66): when a suffix follows, an ṛ in the reduplicate becomes a, and that a is followed by r (raparatva); halādiḥ śeṣaḥ — the loss of the r, and jaś: bha; bhṛñām it — भृञामित् — (Pā. Sū. 7-4-76): the reduplicate of bhṛñ, māṅ, ohāṅ takes i: bibhṛtha. - ṛṣidviṣe: "ṛṣīn dveṣṭi, so ṛṣidviṭ": satsūdviṣa-druha-duha-yuja-vida-bhida-chida-jida-nīrājām upasargepi kvip — सत्सूद्विषद्रुहदुहयुजविदभिदच्छिदजिन्नीराजामुपसर्गेऽपि क्विप् — (printed abbreviated, "satsūdviṣa", no number): kvip. - parimanyave: "manyunā parivṛtaḥ": by kugatiprādayaḥ — कुगतिप्रादयः — (Pā. Sū. 2-2-18; p. 375) a compound; although the vārttikakāra says that paryādayo glānādyarthe caturthyā — "pari and the like [compound] with a fourth-case ending word in senses such as glāna" — yet in senses such as parivṛta belonging to that group a compound with another case-ending word also arises; or it may be called a bahuvrīhi, "paritaḥ manyuḥ yasya saḥ"; pareḥ abhito bhāvi maṇḍalam — परेरभितोभावि मण्डलम् — (Pā. Sū. 6-2-187 [as printed; for 6-2-182]): after the prefix pari, a word meaning "on both sides" or "on all sides" (abhitobhāvi), and the word maṇḍala, are final-acute; hence the word manyu is final-acute. (The print's examples of abhitobhāvi — the print cites supy ajātau — सुप्यजातौ — for the ṇini*-ending word* abhitobhāvin*, and explains that by this word is meant either the bank (kūla) on both sides in* nava* and the like, or anger and the like pervading a man all round.) - iṣum: iṣa gatau, divādi*; no need for the* u*-mark (iṣu), as shown at the 8th mantra of this sūkta [printed ҽ; cf. the grammar of Ṛk 8]; "iṣyati, he goes", i.e. an arrow that goes far, instantly after being shot.* Iṣeḥ kic ca* — इषेः किच्च — (U. Sū. 1-13); "nit" is carried forward from dhānye nit — धान्ये नित् — (U. Sū. 1-9); the suffix u after iṣ, which is kit and nit; the suffix being kit, no guṇa of the light penultimate; being nit, the word is first-syllable acute. The print adds that the commentators (vyākhyākāra) quote a reading from the Uṇādi sūtras following unde ricchādeḥ — उन्दे रिच्चादेः — the reading īṣeḥ kic ca (U. Sū. 1-13): īṣagatihiṃsādarśaneṣu — "the root īṣ in the senses of going, injuring, seeing; the suffix uk, which is kit and nit; and the initial ī of the root becomes i"; the root īṣa in the first class has these three senses; īṣate: goes, or injures, or "is not seen"; "it goes swiftly, kills enemies; by the excess of its speed it is not seen"; whichever of the three senses is intended, the word iṣu is formed. - sṛjata: sṛja visarge, tudādi; loṭ, madhyama plural tha, ta; tudādibhyaḥ śaḥ — तुदादिभ्यः शः — (no number printed) the śa vikaraṇa, which is ñit [the print says śit-effect, i.e. ñit-like], so no guṇa of the preceding vowel. - dviṣam: dviṣa apritau, adādi; kvip ca — क्विप् च — (no number printed) kvip. Rik 10 ends here (|| 10 ||).

Close of Sūkta 39. Printed on p. 375 after the grammar: "illige 39ne sūkta mugiyitu" — "Here the 39th sūkta has ended." (The numeral, printed ೩೯, zoom-checked on the better scan, PDF 390.) A flourish follows. The next leaf, p. 376 = PDF 390, begins with the large title "nalavattaneya sūktavu" ("the fortieth sūkta") — the Sanskrit introduction and Kannada anuvāda of Sūkta 40 (uttiṣṭha brahmaṇas pate; the print's introduction gives it as the fifth sūkta of the anuvāka, eight Riks) occupy the upper part of that page; they are not yet written and belong to the next session.

Summary of Sūkta 39 (my note). Ten Riks to the Maruts. Rik 1 asks to whom the Maruts are travelling, their power falling from afar like sunlight; Riks 2–3 pray that their weapons be firm and describe how they break trees and make their way through mountains; Rik 4 says no enemy of theirs exists in heaven or on earth; Riks 5–6 describe the shaking of mountains and trees and the spotted does and red deer yoked to their chariots; Riks 7–10 are prayers: for the protection of the sacrificer's sons (7), that the Maruts deprive hostile men of food, strength and help (8), that they come to Kaṇva with complete protection as lightning brings rain (9), and that they hurl their anger like an arrow at the enemy of the ṛṣis (10). All ten Riks are written in full; the heavily crowded grammar pages (pp. 360–361, 367–369) are characterized only.

SŪKTA 40 (printed p. 376 = PDF 390)

Fortieth Sūkta (large Kannada title line: "nalavattaneya sūktavu")

Page 376 (PDF 390) — Sāyaṇa's introduction and the Kannada anuvāda

Sāyaṇa's introduction (printed in Kannada script; re-read from the better scan, PDF 391)

> उत्तिष्ठेत्यष्टर्चं पञ्चमं सूक्तं कण्वस्यार्षं बार्हतं । युजः सतोबृहत्यः । अयुजो बृहत्यः । ब्रह्मणस्पतिदेवताकं । अनुक्रम्यते च । उत्तिष्ठाष्टौ ब्राह्मणस्पत्यमिति ॥ सूक्तविनियोगो लैङ्गिकः । चतुर्विंशेऽहनि मरुत्वतीये प्राकृताद्ब्राह्मणस्पत्यात्प्रगाथात्पूर्वमुत्तिष्ठ ब्रह्मणस्पत इत्ययं प्रगाथः । मरुत्वतीये इति खण्डे सूत्रितं । प्रैतु ब्रह्मणस्पतिरुत्तिष्ठ ब्रह्मणस्पत इति ब्राह्मणस्पत्यावापते पूर्वो नित्यात् । आ. ७-३ । इति ॥ आद्या तु प्रवर्ग्येऽप्यभिष्टवे विनियुक्ता । उत्तिष्ठ ब्रह्मणस्पत इत्येतामुक्त्वावतिष्ठते । आ. ४-७ । इति सूत्रितत्वात् ॥

uttiṣṭhety aṣṭarcaṃ pañcamaṃ sūktaṃ kaṇvasyārṣaṃ bārhataṃ | yujaḥ satobṛhatyaḥ | ayujo bṛhatyaḥ | brahmaṇaspatidevatākaṃ | anukramyate ca | uttiṣṭhāṣṭau brāhmaṇaspatyam iti || sūktaviniyogo laiṅgikaḥ | caturviṃśe 'hani marutvatīye prākṛtād brāhmaṇaspatyāt pragāthāt pūrvam uttiṣṭha brahmaṇaspata ity ayaṃ pragāthaḥ | marutvatīye iti khaṇḍe sūtritaṃ | praitu brahmaṇaspatir uttiṣṭha brahmaṇaspata iti

brāhmaṇaspatyāvāpate pūrvau nityāt | ā. 7-3 | iti || ādyā tu pravargye 'py abhiṣṭave viniyuktā | uttiṣṭha brahmaṇaspata ity etām uktvāvatiṣṭhate | ā. 4-7 | iti sūtritatvāt ||

Translation: "Uttiṣṭha — the fifth sūkta [of the anuvāka], of eight ṛks, the seer's work of Kaṇva, of the Bārhata [Prāgātha] kind; the even-numbered [ṛks] are Satobṛhatī, the odd-numbered Bṛhatī; its deity is Brahmaṇaspati. And the Anukramaṇikā says: 'uttiṣṭhāṣṭau brāhmaṇaspatyam'. The application (viniyoga) of the sūkta is laiṅgika: on the twenty-fourth day [of the Soma sacrifice], in the Marutvatīya [śastra], before the regular Brāhmaṇaspatya pragātha, this pragātha 'uttiṣṭha brahmaṇaspate'. It is laid down in the section called Marutvatīya: 'praitu brahmaṇaspatiḥ' and 'uttiṣṭha brahmaṇaspate' — the two Brāhmaṇaspatya [verses] are the earlier ones before the āvāpa [insertion], since they are constant (Ā. 7-3). The first ṛk is applied in the Pravargya, also in the abhiṣṭava: 'uttiṣṭha brahmaṇaspate' — having said this one stands up (Ā. 4-7), as it is laid down." (Translation tentative; numerals zoom-checked; the 7s are the flat-footed form.)

Anuvāda (Kannada), p. 376 — "Uttiṣṭha brahmaṇaspate is the fifth sūkta in this eighth anuvāka. It has eight ṛks. The even-numbered ṛks are in the Satobṛhatī metre; the odd-numbered in the Bṛhatī metre. Brahmaṇaspati is the deity of this sūkta. In the Anukramaṇikā: 'uttiṣṭhāṣṭau brāhmaṇaspatyam' — the sūkta of eight ṛks beginning uttiṣṭha has Brahmaṇaspati as deity. The application of the sūkta is laiṅgika; and in the Somayāga, on the twenty-fourth day, when the Marutvatīya śastra mantras are recited, this sūkta uttiṣṭha brahmaṇaspate is recited for the ṛks of the Prāgātha metre that concern Brahmaṇaspati. This matter is explained in the Āśvalāyana Śrauta-sūtra, in the section called Marutvatīya, by the sūtra 'praitu brahmaṇaspatir (Ṛ. Sa. 1-40-3) uttiṣṭha brahmaṇaspata (printed "Pā. Sū. 1-40-1" [sic], a Ṛgveda reference) iti brāhmaṇaspatyāvāpate pūrvau nityāt' (Ā. 7-3). The application of the first ṛk of this sūkta in the Pravargya and abhiṣṭava sacrifices is explained by the sūtra of the Āśvalāyana Śrauta-sūtra (Ā. 4-7) 'uttiṣṭha brahmaṇaspata ity etām uktvāvatiṣṭhate'."

(Numerals zoom-checked on the better scan, PDF 391.)

Page 377 (PDF 391) — heading of Sūkta 40 and Rik 40.1

॥ ॐ ॥

सूक्त — ४० ॥ मण्डल — १ ॥ अनुवाक — ८ ॥ सूक्त — ४० ॥ ॥ अष्टक — १ ॥ अध्याय — ३ ॥ वर्ग — २०, २१ ॥ ॥ सूक्तदल्लिरुव ऋक्संख्यै — ८ ॥ ॥ ऋषिः — कण्वो घौरः ॥ ॥ देवता — ब्रह्मणस्पतिः ॥ ॥ छन्दः — प्रागाथं बार्हतं ॥ १, ३, ५, ७ बृहती । २, ४, ६, ८ सतोबृहती ॥

sūkta 40 | maṇḍala 1 | anuvāka 8 | aṣṭaka 1 | adhyāya 3 | varga 20, 21 | ṛks 8 | ṛṣi: Kaṇva Ghaura | devatā: Brahmaṇaspati | chandas: Prāgātha, Bārhata — Riks 1, 3, 5, 7 Bṛhatī; Riks 2, 4, 6, 8 Satobṛhatī.

Translation of the heading: "Sūkta 40; Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 8; Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 3, Varga 20, 21; number of ṛks in the sūkta: 8; Ṛṣi: Kaṇva Ghaura; Deity: Brahmaṇaspati; Metre: Prāgātha of the Bārhata kind — Riks 1, 3, 5, 7 Bṛhatī; Riks 2, 4, 6, 8 Satobṛhatī." (Varga numerals and metre line zoom-checked, PDF 392.)

Rik 40.1 (pp. 377–381, PDF 391–395)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 377; Saṃhitā accents as printed (checked at 900 dpi; the short mid-height strokes inside uttiṣṭha and tvemahe are parts of the letters, not marks); Pada unaccented. The print sets sacā on a third line.)

> उत्तिष्ठ ब्रह्मणस्पते देव॒यन्त॑स्त्वेमहे । उप॒ प्र य॑न्तु म॒रुत॑: सु॒दान॑व॒ इन्द्र॑ प्रा॒शूर्भ॑वा॒ सचा॑ ॥ १ ॥
>
> úttiṣṭha brahmaṇaspate devayántas tvemahe | upa prá yantu marútaḥ sudānava índra prāśúr bhavā sácā || 1 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 377)

> उत् । तिष्ठ । ब्रह्मणः । पते । देवऽयन्तः । त्वा । ईमहे । उप । प्र । यन्तु । मरुतः । सुऽदानवः । इन्द्र । प्राशूः । भव । सचा ॥ १ ॥

ut | tiṣṭha | brahmaṇaḥ | pate | deva-yantaḥ | tvā | īmahe | upa | pra | yantu | marutaḥ | su-dānavaḥ | indra | prāśūḥ | bhava | sacā || 1 ||

(The Saṃhitā prints tvemahe with the sandhi tvā + īmahe*, and* bhavā with a long final vowel, the Pada bhava short.)

Page 378 (better scan PDF 393)

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 378)

> हे ब्रह्मणस्पते एतन्नामक देव उत्तिष्ठ । अस्मदनुग्रहाय त्वदीयनिवासादुत्थानं कुरु । देवयन्तो देवान् कामयमाना वयं त्वा त्वामीमहे । याचामहे । सुदानवः शोभनदानयुक्ता मरुत उप प्र यन्तु । समीपे प्रकर्षेण गच्छन्तु । हे इन्द्र त्वं सचा ब्रह्मणस्पतिना सह प्राशूः सोमस्य प्राशको भव । यद्वा । वृत्रस्य हिंसको भव ॥ उत्तिष्ठ । ऊर्ध्वकर्मत्वादात्मनेपदाभावः । पा. १-३-२४ । ब्रह्मणस्पते । सुबामन्त्रित इति परांगवद्भावात् षष्ठ्यामन्त्रितसमुदायकस्याष्टमिकं सर्वानुदात्तत्वं । देवयन्तः । देवानात्मन इच्छन्तः । सुप आत्मनः क्यच् । न छन्दस्यपुत्रस्येत्यस्यैव दीर्घस्यापि निषेधः । अश्वाघस्यादिति पुनरात्वविधानसामर्थ्यात् । ईमह इत्यादयो गताः । प्राशूः । शॄ हिंसायां । प्रकर्षेण समन्तात् शृणाति हिनस्तीति प्राशूः । बहुलं छन्दसीत्यत्वं । वोरुपधाया छैर्घः । कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं । भव । द्व्यचोऽतस्तिङ इति संहितायां दीर्घत्वं ॥

he brahmaṇaspate etannāmaka deva uttiṣṭha | asmadanugrahāya tvadīyanivāsād utthānaṃ kuru | devayanto devān kāmayamānā vayaṃ tvā tvām īmahe | yācāmahe | sudānavaḥ śobhanadānayuktā maruta upa pra yantu | samīpe prakarṣeṇa gacchantu | he indra tvaṃ sacā brahmaṇaspatinā saha prāśūḥ somasya prāśako bhava | yadvā | vṛtrasya hiṃsako bhava || uttiṣṭha | ūrdhvakarmatvād ātmanepadābhāvaḥ | pā. 1-3-24 | brahmaṇaspate | subāmantrita iti parāṅgavadbhāvāt ṣaṣṭhyāmantritasamudāyakasyāṣṭamikaṃ sarvānudāttatvaṃ | devayantaḥ | devān ātmana icchantaḥ | supa ātmanaḥ kyac | na chandasy aputrasyety asyaiva dīrghasyāpi niṣedhaḥ | aśvāghasyād iti punarātvavidhānasāmarthyāt | īmaha ity ādayo gatāḥ | prāśūḥ | śṝ hiṃsāyāṃ | prakarṣeṇa samantāt śṛṇāti hinastīti prāśūḥ | bahulaṃ chandasīty atvaṃ | vor upadhāyā chair ghaḥ | kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ | bhava | dvyaco 'tastiṅa iti saṃhitāyāṃ dīrghatvaṃ ||

Translation: "O Brahmaṇaspati — god of this name — uttiṣṭha, rise up. For our favour, make a rising from your dwelling. Devayantaḥ, we who desire the gods, tvā īmahe, ask you; we beg. Sudānavaḥ, endowed with fine giving, Maruts, upa pra yantu, let them go close up, strongly. O Indra, you, sacā, with Brahmaṇaspati, prāśūḥ bhava, be a partaker of the Soma; or be a slayer of Vṛtra. Uttiṣṭha: since the action is an upward one there is no ātmanepada (Pā. 1-3-24). Brahmaṇaspate: by subāmantrite parāṅgavat… the whole group, genitive plus vocative, takes the eighth-adhyāya unaccentedness (āṣṭamika sarvānudāttatva). Devayantaḥ: 'desiring the gods for themselves'; kyac by supa ātmanaḥ kyac; the prohibition of the lengthening by na chandasy aputrasya (no number in the bhāṣya) applies here; the ability of aśvāghasyāt to prescribe ā again [shows this]. Īmahe and the rest have been dealt with. Prāśūḥ: root śṝ hiṃsāyām; 'prakarṣeṇa samantāt śṛṇāti', it injures; the u by bahulaṃ chandasi; the lengthening by vor upadhāyā…; the accent of the first member in a compound ending in a kṛt. Bhava: in the Saṃhitā the long vowel by dvyaco 'tastiṅaḥ."

Pratipadārtha (p. 378) — "brahmaṇaspate — O Brahmaṇaspati, the god; uttiṣṭha — (for the sake of favouring us) rise up; devayantaḥ — we who desire the help of the gods; tvā — you; īmahe — we beseech; sudānavaḥ — [those] with auspicious gifts; marutaḥ — the Maruts; upa pra yantu — let them come exceedingly near [to us]; indra — O Indra, [you]; sacā — with Brahmaṇaspati; prāśūḥ — one who drinks the Soma juice, or one who destroys Vṛtra; bhava — be."

Bhāvārtha (p. 378) — "O Brahmaṇaspati, rise from your seat to favour us. We, who desire the help of the gods, beseech you: 'Give your protection.' Let the Maruts, who give auspicious and noble gifts, come near us. O Indra, drink the Soma juice together with Brahmaṇaspati, or become the destroyer of Vṛtra."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 378) — "Rise up, Brahmanaspati ; we who desire to worship the gods Solicit you ; may the liberal Maruts also come up with you ; and Indra, be a partaker of the libation."

Page 379 (better scan PDF 394)

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 379–380 - brahmaṇaspate — "Brahmaṇaspati is the deity of this sūkta. Who is this Brahmaṇaspati? We shall explain in brief what his place and station among the deities are. The great ṛṣi Yāska in the Nirukta (Ni. 10-14), when considering Brahmaṇaspati, says: ब्रह्मणस्पतिः । ब्रह्मणस्पतिर्ब्रह्मणः पाता वा पालयिता वा ॥ — brahmaṇaspatiḥ | brahmaṇaspatir brahmaṇaḥ pātā vā pālayitā vā — 'Brahmaṇaspati is the protector, or the sustainer, of brahman.' Here the word brahma has the senses 'food', 'wealth' and 'praise' (Ni. 3-9). So 'brahmaṇaḥ pātā' means lord or master of food (of food, āhāra). How Brahmaṇaspati is lord of food Yāska shows by an example, quoting the ṛk अश्मास्यमवतं ब्रह्मणस्पतिर्मधुधारमभि यमोजसातृणत् । तमेव विश्वे पपिरे स्वर्दृशो बहुसाकं सिसिचुरुत्समुद्रिणम् ॥ (Ṛ. Sa. 2-24-4) — aśmāsyam avataṃ brahmaṇaspatir madhudhāram abhi yam ojasātṛṇat | tam eva viśve papire svardṛśo bahusākaṃ sisicur utsam udriṇam — mine and tentative:"Brahmaṇaspati, with might, split open the stone-mouthed well, the stream of honey; all the sun-seeing ones drank just that; together they poured out the spring that holds water"; and then giving the Nirukta explanation अशनवन्तमास्यन्तनवन्तमवातितं ब्रह्मणस्पतिर्मधुधारमभियमोजसा बलेनाभ्यतृणत्तमेव सर्वे पिबन्ति रश्मयः सूर्यदृशो बह्वेनं सह सिञ्चन्त्युत्समुद्रिणमुदकवन्तम् (Ni. 10-13) — aśanavantam āsyantanavantam avātitaṃ brahmaṇaspatir madhudhāram abhi yam ojasā balenābhyatṛṇat tam eva sarve pibanti raśmayaḥ sūryadṛśo bahv enaṃ saha siñcanty utsam udriṇam udakavantam — re-read from the better scan, PDF 394; mine and tentative: "…a stream full of water; the rays, seeing from the sun, all drink it; together they pour much of this spring, rich in water." The main intention is that Brahmaṇaspati, by the help of the sun's rays, makes the clouds drink the water of the ocean and makes that water fall specially on the earth as rain; from rain come plants and trees, and from them food and the like; hence Brahmaṇaspati is the protector of food. When brahma is taken as 'praise' or 'wealth', Brahmaṇaspati is lord of mantras and lord of wealth. The commentator [Sāyaṇa] says this very thing in explaining the ṛk quoted above. "Hymns to Brahmaṇaspati are numerous in the Ṛgveda; in them Brahmaṇaspati is said to give wealth and food. Many doubt whether this Brahmaṇaspati is a separate deity or another form of Agni. As he gives wealth and food together with Agni and other deities, some say Brahmaṇaspati is a special form of Agni. Yāska has remained silent on this point, that is, he has said nothing clearly. In the ṛks on Brahmaṇaspati there is likewise no sufficient basis to say that this deity is another form of Agni. Therefore it may be said confidently that Brahmaṇaspati is a separate deity, like Indra and Agni." - upa pra yantu marutaḥ — "let the Marut-deities come near you: that is, come together with you." - prāśūḥ = somasya prāśakaḥ — "one who partakes of the Soma juice: that is, one who drinks." - sacā = sahitaḥ — "accompanied: accompanied by Brahmaṇaspati."

Page 380 (better scan PDF 395)

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 380–381 — grammar pages, characterized) - uttiṣṭha: udo 'nūrdhvakarmaṇi — उदोऽनूर्ध्वकर्मणि — (Pā. Sū. 1-3-28 [as printed; for 1-3-24]): the ātmanepada after the root sthā with ud, in the sense of an action not of the "upward-direction" kind; here the deity Brahmaṇaspati rises from his place upward, so sthā here denotes an action that suits an upward direction, and so ātmanepada does not come by this sūtra; hence the parasmaipada alone. Ṣṭhā gatinivṛttau, first class; dhātvādeḥ ṣaḥ saḥ: s; the th [stays]; loṭ, sip, hi; śap; pāghrādhmā… — पाघ्राध्मा— — (abbreviated, no number) gives tiṣṭha for sthā; tiṣṭha + a + hi; ato heḥ — loss of hi, or pararūpa in the alternative where the a-ending substitute…; ud + tiṣṭha = uttiṣṭha. - brahmaṇaspate: "brahmaṇaḥ patiḥ": ṣaṣṭhyāḥ patiputrapṛṣṭhapārapadapayaspoṣeṣu — (Pā. Sū. 8-3-53): the s for the visarga of a genitive; pati here is a vocative; for the accent, by subāmantrite parāṅgavat svare — सुबामन्त्रिते पराङ्गवत्स्वरे — (no number printed) brahmaṇaḥ becomes a part of pate; and for brahmaṇaspate by āmantritasya ca (Pā. Sū. 8-1-19) the whole is unaccented. - devayantaḥ: "devān ātmana icchantaḥ"; supa ātmanaḥ kyac — सुप आत्मनः क्यच् — (Pā. Sū. 3-1-8); akṛtsārvadhātukayor dīrghaḥ — अकृत्सार्वधातुकयोर्दीर्घः — (Pā. Sū. 7-4-25), kyaci ca — क्यचि च — (Pā. Sū. 7-4-33) (īt for the a), na chandasy aputrasya — न छन्दस्यपुत्रस्य — (Pā. Sū. 7-4-35); the print discusses the order of these three sūtras and the paribhāṣā anantarasya vidhir vā bhavati pratiṣedho vā, concluding that the prohibition na chandasi prohibits only the īt of kyaci ca, not the lengthening; otherwise aśvāyantaḥ would have a long ā and aśvāghasyāt (Pā. Sū. 7-4-37; p. 381) would be useless; so the prohibition covers both the ī- and the long-ā operations in deva + ya. - īmahe: "the process of the words from this up to indra has been given earlier." - prāśūḥ: root śṝ hiṃsāyām, kryādi; "prakarṣeṇa āsamantāt hinasti": bahulaṃ chandasi (Pā. Sū. 7-1-103): u for the ṛ in the Veda, with raparatva: śur; prāśur, a su-ending; halṅyābbhyo dīrghāt… the loss of su; vor upadhāyā dīrgha ikaḥ — वोरुपधाया दीर्घ इकः — (Pā.

Sū. 8-2-76) the penultimate ik of a root ending in r or v is lengthened at the end of a word: prāśūr; kharavasānayor visarjanīyaḥ. - bhava: root bhū sattāyām, loṭ, madhyama singular; in the Saṃhitā the long vowel by dvyaco 'tastiṅaḥ. Rik 1 ends here (|| 1 ||).

Rik 40.2 (p. 381 foot, PDF 395–)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 381; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. The Saṃhitā closes with // and no Ṛk number; the Pada closes with ॥ २ ॥.)

त्वामिद्धि स॑हसस्पुत्र मर्त्य॑ उपब्रू॒ते धन॑ हि॒ते । सु॒वीर्य॑ मरुत॒ आ स्वश्व्यं॒ दधी॑त॒ यो व॑ आच॒के ॥

tvām id dhí sahasas putra mártya upabrūté dháne hité | suvīryaṃ maruta ā́ svaśvyaṃ dádhīta yó va ācaké ||

(The Pada, the bhāṣya and the rest of Rik 2 are on p. 382 onward, below.)

Rik 40.2, continued (from p. 382; the Saṃhitā is above)

Page 382 (better scan PDF 397)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 382)

त्वाम् । इत् । हि । सहसः । पुत्र । मर्त्यः । उपऽब्रूते । धने । हिते । सुऽवीर्यम् । मरुतः । आ । सुऽअश्व्यम् । दधीत । यः । वः । आऽचके ॥ २ ॥

tvām | it | hi | sahasaḥ | putra | martyaḥ | upa-brūte | dhane | hite | su-vīryam | marutaḥ | ā | su-aśvyam | dadhīta | yaḥ | vaḥ | ā-cake || 2 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 382)

हे सहसस्पुत्र बलस्य बहुपालक ब्रह्मणस्पते । पुत्रः पुरु त्रायते निपरणाद्वेति निरुक्तं । नि. २-११ । मर्त्यो मनुष्यो हिते शत्रुषु प्रक्षिप्ते धने निमित्तभूते सति त्वामित् । त्वामेवोपब्रूते हि । समीपं प्राप्य स्तौति खलु । तद्धनसम्पादनाय प्रार्थयत इत्यर्थः । हे मरुतो यो धनार्थी मर्त्यो वो युष्मान् ब्रह्मणस्पतिसहितानाचके स्तौति । स मर्त्यः स्वश्व्यं शोभनाश्वयुक्तं सुवीर्यं शोभनवीर्ययुक्तं च धनं दधीत । धारयेत् ॥ सहसस्पुत्र । ब्रह्मणस्पत इतिवत् । षष्ठ्याः पतिपुत्रेति विसर्जनीयस्य सत्वं । उपब्रूते । हि चेति निघातप्रतिषेधः । तिङश्चोदात्तवतीति गतेरनुदात्तत्वं । हिते । निष्ठायां दधातेर्हिरिति हिरादेशः । सुवीर्यं । शोभनं वीर्यं यस्येति बहुव्रीहौ वीरवीर्यौ चेत्युत्तरपदाद्युदात्तत्वं । स्वश्व्यं । अश्वानां समूहोऽश्वीयं । केशाश्वाभ्यां यञ्छावन्यतरस्यां । पा. ४-२-४८ [?] । इति समूहार्थे छप्रत्ययः । छस्य ईयादेशः । शोभनमश्वीयं यस्य तत् स्वश्व्यं । ईकारलोपश्छान्दसः । परादिश्छन्दसि बहुलमित्युत्तरपदाद्युदात्तत्वं । दधीत । सीयुटः सकारलोपे सत्यभ्यस्तानामादिरित्याद्युदात्तत्वं । पादादित्वान्निघाताभावः । आचके । कै गै रै शब्दे । आदेच इत्यात्वं । लिटि द्विर्वचनेऽभ्यासस्य ह्रस्वचुत्वे । आतो लोप इटि चेत्याकारलोपः । प्रत्ययस्वरः । यद्वृत्तयोगादनिघातः ॥

he sahasas putra balasya bahupālaka brahmaṇaspate | putraḥ puru trāyate niparaṇād veti niruktaṃ | ni. 2-11 | martyo manuṣyo hite śatruṣu prakṣipte dhane nimittabhūte sati tvām it |

tvām evopabrūte hi | samīpaṃ prāpya stauti khalu | taddhanasampādanāya prārthayata ity arthaḥ | he maruto yo dhanārthī martyo vo yuṣmān brahmaṇaspatisahitān ācake stauti | sa martyaḥ svaśvyaṃ śobhanāśvayuktaṃ suvīryaṃ śobhanavīryayuktaṃ ca dhanaṃ dadhīta | dhārayet || sahasas putra | brahmaṇaspata itivat | ṣaṣṭhyāḥ patiputreti visarjanīyasya satvaṃ | upabrūte | hi ceti nighātapratiṣedhaḥ | tiṅaś codāttavatīti gater anudāttatvaṃ | hite | niṣṭhāyāṃ dadhāter hir iti hirādeśaḥ | suvīryaṃ | śobhanaṃ vīryaṃ yasyeti bahuvrīhau vīravīryau cety uttarapadādyudāttatvaṃ | svaśvyaṃ | aśvānāṃ samūho 'śvīyaṃ | keśāśvābhyāṃ yañchāvanyatarasyāṃ | pā. 4-2-48 [?] | iti samūhārthe chapratyayaḥ | chasya īyādeśaḥ | śobhanam aśvīyaṃ yasya tat svaśvyaṃ | īkāralopaś chāndasaḥ | parādiś chandasi bahulam ity uttarapadādyudāttatvaṃ | dadhīta | sīyuṭaḥ sakāralope saty abhyastānām ādir ity ādyudāttatvaṃ | pādāditvān nighātābhāvaḥ | ācake | kai gai rai śabde | ādeca ity ātvaṃ | liṭi dvirvacane 'bhyāsasya hrasvacutve | āto lopa iṭi cety ākāralopaḥ | pratyayasvaraḥ | yadvṛttayogād anighātaḥ ||

Translation: "O son of strength [sahasas putra], great protector of strength, Brahmaṇaspati. 'Putra: he protects much, or he protects from the hell pura', says the Nirukta (Ni. 2-11). Martyaḥ, the man, hite, when wealth has been thrown among the enemies [= abandoned by them] becomes the occasion, tvām it, on you alone upabrūte, he calls: having come close, he praises; the sense is: he prays for the winning of that wealth. O Maruts, the man who, wanting wealth, ācake, praises you, who are with Brahmaṇaspati — may that man dadhīta, hold, obtain, wealth that has good horses (svaśvya) and good heroism (suvīrya). Sahasas putra: as [in] brahmaṇaspate; by patiputra… the visarga becomes s. Upabrūte: the prohibition of nighāta by hi ca; the preverb is unaccented by tiṅaś codāttavati. Hite: in the participle, the substitute hi for dhā. Suvīryam: a bahuvrīhi, 'of which the heroism is good'; the first syllable of the latter member is acute by vīravīryau ca. Svaśvyam: 'a collection of horses' is aśvīya; by keśāśvābhyāṃ yañchāv anyatarasyām [Pā. 4-2-48 [?]] the suffix cha in the sense of collection; īya for cha; 'svaśvya, that which has fine horses'; the loss of ī is Vedic; the first syllable of the latter member is acute by parādiś chandasi bahulam. Dadhīta: when the s of sīyuṭ is lost, the first syllable is acute by abhyastānām ādiḥ; no nighāta because it begins a pāda. Ācake: root kai gai rai śabde; ā by ādeca…; in liṭ, doubling, shortening and palatalization of the reduplicate; loss of the ā by āto lopa iṭi ca; accent of the suffix; no nighāta because of the connection with yat."

Page 383 (better scan PDF 398)

Pratipadārtha (p. 383) — "sahasas putra — O Brahmaṇaspati, protector of strength; martyaḥ — man; hite — placed (with the enemy); dhane — for the sake of wealth; tvām it — you alone; upabrūte — comes close and praises; marutaḥ — O Maruts; yaḥ — which man, desiring wealth; vaḥ — you (together with Brahmaṇaspati); ā cake — praises; svaśvyam — with excellent horses; suvīryam — with excellent heroism; [and] (iratakka) dhanam — wealth that is [with these]; dadhīta — may he obtain."

Bhāvārtha (p. 383) — "O Brahmaṇaspati, you are the protector of strength, that is, you are exceedingly mighty. With the help of your strength, a man approaches you with his praises for the sake of wealth lying among enemies. O Maruts, since you are together with Brahmaṇaspati, the man who, desiring wealth, praises you will obtain excellent horses, excellent heroism and wealth."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 383) — "O Son of strength, (Brahmanaspati) the mortal worships you with praises for the sake of wealth abandoned by the enemy ; Maruts, may he who praises you obtain (wealth consisting of) excellent horses and great strength."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 383–384 - sahasas putra — "sahas means strength or power. Putra son. Although this word is specially established as used of Agni, here it is used of Indra and, in this ṛk, of Brahmaṇaspati. The commentator takes the word putra in this ṛk as 'protector', following Yāska's explanation 'putraḥ puru trāyate niparaṇād vā' (Ni. 2-11); 'balasya putra' means 'giver of strength'." - upa brūte = samīpaṃ prāpya stauti — "comes to your presence and praises." - hite — "a word formed from the root dhā. Its sense is: in a battle, when enemies flee and run away, the wealth they abandon — horses, chariots and the like, and goods such as money —" - svaśvyam = śobhanāśvayuktatvam — "the gain of excellent horses." - ā dadhīta = dhārayet — "will obtain without doubt" (niḥsaṃśayaṃ prāpnuyāt) — "may he obtain, in full." - yo va ā cake — "one who desires to praise you: that is, one who praises you."

Page 384 (better scan PDF 399)

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 384–386 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - sahasaspatra: root saha marṣaṇe; the Uṇādi asun, of the oṇādika kind; "puru trāyate, so putra": the root trai pālane; ato 'nupasarge kaḥ (no number printed) ka and the loss of the ā; the s for the visarga and the wholly-unaccented as in brahmaṇaspate. - upabrūte: brūñ vyaktāyāṃ vāci, adādi, ubhayapadī; the ātmanepada ending here; śap elided; by hi ca the verb is not wholly unaccented, since it is joined with hi; the ending te is acute by the suffix accent. Tiṅ codāttavati — तिङ् चोदात्तवति — (Pā. Sū. 8-1-71): when a verb with an acute follows, a gati is unaccented; hence upa is unaccented. The print says that nipātā ādyudāttāḥ does not apply here, since tiṅ codāttavati is an exception to it, and discusses at length why the word tiṅ is needed in that sūtra (with the example ā mandrair indra haribhir yāhi, where mandra, ending in rak, is acute), the definition of gati by prādayas tatpratyeva gatyupasargasaṃjñāḥ… and the Kaumudī's remark tiṅgrahaṇam udāttavataḥ parimāṇārtham. (Drift only; the passage is crowded.) - hite: root ḍudhāñ dhāraṇapoṣaṇayoḥ, juhotyādi; niṣṭhā: kta; dadhāter hiḥ — दधातेर्हिः — (Pā. Sū. 7-4-42; p. 385): hi for dhā before a kit suffix beginning with t. - suvīryam: bahuvrīhi; vīravīryau ca — वीरवीर्यौ च — (Pā. Sū. 6-2-120): in the Veda, in a bahuvrīhi, vīra and vīrya are first-syllable acute, even after su; the word vīra is from vīra vikrāntau with ac; vīrya by yat [acoyat] or tatra sādhuḥ. - svaśvyam: "aśvānāṃ samūhaḥ": keśāśvābhyāṃ yañchāv anyatarasyām — केशाश्वाभ्यां यञ्छावन्यतरस्याम् — (Pā. Sū. 4-2-48): after keśa and aśva, in the sense of collection, yañ and cha respectively; cha; āyaneyīnīyiyaḥ— (Pā. Sū. 7-1-2) gives īya; "śobhanam aśvīyaṃ yasya tat", a bahuvrīhi; the loss of ī by Vedic usage; parādiś chandasi bahulam (no number printed) the first syllable of the latter member is acute. - dadhīta: root ḍudhāñ; liṅ, ātmanepada; liṅaḥ sīyuṭ (no number printed); liṅaḥ salopo 'nantyasya (no number printed) loss of the s; suṭ tithoḥ (Pā. Sū. 3-4-107) — the print notes that the s of suṭ is also lost as before; śnābhyastayor ātaḥ — the ā → ī… [as read]; yalopa; abhyastānām ādiḥ — first-syllable acute; but the apādādau prohibition applies; so there is no wholly-unaccented form. - ācake: root kai gai rai śabde, first class [read as the 5th root]; ādeca upadeśe 'śiti — ā for ai; vyatyayo bahulam gives the ātmanepada in place of the parasmaipada; liṭ, ta; eś; doubling kā + kā + e; shortening of the reduplicate; kuhoś cuḥ — कुहोश्चुः — (no number printed) c for k: cakā + e; āto lopa iṭi ca — आतो लोप इटि च — (Pā. Sū. 6-4-64) loss of the ā

before a kit or ñit ārdhadhātuka beginning with a vowel, or iṭ; the accent of the suffix; because of the connection with yat in yo va ā cake, yadvṛttān nityam prohibits wholly-unaccented. ### Page 386 (better scan PDF 401)

The print adds that in the sūtra pūjanāt pūjitam— — पूजनात्पूजित—— —— the repeated mention of pūjita makes known that "in this section, even where the fifth case is used, immediate sequence is not required" (atra prakaraṇe pañcamīnirdeśe 'pi nānantaryam iṣyate), as explained earlier; and says that, though va intervenes, yadvṛttān nityam applies. Rik 2 ends here (|| 2 ||).

Rik 40.3 (pp. 386–389, PDF 400–403)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 386; Saṃhitā accents as printed (checked at 600–900 dpi); Pada unaccented. The print sets nayantu naḥ on a third line.)

> प्रैतु ब्रह्मणस्पतिः प्र देव्यैतु सूनृता । अच्छा वीरं नर्यं पङ्क्तिराधसं देवा यज्ञं नयन्तु नः ॥ ३ ॥
>
> praitu bráhmaṇas pátiḥ prá devy etu sūnṛ́tā | ácchā vīráṃ náryaṃ paṅktírādhasaṃ devā́ yajñáṃ nayantu naḥ || 3 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 386)

> प्र । एतु । ब्रह्मणः । पतिः । प्र । देवी । एतु । सूनृता । अच्छ । वीरम् । नर्यम् । पङ्क्तिऽराधसम् । देवाः । यज्ञम् । नयन्तु । नः ॥ ३ ॥

pra | etu | brahmaṇaḥ | patiḥ | pra | devī | etu | sūnṛtā | accha | vīram | naryam | paṅkti-rādhasam | devāḥ | yajñam | nayantu | naḥ || 3 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 386)

> चतुर्विंशेऽहनि मरुत्वतीये उत्तिष्ठ ब्रह्मणस्पत इत्यस्मात्प्रगाथात्पूर्वं प्रैतु ब्रह्मणस्पतिरित्ययं प्रगाथो विनियुक्तः । सूत्रं तूत्तिष्ठ ब्रह्मणस्पत इत्यत्रैवोदाहृतं ॥ महावीरमादाय शालां प्रतिगच्छंत्सु प्रैतु ब्रह्मणस्पतिरित्येतां पठन् होतानुगच्छेत् । सूत्रं च । प्रैतु ब्रह्मणस्पतिरित्यनुव्रजेत् । आ. ४-७ । इति ॥ एषैवाग्नीषोमीयप्रणयनेऽपि नियुक्ता । सूत्रितं च । प्रैतु ब्रह्मणस्पतिर्होता देवो अमर्त्यः । आ. ४-१० । इति ॥

caturviṃśe 'hani marutvatīye uttiṣṭha brahmaṇaspata ity asmāt pragāthāt pūrvaṃ praitu brahmaṇaspatir ity ayaṃ pragātho viniyuktaḥ | sūtraṃ tūttiṣṭha brahmaṇaspata ity atraivodāhṛtaṃ || mahāvīram ādāya śālāṃ pratigacchantsu praitu brahmaṇaspatir ity etāṃ paṭhan hotānugacchet | sūtraṃ ca | praitu brahmaṇaspatir ity anuvrajet | ā. 4-7 | iti || eṣaivāgnīṣomīyapraṇayane 'pi niyuktā | sūtritaṃ ca | praitu brahmaṇaspatir hotā devo amartyaḥ | ā. 4-10 | iti ||

Translation: "On the twenty-fourth day, in the Marutvatīya, this pragātha 'praitu brahmaṇaspatiḥ' is applied before the pragātha beginning 'uttiṣṭha brahmaṇaspate'; the sūtra has been quoted just there [in the introduction]. When [the priests] are going back to the sacrificial hall with the Mahāvīra [pot], the hotṛ, reciting this ṛk 'praitu brahmaṇaspatiḥ', follows; and the sūtra: 'praitu brahmaṇaspatir ity anuvrajet' (Ā. 4-7). It is also applied in the Agnīṣomīya praṇayana [the leading forward of the Agni-Soma victim]; it is laid down: 'praitu brahmaṇaspatir hotā devo amartyaḥ' (Ā. 4-10)."

> ब्रह्मणस्पतिर्देवः प्रैतु । अस्मान्प्राप्नोतु । सूनृता देवी प्रियसत्यरूपा वाग्देवता प्रैतु । अस्मान्प्राप्नोतु । देवा ब्रह्मणस्पत्यादयो देवताः वीरं शत्रुं निःशेषेण दूरे प्रेरयन्तु । तं नर्यं मनुष्येभ्यो हितं पङ्क्तिराधसं ब्राह्मणोक्तहविष्पङ्क्त्यादिभिः समृद्धं यज्ञं प्रति नोऽस्मान् अच्छाभिमुख्येन नयन्तु ॥ प्रैतु । एजि पररूपं । पा. ६-१-९४ । इति पररूपे प्राप्ते एत्येधत्यूठ्सु । पा. ६-१-८९ । इति वृद्धिः । देव्येत्वित्यत्रोदात्तस्वरितयोर्यणः स्वरितोऽनुदात्तस्येति स्वरितत्वं । नर्यं । नरेभ्यो हितं । प्राक्क्रीतीये उगवादिलक्षणो यत्प्रत्ययो द्रष्टव्यः । पा. ५-१-२ । पङ्क्तिराधसं । पङ्क्तिभी राध्नोतीति पङ्क्तिराधाः । गतिकारकयोरपि पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं च । उ. ४-२२६ । इत्यसुन् पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं च । यज्ञं । यजयाचेत्यादिना यजतेर्नङ् ॥

brahmaṇaspatir devaḥ praitu | asmān prāpnotu | sūnṛtā devī priyasatyarūpā vāgdevatā praitu | asmān prāpnotu | devā brahmaṇaspatyādayo devatāḥ vīraṃ śatruṃ niḥśeṣeṇa dūre prerayantu | taṃ naryaṃ manuṣyebhyo hitaṃ paṅktirādhasaṃ brāhmaṇoktahaviṣpaṅktyādibhiḥ samṛddhaṃ yajñaṃ prati no 'smān acchābhimukhyena nayantu || praitu | eji pararūpaṃ | pā. 6-1-94 | iti pararūpe prāpte etyedhatyūṭhsu | pā. 6-1-89 | iti vṛddhiḥ | devyetv ity atrodāttasvaritayor yaṇaḥ svarito 'nudāttasyeti svaritatvaṃ | naryaṃ | narebhyo hitaṃ | prākkrītīye ugavādilakṣaṇo yatpratyayo draṣṭavyaḥ | pā. 5-1-2 | paṅktirādhasaṃ | paṅktibhī rādhnotīti paṅktirādhāḥ | gatikārakayor api pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ ca | u. 4-226 | ity asun pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ ca | yajñaṃ | yajayācety ādinā yajater naṅ ||

(Re-read from the better scan, PDF 401–402: "atraivodāhṛtaṃ", "anuvrajet", "eṣaivāgnīṣomīya", "devyetv ity atra"; Ā. 4-7 and 4-10, U. 4-226 zoom-checked.)

Translation: "Brahmaṇaspatir devaḥ praitu — let the god Brahmaṇaspati come forward: let him come to us. Sūnṛtā devī — the goddess in the form of pleasant truth, the deity of speech — praitu, let her come: let her reach us. Devāḥ — the deities, Brahmaṇaspati and the others — vīram — the enemy — drive away completely, far off. Naryam — beneficial to men — paṅktirādhasam — rich in the rows of oblations and so on spoken of in the Brāhmaṇas — yajñam prati, towards the sacrifice, naḥ, us, acchā, facing it, nayantu, let them lead. Praitu: eji pararūpam [Pā. 6-1-94] would give pararūpa; but by etyedhatyūṭhsu [Pā. 6-1-89] vṛddhi. Devy etu: the svarita by udāttasvaritayor yaṇaḥ svarito 'nudāttasya. Naryam: 'beneficial to men'; the suffix yat by the ugavādi rule in the prākkrītīya section [Pā. 5-1-2]. Paṅktirādhasam:'paṅktibhī rādhnoti', he succeeds by the rows; accent of the first member also with a* gati* or kāraka; the Uṇādi asun [Uṇ. 4-226 [?]]; the accent of the first member. Yajñam: naṅ after yaj by yajayācetyādinā."

Page 387 (better scan PDF 402)

Pratipadārtha (p. 387) — "brahmaṇaspatiḥ — Brahmaṇaspati, the god; praitu — let him come to us; sūnṛtā — [she who is] pleasant and in the form of truth; devī — the goddess of speech; praitu — let her come to us; devāḥ — the deities such as Brahmaṇaspati; vīram — [the] strong enemy; (let them drive [him] far away); naryam — [the sacrifice] that does good to men; paṅktirādhasam — full of rows of oblations (as spoken in the Brāhmaṇas); yajñam acchā — facing the sacrifice; naḥ — us; nayantu — let them lead."

Bhāvārtha (p. 387) — “May the god Brahmaṇaspati, the goddess of speech who is dear and in the form of truth, and the other deities, by their grace drive far away the enemy, who is strong and the destroyer of the sacrifice. May they lead us safely towards the sacrifice that does good to us and that is filled with rows of oblations as spoken in the Brāhmaṇas.”

English Translation (the source’s own, p. 387) — “May Brahmanaspathi approach us ; may the goddess of speech who always speaks the truth come to us ; may the Gods drive away every enemy and conduct us to the sacrifice which is benifical [sic] to man and which is well supplied with five fold oblations.”

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 387–388 - Application — “On the twenty-fourth day of the sacrifice, in the Marutvatīya śastra-mantra recitation, on that occasion (sandarbha), the application is stated here itself (in the introduction of this sūkta) that the ṛks uttiṣṭha brahmaṇaspate and praitu brahmaṇaspatiḥ, which are in the Prāgātha (Bṛhatī) metre, are to be recited. In the sacrifice called Pravargya, when the Hotṛ takes the Mahāvīra — the large clay vessel (pot) used in the sacrifice — and goes to the sacrificial hall, he should recite this ṛk praitu brahmaṇaspatiḥ and follow: this is explained in the Āśvalāyana Śrauta-sūtra (printed”A. 4-7”) by the sūtra ‘praitu brahmaṇaspatir ity anuvrajet’. In the leading forward of the Agni-Soma [victim] too this ṛk has application, as set forth by the sūtra of the Āśvalāyana Śrauta-sūtra (Āś. 4-10) ‘praitu brahmaṇaspatir hotā devo amartyaḥ’.” - sūnṛtā — “although the word sūnṛtā means the goddess Uṣas (Ni. 2-19) and also ‘food’ (Ni. 3-9), since in this ṛk it is an attribute of devī, the commentator has explained it as ‘the goddess of speech, in the form of pleasant truth’.” - vīram — “the commentator has given for this word ‘enemy’: a powerful enemy.” - naryam = narebhyo hitam — “[the sacrifice] that does good to men.” - paṅktirādhasam = brāhmaṇoktahaviṣpaṅktyādibhiḥ samṛddham — “In the Brāhmaṇas, such as the Aitareya, the word paṅkti is used in the sense ‘five’, as related to oblations of many kinds. Rādhas means wealth. One may say ‘having five kinds of wealth’ or ‘having wealth in the form of rows of oblations’. The word paṅktirādhasam is not read anywhere else in the Ṛgveda but in this ṛk; therefore it is hard to give the exact sense of this word.”

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 388–389 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - praitu: root iṇ gatau, loṭ, third-person singular, etu; when pra + etu the eṅi pararūpam — एङि पररूपम् — (Pā. Sū. 6-1-94): before an eṅ-initial root after a prefix ending in a, the pararūpa; this is barred by etyedhatyūṭhsu — एत्येधत्यूठ्सु — (Pā. Sū. 6-1-89): when eti, edhati or ūṭh follows, vṛddhi for the preceding and following vowels: a + e = ai. - devy etu: devī + etu; iko yaṇ aci (Pā. Sū. 6-1-77) gives y; the word devī is final-acute; udāttasvaritayor yaṇaḥ svarito ’nudāttasya — उदात्तस्वरितयोर्यणः स्वरितोऽनुदात्तस्य — (Pā. Sū. 8-2-4): in the Saṃhitā the unaccented vowel after a yaṇ standing for an acute or svarita becomes svarita; so the following syllable is svarita. - naryam: “narebhyo hitam”: ugavādibhyo yat — उगवादिभ्यो यत् — (Pā. Sū. 5-1-2; p. 389): after words ending in u and the gavādi group, yat in the senses prescribed up to tena krītam; the print explains that this sūtra has no sense indicated and is related to the following sūtras with their sense-indications; so also in tasmai hitam (Pā. Sū. 5-1-5), ugavādibhyo yat is carried over: after a base ending in u or in the gavādi group, yat in the sense hita with the fourth case; nara + ya; yasyeti ca the loss of the a. - paṅktirādhasam: “paṅktiviṃśati…” — पङ्क्तिविंशतित्रिंशच्चत्वारिंशत्पञ्चाशत्षष्टिसप्तत्यशीतिनवतिशतम् — (Pā. Sū. 5-1-59): the word paṅkti is given as a nipāta ending in ti; pañcan + ti; loss of ṭi; pañc + ti; coḥ kuḥ: k; anusvāra and parasavarṇa: paṅkti; the analysis “pañcaparimāṇasya paṅktiḥ”; this analysis serves only to give the etymology, since the word is a rūḍhi word and is used in many senses — number four, ten, metre and the like are denoted by it. "Paṅktibhī rādhnoti": a kāraka [instrumental] as upapada: gatikārakopapadayoḥ pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ ca — (U. Sū. 4-666, as printed here; the bhāṣya gives U. 4-226): when a gati or kāraka is the upapada, after the root asi [asun] and the accent of the first member; the root rādha saṃsiddhau, then asi, and the accent of the first member. - yajñam: yaja devapūjādau; yajayācayatavichaprachrakṣo naṅ — यजयाचयतविच्छप्रच्छरक्षो नङ् — (Pā. Sū. 3-3-90): naṅ after these roots; yaj + na; stoḥ ścunā ścuḥ: the n becomes the fifth of the c-class; the combination of j and ñ is jña: yajña. Rik 3 ends here (|| 3 ||).

Rik 40.4 (p. 389 foot, PDF 403–)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 389; Saṃhitā accents as printed (checked at 900 dpi); Pada unaccented. The print sets śravaḥ and hasam on lines of their own.)

> यो वा॒घते॒ ददा॑ति सू॒नर॑ं वसु॒ स ध॑त्ते॒ अक्षि॑ति॒ श्रव॑: । तस्मा॒ इळा॑ सु॒वीरा॒मा य॑जामहे सु॒प्रतू॑र्तिमने॒हस॑म् ॥ ४ ॥
>
> yo vāgháte dádāti sūnáraṃ vásu sá dhatte ákṣiti śravaḥ | tasmā íḷāṃ suvīrām ā́ yajāmahe suprátūrtim anehasam || 4 ||

(The Pada, the bhāṣya and the rest of Rik 4 begin on p. 390 and are not yet written.)

Rik 40.4, continued (from the foot of p. 389; the Saṃhitā is above)

Page 390 (better scan PDF 405)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 390)

> यः । वाघते । ददाति । सूनरम् । वसु । सः । धत्ते । अक्षिति । श्रवः । तस्मै । इळाम् । सुऽवीराम् । आ । यजामहे । सुऽप्रतूर्तिम् । अनेहसम् ॥ ४ ॥

yaḥ | vāghate | dadāti | sūnaram | vasu | saḥ | dhatte | akṣiti | śravaḥ | tasmai | iḷām | su-vīrām | ā | yajāmahe | su-pratūrtim | anehasam || 4 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 390)

> यो यजमानो वाघते ऋत्विजे सूनरं सुष्ठु नेतव्यं वसु धनं ददाति स यजमानो ब्रह्मणस्पतेः प्रसादादक्षिति क्षयरहितं श्रवोऽन्नं धत्ते । धारयति । तस्मै तादृशयजमानायेळामेतन्नामधेयां मनोः पुत्रीं । इळा वै मानवी यज्ञानुकाशिन्यासीदिति श्रुत्यन्तरात् । आ यजामहे । वयमृत्विजः सर्वतो यजामः । कीदृशीमिळां । सुवीरां शोभनैर्वीरैर्भटैर्युक्तां सुप्रतूर्तिं सुष्ठु प्रकर्षेण हिंसाकारिणीं अनेहसं केनाप्यहिंस्यां ॥ ददाति । अनुदात्ते चेत्यभ्यस्तस्याद्युदात्तत्वं । यद्वृत्तयोगादनिघातः । सूनरं । सुखेन नीयत इति सूनरं । ईषद्दुःसुषु कृच्छ्राकृच्छ्रार्थेषु खल् । पा. ३-३-१२६ । निपातस्य चेत्युपसर्गस्य दीर्घत्वं । अक्षिति । क्षयो नास्त्यस्येत्यक्षिति । बहुव्रीहौ पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं । नञ्सुभ्यामिति तु सर्वे विधयश्छन्दसि विकल्प्यन्त इति वचनान्न प्रवर्तते । श्रवः । श्रूयत इति श्रवः । श्रु श्रवणे । असुनो नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वं । सुवीरां ।

शोभना वीरा यस्याः सा सुवीरा । तां । वीरवीर्यौ चेत्युत्तरपदाद्युदात्तत्वं । सुप्रतूर्तिं । तुर्वी हिंसार्थः । प्रपूर्वादस्माद्भावे क्तिन् । शोभना प्रतूर्तिः शत्रूणां हिंसनं यस्याः सा । तां । परादिश्छन्दसि बहुलमित्युत्तरपदाद्युदात्तत्वं । क्रत्वादिर्वा द्रष्टव्यः । अनेहसं । न हन्यत इत्यनेहाः । नञि हन एह च । उ. ४-२२३ । इत्यसुन्प्रत्ययो धातोरेहादेशश्च । नलोपो नञः । पा. ६-३-७३ । इति नकारस्य लोपः । तस्मान्नुडचि । पा. ६-३-७४ । इति नुट् ॥

yo yajamāno vāghate ṛtvije sūnaraṃ suṣṭhu netavyaṃ vasu dhanaṃ dadāti sa yajamāno brahmaṇaspateḥ prasādād akṣiti kṣayarahitaṃ śravo 'nnaṃ dhatte | dhārayati | tasmai tādṛśayajamānāyeḷām etannāmadheyāṃ manoḥ putrīṃ | iḷā vai mānavī yajñānukāśinyāsīd iti śrutyantarāt | ā yajāmahe | vayam ṛtvijaḥ sarvato yajāmaḥ | kīdṛśīm iḷāṃ | suvīrāṃ śobhanair vīrair bhaṭair yuktāṃ supratūrtiṃ suṣṭhu prakarṣeṇa hiṃsākāriṇīṃ anehasaṃ kenāpy ahiṃsyāṃ || dadāti | anudātte cety abhyastasyādyudāttatvaṃ | yadvṛttayogād anighātaḥ | sūnaraṃ | sukhena nīyata iti sūnaraṃ | īṣad-duḥ-suṣu kṛcchrākṛcchrārtheṣu khal | pā. 3-3-126 | nipātasya cety upasargasya dīrghatvaṃ | akṣiti | kṣayo nāstyasyety akṣiti | bahuvrīhau pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ | nañ-subhyām iti tu sarve vidhayaś chandasi vikalpyanta iti vacanān na pravartate | śravaḥ | śrūyata iti śravaḥ | śru śravaṇe | asuno nittvād ādyudāttatvaṃ | suvīrāṃ | śobhanā vīrā yasyāḥ sā suvīrā | tāṃ | vīravīryau cety uttarapadādyudāttatvaṃ | supratūrtiṃ | turvī hiṃsārthaḥ | prapūrvād asmād bhāve ktin | śobhanā pratūrtiḥ śatrūṇāṃ hiṃsanaṃ yasyāḥ sā | tāṃ | parādiś chandasi bahulam ity uttarapadādyudāttatvaṃ | kratvādir vā draṣṭavyaḥ | anehasaṃ | na hanyata ity anehāḥ | nañi hana eha ca | u. 4-223 | ity asunpratyayo dhātor ehādeśaś ca | nalopo nañaḥ | pā. 6-3-73 | iti nakārasya lopaḥ | tasmān nuḍaci | pā. 6-3-74 | iti nuṭ ||

Translation: "The sacrificer who gives to the priest (vāghate) wealth that is sūnaram, easily led [= easily won, easy to take], that sacrificer, by the favour of Brahmaṇaspati, akṣiti, undiminished, śravaḥ, food, dhatte, obtains. Tasmai, for such a sacrificer, iḷām, [the goddess] Iḷā, the daughter of Manu ('Iḷā indeed, the daughter of Manu, was the follower of the sacrifice' — from another Śruti), ā yajāmahe, we the priests worship on all sides. What kind of Iḷā? Suvīrām, accompanied by fine heroes, warriors; supratūrtim, greatly and strongly destroying [enemies]; anehasam, that cannot be injured by anyone. Dadāti: the first syllable of the reduplicated form is acute by anudātte ca; no nighāta because of the connection with yat. Sūnaram: 'sukhena nīyate'; khal by īṣad-duḥ-suṣu kṛcchrākṛcchrārtheṣu [Pā. 3-3-126]; the lengthening of the preverb by nipātasya ca. Akṣiti: 'of which there is no kṣaya'; a bahuvrīhi, the accent of the first member; the rule nañ-subhyām does not apply, since all operations are optional in the Veda. Śravaḥ: 'śrūyate'; root śru śravaṇe; the suffix asun is nit, so first-syllable acute. Suvīrām: 'of whom the heroes are good'; the first syllable of the latter member by vīravīryau ca. Supratūrtim: turvī is in the sense of injuring; after it with pra, ktin in the abstract; 'of whom the smiting of enemies is excellent'; the accent of the latter member by parādiś chandasi bahulam; or it may be regarded as belonging to the kratvādi group. Anehasam: 'na hanyate', anehāḥ; by nañi hana eha ca (U. 4-223) the suffix asun and the substitute eha for the root; the loss of the n of nañ by [Pā. 6-3-73]; then the augment nuṭ before a vowel by [Pā. 6-3-74]."

Page 391 (better scan PDF 406)

Pratipadārtha (p. 391) — "yaḥ — which sacrificer; vāghate — to the priest; sūnaram — to be accepted with joy; vasu — wealth; dadāti — gives; saḥ — that sacrificer (by Brahmaṇaspati's favour); akṣiti — undiminishing; śravaḥ — food; dhatte — obtains; tasmai — for that sacrificer; suvīrām — with excellent heroes, accompanied by warriors; supratūrtim — one who destroys [enemies] well; anehasam — one who is not injured by others; iḷām — [the goddess Iḷā], aiming at Iḷā-devī; ā yajāmahe — we sacrifice well."

Bhāvārtha (p. 391) — "When a sacrificer, at the time of the rite, gives to the priests who help his sacrifice wealth in rich measure, they accept it with joy. Such a sacrificer, by Brahmaṇaspati's favour, obtains food that does not diminish. Since the goddess Iḷā, who destroys the crowd of enemies, is accompanied by exceedingly excellent heroes, enemies cannot injure her; she can wholly destroy enemies. Thus, aiming at the goddess Iḷā, daughter of Manu, who helps to bring the sacrifice to its end without hindrance, we perform the sacrifice for the sacrificer."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 391) — "He who presents to the priest wealth fit to be accepted recieves [sic] inexhaustible wealth ; for him, therefore we worship Ila possessed of brave worriors [sic], who inflicts injuries on enemies but cannot be herself injured."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 391–392 - vāghate = ṛtvije — "since among the eight names of the priest beginning with bhāratāḥ, karavaḥ, the word vāghataḥ is read (Ni. 3-19), vāghate means 'to the priest'." - sūnaram = suṣṭhu nīyate iti sūnaram — "easy to take, convenient." - akṣiti = kṣayo nāstyasyeti akṣiti — "without decay; always, not less, very much." - iḷām — "the word iḷā has many senses: earth (printed"Ni. 2-5"), speech (printed "Ni. 2-23"), food (Ni. 3-9), cow (Ni. 3-9), and the deity named Iḷā (Ni. 11-48). Here it must be explained as aiming at the deity Iḷā." - suvīrām = śobhanā vīrā yasyāḥ sā suvīrā tām | śobhanair bhaṭair yuktām — "the goddess Iḷā united with brave warriors of war." - supratūrtim — "turvī hiṃsārthaḥ; śobhanā pratūrtiḥ śatrūṇāṃ hiṃsanaṃ yasyāḥ sā tām | prakarṣeṇa śatrūṇāṃ hiṃsākāriṇīm — who strongly destroys enemies, that is, who ruins them." - anehasam — "na hanyata ity anehāḥ | kenāpy ahiṃsyām — who by no one can be injured, unstruck. The words suvīrām, supratūrtim, anehasam are attributes of the word iḷām."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 392–393 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - dadāti: root ḍudāñ dāne; laṭ, tip; śap → ślu, doubling, shortening: dadāti; tip is pit and unaccented. By anudātte ca — अनुदात्ते च — (Pā. Sū. 6-1-190): "in the sūtra na vidyate udāttaḥ yasmin saḥ anudāttaḥ, a bahuvrīhi: when a la-substitute sārvadhātuka with no acute follows, the first syllable of the reduplicate is acute", so first-syllable acute. Since māhismadāś [as printed] is constant, the explanation of anudātte is given so that first-syllable acute comes even after the loss of the i. By connection with yat the wholly-unaccented does not come. - sūnaram: root ṇīñ prāpaṇe, kryādi [the print says nyā nayane]; "sukhena nīyate": īṣad-duḥ-suṣu kṛcchrākṛcchrārtheṣu khal (Pā. Sū. 3-3-126): khal; sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ gives guṇa; in the Saṃhitā the lengthening of su by nipātasya ca (Pā. Sū. 6-3-136). - akṣiti: kṣi kṣaye akarmakaḥ, first class (the print: kṣi kṣaye, intransitive, first class); ktin; "na vidyate kṣitiḥ kṣayo yasya tat": a bahuvrīhi; nañ-subhyām — नञ्सुभ्याम् — (Pā. Sū. 6-2-172) would give a different accent, but since sarve vidhayaś chandasi vikalpyante (Paribhāṣā 35) it does not apply; bahuvrīhau prakṛtyā pūrvapadam — बहुव्रीहौ प्रकृत्या पूर्वपदम् — [Pā. 6-2-1] gives the accent of the first member. - śravaḥ: "śrūyate iti śravaḥ": the Uṇādi asun after śru śravaṇe (the print gives sarvadhātubhyo 'sun by name, no number); being nit, first-syllable acute. - suvīrām: "śobhanāḥ vīrāḥ yasyāṃ sā suvīrā": she who is accompanied by excellent heroic warriors;

accusative singular; vīravīryau ca — (no number printed on p. 393) gives first-syllable acute to the latter member. - supratūrtim: root turvī hiṃsārthaḥ, bhvādi; after it with the prefix pra, ktin in the abstract sense; "śobhanā = excellent, i.e. great; pratūrtiḥ = slaying of enemies; yasyāṃ sā, that in whom it is": an attribute of iḷām; parādiś chandasi bahulam (Pā. Sū. 6-1-199) gives the latter member first-syllable acute, as one may say; or else, by kratvādayaś ca — क्रत्वादयश्च — (Pā. Sū. 6-2-118), the words of the kratvādi group that follow su are first-syllable acute. - anehasam: nañ + han + eha ca (U. Sū. 4-663, as printed here; the bhāṣya gives U. 4-223): when nañ is upapada, after the root han the suffix asi [asun], and eh becomes the substitute for han: na + eh + as; nalopo nañaḥ (Pā. Sū. 6-3-73): the loss of the n of nañ when a latter member follows: only a + eh + as; tasmān nuḍaci (Pā. Sū. 6-3-74): after nañ whose n has been lost, a vowel-initial latter member takes nuṭ: a + n + eh + as = anehas; accusative singular. "Kālo diṣṭo 'py anehāpi" (Amara): anehas is used in the sense of "time" in the lexicon; but, as it has the sense of an etymological meaning (avayavārtha) and an adjoining word that needs it, the conventional sense is not taken here; as in "padmāni yatrāgrasaroruhāṇi", where saroruha is conventional yet its etymological sense is taken; so here too. Rik 4 ends here (|| 4 ||).

Rik 40.5 (pp. 394–397, PDF 408–411)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 394; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. The print sets okāṃsi cakrire on a third line.)

प्र नूनं ब्रह्मणस्पतिर्मन्त्रं वदत्युक्थ्यं । यस्मिन्निन्द्रो वरुणो मित्रो अर्यमा देवा ओकांसि चक्रिरे ॥ ५ ॥

pra nūnáṃ bráhmaṇas patir mántraṃ vadaty ukthyaṃ | yasminn índro váruṇo mitró aryamā́ devā́ ókāṃsi cakriré || 5 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 394)

प्र । नूनम् । ब्रह्मणः । पतिः । मन्त्रम् । वदति । उक्थ्यम् । यस्मिन् । इन्द्रः । वरुणः । मित्रः । अर्यमा । देवाः । ओकांसि । चक्रिरे ॥ ५ ॥

pra | nūnam | brahmaṇaḥ | patiḥ | mantram | vadati | ukthyam | yasmin | indraḥ | varuṇaḥ | mitraḥ | aryamā | devāḥ | okāṃsi | cakrire || 5 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 394)

अग्नीषोमे मरुत्वतीयशस्त्र इन्द्रनिविद्प्रगाथानन्तरं प्र नूनमिति प्रगाथः । मरुत्वतीयेनेति खण्डे सूत्रितं । प्र नूनं ब्रह्मणस्पतिरिति ब्राह्मणस्पत्यः । आ. ५-१४ । इति ॥

agnīṣome marutvatīyaśastra indranivid-pragāthānantaraṃ pra nūnam iti pragāthaḥ | marutvatīyeneti khaṇḍe sūtritaṃ | pra nūnaṃ brahmaṇaspatir iti brāhmaṇaspatyaḥ | ā. 5-14 | iti ||

(The first sentence is the Sāyaṇa note on the application of this ṛk; the Sanskrit "indranivid-pragāthā" is doubtful in the print [?].)

ब्रह्मणस्पतिर्देव उक्थ्यं शस्त्रयोग्यं मन्त्रं नूनमवश्यं प्र वदति । होतृमुखे स्थितः सन् प्रब्रूते । यस्मिन्मन्त्र इन्द्रादयश्च सर्वे देवा ओकांसि स्थानानि चक्रिरे । तादृशं सर्वदेवप्रतिपादकं मन्त्रमिति पूर्वत्रान्वयः ॥ मन्त्रं

। मन्त्रि गुप्तभाषणे । पचाद्यच् । वृषादिषु पाठादाद्युदात्तत्वं । उक्थ्यं । उक्थार्हं । छन्दसि चेत्यैहार्थे यप्रत्ययः । यद्वा । भवे छन्दसीति यत् । सर्वे विधयश्छन्दसि विकल्प्यन्त इति वचनाद्यतोऽनाव इत्याद्युदात्तत्वाभावे व्यत्ययेन तित्स्वरितमिति स्वरितत्वं । ओकांसि । उच समवाये । समवयन्त्यस्मिन्नित्यधिकरण औणादिकोऽसुन् । बहुलग्रहणात् कुत्वं द्रष्टव्यमिति । ओके उचः के । पा. ७-३-६४ । इत्यत्र वृत्त्वा इत्युक्तं । चक्रिरे । इरेचित्त्वात्प्रत्ययस्वरः । यद्वृत्तयोगानिघातः ॥ ५ ॥

brahmaṇaspatir devaḥ ukthyaṃ śastrayogyaṃ mantraṃ nūnam avaśyaṃ pra vadati | hotṛmukhe sthitaḥ san prabrūte | yasmin mantra indrādayaś ca sarve devā okāṃsi sthānāni cakrire | tādṛśaṃ sarvadevapratipādakaṃ mantram iti pūrvatrānvayaḥ || mantraṃ | matri guptabhāṣaṇe | pacādyac | vṛṣādiṣu pāṭhād ādyudāttatvaṃ | ukthyaṃ | ukthārhaṃ | chandasi cety aihārthe yapratyayaḥ | yadvā | bhave chandasīti yat | sarve vidhayaś chandasi vikalpyanta iti vacanād yato 'nāva ity ādyudāttatvābhāve vyatyayena titsvaritam iti svaritatvaṃ | okāṃsi | uca samavāye | samavayanty asminn ity adhikaraṇa auṇādiko 'sun | bahulagrahaṇāt kutvaṃ draṣṭavyam iti | oke ucaḥ ke | pā. 7-3-64 | ity atra vṛttvā ity uktaṃ | cakrire | irecittvāt pratyayasvaraḥ | yadvṛttayogān nighātaḥ || 5 ||

(The print's closing numeral of this bhāṣya reads like "10" or "30"; I read it as the Rik number 5 [?].)

Translation: "The god Brahmaṇaspati nūnam, surely, pra vadati, utters a mantra, ukthyam, fit for the śastra; standing in the mouth of the hotṛ he utters it — the mantra in which Indra and all the other gods have made their abodes (okāṃsi, places). 'Such a mantra, expressing all the gods': so it is to be connected with the preceding. Mantram: root matri guptabhāṣaṇe; ac of the pacādi class; first-syllable acute by belonging to the vṛṣādi group. Ukthyam: 'worthy of uktha'; the suffix ya in the sense 'fit for' by chandasi ca; or yat by bhave chandasi; since all operations are optional in the Veda, the first-syllable acute [by yato 'nāvaḥ] does not come, and by vyatyaya the svarita by tit svaritam. Okāṃsi: root uca samavāye; the Uṇādi asun in the locative sense, 'in which they come together'; because of the word bahulam, kutva is to be seen; and in oke ucaḥ ke [Pā. 7-3-64] the commentator [Vṛttikāra] has said 'bahulagrahaṇāt kutvam'. Cakrire: the suffix accent, since ire is cit; no nighāta because of the connection with yat."

Pratipadārtha (pp. 394–395) — "brahmaṇaspatiḥ — the god Brahmaṇaspati; yasmin — in which mantra; indraḥ — Indra; varuṇaḥ — Varuṇa; mitraḥ — Mitra; aryamā — Aryaman [and the rest]; devāḥ — all deities; okāṃsi — places of dwelling; cakrire — have made [for themselves] (such a mantra expressing all the deities); ukthyam — fit for praise; mantram — the mantra; nūnam — certainly; pra vadati — (staying in the mouth of the hotṛ) says clearly."

Bhāvārtha (p. 395) — "In the mantra recited by the hotṛ at the time of the sacrifice, Indra, Varuṇa, Mitra, Aryaman and further all the deities have made their dwelling places; that is, the mantra expresses all the deities. Brahmaṇaspati, favouring the hotṛ and standing in his mouth, clearly recites this mantra, which is fit for praise and which expresses all the deities."

Page 395 (better scan PDF 410)

English Translation (the source's own, p. 395) — "Now, Brahmanaspati will sing forth a sacred prayer in which the gods Indra, Varuna, Mitra, and Aryaman have made their abode (have been praised)" (printed with the missing letters in "been" and "praised" — "have b:en praised" — as a scan defect; no full stop).

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 395–396 - Application — "In the Agniṣṭoma sacrifice, at the time of reciting the Marutvatīya śastra mantras, in order to praise Indra and the other deities in the Bṛhatī metre, the ṛks beginning pra nūnam brahmaṇaspatiḥ are to be recited: so it is explained in the section called Marutvatīya of the Āśvalāyana Śrauta-sūtra by the sūtra 'pra nūnaṃ brahmaṇaspatir iti brāhmaṇaspatyaḥ' (Ā. 5-14)." - varuṇo mitro aryamā — "Generally these three deities are praised together in many mantras. We give some examples: (1) आनो बर्हिरिशादसो वरुणो मित्रो अर्यमा । — ā no barhir riśādaso varuṇo mitro aryamā (Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-26-4) — mine and tentative:"to our barhis [come] Varuṇa, Mitra, Aryaman, devourers of enemies"; (2) देवासस्त्वा वरुणो मित्रो अर्यमा सं दूतं प्रत्नमिन्धते । — devāsas tvā varuṇo mitro aryamā saṃ dūtaṃ pratnam indhate (Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-36-4) — "the gods, Varuṇa, Mitra, Aryaman, kindle you, the ancient messenger"; (3) यं रक्षन्ति प्रचेतसो वरुणो मित्रो अर्यमा । — yaṃ rakṣanti pracetaso varuṇo mitro aryamā (Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-41-1) — "whom the wise Varuṇa, Mitra, Aryaman protect"; (4) कृणोतु मित्रो अर्यमा भगो नस्तुविजातो वरुणो दक्षो अंशः । — kṛṇotu mitro aryamā bhago nas tuvijāto varuṇo dakṣo aṃśaḥ (Ṛ. Saṃ. 2-27-1) — "may Mitra, Aryaman, Bhaga, the mighty-born Varuṇa, Dakṣa, Aṃśa make [it] for us"; (5) बृहस्पतिः शर्म पूषोत नो यमद्वरूथ्यं वरुणो मित्रो अर्यमा । — bṛhaspatiḥ śarma pūṣota no yamad varūthyaṃ varuṇo mitro aryamā (Ṛ. Saṃ. 5-46-5) — "may Bṛhaspati, Pūṣan, and Varuṇa, Mitra, Aryaman, grant us a sheltering refuge"; (6) सजोषसा वरुणो मित्रो अर्यमा । — sajoṣasā varuṇo mitro aryamā (Ṛ. Saṃ. 8-26-11) — "united: Varuṇa, Mitra, Aryaman"; (7) रसं ते मित्रो अर्यमा पिबन्ति वरुणः कवे । — rasaṃ te mitro aryamā pibanti varuṇaḥ kave (Ṛ. Saṃ. 9-64-24) — "Mitra, Aryaman, Varuṇa drink your juice, O seer"; (8) आर्यमणं वरुणं मित्रमेषामिन्द्राविष्णू मरुतो अश्विनोत । — āryamaṇaṃ varuṇaṃ mitram eṣām indrāviṣṇū maruto aśvinota (Ṛ. Saṃ. 4-2-4) — "of these, Aryaman, Varuṇa, Mitra, Indra and Viṣṇu, the Maruts and the Aśvins." The source leaves all eight untranslated; the glosses are mine and tentative the reference numerals are zoom-checked on the better scan (PDF 410–411). "Such examples are as many as are needed in the Ṛgveda." - devā okāṃsi cakrire — "the deities have made their dwelling places in this mantra; that is, the deities are praised in these mantras: this is the sense, that the praise is addressed to the deities."

Page 396 (better scan PDF 411)

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 396–397 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - mantram: root matri guptabhāṣaṇe, tenth class [print: "10th class"]; idit, so idito num dhātoḥ (no number printed) gives the augment num; nandigrahipacādibhyo lyuṇinyacaḥ (no number printed) the suffix ac of the pacādi kind; since the suffix is cit it would be final-acute by citaḥ, but the vṛṣādi group is an ākṛtigaṇa, so this word is added to it, and by vṛṣādīnāṃ ca it is first-syllable acute. - ukthyam: root vaca paribhāṣaṇe; pātṛtudivacirecisicibhyas thak — पात्रुदिवचिरिचिसिचिभ्यस्थक् — (U. Sū. 2-164) the suffix thak; vacisvapiyajādīnāṃ kiti — the saṃprasāraṇa: u; pūrvarūpa: ukth; "uktham arhati"; chandasi ca (Pā. Sū. 5-1-67) after prātipadika words in the sense "he deserves" [taram arhati, as printed] the suffix ya; or by bhave chandasi (Pā. Sū. 4-1-110 [as printed; for 4-4-110]) yat in the locative-ending sense of bhava; the print explains that prāggitāt yat (Pā. Sū. 4-4-75) and the sūtra tasmai hitam (Pā. Sū. 5-1-5) with its sense-indication are given in a certain order, and that in bhave chandasi [Pā. 4-4-110] the sense bhava is given, so yat is carried over by adhikāra but chandasi ca has no sense-indication; hence prākkrītāc chaḥ does not reach there; yato 'nāvaḥ gives final-acute but, since all operations are optional in the Veda, it is not applied; tit svaritam gives svarita; in the first alternative by vyatyayo bahulam the svarita. (Crowded; drift only.) - okāṃsi: uca samavāye; "samavayanty atra", people gather here to dwell; the Uṇādi asun in the sense of locus; the substitute k for c by bahulagrahaṇa; the Vṛttikāra says in the sūtra oke ucaḥ ke (Pā. Sū. 7-3-64; p. 397): "bahulagrahaṇāt kutvaṃ draṣṭavyam". The print then argues that, if the suffix ka of igupadhajñā— is added to the root uc, then guṇa and kutva are specified in oke ucaḥ ke, giving oka ending in a; with ghañ by halaś ca the kutva by cajoḥ ku ghiṇṇyatoḥ comes and guṇa, oka — [accent] first-syllable acute, so not final-acute; for that reason the sūtra oke ucaḥ was made; it too ends in a. Here there is a word ending in s; the process is to be stated as before. - cakrire: root ḍukṛñ karaṇe, liṭ, ātmanepada, jha; liṭas tajhayor eśirec — लिटस्तझयोरेशिरेच् — : ire for jha; the prohibition of the substitute by dvirvacane 'ci; doubling, kṛ + kṛ + ire; uraṭ, raparatva; halādiḥ śeṣaḥ loses the r; kuhoś cuḥ c for k: ca + kṛ + ire; yaṇ: cakrire. Irec is cit, hence the final-acute accent by citaḥ; because of the connection with yat in yasmin, yadvṛttān nityam prohibits wholly-unaccented. Rik 5 ends here (|| 5 ||).

Rik 40.6 (pp. 398–402, PDF 412–416)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 398; Saṃhitā accents as printed (checked at 600–900 dpi); Pada unaccented. The print sets anehasam and vo aśnavat on lines of their own. [accent ?]: the stroke in anehasam stands over the junction of ha and sa*; placed on* ha as in Ṛk 4.)

> तमिद्वोचेमा विदथेषु शम्भुवं मन्त्रं देवा अनेहसम् । [accent ?] इमां च वाचं प्रतिहर्यथा नरो विश्वेद्वामा वो अश्नवत् ॥ ६ ॥
>
> tam íd vocemā vidatheṣu śambhúvaṃ mántraṃ devā anehasam | [accent ?] imā́ṃ ca vācaṃ pratiharyathā naro víśved vāmā́ vo aśnavat || 6 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 398)

> तम् । इत् । वोचेम । विदथेषु । शम्ऽभुवम् । मन्त्रम् । देवाः । अनेहसम् । इमाम् । च । वाचम् । प्रतिऽहर्यथ । नरः । विश्वा । इत् । वामा । वः । अश्नवत् ॥ ६ ॥

tam | it | vocema | vidatheṣu | śam-bhuvam | mantram | devāḥ | anehasam | imām | ca | vācam | prati-haryatha | naraḥ | viśvā | it | vāmā | vaḥ | aśnavat || 6 ||

(The Saṃhitā prints viśved vāmā*, the Pada* viśvā it vāmā*; the print has* vocemā in the Saṃhitā against vocema in the Pada.)

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (pp. 398–399; re-read from the better scan, PDF 413–414)

> हे देवा ब्रह्मणस्पतिप्रभृतयस्तमित् तमेवेन्द्रादिसर्वदेवताप्रतिपादकं मन्त्रं विदथेषु यज्ञेषु वोचेम । वयमृत्विजो ब्रवाम । कीदृशं । शम्भुवं सुखस्य भावयितारं अनेहसमहिंसनीयं दोषरहितं । हे नरो नेतारो देवा इमामस्माभिरुच्यमानां मन्त्ररूपां वाचं प्रतिहर्यथ च । यूयं कामयध्वे चेत् । तर्हि विश्वेत् सर्वापि वामा वननीया वाग् वो युष्मानश्नवत् । व्याप्नुयात् ॥ वोचेम । वच परिभाषणे । आशीर्लिङ् । लिङ्याशिष्यङ् ।

वच उमित्यु-आगमः । छन्दस्युभयथेति सार्वधातुकत्वाल्लिङः सलोपोऽनन्त्यस्येति यासुटः सकारस्य लोपः । अतो येय इतीयादेशः । आद्गुणः । तिङ्ङतिङ इति निघातः । विदथेषु । विद ज्ञाने । विद्यते फलसाधनत्वेन ज्ञायत इति विदथो यज्ञः । रुविदिभ्यां कित् । उ. ३-११६ । इत्यथप्रत्ययः । शम्भुवं । भवतेरन्तर्भावितण्यर्थात् क्विप्चेति क्विप् । ओः सुपि । पा. ६-४-८३ । इति यणादेशस्य न भूसुधियोः । पा. ६-४-८५ । इति प्रतिषेधः । मन्त्रादयो गताः । प्रतिहर्यथ । हर्य गतिकान्त्योः । शपः पित्त्वादनुदात्तत्वं । तिङश्च लसार्वधातुकस्वरेण धातुस्वरेणाद्युदात्तत्वं । इमां चेत्यत्र चशब्दश्चेदर्थः । चेणिति निपातान्तरं न च समुच्चयार्थः । तेन निपातैर्यद्यदिहन्तकुविन्नेच्चेच्चण्कच्चिद्यत्रयुक्तम् । पा. ८-१-३० । इति निघातप्रतिषेधः । अश्नवत् । अशू व्याप्तौ । लेट्यडागमः । व्यत्ययेन परस्मैपदं । इतश्च लोप इतीकारलोपः । इयेजुवङ्भ्यां गुणवृद्धी भवतो विप्रतिषेधेन । का. ६-४-७७ । इति गुणः ॥ ६ ॥

he devā brahmaṇaspatiprabhṛtayas tam it tam evendrādisarvadevatāpratipādakaṃ mantraṃ vidatheṣu yajñeṣu vocema | vayam ṛtvijo bravāma | kīdṛśaṃ | śambhuvaṃ sukhasya bhāvayitāraṃ anehasam ahiṃsanīyaṃ doṣarahitaṃ | he naro netāro devā imām asmābhir ucyamānāṃ mantrarūpāṃ vācaṃ pratiharyatha ca | yūyaṃ kāmayadhve cet | tarhi viśvet sarvāpi vāmā vananīyā vāg vo yuṣmān aśnavat | vyāpnuyāt || vocema | vaca paribhāṣaṇe | āśīrliṅ | liṅyāśiṣy aṅ | vaca um ity u-māgamaḥ | chandasy ubhayatheti sārvadhātukatvāl liṅaḥ salopo 'ntyasyeti yāsuṭaḥ sakārasya lopaḥ | ato yeya itīyādeśaḥ | ād guṇaḥ | tiṅ atiṅa iti nighātaḥ | vidatheṣu | vida jñāne | vidyate phalasādhanatvena jñāyata iti vidatho yajñaḥ | ruvidibhyāṃ kit | u. 3-116 | ity athapratyayaḥ | śambhuvaṃ | bhavater antarbhāvitaṇyarthāt kvip ceti kvip | oḥ supi | pā. 6-4-83 | iti yaṇādeśasya na bhūsudhiyoḥ | pā. 6-4-85 | iti pratiṣedhaḥ | mantrādayo gatāḥ | pratiharyatha | harya gatikāntyoḥ | śapaḥ pittvād anudāttatvaṃ | tiṅaś ca lasārvadhātukasvareṇa dhātusvareṇādyudāttatvaṃ | imāṃ cety atra caśabdaś cedarthaḥ | ceṇ iti nipātāntaraṃ na ca samuccayārthaḥ | tena nipātair yadyadihantakuvinnec cec caṇkaccid yatrayuktam | pā. 8-1-30 | iti nighātapratiṣedhaḥ | aśnavat | aśū vyāptau | leṭy aḍāgamaḥ | vyatyayena parasmaipadaṃ | itaś ca lopa itīkāralopaḥ | iyejuvaṅbhyāṃ guṇavṛddhī bhavato vipratiṣedhena | kā. 6-4-77 | iti guṇaḥ || 6 ||

Translation: "O gods, Brahmaṇaspati and the rest, tam it, that very mantra that expresses all the deities beginning with Indra, vidatheṣu, in the sacrifices, vocema, we, the priests, would speak. What kind? Śambhuvam, bringing about happiness; anehasam, not to be injured, free from fault. O naraḥ, leaders, gods, imāṃ vācam, this speech in the form of a mantra, uttered by us, pratiharyatha ca, if you desire it — viśvā it vāmā, then all the lovely speech vaḥ aśnavat, may it reach you. Vocema: root vaca paribhāṣaṇe; the benedictive (āśīrliṅ); aṅ after liṅ in the benedictive sense; the augment um for vaca; since by chandasy ubhayathā the liṅ is sārvadhātuka, the loss of the s of yāsuṭ; the substitute iya for ya by ato yeyaḥ; guṇa by ād guṇaḥ; the verb is unaccented by tiṅ atiṅaḥ. Vidatheṣu: root vida jñāne: 'vidyate, it is known as the means of the fruit': vidathaḥ, a sacrifice; the suffix atha by ruvidibhyāṃ kit (U. 3-116). Śambhuvam: from bhū with an implicit causative sense, kvip by kvip ca; the yaṇ-substitution by oḥ supi [Pā. 6-4-83] is prohibited by na bhūsudhiyoḥ [Pā. 6-4-85]. Pratiharyatha: root harya gatikāntyoḥ; the śap being pit is unaccented; the verb takes the accent of the root. In imāṃ ca the word ca is in the sense of cet, 'if'; it is a different particle ceṇ, not in the sense of conjunction; therefore the prohibition of nighāta by yadyadihanta... [Pā. 8-1-30]. Aśnavat: root aśū vyāptau; leṭ with the augment aṭ; parasmaipada by vyatyaya; the loss of the i by itaś ca lopaḥ; guṇa by the rule that when iyaṅ/uvaṅ and guṇa/vṛddhi conflict, the later rule [guṇa] applies (Kā. 6-4-77)."

Page 399 (better scan PDF 414)

Pratipadārtha (p. 399) — "devāḥ — O Brahmaṇaspati and the other deities; śambhuvam — one that brings happiness; anehasam — also faultless; tam it mantram — that very mantra (that expresses all the deities, Indra and the rest); vidatheṣu — in sacrifices; vocema — we, the priests, recite; naraḥ — O leaders, all deities; imām — which is recited by us, this mantra-form; vācam — speech; pratiharyatha — if you desire (have wished for); viśvet vāmā — all speech dear to you; vaḥ — you; aśnavat — may it pervade."

Bhāvārtha (p. 399) — "O Brahmaṇaspati and the other deities, we recite in the sacrifices that mantra which brings happiness, is faultless, and expresses all the deities. O deities, you are our leaders. If our speech in the form of the mantra, which we the priests recite, is good for you and desired by you, then may all our speech, dear to you, pervade you; may it bring you satisfaction."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 399) — "O gods, we will recite that delightful and faultless prayer in our sacrifices ; O brave leaders, if you desire to hear that prayer, that all that is said will reach you."

Page 400 (better scan PDF 415)

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 400 - vidatheṣu = yajñeṣu — "vidyate phalasādhanatvena jñāyate iti vidathaḥ yajñaḥ: since the word vidathaḥ is read among the fifteen names of sacrifice beginning with yajñaḥ, vena (Ni. 3-19), vidatheṣu means 'in sacrifices'." - śambhuvam = sukhasya bhāvayitāram — "that which makes happiness; delightful to hear." - anehasam = ahiṃsanīyam | doṣarahitam — "faultless, without any deficiency." - imāṃ ca vācam — "this speech in the form of praise." - pratiharyatha — "harya gatikāntyoḥ: desire, wish to hear." - vāmā = vananīyā vāk — "pervading speech, that is, speech that all wish to hear." - aśnavat = vyāpnuyāt — "let it pervade, let it reach you, let it be heard by you."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 400–402 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - vocema: root vaca paribhāṣaṇe; āśīrliṅ, uttama plural mas; nityaṃ ṅitaḥ — नित्यं ङितः — (Pā. Sū. 3-4-99): the s at the end of a ṅit [liṅ] first-person ending is always lost; yāsuṭ; liṅyāśiṣy aṅ — लिङ्याशिष्यङ् — (Pā. Sū. 3-1-86): in the Veda, after roots in the benedictive liṅ, the vikaraṇa aṅ; this is stated in general, but the vikaraṇa is seen mostly only after the roots sthā, gā, gam, vac, vid, śak, ruh; when aṅ comes: vac + a + yās + ma; vaca um — वच उम् — (Pā. Sū. 7-4-20): the augment um for vac before aṅ; chandasy ubhayathā gives the benedictive also sārvadhātuka name; liṅaḥ salopo 'nantyasya (Pā. Sū. 7-2-79): the loss of the non-final s of a sārvadhātuka liṅ; ato yeyaḥ — अतो येयः — (Pā. Sū. 7-2-80): iya for the yā of a sārvadhātuka liṅ after a short a; v + uc + a + iya + ma; lopo vyor vali loss of y; ād guṇaḥ gives o for a + u and e for a + i: vocema; tiṅ atiṅaḥ wholly unaccented. - vidatheṣu: vida jñāne, adādi [print: vida jñāne, vidyate svargādiphalagaḷige sādhana]; "vidathaḥ means yajña, the word vidatha in the sense of sacrifice"; rudiśvidibhyām kit (U. Sū. 3-395, as printed here; p. 401): atha after rudir aśruvimocane and vida jñāne; it is kit, so no guṇa of the light penultimate; the print holds that this reading of the sūtra (with gāṅkuṭādi—) agrees with the Mahābhāṣya; and notes that some commentators (the Daśapādīvṛttikāra) read rudivididbhyāṃ kit, with whom athaj of the earlier bhāṣya would not be consistent; hence these views are not the accepted ones. - śambhuvam: "śaṃ bhāvayatīti śambhūḥ”: kvip ca after bhū; śambhū + am; oḥ supi — ओः सुपि — (Pā. Sū. 6-4-83): the yaṇ substitution for the final u/ū of a root-ending stem before an ac-initial sup; prohibited by na bhūsudhiyoḥ — न भूसुधियोः — (Pā. Sū. 6-4-85); aci śnudhātu— gives uvaṅ. - mantram: “the process was given in the preceding mantra [Rik 5].” anehasam: “described in the earlier [Rik 4], where it was separated.” - pratiharyatha: root harya gatikāntyoḥ, first class; tha, śap, with the prefix prati; because śap is pit it is unaccented; tāsyanudāttet… makes the la-substitute sārvadhātuka tha unaccented; by the root accent haryatha is first-syllable acute; by tiṅ codāttavati prati is unaccented. - imāṃ ca: “the ca here is not the ca in the sense of conjunction; it is the particle ceṇ [i.e. cet, ‘if’] with its ṇ an indicatory letter, leaving ca; hence its sense is ‘if’. By nipātair yadyadihantakuvinnec cec caṇ kaccid yatrayuktam — निपातैर्यद्यदिहन्तकुविन्नेच्चेच्चण्कच्चिद्यत्रयुक्तम् — (Pā. Sū. 8-1-30) it is meant that what is joined with these particles is not unaccented”; so the wholly-unaccented does not come to pratiharyatha; the bhāṣya shows the direct connection as “pratiharyatha ca”. - aśnavat: root aśū vyāptau; leṭ, tip; the augment aṭ by leṭo ’ḍāṭau; itaś ca lopaḥ parasmaipadeṣu the loss of the i; aś + nu + at when the śnu vikaraṇa comes; āc-chnudhātu…; the substitute uvaṅ (aci śnudhātu—, Pā. Sū. 6-4-77; p. 402) and guṇa (Pā. Sū. 7-3-84) both being possible, the later rule, guṇa, prevails; from the Kāśikā text iyejuvaṅbhyāṃ guṇavṛddhī bhavato vipratiṣedhena (printed “Pā. Sū. 6-4-77”; it is the Kāśikā’s statement): “where iyaṅ/uvaṅ are taught and guṇa/vṛddhi both obtain simultaneously, by the paribhāṣā vipratiṣedhe paraṃ kāryam the latter, guṇa or vṛddhi, is applied.” Rik 6 ends here (|| 6 ||).

Rik 40.7 (pp. 402–, PDF 416–)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 402; Saṃhitā accents as printed (checked at 650–900 dpi); Pada unaccented; the sandhi asthitāntarvāvat is as printed. [accent ?]: in line 1 the stroke after devayan- stands over the junction of nta and ma (placed on ta*); in line 2 the underline near* tān- lies under the conjunct nta (placed on tā*).)*

> को दे॑वय॒न्त॑मश्नव॒ज्ज॒नं को वृ॒क्तब॑र्हिषम् । [accent ?] प्रप्र॑ दा॒श्वान्प॒स्त्या॑भिरस्थित॒ान्तर्वा॒वृ॒त्क्षय॑ दधे ॥ ७ ॥ [accent ?]
>
> kó devayántam aśnavaj jánaṃ kó vṛktábarhiṣam | [accent ?] prá pra dāśvā́n pastyābhir asthitāntárvāvat kṣáyaṃ dadhe || 7 || [accent ?]

Pada-pāṭha (p. 402)

> कः । देवऽयन्तम् । अश्नवत् । जनम् । कः । वृक्तऽबर्हिषम् । प्रऽप्र । दाश्वान् । पस्त्याभिः । अस्थित । अन्तर्वावत् । क्षयम् । दधे ॥ ७ ॥

kaḥ | deva-yantam | aśnavat | janam | kaḥ | vṛkta-barhiṣam | pra-pra | dāśvān | pastyābhiḥ | asthita | antarvāvat | kṣayam | dadhe || 7 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (pp. 402–403)

> देवयन्तं देवान्कामयमानं जनं कोऽश्नवत् । ब्रह्मणस्पतिव्यतिरिक्तः को नाम देवो व्याप्नुयात् । तथा वृक्तबर्हिषमनुष्ठानाय छिन्नबर्हिषं यजमानं कोऽन्यो देवोऽश्नवत् । दाश्वान् हविर्दत्तवान्यजमानः पस्त्याभिर्मनुष्यैर्ऋत्विग्भिः सह प्रप्रास्थित । देवयजनदेशं प्रति प्रस्थितवान् । अन्तर्वावत् अन्तः

स्थितबहुधनोपेतं । यद्वा । अन्तः स्थितपुत्रपौत्रादिप्रयुक्तबहुविधवागुपेतं क्षयं निवासस्थानं गृहं दधे । धृतवान् भवति । देवयन्तमित्यादयो गताः । प्रप्र । प्रसमुपोदः पादपूरणे । पा. ८-१-६ । इति प्रशब्दस्य द्विर्भावः । अनुदात्तं चेत्याम्रेडितानुदात्तत्वं । अस्थित । ष्ठा गतिनिवृत्तौ । लुङि समवप्रविभ्यः स्थः । पा. १-३-२२ । इत्यात्मनेपदं । स्थाघ्वोरिच्च । पा. १-२-१७ । इति धातुसिचोरित् । कित्त्वे ह्रस्वादङ्गात् । पा. ८-२-२७ । इति सलोपः । अन्तर्वावत् । वागतिगन्धनयोः । अन्तर्वान्ति गच्छन्तीत्यन्तर्वाः पुत्रपशवादयः । आतो मनिन्नित्यादिना विच् । तदस्यास्तीति मतुप् । मतुपः पित्त्वादनुदात्तत्वे कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं । यद्वा । वावदीतेः क्विप् । क्षयं । क्षियन्ति निवसन्त्यस्मिन्निति क्षयः । पुंसि सञ्ज्ञायामित्यधिकरणे घः । क्षयो निवास इत्याद्युदात्तत्वं ॥ ७ ॥

devayantaṃ devān kāmayamānaṃ janaṃ ko 'śnavat | brahmaṇaspativyatiriktaḥ ko nāma devo vyāpnuyāt | tathā vṛktabarhiṣam anuṣṭhānāya chinnabarhiṣaṃ yajamānaṃ ko 'nyo devo 'śnavat | dāśvān havirdattavān yajamānaḥ pastyābhir manuṣyair ṛtvigbhiḥ saha prapra 'sthita | devayajanadeśaṃ prati prasthitavān | antarvāvat antaḥ sthitabahudhanopetaṃ | yadvā | antaḥ sthitaputrapautrādiprayuktabahuvidhavāgupetaṃ kṣayaṃ nivāsasthānaṃ gṛhaṃ dadhe | dhṛtavān bhavati | devayantam ityādayo gatāḥ | prapra | prasamupodaḥ pādapūraṇe | pā. 8-1-6 | iti praśabdasya dvirbhāvaḥ | anudāttaṃ cetyāmreḍitānudāttatvaṃ | asthita | ṣṭhā gatinivṛttau | luṅi samavapravibhyaḥ sthaḥ | pā. 1-3-22 | ityātmanepadaṃ | sthāghvor ic ca | pā. 1-2-17 | iti dhātusicor it | kittve hrasvād aṅgāt | pā. 8-2-27 | iti salopaḥ | antarvāvat | vāgatigandhanayoḥ | antarvānti gacchantītyantarvāḥ putrapaśvādayaḥ | āto manin ityādinā vic | tad asyāstīti matup | matupaḥ pittvād anudāttatve kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ | yadvā | vāvadīteḥ kvip | kṣayaṃ | kṣiyanti nivasantyasminn iti kṣayaḥ | puṃsi saṃjñāyām ity adhikaraṇe ghaḥ | kṣayo nivāsa ityādyudāttatvaṃ || 7 ||

Translation: "Devayantam, desiring the gods — janam, [which] man — kaḥ aśnavat, who would reach? Who else, other than Brahmaṇaspati, which god would reach [him]? Likewise vṛktabarhiṣam, [a sacrificer] who has clipped his sacred grass for the rite — which other god would reach him? Dāśvān, the sacrificer who has given an oblation, pastyābhiḥ, with men, with priests, prapra asthita, has set forth well, set out towards the place of the divine rite. Antarvāvat, possessed of much wealth stored inside — or: possessed of many kinds of speech belonging to the sons and grandsons within — kṣayam, a dwelling, a house, dadhe, he bears. [For the grammatical tail:] Prapra: by prasamupodaḥ pādapūraṇe [Pā. 8-1-6] the doubling of pra; the second is unaccented by anudāttaṃ ca. Asthita: root ṣṭhā gatinivṛttau; ātmanepada by samavapravibhyaḥ sthaḥ (Pā. 1-3-22); sthāghvor ic ca [Pā. 1-2-17]; the loss of s by hrasvād aṅgāt (Pā. 8-2-27). Antarvāvat: root vā gatigandhanayoḥ; 'antarvānti', that which goes within — sons, cattle and so on: antarvāḥ; the suffix vic by āto manin…; then matup; since matup is pit and unaccented, the accent of the first member of a compound ending in a kṛt; or kvip from vāvadīti. Kṣayam: 'kṣiyanti, they dwell in it': kṣayaḥ; gha in the locative sense by puṃsi saṃjñāyām; first-syllable acute as 'kṣayo nivāsaḥ'."

Pratipadārtha (p. 403) — "devayantam — [the sacrificer] desiring the help of the gods; janaḥ — the sacrificer; kaḥ — (other than Brahmaṇaspati) which other deity himself; aśnavat — will approach? vṛktabarhiṣam — [the sacrificer] who has the darbha grass collected (for the sacrificial rite); kaḥ — which other deity himself (will come and join [him])? dāśvān — the sacrificer who offers the oblation; pastyābhiḥ — together with the priests; pra pra asthita — has set out (towards the place of the divine sacrifice); [that sacrificer] antarvāvat — rich in much wealth within, or accompanied by sons and grandsons; kṣayam — his own dwelling, the house; dadhe — has."

Bhāvārtha (p. 403) — "To the sacrificer who desires the gods — which deity, other than Brahmaṇaspati, will himself come? Which other deity will himself come near the sacrificer who has collected and spread darbha sticks so that the gods may come and sit? Now the sacrificer has come to the place of sacrifice together with the priests to offer oblations to the deities. The sacrificial house of that sacrificer is full of many invaluable things; or it is full of people such as sons and grandsons."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 403) — "Who, except Brahmanaspati, will approach the man desirous of worshipping the gods ? who will approach the sacrificer by whom clipped sacred grass is spread (for the gods to sit on) ? the giver of oblations has proceeded with his priests to the sacrificial hall which is full of precious things."

(The Special Topics and grammar of Rik 7 begin on p. 404, below.)

Page 404 (better scan PDF 419)

Rik 40.7, continued (from p. 404)

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 404 - Main intention — "A man who wishes to propitiate the deities looks for Brahmaṇaspati alone; so, apart from him, which other deity will come to such a man? Which other deity will come to the sacrificer who has clipped and spread darbha sticks as seats for the gods to sit on? Apart from Brahmaṇaspati no other deity will come. Such a sacrificer, to propitiate Brahmaṇaspati, has come to his sacrificial hall, prepared with objects of great value, together with the priests who are his helpers." - devayantam = devān kāmayamānam — "one who wishes to worship the gods" (the source adds the English: "One who desires to worship the gods"). - vṛktabarhiṣam — "a seat of darbha grass made by cutting the tips of kuśa grass and spreading them, layer upon layer, three-fold, so that the gods may come and sit on the sacrificial altar. The tips of the cut darbha are called barhis. A seat spread with such darbha is called vṛktabarhis, and the sacrificer who has prepared it is called vṛktabarhiṣa by usage." - pra pra asthita = prasthitavān — "set out. For the sake of filling the pāda, the preverb pra is repeated." - pastyābhiḥ = gṛhāntarvartibhir manuṣyair ṛtvigbhiḥ — "with the priests." - antarvāvat — "vā gatigandhanayoḥ; antarvānti gacchantīty antarvāḥ putrapaśvādayaḥ, te yasmin santi iti antarvāvat. The root vā has the sense 'going'. Because they go antaḥ, inside, they are called antarvāḥ: sons, grandsons and so on in the house, cattle and so on, or other useful things. Antarvāvat means a place that has them, the house; the intention is a house full of excellent things. Here 'house' means the sacrificial house; so a sacrificial hall prepared with the means of sacrifice — oblations, ghee, sacrificial instruments, priests and so on." - kṣayam — "kṣiyanti nivasanty asminn iti kṣayaḥ: since it is a place fit to live in, kṣaya means dwelling-place."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 405–406 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - devayantam: "explained in the first mantra of this very sūkta [Rik 1]; but there it was nominative [prathamānta]; here accusative [dvitīyānta]." aśnavat: explained in the preceding mantra [Rik 6]. - pra pra: prasamupodaḥ pādapūraṇe — प्रसमुपोदः पादपूरणे — (Pā. Sū. 8-1-6): in filling out a pāda, in the Veda, the preverbs pra, sam, upa, ud are doubled; so pra is doubled; anudāttaṃ ca — अनुदात्तं च — (Pā. Sū. 8-1-3): the second form of the doubled word is unaccented; hence the second pra is unaccented. - asthita: root ṣṭhā gatinivṛttau; dhātvādeḥ ṣaḥ saḥ, ṣṭutva lost: sthā; luṅ; samavapravibhyaḥ sthaḥ — समवप्रविभ्यः स्थः — (Pā. Sū. 1-3-12 [as printed; for 1-3-22]): the ātmanepada after sthā when preceded by sam, ava, pra or vi [here by Vedic usage]; so the third-person singular ta; cli luṅi: cli; cleḥ sic; sthāghvor ic ca — स्थाघ्वोरिच्च — (Pā. Sū. 1-2-17): in the ātmanepada when sic is kit, the final of a root called ghu or the root sthā becomes i — so the ā of sthā becomes i; sic is kit; the augment aṭ: a-sthi-s-ta; hrasvād aṅgāt — ह्रस्वादङ्गात् — (Pā. Sū. 8-2-27): the s of sic is lost after a short-vowel-ending stem before a jhal; the print says the sic-loss does not occur in forms like asthiṣātām etc.; the kit-ness of sic was laid down there to prevent guṇa: asthita. - antarvāvat: root vā gatigandhanayoḥ; if one means antaḥ = within, vānti = go, then by āto manin— (no number printed) the suffix vic comes; antarvāḥ: sons, cattle and so on, which enter their house without fear. Antarvāḥ asya asti: tad asyāsty asmin— (no number printed): matup; mādupadhāyāś ca matorvo 'yavādibhyaḥ (no number printed) the m of matup becomes v: antarvāvat; matup is pit and unaccented, so the accent of the first member of a compound ending in a kṛt. "This is one process." Another: root vada vyaktāyāṃ vāci; dhātor ekācaḥ— for yaṅ; yaño 'ci ca [Pā. 2-4-74 as read] the loss of yaṅ; sanyaṅoḥ doubling; loss in the reduplicate; dīrgho 'kitaḥ long vowel in the reduplicate: vāvad; after it kvip: antaḥ vāvadīti antarvāvat ["that which speaks within"]. "This is another process." - kṣayam: kṣi nivāsagatyoḥ, tudādi: "kṣiyanti nivasanty atra": puṃsi saṃjñāyāṃ ghaḥ prāyeṇa gha; guṇa, ay-substitution; kṣayo nivāse — क्षयो निवासे — (Pā. Sū. 6-1-201; p. 406): the word kṣaya in the sense of dwelling is first-syllable acute. Rik 7 ends here (|| 7 ||).

Rik 40.8 (pp. 406–409, PDF 420–423)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 406; Saṃhitā accents as printed (checked at 450–600 dpi); Pada unaccented. [accent ?] in line 1: the underline near rājabhir bhaye lies under the conjunct rbha (placed on bhi*), and the stroke after* bhaye stands at the left edge of ci (placed on ye*).)*

> उप॑ क्ष॒त्रं पृ॑ञ्चीत हन्ति॒ राज॑भि॒र्भये॑ चित्सुक्षि॒तिं द॑धे । [accent ?] नास्य॑ व॒र्ता न त॑रु॒ता म॑हाध॒ने नार्भे॑ अस्ति व॒ज्रिणः॑ ॥ ८ ॥

úpa kṣatráṃ pṛñcītá hanti rājabhir bháye cit sukṣitíṃ dadhe | [accent ?] nâsya vartā́ ná tarutā́ mahādhané nárbhe asti vajríṇaḥ || 8 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 406)

> उप । क्षत्रम् । पृञ्चीत । हन्ति । राजऽभिः । भये । चित् । सुऽक्षितिम् । दधे । न । अस्य । वर्ता । न । तरुता । महाऽधने । न । अर्भे । अस्ति । वज्रिणः ॥ ८ ॥

upa | kṣatram | pṛñcīta | hanti | rāja-bhiḥ | bhaye | cit | su-kṣitim | dadhe | na | asya | vartā | na | tarutā | mahā-dhane | na | arbhe | asti | vajriṇaḥ || 8 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (pp. 406–407)

ब्रह्मणस्पतिर्देवः क्षत्रं बलमुप पृञ्चीत । स्वात्मनि सम्पृक्तं कुर्यात् । ततो राजभिर्वरुणादिभिः सह हन्ति । शत्रून्मारयति । भये चित् भीतिहेतौ युद्धेऽपि सुक्षितिं दधे । सुष्ठु निवासस्थैर्यं धारयति । न तु पलायते । वज्रिणो वज्राद्यायुधवतोऽस्य ब्रह्मणस्पतेर्महाधने प्रभूतधननिमित्ते युद्धे वर्ता प्रवर्तयिता नास्ति । कोऽपि नास्ति । स्वयमेव प्रवर्तत इत्यर्थः । महाधन इति सङ्ग्रामनाम । महाधने समीक इति तन्नामसु पाठात् । तथा तरुता तरणस्योल्लङ्घनस्य कर्तान्यः कोऽपि नास्ति । तथैवार्भे स्वल्पे युद्धेऽप्यन्यः प्रवर्तयिता नास्ति ॥ पृञ्चीत । पृची सम्पर्के । लिङ् । रुधादित्वात् श्नम् । श्नसोरल्लोप इत्यकारलोपः । प्रत्ययस्वरः । क्षत्रं पृञ्चीत राजभिर्हन्ति चेति समुच्चयलक्षणस्य चार्थस्य दर्शनाच्चादिलोपे विभाषेति प्रथमायास्तिङ्त्विभक्तेर्निघातप्रतिषेधः । हन्तीत्येषा द्वितीयापि तिङः परत्वान्न निहन्यते । सुक्षितिं । शोभना क्षितिः सुक्षितिः । मन्क्तिन्नित्यादिनोत्तरपदान्तोदात्तत्वं । वर्ता । वर्तेर्वृणोतेर्वा तृच्यागमानुशासनस्यानित्यत्वादिडभावः । तरुता । तॄ प्लवनतरणयोः । ग्रसितस्कभितेत्यादिना तृच्युडागमो निपातितः । चित इत्यन्तोदात्तत्वं । महाधने । महच्च तद्धनं च महाधनं । आन्महतः । पा. ६-३-४६ । इत्यात्वं । तेन शब्देन तद्धेतुभूतः सङ्ग्रामो लक्ष्यते । अर्भे । ऋ गतौ । आर्तिगृभ्यां भन् । उ. ३-१५२ । इति भन्प्रत्ययः । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वं ॥ २१ ॥

brahmaṇaspatir devaḥ kṣatraṃ balam upa pṛñcīta | svātmani saṃpṛktaṃ kuryāt | tato rājabhir varuṇādibhiḥ saha hanti | śatrūn mārayati | bhaye cit bhītihetau yuddhe 'pi sukṣitiṃ dadhe | suṣṭhu nivāsasthairyaṃ dhārayati | na tu palāyate | vajriṇo vajrādyāyudhavato 'sya brahmaṇaspater mahādhane prabhūtadhananimitte yuddhe vartā pravartayitā nāsti | ko 'pi nāsti | svayam eva pravartata ity arthaḥ | mahādhana iti saṅgrāmanāma | mahādhane samīka iti tannāmasu pāṭhāt | tathā tarutā taraṇasyollaṅghanasya kartānyaḥ ko 'pi nāsti | tathaivārbhe svalpe yuddhe 'py anyaḥ pravartayitā nāsti || pṛñcīta | pṛci samparke | liṅ | rudhāditvāt śnam | śnasor allopa ity akāralopaḥ | pratyayasvaraḥ | kṣatraṃ pṛñcīta rājabhir hanti ceti samuccayalakṣaṇasya cārthasya darśanāc cādilope vibhāṣeti prathamāyās tiṅvibhakter nighātapratiṣedhaḥ | hantīty eṣā dvitīyāpi tiṅaḥ paratvān na nihanyate | sukṣitiṃ | śobhanā kṣitiḥ sukṣitiḥ | man ktinn ity ādinottarapadāntodāttatvaṃ | vartā | varter vṛṇoter vā tṛcy āgamānuśāsanasyānityatvād iḍabhāvaḥ | tarutā | tṝ plavanataraṇayoḥ | grasitaskabhitety ādinā tṛcy uḍāgamo nipātitaḥ | cita ity antodāttatvaṃ | mahādhane | mahac ca tad dhanaṃ ca mahādhanaṃ | ānmahataḥ | pā. 6-3-46 | ity ātvaṃ | tena śabdena taddhetubhūtaḥ saṅgrāmo lakṣyate | arbhe | ṛ gatau | ārtigṛbhyāṃ bhan | u. 3-152 | iti bhanpratyayaḥ | nittvād ādyudāttatvaṃ || 21 ||

(The bhāṣya closes with "|| 21 ||" (the varga number; read at 600 dpi).)

Translation: "The god Brahmaṇaspati kṣatram, strength, upa pṛñcīta, would unite [with himself]; make it joined with his own self. Then with the rājabhiḥ, the kings Varuṇa and the others, hanti, he slays: he makes the enemies die. Bhaye cit, even in a battle that is the cause of fear, sukṣitim dadhe, he holds a firm and sound steadiness of position; he does not flee. For this vajriṇaḥ, thunderbolt-bearer [Brahmaṇaspati], who has the thunderbolt and other weapons, in the mahādhane, great-wealth [= battle], that arises for much wealth, vartā, one who sets [it] going, na asti, there is none; no one at all; the sense is that he moves of his own will. 'Mahādhana' is a name of battle, since it is read among its names ('mahādhane samīke'). Likewise tarutā, one who steps across or surpasses [him], there is no other; and in the small fight (arbhe) also, there is no other who causes it to go on. Pṛñcīta: root pṛci samparke; liṅ; śnam by the rudhādi class; the loss of a by śnasor allopaḥ; the accent of the suffix. In kṣatraṃ pṛñcīta rājabhir hanti ca — since the sense of conjunction (ca) is perceived — the dropping of a cādi word, by cādilope vibhāṣā: the prohibition of nighāta for the first verb. Hanti is a second verb, but because it follows a tiṅ it is not unaccented. Sukṣitim: 'a fine kṣiti'; the final-acute of the latter member by the rule beginning man-ktin…. Vartā: from vṛt (varteḥ) or vṛ (vṛṇoteḥ); the iṭ is not applied because the teaching of augments is not constant. Tarutā: root tṝ plavanataraṇayoḥ; the augment uṭ is irregularly given before tṛc by grasita-skabhita…; final acute by citaḥ. Mahādhane: mahat + dhana; ā for mahat by ān mahataḥ [Pā. 6-3-46]; by this word the battle that is the cause of it is indicated. Ārbhe: root ṛ gatau; bhan by ārtigṛbhyāṃ bhan [U. 3-152]; because it is nit, first-syllable acute."

Pratipadārtha (p. 407) — "(brahmaṇaspatiḥ — Brahmaṇaspati) kṣatram — [his own] strength; upa pṛñcīta — would concentrate in himself; (by that strength) rājabhiḥ — together with the kings, Varuṇa and the others; hanti — he kills the enemies; bhaye cit — even in a fearsome battle; sukṣitim — the steadiness (without flight) in his own place; dadhe — he holds; vajriṇaḥ — [of him who has] weapons such as the thunderbolt; asya — of this Brahmaṇaspati; mahādhane — in a battle fought for abundant wealth; vartā — one who turns [him back] (none else); na asti — there is none (he goes on, moved by his own strength); likewise; tarutā — one who defeats [him], frightening him into flight; na — [none else]; arbhe — in a small battle also; na — [none] such does so."

Bhāvārtha (p. 407) — "Brahmaṇaspati gathers all his strength and, with the help of the kings, Mitra, Varuṇa and the others, destroys the enemies. Even in the face of any danger in battle he is steady. When he is armed with the thunderbolt, there is no man who can oppose or defeat him, either in a great battle or in a small one."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 408) — "Brahmanaspati will concentrate his strength ; with the help of royal gods, (Varuna and others) he kills his enemies ; he firmly hold [sic] his ground even in times of danger ; when he is armed with his thunderbolt no one can resist or defeat in a battle great or small."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 408 - kṣatram = balam — "strength; power; ability." - upa pṛñcīta — "pṛcī samparke: let him unite, let him concentrate [at one point]." - rājabhiḥ — "Here, by rājānaḥ, kings, are meant the deities spoken of before: Indra, Varuṇa, Mitra, Aryaman: 'together with those deities'." - bhaye — "in the battle that makes fear, or in time of calamity." - sukṣitim = nivāsasthairyam — "he stands firm; steady, without running away in fear." - vartā = pravartayitā — "one who opposes. There is none who opposes him in battle; he himself is the opposer of all." - tarutā — "he who goes beyond him, that is, who defeats or conquers him." - mahādhane — "since the word mahādhane is read among the forty-odd names of battle beginning with raṇaḥ, vivākaḥ (Ni. 3-9), the word means 'in battle'. The commentator explains the etymological sense: a great battle fought to obtain great wealth." - arbhe — "since the word arbhaka is read among the words for 'small' beginning with ṛhan, hrasvaḥ (Ni. 3-13), arbhe means 'in a small battle, in a small fight'."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 408–409 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - pṛñcīta: root pṛcī samparke, rudhādi; vidhiliṅ, ta; sīyuṭ; rudhādibhyaḥ śnam (no number printed); śnasor allopaḥ (Pā. Sū. 6-4-111) the loss of the a of śna before a kit or ṅit sārvadhātuka; liṅaḥ salopo 'nantyasya the loss of the s; n → anusvāra and the following homorganic: pṛñcīta; the accent is that of the suffix. "Brahmaṇaspatiḥ balaṃ pṛñcīta, tataḥ rājabhiḥ saha hanti ca": since the sense of ca [conjunction] is perceived, by cādilope vibhāṣā (no number printed) the prohibition of the wholly-unaccented applies to pṛñcīta, the first verb. - hanti: "although this is not the first verb, the verb pṛñcīta stands before it; so tiṅ atiṅaḥ does not make it wholly unaccented." - vartā: vṛtu vartane (first class) or vṛñ varaṇe (svādi): after one of these, tṛc; because of "āgamaśāstram anityam" the iṭ does not come to tṛc; if the first root is taken, laghūpadhaguṇa; jharo jhari savarṇe (the loss of a t); if the second, sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ gives guṇa: vartṛ. Nominative singular su; ṛduśanaspurudaṃso 'nehasāṃ ca — ऋदुशनस्पुरुदंसोऽनेहसां च — (Pā. Sū. 7-1-94): anaṅ substitute; aprāpt... [as read]; ata upadhāyāḥ...: lengthening of the penultimate; halṅyābbhyaḥ... the loss of su; nalopaḥ prātipadikāntasya the loss of the n. - tarutā: tṝ plavanataraṇayoḥ; grasitaskabhitastabhitottabhitacitta-vikastā-viśastṛ-śaṃstṛ-śāstṛ-tarutṛ-... — ग्रसितस्कभितस्तभितोत्तभितचित्तविकस्ताविशस्तृशंस्तृशास्तृतरुतृ... — (Pā. Sū. 7-2-34): in this sūtra the augment uṭ is nipātita for the tṛc after the root tṝ: tṝ + utṛ; guṇa: tarutṛ; su is raised as before; by citaḥ (no number printed) the final-acute. - mahādhane: mahat ca tad dhanaṃ ca; viśeṣaṇaṃ viśeṣyeṇa bahulam (no number printed): a compound; ān mahataḥ samānādhikaraṇajātīyayoḥ — आन्महतः समानाधिकरणजातीययोः — (Pā. Sū. 6-3-46): when a latter member in apposition or a jātīya suffix follows, the t of mahat becomes ā; so mahā + dhana. "The battle, which is the cause of great wealth, is conveyed by implication." - arbhe: ṛ gatau; ārtigṛbhyāṃ bhan (U. Sū. 3-432, as printed in the grammar's own Uṇādi series), after the roots ṛ gatau and gṝ nigaraṇe the suffix bhan: ṛ + bha; guṇa: arbha; the suffix is nit, so first-syllable acute. Rik 8 ends here (|| 8 ||).

Close of Sūkta 40. Printed on p. 409 after the grammar: "illige 40ne sūkta pūrṇavu" — "Here the 40th sūkta is complete." (Numeral read as "40".) A flourish follows. With it the Fifth Sūkta of the Eighth Anuvāka (printed pp. 376–409) ends. The next leaf, p. 410 = PDF 424, carries the title "nalavattondaneya sūktavu" ("the forty-first sūkta"), the Sanskrit introduction and Kannada anuvāda of Sūkta 41 (yaṃ rakṣanti, nine Riks, ṛṣi Kaṇva Ghaura, deities Varuṇa–Mitra–Aryaman [Riks 1–3 and 7–9] and the Ādityas [Riks 4–6], Gāyatrī metre), and the heading of Sūkta 41; these follow below.

Summary of Sūkta 40 (my note). Eight Riks to Brahmaṇaspati. Rik 1 calls him to rise and asks the Maruts to come near and Indra to drink the Soma with him; Rik 2 says the man who praises Brahmaṇaspati and the Maruts for wealth will obtain horses and heroism; Rik 3 invites Brahmaṇaspati, the goddess Sūnṛtā and the other gods to drive the enemy away and lead the worshippers to the sacrifice; Rik 4 promises undiminishing food to the sacrificer who gives to the priests and praises Iḷā; Rik 5 says Brahmaṇaspati speaks a mantra in which Indra, Varuṇa, Mitra and Aryaman dwell; Rik 6 offers that mantra to the gods; Rik 7 asks which other god would come to the sacrificer; Rik 8 says Brahmaṇaspati unites his strength with the royal gods and none can resist him, great or small. All eight Riks are written in full; the heavily crowded grammar passages are characterized only.

SŪKTA 41 (printed p. 410 = PDF 424)

Forty-first Sūkta (large Kannada title line: "nalavattondaneya sūktavu")

Page 410 (PDF 424) — Sāyaṇa's introduction, the Kannada anuvāda, and the heading

Sāyaṇa's introduction (printed in Kannada script; read from the 150-dpi image)

> यं रक्षन्तीति नवर्चं षष्ठं सूक्तं । तत्रानुक्रमणं । यं रक्षन्ति नव वरुणमित्रार्यम्णां मध्ये तृच आदित्येभ्यो गायत्रं हीति । घोरपुत्रः कण्व ऋषिः । इदमादित्रीणि सूक्तानि गायत्राणि ।
> आद्यन्तयोस्तृचयोर्वरुणमित्रार्यमणो देवताः । मध्यतृचस्य सुगः पन्था इत्यस्यादित्या देवताः ॥ गतो विनियोगः ॥

yaṃ rakṣantīti navarcaṃ ṣaṣṭhaṃ sūktaṃ | tatrānukramaṇaṃ | yaṃ rakṣanti nava varuṇamitrāryamṇāṃ madhye tṛca ādityebhyo gāyatraṃ hīti | ghoraputraḥ kaṇva ṛṣiḥ | idam ādi trīṇi sūktāni gāyatrāṇi | ādyantayos tṛcayor varuṇamitrāryamaṇo devatāḥ | madhyatṛcasya sugaḥ panthā ity asyādityā devatāḥ || gato viniyogaḥ ||

Translation: "Yaṃ rakṣanti — the sixth sūkta [of the anuvāka], of nine ṛks. The Anukramaṇikā there: 'yaṃ rakṣanti nava varuṇamitrāryamṇāṃ madhye tṛca ādityebhyo gāyatraṃ hi' [nine [ṛks], of Varuṇa–Mitra–Aryaman; in the middle a tṛca for the Ādityas; Gāyatra]. Kaṇva, son of Ghora, is the ṛṣi. This and the next two sūktas are in the Gāyatrī metre. For the first and the last tṛca the deities are Varuṇa, Mitra and Aryaman; for the middle tṛca — beginning sugaḥ panthāḥ — the Ādityas. The application has been stated [before]." (Translation mine; the print is clear here.)

Anuvāda (Kannada), p. 410 — "Yaṃ rakṣanti is the sixth sūkta in the eighth anuvāka. It has nine ṛks. In the Anukramaṇikā: 'yaṃ rakṣanti nava varuṇamitrāryamṇāṃ madhye tṛca ādityebhyo gāyatraṃ hi'. The ṛṣi of this sūkta is Kaṇva, the son of Ghora. This sūkta and the next two are of the Gāyatrī metre. For the first three ṛks and the last three ṛks the deities are Varuṇa, Mitra and Aryaman; for the middle three ṛks, that is [Riks] 4–6, the Ādityas are the deities. The application has been stated already."

॥ ॐ ॥

> सूक्त — ४१ ॥ मण्डल — १ ॥ अनुवाक — ८ ॥ सूक्त — ४१ ॥ ॥ अष्टक — १ ॥ अध्याय — ३ ॥ वर्ग — २२, २३ ॥ ॥ सूक्तदल्लिरुव ऋक्संख्यै — ९ ॥ ॥ ऋषिः — कण्वो घौरः ॥ ॥ देवता — १–३, ७–९ वरुणमित्रार्यमणः । ४–६ आदित्याः ॥ ॥ छन्दः — गायत्री ॥

sūkta 41 | maṇḍala 1 | anuvāka 8 | aṣṭaka 1 | adhyāya 3 | varga 22, 23 | ṛks 9 | ṛṣi: Kaṇva Ghaura | devatā: Riks 1–3 and 7–9 Varuṇa–Mitra–Aryaman; Riks 4–6 the Ādityas | chandas: Gāyatrī.

(Varga numerals 22, 23 and the deity-line numerals 1–3, 7–9, 4–6 checked at 300 dpi.)

Rik 41.1 (pp. 411–412, PDF 425–426)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 411; Saṃhitā accents as printed (checked at 300–560 dpi); Pada unaccented.)

> यं रक्षन्ति प्रचेतसो वरुणो मित्रो अर्यमा । नू चित्स दभ्यते जनः ॥ १ ॥

yaṃ rákṣanti prácetaso váruṇo mitró aryamā́ | nū cit sá dabhyate jánaḥ || 1 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 411)

> यम् । रक्षन्ति । प्रऽचेतसः । वरुणः । मित्रः । अर्यमा । नु । चित् । सः । दभ्यते । जनः ॥ १ ॥

yam | rakṣanti | pra-cetasaḥ | varuṇaḥ | mitraḥ | aryamā | nu | cit | saḥ | dabhyate | janaḥ || 1 ||

(The Saṃhitā prints nū*, the Pada* nu*.)*

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 411)

> प्रचेतसः प्रकृष्टज्ञानयुक्ता वरुणादयो देवा यं यजमानं रक्षन्ति स जनो यजमानो नू चित् क्षिप्रमेव दभ्यते । दभ्नोति । शत्रून् हिनस्ति । प्रचेतसः । प्रकृष्टं चेतो येषां । बहुव्रीहौ पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं । नू चित् । ऋचि तुनुघेत्यादिना दीर्घः । दभ्यते । दम्भु दम्भे । व्यत्ययेन श्यन् आत्मनेपदं च ॥

pracetasaḥ prakṛṣṭajñānayuktā varuṇādayo devā yaṃ yajamānaṃ rakṣanti sa jano yajamāno nū cit kṣiprameva dabhyate | dabhnoti | śatrūn hinasti | pracetasaḥ | prakṛṣṭaṃ ceto yeṣāṃ | bahuvrīhau pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ | nū cit | ṛci tunughetyādinā dīrghaḥ | dabhyate | dambhu dambhe | vyatyayena śyan ātmanepadaṃ ca ||

Translation: "Pracetasaḥ, endowed with excellent knowledge, the gods Varuṇa and the rest — whichever sacrificer they protect, that man, the sacrificer, nū cit, quickly indeed, dabhyate: he dabhnoti, he destroys the enemies. Pracetasaḥ: 'of whom the mind is excellent'; in the bahuvrīhi the accent of the first member. Nū cit: the lengthening by ṛci tunugha…. Dabhyate: root dambhu dambhe; by vyatyaya the suffix śyan and the ātmanepada."

Pratipadārtha (p. 411) — "pracetasaḥ — those of excellent knowledge; varuṇaḥ — Varuṇa; mitraḥ — Mitra; and aryamā — Aryaman; yam — which sacrificer [the performer of the sacrifice]; rakṣanti — they protect; saḥ janaḥ — that sacrificer; nū cit — carefully [quickly]; dabhyate — destroys [the enemies]."

Bhāvārtha (p. 411) — "The sacrificer whom Varuṇa, Mitra and Aryaman, the deities of excellent knowledge, protect, carefully destroys his enemies."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 412) — "That person whom wise Varuna, Mitra, and Aryaman protect quickly defeats his enemies."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 412 - pracetasaḥ = prakṛṣṭajñānayuktāḥ — "those who are endowed with excellent knowledge, the wise." - nū cit = kṣiprameva — "swiftly, quickly." - dabhyate — "dambhu dambhe; dabhnoti iti śatrūn hinasti — he destroys enemies; or, if the sense of the passive use must be given: nū cit dabhyate, 'he is not injured by the enemy' — in this context the word nū must be taken in the sense of a negative, na."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (p. 412 — grammar page, noted briefly) - rakṣanti: root rakṣa pālane, first class; because of the connection with yat (yam) the wholly-unaccented form does not come. - pracetasaḥ: "prakṛṣṭaṃ cetaḥ yeṣāṃ te": a bahuvrīhi; the accent of the first member. - varuṇaḥ: kṛvṛdāribhya unan (no number printed): the suffix unan; since it is nit the first syllable is acute. - nū: the lengthening by the sūtra ṛci tunugha—. - dabhyate: dambhu dambhe, svādi; the śnu vikaraṇa would properly come, but by vyatyayo bahulam śyan comes, and by the same sūtra the ātmanepada in place of the parasmaipada: dan bh + ya + te; because śyan is sārvadhātukam apit it is ṅit; by aniditāṃ hala upadhāyāḥ knīti the penultimate nasal is lost; since anusvāra and parasavarṇa are treated as non-existent (asiddha), it is to be understood that the nasal is present as far as the sūtra that gives the loss is concerned. Rik 1 ends here (|| 1 ||).

Rik 41.2 (pp. 413–415, PDF 427–429)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 413; Saṃhitā accents as printed (checked at 300–500 dpi); Pada unaccented. [accent ?] in line 2: the stroke in sarva stands at the junction of sa and rva (placed on va*).)*

यं बा॒हुते॑व पिप्र॑ति पान्ति॒ मर्त्यं॑ रि॒षः । अरि॑ष्टः॒ सर्व॑ एधते ॥ २ ॥ [accent ?]

yaṃ bāhúteva píprati pānti mártyaṃ riṣáḥ | áriṣṭaḥ sárva edhate || 2 || [accent ?]

Pada-pāṭha (p. 413)

यम् । बाहुताऽइव । पिप्रति । पान्ति । मर्त्यम् । रिषः । अरिष्टः । सर्वः । एधते ॥ २ ॥

yam | bāhutā-iva | piprati | pānti | martyam | riṣaḥ | ariṣṭaḥ | sarvaḥ | edhate || 2 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 413)

यं यजमानं पिप्रति वरुणादयो देवा धनैः पूरयन्ति । तत्र दृष्टान्तः । बाहुतेव स्वकीयो बाहुवर्गोऽपेक्षितं धनमानीय यथा पूरयति तद्वत् । तथा यं मर्त्यं मनुष्यं यजमानं रिषो हिंसकात् पान्ति रक्षन्ति स सर्वो यजमानोऽरिष्टः केनाप्यहिंसितः सन् एधते । वर्धते ॥ बाहुतेव । बाहुता बाहुत्वं । भाववाचिनानेन शब्देन बाहवस्तदाश्रया लक्ष्यन्ते । यद्वा । समूहार्थे तल्प्रत्ययो द्रष्टव्यः । लितीति प्रत्ययात्पूर्वस्योदात्तत्वं । पिप्रति । पॄ पालनपूरणयोः । पॄ इत्येके । जुहोत्यादित्वात् श्लुः । अर्तिपिपर्त्योश्चेत्यभ्यासस्येत्वं । अभ्यस्तानामादिरित्याद्युदात्तत्वं । पान्ति । तिङः परत्वात्पादादित्वाद्वा निघाताभावः । रिषः । रिष हिंसायां क्विप्चेति क्विप् । सावेकाच इति विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वं । अरिष्टः । रिष हिंसायां । एकाच इतीट्प्रतिषेधः । व्रश्चादिना षत्वं । नञ्समासेऽव्ययपूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं ॥

yaṃ yajamānaṃ piprati varuṇādayo devā dhanaiḥ pūrayanti | tatra dṛṣṭāntaḥ | bāhuteva svakīyo bāhuvargo 'pekṣitaṃ dhanam ānīya yathā pūrayati tadvat | tathā yaṃ martyaṃ manuṣyaṃ yajamānaṃ riṣo hiṃsakāt pānti rakṣanti sa sarvo yajamāno 'riṣṭaḥ kenāpy ahiṃsitaḥ san edhate | vardhate || bāhuteva | bāhutā bāhutvaṃ | bhāvavācinānena śabdena bāhavas tadāśrayā lakṣyante | yadvā | samūhārthe talpratyayo draṣṭavyaḥ | liti iti pratyayāt pūrvasyodāttatvaṃ | piprati | pṝ pālanapūraṇayoḥ | pṝ ity eke | juhotyāditvāt śluḥ | artipipartyoś cety abhyāsasyetvaṃ | abhyastānām ādir ity ādyudāttatvaṃ | pānti | tiṅaḥ paratvāt pādāditvād vā nighātābhāvaḥ | riṣaḥ | riṣa hiṃsāyāṃ kvip ceti kvip | sāvekāca iti vibhakter udāttatvaṃ | ariṣṭaḥ | riṣa hiṃsāyāṃ | ekāca itīṭpratiṣedhaḥ | vraścādinā ṣatvaṃ | nañsamāse 'vyayapūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ ||

Translation: "The sacrificer whom Varuṇa and the other gods piprati, fill with wealth. The example: bāhutā iva — as a company of arms (bāhuvarga) fetches the wealth needed and fills his own [house], so. And the mortal, the man, the sacrificer whom they protect from riṣaḥ, from a destroyer, that whole sacrificer, ariṣṭaḥ, uninjured by anyone, edhate, prospers. Bāhuteva: bāhutā is 'arm-ness'; by this abstract word the arms, as that on which it rests, are indicated; or the suffix tal in the sense of a collection is to be seen; the syllable before the suffix is acute by lit. Piprati: root pṝ pālanapūraṇayoḥ (some read pṛ); ślu because of the juhotyādi class; i in the reduplicate by artipipartyoś ca; the first syllable acute by abhyastānām ādiḥ. Pānti: no nighāta, since it follows a tiṅ or because it is at the beginning of a pāda. Riṣaḥ: root riṣa hiṃsāyām, kvip; the ending acute by sāvekāca. Ariṣṭaḥ: the prohibition of iṭ by ekāca…; ṣatva by vraścādi…; the accent of the first member in a nañ-compound with an indeclinable."

Pratipadārtha (p. 413) — "bāhuteva — as with his own arms (bringing in as much as he wishes) he fills; yam — which sacrificer; piprati — [Varuṇa and the other deities] fill with wealth; and martyam — which man; riṣaḥ — from a harming enemy; pānti — they protect; sarvaḥ — each such (sacrificer); ariṣṭaḥ — uninjured by anyone; edhate — grows."

Bhāvārtha (p. 414) — "As one fills himself with as much goods as he needs, bringing them with his own arms, so Varuṇa and the other deities fill the sacrificer with wealth, and the man whom they protect from an injuring enemy attains prosperity without any hindrance."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 414) — "He whom they (gods) help with riches, as if collected by his own arms ; the man whom they defend from the malignant ; every such man safe from injury prospers."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 414 - bāhuteva = svakīyo bāhuvargo 'pekṣitaṃ dhanam ānīya yathā pūrayati tadvat — "as one's own arms bring as much wealth as he needs and fill [his house]." - piprati = pūrayanti — "they fill, they make full." - riṣaḥ = hiṃsakāt — "from the enemy who injures." - ariṣṭaḥ — "free from the injury of enemies or from hindrance."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 414–415 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - bāhuteva: tasya bhāvas tvatalau — तस्य भावस्त्वतलौ — (Pā. Sū. 6-1-118 [as printed; for 5-1-119]; first digit ६-shaped, last ७, at 840 dpi): the suffix tal in the abstract sense; by the abstract word bāhutā the arms, as the support of bāhutva, are indicated by implication; or else, by grāmajanabandhubhyas tal — ग्रामजनबन्धुभ्यस्तल् — (Pā. Sū. 4-2-43), tal is prescribed after grāma and the like in the sense of collection, and by Vedic usage the same holds for bāhu; liti (no number printed): the syllable before the suffix is acute. - piprati: root pṝ pālanapūraṇayoḥ, juhotyādi (some read it as pṛ, ending in a short vowel); after it laṭ, jhi; ad abhyastāt — अदभ्यस्तात् — (no number printed) at for jh; śap → ślu; ślau doubling: pṛ + pṛ + ati; if the root ended in a long vowel, udoṣṭhyapūrvasya would give u; the print says the ṛ-form reading is not in conformity with Pāṇini, who in his view reads the root with a Vedic shortening (chāndasa hrasva) — "'pāṇinīyamate tu taṃ rodasī pipṛtam', in this and in similar passages Bhaṭṭoji Dīkṣita has said that the shortening is Vedic [chāndasatvaṃ śaraṇam]"; ur at gives a in the reduplicate, with raparatva; halādiḥ śeṣaḥ the loss of r; artipipartyoś ca — अर्तिपिपर्त्योश्च — (Pā. Sū. 7-4-77): the a of the reduplicate of the roots ṛ, pṝ (or pṛ) takes i when ślu has come: pipṛ + ati; yaṇ: piprati; by abhyastānām ādiḥ — first-syllable acute. - pānti: root pā rakṣaṇe; since it stands after a verb, or at the beginning of a pāda, tiṅ atiṅaḥ does not make it wholly unaccented. - riṣaḥ: riṣa hiṃsāyām; kvip ca (no number printed) kvip; jas; sāvekācaḥ… the ending is acute. - ariṣṭaḥ: riśa hiṃsāyām, tudādi [print: riśa]; after it kta; this being in the list riś-ruś-liś-viś-spṛś-kṛṣaḥ (the anudāttopadeśa roots enumerated), it is unaccented; ekāca upadeśe 'nudāttāt — the prohibition of iṭ; vraścabhrasjasṛjamṛjayajarājabhrājachśām ṣaḥ (Pā. Sū. 8-2-36) gives ṣ for the ś; ṣṭutva; "na riṣṭaḥ": a nañ-compound; tatpuruṣe tulyārtha… gives the accent of the first member as an indeclinable. Rik 2 ends here (|| 2 ||).

Rik 41.3 (pp. 415–, PDF 429–)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 415 foot; Saṃhitā accents as printed (checked at 300 dpi); Pada unaccented; the print has eṣāṃ*.)*

वि दुर्गा वि द्विषः पुरो घ्नन्ति राजान एषां । नयन्ति दुरिता तिरः ॥ ३ ॥

vi durgā vi dviṣaḥ puró ghnanti rājāna eṣāṃ | náyanti duritā tiráḥ || 3 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 416)

वि । दुःऽगा । वि । द्विषः । पुरः । घ्नन्ति । राजानः । एषाम् । नयन्ति । दुःऽइता । तिरः ॥ ३ ॥

vi | duḥ-gā | vi | dviṣaḥ | puraḥ | ghnanti | rājānaḥ | eṣām | nayanti | duḥ-itā | tiraḥ || 3 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 416)

राजानो वरुणादय एषां स्वकीययजमानानां पुरः पुरस्तात् दुर्गा गन्तुं दुःशकानि शत्रुनगराणि वि घ्नन्ति । विशेषेण नाशयन्ति । तथा द्विषः शत्रूनपि वि घ्नन्ति । तथा दुरिता दुरितानि यजमानसम्बन्धीनि पापानि तिरो नयन्ति । विनाशं प्रापयन्ति ॥ दुर्गा । दुःखेन गच्छन्त्यत्रेति दुर्गाणि । सुदुरोरधिकरणे । पा. ३-२-४८-३ । इति गमेर्डप्रत्ययः । शेश्छन्दसि बहुलमिति शेर्लोपः । पुरः । कालवाचिनः पूर्वशब्दात् सप्तम्यर्थे पूर्वाधरावराणां । पा. ५-३-३९ । इत्यसिप्रत्ययः । तत्सन्नियोगेन पूर्वशब्दस्य पुरादेशश्च प्रत्ययस्वरः । घ्नन्ति । हन्तेर्लट्यदादित्वाच्छपो लुक् । गमहनेत्यादिनोपधालोपः । हो हन्तेः । पा. ७-३-५४ । इति घत्वं । अङ्गादेशस्योपदेशवचनादाद्युदात्तत्वं । पादादित्वादनिघातः ॥

rājāno varuṇādaya eṣāṃ svakīyayajamānānāṃ puraḥ purastāt durgā gantuṃ duḥśakāni śatrunagarāṇi vi ghnanti | viśeṣeṇa nāśayanti | tathā dviṣaḥ śatrūn api vi ghnanti | tathā duritā duritāni yajamānasambandhīni pāpāni tiro nayanti | vināśaṃ prāpayanti || durgā | duḥkhena gacchanty atreti durgāṇi | suduror adhikaraṇe | pā. 3-2-48-3 | iti gamer ḍapratyayaḥ | śeś chandasi bahulam iti śer lopaḥ | puraḥ | kālavācinaḥ pūrvaśabdāt saptamyarthe pūrvādharāvarāṇāṃ | pā. 5-3-39 | ity asipratyayaḥ | tatsanniyogena pūrvaśabdasya purādeśaś ca pratyayasvaraḥ | ghnanti | hanter laṭy adāditvāc chapo luk | gamahanety ādinopadhālopaḥ | ho hanteḥ | pā. 7-3-54 | iti ghatvaṃ | aṅgādeśasyopadeśavacanād ādyudāttatvaṃ | pādāditvād anighātaḥ ||

(Bhāṣya numbers read at 400 dpi: 3-2-48-3 [a vārttika on 3-2-48], 5-3-39, 7-3-54.)

Translation: "The rājānaḥ, the kings Varuṇa and the others — of these, [their] own sacrificers, puraḥ, in front — durgā, strongholds hard to go to, enemy cities, vi ghnanti, they shatter; they destroy utterly. Likewise they vi ghnanti the dviṣaḥ, the enemies themselves. Likewise duritā, the sins connected with the sacrificer, tiraḥ nayanti, they lead away: they bring to destruction. Durgā: 'duḥkhena gacchanty atra', where they go with difficulty: durgāṇi; the suffix ḍa after gam in the locative sense; the loss of śi by śeś chandasi bahulam. Puraḥ: from pūrva of time-denoting sense, in the sense of the locative, the suffix asi by pūrvādharāvarāṇām

[Pā. 5-3-39], and in connection with it the substitute pur for pūrva; the accent of the suffix. Ghnanti: laṭ of han; śap elided as the root is of the adādi class; loss of the penultimate by gamahana…; gha for ha by ho hanteḥ; first-syllable acute for a substitute of the base, because of the statement of the upadeśa; no nighāta because it begins a pāda."

Pratipadārtha (p. 416) — "rājānaḥ — (Varuṇa and the other) lords; eṣām — of these (devotees who worship them with devotion), the sacrificers; puraḥ — in front, even beforehand; durgā — the cities [of enemies] difficult to enter, [with strongholds and walls]; vi ghnanti — destroy completely; dviṣaḥ — enemies; vi (ghnanti) — they destroy [in the same way]; duritā — the sins [committed by the sacrificer]; tiraḥ nayanti — they make to perish."

Bhāvārtha (p. 416) — "Varuṇa and the other deities destroy, before those devotees who worship them with devotion, the strongholds and cities of their enemies and in the end the enemies themselves, completely. In the same way they destroy all the sins, the enemies within, of the sacrificer."

Rik 41.3, continued (from p. 417)

English Translation (the source's own, p. 417) — "The kings (Varuna, Mitra and Aryaman) first destroy the stronghold of the enemies of the worshippers, then the enemies themselves and then the sins and evil deeds of their worshippers."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 417 - durgā = duḥkhena gacchantyatreti durgāṇi | gantuṃ duḥśakāni śatrunagarāṇi — "places that can be entered only with great difficulty; one may say, inaccessible, hard to enter. Here the commentator explains durgā as the enemies' cities that cannot be broken into." - rājānaḥ — "Here rājānaḥ means the deities Mitra, Varuṇa and Aryaman. Calling Varuṇa especially by the word rājan is a well-established usage." - nayanti duritā tiraḥ — "duritā means sinful acts, bad deeds, evil thoughts and the like; the intention is that they destroy them. The main intention: these three deities, Varuṇa and the others, first destroy the enemies' cities, then the enemies; afterwards they remove the sins of the devotees who praise them."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 417–418 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - durgā: "duḥkhena gacchantyatra", a place fit to be entered only with trouble; suduror adhikaraṇe (Pā. Sū. 3-2-48-vā. 3): after gam preceded by the prefixes su, dur, the suffix ḍa; the print explains that the ḍ gives the it name to the ṭu-class and ḍ, with loss of the ṭi (the a of gam) by the ḍit effect; śeś chandasi bahulam the loss of śi; num augment, lengthening of the penultimate, loss of the nasal. - puraḥ: pūrvādharāvarāṇām asipuradhavaśca caiṣām — पूर्वाधरावराणामसिपुरधवश्चैषाम् — (Pā. Sū. 5-3-39): after the words pūrva, adhara, avara in the senses of direction, place and time, the suffix asi; and in this suffix, pur, adh, av for them; so asi after pūrva in the time-sense, with pur for pūrva: pur + as; the accent of the suffix, hence final-acute. - ghnanti: root han hiṃsāgatyoḥ, laṭ, jhi; jho 'ntaḥ gives ant; śap → luk because of the adādi class; han + anti; gamahanajanakhanaghasāṃ lopaḥ kṅity anaṅi — गमहनजनखनघसां लोपः क्ङित्यनङि — (Pā. Sū. 6-4-98): the penultimate of gam, han, jan, khan, ghas is lost before a kit or ṅit ajādi suffix other than aṅ; ho hanter ñṇinneṣu — हो हन्तेर्ञ्णिन्नेषु — (Pā. Sū. 7-3-54): gha [kutva] for the h of han before a ñit, ṇit suffix or nī; āyannādiṣūpadeśivadvacanaṃ svarasiddhyartham (Pā. Sū. 7-1-2-1, i.e. a vārttika on 7-1-2): the substitution ant counts as in the upadeśa, so by ādyudāttaś ca the a of ant is acute; it begins the second pāda, so tiṅ atiṅaḥ does not make it wholly unaccented. Rik 3 ends here (|| 3 ||).

Rik 41.4 (pp. 418–421, PDF 432–435)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 418; Saṃhitā accents as printed (checked at 350 dpi); Pada unaccented.)

सु॒गः प॑न्था अनृक्ष॒र आदि॑त्यास ऋ॒तं य॒ते । नात्रा॑वख॒ादो अ॑स्ति वः ॥ ४ ॥

sugáḥ panthā anṛkṣará ādityāsa ṛtáṃ yaté | nātrāvakhādó asti vaḥ || 4 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 418)

सुऽगः । पन्थाः । अनृक्षरः । आदित्यासः । ऋतम् । यते । न । अत्र । अवऽखादः । अस्ति । वः ॥ ४ ॥

su-gaḥ | panthāḥ | anṛkṣaraḥ | ādityāsaḥ | ṛtam | yate | na | atra | ava-khādaḥ | asti | vaḥ || 4 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (pp. 418–419)

हे आदित्यास ऋतं यते यज्ञं गच्छते भवत्समूहाय पन्था मार्गः सुगः सुष्ठु गन्तुं शक्यः अनृक्षरः कण्टकरहितश्च । अत्रास्मिन्कर्मणि वो युष्माकमवखादोऽवमन्तव्यः । खादो जुगुप्सितहविर्विशेषो नास्ति । तस्मादिहागन्तव्यमित्यर्थः ॥ सुगः । सुदुरोरधिकरण इति गमेर्डप्रत्ययः । पन्थाः । पथिमथोः सर्वनामस्थाने इत्याद्युदात्तत्वं । अनृक्षरः । ऋषी गतौ । ऋषन्त्यन्तर्गच्छन्तीत्यृक्षराः कण्टकाः । तन्यृषिभ्यां क्सरन् । उ. ३-७५ । इति क्सरन्प्रत्ययः । कित्त्वादुणाभावः । कत्वषत्वे । यास्कस्त्वाह । ऋक्षरः कण्टक ऋच्छतेः । नि. ९-३२ । इति । न विद्यन्ते ऋक्षरा अस्मिन्नित्यनृक्षरः । नञ्सुभ्यामित्युत्तरपदान्तोदात्तत्वं । आदित्यासः । अदितेः पुत्रा आदित्याः । दित्यदित्यादित्येत्यादिना । पा. ४-१-८५ । इति ण्यप्रत्ययः । आञ्जसेरसुक् । आमन्त्रिताद्युदात्तत्वं । पादादित्वादाष्टमिकनिघाताभावः । यते । इण् गतौ । लटः शतृ । अदादित्वाच्छपो लुक् । इणो यण् । पा. ६-४-८१ । इति यणादेशः । शतुरनुम इति विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वं । अवखादः । खादृ भक्षणे । भावे घञ् । अवमतः खादोऽवखादः । थाथादिनोत्तरपदान्तोदात्तत्वं ॥

*he ādityāsa ṛtaṃ yate yajñaṃ gacchate bhavatsamūhāya panthā mārgaḥ sugaḥ suṣṭhu gantuṃ śakyaḥ anṛkṣaraḥ kaṇṭakarahitaś ca | atrāsmin karmaṇi vo yuṣmākam avakhādo 'vamantavyaḥ | khādo jugupsitahavirviśeṣo nāsti | tasmād ihāgantavyam ity arthaḥ || sugaḥ | suduror adhikaraṇa iti gamer ḍapratyayaḥ | panthāḥ | pathimathoḥ sarvanāmasthāne ity ādyudāttatvaṃ | anṛkṣaraḥ | ṛṣī gatau | ṛṣanty antargacchantīty ṛkṣarāḥ kaṇṭakāḥ | tanyṛṣibhyāṃ ksaran | u. 3-75 | iti kṣaranpratyayaḥ | kittvād guṇābhāvaḥ | katvaṣatve | yāskas tv āha | ṛkṣaraḥ kaṇṭaka ṛcchateḥ | ni. 9-32 | iti | na vidyante ṛkṣarā asminn ity anṛkṣaraḥ | nañsubhyām ity uttarapadāntodāttatvaṃ | ādityāsaḥ | aditeḥ putrā ādityāḥ | dityadityādityety ādinā | pā. 4-1-85 | iti ṇyapratyayaḥ | ājjaser asuk | āmantritādyudāttatvaṃ | pādāditvād āṣṭamikanighātābhāvaḥ | yate | iṇ gatau | laṭaḥ śatṛ | adāditvāc chapo luk | iṇo yaṇ | pā. 6-4-81 | iti yaṇādeśaḥ | śatur anuma iti vibhakter udāttatvaṃ | avakhādaḥ | khādṛ bhakṣaṇe | bhāve ghañ | avamataḥ khādo 'vakhādaḥ | thāthādinottarapadāntodāttatvaṃ ||

(Bhāṣya checked at 300–700 dpi: "tanyṛṣibhyāṃ", U. 3-75, Ni. 9-32 (first digit ৎ-like ৩), Pā. 4-1-85, 6-4-81; it ends with "||" only. The speck before nāsti is not an avagraha.)

Translation: "O Ādityas, for your host going to the ṛtam, the sacrifice, the panthāḥ, the way, is sugaḥ, easy to go, and anṛkṣaraḥ, without thorns. Atra, in this rite, vaḥ, for you, avakhādaḥ, a thing to be despised: no particular despised oblation is there. Therefore you should come here: so the sense. Sugaḥ: the suffix ḍa after gam by suduror adhikaraṇe. Panthāḥ: first-syllable acute by pathimathoḥ sarvanāmasthāne. Anṛkṣaraḥ: root ṛṣī gatau; 'ṛṣanti, they go inside': ṛkṣarāḥ, thorns; the suffix ksaran from tan and ṛṣ (tanyṛṣibhyāṃ ksaran, U. 3-75); because it is kit no guṇa; k-substitution and ṣ; Yāska says 'ṛkṣaraḥ a thorn, from ṛcchati' (Ni. 9-32); 'na vidyante ṛkṣarā asmin', anṛkṣaraḥ; the final syllable of the latter member by nañ-subhyām. Ādityāsaḥ: 'sons of Aditi'; the suffix ṇya by dityadityādityа… [Pā. 4-1-85]; asuk by ājjaser asuk; first-syllable acute as a vocative; no eighth-adhyāya nighāta because it begins a pāda. Yate: root iṇ gatau; śatṛ for laṭ; śap elided; yaṇ by iṇo yaṇ [Pā. 6-4-81]; the ending acute by śatur anumaḥ. Avakhādaḥ: root khādṛ bhakṣaṇe; ghañ in the abstract sense; 'a despised khāda': avakhādaḥ; final-acute by thāthādi…."

Pratipadārtha (p. 419) — "ādityāsaḥ — O Ādityas; ṛtaṃ yate — going for the sacrifice; vaḥ — for your host; panthāḥ — the road; sugaḥ — easy to travel; anṛkṣaraḥ — free from thorns (stones, thorns); atra — in this rite; avakhādaḥ — an oblation to be rejected and that causes disgust (to you); na asti — is not [there] (so be kind and come)."

Bhāvārtha (p. 419) — "O Ādityas, the road that comes to this place of sacrifice is easy for your host to travel and is free from stones and thorns. The oblations that we offer with devotion are not disgusting to you; they are tasty and bring you satisfaction."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 419) — "Adityas, your path leading to the Sacrifice is easy and free from thorns ; no unworthy oblation is here prepared for you."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 419–420 - sugaḥ = suṣṭhu gantuṃ śakyaḥ — "a road easy to go along." - anṛkṣaraḥ — "ṛṣī gatau | ṛṣanty antargacchantīty ṛkṣarāḥ kaṇṭakāḥ: the root ṛṣī has the sense 'going, entering'. What enters the body when one walks is a thorn, which is called ṛkṣara. A road without ṛkṣaras is called anṛkṣara." - ṛtam — "ṛta means sacrifice. 'satyaṃ vā yajñaṃ vā' (Ni. 4-19) says the Nirukta statement." yate = gacchate — "to you who go." - avakhādaḥ — "khāda bhakṣaṇe; avamataḥ khādo 'vakhādaḥ; jugupsitahavirviśeṣaḥ. Khāda means food such as oblations that are fit to be eaten. Avakhādaḥ means an oblation that is not fit to eat, that is disagreeable, of low quality."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 420–421 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - sugaḥ: suduror adhikaraṇe (Pā. Sū. 3-2-48-vā. 3): ḍa after gam preceded by su; "the ṭu class and ḍ of the suffix's beginning take the it name by cuṭū (Pā. Sū. 1-3-7)" so only a remains; because of the doubling of the suffix [ḍa…] the ṭi (am) is lost: suga; nominative singular su. - panthāḥ: pathimathṛbhukṣām āt — पथिमथ्यृभुक्षामात् — (Pā. Sū. 7-1-85): ā for the n of pathin, mathin, ṛbhukṣin in the sarvanāmasthāna; pathimathoḥ sarvanāmasthāne (Pā. Sū. 6-1-199) first-syllable acute; patheṣ ṣṭhaṃ ca… (U. Sū. 4-452, grammar series): root patlṛ gatau, suffix ini with th for t, so pathin, final-acute; ito 't sarvanāmasthāne (Pā. Sū. 7-1-86) i → a; tho nthaḥ (Pā. Sū. 7-1-87): n augment for th; savarṇadīrgha; ru and visarga: panthāḥ.* - anṛkṣaraḥ: tanu vistāre, ṛṣī gatau: after these roots ksaran (tanyṛṣibhyāṃ ksaran, U. Sū. 3-355, grammar series);*

*it is kit; ṛṣ + ksara; ṣaḍhoḥ kaḥ si (Pā. Sū. 8-2-41): k for ṣ; ādeśapratyayayoḥ gives ṣ for s: ṛkṣara. "To go inside" — ṛkṣara means thorn; ṛtvij is another word with the same derivation; Yāska has described this form from the tudādi root with the senses ṛccha gatīndriyapralayamūrtibhāveṣu; his intention is shown by'ṛkṣaraḥ kaṇṭaka ṛcchateḥ' (Niru. 9-32); 'na vidyante ṛkṣarāḥ yasmin saḥ': a bahuvrīhi* — nañsubhyām* (no number printed) gives the final-acute of the latter member in place of the first-member accent. - ādityāsaḥ: "aditeḥ apatyāni pumāṃsaḥ": dityadityādityapatyuttarapadāṇ ṇyaḥ (Pā. Sū. 4-1-85): after diti, aditi, āditya and words ending in pati [as uttarapada], ṇya in the prāgdīvyatīya senses; in the sense of descendant ṇya after aditi; aditi + ya; yasyeti ca the loss of the i; taddhiteṣv acām ādeḥ vṛddhi; vocative plural jas; ājjaser asuk; āmantritasya ca (no number printed) first-syllable acute; at the beginning of the second pāda, hence the eighth-adhyāya unaccentedness does not come. - yate: root iṇ gatau; laṭaḥ śatṛśānacau— (no number printed): śatṛ for laṭ; śap elided; iṇo yaṇ (Pā. Sū. 6-4-81): yaṇ for the iṇ before an ac-initial suffix, barring iyaṅ; yat, then ā... [as read]; dative singular; śatur anumo nadyajādī (no number printed): the ending is acute after a śatṛ without num. - avakhādaḥ: khādṛ bhakṣaṇe, ghañ in the abstract sense; the prefix ava conveys the sense "despised"; "avamantavyaḥ khādaḥ avakhādaḥ"; thāthaghañ— (no number printed): final-acute for the latter member. Rik 4 ends here (|| 4 ||).

Rik 41.5 (pp. 421–423, PDF 435–437)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 421; Saṃhitā accents as printed (checked at 350–700 dpi); Pada unaccented.)

यं यज्ञं नयथा नर आदित्या ऋजुना पथा । प्र वः स धीतयै नशत् ॥ ५ ॥

yaṃ yajñáṃ náyathā nara ādityā ṛjúnā pathā́ | pra vaḥ sá dhītáye naśat || 5 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 421)

यम् । यज्ञम् । नयथ । नरः । आदित्याः । ऋजुना । पथा । प्र । वः । सः । धीतये । नशत् ॥ ५ ॥

yam | yajñam | nayatha | naraḥ | ādityāḥ | ṛjunā | pathā | pra | vaḥ | saḥ | dhītaye | naśat || 5 ||

(The Saṃhitā prints nayathā*, long, the Pada* nayatha*, short.)*

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 422)

हे नरो नेतार आदित्या यं यज्ञमृजुना पथाविकलेन मार्गेण नयथ पारं प्रापयेथ स यज्ञो वो धीतये युष्मत्पानायोपभोगाय प्र णशत् । प्राप्नोतु ॥ नयथ । आदुपदेशाल्लसार्वधातुकानुदात्तत्वे धातुस्वरः । यद्वृत्तयोगादनिघातः । आन्येषामपि दृश्यत इति संहितायां दीर्घत्वं । पथा । तृतीयैकवचने भस्य टेर्लोपः । पा. ७-१-८८ । इति टिलोपः । अनुदात्तस्य च यत्रोदात्तलोप इति विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वं । धीतये । धेट् पाने । आदेच इत्यात्वं । क्तिचि घुमास्थेतीत्वं । नशत् । नशतिर्गत्यर्थः । लेट्यडागमः । इतश्च लोप इतीकारलोपः ॥ २२ ॥

he naro netāra ādityā yaṃ yajñam ṛjunā pathāvikalena mārgeṇa nayatha pāraṃ prāpayetha sa yajño vo dhītaye yuṣmatpānāyopabhogāya pra ṇaśat | prāpnotu || nayatha | ād upadeśāl lasārvadhātukānudāttatve dhātusvaraḥ | yadvṛttayogād anighātaḥ | ānyeṣām api dṛśyata iti

saṃhitāyāṃ dīrghatvaṃ | pathā | tṛtīyaikavacane bhasya ṭer lopaḥ | pā. 7-1-88 | iti ṭilopaḥ | anudāttasya ca yatrodāttalopa iti vibhakter udāttatvaṃ | dhītaye | dheṭ pāne | ādeca ity ātvaṃ | ktici ghumāstheti ītvaṃ | naśat | naśatir gatyarthaḥ | leṭy aḍāgamaḥ | itaś ca lopa itīkāralopaḥ || 22 ||

Translation: "O naraḥ, leaders, Ādityas — yam yajñam, which sacrifice you lead ṛjunā pathā, by the straight, unbroken way, you bring across to the far shore — that sacrifice vaḥ dhītaye, for your drinking, your enjoyment, pra naśat, may it reach [you]. Nayatha: the root accent, since the la-substitute sārvadhātuka is unaccented after a root that is acute in the upadeśa; no nighāta because of the connection with yat; in the Saṃhitā the long vowel by ānyeṣām api dṛśyate. Pathā: in the instrumental the ṭi of the bha-stem is lost [Pā. 7-1-88]; the ending is acute by anudāttasya ca yatrodāttalopaḥ. Dhītaye: root dheṭ pāne; ā by ādeca…; ktic; ī by ghumāsthā…. Naśat: naśati is in the sense of going; leṭ with the augment aṭ; loss of the i by itaś ca lopaḥ."

Pratipadārtha (p. 422) — "naraḥ — O guides (leaders of the way); ādityāḥ — O Ādityas; yam yajñam — which sacrifice; ṛjunā pathā — by the straight way; nayatha — you lead to its end; saḥ yajñaḥ — that sacrifice; vaḥ — for you; dhītaye — for the drinking that gives satisfaction; pra naśat — may it be well reached (may it come to you)."

Bhāvārtha (p. 422) — "O Ādityas, who are guides, may that sacrifice which you lead to its end in a straight and true way bring satisfaction to you by [your] drinking of Soma and eating of oblations."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 422) — "O Adityas, may that sacrifice which you supervise by proper means be to you for your gratification."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 422 - ṛjunā pathā — "by a true way, a proper one — that is, one enjoined by the śāstra, an orderly way." - dhītaye = dheṭ pāne — "for the sake of drinking, that is, for the sake of drinking the Soma that is part of the sacrifice." - naśat = naśatir gatyarthaḥ — "may it come, may it reach you: that is, may satisfaction come to you by the drinking of Soma at the sacrifice."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (p. 423 — grammar page, noted briefly) - nayatha: root ṇīñ prāpaṇe, first class; laṭ, madhyama plural tha; ṇo naḥ (no number printed): n for the initial ṇ; śap; nī + a + tha, guṇa, ay-substitution; because of the connection with yam the wholly-unaccented does not come; the śap is unaccented, and by tāsyanudāttet… the tha is unaccented; the root accent remains; ānyeṣām api dṛśyate (Pā. Sū. 6-3-137) gives the long vowel in the Saṃhitā. - ādityāḥ: "explained in the earlier mantra." - pathā: ṭā after pathin; bhasya ṭer lopaḥ (Pā. Sū. 7-1-88): the ṭi of pathin, mathin, ṛbhukṣin in the bha-name is lost, so the in goes; this is acute, as said in the preceding mantra; the loss of an acute being caused by the ṭā-ending, it becomes the occasion of the bha-name; anudāttasya ca yatrodāttalopaḥ (Pā. Sū. 6-1-161): the unaccented that is the cause of the loss of an acute becomes acute; so the ending is acute. - dhītaye: root dheṭ pāne; ādeca upadeśe 'śiti (Pā. Sū. 6-4-45 [as printed; for 6-1-45]) gives ā to a root ending in e, o, ai, au in the upadeśa — but this does not occur before a suffix beginning with ś and an ñit/kit kasya…; so the ā after the e; ktic ktau ca saṃjñāyām (no number printed): ktic; ghumāsthāgāpājahātisāṃ hali — घुमास्थागापाजहातिसां हलि — (Pā. Sū. 6-4-66): ī for the ā of these roots before a kit or ñit ārdhadhātuka beginning with a consonant; by the paribhāṣā gāmādāgrahaṇeṣv aviśeṣaḥ (Paribhāṣā 116), the derived dhā also gets the ghu name by dādhā ghv adāp (Pā. Sū. 1-1-20); ā → ī: dhīti; dative singular. - naśat: ṇaśa adarśane, with ṇ → n; leṭ, tip; leṭo 'ḍāṭau: aṭ; itaś ca lopaḥ parasmaipadeṣu the loss of the i. Rik 5 ends here (|| 5 ||).

Rik 41.6 (pp. 424–, PDF 438–)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 424; Saṃhitā accents as printed (checked at 420–560 dpi); Pada unaccented.)

स रत्नं॑ मर्त्यो॑ वसु॒ विश्वं॑ तो॒कमु॒त त्मना॑ । अच्छा॑ गच्छ॒त्यस्तृ॑तः ॥ ६ ॥

sa ratnaṃ mártyo vásu víśvaṃ tokám utá tmánā | ácchā gacchaty ástṛtaḥ || 6 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 424)

सः । रत्नम् । मर्त्यः । वसु । विश्वम् । तोकम् । उत । त्मना । अच्छ । गच्छति । अस्तृतः ॥ ६ ॥

saḥ | ratnam | martyaḥ | vasu | viśvam | tokam | uta | tmanā | accha | gacchati | astṛtaḥ || 6 ||

(The Saṃhitā prints acchā*, the Pada* accha*.)*

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 424)

हे आदित्याः स तादृशो भवद्भिरनुगृहीतो मर्त्यो मनुष्यो यजमानोऽस्तृतः केनाप्यहिंसितः सन् रत्नं रमणीयं विश्वं वसु सर्वं धनमच्छाभिमुख्येन गच्छति । प्राप्नोति । उतापि च त्मना आत्मना स्वेन सदृशं तोकमपत्यं गच्छति ॥ त्मना । मन्त्रेष्वाङ्यादेरात्मनः । पा. ६-४-१४१ । इत्याकारलोपः । अच्छ । निपातस्य चेति दीर्घत्वं । अस्तृतः । स्तृञ् हिंसायां । न स्तृतोऽस्तृतः । अव्ययपूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं ॥

he ādityāḥ sa tādṛśo bhavadbhir anugṛhīto martyo manuṣyo yajamāno 'stṛtaḥ kenāpy ahiṃsitaḥ san ratnaṃ ramaṇīyaṃ viśvaṃ vasu sarvaṃ dhanam acchābhimukhyena gacchati | prāpnoti | utāpi ca tmanā ātmanā svena sadṛśaṃ tokam apatyaṃ gacchati || tmanā | mantreṣv āṅyāder ātmanaḥ | pā. 6-4-141 | ity ākāralopaḥ | accha | nipātasya ceti dīrghatvaṃ | astṛtaḥ | stṛñ hiṃsāyām | na stṛto 'stṛtaḥ | avyayapūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ ||

Translation: "O Ādityas, that man, the mortal, the sacrificer, thus favoured by you, astṛtaḥ, uninjured by anyone, ratnam, delightful, viśvam vasu, all wealth, acchā gacchati, comes to; he reaches. And uta tmanā, by himself, he obtains offspring like himself. Tmanā: the loss of the ā by mantreṣv āṅyāder ātmanaḥ [Pā. 6-4-141]. Accha: the lengthening by nipātasya ca. Astṛtaḥ: root stṛñ hiṃsāyām; 'na stṛtaḥ'; the accent of the first member as an indeclinable."

Pratipadārtha (p. 424) — "saḥ — (O Ādityas, favoured by you) that; martyaḥ — man [the sacrificer]; astṛtaḥ — one not injured by anyone; ratnam — attractive; viśvam vasu — all wealth; acchā — chiefly; gacchati — obtains; uta — and; tmanā — one like himself; tokam — progeny; (gacchati — obtains)."

Bhāvārtha (p. 424) — "O Ādityas, by your grace the human sacrificer destroys all his enemies and becomes free from injury. He obtains all wealth at once, and obtains progeny that is like his own self."

Rik 41.6, continued (from p. 425)

English Translation (the source's own, p. 425) — "That mortal whom you favour, obtains without any obstacles, all valuable wealth, and progeny like himself."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 425 - tokam — "tuk, tokam — since the word tokam is read among the fifteen names of offspring beginning with these, tokam means offspring, progeny of sons — 'progeny, offspring'" (the source adds the English words). - astṛtaḥ = stṛñ hiṃsāyām — "without obstacles, without trouble: 'without obstacles, without any hindrance'" (the English words are the source's).

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (p. 425 — grammar page, noted briefly) - ratnam: nabviṣayasyānisantasya (Phi. Sū. 26): first-syllable acute. - tmanā: mantreṣv āṅyāder ātmanaḥ — मन्त्रेष्वाङ्यादेरात्मनः — (Pā. Sū. 6-4-141): āṅ means the third-case singular ending of the ancients' technical term (prācīnasaṃjñā); when āṅ follows, the first letter of ātman is lost in the Veda, so the ā is lost. - acchā: nipātasya ca (Pā. Sū. 6-3-136): a particle in a mantra takes the long vowel; acchā gatyarthavadeṣu — अच्छ गत्यर्थवदेषु — (Pā. Sū. 1-4-69): when the roots of going and the root vad are used with it, the indeclinable accha takes the gati name and the nipāta name; hence the long vowel in the Saṃhitā. - astṛtaḥ: stṛñ hiṃsāyām, svādi (short-ending) or kryādi (long-ending), and in the sense of covering stṛ is read; the commentators of the Veda (vedabhāṣyakāra) take it also in the sense of injury; kta; this is an ajanta root; ūdṛdantaiḥ… does not include it, so it is unaccented; ekāca upadeśe 'nudāttāt — the prohibition of iṭ; or titutra— (Pā. Sū. 7-2-9) the prohibition of iṭ; "na stṛtaḥ": a nañ-compound; tatpuruṣe tulyārtha… gives the first-member accent as an indeclinable. Rik 6 ends here (|| 6 ||).

Rik 41.7 (pp. 426–428, PDF 440–442)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 426; Saṃhitā accents as printed (checked at 350–700 dpi); Pada unaccented. [accent ?] in line 1: the stroke in mitrasyāryamṇaḥ stands at the junction of syā and rya (placed on syā*).)*

कथा रा॑धाम सखाय॒ः स्तोम॑ं मि॒त्रस्या॑र्य॒म्णः । [accent ?] मह्रि॒ प्सरो॒ वरु॑णस्य ॥ ७ ॥

kathā́ rā́dhāma sakhāyaḥ stómaṃ mitrásyāryamṇáḥ | [accent ?] mahi psáro váruṇasya || 7 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 426)

कथा । राधाम । सखायः । स्तोमम् । मित्रस्य । अर्यम्णः । महि । प्सरः । वरुणस्य ॥ ७ ॥

kathā | rādhāma | sakhāyaḥ | stomam | mitrasya | aryamṇaḥ | mahi | psaraḥ | varuṇasya || 7 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 426)

हे सखायः सखिभूता ऋत्विजो मित्रादीनां त्रयाणां महि महत् प्सरो रूपं । अतस्तदनुरूपं स्तोमं स्तोत्रं कथा केन प्रकारेण राधाम । साधयामः ॥ कथा । थाहेतौ च च्छन्दसि । पा. ५-३-२६ । इति

किंशब्दात्प्रकारवचनेषु प्राग्दिशो विभक्तिरिति विभक्तिसंज्ञायां किमः कः । पा. ७-२-१०३ । इति कादेशः । प्रत्ययस्वरः । राधाम । राध साध संसिद्धौ । लेटि बहुलं छन्दसीति विकरणस्य लुक् । तिङ्ङतिङ इति निघातः । स्तोमं । ष्टुञ् स्तुतौ । अर्तिस्तुस्त्वित्यादिना भावे मन् । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वं । अर्यम्णः । षष्ठ्यैकवचनेऽल्लोपोऽन इत्यकारलोपः । उदात्तनिवृत्तिस्वरेण विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वं । महि । मह पूजायां । औणादिक इन्प्रत्ययः । प्सरः । प्सा भक्षणे । प्साति भक्षयतीति प्सरो रूपं । औणादिको डरप्रत्ययः ॥

he sakhāyaḥ sakhibhūtā ṛtvijo mitrādīnāṃ trayāṇāṃ mahi mahat psaro rūpaṃ | atas tadanurūpaṃ stomaṃ stotraṃ kathā kena prakāreṇa rādhāma | sādhayāmaḥ || kathā | thā hetau ca chandasi | pā. 5-3-26 | iti kiṃśabdāt prakāravacaneṣu prāgdiśo vibhaktir iti vibhaktisaṃjñāyāṃ kimaḥ kaḥ | pā. 7-2-103 | iti kādeśaḥ | pratyayasvaraḥ | rādhāma | rādha sādha saṃsiddhau | leṭi bahulaṃ chandasīti vikaraṇasya luk | tiṅ atiṅa iti nighātaḥ | stomaṃ | ṣṭuñ stutau | artistusv ity ādinā bhāve man | nittvād ādyudāttatvaṃ | aryamṇaḥ | ṣaṣṭhyaikavacane 'llopo 'na ity akāralopaḥ | udāttanivṛttisvareṇa vibhakter udāttatvaṃ | mahi | maha pūjāyāṃ | auṇādika in-pratyayaḥ | psaraḥ | psā bhakṣaṇe | psāti bhakṣayatīti psaro rūpaṃ | auṇādiko ḍarapratyayaḥ ||

Translation: "O sakhāyaḥ, friends, the priests who are [as] friends: the mahi, great, psaraḥ, form, of the three, Mitra and the others. Therefore stomam, a praise, to match it — kathā, in what way — rādhāma, shall we accomplish? Kathā: by thā hetau ca chandasi [Pā. 5-3-26] the suffix thā after kim, in the senses of manner; since prāgdiśo vibhaktiḥ gives the vibhakti name, kā for kim by kimaḥ kaḥ [Pā. 7-2-103]; accent of the suffix. Rādhāma: root rādha sādha saṃsiddhau; in leṭ the vikaraṇa is elided by bahulaṃ chandasi; tiṅ atiṅaḥ. Stomam: root ṣṭuñ stutau; man in the abstract sense by artistu…; since nit, first-syllable acute. Aryamṇaḥ: in the genitive singular the loss of a by alopo 'naḥ; the ending acute by the accent that follows loss of an acute. Mahi: root maha pūjāyām; the Uṇādi suffix in. Psaraḥ: root psā bhakṣaṇe: 'psāti, it devours': psaraḥ, form; the Uṇādi ḍara."

Pratipadārtha (p. 426) — "sakhāyaḥ — O friends, the priests; mitrasya — of Mitra; aryamṇaḥ — of Aryaman; varuṇasya — of Varuṇa [these three deities]; mahi — of greatness; psaraḥ — [their] glory; stomam — the praise [fit to praise it]; kathā — in what way; rādhāma — shall we accomplish?"

Bhāvārtha (p. 426) — "O priests, our friends, in what way shall we accomplish the glory, and the praise, of these three deities, Mitra, Aryaman and Varuṇa?"

English Translation (the source's own, p. 427) — "My friends, how shall we recite the praise worthy of the great glory of Mitra, Varuna, and Aryaman ?"

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 427 - kathā = kena prakāreṇa — "in what manner." - rādhāma — "rādha sādha saṃsiddhau: let us accomplish; let us bring it to completion." - sakhāyaḥ — "here the sacrificer addresses the priests as friends. Since there is the statement of the Taittirīya Saṃhitā, 'ṛtvijo vā asya sakhāyaḥ', the priests are called friends of the sacrificer." - mahi = maha pūjāyām | mahat | śreṣṭhaṃ pūjyam — "great; excellent; worthy of worship." - psaraḥ — "psā bhakṣaṇe; 'psāti bhakṣayatīti psaro rūpam': the form of glory, greatness, 'glory'" (the English word is the source's).

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 427–428 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - kathā: thā hetau ca chandasi — था हेतौ च छन्दसि — (Pā. Sū. 5-3-26): thā after kim both in the sense of cause and manner; prāgdiśo vibhaktiḥ — प्राग्दिशो विभक्तिः — (Pā. Sū. 5-3-1) gives thā the name vibhakti; kimaḥ kaḥ — किमः कः — (Pā. Sū. 7-2-103): ka for kim before a vibhakti; the accent of the suffix. - rādhāma: rādha sādha saṃsiddhau; leṭ, first-person plural; mas, sa uttamasya — स उत्तमस्य — (Pā. Sū. 3-4-98): the s of the leṭ first-person ending is optionally lost; so the loss of s [s of mas]; bahulaṃ chandasi gives luk to the vikaraṇa; leṭo 'ḍāṭau the aṭ augment; tiṅ atiṅaḥ wholly unaccented. - stomam: ṣṭuñ stutau; dhātvādeḥ ṣaḥ saḥ the s; artistusu— (no number printed): the suffix man in the abstract; guṇa: o; the suffix being nit, the word is first-syllable acute. - āryamṇaḥ: after aryaman, the genitive singular ṅas; alopo 'naḥ — अल्लोपोऽनः — (Pā. Sū. 6-4-134): the loss of the a of a stem ending in an when it is a bha, before an ac-initial ending; the print argues at length that the rule's aṅga is the an-ending aṅga in the bha sense, and not merely the a after t in takṣṇaḥ; āryamṇaḥ: aryam + n + as; aṭkupvāṅ… gives ṇ; the ending is acute by the udāttanivṛtti rule. - mahi: maha pūjāyām; the Uṇādi in. - psaraḥ: psā bhakṣaṇe, adādi; "psāti bhakṣayatīti, so psaraḥ, form, i.e. form"; the Uṇādi suffix ḍara; in the suffix the ḍ [as ḍit] gives the ṭi-loss: the ā of the root is lost; first-syllable acute by the suffix accent. Rik 7 ends here (|| 7 ||).

Rik 41.8 (pp. 428–431, PDF 442–445)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 428; Saṃhitā accents as printed (checked at 350–630 dpi); Pada unaccented; the print ends line 1 with devayantaṃ*.)*

मा वो घ्नन्तं मा शपन्तं प्रति वोचे देवयन्तं । सुम्नैरिद्व आ विवासे ॥ ८ ॥

mā vo ghnántaṃ mā śápantaṃ práti voce devayántaṃ | sumnaír id va ā vivāse || 8 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 428)

मा । वः । घ्नन्तम् । मा । शपन्तम् । प्रति । वोचे । देवऽयन्तम् । सुम्नैः । इत् । वः । आ । विवासे ॥ ८ ॥

mā | vaḥ | ghnantam | mā | śapantam | prati | voce | deva-yantam | sumnaiḥ | it | vaḥ | ā | vivāse || 8 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 429)

हे मित्रादयो देवा देवयन्तं देवान्कामयमानं यजमानं यः शत्रुर्हन्ति घ्नन्तं तादृशं शत्रुं वो युष्मभ्यं मा प्रति वोचे । दुरुक्तकथनभीत्याहं न कथयामि । तथा यजमानं यः शत्रुः शपति तमपि शपन्तं मा प्रति वोचे । भवद्भिरेव विचार्य शिक्षणीय इत्यर्थः । अहं तु सुम्नैरिद्धन्यैरेव वो युष्मानाविवासे । सर्वतः परिचरामि ॥ घ्नन्तं । हन्तीति घ्नन् । गमहनेत्यादिनोपधालोपः । हो हन्तेरिति कुत्वे प्रत्ययस्वरः । शपन्तं । शप आक्रोशे । अदुपदेशाल्लसार्वधातुकानुदात्तत्वे धातुस्वरः । वोचे । ब्रूञ् व्यक्तायां वाचि । माङ[?] लुङ[?]टि ब्रुवो वचिः । पा. २-४-५३ । इति वचिः । अस्यतिवक्तीत्यादिना च्लेरङादेशः । वच उमित्युमागमः । न माङ्योगे इत्यडभावः । देवयन्तं । सुप आत्मनः क्यच् । न छन्दस्यपुत्रस्येत्वप्रतिषेधः । सुम्नैः । म्ना अभ्यासे । सुष्ठु म्नायतेऽभ्यस्यते इति सुम्नं । आतश्चोपसर्ग इति कप्रत्ययः । आतो लोप इटि चेत्याकारलोपः । विवासे । विवासतिः परिचरणकर्मा ॥

he mitrādayo devā devayantaṃ devān kāmayamānaṃ yajamānaṃ yaḥ śatrur hanti ghnantaṃ tādṛśaṃ śatruṃ vo yuṣmabhyaṃ mā prati voce | duruktakathanabhītyāhaṃ na kathayāmi | tathā yajamānaṃ yaḥ śatruḥ śapati tam api śapantaṃ mā prati voce | bhavadbhir eva vicārya śikṣaṇīya ity arthaḥ | ahaṃ tu sumnair id dhanyair eva vo yuṣmān ā vivāse | sarvataḥ paricarāmi || ghnantaṃ | hantīti ghnan | gamahanety ādinopadhālopaḥ | ho hanter iti kutve pratyayasvaraḥ | śapantaṃ | śapa ākrośe | adupadeśāl lasārvadhātukānudāttatve dhātusvaraḥ | voce | brūñ vyaktāyāṃ vāci | māṅ[?] luṅ[?]ṭi bruvo vaciḥ | pā. 2-4-53 | iti vaciḥ | asyativaktītyādinā ca cler aṅādeśaḥ | vaca um ity umāgamaḥ | na māṅyoge ity aḍabhāvaḥ | devayantaṃ | supa ātmanaḥ kyac | na chandasy aputrasyety ītvapratiṣedhaḥ | sumnaiḥ | mnā abhyāse | suṣṭhu mnāyate 'bhyasyate iti sumnaṃ | ātaś copasarga iti kapratyayaḥ | āto lopa iṭi cety ākāralopaḥ | vivāse | vivāsatiḥ paricaraṇakarmā ||

(The two words before bruvo vaciḥ (read at 700 dpi as ಮಾಙ? ಲುಙ?ಟಿ) are still not settled [?]; the number is clearly 2-4-53.)

Translation: "O Mitra and the other gods, the enemy who kills (hanti), ghnantam, the sacrificer devayantam, who desires the gods — such an enemy [by name] vaḥ, to you, mā prati voce, I do not tell: out of fear of speaking ill words I do not tell. Likewise the enemy who curses (śapati) the sacrificer, that curser mā prati voce: [I do not tell; it is meant that] you should yourselves consider and instruct him. Aham tu, I, however, sumnaiḥ it, with riches alone, vaḥ, you, ā vivāse, I serve on all sides. Ghnantam: 'hanti'; the loss of the penultimate by gamahana…; ku by ho hanteḥ; accent of the suffix. Śapantam: root śapa ākrośe; the root accent. Voce: root brūñ vyaktāyāṃ vāci; vaci for brū [Pā. 2-4-53]; aṅ for cli by asyativaktī…; um augment for vac; no aṭ in connection with mā. Devayantam: kyac; the prohibition of ī by na chandasy aputrasya. Sumnaiḥ: root mnā abhyāse; 'suṣṭhu mnāyate'; the suffix ka by ātaś copasarge; loss of ā. Vivāse: vivāsati is a verb of serving."

Pratipadārtha (p. 429) — "(O Mitra and the other deities,) devayantam — the devotee who desires [the help of] the gods; ghnantam — the enemy who injures [him] (his name); mā prati voce — I do not speak [out of fear of the fault of reviling others]; śapantam — the enemy who reviles [the sacrificer]; mā (prati voce) — I do not name him; sumnaiḥ it — only with riches; vaḥ — you; ā vivāse — I serve and honour from all sides."

Bhāvārtha (p. 429) — "O deities, Mitra and the others, I do not complain to you about the enemy who injures the sacrificer who praises you, nor about the enemy who reviles him. Rather I serve you with wealth and other offerings."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 429) — "I do not complain against any man who injures or reviles the man devoted to the gods ; I rather serve you with wealth."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 430 - ghnantam = hantīti ghnan tam — "one who injures, kills, harms." - śapantam — "śapa ākrośe: one who reviles, who speaks bad words." - devayantam = devān kāmayamānam — "[the sacrificer] who wishes to praise the gods." - sumnaiḥ — "mnā abhyāse; suṣṭhu mnāyate 'bhyasyate iti sumnam; the word sumnam is read among the names of happiness (Ni. 3-13)." - vivāse = vivāsatiḥ paricaraṇakarmā — "I shall serve."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 430–431 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - ghnantam: root han hiṃsāgatyoḥ, laṭ; laṭaḥ śatṛśānacau— (no number printed) gives śatṛ; śap elided; han + at;

sārvadhātukam apit: the śatṛ is ṅit; gamahana… gives loss of the penultimate a; ho hanter— (no number printed) makes h into gh (kutva) because of the n; in place of h, which is voiced and mahāprāṇa, a gh of the same kind comes; ghnat; accusative singular am; ugidacām— (no number printed): the augment num; anusvāra and parasavarṇa. - śapantam: root śapa ākrośe, divādi; instead of śyan the śap vikaraṇa [by Vedic usage], which is pit and unaccented; tāsyanudāttet… makes the śatṛ unaccented; the rest of the process as before. - voce: root brūñ vyaktāyāṃ vāci, luṅ, ātmanepada, first person, iṭ, cli, luṅ; bruvo vaciḥ (Pā. Sū. 2-4-53): vaci for brū before an ārdhadhātuka; the i in vaci is for ease of pronunciation; vac remains; asyativakti… (Pā. Sū. 3-1-52): aṅ for cli after as, vac and khyā; vaca um (Pā. Sū. 7-4-20): the augment um: v + u + c + a + i; ād guṇaḥ; na māṅyoge prohibits the augment aṭ: voce. - devayantam: supa ātmanaḥ kyac; na chandasy aputrasya prohibits the ī and long vowel; laṭ, śatṛ. - sumnam: mnā abhyāse, first class; ātaś copasarge — आतश्चोपसर्गे — (Pā. Sū. 3-1-136): when a prefix is the upapada, the suffix ka after a root ending in ā; āto lopa iṭi ca the loss of ā. - vivāse: "vivāsatiḥ paricaraṇakarmā" (Niru. 3-5-10): the root has the sense of serving; first-person iṭ, e. Rik 8 ends here (|| 8 ||).

Rik 41.9 (pp. 431–434, PDF 445–448)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 431; Saṃhitā accents as printed (checked at 350–560 dpi); Pada unaccented. [accent ?] in line 1: the first stroke stands at the junction of tu and ra in caturaś (placed on ra*).)*

चतुरश्चिद्ददमानाद्बिभीयादा निधातोः । [accent ?] न दुरुक्तायं स्पृहयेत् ॥ ९ ॥

catúraś cid dádamānād bibhīyād ā nídhātoḥ | [accent ?] ná duruktā́ya spṛhayet || 9 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 431)

चतुरः । चित् । ददमानात् । बिभीयात् । आ । निऽधातोः । न । दुःऽउक्ताय । स्पृहयेत् ॥ ९ ॥

caturaḥ | cit | dadamānāt | bibhīyāt | ā | ni-dhātoḥ | na | duḥ-uktāya | spṛhayet || 9 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (pp. 431–432)

घ्नन्तं शपन्तं च मा प्रतिवोच इति यदुक्तं तत्रोपपत्तिरुच्यते । दुरुक्ताय न स्पृहयेत् । दुष्टं वाक्यं न कामयेत् किंतु दुरुक्ताद्बिभीयात् । तत्रावशिष्टो मन्त्रभागः सर्वोऽपि दृष्टान्तः । चिदित्युपमार्थे वर्तते । अक्षद्यूतं कुर्वतोरुभयोर्मध्ये यः पुमान् चतुरश्चतुःसंख्याकान्कपर्दकान्ददमानाद्ददतो हस्ते धारयतः पुरुषात् आ निधातोः कपर्दकनिपातपर्यन्तं बिभीयात् अस्य जयो भविष्यति न भविष्यतीत्यन्यो भीतिं प्राप्नुयात् । अत्र यथा भयं तथा दुरुक्ताद्भेतव्यमिति धर्मरहस्यं । तस्मादहं घ्नन्तं शपन्तं मा प्रतिवोच इत्यभिप्रायः । अत्र निरुक्तं । चतुरोऽक्षान्स्मारयेत इति । तद्यथा कितवाद्बिभीयादेवमेव दुरुक्ताद्बिभीयान्न दुरुक्ताय स्पृहयेत् । नि. ३-१६ । इति ॥ चतुरः । चतुरः शसि । पा. ६-१-१६७ । इति विभक्तेः पूर्वस्योदात्तत्वं । ददमानात् । दद दाने । अत्र धारणार्थः । शपः पित्त्वादनुदात्तत्वं । अदुपदेशाल्लसार्वधातुकानुदात्तत्वेन शानजनुदात्तः धातुस्वर एव शिष्यते । बिभीयात् । ञिभी भये । लिङः जुहोत्यादित्वाच्छपः श्लुः । यासुट उदात्तत्वं । पादादित्वान्निघाताभावः । निधातोः । निपूर्वाद्दधातेः सितनिगमीत्यादिना । उ. १-७० । भावे तुन्प्रत्ययः । व्यत्ययेनाद्युदात्तत्वं । तादौ चेति गतिस्वरो न भवति । अताविद पर्युदस्तत्वात् । दुरुक्ताय । स्पृहेरीप्सितः । पा. १-४-३६ । इति

सम्प्रदानसञ्ज्ञायां चतुर्थी सम्प्रदाने । पा. २-३-१३ । इति चतुर्थी । स्पृहयेत् । स्पृह ईप्सायां । चुरादिरदन्तः । अतो लोपस्य स्थानिवद्भावाल्लघूपधगुणाभावः ॥ २३ ॥

ghnantaṃ śapantaṃ ca mā prativoca iti yad uktaṃ tatropapattir ucyate | duruktāya na spṛhayet | duṣṭaṃ vākyaṃ na kāmayet kiṃtu duruktād bibhīyāt | tatrāvaśiṣṭo mantrabhāgaḥ sarvo 'pi dṛṣṭāntaḥ | cid ity upamārthe vartate | akṣadyūtaṃ kurvator ubhayor madhye yaḥ pumān caturaś catuḥsaṃkhyākān kapardakān dadamānād dadato haste dhārayataḥ puruṣāt ā nidhātoḥ kapardakanipātaparyantaṃ bibhīyāt asya jayo bhaviṣyati na bhaviṣyatīty anyo bhītiṃ prāpnuyāt | atra yathā bhayaṃ tathā duruktād bhetavyam iti dharmarahasyaṃ | tasmād ahaṃ ghnantaṃ śapantaṃ mā prativoca ity abhiprāyaḥ | atra niruktaṃ | caturo 'kṣān smārayeta iti | tad yathā kitavād bibhīyād evam eva duruktād bibhīyān na duruktāya spṛhayet | ni. 3-16 | iti || caturaḥ | caturaḥ śasi | pā. 6-1-167 | iti vibhakteḥ pūrvasyodāttatvaṃ | dadamānāt | dada dāne | atra dhāraṇārthaḥ | śapaḥ pittvād anudāttatvaṃ | adupadeśāl lasārvadhātukānudāttatvena śānajanudāttaḥ dhātusvara eva śiṣyate | bibhīyāt | ñibhī bhaye | liṅaḥ juhotyāditvāc chapaḥ śluḥ | yāsuṭa udāttatvaṃ | pādāditvān nighātābhāvaḥ | nidhātoḥ | nipūrvād dadhāteḥ sitanigamīty ādinā | u. 1-70 | bhāve tunpratyayaḥ | vyatyayenādyudāttatvaṃ | tādau ceti gatisvaro na bhavati | atāv iti paryudastatvāt | duruktāya | spṛher īpsitaḥ | pā. 1-4-36 | iti sampradānasañjñāyāṃ caturthī sampradāne | pā. 2-3-13 | iti caturthī | spṛhayet | spṛha īpsāyāṃ | curādir adantaḥ | ato lopasya sthānivadbhāvāl laghūpadhaguṇābhāvaḥ || 23 ||

Translation: "What was said — 'I do not tell [the Maruts?] of the one who kills, nor of the one who curses' — the reason for it is now given. Duruktāya na spṛhayet: one should not desire an evil word; rather one should fear evil speech. The whole remaining part of the mantra is the example. Cit is in the sense of comparison. As between two persons playing at dice, the man [fears] the other who holds four dice (caturaḥ) — four cowries — in his hand, ā nidhātoḥ, until the fall of the cowries — [thinking] 'will victory be mine or not?' the other feels fear. Here, as there is fear, so one should fear evil speech: this is the secret of right conduct. Therefore the sense is: 'I do not tell of the one who kills, nor of the one who curses.' The Nirukta here: 'caturo 'kṣān smārayeta'; 'as one would fear a gambler, so one should fear evil speech and not desire an evil word' (Ni. 3-16). Caturaḥ: by caturaḥ śasi [Pā. 6-1-167] the syllable before the ending is acute. Dadamānāt: root dada dāne; here it means holding; the śap being pit is unaccented; the śānac, unaccented by the rule on the la-substitute after a root with an acute, so only the root accent remains. Bibhīyāt: root ñibhī bhaye; śap → ślu of the juhotyādi class; yāsuṭ acute; no nighāta since it begins a pāda. Nidhātoḥ: from dhā with ni, the suffix tun in the abstract sense by sitanigami… [U. 1-70]; first-syllable acute by vyatyaya; the gati accent by tādau ca does not come, since tāv is excluded. Duruktāya: the sampradāna name by spṛher īpsitaḥ [Pā. 1-4-36], then the dative by caturthī sampradāne [Pā. 2-3-13]. Spṛhayet: root spṛha īpsāyām, of the curādi class, ending in a; since the lost a counts as present, no guṇa of the light penultimate."

Pratipadārtha (p. 432) — "duruktāya — for reviling others; na spṛhayet — one should not desire; caturaḥ — four cowries (or dice); dadamānāt — from the man who holds them in his hand; ā nidhātoḥ cit — as [the gambler] fears (about the defeat for himself) until the [cowries] fall down; bibhīyāt — one should fear."

Bhāvārtha (p. 432) — "One should not desire to speak ill of others; for many harms arise from it. As the gamester fears, while the opponent still holds the dice or cowries in his hand and until they fall to the ground, whether defeat will come to him, so one who speaks ill of others should likewise fear what trouble will come to him."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 432) — "A man should be afraid to speak evil of any one as a gamester fears his opponent holding the four dice in his hand until they are thrown." (The source's heading reads "English Translaion" — a printed misprint [sic].)

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 433 - Main intention — "The point made in the previous ṛk, that we do not speak ill of the enemy of the sacrificer, is explained here. The main intention is: we shall not speak ill words about anyone, nor desire to speak them; if we speak evil we must be afraid of it. When two are playing dice, one person fears, in his mind, where the disaster that will turn against himself will fall, so long as the four dice (or cowries) are in the hand of the opponent, till they fall below; so must we be afraid in our minds of the matter of evil speech. Therefore we should not wish to speak evil words about that." - caturaḥ = catuḥsaṃkhyākān kapardān — "four cowries; or dice, as one wishes to say. In the ṛk only the word caturaḥ — 'four' — occurs; the word 'cowries' or 'dice' is to be supplied. In this matter Yāska says: चतुरोऽक्षान् धारयते इति तद्यथा कितवाद्बिभीयादेवमेव दुरुक्ताद्बिभीयान्न दुरुक्ताय स्पृहयेत्कदाचित् (Ni. 3-16) — caturo 'kṣān dhārayate iti | tad yathā kitavād bibhīyād evam eva duruktād bibhīyān na duruktāya spṛhayet kadācit — mine and tentative: 'he holds four dice; as one would fear the gambler, so one should fear evil speech and never desire it'. That is: a man playing dice, with the four dice in the hand of his opponent, fears where the unfavourable throw will fall; so we should never wish to speak evil of others."* (The print gives the Nirukta in a form slightly different from the bhāṣya's quotation [smārayeta against dhārayate]; I give both as printed.) - caturaḥ — "four; here four means four cowries or dice." - cit — "the word cit* here must be taken in the sense of iva [as], a particle of comparison." - dadamānāt — "dada dāne; here the sense of holding; haste dhārayataḥ puruṣāt: from the man who holds the dice in his hand." - ā nidhātoḥ — "until [they] are thrown down, until they fall."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 433–434 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - caturaḥ: cati yācane; catir uran — चतेरुरन् — (U. Sū. 5-736, grammar series): the suffix uran after the root cati; it is nit, so first-syllable acute would apply; but catura śasi — चतुरः शसि — (Pā. Sū. 6-1-167): when śas follows, the last letter of the word catur is acute [by the pre-ending rule], so the u is acute. - dadamānāt: dada dāne, first class, ātmanepada; for laṭ, laṭaḥ śatṛśānacau— gives śānac; śap; dad + a + āna; āner muk — आनेर्मुक् — (no number printed): the augment muk; because śap is pit it is unaccented; tāsyanudāttet… makes the śānac unaccented; the root accent stands; ablative singular. - bibhīyāt: root ñibhī bhaye; vidhiliṅ, śap → ślu; doubling, shortening, jaś; yāsuṭparasmaipadeṣūdātto ṅicca (Pā. Sū. 3-4-103) gives the acute augment yāsuṭ; suṭ; liṅaḥ salopo— (no number printed) the loss of both s; since it begins a pāda it is not wholly unaccented. - nidhātoḥ: ḍudhāñ dhāraṇapoṣaṇayoḥ with ni; sitanigamimasisacyavidhāñkuśibhyas tun — सितनिगमिमसिसच्यविधाञ्कुशिभ्यस्तुन् — (U. Sū. 1-69): the suffix tun after the root; titutra— (no number printed) prohibits iṭ; tādau ca niti kṛtyatau — तादौ च निति कृत्यतौ — (Pā. Sū. 6-2-50): a gati before a kṛt suffix beginning with t [non-tun etc.] keeps its own accent; but since tu is excluded (atau), the gati does not keep it; gatikārakopapadāt kṛt would then give the accent of the latter member; by vyatyayo bahulam it becomes first-syllable acute. - duruktāya: spṛher īpsitaḥ — स्पृहेरीप्सितः — (Pā. Sū. 1-4-36): when the root spṛh is used, that which is desired gets the sampradāna name; caturthī sampradāne (Pā. Sū. 2-3-13) the fourth case. - spṛhayet: spṛha īpsāyām, curādi, ending in a; satyāpapāśa… — सत्यापपाशरूपवीणातूलश्लोकसेनालोमत्वचवर्मवर्णचूर्णचुरादिभ्यो णिच् — (Pā. Sū. 3-1-27 [as printed; for 3-1-25]; last digit flat-footed ೭): ṇic; ato lopaḥ; acaḥ parasmin—: the loss of a with sthānivad bhāva so no guṇa; liṅ, tip; the loss of i; śap; yāsuṭ, suṭ; the loss of both s; spṛhi + a + yā + t; guṇa, ay-substitution: spṛhaya + yāt; ato yeyaḥ gives iya for yā: spṛhaya + iya + t; ād guṇaḥ; lopo vyor vali: the y is lost: spṛhayet. Rik 9 ends here (no number printed after the grammar).

Close of Sūkta 41. Printed on p. 434 after the grammar: "illige 41neya sūkta mugidudu" — "Here the 41st sūkta has ended." (Numeral read as "41".) With it the Sixth Sūkta of the Eighth Anuvāka (printed pp. 410–434) ends. The next leaf, p. 435 = PDF 449, carries the title "nalavattaraḍaneya sūktavu" ("the forty-second sūkta"), the Sanskrit introduction and Kannada anuvāda of Sūkta 42 (saṃ pūṣan, ten Riks, Kaṇva Ghaura, Pūṣan, Gāyatrī — to be recited when setting out on a journey) and its heading; these follow below. (The contents table in this file's header gave p. 433 for Sūkta 42; the print shows p. 435. The table's numerals were read at low resolution and are superseded.)

Summary of Sūkta 41 (my note). Nine Riks to Varuṇa, Mitra and Aryaman (Riks 1–3, 7–9) and the Ādityas (Riks 4–6). Rik 1: the man they protect defeats his enemies. Rik 2: he is filled with riches and prospers unhurt. Rik 3: they destroy the enemies' strongholds, then the enemies, then the sacrificer's sins. Rik 4: the Ādityas' road to the sacrifice is smooth and free of thorns, and no unworthy oblation is prepared. Rik 5: may the sacrifice they lead by the straight way reach them. Rik 6: the man they favour gains wealth and offspring. Rik 7: how shall the priests praise the glory of the three? Rik 8: the poet will not complain about his enemies but will serve the gods with wealth. Rik 9: one should fear evil speech as a gambler fears the opponent holding the dice. All nine Riks are written in full; the heavily crowded grammar passages are characterized only.

SŪKTA 42 (printed p. 435 = PDF 449)

Forty-second Sūkta (large Kannada title line: "nalavattaraḍaneya sūktavu")

Page 435 (PDF 449) — Sāyaṇa's introduction, the Kannada anuvāda, and the heading

Sāyaṇa's introduction (printed in Kannada script; read from the 150-dpi image)

> सं पूषन्निति दशर्चं सप्तमं सूक्तं काण्वं गायत्रं पूषदेवताकं । सं पूषन्दश पौष्णमित्यनुक्रान्तं । स्मार्ते महान्तमध्वानमेष्यन्निदं सूक्तं जपेत् । सं पूषन्नध्वन इति महान्तमध्वानमेष्यन् प्रतिभयं वा । आ. गृ. ३-७-१० । इति सूत्रितत्वात् । तत्र जपेदित्यनुवर्तते ॥

saṃ pūṣann iti daśarcaṃ saptamaṃ sūktaṃ kāṇvaṃ gāyatraṃ pūṣadevatākaṃ | saṃ pūṣan daśa pauṣṇam ity anukrāntaṃ | smārte mahāntam adhvānam eṣyann idaṃ sūktaṃ japet | saṃ pūṣann adhvana iti mahāntam adhvānam eṣyan pratibhayaṃ vā | ā. gṛ. 3-7-10 | iti sūtritatvāt | tatra japed ity anuvartate ||

Translation: "Saṃ pūṣan — the seventh sūkta [of the anuvāka], of ten ṛks, by Kaṇva's family, in the Gāyatrī metre, with Pūṣan as deity. It is listed in the Anukramaṇikā as 'saṃ pūṣan daśa pauṣṇam'. In the Smārta [domestic] rite, one about to set out on a long journey should mutter (japet) this sūkta: since it is laid down 'saṃ pūṣann adhvana iti, one about to go on a long journey, or [when there is] danger' (Āś. Gṛ. 3-7-10); 'japet' is carried over there." (Translation mine.)

Anuvāda (Kannada), p. 435 — "Saṃ pūṣan is the seventh sūkta in this eighth anuvāka. It has ten ṛks. The ṛṣi is Kaṇva, the son of Ghora; the deity is Pūṣan; the metre is Gāyatrī. In the Anukramaṇikā: 'saṃ pūṣan daśa pauṣṇam'. In the Smārta practice, or in worldly custom, when going on a long journey or when one has to travel far, this sūkta is to be recited; this is explained in the Āśvalāyana Gṛhya-sūtra by the sūtra 'saṃ pūṣann adhvana iti mahāntam adhvānam eṣyan pratibhayaṃ vā' (Āś. Gṛ. 3-7-10). Therefore this sūkta is to be recited on the occasions mentioned above." (Both the Sanskrit and the Kannada print 3-7-10 (flat-footed ಒ, read at 300–420 dpi).)

॥ ॐ ॥

सूक्त — ४२ ॥ मण्डल — १ ॥ अनुवाक — ८ ॥ सूक्त — ४२ ॥ ॥ अष्टक — १ ॥ अध्याय — ३ ॥ वर्ग — २४, २५ ॥ ॥ सूक्तदल्लिरुव ऋक्संख्यै — १० ॥ ॥ ऋषिः — कण्वो घौरः ॥ ॥ देवता — पूषा ॥ ॥ छन्दः — गायत्री ॥

sūkta 42 | maṇḍala 1 | anuvāka 8 | aṣṭaka 1 | adhyāya 3 | varga 24, 25 | ṛks 10 | ṛṣi: Kaṇva Ghaura | devatā: Pūṣan | chandas: Gāyatrī.

(Varga numerals 24, 25 checked at 315 dpi.)

Rik 42.1 (pp. 436–441, PDF 450–455)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 436; Saṃhitā accents as printed (checked at 350–700 dpi); Pada unaccented; the flat stroke under ಒ is part of the ಱ glyph.)

सं पू॑ष॒न्नध्व॑नस्ति॒र व्यंहो॑ विमुचो नपात् । सक्ष्वा॑ देव॒ प्र ण॑स्पु॒रः ॥ १ ॥

sáṃ pūṣann ádhvanas tira vy áṃho vimuco napāt | sákṣvā deva prá ṇas puráḥ || 1 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 436)

सम् । पूषन् । अध्वनः । तिर । वि । अंहः । विऽमुचः । नपात् । सक्ष्व । देव । प्र । नः । पुरः ॥ १ ॥

sam | pūṣan | adhvanaḥ | tira | vi | aṃhaḥ | vi-mucaḥ | napāt | sakṣva | deva | pra | naḥ | puraḥ || 1 ||

(The Saṃhitā prints sakṣvā*, the Pada* sakṣva*.)*

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 436)

हे पूषन् जगत्पोषक पृथिव्यभिमानि देव अध्वनो मार्गात्त्वं तिर । अस्मानभीष्टस्थानं सम्यक् प्रापय । अंहो विघ्नहेतुं पापात्मानं वि तिर । विनाशय । पूषा विशेष्यते । विमुचो नपात् जलविमोचकहेतोर्मेघस्य पुत्र । नपादिति पुत्रनाम । नपात्रजेति तन्नामसु पाठात् । श्रुत्यन्तरेऽद्भ्यः पृथिवीति जलाद्भूम्युत्पत्तिः श्रूयते ।

तथान्यत्राप्युदकसारत्वं पृथिव्याः श्रूयते । तद्यदपां सार आसीत्तत्समहन्यत सा पृथिव्यभवदिति । मेघस्य जलधारित्वादुदकपुत्र एव मेघपुत्रो भवति । न च पृथिव्या मेघपुत्रत्वे पूष्णः किमायातमिति वाच्यं । पृथिव्या एव पूषत्वात् । तथा च श्रुत्यन्तरे कस्यचिन्मन्त्रस्य ब्राह्मणमेवमाम्नायते । पूषाध्वनः पात्वित्याहेयं वै पूषेति । तन्निर्वचनं चान्यत्रैवमाम्नायते । इयं वै पूषेयं हीदं सर्वं पुष्यति यदिदं किं च । शत. ब्रा. १४-४-२-२५ । इति ॥ हे देव पूषन् नः पुरोऽस्माकं पुरतः प्र सक्ष्व । प्रसक्तो भव । पुरतो गच्छेत्यर्थः । विमुचो नपात् । उदकं विमुञ्चतीति विमुज्मेघः । क्विप्चेति क्विप् । न पातयति कुलमिति नपात् पुत्रः । नञ्पूर्वात् पातयतेः क्विप् । नभ्राण्नपादित्यादिना नञः प्रकृतिभावः । सुबामन्त्रित इति परांगवद्भावात् षष्ठ्यामन्त्रितसमुदायस्याष्टमिकं सर्वानुदात्तत्वं । सक्ष्व । षच सेवने । अनुदात्तेत्त्वादात्मनेपदं । लोटि बहुलं छन्दसीति शपो लुक् । तास्यनुदात्तेदिति लसार्वधातुकानुदात्तत्वे धातुस्वरः । प्र णः । उपसर्गाद्बहुलमिति नसो णत्वं । पुरः । उक्तं ॥

he pūṣan jagatpoṣaka pṛthivyabhimāni deva adhvano mārgāt tvaṃ tira | asmān abhīṣṭasthānaṃ samyak prāpaya | aṃho vighnahetuṃ pāpātmānaṃ vi tira | vināśaya | pūṣā viśeṣyate | vimuco napāt jalavimocakahetor meghasya putra | napād iti putranāma | napātrajeti tannāmasu pāṭhāt | śrutyantare 'dbhyaḥ pṛthivīti jalād bhūmyutpattiḥ śrūyate | tathānyatrāpy udakasāratvaṃ pṛthivyāḥ śrūyate | tad yad apāṃ sāra āsīt tat samahanyata sā pṛthivy abhavad iti | meghasya jaladhāritvād udakaputra eva meghaputro bhavati | na ca pṛthivyā meghaputratve pūṣṇaḥ kim āyātam iti vācyaṃ | pṛthivyā eva pūṣatvāt | tathā ca śrutyantare kasyacin mantrasya brāhmaṇam evam āmnāyate | pūṣādhvanaḥ pātv ity āheyaṃ vai pūṣeti | tannirvacanaṃ cānyatraivam āmnāyate | iyaṃ vai pūṣeyaṃ hīdaṃ sarvaṃ puṣyati yad idaṃ kiṃ ca | śata. brā. 14-4-2-25 | iti || he deva pūṣan naḥ puro 'smākaṃ puratāḥ pra sakṣva | prasakto bhava | purato gacchety arthaḥ | vimuco napāt | udakaṃ vimuñcatīti vimuj megha | kvip ceti kvip | na pātayati kulam iti napāt putraḥ | nañpūrvāt pātayateḥ kvip | nabhrāṇ napād ity ādinā nañaḥ prakṛtibhāvaḥ | subāmantrita iti parāṅgavadbhāvāt ṣaṣṭhyāmantritasamudāyasyāṣṭamikaṃ sarvānudāttatvaṃ | sakṣva | ṣaca sevane | anudāttettvād ātmanepadaṃ | loṭi bahulaṃ chandasīti śapo luk | tāsyanudātted iti lasārvadhātukānudāttatve dhātusvaraḥ | pra ṇaḥ | upasargād bahulam iti naso ṇatvaṃ | puraḥ | uktaṃ ||

(Checked at 300–700 dpi: "śrutyantare 'dbhyaḥ pṛthivīti", "pūṣādhvanaḥ pātv ity āheyaṃ vai pūṣeti", Śata. Brā. 14-4-2-25, "anudāttettvād". "napātrajeti" is as printed.)

Translation: "O Pūṣan — nourisher of the world, the god who presides over the earth — adhvanaḥ, from the road, tira, bring [us] across: bring us well to the place we wish. Aṃhaḥ, sin, the cause of obstacle, the sinful one, vi tira: destroy. Pūṣā is further described: vimuco napāt, son of the cloud, the cause of releasing water. 'Napāt' is a name for son, as it is read among its names ('napātrajā' as printed). In another Śruti: 'the earth [arose] from the waters' (adbhyaḥ pṛthivī) — the origin of the earth from water is heard; likewise elsewhere the earth's being the essence of water is heard: 'the essence of the waters that there was was gathered together; it became the earth.' Since the cloud holds the water, the son of water is the son of the cloud. And it should not be said, 'what has the son-hood of the earth to the cloud to do with Pūṣan?' — because the earth itself is Pūṣan. And so, in another Śruti, the Brāhmaṇa on a certain mantra […] reads thus: 'pūṣādhvanaḥ pātv ity āha; iyaṃ vai pūṣā' ['"may Pūṣan protect from the road," he says; this [earth] indeed is Pūṣan']; and its explanation is read elsewhere thus: 'this [earth] is Pūṣan, for this [earth] nourishes all this, whatever there is' (Śat. Brā. 14-4-2-25). O god Pūṣan, naḥ puraḥ, before us, pra sakṣva, attach yourself: go in front: so the sense.

Vimuco napāt: 'udakaṃ vimuñcati', the cloud is vimuk; kvip by kvip ca; 'na pātayati kulam', one who does not cause the family to fall: napāt, a son; kvip after pātayati with nañ; the nañ keeps its natural form by nabhrāṇ napāt…; the whole vocative group is unaccented (eighth-adhyāya rule) after subāmantrite makes it parāṅgavat. Sakṣva: root ṣaca sevane; ātmanepada; śap elided by bahulaṃ chandasi; the root accent. Pra ṇaḥ: ṇatva of nas after a preverb by upasargād bahulam. Puraḥ: already explained."

Pratipadārtha (p. 437) — "pūṣan — O Pūṣan, nourisher of the world and the deity who presides over the earth; adhvanaḥ — from the proper road; saṃ tira — taking us to our desired destination, bring us there; aṃhaḥ — the sinful one who obstructs [us] on the way; vi tira — drive [him] away from the road and destroy [him]; vimucaḥ — of the cloud that sheds rain; napāt — son, O god Pūṣan; naḥ puraḥ — in front of us; pra sakṣva — go on (with attachment to us)."

Bhāvārtha (p. 437) — "O Pūṣan, you are the son of the king of the clouds, who sheds rain and causes the world to flourish. Take us by the right road to our desired destination; on the way destroy the sinful enemy who would injure us. Have kindly regard for us and go in front of us as our guide."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 437) — "O Pushan, lead us over the road, remove the wicked obstructer of the way ; son of the cloud, go before us. (as a guide)" (The print has the bracket "(as a guide)".)

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 437–440 (a long essay by the Kannada author on the deity Pūṣan; translated in full, with its quotations in three layers)

"On the deity Pūṣan in this ṛk the commentator has explained some points. This deity Pūṣan is the lord of roads. It is said that when one sets out on a long journey, if one recites the mantra belonging to this deity, one can reach the destination comfortably, without trouble on the way. On this matter there is a Śruti sentence: 'pūṣādhvanaḥ pātv ity āha | iyaṃ vai pūṣā'.

Vimucaḥ napāt — 'udakaṃ vimuñcatīti vimuk meghaḥ | na pātayati kulam iti napāt putraḥ | napād iti putranāma': since it sheds water, clouds are called vimuc; since he does not cause the family to fall but makes it grow and go forward, a son is called napāt. Here vimuco napāt means the son of the cloud. Besides, according to the Śruti statement beginning 'adbhyaḥ pṛthivī', the earth arose from the waters, and in the Śruti 'tad yad apāṃ sāra āsīt tat samahanyata sā pṛthivy abhavat' ['whatever was the essence of the waters was gathered together; it became the earth'] there is the statement that she became the earth to gather together everything that was essence in the water. Among the twenty-one names of the earth, gauḥ, gmā and so on, the word pūṣā is read; so pūṣā also means the earth. Therefore, by the statement 'pṛthivyā eva pūṣatvāt', Pūṣan is said to be the deity who presides over the earth.

Yāska the great ṛṣi on this word: 'पूषा । यद्रश्मिपोषं पुष्यति तत्पूषा भवति' (Ni. 12-16) — pūṣā | yad raśmipoṣaṃ puṣyati tat pūṣā bhavati — mine and tentative: 'Pūṣan: because he nourishes with the nourishment of rays, therefore he is Pūṣan' — that is, since he is the one who nourishes with rays, this god is called Pūṣan. In the Śatapatha Brāhmaṇa also: 'इयं वै पूषा पूषेयं हीदं सर्वं पुष्यति यदिदं किं च' (Śat. Brā. 14-4-2-25) — iyaṃ vai pūṣā pūṣeyaṃ hīdaṃ sarvaṃ puṣyati yad idaṃ kiṃ ca — 'this [earth] indeed is Pūṣan, for she nourishes all this, whatever there is' — it is said that this deity is called Pūṣan because he nourishes everyone. Such a meaning supports the view that Pūṣan is one of the twelve Ādityas.

The qualities of the god Pūṣan are of many kinds, and as they all show his different forms, it is difficult to say clearly what his original nature is. For the modern critics this is a complicated question. Before learning the diversity of these opinions, it is necessary to know what pre-eminence this deity has in the Saṃhitā.

The main portion of the hymns to the deity Pūṣan is contained in the sixth maṇḍala of the Ṛgveda, in the sūktas 53 to 58. It appears that the ṛṣis of the Bharadvāja family had Pūṣan as their chief deity. Some scholars call this portion the Pūṣa-saṃhitā. Besides, in other parts of the Saṃhitā also Pūṣan is invoked along with other deities such as Indra and Soma. For example:

रथीतमं कपर्दिनमीशानं राधसो महः । (Ṛg. Saṃ. 6-55-2) rathītamaṃ kapardinam īśānaṃ rādhaso mahaḥ | mine and tentative: "the best of charioteers, the one with braided hair, the lord of great bounty";

या ते अष्ट्रा गोओपशाघृणे पशुसाधनी । (Ṛg. Saṃ. 6-53-9) yā te aṣṭrā goopaśāghṛṇe paśusādhanī | "the goad that you have, O radiant one, which drives and tends cattle" [the print's first words of the second pāda are crowded [?]];

ये एनमादिदेशति करम्भादिति पूषणम् । (Ṛg. Saṃ. 6-56-1) ye enam ādideśati karambhād iti pūṣaṇam | "who point him out [saying], 'Pūṣan [feeds] on porridge'" [crowded [?]];

रायो धारास्याघृणे वसो राशिरजाश्व । (Ṛg. Saṃ. 6-55-3) rāyo dhārāsy aghṛṇe vaso rāśir ajāśva | "you are a stream of riches, O radiant one, a heap of wealth, O lord of goat-steeds."

In these ṛks the descriptions kapardī (with braided hair), paśusādhanī (the goad that drives cattle), aṣṭrā (the goad), karambhād (eating porridge), ajāśva (with goat-steeds) and so on all give us a certain clear picture of Pūṣan. Along with the general qualities shared with other deities, in this sixth maṇḍala it appears that Pūṣan has a prominence in one special respect: it is clearly stated that he is the deity who tends cattle; that with his favour the cattle-wealth of his worshippers must grow; and that he is the protector of cows and the like that have strayed. For example:

पूषा गा अन्वेतु नः पूषा रक्षत्वर्वतः । पूषा वाजं सनोतु नः ॥ (Ṛg. Saṃ. 6-54-5) pūṣā gā anv etu naḥ pūṣā rakṣatv arvataḥ | pūṣā vājaṃ sanotu naḥ // "may Pūṣan follow the cows for us; may Pūṣan guard our horses; may Pūṣan win us [vigorous] strength";

माकिर्नेशन्माकीं रिषन्माकीं सं शारि केवटे । (Ṛg. Saṃ. 6-54-7) mākir neśan mākīṃ riṣan mākīṃ saṃ śāri kevaṭe | "let none be lost, let none be harmed, let none be broken in a pit."

In this manner they pray in various ways that their cattle-wealth be increased. Modern critics conjecture that the Bharadvāja family wandered from place to place, never settling in one place, and in their wanderings thought of Pūṣan as guide and protector. Because in the 1st, 2nd and 7th ṛks (as printed) of the sūkta in question Pūṣan is invoked as protector of the roads, and because the adjective pathaspati ['lord of the path'] is used as chief, there is room for this conjecture. They say that, since in this respect Pūṣan has a distinction above other deities, he holds a distinct place of his own and does not belong to the group of other deities.

But the Vedic tradition is opposed to this view. Yāska counts Pūṣan as one of the twelve Ādityas. The same view is seen in the Bṛhaddevatā. The view of scholars such as Max Müller agrees with this. The scholar Bloomfield, however, on the basis of the single word āghṛṇi in the three ṛks (Ṛg. 6-48-16; 6-53-3; 6-55-1), holds that Pūṣan is a solar deity who spreads light. The way of reasoning of those who oppose this view is this: the word āghṛṇi relates only to brilliance, so it may belong to any deity made of brilliance; there is no insistence that it must be the Sun; for example, this adjective is applied to Agni also (Ṛg. Saṃ. 8-60-20); therefore, from this one adjective one cannot establish that Pūṣan is a solar deity. In the same way, they argue that whatever other adjectives the Vedic and other scholars take to prove that Pūṣan is a solar deity, none of those adjectives need apply to the Sun alone; they can be applied to all deities.

But even those who suggest this opposition show some grounds and put forward their own side. For example:

ताभिर्याति दूत्यां सूर्यस्य कामेन कृतश्रव इच्छमानः ॥ (Ṛg. Saṃ. 6-58-3) tābhir yāti dūtyāṃ sūryasya kāmena kṛtaśrava icchamānaḥ // mine and tentative: “with those [golden ships] he goes on the Sun’s embassy, wishing [it], of famed renown, by [his own] desire”; and, citing examples from many places, they show clearly the difference between the Sun and Pūṣan. Moreover, in describing the nature of the Viśvedevas (Ṛg. Saṃ. 8-29), there is no description of any solar quality attached to Pūṣan. (Ṛg. Saṃ. 6-29-6.) Thus they reckon [him] as against the traditional view, argue that Pūṣan is not a solar deity and show that he, being a ‘cattle-tending’ deity, has obtained a distinction of his own. We shall discuss elsewhere, in detail, which of these differing views is more consistent.

In the sūkta before us it is explained in detail that Pūṣan is pathaspati. He is the protector of the roads; he is one who destroys the thieves and robbers on the way and protects his devotees; the giver of abundant food-wealth to the devotees; and one who takes them to a place of prosperity and brings them to it. In this and other ways his various natures and powers are described. He is also described as a gentle (saumya) deity, with power and beauty in harmony.”

(The references in this essay were read at 300–490 dpi; the quotations are given as printed, and the glosses are mine and tentative. The source leaves the quotations untranslated.)

- saṃ tira = asmān abhīṣṭasthānaṃ samyak prāpaya — “make us reach, safely, the place we must go to.”
- pra sakṣva puraḥ — “ṣaca sevane; prasakto bhava; purato gaccheti: go in front of us, as a guide.”

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (p. 441 — grammar page, noted briefly) - vimuco napāt: root muñcḷ mokṣaṇe (with vi): kvip ca (no number printed) kvip; vimuc; genitive singular vimucaḥ. “Vimuñcatīti vimuk” — that which sheds water abundantly, i.e. a cloud. “Na pātayati kulam”: the one who does not make the family fall: napāt, meaning son (Yāska: ‘na pāt prajā’); kvip after the root pata in the causative with nañ; ṇic-loss, upadhāvṛddhi; nabhrāṇnapāt— (no number printed): nañ keeps its form (prakṛtibhāva); subāmantrite parāṅgavat svare (no number printed) makes vimucaḥ a part of the vocative napāt; so by āmantritasya ca, a sūtra of the eighth adhyāya (no number printed), the group is wholly unaccented. - sakṣva: root ṣaca sevane; since it is anudāttet, the ātmanepada by anudāttaṅita ātmanepadam; loṭ, bahulaṃ chandasi elides śap; thās → se; savābhyāṃ vāmau gives va; sac + sva; coḥ kuḥ gives k: sak + sva;

ādeśapratyayayoḥ gives ṣ; tāsyanudāttet… makes sva unaccented. - pra ṇaḥ: upasargād bahulam — उपसर्गाद्बहुलम् — (Pā. Sū. 8-4-28): the n of nas after the r or ṣ of a preverb optionally becomes ṇ. “Although Pāṇini reads upasargād anotparaḥ, this would give no ṇatva in praṇonaya, and would give it in pra ṇaḥ pūṣā wrongly; so, by this reasoning, the Mahābhāṣyakāra removed anotparaḥ and put bahulam in the sūtra; with this ṇatva pra ṇaḥ results.” - puraḥ: “explained in (Ṛg. Saṃ. 1-41-3).” Rik 1 ends here (|| 1 ||).

Rik 42.2 (pp. 441–444, PDF 455–458)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 441 foot; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

यो नः॑ पूषन्नघो वृको॑ दुःशेव॑ आदिदे॑शति । अप॑ स्म॒ तं प॒थो ज॑हि ॥ २ ॥

yó naḥ pūṣann aghó vṛ́ko duḥśéva ādídeśati | ápa sma táṃ pathó jahi || 2 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 442)

यः । नः । पूषन् । अघः । वृकः । दुःऽशेवः । आऽदिदेशति । अप । स्म । तम् । पथः । जहि ॥ २ ॥

yaḥ | naḥ | pūṣan | aghaḥ | vṛkaḥ | duḥ-śevaḥ | ā-dideśati | apa | sma | tam | pathaḥ | jahi || 2 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 442)

हे पूषन् यः प्रतिपक्षी नोऽस्मानादिदेशति अनेन मार्गेण गन्तव्यमित्येवमाज्ञापयति । कीदृशः । अघः आहन्ता वृकोऽस्मदीयस्य धनस्यादाता । अपहर्तेत्यर्थः । दुःशेवः सेवितुं दुःशकः दुष्टसुखो वा । तं तादृशं प्रतिपक्षिणं पथो मार्गादपजहि स्म । अवश्यमपाकुरु ॥ वृकः । कुक वृक आदाने । वर्तत इति वृकः इगुपधलक्षणः कः । वृषादित्वादाद्युदात्तत्वं । दुःशेवः । दुष्टं शेवं यस्यासौ दुःशेवः । परादिश्छन्दसि बहुलमित्युत्तरपदाद्युदात्तत्वं । यद्वा । दुःखेन सेव्यते इति दुःशेवः । वर्णव्यत्ययेन सकारस्य शकारः । ईषद्दुःसुष्विति खल् । लित्स्वरेण प्रत्ययात्पूर्वस्योदात्तत्वं । कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं । आदिदेशति । दिश अतिसर्जने । लेट्यडागमः । बहुलं छन्दसीति शपः श्लुः । बहुलं छन्दसीति वक्तव्यं । पा. ७-३-८७-२ । इति वचनान्नाभ्यस्तस्याचीति लघूपधगुणप्रतिषेधाभावः । पथः । उदात्तनिवृत्तिस्वरेण विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वं ॥

he pūṣan yaḥ pratipakṣī no ’smān ādideśati anena mārgeṇa gantavyam ity evam ājñāpayati | kīdṛśaḥ | aghaḥ āhantā vṛko ’smadīyasya dhanasyādātā | apahartety arthaḥ | duḥśevaḥ sevituṃ duḥśakaḥ duṣṭasukho vā | taṃ tādṛśaṃ pratipakṣiṇaṃ patho mārgād apajahi sma | avaśyam apākuru || vṛkaḥ | kuka vṛka ādāne | vartata iti vṛkaḥ igupadhalakṣaṇaḥ kaḥ | vṛṣāditvād ādyudāttatvaṃ | duḥśevaḥ | duṣṭaṃ śevaṃ yasyāsau duḥśevaḥ | parādiś chandasi bahulam ity uttarapadādyudāttatvaṃ | yadvā | duḥkhena sevyate iti duḥśevaḥ | varṇavyatyayena sakārasya śakāraḥ | īṣad-duḥ-suṣv iti khal | litsvareṇa pratyayāt pūrvasyodāttatvaṃ | kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ | ādideśati | diśa atisarjane | leṭy aḍāgamaḥ | bahulaṃ chandasīti śapaḥ śluḥ | bahulaṃ chandasīti vaktavyaṃ | pā. 7-3-87-2 | iti vacanān nābhyastasyācīti laghūpadhaguṇapratiṣedhābhāvaḥ | pathaḥ | udāttanivṛttisvareṇa vibhakter udāttatvaṃ ||

(Tail checked against the print, p. 442: “śakāraḥ”, “bahulaṃ chandasīti śapaḥ śluḥ”, and the vārttika number printed 7-3-87-2.)

Translation: "O Pūṣan, whichever pratipakṣī, rival, naḥ, to us, ādideśati, commands, 'you must go by this road' — what kind? Aghaḥ, a striker, vṛkaḥ, a wolf, a taker of our wealth: the sense is a robber; duḥśevaḥ, hard to approach or of evil comfort. Such a rival, pathaḥ, from the road, apa jahi sma, drive off: certainly remove. Vṛkaḥ: root kuka vṛka ādāne; 'vartate', it exists; the suffix ka of the ik-penultimate rule; first-syllable acute from the vṛṣādi group. Duḥśevaḥ: 'whose śeva, comfort, is bad'; the first syllable of the latter member by parādiś chandasi bahulam; or, 'served with difficulty': duḥśevaḥ; ś for s by varṇavyatyaya; khal by īṣad-duḥ-suṣu…; the syllable before the suffix is acute by the lit accent; the accent of the first member of a compound ending in a kṛt. Ādideśati: root diśa atisarjane; leṭ with the augment aṭ; ślu for śap by bahulaṃ chandasi; because of the statement 'bahulaṃ chandasīti vaktavyam' (Pā. 7-3-87-2) the prohibition (by nābhyastasyāci…) does not apply to the guṇa of the light penultimate for a reduplicated stem before a vowel. Pathaḥ: the ending acute by the accent that follows loss of an acute."

Pratipadārtha (p. 442) — "pūṣan — O Pūṣan; aghaḥ — sinful; vṛkaḥ — a thief who steals our wealth; duḥśevaḥ — one who delights in evil work; yaḥ — whichever enemy; naḥ — us; ādideśati — compels (showing a dangerous road, saying 'go by this one'); tam — such an opponent; pathaḥ — from our right road; apa jahi sma — surely drive far away."

Bhāvārtha (p. 442) — "O Pūṣan, drive far away to a distant place that enemy of ours who is sinful, a thief who steals our wealth, one who delights in evil work, and who insists that we go along a dangerous road."

(The source's English, Special Topics and grammar of Rik 2 begin on p. 443, not yet written.)

Rik 42.2, continued (from p. 443)

English Translation (the source's own, p. 443) — "O Pushan, if a wicked person, a robber or one who delights in evil deeds directs us to a wrong way, drive him away to a place far off." (Scan noise at the end of the line; no full stop.)

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 443 - aghaḥ = āhantā | durjātaḥ — "a bad man; a wicked person." - vṛkaḥ — "vṛka ādāne; vartate iti vṛkaḥ | asmākaṃ dhanasyāpahartā: a thief who steals our wealth." - ādideśati — "one who commands [that we go by such a road]; who 'directs, points out'" (the English words are the source's). - duḥśevaḥ — "duṣṭaṃ śevaṃ yasyāsau duḥśevaḥ | sevituṃ duḥśako duṣṭasukho vā: one who is attached to doing bad deeds, or one who delights in them; a promoter of evil ways." - apa jahi sma = apākuru — "drive far away."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 443–444 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - vṛkaḥ: the root kuka vṛka ādāne; the suffix ka by igupadhajñāprīkiraḥ kaḥ (Pā. Sū. 3-1-135); since the suffix is kit there is no guṇa of the light penultimate. "Vartaśe iti vṛkaḥ": one who takes or receives; first-syllable acute by vṛṣādīnāṃ ca. - duḥśevaḥ: dur is a preverb; after the root śīṅ the suffix vaṅ [as printed; the final letter is the same glyph as in śīṅ] by iṇśīṅbhyāṃ vaṅ (U. Sū. 1-157): guṇa; "duṣṭaṃ śevaṃ yasya saḥ", a bahuvrīhi; parādiś chandasi bahulam gives the latter member first-syllable acute. "If one explains it thus the etymology does not fit the sense; so another process may be stated: duḥkhena sevyate iti duḥśevaḥ, from the root sev sevane; īṣad-duḥ-suṣu kṛcchrākṛcchrārtheṣu khal; ś for s [by varṇavyatyaya]; the e before the suffix is acute by the lit accent; after the compound is made the accent of the first member of a kṛt-ending latter member comes by gatikārakopapadāt kṛt." - ādideśati: root diśa atisarjane; leṭ, tip; the augment aṭ; bahulaṃ chandasi: śap → ślu; doubling, loss of ś of the reduplicate; di + diś + ati; guṇa of the light penultimate. Although nābhyastasyāci piti sārvadhātuke (Pā. Sū. 7-3-87) would prohibit the guṇa of a light penultimate in a reduplicated stem before a pit sārvadhātuka beginning with a vowel (the name abhyasta for a doubled word is laid down by ubhe abhyastam), by bahulaṃ chandasīti vaktavyam (Pā. Sū. 7-3-87-2, a vārttika) the prohibition is only variously applied in the Veda; hence here the prohibition does not occur. - pathaḥ: patheś ṣṭhaś ca — पतेः ष्ठ च (pateḥ ṣṭha ca; no number printed): after the root patlṛ the suffix ini with th for t: pathin; the suffix accent makes the in acute; bhasya ṭer lopaḥ (no number printed): when the ablative-genitive singular ṅas follows, the in is lost; for the ending, which is the cause of the loss of an acute, anudāttasya ca yatro— (no number printed) gives it the acute. Rik 2 ends here (|| 2 ||).

Rik 42.3 (pp. 444–447, PDF 458–461)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 444; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented; the initial ऽ is unmarked in the print and taken as udātta in the IAST.)

अप॒ त्यं प॑रिप॒न्थिन॑ मुषी॒वाण॑ हु॒रश्चित॑ । दू॒रमधि॑ स्रु॒तेर॑ज ॥ ३ ॥

ápa tyáṃ paripanthínaṃ muṣīvāṇaṃ huraścítaṃ | dūrám ádhi srutér aja || 3 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 444)

अप । त्यम् । परिऽपन्थिनम् । मुषीवाणम् । हुःऽचितम् । दूरम् । अधि । स्रुतेः । अज ॥ ३ ॥

apa | tyam | pari-panthinam | muṣīvāṇam | huḥ-citam | dūram | adhi | sruteḥ | aja || 3 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 445)

त्वं तादृशं पूर्वोक्तगुणयुक्तं स्रुतेर्मार्गादधि दूरमत्यंतदूरदेशं प्रति अपाज । अपगमय । कीदृशं । परिपन्थिनं मार्गप्रतिबन्धकं मुषीवाणं तस्कररूपं । मुषीवेति तस्करस्य नाम । मुषीवान् मलिम्लुश्च इति तन्नामसु पाठात् । हुरश्चितं कौटिल्यानां सञ्चेतारं ॥ परिपन्थिनं । छन्दसि परिपन्थिपरिपरिणौ पर्यवस्थातरि । पा. ८-२-८९ । इति शत्रावभिधेय इनिप्रत्ययान्तो निपातितः । मुषीवाणं । मुष स्तेये । मोषणं मुषिः । औणादिको भावे किप्रत्ययः । मुषिं वनति सम्भजत इति मुषीवा । वन षण सम्भक्तौ । अन्येभ्योऽपि दृश्यन्त इति विच्प्रत्ययः । सर्वनामस्थाने चासम्बुद्धौ । पा. ६-४-८ । इति दीर्घः । अन्येषामपि दृश्यत इति पूर्वपदस्य दीर्घत्वं । हुरश्चितं । हुर्छा कौटिल्ये । सम्पदादिलक्षणो भावे क्विप् । राल्लोपः इति छकारलोपः । हुरश्चिनोतीति हुरश्चित् । चिनोतेः क्विपि तुगागमः । तत्पुरुषे कृति बहुलमित्यलुक् । कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं । स्रुतेः । स्रु गतौ । क्तिच्क्तौ च सञ्ज्ञायामिति क्तिच् । चित इत्यन्तोदात्तत्वं । अज । अज गतिक्षेपणयोः ॥

tvaṃ tādṛśaṃ pūrvoktaguṇayuktaṃ sruter mārgād adhi dūram atyantadūradeśaṃ prati apāja | apagamaya | kīdṛśaṃ | paripanthinaṃ mārgapratibandhakaṃ muṣīvāṇaṃ taskararūpaṃ | muṣīveti taskarasya nāma | muṣīvān malimluś ceti tannāmasu pāṭhāt |

huraścitaṃ kauṭilyānāṃ saṃcetāraṃ || paripanthinaṃ | chandasi paripanthiparipariṇau paryavasthātari | pā. 8-2-89 [as printed; for 5-2-89] | iti śatrāv abhidheya inipratyayānto nipātitaḥ | muṣīvāṇaṃ | muṣa steye | moṣaṇaṃ muṣiḥ | auṇādiko bhāve kipratyayaḥ | muṣiṃ vanati sambhajata iti muṣīvā | vana ṣaṇa sambhaktau | anyebhyo 'pi dṛśyanta iti vicpratyayaḥ | sarvanāmasthāne cāsambuddhau | pā. 6-4-8 | iti dīrghaḥ | anyeṣām api dṛśyata iti pūrvapadasya dīrghatvaṃ | huraścitaṃ | hurchā kauṭilye | sampadādilakṣaṇo bhāve kvip | rāllopaḥ iti chakāralopaḥ | huraścinotīti huraścit | cinoteḥ kvipi tugāgamaḥ | tatpuruṣe kṛti bahulam ity aluk | kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ | sruteḥ | sru gatau | ktickktau ca saṃjñāyām iti ktic | cita ity antodāttatvaṃ | aja | aja gatikṣepaṇayoḥ ||

(Tail checked against the print, p. 445: the bhāṣya prints "pā. 8-2-89" (first digit ৩-shaped 8; the grammar page prints 5-2-89), "śatrāv abhidheya", and "rāllopaḥ iti chakāralopaḥ" with no number.)

Translation: "You, such a one — [him] endowed with the qualities spoken of before — sruteḥ adhi, from the road, dūram, to a very far place, apa aja, drive off: make go away. What kind? Paripanthinam, one who obstructs the road; muṣīvāṇam, of the nature of a thief ('muṣīvā' is a name for a thief, since it is read among the names of thief: 'muṣīvān, malimlu' [and so on]); huraścitam, a gatherer of crookednesses. Paripanthinam: by chandasi paripanthi-paripariṇau paryavasthātari [pā. 8-2-89 as printed] the form ending in ini is irregularly given in the sense of enemy. Muṣīvāṇam: root muṣa steye; 'moṣaṇam' is muṣiḥ, the Uṇādi ki in the abstract; 'muṣiṃ vanati', one who shares in theft: muṣīvā; vic by anyebhyo 'pi dṛśyante; the lengthening by sarvanāmasthāne cāsambuddhau [Pā. 6-4-8]; the lengthening of the first member by anyeṣām api dṛśyate. Huraścitam: root hurchā kauṭilye; kvip of the sampadādi class in the abstract sense; the loss of ch by rāllopaḥ;'huraś cinoti', he gathers crookedness:* huraścit*; the augment* tuk* with kvip after ci; aluk by tatpuruṣe kṛti bahulam; the accent of the first member of a compound ending in a kṛt. Sruteḥ: root sru gatau; ktic by ktickktau ca saṃjñāyām; final-acute by citaḥ. Aja: root aja gatikṣepaṇayoḥ."

Pratipadārtha (p. 445) — "paripanthinam — one who makes obstruction on our way; muṣīvāṇam — [of] the form of a thief; huraścitam — one who deceives; tyam — [with other bad qualities mentioned before] that enemy of ours; sruteḥ — from the road; adhi dūram — to a very distant region; apa aja — drive away."

Bhāvārtha (p. 445) — "O Pūṣan, drive far away from our way our enemy who makes obstruction to our straight way and hinders our journey, who is a thief and a deceiver."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 445) — "Drive him far away from the road, the hinderer of our journey, a thief a deceiver." (The comma is missing between "thief" and "a deceiver" in the print.)

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 445–446 - tyam — "the word tya has the sense of tat; tyam means 'such a one'." - paripanthinam = mārgapratibandhakam — "one who obstructs people travelling on the road; a road-obstructor: 'hinderer, obstructer'" (the English words are the source's). - huraścitam, muṣīvāṇam — "muṣa steye; moṣaṇaṃ muṣiḥ | muṣiṃ vanati sambhajata iti muṣīvā taṃ | taskararūpaṃ puruṣam: a thief, a robber. Since the words muṣīvān and huraścit are read among the fourteen names of thief beginning with tṛpuḥ, takvā, muṣīvān huraścit means a thief, a robber. As the word huraścit is formed from the root hurchā kauṭilye, the sense ‘one who deceives’ may be given: huraś cinotīti huraścit, one who commits fraud.” - sruteḥ = sru gatau — “sruti means a way along which one goes or travels; sruteḥ: from the road.” - aja = aja gatikṣepaṇayoḥ — “drive [away].”

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 446–447 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - paripanthinam: chandasi paripanthiparipariṇau paryavasthātari — छन्दसि परिपन्थिपरिपरिणौ पर्यवस्थातरि — (Pā. Sū. 5-2-89): in the Veda the words paripanthin and paripariṇ, in the sense paryavasthātṛ (enemy), are irregularly formed; the suffix ini in its own sense after the word paryavasthātṛ, and panthi, pari as substitutes for avasthātṛ, are irregularly given. - muṣīvāṇam: muṣa steye; kiḥ in the abstract by the Uṇādi; since the suffix is kit there is no guṇa; “moṣaṇaṃ muṣiḥ”; “muṣiṃ vanati, one who obtains theft”; anyebhyo ’pi dṛśyante (Pā. Sū. 3-2-75): manin, kvanip, vanip and vic come after roots as well; the suffix vic: muṣivan, then am; sarvanāmasthāne cāsambuddhau — सर्वनामस्थाने चासम्बुद्धौ — (Pā. Sū. 6-4-8): the lengthening of the penultimate vowel of an n-ending word before a non-vocative sarvanāmasthāna suffix; muṣivān + am; anyeṣām api dṛśyate gives the lengthening of muṣi. - huraścitam: hurchā kauṭilye; sampadādibhyaḥ kvip; rāllopaḥ — राल्लोपः — (Pā. Sū. 6-4-21): the kvip suffix [print: kvip pratyaya]; before suffixes beginning with jh or a nasal, the ch or v after r are lost; so the ch after the r is lost: hur; “huraḥ ciraṇoti iti huraścit”; ci ṣ cayane, the root; hrasvasya piti kṛti tuk — ह्रस्वस्य पिति कृति तुक् — the augment tuk; tatpuruṣe kṛti bahulam — तत्पुरुषे कृति बहुलम् — (Pā. Sū. 6-3-14): in a tatpuruṣa whose latter member ends in a kṛt, aluk of the locative is variously found; so by the word bahula the aluk also of the genitive-case ending is understood; the layman’s analysis “huraḥ cinoti” ends in the accusative plural; but in the technical analysis it is hur + am + cit; since there is a kṛt-ending word, the sixth case by kartṛkarmaṇoḥ kṛti; cit is acute by the root accent; after the compound is made, by gatikārakopapadāt kṛt the kṛt-ending latter member keeps its own accent, so the original accent remains. - sruteḥ: ktic ktau ca saṃjñāyām — क्तिच्क्तौ च सञ्ज्ञायाम् — (Pā. Sū. 3-3-174): ktic after sru gatau; prohibition of guṇa; final-acute by citaḥ. - aja: root aja gatikṣepaṇayoḥ, first class; loṭ, madhyama, sip → hi, śap; ato heḥ (no number printed) elides hi; wholly unaccented. Rik 3 ends here (|| 3 ||).

Rik 42.4 (pp. 447–449, PDF 461–463)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 447; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

त्वं तस्य॑ द्वया॒विनो॒ऽघशं॑सस्य॒ कस्य॑ चित् । प॒दाभि ति॑ष्ठ तपु॑षिं ॥ ४ ॥

tváṃ tasya dvayāvíno ’ghaśaṃsasya kásya cit | padābhí tiṣṭha tápuṣiṃ || 4 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 447)

त्वम् । तस्य । द्वयाविनः । अघऽशंसस्य । कस्य । चित् । पदा । अभि । तिष्ठ । तपुषिम् ॥ ४ ॥

tvam | tasya | dvayāvinaḥ | agha-śaṃsasya | kasya | cit | padā | abhi | tiṣṭha | tapuṣim || 4 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (pp. 447–448)

हे पूषन् त्वं तस्य चोरस्य तपुषिं परसन्तापकं देहं पदाभि तिष्ठ । भवदीयेन पादेनाक्रम्य तिष्ठ । कीदृशस्य । द्वयाविनः प्रत्यक्षापहारः परोक्षापहारश्चेति यद्द्वयं तद्युक्तस्य अघशंसस्य अस्माकमघमनिष्टं शंसतः ।

अघशंस इति तस्करनाम । मलिम्लुचोऽघशंसो वृक इति तन्नामसु पाठात् । कस्य चित् अनिर्दिष्टविशेषस्य कस्यापि ॥ द्वयाविनः । द्वयमस्यास्तीति द्वयावी । बहुलं छन्दसीति मत्वर्थीयो विनिः । अन्येषामपि दृश्यत इति दीर्घत्वं । अघशंसस्य । अघे पापे शंसो मनसोऽभिलाषो यस्य सोऽयमघशंसः । बहुव्रीहौ पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं । तपुषिं । तापयत्यनेनान्यमिति तपुषिः । औणादिक उषिन्प्रत्ययः । बहुलवचनादिकारस्येत्संज्ञा । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वं ॥

he pūṣan tvaṃ tasya corasya tapuṣiṃ parasantāpakaṃ dehaṃ padābhi tiṣṭha | bhavadīyena pādenākramya tiṣṭha | kīdṛśasya | dvayāvinaḥ pratyakṣāpahāraḥ parokṣāpahāraś ceti yad dvayaṃ tadyuktasya aghaśaṃsasya asmākam agham aniṣṭaṃ śaṃsataḥ | aghaśaṃsa iti taskaranāma | malimluco 'ghaśaṃso vṛka iti tannāmasu pāṭhāt | kasya cit anirdiṣṭaviśeṣasya kasyāpi || dvayāvinaḥ | dvayam asyāstīti dvayāvī | bahulaṃ chandasīti matvarthīyo viniḥ | anyeṣām api dṛśyata iti dīrghatvaṃ | aghaśaṃsasya | aghe pāpe śaṃso manaso 'bhilāṣo yasya so 'yam aghaśaṃsaḥ | bahuvrīhau pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ | tapuṣiṃ | tāpayaty anenānyam iti tapuṣiḥ | auṇādika uṣinpratyayaḥ | bahulavacanād ikārasyetsaṃjñā | nittvād ādyudāttatvaṃ ||

(The thief-name clause checked against the print, p. 448 top: "malimluco 'ghaśaṃso vṛka iti tannāmasu pāṭhāt" (the earlier draft's "tṛpsuḥ takvā" belongs to the Special Topics). The bhāṣya's final clause on the ikāra as an it is read in drift.)

Translation: "O Pūṣan, you, that thief's — tapuṣim, the body that torments others — padā abhi tiṣṭha, stand upon it, treading [it] with your foot. Whose? Dvayāvinaḥ, [of him] possessed of the pair of [things] — theft done openly and theft done secretly; aghaśaṃsasya, who wishes evil to us ('aghaśaṃsa' is a name for thief, since it is read among its names: 'malimluc, aghaśaṃsa, vṛka'); kasya cit, of whomever, without any particular specification. Dvayāvinaḥ: 'dvayam asyāsti'; vini in the sense of matup by bahulaṃ chandasi; the lengthening by anyeṣām api dṛśyate. Aghaśaṃsasya: 'he whose śaṃsa, desire of mind, is for agha, evil': a bahuvrīhi with the accent of the first member. Tapuṣim: 'tāpayaty anenānyam', that by which another is tormented: tapuṣiḥ; the Uṇādi suffix uṣin; by the word bahula the i takes the name of an it-letter; because it is nit, first-syllable acute."

Pratipadārtha (p. 448) — "(pūṣan — O Pūṣan) tvam — you; dvayāvinaḥ — [one who is] possessed of two kinds of thievery, that which steals openly and that which steals secretly; aghaśaṃsasya — [of one who] desires evil for us; kasya cit — of whichever one; tasya — of that thief; tapuṣim — the body that causes distress to others; padā tiṣṭha — stand upon with your foot."

Bhāvārtha (p. 448) — "O Pūṣan, whoever the thief may be, who robs our possessions openly in our presence and secretly behind our back when we are not there — who does both these kinds of theft, who wishes evil for others and causes distress to the world — trample the body of such a thief under your foot."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 448) — "Trample with your feet, the body of that deceitful and evil-minded thief (who both steals and robs) whoever he may be." (In the print the word "steals" is overprinted/struck through and "both steals" is garbled — "both stenls" — a scan defect; I give the words as best read.)

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 448–449 - dvayāvinaḥ — “pratyakṣāpahāraḥ parokṣāpahāraś ceti yad dvayaṃ cauryaṃ tadyuktasya: of one who has two kinds of theft: one who snatches by force, as if seen, and one who steals secretly, as if unseen: in the stealing there are two kinds; it is meant that he does both these kinds of theft” (the source adds: “one who steals and robs”). - aghaśaṃsasya — “one who wishes us evil. Since the word aghaśaṃsaḥ is read among the fourteen names of thief beginning with tṛpuḥ, takvā, this word means a thief.”

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (p. 449 — grammar page, noted briefly) - tapuṣim: “paraṃ saṃtāpakaṃ deham: a body that torments others.” The same as in the bhāṣya. - dvayāvinaḥ: “dve avayave asya”: saṃkhyāyā avayave tayap — संख्याया अवयवे तयप् — (Pā. Sū. 5-2-42): after a numeral, in the sense of ‘part’, tayap; dvitribhyāṃ tayasyāyaj vā — द्वित्रिभ्यां तयस्यायज्वा — (Pā. Sū. 5-2-43): ayac as substitute for tayap after dvi and tri: dvi + aya; yasyeti ca the loss of the i; “dvayam asyāsti”: bahulaṃ chandasi (Pā. Sū. 5-2-122) gives vini in the sense of matup; dvaya + vin; anyeṣām api dṛśyate the lengthening of the dvaya: dvayāvin; am [print: avan] suffix. - aghaśaṃsasya: “aghe [in sin] śaṃsaḥ [desire in the mind] yasya saḥ”: a bahuvrīhi; the accent of the first member. - tapuṣim: root tapa santāpe; “tāpayaty anenānyam”; hence ‘one who torments’. In the sense of the instrument the Uṇādi suffix uṣin comes; tap + uṣi, then am: tapuṣim; since the suffix is nit, first-syllable acute at the end of the suffix [as printed: pratyayāntaḥ ādyudāttaḥ]. Rik 4 ends here (|| 4 ||).

Rik 42.5 (pp. 449–451, PDF 463–465)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 449 foot; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented; ಙ್ಞ of pūṣann is unmarked in the print.)

आ तत्ते॑ दस्र मन्तुम॒: पूष॒न्नवो॑ वृणीमहे । येन॑ पि॒तॄन॑चोदयः ॥ ५ ॥

ā́ tát te dasra mantumaḥ pūṣann ávo vṛṇīmahe | yéna pitṝ́n acodayaḥ || 5 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 450)

आ । तत् । ते । दस्र । मन्तुऽमः । पूषन् । अवः । वृणीमहे । येन । पितॄन् । अचोदयः ॥ ५ ॥

ā | tat | te | dasra | mantu-maḥ | pūṣan | avaḥ | vṛṇīmahe | yena | pitṝn | acodayaḥ || 5 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 450)

हे मन्तुमो ज्ञानवन् दस्र दर्शनीय यद्वा वैरिणामुपक्षयकारिन् पूषन् ते त्वदीयं तदवस्थादृशं रक्षणमा वृणीमहे । सर्वतः प्रार्थयामहे । येन रक्षणेन पितॄन् अङ्गिरःप्रभृतीन्पितृदेवानचोदयः प्रेरितवानसि । तत्प्रार्थयाम इति पूर्वत्रान्वयः ॥ दस्र । दसि दंसनदर्शनयोः । स्पायितञ्चीत्यादिना रक् । आगमानुशासनस्यानित्यत्वान्नुमभावः । यद्वा । दसु उपक्षये इत्यस्माद् अन्तर्भावितण्यर्थात्पूर्ववद्रक् । मन्तुमः । मन ज्ञाने । कमिमनिजनीत्यादिना । उ. १-७३ । भावे तुप्रत्ययः । मन्तुर्ज्ञानमस्यास्तीति मन्तुमान् । सम्बुद्धौ मतुवसो रुरिति रुत्वं । अचोदयः । चुद सम्चोदने । चौरादिकः ॥ ५ ॥

he mantumo jñānavan dasra darśanīya yadvā vairiṇām upakṣayakārin pūṣan te tvadīyaṃ tadavasthādṛśaṃ rakṣaṇam ā vṛṇīmahe | sarvataḥ prārthayāmahe | yena rakṣaṇena pitṝn aṅgiraḥprabhṛtīn pitṛdevān acodayaḥ preritavān asi | tat prārthayāma iti pūrvatrānvayaḥ ||

dasra | dasi daṃsanadarśanayoḥ | spāyitañcītyādinā rak | āgamānuśāsanasyānityatvān numabhāvaḥ | yadvā | dasu upakṣaye ity asmād antarbhāvitaṇyarthāt pūrvavad rak | mantumaḥ | mana jñāne | kamimanijanītyādinā | u. 1-73 | bhāve tupratyayaḥ | manturjñānam asyāstīti mantumān | sambuddhau matuvaso rur iti rutvaṃ | acodayaḥ | cuda saṃcodane | caurādikaḥ || 5 ||

("aṅgiraḥprabhṛtīn pitṛdevān" read from the print, p. 450; the bhāṣya's u. 1-73 also read there.)

Translation: "O mantumaḥ, possessing knowledge; dasra, beautiful to see, or, one who causes the decay of enemies; Pūṣan — te, your, tat, that [kind of] avaḥ, protection, ā vṛṇīmahe, we ask for on all sides: that protection by which you acodayaḥ, urged on, pitṝn, the forefathers beginning with Aṅgiras, the divine Fathers (pitṛdevān). We pray for that: so it is connected with what precedes. Dasra: root dasi daṃsanadarśanayoḥ; rak by spāyitañci…; because the teaching of augments is not constant, no num; or from the root dasu upakṣaye with an implicit causative sense, rak as before. Mantumaḥ: root mana jñāne; the abstract tu by kamimanijanī… [U. 1-73]; 'manturjñānam asyāsti', one who has knowledge: mantumān; in the vocative the ru by matuvaso ruḥ. Acodayaḥ: root cuda saṃcodane, of the curādi class."

Pratipadārtha (p. 450) — "mantumaḥ — one who has subtle knowledge; dasra — one of beautiful form, or one who destroys enemies; pūṣan — O Pūṣan; te — your; yena — by which protection; pitṝn — the forefathers (Aṅgiras and others); acodayaḥ — you encouraged and caused to prosper; tat — that (your) protection; ā vṛṇīmahe — we ask for on all sides."

Bhāvārtha (p. 450) — "O Pūṣan, you are of subtle knowledge, of beautiful form, and a destroyer of enemies. Formerly, favouring them with your protection, you gave encouragement to Aṅgiras and the others, and through them you made the world prosper. Even now we ask for that protection of yours on all sides."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 450, begun) — "O wise and handsome Pushan, we entreat you that protection which you extended to our ancestors" (the sentence continues on p. 451, not yet written).

Rik 42.5, continued (from p. 451)

English Translation (the source's own, p. 450–451) — "O wise and handsome Pushan, we entreat you that protection which you extended to our ancestors" (the sentence stops here in the print; no full stop).

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 451 - mantumaḥ — "mana jñāne | manturjñānam asyāstīti mantumān tasya sambuddhiḥ mantumaḥ: one possessed of knowledge, intelligent: 'wise, sagacious, prudent &c.'" (the English words are the source's). - dasra — "dasi daṃsanadarśanayoḥ | darśanīya | yadvā dasu upakṣaye | vairiṇām upakṣayakārin: handsome, or destroyer of enemies: 'Handsome or destroyer of foes'." - avaḥ = rakṣaṇam — "protection." - yena pitṝn acodayaḥ — "the intention: as you gave protection to our forefathers, or elders, in former times, give protection to us also."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (p. 451 — grammar page, noted briefly) - dasra: root dasi daṃsanadarśanayoḥ, first class; idit, so idito num dhātoḥ would give num, which is to be prevented by āgamaśāstram anityam; or the root dasu upakṣaye, of the divādi class, is taken; whichever it is, it is one root; then the suffix rak by spāyitañci… [Uṇ.]. - mantumaḥ: root mana jñāne of the divādi class; kamimanijanigāhāyāhibhyaś ca (U. Sū. 1-72 as printed): tu in the abstract; titutratatha… prohibits iṭ; man + tu, anusvāra, parasavarṇa; mantu means knowledge; "manturasyāsti"; tadasyāsty asminn iti matup; mantumat; then the vocative su; matuvasor ru sambuddhau chandasi — मतुवसोरु सम्बुद्धौ छन्दसि — (Pā. Sū. 8-3-1): in the Veda, ru for the final of a stem ending in matup or vasu in the vocative singular; mantumar + su; halṅyābbhyo… the loss of su; kharavasānayor visarjanīyaḥ the visarga. - acodayaḥ: root cuda saṃcodane, tenth class; satyāpapāśa… gives ṇic; luṅ, madhyama singular sip, śap; the augment aṭ; acud + i + a + si; because of ṇic the laghūpadhaguṇa; because of śap sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ gives guṇa; e, ay-substitution; itaś ca the loss of the i; ru, visarga. Rik 5 ends here (|| 5 ||).

Rik 42.6 (pp. 452–454, PDF 466–468)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 452; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

अधा नो विश्वसौभग हिरण्यवाशीमत्तम । धनानि सुषणा कृधि ॥ ६ ॥

ádhā no viśvasaubhaga hiraṇyavāśīmattama | dhánāni suṣáṇā kṛdhi || 6 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 452)

अध । नः । विश्वऽसौभग । हिरण्यवाशीमत्ऽतम । धनानि । सुऽसना । कृधि ॥ ६ ॥

adha | naḥ | viśva-saubhaga | hiraṇyavāśīmat-tama | dhanāni | su-sanā | kṛdhi || 6 ||

(The Saṃhitā prints adhā and the Pada adha*; the Pada has* su-sanā with s*, the Saṃhitā and the bhāṣya* suṣaṇā — as printed.)

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 452)

हे विश्वसौभग कृत्स्नधनयुक्त । यद्वा कृत्स्नसौभाग्ययुक्त हिरण्यवाशीमत्तम अतिशयेन सुवर्णमयायुधवन् । पूषन् अध पूर्वोक्तास्मदीयप्रार्थनानन्तरं नोऽस्माकं धनानि सुवर्णमणिमुक्तादीनि सुषणा सुष्ठु दानयुक्तानि कृधि । कुरु ॥ अध । अथशब्दे धत्वं छान्दसं । निपातस्य चेति संहितायां दीर्घत्वं । विश्वसौभग । सुभगान्मन्त्र इत्युद्गात्रादिषु पाठादण्भावेऽञ् । पा. ५-१-१२९ । हृद्भगसिन्ध्वन्ते पूर्वपदस्य च । पा. ७-३-१९ । इत्युत्तरपदवृद्धौ प्राप्तायां सत्यां सर्वविधीनां छन्दसि विकल्पितत्वादुत्तरपदवृद्धिर्न भवतीति वृत्त्वाप्युक्तं । विश्वानि सौभगानि यस्यासौ विश्वसौभगः । आमन्त्रितनिघातः । हिरण्यवाशीमत्तम । हिरण्यमयी वाशी । तदेषामस्तीति हिरण्यवाशीमन्तः । अतिशयेन हिरण्यवाशीमान् हिरण्यवाशीमत्तमः । आमन्त्रितनिघातः । सुषणा । वन षण सम्भक्तौ । सुखेन सम्भज्यन्त इति सुषणानि । ईषद्दुःसुष्विति खल् । शेश्छन्दसीति शेर्लोपः । लितीति प्रत्ययात्पूर्वस्योदात्तत्वं । कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं । कृधि । डुकृञ् करणे । श्रुशृणुपृकृवृभ्यश्छन्दसीति हेर्धिरादेशः । बहुलं छन्दसीति विकरणस्य लुक् ॥

he viśvasaubhaga kṛtsnadhanayukta | yadvā kṛtsnasaubhāgyayukta hiraṇyavāśīmattama atiśayena suvarṇamayāyudhavan | pūṣan adha pūrvoktāsmadīyaprārthanānantaraṃ no 'smākaṃ dhanāni suvarṇamaṇimuktādīni suṣaṇā suṣṭhu dānayuktāni kṛdhi | kuru || adha |

athaśabde dhatvaṃ chāndasaṃ | nipātasya ceti saṃhitāyāṃ dīrghatvaṃ | viśvasaubhaga | subhagān mantra ityᵧ udgātrādiṣu pāṭhād aṇ bhāve 'ñ | pā. 5-1-129 | hṛdbhagasindhvante pūrvapadasya ca | pā. 7-3-19 | ityᵧ uttarapadavṛddhau prāptāyāṃ satyāṃ sarvavidhīnāṃ chandasi vikalpitatvād uttarapadavṛddhir na bhavatīti vṛttvāpy uktaṃ | viśvāni saubhagāni yasyāsau viśvasaubhagaḥ | āmantritanighātaḥ | hiraṇyavāśīmattama | hiraṇyamayī vāśī | tad eṣām astīti hiraṇyavāśīmantaḥ | atiśayena hiraṇyavāśīmān hiraṇyavāśīmattamaḥ | āmantritanighātaḥ | suṣaṇā | vana ṣaṇa sambhaktau | sukhena sambhajyanta iti suṣaṇāni | īṣad-duḥ-suṣu iti khal | śeś chandasīti śer lopaḥ | liti iti pratyayāt pūrvasyodāttatvaṃ | kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ | kṛdhi | ḍukṛñ karaṇe | śruśṛṇupṛkṛvṛbhyaś chandasīti her dhir ādeśaḥ | bahulaṃ chandasīti vikaraṇasya luk ||

Translation: "O viśvasaubhaga, possessed of all wealth — or possessed of all good fortune — hiraṇyavāśīmattama, exceedingly possessed of golden-axed weapons [vāśī = a weapon]; Pūṣan — adha, then, after this our prayer spoken above, naḥ, to us, dhanāni, riches — gold, gems, pearls and so on — suṣaṇā, well-given, kṛdhi, make. Adha: the dha for tha in the word atha is Vedic; the lengthening in the Saṃhitā by nipātasya ca. Viśvasaubhaga: since subhaga and mantra are read in the udgātrādi group, añ in the abstract by añ [Pā. 5-1-129]; vṛddhi of the latter member would be obtained by hṛdbhagasindhvante pūrvapadasya ca [Pā. 7-3-19]; but since all operations are optional in the Veda the commentator [vṛttikāra] says there is no vṛddhi of the latter member; 'viśvāni saubhagāni yasya': viśvasaubhagaḥ; unaccented as a vocative. Hiraṇyavāśīmattama: 'hiraṇyamayī vāśī', a golden axe/weapon; 'tad eṣām asti': hiraṇyavāśīmantaḥ; 'very much so': hiraṇyavāśīmattamaḥ. Suṣaṇā: root vana ṣaṇa sambhaktau; 'sukhena sambhajyante': suṣaṇāni, [things] easily enjoyed; khal by īṣad-duḥ-suṣu; loss of śi by śeś chandasi. Kṛdhi: root ḍukṛñ karaṇe; by śruśṛṇupṛkṛvṛbhyaś chandasi the substitute dhi for hi; the vikaraṇa elided by bahulaṃ chandasi."

Pratipadārtha (pp. 452–453) — "viśvasaubhaga — O you who are united with all wealth, or with all good fortune; hiraṇyavāśīmattama — Pūṣan, who have exceedingly golden weapons; adha — after the earlier prayer [of ours]; naḥ — to us; dhanāni — riches made of gold, diamonds, cat's-eye gems and so on; suṣaṇā — [become] given in noble gifts; kṛdhi — make (give as much as we wish)."

Bhāvārtha (p. 453) — "O Pūṣan, you are possessed of all wealth, and you bear weapons made of gold. Now that we have prayed to you, give us wealth in the form of gold, diamonds and so on, and other things that we need, as much as we wish."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 453) — "O Pushan, you are possessed of all prosperity and well equipped with golden weapons ; bestow upon us riches that may be accepted." (The source's heading for this English reads "English Translaion" — a misprint [sic].)

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 453 - adhā — "in place of the word atha the word adha is used, for the convenience of the Veda: dha for tha; and in the Saṃhitā text dha may also be long." - viśvasaubhaga = viśvāni saubhagāni yasyāsau viśvasaubhagaḥ — "possessed of all wealth, or of all good fortune." - hiraṇyavāśīmattama — "hiraṇyamayī vāśī | tad eṣām astīti hiraṇyavāśīmantaḥ | atiśayena hiraṇyavāśīmān hiraṇyavāśīmattamaḥ: vāśī is a weapon of golden make; exceedingly well adorned with golden weapons." - suṣaṇā = vana ṣaṇa sambhaktau | sukhena sambhajyante iti suṣaṇāni — "things pleasant to enjoy, objects of enjoyment, means to happiness."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 453–454 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - adhā: “the tha of the word atha has become dha by Vedic usage; in the Saṃhitā the long vowel by nipātasya ca.” - viśvasaubhaga: prāṇabhṛjjātivayovacanodgātrādibhyo ’ñ — प्राणभृज्जातिवयोवचनोद्गात्रादिभ्योऽञ् — (Pā. Sū. 5-[?]-[?]29; the middle digits are faint in the print; the bhāṣya prints 5-1-129): añ after the udgātrādi group; subhaga and mantra are read in this group [by subhagamantre, as printed]; taddhiteṣv acām ādeḥ gives vṛddhi; before the añ the u of su becomes o [the print says: su of subhaga takes guṇa in place of the u]; hṛdbhagasindhvante pūrvapadasya ca — हृद्भगसिन्ध्वन्ते पूर्वपदस्य च — (Pā. Sū. 7-3-19): before a ñit, ṇit or kit suffix, in a compound ending in hṛd, bhaga, sindhu, both the first and the latter member take vṛddhi of their first vowel; so both members should take it; but by the paribhāṣā sarve vidhayaś chandasi vikalpyante the vṛddhi of both members does not occur, says the Vṛttikāra in the sūtra hṛdbhaga… - hiraṇyavāśīmattama: “hiraṇyamayā ca sā vāśī ca hiraṇyavāśī”: vāśī means a weapon [āyudha]; “hiraṇyavāśy eṣām asti”: tadasyāstyasminn iti matup; “atiśayena hiraṇyavāśīmān”: atiśāyane tamabiṣṭhanau — the suffix tamap; hiraṇyavāśīmattama; vocative singular, wholly unaccented. - suṣaṇā: vana ṣaṇa sambhaktau; sukhena sanyate = sambhajyate iti suṣaṇāni; īṣad-duḥ-suṣu kṛcchrākṛcchrārtheṣu khal — the suffix khal after the root san; ādeśapratyayayoḥ gives ṣ; raṣābhyāṃ no ṇaḥ— (no number printed) ṇ for n; śas, augment num, lengthening of the penultimate; śeś chandasi bahulam loss of śi; loss of the nasal; by lit the syllable before the suffix is acute; the accent of the first member of a compound ending in a kṛt. - kṛdhi: root ḍukṛñ karaṇe; loṭ, sip, hi; śruśṛṇupṛkṛvṛbhyaś chandasi — श्रुशृणुपृकृवृभ्यश्छन्दसि — (no number printed): dhi for hi; bahulaṃ chandasi the vikaraṇa [u] is elided; hi is apit, so ṅit; kṅiti ca prohibits guṇa: kṛdhi. Rik 6 ends here (|| 6 ||).

Rik 42.7 (pp. 454–456, PDF 468–470)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 454; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

अति॑ नः स॒श्चतो॑ नय सु॒गा नः॑ सु॒पथा॑ कृणु । पूष॑न्नि॒ह क्रतु॑ं विदः ॥ ७ ॥

áti naḥ saścáto naya sugā́ naḥ supáthā kṛṇu | pūṣann ihá krátuṃ vidaḥ || 7 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 455)

अति । नः । सश्चतः । नय । सुऽगा । नः । सुऽपथा । कृणु । पूषन् । इह । क्रतुम् । विदः ॥ ७ ॥

ati | naḥ | saścataḥ | naya | su-gā | naḥ | su-pathā | kṛṇu | pūṣan | iha | kratum | vidaḥ || 7 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 455)

सश्चतोऽस्मद्बाधनाय प्राप्नुवतः शत्रून्नोऽस्मान् अतिक्रम्य नय । अन्यत्र प्रापय । नोऽस्मान् सुगा सुष्ठु गन्तुं शक्येन सुपथा शोभनमार्गेण कृणु । गन्तॄन्कुरु । हे पूषन् इहाध्वनि क्रतुं प्रज्ञानमस्मद्रक्षणरूपं विदः जानीहि ॥ सश्चतः । ग्लुञ्च ष्स्ज गतावित्यत्र सश्चिमप्येके पठन्तीति धातुवृत्त्यावुक्तं । अस्माल्लटः शतृ । बहुलं छन्दसीति शपो लुक् । प्रत्ययस्वरेण शतुरुदात्तत्वं । शतुरनुम इति विभक्त्युदात्ताभावश्छान्दसः । सुगा । सुष्ठु गच्छन्त्यत्रेति सुगः । सुदुरोरधिकरण इति गमेर्डप्रत्ययः । सुपां सुलुगिति तृतीयाया आकारः । सुपथा । शोभनेन पथा । न पूजनात् । पा. ५-४-६९ । इति समासान्तप्रतिषेधः । परादिश्छन्दसि बहुलमित्युत्तरपदाद्युदात्तत्वं । क्रत्वादयश्चेत्युत्तरपदाद्युदात्तत्वं न भवति । अबहुव्रीहित्वात् । तत्र हि

बहुव्रीहाविति वर्तते । कृणु । कृवि हिंसाकरणयोः । धिन्विकृण्व्योरच । इत्यप्रत्ययः । उतश्च प्रत्ययादिति हेर्लुक् । विदः । विद ज्ञाने । लेट्यडागमः । इतश्च लोप इतीकारलोपः ॥

saścato 'smadbādhanāya prāpnuvataḥ śatrūn no 'smān atikramya naya | anyatra prāpaya | no 'smān sugā suṣṭhu gantuṃ śakyena supathā śobhanamārgeṇa kṛṇu | gantṝn kuru | he pūṣan ihādhvani kratuṃ prajñānam asmadrakṣaṇarūpaṃ vidaḥ jānīhi || saścataḥ | gluñca ṣasja gatāv ity atra saścim apy eke paṭhantīti dhātuvṛttāv uktaṃ | asmāl laṭaḥ śatṛ | bahulaṃ chandasīti śapo luk | pratyayasvareṇa śatur udāttatvaṃ | śatur anuma iti vibhaktyudāttābhāvaś chāndasaḥ | sugā | suṣṭhu gacchanty atreti sugaḥ | sudurorādhikaraṇa iti gamer ḍapratyayaḥ | supāṃ sulug iti tṛtīyāyā ākāraḥ | supathā | śobhanena pathā | na pūjanāt | pā. 5-4-69 | iti samāsāntapratiṣedhaḥ | parādiś chandasi bahulam ity uttarapadādyudāttatvaṃ | kratvādayaś cety uttarapadādyudāttatvaṃ na bhavati | abahuvrīhitvāt | tatra hi bahuvrīhāv iti vartate | kṛṇu | kṛvi hiṃsākaraṇayoḥ | dhinvikṛṇvyor a ca | ity apratyayaḥ | utaś ca pratyayād iti her luk | vidaḥ | vida jñāne | leṭy aḍāgamaḥ | itaś ca lopa itīkāralopaḥ ||

(Tail checked against the print, p. 455: "gluñca ṣasja gatāv ity atra saścim apy eke paṭhantīti dhātuvṛttāv uktaṃ".)

Translation: "The enemies who saścataḥ, come on to harass us, ati naya, pass beyond [them] and lead us — take us elsewhere. Naḥ sugā supathā kṛṇu: make us travellers by a good road, one easy to go by. O Pūṣan, iha, on this road, kratum, [the] knowledge, in the form of protecting us, vidaḥ, know. Saścataḥ: in the root-list entry gluñca ṣasja gatau some read saści also, as said in the Dhātuvṛtti; from it śatṛ for laṭ; śap elided by bahulaṃ chandasi; the accent of śatṛ by the suffix accent; the non-acuteness of the ending by śatur anumaḥ is Vedic. Sugā: 'suṣṭhu gacchanty atra', sugaḥ; ḍa after gam by sudurorādhikaraṇe; ā for the instrumental by supāṃ sulug…. Supathā: 'by a good path'; the samāsānta is prohibited by na pūjanāt [Pā. 5-4-69]; the first syllable of the latter member by parādiś chandasi bahulam; the first-syllable accent of kratvādi does not occur since it is not a bahuvrīhi (that rule is governed by bahuvrīhau). Kṛṇu: root kṛvi hiṃsākaraṇayoḥ; the suffix u by dhinvikṛṇvyor a ca; the loss of hi by utaś ca pratyayāt. Vidaḥ: root vida jñāne; leṭ with augment aṭ; loss of the i by itaś ca lopaḥ."

Pratipadārtha (p. 455) — "saścataḥ — enemies who come to cause trouble to us; naḥ — to us; ati naya — send far away; naḥ — us; sugā — [make us] travellers by a way easy to go; supathā — by an excellent road; kṛṇu — make; pūṣan — O Pūṣan; iha — in this journey; kratum — [the] knowledge needed to protect us; vidaḥ — know."

Bhāvārtha (pp. 455–456) — "O Pūṣan, send the many enemies who come to give us trouble far away from us. Make our road free from obstacles and our travelling easy. Know well the way in which you must protect us on this journey. Make us walkers by an excellent road."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 456) — "Lead the enemies away from us ; make the path good and safe for us ; O Pushan, know how to protect us on this journey."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 456 - saścataḥ — "ṣaśca gatau; asmadbādhanāya prāpnuvataḥ: [the enemies] who come to give us trouble." - sugā = suṣṭhu gacchanty atreti sugaḥ — "good for travelling." - supathā — "by a good road; by a road free from enemies' ambush; by a road with security." - kratum — "knowledge; understanding. Since the word kratu is read among the eleven names of knowledge beginning with ketaḥ, keśaḥ [as read], kratum means knowledge, understanding."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 456–457 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - saścataḥ: the roots gluñca ṣasja gatau, first class: "some read the root saśca here", as said in the Dhātuvṛtti; from it laṭ, śatṛ; bahulaṃ chandasi (Pā. Sū. 2-4-73) elides śap; the suffix accent comes; if śap were not elided, ato guṇe would give pararūpa and the form would be saścat; but in that case tāsyanudāttet... would make the sārvadhātuka unaccented; since the śap has been elided, it is not later than upadeśa, so the unaccented does not come; śatur anumo nadyajādī — शतुरनुमो नद्यजादी — (Pā. Sū. 6-1-137 [as printed; for 6-1-173]): the ending of an ajādi after a śatṛ without num, and the nadī name, is acute with it; so śas after [śatṛ] should be acute; but by sarve vidhayaś chandasi vikalpyante (paribhāṣā 35) it does not occur here. - sugā: "suṣṭhu gacchanty atra": sudurorādhikaraṇe: ḍa after gam with su; ṭi lost; supāṃ sulug— (no number printed): ḍā for the instrumental singular: suga + ā; ṭi lost; the ending acute by the accent that follows loss of an acute. - supathā: śobhanaś cāsau panthāś ca: ṛkpūrabdhūḥpathām ānakṣe — ऋक्पूरब्धूःपथामानक्षे — (Pā. Sū. 5-4-74): the samāsānta suffix a (ac) comes at the end of compounds ending in ṛk, pur, ap, dhur, pathin; but in compounds ending in dhur in connection with the axle (akṣa) the a does not come; if the a were obtained, na pūjanāt — न पूजनात् — (Pā. Sū. 5-4-69) prohibits the samāsānta after words denoting honour; "here the vārttikakāra says this prohibition holds only where su and ati are used"; kratvādayaś ca — क्रत्वादयश्च — (Pā. Sū. 6-2-118) applies only in a bahuvrīhi, so it gives no first-syllable acute here to the latter member; by parādiś chandasi bahulam the first-syllable acute for the latter member comes. - kṛṇu: kṛvi hiṃsākaraṇayoś ca; loṭ, sip, hi; dhinvikṛṇvyor a ca (no number printed): u [print: upratyayа] and an a-substitute for v; kṛṇ + u + hi; ato lopaḥ the loss of the a; ṛvarṇān nasya ṇatvaṃ vācyam the ṇ for the n; utaś ca pratyayād asaṃyogapūrvāt — उतश्च प्रत्ययादसंयोगपूर्वात् — (Pā. Sū. 6-4-106): the loss of hi after a suffix with u not preceded by a conjunct. - vidaḥ: root vida jñāne; leṭ, sip, the augment aṭ; itaś ca lopaḥ the loss of the i; śap elided because of the adādi class; no laghūpadhaguṇa; ru, visarga. Rik 7 ends here (|| 7 ||).

Rik 42.8 (pp. 457–, PDF 471–)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 457 foot; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

अभि सूयवसं नय न नवज्वारो अध्वने । पूषन्निह क्रतुं विदः ॥ ८ ॥

abhí sūyávasaṃ naya ná navajvāró ádhvane | pūṣann ihá krátuṃ vidaḥ || 8 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 458)

अभि । सुऽयवसम् । नय । न । नवऽज्वारः । अध्वने । पूषन् । इह । क्रतुम् । विदः ॥ ८ ॥

abhi | su-yavasam | naya | na | nava-jvāraḥ | adhvane | pūṣan | iha | kratum | vidaḥ || 8 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 458)

हे पूषन् सुयवसं शोभनतृणोपलक्षितं सर्वौषधियुक्तं देशमभि नय । अस्मानभितः प्रापय । अध्वने मार्गाय नवज्वारो नूतनः सन्तापो न भवतीति शेषः । मार्गे गच्छतामस्माकमिदानीन्तनः क्लेशः कोऽपि मा भूदित्यर्थः । गतार्थमन्यत् ॥ सूयवसं । शोभनं यवसं यस्मिन्देशे स सूयवसो देशः । निपातस्य चेति पूर्वपदस्य दीर्घत्वं । परादिश्छन्दसि बहुलमित्युत्तरपदाद्युदात्तत्वं । क्रत्वादिर्वा द्रष्टव्यः । नवज्वारः । ज्वर रोगे । भावे घञ् । नवश्चासौ ज्वरो नवज्वारः । थाथादिनोत्तरपदान्तोदात्तत्वं ॥ ८ ॥

he pūṣan suyavasaṃ śobhanatṛṇopalakṣitaṃ sarvauṣadhiyuktaṃ deśam abhi naya | asmān abhitaḥ prāpaya | adhvane mārgāya navajvāro nūtanaḥ saṃtāpo na bhavatīti śeṣaḥ | mārge gacchatām asmākam idānīntanaḥ kleśaḥ ko 'pi mā bhūd ity arthaḥ | gatārtham anyat || sūyavasaṃ | śobhanaṃ yavasaṃ yasmin deśe sa sūyavaso deśaḥ | nipātasya ceti pūrvapadasya dīrghatvaṃ | parādiś chandasi bahulam ity uttarapadādyudāttatvaṃ | kratvādir vā draṣṭavyaḥ | navajvāraḥ | jvara roge | bhāve ghañ | navaś cāsau jvaro navajvāraḥ | thāthādinottarapadāntodāttatvaṃ || 8 ||

Translation: "O Pūṣan, suyavasam, a place marked by good grass, provided with all herbs — abhi naya, lead us to it, take us there on all sides. Adhvane, for the road, navajvāraḥ, a new heat or affliction, na [bhavati], let there not be: so the remainder is to be supplied. The sense: for us who go on the road let no new trouble of the moment arise. The rest has been explained. Sūyavasam: 'a place where there is good fodder'; the lengthening of the first member by nipātasya ca; the first syllable of the latter member by parādiś chandasi bahulam, or it may be seen as belonging to the kratvādi group. Navajvāraḥ: root jvara roge; ghañ in the abstract; 'a new jvara': navajvāraḥ; final-acute of the latter member by thāthādi…."

Pratipadārtha (p. 458) — "pūṣan — O Pūṣan; suyavasam — [to the place] filled with excellent green grass and medicinal herbs; abhi naya — lead [us] and bring us there; adhvane — on the road; navajvāraḥ — a new heat [of the sun]; na — let there not be; iha — in this journey; kratum — the way of protecting [us]; vidaḥ — know."

Bhāvārtha (p. 458) — "O Pūṣan, lead us to a place filled with excellent green grass and the best herbs. See that no new affliction comes to us on the road. Know well the way of protecting us on this journey."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 458) — "Lead us where there is abundant grass ; let there be no extreme heat on our way ; Pushan, know how to protect us on this journey."

(The Special Topics and grammar of Rik 8 begin on p. 459, not yet written.)

Rik 42.8, continued (from p. 459)

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 459 - sūyavasam = śobhanaṃ yavasaṃ yasmin deśe sa sūyavaso deśaḥ — "a place that has excellent grass; a country rich in fodder, where cattle can graze." - navajvāraḥ — "jvara roge; jvara eva jvāraḥ; navaś cāsau jvāraś ca navajvāraḥ: a new, or an excessive, heat; a burning, a scorching with the heat of the sun."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (p. 459 — grammar page, noted briefly) - sūyavasam: "yavasa means grass; here herbs are also meant. Śobhanaḥ = good; yavasaḥ = herbs: 'in which country that is'. The long vowel of the first member by nipātasya ca; by kratvādayaś ca (no number printed) the first-syllable acute of the latter member may be said." - navajvāraḥ: jvara roge; ghañ in the abstract; upadhāvṛddhi; 'navaś cāsau jvāraś ca'; by thāthaghañktājabitrakāṇām (no number printed) the latter member is final-acute. Rik 8 ends here (|| 8 ||).

Rik 42.9 (pp. 459–462, PDF 473–476)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 459; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

> शग्धि पूर्धि प्र यंसि च शिशीहि प्रास्युदरं । पूषन्निह क्रतुं विदः ॥ ९ ॥

śagdhí pūrdhí prá yaṃsi ca śiśīhí prāsy udáraṃ | pūṣann ihá krátuṃ vidaḥ || 9 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 459)

> शग्धि । पूर्धि । प्र । यंसि । च । शिशीहि । प्रासि । उदरम् । पूषन् । इह । क्रतुम् । विदः ॥ ९ ॥

śagdhi | pūrdhi | pra | yaṃsi | ca | śiśīhi | prāsi | udaram | pūṣan | iha | kratum | vidaḥ || 9 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 460)

> हे पूषन् शग्धि । अस्माननुग्रहीतुं शक्तो भव । पूर्धि । अस्मद्गृहं धनेन पूरय । किंच प्र यंसि । अन्यदप्यपेक्षितं वस्तु प्रयच्छ । शिशीहि । अस्मान्सर्वेषु मध्ये तीक्ष्णीकुरु । तेजस्विनः कुर्वित्यर्थः । उदरमस्मदीयं प्रासि । मृष्टान्नेन सोमरसेन वा पूरय । अन्यत्पूर्ववत् ॥

he pūṣan śagdhi | asmān anugrahītuṃ śakto bhava | pūrdhi | asmadgṛhaṃ dhanena pūraya | kiṃca pra yaṃsi | anyad apy apekṣitaṃ vastu prayaccha | śiśīhi | asmān sarveṣu madhye tīkṣṇīkuru | tejasvinaḥ kurv ity arthaḥ | udaram asmadīyaṃ prāsi | mṛṣṭānnena somarasena vā pūraya | anyat pūrvavat ||

Translation: "O Pūṣan, śagdhi — be able to favour us. Pūrdhi — fill our house with wealth. And pra yaṃsi — give also any other thing that is wished for. Śiśīhi — sharpen us in the midst of all: make us full of vigour. Udaram prāsi — fill our belly with delicious food or with Soma juice. The rest is as before [pūṣann iha kratuṃ vidaḥ]."

> शग्धि । शकॢ शक्तौ । लोटो हिः । बहुलं छन्दसीति विकरणस्य लुक् । हुझल्भ्यो हेर्धिरिति धिरादेशः । हेरपित्त्वात्प्रत्ययस्वरेणोदात्तत्वं । पूर्धि । पॄ पालनपूरणयोः । श्रुशृणुपृकृवृभ्यश्छन्दसीति हेर्धिरादेशः । पूर्ववद्विकरणस्य लुक् । उदोष्ठ्यपूर्वस्येत्युत्वं । हलि चेति दीर्घः । तिङः परत्वान्निघाताभावः । यंसि । यमु उपरमे । लोडर्थे लटि पूर्ववद्विकरणस्य लुक् । निघातः । शिशीहि । शो तनूकरणे । लोटि बहुलं छन्दसीत्यभ्यासस्येत्वं । ई हल्यघोरितीत्वं । प्रत्ययस्वरः । प्रासि । प्रा पूरणे । अदादित्वाच्छपो लुक् । सिपः पित्त्वादनुदात्तत्वे धातुस्वरः ॥

śagdhi | śakḷ śaktau | loṭo hiḥ | bahulaṃ chandasīti vikaraṇasya luk | hujhalbhyo her dhir iti dhirādeśaḥ | her apittvāt pratyayasvareṇodāttatvaṃ | pūrdhi | pṝ pālanapūraṇayoḥ | śruśṛṇupṛkṛvṛbhyaś chandasīti her dhirādeśaḥ | pūrvavad vikaraṇasya luk | udoṣṭhyapūrvasyety utvaṃ | hali ceti dīrghaḥ | tiṅaḥ paratvān nighātābhāvaḥ | yaṃsi | yamu uparame | loḍarthe laṭi pūrvavad vikaraṇasya luk | nighātaḥ | śiśīhi | śo tanūkaraṇe | loṭi

bahulaṃ chandasīty abhyāsasyetvaṃ | ī halyaghor itītvaṃ | pratyayasvaraḥ | prāsi | prā pūraṇe | adāditvāc chapo luk | sipaḥ pittvād anudāttatve dhātusvaraḥ ||

(Grammatical tail re-transcribed from the print, p. 460: it gives no sūtra numbers, has no svādibhyaḥ śnuḥ*, and reads* her apittvāt pratyayasvareṇodāttatvaṃ*,* pṝ*,* yamu*,* laṭi*; it ends "dhātusvaraḥ ||" without a Ṛk number.)*

Translation of the grammatical tail (characterized): Śagdhi — root śakḷ śaktau; the substitute hi for loṭ; the vikaraṇa elided by bahulaṃ chandasi; dhi for hi by hujhalbhyo her dhiḥ; since hi is not pit, acute by the suffix accent. Pūrdhi — root pṝ pālanapūraṇayoḥ; dhi by śruśṛṇupṛkṛvṛbhyaś chandasi; the vikaraṇa elided as before; u for the ṛ after a labial by udoṣṭhyapūrvasya; lengthening by hali ca; no nighāta since it follows a tiṅ. Yaṃsi — root yamu uparame; laṭ in the sense of loṭ; vikaraṇa elided as before; unaccented. Śiśīhi — root śo tanūkaraṇe; i in the reduplicate by bahulaṃ chandasi; ī by ī halyaghoḥ; the accent of the suffix. Prāsi — root prā pūraṇe; śap elided because of the adādi class; since sip is pit the root accent remains.

Pratipadārtha (p. 460) — "pūṣan — O Pūṣan; śagdhi — be able to favour us; pūrdhi — fill our house with abundant wealth; pra yaṃsi — give well the good things that we wish; śiśīhi — make us full of vigour in the midst of all; udaram — our belly; prāsi — fill with delicious food; iha — on this road; kratum — the way of protecting [us]; vidaḥ — know."

Bhāvārtha (p. 460) — "O Pūṣan, be able to favour us. Fill our house with abundant wealth. Provide for us the good things that we wish. Make us full of vigour in the midst of all. Fill our belly with delicious food and give us satisfaction. Know how to protect us on this road, and protect us."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 460) — "Be favourable to us, fill us wtth [sic] plenty, give us all good things, make us robust and fill our stomachs ; O Pusham [sic], know how to protect us on this journey."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 461 — "In this ṛk the ṛṣi prays that wealth, food and desired things be given to him. Although only the verbs śagdhi, pūrdhi, yaṃsi, śiśīhi and prāsi, which suggest this sense, are used, one must supply in thought the nouns suited to them."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 461–462 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - śagdhi: root śakla śaktau [print: śaklṛ śaktau]; loṭ, sip, hi; svādibhyaḥ śnuḥ (no number printed): śnu; bahulaṃ chandasi [Pā. 2-4-73 as read] elides it; hujhalbhyo her dhiḥ — हुझल्भ्यो हेर्धिः — (Pā. Sū. 7-4-101 [as printed; for 6-4-101]; the first digit is the flat-footed 7, not the hooked 6): dhi for hi after hu or a root ending in a jhal; hi is apit, so ṅit; anudāttau suppitau gives it no accent so the root accent stands; by the suffix accent it would otherwise be acute. - pūrdhi: pṝ pālanapūraṇayoḥ, loṭ, sip, hi; the vikaraṇa elided as before. "But this root is read both in the juhotyādi and in the kryādi: if the juhotyādi is accepted, śap is elided in place of ślu; if the kryādi, śnā is elided." Śruśṛṇupṛkṛvṛbhyaś chandasi — श्रुशृणुपृकृवृभ्यश्छन्दसि — (no number printed): dhi for hi; udoṣṭhyapūrvasya — उदोष्ठ्यपूर्वस्य — (Pā. Sū. 7-1-102): the ṛ ending a stem preceded by a labial letter (pa-class) becomes ur [print: u and ur]: pur + dhi; hali ca — हलि च — (Pā. Sū. 8-2-77): the penultimate ik of a root ending in r or v before a consonant is lengthened: pūrdhi; since it follows śagdhi, a verb, it is not wholly unaccented. - yaṃsi: yamu uparame, first class; leṭ in the sense of loṭ; sip, śap, elided as before; naś cāpadāntasya jhali (no number printed) anusvāra for m; tiṅ atiṅaḥ wholly unaccented. - śiśīhi: śo tanūkaraṇe, divādi; ādeca upadeśe 'śiti (no number printed): ā for o; loṭ, hi; divādibhyaḥ śyan: śyan; bahulaṃ chandasi (Pā. Sū. 2-4-76) ślu for śyan; ślau: doubling; bahulaṃ chandasi (Pā. Sū. 7-4-78): i for the ā of the reduplicate; ubhe abhyastam (Pā. Sū. 6-1-25 [as printed; for 6-1-5]): the doubled word is called abhyasta; śnābhyastayor ātaḥ the loss of ā; hi is apit; accent of the suffix. - prāsi: prā pūraṇe, adādi; laṭ in the sense of loṭ; adiprabhṛtibhyaḥ śapaḥ (no number printed) luk; sip is pit, so tāsyanudāttet… makes it unaccented; the root accent stands. Rik 9 ends here (|| 9 ||).

Rik 42.10 (pp. 462–464, PDF 476–478)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 462; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented; the initial ऻ is unmarked in the print and taken as udātta in the IAST.)

न पूषणं॑ मेथामसि सू॒क्तै॒रभि॑ गृ॑णीमसि । वसू॑नि॒ द॒स्मम॑ी॑महे ॥ १० ॥

ná pūṣáṇaṃ methāmasi sūktáir abhí gṛṇīmasi | vásūni dasmám īmahe || 10 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 462)

न । पूषणम् । मेथामसि । सुऽउक्तैः । अभि । गृणीमसि । वसूनि । दस्मम् । ईमहे ॥ १० ॥

na | pūṣaṇam | methāmasi | su-uktaiḥ | abhi | gṛṇīmasi | vasūni | dasmam | īmahe || 10 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 462)

पूषणं देवं न मेथामसि । वयं न तु निन्दामः । किंतु सूक्तैर्वेदगतैरभि गृणीमसि । सर्वत्र स्तुमः । दस्मं दर्शनीयं पूषणं प्रति वसूनि धनानीमहे । याचामहे ॥ मेथामसि । मेथृ मेधाहिंसनयोः । लटीदन्तो मसिरिति मस इकारागमः । सूक्तैः । सुष्ठु स्तुवते देवताः प्रकाशयन्तीति सूक्तानि । क्तिच्क्तौ च सञ्ज्ञायामिति कर्तरि क्तः । वचि स्वपीत्यादिना सम्प्रसारणं । थाथादिस्वरः । यद्वा । कर्मणि निष्ठा । सूपमानात् क्तः । पा. ६-२-१४५ । इत्युत्तरपदान्तोदात्तत्वं । गृणीमसि । गृ शब्दे । प्वादीनां ह्रस्व इति ह्रस्वत्वं । इदन्तो मसिः । दस्मं । इषियुधीन्धिदसिश्याधूसूभ्यो मक् । उ. १-१-१४४ । इति मक्प्रत्ययः ॥ २५ ॥

pūṣaṇaṃ devaṃ na methāmasi | vayaṃ na tu nindāmaḥ | kiṃtu sūktair vedagatair abhi gṛṇīmasi | sarvatra stumaḥ | dasmaṃ darśanīyaṃ pūṣaṇaṃ prati vasūni dhanānīmahe | yācāmahe || methāmasi | methṛ medhāhiṃsanayoḥ | laṭīdanto masir iti masa ikārāgamaḥ | sūktaiḥ | suṣṭhu stuvate devatāḥ prakāśayantīti sūktāni | ktickktau ca saṃjñāyām iti kartari ktaḥ | vaci svapīty ādinā samprasāraṇaṃ | thāthādisvaraḥ | yadvā | karmaṇi niṣṭhā | sūpamānāt ktaḥ | pā. 6-2-145 | ity uttarapadāntodāttatvaṃ | gṛṇīmasi | gṛ śabde | pvādīnāṃ hrasva iti hrasvatvaṃ | idanto masiḥ | dasmaṃ | iṣiyudhīndhidasiśyādhūsūbhyo mak | u. 1-1-144 [as printed] | iti makpratyayaḥ || 25 ||

Translation: "We do not methāmasi, reproach, the god Pūṣan; we do not revile [him]. Rather, sūktaiḥ, with the sūktas that belong to the Veda, abhi gṛṇīmasi, we praise [him] everywhere. Dasmam, to the beautiful-to-see Pūṣan, vasūni, riches, īmahe, we pray. Methāmasi: root methṛ medhāhiṃsanayoḥ; the augment i for mas by idanto masiḥ. Sūktaiḥ: 'those that well praise, that reveal the deities': sūktāni; kta in the agent sense by ktickktau ca saṃjñāyām; saṃprasāraṇa by vacisvapī…; the accent by thāthādi…; or niṣṭhā in the passive sense: by sūpamānāt ktaḥ [Pā. 6-2-145] the latter member is final-acute. Gṛṇīmasi: root gṝ śabde; shortening by pvādīnāṃ hrasvaḥ; mas taking i. Dasmam: the suffix mak by iṣiyudhīndhidasiśyādhūsūbhyo mak [Uṇ. 1-144 [?]]."

Pratipadārtha (p. 463) — "pūṣaṇam — Pūṣan; na methāmasi — we do not revile; sūktaiḥ — with divine words; abhi gṛṇīmasi — we praise [him] on all sides; dasmam — the handsome god Pūṣan; vasūni — wealth (for wealth); īmahe — we pray."

Bhāvārtha (p. 463) — "We do not revile the god Pūṣan. We praise him on all sides with divine words. We sing the praise of his handsome form. We ask him for wealth."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 463) — "We do not reproach Pushan, but praise him with hymus [sic] ; We solicit the good looking (Pushan) for riches."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 463 - "The sense of this ṛk is easy to grasp; there is nothing special in it. The intention too is clear." - na methāmasi — "methṛ medhāhiṃsanayoḥ; na nindāmaḥ: we do not revile, we do not find fault." - abhi gṛṇīmasi — "gṝ śabde; sarvatra stumaḥ: we praise specially." - dasmam = darśanīyam — "beautiful to look at." - īmahe = yācāmahe — "since the word īmahe is read among the seventeen names of the action of begging, beginning with yāmi, īmahe means 'we beg, we pray'."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 463–464 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - methāmasi: methṛ medhāhiṃsanayoḥ; in the first class it is read midṛ medṛ medhāhiṃsanayoḥ; svāmin [the commentator] thinks the root ends in th; laṭ, mas; śap; idanto masi gives the augment ik [i]; ato dīrgho yañi — अतो दीर्घो यञि — (no number printed) the long vowel: methāmasi; wholly unaccented. - sūktaiḥ: "suṣṭhu bruvate = well praise the deities": the root brūñ vyaktāyāṃ vāci, adādi; ktic ktau ca saṃjñāyām (no number printed) kta in the sense of the agent; bruvo vaciḥ gives the substitute vaci; vacisvapiyajādīnāṃ kiti (no number printed) the saṃprasāraṇa, with pūrvarūpa and the long vowel by savarṇadīrgha; thāthaghañktājabitrakāṇām (no number printed) gives the final-acute for the kta-ending latter member. Or, "well spoken by the gods" [suṣṭhu ucyante devatāḥ ebhiḥ: by these the gods are well praised]; or in the passive, niṣṭhā, with the form as before; by sūpamānāt ktaḥ (Pā. Sū. 6-2-145), the latter member after the preverb su, a kāraka, or a word of comparison, ending in kta, is final-acute. - gṛṇīmasi: gṝ śabde, kryādi; laṭ, mas, śnā; pvādīnāṃ hrasvaḥ — प्वादीनां ह्रस्वः — (no number printed): shortening of the root; īhalyaghoḥ — ई हल्यघोः — (Pā. Sū. 6-4-113): ī for the ā of śnā before a kit or ṅit sārvadhātuka beginning with a consonant; idanto masiḥ the augment i. - dasmam: dasu upakṣaye; iṣiyudhīndhidasiśyādhūsūbhyo mak — इषियुधीन्धिदसिश्याधूसूभ्यो मक् — (U. Sū. 1-142 as printed; the bhāṣya prints u. 1-1-144): after the roots iṣa gatau, yudha saṃprahāre, ñi indhī dīptau, dasu upakṣaye, śyai gatau, dhūñ kampane and sūṅ prāṇigarbhavimocane the suffix mak; hence the suffix accent. Rik 10 ends here (|| 10 ||).

Close of Sūkta 42. Printed on p. 464 after the grammar: "illige 42ne sūkta mugidudu" — "Here the 42nd sūkta has ended." (Numeral "42" confirmed from the print.) With it the Seventh Sūkta of the Eighth Anuvāka (printed pp. 435–464) ends. On the same leaf, p. 464 foot = PDF 478, follows the large title "nalavattamūraneya sūktavu" ("the forty-third sūkta") with the Sanskrit introduction beginning "kadrudrāya…", which runs over to p. 465 (PDF 479) together with the Kannada anuvāda and the heading of Sūkta 43 (kad rudrāya, nine Riks, ṛṣi Kaṇva Ghaura; deity Rudra for Riks 1, 3, 4, 6, Mitra–Varuṇa for Rik 5 [as read], Soma for 7–9; metre Gāyatrī for Riks 1–8 and Anuṣṭubh for Rik 9). These are not yet written and belong to the next session. (The 43rd sūkta thus begins at the foot of p. 464, not at p. 465 as the old contents table says.)

Summary of Sūkta 42 (my note). Ten Riks to Pūṣan, the lord of roads and protector of travellers, to be recited when setting out on a long journey. Rik 1 asks him to bring the travellers across the road, destroy the obstructing sin and go before them; Riks 2–4 ask him to drive away and trample the hostile robber and deceiver who points the wrong road; Rik 5 recalls his past protection of the ancestors; Rik 6 asks for gold and other wealth; Riks 7–8 ask for a safe road, leading to good grass and without new heat or trouble; Rik 9 asks for favour, plenty and food; Rik 10 says the singers do not reproach him but praise him and beg for wealth. All ten Riks are written in full; the long Special Topics essay on Pūṣan (Rik 1) and the crowded grammar pages are characterized only where stated.

SŪKTA 43 (printed p. 464 foot = PDF 478)

Forty-third Sūkta (large Kannada title line at the foot of p. 464: "nalavattamūraneya sūktavu")

Pages 464 foot–465 (PDF 478–479) — Sāyaṇa's introduction, the Kannada anuvāda, and the heading

Sāyaṇa's introduction (printed in Kannada script; read from the 150-dpi images; it begins at the foot of p. 464 and ends at the top of p. 465)

> कद्रुद्रायेति नवर्चमष्टमं सूक्तं । अत्रानुक्रम्यते । कद्रुद्राय नव रौद्रं तृतीया मैत्रावरुणी चान्त्यस्तृचः सौम्योऽन्त्यानुष्टुबिति । घोरपुत्रः कण्व ऋषिः । गायत्री छन्दः । यास्ते प्रजा इत्यन्त्यानुष्टुप् । रुद्रो देवता । यथा नो मित्र इत्येषा मित्रावरुणदेवताका च । अस्मे सोमेत्यादिरन्त्यस्तृचस्तु सौम्य एव । सर्वेषु रुद्रदेवताकेषु कर्मसु अनेन दिगुपस्थानं कर्तव्यं । तथा च सूत्रितं । कद्रुद्रायेमा रुद्राया ते पितरिमा रुद्राय स्थिरधन्वन इति सर्वरुद्रयज्ञेषु दिशामुपस्थानं । आ. गृ. ४-९-२१ । इति ॥

kadrudrāyeti navarcam aṣṭamaṃ sūktaṃ | atrānukramyate | kadrudrāya nava raudraṃ tṛtīyā maitrāvaruṇī cāntyas tṛcaḥ saumyo 'ntyānuṣṭubiti | ghoraputraḥ kaṇva ṛṣiḥ | gāyatrī chandaḥ | yās te prajā ity antyānuṣṭup | rudro devatā | yathā no mitra ity eṣā mitrāvaruṇadevatākā ca | asme somety ādir antyas tṛcas tu saumya eva | sarveṣu rudradevatākeṣu karmasu anena digupasthānaṃ kartavyaṃ | tathā ca sūtritaṃ | kadrudrāyemā rudrāyā te pitar imā rudrāya sthiradhanvana iti sarvarudrayajñeṣu diśām upasthānaṃ | ā. gṛ. 4-9-21 | iti ||

(The Anukramaṇikā's "tṛtīyā maitrāvaruṇī" is clear in the print; the heading's deity line gives Rik 3 to Mitra–Varuṇa.)

Translation: "Kad rudrāya — the eighth sūkta [of the anuvāka], of nine ṛks. The Anukramaṇikā says here: 'kad rudrāya nava raudraṃ tṛtīyā maitrāvaruṇī cāntyas tṛcaḥ saumyo 'ntyānuṣṭub' — nine [ṛks] to Rudra; [one] to Mitra–Varuṇa; the last tṛca to Soma; the last [ṛk] Anuṣṭubh. Kaṇva, son of Ghora, is the ṛṣi; the metre is Gāyatrī; the last ṛk, yās te prajāḥ, is Anuṣṭubh. The deity is Rudra; and the ṛk yathā no mitra has Mitra–Varuṇa as its deity; while the last tṛca, beginning asme soma, is of Soma. In all rites with Rudra as deity the worship of the quarters (digupasthāna) is to be made with this [sūkta]. And it is so laid down: 'kad rudrāya, imā rudrāya, ā te pitar, imā rudrāya sthiradhanvane' — the worship of the directions in all Rudra sacrifices (Āś. Gṛ. 4-9-21, as printed)." (Translation mine; the print runs rudrāyā te together for rudrāya | ā te*.)*

Anuvāda (Kannada), p. 465 — "Kad rudrāya is the eighth sūkta in this eighth anuvāka. It has nine ṛks. In the Anukramaṇikā: 'kad rudrāya nava raudraṃ tṛtīyā maitrāvaruṇī cāntyas tṛcaḥ saumyo 'ntyānuṣṭub'. The ṛṣi of this sūkta is Kaṇva, the son of Ghora. The metre is Gāyatrī; the last ṛk, yās te prajāḥ, is in Anuṣṭubh. The deity of this sūkta is Rudra; but the ṛk yathā no mitra has Mitra–Varuṇa as deity; the last three ṛks, beginning asme soma, have Soma as deity. In all rites that have Rudra as deity, the worship of the quarters is to be made with this sūkta: in the Āśvalāyana Gṛhya-sūtra it is prescribed that the quarters be worshipped with the sūktas 'kad rudrāya' (Ṛg. Saṃ. 1-43), 'imā rudrāya' (Ṛg. Saṃ. 1-114), 'ā te pitaḥ' (Ṛg. Saṃ. 2-33) and 'imā rudrāya sthiradhanvane' (Ṛg. Saṃ. 7-46) (Āś. Gṛ. 4-9-21)."

॥ ॐ ॥

> सूक्त — ४३ ॥ मण्डल — १ ॥ अनुवाक — ८ ॥ सूक्त — ४३ ॥ ॥ अष्टक — १ ॥ अध्याय — ३ ॥ वर्ग — २६, २७ ॥ ॥ सूक्तदल्लिरुव ऋक्संख्यै — ९ ॥ ॥ ऋषिः — कण्वो घौरः ॥ ॥ देवता — १, २, ४–६ रुद्रः । ३ मित्रावरुणौ । ७–९ सोमः ॥ ॥ छन्दः — १–८ गायत्री । ९ अनुष्टुप् ॥

sūkta 43 | maṇḍala 1 | anuvāka 8 | aṣṭaka 1 | adhyāya 3 | varga 26, 27 | ṛks 9 | ṛṣi: Kaṇva Ghaura | devatā: Riks 1, 2, 4–6 Rudra; 3 Mitra–Varuṇa; 7–9 Soma | chandas: Riks 1–8 Gāyatrī; 9 Anuṣṭubh.

(Deity line and varga numerals zoom-checked against the print.)

Rik 43.1 (pp. 466–469, PDF 480–483)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 466; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented; the initial क is unmarked in the print and taken as udātta in the IAST.)

> कद्रुद्राय॒ प्रचे॑तसे मी॒ळ्हुष्टमा॑य॒ तव्य॑से । वो॒चेम॒ शन्त॑मं॒ हृ॒दे ॥ १ ॥

kád rudrā́ya prácetase mīḷhúṣṭamāya távyase | vocéma śántamaṃ hṛdé || 1 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 466)

> कत् । रुद्राय । प्रऽचेतसे । मीळ्हुःऽतमाय । तव्यसे । वोचेम । शम्ऽतमम् । हृदे ॥ १ ॥

kat | rudrāya | pra-cetase | mīḷhuḥ-tamāya | tavyase | vocema | śam-tamam | hṛde || 1 ||

(The Saṃhitā prints kad*, the Pada* kat*; the Saṃhitā's* śantamam with n and the Pada's śam-tamam as printed.)

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 466)

कत् कदा रुद्रायैतन्नामकाय देवाय शन्तममतिशयेन सुखकरं स्तोत्रं वोचेम । पठेम । कीदृशाय । प्रचेतसे प्रकृष्टज्ञानयुक्ताय । मीळ्हुष्टमाय सेक्तृतमाय अभीष्टकामवर्षयित्यर्थः । तव्यसेऽतिशयेन प्रवृद्धाय । हृदेऽस्मदीयहृन्निष्ठाय ॥

kat kadā rudrāyaitannāmakāya devāya śantamam atiśayena sukhakaraṃ stotraṃ vocema | paṭhema | kīdṛśāya | pracetase prakṛṣṭajñānayuktāya | mīḷhuṣṭamāya sektṛtamāya abhīṣṭakāmavarṣāyetyarthaḥ | tavyase 'tiśayena pravṛddhāya | hṛde 'smadīyahṛnniṣṭhāya ||

Translation: "Kat, when, rudrāya, to the god of this name, [the] śantamam, exceedingly pleasing, hymn vocema, shall we recite? What kind [of god]? Pracetase — endowed with excellent knowledge; mīḷhuṣṭamāya — the greatest sprinkler (sektṛtama), the one who rains down desired wishes: so the sense; tavyase — exceedingly grown great; hṛde — fixed in our own heart."

कत् । कदा । अन्त्यलोपश्छान्दसः । रुद्राय । रोदयति सर्वमन्तकाल इति रुद्रः । रोदेर्णिलुक्च । उ. २-२२ । इति रक्प्रत्ययः । प्रचेतसे । चिती सञ्ज्ञाने । प्रकृष्टं चेतयतीति प्रचेताः । गतिकारकयोरपि पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं चेत्यसुन् । पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं च । मीळ्हुष्टमाय । अतिशयेन मीढ्वान् मीळ्हुष्टमः । दाश्वान् साह्वान् मीढ्वांश्चेति क्वसुप्रत्ययान्तो निपातितः । तमुप्ययस्मयादित्वेन भत्वाद्वसोः सम्प्रसारणमिति सम्प्रसारणं । शासिवसिघसीनां चेति षत्वं । तव्यसे । तवतिर्वृद्ध्यर्थः । सौत्रो धातुः । अतिशयेन तविता तवीयान् । तुश्छन्दसीति ईयसुन्प्रत्ययः । तुरिष्ठेमेयस्स्विति तृलोपः । ईयसुन ईकारलोपश्छान्दसः । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वं । वोचेम । वच परिभाषणे । लिङ्याशिष्यङ् । वच उमित्युमागमः । यासुटः स्वरेणैकार उदात्तः । हृदे । पद्दन्नोमास्हृदित्यादिना हृदयशब्दस्य हृदादेशः । ऊडिदमित्यादिना विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वं ॥ १ ॥

kat | kadā | antyalopaś chāndasaḥ | rudrāya | rodayati sarvam antakāla iti rudraḥ | roder ṇiluk ca | u. 2-22 | iti rakpratyayaḥ | pracetase | citī saṃjñāne | prakṛṣṭaṃ cetayatīti pracetāḥ | gatikārakayor api pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ cety asun | pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ ca | mīḷhuṣṭamāya | atiśayena mīḍhvān mīḷhuṣṭamaḥ | dāśvān sāhvān mīḍhvāṃś ceti kvasupratyayānto nipātitaḥ | tamupyayasmayāditvena bhatvād vasoḥ samprasāraṇam iti samprasāraṇaṃ | śāsivasighasīnāṃ ceti ṣatvaṃ | tavyase | tavatir vṛddhyarthaḥ | sautro dhātuḥ | atiśayena tavitā tavīyān | tuś chandasīti īyasunpratyayaḥ | turiṣṭhemeyassv iti tṛlopaḥ | īyasuna īkāralopaś chāndasaḥ | nittvād ādyudāttatvaṃ | vocema | vaca paribhāṣaṇe | liṅyāśiṣy aṅ | vaca um ity umāgamaḥ | yāsuṭaḥ svareṇaikāra udāttaḥ | hṛde | paddannomāsthṛd ity ādinā hṛdayaśabdasya hṛdādeśaḥ | ūḍidam ity ādinā vibhakter udāttatvaṃ || 1 ||

("tamupyayasmayāditvena" and "tuś chandasītīyasun-" as printed.)

Translation of the grammatical tail (characterized): Kat — for kadā, the loss of the final [ā] is Vedic. Rudrāya — 'rodayati', he makes all weep at the end of time: rudraḥ; the suffix rak with loss of ṇic by roder ṇiluk ca [Uṇ. 2-22]. Pracetase — root citī saṃjñāne; 'prakṛṣṭaṃ cetayati': pracetāḥ; the suffix asun by the rule that a gati or kāraka keeps the accent of the first member. Mīḷhuṣṭamāya — 'mīḍhvān' in the superlative; the kvasu-ending word is irregularly given in the dāśvān sāhvān mīḍhvāṃś ca [rule]; saṃprasāraṇa of vas as a bha word; ṣatva by śāsivasighasīnāṃ ca. Tavyase — the root tava in the sense of growth, a sautra root; the superlative-comparative 'tavītā tavīyān'; īyasun in the Veda; loss of tṛ by turiṣṭhemeyassu; loss of the ī of īyasun is Vedic; since it is nit it is first-syllable acute. Vocema — root vaca paribhāṣaṇe; aṅ by liṅyāśiṣy aṅ; the augment um; the e is acute by the accent of yāsuṭ. Hṛde — hṛd as the substitute for hṛdaya by paddannomāsa-hṛt…; the ending acute by ūḍidam…."

Pratipadārtha (pp. 466–467) — "pracetase — [Rudra] endowed with excellent knowledge; mīḷhuṣṭamāya — who gives our wished-for things most abundantly; tavyase — who is exceedingly mighty; hṛde — who is always held in our heart; rudrāya — to the god Rudra; śantamam — the most pleasing; stotram — hymn; kat — when; vocema — shall we recite?"

Bhāvārtha (p. 467) — "When shall we recite a very pleasing hymn to the god Rudra, who is endowed with excellent knowledge, who is exceedingly mighty, who most kindly fulfils our wishes, and who is always held in esteem in our hearts?"

English Translation (the source's own, p. 467) — "When shall we recite a pleasing hymn to the wise, the most liberal and mighty Rudra whom we cherist [sic] in our hearts ?"

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 467–468 - kat = kadā — "when." - rudrāya — "for the god named Rudra; on the derivation of the word rudra Yāska explains as follows: रुद्रः । रुद्रो रौतीति सतः । रोरूयमाणो द्रवतीति वा । रोदयतेर्वा । यदरुदत्तद्रुद्रस्य रुद्रत्वमिति काठकं । यदरोदीत्तद्रुद्रस्य रुद्रत्वमिति हारिद्रविकं । (Ni. 10-7, as printed) rudraḥ | rudro rautīti sataḥ | rorūyamāṇo dravatīti vā | rodayater vā | yad arudat tad rudrasya rudratvam iti kāṭhakam | yad arodīt tad rudrasya rudratvam iti hāridravikam — mine and tentative: 'Rudra: [from] "he roars"; or "roaring he runs"; or from "he makes [others] weep". "Because he wept, that is Rudra's Rudra-hood": so the Kāṭhaka; "because he wept [or: made weep], that is Rudra's Rudra-hood": so the Hāridravika.' That is, because this god makes a sound like a thunder-cloud, he is called Rudra; or, standing in the middle of clouds and roaring, because he makes the drava, the water, flow, he is called Rudra; or, because he makes enemies weep he is called Rudra. The statement of the Kāṭhaka śākhā, that Rudra's rudratva came from his weeping, and the statement of the Hāridravika śākhā (a branch of the Maitrāyaṇīya school of the Kṛṣṇa Yajurveda) that Rudra's rudratva came when he made Prajāpati weep by piercing him with an arrow, are, the historians say, [given as] statements of difference. Thus the Nirukta explains the etymological sense." - pracetase — "citī saṃjñāne; prakṛṣṭajñānayuktāya: very wise, of excellent knowledge."

Special Topics (concluded, p. 468), and Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā of Rik 1 (pp. 468–469 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - mīḷhuṣṭamāya — "atiśayena mīḍhvān mīḷhuṣṭamaḥ | tasmai | abhīṣṭakāmavarṣāya: one who gives the most abundantly what is wished for." - tavyase — "tavatir vṛddhyarthaḥ | atiśayena tavitā tavīyān | atiśayena pravṛddhāya: one who gives growth, increase, abundantly." - śantamam — "causing happiness, delighting, giving satisfaction." - hṛde = asmadīyahṛnniṣṭhāya — "who is always meditated upon, remembered, in our heart." - kat: "the loss of the ā of kadā has come by Vedic usage." - rudrāya: "rodayati sarvam antakāle iti rudraḥ: at the time of dissolution, or at the end, he makes all weep"; roder ṇiluk ca [U. Sū. 2-169 [?]: third digit 6 or 7]: after rud [print: rudir aśruvimocane] with ṇic: the suffix rak and loss of ṇic, so rudra. - pracetase: "prakṛṣṭaṃ cetayati iti pracetāḥ": root citī saṃjñāne; gatikārakopapadayor api pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ ca [U. Sū. 4-666, as printed]: the suffix asi [asun]; the first member keeps its accent by mithune 'siḥ, carried over; therefore, asun coming, the accent of the first member prevails over the latter-member accent given by gatikārakopapadāt kṛt; upasargāś cābhivarjam [Phi. Sū. 81] gives pra the first-syllable acute; this stays after compounding. - mīḷhuṣṭamāya: dāśvān sāhvān mīḍhvāṃś ca [Pā. Sū. 6-1-12]: these are irregularly given as kvasu-ending words; root mihaṃ secane; liṭ → kvasu; doubling and iṭ do not come here, since they are made irregular (nipātita) in this sūtra; mīḍhvāṃś ca by the vārttika miherḍhatvaṃ ca: ḍh for h, and a long ī by the same irregular formation: mīḍhvas; superlative: atiśāyane tamabiṣṭhanau gives tamap: mīḍhvas + tamap; ghakālataneṣu—, which indicates that the taddhita suffixes come after a subanta, so even with the loss of su the pada status arises by pratyayalakṣaṇa; suptiṅantaṃ padam [no number printed] gives the name pada; hence nalumatāṅgasya prohibits pratyayalakṣaṇa... "but this pada name is barred by the bha name through āyasmayādīni chandasi [Pā. Sū. 1-4-20]: in the Veda the words of this group take the bha name"; the vārttika ubhayasaṃjñāpīti vaktavyam gives both names; vasoḥ saṃprasāraṇam [no number printed]: saṃprasāraṇa; pūrvarūpa; mīḍhus + tama; ādeśapratyayayoḥ gives ṣ; śāsivasighasīnāṃ ca does not apply to a root vas [print] without the vasu suffix; ṣṭutva; mīḍhuṣṭama; by the Ṛgveda-Prātiśākhya tradition ("ajmadhyastha ḍakārasya ḷhakāraṃ vai yathākramam", the ḍ/ḍh of ḍakārasya [?]) the ḍh becomes ḷh: mīḷhuṣṭama. - tavyase: "the root tava is not in the dhātupāṭha; it is authoritative because it is used in the sūtras. Its sense is growth. The suffix tṛc; if the superlative-comparative sense is intended — 'atiśayena tavitā' — then tuś chandasi [Pā. Sū. 5-3-59]: in the Veda, after tṛn and tṛc-ending words the suffixes iṣṭhan and īyasun come; turiṣṭhemeyassu [Pā. Sū. 6-4-154]: before iṣṭhan, imanic and īyasun the tṛ is lost; the ī of īyasun is lost by Vedic usage; first-syllable acute, being nit; dative singular." (Printed with the compound-suffix names crowded; drift only.) - vocema: "the process is given at [Ṛ. Su. 1-40-6] (Sūkta 40 Rik 6 above). Here it begins a pāda, so tiṅ atiṅaḥ does not give the wholly-unaccented; the e is acute because yāsuṭ is acute." - hṛde: the dative singular after hṛdaya; pad dan no mās hṛn niśasan... [Pā. Sū. 6-1-63]: hṛd is the substitute for hṛdaya; ūḍidaṃpadādyappumrainṛbhyaḥ [no number printed] the ending is acute. Rik 1 ends here (|| 1 ||).

Rik 43.2 (pp. 470–, PDF 484–)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 470; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

यथा॑ नो॒ अदि॑तिः॒ कर॒त्पश्वे॒ नृभ्यो॒ यथा॒ गवे॑ । यथा॑ तो॒काय॑ रु॒द्रिय॑म् ॥ २ ॥

yáthā no áditiḥ kárat páśve nṛ́bhyo yáthā gáve | yáthā tokā́ya rudríyam || 2 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 470)

यथा । नः । अदितिः । करत् । पश्वे । नृऽभ्यः । यथा । गवे । यथा । तोकाय । रुद्रियम् ॥ २ ॥

yathā | naḥ | aditiḥ | karat | paśve | nṛ-bhyaḥ | yathā | gave | yathā | tokāya | rudriyam || 2 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 470; the grammatical tail ends with rudriyam at the foot of the page)

अदितिर्भूमिर्नोऽस्माकं रुद्रियं रुद्रसम्बन्धि भेषजं यथा येन प्रकारेण सिध्यति करत् । तथा करोतु । किंच यथा येन प्रकारेण पश्वेऽस्मदीयाश्वमहिषादिपशवे नृभ्योऽस्मदीयपुरुषेभ्यो विशेषेण गवे गोजातये हितं रुद्रियं सिध्यति तथा करोतु । किंच तोकायास्मदीयापत्याय रुद्रियं यथा सिध्यति तथा करोतु । भेषजस्य रुद्रसम्बन्धित्वं मन्त्रान्तरे समाम्नातं । या ते रुद्र शिवा तनूः शिवा विश्वाहभेषजी । शिवा रुद्रस्य भेषजी । तै. सं. ४-५-१०-१ । इति गवादिविषये भेषजं चान्यत्र स्पष्टमाम्नातं । भेषजं गवे ऽश्वाय पुरुषाय भेषजमथो अस्मभ्यं भेषजं सुभेषजं । तै. सं. १-८-६-१ । इति ॥ करत् । डुकृञ् करणे ।

लेट्यडागमः । इतश्च लोप इतीकारलोपः । यद्वा । लुङः कृमृदॄरुहिभ्यश्छन्दसीति च्लेरङादेशः । ऋदृशोऽङि गुण इति गुणः । आद्ययोः पक्षयोः प्रत्ययस्य पित्त्वादनुदात्तत्वे धातुस्वरः । तृतीये तु व्यत्ययेन । यद्वृत्तयोगादनिघातः । पञ्चे । सञ्ज्ञापूर्वकस्य विधेरनित्यत्वात् घेर्ङिति । पा. ७-३-१११ । इति गुणाभावः । यणादेशः । नृभ्यः । नृचान्यतरस्यां । पा. ६-१-१८४ । इति विभक्त्युदात्तत्वाभावः । गवे । सावेकाच इति प्राप्तस्य विभक्त्युदात्तस्य न गोश्वन्सावर्वेति प्रतिषेधः । रुद्रियं । रुद्रशब्दात्तस्येदमित्यर्थे घस्प्रत्ययः ॥

aditir bhūmir no 'smākaṃ rudriyaṃ rudrasambandhi bheṣajaṃ yathā yena prakāreṇa sidhyati karat | tathā karotu | kiṃca yathā yena prakāreṇa paśve 'smadīyāśvamahiṣādipaśave nṛbhyo 'smadīyapuruṣebhyo viśeṣeṇa gave gojātaye hitaṃ rudriyaṃ sidhyati tathā karotu | kiṃca tokāyāsmadīyāpatyāya rudriyaṃ yathā sidhyati tathā karotu | bheṣajasya rudrasambandhitvaṃ mantrāntare samāmnātaṃ | yā te rudra śivā tanūḥ śivā viśvāhabheṣajī | śivā rudrasya bheṣajī | tai. saṃ. 4-5-10-1 | iti gavādiviṣaye bheṣajaṃ cānyatra spaṣṭam āmnātaṃ | bheṣajaṃ gave 'śvāya puruṣāya bheṣajam atho asmabhyaṃ bheṣajaṃ subheṣajaṃ | tai. saṃ. 1-8-6-1 | iti || karat | ḍukṛñ karaṇe | leṭy aḍāgamaḥ | itaś ca lopa itīkāralopaḥ | yadvā | luṅaḥ kṛmṛdṛruhibhyaś chandasīti cler aṅādeśaḥ | ṛdṛśo 'ṅi guṇa iti guṇaḥ | ādyayoḥ pakṣayoḥ pratyayasya pittvād anudāttatve dhātusvaraḥ | tṛtīye tu vyatyayena | yadvṛttayogād anighātaḥ | paśve | saṃjñāpūrvakasya vidher anityatvāt gher ṅiti | pā. 7-3-111 | iti guṇābhāvaḥ | yaṇādeśaḥ | nṛbhyaḥ | nṛcānyatarasyāṃ | pā. 6-1-184 | iti vibhaktyudāttatvābhāvaḥ | gave | sāvekāca iti prāptasya vibhaktyudāttasya na goścansāvavarṇeti pratiṣedhaḥ | rudriyaṃ | rudraśabdāt tasyedam ity arthe ghaspratyayaḥ ||

(Taittirīya references and the rule gher ṅiti (Pā. 7-3-111) checked against the print.)

Translation: "May Aditi, the earth, karat — make — for us the rudriyam, the remedy that belongs to Rudra, in the way in which it succeeds; do so. And moreover: as the remedy of Rudra succeeds paśve, for our cattle — horses, buffaloes and the rest — nṛbhyaḥ, for our men, and specially gave, for the cow-kind, for their good, so may she do. And moreover, as the remedy of Rudra succeeds tokāya, for our offspring, so may she do. That the remedy belongs to Rudra is handed down in another mantra: 'yā te rudra śivā tanūḥ śivā viśvāhabheṣajī | śivā rudrasya bheṣajī' (Tai. Saṃ. 4-5-10-1); and elsewhere the remedy for cows and the like is clearly handed down: 'bheṣajaṃ gave 'śvāya puruṣāya bheṣajam atho asmabhyaṃ bheṣajaṃ subheṣajam' (Tai. Saṃ. 1-8-6-1). Karat: root ḍukṛñ karaṇe; leṭ with the augment aṭ; loss of the i by itaś ca lopaḥ; or [it is luṅ]: aṅ for cli by luṅaḥ kṛmṛdṛruhibhyaś chandasi; guṇa by ṛdṛśo 'ṅi guṇaḥ; in the first two views the suffix, being pit, is unaccented and the root accent remains; in the third, by vyatyaya; no nighāta because of the connection with yat. Paśve: since a rule that depends on a name is not constant, there is no guṇa by gher ṅiti [Pā. 7-3-111]; yaṇ-substitution. Nṛbhyaḥ: by nṛ cānyatarasyām [Pā. 6-1-184] the ending is optionally not acute. Gave: the acuteness of the ending obtained by sāvekāca is prohibited by na goścansāvavarṇa…. Rudriyam: the suffix gha after rudra in the sense 'belonging to him' (tasyedam).

Pratipadārtha (p. 471) — "aditiḥ — the earth; naḥ — to us; rudriyam — the medicine that belongs to Rudra; yathā — in the way in which [it is to be obtained]; karat — let her make it obtainable; yathā — in the way [in which]; paśve — to [our] horses, buffaloes and other cattle; nṛbhyaḥ — to [our] men; gave — to [our] herd of cows [they must be brought within reach, and not only that]; tokāya — to our children; yathā — [let her make] it obtainable. Or, 'what hymn shall we recite for it to be obtained by us all?'"

Bhāvārtha (p. 471) — "As the earth must supply us the medicine that belongs to Rudra, so may she supply it. May that medicine be obtainable for our horses, cows and other cattle, for men, and for our sons and grandsons. (In order that this may be favourable to us, with what hymn shall we praise [him]?)"

English Translation (the source's own, p. 471) — "(What hymn shall we recite) that Aditi (earth) may obtain for us for our cattle, men, our children, the medicament of Rudra ?" (Printed "hymn" as "hymnn".)

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 471, begun — "The main intention: [we ask] how we should praise Rudra, in order that the medicines and so on that belong to Rudra and are necessary for us, for our cows and horses and so on, and for our sons, grandsons and other offspring, may be obtained from the earth. This must be connected with the sense of the previous ṛk. What connection Rudra has with medicines, the commentator [Sāyaṇa] has shown by the two Taittirīya passages: 'या ते रुद्र शिवा तनूः शिवा विश्वाहभेषजी । शिवा रुद्रस्य भेषजी तया नो मृड जीवसे ॥' (Tai. Saṃ. 4-5-10-1) — yā te rudra śivā tanūḥ śivā viśvāhabheṣajī | śivā rudrasya bheṣajī tayā no mṛḍa jīvase — mine and tentative: 'that auspicious body of yours, O Rudra, auspicious, the daily healer; auspicious [is] Rudra's remedy: with it be gracious to us, that we may live'; and 'भेषजं गवेऽश्वाय पुरुषाय भेषजमथो अस्मभ्यं भेषजं सुभेषजं यथासति ॥' (Tai. Saṃ. 1-8-6-1) — bheṣajaṃ gave 'śvāya puruṣāya bheṣajam atho asmabhyaṃ bheṣajaṃ subheṣajaṃ yathāsati — 'a remedy for the cow, for the horse, for the man; also for us a remedy, a good remedy, as it may be'."* (The source leaves both passages untranslated; the glosses are mine and tentative; the reference numerals are checked against the print. The Special Topics conclude, and the grammar of Rik 2 follows, on p. 472, below.)*

Correction to the heading of Sūkta 43 above (made now that Riks 3 and 5 have been read). The ṛk yathā no mitro varuṇaḥ (whose deity the anuvāda calls Mitra–Varuṇa) is Rik 3, not Rik 5; this agrees with the Anukramaṇikā's "tṛtīyā maitrāvaruṇī" (the third ṛk is Mitra–Varuṇa). So the deity line of the heading, first given as "1, [2?], 4, 6 Rudra; 5 Mitra–Varuṇa", reads in the print (zoom-checked in the numeral pass, and now corrected above) 1, 2, 4–6 Rudra; 3 Mitra–Varuṇa; 7–9 Soma. The statement "Mitra–Varuṇa for Rik 5" in the earlier progress notes was my slip.

Rik 43.2, concluded (from p. 472)

Special Topics (concluded, p. 472) — "… [the Kannada sentence begins mid-clause at the top of the page]: the sentences of the Taittirīya Saṃhitā of the Kṛṣṇa-Yajurveda have been quoted as examples. Of these, the second example states the sense of this ṛk itself clearly."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 472–473 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - karat: root ḍukṛñ karaṇe, luṅ. By tanādikṛñbhya uḥ the u-vikaraṇa ought to come, but śap comes in its place [by Vedic usage]; by bahulaṃ chandasy amāṅyogepi the augment aṭ is prohibited; by itaś ca lopaḥ the loss of i; guṇa, raparatva: this is one process. Another: the root kṛ, leṭ, tip, the augment aṭ for leṭ; śap; the loss of i by itaś ca lopaḥ parasmaipadeṣu; guṇa, raparatva: kar + a + at; pararūpa: this is another process. In both of these śap is pit and unaccented; the augment aṭ in the second, by leṭo 'ḍāṭau, is likewise unaccented since pit; the single substitute that arises is unaccented by sthāne 'ntaratamaḥ; so only the root accent remains. Or from the root kṛ with luṅ, cli: by kṛmṛdṛruhibhyaś chandasi [Pā. Sū. 3-1-59] aṅ optionally for cli; ṛdṛśo 'ṅi guṇaḥ [Pā. Sū. 7-4-16] guṇa of a root ending in ṛ and of dṛś before aṅ; raparatva; the loss of the i; by vyatyayo bahulam the root accent; because of yat [in yathā] the wholly-unaccented does not come. - paśve: ṅe after paśu; gher ṅiti [Pā. Sū. 7-3-111]: guṇa for a stem with the ghi name before a ṅit sup; the print explains ghi as stems in i and u other than sakhi (śeṣo ghy asakhi, Pā. Sū. 1-4-7); paśu has the ghi name so guṇa is obtained, but "saṃjñāpūrvako vidhir anityaḥ" makes it not occur; iko yaṇaci gives yaṇ. - nṛbhyaḥ: nṛ cānyatarasyām — नृ चान्यतरस्याम् — [Pā. Sū. 6-1-184]: the jhalādi ending after nṛ is optionally acute; since it is optional, no acute comes here; this is an exception to sāvekācaḥ.... - gave: "in the locative plural goṣu the form is go; here gav is the substitute for go; by the sthānivadbhāva whatever form occurs in the locative plural occurs here; hence sāvekācaḥ [Pā. Sū. 6-1-168] would give the ending an acute, which is prohibited by na goścansāvavarṇarāḍaṅkrutkṛtkṛdbhyaḥ [Pā. Sū. 6-1-182]." - rudriyam: the suffix gha after rudra in the sense tasyedam; āyaneyīnīyiyaḥ... gives iya; yasyeti ca the loss of a. Rik 2 ends here (|| 2 ||).

Rik 43.3 (pp. 473–475, PDF 487–489)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 473; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

यथा॑ नो मि॒त्रो वरु॑ण॒ो यथा॑ रु॒द्रश्चि॑के॒तति । यथा॒ विश्वे॑ स॒जोष॑सः ॥ ३ ॥

yáthā no mitró váruṇo yáthā rudráś cíketati | yáthā víśve sajóṣasaḥ || 3 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 473)

यथा । नः । मित्रः । वरुणः । यथा । रुद्रः । चिकेतति । यथा । विश्वे । सऽजोषसः ॥ ३ ॥

yathā | naḥ | mitraḥ | varuṇaḥ | yathā | rudraḥ | ciketati | yathā | viśve | sa-joṣasaḥ || 3 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (pp. 473–474)

मित्रो वरुणश्च नोऽस्मान्यथा येन प्रकारेण चिकेतति अनुग्राह्यत्वेन जानाति । रुद्रोऽपि यथा चिकेतति । सजोषसः समानप्रीतयो विश्वे सर्वे देवा यथा चिकेतन्ति । तथा भवत्विति शेषः । यद्वा । यथाशब्दोपेतमन्त्रद्वयस्य तथा कदा वोचेमेति पूर्वत्रान्वयः ॥ चिकेतति । कित ज्ञाने । लेट्यडागमः । नाभ्यस्तस्येति । पा. ७-३-८७ । इति गुणनिषेधो न भवति । बहुलं छन्दसीति वक्तव्यमिति वचनात् । सार्वधातुकत्वाच्चाभ्यस्तानामादिरित्याद्युदात्तत्वं । सजोषसः । जुषी प्रीतिसेवनयोः । समानं जुषन्तीति सजोषसः । समानस्य छन्दसीति सभावः । असुनो नित्त्वादुत्तरपदस्याद्युदात्तत्वं । तदेनं कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वेन शिष्यते ॥ ३ ॥

mitro varuṇaś ca no 'smān yathā yena prakāreṇa ciketati anugrāhyatvena jānāti | rudro 'pi yathā ciketati | sajoṣasaḥ samānaprītayo viśve sarve devā yathā ciketanti | tathā bhavatv iti śeṣaḥ | yadvā | yathāśabdopetamantradvayasya tathā kadā vocemeti pūrvatrānvayaḥ || ciketati | kita jñāne | leṭy aḍāgamaḥ | nābhyastasyeti | pā. 7-3-87 | iti guṇaniṣedho na bhavati | bahulaṃ chandasīti vaktavyam iti vacanāt | sārvadhātukatvāc cābhyastānām ādir ity ādyudāttatvaṃ | sajoṣasaḥ | juṣī prītisevanayoḥ | samānaṃ juṣantīti sajoṣasaḥ | samānasya

chandasīti sabhāvaḥ | asuno nittvād uttarapadasyādyudāttatvaṃ | tad enaṃ kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvena śiṣyate || 3 ||

(The print has ciketaṃti (anusvāra for the nasal), given as ciketanti*.)*

Translation: "As mitraḥ varuṇaḥ — Mitra and Varuṇa — naḥ, us, yathā, in whatever way, ciketati, take note of [as to be favoured]; as Rudra also takes note; as viśve sajoṣasaḥ, all the gods who are united in pleasure, take note — so let it be: so the remainder. Or, [the two ṛks that contain yathā] are to be connected with the preceding: 'in that way, when shall we recite?' Ciketati: root kita jñāne; leṭ with the augment aṭ; the prohibition of guṇa by nābhyastasyāci… does not apply, because of the statement bahulaṃ chandasīti vaktavyam; because it is sārvadhātuka, first-syllable acute by abhyastānām ādiḥ. Sajoṣasaḥ: root juṣī prītisevanayoḥ; 'samānaṃ juṣante': sajoṣasaḥ; sa for samāna by samānasya chandasi; because asun is nit, the first syllable of the latter member is acute; this is then laid down as the accent of the first member of a kṛt-ending compound."

Pratipadārtha (p. 474) — "mitraḥ — Mitra; varuṇaḥ — Varuṇa; naḥ — us; yathā — in whatever way; ciketati — [they will consider us as fit to be favoured]; rudraḥ — Rudra also; yathā — in whatever way [he knows us]; sajoṣasaḥ — those who have equal satisfaction; viśve — all gods; yathā — in whatever way [they know]; or, 'when shall we recite that hymn through which we may obtain those favours?'"

Bhāvārtha (p. 474) — "By what hymn and mantra will Mitra, Varuṇa and Rudra, and likewise all other deities who share in equal satisfaction (or who long for satisfaction), come to know us as fit; or by reciting what hymn shall we obtain their favours — when shall we recite that hymn?"

English Translation (the source's own, p. 474) — "(What hyman [sic] shall we recite to Rudra) by which Mitra, Varuna and Rudra and all the gods being gratified, confer favours upon us ?"

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 474 - ciketati = kita jñāne | anugrāhyatvena jānāti — "he comes to know the hymn we are making and favours us." - sajoṣasaḥ = juṣī prītisevanayoḥ | samānaṃ juṣantīti sajoṣasaḥ | samānaprīteyaḥ — "those who are equal in affection, or satisfied with equal service."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 474–475 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - ciketati: kita nivāse rogāpanayane ca, first class; kita jñāne, juhotyādi: the root kita jñāne is not found in the present dhātupāṭhas; it makes no difference whether one takes the unaccompanied root kita in the juhotyādi; or, with the sense of knowing, the root of the first class, with śap → ślu by bahulagrahaṇa; or the augment tuk by Vedic usage for the root kita. After the root, leṭ, tip, the augment aṭ; śap → ślu, doubling: kit + kit + ati; kuhoś cuḥ gives c; nābhyastasyāci piti sārvadhātuke — नाभ्यस्तस्याचि पिति सार्वधातुके — [Pā. Sū. 7-3-87]: the prohibition of guṇa of the light penultimate of a reduplicated stem before a vowel-initial pit sārvadhātuka would apply; but the vārttikakāra says bahulaṃ chandasīti vaktavyam, so the prohibition comes only variously in the Veda; here it does not come. Since ati is sārvadhātuka, abhyastānām ādiḥ gives first-syllable acute. - viśve: aśūpruṣilaṭikaṇikhaṭivisibhyaḥ kvan [U. Sū. 1-49, as printed]: after the root viśa praveśane the suffix kvan. - sajoṣasaḥ: root juṣī prītisevanayoḥ; "samānaṃ juṣante": after juṣ, with samāna as upapada, sarvadhātubhyo 'sun [U. Sū. 4-628, as printed];

samānasya chandasi mūrdhaprabhṛtyudarkeṣu — समानस्य छन्दस्यमूर्धप्रभृत्युदर्केषु — [Pā. Sū. 6-3-84]: sa for samāna, except before mūrdhan, prabhṛti, udarka; asun is nit, so the latter member is first-syllable acute by ñnityādir nityam; after the compound, gatikārakopapadāt kṛt gives the accent of the latter kṛt-ending member, so the original accent stays. Rik 3 ends here (|| 3 ||).

Rik 43.4 (pp. 475–478, PDF 489–492)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 475; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented; the initial ँ is unmarked in the print and taken as udātta in the IAST.)

गा॒थप॑तिं मे॒धप॑तिं रु॒द्रं जला॑षभेषजम् । तच्छं॒योः सु॒म्नमी॑महे ॥ ४ ॥

gāthápatiṃ medhápatiṃ rudráṃ jálāṣabheṣajam | tác chaṃyóḥ sumnám īmahe || 4 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 476)

गाथऽपतिम् । मेधऽपतिम् । रुद्रम् । जलाषऽभेषजम् । तत् । शम्ऽयोः । सुम्नम् । ईमहे ॥ ४ ॥

gātha-patim | medha-patim | rudram | jalāṣa-bheṣajam | tat | śam-yoḥ | sumnam | īmahe || 4 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 476)

रुद्रमभिलक्ष्य वयं शंयोर्बृहस्पतिपुत्रस्य सम्बन्धि तत्प्रसिद्धं सर्वप्रजाभ्यो हितं सुम्नं सुखमीमहे । याचामहे । कीदृशं रुद्रं । गाथपतिं स्तुतिपालकं । मेधपतिं यज्ञपालकं । जलाषभेषजं सुखरूपौषधोपेतं । यद्वा । उदकरूपौषधोपेतं । उदकं हि रुद्रनामाभिमन्त्रितं सदौषधं भवति ॥ गाथपतिं । गाथेति वाङ्नाम । गाथा गण इति तन्नामसु पठितत्वात् । वाग्रूपायाः स्तुतेः पतिर्गाथपतिः । कै गै रै शब्दे । आदेच इत्यात्वं । उषिकुषिगार्तिभ्यस्थन् । इति थन्प्रत्ययः । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वं । ज्यापोः सञ्ज्ञाछन्दसोर्बहुलमिति पूर्वपदस्य ह्रस्वत्वं । पत्यावैश्वर्य इति पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरे प्राप्ते मरुद्भृधादीनां छन्दस्युपसंख्यानमिति पूर्वपदान्तोदात्तत्वं । मेधपतिं । पूर्ववत् । जलाषभेषजं । जनी प्रादुर्भावे । जायन्त इति जाः । अन्येष्वपि दृश्यत इति । पा. ३-२-१०१ । दृशिग्रहणात्केवलादपि डप्रत्ययः । लाषः । लष कान्तौ । कान्तिरभिलाषः । भावे घञ् । जानां लाषो यस्मिंस्तज्जलाषं सुखं । जलाषरूपं भेषजं यस्मिन्रुद्रे स जलाषभेषजः । बहुव्रीहौ पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं । शंयोः । कंशंभ्यां । पा. ५-२-१३८ । इति मत्वर्थीयो युस्प्रत्ययः । सिति च । पा. १-४-१६ । इति पदसञ्ज्ञायामनुस्वारपरसवर्णौ । प्रत्ययस्वरः ॥ ४ ॥

rudram abhilakṣya vayaṃ śaṃyor bṛhaspatiputrasya sambandhi tatprasiddhaṃ sarvaprajābhyo hitaṃ sumnaṃ sukham īmahe | yācāmahe | kīdṛśaṃ rudraṃ | gāthapatiṃ stutipālakaṃ | medhapatiṃ yajñapālakaṃ | jalāṣabheṣajaṃ sukharūpauṣadhopetaṃ | yadvā | udakarūpauṣadhopetaṃ | udakaṃ hi rudranāmābhimantritaṃ sadauṣadhaṃ bhavati || gāthapatiṃ | gātheti vāṅnāma | gāthā gaṇa iti tannāmasu paṭhitatvāt | vāgrūpāyāḥ stuteḥ patir gāthapatiḥ | kai gai rai śabde | ādeca ity ātvaṃ | uṣikuṣigārtibhyas than | iti thanpratyayaḥ | nittvād ādyudāttatvaṃ | jyāpoḥ saṃjñāchandasor bahulam iti pūrvapadasya hrasvatvaṃ | patyāv aiśvarya iti pūrvapadaprakṛtisvare prāpte marudvṛdhādīnāṃ chandasy upasaṃkhyānam iti pūrvapadāntodāttatvaṃ | medhapatiṃ | pūrvavat | jalāṣabheṣajaṃ | janī prādurbhāve | jāyanta iti jāḥ | anyeṣv api dṛśyata iti | pā. 3-2-101 | dṛśigrahaṇāt kevalād api ḍapratyayaḥ | lāṣaḥ | laṣa kāntau | kāntir abhilāṣaḥ | bhāve ghañ | jānāṃ lāṣo yasmiṃs taj

jalāṣaṃ sukhaṃ | jalāṣarūpaṃ bheṣajaṃ yasmin rudre sa jalāṣabheṣajaḥ | bahuvrīhau pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ | śaṃyoḥ | kaṃśaṃbhyāṃ | pā. 5-2-138 | iti matvarthīyo yuspratyayaḥ | siti ca | pā. 1-4-16 | iti padasaṃjñāyām anusvāraparasavarṇau | pratyayasvaraḥ || 4 ||

Translation: "Aiming at Rudra, we ask — īmahe — tat, that renowned sumnam, happiness, śaṃyoḥ, belonging to Śaṃyu the son of Bṛhaspati, that is beneficial to all creatures. What kind of Rudra? Gāthapatim, the protector of praise; medhapatim, the protector of sacrifice; jalāṣabheṣajam, possessed of a medicine that is of the nature of pleasure; or, possessed of a medicine in the form of water: for water, consecrated with the names of Rudra, becomes a medicine. Gāthapatim: 'gāthā' is a name for speech, as it is read among its names ('gāthā, gaṇaḥ' …); 'gāthāyāḥ patiḥ', lord of the praise that has the form of speech; root kai gai rai śabde; ā by ādeca…; the suffix than by uṣikuṣigārtibhyas than; first-syllable acute as nit; the shortening of the first member by jyāpoḥ saṃjñāchandasor bahulam; where the first-member accent would come by patyāv aiśvarye, the first member is acute at its end by the vārttika marudvṛdhādīnāṃ chandasy upasaṃkhyānam. Jalāṣabheṣajam: root janī prādurbhāve; 'jāyante', they are born: jāḥ; by anyeṣv api dṛśyate [Pā. 3-2-101] ḍa also after the bare root (from the word dṛśi); lāṣaḥ: root laṣa kāntau, 'desire'; ghañ in the abstract; 'the pleasure in which the desire of the born is': jalāṣam, happiness; 'in which Rudra the medicine is in the form of jalāṣa': jalāṣabheṣajaḥ; the accent of the first member in the bahuvrīhi. Śaṃyoḥ: from kaṃ and śaṃ, by kaṃśaṃbhyāṃ… [Pā. 5-2-138] the suffix yus in the sense of matup; anusvāra and parasavarṇa by the pada name through siti ca [Pā. 1-4-16]; accent of the suffix."

Pratipadārtha (p. 476) — "gāthapatim — the protector of praise; medhapatim — the protector of sacrifices; jalāṣabheṣajam — having medicines that give happiness, or having medicines in the form of water; rudram — Rudra; śaṃyoḥ — the happiness that is enjoyed by Śaṃyu, the son of Bṛhaspati; tat — that renowned one, beneficial to all creatures; sumnam — happiness; [for it] īmahe — we pray."

Bhāvārtha (p. 477) — "We pray to Rudra, who is the protector of praise, the protector of sacrifices, and who has medicines that give happiness, or medicines in the form of water, in order that he may give the well-known happiness that the [ṛṣi] Śaṃyu, the son of Bṛhaspati, enjoyed."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 477) — "So we pray to Rudra, the lord of hymns, the protector of sacrifices possessed of medicament that give delight, for such happiness as shown to Samyu."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 477 - gāthapatim — "since the word gāthā is read among the fifty-seven (aivattēḷu) names of speech beginning with ślokaḥ, dhārā, gāthā means speech in the form of praise; gāthapati is the lord of hymns, i.e. one who is praised with hymns." - medhapatim = yajñapālakam — "protector of sacrifices." - jalāṣabheṣajam — "janī prādurbhāve | jāyante iti jāḥ | laṣa kāntau | kāntir abhilāṣaḥ | jānāṃ lāṣo yasmiṃs taj jalāṣaṃ sukhaṃ | jalāṣarūpaṃ bheṣajaṃ yasmin rudre sa jalāṣabheṣajaḥ: laṣa needs a desire, and janī means arising; so the pleasure that fulfils our desire is called sukha. Rudra who has such a remedy of the nature of happiness is called jalāṣabheṣaja. Or one may say [Sāyaṇa's second sense] 'he who is joined with remedies in the form of water'; for it is well known that water consecrated with mantras to Rudra has the medicinal power of preventing diseases." - śaṃyoḥ — "Śaṃyu is the name of Bṛhaspati's son. This Śaṃyu is the ṛṣi of altogether 93 ṛks in the sūktas 44, 45, 46, 48of the sixth maṇḍala of the Ṛgveda. It is well known that the ṛṣi obtained excellent happiness by the grace of Rudra and the other deities. The ṛṣi prays that such well-known happiness be given. In many śruti sentences such as 'tac chaṃyor āvṛṇīmahe' there are many occasions in which deities are prayed to for the very happiness that Śaṃyu obtained; therefore it is well known that the happiness of Śaṃyu is of an exalted kind." (The quotation is clear in the print; its reference is not given.)

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 478–479 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - gāthapatim: "on gāthā — in the Nirukta (Niru. 1-11-37 as printed; last digit flat-footed 7) Yāska reads the word gāthā among the names of speech; so gāthā means vāk; here praise in the form of speech is conveyed by this word. Root kai gai rai śabde; ādeca upadeśe 'śiti: ā for ai of gai; uṣikuṣigārtibhyas than — उषिकुषिगार्तिभ्यस्थन् — [U. Sū. 2-161]: than; since the feminine is shown, ajādyatas ṭāp gives ṭāp; savarṇadīrgha; gāthā; the ḍati suffix after the root pā rakṣaṇe in pāter ḍatiḥ [no number printed] would give pati;'gāthāyāḥ patiḥ': gāthapatiḥ; jyāpoḥ saṃjñāchandasor bahulam — ज्यापोः सञ्ज्ञाछन्दसोर्बहुलम् — [Pā. Sū. 6-3-63]: the shortening of ṭāp in the first member; the word gātha is nit so first-syllable acute; patyāv aiśvarye [no number printed] would give the first-member accent; but marudvṛdhādīnāṃ chandasy upasaṃkhyānam gives acute at the end of the first member." -* medhapatim*: "the process is to be stated as before." -* rudram*: the suffix rak by roder ṇiluk ca. -* jalāṣabheṣajam*: root janī prādurbhāve; "jāyante iti jāḥ"; anyeṣv api dṛśyate [Pā. Sū. 3-2-101]: ḍa after the root jan seen even where there is no other upapada; because of the word dṛśyate, it comes even without an upapada; loss of the ṭi; root laṣa kāntau, then ghañ in the abstract; upadhāvṛddhi: lāṣa; kānti means desire; 'in which the lāṣa of the born is';* bheṣam*, disease, 'jayati', conquers:* bheṣajam*; a bahuvrīhi containing* jalāṣam bheṣajaṃ yasya saḥ*: Rudra with remedies of the nature of happiness is conveyed by the word* jalāṣabheṣaja*; the accent of the first member. -* śaṃyoḥ*:* kaṃśaṃbhyāṃ babhayustitutayasaḥ* — कंशंभ्यां बभयुस्तितुतयसः — [Pā. Sū. 5-2-138]: after kam and śam the seven suffixes ba, bha, yus, ti, tu, ta, ya in the sense of matup; kam and śam are indeclinables ending in m; kam means water or happiness, śam happiness; śam + yus; siti ca [Pā. Sū. 1-4-16]: when a suffix with the s-it follows, the preceding has the pada name, so the m of śam takes anusvāra by mo 'nusvāraḥ [Pā. Sū. 8-3-23] and then the homorganic nasal by anusvārasya yayi parasavarṇaḥ [Pā. Sū. 8-4-58]: śayyu; suffix accent, guṇa, ṅasiṅasoś ca [Pā. Sū. 6-1-110], pūrvarūpa, ru, visarga: śaṃyoḥ. Rik 4 ends here (|| 4 ||).

Rik 43.5 (pp. 479–, PDF 493–)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 479; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented; the initial य is unmarked in the print and taken as udātta in the IAST.)

यः शुक्र इ॑व सू॒र्यो॑ हिर॑ण्यमिव॒ रोच॑ते । श्रेष्ठो॑ दे॒वाना॑ं वसुः॑ ॥ ५ ॥

yáḥ śukrá iva sū́ryo híraṇyam iva rócate | śréṣṭho devā́nāṃ vásuḥ || 5 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 479)

यः । शुक्रः । इव । सूर्यः । हिरण्यम् । इव । रोचते । श्रेष्ठः । देवानाम् । वसुः ॥ ५ ॥

yaḥ | śukraḥ | iva | sūryaḥ | hiraṇyam | iva | rocate | śreṣṭhaḥ | devānām | vasuḥ || 5 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 479; it continues on p. 480, not yet written)

> यो रुद्रः सूर्य इव शुक्रः सूर्यवद्दीप्तिमान् । हिरण्यमिव रोचते । यथा सर्वेषां प्राणिनां हिरण्यं प्रीतिकरं भवति तथा रुद्रोऽपि । स च देवानां सर्वेषां मध्ये श्रेष्ठो वसुर्निवासहेतुश्च ॥ रोचते । रुच दीप्तावभिप्रीत्यां च । अदुपदेशाल्लसार्वधातुकानुदात्तत्वे धातुस्वरः । श्रेष्ठः । प्रशस्यशब्दादिष्ठनि...

yo rudraḥ sūrya iva śukraḥ sūryavad dīptimān | hiraṇyam iva rocate | yathā sarveṣāṃ prāṇināṃ hiraṇyaṃ prītikaraṃ bhavati tathā rudro 'pi | sa ca devānāṃ sarveṣāṃ madhye śreṣṭho vasur nivāsahetuś ca || rocate | ruca dīptāv abhiprītyāṃ ca | adupadeśāl lasārvadhātukānudāttatve dhātusvaraḥ | śreṣṭhaḥ | praśasyaśabdād iṣṭhani...

Translation of this part: "That Rudra who śukraḥ sūrya iva, shines like the Sun, is radiant like the Sun; hiraṇyam iva rocate, he shines like gold: as gold is pleasing to all beings, so is Rudra also. And he śreṣṭhaḥ, the best, devānām, among all the gods, vasuḥ, the abode, the cause of dwelling. Rocate: root ruca dīptāv abhiprītyāṃ ca; the root accent, since the la-substitute sārvadhātuka is unaccented after a root with an acute in the upadeśa. Śreṣṭhaḥ: from the word praśasya, by iṣṭhan..." (the sentence continues on p. 480.)

Rik 43.5, continued (from p. 479; the Saṃhitā and Pada are above)

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya, end (p. 480 top)

> ... प्रशस्यस्य श्रः । पा. ५-३-६० । इति श्रादेशः । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वं । वसुः । वासयति सर्वमिति वसुः । वस निवासे । अन्तर्भावितण्यर्थात् शृस्वृस्निहीत्यादिनोःप्रत्ययः । निदित्यनुवृत्तेराद्युदात्तत्वं ॥ २६ ॥

... praśasyasya śraḥ | pā. 5-3-60 | iti śrādeśaḥ | nittvād ādyudāttatvaṃ | vasuḥ | vāsayati sarvam iti vasuḥ | vasa nivāse | antarbhāvitaṇyarthāt śṛsvṛsnihīty ādinoḥ pratyayaḥ | nid ity anuvṛtter ādyudāttatvaṃ || 26 ||

("śṛsvṛsnihīty ādinoḥ pratyayaḥ" as printed; the closing number is the varga, 26.)

Translation of the end: "... [iṣṭhan], śra is the substitute for praśasya [Pā. 5-3-60]; since it is nit, first-syllable acute. Vasuḥ: 'vāsayati sarvam', he makes all dwell; root vasa nivāse, with an implicit causative sense; the suffix u by the rule beginning śṛsvasnihi...; since nit is carried forward, first-syllable acute."

Pratipadārtha (p. 480) — "yaḥ — which Rudra; sūrya iva — like the Sun; śukraḥ — shining; hiraṇyam iva — like gold [pleasing to all beings]; rocate — shines [we pray to that Rudra: saḥ — he]; devānām — among all the gods; śreṣṭhaḥ — the best; vasuḥ — the giver of a dwelling-place."

Bhāvārtha (p. 480) — "The god Rudra, shining like the Sun, is a benefactor to the world; like gold, he is pleasing and attracts the world. Among all the gods he holds a most excellent position."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 480) — "(Rudra) who shines like the brilliant sun, shines, like gold ; the highest and best of the gods."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 480 - śukraḥ = dīptimān — "very bright." - hiraṇyam iva — "who shines brilliantly like gold, or who is dear to all like gold." - vasuḥ — "vasa nivāse | vāsayati sarvam iti vasuḥ | nivāsahetuḥ: the cause of the dwelling-places of all, i.e. the giver of dwelling-places. Or the words śreṣṭho devānāṃ vasuḥ may be taken as devānāṃ śreṣṭho vasuḥ: the sense 'the very best among the gods' may also be given."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 480–481 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - sūryaḥ: rājasūyasūryamṛṣodyarucyakupyakṛṣṭapacyāvyathyāḥ — राजसूयसूर्यमृषोद्यरुच्यकुप्यकृष्टपच्याव्यथ्याः — [Pā. Sū. 3-1-114]: by this sūtra after the root ṣū preraṇe the suffix kyap and the augment ruṭ are irregularly given; suvati karmaṇi lokaṃ preryati iti sūryaḥ — he who urges the world to its works: the sense is that the Sun, rising, urges people to engage in their several tasks. Since kyap is pit, it is unaccented, and the root accent remains. - hiraṇyam: root haryati gatikāntyoḥ; haryater hiraṇ-kanyan hiraṇ ca — हर्यतेर्हिरञ् कन्यन् हिरञ् च — [U. Sū. 5-722, as printed]: the suffix kanyan and the substitute hiraṇ for hary. - rocate: root ruca dīptāv abhiprītau ca, first class, ātmanepada; laṭ, ta, e, śap; laghūpadhaguṇa; śap being pit is unaccented, and tāsyanudāttet… makes te unaccented; the root accent remains; yadvṛttān nityam prohibits the wholly-unaccented. - śreṣṭhaḥ: praśasyasya śraḥ — प्रशस्यस्य श्रः — [Pā. Sū. 5-3-60]: śra as substitute for praśasya before the suffixes iṣṭhan and īyasun; although praśasya is a word denoting an action, the paribhāṣā-indicating form of the sūtra shows that iṣṭhan and īyasun come after praśasya; or one may say it means praśastatva ("excellence"); atiśāyane tamabiṣṭhanau, dvivacanavibhajyopapade tarabīyasunau [no numbers printed]; there is no conflict with ajādī guṇavacanād eva [Pā. Sū. 5-3-58]; prakṛtyaikāc — प्रकृत्यैकाच् — [Pā. Sū. 6-4-163]: a one-syllable word keeps its natural form before iṣṭhan, imanic and īyasun, i.e. there is no ṭi-loss and so on; ād guṇaḥ; the suffix being nit, the end of the suffix is first-syllable acute. - vasuḥ: "vāsayati sarvam iti vasuḥ": the root vasa nivāse, with an implicit causative sense; śṛsvasnihitrapiṣivasihanikledibandhimanibhyaś ca — शृस्वस्निहित्रप्यसिवसिहनिक्लेदिबन्धिमनिभ्यश्च — [U. Sū. 1-10]: the suffix u; dhānye nit [U. Sū. 1-9]: nit is carried over, so the suffix u is nit and the end of the suffix is first-syllable acute. Rik 5 ends here (|| 5 ||).

Rik 43.6 (pp. 482–485, PDF 496–499)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 482; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented; the stroke stands over ৱ্ in karatyarvate and is placed on va*.)*

शं नः॑ क॒रत्यर्व॑ते सु॒गं मे॒षाय॑ मे॒ष्यै । नृभ्यो॒ नारि॑भ्यो॒ गवे॑ ॥ ६ ॥

śáṃ naḥ karaty árvate sugáṃ meṣāya meṣye | nṝ́bhyo nāribhyo gáve || 6 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 482)

शम् । नः । करति । अर्वते । सुऽगम् । मेषाय । मेष्ये । नृऽभ्यः । नारिऽभ्यः । गवे ॥ ६ ॥

śam | naḥ | karati | arvate | su-gam | meṣāya | meṣye | nṛ-bhyaḥ | nāri-bhyaḥ | gave || 6 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 482)

> आग्निमारुते शं नः करोतीति धाय्या । अथ यथेतमिति खण्डे सूत्रितं । वैश्वानराय पृथुपाजसे शं नः करत्यर्वते । आ. ५-२० । इति ॥ नोऽस्माकं सम्बन्धिभ्योऽर्वादिभ्यः सुगं सुष्ठु गम्यं शं सुखं करति । देवः करोतु । अर्वते अश्वाय । अर्वन्निति अश्वनाम । अर्वा वाजीति तन्नामसु पाठात् । मेषाय मेषजातिपुरुषाय मेष्यै तज्जातीयस्त्रियै नृभ्यः पुरुषेभ्यो नारिभ्यः स्त्रीभ्यो गवे गोजातये ॥ करति । डुकृञ् करणे । व्यत्ययेन शप् । अर्वते । अर्ति गच्छतीत्यर्वा । अन्येभ्योऽपि दृश्यन्त इति वनिप् । चतुर्थ्येकवचने र्वणस्त्रसावनञ इति नकारस्य तृ आदेशः । वनिप्पुसौ पित्त्वादनुदात्तौ । धातुस्वरः । मेषाय । मिष स्पर्धायां । पचाद्यच् । देवसेनमेषादयः पचादिषु द्रष्टव्या इति वचनात् । मेष्यै । जातेरस्त्रीविषयादयोपधात् । पा. ४-१-६३ । ङीष्प्रत्ययः । प्रत्ययस्वरः । चतुर्थ्येकवचने आगमानुशासनस्यानित्यत्वादाडागमाभावः । उदात्तस्वरितयोर्यणः स्वरितोऽनुदात्तस्येति स्वरितत्वं । उदात्तयणो हल्पूर्वादिति तु न भवति । सर्वे विधयश्छन्दसि विकल्प्यन्त इति वचनात् । नृभ्यः । सावेकाच इति प्राप्तस्य विभक्त्युदात्तस्य नृ चान्यतरस्यामिति प्रतिषेधः । नारिभ्यः । नृनरयोर्वृद्धिश्च । पा. ४-१-७३ । इति शार्ङ्गरवादिषु पाठात् ङीन्प्रत्ययः । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तः । गवे । न गोश्वन्सावर्णेति विभक्त्युदात्तस्य प्रतिषेधः ॥

āgnimārute śaṃ naḥ karotīti dhāyyā | atha yathetam iti khaṇḍe sūtritaṃ | vaiśvānarāya pṛthupājase śaṃ naḥ karaty arvate | ā. 5-20 | iti || no 'smākaṃ sambandhibhyo 'rvādibhyaḥ sugaṃ suṣṭhu gamyaṃ śaṃ sukhaṃ karati | devaḥ karotu | arvate aśvāya | arvann ity aśvanāma | arvā vājīti tannāmasu pāṭhāt | meṣāya meṣajātipuruṣāya meṣyai taj jātīyastriyai nṛbhyaḥ puruṣebhyo nāribhyaḥ strībhyo gave gojātaye || karati | ḍukṛñ karaṇe | vyatyayena śap | arvate | arti gacchatīty arvā | anyebhyo 'pi dṛśyanta iti vanip | caturthyekavacane rvaṇastrasāvanañ iti nakārasya tṛ ādeśaḥ | vanippusau pittvād anudāttau | dhātusvaraḥ | meṣāya | miṣa spardhāyāṃ | pacādyac | devasenameṣādayaḥ pacādiṣu draṣṭavyā iti vacanāt | meṣyai | jāter astrīviṣayād ayopadhāt | pā. 4-1-63 | ṅīṣpratyayaḥ | pratyayasvaraḥ | caturthyekavacane āgamānuśāsanasyānityatvād āḍāgamābhāvaḥ | udāttasvaritayor yaṇaḥ svarito 'nudāttasyeti svaritatvaṃ | udāttayaṇo hal-pūrvād iti tu na bhavati | sarve vidhayaś chandasi vikalpyanta iti vacanāt | nṛbhyaḥ | sāvekāca iti prāptasya vibhaktyudāttasya nṛ cānyatarasyām iti pratiṣedhaḥ | nāribhyaḥ | nṛnarayor vṛddhiś ca | pā. 4-1-73 | iti śārṅgaravādiṣu pāṭhāt ṅīnpratyayaḥ | nittvād ādyudāttaḥ | gave | na goścansāvavarṇeti vibhaktyudāttasya pratiṣedhaḥ ||

(Bhāṣya numerals and the rule-name "[a]rvaṇastrasāvanañ" checked against the print.)

Translation: "[This is] the dhāyyā verse of the Āgnimāruta [śastra]: 'śaṃ naḥ karoti'. It is laid down in the section beginning atha yathetam: 'vaiśvānarāya pṛthupājase, [and] śaṃ naḥ karaty arvate' (Āś. 5-20). Śam, happiness, easy to travel [sugam, easy to go to], karati, may the god make, naḥ, for those who belong to us, arvate, for the horse ('arvan' is a name for horse, since 'arvā, vājī' are read among its names), meṣāya, for the ram, the male of the sheep kind, meṣye, for the ewe, a female of that kind, nṛbhyaḥ, for men, nāribhyaḥ, for women, gave, for the cow kind. Karati: root ḍukṛñ karaṇe; śap by vyatyaya. Arvate: 'arti gacchati', one who goes: arvā; vanip by anyebhyo 'pi dṛśyante; in the dative singular tṛ for the n [of arvan] by rvaṇas trasāv ananaḥ; vanip and pus being pit are unaccented, and the root accent remains. Meṣāya: root miṣa spardhāyām; ac of the pacādi class, since'devasena, meṣa and the like are to be seen in the pacādi'. Meṣyai: ṅīṣ by jāter astrīviṣayād ayopadhāt [Pā. 4-1-63]; accent of the suffix; in the dative singular no augment āṭ, because the teaching of augments is not constant; the svarita by udāttasvaritayor yaṇaḥ svarito 'nudāttasya; udāttayaṇo hal-pūrvāt does not apply, since all operations are optional in the Veda. Nṛbhyaḥ: the ending's acuteness, obtained by sāvekāca, is prohibited by nṛ cānyatarasyām. Nāribhyaḥ: by nṛnarayor vṛddhiś ca, since [nṛ] is read in the śārṅgaravādi group, ṅīn; since nit, first-syllable acute. Gave: the acuteness of the ending is prohibited by na goścansāvavarṇa…."

Pratipadārtha (p. 483) — "(rudraḥ — the god Rudra) naḥ — for those who belong to us; arvate — for horses; meṣāya — for rams; meṣye — for ewes; nṛbhyaḥ — for men; nāribhyaḥ — for women; gave — for the race of cattle; sugam — which is easy to obtain (by his favour); śam — happiness; karati — makes."

Bhāvārtha (p. 483) — "The god Rudra makes happiness for our horses, for our sheep (ewes), for men and women and for cows."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 483) — "(Rudra) bestows happiness (or does good to) on our horses, rams, ewes, men, women and cows."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 483 - arvate — "since the word arvā is read among the twenty-six names of the horse beginning with aśvaḥ, hayaḥ, arvate (the dative singular of arvan) means 'for the horse'." - karati = karoti — "makes." - sugam = suṣṭhu gamyam — "that which is easy to get; [happiness] easily obtained." - meṣye — "here meṣī means a female sheep; meṣye: to a ewe. The commentator gives this word the sense 'a female of the sheep kind'. This is not entirely suitable: for the words nṛbhyaḥ and nāribhyaḥ used here denote men and women; so it is proper to say that likewise the words meṣāya and meṣye denote just the male sheep and the female sheep. And since in this ṛk the ṛṣi prays that happiness be made for men, women and the animals — horses, cows and sheep — it is proper to say that [the sheep are] both kinds of sheep, the female and the male."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 484–485 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - karati: root ḍukṛñ karaṇe, laṭ, tip; in place of the u of tanādikṛñbhya uḥ, śap comes by Vedic usage. - arvate: "ṛti gacchatīty arvā": the root ṛ gatau; anyebhyo 'pi dṛśyante: vanip; guṇa, raparatva: arvan; dative singular; ṅe [print: je]; arvaṇas trasāv anañaḥ [Pā. Sū. 6-4-127]: for an aṅga ending in arvan with no nañ before it, when no su follows, tṛ is the substitute for the final [n]: arvat + e = arvate; anudāttau suppitau: vanip and the ṅe ending are both unaccented; the root accent stays. - meṣāya: root miṣa spardhāyām, tudādi; nandigrahi— [no number printed]: ac of the pacādi kind. - meṣyai: "meṣasya strī meṣī": jāter astrīviṣayād ayopadhāt — जातेरस्त्रीविषयादयोपधात् — [Pā. Sū. 4-1-63]: ṅīṣ is given after a word denoting a species, not ending in a feminine suffix, which is not always feminine in gender and has y as a penultimate. The print explains jāti with the verse "ākṛtigrahaṇā jātiḥ liṅgānāṃ ca na sarvabhāk | sakṛdākhyātanirgrāhyā gotraṃ ca caraṇaiḥ saha ||" — three marks of a jāti: it is known by form (e.g. taṭī, a shape such as nearness to water), it does not partake of all genders, and, once said of one person, it is understood of another without being said (e.g. vṛṣalī: not used in the neuter; said of one person, his son, brother and so on are also understood to be vṛṣala); a word ending in a patronymic suffix or denoting a branch of the Veda is also a jāti (e.g. aupagavī, karī); meṣa is not neuter and is understood of another when said of one; so by the two marks "not of all genders" and "once said it is understood" it is a jāti-word; so ṅīṣ comes: meṣī; the accent of the suffix is final; because āgamaśāstram anityam the āṭ of āṇ nadyāḥ does not come;

yaṇ: meṣy + e; udāttasvaritayor yaṇaḥ svarito 'nudāttasya — उदात्तस्वरितयोर्यणः स्वरितोऽनुदात्तस्य — [Pā. Sū. 8-2-4]: after a yaṇ standing for an acute or svarita vowel the following unaccented vowel becomes svarita; udāttayaṇo hal-pūrvāt [Pā. Sū. 6-1-174]: a yaṇ standing for an acute and preceded by a consonant causes the following nadī-ending and ajādi [ending] to be acute; here the y stands for the acute ī and is preceded by ṣ, so one could say the ending e should be acute; but since the svarita rule of the eighth adhyāya is invisible by pūrvatrāsiddham, it cannot come; in all these examples udāttayaṇaḥ is the subject of the anuvāda of udāttasvaritayor…; therefore the ending should be acute by udāttayaṇaḥ; but by sarve vidhayaś chandasi vikalpyante it does not come. - nṛbhyaḥ: "nṛ cānyatarasyām is an exception to sāvekācaḥ…; being optional, it gives no acute here." - nāribhyaḥ: in the sūtra śārṅgaravādibhyo ṅīn — शार्ङ्गरवादिभ्यो ङीन् — [Pā. Sū. 4-2-73 as printed; for 4-1-73] there is the gaṇasūtra nṛnarayor vṛddhiś ca: when nṛ and nara are shown with the feminine, the suffix ṅīn comes, and with it vṛddhi; so nārī; jyāposaṃjñāchandasor bahulam [no number printed] the shortening of ṅī; bhyas: nāribhyaḥ. - gave: "sāvekācaḥ… [is prohibited] by na goścansāvavarṇa…." Rik 6 ends here (|| 6 ||).

Rik 43.7 (pp. 485–487, PDF 499–501)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 485 foot; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

अस्मे सोम श्रियमधि नि धेहि शतस्य नृणाम् । महि श्रवस्तुविनृम्णम् ॥ ७ ॥

asmé soma śríyam ádhi ní dhehi śatásya nṛ̥ṇā́m | máhi śrávas tuvinṛ̥mṇám || 7 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 486)

अस्मे इति । सोम । श्रियम् । अधि । नि । धेहि । शतस्य । नृणाम् । महि । श्रवः । तुविऽनृम्णम् ॥ ७ ॥

asme iti | soma | śriyam | adhi | ni | dhehi | śatasya | nṛṇām | mahi | śravaḥ | tuvi-nṛmṇam || 7 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 486)

हे सोम देव नृणां पुरुषाणां शतस्य पर्याप्तां श्रियमस्मे अस्मास्वधि नि धेहि । आधिक्येन स्थापय । तथा महि महत् तुविनृम्णं प्रभूतबलयुक्तं श्रवोऽन्नमस्मास्वधि नि धेहि ॥ अस्मे । सुपां सुलुगिति सप्तम्याः शे आदेशः । नृणां । नृ च । पा. ६-४-६ । इति दीर्घप्रतिषेधः । नामन्यतरस्यामिति नाम उदात्तत्वं । महीत्यादयो गताः ॥

he soma deva nṛṇāṃ puruṣāṇāṃ śatasya paryāptāṃ śriyam asme asmāsv adhi ni dhehi | ādhikyena sthāpaya | tathā mahi mahat tuvinṛmṇaṃ prabhūtabalayuktaṃ śravo 'nnam asmāsv adhi ni dhehi || asme | supāṃ sulug iti saptamyāḥ śe ādeśaḥ | nṛṇāṃ | nṛ ca | pā. 6-4-6 | iti dīrghapratiṣedhaḥ | nām anyatarasyām iti nām udāttatvaṃ | mahīty ādayo gatāḥ ||

Translation: "O god Soma, śriyam, prosperity that is sufficient śatasya nṛṇām, for a hundred men, asme, in us, adhi ni dhehi, place in excess. Likewise mahi, great, tuvinṛmṇam, endowed with abundant strength, śravaḥ, food, adhi ni dhehi, place upon us. Asme: śe as the substitute for the locative by supāṃ sulug…. Nṛṇām: the prohibition of lengthening by nṛ ca [Pā. 6-4-6]; the nām is optionally acute by nām anyatarasyām. Mahi and the rest have been explained."

Pratipadārtha (p. 486) — "soma — O god Soma; nṛṇām — for men; śatasya — for a hundred persons (as much as is complete); śriyam — wealth; asme — upon us; adhi ni dhehi — set it firmly; mahi — exceedingly much; tuvinṛmṇam — together with abundant strength; śravaḥ — food [give us]."

Bhāvārtha (p. 486) — "O god Soma, give us abundant wealth, as much as suffices for a hundred men; and give us also food which is exceedingly abundant and which gives great strength."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 486) — "O Soma, grant us prosperity more than sufficient for a hundred men and much nonrishing [sic] food." (Printed "nonrishing".)

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 486–487 - adhi śatasya nṛṇāṃ śriyam — "wealth greater than what a hundred men should have." - asme nidhehi = asmāsu sthāpaya — "place in us, that is, give to us." - mahi = mahat — "greater, excellent." - śravaḥ — "śrava ity annanāma (Ni. 10-3); also dhananāma (Ni. 3-9 as printed): although the word śravaḥ has many senses — food, wealth, strength — the commentator accepts here the sense 'food'." - tuvinṛmṇam — "tuvi means much (Ni. 3-13); nṛmṇam means strength (Ni. 3-9 as printed); so tuvinṛmṇam means 'one with much strength'."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (p. 487 — grammar page, noted briefly) - asme: supāṃ sulug…: śe as the substitute for the locative. - nṛṇām: nṛ ca — नृ च — [Pā. Sū. 6-4-6]: before nām the lengthening of a stem ending in a vowel is optionally prohibited for nṛ; being optional, the lengthening does not occur here. - mahi and the rest: "the process has been given before." Rik 7 ends here (|| 7 ||).

Rik 43.8 (p. 487 foot, PDF 501–)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 487; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

मा नः॑ सोम परि॒बाधो॒ मारा॑तयो जुहुरन्त । आ न॑ इन्दो॒ वाजे॑ भज ॥ ८ ॥

mā naḥ soma paribādho mārātayo juhuranta | ā na indo vāje bhaja || 8 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 487)

मा । नः । सोम । परिऽबाधः । मा । अरातयः । जुहुरन्त । आ । नः । इन्दो इति । वाजे । भज ॥ ८ ॥

mā | naḥ | soma | pari-bādhaḥ | mā | arātayaḥ | juhuranta | ā | naḥ | indo iti | vāje | bhaja || 8 ||

(The bhāṣya, Pratipadārtha and the rest of Rik 8 begin on p. 488, not yet written.)

Rik 43.8, continued (from p. 488; the Saṃhitā and Pada are above)

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 488)

> सोमपरिबाधः सोमस्य परितो बाधका यागरहिता नोऽस्मान् मा जुहुरन्त । मा हिंसन्तु । तथारातयः शत्रवो मा जुहुरन्त । हे इन्दो सोम वाजे बलविषये ऽन्नविषये वा नोऽस्मानाभज । सर्वतः सेवस्व ॥ सोमपरिबाधः । सोमं परिबाधन्त इति सोमपरिबाधः । क्विप्चेति क्विप् । कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं । अरातयः । रा दाने । कृत्यल्युटो बहुलमिति बहुलवचनात्कर्तरि क्तिन् । यद्वा । क्तिच्क्तौ च सञ्ज्ञायामिति क्तिच् । नञ्समासेऽव्ययपूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं । जुहुरन्त । हृ प्रसह्यकरणे । व्यत्ययेनात्मनेपदं । लङ् । जुहोत्यादित्वात् श्नुः । बहुलं छन्दसीति बहुलवचनादिकारस्याप्यृत्वं । द्विर्भावहलादिशेषाः । सर्वे विधयश्छन्दसि विकल्प्यन्त इति वचनादभ्यस्तात् । पा. ७-१-४ । इत्यादेशाभावे सति झोऽन्त इत्यन्तादेशः । न माङ्योग इत्यडभावः ।

somaparibādhaḥ somasya parito bādhakā yāgarahitā no 'smān mā juhuranta | mā hiṃsantu | tathārātayaḥ śatravo mā juhuranta | he indo soma vāje balaviṣaye 'nnaviṣaye vā no 'smān ābhaja | sarvataḥ sevasva || somaparibādhaḥ | somaṃ paribādhanta iti somaparibādhaḥ | kvip ceti kvip | kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ | arātayaḥ | rā dāne | kṛtyalyuṭo bahulam iti bahulavacanāt kartari ktin | yadvā | ktickktau ca saṃjñāyām iti ktic | nañsamāse 'vyayapūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ | juhuranta | hvṛ prasahyakaraṇe | vyatyayenātmanepadaṃ | laṅ | juhotyāditvāt śluḥ | bahulaṃ chandasīti bahulavacanād ikārasyāpy ṛtvaṃ | dvirbhāvahalādiśeṣāḥ | sarve vidhayaś chandasi vikalpyanta iti vacanād abhyastāt | pā. 7-1-4 | ity ādeśābhāve sati jho 'nta ity antādeśaḥ | na māṅyoga ity aḍabhāvaḥ |

("ikārasyāpy ṛtvaṃ", "abhyastāt" and pā. 7-1-4 checked against the print.)

Translation: "Somaparibādhaḥ, those who harass Soma on all sides, [and are] without sacrifice, naḥ, us, mā juhuranta, let them not harm; and likewise arātayaḥ, enemies, let them not harm. O indo, O Soma, vāje, in the matter of strength or of food, naḥ, us, ā bhaja, attend upon on all sides. Somaparibādhaḥ: 'somaṃ paribādhante', kvip by kvip ca; the accent of the first member in a compound ending in a kṛt. Arātayaḥ: root rā dāne; ktin in the agent sense by the word bahulam in kṛtyalyuṭo bahulam; or ktic by ktickktau ca saṃjñāyām; a nañ-compound with the accent of the first member as an indeclinable. Juhuranta: root hvṛ prasahyakaraṇe; ātmanepada by vyatyaya; laṅ; ślu from the juhotyādi class; by the word bahulam even the i [of the reduplicate] gets ṛ; doubling and the remainder by halādiḥ śeṣaḥ; since all operations are optional in the Veda, the substitute by abhyastād ataḥ [Pā. 7-1-4] does not occur, so ant for jha by jho 'ntaḥ; no aṭ in connection with mā."

Pratipadārtha (p. 488) — "somaparibādhaḥ — those who harass [ritual] Soma, i.e. the enemies of Soma who do not perform sacrifice; naḥ — us; mā juhuranta — let them not injure; arātayaḥ — enemies; mā (juhuranta) — let them not injure; indo — O god Soma; vāje — whether in the matter of food or of strength; naḥ — us; ā bhaja — nourish well."

Bhāvārtha (p. 488) — "O god Soma, let those who hate you and do not offer you sacrifice not injure us, and let our other enemies not injure us. O Pūṣan [as printed; apparently a slip of the Kannada author for Soma], give us food or strength, and nourish us well."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 488) — "Let not the adversaries of Soma, let not our enemies harm us ; O soma, procure us abundant food."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 488–489 - somaparibādhaḥ — "somaṃ paribādhante ye te tādṛśāḥ somaparibādhaḥ | somasya bādhakāḥ yāgarahitāḥ: they cause harm to Soma by not performing the sacrifice; hence the enemies of Soma." - arātayaḥ — "rā dāne: since they are not those who give us anything, our opponents or enemies." - mā juhuranta — "hvṛ prasahyakaraṇe: let them not injure." - indo — "the word indu has the senses 'water' (udaka; Ni. 2-24 as printed) and 'sacrifice' (Ni. 3-19); and Yāska has also said 'इन्दुः । इन्धेरुनत्तेर्वा' (Ni. 10-42) — induḥ | indher unatter vā — he has explained the word indu from indh [in the sense of] shining, or from und [in the sense of] wetting. Here Soma is addressed as 'brilliant'; or, since the Soma juice has the power of wetting, it can be called by the name indu. One may also say that indu means moon; but in the Ṛgveda the word soma has no conventional use for the moon." - vāje — "since the word vājaḥ is read among the eighteen names of food beginning with andhaḥ, vājaḥ, vāje means food."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (p. 489 — grammar page, noted briefly) - somaparibādhaḥ: "somaṃ paribādhante iti somaparibādhaḥ; kvip ca [no number printed] kvip, here after a root in the sense of prathanā, in the plural; the accent of the first member of a compound with a kṛt." - arātayaḥ: root rā dāne; by the word bahulam in kṛtyalyuṭo bahulam ktin in the agent sense; or ktic ktau ca saṃjñāyām; titutra… prohibits iṭ; a nañ-compound; the accent of the first member as an indeclinable. - juhuranta: root hvṛ prasahyakaraṇe, juhotyādi; laṅ, jha; by na māṅyoge the augment aṭ is prohibited; although the verb is parasmaipadin, by vyatyayo bahulam the ātmanepada comes; juhotyādibhyaḥ śluḥ; ślau: doubling; hvṛ + hvṛ + jha; by bahulaṃ chandasi [Pā. Sū. 7-4-78], by the word bahula, i for the ṛ of the reduplicate, raparatva; halādiḥ śeṣaḥ the loss of r; kuhoś cuḥ gives jh for h, and abhyāse car ca [no number printed] j for jh: ju + hvṛ + jha; bahulaṃ chandasi [Pā. Sū. 7-3-103 as printed; for 7-1-103] u for the ṛ; if dvirvacane 'ci applied here, hur would [be doubled]; this does not occur since sarve vidhayaś chandasi vikalpyante; the at substitute for jha by adabhyastāt does not come, because of the optionality; jho 'ntaḥ gives ant; juhuranta; tiṅ atiṅaḥ: wholly unaccented. Rik 8 ends here (|| 8 ||).

Rik 43.9 (pp. 490–492, PDF 504–506)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 490; Anuṣṭubh; Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

यास्ते॑ प्र॒जा अ॒मृत॑स्य॒ पर॑स्मिन्धाम॑न्नृ॒तस्य॑ । मू॒र्धा नाभा॑ सोम वेन आ॒भूष॑न्तीः सोम वेदः ॥ ९ ॥

yā́s te prajā́ amṛ́tasya párasmin dhā́mann ṛ́tasya | mū́rdhā nā́bhā soma vena ābhū́ṣantīḥ soma vedaḥ || 9 ||

Pada-pāṭha (p. 490)

याः । ते । प्रऽजाः । अमृतस्य । परस्मिन् । धामन् । ऋतस्य । मूर्धा । नाभा । सोम । वेनः । आऽभूषन्तीः । सोम । वेदः ॥ ९ ॥

yāḥ | te | pra-jāḥ | amṛtasya | parasmin | dhāman | ṛtasya | mūrdhā | nābhā | soma | venaḥ | ā-bhūṣantīḥ | soma | vedaḥ || 9 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 490)

हे सोम ते तव सम्बन्धिन्यो याः प्रजाः सन्ति स्तोत्रं वा कुर्वन्ति ताः प्रजाः मूर्धा शिरःस्थानीयस्त्वं नाभा सन्नहनयुक्ते यज्ञगृहे । वेनः कामयस्व । कीदृशस्य ते । अमृतस्य मरणरहितस्य परस्मिन्धामन्नृतस्य उत्तमे स्थाने प्राप्तस्य । हे सोम आभूषन्तीः सर्वतस्त्वामलंकुर्वन्तीः प्रजा वेदः । जानीहि ॥ धामन् । सुपां सुलुगिति सप्तम्या लुक् । नाभा । णह बन्धने । नहो भश्च । उ. ४-१२५ । इति कर्मणीञ्प्रत्ययः । ञित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वं । सुपां सुलुगिति सप्तम्या डादेशः । वेनः । वेनतिः कान्तिकर्मा । लेटि सिप्यडागमः । तिङ्ङतिङ इति निघातः । आभूषन्तीः । भूष अलंकारे । भौवादिकः । शपः पित्त्वादनुदात्तत्वं । शतुश्च लसार्वधातुकस्वरेण धातुस्वरेणाद्युदात्तत्वं । समासे कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं । वेदः । विद ज्ञाने । लेटि सिप्यडागमः ॥ २७ ॥ ॥ ८ ॥

he soma te tava sambandhinyo yāḥ prajāḥ santi stotraṃ vā kurvanti tāḥ prajāḥ mūrdhā śiraḥsthānīyas tvaṃ nābhā sannahanayukte yajñagṛhe | venaḥ kāmayasva | kīdṛśasya te | amṛtasya maraṇarahitasya parasmin dhāmann ṛtasya uttame sthāne prāptasya | he soma ābhūṣantīḥ sarvatas tvām alaṃkurvantīḥ prajā vedaḥ | jānīhi || dhāman | supāṃ sulug iti saptamyā luk | nābhā | ṇaha bandhane | naho bhaś ca | u. 4-125 | iti karmaṇīñpratyayaḥ | ñittvād ādyudāttatvaṃ | supāṃ sulug iti saptamyā ḍādeśaḥ | venaḥ | venatiḥ kāntikarmā | leṭi sipy aḍāgamaḥ | tiṅ atiṅa iti nighātaḥ | ābhūṣantīḥ | bhūṣa alaṃkāre | bhauvādikaḥ | śapaḥ pittvād anudāttatvaṃ | śatuś ca lasārvadhātukasvareṇa dhātusvareṇādyudāttatvaṃ | samāse kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ | vedaḥ | vida jñāne | leṭi sipy aḍāgamaḥ || 27 || || 8 ||

(The bhāṣya ends "|| 27 || || 8 ||": 27 is the varga; the second numeral is printed ৪-shaped 8, unlike the ৪ of the Saṃhitā and of the grammar's close, [as printed; for 9].)

Translation: "O Soma, those prajāḥ, people, who belong to you, who offer praise, those people — you, [who are] mūrdhā, in the position of head, [being] nābhā, at the place of tying together [the sacrificial hall] — venaḥ, desire [them]. Of you, what kind? Of the deathless, of one who has reached parasmin dhāman, the highest place, ṛtasya [of truth/of the sacrifice]. O Soma, ābhūṣantīḥ, the people who adorn you on all sides, vedaḥ, know. Dhāman: the locative elided by supāṃ sulug…. Nābhā: root ṇaha bandhane; iñ in the passive sense by naho bhaś ca [Uṇ. 4-125]; first-syllable acute as ñit; ḍā for the locative by supāṃ sulug…. Venaḥ: venati is a verb of desire; leṭ, sip, with the augment aṭ; unaccented by tiṅ atiṅaḥ. Ābhūṣantīḥ: root bhūṣa alaṃkāre, of the first class; śap being pit is unaccented; śatṛ — the root accent — first-syllable acute; in the compound the accent of the first member of a kṛt-ending compound. Vedaḥ: root vida jñāne; leṭ, sip, the augment aṭ."

Pratipadārtha (pp. 490–491) — "soma — O god Soma; amṛtasya — [you who are] deathless; parasmin dhāman ṛtasya — [and] who are in the most excellent dwelling-place; te — your; yāḥ prajāḥ — those people (who praise [you]); mūrdhā — as their head (leader); nābhā — in the sacrificial hall; venaḥ — desire; soma — O Soma; ābhūṣantīḥ — those who adorn you on all sides; vedaḥ — know [them]."

Bhāvārtha (p. 491) — "O Soma, you are deathless and stay in the most excellent dwelling-place. Your devotees decorate you on all sides. In the sacrificial hall, being their leader, know well the service they do to you and treat them well."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 491) — "O Soma, you are immortal and live in excellent dwelling ; have regard for your subjects who are engaged in decorating you in the sacrificial hall with you at their head." (The source's heading for this English reads "Euglib Translation" — a misprint [sic].)

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 491 - amṛtasya — "of Soma, who is without death." - parasmin dhāman ṛtasya = uttame sthāne prāptasya — "who sits in the highest place; here the highest place is the sacrificial hall where the praise is made." - mūrdhā = śiraḥsthānīyas tvam — "one who is in the position of the head, i.e. excellent, or the foremost: 'at their head'; i.e., in front of you, as a leader." - nābhā = sannahanayukte yajñagṛhe — "in the sacrificial hall." - venaḥ — "venatiḥ kāntikarmā: [a verb] of desire; 'desire'; 'wish, wish for'." - ābhūṣantīḥ = sarvatas tvām alaṃkurvantīḥ — "decorating you on all sides. What is meant by decorating Soma is not clear. Probably the ṛṣi has described in another way the preparing of the utensils for crushing the Soma juice [as the 'decoration']." - vedaḥ = vida jñāne — "know."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (p. 492 — grammar page, noted briefly) - dhāman: the locative ending is elided by supāṃ sulug…. - nābhā: root ṇaha bandhane; ṇo naḥ [no number printed] n for the initial ṇ; naho bhaś ca — नहो भश्च — [U. Sū. 4-565, as printed]: after the root nah the suffix iñ and bh for h, in the passive sense; upadhāvṛddhi: nābhi; the locative singular with supāṃ sulug… giving ḍā; loss of ṭi. - venaḥ: "venatiḥ kāntikarmā" (Niru. 2-6-4): one must take the root vena kāntau, icchā; leṭ, sip, the augment aṭ; tiṅ atiṅaḥ wholly unaccented. - ābhūṣantīḥ: root bhūṣa alaṃkāre, first class; laṭ, śatṛ, śap; ato guṇe pararūpa; bhūṣat; ugitaś ca [no number printed]: ṅīp after an ugit base; āc chīnadyor num [Pā. Sū. 7-1-80]: the augment num for an aṅga ending in a that has a śatṛ suffix, when śī or a nadī-named [suffix] follows; bhūṣantī; accusative plural śas, pūrvasavarṇadīrgha, ru, visarga; with āṅ, the compound; the accent of the first member of a compound ending in a kṛt; the śap in the latter member is unaccented, and by tāsyanudāttet… the śatṛ is unaccented, so the root accent remains. - vedaḥ: root vida jñāne; leṭ [sip]; the augment aṭ, śap, laghūpadhaguṇa: ved + a + a + as, pararūpa, ru, visarga. Rik 9 ends here (|| 9 ||).

Close of Sūkta 43. Printed on p. 492 after the grammar: "illige 43ne sūktavu mugidudu" — "Here the 43rd sūkta has ended." (Numeral read as "43".) With it the Eighth Anuvāka (printed pp. 251–492; Sūktas 37–43) ends. The next leaf, p. 493 = PDF 507, carries the title "nalavattanālkaneya sūktavu" ("the forty-fourth sūkta") and the long Sanskrit introduction and Kannada anuvāda of Sūkta 44 (agne vivasvat, fourteen Riks, the first sūkta of the Ninth Anuvāka, which has seven sūktas, 44–50; ṛṣi Praskaṇva, son of Kaṇva; deity Agni, with the Aśvins and Uṣas for Riks 1–3; metres: the odd Riks Bṛhatī, the even Satobṛhatī; Rik 1 Agne vivasvad). These are not yet written and belong to the next session. (The old contents table gave p. 493 for Sūkta 44 — this is confirmed.)

Summary of Sūkta 43 (my note). Nine Riks, the first six and Rik 3 to Rudra and Mitra–Varuṇa, the last three to Soma. Rik 1 asks when a pleasing hymn will be recited to the wise, mighty Rudra, cherished in the heart; Rik 2 asks that the earth give his medicine to our cattle, men and children; Rik 3, that Mitra, Varuṇa, Rudra and all the gods look kindly on us; Rik 4, for the happiness that Śaṃyu enjoyed; Rik 5 describes Rudra as shining like the Sun and gold, best of the gods; Rik 6, that he bring happiness to horses, sheep, men, women and cows; Riks 7–9 turn to Soma, asking for wealth for a hundred men, protection from enemies and from those who harass Soma, and his regard for his adorers. All nine Riks are written in full; the heavily crowded grammar passages are characterized only.

SŪKTA 44 (printed p. 493 = PDF 507; first sūkta of the Ninth Anuvāka)

Forty-fourth Sūkta (large Kannada title line: "nalavattanālkaneya sūktavu")

Pages 493–494 (PDF 507–508) — Sāyaṇa's introduction, the Kannada anuvāda, and the heading

Sāyaṇa's introduction (printed in Kannada script; read from the 150-dpi image; the words marked [?] are crowded)

> नवमेऽनुवाके सप्त सूक्तानि । तत्राग्ने विवस्वदिति चतुर्दशर्चं प्रथमं सूक्तं । अत्रानुक्रमणिका । अग्ने षळोना प्रस्कण्वः काण्व आग्नेयं तु प्रागाथमाद्यो द्व्यृचोऽश्व्युषसां चेति । कण्वपुत्रः प्रस्कण्व ऋषिः । अत्र द्वितीयाचतुर्थ्याद्या युजः सतोबृहत्यः । प्रथमातृतीयाद्या आयुजो बृहत्यः । कृत्स्नं सूक्तमाग्नेयमुत्तरं च । आद्ये द्वे अश्विदेवताके उषोदेवताके च ॥ प्रातरनुवाके आग्नेये क्रतौ बार्हते छन्दस्याश्विनशस्त्रे चेदं सूक्तं । अथैतस्या रात्रेरिति खण्डे सूत्रितं । अग्ने विवस्वत्सखायस्त्वा । आ. ४-१३ । इति वाजपेये अग्निमारुत आद्यः प्रगाथोऽनुरूपः । वाजपेयेनेति खण्डे सूत्रितं । चित्रवतीषु चेत् स्तुवीरंस्त्वं नश्चित्र ऊत्याग्ने विवस्वदुषस इत्यग्निष्टोमसाम्नः स्तोत्रियानुरूपौ । आ. ९-९ । इति पर्यायवृष्ट्यां वाश्विनशस्त्रस्यायमेव प्रगाथः स्तोत्रियः । यदि पर्यायानभिव्युच्छेदिति खण्ड आश्विनायैकस्तोत्रियोऽग्ने विवस्वदुषसः । आ. ६-६ । इति सूत्रितं ॥

navame 'nuvāke sapta sūktāni | tatrāgne vivasvad iti caturdaśarcaṃ prathamaṃ sūktaṃ | atrānukramaṇikā | agne ṣaḷonā praskaṇvaḥ kāṇva āgneyaṃ tu prāgāthamādyo dvyṛco 'śvyuṣasāṃ ceti | kaṇvaputraḥ praskaṇva ṛṣiḥ | atra dvitīyācaturthyādyā yujaḥ satobṛhatyaḥ | prathamātṛtīyādyā āyujo bṛhatyaḥ | kṛtsnaṃ sūktam āgneyam uttaraṃ ca | ādye dve aśvidevatāke uṣodevatāke ca || prātaranuvāke āgneye kratau bārhate chandasyāśvinaśastre cedaṃ sūktaṃ | athaitasyā rātrer iti khaṇḍe sūtritaṃ | agne vivasvat sakhāyas tvā | ā. 4-13 | iti vājapeye agnimāruta ādyaḥ pragātho 'nurūpaḥ | vājapeyeneti khaṇḍe sūtritaṃ | citravatīṣu cet stuvīraṃs tvaṃ naś citra ūtyāgne vivasvad uṣasa ity agniṣṭomasāmnaḥ stotriyānurūpau | ā. 9-9 | iti paryāyavṛṣṭyāṃ vāśvinaśastrasyāyam eva pragāthaḥ stotriyaḥ | yadi paryāyān abhivyucched iti khaṇḍa āśvināyaikastotriyo 'gne vivasvad uṣasaḥ | ā. 6-6 | iti sūtritaṃ ||

Translation (mine, tentative; the Āśvalāyana reference numerals zoom-checked on the better scan): "In the ninth anuvāka there are seven sūktas. Of these, agne vivasvat, of fourteen ṛks, is the first. The Anukramaṇikā here: 'agne ṣaḷonā praskaṇvaḥ kāṇva āgneyaṃ tu prāgātham; ādyo dvyṛco 'śvyuṣasāṃ ca' (the first two-ṛk group [belongs] also to the Aśvins and Uṣas). The ṛṣi is Praskaṇva, son of Kaṇva. Here the even-numbered ṛks, beginning with the second and fourth, are Satobṛhatī; the odd-numbered, beginning with the first and third, are Bṛhatī. The whole sūkta is Āgneya, and what follows; the first two ṛks have the Aśvins and Uṣas as deities. This sūkta [is used] in the Prātaranuvāka, in the Agni rite, in the Bārhata metre, and in the Āśvina śastra. It is laid down in the section beginning athaitasyā rātreḥ: 'agne vivasvat, sakhāyas tvā' (Āś. 4-13); in the Vājapeya the first pragātha is the anurūpa of the Agnimāruta [śastra]. It is laid down in the section beginning vājapeyena: 'citravatīṣu cet', 'stuvīraṃs tvaṃ naś citra ūtyā’ and ‘agne vivasvad uṣasaḥ’ are the stotriya and anurūpa of the Agniṣṭoma Sāman (Āś. 9-9, as printed). In the paryāyavṛṣṭi, or in the Āśvina śastra, this very pragātha is the stotriya. And in the section beginning yadi paryāyān abhivyucchet, ‘agne vivasvad uṣasaḥ’ is the single stotriya for the Āśvina [śastra] (Āś. 6-6).”

Anuvāda (Kannada), p. 493–494 — “With the sūkta agne vivasvat the ninth anuvāka begins. In this anuvāka there are seven sūktas ([sūktas] 44 to 50). In the first of them, agne vivasvat, there are fourteen ṛks. In the Anukramaṇikā: ‘agne ṣaḷonā praskaṇvaḥ kāṇva āgneyaṃ tu prāgāthamādyo dvṛco ’śvyuṣasāṃ ca’. The ṛṣi of this sūkta is Praskaṇva, the son of Kaṇva. The even-numbered ṛks are in the Satobṛhatī metre [and the odd-numbered in Bṛhatī]. All this sūkta has Agni as deity; but for the first two [printed ”1-2”, zoom-checked] ṛks Agni, the Aśvins and Uṣas are also deities: in the Śrauta-sūtra of Āśvalāyana, in the section beginning athaitasyā rātreḥ, [it is] explained by the sūtra ‘agne vivasvat (Ṛg. Saṃ. 1-44-1) sakhāyas tvā (Ṛg. Saṃ. 3-9-1)’ (Āś. 4-13). In the Vājapeya sacrifice too the first ṛk of this sūkta is applied to the mantras of the Agnimāruta stotra in the Prāgātha metre. In the section vājapeyena of the Āśvalāyana Śrauta-sūtra it is explained by the sūtra ‘citravatīṣu cet stuvīraṃs tvaṃ naś citra ūtyā (Ṛg. Saṃ. 6-47-9, as printed: the second digit of 47 is the flat-footed 7) agne vivasvad uṣasaḥ (Ṛg. Saṃ. 1-44-1)’: the two are the stotriya and anurūpa of the Agniṣṭoma Sāman (Āś. 9-9). In the paryāyavṛṣṭi, too, this sūkta is to be recited among the mantras of the Āśvina śastra as a stotriya mantra in the Prāgātha metre: the Āśvalāyana Śrauta-sūtra, in the section yadi paryāyān abhivyucchet, explains this by the sūtra ‘āśvināyaikastotriyo ’gne vivasvad uṣasaḥ’ (Āś. 6-6).” (Reference numerals zoom-checked on the better scan, PDF 508–509.)

॥ ॐ ॥

> सूक्त — ४४ ॥ मण्डल — १ ॥ अनुवाक — ९ ॥ सूक्त — ४४ ॥ ॥ अष्टक — १ ॥ अध्याय — ३ ॥ वर्ग — २८, २९, ३० ॥ ॥ सूक्तदक्षिरुव ऋक्संख्यै — १४ ॥ ॥ ऋषिः — प्रस्कण्वः काण्वः ॥ ॥ देवता — १, २, अग्निरश्विनावुषाः । ३—१४ अग्निः ॥ ॥ छन्दः — प्रागाथं बार्हतं । १, ३, ५, ७, ९, ११, १३ बृहती । २, ४, ६, ८, १०, १२, १४ सतोबृहती ॥

sūkta 44 | maṇḍala 1 | anuvāka 9 | aṣṭaka 1 | adhyāya 3 | varga 28, 29, 30 | ṛks 14 | ṛṣi: Praskaṇva Kāṇva | devatā: Riks 1, 2 Agni, the Aśvins and Uṣas; Riks 3–14 Agni | chandas: Prāgātha, Bārhata — Riks 1, 3, 5, 7, 9, 11, 13 Bṛhatī; Riks 2, 4, 6, 8, 10, 12, 14 Satobṛhatī.

(Zoom-checked on the better scan, PDF 509: varga ೨೮, ೨೯, ೩೦ = 28, 29, 30 (the earlier reading 38–40 was wrong); deity line “1, 2, agnir aśvināv uṣāḥ | 3-14 agniḥ”.)

Rik 44.1 (pp. 494–499, PDF 508–513)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 494)

> अग्ने॒ विव॑स्वदु॒षस॑श्चि॒त्रं राधो॑ अमर्त्य । आ दा॒शुषे॑ जातवेदो वहा॒ त्वम॒द्या दे॒वाँ उ॑ष॒र्बुधः॑ ॥ १ ॥

agne vívasvad uṣásaś citráṃ rádho amartya | ā dāśúṣe jātavedo vahā tvám adyā devā́m̐ uṣarbúdhaḥ || 1 ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. The anudātta bar of the first word stands under gne*.)*

Pada-pāṭha (p. 495)

> अग्ने । विवस्वत् । उषसः । चित्रम् । राधः । अमर्त्य । आ । दाशुषे । जातऽवेदः । वह । त्वम् । अद्य । देवान् । उषःऽबुधः ॥ १ ॥

agne | vivasvat | uṣasaḥ | citram | rādhaḥ | amartya | ā | dāśuṣe | jāta-vedaḥ | vaha | tvam | adya | devān | uṣaḥ-budhaḥ || 1 ||

(The Saṃhitā prints vahā and adyā with long final vowels, the Pada vaha and adya*, and* devāṁ̃ uṣarbudhaḥ with the nasal sign.)

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 495)

> हे अग्ने त्वमुषस उषोदेवतायाः सकाशाद्राधो धनं दाशुषे हविर्दत्तवते यजमानायावह । आनीय प्रापय । सोऽग्निर्विशेष्यते । अमर्त्य मरणरहित जातवेदो जातानां वेदितः । तमेतं शब्दं यास्को व्याचष्टे । जातवेदाः कस्मात् । जातानि वेद जातानि वैनं विदुर्जाते जाते विद्यत इति वा जातवित्तो वा जातधनो जातविद्यो वा जातप्रज्ञानो यत्तज्जातः पशूनविन्दतेति तज्जातवेदसो जातवेदस्त्वमिति ब्राह्मणं । तस्मात्सर्वानृतून्पशवोऽग्निमभिसर्पन्तीति च । नि. ७-१९ । इति । कीदृशं राधः । विवस्वत् विशिष्टनिवासोपेतं चित्रं नानाविधं । किंच अद्यास्मिन्दिन उषर्बुध उषःकाले प्रबुद्धान्देवानावह ॥

he agne tvam uṣasa uṣodevatāyāḥ sakāśād rādho dhanaṃ dāśuṣe havirdattavate yajamānāyāvaha | ānīya prāpaya | so 'gnir viśeṣyate | amartya maraṇarahita jātavedo jātānāṃ veditaḥ | tam etaṃ śabdaṃ yāsko vyācaṣṭe | jātavedāḥ kasmāt | jātāni veda jātāni vainaṃ vidur jāte jāte vidyata iti vā jātavitto vā jātadhano jātavidyo vā jātaprajñāno yat taj jātaḥ paśūn avindateti taj jātavedaso jātavedastvam iti brāhmaṇaṃ | tasmāt sarvān ṛtūn paśavo 'gnim abhisarpantīti ca | ni. 7-19 | iti | kīdṛśaṃ rādhaḥ | vivasvat viśiṣṭanivāsopetaṃ citraṃ nānāvidhaṃ | kiṃca adyāsmin dina uṣarbudha uṣaḥkāle prabuddhān devān āvaha ||

Translation: "O Agni, you, from uṣasaḥ, from the goddess Uṣas, [bring] rādhaḥ, wealth, dāśuṣe, to the sacrificer who has given the oblation: ā vaha, bring it and make it reach [him]. This Agni is further described: amartya, deathless; jātavedaḥ, knower of the born. Yāska explains this word: 'Why [is he] Jātavedas? "He knows [all] that is born"; or "all that is born know him"; or "he is found in everything that is born"; or "he possesses what is born (jātavitta)"; or "he is the owner of what is born (jātadhana)"; or "he possesses knowledge of the born (jātavidya)"; or "he is the knower of what is born (jātaprajñāna)". Since he, being born, found the cattle, thence his name Jātavedas', says the Brāhmaṇa; 'therefore in all seasons the cattle gather round Agni'; so (Ni. 7-19). What kind of wealth? Vivasvat, endowed with excellent dwellings; citram, of many kinds. And further: adya, today, devān uṣarbudhaḥ, the gods who have awakened at the time of Uṣas, bring [them]."

> विवस्वत् । विवासनं विवः । तद्युक्तं । वस निवासे । विपूर्वादन्तर्भावितण्यर्थात्सम्पदादिलक्षणो भावे क्विप् । तदस्यास्तीति मतुप् । मादुपधायाः इति वत्वं । तसौ मत्वर्थ इति भत्वेन पदत्वाभावाद्धुत्वाद्यभावः । वृषादित्वादाद्युदात्तत्वं । राधः । राध साध संसिद्धौ । राध्नोत्यनेनेति राधो धनं । करणेऽसुन् । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वं । दाशुषे । दाश्र दाने । दाश्वान् साह्वान् इति क्वसुप्रत्ययान्तो निपातितः । चतुर्थ्येकवचने वसोः सम्प्रसारणमिति सम्प्रसारणं । शासिवसीति षत्वं । जातवेदः ।

जातानि वेत्तीति जातवेदाः । गतिकारकयोरपि पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं चेत्यसुन् । यद्वा । वेद इति धननाम । जातं धनं यस्य स तादृशः । आमन्त्रितनिघातः । वह । द्व्यचोऽतस्तिङ इति संहितायां दीर्घत्वं । देवान् । दीर्घादटि समानपाद इति संहितायां नकारस्य रुत्वं । अतोऽटि नित्यमिति सानुनासिक आकारः । उषर्बुधः । उषसि बुध्यन्त इत्युषर्बुधः । बुध अवगमने । क्विप्चेति क्विप् । रो रुत्वाभावश्छान्दसः । कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं ॥ १ ॥

vivasvat | vivāsanaṃ vivaḥ | tadyuktaṃ | vasa nivāse | vipūrvād antarbhāvitaṇyarthāt sampadādilakṣaṇo bhāve kvip | tad asyāstīti matup | mād upadhāyā iti vatvaṃ | tasau matvartha iti bhatvena padatvābhāvād rutvādyabhāvaḥ | vṛṣāditvād ādyudāttatvaṃ | rādhaḥ | rādha sādha saṃsiddhau | rādhnoty anena iti rādho dhanaṃ | karaṇe 'sun | nittvād ādyudāttatvaṃ | dāśuṣe | dāśṛ dāne | dāśvān sāhvān iti kvasupratyayānto nipātitaḥ | caturthyekavacane vasoḥ samprasāraṇam iti samprasāraṇaṃ | śāsivasīti ṣatvaṃ | jātavedaḥ | jātāni vettīti jātavedāḥ | gatikārakayor api pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ cety asun | yadvā | veda iti dhananāma | jātaṃ dhanaṃ yasya sa tādṛśaḥ | āmantritanighātaḥ | vaha | dvyaco 'tastiṅa iti saṃhitāyāṃ dīrghatvaṃ | devān | dīrghād aṭi samānapāda iti saṃhitāyāṃ nakārasya rutvaṃ | ato 'ṭi nityam iti sānunāsika ākāraḥ | uṣarbudhaḥ | uṣasi budhyanta ity uṣarbudhaḥ | budha avagamane | kvip ceti kvip | ro rutvābhāvaś chāndasaḥ | kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ || 1 ||

(The print reads गतिकाकयोरपि (gatikākayor api) [sic] for गतिकारकयोरपि; corrected above. Bhāṣya checked against the better scan, PDF 510.)

Translation of the grammatical tail (characterized): Vivasvat — 'vivāsanam' is vivaḥ, and what has it; root vasa nivāse with vi, with an implicit causative sense, kvip in the abstract sense of the sampadādi class; 'tad asyāsti', matup; va for ma by mād upadhāyāś ca…; since the word counts as bha by tasau matvarthe, it is not a pada, so there is no ru and so on; first-syllable acute from the vṛṣādi group. Rādhaḥ — root rādha sādha saṃsiddhau: 'that by which one succeeds' is rādhaḥ, wealth; asun in the sense of the instrument; first-syllable acute as nit. Dāśuṣe — root dāśṛ dāne; the kvasu-ending form is irregularly given in dāśvān sāhvān…; in the dative singular the saṃprasāraṇa of vasu; ṣatva by śāsivasi…. Jātavedaḥ — 'jātāni vetti'; asun by the rule that a gati or kāraka keeps the accent of the first member; or veda = wealth: 'he whose wealth is born'; unaccented as a vocative. Vaha — in the Saṃhitā the long vowel by dvyaco 'tastiṅaḥ. Devān — by dīrghād aṭi samānapāde the n becomes ru in the Saṃhitā; the nasalized ā by ato 'ṭi nityam. Uṣarbudhaḥ* —'uṣasi budhyante*'; root* budha avagamane*;* kvip*; the accent of the first member of a* kṛt*-ending compound."

Pratipadārtha (pp. 495–496) — "amartya — [you who are] deathless; jātavedaḥ — knower of everything that is born; agne — O Agni; tvam — you; uṣasaḥ — from the goddess Uṣas; [p. 496] vivasvat — endowed with excellent dwellings; citram — of many kinds; rādhaḥ — wealth; dāśuṣe — to the sacrificer who gives oblations; ā vaha — fetch and give [it]; and further; adya — today; uṣarbudhaḥ — the gods who awake at the time of Uṣas; devān — the gods — [bring them here]."

Bhāvārtha (p. 496) — "O Agni, you are deathless. You know everything that is born. The sacrificer who has offered oblations expects your help alone. Bring from the goddess Uṣas for him wealth that is endowed with excellent dwellings and is of many kinds. And call to the place of sacrifice all the gods who awake at this time of Uṣas, so that the sacrifice may be carried through with all its parts."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 496) — "O Agni, you are immortal and you have knowledge of all things born ; bring from the Ushas, to the giver of oblations, wealth of many sorts with an excellent dwelling ; bring hither to-day the gods awaking in the morning." (The print has a smudge in "morning".)

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 496–497 - vivasvat = vivāsanaṃ vivaḥ | tadyuktaṃ | vasa nivāse — "(wealth) with a good habitation: 'with a good habitation'" (the English words are the source's). - citram — "of many kinds." - rādhaḥ — "rādha sādha saṃsiddhau | rādhnotyanena iti rādho dhanam. Because the word rādhaḥ is read among the twenty-eight names of wealth beginning with magham, rekṇaḥ, rādhaḥ means wealth." (No Nirukta number is printed here.) - jātavedaḥ = jātānāṃ veditā — "knower of everything that arises in the world. Jātavedas is a special form of Agni; Agni is praised in many ṛks by this name. Yāska on the word jātavedas: जातानि वेद । जातानि वैनं विदुः । जाते जाते विद्यत इति वा । जातवित्तो वा जातधनः । जातविद्यो वा जातप्रज्ञानः । यत्तज्जातः पशूनविन्दतेति तज्जातवेदसो जातवेदस्त्वमिति ब्राह्मणम् । तस्मात्सर्वानृतून्पशवोऽग्निमभिसर्पन्तीति ॥ (Ni. 7-19) jātāni veda | jātāni vainaṃ viduḥ | jāte jāte vidyata iti vā | jātavitto vā jātadhanaḥ | jātavidyo vā jātaprajñānaḥ | yat taj jātaḥ paśūn avindateti taj jātavedaso jātavedastvam iti brāhmaṇam | tasmāt sarvān ṛtūn paśavo 'gnim abhisarpantīti — mine and tentative: 'He knows the born; or the born know him; or he is found in each thing that is born; or he possesses the born, owns the born, has knowledge of the born, has the wisdom of the born; because, being born, he found the cattle, therefore is his Jātavedas-hood, so says the Brāhmaṇa; therefore in every season the cattle gather round Agni.' That is: since he knows beings that are born, he is called Jātavedas; since the born know him, he is called Jātavedas; or since he is in every being that is born, he is Jātavedas; since he is possessed of wealth, 'Jātavedas'; since he possesses knowledge or wisdom, 'Jātavedas'; and because he, being born, found the cattle — the Brāhmaṇa has this statement as the reason for the name: [because] of the sacrificial animals which one offers in Agni. Therefore the intention is that all beings should take refuge in Agni alone, in all seasons."* (The print begins the quotation at* jātāni veda and closes it with "(Ni. 7-19)", p. 497.) - uṣarbudhaḥ —"uṣasi budhyanta ity uṣarbudhaḥ | budha avagamane: those who awake at the time of Uṣas, i.e. at dawn; those who rise."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 497–499 — grammar pages, characterized) - agne: root agi gatau; aṅgeḥ nalopaś ca — अङ्गेर्नलोपश्च — (Uṇ. 4-490, as printed): after aṅg the suffix ni, and loss of the n; the idit root's num, by idito num dhātoḥ, is lost with the ni suffix: agni; vocative agne; since it stands at the beginning of a pāda it is not wholly unaccented: apādādau (no number printed) prohibits the total unaccentedness taught in the eighth adhyāya (āṣṭamika); first-syllable acute by the sūtra of the sixth adhyāya (ṣāṣṭha sūtra, not named). - vivasvat: "vivāsanaṃ vivaḥ tadyuktam", [wealth] with the quality of causing dwelling; root vasa nivāse with the prefix vi; sampadādibhyaḥ kvip (Pā. 3-3-108) kvip in the abstract sense; tad asyāsty asmin (Pā. 5-2-94): matup; vivas + mat; mādupadhāyāś ca matorvo 'yavādibhyaḥ (Pā. 8-2-9): v for the m of matup after a stem ending in m, or a [print: ā] or with these as the penultimate — except in the yavādi group; tasau matvarthe (Pā. 1-4-19): before a matup-suffix a word ending in t or s takes the bha name; so vivas is bha, and [p. 498] the pada name given by supti ṅantaṃ padam does not arise; therefore sasajuṣo ruḥ (Pā. 8-2-66) does not apply to the final s, and the bho-bhago... y-substitution does not come; first-syllable acute by vṛṣādīnāṃ ca (Pā. 6-1-203;

the hundreds digit is the 2/7-like glyph, not settled). - uṣasaḥ: root uṣa dāhe; uṣaḥ kit (Uṇ. 4-673, as printed): the suffix asi after uṣ, which is kit, so no guṇa; uṣati = it burns away darkness: the early morning; accent of the suffix; ablative singular ṅasi. - rādhaḥ: root rādha sādha saṃsiddhau; "by which all tasks are accomplished: hence wealth is meant"; sarvadhātubhyo 'sun (no number printed); first-syllable acute by ñnityādir nityam. - dāśuṣe: dāśvān sāhvān… (no number printed): the kvasu-ending [forms] are irregularly given — here, from the root dāśṛ dāne, with kvasu [forms] without doubling and without iṭ; the dative singular ṅe; vasoḥ saṃprasāraṇam (Pā. 6-4-131): the saṃprasāraṇa of an aṅga ending in the suffix vasu and having the bha name; igyaṇaḥ saṃprasāraṇam (no number printed) defines saṃprasāraṇa as the i, u, ṛ, ḷ that stand for y, v, r, l; here u for v; saṃprasāraṇāc ca (no number printed): pūrvarūpa with the following vowel [a]: dāśus + e; ādeśapratyayayoḥ gives ṣ: dāśuṣe; śāsivasi… is not needed here, as stated earlier. - jātavedaḥ: root janī prādurbhāve; kta; janasanakhanāṃ sanjhaloḥ (Pā. 6-4-42): ā for the n of jan before a jhalādi [kit] suffix; śvīdito niṣṭhāyām (Pā. 7-2-14): no iṭ before kta after jan (an idit); jāta; "jātāni vetti": root vida jñāne; the suffix asun by gatikārakayoḥ pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ ca (Uṇ. 4-666, as printed; first digit read 4 from the Uṇādi series: 4-490, 4-666, 4-673) after a kāraka-upapada jātāni; the first-member accent barring the kṛdutta accent of gatikārakopapadāt kṛt; or, vida with sarvadhātubhyo 'sun: veda = wealth; "he whose wealth is born": a bahuvrīhi, with bahuvrīhau prakṛtyā pūrvapadam giving first-member accent; in either case [p. 499] jātavedaḥ is the vocative, and by sāmantritam (Pā. 2-3-48) the first-case singular is an āmantrita, so by āmantritasya ca, a sūtra of the eighth adhyāya, it is wholly unaccented. - vaha: root vaha prāpaṇe; loṭ, sip, hi, śap; ato heḥ luk; in the Saṃhitā the long vowel by dvyaco 'tastiṅaḥ. - devān: dīrghād aṭi samānapāde (Pā. 8-3-9): when, in a single pāda [one-fourth of a ṛk], a n standing after a long vowel is followed by aṭ (the letters of the aṭ group, here u of uṣarbudhaḥ), ru in the Saṃhitā; ato 'ṭi nityam (Pā. 8-3-3): the a before ru with a following aṭ is nasalized. - uṣarbudhaḥ: "the process of uṣas was given before; 'uṣasi budhyante'; root budha avagamane; kvip ca; uṣas + budh; sasajuṣo ruḥ: r; uṣar + budh; by haśi ca (Pā. 6-1-114) u for the ru [r] after a before a haś; this would obtain, but, by sarve vidhayaś chandasi vikalpyante, it does not come here; the accent of the first member by gatikārakopapadāt kṛt." Rik 1 ends here (|| 1 ||).

Rik 44.2 (pp. 499–503, PDF 513–517)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 499 foot)

जुष्टो हि दूतो असि हव्यवाहनोऽग्ने रथीरध्वराणाम् । सजूरश्विभ्यामुषसा सुवीर्यमस्मे धेहि श्रवो बृहत् ॥ २ ॥

juṣṭó hi dūtó ási havyavāhanó 'gne rathīr adhvarāṇām | sajūr aśvíbhyām uṣásā suvīryam asmé dhehi śrávo bṛhát || 2 ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. The svarita over bhyā stands at the joint of śvi and bhyā*; read as* bhyā*.)*

Page 500

Pada-pāṭha (p. 500)

जुष्टः । हि । दूतः । असि । हव्यऽवाहनः । अग्ने । रथीः । अध्वराणाम् । सऽजूः । अश्विऽभ्याम् । उषसा । सुऽवीर्यम् । अस्मे इति । धेहि । श्रवः । बृहत् ॥ २ ॥

juṣṭaḥ | hi | dūtaḥ | asi | havya-vāhanaḥ | agne | rathīḥ | adhvarāṇām | sa-jūḥ | aśvi-bhyām | uṣasā | su-vīryam | asme iti | dhehi | śravaḥ | bṛhat || 2 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 500)

हे अग्ने त्वं जुष्टत्वादिविशेषगुणयुक्तोऽसि । जुष्टः सेवितो दूतो देवानां वार्ताहारो हव्यवाहनो हविषां वोढा अध्वराणां क्रतूनां रथीः रथस्थानीयः । तथा च मन्त्रान्तरं ब्राह्मणेनैव व्याख्यातं । रथीरध्वराणामित्यैष हि देवरथ इति । ब्राह्मणान्तरं च । रथीरध्वराणामित्याह रथो ह वा एष भूतो देवेभ्यो हव्यं वहतीति । तादृशस्त्वमश्विभ्यां देवताभ्यामुषसा देवतया च सजूः सहितो भूत्वा सुवीर्यं शोभनवीर्योपेतं बृहत् प्रभूतं श्रवोऽन्नमस्मे धेहि । अस्मासु प्रक्षिप ॥ जुष्टः । जुषी प्रीतिसेवनयोः । नित्यं मन्त्र इत्याद्युदात्तत्वं । असि । सिपि तासस्त्योर्लोपः । पा. ७-४-५० । इति सलोपः । हि चेति निघातप्रतिषेधः । हव्यवाहनः । हव्यं वहतीति हव्यवाहनः । हव्येऽनन्तःपादम् । पा. ३-२-६६ । इति ण्युट् । योरनादेशः । ञित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वे कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं । अग्ने । पादादित्वादाष्टमिकनिघाताभावः । रथीः । रथशब्दात्स्वार्थिक ईकारप्रत्ययः । अध्वराणा । ध्वरो नास्त्येष्विति बहुव्रीहौ नञ्सुभ्यामित्युत्तरपदान्तोदात्तत्वं । सुवीर्यं । वीरवीर्यौ चेत्युत्तरपदाद्युदात्तत्वं । अस्मे । सुपां सुलुगिति सप्तम्याः शे आदेशः ॥ २ ॥

he agne tvaṃ juṣṭatvādiviśeṣaguṇayukto 'si | juṣṭaḥ sevito dūto devānāṃ vārtāhāro havyavāhano haviṣāṃ voḍhā adhvarāṇāṃ kratūnāṃ rathīḥ rathasthānīyaḥ | tathā ca mantrāntaraṃ brāhmaṇenaiva vyākhyātaṃ | rathīr adhvarāṇām ity aiṣa hi devaratha iti | brāhmaṇāntaraṃ ca | rathīr adhvarāṇām ity āha ratho ha vā eṣa bhūto devebhyo havyaṃ vahatīti | tādṛśas tvam aśvibhyāṃ devatābhyām uṣasā devatayā ca sajūḥ sahito bhūtvā suvīryaṃ śobhanavīryopetaṃ bṛhat prabhūtaṃ śravo 'nnam asme dhehi | asmāsu prakṣipa || juṣṭaḥ | juṣī prītisevanayoḥ | nityaṃ mantra ityādyudāttatvaṃ | asi | sipi tāsastyor lopaḥ | pā. 7-4-50 | iti salopaḥ | hi ceti nighātapratiṣedhaḥ | havyavāhanaḥ | havyaṃ vahatīti havyavāhanaḥ | havye 'nantaḥpādam | pā. 3-2-66 | iti ṇyuṭ | yor anādeśaḥ | ñittvād ādyudāttatve kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ | agne | pādāditvād āṣṭamikanighātābhāvaḥ | rathīḥ | rathaśabdāt svārthika īkārapratyayaḥ | adhvarāṇāṃ | dhvaro nāsty eṣv iti bahuvrīhau nañsubhyām ity uttarapadāntodāttatvaṃ | suvīryaṃ | vīravīryau cety uttarapadādyudāttatvaṃ | asme | supāṃ sulug iti saptamyāḥ śe ādeśaḥ ||

(The grammatical tail, which I at first left unfinished with a placeholder, is completed above from the foot of p. 500; the numerals (Pā. 7-4-50, 3-2-66) and the clause on havye 'nantaḥpādam were zoom-checked on the better scan, PDF 515. The Pratipadārtha begins at the foot of p. 500 and continues on p. 501.)

Translation of this part: "O Agni, you are endowed with special qualities beginning with being juṣṭa ['dear']. Juṣṭaḥ, served, the dūtaḥ, messenger of the gods, the carrier of tidings; havyavāhanaḥ, the bearer of oblations; adhvarāṇām rathīḥ, [as] the charioteer, in the position of the chariot, of the sacrifices. And so, in another mantra, it is explained by the Brāhmaṇa itself: 'rathīr adhvarāṇām: this indeed is the chariot of the gods'; and in another Brāhmaṇa: 'he says rathīr adhvarāṇām: this [Agni] having become a chariot carries the oblation to the gods.' Such as you are, sajūḥ, together with the two deities, the Aśvins, and the deity Uṣas, suvīryam, endowed with fine heroism, bṛhat, abundant, śravaḥ, food, asme dhehi, place upon us; put it into us."

Correction note (Rik 44.2). In the entry above the bhāṣya's grammatical tail was first left unfinished with a placeholder ("niṣṭhāyāṃ …"), which was not in the print. It has now been replaced, in the text above, by the tail actually printed at the foot of p. 500 (juṣṭaḥ … asme), in Devanagari and IAST. The words of that tail not already translated are characterized here.

Rik 44.2, continued (from the foot of p. 500)

Translation of the grammatical tail (characterized): Juṣṭaḥ — root juṣī prītisevanayoḥ; the first-syllable acute by nityaṃ mantre [as read]. Asi — in sip the loss of the s of tās and as (Pā. 7-4-50); the prohibition of nighāta by hi ca. Havyavāhanaḥ — 'havyaṃ vahati'; ṇyuṭ by havye 'nantaḥpādam (Pā. 3-2-66); ana for yu; since it is ñit it is first-syllable acute, [but] the accent of the first member of a kṛt-ending compound prevails. Agne — because it begins a pāda the eighth-adhyāya nighāta does not come. Rathīḥ — a suffix ī in its own sense after ratha. Adhvarāṇām —'dhvaro nāsty eṣu', a bahuvrīhi; the latter member is final-acute by* nañ-subhyām. Suvīryam* — the latter member is first-syllable acute by vīravīryau ca. Asme — śe for the locative by supāṃ sulug….

Pratipadārtha (pp. 500–501) — "agne — O Agni, (you); juṣṭaḥ — served with confidence; dūtaḥ — the messenger of the gods; havyavāhanaḥ — bearer of oblations [to the deities]; adhvarāṇām — for sacrifices; rathīḥ — in the position of the charioteer; asi — you are (such); aśvibhyām — with the Aśvin deities; uṣasā — with the goddess Uṣas; sajūḥ — joining; suvīryam — excellent and heroic; bṛhat — abundant; śravaḥ — food; asme — to us; dhehi — grant."

Bhāvārtha (p. 501) — "O Agni, as you stand in the place of the manager for the sacrifices, carry the oblations and share them with all the gods, you are served with confidence by all, being the messenger of the gods. Joining with the Aśvin deities and with the goddess Uṣas, who are objects of the delight of all these gods, grant us food that is excellent, heroic and abundant."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 501) — "O Agni, you are well-liked messenger of the gods, the bearer of oblations, the conducter [sic] of sacrifices ; together with Ushas, and Aswins bestow upon us abundant and invigorating food."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 501 - juṣṭaḥ = juṣī prītisevanayoḥ — "one who is the object of the gods' love, or who is served by sacrificers and other people." - rathīḥ adhvarāṇām — "yajñānāṃ netā: the leader of sacrifices; one who carries sacrifices through. Rathīḥ here means one who drives a chariot; or rathī, one who drives a chariot — a charioteer, or a warrior. As a charioteer drives the chariot, so this Agni accomplishes the works of sacrifice in all their parts: so Agni stands to the chariot called sacrifice as the charioteer. On this point the commentator quotes the Brāhmaṇa sentences 'rathīr adhvarāṇām ity aiṣa hi devarathaḥ' and 'rathīr adhvarāṇām ity āha ratho vā eṣa bhūto devebhyo havyaṃ vahati'." - sajūḥ = sahito bhūtvā — "having joined." - śravo bṛhat — "abundant food, or nourishment."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 502–503 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - juṣṭaḥ: root juṣī prītisevanayoḥ; the suffix kta; śvīdito niṣṭhāyām (printed "Pā. 7-2-1" [as printed; for 7-2-14]): no iṭ before the kta and ktavatu suffixes after the roots śvi and idit roots; by ṣṭutva, juṣṭa; juṣṭārpite ca chandasi (Pā. 6-1-209): juṣṭa and arpita are optionally first-syllable acute in the Veda; nityaṃ mantre (Pā. 6-1-210): in a mantra they are always first-syllable acute. The print remarks that since the first rule already settles the sense this second sūtra need not be made, but that usage in the Veda is vyavasthita (fixed), so even optionality cannot prove final-acuteness, and the Śruti has final-acuteness in 'arpitāḥ ṣaṣṭir na calācalāsaḥ'; that would not be established by the sūtra nityaṃ mantre. - asi: root as bhuvi, laṭ, sip, śap → luk by adiprabhṛtibhyaḥ śapaḥ; tāsastyor lopaḥ — तासस्त्योर्लोपः — (Pā. 7-4-50): the loss of the s before a suffix beginning with s; the prohibition of nighāta since the verb is joined with hi (hi ca, Pā. 8-1-34). - havyavāhanaḥ: havye 'nantaḥpādam — हव्येऽनन्तःपादम् — (Pā. 3-2-66): after vah, ṇyuṭ when havya is the upapada; not when it stands within the pāda (here it does not); yuvor anākau: ana; upadhāvṛddhi; the ṇyuṭ is ñit [the ṇ], so first-syllable acute would arise; but by gatikārakopapadāt kṛt the accent of the first member stands.* - agne: begins a pāda; therefore the eighth-adhyāya unaccentedness does not apply; first-syllable acute by the sūtra of the sixth adhyāya (ṣāṣṭha sūtra).* - rathīḥ: root ramu krīḍāyām; hanikuṣinīramikāśibhyaḥ kthan (Uṇ. 2-159 as read; the middle digit is the ऽ shape): kthan; anudāttopadeśa… (Pā. 6-4-37) loss of m; the suffix comes in its own sense after ratha.* - adhvarāṇām: dhvaraḥ = injury;'na vidyate dhvaraḥ yeṣu te': a bahuvrīhi; by nañ-subhyām* the latter member is final-acute. ### Page 503

- suvīryam: vīra vīryau ca (Pā. 6-2-120): in a bahuvrīhi after su the words vīra and vīrya are first-syllable acute; vīrya is first-syllable acute.
- asme: supāṃ sulug…: śe for the locative; śeṣe lopaḥ: the loss of the d of asmad; the accent that follows the loss of an acute; if the loss of the final [ad] is chosen, asma + e, ato guṇe gives pararūpa, and the single-substitute accent comes. Rik 2 ends here (|| 2 ||).

Rik 44.3 (pp. 503–506, PDF 517–520; better scan PDF 518–521)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 503)

अ॒द्या दू॒तं वृ॑णीम॒हे॒ वसु॑मग्निं पु॑रुप्रि॒यम् । धू॒मके॑तुं भाऋ॑जीकं॒ व्यु॑ष्टिषु य॒ज्ञाना॑मध्व॒रश्रि॑यं॑म् ॥ ३ ॥

adyā́ dūtáṃ vṛṇīmahe vásum agníṃ purupriyám | dhūmáketuṃ bhā́ṛjīkaṃ vyuṣṭíṣu yajñā́nām adhvaraśríyam || 3 ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 503)

अद्य । दूतम् । वृणीमहे । वसुम् । अग्निम् । पुरुऽप्रियम् । धूमऽकेतुम् । भाःऽऋजीकम् । विऽउष्टिषु । यज्ञानाम् । अध्वरऽश्रियम् ॥ ३ ॥

adya | dūtam | vṛṇīmahe | vasum | agnim | puru-priyam | dhūma-ketum | bhāḥ-ṛjīkam | vi-uṣṭiṣu | yajñānām | adhvara-śriyam || 3 ||

(The Saṃhitā prints adyā with a long final vowel, the Pada adya*; the Pada prints* yajñānām where the Saṃhitā and the bhāṣya have the same.)

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (pp. 503–504)

> अद्यास्मिन्दिनेऽग्निं वृणीमहे । प्रार्थयामहे । कीदृशं । दूतं वार्ताहारं वसुं निवासहेतुं पुरुप्रियं बहूनां प्रियं धूमकेतुं धूमरूपध्वजयुक्तं भाऋजीकं प्रसिद्धभासालंकृतं । भाऋजीकः प्रसिद्धभाः । नि. ६-४ । इति यास्कवचनं । व्युष्टिषूषःकालेषु यज्ञानां यजमानानामध्वरश्रियं यागसेविनं ॥ अद्य । निपातस्य चेति दीर्घत्वं । पुरुप्रियं । पुरूणां प्रियः पुरुप्रियः । समासस्येत्यन्तोदात्तत्वं । धूमकेतुं । इषियुधीन्धीत्यादिना । उ. १-१४४ । धूमशब्दो मक्प्रत्ययान्तोऽन्तोदात्तः । बहुव्रीहौ पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं । भाऋजीकं । ऋजेश्च । उ. ४-२२ । इतीकन्प्रत्ययः । कित्त्वात्पूर्वानुवर्तनाद्गुणाभावः । भासः प्रकाशस्य ऋजीकः प्राजयिता । आद्युदात्तप्रकरणे दिवोदासादीनां छन्दस्युपसंख्यानं । पा. ६-२-९१-१ । इति पूर्वपदाद्युदात्तत्वं । यद्वा । भासोऽर्जनं यस्मिन् । बहुव्रीहौ पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं । व्युष्टिषु । उभी विवासे । विवासो वर्जनं । विशेषेणोच्छ्यन्ते तमसा वर्ज्यन्ते इति व्युष्टयः उषःकालाः । कर्मणि क्तिन् । तितुत्रेत्यादिनेट्प्रतिषेधः । व्रश्चादिना षत्वे ष्टुत्वं । तादौ चेति पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं । यणादेश उदात्तस्वरितयोर्यण इति परस्यानुदात्तस्य स्वरितत्वं । अध्वरश्रियं । अध्वरं श्रयत इत्यध्वरश्रीः । क्विब्वचीत्यादिना । उ. २-५७ । क्विप्प्रत्ययः । तत्सन्नियोगेन सम्प्रसारणाभावो दीर्घश्च । द्वितीयैकवचनेऽचिश्नुधात्वित्यादिनेयङादेशः ॥ ३ ॥

adyāsmin dine 'gniṃ vṛṇīmahe | prārthayāmahe | kīdṛśaṃ | dūtaṃ vārtāhāraṃ vasuṃ nivāsahetuṃ purupriyaṃ bahūnāṃ priyaṃ dhūmaketuṃ dhūmarūpadhvajayuktaṃ bhāṛjīkaṃ prasiddhabhāsālaṃkṛtaṃ | bhāṛjīkaḥ prasiddhabhāḥ | ni. 6-4 | iti yāskavacanaṃ | vyuṣṭiṣūṣaḥkāleṣu yajñānāṃ yajamānānām adhvaraśriyaṃ yāgasevinaṃ || adya | nipātasya ceti dīrghatvaṃ | purupriyaṃ | purūṇāṃ priyaḥ purupriyaḥ | samāsasyety antodāttatvaṃ | dhūmaketuṃ | iṣiyudhīndhīty ādinā | u. 1-144 | dhūmaśabdo makpratyayānto 'ntodāttaḥ | bahuvrīhau pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ | bhāṛjīkaṃ | ṛjeś ca | u. 4-22 | itīkanpratyayaḥ | kittvāt pūrvānuvartanād guṇābhāvaḥ | bhāsaḥ prakāśasya ṛjīkaḥ prājayitā | ādyudāttaprakaraṇe divodāsādīnāṃ chandasy upasaṃkhyānaṃ | pā. 6-2-91-1 | iti pūrvapadādyudāttatvaṃ | yadvā | bhāso 'rjanaṃ yasmin | bahuvrīhau pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ | vyuṣṭiṣu | ubhī vivāse | vivāso varjanaṃ | viśeṣeṇocchyante tamasā varjyante iti vyuṣṭayaḥ uṣaḥkālāḥ | karmaṇi ktin | titutretyādineṭpratiṣedhaḥ | vraścādinā ṣatve ṣṭutvaṃ | tādau ceti pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ | yaṇādeśa udāttasvaritayor yaṇa iti parasyānudāttasya svaritatvaṃ | adhvaraśriyaṃ | adhvaraṃ śrayata ity adhvaraśrīḥ | kvib vacītyādinā | u. 2-57 | kvippratyayaḥ | tatsanniyogena samprasāraṇābhāvo dīrghaś ca | dvitīyaikavacane 'ciśnudhātv ity ādineyaṅādeśaḥ || 3 ||

(Checked on the better scan, PDF 518–519: "yāgasevinaṃ" (the print breaks it "yāga-sevinaṃ" over a line), "tādau ca", Ni. 6-4, Uṇ. 1-144, 4-22, 2-57 (last digit the flat-footed 7), Pā. 6-2-91-1 (vārtika number as printed).)

Translation: "Adya, today, we vṛṇīmahe — we beg for — Agni. What kind? Dūtam, the carrier of tidings; vasum, the cause of dwelling; purupriyam, dear to many; dhūmaketum, having smoke as [his] banner; bhāṛjīkam, adorned with well-known radiance — 'bhāṛjīkaḥ: of famous radiance' is the statement of Yāska (Ni. 6-4); vyuṣṭiṣu, at the times of dawn, yajñānām, of the sacrificers, adhvaraśriyam, the [one] who resorts to [their] sacrifice (yāgasevinam). The tail (characterized): adya — the long vowel in the Saṃhitā by nipātasya ca; purupriyam — 'dear to many', final-acute by samāsasya; dhūmaketum — dhūma ends in the suffix mak by iṣiyudhīndhi… [Uṇ. 1-144], so is final-acute; in the bahuvrīhi the accent of the first member; bhāṛjīkam — īkan by ṛjeś ca [Uṇ. 4-22]; no guṇa because kit is carried forward; 'the ṛjīka, the driver, of bhāḥ, light'; first-syllable acute by the supplementary rule on divodāsa-type words [Pā. 6-2-91, vārtika 1]; or 'bhāso 'rjanaṃ yasmin', a bahuvrīhi with the accent of the first member; vyuṣṭiṣu — root ubhī vivāse, 'vivāsaḥ' is varjanam, '[times] when they are specially dispelled by darkness': vyuṣṭayaḥ, dawn times; ktin in the passive sense; the prohibition of iṭ by titutra…; ṣatva by vraścādi…, ṣṭutva; the accent of the first member; yaṇ and the svarita by udāttasvaritayor yaṇaḥ…; adhvaraśriyam — 'adhvaraṃ śrayate', adhvaraśrīḥ; kvip by kvib vacipracchi… [Uṇ. 2-57]; no saṃprasāraṇa and a long vowel in connection with it; in the accusative singular iyaṅ by aci śnudhātu…."

Pratipadārtha (p. 504) — "adya — today; dūtam — the messenger; vasum — the giver of dwelling; purupriyam — dear to the many; dhūmaketum — [him who has] a banner in the form of smoke; bhāṛjīkam — adorned with flame; vyuṣṭiṣu — at the times of dawn; yajñānām — of the performers of sacrifices; adhvaraśriyam — the support of the sacrifice; agnim — Agni; vṛṇīmahe — we choose, and beg."

Bhāvārtha (p. 504) — "The god Agni is wanted by all, divine and human. He carries the oblations to the gods and is the messenger. He is the giver of dwelling to all. He has a banner in the form of smoke and is adorned with flame. At the times of dawn he is the support of the sacrifice of the performers of sacrifices. We choose and beg for Agni, who is dear to many people, who is wondrous in these ways and who does good to many."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 504) — "We choose to-day Agni, as messenger ; Agni, the good, the beloved of many, the smoke-bannered, who shines with his brightness and who is the protector of the sacrificer at the break of day."

Page 505

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 505 - vasum = nivāsahetum — "one who is the cause of dwelling-places, i.e., who protects houses and the like: 'Protector of the dwellings'" (the English words are the source's). - purupriyam = purūṇāṃ priyam — "dear to many people." - dhūmaketum — "one who has smoke as his banner. That smoke is the banner of Agni is well known." - bhāṛjīkam — "prasiddhabhāsālaṃkṛtam | bhāṛjīkaḥ prasiddhabhāḥ (Ni. 6-4): adorned with radiance: one who shines brilliantly." - vyuṣṭiṣu — "vyuṣṭayaḥ uṣaḥkālāḥ teṣu: at the early-morning times." - adhvaraśriyam = adhvaraṃ śrayata ity adhvaraśrīḥ — "one who is served in the sacrifice; or one who has the chief wealth of the sacrifice, i.e. the chief person in the sacrifice."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 505–506 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - adya: nipātasya ca (Pā. 6-3-139 [as printed; for 6-3-136]): a particle in a mantra takes the long vowel. - purupriyam: "purūṇām = to many; priyaḥ = one who is an object of affection"; samāsasya (Pā. 6-1-223): the end of the compound is acute, so final-acute. - dhūmaketum: root dhūñ kampane; iṣiyudhīndhidasiśyādhūsūbhyo mak (Uṇ. 1-148, as printed here; the bhāṣya gives 1-144): mak, which is kit, so no guṇa; final-acute from the suffix accent; 'dhūmaḥ ketur yasya saḥ', a bahuvrīhi, the accent of the first member by bahuvrīhau prakṛtyā pūrvapadam. - bhāṛjīkam: root ṛja gatisthānārjanopārjaneṣu; ṛjeś ca — ऋजेश्च — (Uṇ. 4-462, as printed here; the bhāṣya gives 4-22): the suffix īkan — kit is carried forward from the previous rule iṣeḥ kid dhrasvaś ca, so no guṇa; 'bhāsaḥ = of light, ṛjīkaḥ = one who gives rise to it'; ādyudāttaprakaraṇe divodāsādīnāṃ chandasy upasaṃkhyānam gives first-syllable acute to the first member; or 'bhāso 'rjanaṃ yasmin saḥ', a bahuvrīhi with the accent of the first member. ### Page 506

- vyuṣṭiṣu: "ubhī vivāse: vivāsa means leaving; 'they are specially left by darkness': vyuṣṭayaḥ, the times of dawn, which are specially dispelled; ktin in the passive sense after vi + uṣ; titutratatha… prohibits iṭ; vraścabhrasja… (no number printed) ṣ for ś; uṣ + ti; ṣṭunā ṣṭuḥ gives ṣṭ: uṣṭi; tādau ca kṛti nityatau (so printed; printed"Pā. 6-2-5" [as printed; for 6-2-50]; the last group has one digit, ५): before a kṛt beginning with a t the gati is always [given] its natural accent, even for a non-t-initial kṛt that is nit; so vi keeps the accent; iko yaṇaci gives y; udāttasvaritayor yaṇaḥ svarito 'nudāttasya gives the svarita to the following unaccented vowel [u]."
- adhvaraśriyam: "adhvaraṃ śrayate": root śriñ sevāyām; kvib vacipracchiśrisrudruprajñāṃ dīrgho 'saṃprasāraṇaṃ ca (Uṇ. 2-216, as printed here; the bhāṣya gives 2-57): kvip after the roots vac paribhāṣaṇe, pracch jñīpsāyām, śriñ sevāyām, sru gatau, dru gatau, vṛj gatau, ju gatau [a sautra root], with a long vowel and without saṃprasāraṇa; adhvara is the upapada of the root śri; the accusative singular am; adhvaraśrī + am: the ī here stands after a root and conjunction (dhātvavayavasaṃyogapūrvaka); so eranekācaḥ… (no number printed) yaṇ does not come; aci śnudhātubhruvāṃ yvor iyaṅuvaṅau (Pā. 6-4-77): iyaṅ, uvaṅ for the final i, u of a root and of śnu, bhrū before an ajādi suffix: adhvaraśriy + am. Rik 3 ends here (|| 3 ||).

Rik 44.4 (pp. 506–509, PDF 520–523; better scan PDF 521–524)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 506 foot)

> श्रेष्ठं यविष्ठमतिथिं स्वाहुतं जुष्टं जनाय दाशुषे । देवाँ अच्छा यातवे जातवेदसमग्निमीळे व्युष्टिषु ॥
> [accent ?]

śreṣṭhaṃ yáviṣṭham átithiṃ svāhutaṃ júṣṭaṃ jánāya dāśúṣe | devắṁ́ acchā yātave jātávedasam agním īḷe vyuṣṭiṣu || [accent ?]

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. [accent ?]: the anudātta bar in acchā begins at the joint of a and cchā*; read as* cchā*. The print gives only "॥" after the Ṛk, without the number 4.)*

Page 507

Pada-pāṭha (p. 507)

> श्रेष्ठम् । यविष्ठम् । अतिथिम् । सुऽआहुतम् । जुष्टम् । जनाय । दाशुषे । देवान् । अच्छ । यातवे । जातऽवेदसम् । अग्निम् । ईळे । विऽउष्टिषु ॥ ४ ॥

śreṣṭham | yaviṣṭham | atithim | su-āhutam | juṣṭam | janāya | dāśuṣe | devān | accha | yātave | jāta-vedasam | agnim | īḷe | vi-uṣṭiṣu || 4 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 507)

व्युष्टिषूषःकालेषु देवान् इतरान्सर्वदेवानच्छाभिमुख्येन यातवे गन्तुमग्निं देवमीळे । स्तौमि । कीदृशं । श्रेष्ठमतिशयेन प्रशस्तं यविष्ठं युवतमम् अतिथिं सततगमनक्षमं स्वाहुतं सुष्ठु आ समन्ताद्धोमाधिकरणं दाशुषे हविर्दत्तवते जनाय यजमानाय जुष्टं प्रीतं जातवेदसं जातानां वेदितारम् ॥ यविष्ठं । युवशब्दादिष्ठनि स्थूलदूरेत्यादिना यणादेः परस्य लोपः । पूर्वस्य च गुणः । अवादेशः । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वं । अतिथिं । अत सातत्यगमने । ऋतन्यञ्जीत्यादिना । उ. ४-२ । इथिन्प्रत्ययः । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वं । स्वाहुतं । हु दानादनयोः । आहूयतेऽस्मिन्नित्याहुतः । सुः पूजायां । पा. १-४-९४ । इति सुशब्दस्य कर्मप्रवचनीयसंज्ञायां स्वती पूजायां । पा. २-२-१८ । इति समासः । अव्यये पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं । न च गतिकारकोपपदात्कृदिति गतेः प्रकृतिस्वरत्वं । अस्य सुशब्दस्य गतिसंज्ञाया बाधितत्वात् ॥

vyuṣṭiṣūṣaḥkāleṣu devān itarān sarvadevān acchābhimukhyena yātave gantum agniṃ devam īḷe | staumi | kīdṛśaṃ | śreṣṭham atiśayena praśastaṃ yaviṣṭhaṃ yuvatamam atithiṃ satatagamanakṣamaṃ svāhutaṃ suṣṭhu ā samantād homādhikaraṇaṃ dāśuṣe havirdattavate janāya yajamānāya juṣṭaṃ prītaṃ jātavedasaṃ jātānāṃ veditāram || yaviṣṭhaṃ | yuvaśabdād iṣṭhani sthūladūretyādinā yaṇādeḥ parasya lopaḥ | pūrvasya ca guṇaḥ | avādeśaḥ | nittvād ādyudāttatvaṃ | atithiṃ | ata sātatyagamane | ṛtanyañjītyādinā | u. 4-2 | ithinpratyayaḥ | nittvād ādyudāttatvaṃ | svāhutaṃ | hu dānādanayoḥ | āhūyate 'smin ity āhutaḥ | suḥ pūjāyāṃ | pā. 1-4-94 | iti suśabdasya karmapravacanīyasaṃjñāyāṃ svatī pūjāyāṃ | pā. 2-2-18 | iti samāsaḥ | avyaye pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ | na ca gatikārakopapadāt kṛd iti gateḥ prakṛtisvaratvaṃ | asya suśabdasya gatisaṃjñāyā bādhitatvāt ||

(Checked on the better scan, PDF 522: Uṇ. 4-2, Pā. 1-4-94, 2-2-18; the clause "sthūladūretyādinā yaṇādeḥ parasya lopaḥ" is clear.)

Translation: "Vyuṣṭiṣu, at the times of dawn, devān, the other gods, all the gods, acchā, facing [them], yātave, to go, I praise the god Agni. What kind? Śreṣṭham, exceedingly praised; yaviṣṭham, the youngest; atithim, one able to go constantly; svāhutam, well and on all sides the place of offering; juṣṭam, dear, dāśuṣe janāya, to the man who has given the oblation, the sacrificer; jātavedasam, the knower of the born. The tail (characterized): yaviṣṭham — iṣṭhan after yuvan; the loss of what follows [the y] by sthūladūra…; guṇa of the preceding; av-substitution; first-syllable acute since nit; atithim — root ata sātatyagamane; ithin by ṛtanyañji… [Uṇ. 4-2 [?]]; first-syllable acute as nit; svāhutam — root hu dānādanayoḥ; 'āhūyate 'smin': āhutaḥ; su in the sense of honour, with karmapravacanīya name [Pā. 1-4-94 [?]], compounded by svatī pūjāyām [Pā. 2-2-18]; the accent of the first member as an indeclinable; the gati accent by gatikārakopapadāt kṛt does not come, since the gati name of this su is barred."

Pratipadārtha (p. 507) — "vyuṣṭiṣu — at the times of dawn; devān — [other] gods; acchā — facing; yātave — in order to go [so as to bring them here]; śreṣṭham — [him who is] exceedingly worshipful; yaviṣṭham — exceedingly young; atithim — one who always has the power to go; svāhutam — one who is offered oblations all round; dāśuṣe — of the giver of oblations; janāya — to the sacrificer; juṣṭam — one who is an object of love; jātavedasam — one who knows all things that are born; agnim — the god Agni; īḷe — I praise."

(The Bhāvārtha, the source's English, the Special Topics and the grammar of Rik 4 begin on p. 508, not yet written.)

Rik 44.4, continued (from p. 508)

Bhāvārtha (p. 508) — “The god Agni is endowed with most excellent qualities. He is worthy of the worship of all; exceedingly youthful; he has the power to go about constantly; he is the one to whom oblations are offered all round; the giver of oblations [to the gods]; the object of the love of the sacrificer; beneficial to all and knowing all that is born. We pray to and praise such a god Agni at the times of dawn, that he may go to bring the other gods to the place of sacrifice.”

English Translation (the source’s own, p. 508) — “I praise Agni at the break of day, the best among gods, the youthful, the guest of the sacrifice, universally invoked, who is friendly to the man who offers oblation, who knows all that are born, that he may go to bring the gods to the sacrifice.”

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 508 - yaviṣṭham = atiśayena yuvā yaviṣṭhaḥ tam — “the youthful; the very young.” - atithim = ata sātatyagamane — “one who always goes to the gods or, in a sacrifice, to the sacrificer’s side; or one who is called like a guest: ‘Guest’” (the English word is the source’s). - svāhutam = hu dānādanayoḥ | āhūyate ’smin ity āhutaḥ | suṣṭhu āhutaḥ svāhutaḥ tam — “one who is called, invited, in sacrifices and so on.” - juṣṭaṃ janāya dāśuṣe — “dear to the sacrificer who offers oblations.” - acchā — “chiefly, specially, exceedingly; in the Saṃhitā text the final syllable is long for the convenience of the Veda.” - yātave = gantum — “in order to go; in order to go to bring the gods.” - jātavedasam — “the explanation of this word was given in the first ṛk of this sūkta.”

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 508–509 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - yaviṣṭham: root yu miśraṇāmiśraṇayoḥ; kanin yuvṛṣitakṣi… (no number printed): kanin, with uvaṅ: yuvan; “atiśayena yuvā”; [p. 509] atiśāyane tamabiṣṭhanau (Pā. 5-3-55) — iṣṭhan; sthūladūrayuvahrasvakṣiprakṣudrāṇāṃ yaṇādiparaṃ pūrvasya ca guṇaḥ — स्थूलदूरयुवह्रस्वक्षिप्रक्षुद्राणां यणादिपरं पूर्वस्य च गुणः — (printed “Pā. 6-4-56” [as printed; for 6-4-156]): before iṣṭhan, imanic and īyasun the part of sthūla, dūra, yuvan, hrasva, kṣipra, kṣudra beginning with the yaṇ [letter] is lost, and the preceding [vowel] takes guṇa: in yuvan the v and what follows [an] are lost; yu takes guṇa: yo + iṣṭha; av-substitution: yaviṣṭha; the suffix is nit, so by ñnityādir nityam the suffix-ending [syllable] is acute; accusative singular am; ami pūrvaḥ the prior form. - atithim: the Uṇādi sūtra beginning ṛtanyañji… (Uṇ. 4-442, as printed here; the bhāṣya gives 4-2): it lists twelve (printed “12”) roots ṛ gatau, tanu vistāre, añjū vyaktyādau, vana yācane, añjū vyaktrakāntigatiṣu, yu miśraṇe, with the twelve suffixes kathin, yatuc, alic, iṣṭan, iṣmac, ṭhan, syan, ithin, ulī, tasa, āsa, ānuk; here, after the root ata sātatyagamane, the suffix ithin: at + ithi = atithi; first-syllable acute by nit; ami pūrvaḥ. (The long list of roots and suffixes in the sūtra is crowded and not reproduced.) - svāhutam: root hu dānādanayoḥ; “āhūyate ’smin”: kta; no guṇa; a compound with the particle su in the sense of honour; suḥ pūjāyām — सुः पूजायाम् — (Pā. 1-4-94): su in the sense of honour takes the name karmapravacanīya; kugatiprādayaḥ (Pā. 2-2-18) — here, in the vārttika svatī pūjāyām, su and ati in the sense of honour compound; the accent of the first member as an indeclinable by tatpuruṣe tulyārthatṛtīyā…; since the karmapravacanīya name bars the gati name, gatikārakopapadāt kṛt gives the accent of the latter kṛt member. Rik 4 ends here (|| 4 ||).

Rik 44.5 (pp. 510–512, PDF 524–526; better scan PDF 525–527)

Page 510

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 510)

> स्तविष्यामि त्वामहं विश्वस्यामृत भोजन । अग्ने त्रातारममृतं मियेध्य यजिष्ठं हव्यवाहन ॥

staviṣyāmi tvām ahāṃ viśvasyāmṛta bhojana | ágne trātāram amṛtaṃ miyedhya yájiṣṭhaṃ havyavāhana ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. The print gives only "॥" after the Saṃhitā; the Pada ends "॥ 5 ॥".)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 510)

> स्तविष्यामि । त्वाम् । अहम् । विश्वस्य । अमृत । भोजन । अग्ने । त्रातारम् । अमृतम् । मियेध्य । यजिष्ठम् । हव्यऽवाहन ॥ ५ ॥

staviṣyāmi | tvām | aham | viśvasya | amṛta | bhojana | agne | trātāram | amṛtam | miyedhya | yajiṣṭham | havya-vāhana || 5 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 510)

> हे अमृत मरणरहित विश्वस्य भोजन कृत्स्नस्य जगतः पालक हव्यवाहन हविषो वोढः मियेध्य यज्ञार्ह एवंविध हे अग्ने विश्वस्य त्रातारं सर्वस्य जगतो रक्षकममृतं मरणरहितं यजिष्ठमतिशयेन यष्टारं त्वामहमनुष्ठाता स्तविष्यामि । स्तुतिं करिष्यामि ॥ स्तविष्यामि । ष्टुञ् स्तुतौ । व्यत्ययेनेडागमः । आगमानुदात्तत्वे प्रत्ययस्वरः । भोजन । कर्मफलं भोजयतीति भोजनः । नन्द्यादिलक्षणो ल्युः । त्रातारं । त्रैङ् पालने । आदेच इत्यात्वं । तृच्येकाच उपदेश इतीट्प्रतिषेधः । अमृतं । नञोजरमरमित्रमृताः इत्युत्तरपदाद्युदात्तत्वं । मियेध्य । इयागमश्छान्दसः । यजिष्ठं । यष्टृशब्दात्तुश्छन्दसीतीष्ठन्प्रत्ययः । तुरिष्ठेमेयस्सिवति तृलोपः ॥ २८ ॥

he amṛta maraṇarahita viśvasya bhojana kṛtsnasya jagataḥ pālaka havyavāhana haviṣo voḍhaḥ miyedhya yajñārha evaṃvidha he agne viśvasya trātāraṃ sarvasya jagato rakṣakam amṛtaṃ maraṇarahitaṃ yajiṣṭham atiśayena yaṣṭāraṃ tvām aham anuṣṭhātā staviṣyāmi | stutiṃ kariṣyāmi || staviṣyāmi | ṣṭuñ stutau | vyatyayeneḍāgamaḥ | āgamānudāttatve pratyayasvaraḥ | bhojana | karmaphalaṃ bhojayatīti bhojanaḥ | nandyādilakṣaṇo lyuḥ | trātāraṃ | traiṅ pālane | ādeca ity ātvaṃ | tṛcy ekāca upadeśa itīṭpratiṣedhaḥ | amṛtaṃ | nañ jaramaramitramṛtāḥ ity uttarapadādyudāttatvaṃ | miyedhya | iyāgamaś chāndasaḥ | yajiṣṭhaṃ | yaṣṭṛśabdāt tuś chandasītīṣṭhanpratyayaḥ | turiṣṭhemeyassv iti tṛlopaḥ || 28 ||

(The bhāṣya closes with "॥ 28 ॥" (curled 2, ৩-shaped 8, zoom-checked): the number of the varga that ends here (Varga 28 = Ṛks 1–5), not the Ṛk number.)

Translation: "O deathless one, viśvasya bhojana, protector of the whole world; havyavāhana, bearer of oblations; miyedhya, worthy of sacrifice; O Agni, such as you are — trātāram, protector of all the world; amṛtam, deathless; yajiṣṭham, the best sacrificer — you I, the performer, staviṣyāmi, will praise. Staviṣyāmi: root ṣṭuñ stutau; the augment iṭ by vyatyaya; since the augment is unaccented, the accent of the suffix. Bhojana: 'karmaphalaṃ bhojayati'; lyu by nandyādi…. Trātāram: root traiṅ pālane; ā by ādeca…; the prohibition of iṭ by tṛn…ekāca upadeśe. Amṛtam: first-syllable acute of the latter member by nañ jaramaramitramṛtāḥ. Miyedhya: the augment iya is Vedic. Yajiṣṭham: iṣṭhan after yaṣṭṛ by tuś chandasi; the loss of tṛ by turiṣṭhemeyassu."

Pratipadārtha (p. 510) — "amṛta — [you who are] deathless; viśvasya — of the whole world; bhojana — [you who] make [it] enjoy the fruit of its own actions, or [who] nourish all the world; havyavāhana — you who bear oblations; miyedhya — you who are worthy of sacrifice; agne — O Agni; trātāram — [you who are] the protector of the world; amṛtam — deathless; yajiṣṭham — the best performer of sacrifices; tvām — you; staviṣyāmi — I will praise."

Page 511

Bhāvārtha (p. 511) — "O Agni, you are deathless. You cause all the worlds to enjoy the fruits of their respective actions. You nourish the whole world. You bear oblations. You are worthy of sacrifice. You are the protector of the world and the best performer of sacrifices. I praise you who are endowed with such excellent qualities."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 511) — "O Agni, immortal, protector of the universe, bearer of oblations, deserver of sacrifices, I will praise you, who are immortal, preserver and the sacrificer."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 511 - amṛta — "deathless; 'one who is exempt from death' (English as printed). This word is used twice in this ṛk." - bhojana = pālaka — "protector; or 'karmaphalaṃ bhojayatīti bhojanaḥ': one who makes men enjoy the fruits of the rites such as sacrifice, i.e. who gives the wished-for things which are the fruits of acts." - trātāram = traiṅ pālane — "protector, guardian." - miyedhya = yajñārha — "one who is fit to be worshipped in the sacrifice." - yajiṣṭham = yaṣṭāram — "one who accomplishes the rites of sacrifice." - havyavāhana — "one who carries the oblations to the gods."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 511–512 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - staviṣyāmi: root ṣṭuñ stutau, an ajanta root; the commentators on the kārikā "ūdṛdantaiḥ…" list the udāttas; this root does not belong among them, so it is anudātta; by ekāca upadeśe 'nudāttāt the prohibition of iṭ would properly come; but by vyatyayo bahulam the iṭ comes; lṛṭ, uttama singular mip (the print says "bahuvacana" [sic]); stu + mi; sye: syatāsī lṛluṭoḥ (no number printed) gives sya; stu + sya + mi; iṭ as said before; guṇa, av-substitution; ato dīrgho yañi (Pā. 7-3-101) the long vowel; ādeśapratyayayoḥ gives ṣ; āgamā anudāttāḥ: the iṭ is unaccented; mip is pit, so unaccented; the root accent stands. ### Page 512

- bhojana: root bhuja pālanābhyavahārayoḥ, rudhādi; ṇic; nandigrahi… (no number printed): lyu, ana for yu; ṇeraniṭi: the loss of ṇic; the penultimate guṇa; "bhojayati" means 'makes [one] enjoy the fruits of action'. If the sense of protection is taken, 'bhunakti iti bhojanaḥ': the vocative; no ṇic is needed. Āmantritasya ca (Pā. 8-1-19) gives the wholly-unaccented.
- trātāram: root traiṅ pālane; ādeca upadeśe 'śiti: ā for ai; ṇvultṛcau (no number printed): tṛc; ekāca upadeśe… prohibits iṭ; trātṛ + am; ṛto ṅisarvanāmasthānayoḥ (Pā.

7-3-110) guṇa of the final ṛ… with ar; āp-tṛn-tṛc… (Pā. 6-4-11) the lengthening of the penultimate: trātāram.

- amṛtam: nañ jaramaramitramṛtāḥ (Pā. 6-2-116): in a bahuvrīhi, after nañ, the words jara, mara, mitra, mṛta are first-syllable acute; so mṛta is first-syllable acute.
- miyedhya: "explained at (Ṛg. Saṃ. 1-36-9)" (as printed).
- yajiṣṭham: root yaja devapūjādau; tṛc; vraścabhrasja… gives ṣ and ṣṭutva; yaṣṭṛ + iṣṭhan by tuś chandasi; turiṣṭhemeyassu the loss of ṭṛ; accusative singular am: yajiṣṭham. Rik 5 ends here (|| 5 ||).

Rik 44.6 (pp. 512–516, PDF 526–530; better scan PDF 527–531)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 512)

> सुशंसो॑ बोधि गृणते यविष्ठ्य॒ मधु॑जिह्वः स्वा॑हुतः । [accent ?] प्रस्क॑ण्वस्य प्रति॒रन्नायु॑र्जी॒वसे॑ नम॒स्या दैव्यं॒ जन॑म् ॥ ६ ॥

suśáṃso bodhi gṛṇaté yaviṣṭhya mádhujihvaḥ svāhutaḥ | [accent ?] práskaṇvasya pratirann ắyur jīváse namasyā́ daivyaṃ jánam || 6 ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. [accent ?]: the anudātta bar in gṛṇate lies at the joint of gṛ and ṇa*; read as* ṇa*.)*

Page 513

Pada-pāṭha (p. 513)

> सुऽशंसः । बोधि । गृणते । यविष्ठ्य । मधुऽजिह्वः । सुऽआहुतः । प्रस्कण्वस्य । प्रऽतिरन् । आयुः । जीवसे । नमस्य । दैव्यम् । जनम् ॥ ६ ॥

su-śaṃsaḥ | bodhi | gṛṇate | yaviṣṭhya | madhu-jihvaḥ | su-āhutaḥ | praskaṇvasya | pra-tiran | āyuḥ | jīvase | namasya | daivyam | janam || 6 ||

(The Saṃhitā prints namasyā*, the Pada* namasya*.)*

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 513)

> हे यविष्ठ्य युवतमाग्ने त्वं गृणते स्तुवते यजमानार्थं सुशंसः सुष्ठु शंसनीयो मधुजिह्वो मादयित्रज्वालः स्वाहुतः सुष्ठु अभिमुख्येन हुतः सन् बोधि । अस्मदभिप्रायं बुध्यस्व । किंच प्रस्कण्वस्यैतन्नामकस्य कण्वपुत्रस्य महर्षेः । प्रस्कण्वः कण्वस्य पुत्रः कण्वप्रभवः । नि. ३-१२ । इति यास्कवचनात् । तस्य जीवसे जीवनार्थमायुः प्रतिरन् प्रकर्षेण वर्धयन् दैव्यं देवसम्बन्धिनं जनं नमस्य । पूजय ॥ सुशंसः । शन्सु स्तुतौ । भावे घञ् । शोभनः शंसो यस्यासौ सुशंसः । आद्युदात्तं द्व्यच्छन्दसीत्युत्तरपदाद्युदात्तत्वं । बोधि । बुध अवगमने । लोटो हिः । बहुलं छन्दसीति विकरणस्य लुक् । हुझल्भ्यो हेर्धिरिति हेर्धिरादेशः । वा छन्दसीत्यपित्त्वस्य विकल्पितत्वाल्लघूपधगुणः । धातोरन्त्यलोपश्छान्दसः । गृणते । गृ शब्दे । लटः शतृ । क्र्यादिभ्यः श्ना । श्नाभ्यस्तयोरात इत्याकारलोपः । शतुरनुम इति विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वं । यविष्ठ्य । गतं । प्रस्कण्वस्य । प्रभूतिरुत्पत्तिः कण्वाद्यस्य स प्रस्कण्वः । प्रस्कण्वहरिश्चन्द्रावृषी । पा. ६-१-१५३ । इति सुडागमो निपातितः । बहुव्रीहौ पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं । प्रतिरन् ।

प्रपूर्वस्तिरतिर्वर्धनार्थः । नमस्य । नमोवरिवश्चित्रङः क्यच् । क्यजिति पूजार्थे क्यच् । प्रत्ययस्वरः । अन्येषामपि दृश्यत इति संहितायां दीर्घत्वं । दैव्यं । देवाद्यञ्औ । पा. ४-१-८५-३ । इति तस्येदमित्यर्थे प्राग्दीव्यतीयो यञ्प्रत्ययः ॥

he yaviṣṭhya yuvatamāgne tvaṃ gṛṇate stuvate yajamānārthaṃ suśaṃsaḥ suṣṭhu śaṃsanīyo madhujihvo mādayitrajvālaḥ svāhutaḥ suṣṭhu abhimukhyena hutaḥ san bodhi | asmadabhiprāyaṃ budhyasva | kiṃca praskaṇvasyaitannāmakasya kaṇvaputrasya maharṣeḥ | praskaṇvaḥ kaṇvasya putraḥ kaṇvaprabhavaḥ | ni. 3-12 | iti yāskavacanāt | tasya jīvase jīvanārtham āyuḥ pratiran prakarṣeṇa vardhayan daivyaṃ devasambandhinaṃ janaṃ namasya | pūjaya || suśaṃsaḥ | śansu stutau | bhāve ghañ | śobhanaḥ śaṃso yasyāsau suśaṃsaḥ | ādyudāttaṃ dvyac chandasīty uttarapadādyudāttatvaṃ | bodhi | budha avagamane | loṭo hiḥ | bahulaṃ chandasīti vikaraṇasya luk | hujhalbhyo her dhir iti her dhirādeśaḥ | vā chandasīty apittvasya vikalpitatvāl laghūpadhaguṇaḥ | dhātor antyalopaś chāndasaḥ | gṛṇate | gṝ śabde | laṭaḥ śatṛ | kryādibhyaḥ śnā | śnābhyastayor āta ity ākāralopaḥ | śatur anuma iti vibhaktyudāttatvaṃ | yaviṣṭhya | gataṃ | praskaṇvasya | prabhūtir utpattiḥ kaṇvād yasya sa praskaṇvaḥ | praskaṇvaharicandrāv ṛṣī | pā. 6-1-153 | iti suḍāgamo nipātitaḥ | bahuvrīhau pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ | pratiran | prapūrvas tiratir vardhanārthaḥ | namasya | namovariväścitraṅaḥ kyac | kyaji ti pūjārthe kyac | pratyayasvaraḥ | anyeṣām api dṛśyata iti saṃhitāyāṃ dīrghatvaṃ | daivyaṃ | devād yañau | pā. 4-1-85 [?] | iti tasyedam ity arthe prāgdīvyatīyo yañpratyayaḥ || 6 ||

(Checked on the better scan, PDF 528: the clause reads "vā chandasīty apittvasya vikalpitatvāl laghūpadhaguṇaḥ"; Ni. 3-12, Pā. 6-1-153, 4-1-85-3 (as printed, with a vārtika number); the bhāṣya ends "॥" without a number.)

Translation: "O yaviṣṭhya, youngest Agni, you, for the sacrificer who gṛṇate, praises [you], suśaṃsaḥ, to be well praised; madhujihvaḥ, sweet-tongued — the flame that delights; svāhutaḥ, well offered to, facing [us] — being such, bodhi, understand our intention. And moreover: of praskaṇvasya, of the great ṛṣi so named, the son of Kaṇva ('Praskaṇva is Kaṇva's son, born of Kaṇva', by Yāska's statement (Ni. 3-12)), jīvase, for his life, āyuḥ pratiran, greatly prolonging [his] span of life, daivyam janam, the people belonging to the gods, namasya, honour [or: worship]. Suśaṃsaḥ: root śansu stutau; ghañ in the abstract; 'śobhanaḥ śaṃso yasya'; the latter member is first-syllable acute by ādyudāttaṃ dvyac chandasi. Bodhi: root budha avagamane; the hi of loṭ; śap elided by bahulaṃ chandasi; dhi for hi by hujhalbhyo her dhiḥ; [guṇa of the light penultimate, the clause crowded [?]]; the loss of the final of the root is Vedic. Gṛṇate: root gṝ śabde; śatṛ for laṭ; śnā of the kryādi; loss of ā by śnābhyastayor ātaḥ; the ending acute by śatur anumaḥ. Yaviṣṭhya: [the process] has been given. Praskaṇvasya: 'prabhūti', arising, from Kaṇva, of whom [he is]: praskaṇvaḥ; the augment suṭ is irregularly given in praskaṇvaharicandrāv ṛṣī [Pā. 6-1-153]; the accent of the first member in the bahuvrīhi. Pratiran: tira with pra in the sense of increasing. Namasya: kyac by namovariväścitraṅaḥ kyac in the sense of honour; accent of the suffix; the long vowel in the Saṃhitā by anyeṣām api dṛśyate. Daivyam: yañ of the prāgdīvyatīya group in the sense tasyedam, by devād yañau [Pā. 4-1-85 [?]]."

Pratipadārtha (pp. 513–514) — "yaviṣṭhya — O Agni, the youngest; gṛṇate — [for you] the sacrificer who praises; suśaṃsaḥ — one who is praised by us; madhujihvaḥ — [one with] a tongue of delight; svāhutaḥ — [one] to whom oblations are offered on all sides; bodhi — know [our wish]; praskaṇvasya — of the great ṛṣi named Praskaṇva, son of Kaṇva; jīvase — for life; āyuḥ — length of life; pratiran — increasing well; daivyam — the belonging to the gods; janam — the person; namasya — honour."

Page 514

Bhāvārtha (p. 514) — "O Agni, because oblations are offered to you on every side, your flame rises up attractively and makes all rejoice. We, the sacrificers who praise you, sing your qualities. Understand their purpose well and fulfil the wishes of the sacrificer. You are very youthful. Make Praskaṇva's life shine and increase his span of life. Honour the people who belong to the gods."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 514) — "O most youthful Agni, you are sweet-tongued and universally invoked ; you are praised by us on behalf of the worshipper ; worship the celestial man (god) and thereby prolong Praskanwa's life that he may live long."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 514–515 - suśaṃsaḥ = suṣṭhu śaṃsanīyaḥ — "one who is well praised." - gṛṇate = gṝ śabde — "for the sacrificer who praises." - āyuḥ jīvase — "to live many days; long life." - daivyaṃ janam = daivasambandhinaṃ janam — "the people who belong to the gods, i.e. the deities." - madhujihvaḥ = mādayitṛjvālaḥ — "one whose tongue has a taste for sweet oblations — ghee and other liquid [oblations]. For a detailed discussion of the sense of this word see Ṛgveda Saṃhitā, part 2, page 539" (a cross-reference to an earlier volume of the same edition). - svāhutaḥ — "the sense of this word has been given in the fourth ṛk of this sūkta." - praskaṇvasya — "the son of the ṛṣi Kaṇva is called Praskaṇva. In the Ṛgveda this ṛṣi is the ṛṣi of the sūktas 44 to 50 in the first maṇḍala, the 49th sūkta in the eighth maṇḍala and the 95th sūkta in the ninth maṇḍala — altogether 97 ṛks in these sūktas. The family of the ṛṣi Kaṇva is very famous: the ṛṣis of the sūktas of the eighth maṇḍala are Kaṇva and members of the family of the ṛṣi Kaṇva." (Numerals zoom-checked on the better scan, PDF 529: 44–50, 49, 95, 97; the 7 of 97 is the looped glyph.)

Page 515

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 515–516 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - suśaṃsaḥ: root śansu stutau; ghañ in the abstract; "śobhanaṃ śaṃso yasya saḥ", a bahuvrīhi; the accent of the first member would come, but ādyudāttaṃ dvyac chandasi — आद्युदात्तं द्व्यच्छन्दसि — (Pā. 6-2-119): in the Veda, in a bahuvrīhi after su, a latter member of two syllables that is first-syllable acute stays so; so first-syllable acute for the latter member. - bodhi: root budha avagamane, loṭ, sip; hi; bahulaṃ chandasi (Pā. 2-4-73) elides śap; hujhalbhyo her dhiḥ (Pā. 6-4-101): dhi; serhyapicca (no number printed): hi is apit; vā chandasi (Pā. 3-4-88): in the Veda hi is optionally pit; so the optional pit-ness is established; if it is not pit, sārvadhātukam apit makes it ṅit and kṅiti ca would prohibit guṇa — it does not prohibit here; the final letter [dh] of the root is lost by Vedic usage. - gṛṇate: root gṝ śabde; laṭ → śatṛ; śnā; pvādīnāṃ hrasvaḥ: shortening; śnābhyastayor ātaḥ (Pā. 6-4-112): the loss of the ā; śatur anumo nadyajādī (Pā. 6-1-173): the ending ṅe [print: je] is acute. - yaviṣṭhya: "explained at (Ṛg. Saṃ. 1-36-6)." - praskaṇvasya: "pra means origin, from the sage Kaṇva, of whom [he is]; a bahuvrīhi; praskaṇvahariścandrāv ṛṣī — प्रस्कण्वहरिश्चन्द्रावृषी — (Pā. 6-1-153): the augment suṭ is irregularly given in praskaṇva and hariścandra when a ṛṣi is meant; the accent of the first member." - pratiran: the root tira with pra in the sense of increase. - namasya:

namovarivaścitraṅaḥ kyac — नमोवरिवश्चित्रङः क्यच् — (Pā. 3-1-19): by the vārttika namasaḥ pūjāyām kyac after namas in the sense of honour; accent of the suffix; anyeṣām api dṛśyate: the long vowel in the Saṃhitā. ### Page 516

- daivyam: devād yañañau — देवाद्यञ्ञौ — (Pā. 4-1-85-3, as printed): yañ and añ after deva in the prāgdīvyatīya senses; tasyedam: yañ; taddhiteṣv acām ādeḥ vṛddhi; yasyeti ca the loss of the a of daiva, daivya; am; pūrvarūpa. Rik 6 ends here (|| 6 ||).

Rik 44.7 (pp. 516–518, PDF 530–532; better scan PDF 531–533)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 516)

> होतारं विश्ववेदसꣳ सं हि त्वा विशꣳ इन्धते । स आ वह पुरुहूत प्रचेतसोऽग्ने देवाँ इह द्रवत् ॥ ७ ॥

hótāraṃ viśvávedasaṃ sáṃ hi tvā víśa indháte | sa ā́ vaha puruhūta prácetasó 'gne devā́m̐ ihá dravát || 7 ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 516)

> होतारम् । विश्वऽवेदसम् । सम् । हि । त्वा । विशः । इन्धते । सः । आ । वह । पुरुऽहूत । प्रऽचेतः । अग्ने । देवान् । इह । द्रवत् ॥ ७ ॥

hotāram | viśva-vedasam | sam | hi | tvā | viśaḥ | indhate | saḥ | ā | vaha | puru-hūta | pra-cetaḥ | agne | devān | iha | dravat || 7 ||

(The Saṃhitā prints pracetaso 'gne*; the Pada divides* pra-cetaḥ | agne*.)*

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 516; it breaks off at the foot of the page and continues on p. 517, not yet written)

> होतारं होमनिष्पादकं विश्ववेदसं सर्वज्ञं त्वामग्निं विशः प्रजाः समिन्धते हि । सम्यग्दीपयन्ति खलु । हे पुरुहूत बहुभिराहूताग्ने स त्वं प्रचेतसः प्रकृष्टज्ञानयुक्तान्देवानिह कर्मणि द्रवत् क्षिप्रमा वह । अभिमुख्येन प्रापय । द्रवदिति क्षिप्रनाम । द्रवदोषमिति तन्नामसु पाठात् ॥ विश्ववेदसं । विश्वानि वेत्तीति विश्ववेदाः । असुन् । मरुद्वृधादित्वात्पूर्वपदान्तोदात्तत्वं ।...

hotāraṃ homaniṣpādakaṃ viśvavedasaṃ sarvajñaṃ tvām agniṃ viśaḥ prajāḥ samindhate hi | samyag dīpayanti khalu | he puruhūta bahubhir āhūtāgne sa tvaṃ pracetasaḥ prakṛṣṭajñānayuktān devān iha karmaṇi dravat kṣipram ā vaha | abhimukhyena prāpaya | dravad iti kṣipranāma | dravadoṣam iti tannāmasu pāṭhāt || viśvavedasaṃ | viśvāni vettīti viśvavedāḥ | asun | marudvṛdhāditvāt pūrvapadāntodāttatvaṃ |...

Translation of this part: "Hotāram, the accomplisher of the offering; viśvavedasam, all-knowing — you, Agni, the viśaḥ, the people, sam indhate hi, indeed kindle well. O puruhūta, [you] called by many, Agni, such as you are, pracetasaḥ, the gods endowed with excellent knowledge, iha, here in the rite, dravat, quickly, ā vaha, bring, make [them] reach [us] face to face. 'Dravat' is a name for 'quick', since it is read among its names (dravadoṣam iti tannāmasu pāṭhāt). Viśvavedasam: 'viśvāni vetti'; asun; because it is of the marudvṛdhādi [group], the first member is final-acute…" (the sentence continues on p. 517.)

Rik 44.7, continued (from p. 517; the Saṃhitā, Pada and the beginning of the bhāṣya are above)

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya, end (p. 517)

> … यद्वा । वेद इति धननाम । विश्वानि वेदांसि यस्यासौ विश्ववेदा । बहुव्रीहौ विश्वं संज्ञायामिति पूर्वपदान्तोदात्तत्वं । इन्धते । ञिइन्धी दीप्तौ । श्नसोरल्लोप इत्यकारलोपः । श्नान्नलोपः । पा. ६-४-२३ । प्रत्ययस्वरः । हि चेति निघातप्रतिषेधः ॥

… yadvā | veda iti dhananāma | viśvāni vedāṃsi yasyāsau viśvavedā | bahuvrīhau viśvaṃ saṃjñāyām iti pūrvapadāntodāttatvaṃ | indhate | ñi indhī dīptau | śnasor allopa ity akāralopaḥ | śnān nalopaḥ | pā. 6-4-23 | pratyayasvaraḥ | hi ceti nighātapratiṣedhaḥ ||

(Pā. 6-4-23 zoom-checked on the better scan, PDF 532; the bhāṣya ends "॥" without a number.)

Translation of the end: "… Or: veda is a name for wealth; 'viśvāni vedāṃsi yasya', he who has all wealth: viśvavedāḥ; in the bahuvrīhi the first member is final-acute by viśvaṃ saṃjñāyām. Indhate: root ñi indhī dīptau; the loss of a by śnasor allopaḥ; the loss of n by śnān nalopaḥ (Pā. 6-4-23); accent of the suffix; the prohibition of nighāta by hi ca."

Pratipadārtha (p. 517) — "hotāram — [you who are] the accomplisher of the offering; viśvavedasam — and all-knowing; tvā — you; viśaḥ — all the people; sam indhate hi — it is right [to say that] they make [you] blaze well; puruhūta — O [you who are] called by many; agne — O Agni; saḥ — that you; pracetasaḥ — endowed with excellent knowledge; devān — the gods; iha — to this sacrificial rite; dravat — with promptness; ā vaha — bring [them] face to face."

Bhāvārtha (p. 517) — "O Agni, since you are all-knowing and the accomplisher of the offering, all the people make you blaze well in the sacrifice. They all give you invitations. Accept their invitations and bring promptly to this rite of ours the gods endowed with excellent knowledge."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 517) — "O Agni, the people kindle you, the all-knowing invoker (Agni) nvoked [sic] by many, you bring hither, the wise gods quickly."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 517 - viśaḥ — "prajāḥ, people, that is, priests and others who praise you in the sacrifice." - pracetasaḥ = prakṛṣṭajñānayuktān — "gods of excellent knowledge." - dravat — "quickly. Since the word dravat is read among the twenty-six names of 'quick' beginning with nu, makṣu, dravat means promptly, quickly."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 517–518 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - hotāram: root hu dānādanayoḥ; tṛc; guṇa, upadhādīrgha; am. - viśvavedasam: "viśvāni vetti": root vida jñāne; [p. 518] sarvadhātubhyo 'sun (no number printed); marudvṛdhādīnāṃ chandasy upasaṃkhyānam gives the first member final-acute; or veda = wealth: "he whose wealth is all":

a bahuvrīhi; bahuvrīhau viśvaṃ saṃjñāyām (Pā. 6-2-106): when a name is meant, the word viśva as the first member of a bahuvrīhi is final-acute. - indhate: root ñi indhī dīptau, rudhādi, ātmanepada; laṭ, jha; ātmanepadeṣv nataḥ: at for jha; rudhādibhyaḥ śnam; śnasor allopaḥ (Pā. 6-4-111): the a of śna is lost before a kit or ṅit sārvadhātuka; śnān nalopaḥ (Pā. 6-4-23): the n of the root, after śna, is lost; ṭi → e by ṭita ātmanepadānāṃ ṭer e; ādyudāttaś ca: since the substitute at is counted as in the upadeśa (āyannādiṣūpadeśivadvacanaṃ svarasiddhyartham), the at is first-syllable acute and by ādyudāttaś ca the suffix ate is acute; hi ca prohibits the wholly-unaccented. Rik 7 ends here (|| 7 ||).

Rik 44.8 (pp. 518–521, PDF 532–535; better scan PDF 533–536)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 518)

सवितारमुषसमश्विना भगमग्निं व्युष्टिषु क्षपः । कण्वासस्त्वा सुतसोमास इन्धते हव्यवाहं स्वध्वर ॥

savitāram uṣásam aśvínā bhágam agníṃ vyuṣṭiṣu kṣápaḥ | káṇvāsas tvā sutásomāsa indhate havyávāhaṃ svadhvara ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. The print sets savitāra muṣasam with a space, and gives only "॥" after the Saṃhitā; the Pada ends "॥ 8 ॥".)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 518)

सवितारम् । उषसम् । अश्विना । भगम् । अग्निम् । विऽउष्टिषु । क्षपः । कण्वासः । त्वा । सुतऽसोमासः । इन्धते । हव्यऽवाहम् । सुऽअध्वर ॥ ८ ॥

savitāram | uṣasam | aśvinā | bhagam | agnim | vi-uṣṭiṣu | kṣapaḥ | kaṇvāsaḥ | tvā | suta-somāsaḥ | indhate | havya-vāham | su-adhvara || 8 ||

Page 519

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 519)

हे स्वध्वर शोभनयोगयुक्ताग्ने । व्युष्टिषूषःकालेषु श्रवोऽन्नमाहुतिरूपमभिलक्ष्य सवित्रादीन्देवानावहेत्यनुवर्तते । स्वध्वरेत्याहवनीयोग्नेः सम्बोधनं । अग्निमिति हविष उद्देश्यं देवतान्तरमुच्यते सुतसोमासोऽभिषुतसोमाः कण्वासो मेधाविन ऋत्विजो हव्यवाहं हविषः प्रापकमाहवनीयं त्वामिन्धते दीपयन्ति ॥ व्युष्टिषु । उभी विवासे । विवासो वर्जनं । व्युच्छ्यते तमसा वर्ज्यते इति व्युष्टिरुषःकालः । कर्मणि क्तिनि क्रादौ च नितीति गतेः प्रकृतिस्वरत्वं । संहितायामुदात्तस्वरितयोर्यण इति परस्यानुदात्तस्य स्वरितत्वं । क्षपः । क्षपेति रात्रिनाम । जस्यातो धातोः । पा. ६-४-१४० । इत्यत्रात इति योगविभागादाकारलोपः । सुतसोमासः । सुतः सोमो यैस्ते । निष्ठेति पूर्वनिपातः । पा. २-२-३६ । बहुव्रीहौ पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं । हव्यवाहं । हव्यं वहतीति हव्यवाट् । वहश्चेति ण्विप्रत्ययः ॥

he svadhvara śobhanayogayuktāgne | vyuṣṭiṣūṣaḥkāleṣu śravo 'nnam āhutirūpam abhilakṣya savitrādīn devān āvahety anuvartate | svadhvarety āhavanīyogneḥ saṃbodhanaṃ | agnim iti haviṣa uddeśyaṃ devatāntaram ucyate sutasomāso 'bhiṣutasomāḥ kaṇvāso medhāvina ṛtvijo havyavāhaṃ haviṣaḥ prāpakam āhavanīyaṃ tvām indhate dīpayanti || vyuṣṭiṣu | ubhī vivāse |

vivāso varjanaṃ | vyucchyate tamasā varjyate iti vyuṣṭir uṣaḥkālaḥ | karmaṇi ktini krādau ca niti iti gateḥ prakṛtisvaratvaṃ | saṃhitāyām udāttasvaritayor yaṇa iti parasyānudāttasya svaritatvaṃ | kṣapaḥ | kṣapeti rātrināma | jasy āto dhātoḥ | pā. 6-4-140 | ity atrāta iti yogavibhāgād ākāralopaḥ | sutasomāsaḥ | sutaḥ somo yais te | niṣṭheti pūrvanipātaḥ | pā. 2-2-36 | bahuvrīhau pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ | havyavāhaṃ | havyaṃ vahatīti havyavāṭ | vahaś ceti ṇvipratyayaḥ ||

(Checked on the better scan, PDF 534: the print has "āhavanīyogneḥ" [sic, for āhavanīyo 'gneḥ*]; Pā. 6-4-140 and 2-2-36; the bhāṣya ends "॥" without a number.)*

Translation: "O svadhvara, Agni, endowed with fine sacrificial connections — vyuṣṭiṣu, at the times of dawn, śravaḥ, food, in the form of the offering, aiming at: 'bring the gods beginning with Savitṛ' is carried over. 'Svadhvara' is the address to the Āhavanīya fire. 'Agnim' is said of another deity who is the object of the oblation. Sutasomāsaḥ, those who have pressed the Soma, kaṇvāsaḥ, the wise priests, havyavāham, the bearer of oblations, the Āhavanīya which conveys the oblation — you — indhate, they kindle. Vyuṣṭiṣu: root ubhī vivāse; 'vivāsaḥ' is varjanam; the time of dawn, when [the world] is specially dispelled by darkness. Kṣapaḥ: kṣapā is a name for night; the loss of the ā by the yogavibhāga of ata in jasy āto dhātoḥ [Pā. 6-4-140]. Sutasomāsaḥ: '[those] by whom the Soma is pressed'; niṣṭhā comes first in the compound [Pā. 2-2-36]; the accent of the first member in the bahuvrīhi. Havyavāham: 'havyaṃ vahati', havyavāṭ; ṇvip by vahaś ca."

Pratipadārtha (p. 519) — "svadhvara — O Agni, endowed with excellent sacrifices; kṣapaḥ — after the night; vyuṣṭiṣu — at the times of dawn; savitāram — Savitṛ; uṣasam — Uṣas; aśvinā — the Aśvin deities; bhagam — Bhaga; agnim — [and] the god Agni (bring [them]); sutasomāsaḥ — those who have the Soma juice [pressed]; kaṇvāsaḥ — the wise priests; havyavāham — you who carry the oblations; indhate — they make [you] blaze."

Bhāvārtha (p. 519) — "O Agni, you are endowed with excellent sacrifices. At the times of dawn, immediately after the night, bring to our sacrifice Savitṛ, Uṣas, the Aśvin deities, Bhaga and the god Agni. The wise priests press the Soma juice and make you, who carry the oblations, blaze."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 519) — "O Agni, who is worshipped well in the sacrifices, bring hither, at the break of the day preceeding [sic] the night, Savitru, Ushas, the Aswins, Bhaga and Agni ; the Kanwas having pressed and poured out the soma libations, kindle you, the carrier of oblation (to the gods)." (The better scan shows "English Translation" and "Agni" correctly; the misprints noted earlier came from the old scan.)

Page 520

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 520 - savitāram, uṣasam, aśvinā, bhagam, agnim — "the ṛṣi prays Agni to come bringing these deities. Since Agni is also among the deities here, it is impossible that Agni should call Agni himself. So the main intention is: 'together with these deities we invite you too'." - kṣapaḥ — "kṣapā means night; here 'after the night'; since the word kṣapā is read among the twenty-three names of night beginning with śyāvī, kṣapā, the word means night." - kaṇvāsaḥ — "the sons of the ṛṣi Kaṇva, or the descendants of the ṛṣi Kaṇva." - sutasomāsaḥ — "sutaḥ somo yaiḥ te: those who have pressed and made ready the Soma juice." - indhate — "they kindle; they make blaze; after churning the fire, they first establish that fire in the fire-pit called Āhavanīya, set up in the eastern part of the sacrificial altar." - svadhvara = śobhanayogayuktāgne — "one who is worshipped in excellent sacrifices."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 520–521 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - vyuṣṭiṣu: "explained in the third mantra of this sūkta." - kṣapaḥ: "kṣapā is a name for night. After it jas; āto dhātoḥ (printed"Pā. 6-140" [as printed; for 6-4-140]): the final ā of a bha-named aṅga that ends in an ā-ending root is lost; but kṣapā is not an ā-ending root; so this sūtra cannot give the loss here. Here the sūtra has been divided (yogavibhāga) into ātaḥ: [it provides that] the final ā of an ā-ending aṅga that has the bha name is lost; the sense of the second part is as said before; here the loss of the ā comes by ātaḥ." - sutasomāsaḥ: root ṣuñ abhiṣave; kta in the passive sense; "sutaḥ somo yaiḥ te", a bahuvrīhi; niṣṭhā (Pā. 2-2-36): in a bahuvrīhi a kta/ktavatu-ending word is used as the first member; so suta is put first; bahuvrīhau prakṛtyā pūrvapadam gives the accent of the first member. ### Page 521

- havyavāham: the same ṇyuṭ as in the first pāda of Rik 2 (Ṛg. Saṃ. 1-44-2) is possible by havye 'nantaḥpādam; but here the word stands at the beginning of the fourth pāda, so havye 'nantaḥ… does not apply; and vahaś ca — वहश्च — (Pā. 3-2-64): when a subanta is the upapada, ṇvi after vah; so ṇvi; upadhāvṛddhi, ṭh-tva [ḍhatva] and the like. Rik 8 ends here (|| 8 ||).

Rik 44.9 (pp. 521–524, PDF 535–538; better scan PDF 536–539)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 521)

पतिर्ह्यध्वराणामग्ने दूतो विशामसि । उषर्बुध आ वह सोमपीतये देवाँ अद्य स्वर्दृशः ॥ ९ ॥

patir hy adhvarāṇām ágne dūtó viśāmási | uṣarbúdha ā́ vaha sómapītaye devā́m̐ adyá svardṛ́śaḥ || 9 ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 521)

पतिः । हि । अध्वराणाम् । अग्ने । दूतः । विशाम् । असि । उषःऽबुधः । आ । वह । सोमऽपीतये । देवान् । अद्य । स्वःऽदृशः ॥ ९ ॥

patiḥ | hi | adhvarāṇām | agne | dūtaḥ | viśām | asi | uṣaḥ-budhaḥ | ā | vaha | soma-pītaye | devān | adya | svaḥ-dṛśaḥ || 9 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (pp. 521–522)

हे अग्ने विशां प्रजानां सम्बन्धिनो येऽध्वरा योगास्तेषां पतिः पालकस्त्वं दूतोऽसि हि । देवानां वार्ताहारो भवसि खलु । उषर्बुध उषःकाले प्रबुद्धान् स्वर्दृशः सूर्यदर्शिनो देवानद्यास्मिन्दिने सोमपीतये सोमपानार्थमा वह । अभिमुख्येन प्रापय ॥ असि । हि चेति निघातप्रतिषेधः । सोमपीतये । पा पाने । स्थागापापचो भाव इति भावे क्तिन् । घुमास्थेतीत्वं । सोमस्य पीतिः । दासीभारादित्वात्पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं । स्वर्दृशः । सुष्ठ्वर्ति गच्छतीति स्वरादित्यः । अर्तेरन्येभ्योऽपि दृश्यन्त इति विच् । तं पश्यन्तीति स्वर्दृशः । क्विप्चेति क्विप् । कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं ॥

he agne viśāṃ prajānāṃ sambandhino ye 'dhvarā yogās teṣāṃ patiḥ pālakas tvaṃ dūto 'si hi | devānāṃ vārtāhāro bhavasi khalu | uṣarbudha uṣaḥkāle prabuddhān svardṛśaḥ sūryadarśino devān adyāsmin dine somapītaye somapānārtham ā vaha | abhimukhyena prāpaya || asi | hi ceti nighātapratiṣedhaḥ | somapītaye | pā pāne | sthāgāpāpaco bhāva iti bhāve ktin | ghumāstheti ītvaṃ | somasya pītiḥ | dāsībhārāditvāt pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ | svardṛśaḥ | suṣṭhv arti gacchatīti svarādityaḥ | arter anyebhyo 'pi dṛśyanta iti vic | taṃ paśyantīti svardṛśaḥ | kvip ceti kvip | kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ || 9 ||

(Checked on the better scan, PDF 537: "svarādityaḥ" and "sthāgāpāpaco bhāva iti" are clear in the print; the bhāṣya ends "॥" without a number.)

Translation: "O Agni, you, the patiḥ, the protector, of the adhvarāṇām, sacrifices that belong to viśām, the people — dūtaḥ asi hi, you are the messenger of the gods, the carrier of tidings. Uṣarbudhaḥ, the gods who have awakened at the time of Uṣas, svardṛśaḥ, who see the sun, adya, today, somapītaye, for the drinking of Soma, ā vaha, bring, make [them] reach face to face. Asi: the prohibition of nighāta by hi ca. Somapītaye: root pā pāne; ktin in the abstract sense by sthāgāpāpaco bhāve; ī by ghumāsthā…; 'the drinking of Soma': by belonging to the dāsībhārādi group the first member keeps its accent. Svardṛśaḥ: 'suṣṭhu arti gacchati' [gives] svar, the sun; vic by anyebhyo 'pi dṛśyante after ṛ;'taṃ paśyanti', those who see him:* svardṛśaḥ*;* kvip* by kvip ca; the accent of the first member in a compound ending in a kṛt."

Pratipadārtha (p. 522) — "agne — O Agni; viśām — of the people; adhvarāṇām — of the sacrifices; patiḥ — as protector; dūtaḥ — as messenger of the gods; asi hi — you are; uṣarbudhaḥ — those who rise at dawn; svardṛśaḥ — and who look at the sun; devān — the gods; adya — today; somapītaye — for the drinking of the Soma juice; ā vaha — bring [them] face to face to [us]."

Bhāvārtha (p. 522) — "O Agni, you are the protector of the sacrifices of the people and the messenger of the gods. Therefore you are a benefactor equally to the gods and to men. The gods awake at dawn and look at the sun. Bring those gods to our sacrificial place to drink the Soma juice."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 522) — "O Agni, you are the protector of the sacrifices of the people and the messenger of the gods ; bring hither to-day the gods awaking at dawn and seeing the sun, to drink the Soma-juice."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 522–523 - adhvarāṇāṃ patiḥ — "yajñānāṃ pālakaḥ: the protector of sacrifices: 'protector of sacrifices or lord of the sacrifices' (English as printed). Lord of sacrifices: since Agni has pre-eminence in sacrifices, he is called yajñapati." - viśāṃ — "prajānāṃ sambandhino ye adhvarās teṣām: the commentator says it means 'the protector of the sacrifices that the people perform'. Rather than this, it seems more suitable to connect the word viśām with the word dūtaḥ and take dūto viśām asi as 'you are the messenger who goes from the people to the gods'." ### Page 523

- uṣarbudhaḥ — "the explanation of this word I have given in the first ṛk of this sūkta."
- svardṛśaḥ — "suṣṭhu arti gacchatīti svaḥ — it is one who goes in the atmosphere; thus svaḥ means the Sun; those who see him are svardṛśaḥ. The gods are in heaven, so they look at the Sun who is in heaven. Or, taken with the word uṣarbudhaḥ: the gods who, rising at dawn, look at the Sun at the time of his rising."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 523–524 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - patiḥ: root pā rakṣaṇe; pāter ḍatiḥ — पातेर्डतिः — (no number printed): the suffix ḍati, with loss of ṭi; by the suffix accent first-syllable acute (as printed: ādyudātta). - adhvarāṇām: "na vidyate dhvaraḥ (injury) yeṣu te adhvarāḥ, of those"; a bahuvrīhi; nañ-subhyām gives the latter member final-acute. - agne: begins a pāda; the eighth-adhyāya unaccentedness does not come; the sūtra of the sixth adhyāya gives the āmantrita first-syllable acute. - asi: root as bhuvi, adādi; sip; śap → luk; tāsastyo… gives the loss of the s of the root; the prohibition of the wholly-unaccented by hi ca; sip being pit is unaccented. - somapītaye: "ṣuñ abhiṣave; mun… (Uṇ. 1-1-37 as printed, the last digit matching the 7 of"3-2-75" on p. 524: artistusuhusṛdhṛkṣikṣubhāyāvāpadiyakṣinībhyo man): the suffix man after ṣuñ, guṇa: soma; root pā pāne; sthāgāpāpaco bhāve — स्थागापापचो भावे — (Pā. 3-3-95): after these roots ktin in the abstract; ghumāsthāgāpājahātisāṃ hali (Pā. 6-4-66): ī for the ā of these roots before a kit or ñit ārdhadhātuka beginning with a consonant: pīti; 'somasya pītiḥ': a ṣaṣṭhī-tatpuruṣa; kurugārhapatarikta-guru-sūtajaratśleṣmīla (Pā. 6-2-42): a list of seven compounds — words belonging to the dāsībhārādi group keep the accent of the first member, so the first member keeps its accent; the first member is first-syllable acute by the nit-accent; so this stays. - svardṛśaḥ: "suṣṭhu ati = goes [well], hence svaḥ, the Sun; 'ṛ gatau' after su as upapada; [p. 524] anyebhyo 'pi dṛśyante (Pā. 3-2-75): manin, kvanip, vanip, vic — the four suffixes come after roots, hence vic; sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ gives guṇa with raparatva: su + ar; yaṇ: svar;'svaḥ paśyanti';* kvip ca*: after* dṛśir prekṣaṇe*,* kvip*,* svardṛk*; by* gatikārakopapadāt kṛt* the kṛt-ending latter member keeps its accent; accusative plural śas: svardṛśaḥ." Rik 9 ends here (|| 9 ||).

Rik 44.10 (pp. 524–527, PDF 538–541; better scan PDF 539–542)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 524)

> अग्ने पूर्वा अनूषसो विभावसो दीदेथ विश्वदर्शतः । असि ग्रामेष्वविता पुरोहितोऽसि यज्ञेषु मानुषः ॥

agne pū́rvā ánūṣáso vibhāvaso dīdétha viśvádarśataḥ | asi grā́meṣv avitā́ puróhitó 'si yajñéṣu mā́nuṣaḥ ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. The print gives only "॥" after the Saṃhitā; the Pada ends "॥ 10 ॥".)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 524)

> अग्ने । पूर्वाः । अनु । उषसः । विभावसो इति विऽभावसो । दीदेथ । विश्वऽदर्शतः । असि । ग्रामेषु । अविता । पुरःऽहितः । असि । यज्ञेषु । मानुषः ॥ १० ॥

agne | pūrvāḥ | anu | uṣasaḥ | vibhāvaso iti vi-bhāvaso | dīdetha | viśva-darśataḥ | asi | grāmeṣu | avitā | puraḥ-hitaḥ | asi | yajñeṣu | mānuṣaḥ || 10 ||

(The Saṃhitā prints anūṣasaḥ with a long ū where the Pada has anu uṣasaḥ*; I give both as printed.)*

Rik 44.10, continued (from p. 525)

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 525)

> हे विभावसो विशिष्टप्रकाशनरूपधनवन्नग्ने विश्वदर्शतः सर्वैर्दर्शनीयस्त्वं । पूर्वा उषसोऽनु अतीतानुषःकाला॒ननुलक्ष्य दीदेथ दीप्तवानसि । तादृशस्त्वं ग्रामेषु जननिवासस्थानेष्ववितासि । रक्षको भवसि । यज्ञेष्वनुष्ठेयकर्मसु पुरोहितो वेदेः पूर्वस्यां दिश्यवस्थितो मानुषोऽसि । ऋत्विग्यजमानानां मनुष्याणां हितोऽसि ॥

he vibhāvaso viśiṣṭaprakāśanarūpadhanavann agne viśvadarśataḥ sarvair darśanīyas tvaṃ | pūrvā uṣaso 'nu atītān uṣaḥkālān anulakṣya dīdetha dīptavān asi | tādṛśas tvaṃ grāmeṣu jananivāsasthāneṣv avitā 'si | rakṣako bhavasi | yajñeṣv anuṣṭheyakarmasu purohito vedeḥ pūrvasyāṃ diśy avasthito mānuṣo 'si | ṛtvigyajamānānāṃ manuṣyāṇāṃ hito 'si ||

Translation: "O Agni, vibhāvaso, you whose wealth is the splendour of special brilliance; viśvadarśataḥ, to be seen by all: you have shone, pūrvā uṣasaḥ anu, following (keeping in view) the past times of dawn — you have been blazing. Such as you are, you are the protector, avitā, in grāmeṣu, the dwelling-places of people; you are the guardian. In yajñeṣu, in the rites to be performed, you are purohitaḥ, set in front, placed on the east side of the altar; you are mānuṣaḥ, beneficial to the human beings, the priests and the sacrificers."

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya, grammatical tail (p. 525; transcribed from the better scan, PDF 540)

> दीदेथ । दीदेतिश्छान्दसो दीप्तिकर्मा । आगमानुशासनस्यानित्यत्वादिडभावः । द्विर्वचनप्रकरणे छन्दसि वेति वक्तव्यं । का. ६-१-८-१ । इति वचनाद्द्विर्वचनाभावः । विश्वदर्शतः । विश्वैर्दर्शनीयः । भृमृदृशीत्यादिना दृशेरतच् । मरुद्बृधादित्वात्पूर्वपदान्तोदात्तत्वं । पा. ६-२-१०६-२ । पुरोहितः । पूर्वाधरावराणामसि पुरधवश्चैषामित्यसिप्रत्ययान्तः पुरस्शब्दः । तद्धितश्चासर्वविभक्तिरित्यव्ययत्वात् पुरोऽव्ययं । पा. १-४-६७ । इति गतिसंज्ञायां सत्यां गतिसमासे गतिरनन्तर इति पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं ॥ २९ ॥

dīdetha | dīdetiś chāndaso dīptikarmā | āgamānuśāsanasyānityatvād iḍabhāvaḥ | dvirvacanaprakaraṇe chandasi veti vaktavyaṃ | kā. 6-1-8-1 | iti vacanād dvirvacanābhāvaḥ | viśvadarśataḥ | viśvair darśanīyaḥ | bhṛmṛdṛśītyādinā dṛśer atac | marudvṛdhāditvāt pūrvapadāntodāttatvaṃ | pā. 6-2-106-2 | purohitaḥ | pūrvādharāvarāṇām asi puradhavaś caiṣām ity asipratyayāntaḥ puraśśabdaḥ | taddhitaś cāsarvavibhaktir ity avyayatvāt puro 'vyayaṃ | pā. 1-4-67 | iti gatisaṃjñāyāṃ satyāṃ gatisamāse gatir anantara iti pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ || 29 ||

(Gist of the tail: no iṭ and no reduplication in dīdetha (Kāśikā 6-1-8-1); the suffix atac in viśvadarśata with the first member end-acute; the gati*-compound* purohita keeps the accent of its first member. The closing "// 29 //" is the varga number (Varga 29 ends with this Ṛk), not the Ṛk number.)

Pratipadārtha (p. 525) — "vibhāvaso — O Agni, who have the wealth of illuminating all; agne — O Agni; viśvadarśataḥ — you who are to be seen by the eyes of all; pūrvāḥ uṣasaḥ anu — after the many dawns that have passed; dīdetha — you have made bright (such as you); grāmeṣu — in the villages (where people live); avitā — as protector; asi — you are; yajñeṣu — in the sacrificial rites; purohitaḥ — seated in the eastern part of the altar; mānuṣaḥ — as one beneficial to men (priests and sacrificers); asi — you are."

Bhāvārtha (p. 525) — "O Agni, by the greatness of your brilliance you not only illuminate everything in the world but are visible to all people. You have lit up thousands of dawns that have passed. Such a great one, you are the protector of every village where men dwell. Such a protector, you are purohita in our sacrifices, that is, seated in the eastern part of the altar, and are the benefactor of men, both priests and sacrificers."

Page 526

English Translation (the source's own, p. 526) — "Resplendent Agni, visible to all, you have always shone after many preceding dawns, you are the protector of peope [sic] in villages, and you are placed in front (on the east side of the altar) for the benefit of man." (Read from the better scan, PDF 541; the earlier [sic] notes came from the old scan.)

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 526 - anu uṣasaḥ — "after the dawns, that is, every day after the dawn-times, before the sun's rising." - vibhāvaso — "viśiṣṭaprakāśarūpadhanavān: one who has the capacity to illuminate special things; one whose wealth is that capacity, i.e. who shines well, who blazes brightly." - dīdetha — "dīdetiś chāndaso dīptikarmā: you shine; you are shining." - viśvadarśataḥ — "sarvair darśanīyaḥ: one who is looked at by all; you whom all see." - purohitaḥ — "vedeḥ pūrvasyāṃ diśy avasthitaḥ: established in the form of the āhavanīya on the east of the altar; one who is in front of the sacrifice. The explanation of this word is given in the Special Topics of the first ṛk of the first sūkta of the first maṇḍala, Ṛgveda Saṃhitā part 1, pp. 614–615; see there." - mānuṣaḥ — "ṛtvigyajamānānāṃ manuṣyāṇāṃ hito 'si: the commentator has explained the word mānuṣaḥ as one who does good to people such as priests and sacrificers. But, taking the words purohito 'si yajñeṣu mānuṣaḥ together as general ('of men'), 'in the sacrifices that men perform you are purohita';* purohita* means one placed in the foremost position, or one established in the āhavanīya fire-pit on the east side of the altar. If this sense is given, the meaning fits properly."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 526–527 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - dīdetha: root dīdī dīptau, used in the Veda only; liṭ, sip, thal in place of sip by a rule beginning parasmaipadānāṃ ṇalatusus… (as printed); doubling avoided by the Kāśikā statement quoted in the bhāṣya (printed "Kāśi 6-1-8-1"), hence liṭ-doubling absent; the iṭ augment likewise does not come (āgamaśāstram anityam, printed as "paribhā[ṣā] 96"); guṇa: dīdetha; the all-unaccented (sarvānudātta) does not come since the word is at the beginning of a pāda; the end-acute from the root remains. ### Page 527

- viśvadarśataḥ: root viś praveśane; the suffix kvan by an Uṇādi-sūtra beginning āśū pṛṣi… (no number printed); the word is ādyudātta by nit (the suffix being nit). For dṛś prekṣaṇe: the suffix atac by "bhṛmṛdṛśi yajiparvi pacy amitanināmi haryibhyo 'tac" (Uṇ. 3-390); dṛś + ata, guṇa; viśvaiḥ darśataḥ = "darśanīyaḥ, one fit to be seen by all". By the antodātta-rule: "marudvṛdhādīnāṃ chandasy upasaṅkhyānam" (Pā. 6-2-106-2) the first member gets end-acute.
- purohitaḥ: pūrvādharāvarāṇām asi puradhavaś caiṣām (printed "Pā. 5-4-3-9" [as printed; for 5-3-39]): after pūrva, adhara, avara, the suffix asi (in the senses of direction, place or time), and in place of pūrva, pur; of adhara, adh; of avara, av. Here pūrva + asi → pur + as = puras. taddhitaś cāsarvavibhaktiḥ (Pā. 1-1-38): a taddhita-ending word that cannot take all the case-endings is called avyaya; so puras is an indeclinable. The taddhita-suffixes counted begin with bahvalpārthāc chas kārakād anyatarasyām (Pā. 5-4-42) and run to samāsāntāḥ (Pā. 5-4-68), so asi is counted. puro 'vyayam (Pā. 1-4-67): gati-designation; kugatiprādayaḥ gives the compound with hita; gatir anantaraḥ (Pā. 6-2-49): when a word ending with a karmaṇi-suffix follows, the preceding gati retains its natural accent. The word puras has end-acute by its suffix. From ḍudhāñ, the kta suffix; dadhāter hiḥ (Pā. 7-4-42): hi in place of dhā; hita. || 10 ||

(End of Rik 44.10 on printed p. 527.)

Rik 44.11 (pp. 528–531; better scan PDF 543–546)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 528)

नि त्वा॑ य॒ज्ञस्य॒ साध॑नमग्ने॒ होता॑रमृ॒त्विज॑म् । म॒नु॒ष्वद्दे॑व धीमहि॒ प्रचे॑तसं जी॒रं दू॒तम॑मर्त्यम् ॥ ११ ॥

ní tvā yajñásya sádhanam ágne hótāram ṛtvíjaṃ | manuṣvád deva dhīmahi prácetasaṃ jīráṃ dūtám artyam || 11 ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 528)

नि । त्वा । यज्ञस्य । साधनम् । अग्ने । होतारम् । ऋत्विजम् । मनुष्वत् । देव । धीमहि । प्रऽचेतसम् । जीरम् । दूतम् । अमर्त्यम् ॥ ११ ॥

ni | tvā | yajñasya | sādhanam | agne | hotāram | ṛtvijam | manuṣvat | deva | dhīmahi | pra-cetasam | jīram | dūtam | amartyam || 11 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 528)

हे अग्ने देव मनुष्वत् यथा मनुर्यागदेशे निदधाति तद्वद्वयमपि त्वां नि धीमहि । अत्र स्थापयामः । कीदृशं । यज्ञस्य साधनं यज्ञनिष्पादकं होतारमृत्विजं ऋतौ वसन्तादिके यष्टारं प्रचेतसं प्रकृष्टप्रज्ञानयुक्तं जीरं शत्रूणां वयोहानिकरं दूतं देवानां दूतस्थानीयं अमर्त्यं मरणरहितं ॥

he agne deva manuṣvat yathā manur yāgadeśe nidadhāti tadvad vayam api tvāṃ ni dhīmahi | atra sthāpayāmaḥ | kīdṛśaṃ | yajñasya sādhanaṃ yajñaniṣpādakaṃ hotāram ṛtvijaṃ ṛtau vasantādike yaṣṭāraṃ pracetasaṃ prakṛṣṭaprajñānayuktaṃ jīraṃ śatrūṇāṃ vayohānikaraṃ dūtaṃ devānāṃ dūtasthānīyaṃ amartyaṃ maraṇarahitaṃ ||

Translation: "O Agni, O god! Manuṣvat, as Manu places (you) at the place of the sacrifice, even so we also ni dhīmahi, set you down, establish you here. What kind of one? Yajñasya sādhanam, the accomplisher of the sacrifice; hotāram ṛtvijam, the sacrificer in the seasons such as the spring; pracetasam, endowed with excellent wisdom; jīram, the one who diminishes the life of enemies; dūtam, standing in the place of messenger of the gods; amartyam, free from death."

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya, grammatical tail (p. 528 foot; transcribed from the better scan, PDF 543)

> मनुष्वत् । औणादिकोऽसिप्रत्ययान्तो मनस्शब्दः । तेन तुल्यं क्रिया चेद्वतिः । पा. ५-१-११५ । इति वतिप्रत्ययः । अयस्मयादित्वेन भत्वाद्धुत्वाद्यभावः । धीमहि । डुधाञ् धारणपोषणयोः । लिङ्यभ्यासलोपश्छान्दसः । जीरं । जु इति सौत्रो धातुः । जोरी च । उ. २-२३ । इति रक्प्रत्ययः । कात्यायनस्त्वाह । रकि ज्यः संप्रसारणे जीर इति ॥

manuṣvat | auṇādiko 'sipratyayānto manasśabdaḥ | tena tulyaṃ kriyā ced vatiḥ | pā. 5-1-115 | iti vatipratyayaḥ | ayasmayāditvena bhatvād rutvādyabhāvaḥ | dhīmahi | ḍudhāñ dhāraṇapoṣaṇayoḥ | liṅy abhyāsalopaś chāndasaḥ | jīraṃ | ju iti sautro dhātuḥ | jorī ca | u. 2-23 | iti rakpratyayaḥ | kātyāyanas tv āha | raki jyaḥ saṃprasāraṇe jīra iti ||

(Gist: manuṣvat — vati "like Manu", a bha-stem so no ru; dhīmahi — Vedic loss of the reduplication in the liṅ; jīra — the sautra root ju with rak (Uṇ. 2-23), or, with Kātyāyana, from jyā with saṃprasāraṇa. The print writes "manas-" here for manus*.)*

Pratipadārtha (pp. 528–529) — "agne deva — O god Agni; yajñasya sādhanam — as the accomplisher of the sacrifice; hotāram ṛtvijam — as one who performs the sacrifice in the seasons beginning with spring; pracetasam — as one endowed with excellent knowledge; jīram — as the destroyer of the lives of enemies; dūtam — as the messenger of the gods; amartyam — as one who is free from death; tvā — you; manuṣvat — in the manner in which Manu established (you) in the sacrificial ground; (vayam — we also) nidhīmahi — establish (you) here."

Page 529

Bhāvārtha (p. 529) — "O god Agni, you are the accomplisher of the sacrifice. You are one who sacrifices in the seasons beginning with spring, being endowed with excellent knowledge. You destroy the lives of enemies and are free from death. Since you are the messenger of the gods, the destroyer of enemies and the nourisher of friends, Manu established you in the sacrificial ground. Like him we too establish you in this sacrificial ground."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 529) — "O Agni, we place you as Manu placed you in sacrifical [sic] altar ; you are the main factor of the sacrifice, the invoker, the ministering priest, the wise, the destroyer of enemies, immortal and the messenger of gods."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 529 - yajñasya sādhanam — "since Agni is absolutely necessary for performing a sacrifice, he is said to be the chief instrument of the sacrifice." - hotāram, ṛtvijam — "hotāram means one who invokes the deities in the sacrifice, or the one principal priest who recites the mantras in the sacrifice for the invocation of the deities. In the sacrifice the hotṛ has a place of great prominence. Ṛtvijam means one of the priests who take part in the sacrifice. In every sacrifice there are four chief priests, hotṛ, adhvaryu, udgātṛ and brahmā; these four, and also their assistant groups, are by custom called ṛtvij. When ṛtvij is said, it can be any one of them. For the explanation of these words see Ṛgveda Saṃhitā part 1, p. 615." - manuṣvat — "manuvat: as the Prajāpati Manu established and set Agni in the sacrifice that he performed, in that manner; this is the meaning." - jīram — "ju iti sautro dhātuḥ; śatrūṇāṃ vayohānikaram: the destroyer of the life-span of enemies, one who diminishes (their life), one who makes (it) decay."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 530–531 — grammar pages, noted briefly; the crowded stretches not reproduced) - yajñasya: root yaja devapūjādau; the suffix naṅ by "yajayācayatavicchapracchrakṣo naṅ" (Pā. 3-3-90; printed "yajayācayatavicchapracchrakṣo naṅ") — यजयाचयतविच्छप्रच्छरक्षो नङ् —; yaj + na; the next step by "stoḥ ścunā ścuḥ" (Pā. 8-4-40) — स्तोः श्चुना श्चुः — the n becomes ñ; the suffix-accent (pratyayasvara) then arises. - manuṣvat: root mana jñāne; the Uṇādi suffix usi; man + us = manus; the analysis manuṣā tulyam "equal to Manu"; the rule tena tulyaṃ kriyā cet vatiḥ (Pā. 5-1-115): after a word in the instrumental the suffix vati in the sense of "equal", but only if what is equal is an action — here manuṣā tulyaṃ dhīmahi gives the action. Because vati comes, the word gets the bha-designation by ayasmayādīni chandasi (Pā. 1-4-20), so there is no pada-designation; therefore the ru-change which has pada-designation as its cause by "sa sajuṣo ruḥ" (no number printed) does not come; nor does the u by "haśi ca" (no number printed). - deva: root divu … by the pacādi-rule (the rule beginning nandigrahipacādibhyaḥ…, as printed) the suffix ac; the vocative is unaccented (āmantritasya). - dhīmahi: dudhāñ dhāraṇapoṣaṇayoḥ; liṅ, mahiṅ, liṅaḥ sīyuṭ; liṅaḥ salopo 'nantyasya (the s is lost); lopo vyor vali (the y is lost); śap with ślu; doubling after ślu; the Vedic loss of the reduplicative syllable; dhā + īmahi; "śnābhyastayor ātaḥ" (Pā. 6-4-112) — the ā of the root is dropped when a non-kit/ṅit personal ending follows the śnā-suffix or reduplicated verb; dh + īmahi = dhīmahi. - jīram: ju gatau vege ca; this root is not in the root-list but is established by what Pāṇini says in the rule beginning ju-caṅkramya… (Pā. 3-2-150); roots that are thus used in sūtras are called sautra. The Uṇādi sūtra jorī ca (Uṇ. 2-181, as printed here; the bhāṣya gives 2-23): after ju the suffix rak, and ī for the final letter, giving jīra. Some read instead of jorī ca the sūtra jyaś ca (Uṇ. 2-181, the same number as printed): rak after the root jyā vayohānau; jyā + ra, and grahijyā-vayi… (Pā. 6-1-16) gives saṃprasāraṇa; saṃprasāraṇāc ca (no number printed) gives the earlier form (pūrvarūpa); halaḥ (Pā. 6-4-2) lengthens the final of the stem after a saṃprasāraṇa standing after a consonant: jīra. [p. 531] na dhātulopa ārdhadhātuke (Pā. 1-1-4) etc.; and Kātyāyana's vārttika "raki jyaḥ saṃprasāraṇam" is cited; hence the reading jyāśca is evidently the one approved by Kātyāyana. || 11 ||

Rik 44.12 (pp. 531–534; better scan PDF 546–549)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 531)

यद्देवानां मित्रमहः पुरोहितोऽन्तरो यासि दूत्यं । सिन्धोरिव प्रस्वनितास ऊर्मयोऽग्नेर्भ्राजन्ते अर्चयः ॥ १२ ॥

yad devānāṃ mitramáhaḥ puróhitó 'ntaro yāsi dūtyaṃ | síndhor iva prasvanitāsa ūrmáyo 'gnér bhrājante arcáyaḥ || 12 ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 531)

यत् । देवानाम् । मित्रमहः इति मित्रऽमहः । पुरःऽहितः । अन्तरः । यासि । दूत्यम् । सिन्धोःऽइव । प्रऽस्वनितासः । ऊर्मयः । अग्नेः । भ्राजन्ते । अर्चयः ॥ १२ ॥

yat | devānām | mitramahaḥ iti mitra-mahaḥ | puraḥ-hitaḥ | antaraḥ | yāsi | dūtyam | sindhoḥ-iva | pra-svanitāsaḥ | ūrmayaḥ | agneḥ | bhrājante | arcayaḥ || 12 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (pp. 531–532)

हे मित्रमहो मित्राणां पूजकाग्ने यद्यदा पुरोहितस्त्वं वेदेः पूर्वस्यां दिशि स्थापितोऽन्तरो देवयजनमध्ये वर्तमानः सन् देवानां दूत्यं दूतकर्म यासि प्राप्नोषि तदानीमग्नेस्तवार्चयो दीप्तयो भ्राजन्ते । दीप्यन्ते । तत्र दृष्टान्तः । सिन्धोरिव यथा समुद्रस्य प्रस्वनितासः प्रकृष्टध्वनियुक्ता ऊर्मयस्तरंगा भ्राजन्ते तद्वत् ॥

he mitramaho mitrāṇāṃ pūjakāgne yad yadā purohitas tvaṃ vedeḥ pūrvasyāṃ diśi sthāpito 'ntaro devayajanamadhye vartamānaḥ san devānāṃ dūtyaṃ dūtakarma yāsi prāpnoṣi tadānīm agnes tavārcayo dīptayo bhrājante | dīpyante | tatra dṛṣṭāntaḥ | sindhor iva yathā samudrasya prasvanitāsaḥ prakṛṣṭadhvaniyuktā ūrmayas taraṅgā bhrājante tadvat ||

Translation: "O mitramahaḥ, O Agni, worshipped by friends (or: worshipper of friends); yat, when you, set up as purohita on the east side of the altar, being antaraḥ, in the middle of the place of divine worship, yāsi dūtyam, perform and attain the office of messenger of the gods, tadānīm, then your arcayaḥ, flames, bhrājante, blaze, shine. The simile: sindhor iva, just as the prasvanitāsaḥ, loudly resounding ūrmayaḥ, waves, of the ocean shine, so do they."

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya, grammatical tail (p. 532; transcribed from the better scan, PDF 547)

मित्रमहः । मह पूजायां । मित्रैरृत्विग्भिर्महते पूज्यत इति मित्रमहाः । औणादिकोऽसुन् । यासि । यद्वृत्तयोगादनिघातः । दूत्यं । दूतस्य कर्म दूत्यं । दूतस्य भागकर्मणी । पा. ४-४-१२० । इति यत्प्रत्ययः । सर्वे विधयश्छन्दसि विकल्प्यन्त इति वचनाद्यतोऽनाव इत्याद्युदात्तत्वाभावे तित्स्वरितमिति स्वरितत्वं । प्रस्वनितासः । स्यमु स्वन ध्वन शब्दे । भावे निष्ठा । प्रकृष्टं स्वनितं येषां ते प्रस्वनिताः । असुगागमः । बहुव्रीहौ पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं । ऊर्मयः । अर्तेरूच्च । उ. ४-४-४४ । इति मिप्रत्ययः ॥

mitramahaḥ | maha pūjāyāṃ | mitrair ṛtvigbhir mahate pūjyata iti mitramahāḥ | auṇādiko 'sun | yāsi | yadvṛttayogād anighātaḥ | dūtyaṃ | dūtasya karma dūtyaṃ | dūtasya bhāgakarmaṇī | pā. 4-4-120 | iti yatpratyayaḥ | sarve vidhayaś chandasi vikalpyanta iti vacanād yato 'nāva ity ādyudāttatvābhāve tit svaritam iti svaritatvaṃ | prasvanitāsaḥ | syamu svana dhvana śabde | bhāve niṣṭhā | prakṛṣṭaṃ svanitaṃ yeṣāṃ te prasvanitāḥ | asugāgamaḥ | bahuvrīhau pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ | ūrmayaḥ | arter ūc ca | u. 4-4-44 | iti mipratyayaḥ ||

(Gist: mitramahas with asun; yāsi not unaccented after yad; dūtya with yat (Pā. 4-4-120), svarita by tit svaritam; prasvanita a bahuvrīhi with the asuk augment; ūrmi with mi (Uṇ. "4-4-44" as printed). The bhāṣya ends "॥" without a number.)

Pratipadārtha (p. 532) — "mitramahaḥ — O Agni, worshipped by the priests or by friendly people; yat — when; purohitaḥ — placed as purohita in the eastern part of the altar; antaraḥ — being in the middle part of the sacrificial place; devānām — of the gods; dūtyam — the work of messenger; yāsi — you take up (then); agneḥ — of you, god Agni; arcayaḥ — the flames; sindhoḥ — of the ocean; prasvanitāsaḥ — roaring with sound; ūrmayaḥ — the waves; (iva — as if, shining); bhrājante — shine."

Bhāvārtha (p. 532) — “O god Agni, many priests worship you. When you are placed in the eastern part of the altar as purohita and, being in the middle of the sacrificial place, take up the work of messenger of the gods — then, since you alone carry all the oblations offered to all the gods, your flames rise very high. Then, like the waves of the ocean that roar and shine, they shine with sound and with brilliance.”

English Translation (the source’s own, p. 532) — “O Agni, you are being worshipped by the friendly priests ; when you are placed in front of the altar (or as a Purohita at a sacrifice) and are installed as the messenger of the gods, then your flames roar like the resounding billows of the ocean.”

Page 533

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 533 - yat — “yadā: when.” - mitramahaḥ — “mitrair ṛtvigbhir mahyate pūjyate iti mitramahāḥ, tasya sambuddhir mitramahaḥ: one who is worshipped by the priests, who are friendly to you and objects of your affection.” - purohitaḥ — “the explanation of this word was given at the tenth ṛk of this sūkta.” - sindhor iva ūrmayaḥ — “like the waves of the ocean.” - prasvanitāsaḥ — “svana dhvana śabde; prakṛṣṭaṃ svanitaṃ yeṣāṃ te prasvanitāḥ: making sound very loudly, roaring.” - arcayaḥ — “the flames of Agni; the flames of Agni that blaze well, with a crackling, from the oblations such as ghee which the priests pour in the sacrifice. The idea is that they blaze up, as the waves of the ocean, struck by the wind, come to the shore and dash and roar loudly.”

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 533–534 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - mitramahaḥ: analysis “mitraiḥ mahyate pūjyate”; root maha pūjāyām; the suffix asun by “sarvadhātubhyo ’sun” (no number printed). - yāsi: yadvṛttān nityam (no number printed) — यद्वृत्तान्नित्यम् — forbids the all-unaccented (sarvānudātta) of the verb. - dūtyam: dūtasya bhāgakarmaṇī (Pā. 4-4-120) — दूतस्य भागकर्मणी — the suffix yat in the senses of “share” and “work”; dūta + ya, yasyeti ca (the a is dropped); the rule on acute yato ’nāvaḥ is optional in the Veda by the maxim “sarve vidhayaś chandasi vikalpyante” (printed “paribhā[ṣā] 35”), so does not come here; by tit svaritam a svarita arises. The Kāśikā-author is said to quote the statement “dūtavaṇigbhyāṃ ca” at Pā. 5-1-126 (as printed); from this too the desired accent is not obtained when ya comes. - prasvanitāsaḥ: root svana (or dhvana) śabde; niṣṭhā (kta) in the abstract sense by “niṣṭhā” (as printed); ārdhadhātukasyeḍ valādeḥ gives iṭ; svanita; prakṛṣṭaṃ svanitaṃ yeṣāṃ te, a bahuvrīhi (the sense of pra being “excellent”); first member keeps its accent; then jas; prasvanita + as with the asuk augment by āṭṭjaser asuk (Pā. 7-1-50). - ūrmayaḥ: root ṛ gatau; arter ūc ca (Uṇ. 4-484, as printed here; the bhāṣya gives “4-4-44”): the suffix mi after ṛ and ū as the substitute for the root’s vowel; the ū replacing ṛ is raparatva: ūr + mi = ūrmi. Some hold that the ū without the repha is enough and that by hali ca (Pā. 8-2-77) lengthening follows, so that ūrmi is obtained thus. || 12 ||

Rik 44.13 (pp. 534–537; better scan PDF 549–552)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 534)

श्रुधि श्रुत्कर्ण वह्निभिर्देवैरग्ने सयावभिः । आ सीदन्तु बर्हिषि मित्रो अर्यमा प्रातर्यावाणो अध्वरम् ॥ १३ ॥

śrudhí śrutkarṇa váhnibhir devaír agne sayāvabhiḥ | ā sīdantu barhíṣi mitró aryamā prātaryāvāṇo adhvarám || 13 ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 534)

> श्रुधि । श्रुत्ऽकर्ण । वह्निऽभिः । देवैः । अग्ने । सयावऽभिः । आ । सीदन्तु । बर्हिषि । मित्रः । अर्यमा । प्रातःऽयावानः । अध्वरम् ॥ १३ ॥

śrudhi | śrut-karṇa | vahni-bhiḥ | devaiḥ | agne | sayāva-bhiḥ | ā | sīdantu | barhiṣi | mitraḥ | aryamā | prātaḥ-yāvānaḥ | adhvaram || 13 ||

(The Pada prints the last compound's second member as -yāvānaḥ*, with the long* ā of the Saṃhitā prātaryāvāṇaḥ replaced by n*; this is the print's own reading of the Pada, given as printed.)*

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (pp. 534–535)

> हे श्रुत्कर्ण श्रवणसमर्थाभ्यां कर्णाभ्यां युक्ताग्ने श्रुधि । अस्मदीयं वचनं शृणु । यो मित्रो देवो यश्चार्यमा ये चान्ये प्रातर्यावाणः प्रातःकाले देवयजनं गच्छन्तो देवास्तैः सर्वैः सयावभिराहवनीयाग्निना त्वया समानगतिभिरन्यैर्वह्निभिर्देवैः सहाध्वरं क्रतुमुद्दिश्य बर्हिषि दर्भे आ सीदन्तु । उपविशन्तु ॥

he śrutkarṇa śravaṇasamarthābhyāṃ karṇābhyāṃ yuktāgne śrudhi | asmadīyaṃ vacanaṃ śṛṇu | yo mitro devo yaś cāryamā ye cānye prātaryāvāṇaḥ prātaḥkāle devayajanaṃ gacchanto devās taiḥ sarvaiḥ sayāvabhir āhavanīyāgninā tvayā samānagatibhir anyair vahnibhir devaiḥ sahādhvaraṃ kratum uddiśya barhiṣi darbhe ā sīdantu | upaviśantu ||

(The line is broken at the page-foot of p. 534 at "prātaḥ-" and continues on p. 535.)

Translation: "O śrutkarṇa, O Agni, whose ears are fit for hearing, śrudhi, hear — hear our words. The god Mitra, and Aryaman, and the other gods, prātaryāvāṇaḥ, who go to the place of worship in the morning — may all those ā sīdantu, sit down, barhiṣi, on the darbha grass, adhvaram, with a view to the sacrifice, together with you, the āhavanīya fire, and with the other gods, the carriers (vahnibhiḥ) who go together with you (sayāvabhiḥ)."

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya, grammatical tail (p. 535; transcribed from the better scan, PDF 550)

> श्रुधि । श्रु श्रवणे । श्रुशृण्वित्यादिना हेर्धिरादेशः । बहुलं छन्दसीति विकरणस्य लुक् । श्रुत्कर्ण । शृणोतीति श्रुत् । क्विपि तुगागमः । श्रुतौ कर्णौ यस्यासौ श्रुत्कर्णः । वह्निभिः । वह प्रापणे । वहिश्रियुश्रुग्लाहात्वरिभ्यो निदिति निप्रत्ययः । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वं । सयावभिः । समानं यान्तीति सयावानः । या प्रापणे । आतो मनिन्निति वनिप् । कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं । प्रातर्यावाणः । पूर्ववत् । प्रातिपदिकान्तनुम्विभक्तिषु च । पा. ८-४-११ । इति णत्वं ॥

śrudhi | śru śravaṇe | śruśṛṇv ityādinā her dhir ādeśaḥ | bahulaṃ chandasīti vikaraṇasya luk | śrutkarṇa | śṛṇotīti śrut | kvipi tugāgamaḥ | śrutau karṇau yasyāsau śrutkarṇaḥ | vahnibhiḥ | vaha prāpaṇe | vahiśriyuśruglāhātvaribhyo nid iti nipratyayaḥ | nittvād ādyudāttatvaṃ | sayāvabhiḥ | samānaṃ yāntīti sayāvānaḥ | yā prāpaṇe | āto maninn iti vanip |

kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ | prātaryāvāṇaḥ | pūrvavat | prātipadikāntanumvibhaktiṣu ca | pā. 8-4-11 | iti ṇatvaṃ ||

(Gist: dhi for hi and loss of the vikaraṇa in śrudhi; śrut with kvip and tuk; vahni with ni (nit, initial acute); sayāvan and prātaryāvan with vanip; ṇ by Pā. 8-4-11. The bhāṣya ends "॥" without a number.)

Pratipadārtha (p. 535) — "śrutkarṇa — O Agni, endowed with ears that hear subtly; agne — O Agni; śrudhi — hear (our) words; mitraḥ — Mitra; aryamā — and Aryaman; prātaryāvāṇaḥ — and the other gods who go (towards the sacrificial place) in the morning; sayāvabhiḥ — who move along with you in the form of the āhavanīya; vahnibhiḥ — together with the other fire-gods; adhvaram — with the sacrifice as the object; barhiṣi — on the seat of darbha grass; ā sīdantu — let them sit down."

Bhāvārtha (p. 535) — "O Agni, since your ears are very subtle in hearing, listen well to our words in the form of praise. Let Mitra, Aryaman and the other gods who go in the morning towards the sacrificial place, and also the other fire-gods who move together with you in the form of the āhavanīya, together come here with a view to the sacrifice we are performing, and sit on the darbha seat."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 535) — "O Agni, whose ears can hear, hear our invocation ; let Mitra and Aryaman and other gods that move together in the early morning with all the accompanying gods that carry oblations, sit down at the sacrifice upon the sacred kusa-grass."

Page 535

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 535–536 - śrutkarṇa — "śṛṇotīti śrut; śrutau karṇau yasyāsau śrutkarṇaḥ; śravaṇasamarthābhyāṃ karṇābhyāṃ yuktaḥ: śrut means one who hears, karṇa means ear; one whose ears are able to hear the invocation — Agni is meant." - vahnibhiḥ — "vaha prāpaṇe: the ones who by nature carry, that is, those who carry the oblations." - sayāvabhiḥ — "yā prāpaṇe; samānaṃ yāntīti sayāvānaḥ: āhavanīyāgninā tvayā samānagatibhiḥ: those who go in company with you (Agni), going together." - prātaryāvāṇaḥ — "prātaḥkāle devayajanaṃ gacchanto devāḥ: the gods who go to the place of the sacrifice in the morning; this is the meaning." - adhvaram — "having come here now with reference to the sacrifice we are performing."

Page 536

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 536–537 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - śrudhi: root śru śravaṇe; loṭ, sip, hi as substitute; "śruśṛṇupṛkṛvṛbhyaś chandasi" (Pā. 6-4-102) gives dhi in place of hi; "bahulaṃ chandasi" the vikaraṇa (śnu) is dropped (luk). - śrutkarṇa: root śru śravaṇe; "śṛṇotīti śrut", kvip by kvip ca; hrasvasya piti kṛti tuk gives the tuk augment; bahuvrīhi "śrutau karṇau yasya saḥ" — "one whose ears have the power to hear" (the meaning: one whose ears are not deaf); vocative, so unaccented (āmantritānudātta). - vahnibhiḥ: vaha prāpaṇe; the Uṇādi sūtra "vahiśriyuśruglā-hā-tvaribhyo nit" (Uṇ. 4-491 as read; the middle digit is the ಠ-shaped 9): after the roots vaha prāpaṇe, śriñ sevāyām, yu miśraṇe, śru śravaṇe, glai harṣakṣaye, o hāk tyāge, and tvarā sambhrame the suffix ni comes, being nit — the sūtra means this. (The Kannada author notes that the sūtra in the current Uṇādi list begins vahiśriśruyudru….) vah + ni = vahni; since the suffix is nit, the initial acute. - sayāvabhiḥ: analysis "samānaṃ yānti"; yā prāpaṇe; "āto manin kvanib vanipaś ca" (Pā. 3-2-74) — when a subanta or a preposition stands as upapada the three suffixes manin, kvanip, vanip come in the Chandas after roots ending in ā: here vanip after yā with the word samāna as upapada; samānasya chandasy amūrdhaprabhṛtyudarkeṣu (no number printed) gives sa for samāna: sa + yā + van = sayāvan; bhis; "na lopaḥ prātipadikāntasya" the n is dropped; ru, visarga. For the second member yāvan, ending in a kṛt, by "gatikārakopapadāt kṛt" (no number printed) the natural (prakṛti) accent of the first member remains. - prātaryāvāṇaḥ: prātar as upapada, root yā, vanip as before: prātaryāvan, jas; prātipadikāntanumvibhaktiṣu ca (Pā. 8-4-11) "the n which stands at the end of a prātipadika, in num, or in a case-ending, becomes ṇ if preceded by a repha or ṣ in the earlier member, or if followed (at a distance) by one"; thus the n at the end of the stem becomes ṇ. || 13 ||

Rik 44.14 (pp. 537–540; better scan PDF 552–555)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 537)

> शृण्वन्तु स्तोमं मरुतः सुदानवोऽग्निजिह्वा ऋतावृधः । पिबतु सोमं वरुणो धृतव्रतोऽश्विभ्यामुषसा सजूः ॥ १४ ॥

śṛṇvántu stómaṃ marútaḥ sudānavo 'gnijihvā ṛtāvṛ́dhaḥ | píbatu sómaṃ váruṇo dhṛtávrato 'śvíbhyām uṣásā sajū́ḥ || 14 ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 537)

> शृण्वन्तु । स्तोमम् । मरुतः । सुऽदानवः । अग्निऽजिह्वाः । ऋतऽवृधः । पिबतु । सोमम् । वरुणः । धृतऽव्रतः । अश्विऽभ्याम् । उषसा । सऽजूः ॥ १४ ॥

śṛṇvantu | stomam | marutaḥ | su-dānavaḥ | agni-jihvāḥ | ṛta-vṛdhaḥ | pibatu | somam | varuṇaḥ | dhṛta-vrataḥ | aśvi-bhyām | uṣasā | sa-jūḥ || 14 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (pp. 537–538)

> मरुतो देवाः स्तोममस्मदीयं स्तोत्रं शृण्वन्तु । कीदृशाः । सुदानवः सुष्ठु फलस्य दातारः अग्निजिह्वा अग्निर्जिह्वास्थानीयो मुख्यो येषु मरुत्सु तादृशाः ऋतावृधः सत्यस्य यज्ञस्य वा वर्धकाः । तथा धृतव्रतो गृहीतकर्मा वरुणो देवोऽश्विभ्यां देवाभ्यामुषसा देवतया सजूः सह सोमं पिबतु ॥

maruto devāḥ stomam asmadīyaṃ stotraṃ śṛṇvantu | kīdṛśāḥ | sudānavaḥ suṣṭhu phalasya dātāraḥ agnijihvā agnir jihvāsthānīyo mukhyo yeṣu marutsu tādṛśāḥ ṛtāvṛdhaḥ satyasya yajñasya vā vardhakāḥ | tathā dhṛtavrato gṛhītakarmā varuṇo devo 'śvibhyāṃ devābhyām uṣasā devatayā sajūḥ saha somaṃ pibatu ||

(The line is broken at the page-foot of p. 537 after "…yeṣu marut-" and continues on p. 538 with "…tādṛśāḥ".)

Translation: "May the Marut gods hear our stoma, our praise. Of what kind? Sudānavaḥ, giving good fruit generously; agnijihvāḥ, those among whom Agni, standing in the place of the tongue, is the chief — such are they; ṛtāvṛdhaḥ, the increasers of truth or of the sacrifice. And may the god Varuṇa, dhṛtavrataḥ, who has taken up the rites, sajūḥ, together with the two Aśvins, the gods, and with the goddess Uṣas, drink the Soma."

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya, grammatical tail (p. 538; transcribed from the better scan, PDF 553)

> सुदानवः । डुदाञ् दाने । दाभाभ्यां नुः । उ. ३-३२ । इति भावे नुप्रत्ययः । दानुशब्द आद्युदात्तः । शोभनं दानु येषां । आद्युदात्तं द्व्यच्छन्दसीत्युत्तरपदाद्युदात्तत्वं । अग्निजिह्वाः । अग्नेर्जिह्वायामवस्थिता हविर्भाज इत्यर्थः । तात्स्थ्यात् ताच्छब्द्यं । अग्निर्जिह्वास्थानीयो येषां ते । छान्दसमन्तोदात्तत्वं । ऋतावृधः । ऋतस्य सत्यस्य यज्ञस्य वा वर्धयितारः । वृधेरन्तर्भावितण्यर्थात् क्विप्चेति क्विप् । अन्येषामपि दृश्यत इति पूर्वपदस्य दीर्घत्वं ॥ ३० ॥

sudānavaḥ | ḍudāñ dāne | dābhābhyāṃ nuḥ | u. 3-32 | iti bhāve nupratyayaḥ | dānuśabda ādyudāttaḥ | śobhanaṃ dānu yeṣāṃ | ādyudāttaṃ dvyac chandasīty uttarapadādyudāttatvaṃ | agnijihvāḥ | agner jihvāyām avasthitā havirbhāja ity arthaḥ | tātsthyāt tācchabdyaṃ | agnir jihvāsthānīyo yeṣāṃ te | chāndasam antodāttatvaṃ | ṛtāvṛdhaḥ | ṛtasya satyasya yajñasya vā vardhayitāraḥ | vṛdher antarbhāvitaṇyarthāt kvip ceti kvip | anyeṣām api dṛśyata iti pūrvapadasya dīrghatvaṃ || 30 ||

(Gist: sudānu with nu (Uṇ. 3-32), the second member initial-acute; agnijihvāḥ "those stationed on Agni's tongue", Vedic end-acute; ṛtāvṛdh with kvip and the lengthened first member. The closing "॥ 30 ॥" is the varga number (Varga 30 = Ṛks 11–14).)

Pratipadārtha (p. 538) — "sudānavaḥ — those who give excellent fruit; agnijihvāḥ — those who have Agni as their tongue; ṛtāvṛdhaḥ — who are the increasers of truth or of the sacrifice; marutaḥ — the Marut gods; stomam — our praise; śṛṇvantu — let them hear; dhṛtavrataḥ — the protector of rites, varuṇaḥ — the god Varuṇa; aśvibhyām — with the Aśvin gods; uṣasā — with the goddess Uṣas; sajūḥ — united; somam — the Soma juice; pibatu — let him drink."

Bhāvārtha (p. 538) — "The Marut gods are increasers of truth and of the sacrifice. They have Agni as their tongue. They are able to give excellent fruit. Let such handsome and beneficent Maruts hear our praise. Let the god Varuṇa, protector of rites, drink the Soma together with the Aśvin gods and with the goddess Uṣas."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 538) — "Let the liberal Maruts who drink through Agni (fire) and are encouragers of sacrifice, hear our praise ; let Varuna who fulfils the rites with Aswins and Ushas drink the Soma-juice."

Page 538

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 538–540 - stomam — "the praise, this praise that we are making." - sudānavaḥ — "suṣṭhu phalasya dātāraḥ: those who give good fruits to sacrifices and such acts; or those who give the desired objects to the performers of sacrifices." - agnijihvāḥ — "those who have Agni as tongue; that is, since they receive the oblation which is offered in Agni with the deities in view, they receive it by the tongue of Agni or through Agni.

For this reason it is the custom to call the deities agnijihvāḥ. A few examples are given" — seven Ṛgveda passages quoted by the Kannada author, untranslated in the source; I give each in three layers with my own gloss, mine and tentative; the reference numerals were zoom-checked on the better scan (PDF 554):

1. अग्निजिह्वा मनवः सूरचक्षसो विश्वे नो देवा अवसागमन्निह ॥ (Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-89-7; the last digit is the flat-footed 7)

   agnijihvā manavaḥ sūracakṣaso viśve no devā avasāgaman iha || — mine and tentative: "The Manus, with Agni as their tongue, with the sun as their eye — may all the gods come here to us for our protection."

2. इमं स्तोमं रोदसी प्र ब्रवीम्यृदूदराः शृणवन्नग्निजिह्वाः ॥ (Ṛ. Saṃ. 3-54-10)

   imaṃ stomaṃ rodasī pra bravīmy ṛdūdarāḥ śṛṇavann agnijihvāḥ || — mine and tentative: "I declare this praise to heaven and earth; may the tender-bellied (? ṛdūdarāḥ, reading [?]) ones, tongued with Agni, hear."

3. ये अग्निजिह्वा ऋतसाप आसुर्ये मनुं चक्रुरुपरं दसाय ॥ (Ṛ. Saṃ. 6-21-10, as printed)

   ye agnijihvā ṛtasāpa āsur ye manuṃ cakrur uparaṃ dasāya || — mine and tentative: "They who, with Agni as tongue, were the guardians (? ṛtasāpaḥ) of the rite, who made Manu (the) later (? uparam) for the (dasāya)…" (the second line is hard; I give no firm sense).

4. द्विजन्मानो ये ऋतसापः सत्याः स्वर्वन्तो यजता अग्निजिह्वाः ॥ (Ṛ. Saṃ. 6-50-2)

   dvijanmāno ye ṛtasāpaḥ satyāḥ svarvanto yajatā agnijihvāḥ || — mine and tentative: "the twice-born ones, who are keepers of the rite, the true, the heaven-possessing, the worshipful, tongued with Agni."

5. ये अग्निजिह्वा उत वा यजत्रा आसद्यास्मिन् बर्हिषि मादयध्वम् ॥ (Ṛ. Saṃ. 6-52-13)

   ye agnijihvā uta vā yajatrā āsadyāsmin barhiṣi mādayadhvam || — mine and tentative: "You who are tongued with Agni, or who are worshipful: sitting down on this grass, rejoice."

6. बहवः सूरचक्षसोऽग्निजिह्वा ऋतावृधः ॥ (Ṛ. Saṃ. 7-66-10; the first digit is the flat-footed 7)

   bahavaḥ sūracakṣaso 'gnijihvā ṛtāvṛdhaḥ || — mine and tentative: "the many, sun-eyed, fire-tongued increasers of the rite."

7. दिवक्षसो अग्निजिह्वा ऋतावृध ऋतस्य योनिं विमृशन्त आसते ॥ (Ṛ. Saṃ. 10-65-7)

   divakṣaso agnijihvā ṛtāvṛdha ṛtasya yoniṃ vimṛśanta āsate || — mine and tentative: "the heaven-dwelling (? divakṣasaḥ), fire-tongued increasers of the rite sit, touching (considering) the womb of the rite."

The Kannada author continues: "In the sacrifice the deity who appears to us directly is Agni; the other deities do not appear to us directly. Therefore, if the oblation is to be offered to deities other than Agni, it is possible only through Agni, that is, by sacrificing into Agni. On this point there is a scriptural sentence, parokṣaṃ vā anye devā ijyante (printed"Tai. Saṃ. 1-7"; the second digit is the 2/7 glyph, read as 7 by comparison with the 7s on the same page) — परोक्षं वा अन्ये देवा इज्यन्ते — parokṣaṃ vā anye devā ijyante — mine and tentative: 'the other gods are worshipped indirectly'. Because the other deities accept the oblation poured into Agni, it is as though Agni were their tongue. Hence it is proper to call those deities agnijihvāḥ." - ṛtāvṛdhaḥ — "satyasya yajñasya vā vardhakāḥ: those who increase truth or the sacrifice, they are those who bring about the conduct of the sacrifice. For further explanation of this word see Ṛgveda Saṃhitā part 1, pp. 707 and 647." - dhṛtavrataḥ — "gṛhītakarmā: one who accepts the sacrificial rites that we perform." - sajūḥ — "saha: together with."

Page 540

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (p. 540 — grammar page, noted briefly) - sudānavaḥ: root ḍudāñ dāne; the Uṇādi sūtra dābhābhyāṃ nuḥ (Uṇ. 3-312, as printed here; the bhāṣya gives 3-32) — the suffix nu after the roots dā ("to give") and bhā ("to shine"), here in the abstract sense (bhāva); the word dānu is initial-acute; "śobhanaṃ dānu yeṣāṃ te", a bahuvrīhi; "ādyudāttaṃ dvyac chandasi" gives the second member the initial acute. - agnijihvāḥ: "agner jihvāḥ", a tatpuruṣa. The Kannada author gives the example "mañcāḥ krośanti" ("the platforms cry out", i.e. those on the platforms): as persons on a platform are meant by "platform", so the Maruts who are in the tongue (of Agni) are meant by the word "tongue" — those who receive the oblation placed on Agni's tongue. A compound ends in the acute (samāsasya, antodātta). Or: a bahuvrīhi "agnir jihvā yeṣāṃ te" — "those who have Agni as chief, as the tongue is chief"; as a bahuvrīhi the first member's natural accent should come, but by the Vedic option the end-acute stands. - ṛtāvṛdhaḥ: "ṛtam = truth, or the sacrifice, which they increase"; root vṛdhu vardhane, the root including its causative sense; kvip by kvip ca; anyeṣām api dṛśyate lengthens the first member ṛta. || 14 ||

Close of Sūkta 44. Printed at the foot of p. 540, in ordinary type under the last grammar paragraph: "illige 44neya sūktavu mugidudu" — "Here the 44th sūkta is finished." (The numeral "44" (two ಴-shaped 4s) and the closing note are clear on the better scan, PDF 555.) A short rule follows. The sūkta (agne vivasvat, 14 Riks) therefore occupies printed pp. 493–540 (PDF 507–554), and the contents table's page for Sūkta 45 (p. 541) is again off, as for Sūktas 42 and 43: Sūkta 45 begins on the lower third of p. 540.

Beginning of Sūkta 45 (identification only, not translated here). Below the closing note, on the same leaf (p. 540 = PDF 554), stands the large title "nalavattaidaneya sūktavu" ("the forty-fifth sūkta") and a Sanskrit introduction beginning "tvam agne vasūn" — the second sūkta of the Ninth Anuvāka, ten Riks, in the Anuṣṭubh metre; the Anukramaṇikā is quoted as "tvam agne daśānuṣṭubham ardharco 'ntyo daiva"; ṛṣi Praskaṇva Kāṇva; deity Agni (the last half-ṛk is addressed to "the gods", devāḥ). The Kannada anuvāda and the heading block (p. 541 = PDF 555: Maṇḍala 1, Anuvāka 9, Sūkta 45, Aṣṭaka 1, Adhyāya 3, Varga 31, 32; ṛks 10) belong to the next session; Rik 1 begins on p. 542 (PDF 556).

Summary of Sūkta 44 (my note). Fourteen Riks to Agni, the Maruts, Varuṇa, Mitra, Aryaman, the Aśvins and Uṣas (the last two Riks), all written in full. Rik 1 invokes Agni, bringer of the gods, with the Uṣas; Riks 2–6 call on him as messenger, ruler of sacrifices and herald; Riks 7–9 ask him to bring the gods at dawn to the Soma; Rik 10 praises him as shining after many dawns and as purohita of the sacrifice, the protector of villages; Rik 11 says that as Manu placed him, so we place him, the accomplisher of the sacrifice and immortal messenger; Rik 12 compares his flames, when he goes as messenger, to the roaring waves of the sea; Rik 13 asks him to hear and to bring Mitra, Aryaman and the other morning-going gods to the grass; Rik 14 invites the Maruts to hear the praise and Varuṇa to drink the Soma with the Aśvins and Uṣas. The reference numerals, accents and grammatical tails were re-checked against the better scan in the numeral pass (Oct 28, 2026); remaining doubts are flagged where they occur.

SŪKTA 45 (printed p. 540 foot = PDF 554; second sūkta of the Ninth Anuvāka)

Forty-fifth Sūkta (large Kannada title line at the foot of p. 540: "nalavattaidaneya sūktavu")

Pages 540–541 (PDF 554–555) — Sāyaṇa's introduction, the Kannada anuvāda, and the heading

Sāyaṇa's introduction (printed in Kannada script at the foot of p. 540; checked on the better scan, PDF 555)

> त्वमग्ने वसूनिति दशर्चं द्वितीयं सूक्तम् । अत्रानुक्रमणिका । त्वमग्ने दशानुष्टुभमर्धर्चोऽन्त्यो दैव इति । प्रस्कण्व ऋषिः । आनुष्टुभं छन्दः । इदं सूक्तमग्निदेवताकं । पूर्वत्राग्नेयं त्वित्युक्तत्वात् । अयं सोम इत्यर्धर्चो देवदेवत्यः ॥ प्रातरनुवाक आग्नेये क्रतावाश्विनशस्त्रे चैतत्सूक्तं । अथैतस्या रात्रेरिति खण्डे सूत्रितं । त्वमग्ने वसूंस्त्वं हि क्षैतवत् । आ. ४-१३ । इति ॥ तथा गर्गत्रिरात्रस्यान्त्येऽहन्येतत्सूक्तमाज्यशस्त्रं । आङ्गिरसं स्वर्गकाम इति खण्डे सूत्रितं । वारवन्तीयमुत्तमे त्वमग्ने वसूँरिति चाज्यं । आ. १०-२ । इति ॥

tvam agne vasūn iti daśarcaṃ dvitīyaṃ sūktam | atrānukramaṇikā | tvam agne daśānuṣṭubham ardharco 'ntyo daiva iti | praskaṇva ṛṣiḥ | ānuṣṭubhaṃ chandaḥ | idaṃ sūktam agnidevatākaṃ | pūrvatrāgneyaṃ tv ity uktatvāt | ayaṃ soma ity ardharco devadevatyaḥ || prātaranuvāka āgneye kratāv āśvinaśastre caitat sūktaṃ | athaitasyā rātrer iti khaṇḍe sūtritaṃ | tvam agne vasūṃs tvaṃ hi kṣaitavat | ā. 4-13 | iti || tathā gargatrirātrasyānte 'hany etat sūktam ājyaśastraṃ | āṅgirasaṃ svargakāma iti khaṇḍe sūtritaṃ | vāravantīyam uttame tvam agne vasūm̐r iti cājyaṃ | ā. 10-2 | iti ||

Translation (mine, tentative; the Āśvalāyana references zoom-checked on the better scan, PDF 555–556): "'Tvam agne vasūn' is the second sūkta, of ten ṛks. The Anukramaṇikā here: 'tvam agne, ten (ṛks) in Anuṣṭubh; the last half-ṛk is to the gods'. The ṛṣi is Praskaṇva. The metre is Anuṣṭubh. This sūkta has Agni as its deity, since 'Āgneya' was said in the preceding (Anukramaṇī entry); the half-ṛk 'ayaṃ somaḥ' is addressed to the gods. In the Prātaranuvāka, at the Āgneya rite and in the Āśvina-śastra, this sūkta is [used]; it is prescribed in the section beginning 'athaitasyā rātreḥ': 'tvam agne vasūṃs tvaṃ hi kṣaitavat' (Āśv. 4-13). Likewise on the last day of the Gargatrirātra this sūkta is the Ājya-śastra; it is prescribed in the section 'āṅgirasaṃ svargakāmaḥ': 'in the last, the Vāravantīya, tvam agne vasūn, and the Ājya' (Āśv. 10-2)."

Anuvāda (Kannada), p. 541 — "Tvam agne vasūn is the second sūkta in the ninth anuvāka. It has ten ṛks. In the Anukramaṇikā it is stated: 'tvam agne daśānuṣṭubham ardharco 'ntyo daiva iti'. The ṛṣi of this sūkta is Praskaṇva, the son of Kaṇva. The metre is Anuṣṭubh. The deity of this sūkta is Agni; that is, the deity of this sūkta is Agni. For the second half, ayaṃ somaḥ, of the last ṛk, arvāñcam, the deities are the Devas, that is, the gods themselves. In the time of reciting the mantras of the Prātaranuvāka this sūkta is used for the Āśvina-śastra mantras connected with the Āgneya rite. This matter is indicated in the Āśvalāyana Śrauta-sūtra, in the section beginning 'atha etasyā rātreḥ', by the sūtra 'tvam agne vasūn' (Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-45-1) and 'tvaṃ hi kṣaitavat' (Ṛ. Saṃ. 6-2-1) (Ā. 4-13); and on the last day of the sacrifice called Gargatrirātra this sūkta is to be recited as an Ājya-śastra mantra, as laid down in the section 'āṅgirasaṃ svargakāmaḥ' of the same sūtra by the sūtra 'vāravantīyam uttame tvam agne vasūr iti cājyam' (Ā. 10-2)." (Both the Sanskrit introduction and the anuvāda print Ā. 4-13 and 10-2, zoom-checked on the better scan.)

॥ ॐ ॥

सूक्त — ४५ ॥ मण्डल — १ ॥ अनुवाक — ९ ॥ सूक्त — ४५ ॥ ॥ अष्टक — १ ॥ अध्याय — ३ ॥ वर्ग — ३१, ३२ ॥ ॥ सूक्तदल्लिरुव ऋक्संख्यै — १० ॥ ॥ ऋषिः — प्रस्कण्वः काण्वः ॥ ॥ देवता — १–९, १० रल्लि पूर्वार्ध अग्निः । १० रल्लि उत्तरार्ध देवाः ॥ ॥ छन्दः — अनुष्टुप् ॥

sūkta 45 | maṇḍala 1 | anuvāka 9 | aṣṭaka 1 | adhyāya 3 | varga 31, 32 | ṛks 10 | ṛṣi: Praskaṇva Kāṇva | devatā: Riks 1–9 and the first half of Rik 10 Agni; the second half of Rik 10 the Devas | chandas: Anuṣṭubh.

(The Kannada words "sūktadalliruva ṛksaṃkhyai" = "number of ṛks in the sūkta" and "ralli" = "in" are left in their Kannada form inside the Devanagari block, as in earlier sūktas. The varga numerals "31, 32" are confirmed on the better scan (PDF 556); the page header of p. 541 reads "Varga 31".)

Rik 45.1 (pp. 542–546, PDF 556–560; better scan PDF 557–561)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 542)

त्वम॑ग्ने॒ वसू॑ँरिह रु॒द्राँ आ॑दि॒त्याँ उ॒त । यजा॑ स्वध्व॒रं जन॑ं मनु॑जातं घृत॒प्रु॒षं॑ ॥ १ ॥

tvám agne vásūm̐r ihá rudrā́m̐ ādityā́m̐ utá | yájā svadhvaráṃ janaṃ mánujātaṃ ghṛtapruṣaṃ || 1 ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. The anudātta bar in svadhvaram stands under dhva*.)*

Pada-pāṭha (p. 542)

त्वम् । अग्ने । वसून् । इह । रुद्रान् । आदित्यान् । उत । यज । सुऽअध्वरम् । जनम् । मनुऽजातम् । घृतऽप्रुषम् ॥ १ ॥

tvam | agne | vasūn | iha | rudrān | ādityān | uta | yaja | su-adhvaram | janam | manu-jātam | ghṛta-pruṣam || 1 ||

(The Saṃhitā prints the verb as long-vowelled yajā*; the Pada has the short* yaja*, and the grammar below explains the lengthening in the Saṃhitā.)*

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 542)

हे अग्ने त्वमिह कर्मणि वस्वादीन्यज । उताऽपि च जनमन्यमपि देवतारूपं प्राणिनं यज । कीदृशं स्वध्वरं शोभनयागयुक्तं मनुजातं मनुना प्रजापतिनोत्पादितं घृतप्रुषमुदकस्य सेक्तारं ॥

he agne tvam iha karmaṇi vasvādīn yaja | utāpi ca janam anyam api devatārūpaṃ prāṇinaṃ yaja | kīdṛśaṃ svadhvaraṃ śobhanayāgayuktaṃ manujātaṃ manunā prajāpatinotpāditaṃ ghṛtapruṣam udakasya sektāraṃ ||

Translation: "O Agni, in this rite worship the Vasus and the others. Uta, and also janam, another living being too, in the form of a deity, worship. Of what kind? Svadhvaram, with a goodly sacrifice; manujātam, begotten by Manu, by the Prajāpati; ghṛtapruṣam, the sprinkler of water."

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya, grammatical tail (p. 542; transcribed from the better scan, PDF 557)

यज । द्व्यचोऽतस्तिङ इति संहितायां दीर्घत्वं । स्वध्वरं । शोभनोऽध्वरो यस्यासौ स्वध्वरः । नञ्सुभ्यामित्युत्तरपदान्तोदात्तत्वं । मनुजातं । जनेरन्तर्भावितण्यर्थात्कर्मणि क्तः । तृतीया कर्मणीति पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं । घृतप्रुषं । प्रुष प्लुष स्नेहनसेचनपूरणेषु । घृतेनोदकेन प्रुष्णाति पूरयतीति घृतप्रुट् । क्विप्चेति क्विप् ॥

yaja | dvyaco 'tastiṅa iti saṃhitāyāṃ dīrghatvaṃ | svadhvaraṃ | śobhano 'dhvaro yasyāsau svadhvaraḥ | nañsubhyām ity uttarapadāntodāttatvaṃ | manujātaṃ | janer antarbhāvitaṇyarthāt karmaṇi ktaḥ | tṛtīyā karmaṇīti pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ | ghṛtapruṣaṃ | pruṣa pluṣa snehanasecanapūraṇeṣu | ghṛtenodakena pruṣṇāti pūrayatīti ghṛtapruṭ | kvip ceti kvip ||

(Gist: yajā lengthened in the Saṃhitā; svadhvara end-acute by nañsubhyām; manujāta with the first member's accent by tṛtīyā karmaṇi; ghṛtapruṣ with kvip.)

Pratipadārtha (p. 542) — "agne — O Agni; tvam — you; iha — in this sacrificial rite; vasūn — the Vasus; rudrān — the Rudras; ādityān — the Ādityas; uta — and; svadhvaram — as one joined to an excellent sacrifice; manujātam — as one born of Manu; ghṛtapruṣam — as the one who sprinkles water; janam — (the other) group of beings (in the form of deities); yaja — worship."

Bhāvārtha (p. 542) — "O Agni, in this sacrifice, for our sake, worship the Vasus, the Rudras and the Ādityas, and the other class of beings in the form of deities, who are joined to an excellent sacrifice, are born of Manu, and sprinkle water."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 543) — "Agni, (bring hither and) worship the Vasus, the Rudras, the Adityas or any other being begotten by Manu, sacrificing well and sprinkling water (ghee)."

Page 543

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 543–546 - The Kannada author opens with a general note: "In this sūkta the ṛṣi, calling the Vasus, Rudras and Ādityas, prays that they be gratified by the sacrifice. Who are the Vasus, Rudras and Ādityas indicated here? It is proper to examine subtly what their places are. Here 'Vasus' means deities belonging to the group of Vasus, 'Rudras' deities belonging to the group of Rudras, 'Ādityas' deities belonging to the group of Ādityas. As a rule the Vasus, Rudras and Ādityas are spoken of only in the plural. It is said both in this sūkta and elsewhere that the Vasus are 8, the Rudras 11 and the Ādityas 12 — in all 33 deities [printed 8, 11, 12, "in all 33", zoom-checked; the three figures sum to 31, recorded as printed]. In the second ṛk of this sūkta Agni is asked to come bringing trayastriṃśatam, the thirty-three, that is, the Vasu-Rudra-Āditya deities. We give some examples from the Ṛgveda in which these deities are praised." - Eight Ṛgveda citations follow, untranslated in the source; I give each in three layers, with my own gloss mine and tentative; the reference numerals were zoom-checked on the better scan (PDF 558–559):

1. आदित्या रुद्रा वसवः सुनीथा द्यावाक्षामा पृथिवी अन्तरिक्षम् । (Ṛ. Saṃ. 3-8-8)

   ādityā rudrā vasavaḥ sunīthā dyāvākṣāmā pṛthivī antarikṣam | — mine and tentative: "Ādityas, Rudras, Vasus, good leaders; heaven and earth, the earth, the middle region."

2. अश्विना मित्रावरुणा भगं च वसून् रुद्राँ आदित्याँ इह हुवे ॥ (Ṛ. Saṃ. 3-20-5)

   aśvinā mitrāvaruṇā bhagaṃ ca vasūn rudrāṁ ādityāṁ iha huve || — mine and tentative: "I call here the Aśvins, Mitra and Varuṇa, and Bhaga, the Vasus, the Rudras, the Ādityas."

3. आदित्यानां वसूनां रुद्रियाणां देवो देवानां न मिनाति धाम ॥ (Ṛ. Saṃ. 10-48-11)

   ādityānāṃ vasūnāṃ rudriyāṇāṃ devo devānāṃ na mināti dhāma || — mine and tentative: "of the Ādityas, the Vasus, the Rudriyas — the god does not diminish the abode of the gods."

4. देवाँ आदित्याँ अवसे हवामहे वसून् रुद्राँ सवितारं सुदंससम् ॥ (Ṛ. Saṃ. 10-66-4)

   devāṁ ādityāṁ avase havāmahe vasūn rudrāṁ savitāraṃ sudaṃsasam || — mine and tentative: "We call the gods, the Ādityas, for help, the Vasus, the Rudras, Savitṛ of good works."

5. आदित्या रुद्रा वसवः सुदानव इमा ब्रह्म शस्यमानानि जिन्वत ॥ (Ṛ. Saṃ. 10-66-12)

   ādityā rudrā vasavaḥ sudānava imā brahma śasyamānāni jinvata || — mine and tentative: "Ādityas, Rudras, Vasus, good givers, quicken these prayers as they are recited."

6. अहं रुद्रेभिर्वसुभिश्चराम्यहमादित्यैरुत विश्वदेवैः ॥ (Ṛ. Saṃ. 10-125-1)

   ahaṃ rudrebhir vasubhiś carāmy aham ādityair uta viśvadevaiḥ || — mine and tentative: "I move with the Rudras, with the Vasus; I with the Ādityas and with the All-gods."

7. वसवो रुद्रा आदित्या उपरिस्पृशं मोग्रं चेत्तारमधिराजमक्रन् ॥ (Ṛ. Saṃ. 10-128-9)

   vasavo rudrā ādityā uparispṛśaṃ mograṃ cettāram adhirājam akran || — mine and tentative: "The Vasus, Rudras and Ādityas have made me a high-reaching, mighty, wise overlord (?)" (the reading "ograṃ" and the sense are doubtful).

8. आदित्यै रुद्रैर्वसुभिर्न आ गहि मृळीकाय न आ गहि ॥ (Ṛ. Saṃ. 10-150-1)

   ādityai rudrair vasubhir na ā gahi mṛḷīkāya na ā gahi || — mine and tentative: "Come to us with the Ādityas, Rudras, Vasus; come to us for our well-being."

“Many more examples could be given. In these ṛks it is said that Indra is chief of the Vasu group, Rudra of the Rudra group, and Aditi of the Ādityas:”

9. इन्द्रं नो अग्ने वसुभिः सजोषा रुद्रं रुद्रेभिरा वह बृहन्तम् । आदित्येभिरदितिं विश्वजन्यां बृहस्पतिमृक्वभिर्विश्ववारम् ॥ (Ṛ. Saṃ. 7-10-4; the first digit is the flat-footed 7)

   indraṃ no agne vasubhiḥ sajoṣā rudraṃ rudrebhir ā vaha bṛhantam | ādityebhir aditiṃ viśvajanyāṃ bṛhaspatim ṛkvabhir viśvavāram || — mine and tentative: “Agni, in company with the Vasus bring us Indra; with the Rudras, the great Rudra; with the Ādityas, Aditi, kind to all people; and Bṛhaspati, all-choosing, with the praisers (ṛkvabhiḥ).”

10. इन्द्रो वसुभिः परि पातु नो गयमादित्यैर्नो अदितिः शर्म यच्छतु । रुद्रो रुद्रेभिर्देवो मृळयाति नस्त्वष्टा नो ग्नाभिः सुविताय जिन्वतु ॥ (printed “Ṛ. Su. 10-66-3” [sic, for Ṛ. Saṃ.])

    indro vasubhiḥ pari pātu no gayam ādityair no aditiḥ śarma yacchatu | rudro rudrebhir devo mṛḷayāti nas tvaṣṭā no gnābhiḥ suvitāya jinvatu || — mine and tentative: “May Indra with the Vasus protect our household; may Aditi with the Ādityas give us shelter; may the god Rudras with the Rudras make us happy; may Tvaṣṭṛ with the goddesses speed us to well-being.”

- “The names of these Vasus, Rudras and Ādityas are not indicated in the Veda; they are told in the Purāṇas and the like.” The Kannada author then cites the great sage Yāska on the form of the word vasavaḥ (Nirukta 12-42), untranslated in the source:

  वसवो यद्विवसते सर्वमग्निर्वसुभिर्वासव इति समाख्या तस्मात्पृथिवीस्थानाः । इन्द्रो वसुभिर्वासव इति समाख्या तस्मान्मध्यमस्थानाः । वसव आदित्यरश्मयो विवासनात्तस्माद्द्युस्थानाः ॥ (Ni. 12-42)

  vasavo yad vivasate sarvam agnir vasubhir vāsava iti samākhyā tasmāt pṛthivīsthānāḥ | indro vasubhir vāsava iti samākhyā tasmān madhyamasthānāḥ | vasava ādityaraśmayo vivāsanāt tasmād dyusthānāḥ || — mine and tentative: “Because they (the Vasus) cover/abide in all, Agni with the Vasus — the name ‘Vāsava’ — therefore they have the earth as their place; Indra with the Vasus — the name ‘Vāsava’ — therefore they have the middle region as their place; the Vasus are the rays of the Sun, from their shining forth/pervading, therefore they have the heaven as their place.”

  The Kannada author explains: “That is, these Vasus are in the three places, earth, atmosphere and heaven. Since Agni dwells in everything in the form of a Vasu, they are in the earth-place. Indra, being accompanied by Vasus, is called Vāsava; since he is the chief of the Vasus, the Vasus are as if in the middle place, the atmosphere. The word vasavaḥ also means the rays of the Sun, which pervade the upper part of the atmosphere and the heaven everywhere; so they are in the heaven-place. Hence, according to Yāska, these Vasus pervade earth, atmosphere and heaven.” Two ṛk-quotations used by Yāska to show the Vasus (both untranslated in the source):

  सुगा वो देवाः सुपथा अकर्म य आजग्मुः सवनमिदं जुषाणाः । जक्षिवांसः पपिवांसश्च विश्वेऽस्मे धत्त वसवो वसूनि ॥ (Vājasaneya Saṃhitā 8-18)

  sugā vo devāḥ supathā akarma ya ājagmuḥ savanam idaṃ juṣāṇāḥ | jakṣivāṃsaḥ papivāṃsaś ca viśve ’sme dhatta vasavo vasūni || — mine and tentative: “O gods, we have made easy your going and good your path, you who have come, delighting in this pressing; having eaten and drunk, all of you, O Vasus, put riches in us."

ज्मा अत्र वसवो रन्त देवा उरावन्तरिक्षे मर्जयन्त शुभ्राः । अर्वाक्पथ उरुज्रयः कृणुध्वं श्रोता दूतस्य जग्मुषो नो अस्य ॥ (Ṛ. Saṃ. 7-39-3; the first digit is the flat-footed 7)

jmā atra vasavo ranta devā urāv antarikṣe marjayanta śubhrāḥ | arvākpatha urujrayaḥ kṛṇudhvaṃ śrotā dūtasya jagmuṣo no asya || — mine and tentative: "Here on the earth the shining Vasus, the gods, took delight; in the wide atmosphere they made themselves bright; make (your) ways turn this way, wide-ranging ones; hear us, the messenger who has come" — doubtful throughout [?]; the second line is not given a firm sense.

"On the deities called Rudras and Ādityas, the derivations given for the words rudra and ādityа should be applied here in the same way; we have already given the etymological senses of these words."

- manujātam — "born of Manu. Though the name of Manu is cited in many places in the Ṛgveda, little detail is found anywhere. Manu is known as the primal ancestor of the human race and as the guide of the order of sacrifices such as the yajña and yāga. When he was dividing his property among his sons, his youngest son Nābhānediṣṭha, who was studying in the teacher's house in celibacy, got no share; so, finishing his studies and returning, he questioned his father about his share. [Manu] sent him to the place where the Āṅgiras sages were sacrificing, saying that if he taught them certain mantras they would give him wealth as he wished. This story is told both in the Aitareya Brāhmaṇa and in the Taittirīya Saṃhitā of the Yajurveda. Chiefly, since the sacrifice made by this Manu is famous, the matter of the sacrifice made by Manu is raised in the Ṛgveda. The matter of this Manu is told, besides in the Ṛgveda, in the Atharvaveda, the Taittirīya Saṃhitā, the Kāṭhaka Saṃhitā, the Śatapatha Brāhmaṇa, the Jaiminīya Upaniṣad Brāhmaṇa and other places" — the references printed are: Atharvaveda (14-2-41), Taittirīya Saṃhitā (1-5-1-3; 7-5-15-3; 2-5-9-1; 2-6-7-1; 3-3-2-1, 10-5 [the last two groups split over a line; how they join is unclear [?]]; 6-6-6-1), Kāṭhaka Saṃhitā (8-15), Śatapatha Brāhmaṇa (1-1-4-14), Jaiminīya Upaniṣad Brāhmaṇa (3-15-2). "Because he is the son of Vivasvān (one deity) he is named Manu Vaivasvata, and Vivasvān (Ṛ. Saṃ. 8-52-1; Ath. 8-10-24; Śat. Br. 13-4-3-3); because he belongs to the line of Saraṇyū [? "Saṇarṇā", as printed: saṇarṇā — the reading is unclear] he is Sāvarṇi (Sāvarṇa), and because he belongs to the line of Saṃvaraṇa, Sāṃvaraṇi (Ṛ. Saṃ. 8-51-1): so he has many names."
- ghṛtapruṣam — "wetted by water; ghṛta means water (Ni. 7-24; the first digit is the 2/7 glyph, read 7 [?])."

Page 546

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (p. 546 — grammar page, noted briefly) - yaja: root yaja devapūjādau, loṭ, sip, hi, śap; ato heḥ gives luk of hi; dvyaco 'tastiṅaḥ (Pā. 6-3-135) — द्व्यचोऽतस्तिङः — lengthens the final of a tiṅ-ending word with two vowels in the Saṃhitā of the Veda: hence yajā. - svadhvaram: a bahuvrīhi within a bahuvrīhi: "na vidyate dhvaraḥ (injury) yasya saḥ = adhvaraḥ"; "śobhano 'dhvaro yasya saḥ"; nañsubhyām (Pā. 6-2-172) — नञ्सुभ्याम् — in a

bahuvrīhi, after nañ and su the second member keeps its end-acute. - manujātam: "born by Manu", "born of the Prajāpati named Manu"; the root jani prādurbhāve with the causative sense (ṇic) included; niṣṭhā — the suffix kta in the passive sense; janasanakhanām… gives the ā-substitution; homogeneous lengthening; tṛtīyā karmaṇi (Pā. 6-2-48) — तृतीया कर्मणि — a kta ending with a passive sense following, the instrumental first member keeps its natural accent. - ghṛtapruṣam: pruṣa, pluṣa snehana-secana-pūraṇeṣu, kryādi; "ghṛtena = with water pruṣṇāti, he fills"; kvip ca gives kvip; ghṛtapruṭ in the nominative singular, ghṛtapruṣam in the accusative singular. || 1 ||

Rik 45.2 (pp. 546–549, PDF 560–563; better scan PDF 561–564)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 546)

> श्रुष्टीवानो हि दाशुषे देवा अग्ने विचेतसः । तान्रोहिदश्व गिर्वणस्त्रयस्त्रिंशतमा वह ॥ २ ॥

śruṣṭīvāno hí dāśúṣe devā́ agne vícetasaḥ | tā́n rohidaśva girvaṇas tráyastriṃśatam ā́ vaha || 2 ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

Page 547

Pada-pāṭha (p. 547)

> श्रुष्टिऽवानः । हि । दाशुषे । देवाः । अग्ने । विऽचेतसः । तान् । रोहित्ऽअश्व । गिर्वणः । त्रयःऽत्रिंशतम् । आ । वह ॥ २ ॥

śruṣṭi-vānaḥ | hi | dāśuṣe | devāḥ | agne | vi-cetasaḥ | tān | rohit-aśva | girvaṇaḥ | trayaḥ-triṃśatam | ā | vaha || 2 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 547)

> हे अग्ने विचेतसो विशिष्टप्रज्ञाना देवा दाशुषे हविर्दत्तवते यजमानाय श्रुष्टीवानो हि । श्रुष्टिः फलस्य दानं । तद्भाजः खलु । हे रोहिदश्व रोहिन्नामकैरश्वैरुपेत गिर्वणो गीर्भिः स्तुतिभिर्वननीयाग्ने । गिर्वणा देवो भवति गीर्भिरेनं वनयन्ति । नि. ६-१४ । इति यास्कः । त्रयस्त्रिंशतमनया संख्यया संख्यातांस्तान्देवान्ना वह । इहानय ॥

he agne vicetaso viśiṣṭaprajñānā devā dāśuṣe havirdattavate yajamānāya śruṣṭīvāno hi | śruṣṭiḥ phalasya dānaṃ | tadbhājaḥ khalu | he rohidaśva rohinnāmakair aśvair upeta girvaṇo gīrbhiḥ stutibhir vananīyāgne | girvaṇā devo bhavati gīrbhir enaṃ vanayanti | ni. 6-14 | iti yāskaḥ | trayastriṃśatam anayā saṃkhyayā saṃkhyātāṃs tān devān ā vaha | ihānaya ||

Translation: "O Agni, the gods, vicetasaḥ, of special wisdom, śruṣṭīvānaḥ hi, are indeed givers of reward to dāśuṣe, the sacrificer who has given the oblation. Śruṣṭi is the giving of the fruit; they are partakers of that. O rohidaśva, you who are furnished with the horses named Rohit; O girvaṇaḥ, you who are to be served with songs, with praises, O Agni — 'girvaṇā is a god; they serve him with songs', says Yāska (Ni. 6-14). Bring here, ā vaha, those gods who are counted by the number trayastriṃśatam, thirty-three."

Grammatical tail (p. 547; characterized) - śruṣṭīvānaḥ: śruṣṭi has the sense of "impulse, giving"; the abstract suffix ktic; "those who serve (vananti) śruṣṭi, who share in it", hence śruṣṭīvānaḥ; the suffix vic by "(it is seen) after other roots too"; the lengthening is Vedic. - vicetasaḥ: "those whose mind (cetas) is special"; in the bahuvrīhi the first member keeps its natural accent. - girvaṇaḥ: "he who is to be served by songs (gīrbhiḥ)"; asun after vana; the shortening of the first member is Vedic. - trayastriṃśat: "three and thirty" (trayaś ca triṃśac ca); by tre strayaḥ (Pā. 6-3-48) trayas is substituted for tri; by saṃkhyā (Pā. 6-2-35) the first member keeps its natural accent.

Pratipadārtha (p. 547) — "agne — O Agni; vicetasaḥ — endowed with discriminating wisdom; devāḥ — the gods; dāśuṣe — to the sacrificer who gives the oblation; śruṣṭīvānaḥ hi — are indeed those who give the fruit; rohidaśva — you who are endowed with horses called Rohit; girvaṇaḥ — you who are fond of praise; trayastriṃśatam — those of the number thirty-three; tān — those gods; ā vaha — bring (here)."

Bhāvārtha (p. 547) — "O Agni, it is right that the gods have the discerning thought that after a man, the sacrificer, has offered the oblation, they should repay him. They are eager to give fruit to the sacrificer. You, fond of praise, are endowed with the horses called Rohit. Going with them, bring here those gods of the number thirty-three."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 548) — "The wise gods are givers of rewards to the offerer of oblations ; O Agni with the red horses, being praised by hymns, bring hither three and thirty (thirty-three) gods."

Page 548

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 548 - śruṣṭīvānaḥ — "phalasya dātāraḥ; prārthitasya phalasya dātāraḥ: givers of the fruit; givers of the fruit that was prayed for — they give the fruits that are desired." - vicetasaḥ — "viśiṣṭaprajñānāḥ: those who know everything, those endowed with knowledge." - rohidaśva — "Rohit is a name of Agni's vehicle or of his horses. Yāska says on this: 'harī indrasya | rohito 'gneḥ' (Ni. 2-28 as printed; both 2s are the curled glyph) — हरी इन्द्रस्य । रोहितोऽग्नेः — harī indrasya | rohito 'gneḥ — mine and tentative: 'the two bays are Indra's; the red ones are Agni's'. The meaning is: Agni, who has the horses called Rohit." - girvaṇaḥ — "gīrbhiḥ stutibhiḥ: one who is praised with words of praise; or a god. Yāska says: 'girvaṇā devo bhavati gīrbhir enaṃ vanayanti' (Ni. 6-14) — गिर्वणा देवो भवति गीर्भिरेनं वनयन्ति — mine and tentative: 'girvaṇā is a god; they serve him with songs'." - trayastriṃśatam — "the Vasus 8, the Rudras 11, the Ādityas 12 [as printed; their sum is 31], in all thirty-three deities, or deities of thirty-three kinds (classes)."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 548–549 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - śruṣṭīvānaḥ: the root śruś in the sense of impulse (preraṇa, as printed); after it, in the abstract sense, ktic; iṭ does not come by titutra…; the ś becomes ṣ by "vraścabhrasja…" (no number printed) — व्रश्चभ्रस्ज… — śruṣ + ti, then the ṭ-change: śruṣṭi. Root vana saṃbhaktau: "śruṣṭiṃ vananti = saṃbhajante", "those who have a liking for impulse"; vic by "anyebhyo 'pi dṛśyante"; "anyeṣām api dṛśyate" lengthens the first member; jas; sarvanāmasthāne cāsambuddhau (no number printed) gives the lengthening of the penultimate (upadhādīrgha). - vicetasaḥ: viśiṣṭaṃ cetaḥ yeṣāṃ te, a bahuvrīhi; the first member keeps its natural accent. ### Page 549

- girvaṇaḥ: root gṝ śabde; kvip ca gives kvip; ṛta id dhātoḥ (no number printed) gives ir for ṛ, which by uraṇ raparaḥ ends in r: gir; root vana saṃbhaktau, "gīrbhiḥ vanyate"; sarvadhātubhyo 'sun gives the suffix asun; hali ca (Pā. 8-2-77) lengthens the ik that is the penultimate of a root ending in r or v when a consonant follows, so the i of gir should lengthen; or, taking the case-ending that comes after as the cause of pada-designation, vor upadhāyā dīrgha ikaḥ (Pā. 8-2-76) lengthens the ik before a final r/v; but the maxim "sarve vidhayaś chandasi vikalpyante" makes these optional in the Chandas, and so they do not come here.
- trayastriṃśatam: "trayaś ca triṃśac ca = trayastriṃśat", or "thirty increased by three"; tre strayaḥ (Pā. 6-3-48): when a word expressing a number below a hundred follows, trayas is substituted for tri; this does not come in a bahuvrīhi, nor when aśīti follows (as printed); with triṃśat following, a number below a hundred, tri becomes trayas; trayas + triṃśat. Pañca…viṃśati-triṃśat… (Pā. 5-1-59) — when "trayodaśaśataḥ parimāṇam asya" is intended, trin is substituted for tri ; or the suffix śatip is added after tri by nipātana. "Of the thirty-three the pūraṇa" (trayastriṃśatāṃ pūraṇaḥ): tasya pūraṇe ḍaṭ (Pā. 5-2-48) gives the suffix ḍaṭ, and viṃśatyādibhyas tamaḍ anyatarasyām (Pā. 5-2-56) the augment tamaṭ: so trayastriṃśatam as printed. || 2 ||

Rik 45.3 (pp. 549–553, PDF 563–567; better scan PDF 564–568)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 549)

प्रियमेधवदत्रिवज्जातवेदो विरूपवत् । अङ्गिरस्वन्महिव्रत प्रस्कण्वस्य श्रुधी हवम् ॥ ३ ॥

priyamedhavád atrivájjātavedo virūpavát | aṅgirasván mahivrata práskaṇvasya śrúdhī hávam || 3 ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

Page 550

Pada-pāṭha (p. 550)

प्रियमेधऽवत् । अत्रिऽवत् । जातऽवेदः । विरूपऽवत् । अङ्गिरस्वत् । महिऽव्रत । प्रस्कण्वस्य । श्रुधि । हवम् ॥ ३ ॥

priyamedha-vat | atri-vat | jāta-vedaḥ | virūpa-vat | aṅgirasvat | mahi-vrata | praskaṇvasya | śrudhi | havam || 3 ||

(The Saṃhitā prints the long śrudhī*; the Pada has the short* śrudhi*, as the grammar below explains by the Vedic lengthening.)*

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 550)

हे महिव्रत प्रभूतकर्मन् जातवेदोऽग्ने प्रस्कण्वस्य कण्वपुत्रस्य महर्षेर्हवमाह्वानं श्रुधि । शृणु । तत्र चत्वारो दृष्टान्ताः । प्रियमेधात्रिविरूपाङ्गिरोनामका एतेषामाह्वानं यथा शृणोषि तद्वत् । अत्र निरुक्तं । प्रियमेधः

प्रिया अस्य मेधा यथैतेषामृषीणामेवं प्रस्कण्वस्य शृणु ह्वानम् । प्रस्कण्वः कण्वस्य पुत्रः कण्वप्रभवो यथा प्राग्रमिति । विरूपो नानारूपो महिव्रतो महाव्रत इति च । नि. ३-१७ ॥ प्रियमेधवत् । प्रियमेधस्येव । तत्र तस्येव । पा. ५-१-११६ । इति षष्ठ्यर्थे वतिः । एवमत्रिवदित्यादावपि । प्रस्कण्वादयो गताः ॥

he mahivrata prabhūtakarman jātavedo 'gne praskaṇvasya kaṇvaputrasya maharṣer havam āhvānaṃ śrudhi | śṛṇu | tatra catvāro dṛṣṭāntāḥ | priyamedhātrivirūpāṅgironāmakā eteṣām āhvānaṃ yathā śṛṇoṣi tadvat | atra niruktaṃ | priyamedhaḥ priyā asya medhā yathaiteṣām ṛṣīṇām evaṃ praskaṇvasya śṛṇu hvānam | praskaṇvaḥ kaṇvasya putraḥ kaṇvaprabhavo yathā prāgram iti | virūpo nānārūpo mahivrato mahāvrata iti ca | ni. 3-17 || priyamedhavat | priyamedhasyeva | tatra tasyeva | pā. 5-1-116 | iti ṣaṣṭhyarthe vatiḥ | evam atrivad ity ādāv api | praskaṇvādayo gatāḥ ||

(Checked on the better scan, PDF 565: "priyā asya medhā yathaiteṣām ṛṣīṇām", "yathā prāgram iti", Ni. 3-17, Pā. 5-1-116.)

Translation: "O mahivrata, doer of mighty works, O jātavedaḥ, O Agni: śrudhi, hear, havam, the call of praskaṇvasya, of the great sage Praskaṇva, son of Kaṇva. Here are four examples: the sages named Priyamedha, Atri, Virūpa and Aṅgiras — as you hear the call of these, so (hear mine). On this the Nirukta [says]: 'Priyamedhaḥ: he whose wisdom (medhā) is dear …; so for Praskaṇva hear the call; Praskaṇva, son of Kaṇva, born of Kaṇva …; virūpaḥ, of many forms; mahivrataḥ, of great vow' (Ni. 3-17). Priyamedhavat, like Priyamedha: by 'there, and like of that' (Pā. 5-1-116) the suffix vati in the sense of the genitive; the same for atrivat and the rest. Praskaṇva and the others have been dealt with."

Pratipadārtha (p. 550) — "mahivrata — O Agni, doer of mighty works; jātavedaḥ — one who knows everything that is born; priyamedhavat — as you listened to the call of Priyamedha; atrivat — as to that of Atri; virūpavat — as you heeded the call of Virūpa; aṅgirasvat — as you heeded the call of Aṅgiras; praskaṇvasya — of the great sage Praskaṇva, son of Kaṇva; havam — the invocation; śrudhi — hear."

Bhāvārtha (p. 550) — "O Agni, you are one who knows all that is born. As you heard the invocations of Priyamedha, Atri, Virūpa and Aṅgiras, so now too, hear the invocation of the great sage Praskaṇva, son of Kaṇva, and favour him."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 550) — "Agni, accomplisher of great acts, you know all that are born ; hear the invocation of Praskanwa, as you have heard those of Priyamedha, of Atri, of Virupa, of Angiras."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 551–552 - priyamedhavat — "as one hears the call of the sage named Priyamedha. In the Ṛgveda Priyamedha Āṅgiras means the sage named Priyamedha, a son or descendant of Aṅgiras. In the second sūkta of the eighth maṇḍala of the Ṛgveda Saṃhitā he is a ṛṣi of a number of ṛks together with the sage Medhātithi Kāṇva, and he is the ṛṣi of the ṛks of several other sūktas of the same maṇḍala and of one sūkta of the ninth maṇḍala; [as printed: of ṛks 1-40 of the second sūkta of the eighth maṇḍala with Medhātithi Kāṇva, of 19 ṛks of sūkta 68, 18 ṛks of sūkta 69, 6 ṛks of sūkta 87 (the 7 is the flat-footed glyph), and of 6 ṛks of sūkta 28 of the ninth maṇḍala]; in all, the ṛṣi of 89 ṛks. The name of this Priyamedha is cited in many ṛks:" three quotations follow, untranslated in the source; I give each in three layers, my gloss mine and tentative; the reference numerals were zoom-checked on the better scan (PDF 566–567):

1. दध्यङ्ह मे जनुषं पूर्वो अङ्गिराः प्रियमेधः कण्वो अत्रिर्मनुर्विदुस्ते मे पूर्वे मनुर्विदुः ॥ (Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-139-9)

   dadhyaṅ ha me januṣaṃ pūrvo aṅgirāḥ priyamedhaḥ kaṇvo atrir manur vidus te me pūrve manur viduḥ || — mine and tentative: "Dadhyañc, the earlier Aṅgiras, Priyamedha, Kaṇva, Atri, Manu knew my birth; those ancestors of mine, Manu, knew."

2. यथा चित्कण्वमावतं प्रियमेधमुप स्तुतम् । (Ṛ. Saṃ. 8-5-25)

   yathā cit kaṇvam āvataṃ priyamedham upa stutam | — mine and tentative: "As you two helped Kaṇva, (and) Priyamedha, who was praised …"

3. अर्वाञ्चं त्वा पुरुष्टुत प्रियमेधस्तुता हरी । (Ṛ. Saṃ. 8-6-45)

   arvāñcaṃ tvā puruṣṭuta priyamedhastutā harī | — mine and tentative: "O much-praised one, may the two bays praised by Priyamedha (bring) you hither."

"That this sage, being of the Āṅgirasa line, did many stotras and sacrifices especially together with the sage Medhātithi of the Kaṇva line, is to be understood. A close association of the Kaṇva line with the sage Priyamedha and his sons is seen; there are many ṛks whose words indicate 'priyamedhāḥ, the sons or descendants of Priyamedha':"

4. महिकेरव ऊतये प्रियमेधा अहूषत । (Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-45-4 — this very sūkta)

   mahikerava ūtaye priyamedhā ahūṣata | — mine and tentative: "The Priyamedhas, makers of great (deeds), called (Agni) for help."

5. यजद्धैनं प्रियमेधा इन्द्रं सत्राचा मनसा । (Ṛ. Saṃ. 8-2-37; the last digit is the flat-footed 7)

   yajaddhainaṃ priyamedhā indraṃ satrācā manasā | — mine and tentative: "The Priyamedhas worshipped him, Indra, with a mind turned to him." (the first word as printed is doubtful [?])

6. इन्द्रं स्तोमेभिर्महयन्त आयवः प्रियमेधासो अस्वरन् ॥ (Ṛ. Saṃ. 8-3-16)

   indraṃ stomebhir mahayanta āyavaḥ priyamedhāso asvaran || — mine and tentative: "The people exalted Indra with praises; the Priyamedhas sang."

7. धीभिः सातानि काण्वस्य वाजिनः प्रियमेधैरभिद्युभिः । (Ṛ. Saṃ. 8-4-20)

   dhībhiḥ sātāni kāṇvasya vājinaḥ priyamedhair abhidyubhiḥ | — mine and tentative: "… the gains of the Kāṇva, the strong, with thoughts, with the Priyamedhas, the shining (?)." (the sense is doubtful [?])

8. आ वां विश्वाभिरूतिभिः प्रियमेधा अहूषत । (printed "Ṛ. Sa. 8-8-18")

   ā vāṃ viśvābhir ūtibhiḥ priyamedhā ahūṣata | — mine and tentative: "The Priyamedhas called you two (to come) with all (your) helps."

9. अर्चेत प्रार्चेत प्रियमेधासो अर्चत । (Ṛ. Saṃ. 8-69-8)

   arceta prārceta priyamedhāso arcata | — mine and tentative: "Sing, sing forth, Priyamedhas, sing."

10. आ वां विश्वाभिरूतिभिः प्रियमेधा अहूषत । (Ṛ. Saṃ. 8-87-3; the 7 is the flat-footed glyph; the line is printed twice, with different reference numerals)

    ā vāṃ viśvābhir ūtibhiḥ priyamedhā ahūṣata | — gloss as for 8 above.

11. वयः सुपर्णा उप सेदुरिन्द्रं प्रियमेधा ऋषयो नाधमानाः । (Ṛ. Saṃ. 10-73-11)

    vayaḥ suparṇā upa sedur indraṃ priyamedhā ṛṣayo nādhamānāḥ | — mine and tentative: "Like birds, like eagles, the Priyamedha seers sat down by Indra, begging."

"From this it may be inferred that the sage Priyamedha was not only a famous sage but one respected by all." - atrivat — "the sage Atri is a very famous sage; he and his line are the ṛṣis of the sūktas of the fifth maṇḍala of the Ṛgveda. That the line of this sage had a special connexion and intercourse with the lines of the sages Priyamedha, Kaṇva and Gotama is known from the ṛks Ṛ. Sa. 1-45-3; 1-139-9; 8-5-25; Aitareya Brāhmaṇa 8-22; Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-118-7; 5-41-4; 10-150-5; 1-183-5. And Ṛ. Saṃ. 5-52-9; 5-52-17: since in these two ṛks the names of the rivers Parūṣṇī and Yamunā are indicated, it appears that they had settled in the extensive region along those rivers." - virūpavat — "the sage named Virūpa is a descendant of the sage Aṅgiras. The name of this sage occurs, besides in this ṛk, only in the ṛk" (untranslated in the source):

> तस्मै नूनमभिद्यवे वाचा विरूप नित्यया । (Ṛ. Saṃ. 8-75-6)

tasmai nūnam abhidyave vācā virūpa nityayā | — mine and tentative: "To him, to the shining one, now, O Virūpa, with constant speech" (the sentence is cut off in the print; no firm sense).

"Because it is only in this ṛk, we have not learnt more of this sage." - aṅgirasvat — "the sage Aṅgiras is very famous and the primal ancestor of the sage-line of that name. His name is mentioned in Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-45-3 [this ṛk]; 1-139-9; 3-31-7 and other ṛks."

Page 553

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (p. 553 — grammar page, noted briefly) - priyamedhavat: analysis "priyamedhasyeva"; tatra tasyeva (Pā. 5-1-116) — तत्र तस्येव — the suffix vati after words ending in the locative or the genitive in the senses "as in that" and "as of that"; the i of vati is for pronunciation; the list is read as tasivati, hence by taddhitaś cāsarvavibhaktiḥ the word is avyaya, and the following sup is dropped by avyayād āp supaḥ. - atrivat: the process is as before. jātavedaḥ: explained at Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-44-1. virūpavat: "virūpasyeva", vati after the genitive. aṅgirasvat: "aṅgirasa iva", the vati by tatra tasyeva. praskaṇvasya: explained at "Ṛ. Saṃ. 44-6" (as printed). śrudhi: anyeṣām api dṛśyate gives the lengthening; the rest of the process is given at "Ṛ. Su. 45-1" (as printed). || 3 ||

Rik 45.4 (pp. 553–555, PDF 567–569; better scan PDF 568–570)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 553)

> महिकेरव ऊतयै प्रियमेधा अहूषत । राजन्तमध्वराणामग्निं शुक्रेण शोचिषा ॥ ४ ॥

máhikerava ūtáye priyámedhā ahūṣata | rā́jantam adhvarā́ṇām agnímṃ śukreṇa śocíṣā || 4 ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 553)

> महिऽकेरवः । ऊतये । प्रियऽमेधाः । अहूषत । राजन्तम् । अध्वराणाम् । अग्निम् । शुक्रेण । शोचिषा ॥ ४ ॥

mahi-keravaḥ | ūtaye | priya-medhāḥ | ahūṣata | rājantam | adhvarāṇām | agnim | śukreṇa | śociṣā || 4 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 554)

> महिकेरवः प्रौढकर्माणः प्रियमेधाः प्रियेण यज्ञेनोपेता ऋषयः ऊतये रक्षार्थमग्निमहूषत । आहूतवन्तः । कीदृशं अध्वराणां यज्ञानां मध्ये शुक्रेण शोचिषा शुद्धेन प्रकाशेन राजन्तं दीप्यमानं ॥ महिकेरवः । मह पूजायां । औणादिक इन्प्रत्ययः । डुकृञ् करणे । कृवापाजीत्युण् । महयो महान्तः कारवो येषां ते तथोक्ताः । आकारस्यैकारादेशश्छान्दसः । बहुव्रीहौ पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं । प्रियमेधाः । प्रियो मेधो येषां ते । आहूषत । ह्वेञ् स्पर्धायां शब्दे च । लुङि सिचि बहुलं छन्दसीति संप्रसारणं परपूर्वत्वं । हल इति दीर्घत्वं । आदेशप्रत्यययोरिति षत्वं ॥

mahikeravaḥ prauḍhakarmāṇaḥ priyamedhāḥ priyeṇa yajñenopetā ṛṣayaḥ ūtaye rakṣārtham agnim ahūṣata | āhūtavantaḥ | kīdṛśaṃ adhvarāṇāṃ yajñānāṃ madhye śukreṇa śociṣā śuddhena prakāśena rājantaṃ dīpyamānaṃ || mahikeravaḥ | maha pūjāyāṃ | auṇādika inpratyayaḥ | ḍukṛñ karaṇe | kṛvāpājītyuṇ | mahayo mahāntaḥ kāravo yeṣāṃ te tathoktāḥ | ākārasyaikārādeśaś chāndasaḥ | bahuvrīhau pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ | priyamedhāḥ | priyo medho yeṣāṃ te | āhūṣata | hveñ spardhāyāṃ śabde ca | luṅi sici bahulaṃ chandasīti saṃprasāraṇaṃ parapūrvatvaṃ | hala iti dīrghatvaṃ | ādeśapratyayayor iti ṣatvaṃ ||

("kṛvāpājītyuṇ" and "luṅi" are clear on the better scan, PDF 569.)

Translation: "The mahikeravaḥ, doers of mighty works, the priyamedhāḥ, sages joined to a dear sacrifice, ahūṣata, called (āhūtavantaḥ) Agni ūtaye, for protection. What kind of Agni? He who rājantam, shines, śukreṇa śociṣā, with pure light, among the adhvarāṇām, sacrifices. Mahikeravaḥ: root maha pūjāyām, the Uṇādi suffix in; root ḍukṛñ karaṇe, the suffix uṇ; 'those whose workers (kāravaḥ) are great (mahayaḥ)'; the substitution of e for ā is Vedic; in the bahuvrīhi the first member keeps its natural accent. Priyamedhāḥ: those whose medha (sacrifice) is dear. Āhūṣata: root hveñ spardhāyāṃ śabde ca; in the aorist with sic the Vedic saṃprasāraṇa ('bahulaṃ chandasi'), the pūrvarūpa, the lengthening by halaḥ, and the ṣa by ādeśapratyayayoḥ."

Pratipadārtha (p. 554) — "mahikeravaḥ — those who perform great acts; priyamedhāḥ — the sages (or the descendants of the sage Priyamedha), joined to a sacrifice dear (to the gods); ūtaye — for their protection; adhvarāṇām — in the midst of the sacrifices; śukreṇa śociṣā — with a pure flame; agnim — the god Agni; rājantam — who shines; ahūṣata — have called with prayers."

Bhāvārtha (p. 554) — “The sages are of pure heart. They do excellent works. They love the sacrifice. The descendants of such a sage, Priyamedha, have called the god Agni, with prayers, both for their own protection and for the protection of the sacrifice. He is shining in the midst of the sacrifices with a pure flame.”

English Translation (the source’s own, p. 554) — “The performers of great ceremonies, the offerers of acceptable sacrifices (or the Priyamedhas) have invoked for their protection Agni, shining with brilliant splendour in the midst of sacrifices.”

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 554–555 - mahikeravaḥ — “prauḍhakarmāṇaḥ: [in Kannada] those who do great and great sacrifices and the like; [the source adds in English:] ‘performers of great sacrifices’.” - priyamedhāḥ — “priyeṇa yajñenopetāḥ: those who perform a sacrifice dear to the deities, or to Agni; or, if desired, the word may be said to mean the descendants of the sage Priyamedha.” - agniṃ śukreṇa śociṣā — “Agni, who shines with a greatly radiant splendour.” (The sentence is cut off at the end of the line in the print, “… the shining Agni — …”).

Page 555

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (p. 555 — grammar page, noted briefly) - mahikeravaḥ: root maha pūjāyām, the Uṇādi suffix in: mahi; root ḍukṛñ karaṇe, the suffix uṇ by the Uṇādi rule beginning kṛ-vā-pā-ji-mi-sv… (Uṇ. 1-1) — कृवापाजिमिस्वदिसाध्यशूभ्य उण् — kṛvāpājimisvadisādhyaśūbhya uṇ; aco ’ñṇiti (printed “Pā. 7-1-115” [as printed; for 7-2-115]) — अचोऽञ्णिति — when a ñit or ṇit suffix follows, the final vowel of the aṅga takes vṛddhi: ṛ → ār; mahikāru; the ā becomes e by the Vedic rule; mahikeru; before jas, guṇa by jasi ca; avādeśa; ru, visarga. “Mahayaḥ kāravaḥ yeṣāṃ te”, a bahuvrīhi; the first member keeps its natural accent. - priyamedhāḥ: “priyaḥ medhaḥ yeṣāṃ te”. - āhūṣata: root hveñ spardhāyāṃ śabde ca; luṅ; the ātmanepada by svaritañitaḥ kartrabhiprāye kriyāphale (printed “Pā. 1-3-7” with one digit in the last group, the 2/7 glyph [?]; for 1-3-72) — स्वरितञितः कर्त्रभिप्राये क्रियाफले — when the fruit of the action goes to the agent; jhi → jha → ata; cleḥ sic (no number printed) the sic for cli; the aṭ augment; āhve + s + jha; ātmanepadeṣv anataḥ (no number printed) gives at for jha; “bahulaṃ chandasi” (Pā. 6-1-34) a variety of saṃprasāraṇa of the root hveñ in the Chandas; ahu + e + s + ata; saṃprasāraṇāc ca (Pā. 6-1-108) makes a single pūrvarūpa substitute u for u + e; halaḥ (Pā. 6-4-2) lengthens the u (the saṃprasāraṇa standing after a consonant at the end of the aṅga); ādeśapratyayayoḥ (no number printed) gives ṣ for s: āhūṣata. || 4 ||

Rik 45.5 (pp. 556–557, PDF 570–571; better scan PDF 571–572)

Page 556

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 556)

घृताहवन सन्त्येमा उ षु श्रुधी गिरः । याभिः कण्वस्य सूनवो हवन्तेऽवसे त्वा ॥ ५ ॥

ghṛ́tāhavana santyemā́ u ṣú śrudhī gíraḥ | yābhiḥ káṇvasya sūnávo hávanté ’vase tvā || 5 ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 556)

> घृतऽआहवन । सन्त्य । इमाः । ऊं इति । सु । श्रुधि । गिरः । याभिः । कण्वस्य । सूनवः । हवन्ते । अवसे । त्वा ॥ ५ ॥

ghṛta-āhavana | santya | imāḥ | ūṃ iti | su | śrudhi | giraḥ | yābhiḥ | kaṇvasya | sūnavaḥ | havante | avase | tvā || 5 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 556)

> हे घृताहवन घृतेनाहूयमान सन्त्य फलप्रदाग्ने इमा उ गिरोऽस्माभिः प्रयुज्यमाना अपि स्तोत्ररूपा वाचः सु श्रुधि । सुष्ठु शृणु । कण्वस्य महर्षेः सूनवः पुत्रा याभिर्गीर्भिरवसे स्वरक्षणार्थं त्वा हवन्ते त्वामाह्वयन्ति ॥ घृताहवन । घृतेनाहूयतेऽस्मिन्निति घृताहवनः । अधिकरणे ल्युट् । आमन्त्रिताद्युदात्तत्वं । श्रुधि । श्रुशृणुपृकृवृभ्यश्छन्दसीति हेर्धिरादेशः । बहुलं छन्दसीति विकरणस्य लुक् ॥ ३१ ॥

he ghṛtāhavana ghṛtenāhūyamāna santya phalapradāgne imā u giro 'smābhiḥ prayujyamānā api stotrarūpā vācaḥ su śrudhi | suṣṭhu śṛṇu | kaṇvasya maharṣeḥ sūnavaḥ putrā yābhir gīrbhir avase svarakṣaṇārthaṃ tvā havante tvām āhvayanti || ghṛtāhavana | ghṛtenāhūyate 'smin iti ghṛtāhavanaḥ | adhikaraṇe lyuṭ | āmantritādyudāttatvaṃ | śrudhi | śruśṛṇupṛkṛvṛbhyaś chandasīti her dhirādeśaḥ | bahulaṃ chandasīti vikaraṇasya luk || 31 ||

(The bhāṣya closes "// 31 //" (zoom-checked): the number of the varga that ends here (Varga 31 = Ṛks 1–5), not the Ṛk number.)

Translation: "O ghṛtāhavana, O Agni, called with ghee; O santya, giver of fruit: imā u giraḥ, these very words — these stotra-words too, though uttered by us — su śrudhi, hear well, yābhiḥ, the songs with which kaṇvasya sūnavaḥ, the sons of the great sage Kaṇva, havante, call you avase, for their own protection. Ghṛtāhavana: 'he in whom (or by whom) one is called with ghee'; the suffix lyuṭ in the locative sense; the initial acute of the vocative. Śrudhi: dhi in place of hi by śrūśṛṇuprakṛvṛbhyaḥ chandasi; the vikaraṇa is dropped by bahulaṃ chandasi."

Pratipadārtha (p. 556) — "ghṛtāhavane — O one who is called by the oblation of ghee; santya — O Agni, giver of fruit; kaṇvasya — of the sage Kaṇva; sūnavaḥ — the sons; yābhiḥ — with which words; avase — for protection; tvā — you; havante — call; imā u giraḥ — these very words of praise (even though uttered by us); su śrudhi — hear well."

Bhāvārtha (p. 556) — "O Agni, who are invoked in the sacrifice by pouring ghee and who give fruit to the sacrificers, hear well these words of praise that the sons of the sage Kaṇva speak to you for their protection."

Page 557

English Translation (the source's own, p. 557) — "O generous Agni, invoked with ghee, listen to these praises with which the sons of Kanwa invoke you for protection."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 557 - ghṛtāhavana — "one who is called by pouring ghee in Agni." - santya — "the giver of fruit."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (p. 557 — grammar page, noted briefly) - ghṛtāhavana: "ghṛtena āhūyate asmin"; karaṇādhikaraṇayoś ca (Pā. 3-3-117) — करणाधिकरणयोश्च —— the suffix lyuṭ in the locative sense; yuvor anākau (Pā. 7-1-1) ana for yu; guṇa of the root hu, avādeśa; āmantritasya ca (Pā. 8-1-19) gives the all-unaccented. - śrudhi: explained at "Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-45-13" (as printed; Sūkta 45 has only ten ṛks, so the reference is evidently to 1-44-13); in the Saṃhitā two lengthenings come by anyeṣām api dṛśyate. || 5 ||

Rik 45.6 (pp. 557–560, PDF 571–574; better scan PDF 572–575)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 557)

त्वां चित्रश्रवस्तम॒ हव॑न्ते वि॒क्षु ज॒न्तवः॑ । शो॒चिष्के॑शं पुरुप्रि॒याग्ने॒ ह॒व्याय॒ वोळ्ह॑वे ॥ ६ ॥

tvāṃ citraśravastama hávante vikṣú jantávaḥ | śocíṣkeśaṃ purupriyāgne havyāya vóḷhave || 6 ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 557)

त्वाम् । चित्रश्रवःऽतम । हवन्ते । विक्षु । जन्तवः । शोचिःऽकेशम् । पुरुऽप्रिय । अग्ने । हव्याय । वोळ्हवे ॥ ६ ॥

tvām | citraśravaḥ-tama | havante | vikṣu | jantavaḥ | śociḥ-keśam | puru-priya | agne | havyāya | voḷhave || 6 ||

Page 558

Rik 45.6, continued (from p. 558)

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 558)

अश्वमेधे पौष्णमिष्ट्वा स्विष्टकृतोऽनुवाक्या त्वां चित्रश्रवस्तमेत्येषा । सर्वान्कामानाप्स्यन्निति खण्डे सूत्रितं । त्वां चित्रश्रवस्तम यद्वाहिष्ठं तदग्नये । आ. १०-६ । इति ॥

हे चित्रश्रवस्तमातिशयेन विविधहवीरूपान्नयुक्त पुरुप्रिय बहूनां यजमानानां प्रीतिकराग्ने त्वां हव्याय वोळ्हवे हविर्वोढुं विक्षु जन्तवः प्रजासूत्पन्ना यजमाना हवन्ते । आह्वयन्ति । कीदृशं शोचिष्केशं दीप्तिरूपकेशोपेतं । तथा च वाजसनेयिन आमनन्ति । शोचन्त इव ह्येतस्य समिद्धस्य रश्मयः केशा इति ॥ चित्रश्रवस्तम । श्रव इत्यन्ननाम । चित्रं श्रवो यस्यासौ चित्रश्रवाः । अतिशयेन चित्रश्रवाश्चित्रश्रवस्तमः । आमन्त्रितानुदात्तत्वं । शोचिष्केशं । शुच दीप्तौ । अर्चिशुचिहुसृपिछादिछर्दिभ्य इसिः । उ. २-१०९ । इतीसिः । प्रत्ययस्वरः । बहुव्रीहौ पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं । हव्याय । हवनक्रियया प्राप्यत्वात् क्रियाग्रहणं कर्तव्यमिति संप्रदानत्वाच्चतुर्थी । वोळ्हवे । वह प्रापणे । तुमर्थे सेसेनिति तवेन्प्रत्ययः । ढत्वधत्वष्टुत्वढलोपेषु कृतेषु सहिवहोरोदवर्णस्येति । पा. ६-३-११२ । इत्यकारस्यौकारः । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वं ॥

aśvamedhe pauṣṇam iṣṭvā sviṣṭakṛto 'nuvākyā tvāṃ citraśravastametyeṣā | sarvān kāmān āpsyann iti khaṇḍe sūtritaṃ | tvāṃ citraśravastama yad vāhiṣṭhaṃ tad agnaye | ā. 10-6 | iti ||

he citraśravastamātiśayena vividhahavīrūpānnayukta purupriya bahūnāṃ yajamānānāṃ prītikarāgne tvāṃ havyāya voḷhave havir voḍhuṃ vikṣu jantavaḥ prajāsūtpannā yajamānā

havante | āhvayanti | kīdṛśaṃ śociṣkeśaṃ dīptirūpakeśopetaṃ | tathā ca vājasaneyina āmananti | śocanta iva hy etasya samiddhasya raśmayaḥ keśā iti || citraśravastama | śrava ity annanāma | citraṃ śravo yasyāsau citraśravāḥ | atiśayena citraśravāś citraśravastamaḥ | āmantritānudāttatvaṃ | śociṣkeśaṃ | śuca dīptau | arciśucihusṛpichādichardibhya isiḥ | u. 2-109 | itīsiḥ | pratyayasvaraḥ | bahuvrīhau pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ | havyāya | havanakriyayā prāpyatvāt kriyāgrahaṇaṃ kartavyam iti sampradānatvāc caturthī | voḷhave | vaha prāpaṇe | tumarthe sesen iti tavenpratyayaḥ | ḍhatvadhatvaṣṭutvaḍhalopeṣu kṛteṣu sahivahor odavarṇasyeti | pā. 6-3-112 | ity akārasyaukāraḥ | nittvād ādyudāttatvaṃ ||

(Checked on the better scan, PDF 573: the section name is "sarvān kāmān āpsyan" (in the bhāṣya and the Special Topics), Ā. 10-6, Uṇ. 2-109, Pā. 6-3-112, "ity akārasyaukāraḥ" [sic, for o]; the bhāṣya ends "॥" without a number.)

Translation: "In the Aśvamedha, after the offering to Pūṣan, this ṛk 'tvāṃ citraśravastama' is the anuvākyā of the sviṣṭakṛt (the offering that makes the rite well-performed); it is prescribed in the section 'sarvān kāmān āpsyan': 'tvāṃ citraśravastama, yad vāhiṣṭhaṃ tad agnaye' (Āśv. 10-6). O citraśravastama, you who are specially endowed with food in the form of various oblations; O purupriya, who gladden many sacrificers; O Agni: vikṣu, among the peoples, jantavaḥ, the sacrificers born among the people, call you (havante, āhvayanti), havyāya voḷhave, to carry the oblation. What kind of you? Śociṣkeśam, having hair in the form of flames. Thus the Vājasaneyins say: 'for the rays of him when kindled are, as it were, flaming hair.'"

Pratipadārtha (p. 558) — "citraśravastama — one who has food in the form of the most abundant and varied oblations; purupriya — dear to many sacrificers; agne — O Agni; śociṣkeśam — whose hair is blazing; tvām — you; havyāya voḷhave — to carry the oblations; vikṣu — among the peoples; jantavaḥ — the sacrificers who are born (as men); havante — call with prayer."

Bhāvārtha (p. 558) — "O Agni, you are very dear to the sacrificers. They offer you food in the form of abundant and varied oblations. Growing by it you shine with your hair in the form of flames. To you, so blazing, the sacrificers born among the peoples pray, that you carry the oblations for the gods."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 558) — "Agni, granter of abundant food, who are beloved by many, the sons of men (sacrifices) invoke you, flame-haired, to convey the oblations to the gods."

Page 559

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 559 - (opening note) "In the Aśvamedha sacrifice, when the sviṣṭakṛt offering is made in the iṣṭi connected with Pūṣan, this ṛk 'tvāṃ citraśravastama' is to be recited as puro-'nuvākyā, as shown in the section 'sarvānnāmānāpsyan' of the Āśvalāyana Śrauta-sūtra by the sūtra 'tvāṃ citraśravastama (Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-45-6) yad vāhiṣṭhaṃ tad agnaye (Ṛ. Saṃ. 5-27-7; the 7s are the flat-footed glyph)' (Ā. 10-6)."* - citraśravaḥ — *"vividha, various; one who is joined to the substances of offering, such as ghee and* havis*."* - śociṣkeśam — "one whose flames are the hair; as hair is a covering for men, so Agni, covered with radiant splendour, shines — this is the idea. Here keśa* may be said to mean 'ray'; there is the sentence of the Vājasaneyi Saṃhitā (Śukla Yajurveda): 'śocanta iva hy etasya samiddhasya raśmayaḥ keśāḥ’ (Sanskrit as printed) — शोचन्त इव ह्येतस्य समिद्धस्य रश्मयः केशाः — śocanta iva hy etasya samiddhasya raśmayaḥ keśāḥ — mine and tentative: ‘for the rays of him, kindled, are as it were flaming, the hairs’.” - purupriya — “dear to the sacrificers, the many people: bahūnāṃ yajamānānāṃ prītikara.” - vikṣu jantavaḥ — “prajāsūtpannā yajamānāḥ: among the people, that is, those born among men — the sacrificers who are men.”

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 559–560 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - citraśravastamaḥ: śravaḥ is a name for food; “citraṃ śravaḥ yasya saḥ”, a bahuvrīhi — one who has food in the form of many kinds of oblations. When the sense of excess (atiśaya) is meant, the suffix tamap by atiśāyane tamabiṣṭhanau (no number printed); the vocative; the all-unaccented by āmantritasya. - śociṣkeśam: root śuca dīptau (the root in the first class; the Vedic commentator holds that it also has the sense of “shine”); the Uṇādi rule arci-śuci-hu-sṛpi-chādi-chardibhya isiḥ (Uṇ. 2-266, as printed here; the bhāṣya gives 2-109) — roots arci pūjāyām, śuca śoke, hu dānādanayoḥ, sṛpḷ gatau, chada apavāraṇe (in the causative), chardi vamane — the suffix isi; śuc + is; pugantalaghūpadhasya ca gives guṇa of the light penultimate (u → o): śocis. The accent of the suffix: the i is acute. “Śociḥ keśo yasya taṃ”, a bahuvrīhi, “one whose hair is of the form of light”; the first member keeps its natural accent — that is, whatever accent it had first remains after the compound. ### Page 560

- havyāya: karmaṇā yam abhipraiti sa sampradānam (Pā. 1-4-32) — कर्मणा यमभिप्रैति स संप्रदानम् — “whom the agent has in view by the action is the recipient”; the vārttika “kriyāgrahaṇaṃ kartavyam” is added: that which is the aim of an action also gets the name sampradāna; hence havya, the aim of the action of carrying signified by voḷhave, gets sampradāna; caturthī sampradāne (printed “Pā. Sū.” with the number left blank) then gives the dative.
- voḷhave: root vaha prāpaṇe; tumarthe sesenasese… (Pā. 3-4-9) gives the suffix tavenū; vah + tave; ho ḍhaḥ (Pā. 8-2-31) — h becomes ḍh even before a jhal and at the end of a word; jhaṣas tathor dho ’dhaḥ (Pā. 8-2-40) dha for the ta; ṣṭunā ṣṭuḥ (Pā. 8-4-41) the ṣṭu-change: the dh becomes ḍh; ḍho ḍhe lopaḥ (Pā. 8-3-13) the first ḍh is dropped; sahivahor odavarṇasya (Pā. 6-3-112) the o for the a of vah: voḍhave; by the rule cited as “ajmadhyasthaḍhakārasya ḷhakāraṃ vai yathā kramam” (as printed) the ḍh is replaced by ḷh: voḷhave. The suffix is nit, so the end of the suffix is acute (āsyudātta as printed; the first syllable of the suffix). || 6 ||

Rik 45.7 (pp. 560–562, PDF 574–576; better scan PDF 575–577)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 560)

नि त्वा॒ होता॑रमृ॒त्विजं॑ दधि॒रे व॑सु॒वित्त॑मम् । श्रु॒त्क॒र्णं स॒प्रथ॑स्तमं॒ विप्रा॑ अग्ने॒ दिवि॑ष्टिषु ॥ ७ ॥

ni tvā hótāram ṛtvíjaṃ dadhiré vasuvíttamam | śrútkarṇaṃ sapráthastamaṃ víprā agne díviṣṭiṣu || 7 ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 560)

नि । त्वा । होतारम् । ऋत्विजम् । दधिरे । वसुवित्ऽतमम् । श्रुत्ऽकर्णम् । सप्रथःऽतमम् । विप्राः । अग्ने । दिविष्टिषु ॥ ७ ॥

ni | tvā | hotāram | ṛtvijam | dadhire | vasuvit-tamam | śrut-karṇam | saprathaḥ-tamam | viprāḥ | agne | diviṣṭiṣu || 7 ||

(The bhāṣya of Rik 7 begins on p. 561, not yet written.)

Rik 45.7, continued (from p. 561)

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 561)

हे अग्ने विप्रा मेधाविनो दिविष्टिषु योगेषु त्वां नि दधिरे । स्थापितवन्तः । कीदृशं । होतारमाह्वातारं ऋत्विजमृतुषु यजनशीलं वसुवित्तममतिशयेन धनस्य लम्भयितारं श्रुत्कर्णं श्रवणयोग्यकर्णोपेतं सप्रथस्तममतिशयेन प्रख्यातं ॥ दधिरे । इरेच्चित्त्वादन्तोदात्तत्वं । पादादित्वान्निघाताभावः । दिविष्टिषु । इष्टय एषणानि । दिवः स्वर्गस्यैषणानि येषु योगेषु ते दिविष्टयः । सर्वे विधयश्छन्दसि विकल्प्यन्त इति वचनाद्दिव उत् । पा. ६-१-१३१ । इत्युत्त्वं न क्रियते । बहुव्रीहौ पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं ॥

he agne viprā medhāvino diviṣṭiṣu yogeṣu tvāṃ ni dadhire | sthāpitavantaḥ | kīdṛśaṃ | hotāram āhvātāraṃ ṛtvijam ṛtuṣu yajanaśīlaṃ vasuvittamam atiśayena dhanasya lambhayitāraṃ śrutkarṇaṃ śravaṇayogyakarṇopetaṃ saprathastamam atiśayena prakhyātaṃ || dadhire | irecchittvād antodāttatvaṃ | pādāditvān nighātābhāvaḥ | diviṣṭiṣu | iṣṭaya eṣaṇāni | divaḥ svargasyaiṣaṇāni yeṣu yogeṣu te diviṣṭayaḥ | sarve vidhayaś chandasi vikalpyanta iti vacanād diva ut | pā. 6-1-131 | ity uttvaṃ na kriyate | bahuvrīhau pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ ||

Translation: "O Agni, the wise sages, diviṣṭiṣu, in the sacrifices, ni dadhire, have set you down, established you. What kind of one? Hotāram, the caller; ṛtvijam, one given to worship in the seasons; vasuvittamam, one who most of all makes wealth be obtained; śrutkarṇam, endowed with ears fit for hearing; saprathastamam, most renowned. Dadhire: since the ending ire is cit, the end is acute; being at the head of a pāda, the all-unaccented does not come. Diviṣṭiṣu: iṣṭayaḥ means desires; those sacrifices in which there are desires for heaven (divaḥ, of svarga) are diviṣṭayaḥ; by the saying that all rules are optional in the Chandas, the u for div (Pā. 6-1-131) is not made; in the bahuvrīhi the first member keeps its natural accent."

Pratipadārtha (p. 561) — "agne — O Agni; viprāḥ — the discerning (wise); hotāram — as one who calls (the deities); ṛtvijam — as one who sacrifices properly in the seasons; vasuvittamam — as the giver of abundant wealth; śrutkarṇam — as one with ears that hear subtly; saprathastamam — as one extremely renowned; tvā — you; diviṣṭiṣu — in the sacrifices; ni dadhire — have established."

Bhāvārtha (p. 561) — "O Agni, you are the one who calls the gods to the sacrifice. You sacrifice properly in the seasons, give abundant wealth, and have subtle ears that hear the praises of the sacrificers well. By all these qualities you are extremely renowned. The wise and discerning priests have established you, endowed with these excellent qualities, in the sacrifices (have installed you)."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 561) — "Agni, the wise men have placed (established) you in their sacrifices as the invoker, the priest, the giver of vast wealth, the quick-hearing and well-renowned."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 561–562 - vasuvittamam — "atiśayena dhanasya lambhayitāram: greatly, that is, in great measure; one who makes wealth be got by the sacrificer." - śrutkarṇam — "one who has ears that hear our invocation; that is, one who hears our invocation quickly." - saprathastamam — "atiśayena prakhyātam: very much renowned, greatly famous." - diviṣṭiṣu — "iṣṭaya eṣaṇāni; divaḥ svargasyaiṣaṇāni yeṣu yogeṣu te diviṣṭayaḥ: in the sacrifices that are performed in order to attain heaven."

Page 562

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (p. 562 — grammar page, noted briefly) - dadhire: root ḍudhāñ dhāraṇapoṣaṇayoḥ, liṭ, jha as substitute; liṭas tajhayor eśirec (Pā. 3-4-81) — लिटस्तझयोरेशिरेच् — in place of ta and jha of liṭ, eś and irec; hence irec for jha; doubling; shortening of the reduplicative syllable; abhyāse carca (Pā. 8-4-54) — अभ्यासे चर्च — the aspirated and other jhal letters in the reduplicative syllable become car and jaś letters: the dh of the reduplicative syllable becomes d; dadhā + ire; āto lopa iṭi ca (no number printed) drops the ā: dadhire. The ending ire is cit, hence the end-acute; because it stands at the head of the second pāda, the all-unaccented by tiṅ atiṅaḥ does not come. - diviṣṭiṣu: root iṣa gatau; striyāṃ ktin, the ṣṭutva; "divaḥ iṣṭiḥ eṣaṇaṃ yeṣu yogeṣu te diviṣṭayaḥ", a bahuvrīhi — those sacrifices in which there is a desire for heaven; diva ut (Pā. 6-1-131) — दिव उत् — the final of div in the pada becomes u; though it is obtained, the maxim sarve vidhayaś chandasi vikalpyante (printed "paribhā[ṣā] 35") makes it optional, so it does not come; the first member keeps its natural accent. || 7 ||

Rik 45.8 (pp. 563–565, PDF 577–579; better scan PDF 578–580)

Page 563

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 563)

आ त्वा॒ विप्रा॑ अचुच्यवुः सु॒तसो॑मा अ॒भि प्रयः॑ । बृ॒हद्भा बि॑भ्र॒तो ह॒विर॒ग्ने मर्ता॑य दा॒शुषे॑ ॥ ८ ॥

ā tvā víprā acucyavuḥ sutásomā abhí práyaḥ | bṛhádbhā bíbhrato havír agne mártāya dāśúṣe || 8 ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. A small dot, not an accent stroke, stands over ṣe of dāśuṣe*.)*

Pada-pāṭha (p. 563)

आ । त्वा । विप्राः । अचुच्यवुः । सुतऽसोमाः । अभि । प्रयः । बृहत् । भाः । बिभ्रतः । हविः । अग्ने । मर्ताय । दाशुषे ॥

ā | tvā | viprāḥ | acucyavuḥ | suta-somāḥ | abhi | prayaḥ | bṛhat | bhāḥ | bibhrataḥ | haviḥ | agne | martāya | dāśuṣe ||

(As printed, the Pada stops without the closing numeral; the Pada divides bṛhadbhā as bṛhat | bhāḥ*, which the bhāṣya follows.)*

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 563)

हे अग्ने सुतसोमा अभिषुतसोमयुक्ता विप्रा मेधाविन ऋत्विजः प्रयोऽभि हविर्लक्षणमन्नमभिलक्ष्य त्वा आचुच्यवुः । त्वामागमयन्ति । कीदृशं त्वां । बृहन्महान्तं भा भासमानं । कीदृशा विप्राः । दाशुषे मर्ताय हविष्प्रदस्य यजमानस्य सम्बन्धि हविर्बिभ्रतो धारयन्तः ॥ आचुच्यवुः । च्युङ् गतौ । अस्मादन्तर्भावितण्यर्थात् लङ् व्यत्ययेन परस्मैपदं । बहुलं छन्दसीति शपः श्लुः । सिजभ्यस्तविदिभ्यश्च । पा. ३-४-१०९ । इति झेर्जुसादेशः । जुसि च । पा. ७-३-८३ । इति गुणः । बृहत् । भाः । उभयत्र सुपां सुलुगिति विभक्तेर्लुक् । बिभ्रतः । डुभृञ् धारणपोषणयोः । शतरि नाभ्यस्ताच्छतुरिति नुमागमप्रतिषेधः । अभ्यस्तानामादिरित्याद्युदात्तत्वं । मर्ताय दाशुषे । उभयत्र षष्ठ्यर्थे चतुर्थी वक्तव्या । पा. २-३-६२-१ । इति चतुर्थी ॥

he agne sutasomā abhiṣutasomayuktā viprā medhāvina ṛtvijaḥ prayo 'bhi havirlakṣaṇam annam abhilakṣya tvā ācucyavuḥ | tvām āgamayanti | kīdṛśaṃ tvāṃ | bṛhan mahāntaṃ bhā bhāsamānaṃ | kīdṛśā viprāḥ | dāśuṣe martāya haviṣpradasya yajamānasya sambandhi havir bibhrato dhārayantaḥ || ācucyavuḥ | cyuṅ gatau | asmād antarbhāvitaṇyarthāt laṅ vyatyayena parasmaipadaṃ | bahulaṃ chandasīti śapaḥ śluḥ | sijabhyastavidibhyaś ca | pā. 3-4-109 | iti jher jusādeśaḥ | jusi ca | pā. 7-3-83 | iti guṇaḥ | bṛhat | bhāḥ | ubhayatra supāṃ sulug iti vibhakter luk | bibhrataḥ | ḍubhṛñ dhāraṇapoṣaṇayoḥ | śatari nābhyastāc chatur iti numāgamapratiṣedhaḥ | abhyastānām ādir ity ādyudāttatvaṃ | martāya dāśuṣe | ubhayatra ṣaṣṭhyarthe caturthī vaktavyā | pā. 2-3-62-1 | iti caturthī ||

(The phrase "haviṣpradasya" and the numerals were checked on the better scan, PDF 578; the verb-form ācucyavuḥ is ā + acucyavuḥ joined.)

Translation: "O Agni, the sutasomāḥ, those furnished with pressed Soma, the viprāḥ, the wise priests, abhi prayaḥ, with the food in the form of the oblation in view, ā acucyavuḥ, have made you come. What kind of you? Bṛhat, great, bhāḥ, shining. What kind of priests? Bibhrataḥ, bearing, holding, the haviḥ of the sacrificer who is the dāśuṣe martāya, the mortal who gives the oblation."

Grammatical tail (characterized) - ācucyavuḥ: root cyuṅ gatau, with the causative sense (ṇic) included; the imperfect (laṅ) with the parasmaipada by the principle of exchange (vyatyaya); śap → ślu "because of the Chandas"; jhi → jus by sijabhyastavidibhyaś ca (Pā. 3-4-109); guṇa by jusi ca (Pā. 7-3-83). - bṛhat, bhāḥ: in both the case-ending is dropped (supāṃ suluk…). Bibhrataḥ: root ḍubhṛñ dhāraṇapoṣaṇayoḥ; before śatṛ, the augment num is forbidden by nābhyastāc chatuḥ; the initial acute by abhyastānām ādiḥ. - martāya dāśuṣe: in both, the dative is to be said in the sense of the genitive (vārttika, Pā. 2-3-62-1).

Pratipadārtha (p. 563) — "agne — O Agni; sutasomāḥ — those furnished with pressed Soma juice; dāśuṣe — who gives the oblation; martāya — (on behalf) of the human sacrificer; haviḥ — the oblation; bibhrataḥ — and holding; viprāḥ — the wise priests; bṛhat — of great form; bhāḥ — and shining; tvā — you; prayaḥ abhi — towards the food in the form of the oblation; ā acucyavuḥ — have caused to come."

Page 564

Bhāvārtha (p. 564) — "O Agni, the wise priests, having pressed the Soma juice, have taken the oblation up to offer it to you on behalf of the sacrificer who gives the oblation. You are of great form and shining. They have caused you, endowed with radiance, to come towards the food in the form of the oblation."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 564) — "O Agni, shining with great splendour, the wise priests with libations of Soma-juice and holding the oblation on behalf of the person who presents it, have summoned you to partake of the sacrificial food."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 564 - ācucyavuḥ — "cyuṅ gatau: they have caused (you) to come." - bṛhadbhāḥ — "bṛhan mahāntaṃ bhā bhāsamānaḥ: one who shines with great, abundant brilliance." - bibhrato haviḥ — "standing holding the oblation in order to offer it to you." - martāya dāśuṣe — "on behalf of the man who offers the oblation to you, that is, on behalf of the sacrificer." - prayaḥ — "food in the form of the oblation."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 564–565 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - acucyavuḥ: root cyuṅ gatau (class 1), the root including ṇic; laṅ; the ātmanepada "should lawfully come" by anudāttaṅita ātmanepadam (no number printed) but by vyatyayo bahulam (Pā. 3-1-85) the parasmaipada; the aṭ augment; jhi; śap → ślu by bahulaṃ chandasi (no number printed); doubling after śla; halādiḥ śeṣaḥ drops the y of the reduplicative syllable (cyu → cu); pūrvo 'bhyāsaḥ (Pā. 6-1-4) names the first part of the doubled word the abhyāsa; sijabhyastavidibhyaś ca (Pā. 3-4-109) — सिजभ्यस्तविदिभ्यश्च — jus in place of jhi after sic, an abhyasta or vid; ubhe abhyastam (Pā. 6-1-5) — the whole doubled word is named abhyasta; jusi ca (Pā. 7-3-83) — जुसि च — guṇa for the ik-ending aṅga before jus: u → o; acucyo + us; avādeśa: acucyavus; ru, visarga. - bṛhat-bhāḥ: in both, the case-ending drops by supāṃ suluk… (no number printed). - bibhrataḥ: root ḍubhṛñ dhāraṇapoṣaṇayoḥ, juhotyādi; laṭ; laṭaḥ śatṛśānacau — śatṛ in place of laṭ; by nābhyastāc chatuḥ (Pā. 7-1-78) no num after an abhyasta stem; so when jas follows, the num that would come by ugidacāṃ sarvanāmasthāne 'dhātoḥ does not come; abhyastānām ādiḥ (no number printed) gives the initial acute. - martāya, dāśuṣe: ṣaṣṭhyarthe caturthī vacanam (Pā. 2-3-62-1) — षष्ठ्यर्थे चतुर्थी वचनम् — the dative in the sense of the genitive. || 8 ||

Rik 45.9 (pp. 565–567, PDF 579–581; better scan PDF 580–582)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 565)

प्रातर्याव्णः सहस्कृत सोमपेयाय सन्त्य । इहाद्य दैव्यं जनं बर्हिरा सादया वसो ॥ ९ ॥

prātaryāvṇaḥ sahaskṛta somapéyāya santya | ihādya daivyaṃ jánaṃ barhír ā sādayā vaso || 9 ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 565)

> प्रातःऽयाव्णः । सहःऽकृत । सोमऽपेयाय । सन्त्य । इह । अद्य । दैव्यम् । जनम् । बर्हिः । आ । सादय । वसो इति ॥ ९ ॥

prātaḥ-yāvṇaḥ | sahaḥ-kṛta | soma-peyāya | santya | iha | adya | daivyam | janam | barhiḥ | ā | sādaya | vaso iti || 9 ||

(The bhāṣya of Rik 9 begins on p. 566, not yet written.)

Rik 45.9, continued (from p. 566)

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 566)

> हे सहस्कृत बलेन मथित सन्त्य फलदातर्वसो निवासहेतुभूताग्ने इह देवयजनदेशे अद्यास्मिन्दिने सोमपेयाय सोमपानार्थं प्रातर्याव्णः प्रातरागच्छतो देवान् दैव्यं जनमन्यमपि देवताजनं बर्हिरा सादय । यज्ञं प्रापय ॥ प्रातर्याव्णः । अल्लोपोऽन इत्यकारलोपः । सहस्कृत । सहतेऽभिभवत्यनेनेति सहो बलं । तेन क्रियते इति सहस्कृतः । ओजःसहोऽम्भस्तमसस्तृतीयायाः । पा. ६-३-३ । इत्यलुग्भावश्छान्दसः ॥

he sahaskṛta balena mathita santya phaladātar vaso nivāsahetubhūtāgne iha devayajanadeśe adyāsmin dine somapeyāya somapānārthaṃ prātaryāvṇaḥ prātar āgacchato devān daivyaṃ janam anyam api devatājanaṃ barhir ā sādaya | yajñaṃ prāpaya || prātaryāvṇaḥ | alloponaḥ ity akāralopaḥ | sahaskṛta | sahate 'bhibhavaty anena iti saho balaṃ | tena kriyate iti sahaskṛtaḥ | ojaḥsaho 'mbhastamasas tṛtīyāyāḥ | pā. 6-3-3 | ity alugbhāvaś chāndasaḥ ||

(Checked on the better scan, PDF 581: Pā. 6-3-3 and the wording of the tail are clear.)

Translation: "O sahaskṛta, churned by strength; O santya, giver of fruit; O vaso, cause of dwelling; O Agni, iha, here, in this place of divine worship, adya, today, somapeyāya, for the drinking of Soma, ā sādaya, seat on the sacred grass prātaryāvṇaḥ, the gods who come in the morning, and daivyaṃ janam, any other group of divine beings. Bring (them to) the sacrifice. Prātaryāvṇaḥ: the a is dropped by alloponaḥ. Sahaskṛta: saha is strength, that by which one overcomes; 'made by it' is sahaskṛtaḥ; the non-dropping of the instrumental ending is Vedic."

Pratipadārtha (p. 566) — "sahaskṛte — born of the power of rubbing (friction); santya — giver of fruit; vaso — cause of the dwelling-place, O Agni; iha — here in this place of divine sacrifice; adya — today; somapeyāya — for the drinking of Soma juice; prātaryāvṇaḥ — the gods who move in the morning; daivyaṃ janam — and the group belonging to other deities; barhiḥ — on the darbha seat of the sacrificial ground; ā sādaya — bring (them) and seat (them)."

Bhāvārtha (p. 566) — "O Agni, born of the power of friction, you are the giver of fruit, the cause of the dwelling-place. Bring the gods who go in the morning, and the group that belongs to the other deities, to drink the Soma, and seat them on the darbha of the sacrificial ground."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 566) — "Strength-generated (or produced by friction) Agni, giver of rewards, provider of dwellings, bring and seat the gods that move in the morning and other divine beings to drink the Soma-juice in this sacrifice."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 566–567 - sahaskṛte — "balena araṇibhyāṃ mathita: churned by the two araṇis with strength. When Agni is produced, strength, that is, force, is used in the araṇi-sticks; hence 'one churned (made to appear) by strength' is the idea. Sahas means strength (Ni. 3-9). In the sacrifice they lay one piece of the araṇi wood on another, churn it, and produce Agni; for that churning force has to be used." (The Kannada author adds in English:) "Produced by friction which requires strength to perform effectually." - prātaryāvṇaḥ — "prātarāgacchataḥ: those who go or move in the morning; that is, those who go to the sacrifices that the sacrificers perform in the morning." - santya — "the giver of fruit." - iha — "in these sacrifices"; adya — "now, today." - daivyaṃ janam — "the people belonging to the gods, that is, the deities. Since in this ṛk no particular deity is stated as daivyaṃ janam, it may be inferred that the thirty-three deities named Vasus, Rudras and Ādityas, spoken of in the first ṛk of this sūkta, are meant." - āsādaya — "make (them) sit, cause (them) to sit down." vaso — "leader of the place of dwelling."

Page 567

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (p. 567 — grammar page, noted briefly) - prātaryāvṇaḥ: prātar is an indeclinable ending in r; root yā prāpaṇe; "prātaḥ yānti"; vanip by ato manin kvanib vanipaś ca (Pā. 3-2-74); prātaryāvan, śas; allopo 'naḥ (no number printed) drops the a of an; prātipadikāntanumvibhaktiṣu ca (no number printed) gives ṇ for n; because of the second member being a kṛd, the first keeps its natural accent, and the root's own accent (dhātusvara) alone remains. - sahaskṛta: "sahate 'bhibhavaty anena iti sahaḥ balam", root saha marṣaṇe, the suffix asun by sarvadhātubhyo 'sun; "sahasā kṛtaḥ", an instrumental tatpuruṣa; ojaḥsahombhastamasas tṛtīyāyāḥ (Pā. 6-3-3) — ओजःसहोऽम्भस्तमसस्तृतीयायाः — the instrumental ending does not drop (aluk) when the second member follows; since this is a case-ending that depends on a prātipadika, the luk that would come by supo dhātuprātipadikayoḥ ought logically not to come; but by the maxim sarve vidhayaś chandasi vikalpyante this too is optional, and so the luk of the instrumental does come here: sahaskṛta. || 9 ||

Rik 45.10 (pp. 568–571, PDF 582–585; better scan PDF 583–586)

Page 568

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 568)

अ॒र्वाञ्चं॑ दैव्यं॑ जन॒मग्ने॒ यक्ष्व सं॑हूतिभिः । अ॒यं सोमः॑ सुदा॒नव॒स्तं पा॑त ति॒रोअ॑ह्न्यम् ॥ १० ॥ [accent ?]

arvā̃ñcaṃ dáivyaṃ jánam ágne yákṣvá sahūtibhiḥ | ayáṃ sómaḥ sudānavás táṃ pāta tiróahnyam || 10 || [accent ?]

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. [accent ?]: the svarita stroke before pāta stands at the joint of staṃ and pā*; read as* pā*.)*

Pada-pāṭha (p. 568)

अर्वाञ्चम् । दैव्यम् । जनम् । अग्ने । यक्ष्व । सहूतिऽभिः । अयम् । सोमः । सुऽदानवः । तम् । पात । तिरःऽअह्न्यम् ॥ १० ॥

arvāñcam | daivyam | janam | agne | yakṣva | sahūti-bhiḥ | ayam | somaḥ | su-dānavaḥ | tam | pāta | tiraḥ-ahnyam || 10 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 568)

हे अग्ने अर्वाञ्चमभिमुखं दैव्यं जनं देवताजातं प्राणिनं सहूतिभिः समानाह्वानैर्देवान्तरैः सह यक्ष्व । यज । हे सुदानवः सुष्ठु फलदातारो देवाः अयं सोमो युष्मदर्थं सोमः पुरतो वर्तते । तं सोमं पात । पिबत । कीदृशं । तिरोअह्न्यमेतन्नामकं । पूर्वस्मिन्नह्न्यभिषुतो यः सोम उत्तरेऽहनि हूयते तस्यैतन्नामधेयं ॥ दैव्यम् । देवाद्यञञाविति प्राग्दीव्यतीयो यञ् । यक्ष्व । लोटि बहुलं छन्दसीति शपो लुक् । प्रत्ययस्वराभावश्छान्दसः । अग्न इत्यस्य पादादौ वर्तमानस्यामन्त्रितं पूर्वमविद्यमानवदित्यविद्यमानवत्त्वात् तिङ्ङतिङ इति निघाताभावः । सहूतिभिः । समानाहूतिराह्वानं येषां ते सहूतयः । समानस्य च्छन्दसीति सभावः । बहुव्रीहौ पूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं । पात । पा पाने । बहुलं छन्दसीति शपो लुक् । तिरोअह्न्यं । अहनि भवमह्न्यं । भवे छन्दसीति यत् । नस्तद्धिते इति टिलोपो न भवति अह्नष्खोरेव । पा. ६-४-१४५ । इति नियमात् । भसंज्ञायामल्लोपोऽनः इत्यकारलोपः । येचाभावकर्मणोः । पा. ६-४-१६८ । इति प्रकृतिभावस्तु सर्वविधीनां छन्दसि विकल्पितत्वान्न क्रियते । तिरोहितोऽह्न्यस्तिरोअह्न्यः । प्रकृत्यान्तःपादमिति प्रकृतिभावः । अव्ययपूर्वपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं ॥ ३२ ॥

he agne arvāñcam abhimukhaṃ daivyaṃ janaṃ devatājātaṃ prāṇinaṃ sahūtibhiḥ samānāhvānair devāntaraiḥ saha yakṣva | yaja | he sudānavaḥ suṣṭhu phaladātāro devāḥ ayaṃ somo yuṣmadarthaṃ somaḥ purato vartate | taṃ somaṃ pāta | pibata | kīdṛśaṃ | tiroahnyam etannāmakaṃ | pūrvasminn ahny abhiṣuto yaḥ soma uttare 'hani hūyate tasyaitannāmadheyaṃ || daivyam | devādyañañāv iti prāgdīvyatīyo yañ | yakṣva | loṭi bahulaṃ chandasīti śapo luk | pratyayasvarābhāvaś chāndasaḥ | agna ity asya pādādau vartamānasyāmantritaṃ pūrvam avidyamānavad ity avidyamānavattvāt tiṅ ṅatiṅa iti nighātābhāvaḥ | sahūtibhiḥ | samānāhūtir āhvānaṃ yeṣāṃ te sahūtayaḥ | samānasya cchandasīti sabhāvaḥ | bahuvrīhau pūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ | pāta | pā pāne | bahulaṃ chandasīti śapo luk | tiroahnyaṃ | ahani bhavam ahnyaṃ | bhave chandasīti yat | nas taddhite iti ṭilopo na bhavati ahnaṣṭakhor eva | pā. 6-4-145 | iti niyamāt | bhasaṃjñāyām alloponaḥ ity akāralopaḥ | ye cābhāvakarmaṇoḥ | pā. 6-4-168 | iti prakṛtibhāvas tu sarvavidhīnāṃ chandasi vikalpitatvān na kriyate | tirohito 'hnyas tiroahnyaḥ | prakṛtyāntaḥpādam iti prakṛtibhāvaḥ | avyayapūrvapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ || 32 ||

(Checked on the better scan, PDF 583: "devādyañañāv iti prāgdīvyatīyo yañ", "…avidyamānavad ity avidyamānavattvāt", Pā. 6-4-145, 6-4-168; the bhāṣya closes " // 32 //", the number of the varga that ends here (Varga 32 = Ṛks 6–10), not the Ṛk number.)

Translation: "O Agni, arvāñcam, (him who is) turned towards (us), daivyaṃ janam, the group of divine beings, born of the deities — sahūtibhiḥ, along with the other gods who have a common invocation, yakṣva, worship (them). O sudānavaḥ, gods who give fruit well: ayaṃ somaḥ, this Soma is placed before you; taṃ pāta, drink that Soma. Of what kind? Tiroahnyam, called by this name: the Soma that is pressed on the preceding day and offered on the following day has this name."

Grammatical tail (p. 568; characterized) - daivyam: after deva the suffix yañ in the senses that precede the divyatīya group; yakṣva: in the imperative the śap drops (bahulaṃ chandasi); the suffix-accent is absent because of the Chandas; because the vocative agne is at the head of the pāda and counts as non-existent before, the verb is not unaccented (tiṅ atiṅaḥ). - sahūtibhiḥ: "those for whom the invocation (āhūti) is common"; sa for samāna in the Chandas; in the bahuvrīhi the first member keeps its natural accent. - tiroahnyam: ahnyam = "occurring in the day" (bhave chandasi, yat); the loss of ṭi by nas taddhite does not come, since ahnaṣṭakhoreva restricts it to the ṭa- and kha-suffixes; the loss of the a of an by alloponaḥ when it has bha-designation; the prakṛtibhāva by ye cābhāvakarmaṇoḥ is not made, being optional in the Chandas; "tirohito 'hnyaḥ = tiroahnyaḥ" (prakṛtyāntaḥpādam gives prakṛtibhāva); the first member, an indeclinable, keeps its natural accent.

Pratipadārtha (pp. 568–569) — "agne — O Agni; arvāñcam — (one who is) turned towards (us); daivyaṃ janam — the group belonging to the deities; sahūtibhiḥ — together with the other gods who have a combined invocation; yakṣva — worship; sudānavaḥ — O gods, excellent givers of fruit; ayaṃ somaḥ — this Soma juice (is before you); tiroahnyam — called tiroahnya (since it is prepared on the previous day); tam — this Soma juice; pāta — drink."

Bhāvārtha (p. 569) — "O Agni, call all the deities, the group belonging to the gods who stand before you, together, and worship them. O gods, the givers of fruit, this Soma juice has been made ready for you. Drink this Soma juice that was pressed on the previous day (yesterday)."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 569) — "Agni, bring divine beings (gods) with simultaneous invocations and worship them ; O generous gods, this is (here is) the soma-juice, drink it, it was expressed yesterday"

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 569 - arvāñcam — "facing us, in front. The idea: in the sacrifice the gods are to be called and made to sit facing the sacrificer." - daivyaṃ janam — "the groups of deities, that is, the Vasus, Rudras and Ādityas." - sahūtibhiḥ — "samānāhvānaiḥ: with invocations that call all together." - tiroahnyam — "pūrvasminn ahny abhiṣuto yaḥ somaḥ uttare 'hani hūyate tasyaitannāmadheyam: 'the Soma that is pressed on the previous day and is offered on the next day has this name' (Sanskrit as printed) — पूर्वस्मिन्नहन्यभिषुतो यः सोमः उत्तरेऽहनि हूयते तस्यैतन्नामधेयम् — mine and tentative: as in the translation above. The 'previous day' means the day gone by: 'I offer to you today the Soma juice pressed and made ready on yesterday's day. Drink it,' the sage prays."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 569–571 — grammar pages, noted briefly; the crowded stretch characterized only) - daivyam: root divu krīḍādau, pacādi-suffix ac, guṇa of the light penultimate; "devād yañañau" (no number printed): after deva, in the sense that precedes divyatīya, the suffix yañ; yasyeti ca drops the a; taddhiteṣv acām ādeḥ gives vṛddhi of the first vowel: the e becomes ai. - yakṣva: root yaja devapūjādau; loṭ, thās, thāsaḥ se (no number printed) gives se; savābhyāṃ vāmau (no number printed) gives va for the e (se → sva); yaj + sva; bahulaṃ chandasi (Pā. 2-4-73 as read) drops the śap (luk); vraścabhrasjasṛjamṛjayajarājabhrājacchaśāṃ ṣaḥ (no number printed) the j becomes ṣ; ṣaḍhoḥ kaḥ si (no number printed) the ṣ becomes k: yak + sva; ādeśapratyayayoḥ gives ṣ for s: yakṣva. The vocative agne stands at the head of the pāda (so that agne is treated as not existing before), āmantritaṃ pūrvam avidyamānavat (Pā. 8-1-72) and the word yakṣva thus stands at the head of the pāda; the all-unaccented by tiṅ atiṅaḥ does not come. The Kannada author remarks that although, as the word ends in a verbal suffix, the suffix-accent should come, the root-accent (dhātusvara) is what comes, being Vedic. - sahūtibhiḥ: "samānā hūtiḥ (āhvānam) yeṣāṃ te sahūtayaḥ, taiḥ"; samānasya chandasy amūrdhaprabhṛtyudarkeṣu (Pā. 6-3-84) — in the Chandas, when a second member follows, sa for samāna, but not when mūrdhan, etc. follow; a bahuvrīhi, so the first member keeps its natural accent. - pāta: root pā pāne (class 1); loṭ, tha; loṭo laṅvat makes it like laṅ; tasthasthamipāṃ tāṃtaṃtāmaḥ (Pā. 3-4-101) gives ta for tha; bahulaṃ chandasi (Pā. 2-4-73 as read) drops śap: pāta; the all-unaccented by tiṅ atiṅaḥ. - tiroahnyam: "ahani bhavam = ahnyam": bhave chandasi (Pā. 4-4-110) — भवे छन्दसि — in the Chandas the suffix yat after a word in the locative in the sense of "being there"; ahan + ya; ahnaṣṭakhoreva (printed "Pā. 6-4-1-45" [as printed; for 6-4-145]) — the ṭi of ahan drops only when the suffixes ṭa and kha follow, so with other suffixes the ṭi does not drop; so too nas taddhite (Pā. 6-4-144), which would drop the ṭi of an aṅga ending in n and called bha before a taddhita, does not apply; yaci bham (Pā. 1-4-18) gives the bha-designation; alloponaḥ (Pā. 6-4-134 as read) drops the a of an; ye cābhāvakarmaṇoḥ (Pā. 6-4-168) would give prakṛtibhāva before a taddhita beginning with y — but since here a suffix in the sense of "being" (bhāva) follows, the prakṛtibhāva would, strictly, not apply; yet by sarve vidhayaś chandasi vikalpyante it does not come. Tiras + ahnyan; sasajuṣo ruḥ (Pā. 8-2-66) gives ru; ato ror aplutād aplute (Pā. 6-1-110 [as printed; for 6-1-113]) gives u for ru; tira + u + ahnyam; ād guṇaḥ (Pā. 6-1-87) gives guṇa: tiro + ahnyam. Prakṛtyāntaḥpādam avyapare (Pā. 6-1-115) — प्रकृत्यान्तःपादमव्यपरे — [the Kannada explanation:] a short a that is not followed by a v or y … standing in the middle of a pāda; the e and o within the ṛk-foot keep their natural form (prakṛtibhāva): so tiroahnyam without elision. Tatpuruṣe tulyārtha… (no number printed) gives, to an indeclinable first member, the natural accent. || 10 ||

Close of Sūkta 45. Printed at the head of p. 571, in ordinary type under the last grammar paragraph: "illige 45neya sūktavu mugidudu" — "Here the 45th sūkta ends." (Numeral and wording confirmed on the better scan, PDF 586.) A flourish follows. The sūkta (tvam agne vasūn, ten Riks) occupies printed pp. 540–571 (PDF 554–585) and the next, final, sūkta of the volume begins on the same leaf.

Beginning of Sūkta 46 (identification only, not translated here). Below the closing note, on the same leaf (p. 571 = PDF 585), stands the large title "nalavattāraneya sūktavu" ("the forty-sixth sūkta") and a Sanskrit introduction reading, as I see it: "eṣo uṣā iti pañcadaśarcaṃ tṛtīyaṃ sūktaṃ praskaṇvasyārṣam | idam uttaraṃ cāśvinaṃ gāyatrīchandaskam | atrānukramaṇikā | eṣo pañconāśvinaṃ tu gāyatram iti || prātaranuvāka āśvine kratau gāyatrīchandasyāśvinaśastre cedaṃ sūktam | athāśvina eṣo uṣāḥ | ā. 4-15 | iti sūtritam" (Ā. 4-15 zoom-checked; this introduction is treated in full under Sūkta 46 below) — the third sūkta of the Ninth Anuvāka, fifteen ṛks, ṛṣi Praskaṇva, Gāyatrī metre, the Aśvins as deity (this sūkta and the next, as the Kannada anuvāda says), used in the Prātaranuvāka at the Āśvina rite for the Gāyatrī Āśvina-śastra, prescribed in the Āśvalāyana Śrauta-sūtra by "athāśvina eṣo uṣāḥ". The Kannada anuvāda (a short paragraph, p. 571) and the heading block, with Rik 1, are not yet written and belong to the next session. This is the last sūkta of Volume 4; the volume's remaining pages (to PDF 622) must be checked against the contents table for any closing material.

Summary of Sūkta 45 (my note). Ten Riks, nine to Agni and the last in part to the Devas. Rik 1 asks Agni to worship the Vasus, Rudras, Ādityas and other beings born of Manu; Rik 2 says that the wise gods give fruit to the giver of oblations, and asks Agni, with his red horses, to bring the thirty-three; Rik 3 asks him to hear Praskaṇva's call as he heard Priyamedha, Atri, Virūpa and Aṅgiras; Rik 4 says the Priyamedhas have called Agni, shining among sacrifices, for protection; Rik 5 asks him to hear the praises with which Kaṇva's sons call him; Rik 6 says that men call the flame-haired, much-loved Agni to carry the oblation; Rik 7 says the wise have set him down as caller, priest, giver of wealth, quick-hearing and renowned; Rik 8 says the priests with pressed Soma and the oblation have brought him to the food; Rik 9 asks him, born of friction, to seat the morning-going gods and other divine beings on the grass for the Soma; Rik 10 asks him to worship the divine group together, and invites the gods to drink the Soma pressed the day before. All ten Riks are written in full. The long Special Topics essays are on the Vasus, Rudras and Ādityas (Rik 1) with ten Ṛgveda citations and Yāska's account of the Vasus, on the sages Priyamedha, Atri, Virūpa and Aṅgiras (Rik 3) with eleven Ṛgveda citations, and on the sahaskṛta kindling and the tiroahnya Soma. The reference numerals, accents and grammatical tails were re-checked against the better scan in the numeral pass (Oct 28–29, 2026); remaining doubts are flagged where they occur. Note the figures for the Vasus, Rudras and Ādityas (read 8, 11, 12 and a total of 33; they sum to 31 — recorded, not adjusted), and the crowded grammar passages.

SŪKTA 46 (printed p. 571 foot = PDF 585; third sūkta of the Ninth Anuvāka, the last sūkta of Volume 4)

Forty-sixth Sūkta (large Kannada title line on p. 571: "nalavattāraneya sūktavu")

Pages 571–572 (PDF 585–586) — Sāyaṇa's introduction, the Kannada anuvāda, and the heading

Sāyaṇa's introduction (printed in Kannada script at the foot of p. 571; checked on the better scan, PDF 586)

> एषो उषा इति पञ्चदशर्चं तृतीयं सूक्तं प्रस्कण्वस्यार्षम् । इदमुत्तरं चाश्विनं गायत्रीच्छन्दस्कम् । अत्रानुक्रमणिका । एषो पञ्चोनाश्विनं तु गायत्रमिति ॥ प्रातरनुवाक आश्विने क्रतौ गायत्रीच्छन्दस्याश्विनशस्त्रे चेदं सूक्तं । अथाश्विन एषो उषाः । आ. ४-१५ । इति सूत्रितम् ॥

eṣo uṣā iti pañcadaśarcaṃ tṛtīyaṃ sūktaṃ praskaṇvasyārṣam | idam uttaraṃ cāśvinaṃ gāyatrīchandaskam | atrānukramaṇikā | eṣo pañconāśvinaṃ tu gāyatram iti || prātaranuvāka āśvine kratau gāyatrīchandasyāśvinaśastre cedaṃ sūktaṃ | athāśvina eṣo uṣāḥ | ā. 4-15 | iti sūtritam ||

Translation (mine, tentative): "'Eṣo uṣāḥ' is the third sūkta, of fifteen ṛks, the ārṣa (revelation) of Praskaṇva. This one and the following are Āśvina and in the Gāyatrī metre. The Anukramaṇikā here: 'eṣo pañconāśvinaṃ tu gāyatram'. In the Prātaranuvāka, at the Āśvina rite, this sūkta is [used] in the Gāyatrī-metre Āśvina-śastra; it is prescribed by 'athāśvina eṣo uṣāḥ' (Āśv. 4-15)."

Anuvāda (Kannada), p. 571 — "Eṣo uṣā is the third sūkta in the ninth anuvāka. In it there are fifteen ṛks. The ṛṣi of this sūkta is Praskaṇva. This sūkta and the next sūkta have the Aśvin gods as deity; this sūkta is in the Gāyatrī metre. The Anukramaṇikā says: 'eṣo pañconāśvinaṃ tu gāyatram'. In the time of reciting the mantras of the Prātaranuvāka this sūkta is used for reciting the Gāyatrī-metre Āśvina-śastra mantras connected with the Āśvina rite; this is explained in the Āśvalāyana Śrauta-sūtra by the sūtra 'athāśvina eṣo uṣāḥ' (Ā. 4-15)." (Ā. 4-15 in both places, zoom-checked.)

Page 572

॥ ॐ ॥

सूक्त — ४६ ॥ मण्डल — १ ॥ अनुवाक — ९ ॥ सूक्त — ४६ ॥ ॥ अष्टक — १ ॥ अध्याय — ३ ॥ वर्ग — ३३, ३४, ३५ ॥ ॥ सूक्तदल्लिरुव ऋक्संख्यै — १५ ॥ ॥ ऋषिः — प्रस्कण्वः काण्वः ॥ ॥ देवता — अश्विनौ ॥ ॥ छन्दः — गायत्री ॥

sūkta 46 | maṇḍala 1 | anuvāka 9 | aṣṭaka 1 | adhyāya 3 | varga 33, 34, 35 | ṛks 15 | ṛṣi: Praskaṇva Kāṇva | devatā: the Aśvins | chandas: Gāyatrī.

(Varga numerals 33, 34, 35 confirmed on the better scan, PDF 587; "sūktadalliruva ṛksaṃkhyai" is Kannada for "number of ṛks in the sūkta", left in its Kannada form as in earlier sūktas.)

Rik 46.1 (pp. 572–573, PDF 586–587; better scan PDF 587–588)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 572)

एषो उषा अपूर्व्या व्युच्छति प्रिया दिवः । स्तुषे वामश्विना बृहत् ॥ १ ॥ [accent ?]

eṣó uṣā́ ápūrvyā vyucchati priyā́ diváḥ | stuṣé vām aśvinā bṛhát || 1 || [accent ?]

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. [accent ?]: the svarita stroke in line 2 stands at the joint of ṣe and vā*; read as* vā*.)*

Pada-pāṭha (p. 572)

एषो इति । उषाः । अपूर्व्या । वि । उच्छति । प्रिया । दिवः । स्तुषे । वाम् । अश्विना । बृहत् ॥ १ ॥

eṣo iti | uṣāḥ | apūrvyā | vi | ucchati | priyā | divaḥ | stuṣe | vām | aśvinā | bṛhat || 1 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (pp. 572–573)

एषो एषैवास्माभिः परिदृश्यमाना प्रिया सर्वेषां प्रीतिहेतुरपूर्व्यापूर्वेषु मध्यरात्रादिकालेषु विद्यमाना न भवति किन्त्विदानींतन्युषा उषोदेवता दिवो द्युलोकस्य सकाशादागत्य । व्युच्छति । तमो वर्जयति । हे अश्विनौ वां युवां बृहत्प्रभूतं यथा भवति तथा स्तुषे । स्तौमि ॥ स्तुषे । ष्टुञ् स्तुतौ । तिङां तिङो भवन्तीत्युत्तमैकवचनस्य मध्यमैकवचनादेशः । यद्वा । लेट्युत्तमैकवचने सिब्बहुलं लेटीति सिप् ॥

eṣo eṣaivāsmābhiḥ paridṛśyamānā priyā sarveṣāṃ prītihetur apūrvyāpūrveṣu madhyarātrādikāleṣu vidyamānā na bhavati kintv idānīṃtanyuṣā uṣodevatā divo dyulokasya sakāśād āgatya | vyucchati | tamo varjayati | he aśvinau vāṃ yuvāṃ bṛhatprabhūtaṃ yathā bhavati tathā stuṣe | staumi || stuṣe | ṣṭuñ stutau | tiṅāṃ tiṅo bhavantīty uttamaikavacanasya madhyamaikavacanādeśaḥ | yadvā | leṭy uttamaikavacane sibbahulaṃ leṭīti sip ||

(Checked on the better scan, PDF 587–588: "bṛhat prabhūtaṃ", "ity uttamaikavacanasya"; the bhāṣya ends "॥" without a number.)

Translation: "Eṣo uṣāḥ: this very Uṣas, seen by us, priyā, the cause of joy to all, apūrvyā, not present in the earlier times such as midnight but the present Uṣas, the goddess Uṣas, having come divaḥ, from the heavenly world, vyucchati, drives off the darkness. O Aśvins, vām, you two — stuṣe, I praise (you), bṛhat, in a great (abundant) way. Stuṣe: root ṣṭuñ stutau; by the rule that the person-endings replace one another, the first-person singular is replaced by the second-person singular; or, in the leṭ, in the first-person singular, sip comes by sibbahulaṃ leṭi."

Page 573

Pratipadārtha (p. 573) — "priyā — the cause of joy (to all); apūrvyā — manifest only now, not before this (all night); eṣo uṣāḥ — this goddess Uṣas who is seen by our eyes; divaḥ — from the sky (coming); vyucchati — drives away the darkness; aśvinā — O Aśvin gods; vām — you; bṛhat — exceedingly; stuṣe — I praise."

Bhāvārtha (p. 573) — "After the night, which was full of darkness, had gone, the goddess Uṣas has just now appeared. Coming from the sky, driving away the darkness and spreading radiance, she is the cause of joy to all. O Aśvin gods, helpers of the appearing of Uṣas, who gives joy to all, I praise you exceedingly."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 573) — "This beloved Ushas, until now unseen, scatters the darkness from the sky ; O Aswins, I greatly praise you."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 573 - apūrvyā — "pūrvam avidyamānā; nūtanā: one not existing before; new; one not existing, or not seen, until now." - "In this sūkta the ṛṣi, aiming at the Aśvin deities who are to be prayed to in the morning, describes the time of Uṣas as their forerunner."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (p. 573 — grammar page, noted briefly) - stuṣe: root ṣṭuñ stutau; by "tiṅāṃ tiṅo bhavanti" (as printed, a general maxim of exchange of person-endings), the first-person singular iṭ is replaced by the second-person singular thās, which becomes se; stu + se, ṣatva. Or: the first-person singular iṭ of leṭ; ṭita ātmanepadānāṃ ṭer e (no number printed) gives the e; sip by sibbahulaṃ leṭi (printed "Pā. Sū. 3-4-34" [as printed; for 3-1-34]); stuṣe. || 1 ||

Rik 46.2 (pp. 574–576, PDF 588–590)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 574)

या द॒स्रा सिन्धुमातरा मनो॒तरा॑ रयी॒णाम् । धि॒या दे॒वा व॑सु॒विदा॑ ॥ २ ॥

yā dasrā́ sindhumātarā manotárā rayīṇā́m | dhiyā́ devā́ vasuvídā || 2 ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 574)

या । दस्रा । सिन्धुऽमातरा । मनोतरा । रयीणाम् । धिया । देवा । वसुऽविदा ॥ २ ॥

yā | dasrā | sindhu-mātarā | manotarā | rayīṇām | dhiyā | devā | vasu-vidā || 2 ||

(The print repeats the heading "Saṃhitā-pāṭha" above the bhāṣya on p. 574, evidently a misprint for "Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya"; I give the bhāṣya under its proper heading.)

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 574)

या देवा यावश्विनौ वक्ष्यमाणगुणयुक्तौ तौ स्तुष इति पूर्वत्रान्वयः । कीदृशौ । दस्रा दस्रौ दर्शनीयौ सिन्धुमातरा समुद्रमातृकौ । यद्यपि सूर्यचन्द्रमसावेव समुद्रजौ तथाप्यश्विनोः केषांचिन्मते तद्रूपत्वात्तथात्वं । रयीणां धनानां मनोतरा मनसा तारयितारौ धिया कर्मणा वसुविदा निवासस्थानस्य लम्भयितारौ ॥ मनोतरा । मनसा तरत इति मनोतरौ । तरतेरन्तर्भावितण्यर्थात् ऋदोरबिति अप् । पूर्वपदान्तस्य सकारस्य रुत्वे सति च्छान्दसमुत्वं । रयीणां । नामन्यतरस्यामिति नाम उदात्तत्वं । धिया । सावेकाच इति विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वं । वसुविदा । वसूनि निवासस्थानानि विन्देते इति वसुविदौ । क्विप्छेति क्विप् ॥

yā devā yāv aśvinau vakṣyamāṇaguṇayuktau tau stuṣa iti pūrvatrānvayaḥ | kīdṛśau | dasrā dasrau darśanīyau sindhumātarā samudramātṛkau | yady api sūryacandramasāv eva samudrajau tathāpy aśvinoḥ keṣāṃcin mate tadrūpatvāt tathātvaṃ | rayīṇāṃ dhanānāṃ manotarā manasā tārayitārau dhiyā karmaṇā vasuvidā nivāsasthānasya lambhayitārau || manotarā | manasā tarata iti manotarau | taratér antarbhāvitaṇyarthāt ṛdor ab iti ap | pūrvapadāntasya sakārasya rutve sati cchāndasam utvaṃ | rayīṇāṃ | nāmanyatarasyām iti nām udāttatvaṃ | dhiyā | sāvekāca iti vibhakter udāttatvaṃ | vasuvidā | vasūni nivāsasthānāni vindete iti vasuvidau | kvipcheti kvip ||

Translation: "The gods, the two Aśvins, who are endowed with the qualities about to be told — tau stuṣe, I praise them: so the connexion with the previous (ṛk) runs. What kind? Dasrā, dasrau, beautiful to behold; sindhumātarā, whose mother is the sea. Although it is the Sun and the Moon that are sea-born, yet, in the view of some, the Aśvins are of that form, and therefore are so. Rayīṇām manotarā, who with the mind cause (men) to cross over (to) riches (the givers of wealth); dhiyā, by (their) work, vasuvidā, who cause the dwelling-place to be obtained."

Grammatical tail (p. 574; characterized) - manotarā: "those who cross (or make to cross) by mind"; the root tṝ, with the causative sense included, takes the suffix ap by ṛdor ap; when the s at the end of the first member becomes ru, the u is Vedic. - rayīṇām: nām is acute by nāmanyatarasyām. Dhiyā: the case-ending is acute by sāvekāca…. Vasuvidā: “they who obtain (vindete) dwellings”; kvip by kvip ca.

Pratipadārtha (p. 574) — “dasrā — who are beautiful in form; sindhumātarā — whose mother is the sea; rayīṇām — of riches; manotarā — who distribute (them) with their mind; dhiyā — (to each one) according to his work (as the fruit of it); vasuvidā — who cause dwelling-places to be obtained; yā devā — whichever Aśvin gods there are (those I praise).”

Bhāvārtha (p. 575) — “The Aśvin gods are sons of the sea. They are of beautiful form. They distribute riches with great generosity, with good mind; but without discrimination they do not show their generosity. To each one, in accord with his work, and as the very fruit of it, they cause dwelling-places to be obtained. I praise the Aśvin gods who are such generous givers and lovers of justice.”

English Translation (the source’s own, p. 575) — “(I praise Aswins) who are divine, of pleasing appearance, children of the sea, givers of wealth and granters of dwellings (as the reward of the sacrifice).”

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 575 - dasrā — “darśanīyau: beautiful, or destroyers of enemies.” - sindhumātarā — “those whose mother is the sea, that is, sons of the sea. According to some, as the Sun and the Moon are born of the sea, so these Aśvin gods too are born of the sea, and therefore, the commentator says, it is proper to call them sons of the sea. Sindhu means the sea. As the word samudra also means the atmosphere (antarikṣa), one may say that these Aśvin gods were born in the atmosphere.” - manotarā — “manasā tārayitārau; manasā tarata iti manotarau; dhanānāṃ dātārāv ity arthaḥ: those who distribute wealth, that is, those who give.” - dhiyā — “karmaṇā: by work (Ni. 3-1).” - vasuvidā — “vasūni nivāsasthānāni vindete iti vasuvidau; nivāsasthānasya lambhayitārau: those who get dwelling-places for performers of sacrifices and the like.”

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 575–576 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - manotarā: “manasā tarata”; root tṝ plavanataraṇayoḥ, the root with ṇic-sense included; after it ṛdor ap (Pā. Sū. 3-3-57) — ऋदोरप् — the suffix ap after a root ending in ṛ or u in the abstract sense or for a non-agent kāraka; guṇa with raparatva. Sasajuṣo ruḥ (Pā. Sū. 8-2-66) gives ru for the final s of manas at the end of a pada (manar + tara). The Kannada author then notes that ru is followed by a ta, not by an a, so ato ror aplutād aplute and haśi ca cannot give u; hence the u for ru is Vedic; mana + u + tara; ād guṇaḥ; in the dual, ḍā for au by supāṃ suluk…. - rayīṇām: nāmanyatarasyām (Pā. Sū. 6-1-177) — नामन्यतरस्याम् — after a word that ends in an acute and whose short vowel (that stood before matup) …, nām is optionally acute; the example given is rayimān, where the short i stands before matup and the word ends in an acute; hence nām is acute. - dhiyā: sāvekācas tṛtīyādir vibhaktiḥ (Pā. Sū. 6-1-168) — सावेकाचस्तृतीयादिर्विभक्तिः — the instrumental ending is acute. - vasuvidā: “vasūni = dwellings vindete = obtain”; vasuvidau; root vidḷ lābhe, kvip by kvip ca. || 2 ||

Rik 46.3 (p. 576 foot, PDF 590–)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 576)

व॒च्यन्ते॑ वां ककु॒हासो॑ जू॒र्णायि॒ामधि॑ वि॒ष्टपि॑ । [accent ?] यद्वां॑ रथो॒ विभि॒ष्पर्ता॑त् ॥ ३ ॥

vacyánte vāṃ kakuhā́so jūrṇā́yām ádhi viṣṭápi | [accent ?] yad vāṃ rátho víbhiṣ pā́tāt || 3 ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. [accent ?]: in line 1 the svarita stroke of kakuhāso stands at the joint of hā and so*; read as* so*.)*

Pada-pāṭha (p. 577)

वच्यन्ते । वाम् । ककुहासः । जूर्णायाम् । अधि । विष्टपि । यत् । वाम् । रथः । विऽभिः । पतात् ॥ ३ ॥

vacyante | vām | kakuhāsaḥ | jūrṇāyām | adhi | viṣṭapi | yat | vām | rathaḥ | vi-bhiḥ | patāt || 3 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 577)

हे अश्विनौ वां युवयोः सम्बन्धी रथो जूर्णायां नानाशास्त्रैः स्तुतायामधि विष्टपि स्वर्गलोके यद्यदा विभिरश्वैः पतात् पतति गच्छति तदानीं वां युवयोः ककुहासः स्तुतयो वच्यन्ते । अस्माभिरुच्यन्ते ॥ वच्यन्ते । ब्रवीतेर्यकि ब्रुवो वचिः । पा. २-४-५३ । इति वच्यादेशः । वचिस्वपीत्यादिना संप्रसारणं । संप्रसारणाच्चेत्यत्र वा छन्दसीत्यनुवृत्तेः परपूर्वत्वस्य पाक्षिकत्वाद्यणादेशः । प्रत्ययस्वरः । ककुहासः । ककुभं शृङ्गे विदुः प्रधाने चेत्यभिधानात् प्राधान्याभिधायिना ककुप्शब्देन तत्प्रतिपादिकाः स्तुतयो लक्ष्यन्ते । हत्वं छान्दसं । आज्ञसेरसुगित्यसुक् । जूर्णायां जूष् [?] वयोहानौ । अत्र स्तुत्यर्थो धातूनामनेकार्थत्वात् । निष्ठायां श्र्युकः किति इतीट्प्रतिषेधः । बहुलं छन्दसीत्युत्वं । हलि चेति दीर्घः । रदाभ्यामिति निष्ठानत्वं । पा. ८-२-४२ । प्रत्ययस्वरः । विभिः । वी गत्यादौ । वियन्ति गच्छन्तीति वयोऽश्वाः । औणादिको डिप्रत्ययः । पतात् । पत्लृ गतौ । लेट्यडागमः । इतश्च लोप इतीकारलोपः ॥

he aśvinau vāṃ yuvayoḥ sambandhīratho jūrṇāyāṃ nānāśāstraiḥ stutāyām adhi viṣṭapi svargaloke yad yadā vibhir aśvaiḥ patāt patati gacchati tadānīṃ vāṃ yuvayoḥ kakuhāsaḥ stutayo vacyante | asmābhir ucyante || vacyante | bravīter yaki bruvo vaciḥ | pā. 2-4-53 | iti vacyādeśaḥ | vacisvapītyādinā saṃprasāraṇaṃ | saṃprasāraṇāc cety atra vā chandasīty anuvṛtteḥ parapūrvatvasya pākṣikatvād yaṇādeśaḥ | pratyayasvaraḥ | kakuhāsaḥ | kakubhaṃ śṛṅge viduḥ pradhāne cety abhidhānāt prādhānyābhidhāyinā kakupśabdena tatpratipādikāḥ stutayo lakṣyante | hatvaṃ chāndasaṃ | ājjaser asug ity asuk | jūrṇāyāṃ jūṣ [?] vayohānau | atra stutyartho dhātūnām anekārthatvāt | niṣṭhāyāṃ śryukaḥ kiti itīṭpratiṣedhaḥ | bahulaṃ chandasīty utvaṃ | hali ceti dīrghaḥ | radābhyām iti niṣṭhānatvaṃ | pā. 8-2-42 | pratyayasvaraḥ | vibhiḥ | vī gatyādau | viyanti gacchantīti vayo 'śvāḥ | auṇādiko ḍipratyayaḥ | patāt | patḷ gatau | leṭy aḍāgamaḥ | itaś ca lopa itīkāralopaḥ ||

(The root-name "jūṣ" is printed like "jyāṣ" (≈ with a subscript sign; not settled at 300 dpi): [?] kept.)

Translation: "O Aśvins, your (vām) chariot, jūrṇāyām adhi viṣṭapi, above the heaven that is praised by the various śāstras, yat, when it patāt, goes, with its horses (vibhiḥ), then your kakuhāsaḥ, excellent praises, vacyante, are spoken by us. Vacyante: in the passive of brūñ, vac replaces brū by bruvo vaciḥ; the saṃprasāraṇa by vacisvapi…; since the option vā chandasi continues, the pūrvarūpa is optional and the yaṇ-substitution stands; the accent is that of the suffix. Kakuhāsaḥ: because one says 'kakubh is the horn, and also the chief', praises that declare chief-ness are indicated by the word kakup, 'chief'; the h is Vedic; the augment asuk by ājjaser asuk. Jūrṇāyām: a root with the sense ‘decay of age’; because roots have many meanings, here the sense of praise is to be taken; (kta) with no iṭ; the lengthening by hali ca; n in place of t by radābhyāṃ niṣṭhāto naḥ…. Vibhiḥ: vī gatyādau; ‘they that go (viyanti) are the vayaḥ, horses’; the Uṇādi suffix ḍi. Patāt: root patḷ gatau, leṭ, the aḍ-augment, and the i dropped.”

Pratipadārtha (p. 577) — “vām — (O Aśvin gods) of you two; rathaḥ — the chariot; jūrṇāyām — (by the various śāstras) praised; adhi viṣṭapi — in the world of heaven; yat — when; vibhiḥ — with the horses; patāt — it goes (then); vām — your; kakuhāsaḥ — praises; vacyante — are recited (by us).”

Bhāvārtha (p. 577) — “O Aśvin gods, the various śāstras praise the glory of the heaven-world. In that heaven-world, when your chariot goes with its horses, bearing you seated, we offer praises (stotras) to praise your power.”

English Translation (the source’s own, p. 578) — “When your chariot proceeds above the glorious heaven, drawn by your horses your praises are sung by us.”

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 578 - kakuhāsaḥ — “since the word kakuha is read among the twenty-five (ippattaidu) names of mahat beginning ‘mahat, bradhnaḥ’ in the Nighaṇṭu (Ni. 3-13), this word has the name mahat (great) or śreṣṭha (excellent). Here the sense ‘excellent’ is explained as ‘excellent praises’; praises, stotras.” - jūrṇāyām — “stotra-done, praised. Jūṣ [?] vayohānau; dhātūnām anekārthatvāt atra stutyartho vaktavyaḥ: [the root] means ‘to decay, to pass the age’; since roots have many meanings, the commentator’s view is that the sense of praise is to be taken here for this root.” - vibhiḥ — “vī gatyādau; viyanti gacchantīti vayo ’śvāḥ: the root vī has the sense of going; vayaḥ are horses, which go by nature. Vibhiḥ is [printed as] a fourth-case plural” (sic: evidently a slip for the instrumental plural, as the sense requires). - patāt — “patati, gacchati: goes, moves.”

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 578–579 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - vacyante: root brūñ vyaktāyāṃ vāci; laṭ in the passive; bhāvakarmaṇoḥ (Pā. Sū. 1-3-13) gives the ātmanepada; jha → anta, ṭi → e; sārvadhātuke yak (Pā. Sū. 3-1-67) the suffix yak; brū + ya + ante; bruvo vaciḥ (Pā. Sū. 2-4-53) vac for brū before an ārdhadhātuka; vacisvapiyajādīnāṃ kiti (Pā. Sū. 6-1-15) saṃprasāraṇa of vac, svap and yaj-class roots before a kit suffix (v → u); saṃprasāraṇāc ca (Pā. Sū. 6-1-108) and vā chandasi (6-1-106) — the pūrvarūpa is optional in the Chandas, so here it does not come; iko yaṇaci the yaṇ: u → v; vac + ya + ante; ato guṇe the pararūpa; vacyante; the suffix-accent; it stands at the head of the pāda, so tiṅ atiṅaḥ gives no all-unaccented. - kakuhāsaḥ: “kakubhaṃ śṛṅge viduḥ pradhāne ca” (as printed, a lexicon-statement) — “horn” and “chief” are the two senses of the word; here, the sense “chief”; praises that speak of pre-eminence are indicated by lakṣaṇā; the final letter becomes h by Vedic usage; jas; kakuh + as; ājjaser asuk gives the augment asuk: kakuhāsas; ru, visarga. - jūrṇāyām: root jūṣ [?] vayohānau, many-meaning; niṣṭhā gives kta: jū + ta; śryukaḥ kiti (Pā. Sū. 7-2-11) — श्र्युकः किति — a kit or ṅit suffix after śriñ, a root of one vowel, or a root ending in uk takes no iṭ; bahulaṃ chandasi (Pā. Sū. 7-1-103) — the ū becomes ur with raparatva: jur + ta; hali ca (Pā. Sū. 8-77 as printed; for 8-2-77) lengthens the penultimate ik of a root ending in r or v before a consonant: jūr; radābhyāṃ niṣṭhāto naḥ pūrvasya ca daḥ (Pā. Sū. 8-2-42) — रदाभ्यां निष्ठातो नः पूर्वस्य च दः — n for the t of kta and ktavatu after r or d, and n for a preceding d: jūr + na; raṣābhyāṃ— gives ṇ: jūrṇa; the suffix-accent. - vibhiḥ: root vī gatyādau, “viyanti gacchantīti vayaḥ”, birds [the Kannada author says “birds”, pakṣigaḷu; the bhāṣya says horses]; the Uṇādi suffix ḍit;

because it is ḍit, the ṭi-loss occurs even without bha-designation. - patāt: root patḷ gatau, leṭ, tip; leṭo 'ḍāṭau gives the augment aṭ; itaś ca lopaḥ parasmaipadeṣu drops the i. || 3 ||

Rik 46.4 (pp. 580–583, PDF 594–597)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 580)

> ह॒विषा॑ जा॒रो अ॒पां पिप॑र्ति॒ पपु॑रि॒र्नरा । [accent ?] पि॒ता कु॒ट॑स्य च॒र्ष॒णिः ॥ ४ ॥

haviṣā jāró apā́ṃ píparti pápurir narā́ | [accent ?] pitā́ kúṭasya carṣaṇíḥ || 4 ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. [accent ?]: in piparti the svarita stroke over pa and the underline stand in one column; read as pa̍r and ti̱.)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 580)

> हविषा । जारः । अपाम् । पिपर्ति । पपुरिः । नरा । पिता । कुटस्य । चर्षणिः ॥ ४ ॥

haviṣā | jāraḥ | apām | pipartti | papuriḥ | narā | pitā | kuṭasya | carṣaṇiḥ || 4 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 580)

> हे अश्विनौ देवौ अपां जारः स्वकीयतापेनोदकानां जरयिता सूर्यो हविषास्मद्दत्तेन पिपर्ति । देवान्प्रीणयति । उदिते सूर्ये हविःप्रदानात्सूर्यस्य पूरकत्वं द्रष्टव्यं । अतः सूर्योदयकाले युवाभ्यामागन्तव्यमित्यर्थः । कीदृशो जारः । पपुरिरुक्तक्रमेण पूरणस्वभावः पिता पालकः कुटस्य चर्षणिः कर्मणो द्रष्टा । अत्र निरुक्तं । हविषापां जरयिता पिपर्ति पपुरिति पृणातिनिगमौ वा प्रीणातिनिगमौ वा पिता कृतस्य कर्मणश्चायितादित्यः । नि. ५-२४ इति ॥ जारः । जरयतीति जार आदित्यः । दारजारौ कर्तरि णिलुक् च । पा. ३-३-२०-४ इति घञन्तो निपातितः । कर्षात्वत इत्यन्तोदात्तत्वं । अपां । ऊडिदमिति विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वं । पिपर्ति । पॄ पालनपूरणयोः । तिपि जुहोत्यादित्वाच्छपः श्लुः । अर्तिपिपर्त्योश्च । इत्यभ्यासस्येत्वं । अनुदात्ते चेत्यभ्यस्तस्याद्युदात्तत्वं । पपुरिः । आदृगमहनेति किन्प्रत्ययः । लिड्वद्भावात्किित्त्वे सिद्धेऽपि पुनः किक्करणसामर्थ्यात् ऋच्छत्यृतां । पा. ७-४-११ । इति गुणाभावः । उदोष्ठ्यपूर्वस्येत्युत्वं । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वं ॥

he aśvinau devau apāṃ jāraḥ svakīyatāpenodakānāṃ jarayitā sūryo haviṣāsmaddattena pipartti | devān prīṇayati | udite sūrye haviḥpradānāt sūryasya pūrakatvaṃ draṣṭavyaṃ | ataḥ sūryodayakāle yuvābhyām āgantavyam ity arthaḥ | kīdṛśo jāraḥ | papurir uktakrameṇa pūraṇasvabhāvaḥ pitā pālakaḥ kuṭasya carṣaṇiḥ karmaṇo draṣṭā | atra niruktaṃ | haviṣāpāṃ jarayitā pipartti papur iti pṛṇātinigamau vā prīṇātinigamau vā pitā kṛtasya karmaṇaś cāyitādityaḥ | ni. 5-24 iti || jāraḥ | jarayatīti jāra ādityaḥ | dārajārau kartari ṇilukca | pā. 3-3-20-4 iti ghañanto nipātitaḥ | karṣātvata ity antodāttatvaṃ | apāṃ | ūḍidam iti vibhakter udāttatvaṃ | pipartti | pṝ pālanapūraṇayoḥ | tipi juhotyāditvāc chapaḥ śluḥ | artipipartyoś ca | ity abhyāsasyetvaṃ | anudātte cety abhyastasyādyudāttatvaṃ | papuriḥ | ādṛgamahaneti kinpratyayaḥ | liḍvadbhāvāt kittve siddhe 'pi punaḥ kikkaraṇasāmarthyāt ṛcchatyṛtāṃ | pā. 7-4-11 | iti guṇābhāvaḥ | udoṣṭhyapūrvasyety utvaṃ | nittvād ādyudāttatvaṃ ||

Translation: “O Aśvins, the gods: the Sun, apāṃ jāraḥ, who by his own heat makes the waters decay (dry up), haviṣā, with the oblation given by us, pipartti, nourishes — satisfies — the gods. Since the oblation is given when the Sun has risen, the Sun’s being the fulfiller is to be seen; so, at the time of sunrise you two should come: this is the sense. What kind of jāraḥ? Papuriḥ, by nature a filler, in the way stated; pitā, protector; kuṭasya carṣaṇiḥ, beholder of the work (rite). Here the Nirukta [says]: ‘The one who dries up the waters, with the havis he fills (pipartti), papuḥ — these are words of the Veda from the root pṛ, “to fill”, or prī, “to please”; the father, the watcher of what is done, is Āditya’ (Ni. 5-24).”

Grammatical tail (p. 580; characterized) - jāraḥ: “that which makes decay (jarayati)”, the Āditya; by dārajārau kartari ṇiluk ca a ghañ-ending form given by nipātana; the end-acute by the rule beginning karṣātvataḥ…. - apām: the case-ending is acute by ūḍidam…. - pipartti: root pṝ pālanapūraṇayoḥ, tip; śap → ślu because the root is of the juhotyādi class; the i of the reduplicative syllable by artipipartyoś ca; initial acute of the reduplicated stem by anudātte ca. - papuriḥ: the suffix kin by ādṛgamahana…; though kit-ness is already given by the liṭ-likeness, the guṇa is excluded by the separate making of kit — ṛcchatyṛtām (pā. 7-4-11); u by udoṣṭhyapūrvasya; being nit, the initial acute.

Pratipadārtha (p. 580–581) — “narāḥ — O leaders (Aśvins); papuriḥ — (the Sun) whose nature is to nourish (the gods with oblation); pitā — as protector; kuṭasya carṣaṇiḥ — as the observer of the (sacrificial) rite; apāṃ jāraḥ — the Sun who, as it were, makes the waters shrink by his heat; haviṣā — with the oblation offered by us; pipartti — nourishes (the gods).”

Bhāvārtha (p. 581) — “O Aśvin gods, leaders, the Sun is the protector of the world and observes the work of all in the world. He is the one who makes the waters shrink by his heat. In the same way, with the oblation offered by us he makes the gods well nourished.”

English Translation (the source’s own, p. 581) — “O Guides (Aswins), the Sun the evaporator of the waters, the nourisher the protector and beholder of sacred rite. [o]urishes [sic: the first letter of the verb is lost in the print] the gods with our oblations.”

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), pp. 581–582 - jāraḥ apām — “one who makes water shrink by his heat, that is, the Sun.” - haviṣā pipartti — “makes the gods nourished with the oblation; that is, after sunrise those who sacrifice offer oblations with the deities in view, and that oblation brings nourishment to the deities. Since the oblation has to be offered after sunrise, in the morning, the Sun, being a helper in this offering, is himself the one who brings nourishment to the deities: the ṛṣi has said this chief idea in another manner.” - papuriḥ — “uktakrameṇa pūraṇasvabhāvaḥ: one whose nature is to fill the oblation.” - jāraḥ — “jarayatīti jāra ādityaḥ: one who causes heat, that is, Āditya [as printed in Kannada].” - pitā — “protector; protector of the works that men do.” - kuṭasya carṣaṇiḥ — “kṛtasya karmaṇaś cāyitā draṣṭā: one who looks at all the works that men do; the witness of work.” - Yāska on this ṛk (untranslated in the source; reference “Ni. 5-24”):

> हविषापां जरयिता पिपर्ति पपुरिति पृणातिनिगमौ वा प्रीणातिनिगमौ वा पिता कृतस्य कर्मणश्चायितादित्यः ॥ (Ni. 5-24)

haviṣāpāṃ jarayitā pipartti papur iti pṛṇātinigamau vā prīṇātinigamau vā pitā kṛtasya karmaṇaś cāyitādityaḥ // — mine and tentative: “With the oblation (or: water) the dryer-up of the waters fills (pipartti); papuḥ: (these are) Vedic words from pṛ ‘to fill’ or prī ‘to please’; the father, the observer of what is done, Āditya.”

The Kannada author explains: “That is, though Āditya dries up the water, at all times he fills the whole created world with havis, that is, with water (the word havis is read among the names of water in the Nighaṇṭu, Ni. 2-24, as printed); he draws the water that is in seas and other reservoirs by his rays and fills the earth with water in the form of rain from the cloud. Pipartti and papuḥ are both nigama (Vedic) words; for these words the meanings are ‘fill’ (pūrayati) or ‘please’ (prīṇāti), filling or satisfying; and this Sun is the protector of the whole world and a witness of all works that people do, that is, one who sees everything: this is the idea.”

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 582–583 — grammar pages, noted briefly; these two pages are missing from the better scan and were read from the old scan) - jāraḥ: the root jūṣ [?] vayohānau [the print’s root-name is crowded, as in Rik 3]; parimāṇākhyāyāṃ sarvebhyaḥ (Pā. Sū. 3-3-20) — परिमाणाख्यायां सर्वेभ्यः — on which there is the vārttika “dāra-jārau kartari ṇiluk ca”: after the roots dṝ vidāraṇe and jūṣ [?] vayohānau, being ṇijanta, the suffix ghañ in the agent sense, and the ṇi drops. By this jārayati → jāra: jṝ + ṇic, ghañ, the ṇi’s luk, jṝ + a, vṛddhi with raparatva: jāra. The word is well known in the Upaniṣad, and here denotes the Sun: the Śruti sentence “yo ’sau tapann eti sa sarveṣāṃ bhūtānāṃ prāṇān ādāyodeti” (as printed; in Sanskrit) — यो॒ऽसौ तपन्नेति स सर्वेषां भूतानां प्राणानादायोदेति — yo ’sau tapann eti sa sarveṣāṃ bhūtānāṃ prāṇān ādāyodeti — mine and tentative: “he who goes about burning, he rises taking up the vital breaths of all beings” — says that the Sun takes away life. The root-sense is “loss of age”; so it is proper that the word should denote the Sun, who diminishes the span of life. Karṣātvato ghañaḥ anta udāttaḥ gives the end-acute. - apām: ūḍidampadādyappumraidyubhyaḥ — ऊङिदम्पदाद्यप्पुम्रैद्युभ्यः — the case-ending is acute. - pipartti: root pṝ pālanapūraṇayoḥ; juhotyādi, laṭ, tip; juhotyādibhyaḥ śluḥ ślu for śap; doubling after ślu; urat gives a for the reduplicative syllable’s ṛ; artipipartyoś ca (Pā. Sū. 7-1-102 as printed; for 7-4-77) — अर्तिपिपर्त्योश्च — i for the reduplicative syllable of ṛ and pṝ; halādiḥ śeṣaḥ drops the r of the reduplicative syllable: pip + pṛ + ti; sārvadhātukārdhadhātukayoḥ gives guṇa with raparatva to the second part; anudātte ca (Pā. Sū. 6-1-190) the initial of the reduplicated word is acute when a non-acute sārvadhātuka suffix follows. - papuriḥ: root pṝ pālanapūraṇayoḥ; ādṛgamahanaḥ kikinau liṭ ca (Pā. Sū. 3-2-171) — आदृगमहनः किकिनौ लिट् च — after roots in ā or ṛ, and gam and han, the suffixes ki and kin, which are also liṭ-like. [The Kannada author’s discussion of whether the reading is “ā-dṛ” or “ādṛ…” and of the taparaḥ in “tatkālasya” is crowded and given here only in outline: since ā is said with tapara, only the ā, and not the long forms, is taken; pṛ + i; the kit-ness already follows from the liṭ-likeness (āsaṃyogāl liṭ kit, Pā. Sū. 1-2-5), but ki/kin is made separately so that ṛcchatyṛtām (Pā. Sū. 7-1-11 as printed; for 7-4-11, the bhāṣya’s number) — the guṇa otherwise given before liṭ — does not apply. Udoṣṭhyapūrvasya (Pā. Sū. 7-1-102) gives u for the ṛ of the aṅga preceded by a labial: pur; doubling; urat gives a for the reduplicative syllable: papur + i. The suffix is nit, so ñnityādir nityam gives initial acute. || 4 ||

Rik 46.5 (pp. 583–585, PDF 597–599)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 583)

> आ॒दा॒रो वा॑ मती॒नां ना॑सत्या मतवचसा । पा॒तं सोम॑स्य धृष्णु॒या ॥ ५ ॥

ādāró vāṃ matīnāṃ nāsatyā matavacasā | pātáṃ sómasya dhṛṣṇuyā́ || 5 ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented. Read from the old scan (p. 583 is missing from the better scan).)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 583)

> आऽदारः । वाम् । मतीनाम् । नासत्या । मतऽवचसा । पातम् । सोमस्य । धृष्णुऽया ॥ ५ ॥

ā-dāraḥ | vām | matīnām | nāsatyā | mata-vacasā | pātam | somasya | dhṛṣṇu-yā || 5 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (pp. 583–584)

> हे मतवचसाभिमतस्तोत्रौ नासत्यावश्विनौ वां युवयोर्मतीनां बुद्धीनामादारः प्रेरको यः सोमोऽस्ति सोमस्य तं सोमं पातं । युवां पिबतं । कीदृशं सोमं । धृष्णुया धर्षणशीलं । मदकरत्वेन तीव्रमित्यर्थः ॥ आदारः । दृङ् आदरे । आदारयेत्यादारः । दारजारौ कर्तरि णिलुक्चेति घञ्प्रत्ययः । थाथादिनोत्तरपदान्तोदात्तत्वं । मतीनां । नामन्यतरस्यामिति नाम उदात्तत्वं । मतवचसा । मतमभिमतं स्तोत्ररूपं वचो ययोस्तौ । सुपां सुलुगिति विभक्तेराकारः । पातं । पा पाने । बहुलं छन्दसीति शपो लुकि सति पाघ्रेत्यादिना पिबादेशो न भवति । सोमस्य । क्रियाग्रहणं कर्तव्यमिति कर्मणः संप्रदानत्वाच्चतुर्थ्यर्थे षष्ठी । धृष्णुया । सुपां सुलुगिति विभक्तेर्याजादेशः ॥ ३३ ॥

he matavacasābhimatastotrau nāsatyāv aśvinau vāṃ yuvayor matīnāṃ buddhīnām ādāraḥ prerako yaḥ somo 'sti somasya taṃ somaṃ pātaṃ | yuvāṃ pibataṃ | kīdṛśaṃ somaṃ | dhṛṣṇuyā dharṣaṇaśīlaṃ | madakaratvena tīvram ity arthaḥ || ādāraḥ | dṛṅ ādare | ādārayety ādāraḥ | dārajārau kartari ṇilukceti ghañpratyayaḥ | thāthādinottarapadāntodāttatvaṃ | matīnāṃ | nāmanyatarasyām iti nām udāttatvaṃ | matavacasā | matam abhimataṃ stotrarūpaṃ vaco yayos tau | supāṃ suluk iti vibhakter ākāraḥ | pātaṃ | pā pāne | bahulaṃ chandasīti śapo luki sati pāghretyādinā pibādeśo na bhavati | somasya | kriyāgrahaṇaṃ kartavyam iti karmaṇaḥ sampradānatvāc caturthyarthe ṣaṣṭhī | dhṛṣṇuyā | supāṃ suluk iti vibhakter yājādeśaḥ || 33 ||

(The bhāṣya ends with the varga number ॥ ३३ ॥ as printed.)

Translation: "O matavacasā, you whose praise-words are approved, O Nāsatyas, Aśvins: that Soma which is the ādāraḥ, the impeller, of your (vām) minds (matīnām) — somasya, of the Soma — taṃ somaṃ pātam, drink that Soma: you two drink. What kind of Soma? Dhṛṣṇuyā, of daring nature: that is, keen, by being the sole bringer of exhilaration."

Pratipadārtha (p. 584) — "matavacasā — you whose praise-words are approved (by you); nāsatyā — O Aśvin gods; vām — of you two; matīnām — of the minds; ādāraḥ — that which awakens; dhṛṣṇuyā — that makes (you) full of vigour; somasya — the Soma juice; pātam — drink."

Bhāvārtha (p. 584) — "O Aśvin gods, stotras are highly agreeable to you. Along with those who offer those stotras that are agreeable to you, drink the Soma juice, which awakens your minds and makes you full of vigour."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 584) — "O Nasatyas, accept our praises and drink of the exhilarating Soma-juice, the animator of your mind."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 584 - ādāraḥ vāṃ matīnām — "dṛṅ ādare; ādārayatīty ādāraḥ; yuvayor matīnāṃ prerakaḥ somaḥ: the Soma juice that stimulates or expands your intellect." - matavacasā — "matam abhimataṃ stotrarūpaṃ vaco yayos tau; abhimatastotrau: the stotras that we make are agreeable to you, that is, approved; so, 'you who have accepted, who are pleased with, my stotras'." - dhṛṣṇuyā — "dharṣaṇaśīlam: the Soma juice that stimulates the intellect, produces intoxication, makes the intellect expand and become sharp."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (p. 585 — grammar page, noted briefly) - ādāraḥ: root dṛṅ ādare [as printed]; "ādārayati iti ādāraḥ"; dārajārau kartari ṇiluk ca (Pā. Sū. 3-3-20-1, the vārttika): here, by the word dāra, both the root dṛṅ and the root dṝ are taken, as is seen; if dṝ vidāraṇe is meant, "dārayanti iti dārāḥ", those who melt the mind — and "wife" is the denoted sense of this word [sic, as printed]. Thāthaghañktājabitrakāṇām gives the last member the end-acute. - matīnām: nām is acute by nāmanyatarasyām. - matavacasā: "mataṃ = approved, vacaḥ = words in the form of praise, of whom they are"; the vocative dual's ending ā by supāṃ suluk.... - pātam: root pā pāne, loṭ, [the print states "second person, plural, tha-suffix"; the form is evidently the dual, thas, as printed tam]; loṭo laṅvat gives laṅ-likeness; tasthasthamipāṃ tāṃtaṃtāmaḥ gives tam; bahulaṃ chandasi (Pā. Sū. 2-4-73) drops the śap; now no suffix beginning with ś follows, so the piba-substitution by pāghrādhmā... does not come. - somasya: kriyāgrahaṇaṃ kartavyam — the soma is a recipient (sampradāna), so the genitive stands for the dative. - dhṛṣṇuyā: supāṃ suluk...: yāc is substituted for the genitive singular ending [as the Kannada says; "genitive" here is as printed]. || 5 ||

Rik 46.6 (p. 585 foot, PDF 599–)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 585)

या नः पीपरदश्विना ज्योतिष्मती तमस्तिरः । ताम॒स्मे रासाथा॒मिषं॑ ॥ ६ ॥

yā naḥ pīparad aśvinā jyótiṣmatī támas tiráḥ | tām asmé rāsāthām íṣaṃ || 6 ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 586)

या । नः । पीपरत् । अश्विना । ज्योतिष्मती । तमः । तिरः । ताम् । अस्मे इति । रासाथाम् । इषम् ॥ ६ ॥

yā | naḥ | pīparat | aśvinā | jyotiṣmatī | tamaḥ | tiraḥ | tām | asme iti | rāsāthām | iṣam || 6 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 586)

हे अश्विना ज्योतिष्मती रसवीर्यादिरूपज्योतिर्युक्ता यदन्नं [?] नोऽस्मान्पीपरत् । पारयेत् तृप्तिं प्रापयेत् । किं कृत्वा । तमो दारिद्र्यरूपमन्धकारं तिरोऽन्तर्हितं विनष्टं कृत्वा । तामिषं तादृशमन्नमस्मे अस्मभ्यं रासाथां । युवां दत्तम् ॥ पीपरत् । पॄ पालनपूरणयोः । ण्यन्ताल्लुङि चङ् णिलोपः । उपधाह्रस्वत्वद्विर्भावहलादिशेषसन्वद्भावेत्वदीर्घाः । बहुलं छन्दस्यमाङ्योगेऽपीत्यडभावः । चङ्यन्यतरस्याम् । पा. ६-१-२१८ । इत्युपोत्तमस्य धात्वकारस्योदात्तत्वे प्राप्ते व्यत्ययेनाभ्यासस्योदात्तत्वं । यद्वृत्तान्नित्यमिति निघातप्रतिषेधः । अस्मे । सुपां सुलुगिति चतुर्थीबहुवचनस्य शेआदेशः । रासाथां । रा दाने ॥ छान्दसे प्रार्थनायां लुङि व्यत्ययेनात्मनेपदं । च्लेः सिच् । एकाच इतीट्प्रतिषेधः । पूर्ववदडभावः । तिङ्ङतिङ इति निघातः ॥

he aśvinā jyotiṣmatī rasavīryādirūpajyotiryuktā yad annaṃ [?] no 'smān pīparat | pārayet tṛptiṃ prāpayet | kiṃ kṛtvā | tamo dāridryarūpam andhakāraṃ tiro 'ntarhitaṃ vinaṣṭaṃ kṛtvā | tām iṣaṃ tādṛśam annam asme asmabhyaṃ rāsāthāṃ | yuvāṃ dattam || pīparat | pṝ pālanapūraṇayoḥ | ṇyantāl luṅi caṅ ṇilopaḥ | upadhāhrasvatvadvirbhāvahalādiśeṣasanvadbhāvetvadīrghāḥ | bahulaṃ chandasy amāṅyoge 'pīty aḍabhāvaḥ | caṅy anyatarasyām | pā. 6-1-218 | ity upottamasya dhātvakārasyodāttatve prāpte vyatyayenābhyāsasyodāttatvaṃ | yadvṛttān nityam iti nighātapratiṣedhaḥ | asme | supāṃ suluk iti caturthībahuvacanasya śeādeśaḥ | rāsāthāṃ | rā dāne || chāndase prārthanāyāṃ luṅi vyatyayenātmanepadaṃ | cleḥ sic | ekāca itīṭpratiṣedhaḥ | pūrvavad aḍabhāvaḥ | tiṅ atiṅa iti nighātaḥ ||

(The relative's antecedent in the first clause, "yad annam", is printed "yeḍannam"; I read yad annam [?].)

Translation: "O Aśvins, jyotiṣmatī, endowed with the light of savour, vigour and the like — whatever food naḥ pīparat, may carry us across, may bring us satisfaction: having done what? having made the darkness (tamaḥ) in the form of poverty tiraḥ, hidden, destroyed — tām iṣam, such food, asme, to us, rāsāthām, give (you two). Pīparat: root pṝ pālanapūraṇayoḥ with the causative (ṇic) in the aorist (luṅ), caṅ, the ṇi dropped; shortening of the penultimate, doubling, the remaining initial consonant, behaviour as in the desiderative, the i, lengthening; the aṭ does not come, even without mā, by the saying 'bahulaṃ chandasi…'; the abhyāsa gets the acute by exchange; no all-unaccented, by yadvṛttān nityam. Asme: śe in place of the dative plural. Rāsāthām: root rā dāne; in a Vedic prayer the aorist with the ātmanepada by exchange; sic for cli; no iṭ because the root has one vowel; no aṭ as before."

Pratipadārtha (p. 586) — "aśvinā — O Aśvin gods; jyotiṣmatī — endowed with light of savour and vigour; yā — which (food); tamaḥ — the darkness in the form of poverty; tiraḥ — destroying; naḥ — us; pīparat — satisfies; tām iṣam — that food; asme — to us; rāsāthām — give (you two)."

Bhāvārtha (p. 586) — "O Aśvin gods, give us the food that is endowed with light — that is, savoury, vigorous and nourishing — which destroys the darkness of our poverty, gives us vigour, brilliance and other powers, shows (us) the light, and satisfies us."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 587) — "O Aswins, grant us that invigorating food that shall place us beyond the darkness (of poverty) thereby satisfying us"

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 587 - pīparat — "pṝ pālanapūraṇayoḥ: 'to fill, to satisfy': this is the sense of the root pṝ. Hence 'yā naḥ pīparat tām iṣam', the food that gives us satisfaction, is meant." - jyotiṣmatī tamas tiraḥ — "here the word jyotiṣmatī is an adjective of the word yā. 'Shining food' means excellent, nourishing, savoury food. Tamas tiraḥ: to make the darkness disappear; the ṛṣi has given the figure that the darkness called poverty or hunger is to be driven away by the light that is excellent food." - rāsāthām — "rā dāne: rāsāthām means: O Aśvin gods, both of you give."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 587–588 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - pīparat: root pṝ pālanapūraṇayoḥ, ṇic, luṅ; ṇiśridrusrubhyaḥ kartari caṅ (Pā. Sū. 3-1-48) — णिश्रिद्रुस्रुभ्यः कर्तरि चङ् — caṅ for cli; ṇer aniṭi (Pā. Sū. 6-4-51) drops the ṇi before an ārdhadhātuka without iṭ; aco 'ñṇiti (Pā. Sū. 7-2-115) vṛddhi: pā + a + luṅ; ṇau caṅy upadhāyā hrasvaḥ (Pā. Sū. 7-4-1) shortens the penultimate: par; caṅi (Pā. Sū. 6-1-11) doubling of the first one-vowel part of the root: par + par + a + t; itaś ca (Pā. Sū. 3-4-100) drops the final i of tip; halādiḥ śeṣaḥ drops the r of the reduplicative syllable; sanvallaghuni caṅpare 'nagloṛe (Pā. Sū. 7-4-93) — the reduplicative syllable behaves as in the desiderative (the Kannada author explains at length how "aṅgasya" is carried over; crowded, outlined only); sanyataḥ (Pā. Sū. 7-4-79) gives i for the a of the reduplicative syllable; dīrgho laghoḥ (Pā. Sū. 7-4-94) lengthens it: pī + par + a + t; bahulaṃ chandasy amāṅyoge 'pi forbids the aṭ; caṅy anyatarasyām (Pā. Sū. 6-1-218) — the upottama a of the root should be optionally acute, but by exchange the abhyāsa gets the acute (vyatyayo bahulam); yadvṛttān nityam forbids the all-unaccented. - asme: the dative plural ending is replaced by śe by supāṃ suluk…. - rāsāthām: root rā dāne; in the sense of prayer, luṅ by Vedic usage; the ātmanepada by exchange; second person dual, āthām; cleḥ sic; ekāca upadeśe 'nudāttāt forbids iṭ; the aṭ is forbidden as before; tiṅ atiṅaḥ gives the all-unaccented. || 6 ||

Rik 46.7 (p. 588 foot, PDF 602–)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 588)

आ नो॑ ना॒वा म॑ती॒नां या॒तं पा॒राय॒ गन्त॑वे । यु॒ञ्जाथा॑मश्विना॒ रथ॑म् ॥ ७ ॥

ā́ no nāvā́ matīnā́ṃ yātáṃ pārā́ya gántave | yuñjā́thām aśvinā rátham || 7 ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 589)

आ । नः । नावा । मतीनाम् । यातम् । पाराय । गन्तवे । युञ्जाथाम् । अश्विना । रथम् ॥ ७ ॥

ā | naḥ | nāvā | matīnām | yātam | pārāya | gantave | yuñjāthām | aśvinā | ratham || 7 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 589)

हे अश्विना मतीनां स्तुतीनां पाराय गन्तवे पारं गन्तुं नावा नौरूपेण गमनसाधनेन नोऽस्मान्प्रत्या यातं । समुद्रमध्यादागच्छतं । भूमावागन्तुं रथं भवदीयं युञ्जाथां । साश्वं कुरुतम् ॥ नावा । सावेकाच इति विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वं । गन्तवे । तुमर्थे सेसेनिति तवेन्प्रत्ययः । नित्त्वादाद्युदात्तत्वं । युञ्जाथां । युजिर् योगे । लोट्याथामिति रुधादित्वाच्छ्नम् । श्नसोरल्लोपः । प्रत्ययस्वरः ॥

he aśvinā matīnāṃ stutīnāṃ pārāya gantave pāraṃ gantuṃ nāvā naurūpeṇa gamanasādhanena no 'smān pratyā yātaṃ | samudramadhyād āgacchataṃ | bhūmāv āgantuṃ rathaṃ bhavadīyaṃ yuñjāthāṃ | śāśvaṃ kurutam || nāvā | sāvekāca iti vibhakter udāttatvaṃ | gantave | tumarthe sesen iti tavenpratyayaḥ | nittvād ādyudāttatvaṃ | yuñjāthāṃ | yujir yoge | loṭy āthām iti rudhādityāc chnam | śnasor allopaḥ | pratyayasvaraḥ ||

Translation: "O Aśvins, to go across to the farther shore of the matīnām, praises (stutīnām), pārāya gantave — nāvā, in the form of a boat, with a means of going, naḥ — to us, ā yātam, come, from the middle of the sea; and, to come on the earth, ratham yuñjāthām, yoke your chariot (make it with its horses). Nāvā: the case-ending is acute by sāvekāca…. Gantave: the suffix tavenū by tumarthe sesenase…; being nit, the initial acute. Yuñjāthām: root yujir yoge, in the imperative āthām; śnam because of the rudhādi class; the a of śna drops; the suffix-accent."

Pratipadārtha (p. 589) — "aśvinā — O Aśvin gods; matīnām — of the praises (as vast as the sea); pārāya gantave — in order to go to the farther shore; nāvā — in the form of a boat; naḥ — facing us; āyātam — come graciously; rathaṃ — your chariot; yuñjāthām — join with the horses."

Bhāvārtha (p. 589) — "O Aśvin gods, in the form of a boat, fit for crossing the ocean of stotras vast as the sea, come facing us; and, to come down from above to the earth, harness your horses to the chariot."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 589) — "O Aswins, come as a ship to bear us over the ocean of praises ; harness your car."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣaya, singular in the print), pp. 589–590 — "The sense of this ṛk does not fit properly. 'O Aśvin gods, to reach the shore — the end — of the sea of the stotras that we are making; that is, [come so that] you hear our stotras; hearing them and being satisfied, make your chariot ready to come near us': this may be the chief idea."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (p. 590 — grammar page, noted briefly) - nāvā: after the word nau, the instrumental singular suffix ṭā; eco 'yavāyāvaḥ gives āv for the o; sāvekācaḥ… — the case-ending is acute. - gantave: root gamḷ gatau; tumarthe sesenasase… gives the suffix tavenū; gam + tave; naś chapadāntasya jhali gives the anusvāra for m; anusvārasya yayi parasavarṇaḥ the homogeneous nasal; the nit suffix gives the initial acute. - yuñjāthām: root yujir yoge, loṭ, ātmanepada, second person dual āthām; rudhādibhyaḥ śnam; yunaj + āthām; śnasor allopaḥ drops the a of the śna suffix; the substitute-treatment (sthānivadbhāva) of the dropped a is denied by the rule beginning na padānta-dvirvacana-vareyalopa-svara-savarṇānusvāra-dīrghajaś-cartvidhiṣu (Pā. Sū. 1-1-58); the anusvāra and homogeneous nasals as before; being at the head of a pāda, no all-unaccented; the suffix-accent. || 7 ||

Rik 46.8 (pp. 590–592, PDF 604–606)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 590)

अरित्रं॑ वां दि॒वस्पृ॑थु ती॒र्थे सिन्धू॑नां॒ रथः॑ । धि॒या यु॑युज्र इन्द॑वः ॥ ८ ॥

arítraṃ vāṃ divás pṛthú tīrthé síndhūnāṃ ráthaḥ | dhiyā́ yuyujra índavaḥ || 8 ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 590)

अरित्रम् । वाम् । दिवः । पृथु । तीर्थे । सिन्धूनाम् । रथः । धिया । युयुज्रे । इन्दवः ॥ ८ ॥

aritram | vām | divaḥ | pṛthu | tīrthe | sindhūnām | rathaḥ | dhiyā | yuyujre | indavaḥ || 8 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 591)

हे अश्विनौ वां युवयोर्दिवस्पृथु द्युलोकादपि विस्तीर्णमरित्रं गमनसाधनं नौरूपं सिन्धूनां समुद्राणां तीर्थेऽवतरणप्रदेशे विद्यते इति शेषः । रथश्च भूमौ गन्तुं विद्यते । इन्दवः सोमा धिया भवद्विषयेण कर्मणा युयुज्रे । युक्ता बभूवुः ॥ अरित्रं । ऋ गतौ । अर्तिलूधूसूखनसहचर इत्रः । पा. ३-२-१८४ । इति करण इत्रप्रत्ययः । प्रत्ययस्वरः । दिवः । ऊङिदमिति विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वं । तीर्थे । तॄ प्लवनतरणयोः । पात्र्यतुदिवचिरिचिसिचिभ्यस्थक् । उ. २-७ । इति थक् । ऋत इद्धातोरिति इत्वं । हलि चेति दीर्घः । युयुज्रे । लिटेरयो रे । पा. ६-४-७६ । इतीरेचो रेआदेशः ॥

he aśvinau vāṃ yuvayor divas pṛthu dyulokād api vistīrṇam aritraṃ gamanasādhanaṃ naurūpaṃ sindhūnāṃ samudrāṇāṃ tīrthe 'vataraṇapradeśe vidyate iti śeṣaḥ | rathaś ca bhūmau gantuṃ vidyate | indavaḥ somā dhiyā bhavadviṣayeṇa karmaṇā yuyujre | yuktā babhūvuḥ || aritraṃ | ṛ gatau | artilūdhūsūkhanasahacara itraḥ | pā. 3-2-184 | iti karaṇa itrapratyayaḥ | pratyayasvaraḥ | divaḥ | ūḍidam iti vibhakter udāttatvaṃ | tīrthe | tṝ plavanataraṇayoḥ | pātryatudivacirici...bhyas thak | u. 2-7 | iti thak | ṛta iddhātor iti itvaṃ | hali ceti dīrghaḥ | yuyujre | liṭerayo re | pā. 6-4-76 | itīreco re ādeśaḥ ||

("liṭerayo re" as printed, for irayo re*; the Uṇādi rule-name's first letters are crowded.)*

Translation: "O Aśvins, your aritram, boat-vessel, a means of going, divas pṛthu, wider than even heaven, exists at the tīrthe, the landing-place, sindhūnām, of the seas (so the sentence is completed); and the chariot exists, for going on the earth. Indavaḥ, the Soma drops, dhiyā, by rites concerned with you, yuyujre, have been joined (made ready)."

Pratipadārtha (p. 591) — "(aśvinā) — O Aśvin gods; vām — your; divaspṛthu — wider than heaven; aritram — (the vessel for moving in the sea) boat; sindhūnām — of the seas; tīrthe — on the shore (stands); rathaḥ — the chariot (stands on the earth); somāḥ — the Soma juices; dhiyā — with (the rites performed with you in view); yuyujre — are joined (are made ready)."

Bhāvārtha (p. 591) — "O Aśvin gods, your boat, wider than heaven, for moving on the sea, stands at the shore of the seas. Your chariot stands on the earth. The Soma juice is made ready in the sacrificial rites performed with you in view. Come here and drink it."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 591) — "Your vessel vaster than the sky rests on the sea-shore ; your chariot waits on the land ; the drops of Soma-juice are expressed for your worship."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣaya), pp. 591–592 - aritram — "ṛ gatau: a thing that is a means for going. Since the word sindhūnām, 'of the seas', is here, a thing for moving on the sea is meant — a boat." - divaspṛthu — "dyulokād api vistīrṇam: wider than heaven, very vast; that is, very big." - tīrthe — "avataraṇapradeśe: a place of crossing; the shore of the sea." - dhiyā —

“karmaṇā: by work. Dhiyā yuyujra indavaḥ: the Soma juices have been joined with the rites of the sacrifice, etc.; that is, in this sacrificial rite that we are performing, the Soma juices have been made ready to be offered to you.” - The Kannada author adds: “In this ṛk, because the case-endings are not in order, and also because they are as they are, the sense does not fit properly without supplying some words (adhyāhāra).”

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (p. 592 — grammar page, noted briefly) - aritram: root ṛ gatau; artilūdhūsūkhanasahacara itraḥ (Uṇ. Sū. 3-2-184, as printed) — the suffix itra; guṇa; the suffix-accent. - divaḥ: ūḍidampadādyap… — the case-ending is acute. - tīrthe: root tṝ plavanataraṇayoḥ; the Uṇādi rule pātṛtudivacirici-sicibhyaḥ thak (Uṇ. Sū. 2-164) gives the suffix thak; kniti ca forbids guṇa; ṛta iddhātoḥ gives ir (i with repha); hali ca lengthens. - yuyujre: root yuj, liṭ, jha; liṭas tajhayor eśirec gives irec for jha; doubling; irayo re (Pā. Sū. 6-4-76) — in the Chandas re replaces ire: re for irec; tiṅ atiṅaḥ gives the all-unaccented. || 8 ||

Rik 46.9 (pp. 592–595, PDF 606–609)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 592)

दिवस्कण्वास इन्दवो वसु सिन्धूनां पदे । स्वं वव्रिं कुह धित्सथः ॥ ९ ॥

diváskaṇvāsa índavo vásu síndhūnāṃ padé | svaṃ vavríṃ kúha dhitsathaḥ || 9 ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 593)

दिवः । कण्वासः । इन्दवः । वसु । सिन्धूनाम् । पदे । स्वम् । वव्रिम् । कुह । धित्सथः ॥ ९ ॥

divaḥ | kaṇvāsaḥ | indavaḥ | vasu | sindhūnām | pade | svam | vavrim | kuha | dhitsathaḥ || 9 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 593)

हे कण्वासः कण्वपुत्राः । यद्वा । मेधाविन ऋत्विजः । अश्विनाविस्थं पृच्छतेति शेषः । कथमिति तदुच्यते । दिवो द्युलोकसकाशादिन्दवः सूर्यरश्मयः प्रादुर्भूताः । सिन्धूनामपां वृष्टिरूपाणां स्यन्दनस्वभावानां पदे स्थानेऽन्तरिक्षे वसु अस्मदादिनिवासहेतुभूतमुषःकालीनं ज्योतिराविर्भूतमिति शेषः । अस्मिन्नवसरे युवां स्वं वव्रिं स्वकीयं रूपं कुह धित्सथः । कुत्र स्थापयितुमिच्छथः । अत्रागत्य प्रदर्शनीयमिति तात्पर्यार्थः ॥ कुह । वा ह च छन्दसि । पा. ५-३-१३ । इति किंशब्दात्सप्तम्यर्थे हप्रत्ययः । कु तिहोः । पा. ७-२-१०४ । इति किमः कुः । धित्सथः । डुधाञ् धारणपोषणयोः । सनि मीमाघुरभलभशकपतपदामच इस् । पा. ७-४-५४ [?] । इत्याकारस्य इसादेशः । अत्र लोपोऽभ्यासस्य । पा. ७-४-५८ [?] । इत्यभ्यासलोपः । सः स्यार्धधातुके । पा. ७-४-४९ [?] । इति सकारस्य तकारः ॥

he kaṇvāsaḥ kaṇvaputrāḥ | yadvā | medhāvina ṛtvijaḥ | aśvināv itthaṃ pṛcchateti śeṣaḥ | katham iti tad ucyate | divo dyulokasakāśād indavaḥ sūryaraśmayaḥ prādurbhūtāḥ | sindhūnām apāṃ vṛṣṭirūpāṇāṃ syandanasvabhāvānāṃ pade sthāne ’ntarikṣe vasu asmadādinivāsahetubhūtam uṣaḥkālīnaṃ jyotir āvirbhūtam iti śeṣaḥ | asminn avasare yuvāṃ svaṃ vavriṃ svakīyaṃ rūpaṃ kuha dhitsathaḥ | kutra sthāpayitum icchathaḥ | atrāgatya pradarśanīyam iti tātparyārthaḥ || kuha | vā ha ca chandasi | pā. 5-3-13 | iti kiṃśabdāt

saptamyarthe hapratyayaḥ | ku tihoḥ | pā. 7-2-104 | iti kimaḥ kuḥ | dhitsathaḥ | ḍudhāñ dhāraṇapoṣaṇayoḥ | sani mīmāghurabhalabhaśakapatapadām aca is | pā. 7-4-54 [?] | ity ākārasya isādeśaḥ | atra lopo 'bhyāsasya | pā. 7-4-58 [?] | ity abhyāsalopaḥ | saḥ syārdhadhātuke | pā. 7-4-49 [?] | iti sakārasya takāraḥ ||

Translation: "O kaṇvāsaḥ, O sons of Kaṇva; or, O wise priests: ask the Aśvins thus (the words 'ask' being understood). How? That is told. Divaḥ, from the heaven-world, indavaḥ, the Sun's rays have appeared. Sindhūnām pade, in the place of the waters — which are of the nature of flowing as rain — that is, in the atmosphere, vasu, the light of the time of dawn, the cause of our dwelling and so on, has appeared (so the sentence is completed). At this moment, svaṃ vavrim, your own form, kuha dhitsathaḥ, where do you wish to place it? Where do you wish to set it? The sense is: it is to be shown, coming here."

Pratipadārtha (p. 593) — "kaṇvāsaḥ — O sons of Kaṇva, or wise priests (ask the Aśvins thus); divaḥ — from the heaven-world; indavaḥ — the rays of the Sun (have appeared); sindhūnām — of the waters; pade — in the place, in the atmosphere; vasu — the light of the time of dawn (the cause of our dwelling) (has appeared); svaṃ vavrim — your own form; kuha — where; dhitsathaḥ — do you wish to place? (come graciously and let us see it)."

Bhāvārtha (p. 593) — "O sages of the line of Kaṇva (or wise priests), ask the Aśvin gods thus: 'How have the rays of the Sun arisen and gone forth from heaven? How does the dawn become visible in the atmosphere beyond the sea? Where have you set your form?', that is, 'Where can we see you?'"

English Translation (the source's own, p. 594) — "O Kanwas, ask this of the Aswins—How do the rays of the Sun proceed from the sky ? How does the dawn rise on the waters beyond the horizon ? where do you desire to make your own appearance ?"

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 594 — "The sense of this ṛk does not fit properly. Each one interprets this ṛk in a different way. The commentator's sense indicates one kind of idea; it is not clear whether this is the intention of the ṛṣi."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 594–595 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - kuha: vā ha ca chandasi (Pā. 5-3-13) — वा ह च छन्दसि — in the Chandas the suffix ha after the word kim in the locative sense; kṛttaddhitasamāsāś ca (Pā. 1-2-46 as read) gives the taddhita-ending word the name prātipadika; supo dhātuprātipadikayoḥ (Pā. 2-4-71 as read) drops the locative ending; kim + ha; prāgdiśo vibhaktiḥ (Pā. 5-3-1 as read) — the suffixes enjoined from here up to diśaśabdebhyaḥ… (Pā. 5-3-27 as read) are given the name vibhakti; kutiho (Pā. 7-2-104 as read) — ku for kim before a t- or h-beginning vibhakti: kuha. If ha were stated as an independent suffix, the suffix-accent would come and the end would be acute; so the Kannada author holds that saptamyās tral (Pā. 5-3-10 as read) gives tral, and ha is substituted for it, and that vā ha ca chandasi means "in the Chandas, after kim, ha replaces tral"; then by lititi the letter before the suffix is acute, the rest unaccented, and by udāttād anudāttasya svaritaḥ (Pā. 8-4-66 as read) the suffix is svarita. - dhitsathaḥ: root ḍudhāñ dhāraṇapoṣaṇayoḥ; dhātoḥ karmaṇaḥ samānakartṛkād icchāyāṃ vā (Pā. 3-1-7 as read) gives san; sanyaṅoḥ (Pā. 6-1-9 as read) doubling; dhā + dhā + sa; sani mīmāghurabhalabhaśakapatapadām aca is (Pā. 7-4-54 as read) — सनि मीमाघुरभलभशकपतपदामच इस् — before a san beginning with s, the vowel of these roots is replaced by is; so the ā of the latter part becomes is; atra lopo 'bhyāsasya (Pā. 7-4-58 as read)

drops the reduplicative syllable: dhis + sa; saḥ syārdhadhātuke (Pā. 7-4-49 as read) — a t for the s before an ārdhadhātuka beginning with s: dhitsa; laṭ, second person dual thas, śap, pararūpa, ru, visarga: dhitsathaḥ. || 9 ||

Rik 46.10 (p. 595 foot, PDF 609–)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 595)

> अभूदु भा उ अंशवे हिरण्यं प्रति सूर्यः । व्यख्यज्जिह्वयासितः ॥ १० ॥

ábhūd u bhā u aṃśáve híraṇyaṃ práti sûryaḥ | vyakhyaj jihváyāsitaḥ || 10 ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 595)

> अभूत् । ऊं इति । भाः । ऊं इति । अंशवे । हिरण्यम् । प्रति । सूर्यः । वि । अख्यत् । जिह्वया । असितः ॥ १० ॥

abhūt | ūṃ iti | bhāḥ | ūṃ iti | aṃśave | hiraṇyam | prati | sūryaḥ | vi | akhyat | jihvayā | asitaḥ || 10 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 595)

> भा उ सूर्यस्य दीप्तिस्त्वंशव उषःकालीनरश्मिसिद्ध्यर्थमभूदु । प्रादुर्भूतैव । सूर्यश्च हिरण्यं प्रति स्वकीयोदयेन हिरण्यसदृशोऽभूत् । अग्निश्चासितः स्वकीयदीप्तेः सूर्यप्रवेशेन स्वयं कृष्णो भूत्वा जिह्वया स्वकीयया ज्वालया व्यख्यत् । प्रकाशितवान् । तस्मादयमश्विनोर्युवयोरागमनकाल इत्यर्थः ॥ अभूत् । भूसुवोस्तिङीति गुणप्रतिषेधः । हिरण्यं प्रति । प्रतिः प्रतिनिधिप्रतिदानयोः । पा. १-४-९२ । इति प्रतेः कर्मप्रवचनीयत्वं । कर्मप्रवचनीययुक्ते द्वितीया । पा. २-३-८ । इति द्वितीया । अख्यत् । चक्षिङ् व्यक्तायां वाचि । लुङि चक्षिङः ख्याञिति ख्याञादेशः ॥ ३४ ॥

bhā u sūryasya dīptis tv aṃśava uṣaḥkālīnaraśmisiddhyartham abhūd u | prādurbhūtaiva | sūryaś ca hiraṇyaṃ prati svakīyodayena hiraṇyasadṛśo 'bhūt | agniś cāsitaḥ svakīyadīpteḥ sūryapraveśena svayaṃ kṛṣṇo bhūtvā jihvayā svakīyayā jvālayā vyakhyat | prakāśitavān | tasmād ayam aśvinor yuvayor āgamanakāla ity arthaḥ || abhūt | bhūsuvos tiṅīti guṇapratiṣedhaḥ | hiraṇyaṃ prati | pratiḥ pratinidhipratidānayoḥ | pā. 1-4-92 | iti prater karmapravacanīyatvaṃ | karmapravacanīyayukte dvitīyā | pā. 2-3-8 | iti dvitīyā | akhyat | cakṣiṅ vyaktāyāṃ vācī | luṅi cakṣiṅaḥ khyāñ iti khyāñādeśaḥ || 34 ||

(The bhāṣya closes with the varga number ॥ ३४ ॥ (34), as printed.)

Translation: "Bhā, the splendour of the Sun, aṃśave, for the production of the rays of the time of dawn, abhūt, has come into being, has appeared. And the Sun, hiraṇyaṃ prati, in his own rising, has become like gold. And Agni, asitaḥ, (become) dark when the Sun entered his own splendour, having himself become black, vyakhyat, has lit up, jihvayā, with his own flame. So this is the time of your coming, O Aśvins, is the sense. Abhūt: guṇa is forbidden by bhūsuvos tiṅi. Hiraṇyaṃ prati: prati in the sense of 'representing' or 'returning' (Pā. 1-4-92) has the name karmapravacanīya; the accusative where a karmapravacanīya is joined (Pā. 2-3-8). Akhyat: root cakṣiṅ vyaktāyāṃ vāci; in the aorist khyāñ is substituted for cakṣiṅ."

(Pratipadārtha, Bhāvārtha, the source's English, Special Topics and grammar of Rik 10 begin on p. 596 and are not yet written.)

Rik 46.10, continued (from p. 596)

Pratipadārtha (p. 596) — "bhā u — the brilliance of the Sun; aṃśave — in order to make the dawn bright; abhūdu — has appeared; sūryaḥ — the god Sun; hiraṇyaṃ prati — (by the light of his time of rising) like gold; asitaḥ — (before the Sun's radiance) the dimmed Agni; jihvayā — with the (dim) flame; vyakhyat — lit up. (As this is the proper time for your coming, O Aśvin gods, come too.)"

Bhāvārtha (p. 596) — "O Aśvin gods, for making bright the dawn, delightful to the world, the brilliance of the Sun has appeared. The Sun has become, by the radiance of his time of rising, delightful, like gold. The flame of the fire that shone all night has also become dim before the Sun's brilliance. Since the time of the rising of such a radiant Sun is also the time of your coming, come graciously."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 596) — "There was just enough light to make the dawn visible ; then the Sun rose like gold ; the fire shone with darkened flames."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 596 - "Although the sense of this ṛk is clear, some words have to be supplied for the sense to fit properly." - hiraṇyaṃ prati — "since at the time of the Sun's rising his light has a slight reddish tinge, it is usual to compare the radiance of the Sun at that time to the light of gold." - jihvayā asitaḥ — "sita means white or shining; asitaḥ means not shining, dim. Jihvayā: by the tongue, that is, by the tongues of Agni, which are the flames. Here the idea is that Agni shone with dim flames — that is, before the Sun's light the light of Agni became dim."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 596–597 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - abhūt: root bhū sattāyām, luṅ, cli; cleḥ sic; the aṭ augment; abhū + s + luṅ; tip; itaś ca drops the i; gātisthāghupābhūbhyaḥ sicaḥ parasmaipadeṣu (Pā. 2-4-77 as read) — गातिस्थाघुपाभूभ्यः सिचः परस्मैपदेषु — luk of the sic; bhūsuvos tiṅi (Pā. 7-3-88 as read) — भूसुवोस्तिङि — guṇa is forbidden for bhū and sū when a tiṅ with the name sārvadhātuka follows. - hiraṇyaṃ prati: pratiḥ pratinidhipratidānayoḥ (Pā. 1-4-92 as read) — प्रतिः प्रतिनिधिप्रतिदानयोः — pratinidhi means "like"; pratidāna means giving back what was given; in these senses prati has the name karmapravacanīya; karmapravacanīyayukte dvitīyā (Pā. 2-3-8 as read) — the accusative. - akhyat: root cakṣiṅ vyaktāyāṃ vāci, luṅ, cli; cakṣiṅaḥ khyāñ (Pā. 2-4-54 as read) — चक्षिङः ख्याञ् — khyāñ is substituted for cakṣiṅ before an ārdhadhātuka suffix; being ñit (the ñ is a marker) both parasmaipada and ātmanepada may come by svaritañitaḥ...; here parasmaipada, tip, the i dropped; the aṭ augment; akhyā + cli + t; asyativaktikhyātibhyo 'ṅ (Pā.

3-1-52 as read) — अस्यतिवक्तिख्यातिभ्योऽङ् — aṅ for cli; āto lopa iṭi ca (Pā. 6-4-64 as read) drops the ā: akhyat; tiṅ atiṅaḥ gives the all-unaccented. || 10 ||

Rik 46.11 (pp. 597–599, PDF 611–613)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 597)

> अभूदु पारमेतवे पन्थाॅ ऋतस्य साधुया । अदर्शि वि स्रुतिर्दिवः ॥ ११ ॥

ábhūd u pārám étave pánthā ṛtásya sādhuyā́ | ádarśi vi srutir divaḥ || 11 ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 597)

> अभूत् । ऊं इति । पारम् । एतवे । पन्थाः । ऋतस्य । साधुऽया । अदर्शि । वि । स्रुतिः । दिवः ॥ ११ ॥

abhūt | ūṃ iti | pāram | etave | panthāḥ | ṛtasya | sādhu-yā | adarśi | vi | srutiḥ | divaḥ || 11 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 598)

> ऋतस्य सूर्यस्य पारमेतवे रात्रेः पारभूतमुदयाद्रिं गन्तुं पन्था मार्गः साधुया समीचीनोऽभूदु । निष्पन्न एव । दिवो द्योतनात्मकस्य सूर्यस्य स्रुतिः प्रसृता दीप्तिर्व्यदर्शि । विशेषेण दृष्टा । तस्मादश्विनौ युवाभ्यामागन्तव्यं ॥ एतवे । इण् गतौ । तुमर्थे सेसेनिति तवेन्प्रत्ययः । साधुया । सुपां सुलुगिति विभक्तेर्याजादेशः । अदर्शि । कर्मणि लुङ् । च्लेश्चिणादेशः । चिणो लुक् । पा. ६-४-१०४ । इति तशब्दस्य लुक् । स्रुतिः । स्रु गतौ । क्तिच्क्तौ च संज्ञायामिति क्तिच् ॥

ṛtasya sūryasya pārametave rātreḥ pārabhūtam udayādriṃ gantuṃ panthā mārgaḥ sādhuyā samīcīno 'bhūd u | niṣpanna eva | divo dyotanātmakasya sūryasya srutiḥ prasṛtā dīptir vyadarśi | viśeṣeṇa dṛṣṭā | tasmād aśvinau yuvābhyām āgantavyaṃ || etave | iṇ gatau | tumarthe sesen iti tavenpratyayaḥ | sādhuyā | supāṃ suluk iti vibhakter yājādeśaḥ | adarśi | karmaṇi luṅ | cleś ciṇādeśaḥ | ciṇo luk | pā. 6-4-104 | iti taśabdasya luk | srutiḥ | sru gatau | ktickktau ca saṃjñāyām iti ktic ||

Translation: "Ṛtasya, for the Sun pāram etave, to go to the far side — to the mountain of rising which lies beyond the night — panthāḥ, the path, the road, sādhuyā, has become proper, fit; it is just ready. Divaḥ srutiḥ, the spreading radiance of the Sun, whose nature is to shine, vyadarśi, has been specially seen. Therefore you, Aśvins, are to come. Etave: root iṇ gatau; the suffix tavenū by tumarthe sesen…. Sādhuyā: yāc for the case-ending by supāṃ suluk. Adarśi: passive aorist; ciṇ for cli; the luk of ciṇ drops the ta. Srutiḥ: root sru gatau; ktic by ktic ktau ca saṃjñāyām."

Pratipadārtha (p. 598) — "ṛtasya — for the Sun; pāram — the end of the night, the mountain of rising; etave — to go and reach; panthāḥ — the path; sādhuyā — in a fit manner; abhūdu — has been made; divaḥ — of the Sun, whose self is splendour; srutiḥ — the spreading radiance; vi adarśi — has become clearly visible. (Therefore, Aśvin gods, come too.)"

Bhāvārtha (p. 598) — "O Aśvin gods, the night, with its darkness, has come to an end. The path of the Sun to reach the mountain of rising, which lies at the end of it, is in order. The radiance of the Sun, whose nature is to spread across the world, is clearly seen. Since this is the right time for your coming too, come graciously."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 598) — "A fit path was made for the sun to go at the end of the night (in the morning); the radiance of the sun became visible."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 598 - ṛtasya — "sūryasya: since he moves in the atmosphere, ṛtasya means 'of the Sun'." - sādhuyā — "fit, favourable for moving." - srutiḥ — "sru gatau: since it spreads on all sides, srutiḥ means brilliance, radiance, light."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (p. 599 — grammar page, noted briefly) - etave: tumarthe sesenasase... gives the suffix tavenū after the root iṇ gatau; guṇa; being nit, the initial acute. - sādhuyā: after the word sādhu the nominative singular su; for it yāc by supāṃ suluk.... - adarśi: root dṛśir prekṣaṇe, passive luṅ, cli; bhāvakarmaṇoḥ (Pā. 1-3-13 as read) gives the suffix ta; dṛś + cli + ta; ciṇ bhāvakarmaṇoḥ (Pā. 3-1-66 as read) — चिण् भावकर्मणोः — when ta, in the abstract or passive sense, follows, ciṇ replaces cli; the aṭ augment; a + dṛś + i + ta; ciṇo luk (Pā. 6-4-104 as read) drops ta, which stands after ciṇ; the guṇa of the light penultimate. - srutiḥ: root sru gatau; ktic ktau ca saṃjñāyām (Pā. 3-3-174 as read) gives the suffix ktic; kṅiti ca forbids guṇa; the suffix is cit, so by citaḥ (Pā. 6-1-163 as read) the end is acute. || 11 ||

Rik 46.12 (p. 599 foot, PDF 613–)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 599)

तत्तदिदश्विनोरवो जरिता प्रति भूषति । मदे सोमस्य पिप्रतोः ॥ १२ ॥

tat tad íd aśvínor ávo jaritā práti bhūṣati | made sómasya pípratoḥ || 12 ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 599)

तत्ऽतत् । इत् । अश्विनोः । अवः । जरिता । प्रति । भूषति । मदे । सोमस्य । पिप्रतोः ॥ १२ ॥

tat-tat | it | aśvinoḥ | avaḥ | jaritā | prati | bhūṣati | made | somasya | pipratoḥ || 12 ||

(The bhāṣya of Rik 12 begins on p. 600, not yet seen.)

Rik 46.12, continued (from p. 600)

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 600)

जरिता स्तोताऽश्विनोः सम्बन्धि तत्तदित् पुनःपुनः कृतं सर्वमस्यवोऽस्मद्विषयं रक्षणं प्रति भूषति । प्रत्येकमलंकरोति । तदा तदा प्रशंसतीत्यर्थः । कीदृशयोरश्विनोः । मदे हर्षे निमित्तभूते सति सोमस्य

पिप्रतोः सोमं पूरयतोः ॥ भूषति । भूष अलंकारे । भौवादिकः । पिप्रतोः । प्या पालनपूरणयोः । पॄ इत्येके । अस्माल्लटः शतृ । जुहोत्यादित्वाच्छपः श्लुः । द्विर्भावोरदत्वहलादिशेषाः । अर्तिपिपर्त्योश्चेत्यभ्यासस्येत्वं । शतुर्जित्त्वाद्गुणाभावे यणादेशः । अभ्यस्तानामादिरित्याद्युदात्तत्वं ॥

jaritā stotā 'śvinoḥ sambandhi tattad it punaḥ punaḥ kṛtaṃ sarvam asyavo 'smadviṣayaṃ rakṣaṇaṃ prati bhūṣati | pratyekam alaṃkaroti | tadā tadā praśaṃsatīty arthaḥ | kīdṛśayor aśvinoḥ | made harṣe nimittabhūte sati somasya pipratoḥ somaṃ pūrayatoḥ || bhūṣati | bhūṣa alaṃkāre | bhauvādikaḥ | pipratoḥ | pyā pālanapūraṇayoḥ | pṝ ity eke | asmāl laṭaḥ śatṛ | juhotyāditvāc chapaḥ śluḥ | dvirbhāvoradatvahalādiśeṣāḥ | artipipartyoś cety abhyāsasyetvaṃ | śator jittvād guṇābhāve yaṇādeśaḥ | abhyastānām ādir ity ādyudāttatvaṃ ||

(The print has "stotā'śvinoḥ" (with avagraha) and "sarvamasyavo 'smadviṣayaṃ", where the sense wants "avo" (protection); kept as printed. The root is printed "pyā" with the remark "pṝ, say some".)

Translation: "Jaritā, the praiser, of the Aśvins' (concerned): tat-tad it, every one of the things done again and again, every protection towards us, prati bhūṣati, adorns one by one — that is, praises each time. What kind of Aśvins? Made somasya pipratoḥ: when joy is the occasion, filling (drinking) the Soma. Bhūṣati: root bhūṣa alaṃkāre, of the bhvādi class. Pipratoḥ: root pṝ pālanapūraṇayoḥ (some read pṛ); śatṛ after laṭ; ślu for śap; doubling, a for ṛ, the remaining initial consonant; i for the abhyāsa; because śatṛ is jit, guṇa is absent and yaṇ comes; the initial acute by abhyastānām ādiḥ."

Pratipadārtha (p. 600) — "made — in the state that gives joy; somasya — of the Soma juice; pipratoḥ — satisfied by filling (drinking); aśvinoḥ — of the Aśvin gods; tat-tad it avaḥ — (their) every protection, granted at every step; jaritā — the devoted praiser; prati bhūṣati — adorns each (that is, praises each time with gratitude)."

Bhāvārtha (p. 600) — "The sacrificer who praises the Aśvin gods, who drink Soma for the sake of joy, praises with gratitude, at every step, each protection they grant from time to time."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 600) — "The worshipper glorifies every protection extended to him by the Aswins who are exhilirated [sic] with the drinking of Soma."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 600 - bhūṣati — "bhūṣa alaṃkaraṇe: he adorns, that is, he praises; he remembers with gratitude." - made somasya pipratoḥ — "the Aśvin gods who have drunk the Soma juice well (fully) because it gives delight to the mind."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 600–601 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - bhūṣati: root bhūṣa alaṃkāre (class 1); laṭ, tip, śap; bhūṣati; all-unaccented. - pipratoḥ: root pṝ pālanapūraṇayoḥ — here some read the root as ending in a short ṛ (pṛ); in the view of Pāṇini's school the root pṝ takes the Vedic shortening; laṭ; laṭaḥ śatṛśānacau gives śatṛ; juhotyādibhyaḥ śluḥ gives ślu; doubling after ślu; urat (Pā. 7-4-66 as read) gives a for the ṛ of the reduplicative syllable, with raparatva; halādiḥ śeṣaḥ drops the r of the reduplicative syllable: pa + pṛ + at; artipipartyoś ca (Pā. 7-4-77 as read) gives i for the a of the reduplicative syllable: pipṛ + at; had the root been pṝ with the long ṛ, udoṣṭhyapūrvasya (Pā. 7-1-102 as read) would have required u for the latter part; sārvadhātukam apit (Pā. 1-2-4 as read) makes śatṛ act as ṅit, so no guṇa; iko yaṇaci gives yaṇ: ṛ → r: pipratt…; the genitive-locative dual os; ru, visarga; abhyastānām ādiḥ gives the initial acute. || 12 ||

Rik 46.13 (pp. 601–603, PDF 615–617)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 601)

वावसाना विवस्वति सोमस्य पीत्या गिरा । मनुष्वच्छंभू आ गतम् ॥ १३ ॥

vāvasānā vivásvati sómasya pītyā girā | manuṣvác chaṃbhū ā gatam || 13 ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 601)

ववसाना । विवस्वति । सोमस्य । पीत्या । गिरा । मनुष्वत् । शंभू इति शम्ऽभू । आ । गतम् ॥ १३ ॥

vavasānā | vivasvati | somasya | pītyā | girā | manuṣvat | śaṃbhū iti śam-bhū | ā | gatam || 13 ||

(The Saṃhitā prints the lengthened vāvasānā*; the Pada has* vavasānā*; the grammar below explains the lengthening in the Saṃhitā.)*

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (pp. 601–602)

हे शंभू सुखस्य भावयितारावश्विनौ मनुष्वत् मनाविव विवस्वति परिचरणवति यजमाने ववसानौ [sic: ववसाना] निवासशीलौ युवां सोमस्य पीत्या सोमस्य पाननिमित्तं गिरा स्तुतिनिमित्तं चा गतं । आगच्छतं ॥ ववसाना । वस निवासे । ताच्छील्यवयोवचनशक्तिषु चानश् । पा. ३-२-१२९ । बहुलं छन्दसीति शपः श्लुः । आन्येषामपि दृश्यत इति संहितायामभ्यासस्य दीर्घत्वं । सुपां सुलुगिति विभक्तेराकारः । चित इत्यन्तोदात्तत्वं । पीत्या । पा पाने । स्थागापापचो भाव इति भावे क्तिन् । घुमास्थेतीत्त्वं । व्यत्ययेनान्तोदात्तत्वं । तृतीयैकवचने यणादेश उदात्तयणो हल्पूर्वादिति विभक्तेरुदात्तत्वं । मनुष्वत् । मन ज्ञाने । मन्यते जानातीति मनुः । बहुलवचनादौणादिक उसिप्रत्ययः । तत्र तस्येवेति सप्तम्यर्थे वतिः । प्रत्ययस्वरः । गतं । गमेर्लोटि बहुलं छन्दसीति शपो लुक् । अनुदात्तोपदेशेत्यादिनानुनासिकलोपः ॥

he śaṃbhū sukhasya bhāvayitārāv aśvinau manuṣvat manāv iva vivasvati paricaraṇavati yajamāne vavasānau [sic: vavasānā] nivāsaśīlau yuvāṃ somasya pītyā somasya pānanimittaṃ girā stutinimittaṃ cā gataṃ | āgacchataṃ || vavasānā | vasa nivāse | tācchīlyavayovacanaśaktiṣu cānaś | pā. 3-2-129 | bahulaṃ chandasīti śapaḥ śluḥ | ānyeṣām api dṛśyata iti saṃhitāyām abhyāsasya dīrghatvaṃ | supāṃ suluk iti vibhakter ākāraḥ | cita ity antodāttatvaṃ | pītyā | pā pāne | sthāgāpāpaco bhāva iti bhāve ktin | ghumāstheti ittvaṃ | vyatyayenāntodāttatvaṃ | tṛtīyaikavacane yaṇādeśa udāttayaṇo halpūrvād iti vibhakter udāttatvaṃ | manuṣvat | mana jñāne | manyate jānātīti manuḥ | bahulavacanād auṇādika usipratyayaḥ | tatra tasyeveti saptamyarthe vatiḥ | pratyayasvaraḥ | gataṃ | gamer loṭi bahulaṃ chandasīti śapo luk | anudāttopadeśety ādinānunāsikalopaḥ ||

Translation: "O śaṃbhū, producers of happiness, O Aśvins: manuṣvat, as with Manu, vivasvati, in the sacrificer who attends (on you) — dwelling (vavasānā), by nature dwellers, you — somasya pītyā, for the drinking of Soma, and girā, for the praise: ā gatam, come. Vavasānā: root vasa nivāse; cānaś in the sense of habit, age or capacity (Pā. 3-2-129); śap → ślu; doubling; the lengthening of the reduplicative syllable in the Saṃhitā by anyeṣām api dṛśyate; ā for the dual ending; the end-acute because the suffix is cit. Pītyā: root pā pāne; ktin in the abstract sense; i by ghumāsthā…; the end-acute by exchange; in the instrumental singular the yaṇ, and the case-ending acute by udāttayaṇo hal pūrvāt. Manuṣvat: root mana jñāne; 'he who thinks, knows' is manuḥ; the Uṇādi suffix usi by the word 'variously'; vati in the locative sense by tatra tasyeva; the suffix-accent. Gatam: loṭ of gam; śap dropped; the nasal dropped by anudāttopadeśa…."

Pratipadārtha (p. 602) — "śaṃbhū — O Aśvin gods who produce happiness; manuṣvat — as with Manu; vivasvati — (with him) in the sacrificer who serves you; vavasānā — you whose nature is to dwell; somasya — of the Soma juice; pītyā — for drinking; girā — for accepting praise; ā gatam — come graciously."

Bhāvārtha (p. 602) — "O Aśvin gods, who give happiness to the sacrificer and wish to dwell with him who serves you, just as you went to Manu, come here too, both to drink the Soma and to accept the stotras that we make."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 602) — "Beneficient [sic] Aswins, co-dwellers with your worshipper as with Manu, come hither to drink of the soma-juice and accept our praise."

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 602 - vavasānā — "vasa nivāse; nivāsaśīlau: dwellers; those who are in the neighbourhood of the sacrificer for his protection." - vivasvati — "locative singular: in the sacrificer who serves you, that is, in the house of the sacrificer, or near him." - girā — "in order to hear words in the form of praise." - manuṣvat — "like Manu: you were with Manu, drank Soma at his sacrifice and heard his stotras; in the same way come here also, drink the Soma and accept the stotras: this is the idea."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (p. 603 — grammar page, noted briefly) - vavasānā: root vasa nivāse; tācchīlyavayovacanaśaktiṣu cānaś (Pā. 3-2-129 as read) — ताच्छील्यवयोवचनशक्तिषु चानश् — tācchīlya is "habitual disposition"; cānaś after roots in the senses of habit, age and capacity; vas + āna; śap; bahulaṃ chandasi (Pā. 2-4-73 as read) gives ślu; doubling; halādiḥ śeṣaḥ drops the s of the reduplicative syllable; vavas + āna; anyeṣām api dṛśyate lengthens the first va: vāvasāna; the vocative dual by supāṃ suluk… has ā; cānaś is cit, so by citaḥ the end-acute. - pītyā: root pā pāne; sthāgāpāpaco bhāve (Pā. 3-3-95 as read) — the suffix ktin in the abstract sense; pā + ti; ghumāsthāgāpājahātisāṃ hali (Pā. 6-4-66 as read) — ī for the root before a kit or ṅit ārdhadhātuka beginning with a consonant: pī + ti; the suffix is nit, so by ñnityādir nityam an initial acute might be expected; but, by the Vedic use, the end-acute; the instrumental singular ṭā: pītī + ā; iko yaṇaci: i → y; udāttayaṇo halpūrvāt (Pā. 6-1-174 as read) makes the case-ending acute. - manuṣvat: root mana jñāne; "manyate = jānāti, he who knows" gives manas; by uṇādayo bahulam the Uṇādi suffix usi after man: manus; tatra tasyeva (Pā. 5-1-116 as read) the suffix vati in the locative sense; ādyudāttaś ca the suffix is initial-acute. - gatam: root gamḷ gatau, loṭ, second person dual thas → tam by tasthasthamipāṃ tāṃtaṃtāmaḥ; bahulaṃ chandasi drops the śap; anudāttopadeśavanatitanotyādīnām anunāsikalopo jhali kṅiti (Pā. 6-4-37 as read) drops the m. || 13 ||

Rik 46.14 (pp. 603–605, PDF 617–619)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 603)

युवोरुषा अनु श्रियं परिज्मनोरुपाचरत् । ऋता वनथो अक्तुभिः ॥ १४ ॥

yuvór uṣā́ anu śríyaṃ párijmanor upā́carat | ṛtā́ vanatho aktúbhiḥ || 14 ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 604)

युवोः । उषाः । अनु । श्रियम् । परिऽज्मनोः । उपऽआचरत् । ऋता । वनथः । अक्तुऽभिः ॥ १४ ॥

yuvoḥ | uṣāḥ | anu | śriyam | pari-jmanoḥ | upa-ācarat | ṛtā | vanathaḥ | aktu-bhiḥ || 14 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 604)

हे अश्विनौ परिज्मनोः परितो गन्त्रोर्युवोर्युवयोरुभयोः श्रियमनु आगमनरूपां शोभामनुसृत्यैषा उषा उपाचरत् । उषःकालदेवतेहागच्छतु । युवयोरागतयोः सतोः पश्चादागतेत्यर्थः । युवां चाक्तुभी रात्रिभिर्ऋता यज्ञगतानि हवींषि वनथः । कामयेथे । संभजेथे ॥ युवोः । युष्मच्छब्दात्षष्ठीद्विवचनस्य सुपां सुपो भवन्तीति षष्ठीद्विवचनादेशः । अत आदेशविषयत्वाद्योऽचीति यत्वाभावः । शेषे लोपः । परिज्मनोः । परितोऽजतो गच्छत इति परिज्मानौ । श्वन्नुक्षन्नित्यादिनाजतेर्मनिन्प्रत्ययान्तो निपातितः । ऋता । शेश्छन्दसीति शेर्लोपः । वनथः । वन षण संभक्तौ । तिङ्ङतिङ इति निघातः ॥

he aśvinau parijmanoḥ parito gantror yuvor yuvayor ubhayoḥ śriyam anu āgamanarūpāṃ śobhām anusṛtyaiṣā uṣā upācarat | uṣaḥkāladevatehāgacchatu | yuvayor āgatayoḥ satoḥ paścād āgatety arthaḥ | yuvāṃ cāktubhī rātribhir ṛtā yajñagatāni havīṃṣi vanathaḥ | kāmayethe | saṃbhajethe || yuvoḥ | yuṣmacchabdāt ṣaṣṭhīdvivacanasya supāṃ supo bhavantīti ṣaṣṭhīdvivacanādeśaḥ | ata ādeśaviṣayatvād yo 'cīti yatvābhāvaḥ | śeṣe lopaḥ | parijmanoḥ | parito 'jato gacchata iti parijmānau | śvann ukṣann ity ādinājater maninpratyayānto nipātitaḥ | ṛtā | śeś chandasīti śer lopaḥ | vanathaḥ | vana ṣaṇa saṃbhaktau | tiṅ atiṅa iti nighātaḥ ||

(Re-read from the print: "supāṃ supo bhavantīti" and "maninpratyayānto".)

Translation: "O Aśvins, parijmanoḥ, going all round, yuvoḥ, of you both, śriyam anu, following the splendour that consists in your coming, eṣā uṣāḥ, this Uṣas, upācarat, let her come near: the goddess of the time of dawn, let her come here; the sense is that she comes after you two have come. And you two, aktubhiḥ, by the nights, ṛtā, the oblations that have been offered in the sacrifice, vanathaḥ, desire, partake. Yuvoḥ: the dual genitive of yuṣmad, replaced by supāṃ supo bhavanti; since ata is the area of the substitute, y is not put by yo 'ci; the rest drops. Parijmanoḥ: 'going (ajataḥ) all round'; formed by nipātana with manin after aj, as in the list śvan-ukṣan-…. Ṛtā: śe drops by śeś chandasi. Vanathaḥ: root vana ṣaṇa saṃbhaktau; the all-unaccented by tiṅ atiṅaḥ."

Pratipadārtha (p. 604) — "(aśvinā) — O Aśvin gods; parijmanoḥ — who move all around; yuvoḥ — of you two; śriyam anu — following the splendour (that consists in your coming); uṣāḥ — the goddess of the time of dawn; upācarat — let her come here (and you both too); aktubhiḥ — in the times of night; ṛtā — the oblations of the sacrifice; vanathaḥ — you desire and enjoy."

Bhāvārtha (p. 604) — "O Aśvin gods, you move about all over the world. Following the splendour that consists in the coming of you two, let the goddess of the time of dawn come here. You two partake, in the times of night, of the oblations offered for you in the sacrifice."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 604) — "O Aswins, let Ushas follow the bright appearance of you who go round the universe and may you be pleased with the oblations offered by nigbt." (sic: "nigbt" for "night")

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣaya), p. 605 — "The main idea: O Aśvin gods, you have the capacity to move about everywhere. Your coming is before the time of dawn. The goddess Uṣas comes only after following you. After you have come, the time of dawn is reached. As you come it is still night with darkness; accept the oblations offered in such a night and be satisfied." - parijmanoḥ — "parito 'jato gacchata iti parijmānau: going all around; that is, those who go everywhere." - ṛtā — "yajñagatāni havīṃṣi: the oblations offered in the sacrifice." - vanathaḥ — "vana ṣaṇa saṃbhaktau: you obtain, you desire." - aktubhiḥ — "in the times of night: there is the Nirukta statement 'aktubhī rātribhiḥ' (Ni. 12-23)":

> अक्तुभी रात्रिभिः । (Ni. 12-23)

aktubhī rātribhiḥ / — mine and tentative: "aktubhiḥ (means) by the nights."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (p. 605 — grammar page, noted briefly) - yuvoḥ: after the word yuṣmad the genitive dual os; "supāṃ supo bhavanti" (as printed) — os for os; hence, the vibhakti beginning with a vowel after the substitution, yo 'ci (Pā. 7-2-89) — y for the final of yuṣmad and asmad — does not apply; śeṣe lopaḥ (Pā. 7-2-90) drops the part from ma on, and the remaining ad is dropped before a vowel-initial case-ending: yu + os; the Kannada author says the ā-y substitution is the cause of the other; ru, visarga; the vibhakti is acute by the udātta-nivṛtti svara; osi ca (Pā. 7-3-104 as read) is not applied in the Veda; ato guṇe, pararūpa; the single-substitute accent. - parijmanoḥ: śvann ukṣann paṣann plīhan kledan snehan mūrdhan majjann aryamann viśvapan parijman mātariśvan maghavann iti (Uṇ. 1-157, as printed) — the list of Uṇādi words: after the root aj, the suffix manin; the a is dropped by Vedic usage. - ṛtā: śe śchandasi bahulam (no number printed) — the śi drops (as printed). - vanathaḥ: root vana ṣaṇa saṃbhaktau; laṭ, second person dual thas; śap, ru, visarga; tiṅ atiṅaḥ gives the all-unaccented. || 14 ||

Rik 46.15 (pp. 605–608, PDF 620–622)

Saṃhitā-pāṭha (p. 606)

> उभा पिबतमश्विनोभा नः शर्म यच्छतम् । अविद्रियाभिरूतिभिः ॥ १५ ॥

ubhā pibatam aśvinobhā naḥ śarma yacchatam / avidriyābhir ūtíbhiḥ || 15 ||

(Saṃhitā accents as printed; Pada unaccented.)

Pada-pāṭha (p. 606)

> उभा । पिबतम् । अश्विना । उभा । नः । शर्म । यच्छतम् । अविद्रियाभिः । ऊतिऽभिः ॥ १५ ॥

ubhā | pibatam | aśvinā | ubhā | naḥ | śarma | yacchatam | avidriyābhiḥ | ūti-bhiḥ || 15 ||

Sāyaṇa-bhāṣya (p. 606)

> प्रवर्ग्ये पौर्वाह्णिके घर्मस्य हविषो द्वितीयो याज्योभा पिबतमित्येषा । अथोत्तरमिति खण्डे सूत्रितं । उभा पिबतमश्विनेति चोभाभ्यामनवानम् । आ. ४-७ । इति ॥ आश्विनशस्त्रेऽप्येषा द्वितीया याज्या । सूत्रितं च । प्र वामन्धांसि मद्यान्यस्थुरुभा पिबतमश्विनेति याज्ये । आ. ६-५ । इति ॥
>
> हे अश्विना उभा युवामुभौ पिबतं । सोमपानं कुरुतं । तत ऊर्ध्वमुभा युवामुभावविद्रियाभिः प्रशस्ताभिरूतिभी रक्षाभिर्नोऽस्मभ्यं शर्म सुखं यच्छतं ॥ पिबतं । पा पाने । लोटि शपि पाघ्रेत्यादिना पिबादेशः । अङ्गवृत्ते पुनर्वृत्तावविधिर्निष्ठितस्येति । म. ७-३-७८-२ । परि. ९२ । वचनाल्लघूपधगुणाभावः । यद्वा । आद्युदात्तोऽदन्तः पिबादेशः । तिङ्ङतिङ इति निघातः । यच्छतं । दाण् दाने । लोटि शपि पाघ्रेत्यादिना यच्छादेशः । अविद्रियाभिः । द्रा कुत्सायां गतौ । विपूर्वादस्माद्भावे औणादिकः किः । आतो लोप इटि चेत्याकारलोपः । विद्रिर्निन्दा । तद्विरोधिन्यविद्रिः स्तुतिः । तां यान्तीत्यविद्रियाः । अन्येभ्योऽपि दृश्यन्त इति विच् । कृदुत्तरपदप्रकृतिस्वरत्वं । ऊतिभिः । अवतेः क्तिनि ज्वरत्वरेत्यादिनोट् । ऊतियूतीत्यादिना क्तिन उदात्तत्वं ॥ ३५ ॥

pravargye paurvāhṇike gharmasya haviṣo dvitīyo yājyobhā pibatam ity eṣā | athottaram iti khaṇḍe sūtritaṃ | ubhā pibatam aśvineti cobhābhyām anavānam | ā. 4-7 | iti || āśvinaśastre 'py eṣā dvitīyā yājyā | sūtritaṃ ca | pra vām andhāṃsi madyānyasthur ubhā pibatam aśvineti yājye | ā. 6-5 | iti ||

he aśvinā ubhā yuvām ubhau pibataṃ | somapānaṃ kurutaṃ | tata ūrdhvam ubhā yuvām ubhāv avidriyābhiḥ praśastābhir ūtibhī rakṣābhir no 'smabhyaṃ śarma sukhaṃ yacchataṃ || pibataṃ | pā pāne | loṭi śapi pāghretyādinā pibādeśaḥ | aṅgavṛtte punarvṛttāv avidhir niṣṭhitasyeti | ma. 7-3-78-2 | pari. 92 | vacanāl laghūpadhaguṇābhāvaḥ | yadvā | ādyudātto 'dantaḥ pibādeśaḥ | tiṅ atiṅa iti nighātaḥ | yacchataṃ | dāṇ dāne | loṭi śapi pāghretyādinā yacchādeśaḥ | avidriyābhiḥ | drā kutsāyāṃ gatau | vipūrvād asmād bhāve auṇādikaḥ kiḥ | āto lopa iṭi cety ākāralopaḥ | vidrir nindā | tadvirodhinyavidriḥ stutiḥ | tāṃ yāntīty avidriyāḥ | anyebhyo 'pi dṛśyanta iti vic | kṛduttarapadaprakṛtisvaratvaṃ | ūtibhiḥ | avateḥ ktini jvaratvarety ādinoṭ | ūtiyūtīty ādinā ktina udāttatvaṃ || 35 ||

(Read from the print: Āśv. 4-7 (last digit flat-footed ২) and 6-5; Mahābhāṣya 7-3-78-2; Paribhāṣā 92 (first digit ৎ-like); the bhāṣya closes with the varga number ॥ ३५ ॥ (35).)

Translation: "In the Pravargya, at the forenoon offering of the gharma oblation, this ṛk 'ubhā pibatam' is the second yājyā; it is prescribed in the section 'athottaram': 'ubhā pibatam aśvineti…' (Āśv. 4-7). In the Āśvina-śastra too this ṛk is the second yājyā; it is prescribed: 'pra vām andhāṃsi madyānyasthur ubhā pibatam aśvineti yājye' (Āśv. 6-5). O Aśvins, ubhā, both of you, pibatam, drink — take the Soma-drink. After that, ubhā, both of you, avidriyābhiḥ, with praiseworthy, ūtibhiḥ, protections, naḥ, to us, śarma, happiness, yacchatam, give."

Pratipadārtha (pp. 606–607) — "aśvinā — O Aśvin gods; ubhā — both of you; pibatam — drink the Soma juice; (after that) ubhā — both of you; avidriyābhiḥ — with (blameless, hence) praiseworthy; ūtibhiḥ — with your protections; naḥ — to us; śarma — happiness; yacchatam — give."

Bhāvārtha (p. 607) — "O Aśvin gods, both of you graciously drink the Soma juice. After that, with your protections that are free of fault and therefore praiseworthy, give us happiness (make us happy)."

English Translation (the source's own, p. 607) — "O Aswins, drink you both (the soma libation) and bestow upon us happiness through your blameless protection"

Special Topics (viśeṣa-viṣayagaḷu), p. 607 - "In the sacrifice called Pravargya, when the oblation called gharma is offered in the forenoon, this ṛk 'ubhā pibatam' is to be used as the second yājyā mantra: this is explained by the sūtra 'ubhā pibatam aśvineti cobhābhyām anavānam' in the section 'athottaram' of the Āśvalāyana Śrauta-sūtra (Ā. 4-7). And at the time of reciting the Āśvina-śastra mantras this ṛk is again to be used as the second yājyā; this is said in the same Āśvalāyana Śrauta-sūtra by the sūtra 'pra vām andhāṃsi madyānyasthur (Ṛ. Saṃ. 7-68-2) ubhā pibatam aśvineti yājye (Ṛ. Saṃ. 1-46-15)'" — Sanskrit as printed: प्र वामन्धांसि मद्यान्यस्थु — pra vām andhāṃsi madyānyasthu (printed so, with "rubhā" after the reference) — mine and tentative: "your intoxicating juices have gone forth" [?]; the references (Ṛ. Saṃ. 7-68-2, 1-46-15) as printed. - avidriyābhiḥ ūtibhiḥ — "drā kutsāyāṃ gatau: vidri is censure; tadvirodhinī avidriḥ stutiḥ, the opposite of it, avidri, is praise; 'tāṃ yānti iti avidriyāḥ', those that go to it: the meaning is 'things worthy of praise'. Avidriyābhiḥ means 'with protections that are in the form of praise or praiseworthy, excellent protections'."

Vyākaraṇa-prakriyā (pp. 607–608 — grammar pages, noted briefly) - pibatam: root pā pāne, loṭ, thas replaced by tam; śap; pāghrādhmā… (Pā. 7-3-78 as read) gives piba for pā — thus piba + a + tam; because of the śap, pugantalaghūpadhasya ca (Pā. 7-3-86 as read) would give guṇa of the light penultimate; but aṅgavṛtte punarvṛttāv avidhir niṣṭhitasya (Pā. Sū. 7-3-78 — Paribhāṣā 92, as printed; Kannada: "when one rule belonging to the aṅga-section has come and a form has been finished, another aṅga-section rule does not come again") — so the guṇa of the light penultimate does not come after the piba-substitution; or piba, a stem ending in a, is read in the sūtra as acute on the first syllable by nipātana; piba + a + tam; ato guṇe gives pararūpa: pibatam; tiṅ atiṅaḥ gives the all-unaccented. - yacchatam: root dāṇ dāne, loṭ, thas → tam; śap; pāghrādhmā… gives yaccha for dā. - avidriyābhiḥ: root drā kutsāyāṃ gatau; with vi before it, the Uṇādi suffix ki in the abstract sense; vi + drā + i; āto lopa iṭi ca drops the ā: vidri, "censure"; na vidriḥ = avidriḥ, "praise, the opposite of censure"; "avidriyāḥ": those who go (yānti) to praise, "worthy of praise"; root yā prāpaṇe; anyebhyo 'pi dṛśyante gives vic; gatikārakopapadāt kṛt gives the first member its natural accent. || 15 ||

Close of Sūkta 46 and of the Third Adhyāya (end of the print). No separate "illige 46neya sūktavu" line is printed after the grammar of Rik 15; at the head of printed p. 608 (PDF 622), the last page of the PDF, the Sanskrit colophon and the Kannada closing sentences follow directly:

> वेदार्थस्य प्रकाशेन तमो हार्दं निवारयन् । पुमर्थांश्चतुरो देयाद्विद्यातीर्थमहेश्वरः ॥ इति श्रीमद्राजाधिराजपरमेश्वरवैदिकमार्गप्रवर्तक श्रीवीरबुक्कभूपालसाम्राज्यधुरंधरेण सायणामात्येन विरचिते माधवीये वेदार्थप्रकाशे ऋक्संहिताभाष्ये प्रथमाष्टके तृतीयोऽध्यायः समाप्तः ॥ ॥ ॐ तत्सत् ॥

vedārthasya prakāśena tamo hārdaṃ nivārayan | pumarthāṃś caturo deyād vidyātīrthamaheśvaraḥ || iti śrīmadrājādhirājaparameśvaravaidikamārgapravartaka

śrīvīrabukkabhūpālasāmrājyadhuraṃdhareṇa sāyaṇāmātyena viracite mādhavīye vedārthaprakāśe ṛksaṃhitābhāṣye prathamāṣṭake tṛtīyo 'dhyāyaḥ samāptaḥ || || oṃ tat sat ||

Translation (mine, tentative): "May Maheśvara, the 'ford of learning' (Vidyātīrtha-Maheśvara [as read]), who by the light of the meaning of the Veda dispels the darkness of the heart, grant the four aims of man. Thus, in the Mādhavīya Vedārtha-prakāśa, the commentary on the Ṛk-saṃhitā composed by the minister Sāyaṇa, bearer of the burden of the empire of the illustrious King Vīra Bukka, king of kings, supreme lord, founder of the Vedic path — the Third Adhyāya of the First Aṣṭaka is concluded. Oṃ, that is the truth."

Kannada closing sentence: "illige śrīsāyaṇabhāṣyasahitavū karṇāṭakabhāṣānuvādayutavū āda ṛgvedasaṃhiteya prathamāṣṭakadalli mūraneya adhyāyavu samāptavādudu" — "Here, in the first Aṣṭaka of the Ṛgveda Saṃhitā, together with Śrī Sāyaṇa's commentary and with a Kannada-language rendering, the third adhyāya is concluded."

Then the forgiveness verse (Sanskrit, in Kannada script):

> यदक्षरपदभ्रष्टं मात्राहीनं तु यद्भवेत् । तत्सर्वं क्षम्यतां देव वागीश्वर नमोऽस्तु ते ॥ ॥ शुभं भूयात् ॥ ॥ मङ्गलम् ॥

yad akṣarapadabhraṣṭaṃ mātrāhīnaṃ tu yad bhavet | tat sarvaṃ kṣamyatāṃ deva vāgīśvara namo 'stu te || || śubhaṃ bhūyāt || || maṅgalam ||

(Mine, tentative: "Whatever may be fallen from letter or word, or wanting in measure — may all that be forgiven, O God, Lord of Speech; homage to you. May it be well. Auspiciousness.")

(That is the last page of the PDF: printed p. 608 = PDF 622, as the offset PDF − 14 predicts. The volume contains nothing after the colophon, so no index, errata or further pages were found.)

Summary of Sūkta 46 (my note). Fifteen Riks to the Aśvins, the dawn-hymn of the Third Adhyāya, all written in full. Rik 1 praises the Aśvins as the beloved Uṣas first appears from the sky; Rik 2 praises them as beautiful sons of the sea, bringers of wealth and dwellings; Rik 3 sings praises as their chariot goes above the heaven; Rik 4 invokes the Sun, who dries the waters and nourishes the gods with the oblation, beholder of the rite; Rik 5 asks them to drink the exhilarating Soma; Rik 6 asks for food that carries men beyond the darkness of poverty; Rik 7 asks them to come as a boat across the ocean of praises and to harness their chariot; Rik 8 says their vessel stands at the shore of the seas, the chariot on the land, the Soma ready; Rik 9 (as the source says, hard to fit) asks where they will show themselves, as the sun's rays proceed from the sky; Rik 10 describes the dawn-light, the Sun rising like gold and Agni's flames growing dim; Rik 11 says the Sun's path is made ready and his radiance seen; Rik 12 says the worshipper praises each of the Aśvins' protections; Rik 13 invites them, as to Manu, to drink the Soma and accept the praise; Rik 14 asks Uṣas to follow them and them to enjoy the oblations of the night; Rik 15 asks them both to drink and to give happiness by blameless protection. The doubtful parts are the many reference numerals (all "as read [?]"), the crowded grammar passages (characterized only), the root-name jūṣ [?] in Riks 3–4, and the source's own remarks that the sense of Riks 7–9 does not fit well.

Summary of Volume 4 (my note). Volume 4 (Sūktas 33–46, printed pp. 1–608 = PDF 15–622, the Third Adhyāya of the First Aṣṭaka) is complete in this file: fourteen sūktas, 173 Riks [33: 15;

34: 12; 35: 11; 36: 20; 37: 15; 38: 15; 39: 10; 40: 8; 41: 9; 42: 10; 43: 9; 44: 14; 45: 10; 46: 15, as stated in each sūkta's heading; the sum was not checked against any total printed in the volume]. The Kannada preface (PDF 7–10) was deliberately not translated. See the notes under each sūkta for flags.

Progress note — Volume 4: COMPLETE. Sūktas 33–46 (the Third Adhyāya of the First Aṣṭaka) are all translated; printed pp. 1–608 = PDF 15–622, the last page of the PDF, which ends with the Sanskrit colophon and the Kannada closing sentences (both given above).

Next task: none in Volume 4. Volume 5 has not been started. A source file `Rig_Vol5.pdf` (and `Rig_Vol6.pdf`, and two Volume 1 PDFs) has been added to the repository by the user, but per CLAUDE.md "Starting the next volume" the basics must be confirmed first (filename, page count, PDF-to-printed-page offset, sūktas covered, contents table), and a new output file `Rigveda_Samhita_Vol5_English_Translation.md` created; that should only begin when the user asks. Optional follow-ups the user may ask for: rebuild the Volume 4 .docx (the existing one covers Sūktas 33–38 only), a compiled known-limitations list for Volume 4, an outside Sanskrit expert review. Note: two scheduled routines (12:45 and 05:52 IST daily) were created for this volume; with Volume 4 finished they have nothing to translate and should stop and report rather than start Volume 5 unprompted.